'I'm Too Young For This'

Most people are resigned to losing some of their teeth, but not so young. Here three-day-old Yvonne Mildred Spencer gives with a lusty yell as the dentist prepares to remove her two front teeth. Yvonne, born with the two teeth, had to have them removed because they were cutting her gums. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spencer of Mount Herman, Calif., near Santa Cruz.

House Turns Down Senate Money Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The House refused today to accept the Senate version of the 2 1/2 billion dollar spending bill.

Speaker Waggoner Carr immediately named House members of a conference committee to work with a similar Senate group. The Senate adjourned until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow without taking this routine but vital step leading to a final spending measure.

Two of Gov. Price Daniel's deficit-reducing bills, passed by the House, were formally received in the Senate and referred to the State Affairs Committee.

Daniel's natural gas and corporation franchise tax proposals were ignored by a House tax writing subcommittee. Its report makes some changes suggested by the governor, however. This points toward a showdown fight in the House between backers of the governor's tax plan and its opponents.

The Legislature this week will show whether it is willing and able to stabilize state finances during the first special session, or whether another 30-day session will be needed. Senate reluctance to move on the spending bill indicates it is in no hurry to dispose of pending and available business.

The Senate State Affairs committee, however, scheduled a 2:30 p.m. session to take up Daniel's anti-deficit bills.

House and Senate versions of the two-year spending bill are ready for conference committee discussion. The Legislature quit for its usual Thursday-to-Monday recess without putting the bill into the conference which will write the final version.

A House subcommittee worked over the weekend on Daniel's tax package and will offer a re-write at a full revenue and taxation session this afternoon.

The revenue committee also will receive a subcommittee report on Daniel's dormant funds bill to help relieve the general fund deficit. It has been sharply revised to meet objections that blocked it during the regular session.

A House floor test on taxation could come as early as Tuesday. It is more likely Wednesday. Strategy in the House appears to be to rush a tax bill of some sort as quickly as possible to the Senate. It would thus avoid any blame for delay. It could refer complaints to the Senate should the special session fail to work out a solution to the spending and taxing question.

Daniel is hopeful the job can be done in 30 days. The regular 120-day session left Texas government finances in the worst muddle in history. Money must be found before Sept. 1 if state services are to continue after the start of the new fiscal year.

If there is undue delay or indecision this week, the general belief here is that another special session will be needed.

East-West German Talks Suspended For Dulles Rites

GENEVA (AP)—The East-West talks on Germany will be suspended Wednesday and Thursday while the Western foreign ministers fly to Washington for the funeral of John Foster Dulles.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will take with him British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. They leave Geneva Tuesday night after a brief session of the Big Four conference. They will return Friday in time for a Big Four meeting that afternoon.

Western diplomats speculated that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko also might go to the funeral, but there was no word from Soviet headquarters to confirm or deny this.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding said he thought it possible Gromyko might fly to Washington.

Gromyko agreed in a telephone conversation with Herter to the two-day suspension of the conference. He said he fully understood Herter's wish to attend the funeral and expressed condolences on the death of the former secretary of state.

The recess comes during a critical week for the conference.

The Western ministers, apparently with some agreement or encouragement from Gromyko, are planning to engineer a gradual shift from the formal debate over the mutually rejected Soviet and Western plans for Germany to active negotiations on more pliable issues.

Herter, Couve de Murville and Lloyd's deputy, Sir Anthony Rumbold, arranged a morning meeting today to consider concrete ways of carrying on secret talks with Gromyko on arrangements for a summit meeting and other related problems.

Couve de Murville was to lunch with Gromyko. All three Western ministers scheduled a strategy discussion this afternoon.

GOP, DIXIE DEMOS

Once-Powerful Partnership Loses Strength In U.S. House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The once-powerful House coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats has lost its potency as a positive legislative force.

But it still packs a punch in a negative sort of way in that it can sustain a veto of legislation it can't stop outright.

The coalition came apart on the key voting last week when the House passed a general housing bill. Fewer than half the 100-odd Southern Democrats joined Republicans in an unsuccessful fight to tone down the measure and then kill it.

But the 45 Democrats and 115 Republicans who voted against the bill constituted more than enough to uphold an expected veto, on which a two-thirds vote would be needed for passage.

Leaders of the coalition have various explanations for their loss of strength.

In the first place, there are fewer Republicans in the House than in past years when the coalition ruled the roost. The GOP membership, including vacancies, is 153. A majority of the House is 219, which means that if all the Republicans vote together, they must pick up 66 Democratic votes to call the shots.

But the Republicans no longer are the cohesive force they used to be. On the final housing bill vote, 33 Republicans voted with the majority of the Democrats. On an earlier vote this year, six Republicans voted to override the President's veto of a rural electrification bill.

Lack of unity among the Southern Democrats is attributed by some coalition leaders to the growth of urban areas in the South. There are more "city members" in the South than in past years and bills dealing with such subjects as housing, airport development and public works have a strong appeal to them.

Southerners also have a deep interest in legislation dealing with the Tennessee Valley Authority and some aspects of the farm program. They need the votes of big city Democrats from time to time and find it advantageous to do a little trading with the Northerners.

Perhaps the dominant factor in breaking the rule of the coalition has been the ability of the Democratic leadership in the House to keep its members on the floor.

There are 263 Democrats in the House this year, including one vacancy, and they have been conspicuous by their regular attendance. On two votes this session, all but four of the Democrats were recorded.

With that kind of party discipline, the coalition doesn't have a chance. It is simply outnumbered.

U. S. Sending Diplomats To The Boondocks

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cut the striped pants down to walking shorts. Hang up the morning coat. The State Department is sending diplomats out into the bush.

This is one of the things the wave of independent movements across Africa has done to diplomacy. Joseph C. Satterthwaite, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, told a house appropriations subcommittee about the plans.

"Many of these posts," he said, "are in areas where travel is very difficult. We are going to request authorization to purchase a number of heavy-duty cross-country vehicles to use in 13 posts."

"We hope these will make it possible for our officers to visit certain posts where at the moment they can travel only with great difficulty and where, if they do travel, they have to stay as guests of the local leaders."

"If they have these vehicles they can be self-sufficient and spend the night in the trucks. We attach great importance to this."

The department is asking for 26 vehicles. Each of the wheeled diplomatic outposts will have a truck to follow it, in case of breakdowns. This is no idle worry, since the vehicles are intended to go "where there are only trails and primitive roads."

The main, sleeping-quarters trucks, costing $5,850 each, f.o.b. factory, would be four-wheel drive types, reinforced for bucking across country and ploughing through sand. They would have heavy duty springs, super shock absorbers, special ply tires, extra fuel tanks and carrying space on the roof for additional gear. The cost covers folding bunks, table, hot plate, refrigerator and portable generator.

As an example of the kind of territory which foreign service representatives in Africa now will be expected to cover, Satterthwaite cited the region around Jimma, a center of the Ethiopian coffee planting region.

Congress Receives Anti-Rackets Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has received a legislative package aimed at wiping out interstate crime syndicates.

The Justice Department sent the package to Congress Sunday. Proposals include: (1) a law granting immunity to witnesses in labor racketeering cases so they cannot use the Fifth Amendment to evade testifying, and (2) a law preventing persons from deducting illegal income on their tax returns.

Police Seeking Man For Trial

HOUSTON (AP)—Police looked today for Arthur Sims, 34, a former top aide in the county clerk's office, who failed to appear for trial on a felony indictment.

Sims was indicted on a charge of making false entries in a book of accounts in the county clerk's office. The indictment grew out of an investigation late in 1957 in which a shortage of $80,000 in fee receipts was discovered.

FBI Pulls Out Of Negro Lynch Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal authorities today announced their withdrawal from the kidnap-killer case of Mack Charles Parker. The results of their lengthy investigation will be turned over to the state of Mississippi.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said the evidence obtained by the FBI after a masked mob snatched Parker from the Pearl River County jail at Poplarville, Miss., April 25 and killed him, failed to show any violation of federal statutes.

In view of this, Rogers today directed the FBI to deliver to Mississippi's Gov. J. P. Coleman of Jackson "a summary of information relative to facts and evidence obtained during the FBI's investigation."

3 Children Left Alone Die In Fire

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Three children left alone died in a fire early today, police said, while the parents were at a lounge where the father played with a jazz band.

David Lewis, 3, and his sisters, Harriet, 1, and Robin, 6 months, died in the family's second-floor living quarters.

Police said the father, Cal, 27, and his wife Bessie, 21, arrived home about 1:15 a.m., to find the building afire.

The mother was treated at a hospital for shock and released. She told police she had locked the door before leaving when the children were asleep.

BIBLE CLASS GIVEN $100

Initial response for contributions to the high school Bible class fund boosted the total near the first $100 mark Monday.

Four who joined Dr. P. D. O'Brien, the initial investor in the fund, pushed the amount to $90. Others who can and will lend a helping hand to providing funds for the Bible class instruction in senior high school are urged to make their gifts as promptly as possible. It is planned to keep the appeal open only one week.

Tax money may not be used for the Bible class, and available funds are depleted. The Big Spring Pastors Association is the administering agency and the Herald will receive and acknowledge all gifts.

New donors are the Questers Class of the First Methodist Church and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Pickett, $25 each; Mrs. D. D. Crawford, $10; and the Park Methodist WSCS $5.

Painter Killed By Crazy Gunman

DALLAS (AP)—A crazy drunk brick contractor killed one man and held four persons hostage all night. Then he fought off a company of officers today for two hours before police raked him with submachine gun bullets and killed him.

He was gray-haired Frank Windsor, 68, who held a bitter hatred against Sheriff Bill Decker.

The man slain by Windsor was M. G. Hassels, a painter.

All four hostages escaped the little wooden house on a gravel road in southwest Dallas. Three fled after police softened up Windsor with tear gas. Courageous police pulled another from the building.

Mrs. C. E. Campbell, a neighbor, said Windsor had been "crazy drunk" since Friday.

He lived in an apartment in the little house, in which the owner, Mrs. Lone Dickinson, also lived.

Mrs. Dickinson said Windsor had some drunken belief that by holding the hostages he could force the sheriff to come out to the house.

The landlady said he held a grudge against the sheriff because of past evictions.

Held with Mrs. Dickinson were Mr. and Mrs. Les Doughner and a man named Webb.

The Doughners were neighbors. Hassels came to the house about 8 a.m. today to ask for a key to another house owned by Mrs. Dickinson. He was to do some work at one of her houses. Windsor shot him. The man sprawled on the lawn, and Windsor forced the Doughners to drag the body to the front porch.

The gunman held his hostages in terror with a .38 revolver and a 22 rifle.

Police riddled the little house with rifle and submachine gun fire after the hostages escaped after first softening up the gunman with tear gas.

Capt. Will Fritz, head of the homicide squad, walked to the front door of the house five times, firing a submachine gun as he walked.

One tear gas grenade set fire to the rear of the residence.

"Where are my darlings?" cried Mrs. Doughner, 23, when she fled choking, gasping and crying from the tear gas. She is the mother of three. They were at a neighbor's home when the violence broke out.

She leaned over to her husband, still bound to her with a handcuff-like chain.

"Darling, don't cry," she said softly as tear-gas generated tears rolled down his cheek.

Courageous police actually pulled Mrs. Dickinson out of the house.

She sought to plunge through a window, but got only half way.

Mrs. Dickinson screamed to officers that the gunman fired once over her shoulder and threatened to slay her if she went on through the window.

Then she fainted. But officers crawled up and pulled her through the window.

An off-duty patrolman and a police sergeant who is a former newspaperman made the final rush into the house.

They were Sgt. Jerry Hill, once a reporter for the Dallas Times Herald, and Patrolman C. W. Brown.

They and Police Sgts. T. T. Dean and W. G. Jennings made their way to the front door. Dean and Jennings battered the door down and Hill and Brown rushed in.

The two officers fired blasts at the man who was sitting in a chair with his back to the wall. He had a snub nose .38 caliber revolver, a 22 rifle and a gas mask, which explained how he had been able to hold off the officers for so long. The gas mask had been pulled off, however, when Hill and Brown rushed him.

Hill said when they fired the man slumped to one side but did not fall from the chair. Hill said it was possible the man was already dead or wounded.

Registration For Summer Program Continues Brisk

Registration for the citywide summer recreational program continues at a brisk pace following Saturday's record sign-up. Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the YMCA, which is the administering agency for the cooperative program, said well over 400 youngsters had been registered.

Enrollment has been so heavy that some sections of activity have had to be closed.

Already with a full registration are the girls' beginners' swimming section, the Fun Clubs for girls at Washington and Boydston; girls tab (ages 7-9), girls tumbling (7-12), girls trampolines (7-9 and 10-12), and boys judo (10-12).

Parents are urged to sign for the beginners' swimming (boys), for the Fun Clubs for elementary school children, and for special activities such as crafts, tumbling, trampolines, judo (in younger ages), etc.

The figures do not include the sign-up by teen-agers for their program of special activities during the summer, said Hardy.

They were Ralph Pfeil, 29, of Converse; Bobby Swain, 23, of San Antonio; and James Mueller, 20, of Mercedes. They were en route to McAlester, Okla., from Longview.

Farmers in the area reported hearing a plane circling and a crash during a heavy rainstorm.

MAJOR LOSS TO FREE WORLD

Tribute From All Over World Pours In For John Foster Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—From around the world came an outpouring of tribute today to John Foster Dulles. And in the capitals of the free nations, diplomats arranged to fly here for last rites for a fallen leader of resistance to Communist expansion.

Ravaged by cancer and stricken by pneumonia, the 71-year-old former U.S. secretary of state died in his sleep at 7:49 a.m. Sunday.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Washington National Cathedral.

Because of Dulles' long dominance of free nations' strategy in dealing with the Soviet Union, his passing seemed to many to mark the end of an era.

The men who knew Dulles best had no doubt that one of his own great regrets was that final illness had made him a spectator from afar rather than the active field general as the West's foreign ministers strove in Geneva for some progress toward a settlement with the Kremlin and a true peace.

But though he was absent from the parley Dulles was still a dominant influence through continuing policies worked out under his leadership.

In recognition of that Dulles role the Western diplomatic chiefs were pulling out of the parley en masse to attend the funeral services.

Accompanying Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who took over that office from his former chief, were British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

There was talk in Geneva that their adversary in the Geneva conference, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, might also make the journey.

West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will attend, as will Japan's Foreign Minister Aichiro Funiyama.

The free world's lineup of diplomatic top men will be filled out by Italian Foreign Minister Giuseppe Pevia.

For more than a week Dulles' passing had been expected from day to day but the sense of shock was still evident in the mass outpouring of tributes at home and abroad.

President Eisenhower received the news at his farm home in Gettysburg, Pa.

In a statement which he personally penciled, Eisenhower described Dulles as a true friend and "one of the truly great men of our time."

U.S. buildings throughout the world fanned at half staff for the next three days, and canceled all his own official appointments for that period.

He ordered an official funeral—rather than the still more formal state ceremonies—for the man on whom he had relied for foreign policy throughout his six years in office.

The major difference between a state funeral and official rites is that in the former the body lies in state at the Capitol. Such a service usually is reserved for a president or vice president and the unknowns of wartime service.

Dulles' body will rest at the National Cathedral—Episcopal—for 24 hours before the funeral service is held there.

An honor guard from the armed services will stand vigil there, and burial will be with full military honors at Arlington National Cemetery.

Dulles served as a captain and major in World War I.

The funeral at the cathedral will be in the Presbyterian rites. Dulles, a son of a Presbyterian minister, was a ruling elder of the Presbyterian Church.

Council of Churches, assisted by Dr. Paul Wolfe of New York's Brick Presbyterian Church and Dr. Edward L. R. Elson of the National Presbyterian Church here.

Death came to Dulles in his sleep at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Mrs. Dulles hurried back to the hospital at 5:30 a.m. after a doctor called her at her home with the word that her husband of 47 years was sinking rapidly. Mrs. Dulles had left the hospital only a few hours earlier to get some rest.

Her son, John, an engineer from Mexico City, and another son, Avery, a Jesuit priest studying here, reached the hospital shortly before she arrived. Dulles' younger brother, Allen, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and his sister, Eleanor, a State Department official specializing in German problems, arrived a short time later.

In silence they watched as Dulles' heavy breathing became more strained. It stopped once, then resumed, before the end came.

One of the family asked "Is it all over?" and a doctor nodded.

No one said a word as Mrs. Dulles walked to the head of the bed and gazed at her husband's face. Then she left the room, leaving Mrs. Dulles alone at the bedside. She left the hospital about 40 minutes later with her sons.

Heavy doses of pain-killing drugs had kept Dulles sleeping most of the time during his final days. At times he could not recognize members of his family, but on the day before his death he recognized his wife and managed to speak a few words to her.

In addition to family members present when he died, Dulles is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, wife of a Presbyterian minister who lives in New York, and two married sisters, Margaret Edwards of Rye, N.Y., and Natalie Seymour, Utica, N.Y.

Eisenhower was at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm when Dulles died. The President's own physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, phoned him about 6:30 a.m. with the word that Dulles' condition was extremely critical. An hour and 20 minutes later, as the President was preparing to attend church services, Dr. Snyder called again to tell the President Dulles was dead.

The President canceled plans to go to church. Instead, he went to the sun porch of his country home and penciled a tribute to Dulles.

"John Foster Dulles," the President wrote on a yellow pad, was "one of the truly great men of our time. . . a champion of freedom and foe only to tyranny. . . his countrymen all who believe in justice and the rule of law grieve at the passing from the earthly scene of one of the truly great men of our time."

JOHN FOSTER DULLES A "foe only to tyranny"

Castro candidates also are expected to win easily in elections in the musicians, cooks, canteen and stevedore unions tomorrow.

Melba King, 8, Loses Brain Tumor Fight

Melba Kay King, 8, lost her fight against the effect of a brain tumor early today.

She died at 1:45 a.m. in a hospital here. A year ago, after her parents had noticed a loss of muscular coordination, she was taken to Dallas for delicate brain surgery. For a time treatment arrested the malady and Melba made a plucky effort to return to her studies at Airport school. In the end, however, determination was not enough to turn the tide.

Services have been set for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Nalley-Peake Funeral Chapel with the Rev. S. E. Eldridge, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Melba was born in Slaton on Dec. 4, 1950.

Surviving here are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland King, 1602 Robin; a brother, Milton King, and two sisters, Christine and Karen King, all of the home.

She also leaves her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. King, Post, and Mr. and Mrs. John Baptista, Honolulu, Hawaii; and her maternal great-grandfather, Emmanuel Rodrigues of Brazil. Pallbearers will be Joe Stahl, Marshall E. Brown, W. E. Mann, R. G. Davis and E. R. Owenby.

Dog Gets Day In Court

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Even a dog is entitled to his day in court.

A Long Island judge ordered one for Tinker Beller, a seven-month-old black and beige female mongrel.

William Molyneux Sr., 49, of Levittown, N.Y., claims Tinker Belle trampled his flowers. Police claim he refused to return her to her owner, Peter M. Sevilla Jr., 35, unless Sevilla agreed to take her to the pound. Molyneux has pleaded innocent to a charge of petty larceny. The case comes up next month. The dog was ordered brought into court then.

Baylor Bomb Hoax Empties Coed Dorm

WACO (AP)—A bomb threat hoax at Baylor University caused authorities to empty Dawson Hall of its 100 senior coeds last night.

Police said the anonymous telephone caller told the dormitory house mother a bomb had been placed in the building and would go off at 12:15 a.m. A search disclosed nothing.

The girls left the building in a fire drill within four minutes. Most senior students already had gone home after taking final examinations.

Remarkable Art Hobby Raises Row

LOS ANGELES (AP)—They're feeding now because of Sam Rodilla's remarkable hobby.

"I had it in my mind to do something big and I did."

That's the way Sam often explained why he spent 30 years building an aggregation of towers, walls, fountains and pathways—all from scrap material—in the Watts district of Los Angeles.

"The Watts towers" they're called. One is 104 feet high.

Art critics and municipal authorities are squabbling over what to do with them.

"Inspections show these structures are dangerous and should be torn down," said H. L. Manley, of the Department of Building and Safety.

But Kenneth Ross, general manager of the Municipal Arts Department, says, "this is a unique and masterpiece of primitive sculpture. It must be preserved."

Sam's towers were constructed without preconceived design. He started in 1921 by building a framework of rods. He placed wire mesh around this and then applied his own special mixture of cement.

For decoration there are imprints of hands, tools and corn cobs along with 75,000 sea shells and thousands of pieces of bright crockery or tile. An estimated 7,000 sacks of cement and truckloads of broken bottles went into the project.

The property was purchased by film editor William Cartwright and actor Nicholas King with the idea of preserving a work of primitive art.

Sam, now 81, a tile setter by trade, was born in Rome and came to Los Angeles as a boy. It is believed that he's living in the northern California town of Martinez—far from the clamor of art vs. safety.

It may be Thursday before through traffic is able to proceed through the washout.

Investors Panic, Demolish Unorthodox Finance Plan

SHREVEPORT (AP)—Dr. C. L. Altway, after the apparent collapse of his unorthodox investment plan to finance a clinic and hospital, sought today a way to satisfy his thousands of creditors.

Under Altway's plan, an investor could pay in as much as $10,000. In return, the doctor would give the investor a personal check for an identical amount. As long as the investor didn't cash the check, he would receive interest from Altway ranging from 42 to 120 per cent.

But "people messed things up," he said. "People made a run on it Thursday all over Louisiana." Dist. Atty. L. O. Fuesler of Ville Platte, where Altway operates his clinic and hospital, said the financial plan buckled when many investors started rushing to their banks to cash Altway's checks.

Attway planned today to ask U. S. District Court to appoint a receiver to administer his affairs, including the hospital and its income, to assure maximum protection to creditors.

Attway said he operated his clinic on the borrowed money. He said he could afford the high interest rates because of income tax deductions.

Fuesler said he didn't know how much money was involved.

"No one knows," he said. "This is a big thing and nobody knows how much is involved."

A spokesman at one bank in Ville Platte said Altway "has stopped payment on his account with us." But an official at a bank in Groves, Tex., near Port Arthur, said the dividend checks were still being honored.

Fuesler said no charges were planned against the doctor.

In Howard, the Williamson & Barnes No. 1 Wade made 100 feet of oil and 350 feet of salt water from the Wichita-Albany zone. It was drilling ahead today, however, and is contracted for tests through the Fusesman.

Crime Convention Delegates Reported Marked For Death

NEW YORK (AP)—The Post said today that several men who attended the 1957 Apalachin, N.Y., crime convention have been marked for execution by gangland leaders.

Attributing the information to underworld sources, the paper said the doomed men were those likely to talk under police investigation.

"The pressure that brought the summary decision to permanently seal the lips of some of the Apalachin delegates came in federal indictments against 27 of them last Thursday on charges of obstructing justice," the Post declared.

Thirty-six other men who attended the meeting were named in the indictment as co-conspirators but not defendants.

The paper said the action "shook the security of the crime overlords. They haven't been so worried since Abe Reles began to sing about Murder, Inc. in the 1940's and sent seven men to the electric chair."

"The top boys have passed on the word to get rid of those most likely to talk."

Rhythm In Relaxation

Mari Alden visited India and came back with new ideas on healthful living. In today's Hollywood Beauty she tells Lydia Lane how she learned rhythmic breathing and relaxation.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keeping In Shape Is An 'All-Time Thing'

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — You can always find a pretty girl on "The Bachelor Father" set. On my recent visit to CBS I was pleased to discover that Mari Alden has resumed her career. We first met when she was a bright hopeful at Warner Bros., before she married director Tay Garnett.

"I must say that motherhood and domesticity agree with you," I told Mari, admiring her slim figure. "What have you been doing?"

"Keeping in shape is an all-time thing," Mari confessed. "It's mental. I learned this in New Delhi, India, when Tay was making a picture there.

"The USA is a nation of mechanical geniuses, but the spiritual side of our life has not kept pace with the material. The people of India practice power through thought, and I know how well it works.

"There was an interesting experiment done with boxes of seeds. One was planted and attended according to rules. The other watered but with love and good wishes. The box that had mental assistance grew faster and more perfectly than the other.

"When this is applied to exercising, I find I get much more from the simplest routine. If I concentrate on it — if I think about what I'm trying to accomplish and how — it really works. This is a blessing to me because I'm not an athlete. I just don't like vigorous exercise.

"I start at my head and go over my whole body with tenderness followed by relaxation. I breathe deeply as I do this." Mari stretched out her arm, tightened the elbow, breathed deeply and relaxed her arm. "I believe a routine such as this will keep me from getting flabby.

"There is great vitality in rhythmic breathing," Mari continued. "When I'm walking I carry myself as erectly as possible, and I breathe in to a count of five, hold for three counts, exhale to a count of five, hold for three counts and so on. Getting enough fresh air into the lungs is the key to not getting tired. I don't have to unwind because I never allow myself to wind-up."

"Your visit to India was most profitable," I said in parting.

"It started a new way of life for me," Mari admitted.

Freshen Up Linoleum With Tricks

LEXINGTON, Ky. — If the linoleum around your house is looking a bit ragged, you might consider painting it rather than replacing it, a University of Kentucky home furnishing specialist says.

Beth Burr says you can get some professional effects with some rather unprofessional techniques. Among them are:

SPLATTERING: Tap a paint brush against a stick held a short distance above the floor. The result is a pattern of dots and small splashes in various sizes. You can even use several colors with this method.

STRIPPING: After cutting down the bristles of an old paint brush to make them stiff, tap on the floor in an up-and-down motion for an original effect. Several colors also may be used with this method.

SCRUMBLING: Rolling a cylindrical piece of chamois or paper across a newly painted floor removes part of the paint in an uneven, and interesting, design.

SPONGING: Dab paint onto the linoleum with a wad of paper or a sponge in an uneven design. Blots of paint also may be dabbed in an oval shape to simulate a throw rug.

STENCIL: Apply paint to an area left open by design cut in a large piece of paper or cardboard.

Whatever method is used, Miss Burr notes, at least two coats of colorless varnish should be used after the application and should be followed by plenty of wax. A couple of coats of enamel should precede the artistry.

Spoudazio Fora

Members of Spoudazio Fora will assemble at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Carlos Restaurant for their installation banquet. This is a change in meeting place.

Killed By Dogs

This 2 1/2-year-old boy, Mark D. Draper, was attacked and killed by a pack of vicious dogs in a vacant lot near his home in suburban Hazelwood, just outside St. Louis, Mo.

'Brave, Great' Like's Words On Deceased Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Brave in living, brave in dying. Champion of freedom. Foe of tyranny. Truly great." Those are President Eisenhower's words of tribute to John Foster Dulles.

And further, best expressing the President's personal sorrow, he spoke of his heartfelt loss of "a dear and close friend."

Eisenhower's eulogy came Sunday as cancer took the life of his former secretary of state.

Today the President and his wife shunned aside engagements they had planned before Dulles' death.

The President postponed indefinitely a trip arranged for this morning to the Agriculture Department's research center at Beltsville, Md. Mrs. Eisenhower put off a White House garden party which about 700 residents of Washington homes for the aged were to have attended this afternoon.

Wednesday the President and the First Lady will attend funeral services at Washington's Episcopal Cathedral and final rites at Arlington National Cemetery.

Eisenhower spent 20 minutes with Mrs. Dulles at her home late Sunday afternoon after he had returned to the capital from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Less than six weeks ago he had announced, with tears in his eyes, that cancer had forced Dulles' resignation from the Cabinet. Only last Tuesday he had conferred on Dulles the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest award to civilians.

It was at his farm about 6:30 a.m. Sunday that the President received word that Dulles was dying at Walter Reed Army Hospital. Eisenhower's own physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, telephoned that report to the President.

Eighty minutes later Snyder phoned again to report that Dulles had lost his battle against cancer and pneumonia complications.

Eisenhower went immediately to the glassed-in sunporch of his country home and, on a pad of yellow paper, wrote in pencil a statement of tribute to Dulles.

"His countrymen and all who believe in justice and the rule of law grieve at the passing from the earthly scene of one of the truly great men of our time," the President wrote.

Minutes after he returned to the White House, Eisenhower signed a proclamation calling in effect for nationwide mourning.

The proclamation contained this concluding epitaph: "from the example of John Foster Dulles, brave in living, brave in dying, let us each hold with all fervor to the virtues which inspired him."

Phillips Fertilizer Makes Grass Grow

If your grass and shrubbery are being killed by grub worms, you should consult a horticulturist or feed store attendant for use of the proper poison.

If your grass and shrubs refuse to grow, chances are it needs fertilizer. In that event, you should consult an employee of the McGibbon Oil Company or an attendant at any Phillips 66 service station here.

The McGibbon Oil Company is the local distributor for the famous Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate fertilizer. Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate makes grass grow and shrubs flourish. Experts recommend that it be applied anytime between now and October.

The fertilizer should be applied on dry grass, then watered generously. Even when the lawn shows temporary burning or browning, it recovers quickly after thorough watering. Some experienced gardeners purposely allow burning to curb the growth of chick weed, crabgrass and other undesirable weeds.

If you have already applied fertilizer to your lawn, it can still use light applications at monthly intervals throughout the summer.

Phillips 66 Ammonium Sulfate, of course, proves helpful to shrubs, shade trees, fruit trees, flowers and vegetables and compost decomposes faster if given an application of the fertilizer.

When shrubs first bud out, one or two tablespoons of Ammonium Sulfate should be applied to a circle around the base of each shrub. Keep the fertilizer off the foliage and root crowns, however. Water generously after application.

Most Phillips 66 service stations have applicators which can be borrowed upon purchase of the Ammonium Sulfate.

Settles Gains Following For Conventions

Big Spring is rapidly developing into a highly popular convention center.

Hardly a week passes that some group, large or small, isn't here for a conference or a convention. And it is almost inevitable that the convention headquarters are in Settles Hotel.

This is fine, according to Sam Peters, manager of the Settles. A hotel is a logical and proper place for a convention. And when that hotel is situated as the Settles is — in the very heart of the downtown business district — it is the best possible of all choices.

The Settles caters to conventions. It welcomes the delegates warmly. It is eager to provide meeting space — rooms for committee sessions, quarters to accommodate the entire convention for its business meetings. It's fine coffee shop is equipped to serve any luncheons or banquets that may be a part of the convention program. It's clean, comfortable rooms furnish ideal accommodations for the out of town visitors.

More and more Big Spring organizations now have no hesitancy in extending invitations to their fellow groups to come to this city for conventions. They know that they can depend on the Settles Hotel to take good care of the visitors and that the facilities which are available at the popular hostelry are adequate to the requirements of the organization in every respect.

Consult with Peters and find out just how many excellent features the Settles Hotel has to offer a convention and how eager the hotel is to serve as convention center for your group.

Making A New Carpet

You don't have to have a jug as big as that shown here, when you use Blue Lustre to renew your carpet. For one half-gallon will clean three 9x12 rugs. And Blue Lustre does an amazing job in taking out dirt, restoring natural colors, and leaving your carpet nap open and "alive." This is a wonderful, easy-to-apply cleaner that is mixed with water and just brushed into carpet or upholstery. You'll be sold, if you try it once. Blue Lustre is available at Big Spring Hardware.

Plentiful Supply Of Ice Is Available For Entertaining

Summertime is ice time. And as hot as the weather has been the past few days, you won't have to wait until the first day of summer to start using large quantities of ice.

If you plan to do any entertaining during the summer months, you can expect to need large amounts of ice, cooling beverages, making ice cream, etc. Let this matter take care of itself by getting in touch with the people at Western Ice Co. They are set up to handle all of your needs.

Give Western Ice Co. a call at AM 4-4821 and tell them what you need. If the order merits it, the firm will send a truck with your order; no bother of having to get ice on the way home from a shopping trip.

Order your ice early in the morning, ice down your beverages, and then forget them until time for the party.

If you are making a freezer of ice cream, why not freeze it during the morning and pack it away so this chore will be out of the way.

Keep an extra bag of crushed ice handy, too, so as not to run out of ice from your refrigerator for cooling glass drinks.

But should you run low on ice during your party, you can run to the Western Ice dock, located at 3rd and Owens, and pick up more. Should the firm be closed, there are coin operated vending machines dispensing both crushed and block ice for your service.

You will find that Western Ice can handle any problem concerning ice products, so keep them in mind throughout the summer.

Faint Brings Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Things got exciting when a woman fainted in a downtown drugstore here. Someone in the building across the street saw the woman faint, picked up the phone and yelled for the operator to call the fire department.

Receiving a call from that location, the department sent trucks, pumps and a hook-and-ladder. Meanwhile, a police ambulance had taken the woman to a hospital.

Controversy

Dr. Theodore A. Gill, up for confirmation as president of San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, Calif., has written of his doubts about the virgin birth of Mary, the mother of Jesus. His stand threatened a controversy at the United Presbyterian General Assembly in Indianapolis, Ind.

Lyndon Calls For Western Summit Meet

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP)—The United States should invite leaders of "the many nations of the great non-Communist world" to a summit meeting in the Western Hemisphere, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson says.

The Senate majority leader outlined the idea to the graduating class of Southwest Texas State College yesterday. Johnson is a 1930 graduate of the school.

Johnson said such a conference would provide a striking contrast to the summit conference demanded by Communist nations, who propose a meeting limited to the nations which led the fighting in World War II.

Johnson said the current foreign ministers conference in Geneva marks the end of a "long era of illusion in world affairs."

The illusion, he said, is that "the fate of the world can be left in the hands of those nations which formed the victorious alliance of World War II."

This country must demonstrate our belief that "there is at the summit of mankind's hopes a kingdom of freedom in which all men and all nations may live at peace as equals," Johnson said.

"Where the Soviets have sought a meeting of the few, let us initiate a meeting of the many," he suggested.

Since the World War II alliances were formed, Johnson noted, "more than 22 nations have come into being."

"Old continents have burst forth to new promise. Lands which were weak when the war came to an end have now grown strong," he said.

"America," the senator said, "must put on its working clothes, roll up its sleeves and walk down the highways of the world alongside the other peoples of this earth who aspire to rise above the status of their birth."

Little Rock Election Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The controversy over school integration in Little Rock reaches another critical point today with a school board recall election.

At stake were all six seats on the board — now evenly divided between segregationists and moderates.

The election—expected to draw a record vote of 30,000 — was looked on as a test of strength between adherents of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and citizens protesting the firing of 44 teachers and administrators by the three segregationist board members.

Also in the background of the clash are conflicting opinions over the governor's closing of the city's four high schools to prevent integration.

A majority vote will determine whether each member will be continued in office or ousted. If any board member is voted out, a replacement will be named by the Pulaski County Board of Education.

The 44 teachers and administrators were fired May 5. The firing list was presented by the segregationist board members. The three moderates then walked out of the meeting, saying that left no quorum.

No reason for the dismissals was given at the time.

Later, however, Board President Ed J. McKinley Jr., a segregationist, said that teachers who believed the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation decision was the law of the land "have no place in our school system, however qualified otherwise."

After the dismissal vote while the three moderate board members were absent, a campaign was started to recall the three segregationist members — McKinley, Ben Rowland and Robert Laster.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

The National Junior College track and field meet has been moved to Big Spring from Hutchinson, Kansas, on an experimental basis only.

Big Spring may continue to serve as host if (1) all the athletes are treated alike and no prejudice is shown the Negroes who will attend; and (2) the show nets at least a little money for the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Apparently, there will be many Negroes running here, too. The Brooklyn coach is a Negro.

The meet has not been showing a profit at Hutchinson. All indications point to the fact that it will here. Interest in track and field has never been higher here. Too, 1960 will be an Olympic year and news about track athletes and track feats will be filling the sports pages of the nation's press.

Incidentally, there's a possibility the meet will be held on May 13-14, rather than on May 20-21, as originally planned. Many of the junior colleges across the land will be holding final exams on the latter weekend and local officials have asked NJCAA big brass to approve the change.

The Clint Murchison crowd which purchased the Charles Town race track in Charleston, W. Va., recently didn't retain possession very long. It's been sold to the owners of the Pimlico track.

Football season is supposed to extend over four months a year but to those who have departed their lives to the sport they're usually in it up to their necks the year around.

Harold Lahar, the head mentor of the University of Houston who visited here last week, had come in from Stamford where he had taken the time to watch the Seventh and Eighth graders play in a regulation game.

High schools in Stamford's class (AA) are disallowed from engaging in spring drills by Texas interscholastic league rules but that doesn't keep the junior highs from working out. The TIL, of course, has no authority to supervise and police junior high school athletic programs but it has publicly come out against such practices several times.

In event you missed it, Jimmy Fox, baseball's famed XX who announced recently (for the second time) that he has no worldly goods to speak of, is off relief for the moment. He's been hired as a front man for a steak house in Galesburg, Ill. It'll be named after him.

A recent poll showed more than 8,000,000 adults play golf at least once a year. A survey conducted by the National Golf Foundation revealed that 4,000,000 persons each play ten or more rounds a year.

Official figures released by the PGA recently (prior to the past week's Memphis Tournament) showed ex-Big Springer Billy Maxwell had won $7,000 on the tournament trail since Jan. 1. He's been paid at least $1,000 in addition to that, however—having competed in that ABC-TV golf series with Arnold Palmer in Nevada. He was ninth among the leading winners. If he can remain in the top ten throughout the year, he'll be guaranteed a fee for appearing in each sanctioned meet in 1960.

Billy needs a win somewhere along the way to remain eligible for the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, Nevada, however.

A reader draws attention to the fact that Elton Kelley of Big Spring led District 2-AAAA in two-base hits during the baseball season just ended with a total of three. The Steers' Jackie Thomas and Gary Spann of Odessa each had two triples to tie for the lead in that department.

Campbell's Noses Out Reef Team In Texas Li'l League

Campbell's nosed out Reef, 12-11, in a Texas Little League baseball game played here Saturday night, withstanding a last inning rally on the part of the losers to turn the trick.

Ignacio Mendoza was the winning pitcher. He yielded seven hits to the foe, while his mates got nine on Juan Williams.

Williams pulled a muscle in his right leg. Busby bruised his right wrist when he slammed into the wall chasing a triple. Both injuries were considered minor.

Williams is due back in lineup

McCULLAH TRIUMPHS IN CITY TOURNAMENT

A birdie on the 19th hole provided R. S. (Red) McCullah with a 1 up victory over John Pipes in the finals of the annual City Golf Tournament at the Municipal Course here Sunday afternoon.

McCullah, who has been playing golf regularly about ten years, succeeds Bobby Wright as the titlist. It represented the first links crown he had ever won.

Four up through nine, McCullah had to hustle to stay with Pipes through the remainder of the match. Red's drive off the tee on the 19th found the rough but his recovery with a No. 9 iron, after scraping the trees, came to rest within 3 1/2 feet of the pin and he ran it down.

Pipes recovered to win ten. They halved down to the 14th, which Pipes won. They halved 15 but Pipes reduced his disadvantage to a single hole by winning 16 with a birdie.

After settling for an even break on the 17th, Pipes won the 18th with a par to force the match into extra holes. Red got in trouble on the 18th when he pulled his tee shot to the left.

For the day, McCullah was three over par.

Complete results: CHAMPIONSHIP R. S. (Red) McCullah over John Pipes, 1 up.

CHAMPIONSHIP CONSOLATIONS Bill Cheek over Hugh Hamm, 3-2.

SECOND FLIGHT CONSOLATIONS Wally State over Joe Thompson, 5-4.

THIRD FLIGHT CONSOLATIONS John Ed Brown over R. C. McDaniel, 1 up 19 holes.

SECOND FLIGHT Claude Ramsey over J. C. Self, 2 up.

FIRST FLIGHT CONSOLATIONS Eddie Act over Ted Packall, 2-1.

THIRD FLIGHT Loy Carroll over Lewis, 1 up 19 holes.

FIRST FLIGHT CONSOLATIONS Harold Jones over Bob Kennedy, 2-1.

WORKS. Ford made his record 4-3 with a 2-bitter. Bob Nieman got both Baltimore hits. Gus Triandos' 10th homer of the season provided the Orioles with their winning margin in the second game.

Granny Hamner's ninth inning single drove in Cleveland's winning run in the first game as Herb Score fanned 10 for his fifth victory and third in a row. Frank Lary turned back the Indians with eight hits in the nightcap although he needed help from Dave Sisler in the ninth. Harvey Kuen, who had six hits in the twin bill, had a double and two singles in the nightcap, scored twice and drove in a run.

Kansas City whacked Billy Pierce and four relievers for 15 hits. Hee Lopez, who drove in four runs in Saturday's 16-0 triumph over the White Sox, knocked in four more with a double and triple. Ray Herbert won his fourth.

Faye Thronberry, who had three hits, drove in two runs with a triple that highlighted Washington's three-run fifth and gave Billy Fischer his fourth triumph in five decisions.

LINEUP CHANGES MEXICO CITY (AP) — England's international soccer selectors, shocked by a 2-1 downfall here yesterday against Mexico, are expected to make wholesale changes for Thursday's game with the United States.

AMATEUR STARTS SANDWICH, England (AP) — The British Amateur Golf Championship started today over a course described by many Americans as tougher than many used to for the United States Open.

FORMER CHAMPIONS IN FIELD As 500-Mile Race At Hand

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Former winners Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix and Pat Flaherty of Chicago will start away back in the field Saturday when 33 cars blast away from the starting line in the 43rd 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The windup of 10-mile qualifications Sunday left Bryan in the middle of the seventh row, with 19 cars to pass before he can repeat last year's $105,000 victory.

Flaherty, returning for the first time since he took the 1956 Memorial Day event, qualified a shade faster than Bryan and will start in 18th place, in the sixth row.

Bryan nearly missed the program. His oil pump failed Friday and almost ruined the engine of the Belong Special that has won the last two 500s. Owner-builder George Sallih and his crew completely rebuilt the power plant and Bryan qualified Saturday.

The field qualified a little slower than last year's record average of 143.45 miles an hour. This year's average in the four qualifying sessions was 143.004.

The front half of the lineup is extremely fast, led by Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., who set a one-lap record of 146.532 on May 16. The last half, although manned by veteran drivers, includes ten cars with qualifying speeds that would not have made last year's lineup.

The final qualifying session was run without a single mishap. In an accident Saturday, rookie Earl Motter of Fresno, Calif., escaped injury when his car hit the outside retaining wall. That was the sixth wreck of the month at the old track.

The lineup in its final form was loaded with old timers who know every crack and bump in the speedway. A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., 24, will be the only driver under 30.

Five newcomers made the lineup and none of them is a downy-checked boy.

The fastest was Bobby Grim of Indianapolis, four-times champion of the nation's county fair tracks, who will sit in the second row with a qualifying speed of 144.225 miles an hour.

Other rookies who will hear "Gentlemen, start your engines" for the first time are Don Branson, Champaign, Ill.; Chuck Arnold, Stamford, Conn.; Richard (Red) Amick, Muncie, Ind.; and Jim McWhitey, Anderson, Ind.

Rooftop Blockade

Mrs. Katherine Webber and her attorney, Meyer Litenberg, perch atop her garage roof in Los Angeles to prevent this jacked-up house from being moved up an alleyway to its new location. She claimed it was a clear case of trespass and demanded compensation. After three hours, the house movers gave in and paid her $25. It was costing them $32.50 for each hour of the blockade.

Millions Mourn Death Of Dulles

LONDON (AP)—Millions of ordinary people around the world remembering John Foster Dulles for his leadership in the fight against communism, today mourned his death.

Western statesmen recalled his emphasis on "face to face diplomacy" and grieved for the loss of a personal friend.

The Kremlin's leaders were silent, but Communist organs revived old criticisms of the former American secretary of state.

Sir Winston Churchill called on the world to keep in mind the example Dulles set for those "who put their trust in freedom and fair dealing."

French President Charles de Gaulle messaged President Eisenhower he deeply felt the great loss Dulles' death causes "for yourself, for your country and all men attached to freedom."

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told West Germans they had lost a friend who made their cause his own.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan remembered Dulles for his "signal force of character" which supported the highest ideals.

The official Soviet news agency reported the death in a 32-word dispatch without comment. Moscow radio reported it as the 14th item in a 17-item roundup of domestic news.

But the East German news agency, ADN, said Dulles' name was "linked inseparably with the creation of a new war danger in Europe through the armament of 'Comm.' Broadcasts from other Communist states maintained that one.

Former British Prime Minister Anthony Eden said he and his wife were deeply grieved. Italian Premier Antonio Segni said he hoped the Dulles spirit would bear fruit in the Geneva conference. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt called Dulles a faithful friend who could always be counted on.

Austrians, remembering Dulles' part in bringing them a treaty of independence in 1955, expressed sadness. Chancellor Julius Raab said Dulles' death was a "great loss for the entire free world."

French Premier Michel Debre's message to President Eisenhower said Dulles left behind "an imperishable message of energy, of confidence in man and of faith in the future of liberty."

President Sean O'Kelly of Ireland declared Dulles' loss will be felt wherever liberty is cherished.

In Canada, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said the death removed from the councils of the world one whose influence for peace was world-wide.

Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi and Foreign Minister Aichi-ro Fujiyama called Dulles a true friend of Japan. Emperor sent condolences to Eisenhower. Fujiyama will fly to Washington for the funeral.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru named Dulles a "great servant of state."

On Taipei, one of President Chiang Kai-shek's closest advisers said the only comfort was the knowledge that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter would continue Dulles' policies.

Vatican sources said the Vatican always "appreciated the intensity of Dulles work for peace."

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan paid tribute to Dulles as one of the main architects of the defense of the free world.

An Indonesian government spokesman described Dulles as one of America's greatest, though controversial, statesmen.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano said the death posed a great loss for the free world.

Danish Premier H. C. Hansen and Foreign Minister Jens O. Krag sent telegrams of regret to President Eisenhower. Hansen and his wife sent a private message of sympathy to Mrs. Dulles.

Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico termed Dulles a "soldier of peace who gave his life in his effort to create a conscience of peace in the world."

Norway's Foreign Secretary Halvard Lange said certain reservations could be taken to some aspects of American foreign policy under Dulles, but that he did not think there was "any disagreement in East or West that Dulles was a champion of peace."

From Israel, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion sent President Eisenhower his condolences at the death of the "great American statesman who in a large measure guided the international policy of all free countries."

Sweden's Foreign Secretary Oesten Unden said the authority of the United States had been strengthened through the work of Dulles.

In Tehran, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said the Iranian government deeply regrets the loss of the "world's peace pioneer."

In Bangkok, Secretary General Pote Sarasin of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization said the loss of Dulles was a pity for the world.

President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina said America lost "one of her most distinguished personalities" in Dulles' death.

Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand said "everything about Dulles had dimension."

Kennedy To Slow Campaign Tempo

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vacation from campaigning will be Sen. John F. Kennedy's answer to signs he may be running in front too early in the 1960 Democratic presidential sweepstakes.

The Massachusetts senator has spoken at party rallies in nearly every section of the country. But he plans a three-months layoff after he fills previous commitments which will keep him busy till early July.

Kennedy is beginning to be marked among the other likely contestants as the potential candidate they need to shoot down to clear the way for their own aspirations.

Though his associates are pleased with the results of various polls that show Kennedy among the leaders, some of them obviously believe the pace he is setting now may be too hot to hold for the more than a year before the convention meets.

Beyond that, Kennedy apparently feels that the voters generally are getting a little fed up on the parade of hopefuls.

What Kennedy does when he resumes activity in the fall may depend somewhat on the progress his possible rivals have made in the summer months.

At least three governors who would like to have the 1960 nomination will get something of an opportunity to get their campaigns started at an August meeting of the Governors' Conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

They are Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and A. B. Chandler of Kentucky. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut will be on hand to help take care of Kennedy's interests.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who is getting a later start than Kennedy, plans some intensive campaigning in Wisconsin this summer. The two senators are likely to meet head on there in a spring primary next year that could put one of them out of the nomination race.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) paid a weekend visit to Wisconsin. But he made it clear he will not enter that state's primary or any other preliminary ballot contests.

In a Milwaukee speech, Symington sounded a familiar note about waste and inefficiency in the Republican administration's defense program.

Harry Schwelzer, 75, who parlayed nickles and dimes from his welfare dole into a modest Wall Street fortune, leaves court in New York after being freed, with a suspended sentence. He could have received a three-year sentence for petty larceny after pleading guilty last April. He ran savings from about a $1.10 a day allowance into market holdings worth $21,000. He repaid the city the $17,000 in dole he received since 1935 and said he was through playing the market.

HCJC Grads Told Living Faith Is Life's Leavening

If this generation relies on technology and science rather than on God and the divinity of Jesus, it will pass into the ages without having left a mark in history. Thus, the Rev. William D. Boyd, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church summed the need of a working, living faith for members of the graduating Howard County Junior College sophomore class. The Rev. Boyd spoke at the baccalaureate held Sunday afternoon in the college auditorium. This was followed by a reception in the Dora Roberts Student Union building, where the traditional graduation dinner will be held Thursday evening. Ever since the dawn of the industrial revolution a century ago, there has been a lessening of the impact of the supernatural, the Rev. Boyd declared. Faith to withstand Satan was replaced in many instances with a new faith in self. "The principles of life gave way to the expediency of living," he said. "The great moral issues once vigorously defended were not longer debated. Men came to feel they were creators with God rather than creatures of God. This generation owes its debt to the past — the dead who gave their lives in the cause of spiritual and moral advance; it owes a debt to the present to witness to their contemporaries concerning a living faith; and a debt to the future by investing in works and things which will enable others to serve God and man more effectively, he declared. Prayers were offered by the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, the Rev. D. B. Phillely, and Mr. Thomas E. Cudd, and the Scripture was read by Dr. Jordan Grooms. Ira Schantz led the HCJC choir in singing "The Last Words of David."

Five Guilty Pleas Heard As Court Hears Criminal Docket

Five pleas of guilty made up the sum of district court activities on Monday morning.

A panel of jurors on hand for service this week in trial of criminal cases had no work to do. Judge Charlie Sullivan thanked the panel members, told them they would receive checks for $5 each for their trouble, and excused them.

The pleas of guilty were entered by Harvey Lee Dewitt, 22, under two forgery indictments; W. E. Harris, 32, forgery by endorsement; Marvin Robinson, 51, forgery by endorsement; Billy Gene Wiley, 35, DWI second offense, and Wilburt Hampton, 29, DWI second offense.

Dewitt drew a two year term in the state penitentiary. He told the court that he had his wife write out a check for $30 on Dec. 5, 1958, which he cashed. There were six Negroes on hand as character witnesses for the defendant. They were all examined at one time by the defense attorney and all related that the young Negro had a good record.

Harris admitted that he forged the name of Mrs. John Harris, his mother, to a check for $70 on Feb. 26, and cashed the check at a dry cleaning establishment. The check has been paid off, the court was told. Harris was granted a three years suspended sentence.

Marvin Robinson told the court that he and another man were drinking together on Feb. 14. Robinson said he had gotten possession of an $8.50 check made out to F. O. Warren. He forged Warren's name on the check and his companion cashed it. They split the money half and half, he said. He was sentenced to two years and the sentence was probated.

Wylie, accused of DWI second offense, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Howard County jail.

Hampton, arrested on March 22 for DWI second offense was given one year in county jail and fined $250. He was granted nine months in which to pay the fine in the case. The jail term was probated. None of the other cases on the docket was ready for trial, Dist. Atty. Gil Jones advised Judge Sullivan. All other matters slated for disposition this week have been continued for the term.

Property Owners Unhappy With Damage Awards

Findings of a special appraisers commission on damages to be awarded to property owners in the Howard County Airport district for aviation restrictions are not acceptable to property owners.

Most of those who own property in the area and whose land is under aviation restrictions were before the commissioners on Monday. Their sentiment was that the appraisers commission had not allowed adequate compensation for the damages sustained by the restraints.

No final decision had been reached at noon by the commissioners.

The ordinary procedure from this point on would be for the property owners to take their case to the county court. A jury in the court would hear their pleas and the position of the county. The jury could increase the amount for damages, reduce it or leave it unchanged.

The county has the same privilege. It can appeal the findings of the appraisers in the event it feels any of the awards made are excessive.

Pedestal Problem Plague To Pastors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A problem plaguing Presbyterian pastors is the pedestal.

A report to the denomination's general assembly today stressed their desire of getting down off it. In American society, the report said, a "growing awareness of the minister's role has the effect of setting him apart and a tendency to place him on a pedestal."

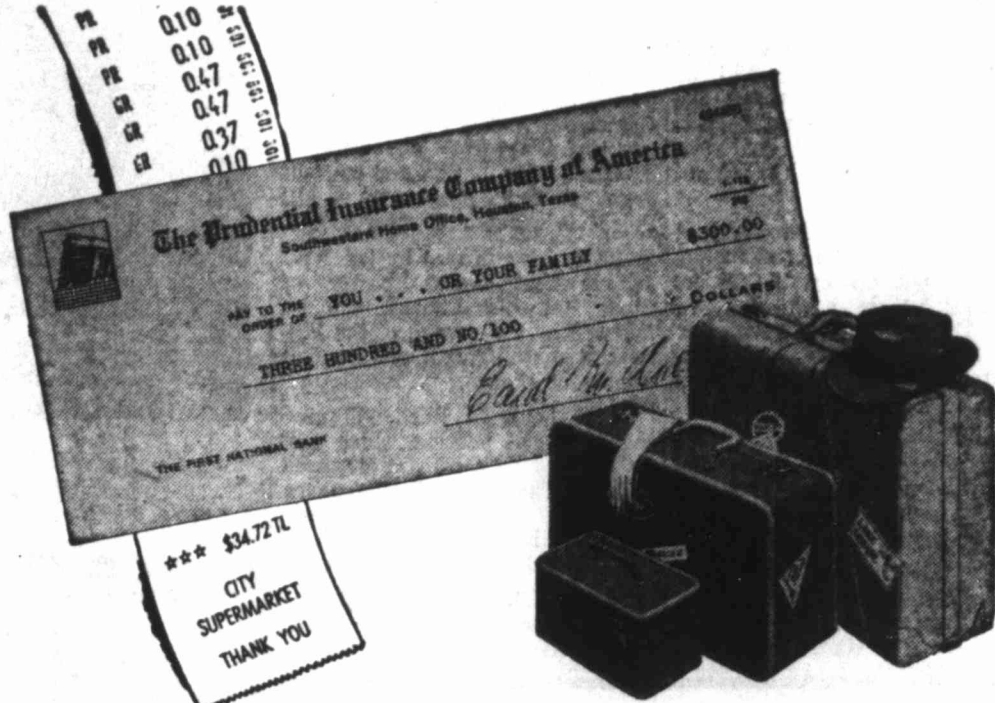

to provide "the antidote," the report said, adding that congregations should realize:

"Ministers are still human beings and need the warmth of friendship, an understanding for their weaknesses and an occasional evidence of appreciation for their good works."

But it was emphasized that the minister as a spiritual leader should not be considered in a sanctimonious category, divorced from his flock.

The report came from a committee on ministerial relations.

Desert Sands Restaurant And Motel To Observe Open House

An invitation to the public to visit the Desert Sands Restaurant and Desert Sands Motel on Tuesday morning has been extended by Herb Vinson, manager of the restaurant, and Jimmy Bryant, manager of the Motel.

The open house will afford the opportunity to residents of the area to inspect Big Spring's newest and most attractive motel-restaurant establishment and become familiar with the services and special features which are offered by both.

From 9 to 11 a.m. the restaurant will serve free coffee and doughnuts to all visitors. An opportunity will be afforded to inspect the big, attractively decorated dining establishment and to meet members of the staff.

A feature on Tuesday will be the serving of a smorgasbord from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. During these hours Vinson said that the usual services in the cafe will be suspended. The smorgasbord was introduced on Sunday at the Desert Sands and met with an enthusiastic reception. It offers a wide selection of delicious foods and the opportunity for the diner to eat all he desires for a single price. Hereafter, other than for the special Tuesday event, the smorgasbord will be a regular Sunday feature at the Sands.

After 3 p.m. Tuesday the restaurant will return to regular operational schedule. Vinson, manager of the restaurant, is well known cafe man in Big Spring and has been associated with several popular dining places here. The Desert Sands Restaurant is operated by McGibbon & Keaton, who have a lease from the Bryant brothers, owners of the property on West Highway 80. Bryant operates the motel and McGibbon & Keaton the restaurant, with Vinson in charge.

The motel portion of the Desert Sands offers luxury accommodations for the traveller. Featured is the swimming pool which on these hot days is a popular gathering place for guests. The comfortable and attractive rooms have been highly praised by visitors in the few months the establishment has been open.

Opportunity to inspect the motel and its facilities will be offered at the same time the restaurant is conducting its open house.

The restaurant is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily. It has facilities for seating 365 diners. It features a special private dining room for organizations and clubs and is deeply interested in serving such groups.

B. G. McDaniel, recently of Fort Worth, who has been a chef in some of the most famous eating places in that city, has assumed duties as chef at the Desert Sands. He has been in his profession for 15 years.

"Good food, good service and a warm welcome for all" will be the theme of operation at the Desert Sands, Vinson said.

McDaniel added that patrons can be assured that only choice beef will be served at the Desert Sands.

Vinson and the 33 employees of the restaurant urge all of their friends to be on hand for the big open house Tuesday morning.

A Devotional For Today

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life. (John 14:6.)

PRAYER: Lord, give us faith to trust Thee, as little children trust Thee. We thank Thee for giving to us little ones who show forth Christ in heart and life. We pray in the name of Jesus who said, "Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein." Amen.

Getting Names On Paving Lists

Interest appears to be high in the projected 150-block assessment project under consideration by the City of Big Spring. What is involved is the signing of petitions which indicate a property owner's willingness to pay a share assessed against the property for the improvement. When the city receives these petitions showing that all—or nearly all—property owners on a given block are willing to join in the paving program, then it is included in the total outlay. The actual signing—the part that is legally binding—comes later.

Usually a contracting firm comes in and handles the sign-up and makes arrangements for payment over a five-year period if desired.

The advantages of an assessment program is this: Unsigned property may be assessed the cost along with those voluntarily signed if a public hearing develops that the property will be increased in value at least to the extent of the cost of the paving. Homesteads may not be so assessed, but usually special arrangements can be made in these cases. Vacant property can be assessed. Hence, the assessment route is the most practical route because so seldom can a wholly voluntary program be developed.

At any rate, the way to get the ball rolling on your block is simple—just go to the city hall and ask for a paving petition. Get with your friends on a block or blocks and see how many you can sign. Return the petition to the city so the project can be considered.

Pitfalls Of Grammar

The confusion over "I" and "me" in plain English flourishes in all walks of life, literature as well as illiterate.

It is a pitfall for holders of A.B., M.A., and Ph. D. degrees as well as for the common run of high school or grammar school products. "They were just as nice as they could be to my wife and I." "It makes no difference to my friend and I whether we get there before dark." All this involves something known as the objective case.

Something else that throws a great many people, including many high-grade magazines and a great many newspapers, is the proper way to handle a.m.

and p.m. relating to divisions of the day. Frequently you see in print, or hear on the air, "At two a.m. this morning," or "Friday afternoon at two p.m." That may be a monument to the late Gertrude Stein, for whom a "rose" was not enough, so she wrote it a rose is a rose is a rose.

The highest and most difficult art in printing is the correct division of words which break over from one column to the next. There are times when publications ignore the wrong division of a word in this column, usually because correcting the mistake might involve the resetting of several lines of type, and time is a wastin'.

David Lawrence Leave Negotiating To Diplomats

GENEVA—The hopes of the world have been raised to the point where many people naively believe that a conference either of foreign ministers or of chiefs of state can really settle international disputes. But what happened here Thursday night illustrates the utter impracticability of the method, especially when complex subjects like the security of a continent are under discussion.

For several days formal sessions have been held to no avail. At last the word went around that a dinner was to be given at which only the four foreign ministers and their top aides would sit down together. There would be no taking of notes or recording of things said. It would be a "social" affair. But everybody in town, particularly the newsmen, noted that business suits were to be worn, and it was described by official spokesmen as an "informal" dinner. So great was the interest in the getting together of the four foreign ministers that each delegation let it be known in advance that it really had nothing to offer and didn't seek to put forward any new proposals.

All this means that each side was waiting to let the other take the initiative. Yet what could possibly come out of such a "social" dinner? Certainly the foreign ministers representing Great Britain, France and the United States could not make answer in a chorus to an important question. Not one of them would venture to take a position different from what had been agreed upon before with the others. The net result is the same as the preliminary rounds of a boxing match, when no really hard blows are struck. Unfortunately, even this analogy isn't altogether applicable, because not one of the combatants, figuratively speaking, is authorized without prior consultation to say anything that could be decisive. Diplomacy has its own language of ambiguities, and only when it is reduced to writing can anything be said to be definitive.

The real significance of the latest dinner party was that each side wanted to find out if the other side was ready to make any substantial concessions from the positions taken in the speeches at the formal sessions. Almost two weeks have gone by and the progress of the conference to date is exactly zero. Another week of such aimless discussion will inevitably bring a demand from the public that the conference farce be ended and the problem of negotiating agreements be turned over to the ambassadors who represent the same governments at each other's capitals.

One wonders, indeed, why the groundwork for an agreement shouldn't be laid by the regularly assigned diplomats, leaving it to the top ministers of state to get together only if the differences have been narrowed to the point where there is some sign that an agreement is really in sight. But today an uninformed public demands "Big-Four conferences" and meetings at the "summit" in the mistaken belief that this is the way to solve crises. Actually, the cumbersome procedure prevents agreement because, if there is to be any backing down on a single point—even for the purpose of trying out the other side—the change is promptly reported in the press of the world as a retreat, and neither side can afford that kind of publicity.

So it's just a matter of time before the utter futility of the public conference method will be conclusively proved and there will be a return to the private discussions of ambassadors.

There is no good reason why the British, French and American ambassadors couldn't sit down with either the foreign minister or the premier in Moscow or why the Soviet ambassador in Washington couldn't have conferences with the British and French ambassadors and the Secretary of State and the President. The same kind of thing could happen at London or Paris and in the end there would be more progress toward agreement—if, indeed, there is a sincere desire on both sides to reach agreement.

Unhappily, the spectacular setting here and the organized propaganda devices merely emphasize that neither side can afford to "negotiate" or "compromise," and the end result must be failure.

The peace of the world is too important in the life of all peoples to remain unsettled for lack of a method of talking things over. The old way—practiced long before the propaganda instruments of today were invented—was a far better means of achieving some kind of equilibrium in the world. The only defect in the historic process was that conclusions were kept secret even after the conferences were finished. Public opinion today rightly demands the revelation of any agreements reached.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

We see where some things about the new Senate Office Building are causing as much complaints as Mr. Truman's back porch on the White House once did. Senators are muttering about the decor of the building, that the clocks don't work, the elevators stall and the loud-speaker microphones squawk like a member in full filibuster. One Senator, Mr. Cotton of New Hampshire, says the whole building reminds him of the school-boy's essay on the camel: "An animal that looks like he was put together by a committee." The building was, too.

Well, we dare say the Senators will soon be able to return undisturbed by the quirky newness of their building, to their ancient chores of passing laws and spending money. The clocks and the elevators will be made to work and the microphones, if we know our Senators, will get the highest priority. Senators don't mind walking up and down steps or even working overtime; but they do like to be heard. Especially when they're busy explaining to each other, for the benefit of their constituents, how necessary their new building (three bathrooms for each Senator) really is, even if it has already cost $88 million.

Such slipshod things happen to everybody, we suppose, though they do seem to happen more often where taxpayers' money is concerned. But even in that area we think it might make the Senators feel a bit better to learn that they're not the only ones embarrassed by a new building.

Take the New York State Supreme Court building, for example. This $18.5 million judicial gem has about all the accommodations the committee that planned the modern courtrooms could think of.

Except the one accommodation any court of justice, ancient or modern, could hardly do without any more than a camel can his hump.

Somebody forgot the witness box.

Dulles At A Turning Point In History

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles died in a world he never made. The forces which shook and shaped it were in motion before he became secretary of state. He spent his six years in office trying to control them.

It may have been a matter of regret to him that, before his

That may have been the most any man in his time could have done.

What's Wrong With Gossip?

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know how gossip got its bad name, but I'm coming out in favor of it, foursquare.

Most people, if they were frank, if they'd drop hypocritical pretense, would agree with me, I'll bet. After all, gossip is the receipt of the mulling over and the transmission of information. Where would we be without it? Does the nature of the information taint the listener? Does the invention of the atom bomb make the scientist a murderer? Anyway, isn't it a question of semantics?

If four old biddies sitting on the front porch sip lemonade and chew up the neighborhood, why call that gossip? Why not call it news analysis? Aren't they, like Walter Lippmann or Ed Murrow, trying to understand the world around them, trying to satisfy a basic curiosity?

Isn't gossip in its broadest sense the basic drive behind every good reporter, research scientist or counter spy? Personally, I find that nothing brightens or uplifts or adds a dash of color to a dull day than a choice bit of gossip.

If Charlie Jones, who lives three doors down the street, belits his wife, I want to know about it. I find such information stimulating. If, it develops, the boss' secretary is shopping for a trousseau and baby clothes at the same time, I do not feel degraded hearing about it or even asking for more information.

Gossip, after all, provides the excitement in the drab lives of the rest of us who can't afford to or lack the temerity to do the things people get gossiped about.

If you know a man who shouts down his mother-in-law after two beers, don't protect me from the news. It may be inspirational.

Have you ever seen greater esprit de corps or a greater sense of vitality in the office that exists in the group of gossips buzzing around the water cooler? Gossip is a vintage champagne. It makes life worth living and a

One thing and another: The mongrel dog population in our country, according to an official of the Animal Insurance Company of America, is getting smaller. The flea bitten animal is becoming a victim of prosperity, it seems.

All I've got to say is that none of the survey took place in my part of town.

Ever wonder why traffic is routed to the left in England? They say the custom goes back to the times when knighthood was in flower. Seems the men in the mail kept to the left in order to remain in a free position to withdraw their swords and fight with the right hand.

When Napoleon was swinging his weight around on the continent, he changed up a lot of customs. For one thing, he ordered his legions to keep to the right (to spite the British, no doubt). Consequently, when they met the enemy in the battle pits, confusion in the opposing ranks reigned and this gave Napoleon's troops a tremendous fighting advantage.

However, Wellington finally put an end to Napoleon's conquest for world domination at Waterloo. Having resisted Bonaparte in every other way, the English decided their ideas on traffic patterns were revolutionary if not better, too, so they needed no other reason to continue as per custom.

Chicago is concerned over the increase in its Negro population. Many Negroes have been moving there from the South while hundreds of white residents have been exiting the city for the suburbs.

Each year in recent years, there has been a net increase of 31,000 Negroes and a net decrease of 15,000 in the white population.

The discouraging thing about the shifts in the population is that most of those departing the city are in good economic brackets—established, self-sufficient citizens.

On the other hand, a large percentage of those moving into Chicago, both white and Negro, are in the absolute bottom bracket, economically, morally and educationally.

A spokesman for the Industrial Welfare Society in England made this statement recently:

"There is growing evidence that breakdowns in health and certainly in some marriages are due to the conflict between husband and wife caused by excessive calls on his job."

More days off and annual vacations of from four to six weeks are being suggested as remedies.

The Gallup Poll

Ike's Popularity Holding Firm

PRINCETON, N. J. — President Eisenhower's personal popularity with voters across the country has held firm during the last month.

The Gallup Poll's monthly check on the popularity of the present occupant of the White House finds 61 out of every 100 voters approving of the way Eisenhower is handling his job.

In April, the comparable popularity score was 60 out of every 100 voters; in March, it was 59.

The current reading on Eisenhower's popularity index is the highest obtained for him in nearly two years. The last time a higher vote of confidence for the President's performance in office was recorded was in July, 1957.

As part of its regular check on the political climate at the "grass roots" level the Gallup Poll has its nationwide corps of reporters ask this question: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Eisenhower is handling his job as President?"

EISENHOWER POPULARITY
—MAY, 1959—

Approve	Disapprove	No opinion	Per Cent
61	23	16

One of the political paradoxes of recent years has been the continued increase in Mr. Eisenhower's popularity since the November, 1958 election, at a time when his party's fortunes, as measured on other Gallup Poll indexes, have fallen to a low ebb.

Since last November's Congressional elections — when the GOP suffered its worst defeat at the polls in over 20 years — the President's popularity with voters has been steadily on the increase. As measured in successive Gallup Poll surveys of the nation's voters, this has been the trend:

Apr. Disapp. No. prove Opin.	Per Cent
Nov., '58	52
Jan., '59	57
March	59
April	60
TODAY	61

The present popularity rating comes at a time when a growing number of rank-and-file members of the GOP are looking pessimistically at the party's chances in next year's presidential contest.

As reported earlier, an increasing number of Republican voters — currently approaching the 50 per cent mark — are of the opinion that the Democrats will win the 1960 presidential race.

Republican fortunes on this Gallup Poll index were at the lowest point in this century one month ago.

Mr. Eisenhower enjoys majority support from voters in all major regions of the country today. As the following table shows, however, he is less popular at present in the heavily Democratic South than in other regions:

EISENHOWER POPULARITY	Apr. Disapp. No. prove Opin.	Per Cent
East	64	20
Midwest	64	22
South	54	28
Far West	63	25

The Warning Voice Is Unpopular

"An impetus was given trade which could not fail to be beneficial. In Paris especially the good results were felt. Strangers flocked into the capital from every part, bent not only on making money, but on spending it . . ."

"The housekeepers were obliged to make up beds in garrets, kitchens, and even stables for the accommodation of lodgers; and the town was so full of carriages and vehicles of every description that they were obliged, in the principal streets, to drive at a foot-pace for fear of accidents."

"The looms of the country worked with unusual activity to supply rich laces, silks, broad-cloth, and velvets, which being paid for in abundant paper, increased in price fourfold."

"Provisions shared the general advance. Bread, meat and vegetables were sold at prices greater than had ever before been known; while the wages of labour rose in exactly the same proportion. The Artisan who formerly gained 15 sous per diem now gained 60."

"New houses were built in every direction; an illusory prosperity shone over the land, and so dazzled the eyes of the whole nation that none could see the dark cloud on the horizon . . ."

Perhaps it's lunacy to quote such foreboding words from Charles Mackay's "Extraordinary Popular Delusions and the Madness of Crowds," first published in 1841 in London and more recently reprinted in the U. S. by L. C. Page & Co., with a foreword by Bernard M. Baruch (price $7).

Why summon wretched recollection of past folly when present economic omens are so favorable in the United States? Personal income is at a record high; ditto production; ditto retail trade. Employment rose sharply in April. Business men are increasing expenditures on plant and equipment. And Wall Street sums it all up bullishly. Stocks are at an all-time top.

Yet, signs were similarly auspicious before the air began hissing out of John Law's Mississippi Bubble in France in 1720, which Mackay wrote about. And periods of great prosperity have persistent parallels.

In 1929, in Wall Street, people cried, "New Era." Writers wrote of never-ending prosperity. Today, Wall Street strings of the New Investor, the calculating soul who looks far, far ahead. He demands growth stocks in preference to current dividends.

Since January, 1958, the New Investor has lifted the value of shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange from 205 to 294 billion dollars. Some of that 89 billion-dollar rise is due to new issues of stock, new listings. But most of it has been in the minds of the New Investors, of people. What used to sell for $50 now sells for $70 plus. It's almost as simple as that.

Such a rise goes to people's heads. I know a man who airconditioned his home because his stocks are up. Others, I'm sure, buy swimming pools, automatic kitchens, new cars, boats, feeling they can spend their full income or borrow.

People who profit on the Stock Exchange seldom attribute their gain to luck. It's their shrewdness. And so it befits a financial writer to suggest that avarice and imagination can get out of hand, that profits are adventitious. He can't win.

Persons who become alarmed and refrain from buying stocks will blame him if prices go up. He stopped them from applying their foresight. If the market goes down, people will blame him for causing the break.

He tries to prolong prosperity by warning against false values. If he succeeds, people say he's a "wolf." Yet his very cries may have prevented the wolf—the debacle—from coming.

I. L. Sharfman, emeritus professor of economics at Michigan, says that the writer on economics has a responsibility to point to excesses during good times and to signs of recovery during bad times. In this way, the critic, the act as a counterbalancing force. He helps to moderate booms and to prevent panics.

But while the good times last he's an unpopular fellow. The idea of disparaging the parade!

Teachers Go To Class

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty-five New York City school teachers are attending classes at the Hospital for Joint Diseases to learn how to detect bone and joint ailments among their pupils.

During the 15-session course, the teachers also learn how to handle handicapped children in their classrooms.
