Wandering Auto Unwelcome Visitor

Sgt. and Mrs. Al Polich and their 12-year-old son weren't home at 802 Nolan when they had an uninvited and not necessarily welcome visitor Monday. The "guest" was a Chevrolet owned by Mrs. E. L. Knightstep, 1317 Wood. She is a nurse at the Howard County Hospital and was on duty at the time. She left her car on a parking lot. It began rolling and crashed into the wall of the Polich residence. The Polichs, at the time were in the process of removing their furnishings from the Nolan address to the Capehart housing project. Normally, Mrs. Polich said, she would have been in the kitchen and her younger playing in the yard with other children. The car was not damaged extensively. Damage to the house owned by Frank Hardesty Sr., was estimated at $400.

Slow Debate Threatens Action On Revenue Bill

Second Special Session Talked

AUSTIN (AP)—Talk of a second special session and slow motion debate threatened action on the Senate version of a major tax bill today. The House tied itself in parliamentary knots over increased student activity fees at state colleges and the governor's abandoned property bill. An hour after the Senate opened there had been no move to take up the 151 million dollar tax bill approved yesterday by the Senate State Affairs Committee. Sen. Bill Fly of Victoria led extended debate on a resolution asking the Legislative Budget Board for a revised budget based on existing tax laws. "We have been here much too long already," said Sen. Frank Owen of El Paso, "and it looks like we will be here another month if we talk this tax bill to death here today."

LABOR TROUBLE

Mine Owner Is Slain By Sniper

LAKE CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A sniper's bullet killed a coal mine owner Monday as he worked his machinery on a federal flood control project here in defiance of threats of sabotage or death.

Five persons were questioned at length in the slaying of Jess Fesler, 53, of Sunbright, Tenn., shot in the back as he stood beside his bulldozer on the project near the Lake City High School.

Anderson County Sheriff Glad Woodward questioned two of the men in Clinton, south of here, and Campbell County Sheriff Rose Kitts held three men for questioning in Jacksboro, north of here.

Lake City is located on the Anderson-Campbell county line about 30 miles northwest of Knoxville. It is in the coalfield area extending through southeast Kentucky and northern Tennessee.

The area has seen numerous cases of violence since the United Mine Workers began a drive to bring all mines under union control. Three persons have been killed in Kentucky.

Sheriff Woodward said, however, "We are positive this shooting is in no way concerned with union troubles."

The UMW welfare fund sued Fesler in 1957 for $34,111 it claimed he owed for back contributions to the fund. He filed a crossbill contending he had signed the union contract under duress. However, Woodward said he is probing mainly in other directions for possible motives. Among other things, the sheriff said, Fesler, the complaining witness in an armed robbery case against Franklin D. Smith, which was to have been heard by the Campbell County grand jury next week.

1. Was the complaining witness in an armed robbery case against Franklin D. Smith, which was to have been heard by the Campbell County grand jury next week.

2. Had been seen frequently with women other than his wife.

Dr. Sam Jones of Wartburg, a personal friend of Fesler, also discounted any connection between the slaying a coalfield strike violence.

He said Fesler had told him the telephoned threat of sabotage or death had come from a man who had sought a job on the flood control project.

Jones quoted Fesler as telling the caller that his former employees would get first preference. The job applicant then said if Fesler brought his equipment here from Sunbright it would be destroyed and Fesler might be killed.

Fesler held his subcontract on the flood control project from John Deal of Habersham, Tenn., himself a subcontractor for Gilchrist & Son of Jellico, Tenn.

Both Deal and Gilchrist are non-union mine operators who have been involved in previous incidents of violence.

BIBLE FUND NEARS GOAL

The Bible Class Fund inched toward the $1,500 mark Tuesday as two other contributions were received. Lucian Jones sent in $10 to the fund and Mrs. Mary Williams a previous donor, another $4. These contributions brought the total to date to $1,594. Support of the class in senior high school is wholly dependent upon voluntary contributions because tax funds may not be used for the Bible class instruction, although it carries regular credit. Many of the local churches make budgetary provision for the class, but until this appeal through the Herald, the funds were depleted.

Ike Summons Pentagon Chiefs In Missile Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned the top men in the Pentagon to a meeting today in an effort to iron out interservice disputes over missiles.

The White House said that other than the bare announcement of the meeting, it would have nothing to say before or after the session on the nature of the discussions.

All presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty would offer in explanation was that the conference "will deal with the air defense question of the United States."

In reply to a question, Hagerty said he couldn't say for sure whether Eisenhower would be receiving a report on the missile problem which Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy has been preparing.

McElroy and Acting Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon topped the list of men called to the White House meeting.

In addition, all the chiefs of the armed services were summoned, as well as presidential advisers on science and defense.

Asked whether there was any new emergency or crisis which required the meeting, Hagerty replied emphatically: "No sir, there is not."

Eisenhower was questioned at a news conference last Wednesday about an interservice dispute over the Army's Nike-Hercules missile and the Air Force Bomarc. He was asked whether the point had been reached where he had to step in and make a decision as commander in chief.

Eisenhower replied that he didn't think the matter had reached him for specific decision at that point. He said McElroy was making a study of the missile field.

Eisenhower said he was standing behind the defense program he recommended to Congress at the beginning of the year. But he added that if the McElroy study showed the need for some modifications "I am quite ready to assist in making them."

Runaway Truck Kills 4 Men

MEXICAN HAT, Utah (AP)—Four men died Monday night when a runaway truck rumbled through this little southern Utah mining town, slammed into a cliff and squashed a pickup truck.

The victims were identified as ore truck driver Less Polly of Grand Canyon, Ariz., and Ben Lee Jr., 28, and Daniel Black, all of Mexican Hat.

The third man in the pickup was unidentified. Observers told police the truck apparently lost braking power while coming down a road leading from a mine atop a hill near the town.

Civil War Vet On Regular Diet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter W. Williams, last surviving veteran of the Civil War, returned to his regular diet today after winning a battle with pneumonia.

The 116-year-old Confederate veteran had a breakfast of scrambled eggs and milk.

"It was the first meal from his regular diet since Saturday," said a daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles.

Williams spent nearly 48 hours under an oxygen tent but the tent was removed Monday night.

Court Upholds Ban On China Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld the right of the State Department to deny passports to Americans to travel to Red China and other areas it regards as potential trouble spots.

The ruling was handed down in the case of newsmen William Worthy Jr. Worthy visited Red China in 1956 and Hungary in 1957, and was denied renewal of his passport when he refused to agree to abide by restrictions against traveling to those countries again.

He brought suit for the passport. The court's unanimous decision—written by Chief Judge E. Barrett Prettyman, said the secretary of state has the authority to set aside Communist-controlled areas in which Americans are forbidden to travel.

Prettyman said the Worth case in no wise resembles the cases in which the Supreme Court has said the State Department could not deny passport applications.

He wrote that in those cases the Supreme Court ruling was that the State Department could not refuse passports because of the beliefs and associations of the applicants.

In the Worthy case, Prettyman said, no beliefs, associations or personal characteristics are involved.

Retired Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton, sitting on the appeals bench as extra judge, and Judge William K. Miller of the regular appellate bench, concurred.

Pilot, Airline Fined In Dive

NEW YORK (AP)—The pilot of the jet airplane that took a 30,000 foot dive toward the Atlantic last February has been fined $1,000 by the Federal Aviation Agency for being out of the cockpit at the time.

Pan American World Airways, the owner of the plane, was also fined $1,000 for failing to keep a flight-recording device in operation on the new 707 Boeing jet.

The copilot, who was at the controls when the plane suddenly dived from 35,000 feet, was notified of the government plans to sue and send his captain's rating for six months. The reason for the suspension apparently was his failure to stop the dive immediately.

The jet, with 114 passengers, was flying from London to Gander, Nfld., Feb. 3, when it suddenly nosed down. The pilot, Capt. W. Wadko Lynch, was in the passenger compartment. Because of the tremendous speed and angle of dive he had to fight his way back to the cockpit.

He and the copilot, Capt. S. T. Peters, leveled the plane with difficulty a mile in distance but only a few seconds in time from almost certain death in the ocean.

Lynch, a Pan-Am vice president for communications, and Peters, chief pilot of the Pacific-Alaska division, were among supervisory personnel flying jets during a jet boycott by union pilots in a wage dispute.

TEC Non-Farm Placements Up

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Employment Commission said today that more nonfarm workers were found jobs by the TEC during May than for any similar period since 1951.

A total of 51,447 workers were given jobs during the month. The total is up 10 per cent over April and 30 per cent over the May 1958 figures. TEC member Maurice Acres said such hiring spurts are usually accompanied by an upswing in general business activity. "This swift upswing in hiring makes our state one of the bright economic spots in the nation," he said.

Nation's First Atom-Missile Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The nation's first missile-firing, nuclear powered submarine slipped down the ways today with the advance billing of a "vital deterrent" against enemy aggression.

A crowd of 10,000 watched the launching of the 380-foot, 5,400-ton George Washington, first in a new class designed to fire the Polaris missile from either underwater or surface.

President Eisenhower, in a message for reading at the ceremonies, hailed the new vessel as one which "will add greatly to our ability to preserve the peace."

"It is my prayerful hope that this ship will be always ready but never used," Eisenhower's message said.

After the launching at the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp., several months of fitting out will be required for the George Washington before builder's trials.

Participating in the launching ceremonies were Asst. Defense Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil, Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke, and the chief of the Navy's Special Projects Office for the Fleet Ballistic Missile System, Rear Adm. William F. Raborn Jr.

Mrs. Robert B. Anderson, wife of the secretary of the Treasury, is sponsor of the shark-shaped submarine.

The Electric Boat Division said the George Washington is capable of remaining submerged indefinitely while carrying large numbers of intermediate range ballistic missiles.

Stock Has Arrived For Annual Rodeo

The rodeo producers report the stock has arrived for the 26th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. Arrival of the stock heralds the final finishing touches for the opening Thursday.

With the arrival of many visitors in the city, Police Chief C. L. Rogers cautioned motorists to drive carefully while playing host to the expected crowds. He urged residents and visitors to keep cars locked while parked to discourage pilfering.

As an added precaution, he suggested that homes be locked while owners attend the rodeo festivities. Above all, Rogers asked that everyone observe the traffic rules and regulations.

The weekend rodeo begins with the parade of floats, visiting Sheriff's Posse, and Rodeo Queen candidates. The parade is scheduled to start through town at 4 p.m. Immediately following the local rodeo association will hold a barbecue at the rodeo grounds for the participants.

The first go-round of the rodeo action is scheduled at 8 p.m. Following the final events of the rodeo Saturday, the Rodeo Queen will be named.

After Thursday's parade, the three best floats will claim prizes of $50, $30 and $20. The outstanding visiting posse will be given a trophy.

Beutler and Morgan are producers for the show this year. They have included a trick rope artist, Bill Buschbaum, and his educated horse, Sir Roger, to entertain the expected crowds each evening. One of the cowboys vying for the prize money will be Benny Reynolds, famed cowboy who picked up $25,000 on a national television show.

The rodeo clowns will be The Cajun Kid and Junior Meeks, both having appeared in Big Spring rodeos before.

The regular events will be bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, the girl's barrel race and wild cow milking.

The Big Spring ABC Club will be in charge of the concession stands and the programs.

This week is Rodeo Week in Big Spring as proclaimed by Mayor Lee Rogers. He asked everyone to join in the spirit of the rodeo and wear western clothes. Business houses over the city took on the western look with decorations arranged by the Freeman Decoration Co. of Dublin.

Tickets for the rodeo are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Driver Insurance Co., Alexander Jewelry, Wards Boot Shop, Creighton Tire Co. The ducks are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Search Continues

ROCKWALL (AP)—The search for three jailbreakers continued in Oklahoma today. Officers at Bonham, 60 miles northeast of here, said three men who hired a Bonham taxicab for a trip to Durant, Okla., were believed to be the trio who bound a jailer and fled in his auto with his money and pistol.

The escaped men, all from Dallas and all charged with burglary, are Freddie Warrick, 29; Sam Mennia, 24, and Jimmy

Lake Law Brings Fines To Youths

McKINNEY (AP)—Two Collin County teen-agers paid fines of $50 each yesterday for violation of Lavon Lake water laws which took effect June 1.

The two, both 17, were arrested Sunday and charged with reckless boating and water skiing dangerously near a group of swimmers.

2 Lubbock Men Take Over Operation Of County Airport

Operation of the Howard County Airport was turned over to two Lubbock men Monday. They will begin operations next Monday.

Contract between the Commissioners Court and the men, Roy Neal Jr. and Dick Standifer, has not been signed, but the commissioners okayed the men's proposal.

Later, the contract was read to them and they agreed to wording of it. It should be signed as soon as properly prepared.

Basically, the men, as Big Spring Aircraft Inc., will have a five-year lease on the airport with an option to extend it five years at the end of the first period. For this lease, they will pay the county $100 monthly as rental of the T-hangers plus giving the county two cents per gallon on gasoline and 10 cents per gallon on all oil sold.

The commissioners pointed out in okaying Neal's proposal that the operation will be put on a self-sustaining basis; the operations will not be subsidized in any form. The contract also assures citizens of the county free access to the airport and continuous operation.

Later when the county erects a large service hangar, the operators will lease it on a 15-year payout basis. They will make the facilities of the airport available to the public, and they will provide flight training, charter service, aircraft and engine maintenance, plus aircraft sales.

The men are from Lubbock where they are fixed base operators of the municipal airport there. Standifer will come to Big Spring as manager of the operations here. Neal has been the base operator at Lubbock and sales representative for the Piper aircraft firm for 15 years. Standifer has been working with him for seven years.

The commissioners and the airport advisory committee pointed out that Neal's contract was not exclusive and the county can give more leases as it deems necessary. Neal, Standifer, and county officials were to confer with architects about plans and specifications for the 80-by-100 foot hangar which will be built. This hangar will house all maintenance equipment and service stalls. For the present, Standifer will maintain his headquarters in one of the T-hangers, but he will move into the larger hangar when it is completed. A pilot's lounge is also planned as part of the big hangar. The operator will install gasoline facilities.

House Puts Hatchet To Abandoned Property Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The House laid to rest today the already dead abandoned property bill.

Representatives voted 68-66, defeating a motion to take up the measure again. A tie vote fails. There was little debate on the motion by Rep. James Bates of Edinburg.

The action kills any further consideration of the measure this session for all practical purposes.

"I ask you where are we going to get the 25 million dollars that would be certified if this bill is passed?" Bates said. "I ask you to search your conscience and see where are we going to get this money to help eliminate the deficit."

"Just vote no and kill this bill," Rep. Bill James of Dallas said.

The House tentatively killed the measure yesterday, 63-60, but left the door open for further debate when it refused to make the vote permanent. The Administration backed the measure to raise 25 million dollars to help eliminate the deficit.

Daniel lashed out at the Texas Bankers Assn., for what he called "greed, selfishness and pressure tactics."

He said if the measure fails the TBA should bear the responsibility of another 25 million dollars in new taxes. Daniel asked the association to suggest where the Legislature should get the money or to say where state government spending should be cut.

Trial Opens

Mrs. Edythe Klump, 41-year-old part economics teacher and operator of a day boarding school for children, sits with her attorney William F. Hopkins at the opening of her trial in Cincinnati. Mrs. Klump is charged with first degree murder in the torch slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32. The state claims Mrs. Bergen was killed because she refused to divorce her husband, William, so he and Mrs. Klump could marry. Mrs. Bergen's badly burned body was found on the shore of a nearby lake last Nov. 1.

6 Children, 2 Wives

Ciro Bravata smiled and held four cigars in front of incubators where his new born quadruplets lay in an East Orange, N. J. hospital. Birth of the quads—three boys and a girl—also brought news that Bravata has "two-wife" trouble. Mother of the quads is Mrs. Louise Bravata who lives with Bravata in East Orange. The other wife of the 39-year-old railroad employe was revealed as Mrs. Grace Bravata who resides in New York's borough of Queens with their two children.

Supreme Court Clarifies Rule In Many Controversial Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has clarified its controversial rulings on state sedition laws and congressional investigations, saying earlier decisions in these fields were misunderstood.

Splitting 5-4 in both cases, the court Monday said state sedition laws may be invoked to protect the state, and upheld the right of congressional committees to question educators as well as others about alleged Communist activity.

In making these rulings, the court affirmed contempt convictions against Dr. Willard Uphaus, director of the New Hampshire World Fellowship Center, and Lloyd Barenblatt, a former teacher at Vassar College and the University of Michigan.

Uphaus had been convicted under New Hampshire's sedition law for refusing to provide a membership list of the center to the state attorney general. Barenblatt had refused to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities whether he had been a Communist party member.

Earlier decisions in the same fields had drawn severe criticism from some congressmen and from groups as the state attorneys general and the American Bar Assn. Moves were started in Congress to try curtailing the court's power.

But, in its latest decisions, the court said that part of the earlier rulings had been misinterpreted. Justices Clark, Frankfurter, Harlan, Whitaker and Stewart made up the majority in both decisions. Dissenting were Chief Jus-ice Warren and Justices Douglas, Black and Brennan.

In the Uphaus case, Clark, speaking for the majority, said that its Nelson case did not "strip the states of the right to protect themselves." In that case the court had thrown out the conviction of Communist leader Steve Nelson under the Pennsylvania sedition act.

Uphaus, of New Haven, Conn., had refused to give information about the New Hampshire World Fellowship Center to Atty. Gen. Louis Wyman, who requested it under a legislative resolution giving him power to investigate subversive activities.

Clark said that the court in the Nelson case, had ruled that the Smith Act superseded the Pennsylvania law because they prohibited the same thing: "Knowing advocacy of the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence."

"All the opinion proscribed," Clark continued, "was a race between federal and state prosecutors to the court house door."

"The opinion made clear that a state could proceed with prosecutions for sedition against the state itself."

In a dissent, Brennan said the freedoms of speech and assembly were involved in the case and the state had not shown that its interest in getting the information from Uphaus was sufficient to outweigh these freedoms.

In the Barenblatt case, the court said that the House committee acted within the scope of

4 White Men Face Trial For Lives In Rape

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Four young white men are to go on trial for their lives here Wednesday. They are charged in the rape of a Negro college girl.

A veteran judge, W. May Walker, a native of this North Florida area, will preside in Circuit Court.

The court has summoned 156 prospective jurors—all men. A few are Negroes.

In the county jail, awaiting trial, are Willson Hollinsworth, 23, a telephone salesman; Patrick G. Scarborough, 20, an Air Force enlisted man; David Beagles, 18, a high school senior; and Ollie Stoutamire, 16.

Only Collinsworth has been able to hire a lawyer. The others have court-appointed lawyers.

His attorney, S. Gunter Toney, has been preparing to enter a plea that Collinsworth was insane at the time of the alleged rape. A private psychiatrist who examined Collinsworth described him as a moron with the mind of a 9-year-old.

The four are charged with taking the Florida A&M University coed from her escort at gun point May 2 and raping her. Florida law prohibits publication of rape victims' names.

Rape is a capital crime in Florida. No white man ever has been electrocuted in this state for raping a Negro. A convicting jury can recommend mercy.

Negro Man Asks Posse To Shoot Him After Capture

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—"Kill me. Kill me. Please kill me. I don't want to go to the gas chamber."

That was the plea of a Negro man who was hunted down and shot by a posse after the slaying Monday of Lee County Deputy Sheriff J. L. Powers, 50.

Powers was slain while he and other officers searched an area five miles southeast of here for a man reported living in the woods and stealing food from homes in the area.

The man also was wanted for questioning about the wounding last Wednesday of Vernon Elkins, 32, a farmer. Elkins was shot from ambush while driving his tractor. He was not seriously hurt.

Sheriff D. F. Holder said the man identified himself as James Jones of Richmond, Va. His wounds were treated first at a hospital here. He was later taken to the hospital at Central Prison in Raleigh.

Three officers were walking across a field Monday when Jones suddenly appeared and fired a shotgun blast. The charge hit Powers in the heart, killing him instantly.

A posse of police and volunteers numbering about 500 converged on the area. Twice members of the posse exchanged shots with Jones, but each time he eluded them.

About three hours after the slaying, five members of the posse spotted him and opened fire.

Daily Average Oil Production Falls

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude and condensate fell 137,170 barrels to 7,042,540 barrels last week as the result of lower allowables in Oklahoma and Texas, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas, where allowables were cut to 10 days in June compared with 12 last month, dropped 152,935 barrels to 2,708,350. Oklahoma was down 13,400 barrels to 542,700.

The Journal estimated 1959 production at 1,137,997,200 barrels compared to 1,017,403,600 a year ago.

New Mexico was down 3,400 barrels to 294,300.

Increases were reported for Louisiana, 750 to 973,575, and Arkansas, 50 to 80,800.

Texas Skies Mostly Clear

By The Associated Press

A thunderstorm rattled over Childress in Northwest Texas and fog banked thickly over East Texas Tuesday. Otherwise, skies were clear to partly cloudy with scattered showers in prospect.

The Childress thunderstorm, designated as an isolated disturbance, failed to produce any rain in the early hours.

Fog was reported by Longview and Lufkin.

The forecast for showers through Wednesday over all sections of the state pretty well matched Monday's weather scene when hit-and-run thunderstorms dotted wide areas of East, Central, North and West Texas.

Tyler's 46 inch was the heaviest rainfall reported. Beaumont had the only other measurable amount, .08 inch.

High temperatures Monday ranged from 82 at Amarillo to 105 at Presidio. El Paso had 100, and other readings generally were in the low 90s and upper 80s.

Minister Quits Over Involvement

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Dr. W. S. McBirnie, Baptist minister who admitted and accepted full blame for "improper involvement" with a woman in his congregation, has resigned as pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

Dr. McBirnie, 30, confirmed the affair last Wednesday before a standing-room-only special meeting of the church congregation. The situation became known when Dr. McBirnie sought out Paul Thompson, San Antonio News columnist, and told him of the involvement.

At the time, Dr. McBirnie asked the congregation to replace him, but said he didn't intend to resign. Monday, sources close to the board of deacons said Dr. McBirnie resigned Sunday night.

Dr. McBirnie was not available for comment.

Baptists Adopt Record Budget

DALLAS (AP)—A record $12,800,000 budget for operation of the cooperative program missions headed the agenda today for the meeting of the executive committee of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The convention finance committee already has approved the budget, which calls for a $1,380,000 increase over last year's spending.

Child care institutions will share in the funds, along with 11 schools, eight hospitals and foreign missions.

An offer by Mrs. Virginia Anderson Oberg of Pharr to give $100,000 and 15 acres of land for a home for aged in Hidalgo County also will be considered.

Outranks Lee

The nation's only surviving Civil War veteran, Walter Williams, 116, is shown receiving the honorary rank of five-star general from Donald A. Ramsey, executive commissioner of affairs of the Confederate High Command. Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, Williams' daughter, takes part in the presentation at Williams' home in Houston. The presentation made Williams a higher ranking officer than Gen. Robert E. Lee, Confederate commander.

WHEN WEDDING BELLS RING
Department For Brides At New Zale's

New Zale's Store Designed For Easier Display And Shopping

Zale's Jewelry Wednesday is observing formal opening in its new building at Third and Main, across the corner from the location occupied for the past 12 years.

Complete renovation, interior designing and installation of new fixtures have been combined for the modern touch. Many of the merchandise lines have been expanded and all of them situated for convenient customer shopping, said Don Richardson, store manager. He is inviting the public to come in for a "get-acquainted" tour of the store.

One of the outstanding new additions to the store is a "bride's department," featuring fine crystal, sterling, and china.

"We have expanded our lines of all merchandise," the manager explained. We have a larger selection of diamonds and diamond watches. It is one of the largest stocks of diamonds in West Texas," he said.

The wrap-around windows on the front and west side of the building gives a panoramic view of the interior of the store. The open shelving makes the merchandise easier to see and easier for the customer to make selections.

An enlarged credit department is another way the store has been changed to assist the customer. Richardson explained that Zales maintains a policy of credit that makes it possible for everyone to wear jewelry while paying for it.

In other departments, the new store has a modern counter of photographic equipment. "We have one of the largest selections of movie cameras," he said, "including all the nationally advertised brands."

The store has two lines of luggage attractively displayed near the credit department. A complete line of watches covers almost one wall of the new store. A watchmaker is on duty at all times.

Island displays hold small appliances, radios and other merchandise for easy inspection. "Our line of small appliances is complete," he said.

Richardson has been manager of the Zales store since 1956. He normally employs about 13 people. Sometimes, a larger staff is required.

"Our store hours are the same as at the old location," Richardson said. "We open at 8:30 a.m. each weekday and close at 5:30 p.m., except on Thursday and Saturdays. The store closes at 6 p.m. on Saturday and 9 p.m., Thursdays."

Bride's Section Is New Feature

An outstanding feature of the new Zale's Jewelry store at 3rd and Main is the "bride's department."

This section of the store is designed as a giftware department including sterling, glassware, and china.

It is set off from the rest of the modern designed store by deep pile carpeting and in imported chandelier. The lighting fixture comes from Germany and store manager Don Richardson said there is only one other like it in Texas.

The chandelier is round, about two feet across, and contains hundreds of hand-cut and polished crystals. Hidden, recessed fixtures provide the rest of the light for the department which has a wide selection of sterling, glassware and china for the gift-conscious shopper.

Richardson pointed to the sterling holloware and flatware, explaining that it was some of the finest in the world.

"Whatever the bride may choose, we have everything from the moderately priced to the expensive," he said.

There are glassware and sterling displayed on glass shelving, lighted to show off its quality. The bride may select from imported traditional patterns and styled to the very latest, modern china.

Lock Remover Sought In Gas Case

McRAE, Ga. (AP) — Who took the lock off the switch that caused derailment of a freight train and dumped two car loads of dangerous chlorine gas in this southeast Georgia community?

Investigators were trying to answer that question today as wrecking crews completed removal of the debris.

The tank cars containing 16,000 gallons of gas were placed on flat cars and carried out of the area. Residents breathed easier for the first time since Sunday night.

D. D. Stench, division superintendent of the Southern Railway in Atlanta, said the wreck "apparently was caused by someone tampering with the switch at a main line and an auxiliary track."

New high point in his career with Zale's Jewelry occurs this week for Don Richardson, store manager, as he hosts the formal opening of the modern new Zale's location at Third and Main.

DEAR ABBY WISE ANSWER

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband started cheating on me and being no dummy I knew it. I kept still about it. Finally I got a phone call from a woman who said she was my husband's "sweetheart." She said if I would give up my husband she could make him happy as they were in love. I told her to come on over and I would move out and she could take over. I said, "There's a 9-room house and four kids (one still in diapers) to take care of. All the laundry and cooking, no time out and $25.00 a week to cover everything." She slammed the receiver down and that was the end of the affair. That was 19 years ago, Abby. My husband hasn't cheated since.
NO DUMMY

DEAR NO: Good for you!! If every girl who had designs on a married man would visualize herself in the "wife's boots" there would be less "hi-infidelity."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is the same one that faces almost every teen-aged girl I know. It's the anti-social attitude of the boys our age. We don't understand it. They run around with boys their own age for entertainment and rarely include girls. If they go to dances, they go stag. At parties they stand around in little groups and talk to each other. If it's money they're worried about. I wish you'd tell them that most girls don't have to go to expensive places to have a good time. A walk or a ride or an evening at her house would be heaven. Please answer this and wake up a couple of million men. Thanks.

JUDY: Your letter is typical. I am printing it in the hope that it will inspire some shy guys to call up a girl who looks interesting and simply invite himself over.

DEAR ABBY: I've been divorced since 1955. I am raising two children. I met a nice fellow who lost his wife two years ago. He has three children of school age. We get along swell and are thinking of marriage but we have big problems unsolved. Should I move into his house or should he move into mine? Should I sell my car or should he sell his? Should I continue to work? He wants me to quit. Thanks for any help you can offer.
M. AND M.
DEAR M. AND M.: Select the home that would be best for your five children. If neither is adequate, sell them both and buy another. If you don't need two cars, sell yours and share your husband's. If he doesn't want you to work—quit. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman of 63. My sister's daughter is ten years old. They were in my home and during the conversation I made a small error in my English and the ten-year-old spoke up quickly to correct me. Her mother thought it was very smart and cute. Was it right for the child to correct me in front of other people and was it right for her mother to approve?

CORRECTED: The little girl may have learned her English lessons well, but she failed a far more important lesson: Respect for her elders and consideration for others." Rude children are products of ignorant parents.

A Devotional For Today

Pray without ceasing. (1 Thessalonians 5:17.) Pray ye . . . the Lord of the harvest, that he will not send forth labourers into his harvest. (Matthew 9:38.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, as we pray this day, open our eyes to man's need: his hunger, his fear, his uncertainty, his need of Christ. Lead us into knowledge of Thy will. Grant us the desire to fulfill Thy purposes. Use us to meet the needs of others. In the Redeemer's name. Amen.

Exploitation Of Feminine Appeal

A policy committee representing 11 million U. S. and foreign clubwomen, submitting a report to the General Federation of Women's Clubs in convention at Los Angeles, blasted the exploitation of women's feminine appeal.

The report took aim at "the lowering of the moral standards implied by the exhibiting of scantily clad women in seductive postures." It asked club women to "take a stand against exploitation of women's feminine appeal in unwholesome and questionable advertising, indecent literature, suggestive movies and improper immodesties in television and radio programs."

They were asked to "study, initiate and create public opinion to correct this evil, and to unite and refrain from patronizing any media which indulges in such abuses."

It recognized that there are two sides to it. "This practice attracts attention and sells merchandise," one side holds. "Some claim there is no ill effect. Others claim this is censorship."

But on the other hand, it goes on to state: "The harmful effect on the behavior of young people by shocking emphasis on divorce and misconduct of a minority of women; the ignoring of the constructive contributions of millions of women toward the betterment of home and nation and publicizing the behavior of an irresponsible minority.

The ladies might note that the "sex appeal" gimmick had even then been carried to the point of acute bareness, as nearly all effective gimmicks usually are, and at some point a general feeling not only of lassitude but revulsion becomes a factor.

The use of sex and semi-nudity as a promotion prop will decline and finally virtually disappear the moment the smart operators along Madison Avenue realize it has been carried to the point of abhorrence and become not only bareness but loathsomeness.

Already a cross-current has begun to set in. Today a new gimmick is being worked to a frazzle: what might be called the "he-man" or "man" type of appeal, featuring rugged masculinity, especially in cigarette advertising. This new gimmick is already beginning to be run into the ground and is rapidly becoming bareness and loathsomeness.

What next? A return to sanity and reasonableness, perhaps? We shall have to see it to believe it.

Anniversary Of An Important Day

Monday marked the 15th anniversary of the special act that created the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

While the date of ratification of the district by Big Spring and Odessa voters later that year may more properly be considered the actual anniversary date, the creation of the legal framework was the thing which made all other developments possible. This furnished the vehicle by which the two cities, later joined by Snyder, could move forward toward a solution of their common and considerable water problems.

That it was passed—and passed when and how it did—seems almost providential. Talk of a district, stirred in three years of planning, somehow always took refuge in the next step—in decisions that would have to be taken tomorrow. This stirred the imagination of the public but it somehow had not stirred many to get on the line in concrete steps that would bind the cities to repay a sum of money which was in those days sobering if not frightening.

It is to the everlasting credit of Big Spring and Odessa leaders, both in the city governments and on the temporary water district organizations, and in the community, that they persisted in the face of disappointments and difficulties.

Just how wise they were is reflected in what has taken place in their cities within the past decade. Almost from the moment that Odessa was annexed that a water supply was coming, that city leaped forward with startling development. Responding a bit slower, perhaps, Big Spring has surged forward. Snyder has solidified its gains and is pushing ahead. Significantly, available water has doubled the potential recovery of oil from several oil fields, adding millions upon millions to the area's economy.

Looking back, it is abundantly clear that one of the greatest factors in this unprecedented advance was the breaking of the shackles of water shortage.

Marquis Childs Absurd Position Toward Ambassadors

WASHINGTON—What does it take to be an ambassador? The cynical answer is a judicious compound of money and political influence.

The United States has today 51 career and 24 non-career or amateur ambassadors in 78 embassies around the world. The ratio of professionals to amateurs goes up or down a little, depending on how many of the well-heeled and politically faithful are in line.

When the present administration came in with President Eisenhower's vast prestige and his supposed respect for professionalism as a career man himself there had been some hope that the amateur practice of passing out political ambassadorships would be stopped. The President could have asked for enough money to run the big embassies, thereby removing the need to appoint a rich man to London, Paris and Rome. In the first flush of the Eisenhower triumph Congress might have gone along.

But the practice has continued. With such spectaculars as the row between Clare Boothe Luce and Sen. Wayne Morse and his horse it gets into the news now and then.

The real damage to the morale of the foreign service as the professionals see it is the most important and desirable posts go to the amateurs is less spectacular. There is damage, too, in the clinkers that the amateurs, and even the best of them, so often manage to drop.

No one would make a hard-and-fast rule. The distinguished citizen who is not a professional diplomat frequently has a role to play as ambassador in a highly important post such as London, Bonn or New Delhi. But it is when the plum goes for no other reason than as a political reward that the damage goes deep.

It is mystifying in retrospect about the Clare Luce nomination in that she should have wanted to be ambassador in Brazil where inflation is raging like a forest fire and a political explosion can come any time. Even more mysterious is why the administration should have offered it to her.

Mrs. Luce is credited with having done a good job in Italy. But many Italians resented what they said was her persistent advocacy of the rights of American oil companies to develop oil fields in Italy. From a professional diplomat, acting under instructions from his government, they might have taken the same arguments without resentment.

President Eisenhower defended his appointment of Henry J. Taylor, businessman and news commentator, as ambassador to Switzerland on the ground that Taylor was a good friend whom he admired. Despite his professional knowledge of foreign affairs, Ambassador Taylor supplied a newspaper friend with sensational information on Switzerland as a center of international intrigue and advertised the fact that he had been the source. Reacting violently the Swiss came close to demanding Taylor's recall. He smoothed things over, according to leading Swiss, by succeeding in calling off an American investigation into certain Swiss banking practices.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee had a new eye on the confirmation of Ogden Reid Jr., former publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, to be ambassador to Israel. The vote for confirmation was 10 to 4, with Chairman J. William Fulbright insisting no proof had been advanced of Reid's qualifications.

Congress has a lot to answer for in this practice. Rep. John J. Rooney of New York, chairman of the State Department Appropriations Committee, has enforced a ceiling on the entertainment allowance of ambassadors. It means that only rich men can afford the big posts. But since they deduct the extra cost on their income-tax return Uncle Sam in fact pays the bill and the economy argument is hypocrisy. If, for example, the ambassador to London spends $100,000 a year of his own money he takes it off the income tax. Since he is in the 80 to 90 per cent bracket he entertains with 10-to-20 cent dollars.

Why the richest nation in the world should play this kind of game is a mystery to Europeans. But for all its absurdities the game promises to go on. (Copyright 1950, United Feature Syndicate 1950)

James Marlow How Generals Get Fat Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—How does a general—when he retires—get a fat job with a big corporation selling millions of dollars worth of military equipment to the government?

It could happen in a lot of ways. It could—and did—happen this way: On the day a general retires he gets a cryptic telephone call from an old friend, telling him to call a man at a certain number in California.

He does. It turns out well. He becomes president of one of those making bombers and gets a salary of $75,000 a year, plus a $25,000 bonus.

A congressional subcommittee will soon start looking into the question of how high-ranking military men, after retirement, get big-paying jobs with big companies dealing with the government.

The subcommittee—headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.)—will also root around among the military equipment makers to check on how they compete to get Uncle Sam to buy their stuff.

But this kind of investigation doesn't have unanimous approval in Congress. For instance, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, doesn't think a man should be investigated on such exists or needs investigating.

Neither does Sen. Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat and former secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration. Symington himself was once a big help to a retiring general through a simple telephone call.

Hebert's group learned about this three years ago when it was examining the aircraft industry. His subcommittee now would like to know how some other generals and admirals got their jobs and what they do to earn their pay.

In his 1956 inquiry Hebert's group called—among top men in the aircraft industry—J.T. McNarney, former Air Force general who retired in 1952 and quickly became president of the Convair Corporation.

This firm made the B52 bombers for the government and McNarney testified that in the late 1940s, when the value of this particular plane was in dispute, he backed development of the B52.

Hebert asked him how he got his job with Convair and McNarney told this story: "On the morning of my retirement (Jan. 31, 1952) I did receive a cryptic telephone call and the question asked of me was: 'Have you signed up with anybody to go to work?' I said 'I have not.'"

McNarney said he told the caller he was going to San Diego to live—because he had married a San Diego girl—and the voice on the phone said: "Well, when you get to San Diego, would you call this number?"

McNarney indicated that from the telephone exchange the caller gave him—it was in Indio, Calif.—that he guessed the one who answered that phone would be Floyd B. Odium, chairman of the Convair board of directors.

When he got to San Diego, McNarney said, he called the number. And it was Odium. The financier offered the retired general the presidency of Convair.

For five years as president, he would receive $75,000 a year, plus a $25,000 bonus yearly. For the following 10 years—while he served as a consultant—he would receive $30,000 a year.

Hebert asked McNarney who made the cryptic call, urging him to get in touch with Odium.

The general said it was Symington, with whom he had worked at the Pentagon when Symington was secretary of air. At the time of the call Symington was no longer secretary and had not yet been elected senator.

McNarney said there was no connection between his championship of the B52—while he was still in service—and the fact that the company later hired him as president.

He said he had never been approached—while still in service—about a job with Convair.

Around The Rim Of Mice And Men And Rockets

There was considerable excitement in the capital. The Grand Syndicate had been called into extraordinary session. The streets were crowded with silent and apprehensive citizens. They stared at the imposing Syndicate Center and wondered what the powers would do to cope with this new crisis.

The grand Xlub of the Syndicate tugged at his sparse beard with one of his four hands and the forward eyes of his set of six were absorbed and worried.

The members of the Syndicate milled restlessly about the assembly room. They were not talking; their minds were too deeply occupied with the problem for casual conversation with their colleagues.

At high noon the Xlub signaled the opening of the convulse. The members took their proper places. An ominous silence prevailed.

"We are facing one of the most difficult problems in our existence," said the Xlub in his opening statement. "It has been five centuries since the Syndicate has been summoned in extraordinary session. This should impress all of you with the gravity of the emergency."

There was a rustling sound as the members shifted in their chairs.

"We must decide," said the Xlub, "what we are to do about this newest threat that Earth is imposing on us. We have two alternatives, as I see it—one to declare war on Earth and decimate it. The other is to call all of our finest minds and demand they find a way to rid us of this new plague Earth has loosed among us."

He paused. In the silence one could hear the pattering of tiny feet back of the walls of the big building. Papers rustled in storage cabinets. There was a sound of graving teeth.

"Since creation," the Xlub continued, "We of Venus have faced many problems. We have met those problems as Venutians should. One problem, however, we have never had to face. Earth has now created this problem for us. Unless we find some way to meet it, we face the same annoyances, waste and difficulties that Earth has faced for centuries."

"The first and natural impulse we have is to destroy Earth. That would afford us the satisfaction of revenge but nothing else. Even after we had decimated the population of the Earth, this problem the Earthmen have loosed on us would still be with us."

"The gravity and difficulty it poses should be evident to all of you. Earthmen have had this problem since time began. They have tried everything. They have lost the battle again and again. "War against Earth, then, is one of the decisions that the Syndicate could make. More urgent, however, and much more difficult is what are we to do about the second phase of the problem. Do any of you have any suggestions?"

Nietanie, one of the oldest of the Syndicate, slowly rose to his feet. "I have been scanning the literature of Earth," he said. "I may have the answer. Earth has—or had—a genius once, whose name was Ralph Waldo Emerson. I do not know much of him other than what I have found of his writings in our Scenagraph."

"If we send an ultimatum to the Earth—war or my suggestion—we may have the answer."

Tension mounted in the huge room. Members turned to Nietanie. There were demands that he go on.

"As all of you know," said the aged man, "We have never had mice on Venus. Earthmen have shot their rockets to Venus. These rockets have been occupied by mice. Unfortunately, the mice were of both sexes. Mice, once they were freed on our planet have thrived. They have flourished even better than on Earth. Today, these pests are overrunning our land. We cannot cope with them. We know from our studies that Earth has never been able to deal with mice either. Despite the conflict between Earthmen and mice since time began, there are just as many mice on Earth today as there ever was—perhaps more. Here on Venus, they reproduce twice as fast as on Earth; they grow much larger. They live much longer. They have no natural enemies here. They are destroying us."

There were nods of agreement.

"What of this man—er, Ralph Waldo Emerson—wasn't it? Do you think he has the answer?" asked the Xlub.

"That I do not know," said Nietanie. "I only know what he wrote. It had to do with a better mousetrap that Earth has some person he knew had created. And he was asking that Earthmen make greater use of this mousetrap. Obviously the inventor must live in some remote and isolated place. Emerson was suggesting that a pathway be made to his door. The records stop there. I do not know if the trap was ever brought into use—apparently it was not."

"My solution is that we tell Earth that we must have Emerson at once and that he bring with him his inventor friend or we declare war."

There was a round of applause.

And that's why that confusing message was received by Earth from Venus—garbled in transmission and translation. —SAM BLACKBURN

Inez Robb Trip To Russia Is No Vacation

Will the restless American tourist always looking for new worlds to explore, find a trip to Russia rewarding?

The answer to that one, in my opinion, is "fifty." The trip will be worth while if the traveler is content with an education rather than a vacation.

The U.S.S.R. is not yet, in an educator's opinion, a vacationland. But it offers a salutary education for the free-wheeling American in the iron vagaries and contradictions of a powerful monolithic state that is no more tough and adamant abroad than at home.

Let me say it another way: I had an interesting time in Russia, and I am glad that I had this brief glimpse of the Red dictatorship. But a good time? No! I enjoyed the sightseeing that one always does in any foreign city, and I loved the music, ballet and theatre.

But there was an oppression of the soul that never left me. It began an hour after I arrived in Moscow when a member of the American colony came to take me to dinner.

"I hope you don't mind being 'tailed,'" he said, nodding to a somber young Russian off to one side in the hotel lobby. "It makes some people nervous at first, but those of us who live here get used to it."

The Russian followed us all evening, around the city and into two restaurants. When my friend, after delivering me back to my hotel, drove off, his "tail" was no more than 80 feet behind in his Russian car.

However, the Russians, first of all, direct their suspicion at each other. If they ever learn to trust one another, perhaps they can learn to trust the rest of the world. If that day ever comes, it can be one of mankind's happiest. In the interim, it does not make for joyous atmosphere at home any more than it does abroad.

It was oppressive to me to live even briefly in a state where all incoming and outgoing mail is read and censored. It weighed on my spirit to be in a nation that has replaced God with the worship of (1) the state and (2) a pair of waxen images in a red granite tomb in the shadow of the Kremlin walls. It was extraordinarily depressing, day after day, to see an average of 15,000 persons standing, hour after hour, in a queue a half-mile long for a chance to gaze at Lenin and Stalin.

It depressed me so much that one day, when Miss Intourist took me past a Russian Orthodox church that she described as a "working church," I insisted on going in, although I had never been in a Russian Orthodox church before.

"I am an atheist," she said stiffly. "Well, I'm not," I said, with equal firmness.

Reluctantly, she went into the church with me where I got down on my knees and said a few prayers. When I got up, I looked Miss Intourist in the eyes and said, "I have prayed for all of us."

It occurred to me that American tourists, no matter what their religion, could do no greater service to Uncle Sam when they visit the U.S.S.R. than to insist on being taken to church, be it Christian or synagogue. It might be salutary for Russians to realize that God has not been repudiated elsewhere in the world.

A journey to Russia is an education rather than an unalloyed joy. It will induce any American to make any conceivable sacrifice to guard and maintain the American way. Frankly at the end of a week in Moscow, I was stir crazy and panting for a breath of free air. (Copyright 1950, United Feature Syndicate 1950)

The Gallup Poll Stevenson, Kennedy Stay In Front

PRINCETON, N. J. — America's students, their elders are inclined to feel, could well afford to "hit the books" a little harder when they are at home in the after-school hours.

Generally lukewarm about increasing the actual time spent in school in order to give U. S. students more time on basic education, the public does look with favor on stepping up the amount of homework currently assigned in the schools—particularly at the high-school level.

As reported earlier, two other proposals—one for a longer school year, the other a longer school day—met with approval from significant minorities of the public, but not, as of today, have majority acceptance.

In the case of increased homework, however, the following vote was registered in the Gallup Poll's current study of the public's attitude toward more basic education in the schools:

She Likes Being a Girl

Jayne Mansfield believes that girls should look like girls and suggests exercising and dieting for that slim, feminine figure.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Look What Exercises Have Done For Jayne!

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — As fashion cycles spin around, standards of beauty harmonize with them. In the Gay 90s, when the hourglass figure was in vogue, girls without hips padded them. When the Fabulous 50s brought bosoms into prominence, there was a mad rush to buy falsies.

Today the sex spotlight goes from cleavage to legs, and slim young things with understated bustlines are creating the gamine type.

What does the cleavage-girl of all time think of this? I found Jayne Mansfield in her dressing room at 20th Century-Fox. "You can't please all men with one type. I know the boyish look would never please my husband. He likes girls to look like girls—live a difference!"

Jayne was wearing a tight sheath and filling out the top as only she can.

"I started developing when I was so young," Jayne confided. "I was so embarrassed at being so much bigger than the other girls that I used to wear a jacket over a blouse—even in hot weather."

"You never know!" Jayne leaned back on the cushions of the divan. "Now it has become my trademark."

"If nature doesn't give the shape you like, then I believe a girl should work to develop herself. You can build your body. I've seen what my husband has done. He started going to a gym because he was underdeveloped."

"I have pink weights, and I do my best exercises every day. I'm a firm believer in being firm. But a woman should never use heavy weights. She doesn't want to build muscles—just muscle-tone. There is a right way and a wrong way to exercise."

"Not everyone can go to a gym. Mickey is planning a mail-order course of instructions. The same routine can reduce or build up—depending on speed and rhythm. "You get much better results with a diet if you exercise," Jayne exclaimed. "A woman makes a great mistake letting herself get flabby."

Jayne feels that you should always consider your health when you are choosing a reducing diet. "You can get better results by cutting down on highballs and cocktails," she said. "One Manhattan has 250 calories, a dry martini, 200, and every Scotch and soda, 100. You can see how easily calories add up—especially if you nibble on something during the cocktail hour."

"But no matter how health-conscious anyone is, there's bound to be a slip up. When I do, I make up for it the next day."

"But I have no problem because I listen to my body. Everyone can learn the signals and obey them. If you don't eat when you're not hungry and if you stop eating when your appetite is satisfied, your weight will take care of itself."

"You can't go by those height and weight charts," Jayne cautioned. "On the chart my weight is 130 for my height but I look best at 118. This is something you have to decide for yourself. The size of your bones makes a big difference."

Jayne said that the beauty secret that means the most to her can be expressed in two words, "to love."

"When you're in love, you can't help but be more beautiful. It does wonderful things to a face—not just romantic love—but any love. That of a mother for her children, of a priest for his fellow man. My first marriage," Jayne said in a faraway voice, "was an escape. I knew I wasn't in love and it wasn't good. But," she enthused, "there is so much happiness and beauty created when you find the right mate."

EXERCISE WHILE YOU DIET The quickest and most satisfactory results are obtained by exercising while dieting. Leaflet M-71, "Sensational 30 Pounds in 30 Days Diet," includes an easy-to-follow 15-minute exercise routine along with planned menus for losing weight effectively. No one wants stretch marks from losing weight too fast, and you can prevent this by daily exercise. For your copy of this sensational leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for Leaflet M-71.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Bermuda will pay philatelic tribute to the 250th anniversary of the shipwreck of the "Sea Venture" which resulted in the first permanent settlement of the Bermuda Islands. Six new stamps of identical design, but different values will be released on July 29.

The design features in full color the coats of arms of James I, British monarch at that time, and Queen Elizabeth II, each surmounted by the appropriate crown. The arms are intertwined with the Garter Cord.

The "Sea Venture" was the flagship of a supply fleet sent from England to relieve the starving colony of Virginia under the command of Sir George Somers. The ship was wrecked off the Bermuda Islands in 1609. The tiny coral islands have been under British rule since 1612, eight years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Here's an important notice for first day cover collectors of U. S. stamps.

The first day sale of the 4-cent 49 Star Flag stamp on July 4 will be transferred from Washington, D.C. to Auburn, N.Y. The reason for the switch is that Auburn was the home of William H. Seward, secretary of state in the Lincoln and Johnson cabinets, who was responsible for the purchase of the Alaska Territory from Russia in 1867.

Seward was born in Florida, N. Y., but lived most of his life in Auburn where a citizens' committee is planning a big celebration on July 4.

Collectors are reminded to send their envelopes for first day cancellations of the stamp together with remittance to the Postmaster, Auburn, N.Y., prior to July 4.

Any orders for first day covers already sent to the Washington, D. C., postmaster will be forwarded by him to the Postmaster at Auburn, N.Y.

'That Mess' Is The Potomac

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many congressmen agree the most obvious "mess" in Washington is the Potomac River.

Rep. James C. Wright (D-Tex.) said it was a disgrace.

Rep. Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif.) said "the very stream which waters the roots of American history" is polluted.

House debate on a water pollution bill spotlighted the problem last week.

Gubser told the House that down by the Lincoln Memorial "We would inhale the air made putrid from raw human sewage flowing down our beautiful Potomac from our federal city of Washington."

Once the Potomac was a clear, sparkling stream for 287 miles—past Virginia and Maryland farms, past Washington, past Mount Vernon—to Chesapeake Bay.

Now you don't swim in it around Washington unless you fall in, Wright told a reporter.

"The most polluted river west of the Nile" is Sen. John F. Kennedy's term for the Potomac.

Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md.) called it "one of the most polluted, one of the most neglected and one of the least developed."

Lankford, with other congressmen from the Washington area, has introduced a bill authorizing a 75-million-dollar appropriation to build sewer lines and filtration plants.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md.) said Congress must do something. He noted that the U.S. Public Health Service has threatened to take legal action under the Water Pollution Control Act.

He added: "In a city of monuments to heroes of American history, there's a monument to man's shortsightedness—the most polluted interstate river in America."

And by checking these facts, Byron's Transfer & Storage, located at 106 E. 1st—across from the T&P depot, stands out boldly as a dependable concern. Movers at Byron's Transfer handle your furniture items as if they were their own. It is nothing out of the ordinary with them, however, because their movers are taught the correct way to handle furniture which prevents scarring. Grantham Stresses Good Watch Bands

Exceptional bargains in watches, necklaces and other jewelry items are now available at the J. T. Grantham Jewelry, just north of the State National Bank.

Grantham also has one of the largest stocks of watchbands in West Texas. The bands are available for both men's and women's watches, and come in a variety of types and styles.

The firm offers watches manufactured by several nationally known watchmakers, and they are priced surprisingly low. Prices start at $9.95. Ladies', men's, boys' and girls' styles and sizes are on display.

There are necklaces of many styles in the Grantham showcases. If you prefer, the firm has an open stock of pendants from which you may have a necklace of your own individual preference made up.

J. T. Grantham is a watchmaker with more than two decades of experience in the field, and with training under some of the masters of the craft. He has operated watch and clock repair shops in Big Spring for nearly 15 years, and has established a large clientele here.

Whatever your watch, jewelry or watch repair needs, you'll do well to check with Grantham and look over his stock before making a selection, whatever the event—

Solved - Carpet Cleaning Problem

Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One-half gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9x12 rugs. Available at Big Spring Hardware, 115 Main St.

EASY WAY TO KILL ROACHES AND ANTS

Scientists recommend that you control roaches and ants the modern way—with Johnson's No-Roach. Brushed just where you want it, the colorless coating kills these pests. It's effective for months, sanitary, and easy to use. Get No-Roach at Safeway, Piggy Wiggly, Hall & Phillips, Cunningham & Phillips, and your local drug or grocery store.

Product Works Magic On Carpets, Upholstering

There was a time when soiled upholstery or carpets would make the busy housewife throw up her hands in dismay. It meant an expensive trip to a professional cleaner or a cleaner that might not get the job done as it should be.

Blue Lustre is a foam cleaner that is very easy to use. It can be applied in any type of rug shampoo applicator or applied with a long handled brush.

Blue Lustre is an inexpensive cleaner, as a very little bit goes a long way while doing an excellent job of cleaning.

This cleaner penetrates instantly into your carpet or upholstery and suspends dirt particles. Then one easy application with your vacuum cleaner, and the job is finished. The vacuum removes cleaner with the dirt and no gummy residue is left in the rug or upholstery to trap more dirt. It is non-flammable.

Blue Lustre is economical; it takes only a half gallon to clean three 9x12 rugs. Other sizes available are quarts and gallons.

Blue Lustre may be purchased at Big Spring Hardware.

Cabot Kayoes Pigs, 17-8

Cabot dumped the Pigs, 17-4, here last night in the American Little League in the beginning of the second half.

Cabot wasted no time in getting to the meat of things, shelling the Pigs for 10 runs in the first inning. Instrumental in that spurt were Dwight Perkins and Mike Barrett.

Barrett hit a three-run homer and Perkins followed with a grand slam that put the Pigs way down. Perkins also had two doubles and Wayne Lovell had four singles.

The winning pitcher, Perkins, allowed eight hits and Tommy McMahon of the Pigs got two of them, both doubles. He was the losing moundman.

Tommy Bolt Won't Pick Self To Win

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP)—Tommy Bolt, exuding sweetness, light and confidence, was explaining the necessity of thinking positively before he started out for his first practice round for the U. S. Open Golf Championship today.

When you think positively you don't make many mistakes," Tommy said, "You're sure what club you want to use and you're sure you can make the shot."

"If you make a mistake, you don't worry. You waste a shot getting out of the rough; you don't try to lay the next one up on the green."

A reporter suggested: "That's they way you were thinking at Tulsa last year, wasn't it Tommy?" Bolt assented.

Then came the inevitable next question: "Why don't you pick yourself to win?"

"Not me," said Bolt, mustering a wry grin. "Some people think I'm too cocky anyway without picking myself to win. Besides the odds are 20-1 against any one player."

Regardless of his opinion, Bolt is a player whose chances can't be discounted in figuring a possible winner of the 98th Open championship, starting Thursday on the 6,673-yard, par 35-35-70 west course of the Winged Foot Club.

Bolt, a golfer whose reputation was built around his fiery temper and club-throwing antics, pronounced himself a changed man before last year's championship. He is still talking about calmness and self-control.

Tommy's record since last year's victory hasn't been impressive, but he explained: "I haven't been playing too much tournament golf. I've been playing exhibitions and making a lot of appearances in stores and such places."

"But win or lose here, I'm going to play a lot from now on."

While Bolt has been comparatively inactive, a lot of his challengers have been busy preparing for the 1959 Open.

Ben Hogan, seeking an unparalleled fifth Open title, has practiced assiduously and has scored impressively at Winged Foot. Mike Souchak, a former assistant to Claude Harmon at this club, has fired several practice rounds in the 60s.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

BOBBY LAYNE, the pro footballer, on why his fellow Texan, Buddy Parker, is such a successful coach:

"Bobby remembers when he was a player. He understands that players have problems, treats them accordingly. Some of the other guys become someone else when they get to be coaches. I honestly believe that if every player who wants to play for Parker could play for Buddy, then there wouldn't be enough players left to make up one other team. I don't think Bobby wouldn't know how to make them talk before a game. If he has any fight talks to make, he makes them early in the week, on an individual and personal basis. At the half, we just take up things that we believe might work better. Even if we're 20 points behind, Parker calmly tries to find something that will work better, and asks for suggestions."

PARKER

MAYO SMITH, manager of the Cincinnati Reds:

"When I was with the Phillies, the guy on the Cincinnati club who scared me most with two down and a runner on third was Johnny Temple. I just had to see him come up. I was always afraid he'd find some way to get that runner home. Now that he's on my side I still consider Johnny the toughest little chetlet I've seen in the game."

JOHNNY O'BRIEN, Milwaukee infielder:

"When you're batting against Warren Spahn, you kind of figure he has a lot of luck and you're eager to get back at him. Then when you play in back of him you realize what a tremendous pitcher and gifted worker he really is."

STAN MUSIAL, St. Louis hitting great:

"Ernie Banks of the Cubs is one of the best wrist hitters I've ever seen, but more than that, he's never stopped trying to learn. I don't think he's reached his peak yet."

PEEWEE REESE, Los Angeles Dodger coach:

"Dell Crandall is a better receiver and Ernie Lombardi was a better hitter, but Walker Cooper was the best all-around catcher I played against. He was a real man; he wouldn't hesitate to call for the 'ear pinch.' I hated Blackwell and Maglie. It sort of spoiled your day to see them warming up. Mort Cooper and Bucky Walters were also pretty good. The Dodgers didn't see many southpaws but Warren Spahn and Max Lanier were the best of the bunch. Spahn didn't have much luck with us, yet we all knew he was great."

TEXAS GAME AND FISH MAGAZINE:

"There are only two dangerous spiders in Texas—the black widow and the tarantula. The best hunters, trappers and fishermen in the world probably are spiders. Although governed solely by instinct, spiders obtain their prey in a fascinating variety of ways—crawling, stalking and leaping, slapping in the water or on the ground, or by an ambush. And food, not fun, is their objective. Spider webs have been utilized by man for numerous purposes. For instance, overlaid spider webs have been used as a bandage to stem the flow of blood from wounds. Artists have used the web fabric as a canvas for their paintings."

JOHN CARMICHAEL, Chicago writer:

"If there is a boxing monopoly these days, Sugar Ray Robinson has caught the bonnet from the IBC."

DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas football mentor:

"You ask that the spring practice stars, Mike Cotten or James Saxton, might take over as the quarterback running my No. 1 unit next fall? This is the way I look at it, I've seen Bobby Lacey in 21 ball games. I've only seen Cotten and Saxton in practice."

Harris, Powell Square Off In Houston Bout Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Bockwoodman Roy Harris and former football pro Charley Powell, a couple of heavyweights shooting for a chance at the title, square off tonight in a 10-round bout.

Both are ranked among boxing's top 10 challengers and the loser is almost sure to drop, perhaps for good.

The sixth-ranked Powell comes here from a March knockout over the second-ranked Nino Valdes. He has won six straight after having given up football with the San Francisco 49ers.

The Los Angeles Negro has won 20 fights (15 by knockout), lost three and has two draws in almost seven years of off-and-on pro fighting. Workouts here revealed his punches to be sharp and crisp with an effective left and quick reflexes.

Harris has fought only three times since champion Floyd Patterson chopped him up in Los Angeles last August with a twelfth round TKO. He decided to fight light-heavyweight Donnie Fleeman twice in Dallas and kayoes John Hutt in five rounds at El Paso.

The schoolteacher from Cut 'n Shoot, Tex., now ranked eighth, boasts a 20-1 record including 10 knockouts, but is not noted as a puncher.

Putting Tourney Is Set For 8:00

The first in a series of weekly putting tournaments will be staged at the Big Spring Country Club, starting at 8 o'clock this evening.

The tournaments were originally to have been started last week but a mixup on the club's program caused a cancellation.

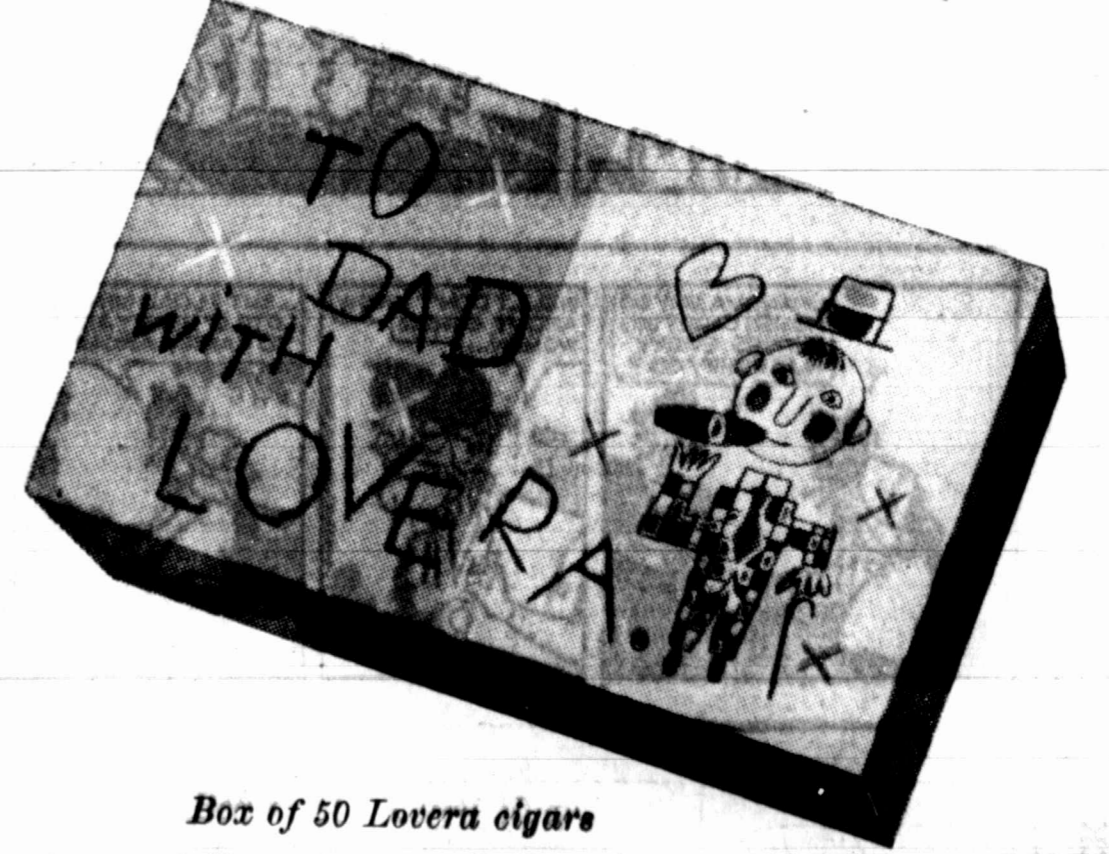

Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Butane Boys Win By Three Games

A split the Butane Boys achieved in two games played last week enabled them to finish in first place in American Minor Little League standings with three games to spare.

The Butane Boys lost to the Eagles, 2-0; but defeated the Bears, 14-8, in the double bill. The split gave them a 9-1 record in first half play, compared to the 6-4 mark achieved by the second place Bears.

Joe Sulak and Cooper Procter saw action on the mound for the Butane Boys in the winning engagement.

ENGALS COME ALIVE UNDER JIMMY DYKES

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

So the Detroit Tigers have been hot since Jimmy Dykes took over as manager a little more than five weeks ago. That you know. But how hot is hot?

All it took was a scorching, better yet, call it tops. For if you compute American League performance since May 3, the day Dykes took charge, the Tigers would be leading the way by a whopping six games.

Then Dykes relieved Bill Norman the Tigers were last, 10½ games behind Cleveland. They had a record.

Now they are only 2½ games shy of first place, have a 24-10 record, .706 under Dykes, have taken command of fourth place, are over .500 for this season and have won 12 of their last 15 games after winning their fourth in a row 6-3 Monday night at Boston.

Baseball Picture Cards Again Rage

By FRANK BECK
News Features Sports Editor

Baseball picture cards are the rage again. Below are Christy Dodger sound.

More than 3,000 players have been used with a Brooklyn gum maker. The only big leaguer in a separate deal is Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox. A Philadelphia maker signed Ted to a five-year contract for thousands of dollars. He is on five cards, each tell-part of his life story.

Not only is Williams baseball's highest paid player ($125,000), he also is tops in bubble gum ornaments.

Years ago, players received nothing in fact they felt proud to be recognized. The first cards appeared just before 1930. In 1939 or so was added to the photographs.

Founders' trade, flip and catch cards in many ways. Some tell them against walls or garage doors. First one who tosses "leaner" picks up the stack. It may seem silly but it's fascinating to kids. It keeps them occupied, and it's much quieter than the old game of "cops and robbers."

Yanks Are Off To Bad Start

The Yankees staged a rally that came too late here last night in the National League, losing a 4-3 decision to the VFW in the opening game of the second half.

Each team scored its runs in the space of one inning. The VFW took the lead with a four-run spree in the third off singles by Gregg Pate and Pat McMahon and a double by Ward Booth.

The Yankees shook loose in the sixth for their third of singles by Ricky McCarron, Travis Oliver and Sammy Mirns.

Miners Face A Formidable Schedule Under H. Davis

EL PASO (SC)—Texas Western Miners will play 24 basketball games next season, and the schedule is one of the most formidable in recent history.

The Miners, under their new coach, Harold Davis, will play 24 teams as Oklahoma State (twice), the University of Oklahoma, Wyoming University, Wichita University, and Idaho State (twice).

Other games on the schedule include the usual double round-trip with conference teams New Mexico State University, West Texas State College, Hardin-Simmons University, Arizona State University and the University of Arizona; plus contests against the University of New Mexico, Southern Oklahoma State, Central Oklahoma State, Wayland College, Abilene Christian College (twice), and Sul Ross State.

The Miners tied for the championship of the Border Conference last year, winning seven times and losing three in conference competition. Their overall record was 14 wins and nine losses.

Texas Western's schedule includes 10 home games and 14 on the road. They will open against

BOASTS 103 ERA

Elroy Face Emerges As Top Relief Tossers In Circuit

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you start talking about relief acts in the National League, let's face it, Elroy Face is your man.

The stubby right-hander has been Pittsburgh's right-hand man in the Pirates' climb from obscurity. He hasn't been beaten in more than a year, figuring in 34 victories since he last was a loser, on May 30 of last year.

In that time, Face has won 13 and saved 21 with a 1.51 earned run average, allowing just 17 runs in 100 2-3 innings.

After Memorial Day 1958—when he was beaten 7-4 by Milwaukee—Face won five, saved 17 last season as the Bucs ran off their starting surge from a tie for last in 1957 to second place.

So far this season, the 31-year-old former Dodger farm hand has won eight, saved four for a 1.08 ERA in 35 1-3 innings. He got that eighth victory Monday night by collaring the slugging San Francisco Giants in a 12-9 Pirate success decided by Harry Bright's three-run, two-out pinch homer in the 11th inning.

That ended the Bucs' skid at four games and pushed them into home run from catcher Danny Kravitz, who came on after Smoky Burgess was struck a glancing blow on the head on Giant shortstop Andre Rodgers' throw to first base in the first inning. Felipe Alou and Willie Kirkland homered for the Giants.

Willie Mays, who dropped 21 points to .321 over the weekend, was benched by Giant Manager Bill Rigney for a "little rest" that ended when Willie singled as a pinch-hitter in a three-run eighth. Mays was 2-for-2, but bruised his side while sliding and switched from his normal center field post to left field.

Lew Burdette was almost the whole show for the Braves, batting 4-for-4, driving in 4 runs and winning his ninth. He needed relief help, however, when he finally gave in to the 89-degree temperature in a five-run eighth inning after blanking the Cubs on three hits for seven. Don McMahon saved it.

A seven-run fifth clinched it for the Braves with Burdette's second double scoring three runs. The loser was Seth Morehead (0-3), who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 20th homer, tops in the majors.

Water Demand Is C-City Problem

COLORADO CITY—City Manager R. K. Soethen told councilmen Monday night that the city may find it necessary to double its water treating and transportation system if water use continued to increase in Colorado City.

"It may be necessary to spend a half million dollars in the next 10 years," Soethen predicted, "in expanding present water facilities."

Frank B. Campbell, who served here briefly as assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has been named as executive director of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

His appointment became effective on June 1 with the retirement of Nelson Brown, who had resigned due to ill health. Brown was well known here, having been in contact with the rehabilitation work at the Big Spring State Hospital during his administration as director. He was the leader in the movement which led to the appointment of the Governor's Statewide Committee on Problems of Alcoholism in 1956, and three years later it became the Texas commission.

New Baptist Leader Spells Out Beliefs

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Edwin H. Tuller subscribes to the belief that Christian church members with deep Christian beliefs is more important than striving for increased church membership.

He is the newly elected general secretary of the American Baptist Convention, now meeting in Des Moines.

Dr. Tuller, 51, says he also favors action to end friction with the Southern Baptist Convention by "joining together in common projects to emphasize common goals and help minimize the differences between us."

A soft-spoken man with dark hair, piercing eyes and incisive mind, he leaves no doubt that he has a positive program for the church, which has around 1,500,000 members in 6,000 local congregations.

But he doesn't regard increased membership as a pressing need. "One of our basic beliefs is 'The way to baptism' is 'The way to life' is 'The way to heaven'—to demand nothing of our members. We seek a deeper commitment before baptism."

Church Paper OK's 'Good' Catholic For Presidency

NEW YORK (AP)—The Living Church, a leading Protestant Episcopal weekly, says there is no reason why a "good Roman Catholic" should be kept from seeking the presidency of the United States.

The lead editorial of the June 14 issue of the publication says that "it could well be that the Roman Catholic Church may yet give America a president and a good one."

"It ill-behoves Episcopalians, whose brother churchmen have held the presidency so often, to speak against the right of any religious person to hold the presidency because he is a Catholic," the editorial says.

The editorial is one of many on the subject which have appeared in both church and lay publications since Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a Roman Catholic, became a possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Barber Victim Of Vandalism

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A barber said yesterday his shop windows were smashed and 27 other shops were damaged when he and other owners refused to raise their prices.

Jimmie Colebank said five men threatened to "destroy the shop and harm me" unless he brought his prices into line with the minimum set by the San Antonio Barbers Assn.

Colebank said the men apparently used a pipe to break 15 windows, a neon sign and a door. He estimated damage at about $100. Colebank cuts hair only by appointment, charging $1.50 per haircut. His employees charge 75 cents for regular cuts.

The San Antonio scale is $1.50 for regular cuts and $1.75 for flat tops. The Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians of Texas, meeting here, approved a resolution calling for an increase throughout the state to $2 per haircut.

East German Model City Is Well Built, But People Dazed

Editor's Note: Associated Press Correspondent Michael Goldsmith went with a group of 19 Western newsmen on a two-day trip from Geneva to East Germany at the invitation of the Communist government. Here are some things Goldsmith observed on the trip.

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
GENEVA (AP)—The 7-year-old German girl's drawing showed the hanging of a top-hatted capitalist holding an atomic bomb.

The Communist teacher in the huge, super-modern school pinned the little girl's effort on the classroom wall along with similar student products.

The central theme of drawings made by children of the model school at Stalinstadt, East Germany's "first Socialist city," was fear—fear of the capitalist warmongers piling up nuclear weapons to destroy the "Socialist camp of peace-loving nations."

Stalinstadt is the pride of the East German regime. Its vast iron smelting combine on the Oder-Neisse border with Poland grew from a sandy waste in less than a year. Now it turns out more than a million tons of pig iron a year for East Germany's growing industries.

The foundry's 6,000 workers live in the new state-built, state-owned and state-operated city to 24,000 inhabitants. Three and four story buildings are clean, bright and well designed. The accent is heavy on social services. Nurseries, hospitals, schools and recreation centers are all free, or nearly so.

Basic food in the state-owned stores is cheap and plentiful. The average worker pays less than one tenth of his wages for a three-room apartment. All material conditions are there for comforts above the average enjoyed by industrial workers in Western Europe.

But the streets are without life and without laughter. The people have a glazed, unreal look like sleepwalkers. It is a familiar atmosphere in East German cities.

Only two buildings in Stalinstadt are not state-owned. The makeshift Protestant and Roman Catholic churches have been built with church funds. Church attendance is discouraged by authorities.

ities. The state religion is "socialism."

In schools, nurseries, hostels and old age homes throughout East Germany there are shrines to socialism and peace. Fashioned from scarlet drapes, flowers and slogans, they feature photographs of Red party secretary Walter Ulbricht and other Communist leaders.

The state religion has ceremonies corresponding to christening, confirmation, marriage and funeral services. Children leaving school go to "youth consecration" where they swear to help build socialism.

Communist burial services are less common. "The old people haven't had time to get adjusted," one Communist official said. "The aged are well cared for in East Germany. Any Western city would be proud of a beautiful, air-conditioned old folks' home on the outskirts of Berlin. But one aged inmate caught a Western newsman alone and whispered, "It's good to be here—but the young ones outside, just think of them."

A Czechoslovak army officer on a visit to East Berlin stood looking at a photograph of goosestepping soldiers of the new East German army.

The goosestep has been a symbol of German military aggression in Europe for three generations. The officer walked off shaking his head.

When a Western newsman tried to talk to the officer. He froze and turned away.

Green-uniformed police are as much in evidence as Hitler's storm troopers once were. The color of the uniform is different, but they still patrol in pairs, never alone.

Most of the policemen are in their late teens. Their entire lives have been dominated by dictatorship and war. Slogans come naturally to them. They are jackbooted and armed and they know who runs their country.

Soviet troops keep scrupulously out of the way. In East Berlin, Soviet troops and their families live on the outskirts of the city. They are rarely seen in town.

"But we know they are here," a retired civil servant said. "Those who would rebel remember Hungary. If they are realists, they know there cannot be any hope at all."

Motel For Island

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The Cameron County commissioners agreed yesterday to discuss plans for a motel on Padre Island. C. Howard and Associates of Harlingen asked for a 99-year lease of 38 acres to build a 300-unit motel at an estimated cost of three million dollars.

Silver Medal

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—David Clifford Jones, Austin, won a silver medal for having the highest scholastic standing and $27.50 for writing the best thesis at St. John's College this year.

New Railroad Counsel Named

AUSTIN (AP) — Former Rep. Walter Caven is the new general counsel of the Texas Railroad Assn.

Quin Baker, chairman of the executive committee, announced the selection yesterday.

Caven succeeds Kenneth McCalla who died here recently.

He has been general attorney for the railroads, and practiced law in Marshall before being elected to the House in 1949.

Rubber Pact

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The United Rubber Workers and the B. F. Goodrich Co. today reached agreement to end a 35-day-old strike of 14,000 Goodrich workers in eight cities.

Session Ordered

PECOS (AP) — A special session of the Reeves County Grand Jury was ordered yesterday to check all offices in the county. Dist. Judge J. H. Starley said he had been told discrepancies were found in some county offices by an outside audit.

That Question Answers Itself

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Should space pilots be kept in sterile isolation during training, or should they be allowed to live normal lives?

In short, as a flight surgeon with a sense of humor put it at a session of the American Rocket Society: "Should our space pilot sleep with his ultra-violet lamp or with his wife?"

Dr. Toby Freedman of North American Aviation Inc. said the answer is simple.

"If space flight were a one-shot affair," he said Monday, "no precaution would be spared to keep the crew germ free. But once we realize that space flight is not a one-shot affair and that the fliers will be trained, not for a single stab into the darkness but for continuing space exploration, then it is obvious that isolation is neither possible or desirable."

Dr. Freedman proposed normal life for space candidates as a guiding principle for flight surgeons who will be faced with making decisions that will affect the survival of tomorrow's rocketmen.

Judge Overrules Gathering Tax

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A judge, agreeing with the contention of three oil companies, ruled yesterday that the state oil gathering tax is unconstitutional.

Judge Coleman Lindsay ruled the tax was in addition to authorized severance taxes.

The Legislature redefined the natural gas levy in 1954 and the oil companies attacked it in three suits.

The firms were Southern Natural Gas Co., Bel Oil Corp. and Calcasieu Paper Co. and Humble Oil and Refining Co.

The key constitutional provision in the case said "no further or additional tax or license shall be levied or imposed upon: oil, gas or sulphur leases," other than authorized severance taxes.

The gas gathering tax was under suspension until 1960.
