Missile To The Moon?

No, and not a composite photograph, either. This striking shot of an Army Lacrosse missile high over southern New Mexico happened to catch the daylight moon in the background. The apparent enormous size of the moon in relation to the missile is because of the long, 96-inch focal length lens in the Army camera, which "pulled in" the background. The moon actually is still its normal 239,000 miles away.

DRAMA ON THE WITNESS STAND

Connie Claims She Didn't Know Pistol Had Gone Off

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas told her murder trial jury today she had left her fickle lover's parked car without knowing he had been shot while they struggled. The 44-year-old double divorcee said in her long-delayed testimony about the shooting last July 31 that her little past-handled revolver had gone off while her ex-lover, Forrest Teel, twisted her arm. "I didn't know Mr. Teel had been hit—I would not have left him," she said. She broke down in sobs and had to be helped from the witness stand when the court recessed just after she had told the details of the shooting and her subsequent suicide attempt, in despair over Teel's new romance. "He hit me, and I remember taking the gun from my purse," she told the jury of 12 married men. "Simultaneously, he struck me and threw me back across the seat. "He grabbed my arm, and the gun went off. "He continued holding my arm and twisting it. I felt a crack in my upper arm, and I tried to get loose. Finally he let go of my arm, and I got out of the car. "I looked back, and he was sitting up. The car was in motion." HOW MANY SHOTS? "Connie, do you know how many shots were fired?" asked Charles W. Symmes, one of her lawyers. "I know there was one shot. I was told later there were three additional shots." "During the time of the shooting, did Mr. Teel say anything?" "We were struggling over the gun." "Did you know Mr. Teel had been shot?" "I didn't know Mr. Teel had been hit. I would not have left him. I could see his car was in motion, and I thought I was being followed by him." Mrs. Nicholas said she still thought Teel was following her when she drove to a secluded riverbank to take the 75 sleeping pills she had mixed in pineapple juice. "Another car came over the embankment and turned off its lights," she said. She said she had locked herself into her car and swallowed some of the drug mixture, vomited it, then taken more. Mrs. Nicholas said she had spotted Teel's white Cadillac parked in front of the apartment of his younger sweetheart, Laura Mower, and waited for him. WAITED IN CAR She drove away after waiting an hour and a half. When she returned and saw the lights were off in Miss Mower's apartment, she got into Teel's white Cadillac and waited till after midnight. "I lay down on the front seat when I saw Mr. Teel come out of the entranceway. "He got in the car and asked me what I was doing there. I told him I wanted to talk to him, that I was sure there was another woman. "We started to drive east on 38th Street, and we began arguing. "I told him I had been 15 years protecting him and Tommy (Teel's adopted son), and now he was being very public about his affair with Laura Mower. Parking his car in that place, he might as well have been on Monument Circle or taking her to the country club. "I told him he wouldn't have to worry about me any more because I was going to kill myself. He grabbed my arm and told me not to be a d— fool." It was at that point, she said, that Teel had hit her, and she took the gun from her purse. ADDED INSURANCE "It was my intention, in taking the gun, that if the sleeping medicine did not take effect or do the job, I would use the gun on myself," Mrs. Nicholas said. Teel, wealthy drug executive who had filled his backstreet mistress with 15 years, died from three bullets outside the apartment of a new girl friend. Mrs. Nicholas then identified her suicide note to her second husband, Curt E. Nicholas of Detroit. In it she said: "I am sorry for the heartbreak that I caused you, because I have been through it myself. I failed you, for which I am sorry." The engaging brunette says she meant to commit suicide and that Teel, a married man with an adopted son, was shot accidentally in a struggle after he beat her. But the state contends Mrs. Nicholas carefully plotted to murder her 54-year-old lover, because he was ignoring her after 15 years in favor of a younger secretary. The all-husband jury was brought to the verge of the July 31 shooting story Thursday, when Judge Thomas J. Faulconer adjourned court to study prosecution objections to a defense question. WHY THE GUN? Defense lawyer Charles W. Symmes had asked the comely defendant why she carried a pearl handled French pistol with her on the night she waited for Teel outside his new girl friend's apartment. Dep. Prosecutor Francis Thomson argued Mrs. Nicholas should not be allowed to say what was in her mind. Defense lawyers said the reply was needed in answer to the charge of premeditated murder. Symmes said it would take only about an hour for him to finish his direct examination of the double divorcee, provided there were no more delays. "I think her testimony has been cut up too much already," he said. Mrs. Nicholas has been trying to give her version of the Teel killing since Tuesday. The death of a court clerk and a political fight over choosing his successor delayed the trial for nearly a day and a half. Three suicide notes written by the divorcee were read to the jury Thursday. Mrs. Nicholas covered her face and wept as Symmes quoted her request to be cremated in her Chinese lounging robe and blue ruffled gown. "Each person must have their own reason," said one of the suicide letters, "and mine is that I just lack the courage to go on throughout life without the one that I love and want and have loved for 15 years."

Sunny Skies Return In Rockies Region

Sunny skies returned to the Rockies today after a three-day storm piled as much as three feet of snow in the mountains and chilled temperatures to record lows. Some of the colder air drained into sections of the mid-continent while wet weather and lower temperatures were reported across scattered areas in the eastern half of the country.

200 Expected For Legion Convention

State leaders of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be guests in Big Spring for the weekend convention of posts in the 19th Congressional District. To address the convention will be J. Walter Janko, Somerville, department commander. Mrs. S. Samuel Hardage, Sour Lake, state president of the Auxiliary, will also be on the program. Registration will begin at noon Saturday at the Settles Hotel with upward to 200 West Texas Legionnaires expected. Center Point Votes On Bond Issue Saturday

Center Point School patrons vote Saturday on a proposal to issue $45,000 in building bonds. All qualified electors of the district are urged to turn out for the election. Any resident of the district who is a qualified property owning voter is eligible to ballot. The bonds are to be used to build a 4-classroom school for Center Point. This structure will replace the wooden building now in service. The election was initiated by boosters of the school and all preliminary preparations for the bond issuance and sale, if the election is favorable, have been cleared away. A petition filed with the county judge led to the selection of Saturday as the day for the balloting.

McClellan's Labor Bill Role Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The role of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) in the Senate debate on labor legislation aroused increasing interest today as the time for start of the floor wrangle neared. A labor bill sponsored by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) will be before the Senate as the debate starts, probably later this month. However, numerous floor amendments are sure to be offered to it just as they were a year ago when the measure's counterpart, the Kennedy-Ives bill was before the Senate. Republican senators seeking a more restrictive bill say McClellan, by giving all-out support, can make it certain major floor amendments can be written into the Kennedy bill. So far, however, McClellan has kept mum on what he intends to do, other than to say he is preparing some amendments which he plans to offer. McClellan has introduced a series of five labor bills this session, and presumably it is from these that his 1959 amendments will be drafted. None of these got favorable consideration in the Labor Committee. Instead, that group approved the Kennedy bill by a 12-2 vote. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has advanced an administration labor bill as what he calls a middle-of-the-road measure. He calls the Kennedy bill ineffective but says McClellan's measure goes too far in putting unions into a strait jacket. The Senate seems certain to act on the legislation considerably ahead of the House, where prolonged hearings are under way in the Labor Committee. That group is considering two proposals by its chairman, Graham A. Barden (D-NC), which are similar to McClellan's bills. The Kennedy and administration bills also are before the committee.

Spacemen Ready For Big Adventure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven jet pilots in their 30s—family men all—faced a challenging future today as newly assigned Mercury Astronauts. Their mission: to ride satellites in orbits around the earth at altitudes of 100 to 150 miles and speeds of 18,000 miles an hour—and to bring themselves safely home again. Their test rides could open the way for future flights to the moon and distant planets. At a National Aeronautics and Space Administration news conference Thursday the astronauts analyzed their assignments with cool detachment. The work would be difficult, they said, but not too dangerous. Were they worried? Hardly. Did their families approve? Heartily. Were they happy about it? Delighted to get on the team. From the relative obscurity of military jet flying, the seven were catapulted into the status of public figures. Barring a Soviet first, one of them will gain fame as the first man to orbit the earth two years from now. The others are to follow him. Three are Air Force captains—Leroy G. Cooper Jr., Carbondale, Colo., just turned 32, and the youngest of the lot; Virgil I. Grissom, 33, Mitchell, Ind., and Donald K. Slayton, 35, Sparta, Wis. Three are Navy officers — Lt. Malcolm S. Carpenter, 33, Boulder Colo.; Lt. Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr., 36, Oradell, N.J., and Alan B. Shepard Jr., 35, East Derry, N.H. The oldest of the team is its lone Marine, Lt. Col. John Herschel Glenn Jr., 37, New Concord, Ohio. In 1957 Glenn made the first supersonic-all-the-way transcontinental flight, setting a Los Angeles-New York record of 3 hours 23 minutes.

DOKK Holding Initiation Here

Candidates for admission into the Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan will go through various antics here this afternoon as a rite to their induction. Knights will gather here from several cities in the area to have a part in the initiation of eight candidates into the higher order of the Knights of Pythias. They will be easily distinguishable by their fezzes. The street work portion of the initiation will take part from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. when candidates will sell confectios and other wares and otherwise do the bidding of members. At 4:30 p.m. the Eighth Order will be administered at the Settles Hotel. This will be followed at 6:30 p.m. by the banquet and at 8 p.m. by the ceremony. The concluding feature will be a dance, open to the public, at 9 p.m. In charge of activities will be Big Kuyundall, royal visier of the El Zimron (Big Spring) Temple of the DOKK. Two of the candidates are from Odessa. Temple officials anticipate around 100 knights were here for the ceremony and that some 200 to 250 will be on hand for the banquet and dance.

American Charged In Assassin Plot

HAVANA (AP)—Alan Robert Nye of Whiting, Ind., was formally charged Thursday night with trying to assassinate Cuban premier Fidel Castro. He goes on trial Saturday night at La Cabana military fortress in Havana. Castro's revolutionary government claims the 31-year-old former U.S. Navy pilot and Korean War veteran came to Cuba to kill Castro for $100,000. The money allegedly was offered by supporters of former President Fulgencio Batista, in exile since Jan. 1. Nye denies the charge.

Steelworkers Reject Contract Extensions Negotiations On New Pacts Slated

Asks Child Support

Mrs. Marilyn Miller Scott, 27-year-old divorcee, holds her 16-month-old daughter, Denise Michelle, whom she identified as the child of Dennis Crosby in filing a suit in Los Angeles for child support. Mrs. Scott asks she be allowed $460.25 a month for Denise. She had previously filed a birth certificate, last May, listing young Crosby as the father. Her attorney said the action is to get legal recognition of the child's name and safeguard inheritance rights.

Negotiations On New Pacts Slated

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top producers of the basic steel industry today proposed to the United Steelworkers that the current contract covering wages and other benefits be continued for another year. USW President David J. McDonald flatly and promptly rejected the proposal. Twelve basic steel producing firms suggested in a letter to McDonald and the union that present steel wages and other benefits be continued for an additional year. The letter urged that the present contract, signed in 1956 after a 34 day strike, be continued "in order to combat inflation, unemployment, and foreign competition and to create greater stability in the steel industry." McDonald promptly issued a statement which said: "I want to point out that this proposal has been made even before we have had meetings of our executive board and our international wage policy committee. I reject it out of hand." The union contracts with the firms are scheduled to expire June 30. Negotiations on new contracts are scheduled to open May 18 in New York. The companies making the hold line suggestion to the union were U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland, Armco, Great Lakes, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Wheeling Steel, Kaiser, and Allegheny Ludlum.

Ex-Solon Asks Vote Fraud Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) called today for a House investigation of whether his defeat in last fall's election by Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark) was due to voting frauds. Alford ran as a write-in segregationist candidate. Hays, the Democratic nominee and a veteran of 16 years in the House, called himself a moderate on the segregation issue. Hays told a reporter he has informally advised Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex), chairman of the House Administration Committee, that he believes an investigation should be ordered. But Hays repeated previous assertions that he was not contesting Alford's seat in the House. He said his stand in favor of an investigation was motivated by concern over the integrity of the ballot, and by recommendations for such an inquiry made last fall by the now defunct special House committee to investigate election campaigns.

Negro Kidnaps Ex-Employer, Dies In Gunfight

FORT WORTH (AP)—A desperate young Negro kidnaped his former employer last night, held him until nearly dawn and freed him twice as the victim covered in a pitch black manhole. Caught by police at dawn, the Negro died in a pistol duel with a policeman whom he wounded. The kidnaping victim, Harry Oakey Jr., 35, a masonry contractor, was unharmed. Attendants said the wounded policeman, Sgt. Joe Johnnie, 44, was in fair condition with a bullet wound in the upper right chest. Two notebooks in Johnnie's shirt pocket may have saved his life. The bullet went through both before striking him. The Negro, Herbert Lafond, 26, was hit in the right chest and left side by bullets from the wounded sergeant. A swarm of police cars arrived at the residence where Lafond was cornered. It was learned later that the Negro died of wounds inflicted by Johnnie's pistol. The Negro, who during the night repeatedly told the man he had kidnaped "I've done wrong—I'm a dead man for sure," hid in the Oakey's home while the Oakey family was visiting friends. Oakey said the Negro expressed anger at him because Oakey had laid him off his job as a laborer Friday. The Negro made Oakey and his wife write him 45 checks and run them through a check machine they had in the home. Each check was written for $96.84 and made out to "J. William Jr." After the couple signed the checks, the Negro ordered both to accompany him. He said he was going to hold them until he could cash the checks. Oakey persuaded him to leave his wife and children at home.

Alcorn Formally Resigns As GOP Party Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Meade Alcorn formally resigned today as chairman of the National Republican Committee. At the same time he told applauding members of the committee there is evidence that the GOP is surging back from defeat. Alcorn addressed the opening session of a two-day committee meeting which will close Saturday with the election of Alcorn's successor and selection of a site for the party's 1960 national convention. Alcorn enumerated past differences within the party but said the GOP is still reasonably well united—in fact, better than two years ago. Asserting there is evidence that the party is surging back, the retiring chairman said the party had just won three state offices in Michigan for the first time in several years from what he called the "left-wing gang" of Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Walter Reuther, union leader. He also mentioned that a Republican has been swept back into office in West Hartford, Conn. "These victories don't signify a national trend, but they do signify we don't like the beatings we have been taking and we are back on the road," he added.

'I Won't Be Back,' Says Victim Of Lamesa Woman's Knifing Effort

A 26-year-old Lamesa woman, in spite of what she said and believed, did not kill anyone in Del Rio on Wednesday. The man she confessed to officers she had knifed to death in a motel room is very much alive and very much on the move today. Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox said Friday that the "victim", whose bloody body was supposed to be sprawled on a motel room bed, showed up at his brother's home in Lamesa late yesterday. No one seems to have actually seen him but he left a note which his brother found. "I have taken all my clothes," the note read, "and I won't be back." Earlier, it had been established that the "corpse" had checked out of the motel in Del Rio at 4 p.m.

Wednesday. He showed no signs of being dead or even wounded. He took off from Del Rio. The next thing heard of him was the discovery of his farewell note in his brother's residence in Lamesa. As a result, the girl who had told of hunting her false lover down in the border town and knifing him as he sprawled on the motel bed laughing at her plea he marry her was released from the county jail. Told that her victim was anything but dead, the girl was bewildered. She asked Cox "Are you sure he's alive?" Told that he was, she said: "Well, I sure thought I'd killed him. I jerked that carving knife out of my purse and slashed down. I felt my hand hit his chest. That was enough for me. I grabbed my purse and I ran out of the room. I didn't look back at the bed. I don't know if there was any blood, I only know that when I hit him, he quit laughing." She added that her act worried her so much that when she had reached Big Spring on her journey to her Lamesa home, she decided she had to give herself up and tell officers what she had done. Officer speculated that the woman, angry and semi-hysterical when her lover scorned her plea that he marry her, blindly reached in her purse. They think she grasped the handle of the knife and slashed downward, not aware that she was striking with the hilt rather than the blade. She weighs 185 pounds and her boy friend weighs a little less than 150 pounds. They think the force of the blow may have knocked the wind out of him—at least sufficiently to terminate his laughter. Apparently, after his irate and bloody-minded girl friend had left, he decided that it would be better to move on. So he checked out of the motel, drove to Lamesa, gathered up his personal belongings and hit the road for places unknown. "If I didn't kill him, I can leave here, can't I?" the woman asked Cox. Told that she was free to leave when she wished, she said: "If I hadn't believed I had killed him I sure wouldn't have stopped here." She was back with relatives on Route 1, Lamesa, today.

DEAR ABBY

YOU'RE STUCK

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In a weak moment I let my mother talk me into asking a big fat cow with no personality to the Spring formal at school. Her mother is always crying to my mother how this girl has no dates. Well, when I asked her I didn't have any other girl in mind, but now a lot of things have happened and there is a real doll I would like to ask but I am stuck with this cow. Is there any way I can get out of taking her so I can take the girl I like? Would it be wrong to ask a friend of mine to take her as a favor?

I have nothing like them in the house. When I asked my husband about it, he said they were dried mothballs. Anyway they were round glass with a hole through the middle. Do mothballs come that way? And if they do, don't they always smell like mothballs? Am I losing my mind or is he lying to me? WIFE

DEAR ABBY: My husband was sent to prison for four years and he doesn't believe I'll wait for him that long. We have two children and I don't intend to break my marriage vows. I love him very much and I am going to wait for him and remain faithful. How can I make him believe me and not lose faith in me? Please help me. I'm not very good with words.

DEAR WIFE: A man who can convince his wife that a glass bead is a dried mothball is a pretty good salesman. You are losing your mind only if you believe him.

DEAR "A": You are magnificent with words because they express exactly what is in your heart. Your husband will never grow tired of hearing you say, "I love you, Darling, and I WILL wait for you." Say it again and again in every letter as often as you can write him. He'll believe you.

DEAR ABBY: I was called out of town by the death of a relative and was gone a week. When I returned I found some glass beads on the kitchen floor which surely had been from a broken string. They were clear glass and

Sales Tax Is Routine Upon Its Introduction

AUSTIN (AP)—The general sales tax didn't even have a speaking opponent at its official debut yesterday.

"This is a general sales tax bill of 1 1/2 per cent on everything except food, food and fertilizer and purchases under 50 cents," Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio told the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

"The reason I'm for a general sales tax is that if business has to absorb new burdens of taxes, in the end the average consumer will have a heavier tax program."

No one appeared against the measure. Nor were there witnesses against Rep. Bob Eckhardt's fluctuating tax on the value of dedicated natural gas reserves.

The Houston representative said his measure would tend to equalize the tax paid per cubic foot of natural gas regardless of the price charged to pipelines.

Chairman Rep. V. L. Ramsey of Beckville said major oil companies who appeared against Gov. Daniel's proposal also wanted their objections voiced against Eckhardt's bill.

He estimated pipe lines would pay the greater part of the 45 million dollars the bill would raise annually.

Eckhardt used charts to explain his tax would be higher where the price of gas to the pipelines is the least. The tax also would keep gas companies from maintaining low prices on natural gas, thus escaping the present state tax, he said.

"At the average price of about 10 cents per million cubic feet, the state now receives seven-tenths of a cent tax," he said. "Under my proposal, they also would pay an additional one cent in tax. Much of this tax would go on the pipelines and the Texas producers would get higher prices for their natural gas."

Another measure sent to subcommittee would increase the state's revenue $600,000 annually, Seeligson said.

He said it would authorize collection of taxes for butane used in motor vehicles from wholesalers instead of service stations. The efficiency of the operation would bring in the extra revenue.

More Fireworks Next Week On Arlington-Tarleton Bills

AUSTIN (AP)—Final action was expected next week in the Senate on two House-passed bills bringing Arlington State and Tarleton State Colleges to 4-year status.

The two schools bills were given temporary approval yesterday amidst cries that "the state can't afford to have a college for every county seat in Texas."

Both houses adjourned until Monday when another rough week of floor debate was expected.

Senate committees worked after the session broke up, passing out one important oil industry bill to require common purchasers of crude oil to take oil ratably "in the general area served" by the purchasers' pipelines.

Another measure, important to the Gulf Coast fishing industry, was sent to a subcommittee for one week. This would close the bays to harvesting of shrimp except during the fall in a move to conserve shrimp and remove the threat that tiny shrimp would be taken prematurely.

Objections were raised that the House had amended the bill so as to provide that bait dealers could take 250 pounds of shrimp at any time and sell the large shrimp for human consumption.

The Arlington bill was prepared for final passage on a voice vote and the Tarleton bill on an 18-9 vote. Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth sponsored the Arlington measure and Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro ran with the measure for the Stephenville school.

Sen. William Moore of Bryan, an ex-Aggie, failed in his filibuster bluff to get the Senate to adjourn before taking action on the Arlington bill which he said would eventually "make A&M a branch of Arlington." The school

Duncan Strangler Faces Gas Chamber

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—A jury has decreed that hired strangler Augustine Baldonado must die in the gas chamber for murdering Olga Duncan.

He confessed that he and Luis Moya beat and strangled the daughter-in-law of Elizabeth Duncan, 54, whose jealous attachment for her son, Frank, 30, drove her to arrange the slaying last November.

Mrs. Duncan is under a death sentence. Moya's trial starts April 20. He has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

A psychiatrist called Baldonado, 26, a defective human and a menace to society.

Part Of Cage Suit Settled

AUSTIN (AP)—A small part of the 15 million dollar recovery suit against BenJack Cage and others connected with the now defunct ICT Insurance Co. was settled here yesterday.

A judgment for $100,000 against 21 British firms was entered in 98th District Court as the result of a settlement agreed upon by attorneys. The suit originally asked $206,000 in claims from the firms, including Lloyd's of London.

Cecil Rotsch, general counsel for the receiver, said the settlement was made because of legal questions as to the amount of the firms' liability and "because of a legal problem as to whether they could be compelled to appear in a Texas court and not have the matter first litigated in Great Britain."

The suit is still pending against 120 other defendants including Cage, who reportedly is in Brazil. Cage is under a 10-year prison sentence on conviction of charges that he embezzled from ICT.

No trial dates have been set. Two of the other defendants, Mercantile National Bank and Republic National Bank of Dallas, asked that trial of the suit against them be transferred from Austin to Dallas. The request was turned down here but it has been appealed.

Pakistani Mother Enters Grade School

By VIRGINIA SYPTAK

Written for The Associated Press
COLLEGE STATION (AP) — While Dr. Mohammed E. Haque of East Pakistan pursues his post-doctoral research in animal husbandry at Texas A&M, his wife and daughter have been doing their own studying—both in A&M Consolidated Elementary School. It's natural enough for Fahmida Parvin, 7, to be in Consolidated. After starting with a language handicap, she is now a second grader making good marks, speaking English as fluently as her native tongue, Pakistani.

But Sophia Naj Siddiqua, who did not understand English, felt that the best way for her to learn this language and to become acquainted with the American way of life was to enroll herself along with her daughter. Two years ago, wearing her native bright sari dress, she sat down with the first-grade youngsters. She advanced rapidly through the eighth grade. A member of the Woman's National Guide of East Pakistan, she also took leadership training given by Girl Scouts here for use with the similar Woman's Guide organization back home. The guide enrolls women up to 30, and in contrast to the Girl Scouts also offers training in civil defense.

Dr. Haque received his master's and doctor's degrees in animal husbandry at the University of Maryland some years ago, then returned to his native land to become deputy director of animal husbandry for East Pakistan.

When he was sent to A&M for a two-year post-doctoral fellowship for research in poultry and nutrition, he brought along his wife, telling her that they were coming to a "land of paradise."

Mrs. Haque discovered that although she had three servants at home and must do her own housework here, the task is lighter in America where modern devices make home management simple. "And it's a lot more fun," she says. She often goes to the shopping centers in her colorful native costume.

Japanese Rejoice At Prince's Wedding

TOKYO (AP)—Millions of jubilant Japanese rejoiced with parades and picnics today over the precedent-breaking marriage of Crown Prince Akihito to a beautiful commoner who will one day share the ancient chrysanthemum throne.

Celebrating throngs walked the streets of flag-bedecked Tokyo long after a gold-encrusted carriage had carried the radiant bride, Michiko Shoda, and her prince to their suburban residence.

Only an unemployed youth, Kensetsu Nakayama, 19, marred the day-long celebration. He electrified the throng along the newly-weds' processional route—and millions more watching on television—by hurling a stone at Akihito.

When it missed, he leaped onto the moving horse-drawn carriage in a desperate lunge at the prince. Police seized him immediately. He told them: "I am opposed to the emperor system and have been since childhood. But I had no intention of killing."

Police withheld charges pending completion of their investigation. The prince, 25, and his new princess, 24, reacted with traditional royal aplomb. They gave no sign of noticing the incident and continued to nod smilingly and wave to the crowd.

The sun-filled day touched three ages symbolic of the new Japan that blends democracy and age-old tradition.

With a sip of sacred wine at a holy Shinto sanctuary deep within the Imperial Palace grounds, the heir to the throne wed the

Houston Threatened By Creeping Floods

By The Associated Press
Water inched from rain-swollen bayous into homes and businesses over scattered areas of Houston Friday.

The rain stopped early Friday but skies remained sullen and overcast. Officials warned of more serious flooding if the downpours which plagued the city since Wednesday resumed.

A police department spokesman said early Friday Simms Bayou was running bank full and had overflowed in some places in southeast Houston. He said six to 12 inches of water had seeped into some business establishments along Chocolate Bayou road.

The Plaza Motel was evacuated when eight inches of water penetrated the rooms, he said.

Boats were standing by some areas but were not needed immediately. A transformer blew up and live wires fell into the water in one area, but fire trucks and power company trucks were able to get to the scene.

There were no evacuations of homes reported immediately.

Mayor L. A. Ehlers Jr. of Bellaire, a Houston suburb, said some streets in his city were flooded Thursday night.

Rain began falling in Houston early Wednesday and at 10 p.m. Thursday measured 3.67 inches. The Weather Bureau predicted the rain would continue until Friday night.

"The bayous are filling rapidly," Howard Jensen, Harris County flood engineer said Thursday night. "There is particular danger along Simms Bayou and Brays Bayou. If this rain continues we are going to have serious trouble on a number of bayous."

Scattered rain and showers and cool weather were forecast for all of Texas.

Rain or drizzle fell over the Panhandle and South Plains, in the Brownsville-Corpus Christi area and over Northeast Texas from Shreveport, Austin, San Angelo and Gainesville northeastward Friday.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 28 degrees at Dalhart and 32 at Amarillo to 66 at Galveston.

For the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Thursday Palacios had 1.53 inches of rain and Galveston 1.04. Rain of less than half an inch fell in all sections of the state except that part of West Texas north of San Angelo.

Rain fell Thursday night at Houston, Lufkin, Waco, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Highs Thursday varied from 41 at Dalhart to 84 at Presidio.

A Devotional For Today

Death is come up. (Jeremiah 9:21.)
PRAYER: Dear Saviour, we thank Thee for the unspeakable deliverance Thou hast given to us; through Thy merits. Grant us the strength of Thy spirit to live our faith. In Thy name we pray. Amen.
Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. (Mark 11:9.)

Big Chore Yet To Come

By a vote of 107 to 37 the Texas House on Tuesday approved the largest spending bill in the history of Texas for the 1960-61 biennium: two billion four hundred ten million one hundred ninety-seven thousand eight hundred five dollars and no cents.

The 308-page bill calls for $10.5 million more than recommended by the House Appropriations Committee. When such huge sums are involved, that's a remarkably close approximation of what the committee, which had spent many hard weeks poring over the subject, called for. It's a sort of silent tribute to the close coordination of relations between the committee and the whole House.

The Senate bill is yet to be completed and acted on, and the delicate job of reconciling the two is still to come.

The big chore is yet to come—the task of fitting anticipated revenue into the framework of appropriations. There is where the fireworks will sparkle and sizzle.

Governor Daniel warned that to meet the demand for higher teacher pay and other school improvements it would take another one-cent levy on gasoline; he has not yet recommended it, but is ready to, to avoid a state income tax and a "general sales tax on everything."

State employees, under the House bill, would gain a minimum pay raise of $120 a year, with up to $480 a year for state employees with twenty years of service. Almost all the increased appropriations of $10.5 million added by the House would go to old age assistance, aid to the blind and to dependent children. The old folks won't founder themselves on the $1.53 a month each added by the House.

In spite of the size of the $2.4 billion spending bill approved by the House, there is no evidence of a spirit of wild, free-spending in either branch of the Legislature.

The cost of everything has gone up—the word is inflation—and Texas is getting to be a great big state population-wise. People expect and demand a great deal from their state government, and every new demand costs money. They are prone to forget that it all comes out of their own pocketbooks, in one way or another.

The spirit of economy is expressed in verbiage, not in action. However, the House did ban the purchase for state use of a special type of electric typewriter costing $800 in favor of a less elaborate type costing only $500 at a saving of $300 a year. That's something.

Day Of Decision Coming

Ackerly and Knott Independent School Districts will ballot April 18 on whether to consolidate. Taking a cue from an earlier attempt to consolidate two other districts, these two conducted straw votes to sample the sentiment before petitioning for an election.

Although not necessarily so, this presumably assures approval of the merger before the formal vote takes place. If a majority of the propertied qualified voters wish to join their districts, that is certainly their affair.

As we have pointed out before, no one else can reach that decision for them. The decision should be reached out of sober consideration of what will be best for the pupils in the long run. We hope no one who votes in this or any other school election will make the fear of higher taxes the sole basis of judgment; we hope that they will not vote for a rebound marriage out of some vague fear that some other agency or district will gobble them; or out of any reason other than to do what is best for the children.

J. A. Livingston Experts Upset By Trading Stamp Ad

WASHINGTON — Officials in the Department of Agriculture are unhappy about recent advertising by Sperry & Hutchinson, purveyors of S&H green stamps. In Life, Time, Newsweek, Good Housekeeping and S&H proclaim:

U. S. Government Confirms—
TRADING STAMP SAVERS CAN COME OUT DOLLARS AHEAD

Underneath that headline, still in bold type, is this declaration: "U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that the housewife who saves and redeems her stamps for merchandise can get a greater total value than the housewife who shops in stores without stamps."

Harry C. Trelogan, director of the Marketing Research Division, responsible for the study on which S&H based its assertions, says:

"We are not pleased by this ad. An endorsement of trading stamps was not intended and was not contained in our study. Anybody who reads our report carefully would be able to come to exactly the opposite conclusion. We neither condone nor endorse saving stamps."

Ora V. Wells, administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, and Trelogan's superior, is referring the ad to the Department's legal advisers as well as to the researchers, themselves, to determine whether the copy was overdrawn or outright misleading. "I'm not happy about the ad," he declared, "but I will have to check whether we can ask Sperry & Hutchinson to retract."

For about two years, Trelogan's group has been studying the impact of trading stamps on prices, and the researchers were in touch with S&H's economist, Eugene R. Beem. Early in January, Agriculture's report appeared. The conclusions were deliberately guarded to avoid misuse—either by opponents or advocates.

Nothing Like An Ambitious Rookie

James Marlow

The Influence Of Allen Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—What do you, the man in the street, have to look forward to on a question which may mean your life: This country's ability to handle itself in case of a Soviet attack or desire to attack?

A good part of that answer has come in pieces and bits over these past few weeks from American military leaders and key men in the Eisenhower administration, either in testimony before Congress or in speeches.

The latest view of present and future has come from a man whose own knowledge of American and Soviet strength is a basic element in shaping the thinking of the government: Allen W. Dulles.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency, which is this country's super-spy agency overseas. He gave some of his thinking in a speech in New Orleans this week.

Since it coincides with testimony given Congress by the military leaders in large part, it can be summarized here as the attitude of the Eisenhower administration toward the Soviet Union, present and future.

The Soviets do not now have military superiority over the United States and are not likely to provoke war "at this time." The reason is they know this country has the power, through long-range bombers and nuclear bombs, to retaliate with such terrible devastation that it would not be sensible to start a war which would cause the U.S.S.R. such damage.

In short, Dulles said: "I consider that our military posture is stronger and our ability to inflict damage is today greater than that of the Soviet Union."

Dulles was thus reflecting what seems to be a great self-confidence about the present, that is—which seems to permeate the top military leaders of the country.

But this doesn't necessarily mean that even if the United States should stay ahead of the Soviets militarily—and that's questionable—that the Soviet Union will not be able to move step by step to gobble up the world. Why?

Because they are putting their greatest emphasis on long-range missiles which could reach not only any part of Europe or Asia but the United States, too.

Just assume that in 10 years both the United States and the Soviet Union have all the long-range missiles they need. Does that mean the two sides just glare at each other, with both afraid to move?

Actually—and this is interpreting what has been said—such a stalemate in terror weapons may work to Soviet advantage. Without starting war, the Soviets may try conquest by subversion, infiltration, economic help and other means.

If they do move—without provoking war—would the United States start a war over nonmilitary Soviet aggression?

It hardly seems likely, if only because once the United States tried shooting missiles the Soviets with the same kind of long-range weapons could make us sorry we started, just as we could make them sorry now.

So there may be years of so-called peace which is not peace. Dulles himself doesn't think Premier Nikita Khrushchev wants war.

He said: Khrushchev "is convinced that the final victory of communism can be achieved mainly by nonmilitary means. Here the Soviet economic offensive looms large."

To sum up: The leaders don't look for war now or anytime soon. Yet no one is predicting the Soviets won't inch their way around the world by other means.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The San Angelo mayor's declaration that he will go to Austin to ask a slice of any sales taxes enacted by Texas brings the Legislature up against the responsibility it assumes when it seeks to set hours and pay for policemen and firemen.

The contention of the Texas League of Municipalities, for which Mayor Windham obviously was speaking, is that municipalities are limited in their tax sources.

The Legislature would be put on notice that this is a two-way street. When it impinges on the prerogatives of home rule cities as threatened in the proposed hours and pay legislation, it must take on the responsibility as well as making it possible for municipalities to carry through with the obligation imposed.

When the Legislature sets new tax obligations for the municipalities of Texas, it should have to bear part of the burden of its assumed powers.

Around The Rim

Reds, Not Russians, Our Enemies

Two recent events, one fictional and one actual, have pointed up a facet of the cold war that some people still forget. Fortunately, the great majority of our people know better.

That facet is this: that it is the Communists who are our enemies, and not the Russians. It is a coincidence of history that Russia was the first nation to come under a permanent Communist regime, and that it is now Russians and Americans who hold the fate of the world in their hands.

Competition between Russia and America would have been inevitable, but had the Russians developed democratically, it need not have been any more than a friendly competition. As it is, it is more a matter of competition between free men and tyrants than of Russian and American.

The two events show that Russians and Americans are still human, despite Kremlin attempts to make us out as warmongers, and the extreme rightists' attempts to make out the Russian people as inhuman.

The actual event was the rescue attempt by the U. S. Coast Guard of an obscure Soviet fisherman; the fictional event was the comic strip visit of Americans with Russians in the Antarctic.

Buz Sawyer did indeed sum up the problem: That the Russians are nice folk so long as politics is left out of it; but that in political dealings they've been thoroughly trained by their Kremlin masters in the art of double-dealing.

There is always hope for the world if both Russians and Americans recall the spirit of Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt during the two World Wars when they declared that the U. S. made war, not against the German people, but against their leaders.

The world took rather routine notice of the passing of Frank Lloyd Wright, but succeeding generations will honor him. Some day, people will grow sick and tired of high cost housing which plunks them down in a crowded suburb with six feet between their home and their neighbor's. They'll stop demanding (or lamely accepting) houses of a conventional style, built of conventional materials, constructed by conventional and outmoded methods.

They'll demand low cost, plenty of space, and will give the architect freedom of choice in selection of materials. Many will accept the mass-produced house made of steel, aluminum and plastic, as they now accept the mass-produced automobile.

They will learn to accept the Wright concept of a house that is an integral part of the natural countryside; they will accept even the premise that houses may be well constructed at low cost from native materials. Such as stone cut from a hillside plot, adobe, packed earth; or perhaps like that house which sits atop an Arizona hill in which a boulder forms one wall of the living room as well as providing a fireplace.

Sleep well, Mr. Wright. Someday we'll start paying some attention to you.

Airman Bell Stood Up For Right

Since World War II, this nation has done more soul searching and hand wringing over its youth than over all the rest of its worries combined, including the Kremlin.

We have agonized over our public schools—fine, superfluous or just plain incompetent?—and the influence of parents and the modern home. If any.

The nation was rocked by the defection of even 23 young men out of millions during the Korean "police action." We have been continuously hammered by the experts with a shocking and all but incredible fact, that young Americans did not know what they were fighting for—the great, basic principles involved—in World War II, or in Korea.

Adults have rightly wondered and worried about the kind of education and home training received by the nation's young people. But there was a brilliant rainbow in the sky the other day, a portentively and hopeful enough to cheer up even the most gloomy pessimists.

Somehow, somewhere, some way, the staff of America, our deep belief in liberty and justice for all and an even older conviction, sometimes forgotten in these sophisticated days, that right can and will prevail, rubs off on America's young folks. The message gets through.

Certainly the message got through to Airman I. C. Bell of Fayette, Tennessee. Now it is not the purpose of this column to go into the mishmash at the Tokyo airport that resulted in seven enlisted men, all on emergency home leave, being bumped from a home-bound Army plane to make way for a lieutenant colonel, his wife and four children bound for a vacation in Honolulu. Let the military settle its own house.

It is Airman I. C. Bell who interests me as proof that American fundamentals still infect the young.

Mr. Bell was one of the seven enlisted men anxiously and prayerfully waiting at the Tokyo airport to fly to homes stricken by tragedy. In Airman I-C Bell's case it was a brother badly injured in a traffic accident.

When he and his fellows were bumped (one man was coming home to the funeral of his son; another to a daughter desperately ill, a third to a sister who died just before he reached home), Mr. Bell, 27, went to the telephone and called the United States military commander of Japan, Lt. Gen. Robert Burns.

No one can say better than Mr. Bell what he felt at that moment, a lowly airman first class calling the military commander of Japan.

"I thought I was right and I thought I'd stand up for it" is Mr. Bell's explanation. Somewhere in school and at home, this airman had absorbed the essence of what this democracy hopes its young people will believe and act on.

"I thought I was right and I thought I'd stand up for it." Words worthy of a bronze plaque.

It is just as obvious that General Burns had absorbed the essence of that classic statement, too. We all know the end of the story, an angry general ordering the return of the military air transport plane to Tokyo, the general going to the airport himself to see the Lt. Colonel and his family off-loaded and the enlisted men on board.

If, God forbid, Airman I.C. Bell ever gets into a war, he'll know what he's fighting for: basic right and the necessity to stand up for it.

Court Takes Away Women's Rights

WASHINGTON—Segregation of men or women in schools controlled by state authority has just been upheld, in effect, by the Supreme Court of the United States. Two white women were denied enrollment in an all-male state college in Texas.

This ruling would not have occasioned any surprise five years ago, because the states previously were allowed to use their own discretion in deciding what pupils should be admitted to public educational institutions.

But, in view of the fact that the Supreme Court in 1954 said that discrimination on account of race or color could produce a feeling of "inferiority" and that mixed classes are beneficial from an educational standpoint, the query now is whether women haven't just as much right to use that argument with respect to discrimination against them because of sex. In fact, in appealing the current case of the Supreme Court, the two women cited the 1954 decision and argued that a woman is a "person" just as much as a Negro. They pointed out that the Fourteenth Amendment says "all persons born or naturalized in the United States" are citizens.

"Are women people?" was the heading of a weekly column by the late Alice Duer Miller, famous novelist, more than 40 years ago in what was then the New York "Tribune." The question was finally answered by the adoption in 1920 of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which declares:

"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Many of us true liberals—or "progressives," as we were known in those days—had not thought an amendment was necessary because the Fourteenth Amendment had already forbidden the states to deny the "equal protection of the laws" and had said the "privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States" cannot be abridged by any state. Certainly women were entitled to be classified as citizens.

But, since neither voting nor sex nor color nor education was mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment, the Supreme Court of the United States by its decisions indicated that these subjects would have to be treated separately in other amendments. In fact, the Fifteenth Amendment—which declares that voting rights shall not be denied or abridged on account of race or color—was adopted a year later than the Fourteenth because it was desired by Congress to make clear that voting rights, usually prescribed by the states, should not be abridged because of race or color.

So, inasmuch as there was no tendency in those days to rely on the Supreme Court to amend the Constitution to give women the "equal protection of the laws" in respect to voting rights, even though they are supporters, many of us enthusiastically supported the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment that would at last—as we thought—put women on a basis of equality with men.

But the Supreme Court this week has dashed our hopes once more. Evidently, because discrimination in educational institutions of a public character by reason of sex was not mentioned in the Fourteenth Amendment, it will be necessary to seek a new amendment that will forbid the exclusion of any female citizen from such schools.

It is, to be sure, the principle of the thing which is bothersome. Many women prefer to go to separate schools—in fact, some believe their opportunities for an education are much better when what they enter the lower intelligence quotient of the male sex is not present in the classroom. But even those women who may feel that way about their superiority will not relish any court ruling which says, in effect, that they can be barred by law from associating in the schoolroom with members of the opposite sex. They have never believed that any physical characteristic should diminish their rights as citizens.

There may be some men, too, who would object to the discrimination and who would prefer desegregation of the sexes. But the Supreme Court has spoken, and its decisions and rulings must be obeyed, for they are "The law of the land." These are days, moreover, when the Supreme Court as an institution must not be "undecided." Indeed, there have recently been centuries that the rulings of the highest court must not even be subjected to severe criticism.

So the alternative is to abide by the ruling and try for a constitutional amendment which will give women the equality they had long thought they already possessed as citizens. But they must be careful not to agitate too vigorously, lest they be charged with "massive resistance." (Copyright 1959, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Big Future For Music

NEW YORK (AP)—"The country has grown up musically," said the King.

The King—"King of Swing"—is Benny Goodman, the first man in history to blow a million dollars out of a "licorice stick."

The great clarinetist, who will be 50 next month, is celebrating his silver jubilee as a band leader this year. He will kick it off tonight in a hour-long "Swing into Spring" program over the CBS-TV network.

Looking back over a crowded quarter of a century, Goodman mused during a rehearsal break. "Musical taste hasn't changed so much as you might think," he said. "Classical music is bigger than it ever was. Jazz—or swing—is too. Mood music is bigger than ever."

"The variety and quantity of music is simply unbelievable. And it is going to get even bigger."

Behind his success is a single-minded drive to do something different and to do it perfectly.

"A man has to know what he wants to do and then try to become classic at it," said Benny.

"The public used to think of musicians as irresponsible and music as a precarious field."

But music isn't so precarious. Look at some of the people who have lasted in it—Ella Fitzgerald, Peggy Lee, Lionel Hampton, Guy Lombardo, Harry James, Gene Krupa. And it's easy to name a lot more."

Of the thousands of musicians he has known he thinks perhaps the greatest was the legendary trumpet player, Bix Beiderbecke, who died in 1931 at the age of 28.

"He gave me the greatest kick," said Benny. "I got more feeling from what he did than from any other player."

Like most pros, Goodman does not have a favorite tune. But here are his nominations for the five greatest jazz numbers:

"Honeysuckle Rose," "The One O'Clock Jump," "Take the 'A' Train," "Stomping at the Savoy," and "King Porter's Stomp."

BUNNY PUPPET ... easy to make

Puppets Are Easily Made; Fun To Use

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeature

Simple homemade toys often are more fun for children than the expensive gadgets bought in a toy store. A toy should be able to be used for a number of purposes and in different kinds of play. It should stimulate active interest and originality, as the need to be creative rises very early and stays with most people all their lives.

Hand puppets are ideal toys, as they allow the child to use his own imagination and are easy to make. Popular right now is a beguiling little bunny inspired by a TV character. However, almost any animal can be the model for a hand puppet. Here are tips on how to make them.

First trace the child's hand on a piece of paper. If you are making a bunny, leave out the middle finger on the pattern, and you have formed the ears. Hold pattern in place on the felt with cellophane tape and cut out two shapes with pinkish shears. Stitch together on your sewing machine.

Be sure to leave a fairly wide space on the bottom. Features are made from colored plastic tape.

For the bunny, make eyes from circles of white tape with a spot of blue tape on each. Whiskers are made from narrow strips of black tape, and a green tape bow tie adds dash.

You can make all kinds of characters by using different features. You can even make leopards or zebras by using colored plastic tape for the spots or stripes.

Let the children go through their story books and decide what animals they want to make. Then they can act out their favorite nursery rhymes. Mother also can use the puppets when reading bedtime stories.

Encourage the children to put on their own puppet shows. It will be fun for all the family.

Results Revealed In Chrysanthemum Trials

LUBBOCK, April — Gardeners on the South Plains with a penchant for chrysanthemums have a choice of some 20 varieties and seven colors suggested for West Texas this year by Texas Tech horticulturists.

Results of chrysanthemum trials on varieties furnished by Yelder Brothers of Barberton, Ohio, have been reported by Edward Zukauckas, assistant professor of horticulture.

"We have found the variety 'Resolute' to have exceptional vigor and excellent color — a bright russet bronze," Zukauckas said. "Its high quality and good-sized flowers in mid-October make this variety a must for the average South Plains garden."

The trials also served to recommend "Andante," a good quality, flesh-bronze flower that is moderately tall; "Candytuft," a light lavender-pink, well-shaped plant, and "Larry"—a medium to large white flower, born on a relatively short plant.

Other general variety recommendations for 1959 include flowers in the following colors: white, Ostons, yellow, Astoria, Gold Lobe, Honeycomb, Bright Forecast and Sunstone; bronze, Resolute, Huntsman, Andante and Toronto; red, Remembrance; pink, Allegro; lavender and purple, Fuschsia Fairy, Orchid Helen and Candytuft.

Large flowered exhibition types include White Pink Chief, Pink Chief, Major Bowen, Peggy Ann Hoover and Kathleen Steyer.

"Because many garden chrysanthemums have a tendency to overgrow when planted too early from cuttings or division, many gardeners want to know the latest possible date the garden mums may be pinched," Zukauckas said.

"Favorable growing conditions last year produced plants by the end of August that would be too tall for normal garden usage. Many of these plants were then sheared or cut back approximately one-half their height," he said.

Only a very slight delay in flowering resulted, and the plant forms were not unattractive or affected by wind and rain, he said. Some slight delay was evidenced in flowering, but this amounted to one or two days delay in initial blossoming and a similar delay in peak bloom, the Tech horticulturist reported.

They tended to shear those plants that were mid-October blooming types, or later, and had narrow branching tendencies. Avoid cutbacks on extremely woody plants or those showing much budding at this time, he advised. It would probably be desirable not to cut back later than Aug. 15-20 on actively growing plants.

Complete data on the Tech chrysanthemum trials and shearing practices are available from the Tech horticulture department.

Jekyll-Hyde Strain Runs In Executives

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Does a Jekyll-and-Hyde strain run through the ranks of America's business executives?

Does the roaring lion of the executive suite turn into an amiable lamb when he leaves the office? Researchers at Michigan State University believe so.

They maintain the typical executive is apt to lead a double life with one set of principles for the office, another for home and church.

The researchers have just completed a pilot study in which they interviewed 162 executives in every echelon of the management hierarchy.

"The study indicates ambitious business executives do not regard as success-contributing those practices ordinarily regarded as good human relations," says the study director, Dr. Eugene E. Jennings of Michigan State's Business Administration College.

"Human relations," Jennings continues, "may be considered as an important adjunct of success by the executive, but not basic to it."

The professor adds: "A majority of the men we interviewed admitted they believe self-interest is the basis of all human nature, that it is safer to be suspicious of men and assume their nature is more bad than good."

Here are some majority reactions in four human relations areas covered in the study:

Friendship—Loyal subordinates are the mark of a competent executive but he risks a loss of flexibility by making close friends in areas crucial to his interests.

Agreement—Agreements should commit the other person; past promises need not stand in the way of success.

Decision making—An executive should not allow free participation in decisions crucial to his own interests; a decision once made should not be open to doubt.

Communication—The executive should not expose his hand; superior information is an advantage; never tell all you know and give

50 May Have Died In Philippines Blast

MANILA (AP)—A 500-pound salvaged bomb exploded in a central Luzon village today, and the Philippine News Service said at least 34 persons had been killed and many others injured.

Many of those injured were hit by fragments in their homes.

Police experts fear the death toll may reach 50. Many families reported some missing relatives.

The report said most of the dead were children between 3 and 12 years old.

The news service said fishermen had taken the bomb from a sunken ship in Lingas Bay and were taking it apart to use the explosive for fishing. Many of those killed were standing around, watching the operation.

The explosion occurred near Dagupan, in Pangasinan Province. The report said that of 34 verified dead, only 12 were recognizable.

'Presented By The Employees...'

R. V. Foresyth, city street superintendent, at left, has just presented Mayor G. W. Dabney with a plaque from the city employees. The plaque bears the words: G. W. Dabney, Commissioner 1945-1946, Mayor 1946-1959. Presented by the employees of the City of Big Spring, Texas, in respect for his wisdom and integrity in administering the city's affairs, and in appreciation of his kindness and concern for the welfare of the city's employees, April, 1959.

City Employees Pay Respects To Retiring Mayor At Party

City employees paid their respects to retiring Mayor G. W. Dabney Thursday afternoon, with speeches, cake, and a plaque. "Love and friendship are the greatest qualities on earth, and these are the reasons I have stayed on the commission as long as I have. I decided two years ago not to run again, but I still hate to leave because of the employees. I feel I have been the friend of the employees."

Although the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an appreciation dinner for the mayor later this month, the employees felt they should honor him before he leaves office. Dabney will step down at the Tuesday commission meeting.

Street Supt. R. V. Foresyth presented the mayor with a plaque from the city employees and following that, three members of the commission and the city manager made speeches lauding the mayor for his loyal service to the city.

Foresyth jokingly said he received the honor of making the presentation because during the mayor's tenure, he (Foresyth) had received more complaints than any other department head.

Foresyth said that he didn't have the time to recount all the things that the mayor had done for Big Spring, but he wanted to say that the city employees would always remember Mayor Dabney. "Even if it isn't true, it sounds mighty good," said Dabney, in accepting the plaque.

Dabney said that anyone who has done less than he was supposed to has not done enough, and he, since being elected mayor in 1946, has just tried to do what was expected of him.

He added that the city employees have been his friends since he was first elected, and "there is no greater reward for work done than friendship. I have reaped

4 Children Die In Fire

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Pasquini perished early today in a fire which swept their 12-room wood frame house.

The mother, Maria Pasquini, 40, leaped from the roof of a first floor porch when a fire department ladder burned as she was about to descend.

The 42-year-old father was found on the sidewalk in a dazed and shocked condition.

Mrs. Pasquini was taken to St. Luke's Hospital. Her condition was described as serious.

Pasquini also was hospitalized. The victims were Linda, 1; Deborah, 2; Carol, 6; and Perry Jr., 5.

Mrs. Pasquini's mother, identified as Mrs. Mosca, escaped safely from her apartment in the rear of the rambling 2 1/2-story residence.

Remo Giacomoni, 26, a lodger, also escaped unharmed.

Life Of Soviet Fisherman In Hands Of U.S. Doctors

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The life of a young Soviet fisherman, injured in a fall aboard a Soviet boat six days ago, was in the hands of a team of skilled Air Force doctors today.

Evgemij Ivanovich Gneushev, 23, partially paralyzed and still unconscious, was listed in critical condition by Maj. Homer E. Woosley Jr., chief of surgery at the Elmendorf Air Force Base Hospital here.

Woosley said Gneushev suffered brain damage in a fall aboard the Soviet ship Pischavaya Industria. The seaman's right arm and both legs were paralyzed. Woosley gave Gneushev a 50-50 chance to live.

The Pischavaya Industria is a large factory ship operating with a fleet of 50 Soviet fishing vessels in the Bering Sea and Bristol Bay.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Storis, acting quickly after a plea for help issued by the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D.C., took Gneushev from the Soviet boat on an Aleutian island bay Wednesday.

The Storis steamed to Cold Bay, at the tip of the Alaska Peninsula, where Gneushev was transferred early Thursday to a Coast Guard plane for a 650-mile flight to Anchorage.

The chief said an autopsy showed death was due to air embolism and that the woman was the expectant mother of twins.

Graham Defends His Advertising

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Billy Graham says he has the greatest thing in the world to sell to people "so why shouldn't I advertise like other organizations?"

The American evangelist was replying today to recurrent criticism of his methods.

Graham said advertising brought many people to his meetings. He reported that 350,000 persons attended the six-meeting series he concluded this week in New Zealand.

The American opens a crusade in Sydney Sunday. Sixty thousand are expected at the first meeting.

2 Women Among Top 6 Winners In Economy Run
 KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two women were among the six drivers who won top honors in the annual Mobilgas economy run which ended here yesterday.

Another woman, hampered by mechanical failure, finished in second place.

Trophies were awarded for the top three places in each of the six classes.

Posting the best gasoline mileage of entrants in all classes was a Rambler American driven by Betty Bell of Sunland, Calif. Bell's car got 25.2878 miles to a gallon of gasoline over the 1,378-mile course from Los Angeles to Kansas City. He won the compact car class trophy over the larger Rambler Deluxe and two models of the Lark.

The average for the entire 47-car field was 19.44 mpg.

Cars competed in six classes according to size, weight, horsepower and price.

The only accident occurred on the last leg of the five-day run when a Plymouth Belvedere driven by Miss Mary Davis of Hollywood struck a hole in the pavement near Atchison, Kan., snapping a tie rod and causing the vehicle to brush the side of a bridge.

Miss Davis sprinted to an auto repair shop five blocks away, got a new tie rod and replaced the broken part. The 38-minute delay cost her a penalty of 1.64 gallons and probably the trophy in the Class C low price 8-cylinder class. She scored 20.9890 for second place compared to 21.1458 for the winner, Pierce Venable of Redondo Beach, Calif., in another Plymouth Belvedere.

Miss Davis had led the Class C field for four days.

Mrs. Mary Houser of Hollywood, driving a Chevrolet Biacayne, averaged 23.3788 mpg for top honors (high price), a Cadillac 62, driven by Jim Parkinson, Burbank, Calif., was high with 19.0342 mpg.

Court Considers Custody Battle
 CHICAGO (AP)—A young mother of four small children, who is hopeful of regaining custody of her 13 brothers and sisters, was given some encouragement in family court Thursday.

Judge Maurice J. Schultz ordered an investigation in the case and set May 19 for a hearing on the questioning of returning to Mrs. Marie Smith, 22, custody of the children, ranging in age from 5 months to 13 years.

"It is not our purpose to separate families," Judge Schultz said. "If the home is clean, there will be no problem."

Before the death of her mother, Mrs. Alberta Williams, last Nov. 8, Mrs. Smith had promised her she would keep the Williams children together. She kept her promise, bringing them into her home with her four children.

But she and her husband, Herman, a filling station attendant, quarreled last March, and Mrs. Smith left with her own young sons. Police picked up the Williams' children after getting a telephone call—which was from Mrs. Smith—saying they had been abandoned.

Cook County welfare officials placed the children in temporary foster homes and petitioned the court to keep them on grounds that Mrs. Smith was unable to give them proper care.

Mrs. Smith, who patched up her spat with her husband, replied with a formal request for custody of the children.

Schools Urged To Restrict U.S. Aid To 'Pump Priming'
 The future of school guidance in Texas is pretty much dependent on the National Defense Education Act, but schools should accept federal money only to prime the counseling pump.

That was the report and recommendation of Dr. Glenn Barnett to the West Texas School Study Council at Lubbock Thursday. Dr. Barnett is associate dean of the College of Education, University of Texas.

Four representatives of the Big Spring schools were on hand for the council meeting. They were S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Ruth Rutherford, elementary principal; and Billy Harrell and Bennie Pierson, counselors.

"The education act encourages schools to institute comprehensive testing programs. It suggests that they advise and encourage students with outstanding aptitude and ability to prepare for and enroll in college," Dr. Barnett said. "The act also sets up counseling and guidance training institutes at colleges and universities."

Barnett pointed out that, from the testing program, schools will gain information they did not have before.

"For example, the Texas Education Agency will subsidize a testing program in both ability and achievement for seventh grade students. Ninth or 10th grade students will be tested for scholastic and vocational aptitudes while 12th grade students will take achievement exams," he said.

The second "primer" — guidance — represents real emphasis on intellectual ability and is frontal attack on the great loss of talent the nation sustains when intelligent youths do not go to college, Barnett said.

The third "primer" — guidance institutes — will probably change the character of the school counselor and his job, he noted. It will enable schools to recruit outstanding people to do counseling.

Barnett also warned that in guidance, Federal money can be the "root of all evil" if misused. "The thing for us to do is to do what is educationally justifiable in our schools and not simply to spend the money because it is available," he urged.

Just Look At All The Bargains In Today's Herald

MILLIONS OF WOMEN EVERYWHERE LOOK FIRST TO THEIR NEWSPAPER FOR NEWS ABOUT BUDGET-BOOSTING VALUES...

Dad may look first to the sports page and Junior may want the comics — but survey after survey continues to prove that women everywhere look FIRST to the ADS in their NEWSpapers for fashion news, menu ideas, home fix-up tips, new product information, as well as "bargains"!

More than 90% of the women surveyed read all of the local ads in their community paper for food and fashion news... of this number, 50% read advertising by national firms, too. Most significant is that MOST of all American WOMEN DO MOST OF THE BUYING FOR THEIR FAMILIES AND HOMES!

No wonder advertisers invested twice as much money in newspapers last year as in any other medium.

Mr. Merchant... publish your NEWS in this paper regularly. Your ad in this NEWSpaper is like having a personal salesman in the home of each and every one of our readers.

Martin Winner Of Service Award At Phillips Station

W. B. Martin of Preach Martin 66 Service Station at 11th and Johnson, has received a $50 award from Phillips Petroleum Company for giving perfect driveway service to a Phillips "Mystery Motorist."

The award was made when the "mystery motorist" paid an unheralded visit to this Phillips 66 service station recently.

To win the award, Martin gave the "mystery motorist" the six steps of "Golden Approach" service, which included a friendly approach; checking under the hood of the car; cleaning all the car windows; whisk-brooming the floor mats; checking the tires; and thanking the customer for his purchases. At the conclusion of these services, the customer identified himself as a Phillips "mystery motorist" and left a $50 certificate at the service station.

The "mystery motorist" is one of more than 2,000 who will this year be rewarding Phillips 66 dealers and their driveway salesmen for giving customers complete driveway service.

STEERS TRY ABILENE NINE HERE SATURDAY

Two teams figured to fight it out for the District 2-AAAA baseball championship, Abilene and Big Spring, come up for a survival test in a 2 o'clock game here Saturday afternoon.

The loser yields practically all chance to finish first in the five-team race.

Abilene blew its opening game, but good, to the upstart Midland Bulldogs, 14-1. Big Spring fared almost as poorly in its debut, dropping a 12-2 verdict to San Angelo.

Coach Roy Baird is still trying to figure out what happened to his team at San Angelo. The Steers did little right that day, the Cats could do little wrong.

The result of the Midland-Abilene joust shocked more people than did the outcome of the Big Spring-San Angelo game. Abilene has won eight straight conference titles and District 2-AAAA has never known another baseball kingpin outside of the Eagles.

Biggest crowd of the season is due to watch the teams play. A sizeable delegation may come over from Abilene.

Although they were limited to three hits by San Angelo's Wedge Turner, the Steers are still hitting more than 300 as a unit. Abilene's probable starters, listed with batting averages, are:

Tim Walter, left field, .136; Mack Dums, third baseman, .348; Charley Harrison, shortstop, .474; Johnny Choate, pitcher, .200; Charles Counselman, catcher, .345; Reggie Crosby, center field, .296; Joe Ellis, second baseman, .219; Cleve Powell, first baseman, .071; and Johnny Garner, right field, .167.

Abilene will take an 11-3 worst record into the field against Big Spring. Big Spring is 10-4 for the year but has lost its last three games.

Probable starters for Big Spring

Pinkie's Bowlers Add To Circuit

Embracing 13 splits conversions, the Women's Classic bowling league moved along this week with four matches.

Cosden tied with Big Spring Tamale-Tortilla, 2-2, and Neal's banged 7-Up, 3-1. Pinkie's shot past Anthony, 4-0, the same margin that Carlos' whacked Alexander.

Six weeks of action are now left to play. Carlos' had high team game, 807, and BSTT furnished top series, 2227 with a 789 game. Pinkie's collected a 2209 series.

Jewell Wadsworth of Carlos' was best single performer with 236, 536. Angie Merrill, Pinkie's, had 191-526.

Splits were converted by Gwen Faulkner, 4-5; Reba Moss, 2-7, and Marie Raughley, 5-8-10; of Neal's; Ronnie Bachstadt, 2-5-7, and Betty Keune, 5-7, of 7-Up; Jackie Drake, 5-6, Carlos'; Evelyn Ball, 3-10 twice for BSTT; Plew Cosden's Frances Bartlett, 5-7-9; Knoop Cosden's Dot Hood, 3-10; BSTT's Mary Martin, 2-7; and Marie McDonald, 3-7-10 and Angie Merrill, 3-7-10, for Pinkie's.

Standings: Team W L Pinkie's 77 32 Cosden 77 32 BSTT 65 31 7-Up 50 41 Alexander 49 47 Carlos' 49 47 Anthony 49 47 Neal's 36 74

Matinee League Leaders Shaded

Gillihan's chilled the Thursday Matinee Bowling league pace-setters at Clover Bowl yesterday, 3-1, but Hemphill Wells still has a six-point bulge in the standings.

In other matches, Tot N' Teen won over Big Spring Hardware, 4-0; while Henderson's triumphed over Good Housekeeping, 3-1.

Lue Best of Tot N' Teen had game high of 211. Mary Martin of Henderson's registered a 197 and proceeded to a 489. Nadel Steakley of Gillihan's came in with a 488 aggregate.

Tot N' Teen led team scoring with 930-2660. Splits were converted by: Earnestine Schroeder, 5-6; Nadel Steakley, 5-7; LaVern Cunningham, 2-7; Reba Gross, 2-7 and 3-10; Marvalene Mundell, 5-7-9; Dot Henderson, 5-7-9; Lue Best, 5-7; and Ginger Kobi, 5-8-10 and 2-7.

Bob Callahan Eyes Sites For Fights

Bob Callahan flew to Big Spring from Odessa yesterday to check on possible sites for his proposed wrestling and boxing shows.

Callahan indicates he was applying for licenses to promote boxing and wrestling here, as well as San Angelo and Fort Worth. He also revealed he would stage boxing shows in Abilene.

Callahan, who promoted the Joey Giambra-Candy Anderson fight in Odessa recently, said he was in a position to offer Big Spring its first wrestling card as early as Saturday, April 18.

Finals arrangements for a building have not yet been worked out, however.

Young Quits Job

STERLING CITY (SC)—W. L. (Diddle) Young has resigned as head coach and athletic director at Sterling City High School but has added he will remain in school work. Young went to Sterling City from Fort Davis.

Jerry Phillips and Jay LeFevre will be available for relief mound duty, in event Moser falters. Chubby Moser pitched two innings against San Angelo, should be ready tomorrow.

Moser is due to be 'high' for this one. He's been trying to beat Abilene ever since he was a sophomore, and hasn't yet succeeded.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I expect Paul Richards to be the first of several major league managers to lose his job this season.

It's been noised about that Elwood Turner is going to have his biggest and roughest football club at Sweetwater this fall and Turner hasn't been too quick to deny it.

Lamesa remains the favorite in District 3-AAA, however. O. W. Follis may have his first conference winner since 1952.

Few coaches in West Texas have put in longer tenures in one place than Milton (Speedy) Moffett, the Snyder baseball coach. Moffett has been associated with the Snyder school system for ten years now.

Few baseball coaches have experienced the success Moffett has, either. He has the Tigers in the playoffs every year.

Jim Payne, who lived here at one time, posted a 592 series in Texas State Bowling tournament competition last week. That's good for second place in Class C singles and all but assures Jim of prize money.

Payne now resides in Odessa. Jarrell Edwards ran the 880 in 1:50.2 in the Texas Relays last week, the fastest time ever turned in by an ACC athlete. The school mark had been held by Leon Leppard, the former Big Spring great who later served as captain of the ACC team.

Arizona State may, in the not too distant future, withdraw from the Border Conference and accept membership in the new AAUW conference, which has USC, UCLA, California and Washington as other members.

Arizona State is outgrowing the Border circuit and, of course, would like a cut of the Rose Bowl loot.

Leo Posada, the former Odessa fly-chaser, will play for Shreveport in the Southern Association this season. Posada was with Odessa shortly after the turn of this decade.

The Professional Bowlers Association is planning a year-long tournament schedule patterned after that staged by the professional golfers.

A well-known sports scribe whose name won't be mentioned here for obvious reasons says he rues the day Mickey Mantle ever moved to Texas.

He says Mantle is uncommunicative and shows downright bad manners when approached by a writer. Furthermore, he adds, Mickey is not long on moxie.

The scribe found the idea of Mantle moving to Texas distasteful because the Yankee slugger will be a baseball holdout every spring and there will be those who have to approach him to find out how he stands on the matter of his pay.

In the World Series of three autumns ago, a sizzling ground ball struck pitcher Billy Loes as he stood on the mound for Brooklyn. The ball caromed toward first base and the batter was safe.

When a newspaperman later asked Loes why he didn't field it, Billy replied, in mock seriousness but in a manner that was typically Loes: "I lost it in the sun."

Billy Simmons of Colorado City will be one of the tri-captains of the Rice Institute football team this fall. He's due to try and fill Buddy Dial's shoes.

Steers Enter 17 Athletes In Monahans Track Meet

Big Spring High School coach Harold Bentley will carry 17 Steer track boys to the Sand Hills Relays at Monahans tomorrow. The party will leave 6:30 a.m. Saturday.

Bentley said that upon a physician's advice Tuesday, senior Bill French had given up athletics this year. French, a hard-luck athlete if there ever was one, has suffered from a slipped disc in his back which had set in only days ago.

French was hampered by shin splints as a sophomore, and during his junior season that ailment still hurt him and a heart murmur had developed. Bentley said the quarter-mile and mile relay runner had been doing "a real good job."

Gordon Bristow, who was hospitalized when his Achilles tendon tore loose while running, was progressing well at his home, said Bentley, and may be at school Monday. A graft operation had been required to remedy the tear in his foot.

Tomorrow in the high and low hurdles will be Joe McWilliams; Fred Brown and R. L. Lasater will vie in the 100, with Lasater and David Abreo in the 200; Gordon Dickinson and Benny Edwards will be quarter-milers and 800-yard run boys are Bill Engle and Steve Blair. Charles Smith is named to run the mile, and on the 400-yard relay team are Lasater, Abreo, Roy Burklow and Brown.

In the field events are Gary Walker and Robert Phelan; discus; shot put, Mackie Alexander; high jump, Bill Parson; pole vault, Mike Zumbate; and broad jump, Carey King and Benny McCrary.

Grade School Youngsters Take Part In Track Meet

Nine events will be scheduled for boys of Big Spring elementary schools when the first three Elementary Track meets is held tomorrow at Memorial Stadium.

The little athletes can step up to the starting line for the 50-, 75-, or 100-yard race, run on a 200-yard or 400-yard relay team, or enter in four different field events. Those include chinning, broad jump, baseball throw and high jump.

C. W. Tanner and Oakie Hagood will handle starting and lane assignments.

Wall, Snead Pass Up The Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP)—Art Wall, the Masters champion and heaviest money winner in golf for the year, won't be in the field for the $27,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament April 30-May 3.

Wall, along with Sam Snead, the veteran from West Virginia, sent in their declinations yesterday.

Bonin Leads Way For Canadiens

MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens were safely launched today on their bid for an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley Cup title thanks to the spark supplied by Marcel Bonin.

For two and a half periods Thursday night a crowd of 14,370 saw a routine affair between the Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs. Then the irrepressible little leftwinger chopped in the winning goal and set up the insurance marker with a coolly calculated pass to give the Canadiens a 5-3 win.

Stanton Bisons Win 6-A Track Crown

By BOBBY HORTON

Stanton High School won its third district track title in a decade at Memorial Stadium here yesterday, outpointing second place Roby, 73 1/2-25 1/2, for the 6-A championship.

The team victory for the Buffaloes was their first since 1954 in major sports competition. They won the track title in 1950 also.

"You can say I'm a proud man," said Stanton coach Harlin Dauphin after a weary day in the brisk weather. Dauphin served as meet director. He takes his team to Lubbock for regional April 25.

Roscoe finished with 25, Coahoma had 20 1/2 and last year's winner, Roby, had 9 1/2.

Dauphin's team also furnished the two top individual point-makers in junior Norman Donelson, who counted 14, and Buzzy Brewer, 12 1/2.

Donelson set a record in the 220-yard dash with a 23.0 prelim time, won the 100-yard low hurdles event, finished second in the 120-yard high jump and had a fourth in the high jump. Tommy Newman, Stanton, also ran a 23.0 220 in the preliminaries.

Brewer broke the shot put record with a hefty 45-3 1/2 throw, captured first in the discus throw, ran on the winning 440-yard relay team and gained a fourth in the 100-yard dash.

In all, three records were broken and one tied and Stanton athletes were at fault. Newman tied the 10.4 record in 100 and Jimmy Miller broke his 1958 mark of 2:09 in the 800-yard run with a time of 2:06.5.

Paul Graves of Coahoma, who was third high scorer with 10, won the 440-yard dash in 53.7 and the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.3.

In a junior high division, Rotan swept off with 50 points, Coahoma had 23, Roby 22, Stanton 10 1/2 and Roscoe 4 1/2.

Hawks Entered In 5 Events In Track Meet At Denton

The HCJC Jayhawks will take part in only five events in the eighth annual North Texas Relays at Denton Saturday.

On each occasion, the Hawks will be running against senior college freshmen.

Competition in that class will be conducted in the 440-yard relay, sprint medley relay, one-mile relay, 100-yard dash and 120-yard high hurdles.

Running on the Jayhawk sprint relay team will be Clyde Dabbs, Fred Thompson, Bert Mansfield and Sammy Kruse. The Denton record in that event is 42.4, set by Houston last year.

Thompson and Dabbs will run 220 legs on the sprint medley team. Millard Bennett will lead off the quartet with a 440 while R. D. Ross will run the final two laps as the anchor man.

The spring medley record at Denton is 3:34.5, set by ACC in 1957.

Mansfield will lead off the Hawk mile relay team while Bennett, Kruse and Thompson will take the baton in that order.

Insurance Board Studies Program For Money Saving

AUSTIN (AP) — Merit rating programs aimed at saving money for the Texas automobile insurance buyer were studied today.

The Board of Insurance took various proposals under consideration yesterday. Its decision is expected later.

Keith Kelly of Fort Worth, representing the National Assn. of Independent Insurers, said the proposed program under present Texas rate making laws would be "rate loading. The reward is purely psychological, a pat on the back."

He said it would not give drivers adequate benefits when the rates were reduced under present laws.

Paul Benbrook of Houston, representing several other insurance organizations, said "We urge the board to expedite adoption of such merit rates. The Legislative Council has urged adoption of such a program."

Details of the program will be worked out by the board. It generally would seek to reward careful drivers with lower rates. Accident-prone drivers would pay higher fees.

Old Indian Scout To Leave Hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An Indian scout who says he is 121 years old will probably leave Phoenix Indian Hospital next week.

Sam Etchesaw, a Yavapai, claims to have captured Geronimo personally. Etchesaw, whose name means bird, is believed the last of the Army's Indian scouts.

Dr. Leland Hanchett, hospital director, said Etchesaw's main trouble is old age and some malnutrition. Otherwise, he says, he carries his years well.

Etchesaw always has been a little skippy on details of catching Geronimo. But records show he served as a scout in four campaigns. Geronimo, the Apache chief, surrendered on the last.

Records also show Etchesaw got lost at least once. That was in downtown Phoenix in 1933, when he wandered from a store to which he had gone with a granddaughter.

Looks For Dog, Finds A Mastodon

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — If Jimmy Steckley's dog Perk likes bones as well as most dogs do, he should have stuck closer to his young master.

Jimmy, 13, an eighth-grader, was looking for Perk Thursday when he stumbled on what appeared to be the bones of a mammoth, a prehistoric ancestor of the elephant.

Jimmy summoned his science teacher, Carl G. Zwerk, and some friends. They started digging.

By nightfall, they had uncovered a leg bone, a pelvis, a skull, some teeth and some vertebrae.

Zwerk estimated the fossil's age at between 20,000 and 30,000 years. Jimmy never did find Perk.

7 Haitian Revolutionists Seize Plane, Fly To Cuba

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Seven Haitian revolutionists killed the pilot of a Haitian military plane Thursday and forced the copilot to fly them to Santiago, Cuban headquarters of their rebel movement.

Twenty-two other persons aboard the plane were forced to come along.

Cuban officials said the rebel gunmen made their move shortly after the plane, with 31 persons aboard, took off from the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince on a short flight to another point inside the Negro republic 170 miles southeast of Santiago.

On landing here the revolutionists asked political asylum of Fidel Castro's Cuban government, which already harbors some of the leading political foes of Haitian President Francois Duvalier.

The Haitian government was expected to demand return of the plane and all aboard, and particularly of the seven rebels to face punishment. But it was generally assumed the seven would be allowed to stay in Cuba.

Cuban officials said both military and civilian passengers were aboard the plane. There was one unconfirmed report that an American was among the civilians.

Six weeks ago the Duvalier government cancelled all exit visas for Haitians in an apparent move to prevent them from joining the "Haitian Revolutionary front" in Cuba.

Duvalier charged that opponents of his regime were being given military training in Cuba, presumably with the idea of launching an armed invasion of Haiti.

Santiago is the headquarters of Louis Dejoie, a leader of the Haitian exile movement against the Duvalier regime since his own defeat for the presidency in 1957.

Pictures have appeared in Cuban newspapers showing Dejoie consulting with leaders of Fidel Castro's revolutionary army. A month ago Dejoie predicted Duvalier would fall within 30 days.

Castro has shown a sympathy to the cause of the Haitian revolutionaries but he has cautioned them against talking of making an invasion from Cuba.

7 Haitian Revolutionists Seize Plane, Fly To Cuba

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Seven Haitian revolutionists killed the pilot of a Haitian military plane Thursday and forced the copilot to fly them to Santiago, Cuban headquarters of their rebel movement.

Twenty-two other persons aboard the plane were forced to come along.

Cuban officials said the rebel gunmen made their move shortly after the plane, with 31 persons aboard, took off from the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince on a short flight to another point inside the Negro republic 170 miles southeast of Santiago.

On landing here the revolutionists asked political asylum of Fidel Castro's Cuban government, which already harbors some of the leading political foes of Haitian President Francois Duvalier.

The Haitian government was expected to demand return of the plane and all aboard, and particularly of the seven rebels to face punishment. But it was generally assumed the seven would be allowed to stay in Cuba.

Cuban officials said both military and civilian passengers were aboard the plane. There was one unconfirmed report that an American was among the civilians.

Israel's First King

THE PEOPLE DEMANDED SUCH A RULER, AND THE LORD GAVE HIS CONSENT

Scripture—1 Samuel 8-11.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE SCRIPTURE assigned to today's lesson contains so many episodes that it will be wise to confine them to the printed text suggested in Peloubet's Select Notes by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, its editor and commentator.

The aging Samuel, judge of Israel for many years, appointed his sons to succeed him. Unfortunately these sons, Joel and Abiah, were not godly men like their father, and "walked not in his ways, but turned aside after hore, and took bribes, and perverted judgment."—1 Samuel 8:1-3.

The elders of Israel, realizing this, said to Samuel: "Behold thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations."—1 Samuel 8:4-5.

This displeased Samuel, but as we all should do when we are disheartened and uncertain, he took his problem to God. The Lord said: "Hearken unto the voice of the people in all that they say unto thee: for they have not rejected thee, but they have rejected Me, that I should not reign over them."—1 Samuel 8:6-7.

Samuel warned his people of what a king ruling over them would mean, as he would have the city where the man of God was."—1 Samuel 9:6-10.

Samuel was evidently impressed by this fine young man. After telling him the asses had been found, he invited Saul to have dinner and to sacrifice with him, saying: "And on whom is all the desire of Israel? Is it not on thee, and on all thy father's house?"—1 Samuel 9:20.

The Lord had told Samuel: "Tomorrow about this time I will send thee a man out of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be captain over My people Israel; that he may save My people out of the hand of the Philistines: for I have looked upon My people, because they cry to come to Me."—1 Samuel 9:16.

When Samuel saw Saul the Lord said to him: "Behold the man of whom I spake unto thee of! This same shall reign over My people."—1 Samuel 9:17.

Saul was a modest man, and at Samuel's words, he said: "Am not I a Benjaminite, of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? . . . wherefore then speakest thou so to me?"—1 Samuel 9:21.

Next morning Samuel called Saul and they went abroad, "And as they were going down to the end of the city, Samuel said to absolute power over them and their possessions. It was no use; the people wanted a king and would not consider the consequences.

As most of the students in the classes know, a king or queen is not usually elected by the people, but usually comes to the throne by inheritance. In our modern world there are fewer such rulers. Many heads of states are now elected by the people, as are our Presidents, and do not rule for a lifetime.

"Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish . . . a mighty man of power. And he had a son, whose name was Saul, a choice young man, and a goodly; and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people."—1 Samuel 9:1-2.

This striking young man was sent by his father to find the latter's lost asses. While he and his servant were searching for them without success, the servant suggested that they seek an "honorable man" (Samuel), as he might help them. "So they went into the land of Benjamin, and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly."—Samuel 11:15.

From April 13 through April 19 is National Sunday School Week for all faiths. Let us all call this to the attention of the boys and girls in our classes.

Missionaries Breaking Away From Colonial Connections

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

The oldest existing American Protestant missionary effort takes a big step toward folding its tent next week.

Ceremonies in Beirut, Lebanon, on Wednesday will mark the official beginning of a merger of Protestant missions in Syria and Lebanon into the independent National Evangelical Synod of Syria and Lebanon.

It is part of a long range Protestant program to hand over control of foreign missions to the native churches and disassociate Protestant Christianity from hated Western colonialism.

American Protestant missionaries began work in Syria and Lebanon in 1823, under the supervision of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, which then included both

Odd Neckwear

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—John Boykin's neck wear attracted some attention in a department store Thursday.

Boykin, of Tucson, strolled into the store wearing a bright checked shirt with a four-foot bull snake wrapped around his neck. Boykin said he caught the snake on a picnic and thought it looked "real sporty" with his shirt.

Congregationalists and Presbyterians.

The board now is an agency of the Congregational Christian Churches but most of the missionary work in Syria and Lebanon has been carried on by the Presbyterians.

When the merger finally is accomplished the National Evangelical Synod will inherit 57 missions.

Services Will Be Held In Spanish During Revival

Rudy A. Hernandez, a staff member of the Evangelism Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will conduct a revival at the Mexican Baptist Church, 701 NW 5th, next week. Services will be held daily at 7:30 p.m. The Spanish language will be used.

Hernandez is a native of San Antonio and is a graduate of Howard Payne College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He held pastorates in Galveston and Fort Worth before taking the evangelical post.

THE SECRET PLACE

By CLYDE NICHOLS

A. W. O. L.

"Thomas was not there when Jesus came." He should have been. Those were his orders and Christ had promised to meet him along with the rest of the disciples. But Thomas went A.W.O.L. and so was not there when Jesus came.

Jesus stood in their midst, and said, "Peace be unto you." Here was peace and poise to steady them amidst the opposition which engulfed them. But Thomas went A.W.O.L. and missed it. Jesus breathed on them, and said, "Receive the Holy Spirit." It was the gift of power. Now God worked through them to achieve what they could never achieve alone. But there was no power for Thomas; going A.W.O.L. he missed it.

Again Jesus spoke to the disciples assembled there, "As my Father has sent me, even so send I you." Here was new purpose for them; they were commissioned by Christ to go forth in his name. But not Thomas, A.W.O.L., he missed it all.

"Then were the disciples glad." It was not so with Thomas; he was miserably unhappy and refused to believe any of it when he was told.

It's an easy matter for us to condemn Thomas, completely unaware that we go A.W.O.L. too. Has Christ not commanded us, "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together?" And has he not promised, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there will I be in their midst?" And he waits there to give to us peace, and poise, purpose and power. But Sunday after Sunday finds us A.W.O.L. away from the gifts of God.

But Thomas wanted to receive and to believe. The next Lord's Day he was there and Christ came again as he always does. That day Thomas came face to face with the risen Redeemer, and fell at his feet—"My Lord and my God!"

You, also, have a rendezvous. He has given you orders and made you a promise. This coming Sunday there is "an upper room" where you are expected to be. You can report to your Commander, or you can go A.W.O.L. The decision is yours!

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

EMERGING FROM CRISIS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Samuel	7	1-17
Monday	Revelation	2	1-17
Tuesday	Revelation	2	18-1
Wednesday	Revelation	3	7-23
Thursday	I Samuel	8	1-22
Friday	I Samuel	9	1-14
Saturday	I Samuel	12	1-19

We have all seen it! That sudden transition, from tears to a smile as a child reappraises the situation.

Do we, when we grow up, lose that ability to emerge quickly and completely from every crisis?

Probably not! But our thinking processes become more complex . . . consequently slower. It takes us sometimes days, weeks, even years, to reappraise a situation.

But, significantly, one of the common effects of religious faith in the life of an individual is a marked increase in the ability to understand a crisis and emerge from it happily. Those who are conscious of the power and love of God seem to have an immediate source of courage and hope.

Observing this fact, the careless man thinks of the Church as a refuge in time of crisis. The thoughtful family makes worship and church school part of every week, knowing that the spiritual insights gained each Sunday will shrink every crisis . . . conquer every fear.

Vocational Students To Fete Employers

For the 29th time since 1935, students in the high school industrial training program will entertain their employers Friday night.

The annual banquet staged by the Vocational Industrial Club will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant. Speaker will be Jack Y. Smith, manager of industrial relations for the Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Smith will speak on the topic, "Where Will You Be in 1965?" He will discuss labor trends since 1955 and attempt to project them to 1965.

The banquet, featuring charcoal steaks, will be financed by the VIClub treasury—funds raised by the students in various projects. About 70 persons are expected to attend, including the 26 vocational industrial students, their employers, and other guests.

Welcome will be extended by Supt. Floyd Parsons of the Big Spring schools. Invocation will be led by Tommy Williams. Entertainment will include a bagpipe pantomime by Jackie Owens and Dalton Conway, a song by Lugenia Smith, and a piano number by Nancy Davis, club sweetheart.

4 Juveniles Held After Bomb Threat

LEVELLAND, Tex. (AP)—Four juveniles suspected of telephoning a teacher that a bomb had been placed in the Levelland Junior High School Building were arrested last night.

The 604 students left the building yesterday after the caller told Mrs. Spencer Beasley that a bomb had been placed in the building and was set to go off in 15 minutes.

Police and firemen were called, then a second phone call came and a female voice said, "I hope you're having fun looking for something."

Police and firemen found no bomb.

Principal Marvin Wheeler said four juveniles were arrested after a tip that one of them was bragging about the incident.

DWI Defendant Enters Guilty Plea

Jimmie R. Thomas, charged with DWI, one of the defendants whose trial was to be heard next week before a county court jury, pleaded guilty Thursday.

He appeared at the office of the county attorney with a request that he be permitted to withdraw his not guilty plea. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $75 and three days in jail. This leaves 17 cases on the docket for disposition next week at the jury session.

Standard Courses Only Half The Training For ICT Pupils

Completion of the standard courses for high school graduation and college entrance is only half the training received by vocational students in Big Spring High School.

The other half consists of on-the-job training in the various vocational and industrial fields.

In addition to going to school, the students spend 20 to 25 hours per week on their jobs. Schedules are arranged so they can complete classroom work during the mornings and shift to the shops, laboratories, etc. for the afternoons.

One hour each morning is spent on technical studies related to the various fields in which the students are training. Balance of the school time is spent in regular classes where they take the subjects required for graduation.

Another important part of the Industrial Cooperative Training Program is the Vocational Industrial Club, made up of ICT students. The club works to develop leadership, moral and spiritual qualities, and to assist the students in understanding opportunities and trends in the various vocational fields. The students also study such related subjects as insurance, loans, interest, as a part of their club work.

The 26 students in the local ICT program are training in such fields as electricity, mechanics, the building crafts, nursing, laboratory technology, etc.

Coordinator of the program in Big Spring High is Louis Maneely. While the program isn't set up to afford students to earn money while going to school, the earnings of the trainees form an interesting facet of the program. Maneely estimated the 26 pupils will earn $18,000 to $20,000 this school year.

'America' Stanza Replaces Prayer

LAWRENCE, N.Y. (AP) — A stanza of "America" has replaced the Lord's Prayer in this suburban New York City area — ending a controversy over use of the prayer in public schools.

The decision affects Public School District 15, which takes in the neighboring communities known as the Five Towns.

The South Shore Jewish Community Council had opposed reciting of the Lord's Prayer in school, contending it violated the principle of separation of church and state and "the religious sensibilities of a large portion of the community."

The Religious Council of the Five Towns, which includes members of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths, said it was opposed to sectarian prayers in the public schools and that it favored a stanza from "America." The school board Thursday acted accordingly.

Woman's Happiness Project Backfires

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"I was just trying to make people happy. Now I don't have a friend in the world."

Mary Patricia Snead, 36, sobbed as she told newsmen Thursday how she bought $30,000 worth of merchandise on the installment plan and sold it below cost to make others happy.

Detective L. C. Brewer said an investigation has started but no move has been made to arrest Mrs. Snead. Police say no store has complained.

With the money she got from selling merchandise at low prices Mrs. Snead kept up payments on a multitude of other items, including used cars.

So, Feed The Cow Yeast With Grain

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hubert Garrecht, president of the Milk Industry Foundation, says dairymen might sell more milk if a way could be found "to make it a little more sinful."

"The trouble with milk is that it is too much taken for granted," Garrecht said Thursday night at a meeting of the Greater Pittsburgh Dairy Industry Assn. "It lacks the glamor of tobacco and alcohol."

Candidate

Truett Newell, West Texas State College junior from Big Spring, is one of the nominees for Personality King at WTSC. Results of the contest will be announced at the annual Personality Pageant Saturday. Newell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Newell, Big Spring.

Kiwanis To Note 30th Anniversary At Thursday Meet

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will be 30 years old next Thursday. A letter from the Kiwanis International office congratulating the local club on attaining 30 years of existence was read to the members on Thursday. The first meeting of the Kiwanians in Big Spring was on April 16, 1929. Some observation of the occasion will be made at the meeting next week.

This week, the club heard a discussion of the uses of polystyrene, a product of the Cosden Petroleum Corp., refinery. Marshall Brown, in the sales department of this division of the plant, had samples of some of the many commodities made with the product. Wendal Parks was program chairman for the day. Announcement was made that a considerable number of local club members have signed reservations to attend the Kiwanis International Convention in June at Dallas.

Joe Davis, age 18, a senior and is a second year student working as a sheet metal worker at Jeter's Sheet Metal Company.

Grand Jury To Meet April 20

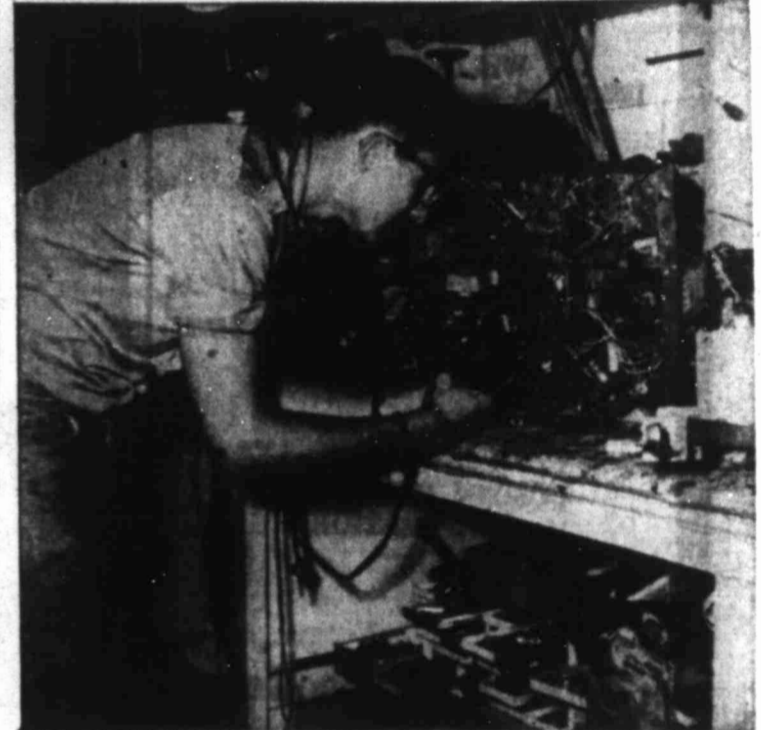

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, has ordered the Howard County Grand Jury to report for special session duty on April 20.

The grand jurors met at the beginning of the January term. They were excused from further duty until needed at that time. Yesterday Judge Sullivan signed for the court order instructing the 12 jurors to report to him at 9 a.m. April 20.

Dist. Atty. Gil Jones has approximately 40 defendants who will be paraded before the grand jury that week.

High School Players Do Well With Fantasy Play met and with whom he falls in love.

Farnsworth has been murdered, and is murdered again before the play is over, but Joe eventually ends up with a body much like the one he was born with, and is again on his predestined path.

It is a truism that no high school play can be of top quality, but this is no reflection on the kids. It is simply a matter of extreme youth and lack of experience. Actually, the Court Jesters showed an uncanny grasp of theatrics. They played with energy and expertly covered the bumbles that plague even professional actors.

There were several excellently-rendered scenes, and no really bad ones. And the kids discovered an important fact in theatre—you don't always get laughs when you expected to; scenes the Jesters knocked themselves out perfecting went by with a silent audience, other comic bits brought unexpected gales of laughter. And no two audiences ever react in exactly the same way.

Now for the bad points: The acoustics were not too good to begin with, and the players' enunciation was not always as it should be. Projection on the part of some actors was poor. The constant whispering and shuffling in the audience didn't help the situation. The players' worst sin was in not waiting through the laughs to take up the dialogue again; a lot of lines were lost to the audience this way.

As to best-actor honors, it seems to be a toss-up between Mike Bishop and Ross Reagan in this critic's opinion. Reagan's stage movement was tops; Bishop had good enunciation and showed an unusual stage presence. Both created highly believable characters, Bishop as the confused angel who started the whole mess, Reagan as the literal-minded fight manager.

There were several other portrayals ranging from good to excellent:

Doug Davis underplayed to about the right degree as the ever-poised Mr. Jordan, Gary Pickle showed energy as Joe, Christine Brownlee was a proper and dignified housekeeper who didn't have to make up a British accent (she came here from England).

Janet Thorburn is an excellent actress, but she underplayed her role a bit too much as Joe's girlfriend; in the last scene, she projected properly and made her character very believable.

Mary Jane Engstrom had but a bit part as a maid, but she handled it with apparent ease, and showed signs of a latent talent.

It was Miss Engstrom and Kathleen Soltan who provided the weird background music during the play itself. A recording was used for theatre-type music during intermissions.

"Heaven Can Wait" will be staged again tonight, and closes out the Court Jesters season. Curtain time is 8 p.m. at the High School Auditorium.

Elected Treasurer Won't Take Office

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Too much work and not enough money is why Lucille Hicks, Bedford Township treasurer re-elected in Monday's election, says she won't accept the post.

She said in a letter to the Township Board that a recently granted annual salary increase of $31 would not compensate for work added to the treasurer's office.

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—Eight scattered residential blocks were turned over to the dogs by postmen who said they have been bitten once too often.

Postmaster Donald Hall said Thursday that all of the city's nine postmen have been bitten at least once in the past year.

'Wuthering Heights' Captures Old Flavor

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Heathcliff and Cathy Earnshaw, that classic pair of ill-starred lovers from Emily Bronte's great novel, appeared in opera Thursday night in Carlisle Floyd's "Wuthering Heights," given its local premiere by the expert New York City Opera Company.

Divided into a prologue and three acts with a total of eight scenes, it may have faltered, or at least hesitated, on a couple of occasions in the first two acts. But by the time Floyd got around to his grand climaxes, he had a taut, tense and moving drama that captured with remarkable success the Gothic flavor of the morbid Bronte work.

Phyllis Curtin scored another hit in her portrayal of the tempestuous Cathy, who realized too late that she loved her father's adopted waif, John Reardon was her admirable opposite as the ruthless Heathcliff who stopped at nothing to win her.

The novel has enough material for a dozen tragic operas, and Floyd wisely stopped his story before the generation after Cathy and Heathcliff grew up. His opening adhered to the original, with Lockwood as narrator, though the prologue might have served unfortunately to confuse opera-goers who were not also up on their Bronte.

Patricia Noway played the part of Nelly, a strong enough role in Floyd's version, and in her grim interpretation, to diminish somewhat the Edgar who in the novel is the third principal. Jon Crain was the vindictive and dissolute Hindley.

Julius Rudel conducted a performance that was run off with the efficiency regularly expected of this company. Delbert Mann, borrowed from the movies, stage-managed. The work was commissioned by the Santa Fe Opera and premiered by it last summer. It is Floyd's second in the local repertory; the first was his highly successful "Susannah."
