EPISTLES FROM A ROMAN

Soldier Of Rome Recounts Boredom Of Duty In Hot, Restive Jerusalem

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of five Easter articles entitled "Epistles from a Roman." Each takes the form of a letter written by a Roman officer stationed in Judea who describes the historic events of a Passover season 2,000 years ago to his father in pagan Rome.

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

Jerusalem, Judea
16th year of the Caesar Tiberius

Gaius my father, I transmit to you the warmest filial greetings of a forlorn son who realizes after but a short time the dreadful error he made in asking transfer to this place. What did I do to deserve this, my new post of duty?

Judea is a wretched land, oppressed by sun and wind and barren of the smallest pleasures and comforts of glorious Rome or even provincial Gaul. East of us lies a great sea in which not a living thing can survive. The land is little better.

And the people! Strange, incomprehensible people! People so far removed from sensible thought that the son of a lowly carpenter can ride into the city on an ass—as one did—and be called king and be taken seriously by the people in the streets!

Strangest of the strange are the Jews who reject all the gods but one and claim to be His chosen people. Chosen people, indeed! If they are, why is it not they who rule instead of Rome?

Jerusalem is a seething hotbed of gossip and rumor, spawned in the superstitious fears and hopes of its wretched inhabitants and heightened by the approach of a festival called Passover, the holy season of the Jews, who rapidly fill the city to overflowing.

The wildest of rumor has reached the ears of the Procurator for he has come all the way from Caesarea to supervise personally the maintenance of the peace. He is a timorous man, our Procurator Pilate, one who will go to great lengths to avoid trouble.

My friend Titus tells me the Procurator's fears go back to the time when he brought the banners of the Caesar into the city and it so aroused the Jews that Tiberius himself reprimanded Pilate, and caused the banners to be removed.

This time, the Procurator's chief concern is the carpenter's son, who has come all the way from Galilee in the tetrarchy of Herod Antipas to be in Jerusalem for the passover and, some say, to become king of the Jews.

Many Jews believe him to be the anointed one—called by the Greeks the Christ—or the savior promised by the prophets of old who would be sent by their one god to overthrow foreign rulers and restore the ancient kingdom of Israel.

If this Galilean is the royal messiah then the Procurator has few worries for the man entered the city yesterday riding an ass instead of a kingly litter while his followers waved palm fronds instead of swords. We who watched could scarcely contain our amusement.

Nevertheless, our timid Procurator has suspended the daily garrison routine and has ordered the soldiers to remain inconspicuous for fear of arousing the Jews. Personally, I think one legion could clear the land of these people in a single day!

My friend Titus has told me some of the many stories that circulate about the man from Galilee who, for the past two or three years, has been agitating in the vicinity of Capernaum on the shore of the great fresh water sea. He appears to be something of a sorcerer.

One of the stories concerns a woman of Magdala, well-known to our troops in Galilee for her easy virtues, who was reformed by the mere touch of the Galilean's hand. Our troops still speak peevishly of this unwelcome transformation.

It is said too that a Roman centurion, of all people, became a follower of the Galilean after the sorcerer cured the centurion's servant of palsy. This I find so hard to believe that I really should await confirmation before passing the story on to you.

"If this Galilean is the royal messiah then the Procurator has few worries, for the man entered the city yesterday riding an ass instead of a kingly litter while his followers waved palm fronds instead of swords."

But enough of this small talk! You can easily see what the heat and boredom of this place has done to me when I can find nothing better to do than to write about the strange doings of a wanderer from barbarous Galilee.

But better times may be ahead. Titus tells me there are excellent public baths in Caesarea and, when this passover festival is done, we may get a chance to go there and wash from our bodies the dust of this place.

Obediently
Valerius, thy son.

11 Persons Nabbed By FBI In Crackdown On Nationwide Puzzle Contest Swindle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today announced the arrests of 11 persons in what it describes as a nationwide swindle involving newspaper puzzle contests.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the swindle operations crossed the U.S.-Canadian border. FBI agents today picked up four persons in Oregon, three in Michigan, two in Pennsylvania, and one each in Indiana and Wisconsin.

They were charged with conspiracy to violate the federal mail fraud and fraud by wire statutes. Similar charges have been filed against two other persons in Canada and a resident of Minnesota. None of these three is in custody.

Two Portland, Ore., newspapers—The Oregonian and The Journal—announced several weeks ago they had heard reports of a "fix" on newspaper puzzle contests. They dropped such contests from their papers and asked the FBI to investigate. Officials in Portland joined in the request.

Hoover's announcement said the investigation showed that answers to puzzle contests conducted by two New York feature syndicates, obtained in advance by a devious scheme, were used in winning more than $45,000 between November 1958 and February of this year.

The FBI said the ringleaders in the operation established a base in Canada and subscribed to the puzzle feature services, using the name and address of a non-existent newspaper company which they called "Suburban Publishers, Ltd., 220 Epworth, London, Ontario, Canada."

The FBI said the feature services do not furnish contest answers to a subscribing newspaper, but to a bank, to be held in confidence until the deadline has passed for submission of solutions.

Hoover said "Suburban Publishers" supplied the syndicates with the name of a fictitious bank the "Middlesex Trust Co.," with the mailing address P.O. Box 699, Byron, Ontario, Canada.

The puzzle answers sent to this box were picked up by the ringleaders in Canada. Others living in the United States entered the contests with the benefit of solutions supplied, by telephone from either Detroit or Canada. The individual winners, the FBI said, were allowed to keep a small share of the prize money, while the bulk of the cash was delivered to the ring's Canadian headquarters.

The offenses charged carry penalties of up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. The FBI listed these arrests: Harry Balk, 33, Detroit, described as a former Detroit theater manager who won a $4,400 contest in the Chicago American last December.

Walter Rex Johnston III, 30, and his wife, Ann, of Detroit. Johnson is an auto salesman. Myer Bloom, 27, of Harrisburg, Pa., who manages a clothing company in Lebanon, Pa., and who won $250 on a Harrisburg Patriot contest in January of this year.

Lawrence A. Dyson, 32, of Philadelphia, who won a Philadelphia Bulletin contest worth $6,050 in November 1958. The FBI said his brother, Joseph Dyson, is one of the two persons in Canada named as members of the conspiracy.

Ralph Bass, Chicago, a record company employee who won $1,100 on a Chicago American contest in January of this year. James Francis Theodore, a Milwaukee dance studio operator, who collected $2,710 on a Milwaukee Sentinel contest in November 1958.

Billy Ronald Taylor, Portland, Ore., employed in servicing juke boxes. His alleged involvement was not detailed. Fitzgerald (Eager) Beaver, Portland, Ore., a radio disc jockey and co-owner of a Portland record shop, who won a Portland Oregonian contest worth $1,700 last December.

Royce E. Hubert, 41, of Sherwood, Ore., who is in the mortgage financing business in Portland. Birches Bird, 34, of Portland, a night club owner.

The FBI said the Minnesota man still being sought is Theron Luther Darling, 35, of Medicine Lake, Minn. He operates a dance studio in Minneapolis. Darling won $1,625 on a St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press contest in November last year.

The two men in Canada charged with conspiracy were named as Dyson, 30, of Ontario, and George G. Dingman Jr., 34, of Port Stanley, Ont.

'Y' Building Plan Decision Coming

A formal decision on proceeding with building plans for a new YMCA will be reached at a meeting of the board Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

R. H. Weaver, president, urged all board members to be present for this parley. The long range planning committee, which opened bids on the project last week, will be presented to make recommendations. Plans for interim financing on the program have been completed by the committee.

The low bidder on the proposed new home was J. D. Jones Construction Company with a figure of $295,000.

Blast Shakes Mine, 9 Men Believed Dead

ROBBINS, Tenn. (AP)—An explosion shattered a small coal mine near here today. Bodies of four men were recovered soon after the blast. Five other men were believed dead.

Sheriff D. E. Rosser identified the victims as Oscar West of Oneida, the mine operator; Hubert Phillips, Elmer Phillips and Bernard Yancey.

The sheriff said it was doubtful any of the other five men in the mine survived.

First reports attributed the explosion to a gas pocket in the mine. The nine men were said to be the total work force in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Robbins is in Scott County, about 75 miles northwest of Knoxville.

The mine is what is known as a truck mine, normally a small operation in which the coal is hauled away by truck rather than by railroad.

Ike, Governors Map Jobless Pay Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and a group of governors met today to explore ways to improve the federal-state jobless aid program.

The White House conference got under way at midmorning. Advance indications were that Eisenhower would tell the governors that unless state unemployment compensation laws are broadened, Congress may move in and enact compulsory federal standards.

The President's meeting was with the executive committee of the Governors Conference.

Also sitting in at the session were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss, and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Others present included Dr. Raymond Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Wilton B. Persons, Eisenhower's chief aide; and Robert Merriman, another presidential assistant.

The arrangement was for the governors to confer with Eisenhower for about an hour, then continue the discussion with the other administration officials.

The state chief executives planned lunch at the White House with those officials. Indications were the conference would end in mid-afternoon.

While the White House meeting was under way, the Senate Finance Committee approved a three-month extension of the temporary federal jobless pay program.

The committee voted 12-4 to reject a proposal of Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) and 17 other Democratic senators for an extension to July 1, 1960, under liberalized standards.

Laymen To Lead Easter Services

Laymen will take the lead Sunday when the traditional Sunrise Easter Service is observed at the City Park Amphitheatre.

The special worship will begin at 6:30 a.m., just as the first rays of the sun are due to fall across the horizon.

Among those participating will be Justin Holmes, invocation; Sgt. Dewey Magee, Scripture reading; Glenn Guthrie, prayer; Dr. P. W. Malone, benediction.

Speakers will be Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, and Dan M. Krauss, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

Music will be arranged by Ira Schantz and Bill Dawes, with the aid of high school choir and other volunteers.

Tibet Revolt Subsides, Nehru Says

'No Intention' To Intervene

Missing

Whereabouts of the Dalai Lama, religious and political leader of Tibet is unknown as fighting was reported raging in the capital of Lhasa. Indian newspapers speculated he may have fled with friends or been kidnapped by Communists.

County To Buy Highway Radio

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday agreed to join with the Civil Defense in the purchase of a car radio transmitter for use in a third highway patrol car scheduled to go into service in this county.

Kellas Davis, patrolman, appeared before the board and made the request for the radio. He said the third patrol car with the fourth patrolman for the county should be here by April 1.

A committee from the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce—Jack Cook, Clyde McMahon and Leroy Tidwell—appeared to ask that the commissioners join in a protest against the curtailment of commercial airline service to Big Spring. The board agreed to do so.

City Fines Total $430

Fines and bond forfeitures amounted to $430 in the City Court in a relatively light Monday morning session.

One man drew a $50 fine for disturbance and a familiar character got $90 on a vagrancy count. Two others got fines of $9 and $6 for parking. An assortment of traffic violations, not including speeding, drew an aggregate of $77. Speeding fines totalled $45. Six pleas of guilty to charges of drunkenness brought fines of $90, while three pleaded not guilty and had bonds set at $60. Another three people didn't show up to answer charges and bonds of $52 were forfeited.

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today said fighting apparently has subsided in the Tibetan capital and the Indian government has no intention of intervening in the revolt against Chinese Communist rule.

"Apparently the situation in Lhasa has somewhat quietened down," the Indian prime minister reported.

Nehru told Parliament he had no reliable information on the fate of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and political leader. He said he could only hope he was safe.

The Hong Kong correspondent of the Times of India reported the young god-king was under house arrest in Lhasa, his capital. The report said Peiping had ordered the Chinese military governor of Tibet, Gen. Chang Ching Wu, to "persuade" the Dalai Lama—considered by Tibetans to be the reincarnation of Buddha—to come to the Red Chinese capital in order to withdraw his moral support from the rebels.

Nehru in his remarks to Parliament was in effect answering several Indian newspapers who had criticized his failure to intercede with Peiping on behalf of the Tibetans and the Dalai Lama.

India has long recognized Chinese sovereignty over Tibet, though until the Communists invaded the remote mountain plateau in 1950, the Dalai Lama and his church organization governed Tibet with only occasional interference from the central Chinese government.

Nehru told Parliament the situation in Tibet remains most delicate and "we are not doing anything to make the situation worse."

"We have no intention of interfering in the internal matters of China," he declared, pointing out that India has a treaty of friendly coexistence with Peiping.

The Hong Kong dispatch to the Times of India said Tibetans were "unsettled over India's inability to do anything on their behalf and regret New Delhi's inferiority complex in relation to China—a complex that prevents India from saving or doing anything that might not be to Peiping's liking."

The British-owned Statesman said in a dispatch from Kalimpong that Tibetans in that border town had petitioned Nehru to intercede with Peiping to save the Dalai Lama and secure withdrawal of Chinese troops from Tibet.

Tibetans fear that the Reds were planning to kidnap the Dalai Lama were reported to have touched off the revolt. The people demonstrated in the streets of Lhasa March 10-11 when word got out that the Lama had been summoned to a Chinese military reception without his bodyguards. The ruler finally refused to go.

Informants said the demonstrators looted an arsenal and obtained large quantities of arms and ammunition. General fighting was said to have erupted when the Chinese tried to break up the demonstrations.

A report that two big Buddhist monasteries were ablaze in Lhasa prompted speculation that the Chinese had bombed or shelled the capital and that Buddhist monks were taking part in the defiance.

There was no official confirmation of the report, which reached Kalimpong despite a continuing cut-off in telegraph communications and mule caravan traffic between Tibet and India.

The only official word from the remote capital came from the Indian consul general, Maj. S. Chibber, who radioed New Delhi Sunday that fighting had ceased in the immediate vicinity of the consulate on the outskirts of Lhasa.

Chibber's report Friday of fighting around the consulate was the first official confirmation to the outside world that an uprising had broken out.

Austin (AP)—Administration forces started a strong new push today for quick action on Gov. Price Daniel's finance program.

It started before the House convened. Several of Daniel's top aides worked the floor of the House to line up members behind the administration program, which has been lagging.

This followed the governor's radio appeal for public support yesterday. He served notice on the Legislature that he would not retreat in his fight against a general sales tax.

His pledge of a last ditch battle against any such tax—no matter what its label—perhaps held the implied threat of a veto although the governor has not flatly said this.

The governor's helpers were urging House members to put pressure on the revenue and taxation committee to vote out two Daniel-backed measures to help rub out the deficit. They are the proposed revision of the franchise tax law. One of his solving measures, the bookkeeping bill, was fourth down on the House calendar today but several controversial measures were ahead of it.

Daniel's appeal over 40 radio stations yesterday for public support against what he called an "arrogant" lobby lined up against his program will be followed today by a public hearing on several money bills he does not like.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee was to take up at 2:30 p.m. HB727, a measure including a one per cent occupation tax on retail businesses and a two per cent levy on transportation; HB900, a "business privilege tax"; HB786, a four per cent tax on the first sale of all goods manufactured or imported in Texas; HB84, a one per cent gross receipts tax.

Seventy-six veniremen were on hand after the list of those excused from the original 120 had been checked off and those present who had legal reasons for not serving had been dismissed.

At 11:05, the first venireman was called and questioning to qualify the jury began.

Easter Seal Poster Boy

Little Guy Teague, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Teague, looks in awe upon a great big Easter egg displayed by Mrs. George Bass, one of the leaders in the current Easter Seal Campaign. Guy is the poster boy for this year's appeal for funds for the Crippled Children's Society. Guy posed Sunday at a rehearsal of "The Messiah," which will be presented this evening at the City Auditorium with proceeds from a free-will offering to go to the Society. Nasser Uses Israel Claim Against Foe

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has accused his rival, Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, of committing the Arab sin of refusing to aid in "a fight to the finish" against Israel.

In another fighting speech broadcast from Damascus, the president of the United Arab Republic castigated Kassem and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, whom he called Kassem's backer.

For the first time Nasser asserted the Soviets' ultimatum had nothing to do with halting the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt in 1956.

He said fighting had stopped before the Soviet ultimatum arrived Nov. 6, 1956. He also said the Soviets gave Egypt no aid during the Suez fighting, and that they had not supported last July's Iraqi revolution against the former pro-Western regime.

The Soviet Union threatened Britain and France with its atomic power on Nov. 5. Britain and France ordered a cease-fire in the Suez war Nov. 7. In the West, American opposition to the war and not the Soviet threat was generally believed responsible for the decision to end hostilities. But the Arab world, led by Nasser, gave most or all of the credit to the Soviets.

Nasser said the Israelis launched a series of attacks on the Syrian frontier late last year and that he anticipated an all-out attack.

To meet such an attack, he continued, he planned a fight to the finish and asked Kassem to send troops to help, but Kassem refused, Nasser asserted.

"With the deterioration in U.A.R.-Iraqi relations, we knew we would be alone if we entered a conflict with Israel," he added.

The Israeli-Arab incidents along the Syrian border last fall coincided with a virulent Cairo propaganda campaign against King Hussein of Jordan. The Jordanians charged that Nasser was plotting to overthrow Hussein, and reliable reports circulated that the Israelis in that event would occupy the former Palestine territory west of the River Jordan. The tension subsequently subsided.

The word war between Nasser and Iraq's Kassem erupted when the Iraqi premier accused the U.A.R. president of backing a recent abortive revolt in northern Iraq. Nasser in reply accused Kassem of lining up with Communist agents trying to undermine Arab unity.

The Baghdad government announced that a "people's court" on Tuesday will begin trying persons accused of participating in the revolt.

Angered Police Begin Search For Rape-Slayer Of Young Girl

SPOKANE, (AP) — An aroused police force vowed today to find the killer of Candy Rogers, a 9-year-old Campfire girl whose ravished body was found in a clump of woods after a 16-day search.

"We'll put every available man on the case and keep them there until the thing is solved," said Police Chief Clifford Payne, father of a daughter aged 9.

"We know what we're looking for now. We're looking for a maniac."

He said it appeared the child had been picked up on a street corner, raped, strangled with a piece of her own slip, then buried under a pile of brush miles from town—all within a few hours 17 days ago.

Never before has Spokane or its 230-man police force been so stirred by a case. The pretty fourth-grader, vanished March 6 while selling Campfire mints door to door near her home.

Police found six boxes of mints scattered near a bridge in the 12 hours that followed the disappearance, then ran into a blank wall despite 750 tips from substantial citizens, skid row bums and tea leaf readers. Three searchers in an Air Force helicopter were killed in a crash.

Thousands of volunteers combed the canyon below Candy's home, scoured along the banks of the canyon's Spokane River, checked garages, old cars and—with apologies beforehand—home of reputable residents.

They found nothing. Television appeals by Catholic and Episcopal bishops produced not a trace. Then came an unexpected break.

Two enlisted men from Fairchild Air Force Base, Howard S. Lawrence, 19, and Richard Bergant, 21, found a small pair of blue suede shoes Saturday while hunting woodchucks in remote woods 12 miles from town, northwest of where the search had been concentrated.

They told police, who checked the shoes with Candy's grandfather, S. E. Newton, a fuel dealer. He had seen them before.

At dawn Sunday, a half dozen officers gathered at the scene of the airman's discovery. A patrolman spotted a knee sticking out from under a pile of faded pine needles. He brushed them, away carefully.

"No use going any further—here she is," said Inspector Robert Piper, who personally had run down scores of fruitless leads since the search began.

An autopsy showed little Candy had been raped. Her legs had been tied by a piece of her petticoat. Another piece was strung around her neck. There was blood on her face and neck.

Candy's mother, Mrs. Elaine Rogers, a high school teacher, collapsed and was put under deep sedation. The child's father, salesman Carl Rogers of Milton-Freewater, Ore., rushed here to comfort her.

The grim discovery ended the biggest manhunt in the history of this city of 100,000. Police said it also started an even bigger one.

Farmer Has Moving Hills

VILLA RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Ralph Watson claims his farm is the only one in Southern Illinois which has moving hills.

Watson isn't happy about it. He said one hill has been moving since 1947. The second started crawling last year.

He said when he first noticed movement of one hill it was about 40 feet high. Trees were growing on it. The big trees have tumbled and Watson has chopped down smaller ones to prevent them from falling into a stream at the foot of the slope.

"They move a little every day," the 70-year-old farmer said. "I watch 'em morning and night. In wet weather you can see them glide."

The first hill, Watson said, has traveled the distance of a football field — 100 yards. Both hills, he said, have lost altitude and the creek has been forced into a new channel.

Two geologists at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale plan to visit the 150-acre farm. They said the hills apparently have an incurable case of soil creep.

"Soil creep is common," said Dr. Stanley E. Harris Jr., head of the University's geology department. "Highway departments are bothered with it all the time."

"It's not like a landslide," said Dr. F. D. Bloss, associate professor. "It's more like a slow oozing."

Rain and wet clay are the key to the soil creep theory. Wet clay acts as a lubricant on slanted rocks, causing a slow progression of what's on top.

Watson, who has lived on the farm 45 years, attributes the movement to a clay-like rock he calls soapstone.

"We've had a lot of people come out here with a lot of different ideas," Watson said. "But I know soapstone when I see it."

Post-Army Elvis Telecast Slated

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A closed-circuit telecast from Memphis probably will be Elvis Presley's first public appearance after his release from the Army early next year.

Presley's manager, Col. Tom Parker, Sunday said the telecast, originating in City Auditorium, would be piped to theaters across the country in March or April 1960.

"It's the only way to satisfy all the requests Elvis has received for personal appearances," Parker explained. "He has got enough requests to tie him up through 1964. It's impossible for him to fill but a small per cent of them."

Kim Quits Cast Of Broadway Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Kim Stanley has put an end to two days of perplexity along Shubert Alley by saying personal differences with actor Eric Portman were her main reason for quitting "A Touch of the Poet."

When Miss Stanley resigned from the cast last Friday, she was highly critical of one of her three co-stars, but would not identify which one.

New York's theater people wondered. The three who shared star billing with the actress were Eric Portman, Helen Hayes and Betty Field.

Before flying to Mexico Sunday for a week's vacation — the play will not give any performances this week — Miss Hayes entered an unsolicited denial.

"There have never been any kind of differences between us," she said. "We have worked together with the greatest understanding and sympathy. I am an innocent bystander in this thing."

The mystery dissolved while Miss Hayes was airborne. Miss Stanley named Portman and "the general artistic atmosphere" as her reasons for quitting the Eugene O'Neill play.

Portman said the accusation was the first of its kind he had encountered in 25 years on the stage.

"I am very sorry for Miss Stanley," he said. "She must have a slightly remorseful feeling about all this. She must have been very tired to have made such a statement."

He tried to put an end to the issue as he added: "I do not want to elaborate. I'll let her have the last word. I intend to be very professional about the matter."

Before resigning, Miss Stanley had missed about 30 performances since the play opened last Oct. 2. She blamed a recurring virus, but reported she is now "in excellent health."

Dallas Fire Fatal To 4

DALLAS (AP) — Sudden fire swept a small frame home in South Dallas early today, killing a mother and three children.

A 6-year-old child escaped the flames, apparently by jumping through a window. He ran bloody and burned to a neighbor's house, screaming: "The house is on fire, help me get my mother out. Help me get my mother out."

Killed were Mrs. Bertha Wilbanks, 42, and three of her children, Donnie, 7, Melvin, 9, and Linda, 11.

The bodies of the children were found in what appeared to have been a bedroom, only a few feet from the door that would have led to the outside and safety.

The mother's body was found in what apparently was the living room, about 10 feet from a door to the outside.

Evan Wilbanks, 14, the survivor, was hospitalized in serious condition.

Officers were unable to pinpoint immediately the cause of the fire, but suspected an oven or space heater. Witnesses reported a sudden gust of flame or small explosion.

Mrs. Wilbanks reportedly was separated from her husband. The family is white.

Volunteer Temperature Takers Are Vital To Weather Bureau

By DORMAN CORDELL
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Every night at exactly the same time Charles E. Barret walks out to a little shed in his backyard at nearby Anchorage.

From thermometers in the shed, he records high and low temperatures for the past 24 hours. Then he checks a gauge for rainfall or snowfall during the period.

Across the nation, more than 7,000 other persons make similar trips to gather the same information. They make up the Weather Bureau's unpaid Cooperative Observer Corps.

The Weather Bureau calls the data the group gathers "an invaluable treasure" for the study of climate and climate changes.

VOLUNTEERS NECESSARY
O. K. Anderson, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau here says, "We simply couldn't do the job without these volunteers."

The 75-year-old Barret is one of 21 persons who have served more than 50 years as voluntary observers. He's made the trip to the backyard almost every day since the fall of 1900. On days when he's been ill or away, he's always arranged for somebody to take the readings. He retired from an electrical firm in 1951, but kept the observer's job.

Barret didn't officially become the observer at Anchorage until September, 1903.

"My father started it for the Weather Bureau in 1900," he says, "but I guess he didn't much like to do the work, so he always sent me out to take the readings. I started it with the title on Sept. 1, 1903."

NORTH CAROLINIAN
The dean of the Cooperative Observer Corps is Barry C. Hawkins, Highlands, N. C., who has been taking the readings since 1891.

The Weather Bureau figures that the observers spend an average of 15 minutes a day taking and recording the observations and making monthly reports. That means all observers contribute more than 79,800 full eight-hour days of work each year — all without pay.

The observers recognize that their importance has increased over the years.

"Years ago they didn't pay nearly as much attention to the weather and those voluntary stations as they do now," Barret says. "Since the airplane has come into use, you know, that makes a big difference."

Despite their unpaid status, the voluntary observers show great devotion to their work. Barret says he can't explain exactly why he faithfully takes the readings every night. "Just got interested in it," he says, adding that he likes to keep records of things.

Solon Pushing Numbers Game For Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Herbert Zelenko, who worries a lot about people beating the government out of taxes, is trying again to have his favorite loophole-closer enacted into law.

The New York Democrat said his plan, "a heck of a good idea," would be worth seven billion dollars a year to the Treasury. He was "certainly disappointed at the emotional reaction against it last year."

The proposal is built around numbered receipts for income tax returns. It is aimed at people who don't file any income tax return at all, even though their income is well into the tax brackets.

The emotional reaction, which bothers Zelenko more than the coolness of congressional committees and the Treasury, came from people who "seemed to think that any numbering system like this was the kind of thing you would find under European dictatorial regimes, or like serial numbers tattooed on people."

On the contrary, he said, the receipt plan wouldn't invade anybody's privacy or cause much trouble — except to people who should file income tax returns and don't.

Each return would have a numbered card attached. When a taxpayer sent in his return, the Internal Revenue Service would tear off the tab and mail it back. The card would give no indication of the size of his income. Nor would it say whether the return was correct or not. It would simply be evidence that he had filed.

But then the taxpayer would have to give the number whenever he dealt in any way with the federal government. Moreover, states would be asked to cooperate by making the same requirement.

Zelenko reasoned that, if somebody who obviously should be pay-

Luxury Liner Takes 600 Shriners On Jamaica Cruise

The ship returned 551 members of Moslah Shrine Temple of Fort Worth yesterday after an eight-day cruise to Jamaica.

The vessel will stop at Kingston and Montego Bay during the Caribbean trip.

C. Victor Thornton of Fort Worth, Carl Hagman and Floyd H. Scott, all Texas Navy admirals, swore in Capt. Gastone Gillis of Genoa yesterday as the only non-U.S. citizen to become an admiral of the Texas Navy.

Scout-Minded Family Produces Four Eagles

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — To most fathers, having one son attain the rank of Eagle Scout is an occasion for justifiable pride.

But Harold A. Erickson has four sons who claim that distinction.

In addition, one other son is a Life Scout, another is a First Class, and one daughter is a member of a Brownie troop.

The Eagle Scouts in the Erickson family are Harold, 18; Frank, 17; Allen, 16; and John, 15. The four boys have a total of 85 merit badges.

Fourteen-year-old David is the Life Scout, and the First Class rank is held by Philip, 12. Little Eileen, 8, is the Brownie.

Charles B. Cook, Scout executive for the Cherokee area council, says as far as he can ascertain, the family is the only one in the council with four Eagle Scouts.

"And it's one of the very few in the nation," he adds.

What does the father, who is manager of the wholesale department for a local florist, have to say?

"Naturally, we're very proud. We're pleased that they have enough ambition to want to go to the top, to finish what they start."

Erickson has five more boys, all of whom he says plan to be Scouts when they reach the required age.

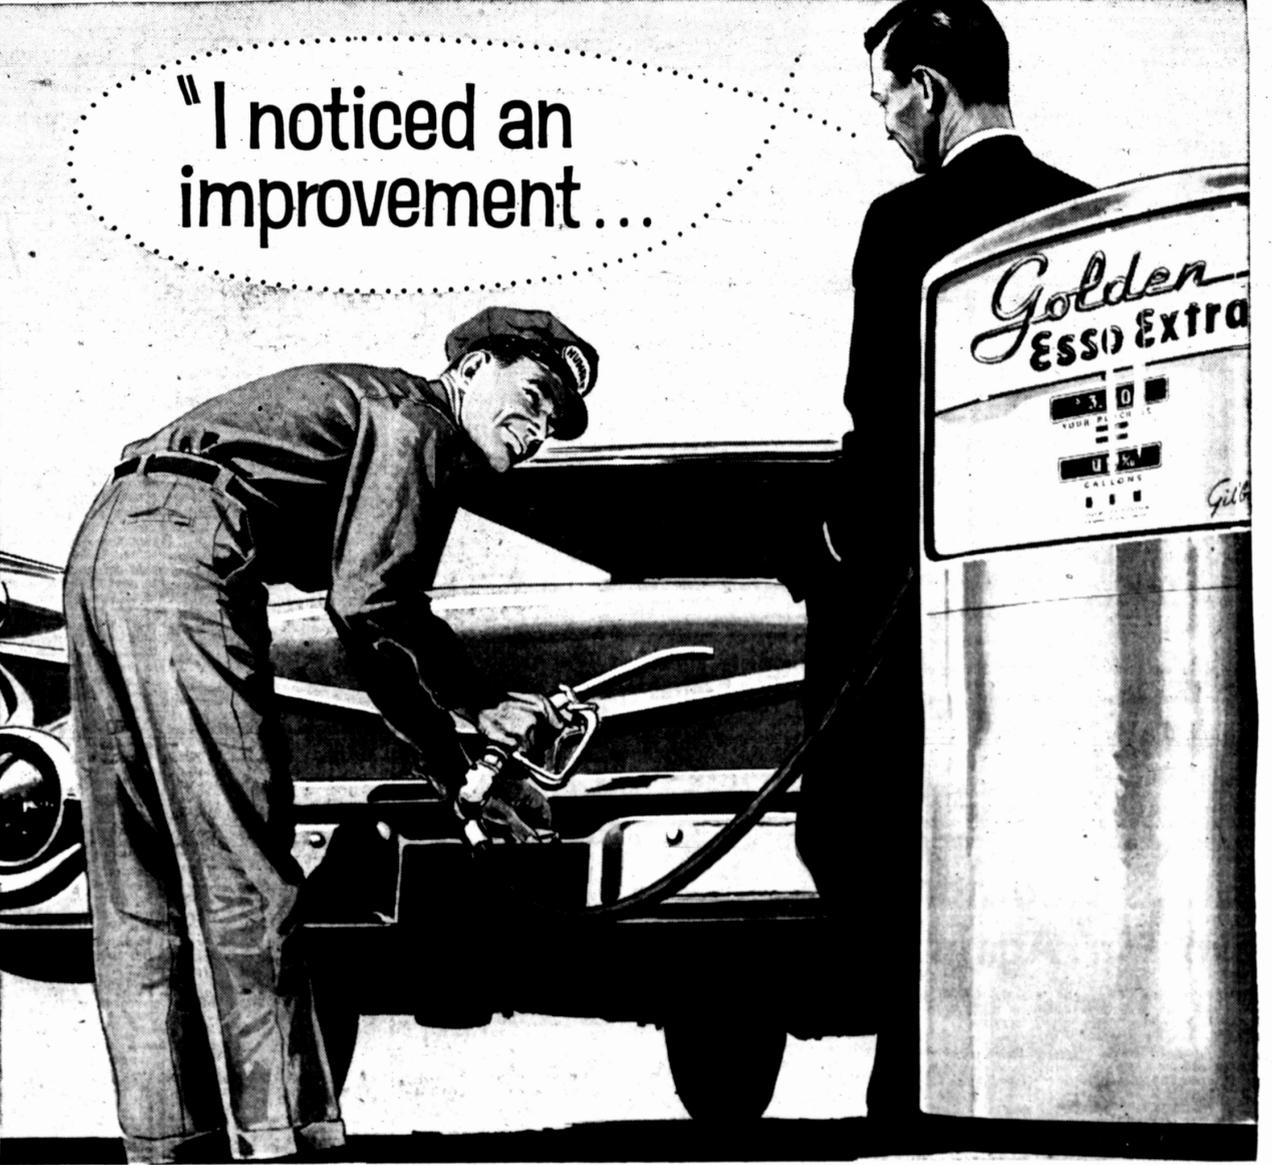

Paradoxically, Erickson was never a Scout himself.

"But, I'm sorry now I wasn't," he says.

Houseful Of Eagles

These four sons of Harold A. Erickson of Chattanooga all have the rank of Eagle Scout, with 85 merit badges among them. The boys are (top to bottom) Harold, 18; Allen, 16; Frank, 17; and John, 15. Erickson has two other sons who are Scouts, a daughter who is a Girl Scout, and five more sons who plan to be active in Scouting.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY

The Humble dealer in your neighborhood knows that many things beside gasoline affect the gasoline mileage that you get from your car.

For instance, the way your engine's tuned, and the way you drive. Or your spark plugs may be old and cracked. Or your carburetor may need adjustment.

So your neighbor under the Humble sign won't tell you that you will improve your gasoline mileage on Golden Esso Extra or any other gasoline. He says only that Golden Esso Extra will give you superior gasoline mileage; that is tested fact.

But many users say, Golden Esso Extra improves gasoline mileage—it is the most frequent user tribute to this magnificent gasoline.

They could be right! Certainly Golden Esso Extra is the world's finest gasoline. It has highest octane rating. It eliminates "bucking" as you start and "rumble" as you run. It burns cleaner than any other gasoline. And it adds the power and response that make driving safer—and yes, more fun!

Golden Esso Extra will improve the performance of any car in any price class. Use it in yours. Fill up under your neighbor's Humble sign—every time.

Change to UNIFLO... the motor oil that's in a class by itself for quality

Uniflo is a one-grade (10W-30) oil that gives you instant lubrication in any weather. No need to change grades with the seasons. Uniflo penetrates to every part of your engine on winter's coldest day, stays tough and full-bodied in summer's hottest weather. It protects against friction wear, acid corrosion, sludge; it cools, cleans, seals as it lubricates. Recommended for hardest highway driving, and for the harder service of stop-and-go driving in city traffic. Change to the best—change to Uniflo Motor Oil under your neighbor's Humble sign.

Cotton Classing Meeting Scheduled

A meeting is to be held tonight in Stanton to discuss ways and means of financing the establishment of a cotton classification office in that city, according to Jimmy Taylor, county agent. Taylor pointed out that the establishment of such an office would mean that Howard County cotton will be classified there instead of in Abilene as in the past.

He said he understood it was to be suggested at the meeting that all of the gins in the Stanton area be persuaded to underwrite the cost of the building, equipment and facilities needed for the office and that they be privileged to recover their investment by making a charge of 25 cents per bale against cotton ginned at their plants.

He said that the cotton classification services would be free if the establishment is set up but that the community and the area is agreeing to underwrite the cost of a suitable building, furnishings and facilities. He said that all winners, in particular, should be present at the meeting. The cotton classification office for Stanton has already been approved by the department and all that needs to be done to activate it is to provide a suitable building and facilities.

Man Dies In Pistol Duel

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — One man died and another man and a girl suffered wounds in a close-range pistol duel in a home here Sunday.

The duel was between two long-time friends, Floyd Vincent, 42, and Roy Boatwright, 40. Vincent died from a bullet wound in the abdomen. Boatwright was wounded five times.

Also wounded was Vincent's daughter, Linda, 14, who suffered wounds in the right breast and left forearm as she tried to shield her father from Boatwright's bullets.

Two other daughters and Mrs. Boatwright were present during the shooting in Vincent's home in Richland Hills.

Mrs. Vincent was not at home. She told newsmen today that Boatwright came by the Vincent home Saturday night to see her husband, but he wasn't at home. She said Boatwright stayed awhile and they watched TV. Later her husband called for her to pick him up at a cafe.

She told newsmen she and Vincent then had an argument and she left him and went to the office of a doctor's trailer company. She said a neighbor called her to tell her of the shooting.

Justice of the Peace Jim Boorman ruled Vincent's death was murder, but no charges have been filed.

Both Boatwright and Linda Vincent were reported in fair condition today.

Police said Boatwright's automatic pistol was fired nine times and Vincent's seven times.

Residents Attend Legislative Dinner

Big Spring will be well represented at the West Texas legislative breakfast in Austin Tuesday when Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock will be guest speaker.

The breakfast session at 7:30 a. m. in the Stephen F. Austin Hotel, is sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and has the senators and representatives of the region as special guests.

Among those due to make the trip in Cosden plane from here at 5:30 a. m. are Dan M. Kratuse and Douglas Orme, Cosden vice presidents; J. R. Hensley, Ike Robb, Cliff Fisher and Joe Pickle. They will be joined by Jim Lindsey, Midland, for the trip.

During the morning the group will visit with legislators and will return after lunch.

Rites At Graveside For Johnson Infant

Graveside services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Johnson, 1806 Johnson, are to be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Trinity Memorial Park with the Rev. Cecil Rhodes officiating. Nalley-Pickle Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

The child was born dead at a local hospital on Sunday. Survivors in addition to the mother and father, include a brother, Larry Wayne, a sister, Sandra Kay, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie L. Johnson, Dallas; the maternal grandfather, Earl Beaudoin, Dallas and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eva Beaudoin, Dallas.

Austin's Traditional Mayor 'In' Again

AUSTIN (AP) — Tom Miller, a peppy merchant who says "I've tried to stay out of politics," looks like a cinch to start his 21st year as mayor of Austin in May.

He is unopposed for Place 3 on the City Council. The mayor is named by the council after the election, and Austin folk have no doubt that they'll pick "Mayor Tom" again.

The most formidable vote-getter in Austin history, Miller was named mayor after his election to the council in 1933. He served eight terms, then retired in 1949.

Coming out of retirement when "a bunch of my friends got me into it again," Miller polled a record 12,594 of 21,477 votes cast in the 1955 election. He is 65.

He attributes his success to close contact with the people and a middle-of-the-road course for the city government. "City government is a personal government," is a favorite quote.

An oft-quoted illustration of the wisdom of the middle-of-the-road is: "You should neither drive a car nor a government too far to the right or left."

Miller's knowledge of Shakespeare and his references to the bard in speeches and council meetings are a local legend. People still chuckle over the story of

City Officials See Housing Area

Representatives from the city commission were making a tour of inspection Monday of some federal housing projects.

The child was born dead at a local hospital on Sunday. Survivors in addition to the mother and father, include a brother, Larry Wayne, a sister, Sandra Kay, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie L. Johnson, Dallas; the maternal grandfather, Earl Beaudoin, Dallas and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eva Beaudoin, Dallas.

He notes that Austin voters have never rejected a bond issue during the city's growth from 50,000 population when he took office to an estimated 187,000 at present.

The art of planning is timing," Miller said. "You can't just say 'to be or not to be' (Hamlet), you have to go on and make up your mind."

The mayor has held top jobs in the Democratic party. He was finance director for the 1948 presidential campaign and served as co-chairman of the Lyndon Johnson for President drives in 1956.

the past few weeks. Lt. Smith previously was stationed with the 1607th Air Terminal Squadron at Dover AFB, Delaware. He has visited with his parents on a delay enroute to Korea where he will be assigned with detachment No. 55 of the 7th Aerial Port Squadron. Lt. Smith is a 1956 Texas Tech graduate with a degree in mechanical engineering. He was, of course, reared on the family ranch in northeast Howard County.

Recruit Veta L. Richters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest A. Richters, Route 1, Big Spring, completed eight weeks of basic military training March 11 at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Ala. She received drill and physical fitness training and instruction in Army history, traditions and career fields.

Recruit Richters, a 1958 graduate of Coahoma High School, was employed as bookkeeper and receptionist for Dr. Akin Simpson before entering the Women's Army Corps.

Comdr. Robert Hailey, USN, is here today visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hailey, 710 Edwards Blvd. En route to his home station in Norfolk, Va. from the West Coast where he had been on a brief special assignment, he took advantage of a stop in Dallas to come here.

Comdr. Hailey is operations officer for the anti-submarine command. This command is responsible for anti-submarine defense of the entire Atlantic area for the nation. He plans to leave for Norfolk on Tuesday.

Evaluators Begin Work

The sub-committee on facilities, administration and personnel began its assignment Monday morning at Goliad Junior High. This is part of the general school evaluation. Standing are Sam Anderson, assistant superintendent, and Dr. Wallace Morris, general chairman of the evaluation; seated, Floyd Parsons, superintendent of the Big Spring district; Ernest W. Wranosky, B. C. Banks, G. E. Thompson, and Charles Matthews, subcommittee chairman.

4 Minor Mishaps Happen In City

Four minor mishaps were reported by city police during the weekend. No injuries were involved and property damage was comparatively light.

Gerald Lee Lackey, 704 San Jacinto, failed to negotiate a curve at Hardin and Airport at 1:48 a. m. Sunday and his 1955 Buick overturned.

A car owned by Cleone Nicholson of 1306 Lamar, rolled from its parking place at 900 E. 3rd and bumped into one owned by Thelma Mason Sheppard, said police.

Gantego Soimez Nunos, 209 W. 3rd, had some damage to his car when it was in collision with one driven by Roderick Cole, 2413 Dallas at 2:38 p. m. Sunday.

Leocadio Gonzalez, 808 NW 5th, and Charles Foster of 610 Tilton, Midland, were in collision at W. 4th and Douglas at 7:29 p. m. Sunday, said officers.

Methodists Hold Holy Week Rites

Holy Week services, both morning and evening, will continue through Friday at the First Methodist Church.

Each morning at 7 o'clock, Dr. Jordan Groves, pastor, is conducting the devotions for men of the church at a breakfast meeting.

Evening worship is at 7:30 o'clock, and today speakers will be Harold Humphries, Lubbock, and Skeet Noret, Lamesa. Tuesday evening Dr. Jim Pickens, chaplain for McQuerry College, will speak, and on Wednesday evening the Rev. Charles Lutrick, Lubbock, will be here.

Thursday evening has been set apart for communion. Good Friday services from 12 noon until 3 p. m. will climax the week's observance, said the pastor.

Joe Woods Rites Set In Lamesa

LAMESA — Joe B. Woods, sexton for the Lamesa cemetery, died at 3 a. m. today in the VA hospital in Big Spring following a short illness. He had entered the hospital 10 days ago.

Rites will be said at the chapel of Higginbotham Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Wednesday with burial in the Lamesa cemetery.

Mr. Woods had made his home here for the past 20 years.

Surviving are his wife, his mother, Mrs. Maggie Woods, Kingston, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Gwendolyn Brown, Sherman; Mrs. R. E. Myers, Kingston; two brothers, Hugh Woods, Sherman and Doyle Woods of California.

Minor Burglaries Over Weekend

City police said two minor burglaries were reported over the weekend. One was at a residence and one at a liquor store.

Thieves entered the home of L. R. Collins at 1513 McGow Saturday night and made away with a .38 Colt special revolver, a man's jacket and an Army-type overcoat.

Someone threw a rock through the plate glass window of the Terrazas Liquor Store at 1007 La. Highway at 1:10 a. m. today. Apparently the culprit was only thirsty—a single fifth of whiskey was missed.

Big Spring School Evaluation Begins

Big Spring schools were coming under critical scrutiny Monday with the beginning of a system-wide evaluation.

At the invitation of local school officials, more than a score of prominent educators came here Sunday to prepare for a three-day analysis of the strengths and weaknesses, the potentials and the needs of the schools which serve more than 6,000 youngsters.

Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the Department of Education at Texas Tech, general chairman, explained the over-all plan of the evaluation to participants and to local teacher-administrator committees at a Sunday evening meeting in the Settles.

He also presented chairmen of the three key subcommittees, including Charles Matthews, superintendent at Plainview, in charge of school facilities, administration and personnel; T. H. Richter, supervisor of curriculum for the Flower Bluff School in Corpus Christi, in charge of the elementary section; and Dr. Emmett D. Smith, director of education at West Texas College, in charge of the secondary schools.

In groups of twos, the subcommittee members were busy Monday making detailed inspections of facilities, records, and observing teaching operations. Dr. Morris had a briefing session for the evaluators at breakfast Monday and will have a report meeting at 4:30 p. m. today.

C. R. Medford Funeral Set

LAMESA — Charles Robert Medford, 89, retired farmer, died at his home here Sunday at 11:30 a. m. following a long illness.

Last rites were to be said at 3 p. m. Monday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Ed Wittner officiating, assisted by the Rev. Kay of Klondike, and the Rev. Kinzey of New Home. Burial was to be in Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Mr. Medford was born Dec. 4, 1869 in Helena, Ark. and came to Dawson County in 1923 and farmed until his retirement.

Surviving him are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Bob Hardman and Mrs. N. B. Teague, Lamesa, and Mrs. Opal Ashby, El Paso; five sons, Jervis Medford and Seidon Medford, Lamesa; Jimmy Medford, Big Spring; Perry Medford, Herman, N. Y.; and Joe Medford, Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Hall, New Boston, and Mrs. Fannie Osman, Austin.

Graveside Rites For Infant Set

Graveside funeral rites for Pandey Sue Fabian, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fabian, 207 Noble, will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday with the Rev. O. S. Viken officiating.

The child was born at 7:30 p. m. Sunday and died an hour and a half later.

River Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

Survivors in addition to the parents include one brother, Kenneth, two sisters, Georgia Kasandre and Candy Lorene, the paternal grandmother, Mrs. K. E. Fabian, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wright, Big Spring.

Moon Volcanic Eruption Reported

LONDON (AP) — Soviet astronomer Nikolai A. Koz'nev said today he is satisfied a "true volcanic eruption" occurred on the central peak of the moon's Alphonso crater last Nov. 3.

In an article in the Soviet magazine Nature quoted by Radio Moscow, Koz'nev said he believes the moon got its crater from such eruptions.

Koz'nev's previous report of the Alphonso eruption has been received with reserve by most Western scientists.

Strawn Discovery Indicated In Test N' east Of Big Spring

Midwest No. 1-A Mrs. B. W. Christian, eight miles northeast of Big Spring, lamed Monday as a Strawn discovery. On two drillstem tests the test showed a considerable volume of distillate and gas and with a small amount of salt water. A third test failed and operator was drilling again.

Another edger to the Big Spring Fossilman field, this one at a deeper zone than has hitherto produced, was completed. The Ralph Lowe No. 1 T&P-Ryan rated 204 barrels of 44.5 gravity oil.

Midwest Oil No. 2 G. A. Milliken, 18 miles northeast of Gail, gave promise of being another producer in the 7-J Strawn-Ellenburger field.

Another test was underway on the Hamilton Bros. No. 1-16 Cole in eastern Glasscock County but no details were available. This venture has shown pay possibilities on three tests.

Borden

Midwest No. 2-A Milliken, 2-367 from south and 660 from the east lines of section, 478-97, H&T.C. 18 miles northeast of Gail, offset to the No. 1 Milliken discovery, took a drillstem test in the Strawn from 7:55-7:58 for two hours. There was a good blow of gas in two minutes, decreasing to a weak blow at the end of the test. Operator reversed out 30 barrels of 38.3 gravity oil and no water and recovered 190 feet oil and no water below the sub. Flowing pressure was 240-1, 190 and 30-minute shutin pressure was 1,675.

A second test was taken from 7:55-8:05 with the tool open 1 1/4 hours. Gas showed in 13 minutes and decreased. Operator reversed 38 1/2 barrels of oil and no water and 180 feet of oil and mud cut oil and water below the sub. Gravity was 39.5; 30-minute shutin pressure 2,880.

A third drillstem test was under way from 7:58-7:59.

Joseph O'Neal and Holbrook No. 1 Reeder, 890 from north and 660 from west lines of section 477-97, H&T.C. 18 miles northeast of Gail and a northeast offset to the 7-J discovery, took a drillstem test from 8:08-8:10 for two hours. There was a strong blow for 15 minutes and gas in 18 minutes, decreasing to a weak blow. Operator reversed out 5.85 barrels of oil and no water. Below the sub 90 feet of oil and no water was recovered. The flowing pressure was 75-260, the hydrostatic pressure 2,500 and the 30-minute shutin pressure 4,585. Operator continued drilling at 8:12 in line.

Humble No. 1 L. I. Long, C. SE SE 3-20-4n, T&P six miles southeast of Gail, was fishing at 3:45 in dolomite.

Garza

Three wildcat tests were announced for Garza County. The first will be General American Oil Company of Texas No. 1-21 Kooman, 2,100 from the north and 1,750 from the east lines of section 21-2, T&N, 10 miles southwest of Justiceburg. It is on a 360-acre lease and slated to 8,300 with rotary.

Another is General American Oil No. 1-J Slaughter, 1,580 from the south and 790 from the east lines of section 21-1, J. Hay Survey, 10 miles south of Post. It is on a 320-acre lease and projected to 8,660 feet.

The third is General American Oil No. 1-1 Slaughter, 2,005 from the south and 660 from the west lines of the J. F. Maxey Survey No. 2, Scrap file 5889, 12 miles southwest of Post. This one is on a 320-acre lease and projected to 8,660 feet.

Moon Volcanic Eruption Reported

LONDON (AP) — Soviet astronomer Nikolai A. Koz'nev said today he is satisfied a "true volcanic eruption" occurred on the central peak of the moon's Alphonso crater last Nov. 3.

In an article in the Soviet magazine Nature quoted by Radio Moscow, Koz'nev said he believes the moon got its crater from such eruptions.

Koz'nev's previous report of the Alphonso eruption has been received with reserve by most Western scientists.

Glasscock

Hamilton Bros. No. 1-16 Cole, located 580 from the south and 700 from the east lines of section 16-32-4s, T&P, nine miles east of Garden City and two miles southeast of the Garden City field, was reportedly taking another drillstem test Monday. There were no results as yet. Saturday it showed a Strawn discovery in the Big Spring (Fossilman) field eight miles northeast of Big Spring on the basis of a drillstem test from 8-9:20-40 on Friday. Results were not known until today. The tool was open for 20 minutes and gas surfaced in 12 minutes and gas-distillate was cut to the tanks for eight minutes. Recovery was 600 feet of distillate, 30 feet of distillate-cut mud. Flowing pressure was 226-2,420 and the 30-minute shutin pressure was 3,960. Hydraulic pressure was 4,300-4,360. Operator recovered one cup of water with salt content of 54,000 ppm.

Another drillstem test was taken from 8:17-8:18 with the tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in 2 minutes and distillate in 11 minutes. It flowed 18 barrels of 60-gravity distillate in one hour. Recovery was 720 feet of distillate, and below the sub recovery was 90 feet of distillate with salt water, the latter 57,500 ppm. Flowing pressure was 2,620-5,700 and the two-hour shutin bottom hole pressure was 3,700. Operator was drilling at 9:06 in shale.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Ryan, 1,980 from the north and east lines of section 34-32-2n, T&P, rated 204 barrels of 44.5 gravity oil on its potential test. The flow was through a 12-64 choke. Gas-oil ratio was 650:1 and tubing pressure 450. Production was through perforations from 9,890-95.

Midwest and Texas and Pacific coal and oil No. 1-A Mrs. B. W. Christian, 660 from the south and 1,980 from the west lines of section 48-32-2n, T&P, looked as a Strawn discovery in the Big Spring (Fossilman) field eight miles northeast of Big Spring on the basis of a drillstem test from 8-9:20-40 on Friday. Results were not known until today. The tool was open for 20 minutes and gas surfaced in 12 minutes and gas-distillate was cut to the tanks for eight minutes. Recovery was 600 feet of distillate, 30 feet of distillate-cut mud. Flowing pressure was 226-2,420 and the 30-minute shutin pressure was 3,960. Hydraulic pressure was 4,300-4,360. Operator recovered one cup of water with salt content of 54,000 ppm.

Another drillstem test was taken from 8:17-8:18 with the tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in 2 minutes and distillate in 11 minutes. It flowed 18 barrels of 60-gravity distillate in one hour. Recovery was 720 feet of distillate, and below the sub recovery was 90 feet of distillate with salt water, the latter 57,500 ppm. Flowing pressure was 2,620-5,700 and the two-hour shutin bottom hole pressure was 3,700. Operator was drilling at 9:06 in shale.

Mr. Penix served as Howard County judge prior to his move to Grahm in 1920. He was active in O.E.S. work, serving as Grand Patron.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carnike have gone to Grahm for the funeral.

Theatre Burns

PANAMA (AP) — Fire destroyed the La Nora theatre in downtown Panama early today. Damage was estimated at $200,000 from the spectacular blaze. The five-alarm fire also damaged neighboring businesses.

Ike, Mac Propose Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have proposed that the Western Allies adopt a three-point approach to a summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev this summer.

It was learned today that this was the compromise formula agreed on in talks between the two Western leaders at Camp David, Md., Saturday.

Now under discussion by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle, it represents a compromise between Macmillan's urgent desire to meet with Khrushchev unconditionally and Eisenhower's reluctance to meet without promise of achievement.

The three points: 1. The Big Four powers — the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union — should open a foreign ministers meeting at Geneva May 11; Khrushchev has already substantially agreed to this. The foreign ministers should reach agreements on the widest possible range of German and related problems, try to narrow Soviet-West differences and prepare proposals for a later summit conference.

2. The heads of government should hold their meeting when justified by the work of the foreign ministers.

3. The foreign ministers therefore would have the responsibility of determining the time, place, and subject matter of the summit conference.

The proposal covering these points was drafted by Macmillan and Eisenhower for inclusion in Western notes now expected to go to Moscow later this week. Khrushchev has been pressing for a 2,203 acre lease and will go to 9,000 feet.

Editor Has Ghost Hunting For A Hobby

CROSBYTON, Texas (AP)—Pat Bennett, editor of the Crosbyton Review, is an amateur ghost hunter.

In his search for spirits in Crosby County, he's come up with "The Case of the Deadly Mesa," "The Bootleggers' Revenge" and "Dead Man's Return."

Bennett says he is surprised at the response to his published plea for Crosby County ghost stories.

One of the stories he has found appears in a grammar school reader entitled "Texas Tales."

The story relates that about 18 miles from Blanco Canyon is a spot where cattlemen reputedly dare not pasture a herd although it is a mesa top affording an excellent place to hold cattle.

As the tale goes, it started in the fall of 1889 when a flinty old cowman named Sawyer was driving a herd of 15,000 steers to Colorado.

TROUBLE BREWS

As he neared the Caprock, a homesteader's cattle became mixed with the herd and Sawyer wouldn't give them back.

That night Sawyer bedded his cattle on the mesa. During the night the farmer slipped past the night riders and stamped the cattle over the cliff. The cattle took two herd riders with them.

Next morning, the story goes, Sawyer caught the homesteader.

He tied him to a horse, blindfolded the farmer and drove the horse over the cliff, killing the farmer.

Ever since, the story goes, few have dared to pasture a herd on the mesa. And an old cowhand tells a story of one cowman who did, only to see a ghostly rider, complete with blindfold and accompanied by a ghost herd, arrive and go over the edge of the mesa.

Then there is the story of the haunted frontier house on the L-7 Ranch. The legend says it was built by an early-day freighter whose family was massacred by Indians.

In 1923, four Crosbyton men decided to test the haunted house yarn. They went there to spend the night.

Shortly after the vigil began, the quartet heard a noise in the yard like a horse riding up and a chain dragging.

GHOSTLY SIGHTS

Then they saw a figure moving around the spring house. Next, a baby's cry was heard from inside the house, but no baby was to be found.

The next apparition was a figure, clothed like a girl, in a dress that glittered. There was much moaning and wailing going on.

Finally, Floyd Bullard, one of the ghost testers, asked the apparition if the four men were disturbing the ghosts. He received a ghostly "yes" in reply.

Walter Wallace, one of the party, recalls that a few weeks after the visit, a gang of bootleggers was nabbed near the house. Wallace thinks the spirits that night were created by the bootleggers to scare the party away from moonshine headquarters.

Even a college president-minister figure in one of the stories turned up by Bennett. He was Dr. Winford Hunt, a circuit rider and later president of McMurry College of Abilene.

Dr. Hunt reportedly was making his rounds one stormy night and passed a remote dugout home. He saw a man by the dugout and recognized him, but didn't stop to talk for some reason he couldn't explain.

Soon after, the report came that the man observed by Dr. Hunt had been killed several hours before the minister saw him.

Bride's Death Probe Slated

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—What caused the death of an attractive teen-age bride whose body was found on a hospital lawn?

Authorities hope an autopsy will answer that question today.

Hospital attendants were led to the fully clothed body of Mrs. Brenda Emerson, 16, after they received an anonymous telephone call Saturday night.

Police said she had been dead about 30 minutes. They said she may have been alive when her body was left on the lawn. The only mark on Mrs. Emerson's body was a puncture wound on the inside of the right elbow. They said it appeared to be from an injection.

Identification marks on her clothes had been removed. She was still wearing her wedding ring, a watch, and a locket.

The young victim eloped to Phoenix nine months ago with Steve Frank Emerson, 20. He was questioned briefly Sunday at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Blonder, in West Los Angeles.

A lawyer friend of the Blonders advised them not to answer any questions from police, the officers said.

Emerson said he last saw his wife about two hours before her body was found. He said she left their home in nearby Beverly Hills to attend a family reunion at her parents' home.

An uncle, Sheldon Grossbart, was at the Blonders' home when he heard a radio report describing discovery of the body.

After asking her parents what type of clothes she might be wearing, Grossbart went to the police. He identified the body. Grossbart said the Blonders opposed their daughter's marriage.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

The crowd at the Joey Giambra-Candy Anderson fight in Odessa the other night was reported in some of the area news organs as totaling 2,000.

Promoter Bob Callahan, who wants to book the colorful Giambra in here, said the paid turnout was closer to 800. He added the show went into the red to the extent of $900.

Boston baseball sub-scout Garland Bishop, who was instrumental in signing Hubert McCoy to a Red Sox bonus contract recently, has been back in town to discuss a baseball career with Robert Byrd, another local Negro.

Byrd is a left-handed hitting outfielder who can play first base.

Ray Elliot's successor as head football coach at the University of Illinois may not be named for at least a year. Ray will serve through the 1959 season.

Elliot, dean of the Big Ten grid mentors, came to Howard County several years ago to hunt quail with Dutch Meyer, athletic director at TCU.

The last name of Jimmy Roger, the Big Spring High School baseball catcher, is spelled without an S.

Actually, the name should be pronounced as it is spelled with longer. Jimmy's father came to this country from Germany while still a youth.

Four members of the BSHS baseball team are graduates of the Yankee Little League team here. The team is now in small fry baseball around here.

They are Elton Kelley, Bernard McMahon and the LeFevre twins, Jay and Zay.

Herschel Elmore, the Tom S. Lubbock pitcher who had victory snatched away from him by Elton Kelley's last inning, last gasp home run here last week, is one of the best football players in the Lubbock school.

A guard, he's captain elect of the Westerners.

Another of the Tom S. players, Darwin Hilliard — who hit the seventh inning home run that almost torpedoed the Steers — has lettered three years each in football and basketball and is seeking his third baseball letter. He played halfback on the football team.

Clifton McNeely, the Pampa basketball mentor, was quoted as saying recently that Houston Milby was the best team his Harveters faced all season. He added that Dallas Jefferson also was stronger than Odessa, which was undefeated going into the Regional playoff game with the Pampans but experienced a one-sided defeat.

Ted Battles, the Midland writer, is picking Odessa to replace Abilene as the District 2-AAAA baseball champion this spring.

Speedy Moffett, the Snyder mentor, said recently he would not book Odessa again during the early part of the season because the Bronchos get a big jump on every other team in spring practice.

No fewer than 62 of the athletes now taking drills in the big league baseball camps were born in California. Pennsylvania is a distant second in the production of talent, with 49 native sons.

Texas isn't included among the top six. Five states, including Alaska, can't boast of a single player in the big leagues.

In the time seven-foot Lewis Qualls of Smiley got ready to leave for the State Basketball Tournament recently, he had offers from 55 schools for scholarships. He had another 20 letters from coaches he hadn't had time to open.

Harold Davis, the HJCM mentor, made it at least 76 invitations recently for forwarding the stringbean a letter, suggesting he come out for workouts.

Scorpions Defeat Odessa In Roller Hockey Match

The Big Spring Scorpions outmaneuvered the Odessa Pirates here yesterday afternoon, 4-3, in a West Texas Roller Hockey Assn. league match.

The win was the first in this year's league play for the Scorpions, who only recently opened with a 2-0 defeat at the hands of Lubbock's Rolling Ghosts. The Ghosts are defending state champions in the sport.

The Big Spring skaters play host

April 12 to the Levelland Cheap-chaps, a match scheduled to start at 4 p.m. Action will be at the Skateland Roller Rink, owned by Brodie Cain.

Don Chapman and Eugene Walker shared point-making honors for the Scorpions, getting team assistance from Eugene Hall, Wixie Elliott and Leon Byrd.

Odessa, Midland, Levelland, and Lubbock are also in the WT Roller Hockey Assn.

Midland won the high school division of the Odessa meet, with 24 points, followed by Borger, which had 32.

Andrews was third, with 30; Pecos fourth, with 16; while Amarillo High, Hobbs, N. M., and Amarillo Tascosa tied for fifth, with 14 each.

Eight was Pampa with 11; while Dumas and Amarillo Palo Duro tied for ninth, with ten each. Phillips finished just ahead of Big Spring and Odessa, with eight. The Steers and Odessa had seven points each.

San Angelo was originally entered here but withdrew to enter the Killen Meet.

Steer Links Team

STEERS OPEN A BUSY WEEK WITH MONTEREY

Roy Baird's Big Spring Steers face their sternest test of the baseball season in Lubbock today, at which time they challenge Lubbock Monterey in a 4 p.m. game.

The Longhorns carry a 5-0 won-loss record with them. Monterey has won six of seven starts, having lost only to Midland and that one by a score of 4-3.

The two teams were originally to have clashed in Lubbock week before last but the engagement was called off when the Steers' bus broke down while en route to Lubbock.

Jay LeFevre, who pitched a no-hit game against Snyder in his only start this season, will toe the slab for the Longhorns today. His hill opponent is due to be Art Whitaker, who has a 2-1 won-loss record.

Although they haven't met this season, the boys on the two squads know a lot of each other. They made up the American Legion teams which clash in district competition on three occasions last summer.

Big Spring is hitting in excess of 300 of a team. In their last start, the Longhorns walloped Lamasa, 14-8, after falling behind once.

Monterey has defeated Odessa Ector once, Midland once and Levelland and Odessa High School twice each this season.

Probable starters for Baird's team today will be Jimmy Roger behind the plate, Wilson Bell at first base, Bernard McMahon at second base, Jimmy Kinman at shortstop, Jackie Thomas at third, Bobby McAdams in left field, Elton Kelley in center field and Donnie Everett or Bob Andrews in right.

Those who are apt to open for Monterey are Rucker Barrett, catcher, Arlen Flake, first base; Dennis Willett, second base; Jack Hamilton, third base; Johnny Johnson, shortstop; Gary Pendley, left field; Donnie Bumpass, center field; and Bill Adams, right field.

Dale Grimes is the Monterey coach. He also guided the Lubbock American Legion team which opposed the local club last year.

The Steers face a busy week. They come home Tuesday to pose Pecos in a return game. On Thursday, they play host to Colorado City while El Paso Austin moves in here Friday for a practice tilt.

One stroke behind Middlecott was Pete Cooper, Lakewood, Fla., who had a 69 to add to earlier rounds of 68 and 70.

It was a rough day for the top men at the half-way mark. Goaly and Cooper excepted, George Bayer, of Genealexis, Ill., top man after 36 holes with 135, blew wide open with a 77 and a 212 total, a seventh place tie.

Wes Ellis, Jr., of Aldersree, N.J., only a stroke behind Bayer after two rounds, took a 74 to drop five strokes off the pace.

AT ST. PETE

Touring Pros Have New Hare To Chase

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The touring golf pros had a new rabbit to chase as they started the final round of the $15,000 St. Petersburg Open Tournament today.

Bob Goaly, the husky and handsome youngster who was chosen 'Rookie of the Year' for 1958 by the leading money winners on the circuit, carved out a neat 3-under-par 69 Sunday for a 205 total and a one stroke lead at the three-quarter mark.

The 28-year-old from Belleville, Ill., credits a revamped grip for an improved game that has brought him rounds of 70, 66 and 69. He discovered he got better results by holding the club more in the fingers of the left hand, a grip he once discarded.

Runner-up is another big man, Cary Middlecott of Hollywood, Fla. The erstwhile Memphis dentist, competing in his first tournament since a hernia operation last September, sank puts from all distances on the second nine Sunday to wind up with a 67 and a total of 206.

One stroke behind Middlecott was Pete Cooper, Lakewood, Fla., who had a 69 to add to earlier rounds of 68 and 70.

It was a rough day for the top men at the half-way mark. Goaly and Cooper excepted, George Bayer, of Genealexis, Ill., top man after 36 holes with 135, blew wide open with a 77 and a 212 total, a seventh place tie.

Attention To Rivet On ABC Track Show

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—The track spotlight shifts first to Abilene and then Big Spring this week but there'll be no special feature to match the Bobby Morrow-Dave Sime sprint duel in the West Texas Relays.

Morrow beat arch rival Sime, the Duke red-head, by a yard in 9.35 seconds, then took the 220-yard dash without Sime contesting him. Ohio State won the relays and went to Abilene Thursday to compete in a star-spangled meet that includes Abilene Christian, Houston, Olympic hurdles champion Glenn Davis of Ohio State, NCAA low hurdles king Charley Tidwell of Kansas, NCAA broad jump champion Ernie Shelby of Kansas and

DARING ON BASES

Gotay Restoring Cards To Favor

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Julio Gotay, a 19-year-old speedster with the Pepper Martin flare for daring on the basepaths, has restored the Gashouse Gang flavor to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Puerto Rican youngster, a shortstop not even listed on the spring training roster, is making quite a stir in the Redbird training camp.

With the Cards limited to three hits by Los Angeles, it was Gotay's base-running which brought about St. Louis' 3-1 triumph over the Dodgers Sunday. He was largely responsible for the Cardinals' two decisive runs in the second inning.

Cleveland suffered a jolt when veteran right-hander, Mike 'Big Bear' Garcia was struck by a line drive on the left knee and carried from the field as the Indians topped Boston 7-5.

In other games, Baltimore took a doubleheader from New York 4-1 and 4-0, Detroit clobbered Milwaukee 10-4, San Francisco defeated Chicago's Cubs 10-7, Kansas City thumped Washington 11-1, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 9-1 and Chicago's White Sox beat Cincinnati 9-6.

Oddly, Gotay started the Cards off by striking out, but when the ball got to the catcher, the Red Bird newcomer legged it all the way to second as Joe Cunningham scored. Then B. G. Smith tapped to the mound, Pitcher Gene Snyder bluffed Gotay back to second and threw out the batter.

But Gotay didn't return all the way. He applied the brakes, reversed his direction and streaked for third. The throw from first baseman Norm Larker trying to head him off was wild and Gotay scampered home with what proved to be the winning tally.

Garcia, attempting a comeback after undergoing an operation for slipped disc, was clipped by Billy Consolo's liner in the seventh. The Indians won it with an 11-hit attack led by Vito Power.

A trio of 20-year-old Baltimore pitchers beat the world champion Yankees. Jerry Walker and Johnny Fisher combined for the first victory with home run support from Gus Triandos and Leo Burke. Young Milt Pappas, who pitched six innings, and the veteran Hector Novoa notched the shut-out, a seven-inning affair.

Eight walks by Carlton Willey and Gerry Nelson proved the Braves' undoing as they lost their ninth in 12 games. Harvey Kuenn led the Tigers with three hits.

Felipe Alou's two homers for the Giants and one by Andre Rodgers matched Cub blasts by Jim Marshall, Ray Bellino and Ernie Banks. Mike McCormick checked Chicago with three runs in seven innings to pick up the victory.

A pair of home runs by Hal Smith and solo clouts by Roger Maris and Kent Hadley were among 12 hits the A's blasted off Washington pitching in an eight inning game curtailed by rain. Kansas City's Rip Coleman pitched one-hit ball in his seventh-inning stint.

Dick Schofield's three-run homer ignited a six-run Pirate uprising in the seventh. Harvey Haddix hurled seven innings and held the Phils to four hits.

Billy Goodman and Jim Rivera drove across two runs each as the White Sox clubbed Cincinnati's baby Jim O'Toole for seven runs.

Imhoff Should Hit Stride As Star By Next Season

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—With his fair skin, blond crew-cut hair and graying features, Dick Imhoff looks like an All-America player. By this time next year, he could be an All-America basketball player.

The 6-10 pivotman of California's National Collegiate Athletic Assn. basketball champions has come such a long way in two years those closest to him say there's no telling what heights he may reach.

As a high school basketball player in Alhambra, Calif., he had trouble making the first team. He was no shakes as a freshman at Cal two years ago. Last year as a sophomore, he got into 16 games and scored 14 points—a per game average of nine-tenths of a point.

Saturday night at spacious Freedom Hall here, his tip-in rebound of his own missed hook shot with 17 seconds left beat gritty West Virginia 71-70 for the NCAA title.

In the two-night NCAA showdown here, only All-America Jerry West of West Virginia and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati drew more attention. West, who tied the five-game NCAA tournament record of 160 points, was the overwhelming choice of the sports writers for the Most Valuable Player Award, Imhoff was the runner-up.

Both West, a unanimous choice, and Robertson polled more votes for the All-Tournament Team. But Imhoff got the nod from 48 of the 56 voters for a solid third position on the team rounded out by Cal teammate Denny Fitzpatrick and Louisville's Don Goldstein.

Goldstein was a steady scorer for the homesteading Cardinals in their losses to West Virginia in the semifinals and to Cincinnati by a 98-85 count in Saturday's consolation test for third place.

"To compare Darrall—as some have done—with Bill Russell on defense at this stage is like comparing a college player with a third grader," said Coach Pete Newell, the master of defense and slow-down play who capped a 16-game winning streak with California's first NCAA basketball title and the first for a Pacific Coast Conference team since 1942.

"Let's say he approximates Russell and could reach that class in two or three years."

Paul Jorgensen Prepared To Challenge New Champ

By MURRAY ROSE Associated Press Sports Writer

If Nigeria's Hogan (Kid) Basse passes up a return featherweight title fight, Texan Paul Jorgensen is ready to step in against freshly crowned Davey Moore.

The handsome, 23-year-old Jorgensen is the No. 2 contender. He boasts the longest current unbeaten streak in boxing—31 including three draws. He hasn't lost in 25 months.

Jorgensen will get a chance to show his stuff Friday night when he meets Harold Gomes, another streaking featherweight, in the television (NBC, 10 p.m., EST) 10-rounder at Miami Beach Auditorium. With the circus occupying New York's Madison Square Garden for seven weeks, the Friday night ring show moves on the road.

Gomes, 25, of Providence, R.I., has won 4 straight and 16 of his last 17. His record is 42-4, including 22 knockouts. Jorgensen, of Port Arthur, has a 74-5-4 record including 30 kayos.

Emile Griffith, an unbeaten New York welterweight prospect, faces Bobby Shell of New York in one of the co-featured 10-rounders at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The other bout matches collegian Tony DiBaise and Johnny Gorman, a pair of New York welters.

Jose (Toluca) Lopez, Mexico's hantamweight king who is aiming for a crack at world champion Alphonse Halimi of France, tangles with Danny Kidd of the Philip-

Top-Rated Teams Are All Beaten

The Southwest Conference baseball race got off in unanimous upset fashion last week—the top-rated teams all got beat.

SMU, which had been considered the best bet for the title, took a 10-2 licking from Rice.

Texas, the defending champion, was whipped by Texas A&M 7-6. TCU, which had started the season with rosy hopes, was beaten by Baylor 14-3.

Uppers meet upstayers in the feature game this week. The Aggies and Baylor clash at College Station Tuesday. Rice and TCU get together at Fort Worth.

Those are the only conference games. Texas plays Minnesota at Austin Monday and Tuesday in an inter-sectional series. Minnesota hops over to Houston Wednesday for a two-game series with Rice. Thursday Texas A&M plays Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio and repeats the schedule Friday.

Rice plays Nebraska at Houston Friday and Saturday.

INCREASING POPULAR PLACE FOR PRESCRIPTIONS AND DRUGS Home of the new Carver Pharmacy located at 304 E. 9th

Carver Pharmacy Steadily Gaining Array Of Friends

Carver's Pharmacy, 304 E. 9th, has been a part of the business picture of Big Spring for only two and a half years but in that time it has gained a small army of friends. These customers have come to depend on the efficient prescription service and courteous treatment which always awaits them at the store.

James M. Carver, proprietor, has been a resident of Big Spring for nearly eight years. Prior to opening his own business, he worked for five years in Big Spring pharmacies. A native of Oklahoma, he is a skilled pharmacist and experienced drug store operator.

He and Mrs. Maudie Wood comprise the staff of Carver's. A feature of the store is a drive-in window for prescriptions which enables the customer to pick up his order with a minimum of effort. Its location, however, is such that parking space — minus meters — is always available.

In addition to its modern prescription department, Carver's features a wide assortment of sundries. It is distributor of famous Pangburn's and King's candies and for the popular Hallmark greeting cards. Costume jewelry is also a feature and there is a wide assortment of camera supplies.

Store hours are 8:30 to 7 p.m. week-days and 9 to 12 on Sundays. Another special line is the remarkable Ar-Ex line of non-allergic cosmetics — a boon to the woman with a super-sensitive skin. Carver's carries a complete stock of these famous products and welcomes inquiries about the special merit Ar-Ex offers.

Carver's extends a cordial invitation to all residents of the city to visit its store and become customers. Courtesy, promptness and efficient, expert prescription work is guaranteed.

Green Death Trial Due Postponement

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Trial to determine whether convicted murderer Johnnie Green of Fort Worth goes to the gas chamber or gets life in prison probably will be delayed a week.

Joseph Greco, Green's lawyer, said yesterday he would ask Judge Harold Holden for a continuance when court resumes because of other commitments.

Green, 25, was convicted of slaying Mrs. Beatrice Hajdukiewicz, 44, Sept. 20. The jury that found him guilty of first degree murder now must fix the punishment.

Handy Parts Chart Boosts International's Economy

International-trucks have an exceptionally long and useful life. And two of the important factors contributing to their economical and durable operation are the high quality and fast availability of genuine International Harvester replacement parts at Driver Truck and Implement Co. in Big Spring.

Driver Truck & Implement is located on the Lamesa highway and is the authorized International dealer here.

International Harvester replacement parts are identical in quality with those originally assembled in International trucks. They are specifically designed and engineered to work best with each other and related truck components. Only from authorized dealers — such as Driver Truck & Implement — are you always sure to receive the right genuine IH parts.

All International trucks carry code sheets which positively identify major components. By reference to these codes, the employees at Driver Truck & Implement can immediately determine the required part or parts needed for each specific truck. Also Driver's stock is such that most items are in the store. Even infrequently needed parts generally can be secured in a matter of hours from the nearest IH parts depot.

Use of genuine International parts goes a long way toward keeping your International truck operating at the least possible cost. When you need repair work or parts, go to an authorized dealer.

In Big Spring, that dealer is Driver Truck & Implement Co.

Lamesa Choirs Win Top Honors

LAMESA — Lamesa High School A Cappella Choir took the sweepstakes award in its class at Interscholastic League competition held in Monahan Saturday. The singers, under the direction of Orland Johnson, captured two first division ratings in concert and in sight reading.

The Lamesa High School Girls' Chorus, also directed by Johnson, received two second division ratings in concert and sight reading, and the Lamesa Junior High School choir, under the direction of Mrs. Tracy Campbell, was awarded a first division rating in concert and second division excellent rating in sight reading.

Three vocalists taken from the High School also received first division ratings. They included Jean Stone, Patsy McMullen, and Katie Neill.

City Folk Called
2nd-Class Citizens

AUSTIN (AP)—The structure of the Legislature makes city dwellers second-class citizens, Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth said today.

Kennard said the four largest counties of the state should have 17 more members of the House and 4 more Senators, based on population.

The most glaring example, he said, is in Harris County, where each of the eight House members represents over one million persons, compared to 29,000 in the South Texas district which includes DeWitt and Goliad counties.

"The Senate is the area in which the change needs to be made the most," Kennard said. "This is a tightknit little fraternity where 11 men can kill any proposal that comes into the Senate."

He explained that most business in the Senate is transacted on suspension of the rules, which requires a two-thirds vote. "By enlarging the Senate," Kennard said, "you may overcome this situation."

Reducing the size of the House, he said, "would make it a more deliberative body with less confusion."

Kennard and Rep. Bob Wheeler of Tilden have filed two constitutional amendments which would base representation on population only. The first would keep the Legislature the same as it is now—31 senators and 150 House members. The second would increase the Senate to 50 members and cut the House to 100 members.

On that basis, he said, Harris County should have 17 representatives and three senators instead of 8 House members and one senator; Dallas should have two senators instead of one and 12 House members rather than seven; Bexar County should have two senators instead of one and nine representatives instead of seven and Tarrant County should have eight representatives instead of seven.

Kennard said the Texas population as of Jan. 1 was 10 1/2 million, based on surveys by Sales Management Magazine which the Legislative Council considered accurate.

DEAR ABBY
NEEDS PADDED CELL

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Young Mother" who stood by and watched her "ill-tempered" husband beat their 5-month-old twin babies with a belt made me sick. "SEE A DOCTOR!" All this man needs to see is the inside of a padded cell! He is absolutely insane. And any wife who has to write to a stranger to find out what to do is also insane. If I had her address, I'd call the wagon.

MRS. F. C. K. (Albany, N. Y.)

DEAR ABBY: It's too darned bad "Young Mother" didn't know what to do when her husband beat those five-month-old twins with a belt. Didn't that woman have a big heavy oak chair to crash over the back of his head when he wasn't looking?

EMMA (Chicago, Ill.)

DEAR ABBY: When my baby was 13 months old, my husband took the flat-iron cord to him and whipped him until he drew blood. The very first moment my husband was out of the house, I packed my baby and left. Within six months my husband went blind.

Chilly Weather
Heads For Texas

By The Associated Press
Another round of chilly weather headed for Texas Monday as Winter refused to give up.

Warmer weather was forecast for Monday, but colder temperatures were predicted for West and North Central Texas Tuesday.

Sunday was a warm day after nippy, early morning temperatures. Highs ranged from 80 degrees at Presidio to 65 at Galveston and Sherman.

Predawn readings Monday varied from 39 at Amarillo to 52 at Brownsville, Laredo and Palacios.

Plantation Fire
Kills 6 Children

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Six children 5 weeks to 11 years old, burned to death Saturday night in a fire that swept through their plantation cabin.

Beatrice McGee, their mother, told deputies she was at nearby Winterville on an errand when the fire started, apparently after the children tried to build a fire in a wood stove with a can of kerosene. Two other children were away.

and when they took him to the hospital they discovered he had a tumor in his head the size of a lemon. He had been sick all this time, but thank God I didn't let him beat my baby to death.

MRS. X. (Washington, D. C.)

DEAR ABBY: I lost twin boys at birth so you can imagine what that letter did to me when I read of the father belting them in their cribs because their crying kept him awake. That dirty low-down skunk should be tied to a tree and horse-whipped. And any woman who would live with a man who acts like this is sicker than he is.

MRS. T. J. W. (Cincinnati, O.)

DEAR ABBY: God help those poor little twin babies whose crazy father beat them with a belt. If the mother hasn't got the guts to bang a frying pan over his head, why doesn't she call the police? We have youngsters (twins included) but if my husband ever laid a finger on a little one that way, he wouldn't be walking around today, let me tell you.

BOILING MAD (Portland, Ore.)

DEAR ABBY: If I told you what I thought of that filthy brute of a coward who beat those defenseless babies with his strap, you could never get it by the censors. I just had to put in my two cents to tell you that any mother who'd let that happen to her babies without lifting a hand to protect them should turn herself over to the Insane Asylum. She is certainly not mentally qualified to take care of her children. As for him—what should be done to him also cannot be printed.

W. L. L. (Philadelphia)

DEAR ABBY: Don't people know enough to ask the law to help them protect innocent children? Even a dog is protected against beatings from a mad man. The police in our town are called out practically every night because some neighbor has his TV set on too loud. What's wrong with some idiots anyway?

A POLICEMAN (Brooklyn, N. Y.)

Do your parents really trust you? Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope to ABBY, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Turtle In The Dean's Bed?
Yes, It's Prank Time Again

By HUGH MULLIGAN

Who left a dead horse in the vestibule of the Sigma Chi house? How did the alligators get into the campus lake? Whence the rickety outhouse surrounding the seated statue of a venerable trustee?

Yes, it's that time of year again on American college campuses. Spring, say the meteorologists and let it go at that.

Vernal madness, say the psychiatrists and talk learnedly about Bacchanalian rites and fertility cycles.

Oh, to be emeritus now that spring is here, high college president as their effigies dance in the moonlight.

The pranksters that bloom in the spring have nothing to do with the thing called education—beyond carrying on an ancient tradition of making life merry for themselves and miserable for the faculty.

It's been going on since Athenian undergrads tried to give Socrates a hot sandal in the marketplace. Boys will be boys, girls will be girls, and when the voice of the turtle is heard again in the land, the turtle is just as apt to turn up in the dean's bed.

There's really nothing much anyone can do about it.

The appalling sight of an intense, introverted honors student, a quoter of Proust and dabbler in Einstein, laboring mightily under cloak of night to hoist a jaguar to the top of the music building defies academic analysis.

In a critique of pure unreason, Associated Press bureaus across the country sampled the best pranks, past and present, of a select group of colleges to determine if modern campus comedians were living up to the zany standards set by their elders.

The results showed that in most cases they weren't, but they were certainly giving it the old college try.

Recently at Annapolis, for instance, a flock of student brigade officers lost their stripes when Susie Johnson, a pert high school senior, trampled daintily on 113 years of tradition by marching into Bancroft Hall to dine with the midshipmen, disguised as one of the boys.

But for all the furor, this was still minor league stuff compared with the antics of sophomore J. A. Cygon, a mechanical and electrical genius who was tossed out of the Naval Academy in 1933 for what the records termed "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, are electric wiring, clock, telephone, etc."

No official document could ever adequately describe the ingenious havoc that Cygon wrought. Tapping into the electric circuits, he rigged up a control switch in his room to stop the clocks when he was late for formation, ring bells to end classes prematurely, halt elevators between floors and perform similar feats of electrical derring-do. With Cygon at the switch, Annapolis ran amok like a scene in a Groucho Marx movie until he inadvertently trapped the officer of the day between floors in an elevator and brought about the investigation that hastened his departure.

The temptation to tamper with campus equipment and scenery is one that few pranksters can resist. Statues go astray or suddenly don dantly undergarments. Skeletons from the bio lab dance over the head of a droning lecturer. Vegetables sprout on a recently seeded lawn. Stripteasers appear with spurious invitations to perform on a class election platform. A color slide of a gorgeous nude turns up inexplicably in the middle of an illustrated talk on "Etruscan Art Forms."

Last month of James Kent, an obscure 19th century jurist, strayed from New York University's Hall of Fame to the lawn of a Lutheran Church three miles away.

The speed and ingenuity with which gagsters can execute an elaborate prank constantly baffles the authorities. Former Football Coach Earl Merritt of Pomona College gulped a fast cup of coffee one morning, pecked his wife and hurried out the door—right into a brick wall. Busy little hands had mortared up his apartment entrance during the night.

At Stanford they still whisper in awe of the ghost of Hoover Tower, the incredible apparition that climbed the 218-foot high west wall leaving black paper footprints 6 feet long on the night of

May 24, 1949. One year later the ghost walked again, this time down the tower, as indicated by the direction of new prints. The mountain climbing club denied all.

But of all strange things ever found on a campus, Utah State University boasts the oddest. Residents of Sigma Chi fraternity discovered one night that someone had led a decrepit horse into a narrow hallway and shot it dead. The carcass was in such a position that it had to be cut up and carried out in pieces.

Animal Friend

Because he prefers animals to people, Freeman Taylor, shown petting one of his 35 dogs and feeding a pet deer, moved to the center of a large New Jersey forest preserve.

Mount Misery Heaven To This Animal Lover

MOUNT MISERY, N. J. — Bachelor Freeman Taylor has moved to this woodland area where there aren't any people because Upton Station got too crowded. Upton Station, which is in the woods about 16 miles east of Mount Holly, N. J., has a population of four. But, figured Taylor, there's a housing development about 10 miles away from Upton Station, and who knows when somebody might build closer. Then, too, the railroad track through Upton Station was getting busy. Sometimes three trains a week go through. Taylor just had to move: he likes animals more than people. Two years ago he was able to buy four acres of privately owned land which stand in the middle of the 20,000-acre Lebanon State Forest. And in his spare time, he built a two-bedroom ranch house on Mount Misery. Ideal for a real New Jersey woodsman who needs acres of pine around him. Taylor's new home has more deer, more trees and more room for his 35 pet dogs to run. It also has more rattlesnakes, which Taylor plans to catch and sell for $5 apiece. But more than anything, Mount Misery has only one resident. For Freeman Taylor that's not misery at all.

Church To Form Boy Scout Troop

Organization of a Boy Scout Troop will be attempted at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the First Church of God at 21st and Main. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson pastor, urged all interested boys to attend the meeting, particularly those in the general vicinity of the church. The troop is open to boys 11 years and older. The Rev. Jackson asked that boys who can call him between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. today at AM 4-8411, but if they are unable to do this to come to the meeting Tuesday.

Services Held For Gun Victim

LAMESA — Services were held here at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Jimmy Barron, 14. Jimmy was shot accidentally in the head when a brother pointed a .22 rifle at him, thinking that it was unloaded. He died Saturday evening. Services were conducted by the Rev. Frank Mueller, pastor, and burial was in the Lamesa cemetery. Survivors include the parents, five sisters and six brothers.

Community Chorus To Sing 'Messiah'

Big Springers who want to support a brave musical enterprise and a worthy charity have the opportunity tonight by attending the Community Chorus' rendition of the Easter portion of "The Messiah." The program is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in City Auditorium. There will be no charge for admission, but an offering will be taken, and proceeds will go to the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Soloists for the occasion will be Mrs. Royce Womack, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. Dalton Conway, Miss Joyce Howard, Ira Schantz and Nolan Young. Instrumentalists will include Jack Hendrix, Mrs. Doug Wiehe and James Gambino of Odessa. Gambino also will conduct. The program will begin with the overture by Hendrix at the organ. The pastoral symphony, played by Mrs. Wiehe at the piano, Hendrix at the organ and Gambino on the violin, will follow this first portion, to be followed immediately by the offertory. The second portion will be climaxed by the Hallelujah chorus. It has been the custom since "The Messiah" was written that the audience stand during rendition of the Hallelujah chorus, as a tribute to the majesty of the passage and out of respect for its composer, George Fredrick Handel, whose work is generally considered the greatest piece of religious choral music ever written.

JAMES GAMBINO
Conductor for "The Messiah"

R. W. Hardman Services Slated

LAMESA—Robert Walter Hardman, 65, resident of Dawson County for the past five years, died here Sunday at 5 a.m. in the Medical Arts Hospital. The body has been taken to Avery where services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Missionary Baptist Church with the Rev. H. L. Johnston officiating. Burial will be in the Avery Cemetery. Mr. Hardman came here after retiring from farming operations in Red River County. Surviving him are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. A. C. McPeck, Lamesa; three sons, Robert E. Hardman, Lamesa, Joseph H. Hardman, Ysleta, and T. C. Hardman, U. S. Navy; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Medford and Mrs. Flossie Webb, Avery; and 7 grandchildren.

YMCA Adult Events Begin This Week

Four of the YMCA adult program events are scheduled to get underway this week, and three are already on the road. The trim and fit class for housewives is underway, but another period of instruction will start soon. Also going is another physical fitness class for women; the E.A.T. Club. Open for participation at any time is the men's volleyball activity headed by Grover Cunningham Jr. A class in fundamentals of social dancing, open to young men 18 years and over, is due to start Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the parlor of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. There will be individual instructors. Due to start Thursday are the classes in ceramics, in intermed-

Jehovah Witnesses Plan Week Long Easter Observance

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Big Spring congregation will celebrate the Memorial of Christ's death today, March 23, at 7:30 p.m. Jack W. O'Shields, presiding minister of the local congregation at Kingdom Hall, 500 Donkey St., announced. "March 23rd corresponds with Nisan 14 of the calendar used by the Jewish nation in Jesus' day," O'Shields explained. "It is the anniversary of the betrayal and death of Christ." He said this is an important date in Jehovah's Witnesses' calendar. The Memorial attendance world wide last year, according to Yearbook, official report of Jehovah's Witnesses, was 1,070,000. A week of special activity is planned by the Big Spring congregation in connection with the Memorial celebration. A house-to-house visitation program has been outlined for all in the congregation. Climax of the Memorial week activity is a public discourse Sunday, 6:00 p.m. "The Conquering Power of Faith", given by Frank Garig, minister of Jehovah's Witnesses from Lamesa.

Captured Pilot Still Awaits Trial

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Allan Lawrence Pope, the Miami, Fla., pilot captured while flying for the Indonesian rebels, is living in an Indonesian air force bungalow while awaiting trial. U.S. Embassy officials, who visit Pope periodically, said he is in fine shape. Government forces shot Pope down in a rebel B26 May 18, 1958.

Moose Lodge Helps Crippled Kids Fund

The Loyal Order of the Moose brightened the entire week for the Crippled Children's Society chapter. Taking over the Lily Parade — the selling of little lily lilies — on Saturday, the Moose members raised $400 which was turned over to the chapter for its work.

This Home Recipe Takes Off Ugly Fat

It's easy — and trouble all to make this home recipe and inexpensive, too. Just ask any Texas druggist for 4 ounces of liquid Barcinate. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice. Take according to directions and watch the fat just seem to melt away, just as Mrs. O. J. Jones, Sherwood, Texas, did, who lost 30 pounds. Results on first bottle or money back.

All-American Girl

Nancy Hadley grew up near the glamorous Hollywood district but she confesses that accentuating naturalness and the all American girl look forwarded her career. Nancy will be seen over NBC-TV's "Jefferson Drum" series.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

For That Fresh Look, It Takes Relaxation

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—"I have always accented naturalness," Nancy Hadley said. "It pays off for me. I grew up in Los Angeles and I felt that if I wore a lot of make-up and tried to be glamorous I would look like everyone else. So instead I accented health and cleanliness and that's been the most help to me."

We were chatting on the "Jefferson Drum" set at NBC-TV. "I've been told that many parts came to me because I look like the all American girl. And you can't have that look without getting enough rest," Nancy declared. "When I was traveling with the road company of 'Tunnel of Love' I was so wound up after the show (Nancy had the lead) that I would go out afterwards to relax, and this meant getting to bed very late. And even though I didn't get up early I never felt as refreshed as when my eight hours had started before midnight."

"I found I had to have solid, healthful foods to have energy. Fancy sauces taste wonderful, but when I turned to roast beef and a simple green salad I felt much better."

Nancy has dark brown hair and she's never changed its color. "But I keep it clean, shining and healthy and I have received many compliments on it. Being a platinum blonde is spectacular," Nancy observed, "but I think a lot of girls who bleach their hair would look better if they didn't."

Since Nancy named getting enough rest as a top beauty secret, I wanted to know her favorite way to relax. "The most important thing is to declare war on rushing," she revealed. "You can do quite a bit in a day without feeling exhausted if you don't hurry. You can do only one thing at a time. So concentrate on it and not on what is coming next."

"You have to leave plenty of time between appointments so you don't feel any pressure of time. People who are habitually late never have stopped to organize their day. You have to figure how long it will take you to dress and make

Future Bride Is Feted

LAMESA (Spl) — Margaret Mitchell, who will exchange wedding vows April 10 with Shirley Stephens, was in the honor spotlight at a gift tea Friday at Women's Study Club Building.

The wedding colors, orchid and white, were carried out in the floral decorations at the club building. Guests were served at a tea table laid with a linen cutwork cloth over orchid, yellow and white mums interspersed with stock formed the centerpiece.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Don Mitchell, sister-in-law of the honoree; Miss Mitchell, her mother; Mrs. R. W. Mitchell; her future mother-in-law, Mrs. S. L. Stephens; and her sister, Darlene Mitchell. Mrs. Larry Moffat registered the guests, and her several cohostesses alternated at the serving table. Their gift was a Martha Washington bedspread and an electric blanket.

Joins Rook Club
Mrs. W. E. Hotchkiss was elected to membership in the Rook Club when members met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. F. S. Gray. Twelve attended the party. Mrs. R. L. Warren, Lamesa Highway, will be hostess for the gathering on April 17.

HD Agents Cancel
The Home and Energy training meeting for Home Demonstration agents of District II, originally slated for March 24-26, has been cancelled. Mrs. W. R. Jones, Howard County HD agent, announces that the specialist from College Station was unable to attend at this time.

Saturday Tea Gives Welcome To Spring

A delightful welcome to the first day of spring was the tea given Saturday afternoon in the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College, when a group joined in extending the hospitality.

Receiving guests were Mrs. Floyd Parsons, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. Merle Stewart, Mrs. J. F. Wheat, Mrs. Phil Berry of Stanton, Mrs. Horace Reagan, Mrs. Ben Johnson, Mrs. Jack Hendrix, Mrs. W. F. Taylor and Mrs. S. M. Smith.

Easter bonnets of the guests vied in beauty with the tiny hats worn as corsages by the house party members and the doll-sized chapeaux which adorned the two "trees" at the end of the entertaining area.

Silver and cutglass appointments sparkled on the twin tables, each laid in a sheer cloth, appliqued. Each table held a silver candelabrum which supported a mass of pink carnations, snapdragons and roses with pink candles extending from the flowers.

Between the tables a tea cart, with its own floral decor, held a punch bowl with a crystal service.

Alternating in the various duties of a house party were Mrs. Tom Cantrell, Mrs. H. J. Agee, Mrs. Dick Lane, Mrs. Bud Jones and Mrs. Guy Eiland, both of Stanton, Mrs. Willard Hendrick, Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Ed Cherry and Mrs. W. C. Blankenship.

From Lubbock, Mrs. Ira Williams and Mrs. King Sides; from O'Donnell, Mrs. Wayland Taylor; from Roby, Mrs. O. B. Cave; and from Dallas, Mrs. James Futrell.

Delta Kappa Gamma Unit Is Organized In Lamesa

LAMESA (Spl) — Seventeen members of Delta Kappa Gamma, national educational society, from Welch and Lamesa completed the organization of Epsilon Omicron Chapter at a luncheon Saturday in the cafeteria of North Elementary School.

The new chapter will embrace member teachers in Dawson and Borden counties. Mrs. Luther Standifler, a former regional president of Delta Kappa Gamma, will head the unit.

Other officers are Mrs. L. F. Cox and Mrs. Ed Hatch, vice presidents; Mrs. T. E. Latimer, secretary; Lorene Brumley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sarah Jo Covey, parliamentarian and Bonnie Speck, treasurer.

Charter members for the chapter, in addition to the officers are Mrs. Frank Bittle, Mrs. L. H. Kinder, Mrs. Anna Kitley, Mrs. Birdie McBrayer, Mrs. C. W. Tarter, Mrs. Jimmye Henson, Mrs. Dick Edwards, Mrs. Hollis Herndon, Mrs. Marian Kelley and Mrs. H. A. Wilkinson.

Approximately 50 attended the luncheon. Installing the new chapter were Eula Lee Carter, ranking professor of languages at Texas Christian University and state organizer of Delta Kappa Gamma, and Phyllis Ellis, principal of Bonnie Brae Elementary School in Fort Worth, who serves as state executive secretary of the society.

Miss Carter was the principal speaker at the luncheon.

The new chapter, formerly part of Gamma Lambda chapter, will meet monthly and will stage its first meeting May 2.

Mrs. Norman Read and Mrs. A. C. Bass will be in Pecos today and Tuesday for the meeting of the Eighth District of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Read represents the 1905 Hyperion and Mrs. Bass, the Modern Woman's Forum.

Bessie Digby And Bobby King Recite Vows In Lamesa Ceremony

LAMESA (Spl) — Wedding rings were exchanged by Bessie Darrell Digby and Bobby Wayne King in a ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Sunset Baptist Church. The Rev. Gene Dean, pastor, officiated for the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Digby and Mr. and Mrs. V. C. King Jr.

Baskets of mums flanked an archway of greenery interspersed with spring blossoms at the altar.

The bridegroom's sister, Judy King, was pianist for the nuptial music and Mrs. Dean, soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length wedding gown of white lace over taffeta and crinoline was fashioned with large scallops at the neckline, long sleeves tapering to a point over the hand and softly flared princess skirt. Her bridal veil of illusion was secured to a headband of seed pearls and sequins, and an orchid centered her bouquet of white roses.

Linda Wagner, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of blue polished cotton with tiny cap sleeves, long fitted torso and bouffant skirt. Her headband was of matching material and her flowers were white carnations.

Brother of the bride, Phillip Digby, was best man. Ushers were Wayne Dennis and Darrell Goodrich of Lubbock. Vicky Widener of Graham, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

The Lamesa Woman's Study Club Building was the scene of the reception. Members of the houseparty included Mrs. C. W. Castner, Marilyn Archer, Kathleen Henderson, Jan Cockran and Mary Beth Dudley of San Angelo; Mrs. Charles Dickson, Mrs. R. H. Harter and Mrs. Jess Heferman.

The bride is a student at Lamesa High School and is employed by Wright Drug under the

Rush Season Is Climaxed With Tea

LAMESA (Spl) — Iota Kappa and Lambda Phi chapters of Beta Sigma Phi held their spring preferential tea Saturday afternoon at the Woman's Study Club Building.

Climaxing rush activities of the season, the tea complimented rushes of the two chapters and two transfers. Honored were Mrs. Jerry Morgan, pledged to Iota Kappa chapter; Mrs. Pat Green, Mrs. Bobby Starnes, Tommie Matthews and Peggy Cozzens, pledged to Lambda Phi chapter. Transferring to Lambda Phi chapter were Ruth Ann Herbig and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson.

An arrangement of yellow roses, the flower of the sorority, in apothecary scales was the focal attraction at the serving table where Mrs. Thomas Boyd and Mrs. Jack Temple alternated at the punch bowl.

The guests, received by Mrs. Carl Barrow, Barbara White and Mrs. Jack Lee, were registered by Mrs. Edwin Carnes. Music for the afternoon was furnished by Betty Jo Morris.

Bykota Class Fulfills Pre-Easter Tradition

The traditional pre-Easter breakfast of the Bykota Class of First Baptist Church was held Sunday morning at the Settles Hotel ballroom. Former members and guests swelled the attendance to about 80.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, gave the invocation at the 22nd annual breakfast and delivered the devotion on Women of the Bible. Scriptural passages referring to Mary, Mother of Jesus, Ruth, Lydia and Mary Magdalene were read by former presidents of the class, and these were interwoven into Dr. O'Brien's message. Taking part were Mrs. Garner McAdams, associate teacher, Mrs. Malcolm Patterson, Mrs. J. C. Irwin and Nell Brown.

Greetings were issued by Mrs. Claude Miller, class president, and guests were introduced by Mrs. Ira Thurman, teacher. The group joined in the hymn, "Living for Jesus," directed by Ira Schantz and Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, pianist. Easter selections were sung by Schantz, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, preceding the lesson by Mrs. Thurman.

Pale green and white were background colors for the tables which featured arrangements of yellow daffodils and ivy. Masses of blue and yellow iris adorned the head table.

Mrs. W. H. Kay served as general chairman for the event; co-chairman in charge of decorations was Mrs. John Coffee. Reservations were handled by Mary Cantrell, and Mrs. Amabel Lovelace and Mrs. Armour Long arranged invitations.

Joining the group were several ex-members, Mrs. Maude Prather, Mrs. Granville Dawson, Mrs. Edna Stokes, Mrs. Bernice Drake, all of Midland; Mrs. Johnnie Lou Callison, Brownfield; Mrs. Zollio Mae Rawlins, Rankin; Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall, Lubbock. Among the guests were Elaine Comlee and Mary Louise Gilmour, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Irwin, Lubbock; Mrs. Imogene Wade, Paducah. Several members followed tradition by bringing their mothers.

A Devotional For Today

The unfolding of thy words gives light; it imparts understanding to the simple. (Psalms 119:130. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word. Incline us to turn to it for inspiration and help. May the light of Thy Word shine into our hearts. Help us to walk in Thy way of life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Mark Of A Progressive School

A number of the area's leading educators will converge here today to begin an evaluation of the Big Spring school system.

Before they have completed their work, they will have looked into every nook and cranny of school operations, curriculum, plant, instruction and other areas.

On the basis of what they see, they will make appraisals of the quality of work being done not in relation to what others might be doing but as compared with what ought to be done. They may, by implication if not by direct assertion, make recommendations as to how the program can be strengthened where there is a need.

The conclusions of a group analyzing a school system within the compass of a few days are not infallible. But it must be remembered that those invited in for the study are competent, seasoned individuals and they will be likely to get to the core of the situation.

We are pleased that our schools are undergoing this critical study. In this day it is not enough to have a good school — we must find ways to have better schools to serve more and more children. Districts which do not have the courage, the foresight or the resources to undertake periodic evaluations are apt to be districts not sure of their program or their effectiveness. We commend our school board and officials for seeking to find out from unbiased critics where we are and how we might best attain our educational goals.

Perhaps Others Are Interested

The Chamber of Commerce has filed a protest over the reduction of air line service here effective April 1.

On that date Continental Air Lines proposes cut its flights to one going east and one going west each day. Both of these are near mid-day.

While the new schedules permit reasonably good connections for North and East destinations that evening, they offer nothing in the way of return service. Air travelers usually want to get home in the evening, hence they will have to chart their course to Midland and ask someone to come get them if they want to accomplish this.

Perhaps this is what the carrier has in mind. One of the difficulties in trying to develop traffic here has been in obtaining schedules that offer good connections east and west. When not obtainable here, many have, at considerable expense and inconvenience, driven round trip 100 miles to board a plane. The new schedules only make this practice more necessary.

The community might do well to explore the interest of other carriers in service here. Our new civil airport will be ready soon and it would be regrettable if that facility is deprived of a fair trial as a terminal point for a regularly scheduled airline.

Inflation Warning From Senator Byrd

WASHINGTON—If you're one of the "spenders" in Congress and you ridicule the idea of a balanced budget, you get plenty of attention. But if you're a "saver" and want to keep the American dollar from being forced down to a value of 10 cents, then you're old-fashioned and not in tune with the times.

Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia happens to be chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He also happens to be a member of the Democratic party, so many of whose members are trying to make a virtue of bigger and bigger spending by government. Yet, when he spoke last week at the National Taxpayers Conference here, his words got scant attention.

"Contrary to general understanding," said Sen. Byrd, "recent great increases in federal spending have not been for defense or foreign aid. The tremendous increases have been for domestic-civilian programs."

This alone seems to be a worth-while piece of news. For, in the speeches emanating from Capitol Hill, President Eisenhower is repeatedly being accused of trying to balance the budget at the expense of national defense in the battle against the Communists. The purpose of the crusade for more spending is, of course, to break the faith of the public in budget-balancing by using defense as an excuse, so that all sorts of subsidies and grants can be made in the guise of social reform. The Virginia senator says:

"Since 1954 expenditures outside of defense, atomic energy, and foreign aid categories increased from $19.1 billion to $34 billion estimated in the current year. "This is an increase of $14.9 billion, or 78 per cent. There is terrific pressure in the current session of Congress for enactment of more nonessential spending programs. Almost invariably these new spending programs involve multi-year or permanent commitments for heavy spending in the future.

"Much of the domestic-civilian spending is for subsidies—and by subsidies I mean nearly all kinds of loans, grants and payments out the federal Treasury to special beneficiaries. Many of these subsidy programs are bottomless pits for federal spending and contribute to sky-high inflation.

"The federal government of the United States cannot now pay its bills except by increasing debt and inflation. Revenue at present tax rates does not meet our commitments.

"Interest on the federal debt is taking approximately one-tenth of all taxes collected.

"Chronic inflation has reduced the purchasing power of our money 52 per cent.

All The Ingredients

James Marlow Ike Forced Into Summit Meet

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower is headed toward a summit conference he didn't seek, under circumstances he didn't want, and on problems not yet agreed upon.

All this adds up to a kind of victory for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev who has wanted a summit meeting for more than a year and now has practically forced it on the West. But who will be the ultimate winner—if any—remains to be seen.

News coming out of Eisenhower's weekend of meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been understandably thin. The two men would hardly want to give the Soviets a full transcript of their conversations.

But of the several bits of information provided by their aides, this much was dominant: the President and prime minister had agreed on their approach to a summit meeting next summer, following a foreign ministers conference in May.

Back in late 1957, with the premier Nikolai Bulganin doing the writing for him, Khrushchev had called for a summit get-together. He found both Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles chilly to the idea. After quite a bit of letter writing back and forth, the idea blew up. Then last Nov. 27 Khrushchev took a step which disturbed the Allies no end, forced them into action, and gave him a fresh excuse to call for a summit conference.

Khrushchev demanded that the United States, Britain and France get their occupation troops out of West Berlin. He threatened to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

This had a real hooker in it: if the Allies kept their troops in Berlin and tried—against the will of the German Communists—to send supplies to their Berlin garrisons through East Germany there could be war.

Khrushchev gave the Allies six months to get moving although now he says in effect it wasn't a hard and fast deadline but just a date he picked off the ceiling. What he wanted most was action, he said.

He kept calling for a summit conference to talk about the Allied troops in West Berlin and a peace treaty for Germany. The West's response was this: let's have a foreign ministers meeting to talk things over.

Eisenhower—ever since the 1955 summit meeting's high pronouncements ended in smoke—has insisted on no more summit meetings unless first the foreign ministers meet and show enough progress and agreement to make a summit conference look worthwhile.

Khrushchev has consistently laughed off a foreign ministers meeting as a preliminary since he regards the ministers as mere errand boys for the heavyweights like himself and Eisenhower.

With the showdown on Berlin getting closer, Macmillan went to talk with Khrushchev. He reportedly came away with the idea that a summit meeting was the thing to have. He apparently sold the idea to Eisenhower.

When the Eisenhower-Macmillan aides said over the weekend their bosses had agreed to propose a summit meeting next summer, they gave the impression that results from a foreign ministers meeting first were not as necessary as before.

But while Khrushchev seems to want to limit summit discussions to West Berlin and a German peace treaty, the Western Allies appear to want much broader discussions. The two sides haven't agreed yet on what they should talk about.

In the end the whole idea of a summit conference may break down over a discussion on what the summiters should discuss. At the moment a summit conference looks more likely than not.

Spring Is Here—Or Is It?

Time was, when I was a fidgety fellow in knee pants, winter arrived on schedule and exited at the appointed time.

Now, we never really seem to have our cold weather until it's time for nature to paint the countryside in green. The mornings just before sun up — if you're unlucky enough to be out at that hour — seem to have an awful lot of bite to them.

If you're still in the hay, chances are you're thinking about getting up and throwing an extra blanket across your feet, especially if you have a window open.

Spring, it's wonderful — despite the fact that it takes its own sweet time about arriving. I'd trade two Februaries for two Mays around here anytime.

What great sport it is to sit around in the living room drinking hot chocolate and watching the TV boys ride "tall in the saddle" a few days before it's warm enough to venture outside without a coat — dreaming up all the plans for digging into that flower bed, pulling out the crabgrass and moving the sprinkler around.

Invariably you find dreams are not what they're cracked up to be, once the actual chores stare you in the face and set up their own little clamor: "Here! Come here and lend me your undivided attention until you get a crick in your back and your legs get weak!"

Of course, your ardor for spring and the gentle night breezes that accompany same might cool somewhat by the time your wife reminds you that the lattice-work not only needs to be more firmly planted but could use another coat of paint, that there are probably more grass burrs than grass in the front lawn and "Someone" has to build a new garbage rack.

Chances are you've long since forgotten how hard it was to kill out the ants who seemed determined to locate somewhere within your property, not to mention insisting on building their nest on the light fixture on your front porch — and will probably make the same attempt this season.

You couldn't overlook the fact that spring is near at hand, if you tried, come to think of it. Thumb through any newspapers and try to overlook the ads, aimed to catch the eye of the women readers, betraying the fashions they'll be wearing. Go to the mail box looking for the dividend check and what do you get — seed catalogues and suggestions for such things as barbecue cooking equipment, swimming pools, patios and travel folders authorized by mountain resorts.

The advent of spring, and all its gentle reminders, is wonderful — even the notices from the Internal Revenue Department that it needs its share of the green along about April 15.

In Favor Of Caviar-For Comrades

In recent weeks I have been wondering whatever became of the only Russian five-year plan in which I ever felt a deep, abiding and greedy personal interest.

Just nine years ago, the Russians—demon inventors of the telephone, teevee, the electric light, the cotton gin, the rotary egg-beater and the swivel fly swatter—pinpoint their genius at something really worth while: Caviar.

At that time a Moscow dispatch announced that Soviet ichthyologists were hard at work on a five-year plan to produce caviar in the back yard of every citizen. These scientists were pledged to domesticate the sturgeon, rich source of genuine, 22-carat caviar. They planned to acclimate it to life in farm ponds and small reservoirs and wean it from its wild ways in the Volga, Moskva, and the Don.

Nine years ago, the Commissar of Caviar and Sturgeon Rehabilitation was confident that at the end of the first five-year plan, any Russian farm boy or girl sent out to gather the eggs would look first in the lily pond and then in the hen house.

At that time, I could find no reference to sturgeon in the Trading-With-the-Enemy Act. So I wrote Amory, the Russian trade organization, and ordered a pair of domesticated sturgeon to be delivered as soon as the fish had absorbed enough Marxist doctrine to live and love in the back yard instead of in a raging river.

With caviar selling for just under $40 a pound, or at approximately the price of uncut diamonds, home-grown caviar is obviously the only solution to my inexhaustible appetite for this delicacy.

But since I sent off my letter to Amory nine years ago, I have never heard a word about this noble experiment beyond some wild rumors in 1953 that a number of rebel sturgeon had been liquidated for cosmopolitanism, deviationist tactics, hooliganism and anti-party activities.

It is just possible, of course, that a second five-year plan to convert sturgeon to domestic production has been deemed advisable. It is also just possible that my order is still on file, waiting to be filled at the expiration of the second five-year plan in 1960. So I want the Commissar of Caviar and Sturgeon Rehabilitation to know that I am waiting to throw out the gold fish and the guppies any time the sturgeon arrive, C.O.D. and kicking.

Certainly domestic production is the only way in which I am ever going to achieve the rich, full life through caviar. Since its price is now astronomical, a pair of ever-lovin' sturgeon in the bird bath is the only solution for most of us.

Even in the restaurant at the Russian pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair a year ago, a caviar luncheon for four set me back $65, including tip, and made me realize more than ever the necessity of a summit meeting with the sturgeon.

In the meantime, I would be happy to hear from anyone in the Kremlin about the progress of the caviar-for-comrades program. The bona fide customer has the right to know. And surely Mr. Khrushchev wouldn't want the world to feel that this is just another big Russian fish story. Or one that wouldn't even lay an egg.

Federal Surplus Once Was A Problem

President Eisenhower should have such headaches as Presidents Chester A. Arthur and Grover Cleveland. They were beleaguered by chronic surpluses.

Arthur, a Republican, was fearful he'd extinguish the federal debt altogether and then money would pile up and up and up in the Treasury. Cleveland, a Democrat, was dismayed by annual income which exceeded expenditures by about $100,000,000. (Yes, Mr. Copyreader, that's right—only eight zeros; this is millions, not billions!)

Cleveland's Secretaries of the Treasury used the surplus to retire government bonds, which were noncallable; they bid up prices so sharply that bonds which carried a coupon rate of 4.5 per cent sold to yield as little as 1.5 per cent. Those who owned bonds—the well-to-do—made handsome profits.

Those were the happy happy days before the income tax. The principal source of federal revenue was customs duties (about 55 per cent of the total). Then came excises on alcoholic beverages, wines, cigarettes, etc. To stay the surpluses, both Arthur and Cleveland wanted to cut revenues, but Congress feared lower tariffs would increase competition from foreign manufactures and throw Americans out of work.

Budgets then were austere. Outlays in the 1896 fiscal year came to $243,000,000, of which $83,000,000 was for pensions; next came $510,000, for interest on the public debt; the cost of public buildings, lighthouses, and collecting the revenue was $48,000,000, and the same amount was spent on the Army and Navy. There were no agricultural programs, no foreign aid, no Social Security.

So Arthur and Cleveland fought surpluses, even as Eisenhower today struggles with deficits. And that is the point of Lewis H. Kimmel's scholarly book, "Federal Budget and Fiscal Policy, 1789-1958," published by Brookings Institution, and priced at $5. Times change, policies change, therefore budgets and budget philosophy must change. Flexibility is as important in federal finance as in military maneuver.

Washington, Hamilton and other founding fathers of the Republic managed to bury their numerous differences in one unalterable "virtue" of Jefferson: "The public debt of one generation should not be permitted to bind the next one." Later, Andrew Jackson, whom today we think of as a New Deal forerunner, proudly proclaimed the "rare and noble spectacle of a great and growing people who has discharged every obligation." He'd paid off all debt.

Jackson's successor, Martin Van Buren, felt that no circumstance—not even the depression of 1837-38 — justified deficits. "The citizen (should not) look to the government for aid." But Millard Fillmore held with Clay, Webster and later Lincoln that the "paramount issue, before the nation was national growth." James Buchanan snapped right back: "Deficits are a disgrace."

Through Grant, Cleveland, and Theodore Roosevelt, Presidents consistently regarded deficits and debts as evil. Woodrow Wilson deviated a trace, saying that borrowing could be justified by permanent benefits, "which it seems unfair that a single generation should pay for." His successors, Warren Harding, Calvin Coolidge, and Herbert Hoover were strict budget balancers. Indeed, Hoover, like Van Buren, felt that private adversity in depression should be handled privately—by charity.

Even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who goes down in Republican oratory as a "great spender," started out with an idea fix: Budgets should be balanced. Later, he decided he couldn't leave the problems of our common welfare to... the winds of chance. The government must have the wisdom to use its credit to sustain economic activity in recessions and the courage to withhold it and retire debt in periods of prosperity." Even as Roosevelt, President Eisenhower can subscribe to that in theory, if not in practice.

Kimmel's thesis is that conditions and compulsions of the times make budgets not preconceived philosophies. And he demonstrates this by observing the concrete actions of Presidents and the theory and dogma of economists from Adam Smith through David Ricardo, Henry C. Carey, Francis A. Walker and John Maynard Keynes. This notable book is a "must" for students of government finance. It demonstrates that immutable change is the one immutable law of economics.

Oh, Brother

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Five-year-old Patrick and Dennis McBride, who have become accustomed to being called "the twins," made a startling discovery at kindergarten recently. Rushing home excitedly, they shouted: "Hey, Mom! Do you know what we found out today? We're brothers."

A Good Start

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — In his inaugural speech, Gov. J. Howard Edmondson said part of his program would be to increase the state population by 250,000. When state Rep. Deniz Garrison, Republican floor leader, became a father, he passed out cigars with this comment: "This is the first of J. Howard's 250,000 new people."

Mister Dillon

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Thieves stole four hubcaps from a car outside a factory here. The owner—Marshall Dillon.

THE NEWSPAPER . . . ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN . . . AND BY ALL TAKEN FOR GRANTED

THINK OF RUNNING A HOME WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS

Take for example your own favorite newspaper. The index of its contents is an index of your interests . . . a listing of an and an answer to your wants. Help for you and your home!

Instead of struggling singlehandedly with scores of perplexities, the homemaker, thanks to your newspaper, has recourse to skilled experts galore, whose counsel and help is always at hand when needed. Food, health, child care . . . columns on these and many other home subjects are in your newspaper. Fashion, society, beauty, budgeting . . . the cavalcade of columns goes on. Included are entertainment, sports, stock market listings, the comics, everything from international commentaries to local obituaries. All this in addition to a bustling bundle of information about your community, your nation, your world, and the universe around you.

A modern realist has said: "One who drops a coin on the newsstand and picks up a paper buys a piece of himself every day." Look back a bit. Socrates stands in the first rank of philosophers, yet his ultimate advice to the world was "Know Thyself."

Today's great text book on self is your newspaper! Your taken-for-granted newspaper, is packed with living lessons on self . . . is the continuing study of man, his successes and failures, his glories and weaknesses, his inspirations and aspirations, his life and death . . . and yours, and ours! The daily record of our times, the lives of ourselves and our fellow men is found only in the print of our newspapers.

It's intensely interesting, this deepening drama of man and the world around him. Instructive too, because the truth in this newsprint text book are basic, and adaptable to every phase of our lives.

Newspapers help families live more intelligently, and help them to better enjoy living. They help them understand themselves, and their neighbors. They help them bear trouble and make money. And, because these printed text book truths are a record, not a recollection, they—more than any other daily expressions—find constant and repeated use in the home.

DIARY OF THE WORLD . . . BOOKKEEPER OF ITS BUSINESS . . . DEFENDER OF ITS HUMAN LIBERTIES AND THE GREAT TEXT BOOK ON SELF! YOUR NEWSPAPER IS ALL OF THESE THINGS!
THINK OF RUNNING YOUR HOME WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS!
