"We are sending our recommendation to the governor this morning," Board Chairman A. C. Turner said. Gov. Price Daniel must approve the parole before it takes effect.

Cox, 37, entered prison Nov. 4 to serve a 2-year sentence. He was convicted for agreeing to accept $5,000 bribe to kill a bill he ntroduced in the 55th Legislature. Cox has credit for one year one month time served, Turner said. 'He will go back to his wife and two adopted children. He will work as general manager and bookkeeper of the Conroe Laundry and Cleaners. Cox worked as an accountant in the state prison system.

The sensational case threw the Legislature into a series of investigations in March 1957. Cox resigned two weeks before the House censured him for "conduct unbecoming a member.

The House special bribery investigation committee said "Such conduct was unjustifiable upon any principle of sound, honorable and representative government."

Cox claimed in testimony before the committee he accepted the $5.000 bribe offer from Dr. Howard Harmon of San Antonio, then with a farm value of $235,367,000. president of the Texas Naturopathic Assn.' as part of a plan to trap "crooked lobbyists."

Whites Plead

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) Four white men charged with raping a Negro college girl pleaded innocent at their arraignment

A moan went up from the gallery crowded with Negroes as the men entered their pleas. The outcry was quickly suppressed by a call for order in the court. The trial was set for May 27.

Sheriff Bill Joyce had nounced previously that all four had confessed to the mass rape. One of the court-appointed defense attorneys, Harry Michaels, saying he wanted more time to prepare his case. But Circuit Judge W. May Walker overruled his objections.

Pleas of the four were delayed about an hour while attempts were made to provide them with

None of the ceedings, although the wife of ranged for an attorney for him. The gallery was packed with Negro spectators and the courtroom floor with white onlookers. The four, two teen-agers and two in their 20s, were indicted Wednesday by a grand jury five days after the 19-year-old coed said she was taken to a lonely patch of woods and raped repeatedly. All have confessed. The maximum penalty for rape is death, but if a jury recommends mercy the sentence can be life imprisonment or a lesser

New Report Links Cancer With Smoking

NEW YORK (AP) - Another medical report, linking lung cancer with smoking, says the total smoking a person does is the important factor, not the period of consumption.

The new report, covering a seven-year period and involving 500 lung cancer victims, was announced Thursday by the U.S. Public Health Service and the American Cancer Society. Eight of the patients were non-smokers. Nineteen smoked pipes or cigars.

Most of the 473 cigarette smokers had smoked at least 9,125 packs in their lifetime. This averaged out to a pack a day over a 25-year period, or two packs a day for 121/2 years. "The total number of packs smoked during life is the important variable, and it makes no difference whether the total effect was accumulated over a short or long period of time," the report

The study was made by Dr. Herbert L. Lombard and Dr. Leonid S. Snegireff of the Massachusetts Department of Public

The report also said the study "does not prove causation (but) it is highly suggestive and no evidence has been presented that disproves such an hypothesis."

Those starting to smoke while young, the report said, are slightly more liable to lung cancer than those smoking the same total after a later start.

Timothy V. Hartnett, Chairman of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee, commented that "in spite of persistent experiments" no convincing laboratory or clinical evidence exists to prove that cigarette smoking causes cancer. His statement added:

"On the other hand, there have been, and continue to be, published accepted scientific studies challenging the premise that often-cited statistical surveys show a causal connection between smoking and lung cancer."

The Inimitable Churchill

Few men become a legend in their lifetime, but Winston Churchill has come as near reaching that exalted state as any man in modern history.

His arrival in this country Monday for chats with an old friend, President Eisenhower, was almost as matter of fact and devoid of ceremony as were most of his innumerable arrivals in his mother's country over the last 60 years and more. He was in and out in World War II

many times, his movements carefully shielded from prying enemy eyes. Always when he carne it indicated, as Churchill himself, with his Elizabeth devotion to the shining phrase, that "great affairs are toward."

At 84, the old man has not only lived and written history, he has helped make it. He has been sick so many times even he has lost count. He has exposed his life countless times in numerous wars, from the Boer War on down. On the home front, he has been a power in Parliament for three-fourths of his lifetime, and only recently let it be known he was ready to serve his constituency again. (That shows that he values service in the House of Commons above a dukedom; he could no longer serve in the lower House if he entered the peerage, the highest rank of which would be his for the asking.)

He has written the most readable and entrancing history books of his time, not to mention a whole library of other works. His oratorical feats are without number, and unrivalled a m o n g contemporary

An always, even today at 84, his puckish humor, his almost infantile smile, his vivid personality are still going strong. No more interesting human being has graced the world since Hadrian's Wall was put up.

He urged that the program be "operated in a showcase," with Congress keeping a watchful eye on everything, and the aim should be "cultivation of the friendliest of friendly relations with these countries and not trying to tell them what kind of government they should have."

Other leaders in both parties have testified in behalf of the administration's foreign aid program, including restoration of the cuts imposed by Congress last

Before Congress assembled in January, and for weeks thereafter, the foes of foreign aid raised a clamor for huge cuts in this year's appropriation, and some even called for outright cancellation of all aid.

But the strong support coming from Mr. Truman and other prominent leaders of both parties undoubtedly has had its effect, and while Congress may insist on some reductions, the amount will be nowhere near the huge cutbacks talked of a few months ago.

One of the compelling reasons for keeping the program strong: the Soviet Union launched on an economic campaign of huge proportions wherever it can find willing recipients on Soviet terms.

Around The Rim . . . And That's The Way It Ended

It's odd the things you run into when you've got the curiosity of a cat.

This other cool cat and I, it was just strictly for kicks when we went over to the beauty culture convention down at the Settles. Just wondered what it is people do in such situations.

Well, we looked around the mezzanine, trying to figure what earthly use could be made of the ointments, pins, curlers, rinses, and other concoctions that crowded three of the four walls. The stairway's on the other wall, else it would be crowded,

There weren't many people about-none where we were. Thought they might be in the clubroom having cocktails, and we trailed through, drawing only a few dis-interested glances. Folk at the bar had more immediate things at hand. Or in hand. Al, that's the other cool cat, he's nosy by nature he tells me, so he goes sticking it into the area behind the clubroom and I follow mine.

Not much to see, except a few card tables and a washroom, so we wander out again. The blonde at the bar is still wrapped up in conversation and other ways with the junior executive, so we're not much noticed. Off to the convention room, and there's Jim, the city cop, at the door to keep the wolves away, and a crowd of 300 or so jammed inside. Middle-aged woman (I think) with beautiful silver hair standing on a table at the door, so she can see.

She and Jim say go ahead, it's like it wasn't a security measure around here. So we sit and watch. Not the stage: there's a pretty redhead up there getting her hair done, and there's not much to figure from that. All around, however, are crowds of men, women and lucious girls. It figures that the pretty ones must be professional models, brought in for the convention. Then it's a matter of getting acquainted. They must have been brainwashed. Friendly, but didn't give us a tumble. Except for that tall, willowy redhead whose escort held onto her arm like he owned her, and gave us the baleful eye. Speaking of redheads, at least half of the models were just that-and a bright, shining red it was. We decided it couldn't have been real. But there was the big event of the evening-made it worth all the curiosity. Beautiful redhead, stunning figure in a pink bathing suit, on stage. A male expert fastens a silly hat onto her hair, a thing that looks like a quarter moon with stars in orbit. Then, he starts wrapping 50 yards of sheer blue cloth about her, and we couldn't tell by looking it wasn't that she was going to a ball, like. Only trouble, it was the closing event and he unwrapped her before we could plow through the mob and move up front.

Well, it wasn't a bad night. A person might wonder what two bachelors could possibly want at a beauty culturist convention. If the truth be known, we were more interested in form than fashion.

Year's Vacation And What To Do With It

hinting that there is nothing the matter with me that a six-months vacation with pay wouldn't cure.

However, there has never been any great body of opinion to support me in this contention until the appearance on the scene of Arthur Carstens, a gentleman whose acquaintance I would certainly love to make.

Mr. Carstens is the administrator of the labor programs of the Institute of Industrial Relations at the University of California at Los Angeles. It is the contention of this expert (obviously a gentleman and scholar, to boot) that what every working stiff needs is a full year's vacation out of every five or seven spent toiling in the vineyards, and with full

Now I don't want to be a pig, so I am perfectly willing to settle for twosix months vacations back-to-back every seventh year. With pay, naturally, I don't want to pose as too philanthropic.

It is Mr. Carstens' contention that such a system would (1) cut down on hypertension and lengthen the life span of us wage slaves and (2) spread the available work among larger numbers of persons, particularly among capable, competent oldsters who don't want to retire at 60 and 65.

Mr. Carstens further mumbles about "the intelligent use of leisure" and-or continuing one's education during that sabbatical. So I have been thinking what I would do with a year's vacation with pay. I am perfectly willing to go back to school. First, I would enroll in that course in haut cuisine that I have been trying to find time for over the past 20

What I would want a French chef to teach me is to make a really Grade A-1 French omelet, one of the most superb dishes ever set before a king. And when I have finally mastered the trick (including never, but NEVER washing the omelet pan), then I want to learn all the twoto-three hundred variations on the French omelet that man can enjoy any place in France. Nectar, pure nectar!

I would hope that in between bouts with the omelet pan, I might find time to enroll in a second educational institution. Almost 30 years ago, I promised my bridegroom that I would learn to play bridge. Obviously, I've got to begin to fish or cut bait

(What I am really waiting for is the dust to settle on the bidding system. I haven't time to learn a new system every other day. First Culbertson, then Goren and now these Italians! When the experts finally make up their minds, I'm their pigeon in my sabbatical year.)

Then I would like to make a start on straightening out my files. I have been thinking about this project constantly for 25 years, while the files grow like Topsy. How, if I don't get them straightened out, can I ever make up my mind whether to write my memoirs or just go in for plain and simple blackmail?

And if and when that year's vacation is a reality, I won't go to bed until I really want to because I won't have to get up when I don't want to, which is early. I will stay up all night and read, and only get up in time to learn to shake the omelet or bid four no-trumps.

But such is the power of positive spring fever that if the boss were amiable, I'd settle right now for three days off and hang a "Gone Fishing" sign on the Underwood. (Copyright 1959, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

Michigan's Trouble Is Political

Each year when Michigan and Ohio State meet in their traditional Big Ten football game, the Ohio State students sing, to the tune of "The Old Gray

"Oh, we don't give a damn for the whole State of Michigan, the whole State of Michagan, We don't give a damn for the Whole State of Michigan, We're from Ohio."

If the whole State of Michigan isn't careful, financiers throughout the entire nation will sing the same song-and they won't confine it to a single Saturday in November. The battle over finances between Governor G. Mennen Williams and the Republicans in the State Senate has dragged Michigan bonds down in Wall Street.

Six months ago, ten-year Michigan bonds sold to yield 3.35 per cent. Today, these same bonds can be bought to return 3.90 per cent. Yields on all bonds have been going up, but Michigan bonds have fared worse than other bonds. Yields on Michigans have increased 16 per cent as against 11 per cent for New York State bonds, and 8 per cent for comparable Pennsylvania issues.

Michigan's plight has made nationwide headlines, not because Michigan is broke, which it most emphatically isn't, but be-1. Salaries of legislators have been held

2. Both the University of Michigan and Michigan State University have had to borrow money from banks to pay their

3. Corporations such as American Motors, Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Parke. Davis & Co., Detroit Edison, Michigan Bell Telephone, and others have advanced $30,000,000 in taxes to keep the payrolls rolling. But this was merely borrowing from the future to pay in the present. Michigan's main difficulty is politics.

True, the state has a carry-over cash deficit-the heritage of 1958. Whereas production in the United States dropped only 6 per cent, auto output fell 31 per cent. This added to the state's relief load and cut tax receipts. What was a recession for the nation, was a depression for it spends 70 times as much-more than $1,000,000,000. The limitation is as archaic as many ordnances that once required a man with a lantern or flag to precede automobiles to warn men with horses of the approach of the turn-of-thecentury horseless carriages.

A horse-and-buggy clause in the 51-yearold State Constitution causes the immediate difficulty. It sets a $250,000 limit on borrowing for general purposes. In 1908, for applying a be the State spent $15,000,000 a year; today, family argument.

Michigan's real financial troubles are probably over just when the political crisis is at its tensest: Domestic automobile production has been running at a close-to-5,500,000 annual rate, as against 4,300,000 for 1958, And next year, if compact cars capture the fancy of car buyers, production could exceed 1956 and 1957 and approach 1955's 7,800,000. So. Michigan's main industry is strong again. The State should be able to expunge the deficit inherited from last year.

But the Republican-controlled Senate and Governor Williams are at loggerheads over how to increase revenues. Williams wants a corporation and personal income tax, espoused by, among others, Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers union. The Senate Republicans want to boost revenues by lifting the sales or use tax from 3 per cent to 4 per cent.

Meanwhile, to provide cash, Williams has proposed that bonds held in a Veterans' Trust Fund be used. The Republicans have insisted that the short-term shortage of cash and the long-term shortage in revenues be settled together.

It makes me think of the two "Skid Rowers" with a suit of clothes between them. One used the suit to go out and "touch" a passerby for cash for a bottle of vino. Soon he returned to the flophouse waving a dollar bill, crying, "Let's go." "Okay," says the other, "but let me have my pants first." Joyously they started out together, only to discover their mutual exposure. They argued and argued. Pal A wouldn't surrender his jacket, Pal B wouldn't yield his pants. Now that they had a dollar between them, neither would trust the other. Their principal was at stake

Mrs. Frazier stated that, in arranging, the large and dark-hued flowers should go at the bottom, with the light and pointed blossoms toward the top. Color should be so maneuvered that the eye travels smoothly over the grouping rather than jumping from posy to posy.

For best results condition the flowers before you begin to use them. This may be accomplished by cutting them the night before, plunging them into cool water to soak for several hours before arranging. In combining flowers, do so in unequal numbers and place flowers of uneven rather than like height.

Hawks Enter Triangular

Howard County Junior College's Jayhawks, marking time for the Nationals, return to Abilene tomorrow to take part in a triangular track

The show, which offers the Abilene Christian College freshmen and Arlington State as the other teams, will begin about 2 p.m. The meet will serve as a stiff test for the Hawks, Texas Junior College Conference champions this year.

Among ACC freshmen against which the local boys will compete are Bobby Dodd, miler from Ojai, Calif.; Jim Garner, sprinter and hurdler from Turlock, Calif.; Larry Hawk, quarter miler and high hurdler, Columbus, Ind.; Howard Hodgson, distance runner, from Can-ada; Roy Kelly, quarter miler, Altus, Okla.; Eddie Mandrell, sprinter, Adrian, Mich.; Robert Needham, sprinter; Rising Star; Glenn Richard-

The Citizens Traffic Commission announced today that James D. Hill of Dallas will be here Monday and Tuesday to help initiate several CTC projects.

James Eubanks, CTC executive secretary, said that Hill, district director for the National Safety Council, plans to aid the local organization in setting up the driver improvement school as well as help set up a CTC coordinating committee.

The driver improvement school will be for drivers fined in Corporation Court for traffic violations. The coordinating committee was recommended by other NSC representatives about a year ago. Hill also plans to meet with CTC leaders, the City Commission, and other persons interested in traffic safety at a luncheon meeting Tuesday to present some recommendations.

Dr. F. B. Meyers tells of a trip which he made through Norway one winter a number of years ago. For one week he was a guest at an exclusive inn. Staying at the inn that week was a little girl of some six years whose favorite pastime was playing on the piano in the large parlor.

Well, it wasn't playing exactly. She banged on it, picking out tunes with her index finger. And her favorite time was early in morning before the other guests got up. Each morning, before daybreak, they were rudely awakened by the noise.

One night there came to the inn the most famous pianist in all Norway. But this didn't stop the little girl. The next morning found her down in the parlor banging away. The great pianist woke, walked to the head of the stairs, and was ready to shout angrily when he saw the little girl. He walked down into the parlor and over to where she was. For a while he listened and then said, "I know the piece you are playing. Could I Overjoyed, the little girl moved over on the bench and they

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earus for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She won't be guest of honor at any Mother's Day banquet. But who cares?

Her glory has always been greater than mere national recogni-

She wears her orchid in her heart.

She doesn't want speeches. But she'll find inspiration, as always, in the pastor's sermon.

And sitting there in church, with her grown up boys and girls, she'll recall the days when first they toddled along to Church School.

And she'll thank God!

Yes! She'll thank Him that it doesn't take a Mother's Day to bring her family to God's House!

May 10, 1924, of course. That was the day Atty. Gen. Harlan Fiske Stone, later Chief Justice of the United States, called him in to take over the FBI.

May 1, 1936-Hoover flew to New Orleans and personally arrested Alvin Karpis, the No. 1 badman of his day, who had been boasting that he planned to rush Hoover's office in Washington and "I remember that day well," says Hoover, "We in the FBI had a deep feeling of satisfaction in finding Karpis. He was a badly wanted fugitive. His arrest helped sports section. His favorite books us defeat the criminal gangs of that day.'

Dec. 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor Day. Says Hoover: "When the Japanese bombs hit Pearl Harbor, we in the FBI placed into immediate operation previously prepared plans for guarding the nation's internal security. I was proud of the way FBI employes responded to the challenge-working around the clock to do their job. This was typical of their loyalty to duty."

And finally, May 22, 1950. That was the day that Harry Gold. master Soviet atomic spy confessed his activities after being picked up by the FBI, a confession which broke the back of atomic spying in this country. "Those were busy days at the FBI." Hoover recalls, "Atomic President Harry S. Truman is 75 years old today. He voiced a wish for peace and happiness for all the people of the United States.

The expression came as newsmen, warbling "Happy Birthday, Dear Harry" in more or less tuneless fashion, presented him with a surprise birthday cake be-fore he'd even had breakfast.

Obviously pleased, Truman mustered up two healthy puffs and blew out the candles. He had the crowd of reporters and photographers sign a card accompanying the cake and then proudly took it upstairs at his hotel to show Mrs. Truman. When asked if he had a birthday wish, he said: "I wish for peace and happiness for all the people of the United States." He also said he wished for "another boy in Margaret's family. He referred to his daughter, Mrs.

Clifton Daniel, who is expecting her second child. True to his reputation as one of the walkingest-talkingest former presidents the country ever had, Truman then set out on his morning stroll. Asked if he thought he had made any mistakes in his 75 years, Truman said: "I made plenty of them. I'd be sprouting wings if I hadn't. Nobody can live without making mistakes. The only thing you can do is try to remedy them.

He said he had lived a "hectic life but a happy one," and that he wouldn't change any of it if he could. He subsequently amended this to make one exception: "I'd get married sooner." Truman was 35 when he wed.

As for the world itself, Truman said: "I am an optimist and I believe that some day we will have a happy world. The outlook for our country is just as great as it ever was, and I wish I could live another 50 years to see the progress of the Free World." He said reports that he feuded with Eisenhower were

"damned lies." He added:

(Avigation is a combination of Aviation and Navigation.) Ed Carpenter, county judge, said that the reports of the appraisers would be considered by the commissioners at a special meeting on that date.

Approximately 15 pieces of prop-erty are involved in the avigation situation at the airport. Damages are to be awarded based on the extent that restrictions on construction imposed on the owners owers the value of their property.

The gun-hot death

"But I have commitments for five more pictures under my Fox contract," she said. "It would not be right to get out of them."

In four years, Susan has zoomed from the depths of depressionshe once tried suicide-to cloud 9 The 39-year-old actress looked trim and youngish in slacks as she curled on a couch in her rent-ed bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Her golden Oscar stood on a table nearby.

"I came here when I was 19 and I've been here 20 years," she said. "I've had it."

Patting the underside of her chin, she continued: "I don't want this bit where I have to have the face lifted and the wrinkles painted out in order to play leading ladies. I'd prefer to quit now and go home to Georgia. Then, if I felt like it, come back after a time and play character roles. You know me, I love to act. The heavier the better'

Chalkley is not a native Georgian. He happened there six years ago on business, fell in love with Carrollton, 50 miles from Atlanta, and moved there from Washington, D.C.

In 1957, Susan went there as his bride. They have a big bouse and guest home on 200 acres of rolling pine forest.

Susan, her husband and her 14year-old twin sons by her first marriage ride horses daily over the estate.

"The boys love Georgia," says their pretty mother. "They attend Georgia Military Academy near Atlanta and are not exposed to Hollywood tinsel. "They have nice friends. It's a wonderful place to rear them." Susan had much unhappiness in Hollywood, but she isn't bitter. During her 1944-1954 marriage to actor Jess Barker she zoomed to stardom. He didn't. She became the breadwinner. This led to frequent arguments.

During the most celebrated of these, he tossed her nude into the family swimming pool. Then followed a sensational divorce trial which Susan tried to prevent by offering Barker a $100,000 pre-trial

He declined and fought for community property. A judge decided, after scanning the earning capacity of both parties during 10 years of marriage, that the property should be divided thus: Susan got the twins, $1,293,319 in assets; Barker the family station wagon. Two days later—April 26, 1955 two detectives answering an emergency call from Susan's mother broke down the door of her Sherman Oaks home and found the actress unconscious from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Swansong Finds Gangster

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-Television in its pre-summer swansong, has discovered the real-life gangster. We just finished with a two parter on the life and times of one Al Capone; on view this week is a half-hour memoir of Dutch Schultz, city type badman, bootlegger and policy czar of the prohibition and depression years. The Schultz show, on NBC Thursday night May 14 is another of "the lawless years" series. It will be followed on the network by the week's one real premiere, a live comedy series called "Too Young To Go Steady" starring Donald Cook and Joan Bennett.

Sunday, as usual, will be devoted to the thinkers during the daytime and the relaxers come dusk. Sen. Stuart Symington (D. Mo.) will talk about the forthcoming Geneva conference and do-mestic politics on the ABC Col-lege News Conference. Unfortunately, however, viewers will have to make a choice between a fill-in on the conference and Cyril Ritchard in Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore" or NBC's Omnibus.

Evening shows will have the usual lineup. Steve Allen has lined up Anita Ekberg, Sarah Vaughan, Lenny Bruce and others. Ed Sullivan has Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, Dolores Gray, Louis Prima and Keely Smith. Dinah Shore will present Steve Lawrence, Marge and Gower Champion and Bob Cummings.

Highight of the week might well turn out to be the soon-to-be gone voice of Firestone on ABC Monday night. It will be a "Spring-time In Paris" show with both Edith Piaf and Genevienve, plus Bill Hayes and Jacques D' Amboise.

Tuesday night Red Skelton and Peter Lorre will do a spoof on horror movies which might just horror movies which might just turn out wildly funny. And on NBC Wednesday night Milton Berle will share his camera with Carl Sandburg. Red Buttons, Diana Lynn and Joan Blondell will star in Playhouse 90 Thursday night on CBS. The play is "A Marriage Of Strangers."

Dope Plan Bared

AP Newsfeature Writer Diahann Carroll, whose United Artists album of songs from "Porgy & Bess" is zooming to the top of the charts, is probably the only singer who ever rejected a career with the Metropolitan Opera in hopes of becoming a roller der

As things turned out, the lovely Negro songstress never wound up tussling either with Wagner at the Met or a phalanx of skating Amazons in the roller derby. "I was just 10 years old," said

Diahann, recalling the conflict of interests in her career. "Every day when I got home from school the boys would be playing hockey on roller skates out in the streets. Their speed and tricky turns so captivated me that I formed the only girls team in the neighborhood. We skated every night until it got dark and every weekend. was good, really good . . . fast, tricky, just like the boys.

"But Momma wanted me to try out for a Metropolitan Opera scholarship and darn if I didn't win. It made me sad. When I got home from singing lessons it was too late to skate so I had to content myself with watching the roller derby on TV. The girl skaters all had names like 'Tuffy' and 'Butch' and I yearned to be one of them. Then mother said I either had to concentrate on my singing or my skating. I picked skating, of course, and that ended my Metropolitan scholarship."

Bronx-born Diahann hung up her skates for good when she entered New York's famed High School of Music and Art and resumed voice lessons. Her first big break came when she applied for a chorus job with Lou Walters, impressario of the "Latin Quarter" and instead was asked to sing. After numerous club dates Skimmed immediately from this

Miss Grant, who sang for Ann Blyth in the movie version of Helen Morgan's life story, takes over all the Morgan songs and again demonstrates that she is one of the finest torch singers around anywhere.

Remember when Dick Powell wore a yacht cap and blazer jacket instead of a snap brim fedora and trench coat? "The Dick Powell Song Book" (Decca) is a happy bit of nostalgia from Powell's pre-private eye days, consisting mainly of songs from his singing roles in movies like "42nd Street. "Stage Struck," "Varsity Show" and others that plainly bear the vintage mark of the '30s. The fare may be dated but the voice is still dreamy.
