

Father-Son Explorer Meet Slated Tonight

A father and son meeting focused toward enrollment in the new Explorer program has been set for this evening.

Floyd Parsons, chairman of the special organizing committee, has announced that an amateur magician from Lamesa will furnish entertainment for the program. There also will be information available for the fathers and sons, and representatives will be on hand from several institutions to register young men who are interested.

Boys in the ninth grade are being urged to attend the meeting, which will be in the Goliad Junior High cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock.

The Explorer program has been completely overhauled, on the basis of several years of study and nationwide research. Instead of being a senior type of Scout troop, it now more nearly resembles a young men's service club. The members largely shape and operate their own program with the counsel of an advisor.

Woman Points Out Youth As Alleged Rapist

QUITMAN, Ga. (AP)—"It was him."

With those words, a 25-year-old married white woman singled out a teen-age Negro boy as the person who raped her on the bank of a fishing pond near her home.

Sheriff R. W. Jones of Brooks County said the victim identified the 16-year-old Negro immediately after facing him Wednesday.

Jones said the boy was being held in an undisclosed jail outside of Brooks County and that rape charges were being prepared. Names of rape victims and juveniles charged with crimes are withheld by state law.

Earlier Wednesday, the woman exonerated Jesse G. Graham Jr., 21-year-old Negro who had been held in connection with the case. She had told officers her attacker said his name was Jesse G. Graham Jr.

Graham surrendered to Jones Tuesday night after learning he was being sought by a posse. Jones spirited him to the Thomasville jail, 29 miles west of Quitman, to avoid possible violence.

The woman viewed Graham in a lineup with three other Negroes and said her attacker was not among them.

Graham gave the sheriff names of five Negroes he had been associating with and who had been in the area where the attack occurred Tuesday. The 16-year-old was among those named.

Jones reported the youth said he was at home at the time of the incident.

The sheriff said the boy told him he received scratches on his face and teeth marks on his chest from another girl last week.

Technicality Reverses Case

The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday ordered prosecution dismissed by Howard County Court against Arthur L. McCormick. The dismissal instruction came in the court's reversal of the holdings of the court.

McCormick was charged with writing a worthless check. He pleaded guilty to the complaint a was fined $25 and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

A legal argument followed between the defense attorney, John R. Coffee, and Wayne Burns, county attorney. The defense contended the complaint was invalid in that it had been typed on a form for "County Court at law." No such court exists in the county. The appeal followed.

Ornithologists To Meet In E. Texas

Both professional and amateur ornithologists from all over the state will be visiting the piney woods of East Texas for the annual spring meeting of the Texas Ornithological Society in Tyler, May 1, 2 and 3.

The Tyler Audubon Society will act as host and many interesting, educational and entertaining events are planned for the visitors. This particular area of the state is a favorite stopping-off point for migrating birds traveling north with spring.

Dr. Clarence Cottam, manager of the Welder Wildlife Foundation at Sinton, will be the featured speaker. One of the interesting features will be a field trip to the 75-acre Langley Island wildlife sanctuary located in Lake Tyler and maintained by the Tyler Audubon Society.

The Texas Ornithological Society has one member in Big Spring: Dr. Homer W. Phillips.

Assault Suspects Released On Bond

Willie Hilburn, Odell Roger Hilburn and Robert Hilburn have been released from custody on posting $500 bond each. Arrested in Lamesa, they were placed in the Howard County jail on charges of aggravated assault.

They were accused in the beating on Tuesday night of Elias Barrera who required medical treatment as result of the attack.

NEWSMAN SAYS Fear Preserving Uneasy Peace

Fear, and not any contribution of civilization, has held the world in check against a nuclear war, declared Sam Blackburn in an address to the Downtown Lions Club on Wednesday.

Almost since the dawn of history there have been periods of uneasy truce between conflicts, and peace was broken not by single dramatic events but through an accumulation of conditions, he said.

The world situation today is similar to a man walking on a thin crust over lava—one false step can loose a seething hell.

"The deterrent is not out of a sense of brotherhood nor can it be attributed to any civilized advance we have made," said Blackburn, member of the Big Spring Herald staff. "The thing we call peace but which is not peace is maintained by the basest of all instincts."

The tragedy is that most of the weapons of war could become tools for peaceful advance, he added, and that there is always the possibility that some nation could throw caution to the winds.

Gloomily, he observed that for the first time in history a global conflict might be measured in terms of days instead of years, and the prophecies of Armageddon would not seem as gibberish but as a chronicle.

Go-Devil To Carry Centennial Message

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A message from the governors of 33 oil producing states will be put in a pipeline at Corsicana, Tex., next Tuesday for a journey to this northwestern Pennsylvania town where the world's first commercial oil well was drilled a century ago.

Announcement of the ceremonies was made here yesterday by the executive committee of Oil Centennial, Inc.

The message, addressed to Pennsylvania Gov. David L. Lawrence, will be attached to a pipeline scraper or go-devil used in cleaning pipes. The message is expected to reach Titusville in late May or early June.

In Center Of Storm

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, whose appointment as ambassador to Brazil was confirmed by the U.S. Senate, is shown with her husband, Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time-Life-Fortune, as they arrived home in New York. Mrs. Luce had been criticized for a statement made after the Senate voted 79-11 for confirmation, and her husband urged her to resign.

Luce Uproar May Hike New Barriers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said today the uproar over Clare Boothe Luce's nomination is likely to sharpen the Senate's investigation of other diplomatic appointments.

Agreeing, Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) said he thinks Democrats may make President Eisenhower's selection of Ogden Reid Jr. as ambassador to Israel the first example of this sharpened scrutiny. Reid is the former editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Fulbright, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has said that he and some other committee members have grave doubts about Reid's professional qualifications for the post. The committee plans to take up the nomination the week of May 11.

Dirksen said the Israeli government has made it clear it regards Reid as well qualified. He added he has found no indication that Eisenhower is considering a withdrawal of the nomination despite prospects of a fight over it.

The Senate, which on Tuesday had confirmed Mrs. Luce's nomination to be ambassador to Brazil by a 79-11 vote, started up a brief new debate on the matter Wednesday.

Dirksen, criticizing Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) for having inquired of the doctor, quoted Dr.

Milton Rosenbluth of New York as saying Mrs. Luce had not received psychiatric treatment.

Morse said he had made a quiet inquiry and then dropped the matter. Morse had fought bitterly against Senate confirmation of the appointment.

Dirksen said Morse's inquiry amounted to an effort to get a doctor to violate the traditional secrecy between a physician and his patient.

Morse denied that, but said there are times when doctors have the duty to make information about their patients known to persons in positions of responsibility.

The debate followed up a Tuesday exchange which included a statement from Mrs. Luce that her troubles with Morse started after the senator "was kicked in the head by a horse." Morse retorted that "this is part of an old pattern of mental instability on her part."

Wednesday's Senate debate ended after Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo) said that if we continue along with this debate, not only the whole country but also Latin America will think we are all nuts.

But all the debate appeared unlikely to upset Mrs. Luce's return to ambassadorial status, despite her husband's suggestion that she resign. She formerly was ambassador to Italy.

Car Theft Suspect Found In Beaumont

A search which has been in progress for nearly three months for a man wanted here for car theft has come to an end.

Sheriff Miller Harris was notified Wednesday afternoon that Guy Gambill, wanted since Jan. 29, had been arrested in Beaumont. Harris said as soon as he finds out what Beaumont intends to do with the prisoner he will bring him back to Big Spring.

Gambill, employed at the time as a used car salesman for Tarbox-Gossett, drove away in a 1957 Ford owned by his employers. He was accompanied by Doyle Nelson. Sometime later Nelson was arrested in Sapulpa, Okla., in connection with a traffic violation. He was driving the missing car and said that Gambill had left him somewhere in the Panhandle. Nelson was returned to Big Spring and is now in the state penitentiary.

A widespread search for Gambill has been under way since that time. It had been reported he was in California and notices were sent there for his apprehension. Harris said he was not informed by Beaumont officers why they had arrested the man in their city.

Availability Of Water Transforms Recreational Activities For Area

Availability of water has transformed the recreational picture in this area within the past few years.

Aquatics have grown by leaps and bounds with the impounding of two sizeable lakes on the Colorado. Boating has suddenly become a major pastime as has water skiing. Fishing has increased in ratio to the proximity of more abundant water supplies.

By far the largest and consequently the most popular is Lake J. B. Thomas, the CRMWD reservoir on the upper reaches of the Colorado. This big basin straddling the Borden-Scurry line contains 204,000 acre feet at capacity and covers more than 12 square miles of surface area. It has a shoreline of some 52 miles.

Also drawing heavy traffic is Lake Colorado City on Morgan Creek. This reservoir impounded by Texas Electric Service Co. has become a recreational mecca for the area.

Within a quarter hour's drive from Big Spring is Moss Creek Lake, property of the City of Big Spring. This year the city has made numerous improvements and now this is a tremendously popular spot for the boaters and skiers.

Two more lakes, one of them the "grand-daddy," may be added to the picture.

In fact, one of these, another TESCO lake, is nearing completion on Champion Creek southeast of Colorado City. It is ready to trap water from the spring rains.

Within a couple of months the Colorado River Municipal Water District is due to apply for a water permit to impound a second lake on the Colorado near the southern Mitchell County line. If and when a dam is erected across the channel at this point, it will impound a lake at least 50 per cent larger than Lake Thomas. Indicative of the interest in Lake

Thomas is the increase in recreational revenues, all of which are applied back to recreational improvements, patrol, sanitation, etc. Last year the total from this source was $54,317, or nearly $3,500 more than the previous year. Lease rentals for cabin sites amounted to $30,066, up $3,300; recreational permits stood at $21,162, down about $3,000; boat launching permits were $8,489, up about $1,300; and concessionaire income was $4,599 (up almost $2,000).

Based on this report, lakeside living, boating and general traffic were on the increase. Given good weather, the recreation permits are due to rise this year.

R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent, estimates that there are around 800 cabins and homes around the lake. Still they are increasing in number, so much so that some few houses are now being built on lots one tier back from the shore line.

Since the opening of the lake, it has been stocked with some 364,000 game fish, including 279,000 bass, 45,000 cat, 34,200 bream and 2,800 crappie.

Concessionaires operate at strategic points—Lake Thomas Lodge at the southeast end of the dam; Sportsman's Paradise, midway on the south side and just off the Vincent road; Shady Grove on the channel in the west end; Lem's Bait House midway on the north side; and Boyd Bros. Lodge on the Bull Creek channel on the north side.

Lake Colorado City has several private concessionaires and its shore line is dotted with several hundred cabins. It also has been stocked liberally in recent years and offers good cat and crappie fishing as well as good bass fishing in season.

Moss Creek is being restored as a prime recreational attraction. It long has been favored by boaters and especially skiers because it is relatively protected from winds. The City of Big Spring has installed numerous shaded picnic units around the shores and also established parking areas and boat launching facilities on the south shore.

This spring the Texas Game and Fish Commission conducted a shad eradication program which appears to be highly successful.

With more water and food left for game fish, restocking is expected to restore the popular lake to its former status as a fishing spot. Moss Creek also gets considerable play from the swimming set.

At the Big Spring doorstep but restricted to use of the membership is Cosden's lake. Some fishing is provided but boating is limited unless the lake is at peak level.

Scout Troops Slate Lake, Davis Mountains Camps

Ten troops in the Lone Star district have made reservations for the summer camp in the Davis Mountains.

Another troop has placed a reservation for the aquatic camp at Camp Ed Murphy at Lake J. B. Thomas, and these reservations are just beginning.

Troops booking time at the Boy Scout ranch in the mountains, said W. T. McRee, district executive, include No. 146 (sponsored by Webb AFB), No. 1 (Rotary), No. 2 (First Methodist), No. 5 (First Baptist), No. 8 (Coahoma), No. 9 (Wesley Methodist), No. 39 (First Presbyterian), No. 300 (St. Paul Presbyterian), No. 136 (Cosden) and No. 4 (East Fourth Baptist).

No. 136 (Midway) has reserved time at the aquatic camp from June 14-20. McRee said that the sign-up for troops going to the Lake Thomas camp is expected to gain momentum within a week. This facility was opened for the first time last summer for a brief period.

The Scout Ranch is due to have, for the first time, a swimming pool in operation this summer. Of course swimming as well as boating is a major item in the Camp

Murphy program. The lake camp was activated last year through allocation of funds from the Buffalo Trail Council capital funds campaign and through the work of volunteers, including W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, who played a key role.

U.S., Russ Vets Mark Elbe Date

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. and Soviet veterans Wednesday night celebrated the 14th anniversary of their World War II meeting at the Elbe River by exchanging hopes for good relations between the American and Soviet people.

Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, Ill., leader of the seven Americans here for the reunion, told the reunion meeting that the "plain people of both countries don't want war."

The reunions have been held since 1955, commemorating the joining of the American and Soviet armies on the Elbe in the drive that split Germany in two. Last year's meeting was in the United States.

Tourists Pour Money Into Isles

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Tourists have been pouring money into the Bahamas, Bermuda and the Virgin Islands.

Britain and the United States, in their latest periodic reports to the U.N. on their possessions, say that:

In the British Bahamas, the number of visitors jumped from 30,688 to 195,000 a year between 1947 and 1957. The building of hotels, apartment houses and homes boomed.

Visitors to Bermuda increased from 94,000 to 120,000 a year, and the annual income from tourists, not counting rents, ran to $22,400,000.

In the American Virgin Islands, 120,000 tourists spent 13 million dollars in 1957 on St. Thomas alone, where only 36,000 had spent only 2 million in 1949. During the 1956-57 season, 48 cruise ships called at St. Thomas, as compared with 20 in 1953.

The Bahamas, Bermuda and the Virgin Islands all make more money from their tourist business than from anything else.

Danish Settlement Like 'Old' Country

DANEVANG (AP)—When wild Vikings overran King Alfred's England, the land where they settled was called the Danelaw. When more modern immigrants from Denmark settled on 24,000 of the most fertile acres in Wharton County 65 years ago, they named their community Danevang, "the flat country where Danes live."

Today, 90 per cent of the population of the little town of 100 persons on State Highway 71—about half way between El Campo and Blessing—are descendants of those early settlers.

Old world customs, habits of thought, songs, books and folk dances are preserved. Life in Danevang still revolves around the Ansgar Evangelical Lutheran Church and a recreation building, the center of the community's social life.

Danevang is unique in still another fashion, for few of its enterprises are privately controlled. Most are cooperatives.

When the Danish Folk Society of America first colonized the area, each man was a rugged individualist, but disaster struck in the form of leaf worms on their cotton, and only by combining their resources could they combat the menace.

The lesson learned then was never forgotten and during the course of time, the Danevang Farmers' Cooperative Society acquired cotton gins, a blacksmith and welding shop, built a telephone exchange and founded a fire insurance company, all of which pay dividends to the farmers who own the enterprises.

At one time, the only non-cooperative business within the 28 square miles of the colony were two grocery stores, a filling station and a tiny post office with 72 box holders and 28 patrons on a star route.

Today, neat as a new pin, the placid little place on the prairie pursues its peaceful, painstaking path, proud of its pooled prosperity, a paradoxical product of participation in a partnership—the largest Danish settlement in Texas.

Thick Walls Helped Fight Off Redskins

SAN YGNACIO (AP)—They built real walls in the old days. Not from pride but for prudence.

Now the old men sit on the steps of one of the first homes built here and meditate on the days when only a fortress could protect a man and his family.

It was 115 years ago that Don Blas Maria Uribe and his neighbors erected the extensive rock dwelling that still covers a complete block in the heart of San Ygnacio.

They used part of a still older structure, built by Don Jesus Trevino, one of the first settlers, who found such protection, equipped with the usual loopholes, imperative as a safeguard against the savage attacks of the Comanches.

The low, rambling, one-story building that Don Blas and his neighbors built, almost within a stone's throw of the Rio Grande, is one of the showplaces of Zapata County.

The walls, still in excellent condition, are eight feet high and two and a half feet thick. Huge double doors give access to the patio, ringed, like all early Spanish homes, with rooms that were devoted to all sorts of purposes.

Above the entrance gateway is an unusual sun dial, slowly crumbling. The figures of the hours are carved on the smooth, flat surface of the dial, both inside and outside the gate. Through the center of the dial passes a hand-wrought iron rod, all askew now, the shadow of which used to mark the hours.

For six months of the year, the shadow traced the passing minutes on the dial inside the gateway, and for the remaining six months on the outside dial face.

GAS LIGHTS

AROUND THE PATIO

BY THE STEPS

ALONG THE DRIVEWAY

This summer, enjoy sumptuous outdoor dinners with a GAS PATIO BROILER. Produces tantalizing charcoal flavor with none of the mess of charcoal! Cooks faster than charcoal, too, and is so simple to operate that even the children can be assistant chefs. Ask about it.

Time hallowed . . . timeless . . . timely! Gas Lights, sweeping the country with their mellow glow, are all of these. They bring back the charm of the vanished era that bore their name. Yet they reappear, not as period pieces, but as handsomely functional accessories for any home. And their versatility makes them timely, indeed, as people do more and more outdoor living, by night as well as by day. Gas Lights do not attract bugs . . . they welcome guests, warn away trespassers. Wherever the moon is not enough, a Gas Light belongs! Get details from Pioneer Natural Gas Company, tomorrow.

Soil Conservation Expert

J. C. Dykes, 58, a Dallas County native, is now assistant administrator of the Soil Conservation Service in Washington. He has been largely responsible for the development of the five-year-old small watershed program.

Former A&M Prof Heads Water Plan

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A one-time Texas A&M professor, now assistant administrator of the Soil Conservation Service in the Agriculture Department, is largely responsible for the development of the five-year-old small watershed program.

He is J. C. Dykes, 58, Dallas county native and a teacher of vocational agriculture in Stephenville and McAllen High Schools before joining the Aggie faculty in 1929. As a boy Dykes watched torrents roll the top soil down the tributaries of the Trinity and thought something ought to be done. He studied the problem at A&M. Since 1935 he has been with the Soil conservation Service. Fort Worth was his headquarters before he came to Washington in 1942.

The Small Watershed program itself is set up under a legislative act sponsored by Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco as Vice Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Testifying recently before the House Public Works Committee, SCS Administrator D. A. Williams said:

"We believe the watershed program is soundly conceived and that it will continue to be an integral part of the nation's program of conservation, development and efficient use of the land and water resources."

He pointed out it is designed to fill a gap between the flood control programs on the major rivers — where the big dams are built — and the programs on farms and forests where contour plowing, terracing and check dams retard the runoff.

Projects under the act are initiated by the people in the area concerned. They are financed about 45 per cent by the federal government. Local interests pay the remainder of the costs.

Last year Congress appropriated 25½ million dollars for the upstream watershed program. The House Appropriations Committee is working on the Department Appropriation Bill for the fiscal year starting July 1, and Poage estimates the Budget Bureau recommendations at about 22 per cent under last year's figures.

"This is an example of cuts which I consider unwise," said the congressman. "I think we need these upstream projects, and we need them now. I am sure that we are ultimately going to build them. They will cost no less a generation hence."

As of April 1 almost 1,300 organizations in 47 states and Puerto Rico had applied for assistance under the act, and formal agreements had been signed by the SCS to aid in preparation of plans in 425 watersheds. The actual planning had been completed for 154 watershed projects and authorized for development in conjunction with the sponsoring agencies. The SCS uses experience gained in various test watershed programs in recent years in drafting plans under the new act.

Pointing to results from watershed treatment, it notes 1957 floods in Texas and says that on Green Creek in Erath County two storms in April and May flooded 489 acres and caused $6,000 damage. Rush Creek, 25 miles away, had 12,000 acres flooded by the same storms with $493,000 damage. The dams and other structures built on the Green watershed were credited with prevention of destruction in that area. The Rush Creek watershed lies in Comanche, Eastland and Brown counties.

Moisture penetration studies made in Texas on watershed lands by the Service in April and May of 1957 showed the average insoak was twice as great on protected land as on unprotected.

Texas upstream watershed projects so far approved — already cleared by the congressional committees as required under the act, include: Alamo Arroyo, 83,603 acre watershed, Hudspeth County; Auds Creek, 31,670 acres, Lamar County; Cummins Creek 204,896 acres in Lee, Fayette, Austin and Colorado counties; Diablo Arroyo, 40,992 acres, Hudspeth County; Chilitip-San Fernando Creek, and San Dieto-Rosita Creeks, covering nearly a half million acres in Duval, Jim Wells, Nueces and Kleberg counties.

Dry Devils River and Lowrey Draw, 149,120 acres in Schleicher and Sutton counties; Johnsons Draw, 101,760 acres in Crockett County; Knob Creek, 23,870 acres in Bell County; Langford Creek, 25,000 acres in Red River County; Lower Brushy Creek, 138,240 acres in Williamson and Milam counties; Sulphur Creek, 85,120 acres in Burnet and Lampasas counties;

Turkey Creek, 18,880 acres in Fort Bend County; Upper Brushy Creek, 191,360 acres in Williamson and Milam counties; Upper Lake Fork Creek, 145,472 acres in Hopkins, Rains and Hunt counties; York Creek, 93,824 acres in Guadalupe, Coman and Hays counties.

Candy Barr Jailed Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stripper Candy Barr was arrested early today — because her bond was dropped. But Mickey Cohen said he'd help get her a new one.

The blonde, green-eyed stripper was arrested at a Sunset Strip night spot because a Dallas surety bondsman dropped the bond under which she was free.

Miss Barr, 27, was sentenced to 15 years in state prison last year on a charge of unlawful possession of a narcotic (marijuana). She had been appearing at the Largo here while on bond pending an appeal. After her last show early today officers picked her up on a Dallas warrant and took her to the hall of justice for booking. She was wearing a modest gray suit when arrested.

Cohen, onetime Los Angeles gambling figure, was in the audience. He followed her downtown and produced a bail bondsman to seek her a new bond. Cohen describes himself as a "friend" of the dancer. A judge must decide later today if she can be freed and what bond should be required.

Tired Of Waiting On Rain, Some Farmers Now Planting

Some farmers, apparently abandoning hope that more moisture is in store, have begun planting cotton and sorghum. However, such planting activities are spottied. No particular area is more active than any other, according to the county agent's office.

Decision to plant on the part of those farmers who are taking such action seems to be on an individual level. Bulk of the fields are still unplanted. If rain should fall in the near future, intensive planting activities would begin. Otherwise, most growers will be waiting until around May 15 before making any real start at seeding their fields.

Dog Freed From Crevice

'Rock' Hound Probably Would Get Caught Again

OWASSO, Okla. (AP)—Little Richard, the spirited hound dog freed Wednesday from a rocky "tomb" six days after being lured there by a smart coon, has had other difficulties with the wily critter.

In the future, 2½-year-old Little Richard probably would go into the same rocky bluff's crevice which had trapped him, his owner Larry Wilson said.

Little Richard was under the care of Dr. John Collins, a veterinarian in nearby Tulsa, today. Collins said he had "every chance in the world" to pull through.

The hound was freed after Wilson and 200 volunteers chipped away at limestone and stubborn granite in a persistent vigil.

Dynamite charges and jackhammers were used to widen the crevice inch by inch. An air hammer removed the last boulder and Little Richard crawled feebly into his master's arms, whining affectionately.

"I think that coon knew exactly where he was going when he ran from Little Richard," said Wilson. "That coon probably got away from a lot of dogs there."

Coahoma Scouts Schedule Auction As Fund Raiser

An old fashioned auction sale is the novel approach of the Coahoma Boy Scout troop to raise funds for its activities.

The troop has scheduled the auction to begin at 10:30 a.m. on May 9 and any items up to (but not including) automobiles may be entered. Col. Paul Allen will be the auctioneer and all commission charges will go to the troop.

Officials stressed that this sale, while sponsored by the boys, is primarily for adults.

Already an electric toaster, electric frying pan, auto air conditioner, lawn mower, garden tools and farm tractor have been listed. Farmers and ranchers are welcome to bring in farm equipment and almost any item will be offered for sale. It is not necessary to bring or list it in advance, although it would be expedient if the material could be listed prior to beginning of the sale.

The troop will receive 15 per cent of all items up to $25 and 10 per cent of those over that amount. The boys also will operate a concession stand with coffee, cold drinks, cake and sandwiches available at the noon hour.

Sandra Talley Wins College Press Award

ALPINE — The major publications of Sul Ross State College all placed in the competition of the 47th annual convention of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Assn. at Sam Houston State College, Huntsville. In addition, two individual student entries were awarded prizes.

Placing second in the competition were the Skyline, college newspaper, and the Brand, college yearbook. In the general division, in competition with all the colleges of the organization, The Sage, college literary magazine, placed third.

Sandra Talley, Sul Ross freshman from Big Spring, placed first in feature photograph and story, and Apolinar Garza, industrial arts major from Alpine, placed third in the photographic story section.

Among those attending the convention from Sul Ross was Sandra Talley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Talley of Big Spring.

Personnel Changes In SCS Announced

J. C. Ebersole has requested relief from his administrative duties as work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Big Spring.

He will be succeeded by Horace Mitchell, 1006 E. 12th, who has since 1951 served as a soil scientist here, announced W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist.

Ebersole will continue as a staff member of the unit here.

Mitchell has spent all of his time with the SCS in Big Spring and assisting work units in Snyder, Colorado City, Stanton and Midland as well as here. For the past two years he has been a member of the area staff. In recent months his principal job has been in training young soil scientists.

Goodlett said that his new assignment would bring to him a wealth of administrative experience. He said he regretted to lose Ebersole's services in the administrative field, but that Ebersole, one of the SCS veterans, had expressed a desire to be relieved of much of the load of supervision.

Mitchell is a native of Runnels County and a graduate of Bradshaw High School. He came here immediately after earning his B. S. degree in the field of agronomy, with an option in soils. He is married to the former Billie Jean Walker and they have two daughters.

Lie Detector Test Exhonorates Young Man In Death Of Bride

By CHRIS MACGILL
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A corner's jury last night ruled Mrs. Robert Hale, 16-year-old daughter of Texas politician-lawyer John B. Connally was killed by the accidental discharge of a .20 gauge shotgun.

A lie detector expert testified the answers of her 18-year-old husband about the shooting in their tiny apartment here Tuesday indicated his innocence.

Hale is the son of I. B. Hale, Texas Christian football great in the 1930s. Both the Hale and Connally families live in Fort Worth.

A fingerprint expert said no prints recognizable as the youth's were found on the shotgun which killed his wife, Kathleen. A palm print which could have been hers was on the weapon, he said.

Hale testified his wife seemed in good spirits the night before her death but suddenly left their apartment and did not return until Tuesday morning.

When he returned after searching for her, he said, she was seated in their apartment with a shotgun in her hand.

He said he knelt at her feet and begged her to put down the shotgun.

"I convinced her to take her finger off the trigger but she had a horrible look on her face," he told the jury.

"She was telling me she was going to kill herself," he said.

"She said 'Bobby, I'm sick in my mind and I need help I know now that no one can help me.'"

"I tried to tell her everything was going to be all right. I tried to get her to sit on the bed with me but she wouldn't," Hale said.

"At the last desperate moment I lunged at the gun and hit it," he said.

"It hit the wall and she was still..."

Hale said he didn't know whether the gun went off before or after he hit it.

Young Hale said he kept both guns on the walls as decoration.

Lester W. Thompson, lie detector operator for the Florida Sheriff's Bureau, said he asked Hale if he had the shotgun in his hand when his wife was wounded, if he had intended to shoot her and if

Young Bride Killed

This is a photo of Kathleen and Robert Allan Hale of Tallahassee, Fla., and former high school students in Fort Worth. Mrs. Hale died in Tallahassee after receiving a gunshot wound in the head.

He had told her to shoot herself. He answered "no" to all three questions and "yes" to the query "did she have the shotgun in her hand when you went into the room?" Thompson said.

"His emotional responses to these questions indicated to me he was telling the truth," Thompson testified.

The youth testified he and his bride eloped and married March 16 at Ardmore, Okla. They came here a month ago "to make their own way." Hale had been working for a boat company. His wife was not employed.

Fathers of both teen-agers testified their children always had been stable emotionally.

Connally said his daughter, the eldest of four children, had been an exceptionally bright student.

Connally said he and the elder Hale visited the couple here a week or so ago after the youngsters had quarrelled and the

'Atheist' Bill Has Little Passage Chance

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to ban professing atheists as public school or college teachers appeared today to have only a faint chance of passage.

The House State Affairs Committee took no action after a two-hour hearing last night. Most witnesses were opponents. Proponents were heard April 9.

An official statement from the University of Texas regents saying the university enforced its policy against teaching of atheism "or any sectarian belief" drew a protest from several committee members. The statement said the university believes that the proposed oath "is unwise and would be ineffectual in achieving its intended purpose."

The statement was filed by Dr. Logan Wilson, president, who did not appear. Rep. Frank McGregor of Waco protested. He said he would like to question Wilson personally.

"What kind of screening of professors would you get from a man who sends us down a statement like this?" said Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, one of the bill's authors.

Several university students testified they felt imposition of a teacher's oath would interfere with their study of all religious philosophies. All were affiliated with campus religious groups.

They said they believed their faith should be strong enough to survive exposure to atheistic teachings.

Moya Gets Death In Nurse Murder Can't Win Dept.

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Luis Moya must die in the gas chamber for his part in the strangulation of nurse Olga Duncan, a jury decreed last night.

Moya is the final member of a trio convicted of first-degree murder but asked for mercy. His attorney said Moya had been converted to Christianity and, if spared, would help other prisoners acquire religious faith.

The jury had two alternatives—death or life imprisonment. Moya will be formally sentenced May 7.

Chamber Retreats From Low Trade Barrier Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce was in partial retreat today from its policy of advocating a lowering of international trade barriers.

At the windup of the Chamber's 47th annual meeting Wednesday delegates eliminated long-standing policy declarations calling for repeal of the "Buy American" laws and urging business and government to encourage increased imports into the United States.

The deletions did not alter the Chamber's positions in support of the trade agreements program.

The businessmen affirmed anew the policy of "selective adjustment of tariffs and the orderly and gradual reduction of other barriers to world trade."

Some local Chambers and affiliated trade associations had protested that many domestic industries need more protection from the competition of low-wage foreign producers.

Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, Boston, took office as the Chamber's new president at the closing dinner of the convention Wednesday night.

He succeeds William A. McDonnell, board chairman of the First National Bank, St. Louis.

DEAR ABBY

HIS PALM UP

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 19 years old and I have a very good paying job. I manage to save a little something out of my pay check every payday. I go steady with a guy who is 20. He hasn't had a steady job in a year. I love him very much and want some day to be his wife. But I am sick of paying both ways everywhere we go. He says "money isn't everything" but, Abby, it is making me lose my respect for him. Have you any advice? J.M.

DEAR ABBY: I understand how "OVERCOME" feels because I have the same problem with my husband. He not only refuses to take a bath, but won't shampoo his hair or cut his fingernails or toenails unless I start a real battle royal. His argument is he has to build up an immunity to germs. (What germs would live on him?) Is this a sensible argument or am I crazy? ALSO OVERCOME

DEAR ABBY: I have an idea for OVERCOME whose hubby wouldn't bathe. Take him fishing and jump him overboard (accidentally, of course.) That's the way I solved my problem. I only had to do this once. SYMPATHETIC

Officials Used To Worry Over Roof Dancing

CANYON (H)—Randall County officials doubtlessly face current problems but they are no longer bothered with one early day worry—cowboys dancing on the courthouse roof.

The county this year celebrates the 50th anniversary of the completion of its present courthouse but the trouble over the dancing cowboys dates back to the 1890's.

The first courthouse, a frame structure erected in 1890, had a flat roof. C. Boone McClure, director of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, says that many old timers have told him that on Saturday nights cowboys would come to town and that dances were held on the courthouse roof.

The wear and tear didn't show up in the minutes of the commissioners' court until May 9, 1893. Two of the commissioners, appointed to study the problem of the roof, reported that a new one had been installed at a cost of $140.

But on May 16, 1895, the commissioners court took drastic action.

It ordered the sheriff, J. M. Cooper, to "prohibit dancing in the courthouse in the future. It is further ordered by the court that the sheriff shall prohibit any person or persons from taking up or moving benches which are fastened to the floor of the courthouse."

The rooftop dances and the ripping out of benches were not the only problems facing the early day commissioners courts.

There was the matter of paying bounties for scalps of panthers and lobo wolves. A problem of providing a water supply for the courthouse was solved without too much effort. The court just authorized the county clerk to provide two barrels for the courthouse with a bucket for each barrel.

To keep horses off the courthouse square, the court in 1891 paid out $112.50 for fencing.

Two months later an election was ordered to determine whether "hogs should be allowed to run at large." Result of the election was never noted in the minutes of the court. But since a recent check showed no hogs running loose in the vicinity of the courthouse, local historians assume the measure was approved.

Baylor Choir Sets Annual Spring Tour

WACO—The A Cappella Choir from Baylor University has scheduled its annual spring concert tour for May 17-27.

Touring seven southeastern states, the choir will give 17 concerts in East Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Alabama. Choir director is Dr. Euell Porter, nationally known choral conductor.

Highlight of the tour for the 54-voice choir is concert before the Southern Baptist Convention, meeting in Louisville, Ky., May 20. James C. Shirley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Shirley, Big Spring, is a member of the choir.

DEAR ABBY: Before I got married I went with a girl and you might say we were practically engaged although I never gave her a ring. She gave me a gold wrist watch, which I wore all the time. Nothing was said about this watch until two years after I got married to another girl. My wife and I were driving along (we were on a trip) when all of a sudden she said to me, "I won't believe that you love me unless you take off that watch and throw it in the lake." So I took off the watch and threw it in the lake. Was my wife right or wrong in asking me to do this? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: She should not have asked you to throw it in the lake. (You're lucky she let you take it off first.) Is it safe to go steady? Get ABBY's booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know." ## Enterprise, Second Newspaper, Pictured Life Of City In 1901

President William McKinley had been recently assassinated, the Texas legislature was winding up a special session and the Boer war was ending in South Africa. These were some of the items in a copy of The Enterprise published in Big Springs on Oct. 4, 1901. And it was Big Springs then. W. V. Irwin was publisher of the Enterprise, the city's second established newspaper and which was destined to be succeeded three years later, almost to the day, by the Herald.

Cattlemen were having trouble with livestock diseases and had rased $400 to employ men to ride a quarantine line. Midland and Borden County cattlemen were doing likewise, keeping cattle from the south and west from crossing until they could be inspected.

The Enterprise reported that M. A. Price of Sterling County had sold his 12 section ranch in Sterling County to Mr. Greer (probably the late Sam Greer) of Howard County for $3,500 and his 300 cattle for about $15 around. Webb Christian had purchased 152 one and two-year-old steers in McCulloch county at $11.50 and was preparing to move them to his new ranch northeast of Big Spring.

A move to incorporate the City of Big Springs had the enthusiastic backing of the Enterprise, which tacked on it's advocacy of a new school house.

"There is nothing that will add to a town like good schools and you will always find in towns where good schools are located a class of people of the most desirable citizens, people that will not reside where the schools are inferior," wrote Mr. Irwin.

George Hysaw was advertising my property on the corner of First and Scurry streets" for sale. Located only a block from the business part of town on a 100x140 lot, it contained 13 rooms (probably the Wyoming Hotel location) and had a $5,000 price tag.

G. C. Caddle had returned from Kansas City where he had accompanied a shipment of cattle for J. C. Smith and brought back 40 heifers and one bull, shorthorns, which he bought at fancy prices.

"The second special session of the 27th legislature adjourned Oct. 1," commented the Enterprise, "and it is to be hoped that it will never hold another session."

The issue carried news of the decision on Sept. 23 of Midland voters, 56-24, to incorporate that city.

Prof. B. Reagan had welcomed a turnout for the Woodmen of the World camp session and S. H. Morrison made a very interesting talk on Woodcraft.

There were several personal items, and among the news bits was this: "Born to C. E. Frost and wife on Sept. 30, a fine girl." Dr. J. W. Barnett had returned from Taylor County "and says it is very dry."

A new business, the Emporium, a millinery, had just opened.

Mrs. H. Clay Read had entertained at her home in honor of Miss Emma Read of Kentucky. "There was quite a society of our people present and a most delightful evening was spent. There was music, games, pleasant conversation and elegant refreshments."

Business was pretty good for the Enterprise. J.W. Fisher, pioneer merchantile firm, had a large spread as did Matthews-Wolcott Co., which eventually became Big Spring Hardware. Burton Lingo Lumber Co. and First National Bank were the only businesses operating then who still function under the same name. Among the businessmen advertising were William Drilling "Ice and Fort Worth & St. Louis Beer," Dean, photographer and artist; Wm. H. Moore, house and sign painter; the Home Steam Laundry; W. R. Cole livery stable; J. L. Ward & Co., jewelry and drugs; McCamant & James Druggs; Irvin Park, Jewelers; Dr. J. H. French, Dr. J. G. Wright, Dr. J. C. Baird, physicians; The City Chile and Tamale Parlor, operated by M. Gonzales; and J. M. Mundy, clothing.

Just to prove that nothing is particularly new—even trading stamps, there was a big display on premiums which could be redeemed for tags from The Genuine Drummond Natural Leaf tobacco. All you had to do was chew 2,000 plugs and a brand new Washburn guitar was all yours.

Hail Leaves Damage Trail

By The Associated Press

Texas farmers and ranchers totaled up damage Thursday left by hailstorms that slapped areas of North, West and Southwest Texas almost without warning Wednesday.

Marble-sized stones were reported from the Ballinger and Brackenridge areas in West Texas, and smaller stones were as much as three inches deep on the ground when a storm left an area 10 miles southwest of Wichita Falls.

Hail also was reported at Paint Rock, east of San Angelo, where farmers said there was some crop damage.

Scattered thundershowers were forecast for all sections of the state Thursday, and clouds were supposed to hold temperature readings down from Wednesday's warm marks that went as high as 99 at Presidio on the Rio Grande. Fog was reported along the coast and through sections of East and South Texas. The weather Bureau said this was caused by a flow of air from the Gulf of Mexico north and northwest over the state.

SIGHT OF WHITE SOX ALWAYS CHEER YANKS

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What is it about the Chicago White Sox that peps up the New York Yankees? There was, for instance, that dreary, final-two-month slump the Yankees had last season before clinching the American League pennant. At one stage they had lost four of six games before playing Chicago, then took two of four from the White Sox.

Later, they lost four of five, but then took two of three from the Sox. And just before locking up the flag they swept two from Chicago, after against losing four of six games.

The Yankees had their first run-in of the season with the White Sox Wednesday. They went into Comiskey Park below .500 after losing four in a row. Bob Turley, the Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Apparently, Pampa's Clifton McNeely was passed over for the Rice Institute basketball coaching job because he wanted to appear the pursued rather than the pursuer.

They say Jess Neely, the Rice athletic director, loses interest in anyone quickly when that individual fails to show genuine enthusiasm for a proffered position.

Be that as it may, Rice may have come up with a real jewel in Johnnie Frankie. The former Rice athlete has been a standout in the junior college coaching profession for years.

Local friends of Johnnie are applauding Neely's selection. Frankie has been bringing his Wharton JC teams to the Howard College tournament for years and has proved to be one of the most popular figures in the holiday show.

The spectators liked him for many reasons, not the least of which was his penchant for roaring at his players (which, he lamented, the boys themselves didn't take very seriously). Whenever his teams were on the court, the crowd was invariably in good form, for he had any number of mimics in his ranks. With many spectators, he was a better show than the game itself.

Most everyone associated with the local meet was pleased to see Frankie's club win it all last season. The Pioneers had been catching the bouquets from other brides all too often here in the past.

Some observers insist Johnnie has all the physical attributes of a Chicago hood. What they mean is that Frankie looked not unlike a glamorized Hollywood version of a big city racketeer.

His looks are very deceiving. A gregarious individual, Johnnie is the type of person you like and admire almost from the first time you meet him.

He'll, no doubt, do a good job for Rice and restore the Owls to their rightful place in the basketball sun.

Joe Hernandez, the New Mexico Military Institute athlete who scored several firsts in that dual meet with HCCJ last week, is a junior college All-America football player.

He may have to pass up the National Judo meet at Hutchinson, Kan., next month due to the fact that he will be involved in spring football drills.

If he can't make the trip, other members of the NMNI track team probably will remain at home.

His endurance amazed Howard County JC athletes. He seemed to be able to run any distance at any hour without tiring.

Eight miles of pipe have been installed in the sprinkling system of the new City golf course at Midland, which means there will be plenty of grass all over the layout.

Midland City officials initially budgeted $120,000 for construction of the course but the final cost will probably be less than that.

Shorty Gideon, the manager of the Mundy layout here, is making progress with his irrigation system and has been authorized to buy more pipe, if it can be purchased reasonably.

All the local course needs to become the finest layout in this area is more water.

George Johnson, the one-time Sonora football great who quit an athletic scholarship at Colorado University to sign a pro baseball scholarship for Milwaukee, is now at Eau Claire, Wis.

He spent the 1958 campaign with Midland.

Fans To See 'Real' Champ, Says Patterson Trainer

Harrison Delivers Big Blow In Win

KEDY-TV Will Air Kentucky Derby

Television coverage of the 85th running of the Kentucky Derby, Saturday, May 2, exclusively on KEDY-TV Channel 4, 3:15 to 3:45 p.m.

Big Spring time, will be the most comprehensive ever given a racing classic.

Using five cameras at strategic locations and an intricate network of communications, the CBS Television production will bring to viewers every thrill of the famed "Run for the Roses."

One of the highlights will be an opportunity to see the race run twice on the same program, by means of a repeat on video tape.

As soon as the traditional winner's presentation ceremonies have been completed, viewers will see the exact running of this historic race for a second time—with an analysis of the strategy by Bryan Field, famed racing expert and broadcaster.

In this re-running of the race, everyone knows, of course, which horse has won. But Field will point out how the horses broke from the starting gate, how they jockeyed for position at the turns, when the winner made his move and what other factors decided the race.

Dallas Wins 3rd Straight, 9-5

By The Associated Press

The Dallas Rangers, winner of three straight over Denver's Western Division leaders, are the surprise of the American Association.

For the second game in a row, the Texans battered Denver for 17 hits and a 9-3 victory Wednesday night. Three homers featured the Dallas attack.

MILWAUKEE CLUB IS BACK IN TOP SPOT

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Science Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are back in the National League lead. Who put them there?

Johnny Logan and Wes Covington, the men Manager Fred Haney had announced he was going to bench after the Braves lost two in a row to Cincinnati and fell out of first place.

Shortstop Logan belted his first homer of the year, with a man on, in a three-run second inning against St. Louis Wednesday night. Left fielder Covington blasted his first of the year, also a two-run shot, in the third and the Braves were off to a 9-3 victory.

The win gives Milwaukee a .042 percentage edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who slipped to second with a 5-4, ninth-inning defeat at Philadelphia. Cincinnati powered into third, ripping the Chicago Cubs 18-8 as San Francisco skidded to fourth with a 9-2 loss at Pittsburgh.

While Logan (1-for-3) and Covington (2-for-4) fought to hold their starting positions, Hank Aaron continued his hot hitting with a 4-for-5 night, including his fifth homer, and lifted his league-leading average to .528. Billy Bruton also homered for the Braves, who collected 15 hits and made Lew Burdette's fourth straight victory a breeze.

Winless Larry Jackson lost his third for the last-place Cards.

The Phils caught up with Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2) with two runs in the ninth. Four singles did it, with pinch-hitter Bob Bowman driving in the tying run and pinch-hitter Dave Phillips delivering the clincher against reliever Art Fowler. Jack Meyer (2-1) won it in relief of Robin Roberts.

Wally Post hit a pair of homers for the Phils, accounting for their first three runs. Duke Snider drove in the Dodgers' first three, with a single and a double.

The Reds swung for 18 hits, counting three homers from Frank Robinson, Roy McMillan and Gus Bell. Brooks Lawrence (2-1) was staked to a 10-0 lead in two innings but needed relief help from Bob Mabe after a four-run seventh had cut the Reds' edge to 12-8. Moe Drabowsky (1-2) lost it.

The Pirates were blanked on three hits by southpaw Johnny Antonelli (3-1) until they broke loose for a three-run seventh inning capped by Bill Mazerowski's two-out, solo homer. A triple by Bob Clemente, a double by Smoky Burgess and Dick Stuart's single tied it. Ron Kline won his first.

Small Fry Set To Play

International Little League players launch their 1959 season Saturday at Webb AFB, at which time the two base-sponsored teams clash at 5:30 p.m. on a new diamond at the base. The old sandlot method of determining the home town—that of alternating one's hands as clutching a bat—was used by the principals in the above photo. Bill Turner (left), the Comets' pitcher; won out over the T-Bird's pitcher, John Mercer. Looking on are M/Sgt. Louie Turner (left), manager of the Comets; and Maj. ## FRIDAY NIGHT

Texas Li'l League Set To Open Play

Play gets under way in the Texas Little League Friday night, at which time Cosden Oil takes on Local 826.

Competition will continue through July 11, according to present plans.

New president of the circuit is W. E. Eubanks. Other officers named to serve the coming season include Neil Spencer, vice president; Robert S. Ross, player agent; and Mrs. C. J. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer.

Teams which are poised to compete for the championship, together with their managers, are:

Cosden Oilers—Bobby White.

Local 826—Red Harrison.

Reef, Inc.—Bob Rogers.

Reed Oil—Sgt. John Henry.

Lions—J. C. Burchett.

Odd Fellows—Charles Roby.

League officers have announced that the entire schedule for the circuit will not be released for publication. Special copies will be available at the playing field, however.

The league teams will continue to use the original Little League park on North 12th Street here, at least as long as they are permitted to do so by the Texas Highway Department, which owns property rights to the land on which the park is built.

However, work is progressing on the Texas League's new park, which is situated on the Bauer school playground.

National L. L. Opens Tonight

With the park all dolled up and ready for play, the National Little League gets the show on the road with major and minor league contests this evening.

The National Little League playing field is situated on Highway 87 south of the city. Built by Cosden, the park has been touched up with paint and officers have worked long hours to get the infield and outfield grass ready for the 1959 season.

VFW plays the Yankees, defending champions, in the major league contest, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Earlier, the minor league engagement sends the Aces against the Ramblers.

Harold Hall is again serving the NLL as its president. Other officers include:

Milton Brown, James Horton and Gene Fletcher, all vice presidents; Mrs. Morris Clanton, secretary; Mrs. L. M. Knoop, treasurer; and S. T. Bogan, player agent.

Managers of the major league teams, listed with their assistants and sponsors include:

VFW—Sponsored by VFW, W. E. Booth and W. E. Pate.

Yankees—Sponsored by Obie Bristow, Bill Mills and Charlie Boland.

Devils—Anderson Music Company, J. D. Campbell and Ben Kirkland.

Dodgers—Wholesale Car Market, J. B. Hollis and A. E. Clanton.

Cardinals—Gage Oil Company, James Abbe and Buford Hull.

Braves—Newsom's Foods, James Dunne.

A schedule for the minor league, together with a list of managers, will be released in an early edition of The Daily Herald.

SHADOW OF THE HAWK FALLS OVER COLONIAL

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The shadow of "The Hawk" hung over a field of 48 that started out in the $27,300 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament today.

It was Ben Hogan, a fellow who used to haunt them all when in his prime. And Wednesday he shot a 7-under-par 63 over the rugged 7,011-yard Colonial Country Club course.

While it was a tuneup round, it was the lowest score ever posted at Colonial.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., Arnold Palmer of Lionier, Pa., Jack Burke of Klamath Lake, N.Y., and Cary Middlecoff of Hollywood Beach, Fla., were favored in the odds 7 to 1 to take first money of $5,000.

But Hogan's great round had the boys talking about "The Hawk" of other days. He was called that. "Let him get after you and you'll find out what it means," said Middlecoff the year he won Colonial — in 1951.

18 Nominated At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On-And-On, Calumet Farmer's hope for a third straight Kentucky Derby victory, was a surprise entry today as 18 of the finest 3-year-old horses in the land were named for the 85th running of America's glamor race.

If all face the barrier at 4:30 p.m. EST Saturday, the 1 1/4-mile classic will carry a gross value of $165,000 with a net of $120,900 and a garland of red roses going to the winner.

Entered along with First Landing were such other highly regarded performers as Sword Dancer, Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan, Fred Turner Jr.'s Tomy Lee, and Open View and his front running stablemate, Aioll, from the Elkcam Stable.

Mike Powell Wins Sul Ross Letter

ALPINE (SC) — Mike Powell, former HCJC cager, was one of 10 Sul Ross basketball players the past season to win varsity letters.

Coach Ray Van Cleft has announced, Powell's home is Coleman.

Powell led the Cowboys in scoring during the 1958-59 season. Mike is eligible to return next season.

Schedule Drawn For Amer. L. L.

The American Little League gets its 1959 show on the road next Monday evening, at which time the Cabot Carbons oppose the Piggy-Wiggly Pigs.

The game will be played in the American Little League Park, which is located on the eastern edge of the HCJC campus.

The park has been improved over a year ago. An irrigation system has been put in. Bleachers have been constructed on the first base side of the field, and the entire plant has been painted.

John Ed Brown is again serving the league as its president. He led the improvement program and has spent many of his hours that ordinarily would have been devoted to leisure toward the project in recent weeks.

The teams lined up to play, listed with their sponsors and managers, are:

- Cabot—Cabot Carbon, Jack Lovell.
  - Pigs—Piggy Wiggly Grocery, Wayne McKee.
  - Cubs—Frank Sabbato Insurance, Frank Sabbato.
  - Stars—Furr's Foods, Garland Helton.
  - Colts—Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Johnny Hobbs.
  - Jets—R&R Theatres, N. L. (Pat) Patterson.

Three Pools Serve City's Swimmers

For the third year, Big Spring-ers can have three swimming pools for use this summer.
The city has had the large pool in the City Park open every summer for over 20 years, but the two pools on the North Side have been open only since 1957. The pool in the Negro park was opened in 1956 for part of the season, however.

The city manager, A. K. Steinheimer, said that the city will follow practically the same schedule as last year on the pools. This calls for the city pool to be open every day from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The two North Side pools will be open only on Saturdays and Sundays, however. Steinheimer said that should business merit it, the city will open the two pools for longer times each week.

Managing the swimming pools again this year will be Dan Lewis, an instructor at junior high school.

Charges will be the same as last year at all pools, 35 cents for adults and 25 for children under 12. The city also sells 10-swim cards for $1.20 for children and $2.40 for adults. Season passes cost $6.40 for children and $10.20 for adults.

Proper Gift

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service office here said it received the following letter from a taxpayer:

"I am extremely sorry but I just realized that I forgot to attach form
W-2 to the rest of the papers mailed to you a few days ago.
I realize that this will cause extra headaches and am herewith enclosing a couple of aspirins, and believe me, I am not doing this to be facetious either."
Sure enough, there were two aspirins enclosed.

Hawaiian Surplus

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. William F. Quinn says Hawaii's government will have a surplus of about nine million dollars more than expected for the current two-year period and the next.

He told a news conference Tuesday he hopes the Legislature will use the surplus for capital improvements and pay raises for government employees.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1959 SEC. B

Dedicated To Lakeside Outings

The pavilion and barbecue pit shown is one of the many which the city has built on the shores of Moss Creek Lake for the use of Big Springers. The pavilions were built last summer while the city was improving the boating and swimming facilities. The recreational spots were heavily used last year and will be again this year after the park area is reopened next month.

City Is Well Equipped With Park Facilities

There is plenty of potential summer fun in city and state parks in the Big Spring area.

Big Spring is fortunate in having a picturesque state park almost in the city limits plus five city parks with picnic facilities in them, as well as swimming and wading pools, ball diamonds, a golf course, croquet courts, and other recreational areas.

Combined, these parks provide more than 535 acres of land for the enjoyment of Big Springers. Located on Scenic Mt. is the 355-acre Big Spring State Park providing picnicking areas with a view unparalleled in this area. There is plenty of playground equipment atop the mountain and it is located in the vicinity of parking and picnicking spots.

A pavilion atop the mountain can be used for large parties and is a handy place to get out of the rain during spring seasons and out of the sun during hot weather.

In addition to the State Park, the city has five parks now in use. Now open are the large City Park, the Negro Park, the ABC Westside Park, Birdwell Park, and the newly opened North Side Park.

The biggest of the lot is the main City Park which includes the municipal golf course and the main swimming pool. The golf course is a regulation 18-hole layout and is considered one of the top many courses in West Texas. Its popularity brought a regional qualifying tournament for the National Public Links program last summer. Big Spring was the smallest city in the nation permitted such a tourney in 1958.

Also in the city park is a large swimming pool used by hundreds every summer, in addition to a wading pool in the picnic area. Although the golf course and the swimming pool are frequented only by their followers, the city park proper is used throughout the summer for family and group picnics, large reunions, school trips, and for just "lounging" on the grass.

Picnic tables and barbecue pits are liberally spotted over the park and, through the summer months, are on constant demand. The large number of shade trees in the park make it a cool spot for outings. There is a lighted softball diamond which is used practically every night, not only for league games but for "scrub" games after parties and among clubs.

There are two tennis courts which are lighted and a croquet court with lights, and these areas are in use frequently. Swings and other children's playground equipment are scattered throughout the park near the picnic areas.

Playground equipment and picnic tables are also available in the Negro Park and the Birdwell Park, which is located just east of the First Christian Church. Like the main park, these areas are used extensively through the summer by clubs and other organizations.

Newest addition to the city's park system is the North Side Park located in the 100 block of NE 8th. The large park includes the North Side swimming pool, and only this spring, the city installed a large amount of playground equipment there. The city park department has also begun working on the park to make it as beautiful as the others in the city system.

At the corner of W. 4th and Presidio is the ABC Westside Park maintained by the city. A wading pool is located in the park as well as picnic tables. There is also a recreational building in the park with playground gear.

Summer Fun Days Show Opens Friday

Practically every conceivable item designed for summer comfort and enjoyment—from clothing of all kinds to equipment for a multitude of activities—will be on display in downtown Big Spring Friday and Saturday.

The occasion will be the city's second annual observance of Summer Fun Days, in which scores of merchants are participating.

The displays will be concentrated around the courthouse square, but a number of stores will have special exhibits set up in their show windows.

The Summer Fun show will take on a carnival air, with the Webb AFB sound truck and concessions stands to be in operation.

Some of the parking areas on the north and west sides of the square will be blocked off so that exhibits can be set up on both sides of the sidewalks.

Displays will include automobiles and accessories, fishing gear, boats, motors and other marine supplies; all sorts of sports equipment; camping and picnic accessories; lawn equipment and supplies; air conditioners; men's and women's apparel for both dress and casual comfort during the summer months; bathing suits; and numerous other articles.

A special motion picture feature will be presented at the Ritz Theatre on both Friday and Saturday mornings in connection with the Summer Fun Days program. It is "The Shaggy Dog," a Walt Disney production. The showing will start at 9 a.m. daily. The regular kiddies' cartoon show will be staged at the State Theatre on Saturday morning also.

There will be no charge for viewing the displays of course, and the participating merchants are urging everyone to inspect the many items they are making available for summer enjoyment.

Jobless List Down

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Employment Commission said yesterday unemployment dropped to 177,000 April 1, compared to 191,500 March 1 and 200,400 April 1, 1958.

Rail Promotion

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The Santa Fe Railway promoted John S. Reed to vice president of finance and Frank J. Steinberger to vice president and general purchasing agent yesterday, effective May 1.

Moscow Reports

Snowman Captured

LONDON (AP)—Chinese peasants captured an abominable snowman in Kansu province and even trained him to work, Moscow radio reported today. But then they killed him.

The broadcast gave no further details of this first claim to domesticating the snowman, or "yeti," the legendary creature who supposedly walks upright over the high mountains of Asia but flees at the approach of man.

Still Popular

Janet Gaynor has more invitations to work than she can accept. Recently she came out of semi-retirement for a CBS-TV "G. E. Theater" play.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Every Age Has Its Special Attraction

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD — Everyone on the "G. E. Theater" set at CBS was talking about how adorable Janet Gaynor looked. "I think she is more attractive than ever," a veteran of films exclaimed. Of course she is dressed by her husband, the one and only Adrian, who maintains women needn't be tall to wear high-fashion clothes. "I think women run up unnecessary expenses with what Adrian calls 'emotional buying,'" Janet confided. "You have to plan and choose what you need, not what catches your eye, or you'll have mismatched ensembles. Confused buying or a desire to conform drives a woman to buying unsuitable styles. She'll often take what she is shown rather than what she knows is right for her."

"I take advantage of new cosmetics and enjoy using the hormone creams with vitamins in them. But when I have soft water I'd rather wash my face than cleanse it," Janet explained. She confessed that she appreciated the virtue of temperance. "I don't believe in overindulging. When we are in Brazil I take some sun, but never overdo it. We eat almost the same as we do in America — green vegetables and fresh fruits. But we make our own bread and use lots of rice. Adrian and I have no weight problems for we both follow the rule of moderation."

Goliad P-TA Hears Gil Jones On Juvenile Laws
 Gil Jones, district attorney, addressed Goliad P-TA Tuesday evening on Pending Juvenile Legislation. Afterward, a discussion period dwelt on juvenile problems and local situations.

Mrs. Kyle Riddle announced a change in date and hour for the next meeting, which will be at 8 p.m. May 19. Election and installation of officers, originally scheduled for this week, was postponed until May 19; a quorum is essential for the election to take place.

At the next meeting, Bruce Frazier will speak to the group about substandard housing and living conditions in certain areas of town.

Wash-And-Wear Fabrics Deserve Good Treatment

It takes care to get the best wear out of your new "wash-and-wear" pleated skirt. And the care should be in the "wash," according to experts who have tested methods of laundering the latest fashion.

Home economists at research laboratories worked with both white and colored pleated skirts of various synthetic or mixed blend fabrics, and discovered:

- (1) Hand-washing is generally preferable to machine-washing for pleated skirts.
  - (2) A gentle detergent with a built-in brightener does better than a harsh soap, especially on white pleated skirts.
  - (3) Drip-drying provided better pleat retention than machine-drying.
  - (4) Some ironing is required for the best possible appearance after washing.
- The skirts tested were of 100 per cent Arnel and 65 per cent Dacron — 35 per cent cotton blends, since there must be at least 65 per cent of a synthetic fiber in the fabric to insure "wash-and-wear" qualities.
- The fabrics in the skirts were found to be truly "wash-and-wearable," but stitching threads, zippers and pleat reinforcement seams required extra attention. The experts noted that zipper shrinkage caused seam puckering on the side of one all-white pleated skirt when it was machine-washed. Hand-washing in luke-warm water with a blue detergent, followed by a cold water rinse, minimized the zipper shrinkage and prevented yellowing of the fabric. Some touch-up ironing was needed to sharpen the pleats, however.
- Pleat and zipper stitches also puckered on a colored skirt when machine-washed and dried. The home economists got smoother results with machine-washing and drip-drying. Again, some touch-up ironing was recommended for best appearance.
- The laundering experts said best results with machine-washing were obtained by setting the dial to "wash-wear" but removing the skirt before the final spin.
- For either machine or hand-laundering, a mild detergent did best. And in all cases, the experts suggested a cold water rinse before drip-drying.

Lubbock Woman Develops Hand-Weaving Technique

LUBBOCK — A new hand-weaving technique developed at Texas Tech has won state-wide recognition for Mrs. Elva Powell of Lubbock.

By combining a silk screen print with weaving, Mrs. Powell produced a fabric that took second place in the weaving apparel division of the State Weavers Conference, held at Dallas.

The technique involves printing a silk screen pattern on the warp (lengthwise) strands of a loom, then weaving cotton and metallic yarn as the weft (widthwise) strands of the fabric.

Mrs. Powell's fabric is for an evening dress.

Mrs. Meda Johnston of the Tech applied arts department developed the technique, and Mrs. Powell began experimenting with it while studying under Mrs. Johnston last year.

Mrs. Johnston took third place in the same contest with a fabric designed for a lounge coat. Both prize-winning fabrics have been selected to remain on display in the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts through May 17 as part of a contemporary weavers exhibit.

Salyers Will Make Home In Forsan

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Salyer will make a home here after a transfer by the Plymouth Oil Co. from Iraan; their daughter, Francine, who is continuing her school work in Iraan, was a guest in the Salyer home recently. J. A. Peel will be in Iraan as a transfer from Forsan.

Mrs. David Ayers and son are in Ventura, Calif., as guests of her parents.

In San Angelo recently were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parks, who visited her mother, Mrs. J. J. Watkins.

Frank Shannon was present at a recent dinner given to honor 30-year employees of the Standard Oil Company. The affair was given in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell were in Sweetwater Monday after being notified of the drowning of their cousin, James Bardwell.

Recent guests of the J. H. Cardwells were Dan Yarbro of Fort Worth and Gay Miller of Crane.

Tommy Henry has returned from Dallas and Denton.

In Lubbock recently were Mrs. S. C. Cowley and her daughter, Mrs. Jimmy Hagar and daughter of Pecos, and Mrs. Amy Reid.

G-City Club Has Demonstrations

At a meeting of the Garden City 4-H Club, junior division, five teams entered the demonstration contest in salad-making and four teams worked in the dairy foods section.

Winners in the salad contest were Barbara Cook and Frances Cybert; in the dairy food preparation, winners were Paula Hardy and Donna West; all will go to the district meeting in Odessa Saturday to compete in their fields.

Placing second in the salad-making contest were Sharon Cybert and Sarah Oats.

Initiation Briefing

Three who will become new members of Delta Kappa Gamma Society on Friday are briefed for the initiation ceremony. Joining the honorary society for instructors will be Betty Joyce Gray, third from left, Joyce Howard and Mrs. Paul Warren. Holding the ritual is Mrs. Roy Green, with Mrs. Cass Hill looking on. Mrs. Green is in charge of arrangements for the initiation which will be at the Settles Hotel at 7 p.m. Mrs. Hill is chairman of the membership committee.

Initiation Set For Teachers

Five local teachers will be initiated into the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, Beta Kappa Chapter, Friday evening at a dinner in the Settles Hotel. Three teachers from Stanton are slated to become members of the chapter at the same time.

Local initiates include Betty Joyce Gray, Joyce Howard, Mrs. Paul Warren, Mrs. Bob Craig and Mrs. V. L. Smedley.

New members from Stanton are Mrs. Guy Eiland, an honorary member, Mrs. Homer Schwabe and Mrs. Margaret Miller.

The affair will also be in observance of the founding of the society in Austin 30 years ago by 12 members under the leadership of Annie Webb Blanton, at that time, State Superintendent of Education. The organization has been extended from state to national and international scope.

The local chapter was organized in 1935, and at the present time is composed of members in Sterling City, Stanton, Big Spring and Coahoma.

Mrs. Roy Green is in charge of initiation ceremony; the candle-lighting service, honoring the founders, will be directed by Mrs. William D. Singleton.

Reports from the state convention held during the past weekend in Galveston will be heard from Mrs. A. C. Kloven, president of the chapter, Mrs. B. M. Keese and Mrs. Cass Hill, who returned Sunday.

DON'T FLIP IF YOU THINK HER HAIR IS GREEN—IT IS

If your eyes tell you that you have just seen a woman with green hair—or pink—or blue, and your brain replies, "It couldn't be", just think again. Your eyes are probably right.

In a comparatively short length of time, you can have the natural color removed from your hair and your tresses dyed to match your favorite frock or suit—provided they aren't polka dot.

Several models are being readied for the Southwest Beauty Show, which will be held at the Settles Hotel Saturday and Sunday, with the local unit of the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturists hosting the affair. The rainbow tints are to be displayed for delegates and members of the group.

A beige platinum shade will be shown by Mrs. Leroy Bruffat; pink, Mrs. Julius Zodin; green, Mrs. Ruby Spencer, and flaming red by Mrs. H. M. Nicholson.

FORSAN — The Forsan FHA Chapter met in the school cafeteria Tuesday evening for their annual Daddy-Date Night. Fathers of the girls were special guests.

A covered dish supper was served. A humorous skit "Nell Comes Home" was presented by the third year homemaking class, with a cast of Jan Fields, Velda Bates, Carroll Johnson, Lynda Camp, Judy Shouls, Jean Creighton, and Ella Beth Story.

Games were played by the group. A musical combo presented western music.

Roses were used for decorations and as a centerpiece on the serving table. Thirty-seven attended the affair.

Forsan Baptists Have Family Night Supper

FORSAN — Monday evening was Family Night at the First Baptist Church. A covered dish supper was served and the group heard a guest speaker.

Members of the eighth grade were guests at a recent picnic and theatre party, when they were entertained by their sponsors and a group of parents.

Mrs. Earl H. Bedell honored her son recently with a party on his seventh birthday anniversary. About eight attended.

Midland Gardens To Be Opened For Public Viewing On Sunday

Gardeners of the Big Spring area have been invited to visit nine Midland gardens Sunday afternoon from 1 to 6 o'clock. The pilgrimage is being sponsored by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs, with the tickets priced at one dollar per person.

An additional feature of the exhibits announced for this year are patio tables arranged for special occasions. Tickets will be available at the gate of each of the gardens which include the following locations:

1. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Lea (Midland Garden Club) 205 Club. This is a contemporary garden with a patio enclosed by the house. The table will be set for Sunday Brunch.

2. Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Somerville (Tejas Garden Club) 804 Sinclair. The Somerville garden is split into a service yard and a patio yard, all of which was planned and executed by the owners.

The table will have a Strawberry Soda theme.

3. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Caldwell (Mimosa Garden Club) 809 West Boyd, was also completely done by its owners. The garden will present a birthday table for a little girl.

4. Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Prescott (Pyracantha Garden Club) 901 Harvard. Mrs. Prescott has created an old-fashioned garden. The table will be Early American with Harvest Time as the theme.

5. Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Wiseman Jr. (Green Thumb Garden Club) 1410 Community Lane. The Wisemans have a split yard, one area a children's play yard and the other a swimming pool in a formal setting. The table will be set for afternoon refreshments.

6. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marsh II (Midland Garden Club) 1406 Cuthbert, have arranged their formal French gardens into several individual gardens, featuring statuary. The table will be set for lunch on the terrace.

7. Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Chenoweth (Trowel & Error Garden Club) 2802 Douglas. The Chenoweth yard is new, not having seen its second summer as yet, and is an excellent example of what proper preparation of flower and shrub beds will produce in a very short time. The patio table will have a May Pole theme.

8. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Girdley (Tejas Garden Club) 2701 Sentinel. This yard is divided into three parts, two cutting gardens flanking the Girdleys patio yard which features pink roses in raised beds. The table in the patio will be set for Sunday night supper.

9. Mr. and Mrs. George Farlow (Yucca Garden Club) located off the Andrews Highway by the Vineyard Nursery. Watch for sign indicating the turn-off. The Farlow garden is noteworthy as a truly country garden which will be the setting for a barbecue table.

How Is Your Cake Skill?

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman is known by the cake she bakes, says a producer of a cake mix.

Psychologists were called on a "reading" survey to see how three types of women reacted when handed a box of mix and told to make any of the four recipes on the box or invent her own.

The chic group unexpectedly proved to be "kitchen types" and baked fancy cakes. They made pastries richly filled with nuts and raisins, poppy seeds, cheese or fruit, topped with frosting.

The non-glamorous group included wholesome "American girl" types and older women. All but four of the 15 in the group made plain cakes, with or without topping.

In the group of "neat Nellies," 11 of them turned out fancy but less creative cakes than those of the chic sophisticates.

The group of women whose common characteristic was fastidious housekeeping favored gooey pecan rolls, made with scarcely a departure from package directions, but they outranked the others in quick cleanup action.

Spanish Class Has Festive Evening

FORSAN — Mrs. Edna McGee took her Spanish class to Carlos' in Big Spring for a Mexican dinner which was ordered in Spanish. Afterward, the group of 11 went to the Clover Bowl for bowling.

Ackerly Couples Make Fishing Trip Reports

ACKERLY — Back at home after fishing at Buchanan Dam are the Cecil Ackerly, the Lonnie Kemp, the E. G. Murphys, the Bill Bowlines and the Arthur Reeds. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Grigg and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Franks were at Lake J. B. Thomas during the weekend.

The Buck Bakers visited their son and family, the E. B. Bakers in Seminole, and their daughter and family, the Garland Browns in Seagraves, on Sunday. After a visit in Menard, the Lewis Etheredges have returned home. They were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Etheredge, and other relatives.

A recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis White was Garland Newson of Lubbock, a school friend of the two. The Whites recently attended funeral services for his uncle, Mr. Dee Ford, in Hillsboro. Sherra Dee Hambrick has recovered from an illness and is able to attend school.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cates have been Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Cates and children of Big Spring and Billie Gean Cates of Andrews.

Mrs. J. Archer has been a guest of her granddaughter, Mrs. Ronnie Hamilton in Lamesa. Visiting here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips has been Bettie Belding of Strawn. The Dolph Rasberrys are entertaining their small grandson, Glenn Rasberry, this week, after meeting his parents, the Harold Ras-berrys of Albuquerque, N. M., in Lubbock Sunday.

Mrs. Bill Wallace attended the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Womack, in Danville, Ark., during the past week.

The Saga Of A Pennypincher

A new book called "Elizabeth the Great," by Elizabeth Jenkins, throws interesting light on the career of that remarkable woman who, in a very real sense, laid the foundations of the British Empire.

Unlike her father, the uxorious Henry VIII, Elizabeth had a fine head for business. It was said in order to spend it, he made money in order to save it. She was a pennypincher from way back. Nothing in the way of outgo was too small to escape her earnest attention.

Whereas Henry was in debt up to his ears at all times, and left the country flat broke and deep in debt when he died at 56, Elizabeth I was frugal in business affairs to the point of miserliness, and in a few years she had paid off all the national debts and placed the country in a flourishing financial condition.

Furthermore she kept it that way—sitting up, if necessary, all night long to check household and governmental expenditures.

In fact, she was so tight she brought the country to the verge of ruin several times by vetoing expenditures needed for national defense. When the great Spanish Armada was destroyed by a combination of bad weather and brilliant British naval action against overwhelming odds, the queen couldn't wait for her skirts to touch her before she started disbanding the army that had been assembled to defend the island shores against invasion. The assembled troops and their officers went unpaid, and starvation stalked the encampments.

Instead of maintaining proper defenses at all times (England was under constant threat of invasion by the Spanish and French), and thus discouraging threats against the realm, Elizabeth starved the army and navy, and when the pressure went on the cost of raising and provisioning and arming the new contingents was always excessively heavy.

She was a demon for economy, but never could see the protection and economy in maintaining a proper military establishment in a world that, like ours today, was in ferment.

Isn't that pretty much the way we have always conducted ourselves as a republic? Fight a war and disband. Fight a war and disband. Always too little and too late.

Attempts to "economize" by cutting defenses to the bone always have invited trouble and always will. To this day Britain has followed that policy, and the U. S. of A. isn't far behind.

Recrimination, Not Repentance

Three measures were before the House Administration Committee in Washington Monday aimed at discouraging congressional nepotism, but the committee postponed action on them.

The meeting turned into a sort of round-robin attack on the nation's newspapers for exposing nepotism in Congress and stirring up demands for remedial legislation.

Rep. George M. Rhodes (D-Pa) made the brilliant suggestion that if House members are to be required to disclose whether they have any relatives on their payrolls, "the same standards should be made to apply to the press."

Newspapers are private enterprises which perform a public service and derive their revenue from subscriptions and advertising.

Congress is a public body subject to the will of the people. The members are paid by the people to represent the people, and every dollar that passes through their hands is public money, derived from taxes, fees, fines and whatnot.

"Nepotism, noun, Favoritism shown to nephews and other relatives; bestowal of patronage by reason of relationship rather than merit."

Congressmen have at their disposal tens of thousands of dollars to spend for office hire and other purposes. It is public money. If a considerable part of that money is paid to relatives and in-laws the public has a right to know about it. The nephews and other relatives of the contributors of that money might like a crack at some of it occasionally.

Apparently, some solons are more interested in recriminations against those who bare their sins than they are in repenting and refraining.

West's Negotiating Position Still Weak

LONDON—With the deadline of May 11 rapidly approaching, the problem of the Western foreign ministers is as acute as ever. While it is obscured by a cloud of official silence and unofficial assurances, the negotiating position they must present to the Russians is still unsatisfactory to almost everyone concerned.

The British have had their proposals evolved following Prime Minister Macmillan's reconnaissance mission to Moscow, whittled down almost to nothing. Having been steadily pushed back from what they believed to be a reasonable and reasonably flexible set of proposals for negotiation, the British are for the moment maintaining a stiff upper lip.

They are anxious to avoid any further public widening of the differences in the alliance on the eve of the meeting with the Russians. Those differences have been accentuated by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's angry speech in Bonn accusing the British of something like a conspiracy of hostility against West Germany.

As for the Germans who came here to take part in the effort of the four-power working group to fix up a negotiating package, they kept looking back nervously to be sure that the venerable chancellor was not frowning. The unofficial report is that the working group came up with a minimum proposal for some form of arms limitation and inspection in Central Europe made conditional on a phased reunification of the two Germanys. This last insures that it will never be accepted by the Russians as even a beginning for bargaining.

What is now becoming clear is a sequence of events in the weeks ahead likely to take the following pattern. While the Western foreign ministers at their meeting in Paris this week will try to put a little more attractive wrapping on the Western negotiating package, it will remain a pretty empty proposition.

At the end of the second week in Geneva it will be unveiled. This will probably come after the Russians have revealed their official position, which will contain little or nothing that is new. It will be, in short, a confrontation of sharply differing viewpoints, with no suggestion of negotiation.

At this point, British officials suggest, the conference will recess for 10 days or two weeks. The foreign ministers will go back to their respective capitals and at this stage a second effort will be made in the West to reach a position that will have a chance of initiating real negotiation with the Russians want to negotiate. In other words, in a second inning the West will presumably come up with something more tangible.

While they are not explicit about it, the British suggest that they are resigned to the necessity of a first inning simply as a demonstration of the futility of standing on the next. In theory, at least, the demonstration will not be lost on the Russians, who will return for the second round with something more realistic than the propaganda posture so tiresomely reiterated in past months.

As all the scurrying about between London, Paris and Washington goes on, the solid part of a restored and determined Germany is represented by Chancellor Adenauer as he sits it out in his vacation retreat at Cadenabbia on Lake Como in Italy. As the London Times has made clear in an amusing dispatch from Bonn, the old chancellor is not precisely alone with his solid thoughts of the solid past. A whole procession of officials from Bonn has gone to Cadenabbia to talk with the chancellor.

The assumption is that they have gone to persuade him to yield and accept the more or less innocuous proposal of controlled disarmament or limitation of arms tied to German reunification. Foremost among the pilgrims to Cadenabbia is United States Ambassador David Bruce, who perhaps more than any other diplomat has the confidence of the old gentleman. Another visitor was Wilhelm Grewe, Bonn's Ambassador to Washington, who will presumably head up the unofficial West German delegation to Geneva.

A brilliant international lawyer, Grewe's difficult task has been to align himself with the chancellor's alternating moods, shifting from the not-quite-so-hard line to the hard line. Even for a skilled diplomat this has meant embarrassments not always concealed.

To think of a second inning—a second time up at bat—is all very well. But the immediate concentration is on getting agreement on at least a respectable position for the opening date. This promises to go on with increasing intensity behind closed conference room doors up until the very last moment.

Communist Danger In Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

And the President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

For in Iraq—and what may happen to it and the Middle East later—lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold war defeats.

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.
2. That the United States and its allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

But none is in sight now.

Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if native Communists take over a country from within, and without obvious outside aggression?

Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government—which had linked itself with this country—by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Charouni, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use these powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kasseem, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over, they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did: ask for American help.

If the Reds take over in Iraq, which is completely shut off from border contact with the Soviet Union by its neighbors, the Soviets would have their first firm foothold in the Middle East. It would be a colossal disaster for the West.

At his news conference the President was asked if there was any way to save Iraq from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There was nothing concrete in the President's answer.

Most of what he said can be summed up in his last paragraph: "If there is anything we can do to promote better relations with this country without making other enemies in the same region, what that is a good policy to follow. And we do follow it."

They're Making Travel Interesting Again

Creation of this new-fangled interstate highway system has set up a new and probably unexpected problem for the road builders.

Under the old plan, a side-road didn't count for much. A narrow dirt lane could take off from the main highway nearly anywhere, and likely it would go unnoticed by 99 per cent of the travelers.

That situation has been changed by the interstate system. Every intersection is an extremely noticeable feature of the freeway, even though it has only a dirt road leading off to the side. There's a big overpass or underpass and one of those cloverleaf sort of interchanges at every intersection.

Naturally, strangers driving along the highway are apt to wonder where that side-road leads to, and a great number of provincial travelers probably ask the same question. That sets up the new problem for the highway engineers. They now must identify the side-roads.

Naming the branches apparently is no simple task. Some, of course, are quickly named for the communities they serve. But others call for exercise of the old imagination.

So far, on Interstate 20, they're doing a good job. Not only do the names identify the roads, they add interest to an otherwise dull drive across empty West Texas.

As examples, here are a few of the side-road names we jotted down on the ride from Big Spring to Abilene the other day:

Noodle Dome Road, over on the Nolan-Taylor County line.

Blackland Road and White Flat Road, both in Nolan County.

Stink Creek Road, just east of Sweetwater.

Looney School Road, so suggestive, in Mitchell County.

Cemetery Road, probably a dead-end drive, someplace along the way.

Dorn Road, and they say it's dorn rough.

I'm anxious for them to complete the freeway and get all the signs up. It'll make an interesting vacation trip, just driving along Interstate 20 and reading the names.

Better Listen To Taxpayer's Complaints

If I were a politician hopeful that Presidential lightning would strike me in 1960, I would be out at the crossroads and the creek forks, bending both ears to tune in on the rumblings over taxation.

I am not the first voyager through the nation to suggest that there is a real tax revolt brewing among the citizenry, or to opine that taxation will be a crucial issue in the Presidential campaign of 1960.

But after three weeks of travel that took me as far West as Tucson, Ariz., it is one woman's opinion that citizens are in revolt not so much against the actual height of taxation, although it is Himalayan, as against the way in which their blood money is spent at the national level.

The revolt is brewing around the voters' conviction that a substantial per cent of the tax money they scrape up through blood, toil, sweat and tears is bonedogged away by a Congress that doesn't give them a continental about the stupenik with achin' back who pays and pays.

I have talked with hundreds of taxpayers who are firmly convinced that from 10 to 15 per cent of the tax money collected by the Federal government is blown on gravy-train and pork-barrel projects. Among the tax rebels, I find myself a conservative, as I believe that no more than 10 to 20 per cent is actually a pura.

There is a universal willingness to pay high taxation, or so I interpret what I have heard recently, as long as the taxpayer is convinced that it is spent and administered as efficiently, for instance, as the average American business enterprise is forced to care for and disburse its funds.

But the taxpayer isn't convinced of this; not by a long sight. He is convinced, on the other hand, that much of his tax money is thrown away on wasteful logrolling and useless pie-in-the-Congressional sky.

The taxpayer is willing to shell out for the biggest and best national defense that money can buy. He is more than willing to shoulder his obligations on the national and international scene. All he asks is that Congress approach his tax money with a conscience rather than a shovel.

A few years ago, I wrote a column to the effect that public money, i.e., tax money, is nobody's money, regarded by duly elected officials exactly as a cow does clover.

"Tax money is a prize package contributed by a big, vague, faceless public shadow with no substance," I wrote then, and wrote far better than I knew! "Public money just a great, big, beautiful hunk of coin toward which few persons in government feel the slightest moral responsibility for ethical judgment."

"We are never going to have economy in government or government in economy until officials start exercising what used to be known, long ago, as a public conscience in the expenditure of public money."

That's me and, from what I deduce from three weeks' journeying through the U.S.A., about 50,000,000 other taxpayers. And 50,000,000 of us can't be wrong! (Copyright 1959, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

New Questions On Integration Issue

WASHINGTON — The myth is widespread that anyone who criticizes the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States is either a "segregationist" or is trying to "undermine" our judicial system. So, when a distinguished professor at Columbia University Law School, who himself favors integration in the public schools, makes a speech in criticism of decisions of the highest court in the land, one wonders why it was not widely reported.

Professor Herbert Wechsler hold the professorship in constitutional law which is named in memory of the late Supreme Court Justice Harlan Fiske Stone. When Professor Wechsler delivered the annual Oliver Wendell Holmes lecture at Harvard University Law School recently, he questioned very sharply the grounds upon which the Supreme Court had decided the famous "desegregation" cases in 1954.

He criticized the Supreme Court also for its subsequent "per curiam" rulings on segregation problems. These are decisions handed down by the whole court but no individual opinions are issued to the public. Professor Wechsler said: "The original opinion (by the Supreme Court in 1954), you recall, was firmly focused on state segregation in the public schools, its reasoning accorded import to the nature of the educational process, and its conclusion was that separate educational facilities are 'inherently unequal.'"

"What shall we think then of the Court's extension of the ruling to other public facilities, such as public transportation, parks, golf courses, bath houses and beaches which no one is obliged to use—all by 'per curiam' decisions? That these situations present a weaker case against state segregation is not, of course, what I am saying. I am saying that the question whether it is stronger, weaker or of equal weight appears to me to call for principled decision. I do not know and I submit you cannot know whether the 'per curiam' affirmation in the Dawson case—public bath houses and beaches—embraced the broad opinion of the circuit court that all state-enforced racial segregation is invalid or approved only its immediate result and, if the latter, on what ground?"

Professor Wechsler went on to say that he is not troubled by the departure from earlier decisions, because he stands with the "long tradition of the Court that previous decisions always must be subject to re-examination when a case against their reasoning is made." He then refers to the 1954 "desegregation" opinion as follows:

"The problem inheres strictly in the reasoning of the opinion, an opinion which is often read with less fidelity by those who praise it than by those by whom it is condemned. The Court did not declare, as many wish it had, that the Fourteenth Amendment forbids all racial lines in legislation, though subsequent 'per curiam' decisions may, as I have said, now go that far.

"Rather, as Judge Learned Hand observed, the separate-but-equal formula was not overruled 'in form' but held to have 'no place' in public education on the ground that segregated schools are 'inherently unequal,' with deleterious effects which retard their educational and mental development. So, indeed, the district court had found as a fact in the Kansas case, a finding which the Supreme Court embraced, vouching some further 'modern authority' to warranty."

"Does the validity of the decision turn then on the sufficiency of evidence or of judicial notice to sustain a finding that the separation harms the Negro children who may be involved?"

"There were, indeed, some witnesses who expressed that opinion in the Kansas case, as there were also witnesses in the Virginia case, including Professor Garrett of Columbia, whose view was to the contrary."

"Much depended on the question that the witness had in mind which rarely was explicit. Was he comparing the position of the Negro child in a segregated school with his position in an integrated school where he was happily accepted and regarded by the whites; or was he comparing his position under separation with that under integration where the whites were hostile to his presence and found ways to make their feelings known?"

"And if the harm that segregation worked was relevant, what of the benefits that it entailed: sense of security, the absence of hostility? Were they irrelevant? Moreover, was the finding in Topeka, Kansas, applicable without more to Clarendon County, South Carolina, with 2,799 colored students and only 295 whites? Suppose that more Negroes in a community preferred separation than opposed it? Would that be relevant to whether they were hurt or aided by segregation as opposed to integration? Their fates would be governed by the change of system quite as fully as that of the students who complained."

"I find it hard to think the judgment really turned upon the facts. Rather, it seems to me, it must have rested in the view that racial segregation is, in principle, a denial of equality to the minority against whom it is directed, that is, the group that is not dominant politically and, therefore, does not make the choice involved. . . ."

"For me, the question posed by state-enforced segregation is not one of discrimination at all. Its human and its constitutional dimension lies entirely elsewhere, in the denial by the state of freedom to associate, a denial that impinges equally on any group or races that may be involved." (Copyright 1959, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Need Higher Taxes To Solve Problems

Editor's Note—Bested by various fiscal ailments, state governments generally have resorted to more and higher taxes. This is the last article of a three-part series.

By CHARLES STAFFORD
Associated Press Writer

"Maybe," an eastern Kentucky civic leader said, "we should secede from the United States and apply for foreign aid."

He was discussing remedies for the ailing economy of his area, where mechanization and depression in the coal industry have caused widespread unemployment.

The secession proposal was delivered tongue-in-cheek, but many a state official would get the point. A check of state capitols by The Associated Press indicates that 29 states are encountering some measure of financial difficulty today.

Higher taxes are the common remedy.

Cigarettes are a favorite target of the revenue hunters of 1959. Sales and income tax increases also are common. Withholding plans for state income taxes, which increase revenue by cornering tax dodgers, have been adopted by Utah, Massachusetts, South Carolina, and New York. Five more states are seriously considering them.

Some tax programs have been whoppers.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio has presented the Legislature with plans to increase cigarette, beer, corporation franchise, gasoline and diesel fuel taxes. Sales taxes are to be upped to produce some 119 million dollars in the next two years. Adopted without change, DiSalle's program would produce 360 million dollars in new revenue in the next two years.

New York raised its tax revenue 230 million dollars. The Pennsylvania Legislature is studying Gov. David L. Lawrence's proposal for an additional 237 million in taxes to balance the record-breaking biennial budget of $1,907,000,000. The lawmakers have already raised the 3 per cent sales tax to 3½ per cent, making it second only to Washington state's 4 per cent.

Getting a new tax program approved isn't an easy matter. The Minnesota Legislature adjourned April 24 after 3½ months of work without finding the 34 million dollars needed to balance Gov. Orville L. Freeman's proposed 470-million-dollar budget.

The governor, who has recommended increases in liquor, cigarette, tobacco, iron ore, gifts, inheritances and income taxes, called the lawmakers back into special session the very next day to finish the job.

In Massachusetts, Gov. Foster Furcolo's efforts to balance his 456-million-dollar budget have touched off a fight within his Democratic party. He proposed that the Democratic-controlled Legislature enact a sales tax.

However, the No. 1 plank in the Democrats' campaign platform was a stand against the sales tax. At a party harmony dinner Feb. 14, Lt. Gov. Robert F. Murphy said that if the Democrats approve a sales tax "We deserve what will surely befall us — defeat for our perfidy; defeat for our deception; defeat for our hypocrisy, and finally the inevitable loss of the confidence of the voters."

Furcolo, the next speaker, promptly took issue with Murphy. Murphy, he said, was "either trying to kid the public or he doesn't have the solution to our problem." The governor said the platform plank applied to a general sales tax, while he has suggested a limited tax which would exempt food, fuel, children's clothing, medicines and similar necessities.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, a Democrat, has asked a politically friendly Legislature to tax cigarettes, oil and gas and increase taxes on horse racing, beer and income to provide 256 million dollars in new revenue. His headache: a rapidly expanding deficit.

"Up to now it has been possible to avoid facing up to the fiscal realities because surpluses built up during and after the war have been used to meet the deficits," he says. "By using the fund surpluses to meet annual deficits we have succeeded only in postponing the day of reckoning."

But, says GOP Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles — and he has supporters in both parties — "I can see no point in increasing taxes or levying new ones when we have surpluses available to us."

In Georgia, economy is the word. Gov. Ernest Vandiver, who ran on a platform of no new taxes unless absolutely necessary, ordered state departments to reduce their operating expenses by 10 per cent during the final quarter of the fiscal year, which ends on 30. The Legislature economized by elimination and consolidation of several agencies.

The governor is holding a tight rein on budget requests. He has a committee studying government reorganization and economy. And he has ordered a crackdown on loose practices in the purchasing and tax departments where there have been irregularities in recent years.

Tightly trimmed austerity budgets have been offered as the cure for problems in recession-troubled Connecticut, Maine and Vermont. Oklahoma, where Gov. J. Howard Edmondson is trimming the fat from the state payroll and cutting other state expenses, solved part of its revenue problem in an old-fashioned way. Its citizens voted the repeal of prohibition.

Sometimes the answer to a state's financial worries is heaven-sent. North Dakota is entering the new biennium with a 10-million-dollar surplus, thanks to last year's fine crop harvest.

Dutch Freighter First In Seaway

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—A flag-bedecked Dutch freighter carrying a cargo from the old world comes to Chicago today, marking a niche in the maritime history of the new world.

She is the 353-foot Prins Johan Willem Friso, easy victory in the momentous race to become the first to sail the rebuilt St. Lawrence Seaway through the Great Lakes to Chicago.

The ship's arrival heralds a new era in sea transportation, opening up the Midwest to big ships. A gala celebration, including a parade and banquet, awaited the Friso here, similar to the whoop-la Milwaukee put on Wednesday night when the ship docked there.

Chicago and other Great Lakes ports beam at the opening of the seaway because they hope it will inaugurate a great business boom.

The 4,000-ton Friso was one of the first through the locks when the seaway opened Saturday. The Friso led her nearest competitor in the westward race from Montreal—the 459½-foot American flagship Santa Regina—by some 200 miles. The Santa Regina was scheduled to arrive at Lake Calumet Harbor on the far South Side late today.

A roaring welcome by some 15,000 persons greeted Capt. Sander Klein and his crew when the Friso docked at Milwaukee 90 miles north to become the first foreign flagship to tie up at a Lake Michigan port after sailing through the new canal.

Sirens screamed, jets whooshed overhead and a helicopter dropped roses. Mayor Carl Zeidler welcomed the captain and crew, saying: "This is a glorious beginning of a tremendous era of expansion in shipping. I hope it leads not only to mutual economic advantage but also to greater understanding of the people with whom we trade."

A silver cup was presented to the owners, Fjell-Orange Lines. The Friso carries a cargo of wines, artificial flowers, glassed mushrooms, toys, twine, window glass, farm implements and dies.

Atty. Gen. Mulls Anti-Nudist Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The attorney general has got the job of deciding if an anti-nudist ban is against the Texas Constitution.

The House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee passed the buck after a four-hour public hearing. The shouting and fistwaving ended with one House member being invited to resign.

A large group of Texas nudists—with clothes on—watched the uproar in the House chamber but let the legislators do most of the fussing.

The hearing was called on a Senate approved bill to fine practicing nudists up to $500 or give them a year in jail. Rep. James Turman of Gober presented the bill at the request of several church groups in Fannin County.

Turman, assistant to the president of Texas Woman's University, said the Cedar Valley Health Resort was discovered recently in north Fannin County by low flying planes.

Rep. James Bates of Edinburg offered to let the witnesses from Texas nudist camps testify without identifying themselves. He said they might "catch hell from some neighbors who may not know they are nudists."

The offer was turned down. "There is absolutely no need of any specific law against nudism," said Norval Packwood of Mays Landing, N.J., executive director of the American Sunbathers Assn.

"If there is anything wrong in any of those camps the local sheriff has all the laws he needs now to go in and correct the trouble."

"We allow no alcohol on the grounds, profanity is prohibited and we tell no shady stories," said Mrs. William Campbell, co-owner of the Fannin County camp and mother of four.

"There is no misbehaving primarily because our children are always with us."

She said the 52 families belonging to the camp included doctors, nurses, engineers, lawyers, mechanics and "We Have a Methodist and Baptist minister who are members and hold church almost every Sunday."

Mrs. Cordie Oliver said she lived next to the camp but never saw any unclothed sunbathers. She was asked if she is a nudist. "No, I'm a Methodist," she said.

Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline asked over and over if there was any indecent exposure before children.

"We don't sprout wings in nudist camps, but we don't sprout horns either," said Alois Knapp of Chicago. "There is no lascivious intent in a nudist camp."

Knapp identified himself as "probably the best known nudist in the U.S." He said he had been president of most national associations.

Rep. W. T. Dugan of McKinney introduced the prime witness in support of the bill, Hubert Badeaux, New Orleans private investigator.

Badeaux said he formerly was intelligence chief of the New Orleans Police Department but had to resign because he insisted on investigating nudist camps. He displayed numerous nudism magazines and pictures.

He said he had no personal knowledge of the Fannin County camp. "I don't even know where Fannin County is," he said.

"Nudism is the most pagan, godless movement there ever was," he said.

Bates closely questioned Badeaux's investigation methods in getting pictures of nudists in their homes and camps.

"I would stoop to anything to get evidence on nudists," Badeaux said, answering a question.

"That's about the type of character you impressed me as being," Bates said.

After the committee voted 12-7 to send the bill to the attorney general for a test of constitutionality, Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs asked to be heard.

Chapman, a leader of the East Texas segregation block in 1957 and co-author of a pending anti-nudist bill, said he had taken offense at the way "some members of this committee browbeat witnesses."

He said failure to approve the anti-nudist measure might lead some one to think the committee supported sexual perversion.

"If that is the case, then I am sorry to be a member of this House," Chapman said.

"You can resign early in the morning," Bates said. "I'll take you by the hand and show you how."

8,000 In 3-Month Highway Death Toll

CHICAGO (AP)—Automobile accidents killed more than 8,000 persons in the nation in the first three months this year, an increase of 5 per cent over the first quarter of 1958. The fatalities in March were 9 per cent higher than in 1958.

The National Safety Council also said disabling injuries during the three-month period numbered 300,000.

The council said March was the third straight month the death toll on the highways was higher after two years of almost unbroken decreases. Fatalities for the first three months totaled 8,000 compared with 7,600 in the corresponding period last year. The March death toll was 2,790, compared with 2,560 in March 1958.

The council attributed the upward trend to complacency.

Herald Editor Does 'Virginia' Editorial For Newspapermen

By The Associated Press
 "Yes Celeste, newspaper people are the nicest people. They are the salt of the earth." Reminiscent of the famous "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus" editorial by Francis Church, is the reply of Joe Pickle, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald to Celeste Craig of Stamford.

Celeste, daughter of Publisher Roy Craig of the Stamford American had written that "Newspaper people are the friendliest, and nicest and hard-workingest." Pickle, president of the West Texas Press Association, replied to Celeste in the April issue of the association's publication, West Texas Publisher. He wrote as follows:

"Yes, Celeste Newspaper people are indeed the friendliest, nicest and hard workingest. All my adult life I have had the honor of being associated with them and I have found them to be the most solid folk in any community."

"Although they sometimes try to assume a skeptical or cynical crust, they actually are warm and soft. They are conscientious and are possessed with a peculiar sense of civic duty and have a liberal dose of civic righteousness. Not all of them are leaders in their churches (although the number of lay leaders from newspaper ranks is way above the ratio to population); they are strong supporters of our churches."

"They back our schools and are constantly encouraging the community to provide better facilities and the administration to fashion better programs."

"You won't find many Ph.D. degrees in the profession, and the rank and file may not have academic letters to place after their names. However, there is no more intelligent lot than newspaper people. They read much and they know a great deal about what's going on in the world and round about them. In concise, flavorful and individual style, they chronicle the events of the day or of the week. Sometimes they are quoted, praised, kidded or even cussed-but always read."

"Newspaper people are industrious. They may not seem, like Chaucer's merchant, to be busier than they are, but watching the clock is not one of their faults. If it takes half the night to make that Thursday miracle come to pass, newspaper people put in the time without making themselves appear to be a suffering hero.

"Their shops may frequently appear untidy and exude the distinctive fragrance of printers ink, and their equipment may often be of rare vintage. But those who put out newspapers are progressive, and if they deny it for themselves they always want it for their communities."

"Those of the Fourth Estate are generous to a fault, for they give more space than they ever sell. Moreover, this is hardly half the story because they uncomplainingly give away advice, counsel and work for which other professions charge liberally. In addition to promoting everything worthwhile in their towns, newspaper folk more than likely will be in the forefront of those passing the hat for these projects."

"Newspaper men and women are full of imagination. For all their hard-bitten practicality, they are dreamers and idealists at heart. Some of them have the soul of a poet and just can't help letting it creep out."

"In newspapering you'll find a very human group. Its members are afflicted with all the frailties of mortal beings—and sometimes more so, but right and justice and purity have no stronger champions than those who work with words and their hearts."

"There may be many who have larger dollar balances at the bank, but none is richer than the average newspaperman. He is in love with his work and his town and is kindly affectioned toward his fellowman."

"Yes, Celeste, newspaper people are the nicest people. They are the salt of the earth."

State Fair Musicals Feature Chevalier

DALLAS — The 18th summer season of State Fair Musicals here will present Maurice Chevalier in his one-man show, four musical comedies and an old-time opera-ta favorite.

In addition to Chevalier, the 12-week season in the air-conditioned State Fair Music Hall will include "The Pajama Game," "Wish You Were Here," "The Vagabond King," "High Button Shoes" and "Bells Are Ringing."

Each show will have 14 performances during a two-week run. There will be performances nightly Mondays through Fridays and matinees on Sunday afternoons.

Dates of the shows and casting to date is as follows: June 8-21, Frankie Laine in "The Pajama Game"; June 22-July 5, Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy in "Wish You Were Here"; July 6-19, Richard Torigi in "The Vagabond King"; July 20-Aug. 2, Maurice Chevalier; Aug. 3-16, Bob Crosby and Janis Paige in "High Button Shoes," and Aug. 17-30, Peggy Cass in "Bells Are Ringing."

Chevalier, the gay French boulevardier who is one of the all-time greats of the entertainment world, will fly direct to Dallas from Paris to present his one-man show and will return to France as soon as his engagement with the Musicals is concluded.

"Bells Are Ringing," the newest of the season's repertory, will be presented here for the first time in the Southwest.

This and the other musical shows will be produced in Dallas by the Musicals' own staff headed by Managing Director Charles R. Meeker Jr.

The Musicals again this season will offer to season ticket purchasers a bargain discount rate of six shows for the price of five.

Ticket order blanks and information can be obtained by writing State Fair Musicals Box-Office, 1315 Elm Street, Dallas.

CPS Exams Set At Tech Friday

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech will be host Friday and Saturday to South Plains business women taking a Certified Professional Secretary exam.

The two-day battery of tests will be administered by Charlotte Ewing of Tech's secretarial administration faculty. Sponsoring the exam is the Caprock chapter of the National Secretaries Assn.

Tech is one of nine Texas centers for the exam this year. Eighty-two other U. S. Centers are offering the tests, which cover business administration and law; secretarial accounting, skills and procedures; and personal adjustment and human relations.

Draws Fine, Pays Off $20.70 Check

C. B. Keth, accused of writing a worthless check last Feb. 2 for $20.70, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Wednesday afternoon.

He was fined $25 and costs. He paid off the fine and the check. His was the only case before the court on Wednesday.

New Parents

Steven Lee Hake, 6, sits with his new court-approved parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane McKinnon of Oklahoma City. Steven's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Hake, Midland, were killed in an Oklahoma traffic accident. Children's Court gave custody of the boy to the McKinnons but named him a ward of the court over protests of Steven's aunt, Mrs. Laverna Gewe, Nashville, Ill. Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Hake were roommates at Texas Christian University.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. C BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 30, 1959 SEC. C

Interest Growing In Fishing, Year-Around Sport For Area

If you can't talk sensibly and competently about fishing, the odds are pretty good these days you'll be a silent member of any Big Spring group engaged in casual coffee-shop conversation.

How well they're biting, where's the place to look for 'em and what-bait or lure they are most likely to fancy — these are the basic themes on nearly everyone's lips. What discussion one may hear of that time-honored topic — the weather — is very likely to be in direct relation to the effect it is having on the fishing.

Fishing is a year 'round sport in West Texas but naturally the tempo gains impetus as the spring and summer months roll around.

Sporting goods dealers, whose business keeps them in close contact with the angling element of the Big Spring population, report that fishing interest this year is even higher than it was a year ago. Steady growth of fishing enthusiasm has been the story ever since Lake J. B. Thomas came into existence. Back of that time, even fishing was already well liked and widely followed. Moss Creek Lake, certain rivers and other waters were held in high esteem by the earlier followers of Izaak Walton.

With the competition of that fine inland sea, Lake J. B. Thomas, and with the steady improvement of highways and roads to more distant fishing spots, the growth of fishing interest has soared.

Vacant offices, shuttered residences and empty garages are frequently encountered at this season of the year if the day is good and the wind low. It means, simply, that Mr. and Mrs. Big Spring and all their young'uns are off at some lakes or riverside drowning worms.

The majority of fishermen practice their hobby at Lake J. B. Thomas but a large number swear by the piscatorial prowess of Lake Colorado City. Moss Creek Lake has its loyal following.

A few, especially privileged, do their angling in the Cosden Country Club private lake.

The relatively few close fishing places does not deter in any way the enthusiasm of Howard County anglers for their favorite sport. Indeed, the trip to some spot, perhaps of considerable distance, only seems to lend savor to the outing.

That's why hundreds of Big Springers went their way to Lake Buchanan, Granite Shoals and other famous Texas reservoirs each summer. And the Gulf, with its special appeal of deep sea fishing, has a strong following of local anglers. Friends on the coast keep Big Spring fans alerted. Let the mackerel start running or other favorite fish make their appearance and the phone calls begin. And in a very short time, you'll discover a number of Big Spring residents have suddenly discovered they have pressing private business at Arkansas Pass, Corpus Christi, Galveston and elsewhere along the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

As indicated, the fishing habit is not a seasonal one in Big Spring and Howard County. Climate is such that across the board there are good to excellent fishing days each month, the year around. Lake shores are always dotted with anglers, regardless of the season. Only on those raw, rough days when rarer inclement weather conditions prevail are the areas free of fishermen. And on such dates, the frustrated anglers are scanning the skies and speculating on the prospects for tomorrow.

Boats, particularly in lake fishing, are an essential piece of the fisherman's equipment. This in a way accounts for the large number of locally owned boats in Big Spring and Howard County.

The owners of boats, naturally and logically, must have outboard motors. And for the boat trailers. As a result, Big Spring, despite its relatively waterless appearance, is an active and growing sales center for such craft and equipment.

As the years pass, the growth of the fishing population exceeds even the phenomenal growth of the city's population as a whole. New citizens move to Big Spring. Many of these come already addicted to angling. Others become converts almost overnight. Meantime, die-hard older residents, pressed by the enthusiasm of their fishing pals, reluctantly try their hand at the pastime.

And like eating snow, once one has bitten, it's hard indeed to quit.

Golf Facilities Steadily Improved

Big Spring's golf facilities are constantly improved. All indications point to the fact that the Big Spring Country Club will build a new course here within the next couple of years.

The Country Club has placed the 90 acres it now owns up for sale, with an asking price of $250,000. If the land can be sold, the club would probably rebuild on a larger plot of ground several miles south of the city.

An irrigation system installed several years ago insures adequate moisture for all of the nine holes now used by the Country Club. Despite a lack of natural rainfall this spring, the course is green from tee to hole.

The Country Club has one of three courses now being used here. The others are the Munny course located in the City Park and the Webb AFB nine-hole layout.

The Munny layout, Big Spring's only 18-hole course, is constantly being improved by Shorty Gideon, manager of the course.

Gideon has installed a sprinkling system on part of the fairways and hopes to find enough pipe to irrigate the remainder of the layout.

Gideon and his crew of workers have moved an enormous amount of dirt onto the fairways in order to cover rocks and start grass growing in the desired places.

Webb AFB's nine-hole layout has the most lush grass of any course in the county. Three fairways are being lengthened there. The compact, little course now gets a fine play from the personnel at Webb AFB.

W. O. (Junior) Maxwell, former pro at the Munny course, now serves as manager of the Webb course.

The Webb course is situated in the southwestern part of the big air base.

Why Electric Cooking is COOL

Electric range surface units heat by direct metal-to-metal contact with utensils. They put their heat into the utensils and the food, not into the surrounding air. Heat waste is held to a minimum, so there is little or no increase in kitchen temperatures.

An electric oven is insulated all around, including the bottom, to keep heat inside the oven where it belongs. This is possible because the electric oven does not require a flow of air into and out of the oven during its operation. It lets only a minimum of heat into the kitchen and requires no outside vent.

Electric cooking is also clean, fast, accurate and economical. Select your new electric range now and enjoy all these benefits... at an average cost of only about 3c a meal for electricity.

Baby Requires More Than The Proper Food To Make Him Happy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(AP) Newsfeatures Food Editor

There's more to feeding members of the high-chair set than placing nutritious food in front of them.

Do you offer some occasional pleasant conversation to help make mealtime enjoyable and interesting? Even though your baby doesn't understand what you say, he will respond to the warm interest your words convey.

Do you allow your youngster to indulge an occasional whim at mealtime? We're not suggesting you produce the whole toy box at lunch or supper, but a favorite doll or teddy propped up nearby may add a happy note and amuse your small fry while he's downing his chopped carrots.

By the time your child gets to the runabout stage he may want a fair amount of diversion while he eats. We're not advocating that a mother stand on her head or pretend every slice of crisp bacon is a choo-choo train going through a tunnel of mashed potato. But it doesn't hurt to read or tell a simple story or play a quiet phonograph record at mealtime.

Don't be afraid you will entertain your child this way for the rest of his life. When he's ready to join in family table conversation, he'll be delighted at this new grown-up diversion and willingly give up the old routine.

Miss One-Year-Old is likely to get balky about eating certain foods. So offer variety instead of forcing. Are chopped green beans suddenly taboo? There are a lot of other baby-food vegetables, green and yellow, that are equally rich in vitamins and minerals.

Your runabout may, at times, get tired of "eating the same old thing." When this happens it's better to beguile than to coax.

Orange Does Magic With Carrots

Do the youngsters in your household look upon cooked carrots with anything but delight? Perhaps a touch of grated orange rind will perform magic with the vegetable; reinforce it with a sauce majoring in orange juice.

Here's how:
ORANGE GLAZED CARROTS
3 cups thin diagonal sliced pared carrots
1 cup boiling water
¼ tsp. salt
1½ tps. cornstarch
2 tps. sugar
½ cup strained orange juice
1 tps. butter or margarine
1 tsp. grated orange rind

In a 1½-quart saucepan, rapidly bring boiling water and ¼ teaspoon salt to a boil; cover and cook just until barely tender—about 8 minutes; drain. In the saucepan (without the carrots) mix together the cornstarch and sugar; stir in the orange juice gradually until smooth.

Cook and stir over moderately low heat until thickened and clear; stir in butter until melted and orange rind. Mix in carrots and re-heat. Makes four servings.

Date Pudding Has Keeping Qualities

Here's a favorite version of an extra good date pudding.

DATE WALNUT PUDDING
Ingredients:
1¼ cups sifted flour
¾ tsp. double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 pkg. (8 ounces) pitted dates
1 tsp. baking soda
1 cup boiling water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Method:
Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt.
Slice dates fairly fine into mixing bowl; sprinkle baking soda over them; add boiling water. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly.

Stir in flour mixture, then date mixture and walnuts. Turn into buttered baking pan (9 by 9 by 1¼ inches); bake in slow (300 degrees) oven 1 hour.

Cool in pan; cut into squares and remove with spatula. Serve with slightly sweetened whipped cream.

Even Baby Likes Flavor Of Bacon

Taste-tests among youngsters show that bacon is a favorite flavor even with the very young. Many mothers who found their children resisting straight egg yolk report a combination of egg with a bit-of-bacon flavor does the trick. Like strained egg yolk, two tablespoons of strained egg yolk and bacon give a baby the equivalent of a medium-sized egg yolk. Strained egg yolks and bacon, like the straight yolk, is satin-smooth and easy for an infant to swallow.

Both are high in energy values so necessary for a growing infant. Both are good sources of iron and vitamin A and contribute vitamin B-2 and high-quality protein. Cereal, eggs and bacon—strained or junior—is well-balanced nutritionally. It is a rich source of energy and vitamin A and contributes protein, iron, vitamins B-1, B-2 and niacin.

Clean Cookies

If you want to get a clean cut with cookie cutters try dipping the cutter in slightly warm salad oil.

Mealtime Companions

There is no harm in letting Miss One-Year-old use a spooning technique with her favorite doll at mealtime occasionally.

coax. This may be the moment for an "indoor picnic lunch." If you cut the bread for the "picnic sandwiches" into small shapes with an animal cookie cutter, your child will probably be entranced.

When my nephew was a preschooler, he liked nothing better than a sandwich filling of cream cheese and chopped cooked beef. A small cooked chicken drumstick "to bite the meat off the bone" was another indoor picnic

Pretty Meringues
Make individual shells from a package of meringue mix. Just before serving fill with drained canned apricot halves and whipped cream. Top with a garnish of unsweetened chocolate curls or chocolate shot.

Have the picnic in front of the fireplace or in a sunny bay window—it doesn't matter where—and chances are your small fry will eat every speck of food and be satisfied that he's having a fine adventure.

Barbecued Chicken Lets Dad Reign As The Chef

The abundance of broiler-fryers at the market these days makes chicken a logical and economical choice as Dad answers the spring call of the patio. So these suggestions from home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are for the Dad who wants to give his guests or family a special treat.

For barbecuing, select broiler halves or disjointed chicken parts, whichever suits your fancy. If you have a revolving spit, several whole birds can be threaded on the skewer at one time.

Thighs, drumsticks, whole legs, wings and breasts are the most popular portions of the disjointed chicken for barbecuing. You can save the backs and necks for tasty chicken casseroles and soups, prepared indoors.

Giblets can be barbecued, too, and make excellent hors d'oeuvre items. Here's how: Simmer gibzard about 10 minutes in slightly salted water; cut into halves or quarters and thread along with the heart and liver on small metal skewers. Place the giblets over barbecue flame about 10 to 15 minutes before serving.

An especially flavorful barbecue sauce can be prepared ahead of time. Pour contents of a large bottle of seasoned barbecue sauce into a sauce pan, add a stick of butter or margarine and a quartered clove of garlic. Simmer ingredients about 30 minutes, until as thick as desired.

Brown chicken on all sides before brushing on the barbecue sauce. Some folks like to have extra sauce for dipping the chicken. Use your custard cups or ramekins and place sauce for dipping at each place.

Crisp Cookies Are Combination Using Mince-meat, Cereal

These cookies boast excellent flavor and they're on the crisp side.

MINCEMEAT OATMEAL COOKIES

Ingredients:
1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ cup golden shortening
1 cup light brown sugar
1 tps. dark molasses
1 egg
½ cup mincemeat
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Method:
Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, nutmeg and cinnamon. Cream shortening and sugar; beat in thoroughly the molasses and egg.

Stir in, one at a time, the mincemeat, sifted dry ingredients, rolled oats and walnuts. Drop level tablespoons of the mixture, a couple of inches apart, onto a greased cookie sheet.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 12 to 18 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove with spatula to wire rack to cool. Makes 4 dozen.

Easy Does It

Run the tip of a knife around the edge of a gelatin mold before you attempt to turn it out. It is necessary that air reach the mold before you try to remove the gelatin.

Marinade Points Up Fish Flavor

Americans who think the only way to cook fish is to fry it are cheating themselves of some mighty good eating. The Spanish have a thousand different ways of cooking fish, and one particularly delicious and easy recipe is this:

Cut fish fillets (fresh or frozen) into thin slices; then marinate in a mixture of 1 onion, chopped, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 cloves of garlic, crushed, and ¼ cup Spanish olive oil. Let the fish stand in this an hour or so, then remove from the marinade and place in a shallow baking dish or casserole and put under broiler with reduced flame.

Cook until delicately browned and fish flakes easily with fork. The marinade seems to point up the delicate fish flavor, making it seem "meatier" and more zesty.

Sandwiches Lose None Of Their Popularity

Fads come and go, but the sandwich seems to lose none of its appeal from year to year. Fillings are a matter of preference, but sometimes an old combination prepared with a new twist "hits the spot."

Get in the habit of saving and freezing chicken giblets for use later as a thrifty spread. And, with hamburgers, remember to use whole pimientos occasionally for a novel touch.

Try these recipes:

CANADIAN HAMBURGERS
1 lb. ground beef
3 whole pimientos
Walnuts
Salt
Pepper

Make six large patties of the ground beef. Place a whole pimiento on three of the patties. Tuck several walnut pieces in each pimiento. Place remaining meat patties over the filling; seal edges thoroughly by working together with fingers.

Brown rapidly on both sides in heavy greased skillet, then reduce heat to cook to desired doneness. Makes three servings.

THRIFTY CHICKEN SANDWICHES

1 cup firmly-packed ground cooked chicken giblets and neck meat
6 cooked chicken livers (ground)
1-3 cup mayonnaise
¼ tsp. onion salt
Salt
Pepper

Mix together well the ground

chicken and livers, mayonnaise and onion salt; add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 1½ cups. Use as a sandwich spread.

NOTE: Cook chicken livers in 1 teaspoon butter or margarine in a 6-inch skillet, browning lightly on both sides.

Everyone Likes Pie

For years pastry making has seemed to be the gauge of a person's cooking skill. A novice cook no longer need quake at the thought of making a delicious, pretty-as-a-picture pie. A new method for pie crust calls for blending the ingredients with an electric mixer.

New Pastry Method Uses Electric Mixer

Advocates of homemade pie, especially male dessert-lovers, have been deploring the disappearance of this delicacy from the family table. It seems that many a home-maker dreads to bake pies, considering that pastry making has always seemed to be the summit of cooking skill.

Now a new method for making foolproof pie crust with an electric mixer has been discovered. There is no longer any question of how much water to add or when, and the dough is easily rolled into perfect circles for loaves and tarts without tearing or breaking.

Here is the recipe: just whip it up and fill it with your own favorite filling:

45-SECOND PIE CRUST

For a single crust, 9-or-9 inch pie:

- 1/4 cup shortening
  - 1/4 cup flour
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 2 tsp. water
- Using low speed on electric mixer, combine the shortening, flour and salt. Mix about 30 seconds or until mixture is the consistency of coarse corn meal. Add water all at once and mix on low speed of mixer, about 15 seconds or until dough clings together.

For a double crust pies, divide dough in half. Turn onto a floured board or pastry cloth. Roll out lightly from center to edges, keeping circular shape. Place pastry in pan and press lightly with fingertips to push out air.

For a single crust, trim edge about 1/2-inch larger than pan, fold under. Shape edge. Prick the bottom and sides with a fork. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, ten

Snappy Trick

Try snapping cuffs on your children's jeans to save yourself time. Attach large snaps to the outer and inner seams of the cuffs. Then the cuffs are easy to open flat for washing, to be brushed free of dust or prescrubbed before.

Hearty Pork Dish

Brown fresh pork spare ribs in a heavy kettle; cover with sauerkraut, adding any desired seasoning, and simmer until the ribs are tender. Hearty fare!

Epicures Enjoy Fruit As Dinner Dessert

We are approaching that time of year when no dessert seems quite so satisfying as fruit. Grapefruit lends itself nicely to fruit cups.

And here is an epicurean way with a dried fruit:

FRENCH PRUNES

- 12 oz. (20 to 24) jumbo-size tenderized prunes
  - 2 cups tawny port
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- Cover prunes with 1 cup of the port; cover container; refrigerate overnight.

Turn prunes and port into a 1 1/2-quart saucepan; add the remaining 1 cup port and the sugar. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Simmer until tender—20 to 30 minutes. If some of the prunes begin to get very soft beforehand, remove them; the fruit should stay fairly firm.

Cool; stir in vanilla. Refrigerate, covered, for several days. Serve with whipped cream. Makes five to six servings.

Drink Milk To Gain Or Lose Weight

If you want to grow or put on weight, drink milk. If you want to slim, drink milk.

Those paradoxical statements are not as contrary as they first seem. Milk and foods made with milk contain so many different nutrients in favorable proportions that they form "work teams" to keep the human motor purring at its peak of efficiency.

Milk contains substantial amounts of many vitamins and minerals, also fats, sugars, and high-quality protein, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists. Milk is plentiful this spring, too.

For normal growth and activity, you'll want whole milk. From a cup of whole milk you'll receive about 165 calories of energy, about half as much as in a 4-inch wedge of pie. You may say: "That's fine. But I'm reducing. I don't want 165 calories. I just want the calcium, riboflavin, protein and other essential nutrients."

Milk—skim milk or buttermilk—is the answer. Each of these provides only 85 calories per cup. You still get all of the many nutrients in whole milk, except fat and vitamin A.

Calcium is needed all life long for healthy bones. Riboflavin is one of the nutrients essential for healthy skin and nerves and helps body cells use other nutrients carried to them by the blood. Protein, of course, builds and repairs body tissue.

Fruit-Cereal Is Tasty Team

Looking for something to perk up appetites at breakfast time? Add variety to your morning meal by trying new and different fruit, cereal, and milk combos.

Set up a lazy Susan with several different kinds of fruit and other interesting toppings. Prepare oatmeal according to the directions on the label and keep it warm in a casserole or chafing dish. Each member of your family can "create" his own fruit-cereal-milk combo according to his preference.

Hot oatmeal topped with canned or cooked dried apricots and brown sugar makes a good combination of flavors and textures. Cherry pie filling that has been flavored with cinnamon and a few drops of almond extract is a different topping. Whole cranberry sauce and flaked coconut make another interesting combo.

These are but three combos from the many possible combinations that can be assembled by the ingenious homemaker.

If you go the dry cereal route, offer as toppings a selection of canned or seasonal fresh fruits. Bananas should be peeled, of course, only when it's time for serving, to prevent discoloration.

To complete an adequate breakfast menu that will provide quick and lasting energy throughout the late morning hours, add fruit juice (preferably citrus), buttered toast, milk for the beverage, and coffee, if desired.

CEREAL TOPPINGS

Cookies Are Snacktime Favorites

With school's end approaching, Mother is going to have to think about having plenty of snack material on hand for long afternoons. Youngsters invariably go for crunchy cookies flavored with peanut butter. Here is a recipe for them:

REFRIGERATOR PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

- 1 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 tsp. baking soda
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 6 tbsps. golden shortening
- 1/2 cup smooth-type peanut butter
- 6 tbsps. granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
- 1 large egg
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Cream shortening, peanut butter and sugars; beat in egg and vanilla thoroughly. Stir in dry ingredients until blended.

Shape into a roll about 1 1/2 inches in diameter; wrap tightly in waxed paper. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator until firm enough to cut; slice about 1/4-inch thick.

Place about 1 inch apart on buttered cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until lightly browned—10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 40 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

Cadiz-Style Sole Melds Flavors

This recipe for fillets was adapted from one from Spain. Note that olive oil is a predominant ingredient.

CADIZ-STYLE SOLE

- 8 boneless and skinless sole fillets (about 1 1/2 pounds)
- Salt and pepper
- 4 tbsps. olive oil
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tsp. minced onion
- Paprika

Wipe fillets with damp cloth; dry; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread 2 tablespoons of the olive oil over a jellyroll pan; arrange fish in one layer in pan. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil in small skillet; mix in bread crumbs; remove from heat; mix in cheese. Sprinkle fillets with onions; sprinkle bread crumb mixture over fish; dust with paprika. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 20 minutes; if fish is not brown enough, broil a few seconds. Or bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Go-Togethers

"Utterly delicious!" the ladies at your luncheon will say if you serve them fresh cooked asparagus stalks served with butter-heated slices of baked ham and a snappy cheese sauce.

Crush Peppermint

When you crush peppermint candy (the hard sort) for use in making ice cream, do so between two sheets of waxed-paper, using a rolling pin. Use either molasses-peppermint candy or the regular red-and-white variety.

Main Dish Harkens To South Of The Border

If your family rates as Mexican food fans, plan a meal now and then around a main dish with a Mexican twang. Chilaquiles or Pescado con Salsa de Almendras fill the bill, and neither requires much cooking time.

With the help of commercially prepared tortillas, Chilaquiles are a whiz to prepare.

Here are the recipes:

CHILAQUILES

- 1/4 lb. Monterey Jack cheese or cheddar cheese
- 8 tortillas
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 medium onion
- 1 chile pepper or green pepper
- 1/2 cups tomato puree
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. ground cumin

Cut cheese into small cubes; cut tortillas into wedge-shaped pieces. Melt shortening in a skillet, add tortilla wedges and fry until crisp. Transfer to a plate.

Chop onion and chile pepper or green pepper fine. Stir into fat in which you fried tortillas (if little or none remains, add an additional tablespoon) and cook until onions are limp. Stir in tomato puree, salt and cumin; cook slowly for 10 minutes.

Start your oven at 350 degrees slow. Arrange alternate layers of crisp tortillas and cheese in a medium casserole. Pour tomato mixture over the top and bake 25 minutes. Serve hot to 6.

PESCADO CON SALSA DE ALMENDRAS

- 1 onion
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1 bay leaf
- Few sprigs parsley
- 2 lb. fillet of sole or other white fish
- 1/2 cup chopped salted almonds
- 2 tbsps. olive oil
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 2 tbsps. bouillon or consommé
- 1 tbsps. lemon juice, fresh, frozen or canned

Start your oven at 350 degrees F. or moderate. Butter a large baking dish and arrange slices of onion over the bottom. Sprinkle with the herbs and lay fish fillets on top.

Mix together almonds, olive oil, chopped onions, bouillon or consommé and lemon juice, cook 5 minutes. Pour over fish and bake 20 minutes or until fish is tender when tested with a fork. Serves 6 to 8.

Delicious Toast

Spread whole-wheat toast with butter, then with peanut butter; top with crumbled hot crisply cooked bacon, pressing the bacon crumbles into the peanut butter. Serve at once with tomato juice.

Spice Vocabulary

MUSTARD, a seed, is available in either whole or powdered form. Its color ranges from light to dark brown; the powdered seed becomes light yellow. The distinctive flavor is spicy and sharp.

Mustard is compatible with pickles, pickled onions; prepared mustard, salad dressings; salads, deviled eggs; Chinese hot sauce, fish and cheese sauces; ham, pickled meats, boiled fish; creamed and stewed oysters, shrimp, white potatoes, snap beans, squash, asparagus, beets, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, celery, onions; molasses cookies.

Spanish Meat Pie Has Double Crust, Meat Filling

The Spanish make a meat pie that is cousin to the English beef and kidney pie, the meat filling sealed inside 2 crusts.

For the filling, saute 2 cups diced meat (beef, veal or pork or a combination); in 3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil; add 1 small onion, minced, and 1 tablespoon minced parsley. When browned, sprinkle with 1 tablespoon flour and 1 teaspoon salt, blending well. Slowly add 1 1/2 cups water, simmer until smooth, stirring once or twice. Add 1/4 cup pitted green olives or canned mushroom caps, well-drained.

Line a baking dish (1 1/2 inches deep) with pastry; pour in meat filling, and top with pastry, cutting large gashes in upper crust. Brush crust with olive oil. Bake at 350 degrees until golden brown, about 45 minutes.

Makes four to six servings.

Boating Is One Of Leading Pastimes

Casual visitors, not accustomed to the rather arid landscape which identifies West Texas, are inclined to look skeptical when told that boating is one of the most popular summer hobbies in this area. "Boating?" they say, "boating—where?"

In Big Spring the actual number of boats increases year by year. No one seems to know exactly how many locally owned boats there are, but it is estimated the total is well above 2,500. A ride around town will provide ample evidence to support the statement. Boats, boat trailers and the other basic equipment for the sport are to be seen parked in the vicinity of house after house. What is more to the point there are more such boats to be seen this year than there were last year. And last year showed more boats around town than the preceding year.

Boats are important items in sporting goods establishments and in establishments devoted wholly to this sport.

Where are these boats put to use?

Bulk of those in Big Spring are used on Lake J. B. Thomas. An almost equal number can be found on Lake Colorado City, Moss Creek Lake, just a short distance from town, has its share. These are the boating and fishing centers which draw the majority of the local boating fans.

Often the boat is regarded by its owner as an accessory to the pursuit of his love of angling. However hundreds of boating enthusiasts have pushed fishing into secondary position or eliminated it entirely from the picture. The sheer love of the sport for itself is the incentive which impels many to become boat owners.

Of course, for every boat there is a motor, and most of the rigs also are equipped with trailers for easy, speedy trips from home to the lake. And many of the boat owners also have invested heavily in accessory equipment, so many thousands of dollars have been expended in the last four or five years on water sports equipment.

Most popular boat in this area, from the ownership standpoint, is the plain vanilla, 14-foot model. However many larger and more elaborate craft have been purchased.

Motors usually are purchased to fit the boat, and they are available in horsepower ratings up to 60.

Although a good many boating fans have purchased their own motors, which can be moved in the trunk of the family car, and rent boats on which to use them, the general practice is to purchase a complete rig—boat, motor and trailer. Facilities for storing boats are maintained at most lakes, but the majority of boaters prefer to keep their boats at home, hauling them to one of the water holes for outings.

Boating and allied activities are rapidly becoming Big Spring's favorite pastime, judging from the number of boats you can see on area lakes, the highways and private driveways.

Boat dealers here estimate there are up to 2,000 boats owned by Big Springers. Scores of others are found in neighboring communities, and most of them are busy on weekends and most of the late afternoons during the summer months.

By BOB LEERIGHT
LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—In the days of the muzzle-loading musket you got one chance to bag your game. If you missed, you went hungry. If you hit, you feasted.

Each year the Wyoming antelope season is opened in early September with traditional one-shot antelope hunt.

A group of governors, movie and television celebrities, business and military leaders are given one bullet to bag their fleet-footed pronghorn.

To the hunters who fell an antelope with their single bullet there are pets on the back, strands of bear claws and other awards at a Shoshone Indian victory banquet. Those who hit nothing but air eat with the squaws and help prepare the feast for the crack shots.

The one-shot antelope hunt was conceived around a campfire during a 1939 hunting trip. Harold F. Evans of Lander and Hank Dahl of Denver were commenting on how modern high-powered rifles and good ammunition made present-day big game hunting comparatively easy.

From that campfire conversation Evans and Dahl started the one-shot antelope hunt to imitate as closely as possible their forefathers' hunting hardships.

The one-shot hunters are given a day of practice to sight in their rifles.

One-Shot Hunt Like Old Times

Each year the Wyoming antelope season is opened in early September with traditional one-shot antelope hunt.

A group of governors, movie and television celebrities, business and military leaders are given one bullet to bag their fleet-footed pronghorn.

To the hunters who fell an antelope with their single bullet there are pets on the back, strands of bear claws and other awards at a Shoshone Indian victory banquet. Those who hit nothing but air eat with the squaws and help prepare the feast for the crack shots.

The one-shot antelope hunt was conceived around a campfire during a 1939 hunting trip. Harold F. Evans of Lander and Hank Dahl of Denver were commenting on how modern high-powered rifles and good ammunition made present-day big game hunting comparatively easy.

From that campfire conversation Evans and Dahl started the one-shot antelope hunt to imitate as closely as possible their forefathers' hunting hardships.

The one-shot hunters are given a day of practice to sight in their rifles.
