TOXICANT SPRAYED ON LAKE SURFACE Game & Fish Commission exterminates shad

DEAD FISH DRIFT ASHORE James Wilcox examines kill

75,000 Shad Killed In Moss Creek Lake

The game fish in Lake Moss Creek may yet have to go for the bait area fishermen take with them. Biologists of the Texas Game and Fish Commission's West Texas aquatic staff, headed by James Wilcox, have completed the job of chemically treating the reservoir for the elimination of gizzard shad and indications are the undertaking was a big success.

Wilcox and his co-workers made three passes at the lake earlier this week with toxicants, after first testing the chemicals in life boxes containing 300 rough fish and as many game fish.

Practically all of the shad were killed in the preliminary tests, whereas only four game fish (one large bass and three catfish) perished.

Wilcox said upwards to 75,000 shad might have been killed, although final results will not be known for a week or two. The shad floated on the surface of Moss Creek Lake's waters for a couple of hours after the dosages administered by the biologists, then sank to the bottom.

Texas Game and Fish Commission crews will wait several days before seining the lake in order to rid it of the dead fish. Wilcox said that preliminary tests showed that less than one half of 1 per cent of the game fish had been killed in the treatments.

Elimination of the shad, of course, increases the room for the bass and other game species and makes them hungrier for the lures offered by fishermen. Wilcox also announced that the San Angelo hatchery would restock the lake with bass sometime this spring.

Miner Survives Dynamite Blasts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gold miner lay helpless in a Death Valley tunnel, hearing the fuses for 18 sticks of dynamite hiss a song of destruction.

Frank Rasmussen, 35, could only wait. His right leg was shattered from a premature blast and gushing blood. As he waited for the remaining charges to blast him into eternity, he gasped a prayer and buried his head under his arms.

Then he heard his alarmed partner, Harry Boyer, starting into the shaft from 18 feet above to see what was wrong. "Don't come in here!" Rasmussen shouted. "No use both of us dying."

Moments earlier he had lighted the 40-inch fuses to 10 two-stick charges, spaced across the end of the tunnel wall. Ordinarily he would have had two or three minutes to get out. Something went wrong this time — a faulty fuse.

Wham! With each blast two sticks of dynamite went off. Rocks and dirt flew. The noise was deafening; the concussion, terrific.

Rasmussen counted the explosions. One, two, three—ten in all, counting the first one which had slammed him against the opposite wall 10 feet away.

As he echoes died away, Boyer charged into the shaft. All he could see of his comrade was a shoulder sticking out of the debris. Boyer grabbed it and pulled Rasmussen's head free.

Boyer tied a rope tightly around Rasmussen's leg, to stop the pouring blood. Then he packed the injured man up a ladder and drove him to the nearby village of Skidoo. Rasmussen, from his hospital bed here, told the story Wednesday night. In traction with a leg broken in two places, he was waiting for X-rays to show how badly his back was injured.

Senators Uncover Plot To Use Race Tensions In Labor Fights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two senators demanded today that the Justice Department and Civil Rights Commission investigate an alleged labor union plot to use racial tensions as a weapon in labor disputes.

The story of the scheme came out Wednesday in the Senate hearings on racketeering in the Miami area. The committee placed in evidence a letter from a Miami Teamsters official, David Frechette, to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa asking for $15,000 to finance the plan.

Committee investigator Walter Sheridan testified the exchange of letters has disappeared from Hoffa's files. But he said the union's financial records show that $15,000 was sent by Hoffa to Frechette's Local 290 in Miami after Frechette's request.

Frechette himself invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer virtually all questions. "This should engage the immediate attention of the Civil Rights Commission and the Justice Department, if they want to pursue the exploitation of the minority race," the committee's chairman,

John L. McClellan (D-Ark) told reporters. He called it a conspiracy.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) also urged a follow-up by federal agencies.

To the extent this may be a practice in the labor-management field, it very definitely is something into which the Civil Rights Commission ought to inquire, Church said.

The committee has recessed its public hearings. It is scheduled tentatively to start about April 8 its long pending hearings on jukebox racketeering in Detroit. Frechette's letter to Hoffa named Bernie Rubin, head of three Miami Laborers Union locals, as the man who had pioneered use of the racial scheme against any contractors engaged in housing projects in which FHA or VA mortgage financing would be a factor. Federal law forbids racial discrimination in housing constructed with government financial aid.

The letter asked Hoffa for $15,000 to help the Teamsters apply the purported Rubin scheme against Acme Concrete, a Miami firm then working on a home construction project.

Frechette wrote Hoffa: "On a Sunday, when the developer has his model homes on display to the public and when he makes his sales, he (Rubin) floods the models with a few hundred colored laborers and their families who parade through the models and express an interest in purchasing a home in the project, with a few actually making application."

"In the light of this segregation thing here, this ruins the sales for the day."

Any refusal to sell to a Negro applicant, he continued, brings immediate complaint of racial discrimination to the FHA and VA. "This usually ends it," Frechette said, "as the builder gets shook up about having his mortgage financing fouled up."

Judge Awes Boys Accused In Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two boys accused of attempted bank robbery stood awed and contrite before Juvenile Court Judge Melvyn I. Cronin.

He looked sternly at Dan McKay, 9, and Danny Husk, 13, and asked where they got the idea. "From television," stammered the boys.

Judge Cronin scolded them, lectured the parents and sent them home Wednesday. Little Dan and Danny had spent the night in Youth Guidance Center after their arrest Tuesday.

They admitted going to the Bank of America's Mission branch and presenting a note demanding $100 under threat to "blow up the bank." The teller, Miss Filamene Miller, shoed them away and told the manager. He called police, who stalked out the boys' homes and arrested them after their return from a movie.

Little Dan and Danny said they had only wanted to replenish their supply of a play money issued by a bank as a promotion.

However, they cooked up the holdup note idea before entering the bank. Whether inspired by television or not, most bank holdups here follow the same pattern — a note peaked at the teller with varying threats.

There was another one Wednesday. The note said "I've got a gun." The man walked out with $1,688.

Little Dan and Danny walked out of the courtroom with their parents, Wilma Husk, and Rufus McKay. Parental punishment: curtailment of privileges plus a paddling for Dan McKay. "I don't believe in beatings. It doesn't accomplish anything. He's a good kid at heart."

She has two grown children, one of whom is married, and a daughter, Sandra, 15.

Industrial Show Is Called Off

The industrial exhibit, planned for April 11-12 in connection with District Week, has been cancelled.

Larson Lloyd, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Week planning committee, said lack of interest and shortness of time in which to prepare for the show forced the cancellation.

Only 10 firms had agreed to set up exhibits of products manufactured or processed here. Several others would have made plans to participate if there had been more time in which to plan displays, Lloyd said.

The committee urged that efforts to stage the exhibit be renewed next year, starting early enough to permit all local industrial firms to arrange suitable displays.

Law Enforcement Panel Will Meet

Chairman R. L. Tollett has called a meeting of the Law Enforcement Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for 5 p. m. next Wednesday.

The group will receive a report from a sub-committee Tollett appointed several weeks ago to determine the best means of strengthening and supporting local law enforcement agencies. The sub-committee will submit its report and several recommendations at the next meeting, the chairman said.

Wind Breaks Window Glasses

At least two downtown businesses lost panes of glass during the sand storm here Wednesday.

Two panes were knocked out of Cook Appliance, 400 E. 3rd, and a single pane was lost at Firestone, 507 E. 3rd. Both display window losses were on the west side of the buildings.

In addition, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported minor losses of lines over town. This is expected during such high winds, however, said telephone employees.

Fire Destroys Part Of Vacant Structure

Fire destroyed about half of a vacant store room here Wednesday.

Firemen from the central station were dispatched to 1600 W. 3rd to Heffington Courts where a fire began from electric wires. The store room was the only portion of the property damaged.

Assigned Here

Arvin Henry, Pecos, will be transferred to Big Spring sometime soon after April 1 to be a member of the State Highway Patrol force in Howard County. Henry will be provided with a patrol car which will give the county three patrol cars and four patrolmen.

Allied Chiefs Okay Summit Meeting

DEFENDANT VISITED BY MOTHER Mrs. Juan Ortgo Lopez with son in court

LOPEZ GUILTY

BULLETIN

Armando Lopez, 17, was found guilty today of participation in the murder of Gerald D. Limer, service station attendant. His punishment was set at 99 years and one day.

Lopez sat impassively as the 118th District Court jury verdict was returned. The courtroom was crowded as the jury filed in after 2 hours and 17 minutes of deliberation. There was no demonstration.

The jurors received the case at 10:27 a. m. At noon, Judge Charlie Sullivan queried the 12 and asked if they wanted to go to lunch. The jurors said that they did. They had been deliberating for nearly an hour and a half.

Lopez, charged with murder with malice, is on trial for the slaying on Jan. 7 of Gerald D. Limer, 18-year-old service station attendant. He was murdered as he climbed to a holdup at the McClure Texaco Station on W. 4th St.

Final testimony in the case was heard on Wednesday afternoon. Court was recessed until 9 a. m. today, when Judge Sullivan then read his charge to the jury.

In the charge, he pointed out that Lopez is under two counts in the indictment—one for robbery and the second for murder with malice. The court told the jurors that the district attorney had elected to go with the murder indictment alone—that they need not delve into the issue whether or not the defendant was guilty of robbery.

The argument by state and defense was limited by agreement to one hour. Dist. Atty. Gil Jones closed for the prosecution with a bitter denunciation of the young Latin American.

"While Andres Marquez (identified as the other member of the hijacking team) was shooting this luckless young filling station worker to death, this man (Lopez) was helping himself to the money in the cash register," Jones said. He dramatically described the state's interpretation of the incident. He said the pair entered the station early in the morning of Jan. 7. Limer was asleep at the time. Awakened by the bandits, he was ordered to unlock and open the cash register, which he did. Then he was told to sit back down in his chair. Limer, Jones told the jury, had no reason to believe he would be murdered "he had done all that had been asked of him."

He had no inkling that in seconds he would be ruthlessly shot down, Jones told the jury. A few minutes after the jury had been locked in, it requested that the statement which Lopez made admitting his part in the crime be given it. Neither defense nor state objected and Judge Sullivan instructed the sheriff to hand the document to the jurors.

Wednesday afternoon's session opened with the defense's presentation of Priscilla Raneria—the girl Lopez claims he spent the night with on Jan. 7. Priscilla, slender big-eyed Latin American told the defense attorneys that Lopez, Marquez and another youth came to her place at 7 p. m. on Jan. 6, staying until 11. They left at that hour, returning again around midnight. She testified that Marquez and the other Latin American she later admitted in cross examination that she had identified him previously as Joe Flores—left again but that Lopez stayed with her in a trailer house until 6 a. m.

On cross examination she claimed she was married but "separated" from her husband. Jones forced her to admit that her husband is in the Midland jail and has been there for sometime which is the reason for her "separation." Her activities were given a sharp investigation by the district attorney.

The defense then rested its case. It decided not to call Marquez to the stand although the attorneys

President de Gaulle, in his note to Moscow, made his attendance hinge on whether the foreign ministers meeting "permits the envisagement of genuine progress" at the top. And the French spoke only of a summit session "an appropriate time" instead of mentioning this summer.

All three of the Western notes reserved the right of all participants to bring up whatever subjects they choose.

That is in contrast to the Soviet idea of confining the talks solely to Berlin and a German peace treaty. In a March 2 note, the Kremlin proposed that the foreign ministers meeting, at least, be held exclusively to those subjects.

U. S. officials said that in spite of the differences in wording, they considered the Western notes to say substantially the same thing. The Western powers proposed that the foreign ministers meeting start in Geneva May 11 "to consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

From there on, they went into their divergent approaches to the summit session. Despite the variations of emphasis, the Western proposals appeared to bring closer the prospect of a conference of President Eisenhower, Macmillan and De Gaulle with Khrushchev.

The American note was released here, and the British and French communications in Paris and London, after their delivery to the Soviet Foreign Office.

In general they all followed the line of a formula worked out by Eisenhower and Macmillan at their Camp David meeting last week.

"The purpose of the foreign ministers meeting," the U. S. note said, "should be to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible, and in any case to narrow the differences between the respective points of view and to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government later in the summer."

Evaluators Find Weaknesses, Strong Points In City Schools

Big Spring schools have many characteristics to which the community can point with pride, but there are evidences of imbalance in the curriculum and "good learning situations" appear too infrequently, teachers and administrators were informed Wednesday.

A preliminary report from an outside team of evaluators also commended the community for supplying the teachers and physical facilities to meet the demands of an expanding enrollment that has almost doubled in the last 10 years.

Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the department of education at Texas Tech and coordinator of the school evaluation survey which had been under way throughout the first part of the week, stressed that the initial report was extremely tentative and may be revised in the final summation.

"Our remarks today are based on a hurried examination of the information we have collected," he said. "Closer study may result in complete changes in what we have to say."

The preliminary reports were given on three phases of the evaluation study—elementary schools, secondary schools, and administration and facilities. Division chairmen reporting were E. A. Brenholz, Andrews elementary principal, elementary study; Dr. Emmitt Smith, director of teacher education at West Texas State College, secondary schools; and Charles F. Mathews, Plainview superintendent, administration.

Both Dr. Smith and Brenholz called attention to the need for more extensive counseling and testing services, and for more emphasis on the fields of art and music. However, school authorities and teachers were commended for recognizing the needs in those categories.

Dr. Smith reported "evidence of imbalance in the total curriculum," with lack of emphasis in the esthetic subjects including art, music and drama which appear to be in a "struggle for existence."

Also, he said, there is little health instruction and as much as being invested in the athletic program.

And So They Were Married

Some people will do anything to draw a crowd. Here, Roland Schmidt places the ring on the finger of his bride, Francine Fary, before some 5,000 at the French port city of LaRoche. Holding on tightly at right is Claude Berjoe who performed the ceremony. Leaving nothing to chance, the couple had been married earlier in religious rites at LaRoche Cathedral.

New Revenue Figures Raise Budget Doubts

WASHINGTON (AP)—New revenue estimates by congressional tax experts cast substantial doubt today over President Eisenhower's hopes for a balanced budget next year.

Staff economists of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation predicted the government's income would fall more than a billion dollars short of the President's budget expectations.

Their annual estimates, which have been close to the mark in the past, put federal receipts for the year starting July 1 at only $75,800,000,000. Eisenhower had counted on $77,100,000,000 in revenues in submitting his budget to Congress last January.

If borne out, the revenue shrinkage itself would knock administration budget calculations into the red without taking into consideration the probability of increased spending by Congress. The legislators also have shown no inclination to vote higher gasoline taxes and postal rates which Eisenhower asked as part of his proposal for a balanced budget.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said even the staff estimate was optimistic.

The President to veto every bill involving excessive expenditures in crystal clear."

In a further statement prepared for the Senate today, Byrd contended that spending by Congress already is 12 to 24 per cent in excess of budget requests. He said rejection of administration requests for increases in tax revenues would have further serious effects on the budget for 1956 and succeeding years.

Administration experts said they're sticking with the budget estimates, at least for now.

However, one said they were doing this "with no real assurance" that downward revisions in revenue estimates won't have to be made later.

The next set of administration estimates is due in September. However, Treasury aides said the figures doubtless would be revised before then.

One expert said it is difficult now to judge even fiscal 1959 revenues because March and June are big months for corporation tax payments and April is the big month for individual income tax payments.

Further complications in the budget situation grew from indications by Senate Democrats that they may freeze a pending $1,375,000,000 bill long enough to charge it against the 1960 budget.

Eisenhower asked Congress to authorize this amount as an increase in the United States subscription to the International Monetary Fund, part of it in dollar notes and part in gold deposits. But he proposed to charge it against this year's deficit budget rather than the one he hopes to balance next year.

Killed In Crash

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—William R. Hollon of Dallas was killed when a truck smashed into a bridge railing south of here yesterday.

Methodical Thieves Loot Lake Cabins

Burglars, apparently provided with a truck and a pair of bolt cutters, raided five cabins on Lake J. B. Thomas shoreline sometime earlier this week. They used the bolt cutters to sever padlocks on doors; the truck to cart away the quantities of loot taken.

Fern Cox, Howard County chief deputy, investigated the break-ins at the request of Sid Reeder, Borden County sheriff, who was unable to get away from a court trial in progress.

Cox said that the lake cottages of A. M. Parker of Midland and

W. E. Williams, Big Spring, had been literally "cleaned" of bedding, fishing tackle, cooking utensils, light appliances and clothing.

Earl Hull's cabin had been ransacked but he believed only a television receiver was missing. W. D. Peters, Big Spring, and Jim Mitchell, also of Big Spring, suffered raids but extent of their loss was either small or not yet ascertained.

Cox said that the burglars apparently made their visit sometime Sunday or Monday. Other than for fingerprints no clues as to identity of the raiders was found. No one in the area reported any strangers or unusual activity.

The cabins are all located relatively near to each other.

U.S. May Buy Load Of Cotton

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam will buy outright around 80 per cent of the cotton crop this year.

The government seldom has handled as much as 50 per cent of a single crop.

This year it will pay growers one price and then offer it to buyers at lower prices—probably about 33 cents a pound or $16.50 a bale less than it pays. This year's crop may turn out to be around 13 million bales.

This is planned to carry out a new federal cotton program enacted by Congress last year.

This year farmers had a choice of abiding by their rigid allotments or of replanting them 40 per cent. Those who abide will get a higher support price.

About 80 per cent of this year's acreage will be in hands of growers sticking to their allotments. The Agriculture Department said yesterday it will offer to buy all this cotton at 30.40 cents a pound for middling seven-eighths, inch.

Overplanted allotments will be eligible for loans at prices averaging 24.70 cents a pound.

Cotton markets for the 1959 marketing year have adjusted to the lower supported cotton. Few if any private buyers are expected to compete against the government for the bulk of the crop.

In addition to its loss on resales, the government already has offered to pay exporters a subsidy of about $40 a bale on cotton sold for export.

Exports from the 1958 crop dipped sharply.

Federal Control In A-Attack Seen

AUSTIN (AP)—Atomic attack could lead to federal control at all levels of government unless prompt action is taken by state legislators, Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo says.

Krueger outlined four bills before the Senate State Affairs Committee yesterday which he said would keep state and local governments functioning after a massive enemy attack.

The measures went to a subcommittee for two weeks.

Alternates for the government agencies and lines of succession for officials would be required under the bills, which Krueger said were drawn up by the attorney general's office on the basis of recommendations from the council of state governments.

331st Practicing Rocketry In Gulf

The 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron began its practice rocketry missions at Brookley AFB, Ala., last week with some accurate shooting.

Capt. Roy Robinette made the first intercept on the first day of firing, March 12, and shot the target right off the low cable. Capt. Robinette, whose duties in the event of hostilities would be leading "A" Flight to the attack on hostile jet bombers, was not shooting at a target the size of a jet bomber, but he hit a target nine feet long and 18 inches in diameter.

Such skill is not restricted only to the older members of this Sabrejet outfit. Lt. Roger Rhodes, the newest pilot in the squadron, accomplished a duplication of Capt. Robinette's feat the next day. To date, all but three of the pilots here have recorded at least two rocket hits. This is an excellent record considering that extremely bad weather has kept the flying to a bare minimum.

The radar-equipped F-86L interceptors are vectored over the Gulf of Mexico to fire at the Del Mar targets being towed by a T-33 aircraft so that the expended rockets will fall harmlessly into the water. This requires that the firing area have good weather so there is no possibility of hitting any vessels straying into the range area.

Ninety maintenance men and a number of pilots left Webb AFB on March 9 for the trip to Brookley. They will remain in Alabama for approximately two more weeks to complete this phase of air defense training. The results of this trip will assure the squadron that all the interceptors are firing properly and will affirm that all pilots are proficient.

Jap Air Force Wars On Walrus

CHITOSE, Japan (AP)—Japan's air force today carried out its first combat mission since World War II—against invading walrus.

Four F86F Sabre Jets dived out of an overcast sky firing machine guns at the mammals gathered around tiny Tado-Iwa (Walrus Rock), in the Pacific off Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

There were no confirmed kills. The air force went into action after fishermen in the area claimed the walrus were wrecking their nets and eating the fish, with a loss of $50,000 worth of equipment last year.

The attacking pilots said 13 of the animals were on the rock when they went into action. At the firing they scattered into the sea, and a second flight found no targets. Another shoot is scheduled Friday.

Rockefeller Chalks Wins

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller sailed through his first legislative session as governor of New York looking more than ever like a potential candidate for president. After a slow start, he wound up with a glittering array of legislation that would look good in any White House hopeful's showcase. He showed that, when the going got rough, he could fight back to win. The Empire State's Legislature formally adjourned early today and the dominant feature of Rockefeller's first 84 days' in office was the "battle of the budget."

Rockefeller's record budget shocked conservative, economy-minded Republicans in the legislature. They rebelled and demanded deep cuts. The governor eventually agreed to a 40-million reduction. When the rebels demanded still more, he refused. The revolt broke. That was his major victory.

Hen Takes Over Brood Of Kittens

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—A hen has kicked out Blackie, the cat, and taken over raising Blackie's kittens.

Blackie had her five kittens in the henhouse. A white Leghorn promptly kicked her out.

The kittens have learned to answer the Leghorn's clucking. Mrs. Alton Terry, owner of the confused group, told the Dallas News the hen is making a good home for the kittens.

When the kittens leave the nest for a minute, other hens peck at them. The Leghorn flies into the offending chickens in a fit of rage. Blackie takes advantage of things like that to dash in and feed her youngsters.

Blackie shouldn't be surprised by such antics. She was one of the litter of five kittens the goofy Leghorn raised last year.

DEAR ABBY

FUNNY BUSINESS!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my husband (who is 61) started getting letters from lonely widows. According to him he only wanted their names for his mail order business. When I asked him how come these letters are coming to the house instead of his office he tells me he doesn't want his SECRETARY to know about it. Now I'm beginning to wonder what's going on between him and his secretary if he's worried about what SHE thinks, we've been married almost 40 years and he always seemed satisfied with me. Is there such a thing as "change of life" for men, Abby, and how can I tell if this is what's happening to my husband? WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A doctor should check your husband if you're worried about his physical condition, but the "change of life" in men usually occurs in men of any age who would like "a change." Keep your eye on him and give him enough affection to assure him that you care.

DEAR ABBY: In a letter signed PEGGY involving HOWIE'S "tatoo" you misspelled "TATTOO" three times. Three "t's" please!
MRS. G. L.

DEAR MRS. G. L.: Sorry, I goofed. My secretary goofed. My syndicate editor goofed, and about 400 newspaper copy-readers also goofed. Congratulations! Approximately fifty million people read that item and you are the only one who caught the error.

DEAR MISS ABBY: Although I am only eleven years old I want to tell you about the Civil War business. The North won all right, but the South won twice as many battles. Lee would never have surrendered if he had any supplies left. He was completely out of supplies and he didn't have any men left either to replace the worn-out ones. Even if you don't print this I want to tell you that the people of the South love Robert E. Lee more than any other person living or dead.

(A Proud Rebel, Birmingham, Ala.)

DEAR ABBY: For years I have been doing research on the Civil War. I've studied the battles from Antietam to Vicksburg. I can match fighting ancestor against fighting ancestor and family tragedy against family tragedy and I have come to the conclusion that we have been missing the point. The war which should have ended in a few short months dragged on for four bloody years because each side was valiant. That spirit still pervades the South today and will not let them acknowledge defeat. May I quote from a letter my grandfather wrote at Appomattox the day Lee surrendered? "We cheered and the Johnnies cheered. We were all glad to have it ended. Who won? Everybody lost." Perhaps we can take a cue from that.
DAMYANKEE

DEAR ABBY: Can a single girl wreck a home if it isn't really a "home" — merely a "peaceful co-existence"?
SINGLE GIRL
DEAR SINGLE: Let's not quibble about the meaning of words. A single girl CAN wreck a "peaceful co-existence" which amounts to the same thing.

Are you getting along with your parents? Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN EVERYWHERE LOOK FIRST TO THEIR NEWSPAPER FOR NEWS ABOUT BUDGET-BOOSTING VALUES...

Dad may look first to the sports page and Junior may want the comics — but survey after survey continues to prove that women everywhere look FIRST to the ADS in their NEWSpapers for fashion news, menu ideas, home fix-up tips, new product information, as well as "bargains"!

More than 90% of the women surveyed read all of the local ads in their community paper for food and fashion news... of this number, 50% read advertising by national firms, too. Most significant is that MOST of all American WOMEN DO MOST OF THE BUYING FOR THEIR FAMILIES AND HOMES!

No wonder advertisers invested twice as much money in newspapers last year as in any other medium.

Mr. Merchant... publish your NEWS in this paper regularly. Your ad in this NEWSpaper is like having a personal salesman in the home of each and every one of our readers.

45 Men Nabbed In Gaming Raid

PIERMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Agents of the State Investigation Commission and other officers bagged 45 well-heeled men in a gambling raid here Wednesday night.

Several expensive cars—including a Rolls Royce—were parked outside the raided building.

Commission Chairman Jacob Grumet said at his New York City home: "We cooperated with the Rockland County district attorney because we believe this [gambling] organization extends beyond Rockland County. This raid was part of our fight against organized crime."

Sheriff J. Henry Moch said: "This was nothing like the Apalachin convention."

Sixty-odd underworld figures and associates were picked up by state troopers who raided a mansion at Apalachin, N.Y. in the New York community. Nov. 14, 1957. All were released after questioning because, state police said, there were no grounds to arrest them. The State Investigation Commission and several other agencies are still trying to learn the purpose of that convention.

Alaskan Site To Be Historic Again

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — Sitka's Castle Hill, one of this huge state's most historic spots, will again become the scene of a history-making event July 4.

It was on Castle Hill on Oct. 18, 1867, that Czarist Russia formally signed over to the United States the vast, unexplored territory of Alaska for 7 million dollars.

Next July 4, state officials said the first 49-star flag in this newest state will be raised on Castle Hill.

Jet Fuel Fired By Lightning Bolt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 4,200,000-gallon tank containing jet fuel was ignited by lightning Wednesday night at an Air Force fuel depot, but the fire was put out with chemicals in 30 minutes. The lightning ignited fumes which surrounded the tank but the fire didn't get hot enough to set off the jet fuel, and damage was slight. Firemen from Parkville, Mo., used a built-in chemical fire-fighting unit at the depot, between Kansas City and Parkville.

Geneticists Study Keys To Cancer

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Albert Levan, famous Swedish geneticist, is collaborating on cancer research with Dr. John J. Biesele of the University of Texas. They are studying how changes in chromosomes cause cancerous tumors in man, the university said today. Biesele, a zoologist well known for his studies on genetic causes of cancer, and Levan started the research in 1957 at the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York.

Church Retains Orthodoxy, But Allows Varying Opinions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP)—Some unusual procedures—in an unusual atmosphere—went into the making of a new statement of Christian faith for the recently merged United Church of Christ. The new statement was born in a document-stacked room at the Airport Hotel in Pittsburgh, Pa. "It was a rather unorthodox setting," said the Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, of Philadelphia, co-president of the denomination. "But that room seemed to be sanctified by what went on there."

Lay men and women as well as churchmen had a hand in molding the 231-word document. The commission of 30 theologians, pastors and laymen, representing the Congregational, Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Churches, worked 15 months on it. It was completed Jan 23.

The statement, while affirming belief in Christ's divinity and in the Trinitarian concept of God, does not use the usual theological phraseology for these doctrines, nor does it mention the virgin birth. Dr. Wagner said the effort was to arrive at a statement that would include the essentials, but be "broad enough for persons of varying points of view." Made public Wednesday, the statement goes before the church's general synod meeting in Oberlin, Ohio, July 5-9 with recommendations for adoption as a "testimony and not a test" of membership.

First step in formulating it was a research assignment. Each commission member read a three-volume study covering the background of all the creeds drawn up in 2,000 years of Christianity.

Then came another novel twist. Each commission member drafted a statement and submitted it anonymously. "These were the subject of extensive discussion at a later meeting," said the Rev. Loring D. Chase, of New Canaan, Conn., commission secretary. "The draft upon draft upon draft followed."

Between writing sessions, participants joined in worship and prayer in the hotel room. Finally, four commission members were singled out to consolidate the thinking in the various proposals, and submit new individual drafts—also anonymously. Of these the Rev. Mr. Chase said, one stood out as superior.

Subsequently its authorship came out—the Rev. Dr. Roger L. Shinn, of Vanderbilt Divinity School, Nashville, Tenn.

Another version—by the Rev. Dr. Roger Hazelt, of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., also figured prominently in putting the statement into its finished form.

But the overall result was a mutual creation, the churchmen said.

"It is a vigorous statement," said the Rev. Dr. Fred Hoskins, church co-president. "All through it one hears the voices of the faithful through the ages chanting the historic confessions of the faith delivered once unto the saints." Widespread protestant interest has focused on the statement, since the merger has brought together the noncreedal, noncentralized Congregational Christian churches, and the Evangelical and Reformed Church which has used the historic creeds.

Some Congregational Christian opponents of the merger have maintained the union would mean imposing creeds on members, and infringing on congregational freedoms. Most of the classical Christian creeds—such as the Nicene Creed, the Augsburg Confession, the Westminster Confession—were produced at councils and ecclesiastical assemblies, called by emperors or parliaments.

Award Winner Faces Sentencing

HONOLULU (AP)—John Peelua, selected as outstanding young man of 1958 for the Hawaiian island for Molokai, will be sentenced April 14 for embezzling $200 from Molokai Community Hospital.

Peelua, 35, was a bookkeeper at the hospital. He pleaded no contest to the charge before Circuit Judge Cable A. Wirtz in Wailuku. Peelua had been indicted on five counts, but County Atty Harold L. Duponte asked the court to drop four of the counts "because the ends of justice had been served. A shortage of $16,000 in hospital funds had been reported from 1955 through 1958.

Senators Confirm Daniel Nominations

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate has confirmed Gov. Daniel's appointment of Frank Wilson as associate justice of the 10th Court of Civil Appeals in Waco.

Wilson is former head of the Texas Youth Council. Other confirmations by the Senate during an executive session yesterday included:

Board of Trustees of Municipal Retirement System: W. H. Whaley, Sweetwater. State Securities Board: Murice Bullock, Fort Worth.

Decline In Jobless Payments Reported

AUSTIN (AP)—Another decline in unemployment insurance payments has been reported by the Texas Employment Commission.

It said yesterday payments for the week ending March 19 totaled $1,230,985 compared to $1,250,631 the previous week. Claimants totaled 64,929 as compared to 68,567 for the week ending March 12, and 90,352 a year ago.

Beetle Invasion Under Control

AUSTIN (AP)—The infestation of the Khapra Beetle is confined to El Paso County in Texas and is under strict control, Agriculture Commissioner John White says. The tiny black pest attacks stored grain.

White issued a statement yesterday saying reports of inadequate control of the grain pest were "completely erroneous and without knowledge of the situation." He said there was no danger of the infestation spreading.

The statement quoted Gov. John Burroughs of New Mexico suggesting the possibility of barring Texas grain imports into southern New Mexico unless "immediate action" was taken by Texas against the beetle.

"Although this is the state's first Khapra Beetle infestation, White said, "the program is under complete control. Several years ago, New Mexico had the same problem and we cooperated with them even though we had no Khapra Beetle infestation of our own. We feel we deserve the same cooperation for our grain industry that we have shown our neighboring states."

FREDDIE WHITE WINS Auction Tonight Will Close 4-H, FFA Fat Stock Show

Auction Tonight Will Close 4-H, FFA Fat Stock Show

Freddie White, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. White, Silver Heels Addition, is the proud owner of the steer Wednesday adjudged grand champion of the 1959 edition of the Howard County 4-H and FFA Livestock show.

While the biggest audience in many years looked on the judge gave Freddie's magnificent light weight entry, which had already won championship in its own weight, the nod. The purple ribbon signifying the grand champion was handed to the happy young owner.

Del Roy Buchanan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Buchanan, Coahoma, long a top leader in the Howard County 4-H club organization, showed the reserve grand champion of the show.

White's prize winning steer weighed 976 pounds. It was his first grand championship although he has shown steers in each year's show since he became a 4-H club member.

Buchanan's heavyweight animal, which carried away the reserve grand championship weighs 1,000 pounds.

Two Laymen Will Speak At Easter Sunrise Services

Two laymen will speak briefly on the meaning of Easter at the traditional sunrise services set for 6:30 a.m. Sunday at the amphitheatre.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, is to speak on "Why I Believe in the Resurrection." Dan M. Krause, a senior vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, will be the other speaker. His topic is "What Easter Means to Me." Ira Schantz and Bill Dawes will be in charge of the music, and other laymen will take part in the program, leading the prayers and reading the scriptures.

The traditional free will offering at the service will go toward the high school Bible instruction fund. Mounting interest of students has sharply increased enrollment.

The service will be held in the First Baptist Church, in case weather is unfavorable.

There will be no pageant this year. The Civic Theatre, which has staged Easter pageants the last two years, recently voted against the project for this year because of a lack of funds.

TRIAL

had said earlier they would use the young gunman.

On rebuttal, the state called Capt. Isidro Trevino, Ranger John Wood and Investigator Bobby West. All denied emphatically that Armando had been threatened, struck or abused in any way.

Armando in his own testimony had said he made the statement after being struck by Trevino, threatened with "being dragged back on a car on a rope" and because Wood had said he would "break my neck."

The officers said that throughout the questioning of the defendant, the doors to the room where he was being interrogated were open and that a dozen or more officers, newspapermen and others were in and out of the room throughout the session. No abuse of any kind was offered Lopez, all declared.

Trevino said that with the arrest of Marquez on Jan. 16 in Midland as climax to a foiled hold-up, a statement was obtained from him implicating Armando in the Big Spring crimes. He said he called local officers and that Armando was brought to Midland.

Gil Jones took the stand as his own witness. He said that he was advised from Midland of the capture of Marquez and the statement that had been obtained from him early on the morning of Jan. 16. He drove to Midland with his investigator, West.

He said that Armando was brought to Midland for questioning and that the reason he ordered this action was that Trevino speaks Spanish. Armando is a Latin American, and Jones said that experience has shown that where a Latin American is concerned, more information is obtainable if the interrogation is carried on in this language.

he said, has often aided local police and other authorities in investigations.

Dr. Wallace said final report on the evaluation will be supplied to administrators and trustees as quickly as it is completed.

"No one here knows the answers to all these problems, but we're confident our trustees and administrators have the ability to find the best solutions for Big Spring," he said.

gram as in all other teaching supplies and materials.

Pupils in many cases are not being given enough opportunity to learn and to exercise their curiosity, and there are entirely too many failures, Dr. Smith declared.

He recommended provision of more teaching supplies and equipment, an expansion of the counseling and testing program to cut down on the number of pupils per counselor and to enable counselors to develop "a sound, four-year education plan for each student."

Dr. Smith also recommended that principal and building staffs be given a more definite role in curriculum development and that responsibilities of principals be defined more definitely.

He commended the school district for "many outstanding teachers and much superior leadership and superior facilities."

Mathews praised the district for its strides in attempting to keep pace with growing enrollment, paying particular attention to the new Colloid Junior High and sites for future schools. Problems he cited in connection with administration and facilities included need for better communication between administration, principals and maintenance personnel, need for more administrative space in most schools, need for additional clerical and secretarial assistance for principals and supervisors, and expansion of cafeteria service to all schools.

"We believe your administrative organization is basically sound, your staff is well qualified, and tenure is sound," Mathews said. "Your in-service education is one of the bright spots in the teaching program."

Bruboltz said there is a need for a better library exchange system in the elementary schools, an examination of music and art programs is in order, and the schools should strive for a better separation of the physically handicapped and mentally retarded pupils for the benefit of both groups. He also stressed the need for increasing emphasis on guidance and testing and for more attention to needs of the fast learner. He commended teacher freedom and said the committee recognized many desirable programs in the local schools.

Dr. Wallace said final report on the evaluation will be supplied to administrators and trustees as quickly as it is completed.

"No one here knows the answers to all these problems, but we're confident our trustees and administrators have the ability to find the best solutions for Big Spring," he said.

Setting It Straight

West German soldiers in camouflaged outfits bring a U. S.-made Honest John rocket into firing position during training at a West German army base at Eschweiler. The first operational West German rocket battalion comes into being April 1. This unit will be equipped with Honest John short-range ground-to-ground rockets, a number of which have been purchased from America.

Paisano Almost Chosen State Bird, Lost To Mockingbird

ROCKPORT (AP)—The roadrunner or paisano, a long-legged, ground dwelling cuckoo, is a raffish citizen of the border, a desert clown that can trot without half seeming to try, a good 20 miles an hour, and will race anything from a horned toad to a hotrod.

He looks as if he had been assembled from spare parts by a committee. Imagine, if you can, a long striped snake on two legs, with feather duster on his head and another one behind. He is about 18 inches tall, with a tail as long as his body, a ridiculous crest, stubby wings that he rarely uses, a mocking blue eye circled with a yellow ring, and eyelashes a movie starlet might envy.

Top this off with a cocky, self-assured air, and an uninhibited willingness to meet any situation head on, and you have the paisano, which the Texas Folklore Society has designated as its emblem, and which might well be the state bird of Texas had not sentimentalists long ago settled on the mockingbird.

At first glance a roadrunner appears tail-heavy, but only this ruder depends some of his most amazing stunts. He uses it and his wings just as a pilot uses his elevators and stabilizers.

Under full steam after a dodging lizard, the paisano will throw out a wing and dodge as quickly as a reptile. Another dodge, a flirt of his tail, and he is off in an entirely new direction without any lessening of speed, plunging headlong into a cactus clump only to emerge whacking his limp victim against the ground before swallowing it.

Rattlesnakes are the paisano's meat, but so are other snakes, lizards, tarantulas, horned toads, grasshoppers, sparrows, gophers, mice and rats.

Working in pairs, as the birds sometimes do, they can account for animals which to the casual eye appear well able to take care of themselves.

A single roadrunner is enough to account for a rattler up to two or three feet long. The bird, with wings extended until their tips drag, dashes toward the snake, trying to get in a blow with its beak at the base of the brain.

Pass after pass is made at the reptile, which strikes repeatedly, sometimes hitting the feathers of the wings, until at last, bruised and exhausted by blows from the paisano's bill, the snake becomes slower and slower, and the bird is able to reach it with a last fatal peck.

In the spring, the paisano's thoughts turn to love, and he may perch in any tree or tall cactus, and there, pointing his bill downwards until its tip almost touches his toes, coos in his most seductive tones, sometimes for an hour or more.

"Coo-coo-coo," he cries. "Ooo-oo-oo-oo" in a whiskey bass, his head rising a little with each syllable until at last his beak points skywards and his love song dies in a throaty murmur.

Evidently it produces the desired result, for there are still plenty of little paisanos.

Money No Help

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Less than two weeks ago Romeo Giacini, a 49-year-old timber dealer, and a friend won $394,000 on a football pool. Giacini died early today of peritonitis after an emergency appendectomy.

Water Trap Aids Conservation Work

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—J. A. Keetch is advocating what he calls the water trap method of water conservation.

Keetch's method is simple—just dig a hole in a stream bed. When the stream dries up, as most of them do at times in Texas, sufficient water will remain in the hole for irrigation or stock water.

He is seeking state support for his plan.

Keetch says his test trap on Agua Dulce Creek near here has proven his plan practical.

At a cost of $500 he dug a trench in the then-dry bed of the creek more than a year and a half ago. The trap is 15 feet deep, 15 feet wide and 200 feet long.

Keetch said some experts predicted the hole would fill up with silt.

His trap now holds five acre feet of water, enough to irrigate 10 acres two inches deep.

But during 18 months heavy rainfall and swift flow, only one foot of silt collected at the bottom of the trap. At this rate it would take about 15 years to completely fill the hole with silt.

"I believe that if we had been irrigating, a pump would have pulled a lot of silt out of the water," Keetch said.

He cites several advantages other than the low cost.

"I figure that even in the hottest weather, evaporation in my trap will amount to only 15 per cent of the top foot of surface water compared to 85 per cent where the water is impounded behind a large dam."

He also points out the water does not cover other usable land, provides a local source for irrigation and could control floods if enough were constructed.

Watched closely during the test period was damage done to the trap walls by the moving water. Keetch found that steep banks were likely to crumble more easily but might stand up better in soils differing from those in Agua Dulce Creek.

If cattle are to be watered from the trap, one side of the hole must be sloping.

Keetch is owner of a furniture company here. The trap was placed on the McNair farm.

He has kept detailed notes and many feet of film for presentation to the State Board of Water Engineers.

Officials Approve Women's Clothing

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Women can wear short shorts, tight-fitting dungarees or tordore pants on the Atlantic City boardwalk, says the City Commission.

The Women's Chamber of Commerce had complained that the dress required on the boardwalk wasn't conservative enough.

The commission ruled Tuesday that casual dress has been accepted throughout the country and the city will just have to go along.

MOSCOW (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has accepted an invitation to visit the Soviet Union this summer. Exact dates of his visit were not announced.

Uncover Old Killing

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Police broke up a housebreaking ring Wednesday and at the same time discovered a 27-year-old killing. One of the housebreakers confessed to killing a friend in a drunken brawl in 1932 and hiding the body beneath the tile floor of the victim's kitchen. Police went to the house and found the skeleton.

ABC RELAYS PRELIMS SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Athletes from all over Texas converge upon Big Spring Friday for the 14th annual American Business Relays, year in and year out the biggest of the city's sports shows.

The two-day meet will be run in three divisions—high school, junior college and university. High school relays will be run in the afternoon, with preliminary relays in the morning. Preliminary relays in the afternoon will be run at 9 a. m. Saturday while the finals on all levels begin hearing the starting gun at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Prelims in the JP and university divisions get started at 9 a. m. Saturday while the finals on all levels begin hearing the starting gun at 1 p. m. Saturday.

If the weather is good, records could fall wholesale in all three divisions, although the high school division isn't as strong or as deep as it has been.

Midland looks as the favorite among the high schools but can expect strong competition from such teams as Odessa and Big Spring.

As of yesterday, 14 high schools had sent in registrations. In addition to the aforementioned, they are Knott, Amarillo High, Andrews (which will enter the eight-man mile relay race only), Lamesa, Colorado City, Westbrook, Seminole, Amarillo-Tascosa, Coahoma and Spur.

Tech Pole Vaulter

James Leonard, 150-pound junior from Abilene, will represent Texas Tech as a pole vaulter in the ABC Relays here this week-end. Leonard's best leap last year was 13 feet 1 1/2 inches. He tied for first place in that event in the Class AA State Meet in 1956. He's a junior.

HE WANTS SUGAR RAY

Moore Rematched With Canadian

MONTREAL (AP)—O' Archie Moore still wants to fight Sugar Ray Robinson but he's signed for a rematch of his exciting light heavyweight title bout with Yvon Durelle because "a bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

"My ultimate aim is to fight Robinson," said Moore after his agreement to the Durelle rematch was announced by promoter Eddie Quinn. "The only thing is Robinson (the middleweight champion) did all the negotiating. I didn't do any and I didn't authorize anyone to negotiate for me. A bird in the hand is worth 20 in the bush."

Quinn, who promoted the thrilling first Moore-Durelle tussle last Dec. 10 in the Montreal Forum, said the rematch would be held July 15 in the Montreal Royals baseball park, which seats about 28,000 for boxing. The bout will be televised nationally in the United States by ABC as part of its Wednesday night series.

Moore reportedly has been guaranteed $175,000 or 40 per cent of the gate estimated at $200,000 plus an expected additional $100,000 from television and radio fees. Durelle has been guaranteed $15,000 or 20 per cent.

Moore was floored four times before rallying to stop Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in the 11th round of the first bout. His sensational victory won Archie the Edward J. Neil award as fighter of the year and the National Boxing Ass'n's boxer of the year honor. Ring Magazine named it the top fight of the year.

"If Archie wins this one," his manager, Doc Kearns, said, "he may fight Robinson in September."

River Team Rolls In State Tourney

Last weekend a team sponsored by River Funeral Home journeyed to Galveston to bowl in the women's 24th state bowling tournament. Team event was rolled on Friday night. Members were Mrs. Vera Dozier, Mrs. Dr. Kain, team captain; Mrs. Audrey Piper, and Mrs. Evelyn Wilson all of Big Spring. Mrs. Gloria Dennis, Del Rio, substituted as the fifth member.

Doubles event was rolled on Sunday night. Mrs. Evelyn Wilson and Mrs. Vera Dozier were paired in doubles and Mrs. Audrey Piper and Dot Kain were partners.

A record entry of over 700 teams makes this the biggest tournament ever. It commenced February 28 and will end April 19.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Two days removed, Big Spring's ABC Relays turns up with a brand new Race of the Century here—the duel between ACC's Bill Woodhouse and Sidney Garton of East Texas State College.

Woodhouse was clocked in 9.4 at San Angelo last weekend. Garton was caught in the same time in the West Texas Relays at Odessa, so both boys were under the ABC record of 9.5, established by Orlando Hazel of Oklahoma State University two years ago.

Pitted against each other, they might do even better here. Last year's 100-yard dash between Bobby Morrow and Dave Sime gained a lot of newspaper space around the nation but Sime was clocked in the ordinary time (for two such headliners) of 9.6 in winning the sprint.

Clifton McNeely, the basketball coach who recently guided his Pampa Harvesters to their second straight Class AAAA state basketball championship, was showered with $2,125 in savings bonds by grateful fans.

Santa Clara University in California will probably resume football this fall on a limited scale. The school hasn't had a football team since 1932, when the cost of fielding a team became prohibitive.

Mel Steiner, who played baseball for the Big Spring WT-NM baseball league team prior to World War II, will return as an umpire in the Pacific Coast League this season.

Wes Fesler, coach of the Ohio State football team that went to the Rose Bowl in 1950, is now co-manager of the Minneapolis division of a nationwide investment firm, Investors Diversified Services.

Have you heard the story about the woman who went to the psychiatrist on behalf of her husband:

"He thinks he's a horse," she told the doc... "goes around every day on all fours."

The psychiatrist expressed sympathy and said he believed he could help, but added:

"I'm expensive... I want to be honest with you. It'll cost you $10,000 for my services. Can you afford it?"

"Oh, sure," replied the lady, "he won his last two races at Hialeah."

Gil Guerra, one-time Big Spring mound ace (a record of 26 victories here in 1950), recently was released by the Mexico City Reds, Mexican league but caught on with Veracruz.

Gil, plagued by arm trouble since he departed here, has about reached the end of the baseball trail.

Arnie Sowell, a specialist in the half mile race while attending the University of Pittsburgh, is now a lieutenant in the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Apparently, the Ohio State University track and field team needed the three track meets in Texas—the WT Relays at Odessa, Abilene's show today and the ABC Relays here Saturday—as much as the cinder carnivals needed a 'name' school like OSU.

Glenn Davis, the Buckeyes' running star, is below peak form and felt he could faster attain the desired shape with some outdoor running.

He wasn't spectacular at Odessa and he won't be today at Abilene but he could be competing on his own by the time the ABC Relays take place.

Billy Engle, a member of the Big Spring High School track and field team, has his coach, Harold Bentley, puzzled.

Engle shows great form in workouts and is one of the most faithful trainers Bentley has. Invariably, he seems to work harder than anyone else in camp.

Engle tends to "tie up" in meets, however, and rarely places in any event.

Bentley thinks Billy's biggest job is to tell the boy on himself. "Mind over matter," is the way the coach puts it. "In a track sense, he's got to learn to discipline himself and make his body do what he wants it to do."

Defensive Work Pays Dividends

By GORDON BEARD

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"I don't want you to be tough under the backboards"—especially on defense.

That was the pep talk given by Coach Hank Iba to his West players before they whipped the East 80-68 in a college all-star basketball game Wednesday night.

In all-star games such as this," the veteran Oklahoma State coach said, "I've noticed that the first 10 minutes are extremely important. If you show the other fellow who's boss early in the game, you may shake him up enough to influence the decision."

The East squad under Coach Bud Millikan of Maryland boasted five of the nation's 16 leading rebounders — although both 10-player teams averaged about 6-foot-5.

But the West took charge early as Iba suggested, limiting the East to one or two shots on most sorties down the court.

The West zoomed into a 22-9 lead in the first seven minutes, paced by Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame, All-America Bob Boozer of Kansas State and Northwestern's Joe Ruklick.

The East rallied under Lou Puccio of N.C. State and Alan Seiden of St. John's (N.Y.), cutting the deficit to 49-38 by halftime and to 57-53 with 12 minutes remaining in the game.

Then the East comeback fizzled under closer guarding by the West.

Hawkins led both teams with 18 points and was voted the West's most valuable player by the press. Boozer had 16 points and Ruklick 13.

All America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State topped the East with 15, followed by Seiden and Cal Ramsey of NYU with 12 apiece. The team's most valuable player award went to Puccio, who pleased the crowd with his passes and ballhandling.

Three Are Tied In Houston Play

HOUSTON (AP)—Tony Marimon of Houston, Sam Love of LSU and Duff Lawrence of Arizona State of Tempe led the Southwestern Interscholastic Golf Tournament entering its second round today.

They shot par 72 yesterday to share medalist honors in the opening 18 holes.

Houston, the NCAA champion and defending champion here, led in team medal and best four-ball competition Oklahoma State topped in two-ball.

The Houston team of Marimon, Jacky Cupit, Richard Crawford and Bob Pratt shot 14-over-par 302 over the 6,801-yard Pine Forest country club course to take a six-stroke lead over LSU and Oklahoma State in team medal play.

Texas A&M was fourth with 309, Memphis State had 316; TCU, North Texas and New Mexico 317; Arizona State and Texas Tech 319; Arkansas 321, Rice 325, Baylor 326 and SMU and Oklahoma 329.

New York Golden Glovers Win Intercity Matches

CHICAGO (AP)—New York won an unprecedented second straight intercity Golden Gloves team title over Chicago Wednesday night, but the individual spotlight was turned on the Windy City's Cassius Clay.

Clay, a 17-year-old high school student from Louisville, Ky., proved he was quite advanced for his age as a sharp cornered puncher in taking a three-round decision over New York's light-heavyweight Tony Madigan.

Madigan, at 29, is a rough, mauling type of fighter who hails from Sydney, Australia. He is the Aussie amateur champ as well as the British Empire's and had lost only 5 of 99 bouts before running into Clay.

Madigan, who now lives in Rye, N.Y., pressed the fight all the way, but Clay's pointed combinations kept rocking him.

The Chicago Stadium crowd of 7,261 gave the battle a fine ovation. It was one of three televised nationally.

New York took the other two TV bouts in piling up a 10-6 triumph over Chicago. New York won last year 12-4. Chicago, however, still leads the rivalry 15-9 with 8 draws.

In other TV bouts, New York's Angel Morales, 19, defeated Gil Yanez, Toledo high school graduate, in the 112-pound division, and the Easterner's Ossie Marciano, 21-year-old shipping clerk, flashed too much punching power for Don Sargent, Minneapolis truck driver, to win the welterweight crown.

New York won both the alternate and championship divisions in the show's closing heavyweight bouts to clinch the team title.

One point is awarded for each victory in the 16-fight program.

Cougar Star

One of the leading sprinters entered in the American Business Club Relays here Saturday is Jack Parrington (above) of the University of Houston, who represented Canada in the 1956 Olympic Games at Melbourne, Australia.

Steers Seek Seventh Win In 4 P.M. Game

The Big Spring Steers return to the battle pits at 4 p.m. here today to try and improve upon a 6-1 won-lost record.

The Bovines take on Colorado City, a school that is resuming baseball for the first time in several years.

The Longhorns have already played twice this week and have still another contest carded after today's outing—a 1 p.m. engagement Friday with El Paso Augster here.

Jerry Phillips, who has been out with an injury, may get the starting call today. He won his only start.

In assignments earlier this week, the Longhorns blew a 9-1 verdict to Lubbock Monterey but came back the next day to sprint past Pecos, 9-2.

In addition to two victories over Pecos, the locals have defeated Tom S. Lubbock, Lamesa and Snyder on two occasions.

Colorado City lost to a good Robert Lee team Tuesday, 6-2.

If Phillips goes today, Coach Roy Baird is apt to fall back upon Chubby Moser as his pitcher Friday. Moser has two wins to his credit and has appeared in relief on other occasions.

Baird got a route-going job out of Kenny Johnson Tuesday. Johnson hurled a five-hitter and was never in trouble.

If the Steers stack up a big lead today, Baird will probably give his substitutes a workout in the late innings, as he did against Pecos.

Coach of the Colorado City team is R. M. Gurley.

LONDON COULD LOSE LICENSE

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses—the British Board of Boxing Control—banned Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21. They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said: "The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

Observed national boxing commissioner Abe Greene: "We have a very friendly arrangement and understanding with the BBBC but we would want to know more about the circumstances which would prompt such a preemptory stand before we would concur."

Two members of the Nevada Boxing Commission also said they would permit the fight "unless we get a request from the BBBC giving a good reason for the ban and a transcript of the hearing at which he was banned."

The controversy stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money—$140,000.

"I've got a big pay day coming ($75,000) and a chance to win the world title," the pugacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

The BBBC said London probably will lose his license to fight in Britain if he defies them.

"It is now up to American authorities to decide whether they will permit an unauthorized British boxer to fight Patterson," said BBBC President J. Onslow Fane.

U.S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautious.

Four Champs Compete Today

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Four NCAA champions are among the stars of track and field to be seen here today in a six-college meet featuring Kansas and Ohio State.

Glenn Davis of Ohio State, who set a world's record in the 440-yard dash with 45.7, heads the field. Ernie Shelby of Kansas, who won the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet 5 1/4 inches; teammate Charlie Tidwell, who took the 220-yard hurdle in 22.7, and Don Stewart, high jump champ at 6 feet 9 1/4 from Southern Methodist, are the other spotlighted athletes.

Directors of the meet are looking for some top performances from among the squads of Kansas, Ohio State, Houston, SMU, Abilene Christian and Baylor.

It will be a warmup for the ABC relays at Big Spring, Tex., Saturday for Ohio State, Houston, Baylor, SMU and Abilene Christian.

Kansas' well-balanced squad is favored to win the meet but the opposition should be strong from Ohio State, Houston and Abilene Christian.

SWC Barely Ahead In Baseball Play

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference is barely ahead in intercollegiate baseball.

Rice beat Minnesota 11-6 Wednesday to give the conference a 5-4 bulge against outside foes.

Thursday Rice plays Minnesota at Houston again while Texas A&M and Brooke Medical Center open a two-game series at San Antonio.

Rice pounded 10 hits including Lynn Stallings' homer which touched off a four-run blast in the sixth inning when the Owls salted away the game.

Coach of the Colorado City team is R. M. Gurley.

The banquet is scheduled to be held in the basement of the Wesley Methodist Church, starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 6.

Seating space in the church basement is limited but some tickets are being offered to the public, at $2 a copy. Those who plan to go can purchase them at Squeaky Thompson's Furniture Store.

Texas Univ. Choir Makes 'Solid Hit'

In three performances Wednesday, the University of Texas at Dallas choir achieved a solid standing here.

Under the direction of Morris J. Beachy, who was every bit as personable as his young vocalists, the choir proved to be one of the most accomplished units to visit here in quite some time.

The repertoire used before Runnels Junior High, the Downtown Lions Club, and then the general faculty meeting assembled for the evaluation summary, ranged from Bach and Schumann to Stephen Foster and lively folk songs.

Mr. Beachy had the group under perfect control, and he drew out the rich and delicate tones with all the deftness of a master organist.

His choir of 48 voices was well balanced, and the soprano section was brilliant. For a college group, the tenors, too, were out of the ordinary, and support from the altos and basses was so smooth that the passages had necessary depth without over-emphasis.

One striking thing about the choir was the perfect diction of the members—even in the numbers which required staccato enunciation along with an uninhibited vivacity.

On every hand the choir received vigorous applause, and with good reason. This is the first time that a capella choir has gone on tour for the university in many years. The appearance here certainly spoke well for the university's music program. —J.P.

Dummy Capsules Tested Over Ocean

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP)—Dummy space capsules the size of those that someday may carry American spacemen into orbit have been dropped into the ocean from high-flying planes and recovered intact, scientists reported today.

The tapered, cone-like capsules weighed more than a ton. After they dropped in free fall for set distances, parachutes opened to slow the capsules' descent as they plummeted toward the ocean.

Next step in the space research program: development of materials to absorb the shock of landings on ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today reported significant progress in air drops, escape techniques, impact tests, and wind tunnel and flight studies of model capsules.

The early research is part of Project Mercury, the program to place a man in orbit around the earth. So far, its research has provided valuable information toward developing a safe and reliable manned satellite capsule, NASA said.

Space scientists have been experimenting at Wallops Island, Va., on the firing of escape rockets that would permit a man to get out of a capsule high enough in the air for a parachute to open—if trouble should develop soon after launching.

Wind tunnel tests are planned of a space capsule on top of a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

NASA has been paring down a list of 110 potential Mercury astronauts, or spacemen. Early next month it will make public the first team of less than a dozen volunteers.

The agency disclosed today that its scientists last summer developed methods for dropping a full scale model capsule from an Air Force C130 Hercules transport.

In the tests over land, capsules were pushed out of C130s almost 10 miles above the earth. They fell into target areas in the Army's Fort Bragg, N.C., "Salerno" and "Normandy" drop zones, and on a deserted airfield at West Point, Va.

In the ocean drops, two T33 jet trainers were used as chase planes to photograph the capsules in free fall.

Two Marine helicopters and an NASA crash rescue boat rushed to the impact point. One helicopter retrieved the capsule by hooking a line into the test model.

Chiang Promises Tibetan Freedom

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek today offered the Tibetans independence if his Nationalist government ever regains control of the Chinese mainland and if the Tibetans still want to be free then.

Chiang's message to the people of Tibet was the first offer by a Chinese government of Tibetan independence since the 18th century. The Chinese have claimed sovereignty over the vast Himalayan plateau, although from Sun Yat-sen's revolution in 1912 until the Communist invasion of Tibet in 1950 Chinese control existed in name only.

Chiang's promise obviously was intended as a spur to the Tibetans to keep up their revolt against the Communists. Fighting between Tibetans and Red troops broke out in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, March 20. This apparently has ended, with the Communists still in control in the capital, but reports have filtered to India and Taipei that the rebellion is continuing in the countryside.

Wild Storms Race Ahead Of Front

By The Associated Press
Wild storms containing tornadoes, snow, hail and rain stampeded across Texas Wednesday ahead of a norther.

A terrible gust, believed by some witnesses to have been a tornado, smashed through the Cotton Mill community on the south edge of Denison Wednesday night, injuring Mrs. Montora Armour, 60.

The wind caused widespread damage in the community of about 1,000.

Southwest and south of Denison the wind damaged about a dozen roofs, tore off some porches, damaged barns and uprooted trees. Heavy rain and scattered hail fell in the area.

Three tornadoes bracketed Tulla in the Panhandle, but no damage was reported. Another funnel was sighted northeast of Gainesville, but it apparently didn't touch down.

Snow dotted the Panhandle Wednesday night but quit Thursday as skies cleared.

Temperatures fell well below freezing in the upper Panhandle early Thursday.

Two inches of snow covered the ground at Texline late Wednesday and snow continued at Dalhart until early Thursday. Amarillo had hail, snow and rain early Wednesday, but skies cleared there Wednesday night.

Early Thursday skies were clear over the western half of the state but cloudy along the eastern border of Texas and over the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Hailstones half an inch in diameter, .82 of an inch of rain and winds up to 70 miles an hour lashed Bridgeport late Wednesday.

The storm moved southeast across North Central Texas, lashing Boyd and parts of Fort Worth and Dallas with rain and hail.

High winds at Fort Worth toppled two old water tanks, leaving 55 homes in the west part of the city without water. A tree was blown across a road and electrical service was disrupted in several sections of the city. One resident reported a strange carport sliced down from the sky into his yard.

The squall line moved on across East Texas and out of the state with showers falling at a number of points, but the hail and high winds apparently diminished.

Hail fell at Tulla and Silvertown earlier in the day Wednesday. Clarendon had rain and Perryton and Gruver rain and snow.

Dig For Water In Gold-Hunting Plan

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Dig for water in rocks before you dig for gold? That would make the prospectors of 1849 shake their heads in disbelief.

But C.L. Craig and Doyle Saul know from experience on the dry South Plains of water can be found underground.

That is why they have faith in Stephen Reiss, a California geologist with a reputation for finding fissure water in rocks, to locate the water they need to work the placer gold deposit lease they own near Truth or Consequences, N.M.

Craig, oil agent and owner of oil interests, Saul, rancher and quarterhorse breeder, and Paul Daugherty of Truth or Consequences obtained the lease on 1,200 acres of land on Lake Caballó, 23 miles south of Truth or Consequences last November.

"There is no doubt about the gold being there," said Craig as he displayed a pound of yellow, shiny placer dust and nuggets. "It is the water to wash it out that's got us buffaloed right now."

He said mint records show that approximately $2,000,000 worth of gold has been taken from the lease area since 1901.

With sluices and plenty of water he and his associates believe they can produce much more gold.

For weeks Craig, Reiss and George McKenzie, an El Paso mining engineer, have been collecting technical data and exploring mining methods on the lease.

Reiss has staked two water well locations upgrade, where water will flow by gravity to the spots the owners picked as desirable for gold sluicing. One is now being drilled with the expectation of hitting water at 350 feet.

"I am skeptical about the promised water supply," said Craig, "but the reputation and skill of Mr. Reiss confirms faith to the extent that we've paid him for his services and have started drilling for water in the rock."

Craig said that surface deposits have an assayed yield of 67 cents worth of gold per cubic yard and with 20 feet of overburden removed the run is $2.67 per cubic yard.

"It is natural to expect more gold in the gravel and sands," he said.

John B. Cowden Services Set

DALLAS (AP)—Services will be held tomorrow for John B. Cowden, 67, a prominent Texas and Oklahoma independent oil operator.

Cowden died yesterday in a Dallas hospital after a brief illness. He formed the Clark and Cowden Oil Co. in 1919 with the late R.L. Clark in Duncan, Okla., and played an active part in the oil booms of southern Oklahoma, East Texas and Scurry County in West Texas.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1959 SEC. B

Public Housing Facilities In 3 Cities Seen By Local Group

By DON HENRY

Although many questions remained unanswered, a tour of three low-rent, federally financed housing projects provided a stack of information this week for the City Commission.

The tour by commissioners, the city manager, and a representative of the Civic Improvement League included stops at Brownwood, Cisco and Sweetwater. There are 100 units in Sweetwater, 52 in Cisco, and 234 in Brownwood.

Generally the information received was favorable, but only in Sweetwater did the men talk with anyone except project directors.

(The Improvement League has asked the city to go into a low-rent housing project for families in low-income brackets. Money for this project is provided by the federal government but control is in the hands of a local housing authority.)

C. E. Lambert, manager of the Sweetwater project, has 76 units occupied by whites, 12 by Negroes, and 12 by Latin Americans. Negro and Latin units are located separate from the others. At Cisco, R. A. Bearman reported 5 units for whites and two for Negroes in another area.

The Brownwood breakdown is 204 for whites, 16 Latins and 14 for Negroes. This project is in four parts of town, and 84 white units were constructed in 1941 as a war housing district—similar to Ellis Homes.

The Sweetwater project was opened in 1952 at a total cost—of $830,000. Each unit in all projects had refrigerators, stoves, and heating systems installed. The Cisco project, finished in 1951 and costing $454,000, has about 35 per cent old age pensioners, said Bearman, and this figure is about the same in the other districts.

None of the projects has many vacancies for long, although the turnover is great. Tenants pay on basis of their salary and are allowed salary increases up to a point without being evicted. At Sweetwater, a four-member family can move in if its income doesn't exceed $2,700 and the family may have wage advances to $3,375 before it must leave.

These rates vary from project to project, and utility bills are included in the rent. Surcharges are added for electricity.

Lambert said few if any slums were cleared at Sweetwater as a result of the housing project. (This is one of the reasons the local Improvement League is asking for the program here.) Nor did it appear that the surrounding district had been upgraded by the project, although the project is being kept in good condition.

All managers said very little fire damage is sustained, nor is damage from lack of care very large. Occasionally families are evicted for not caring for apartments, failure to pay rent, or other reasons, but the cases are few, managers claim.

Each family has a certain area of yard to maintain with equipment furnished by the housing authority. Most maintenance for the units at Cisco is due to mistreatment during the first three years of occupancy, said Bearman, and the others. He has a housing manager, clerk, an accountant, and three maintenance men. In the other two towns, only a manager, clerk, and maintenance man are needed.

Newby makes an annual survey of income to determine if anyone is receiving more salary than is allowed. In addition to old age pensioners, Newby has several units occupied by college students.

It was learned that service men have first preference on housing, veterans next, and then old people. Also, none of the three cities had regulations requiring prior residence in the city, but this matter is determined by the local housing authorities.

From talking to the managers, the commissioners found that the burden of maintaining a good project is on the shoulders of the director. If he has tenants who respect him and follow his directions, the program should run smoothly. They also learned that there is a certain amount of social work involved in maintaining good relations within the project.

Naturally, the comments from the directors was mainly favorable, but so was the comment from citizens questioned at Sweetwater.

W. S. Chennault, who was mayor when the original housing board was appointed, said he has not heard much criticism toward the project. He said that a few rental owners who had sub-standard housing complained, but it had caused them to make improvements to their property in some instances.

Tom Marsh, vice president of the Sweetwater National Bank, said he thought the city was generally well pleased with the housing project. He said that Sweetwater never has had a surplus of rental houses.

A lumberman said he didn't think home builders were very much against the project. He was personally opposed to all forms of federal aid, however, he said.

Several questions remain to be answered by the commission before making a decision on the matter, but the tour Monday answered many of them.

Strippers Denied Expression Liberty

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The bumps and grinds of stripping do not fall under constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression, says the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

The court turned down Wednesday an appeal of two Philadelphia bar owners, whose liquor licenses were suspended on charges of permitting lewd entertainment and allowing entertainers to associate with customers.

The State Liquor Control Board suspended the Lehigh Casino's liquor license for 60 days and that of the Tahiti Bar for 40.

The owners claimed the liquor enforcement agents had inter-ferred with the performer's rights of free speech, expression and association.

Rental Units On Display

These three units were seen by members of the group making the tour of rental projects. At the top is part of the Sweetwater project, in the center a duplex at Cisco, and the two-story apartment unit is in Brownwood. Brownwood also has one-story units.

Keeping The Figure

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Before, After Baby, Dieting Is Important

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—"Six weeks after my baby was born I was back at work," Barbara Bestar told me. "Even if I didn't have a career I would try to get my figure back. Every husband is pleased to have an attractive wife, and being a mother is no excuse for losing one's figure."

"When I became pregnant I thought that was the time to indulge myself, and the first three months I ate everything I wanted—even hot-fudge sundaes. I gained nine pounds. My doctor put me on a diet and told me I couldn't gain more than six pounds in the next three months. I had to stay on 1,000 calories a day."

"How did you spend your calories?" I asked.

"For breakfast I had black coffee, a soft-boiled egg, one thin slice of whole wheat toast, two strips of crisp bacon and a glass of skim milk."

"For lunch I had cottage cheese or a tossed green salad with lemon dressing, a cup of consommé and an apple."

"For dinner I had meat or chicken or fish and two vegetables with very little butter, skim milk and fresh fruit. I also took vitamins that the doctor gave me."

"Did you get hungry?" I wanted to know.

"I kept watermelon, radishes, carrot sticks, celery and fresh fruit in my ice box. These aren't fattening and I nibbled on them between meals. I never once broke my diet. I'm so thankful for my will power, because after the baby was born I didn't have to diet.

"I had a wonderful doctor, who didn't believe in pampering his patients. Two days after the baby was born I was doing exercises three times a day. A month later I was doing set-ups and really had tone back in my muscles."

"I do a lot of westerns, and I like to ride," Barbara confided. "I think it helped my body to be in such good condition before I got pregnant. But the most important thing in keeping a youthful figure is the desire not to lose it. Having a doctor who doesn't let the prospective mother overeat—and cooperating with him is terribly important."

Eggs, Pork Continue To Be Best Buys For The Weekend

Eggs, pork, chicken, potatoes, cabbage, lettuce and celery are the top food buys in Texas this week.

An abundant supply of avocados, bananas, wineapp and large-size delicious apples, Texas grapefruit, California oranges, a variety of greens and tomatoes also are reasonably priced the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

Best-grade Delicious apples are some higher than a week ago. Old-potatoes are lower. New potatoes are edging lower. Smaller lettuce heads are being featured at special prices and bananas are a shade lower.

Spring egg production is running high and prices to producers dipped even more during the past week. Pork and chicken supplies also continue large and prices at retail reflect the abundance.

Vegetables that are lower than last week, but still fairly high, include Florida corn and eggplant, cucumbers, white onions from Mexico and peppers. Most Florida vegetable shipments are increasing.

Supplies of Mexican cantaloupes and strawberries from Louisiana and South Texas are becoming more liberal at many markets. Louisiana strawberries can be expected in volume about April 1.

Desserts Barely Have A Chance To Get Cold At The Beckhams'

Desserts fairly dissolve at the Fred Beckham home, 1107 Sycamore. So says Mrs. Beckham, who makes it her business to cook to please her husband and their son, James. Beckham is an experienced cook, himself.

Mincemeat Custard Pie has no chance to linger, and usually it is gone before the heat has completely left the pie. Because it is at its best when served warm, it is an easy pie to make, claims Mrs. Beckham, and she shares the recipe here.

Another favorite is Pound Cake. Both desserts Mrs. Beckham can stir up quickly and bake while she is giving piano lessons to her pupils.

Music is a genuine interest of Mrs. Beckham. She is a past president of the Music Study Club, which she serves this year as program chairman. She is pianist for the Questers Class at First Methodist Church, and she retains membership in the Cosmo chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

With her husband, she shares active interest in James's Boy Scouting. The 12-year-old is a sixth grader at Boydston, and every day his mother packs a surprise into his lunch box.

Here are two of them:
MINCEMEAT CUSTARD PIE
 1 pkg. mincemeat
 3 eggs
 2-3 cup sugar
 1 1/2 cups milk
 1 tsp. vanilla

Line pie pan with pastry. Crumble mincemeat over bottom of pastry. Beat the eggs and add sugar, milk and vanilla. Pour custard gently over the mincemeat.

Place in a hot oven (400 degrees), then immediately turn thermostat to 350 degrees. Bake about 40 minutes or until custard is set.

The pie is especially delicious when served warm.

POUND CAKE
 2 sticks softened oleo
 2 cups sugar
 4 eggs (at room temperature)
 3 cups flour
 1 tsp. baking powder
 1 cup milk
 2 tbsps. lemon extract

Cream together the oleo and sugar, add eggs. Stir in the flour and baking powder, alternately with the milk. Add lemon extract. Bake at 325 degrees for about an hour or until done.

Braised Ribs Supply Zest, Nutrition

For a meal that is easy to fix, easy to enjoy, and easy on the budget, try braised short ribs. Braise them slowly over low heat and add vegetables about 30 minutes before the beef is done. This will provide a meal-in-one-dish that insures a supply of energy.

For a recipe that serves six, follow these instructions:

BRAISED SHORT RIBS WITH VEGETABLES
 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. beef short ribs
 Salt, pepper
 1/4 cup flour
 2 tbsps. fat
 1 medium onion, sliced
 1/2 cup chopped celery leaves
 2 sprigs parsley
 1 1/2 cups hot water or bouillon
 6 medium carrots
 2 small onions
 6 medium potatoes

Have butcher cut short ribs into individual servings. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste and roll in flour. In a large, heavy utensil, brown ribs in hot fat. Add onion, celery, leaves, parsley, and liquid. Cover pan and cook over low heat (275 degrees) for 2 hours, adding more liquid if necessary. Add vegetables, sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste and continue cooking, covered, 30 minutes or until meat and vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to hot platter.

For gravy, skim any excess fat from liquid and dilute liquid to preferred strength. Thicken by cooking with a smooth flour and water paste. Serve gravy over meat and potatoes.

A Good Day's Start Calls For Breakfast

Do you go without food for more than 15 hours every day? Many people do, because they fail to eat a good breakfast. From the evening meal to the next day's lunch is too long for a machine like your body to go without fuel. If you tire easily, that may be the reason.

Research shows that many people fail to eat breakfast because they are not hungry in the morning. Here are some helpful hints for priming breakfast appetites. Serve foods that are pleasing in aroma, bright in color, and delicate in flavor. Serve foods that are different but tempting. For instance try pear, peach or apricot juice sharpened with fresh lemon juice.

Vary your main dish, too. Cover thin French pancakes with grated cheddar cheese and crisp bacon crumbs. Roll into fingers. Place on cookie tin and heat in oven until cheese melts.

Toast Coconut

You can use a moderate (350 degrees) heat for toasting coconuts. Just make sure you place the coconut in a thin layer in a shallow pan and stir often with a fork during the toasting.

Moment Of Relaxation

Reading and eating make an enjoyable combination, particularly when the pie is Mincemeat Custard right out of the oven. It is one of Mrs. Fred Beckham's most popular recipes. The piano teacher is an avid reader.

Bisque Takes Advantage Of Tuna

Of the many different kinds of soups that are prepared in American homes one favorite is the typically French bisque, since this rich cream soup is satisfying enough for a main course yet suitable as a complimentary dish.

Although bisques usually are made with seafood like shrimp and crabmeat, tuna also can be used. Here's a recipe for Tuna Bisque which combines the hearty flavor of prime tuna with prepared soups and savory seasonings.

For the right finishing touch, garnish the bisque with snipped parsley or grated cheese. Be prepared to make up a generous quantity, for the wholesome goodness of this hearty bisque will keep them asking for more.

TUNA BISQUE
 1 can condensed cream of celery soup
 1 can condensed consommé
 1 jar strained carrots
 Few drops of Tabasco sauce
 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
 1 cup light cream
 2 cans (6 1/2-ounce) chunk style tuna

Combine soups, carrots, sauces and light cream, stirring constantly. Heat over low flame until hot. Flake tuna and stir into soup. Continue to cook until thoroughly hot. Do not boil. Serve at once. Makes four servings.

Prepare Cabbage In A Skillet, Add Cheese

Cabbage tastes really luscious prepared this way.

SKILLET CABBAGE
 Ingredients:
 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
 4 cups knife-shredded green cabbage (packed down)
 1 medium-sized green pepper (cut into thin long strips)
 2 tbsps. water
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1 pkg. (3 ounces) cream cheese
 Freshly-ground pepper

Method:
 Melt butter in 10-inch skillet over low heat.
 Add cabbage and green pepper; toss in butter. Add water and salt; cover tightly and simmer just until tender-crisp — about 10 minutes.
 Add cream cheese, mashing with a fork to melt and coat cabbage. Add pepper to taste; also more salt if desired.
 Serve very hot. Makes 4 servings.

Sweetbreads

Nowadays sweetbreads come in frozen as well as fresh form. Either way they need to be simmered in enough water to cover them until they are tender. Membranes and tubs are removed after simmering.

Good Frank Casserole Satisfies Big Appetites

Temperature readings may be unpredictable at this time of year, but ravenous appetites can be predicted with certainty. A Chili Spiced Frank Casserole is just right to send the sportsmen on their way well fortified, or to fill them up at the end of the day.

Thrill is a virtue, but don't let it mislead you into getting less than your money's worth. For instance, in choosing go-togethers for your skillet dish, be sure to select top quality franks. Only in this way can you be sure of getting the caliber of finished dish you want to serve your family.

Franks can be purchased in half-pound packages of five or one-pound packages of ten. Since they are fully cooked, they should be eaten within 3 or 4 days of purchase. They can be stored in their cello-pack in the refrigerator, but never in the freezer.

CHILI SPICED * FRANK CASSEROLE
 Yield: 5 servings
 1 pound franks
 1/4 cup butter
 3/4 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1 clove garlic, chopped
 2 tbsps. salt
 1 tsp. sugar
 1 pound, 12 ounce can tomatoes
 1 1/2 cups uncooked rice
 1 bay leaf
 1/2 tsp. clove
 1/2 tsp. ground pepper
 1/2 cup water
 Chili sauce

Melt butter in skillet. Add onion, pepper, and garlic. Heat about 5 minutes until vegetables are soft. Mix in salt, sugar, tomatoes, rice, bay leaf, clove and ground pepper. Cover. Heat slowly about 30 to 35 minutes. Add a small amount of water during the heating time if the rice sticks to the bottom of the skillet.

Score franks with several diagonal slashes. Arrange on top of the rice and tomato mixture. Brush with chili sauce. Heat for about 5 minutes or until franks are hot. Serve immediately.

BARBECUE FRANKS AND TATO MOUNDS
 Yield: 5 servings

SPICE VOCABULARY
 MINCED ONION, a vegetable seasoning, is dehydrated onion, white in color and bearing the real onion flavor.
 MINCED ONION is compatible wherever minced or finely chopped onion is used.

Wilted Lettuce Is Mated With Peas
 Here is a delightfully different version of wilted lettuce. Green peas are the backbone of the dish.

GREEN PEAS PLUS
 Ingredients:
 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen green peas
 1/2 cup boiling water
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1 1/2 cups shredded iceberg lettuce
 1 to 2 tbsps. butter

Method:
 Place frozen peas, boiling water and salt in a medium-sized saucepan; bring to a boil, turning peas over—if they are in a block—until thawed. Cover and boil gently a few minutes—until just tender.

Add lettuce and butter. Cook rapidly so any liquid in pan will evaporate and turn lettuce with a fork so it will be slightly wilted but crisp. Serve at once. Makes four servings. (Use outer green leaves of lettuce and cut into about 1/4-inch strands with sharp knife.)

Kitchen Magic
 French cooks like to add a mixture of onion, celery and carrots (all finely diced) plus peppercorns, bay leaf and a branch of thyme to meat and fish being cooked in the oven.

Watch That Cream
 Don't take heavy cream out of the refrigerator a minute before you are ready to beat it.

Creamed Eggs
 Ever served creamed eggs over crisp Chinese noodles? If you try this, season the cream sauce well.

There is another custom that hasn't changed. It involves the many ways eggs serve as human food. There is a sound reason for this custom. Eggs are exceptionally rich in body-building nutrients. They have other advantages, too. They're delicious and remarkably adaptable to such a variety of uses.

Also in their favor: eggs are plentiful and economical in that production is running well ahead of last year. Prices are lower, too.

pudding Not Quite As Sweet As Others
 This pudding is not quite so sweet as the traditional Southern sweet potato dessert.

SWEET POTATO PUDDING
 Ingredients:
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 2 cups coarsely grated yellow-orange sweet potatoes
 1 cup milk
 2 eggs (beaten until thick and lemon-colored)
 1/2 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 1 tsp. grated lemon rind
 1/2 cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
 1/2 cup broken walnuts

Method:
 Melt butter in a black iron skillet 19 inches across top and 2 inches deep. Mix in the remaining ingredients. Bake in skillet in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 minutes, stirring twice at 15-minute intervals. Serve warm with plain or whipped cream.

Company Treat

Saute eggplant and tomato slices and serve with broiled lamb chops for a company supper. Or broil the vegetables if you like.

GALA CENTERPIECE

Easter Bonnet Cues Sunday's Table Decor

By DOROTHY ROE
 AP Newsfeature Writer

An unusual, dramatic table centerpiece gets the party off to a gala start. If you are serving an after-church brunch on Easter Sunday, let the Easter bonnet set the theme for your table.

Sewing center experts suggest you make a centerpiece hat of felt in springtime violet. Set the crown over a low bowl and cut tiny holes in it to hold fresh flowers, so their stems are in water. Scalloping shears used around the edge of the hat and on its ribbon give a decorative scalloped edge.

To make the hat, cut a circle of felt about 18 inches in diameter. Cut a four-inch circle out of the center. Cut a strip three inches wide and as long as necessary to form the crown of the hat. Stitch to the four-inch circle of felt and to the brim.

Add a slender roll of tissue paper to under-section of crown, to keep it in shape. Use scalloping shears along sides of a piece of ribbon and tie around crown of hat.

Now set the hat over a low bowl. With sharp, pointed scissors, make holes in the crown and stick fresh flowers in the hat, with stems reaching the water. Scatter a few flowers along the brim. (To keep these flowers fresh, wrap stems in wet tissue paper and cover in foil.)

After Easter is over, store the bonnet for use next year.

Kabobs Call For Lamb, Vegetables

Lamb takes well to marinating before cooking. Add peppers, onion and tomatoes on a skewer and you have the makings of delicious kabobs. Here is the recipe:

LAMB KABOBS
 1 1/2 lbs. lamb shoulder or shank, cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes
 French dressing (with garlic)
 2 green peppers
 1 large onion
 2 firm tomatoes

Marinate lamb shoulder 1 hour or overnight in French dressing. Cut peppers, onion, and tomatoes into 1-inch pieces.

Place on metal skewer alternating meat, peppers, onion, tomatoes. Roll in salad oil. Broil 3 inches from heat for 30 minutes, turning as they brown. Six servings.

A Devotional For Today

Then they (the lepers) said one to another, We do not well: this is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace. (II Kings 7:9.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the many good things Thou dost bestow upon us. Grant us hearts that rejoice in Thy salvation. May we never lose an opportunity of speaking for Thee. In the name of Christ, our Redeemer, we pray. Amen.

Responsibility Begins At Home

Last week the Wall Street Journal summarized the fiscal situation of most of the states, particularly that old bugaboo in intensified form—income and outgo, or finding taxes to cover expenditures. "Summarized" is right, though it took several thousand words to do it, so complex and many-angled is the problem.

Admittedly the stresses of the times have placed heavy burdens on the governing bodies of various units from precinct, city and county to statehouse and national capital.

But a prime reason for much of the distress in which the coffers of our various political units find themselves is a bad case of the "gimmies" prevalent in each and every segment of our population. People want something or other, which usually costs money. They form pressure groups, hire "legislative representatives," a pany-word for lobbyists. Their battle cry is "gimme, gimme, gimme!"

Not long ago the New Haven Register fell upon a copy of United States Municipal News—published by the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

It contained a digest of resolutions as reported by the Conference of Mayors which contained these sidelights:

Urban Redevelopment: "That the President be urged . . . That the Banking and Currency committees of Senate and House be requested . . ."

Airports: "That the 86th Congress be urged . . ."

Taxes: "That Congress be urged . . ."

But nothing about reducing them!

And even Juvenile Delinquency: "That the Congress be urged . . ."

And even Juvenile Delinquency: "That the Congress be urged . . . If anything on the top side of God's green earth is a local affair, it's what is called 'juvenile delinquency.' Yet when a problem like that gets really sticky, the inclination is to run, first, to the city hall, second to the county courthouse, third to the state house and finally to the national capital—which, may the Lord have mercy on us, is coming to be the Mecca of all our hopes and aspirations.

The "gimmies" are distinct from, but related to, that other innumerable host from whom there is no escape—the buck-passers. Everybody is looking for an out, and that instinct has two forms: A way of escape from responsibility, or a way to achieve a hand-out.

Responsibility, like charity, should begin at home.

The Silly Psychology Of It All

The man who takes off his hat when a woman enters an elevator really regards women as inferior. So say a couple of psychologists who made a study of the matter and now present their views in the current issue of the Journal of Social Psychology.

These fellows undertook to investigate the theory that chivalrous attitudes of men toward women usually are a subtle form of male domination and also used to disguise more objectionable forms of domination, a dispatch reports.

These guys come along and tell us that a woman who, for instance, "Yes, ma'am's" another woman is in reality up-staging her because the yes-ma'am-is really contemptuous of the object of her politeness, or debasing herself—take your choice.

If these theories get around parents can no longer teach the ordinary civilities to their offspring, unless they wish to mark them with the beastliness of an outrageous superiority or inferiority complex.

We are to believe, it appears, that to sir or ma'am an elder on the one hand (according to the psychologists) has a contemptuous connotation, and on the other (according to the script-writer) marks one with such an inferiority complex as can only be described as slavish. This is a zany as well as a windy session.

Company Has A Right To 'Seed Money'

WASHINGTON.—Strange and disturbing words are coming from some Democrats on Capitol Hill these days. They have a socialistic flavor. One doctrine being given some endorsement is that profits are, in effect, sinful, that "retained earnings" are bad, and that companies should not save up for a rainy day but should let the deluge come. These companies are being told now that they ought to borrow money for new capital hereafter and not try to accumulate it out of earnings.

To save up money to buy new plant and equipment has always seemed heretofore to be the principal way to expand the economy through the private-enterprise system, but, curiously enough, now this method is being denounced as a departure from that system.

Reading the testimony a few days ago of Walter Reuther, head of the largest automobile union in the world, and that of Representative Wright Patman of Texas, Democrat before the House Banking and Currency Committee, one comes across these passages:

"Mr. Reuther: In the auto industry we expanded since the war in excess of eight billion dollars, and more than 90 per cent of that eight billion dollars was paid for by the American consumers of automobiles, and only ten per cent represented new capital. I mean something quite revolutionary: I'm taking place in the American system of free enterprise.

"The whole concept was that there was a money market, and if you wanted to expand your company to the tune of a billion dollars, you floated bonds, or you went into the money market and you got people, based upon the attractiveness of your corporate effort, to invest their money in your plant. That is an old-fashioned way of doing it. They don't do it that way any more.

"Mr. Patman: I think you can truthfully say that the capital thus acquired is what could be called 'seed money.' In other words, the price of the product was increased enough to take enough money away from the consumer to put it into the fund for retained earnings, of which the people in charge would get the benefit, as distinguished from the old way of selling the goods at the lowest possible price. In a competitive market, and letting the person keep that money which is being taken away from him for retained earnings to invest anywhere he wanted to so he would get the benefit. . . .

"Mr. Reuther: I think what you say is absolutely correct. I think this is consumer-financed capital. . . . They say, 'you want an automobile, this is the price you pay,' even though factored into that price a portion is earmarked for expansion. . . .

Up to now it has been considered a virtue in business to plow back into the company as much of the earnings as possible after paying the stockholders each year a reasonable return on their investment. This has been called the planting of "seed money." It has been hailed with pride as the great achievement of American business enterprises—growth through one's own efforts. Constant expansion of an entire industry has thus been assured, and this has meant also the creation of more and more jobs each year for an increasing number of people.

Now business is being told that it must pay higher wages, yet reduce prices and depend on borrowing in the uncertain money markets of today and tomorrow. When money is borrowed at higher and higher interest rates, Uncle Sam, of course, has to bear most of the cost—52 cents out of every dollar of interest expense, because this is deductible for tax purposes. Taxpayers generally would have to carry more and more of the borrowing burden of an individual industry if "retained earnings" were discouraged.

But anyone who thinks that, out of the $600,000,000 which represents the annual average of "retained earnings" for the last 12 years in the motor industry, all or any considerable part could be used to reduce prices is woefully mistaken. In the first place, businesses are supposed to set aside, anyhow, every year a certain sum to pay off any debt incurred by the sale of bonds. Likewise, provision has to be made for the payment of interest on debt. In addition, provision must be made for funds to carry over from one year to another any expense due to an unfavorable turn in business or if a new model has to be pioneered.

Uncertainty as to whether capital would or would not be available in the money markets two or three years hence could mean the difference between a management decision to create new jobs or to lay off workers. After all, it is sound reasoning for a whole industry to put aside at least $600,000,000 a year as capital in order to safeguard a volume of business that involves 25 times as much in a given year. This means putting aside four cents out of every dollar received annually from the buyers of automobiles. For the figures show that in 1955 the total value of all cars and trucks sold was nearly 5 billion dollars. So, while 90 per cent of 8 billion dollars of "retained earnings" in 12 years sounds like a lot of money, it is only $600,000,000 a year of new capital, which is a relatively small insurance fund considering the risks involved in the nation's No. 1 industry.

Congress back in 1936 tried to compel the distribution of profits by imposing a penalty for undistributed surpluses. The next result was to intensify the depression so that it became worse in 1937. Congress promptly confessed its error and repealed the law.

Negotiate Or Face A Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roly-poly Premier Nikita Khrushchev has convinced President Eisenhower he must do business with Khrushchev himself if he wants to have any worthwhile dealings with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower acknowledged this Wednesday, thus making a summit conference pretty certain. The President went out of his way to say Khrushchev couldn't push him into a summit meeting. Nevertheless, that's about what it amounts to.

The Eisenhower acknowledgment also makes all the talk about how much importance the President placed on a foreign ministers meeting—before there could be any summit meeting—look pretty academic now.

The bald-headed Khrushchev used two main devices to push Eisenhower into a meeting.

1. He deliberately created the Berlin crisis by demanding the West get its troops out of West Berlin. Unless some peaceful solution was found through negotiation, a showdown looked sure and war possible.

2. He used speeches and even a mammoth news conference in Moscow to urge negotiation and get the idea across to Eisenhower that the only way to negotiate was with him personally.

In this he apparently got a big assist from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who, after talking with Khrushchev, reportedly came away convinced a summit meeting was the only answer.

Then Macmillan came to see Eisenhower. In the past Eisenhower's stock answer to Soviet proposals for a summit conference was that first the foreign ministers had to meet and show enough results to justify a meeting of the top men.

Eisenhower repeated this at his news conference Wednesday but the other things he said showed pretty clearly he was scaling down in his own mind the importance of what the foreign ministers could accomplish.

He was asked by a reporter "How do you feel now about the argument that the only man in the Soviet Union you can do business with is Soviet Premier Khrushchev?"

Eisenhower replied: "Well, I think it is perfectly clear that he is the only man who has the authority really to negotiate."

"If you have anyone else with whom you were negotiating, I think—except in detail, or method or procedure or agenda, things like that—I really believe that the only way that man could do anything would be to be on the telephone all the time with Moscow."

Here Eisenhower seemed to be saying plainly the most that could be expected from a foreign ministers meeting was arranging details for a summit meeting and that it couldn't be expected to reach agreement on issues.

For he went on: "So in effect you would be negotiating directly with Moscow. And I think that here is possibly some validity to the argument that if you are really going to talk substantive measures, and hope to get some agreement . . . on both sides, that he (Khrushchev) has got to get into the picture."

Then, as if concerned anyone might think Khrushchev was forcing him into a summit meeting, Eisenhower added: "I want to make this very clear . . . this doesn't mean that anyone can command anybody else to come to a summit meeting, and you can't bluff them or blackmail them or anything else."

True, Khrushchev couldn't command Eisenhower to meet with him. But he certainly pushed the President toward such a meeting. And the Berlin crisis he created and dangles over the head of the West is a kind of blackmail.

For what Khrushchev has said in effect is: Negotiate or face a showdown.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

A survey to determine just how much commerce would flow over a navigable Trinity River has been started by the Army Engineers. A former similar survey gave satisfactory evidence that canalization of the Trinity would be justified. The showing today should be much better.

It might be noted that one previous survey has been made in Texas to determine the amount of inland waterway traffic that might be anticipated for a project. This was the preliminary survey of the Gulf Intracoastal Canal. Today, with more than 20 million annual tonnage, this waterway is carrying several times what was indicated by the preliminary survey.

Many manufacturers, distributors and others discovered after the waterway became available that they could use it, too.

A factor favorable to the Trinity project is the great upsurge of inland water transportation in America today. The Mississippi River is now carrying more tonnage than ever in its history. Completion of the Trinity project would put a large part of interior Texas in direct water commerce connection with the Mississippi and the vast mileage of inland waterway that it commands, including entrance into the Great Lakes which are now being connected by deep-water channel with the Atlantic Ocean.

It is essential not only to the Trinity Valley but to the whole Texas economy; that this new arm of the great inland waterway system of America be pushed to completion.

From Cans To Jams

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—The superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park believes there is a relationship between garbage cans and traffic jams. He said garbage cans for picknickers beside highways attract bears, tourists stop to watch the bears, and they back up traffic for miles.

Unhappy

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Because the city needed the revenue, officials swallowed their pride and honored the check of an irate citizen who wrote: "Pay to the order of the thieves of City Hall, $13.50 for water from a bunch of crooks."

How About Competitive Insurance Rates?

The National Assn. of Independent Insurers is throwing its weight behind a drive to inject a little competition into the automobile insurance business in Texas, and it offers some convincing arguments.

Right now, the drive is being concentrated in Austin where the Texas Legislature is considering adoption of what the insurance people call a flexible rate law. The state now operates under a uniform rate plan, whereby every insurance company charges the same rate, which is set by the Texas Insurance Commission.

Adoption of a flexible rate program, permitting individual companies to set their own rates, would enable Texans to save $34 million a year on auto insurance, the NAII claims. In other words, the restoration of competition to the insurance industry would drive rates down. The cost of auto liability and collision insurance has been soaring in recent years, due to rises in the cost of repairs and replacement parts. If competitive rates will help reduce the price of premiums, here's a vote for the flexible rate law.

According to the NAII, Big Springs can save anywhere from $15 to $47.15 per year on car insurance under the flexible rate system. The exact amount depends on the type of car, how much it is driven, etc. Over the state, the savings per car might run anywhere from $13 to $52.60 per year, the NAII says.

Most states already have the flexible rate law, which permits lower rates for careful drivers as well as competition among the insurers.

Of course, a flexible rate law would have to have safeguards against trick policies, insolvencies, etc. I agree with the NAII that such precautions can be built into insurance regulations without completely destroying competition—the one ingredient that free enterprise can't survive without.

Senators Ired Over Nuclear News Leaks

WASHINGTON — Indignant Senators may demand an investigation of what they consider a classic example of the manipulation of top-secret information to influence high policy.

The example Senators have seized on is the leak to The New York Times of Project Argus, the 300-mile high explosion of three small atomic bombs. Members of Congress entrusted with the information under a top-secret label several months ago were cautioned that secrecy was vital to America's security. Then they read the same information in the newspapers.

The leak coincided with the arrival of Prime Minister Macmillan for talks with President Eisenhower. He was known to be bringing a compromise proposal for agreement on a suspension of atomic tests. The news of Project Argus was leaked in such a way as to make it seem that tests would have to continue and the British compromise, therefore, would have to be rejected.

Even after the news had been printed and Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles had issued a statement on it, Senators were told by Pentagon officials that the information was still classified.

They are acutely aware of the absurd and impossible position this puts them in when they undertake to legislate on or even talk about atomic matters and national defense. Senator Clinton Anderson, chairman of the Congressional Joint Atomic Committee, has suggested an investigation with principals from the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission summoned to explain what happened.

Anderson says that when it was known the Times would print the story the White House in the three-hour interval before actual publication telephoned top officials in the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission to give them the official line. Members of the Congressional Joint Atomic Committee were not informed.

This fed the wrath that has long been smoldering. One immediate consequence was that Anderson demanded the release of so-called confidential letters sent to him showing a marked difference between the Defense Department and the AEC on the rate of nuclear fallout. In his statement releasing the conflicting correspondence Anderson said AEC Commissioner Willard Libby should try to explain contradictions in his recent pronouncements on fallout.

For Anderson and others on the committee the villain of the piece is still former AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, whose name is now before the Senate for confirmation as Secretary of Commerce. They believe that Strauss set the policy of telling the public as little as possible about fallout and making that little sound as innocuous as possible.

They see Strauss as still the dominating force in high policy in the atomic field. This is one element in the concerted effort to block Strauss' confirmation.

Senators say they want to look into the records of the Lewis and Robb Strauss Foundation, named for his parents and of which he is president. Last year the foundation awarded $5,000 and the Albert Einstein medal to Edward Teller, popularly known as the "father of the H-bomb." Teller has been one of Strauss' closest collaborators in resisting any curb or non nuclear testing and in playing down the possible effects of nuclear fallout.

This year the $5,000 and the medal went to Libby. Does this represent, Anderson and others are asking, a way of rewarding loyal supporters of the Strauss line? Awards from foundation funds are exempt from personal income tax and, therefore, have a greater value than such a sum would otherwise have.

But quite apart from the personal bitterness injected into this controversy, the stakes are fantastically high. The correspondence released by Anderson, after repeated demands on the Defense Department, shows that the fallout of strontium-90 is greatest in the United States, and earlier reports indicate it is heaviest in the northern tier states. The concentration is contrary to previous assurances from AEC. No one can really be sure of the long-term effects of this pollution. On the other hand, most military men insist that to halt tests now, particularly in the light of the Project Argus experiment, is to endanger the national security. With the screen of secrecy growing ever tighter, these are issues the Democratic press is ill equipped to resolve.

Collector's Item: The 49-Star Flag

Dear me, are American businessmen, as represented by the nation's flag manufacturers, losing their old knack with the hard sell and the soft sucker?

Every time I pick up a newspaper, the flag industry is still crying into its cambic because it has ordered a relatively small run of 49-star flags when, in no time at all, a 50-star flag will be standard.

Any self-respecting Yankee peddler could tell these gentlemen, if they will only stop sniffling, that they have a boomerang, not a boomerang on their hands. And if I had any financial sense of self-preservation, I'd be around selling my idea to the industry for cash.

But, as a matter of public service, I shall tell the industry how to sell its unique 49-star flags. Now, there's the key to the situation—"unique." The first thing the industry should do is double the price on all these unique 49-star flags whose future value as a historic antique may, to hear an inspired Willie Loman tell it, vie with a Duncan Phyfe table, a Paul Revere bowl or even a Button Gwinnett signature.

What the industry has in its trembling hands is an "interim" Old Glory that at best will be official for only a few months, maybe only a few weeks or days; depending upon the speed with which Hawaii becomes the fiftieth state of the union. Or, if Hawaii hurries and decides to make it a double entry beside Alaska, the forty-ninth state, this unique and glorious flag with 49 stars may never be official at all.

In that case, treble the price, boys! For then the industry can peddle its "Alaskan" flag as a "hot" banner, a splendid bootleg item available only to the discriminating few who love to buy things over or under the fence, or through one.

It seems to me that it would be like shooting fish in a barrel to sell the entire output of 49-star flags in the forty-ninth star state, Alaska, the biggest state in the Union. That is, if it has half the schmaltz that is, kept Texas talkin' and clinging to its Lone Star banner. At the moment, it seems that Alaska will have a flag uniquely her own, if only for days. Their flag will be the one and only forty-niner ever issued.

Goodness knows, there ought to be a big sale of flags within the continental United States to ordinary citizens who would like, just for once, to wave in the face of tall-talkin' Texans a flag whose unique extra star represents a state almost twice as large as theirs.

But it is as a future antique that I foresee the biggest sale for the 49-star flag. No matter how many have been printed, the proper sales pitch can dispose of it like the proverbial hotcakes for its first edition and scarcity value and its future as a treasured early American antique.

A hundred, two hundred years from now, think of your grateful descendants reverently unfolding, on state occasions, this rare 49-star flag which you, with the perceptive cunning of an early ground-floor art collector buying a Cezanne for $50, had the foresight to purchase.

Think of the collectors of 2059 or 2159 beating a path to the door of your descendants, offering trillions and jillions (remember creeping inflation) because of your perspicacity, your foresightedness in nabbing one of these rare banners before the 50-star constellation was unfurled.

Golly, I've just talked myself into buying one for each of my nieces and nephew.

Changing Times

STERLING, Colo. (AP)—City Hall records reveal just how much times have changed. In October, 1908, the Sterling sugar factory used 19,500 gallons of water and paid $7.32 for it. A half century later, the factory used 10,986,000 gallons of water in one month and paid $732 for it.

Award To Woman

WHITEWATER, Wis. (AP)—Whitewater's "man of the year" award went to a woman. And because the winner was a man the award name was changed to "outstanding citizen."

Mrs. Roxa Pritchett was cited for her contribution to youth music education.

Smart Pals

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Three years ago, Carolyn McGhee was valedictorian, and Evelyn Brown salutatorian of their junior high school graduating class. They're graduating from high school this year, and they're still the academic twins—Miss McGhee valedictorian, and Miss Brown salutatorian.

THE NEWSPAPER . . . ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN . . . AND BY ALL TAKEN FOR GRANTED

THINK OF RUNNING A HOME WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS

Take for example your own favorite newspaper. The index of its contents is an index of your interests . . . a listing of an and an answer to your wants. Help for you and your home!

Instead of struggling singlehandedly with scores of perplexities, the homemaker, thanks to your newspaper, has recourse to skilled experts galore, whose counsel and help is always at hand when needed. Food, health, child care . . . columns on these and many other home subjects are in your newspaper. Fashion, society, beauty, budgeting . . . the cavalcade of columns goes on. Included are entertainment, sports, stock market listings, the comics, everything from international commentaries to local obituaries. All this in addition to a bustling bundle of information about your community, your nation, your world, and the universe around you.

A modern realist has said: "One who drops a coin on the newsstand and picks up a paper buys a piece of himself every day." Look back a bit. Socrates stands in the first rank of philosophers, yet his ultimate advice to the world was "Know Thyself."

Today's great text book on self is your newspaper! Your taken-for-granted newspaper, is packed with living lessons on self . . . is the continuing study of man, his successes and failures, his glories and weaknesses, his inspirations and aspirations, his life and death . . . and yours, and ours! The daily record of our times, the lives of ourselves and our fellow men is found only in the print of our newspapers.

It's intensely interesting, this deepening drama of man and the world around him. Instructive too, because the truth in this newsprint text book are basic, and adaptable to every phase of our lives.

Newspapers help families live more intelligently, and help them to better enjoy living. They help them understand themselves, and their neighbors. They help them bear trouble and make money. And, because these printed text book truths are a record, not a recollection, they—more than any other daily expressions—find constant and repeated use in the home.

DIARY OF THE WORLD . . . BOOKKEEPER OF ITS BUSINESS . . . DEFENDER OF ITS HUMAN LIBERTIES AND THE GREAT TEXT BOOK ON SELF! YOUR NEWSPAPER IS ALL OF THESE THINGS! THINK OF RUNNING YOUR HOME WITHOUT NEWSPAPERS!

Convicted Slayer Pins Life Hopes On New Evidence

HOUSTON (AP) — A convicted slayer today pinned his hopes of escaping the electric chair on new evidence he said he has developed. "There are many people now working to uncover the new evidence which I believe will get me a new trial," said Howard B. Stickney, 21, convicted of slaying Mrs. Charles Barnes. Dist. Judge Moron Love earlier excused two court-appointed attorneys from further work on the case. Stickney, a former highway department lab technician, was convicted Jan. 29 for the May 24 murder of Mrs. Barnes, an insurance secretary. He also is charged with slaying her husband, Charles C. Barnes, a highway department draftsman. Stickney's mother, Frances, said she will make every effort to find an attorney who can file a motion for a new trial by April 1 and present argument on the motion by April 15. Stickney was arrested in Canada June 20. At that time he admitted killing the couple on a Galveston beach. Stickney told reporters a new trial would involve the names of several persons who have not been mentioned previously because he did not want to hurt anybody. "But I'm afraid I've got to bring them out in the open now because I don't want to die," he said.

Urges Lower Rates For Young Drivers

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo says young Texas drivers deserve a chance to qualify for lower insurance rates by taking state-approved driver training courses. Hazlewood explained to the Senate Insurance Committee yesterday a bill which would license commercial driver training schools and put them under regulation of the Department of Public Safety, the Board of Insurance and the Board of Education. The measure went to a subcommittee for two weeks.

Hotel Robbed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A bandit armed with a pistol threatened night manager Paul Cox and escaped with about $400 from the fashionable downtown Menger Hotel early today.

"The trial by candlelight before the high priest Calaphas disgusted me. Hatred showed in every piny move. The Galilean, strangely, seemed to pity them for their hate."

EPISTLES FROM A ROMAN
Officer Writes Of Participation In Garden Of Gethsemane Arrest

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer
Jerusalem, Judea
16th year of the Caesar Tiberius

Gaius my father, Forgive me, my father, my hasty scrawl for I write swiftly as the first light of day grows bright upon the city's walls. This night has been an active one indeed, although I cannot say it has been the type of action I, a soldier of Rome, most admire. They have arrested the troublesome Galilean. It took a squad of soldiers and a mob of priestly followers, armed with swords and clubs and led by a betrayer, to arrest this unarmed man by the dark of the moon. The priests of the temple have condemned him to death but I have doubts the sentence will be carried out. The evidence against him is meager and the condemnation must yet be confirmed by the Procurator, who, for all his faults, is a just man. He was accused of blasphemy, yet the witnesses brought against him could not substantiate the charge for they contradicted themselves and each other. It fell to the Galilean, for what reason I know not, to convict himself, at least in the eyes of the priests. "Tell us, Nazarene," said the high priest Caiaphas, for this Jesus is from Nazareth in Galilee, "tell us, are you the son of God as you claim?"

The Galilean needed only to re-

Food Prices May Check Living Cost
WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm and food prices should help check the rising cost of living this year. Agriculture Department officials said today. The Labor Department said lower food prices in February brought a slight downturn in living costs that month. Farm prices this year may dip 5 to 10 per cent. Such declines would reflect continued bountiful production and lower government farm price supports. Heavier supplies of hogs are expected to lower pork and meat prices. Past declines in farm prices have not been reflected fully at the retail level. There has been a long-term upward trend in costs of processing, transporting and marketing.
