

Graduating At TCU

Three Big Spring seniors are to receive bachelor's degrees at Texas Christian University Wednesday. Left to right, they are Brown Buford Rogers Jr., Nancy Lee Smith and Wade Bland Simpson. Rogers will get a BA in physics and mathematics, Miss Smith a BS in education, and Simpson a BA in Spanish. Graduation exercises are set for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the TCU stadium. The class includes 484 graduates.

Webb Fighter Pilot Gets Highest Proficiency Award

Capt. John Vasilichin, an F-86L pilot in the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron here, has received the highest award given a fighter pilot in the Air Defense Command, an "Expert" Certificate of Skill Qualification.

The presentation was made by Col. John T. Fitzwater, commander of the 33rd Air Division, parent organization of the 331st FIS.

The certificate is awarded only to Air Defense Command pilots who are assigned to fighter-interceptor units. It involves a minimum of 1,000 hours of jet flying time, a minimum of 700 hours of jet fighter time, a minimum of 50 hours of weather time, a minimum of 20 low weather approaches, a minimum of two years in Air Defense Command fighter units, successful completion of four of five high altitude intercepts, score hits in four of five attempts in actual rocket firing, and successful completion of a tactical check flight and written examination, which is given by a member of a tactical evaluation team of the Central Air Defense Force.

Capt. Vasilichin, who has served a tour as a radar ground controller, has over 1,600 hours of flying time to his credit; he has 1,175 in jets, of which 750 were in jet fighter planes.

Harry G. Davis To Get Master's Degree

Harry Grayson Davis, Big Spring, is one of 46 candidates for degrees in the graduate school of Texas Tech.

The commencement will be Monday. In all, 800 are to graduate from the Lubbock college. Davis is to receive a masters degree in psychology.

'Expert' Rating

Decision Due On Toll Bridge Feud In Midland Court

MIDLAND (AP)—A decision is due in 10 to 20 days in a legal feud over ownership of an unbuilt toll bridge.

Judge Jerry Pickett took the case under advisement Friday. W. E. Sullins of Midland touched off the squabble as a test of a 1955 law permitting Texas cities to purchase any toll bridge within 15 miles of their boundaries.

Sullins said he acquired a 15 per cent interest April 16 in a bridge to be built across the Rio Grande in Starr County—500 miles from here.

Gus Guerra, Starr County rancher, has the permit to build the bridge, with the provision that the structure must be completed by Aug. 28, 1960.

Eight days after Sullins got his interest from Guerra, the Starr County man agreed to sell the bridge to the City of Roma, 14 miles from Rio Grande City.

Sullins attacked the sale on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional, that a bridge must exist for a city to buy it, and that the City of Roma is exercising arbitrary and unreasonable extension of municipal powers.

Cliburn Awaiting Return To Russia

LONDON (AP)—American concert pianist Van Cliburn said today he hopes soon to return to Moscow, where he first found world fame.

"I very much liked Russia and I liked the people there and I hope to play for them again some time in the near future," the Kilgore, Tex., pianist said on arriving here for a European concert tour.

Cliburn, 24, was an unknown until he won the 1958 Tchaikovsky International Competition in Moscow last year.

Coahoma's Leading Students Honored

COAHOMA — Outstanding students of the Coahoma schools were recognized in an awards assembly Friday morning at the high school auditorium.

Fred Salling, high school principal, presented attendance awards to Patsy Greenfield, Jimmy Knouse, Tom Hodnett, Loveda Greenfield, David Burrows and Tommy Covert. Mary Camp was recipient of the best scholar award, with Sue Alice Beard placing second.

Recognition was given to several leaders for next year. Rosalie DeVaney, editor, will be assisted by Sharon Finley and Glenda Haney. She will also be head cheerleader; others are Glenda Haney, Pauline Graves, Frances Earnest and Lanell Mason. Edward Reeves will be Student Council president.

Football captains for next year will be Max Kennemer, Randall Reed and Harold Abernethy. Sharon Finley will be FHA president.

Bill Fishback, elementary principal, introduced award winners from his school. Honored for attendance records were Glenn Jackson, Ronny Ward, Linda Pherig, Dennis Krause, Tommy Stoker, Carolyn Bedell, Betty Jo Knouse, Cynthia Buchanan, Roger McGowan, Edward Rodriguez, Doris Jean Tindol, Alice Nixon, Carol K. In g, Carla Jean Newman, Cheryl Cutwright, Felix Rodriguez and Johnny Dorries. Also, Charlotte Batton, Paul Camp, Ronnie Cunningham, Peggy Greenfield, Marianna Malmstrom and Jenny Smith.

Ronald Dodson, Stanley Haney, Maurice Cutwright, Douglass Earnest, Bill Bound and Sam Kirby were complimented as hall patrol boys.

Many parents attended the program; it was climaxed with a style show in which the home-making girls modeled the garments they had made this year.

Old Wheat Program To Stay In Effect

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will issue a proclamation Monday putting the government's old wheat program into effect for the 1960 crop.

He has no alternative because Congress has failed to come up with a new program. There is general agreement among farm leaders that the present program has failed because a record surplus of the grain has accumulated despite attempts to control production.

The administration called for a new program, but congressional farm leaders do not like a plan advocated by Benson of lowering price supports and doing away with controls.

Death Cause

HOUSTON (AP)—An engineer said Saturday that Gloria Rivera, 13, killed when a school wall collapsed on her Wednesday, died because the wall was not built to specifications.

MAHON ON TV At 4:30 TODAY

Congressman George Mahon, 19th District representative, will be featured on the CBS television program, "Face the Nation," this afternoon. The program will be carried locally on Channel 4 at 4:30.

Mahon will be interviewed on the military defense appropriations bill for 1960. As chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations, he has directed the huge money fund, one that has been involved in some controversy. Rep. Mahon is regarded as one of the nation's top authorities in the area of military financing.

Faubus Favors Home, Church

ATHENS (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas told an East Texas audience Friday it is better to die fighting for some causes than to rule the world "on any other basis."

"Some say I am fighting for a lost cause," Faubus said. "But if honesty, integrity, neighborliness and sanctity of the marriage vows and the church are lost causes, then all is lost."

Faubus addressed a crowd gathered for the Old Fiddlers Reunion.

Local Group Gets Degrees At Baylor

Peggy Joy Hogan Powell, David Brown Reed, Robert Earl Morehead, Norman Beck, James Carlton Shirley and Glenna Keith Coffey, all of Big Spring, were among the 700 graduates of Baylor University who graduated on Friday.

Dr. William Richardson White, president of Baylor for the past 11 years, was the commencement speaker. Dr. Baker James Cauten, executive secretary of the Foreign Missions Board of Southern Baptist Convention, delivered the baccalaureate sermon Thursday evening.

Matador, Protege Headline Sunday Reynosa Program

REYNOSA, Mex. (AP)—A battle-scarred veteran and his ambitious protege headline the program here Sunday as this Mexican border city attempts to bring big-time bullfighting to the area.

Aging, Brooklyn-born Sidney Franklin, who has faced death in the afternoon for more than a third of a century in bullfights around the world, fights one of five bulls.

Young Baron Clements of Kilgore, a Franklin-trained pupil, takes on two bulls. Clements will be making his fourth Mexican start after returning from Spain where he trained for more than two years under Franklin.

Jose Banuelos of the State of Jalisco, Mexico, will face two bulls.

Both the master and the student have felt the horns of the bull in recent fights. Franklin will be making his first start since May 3 when he was gored in Juarez. Clements was gored last Easter at Nuevo Laredo. However, both men remained to dispatch their bulls.

Clements, 20, turned to bull fighting after his graduation from Kilgore High School. He is anxious to join the "pro" ranks and Franklin has said he could become the greatest bullfighter in history if he continues to improve.

Reed Reports 396 Rigs Still Active

The count of rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin last week showed only a slight drop from the 401 count of May 22, which was the second highest total of 1958.

Reed Roller Bit Co. took a survey of the active rotary rigs in the Permian Basin on Friday and found 396 in action. This is the third highest number reported this year, topped by the 401 of May 22 and the 407 of Jan. 10.

The Friday total is about 25 per cent above the same time of 1958, there were 300 units in action in West Texas and southeastern New Mexico.

Lea County, N. M., with 56 active rotary operations, was the top drilling area in the Basin last week. Andrews County was in second spot with 42. Andrews was the leader the previous two weeks, having 45 rigs active on May 22. Lea on May 22 recorded only 43 rigs.

In addition to these two, other counties recording at least 20 active units include Crane with 21, Ector with 33, Gaines with 22, and Winkler with 23.

Activities in Howard County took a nosedive, falling from 10 on May 22 to six last Friday. This is the lowest county for Howard since the last week in January. At this time last year, however, only four units were operating in the county. Borden dropped from 11 to eight during the week and Dawson held firm with two.

Counties included in the Reed Survey (with May 22 figures in parentheses) include Andrews 42 (45), Borden 8 (11), Cochran 6

(10), Crane 21 (20), Coke 2 (2), Chaves 11 (11), Concho 1 (1), Crockett 1 (2), and Crosby 1 (1).

Also Culberson 3 (3), Dawson 2 (2), Dickens 0 (1), Ector 33 (34), Eddy 13 (10), Fisher 2 (3), Gaines 22 (19), Garza 8 (9), Glasscock 2 (2), Hale 1 (1), Hockley 3 (5), HOWARD 6 (10), Irion 1 (1), Kent 1 (2), and Lamb 1 (1).

Others in the survey are Lea 56 (42), Loving 8 (4), Lynn 1 (1), Martin 2 (3), Mitchell 3 (3), Midland 9 (10), Nolan 2 (2), Pecos 18 (20), Reagan 5 (6), Reeves 5 (4), Roosevelt 2 (2), Runnels 4 (4), Scurry 6 (8), and Schleicher 6 (5).

Also Stonewall 5 (4), Sutton 1 (1), Tom Green 2 (2), Terry 3 (3), Terrell 7 (7), Upton 11 (10), Val Verde 2 (2), Ward 15 (14), Winkler 23 (23), and Yoakum 10

(14), and Permian Basin totals 396 (401).

Throughout the nation, drilling is up, according to Hughes Tool Company's survey on Monday. The Hughes count was 2,197 active rigs as against 2,118 for May 18. This last count included 794 in Texas; 775 were active on May 18.

The report, made to the American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors showed 353 active rigs in Louisiana, against 347 for May 18, and Oklahoma had 259 last week. New Mexico's total on Monday was 123, and Kansas showed 144. There were 97 active rotary rigs in California.

Western Canada had 141 units turning Monday, against 124 on May 18.

Convention Speaker

A. L. (Pete) Porter, New Mexico Oil Conservation Commissioner, will be on a panel discussing "Conservation Practices Affecting Landmen" on June 11 at the Fifth Annual meeting of the American Assn. of Petroleum Landmen in Oklahoma City. Over 1,000 landmen are expected for the convention which gets under way June 10.

Depletion Rate May Hinge On Presidential Selection In 1960

NEW YORK (SC)—The year 1961 may be the big one on the oil and gas percentage depletion tax issue. The key figure in the fight will be the next president.

In a roundup of eight of the leading 1960 presidential hopefuls, Platt's Oilgram, an oil publication, found two would be against cutting the 27½ per cent rate, five probably would sign an anti-depletion bill, and one is still "on the fence."

Studies by the Independent Petroleum Assn. show that the present rate helps keep down prices for oil to the consumer.

Here is where the leading presidential possibilities stand on the issue:

Democratic Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts voted last year for the Proximate amendment which called for a graduated reduction in the rate, depending on income, down to 15 per cent. But he voted against the Williams amendment, which called for a flat cut to 15 per cent.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. Stuart Symington—both Democrats—voted for both Proximate and Williams amendments. Neither took any leading roles in the fight.

Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson voted last year against slashing the 27½ per cent rate, and his intimates say he worked vigorously behind the scenes to blunt the anti-depletion drive.

On the Republican side, Vice President Richard Nixon, when Senator in 1951, voted against cutting oil and gas rates. Like Johnson, Nixon as president probably works behind the scenes against a drive to reduce the rate, the publication pointed out.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, like Nixon and Johnson, is against drastic change. The publication stated that Democrats Adlai Stevenson and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey probably would not make an all-out effort to slash depletion, but they would almost certainly sign an anti-depletion bill.

Devonian Wildcat Staked In Dawson By Odessa Pair

A deep wildcat has been located in the southwestern part of Dawson County this weekend. Also, a wildcat in the same area was testing the Devonian Saturday, but a complete report on the test could not be ascertained.

In Howard County a wildcat found water in the Mississippian. The new wildcat is E. G. Rodman & W. D. Noel of Odessa No. 1 C. M. Turbow. It is located 660 feet from north and west lines, Labor 14, League 262, Borden CSL Survey, and almost on the Martin County line.

Operator will test to 13,000 feet looking for Devonian production. The site is 3¼ miles southwest of Patricia and three miles south of the Patricia (Fusselman) field.

Nearby, the Texas Crude No. 1-20 Clay tested the Devonian from 10,140-82 feet, and gas surfaced after 2½ hours. It was still testing when last report was made.

The project is 2¼ miles west of the one-well Patricia field, 660 feet from the south and west lines, Labor 20, League 266, Kent CSL Survey.

Garza Well Heads List Of Wildcats

An 8,900-foot Ellenburger project in the southern part of Garza County heads the list of seven wildcat sites announced this weekend for the West Texas area.

Other explorations are to be drilled in Lynn, Yoakum, Cochran, Irion, and Loving counties. Two are to be sited in Loving.

The Garza project is Paul C. Teas No. 6 Skeeter Slaughter and is about 10 miles south of Post. It is to test the Strawn and Ellenburger to 8,900 feet. Drillsite is 1,320 feet from north and east lines, 38-2, T&P Survey.

In Loving County, R. E. Sutton and Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-41 BD TXL is a 4,500-foot wildcat about 15 miles northwest of Mentone. The site is 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from west lines, 41-43-1, T&P Survey.

The other Loving try is Fred A. Davis No. 1-47-A TXL, about five miles northwest of Mentone. It is to drill to 4,700 feet and takes the place of the No. 1-47 TXL which was junked and abandoned at a depth of 752 feet.

The project is 1,975 feet from south and 665 feet from west lines, 47-54-2, T&P Survey.

Earl Wells Jr. of Odessa staked the No. 1 Loma A. Fields in Lynn County about six miles southwest of Southland. It is 2,310 feet from north and east lines, Section 1,272, AB&M Survey. Drilling depth is 4,800 feet.

In Yoakum County about 12 miles northwest of Plains is the Jack Blair & John Morris No. 1 Bedford wildcat. The site is 660 feet from south and east lines, 127-D, John H. Gibson Survey. Drilling depth is 5,300 feet.

Geochemical Surveys, Drilling & Exploration, and Sidney Davis, all of Abilene, will drill the No. 1-C F. O. Masten about five miles south of Maple in Cochran County. It is staked 660 feet from south and the west lines, Labor 8, League 145, Stonewall CSL Survey, and it will drill to 4,600 feet.

In Irion County, Donald M. Oliver and Wright Cowden of Midland No. 1 Brooks is 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines, S-3, H&TC Survey, three miles east of Mertzon. Drilling depth is 1,400 feet.

The report showed 251 oil and 47 gas wells complete with drillers hitting 124 dry holes. For the year 4,871 oil and 844 gas wells have been completed.

A year ago the totals were 5,708 and 1,002 wells.

Fifteen wildcat oil wells were struck. Drillers have plugged 4,124 wells this year compared to 4,306 a year ago.

The daily oil allowable increased 13,674 barrels to 3,210,675 barrels during the week.

The Texas Crude Oil Co. venture in the northwestern part of Martin County has been plugged and abandoned after testing through the Devonian.

The project, Texas Crude No. 1 Kerry-Kim-Bo, was plugged at a depth of 12,446 feet. Location was 10 miles southwest of Patricia, 660 feet from south and east lines, 10-HA, Lanier Survey. Operator took tests in both the Wolfcamp and Devonian but found only salt water.

Chaplain Mikesell Leaves Webb For Alaska Assignment

Chaplain (1st Lt.) Verlin E. Mikesell, after years as Protestant chaplain here, is leaving Webb AFB this weekend for an assignment in Alaska.

The chaplain, who served in the U. S. Navy during World War II, is a graduate of Indiana Central College, Indianapolis, Ind., where he majored in history. He completed his theological training in 1954, graduating from the United Theological Seminary at Dayton, Ohio.

In September of 1955, Chaplain Mikesell received a commission in the U. S. Air Force, being assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., and then to Webb. Last fall he attended the Squadron Officers Course of the Air University at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Chaplain Mikesell is married to the former Ruth Burns of Kokomo, Ind., and they have two daughters, Judith Anne and Deanna Kay, and two sons, Robert Eugene and Richard Kevin.

The chaplain's wife and children will live in Tucson, Ariz., during his 12-month stay in Alaska.

2 Projects At Webb Planned

Bids for construction of two buildings at Webb AFB have been advertised by the district engineer, U. S. Army Engineer Fort Worth District.

Proposals will be accepted starting June 4 and will be opened on June 25, according to the present schedule.

Included are a navigational aids building and an emergency power building. Both will be wood frame construction with asbestos siding. Part of the bids will be for asphalt paved drives, concrete hardstands, concrete duct banks, electric power system, fencing, grading and drainage.

Plans may be obtained from the district office at 114 Commerce St. in Dallas or from the resident engineer for the West Texas resident office, P. O. Box 86, Webb AFB.

Area Students To Get H-SU Degrees

Big Spring area students will be among those who will receive diplomas at Hardin-Simmons University commencement on Monday.

No student from Big Spring itself is in the class of 163 who are candidates for degrees.

Area residents are Ronald Wayne Huckabee, Andrews, who is to receive a degree in business administration; Betsy Lee Aycock, Colorado City; Wanda Sue Barron, Martha Sue Crawley, and John Henry Hamilton, all of Lamesa, Lynda Kay Parson, Water Valley, and Burley Ray Polk, Stanton, degrees of bachelor of science; James Arnold Hall, Lorraine, and Troy Williamson, Snyder, bachelor of arts.

Egypt Is Ending Barter Of Cotton

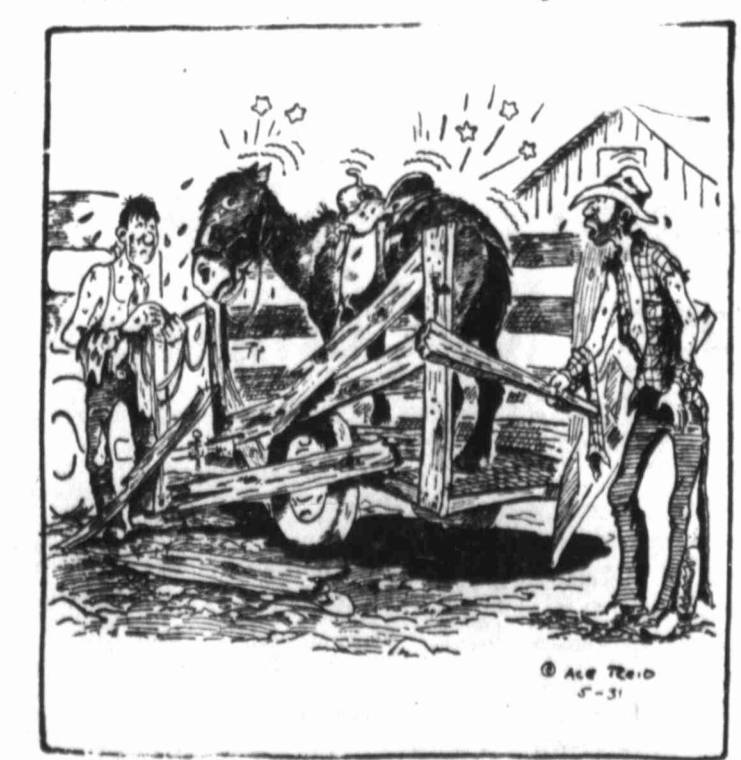

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government has decided to stop all barter deals in cotton, an official source said today.

This is considered a major step toward freeing Egypt from dependence on the Communist bloc for sale of its cotton.

Henceforth Egyptian cotton is to be sold with standard discount to anyone paying with free currency.

Former War Correspondent Recalls Bitter Invasion Days

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Writer

Fifteen years ago, under the supreme command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the mightiest invasion armada in history was poised to strike across the English Channel for an assault on Hitler's vaunted Atlantic wall.

Military experts say it could probably never happen again.

With the advent of nuclear weapons, a single hydrogen bomb could obliterate an entire invasion fleet or destroy all life on a beachhead.

But if you were there on D-Day in Normandy, you'll never forget the scene.

The incredibly vast panorama of more than 4,000 invasion ships. The big battlewagons slamming salvos of steel at German coastal fortifications. The weird spectacle of tanks swimming in the surf like monster beetles. And Allied troops by the tens of thousands wading ashore in the teeth of enemy fire.

D-Day: June 6, 1944.

As an accredited AP war correspondent, I spent the last night before the invasion in a sealed-off camp near Portsmouth, England. In a letter home, I wrote: Of being selected as the first (sea-borne) correspondent ashore in the whole invasion setup.

I was tickled to land with British commandos at H-Hour plus 45 minutes.

NONE COULD LEAVE

Barbed wire hemmed the encampment. Armed sentries paced at frequent intervals. Once inside, no man was allowed to leave. About 3 o'clock the next afternoon we swung aboard Army lorries and rolled slowly away to the Portsmouth docks in a long, winding caravan.

Along with 100 green-bereted commandos, my English conducting officer, Capt. Sir Charles Birkin, and I boarded a low-lying LCIs (landing craft, infantry, small) which looked like a dwarf among the big troop ships in the jam-packed harbor.

About dusk we got under way. It was a rough passage. The wind rose to 15 knots. Twice during the night, as I lay half asleep in the collapsible upper berth of a two-decker bunk, I was pitched violently to the floor when the bed frame slipped its latch.

About 5:30 a.m., Birkin awakened me. We went up on deck as dawn broke in a red-tinged haze over the sea. Munching on hard-boiled eggs, all hands peered intently through the rising mist for a sight of enemy-held France.

Suddenly, in the classic phrase, all hell broke loose. As the landing craft moved shoreward, our naval barrage lifted and German shore batteries came viciously to life.

SOUND APPALLING

The water was now thickly pocked with shell geysers. On all sides, small landing craft were spewing flames and black smoke. Others, heavily laden with steel-helmeted troops, chugged steadily shoreward. The din of gunfire was appalling.

Suddenly there was a rush of hard boots across the deck. The blunt nose of the LCIs bumped sand, and the pack of beret-clad commandos scampered down the catwalk into the sea.

Belatedly, handicapped by a broken wrist encased in a steel-ribbed leather gauntlet, I hoisted my 65-pound rucksack on my shoulders, grabbed my waterproof portable typewriter, and ran across the open deck.

I had barely started down the catwalk—a wobbly plank-like affair about eight inches wide, with a single wire handrail for support—when the LCIs started to pull out.

I shouted at the skipper to wait. It is a safe bet that seldom has an officer of the British Royal Navy been so fervently chewed out by an American news correspondent. If he heard me, his only answer was to gun his engines faster—and I was catapulted head first into the sea.

NEARLY DROWNED

When I came up, spluttering but with typewriter still clutched in hand, I had to wade about 75 yards to reach shore. Even with my 6 feet 1 inch height, the water came nearly to my shoulders. Limp bodies, face down, bobbed idly in the waves.

A few yards away a British Tommy called cheerfully, "C'mon, Yank, we'll make it!" He gave a little sigh, and sank into the water.

It was the longest 75 yards I ever traveled. My water-soaked rucksack weighed a ton. Each step took an agony of exertion. I fell and knew I couldn't get up. Capt. Birkin saw me. He waded out and half dragged me ashore.

The beach was pandemonium. The Germans plastered us with 88s, machinegun bullets and mortars. Some British troops crouched behind a low sand ridge. Officers, waving pistols and swearing a blue streak, whipped them inland.

According to legend, you never hear the shell that hits you. Nor did I. Lying there, occasionally lifting my helmet from the sand to gulp fresh air, I felt the blast but heard no sound.

The man lying across my shoulders was dead. Two others were killed. One man, badly wounded, kept rubbing his hand across an ugly black hole in the side of his forehead and then staring at the wet blood on his fingers. Over and over, he moaned softly: "Mother, mother, I can't stand it."

BLOODY COAT

The firing drifted off. I stood up, unhurt. My trenchcoat was soaked with blood.

We had landed on an open beach between Ouistreham and Lion, at the extreme eastern flank of the 60-mile invasion front, but in the distance I could make out a row of pretty white-stucco beach villas with red tile roofs.

I started toward them, but the firing broke out again and I dove into a bomb crater on the beach. When the racket stopped, I stripped the waterproof tape off my typewriter and began to write. A stiff wind rattled the copy paper, and wind-born sand grated in the keys.

Two Messerschmitts flashed overhead, shooting up the beach with machinegun and cannon fire. A plump British captain flopped into the crater beside me with an apologetic, "I say, old boy, it's a bit sticky, isn't it. Mind if I join you?"

About 2:30 p.m., having finally dispatched my story by naval courier, I went several miles inland to catch up with the front. With me went one-armed young Doon Campbell of Reuters, a smiling Scot who was to become my jeepmate all through France, Belgium and Holland into Germany.

SOUND ADVICE

It was quiet when we found British 3rd Division headquarters, staked out in an apple orchard about 400 yards from the Germans.

"Better dig," a man said. And presently there was the odd spectacle of two one-handed men (Doon with his artificial arm, myself with a broken wrist) feverishly trying to dig foxholes in the flinty soil of Normandy.

Two hours, sweating in the hot June sun, we had dug only about 10 inches deep when the Germans counterattacked. Soon we wound up on the beach again.

At dusk, hidden rests of German snipers, who had lain doggo all day, began to shoot at anything that moved.

He's 'Goodfellow'

Presbytery Of Southwest To Hold Semi-Annual Meet Here

More than 100 out of town elders and deacons of the Presbyterian Church are expected here Tuesday for the opening of the semi-annual meeting of the Southwest Presbytery.

Among the high-points of the two-day session will be the presentation of young ministers who have just completed their work at the Austin seminary. This presbytery has received approximately one-fourth of the graduating class of '52.

The Rev. William B. Holmes, Van Horn, the retiring moderator, will be the speaker at the opening session at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church, where Dr. R. Gage Lloyd will be host minister. The welcome will be extended by Mayor Lee O. Rogers.

Each of the seven ministers joining this presbytery will deliver 15-minute sermons during the course of the conference.

Three of them will speak at the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the presbytery, two others at the 8:30 a.m. meeting, and the remaining two at the 11 a.m. session. The Tuesday evening and the Wednesday 11 a.m. meetings are open to the public.

Business will be concluded at the Wednesday afternoon meeting when a moderator-elect will be named to take the place of the Rev. Jack Ware, Pecos, who steps up to moderator. The Rev. Ware formerly was St. Paul Presbyterian pastor here. Commissioners to the general assembly also will be elected.

The new ministers who will address the presbytery are the Rev. John M. Grand, who goes to Colorado City, the Rev. Frederick L. Campbell, who goes to Ballinger; the Rev. Daniel R. Sebesta, who is to be at Eldorado; the Rev. James

Teachers, Former Trustees Honored

Twenty faculty members and three former school board members were honored for long and faithful service to the Big Spring school system at the second annual faculty luncheon Friday.

The luncheon, which is served as the school year terminates, was at the high school cafeteria. Floyd Parsons, superintendent, who introduced the custom, presided. He presented the awards.

Mrs. Miriam Wilcox was presented with a pin marking her 25th year with the schools. Two 20-year pins were presented—Fat Murphy and Mrs. C. C. Coffey receiving these awards.

Mrs. William Gage was presented a 15-year pin as was Dan Conley.

Ten-year pins were given Mrs. Louise Horton, Miss Rose Sizemore, Mrs. E. L. Cowan, Mrs. J. W. Engstrom, Mrs. Grace Hubbard, Mrs. M. R. Turner, J. O. Hagood, Miss Colleen Slaughter, Mrs. Donald Green, Mrs. H. E.

E. Brock and the Rev. Ronald M. Guin who will go to El Paso Trinity and El Paso University; the Rev. Walter A. Buehrle, who goes to Grade Presbyterians in Lubbock; and the Rev. William E. Fryer, who goes to St. Mark in San Angelo.

The Southwest Presbytery embraces territory from Ballinger to Ruidoso, N. M., and from El Paso and Sanderson to Amarillo.

Clay, Mrs. John Hardy, John Hardy, Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs, Mrs. Curtis Beard, and Mrs. Gene Crenshaw.

It was announced that Mrs. Crenshaw actually has 12 years service in the schools and should have been awarded her pin last year. Her name was inadvertently omitted from earlier lists.

Three former board members, Tom Guin, Robert Stripling and Clyde Angel, were also guests of honor. Service pins were presented Guin and Stripling, and Angel, who was president of the board five of the six years he served, was given a cigarette lighter with the service pin embedded on its side.

Also present at the luncheon were four members of the present board—Omar Jones, vice president, Dr. Floyd Mays, secretary, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper and Wendal Parks. Clyde McMahon and Board President John Dibrell were unable to be present.

NAMES READY FOR STORMS

NEW YORK (AP)—The arrival of a tropical storm off Louisiana Friday found the Weather Bureau ready with a full list of hurricane names for the season.

They are Arlene, Beulah, Cindy, Debra, Edith, Flora, Gracie, Hannah, Irene, Judith, Kristy, Lois, Marsha, Nellie, Orpha, Penny, Quella, Rachel, Sophie, Tanya, Udele, Vicky, Wilma, Xcel, Yasmin and Zasu.

Chances are all the names will not be used because it is unlikely there will be 26 such storms in a year. Last year's began with Alma and ended with Janice.

Influenza Is On Increase

An outbreak of influenza was recorded here last week.

The City-County Health Unit in its weekly communicable disease report showed that 55 flu cases were treated, as compared with 18 for the previous week. Upper respiratory cases numbered 20, 10 less than the week before.

Twenty persons also had measles last week, compared with 14 for the previous period. Nine had mumps, and six cases of scarlet fever were recorded. Five cases of tonsillitis were found.

Three cases of Vincent's disease and gonorrhea and two each of pink eye, whooping cough, and trench mouth completed the report.

Pilot Parachutes Through Hailstorm

HAYS, Kan. (AP)—An Air Force pilot parachuted 15,000 feet Friday night through hail and turbulent winds and escaped with only face and neck bruises.

Lt. Robert A. Stewart, 27, Belton, Mo., bailed out of his F102 jet interceptor aircraft shortly after his engine flamed out at 42,000 feet. Stewart said he thought his plane was tossed around by a tornado.

There were numerous unconfirmed reports of funnels throughout the area. Wind velocity was believed to have ranged from 85 to 150 miles an hour.

30 Big Springers Seeking Passports

Fourteen applications for passports for 30 Big Spring residents have been filed in the office of the District Clerk Wade Choate during May.

Several of these applications, as is usually the case, are for dependents of military personnel who are sailing to foreign countries to join husbands and fathers.

A number of applications, however, are for Big Springers who are planning extensive vacations abroad.

Choate says that the requests filed with his office for passports stand at from 12 to 15 each month of the year. The office prepares the essential forms, provides the applicant with all information needed to obtain a passport and forwards the request to the proper federal agency.

Passport requests and the country or countries the applicants propose to visit issued this month: Mrs. Hazel Lee Sorrell and her two children, France; Barbara Danielle Thomas, Germany; Cleone Alice Nicholson and her three children, England; Mary Alice Gales and her two children, Japan; Clara Nell Klugman and her two children, Germany; Joan Virginia Farris and her three children, the Philippines; Chara Adeline Chisholm, Japan; Mrs. Vestal T. Ruggles, Iceland; Lt. Thomas Eddie Morris, England, France, West Germany, Denmark, Spain, and Morocco; Vernoy Kawai Ahinn, France, West Germany, French Morocco, Denmark and Spain.

Gerald Thomas McMillan, England, Spain, France, West Germany and Denmark; Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Mrs. Cowper and their three children, Ireland, Scotland, England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, France, Spain and Portugal; Mr. and Mrs. Otis James Johnson, Nigeria, Africa; and Bonnie Lee Grace, England.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES HONOR HOWARD COUNTY'S WAR DEAD
Chaplain C. O. Hitt leads citizens in tribute to men who gave all

Community's War Heroes Are Eulogized In Brief Ceremony

Big Spring paused Saturday to pay its tribute to the men and women of this county who have died in the wars this nation has fought. The business district closed doors; public offices were shut down.

And a small Memorial Day audience gathered at the war memorial on the east lawn of the Howard County Courthouse to hear Chaplain C. O. Hitt, VA Hospital, eulogize the county's heroes.

"These men," said the Rev. Hitt, "are not really dead—they live forever in the memory of those they have left behind."

He added that "they died that right, morality and freedom might endure." The lesson their sacrifice teaches, said the speaker, is "they did not love life unto death."

"If they could speak to us today," he said, "they would say no sacrifice they made or that we can make is too great to save our nation from conflict."

The Rev. Hitt called attention to the emphasis which is being placed on the need for more scientific training. The nation is being repeatedly told that the future existence of the United States and its institutions of liberty, freedom and human rights depends on development of more persons of high scientific capabilities.

"This may be true in a sense," he observed, "but it is not enough. There must be equal emphasis placed on morality, good citizenship and the love of freedom. Otherwise we will perish."

The ceremonies were arranged by veterans groups of the city and representatives of these organizations were in attendance.

A wreath of white flowers was placed on the granite marker which bears the names of all of the Howard County men and women who perished in World War II and in the Korean War. Gold Star mothers—mothers whose sons were killed in one or another of these conflicts—placed the wreath.

against the memorial Mrs. Alfred Moody and Mrs. S. R. Noble represented these mothers.

Greeley Aston, district commander of the Disabled American Veterans, was master of ceremonies.

He introduced those who were on the speaker's stand and who were official representatives of the sponsoring groups.

Desmond Powell, DAV; Horace Beane, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Foy Dunlap, American Legion; Charles Reidy, Moose Lodge; Mrs. James Horton, Auxiliary DAV; Mrs. Lois Hill, Auxiliary American Legion; Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Noble, Gold Star Mothers; Raymond Andrews, district commander, American Legion, and R. R. McKinney, commander of the World War II group and Jess Slaughter, local commander WWI, were those participating in the program.

Bright blue skies and a beaming sun afforded ideal weather conditions for the ceremonies.

THE WEEK

graduated 45 young people Thursday with Dr. J. W. Reynolds of the University of Texas calling for greater stress in the humanities.

Denise Meador with 2.94 and Don Shortes with 2.91, were ranking students. Not bad when you consider 3.00 is the highest possible.

In case it skipped your attention, the annual spring cleanup campaign is now in full swing. Set a good example for your neighborhood, and let a clean town begin at your door.

District Engineer Jake Roberts told the commissioners court last week that the U. S. 87 right of way deeds north of Fairview to the Martin County line are about ready to deliver. He expressed hope this divided highway project could be up for a July letting.

Indicative of the keen interest in a new major paving program was the action of city commissioners. They approved 70 flocks for preparatory study last week as the first unit of a 150-block program.

Dr. T. M. Collins and Dr. G. T. Hall, physicians, and Dr. E. H. Hoppel and Dr. E. O. Ellington were honored with their caps and pins at the Permian Basin Medical Society meeting. These four gentlemen have only 217 years of service between them.

The Red Cross Gray Lady corps was given a healthy increase last week when 28 women were presented with their caps and pins at Webb AFB. Mrs. Vi Ballou and Mrs. Ingard Bradley qualified for special 150-hour awards.

The Jaycees are beating the bushes for entries in the beauty pageant set for July 4. Young ladies should take note that by reason of the new affiliation they could be in line for a chance at the Miss America title if they win locally.

Crippled Children's Society officials are downright blue over the lack of response for appeals to support the Easter Seal sale. Only a relative handful responded this year, and as a result the society is way short of its budget. It's never too late to help.

Carver To Move To New Building At 9th And Nolan

James Carver announced this weekend he will be able to move his drug firm into new facilities at 9th and Nolan in about a week to 10 days.

Carver, owner of Carver Drive-In Pharmacy which is now located at 304 E. 9th, said that the new building will provide 1,500 square feet of space—about three times the amount now used. The new quarters are being built by him.

He said that a cafe is to occupy his present space.

Carver went into the pharmacy business for himself less than three years ago. He opened the establishment in August of 1956, having previously worked for other local drug firms.

Attend Graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Read, his mother, Mrs. E. S. Goodner of Santa Ana, Calif., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Brown of Ackery, attended commencement exercises for the Reads' son, David, at Baylor University Friday.

Secretary Anderson Sends Thanks For Article On Gold

To the Editor:

My deepest thanks for J. A. Livingston's recent article on gold. It is a comfort to have one so widely respected as he put this thing in such wide perspective.

Viola Robinson Much Improved

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor-collector, has returned home from the Shannon Memorial Hospital in San Angelo. Her condition is much improved but it was said she would have to remain in bed for two more weeks.

Mrs. Robinson has been ill and hospitalized since Jan. 13. Walter Robinson, her husband, said that treatment at the Shannon Hospital speedily diminished the difficulty she had been suffering.

First Derby Inspections Set In Two Weeks

Soap Box Derby boys were being reminded by sponsors Saturday that only two weeks remain before their racers must be submitted for preliminary inspections.

The first inspections are set for June 12, starting at 8:30 a.m. on the Tidwell Chevrolet Co. lot at 1501 E. 4th St.

"Get those cars ready, boys," was the advice Saturday from local Derby sponsors — Tidwell, Lions Club and The Herald.

The cars will be inspected as they arrive at the Tidwell lot June 13. The first ones to get there will be completed first, of course.

Boys will be given a list of items not up to requirements, if any such discrepancies are found. The youths then will have until June 20 to make corrections. Final inspections are scheduled for that date. The Derby will be unreeled on June 25.

The complete line-up of prizes is being assembled by Lions and will be announced in the next few days. Grand prize will be the all-expense trip to Akron, Ohio, and the All-American Soap Box Derby in August. Seven or eight other valuable awards will be made locally.

Louisiana Governor Visits Psychiatrist

GALVESTON (AP)—Louisiana's Gov. Long arrived at John Sealy Hospital here Saturday after a hush-hush flight from his state capital. He was placed under the care of a noted psychiatrist.

The flight here for treatment came after the governor stunned members of the Louisiana Legislature with shouting spells.

He later was put to bed, and his wife said Friday that the governor suffered from complete exhaustion.

Gov. Long had reservations at Galveston Hospital here. His Galveston physician will be Dr. Titus Harris, a famous psychiatrist.

Harris is chairman of the Department of Neurology and Psychiatry of the Medical College of the University of Texas. He also operates a private clinic.

Watson Services Are Held In C-City

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services were held here Saturday for C. M. (Mack) Watson, 68, a resident of this area for 53 years.

Mr. Watson died in the VA Hospital Big Spring Friday after a long illness.

The services were conducted in the Kiker & Son Chapel with W. E. Burkham, Church of Christ minister, officiating. Burial was in Colorado City Cemetery.

Mr. Watson is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Moore Lynn and Mrs. Dora Cavitt, both of Dallas; and three brothers, J. D. Watson of Houston and P. J. and J. W. Watson of Colorado City.

Violence Claims 4 Lives In Texas

By The Associated Press

Violence claimed at least four lives in Texas with the Memorial Day rush to recreational spots just beginning.

By late Saturday, the toll included one traffic death, one drowning and two from other causes.

The figures compiled in Texas varied from those kept nationally, since the national figures include only traffic and drowning deaths and other deaths attributable to the holiday.

New Insurance Rates Published

AUSTIN (AP)—New fire and extended coverage insurance rates estimated to save Texas policyholders more than 6 million dollars a year were published Saturday.

Nation's Tenderness For War Dead Growing With The Years

By WILLIAM C. OWEN

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — The nation's tenderness for its nearly half a million dead in the last three wars is surging anew with the passing years.

On the green-clad hills of Arlington National Cemetery, more and more Americans are pausing to pay homage to those who gave their lives in two world wars and the Korean conflict.

Daily, as on this Memorial Day weekend, the scene is re-enacted. The silent, slow-moving throngs, the uniformed sentry pacing back and forth, the sound of muffled weeping and the melody of birds singing about the quiet hilltop plaza.

Near the sentry stands a blue and gold sign: "This shrine is sacred to the people of the United States."

Officials say the scene has been more frequent since last Memorial Day when the nation put the latest two Unknowns to rest beside their World War I comrade.

"The shrine now concerns more people and there is a general renewed interest in coming here," says William E. Daniel, who has been sergeant of the guard, Tomb of the Unknowns, for more than two years.

The shrine, lying across the Potomac from the nation's capital, represents the estimated 479,202 military dead of the last three wars.

Many persons are drawn to the graves at noon and 5 p.m. when chimes in the great marble amphitheater overlooking the tombs play hymns. The strains reach across the hills and can be heard as far away as the Pentagon.

Most people ask about the Unknown of World War II and Korea, says Daniel, a veteran of both wars.

President Eisenhower led the nation last year in three-day ceremonies honoring the new Unknown, but, Daniel says, "Every body wants to know where the tombs are. Many don't know where they were constructed or where the Unknowns came from."

It is easy to miss the new tombs. Unlike the Unknown Soldier's tomb rising white above the plaza, the new tombs are set into the granite floor, their tops flush with it. Unless a person stands directly in front of them, they can be readily overlooked.

In the presence of the Unknowns, the feelings of Americans seem to fall into patterns.

"Numerous women, especially older ladies, cry for a minute or so," says Siebert. "From time to time you might see 500 women all crying at once."

"Women will come up to the commander of the relief guard and express their feelings. Occasionally a woman with tears in her eyes will say 'I had a son lost in Korea' or 'I have someone who never came back from the war.'

"The older men are affected, too. They want to know who's guarding the children (the Unknowns) and they express how they feel about the tombs."

The sentries are members of the 1st Battle Group, 3rd Infantry Regiment, its colors have flown over 32 battlefields since Valley Forge. Daniel says the scene doesn't affect most young people. "Those under 15 years don't realize what the tombs mean."

Yet when the average crowd of 1,000 to 1,500 people gather around for the hourly guard ceremony, the teen-agers become silent and motionless like the rest.

"Sometimes there is a smart-aleck remark," says Daniel. "But there is little irreverence."

Siebert says those in the 25 to 40 age group, which includes veterans of the last two wars, don't usually show emotion on the surface.

"They stand and gaze at the tombs, lost in memory. Then they turn away."

"Yet I think for them it is inspiring, something like a real stirring national anthem."

"It may sound corny, but I think it is something they can leave with that they didn't have, an extra bit of strength and resolution."

Recreation Program To Open Monday, Few Openings Left

YMCA's summer recreation program swings into action Monday on some of its fronts but there are still opportunities in a few divisions and groups for additional registrants.

Bobo Hardy, Y secretary, said some of the groups are now filled to maximum capacity but others can still care for additional participants. He urged all who desire to take part in these activities to enroll without further loss of time.

Activities actually get under way in numerous fields Monday morning. Other enterprises on the extensive program will open later.

Girl's fun club groups for Cedar Crest, Park Hill, Washington and Boynton schools are now filled—each having 50 enrollments. One vacancy remains in girl's fun club at Airport-Cedar Crest; six in boys fun club, Airport-Cedar Crest; 10 in Boynton-Washington and 6 in College Heights-Park Hill.

Other vacancies in Boys' Trampoline: in teen-age girls modern dance, teen-age charm class for girls; girl's teen-age trampoline; girl's golf; boy's teen-age judo; boy's golf; and boys and girls' teen-age tennis.

Other activities and enrollment with the limits in parenthesis:

Boys' swimming, 67 (100); Girl's tap dance ages 10-12, 10 (20); girls archery, 7 to 10 years, 13 (20); girls' fencing, 10 (15); boys' trampoline, 7-9 years, 17 (20); boys' trampoline 10 to 12 years, 14 (20); boys' tumbling, 7-9 years, 8 (20); boys' archery, 10-12 years (filled); boys' Indian Craft, 6 to 9 years, 7 (no limit); girls' swimming 20, (filled); girls' tap dancing, 7-9 years, (filled); girls' tumbling 7-12 years (filled); girls' trampoline, 7-9 years, (filled) boys' judo 10-12 years, (filled).

Day camp, first session, 8 a.m. at YMCA. Youngsters should bring sack lunches and bathing suits. There are 45 in this section, Section II will be reopened for 10 more boys from Grades 1 through Grades 3. Third session is still open.

665 Make Splash On Opening Day

The attendance at the three swimming pools here Saturday—first day of the swimming season—hit 665.

Dan Lewis, manager of the pools, said that the $309.75 taken in was probably the largest single day collection. Lewis said it is the biggest he could remember, and he has been managing the pools for several years.

At the pool in the City park, 306 adults and 196 children paid to swim. At the pool in the Colored Park, the attendance included 36 adults and 63 children.

Thirty-one adults and 33 children paid to swim in the North Side Park pool.

Grindal Services To Be Held In New York

Last rites are due to be held Tuesday at St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church in New York for Herbert W. Grindal, member of the directorate of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Mr. Grindal died suddenly of heart attack Friday noon at Galveston where he and Mrs. Grindal had gone to visit with her daughter. His body was taken by airplane to New York Friday evening, and Mrs. Grindal followed Saturday morning to be at the Park Lane Hotel until after the services.

Burial will be beside the grave of his son in a Yonkers, N. Y., cemetery.

At New York to represent the officers of the corporation are Dan M. Krause, Big Spring, a senior vice president, and Tommy Sheridan Jr. and William Hayes, board members of New York.

R. L. Tollett, president, said Saturday that Mr. Grindal's death constituted a great loss to the company and an extreme one to him personally.

Mr. Grindal came on the Cosden board in 1954, succeeding the late B. H. Roth when he retired due to illness. A native of Brooklyn, where he completed Boys' High School with training in bookkeeping and a keen interest in accounting.

Mr. Grindal started his career in commercial banking and continued it as a financial officer in industry. He was with Leyman & Co. and served as financial secretary for the American Fore Insurance Group. Later he became a partner in Reynolds & Co., one of the most highly respected firms on the New York Stock Exchange, and remained active until 1954. In that year he was made a special partner until his retirement two years later.

He also served as a director of Straight Improvement Co., an investment arm of Slick Oil Co., and of Bailey Seaburn Oil & Gas Co. of Alberta, Canada, and maintained an active interest in other investments until time of his death. Two weeks ago, the board of directors held its monthly meeting in his home at San Antonio.

Plans Complete For 26th Annual Rodeo

Plans are complete for the 26th annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, T. J. Good, rodeo association president, has announced.

The rodeo will be staged the evenings of June 11-13, Good said. Butler and Morgan, rodeo producers from Burkburnett, will be in charge.

The five major events will be saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, bull dogging and calf roping. In addition there will be a wild cow milking contest and girl's barrel race.

Special entertainment will be provided by two clowns, The Cajun Kid and Junior Meeks. Bill Bushbaum, a trick rope artist, will be another attraction.

A big parade will proceed through the downtown section of Big Spring at 4 p.m. June 11.

Prizes are offered the three best non-commercial floats in the amounts of $50, $30 and $20.

Sheriff's posse and riding clubs from the neighboring towns and counties have been invited to march in the parade. A trophy will be presented to the outstanding posse at the first night's performance.

A new feature this year will be the Rodeo Queen contest. Ten towns in a wide area have entered candidates. The winner will receive a gold trophy. The runner-up will be awarded inscribed silver belt buckles.

Following the parade the visiting posse and queen candidates will be honored with a barbecue at the rodeo grounds, with the local rodeo association and Big Spring Mounted Patrol as hosts.

Davis Quits HCJC For TWC Post

Harold Davis resigned Friday as basketball coach at Howard County Junior College to accept similar employment at Texas Western College at El Paso.

In announcing his decision, Davis said he disliked the thought of leaving the local school but he felt he could not turn down the Texas Western offer, if he wanted to remain in the coaching profession.

Davis, who stopped off at the school on his way to two weeks' training with the Marine Corps to formally accept the position, came to the local school in 1947. He has been here ever since, with the exception of the 1951-52 season, during his recall to duty with the Marine Corps.

Local college officials expressed regret at losing him, as did leaders in the community, but all said they wished him the best of luck at his new job. The school has yet taken no action to replace him.

In his 11 seasons here, Davis guided his team to 222 wins, compared to only 112 losses. They won four West Zone titles in the Texas Junior College Conference and ruled as state titlists on one occasion.

Davis replaces George McCarty at Texas Western. McCarty becomes dean at the school. McCarty has been a coach at TWC since 1953 and gave the school one Border Conference championship (1956-57) during that time.

In addition to his coaching duties, Davis will supervise the athletic dormitory there. He and his wife and two children will reside in the dorm.

Davis is a native of Denton and received his bachelor's degree at Louisiana Tech and his master's at North Texas.

Davis experienced his most successful season here in 1952-53, when his team won 34 games while losing only six.

At Texas Western, Davis will have a big rebuilding job ahead of him in basketball. The team which tied for the Border Conference title in a playoff, was hit hard by graduation. Its most important loss, perhaps, was Charley Brown, a Negro youth who starred for Amarillo College one year.

Claborn Farm's Nadir, the 2-1 favorite with Eddie Arcaro up, was last all the way and pulled up lame.

Yankees Take 2 Games From Senators, But Stay In Cellar

WASHINGTON (AP)—The New York Yankees Saturday swept a doubleheader from Washington. Don Larsen hurled a 11-0 fourth-inning in the windup after Art Ditmar breezed to an 11-2 triumph.

They were the Yanks of old, crushing the opposition with power—a four home runs in the opener—and superb pitching.

Still the Yankees couldn't escape the American League cellar. Boston won both its games with Baltimore and held into seventh place.

The double rout did sink Washington into fifth behind Kansas City, which divided two with Cleveland.

Larsen hurled a masterpiece before 26,046 holiday customers, striking out nine and never letting a Senator get beyond second base. The shutout represented his fifth victory this year without a loss.

The Yanks pelted four Washington pitchers for 14 hits to make Larsen's job easy. Tony Kubek slammed four of them, along with a scoring squeeze bunt, while batting in five runs.

Ditmar was tagged for eight hits while pitching his first full game of the season in the opener but the big right-hander relaxed all the way. The Yankees blasted out Hal Griggs in the first inning on four hits and two walks before a man was retired.

Ted Celebrates 20 Years In Baseball With Homer

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams, master of baseball drama, celebrated his 20th anniversary in the game today by hitting a decisive two-run homer for Boston's doubleheader sweep over Baltimore.

The Red Sox took the nightcap 8-3 on the 40-year-old slugger's belt in the seventh inning after capturing the opener 5-4.

For Williams, there could not have been a more auspicious moment for his first home run of the season and 463rd of a colorful career.

Boston trailed 3-2 in the seventh with two out and Pete Runnels on second with a double. A loss would have dumped the Sox into the American League cellar, replacing New York.

When 20-year-old right-hander Jerry Walker had a 2-2 count on him, Williams drilled his homer down the right field line into the stands and the 19,403 Fenway Park fans stood in roaring tribute.

Williams, who missed part of spring training and 25 games this year due to a neck and shoulder ailment, came within one of the coveted 2,500 hit mark with the homer.

He had one more chance in the eighth but center fielder Willie Tasby hauled in the deep drive on the dirt track after a long gallop.

Williams said he knew he had the race won "when I got the checked flag, not before."

"These people here believe in me," he smiled to his pit crew. "I've got a few words for you."

The 38-year-old Ward, with a grin from ear to ear, could hardly hold back his happiness as he drank half a quart of milk.

Bluhm, Wright In C-City Semifinals

COLORADO CITY—Two Big Springers were in the semifinals of the Annual Colorado City Country Club golf tournament this weekend. The semis were set for this morning and the finals this afternoon in the championship flight.

Bobby Bluhm of Big Spring and Lamar Tech is matched against Harold Sexton of Arlington in one match this morning, while Marvin Wright of Big Spring goes up against Midland's Graham Mackey in the other bout.

Bluhm, who tied with Jim Benson of Midland for medalist honors Friday with 69, downed Bob Sharp of Abilene, 3-2, to enter the semifinals. Sexton routed James Pritchett of Midland, 5-4, while Wright disposed of another Big Springer, R. S. McCullah, 1-up, over 19 holes.

Mackey earned the right to enter the semifinals with a 3-2 win over Pete Murray of Lubbock.

Playing today in championship consolation today is Jerry Scott, another Big Spring and Lamar Tech linkster, who downed Big Springer Bunky Grimes, 1-up, in Saturday competition.

Big Spring entrants were numerous here among the 71 who played the hot, windy course the past two days.

In the first flight Saturday, Jack Dixon, Lubbock, defeated Leonard Perry, Sweetwater, 1-up in a quarterfinal match. Other winners in the first flight were Don Benson, Colorado City, winner over R. L. Montgomery, Sweetwater, 1-up; Dr. Don Dixon of El Paso who beat Frank Mackey of Colorado City, 3-1, and Jack Simons of Midland, who ousted Richard Grimes of Big Spring, 1-up.

Marvin Wise of Big Spring is in the first flight consolation finale, having eliminated Ed Fitzgerald of Fort Worth, 1-up.

Three Big Springers are in the semifinals of the second flight: Ed Harris, Don Lovelady, Dub Wals-ton of Sweetwater and Robert Caffey. Harris advanced by besting Bill Seidel of Colorado City, 7-6; Lovelady won over Rick Lovelle, Big Spring, 1-up; Wals-ton ousted Harold Luck of Snyder, 1-up, and Caffey won over Pat Gerald of Sweetwater, 3-2.

Three of the four semifinals in the second flight consolation bracket are from Big Spring: Joe Connolly of Big Spring got by Gene Steakley of Colorado City, 1-up, Nile Cole, Big Spring, ousted Ralph Almond of Fort Worth, 4-2, Shorty Gideon eliminated Bob Furse of Colorado City, 2-1, but Robert Rutherford of Big Spring lost his quarterfinal match to George Powell of Colorado City, 5-4.

Colorado City's Ray Mize sent Jack Wilson of Big Spring to the sidelines, 4-3, in the third flight bracket, and Big Springer Bud Pickett lost to Kenneth Mays of Cisco, 2-up. Grady Furlow of Lorraine, beat Raymond Fuller, Colorado City, 1-up, and Larry Crosby, Colorado City, downed N. L. Patterson, Big Spring, 4-3.

J. W. Thompson of Big Spring beat R. L. Heith of Big Spring, 6-5, in the consolation class of the third flight. Big Spring's Eddy Acra, as well as Dick Wistrand of Colorado, drew byes through the quarterfinals of the bracket.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Rodger Ward Winner By 23-Second Margin

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Rodger Ward, 38, the beau brummel of auto racing, gunned his Leader Card Special to a record-breaking triumph in the 43rd 500-mile Speedway race Saturday.

Ward's first Speedway victory in nine starts came with a masterful display of consistent driving by the Los Angeles veteran, who controlled the race from the 82nd lap of the 200-lap grind.

The defending champion, Jimmy Bryan, left the post late and had to quit in the second lap of the thrilling speed contest.

In beating out runner-up Jim Rathmann of Miami by 23 seconds, Ward tromped the throttle of his sleek white, racer at a 135.857 mile-per-hour average. This broke the 1957 record of 135.601 by Sam Hanis of Pacific Palisades, Calif.

The pole car driver, Johnny Thomson of Boyertown, Pa., was third in a race that had five accidents with two serious injuries, but no deaths.

Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., was fourth and Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich., fifth.

The victory unofficially is worth $100,000 to Ward's car. The driver normally gets 40 per cent. A total melon of about $300,000 will be sliced at Sunday night's victory dinner. The official final standings will be announced Sunday morning.

Only 16 of the starting 33 cars were still running at the finish of the race, held in warm, humid weather which threatened rain at the start, but wound up with the sun shining as the checked flag flashed on Ward.

Sixth was Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; seventh was Duane Carter, Indianapolis; eighth, A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex.; ninth, Bob Veith, Oakland, Calif.; and tenth, Al Herman, Allentown, Pa.

Ward required only three pit stops—of 23, 24 and 26 seconds—as he moved ahead of Rathmann in their battle for the national championship point lead. They had been tied with 320 points each. Ward collected 1,000 points by winning the 500.

The crowd of some 150,000 saw the only two former champions fail to finish.

Bryan, whose Belond Special had won two previous 500s and set the old mark of 135.601 miles per hour, couldn't get his car started when the pace car lined up the 11 rows of racers and sent them through the parade lap.

Finally, Bryan's car got going, but after circling the two and one-half mile track twice, began smoking badly from an oil leak and had to be withdrawn from the race.

The other former champion, Pat Flaherty of Chicago, who won in 1956, was forced out of the race after hitting the outside wall on the brick main stretch and careening across to the head of the pit area. Flaherty, who was nearly killed in a Springfield, Ill., crash soon after his 1956 victory, hopped out of his car after running in strong contention for 167 laps.

The most serious mishap was a four-car accident in which Chuck Weyant's machine spun, was hit by Mike Magill, and two others driven by Jud Larson and Red Amick, had to plow into the infield. All four cars were knocked out of the race.

The race ran pretty much according to form, although the failure of Bryan's Belond Special loosened it up a bit.

SEESAW START
At the start, Jim Rathmann, Ward, Thomson and Flaherty took turns charging into the lead.

While most drivers are near exhaustion after the Indianapolis 500, Ward was bubbling over and even hopped in the pace car with Sam Hanks and toured the track to the cheers of the immense crowd jammed all around the course.

Ward's wife, Jo, and their little terrier were in the car.

Most serious casualty was Ray Crawford of Pasadena, Calif., who suffered four broken ribs and a possible ruptured spleen when his car hit the northeast wall on the 134th lap.

Magill, hurt in the four-car accident, suffered back and head injuries and a gashed throat.

Dick Rathmann, brother of Jim, had his car catch fire during a pit stop. He leaped out of his car with the back of his uniform steaming. The fire was put out quickly, but one of Dick's mechanics, Joe Alexander of Northville, Ill., suffered first and second degree burns on his hands and arms.

As for the thousands of dollars the victory means to Ward: "I'll put it in the bank. You don't win them all."

Wild Pitch Helps White Sox Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran right-hander Tom Morgan wild-pitched one run across in the eighth inning and made a costly balk leading to the decisive run in the ninth as the Chicago White Sox took the nightcap of a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers 4-3 Saturday. The Tigers won the opener 4-2.

Goalby Opens 5-Stroke Lead

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Big Bob Goalby shattered par Saturday for the third straight round to open a five-stroke gap over the field in the Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament.

The Belleville, Ill., pro who registered out of Crystal River, Fla., shot a 2-under par 69 by sinking an eagle 3 on the 18th green to give him a total of 201 going into the final round.

For three rounds, Goalby is 12 under par on the hilly, 6,452-yard Seneca Golf Club course and five strokes up on his nearest challenger, roommate Doug Ford.

Ford, playing out of Paradise, Fla., turned in a 67 Saturday for a 206.

Tied at 207 are J.C. Goswie of Knoxville, Tenn., Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.

Goswie shot a 66, Whitt 73 and Ferree 69 in the third round.

Tom Niernburg of Bronxville, N.Y., had a 69. Don McMullin of Fair Oak, Calif., 71 and Ernie Vossler of Midland, Texas, 72 to deadlock at 208.

Goalby's lead was 5 strokes over the field in the Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament.

The Belleville, Ill., pro who registered out of Crystal River, Fla., shot a 2-under par 69 by sinking an eagle 3 on the 18th green to give him a total of 201 going into the final round.

For three rounds, Goalby is 12 under par on the hilly, 6,452-yard Seneca Golf Club course and five strokes up on his nearest challenger, roommate Doug Ford.

Ford, playing out of Paradise, Fla., turned in a 67 Saturday for a 206.

Tied at 207 are J.C. Goswie of Knoxville, Tenn., Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.

Goswie shot a 66, Whitt 73 and Ferree 69 in the third round.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hort

When Harold Davis departs HCJC for his new basketball coaching job at El Paso's Texas Western College this summer, he'll leave behind him one of the state's best won-and-lost records. In his 11 years as mentor here, Davis has guided his Jayhawk teams to 222 victories, compared to only 113 losses. That averages out to 20 wins a season, compared to only ten reversals. In the past eight years, his teams have won 190, or an average of 24 a year, compared to 68 defeats, or only an average of eight a season. Under Harold, the Hawks have won the West Zone championship four times, played in the state meet on eight occasions, ruled as titlists in that meet one time, taken part in the Regional meet on ten occasions, two of which they won and played in the Nationals twice. On two other occasions in the Regional, they lost to the eventual champion by a single point. Davis' 1953 team went to the semi-finals in the Nationals before losing. The Texas Western team Harold will be inheriting at El Paso was hit hard by graduation. However, most of the recruiting for next season has been done by his predecessor, George McCarty. Curtis Jimerson, the sensational Negro athlete who played on the El Paso Austin team that lost to Big Spring High School in the state playoffs two seasons ago, played for a Colorado junior college team last year but will transfer to Western in September. Davis will have two starters returning — Hans Fields, an Indian, and Don Burgess, of Alpine, both 6-foot-3. Don Vollintine of Missouri, considered the sixth man on the Miner cage team last season, will also be back. Among freshmen trying out under Harold will be Ted Sterrett, 6-9, Hoosier; James Birdsong, 6-4, Odessa; and Danny Vaughn, 6-4, another Indian. Davis hopes to talk both HCJC's Bobby Davis and San Angelo College's Doug Funk into enrolling there. The Miners open against Oklahoma State Dec. 1, move over to Norman for a game with Oklahoma the following night, then play in Wichita against the Wheatshockers Dec. 5. Later, they play New Mexico State, Wyoming and Idaho State before the Christmas holidays. With fringe benefits and all, Davis' pay is due to easily exceed $10,000 per annum.

LaFollette Gave Late Sales Talk Here

San Angelo College's Phil George was one of the last two considered for the Western job but he finds it difficult to leave the area. One of the big factors with him would be to locate in a place where he can continue his reserve flying with the Air Force. He comes here regularly from San Angelo for that purpose. If he had gone to El Paso, the nearest base where he could take such training would be Albuquerque, much too far. Metz LaFollette, the new West Texas State College coach, spent Wednesday here trying to talk Bill Thompson into attending his school on a full scholarship but Bill had already committed himself to Rice. Metz said Bill was the only one he sought he failed to get in his initial year at recruiting. Steve Slagle and Bobby Shelton, both of Hereford, are two of the boys LaFollette signed, along with his one-time pupil, Dan Cobb. When Vernon Harton, the local high school cage mentor, visited with Bob Rogers, the Texas A&M coach recently, Bob told him that if he were limited to recruiting two boys this year, these two would be Jimmy and Pat Duncan, the Cayuga boys who made good for Kilgore JC. They'll play under Rogers, by the way. Dr. Anthony Hunt, the HCJC president, says he can't see his school fielding a football team in the foreseeable future. As a matter of fact, Hunt expects several of the state's junior colleges to drop the sport because of skyrocketing costs. The school's basketball team costs HCJC about $17,000 a year (considered money well spent). Fielding a football team would cost upward to $50,000, Hunt reasons. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees has been ordered to tip his hat to the fans whenever he gets an ovation, which have come few and far between since the Oklahoma wonder became a regular with the Gothamites. Frank Butler, who quit recently as a coach at Blinn Junior College, is a former all-state footballer from Lubbock. Dick Sovde, who plays baseball for the Corpus Christi Texas league club, stands 6-foot-8. He put on four of those inches within a space of 4½ months.

Lee Grosscup Passed Up Big Money

Lee Grosscup, who gained most of his fame as a passer while a junior at Utah University, says he turned down an offer of $16,000 to play one season of football in Canada in order to complete his senior year in college. He's trying out with the New York Giants this year. Bert Brewer, the former track coach here, plans on moving back to Big Spring shortly. He'll help operate a boat concern here. Henry Armstrong, who stepped up in the Baytown coaching ranks when the one-time Big Springer, Dan Stallworth, became athletic director, is departing the coaching ranks to become assistant principal of Baytown High School. Lew Jenkins, the former World lightweight boxing champion who will visit here around June 20, almost got shipped out to Korea recently. UCLA is considered a sure-fire bet to represent the West Coast in the next Rose Bowl game. California played there last Jan. 1 and can't go back while USC will be ineligible. Cleveland Williams, the big Negro boxer who fights out of Houston, is getting a reputation for being gunshy. One of those who has become disillusioned with him is his own trainer, Bill Gore, who had to goad him into mixing it up with an overweight and out-of-condition Ernie Cab recently. Smokey Burgess, the big league catcher, says he swings at bad pitches because his high school coach taught him "never to get cheated at bat and swing at anything your bat will reach." Bill Scott, the H-SU coach, informed Harold Davis, the HCJC mentor, he'd offer Barry Oxford of Fort Worth Poly a two-year basketball scholarship "right now" if Barry would take his first two years at a junior college. Barry is one of those who has signed an HCJC letter-of-intent.

Ex-Manager Dies

TORONTO (AP) — Thomas C. Flanagan, who managed heavy-weight champion Jack Johnson in 1910, died today. He was 82. He also managed the famed Indian runner, Tom Longboat, in the early 1900's. Johnson was champion from 1908 to 1915.

FISH BITING

Lake J. B. Braced
For Record Season

Few fishing spots anywhere are as well patronized as Lake J. B. Thomas.

The bulk of the lake's visitors, of course, come from Big Spring, Odessa, Snyder and Lamesa but many others drive long distances to "wet a hook" in the small sea. Concessionaires are girded for a record business, now that vacation time has arrived. An estimated 900 houses and cabins have been built around the lake, with more going up all the time. Other sportsmen have brought in house trailers while still others use overnight camping equipment.

J. C. Godwin, who operates the Lake Thomas Lodge near the dam, recently caught two large bass with Yellow Waterdog and Texas Trailer as bait while trolling near the lodge.

Mary Lee Purser reeled in eight crappie weighing anywhere from ¼ to a pound each, using minnows as lures, while fishing in five feet of water near Lake Thomas Lodge.

At the same time, J. W. Purser took 15 large bass while trolling. Smokey Graves of Seagraves, using a glass rod and wading, gathered in five bass weighing 15 pounds in very shallow water on the north side of the lake in the vicinity of Lem Gresham's place.

Gresham himself caught four bass of eating size while fishing with a rod and reel from a boat.

A Snyder service station, Denison's, plans to give boat demonstrations each Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. near the dam.

Wayne Monroney of Forsan caught a 10-pound Yellow catfish near Clyde Montgomery's Lake-side Grocery last week while Roy Anderson of Vealmoor, fishing in the same general vicinity, took an eight-pound Yellow cat. They were fishing with minnows.

Vernon Crump of Lamesa caught five bass weighing 21 pounds using a cane pole and fishing in waders on the north side of the lake. Mrs. Casey Bishop and a Mrs. Knight, both of Snyder, caught 6½ pounds of Black Bass on a trotline, using cut bait.

Fireball Extends
Men's Loop Lead

In the Men's Major bowling league last week, Fireball extended its first place lead by seven games in drubbing Cosden, 4-0. The match clinched the championship.

Thompson was whipping Texas Electric, 3-1, to stay in a tie for second place and Miller the Killer was dousing Sovoy, 3-1. Lee Hanson tripped Wheat, 4-0, and Snac-A-Ritz dropped Pepsi-Cola, 4-0, in other matches.

Ralph Wilson scored a 236 high individual game for Miller, and M. Stuart had 224 for Snac-A-Ritz. Bill Bell's 594 for Thompson was high single series, just ahead of Don Hale's 587 for Sovoy.

Miller had 910-2577 for best-team honors. Fireball ran second with 887-3619.

There will be a roll-off Monday evening, 8:30, between the two second place teams, Thompson and Snac-A-Ritz.

Two Games To Open Teen-Age
Baseball League Play Monday

"Getaway Day" is Monday in the Big Spring Teen-Age Baseball league and the re-organized circuit is anticipating its most successful season.

Eligibility rules have been modified to the extent that 13, 14 and 15-year-olds are now eligible to take part in the pennant race.

Last year, two leagues actually made up the Teen-Age Association, and 13 and 14-year-olds played in one league and 15 and 16-year-old in the other organization.

There are eight teams in the new league, made up into two divisions. The champions of each division clash at the end of the year for the city championship.

The Eastern division, and the team's managers, is made up of: First Federal—Huck Doe. Big Spring Herald—Frank Long.

Knights of Pythias—Tom Farquhar

Elks—Jim Wade.

Western Division:

Kiwanis—Bill Battle.

American Business Club—L. B. Thomas.

Optimists—Mack Spaden.

Cosden—Al Valdes.

Each team will play 13 games. The race, including the playoffs, must be over by July 31.

Double-headers, with each game being limited to five innings, will be played on Mondays and Fridays. Seven inning games will be unreeled Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Lloyd Durcan and Dike Tolbert will serve as umpires.

Tom Conway is the commissioner of the league. Frank Maberry is president of the Eastern Division, Doyle Thomas the Western Division.

Theo Isbell serves as the league's secretary and Vernon Whittington the treasurer.

Parents of boys playing in the league are being asked to contribute $5 each toward the circuit's expenses. Boys whose parents cannot afford such a fee will have the opportunity of working out the levy around the park.

The Kiwanians clash with the Herald and the KP Tigers take on the Elks in the first round of activity Monday night. The first game starts at 6 p.m., the second at 8 o'clock.

The league will again use the park on North 12th street.

The schedule:

June 1—Kiwanis vs. Herald—K. P. T.

In Tennis Play

PARIS (AP)—Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy overpowered Ian Vermaak of South Africa Saturday in the men's singles finals of the French National Tennis Tournament. The scores were 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Christine Truman, 18-year-old British net queen, won the women's singles by defeating Suzy Kormoczy of Hungary, the defending champion, 6-4, 7-5.

Rockets Zip
Past T-Birds

The Rockets flew past the T-Birds, 18-5, here Friday night in an International Little League baseball game.

It brought the Rockets to a 3-4 won-lost standing and lowered the T-Birds to a 3-5 count. Monday the T-Birds engage the Sabres.

Ronald Caldwell needed no assistance in getting the pitching victory. Tommy Leslie went down with the loss.

Mary Lee Purser, shortstop for the Rockets, made a triple while team-mates Charles Turner and Gary Earhart each had doubles.

For the losing club, David Robertson had a three-baser.

Cabot Wins
Make-Up Game

Cabot bombed the Stars, 7-6, here Saturday morning in an American Little League make-up game for a contest rained out recently. The Pigs had bowed to the Jets, 18-2, in a game Friday.

In the Saturday game, Tyndoll Staggis had a double and a single and his partner, Doyle Irwin, had two doubles for the Stars. But their sharp hitting and a sixth-inning rally that netted three runs wasn't enough to win the game.

Rain On 7 Days In May, Total: 3.8

It rained on seven days during May in Big Spring.

The total precipitation, as gauged at the U. S. Experiment station was 3.80 inches.

The year's total for 1959—5.84 inches—lags badly behind the 8.42 inches in the same five months of 1958. May 1958 gauged 1.83.

And in 1957, the first five months provided 11.43 inches, nearly double that for the current season. May in that year contributed 7.79 inches.

This May's 3.80-inch rainfall was better than the Big Spring May average for the past half century. The average is 2.68 inches; average for the first five months stands at 6.57.

Rains this year fell on May 2, 7, 8, 13, 15, 24 and 28.

This year's total inches is ahead of 1956 when only 3.19 inches had been reported to June 1.

Farmers are not seriously concerned over the diminished rain volume, however. They are pleased with the fine way in which May showers fell and point out that so far, things appear ideal for an excellent cotton crop.

In May of 1956, a single down-pour fell which accounted for most of the nearly eight inches credited to the month. On the heels of this minor flood came the need for replanting. None of May's rains this year has caused washing and the successive showers have been just right to make the tender cotton plants flourish.

Farmers are not optimistic enough to believe their troubles are all over, however. History has proved that planting and replanting is almost inevitable. They have their fingers crossed but too cautious to be overly confident.

Although the winter and fall rains were not up to par, the soil generally has a good reserve of moisture. If fortune holds and additional showers—not deluges—come in the months ahead, there is no reason, they say, that an excellent crop cannot be produced.

The big problem at present is the annual invasion by insects. Grasshoppers, thrip and some other pests have already made their debut and farmers are declaring war on these traditional enemies.

There is a grave threat from jackrabbits, too, already evident in sporadic attacks the rodents are making on fields.

Medic's Trial Goes To Lubbock

EL PASO (AP)—The murder trial and pre-trial sanity hearing of Dr. Harold Edinoff were sent to Lubbock Friday on a change of venue.

Judge William Ward selected Lubbock from three sites submitted by Dist. Atty. William Clayton. San Angelo and Wichita Falls were the others.

The judge ordered Edinoff taken on to Lubbock at once.

Two jurors had been selected in four days.

The application by defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston for the venue change said 90 percent of those questioned had a fixed opinion about Edinoff's sanity.

The doctor is charged with shooting El Paso Attorney Theodore Address, shot in January at the El Paso airport.

5 Area Troops To Scout Camp

At least 5 troops from this area will leave a week from today for the opening session of the Boy Scout camp in the Davis Mountains. Bill McRee, district executive, will serve as program director at the camp for the first two weeks.

Several others are lined up for succeeding weeks, including the physically handicapped troop which Saturday was the latest to sign.

At the Boy Scout ranch in the mountains, a big new feature will be the swimming pool. This large, handsome structure, completed last week, is valued at $45,000 and has been described as one of the best of its type in the country.

Troops continue to sign for the Camp Ed Murphy aquatic camp beginning on June 14 at Lake J. B. Thomas.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION ON PURDUE

—For $2400 down—payments of $81.50 per month. You can move into this lovely 3 bedroom brick on the nicest street in Big Spring. Many extras—very comfortable—awfully nice—look at the rest—then buy the best.

LATIN AMERICAN—GO ESTA BUENO (777) buy on the north side that needs selling—3 bedroom, dining room, bath, living room—and a kitchen for a plate of chili beans and about $1500 in cash you can have a home to start paying on. Total only $5000—call us!

LIKE TO LISTEN TO AIRPLANE MUSIC? Loud and not too much rhythm? I've got a 2 bedroom in Airport that can be bought for $1500 down. Nice house—nice dead end street with very little traffic. (Every place has its good points.) This is handy to Airport School.

$2500 CASH—(saves those first of month blues) this 2 bedroom stucco can be sold. South side location—1 repeat—it can't be beat.

156 FEET OF FRONTAGE ON BIRDWELL—$25 houses on it too. —all for $11,800—This you can't beat—Unless you cheat!

MODEL T FORD POCKET BOOK—CADIAC TASTY? I can fix you up—3 bedroom for $1000 down—payments $100 a month—big and nice—at twice the price.

NOT ENOUGH EDUCATION to describe this home—all I can give you is the price—$38,700—its location—close to Park Hill School—its size—3800 sq. ft. If more information is needed call Barnes (he's smarter than me).

WHY?

WHY do men with families and the necessary money and income delay the purchase of a home?

WHY did they not buy during the last five years, when prices were lower?

WHY in the face of increasing prices, do they still delay?

WHY with building material, equipment and labor steadily increasing, do they wait?

WHY do they postpone home ownership in the face of steadily increasing rents?

WHY do they postpone action, when there is an abundant supply of fine homes to be had at favorable prices?

WHY in this day of golden real estate opportunity do they still procrastinate?

WHY when a home is the most desirable thing that money can buy, do they hesitate to buy?

WHY for your own security, for your children's sake, for the protection of your future, don't you definitely decide on home ownership today?

WHY not take the first step now . . . by calling

3 Accidents Occur In Hour

Three accidents occurred in the space of an hour Friday afternoon, two of them on Eleventh.

At 5 p.m., cars driven by Robert Baley, 3224 Auburn, and Merle Worri of Wichita, Kan., were in an accident at Eleventh and Lamar. At 5:43, Charlotte Robinson, 610 1/2 Main, and William Bennett, Rt. 1, were in collision at Eleventh and Maple.

Cecil Harris, 704 W. 15th, and Virgil Churchwell, 2206 S. Monticello, collided at Mt. Vernon and Washington at 5:50 p.m.

In addition to these three, two other cars were in a minor accident on private property at 4th and Johnson about 5:50.

Later in the day, Clyde Smith, 1103 Main, and Michael Winn of Abilene were in an accident at 3rd and Bell.

Early Saturday, Jewell Franklin, Rt. 1, and William Sawyer, Webb AFB, collided on the Gregg St. viaduct. The accident was very minor, however.

4 Persons Killed In Highway Crash

MARION, S. C. (AP)—Four persons were killed and two injured Friday night when their automobile collided head on with a tractor-trailer 10 miles west of here.

Highway Patrol Sgt. J. A. Martin said the truck was northbound on U. S. 301 and made a left turn in front of the automobile, which was traveling south on U. S. 76.

Killed were James L. Cannon, 37; Ann Cannon, 4; Louise Cannon, whose age was unavailable; and Eutha Mae Lewis, 23, all of Mullins, S.C.

HERE'S LAYOUT OF CAPEHART HOUSING AREA
Streets named after well-known air bases

127 HOMES READY

Steady Stream Of Families Moving Into Capehart Area

The movement of Webb personnel into the new Capehart housing area is proceeding smoothly and steadily, according to Webb officials.

The Base Housing Office has already received 127 of the new dwellings and approximately 58 more quarters are expected to be accepted the first part of next week. These will be assigned promptly according to lists already prepared.

Of the quarters already let out, 82 have been occupied and arrangements are being made for occupancy of the remaining 45. It is estimated that approximately 40 units will become available each week for the foreseeable future for assignment by the Housing Office; this number, however, is subject to change. There are 460 dwelling units in the $6,500,000 project.

A broad, curving street, Randolph Boulevard, runs downhill through the area, generally from north to south. The north end, crossing the sloping western end of Scenic Mountain, enters Webb AFB proper; the south end exits to the old San Angelo highway.

Officers live on the east side of Randolph Boulevard and non-commissioned officers on the west. Side streets, in the form of loops, run alphabetically from north to south. They are named after older, well-known Air Force bases. Houses are numbered sequentially in each half-loop, again from north to south, without repetition of numbers; thus, a dwelling may be located easily by number, even if the street name is not known.

The street names, which were coordinated with Post Office and city officials, do not duplicate any city street names. Residents will use the Big Spring postal address and mail delivery to curbside boxes has been arranged. Telephone service is on the Big Spring city system.

Names of the patterns of loops off Randolph Boulevard are: Albrook Drive, Barksdale Drive, Chanute Drive, Dow Drive, Ent Drive, Fairchild Drive, Gunter Circle, Hunter Drive, Kelly Circle, Langley Drive, and March Circle.

Residence Suffers Slightly In Fire

A slight amount of damage came to a residence here Friday in a fire.

The fire developed at the 100 Mesquite residence of Fred Keith. Firemen said that the blaze came as a stove was being hooked up with the gas on. The building was only slightly damaged.

A NEIGHBORHOOD PROJECT is a good undertaking during Clean-Up Week or during any other week, when vacant lots are unsightly because of weeds, can, bottles and papers. Taking a hand here at improving a nearby lot is a group from East 18th Street. Bill Merrick uses a rake, as his mother, Mrs. Bill Merrick, at right, gathers up papers with the help of her young daughter, Dena. Ready to chop weeds are Mrs. R. L. Baber, in straw hat, and Mrs. Minnie Cannon. Appearance of the town would be improved if groups such as this would hold work parties to tidy up vacant lots. Good way to get acquainted with your neighbors, besides.

A Little Pride-- A Lot Of Elbow Grease

GOOD FENCES MAKE GOOD NEIGHBORS, according to a poem written by Robert Frost, and Joe Cagle, 1001 East 17th, is one who believes in keeping them good. Besides that, he is setting a good example to Big Springers, who will soon be following the instructions, Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix Up, as he repairs a gate and prepares to apply paint to the new bracing.

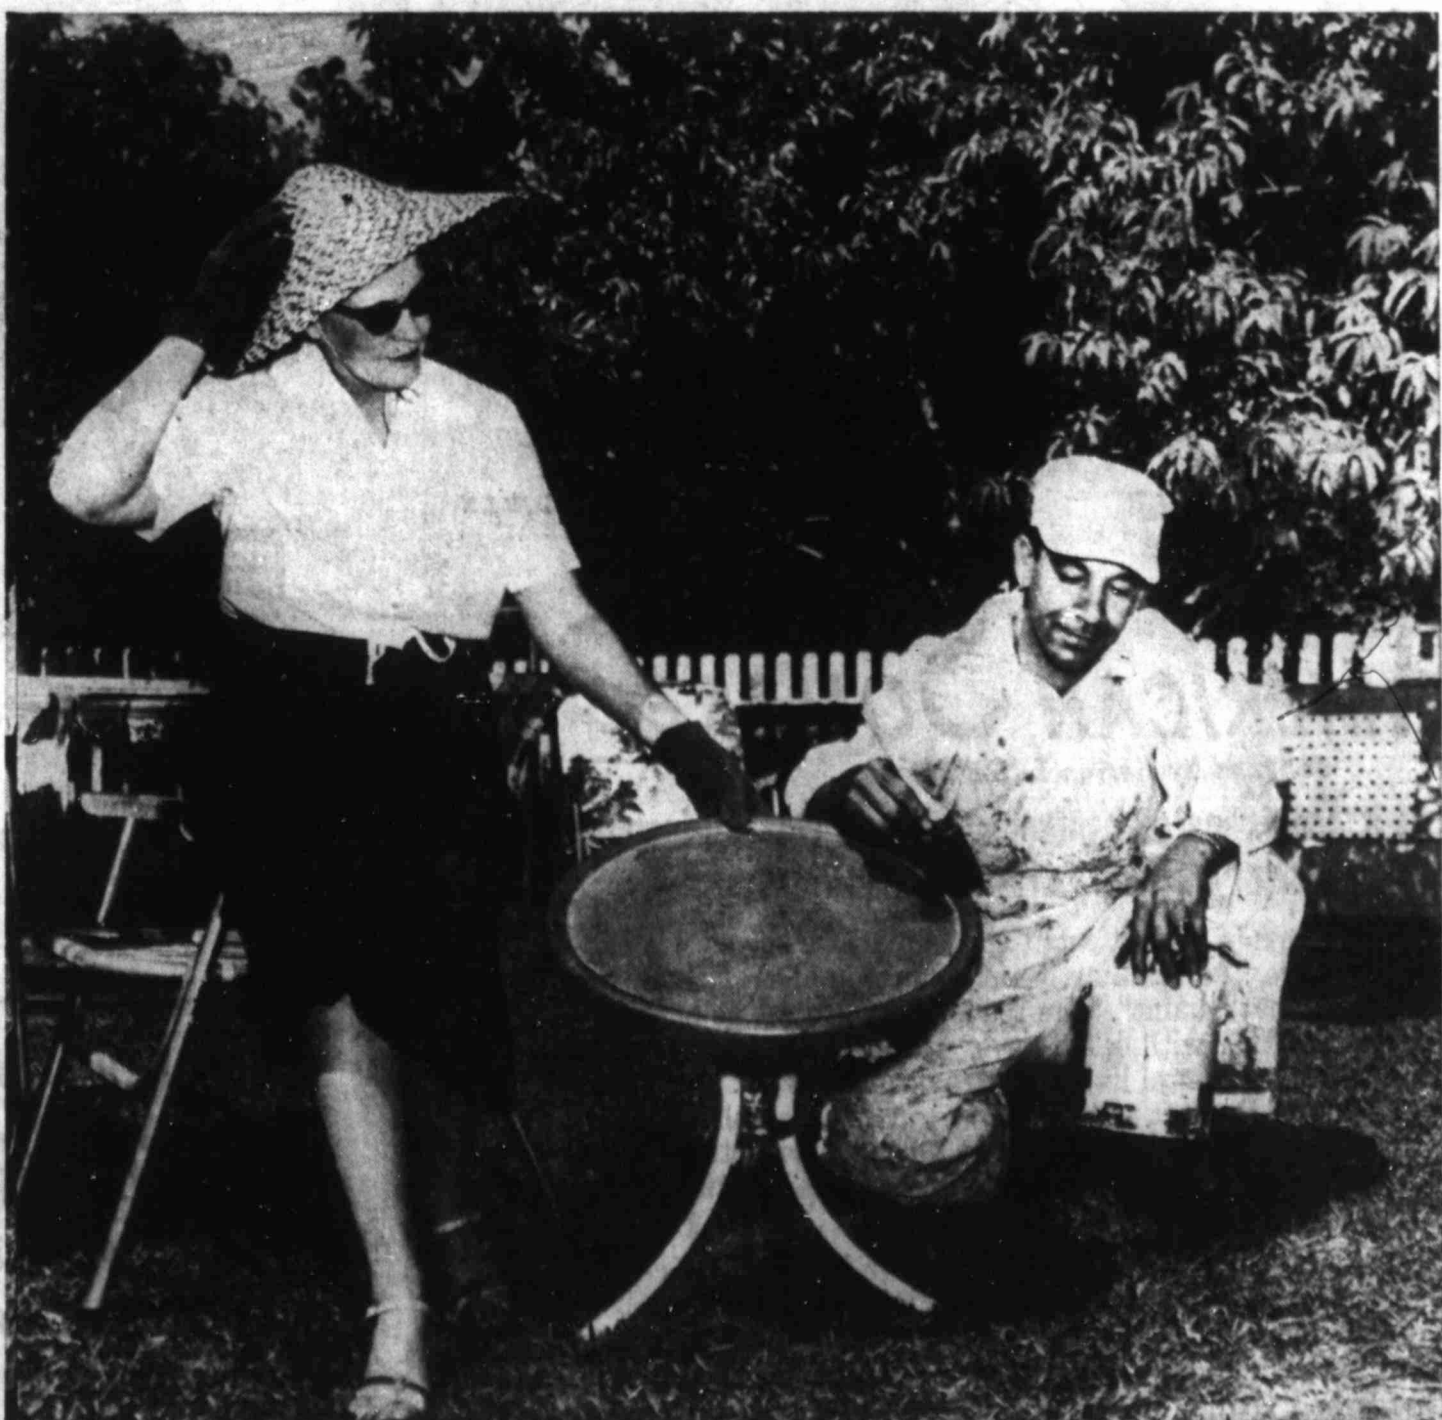

EXACTLY THE SHADE I WANTED, says Mrs. George White, (photo at right) 1709 Main, to Jack Gamboa, painter, 609 NW Fifth, as he shows her the paint for the trim on her home. Late spring is a good time for cleaning up the premises and painting, since the days are usually comfortable—with not too much wind and sand. And it's such a wonderful feeling to have everything cleaned, painted and fixed up, as the motto for Clean-Up Week advises!

A FAMILY AFFAIR is the clean-up of the yard (shown above) at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Weldon Stephenson, 502 Scurry, even though small Jennifer halted in her task of raking to point out The Herald's photographer. Just such scenes as this will be enacted all over the town during the coming week — if residents enter into the spirit of the project of Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up. Rev. Stephenson is the youth director of First Methodist Church.

Scouts, Brownies Are All Set For Day Camp

From 3 to 8 p.m. during the coming week, about 108 Brownies and Girl Scouts and 16 leaders will gather at the Boy Scout Encampment Grounds for day camp sessions.

On Monday, the girls will hear Jim Wade, a member of the local police department, discuss safety rules.

Tuesday and Thursday, there will be a cookout, with troops putting into practice the training they have been given.

On Wednesday, Bruce Frazier will be present to supervise a nature study session.

Other activities will include crafts of various kinds, fire-building, lashing, trail-making and reading, and hiking.

For the last night of the camp, parents and friends will be guests for a bonfire to begin at 8 o'clock. Crafts displays will be set up, and a program will be presented with each troop being represented.

General chairman of the camp is Mrs. C. B. O'Neal; Mrs. Ernest Miller and Mrs. Kendall Wallace are her assistants. Finance chairman is Mrs. Rube McNew; supplies are purchased by Mrs. C. M. Wozencraft, and Mrs. W. H. Boober will direct the program and supervise the crafts.

A registered nurse, Bo Bowen, will be on duty at all times, it was announced.

Back From School

Robert Stripling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stripling, 903 Mountain Park, has returned from Dallas, where he attended Southern Methodist University.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Begin For Miss Agee

Pre-nuptial festivities complementing Darlene Agee began Saturday afternoon with a bathroom and kitchen shower in the Bill Lansing home. Mrs. Lansing and her daughter, Charlene, were hostesses.

Miss Agee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Agee, 704 West 18th, will become the bride of Ray Lewis Dabney on June 20 in the First Baptist Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dabney, 806 Runnels.

Decor for the affair capitalized on the honoree's chosen colors, pink and white. The white linen cloth was a foil for a centerpiece of pink Majestic daisies and white stock; silvered leatherleaf fern and pink candles enhanced the arrangement. Crystal appointments held tea dainties, and a crystal bowl was filled with strawberry punch. Mrs. Jerry Thomas and Jamie Murphy assisted in the serving.

Shower Is Compliment

The former Linda Nichols, whose marriage to Jack Culpepper has been revealed recently, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Seth Lacy.

Green and white were featured at the refreshment table. Stars mingled with garden flowers on the green net cloth, and tiny umbrellas posed above mints.

Guests were greeted by the hostess, and presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. E. H. Nichols. Mrs. Mack Edmiston, sister of Culpepper, presided at the register. Joyce Lacy displayed the gifts.

Coming from out of town for the party were Mrs. J. T. Culpepper and Mrs. Carter Patillo of Monahans, mother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Vacationers Make News In Forsan

FORSAN — Mrs. Ada Parker has returned to her home in Hot Spring, Ark., after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Swiger. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Digby and Teresa of Odessa visited her parents, the M. M. Fairchilds.

Guests of the Bob Wash family were Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Parker and family of O'Donnell.

Mrs. O. W. Fletcher and Sherrie are spending the week in Denton with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Stuart. Stuart is in the graduating class at NTSC.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kubecka were her brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dunn of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dunn and Wilma, and Carolyn McCleery of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Seguin are here for a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Shannon.

Luther Stover of Iraan, father of Mrs. Roy Walraven of Forsan, is a surgical patient in Malone & Hogan Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Anderson, Paula and Andy, with Sharon Klahr, are on vacation in Mason. They are also fishing on the Llano River for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beeson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Greer and children are vacationing in Galveston.

Novelty corsages, featuring items such as chore girls, measuring spoons, toothbrush and can opener, were presented to Miss Agee and her mother.

Guests were childhood friends and school chums.

Yateses Are Honor Guests At Barbecue

Employees of The Herald and their families gathered Friday evening at the City Park pavilion for their annual barbecue and outdoor party.

Honored guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Yates, who will move to Abilene next week. Yates, who has been city editor of the Herald, will become chief of the Hardin-Simmons University news bureau.

About 79 attended.

Shirt, Towel, Poncho

It's a shirt, it's a towel, it's a poncho! Attractive and indispensable is a terry cloth wonder from a beach wear collection. It has a deep fringed edge, a wide cowl collar, and fits everyone. One button at each side—and there are sleeves . . . or it can be opened and used as a beach towel to sit on.

Surprise Party Is Given For Bob Wash

FORSAN — Mrs. Bob Wash entertained recently with a surprise birthday party for her husband. Crazy bridge was played by the 18.

Mrs. L. B. McElreath is visiting in Austin with the Al Whites. McElreath will join her Sunday.

Mrs. Clarence Schwede and Donna are spending some time in Vernon with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Draper plan to return Sunday from a stay of several days with relatives in Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild were in Colorado City and Westbrook on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy were in San Angelo recently. Earline Wolff of Ellingwood, Kansas, has been here visiting in the Harry Barnett home. She and Mrs. Barnett are sisters.

Mrs. Charles Wash was honored at a party in the home of Mrs. Bob Cowley. The seven guests are fellow members of the Willie Mae Kennedy Circle of the Baptist Church. The Washes will move to Big Spring in June.

AMERICAN SQUARE

we call it sophisticated contemporary . . . colonial-inspired designs in walnut finished soft as candle light

American Square is sophisticated contemporary because it captures the essence, the familiar beauty of colonial craftsmanship . . . and yet, is not "quaint". The feeling is there in the carefully reproduced planking with set-in keys, and in the cut out decorative motifs, the horizontal linenfold drawer fronts . . . and in the inviting gleam of the soft new finish, warm as a hearthside. Yet, American Square is at home in today's rooms with today's accessories because the designs are contemporary-keyed, tuned, just so, to today's living.

American Square is for every room in your home. You choose from more than forty pieces (we couldn't show them all) for bedroom, dining room and living room. There are beautifully mated modular pieces to march along a wall or around a corner, luxurious sofas and chairs, smart occasional tables and a complete selection of bedroom and dining pieces plus many dual-purpose designs.

MRS. STANTON LEON KOOP

Nita Hedleston, Stanton Koop Pledge Vows In Church Rites

Wedding vows were exchanged by Nita Jo Hedleston and Stanton Leon Koop, Dumas, Saturday evening before a small group of relatives and close friends. The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor, performed the ceremony as the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu at the altar of the First Christian Church.

Parents of the pair are Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hedleston, 1609 Indian Hills, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koop, Hartley Route, Dumas.

At the center of the altar stood a large basket of white gladioli and stock flanked by seven-branched candelabra and emerald fern trees. In the background, white satin ribbons connected white wrought iron standards. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. John Birdwell of Odessa, organist, played traditional nuptial music, and accompanied Joyce Howard as she sang The Lord's Prayer and Through the Years.

WEDDING GOWN

White Chantilly lace fashioned the bridal gown of waltz length, which she designated as the something new. The fitted bodice styled with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists, joined a full skirt whose hemline was scalloped. Her fingertip veil of French imported illusion fell from a lace tiara, its points encrusted with pearls.

For something old and borrowed, she had the handkerchief which her mother had carried at her wedding. Pearled leaves and tulle, showered with white satin, backed her cascade of white Frenched carnations centered with pink sweetheart roses. The blue item was a garter, and in her shoe was a 1959 penny. Hedleston gave his daughter in marriage.

Nancy Hedleston attended her sister as maid of honor and Jacqueline Smith was bridesmaid. They were identically attired in dresses of pink silk organza imprinted with tiny pink rosebuds. Large flat bows of pink net served as headpieces; each had a nosegay of pink rosebuds caught with tulle and satin ribbon.

Best man was Frank Bice of Grants, N. M. Wade Kirk of Odessa was joined as usher by Don Furgeson, Midland, and Jerry House, Lubbock, who also lighted the altar tapers.

Following the ceremony, the wedding guests gathered in the church parlor to be received by the newlyweds, their parents and attendants. Patricia Crandall of Fort Worth, the bride's roommate at Texas Tech, presided at the register. Mary Herrington of Odessa, Betty McCarty and Bobbie Carroll of Tahoka, Mrs. Johnnie Berry of Lubbock and Mrs. Preach Martin formed the house-party.

Gladioli and stock combined with a silver candelabrum for the centerpiece on the refreshment table, which held white satin overskirted with white net. The three-tiered cake bore a miniature bride and groom poised under an arch of pink and white roses. Crystal

OES Officers Feted

COAHOMA — Mrs. Fred Adams, worthy matron of the Coahoma Chapter, OES, and Joe Rogers, worthy patron, paid tribute to their officers and installing officers for the year with a dinner Thursday evening at the Highway Cafe. Mrs. Donald McKinney, incoming worthy matron, had charge of the program which featured a Mad Hatter theme. Twenty attended.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The weekend bringing an end to the elementary school activities brought another first grade report card to our collection of grade cards. Keeping the reports of the older ones for the younger ones to glance over in the future can have wonderful effects. If the marks are good, they may want to match them—if they're bad, they may want to better them.

A happy reunion was one of MRS. LIGHTNER BURNS and MISS CLARA POOL and her sister, MRS. FRED KEATING. The three were Baylor University classmates and graduated with the class of 1918. The meeting at the Friday tea honoring Mrs. Burns' niece, Mrs. Robert Whittington, was the first for the three since the graduation. Mrs. Burns lives in Anthony, N. M.

MRS. RAY CLARK is to leave Monday morning for Tulsa to spend several days with her mother before going to New Orleans where she will board a ship for Madrid, Spain, to sail on June 14. She plans an extended stay there.

Mrs. Clark was honored with several small parties during the week.

This weekend has been a busy one for MRS. JAMES R. HALE. She left after school dismissed Friday for Bonham where she was joined by her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. M. Hale, for a trip to Denton; there they will see MRS. GLEN ECHOLS, the former Mary Sue Hale, graduate from NTSC tonight. Monday night they will see another of Mrs. Hale's daughters, Alice Ann, graduate from Big Spring High School.

Here for the HCJC graduation dinner Thursday evening were MR. AND MRS. K. N. WOOD-RUFF, their son, Bobby, Linda McMahon of Fort Worth and Mrs. Ida Woodruff of Sapulpa, Okla. They were here to see Dale Woodruff get his junior college diploma. Dale and Linda, who will be married in August, were in Lubbock Friday to work out his Tech schedule for next fall. The others returned to Fort Worth.

MRS. C. W. DEATS is in San Antonio for a visit with her relatives. They will all go to Houston June 6 to attend the wedding of their nephew, George Rose.

MR. AND MRS. FRED GEBERT and their children, Cynthia, Gary, Kurt and Vicki, and Diana Ball, left Friday for Albuquerque, N. M., where they will spend a week with Mrs. Gebert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wallreth.

It has been suggested that all those people who paid for recipes at the tasting tea and never received their ordered copies, might call MRS. J. W. DICKENS. If the women can come close enough in description to the dish they wanted the recipe for, she might be able to trace it down. There was a slight hitch in this first attempt.

at the tea and a master copy of the recipes by number and description wasn't kept. Next time will be better.

MRS. FRANK E. HAMPTON, her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Hartnett, and granddaughter, Betty, of Houston, left this morning after visiting Mrs. Hampton's daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. John Gary. They were also guests of her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. D. Stewart.

MRS. MAYME REID returned late Thursday evening from El Paso where she spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weise and Capt. and Mrs. Robert W. Long. A son, A. C. Reid, and his wife came from Los Angeles to join the other members of the family.

MRS. FRED STAGGS has returned from Basile, La., where she joined four sisters, and a brother for a reunion, the first for all of them in 50 years. Mrs. Staggs was joined at Irving by Mrs. Winona Staggs and Mrs. Helen Headstream of Roby. The gathering was held in the home of Mrs. Hattie Hester in Basile. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Minkens came from Yuma, Ariz. The group also visited in Jennings and Opelousas during their Louisiana trip.

JOHN ARTHUR LAWRENCE has returned to White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico after spending several days, including his birthday, here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Lawrence.

MR. AND MRS. G. G. MORE-HEAD were among the many proud parents at the Baylor University graduation ceremonies Friday morning when their son, Robert Earl, and his wife, Fran, both received the B. A. degrees.

DR. AND MRS. FRANK K. MEANS of New York City have returned to their home after spending the past week here with her parents, MR. AND MRS. S. F. WALLING.

Miss Wilson Is Bride Of Howard D. Schwartz

LAMESA (Sp.) — Emma Lee Jane Wilson became the bride of Edward Dale Schwartz in a double ring ceremony read Friday in the chapel of First Baptist Church. The Rev. Milo B. Arbuckle, pastor, was the officiating clergyman. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle L. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Gibson. Music was furnished by Mrs. Dick Edwards, organist, and Ed Wittner, soloist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with portrait neckline, moulded bodice with long point sleeves, and a bouffant waist length skirt which stemmed from a torso waistline with center front point. Her shoulder length illusion veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a white orchid atop a white pearl Bible surrounded by tiny white streamers and blue and white satin streamers. Honor attendants for the pair were the bride's brother, Billy Doyle Wilson of Lubbock, best man, and Mrs. Acy Lee Easterly of Winters, matron of honor. Mrs. Easterly wore a dress of sky blue silk organza over taffeta fashioned with criss-cross cummerbund, fully shirred skirt, Sabrina neckline and cap sleeves. Her half-hat of blue maline was studded with tiny white flowers, and she carried a single long-stemmed red rose. Wilson and Leslie J. Pipkin were ushers. Members of the houseparty at the reception held in the church parlor following the ceremony were Mrs. Robert H. Poteet, Mrs. Gene Britt, Mrs. A. B. Cox, Mrs. Mable Lee Ray, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Mrs. H. C. Hairgrove, Mrs. W. R. Foster, Mrs. Ira Ashley, Mrs. Pipkin, Mrs. J. E. DuBose, Mrs. Maxine Berry and Mrs. Marilyn Cox. Upon their return from a wedding trip to western New Mexico the couple will reside in Lamesa. For traveling, Mrs. Schwartz wore a pastel blue fitted suit. She is a graduate of Lamesa High School and is employed by Farmers Cooperative Labor Association. Schwartz, who attended schools in Gage, Okla., Perryton and Lamesa, is employed by J. W. White, building contractor.

Names Wedding Date

June 20 is the date selected by Joyce Howard and Carl Bradley for their wedding, which will be in the First Methodist Church. The announcement is being made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard, 1500 Lancaster. Bradley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bradley, Mineral Wells.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Bobbie Joyce Brown became the bride of Airman 2 C. John J. Grant Jr. in a double ring ceremony read Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Cochran, 700 Nolan. Herbert C. McPherson, ministerial student, performed the service. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grant Sr., West Lebanon, N.Y.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina-length dress of white cotton trimmed with lace. Its scoop-neckline was complemented with a single cultured pearl worn around her neck; the item belonging to Mrs. Bill Feger of West Lebanon, sister of the bridegroom, was the something borrowed. In her shoe she had a penny.

With the new dress she had a ring of Mrs. Edward McCormick as the old item. A garter enhanced with lace was the blue note. She carried a white gardenia on a white Bible.

Diann Larimore attended her step-sister as maid of honor. Scooped neckline and three-quarter sleeves were features of her red dress, with which she had a corsage of white flowers.

The best man was Airman 2 C. Paul Aiguereva Jr., of Webb AFB. At the reception, guests were served punch and portions of the two-tiered cake, which was decorated with bells and a bridal figurine.

Out-of-town guests present at the service were Mrs. John Grant, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Mary Sullivan of West Lebanon; M. Sgt. Robert W. Brown of Wichita Falls, father of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Larimore, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mullins, grandparents of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Tatum, all of Hearne.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose an orange two-piece suit of cotton, with beige accessories. The white gardenia was pinned to the lapel. The newlyweds will make a home at 1509 Main. As a senior, she will continue her studies at BSHS where she has been a member of the FFA, the choir, pep squad and the Distributive Education Club. She is presently employed by Montgomery Ward. Airman Grant attended the Lebanon schools prior to his enlistment in the USAF.

Are You A New Mother? Test Your NM Quotient

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Writer
What's your New Mother Quotient? Are you prepared to do the job of mothering your infant? Is baby a happy contented little cherub or does he cry a good deal of the time?

Here are a few reminders to test whether you are doing the best for your baby:

Is baby content with life? A baby cries for a reason, so if your young one sheds tears too often, perhaps he is hungry. Even if you give him a full bottle, and he drinks it all, he could be feeling hunger pangs if the formula isn't just right. Talk to your pediatrician or family doctor. A little change in formula may bring a smile to baby's face.

Is baby happy? A baby who can feel your affection in the firm way you grip him, gently but with assurance, the way you support his head, and pat his back will respond with gurgles. Some mothers are too rough with tiny tots.

How do you feed him? If baby is bottle fed, don't rush him through the feeding just because you want to make a telephone call. Cradle the little fellow in your arms warmly, and let him take his time at the bottle. A little baby may look forward to these wonderful minutes in your arms when he can feel warm and secure.

Some mothers prop the bottle up in the crib at feeding time. A little fellow would rather be picked up and cuddled than to take his bottle lying down.

Is he comfortable? Do you change his diaper when necessary or do you postpone it another 10 or 15 minutes, just enough to put your little fellow in a bad mood? Do you change him gently or does the job annoy you, so that you make your feelings known to the baby?

When changing baby's diaper, make sure he is cleaned properly before putting on another diaper. Pat on a baby liquid cream, including all the little creases and folds of his skin in your massage.

Put some liquid on your finger and gently pat it on any rough spots, and if a rash appears and does not heal up in a day or two consult your doctor. He may suggest a good ointment that could clean up the disturbance over night.

Do you respect baby's right for privacy? Babies have sensitive ears so it isn't fair to move baby's crib to a room where children roughhouse or a television set is blaring away. He should have a quiet place to go to sleep in the evening. If you start baby off on the right beam, he'll likely be a relaxed individual for the rest of his days.

All Smiles And Suntans

Mrs. Harden Shares Her Husband's Enthusiasm For His Career Field

Second Lt. and Mrs. Donald Harden are an Air Force couple through and through, if enthusiasm is a gauge. In the service they have lived across the continent, from California to Florida. Foreign assignment came in the form of two years in French Morocco and North Africa. Casablanca was the birthplace of Dana, three and a half years ago. His sister, Diana, arrived in Denver and is now two. While overseas, the lieutenant was a radio operator, harboring an ever-increasing yen to learn to fly. For a time he was an instructor in a guided missiles school in Colorado. Then came an opportunity for flight training. His six months of primary training at Marianna, Fla., are now being topped with basic at Webb AFB. He is in the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, as of the first of May. With a zest for snow skiing, the couple plans to convert their athletic talent to water skiing to suit their new environs. They still remember the high spot of their tour of Europe which climaxed the two-year period in North Africa; their favorite country was Germany because it offered the best skiing facilities. Bowling is another activity in which they share interest; so are swimming and tennis. But golfing is his sport alone.

Home for both Lt. and Mrs. Harden is Salt Lake City, Utah. In Big Spring they are comfortably settled in a pink and white bungalow at 1800 East 15th which they were lucky to find after only one day in the community.

Already with seven years and three months in the USAF, Lt. Harden is planning to make his career in the branch. And no one seems happier about his decision than his wife!

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hart of Midland have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Pearl, to Robert Allan Burnett of Pecos. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Burnett. The couple will be married on June 29 in the Primitive Baptist Church in Midland. The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Armstrong of Big Spring and the niece of the Leo Parkers and the M. M. Fairchilds of Forsan.

Miss Philley Is Honoree

A blue and white theme at a tea, given Friday evening for Glendene Philley, emphasized the shade to be used in her wedding on June 6.

Miss Philley, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Philley, 1402 Birdwell, will be married to William Brooks in the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brooks of Midland.

Gathering at the home of Mrs.

A. L. Cooper, friends were greeted by Mrs. Cooper, Miss Philley, her mother, and her grandmother, Mrs. G. G. Philley of Chillicothe, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom. His sister, Marilyn, was part of the house party.

Jane Smedley registered guests; hostesses alternated at the table, which was covered with a white organdy cloth over blue. In the centerpiece, a reflector held a small bride and groom. Blue tapers stood on each side of the grouping.

The guest list included about 250.

Hostesses with Mrs. Cooper were Mrs. Truman Dennis, Mrs. Ray Parker, Mrs. Gene Combs, Mrs. Kenneth Prater, Mrs. R. L. Baker, Mrs. Virgil Smedley, Mrs. Duke Baker and Mrs. Joe Thurman.

Farewell Coffee Is Compliment For Two

COAHOMA — Members of the Coahoma Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, called Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. B. R. Thomason to bid farewell to Mrs. Fred Salling and Mrs. H. L. Miller. The coffee was a come-and-go affair.

Mrs. Salling will soon move to Miles, and Mrs. Miller will be making a home in New Home.

Commencement Held For Stanton Seniors

STANTON — Thirty-seven senior students received diplomas at the Stanton High School commencement exercises Thursday night in the elementary school gymnasium.

Stina Tucker gave the valedictory, Faith In Tomorrow Through Our Faith In People. Carl Ray Reynolds, class salutatorian, spoke on Faith In Tomorrow Through Our Faith In Science.

Other members of the class who spoke were Jimmy Hamilton, Faith In Tomorrow Through Our Faith In Education, and Bob Boyce, Faith In Tomorrow Through Our Faith In Religion.

Joyce Anderson played the professional and recessional. Bob Boyce gave the invocation.

Exotic Suit

Bridge Fans Attending Tournament

Four local bridge players are attending the gathering of enthusiasts slated for the weekend at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio. Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. E. L. Powell left Friday for the Alamo City; Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Marie Carter left Saturday morning.

Following the games, Mrs. Robb and Mrs. Powell will return home, while the other two women will visit their sisters.

Mrs. Wasson will be a guest of her sister, Mrs. Alice Myers in Robertson, and Mrs. Carter will visit in Corpus Christi with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Tom.

Grads Of SHS Are On Annual Trip

STANTON — Accompanying the members of the Stanton High School seniors on their annual trip are Mrs. Clyde Nichols, S. A. Yates, Jim Read and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Boyce.

The group is making the trip by bus and is to visit Austin, San Marcos, San Antonio, Galveston and Houston.

They will arrive home at midnight on Friday.

Friday Tea Is Another In Party Series For Bride

Mrs. Robert D. Whittington was again named honored guest for a post-nuptial compliment Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Davis.

The honoree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coffee, is here from Bryan, to visit her parents. She and Whittington were married in Bryan on May 2. He is the son of Mrs. R. D. Whittington of Bossier City, La., and the late Col. Whittington.

Future Bride

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kamm, 604 Drake Rd., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Connie, and Jimmie Minchew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Minchew, 407 West Eighth. The nuptial service will be read July 3 in Northside Baptist Church.

former residents of Big Spring. Receiving guests were Mrs. Davis and her daughter, Mr. Wesley Deats. Mrs. Davis presented Mrs. Coffee and her daughter, along with Mrs. Lightner Burns of Anthony, N.M., great-aunt of the bride, and Mrs. T. A. Thigpen, also an aunt.

Assisting with duties of the house party were Prissy Pond, Sammie Sue McComb, Brenda Gordon, Brenda Barr and the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. John R. Coffee.

Various members of the hostess group invited guests to the tea table and alternated in saying the adieu.

On an all-white table of net over satin, a silver punch bowl and lazy susan of silver held delectables.

Subtle Drapery

A subtly draped skirt accents a good hip line in a delicately flowered lastex fallie swim suit and colors follow design in feminine pumpkin, gold and pale yellow on white or blue and turquoise on white. Construction is an important factor here — the suit is cut with extra seams for perfect fit. A cuffed bra and narrow straps act as a foil of simplicity against the print and the draped skirt.

To Attend Tech

Sammie Sue McComb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McComb, 811 East 12th, plans to leave Wednesday for Lubbock, where she will be a student in Texas Tech during the summer. She is to live in Horn Hall.

tables in the chosen colors, yellow and white.

Magnolia blossoms combined with white stock and shaggy chrysanthemums to form the floral beauty of the table.

Joining in the hospitality were Mrs. Colin Grigsby, Mrs. Robert Stripling, Mrs. W. B. Younger, Mrs. James W. Johnson, Mrs. Joe Pond, Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. Ross Boykin and Mrs. Loyd Brannon.

Have Pickup Supper After Clean-Up Day

Clean-Up Paint-Up Fix-Up work is satisfying and beautifying but sometimes tiring. However, a quick shower and an easy supper will help you shake off any feelings of weariness.

You can "fix up" the old-fashioned hot dog as the star attraction of your post-cleaning dinner by splitting the frankfurter and stuffing it with sharp cheese. Then wrap it in a partially fried bacon strip and place the "pig in a blanket" under the broiler.

Open a can of baked beans, place the contents in a baking dish or casserole, cover with the bacon strips and heat in a moderate oven.

A bowl of potato chips, a tossed salad of lettuce, cucumber and tomato, and a tray of your family's favorite relishes will complete your supper with ease.

Paper plates and cups can be used in keeping with the picnic atmosphere and will leave you rested and ready to enjoy the evening.

Beauty Hints For Clean-Up Or Any Week

Clean up, paint up, and fix up today—be pretty tonight!

Of course. Your glamour needsn't suffer if you follow a few simple beauty hints.

When you plan extensive cleaning which will raise dust, it's wise to protect your hair with a bandana. And while you're "under cover" you may want to put your hair up in pin curls to have a "set" while you work.

A special protective cream should be applied to hands and arms before painting. Then any paint splatters will be easily removed without chapping or red-irritation.

If your hands will be in grime, you can avoid getting the dirt wedged under your fingernails by forcing them into a soft bar of soap. After the job is completed, the soap will readily come loose, leaving no tell-tale dirt line.

Plan your daily campaign activities so that 4 p.m. will be quitting time. This will enable you to relax with a leisurely bath, polish your nails and rest briefly before dressing.

A deft application of your favorite beauty aids and a spray of cologne or perfume will complete your glamour styling.

Bible School Scheduled This Week

STANTON — The Vacation Bible School, held from Monday through June 10, will close with a special commencement program at 8 p.m. on June 10.

Ernest Hock is serving as principal of the school, and there are approximately 55 workers.

All children in the town from ages three to 16 years of age are invited to take part.

The school is from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday and then Monday through Wednesday during the next week.

Included in the program will be handwork, Bible study, songs, stories and refreshments.

Plans July Nuptials

The engagement of their daughter, Patsy Jean, to J. Patton (Pat) Porter is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Denver Dunn, 512 East 15th. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Skeet) Porter, Vealmoor, are parents of the prospective bridegroom. The wedding will be an event of July 25.

Please Your Guests With Fresh Coffee Cake

Is yours a friendly neighborhood, where the women of the block gather every morning or so for coffee? Next time it's your turn to be hostess, bake this delicious coffee cake to serve with coffee or tea.

CINNAMON BUTTERMILK COFFEE CAKE
2 cups sifted flour
2 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon

1-3 cup sifted flour
Mix the 2 cups flour and brown sugar. Cut in butter until the mixture resembles coarse meal. To 3/4 cup of this mixture add 1/4 cup chopped nuts; set aside. To remaining flour mixture, add egg, buttermilk, baking soda, cinnamon and the 1-3 cup flour. Mix only until dry ingredients are well moistened.
Pour into a buttered 9-inch square pan. Sprinkle sugar-nut mixture over the top. Bake in a 325 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes. Let cool or serve warm in squares.

Local Man's Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Stewart of Wichita Falls are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sherry, to Tom Henry Guin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Guin, 1602 Indian Hills. Vows will be taken Aug. 22 in the Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls.

Homemaking Courses Due Adults In June

During the month of June, homemaking departments in senior high, Goliad and Runnels high schools will be open to adults without charge. Adults are invited to contact the homemaking teachers for courses in various phases of home economics.

A course in drapery making, under the direction of Mrs. Jack Alexander, is to be offered June 8-12 at Goliad school. During that period at senior high, two courses in beginning clothing construction will be taught by Mrs. W. L. Walker. Mrs. Frances Pharis and Sally Sandlin. Sessions are planned for 9 to 11 a.m. or 2 to 4 p.m. daily.

A series in modern methods of clothing construction will be offered June 15-19 at Runnels, under Mrs. Florence Lenox's guidance. Students who have completed at least one year of homemaking training may enroll and earn one-half credit for the work.

Group work will be done by students in the three schools this summer. Runnels will concentrate on meal planning and preparation, clothing construction and Future Homemaker plans for next year. The latter two categories will be emphasized by Goliad students.

In addition, the homemaking girls will spend most of their time in related work in their own homes, and will participate in community endeavors such as Vacation Bible School, the YMCA recreation program, Red Cross, and furnishing magazines and cookies to the state hospital.

Guests From Indiana Visit Dietrichs

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Harold Dietrich, Beck and Judy, are hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snider, Randy and Cathy for a two weeks visit. Mr. and Mrs. Snider are from Peru, Ind., home of Sergeant Dietrich and his family.

During their stay in Big Spring, trips are planned to Carlsbad Caverns N. M., and also to Chihuahua, Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Neves will entertain with a dinner for the visitors; a lawn party will be held at the Dietrich home celebrating his birthday and also that of M. Sgt. Bernard Friedrichs of Webb Air Force Base.

Guests for both of these affairs will include other military personnel from Webb AFB and civilian friends of both families.

To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Val Isias, Snyder Hwy., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, and Tony Martinez. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Martinez, Sand Springs. The wedding ceremony will be read June 20 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Ex-Resident Is Honored

While Mary Walker, a former resident who now lives in Denver, Colo., was here visiting friends last week, Betty Ford took the opportunity to honor her with a bridal shower. The compliment was given Friday evening at Cadden Country Club.

Miss Walker, daughter of Mr. Mrs. Dennis Walker of Pecos, will pledge vows with Garry Beber of Ohio, in a ceremony to be read June 19 in Denver.

White lace overlaid pink linen on the refreshment table appointed with milkglass. As the centerpiece, pink blossoms floated in a pedestaled container which was threaded with pink satin ribbons.

The honoree received a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Easy-Care Fabric Makes Attractive Summer Blouses

This is the year when it's smart to be feminine, even in sports clothes.

A flattering top for either shorts or skirts is a sleeveless, waist-length blouse trimmed with rows of ruffles and finished across the yoke with a row of eyelet beading threaded with nylon ribbon.

This summer blouse has been made up by experts in order to work out simple directions. They suggest using a drip-dry or wash-and-wear fabric in crisp white.

You also may buy the wide eyelet ruffles and the beading across the front in the same minimum-care finish.

If you are careful in selection of fabrics, this frilly top may be worn without ironing.

Regular Clean-Up Is Good Way To Prevent Fires, Chief Says

"Clean-up is not just a slogan, it's a vital way to prevent fires," said Fire Chief H. V. Crocker as the city launched its annual Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up campaign.

Crocker urged all residents to check their homes for all types of hazards while making a spring housecleaning. He urged making the following checks:

Check the furnace and heating system every spring — and in the fall too.

Determine if the wiring system meets today's electrical demands. Fuses blowing out often, flickering lights, appliances operating slowly — these are warning signals that wiring is out of date.

Old clothes and furniture and newspapers should be removed from the attic, basement, garage, and storage rooms.

Old rags and paint-stained cloths should be disposed of or kept in closed metal containers. Old mops should be hung up so air can circulate around them.

No leaves or grass cuttings should be left near building foundations.

Periodic home fire drills need to be held with instructions on what to do should fire start from an uncontrollable cause.

"The one sure way to successfully fight fires is before they start," Crocker added, "so take advantage of the current campaign and get rid of all fire hazards."

The chief said that you can eventually reduce your fire insurance rates in addition to insuring safety by keeping your premises clean.

Insurance rates are dependent on the number of times a certain event occurs. The more fires, the more money paid out and the fire insurance is granted. On the other hand, the fewer fires, the lower the insurance rates and the greater credit given the city each year to apply on these rates, Crocker said.

By giving your house a good cleaning and throwing away all the superfluous material that just has a way of collecting, you are helping the city as well as yourself, the chief said.

Also, you won't have to worry about the refuse collecting in the alley, either, with the city making the rounds to collect all trash next week.

These yearly campaigns would not be needed, if citizens would start with the little things and not let litter accumulate.

Litter has been variously described as a blot on the beautiful face of America, a drain on the taxpayer, a threat to health and highway safety, and a national disgrace. There is still another; it is also a fire hazard.

According to the fire department, litter and rubbish account for a substantial part of the nation's yearly billion dollar fire loss.

Trash accumulation in cellars, attics, alleyways and vacant lots is a fire hazard which can result in costly damage to property and even loss of life. Remains and wrappers from a picnic lunch, thoughtlessly tossed on highways, or in parks, forest and recreation areas may involuntarily provide forest fire.

While the problem of controlling trash-caused fires is tremendous (rubbish and litter were responsible for more than twice as many fires in the past ten years as in the previous decade) encouraging strides have been made and can, in many instances, be attributed to a concentrated educational program of litter prevention.

Until just a few years ago hardly anyone had ever heard of litterbags. Today a large percentage of the American public considers the portable trash container an essential piece of travelling equipment and wouldn't dream of taking off in the family car without one.

This would indicate that concern over the trash-tossing propensities of the motoring public is getting results. Many Americans are accepting an individual responsibility for maintaining the clean, attractive appearance of their highways and recreation areas, and regard the litterbag as a valuable aid to good outdoor housekeeping. But unless everyone cooperates, highway clean-up costs will continue to be exorbitant — $50 million a year for primary highways alone.

litter will continue to be a fire and safety hazard, and litterbugs will continue treating the countryside as a trash heap.

What is a litterbug? It's a kind of travelling wastebasket whose purpose is to save the nation's highways from becoming nothing more than a huge garbage can.

Like everyone else there must have been times when you've wondered what to do with sticky wrappers, used tissues, or the many other articles which accumulate during the course of normal automotive travel. After a slight but quickly subdued twinge of conscience, perhaps you've surreptitiously tossed the whole mess out the window. There are many varieties of litterbugs, from simple home-made devices to patented commercial products, and although some leaders in the anti-litter movement encourage regular use of a standard container, any kind of sturdy bag (including a plain grocery or shopping bag, box or basket) will do if nothing else is available.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MAY 31, 1959 SEC. D

City's Clean-Up Drive To Begin Officially Monday

A fleet of trash trucks will start covering the city bright and early Monday to clear away all evidences of Big Spring's annual spring clean-up.

Although Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week officially opens Monday, the clean-up phase of the campaign has been under way in most areas for several days. Residents who haven't joined in the program thus far are being urged by City and Chamber of Commerce officials to do so immediately. The city trucks will haul away all accumulations of trash that citizens put out in their usual garbage pick-up areas. There will be no charge for the service; the only stipulation is that residents have their rubbish ready for loading when the trucks make their rounds.

In the wake of the clean-up, Chamber and city officials are urging all property owners to continue with general repair and painting of their holdings. Beautification, increased values and improved sanitation are being cited as advantages of the program.

Elimination of fire hazards is another objective of the campaign. The city has been divided into three areas for the trash removal operation. The areas correspond to the normal garbage collection routes.

Monday and Tuesday, for instance, the special trash trucks will scour the district where garbage usually is collected each Monday and Tuesday. That is the southeastern portion of the city — all the area south of E. 1st St. and east of Settles, along with the section east of Benton, Caylor and State from 1st to 8th. All of Washington Place, College Park Estates, Monticello Addition and the Elevant Place Shopping Center are included.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the trucks will clean up the areas where garbage is regularly collected on Tuesdays and Fridays. Collections will be made Friday and Saturday in the region where garbage is picked up on Wednesday and Saturday.

Garbage trucks will remain on their regular schedules throughout the week. Extra trucks are to be used to remove trash gathered in the clean-up campaign.

Tax Funds Wasted When Trash Thrown In Streets

The litter thrown in the street is more than paper and trash — it's taxpayer's money, City Manager A. K. Steinheimer has pointed out.

"No citizen would knowingly throw money into the streets and highways, yet that's exactly what the litterbugs are doing," Steinheimer said. "Debris that is tossed needlessly away means additional sanitation employees and equipment must be utilized and these extra clean-up jobs are paid out of tax funds.

"In addition, this trash often collects in gutters and sewers, clogging and flooding them during heavy rain storms. The damage resulting from this overflow often means further expenses for the city government and can cost the property owner money, too," said Steinheimer.

"It's just good sense to prevent these needless expenditures. Pedestrians should spot trash receptacles and utilize them; motorists should always carry a litterbag in their autos. During Clean-Up, Paint-Up-Fix Up time, make a resolution that you won't be a litterbug — or a spend-thrift of your tax dollars," the city manager urged.

Check Growth Rate In Picking Your Shade Tree

Before you choose a shade tree for your property as part of your Clean-Up-Plant-Up program, you should consult the tree growth table and coordinate it with your house height, personal desires and program of living.

Your type of house, ranch, or two-story, will determine the right ultimate height of the prospective tree. An oak would rather dwarf a small ramble, for example. If your job appears permanent in the present location, so that your current house may be home for several decades, you can profitably purchase a tree which reaches maturity slowly. Last, but obviously not least, your personal likes in trees should influence your decision.

Let's look at the growth table. Fastest growing trees are sugar maple, American and green ash, cucumber tree, American, Chinese and Moline elms, sweet gum, silver maple, sycamore, thornless honey locust and little leaf linden. They will grow 20 to 30 feet in 10 years.

Clean-Up Week Good Time To Clear Garage

Has your garage shrunk lately? It may well seem that way if a pile of discarded household items, children's toys, wood stacks and other non-descript items have narrowed the car space.

Clean-Up-Paint-Up-Fix Up Week is the ideal time to re-do the garage, organizing its contents, cleaning, painting inside, planting outside.

First of all, remove everything from the garage and then give it a thorough sweeping. A good hose down, or scrubbing if necessary, is next on the agenda. You may wish to give the interior a coat of light-hued paint so that nighttime searches for garage items are easier, thanks to the higher reflectance of light paint.

In returning items to the garage, there are doubtless several that can be discarded. Get rid of old greasy rags. Gasoline and other flammable liquids should be disposed of. Unused and outgrown toys should be given away to an orphanage or other charitable organizations.

The ceiling space of the garage is a good source of storage and simple nail insertions to the beams will hold rakes, hoes, and shovels. Bushel baskets can be stored aloft, too. Perforated beaver board can be fitted to one wall to hold miscellaneous small items.

When you store paint cans, place a dab of the hue on the outside of each can for easy identification. Then secure lids tightly.

Turning to the exterior of the garage, cut back close-by bushes that obstruct vision. A flower box installation or planting climbing roses, morning glories or a sapling behind the garage will aid in changing the appearance of the garage from an orphan building on your lot into an attractive adjunct to your home.

While Clean-Up-Paint-Up-Fix Up won't change the dimensions of your garage, by following the above steps you'll find you have a great deal more room, in addition to a safer and more beautiful garage.

Teen-Agers Taking To Air Here, Several Seeking Pilot Licenses

By BOBBY HORTON

They're sending 'em up younger every year—in the air, that is. And it's to the point where men no longer have the monopoly on flying, if ever they did.

At least seven young Big Spring lads have their eyes set on flying, and one of them already has picked up his private flying license.

Three — Franklin Williamson, Warren Schulte and Horace Hamilton — graduate from Big Spring High Monday night. They all are working toward private licenses. Another, Robbie Sanders, has everything lined up for a private license but is waiting until he becomes of age.

Three other boys who ended spring semester work at Howard County Junior College, Jimmy Johnson, Jimmy Simmons and Larry Nix, are training. To Johnson received his private license only a few days ago.

Horace is son of Cecil Hamilton, who operates Hamilton Field north on the Snyder Highway. The younger Hamilton, 19, plans to go into commercial aviation as he becomes more experienced. He is farthest along toward a private license of his fellow high school grads. Horace plans to attend HCCJ next year, and major in engineering.

Cecil, who has been here 12 years, has been active in aviation since 1940. He was an instructor in World War II and for a time piloted for Trans-World Airlines. His zeal for the air was passed on to his son who frequently pores over old scrapbooks Cecil has kept.

WORKED FOR TRAINING
Jimmy Johnson, 19, was given his private license in April, following hopes of his boyhood. He worked under Cecil to pay off flying training expenses.

"I must have gotten in about an hour and a half flying each week. I stretched it out over almost a year."

His HCCJ buddies, Jimmy Simmons and Larry Nix, are now student pilots. Simmons, 19 and married, has nine hours of flying time over a period since March. A private license is his aim but he's ready for any appealing opportunity in flying.

Larry, son of Hoyle Nix who operates a local dance band, divides time between learning to fly and helping his dad. He's been soloing about three weeks, according to Hoyle.

Franklin Williamson, one of the high school boys, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Williamson. Robbie Sanders was fingered the controls when most other boys his age were worrying about pimples and dating. He soloed the day after his 16th birthday and has been waiting around until he will be 17, the minimum age for getting a private license.

WAITS ON LICENSE
Although 10 months away from that age, he has more than 30 hours piled up. No doubt his desire to fly rubbed off from his pop, Garland Sanders, who once owned the field that is now Hamilton Field.

Garland, now owner of a trucking firm, and John Underwood were partners in first establishing the old U and S. Airport in the 40's. Garland is still an active flyer and keeps his commercial license up to date.

There are probably about four dozen local men who have private or commercial licenses. Many use flying in their occupations; others go at it as a hobby. About 20 privately-owned planes are housed at Hamilton Field.

A 17-year-old may get a private license, provided he has 40 hours flying time, 25 of which are solo. Other stipulations are that he pass tests on civil air regulations, meteorology, navigation, radio, etc.

FEMINE FLYER
The only woman flyer active in Big Spring may be Mrs. Doyle Bynum.

The Big Spring High School English teacher was awarded her private license in December 1956, almost a year to the day after her husband received his. He works for Cosden.

"I think flying is one of the better hobbies for women; in fact, the average woman with children needs something like it to 'recoup' every now and then," she says.

A Stanton woman, Mrs. Curtis Erwin, who graduated from HCCJ last week, recently received her private license from Hamilton Field.

Paper Mill Sets Open House

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Southland Paper Mills will hold an open house next Friday.

The open house will include guided tours of all operations of the newsprint plant and refreshments. The tours will be informal. The open house will be conducted between 2 and 8 p.m.

No program or speeches are planned. "We want to emphasize that everyone over 10 years of age is invited to attend," Southland officials said.

Southland Paper Mills was opened in 1940 and was the first mill to produce newsprint from southern yellow pine.

Since opening 19 years ago, the plant has undergone five major expansion programs.

Death On Highway Follows Ticketing

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Thomas H. Chaddock, 63, of St. Louis, got a ticket for reckless driving Friday. Less than two hours later he was dead. Police said his car ran through a stop sign into the path of two others.

DEAR ABBY

TURN HIM IN

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you handle a movie masquerade without calling the usher and making a scene? I still have the four-inch hatpin my grandmother gave me. She told me she was once annoyed by such a character and she stabbed him in the hand with the hatpin. He screamed, the lights went on, the picture went off and the man ran and Grandma just sat there as though nothing had happened. We don't use hatpins like that any more but just last Friday night I wished I'd had one. I moved my seat instead. What would you have done?

DEAR ANNOYED: This is no laughing matter. Any man who would molest a woman in a theatre would probably molest a child. Quietly slip out and get the usher (or manager) before the "masquerade" has a chance to get away—leave the punishing to the authorities.

DEAR ABBY: I had a sweetheart and I loved her so much that I thought I couldn't live without her. I went with her for three years. It took me that long to find out that she was nothing but a little tramp. I am still in love with her. God knows I have to forget her. But how?

DEAR "L": You can "forget" her by "remembering" her — for what she really is.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 33 years old and if I didn't touch my hair it would be very, very gray. My husband wants me to let it go gray because his mother is gray. He tells me that a man's mother is his real family, but a wife is just a wife, like a business partner or friendly companion. I am sick to death of playing second fiddle to his mother. She treats him like a moron and still talks baby talk to him. I hoped he'd outgrow it, but he gets worse every year. What should I do? MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: You took this man for better or for worse. Unless you can get a clergyman or doctor to straighten out his thinking, you are destined to be stuck with a little boy whose emotional growth has been strangled by his mother's apron strings.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with this fellow for 10 months and he asked me to marry him. I asked him how I could get in touch with him in case of an emergency since his telephone number wasn't listed in the book. He immediately told me it was not necessary for me to have his number and added he would NEVER give it to me. What do you make of this? AT A LOSS

DEAR AT: If you are considering marrying this man—reconsider. I think you've already got his number.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J.C.C.": Obviously a very quiet wedding took place. Her father probably put a silencer on the shotgun.

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS ARE IN DANGER!

Yes, millions still have not had any polio shots. They are unprotected as the 1959 polio season approaches. What about you?

Polio isn't licked yet! In fact, cases of paralytic polio—the worst kind—increased slightly in 1958 over 1957 among people not vaccinated.

Remember—polio strikes all ages. Play safe. Your neighbor's polio shots will not protect you. See your doctor or health department NOW before it's too late.

To The Editor:

After many attempts over the years to start Girl Scout work in our neighborhood, we at last have a fine Brownie troop going. It has 13 members and is meeting regularly with a good program.

This would not have been possible except for the generous help given us by Mrs. Larson Lloyd. She not only helped with the organization but met with us several times until we had the troop going smoothly.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THE YEARS WITH ROSS
by James Thurber, Little, Brown & Co.

I suppose you have to be a reader of The New Yorker to get the real flavor of this book. However, Thurber followers are so wide-spread, it doesn't really matter whether you are a New Yorker enthusiast or not. Besides, Ross is so well known as an editor that he is almost a household word.

In 1926, arrived back home in the States from France, where he had been on the staff of the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune and had tried his hand, unsuccessfully, at writing a novel, James Thurber began sending contributions to The New Yorker, a magazine for cosmopolitans which was then about two years old. After The New Yorker had printed a few of his pieces — and rejected many more — its editor and founder, Harold Ross, wrote Thurber a note asking if he would stop in and see him some time when he was in the vicinity. Thurber appeared at The New Yorker office the next day, and by the time his interview with Ross was over he found himself hired, not as a writer, as he had hoped, but as a desk man.

After about six hectic months, Thurber managed to shed that unwelcome editorial responsibility, for which he was not at all suited, and to turn his considerable talents to the magazine's inimitable "Talk of the Town" department, where they belonged. Though he resigned from The New Yorker staff in 1933, Thurber continued as a regular contributor to the magazine and continued also the very close association that had developed between himself and Harold Ross, the most remarkable man I have ever known and the greatest editor," entitled The Years with Ross, is being distributed by the Book-of-the-Month Club together with a new novel by Elizabeth Janeway, The Third Choice, as a double selection for June.

Long before his death in 1961, Harold Wallace Ross was both a legend and a paradox to his friends and associates. There was almost nothing in his background, early training or temperament to indicate that he had the drive or the ability or even the desire to create a magazine which has become for many people the very epitome of sophistication.

Ross's education was patchy, he was never a reader, and he was often intellectually and aesthetically obtuse. But he had an instinct for talent, a passion for clarity and perfection, and to his magazine he brought a staff of some of the most brilliant writers and cartoonists available, including H. L. Mencken, Alexander Woollcott, Ogden Nash, Robert Benchley, Clifton Fadiman, E. B. White, Dorothy Parker, Peter Arno, Helen Hokinson, Glynys Williams and James Thurber.

Thurber was unique in that his contributions included both prose and cartoons. As a matter of fact, he had been drawing long before he began to write, but he was on the staff of The New Yorker for three years before Ross could be persuaded that his drawings were good enough for the magazine — and then only after E. B. White and Thurber had collaborated on a book which Thurber also illustrated: Is Sex Necessary?

Thurber, now in his 60s, no longer draws. As a boy, he was blinded in one eye; his vision in the other became progressively worse until 1947, when he began to lose his sight altogether. But as the author of upward of 20 books and a well-known play — The Male Animal, written in collaboration with Elliot Nugent — he has long been a celebrated and admired man of letters.

THE THIRD CHOICE, by Elizabeth Janeway, Published by Doubleday & Co.

Elizabeth Janeway—wife, mother, book reviewer, lecturer and armchair politician as well as novelist—has been interested in writing since, at the age of 6, she composed a couplet about Columbus. Her first professional recognition came, however, in 1935 when, while a senior at Barnard College, she won Story magazine's International Short Story Contest.

Eight more years elapsed before she got around to publishing her first novel, The Walsh Girls. "Worked around" would be the more accurate phrase, since Mrs. Janeway had been working on the novel for seven of the eight years, and had completely revised it three times. It was finally completed just before the birth of her second child; in fact, Mrs. Janeway signed the publisher's contract in the taxi that was taking her to the hospital.

The four novels have followed The Walsh Girls, the most recent of which is being distributed by the Book-of-the-Month Club in June. It goes out with James Thurber's The Years with Ross, a biography of Harold Ross, the famed editor and founder of The New Yorker magazine.

The inspiration for The Third Choice, a story of two beautiful women, one a generation older than the other, came to her first Mrs. Janeway recalls, when she felt herself haunted and nagged by a fictional character, obviously someone in trouble, who seemed determined to claw her way out into the world. This character turned out to be Diane Belchamber, elder of the two women who share the spotlight in The Third Choice.

Diane, Mrs. Janeway suddenly envisioned, was confined in a nursing home with a broken hip and was dreaming about her past—her mistakes and her triumphs, her sorrows and her joys. And then the character of Diane's niece, Lorraine de Koning, emerged to give another dimension to the older woman's story—for it was soon very clear that Lorraine is about to repeat the pattern of life that her aunt, now older and wiser, so bitterly regrets.

The result is a fascinating novel with two heroines — stylistically, almost two books: one, a first-person account of Diane Belchamber's brilliant but star-crossed life; the second a contemporary story of a beautiful woman who desperately seeks an escape from the futility of her existence. John Marquand describes The Third Choice in the Book-of-the-Month Club News as an "absorbing, finely constructed story . . . one that anyone can read with thought and pleasure."

Asthma Sufferers Respond Under Chiropractic Care

The recent death of the beloved motion picture star Robert Donat made people everywhere realize just how serious asthma can become.

This disease, which is characterized by a "wheezing" type of breathing, is brought about by a spasm of the bronchial muscles. At the same time the mucous-membrane lining of the respiratory passages become swollen. As a result, breathing becomes a matter of great effort instead of an automatic response.

In a prolonged attack of asthma, the strongest man or woman can become as helpless as a baby.

Literally thousands of asthma sufferers throughout the United States have attained amazing results through Chiropractic care as the following case at Chiropractic Arts Clinic will illustrate. This man, 55 years of age, entered the clinic with a ten-year history of asthma. He told us that he had changed his location many times because he had been advised that a change in climate would help. He had used all the "regular" known means of care for this condition. He was getting progressively worse. He had lost weight from 160 lbs. to 96 lbs., could only sleep 20 to 30 minutes at a time and then awake for about two hours. His history goes on for two full pages of all the suffering he has endured.

Our examination in this case indicated a misplacement of vertebra in the spine causing pressure on nerves. We reasoned that this was not normal and must be corrected. An adjustment was made to correct the condition of nerve pressure and the case was put to rest. A second examination, after the adjustment, was made after a short rest and correction was indicated. Twenty-four hours later when the case returned to the clinic he told me that he had had his first full sleep and rest that he had had in ten years. The case has continued to improve physically since that time. No. 1845.

If respiratory trouble is your problem, your family's, or your friend's, contact your Chiropractor and hear his opinion in your case first.

A Devotional For Today

He shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season. (Psalms 1:3.)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us this day to seek the deep strength found in Thee. When our surroundings are barren, grant that Thy power may work through us so that we may be witnesses to Thee. In the name of Him who taught us to say when we pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the "Upper Room")

Will You Be The City's Example?

The time of the big push on the clean up campaign is at hand.

By all standards, we are ripe for a good community-wide housecleaning.

Trash needs to be gathered from yards and from vacant lots. Weeds need to be cut up. Fences and houses need to be mended; drab and weathered surfaces need to be repainted.

Containers such as old battery cases and automobile castings, cans and bottles which might catch and hold water need to be gathered from the neighborhood so as to remove breeding places for mosquitoes.

Areas around the garbage cans need to be cleaned thoroughly, and if possible sprayed with some sort of insecticide to curb flies and other insects. Garbage cans should be placed so they could be anchored and where lids may be fitted tightly and attached to the anchor by cord or chain.

The City of Big Spring has generously agreed once more to cooperate in several ways, notably by furnishing free pickup service on trash which you collect and place in your alley or at your curb.

The campaign has been well publicized; elaborate arrangements have been made. It's now up to you.

Would you be willing for your place to be the example for Big Spring?

Principle Rather Than Personalities

The Howard County Commissioners Court faces a busy agenda on Monday, and included is the so-called review of personnel.

This review, presumably a semi-annual affair, stems from dissatisfaction of one member of the court with a resident of that particular precinct who is working in the county road department.

Clashes of personality are easily understood, and frequently there may be foundation for these. Under the spoils system they could be resolved on the basis of support or of opposition.

Under the unified system, however, much more is involved than when it comes to any personnel. To have a unified program it is necessary to have unity of command. To have unity of command there must be responsibility, and to have responsible administration it is necessary to have control of personnel.

In opening the matter to a review, it might also be well to consider principle rather than personalities. If the principle of responsible administration by the engineer can be preserved, other difficulties will, in due season, be faced and solved. What we are trying to say is that a system rather than merely two individuals is under test.

Reds Would Gobble Up Captive States

GENEVA—News has emerged from reliable sources here that Premier Khrushchev has a plan to bring about the virtual annexation by the Soviet Union of all the "captive" states, including East Germany. They would become part of a super-supreme Soviet in Moscow.

This means that German reunification has never been and is not now a Soviet objective and that, for all practical purposes, the proposed "peace treaty" with the East German government is a camouflage formula by which it is intended that the various countries in Eastern Europe shall retain their "independence" but under a federated super-government managed by the Communist autocracy in the Kremlin.

There is already a consolidation on the economic side directed from Moscow, but now it is planned to go further on the political side. This may be Khrushchev's answer to the European common market and to similar moves that look to a United States of Europe in the orbit of Western influence.

The Soviet plan was first hinted at in a recent speech by Khrushchev in Leipzig, but now it has been confirmed in information coming out of the other countries under Soviet domination. One point stressed by the Soviet premier takes on added significance. It is that there is, as he said the other day, no need for a definition of frontiers as between the smaller states of Eastern Europe. If all these countries are to be subservient to a common master in Moscow, why should they worry about borders?

The new plan has certain military aspects. Thus, the Soviet army was not too happy with its mission in Hungary when it was ordered to crush the uprising there three years ago. Under the new setup, there would be an exchange of troops for police purposes. Small numbers of troops would be sent from one area to another in mixed forces as police units, thereby overcoming any nationalistic difficulties. Also this would facilitate sending in Soviet troops to any point in case of the threat of an uprising or as a military demonstration against the West.

The idea is that, with no frontiers and with representation in a super-supreme Soviet, "autonomy" would remain, but it would be a kind of "integrated" arrangement. There will be denial by the Soviets always that this amounts to annexation. They will point to the existence of local governments. The hand-picked parliaments would continue as an outer semblance of so-called independence. But the scheme could easily amount to a permanent abolition of actual sovereignty as in Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia.

Stalin originated the plan, but Khrushchev is reported to be ready to put it into effect. In each country Communism is to be the accepted doctrine for social, economic and political life.

The maneuver to get started on the annexation plan is probably the real reason why the Soviet government stirred up the crisis over West Berlin. It doesn't matter very much to Moscow if the Western Allies are granted a sop in the form of an "interim solution" for West Berlin. For this would keep things as they are and give the Soviets an excuse to deal with East Germany as a separate entity. Its membership in the new super-supreme Soviet would presumably be "voluntary" in the Communist sense. Many people in the West who have been deliberately scared by the ultimatum demanding Allied withdrawal from West Berlin will probably half almost any disposition of this particular issue and will be tempted to forego any further pressure for German reunification. But the Soviet strategy will be exposed to have been a move in one direction to cover up an aggression in another direction.

Meanwhile, reports from the satellite countries indicate puzzlement as to why Great Britain, in the midst of the foreign ministers conference, signed a trade treaty at Moscow. It is being asked what was so urgent about it that the British couldn't wait till the conference here was over. The Soviet tactics all along have been directed at splitting the West and particularly at driving a wedge between Britain and her allies. The refugee elements here say this is an example of how the temptations of materialism often supersede professions of idealism and render the Western position less and less encouraging to the "captive" peoples who still hope for "liberation" with the aid of the moral force of the West.

Waves Save Walk

DENVER (AP)—If you wave to a girl on the balcony at Denver's Union Station, she may toss you a note. But it's strictly business.

The girl is following a 40-year-old system designed to save a long walk. Miss Jessie Frank of the Western Union office on the station's main floor explains it: Whenever a secretary in an office on the second or third floor has a telegram to send, she presses a button which buzzes in Miss Frank's office.

Then Miss Frank walks out into the waiting room to catch the folded message. But if she is busy she may say to a customer or a man waiting for his train: "Do you see a girl up on balcony? Please wave to her." He does and the telegram floats down.

Fist Of Friendship

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Milkman Omer Zale, 24, was the friendly type. Every afternoon as he passed a certain Phoenix intersection he waved and shouted a greeting to a man working on a street project.

One afternoon the workman jumped into a truck and followed Zale. The milkman stopped his vehicle and stepped out to say a friendly word.

"What's the idea of always shouting at me?" asked the workman. Before Zale could reply, the workman let loose with a roundhouse right. It took seven stitches to close the wound on the milkman's head.

Cow Collared

LAUPAHOEHOE, Hawaii (AP)—Now comes the tale of the cow that roped a car.

Clement Malani, 31, was driving along when he came across a cow eating grass at the edge of the highway. Attached to the cow's neck was a rope which ran across the road. Malani continued driving but as his front wheels passed over the rope, the cow moved. Somehow the car was roped, and the cow slammed against the side of the car. Damage to the car was $100.

The police report did not list any damage to the cow.

So Much News Is Good, It's Hard To See The Bad

Two Texans, so the story goes, ate lox and bagels at a Jewish delicatessen in New York City six evenings in succession with obvious relish. The proprietor thanked them for their consistent patronage, and asked, "Can I do anything else for you?"

"Yes," they answered in unison, "please tell us which is lox and which bagels."

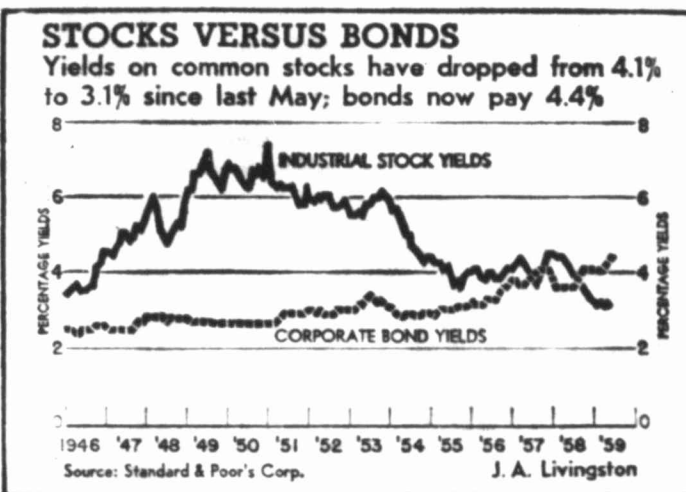

That's the way it is these days in finance. Pop! Up shoots International Harvester stock on the New York Stock Exchange from 44 1/2 on Monday to above 48 on Wednesday. And Harvester's ordinarily a slow mover. Frank W. Jenks, president, provided the impetus. He announced record sales and earnings in the company's April quarter and pronounced the outlook "exceptionally favorable," barring steel and rubber shortages due to strikes.

Almost simultaneously, Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss observed that the better-than-seasonal pace of expansion this spring should convince even the doubting Thomases that the present recovery is genuine. Charles M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., topped Strauss in enthusiasm, saying, "Never in my life have I seen all business indicators look as sound as they do today."

Strauss and White had an array of evidence to support them: Increased machine tool orders, record construction contracts in April, announcements by numerous steel companies of plans for plant expansion, and corporate reports, such as Harvester's, indicating that the business upsurge is showing up in earnings and, presumably, will ultimately show up in higher dividends.

This, in turn, has been registering in Wall Street in two ways—rising stock prices and falling bond prices.

On Wednesday, Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, one of the country's outstanding public utilities and a double-A credit risk, has to pay more than 5 per cent in selling first-mortgage bonds to raise $75,000,000. Prior to that, National Steel Corp., chairmaned by George M. Humphrey, former Secretary of the Treasury, floated 4 1/2 per cent first-mortgage bonds. Though the

J. A. Livingston

Edisons sold out quickly, the National Steels were, to use bondmen's terminology, "a bit sticky."

Like the mystified Texans, visitors from outer space, after viewing the economic scene, might well ask, "Please tell us which news is good and which bad."

Unlike lox, which knowledgeable delicatesseners know is smoked salmon, and bagels, which are rolls with holes, differentiation between good news and bad isn't easy. Everything seems good.

The mere fact that National Steel and Consolidated Edison go ahead with bond offerings is a good sign. They are proceeding with expansion plans, undeterred by high interest rates. They must see good business and profits ahead over the long term.

The fact that speculators and investors are willing to purchase stocks at prices which yield only 3.1 per cent also indicates optimism. They expect dividends to go up and make their ultimate returns less meagrely. In contrast, corporate bond yields have advanced to 4.4 per cent (see chart), which indicates that bonds return 1.3 per cent more than stocks. But that minimizes the real differential.

The bonds which are included in bond indexes have good homes in the portfolios of insurance companies, investment trusts, pension funds, and savings institutions. Unlike stocks, their prices don't always measure day-to-day changes in sentiment and interest rates. Rates on new issues are more sensitive.

Most recent issues with coupons under 5 per cent have sold below their offering prices. Examples—Alabama Power 4 1/2, Gulf Power 4 1/2, Commercial Investment Trust 4 1/2. Notable exceptions to this rule have been bonds convertible into common stocks. These, in keeping with the stock market, have tended to advance.

Thus, the going rate on corporates is closer to 5 per cent than 4.4 per cent. This reflects the going rate on U. S. Treasury bonds—4.10 per cent to 4.20 per cent.

The disparity between stock and bond yields is explainable psychologically. When people are optimistic, when they expect inflation, they prefer stocks. That's why mutual fund shares sell so well. People want something that will go up. Fixed income is for stick-in-the-mud.

Ultimately, a shift in Wall Street preference will take place. Indeed, here and there a mutual fund increases its proportion of assets committed to bonds. But when all outward indicators, including automobile sales, point up, it's hard to see the bad for the good.

3 Nights A Week

Enough For Paar

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar understandably wants to do three midnight shows a week instead of five. NBC-TV understandably wants him to do five.

It may be settled any day now, with Eddie Albert and his wife Margo doing two a week from Hollywood and Paar three a week from New York. Then again, it may be settled quite differently.

In any event, Paar is what is known as an "invaluable property." During the past year he has become one of the most popular and unquestionably the most talked-about entertainers on television.

He probably has done more to rearrange the sleeping habits of more Americans than anything that has happened since pajamas superseded the old-fashioned night shirt.

This is no satisfaction to Paar because he has had to rearrange his own sleeping habits. He used to be an early-to-bed and early-to-rise man—and still would like to be. The chief reason why he has been taping some of his shows is that he hates to stay awake after midnight.

Furthermore, he can't sleep soundly anywhere except in his own suburban Westchester abode.

There isn't much point in a reporter interviewing Paar because five nights a week he interviews himself before several million people, candidly expressing what's on his mind.

I think the reason so many people stay up late watching the Paar show is that he keeps them breathlessly waiting to learn what he's going to say or do next—a characteristic he also likes in his guests.

Around The Rim

Do What The Graduation Speaker Says

In this changing world, surely some of the verities remain unaltered through the years. My suspicion is that one of those things cut of the same pattern as of generations ago would be the graduation address.

Here we are in the season when assorted young people are hearing assorted speakers say substantially the same thing.

By the time the kids have received their diplomas and checked in their caps and gowns, they will have forgotten what the orator said; he himself will have rolled up his notes and arranged them for use next year; the school administration and the faculty will have wiped hot brows and breathed a prayer of thanks for another year past; proud parents will be wondering if Johnny and Susie are going to get home at all this night, and also how the heck are we going to pay the bill for college.

But who would change the pattern for "baccalaureate" and "commencement" programs? After all the occasion represents a degree of achievement for students, teachers and parents, and some formality is not inappropriate. If what the speaker said is not immediately usable, at least the principles voiced remain the major guideposts of living.

It's longer ago than I sat, still back, on a dingy high school stage and waited impatiently for the ceremonies to conclude so I could go yipping out with pals, feeling a good deal smarter than at any time since.

I don't even know who the speaker was, but I think I should know about what he said because I have been an auditioner at a good many graduation programs since.

After the passing of decades, the fellow who admonished us, cautioned us, urged us onward and tried to inspire us ought to be entitled to a report.

I think he said he kind to everybody. This is easy if you become a castaway on a desert island.

He must have said be forthright and honest. This has seemed a poor way to accumulate any of this world's goods.

But, he said, money isn't everything. I would have agreed, but there is not a person I buy or borrow from who got the same message.

He said if at first you don't succeed, try, try again. He wasn't around after my head had been bloodied for the 14th time. He said a quitter never wins and a winner never quits, but he overlooked the fact there comes a most propitious time for an orderly withdrawal.

He said be gracious in defeat and humble in victory. He couldn't have known that every time I lost it was because the other fellow cheated, and that I ain't won yet.

He said you will be the citizens of tomorrow and you must equip yourselves to shoulder this responsibility. This happened, by golly, and right with it came a depression and a couple of wars, the equipment broke down, my shoulders sagged, and the responsibility is still waiting on the NEXT generation.

He said hitch your wagon to a star. Well, shucks, I did this, and found out the thing was a satellite, and has been pulling me in circles ever since.

—BOB WHIPKEY

The Immense Power Of Thought

Some time ago in England I read in a daily newspaper an unusual story about Gem Gilbert, an English tennis star. She had died under peculiar circumstances and I was fascinated by her story.

It seems that, as a little girl, she had visited a dentist with her mother, who was to have a tooth pulled. Tragically, a rare accident happened. Her mother died suddenly from the shock of the extraction. The little girl actually saw her mother die in the dentist's chair.

She never forgot that shocking experience. For 30 years Gem Gilbert carried it in her mind. She would never go to a dentist, no matter how badly she afraid of having the same thing happen to her.

But finally there came a day when she was suffering so much acute pain from lack of attention to her teeth that she agreed to extract a tooth. She had her medical doctor with her. Her friends were around her. Even her minister was present. But before the dentist was able to touch her, she collapsed and died. The newspaper correspondent remarked that Gem Gilbert had been killed by "30 years of thought."

This is an extreme case, of course. But it is difficult for us to comprehend the immense power of thought, either to destroy or to create. You can make yourself sick by your thoughts. You can actually kill yourself by your thoughts. Many people, like Gem Gilbert, have actually killed themselves by thinking death, by a death wish, by the fear of death, by an absolute certainty that they are going to die, by a conviction that some terrible thing is to happen. Job said, "That which I have greatly feared has come upon me." You can bring catastrophe upon yourself by your wrong thinking.

Everywhere there are people who are killing themselves just as surely, if more slowly than Gem Gilbert, by mental attitudes compounding defeat, sickness, hate and fear. If they do not quite kill themselves physically, they kill off their creative powers. Thinking does make it so.

On the other hand, it is absolutely amazing what wonderful things can happen to people who keep their mental attitudes in good condition, who keep their minds healthy, wholesome, normal. One of the greatest gifts of Almighty God to man is a sound mind. It makes all the difference in the world between success and failure, between happiness and misery, between effectiveness and uselessness.

This is so true that perhaps each of us ought to start our day off, every day, by getting our mind in tune with God's creative power. A good daily prayer to start the day might be: "Lord, keep my mind normal and healthy. Transform me by the renewing of my mind."

An important technique of utilizing the immense power of thought to our fullest possible advantage is to set up a regular schedule of "mind-emptying." Our minds tend to accumulate a mass of resentments, fears, inferiority feelings, gripes and grudges. These unhealthy thoughts clog the mind and draw off power from it. It is important to empty out such unhealthy thinking and substitute right thinking in the form of good will, courage and faith. Then you will experience the immense power of thought in giving you new strength and happiness. Never forget that you are what you think. (Copyright 1959, The Hall Syndicate Inc.)

The West Must Be United First

WASHINGTON — With the four foreign ministers having agreed to restricted session as they resume at Geneva in the aftermath of the funeral of John Foster Dulles there is some hope that the deadlock of the first two weeks will be broken.

Of the seriousness of this impasse which has seen the positions of East and West harden in two weeks of propaganda exchange there can be no doubt. It has been the same only more so as the four ministers have stood like living statues repeating over and over the old mutually unacceptable prescriptions.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd has suggested to his Western colleagues that there is a peril in standing still. It is a safe assumption, he has asked them, that Premier Khrushchev's eagerness for a summit is so great that he will make the first move?

Lloyd himself believes that the view held by the French—strongly abetted by the West Germans—that Khrushchev is panting for a summit and will do almost anything to get it is highly doubtful. He fears that if the mercurial Mr. K. gets the idea Russia is expected to go more than halfway he is quite capable of abruptly reversing himself. In that case he would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and the vista of imminent danger, supposedly foreclosed by the negotiations started at Geneva, would be reopened.

Although he has felt himself under strong suspicion at the Western council table, with the uneasy feeling that even the Americans, or certain of them at any rate, are spreading reports of Britain's readiness to make a deal with Russia, Lloyd sees no reason to alter his position. He will continue to try to negotiate with the Russians to keep the peace, frankly recognizing that there are realities in the existence of two Berlins and two Germanys that cannot be ignored. He will do this, he has said, even though it means that Britain becomes a kind of scapegoat.

In short, when the time for bargaining comes he will say that while the East German regime cannot be recognized by the Western Powers either in fact or in law some heed must be paid to its existence. He will also say, as so often in the past, that his government cannot conceive of going to war over who stamps the exit permits on the access routes from West Berlin.

The West German foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, has now taken publicly a position directly opposed to this view. As a faithful echo of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer he said in an interview, while Lloyd was in London for the weekend, that before a summit conference could be held Khrushchev would have to give an assurance that West Berlin's present legal status would be maintained.

Britain's isolated position at the conference goes back to an earlier fundamental difference sired at the Camp David talks between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. At Camp David the late Donald Quarles, Deputy Secretary of Defense, unfolded the American proposal to send an armored squadron to break a way through in the event the Russians moved out and the East Germans sought to exercise authority over the access routes.

This, the British argued, was folly, since a squadron would almost certainly be trapped and then sooner or later the question would arise whether to push the nuclear suicide button or not. If there were four armored divisions available it might be a different story. But both the United States and Britain have drastically cut back their ground forces and these divisions are not available.

As for the French, when he talks privately Maurice Couve de Murville takes a more or less cynical view. He readily admits that France has little or no power, since virtually all of her troops are committed in Algeria. But someone at the conference had to provide a center of resistance, and France is doing just that.

As for Secretary Herter, he believes he has brought the British around to being reconciled to requiring "progress" at the foreign ministers' level if there is to be a summit. But so far as anyone can discover he has not defined progress. Under a cartoon of the four Western foreign ministers a British cartoonist had this caption: "Next week I'm not sure whether they are discussing the reunification of Berlin or the reunification of the West." It is a fairly good summary of where the conference stands today. (Copyright 1959, United Feature Syndicate 1959)

CAMPUS CHATTER

College Commencement Is Run Off Smoothly

By BOBBY HORTON

The festive decor and solemn occasion of the Howard County College commencement exercises ended a year that ushered a beginning for many graduates.

The commencement banquet was the first ever held on campus and, appropriately enough, probably no better place in Big Spring would have been available for the event than the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

Frequent comment was that of unqualified praise and adoration. The swiftness in which the large crowd was able to move through the recreation hall, serving itself, and into the banquet hall was pleasing, also. The entire program for the evening lasted no more than two hours.

The suave SUB has been used as the gathering site for flower shows, nurses' capping ceremonies, Chamber of Commerce banquets, high school banquet and other events the past year for HCJC, such as the spring formal dance.

Student Assn. president Jesse McElreath drew more laughs than any speaker on the program. Little Jess was in no wise ashamed to admit his nervousness before his chore of delivering the response.

He paused once in serious repose and stated matter-of-factly, "See there, I've messed up already."

Glendene Philley, soon to be a bride, proved to the audience her ability at the piano with classical selections. She drew a hearty hand from listeners for her stylings of Debussy's "The Sound and the Perfumes Turn in the Evening Air," and Chopin's Etude, Op. 10, No. 12. Glendene stepped up to receive her diploma minutes later.

Patsy Potter, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, gave voice to "Let This Mind Be In You" (Don Humphreys). She was a guest up from the freshman class, most of whom had already beaten a retreat homeward soon after Wednesday tests.

Groceries for the banquet meal were little short of scrumptuous.

Patrons enjoyed new potatoes with white sauce, green beans with cheese sauce, hot rolls and butter, pickles and olives, Waldorf salad, roast beef, iced tea, head lettuce salad and blackberry cobbler.

Theme of the banquet was apparently wish-me-luck-I'll-need-it. Stationed at the rear or western end of the hall was a huge wishing well and placed often at intervals on the dining tables were miniature replicas of the same water-drawing well.

Some of the incidentals weren't around, however, after the banquet when many guests turned souvenir-seekers.

The speaker, Dr. J. W. Reynolds, said education was needed in our national survival and that there was also a need for constructive criticism, both realistic and objective.

He said we need: (1) Respect for a job well done; not, "what is the minimum I can get away with doing?" Perhaps, he said, we have oversold recreation. At any rate we cannot allow ourselves to wallow in the state of mediocrity.

(2) Creativity: Our money for developing scientists is not doing an efficient job. We are creating technical scientists but not those who can face up to the unknown.

He made mention of the U. S. foreign policy, saying that we have had to make a forced adjustment to crises developed by our competitors; what we need is to develop our own positive course and stick by it, not just drift along.

HI TALK

Tests Finished, Studying Ceases

By PAT ROGERS

Tests are over, midnight oil has ceased to burn, and last-minute cramming has once again come to an end for this school year. Friday juniors and sophomores sighed in relief as they finished their last final exam. While the lower classmen slaved and sweated over their exams, the seniors were out enjoying themselves.

Wednesday the seniors celebrated their accomplishments with a picnic and skating party. Pork 'n' beans, barbecued weiners, potato salad, and iced tea made up the picnic lunch as the seniors sat around discussing the memories they have stored up through their 12 years of school. Many of them discussed their plans for next year which include college, work, and marriage.

Thursday the seniors topped off their day with a nice cool swim at the municipal pool. To show their dignity, they reserved the pool for the day, and only seniors were allowed to enjoy the swimming.

Charlene Campbell's house was the scene for the last celebration of the Seba Tri Hi Y last Tuesday. After the party was over, the girls gathered up their paint brushes and paint and headed for some good painting grounds.

At the end of every school year, it isn't unusual to see "Seniors" plastered everywhere in town. Much to the embarrassment of the senior class, some painters of last week painted on the sidewalks around the high school, and the things they painted weren't a desirable representation of the senior class. In the words of Benny McCrary, senior class president, "The things painted on the sidewalks were the works of a very few individuals and not at all representative of the class."

Saturday morning the senior members of the Tri-Hi-Y were honored with a breakfast sponsored by the YMCA. This gala affair took place at Cokers Restaurant around 8 a.m.

The annual staff had its farewell party affair as members gathered at Mrs. Erma Steward's place on the Colorado City Lake last Friday. After working all year on the annual, this big shindig proved to be a perfect climax.

The senior magazines finally came out. Pictures from the prom, ranch week, banquets, and just plain 'ole pictures filled the pages. The most outstanding picture of the whole magazine was on the cover. Katie Thomas was elected by the journalism classes to be the cover girl. She was pictured dreaming of her future as a graduate from senior high, selecting her future college, and last of all, she was pictured dressed in a nurse's uniform. Katie has chosen nursing as her profession.

Today around 2 p.m. many of you will probably see a load of BSHS'ers roaming around the new football stadium. Don't get excited, don't be misled; they will be only practicing for the baccalaurate services. Having the baccalaureate and the commencement exercises at Memorial Stadium is something new in Big Spring, but because of the large class and the large audience, neither the high school auditorium nor the city auditorium is large enough. As the time comes for parting and we must all say goodbye, the seniors look back on their three wonderful and fun-filled years at "Dear 'ole Big Spring High." Monday, when BSHS'ers go back for those "dreaded" report cards, the seniors will say farewell to those sacred halls, to their hard-working teachers, and their fellow classmates. While the seniors look toward a different future, the juniors and sophomores look toward one or two more years in BSHS.

For Mrs. Denise
Honey Meador
Of HCJC

The City Council of Parent-Teachers Assn. didn't go wrong when it selected Denise Honey as its scholarship recipient two years ago. For Denise, now Mrs. Sammy Meador, sailed through two years' work at Howard County Junior College with a 2.94 grade average — of a possible 3.0 — which is good enough to rank her first in this year's graduating class.

She didn't take any snap courses in gaining the valedictorian's title, either. Her work during the two years here included history, government, English, chemistry, sociology, anthropology, economics, anatomy, physiology, psychology and typing. The typing, along with physical education, caused her trouble. The B's in those two subjects brought the only blemishes on an otherwise straight A record.

Mrs. Meador graduated from Big Spring High School in 1957 with the seventh highest grade in her class and was then awarded the P-T-A scholarship. Her high school grade average was 9.2 out of a possible 10. After one year at HCJC, her scholarship was extended through this spring.

Studying to maintain her high average had to be sandwiched in among working and keeping house. Denise married Sammy Meador on Sept. 6, 1958, and they have resided at 1102 Wood. Her work for the past year has been as dental assistant to Dr. H. M. Jarratt, but she is now employed by Ike Robb.

The additional chores of keeping house and working didn't seem to bother her, for her grades this year have been only A's. Both she and her husband plan to go to Texas Tech to finish their college work. She plans to take a degree in biology or science so she can teach; and Sammy is taking education and mathematics work.

Mrs. Meador was born in El Paso but has lived in Big Spring since she was 11. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Honey, 1009 Scurry. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Meador, also of Big Spring.

GOLIAD NEWS

Picnics, Parties End School Year

By PAT ARMSTRONG

The past week, being the last for the freshmen at Goliad, has furnished many happy—and a few sad—events. There have been picnics and parties mixed in with the semester tests which started on Tuesday.

Monday afternoon the freshmen had their picnic at the park. The swimming pool was the main attraction of the day and everyone crowded in to get their first dip of the year. Monday was also Bermuda Shorts Day at Goliad. The next day there were quite a few red faces and sore backs around the school.

Many of the classes that had finished their tests had Coke parties and record sessions.

Thursday Mozelle Groehl had a luncheon at her home honoring several freshmen girls. Among the guests were Telie Grooms, Karon Koger, Joan Jordan, Katie Bess Morgan, Winnie Greenlees, Linda McNew and Pat Armstrong. The table and graduation gifts were decorated in black and white, our school colors.

The Sophomore Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y officers for next year, along with the other high school clubs, are going on a trip to Estes Park, Colorado, on June 7-12.

Sherrie Sabbato had a dance slumber party Saturday night in honor of the ninth graders. Everyone had fun talking over old times at junior high.

Friday our Goliad flag was flown for the first time. The flag, of black and white with a picture of a maverick, was made by the Homemaking girls.

Tuesday at 9 a.m. summer project classes will start. All homemaking girls who signed up be sure and be there on time and have your equipment.

Monday morning will be officially the last day of school. The freshmen would like to express their appreciation to the faculty, the seventh and eighth graders, and to Mr. S. A. Walker for making this our first (and last) year at Goliad a truly wonderful one! God bless you all, and have a wonderful summer.

'Garden Center' Is Open For Business

Mar-Vel Garden Center, Goliad and FM 700, is now open for business. This new business, owned and operated by Mrs. Dub Rankin and Mrs. C. M. Bentley, will deal in all kinds of garden supplies, fertilizers, plants, shrubs, roses and everything the homemaker needs for home planting.

A line of insecticides, selected to cope with the particular garden pests of this area, is stocked.

A hothouse is attached to the establishment.

The operators are extending invitation to the flower lovers of the community to visit their new place and familiarize themselves with the stock on hand.

RUNNELS REPORT

Home Room Parties Mark Closing Of School Year

By DIANE BAKER

Shouts of joy rang through the corridors of Runnels after the final bell Friday, and some suspected teachers joined in, too.

Worried looks and lots of studying, even around the water fountain, abounded Tuesday through Friday.

After third period tests Friday, all home rooms had a party. In Mrs. Rosa Belle Curtis' room there was much eating along with talk about summer plans. Pupils presented her with a dozen red roses.

A short schedule is set up for Monday. All pupils will report to home rooms and pick up report cards, and school will be dismissed at 11 a.m.

The ninth grade '59-60 Hi-Y officers are Don White, president;

Dick Carlton, vice president; Rickey Wisener, secretary; Mike Houston, treasurer; Donnie Clanton, sergeant at arms; Frank Neill, chaplain.

Band officers will be Yolanda Terres, president; Tommy Bacus, vice president; Virginia Rankin, secretary; Dennis Harter, reporter.

Bud and Dick Combs were hosts to a party at their home Saturday. Six couples attended.

The final edition of the Round Up came out Tuesday and was filled with ninth grade wills and summer hopes. Congratulations to the paper staff.

Have fun for the summer; we'll look forward to school next autumn.

Ex-Teacher Makes Living Doffing Clothes

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A shapely blonde junior high school teacher who quit teaching because a school official criticized her dress, turned up today as a featured stripper in a burlesque night club. Needless to say, she resigned her teaching job before she turned peeler. Her hometown is Minneapolis. Her real name is Patricia Ann Carruthers and she says she was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1966.

But at the El Rancho Club in Los Angeles, she unveils nightly under the name of Patti White. She says she made the name change in order not to embarrass the suburban school where she taught until last October.

She said she chuckled teaching when one official kept riding her about the way she dressed. "Everything I did was wrong," she said. "Either my dresses were too tight or too revealing. I couldn't even wear long earrings without criticism. The kids all loved the way I dressed but one day this official said: 'Do you realize what you are doing to these junior high school boys?'"

"I decided then that I couldn't be myself any more if I stayed in teaching. So I quit."

"I never really wanted to be a teacher anyway," she told a reporter. "I've always wanted to be an actress."

She said she sought acting work, but jobs were scarce. Finally her agent got her a job at the right club as a nude—The models who just stand on the stage, as nude as the law allows.

"Then, a few weeks ago," she said, "the manager handed me a g-string and told me to go out there and strip."

"I do everything on impulse. Before I knew it, I was out there. I never dreamed that I ever could—but there I was."

"I still blush when I perform. Does she prefer burlesque to teaching school?"

"It beats getting up at 6 a.m. And no one criticizes my dress. And there are no papers to correct."

Harris In Comedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Julie Harris, a star who has spent this season on an extended pre-Broadway tour with her new play "The Warm Peninsula," is booked for Broadway premiere in the comedy on Oct. 22.

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest innovation in off-Broadway activity is a checkerboard timetable arranged for a playbill at the Gate theater.

Performances of the show—"The Well of the Saints"—and Lady Gregory's "The Workhouse Ward"—are being given on Monday nights and at various afternoon hours through the week.

The sponsors explain the purpose of the erratic experiment is double—to make use of off-hours of a theater in which another play ("Heloise") is being performed, and to provide performances at times most convenient for viewing by school groups.

The balding comedian said he

Bud's Straight Man For Tax Collector

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Bud Abbott, who made a fortune as straight man for the late Lou Costello, says he's playing a mirthless duo with the tax collector these days.

"The way it looks now, I'll be in debt until the day I die," the long-faced performer told newsmen Thursday.

He said he was broke, unemployed and far in tax arrears. He's selling his home to pay some of what he owes.

"No matter what I earn," Abbott said, "I still won't be able to get clear with the government. What's the use of working? They'll take everything."

Abbott said his financial troubles started three years ago when the government made a tax audit of the last seven years he and Costello worked together as a team.

"They looked into our capital gains deals and disallowed this and that," he said. "Then they slapped us with penalties, fines and interest."

"I'm in the same situation as Joe Louis. I can never get out. If I make a dollar, I owe two for it. And the interest goes up every day."

Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis once claimed he could never pay off tax arrears because interest being charged on the debt exceeded his income.

Internal Revenue Service agents refused to comment on the size of Abbott's debt. They said all tax matters are confidential.

Abbott said he had to sell his Ojai, Calif., ranch for $125,000 and his interest in the backlog of Abbott and Costello pictures at University-International for $100,000—to keep the tax men happy.

"But it wasn't enough," he added. "Now the house has to go."

CRITIQUE

By BOB SMITH

You remember Walter Mitty. The hen-pecked guy who sought release in daydreams—whose reaction to wifely domination was to dream himself into an almost real series of swashbuckling adventures.

The idea for the chief character of "The Seven Year Itch" seems to have been stolen from that of Walter Mitty. His name is Richard, he's in the book publishing business (Walter Mitty was a proofreader for a publisher, which is where he got most of his daydreams).

Richard isn't exactly hen-pecked, but he's been married for seven years, and his wife has gone off on a no-drinking, no-smoking, rigid-diet kick, and Richard is her victim. Richard also seeks escape, but the book publishing business being what it is today, his daydreams take on a color of sex.

And this factor in turn introduces the dream sequences in "The Seven Year Itch." These scenes are separated from the main action mostly through the medium of stage lighting. When they begin, the lights change to a more ghostly type, Richard sits or stands off to one side, and his dream figures walk on apparently from nowhere, to go through whatever motions and dialogue the mind of Richard whumps up.

Sometimes Richard talks with his visions, sometimes he just listens. At other times, he talks with himself, answering himself with an off-stage voice.

The first dream sequence introduces all the girls he dreams about, a reaction to his wife's kidding about his middle-aged loss of appeal. These include his secretary, a high-toned friend of his wife's, a friend of a friend, and a girl in an apartment across the plaza who has a habit of getting ready for bed with the shades up.

The second sequence involves the girl upstairs, with whom Richard (whose wife is away for the summer) has made a date. Naturally, since it's a dream, Richard is incredibly more smooth, suave and sophisticated than he turns out a few minutes later, after the girl has actually appeared.

A third daydream includes the four dream-girls, the wife, and the girl upstairs—in a tea party, exchanging gossip and insults about Richard. And then there are a couple of scenes involving the wife and a young rove, a dream dreamed up by Richard in suspicion of how his spouse may be behaving on her vacation; and one daydream between Richard and his wife.

"The Seven Year Itch" is an hilarious play, and the dream sequences play no small part in making it so.

Dewey Magee will be seen as Richard, Jerry McMillen as the young rove, Mary Archer as the wife, Carol Ackerson as the girl upstairs; the dream-girls will be portrayed by Marjorie Brown, Marjorie Havins and Shirley Bailey.

Opening night is at 8 p.m. Thursday in H.C.J.C. Auditorium. The play will continue through Friday and Saturday.

I am often asked if a movie or a play or some other item of the various arts is worth the time, effort or money the questioner would be out for it.

If a critic is to be truthful, he may answer only that "it depends."

No human being can so transcend this mortal coil as to give absolute judgment on a work of human art. The critic's reaction, like the reactions of everyone else, must be based on his own attitudes, background and knowledge of the artistic medium involved.

No work of art was ever created that was so good but that someone disliked it; conversely, no work was ever created that was so lousy but that someone liked it. Or, to paraphrase an old saying, one man's art is another man's poison.

One thing the critic can do—he can point out why he liked or did not like any particular item. This gives the reader a fair shake in deciding if he will like it.

I know of at least one person in Big Spring who uses this column (and the movie column) as a sort of reverse guidepost. Our tastes are so decidedly different that whatever I like, he stays away from, and whatever I pan, he goes to see.

CINEMA COMMENT

Tracy Memorable In 'Last Hurrah'

THE LAST HURRAH, starring Spencer Tracy. Produced and directed by John Ford. Screenplay by Frank Nugent, from the novel by Edwin O'Connor. Wednesday and Thursday at the Sahara.

This little gem sneaked into Big Spring one time ago as a last-minute replacement, hence the late review.

But it was worth the wait. Rare indeed does Hollywood come along with a film as fine as "The Last Hurrah." It has that seldom-found element of nostalgia that makes one remember a movie long after the awards have been given out.

"The Last Hurrah" is a story which follows the career of a fellow named Skeffington, a tribal leader of the Irish in America who has become a political boss. An old warhorse overdue for retirement, he decides to make one last campaign—thus, the last hurrah of the title.

Spencer Tracy is incomparable as Skeffington, and is one of the film's many strong points.

There are weak points, which we may as well dispose of now. The weakest link is that Skeffington is a thinly disguised model of a fellow named Curley, mayor and political boss of Boston for many years, but the screenplay veers around the controversy that surrounded his career. The way it comes out, the only thing wrong with the mayor is that he is disliked by the "better people." Further, to play up the mayor as a more acceptable hero, the film puts others, particularly the opposing candidate, in a rather bad light—ridiculous in a film that has so much of the human element in its characterizations.

The film certainly isn't as meaty as the book, and it should have been better than it is. Still, a film version cannot always be fairly compared to its book—and "The Last Hurrah" is a standout as a film.

The story does succeed in instilling the vigor of a passing scene, the hard battles between the Boston Irish and their mortal enemies, the "Yankees." There is comedy of a very human kind, but there also is drama and pathos, and all these elements are so closely integrated as to become part of a whole. Who but the Irish can make you laugh and cry at the same time?

The supporting cast reads like a list out of a Hollywood all-time Who's Who: Jeffrey Hunter, Pat O'Brien, Basil Rathbone, Donald Crisp, James Gleason, Ed Brophy, John Carradine, Wallace Ford, Frank McHugh, Jane Darwell.

Another strong point is in the hilarious wake. It might seem rather grim to have comedy at a wake, but in those days the Irish had a hard life, and a wake gave them a chance to escape their own grim reality.

The old Irish wakes were grand affairs, with enough food to feed a boa constrictor and enough hard liquor to float a battleship. They gave friends and relatives of the deceased a rare opportunity for visiting; for a drink together, some jokes between expressions of regret; for the recalling of fond memories.

You can't afford to miss "The Last Hurrah."

Valuation Hearings, Employee Policies On County's Agenda

Howard County Commissioners have a busy week in store for them, starting Monday.

Initial business on Monday's agenda will be the annual tax equalization session on oil and gas properties.

Representatives of the tax engineering firm of Pritchard & Abbott, under contract to prepare tax valuations on oil and gas properties, will be on hand. Representatives of the oil companies are also expected to appear. The valuations the engineering firm has fixed on the properties will be reviewed and a final figure agreed upon.

Second item on the program will be the "review" of employees of the road and bridge department. Some weeks ago, P. O. Hughes, a commission member, protested the actions of an employee of the department. From the discussion that developed, it was decided that on June 1, the commissioners would go over the entire list of road and bridge employees with Walter G. Parks, county engineer.

What procedure will be followed, in the event some of the commissioners feel certain workers are unsatisfactory, was not clear. It has been the general policy of the court in the past that all hiring and firing of road and bridge workers is a prerogative of the engineer.

Routine bills will be ready for approval. Further discussion of the efforts to reach agreement with property owners in the new airport area whose property is involved in aviation restrictions is anticipated.

On June 3, the commissioners will meet again, this time with members of the special Airport Committee, to consider any fixed base operation proposals which may be on hand. The bodies had extended an invitation to any individual or concern interested in operating the new county airport under a lease agreement to have such proposals on hand on June 3.

No proposals were on hand in the office of Ed Carpenter, county judge, Thursday. It had been asked that any interested person submit his proposal in writing.

Shorts Banned

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — With a tolerant concession to youth, the City Council has voted to ban short shorts on city streets — for ever, one over 16. Violators are liable to a $25 fine or 25 days in jail.

Ward Adding Parking Lot

Opening of a new lot for customer parking is announced by the Montgomery Ward store here. Fred Gebert, Ward manager, said the company has leased the lot just south of Ward's store, fronting along Gregg Street, and that this will be available for use beginning Monday.

The accommodations, giving considerable expansion to the downtown parking availabilities, will be for Ward customers, and one-hour free use is advertised.

Honor Students Include Odessan

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas named 10 honor students Friday to take part in a new national program aimed at speeding up their science training through actual research experience. A $7,260 national science foundation grant will help pay for the program. Students chosen include Julie Hallmark of Odessa.
