TOP RANKING HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES Mike Jarratt, Kay Loveland and Sherry Coats

Kay Loveland, Sherry Coats Win BSHS Scholarship Honors

Honor students received the spotlight at graduation exercises for Big Spring High School seniors last night. Kay Loveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rose, was presented as valedictorian of the class. Her four-year high school average is 96.73. Sherry Coats, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Coats, was salutatorian. Her grade average for the four years was 95.47. Trailing Sherry by only 2 of a point was Mike Jarratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jarratt. He ranked up a four-year average of 95.23. Twenty other graduates — all with high school grade averages more than 90 — also were honored at the exercises. In addition, several scholarship winners were introduced. Ceremonies were conducted in Municipal Auditorium after plans to have the program in Memorial Stadium were rained out. Graduation program was largely in the hands of students, with Benny McCrary making the class president's address, and Toni Thomas and Bill Parsons speaking on the commencement theme, "Youth Today, Adults Tomorrow." The awards were presented by Asst. Supt. S. M. Anderson after former trustees Robert Stripling and Clyde Angel awarded diplomas to the 165 candidates. The graduates were certified by Principal Roy Worley, with Mrs. Gene Harrington, secretary, making the introductions.

Other graduates on the program were Beverly Alexander and Mike Jarratt, professional and recreational music; Patricia Rogers, invocation; and James Howard Stephens, benediction. A triple trio made up of Kathleen Thomas, Glenda Greenwood, Charlene Campbell, Sharon Creighton, June McElrath, Alice Ann Hale, Judy Reagan, Judith Shields, and Mary Oliphant, sang. Jerilyn McPherson was accompanist. Honor students recognized in addition to the top three were Vincent Friedwald, grade of 94.36; Rosemary Donica 93.80; Janice Downing 93.50; Jo Ann Ebling 93.42; Charlene Williamson 93.39; Bill French 93.15; Eston Hollis 92.59; Bill Parsons 92.38; Janace Kirby 92.28; Kaye Chadd 92.23; June McElrath 92.00. Others were Eddie Kinney 91.62; Judy Reagan 91.52; Lyn Anderson 91.51; Jerilyn McPherson 91.33; Lougenia Smith 90.88; Mary Ruth Barrington 90.87; Pat Rogers 90.50; and Charles Key 90.14. Scholarship winners presented included Eddie Kinney, $700 a year plus a $500 working scholarship for four years at the University of Pennsylvania; Mike Jarratt, merit scholarship of about $650 per year for four years at Southern Methodist University; Catherine Greenlees, tuition scholarship at Howard County Junior College; Mary Kay Cun-

Joan Crawford Isn't Broke Yet

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford says she isn't broke, not even in this tinsel town where only one swimming pool is a sign of near poverty. The actress, answering a newspaper article that she "hasn't a sou" to her name, gave this financial breakdown: $60,000-a-year from a soft drink firm; more for being on the company's board, plus her movie earnings. Her husband, Pepsi-Cola Board Chairman Alfred Steele, died April 19 of a heart attack. She said she is selling her home in nearby Brentwood and will live in New York for business reasons.

GOP Campaign Cites Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's official now. The Republicans are going to run on prosperity in 1960. That was the word passed to party workers Monday by Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky), the Republican national chairman. "The recession beat us in 1958," he said, but added "the prosperity of 1960 — an awesome challenge for the Democrats when coupled with the peace we established and maintained — can and will elect us."

Daily Average Oil Production Falls

TULSA (AP) — Big declines in Kansas and Oklahoma lowered daily average oil production in the U.S. 67,375 barrels per day last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. Crude and condensate production averaged 7,179,710 barrels a day for the week ended May 30, the publication said. Kansas declined 25,850 barrels per day to a daily average of 309,950 barrels. Oklahoma was off 17,400 barrels to a daily average of 556,100 barrels.

Rabies Spreads To New Area Of County

Spread of rabies to the northern part of Howard County has been disclosed with report from State Health Department laboratories on examination of a skunk suspected of being rabid. The skunk invaded a dog house at the E. L. Bynum home 10 miles northeast of Big Spring last Friday. The animal bit the Bynum dog on the ear. Mr. and Mrs. Bynum and Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach sent the skunk's head to Austin for the examination. "Positively rabid," the report. Murray Patterson killed a skunk which had attacked a dog and her puppies at his place southwest of town. In that instance, the skunk also reacted positively to the rabies tests. Last week, a rabid fox was discovered at Forsan after it attacked dogs at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lamb. Mrs. Bynum said the skunk attack at her home Friday was the second such incident there this spring. On Easter, another skunk went into the dog house and bit Rocky Karns, four-year-old son of

Space Monkey Dies During Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Able, one of the two monkeys which rode a missile 300 miles into space, died Monday night while undergoing an operation for removal of a recording instrument. The Army said death did not result from any effect of the flight itself. The seven-pound Rhesus monkey, a passenger in the nose cone of a Jupiter rocket on a 1,500-mile space run Thursday, died at the Army Medical Research Laboratory, Ft. Knox, Ky. The Army said an electrode used in recording the monkey's physical condition during the flight had been implanted just under the skin. It was decided that the electrode should be removed. The Army said "there was no indication that the animal would not be able to withstand such a minor operation." During administration of an anesthetic, it was noticed that the monkey suddenly developed a rapid and convulsive heart action. Attempts were made at artificial respiration, but the monkey died at 10:45 p.m. EST. "The cause of death was rapid and convulsive movement of the heart, following the administration of the light surgical anesthesia, and was unrelated to its recent flight," the Army said. Able's body is being sent to the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology here for study. The other monkey passenger on the historic flight was Baker, a one-pound squirrel monkey.

Airport Bids Due Wednesday

Howard County commissioners will meet Wednesday morning with members of the county airport special committee. Object of the meeting is to interview any applicants for a lease on the Howard County airport as fixed base operators. The commissioners authorized the filing of applications to lease the new airport on a five-year plan at a meeting two weeks ago. The board set Wednesday as the day that such proposals would be opened and considered. No written applications for the position have been filed with Ed Carpenter, county judge. It is anticipated that if anyone is interested in the proposal, he will appear in person to go over details with the board. Under the plan, the fixed base operator would have control of the airport. He would be required to provide service to airlines and to be equipped to make repairs to planes and perform other functions essential to the efficient operation of the enterprise.

Nicaragua Regime Hits Businessmen

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza's government, fighting off a minor airborne invasion, struck back at its business enemies today by suspending all import licenses. This is a heavy blow for businessmen, who must ship in almost all the manufactured goods they sell. Some businessmen closed down their shops Monday in response to an appeal for a general strike.

Hard Rains, Heavy Hail Hit This Area

Rains, general in nature, ranging from showers to as much as 2.50 inch swept Howard County early Monday night. There were a few scattered reports of heavy hail. One restricted area to the south of Elbow was reported to have been badly battered by large stones. Heavy rain fell and there was extensive crop damage, it was said. Near the Trinity Memorial Park, south of town, heavy hail pounded the countryside but much of the area is ranch land and there were no reports of crop damage. East of Cosden, Charles Robinson said hail fell and his goose shopped 2.5 inches of rain. Big Spring received from as little as .16 at Webb to as much as .71 inches. U. S. Experiment Station reported .51. Texas Electric Service Co. switch plant had .63. Downtown gauges showed .68. Forsan reported .96 and Chalk .60. Coahoma had 1.70. Vincent was delighted with rains ranging from .65 to 1.50 and the Luther community reported from .80 to 1.10 inches. Knott had only a light shower. There was no report available from Fairview nor from Lomax. West of Big Spring at the Wilkerson ranch .75 inch was reported. Luther community had .80. Jack Coleman at Elbow reported 1.10. The rains moved in shortly after 6 p.m. They were preceded by threatening clouds and severe electrical display. Some fear was felt that a storm was in the making. There were even some unconfirmed reports that observers had sighted what they believed were tornado clouds. However, there were no confirmed reports of such clouds. The storm lasted about 40 minutes. The 51 inch rain reported by the U. S. Experiment Station brings the total rain for the year to 6.35 inches. A downpour at the Big Spring-Odessa intake of Lake J. B. Thomas measured 1.80 inches but there was only a slight increase in water levels on the lake. (See rainfall map on Page 6.) Among other reports of rain were .38 of an inch at the Morgan Creek station of Texas Electric Service southwest of Colorado City; Crane .03, Odessa .66, Monahan trace, Spraberry (southeast of Midland) .55, Midland, .42, Snyder .65, Lamesa trace.

BIBLE FUND NEAR $1,000

The Bible Class Fund gave good promise of reaching the thousand dollar mark Tuesday. Individuals and organizations responding to previous appeals, contributed a total of $111 for the day, making the total thus far $915. Voluntary contributions are necessary to sustain the Bible course since no tax funds may be used for the purpose. With 194 already registered for the classes, the funds have been completely depleted. Checks should be made payable either to the Pastors Assn. or to the Bible Class Fund and should be mailed or brought to the Herald for acknowledgment. Latest donors are:

Parents Attend 2 Graduations, 500 Miles Apart

LUBBOCK (AP) — It took a bit of doing for a Texas couple to see their two children graduate from college within 5 hours in ceremonies 500 miles apart yesterday. But Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Young of San Angelo accomplished it by plane and helicopter. First they saw son Marcus, 24, get his Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from the University of Texas at Dental Branch at Houston at 3 p.m. ceremonies. Next they were present when daughter Pat, 21, graduated from Texas Tech at Lubbock in 8 p.m. ceremonies. Their time table: Marcus took them in his car from the First Presbyterian Church, which they left at 4:15 p.m., 1.5 miles in 6 minutes to the Texas Medical Center, Jim Dula, president of a helicopter service, used another 8 minutes to take them to Andrau Airport in a whirlybird. Their plane took off 6 minutes later for Lubbock. There a Lubbock-Avalanche Journal party with police escort met them at 7:50 p.m. and rushed them 8 miles across town to the Municipal Coliseum. They arrived shortly after the ceremonies started. The Youngs stayed through ceremonies because the degrees were conferred in alphabetical order. The couple, San Angelo school teachers, first planned to attend the graduation of their children separately, one at Houston and the other at Lubbock. Then a friend, H. E. McCulloch of San Angelo, offered a private for the trip. But it appeared that it would take more than an hour to get from the Houston ceremonies through afternoon traffic to the airport. Dula learned of the apparent bottleneck and offered to transport them from the airport to their waiting plane. Pat took the family car to Lubbock last week so they will drive home today. Marcus remained in Houston to take his state board dental examinations next week.

Meany Calls For Legislation 'War'

NEW YORK (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany called Monday for a "declaration of war" by organized labor against what he called discriminatory, anti-labor legislation. He said the labor movement will not accept the labor bill now before Congress.

Senate Remains In Driver's Seat

AUSTIN (AP) — Proposed cures for the state government's financial crisis took another backseat ride today. The Senate remained in the driver's seat. Gov. Price Daniel said he hopes Senators have the "desire" to complete the work this special 30-day session. Both houses sped through short sessions yesterday while a joint appropriation committee continued to work on how to spend in 1960-61 money that is rot in the treasury. Representatives virtually have completed their work toward solving the state's 65 million dollar deficit and to find enough money for the state's 1960-61 operations. Senators won't get any official look at the House-approved 149 million dollar major tax bill until 2 p.m. tomorrow. The Senate State Affairs Committee also holds the other revenue-raising measures Daniel suggested to pull the state out of the red.

'Sickening Sight' At Blast Scene

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — A propane gas truck exploded on a heavily traveled eastern Pennsylvania highway today killing at least 11 persons. Some of the victims were as far as 100 yards from the blast. "The tanker let loose and flames swept along the road like a ball of fire, killing people milling about a trooper directing traffic," State Police Sgt. Melvin Clouser reported. Police said a tractor trailer rammed the rear of the gas truck, setting it afire. It was half an hour after the crash, while firemen fought the flames, that the truck exploded. Motorists who climbed out of their cars to see what was holding up the early morning traffic, and just the idle curious, were watching at distances of from 100 to 300 feet up the highway. Some of them and a number of the firefighters were killed. At least 15 others were injured, 5 seriously. Frank Toohy, Pottsville Republican reporter, said parts of bodies were strewn over the highway. His partner, photographer Vince Ney, said the sight was as sickening as anything he had seen in military service. State Trooper Earl Klinger, an eyewitness, said "the tank of the truck fueled the flaming gas out the front of the tank. The truck was shot along the highway with the speed of a jet, carrying debris and parts of the truck, striking spectators and cutting them down like shrapnel." Another eyewitness was Chief Burgess H.B. Shoener of nearby Orwigsburg, who said he was on a hill overlooking the highway—a busily traveled route 100 miles northeast of Philadelphia. "The flames shot 150 feet in the air from the gas truck and there was a terrific explosion," Shoener said. "Parts of a stone wall outside an historic church were blown forward. Groups of spectators about 200 to 250 feet away from the fire were mowed down. The tank of the truck landed in a field 220 yards away." Several school buses were on the highway near the scene just before the explosion at about 8:45 a.m. The highway was jammed with people headed for work. Klinger said a school bus was stopped to pick up children when the propane gas truck pulled up in back of it. A tractor trailer gasoline tanker then hit the rear of the gas truck. The school bus pulled away. Klinger said firemen battled the flames for about half an hour before the terrific explosion. Klinger said that when he heard the roar he ducked down behind his police car. He was showered with pieces of rock when a boulder smashed through the windshield and out through the rear window of the car. Sungas Products Co. of Pennsylvania, Inc., owners of the gas truck, identified the driver as Joe Wharton, 42, of Peckville, near Scranton in the anthracite country. He was hospitalized. The gas truck contained a trailer cylinder of 7,000 gallons of propane under pressure.

C-City Coed Awaits Operation On Eye

COLORADO CITY, Tex. (AP) — A coed seared by silver nitrate in a college prank May 14 is waiting to see whether an operation will be needed to restore full vision to her right eye. Sheila Rene Nelms, 20, returned to her home here after being discharged from a Denton, Tex. hospital. She had been a patient since another North Texas State College student threw the caustic on her as she left a party. Miss Nelms has regained vision in her left eye and has escaped the threat of scars which doctors said might result from the searing liquid. Tommy Ray Lester, 19, who said he threw the caustic as a joke, was expelled from the college and charged with a misdemeanor.

BULLETIN

A severe thunderstorm forecast was issued today for parts of Texas and New Mexico, including the Big Spring area. A squall line is expected to form after 3 p.m. today and move east southeastward 30 knots across southeastern New Mexico, the Pecos Valley country east of Pecos Valley, and the southern portion of South Plains. Scattered severe thunderstorms with large hail and isolated damaging winds are expected in the approximate area 60 miles either side of a line from Carlsbad, N. M., to San Angelo, from 3 p.m. this afternoon until 10 p.m. this evening.

Mahon Reminds Congress To Think Of Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was advised today it cannot afford to forget the possibility of a big atomic war.

Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) sounded that note of caution as the House headed into two days of debate on a bill to provide $38,846,339,000 for the Defense Department for the year starting July 1. Mahon is chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the bill.

The House starts considering amendments to the measure Wednesday. Major fights are in prospect over amendments to increase the size of the Army and the Marine Corps, to restore funds for a super aircraft carrier, and to change the amounts provided for missiles.

Mahon said the bill as drawn is designed to insure peace by guaranteeing that "we have the ability in great abundance to deter global war and to cope with it should such a war be forced upon us."

Some people, Mahon said in an interview, "are saying 'get your mind off a big atomic war. There is not going to be one. The thing to be concerned about is limited war.'"

He called that "a dangerous doctrine which the American people cannot afford to embrace."

To give top priority to preparation for limited war, Mahon said, "is to invite general war. Adequate preparation for total war is the best possible deterrent to limited war."

The bill provides $399,861,000 less than President Eisenhower requested in new funds.

The committee cut sharply into funds asked for the Air Force Bomarc missile program and refused to provide 260 million dollars for a new super carrier. Partly offsetting these reductions was an increase in money for the Army's Nike-Zeus missile program.

The committee made no change in Eisenhower's proposals for an 870,000-man Army and a Marine Corps of 175,000 men. Some Congress members have insisted there should be minimum strengths of 900,000 for the Army and 200,000 for the Marine Corps. Congress voted money last year to provide those minimums, but Eisenhower ignored them.

DEAR ABBY

HE CAN SEE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My great-grandfather bought a pair of eyeglasses in the Five and Dime about thirty years ago and he says they don't make them that good any more at any price. My mother has had him to the best eye doctors and he has at least six pairs of glasses in fancy leather cases all lying up in his bureau drawer, but every time he wants to read he puts on those cheap eyeglasses. My mother fights with him all the time over this. She says if he uses those cheap glasses he will ruin his eyes. He is 83 and I think my mother should let him alone. What do you think?

SORRY FOR GREAT-GRAMP

DEAR ABBY: Your mother should let Grampa use the glasses he prefers. His vision may not be 20-20 but he's battling 1000 at 83.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 24 years and have four wonderful children. My husband is a perfect gentleman whenever he is with friends. He is always smiling and well-mannered with strangers. But when he is at home with his family it is a different story. He is rude, abusive, uses foul language and treats us like animals. No one would believe he was the same person. Do you think a man who treats his friends better than he treats his own family has a split personality?

WONDERING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If your husband has a "split personality" his family is getting the bum half. His behavior warrants a visit to a doctor who deals with erratic behavior, and I do mean a psychiatrist.

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl do about a fellow who acts like this? He has a car of his own, but when he takes me out, he always double-dates and makes the other fellow drive his car. He sits in the backseat with me and gets me in a sort of a hammerlock and it is almost impossible not to let him kiss me. He is a popular boy, but I like him as a friend, not as a boyfriend, but I don't know how to handle him.

TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: Don't kiss him. Kiss him OFF.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is kind and loving, but he thinks a child should clean up all the food he puts on his plate. Even if the food is distasteful, the child still must clean his plate. One time it took our son over an hour to eat two pieces of fish which he helped himself to. After tasting the fish, he didn't like it, but he had to eat it all anyway. Am I wrong to disagree with this rule or is my husband wrong to stick to it? Please settle this. MRS. R. B.

DEAR MRS. R. B.: The rule that a child must eat everything he HELPS HIMSELF TO is a good one. This teaches the child that he is not permitted to waste anything, and if he is in doubt as to whether or not he will like the food, he should take only a small sample first.

To get ABBY's booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Macmillan To Probe Lloyd Case Rumor

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today was reported planning a personal investigation to track down the source of a British newspaper report that he will move Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd to another Cabinet post after the next general election.

The angry prime minister fired off a cable to Lloyd at the Geneva Big Four conference assuring him there was no foundation for the report in the usually authoritative London Times.

Macmillan acted swiftly to counter any idea the sensational report might have raised that Britain's spokesman at the Geneva talks did not have the government's full confidence. The Times report suggested a new man and a new policy might be needed at the Foreign Office after the summit conference expected in the summer.

The British government also was understood to have assured the Western Allies that the 54-year-old Lloyd would be speaking for Britain for some considerable time to come.

Along with their anger, government officials were considerably puzzled. It was believed the respected London Times would not have carried such a story unless it got the information from an apparently reliable source.

An official of the Times said the paper couldn't reveal its source but still felt the report was true.

The Times dutifully reported Macmillan's cable to the foreign secretary and reported its story had caused the "most intense interest" at the Geneva conference.

The conservative Daily Mail reported from Geneva that "Selwyn Lloyd has been stabbed in the back." The Laborite Daily Herald's Geneva correspondent cabled that "Lloyd's position has been badly shaken."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express commented: "The Times article has done more to jeopardize the outcome of the foreign ministers' conference than the vicious whispering campaign about a London-Moscow axis 10 days ago. Everywhere the feeling is that Britain cannot now be trusted as an ally."

Beaverbrook's Sunday Express had reported the day before the Times article that if an East-West summit meeting leads to a Conservative election victory, Lloyd could be expected to give up the Foreign Office for the post of lord high chancellor, the head of Britain's legal system.

Panel Admits Congress Not Always Right

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, as some of its members and others have suspected, may not always know what it's doing.

What amounts to at least a partial confession of congressional fallibility on this score has come from the House Judiciary Committee.

It is a bill to make other bills say what they mean, or anyway to let congressmen know what they are reading.

"I'm surprised someone hasn't done something about this before now," observed Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.).

Bills are the raw material of the nation's laws.

Sometimes, however, they can be pretty cryptic.

For instance, H.R. 4345 says in its entirety:

"An act to repeal clause (9) of subdivision A of section 39 of the Bankruptcy Act (11 U.S.C. 76a (9)), respecting the transmission of papers by the referee to the clerk of the court."

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that clause (9) of subdivision A of section 39 of the Bankruptcy Act (11 U.S.C. 76a (9)), as amended, is hereby repealed and clause (10) of such subdivision is renumbered (9)."

This means referees in bankruptcy would not have to transmit "forthwith" to court clerks various bonds and documents in their possession.

What Celler and his committee want to do is to change House rules to require that bills revising existing law also carry the wording of existing law, and by italics or other typographical devices show what the amendments actually would do.

Celler confesses he doesn't know what is in most bills that come to his committee by the thousands each session.

"I have to have somebody dig out the code (U.S. Codification of Laws) to find out what they refer to," he told me, "he said."

The House years ago adopted what is known as the Ramseyer rule. This requires that existing changes in law be spelled out in committee reports on bills.

But no one until now has thought to apply the rule to bills.

Ex-Con To Die For Exec's Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP)—George Albert Scott, 36, an ex-convict, was sentenced yesterday to death for the Dec. 30 shotgun slaying of film executive William Savoy, 35, in a cafe holdup.

Savoy was shot after refusing to surrender his wallet during a stickup of patrons in a cafe. Scott and a woman companion were captured in a Texarkana, Ark., motel.

Negro Graduates From White School

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Gus Roberts, 17, Monday became the first Negro to graduate from Central High School.

He entered the school two years ago when token integration began here and at Winston-Salem and Greensboro. Eleven Negroes attended previously all-white schools in the three cities this year.

Gus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, and the boy's two sisters and a brother attended the graduation exercises. His younger sister attended previously all-white Piedmont Junior High School this year.

There was no segregated seating in the auditorium. "Everything was real nice," said Gus' father.

New Way Found to Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair!

Houston, Texas: For years, "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. Actually, there are 15 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald, and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or fuzz at least a quarter-inch long) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the hair you lose in one morning's combing, together with the coupon below. If you have any of the symptoms listed on the coupon fill in the information to help them analyze your problem. They will answer promptly.

Long Slightly Piqued After Medical Exams

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Nearby three days in a psychiatric clinic left Louisiana's Gov. Earl K. Long at least mildly rebellious at continuing examinations today.

The governor, 63, has given no hint a physical breakdown might force him to resign, a nephew, Sen. Russell Long (D-La.), said Monday night.

"He is responding in some ways but he is somewhat resistant to more thorough examinations," Dr. John B. Truslow said in the latest of several guarded statements about the Louisiana chief executive.

In reply to questions, Dr. Truslow told newsmen Gov. Long was not violent and had not been confined in a straitjacket.

The governor, a brother of the late U.S. Sen. and Gov. Huey P. Long, flew here Saturday and entered a private psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital. Dr. Truslow is director of the University of Texas medical branch here which operates the hospital.

Gov. Long had "an extremely easy" day, slept two or three hours and saw several members of his family Monday, Dr. Truslow said.

Specialists examining the governor will require another day or two to arrive at a definite diagnosis and start treatment, the physician said. A hospital bulletin said a mild bronchial congestion was clearing up.

Sen. Long arrived here late Monday.

In Texas Clinic

Governor Earl K. Long of Louisiana, above, uses a brightly colored handkerchief to wipe perspiration under television lights during an address to legislature a few weeks ago. Rapid pace of the political giant in pushing legislation and aiming for reelection stopped with his placement in a psychiatric clinic for treatment and rest at Galveston.

Per capita income of Big Spring was $1,874 last year and $1,858 in 1957. The per family average for the city in 1958 was $6,213. In 1957 the average was $6,073 per family in Big Spring.

Howard County income per capita was $1,870 last year. The per family average was $6,767.

Texas' effective buying income last year was $1,572 per capita and $5,602 per household. Nationally, the per capita buying income was $1,758 per capita and $6,005 per family.

For Howard and four neighboring counties—Martin, Dawson, Mitchell and Glasscock—retail sales last year ran to $103,169,000.

Takes Over

Lt. Gov. Lether Frasier (above), now is serving as acting governor of Louisiana, according to announcement by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) in Baton Rouge.

The statement followed Gov. Earl K. Long's surprise flight to Galveston, where he entered a psychiatric clinic. Sen. Long is a nephew of the governor.

Bomb Hoax

PAMPA (AP)—Several downtown stores were evacuated here yesterday after an anonymous telephone caller told police a bomb would go off in the area at 2 p.m.

A search of the stores failed to locate a bomb.

Retail Sales Rise $2.9 Million Here

Big Spring's retail sales rose $2.9 million last year — from $49,312,000 in 1957 to a new high of $52,230,000 during 1958, according to the annual survey of buying power conducted by Sales Management magazine.

Reports on the nationwide survey were released Monday.

Effective buying income of the city rose nearly $5 million—from $50,410,000 in 1957 to $55,294,000 in 1958.

Howard County's total retail sales last year were $57,271,000. In 1957, they totaled $53,773,000. Effective buying income of the county climbed from $58,644,000 in 1957 to $65,643,000 last year—a gain of $7 million.

Per capita income of Big Spring was $1,874 last year and $1,858 in 1957. The per family average for the city in 1958 was $6,213. In 1957 the average was $6,073 per family in Big Spring.

First Infantry Division Had Hard Time On French Beaches

EDITOR'S NOTE — "The first six hours will be the toughest," Don Whitehead, AP correspondent with the First Infantry Division, heard an officer say aboard the ship carrying them to Normandy on D-Day—June 6, 1944. And tough these hours were, testing brave men to the utmost for here— a former AP newsmen and double Pulitzer-Prize winner—creates the drama as he lived it.

By DON WHITEHEAD

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first soft layer of dusk had fallen over drab, war-weary London, dropping a veil outside the patched windows of my Chelsea flat. The telephone rang and when I picked up the receiver Ernie Pyle's voice saying: "Hey, Don, come on over and bring your jitters. I'm lonesome."

I left the flat and found a cruising taxi which took me through Hyde Park to the Dorchester Hotel where I found Ernie in his room finishing a column. I helped him edit his story, and then we sat and talked of the coming invasion and the chances for success.

Even then the little guy had a premonition that he would not live through the war. (He was killed in the Pacific). In unguarded moments his face was sad. He didn't like to be alone and he drew his friends around him as though they were a shield against a dark fear that was closing in.

I told Ernie about a talk I had had that afternoon with Gen. Omar Bradley. Bradley is certain the casualties won't be as bad as most people think. He's not buying the prediction that we're going to have up to 80 per cent of the first waves killed or wounded. He made me feel a lot better."

I drew the blackout curtains and switched on the light and we had a drink from the bottle of bourbon which someone had given to Ernie.

"Who are you going with on the landing?" he asked.

"I don't know," I said. "I hope it's the 1st Division."

"I guess the red one is still my favorite division," he said. "But I'll be with Bradley's headquarters."

Later we joined a group of correspondents at the Savoy and made a round of London night spots. Behind the blackout curtains there was music, laughter, and a reckless sort of gaiety that overlaid the tension and the loneliness. Dawn was near when the party broke up.

It seemed I had hardly closed my eyes when the phone rang and a voice ordered me to report with my field equipment at an address near Hyde Park. Somehow I sensed that this was the beginning of the great adventure. When I reached the address, I found Ernie, Jack Thompson of the Chicago Tribune, Tex O'Reilly of the New York Herald Tribune, and friends from other campaigns unloading their gear from taxis. It was May 28, 1944.

We loaded into jeeps and were driven from London toward the Channel. We spent the night in a dreary temporary camp and then there each other goodbye. I was taken to Weymouth and realized suddenly that I was entering the assembly area for the 1st Infantry Division with whom I had campaigned in Sicily.

Maj. Gen. Clarence Huebner, the division's commander, greeted me. "We're glad to have you with us, Don," he said. "We'll do everything we can to help you get your stories out. If you're hungry, we'll feed you. If you are wounded, we'll put you in a hospital. If you are killed, we'll bury you. So don't worry."

The hours moved swiftly. Troops filed onto the invasion craft packed into the harbor. Bells rang. Chains clanked. Booted feet clumped on steel decks. Ship loudspeakers blared commands. And then Gen. Eisenhower made his decision and the great invasion fleet moved into the Channel.

Not until we were under way aboard the Chase did I know our destination—the coast of Normandy. Col. George Taylor, commanding the 1st Division's 16th Regiment, unfolded the invasion plan. "The first six hours will be the toughest," I heard him say. "That is the period during which we will be weakest. We've got to open the door. Somebody had to lead the way—and if we fail, well, then the troops behind us will do the job."

As dawn washed away the darkness, we heard the bombers roaring overhead and saw the faint flashes of exploding bombs on the unseen shore. The loudspeaker voice called a boat number and our group silently clambered over the rail and down the rope net to the little invasion craft bobbing in the high waves. The storm had had swept the Channel the day before still was kicking up trouble. A cold wind shipped salt spray into my face like pellets of ice. The water soaked our clothes and ran into our boots.

Our tiny craft circled the Chase for a few minutes and then headed for shore, bobbing like a cork. I was sick and my mouth had the sour taste of vomit and fear. I looked across the water and saw an amphibious tank struggling through the waves. Then the water washed over the turret and it was gone.

Then we saw the beach. Easy Red Beach they called it. Shells exploded in the surf and machine gun bullets whipped up ugly little spouts of water. The roar of naval gunfire engulfed us and there were vicious hisses from shells whipping by our craft.

We moved in with the assault waves toward the jagged barrier of steel rails, barbed wire, concrete blocks and devices planted by the Germans.

The ramp of our craft lowered. We jumped into the surf and landed ashore, throwing ourselves behind a slight bank of shales where thousands of troops were huddled. It was the only protection against the blast of fire from the German positions on a bluff not more than two hundred yards from the water's edge.

Many officers were killed before their craft reached the beach. German guns poured a murderous fire on the craft at close range. Machine gun bullets cut down soldiers as they stepped from the ramps of the boats. Units were landed in the wrong places. Squads and companies were landed without leaders and the men milled about in an agony of confusion with no one to tell them what to do other than burrow into holes in the sand. And still they came, piling up on the beach, shoulder to shoulder.

Record 310 Persons Killed In Traffic

By The Associated Press

A final tally shows a record 310 persons died in traffic accidents during the two-day Memorial Day weekend.

The traffic toll during the 54-hour period shot far past the old record of 241 for a two-day Memorial Day holiday set in 1953.

The 310 deaths also exceeded the National Safety Council's preliminary estimate of 260 for the period running from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Sunday.

During the weekend there were 101 drownings and 47 deaths from miscellaneous accidents for an over-all total of 458, breaking the 1953 record of 385.

Bess Truman To Leave Hospital

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Harry S. Truman will be released from Research Hospital this week to return to her home in nearby Independence.

Tom Faulkner, public relations representative of the hospital, said Monday that Mrs. Truman's condition is very good.

The 74-year-old wife of the former President underwent surgery for removal of a breast tumor May 18. The tumor was not malignant.

Black And White; Segregationist Is 'Red' All Over

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—"The Three Little Pigs" would vanish from state bookshelves in Florida if a Miami segregationist had his way.

David Hawthorn says clever integrationists are using the old folk tale to brainwash youngsters with a version picturing a black pig as superior to a white pig.

Hawthorn hasn't impressed Florida legislators with his efforts to get a bill introduced to ban the book from schools and libraries.

"I wouldn't touch it with a ten-foot pole," one lawmaker said Monday.

A copy of the book displayed by Hawthorn showed in its cover a white pig, a black pig and a white and black pig dancing a jig.

As Hawthorne sees it, the big bad wolf eats the white pig and the black and white pig. That leaves the black pig who had built a house of brick.

"The book follows the same old brainwashing routine," said Hawthorn, president of the Dade County Property Owners Assn., an organization which has fought efforts to integrate white neighborhoods in the Miami area.

"It shows a white pig and a mulatto pig who are destroyed and the black pig survives."

It Was The Climate

London's Patricia Cutts tells how living in a warm climate with a cold-weather appetite caused her to gain weight. She is a frequent guest on CBS-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

After Losing Weight, Avoid Temptation

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—The other day at CBS I almost passed Patricia Cutts in the corridor without recognizing her. "My, you are thin," I exclaimed.
Patricia beamed. "I've lost 20 pounds since you've seen me," she admitted.
"Tell me about it?" I asked as we walked to her dressing room. "It isn't dramatic," Patricia explained. "It took about three months, because my metabolism had to become accustomed to the change, and my stomach had to shrink. If this is to be a permanent weight loss, you must decrease your appetite gradually and change your eating habits."
"I have eliminated starches and rich sauces, and I've become an automatic calorie-counter. But I must admit I feel better," she added.
"It's a big accomplishment to drop 20 pounds and keep them off. Have you any useful advice to pass on?"
"Staying away from temptation helps," Patricia declared. "I've learned to keep fattening things out of the icebox and slimming things in it. So when I go for a snack, I find carrots, cucumbers, celery and radishes."
"I believe in an occasional indulgence," she explained. "If I want to go to an Italian restaurant and have a high-calorie dinner, the next day I go back on my diet."
"And I think exercise helps. I really enjoy walking, and I have always lived either at the beach or in the hills where I could be away from traffic."
"Overeating is a habit. When I lived in England, where it was cold, I could have larger meals without gaining. So when I came to California to live I kept my cold-weather eating habits, and that's how I became overweight.

"I have had to change my complexion routine, too," Patricia confided. "When I was in London I could use soap and water without having a dry skin, but here I'm using cleansing creams for the first time. If ever I make a big move again, I will not take any of my habits for granted," she said in parting.
DIET SLOWLY
When you are considerably overweight, you may have accumulated many years of long-standing bad eating habits. In planning to reduce, it is more than a question of taking off the excess—it is the question of keeping it off. That is equally important. In Leaflet M-73, "Long Pull Diet," are planned meals to make you lose weight effectively. But the unusualness of this diet is that you have one free night from dieting when you can eat anything—and as much as you like. For your copy of this vital leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for Leaflet M-73, "Long Pull Diet."

OVERWEIGHT? New 24-Hour Diet Takes Pounds Off Big Eaters

Big eaters now can lose 10 to 20 pounds and more and still enjoy big meals of fine food... thanks to the Swedish Milk Diet. It is an on and off diet. Eat today... eat everything just like you now eat. Then tomorrow you diet for 24 hours taking Larson's S.M.D. with milk... that's all.

No calorie counting. No exercise. No mechanical massage. Yet not only do the pounds and inches of horrid looking fat melt away but more important, those bulges disappear in the right places from all over the body the same way. It's quickly noticeable how much weight is gone from chin, back, neck, arms, legs, stomach, but, backside, hips and thighs.

So even if you are a true gourmet when it comes to fine food and big meals, start the Swedish Milk Diet. Automatically thousands of fat building calories are eliminated. Energy goes up... weight goes down. Once again you're slim and there's no underfeeding. This is the reducing plan you've seen publicized in Harper's Bazaar, Glamour, Vogue and other authoritative fashion magazines.

You can get Larson's S.M.D., the complete Swedish Milk Diet, at better drug stores. Also featured by many leading department stores... ask at the cosmetics counter. You have your choice of this filling, energy-packed food either regular or in chocolate flavor or in handy condensed food tablet form. Satisfaction is guaranteed or you need only return empty package to store where purchased for purchase price refund.

Giants Rip Braves As Race Tightens

If was San Francisco that finally cooled off Milwaukee when the Braves looked ready to tear the National League race wide open with a 4 1/2-game bulge...

Just two weeks ago, the Braves ran the league's longest winning streak to 6 games at San Francisco...

The runner-up Giants stayed with it Monday night, opening a 4-game series at Milwaukee with a run-away 11-2 victory that whittled the Braves' lead to 1 1/2 games...

The Giants won their third in a row with six runs in the third inning against young Joey Jay (2-4).

Five singles, two by Jim Davenport, and three walks got the Giants rolling, with right-hander Sam Jones (5-5) driving in two of the runs.

Jones, whose ninth-inning relief job saved that series-closing victory over Milwaukee two weeks ago, gave up eight hits and struck out five.

The Braves suffered a couple of casualties as well as the defeat, losing Hank Aaron and catcher Del Rice.

Rice suffered a bad shin bruise as Willie Mays slid home with the first run in the eighth-inning spurge.

Michener Begins Television Series

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—As Rudyard Kipling celebrated British Empire India, James A. Michener has taken the western Pacific for his special province of fiction and fact.

Now the Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist is writing an adventure drama television series called "Adventures in Paradise" which will reach the home audience via ABC-TV beginning next September.

The filmed hour-long weekly dramas, to be produced by Martin Manulis, concern the adventures of a young American sailing his schooner in the South Seas and along the Asian coast.

"This is a true marriage of Manulis' television experience and my writing experience," Michener said on a visit to New York.

Calm, thoughtful and modest, Michener says that the stories he writes for the series will be adapted by television craftsmen.

"My craft is to write stories," he said. "The chances of my suddenly becoming an extraordinary television craftsman are very remote. I've had good luck with dramatics, but my work has been adapted by others."

Everyone knows, of course, what happened to the musical "South Pacific" based on his Pulitzer Prize-winning "Tales of the South Pacific." Three other books of his have been movie successes—"Return to Paradise," "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" and "Sayonara."

So it's interesting to hear Michener say, "I have doubts that I could make a living solely by writing books. Actually I've never had a really top best-seller."

What he meant was that the big money to a novelist these days comes from movies, the theater, television, foreign rights and reprints.

Michener continues to travel widely in the Pacific. He just came back from Southeast Asia and the South Seas gathering material for "Adventures in Paradise" and may return soon. When working at his home in Bucks County, Pa., he writes from 7:30 in the morning until noon.

He continues to write primarily about the South Pacific and Asia, he says, "because I have a great affection for the area. It has a natural way of life that appeals to me."

Garner Deals In Cards For McCall Role

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James Garner has turned in his deck of cards to go dealing in great corporations.

With his work in the Maverick TV series finished for the season, Warner Brothers has put him into a movie, "Cash McCall," from the Cameron Hawley best-seller of a few years back. It's Garner's most auspicious film outing to date and will be an acid test of his draw at the box office.

That draw was tested somewhat with "Up Periscope," the submarine adventure. I asked Jim how it fared in the theaters.

"I'm the last one to be told," he remarked. "If the picture's a success, they don't like the actors to know for fear they'll get big ideas. But my spies tell me that it did excellent business. That's pretty good considering it was no great shakes at a picture."

Cash McCall is a big-time operator who takes over ailing corporations and sells them at a profit. Does he resemble Bret Maverick, Garner's counterpart on TV?

"No, McCall's great passion is money," he explained. "Maverick is out for fun."

As soon as he finishes the film, Jim faces the chore of doing 23 more hour-long TV shows. No, he isn't happy about going back to play for smaller stakes.

Formby Wants Growth Plans

BEAUMONT (AP)—A former chairman of the Texas Highway Commission said today he is concerned whether adequate plans are being made for Texas growth.

Marshall Formby, Plainview lawyer, told the South Texas County Judges and Commissioners Assn. conference, "There is no reason why Texas should not eventually replace California for first place in the nation's population."

Formby said California will replace New York as the most populous state in a few years.

"With everything pointing toward the continued rapid growth in this state, Texans should be planning for a highway system that will be adequate for the millions yet to come," Formby said.

"Our greatest sin," he said, "is our failure to plan for the future. It is very difficult to plan very far ahead of people's thinking, so it is up to the Highway Department, the county judges and commissioners, and to the mayors, city councils and city managers to assume leadership and impress upon the people that we must plan our future growth."

"I believe the people will go along with us if we will present to them a plan," he said.

Formby said the state needs more four-lane highways and more farm roads.

"Our traffic bottlenecks in our cities must be abolished," he said. "Adequate loops and arterial streets must be provided for all cities and towns."

U.S. Colleges Caught In Space Age Fuss Over Gifted Students

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—American universities, traditionally slow to change their ways, are being caught up in a space-age controversy: what to do about the gifted student?

Ever since you-know-who sent Sputnik I into orbit 20 months ago, the nation's brightest kids have been in the spotlight. They are the leaders of tomorrow, goes the refrain, and we must cultivate them as we do rare plants.

Mostly the arguments about gifted students have centered around their high school education. Now the fuss and furor have reached the collegiate level. Around the country, a number of places are being tried out.

The most popular seems to be advanced placement—giving college freshmen credit for college-level courses they took in high school. Honors programs, wherein the brightest student progress at a much faster rate than their fellows, are also popular. So is the idea of independent study for those able to handle it.

A few years ago, "early admission" was being touted as the coming thing in higher education. It is still being used, but more and more schools are deciding that it just doesn't work out to let even the brightest students skip their last year or two of high school.

The University of Chicago, under President Robert Hutchins, pioneered many radical innovations in collegiate education about 30 years ago. Many of Hutchins' programs, all geared to the brightest students, are dead or dying on the Chicago campus, but versions of them are still popping up elsewhere.

American University in Washington, D.C., for instance, only last Friday announced a new program that includes advanced placement, honors programs, independent study and early admission.

Charles C. Cole Jr., dean of Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., last year took a three-month look at a number of colleges and universities and came up with this conclusion: "No institution is doing an adequate job of providing guidance for its superior students. 'Too many colleges today,' Cole said, 'have become vast supermarkets, catering to the whims of the public, packaging their courses, marketing their wares, supplying every customer with a standardized product regardless of his interests or abilities.'

Colleges are spending more time, money and effort on their poorer students than on their better ones, Cole said.

Many gifted youngsters are able to finish their normal four-year courses in 3 or 3½ years. That, however, is not the main idea of the programs being started toward them. The basic idea is to challenge them to work at the fastest rate possible, and learn much more in four years than they would ordinarily.

The idea that four years is par for the collegiate course goes back to the Middle Ages. Cole points out there is nothing magic in the number "four," particularly since less than 40 per cent of all college entrants graduate in four years.

Cole decided that the best education in the country "is probably found at Harvard, but an undergraduate there has to be enterprising to secure it."

Other schools where he found praiseworthy programs for gifted students included Michigan, Reed, Oberlin, Yale, Stanford, Columbia, Chicago, Hiram, Brandeis, San Francisco State and U.C.L.A.

But everywhere, he declared, "guidance for the gifted undergraduates should be expanded and improved."
