Daniel Accuses Gas Firms Of 'Sabotage'

Boy Seriously Hurt By Fall Under Pickup

Nine-year-old James Clinton Riffey, son of Otis Riffey, Old Hwy. 80, was still in serious condition at Big Spring Hospital today after being run over east of Big Spring Sunday morning. The hospital reported today that the boy had a crushed chest, several fractured ribs, and internal bleeding, but he was showing improvement. James was run over by a pickup while in the city dump ground about 10:30 a.m. Sunday. The police said the boy attempted to catch hold of the rear of a pickup as the vehicle was being backed up. He missed the pickup and fell under the wheels. The pickup, owned by West Texas Sand & Gravel Co., was being driven by Clinton Roy Osburn, 803 N. Scurry. The youngster was brought to the hospital in a River ambulance.

PETITION ANSWERED

Forsan Promised Part-Time Patrol, Speed Limit Signs

Forsan was promised speed limit signs on its more dangerous street corners and part-time supervision of traffic by some of the officers from the sheriff's department by the Howard County Commissioners this morning. A delegation from that community, bearing a petition signed by 150 residents, appeared before the court with a plea for stronger enforcement of traffic regulations in the town. The delegation asked that a full-time constable be named. The statement that law enforcement budget for the current year is already over-expanded and that it was doubted if additional funds to pay a full time man could be found. The delegation said that most of the offenders against whom complaints were leveled are juveniles. The dangerous hours, spokesmen said, are before school convenes, during the noon recess and after school hours until around 10 p.m. The delegation said it was the fear of the community that the reckless drivers would cause the death of some child or other pedestrian if controls are not imposed. The commissioners queried Miller Harris, sheriff, on the idea of dispatching a deputy to the community at the periods named. Harris replied that it could be done.

Claims Fight To Delay Tax Program

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel accused big gas companies today of trying to sabotage the administration's tax program. "In a carefully planned campaign to place the burden of new taxes on hard-pressed family budgets instead of their own booming corporate profits, Texas' most powerful lobby in 20 years is fighting to delay every phase of the tax program I have submitted to the Legislature," Daniel said in a statement. The statement had been scheduled for delivery Friday afternoon but the governor decided to postpone it until shortly before the public hearing this afternoon of his prime tax - revenue measure, a three per cent of value tax on contracted natural gas. Daniel identified "Texas' most powerful lobby in 20 years" as principally the big gas companies. However, his statement was an apparent slap at Speaker Waggoner Carr and the authors of at least two "across-the-board" tax bills favored by Carr. The speaker listed two "across-the-board" taxes which he did not consider general sales taxes. Daniel said today that the proposals, at least in effect, were either state income or sales taxes, which the governor has sworn he will not support. "CLEARLY DRAWN" "The issue is clearly drawn as to whether new taxes will be levied on the cost of living in accordance with the 'broad-based' theory of the corporation lobby, or upon the 'ability to pay' items I have recommended such as natural gas, corporation franchises, liquor and cigars," Daniel said. "Gross income taxes or general sales taxes by any other name are just as objectionable as if properly designated for what they are." Daniel said the proposal by Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock for an occupation tax on one-half of one per cent of the gross receipts of every business in Texas "is in effect a gross income tax."

Lions To Host Derby Entrants

The Downtown Lions Club will have Soap Box Derby entrants as its guests Wednesday noon. Parents are advised that the boys will be picked up at the school and taken to the Settles Hotel for luncheon and returned afterwards. Former Soap Box Derby champions will have a few words for this year's record group of boys, as will adult leaders. Loyd Wooten of Tidwell Chevrolet, one of the sponsors, will introduce each boy. The entrants will be in the Settles Hotel for regular counseling with the entrants. Derby time is the evening of June 25. Although falling short of Democratic proposals, the three-month "sweeping" measure had bipartisan support as about the best that could be passed before the present jobless pay law dies March 31. To beat the expiration deadline, leaders sent the bill to the floor under procedure limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote for passage. Its passage today would give the Senate two weeks to complete action. The bill was opposed as inadequate by some northern Democrats from industrial areas still experiencing substantial unemployment. They called for a one-year extension of the existing program. House Republicans, who have opposed anything but a sharply limited extension of the program, pronounced the bill acceptable to President Eisenhower. Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.), chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, called it "a sound and humanitarian solution of the problem."

House Sets Action On Jobless Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fast House passage appeared assured today for a bill to continue temporary federal unemployment benefits for some 300,000 jobless workers who would otherwise lose them April 1. Although falling short of Democratic proposals, the three-month "sweeping" measure had bipartisan support as about the best that could be passed before the present jobless pay law dies March 31. To beat the expiration deadline, leaders sent the bill to the floor under procedure limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote for passage. Its passage today would give the Senate two weeks to complete action. The bill was opposed as inadequate by some northern Democrats from industrial areas still experiencing substantial unemployment. They called for a one-year extension of the existing program. House Republicans, who have opposed anything but a sharply limited extension of the program, pronounced the bill acceptable to President Eisenhower. Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.), chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, called it "a sound and humanitarian solution of the problem."

Light Snow Falls In Area, Soon Melts

It snowed in Howard County early Monday morning. In Big Spring, the snow fall was but a faint flurry which was only enough to leave dusty windshields speckled. Northward, the fall was a little heavier. Porter Hanks at Vealmoor said that there was enough snow to cover the grass with a thin white coating and that paved roads were left dotted with small puddles as the snow melted. Texas Electric Service Co. reported that the snow flurry occurred between 4:45 a.m. and 5:15 a.m. Majority of Big Spring residents were skeptical that any snow fell. None was left in town to prove the fact when dawn came. Officially the temperature in town was not even to freezing although there were skims of ice on ponds and puddles. The low for the night was reported at 35 degrees. High on Sunday, which was not too windy and bright with sunshine, was 63. It was reported the snow shower continued on northward toward Lamesa.

Syria Charges Violation

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A new Syrian charge of Iraqi border violation added more fuel today to the burning feud between President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassam. In the third such accusation in a week, a spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army claimed that 30 Iraqis thrust across Syria's frontier Sunday and attacked two Syrian guards, wounding one. Nasser predicted uprisings against the Iraqi premier would continue "as long as dictatorship and the heresy of communism continues" in Iraq. In Baghdad, leftists called on Kassam to arm the people and purge the army and government of traitors. The idea obviously was to get rid of army officers and others sympathetic to Nasser's aim of Arab unity. Some 50,000 students and workers paraded through the heart of Cairo Sunday in a demonstration against Kassam and Iraqi Communists. The demonstrators, led by Cairo University students, denounced Kassam's regime and pledged support for Nasser's campaign against Reds in the Middle East. Leaders of Nasser's National Union — the only political party permitted in the U.A.R.—called on Arabs everywhere to help topple Kassam's regime and "check the Communist cancer in the body of the Arab nation."

Hard-Fought Duncan Case Goes Before Jury Today

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The long, hard-fought murder case of Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan goes to the jury today. The jury including eight women will start deliberating Mrs. Duncan's fate after hearing Judge Blackstock's instructions. They will determine whether Mrs. Duncan, 54, hired two men to kill her son Frank's pregnant wife, Olga, as the prosecution charges. During the four-week trial the state produced a mass of evidence intended to prove that Mrs. Duncan was so jealous of her son that she arranged to eliminate her daughter-in-law. The defense contended that two minor criminals, Augustine Baldonado, 26, and Luis Moya, 20, kidnaped Olga in a ransom plot last Nov. 17 and then killed her. Mrs. Duncan asserted that Baldonado and Moya had been blackmailing her in a dispute over a legal fee paid to Frank, an attorney, by one of their friends. She said they had threatened harm to Frank. Frank reported the purported blackmail plot to police. Baldonado led police to Olga's body Dec. 21. It was in a shallow roadside grave clawed out by hand. Baldonado and Moya confessed strangling the Canadian nurse, 30, and said Mrs. Duncan had promised them $6,000 for the job. Both testified against Mrs. Duncan. Baldonado and Moya have withdrawn pleas of innocent and are awaiting trial on a plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

Jury Panel Dismissed

A panel of 60 jurors notified to be in 118th District Court Monday morning to serve in the trial of civil cases docketed for hearing by Judge Charlie Sullivan found it had no work to be done when the court convened. Judge Sullivan had set down 14 civil cases to be tried at this week's docket. Before Monday morning he had already been advised six of these had been settled and five would not be ready for trial. Before he convened the jury panel, he received word that the cases on hand had been settled or were in process of settlement out of court. He thanked the jurors and told them their services would not be needed this week. A special venire of 120 jurors is to report next Monday morning to the murder trial of Armando Lopez.

The incident occurred on the North Side. The police said that a billfold containing $50, a watch, knife, and belt were taken from Fisher along with his 1953 Buick. The Buick was found abandoned at NW 5th and Lancaster a short time later. About 4:45 a.m., two Negroes were arrested in connection with the robbery and assault. Investigation is still under way, however.

Connie Nicholas Goes On Trial In Boyfriend's Death

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Connie Nicholas, pale and tearful, went on trial today for the slaying of a wealthy drug executive who spurned her after 15 years for a younger woman. The graying divorcee arrived with a jail matron a quarter-hour before the trial opened, dabbing her eyes. She said she had slept only three hours since Friday and reported she was feeling nervous but "still optimistic."

All the 60 public seats in the little, dingy courtroom were filled. Curious spectators milled outside in the basement corridor in the ancient Marion County Court house. Questioning of prospective jurors is expected to take several days. Forrest Teel, 54, was shot to death last July in his parked Cadillac. The state contends Mrs. Nicholas, 42, a divorcee, followed Teel and shot him three times with a small revolver after he returned to his car from a late night visit with the younger woman. The defense claims the shooting was accidental and occurred during a violent struggle after Teel began beating Mrs. Nicholas. Mrs. Nicholas told police Teel, executive vice president of Eli Lilly & Co., had promised to divorce his wife, Mary, 48, and marry her when his 14-year-old adopted son finished school. She said they carried on an illicit love affair for 15 years. The younger woman, Laura Mowrer, 30, was a secretary at the Lilly firm. She moved to California shortly after the slaying and is not expected to testify. Mrs. Nicholas also met Teel while working at Eli Lilly. The prosecutor's staff refused to say whether it will demand the death penalty for Mrs. Nicholas, who is charged with first-degree murder. Indiana has never electrocuted a woman. Teel was still alive and conscious when police arrived, but refused to identify his killer. Mrs. Nicholas was found about 20 hours later unconscious in her car after taking 75 sleeping capsules mixed with pineapple juice. She was in a coma for 2 1/2 days. She was taken to the county jail Saturday from General Hospital where she has been under treatment. She had two operations after complaining of paralysis in her right arm. Her right hand fingers were in a harness when she entered the jail.

New Vote System Fails To Cut Deep Into French Red Ranks

PARIS (AP) — Returns from the final round in France's two-stage municipal elections showed today that the Communists held their own or forged ahead in most of the key town councils.

Voters in 47,760 communities turned out Sunday to finish the job they began a week ago under a new electoral system tailored to trim communism's grass roots hold on the electorate.

Despite a week of maneuvering alliances, the anti-Communists failed to cut deep into the Red representation.

In France's 13 largest cities elections were completed last week with a proportional representation system that gave the Reds a boost in total number of seats as well as the increased vote percentage they won. The Communists captured 160 seats as compared with 155 in the 1953 municipal elections.

Lamesa Cotton Growers To Hold Annual Meet Tuesday

LAMESA — Al Muldrow, Terry County farmer-rancher and former Secretary of State, will review farm labor problems when he addresses farmers, ginners and businessmen of Dawson County here Tuesday night at the annual meeting and barbecue of the Lamesa Cotton Growers Assn.

The annual affair will get under way at 7 p.m. in Lamar Forrest Community Center. Eight new directors are to be named and officers will be chosen after directors are named.

Jack Broyles has served as president of the association the past year with G. C. Clift Jr., A. E. Hale and Jeff Shipp serving on the executive committee with Milton Ray of Lubbock, a former Dawson County, now supervisor of the Lubbock classing office, will speak on the operation of the local cotton classing office. The care of the building and repair and maintenance of equipment will be the responsibility of the Lamesa Cotton Growers here.

Muldrow, the other speaker, is a member of the 13-man Mexican subcommittee and a member of the 48-states committee.

Directors of the association are Jim Dunn, G. C. Clift Jr., D. L. Adcock, G. K. McDonald, Richard Crowley, Leroy Olsak, Carlos Berry, Carson Echols, J. H. Harp, Bill Anderson, A. E. Hale, F. P. King, Arthur Moss, Jack Broyles, Cecil O'Brien and Jeff Shipp.

Plans also call for membership, poll tax payment and voting drives in observance of the 50th anniversary of the NAACP. Wilkins said to avoid lawsuits by urging local voluntary integration of schools in East Texas, and officials of the group say.

Technician Claims Underwater Record

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — An electronics technician held his breath under water for 13 minutes and 42.5 seconds — long enough to have written a letter if he had had a ball point pen.

He claimed a new world record. Robert Foster, 32, of Richmond, Calif., a member of the Marine Skindivers Club, said he beat the old record by 7.5 seconds. Before entering the pool, Foster gulped pure oxygen administered by an anesthetist for 30 minutes to drive all carbon dioxide from his lungs.

Specialist C. R. B. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lodie Smith, 818 W. 5th, has completed the 42-week Nike-Ajax guided missile fire control system maintenance course at the Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hodges, live in Colorado City.

Smith was trained in basic electricity, electronics, and specialized subjects relating to the employment, operation, adjustment and maintenance of the Nike-Ajax fire control system and associated equipment.

He has been in the Army since 1947 and was stationed at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., prior to going to Ft. Bliss.

Pvt. Lewis M. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas, 400 N. Gregg, has been assigned to the 46th Infantry Regiment in Germany.

Thomas is a rifleman in the regiment's Company D in Munich.

Marcus Hayworth, radioman 3.C., is serving aboard the anti-submarine support aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge at the Naval Shipyard at Long Beach, Calif. He is the son of M. L. Hayworth, 1209 W. 6th.

Tender Love

Here's a scene of the tender love of a brother and sister plagued with human tragedy. Brenda Lee Stills, 2½, Livermore, Calif., has an affectionate hug for her 16-month-old brother, Michael, at Children's Hospital in Oakland, Calif. After a fall from an auto Feb. 17, Brenda Lee's right arm had to be amputated. Michael is suffering from what doctors describe as an incurable disease.

Eggs On The Half Shell Are Delicacy

Eggs on the half shell are just as much of a delicacy as oysters on the half shell in many Caribbean seashore resorts. However, there is quite a difference in the way the two dishes are prepared. Of course, you don't serve the eggs raw as you do oysters on the half shell.

Eggs on the half shell make a good main dish for brunch, lunch or supper, for eggs are high in protein. Use the shells you use when serving stuffed crab. Melt a tsp. of butter in each shell. Then add a tsp. of thick cream. Break one or two eggs in each shell. Sprinkle with water cress or finely chopped shallots. For color, add a few slices of pimiento or chopped tomatoes. Bake in a medium oven until the eggs are as done as you like them. Serve immediately.

Another variation of eggs on the half shell calls for acorn squash to serve as the shell. Split the squash in half and bake in a medium oven until done but still firm.

Butter the squash generously. Break one or two eggs into each squash. Sprinkle with crisp bacon and sesame seeds. Return to the oven and bake until eggs are done as you like them. Serve immediately. Eggs rate a special spot as a main dish during March because they are such a bargain source of protein.

Sleep Important As Food For Youngsters

Sleep is as important to adolescents as their food, say authorities in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. To feel fit, growing teen-agers need proper rest to counteract the wearing outside activities in which they participate with all their energy. Let them rest as much as they want, say these authorities, but be sure they have mattresses and springs that won't sag. When Mom and Dad get a new mattress for themselves they often can't resist the temptation of passing the old one down to their teenager. This can be harmful for a growing body which needs firm, buoyant support. If an adolescent seems "lazy" or sleeps "too much" or can't build up the needed energy from his rest, it is recommended the parents take the boy or girl to the physician for a check up.

Help The Easter Bunny Bring Some Magic Eggs

Give the Easter Bunny half a chance and he'll fill a basket of eggs at your house as a surprise for the children. You can use them as a centerpiece for the Easter dinner table, at a children's party, or as a delightful gift. It's up to you to make the little eggs, of course — with an easy uncooked fondant of sweetened condensed milk and confectioners' sugar, as magically smooth and creamy as the old-fashioned French kind that's so much trouble.

Divide the fondant into four or five parts and tint each with a few drops of red, green, blue and purple and work the color in smoothly or else let it appear in mottled patches when you roll the little eggs. For variety's sake, put blanched almonds in some of them, as a center.

Dream House May Have Disposable Linens For The Bed

Disposable linens on the bed are a dream of designer, Henry Dreyfus, for his house of the future.

"The linens on my bed," he says, "will be disposable, tough but luxuriously soft cellulose that comes out of a built-in dispenser. We won't need blankets, he adds, "the house's climate control system will keep the bedroom at just the right sleeping temperature."

Speaking of climate, he sees the day when a person may be able to drift off to sleep with the sweet fragrance of new mown hay or pungent smell of a forest of pine trees wafting through the evening air. All this will be done, he thinks, by simply inserting a special capsule in the climate control system. If this were not enough, he would like to add the soft rustling sound of leaves piped in from the outdoors or the recorded background of a rippling brook.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Avoid Those Snacks, If Diet Is To Work

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Universal-International is enthusiastic about a cute little blonde named Cindy Robbins whom you'll see with Rock Hudson in "This Earth Is Mine."
"This is my first big break," Cindy told me, "but I began my career when I was a little tot. My mother is a dancing teacher, and I have been on radio and TV for years."

"Who taught you about glamour, the make-up men?" I asked.
"Yes they lightened my hair, and I like it very much. But since I'm not a natural blonde I have to be very subtle with make-up or I look cheap. I use a very light lipstick and brown instead of black mascara."
Cindy is just out of her teens, and I asked if she had been faced with any beauty problems.
"When I was 16 I was overweight," she confessed. "It was strange how I just seemed to become chubby all of a sudden. I really didn't have a sweet tooth, and I had not had to diet before."
"I was fortunate in finding a way of dieting that didn't bother me," Cindy continued. "I ate as I always had, but everything was in half portions. At first I felt a little empty, but after a while my stomach must have shrunk because I was quite satisfied. You know, I'm only five-two, and because I'm small I can't eat the same portions as a big person without gaining weight. But I know that most portions I am served are more than I need so I don't eat it all."
"Another rule for successful dieting," she volunteered, "is to avoid snacks between meals. If you have to raid the ice box, keep carrots or celery sticks or an apple handy. If you are honest with yourself and analyze your eating habits, you'll find that very often you eat from tension rather than from hunger."
"If I was tired, or an exam was coming up or something disturbing had happened I would always stuff myself."
"Yes," I agreed, "many pounds are added by emotional eating."

Teen-Age Dieter

Pretty Cindy Robbins discusses the problems of teen-age dieting. She is soon to be seen in Universal-International's "This Earth Is Mine."

Sixth Grade Entertains Knott P-TA

At a meeting of the Knott P-TA held Thursday evening in the school, the sixth grade presented a program under the direction of Mrs. Jane Dotson.

Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins was elected delegate to the spring conference slated for April 18-19 in Sweetwater; she will join Mrs. Larry Shaw and Mrs. Robert Brown in working out plans for the talent show scheduled for April.

Entrants for the show must register with one of the committee by April 1, it was announced. A report on the recent basketball games, sponsored by the P-TA, showed a net profit of $158.06 to be distributed for the purchase of books in the various grades. About 40 attended the meeting, with the room count won by the sixth grade; room mothers of that grade served refreshments.

ADVERTISER AT WORK!

Advertising can turn the coldest customer into a hot prospect. Throughout the pages of this newspaper you can find many examples of the warm appeal generated by advertising.

But you can't warm up to anything if you're not aware of it. Advertising works overtime to keep you posted on new products and remind you of established brands. It is part of the variety of news in your newspaper.

Advertising is a valuable asset to our economy because it provides the stimulant that makes people buy. As more goods are bought, more and more goods are made—and at lower cost to you. So, you see, advertising really benefits you!

Every day, all across this land of ours, advertising—like the advertising in this newspaper—is doing its part to bring you the good news of more and better products—products that are constantly improving our standard of living.

Congressmen Do Fair As Head Writers

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP) — Never slouches at headline hunting, members of Congress are becoming proficient as headline writers.

Some interesting eye-catchers show up from time to time in the appendix of the Congressional Record, where members can publish almost anything and write their own headlines.

Some recent examples, and their authors:

Do Ducks Smoke?—Rep. A. S. Herlong (D-Fla.), in an article about ducks, as well as cigarette smokers, being victims of cancer. Can the Republican Elephant Be Whitewashed?—Rep. Ken Hechler (D-W.Va.), in an article criticizing the Republican party leadership. The Best Is Yet to Be—Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), painting a rosy picture of the future of the United States.

God and Mr. Dulles—Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.), discussing foreign policy toward Red China.

GI Joe and Honest John—Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), in an article asserting the need for foot troops in the missile age.

The Plot to Move Baltimore — Rep. Samuel N. Friedel (D-Md.), discussing a proposal to remove a freight differential granted to Baltimore 82 years ago.

Poison in Your Water — Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.), in one of a series of articles on water pollution.

They're Stealing My Dollars, Robbing My Children, Grandchildren, and Great Grandchildren—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.), complaining about inflation.

Refurnishing of the congressional press galleries has flushed some interesting items out of ancient file cases.

Among them: A yellowed reprint of President Herbert Hoover's State of the Union message to the second session of the 71st Congress on Dec. 3, 1929. Among other things, Hoover called for a cut in income taxes to a maximum of 4 per cent on individual income and 11 per cent on corporate earnings.

An excerpt from House Speaker Sam Rayburn's maiden House speech on May 6, 1913, is being widely circulated in Congress. It has been photostated and reproduced on a photographed oil painting of Rayburn. The Texas Democrat had been in the House only a month and was 31 when he made the speech. The excerpt:

"It is now my sole purpose here to help enact such wise and just laws that our common country will by virtue of these laws be a happier and a more prosperous country. I have always dreamed of a country which I believe this should be and will be, and that is one in which the citizenship is an educated and patriotic people, not swayed by passion and prejudice, and a country that shall know no East, no West, no North, no South, but inhabited by a people liberally loving, patriotic, happy, and prosperous with its lawmakers having no other purpose than to write such just laws as shall in the years to come be of service to human kind yet unborn."

Texas Violence At Lowest Mark

By The Associated Press Traffic accidents, drownings, gunfire and fire contributed to the violent death toll in Texas over the mid-March weekend. Violence was at its lowest level of the year to date with only 13 deaths tabulated by The Associated Press. Traffic killed five, four were shot to death, three drowned, and one died fighting Saturday's grass fires.

Poor Demand Plagues Valley Vegetable Men

McALLEN (AP)—Poor demand and low prices for cabbage and carrots plagued Lower Rio Grande Valley vegetable shippers last week. But the new spring onion crop promised to be highly profitable.

Harvesting conditions were ideal for the second week.

A fair movement of spring onions shaped up for later in March. The first onions moved out 10 days ago at high prices but shipments were averaging only about four cars daily late last week. The almost continuous rains of February damaged the early onion crop. But shippers said the onions will look better after a dry spell and in early April the later plantings will be of good quality in fair quantities.

Weekend prices for cabbage reached the lowest of the season with demand weak. Last week many cars rolled unsold to northern markets. Confirmed sales were as little as 70 cents to 85 cents for a 50-pound sack. Growers received generally $10 a ton for their cabbage in the field.

Carrot shipments were light for this time of year and f.o.b. quotations were generally $2.50-$2.85 for a crate of topped 48-one pound bags.

A few more Valley citrus sheds were to close this week as orange and grapefruit groves were becoming bare of fruit. It was estimated nearly 90 per cent of the Valley citrus crop was harvested.

Runaway Freight Cars

Here is the wreckage of three of fifteen freight cars which rumbled out of control and smashed through the main street in Olympia, Wash. Fifteen persons were injured and one killed when the cars cut loose from a locomotive south of the city and rolled down grade into town at speeds of 50 to 60 miles per hour.

Congress Has Passed Education Bill --- Now To Provide Funds

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless Congress unexpectedly loosens its purse strings, the government's $87-million-dollar program of federal aid to education is going to fall considerably short.

This is because there is sometimes a difference between what Congress says it may do when it passes a bill and what it actually does when it appropriates the money.

For instance, the aid to education bill authorized expenditures of more than 183 million dollars during the 1959 fiscal year, which ends next June 30. However, Congress thus far has appropriated only 40 million dollars.

Even if Congress approves President Eisenhower's request for a supplemental appropriation of 75 million dollars, the total will still fall about 68 million dollars short.

The request for supplemental appropriations has been sent to a special House subcommittee. No action is expected until after the Easter recess. Even if the extra funds are voted, they probably will come too late in the school year to be of substantial help.

This is particularly true in the case of the student loan program. That isn't all. For fiscal 1960, the new education law calls for spending about 222½ million dollars of federal funds. However, in his 1960 budget message the President asked for only 150 million. Thus, over a two-year period the programs will be short about 140½ million dollars—or 35 per cent—of the amount spelled out in the law.

Consider the highly publicized student loan program. The aid to education bill authorized expenditures during the first year of 47½ million dollars. Before it adjourned last fall, Congress appropriated 6 million dollars to get this program rolling. There have been no further appropriations, although the President proposed another 24 million dollars for this fiscal year.

That six million dollars has already been parcelled out to 1,227 colleges and universities in the 49 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Each school got about 10 per cent of the amount it requested.

The U.S. Office of Education pointed out, when the allocations were made, that each institution is obligated to put in at least $1 for each $9 the government contributes.

Thus, it said, the total loan fund of $6,667,000 "would provide 6,667 loans under the initial appropriation if every student received the maximum $1,000 loan."

Unfortunately, it doesn't work out just that way.

Of the 1,227 participating schools, 264 got less than $1,000, 110 got less than $500 and 5 got less than $100.

Sen. Long Challenges Slap At Lyndon By Proxmire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) challenged today recent criticisms made by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) of Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.).

"I've never seen a man more completely in error than Sen. Proxmire," said Long.

For instance, Long said in a talk for radio broadcast in Louisiana, Proxmire complained that under Johnson's leadership the Senate doesn't have as many quorum calls to require the presence of senators on the floor as formerly.

It's a mark of "good leadership that you don't waste so much time trying to get somebody to come hear somebody else make a speech," said Long.

"Sen. Proxmire is wrong if he thinks you can require any senator to come listen to any other senator's speech. You can make a majority come in and answer to their names but what you do is see them come in and say 'here' and walk right out again."

Long said Proxmire also contended that the Senate doesn't spend as many hours in session under Johnson as it formerly did. But, said Long, Proxmire compared present sessions to 1950 and 1949 when there were long filibusters.

"Now if Sen. Proxmire is in favor of all this filibustering and thrashing around and achieving nothing, he can advocate it," said Long. "Personally I think the people got disgusted with the way Congress wasted so much time and got so little done in the years before Sen. Proxmire came."

Long said Proxmire "is a nice fellow and I like him" but "it's too bad he has consumed a lot of attention when we have so many other vital problems, and the things he has been discussing he really hasn't known much about."

Graham Closes Melbourne Meet With Biggest Crowd

MELBOURNE (AP)—Billy Graham closed his month-long crusade in Australia's second largest city yesterday with the biggest crowd of his career, more than 140,000 people.

Graham's previous record audience of 100,000 was at New York in 1957.

Australian clergymen said the evangelist's final local meeting was the greatest religious gathering in the country's history. Leaders of virtually every church, including Roman Catholics and Jews, praised the North Carolina Baptist's crusade.

During his month Graham has drawn audiences totaling nearly 700,000. Millions have heard him on radio.

Graham spoke from a platform in the center of the five-acre site of the 1956 Olympic games.

Graham opened his sermon by reading greetings from President Eisenhower. In his religious message he said man could serve either self or God, but only by serving God could man attain heaven.

The Catholic Advocate paid tribute to the "great missionary effort which Dr. Graham and his collaborators have undertaken with a view to awakening the world to the vital truth and the all-importance of spiritual reality."

Graham flew to Tasmania today for two meetings. After a two-week holiday at the shore in Queensland, he will start a crusade in New Zealand in April.

Musical Interlude

Planiat Van Cliburn, the 24-year-old Texan who has been used to a daily practice schedule on the keyboard for 21 years, is like a fish out of water these days. The bushy-haired concert artist is recuperating in a New York hospital after an operation for an abscessed fingertip, and he's under doctor's orders to stay away from the piano for at least two months. The enforced idleness will keep Cliburn from another scheduled trip to Russia.

'Dying' Weather Plasters Midwest

By The Associated Press

The supposedly dying winter, showing no pain, plastered the Midwest with wind, snow and rain storms over the weekend and swept eastward without losing much of its savage power.

The wild, late winter storms left thousands of persons stranded for hours. Included were nearly 350 passengers on four Chicago and North Western Railroad trains which got stuck in 12-foot snow drifts in Wisconsin. All of the trains had sufficient fuel to heat the cars and all passengers had food during their enforced lay-over, ranging up to 12 hours.

The last of the stalled trains, with 150 passengers aboard, was pulled free late Sunday night, eight hours after it was halted by huge drifts about 12 miles north of Green Bay.

The wintry storms, killed at least four persons — three in Arkansas communities hit by tornadoes.

More than a score of persons suffered injuries in the storms. Property damage was heavy.

The massive storm center, rolling out of the Rockies Saturday, dumped heavy snow on Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. The vicious winds battered northern Midwest areas with gusts up to 78 m.p.h. in parts of Michigan.

The snow, powered by the high winds, ranged up to a foot or more and blocked highways in many Midwest areas.

The last of the passenger trains was freed from its snow-bound station by five diesel units coupled together. It was en route from Ashland to Green Bay-Milwaukee-Chicago. Three other trains were stalled by big snow drifts until snow plows arrived.

One train with 83 passengers was stuck at Randolph, 80 miles west of Milwaukee, for 10 hours before a giant railroad plow from Milwaukee cleared the tracks and pulled it free.

Snow Develops In West Texas

By The Associated Press

Light rain and snow developed during the night west of the Pecos Valley in West Texas and El Paso had light snow shortly before dawn Monday.

Skies were cloudy over most of the state but only partly cloudy along the Red River Valley and in the Texas Panhandle.

Temperatures were very chilly except in the extreme Lower Rio Grande Valley and ranged from Dalhart's sub-freezing 17 to Brownsville's comfortable 62.

Light showers also fell early Monday along the Gulf Coast.

A revised forecast for West Texas called for occasional snow or light rain continuing in the El Paso area and the upper Pecos River Valley Monday.

Warmer temperatures were expected elsewhere in the state Monday with chilly levels on tap again Monday night.

Ike Will Talk Tonight On Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reports to the nation tonight on the Berlin situation as he sees it.

His half-hour address from the White House will be carried by all the major radio and television networks, starting at 9:30 p.m. EST.

Advance indications were that Eisenhower would detail his charges that the Soviets, in seeking to force Allied military forces out of the onetime German capital, are trying to break solemn agreements entered into during and after World War II concerning the four-power status of the city.

He may emphasize this by showing his television audience some of the documents setting forth the occupation agreements.

He also was expected to reiterate this nation's intention to stand firm in Berlin, and to emphasize the senselessness of atomic war.

Informed sources described the speech as a restatement of the American position and an effort to put into perspective the cold war battle over Berlin that has been raging since last November. They said the speech would contain no surprises and set forth no new policies.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested today that Eisenhower lay down the general terms the West will be prepared to consider in any Berlin negotiations with the Soviet Union.

"In this way his words would not only reach the people in the democratic and uncommitted countries but would be carried into the Soviet Union and the satellite countries by the Voice of America," Mansfield said.

In view of the extreme gravity of the situation, they might even be carried in part on stations in the U.S.S.R."

Eisenhower will begin talks Thursday with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in a further effort to agree on a common stand among the Allies.

Macmillan is reported as likely to urge agreement on a summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to follow up a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers which has been suggested for May.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in a week-end TV-radio program that the United States should be willing to take Berlin and other problems to a summit conference.

"We have to accept that fact that in the Soviet Union there isn't any second most important man," Fulbright said. "It's just the most important man. To them, a foreign ministers' conference is rather a waste of time because Khrushchev speaks for all of them."

Fulbright said that if a free corridor with uninterrupted access could be established and some form of international control of Berlin could be set up, "I think that might be an offer to be very seriously considered."

Perils Of Modern Air Conditioning

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The sales meeting of a typewriter firm a hotel turned-out to be a stinking affair.

Ed Valentine took what he thought was a do-odorized skunk to the meeting as a prize in a sales contest.

The skunk got nervous and smelled up the place. That broke up the meeting.

The odor wafted into the air conditioning system, forcing temporary evacuation of five floors of the hotel as well as the dining room and lounge.

A Devotional For Today

The inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, Let us go speedily to prayer before the Lord. (Zechariah 8:21.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee that wherever we live upon the earth we all belong to one great family. We are thankful for the grace which Thou hast revealed to us in Thy Church, our common home on earth. In His name. Amen.

Ready For The Fireworks

The Texas Legislature on Thursday completed the first 60 days of its current session—a period set aside for the introduction of bills.

There were hundreds of these bills handed up, many involving tax matters, but only a minority of them will ever see the light of day.

Starting next week, the bill-writers will need a four-fifths vote to get a bill on the agenda. That requirement would not preclude action on some grave emergency matter, but it does discourage bill-writers who like to toss them off at the drop of a hat.

The next 60 days will be devoted to action on bills that managed to get in under the wire.

What to do about the deficit, which Texas is not supposed to have under its Constitution, and where and how to raise the money to write it off and provide for new demands on the state treasury will be the order of the day from here on out.

The first 60 days consisted largely of maneuvers, jockeying and pulse-taking. Now the chips are down and the real fireworks will begin.

No Time To Waste, Wasting Time

The British diplomat who said the only thing clear about the new revolt in Iraq was the "confusion" threw about as much light on the affair as anyone could—even if one were inside Iraq and seeing events at first hand.

But the remark was not as paradoxical as it seems. The government of Iraq under Premier Abdul Karim Qassem has been playing footsie with the Communists as a foil to the Pan-Arabism of Nasser of Egypt. Perhaps Qassem's Arab nationalism is as strong as Nasser's own, but he prefers the Qassem brand over Nasser's—prefers it so strongly that he risks sticking his neck in the Moscow noose to thwart Nasser.

The latest crop of rebels preferred Nasser, who played ball with Moscow in his way earlier, but finally sent Moscow's minions packing, to Qassem's Moscow-winning brand of Arab nationalism. At the moment, the preference of Nasser over the Moscow-Qassem axis by the rebels implied the rebels' preference for the West as against the Soviet Union. Tomorrow, who knows?

In any event, Moscow is probably pleased; for its prestige is to confuse, to stir up, to create trouble and disturbance. It shouts for peace, but it sows dissension, strife, confusion and hatred. The last thing it wants anywhere in the world is peace and concord.

We can't recall, offhand, a moment in history when there was so much restlessness, confusion and upheaval in the world. In the Middle East, in Nvassaland in the Belgian Congo, in French Africa, only the other day in Bolivia, a few weeks ago in Cuba, next week perhaps in Hispaniola where Haiti seethes and the Dominican Republic expects trouble.

And Khrushchev whipping up a hell's brew over Berlin which in its way epitomizes all the trouble between West and East, insoluble in terms of diplomacy, economics and perhaps militarily. The cold war alternately cools off and boils up, but it is there in one condition or another for the foreseeable future.

The wisdom of the ages tells us we must not relax for a moment our vigilance and our readiness for whatever befalls. The world is sick. We are part of the world we live in. It would be nice if we could turn our back on it and become absorbed in contemplation of our own national navel. That has been tried by other great civilizations down through history. The archaeologists are kept busy digging up their fragments out of the sands of time.

David Lawrence Decision Wipes Out Civil Rights

WASHINGTON — In these days, when there is so much talk about upholding the Constitution, it seems strange that the "civil rights" of an individual can be wiped out overnight — and he can be sent to jail for 15 months — not because he violated any law or was himself guilty of criminal conduct, but because he was afraid to testify in a case lest he suffer gangster reprisals.

Yet, by a vote of 5 to 4, the Supreme Court of the United States now orders to jail a man who is innocent of any crime against his fellow man.

The four who voted in dissent were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas and Brennan. Their written opinion is a masterpiece of logic and sound law. They have often been criticized in these dispatches in other cases, but the viewpoint they expressed in this case is unusual punishment because of his refusal to testify before a grand jury is an excellent exposition of judicial morality. It is a denunciation of the arbitrary way that criminal contempt cases can be handled by tyrannical judges.

The Constitution says that "the trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury." But "usage," based on the English common law, has caused the Constitution to be ignored. Justice Black, in a historic opinion a few years ago, made an impressive argument for jury trials in criminal contempt cases. Senator Talmadge of Georgia has introduced legislation at the present session of Congress to require jury trials in all cases of contempt arising from the disobedience of any injunction or restraining order.

What was involved, however, in the case of Emanuel Brown was not a restraining order or injunction but the court's order that he testify before a grand jury. He had already refused to do so, and was brought into court so that he could again be requested to testify and then punished.

The minority opinion deprecates this as a violation of the federal rules of criminal procedure and expresses a belief that the punishment was rather severe for the kind of offense charged. It gives a list of other cases with far less drastic penalties. The chief justice also says:

"The prosecutor indicated in the court that the inquiry (of the grand jury) though directed toward minor violations of the Interstate Commerce Act, was really part of an effort to discover facts concerning notorious gangsters suspected of complicity in the Victor Reisel acid-throwing incident and general racketeering in the southern district of New York. In view of the total absence of any intimation that petitioner (Emanuel Brown) had violated the Interstate Commerce Act or was himself guilty of criminal conduct, the actual basis for his refusal to testify may well have been fear of gangster reprisals, a not unreasonable fear in such circumstances. Regardless of the legal significance of such a defense, a hearing would have provided an opportunity for presentation of such facts to the judge and might well have affected the length of sentence."

The chief justice quoted aptly from a pertinent opinion by Justice Frankfurter in another case. Had Mr. Frankfurter held the same view today, he would have supplied the fifth vote toward making the Warren opinion the majority. But the record now is made, and judges throughout the country are bound by the precedent created. The chief justice quite properly laments this as he writes of what has been the custom in the past.

"In the light of the sentences given in this type of case, I doubt if any judge in the federal system would summarily send a witness to the penitentiary for 15 months for merely refusing to testify in a grand jury investigation of whether a trucker is operating without an Interstate Commerce Commission certificate. It is quite obvious that much of the sentence was for some reason collateral to that investigation. It is not sufficient for the purpose of increasing punishment to act on the suspicion that the refusal of a witness to testify may redound to the interest of a racketeer, and on that basis deny him the protection that Congress has seen fit to accord all witnesses before grand juries. If such factors are to play a part in the sentence the witness is entitled to a hearing on notice."

The chief justice has put his finger on the procedural weaknesses in criminal contempt cases. He opportunely is too often denied a citizen to present evidence and argument through his attorney on the concrete issues that may otherwise influence a judge arbitrarily to impose drastic punishment for a minor offense. Instead of a jury of 12 men, a single judge can summarily punish, and apparently a Supreme Court majority will back him up.

The Chip On His Shoulder

James Marlow The ABC Of Filing Income Tax

Effort note — Still puzzled about some points in your federal income tax? You may find the answers in this and succeeding articles which explain the subject in simple, understandable language. Today's installment lists five deals with filing procedure and the income you must report.

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on filing your 1958 income tax return. The deadline is midnight, April 15.

Claim all the exemptions and deductions you're entitled to. They'll reduce your tax.

Report only taxable income, not the nontaxable kind. There's a difference, explained later. Example: Social Security benefits are nontaxable.

Other things to remember:

1. Attach to your return all the W-2 receipts given you by employers for tax withheld from you during 1958.
2. Many people from past years have refunds coming to them but can't get them because the Internal Revenue Service doesn't know who they are or where they live. Their names and addresses were illegible. Write yours clearly.

3. Be sure you have the instruction sheet which IRS is supposed to send every taxpayer. It is full of information.

It also has the tax-table and tax rate schedule for figuring your tax unless you're one of those with under-$5,000 income who uses form 1040A and lets the IRS figure the tax for you.

Who must file a return?

You must, whether or not you owe tax, if you were over 65 in 1958 — this includes children—and had taxable income of $600 or more.

A person over 65 — you could have reached 65 as late as Jan. 1, 1959 — must file a return if he had taxable income of $1,200 or more, whether or not he owes tax.

If you had income but it was under the amount required for filing—and if tax was withheld from you—you are entitled to a refund. But the only way you can get it is by filing a return and claiming it.

As noted above, a child who had $600 or more taxable income must file a return. The parent is responsible for seeing to it that this is done.

There's an exception to the rules listed above: a self-employed person must file a return and pay a self-employment tax (really a Social Security tax) if his net earnings were $400 or more in 1958.

Examples of the difference between taxable and nontaxable income:

1. John Jones, 66, received $1,000 in Social Security benefits, plus $400 interest on his bank savings. Total income: $1,400.

But Social Security benefits are not taxable and are not to be reported as taxable income. So Jones had only $400 in taxable income: his bank interest.

But a person over 65 doesn't have to file unless his taxable income is $1,200 or more. So Jones doesn't have to file.

Tom Smith, World War II veteran, is under 65 but earned $6,000 last year. Part of the time he was out of work and received $120 in unemployment compensation. He also received a government pension of $300 for injury resulting from his active service in the armed forces. Total income: $6,420.

But unemployment compensation and that kind of government pension are nontaxable and don't have to be reported. So Smith's reportable, taxable income was $6,000.

Here are examples of taxable income which must be reported:

Wages, salaries, rents, bonuses, fees, interest on savings accounts and U.S. savings bonds, dividends from stocks (so-called dividends from building and loan associations on savings accounts are actually interest and must be reported as such), tips, gambling winnings, commissions, profits from sale or exchange of property, strike benefits paid by unions, profits from a farm, business or profession, income from estates or trusts, severance pay.

Here are examples of nontaxable income which doesn't have to be reported as income:

State or federal Social Security benefits; unemployment compensation paid by a state (although supplemental unemployment benefit payments from a company-financed supplemental unemployment benefits fund are taxable income); public assistance payments to the blind; life insurance proceeds paid because of the death of the insured (unless the policy was transferred to you for a valuable consideration); gifts in money or anything of value for which you performed no service; interest on state and municipal bonds; subsistence and rental allowances to members of the armed forces; veteran benefits from the Veterans Administration to veterans and their families; disability pay and pension pay received by veterans for service-connected and nonservice-connected disabilities.

Be sure: if you have doubts about your income — to whether any part of it is taxable or nontaxable — to call or visit your nearest IRS office.

Tomorrow: Which form should you use?

BLOOMFIELD CENTER, N. J. (AP) — This traffic-conscious community sees nothing foreign about foreign cars.

Around The Rim Houses For Energetic Little Girls

Talk about your ideal house plan. I'm inclined to think the "model home" consists of a place with draperies that can't possibly be pulled down by tiny hands and boasting a motif of hand prints, a place that has a pillow in every conceivable place where the small fry might fall.

There's no doubt in my mind about the Good Lord taking pains to look after the toddlers but who's to worry about the adult, as he comes into the household unsuspecting, with a family of dolls lying here, a rocking horse poised to throw him over there and a building set on beyond?

The heiress's library, consisting of Peter Pan, coloring books and the like, has now outgrown the amount of reading matter for the adults around our domicile and it has its appointed place but for some reason, known only to the child, it looks better scattered around the floor and over the chairs.

They're building houses bigger these days, complete with children's rooms, but the toddlers never stay in them. They relish a chance to play where the adults stay, preferably as close to their feet as possible.

A toy may appeal to an adult looking at it through a show window but it gets old before its time to the small people that occupy this world. A child, for some reason, finds more enjoyment in coaxing you to chase him or her through the house or swinging from your torso, Tarzan fashion.

Carol reasons she must perform any number of chores around the house—like answering the phone or the door bell. She hasn't yet mastered the job of opening the door but you'd think there was an angry cat on the other side of it, the manner in which she makes the big effort. Give her time and she'll be asking everyone in—the magazine salesmen, the neighbor's dog and passing school children, as well.

She has unlimited energy when it comes to playing "Wing Around The Waste" in the living room but gets limp as a rag or stubborn as El Toro when it comes time, to changing her dress.

A bed is a great place for a tumbling act, preferably with the shoes on, but an area to be avoided like the plague when the clock shows for a nap. Who sleeps during the daylight hours but "babies" and the indigent?

Of course, her energy is a tipoff on her well-being. If she's operating at full horsepower, we never worry about her condition. Let her start to drag or get crabby and we start looking in her throat to see if it is inflamed. We quickly become convinced she's ailing, if she's not urging one of us to participate in her games.

Inez Robb No Time For Relaxation

We Americans are blessed with itching feet. What is as much to the point is the fact that tens of thousands of Americans are also blessed with itching wallets, to support the feet.

Approximately 700,000 Americans, which is a passel of people, will inundate Europe during the 1959 tourist season, according to estimates by American Express. Of this number, Luis A. Bolin, chairman of the European Travel Commission in the United States, says that at least one in every three will be visiting Europe for the second and third time.

But despite the repeaters or re-entrants, for every 10 Americans who head for Paris and France, only one will take off for Athens and Greece, one in 11 for Lisbon and Portugal and one in 38 for Helsinki and Finland, more's the pity.

I, too, am mad for Paris and France, but I hate to see us dedicated vagabonds get in a rut when there are such other delightful places just off the beaten-to-a-pulp path.

"Off the path," my eye! In this new jet age? The threat of togetherness in the dawnning jet era is already afflicting many with claustrophobia.

However, what I started out to say is that a mere 50 hours spent in Athens a fortnight ago was so inspiring, delightful and really breath-taking that I have re-oriented my piggy bank. Where I was once saving to have my face lifted, I am now saving for a return trip, and a long one, to Greece.

When ruins can be so awesome and magnificent in their beauty as those of the Acropolis and the temple of the Olympian Zeus, or the temple of Neptune at Sounion, my face will have to go unrepaired, too, and take its chances on weathering well.

Probably at no other time in the world's history has so much genius as many extraordinary men, flourished at Athens.

J. A. Livingston He's Traveled Far On 2 Pct. A Year

Dr. Sumner H. Slichter commands a unique place among economists in America. He is a Harvard professor, accepted by both business men and labor leaders as sound and respectable. As an advocate of 2 per cent-a-year inflation, he is beyond excommunication by fellow economists for proliferating a heresy. Only recently The Saturday Evening Post accorded him "great man" status by having him do an article in its "Adventures of the Mind" series.

How has Slichter risen above what for lesser men would be a catastrophic orthodoxy?

A member of the Union League in Philadelphia, the Duquesne Club of Pittsburgh, or the Pacific Union Club in San Francisco would be frowned on at the luncheon table for suggesting America can live with inflation. But Slichter is invited to speak at the poshest of posh business men's clubs.

If, at a meeting of the American Economic Association, an economist seriously argued that 2 per cent-a-year inflation is a small price to pay for full employment and economic growth, fellow economists would ask one another, "Has he had his brain washed by John Law?"

If you were a perspiring Ph.D. aspirant in economics and handed in this 2 per cent-a-year solution of all economic ills, you'd be told by your professor-adviser to consider a career in magic, the illusionist's art. But Slichter makes heresy gospel and himself popular. In sanctifying inflation, he peddles himself.

Whence this wondrous power?

Slichter is a product of the University of Wisconsin where the venerated Prof. John R. Commons taught the history of labor unions and imbedded in his students the idea that American labor unions were job-conscious. They looked to employers, rather than government, for economic progress.

Slichter preached and amplified the master's precepts. Unions would become stronger. Unions would fight a death struggle for the closed shop and the right to organize unorganized workers — to control jobs.

Events during the 'thirties — the sit-down strikes, organization of autos and steel, the CIO — validated his forecasts. Slichter warned unions that they must use their newly-won power responsibly. This, business men, then on the defensive, liked to hear.

Later, in the postwar era, still harping on union responsibility, Slichter peddled an engaging phrase — "the laboristic economy" in one and in one place as in Athens in the Fifth Century B. C. To walk amid the ruins of the ancient city where Western civilization came to fruition and, to catch a glimpse of the unmatchable beauty created there is to be shaken by both awe and exhilaration at man's potentialities.

In the mid-Twentieth Century, one does not need to go to Greece to see the hideous useless destruction of war. But, at least for me, nothing illustrates so poignantly the idiot desecration of war as the Parthenon. For more than 2,000 years this perfect structure weathered time and tide.

It took man to turn it into a powder magazine in the latter half of the Seventeenth Century. In 1687, in the war between the Turks and the Venetians, a Venetian shell touched off the Turkish magazine, and the Parthenon and the surrounding Acropolis survive today only in noble ruins.

No one can know until he confronts it what ancient fabric of man's history will touch his emotions most deeply. For me, in Athens, it was the spot where Socrates drained his cup of hemlock and the place in the Agora where, centuries later, St. Paul preached and made his first converts among the Athenians.

Athens is the only city in the world where I have ever felt the urge to grab a shovel and start digging. Here, in this city under a cerulean sky, one feels that the last two thousand years of history are only skin deep. One longs to join the archeologists, digging in a half-dozen places in Athens, to lay bare its ancient glories.

When the penny bank is full, I am going back to Greece with a spade and a ticket for a leisurely cruise of the Greek islands swimming in the sapphire waters of the Aegean Sea—all 2,000 of 'em, the islands, that is.

omy." By it, he meant that America was becoming a nation of jobholders. The proportion of shopkeepers, farmers, and self-employed in the economy was diminishing. The proportion of "laborers"—persons dependent on others for jobs—was rising. By implication, unions would become more influential.

Business men embosomed the phrase. It provided them with a ready-made excuse for everything they, as business men, didn't want to be blamed for — rising prices, rising wage rates, increased fringe benefits. These were products of a laboristic society, not a business man's decisions or actions.

Moreover, Slichter kept asserting that in this laboristic economy, union leaders must exercise restraint. If they were over-demanding, there'd be federal regulation, and there was — the Taft-Hartley Act. This further endeared him to labor leaders. Still, he was — and is — a stronger supporter of strong, responsible labor unions.

As inflation persisted in the postwar years, Slichter recognized labor demands for higher wages would increase production costs and prices. He rationalized what seemed inevitable. Creeping inflation, he said, was a small price to pay for prosperity and growth. He became inflation's academic apostle.

Instead of being thrown out of the academic temple, he has become the archpriest. The people in the temple want him. He satisfies a deep need.

In the hearts of all unsated men hides avarice — the wish for something for nothing. The speculator hopes his stocks will rise. The worker wants more in his envelope. The home owner gloms if property values rise. The business man chuckles when higher prices, which he passes on to consumers, raise the value of his inventory, plant, and equipment, and ultimately, his profits.

Nearly everyone loves creeping inflation to creep — if only it will creep, and no man has traveled further on 2 per cent a year than Prof. Sumner H. Slichter.
