16 Killed In Bus Accident

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sixteen farm laborers were killed and 32 others were injured when a crudely fashioned bus crashed into a tree and exploded near Phoenix today. The highway patrol, which had difficulty determining the number of charred and cremated bodies in the twisted wreckage, listed these figures as official but said there may be more dead. All the victims were Mexican nationals. Many of the injured were reported in serious condition with burns and broken bones. Patrolmen said the driver, Nato Manuel Gloria Jr., apparently fell asleep at the wheel while taking the workers from the farm labor office at Mesa, Ariz., west of Phoenix, to fields at Tolleson, east of Phoenix. The patrol quoted the driver, Nato Manuel Gloria Jr., as saying he dozed at the wheel. Gloria said he had been feeling sleepy and was going to stop at an intersection 100 yards ahead to turn the driving over to his assistant. The driver escaped serious injury. The workers were en route from a labor office at Mesa, Ariz., to garlic fields at Tolleson, west of Phoenix. The truck, which had been converted into a bus with sides and a top, left a main suburban thoroughfare just south of the Phoenix city limits, plowed through a ditch and smashed into a tree. Patrolmen said the head-on crash burst the vehicle's fuel line and caused an explosion. Elmer Charbeneau, who lives near the scene, said an explosion awakened him. "It sounded like a loud clap of thunder," he said. "I ran to the window and saw flames spread over the entire bed of the bus. Then I heard screaming. 'By the time I got there, most of those who could get out were wandering in a nearby field or were stretched out in the ditch.' The converted truck had only one exit, a single door at the rear. Those who escaped appeared to be in a state of shock. They wandered about the field aimlessly. Two survivors told of the scramble to get out the only door, and how the laborers had to fight their way around a big water barrel and a pile of suitcases. Leopold Martinez, 28, said he was sitting near the door when he felt the crash. 'It knocked me to the floor. The whole bed was afire,' he said. 'Three or four men jumped over me and out the door. I crawled to the door and rolled out into the ditch. 'Some of the men were asleep on the floor under the benches. They never had a chance to get out.' The accident was the worst traffic crash in Arizona history.

Graham May Visit Russia

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham said today he may fly to the Soviet Union Thursday for a few days to meet religious leaders. But he told a news conference he has no plans to conduct a crusade there. One of Graham's friends said the evangelist had been invited to visit the Soviet Union by leaders of the Baptist Church there. Graham said he believed "the Soviet people are basically religious. We must distinguish between the Communist government and the Soviet people, for the Russians are very wonderful people and we must have love for them." He announced he is planning big crusades next year in several African countries, including Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, Ethiopia, the Rhodesias and Belgian Congo.

Mayor Urges Western Attire In Preparation For Rodeo

This is the week to break out the boots, jeans, plaid shirts and sombreros. Mayor Lee Rogers has pro-

Change Of Pace

The mayor requests the cooperation of everyone in entering into the spirit of the rodeo by dressing in western attire. Many business houses have taken on the western flavor with decorations arranged by the Freeman Decoration Co., of Dublin. The weekend festivities will start at 4 p.m. Thursday when the parade of visiting Sheriff's Posse, rodeo queen contestants, and fancy floats will make the rounds through the downtown area of the city. Cash prizes for the best three floats will be made following the parade. They are $50, $30 and $20. The outstanding visiting posse will receive a trophy from the Big Spring Rodeo Assn. Saturday, the rodeo queen will be named. At 6 p.m. Thursday, the association has planned a barbecue for the queen contestants and posers. This will precede the first group round activities of the rodeo starting at 8 p.m. in the rodeo grounds. Besides the excitement and glamour of the regular rodeo activities, this year's rodeo will feature Bill Buschbom and his educated horse, Sir Roger. Buschbom is a trick rope artist. Benny Reynolds, famed cowboy from Melrose, Ore., will be another attraction of the show. He made a nationwide name for himself on a television show saying "nope" and "yup." He also won a lot of prize money. Beutler and Morgan of Burkburnett are producers of the three-night show. The events will be bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, wild cow milking and the girls' barrel race. Time for the show each night will be 8 p.m. The Big Spring ABC Club has charge of the concessions and programs. Tickets are still available at the Chamber of Commerce, Alexander Jewelry, Ward's Boot Shop, Creighton Tire Co., and Driver Insurance Co. The ducaats sell for $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Senate Panel Approves Big Budget-Balancing Tax Bill

Summit Rule Seen In Talks On Nuclear Ban

GENEVA (AP)—The three-power nuclear negotiations resume today amid prospects that a final decision on suspending the testing of atomic and hydrogen weapon tests will be taken at a summit meeting. Sir David Ormsby-Gore, British representative for the talks with the United States and the Soviet Union, said he considered it likely that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev would deal with final aspects of a test ban treaty if they meet this summer. There were still two big qualifications, however. The Western Powers want the Big Four foreign ministers' conference on Germany to make some progress, particularly with regard to the Berlin crisis, before committing themselves to a summit session. Also, the negotiators in the atom talks must make more headway before the nuclear problem is in shape for a final decision at the top level. The talks began last Oct. 31, but so far have failed to produce a complete treaty draft. They recessed a month ago, ostensibly because two major international conferences were one too many for the facilities of the U.N. Palace of Nations. The French are participating in the foreign ministers' talks on Germany but are taking no part in the nuclear negotiations. During an earlier stage of the Big Four talks, British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met privately to discuss nuclear problems without including French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. But if the French explode their own atomic bomb between now and a summit meeting, they undoubtedly will have to be brought quickly into the nuclear negotiations. Arriving from London, Ormsby-Gore told reporters this is "the last lap—we hope." Ormsby-Gore assumed any treaty the negotiators might draft probably would still have holes that would have to be filled in by Eisenhower, Macmillan and Khrushchev. "Certain points might have to be dealt with at the summit," he said.

Rogers To Attend State Convention

Big Spring police chief C. L. Rogers plans to attend the annual convention of the Texas Police Assn. set for Abilene June 14-17. He said other officers on the force may also make the trip. Rogers explained that the 1960 convention is set for Corpus Christi and the convention will vote on the 1961 site. It may be held in Midland, he said.

SUCCESSFUL TEST

Guided Missile Mail A Reality

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Navy today made the first successful delivery of U.S. mail by a guided missile. The missile was fired from a submarine at sea to the Navy's auxiliary air station at Mayport, Fla., at the mouth of the St. John's River near Jacksonville. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced the successful delivery at a hastily called press conference at 10:30 a.m. and a half after a Navy Regulus I was brought in to Mayport. The distance traveled by the missile was not disclosed. The Navy would say only that the 36-foot missile was fired from international waters off the coast—meaning more than three miles out. The cargo of 3,000 letters included one addressed to President Eisenhower. Other messages in the cargo, all from Postmaster General Summerfield, were for members of the Cabinet, members of Congress, justices of the Supreme Court, the governors of all American states and territories, and the postmasters general of the 99 other nations which are members of the Universal Postal Union. The missile was fired at 10:10 a.m. and landed safely at 10:32 a.m., the department said. Summerfield, describing the event in a telephone conversation with the Washington Evening Star, said it was a dramatic sight. He reported the wheeled missile made a perfect landing on the runway, trailing a parachute to slow it down. The weight of the payload was not immediately disclosed but Summerfield said postal workers were ready for it. They unloaded the mail, processed it and sped it on its way. Last Jan. 23, Summerfield predicted regular missile mail. In an address to the annual awards dinner of National Business Publications, Inc., Summerfield said that before mail reaches the moon mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, to England, to India or to Australia by guided missiles. He disclosed today's missile delivery followed an unofficial test flight with a similar Regulus I on the Pacific coast several months ago. He called today's flight "of historic significance to the peoples of the entire world." Today's shipment of mail by missile has given "extremely valuable information of far-reaching importance to the future of the United States Mail service," he said. Guided missiles may ultimately provide a solution to problems of swifter mail delivery for international mails for isolated areas where other transportation is infrequent, as well as a supplementary high priority service to big population centers, he said.

AUSTIN (AP)—Senate committee approval of a budget-balancing tax bill today was a major step toward solution of the state's fiscal crisis. The State Affairs Committee rammed the sharply revised revenue measure through the first vital action preceding floor debate in less than half an hour. The committee junked Gov. Price Daniel's proposed natural gas tax aimed chiefly at the exported product. It added three cents to the present five cent a pack cigarette tax. Altogether the Senate version raises 151 million dollars for the next two years compared to the 149 million approved by the House. Debate on the tax bill in the Senate is expected to start tomorrow. The tax bill was one of two major revenue measures facing vital tests as time ran short for the special session. House members reacted quickly. "It's a monstrosity and the House won't be stamped into taking it," said Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, author of the original bill. "The best thing the Senate can do is to pass it over here by Wednesday and let us get a quick conference committee on it and give us time to work. The way I look at it, the measure is 87 per cent sales taxes. The Senate sales tax group is not going to make us take it." Speaker Waggoner Carr said: "Let's wait and see what the Senate does to it." "I love it," Rep. Sam Bass of Freeport said. "It's just the way I wanted it." Bass headed the house tax subcommittee which offered a substitute to Hinson's measure. It was similar to the senate committee proposal which the house refused. House Revenue and Taxation Committee members generally approved the Senate measure. It is similar to proposals they have made in the past, but which were defeated by the House. "I like it," Rep. V. L. Ramsey of Beckville said. "I wouldn't venture a guess on whether the House would take it." "If the House wants to go home, they'll take the Senate version," Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock said. Hinson also said: "If the Senate doesn't give us a chance for a good conference committee and plenty of time, they can take the blame for the second special session. One will have to be called." Pending in the House is a watered down version of Gov. Price Daniel's plan to use abandoned bank funds to help retire the 65 million dollar deficit. This is the last full week of the 30-day special session, called to finish the job left dangling by the regular 120-day session. The lawmakers failed in the full session to make any headway in trimming the general fund shortage. They also failed to pass a general appropriations bill to finance state services for fiscal 1960-61. The new fiscal year starts Sept. 1. If money is not available, state services will halt. That means no pay for state workers, no grocery money for the hospitals, no gasoline for the Highway Patrol. It is the first time in recent history that state government in Texas has faced such a prospect. Many times in the past, deficit financing has been used. That now requires a hard-to-get four-fifths vote under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1942. Counting next Saturday, the lawmakers have eight days in which to pass a tax bill before the session automatically ends June 15. The general spending bill—calling for approximately 2½ billion dollars—is now being processed for final submission to the conference committee, working behind closed doors as usual, has not reported what progress has been made. That has led to speculation that it is waiting to see how much new tax money will be put up, if any. If the Legislature can not agree on a tax bill, Daniel is expected to call it back into another special session immediately. Daniel has emphasized the need for speed, since any tax bill passed would not likely go into effect for 90 days after final approval. The governor has reminded Texans that every day's delay in the effective date of a tax bill costs another $200,000 in lost revenue.

10th ANNIVERSARY

CRMWD Has Proved Value To Development Of Area

On this day in 1949, the late Beauford Jester, governor of the State of Texas, affixed his signature to House Bill No. 757. It was one of the last things he did, for soon the governor, wearied by a long session, was dead of heart attack. But this bill, and its companion HB 903, was almost a commitment of sentence for some West Texas cities, for it created the Colorado River Municipal Water District. To Big Spring and Odessa, who had stayed with the project for three disappointing years, it offered hope of relief from a constricting water shortage. Actually, the CRMWD did not come into unhampered existence until later in the autumn when the Cities of Odessa and Big Spring overwhelmingly ratified the district and authorized their governing bodies to enter into water contracts with the CRMWD. LEGAL DATE The legal framework, without which not even a wheel could have been turned, was completed on this date. Two more years elapsed before any wheels did turn in construction, but the governor's signature opened the way to a program which let Odessa and Big Spring grow. Since then Odessa and Big Spring have doubled in population. Snyder, which joined the district later, has had substantial growth. Spurred by necessity, the CRMWD pressed with such great rapidity that it actually completed the main elements of its original project ahead of schedule. Last year, another development was authorized. For this the district floated $4,600,000 in revenue bonds, just as it has the original $11,750,000. Not a penny of federal or state money has gone into the construction of the system that is actually the property of the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder. MORE EXPANSION Right now the CRMWD is looking ahead toward another potential expansion through a lake half again larger than its present reservoir, Lake J. B. Thomas. The idea of cities banding together to do a job which was individually too big for any one of them came at a meeting here June 29, 1946. J. B. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Service Company, had called representatives of five towns here. The late M. H. Ulmer, Midland, was named president of what was called the West Texas Cities Colorado River Water Supply District Committee, a declaration of interest and policy followed by Colorado City filing as trustee, on July 8, 1956 an application with the State Board of Water Engineers for waters on the upper Colorado River. The state board granted the permit (No. 1394) on Oct. 19, 1942, but then obstacles began to arise. Colorado City dropped out because Texas Electric Service Company's lake four miles away from that town offered it an adequate supply. Next Snyder pulled out. MIDLAND PULLED OUT When it came to a showdown in drafting a bill in 1949, Midland dropped out. Big Spring and Odessa, however, stayed with the idea. The House passed the bill on May 4 with 151 yeas and 2 nays. Then the bill got lost and nothing happened. Finally a local delegation, headed by J. H. Greene, found it stashed away in the Senate and managed to get it steered through on May 26 by an unanimous vote in the upper chamber. BILL NEEDED At the last minute it was discovered that while there was a district, it had no power to do business with the cities. This was where HB 903 came in, for it permitted cities to contract with water districts. Meanwhile, engineering dictated that the damsite, originally set for northern Mitchell, be moved upstream to Scurry County to avoid a serious saltation problem. To prevent a major loss in watershed, a levee was thrown across Bull Creek and a 13,000-foot canal cut through hills to the Colorado River shed above the dam which was to impound Lake J. B. Thomas. Snyder, growing by leaps and bounds due to major oil development, came back into the district on Jan. 27, 1951. Colorado City had transferred the water permit to the district earlier, so that the district delivered through this May, 43,182,000 gallons of water to its customers. It has met all obligations in $4,619,600 through Dec. 31, 1958, pre-paid $971,000 of its bonds and put up reserves of $1,454,516.

approval and actual issuance of $11,750,000 in bonds within the 30-day period of grace for the contract. By a miracle, the district made it. Within a year Odessa and Big Spring were receiving well water from Martin County. The next year Snyder received lake water, followed next year by Big Spring. Last year Odessa also received lake water. Stations with giant pumps have been erected along an approximately 120 miles of large size pipeline, and now a second leg of pipeline is being constructed from Odessa to Martin County. The district delivered through this May, 43,182,000 gallons of water to its customers. It has met all obligations in $4,619,600 through Dec. 31, 1958, pre-paid $971,000 of its bonds and put up reserves of $1,454,516.

Ike Asks Bond Lid Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to scrap the interest ceiling on government bonds, both long and short term. He also called for an increase in the national debt ceiling. In a special message, Eisenhower said such steps are necessary for successful management of the public debt, now a record 286 billion dollars. He said the Treasury Department will formally put before Congress a request for: 1. Removal of the current 3½ per cent interest ceiling on savings bonds. 2. Elimination of the present 4½ per cent interest limit on marketable bonds of more than five years maturity. 3. A hike in the permanent national debt ceiling from the current 283 billion dollars to 288 billion dollars, plus an increase in the temporary limit from the present 288 billion to 295 billion.

Vacation Bible Schools Draw 1,000 Youngsters At Opening

More than a thousand youngsters and a third that many teachers and adult workers were involved in vacation Bible school operations here Monday morning.

Eight Big Spring churches reported their summertime Bible studies opened today, and one had been in progress for a week. Five other churches will sponsor such schools later in the summer. One has completed its vacation Bible classes.

The Baptist Temple, Hillcrest Baptist, First Baptist, Phillips Memorial Baptist, Northside Baptist, Main St. Church of Christ, First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches were busily enrolling youngsters this morning. The Lutheran Church has had Bible school going since Monday.

Enrollment figures to something around 1,000 adult workers and teachers number about 275.

The First Presbyterian Church will end its vacation activities in two weeks. Eighty children and 16 adults are registered.

TWO WEEKS SCHOOL

The First Methodist Church, said Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor, had 22 enrolled last year with 44 adult teachers and workers. Their enrollment figures were not complete today. The Bible school ends in two weeks, but on June 17 will be an open house and program for parents and children. Miss Lucile Hester, Christian Education, and Mrs. Martin Staggs, director, are handling the vacation program.

At St. Paul's Lutheran Church 75 children and 10 workers have been coming since last Monday. Activities end Friday with an ice cream supper, said Mrs. Robert Fallon. Mrs. Ray Cantrell is director.

About 200 children and 35 adult assistants will close the week of school Friday, but an open house is slated for everyone Wednesday night after prayer services at the Main St. Church of Christ.

MORE ENROLLMENTS

The Rev. R. B. Murray said the Northside Baptist Church will have its 50 children in vacation Bible duties eight days through June 17. A commencement program will be held then, with the 18 adult workers assisting.

Enrollment for Phillips Memorial Baptist Church was 110 and at least 30 adults helped today. Commencement is Friday noon.

The First Baptist Church signed 134 children and 54 workers. The week ends Friday with commencement.

About 75 to 100 were at the Hillcrest Baptist Church, said the Rev. H. L. Bingham. Twenty adults help in the school which ends Friday.

The Baptist Temple began today with 185 and 30 teachers and workers. Friday's commencement starts at 7:30 p.m.

KIDS' KRUSADE

The Assembly of God Church, said the Rev. S. E. Eldridge, has no vacation Bible school because no playground is available and the church is dangerously near the highway. But a Kids' Krusade, children's revival, begins in July with D. L. Foster, new assistant to the pastor, directing.

The Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of the College Baptist Church, looks for 200 children in that church's vacation Bible classes which begin Monday and lasts a week.

The First Christian Church summer school will be in August, lasting 10 days. Last year 135 attended daily and 18 officers helped. June 15-20 has been set as the week for the Wesley Methodist Church vacation study time for children, and the Rev. Royce Womack expects over 100. Mrs. Bill Estes will be director.

The St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will probably have its school in August.

The Park Methodist Church ended a week-long Bible school Sunday and 55 attended while a dozen workers assisted.

The Calvary Baptist Church, St. Mary's Episcopal Church and Big Spring Gospel Tabernacle reported no Bible school as such scheduled for the summer.

Town Endangered By Chlorine Gas

McRAE, Ga. (AP) — Fear gripped this Georgia community today as wrecking crews began removing two derailed railroad tank cars containing 16,000 gallons of dangerous chlorine gas.

The main railroad line was cleared about 8:45 a.m. of debris left by the derailment of 19 Southern Railway freight cars. The wrecking crews concentrated on the two cars filled with the irritating and potentially suffocating gas.

A helicopter brought gas masks from Warner Robins Air Force Base. Bulldozers started moving the pulpwood.

"We're ready to evacuate," said Mayor George Callahan, "but there's no wind and we don't know which way to go."

Officials of the Olin-Mathison Chemical Co. at McIntosh, Ala., arrived by plane to examine the situation.

A company official said it was possible for the chlorine in the two cars to contaminate an area in a one-mile radius. The chlorine is shipped in liquid form and turns into a gas when released. It is an essential part of many war gases.

Police Chief E. L. Blume said "the people are all scared but we've advised them to keep calm and stay away from the chlorine tanks. We're just holding on and waiting to see what is decided."

The situation developed Sunday night when 16 freight cars and three diesel engines derailed near the center of town. The cars were part of a 66-car Southern Railway train southbound for Brunswick from Macon.

Triangle Murder Case Opens Today

CINCINNATI (AP)—A murder trial that is expected to mix technical legal battles with the age-old love triangle, opens today in Hamilton County Criminal Court.

On trial is Edythe Klump, 41, blonde part-time home economics teacher and operator of a day boarding home for children.

Mrs. Klump, twice divorced and the mother of four, is accused of slaying Louise Bergen, 32, last Oct. 30. The state claims Mrs. Bergen was killed because she refused to divorce her husband, William, so he and Mrs. Klump could marry.

Mrs. Bergen's badly burned body was found Nov. 1 on the shore of Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County. The state claims Mrs. Klump made a statement admitting Mrs. Bergen was shot to death and the body was kept in her automobile overnight before she took it to Lake Cowan and set it afire.

Mrs. Klump has claimed the shooting was an accident as she and Mrs. Bergen grappled over a gun in Mrs. Klump's car.

A special venire of 75 persons begins the tedious job of selecting a jury today in Judge Frank Gussweiler's court.

Hamilton County Prosecutor C. Watson Hoover hopes that task can be completed in three days. Defense attorney William F. Hopkins isn't so optimistic.

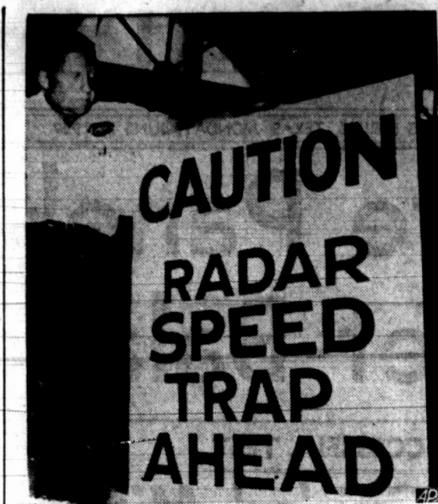

Hopkins is expected to make much of what he says is the failure of the state to have a coroner's report on the actual cause of death. Mrs. Bergen's body was examined twice by a pathologist and Hopkins is expected to contend there has been no definite word as to how Mrs. Bergen actually died.

Hopkins is frankly hopeful of winning his case on the contention that the state cannot prove where the slaying actually occurred — in Hamilton or Clinton counties. His contention is that there must be further proof even though police say Mrs. Klump admitted the shooting occurred in this county. Hoover contends such proof is not necessary.

Woman 'Target' Is Shot To Death

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A woman entertainer who faced death daily holding targets in a trick shooting act was accidentally shot to death Sunday by a 9-year-old boy who came to see her perform.

The shot came at a frontier town exhibit at the Pittsburgh Bicentennial Exposition in Point Park. It ended the life of Mamie Alice Peniman, 38, of Sun Valley, Calif.

The youth, who thought he was playing with a stage prop, started to run but was halted by his father. The victim's husband, Frank, 40, rushed over and slapped the youth, shouting, "You shot my wife."

The exposition, crowded with Sunday visitors, took on a tense and tragic air as police rushed to the scene.

The boy's mother, who permitted him to handle the .22 caliber rifle, stood stunned. The victim's 8-year-old daughter wept.

The shot came a few minutes before Mrs. Peniman was scheduled to go on stage and step in front of her husband's blazing guns as he fired at targets she held in her hands and mouth.

Police took young Frank Monaco of nearby New Kensington, Pa., into custody for questioning. No charges were preferred.

Mrs. Peniman performed with her husband and daughter, Mary Alice. He is known professionally as "Wild Bill Cody." They joined the exposition last week after touring with a Wild West show.

Mr. and Mrs. John Monaco said they had taken their boy to the exposition for a Sunday outing. After visiting several other exhibits they went to the frontier village.

Young Monaco and his mother walked into a jailhouse cell. He saw two rifles and asked his mother if he could examine them.

Mrs. Monaco said she thought they were part of the display props and agreed. Police quoted her as saying the boy picked up a rifle and pressed the trigger.

Mrs. Peniman was standing outside the jail talking to other show people. She had loaded the rifles moments before in readiness for the show.

2 DWI Guilty Pleas Entered

Two pleas of driving while intoxicated were entered in county court this morning—both against the same man.

Elvin E. Jackson pleaded guilty in court to the two charges, one from a case in March, and he was fined $7 and court costs on each offense, plus receiving three-day jail sentences in each case.

Jackson pleaded not guilty to the first DWI charge on March 20. He was charged again on May 28 with DWI again, but since the first complaint was still pending the latter charge had to be listed as a first offense.

2nd Offense DWI Charge Filed; 2 Drivers Post Bond

Charges of driving while intoxicated, second offense were filed against a man this morning. Actually, the charge was a change from DWI first to second.

Highway patrolman Kelias Davis signed the complaint in Justice Walker Grier's court today against Bobby R. Washington, 32. Davis claimed in the complaint that Washington had a previous DWI conviction in Tarrant County on Feb. 28, 1947.

He was arrested by the highway patrol last Friday about 10 miles west of here on U. S. 80. He is out at present on $500 bond which was posted in connection with a DWI, first offense, charge which was lodged against him at that time.

Two other persons posted $500 bonds on DWI charges, Henry R. Turner, Hodges Courts, and Paul G. White of Hobbs, N. M. Both men are 33.

Turner was arrested by sheriff's deputies Saturday and released the same day. White was arrested by the highway patrol Sunday about a mile from Big Spring on U. S. 80.

Engineer Problems, Protests Occupy County Commissioners

Engineering problems and protests consumed most of the time of the County Commissioners Court this morning.

Three men came before the court, two concerning avigation claims, and the third wanting damages sustained to his property by rains and drainage last Wednesday night.

The bill came to $1,000, and McPherson said the county was responsible for it because of the way the area had been graded for drainage and paving jobs.

The court promised to check the property today before making any decision on the claim.

McPherson said that he planned to pursue the matter further should the county refuse to pay for the damage.

Walter Parks, county engineer, reported to the court that T&P has recommended a different location for a proposed viaduct west of Couden. The viaduct is needed should the county install a road in the area.

Parks said that railroad officials recommended a site about 500 feet west of the county's proposed site. He said that the T&P site will decrease the cost of the viaduct proper but he could not estimate the comparison with having to purchase additional right-of-way and changing the road route.

Nothing definite was done concerning the road and viaduct this morning, however.

The court, in other action, okayed hiring a combination secretary and engineer's aide. Parks said that he thought he could get a man to handle the office records as well as help him with his engineering work. The worker will replace his secretary who has resigned.

Citizen Signs Traffic Complaint

Once again in Big Spring, a private citizen has stepped forward to aid law enforcement authorities in enforcing the law.

As a result, a juvenile paid fines totaling $20 in city court this morning. He was charged with "exceeding a safe speed," a stop sign violation, and a traffic light violation.

At least one time before, he said, police, a private individual has exercised the right of a citizen to press charges against someone breaking the law. That time also, the defendant was found guilty and paid a fine. For an individual to exercise this right, it is necessary that he file charges against the defendant and appear against him in court.

Evidence Shows Russia Took Risk, Halted Iraqi Power Bid

Editor's Note—William L. Ryan, AP news analyst, is making another tour of the Middle East. Because all dispatches sent from Baghdad are censored, Ryan waited until he reached Beirut to report on Iraq.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—There is a strong suspicion in Baghdad that the Kremlin, in a calculated gamble, checked the Iraqi Communist bid to grab power.

Some such move apparently aroused disagreement and resentment in the ranks of less disciplined party members. It looks as if there has been a serious split. But there seems little question that Moscow has prevailed.

Moscow seems to want to hold Iraq's Communists back so they can handle the country like a chesspiece in the game for global power. Thus it may be months, even years, before the Communists try anything akin to a total takeover.

Actually Moscow is toying with a powderkeg. None can say how long the fuse is, but the Middle East seems expecting a new explosion which will echo through Iraq and the world.

The Communists are enormously strong in the key Arab country. Their press has become the bellwether for all newspapers. In the city streets, Red Communist banners are eclipsing the traditional green standards of Islam.

They have supporters, if not

Minister Out After Reports Of Disharmony

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—A Presbyterian minister who wrote a national magazine article on racial harmony has been dismissed after several years of disharmony and unrest among members of his congregation.

The Rev. Robert B. McNeill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was dismissed Sunday by a judicial commission of the Southwest Georgia Presbytery.

The eight-man commission said the action was taken because "the interests of religion imperatively demand it."

The decision was read by the Rev. Frank C. King of Valdosta, chairman of the group, to a stunned and subdued congregation.

The announcement came without advance notice although the commission statement was dated June 2. McNeill said he was informed of the impending action Wednesday.

The 44-year-old gray-haired pastor said he was surprised by the action but had not decided whether to submit the matter to a higher court.

The dismissal could be appealed to the Presbyterial Synod of Georgia and even to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

"EASY WAY OUT"
Garrett Shackelford, a former elder, said he would appeal the decision "only with Mr. McNeill's permission. He is being sacrificed for the sake of the commission having the easiest way out."

King said the dismissal was "in no sense a rebuke to Mr. McNeill. We are just trying to make progress and feel more can be accomplished this way."

He urged all church officers to continue in their posts and said "this concerns no one but Mr. McNeill."

One tearful woman replied that "it concerns all of us who love him and don't think he should leave."

The commission statement said McNeill would continue to receive his salary until Sept. 1 and could occupy the minister's residence until then.

McNeill said that several years ago the church organized a Negro congregation in Columbus. When they were unable to secure a Negro pastor the white church employed a retired white minister. McNeill said this burned some members of the congregation.

Opposition to him came to a head after Look magazine published an article he wrote on May 28, 1957, in which he discussed ways of bringing racial harmony to the South through "a creative contact between leaders of both races."

Last June a commission was appointed by the presbytery to investigate reports of dissension among some of the 1,200 members of the church.

In November that commission dissolved the church's session, governing body of the church, after it reported findings of unrest and disharmony.

The session's function of receiving new members was bestowed on the pastor who was given the powers of evangelist.

McNeill, a native of Birmingham, Ala., is married and the father of two children. He has been with the First Presbyterian church since November 1952.

DEAR ABBY TRUST YOUR HUBBY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a milkman and I am expecting our fifth child. My sister-in-law told me that there's a lady on his route who is just wild for him. She answers the door in her shorty nightgown and he has a key to her back door and comes in and puts the milk in her refrigerator. It's only two quarters. I asked my husband about this. He said it's all true but this woman is a little unbalanced; and if he were going to play foot-loose and fancy-free, she'd be the last on his list. I am very upset over this. Can I trust my husband?

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: Of course you can trust your husband! It's your sister-in-law you've got to watch out for.

DEAR ABBY: We aren't the kind of parents who impose on our children but we get lonesome for them and our grandchildren and drive out to see them about once a month. We call first. We live in the country about 65 miles from them. I know my daughter-in-law has lots of work to do, but wouldn't you think she'd prepare a little something to feed us when she knows we are coming? Four times now we sat and she never offered us a cup of coffee or a cracker. Pa has an ulcer, and he needs a cup of coffee or milk. My son jumps all over us if we say anything against his wife. Pa says next time we are bringing sandwiches and a thermos of milk. Would it be insulting?

MA
DEAR MA: Parents should not have to pack a lunch when visiting their children. Your daughter-in-law is ignorant and lazy, and your son is no better. Limit your visits to a brief stay, and plan to eat elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: Many people write in to your column and criticize kids for going steady. "Going steady" is just going with one person instead of many, but if a girl gets into trouble she blames it on going steady. There are lots of kids who go steady and never get into trouble. I would much rather

Rebel Vet Gains Highest Rank

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—To the distinction of being the last survivor of the Confederate army, 116-year-old Walter Williams has added still another.

Now he holds higher rank than any ever achieved by his comrades at arms.

In a weekend ceremony at his bedside, a group calling itself the Confederate High Command presented the old soldier an honorary commission as a five-star general — a rank which didn't exist in Civil War days.

Donald A. Ramsey, a St. Petersburg, Fla., mining engineer, made the presentation as executive commissioner of the semi-military order.

Williams, fortified with a nip of whisky for what his doctor described as a slight chill, dozed during most of the ceremony.

Munitions Lobby Worry For Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heads of two potent House committees share President Eisenhower's concern about what has been called the munitions lobby, but they doubt that a congressional probe would solve anything.

They agreed lobbying activities have had the result of forcing defense costs higher, but they pretty well agreed also that the average citizen himself unwittingly is a strong force behind the drives.

Their views came from Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee and Chairman F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) of a House Armed Services investigating subcommittee.

But they and other Congress members who were interviewed had differing ideas on what constitutes a munitions lobby—if any.

Of course there are sales representatives trying to peddle their firms' products to the government and to do that, seeking congressional appropriations to provide the money. Some push newly developed planes, or missiles, or guns as the best and most necessary weapons of defense.

Hebert referred to advertising as one of the stronger ways the lobby works. He and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) criticized some firms' hiring of high-ranking military officers as they retire. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) was referred to executives from business and industry who hold temporary but important posts in the Pentagon.

But Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), Senate majority leader and head of a Senate Preparedness investigating subcommittee, discounted the idea of a munitions lobby as such.

"I don't know any who deserve that label," Johnson said.

He saw no need for an investigation, and was joined in that view by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), a former secretary of the Air Force and a sharp critic of Eisenhower administration defense policies.

The subject came up at Eisenhower's news conference last week. A reporter said several senators had quoted the President as having spoken sharply to them about efforts by a munitions lobby to alter his defense program.

Eisenhower said he didn't think he had used that term, but said he doesn't want to see political and financial considerations involved in defense matters.

Cannon and Hebert agreed that the men formally registered with Congress as lobbyists "aren't always the really effective ones."

"The cleverest lobby is the social lobby," Cannon said. "The fellows who do the job operate out of the cocktail bars, the golf clubs and the social gatherings."

"The best remedy, and perhaps the only remedy," Cannon said, "lies with the voters. They must send representatives here who will stand up against pressures."

"Unwittingly," Hebert said, "the voters are helping these big lobby groups. They read newspaper advertisements of how good this or that missile or weapon is, they hear radio programs and they see television programs espousing the effectiveness of the product of one company or another. They are on the midway listening to the pitch man, and they write letters to their congressmen, who in turn listens to the voters."

Civic Theatre Readings Slated

The Civic Theatre will begin readings for the second play in its summer season tonight.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Prairie Playhouse in City Park. Roles will be filled for "Night of January 16th," a play which depicts a court-house trial. Readings also will be held Tuesday.

Wednesday evening, the theatre will hold readings for "The Four Poster," last of the summer series.

John Austin, director, urged citizens with an interest in theatre work to attend the readings. He pointed out that a citizen need not be a theatre member to read for a part.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Before a luncheon gathering of the American Business Club last Friday, Joe Bailey Cheaney—the well known and universally liked track starter—suggested that club members re-appraise their annual Relays and retreat.

Cheaney's idea of a good meet would be to throw open the doors to college teams within the Big Spring area, rather than to risk the club's treasury by offering fat guarantees to the big university teams.

Joe Bailey said he got the impression that the university coaches had become disenchanted with the idea of running their athletes in West Texas in March, due to the competition offered from meets in other areas. He implied something that many observers already knew, that university track coaches are a breed apart, men who all too often play 'hard to get' if invited to a meet such as the ABC Relays but who often solicit same if overlooked.

Cheaney said the ABC Relays had become nationally known and he disliked the thought that the show might be abandoned but he reasoned the club could do just as much good by 'lowering its sights' by accepting the schools which were genuinely interested in coming here.

Cheaney's remarks were warmly applauded. But when the vote to continue the meet came up, it was beaten by a sizeable margin. The spectre of financial loss didn't seem to bother the members as much as the burdensome work that goes into promoting such a venture.

The club will now concern itself with promoting the National Junior College meet. Some of the members within the club are not yet convinced they haven't been 'sold a bill of goods' as such an obligation.

The say such a meet will entail a lot of work for certain individuals within the organization and the meet will not begin to publicize the club or the community nearly as well as did the Relays.

Be that as it may, the club is committed to help stage the June meet. They can take solace in the fact that two things will be going for them that worked against them in the big Relays.

For one thing, the May weather around here is a lot more trustworthy than it is in March, when the Relays were held. For another, there is no great financial burden for the club to shoulder, come what may—the competing schools pay their expenses of their athletes.

GENE LITTLER FADES; DAVE RAGAN IS LOW

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—Add the name of Dave Ragan to the list of young pro golfers picked for potential stardom. The 23-year-old Ragan cracked through for his first tournament victory Sunday in the Eastern Open.

Ragan showed he can withstand pressure in taking the title away from Gene Littler by one stroke. Littler, a three-time winner this year, had led the first two rounds in the Eastern and Ragan caught him on the third.

It was 28-year-old Littler, second biggest money earner on the circuit this year, who cracked. Littler's birdie four on the last hole gave him a 71 and 274 total.

Near Record Catch

Mrs. J. D. (Mary Ruth) Robertson of Big Spring holds the 13-pound yellow catfish her uncle, H. D. Drake, took while fishing on the south side of Lake Thomas Wednesday. Drake, also of Big Spring caught the fish—second largest cat brought in on the lake this season—using large minnows for bait.

A LARGE VILLAGE

Gresham Pioneer At Lake Thomas

By BOBBY HORTON Lem Gresham, owner of Lem's Bait House, is the only original fishing establishment operator left on Lake J. B. Thomas since the left first opened May 1, 1954.

He and Ned Sanders, the late former owner of Lake Thomas Lodge, were the sole operators to put up shop at that time. Sanders drowned on the lake last year, and the Lake Thomas Lodge is now operated by a former policeman, J. C. Godwin.

Shortly after the second year, says Lem, a couple of other establishments opened and it wasn't long before one, then another moved into the southern and western areas of the lake. Lem's Bait House was set up on the north side, the Sander's place to the east.

Now there are about a dozen shops handling equipment, bait and groceries. At least three others are setting up businesses. With the more stores and addition of scores of summer cottages the past months, Lake Thomas has taken on the appearance of a large village. All night boating continues until the late hours and fishermen are at their pastime continuously, more so over the weekend days, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The better fishermen, it is said, try the sport early in the week in order to avoid the noise and stir of boats. Too, a fellow can relax more alone.

Lem looks upon the early months on the lake as "the good old days."

Business now is never like it was then, he laments. True, Lem has more interest to control now and his profits don't seem so concentrated. But it's also true that business now must be shared with the dozens of others around the lake.

Once, says Lem, when only he and Sanders operated, there could be counted over a 100 cars around his small 14 by 15 foot shop. To keep fishermen in supply of bait, he once was on the minnow-hunt for 21 consecutive days while his wife and son attended the store counter.

His wife handled as fast as she could the few fishing supplies and canned goods they stocked at the time. With her husband scraping the lake for salable bait one day, she sold over 700 worth of the limited stock; bare necessities of fishing and a few cans of Vienna sausage, pork 'n beans, crackers, etc.

Bad, unsettled weather, says Lem, has never allowed the fishing prospects to look up the past year. So many fronts have moved in and out and winds have been so high that the lake remains bottom up much of the time. As a result, much fish spawning is incomplete.

A long, late winter has kept patrons off the lake. This winter was one of the slowest with trade at a standstill.

Attendance, Lem claims is always hurt by bad weather reports—whether or not bad weather comes in. People stay away from the waters if they suspect wind or rain is likely to come.

Now that school has dismissed business is sure to pick up. Too, says Lem, the farmers—many of whom find time to do much fishing—will soon be finished with their spring planting chores.

Weather, of course, will be the check on attendance. But there are avid fishermen who are going in to get their hooks wet, at gardens of nature's circumstances.

Local Women Win In Big Lake Meet

Two local women won flight championships in a one-day, ladies' golf tournament held at Big Lake last Saturday.

Elsia Turner captured the second flight title while Micky Marcum won top honors in the fifth flight.

Mary McConkey, also of Big Spring, returned with the first place award in the long driving contest.

Low gross honors in the championship flight was won by Irma Jacot of Big Lake.

In all, 44 women took part in the tournament, including nine from Big Spring.

NY Racing Head Defies Albany

NEW YORK (AP)—Harness racing in New York state is a half-billion-dollar a year industry. The man who controls it is a tough lawyer and administrator, George P. Monaghan, a Democrat.

He has been state czar of the industry for 5 1/2 years. Before that he was fire commissioner and then police commissioner of New York City.

Right now, Monaghan is involved in a battle with Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is after his scalp. But Monaghan doesn't scare easily and so far Rockefeller has gotten no place. The governor asked him to resign, Monaghan refused.

The State Investigation Commission has charged Monaghan with accepting favors from the harness tracks he is sworn to regulate, in violation of the state's code of ethics. Monaghan has boycotted public hearings in which the charges have been aired.

The hearings are now in recess. Monaghan Sunday announced he had refused an invitation to testify. He charged that the commission could not allow his lawyers to cross examine witnesses, or present witnesses in his defense.

This indicates, he said, that the commission does not intend to conduct a fair inquiry.

The investigation commission is a free-wheeling four-man agency under the control of the Republican administration in Albany. It has broad powers to investigate, among other things, "the conduct of public officers and public employees."

Now 58, Monaghan was named New York City fire commissioner in 1950 by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

Ted Williams Won't Quit Despite Slump, He Says

By JOE MOOSHIL CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Williams, Boston's splendid splitter, isn't hitting his weight, but bury those rumors that he might quit the season is over.

"I'm sure, I might have decided to call it quits now if I had had a bad season last year," said Williams Sunday before a doubleheader against the Chicago White Sox.

"But I got off to a bad start last year and won the batting championship, so why should I call it quits?"

Williams, always confident, expects to shake his present slump and eventually get up above the .300 mark.

"I think I came back too soon after the trouble with my neck," said Williams. "There were about 40 at bats that I shouldn't have had."

So far, he hasn't been able to untrack himself. He is batting a feeble .185.

"So what," is Williams answer to his bad start. "On May 20th last year I was batting .224. By the time the All-Star game came around I was batting only .280. But I finished up okay."

That he did. Williams ended the season with a .328 average to capture his sixth American League batting championship.

Williams never has batted less than .317 since breaking into the big leagues in 1959.

"The way reporters come after me in every town you'd think I'm a star," he said.

"Say, do you think Hank Aaron (Milwaukee) can hit .400? I do," said Williams. "He's got a good start and that's what counts."

Once again the conversation returned to the possibility of retirement.

"There are a lot of factors to consider," said Williams. "Heck, it's no secret that I want to hit 500 home runs. The man who batted 406 in 1941 has a career total of 483 home runs, including one this year."

Williams was walked his first time up Sunday, struck out the second and grounded out to the first baseman his next three times. He sat out the second game.

Junior Welter Title At Stake On Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new champion will be crowned Friday night when the junior welterweight 140 pounds division is revived with a 12-round match between Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich. and Carlos Ortiz, Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

Madison Square Garden, scene of the last junior welter action in 1946 when Tippy Larkin defensed against Willie Joyce, will be the site of the renewal.

Through the years from 1922 to 1946 when the 140-pound class was in business men like Tony Canzoneri, Barney Ross, Mushy Callahan and Pinky Mitchell ruled the division.

On the strength of his majority decision over Ortiz in a 10-round bout at Miami Beach, Fla. Dec. 31, Lane must be favored. The southpaw, who went 15 rounds while closing out against Brown.

More important than the junior welter crown is the fact that Lane is No. 1 and Ortiz No. 2 among Brown's lightweight contenders. The winner should get next shot at the title.

The bout will be carried on NBC radio, and television. Sugar Hart, highly rated Philadelphia welterweight, is paired with Isaac Logart, the Cuban who once fought for the title, in the Wednesday-show at the Chicago Stadium.

Hart has been coming on strong since he was stopped by Virgil Akins in 1957. He is unbeaten in his last seven, in his only fight this year, Hart knocked out Willie Johnson in one round.

ABC-TV will cover the fight. One of the most interesting bouts on the week's program is set for Tuesday night in Houston, far from the TV cameras: Roy Harris, the man from Cut and Shoot, Tex., will face Charley Powell, the San Diego, Calif. fighter who stopped big Nino Valdes in March. It will be Harris' toughest test since he was beaten by Floyd Patterson in a heavy-weight title match.

Frankie Ippolito and Chico Velazquez, two New York lightweights, box Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York. This will be the next to last show for the summer at St. Nick's, which will shut down June 15.

Local Horse Wins At Four Furlongs

Ridden by E. Minchey and carrying 120 pounds; the two-year-old beat out G. Eye and eight other entries in a thoroughbred allowance race at four furlongs. Flying Charlie was third.

Cubs May Have Best Relief Combination In Circuit

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer Ask National League managers about the best lefty-righty relief combination in the league and they'll point to Chicago's Bill Henry and Don Eleton.

Henry and Eleton did it again Sunday when they chipped in to help John Buzhardt and Elmer Singleton rack up victories that boosted the Cubs into the rare atmosphere of third place.

Henry, the lefty, saved Buzhardt in the eighth inning of a 4-2 first game victory over Pittsburgh. It was Henry again in the second game when Singleton walked two men in the eighth inning. The southpaw retired Bill Virzon on a fly ball and Eleton marched in to mop up the rest of the way to complete a 1-0 three-hit shutout.

Milwaukee's Braves snapped out of their slump, scoring eight runs in the seventh inning to rout their most persistent tormentor, Dor. Drysdale, with an 8-2 victory over

'Deadly' Atom Spy May Gain Freedom Soon

LONDON (AP)—In a few more weeks the gates of prison will probably swing open for the man they call the deadliest spy in history.

Klaus Fuchs will be free after serving nine years for betraying Western atomic secrets to the Soviet Union — secrets that probably enabled the Soviets to produce an atomic bomb five years sooner than they could have otherwise.

Home Secretary Richard A. Butler probably will tell the House of Commons this week what happens next to the German-born scientist.

As a docile, model convict, Fuchs, 47, is believed to have earned the maximum remission of one-third of the 14-year sentence passed on him at London's Old Bailey in March 1950.

This would make him due for release early next month. He could be deported. Although Fuchs acquired British citizenship in 1942, he lost it after being sentenced.

But demands have been raised in press and Parliament that Fuchs should be prevented from going to live in the Communist East for fear he may pass over more secrets or use his scientific learning to the Reds' advantage.

For seven years Fuchs worked with British nuclear scientists. Part of that time he was on the British team that worked with American nuclear scientists during World War II.

American and British scientists generally agree that the knowledge he acquired during that time would probably be of little use to the Soviets after all these years. But fears have been expressed that his brilliant brain still could be put to service in Communist laboratories. It also has been argued that Fuchs' presence behind the Iron Curtain could prove a powerful propaganda fillip for the Soviet bloc.

Reports seeping out of Wakefield Jail in northern England say Fuchs has expressed a desire to live in East Germany with his father, Prof. Emil Fuchs, 85, of Leipzig University.

If he really wants to go, there is some doubt that British authorities could prevent him. Other reports say Fuchs has shed his Communist convictions and wants to work again for British science. But it is certain the British would never again trust him with even the smallest secrets.

In Leipzig, Prof. Fuchs declined to comment on his son's plans. The father was honored last month with the East German Order of the Fatherland on his 85th birthday.

Army Program Cuts Stockade

FT. SAM HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A military doctor reports that an Army program to weed out misfits and rehabilitate prisoners has cut admissions to stockades by 76 per cent.

Maj. Edwin T. Cooke, chief of the psychiatry and neurology branch in the Army medical service school at Brooke Medical Center here, explains the decline in the current issue of the Armed Forces Medical Journal.

Cooke writes that the program was "evolved simultaneously in several areas of the United States through the cooperation of psychiatrists and military police."

He says the approach to the soldier who gets into trouble is to find the cause, and then point out that the stockade is for rehabilitation, not punishment.

It first is determined whether the men are potential military material or unfit for Army service. The doctor writes, in this latter group are persons who are sub-standard by Army regulations and those who have had three more court-martial convictions during a current enlistment.

The undesirable are eliminated by boards. Cooke continues: Those who will make good soldiers are assigned to useful work.

Long Refuses Any Cooperation

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—"We still can't tell what's the matter with him," a psychiatrist attending Louisiana's Gov. Earl K. Long said Sunday.

The physician, who asked not to be named, said Long steadfastly refused to cooperate with doctors seeking to diagnose his illness.

On petition of his wife, a court order for holding the 63-year-old governor in protective custody was issued last week. A sanity hearing is set for next Saturday.

Long is a patient in the psychiatric clinic at John Sealy Hospital. He was flown here May 30.

Betty Furness Doesn't Have Success Formula

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Just 10 years ago this month someone pointed to a slender blonde actress at a rehearsal for a New York television drama and said, "Why don't you try her for the commercials?"

Betty Furness has been doing the commercials for the same company—Westinghouse—ever since. Millions of words and pots of money later, Miss Furness has become a person better known than most actresses and an institution as fixed in the medium as the picture tube in the television set. She's done it simply by looking millions of people squarely in the eye and suggesting that they buy what the sponsor is selling.

Miss Furness is positive of two things: "I couldn't begin to tell you how the industry was not clamoring for me 10 years ago. I still don't know what it is I do that makes me successful in selling."

After roles in 35 Hollywood movies Miss Furness made her debut in television in 1945 when there must have been all of 300 TV sets in the country. She appeared in something called "Fashions Coming and Becoming" on the old New York Dumont Station.

After a spell of running a fashion show in Hollywood she returned to New York in 1948 and began hunting work in the still fledgling industry of television.

"I'd have tried to succeed as an actress," Miss Furness replies promptly. "It'd been fortunate enough to obtain a lead in a TV series like Eve Arden, I believe I'd have succeeded. But I don't think I'd have gotten the parts on Broadway to make me a success there. I'm sure I'd have made a career in fashions."

"But it doesn't matter now. I started doing something that nobody ever had done before. The sponsor and I didn't plan it. It just happened—and then it grew."

Lyndon Urges Educational Aid

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas said Sunday that educational help could and the need for financial help to underdeveloped countries.

In a speech from Washington broadcast over his Texas radio stations, Johnson said ignorance is a gateway through which the Communists attack the beliefs and goals of the free world.

He said this gateway "must be closed with the powerful force of knowledge — basic knowledge that erases the blot of illiteracy."

"With this achievement," he said, "people — friendly but underdeveloped nations — that are now unable to walk alone, would no longer need our aid. We would be helping them to help themselves — and that is the best, the greatest help of all."

Lawyer Marries Former Client

Lawyer Marjorie Sue King and Emory Brown, former client of Miss King's, are shown following their marriage at Leavenworth, Kansas, climaxing a six-year romance which began in the federal prison at Atlanta where Brown was imprisoned. Brown hired Miss King to represent him and they fell in love. Brown was transferred to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth in 1955 and released recently.

Showers Mar Perfect Weather

By The Associated Press
A few showers over Northeast Texas marred an otherwise perfect Texas weather scene Monday. It was the second straight day of fair weather for most of the state. The Weather Bureau said all sections could expect scattered showers later Monday and Tuesday, however, with thunderstorms also likely in some sections of Northwest and Southwest Texas. Sunday's temperatures ranged from 81 at Galveston to 96 at El Paso and Presidio. Laredo had a high of 93, Van Horn 90 and all other points reported readings in the 80s. Monday's 4 a.m. temperature readings ranged from 60 at Daltart to 74 at Galveston.

Beatnik Barding Brings Cabaret License Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The anti-beatnik Beatniks of Greenwich Village want to co-exist, like, but the fuzz doesn't dig them and is trying to down them. This means the bearded young men who read their poetry in Greenwich Village coffee houses are having their troubles with the police. The difficulty boils down to this: is it art or is it entertainment when a Beatnik reads his poetry aloud in a coffee house? To the police department, it is a simple matter of law. It is illegal to provide entertainment without a cabaret license. The proprietors of several coffee houses where poetry readings are pulling in tourist and native trade are protesting. The Beatniks, match, are backing them up. "Dig this," says Dick Woods, a coffee-house poet from Shreveport, La. "These summonses are strictly a bum rap. People come to the Village expecting something like these poetry readings. They come to enjoy them. Without them, the Village would be as dead as any other part of town." William Morris, a poet and painter who has had exhibitions and readings at Yale University, minces no words. "Until now," he says, "Poetry hasn't been considered a crime. This is absolutely ridiculous."

Starkweather Faces Death

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mass killer Charles Starkweather, 20, faces his fourth scheduled date with the executioner Friday. But the admitted slayer of 11 won't die if his father can halt it via the courts. Guy Starkweather, instrumental in keeping his son from the electric chair last May 22, hopes this week to get the Lancaster District Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus, delaying the execution again. He also sought help from the U.S. Supreme Court, but a spokesman said a telegram and a letter from Guy, in their present form, weren't sufficient for a review. The bandy-legged killer doesn't claim he's innocent, but as he told the Nebraska Parole Board recently: "I honestly believe if I was represented right (by attorneys in District Court) I would have gotten life."

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. Another Session

Hat in hand and smiling despite a reported continuation of the deadlock on Berlin, Russia's Andrei Gromyko leaves the British residence in Geneva after Big Four secret session. Gromyko's deputy, Valerian Zorin, left, pauses to bid farewell to their host, British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, as he follows his chief. The Western foreign ministers were reported to have been firm in their resistance to Gromyko's continued demand that they abandon western occupation of West Berlin.

Quad's Papa Has Other Troubles

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Ciro Bravata's quadruplets and their mother are doing fine in East Orange General Hospital. But the proud papa admits "I've got troubles" — another family in New York City. Bravata became the father of a girl and three boys Saturday. Sunday he admitted he was married to another woman and had two children by her. "Oh, he's a fine one," moaned Bravata's wife, Grace, 38, as she lay in bed under sedation after hearing of the quads. But Bravata, 39, a railroad freight conductor, said the quads' mother, Louise Stroheim Bravata, knew all along he was married. "Louise couldn't be happier," Bravata said.

As for Grace: "I have no desire to talk to her. I never did. She's been giving me a hard time since the first day I married her." Bravata said his lawyer, Herman Caponi of New York, "has got the case."

Caponi said Bravata and the mother of the quads had never been married, that legal action the wife Grace had started never had been put on a court calendar and never "brought to termination."

The only thing legal about the separation, Caponi said, "is that it's mutual."

However, Caponi said that under a court order, Bravata was required to pay $40 weekly in support of Grace and their two children, a girl and boy, now 13 and 12 years old.

Grace at her home in Hollis, Queens, New York City, said her husband's support payments had been an on-again-off-again thing and that he owes her $900.

"I suppose he's proud of himself with his picture in the paper, grinning with that other woman," she said.

Several years ago Grace underwent a delicate heart operation. "My relatives lent him money to pay most of the hospital bills," she said, "then he goes and buys a new car."

Bravata, who makes $115 a week as freight conductor of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Louise have been living here for more than two years in a five-room apartment.

Bravata spent two hours at the hospital Sunday visiting Louise and the quads. Then he had two aspirins and went to bed. He will be 40 years old on Father's day.

Found Dead

SAN BENTITO (AP)—Hodie Everett Scoggins, 50, was found dead near here yesterday in his car which had run off the road into an irrigation canal. Officers said he possibly suffered a heart attack.

Racial Threats Spike Camp

LEESBURG, Fla. (AP)—There will be no summer camps at Weekiwachee for some 100 Presbyterian boys because of threats of violence if Negroes were included, a church leader has announced.

The Rev. Terrell K. Kirk, pastor of the Leesburg Presbyterian church and camp director, said the threats came from persons in Hernando County, where the camps are located.

One camp was to operate for white children with the other open to "qualified boys 11 to 14 from any of our churches," said Kirk.

"No individuals were specifically threatened," Kirk said, "but members received word of the threats through residents of the Brooksville area" in Hernando County, on the Gulf of Mexico north of Tampa.

The presbytery is St. Johns, one of five in Florida. It includes churches of the Sebring, Sanford, Deland, Daytona Beach and Orlando areas.

One Orlando member is the Washington Shores church, a Negro church.

"We felt that it was only right and proper that young people from all of our churches should be allowed to attend the youth camp," said Kirk.

A decision to cancel the camps came June 2 at a meeting of the presbytery in Daytona Beach.

A letter announcing the cancellations said the presbytery is taking steps "to provide for unhindered conduct of our camp program next year."

Ike Will Explore Congress Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower explores with other Republicans tonight methods of reviving their party's lagging prospects of regaining control of Congress.

Eisenhower is expected to urge GOP members at a $100-a-plate dinner to put forth some of the "revolutionary effort" he told his news conference last week will be needed to win Senate and House contests.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon also will speak at the dinner, officially billed as honoring Republicans in Congress.

With a capacity 3,200 tickets reportedly sold, the dinner was expected to raise upwards of $300,000 for the Republican campaign committees of the two houses. Of the net proceeds the House committee will get 60 per cent and the Senate group 40 per cent.

The dinner was arranged by the chairman of the two committees, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania.

In advance of the dinner, Republicans had indications their criticisms of the Democratic-controlled Congress are beginning to hit home.

Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, House minority leader, has been accusing the Democrats of "budget-busting" activities. Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the GOP national chairman, has called the Democratic-controlled legislature a "won't do" Congress.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who promised earlier that this would be a "car-do" Congress, struck back at these criticisms in a Baltimore, Md., speech Sunday.

Johnson said he is sorry to see the Republicans are practicing the theory that "the way to win elections is to run against something — to prove that the opposition is motivated by bad faith."

"It is a dangerous theory because it leads to those who embrace it to take a further step," he said. "It is that unless they control an institution of government, they will not let that institution work."

A Devotional For Today

Every one helps his neighbor, and says to his brother, "Take courage." (Isaiah 41:6.)

PRAYER: Dear God, our Father, we would be neighbors to those who need our help today. Create within us a keener sensitivity, a deeper awareness, of the needs of our brothers. Use us as instruments to build a friendly, peaceful world. In Christ's name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Quo Vadis For Civilization

Two monkeys were the first living creatures to make it into outer space in the nose cone of a ballistic missile and come back alive. One subsequently died but not from its spatial activity; it fell victim to a type of anesthesia used hundreds of times before without ill effects on other creatures. The other is flourishing here.

Four black mice were fired into space this week, but didn't get back. All this scientific progress is marvelous to behold and it does credit to the genius and ingenuity of American scientists. Also it has a certain propaganda value, in that it helps to destroy the notion that the Russians' eggheads are smarter than our eggheads, a notion that has no foundation in fact whatsoever.

The penetration of space and return of living creatures to earth is of the highest importance to the future of the human family. It must be kept up and not allowed to flag or lag.

But this is A.D. 1959, and development of ways and means of exploring outer space is a long-term proposition stretching perhaps hundreds of years into the future.

Nineteen fifty-nine will be followed by 1960 and by 1965 and by 1975.

And it is within this time bracket that we must find and develop the ways and means of living in a world threatened with destruction at the hands of the most determined and powerful dictatorship in the history of the world.

Science, including the mysteries of the universe, is indispensable in this struggle for survival.

But it is not the sole element in our program of survival, important as it is.

Our best brains and our millions of ordinary people should not become so absorbed in the conquest of space that our best thought and our economic substance and our spiritual values would be diverted from the challenges and the dangers of the 1959-1975 period in the march of time. At best the conquest of space is but an incident in the struggle, however vital it may be to the over-all picture of survival.

Monkeys, mice and eventually man will be sent into outer space and brought safely back again. The big headache is, will there be a civilization left to come back to?

Somebody Loves Them

Two brothers, 6 and 5, were found suffocated in an abandoned icebox at Eagle Pass this week. Last week two brothers somewhere in New York State met the same fate.

It happens all the time, in spite of laws requiring people to remove the doors or locks from all discarded iceboxes.

Now a kind of plastic bag is making its mark as a killer, but no doubt safeguards against accidents from that cause will be provided without too much delay. Changes in design or composition should prove effective.

If it isn't ice boxes or bags or abandoned wells or unloaded guns it's always something else.

Traffic, mostly. Now that school is out and the kids left with nothing much to occupy their time and drain off their energies, they will be playing in the streets more than commonly, and adorning in strange places and situations.

Have a care for the kids, you good people at the wheels of motor vehicles. Kids are kids, unpredictable and irresponsible. Some of them even dare you to run them down.

But the primary responsibility of preventing a tragedy is the driver's. Keep a sharp eye on the curb where children are at play. One of them may dash right in front of your car in pursuit of a ball, and curtains!

Please be extra alert and careful now that school is out. The kids are everywhere at all hours of the day during summer. You may not like kids in general, but somebody loves them.

David Lawrence No Groundwork For Summit Talks

LONDON — President Eisenhower has a trump card in world affairs today, and on how he plays it depends the future success of international negotiations during the "cold war."

Will the President really go to a "summit" conference on the basis of vague generalities, or will he insist on tangible progress at the Geneva conference? To say that the four foreign ministers are not themselves principals and to decide nothing themselves is to emphasize the form at the expense of the substance. For what western foreign minister has not faithfully reproduced at Geneva the views of his head of state? There is no give-and-take at a "summit" meeting of a few days such as there can be at a foreign ministers' conference. If the current conference at Geneva gets nowhere, a similar failure awaits a "summit" meeting. For, after all, governments—not just individuals—are negotiating at Geneva.

Mr. Eisenhower has tried to please those elements in the public opinion of the world which say, "let's get together and talk." Certainly there is no objection to discussion, but it can bring despair and even alarm as one side dangles to the other and gets away with it. Public psychology is quick to recognize timidity and defeatism. It also perceives soon the arrogance of the dictator. When the climax comes, public opinion will not applaud any chief of state who travels to a "summit" meeting only to be pushed around in a welter of words and propaganda utterances that do not advance by one iota the peace of the world. The Soviet game is plain to see. Why should they make any concessions if the West is in the mood to overlook Communist aggressions? The threat by the Kremlin to drive the Western Allies out of Berlin has been only temporarily abandoned. The Geneva conference is still under the duress of that threat no matter how the western governments may try to convince their own peoples that a change has taken place. Nikita Khrushchev now is endeavoring to set up a hostile situation with potential threats against the free countries in Southern Europe. That's the true meaning of his trip to Albania, defiantly undertaken even while the Geneva conference was in session.

Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference last week that results thus far at Geneva do not justify a "summit" meeting. This came like a breath of fresh air to the diplomatic precincts of Europe. It signified resoluteness and determination. But it was qualified, and the value of the utterance was lost somewhat by the President's further comment about the limitations of a foreign ministers' conference. Possibly he had in mind not the Western envoys but the plight of the rubber-stamp Gromyko, who evidently cannot speak for his principal.

But is it worth going to a "summit" conference to recognize a dictator's power? Isn't it better to urge that the power to negotiate be delegated so that governments may deal with each other through chosen representatives? What is the real use of diplomatic relations if ambassadors can no longer transact business for their own governments? Mr. Eisenhower has the opportunity to put the accent on free government and freedom of intercourse rather than to accept the whims and wishes of a dictator as the only course open today.

Nor is the cause of peace advanced by readiness to accept not merely weeks on useless negotiations such as have been taking place at Geneva but years of frequent "summit" meetings at which the heads of free governments are to be given the run-around.

The United States, as the leader of the free world and as the champion of representative government, should instead be appealing to the people of the Soviet Union to send a delegation that truly represents their wishes. For one man is not the master of 200,000,000 people and should never be recognized as such. As long as his dictatorship is accepted as inevitable and immutable, the prestige of free governments is bound to diminish and the cause of representative government is in the long run correspondingly injured in the eyes of freedom-loving peoples everywhere.

Heavy Load On One's Shoulders

James Marlow Questions That Need Looking Into

WASHINGTON (AP) — What could be nicer for a retiring general or admiral than to get a job paying up to $40,000 a year or more—with a company which sells some kind of military equipment to the government?

But the question Congress is going to ask now is: What does he do to earn his money? About July 1 a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) is going to start hearings digging into questions like these:

1. When a retired general or admiral gets a fat job from a company selling to the armed forces, is it strictly because of his executive ability and professional experience?
2. Or is he really hired as a lobbyist or influence-peddler to use his old friendships and contacts in the Pentagon for the benefit of the company which hired him?
There is a third, underlying question: Is a high ranking officer, still in the service, influenced in the selecting of equipment from a particular company by the prospect of going to work for that company when he retires?

Hebert says the picture is not all white and black—that many retired officers now with military equipment companies do a good, legitimate job because of their knowledge and background. However he says he thinks more business in Washington is done on the golf links and over the cocktail tables than is ever transacted in the Pentagon.

But any legislation Congress considers to correct abuses and Hebert expects to have remedial measures for Congress when it returns in 1960—runs squarely into a problem of individual rights.

Many officers retire in the prime of life, and like nonmilitary people, have a right to make income in addition to their pensions —particularly in fields where their knowledge and experience should pay off best.

Pending results of the Hebert investigation the House rejected last week a ban on such employment for five years after retirement. But there is a long history of congressional agitation about military brass going into private industry which does business with the government.

When Sen. Gerald Nye, a North Dakota Republican, conducted his historic investigation into munitions-making back in the 1930s, it was brought out that retired military brass had big jobs in that industry.

There is a difference between the Nye inquiry and the one to be made by Hebert. The former had its roots in American pacifism and neutralism—this country was isolationist then—and the munitions makers were accused of getting fat by fomenting conflicts around the world.

There is no dispute now about American needs for heavy armament. The American economy is so tightly linked with defense production that a sudden decision to reduce armaments drastically might throw the country into depression.

The Hebert investigation will examine not only the roles of retired officers in firms dealing with the government. It also will want to know how the military equipment makers go about competing with one another to sell their products to the government. Meaning, how they try to influence decisions in their own favor.

President Eisenhower, asked at his news conference last Wednesday about the role of retired officers in American defense purchases, said: "Obviously something besides the strict military needs of the country are (influencing) decisions."

Comic Book Is Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Safety Council has given its Public Interest Award to a comic book. The book, "Tommy Gets the Keys," is distributed by B. F. Goodrich Co. The 32-page cartoon booklet is designed to "train the would-be teen-age driver before he gets the keys to the car," company officials say.

More than six million copies of the booklet have been distributed since it was introduced in 1954.

Taken For A Cleaning

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Society for Orthopedics decided that a stuffed eagle in the Assembly chamber in the state capitol at Madison is a dirty bird.

The society voted to seek permission to have "Old Abe," a bald eagle, sent to a taxidermist for cleaning and repairing.

Joe Sounds Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mrs. Isabel Riffe asked her parrot, Joe, if he remembered the late Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany. "Down with the Kaiser," screamed Joe.

"He's been doing that since World War I," giggled Mrs. Riffe herself 94. "His dislike for the Kaiser was picked up around our house during the first war."

She hasn't told him about the Russians. "He's too old to worry about them now," she said. Joe has been with the Riffes for 60 years.

Heated Dream

GEARY, Okla. (AP) — An early morning dash was made by firemen to a Geary house. A woman told Chief Lloyd McNeely a neighbor boy ran into her house shouting "fire, fire." Turned out 13-year-old Clarence Pickett was sleep walking.

Around The Rim An Englishman Reports On His Country

A few items of interest on his native land passed along by an Englishman who visited in my home recently.

Englishmen are just awakening to the fact that their countryside can be seen by automobile. English roads can be no way compare with the highways found in America but a super highway between London and Birmingham, a distance of a little over 300 miles, is in the process of being built and should be ready in four or five years.

The famous Scottish Highlands have an altitude of about 4,000 feet at the highest point but they impress most visitors because they rise almost directly from sea level.

A typical English breakfast will include bacon and an egg, complete with tea. The English tea differs from that the Americans drink in that it is much stronger. "Sometimes, it cakes on one's teeth."

Cricket games, as played by the English, differ in length but an "inning" can extend as long as four hours.

Air conditioning is unheard of in Great Britain, principally because it isn't needed. Only about five days in a year's time does it get really warm in England and even those would be comparatively cool, according to Texas standards.

The whole of England has only about 10 hotels. It's probable many more will be built in the not-too-distant future, ho since the English are awakening to the demands foreign travelers will mean.

Bowling is a comparatively new sport in England, although the natives have played variations of it for a long time. Some of the theatres are being converted into American-style bowling lanes.

The English papers boast very few comic sections and now publishes entire pages of them. Newspaper supplies remain critical in England but the situation has improved somewhat in recent years.

Only in the larger places like London and Manchester does supermarket grocery stores. The small towns have never seen them.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Anglican Church doesn't swing much weight with the average Englishman. No more than 5 per cent of the populace attend church regularly. His opinions are printed occasionally in the newspapers but, apparently, only as a matter of courtesy.

Drive-in movies are unheard of in the Isles, only about two are in operation in the country. The bad weather that usually prevails is the reason no more are in existence.

Modern household appliances like washing machines and electric refrigerators are just becoming popular in England. Automobile gasoline prices range from 40 to 55 cents a gallon. Of that amount, 30 cents goes to the government in taxes. —TOMMY HART

Tourist Problems In Russia

COPENHAGEN — If George Gershwin were alive today, he would surely have completed a new song poem: "An American in Moscow." To him the latter-day, all-American tourist even as he did in his early work, "An American in Paris."

We are already in Moscow in extraordinary numbers, and the tourist season has only just begun. Already the limousine capacity and the English-speaking guides of Intourist are spread thin. At Moscow's famed Puppet Theatre several nights ago, the only Russian spoken was by the puppets. The audience spoke American, even to the Southern belle on my right who kept saying to her husband, "Honey, these are the cutest 'I'll do things ah ever did see!" Was her Intourist guide punchy!

It occurred to me then and there that the Puppet Theatre in Moscow is about to become the counterpart of the Ritz Bar in Paris: a place where the native language is never heard and no native can get a toe hold unless accompanied by an American.

When I left for Russia, it was estimated that 8,000 U. S. citizens would tour Russia this season. At the American consulate a few days ago, I was told that 15,000 American visitors had firm reservations by air alone! No one can estimate how many others will come by ship, car or flying saucer.

It is my feeling that by mid-July the tourist capacity of Moscow, and any other Russian tourist center, will be taxed to the point of chaos. Intourist is justly proud it has 1,000 English-speaking guides available in Moscow alone. But with a minimum of 15,000 Americans and even more Englishmen expected, Russia could be in for another revolution by midsummer.

Something will have to give, either tourist or Intourist, before the onslaught.

A group of European travel agents, in Russia to survey tourist accommodations, were unanimous in their agreement, when I talked with them, that the U.S.S.R. is not yet ready for extensive tourism. Their estimates as to when she will be prepared, ran from five to 20 years.

Their pessimism could have been founded on the fact that they, like myself, were housed in the Ukraine Hotel. This is Moscow's newest, a 30-story skyscraper, only two years old. It was a madhouse of organized confusion and boorish operation. Only three palsied elevators serviced the 30-story tower. It was SOP to wait five to 12 minutes for the elevator, and then be scared to ride in it.

But that would have been easy to endure, since the rooms and bed linen were immaculate. The intolerable fact was that the staff was unfailingly rude to everyone. Soviet citizen and foreigner alike.

The Ukraine is owned and operated by the City of Moscow. The hotels operated by Intourist are far, far better, everyone agrees. They are old and have a tradition of pleasant service. The tourist determined to go to Russia should fight like a tiger to be assigned to Intourist-operated hotels.

The American tourist, accustomed to living high, wide and handsome on credit cards, might as well learn now that the Russian economy is strictly geared to taking the cash and letting the credit go, man, GO. He will probably have to pay Intourist most of his expenses in advance. Then anything additional he buys in goods or services in Russia will be a cash-on-the-barrel-head operation.

In this, the tourist will be on a par with the Soviet citizen. There is no such thing as installment-buying in the U.S.S.R. or even a charge account. A nation that does not trust in God certainly isn't going to trust anyone else, even its own citizens. (Copyright 1959, United Feature Syndicate 1959)

Happy Fate Of The Friendless Twenty

"There are three faithful friends," said Benjamin Franklin, "an old wife, an old dog, and ready money." To that may now be added a common stock chosen at the right time and price.

Last June, a group of economists and statisticians of banks, brokerage firms, investment trusts and investment counsel went west by rail to Los Angeles for the convention of the National Federation of Financial Analysts Societies. They looked over public utilities, industrial plants, oil refineries, etc., in a quest for good investments.

On the return trip an argument developed. Are analysts concentrating on the blue-chip stocks and neglecting companies which haven't excited popular enthusiasm? Thereupon a group of analysts put together a list of stocks they called the "Friendless Twenty," stocks in companies that were in disfavor. They bet their friendless 20 would do better than the stock-market averages.

Among their "friendless" stocks were Ford, Celanese, and Motorola. In 1958, the automobile industry wasn't so hot, the textile companies were doing rather poorly, and TV was anything but flourishing. Yet those stocks managed to pick up friends and momentum. Here are the stocks the group bet on and what happened to them:

STOCK	Recent Price	Per Cent Gain in Year
Aetna Life	231	23
Aetna Ins.	65	-4
Ft. AM. Ins.	40	15
N. Amst. Ins.	48	10
Amer. Viscose	46	71
Celanese	39	129
Burlington Ind.	19	58
Armour & Co.	24	60
Brit. Pet.	7	-7
St. Oil (Ind.)	48	11
Bunker Hill	11	25
N. J. Zinc	67	59
Chrysler	72	78
Ford	27	78
Gt. No. Paper	51	21
Ch. N.O. Ry.	58	61
Kaiser Ind.	15	87
Monsanto	50	52
Motorol	108	185
Phileo	32	113

The experiment indicates that the well-known stocks, the so-called blue chips, are not necessarily the best to buy. The advocates of the friendless stocks won their bet. If you had bought one share each of the 20 stocks, your investment would have appreciated 42 per cent, notwithstanding the losses in Aetna Insurance and British Petroleum. The Standard & Poor's weighted average of 425 industrial shares rose 32 per cent. The less broadly-based group of blue-chip stocks in the Dow-Jones average rose 35 per cent.

The friends of the friendless had a system. They chose stocks in well-established companies which had come upon hard times, or whose industries were temporarily in disfavor. They were looking for undervalued shares.

Yet they didn't go all out in their choice of special situations. Someone suggested American Motors; he was laughed at. "The company will be out of business in another year," was the response. American Motors then was selling around 13. It's now around 39. The 200 per cent rise exceeded that of any of the friendless. The analysts preferred Ford, whose stock had sold off 20 points from its original price, and Chrysler. They were companies sure to stay in business. The analysts assumed history would repeat: strong companies would prosper when bad times became good times.

Since the analysts were bargain-hunting, they avoided the stocks which were priced high relative to earnings. And so they missed some big gains—International Business Machines 85 per cent, Thiokol 300 per cent, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing 75 per cent, Zenith 200 per cent, Litton Industries 115 per cent, Polard 112 per cent, Norwich Chemical 85 per cent and General Time 380 per cent.

The moral of this is simple: In a bull market, most stocks will go up. And most systems for selecting stocks, whether you choose the blue chips, the friendless or the popular favorites, succeed.

It's when stocks don't go up, when you're in a bear market, that Wall Street ruthlessly separates the dilettantes from the professionals.

Keeping It Safe
NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—A policeman given a juicy watermelon was momentarily stumped at how to keep it from fellow officers.

Then he used his jacketknife to do a little carving. When he returned that night, the melon was intact on a shelf.

He had inscribed on it: "Evidence."

Tiresome Oversight
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Fred Halleman ended up with one spare newspaper after he took over his ailing son's paper route one morning. The father retraced the entire route before he realized the paper was the one for his home.

Pigeon Pal

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Stanley Burgi, 13, stayed awake all night to hatch a pigeon.

He kept the egg, from which sounds of the baby's pecking were coming, warm in his hands.

Stanley said the mother pigeon flew away and didn't come back to her nest. After the hatching, he took over the job of feeding with an eyedropper.

Goes Over With Bang

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Police found three cylinder containers and took them to an oil well servicing company to see if they were explosive. They were. The windows of the company were blown out during the test.

Lucky Strike

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP)—The next time 11-year-old David Gay goes fishing he may substitute a bowl for a reel. On his first fishing expedition to a local pond, David caught a well-fed goldfish.

Peppy Blount Due To Make Return To Big Spring In July

Peppy Blount is coming back to town. He'll be here to emcee for the Jaycee's July 4 beauty pageant to choose Miss Big Spring and Miss Junior Big Spring. The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. in City Auditorium and the senior winner will be eligible for competition for the Miss Texas and Miss America titles.

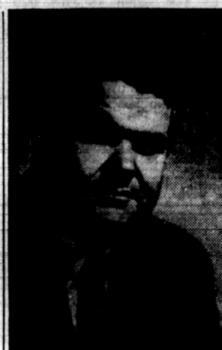

Blount, a charter member of the Big Spring Jaycees, is at present a practicing attorney in Longview. A former football great for The University of Texas, he also served in the state House of Representatives, won citations during World War II, and once held a post as freshman football coach at the university.

In Longview, Blount is an elder on the official board and teacher of the young men's class of the First Christian Church, 32nd Degree Mason, member of the director's staff of Karem Shrine Temple (Waco), president of the Gregg County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, member of the board of trustees of the Longview Independent School District, past third district commander of the American Legion, member of State and Gregg County Bar Associations, member of the executive council of the Ex-Students Association of the University of Texas, member of the oil & gas committee of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, state director on Board of H-Y Youth & Government Committee (YMCA) and a member of the Longview Rotary Club.

While at Texas Peppy lettered three years in football, once under D.X. Bible and twice under Blair Cherry, in addition to winning a varsity numeral in basketball. Peppy played his football at Texas in the prosperous late 40's, teaming with Bobby Layne to sweep Texas to two successive post season bowl championships in the Cotton and Sugar Bowls and then returning his senior year as right end on the championship Orange Bowl team.

These years provided many sports thrills but Peppy believes his greatest was catching Layne's last minute desperation pass to defeat SMU and Deak Walker, winning the Southwest Conference Championship and a Cotton Bowl Bid for Texas in 1945.

During Peppy's six years as a member of the Texas House of Representatives he was considered among the most popular members ever to serve. Some of his talents were utilized in fighting through a gathering tax on natural gas. He helped secure passage of the Texas prison reform and elecmosynary institutions improvement legislation.

At the present time, Peppy is a captain in the Air Force Reserve and a veteran of 31 minimum altitude combat flying missions. He holds the DFC, Air Medal (3 clusters), six battle stars to the Pacific Theater Ribbon and 2 stars on the Philippine Liberation Ribbon.

Cliburn Termed Immature Artist

LONDON (AP) — Two British music critics told young American pianist Van Cliburn today he has a fine keyboard technique—but he still is an immature artist.

The Moscow prize winner from Kluge, Tex., gave his first full London recital at the Thames-side Festival Hall yesterday. "He showed he has the kind of technique which does win prizes," said the Daily Telegraph's Donald Mitchell. "It is indeed of a most remarkable calibre, a technique capable of yielding a great variety of tone and vivid, sparkling textures in which every note sounds."

Before a capacity audience, the Texan played Chopin, Beethoven, Prokofiev and Mozart. The Times critic said: "Only in the opening movement of Prokofiev's taxing Sixth Sonata did Van Cliburn really show it what a fine pianist he has in him to become."

Steel Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Contract negotiations in the basic steel industry resume today after being in recess since Friday.

In Peppy's life include a movie screen test in 1945, but he decided Hollywood was too far from Texas. He lost three front teeth to the Texas Aggies but this failed to slow the personable fellow from the University of Texas one bit. In addition to his regular duties as a assistant freshman coach at the University, Peppy has remained close to the game as a member of the Southwest Football Officials Assn., developing into a top-flight official in Texas.

Morse Cites 'Obligation'

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) told Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) Sunday that the Senate had an obligation to reject unqualified presidential appointees.

Morse was a guest on Yarborough's weekly television program in Washington. He said President Eisenhower's "bad nominations" included Mrs. Clare Booth Luce and Adm. Lewis Strauss.

"Quite a number of people, including a lot of news columnists, seem to think the Senate should be just a rubber stamp for automatic approval of presidential appointees," Morse replied.

"Those newspaper people read both the Constitution and the constitution of debate. As one who taught that subject for 15 years, I want to point out that under the Constitution, the President has the power to appoint subject to the advice and consent of the Senate."

"Now, as we lawyers say, the advice and consent clause constitutes words of limitation. It's the duty of the Senate under its oath to see to it that if the President appoints someone that is not qualified, that they reject the nomination."

Valley Vegetables Expected To Taper Off This Week

McAllen, Tex. (AP) — Shipments of Lower Rio Grande Valley spring vegetables are expected to taper off sharply late this week. The shipments have reached peak proportions. Only honeydew melons are expected to move to markets for the next several weeks, and general rains could hasten the end.

Hot weather has affected tomato sizes, but demand for valley-to-matoes continued strong last week with rising prices.

Shippers expected a good market for the remainder of the season as the Florida movement was winding up. East Texas often begins shipping green wraps late in May, but this season reports from the Jacksonville area said the crop is very late because of heavy rains in early May. Shipments will not start in fair volume until the week of June 15.

Valley shippers were quoting $3.35 to $3.50 for a 30-pound lung of 6x8s and larger tomatoes and $5.50 to $6 for a 60-pound wire-bound crate.

The cantaloupe crop is small. With Arizona and California moving cantaloupes in heavy volume through last week, prices for valley melons dropped steadily. At weekend shippers were receiving $4 to more for a 40-pound crate of 36s, $3.50 to $3.75 for the 27s and generally $3 for the 23s.

Supplies of peppers became short but demand stayed up. Prices held firm at $4 to $4.50 a bushel.

Bowers Joins Tech Journalism Staff

LUBBOCK — Dr. David R. Bowers, a 1957 Reid Foundation fellow, has been named assistant professor of journalism at Texas Tech.

Wallace E. Garetz, Tech journalism department head, said Bowers will succeed Bill J. Whited, who has resigned to work toward a doctorate in journalism at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Bowers holds two degrees from the University of Missouri School of Journalism. He earned a bachelor's degree there in 1945 and an M. A. degree in 1947. He later earned a doctor of philosophy degree in mass communications at the University of Iowa.

He has held news positions on the Rome, N. Y., Daily Sentinel, the Salt Lake City, Utah, Telegraph and the Sunnyside, Calif., Standard. He was city editor of the Idaho State Journal in 1950-51 and editor of the Journal from 1953-57.

City Court Handles 42 Cases Monday

There were 42 cases heard in city court this morning. They resulted in fines totaling $715.

The complaints included six traffic violations, 13 charges of drunkenness, 13 charges of vagrancy, two charges of gaming, and one charge each of simple assault, disturbance and carrying a prohibited weapon.

Big 4 Talks In 4th Week, Pact Sought

GENEVA (AP) — The Big-Four conference went into its fifth week today amid signs that the Soviet Union would press the Western Powers for quick agreement on a summit conference.

Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France met with the Soviet's Andrei Gromyko at his headquarters here in late afternoon after holding strategy conference among themselves. They were reported gloomy about prospects for a Berlin agreement after a weekend declaration by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that he would not accept any arrangement which would "perpetuate the occupation regime in West Berlin."

This seemed to rule out a formal accord sought by the West to guarantee the Western position in the Red-encircled city. Some diplomats thought it would not necessarily bar an understanding that the Soviet Union would refrain from any threat or use of force to try to squeeze the Western Powers out of Berlin.

Khrushchev said in Budapest before returning to Moscow that East-West accords "undoubtedly will be reached at the summit" even if no agreement is achieved by the foreign ministers.

The Soviet premier displayed confidence a summit meeting will materialize by advising the governments of Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway that he may have to postpone the Scandinavian tour he is scheduled to make in August.

ONLY AT THE SUMMIT Stefan Heymann, chief information officer of the East German government, told a group of Western newsmen flown to East Berlin from Geneva that the issues of Berlin and Germany "can only be solved at the summit."

It was the threat of a new blockade cutting traffic to the isolated city that made the Berlin crisis acute last year and forced the calling of the foreign ministers' conference in an effort to avoid a military showdown.

LEGAL NOTICE Sealed bids addressed to Albert E. Steinhilber, City Manager of the City of Big Spring, Texas, for the purchase of two new 1959 automobiles will be received by the City of Big Spring, Texas, at City Hall, until 5:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 23, 1959, at which time the bids will be read.

Any bid received after the closing time will be rejected. Plans, specifications and details are available at the office of the purchasing agent, city hall. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any or all formalities.

Missed His Bus, But Denny Makes It To Boys' State

Benny Edwards, American Business Club delegate to the American Legion — sponsored Lone Star Boy's State in Austin, missed the special chartered bus carrying the delegates from the Legion's 19th District here Saturday, but he arrived in Austin shortly after the other group.

Benny was located shortly after the bus left Big Spring, performing his duties at the Codden Country Club where he is a summer employee. His traveling orders were in error, having given him a June 7 travel date.

The junior stellar half-back on the Steers football team responded promptly and with the assistance of his grandmother, Mrs. Bart Wilkinson, was speedily packed for the trip. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, 423 Westover, had planned an outing at Lake Thomas to return in time to assist their son in packing for the Sunday morning trip.

Under the direction of T. A. Thigpen, Legion Americanism chairman, Benny was rushed to San Angelo by car where the charter bus was missed by some 10 minutes. Through a prearranged agreement Benny was boarded on a regular bus at San Angelo.

He was chosen along with Jimmy Johnson and Billy Engle to be the representatives of Big Spring at the annual Boy's State sponsored by the Legion in Austin. Benny was unable to attend the week long event due to family commitments. The Big Spring Post of the American Legion has a quota of two boys with one additional which has traditionally been sponsored by the American Business Club.

Big Spring Delegates were pre-coached on procedure by last year delegates, W. A. French Jr. and James Howard Stephens, who registered within the highest grading of scholastic and athletic accomplishment.

Boy's State is annually sponsored by the Department of Texas of the American Legion. A similar function is also sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary, with Teresa Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith to represent Big Spring at Girl's State in Austin June 10-17.

Liberace Denies Perversion In Suit Against Columnist

LONDON (AP) — American entertainer Liberace denied in a British court today that he is a homosexual.

His denial came at the opening of a libel action against the Daily Mirror and its columnist, William Nell Connor, who writes under the pen name of Cassandra.

The entertainer, whose full name is Wladziu Valentino Liberace, was asked by his lawyer, Gilbert Beyfus if he ever indulged in homosexual practices.

"No sir, never in my life," Liberace replied.

Beyfus said the language used by Connor in the Daily Mirror "meant, and was intended to mean, that Liberace was a homosexual."

The trial opened before a judge and a jury that included two women. The gallery was crowded with women and girls.

As is the practice in British courts, the libel suit does not ask for a specific sum in damages. The amount, if any, will be fixed by the jury.

Beyfus quoted in court the offending articles.

"He reeks with emilic language that can only make grown men long for a quiet corner, an aspirin, a handkerchief and the old heave-ho. Without doubt he is the biggest sentimental vomit of all time," one said in part.

Beyfus said the article caused Liberace intense distress and that his mother was most upset when she finally saw it.

In his defense plea the Mirror contended that statements of fact in the Connor article were true, and that his expressions of opinion were fair comment.

MEN IN SERVICE

Pfc. Elmer Sorrells, son of Mrs. Frances Kennedy, 1600 Robin, is performing patrol duty while assigned to the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Fulda, Germany.

Sorrells is a mechanic in the 1st Battalion Headquarters Company and has been in Europe since July of last year.

Billie J. McIntyre, son of Mrs. Winnie Cobb of Big Spring, is serving aboard the cargo ship USS Skagit which took part in an amphibious landing on the beaches of Camp Pendleton, Calif., last month.

McIntyre is a seaman, and his ship was only one of 60 which took part in the action.

Also in on the exercise was Marine Pfc. Harold E. Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Harold Caldwell of Big Spring. The landing exercise, Operation Twin Peaks, involved more than 25,000 Marines and was the largest of its type on the coast since January of 1957.
