New City Budget Adopted After 'Hot' Public Hearing

The temperature outside was nothing in comparison with that in the city auditorium Tuesday evening as 150 citizens aired their complaints and compliments toward the City Commission at the public hearing on the budget.

The $2 million operating budget for the city was approved without a change following the hearing, and it went into effect this morning, April 1.

The hearing attracted about 150 persons after the initial hearing March 24 brought out a dozen. The dozen was at that time the largest number that had turned out for a budget hearing in many years.

Size of the crowd Tuesday forced the meeting to be held in the auditorium after it had been planned for the council room of the City Hall.

PROS AND CONS Applause during speeches indicated that both the pros and cons were well represented. The commission appeared to get more complaints than approval from speakers, however.

Among the speakers were Robert Evans, Alfred Goodson, Dr. J. E. Hogan, Charles Lindsey Marchbanks, Bob Cook, Julian Fisher, Wyatt Eason, R. W. Sanderson, E. C. Smith, Lloyd Curley, W. H. Warton, Omar Jones, and Bill Sneed, in addition to the members of the commission and other city officials.

Several other citizens spoke out on specific questions but did not give their names.

A variety of questions were brought up, the principal points of contention being the master plan, salaries—specifically the city manager's—the increase in taxes, garbage collections, and enlargement of the engineering department.

MANY ISSUES Citizens also mentioned house trailers, the size of the police department, the proposed fire marshal, last year's tax revaluation survey, drainage problems, subdivisions and new developments.

Prior to opening the meeting for comments, Mayor G. W. Dabney commended the citizens for their interest in city government and urged them to continue to closely watch city developments. He said that only through understanding of the commission and the people can difficulties be removed.

He explained several parts of the budget, including the raise for the city manager—from $10,800 to $12,000—costs of the master plan, enlargement of the engineering department to handle the city's growth and demands for engineering services.

He also mentioned salaries for all city employees—"We must pay good salaries to get good employees"—as well as an assessment paving program. Speaking of the proposed tax increase which will probably be necessary to meet operating costs, the mayor pointed out that at the present, people in Midland, Odessa, Sweetwater and Snyder are paying more taxes on a per capita basis than in Big Spring.

TAX ALLOCATION Mayor Dabney said the added 30 cents on the tax rate will go: 12 cents for salary raises and new employees, 10 cents for the master plan, and four cents each for capital improvements and additional operating expense.

Panel Show - Questions From The Floor

Shown is about half of the group which attended the Tuesday evening budget hearing, with members of the City Commission and other city officials on the stage answering questions concerning the $2 million budget. About 150 persons attended the hearing. Speaking at the microphone on the floor of the auditorium is Robert Evans.

He urged the citizens to give the new city manager, A. K. Steinheimer, a chance to prove his ability.

Evans was the first speaker from the audience, and he touched on several areas of the budget, beginning with an anticipated decrease in several revenues plus the increases in several expenditures—engineering department, fire department, and the commission's fund.

Evans questioned the need of a fire marshal and was told that one had been needed for several years and it would cost the city via the fire insurance key rate to do without one in the future. In answer to Evans' question of the expanded engineering department, Steinheimer said that it wasn't increased as much as he desired. Growth has brought great demands for engineering, he said.

GARBAGE COMPLAINTS The garbage collections came in for heated comment, not only from Evans but from several in the audience. To the questions and comments, Steinheimer said that the city was doing everything possible to improve its garbage service, and he promised to investigate every case brought to his attention.

Evans also said he felt the taxes were too high. (The commission has proposed raising the tax rate from $1.20 to $1.50 this year, but this figure cannot be set until this summer.) In connection with the taxes, the question was brought up about taxes paid by trailer house tenants.

The city manager replied that the city was considering at the present an ordinance which will bring taxes from the trailer owners.

The discussion switching to the master plan, Goodson spoke up and proposed submitting the idea to the people on a general election which drew a big applause from the audience. Bob Cook, speaking later, said that an election would favor the plan by 75 per cent.

Cook praised Mayor Dabney and the commission for its work, not only on the budget but for its service to the community at all times. He said the master plan is good for Big Spring; subdividing—or new development and growth—is good for Big Spring.

CLEAN-UP NEEDED Cook said the commission was trying to be honest and fair in all its dealings.

Dr. Hogan also spoke in favor of the budget and the master plan. To the question of garbage collections and dirty alleys, he said the matter reflected on the people, not the City Commission. "We are a dirty people; Big Spring is a dirty town because we are willing to tolerate it." He said that if Big Springers had the will to do something about it, the city could be cleaned up.

Dr. Hogan said the commissioners should be congratulated for their work. "They are not trying to harm Big Spring; they are trying to do what Big Spring needs." He said the master plan will save dollars in the future, and "if we don't plan now, we will all be sorry."

Julian Fisher's comments were aimed at increasing the size of the police force, citing the FBI rate of 1.75 policemen per 1,000 people. He said it would be okay with him to raise the taxes if more policemen are added.

NO RESERVES Wyatt Eason's remarks were aimed at the increased taxes, as were Bill Sneed's. Sanderson's main contention was engineering, dealing principally with drainage. He said that he had tried for over a year to get some relief from a drainage problem but had not received any.

Having heard all the comments, Mayor Dabney posed the question of what should be cut out. He said the city has not built up any reserve and the last few years because it hasn't raised taxes recently.

Evans spoke again, saying he has aimed all his comments in constructive criticism, but he again was asking the commission not to increase the taxes. Evans quoted frequently during the long three-hour session from a privately prepared summary of the budget which set out increases and decreases from last year and also had recommendations concerning the budget.

Following the closing of the session about 8:15 p.m., the commission went into conference and accepted the budget. Commissioner George Zachariah made the motion to approve it, and Dr. Lee O. Rogers seconded it. It carried unanimously.

Small Village Is Total Loss

By WILLIAM JOLESCH Associated Press Staff Writer

Tornadoes slashed through the Texas Gulf Coast into the mid-west areas of Missouri and Kansas Tuesday night and Wednesday and killed six persons and injured at least 59. All the dead were Texans, as were 51 of the injured.

The main line of twisters struck at Vaughan and Bynum in North Central Texas; near Gainesville in North Texas; near Kingston, Okla., near the Texas border; and at Silver City, 30 miles west of Tulsa, Okla.

Tornadoes hit Henderson and Marshall in far East Texas, while hurricane-force winds ripped the Gladewater-Kilgore-Longview section in the general Marshall-Henderson area.

An isolated tornado dipped down on a boat works on Galveston Bay on the Texas coast, sinking a cabin cruiser and damaging mooring sheds.

A freak tornado dipped into Marshall, unroofed one home and then lifted early today.

Another tornado cut a path 500 feet wide in Henderson, causing extensive damage but no injuries. The line of tornado weather rolled hundreds of miles into Kansas and Missouri. Kansas City underwent a tornado alert, for 15 minutes but no twister struck there.

Three persons perished at Vaughan, a village of 50 persons about 70 miles south of Dallas. Two died at Bynum, east of Vaughan. An automobile was tossed off the highway north of Bynum, killing Dr. C. B. Bruner of Waco.

The main Waco-Dallas highway for the six miles to Bynum had the appearance of a battlefield where two armies had fought foot by foot.

The scene reminded this reporter of the battleground from Anzio to Rome in World War II. Smashed automobiles, tractors and wagons, tossed into fields and ditches, were in evidence almost everywhere.

Tattered clothing and bedchilling fluttered from trees and fences. Mailboxes hung at crazy angles. Snapped utility lines strewn the roads and fields, and many utility poles, had snapped.

Jack Triplett said the tornado "hit just like lightning." It sheared half of his 6-room stone house away and demolished the barn. None of the family suffered injuries.

Bill Orr, his wife and four children searched through the ruins of their home at Bynum Wednesday morning, picking up remaining valuables and the children's toys.

Said Orr, "I heard this terrible roar at about 9:15 p.m. and my wife and I jumped up and grabbed the kids and ran into a southeast bedroom and jumped under the bed. We just got under the bed when the tornado hit. It actually hit twice. The first time it shook the house. The second it pitched about 100 feet and turned it around."

Man Is Shot Accidentally

A man accidentally shot himself here Tuesday night and is reported in serious condition at a local hospital.

Roy Webb was at his residence at 1102 Scurry when shot, according to the police. He was rushed to Big Spring Hospital by a River ambulance for treatment.

This morning, his doctor reported that his condition was serious but not critical.

According to the story told to the police, Webb was preparing for bed and was loading a .38 caliber pistol when it discharged. He was shot through the body.

Joe Keating Retires From City Position

Another long-time city employe left the city via retirement Tuesday.

That was the last day for Joe Keating, who has worked in the drafting office for over 19 years. Keating joined the city in March of 1940.

The first of the year, the city lost another veteran employe when F. W. Bettie resigned.

GOP Chairman, Ike Talk Amid Resignation Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn conferred with President Eisenhower today amid reports that he is about to resign from his party post.

Alcorn, who has headed the GOP National Committee since January 1957, met briefly with Eisenhower at the White House. His visit was not announced until after he had left, and newsmen had no opportunity to question him.

Early today Alcorn told a reporter he was not prepared to say anything at the moment.

Alcorn was contacted after the Hartford (Conn.) Courant reported that he will resign shortly, possibly today.

This was backed up by Eisenhower administration informants who said announcement of the resignation is expected today.

Both the administration sources and the Courant said Alcorn wants to return to his Hartford law practice. The Courant indicated that Alcorn, now 81, might try for the Connecticut governorship in 1962.

There was no immediate indication who might be named his successor as Republican chairman. The Courant said Alcorn will stay on the job a short time to give the GOP National Committee a chance to pick a replacement.

This choice could be made next week when the committee meets here to select a site and date for the 1960 Republican national convention and act on proposals to reorganize the party's machinery.

No Fog, No Smog

Just pure dust in this Big Spring street scene recorded Tuesday afternoon as another of those wind fronts moved through. That shadow above the truck is the dim outline of the Settles Hotel, just two blocks away.

March Goes Out In Cloud Of Dust

March retired from the scene in full form on Tuesday — making very much like the legendary lion it is supposed to emulate as it winds up its reign.

A roaring wind, pushing a soaring curtain of red dust ahead of it, swept into town as the afternoon drew to a close. For a time it seemed the community was in for a genuine blackout, dust but the drifting sand was evidently so high that the full effect of the storm was not felt.

Visibility was dropped to less than a mile for a while, however, and the wind roared with a vengeance for a time. As the night passed the horizon cleared and by midnight visibility was back to normal.

Faint promise of rain which moved in on the heels of the dust—manifest by some cloudiness—did not develop.

Ahead of the duster, Big Springers sweltered in a summery 83 degrees and the warmth held on throughout the forepart of the night. After midnight, the temperature cooled to 47 degrees.

April was ushered in with bright blue skies, a fairly cool breeze and by noon the beaming sun had warmed the countryside up to a comfortable spring level.

And assuming the weatherman is right, April should continue to offer benign and smiling weather at least through Thursday. The official forecast calls for clear skies, with warmer weather on tap tomorrow. No mention is made of any wind or dust.

Speech Cancelled

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Editor Ralph McGill of the Atlanta Constitution says he has cancelled plans to address a meeting of the Columbus League of Women Voters on the current school crisis "in order to spare further harassment of those concerned."

Witness Who Heard Shots To Talk At Connie's Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A witness who heard the shots that took the wealthy Forrest Teel's life will be called by the state to testify about Teel's fatal struggle with his mistress of 15 years.

The witness is Edna Smith, an apartment house neighbor of the girl friend for whom Teel had jilted Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas, his accused slayer.

Deputy prosecutors said Mrs. Smith was watching Teel's auto when he entered it after an evening in the apartment of the new girl friend, Laura Mowrer. They declined to say whether she heard or saw signs of a struggle.

Mrs. Nicholas had learned Teel's whereabouts and was waiting in Teel's car when he returned to it.

The defense and prosecution agreed in opening statements Tuesday that Teel died of three bullet wounds from Mrs. Nicholas' small French revolver. But the prosecution called it a premeditated murder of jealousy while the defense said it happened accidentally as Teel tried to prevent Mrs. Nicholas from shooting herself.

Announced state witnesses today included Dr. Myron K. Dill, a deputy coroner who pronounced Teel dead at the scene; Dr. Emmett Pierce, who performed an autopsy; R. Y. McVaugh of Pendleton, Ind., a witness to the finding of the dying man, and William G. Gano, a pawnbroker at whose shop Mrs. Nicholas bought her gun.

First witnesses Tuesday were two police officers, Patrolman J. Richard Anderson and Lt. Cecil London, who told of finding Teel dying in his car after he struck a utility pole trying to drive away from the scene.

They were followed by Earl Alexander, who lives a block from the shooting scene and heard the crash when Teel's car hit the pole.

What's Going On Here?

What's the Texas & Pacific Eagle doing roaring up Main St.? Maybe it's part of a railroad rerouting plan to match the highway bypasses. Maybe it's a part of the economy wave by giving double utility to the streets. Or perhaps it's all part of the zany goings-on on this first day of April. Anyhow, T&P officials are amazed by it all; they only know that the train is on time. Keith McMillin, Herald photographer, brewed the photographic magic for April Fools.

Five Votes Cast In City Election

Big Spring citizens have until 5 p.m. Friday to vote absentee, but through this morning, only five had cast absentee ballots.

The general election will be held next Tuesday, but persons who will be out of town are urged to come by the city secretary's office in the City Hall and pick up an absentee ballot. The ballots can be filled out in the secretary's office or they may be returned by mail.

Package Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western foreign ministers were reported today to be framing a package deal to propose to the Soviet Union for settlement of the Berlin crisis and the larger issues of German reunification.

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Waggoner Carr said today the House must quit hearings and write a 300 million dollar selective tax bill.

He told the House that he recommended that the Revenue and Taxation Committee "report a bill to the House which includes a broad array of selective taxes — including, but not confined to, selective sales taxes." With the money, raised, Carr said, public schools as well as college teachers should get raises.

Carr said his proposal is well established and "is not contrary in principle to the tax program recommended by the governor, inasmuch as more than 50 per cent of his tax recommendations were for increases in existing sales taxes."

Speaking distinctly from a prepared text, Carr said it would be "a broad-based tax" and not "a synonym for a general sales tax." He recommended taxes be increased on natural gas, liquor, cigarettes and corporations as recommended by Daniel and "include most, if not all, those items presently taxed but omitted from his program."

As Carr spoke, the Senate wrapped up its first local and uncontested calendar, passing 46 local bills.

Carr met yesterday with industrial and financial leaders from throughout the state and was reported to have told them "to get on or get off" his proposals to solve the state's growing deficit and future needs. They were reported to have agreed to back him.

Carr said Daniel's tax program "in total is inadequate to the task before us," and added: "I am convinced that we should out the cost upon as broad a segment as possible — not just upon a few segments of our people or economy."

Control Of Algae Sought In Tests At Lake J. B. Thomas

Can chemical treatment prevent that brassy taste in lake water late in the season? Experiments begun Tuesday at Lake J. B. Thomas may provide an answer. At any rate, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is working with the State Health Department in an effort to exercise some degree of control of algae, microscopic marine vegetation.

Tuesday, 2,000 pounds of copper sulfate in coarse granular form was dumped into the lake within a 1,500 foot radius of the Big Spring-Odessa intake. O. H. Ivie, production engineer for CRMWD, estimated the volume of water at 800,000,000 gallons within that area, which would give a saturation of 1/2 part per million of copper sulphate. A stronger solution would probably affect rough fish and possibly game fish.

Ivie said that one theory is that the copper sulphate might prevent or control the growth of algae on the bottom. If subsequent tests of water show indications of this, then periodic treatment may be attempted to cut down on the algae growth within the area of withdrawal.

Algae got the blame last autumn when the water assumed a rather pungent taste. While this did not affect the quality or purity of the water, it was hardly pleasing to consumers. Treatments against this at city plants is not always effective and frequently is quite expensive. The lake experiment is an attempt to get at the problem more economically and effectively.

Participating in the distribution of the chemical from the CRMWD barge were Henry L. Dabney, SHD sanitary engineer; Tommy Morris, Odessa utilities engineer; Mike Breneman, Odessa filtration plant director; Joe Boadle, T. C. Richardson and Ivie of the CRMWD.

Khrushy's First Farm Venture Nearly Fatal

Editor's Note — This article, third of a series of five, tells more of the kind of situation Khrushy can be in.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Stubby Nikita Khrushchev planted himself in the middle of a field, surrounded by awed farmers and Communist functionaries. A brisk breeze fanned the tiny wisps of white hair on his nearly naked round dome.

"Here," exclaimed Khrushchev, pointing dramatically to the corn "is the complete sausage on the handle! Here is beefsteak; here is bacon! How will these plants look in a month and a half, when harvest comes? The cobs will be half yard long. Now you understand why I am so enthusiastic about corn!"

This was the new Khrushchev of recent vintage, Khrushchev the boss. He spoke about the pressing need for animal fodder. Who would dare remind him that his own experimenting in the past had gravely endangered the U.S.S.R.'s livestock population?

Khrushchev owed much of his career to his interest in agriculture and his knowledge of the farmer. Boss at last, he could talk confidently about his big ideas. It hadn't been so in the past. His first big idea about farming, in fact, almost cost him his head.

As a member of Stalin's inner Politburo and chief of the Ukraine, Khrushchev conceived the idea of revolutionizing collective farming.

In general charge of Soviet agriculture was Andrei Andreyevich Andreyev, old "Triple A." weak, inefficient, always tottering on the edge of disaster. For the aggressive Khrushchev, Andreyev was a pushover.

Farms, said Khrushchev, would be transformed into agricultural factories. Farmers would become farm industry workers. Small collectives would be merged on a vast scale into huge farm factories.

Khrushchev's real goal, inspired by Stalin, was to abolish all private plots, the kitchen gardens by which the peasants set great store. He would build instead communal agrogorods—farm cities.

He reckoned without the peasants. There was grumbling, resentment, even resistance. He pushed through thousands of amalgamations, but suddenly Stalin slapped him down and halted the program.

The coal miner from Kursk listened in brooding silence at the 20th Communist Congress in October 1952. Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's dour right hand, referred to Khrushchev as one of "our individual executive workers" who erred in trying to force farm consolidation.

"They tried," thundered Malenkov, "to bring about at a forced tempo the mass resettlement of villages in large collective settlements, to demolish old collective farm installations and homes of collective farmers, to create instead agrogorods."

But Khrushchev had bounce. Despite this awesome blast, he emerged from the 1952 congress a member of the expanded Presidium which supplanted the Politburo, and a member of an expanded party secretariat. He lost no time in nailing down his influence.

Malenkov would live to rue his words. Long after Stalin's death, Khrushchev would revert to 1952 and blame Malenkov for the sorry state of Soviet agriculture then. He would succeed in having Malenkov thrown out of the hierarchy.

To hear Khrushchev tell it, he had nothing to do with the whole business until he stepped in with the cure.

Shortly after the 1952 congress, the lives of all Politburo members were in grave danger. Stalin, to quote a diplomat of the day, had "reached for the bottle again." A new blood purge was in the making. Stalin's assistants fabricated a fantastic story about a plot of doctors, most of them Jewish, to poison Stalin and other leading figures.

Luckily for the Politburo—some say it was more than coincidence—Stalin died in March 1953.

At that moment, Khrushchev seemed only an also-ran in the power sweepstakes, scarcely noticed. But Stalin's body was not cold before the plotting began.

Malenkov took both Stalin jobs: premier and first party secretary, in control of both party and government. Within two weeks, Khrushchev nudged Malenkov from the party job.

Those were nervous days. The new leadership, calling itself "collective," felt impelled to promise abundance to the long suffering public. It apparently felt the need of popular support, something unheard of in Stalin's day. The whole fantastic story of the doctor's plot was reversed. But not for three years did the Soviet public learn why.

At the 1956 congress, Khrushchev sobbed out the terrifying story. Not a man on the Politburo had been safe, he recalled, after the obscure Dr. Timashuk unfolded her fantastic tale of the plot.

"Let us recall the affair of the doctor plotters," said Khrushchev. "Actually there was no affair outside the declaration of the woman Doctor Timashuk who was influenced or ordered by someone—after all she was an unofficial collaborator of the organs of state security—to write Stalin a letter in which she declared that doctors were applying supposedly improper methods of medical treatment.

"Such a letter was enough for Stalin to reach the immediate conclusion that there were doctor-plotters in the Soviet Union, said Khrushchev. Stalin personally called the investigating judge and gave him instructions, advising him which investigative methods should be used. These methods were simple: beat, beat and once again beat."

So much for the man who was, for so many years, Nikita Khrushchev's "great genius leader and teacher." Khrushchev's own methods were to seem more refined by comparison.

Rabbit Drive Set North Of Stanton

A rabbit drive has been scheduled for Saturday on the Strain Ranch eight miles north of Stanton.

Anyone who wishes to participate is invited, said Clarence Fryar. The shooting will start at 8 a.m. Dinner will be served at noon and transportation will be provided. Shotgun shells will be available at the scene of the drive, or gunners may bring their ammunition with them. No. 4 shot is the largest to be allowed.

Cabbages Still Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Lower Rio Grande Valley farmers offered to donate thousands of cabbages to hungry coal mining families in Kentucky and Pennsylvania, but the cabbages are still in Texas.

No one has found a way to get them east.

President Eisenhower promised at a news conference last week he'd look into it and the White House said yesterday it is still looking.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has said it could not set a precedent by hauling the cabbages free. The Louisville and Nashville Railroad has offered to haul them at half price.

The Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers of Harlingen offered the cabbages about two weeks ago. It said it would sack at least two carloads of cabbages, about 60,000 pounds, for nothing. All it asked was that someone else would foot the bill for about a thousand dollars to get the cabbages east.

President Eisenhower, told of the troubles, said "if we can get it to them, why I will look into it. I promise you."

Gulf Slices Crude Price

HOUSTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. announced yesterday a 7-cent a barrel price cut for crude oil in the Texas-Louisiana-Alabama coastal region.

The cutback affected more than 182,000 barrels of daily production. Involved are south Louisiana-Delta (Ostrica), regular Texas Gulf Coast and Citronelle, Ala., crudes.

Gulf said the 7-cent cut for 40-44.9-gravity crude applies to all three areas and added that the gravity differential below 40 degrees has been adjusted from 2 to 3 cents.

Gulf's action results in a new top of $3.33 for 40-gravity Texas Gulf Coast crude, $3.23 for South Louisiana Delta (Ostrica) and $2.98 for Citronelle.

Until the Gulf announcement, Gulf Coast fields generally had escaped the price-cutting that hit the mid-continent and North and West Texas areas early this year.

The adjustment, Gulf said, was taken to make "these crudes more competitive with other crudes from which price reductions have been made by other purchasers."

Texas, Oklahoma Weather Abating

Violent spring storms which struck devastating blows across sections of Texas and Oklahoma abated today, leaving a toll of dead and injured and extensive property damage.

Tornadoes killed at least six persons in two small communities in North Central Texas. More than a half dozen twisters which raked the two states also injured 59 persons, including 51 in Texas.

There were no survivors after an Air Force KC135 tanker plane from Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex., crashed and burned during a severe thunderstorm near Killeen in Central Texas. The plane normally carries a crew of four but Air Force officials declined to say how many men were on the plane.

The tornado winds which pounded the North Central Texas area and sections of northeast Oklahoma flattened and damaged scores of homes, damaged gas-line plants and toppled 20 derricks in one of the largest oil fields in North Central Texas.

The storms were part of a general pattern of severe weather from Texas into parts of eastern Oklahoma, western Arkansas, southeastern Kansas and western Missouri. Heavy rain, hail and strong winds lashed the region.

The tornadoes in Texas hit hardest at the small towns of Vaughan and Bynum, 44 miles east. Three persons died and 20 others were injured in the wreckage of their homes in Vaughan. Two persons were killed and 11 injured at Bynum. Seventeen persons suffered injuries when a twister hammered three small towns northeast of Gainesville.

The small community of Silver City, 30 miles west of Tulsa, suffered heaviest damage in the tornadoes which struck northeast Oklahoma. Police estimated three-fourths of the farm community was damaged. The second twister in Oklahoma skipped across a tourist court near Kinton on Lake Texoma, demolishing two cabins and a home.

Funnels were sighted in Kansas and a city-wide tornado alert was posted for Kansas City, Mo. for 15 minutes Tuesday night. Rain, strong wind and some hail lashed the area.

Rain pelted wide sections from the tornado belt northward into Iowa and Illinois. Heaviest falls were in northern areas from Kansas City into southern Iowa.

Heavy rain showers with possible severe thunderstorms were expected to spread through the middle Mississippi Valley during the day and into the Ohio Valley, Pennsylvania and New York by late afternoon or early evening.

21 Teachers Cram Into Foreign Auto

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-one school teachers — all female — crammed into a little foreign car Monday.

Why? To discredit "those silly young college students" who try to get the biggest crowds into telephone booths.

The high school and grade school teachers thronged into the hood and trunk, as well as inside the tiny DKW, a German car. "We could have gotten 12 more in easy," a blonde history teacher bragged.

Mexico Ousts Red Agents In Rail Fuss

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has ordered two Soviet Embassy attaches expelled from the country, charging they had a hand in the Easter weekend rail strike. Two other Red attaches were reported marked to go.

An official source said the second secretary of the Soviet Embassy, Nicolai M. Remisov, and a military-naval attaché, Nicolai V. Asenov, were given until Friday to get out of the country. They reportedly plan to take a Canadian airliner Friday morning to Toronto.

Two members of a diplomatic mission from an unidentified Soviet satellite also were reported to have been declared no longer welcome in Mexico. There was speculation they were Czechoslovak or Polish.

The strike fizzled Monday after the government had rounded up an estimated 3,000 leftist union leaders and followers. The government said it had evidence the strike was a Communist plot.

Workers flocked to their jobs Tuesday and officials said 140 trains were back on the run. Many of the workers said they had been coerced into striking by threats of torture or reprisals against their families.

The two Soviets were said to have had regular contact with Demetrio Vallejo, leftist rail union leader who organized the last three national rail strikes. He was arrested Sunday and reportedly talked to authorities about the Soviets' role in the walkout.

Official sources said the activity of the two Soviet officials was "not consistent with the democratic regime which Mexico observes."

After Vallejo's arrest, the government appointed a four-man

Approva! Sought For Jap Treaty

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Nobuske Kishi's government is expected to go direct to the Supreme Court to seek constitutional approval for the presence of American troops and bases in Japan.

Kishi called a Cabinet meeting today to discuss the Tokyo District Court ruling that the security treaty with the United States and companion agreements violate "no war" Article 9 in Japan's constitution.

Kishi challenged the ruling and said the nation's defense policy built around American bases — would stand firm until the case is tested in the highest court.

There was speculation that Kishi would bypass the Tokyo Appeals Court to speed up the ruling. Opposition Socialists, long critical of military ties with the United States, were jubilant at the government's embarrassing position.

Bones Labeled Those Of Mastodon

WILLS POINT, Tex. (AP) — A University of Texas expert said today that bones uncovered on the Iron Bridge reservoir project were those of a mastodon.

R. K. Harris said he did not know how old the bones were but that remains of one mastodon found in North Texas previously was estimated to be more than 37,000 years old.

He said that in addition to the bones of the mastodon, a prehistoric elephant like animal with large tusks. The Iron Bridge excavations had also turned up bones of other pre-historic animals, including the ancestor of the horse.

Tanker Plane Crashes; All Aboard Killed

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force tanker plane crashed and exploded during a thunderstorm near here last night, killing all aboard.

Bergstrom AFB at Austin, Tex., south of here, said the plane was a KC135, four-engine jet, and normally carried a crew of four.

It refused to identify the crew members or give any other details.

"The plane was on a flight from Bergstrom, where it is based and used to refuel B52s in flight, and was scheduled to return to Bergstrom."

A. W. Stewart, KLEN newsman here, said the plane burned fiercely, consuming an acre or two of cedar brush.

The plane went down in rough country nine miles east of here in Central Texas.

Stewart said he saw a partly burned wallet, from the crash scene which contained the papers of an Army reserve lieutenant named Rodney Anderleich of San Antonio.

He said the plane wreckage was charred and strewn over a wide area. He said there were bodies, but they "are torn up and burned so badly it's impossible to tell how many."

The four-engine jet tanker struck on a cedar-cloaked hillside, plowing a path 150 yards long and 200 feet wide as it disintegrated.

Searchers said a chunk of metal measuring four by five feet was the largest piece of the ship they could find in the darkness.

STEERS SEEK NINTH WIN IN CEE CITY

The Big Spring Steers will try to improve upon an 8-1 won-lost baseball record this afternoon in a game at Colorado City. Game-time is 4 p.m.
The contest is the first of four this week for the Longhorns. The last three will be played here. The Bovines host Lamesa in a singleton Friday, then play Snyder here in a pair on Saturday.
Chances are Kenny Johnson or Jay LeFevre will get the mound nod against Cee City today. Johnson showed to advantage in his last start, which was against Pecos.
In that one, Kenny went all the way on the hill, scattering five hits to win, 9-2.
Jay has hurled a no-hitter against Snyder this season. More recently, he made a one-inning relief appearance against Colorado City and surrendered a single.

Cousins On Team

Colorado City has a young, inexperienced club which could be tough on its home lot. The Wolves lost their first two starts — to Robert Lee and Big Spring. The Steers clobbered Ronnie Gurdley's team, 16-6, in their previous collision. In that one, the Steers started with an eight-run first and coasted in from that point.
Probable starters for Colorado City will find Dwain Thomas at second base, Jerry Treadwell at first, Koe Merritt at third, Don Vest at short stop, J. L. Soles in left field, Lucky Market behind the plate, Charley Wiggins in center, Alex Campbell in right field and Truman Stinson or Juan Lujan pitching.

Baird's subs will be given another chance to show their wares, if the Steers grab an early lead and hold it.

Joey Giambra On Fight Bill

DALLAS (AP)—Roy Harris has his third fight since his failure against world's heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson when he meets light heavyweight Donnie Fleeman tonight.

The speedy young man from Cut and Shoot rated seventh, hopes to win decisively and show he's still one of the top boxers of the major class. He thinks this will help him in getting another title match if Patterson gets rid of two boxers he'll meet soon—Brian London and Ingemar Johansson.

Harris fought Fleeman, the Texas light heavyweight champion, who ranks ninth nationally, last December and won by a mile although unable to deck him.
The fight tonight will be nationally televised (ABC) and will be for the Texas heavyweight championship, something Harris has held for several years.

The 12-round bout goes on at 9 p.m. CST. The scoring will be by the 10-point "must" system.
Fighting in interest with the Harris-Fleeman fight will be the second appearance of Joey Giambra, who had an arm operation seven months ago. Giambra was highly ranked among the middleweights at the time he went into inactivity.

Tonight Giambra meets tough Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., a boy Joey has beaten twice before.

Phils Are Not A Last Place Club: Sawyer

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Don't mention last place to Eddie Sawyer. The likeable Philadelphia manager has declared these two words taboo in the Phillies' camp.
"We're definitely not a last place club," Sawyer said. "We're greatly improved over last year. We've made several changes but the biggest change has been in our attitude. I think the biggest thing we've accomplished is getting rid of the losing complex. That alone makes us not a last-place club."

The Phillies have made two important trades. One gave them a second baseman, who may rank as one of the best defensive infielders in the league. He is George (Sparky) Anderson, formerly of Montreal. The other brought a new battery, pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas, from San Francisco. The work of this pair has lightened Sawyer's worries.

"I've got to like that deal," Sawyer said. "We needed a catcher. The combine batting average of the three we had last year was .210. Thomas hit around .260 and is a fine receiver. Gomez is an established pitcher who has still to reach his peak. He's been just about perfect this spring."

Sawyer reasoned that his pitching has got to be better because of the stronger defense and catching. He named Robin Roberts (17-14), Gomez (10-12), Curt Simmons (7-14), Don Cardwell (9-6), Ray Semproch (13-11) and Seth Morehead (1-6) as his starters.

"The pitching staff potentially is the best I've ever had," said Sawyer.
Sawyer also hopes for better hitting from Ed Bouchee, Stan Lopata and Wally Post, who had disappointing seasons in 1958.

Harry Anderson, the regular left fielder, gives every indication of being one of the top home run and RBI men in the league this year. Richie Ashburn, the National League batting champion, again will be in center field with Post in right. Bob Bowman and pinch hitter de luxe Dave Philley are the outfield alternates.

The infield shapes up with Bouchee at first, Anderson at second, Chico Fernandez at short and either Gene Freese or Willie Jones at third base. Ted Kazanski, Johnny O'Brien and Bobby Young probably will stick as utility infielders.

"It will be all up to our hitting," Sawyer said. "I'm not worried about the pitching. We need a right-handed power hitter to become a contender. We're overweighted with left-handers. Where we'll get a right-handed hitter I don't know but if we should get one we'll be on even terms with anyone."

Next—Los Angeles.

Nationals Seek To Oust Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The stubborn Syracuse Nationals attempt to snap Boston's home-court hex and eliminate the Celtics tonight in a Garden showdown for the right to represent the Eastern division for the National Basketball Assn. championship.

All even after six games in their best-of-seven struggle, the Nationals face a monumental struggle to sweep past the Celtics and into the NBA finals against the Minneapolis Lakers, Western division conquerors of mighty St. Louis.

In the three previous games in Boston, the Celtics have clobbered the upstart-minded Syracuse team by margins of 22, 22 and 21 points, respectively.
Key members of both teams nursed minor ailments, but all hands are expected to be ready for the vital engagement.

The Syracuse-Boston winner will open in best-of-seven finals at home against the Lakers Saturday afternoon, with the second game on Sunday. The third and fourth contests will be in Minneapolis-St. Paul on the nights of April 7 and 9.

Proposed Robinson-Pender Title Fight Called A Joke

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the National Boxing Assn. Ratings Committee said today a middleweight title bout between champion Ray Robinson and Paul Pender "would be nothing more than a joke."

"Pender is not his fight," declared Saddy. "Pender just made 10th place on the NBA's list of contenders to Robinson's title. Robinson has got to fight Carmen Basilio, No. 1, or Gene Fullmer, No. 2."

Saddy referred to the disclosure that the Sharkey A. A. of Boston had wanted Robinson $100,000 to meet Pender in a 15-round title fight in June. George Gaimford, Robinson's manager, described the offer as "quite attractive."

Earlier in the week Saddy said his group might withdraw its recognition of Sugar Ray as champion unless he signs for a title defense by April 25 — exactly 13 months after he recaptured the crown from Basilio.
If Robinson were to accede — and Saddy thinks he will — the NBA would seek a title match between Basilio and Fullmer, both former champions.
The NBA chose Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, the newly crowned featherweight champ, as

Gene Conley Goes To Philadelphia

In 1951, the Philadelphia Phillies gave Ted Kazanski $80,000 to sign a bonus contract. Two years later Pittsburgh gave Johnny O'Brien a "five-figure" sum to join the Pirates.
Tuesday the Milwaukee Braves gave the Phils virtually nothing but a longshot for both infielders, plus power-hitting catcher Stan Lopata.

The longshot is long 6-foot-3 Gene Conley, the basketball-playing pitcher who had 0-6 record for the National League champions last season. His earned run average was 4.88 in 26 innings. Since 1954, when he won 14 games as a rookie, the 28-year-old right-hander has been going downhill.

OPENS THURSDAY

Sam Snead Is 5-1 Masters' Choice

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Sam Snead, budding star of television, made the 5-1 betting favorite today to snare his fourth Masters' golf championship.
Mainly on the strength of his phenomenal 13-match unbeaten streak in the nationally televised series, the West Virginia slugger drew top advance billing over Ken Venturi of San Francisco, 6-1, and a trio of past winners, defender Arnold Palmer, Cary Middlecoff and Ben Hogan, bracketed at 8-1.

Although open betting in this Dixie fairway extravaganza is strictly verboten, a bookmaker has printed a "line" which is flagrantly distributed in the hotel lobbies and around the course.
The 72-hole tournament — the 23rd edition of Bobby Jones' brainchild — opens Thursday on the lush Augusta National course where President Eisenhower's quick hook is no stranger. There's a round a day through Sunday.

The advance odds may undergo some quick revision overnight in view of the redhot practice performances of 1958 champion Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, Tex., who has had successive rounds of 66 and 64.
Although it's strictly shadow boxing, as Burke admits, these were two of the finest back-to-back rounds ever played over the monstrous 6,980-yard, par 72 course — for keeps or for fun.

In two days Jackie, who is listed as a 12-1 shot, has had 14 birdies, 22 pars and not a single bogey.
Snead, winner here in 1949, 1952 and 1954, is still riding the crest of his television winnings, which have amounted to $28,000.

Playing on tough courses, he met the game's top players and beat them all over a period of several months, ending last November. He averaged 67.2 strokes for 13 rounds, never went over 70 and had one 63 — a record at Sea Island, Ga.
"Snead is playing better golf than he did 15 years ago," said Ray O'Brien, former PGA tournament director and now technical director for the TV series.

Snead's odds are 5-1 to win, 2-1 to place and even money to finish third. Venturi, the pick of the newsmen, is 6-1, 3-1 and 3-2.
Ninety golfers, including an array of past champions, are expected to tee off. In the list is a formidable foreign contingent including British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia, Gary Player of South Africa, David Thomas of Wales and Angel Miguel of Spain.

Braves Looking To O'Brien To Solve Infield Problems

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, seeking a second baseman to hold together their pennant winner, today looked to Johnny O'Brien to fill the gap left by ailing Red Schoendienst.
"O'Brien was acquired by the Braves Tuesday night in a 3-for-3 swap with the Philadelphia Phillies, who apparently feel that their own second base problem is solved."

The Braves got O'Brien, hard-hitting catcher Stan Lopata and utility infielder Ted Kazanski for pitcher Gene Conley, infielder-outfielder Harry Hanebrink and long-time minor league infielder Joe Koppe.
"O'Brien could figure strongly in our infield," said Manager Fred Haney of the Braves. After trying seven men at second this spring, Haney was wary about handing the job to the light-hitting O'Brien, but added: "He's a scrappy little hustler. I like his style to play very much."

The Braves, with the tubercular Schoendienst out for at least a year, have been rebuffed by contending clubs in an effort to land a second baseman on the open market, but the Phils, looking for pitching depth, decided Conley, now playing professional basketball for the Boston Celtics, is a good gamble. In making the trade, they firmly installed George (Sparky) Anderson, the rookie acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the off-season, at the infield pivot.

Kazanski has played second, third and short. The Braves said he would be assigned to Louisville in the American Assn.
Conley had an 0-6 record and a 4.88 ERA with the Braves last season but insisted he wasn't given a fair chance. He turned to pro basketball this winter and has been a holdout.

Both Koppe, 27, and Hanebrink, 31, have to prove themselves. Koppe played only 16 games with the Braves in '58, and Hanebrink, although appearing in 63, hit only .188.

Lopata could be a big man for Milwaukee. Although he slipped to nine homers last season, he has hit 116 in 11 years with the Pirates, defeated Detroit 6-5. Don Hoak homered in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie.
Billy Pierce and Bob Shaw combined on a six-hitter for the Chicago White Sox in a 5-1 victory over St. Louis.

San Francisco, getting homers from Bob Schmidt and Orlando Cepeda, defeated Cleveland 7-5.

Bob Friend gave up 15 hits but went the route for Pittsburgh as the Pirates' defeated Detroit 6-5. Don Hoak homered in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie.

Proud Montreal Team Is Shaded By Hawks Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Montreal's proud and mighty Canadiens today found themselves in the peculiar position of being tied with the lowly Chicago Black Hawks in the semifinals of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

The Hawks, who had beaten the Canadiens only once in 14 regular season games, made it two in a row Tuesday night with a 3-1 victory to knot the best-of-seven series at two-all.
The unexpected turn left the hockey world wondering if the Canadiens, shooting for an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley Cup, can get by the Hawks without their scoring twins, Jean Beliveau and Maurice Richard.

Richard has been out since mid-season but the Canadiens continued to make shambles of the National Hockey League. Beliveau was injured against the Hawks in the second period of Saturday night's game.
The Hawks, a team which was expected to lose four straight to Montreal, have come to life. They have not only outplayed the Canadiens but appear threatening to pull the upset of the year by skating past Montreal into the finals.

Only in the first period — when the Hawks were saddled with five penalties — did the Canadiens look like the team which has been called the best in hockey.
That's when Marcel Bonin scored his sixth goal of the series to give Montreal a 1-0 lead. From then on, it was the Hawks' night, much to the joy of a standing-room-only crowd of 17,538.

"We still have to win one in Montreal," said Coach Rudy Pilous, "and if we do that, I think we can take the silverware."
Montreal Coach Toe Blake, making it clear that his club suffered from the loss of Beliveau and Richard, said it was "anybody's game."

"We expected tough resistance from the Hawks and we got it," he said.
The series goes to Montreal Thursday and back to Chicago Saturday.

Queens Defeat Local All-Stars

The HCJC Jayhawk Queens slipped past the Big Spring All-Stars in two of three volleyball matches played at the college gymnasium last night.
The match was a filler-in since South Plains Junior College of Levelland had cancelled a game slated for last night. The SPJC team was disbanded after the Easter holiday, it was said.

The All-Stars, a group of high school girls and Big Spring women, gave the collegians all they were able to handle. Playing on a two of three 15-point basis, the Queens wrapped up the first two games, 15-11 and 15-10 for the victory.
Wanda Armstrong served 11 for the winners, with Jo Ann Howard welding pressure at the net. Barbara Hale Blizard played net for the All-Stars while Nita Beth Farquhar served seven points.

The college squad leaves Saturday morning for Abilene where it will compete in the Hardin-Simmons University volleyball tournament in Rose Field House. Three games can be held simultaneously in the Big gym and the tournament will be completed in one day.
On the All-Star team last night were Nita Farquhar, Barbara Hale Blizard, Mrs. Mona Johnson, Barbara Burchett, Pat Graves, Barbara Porch and Daury Cockrell.

Trapper Of Texas Wolves A Busy Man

GEORGETOWN (AP) — An increase in wolves in the last decade in well-settled Central Texas keeps Herman Watts busy.

He is a government trapper, hired to kill the animals, which prey on livestock. His home is Bastrop.

He has found business fairly good in this section, so well populated that the presence of wolves often is unsuspected.

Watts reported four killed in Williamson County in March, one weighing 60 pounds. He said two migrated from Bell County, but that the other two were Williamson County natives.

Sheep and goats are easy pickings for wolves. While a sheep will run if frightened, when it is caught it will lie down and quietly let itself be killed. "A sheep," sheepmen say, "is born looking for a way to die."

Watts says steel traps are out-moded and have been for a long time. He uses a small gun loaded with cyanide crystals.

The gun is a lightweight metal cylinder, about six inches long. A firing pin slips inside the cylinder, which is buried until only an inch or an inch and a half is above ground. Inside the cylinder is a 38-calibre revolver shell filled with cyanide crystals.

On top of this, Watts places a tuft of sheep wool and on that the bait.

Trappers usually mix their own bait and the mixture is aimed at luring the wolf by the baits' odor. The wolf, attracted by the odor, investigates. When he does so, the gun discharges, shooting the deadly crystals into his mouth. His career is over. He's had it.

If this doesn't sound sporting, Watts says neither is a wolf a sportsman. The four wolves he killed destroyed 140 sheep and goats in two communities, one near Jarrell and one near Round Rock.

"You can step on the gun, run your pickup over it, let your cow or horse walk all over it and nothing will happen," Watts says. "You have to give it a direct pull. Only a wolf or a dog will do that."

The same procedure is used for coyotes, although there are none in Williamson County.

Pharmacist Speaks At Rotary Meeting

Bill Woods of Midland, who succeeded Shine Philips of Big Spring as a member of the State Board of Pharmacy, was speaker at the local Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday.

The pharmacist discussed proposed legislation which would restrict the sale of certain drugs, including some derivatives of narcotics. He was introduced by Bennett Brooke, program chairman.

Seeds Of Cancer Planted Long Ago

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—The seeds of cancer may lurk in your body—an unwanted gift planted perhaps as long as 100,000 years ago in the cells of an ancestor.

Only a few such seeds among the trillions of cells of your body could start deadly, uncontrolled cancer.

As these seeds—perhaps sleeping viruses—were passed on generation to generation they may have awakened from time to time, bringing a sudden and unexpected cancer attack.

This is a theory expressed at this week's American Cancer Society seminar on cancer research and progress by Dr. Ludwik Gross, cancer unit chief of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bronx, N.Y.

These sleeping viruses somehow hitchhike a ride through the centuries with the genes of the cell—getting passed along with inherited factors from one generation to the next, Dr. Gross suggested. What awakens the deadly virus?

Nuclear Expert Seeking Divorce

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Nicholas Christofilos, the University of California nuclear scientist who conceived a new idea of harnessing thermonuclear fission, is seeking a divorce.

He charges his wife, Ely, with extreme cruelty and asked the Alameda County Superior Court to determine custody of their 18-month-old son, Nicholas Jr.

Mrs. Christofilos, born in Greece passed her U.S. citizenship test last week.

The scientist's work is credited with leading to atom bomb space tests.

Non-Partisan Group Ousted In K-C Vote

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A coalition of Democratic factions won control of the city government Tuesday, overthrowing the non-partisan organization which smashed the Pendergast machine in 1940.

The Democratic coalition won five seats on the 8-member City Council and ended 19 years of government by the Citizens Assn., an organization of Democrats, Republicans and independents.

It was the first defeat ever suffered by the association, formed specifically to challenge the underworld-infested machine of the late Tom Pendergast.

The Citizens Assn. ran on its record, claiming numerous civic improvements and a scandal-free administration. Association candidates said a coalition victory would mean a return of underworld influence.

Higher taxes, real and proposed, apparently played a primary role in the association's defeat. Plagued by inadequate revenue, the association supported a proposed earnings tax two years ago.

Voters defeated it in a special election by a wide margin. The council then levied several nuisance taxes to get needed revenue.

The coalition turned the taxes into a major campaign issue. Citizens Assn. incumbents retained three seats on the council and Mayor H. Roe Bartle, also an association man, won re-election.

Three of these men were endorsed by both the association and the coalition and faced only independent opponents. The fourth, Democratic councilman Harry Davis, was unopposed.

Bartle defeated former Jackson County Judge Ray G. Cowan. With 398 of 401 precincts reported, Bartle had an unofficial total of 52,915 votes to 39,588 for Cowan.

The Citizens Assn. made its best race in the Fourth District, where coalition candidate Joseph M. Walsh defeated Mrs. Harry E. Hagan by only 202 votes. For Fourth District councilman-at-large, the coalition's Charles Fisher defeated incumbent Frank S. Bree 45,499 to 43,485 with three precincts unreported.

The other coalition winners were William Royster, Charles C. Shafer Jr. and Sal Capra. Democrat Tom Gavin and Republican Joseph M. Nolan won re-election with dual support.

HOW'S YOUR SOAP BOX DERBY RACER SHAPING UP?

Designing and building your Soap Box Derby racer is an experience you'll always remember. It takes careful planning to put your racer together, so start early. If you haven't officially signed up for the Derby yet, be sure to take your parents to your Chevrolet dealer's and register now. And look over the Official 1959 Rule Book very carefully before you begin building your racer.

If construction problems come up, you can ask your Dad, manual training instructor or anyone else for advice. Don't forget, though, this is your racer, and nobody else can help you actually build it. So keep up the good work. Remember—follow your Official Rule Book carefully and build to win!

Crosby's Family Follows Pattern

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby has admitted what other famous fathers have discovered: it's not easy to rear children in Hollywood.
Speaking of his four elder sons, the crooner commented in an interview: "I think I've failed them by giving them too much work and discipline, too much money and too little time and attention."
Symptoms of Crosby's "failure" as a father: two sons have been arrested for drunk driving; all four have haunted the gay world of Las Vegas (Phil and Dennis married showgirls); the parties of Gary and Lindsay have brought complaints from neighbors.
Bing is not the only star to be troubled by his children. His brother Bob's son, Chris, 15, was once arrested when police said he tried to steal a car.
Edward G. Robinson Jr., has been in the news repeatedly with drunk arrests.
John Barrymore Jr. made the papers recently with a felony hit and run, drunk driving charge. His half-sister, Diana, wrote a teary book about her long battle with alcoholism.
Charles Chaplin Jr. has a police record for drunkenness.
Barbara Ann Burns, daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns, was sentenced to 90 days for drug addiction.

Chipmunk Man

Ross Bagdasarian, the hottest man in the record business with his singing chipmunks, listens to the playback from a tape recorder in Los Angeles. He experimented with a few recorded sounds. Bagdasarian, who grew up on a Fresno, Calif., vineyard, sang all the parts and conducted the orchestra for "Witch Doctor," "Chipmunk Song" and "Alvin's Harmonica." He was also the writer, arranger and copublisher. Bagdasarian, who uses the name David Seville on the records, achieves the chipmunk sound by re-recording at double speed.

CRITIQUE
Of The Local Entertainment Scene.

By Bob Smith

For years, Marjorie Havins has been trying to break through the art barrier. And, like in the breaking of the sonic and heat barriers in aeronautics, her breaking of the art barrier came from an unexpected source.
Further, her peculiar talent, may, in the end, pay more than most fields of art.
Like most all budding artists, Marjorie concentrated almost wholly on the more orthodox mediums of expression. This early work was not a loss of course, since a well-rounded fund of experience never hurt anyone, most particularly a painter.
She won her share of prizes, but still had not found the key—the particular medium or method by which she might become outstanding.
It is this critic's opinion that Marjorie Havins has at last found that key.
It is in that rather unorthodox field, which produces caricatures. Not just line drawings or shaded pencilings—she's more than a mere cartoonist—but fully colored, balanced paintings, "Minnie Magoo," which has taken several prizes, is a caricature of a homey girl who thinks she's a ravishing beauty—and it's an amusing (and penetrating) caricature.
Combined with a proper title, one or a few well chosen words describing an all-too-human trait, "Minnie Magoo" could find a ready market in any number of magazines. Marjorie's talent might conceivably lead to a continuing series of caricatures, such as the immortal "Females by Cole."
An ad that's been running recently features a large map. We're pleased to note among the figured landmarks the description "Little Theatre," instead of "the old museum building," which is what many people still call the Prairie Playhouse.
People are flooding John Austin with calls about readings for "The Seven-Year Itch," which he will direct for the Civic Theatre. He repeats: You don't have to be a member of the theatre to read for a part, but you should read the script before tryouts April 6, 7 and 8. If interested, call him, at AM 4-8247.

Remember those African dancers who were ordered to wear bras by the New York censor? Friend of mine in Gotham says "they had more fun letting them accidentally slip" during the performance. Poetic justice?
James Barrie, who wrote "The Little Minister," was author also of "The Admirable Critchton," a mirthquake that stuck Britain's 18th Century upper crust where it crumbled. The Critchton yarn has been made into a wonderfully funny film, and the minister story will be staged by the College Players Friday and Saturday evenings at HJC Auditorium. Curtain time, 8:15.

San Angelo College's Area Exhibition is open to Big Spring artists, and it will run April 19-30. Copies of the rules and entry blanks may be picked up from this critic, or from Mrs. Bill Unger, at The Herald office.

Emlyn Williams is a versatile man. Right now, he's on a reading tour of the U.S. featuring stories of Dylan Thomas. As a playwright, he has written such successes as "Night Must Fall," staged here last year by the College Players. He also starred in his own production when it was on Broadway. In films as well as on the stage, Williams' latest movie role was as the bearded Emile Zola in Jose Ferrer's "I Accuse!"
"Considering all the troubles the Civic Theatre has been through and that they've still stuck together, I feel it's about time Big Spring was supporting 'em."
With these words, a local citizen bought a season ticket for the theatre's three-play summer season—he bought it even though he knew he'd be able to attend only one.
Theatre members are selling tickets to their friends, acquaintances and anyone else they can buttonhole. But in case you haven't been contacted, you may buy by mail. Write to Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc., P. O. Box 643, Big Spring, Tex.
Tickets are $3 for one, $5 per couple, $1.50 for students. Each ticket entitles the holder to one seat at each of three plays: "The Seven-Year Itch," June 4, 5 and 6; "The Night of January 16th," July 9, 10 and 11; and "The Four Poster," July 30 and 31 and Aug. 1.

People are flooding John Austin with calls about readings for "The Seven-Year Itch," which he will direct for the Civic Theatre. He repeats: You don't have to be a member of the theatre to read for a part, but you should read the script before tryouts April 6, 7 and 8. If interested, call him, at AM 4-8247.

Hudson Dislikes Train Kissing

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I don't like to kiss anybody in a train station or airport," said Rock Hudson. "Here"—he indicated a movie set—"you practically have to have an affair in front of a lot of men."
The pride of Winnetka, Ill., was explaining why after 10 years of screen lovmaking—to Liz Taylor, Jennifer Jones, Jean Simmons, Jane Wyman, Anne Baxter and others—he still doesn't enjoy it.
"It's a pleasant contact but I don't like a public display of emotion," he said.
At 9 a.m., Hudson and Doris Day were in a clinch for "Any Way the Wind Blows." Getting it right was hard work.
Hudson, who got more than any one man's fair share in the distribution of good looks, and Miss Day, who must wear some kind of eyeball make-up—no eyes could be that blue—sat in various experimental positions on an enormous divan.
The director hovered, making suggestions. Carpenters hammered some of the scenery loose to make way for the camera.
Doris complained that part of the action—Rock breaking off a passionate kiss to stir up the fire—was phony. Rock didn't wholly agree. Leisurely lovmaking, he told her, is sort of like boxing: "there are rounds."

Hudson, who got more than any one man's fair share in the distribution of good looks, and Miss Day, who must wear some kind of eyeball make-up—no eyes could be that blue—sat in various experimental positions on an enormous divan.
The director hovered, making suggestions. Carpenters hammered some of the scenery loose to make way for the camera.
Doris complained that part of the action—Rock breaking off a passionate kiss to stir up the fire—was phony. Rock didn't wholly agree. Leisurely lovmaking, he told her, is sort of like boxing: "there are rounds."

Jimmy Dean Drops 'Sophistication'

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm about as sophisticated as a denim shirt," says Jimmy Dean. "You just can't make a sophisticate or a cutie-pie out of me."
Someone appeared to be attempting to do that a while ago with "The Jimmy Dean Show" on CBS-TV (2 p.m., EST, weekdays). But it didn't work. The audience ratings for the program declined.
Then, one day, Dean, a Texan, appeared in his old relaxed style of singing and chatting. Ever since the audience has been on the increase and everybody is happy again. Especially Dean.
"When I don't like what I'm doing it shows all over. The audience and everybody else know it. I know it isn't right to be that way, but I am. Maybe I still ought to be farming."
Dean, who was raised in Plainview, Tex., was asked whether he'd ever seriously thought of going back to farming if things got tough in the television business.
"No, sir," Dean replied. "You are looking at a man who has milked his last cow. I'll never be a farmer again come what whatever. A farmer leads a dog's life and never gets any credit for anything."
Dean learned to play the piano, accordion and guitar as a youth in Texas. The Air Force afforded him his first big break. One evening in 1946 he substituted for an ill musician in an Air Force band, and everybody decided he had talent.
After his discharge, he joined a band known as "Dub Harrington's Tennessee Hay Makers." Sometimes they hitchhiked to engagements. Sometimes they went broke. Dean, for example, has had such invaluable experiences as bartering an alarm clock for two lemon pies for breakfast and trading his leather flying jacket for 20 hamburgers for dinner.
In 1955 he began appearing regularly on WMAL-TV in Washington. A year later he went network on CBS with a morning show that competed successfully against Dave Garroway on NBC. As a result, he was selected to head his daily afternoon variety program. But he's in no haste to move permanently into regular night-time television.
Dean and his wife and their two children, Garry, 6, and Connie, 4, live in Greenwich, Conn.

Insurance Offered For Mental Illness

NEW YORK (AP)—Group Health Insurance Inc. is going to offer coverage for mental illness to 30,000 subscribers as an experiment.
The two-year experiment is being made with a $300,000 grant from the National Institute for Mental Health, according to an announcement Monday by Arthur H. Harlow Jr., president of the nonprofit insurance agency.
Most health insurance programs do not provide insurance against the cost of treatment for mental illness.
The 30,000 subscribers, selected from Group Health's regular subscribers, will be covered for 30 days of hospital care for mental illness, and for psychiatric treatment of various types in doctors' offices.

6½-Year Webb Veteran Ends Long Career In Armed Forces

M. Sgt. George G. McNelly, a veteran of 30 continuous years in the United States Air Force, retired Tuesday in a brief ceremony at Webb AFB Headquarters. Sgt. McNelly received his retirement certificate from Col. Kyle L. Riddle, base commander, who congratulated him on his service to the Air Force.

Along with his retirement, the sergeant received the Commendation Medal for his meritorious service as line chief of the 3560th Flight Line Maintenance Squadron (and Periodic). The citation read in part:

"He guided his squadron through the difficult period of transition from prop driven aircraft to jet aircraft, and at the same time maintained a maximum number of both types of aircraft in commission to meet mission requirements. Sgt. McNelly scheduled his personnel through a training program to qualify them in jet aircraft maintenance. His rare qualities of leadership and management reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

McNelly entered the service Feb. 22, 1929. He saw the hot P-1 come in and go, the F-80 thunder by, and the great LB-5 bomber give way to the B-52. The golden age of aircraft was truly his.

Bowling Field, Md., was his home for 18½ years, supplemented with tours in Africa and Germany. Webb Air Force Base has been home for him and his wife, Edie, since July 3, 1952.

On March 27, Sgt. McNelly was presented an inscribed watch by

The sergeant is wearing the Commendation Medal that was presented to him for his meritorious service while working in Maj. Hershock's squadron.

Masonic Lodge is in Washington, D. C., he has been an active visitor in both of the local lodges.

Sgt. and Mrs. McNelly left today for Southern California and retirement. They will stay with his parents in Corona Del Mar, Calif., while looking for a permanent home.

Big Crowd Is Expected To Greet Legion Leader Here

State, division, district and many West Texas post leaders of the American Legion will be in Big Spring Thursday for the official visit of National Commander Preston J. Moore.

Moore has included a visit to the Big Spring post as one stop in his three-day tour of the state. Accompanying Moore will be J. Walter Summerville, Department (State) commander. From Amarillo will be Charlie Hoppin, Grand

2nd Time For National Chief To Visit City

The appearance of Preston J. Moore, national commander of the American Legion, in Big Spring Thursday will mark the second occasion that the Big Spring Post has been so honored.

Commander Moore made his first Texas appearance Tuesday in Austin, when he addressed a joint meeting of the Senate and House. He was to meet with the Corpus Christi Post Tuesday evening before moving on to Bryan for a Wednesday noon meeting. Wednesday evening the commander and his party will be in Gainesville.

Breckenridge is to host city on Thursday for an appearance of Moore before a joint noon luncheon gathering of the service clubs and Legionnaires. The group will move on to Big Spring by plane at the conclusion of that meeting. The local visit will conclude the commander's Texas travels.

Big Spring was honored in 1947 when Paul H. Griffin, of Pennsylvania, made an official visit as national commander. The Big Spring Post numbering some 1,000 strong was one of Texas' most active.

The Post, under the command of Harold Steck, arranged a barbecue dinner filling the county warehouse in the north part of the city. The event attracted Legionnaires from a wide West-Texas area. Arrangements to greet the official party on the Thursday afternoon arrival have been completed with the cooperation of Col. Kyle Riddle. Traveling in a two-engine airplane the long runways at Webb Air Base are to be used for his landing.

The dinner honoring Moore is to be held at the Cosden Country Club at 7:45 p.m. Admission to members of the Post and the general public will be by ticket at $2 per plate.

Mobile First Aid Unit Is Planned

LAMESA Plans to form a mobile Red Cross first aid unit to operate in Dawson and Borden counties will be aired at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Chapel of Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Eligible to become members of the unit are all persons in the two counties who hold advanced Red Cross first aid certificates and have an automobile of which they are the principal driver. Organization of a unit to serve in all emergencies is being conducted as part of the work of the Dawson-Borden Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Jobless Pay

AUSTIN (AP) — Jobless payments dropped below one million dollars last week for the first time in 1959, the Texas Employment Commission reported yesterday.

Chief de Gare (state commander) of the 406th District is Arthur Winans, Uvalde, 5th Division commander. National committee-man Joe Mathews, Fort Worth, and G. Ward Moody, Austin, Department adjutant, are in the visiting group.

District commanders in the 5th Division are also to be on hand including Charles W. Mason, 18th District, Amarillo; Troy Bowen, Sweetwater, 17th; Dr. Robert Cleere, San Angelo, vice commander of the 21st; Bill Goode, Sanderson, 16th.

Also expected to be on hand will be Hilton Lambert, Snyder, past 5th Division commander, and Frank Stephenson, Snyder, department sergeant at arms; Warren Limer, past 19th District commander from Seminole; and William Lowrey, Odessa past 16th District commander.

From El Paso Maurice Kubby, national membership committee-man, will be present along with 19th District Commander Raymond L. Andrews of the Big Spring Post and T. A. Thigpen, only other Big Spring member to hold the district command.

Past commanders of the Big Spring Post will serve as hosts for the event. They include Frank Hardesty, Johnny Ray Dillard, Roger Miller, Jack Pearson, H. W. Wright, Edward Fisher, George Zachariah and J. V. Gregory.

Operation "Night Rider" was activated Monday night by members of the Howard County Post of the American Legion. Purpose of the mission was to insure a maximum attendance at the Thursday evening dinner at the Cosden Country Club, honoring Preston J. Moore, national commander of the organization.

A Devotional For Today

Ye are the salt of the earth. (Matthew 5:13.)

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to practice the Christian ideal of self-effacing service. Make us truly humble by helping us to recognize our needs and imperfections. As salt seasons food, may we make life more pleasant and meaningful for others. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

Safety And License Suspension

At the highway traffic safety conference in Houston last week Gov. Price Daniel came out flatly for a law providing for license suspension for any motor vehicle operator who exceeds the speed limit by as much as 20 miles an hour.

He also favors suspension for any driver convicted of four speeding violations, or two driving-while-intoxicated violations.

Connecticut and New Jersey are two states which have reduced traffic fatalities by stern imposition of license suspension. People who brush off a fine with a laugh aren't able to laugh off a suspension. It affects both their business and their pleasure.

At the same meeting State Sen. Robert W. Baker called for periodic examination of all license holders. It is possible, he said, for some Texas drivers to hold a valid driving permit though drawing compensation for being blind or otherwise totally disabled.

Sen. Baker cited as a horrible example of repeated traffic violations a recent high-ticket case in San Antonio.

"It is difficult to understand," he said, "why a licensee with 47 moving traffic violations on his record and 39 previous suspensions, can legally continue to drive, while a fourth suspension is on appeal to the county court."

To be really effective in taking chronic violators out of circulation, however, a sterner approach to the problem would have to be taken. Some courts are not as stern with that type of violator as they might be, but are sometimes soft in the head as well as the heart.

The burden of retaining or regaining the right to drive should be placed on the man at the bar. In some states a commissioner suspends the license in the first place and only he can lift the suspension. Presumably the licensee has the privilege of appeal, but the point is that the whole burden of doing so is placed on him. He must show cause why he should be reinstated, rather than the state having to show cause why he shouldn't.

Driving is not a natural or political right. It is a privilege. To bring control of vehicular traffic into some sort of focus more potent weapons against the rather small percentage who cause most of the trouble must be forged. Last year in Texas, for instance, 58 per cent of highway traffic deaths involved excessive speed and 39 per cent involved drinking drivers.

Colo's Confused, That's All

A team of psychiatrists from Ohio State University who studied the behavior and reactions of a baby gorilla in the Columbus Zoo and pronounced it on the disorganized side and somewhat intellectually retarded even for a gorilla got a ferocious rise out of the zoo superintendent, Earl Davis.

No parent who ever heard his child downgraded was more insulted and outraged than Mr. Davis. He pointed out that the 26-week old baby, named Colo, was subjected to tests often when tired out from playing, and that gorillas are naturally shy animals. He wondered how he and his staff would come out if this same team of psychiatrists should put them over the hurdles.

Colo, incidentally, is the only gorilla ever born in captivity. The team rated man first, the chimpanzee second and the gorilla third in intellectual development, but the gorilla first in motor development.

We were never chummy with chimps and gorillas, but we have had a life-long association with cats and dogs. We rate the dog more lovable, loyal and ingratiating than the cat, but in our book the cat is the more intelligent of the two—as independent as a hog on ice, more demanding, more determined to have its way, and possessed of a curiosity bump far more active than that of the human child.

Moreover, the cat has something no other animal this side of the anthro-poids possesses as far as we know: A sense of humor, beyond mere playfulness. If a cat is less sensitive to the moods of its master or mistress than a dog, it is because it is lacking in sympathy, and this in turn may derive from its total independence—it just doesn't give a hoot.

Like human beings, cats and dogs vary in the degree of intelligence, loyalty and tractability or adaptability they possess. But most animals have some degree of the quality which, for want of a better and more accurate term, we call intelligence. Sometimes the degree of it possessed by man is subject to debate.

David Lawrence Labor Attitude Of Ten Years Ago

WASHINGTON—When President Eisenhower appealed last week to labor and management for "statesmanship on both sides," he was concerned with its absence nowadays at the bargaining table.

How different, for instance, is the attitude of the big labor unions today from what it was only 10 years ago when there was evidence of real statesmanship as well as sound economics! Attention was called recently to this contrast by one of the editors of the "Springfield (Mass.) Republican," who wrote that, on unwrapping an old mirror, he found in a 10-year-old newspaper some quotations which afford an opportunity for comparison with what is being said today. In the article, which happened to be one that this correspondent wrote on June 21, 1949, there was an excerpt from the monthly survey issued by the national headquarters of the American Federation of Labor and distributed to local unions throughout the country. The AFofL declaration read as follows:

"In the present precarious business situation, wise union policies are of utmost importance in negotiating with your employer. Get the facts on his financial condition and outlook from him if possible; supplement your information by writing to AFofL headquarters.

"Perhaps your employer's prospects are excellent; but if his profit margin is being squeezed by price declines your future will be more secure if you help him improve his competitive position. A wage increase may depend upon a plan of union cooperation to prevent waste, save expense, cut costs, improve production.

"Such a plan can be developed through a union-management production committee. Now is the time to revise this pre-war idea and make it effective for today's needs."

This writer in his 1949 dispatch characterized the statement as "an excellent example of responsible leadership in the trade-union movement," and added:

2-B Big Spring, Tex., Wed., April 1, 1959

"The main pillar of the free-enterprise system is competition, but again and again wage rates are forced upwards by considering only what large units in business can absorb. These are the very industries that put smaller companies in the red or out of business.

"The AFofL does not by any means abate its interest in wage increases. In fact, it urges these be sought wherever possible because of the need for maintaining consumer purchasing power.

"There is no doubt that union leaders of the responsible type are fearful of the effects of the present recession. The fact that they are sending out words of reassurance concerning the underlying strength of the economic system does not alter the fact that they know this is no time for boat-rocking on extraneous issues."

The "Springfield Republican" in its editorial the other day describes the 1949 pronouncement of the AFofL as significant of what its doctrines used to be before the merger and prior to "the AFL's absorption of the Reuther philosophy," and adds this comment:

"Today, the merged AFL-CIO demands regular annual pay boosts, plus ever-mounting fringe benefits and other built-in inflation devices, regardless of the competitive position of any business."

Large unions, moreover, are frustrating the historic process of job creation by setting uniform wage rates in an industry on a scale that the big companies usually can afford to pay, but which compel the smaller companies to operate on thin margins of profit or in the red.

Nowadays the AFL-CIO merged organization seems to have two voices. George Meany tends to be like his predecessors in the AFL—Sam Gompers and Bill Green—while Walter Reuther makes speeches which would indicate that he sincerely believes the American economic system would fare better along socialistic lines and with more and more government control, intervention or even government ownership. His views are often reflected by many of the so-called "liberals" in Congress.

There's a big argument currently as to what has caused inflation. The fact is that the dollar is 52 cents less in buying power than 20 years ago. Wage rates that are forced upward irrespective of the higher prices they induce can only result in more and more unemployment. The workers with seniority keep their jobs. The younger ones lose them. As for the youth coming of age in the labor market, many don't get jobs at all. Unemployment today is due largely to the attacks on the private-enterprise system by thoughtless labor-union leaders. This is the opposite of statesmanship. It can only bring discouragement to private initiative and, finally, introduce a species of government control and monopoly.

There is no substitute for competition, and even the labor-union movement, which is governed by a monopoly today, would be far better off with a little competition inside its own ranks or at least some of the 1949 statesmanship that sincerely recognized at the bargaining table the common interest of employer and employee.

No Strings?

James Marlow A Vacuum In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The absence of John Foster Dulles, ill with cancer, has left a vacuum in Washington. At this time of trouble with the Soviet Union he could have been making the most use of his special technique.

That technique was to hold news conferences where he could do a number of jobs at once: Get across American viewpoints, state foreign policy positions, float trial balloons, answer the Soviets, try to put them on the defensive.

Secretary of State Dulles held more news conferences than any other member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

Undersecretary Christian A. Herter—the man who is taking Dulles' place—has not held a news conference since Dulles went to the hospital Feb. 9.

It is understandable that Herter should be reluctant to sound off. Although Dulles was in the hospital, Eisenhower consulted with him frequently and Herter could hardly try to run the show.

Eisenhower relied on Dulles in foreign affairs to an amazing degree, and delegated to him enormous power and responsibility, particularly as a spokesman.

Eisenhower's news conferences were never the same as Dulles' if only because he lacked Dulles' detailed knowledge of events abroad. But he also lacked Dulles' training and skill in language.

Eisenhower, with Dulles no longer at his side, in recent weeks has asserted more leadership in foreign affairs than when Dulles was in there carrying the ball. The President has been increasingly forceful.

Anyone who ever attended a Dulles news conference could not but admit he was a master at using the precise phrase to get the exact effect he sought.

A great deal which could be said about the Berlin crisis is going unsaid because Dulles isn't there. Herter has held no news conferences and Eisenhower's news conferences provide about all the administration is saying on Berlin.

The recent conference here between Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is a good example of how Dulles' presence on the scene is missed.

The British managed to pump out to correspondents—or to selected correspondents—the British viewpoint. The American viewpoint in the talks with Macmillan was much less publicized.

Dulles, if he had been around, would have taken care of that.

Ironically, it is possible the Soviets have agreed to a foreign ministers meeting on Berlin preliminary to a summit meeting—because it seems unlikely Dulles could attend it.

Before the Soviets ever created the Berlin crisis they were calling on Eisenhower early in 1958 to meet them at the summit.

They had long correspondence with the President about it. But early in that letter-writing campaign the then Premier Bulganin made it plain the Soviets did not want a foreign ministers meeting with Dulles.

Bulganin didn't mention Dulles by name but even so he was almost insulting in the way he told Eisenhower that trying to do business with Dulles, from the Soviet viewpoint, was no good.

It was only in March—after Dulles' condition had been diagnosed as cancer and it seemed probable he would never return to his post—that the Soviets agreed to a foreign ministers meeting before holding a summit conference.

Still Burning

NEW STRAITSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Some 75 years after he was first ignited, a mine fire here still plagues residents: A section of Ohio Route 261 disappeared recently when the fire ate too close to the surface.

Several stories are given of the fire's origin. Some say it's the result of a 1884 strike; others that it's from coal refuse.

Hula Hazards

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—City police say hula hoops have created a new traffic hazard.

"The kids used to have to stand still to make the hoops work," says Sgt. Sam Hill. "But now they are so good they can walk and hula at the same time. And a lot of them walk across busy streets whirling their hoops and not looking for automobiles."

Handy Advice

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A rudimentary course in obstetrics is part of the inservice training program for South Portland's 24 police patrolmen. Since patrolmen frequently have to aid the stork, particularly when he arrives sooner than expected, the Portland chapter, American Red Cross, added some simple obstetrical instructions to its first-aid training of the city police.

Just Asking

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Bill Hartley, campaigning for city council, was stopped by a university student and spent 20 minutes answering questions about the American electoral system.

"Are you registered to vote?" Hartley finally inquired.

"Oh, no," explained the youth. "I'm from Saudi Arabia."

Dandy Dancer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Patrolman Darrel Behrens has to admit there's variety in the life of a policeman. One of his recent arrests was that of a 32-year-old man clad in a cellophane skirt, two lewis and a pair of bright red pants doing a soft shoe hula dance in the middle of a Denver street on a Saturday afternoon.

Around The Rim Now Who Could Have Said That?

I have always relied implicitly on the quotation from Voltaire, to wit: "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Well, it turns out he didn't say it. E. Beatrice Hall, writing under the nom de plume of S. G. Tallentyre, voiced this as the epitome of what she thought Voltaire would have or should have said. It caught on and has come down today as a rock-ribbed Voltaireism.

Now going the rounds is a quotation on juvenile delinquency. It pinpoints with great accuracy the temper of our times. At the end comes the clincher—it is attributed as a writing of Socrates. Along comes a member of the Fourth Estate the other day and offers a fat reward to any scholar anywhere who can prove that Socrates pined off this little gem.

In the first place, Socrates didn't write—he discoursed. In the next place Plato and Xenophon did most of his reporting, and the quote is said not to be found among their offerings.

Roy H. Copperud, in a little essay on quotations recently, makes the point that a lot of famous and witty sayings are the product someone else's mind. They, like Beatrice Hall, put together a catchy combination of words and attribute it indirectly to a famous personality. Now not all of them are distortions and some capture the flavor of a certain view or personality, but they just weren't uttered by the VIP.

This is probably the case with 90 per cent of the Goldwynisms attributed to the odd-ball genius of Samuel Goldwyn.

For instance, Sam is reputed to have said after a fervent plea for a certain deal: "Please include me out." There are oodles of others, and for a long time every morsel of "double-talk" was quoted as an utterance from Mr. Goldwyn. Words were taken away from lesser lights who actually created them and were put in Sam's mouth.

Copperud says that the phrase, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it" did not come from Mark Twain as most of us would stoutly maintain. Apparently these were penned by Charles Dudley Warner, editorial writer in the Hartford (Conn.) Courant. He wrote: "A well-known American writer once said that while everyone talked about the weather, nobody seemed to do anything about it."

He also burns at the attributions to good old Anon. For example, Anon is supposed to have said "Baldness may not be pretty, but it's neat." Don Herold said it by penning "there's one thing about baldness—it's neat." Anon gets credit for a lot of mighty sharp sayings because people have faulty memories or are too lazy to consult the library.

Charles E. Stanton, chief disbursing officer of the AEF, was sent by Gen. John J. Pershing to speak at the tomb of Lafayette in Paris on July 4, 1917. "Lafayette, we are here!" said Stanton, but credit went to Pershing. To this day the quote persists in the popular mind as Pershing's. It so rankled Stanton that this might have been one of the factors in an undying cocklebur in the relations between Pershing and Stanton in later years.

I'll never be troubled with that. My difficulty is that when someone comes up with a foot-in-mouth expression or there is a grossly embarrassing typographical error, some of my colleagues or contemporaries will inquire: "Did Pickle say that?" —JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb The Non-Communist Oath For Everybody

It is one woman's opinion that if the non-Communist oath is required to protect this great nation from destruction, it should be required of all citizens and not just of certain categories of citizens.

It does not seem just to require a non-Communist oath of one group of honorable citizens, such as public school teachers, college professors, union officials and officers and directors of corporations, i.e., employers, while other categories of citizens, such as firemen, lawyers, doctors, newspapermen and Indian chiefs are exempt.

At the moment, employers, that is "officers and directors of corporations, and employers and partners in unincorporated businesses who, within the preceding 12 months have invoked the services of the National Labor Relations Board" do not now have to take a non-Communist oath, as the Taft-Hartley law now requires of union leaders.

However, such a proviso extending the non-Communist oath to employers has been drafted by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. What is sauce for the goose is surely sauce for the gander. If union leaders must take the oath, then it is only fair to extend it to industrial leaders.

But if union and industrial leaders must eventually take the non-Communist oath and if, in some communities, teachers must swear to it, then I firmly believe that every citizen in the land should be required to stand up and be counted in the same way.

It is just as logical to require engineers, nurses, plumbers, psychiatrists and students more than 18 years of age to take the oath as to demand it of other equally loyal groups of citizens. No matter what Congress and Federal or state authorities argue, there is a stigma attached to taking such an oath as long as only certain groups of citizens are required to swear to it.

But if every citizen, when he reaches the age of 18, is required to sign a non-Communist oath, the stigma disappears. We're all the same, taking our turn at the oars. The only fair way to administer such an oath is to make it mandatory for all.

It would be interesting to know the statistics, if any are available, of the number of Reds who have been smoked out and brought to book through the agency of the non-Communist oath. How many Communist labor leaders have been ousted by this proviso of the Taft-Hartley law? (This is not a roundabout attack on the Taft-Hartley law; I'd strengthen it, not water it down, if I had my way.)

Certainly, the first person to take the non-Communist oath, with a loyal smile on his face will be the dedicated Communist. Maybe, eventually, the government can get him for perjury. But this is a little like convicting Al Capone for income tax fraud.

It seems to me that the oath is not only bootless but, at times, carried to absurd lengths. About 10 years ago, when New York City held its first completely incompetent air raid alert (and they have not improved since), I had to sign a non-Communist oath in order to receive from the authorities a reporter's badge that would permit me to watch and report on this exercise in futility. It still beats me to try to conceive how a Communist-in-reporter's clothing could have loused up or hindered the incompetent exercise.

Let us in the future, if a non-Communist oath is deemed necessary to protect the republic, make it a requirement in which all, and not just certain groups of citizens, are involved. That is the democratic way such an oath is supposed to protect.

The Gallup Poll Public Favors Firmness On Berlin

PRINCETON, N. J. — Nikita Khrushchev is having no more success in threatening the American people on Berlin than his Kremlin predecessor, Josef Stalin, did 10 years ago.

Then, as now, the basic issue at stake in the beleaguered German city, as the public sees it, is the same:

"We've got to stand firm or Russia will overrun all of Europe."

If standing firm means keeping Western troops in Berlin even at the risk of war, the public is willing today—as it was over a decade ago—to take that gamble.

The latest vote on the issue, in fact, is amazingly similar to that recorded in the late spring of 1948 when the Soviet blockade of Berlin provoked one of the first major crises in the "cold war."

At that time, Gallup Poll reporters asked voters across the nation:

"Do you think the U. S. and her Western European allies should stay in Berlin, even if it means war with Russia—or should the U. S. give up Berlin to the Russians?"

The vote:

STAY IN BERLIN?	1948	Per cent
Stay in Berlin	80
Give up Berlin	11
No opinion	9

When Gallup Poll reporters asked voters their sentiments on the same basic issue in recent days, here is how those persons familiar with the Berlin crisis replied:

"Do you think we should keep American forces in Berlin—along with British and French forces—even at the risk of war?"

STAY IN BERLIN?

1959	Per cent
Yes, should	81
No, should not	11
No opinion	8

Since Khrushchev raised the Berlin issue anew in his ultimatum to the West last November, checks on public opinion have found virtually no change in voters' attitudes toward keeping U. S., British and French forces in West Berlin.

The most recent vote, for example, closely parallels that recorded immediately following Khrushchev's ultimatum on the subject as reported last December.

The vote among those familiar at that time (77 per cent):

STAY IN BERLIN?	DEC., '48	Per cent
Yes, should	78
No, should not	11
No opinion	11

Compared to other critical national issues of recent years, the Berlin crisis has stirred up wide interest throughout the nation and in all segments of the population—78 out of every 100 voters nationally say they have heard or read about it.

The situation in Germany is being most widely followed in the East and Far West regions of the U. S. Gallup Poll reporters in the Southern states found the least amount of interest in developments in Berlin.

In all areas of the country, however, the survey finds overwhelming majority support among those interested in the situation for keeping Western forces in Berlin.

All voters who were familiar with the present crisis in Germany (78 per cent) were asked:

"Do you think this Berlin crisis will end in war, or not?"

The results:

WILL BERLIN CRISIS END IN WAR?	Per cent
No, will not	59
Yes, will	22
No opinion	19

If not a war in Berlin, what does the public think will happen? When voters were asked for their guess on the eventual outcome of the German crisis, three major courses, other than war, were mentioned most frequently. These were:

1. That Russia would back down and the West would score a major cold war victory.
2. That some form of agreement between the Soviets and the Western Powers would be reached.
3. That the Berlin crisis would simply continue—as in the past—as another irksome feature of the cold war with neither side winning.

Oriental Look

The serene and subtle makeup suggested by Helena Rubinstein complements the exotic modern fashions derived from the Oriental, represented here by a Chinese painting of an Empress of Ch'ien Lung (1736-1795).

Classic Beauty

The soft pillared coiffure, draped chiffon overblouse, sculptured eyebrows and lipline of the model are influences suggested by the Athenian woman who graces the 400 B.C. marble at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Empire Influence

It's reflected here in the high-rising waist, jeweled watch and chain, pale luminous makeup with dramatic eye accent of the model photographed at the Metropolitan Museum of Art with Ingres' portrait of Madame Leblanc.

Adapt Fashions To Type Beauty Expert Advises

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

This is a wonderful age for women, when you can be your own type and yet adapt the influence of age-old fashion, says longtime beauty authority, Helena Rubinstein. She explains: "The woman who is unalterably American misses an exciting adventure in her appearance in 1959. American accents of beauty may be coupled with those of other lands and periods — Oriental, Empire, Classic — for a fresh, different look."

Oriental Trend

"Rich Oriental designs demand simple, chic hairdos," she advises. "Brows should be feathered to straightness, black pencil used perhaps for a slight downward line at the inner corners of the eyes to give a pleasing hint of the almond-eyed look. An opalescent blue shadow beneath brows with a platinum accent at the lids adds further to the look. The mouth should be a small bow of tender pink, and liquid rouge should be placed low on the cheek to leave a highlight on the cheekbones. Nails are important to the Oriental scheme also, and opalescent pearl polish topped with opalescent rose may give you unforgettable finger tips."

Flowing Lines

"The classic line is always with us," Madame Rubinstein says. "It is a soft, classic drape of flowing chiffon, a perennial spring favorite, emerging this year as a complement to sheer wools. A high piled Greek coiffure and simple but definite make-up" is the charm note, she says. "Brows should be penciled to an even curve, eyes outlined with eye pencil, and perhaps platinum eye shadow. The lipline may be full and firm with a bright red lip outline, filled in with a lighter shade to give the impression of added fullness. Jewelry is simple, but sizable to further enhance the classic look."

Empire Influence

"There is no need to be extreme about making fashion changes. To make the most of any fashion, coiffure, clothes and make-up must be complementary. A flick of an eye pencil, a change in powder shade and a natural lip-line variation may be all that is needed for an intriguing appearance."

stick, pale and pretty may be used alone to underplay the mouth or over a deeper shade to achieve more color.

$70,000 Asked in Wreck Suit

A damage suit in which Edgar L. Meeks seeks $70,000 of the Texas & Pacific Railroad was scheduled to begin this afternoon in 11th District Court.

The suit is styled Edgar L. Meeks versus Texas & Pacific Railroad Co. It developed out of an accident west of the city on Aug. 16, 1958.

A jury panel summoned for this week was to report at 1 p.m. The members of the panel had been excused until that hour after a jury had been chosen Monday to try the suit of W. A. Bonner versus Clyde Leroy Turner. This suit for damages terminated sooner than was anticipated Tuesday afternoon.

A verdict for the defendant was returned by the jury. It had been anticipated the trial would last until noon today when the panel was excused Monday morning.

Meeks is suing the railroad for injuries he claims he suffered as result of his automobile crashing into an engine and box cars being shuttled across a spur track on one-half mile west of the city limits last Aug. 16.

He claims the railroad did not exercise proper caution and that he was injured in the accident. He did not see the train being moved over the crossing, he claims, and his car crashed into the boxcars.

Attorneys estimated the case might take the remainder of this week to try.

Zale's Offering Special Values On 35th Birthday

In tribute to its customers, Zale's Jewelry Co. is celebrating its 35th birthday by putting the reverse switch on an age-old gift-giving tradition.

There'll be no birthday gifts for Zale's. Instead, the nation's largest retail jeweler through a month-long "anniversary spectacular" has arranged money-saving specials for the many customers who have made the birthday possible.

The merchandising event, which will open Thursday has been in preparation for more than six months by Zale buyers both in this country and overseas.

In anticipation of the gift-giving season just around the corner, emphasis has been placed upon those items most desired for Mother's Day, graduation, weddings and anniversaries.

Among the unusual values planned for the event is the first Baylor six-transistor radio, a Zale's-own item produced by the same group of experts responsible for the firm's popular line of low-priced, top-value watches.

Perhaps the largest savings planned during the birthday event are due in the diamond and diamond-watch department, where Zale's direct-purchase plan permits the greatest customer benefits.

Because Zale buys its diamonds direct from the London Syndicate, imports them at a rate of more than 16,000 per week, and cuts, polishes, and assembles them in its own New York plants, Zale's can pass along to customers a greater saving in diamonds.

Important savings made possible through Zale's volume purchasing are planned in all departments, including appliances, cameras, silverware and dinnerware.

About The G.I. special Assistance Program

This program has no effect on G.I. Eligibility for home loans, but is an aid to the builder in making mortgage money more readily available.

The G.I. Eligibility for World War II Veterans expires July, 1960, unless another extension is granted.

The Korean War Veterans G.I. Bill is in effect indefinitely.

The Interest Rate Is 4 3/4% On Our Special Assistance Homes — The Interest Rate Will Probably Go Up May 1st.

'Downtown' Digs Deep To Battle Blight

EDITOR'S NOTE: Who is going to pay for the downtown facelift which many cities need? Here, in the second of four stories on Abilene's solution to "downtown blight," is one city's answer.

By TIM PARKER
ABILENE (AP)—Every citizen has a stake in his city's downtown area. Downtown is headquarters for the city's business, government and entertainment life. And downtown pays a larger share of taxes than any similar area.

But when Abilene decided on a wholesale attack on "downtown blight," it was clear the cost would be too great for the common taxpayer alone to bear. The businessmen would have to reach into their own pockets.

But first the general public's role was confirmed.

In a special election last August, voters approved $3,850,000 in bonds for water, sewer, parks, street and airport improvements.

Part of the money goes for a new underpass beneath the railroad tracks to unite the split business districts. Some of it goes to widen one of the two present underpasses.

The downtown street, sidewalk and storm sewer program alone will cost $1,309,596. The pavement there will be extra heavy with a thick soil-cement sub-base. The Portland Cement Assn. says Abilene is the first city to use this super-highway type paving downtown.

Of the $1,309,596 cost downtown, more than $350,000 will be paid in the form of special assessments against property owners there.

HIGH RATE
Every downtown property owner is paying at the rate of $16 per "front foot." For every 12 inches of his property facing any of the 42 downtown blocks involved in the rebuilding program, the owner cuts up $16.

Even that doesn't represent total costs to the downtowners. Such utility companies as Lone Star Gas Co. and West Texas Utilities Co. pay three times. They pay their share as taxpayers. They pay $16 per foot assessments. And they wind up paying even more to replace and re-route downtown mains and lines.

Both firms are major boosters of the revitalization program. Cal Young, head of West Texas Utilities, is especially enthusiastic about the underpasses.

"We're not going to have two business districts any more," he says, referring to the historic division of the downtown area by the railroad. "We're going to have one united district."

Winning downtown property owners over to the $16 assessments wasn't easy. Major holders included an eccentric who for decades has refused to lease or sell some downtown property, allowing it to stand vacant. These vacant buildings are an eyesore.

HELL, PAY
"What are you going to do if I refuse to pay?" this property owner asked City Manager Henry Nabers.

"We'll go into court and pretty soon we'll own your property," he replied.

Nabers' bluntness was effectiveness. The property owner now supports the program.

At one meeting of downtown property owners in the Abilene Reporter-News conference room, Mayor Jesse (T-Bone) Winters called for action to erase "shabby streets, shabby sidewalks and shabby everything else."

Everyone there knew the mayor's own bill on his downtown property would come to more than $4,000. And he would pay the $16 per foot despite the fact he already had replaced much of the high, Model T-age curbing along his property lines at his own cost.

One of the first streets to be torn up was North 4th, right in front of Burgess Brown's music shop. Dust and dirt drifted into his modernistic shop. "Business went to pot" as the street was closed off, Brown recalls. But Brown and others discovered sales losses can be reversed by good humor and ingenuity.

Tomorrow: "Back alley sales" and jokes keep stores alive when streets and sidewalks closed.

Scientist Suggests Underground Atom Wastes Disposal

HOUSTON (AP)—A top scientist said yesterday he suggested to the Atomic Energy Commission that the nation's increasing piles of atomic reactor wastes be stored underground along the Gulf Coast.

"My friends in the oil and gas industry think it's a good idea but the AEC people are a little skeptical," Dr. Donald L. Katz, president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, said.

Katz said the Texas and Louisiana coasts appeared ideally suited with vast underground crypts readily available in the form of high pressure sand pockets about 8,000 feet deep.

The scientist said that as far as he knows the high pressure reservoirs are found only along the coasts of the two states. "It's the safest place I can think of to put the waste," he said.

Perhaps 50 such reservoirs are known to exist in the area and are apparently encased in shale or other rock, Katz said. Atomic waste, he said, could be pumped into the pockets without fear that it would spread.

High pressure underground reservoirs, he said, could soak up "millions of gallons" of atomic waste and "could take care of all the high-level waste we would produce in the foreseeable future."
