In addition, a clothing and hair show is to be staged at 8 p.m. Sunday by the Lone Star Styles Body of Texas. There will be numerous student and open hair styling contests. Awards will be presented at the closing banquet Monday night. The Chamber of Commerce is assisting the local TABC unit in hosting the gathering. It will provide new stick-on convention badges and furnish personnel to conduct registration, said George Oldham, C.C. conventions chairman. Convention headquarters are to be set up at the Settles Hotel where most of the activities will take place.

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey was told today that the tumor removed from his chest Thursday was cancerous. He made no special comment on the news and seemed in good spirits, according to a hospital announcement. A mid-morning report from the Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center said: "Mr. Godfrey was taken from the recovery room to his room in the Harkness Pavilion this morning about 7 a.m. "His doctors stated that his condition is entirely satisfactory and that he has been doing fine in post operative recovery. "He has been told the results of the operation and had no special comment about it. "He was described as being in good spirits."

Elbow To Vote On School Tax Plan Saturday

Patrons of the Elbow School District vote Saturday on a bond maintenance proposal. Advocates of the plan say that if it is adopted, the school will have needed additional funds for the operation of the school. The plan, in substance, would earmark all of the ad valorem levy of the school district to school operation and maintenance and allow the county commissioners to set up an extra levy for the retirement and interest on any bonded indebtedness the district may have. Under the system now employed, a part of the ad valorem levy goes to bond requirements—which sponsors of the plan insist, diminishes the available income that the schools need for operational activities. The proposal is permissible under a special law enacted by the Legislature. It has been adopted by the Big Spring and the Center Point districts in this county. All qualified electors of the district are eligible to vote in the election. The voting begins at 8 a.m. and closes at 7 p.m.

Cuban Invaders Ready To Give In

PANAMA (AP)—The leader of the Cuban invaders of Panama said today he and his men are ready to surrender unconditionally and submit to Panamanian courts. Cesar Vega, a former Havana night club owner who led the expeditionary force of less than 100 ashore six days ago, said he would return to the invaders' base on the Caribbean coast and get formal approval from his men. But he said he had already taken an opinion poll and the discouraged adventurers favored a quick settlement.

Security Clamps Port Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Chronicle said today Port Houston security measures as tight as those of the Korean War days are being enforced here by the Coast Guard. Port security officers would not discuss the matter but the Chronicle said the stricter measures are being applied only to ships which have called at ports behind the Iron Curtain within six months prior to arrival at Houston.

4 Texans Compete In Jaycee Contest

FORT WORTH (AP)—Four Texans, choosing a line from the Jaycees code, competed today in a contest to determine the state organization's best speaker. The winner was a Houston attorney, Don Yarborough, 33, who spoke on "Service to Humanity." The contest was part of the statewide Jaycee convention. Competing against Yarborough were Ed Schaded of Tyler, Dean Johnson of Abilene and Neal Spelce of Austin.

Riot Erupts At School Board Meeting

HOUSTON (AP)—Over 60 sheriff's deputies went to suburban Al-dine late last night as a near riot broke out at an emergency school board meeting called after teachers voted a second time in two weeks not to work without pay. Three minority members took refuge in a rest room after two of them received minor cuts. Several persons rushed toward the high school auditorium stage, pulled two board members from the platform and struck them with chairs. Two of the three tables the board had used were tumbled from the stage. The injured members were Robert Whitmarsh and Harry Ammons. The third minority member, Carl Tautenhahn, escaped behind the stage when the trouble started. The special meeting had been called after teachers of the school district voted 169-12 to leave their jobs until enough money is in sight to assure that all personnel will be paid through Aug. 31, the end of the fiscal year. A similar vote shut the school down two weeks ago but the Legislature passed a bill authorizing the district to issue $200,000 in warrants. A Houston bank on Wednesday declined to loan the district money, saying it did not want the warrants. The brief flareup broke out last night after the minority board members refused to resign. Richard Cass, president, polled the board after saying that in the interest of harmony it would be the sensible thing for the board to resign. Jack Buckley, E. G. Funderburk and Cass said they were willing to resign. H. E. Eldred, the fourth member of the majority, sent word from Alaska that he was willing to do so. Tautenhahn said he has no desire to resign. Ammons said he would not resign. Whitmarsh asked: "If this is a seven-man board, you tell me how three men can control it?" The meeting had been called at the request of the minority group to consider a plan to finance the payroll.

The storms were expected to form southwest of the city and move northeastward. Winds up to about 60 miles per hour and sizeable hailstones were expected.

Ike Veto Victory Jolts Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jolted by their inability to upset an Eisenhower veto, congressional Democrats took a new look today at their plans to push through some big-spending legislation. The House refused by vote of 290-146 to override Eisenhower's veto of a bill which would have taken from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson his power to refuse loans to rural telephone and electric cooperatives.

Building Nears $1.5 Million

Building in Big Spring during the first four months of the year neared the $1.5 million mark, thanks to over $300,000 in construction work started during April. The total building valuations for the first four months of 1959 showed $1,421,004. At the same time during 1958, the city had started only $711,005 in construction work. The total for April was $317,341, this work coming from 79 building permits issued by the city. In April of '58, the totals were $191,675 from a like number of permits. Total building permits issued this year is 240, compared with 238 for the first third of 1958. Out of the April figures, $252,086 was in new construction. The remainder came from additions, remodeling, and moving permits.

Use Of Drunks In Sabotage Described

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP)—A former union official told yesterday of sabotaging a Freeport job by assigning drunks to the project. R. B. Morgan, former business agent for Electrical Workers Local 716, testified at a court of inquiry called by Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who is investigating alleged antitrust violations by electrical contractors in the Houston area.

Mrs. Luce Quits Ambassador Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clare Boothe Luce quit today as ambassador to Brazil because of her public row with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore). President Eisenhower regretfully announced her decision after an hour's talk with her at the White House. In a letter to the President, Mrs. Luce said: "It is no longer possible for me to accomplish the mission which you have entrusted to me." Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference that Eisenhower sought to persuade Mrs. Luce to reconsider her decision to quit. "But her letter gives the reasons why she felt she could not reconsider her decision," Hagerty said. Mrs. Luce, solemn-faced, stood beside Hagerty as he announced her decision. She refused to make any comment on her decision other than that set out in her letter. Her letter said the "climate of good will was poisoned by thousands of words of extraordinarily ugly charges against my person, and of distrust of the mission I was to undertake." She did not mention Sen. Morse by name, but she noted that "the American author of these charges" is also chairman of a Senate subcommittee which handles Latin American affairs. Morse tried to block Senate approval of her appointment but was defeated by a 79-11 vote in her favor Tuesday. A few hours after this, Mrs. Luce caused an angry uproar by saying in New York that her troubles began when Morse was "kicked in the head by a horse" in 1951. Morse called her remark proof she was not fitted for the diplomatic post. He implied she was unstable mentally. In summing up her decision to step aside, Mrs. Luce told the President in her letter: "Common sense indicates that the good will and support which the rest of the Senate has given will not be forthcoming from the subcommittee chairman (Morse).

MOON MAY HOLD CACHE OF DIAMONDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—There may be diamonds in the moon, says a Wisconsin scientist. Dr. G. P. Kuiper of Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., said the craters on the moon shaped like big ice cream cones seem to be similar to the funnel-like craters topping the Kimberlite "diamond pipes" in South Africa. The African pipes extend deep into the earth, and it is from them that diamonds are mined. Kuiper told about the moon craters discovery at a space symposium at the National Academy of Sciences. He spoke further about them in an interview. He said the finding—made with an 82-inch, high-powered telescope—shows that there are now two known types of craters on the moon: 1. Bowl-shaped craters believed by many scientists to have been caused by the impact of meteorites bombarding the moon in ages past. 2. The cone-shaped craters which Kuiper theorizes were created by explosions caused by gas escaping from inside the moon when it was still hot. Although he said these craters are similar to those in the Kimberlite diamond mines, he is less certain of the existence of diamonds in them.

Working Folk Of The World Note May Day

By The Associated Press Workers celebrated May Day in many lands today with parades and festivities against a backdrop of international tension. Communists and non-Communists staged separate rallies in capitals in the non-Communist world. The Soviet Union's traditional parade in Red Square saw a beaming Premier Nikita Khrushchev taking the salute shortly after being awarded the Lenin Peace Prize for 1958. Boasts of Soviet military might came from the defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, but the parade was a disappointment to Westerners looking for new weapons. "Our military forces," Malinovsky said, "are ready to give a destructive rebuff to any who try to obstruct the productive work of the Socialist Soviet Union." The theme seemed to stress defense. Missing were the big rockets of last year. Instead of an artillery show was called by Moscow radio the "most awesome" highlight of the parade. It described "antiaircraft equipment as big as factories and twin-barreled self-propelled guns capable of hitting anything on earth or in the skies."

Young Bride Is Buried In Florida

FORT WORTH (AP)—A 16-year-old bride who was shot fatally Tuesday in Tallahassee, Fla., was buried here today. A coroner's jury held Mrs. Robert Allen Hale was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. Her 18-year-old husband indicated his innocence in the shooting, according to a lie detector expert. Mrs. Hale was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Connally of Fort Worth. Hale is the son of a former Texas Christian football star in the 1930s, I.B. Hale of Fort Worth.

Pilots Are Major Force For Peace, Webb Graduates Told

Sixty-four young jet pilots graduating from basic training at Webb Air Force Base were told Thursday evening that they—as a part of the U. S. Air Force—make up the free world's major force for peace. "I hope you will not underestimate the importance of this," said a veteran Air Force and aviation man, addressing Class 59-G at Webb, in ceremonies at the base chapel. The speaker was Brig. Gen. John R. Allison of the Air Force Reserve, an officer of wide experience in World War II, former assistant secretary of commerce, and now a vice president of Northrop Aircraft in Hawthorne, Calif. Allison stressed that this country's great need—from military and civilian leadership alike—is to have an awareness of conflicting ideologies, and to understand the enemy and his every aim. "You are not just officers in the Air Force," he said to the graduates, "you are citizens of this democracy."

Morse Row Is Given As Reason

"A continuing harassment of my mission, with a view to making his own charges stick, is the natural course the chairman would follow. And the sad fact is not that I, but Brazilian-American policy would be the victim. "It therefore seems indisputable that at this time of grave economic difficulties in Brazil, the best interests of that country, as well as of the United States, will be served by your selection of another plenipotentiary. "Again, I regret with all my heart that I will not have the opportunity to be of this service to you, to our country and to inter-American relations." Mrs. Luce declined to say what her future plans are. The 56-year-old Mrs. Luce, a playwright, author and former Republican congresswoman, has been quietly considering her decision since then. Her troubles erupted into a full scale row when, just after being confirmed, she struck out publicly at Morse, who had unsuccessfully sought to block her appointment. She said her trouble started after Morse "was kicked in the head by a horse." Morse called her remark proof she was not qualified for the post. He also implied she was too unstable mentally to be trusted with an important diplomatic assignment. A number of other senators, including several who had just voted for her, joined Morse in denouncing the remark.

Housewives Defy Nearly Everybody

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP)—A small but defiant band of housewives—ignoring court orders, their husbands and union leaders—continued today to blockade access roads to a struck Phillips Petroleum Co. oil refinery, even if it means jail. The wives ignored a District Court temporary injunction, which named 12 of the women, and then refused to disband when contempt of court citations were issued against five of them.

Snodgrass Takes Miami School Post

KNOTT — Weldon Snodgrass, who has headed the Knott schools for the past year, has accepted the superintendency at Miami.

The school district in the Panhandle has a substantially larger scholastic population and a valuation structure exceeding $12 millions. Snodgrass is to assume his duties on July 1.

A native of Willsboro where he was graduated from high school, Snodgrass took his B.S. degree in math and science in 1950 at North Texas State College. He began his teaching career that year but continued graduate study, earning his master of education degree from East Texas State College in 1954 with a major in education administration and mathematics. He was chosen for a science scholarship at SMU during the summer of 1956 and currently is working toward his doctorate in education at Texas Tech.

His experience includes two years at Eldorado and one at Lockney as science instructor, and service at Sterling City as high school principal before taking over the Knott superintendency on July 1, 1958.

In November of 1955 he was married to Mary Carol Busch, who was homemaker teacher at Eldorado. She holds a B.S. degree from the University of Texas and has 4 1/2 years of teaching in her field in West Texas schools. They have one daughter, Sherri Ann, 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge in Willsboro and of chapter, council and commandery in Big Spring.

He expressed regret at leaving Knott where he said the family had had so many pleasant experiences, and where the community and the students had given such unstinted cooperation. Snodgrass also wished the new Sands consolidation district, composed of Ackery and Knott, success in its new combined effort.

This has never been done with any animal.

One unofficial source said there was about one chance in 100 of success.

The Air Force had no comment.

How long the four black mice will stay aloft was not disclosed.

The Discoverer III capsule, painted a yellowish green, will be almost a yard wide and two feet high. If all goes well, it will drift earthward after ejection over the Pacific beneath a bright orange parachute.

Hawaii-based planes will try to snatch it with nets as it descends. If they miss, the buoyant cone's radio beacon is designed to send out signals for at least 10 hours to pinpoint its location for search vessels.

The proposed increase in natural gas production tax and decrease in sulphur tax will be the main items before the Senate State Affairs Committee.

The bill never had a public hearing in the House. The Revenue and Taxation Committee took two minutes to pass it out from a subcommittee.

Originally it would have produced 290 million dollars for the state over the next two years. As passed by the House the bill would net only about 77 millions.

Both Houses are in their next to last weekend recess of the regular session. No date has been set for the inevitable special session although most reports predict Gov. Daniel will call it for May 18 or 19. The regular session is scheduled to end May 12.

The proposed increase on gas lifts the production tax from seven to eight per cent. Daniel wants a three per cent hike. The one per cent increase will collect about six million dollars.

The sulphur tax is decreased from $1.40 to $1.03 a long ton to the level of the Louisiana tax. Proponents said the step will increase sulphur production here and in the long run provide more money for the state.

Members of the Legislature were on hand last night to honor Sen. George Parkhouse, Dallas, acting governor for a day. A banquet and three receptions highlighted the festivities for the president pro tempore of the Senate.

Most committee sessions are over. However, Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo said he would hold a Game and Fish Committee meeting Tuesday morning to get action on the House-passed shrimp conservation bill.

Representatives passed yesterday on voice vote a maximum work week law for Texas firemen and policemen and sent it to Daniel.

The Texas Municipal League attacked the bill on grounds the Legislature had no business obligating cities to pay overtime wages without furnishing any money.

Also sent to Daniel was a Senate measure creating the Texas Coordinating Commission on Welfare and Health. It will study welfare and health programs in an effort to eliminate duplicity and broaden services.

Hearings on the tax bill include:

Tuesday—Increase in the motor vehicle sales tax from 1.1 per cent to 1.5 per cent; increase in the cigarette tax from five to six cents; 10 per cent tax on trading stamps.

Wednesday—motor fuel, gross receipts and inheritance taxes.

Thursday—Increase in the franchise tax for one year from $2.25 to $3 per $1,000 of gross receipts.

Friday—luxury tax on radios, television sets, toilet articles, high fidelity equipment and a doubling of the wine tax.

4 Black Mice Go Into Space Next Month

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Four black mice sail into space next month in an American attempt to prove that a living creature can leave earth and return alive.

The mice will ride in a specially designed "life package" capsule in the nose cone of Discoverer III. The satellite is expected to be launched into polar orbit from this West Coast missile base in about 30 days.

The little astronauts will be chosen from 50 black mice now under observation at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.

Scientists will measure their reactions to blastoff, weightlessness and the stresses of re-entry. The main object, though, is to get something alive into orbit and back to earth again safely.

This has never been done with any animal.

Safety Good Turn

Scouts of Troop 306 will be doing their share in the city's efforts to promote safety Saturday. They will be operating on the parking lots at Piggly Wiggly, Furr and Safeway food stores throughout the day, making reflective safety tape available for the rear bumpers of automobiles. They will ask $1 per car for installation of the tape. Left to right in the warm-up taping operation above are Randy Cahoon, Tommy Bacus and Bill Clements.

Natural Gas Production Tax Committee Hearing Scheduled

The proposed increase in natural gas production tax and decrease in sulphur tax will be the main items before the Senate State Affairs Committee.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—A dancing spidery church bells and laughter, and even sunlight in the dark of night.

These are some of the weird dreams men have had as they lay wide awake confined in a coffin-like tank in a darkened room, a researcher said today.

Why does the mind, deprived of much of its sensations, make up fantastic sights, sounds and stories so vivid they seem real?

Perhaps because the mind is looking for some sort of meaning in the jumble around it, said John Marcel Davis, a Yale University medical student.

This would explain why persons, shut completely off from sight and sound, have fewer hallucinations than persons who have some meaningless sights and sounds in the room with them. Davis told the American Psychiatric Assn. annual meeting.

Davis and some Harvard University psychiatrists are trying several experiments.

They shut a person away in a darkened room, confined in the tank of an iron lung as a sort of prison. Five persons stayed in the tank the full 10 1/2 hours while a light flashed irregularly above them and strange colored shapes were projected on the wall. There was also the sound of a motor.

One screamed to be let out after 38 minutes, tore off his bonds and ripped the equipment apart, clawing wildly. He looked terrified but denied any anxiety or discomfort.

Six subjects had hallucinations. One saw himself living parts of his life over again, skin diving and even taking his girl on a picnic.

One saw himself pitching a brilliant game of baseball while his girl watched and cheered. After this hallucination his pitching arm felt stiff.

Sometimes the volunteers realized they were seeing something unreal, and sometimes they did not.

The researchers tried the experiment without the flashing light, but with two volunteers at a time, both male, strangers to each other.

They were told they could talk if they liked, although they could not see each other. Nine of the ten pairs were able to remain the full 10 1/2 hours. Six subjects had hallucinations.

One saw a spider that didn't exist dancing on a tube. Another saw vibrating lines on the wall. Still another heard church bells and laughter.

NEW DEAL

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our family often gets together and plays a friendly game of poker. We play for a few cents just to make it interesting but nobody wins or loses enough to make any difference. My husband noticed that our daughter-in-law cheats. When she gets the cards, she deals off the bottom to herself and wins the pot. I watched her and saw it myself. We are heartsick because we never thought she was that kind of a girl. Should we mention it to our son, or let it go? It's hard for me to look her in the face.

DISAPPOINTED DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Don't mention it to her husband, but DO mention it to the girl. Tell her what you've observed. Re-shuffle the deck and give her a chance at a new deal.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly didn't agree with your remarks regarding children answering the telephone. I have six children whose ages range from 10 months to nine years and there are times when the telephone rings and I have my hands in dishwasher or am bathing the baby and can't answer it myself. So what's wrong with letting one of the children answer it for me and find out who is calling? How else will children learn how to talk on the telephone? If people who call me do not have the patience to visit a little while with my children, they needn't bother to call me again.

Student Goes To Summit

MAPLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — When Lois Kapelsohn has questions about her homework, she goes right to the summit. Lois, 14, a ninth-grade honor student at South Orange Junior High School, wondered whether Caesar and Cicero were worth all the bother. So, as a term project, she sent out 120 letters to prominent Americans asking them if that so-called dead language should drop dead.

Ninety-nine per cent of her correspondents replied — in English — that Latin was very valuable indeed. Included among those in favor were Chief Justice Earl Warren, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Cabinet members and others.

Said the vice president: "I studied Latin for four years and it was my favorite subject. It was most valuable in teaching me how to think." Warren and Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton urged Lois to keep plugging with her Latin.

To no one's great surprise, college presidents and professors replied in one voice: Keep Latin alive. Groucho Marx agreed. A New York magazine editor didn't. One of the few dissenters, he said Latin was a "luxury," especially since too many Americans are incapable of speaking proper English.

To supplement her campaign, Lois inserted a $10 ad in a newspaper asking opinions of Latin. One response came free. Lois' lawyer father Sol had studied Latin in school. He told his daughter he found it "of inestimable value."

Lois is keeping on with her Latin.

State Dept. Aide Began As Amateur

FAR HILLS, N.J. (AP) — The man slated to be the new No. 2 man in the State Department is an amateur diplomat who made good. C. Douglas Dillon, 49-year-old investment banker nominated Thursday by President Eisenhower, never held a full-time government post until he was named ambassador to France in 1953. He did so well in the Paris job that he was brought to Washington in 1957 as deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs. The French liked Dillon. For one thing, he speaks their language. He was born in Switzerland while his family was on a European sojourn in 1909 and he often returned to France for visits.

His father Clarence Dillon bought the Chateau Haut-Brion with its famed vineyards near Bordeaux in 1893 and the property has remained in the family since. The younger Dillon thus acquired an appreciation for wine, and the French liked that too.

Girls Bloody Clothing Found

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police picked up blood-spattered clothing in the home of a 3-year-old girl whose bruised and lifeless body was found two miles away Thursday.

The battered body of Sharon Crossman was found beneath the porch of a house after a two-day search. The exact cause of death was not immediately known. The blood stains on the clothing were being analyzed to determine the type.

The parents of the dead girl, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crossman, told police they had used pieces of cloth to stop the nose bleeds of their children. The parents were not held.

A medical examiner said there was no evidence that the child had been sexually abused. But there was evidence, he said, that she had been beaten severely.

The body, clothed in blue dungarees and a white blouse, was found face down in the dirt under the porch. She was shoeless and one foot bore a deep bruise. Other marks of violence were evident on her head, neck, legs and body.

Sharon recently had undergone a pancreas operation and was reported still in a weakened condition.

Her mother Eleanor, 27, had told police the child disappeared from her crib sometime early Tuesday. She said she had put Sharon in her second-floor bedroom for a nap and then had gone to rest. Several hours later, she told police, she awoke and discovered the child was gone.

Payment was halted on salaries of 28,000 employees and bills for fuel, food, telephones and travel in what Gov. G. Mennen Williams said was an "artificial bankruptcy" brought on by stalling in the Republican-controlled Legislature.

The curbs were ordered Wednesday by the State Administrative Board in the face of a $116,900,000 deficit expected by May 15.

They followed a refusal by GOP lawmakers to cash veterans trust fund securities which would tide the state over another three months. Republicans insisted on attaching a rider which would have raised the state sales tax to four per cent from three. The state's financial difficulties have been blamed by Republicans on what they say are excessive spending policies of the Williams administration. The governor, however, has contended that GOP-controlled Legislatures failed to recognize the need for higher budgetary appropriations over the past 10 years.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said Thursday that Judge Ed Carpenter has tentatively set a week of jury criminal cases to open in County Court on May 18. Burns said that he was working on the docket and would announce the cases to be set for trial soon.

Judge Charlie Sullivan has set a week of criminal jury trials for 118th District Court opening on May 25. These trials will terminate jury activities for the current term, under present plans. Next court term opens on the fourth Monday in June.

Michigan Finds Out What Happens When Till Is Dry

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — What happens when a state runs out of money to pay its employees and pay its bills?

Will guards desert state prisons, and attendants quit their jobs at mental institutions?

Will suppliers cut off food and fuel deliveries to state tuberculosis sanatoriums?

Will hospitals refuse to accept state-supported crippled children and turn others out?

How long will telephone and power companies carry the state on the cuff?

These and other questions burst upon state officials and employees alike today as implications of Michigan's financial picture began to unfold.

Police Put On The Pressure

Within the past week some significant strides have been made by police in their campaign to reduce the wave of hubcap and automotive accessory theft. Seven youths have been picked up and face disciplinary action.

In the process, police have recovered upwards of a dozen hubcaps, four fender skirts, several mirrors, etc. This may not sound like so much, but the value is around $250. Actually, the loss by motorists in recent weeks will exceed this by several times, evidencing the economic extent of the deprivations.

The police are due a word of praise for the manner in which they have attacked this problem. It is possible that they are not yet through in their contacts with those who have been responsible for this thievery, nor through with their interruption of dealers who have on store accessories purchased at such a ridiculously low price that they are obviously lost.

It may be, but, as we pointed out, that parents are questioning their children more closely about late hours and about unexplained income.

If all segments of the community can face the problem as effectively as the police have thus far, this problem can be whipped and held to a bare minimum. It's possible that even some of the "insurance" thefts of accessories can be halted, too.

All People Important In Politics

The national chairman of both major political parties urged businessmen to take a personal interest in politics and to insist that their subsidiaries and rank-and-file employees do the same.

Sen. Thurston E. Morton, the GOP chairman, told U. S. Chamber of Commerce delegates: "You owe it to yourselves and the nation to at least get your feet wet."

Democratic Chairman Paul Butler urged delegates to make it clear to their employees that all members of the firm "from the president on down to the newest apprentice should become involved in politics and assure them there won't be any reprisals for activity in the party of their choice."

Both leaders pointed out businessmen can play a part in campaigns by contributing and helping to solicit funds to carry on the work.

It is good advice. If ordinary business and professional people, ordinary employers and employees and just plain citizens took a more active part in politics, the so-called professionals would have to start putting their best feet forward, to develop a sense of responsibility to the people, to be closer to the line of truth and rectitude.

Even British prime ministers, at least the current one, are learning to get closer to the people. An AP writer says a change is coming over the practice and operation of politics over there, where an election probably will be held before many months.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, like Winston Churchill, a half-American, is learning the art of mixing and mingling with the crowd. Other day, it is reported, "Mac" was strolling down a busy street in a northern industrial town when a voice roared "Boo!" out of the crowd. "Old Mac" paused, the story goes, looked at the woman who had hollered, fiddled with his tie, and roared right back at her: "Boo!" Then he strolled on without the flicker of an eyelid.

Such an incident would have been considered impossible in a quiet, dignified British official, much less a prime minister, a few years ago. Still further exemplifying the changed spirit that has come over British politics, "the prime" and his wife a little later dropped into a custom mill canteen, chose a menu of clear soup, fried fish and chips, peas and apple sponge pudding, and ate with the workers.

The "upper crust" is discovering what middle politicians knew all along: People are important, even in politics.

Banks Don't Want To Be Policemen

The caricaturist's stereotype of a banker is a tall, impressive, gimlet-eyed monster in a made-to-order suit, who never raises his eyebrows let alone his voice. Yet, the Federal Reserve Board has managed, in a single mimeographed document, to strip that impressiveness, and bring forth all-too-human resolutions, interjections, and worse.

The Reserve Board is upset by the high-valued stock market. Acting on the Newtonian principle that what goes up usually comes down, the Reserve Board wants to be sure that bankers aren't overfeeding the rise with improper credit. It has proposed an amendment to Regulation U.

Brokers and bankers have a quiet joke among themselves. The bankers say to the brokers, "We like tea," but the brokers say to the bankers, "We like you." The Federal Reserve Board's Regulation U limits loans brokers may make to their customers for carrying securities. "U" is the regulation which governs loans made by banks on listed stocks. The bank regulation is more lenient than Regulation T. Brokers may lend only 10 per cent. Bankers may lend as much as they please if a customer signs a statement saying that the loan is "not for the purpose of purchasing or carrying stock registered on a national securities exchange."

When a customer goes into a bank and plunks down, say, $10,000 worth of General Motors stock, and says, "Can you let me have $7,500 on this," the banker has him sign the non-purpose disclaimer. Then the bank is in the clear. If the customer then uses the dough to purchase stocks, well, that's no gold leaf off the bank's escutcheon.

The Reserve Board wants banks to take on more responsibility. It proposes an amendment to U which would require a bank officer to certify that he had made the loan in good faith and had good reason to believe that the borrower was not going to use the money in the stock market.

Howard C. Petersen, president of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co., of Philadelphia, says his bank has made no written protest, but "wouldn't welcome the change."

"The Reserve Board wants to make detectives out of us," says William B. Walker, executive vice president of the First Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co., Philadelphia, "we're opposed."

The New York Clearing House banks have held a special meeting and individual bankers will journey to Washington Wednesday (April 29) to tell Reserve Board officials why they regard the proposal as unnecessary, unwise, and burdensome.

Bankers hesitate to ask men of affairs, who borrow on collateral, "What do you want this money for? Are you sure you're not going to put it in the market?" They don't want Mr. Prestige to bellow: "None of your business. The loan's secured, isn't it?"

Bankers have never hesitated to be inquisitive about why borrowers (large or small) borrow for business purposes—when they don't put up collateral. But on "secured loans," the bank can always sell the security to collect. The why of the loan is less important than the what's-back-of-it.

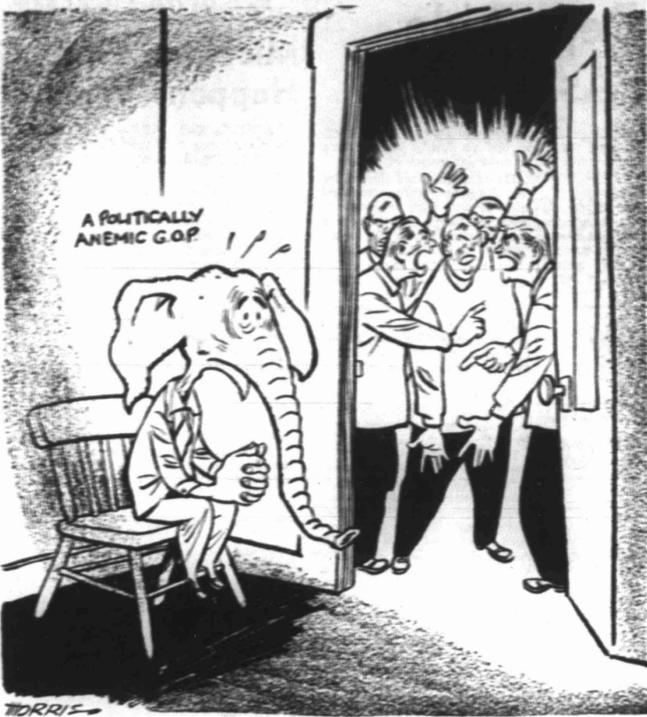

The Federal Reserve Board fears that some borrowers take the "non-purpose" signature lightly. A borrower takes money out of his business account to buy stocks. Then he brings the stocks to the bank and says he needs working capital. Is that the whole truth?

A borrower uses income-tax money to buy stocks, then borrows to pay taxes, and signs the disclaimer. Is this honest? Reserve Board officials feel that if bankers are required to look behind the loan, there'd be less subterfuge. Bankers argue back that there isn't much evasion.

Leakage, if any, is small.

Petersen suggests that the problem might be solved by asking borrowers to sign a positive statement telling specifically what the money is to be used for. Customer's consciences will be put to a positive rather than negative test.

Anyway, if you haven't already got the idea, impressive bankers are not impressive over this proposal.

First The Doctors Have To Agree

Harmony Isn't Surprising

WASHINGTON (AP)—There has been an unsurprising burst of harmony on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Western diplomats in Paris Thursday, preparing to meet the Soviets May 11 in Geneva, proclaimed full agreement among themselves on what they will talk about.

Earlier this week the Soviets and their European satellites met in Warsaw and proclaimed full agreement on their side.

The trouble with both displays of harmony:

1. The thoroughly cowed Soviet satellites could hardly do anything else but agree with whatever the Soviets want to say or demand at Geneva. So this harmony was window-dressing.

2. The Western diplomats — the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany — could hardly afford not to show at least an outward sign of unity before the meeting with Gromyko.

Since the Westerners have been split for months on how to handle the Soviets, this sudden manifestation of sweet reasonableness and agreement may have a large element of window-dressing in it too.

The whole thing started last Nov. 27 when Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave the Allies six months — that would make the deadline May 27 — to get their troops out of Berlin.

He also wanted peace treaties signed with East and West Germany. But West Germany is linked with the Allies; the Allies would like to see all Germany linked with them; and therefore they have called for a united Germany.

Since in any free elections the West Germans doubly outnumber the East Germans, the result would be a united Germany that was pro-West. Khrushchev has said he would never let Communist East Germany get away.

All this adds up to a handsome set of difficulties in any negotiations between the West and the Soviet Union.

Western diplomats at Paris announced they had agreed on a package plan including these points:

Allied determination to stay put in Berlin until reunification between East and West Germany is achieved and a plan for control, inspection and limitation of armaments in central Europe is worked out.

What isn't known is what the Allies will settle for — if anything — if the Soviets reject the package plan and insist that the Allies get out of Berlin.

So far the Allies have been on the defensive, put there by Khrushchev's November demands. And so far they haven't been able to think up anything to put him on the defensive. Up to now, therefore, the advantage has been all his.

Since the Geneva meeting later this month is supposed to be a preliminary and stage-setter for a summit meeting later, quite possibly both sides, while agreeing on nothing, will be on their good behavior.

A summit meeting would seem impossible if the foreign ministers at Geneva began the usual East-West program of mutual recriminations and denunciations.

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Middle-aged women are becoming the backbone of the jury system in Peoria.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Addy, chief clerk of the Peoria County Jury Commission, says women whose children are grown make the most "stable" selections.

Men seldom can afford to make the financial sacrifice of $7.50 a day. Younger women with children cannot give the time, she says.

Getting A Head Start

Protecting His Title

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Albert Anderson, a dentist who has voted one of the city's 10 best-dressed men, arrived at his office without his collar clip. He took care of the matter in short order, making a substitute from denture plastic.

Risky Business

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—An icy skid caused Edward Pounds, 22, to leave his own lane of traffic and force another auto off the road.

Pounds discovered the driver of the ditched auto was none other than Lake County Sheriff's Deputy Larry Kuyk.

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. O. C. Duchaine surprised a thief as he attempted to slip from her Nogales home with a purse.

She grabbed the purse from the man, gave him a dollar and told him to get out. He left.

No Speeches Needed In Washington

On the plane en route to Washington, D. C. the other day, it occurred to me that I was indeed carrying a scuttle of coal to Newcastle.

It is one woman's opinion that to import a speaker to the nation's capital — and that was the role in which I went to Washington — is synonymous with pumping more hot air into what is certainly the country's biggest wind tunnel.

If I were planning a celebration of any kind in Washington, the luncheon or dinner in connection with it would include a speaker in a community where ears are permanently bent. Instead, as the only entertainment of the day, I would hire one of those juke boxes in which a dime will buy five minutes of golden silence.

As chairman of the entertainment committee, I would come equipped with $10 worth of dimes, and that would be it. Guests in the talk-in town in the U.S.A. would dine in quiet and depart in peace. It would be a sensational innovation, I modestly believe, I hereby make the idea public property, and turn it over to any entertainment committee in or out of Washington, for future use and profit.

In a way my idea is rather an extension of a brilliant plan worked out by a group of women in Honolulu who raise money for their pet charity by selling a quiet evening at home. Instead of dragging the charity's patrons out to a theatre opening or a ball, patrons are entitled to stay home with a good book and their shoes off, and not even answer the phone.

My plan would enable more gregarious people to dine together: (1) in an atmosphere that would permit conversation and (2) without the threat hanging over them of an eventual speech by Sen. Marcus Aurelius Corson or even I, Robb. That is known as a boon to man.

In the long run, the juke box will be a money-saver for luncheon and dinner committees. There will be no bottles of Scotch and/or bourbon for Sen. Corson, and whoever heard of a juke box wearing a corsage?

My sortie into Washington was made at the request of Theta Sigma Phi, an honorary sorority of journalism to which I have belonged since I was a senior at the University of Missouri. It is celebrating this year the fiftieth anniversary of its founding.

When Theta Sigma Phi was formed in 1909, women weren't welcome in the city room. Newspapering was a thoroughly masculine occupation in those days, which is probably the reason that so many smart women wanted in.

Newspapering is still a predominantly masculine sphere, which is doubtless the reason that many of my sex, especially me, cling to it like a burr. I'm certain we are a little more welcome than were the pioneers of 1909. But, although I am simply crazy about men, it is still my conviction that the woman who succeeds in the city room has to be twice as good as her masculine confrere at the next desk.

For the purpose of this column is not to blow up another battle in the war of the sexes. So I shall wind up by saying that the tourist who misses the cherry blossoms in Washington needn't mourn if he hits the dogwood season. Right now, between her masses of dogwood and azaleas, the nation's capital is glorious, with or without juke box.

Herter's Responsibility At Geneva

PARIS — Forty years ago two young Americans busied themselves as attaches of the American peace mission here, little realizing that in the distant future, at a critical time in world history, their destinies would be interwoven. In 1919, John Foster Dulles, who has just retired as Secretary of State of the United States, and Christian A. Herter, the new secretary of state, were learning for the first time at a big international conference about the powerful currents of foreign policy that challenged even then the diplomacy of the United States as it emerged, at the close of World War I, a major power deeply entrenched in European politics.

Just as President Wilson enunciated then in his great speeches the idealism of the American people, so today Secretary of State Herter, in behalf of President Eisenhower, brings to the western foreign ministers conference the record of disinterestedness of his country, unswayed by any territorial ambition or quest for material rewards.

America is concerned solely with the defense of the free world. As indeed it was in two world wars and in the Korean war. Today, as another dictatorship rears its head and seeks by duress to compel the Western allies to yield to its demands, the United States is insisting that the rights of the people of West Germany must be safeguarded. The phrase "self-determination" means in 1959 what it means in 1919—that each people must be allowed to work out their own destiny without the intervention of any outside power.

Christian Herter is at home in Paris. He was born here of American parents 64 years ago and attended French schools until he was nine years old. He has a good knowledge of both French and German, which comes in handy in diplomacy not only for speaking, but for reading. He has had a wide experience in American government and politics as well as in diplomacy. He served in the Herbert Hoover relief mission which helped to rescue the hungry people of Europe, and he got an intimate knowledge of economic affairs by serving for five years as personal assistant to Mr. Hoover when he was secretary of commerce. Then came Chris Herter's career in the Massachusetts legislature and 10 years in Congress, after which he served two years as governor of Massachusetts.

All this has been splendid training for his present post. Secretary Herter, of course, has the blessing of Congress, but it is important for him to gain prestige abroad. Diplomats in Europe think he will be more like the parliamentary leaders of Britain and France than the men of legal training who have preceded him in the portfolio of secretary of state. Among the outstanding lawyers in the latter category have been Charles Evans Hughes, Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles.

The political leader, to be sure, mingles more freely and perhaps expresses himself with more pleasing generalities than does the lawyer. Actually, the lawyers, like Mr. Dulles, have been far more resourceful than the political type of secretary of state we have had. But mostly this is because they have been more intimately familiar with the precedents of each problem—for the principles of international law are deeply imbedded in world affairs.

The meeting here this week, which is to prepare for the Geneva conference, is in a sense a rehearsal for the sessions with the Russians that begin on May 11. Secretary Herter will be taxed to the utmost to keep the foreign ministers conference at Geneva from being stalled by Soviet tactics.

The assumption that a "negotiation" is to take place at Geneva or in a "summit" meeting is rather widely held. But, unfortunately, the world is in for a disillusionment. The Moscow game is to use the Geneva conference for propaganda to force a "summit" meeting in July and thereby make more propaganda. The Western allies have all sorts of counter-proposals to offer and will try to weld their own positions together for the Geneva meeting. But they will face there a stone wall. The American position is that enough progress must be made at Geneva to "justify" a "summit" meeting. The Soviets, it is believed, will not make any concessions, except perhaps in form, as they are not accustomed to yielding anything of substance in the international conferences in which they participate.

The purpose of the meetings starting here today is to arrange for the pre-Soviet government next month. Secretary Herter has specific instructions from President Eisenhower to that effect. It is his first big conference in Europe as an active participant, but he brings to it an intimate knowledge of the British viewpoint gained from his attendance at the Eisenhower-Macmillan sessions a few weeks ago in Washington. The area of discussion at Geneva will be wide enough for the Soviets to propose new ways out of the Berlin dilemma, but on the basic principle—that West Berlin must remain free—there will be no retreat by the West.

Something To Chew On

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Cannon has a bone to pick with the Wyoming Workmen's Compensation Board.

She has filed a claim for recovery of doctor and hospital expenses, totaling $233.

She claims she had a chicken bone lodged in her throat while carrying out her duties as supervising the dining room at the state children's home.

Lending A Hand

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Quite by accident, 22-year-old Larry Roberts literally lent a hand to a woman motorist whose car couldn't get traction in the snow. As he tried to place a piece of canvas under a wheel, the woman gunned the motor, ran over his hand and drove away. Roberts went to a hospital for treatment.

Cards Aid Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—A simulated aerial missile war is being staged by the aircraft industry with a stack of punched cards, says Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Assn.

The magazine says the object of the program is to provide much of the flight data necessary for engineering study.

The punched cards, representing all the operations in the air defense missile's ground guidance equipment as well as the performance characteristics of the missile and target aircraft, are fed into electronic data processing machines, and duplicates the flight of a missile to within 200 feet of an actual flight path.

Good Actor

JONESVILLE, Mich. (AP)—State troopers rushed to the scene after a freight train conductor tossed a note to a motorist at a crossing, saying there was a dead body on a strawstack along the track a mile back. On the strawstack, still motionless was 13-year-old Frank Manke, playing a "dead Redskin" in a game of cowboys and Indians with another boy.

Honored guest at the installation dinner, given Thursday evening by the Forsan Study Club, was Mrs. B. F. Seay of Andrews, president of Eighth District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Honored Guest, Officers

Honored guest at the installation dinner given Thursday evening by the Forsan Study Club was Mrs. B. F. Seay of Andrews, third from left. President of District Eight, she served as installing officer for the incoming slate of leaders. At left is Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, incoming president; Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, who served as mistress of ceremonies, will be vice president. At right is Mrs. Walter Gressett, past president of the club.

Members and their guests gathered at the Desert Sands Restaurant for dinner and the installation service, for which Mrs. Seay presided.

Using a flower theme, which was in keeping with the garden setting for the gathering, Mrs. Seay displayed a grouping of flowers, naming the characteristic symbolized by the various colors of the blossoms.

A golden flower is symbolic of the faith that a person must have in his work, the speaker stated; red denotes courage, and white, hope. Patience she represented with a lavender blossom, and service with a yellow rose. Pansies went into the bouquet for thoughtfulness, and rosemary stood for kindness, while ivy was the symbol of growth.

Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, incoming president, was presented with a president's pin by Mrs. J. C. Ferguson, who served as mistress of ceremonies.

Other officers who were installed were Mrs. Ferguson, vice president; Mrs. Ronnie Gandy, recording secretary; Mrs. C. V. Wash, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Dub Day, treasurer.

Mrs. H. H. Story was placed in the office of historian; Mrs. Leo Parker will be reporter; Mrs. Roy Lamb, parliamentarian, and Mrs. W. E. Stockton, federation councilor.

Mrs. Seay, in telling of the accomplishments of the clubs in District Eight, spoke of the $10,000 reported from 36 of the 70 units for welfare work. Some of

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson offered a dedication prayer for an oil painting which the club is presenting to the BSHS library. The work was done by Sharon Creighton.

Thomas Williams acted as master of ceremonies; the program included a Bible contest between the four classes. Appreciation for the teacher, Mrs. J. O. Johansen, was expressed by Glenda Mahoney, and Barry Clayton did a chalk talk.

Talisman roses around a Bible and a cross formed the centerpiece at the head table. Rosebuds stood at intervals along the other tables.

Life Is All Adventure To Your Two-Year-Old

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

A few years ago a researcher wanted to compare the activity of a child with that of a young adult. He set up an experiment. He persuaded a husky 20-year-old college football player to follow a little 2-year-old around all day and do everything the child did.

The experiment started at six o'clock in the morning. The child woke up and bounced out of bed, the man was awakened, and bounced too — he too was full of vim and vigor. The child ran over and rocked in his rocking chair — the man followed suit. A few moments later the child was distracted by the sight of his teddy bear under his bed, he crawled after it, the man crawled too.

Mother came in and dressed the child, the man was allowed to dress himself. They had breakfast and went outdoors. The child rode a tricycle, he lugged some lumber and piled it up, he crawled through a big pipe, he picked up a shovel and dug a few dugs. From 7 to 10 a.m. the child didn't stop for more than a minute at a time. From one activity to another, he stayed at no one thing more than a few minutes. At 10 it was juice time. Mother called and the child bounced into the kitchen, the man dragged himself in. He was white with fatigue. He couldn't go another step!

Small Dynamo

Any mother of a 2-year-old might have told that researcher that no adult can do what a 2-year-old can do. Anyway he proved it. His attention span is short, he is easily distracted, the sight of an object suggests its use and in a flash he is off to do it. A walk has to be walked on, a pipe crawled through, a ladder climbed, a tricycle ridden, a closed door to be opened, an open one closed. Sometimes a 2-year-old wants to do two things at once and he becomes very angry when he can't crawl through the pipe and carry a shovel at the same time. Such frustrations may end in a tantrum — the kind the adult can see no rhyme or reason for.

Independent Spirit

He wants to do things for himself and without help. "Me-do-it" is a frequent refrain. He resents interference even when he cannot tie his shoes or button his jacket. Occasionally in the midst of a demand to be let alone with a difficult task he will suddenly throw it down and want to be cuddled.

Two is when a child learns "no" and does he use it! It becomes the most used word in the language.

Like the rest of his two-ness "No" is part of the age. Parents must take the "No" in their stride and live through the stage. The less of an issue is made of his apparent refusal the better. A 2-year-old often says "No" but goes right ahead and does what is expected of him.

never uses the plane for pleasure. In all of his flying time he says he has had only one dead-stick landing.

Roloff came here 15 years ago as pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist Church. Soon the church burned. Another building was built on a new location and the church was renamed Second Baptist Church.

As its pastor he led the congregation in founding the West Heights Baptist Church, organized the Baptist Pastors' Conference, served as its first president, and started its first visitation program in Corpus Christi.

In 1951 Roloff became intrigued with the belief that mission work to rehabilitate men and women should be a part of the work of the gospel. He resigned his pastorate and became a fulltime evangelist.

He founded the Good Samaritan Rescue Mission here, where transient men without homes and jobs are cared for until they "find themselves." A similar mission is in operation at Big Spring.

He organized the City of Refuge, 240 miles north of Corpus Christi, after a couple, who became interested in his work, donated some land. Here both men and women, some of them elderly couples, are cared for.

Roloff returned to Corpus Christi in 1954 and organized the Alameda Baptist Church. The church now has an education building on a 10-acre tract. It is building a new auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,600—one of the largest in Corpus Christi.

Roloff operates his church as he operates his missions — on faith. There is no annual budget, no pledges, no subscriptions and no every-member-canvass. He says he literally believes the Bible is the rule for faith and practice and uses no other book.

His 59 hours of sermons on radio each week are carried on 22 stations in 7 states and Puerto Rico. To keep up with this schedule he rises between 3 and 5 a.m. daily. He starts preaching at 7 a.m. with as many as five tape recordings going at one time.

Probably the project nearest to the heart of the flying evangelist is the houseboat, "The Light-house," which he built last year. It is for boys, some of them on the borderline of becoming criminals.

The lighthouse was anchored off Padre Island, about 35 miles south of here last summer and accommodated 25 boys.

Roloff says the boat was so successful that he plans to build a bunk house on the island this summer so that he can accommodate more boys.

David, King of Israel

HE CAPTURED JERUSALEM AND ESTABLISHED IT AS THE NATION'S CAPITAL

Scripture—II Samuel 5-6; 8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IN OUR last lesson we learned that the boy David was chosen by the Lord to be king over Israel. Years later he was chosen by all the tribes, who came to him and said: "We are thy bone and flesh. Also in time past, when Saul was king over us, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel; and the Lord said to thee, Thou shalt feed My people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel."—II Samuel 5:1-2.

"David was 30 years old when he began to reign . . . in Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years . . . and in Jerusalem he reigned 33 and three years over all Israel and Judah."—II Samuel 5:4-5.

Now we shall see how David ruled his people during those years. He did not always obey the laws of God. After Hiram, King of Tyre, sent messengers to him "and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons; and they built David an house" (II Samuel 5:11), he took many wives and had many children whose names are listed in II Samuel 5:14-16. Of them all, only Solomon, later king, is known to us. Today we still refer to his wisdom, saying (of some man) that he is "as wise as Solomon."

Now we must tell briefly of the wars which the Israelites fought when David was king.

"The last time we observed the Philistines, that powerful warlike people of the coast was in the overwhelming defeat of the Israelite host under the command of Saul. Apparently ruling this part of the land without opposition, and hearing that David had been anointed king of Israel, they were determined to stamp out this rival power, little realizing how foolish such a plan would prove to be." I quote from Dr. Wilbur M. Smith in Feet of the Select Notes, edited by him.

So the Philistines came "and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim."—II Samuel 5:18. David took his problem to the Lord, asking Him, "Shall I go up to the Philistines? will thou deliver them into mine hand?"

The Lord gave him permission and a great victory was won. The Philistines fled, leaving "their images, and David and his men burned them."—II Samuel 5:19-21.

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the classes be reminded "that not all war is evil or useless; for example, our own nation was born out of the American revolution." However, today, with all the terrible, destructive weapons that have been invented, we must hope and pray that no wars will be fought, although there seems to be sporadic warfare going on in various parts of the world.

We have not space for David's further wars with his enemies, but we know God was with him always. Then David took 30,000 men and brought the Ark of the Lord to Jerusalem, out of the house of Abinadab, put it on a new cart and dragged it there.

"And David and all the house of Israel played before the Lord on all manner of instruments" to celebrate its coming.—II Samuel 6:5.

SPECIAL DAY

Of course Sunday is always a special day, but we're observing Frank Pollard & Dick O'Brien Day on Sunday.

We want to welcome our new associate pastor in his first day with us—and our pastor home after a two week's absence.

Rev. Frank Pollard

The Rev. Pollard will speak at 8:45 a.m. on "How to Please God" and at 11 a.m. on "How to Live the Hard Way." Dr. O'Brien will deliver the 7:45 p.m. message.

First Baptist Church

New Minister To Graduate From Seminary Next Month

Frank Pollard, who has been called as associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, is due to begin his ministry here Sunday. Originally he had planned to come on the field a week earlier but became ill and had to enter a hospital.

Sunday has been designated as Frank Pollard and Dick O'Brien Day, honoring the new associate, and welcoming home Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, after two weeks of preaching in a meeting at Phillips.

The Rev. Franklin D. Pollard is the son of Mrs. D. S. Pollard, Wichita Falls, and the late Mr. Pollard. He is a graduate of Graham High School and of Texas A&M.

During his junior year at A&M he felt and yielded to the call to preach, and during his senior year he was president of the Baptist Student Union in the college.

He entered the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in 1955 and for two years served as pastor of the Flint Creek Mission and then two years as pastor of the Loving Baptist Church near Fort Worth.

The Rev. Pollard is due to graduate from the seminary on July 17. In addition to working with

REV. FRANK POLLARD

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, he will specialize in youth program. The Rev. Pollard is married. At the 8:45 a.m. worship, the Rev. Pollard will speak on "How to Please God" and at 11 a.m. on "How to Live the Hard Way." Dr. O'Brien will preach at 7:45 p.m.

THE SECRET PLACE

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."—Psalms 91:1.

By CLYDE NICHOLS

The Gospel According To You

As a boy, I once heard V. O. Toddie tell of how, having just finished college as a young man, he served for a few years as a county agent in West Texas.

Trench silos were just coming into use. Knowing what tremendous value they could be to the farmers and ranchers, he held meetings in school houses all over his county to explain about trench silos and to urge their construction.

Having done his best he went home to await results. But he was doomed to disappointment. An entire year passed and not one trench silo was built. All of his talking and encouragement had been in vain.

He was ready to give up and quit, when an idea struck him. He went out in the back of his home and set to work building a trench silo. Neighbors began to come by to see what he was doing. By the time the silo was completed, people were coming from far and near to see it and ask how they could build one of their own.

Mr. Toddie says when he left a few years later, there were hundreds of trench silos all over the county. They were not built because of what he said. All of his talk accomplished little. He got results when he went to work, built a trench silo of his own, and demonstrated what it would do.

As Christians we see the world's need for Christ. We talk Christ and talking is good, but I wonder if the world isn't waiting for something more. What a difference it might make if you and I went to work and demonstrated the difference Christ can make in a life and in a home.

This is what Paul had in mind when he said "according to my Gospel." He knew, as I think we must know, that the lives we live say far, far more than our words can ever say.

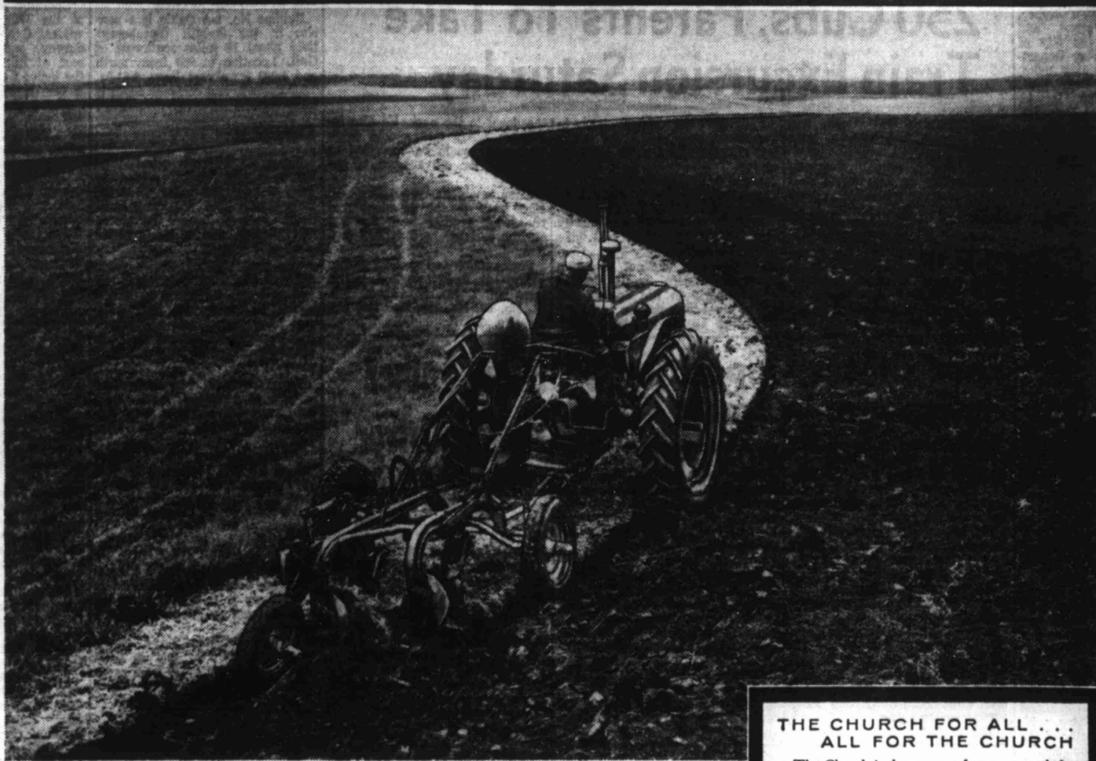

You are writing a gospel. A chapter each day; By the deeds that you do, By the things that you say.

Men read what you write Be it faithless or true; Say, what is the gospel According to you?

This land was my father's. Now it is mine. Often, as I work upon it, the words of Genesis come to me: "In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth." And I think, too, of those other words from the same Book: "The Lord God took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden to till it and to keep it."

God entrusted the precious soil to us, and it is our duty to use it well. But he gave us stewardship of something even more precious—our souls. Just as we must care for the land, so must we enrich ourselves, spiritually. And the place in which to cultivate our souls is the Church.

Let us take a lesson from the land, which when well used is, wonderfully productive, yet when neglected brings only aridity and erosion. Let us care for our spiritual as well as our physical fields. Let's go to church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An evenly matched field of 18, packed with horses who take off like a missile, gives promise that Saturday's Kentucky Derby will be one of the swiftest in recent years.

Whirlaways' 2:01 2-5 record clocking of 1941 doesn't appear in danger. But there is so much early speed in the race that the time for the 1 1/4-mile trip around Churchill Downs may be the fastest since Swaps stopped the clock at 2:01 4-5 four years ago.

Fair odds are expected to greet the Derby Day crowd, annually estimated at 100,000.

Some say this is the most ordinary field of 3-year-olds since Count Turf triumphed in 1951. In winter and early spring stakes the leading candidates beat each other with almost monotonous regularity.

Hardly without exception, favorites for the 85th running of America's most colorful turf event are horses that prefer to run in front or stay close to the pace.

Take C.T. Chenery's First Landing, the 3-1 favorite off a return to the form that won him the 2-year-old title in 1958 and the presence of five-time winner Eddie Arcaro in the saddle.

First Landing lost the Wood Memorial by three-quarters of a length. But he was either in front or at the leader's throat in a 46 1/8 half, a 1:11 six furlongs and a 1:36 mile.

Fred Turner Jr.'s Tommy Lee, second choice at 4-1, set a Keeneland standard of 1:21 2-5 for 7 furlongs in a front running race. Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer ripped off 7 furlongs in 1:2 1-5 here a week ago while setting the pace. He's the third choice at 5-1.

James Norris' Easy Spur, Florida Derby winner; C.V. Whitney's Silver Spoon, the filly who won the Santa Anita Derby; and Neil S. McCarthy's Finagun, victorious in the California derby all have early speed along with such others as Mrs. Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit and Calumet Farm's 1-On-and-On.

Five of the last seven derby winners raced on top or near the pace all the way.

If all 18 are in the starting gate at 4:30 p.m. (EST), the winner will receive a net of $20,000.

The race also may be seen on television and heard on radio from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. EST (CBS).

Longhorns In Final Home Go Saturday

Either Jay LeFevre or Chubby Moser will go to the mound tomorrow, when the Big Spring Steers play host to the Odessa Bronchos in their final home baseball game of the season. The starting hour is 2 p.m.

Odessa is now firmly in the driver's seat in the District 2-AAAA and a win by Big Spring would probably only temporarily halt their march to their first conference championship in history. However, it would enable the resident nine to pull out of the 2-AAAA cellar.

LeFevre hasn't experienced much success as a pitcher, percentage wise, this season but he's shown fine potential and could give the Bronchos a bad time. The only game he has won to date was a no-hitter at the expense of Snyder.

Moser has been on the shelf since he turned an ankle in an early season contest against Abilene. He did fling a couple of innings against Webb AFB Wednesday, however.

Odessa will probably dispatch James Ingram, unbeatn in five conference decisions, against the Steers. Last time out against Big Spring, Ingram gave up only three hits and yielded an unearned run.

CROWN AT STAKE

Patterson, London Tangle Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Floyd Patterson risks his world heavyweight championship and a half-million-dollar purse tonight in a 15-round fight against belittled Brian London of England.

This regally garbed "tune-up" session could turn into a monumental disaster for the 34-year-old American if the burly Briton should get lucky and knock out or outpoint the ring-rusty defender.

NBC will broadcast and telecast the fight nationally at 8 p.m. Big Spring time.

Patterson, making his fourth title defense, is a prohibitive 10-1 choice to win.

But upsets have happened before in heavyweight title fights—ask Maxie Baer and Ezzard Charles — and the husky ex-British champ is at least physically equipped to spring one. He will collect $60,000 for the attempt.

Brian, 24, is a six-foot 200-pounder with strong legs and fast hands. He apparently punches faster with his right than Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris, a couple of challengers who decked Patterson in title fights before being put out of commission.

The 183-pound titleholder, however, is much faster and, as a result, wrecked the aggressive, wide-open London with dazzling combinations to that inviting jaw.

The Briton is not boastful and does not flatly predict a victory. He did say: "If Rademacher and Harris can drop Patterson, I can knock him out. I'm a good finisher. But I'll have to catch him first. He's the champion, you know, and awfully good."

Abilene and Big Spring have already been eliminated from the conference race and San Angelo could get the sad news tomorrow. Only Midland has a fair chance to overtake the Red Hoses.

Ronnie Goodwin is the batting leader of the Odessa attack. He's helped along by such stalwarts as Buddy New, Jerry Ormand and Audie Cox, among others.

The Longhorns end conference play next Tuesday, meeting Midland in Midland.

They are also scheduled for a double header with Snyder in Snyder before they terminate play, however.

Local Boy Wins Letter

Jackie Tucker, (back extreme right) son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Reeves Jr., 1604 East 16th Street, Big Spring, was honored recently as being one of the eight lettermen on the Wayland Baptist College basketball freshman team. Tucker was given his letter at the 1959 Wayland basketball banquet that drew some 200 fans this year. Shown with him are (front from left): Clarence Scott, Sr., Okla.; Blair Ressler, Pueblo, Colo.; Jesse Holland, Gruver, Tex.; and Kermit Shults, Brownfield, Tex. (Back from left): Don Kinard, Memphis, Tex., coach; Glenn Saul, Plainview, Tex.; Dan Kelly, Tucuman, N. M.; James Rinker, Elmore City, Okla.; and Tucker.

Tigers After Third Victory

The Big Spring Tigers will go after their third straight baseball victory in a 3:30 p.m. contest with Merkel here Sunday.

In starts to date, the Bengals—managed by Sonny Dutchover—have defeated Midland and Lamar.

Dutchover has not announced his pitching choice but he can call upon Joe Cadenhead, Gus Fierro or Donny Valdes.

Thirty local business concerns and individuals have donated money toward the purchase of tongs and equipment for the Tigers. They are:

Reed's Service Station, Holinger's Variety Store, Spanish Inn, Harold Rosson Insurance Agency, Top Loan Service, Rancho Cafe, Julio's Cafe, Capri's Cafe, Midland Restaurant, Carlsbad Restaurant, Acapulco Cafe, Alexander's Grocery, Abrey's Pay and Take Restaurant, Neches Hotel Shop, Standard Service, Hernandez Polish Shop, Schultz Hardware Co., Pearl Distributing Co., DRT Distribution Co., Standard Sales, Jax Distribution Co., Sparks Drive In, Drey Music Co., Guy's, Gaudin's Grocery, Liberty Cafe, Gaudin's Hardware, Howard Shaffer Corden Service Station.

Lasater, Bentley Going To Lubbock

R. L. Lasater, Big Spring's star sprinter, goes to Lubbock Saturday with his coach, Harold Bentley, but he won't know until after he gets there whether he'll run in the Red Raider Relays or watch from the stands.

It's all according to how his leg, injured in the District 2-AAAA meet two weeks ago, feels. Bentley wants to take no chances with his speedy sophomore, what with the State Meet only a week away.

Entries in the 100-yard dash, in which Lasater is tentatively entered, include Bill Kemp, Fort Worth Carter Riverside; David Green, Richardson Springs; Jimmy Mordeway, Snyder; Jerry Miller, Bowie; Joe Ed Pesch, Breckenridge; Jimmy Williams, Plains; and Ted Nelson, Andrews.

Bryan Adams, Ackerly's half miler, is an entry in the 800-yard run. His teammate, Royale Lewis, will throw the discus.

Rocky Greenwood On Hill As Yankees Smash Vets

The Yankees renewed their powerhouse antics in the National Little League baseball, belting practice-shy Veterans of Foreign Wars, 24-5, in the opening small-try game of the year.

Largest crowd ever to see a Little League game jammed the stands and fences of the Cosden park, said official scorer Howard Burleson.

VFW had practiced only twice and that club vows revenge next Thursday, when it meets the Yanks again.

Winning hurler Rocky Greenwood pitched only two innings, but by the time James Waddell was in for the Yanks they were riding a comfortable 18-0 margin. Rickie McCarsen came in for the sixth inning.

Wayne Root, loser, and relief man Gregg Pate, who came off a sick bed to pitch, gave up only 12 hits. VFW trapped seven off Yank moundsmen.

James Waddell thumped a grand slam homer for the Yanks in the second inning. The winners had banged seven hits at that early stage and were ahead 12-0. Travis Oliver, another Yank, hit two home runs in the second.

Counties Added

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel signed yesterday bills which added Hale, Floyd, Bailey, Lamb, Grimes, Williamson, Washington, Austin and Archer counties to the jurisdiction of the State Game and Fish Commission.

Lionel Hebert Registers Low Score At Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP)—Lionel Hebert, who never has won expense money playing in the Colonial National Invitation Tournament before, was in line for a big slice of cash today as he led the field to the second round.

The chunky member of golf's brother act—Lionel and Jay Hebert—shot a 3-under-par 67 Thursday to take the No. 1 spot. He can already see more than the $150 he bagged here last year—his sole winnings in the Colonial tournament.

Just a stroke back was Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., the man who in 1956 won more money than anybody ever has in golf, $72,833.

Hebert, who plays out of Lafayette, La., would have broken the record for the 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course of 68 had he been able to get his putts to drop.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Bob Blackman, the Dartmouth football coach, says the "belly series," especially the inside "belly," is on the way out.

Such isn't the case here, where Coach Al Milch plans to make use of the deceptive play with his new Flying T attack, which he's incorporating in spring workouts now in progress.

Blackman says the "belly" plays are not colorful enough, for one thing. "And then, when so many get to play it, they become hep to defenses. It becomes old hat."

The maneuver is colorful, if every player carries out his assignment as he should. When Carl Coleman introduced the series here in the early '50's, it proved to be so revolutionary the game officials were caught short and again, even though they had been forewarned by Coleman himself.

Now that they've legalized the sale of hard liquor in Oklahoma, a move is afoot in the legislature there to permit partumtuel betting at horse tracks.

Informed sources say the bill has a good chance of being passed.

If track betting is legalized in Oklahoma, it'll be another case where Texas money is being drained off by other states and would mean that our state would be ringed by states permitting pari-mutuel betting.

Track betting is now permitted in Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico and it is doubtful that tracks in any of the states could exist without the influx of Texas money.

One observer says legalization of pari-mutuel wagering in the Sooner state would bring in between $3 and $5 in direct taxes to the state and $30 million in additional revenue from related industries.

Bob Callahan, who tried to book Joey Giambra in here for a fight a few weeks ago but who was unable to find a suitable arena (the National Guard Armory was suitable to him but it wasn't available), is match-making for the Dallas group that lined up tomorrow night's fight there between Joey and Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

Callahan says his "in" with the Dallas fight crowd would enable him to book boys of similar ability in here, if he had an arena. He hopes to enlist local financial support for the construction of such a place, is talking in terms of a $25,000 building.

Giambra, who has appeared on national TV no fewer than 23 times, has his work cut out for him. Jones is now rated No. 6 among the nation's middleweights, a spot Giambra aspires to claim and, no doubt, would be holding — had an arm operation not forced him into temporary retirement.

Jones has beaten Rory Calhoun, who holds a victory over Giambra.

Callahan, who is branching out as a promoter of both wrestling and boxing, would like some day to serve Texas as its boxing commissioner.

Texas A & M and Southern California will meet on the football greensward in 1964.

A good bet in the National Open coming up in June is Dick Mayer, who won the tournament two years ago.

Mayer's earnings fell off to $8,000 last year but he learned to play the game at Winged Foot, N. Y., where the 1959 Open takes place.

Texas oil money helps keep the Baltimore Colts of the NFL in business, even though Dallas lost the franchise to the Maryland city.

The owner of the Colts, a leading textiles man in his area, also is in business with Dan Topping of the New York Yankees in some gushing wells in this state.

Intra-Squad Game Is Slated Today

The Big Spring Steers wind up their first week of spring football drills with an intra-squad game at the old stadium this afternoon, starting about 6 p.m.

Coach Al Milch has divided the squad evenly and expects to send everyone into action.

In game conditions will prevail, with the exception that no kick-offs or punts will take place.

Jewelers Widen Bowling League

Second-ranked Truman Jones split 2-2 with Wasson-Trantham this week in the Housewives bowling league and allowed Zales, 4-0 winner over Tom's Peanuts, to widen its lead.

Caprock picked out a 4-0 win over Warren's, but still occupies the cellar.

The only split converted was by Zale's Betty Reid, 8-0.

Standings:

Zale's	7	0

HCJC Fems Shade Masters' Team

Steerettes, Pampa Clash For State Championship

ABILENE (SC) — Big Spring Steerettes and Pampa are set to wage an all-out battle for the State 4-A volleyball championship here Saturday and teams in four other divisions will vie for crowns.

The local girls and Pampa battle 9 a.m. Saturday in what should be one of the most thrilling games in the Rose Field House at 11 a.m. in Simmons University. Matches in B, A, AA, and AAA will be played.

Big Spring and Pampa are the only 4-A teams competing. Each holds a victory over the other, but Pampa slipped away with the win in their last meeting. The Steerettes lost 10-12, 14-5 and 9-14 in the regional finals at Odessa, but are in the State meet since both winner and runner-up became eligible to attend.

The Steerettes own a 28-2 mark, with losses only to Pampa and Imperial. The local team is defending champion at State.

Ralls-Tolar and Ozone-Clyde matches in Class A were played at 11 this morning, followed by Happy-Rhineland and Norton-Imperial battles in Class B at 12 noon.

At 1 p.m. Caldwell collided with Cypress-Fairbanks and Wilmer-Hutchins battled Fort in AA, at 4 p.m. San Marcos will meet Pecos in AAA and at 6 Winters meets Anson in an A game.

Twenty games are to be played in the five-division tournament.

HCJC Celebrates Music Week With Musicale Next Sunday

HCJC's music department will celebrate National Music Week Sunday with an afternoon musicale.

The program is scheduled for 4 p.m. in HCJC Auditorium. Featured will be piano and voice students of Jack Hendrix and Ira Schantz, and the college choir. He is vocal instructor for HCJC. Hendrix, head of the music department, will take part in one of the piano renditions.

The Music Study Club is co-sponsor for the event.

The choral portion of the concert will be dedicated to the parents of choir members and all have been invited to attend the program as honored guests. After the concert members of the Music Study Club will act as hostesses at a reception to be given in honor of the choir members and their parents in the new Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

Members of the choir are: Mary Ruth Asbill, Janet Carpenter, Janice Dixon, Peggy Francis, Avel Greenwood, Frank Hardesty Jr., Evelyn Hardin, Haley Haynes, Marilyn Lampson, Ritchie Lawrence, Hubert Murphy, Shirley Nowlin, Glendene Philley, Ronnie Phillips, Patsy Potter, Mims Reed, Harlan Thornton, Dean Threadgill, Bobby Thurman, June Vaughan, Fred White.

The first portion of the program will feature four religious compositions by the choir, to be followed by vocal and piano students. The choir rounds off the program with five semi-classical numbers.

The soloists will include Avel Greenwood, pianist; Patsy

Potter, soprano; Ronnie Phillips, tenor; Hubert Murphy, baritone; and Glendene Philley, pianist. Hendrix will provide the orchestration in a dual-piano rendition with Miss Philley.

Dancer Protests Taking Of Children

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — A professional dancer, carrying a sign reading, "Dear Public, This Can Happen to You Too," picketed the seat of Hawaii's government Wednesday trying to get her five children back from welfare officials.

Mrs. Leilani H. Price, in a street length muumuu and a large straw hat, played a ukelele while a little white dog ran by her side. Known professionally as Ma Ma Loa, she paraded for hours in front of the Iloani Palace while the Territorial Legislature met.

Welfare officials took her five children last week and put them in a home. They said she and the children were living in a station wagon without bath or toilet facilities and she wouldn't be allowed to have the children until she provides them with a home. Two of the children suffer from cerebral palsy.

Pretty Paradox Returns After Auto Accident

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A lovely paradox is Suzy Parker, back in Hollywood after a year that was marked by tragedy and sensation.

On June 7 last year, she was pitched through the windshield of a car in a collision with a train in Florida. Her father was killed in the crash. A Frenchman named Pierre la Salle rushed to her side. After much backing and filling, it was admitted that they were married.

This was the actress who had told interviewers: "I will never marry. I admire men to much."

She has returned here to make "The Best of Everything" for Jerry Wald, her stunningly beautiful face unmarked by the accident.

Some explanations were in order. "I'm going to keep my mouth shut," she said at first. Then in the next breath, she admitted, "I talk too much. It's a family affliction. When we have a family reunion, it is pure chaos."

Yet she did not talking about her marriage during her previous visits here. Why did she keep it secret?

"When we got married, I was not news," she explained. "When I got into the movies, I felt that our marriage was something between my husband and myself. It was nobody else's business. I realize that in America it is the custom to tell all about the private life of a celebrity. But my husband is not an American. In Europe, that is not the custom, and it doesn't particularly help him in his profession (as staffer for Paris Watch magazine) to have a lot of Hollywood publicity.

"Also, I don't feel that I want to share my marriage with the world. So I lie about it."

Hermit Prophesied His Own Murder

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A hermit monk who got rich telling fortunes and once prophesied his own murder has been found dead—murdered. The seer, Abdel Messia el Makrouky, was strangled and stabbed in the monastery where he lived near Aslut, in upper Egypt. He had been robbed of about 35,000 pounds ($100,000).

Protest Russian Theft Of Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The creators of the hit musical "My Fair Lady" have protested plans by a Russian to produce the show without their permission.

Composer Frederick Loewe and lyricist Alan Jay Lerner said Thursday the staging without consulting them is "an act of outrageous, unethical and illegal proportions."

There is no copyright agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union for the protection of authorship.

Lerner and Loewe said they learned of the production in a letter from a Victor Louis in Moscow, who told them he had translated the musical into Russian and that it would be staged in the 1959-1960 season.

Loewe and Lerner have protested to the State Department and to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

Austrian Painting Has 'Sex Change'

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A painting hanging in the Innsbruck Museum since 1889 has undergone a sex change.

Called "Boy With a Hawk," the painting by Peter Drost was taken down recently for refurbishing. The scantily dressed boy turned out to be a girl, the hawk an out-sized dove.

When the painting goes back on the wall, it will be called "Girl With a Dove."
