Beulah Taking A Siesta

Tropical storm Beulah, flicks and light, went south and Thursday was taking what appeared to be a Latin siesta in Mexican waters of the Gulf. There were few clouds on the lower Texas coast and winds were light. Beulah was causing no weather along the coast at dawn, the Weather Bureau said. Beulah drifted southward during the late night and early morning hours and at 4 a.m. was about 50 miles east of Tampico, Mexico. Her highest winds were estimated at that time at about 45 miles per hour near the center with winds up to 35 m.p.h. in scattered squalls within 50 miles of the center. "The storm probably will drift very slowly south southwest," the Weather Bureau said in an advisory, "and gradually weaken to below storm intensity today as more of its circulation moves onto land and drier air moves into it from the north."

Governor's Lady

Mrs. Blanche Long, first lady of Louisiana, is helped from a National Guard plane by Gen. Ray Hitt, of Louisiana State National Guard, as she returns to Galveston, to see Gov. Earl K. Long to a New Orleans hospital for treatment. In the background is Mrs. Wilma Lockhart, the governor's personal secretary.

Determined Long Back In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A weary but determined Gov. Earl K. Long was back in Louisiana today, confined to a $22.50-a-day hospital room overlooking the Mississippi River bridge his brother built. Long, 63, returned Wednesday night from a 19-day stay in a Galveston, Tex., psychiatric clinic. The return trip began as he stated firm intentions of resuming his duties as chief executive of his home state.

The extent to which this will be possible, at least immediately, remains unanswered. Nearly a dozen doctors began checking today the physical condition of the ailing governor, who vows he will seek an unprecedented fourth term in December. They promised a midmorning bulletin. Doctors at the Ochsner Foundation Hospital removed the telephone from the governor's "medium priced" room. They insisted a "no visitors" ban include politicians.

The big questions now: Will Long run again? Will his health permit it? Will he call a special legislative session to resurrect some of his pet bills that failed in a fiscal session? Long slipped quietly and without comment into the privately owned general hospital after a plane flight from Galveston. He immediately requested a bowl of peaches and cream. From his fifth-floor corner room he could see the big river bridge which was built by Huey P. Long, the late Louisiana governor and U.S. Senator.

The plane, flight home began just 16 minutes after Probate Judge Hugh Gibson of Galveston County had released the governor from the protective custody of the John Sealy Hospital. His wife had signed commitment papers June 2, three days after six men had been needed to place the governor on a stretcher for a flight to Galveston. Mrs. Long claimed her husband was physically and mentally exhausted. Wednesday she and Texas attorneys negotiated nearly seven hours before reaching the agreement that led to Gibson's dismissal order.

Mrs. Long said the governor had agreed to remain at Ochsner's two weeks or longer, if necessary. Technically, Long became governor again when the Air National Guard plane crossed over the Texas-Louisiana border. He can exercise the full powers of his office unless incapacitated. Louisiana law, however, does not specify who can declare a governor incapacitated.

Lt. Gov. Leth Frasier acted as governor during Long's 19-day absence from the state. Politics was not discussed on Wednesday's plane flight. "If anyone knew when the plane crossed the state line into Louisiana, it was not mentioned," said Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate.

A personal friend of the governor many years, Mrs. Dixon was a passenger on the plane. Mrs. Long sat either beside her husband in opposite him most of the journey. Mrs. Dixon said, "She held his hand a good part of the trip. Several times she patted his knee. She got a pillow to place back of his head and several times rearranged it when it slipped."

Mrs. Dixon said Long still has begun even after the hectic two weeks he just went through. She said Long had suggested the group go to Bourbon Street upon arrival in New Orleans but laughed when she refused. "I got up at 3 a.m., governor," Mrs. Dixon said. "You got up at 4, so you had an hour longer to sleep."

Auto Insurance Rates May Fall

AUSTIN (AP)—The average accident-free Texas driver may get an overall 10 per cent reduction in his auto insurance rates, the State Board of Insurance said today.

Angus McDonald, chief of the property casualty division, said the reduction may be granted a driver who has not had an accident for three years. "It all depends on the territory," he said. "And it also depends on what action the board takes as to insurance company expenses."

McDonald led off the board's hearing on its proposed merit rating plan to provide reduced rates for safe Texas drivers. He said the indicated reductions or increases are subject to review. The board hopes to put the plan in effect by Aug. 1. Insurance company executives waited to testify as to what they think the plan will do.

Bodily injury liability insurance may go down 2.2 per cent and property damage liability 11.2. Physical property damage indicates a 13 per cent reduction, McDonald said. McDonald said 80 per cent of the insured vehicles in Texas are accident free the past three years.

The accident-free driver using his car for personal purposes and for driving to and from work, may get these annual dollar reductions in bodily injury and property damage liability rates: $2 in Harris, $1 in Dallas, $4 in Bexar, $2 in Tarrant, and $8 in Nueces counties.

El Paso County may go up a $1 while Webb and Galveston rates increase $14, McDonald said.

Woman Juror Gives Liberate Big Wink Just Before Verdict

LONDON (AP)—A gray-haired woman member of the jury that awarded Liberate libel damages of 8,000 pounds—$22,400—against a British newspaper turned up at his hotel afterward and told newsmen she thought he was wonderful — "a real smasher."

Three minutes before the high court verdict was announced Wednesday, the woman, Mrs. Jean Friend, 49, had given the American piano player a broad wink to tip him off that he had won his suit against the Daily Mirror.

"Woman in Liberate jury sensation," headlined the Daily Herald. Mrs. Friend's wink came as the court reassembled to hear the verdict. The jury was out 3 hours and 22 minutes.

Liberate, wearing a subdued dark gray suit and a patterned gray silk tie, swept in with his entourage. He was mopping his brow with a monogrammed handkerchief. His gaze traveled over the 10 men and 2 women in the jury box. In the front row sat Mrs. Friend. She smiled, winked and nodded. Then she mouthed silently: "It's all right." Murmurs of "He's won" ran through the courtroom. Three tense minutes ticked by before the official announcement that the jury had found that a column in the tabloid Daily Mirror by William N. Connor had implied Liberate was homosexual.

Liberate announced he was "delighted my reputation has been vindicated." The Mirror announced it will file an appeal. It devoted three full pages to a factual report of the verdict, including a photograph of a smiling Liberate. But there was no editorial comment. There was also no mention of Mrs. Friend.

After the verdict Liberate hurried through a throng of women fans, some of whom cried, "Well done." He was driven to the nearby Savoy Hotel and immediately telephoned the good news to his mother in California. Downstairs in the Savoy grill Mrs. Friend and two companions were having tea. "I just wanted to shake Liberate's hand and congratulate him," she told newsmen. But when she called his hotel room, he had left to appear at a theater in suburban Chiswick.

Water Usage Still In Upper Brackets

Water use in Big Spring continued at a record pace Wednesday as the report showed 2,731,000 gallons for the day. The temperature reached 96. Last year, for the same day, three million gallons less were used. The total was 5,426,000 gallons.

State Orders Another Drastic Cut In Oil Flow

IN LEGISLATURE

Another Search For A Taxpayer

AUSTIN (AP)—Another search is on for a new Texas taxpayer, or one who can pay some more. More than a dozen tax bills officially started yesterday in the Legislature's money-hunting race. It has been underway 151 days.

The 21-member House Revenue and Taxation Committee voted to start work Monday. Chairman V. L. Ramsey refused a request that the $183,755,170 tax bill backed by Gov. Price Daniel get the first hearing.

"Others put in earlier requests and we have to go in order," Ramsey told Rep. George Hinson. Rep. Jerry Sadler got his bill set for public hearing first. It levies a one per cent gross receipts tax on manufactured products.

It will be heard Monday together with the administration's much-wanted abandoned property bill. Rep. James Bates of Edinburg again introduced a modified version of the twice-killed bill. Daniel said it will bring in 25 million dollars. It will allow the state to seize property abandoned seven years and now held by banks, pipelines, insurance and utility companies.

Hinson said his 183 million dollar bill together with the bookkeeping bill which became law yesterday will raise more than enough money to erase the state's 66 million dollar deficit and pay for 1960-61 operations.

He said that is based on the 315 million dollar figure tentatively agreed to before the first called session ended is four million dollars less than the Senate recommended and 19 million dollars less than the House wanted.

Hinson's measure includes these taxes and estimated revenues: Three per cent severance beneficiary tax aimed at pipeline companies, $31,340,115; increase corporation franchise taxes from $2.25 to $2.50 and revise the formula, $35,200,000; utilities gross receipts tax at 2.5 per cent, $15,000,000; increase motor vehicle sales taxes from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent, $15,018,814; cigarettes from 5 to 6 cents a pack, $21,084,741; liquor from $1.40 a gallon to $2.25, $14,000,000; wine from 1 to 22 cents, $2,111,500; cigars and other tobacco about 25 per cent, $23,600,000; radio, television and parts, $6,000,000; temporary corporation franchise tax increase, $13,200,000, and other minor revenues.

House members passed yesterday 83-39 their version of the state spending budget for 1960-61 and set tax hearings Monday in the wash of Gov. Price Daniel's renewed plea for quick action on the state's multiple problems.

Eleven of the 31 senators were on hand when the Senate met today. The House adjourned yesterday until Monday.

The Senate Finance Committee set a meeting at 9:30 a.m. Monday to substitute the Senate version of the appropriation bill for the House bill.

Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth advised the Senate he planned to offer an amendment to any tax bill passed by the house to add a penny a bottle tax on beer which he said would bring in 16 million dollars. He said he had the amendment prepared at the last session but did not offer it before the debate was cut off on the tax bill.

Senators quit until 11 a.m. Monday. So far there has been no expression from any House or Senate leader that the two are any closer together on a tax bill.

Sen. Charles Herring, sponsor of the administration's tax bill of the first special session, said he would have to see what the House sent to the Senate before deciding whether to handle it.

Herring predicted the Senate now is closer to accepting a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas than when the proposal was rejected a week ago.

Daniel resubmitted his same program which was generally kayed in the Senate. This included the severance beneficiary tax, the abandoned property or escheat bill and increased taxes on interstate corporations—all rejected by the Senate.

One new idea is a gross receipts tax increase on gas pipeline companies. "If you do not accept at least a 3 per cent severance beneficiary tax," the governor said, "I recommend your consideration of a gross receipts tax... based on all receipts in Texas and half of all receipts from interstate transmission and sales."

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, author of the administration's tax plan, submitted his bill yesterday which combines Daniel's program with part of the recommendations of the joint tax conference report. It would raise $187,755,000.

Daniel said 181 million dollars in new revenue is essential or the state government will bog down Sept. 1. He said the total can be cut 3 1/2 million dollars if the Legislature finds a solution by July 1.

"For every month of delay in the effective date of the new tax bill we must levy approximately seven million dollars in additional taxes for the next fiscal year," he said.

Daniel again hit at the "third house," particularly the natural gas lobbyists. "I understand some of the gas lobby has decided to make this session an all out fight against the governor and have even been so brazen to say 'We will have a tax made on the governor for

COPS HAVE DOGGONEDEST JOBS AT TIMES

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police man Kenneth Shipp had the doggonest time fighting a grass fire Wednesday. He hastily reported the blaze after spotting it heading for a large wooden house. In the backyard, he found about 50 dogs in kennels. He freed them and heaved each one over the fence to safety.

Then Shipp broke down the front door—and found the house full of dogs in kennels. More than 100, he estimated. It took him 15 minutes to empty the building.

After the fire was out, Shipp rounded up all the dogs. He never did learn the name of the kennel owner.

9-Day Production Pattern For July

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission again ordered a drastic slash today in the statewide July oil production allowable of 226,044 barrels a day.

The commission set the allowable at 2,666,771 barrels a day. The commission ordered wells run on a 9-day producing pattern for the month, compared to 10 days in June.

Most major oil companies told the oil regulatory commission that the market for oil has decreased. They must reduce refinery runs, they said.

Only two companies requested a boost in the allowable. The independents who testified at the monthly oil proration hearing also recommended a reduction. Ira Butler, Fort Worth attorney representing several West Texas producers, told the commission that unless the demand begins to catch up with production "We are headed for a worse year than in 1958."

"The situation is so critical we are facing pipeline proration if we continue to take out of the ground oil that can not be used, goes to storage, and this causes waste," said W. A. Moncrief Sr., Fort Worth independent oil producer.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson told the oil men crude oil and products are 59,010,000 barrels in excess of adequate stocks. About half of this is excess gasoline, Thompson said.

E. J. Henry of Houston, representing Atlantic, said that unless the company was able to find a market for crude in July and August "We will run out of available tankage for storage of crude oil."

Legislature's On Third Lap; What Went With The Purse?

AUSTIN (AP)—The second special session of the Legislature is off and running, but no one knows where.

House members passed yesterday 83-39 their version of the state spending budget for 1960-61 and set tax hearings Monday in the wash of Gov. Price Daniel's renewed plea for quick action on the state's multiple problems.

every day the Legislature is in session."

He received three solid rounds of applause sprinkled with cheers when he entered the House chamber, when he was introduced and at the conclusion of his address. It was easily his warmest welcome from the Legislature this year.

Mrs. J. B. Nall Early Resident, Dies Wednesday

Mrs. J. B. Nall, 81, who had made her home here for more than half a century, died at her home at 1400 Main Street at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

She had been seriously ill for the past two and a half months. She suffered a stroke and a heart attack on Dec. 8 which was followed by successive ones. Until then, however, she had remained extremely active for her age.

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday at the River Funeral Chapel with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery beside the grave of Mr. Nall, who died April 7, 1937.

Mrs. Nall was born Jan. 23, 1878 in Upshur County and was married to Mr. Nall on Jan. 19, 1896. They came to Big Spring in 1906 and she had lived here continuously since. Mrs. Nall was a member of the First Baptist Church, and her home and her family were the center of her interests.

Surviving her are two sons, R. L. (Poncho) Nall and J. B. (Buck) Nall Jr., Big Spring; four daughters, Mrs. Todd Crain, San Angelo, Mrs. Abe Bailey, Big Spring, Mrs. Elgin L. Nalley, San Angelo, and Miss Johnnie Mae Nall, Big Spring.

She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Emma Johnson and Mrs. Raymond Hubert, Coleman, and Mrs. Clara Randall, Austin.

Palbearers will be Byron Neel, Escol Compton, Murray Patterson, James Underwood, Joseph Hayden, Lee Porter, T. M. McKinney and Doris Mearns.

Protestant Sects Write Constitution

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Associated Press Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A constitution designed to unify two Protestant denominations was released today. It provides for regulation at the top and freedom at the bottom.

The document, proposed for the new United Church of Christ, has been a matter of keen interest. In setting forth a joint structure for the two bodies—the loosely affiliated Congregational and Reformed churches and the centrally organized Evangelical and Reformed Church—it combines elements of both.

It guarantees the autonomy of any congregation or local church in the management of its own affairs—including property, worship, and hiring or dismissal of pastors.

There has been a crucial point for the Congregationalists, some of whom have opposed the merger on the ground it might impair their traditional independence. The constitution was drafted by the Rev. Dr. Gerhard W. Grauer of Chicago.

It was mailed to delegates in advance of the United Church's forthcoming general synod July 5-9 at Oberlin, Ohio, so they would have it in hand by the time it was made public today.

It must be approved by that meeting, and then by two-thirds of the Evangelical and Reformed regional synods, and two-thirds of the individual Congregational churches voting to become effective.

Together, the two denominations include more than two million members. The constitution specifies that its provisions define and regulate the national church functions, but only describe the free and voluntary relationships of the local churches and regional groups.

Thus, in general, the traditional Evangelical and Reformed system is applied in the upper church echelons, while the customary Congregational freedoms are retained at the lower level.

Gen. O'Donnell Wins Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell Jr. today won a 12-1 vote of approval from the Senate Armed Services Committee for promotion to four-star rank and commander of the Pacific air forces.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said O'Donnell and Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas emphatically denied charges by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) that the general had smeared her and told half-truths damaging to her reputation.

The secretary and general appeared at a closed-door hearing of the committee to reply to a statement from the only woman senator.

Mrs. Smith opposed Senate confirmation of O'Donnell but excluded herself from a vote. Russell said the one opposing vote was a proxy left by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) who did not attend the session.

McMurry College Staffer Found Dead

ABILENE (AP)—Miss Julia Luker, a member of the original faculty of McMurry College here, was found dead in her home late yesterday.

She lived alone. A medical report said she died some time before noon. Miss Luker came here in 1923 when McMurry College opened, retired in 1954, and has been devoting her time to writing.

Abernathy Youth Is Winner Of WTPA's Scholarship

Don Jones, already the "right hand man" of a weekly publisher in his home town, is the winner of the 1959 journalism scholarship award of the West Texas Press Association.

Jones has just graduated from Abernathy High School, and holds down an important post at the Weekly Review.

The Hale County graduate will use his $400 scholarship to help his studies in journalism at Texas Tech. He will enter college this fall.

"To me, journalism is a most fascinating profession. It seems that the greatest possibilities for advancement lie in this field. Also, some of the greatest opportunities for civic deeds lie in the field of journalism," he said.

"... People are relying more upon the press today than ever before. To a very large extent, journalists are instrumental in pushing badly needed legislation, uncovering corruption in high circles, and in breaking down the bars of secrecy that have become so frequent lately."

In high school, he was a member of the National Honor Society, was a class officer and held a position on the student council. He was MYF president in the Methodist Church.

At the Review he is a Linotype operator, pressman, floorman, and staff writer. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jones. Wally Runner-up and first alternate for the scholarship is Bob Bowers, Levelland. In third place was Leslie Whiteley, Ballinger.

DON JONES

W. H. Graham of Farwell, chairman of the scholarship committee for WTPA, expressed his pleasure with the applicants this year. "It is the largest group we have ever had," he said.

The scholarship was begun four years ago by WTPA to promote journalism as a college study and career. The award is based on scholastic achievement, demonstrated ability in journalism and a bonafide interest in newspapering as a career.

Helping to select the winner this year were Graham; Wally Runner-up; and first alternate for the scholarship is Bob Bowers, Levelland. In third place was Leslie Whiteley, Ballinger.

In Business To Prove Her Brothers Wrong

By JOE BRENNAM
NOCONA — Miss Enid Justin, who went into business to prove her brothers were wrong, has been so successful at it that she has earned a unique place in American business.

Miss Justin—president of the Nocona Boot Co.—says she is the only woman in the United States holding such a position. She got the job in 1926 when her three brothers decided to move the family leathers goods company from this North Texas town to Fort Worth.

The company had been in Nocona since 1879, when H. J. Justin (later H. J. Justin and Sons) set up shop after the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway passed through the town.

"I didn't want to leave Nocona; it was my home town," Miss Justin said. "So, I decided to stay and run the business."

She made the decision against the advice of brothers John Justin Sr., the late Earl Justin and S. A. Justin, who moved H. J. Justin and Sons to Fort Worth and found themselves in competition with their sister.

The competition continues, although Miss Justin calls it "friendly competition—as friendly as competition ever is." Her counterpart with the Fort Worth firm is a nephew, John Justin Jr. "We started right out with a break," Miss Justin recalls.

The 1926 oil boom had hit the North Texas area, and the high-laced boots made by the Nocona firm at that time were "just right for the oil field men."

"When some of the men moved into other fields, they were walking advertisements for our company," she said.

The firm came through the depression and now has an average output of 800 pairs of boots daily. Production currently is limited to cowboy boots and Wellington-style half boots.

Miss Justin's firm is the largest payroll in the town of 4,500 employing an average of 80 to 100 people. Most of the employees are trained locally, and Miss Justin says they "love every minute of it." She feels the same way.

Another special guest will be the first employee of FHA, She is Minnie E. Dawson who became clerk in the new agency July 14, 1934, just seventeen days after it was authorized to set up business. Other employees who started in 1934 will also be guests at the meeting. The staff now numbers over 7,000 persons.

In its first 25 years, FHA has insured mortgages on nearly five million homes and 800,000 rental units. Dollar value on the FHA insured mortgages and loans totals about $3 billion dollars. Of this amount, 16.4 billions in home mortgages and two billions in rental project mortgages have been repaid.

The FHA operation is self supporting. All Treasury advances have been repaid plus 20.4 million dollars in interest. The agency has 700 million dollars in reserves.

Lyndon Vs. Nelson Could Be Ironic End Of College Grants

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has been lauded by two Northern colleges as a "most learned man" who is "... ever alert to strike down intolerance."

The praise was contained in citations accompanying honorary doctor of laws degrees conferred on Johnson by Brown University, Providence, R. I., and Bethany, W. Va., College.

Brown is the school from which John D. Rockefeller Jr., father of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, was graduated. Over the years, Brown has benefited by the elder Rockefeller's philanthropies.

What could be more ironic, then, should Democrat Johnson and the younger Rockefeller, a Republican, emerge as the nominees of their respective parties for the presidency in 1960?

Both have been mentioned as possibilities—Johnson to a lesser degree than Rockefeller.

The honor from Bethany cited Johnson as one whose "record in Congress shows that he did, and does his own thinking..." that he is "a person of prodigious energy..." who "has to live at a gallop" to keep up with his assignments, and that he is "ever alert to strike down intolerance."

The two LL.D. degrees were not the first Johnson has received, but they were the first to be granted by schools outside his native Texas. Southwestern U. at Georgetown honored him in 1943, and Howard Payne U. at Brownwood, in 1957.

The citation from Bethany, after quoting from some of Johnson's speeches on political and personal philosophy added: "It is indeed fitting and proper that this historic old college, founded by Alexander Campbell, who held strongly to those same principles of individual freedom, democracy, and self sacrifice, should honor a follower of Campbell, a member of the Disciples of Christ, at this, the mother institution."

The senator is the holder of a Bachelor of Science degree—not an honorary—from Southwest Texas State Teachers College in San Marcos, from which he was graduated in 1930.

AROUND THE CAPITAL: Rio Grande Valley Rep. Joe Kilgore can't miss the memos and messages that come in when he is away from his office. His staff tapes them over the back of his big high backed leather desk chair.

Fort Worth visitors to the office of Rep. Jim Wright find a big shiny gallon size coffee urn with faucet on a desk right when they enter. The staff sees that they sip while they wait, if Wright is busy.

Noted here for her sculpturing is Mrs. Alicia Neathery, whose husband is Jack Neathery of Farmersville, now a coordinator of information for the House of Representatives. Formerly with the State Department in Latin-American Service, Neathery met his wife in her native Colombia. They have a coffee plantation near Bogota and visit there during congressional adjournments.

Later Ernest will join an organized tour either in Paris or London and will visit as many countries in Europe as he will have time for in five weeks. He will be back at his desk at Rannels by the first of August.

shatter clay discs on either side. He also clipped a tiny twine string and snuffed out candle flames and picked off macaroni a stick at a time.

Sgt. Nail got interested in pistol shooting when he was in the Marines. After separation from service he joined the police force at Wichita Falls for a year and then went into the Texas Highway Patrol. He began shooting 14 years ago and about 10 years ago he began putting on demonstrations which offer ample proof that patrolmen can shoot if they have to.

Despite his uncanny accuracy with firearms, Sgt. Nail confessed that he has never gone hunting in his life. Lions concluded this was a good thing for game animals.

With him here was H. O. Winn, Pecos, safety officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety's education service.

B. M. Keese presided for his last meeting as president and was accorded a standing ovation in salute for his services.

The T&P Ladies Safety Council held the annual family picnic Tuesday evening in the Big Spring city park. About 125 members of the safety council and their families attended the informal gathering.

J. H. Williams, safety superintendent from Dallas, was special guest. The ladies prepared the covered dish meal, according to Mrs. John Flynn, president of the council.

Seldom Misses Shots, But Patrolman Never Hunted

For a man who has never been hunting in his life, Sgt. Jimmy Nail can draw a mighty fine bead.

The state highway patrolman who is stationed at Odessa gave the Downtown Lions Club a demonstration in the Settles ballroom of his shooting skill Wednesday noon. He was convincing, too.

Using a special funnel type back stop of baked steel to catch and disintegrate the bullets, Sgt. Nail fired .38 calibre charges almost unerringly at tiny targets.

Not only blasted spot targets, but he destroyed them with equal facility firing the target revolver upside down. To show that it wasn't the pistol, he used his regular issue sidearm to hit target after target.

Exhibiting steadiness and skill, he fired a shot at the exposed edge of a hand ax in such a manner that the bullet split to

FHA Cuts Figure In Local Home Building Industry

By GLENN COOTES

The 25th anniversary of the founding of the Federal Housing Administration is being observed Thursday as 16 trade and professional associations present an "Industry Salute to the FHA."

Big Springs, on an individual basis estimate the FHA underwrote directly to the tune of approximately $700,000 here in 1958. Local builders have estimated that about 20 per cent of all homes built here in 1958 were FHA financed.

There were 382 residences constructed last year at a total dollar value of $3,682,000. Using 20 per cent as a definite figure, it would set the dollar value of FHA homes at $736,400 for 76 houses.

There is no way of getting at the total amount of building here under FHA titles in the 25 years of the federal program. However, it runs into the millions of dollars.

Closing For Cleanup Starts

The Big Spring Public Works Department completed the trash hauling for the cleanup campaign in about nine days. However, drivers are still making call-backs to officially close the drive.

J. C. Robinson, department employee, said approximately 250 loads will have been made by the city trucks when the campaign is over. He explained that 212 loads were made during the nine days of the drive and 17 call-backs have already been made.

The cleanup was interrupted by the heavy rains which fell during the first week of the pick-ups. Some of the men assigned to the pickup trucks were pulled off in order to work on the streets which were damaged by the heavy rush of water, Robinson said.

It will take about 10 more days to finish the cleanup work, he said. The department received about 100 calls by people who said they were missed.

Some residents apparently were late in getting their cans out and the trucks had already gone by. Still others were probably not through when the trucks made the first pickups. These were some of the reasons given for the numerous call-backs.

Compensation Cases Are Filed

Raw Nerves In Mid-East: All Nervous Over Gains In Power

Editor's Note — William L. Ryan is winding up his eighth tour of the Middle East. On each visit he tries to assess the underlying elements of the news there and to appraise prospects in that cockpit of East-West contention. This is a summary of his findings.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

CAIRO (AP)—Nerves are raw in the Middle East. One thing is keeping the area from exploding into a crisis like the one that brought U.S. Marines to Lebanon last year.

The brake on everybody seems to be this: none of the participants in the developing contest dares to win too much too fast.

For all involved there are serious dangers connected with swift victories. Those victories already chalked up by one side or the other have themselves a vaporous, unreal quality.

This cautious, alert waiting may be connected with Geneva. It may continue at least until after this summer's talks. Then perhaps the cold war spotlight will swing back to the Middle East, and inevitably something must explode.

Possibilities for explosion involve Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Israel and the position of Arab leadership still held by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the United Arab Republic.

In Iran, the Persians apparently have set back the Communist timetable. The example of neighboring Iraq, where the Communists are almost in control, has moved the Shah and his government to strong defensive measures.

The Turkish and Azerbaijanian areas of northwest Iran offer the only likely prospect for a Soviet corridor to Iraq. With such a corridor, the Russians might exercise direct control over Iraq. But to move too swiftly now would mean either risking defeat or touching off World War III.

In Iraq the Communists had seemed willing and eager to take full control. Once again there was danger in winning too much too fast. The machine hold in Iraq would be tenuous. Events elsewhere in the Middle East could overwhelm the Communists at any time. Moscow then would have gained nothing in return for sacrificing gains made previously among the Arabs.

Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem, Nasser's opposite number in Iraq, has been built up to the role of hero, seemingly accepted as such by most Iraqis at the moment. The Reds helped build him up. If he should be removed suddenly, the Communists might feel forced by circumstances to move in.

Nasser has moved cautiously with regard to Iraq, unready to risk another defeat like that in the abortive Mosul revolt in March. Even should he be able now to provoke a counterrevolution in Iraq, the result might throw the whole area into turmoil, even threatening a general middle east war.

In Jordan, young King Hussein remains in constant danger of a coup against his throne. It would be executed in the name of the Pan-Arab nationalism which Nasser heads. But it is doubtful that Nasser wants any such victory in his name in Jordan in the foreseeable future.

Nasser cannot afford Jordan, its budget, its vast economic problems. With the memory of the Suez invasion of 1956 still fresh, Nasser likely is far from ready for a new showdown. If he lost that, it could destroy him. Israel seems intent on keeping Nasser off balance, unable to turn too much attention to his internal problems. Any Israeli thrust against Nasser could strengthen his position of Arab leadership.

AFTER MOSQUITOES

Fogging Machine Making Rounds

By BOBBY HORTON

It isn't the anopheles or the sporophora or the mansonina that's been harassing you the past few nights — it is the plain, non-disease carrying West Texas version of the pestiferous mosquito. Nevertheless, it's bite is annoying. The city public works department began waging its campaign against the flitty little critters last Friday and should have a once-over spraying finished in a few days.

The fogging machine — which is spreading a mist concoction of kerosene, diesel and malathion — will promptly turn around and start the same procedure again. It will run six days a week for at least the remainder of the summer.

Operators figure it takes about 10 days to cover Big Spring with the fog-distributing machine.

The machine recently broke down, and the delay in fogging is perhaps one reason mosquitoes appear to have gotten out of hand. Lige Fox, City-County Health Unit sanitarian, figures the best thing to do about the pests until the fogging machine gets to your area is to apply at least these remedies to your own home:

(1) Use an ordinary household insect spray around screens, porches, windows and air conditioners. Mosquitoes, Fox says, are less resistant to such poisons than flies.

(2) Spray an insecticide under bushes, shrubs and trees, the best harboring places for the pests. Cut down tall grass and weeds — mosquitoes don't breed there unless there is still water, but they certainly prefer hanging around in such spots.

(3) Empty and spray around water — catching buckets, cans, troughs and fill in stagnant ponds. These are the birthplaces of mosquitoes.

Fox adds that air conditioners are good harboring places and can be made mosquito-repelling by pouring a pine oil disinfectant in the water pan. A pleasant-smelling type can be obtained. Some people have tried kerosene and got a stinky home atmosphere as a result.

The City-County Health Unit, says Fox, covers stagnant ponds with oil. Sometimes small toss-out balls filled with poison are used. These balls burst in the water, spreading a lethal dose to the larvae.

Joint Revival Is Scheduled

GARDEN CITY — The Methodist and Cumberland Presbyterian Churches are joining in a community revival meeting here next week.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The song leader for the revival will be the Rev. David W. Binkley, Seymour.

From McKenzie, Tenn., the Rev. Billy Smith is coming to be the evangelist for the series of meetings. Pastors of the cooperating churches are the Rev. C. T. Jackson and the Rev. J. P. Smith.

Lease Proposals Are Invited For IRS Office Here

Office space is being sought by Uncle Sam for the Internal Revenue Service unit in Big Spring.

The General Services Administration, the government's "house-keeping" agency, has called for bids for leasing 660 square feet of net usable air conditioned office space.

Bids are to be opened at 2 p.m. on July 7, and the space must be delivered on September 30, 1959. GSA offers a lease not to exceed three years, but with annual renewal options.

Information on the invitation for bids may be had at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Internal Revenue Service offices currently are in the Permian Building.

Itinerant Gunsmith Peddles Popular Kind Of Insurance

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Scotty Mackenzie is one of the last of the vagabond tradesmen. He is a familiar sight to thousands of policemen in the market for cheap, reliable life insurance in the form of a smooth-working gun.

For 60 years Scotty has been an itinerant gunsmith. Now 76, he makes the rounds of police stations with his car and house trailer.

He quietly takes an officer's gun and for $1 returns it cleaned, oiled and repaired. The fee for shot-guns, rifles and machineguns is $2.

Officers look upon Scotty's gunsmithing as life insurance. He has never increased his fee.

Recently Scotty pulled into Bakersfield, entered the squad room of the California Highway Patrol, and spread his tools on a table. He was in business after a three-year absence.

Scotty was born in Boston, Mass. He went to live with an uncle on an Idaho ranch after his parents died in his infancy.

"I was 15 when I ran away from the ranch," he said. "My first real job was in the Colt firearms factory at Hartford, Conn., where I learned the trade."

Scotty has plied his skill in India, Australia, Canada, Alaska, Jamaica and Cuba. In Cuba he was given the rank of colonel while he reconditioned hundreds of weapons.

Among his clients he lists Teddy Roosevelt, Zane Grey, Bing Crosby and Clark Gable.

"Since the wanderlust got me," he said, "my home has been any police station."

In the 1920s, Scotty recalls, one of his gunsmithing jobs was far removed from police surroundings. He was approached by men requesting his aid at a "hunting club." He was whisked away in a dark limousine to a shack where he was kept busy for eight days.

"I couldn't leave, but they treated me well," he said. "When they let me go they paid me hand-

Later he saw the men's picture in a newspaper. They were members of Al Capone's gang.

Odessans File Damage Suit

A suit asking for over $55,000 in damages has been filed by a Midland couple against the Crawford Hotel and two Big Spring men.

The suit was filed Wednesday in 118th District Court here by Joe Lee and Willie Gentry. Defendants in the case are the Crawford Hotel Inc., George McGann and E. F. Tucker.

Willie Gentry is asking for $7,500 in damages while her husband, Joe Lee Gentry, claims damages of $51,000.

The couple claimed in their petition that they were beaten and assaulted while at the hotel on May 3.

He alleges he sustained a broken hand, broken ribs, and other injuries.

Blind Woman Seeks Fourth Canine Guide

HOUSTON (AP)—For the fourth time in her sightless life, Miss Mary Lee Chambers must soon make another long trip to find a dog that will guide her steps.

Babette, her faithful German Shepherd companion for nine years, died several weeks ago.

Before Babette there were Prim, who had to be retired after four years because of a lingering eye infection, and Betty, who died at the age of five.

Miss Chambers regrets that the South's blind must always go to the North, East or West to obtain trained guide dogs.

"A dog raised and trained in the South would be better adapted to this climate," she says. "It is cruel to expect a dog raised in some distant part of the country to stay healthy in Texas weather."

The loss of a faithful canine companion leaves a void that is suddenly deeper than blindness itself, Miss Chambers said. She operates the cigar stand in Harris County courthouse.

"We had a wonderful walk, Babette and I, on the day before she died," she recalled. "And then we found her dead the next morning. I can't go anywhere now without help."

As a child at the Austin State School for the Blind, she learned to read Braille music and became a competent pianist. She has been organist of the Calvary Baptist Church here for more than a year.

Holding to Babette's harness, she found time in recent years to go to a music teacher twice weekly.

Learning piano music by Braille is complicated, she said. "With your left hand you feel the notes that are to be played with the right hand, and then you use the right to feel what is to be played with the left."

"After that, you make both hands play together—if you can." Miss Chambers hopes to interest someone in training guide dogs in the South. The best dogs, she says, are usually female German Shepherds.

"Blind people who live in the North, East or West can go back for periodic retraining of a guide dog."

"But those of us who live in the South can't do that. It costs too much, and long trips are an ordeal both for us and our guide dogs."

Was Babette the favorite of the three dogs she has owned? "They were all favorites," Miss Chambers said. "I loved them all alike."

Babysitter Sues

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Sol E. Handler, 60, is suing his daughter and son-in-law for $25,000 because he fell out of a chair while babysitting at their home.

Senators To Make Certain Planes Fly With Loaded Guns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators set out today to make it as certain as possible that American patrol planes fly with guns loaded and in working order in the future.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) joined Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (R-Tex) in a demand that steps be taken to see to it that no American plane again is as defenseless as the converted Navy antisubmarine plane strafed by Communist MIG fighters over the Sea of Japan.

"Our planes should be fully armed and have their guns ready to fire if they are attacked," Bridges said. "We are going to investigate this situation and see what can be done about making certain that our men can fight back immediately if they are fired on."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, are top members of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. Johnson said this group, which he heads, will decide on the basis of a Navy Department report what course it will take in the inquiry.

Navy airmen said Wednesday that a communications mishap and two useless gun mounts in their patrol plane had left them at the mercy of the Communist fighters when their one operative gun in the tail assembly was knocked out. The tail gunner was wounded before he could fire a shot.

Adm. Wallace M. Beakley told a Senate hearing Wednesday that all naval planes are under orders to return any attack. Beakley, deputy chief of naval operations, said the attacked plane did not return the fire because its tail guns were shot out.

There was temporary disagreement over why other guns in the fore part of the plane and atop its fuselage were not working.

The plane's pilot told newsmen in Japan that needed spare parts for these two turrets hadn't arrived in time.

But the Defense Department said the forward turret had been purposely taken out of commission and the other removed to make way for special reconnaissance equipment, presumably radar or camera devices.

After the Washington announcement U.S. naval headquarters in Japan put out a statement saying that "the bow (forward) turret had partially been replaced by special detection equipment." It did not elaborate further.

But even if the forward guns had been working, they would have been of no use against the fighters, the Navy said.

In a report to Chairman Richard Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, it said the forward guns in the slow patrol plane "are for the purpose of strafing submarines on the surface and are of no value against fighter aircraft."

Johnson said the fact that members of the crew were unable to defend themselves must be explored thoroughly.

"It seems incredible that equipment which should be elementary in any military plane exposed to such hazards should be missing," he said. "Americans will insist not only that the facts be brought to light but that we have strong assurances that our men will not again be defenseless."

The Detroit Free Press reported in a Washington dispatch that the Navy has been holding its planes and ships together "with baling

Women Increasing Stock Market Role

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Those women you see in stockbrokers' boardrooms in increasing numbers are not just resting their feet.

They're buying stocks in ever greater volume. In the list of Americans who have bought their first share of stock in the last three years, housewives lead all the rest. Women shareowners have outnumbered men for some time. But they have increased their lead since 1956.

Some four million women classifying themselves as housewives now own stock, the biggest single group in the New York Stock Exchange's 1959 census of shareowners.

This shows that women now are 52.5 per cent of all adult shareowners, compared with 51.4 per cent in 1956 when the last census was taken. Altogether there are 12,490,000 men and women who have at least one share.

Among the newcomers to corporate stockholders lists since 1956 women outnumber men by 56.3 per cent to 43.7 per cent.

Altogether there are 6,347,000 women shareowners in the land, the stock exchange estimates through its survey, or about 11.5 per cent of the nation's adult female population. Three years ago 4,260,000 women held stock, or 8.1 per cent of their total number.

Of all women shareowners 1,275,000 are housewives who have jobs outside the home.

The increase in working housewives could be one reason that women are more and more involved in the stock market. Women have more money nowadays to spend — and to invest.

Another could be that women live intimately with inflation. As handers of the family spending they know what has happened to their bills and to the purchasing power of their dollar. Many may look on stocks as a good hedge against this.

Capital gains through rising stock prices appeal to them, too, as compared to fixed interest returns on other investments.

Brokers add that their women customers are active bargain seekers — although finding bargains in stocks has become harder to do in a soaring bull market.

While the career girls and the other women employed in business are taking to the stock market, too, it's the housewife who is the shining light in the boardrooms these days. They now total one third of all the shareowners in the land. Their numbers have increased by 170,000 since 1956.

Next largest groups of shareowners are proprietors, managers and officials; professional and semiprofessional; and clerical and sales. There are many women among each of these three occupational groups.

Many employed women got their stocks through employee stock purchasing plans. Some 1,340,000 of both sexes are now investing regularly under these plans, and an estimated 2,500,000 shareowners got their first shares in this fashion.

Many women own shares in more than one company. Corporation books list a total of 14,429,000 female owners, along with 7,289,000 joint accounts. The total of stock shares held by women comes to 2,013,000,000.

Host To Gang Gathering Takes Secrets To Grave

JOHNSON CITY, N.H. (AP)—The man who played host to one of the largest gatherings of gangsters in the annals of crime in this country died Wednesday night.

Joseph Barbara, who suffered a heart attack May 27, carried with him to the grave another key to the mysterious meeting of 60-odd hoodlums and friends at Apalachin, N.Y., on Nov. 14, 1957.

The 53-year-old, short, once-swarty, bespectacled Barbara, shriveled and paled by illness, had lived on the fringes of death since he fell unconscious at his home in nearby Endicott May 29.

He lost the fight for his life at 7:35 p.m. But he won his fight never to divulge the sinister meanings behind the crime cabal at his plush, hilltop estate.

Despite repeated efforts to have him break his silence, Barbara evaded questioning by pleading illness.

Only last April it looked as though state investigators finally had him cornered. A State Supreme Court justice ordered Barbara, ill or not, to testify before the State Investigation Commission, an agency that has managed to jail some of the delegates to the underworld meeting for refusal to talk. No date was set for Barbara's hearing, however.

In his only public appearance after the gangland meeting, Barbara, looking drawn and haggard, sat silently in a wheelchair in U.S. Dist. Court in Syracuse April 27 while his attorney entered an innocent plea for him to charges of evading payment of nearly $40,000 in federal taxes.

Auto Anti-Theft Law Gets Teeth

AUSTIN (AP)—A new law may help reduce auto theft in Texas. The law goes into effect Aug. 11. It makes unlawful the driving of another person's vehicle without permission. Conviction carries a 3-year prison term.

Last year 15,402 vehicles were stolen in Texas. In 1948, there were 7,855 stolen. National statistics indicate about 67 per cent of the theft arrests involve persons under 18, Garrison said.

MILWAUKEE LEAD IS CUT TO HALF GAME

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's with the Milwaukee Braves? They've lost 10 of their last 15 and have been shut out three times in the last five games. Is this the beginning of the end to their hold on the National League pennant? Or is this just another of those slumps, such as they had and shrugged off while winning the flag the past two years?

Either way, they have only a half-game edge left from what was a bulging, 4½-game lead a month ago after dropping a two-night doubleheader at Los Angeles Wednesday night. They were checked on five hits by lefthander Sandy Koufax while losing the opener 10-2, then were blanked on two hits by Danny McDevitt, another lefty, as the Dodgers took the second game 4-0.

That put second place San Francisco, a 7½ winner over Cincinnati, just one game behind in the sweep, one game behind in the sweep, one percentage point behind Pittsburgh after the Pirates' 5-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs. Both the Dodgers and Bucs are only 2½ games from the top.

St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 10-4 in the other NL game. As a refresher, the Braves blew almost all of an 8½-game lead with a 3-8 slump in early September before winning the flag in 1957. Last year they dropped nine of 15 at this same stage of the race but came out of the spin by building a quick 3½-game lead.

They blew that, too, before taking over for good in July. They're lost behind their best pitchers in this present skid, with Lew Burdette dropping two, Bob Ruoh trees, and Bob Buhl one. In Wednesday night's opener, southpaw ace Warren Spahn failed to finish a five-run first inning for his third defeat in his last four decisions.

The Braves, getting a first game home run from Johnny Logan against Koufax (3-1), who gained his first complete game while beating Milwaukee a second time this year, had only a pair of singles by Hank Aaron in the nightcap. McDevitt (5-6), walked three, struck out two.

Los Angeles broke through a two-hit shutout by Joey Jay (3-5) in the seventh of a bases-loaded walk and an infield out, then added two in the eighth off Bob Trowbridge on a single by Don Demeter and Gil Hodges' double.

The Giants broke a 2-2 tie with five runs in the sixth against Orlando Pena (3-5) on three singles, one a two-run smack by Willie Kirkland, three walks and an error.

Cal Neeman, who singled and scored the tying run in the seventh for the Cubs, hit a three-run, inside-the-park homer in the eighth to beat Pirate southpaw Harvey Haddix (4-5), who has lost three to Chicago. Bill Henry (5-3) won it in relief.

The Cards made it 9 out of 11 with Ray Jablonski and Bill White each driving in three runs. A five-run fifth put it away against reliever Humberto Robinson (1-1) while lefty Marshall Bridges held the Phils to five hits and one run for a winning, 5 1/3-inning debut in his major league return.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

By finishing as runnerup to Frank Mackey of Colorado City in the Snyder Invitational Golf tournament last weekend, Big Spring's Bernard Rains won himself a set of Gene Littler woods.

Bernard didn't particularly need them. He already had two sets, would have preferred a combination of irons, especially since he lost his No. 5 club some time ago and someone picked up his No. 3 iron by mistake at Snyder and made off with it.

Bernard made his finest showing in the Snyder meet. He had rated the championship flight (the Big Spring Invitational two years ago) in only one previous tournament and then went to the semi-finals.

He was very happy with his game at Snyder, figured his putting kept him as close as he was in his final duel with Mackey.

Rains was surprised when his semi-final foe, Gus White Jr., used a wood on a relatively short approach on one hole—surprised, that is, until he learned that Gus has played a lot of polo in his time and is used to stroking the ball with a wooden mallet.

Bernard hasn't been able to practice as often as he would like this summer, due to the fact that he has gainful employment with the local schools.

At Snyder, he was playing before the first gallery ever to follow him during his relatively short career as a linkster. He wondered for a while whether the crowd would cause him to tighten up. It didn't to any degree.

Midland will play host to the seventh annual International Jaycee Tennis Tournament in 1960, it has been announced.

This year's International is being conducted at Phoenix, Arizona. West Texas will have its share of national and international sports events next year. Big Spring will be host to the National Junior College track and field meet while Odessa will again have the National Judo golf tournament.

The Carmine Basilio-Gene Fullmer Middleweight championship fight may be held any number of places but it won't be in Chicago. Basilio thinks Chicago is a "tough luck" town. He's never won a bout there.

The likeliest spot right now is Salt Lake City.

HCJC has already lost of the eagles who signed a letter of intent with Coach Harold Davis.

Barry Oxford, the HCU Fort Worth Poly star, has announced he will accept a four-year scholarship at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Bill Scott, the HBU coach, had told Davis he would be in a position to offer Oxford a scholarship for two years if HCJC would take him first but, from all indications, Scott had one more scholarship than he originally thought he'd have.

Buddy Travis, HCJC's new coach, said one of his biggest jobs would be to sell one of his prize catches he already had signed for Clarendon JC. The athlete was already working at a hospital there during the summer.

The Houston football patrons are being told that the Sept. 19 game there between Rice Institute and LSU will be the "biggest opening game in the Owl's history."

LSU, of course, was the National champion last year and returns most of its team intact.

Rice's big problem will be finding seats for everyone who wants to see the game.

The game is booked for national TV.

Shier Pharmacy Purse Is Ruidoso Friday Feature

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. (SO) — Ruidoso Downs will start its fourth weekend Friday with racing attendance as one of New Mexico's leading tourist attractions still seeming above all expectations. The influx of new thoroughbred stables, plus track improvements, seem to have made the "Sport of Kings" more attractive to every one.

The top thoroughbred feature for Friday is "The Shier Pharmacy Purse" — a 5½ furlong event that drew an evenly matched field of runners with early lick. Comic Turn, owner-trained by a local resident, Joe Welch, seems the probably favorite — was a recent winner and looks good. Madero's Dream, carrying the colors of H. G. Wells of Tucson, Arizona, also won his last out. Miss Dana, belonging to Texan Ben W. Peoples, has been running well and seems well placed here.

Roger Mills was a two-time winner in Ohio last fall — ran a fine 870 here — would surprise no one if he should come home free while the remaining challengers are: Fiddling Doll, Tray Bar, Tackajax, Atlas Glory, Jane Pere and Glyn Joyce.

Cotten In NAAU

DENTON (AP) — North Texas State College will be represented in the National AAU meet at Boulder, Colo., Friday and Saturday by John Cotten, two-time 440-yard champion of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Champ Grades His Fights

CHATHAM, N.J. (AP)—If Junior's report card wasn't up to snuff, don't blame the teacher. Just give thanks that Floyd Patterson wasn't grading the papers.

The heavyweight champion must be the toughest marker in the world. He once gave himself only 11 per cent in one of his title defenses. In fact the highest grade he has ever handed out was 70 per cent for his effort against Archie Moore the night he won the crown.

"Right now, I'd say I am 100 per cent," he said Wednesday after finishing a four-round workout. "Before a fight you can't settle for anything lower. But after it is over, I'm going to mark myself lower."

What was that again? Does the champ grade himself after every fight?

Cus D'Amato, his manager, interrupted.

"He bases 100 per cent on what he thinks a perfect fighter should be able to do," said Cus. "He'll never reach his peak because he asks so much of himself."

"After every fight I grade myself," Floyd said. "After Moore it was 70 per cent. That had to be my most important fight. It was the night I won the title. Against Hurricane Jackson the second time I gave myself 65."

"Roy Harris? (he shrugged as though disgusted with himself). I gave myself about 11 that night. And Brian London? Oh, about 45 per cent."

Eagles To NCAA

DENTON (AP) — Four North Texas State College golfers will compete in the NCAA Tournament which begins Sunday at Eugene, Ore. The four are Rives McBee, Bill Eschenbrenner, Larry Flowers and Sonny Ewing.

Ronnie Smith Lashes Two Homers As Dodgers Win

Shut out for the first two innings, the Dodgers came on strong in the late stages of the contest to clobber the VFW, 11-7, in a National Little League game played here Wednesday night.

V. T. Whatley was on the mound for the Dodgers. He rationed out only five hits to the Vets but had trouble getting out the sixth inning, at which time the losers ganged up on him for four runs with the aid of only one hit.

Horace Smith had two of the Vets' five hits while Ronnie Smith crashed out three safeties, including two home runs, for the Dodgers. Catcher Alvin Clanton also had three hits for the winners. One of them a double.

In minor league competition, the Red Sox turned back the Aces, 15-10, after giving up seven first inning runs to the Aces.

Withdrawals Cause Turmoil At Track

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Turmoil was the word for racing at Hollywood Park today — most of it over two starts of the meeting. Kentucky Derby winner Tom Lee and stakes winner Hillsdale, who is one of the finest riders in the world, but I do not like the manner in which his agent, Harry Silbert, gave me his word that Shoemaker would ride Tom Lee and then put "Shoe" on another horse.

Neither Shoemaker nor Pierce, whom Turner absolved from any blame for Tom Lee's poor race, cared to comment.

Silbert reiterated that his only verbal promise to Turner was that Shoemaker would ride Tom Lee in the Hollywood Derby and later, the Arlington Classic at Chicago.

Fallon, who said he was backed up by his boss, G.W. Smith, was furious at the 132 pounds handed Hillsdale for the Saturday feature.

"What do they think I am, an idiot?" Fallon declared. "After 30 years around a race track I won't take this."

"You can say," Fallon concluded, "the horse is able and wants to run Saturday, but he won't."

MIERS ON MOUND

Jets Claim 13th Victory In Row

The Jets won their 13th straight American Little League game here Wednesday night by defeating the Pigs, 4-1, behind the two hit pitching of Freddie Miers.

Three of the Jets' victories have come in the last half of the campaign.

The only run Miers gave up was a leadoff home run in the first inning by Tommy McMahon in the first inning.

The defeat left the Pigs with a 2-1 win-loss record in last half standings.

Melva Davis Has High Loop Game

A new summer bowling league, the Tuesday Tumblers, was organized this week and the first round of bowling completed.

Team Four took the lead with a 4-0 win over Team Three. Team Five dropped the Sixes, 3-1, while Team One tied Team Two, 2-2.

Melva Davis had a 232 high game and Joan Makiewicz had a second-running 190. Joan's 479 was high series, too.

Team Six had a 584 game and the Fives had 544. Spits were converted by Wanda Watson, 5-7; Marie Pate, 5-6-10; Pat Drake, 4-5, and Dot Henderson, 7-5-4.

Officers were elected during a meeting beforehand. Chosen president was LaVern Casey; vice president, Sharon Spargo; secretary-treasurer, Gladys Bailey; sergeant-at-arms, Marie Raughley; a reporter, Woody Winn.

And Hillsdale may skip out and race elsewhere.

Turner, the fiery oil and cattle baron from Midland, Tex., announced that Tom Lee would not race any more this summer and that he will get out of the game to the extent of selling 14 other horses in his stable at auction July 13.

Turner was still boiling over the fact that Shoemaker did not ride Tom Lee in the $50,000 added Cinema Handicap last Saturday but was booked instead by Silbert to ride Sword Dancer in the $100,000 added Belmont Stakes.

Sword Dancer won the Belmont and Tom Lee, with jockey Don Pierce aboard, ran sixth in the Cinema.

Turner said plans for Tom Lee are indefinite.

"I leave with no hard feelings toward jockey Bill Shoemaker,"

To Fight In Cuba

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Jose Medel, number one challenger for the national bantamweight title, plans to go to Cuba for a fight July 4 against Oscar Suarez while waiting arrangements for a championship fight with Jose (Toloco) Lopez, newspapers reported today.

Texas, Oklahoma Play Under Way

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The Texas-Oklahoma Golf Tournament was to get underway today with Johnny Arreaga of Baylor on hand to defend his title.

Glenn Fowler of Oklahoma City is co-favorite with Arreaga in the ninth annual tournament which will be played on the par 71 Week's Park golf course. The Baylor flash defeated Fowler in a sudden death playoff last year.

Qualifying rounds were set for today.

Back for this year's tournament are the other two finalists of the 1958 tournament — Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., and Gene McBride of Wichita Falls.

Arizona To Play Okla. St. Nine

OMAHA (AP)—Oklahoma State and Arizona meet tonight in the championship game of the NCAA college baseball world series with each seeking a first title. Oklahoma State moved into the championship round via a 4-0 win over Fresno State Wednesday night.

Both Arizona and Oklahoma State have won three and lost one in the double elimination tourney.

O's Youngster Cools Off Detroit Tigers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Young Milt Pappas has his first major league shutout, and he couldn't have picked a better time to nail it. The big right-hander, 20, put it away with the best pitching of his brief career Wednesday night for Baltimore, dropping Detroit's Tigers 4-0 with a two-hitter and halting the Orioles' skid in the American League race. Pappas, signed two years ago off the Detroit sandlots, struck out six and didn't walk a man. He had a perfect game going until Lew Burberet got the first of the Tigers' two singles with two out in the fifth inning. The other hit, in the sixth, was by Jim Bunning, who allowed only four Baltimore hits and had a perfect game for 4-1-3 innings. But he lost for the third time in his last four decisions. Pappas retired the last 11 men in a row while gaining a 6-3 record. That left the fourth-place Birds, who have lost five of seven since tying for first last week. 3½ games behind Cleveland's league-leading Indians, whose game at Boston was postponed because of cold weather. The loss barred the Tigers, who had won three straight, from a second place tie with the Chicago White Sox, beaten 7-3 at New York. Washington escaped a last-place tie with Boston by beating Kansas City 7-2. The Orioles, who had lost three straight, broke through Bunning's perfect spell when Gus Triandos and Chico Carrasquel hit solo home runs in the fifth inning. It was Triandos' 18th, giving him at least one against every club in the AL this season, and Chico's third. A single by Al Pilarcik, Gene Woodling's triple, and an error produced the other two Orioles runs in the seventh. The fifth place Yankees returned to .500 with their second straight over the White Sox. Mickey Mantle's 14th homer, a two-run wallop into the third deck in right field at Yankee Stadium, capped a wrap-up, five-run second inning against loser Ray Moore (1-5). Bob Turley (6-7) made it six straight over the White Sox since August, 1956, but needed Ryne Duren's relief over the last 2-3 innings.

Virgil Akins Badly Beaten

By GENE PLOWDEN
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Cubans in the Miami area today hailed what they called "the new Kid Gavilan" in the person of Luis Manuel Rodriguez, a lanky, fast-punching youngster from Camaguey. Rodriguez soundly whipped former Hialeah champion Virgil Akins (Honeybear) Akins of St. Louis in a 10-round nationally-televised fight Wednesday night and made a solid impression in his first appearance in this country. Kid Gavilan ruled the welterweight division from 1952 to 1954, and Rodriguez, 22 years old, hopes to follow in his footsteps. The young Cuban is unbeaten in 22 fights and operates much on the order of the speedy Gavilan. Using a flurry of left jabs and right hooks, Rodriguez won all but a couple of rounds in the opinion of Referee Cy Gottfried and two ringside judges. About 2,600 saw the fight in the exhibition hall.

Warren Cantrell Hired To Plan Course Here

Warren Cantrell of Lubbock has been retained as architect for the new golf course being planned by the Big Spring Country Club. Cantrell is one of the Southwest's best known links architects. He also doubles as treasurer for the Professional Golfers Association. At one time, Warren was associated with Olen Puckett in a local architectural firm. Although final arrangements for the land have not been completed, there is every indication the Country Club will build its course back of South Mountain near the area that was once known as New Wells and which, at one time, supplied most of the water for Big Spring. If present plans crystallize, it will be located about two miles east of Highway 87.

The Big Spring Country Club recently sold its present property south of the Veterans Hospital for $250,000 to an Odessa group, which announced it will convert the land to a sub-division. R. H. Weaver, president of the Country Club, said the new site apparently had an ample supply of water, in fact, had about six producing wells within its confines now. Cantrell has been instructed to plan for an 18-hole course. The course, as planned now, will be built across rolling plains and Cantrell said it could become one of the most beautiful in West Texas, in time. The Country Club is also planning a new clubhouse, complete with eating facilities.

ICK WAS ORIGINALLY MICK

Steer Of 30 Years Ago Reminisces On Game

By BOBBY HORTON

One of the Big Spring High School athletes from "way back when" can remember a day when cleats were made of leather, when Big Spring was a B class school and when the school changed its mascot to a Steer.

ICK MANUEL

V. L. "Ick" Manuel, a rough and ready 175-pound left guard for the Steers in 1929, left Big Spring after he graduated and stayed away 30 years. He moved back last fall, returning for the company he has called boss for some 20-odd years. Universal CIT Credit Corp. "Ick" picked up his nickname while in school here. "The football boys started calling me Mick, I think, and later shortened it to 'Ick'. When I moved away people started calling me Ick and most still do. But there's a lot of old timers who still call me Ick," says the former Steer lineman. Time rusts a man's memory something terrible but Ick can still pick out a few of the old names he used to call teammates. His senior year — 1929 — there was "Ox" Heblson at right guard, now deceased. "Ox" Johnson — both were big animals — played tackle. It seems like Ed Settles was an end, and — oh, yes — Settles still resides here.

Burma Barley filled the center position and "Red" Cootes quarterbacked the club. Red now owns a drugstore or two in Dallas, says Ick. Red in his day could punt a ball out of town.

"We just played football for fun in those days," grins the heavy-set Ick. "It wasn't business-like as it is now. You know, they've just changed it up all around and high school and college football is nothing like it was."

Rules, for instance, have evolved. Ick recalls the old passing regulation where two completed passes in the same series of downs drew a five-yard penalty. Equipment later became streamlined.

Cleats, as Ick remembers, were several leather strips tacked together on the shoe. Later came the wooden cleats, then the rubber and plastic kind and finally aluminum.

The football shoe is the one piece of equipment which really has changed very little, he adds. Helmets were the leather, close-fitting type which had one piece of sponge in the top. Suspension-type plastic headgear were unheard of. There were no nose-guards either.

Four or five injuries in the season was par for the course. "The season wasn't really underway until I got my nose busted," he says. One year Ick wrenched a knee that later cut short a football career at Texas A&M. He received the injury most common of all grid athletes — in a game against Lubbock one wintry day.

Ick also suffered a dislocated shoulder and broken nose in the football warfare.

There "warn't no medics" around then either. The common procedure, says Ick, was to douse a downed man with water and walk him around until his senses cleared.

In 1926, however, Alf Collins' dad, Dr. T. M. Collins who practiced medicine then, helped patch up the injured, sometimes. Alf, now a druggist here, coached that year.

Big Spring was a B class school in the 20's, Ick remembers. Big places like Abilene comprised the A class and those of the size of Colorado City and under were in the C division. Usual foes then were about the same as now: Sweetwater, San Angelo, Colorado City, Lamesa and Lubbock. And then, as now, the Steers stepped out to play top-notch teams like Abilene, Cisco and Ranger.

Most of the time the Steers ran the single wing, double wing and attempted the Notre Dame shift formation. Those were practically the only formations known.

"We gave up on the Notre Dame shift," recalls Ick. "It took a lot of silent counting and moving at the right time and our boys just weren't mathematic-minded enough to learn it."

The team traveled on two buses, an old Jewett and a Studebaker. Actually, they were sedans with an inserted mid-section and extra-seating. The boys occa-wet and soggy. To the east, in the area where the West Texas Wrecking Company stands, was another. Its field was hard as rock with no grass. Finally there was a field on the northside — the only one which was sodded — in the water tower area around the U. S. Experiment Station.

The Steers formerly were the Jayheers but in 1924, Coach Joe Ward — a University of Texas lad, naturally — changed that. Frank Boyles of Baylor coached in 1925. Alf Collins was mentor in '26. In 1928, Ick's last year, Bill Stevens moved over from Lamesa. He had been an ACC star, like Collins.

Ick recalls a few of the boys he played with who are still around this area: Roland Schwartzbach, Curtis "Dog" Driver, and Perry Johnson. Frank Jones and Jess Fuglar have since died.

Ick left A&M in the depression of 1929 and went to work for a Kilgore automobile company where he stayed until 1937. Since then he has worked for Universal CIT.

He married a local girl in 1932 and they have a 10-year-old daughter, Patti Sue.

Turley, who has been suspected of having a "dead arm" by Manager Casey Stengel, struck out six in the first two innings but then tired quickly. The big right-hander, who won 21 last year, finished with nine strikeouts, walking four and giving up eight hits. Carmilo Pascual (5-7), who had lost three in a row and hadn't won since May 27 despite five consecutive complete games, handed the A's their fourth consecutive loss with an eight-hitter. He fanned eight and was backed by two-run homers from Rookie Bob Allison and Rene Bertola. It was Allison's 17th, Bertola's eighth, and boosted the Senators' AL leading total to 80. Ned Garver (5-5) lost it.

Dedication Is Set For Golf Course
EASTLAND (AP)—The Lakeside Country Club's ninth annual invitational golf tournament June 26-28 will be dedicated to the late Butch Morrell. Morrell, 22-year-old Cleburne golfer, won the tournament last year and two weeks later died of a heart attack while playing golf at a Galveston country club.

Ethel Barrymore Dies In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Ethel Barrymore died today.

Death came to the famed stage and screen actress as she slept in her home in Beverly Hills. She suffered from a chronic heart condition.

With her was her son, Samuel Barrymore Colt.

Miss Barrymore, 79, long was known as the queen of America's royal family of the theater. Her two equally famous brothers, John and Lionel Barrymore, preceded her in death.

She had been relatively inactive in recent years, but still took an occasional film role.

Ethel started on the stage at the age of 14 and went on to become a great Broadway leading lady and one of the most famous beauties of her time.

In 1928 a New York theater was built and named in her honor. She acted in London, made Hollywood movies, and had her own radio show. Her throaty contralto voice became known to millions all over America because of extensive road tours.

In later years, she turned to character roles and played scores of these with distinction.

Hollywood paid her its top trib-

Turnpike Crash Kills 6 People

AUBURN, Mass. (AP)—Six persons were killed Wednesday night on the Massachusetts Turnpike when an automobile leaped the dividing strip of the dual highway and was rammed by another car.

Three persons, two of them children, were critically injured.

The dead included Jerome Makara, 57, of Springfield; and his wife, Cora, about 55.

Their children, Geraldine, 15, and Edward, 11, were injured.

The other dead were Springfield employes of Monsanto Chemical Co., returning home after a day's deep sea fishing off Boston.

Midland Will Host Police Chiefs In 1961

ABILENE (AP)—R. T. Runyan, Corpus Christi chief of police, was elected president of the Texas Police Officers Assn.

Corpus Christi will be host to the 1960 convention and Midland was named 1961 convention city.

Other officers elected included: First vice president, Jess Cariker, chief of police at Odessa; 3rd vice president, Harold Wallace, chief of police, Midland; 4th vice president, Ray Stone, chief of police Longview; 5th vice president, Gus Krausse, chief of police, Brownsville.

The convention named Price Daniel, 10, son of chief of police of Wichita Falls, its mascot.

Child Drowns When Car Falls Into Lake

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—Kyle Ross, 5, of Pecos drowned yesterday when a car plunged into Balmore Lake, 45 miles southwest of here.

His grandfather, Asst. Dist. Atty. Warren Castle Sr. of Dallas, was in a hospital in good condition.

Castle said he blacked out from what he believed was a heart attack while driving his convertible car on a road beside the lake. The car left the road and plunged into the lake.

Gets 4-Year Term In Girl's Death

FORT WORTH (AP)—A four-year prison term was assessed Roy Boatwright, 40, after he was found guilty of assault to murder in the shooting of Linda Vincent, 14, last March 22.

The girl was shot in a gun battle during which her father, Floyd E. Vincent, was killed. Boatwright is charged with murder in the father's death.

Boatwright contended he wounded the girl accidentally while firing at Vincent in self defense.

Good Response To New Registration For Fun Clubs

There has been a good response to reopening of registrations for Fun Club activity in the citywide recreational program.

Bobo Hardy, executive secretary of the YMCA and director of the summer program made possible by the United Fund, the Big Spring Independent School District, City of Big Spring and others, said a substantial number of youngsters had been signed up.

The Fun Clubs are run at different areas in the city two times a week. They are for children of ## elementary school age, Hardy said that vacations and drop-outs after that opening of the program created new places for youngsters.

Enrollment for the second session of swimming instruction will begin at 9 a. m. to 12 noon Saturday at the Y and will continue through next week. All registrations for this must be made at the YMCA. Instruction for the beginners and the intermediate swimmers will begin on June 29.

4-H Rodeo Plans Will Be Mapped At Meets Tonight

Plans for this year's annual Howard County 4-H Club rodeo will be mapped at a meeting tonight, Jimmy Taylor, county agent, announced.

To be present are the 4-H club rodeo directors and the adult committee. The 4-H directors are Delroy Buchanan, Harry King, Skipper Driver, Rodney Brooks, Jake Coleman, Wanda Boatler, and Tommy Newman. On the adult committee are Jess Thornton,

James Barr, M. H. Boatler, Lloyd Robinson, and J. W. Overton

The group tonight will discuss dates for the show, the events, stock, and other problems. Taylor said that discussion will be given to holding a horse show prior to and not in connection with the rodeo.

The 4-H rodeo is strictly a club project; no outside help is received, Taylor said, from civic clubs or other groups.

Heavy Docket Faces CTC

The Citizen's Traffic Commission will discuss a wide variety of traffic problems at the regular monthly meeting set today at 7:30 p. m. The CTC meets in the class room of the police department.

Up for discussion will be the possibility of increasing the settings for the traffic signals on Third and Fourth streets. The signals are presently set for about 18 miles per hour. The CTC will consider the advisability of changing this to 25 miles per hour.

Part of this change would include erecting signs along both streets advising motorists of the change and the signal speed. James Eubanks, executive secretary of the commission, said the change in signal speed might relieve some of the congestion.

The commission will also discuss changing the traffic speeds in other parts of the city. Several locations have been earmarked as possible locations for yield signs and stop signs.

Bandit Captured

John Coyle, 21, is brought out of the woods by state police moments after the Philadelphia bandit was captured with his younger brother near Middleboro, Mass. John wears a police coat after he was stripped of clothing on capture. Brother William later died of bullet wounds.

BROTHER BANDITS

Trial For One, Grave For Other

WAREHAM, Mass. (AP)—Desperado John J. Coyle, 24, whose brother, William, 22, was killed by police in Middleboro Wednesday, was turned over today to police of Philadelphia, his home city.

There he will face a charge of murdering a Philadelphia policeman.

Coyle waived extradition before Judge L. Francis Callan.

Coyle pleaded guilty in a barely audible voice as the clerk of the court read off a series of complaints charging him with assault with intent to murder two Massachusetts policemen; armed robbery and assault with a dangerous weapon; kidnaping; larceny of an automobile; and with being a fugitive from Pennsylvania justice.

Coyle's younger brother, William, 22, was mortally wounded by police in an exchange of gunfire at the edge of a Middleboro cranberry bog Wednesday.

John dropped his two guns and surrendered within 12 state troopers, all with guns blazing, pumped four bullets into the younger Coyle.

Each of the Coyles had fired on the police with guns in both hands, but none of the troopers was touched.

The gunfight ended one of the most intensive manhunts in Massachusetts history. More than 300 policemen had kept the Coyle brothers in a five-square-mile swampy woodland since last Monday.

They had fled into the woods after exchanging shots with two policemen who tried to nab them for robbing a nearby liquor store and firing a shot into the store's counter. As they fled they abandoned a hostage they had held captive, nearly foodless, for 10 days.

William Sedgwick, 49, said he had been grabbed in Philadelphia June 6, and driven in his car, while tied in the back seat, to Massachusetts.

Police said the Coyles were fleeing after they had shot to death Patrolman James Kane, 27, who had spotted the brothers stealing milk from front porches.

John Coyle said his brother had shot Kane and added: "I was prepared to shoot the officer if he had survived."

The surviving brother showed no remorse when informed William was dead. He told police: "Well, you killed him, you worry about burying him. We have no relatives."

The end of the long manhunt came when Walter Schmidt of Union City, N. J., glanced out the window of his mother-in-law's home and saw a man crawling in the nearby brush.

Schmidt telephoned police, and in a moment three state police cruisers were on the scene. The officers alighted with drawn pistols and carbines, and the battle began when the Coyles were spotted barely 15 feet away.

Later John Coyle said he and his brother had seen Schmidt through the window and intended to take him as a hostage for their getaway if he would only step outside. Schmidt went to the telephone instead.

Navy Jets Return Home

Aircraft from the Naval Air Station at Kingsville were winging their way back home Thursday morning.

Eighty-five of them, mostly jet type planes, had been flown here Tuesday evening to escape the brunt of Hurricane Beulah. The big blow went inland further south than anticipated when the planes were evacuated.

Liaison officer for the safety flight to Webb AFB was Lt. Comdr. W. W. Sheehan.

Claims Case Filed In District Court

A compensation suit asking for over $8,500 has been filed in 118th District Court.

C. E. Isaacs and Mary Isaacs filed the suit against the Travelers Insurance Co. The case stems from an injury Mary Isaacs claimed she received while working for Woolworth here.

The petition stated that Mary Isaacs was injured while stooping to pick up a box while working on May 31. She is asking for $21.60 per week for 401 weeks as compensation.

Lamesa Evening Lions Install Officer Slate

LAMESA — Some 70 Lions, their wives and guests were on hand here Tuesday night to see the new slate of officers of the Lamesa Evening Lions Club installed.

The dinner affair was at Lamar Forrest Community Center.

Harry Bruner, electrical contractor, took over the reigns of the club, replacing the retiring president, J. D. McAmis.

Other new officers are Jimmy Edwards, first vice-president; Billy Corbin, second vice-president; Charles King, third vice-president; David Williams, secretary; J. W. Lowrey, treasurer; Earl Goen, tail twister; Art Ayres, Lion tamer; and Leroy Goolsby and Ray Braswell, directors.

C. W. Tarter, superintendent of Lamesa Schools and longtime Lion, was the speaker.

Trio Questioned On Checking Count

Three Negro women arrested here Tuesday afternoon in connection with a check case at Post have been returned here for questioning.

Two of them were taken to Post Wednesday, said Deputy Sheriff Fern Cox, but were returned the same evening.

Cox said one made a written statement about a check written on Ruth Kirkpatrick in the amount of $131.36, and another made a statement about passing of a check.

Rogers Returns From Police Meet

About 1,000 policemen from over the state attended the annual convention of the Texas Police Association at Abilene this week, according to Police Chief C. L. Rogers.

Rogers returned from the meeting late Wednesday after a three day attendance.

"It was a very educational and interesting meeting," he explained. The policemen voted to hold their 1961 meeting at Midland. The 1960 meeting is set for Corpus Christi.

Graveside Rites For Gonzales Child

Graveside rites were to be held at 2:30 p. m. today for Johnny Gonzales, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy F. Gonzales of Luther.

The baby was born Monday and died this morning. Officiating at the rites was to be the Rev. Adolph Metzger, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Besides the parents, the baby is survived by a sister, Diana; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Baillio Gonzales, San Antonio, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Garcia, Vealmoor.

Bible Class Fund Gains A New Gift

Another contribution was received today for the high school Bible Class fund.

A $5 gift from the T. E. L. Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church pushed the total received to $1,719. These voluntary contributions finance the Bible non-denominational course because tax funds may not be used for instructional purposes.

Minor Accidents On Police Report

Two minor accidents were reported to police Wednesday this morning. There were no injuries reported and damage was minor.

A mishap in the 700 block of Main involved Guy Simmons, 611 Johnson, and Louis Earl West, Odessa. It occurred about noon Wednesday.

This morning about 8 a. m., an accident in the alley in the 400 block of Main involved Patricia Young, 1201 Lloyd, and Fred V. Allen, Abilene.

Abilene Firm Low On Colorado City Bank Building

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Bids from eleven general contractors were received in Colorado City Thursday afternoon for proposed construction of a new bank building for the City National Bank.

Low bidder was J. W. Nelson, Abilene, with $279,920.00. Newton Construction Company, Odessa was second low with a proposal of $289,700.00. Directors of the bank conferred with the two low bidders for consideration of plan alterations to reduce the figure to the budget outlay for the new building.

General contractors submitting bids included Suggs Construction Co., J. D. Jones Construction Co., and A. P. Kaech & Sons of Big Spring. Plans were prepared by the architectural firm of Wyatt C. Hedrick, Ft. Worth.

Brigittie Weds, Mayor Nervous

PARIS (AP) — Brigittie Bardot and Jacques Charrier were married at the town hall of suburban Louveciennes this morning by a nervous mayor.

The ceremony was almost an anticlimax in the complicated scenario the couple had improvised in their effort for secrecy.

Charrier said Tuesday they had already been married. Anne-Marie Bardot, Brigittie's mother, confirmed that Wednesday. But she refused to be specific about where or when the ceremony had been held and no one was able to find a record of the event.

The sexy 24-year-old movie star met Charrier, 23, while they were costarring in their latest movie.

She previously was married to director Roger Vadim and only recently broke her engagement to guitar player Sacha Distel.

Brigittie and Jacques calmly said "oui," but Mayor Fernand Guillaume muffed his lines. The couple broke out into giggles.

Rash Of Billfold Losses Reported

Missing billfolds dominated the police report this morning with three different reports coming in Wednesday and this morning.

Brenda McMeekin, 1004 Goliad, told officers she lost her billfold in a downtown store about 9 p. m. It was recovered later in a trash can in the alley behind a cafe.

Joe B. Boyd, Webb AFB, reported his billfold taken from his basket at the swimming pool.

This morning, Deanna Rogers, 205 Park, reported her billfold taken from her front porch.

Another theft involved three watches. Patsy McNew, 104 Algerita, said the watches were taken between 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Wednesday. She told officers entry to the house was made through a rear door.

Hamilton Funds To Issue Dividends

The board of directors of Hamilton Funds, Inc., has declared the regular quarterly dividend of three cents per share from ordinary income on both Series H-C7 and Series H-DA shares. The dividend is payable July 31 to shareholders of record noon, MST July 1.

An estimated $750,000 will be distributed to more than 100,000 Hamilton shareholders all over the world, compared to 63,000 shareholders a year ago. This brings total dividends paid on Series H-C7 shares in the last 12 months to 13 cents from investment income and 12 cents from securities profits.

During the same period, Series H-DA Shares have earned 12 cents from investment income and 12 1/2 cents from securities profits. Total assets rose from $72 million to $126 million during the year.

DEAR ABBY

GIVE HIM A HINT

By ASIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: On October 10, 1958, I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. I know this girl got the gift because her mother said she did. But as yet I haven't received a thank-you note from the girl.

Her mother said a bride has a year in which to acknowledge her wedding gifts. Is that a fact? This girl had plenty of time before the wedding to sit down and send out over 300 wedding invitations to people all over the country (she didn't know half of them) but she can't find time to thank them for the gifts. What is my next move?

MRS. L.
DEAR MRS. L.: The next move is hers, not yours. The well-bred bride acknowledges her wedding gifts within thirty days after she returns from her honeymoon trip.

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to send for your pamphlet on "HOW TO GET BOYS TO NOTICE ME" but my father says too many boys notice me as it is. I am ten years old but sometimes I pass for twelve. Dear Abby, can you help me with my problem? I would like to have boys notice me.

NOT NOTICED
DEAR NOT: Girls your age have a lot of time in which to be noticed. Be your sweet 16-year-old self, and let Nature take its course.

DEAR ABBY: If those immature parents who squabble over who should meet their son when he comes back from overseas had a real worry, they wouldn't have time to think about such a trivial thing. The important thing is that the boy is coming home—I met my sons at the train—two of them. But they were in boxes, draped in flags.

Sincerely yours,
HATTIE HAMILTON

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment for seven years and we have watched a little golden-haired girl grow up. She is now 18 but is childish in many ways although she is as developed physically as I am. I work odd hours at the hospital around the corner. Many times I will come home and find this neighbor girl sleeping on our day-bed. She says she is afraid to sleep alone.

My husband is young, good-looking and only human. While I trust him and realize this girl is sweet but simple-minded, how long should I put up with this? I tell my husband it doesn't look right but he kids me out of it. Please advise me.

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: Doesn't this "sweet but simple-minded 18-year-old child" have parents? Tell her in words of one syllable that your husband is not a baby-sitter for 18-year-olds and be sure your husband understands that YOU are NOT kidding!

"Why don't my parents trust me? For What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know, send 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Strike Fails

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Spanish Communists failed today in their attempt to stage a 24-hour general strike in protest against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Reports from labor centers throughout the nation showed even less absentees from work than normally.

Miami Area Is Damaged By First Tornado In 10 Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Greater Miami area's first tornado in 10 years struck near bedtime Wednesday night, leaving at least 100 persons injured, some of them seriously.

"You just don't get that kind of damage from a straight wind," said forecaster Paul Moore in identifying the vicious storm.

It was the first twister to hit the southeast Florida coast since the late 1940s when a tornado ripped up property during a hurricane, Moore said.

Scores of backyard homes were left in wreckage amid tangles of tree trunks, signs and overturned automobiles as the storm leapt over a 12-mile path. Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes.

An 11-year-old boy, Frank Vaselotti, was reported in critical condition with head injuries.

Nearly 60 persons, some seriously hurt, were treated by hospitals, police, and civil defense units mustered on a disaster footing. In all, about 100 were hurt, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

No one was reported killed. Hardest hit was a four-block residential and business area around the 79th Street causeway where police Sgt. Stewart Cooley estimated the loss would run at at least to one million dollars. It missed downtown Miami.

L. S. Pope, picked up bleeding on the causeway, said he was on the second floor of a five-family dwelling when its roof blew off. His bed was flung into the air.

Don Shoemaker, who lives in the area, said: "I've been through two tornadoes and have never seen anything like this. It looked like a bomb had hit."

Mrs. Nola Cone, 40, scrambled out of wreckage of her bar with six patrons, shaken but unhurt.

"I've seen Oklahoma tornadoes but none like this," she said. "I heard this roaring sound and yelled 'Everybody hit the floor and get under something.'"

"Then it struck. Bottles flew through the air. The cash register—it takes two men to lift it—fell off the counter. Parts of the ceiling fell down.

"The tornado must have lasted two minutes. As soon as it let up, I shouted 'Count off. I want to hear seven voices.' And, thank God, they all spoke up. We got out of there."

John Brandt, 54, said he and his wife were in their small apartment when something wrenched their front window out of its frame.

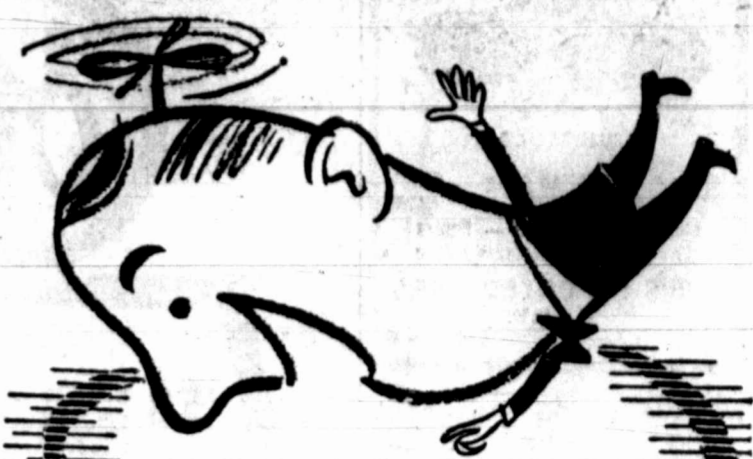

"We ran into the bathroom," Brandt said. "I braced my back against the door and my feet against the bathtub. If I hadn't the tornado would have been in there with us."

City police, sheriff's deputies, a Florida Highway Patrol detachment, and Civil Defense auxiliaries shunted curiosity-seekers away from the area and guarded against looting from stores and homes where building fronts stood wrenched open.

"Everything we had is gone—levelled," said Dr. George Ferro. "My $40,000 house is destroyed. There's a grapefruit tree where our living room was—our pool's been ripped out of the ground."

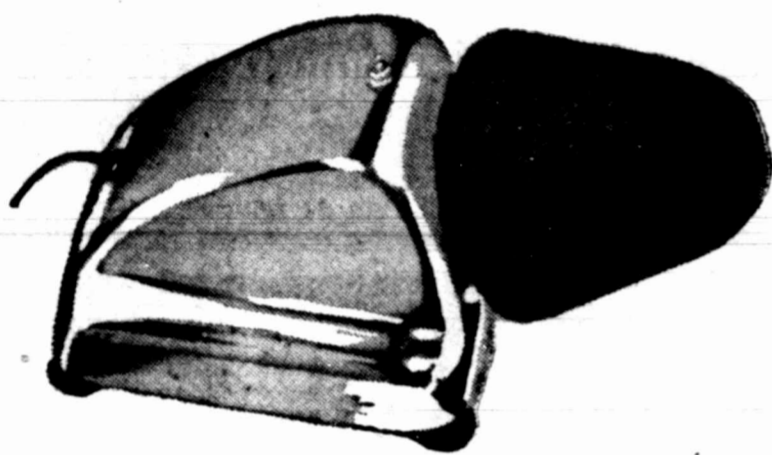

In a single block of north Bayshore Drive, in the area of greatest destruction, more than a dozen automobiles lay overturned or crumpled. Some had been slammed against buildings.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1959 SEC. B

Those Easy Jobs Are Out, Pupils, Now You Can Relax

LUBBOCK — If you're a junior or senior high school pupil who's been wondering if you'll be able to start in a $300 or $400 per month job when you graduate, from college — relax. The chances of doing so are going to start dropping rapidly, a visiting lecturer, Dr. Robert J. Havinghurst, at Texas Tech declared. The day of recruiters coming on-campus and taking almost everyone they interview already is over, the noted University of Chicago psychologist points out. An era in which the sparse birth rate of the depression-ridden 30's has been matched with a rapidly expanding economy is coming to an end. Trained manpower is catching up with market demands, even with a continually expanding market.

Walker Bailey At School Meeting

COLLEGE STATION (Sp)—Walker Bailey, superintendent, Howard county schools, Big Spring, participated in a school conference at Texas A&M College, June 15-17. He was one of the leaders for a panel discussion on "Teacher Education Programs in Texas." Bailey is a member of the legislative committee of the Texas Association of County Superintendents. More than 500 school administrators, teachers and supervisors attended the annual joint conference of the Texas School Administration Association, the Texas Association of County Superintendents and the Texas Association for Instructional Supervisors.

Tech Band Revives Reed Making Art

LUBBOCK — The ancient art of reed making for musical instruments has been revived at Texas Tech's summer band school. Teen-age oboists and bassoonists are learning to make their own intricate double reeds for good reasons. Commercial reeds cost about $2.50 each. Do-it-yourself reeds cost about 50 cents for the original mouthpiece plus 15 cents for each reed replacement. They produce a purer tone. When oboes or bassoons are played every day, a reed lasts about two weeks.

Dr. Havinghurst, a Chicago psychologist, says the changing situation has some good points. Never has the pressure on young people to mature been greater than it has been in the past decade and a half, Havinghurst reminded. Perhaps with the lure of an easy job at a high starting salary gone, young people can grow up in a more leisurely pace rather than race toward heavy job responsibilities. Youngsters may continue to mature early from the standpoint of social sophistication, but don't look for them to do so in choosing careers, he said. On the other hand, there always will be top jobs immediately for the most gifted college graduates. That means new efforts are needed to spot the gifted in public schools and encourage them to attend college. He said counseling with pupils was becoming more important.

Attorney Freed In Bribe Case

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — An Amarillo attorney, Joe Billy Brock, 35, was acquitted here last night of conspiring to bribe a juror in a murder trial. The all-male jury deliberated 5 hours and 10 minutes before returning its verdict of innocent. Brock slapped his attorney, Herbert C. Martin, on the back and said, "You rascal, you pulled this one out."

Attorney Freed In Bribe Case

Mrs. Brock broke into tears at the verdict. Brock was the second of five Amarillo men to be tried here on a charge of venue in the case. Roy Joe Stevens, Randall County judge and an Amarillo lawyer, was previously acquitted.

Kiwianians Elect

DALLAS (AP)—Albert Tully, 48, a Mobile, Ala., lawyer and former U.S. attorney, will be Kiwanis International president for the next year.

84 Bracero Users In Contract Trouble

Eighty-four employers of Mexican National agricultural workers in Arkansas and Texas were found in violation of various provisions of the Standard Work Contract and the Migrant Labor Agreement with Mexico during May. Regional Director Ed McDonald of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security in Dallas made the announcement. Field representatives of the department secured payment of $4,286.47 from 54 of those employers to bring them into compliance with their contractual agreements, he said. Of this total, $3,126.50 was for correction of Contract Article 4 (wage) violations involving 34 of the 54 employers. Other irregularities involved record-keeping, employment guarantees, transportation, furloughs, and housing. Many employers, he said, voluntarily took corrective action.

MEAD'S FINE ENRICHED BISCUITS

Summer Pleasure

There is nothing like a barbecue outing at your favorite picnic spot to lift you out of the summer doldrums. A simple, folding grill like this, a cooler of cold beverage, your favorite meats for barbecuing—that is all it takes for a wonderful, one-day vacation away from home.

Barbecue Outing Can Be Ideal Channel For One-Day Vacation

It's a Barbecue Outing... wonderful, one-day vacation. The backyard grill is fine and handy, but wouldn't it be pleasant to take off once in awhile and enjoy the same good eating away from home? You don't have to be fencible to enjoy eating out!

All you do is pack that portable grill and take off on a barbecue outing. To Lake J. B. Thomas or Moss Creek, to Birdwell or City Park, to Scenic Mountain-top—any place at all!

All your favorite barbecue ingredients are available at your market: Pre-packaged or frozen or offered in individual portions. No doubt about it... the conveniences of modern food distribution methods make it quick, easy and simple to enjoy the best eating under the sun, away from home.

If you are among the 81 per cent of American families who eat outdoors in the summertime, you will surely enjoy a relaxing day-long outing, high-lighted by the sizzling, over-the-grill cuisine of your choice.

A cooler packed with good food and beverages, a lightweight folding grill—that's all you need. All your little hearth desires is a few sticks of dry wood and a match. In no time at all, you'll sit down to tempting steak, hamburgers, or franks, or whatever you usually barbecue on the backyard grill.

Right now, your neighborhood grocery store or supermarket is featuring complete displays of cook-out foods and accessories. Take advantage of this bright idea in summertime fun, that's catching on from coast to coast. Whether you keep the cold beer by your side or make it a part of your barbecue recipe too, you'll have a good old summertime.

The point of your outing is to have fun. So take along foods that are easy to prepare and you'll have plenty of time to relax in the sun, go swimming, or explore the countryside.

You don't need special equipment either. The meats may be barbecued on a rack or a flat metal plate, such as a sturdy cookie sheet. Support these on large, flat stones, bricks or two logs.

When you get your grill set up and the fire going, try these easy, tasty recipes:

PICNIC PATTIES

Season each pound of ground beef with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper. For extra juicy hamburgers, add 1/4 cup cold water per pound of meat. Shape patties before leaving home and wrap in waxed paper. For easy separation, place a square of waxed paper between each patty. Fry on hot greased grill.

BARBERPOLE FRANKS

Wrap each frankfurter with a strip of bacon and fasten with a toothpick. This can be done before leaving home. Fry on a hot greased grill, turning to cook bacon on all sides.

BARBECUED BOLOGNA

Slice bologna 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick and brown on hot greased grill. While slices brown, spoon barbecue sauce over them.

Complete the menu with buns, olives and pickles, crisp celery and carrot sticks, a salad if you wish, coffee, milk and fresh cherry pie.

Here's a recipe for a good barbecue sauce to spoon on the bologna as it cooks. Make it at home and carry to the picnic spot in a jar.

PICNIC BARBECUE SAUCE

1 tsp. fat
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup catsup
2 tbsps. vinegar
1/4 cup water (optional: beer)
Cook onion in hot fat. Add all other ingredients and simmer, uncovered, for 10 minutes.

It's Falstaff Time

Time for a Barbecue Outing

Wherever you roam, it wouldn't be a barbecue away from home without beer. And Falstaff is always beer at its brilliant, refreshing best... enjoyed from coast to coast for its extra-fine quality... premium quality.

Take a case along... 24 cans of the choicest product of the brewers' art.

Mineral Oil Works As A Face Cleanser

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—I was visiting at CBS the other day and passed a blonde in the hall who I thought was Janet Leigh but when I saw her later on "Trackdown" set she was introduced as Barbara Eller. "I can't see the resemblance but even the cameramen remark about it," she said. It was the end of the working day for her and she asked me if I objected to her removing her make-up while we talked. I watched her use a mineral oil first. "It cuts the grease but stays on the top of the skin. You know your pores can't absorb mineral oil," she explained. Then she washed her face with a liquid, and showed me the bottle. "This is the greatest. It's not a soap but lathers like it. It used to be sold with a prescription only but now you can get it at any good drug store. Until I started using this I had little bumps under my skin. "I'm a native Californian," Barbara confessed. "I grew up in the sun—with a tan most of the time—but now I'm paying for that by having very dry skin." She picked up a jar of moisture cream. "I always use this after I wash my face and it keeps my skin from becoming too dry." "Your complexion looks good to me," I said, examining it closely without make-up.

"I am so pleased," she admitted, "because I have had a problem with it." She spoke of the obligation of making oneself as attractive as possible for others. "I believe in moderation, plenty of rest, good grooming and learning all the glamour tricks. But I think what really appeals to others is personality. There is charm at any age," Barbara observed. "That's why I can look in the mirror and admit I'm older without any frustrations. "If you try to understand yourself and others, if you are interested in events and people, you will have something to offer that is much more important than whether you're young or old," she concluded. Lovell Complexion For You. You, too, can have a lovelier complexion by following the simple routines offered in Leaflet M-55, "Complexion Magic." Your skin must be nourished from inside as well as out. Here in Leaflet M-55, is a five-point program: 1. Food 2. Rest. 3. Breathing correctly. 4. Disposition. 5. Habits—of which all are important to build and keep a clear, beautiful complexion. Tech Horticulturist Advises Mum Division

LUBBOCK—Now's the time for the division and planting of chrysanthemums to make yards and gardens brighter in the fall, a Texas Tech horticulturist advises. Ed Zukauckas, assistant professor of horticulture at Tech, reminds gardeners that purchased seedlings or divided mums may be set out from June 10 to almost the end of July with success. "Planting now," he said, "will give the average South Plains homeowner and gardener an opportunity to have mums ready to enter in Tech's Fall Horticultural Festival slated Oct. 17-18." Many of the better Tech-tested mum varieties are now available at Lubbock plant dealers, he added. Based on the large number of inquiries about varieties seen last year in the Tech trial beds, Zukauckas predicts a great number of gardeners will be planting mums this summer. Undivided chrysanthemum plants should have been cut back at least once by this year, he said. Mums in the chrysanthemum trial gardens this year will be from divisions planted in the next week. Cuttings are slated for planting later this month. "This year the Tech mum trial beds will have approximately 150 previously untested varieties. These have been added to the 40 to 50 more outstanding varieties grown in past years," the horticulturist said. He said the trial area has been enlarged and changed so the plants will be in more typical, garden-like beds. New varieties of petunias, to be introduced next year, are being planted in the area between the greenhouse wings. Interested gardeners are invited to visit the trial areas.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Throughout the city at this season, the lacy leaved mimosa trees are putting on their delicately tinted pink flowers and giving a decorator's touch to the yards they grace. Years ago, the only shade trees other than the native walnut and hackberry were Chinaberry and locust. Of course many planted fruit trees, peach, plum and apricot, but not many tried apple or pear. Some of the mulberry trees that I remember being a blight during my childhood are continuing to be a blight. This bearing-type tree is stately and beautiful and puts out a heavy leaf but is the biggest pain in the neck when the berries ripen and drop. I like mimosas better.

are busy themselves this week entertaining their little granddaughter, Barbara Carol Berry, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berry of Lubbock. They plan to take her home Sunday.

MRS. H. R. PICKLE, who has been here several days with her sister, Mrs. Chester Matheny, will return to Lubbock Saturday.

Guests in the home of MR. AND MRS. CHOC JONES, 603 West 18th, were former residents, MR. AND MRS. HAROLD STECK of Midland, who drove over Wednesday for the day.

MRS. TOM SOUTH, LACY AND TOMMY, are in Ruidoso visiting Mrs. H. R. Schwarzenbach and her children, who are spending the summer at the resort.

MRS. ROSS BOYKIN, MRS. R. C. HALE of Carrollton, and MRS. DAVID HODNETT and her children, spent Wednesday in Lubbock visiting the former Martha Sue Medley.

Another Lubbocker visiting here is MRS. LAURA BAKER who is a guest in the MILLER HARRIS and J. B. PICKLE home. She is a sister of Mrs. Pickle.

CHAPLAIN AND MRS. C. O. HITT and their little granddaughter, Monta Ann Hitt of Fort Worth, left Wednesday morning for their favorite vacationing spot, Tin Cup, Colo. It's high, 10,154 feet, and cold, 27 degrees, almost every morning. The conveniences are few and far between but this is the Hitts' chosen spot. They will be joined there this weekend by MR. AND MRS. BOLING HITT, Clark and Bart.

The Reasons

There are four reasons why a butter-type cake may fall in the center: too much fat or sugar; too much baking powder or other leavening; too slow an oven; not baked long enough.

Bon Voyage Party Given Jane Cowper

A Coke party, given Tuesday afternoon for Jane Cowper, was a bon voyage affair, as she left Wednesday for New York to begin a trip to Europe.

Judy Carson was hostess for the informal gathering of school friends at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Arch Carson, 110 Cedar Road.

Sandwiches and Cokes were tied with ribbons to represent the French tri-color, and gifts presented to the honoree were wrapped in pages of French newspapers.

Miss Cowper, with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, and sisters, Sally and Brenda, will leave New York by plane on June 24 for Europe, where they will spend about two months.

Sewing Hints Are Given Fairview HD

Advice on the selection and care of sewing equipment was shared by Mrs. O. D. Engle with the Fairview HD Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. N. Adams.

A steam iron is a helpful sewing accessory. Mrs. Engle pointed out, and corrosion can be prevented by treating the iron with ¼ cup of water and 2 tbs. vinegar. Also, a sturdy ironing board is an asset. Dressmakers will find pleater pins most satisfactory for their work but, if these are not available, pins which may be inserted easily into silk fabric will do nicely.

Mrs. Adams gave the devotion from Luke 13. Twelve answered roll call to this question: Does your family eat a good breakfast? The July 7 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. F. Sellers.

Bridal Tea Compliments Miss Overton In Forsan

FORSAN — Compliments continue for brides-elect, with Lorita Overton being named honoree at a kitchen shower Tuesday afternoon in the O. W. Fletcher home. Hostesses for the party were Sherrill Fletcher, Jan Fields, Ginny Dee Scudday and Janet Gooch. They presented the honored guest with a corsage of white carnations tied with streamers on which were miniature kitchen gadgets. On the refreshment table, an ecru cloth was a background for an arrangement on a reflector. A bridal couple stood under a parasol hung with wedding bells and to which a path of wedding rings, laced with pink ribbons, led. On the mirror were scattered favors of tiny rings tied with pink and green. Gifts were displayed by the hostesses alternating in the various tasks of hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Overton are parents of the bride-elect, who is to be married on June 26 to Mac Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woner Robinson, Snyder Highway, Big Spring. Vows will be taken in the First Baptist Church here. Among the guests at the court-ess were the prospective bridegroom's sister, Zena Kay Robinson.

Miss Boyd Honored

Fellow students of Helen Faye (Punky) Boyd surprised her Wednesday with a bridal gift and an informal social at the Betty School of Beauty in Midland, where she is in training. Miss Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Boyd, 1303 Rannels, will be married on Aug. 7 to Gary Tidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tidwell, 1510 Main. About 30 joined in the festivities at the school, and refreshments stressed the honoree's chosen colors, pink and white.

Attend Art Guild

About six local women attended the meeting of the Permian Basin Porcelain Art Guild in Midland Sunday at the Palette Club. Thirty-two members were present from several surrounding towns. The next meeting is slated for July 15 at 7 p.m. in Lamesa. The evening session is a change from the regular time of the gatherings.

Forsan Club Begins Work On Project

Work on the project for the coming year has already been started by the Forsan Study Club.

Members met at the community center Wednesday morning to investigate requirements for refurbishing the building and then gathered in the school cafeteria for a business meeting and social hour.

It was decided to meet at the center at 8 a.m. Tuesday for a clean-up period of two hours. Another plan made is for a bake sale to be held at the Forsan Drug Store Saturday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. Proceeds will go into the treasury for the work on the project, it was announced.

Daughter Is Born To Billy E. Plews

Mr. and Mrs. Billy E. Plews, 1003 Broad, are parents of a daughter, Tammy Ann, born in Malone & Hogan Hospital Tuesday evening. The baby weighed six pounds 13 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Painter, Old San Angelo Highway, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plews, East Highway 80, Mrs. Oscar Lyles is the paternal great grandmother, and Mrs. Joe Gill of Nocona the maternal great grandmother.

couple of areas to explore, gift-wise. He may prefer old-fashioned gifts like shaving preparations, but a fussy type is likely to be a creature of habit too, so how can you get him some of the new fangled grooming items?

Well, don't let it throw you. You can usually teach a dad new tricks if you are aggressive about it, and now is the time to get that man out of the rut.

Acquaint him with some of the masculine scented toiletries sold over good grooming counters. Many soaps, after-shave lotions and colognes are concocted with that shock-proof ingredient for first timers—light scent, perceptible enough to please the lady of the house, if the man doesn't object.

The packages in men's toiletries are attractive with great eye appeal as a rule, a wonderful advantage for the gift giver. But you can dress up one even more, if you like.

One snappy decoration, a waistcoat, is easy to cut out from gift wrap. Fasten a boutonniere to it—a cornflower made from a few strips of sheer ribbon which sticks to itself when moistened, piled one little strip on top of another for the flower effect. Gift wrap books available at stationery counters offer many good wrapping tips for that man's present.

It's a good idea not to get a strong smelling scent in toiletries for a man unless you know he likes it. There are the soaps on a cord that may be hung around the neck for easy handling in the shower, and other individual toiletries to suit his type. The boxed toiletries in matched scents are a good idea. One spicy scented one, for instance, includes shave lotion, talcum, spray deodorant and hair-groom tonic in travel-light plastic containers. If dad is keen about hair preparations, don't miss the opportunity to supply him with his favorite hair dressing, shampoo, new brush and comb set. He'll love your thoughtfulness.

Eggs Merit Gentle Care In Cooking

Bountiful production of eggs is yielding tremendous nutritional bargains to watchful shoppers. Homemakers are using them lavishly, knowing full well they are rich in protein, vitamins A, B and D, and have a rich store of iron and phosphorus.

Eggs should be treated correctly. In storing them, it is best to keep eggs in a covered container, away from strong-smelling foods. Without cover, eggs lose moisture faster and may absorb odors. It is advisable to keep them always in the refrigerator, since eggs stored at room temperature may lose as much in quality in three days as those kept two weeks under refrigeration.

The fundamental rule for cooking eggs is to use low to moderate, even heat. When cooked at too high temperatures, eggs tend to become leathery and tough. Another cardinal rule for egg cookery requires that, in making custards or other dishes calling for hot milk to be added, the egg should be mixed with sugar and not with the milk.

Add hot liquids or mixtures to the beaten egg a little at a time. Do not overcook.

Pork Is Enhanced With Fruit Sauce

For families who like fruit served with their meats, here is an offbeat recipe for Skillet Pork Chops. Notice that canned fruit cocktail is stirred into a sauce to complement the flavor of pork.

Try it:

SKILLET PORK CHOPS PLUS
4 medium-thick pork chops
Salt
Pepper
1/2 cup syrup from canned fruit cocktail
3 tbsps. lemon juice
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. cornstarch
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup drained canned fruit cocktail

Trim excess fat from around chops. Grease a hot heavy 10-inch skillet with a piece of the fat; add pork chops and brown slowly on both sides—about 10 minutes. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper to taste. Mix fruit cocktail syrup, lemon juice and Worcestershire and add; cover and simmer until tender—about 30 minutes. Remove chops from skillet and keep hot. Stir together cornstarch and cold water until smooth; add to skillet drippings stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Stir in fruit cocktail and heat briefly; serve with chops. Makes 4 servings.

Use Mix, But Vary It With Additions

Summer's the time to use mixes; and here's a variation on a new one.

PINEAPPLE PUDDING
1 pkg. (1 1/2 oz.) apple pudding mix (with crumbly topping)
1 cup boiling water
2 cups diced fresh pineapple
1/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 tsp. vanilla extract

Turn apples from envelope in pudding mix—package into a 1 1/2-quart baking dish; add boiling water; allow to stand for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile sprinkle pineapple with sugar and at the end of the 10 minutes arrange pineapple over apples. Sprinkle crumbly topping over fruit; dot with butter.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream flavored with vanilla. Pudding is quite sweet so it is not necessary to sweeten cream. Makes 8 servings.

Peaches Are Moving Into The Market

It looks like this will be another good peach year.

Recent estimates of the Agricultural Marketing Service put the crop in nine southern states at 14 million bushels. That's 31 per cent more than average, but 11 per cent less than last year's record.

These are the peaches now coming to market. So it's time to begin thinking of peach cobbler, peaches and cream and a host of other delicious peach dishes. In fact, there'll be enough to warrant your serving them often.

When the southern crop is done, there'll be more from later states. Last year, total U. S. peach production was more than 71 million bushels.

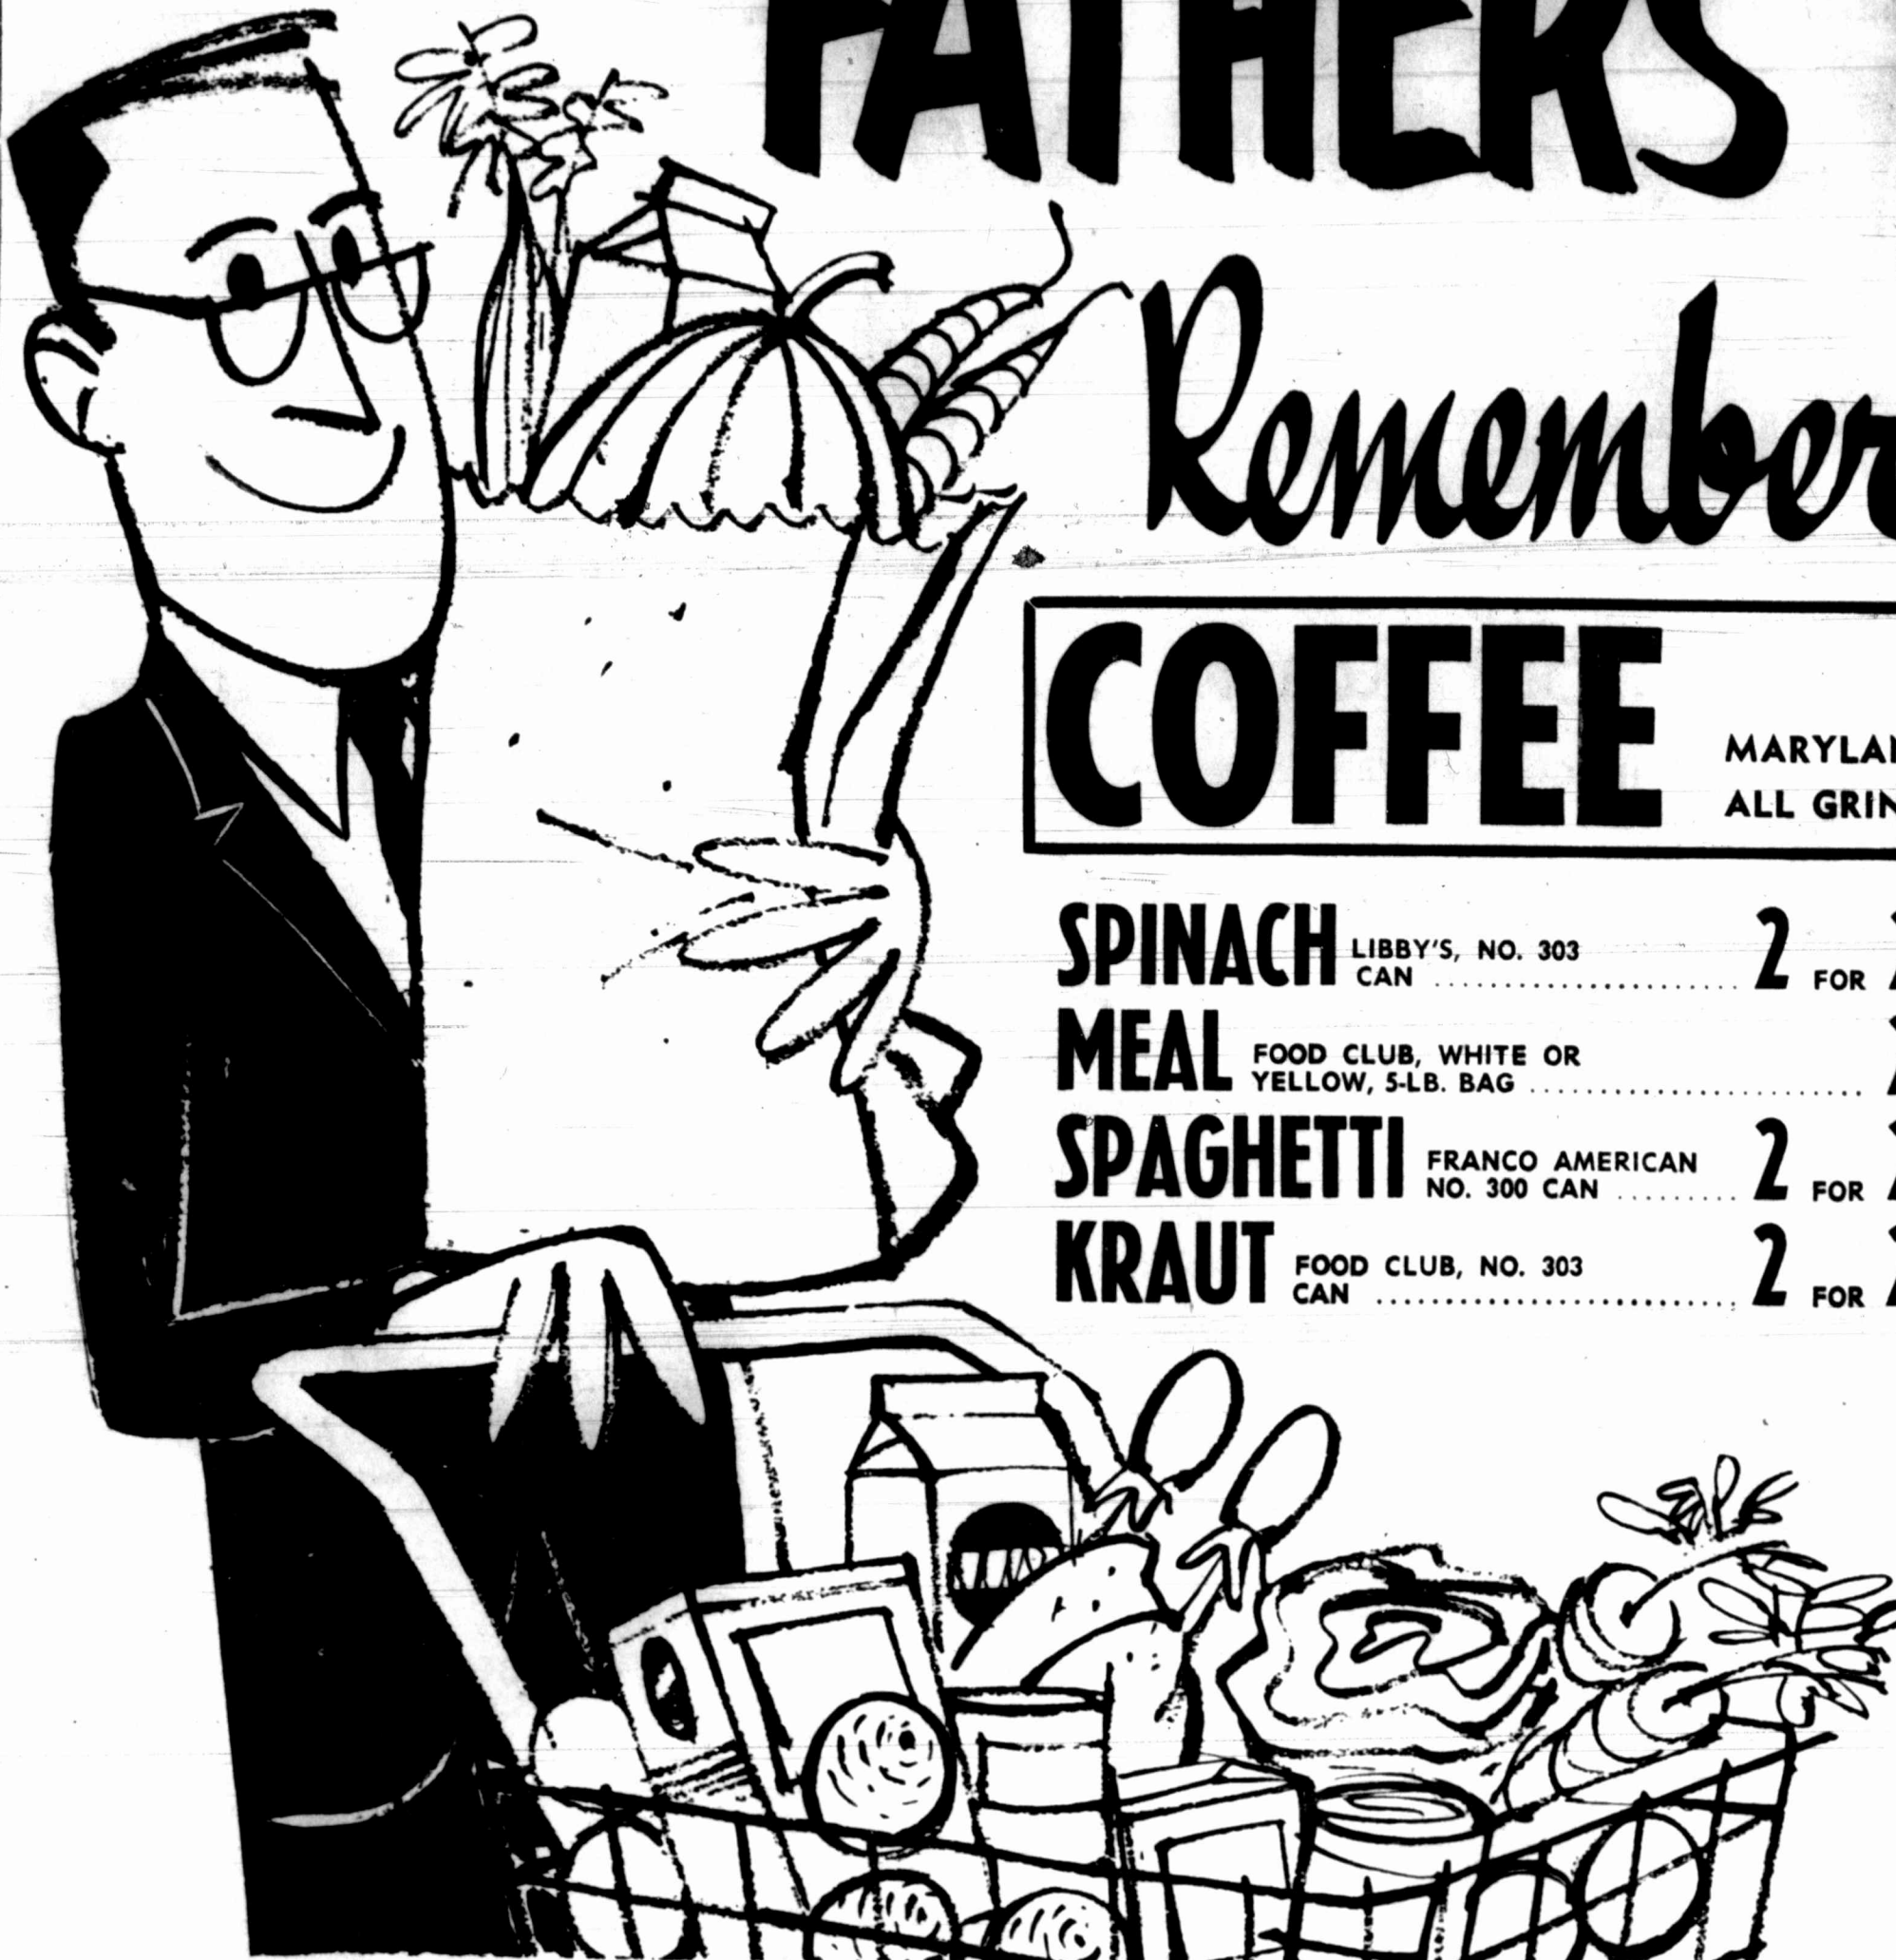

What happened to this huge crop? Of the total, about two million bushels were listed under "economic abandonment." That means only the best went to market. Some weren't harvested. And, of course, some spoiled. An additional 2.5 million bushels went for home use.

That left 66.4 million bushels that were sold. Of these, 35.5 million bushels were sold as fresh peaches—the kind that go so well on breakfast cereals or eaten out of hand.

The rest were processed. About 26 million bushels were canned; 1.3 million bushels were dried; 1.4 million bushels, frozen; and 171,000 bushels found their way into jams, preserves, brandy and other processed items.

Mrs. Yates' Unique Dip Pie Rates Priority

When friends come to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Yates, 102 Walnut, they secretly hope the refreshments for the day will be in the form of her Berry Dip Pie. It's no wonder, for the novelty dessert is delectable.

Mrs. Yates originally got the recipe from an elderly friend several years ago, and has found only one other person who makes the pie. A berry sauce is poured into a deep round dish; next follow two baked pie shells, the top one then filled with a custard cream sauce. The whole is served by pressing the spoon downward through the crusts and into the sauce. Just consult Mrs. Yates' recipe below for details.

Undoubtedly it is the favorite dessert for her family and probably her six grandchildren. A daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Dressler, makes her home with the Yateses and helps her father in his business, Dewey's Marine Supply, on West Highway 80. Her children, Carol, 2½, and month-old Lee, are being visited this week by another of the Yateses' grandchildren, Judy Yates, 8, of Fort Worth.

The couple moved here last August from Eden and have been so impressed with our friendly city that they hope to settle here permanently. When they found their present house, Mrs. Yates put into effect her experience at redecorating old residences: out came doors, up went closets and fresh wallpaper and paint. Practically all the work was done by Mrs. Yates. And she established another yard; a few vegetables went in with the shrubs and flowers, for gardening is a foremost preoccupation with her.

Although she disclaims any great ardor for cooking, Mrs. Yates says she has done much of it and friends vouch for her skill. She long ago reached the stage where cooking became a matter of using a pinch of this and a dash of that, rather than following a recipe to the letter.

You will have fun making these down-to-earth dishes of Mrs. Yates:

- BERRY DIP PIE
- 1 can boysenberries
  - ¼ cup sugar
  - ¼ cup water
- Heat this mixture until sugar is dissolved. Pour into an extra large mixing bowl. Above the mixture, stack two baked pie crusts and fill the top one with a cream sauce made of 1½ cups sugar, 2 cups milk, 2 rounded tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, a pinch of salt; cook the ingredients, stirring often, until thickened, then add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Serve the pie by dipping a spoon through to the bottom of the bowl.

That's Good Pie!

From the expression on the faces of her grandchildren, Mrs. Dewey Yates can tell that her Berry Dip Pie is a success, again. Indeed, it heads the list of her family's best loved desserts. It might be described as an interesting and delicious variation on berry cobbler, and will be much preferred by the person who likes the crust crisp.

- FRUIT COBBLER
- 1 stick margarine
  - 1 cup sugar
  - 1 cup flour
  - 2 scant tps. baking powder
  - 1 cup milk
  - Pinch of salt
- Place margarine in bottom of pan; melt. Add mixture of dry ingredients and milk. Then add 1 quart sweetened peaches and liquid, and bake in moderate oven until golden brown.
- BEEF STEW
- 1 lb. stew meat
  - 2 diced potatoes
  - Onion
  - 1 small can tomatoes
  - ¼ box frozen okra
  - Salt
  - Pepper

Serve Hamburgers A La Smorgasbord

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

It never fails! Add a surprise to a perfectly ordinary dish and you'll entertain as well as nourish family and friends.

Do it the easy way! Use the smorgasbord technique. There's nothing tastier like better than to pick and choose among a surprise trayful of accompaniments.

Take the hamburger routine. Maybe on the outdoor grill, maybe in the old black frying pan in the kitchen, but one thing is sure—you'll be cooking burgers this summer.

First off, make that old stand-by into flavorful light-textured meat cakes a la the following rule. Then add the fun: A battery of toppings other than the usual relish.

Strips of cheddar or Swiss cheese, sliced scallions, crisp green pepper rings, sliced fresh mushrooms (some people adore them raw), rounds of mild sweet onion and sliced tomato are half a dozen suitable burger toppings you can gather without trouble. Minced chives, parsley, pickled onions, capers, pimiento, mango chutney, anchovies, Roquefort cheese, walnut or pecan halves belong in another group easy to come by.

Make the service glamorous! Put the toppings in small matching bowls and plates on an attractive tray. And have enough for a lavish display. There's something about the help-yourself-idea that encourages guests to throw conservatism to the winds. They'll think this is a new version of the hero sandwich and pie two, three or all of the tidbits between those split buns holding the burgers.

BURGERS

- 1½ pounds lean ground beef
- 1 egg, ¼ cup finely crushed crackers, 1 can (6 ounces or 2-3 cup) evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon garlic salt, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons (1 small) finely grated onion (pulp and juice)

Mix together the beef and un-beaten egg. Mix in well the crackers, crumbs, undiluted evaporated milk, salt, pepper, mustard, garlic salt, celery and onion. Make into 6 to 8 patties (using about ¼ cup of the meat mixture for each).

Grill over charcoal or in a little butter in a hot skillet; use high heat to get outside brown and crusty; then reduce heat and cook until patties are just pink inside. These burgers should not be rare. Makes six to eight servings.

Tips On Freezing

There are three ways to pack fruits for freezing—dry, in sugar or in syrup.

Old, But Good

Old-fashioned sink strainers are still a good idea if you do a lot of vegetable and fruit peeling.

A Devotional For Today

The King (Artaxerxes) said unto me, For what dost thou make request? So I prayed to the God of heaven. And I said unto the King, . . . that thou wouldest send me . . . unto the city of my fathers' sepulchres, that I may build it. (Nehemiah 2:4, 5.)
PRAYER: O Lord, when we are perplexed and worried, grant us faith to hear the Master's voice, saying, "It is I; be not afraid." By Thy presence and power bring calm to the troubled waters. In Jesus' name. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

New Destruction From Underseas

The first of Uncle Sam's ballistic missile submarines went down the ways at Groton, Conn., last week, after Mrs. Robert B. Anderson, wife of the secretary of the Treasury, smashed a bottle of something or other against its rounded nose. The name: George Washington. The class: F.B.M. (fleet ballistic missile submarine).
It is, of course, atomic-powered, and it will be capable of firing a Polaris missile on its 1,200-mile course while fully submerged.
Thus the fourth type of nuclear sub has taken to the water, though far from complete. Each of the other three types is designed for a special mission.
Five of G. Wash.'s sister ships are under construction, three more contracts will be let after July 1 when new money is available, and three more are provided for in the 1960 budget.
All of the new subs will represent a departure from long-practiced naval nomenclature—state names for battleships, city names for cruisers, etc.
The F.B.M. subs will be named for famous Americans instead of fish or sea monsters, or states or cities.
All the new subs will incorporate the latest whisper in gyrostatic principles developed at M.I.T., necessary to enable them to deliver their Sunday punches within the minutest degrees of tolerances. With a trajectory of 1,200, the Polaris that tears its way out of the sea must have a firm and stable watery launching base and an accuracy of fire far beyond anything any Navy ever achieved with conventional weapons.

Potentially the nuclear-powered sub, armed with nuclear missiles, could be the most deadly device ever conceived by the mind of man. It can slip close to the shore and loose its thunderbolts without being detected.
What we can do, our enemies can do. While the Soviet Union has somewhere near 500 modern submarines of conventional types and we have far fewer, there is no evidence as yet that it has nuclear subs, much less a type capable of delivering a nuclear warhead from the depths of the sea.
We haven't either as yet, but the G. Wash. is well on its way and others will follow as fast as money is provided and the work can be done. The way our ICBM tests have been going of late, the Polaris-bearing type of submarine may be operational almost as soon as the ground-to-target ICBMs.

A Whittling And A Campaign Tag

At Clifden, Ireland, last Monday a 14-foot monument in the form of an airplane tail was unveiled to commemorate the first nonstop transatlantic flight forty years ago, by John Alcock and Arthur Whitten Brown. The takeoff was from St. John's, Nfld., June 14, 1919. They brought their twin-engine Vickers Vimy biplane down in a peat bog near Clifden 16 hours and 27 minutes later.
That was quite a feat, and the monument will mark a history-making stage in aviation history; but on the same day as the unveiling the Senate of the United States voted 71-11 to continue the present program of airport grants for two more years under circumstances that caused a Democratic senator to remark the senators "had been forced to surrender with a loaded veto pen at our heads."
What had been surrendered was a program calling for $465 million over four years already passed by the Senate and a House measure carrying the cost-tag of $297 million.
The bill finally passed by the Senate and sent to the House carries only $63 million a year for two years. The reference to a "loaded veto" was President Eisenhower's reported determination not to let the larger appropriation proposals become law.

Senator Monroney (D-Okla.), who had introduced the original Senate measure, said he offered the new proposal with great reluctance but that "half a loaf is better than none." He explained that the present law would expire automatically June 30 and that the two-year extension would take it five months into the administration of the new president to be elected next year.
"By that time," the Oklahoman went on, "President Eisenhower will have retired and be able to have his hand on a masher or niblick instead of a veto pen."
There is no doubt the reduced appropriation will play hob with a good many projected improvements in municipal airports in many parts of the country.
A vote of 71-11 in the Senate hardly supports the violent reaction to the President's threat of a veto unless the sums involved were reduced, but it does afford the Democrats a convenient peg on which to hang some partisan criticism.

West Should Make Demands Of Its Own

WASHINGTON — What a spectacle the Western governments are making of themselves these days as they flounder indecisively, in the midst of Soviet threats and ultimatums, seemingly afraid to meet squarely the challenging issues of the hour!
For five weeks the Western governments have been pleading with the Soviet government to adjust existing differences in Europe, but the only reply given was an arrogant demand for more concessions.
Sooner or later, this kind of game has to have an ending. The idea that more and more talk will somehow bring a solution has grown less and less plausible each day that the negotiations have been prolonged. For whether a "recess" or an "adjournment" is taken, or a new plan is launched for a "summit" meeting at which the heads of state are to go through the same talkathon, the result can only be the same—a loss of respect for the Western governments in the eyes of the other governments of the world.
For thus far the pressure has come almost entirely from the Soviets. It is the Soviet premier who has been demanding that the Western governments end their "occupation" of West Berlin. Not a word has come from the Western side demanding that the occupation of Eastern Europe by the Soviets be brought to an end. It is the Soviet Army which today forcibly prevents the peoples of Eastern Europe from choosing their own leaders and their own form of government. The peoples of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia are under the yoke of occupying armies sent into their territories by the Moscow government. Strangely enough, the Western governments do not raise any question about that kind of occupation, but seem to be willing to discuss the status of West Berlin, which the Soviets want to put under a new system of control so as to prevent the reunification of the German people.

The concept that talk brings better feeling and agreements has had many years—plus the last five weeks—to be tested. The Western foreign ministers have been polite, reasonable, affable, talkative, resourceful, and anxious to reach some kind of agreement if only they could wring from the Soviets a promise that their own legal rights to remain in West Berlin would be reaffirmed. But the Soviet government, apparently convinced that the West is in a peace-at-any-price mood, didn't budge an inch.
The theory that something might be accomplished at a "summit" meeting which was not achieved at a foreign ministers meeting is a myth that somehow has gained wide credence. Even as the Geneva conference has approached its present deadline there were some in the West who said that of course this demonstration of disagreement itself justified a "summit" meeting where heads of state could supposedly resolve current questions satisfactorily. But what it did signify was that the Soviet government believed the West was so eager for any kind of agreement, even of the vaguest nature, that the British, French and Americans were willing to pledge a "summit" conference in exchange for some general phrases in an official communique.
The Geneva conference has served a good purpose in one respect. It has cleared the air. It has demonstrated that the Communists think they have the upper hand and that the West in due time will capitulate to their demands. This is a kind of dangerous rationalization that has led to the outbreak of war in the past. Now the supposition is widespread that there can be no war. If by this a nuclear war is meant, the assumption has some support in logic. For history shows that a balance of power prevents national suicide by either set of belligerents. But the kind of war that could come again is what has been euphemistically termed a "conventional" or "limited" war, such as happened in Korea in 1950 and lasted three years. It still requires occupation troops on both sides of that battleground.
Another Korean type of war could emerge in Europe in and around West Berlin, and the Soviet rulers are reckless enough to risk it. For they are slowly committing themselves to positions from which they may not feel they can retreat.
The West has the strength to resist any kind of attack. But the weakness in the Western position is that no appeal to the peoples of Eastern Europe over the heads of the men in the Kremlin is being made.
For even as the Geneva conference dawdles along, the West has never told the peoples of the world in unequivocal terms what the basic issues are, and how the peace of the world is being endangered once more by a dictatorship that doesn't deserve acceptance or recognition by free governments. For the West to agree to a "summit" meeting now is to forfeit its self-respect.

Ike's A Pretty Good Puzzler, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bouncy Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have had President Eisenhower guessing what's on his mind. Now Eisenhower probably has Khrushchev a little puzzled, too.
That's because Eisenhower seemed to be agreeing with the Russian on one point, but not quite, and softening Wednesday what he said two weeks ago but, as it turned out, not quite.
It all started months ago when Khrushchev made a threat: either the Allies get their troops out of Berlin or he would turn over to the East German Communists control of the ground, air, and rail routes leading to Berlin.
This would put the Allies in a pickle. They refuse to recognize the German Reds as the lawful government of East Germany. But if the Communists shut off their supplies to East Berlin, they'd have to deal with them or fight.
And dealing with them would be a form of recognition. At the same time Khrushchev called on Eisenhower to meet him at a summit conference where all kinds of things could be discussed. That would include Berlin.
Eisenhower said nothing doing unless, first, the Soviet and Western foreign ministers met and, second, they showed some progress.

Khrushchev reluctantly agreed to the foreign ministers' meeting but low-rated its importance. He argued only the top men make decisions. Therefore, the ministers are errand boys. So, he claimed, a foreign ministers' meeting just wastes time.
The ministers met and made no progress. At his June 3 news conference, Eisenhower seemed to agree with Khrushchev that the ministers are only transmission belts for the top men.
"These foreign ministers are, after all, acting for someone else . . . and these matters (such as Berlin) have to be brought back and studied carefully," Eisenhower said.
But he seemed to attach much more importance to the ministers at his news conference Wednesday. He said they are "people who go to conferences clothed with a great deal of authority."
Next he appeared to be leaning a bit toward Khrushchev's view. He pointed out the ministers, every night after their day's session at Geneva, have to communicate with their governments back home.

He said they provide "the mechanism . . . through which (agreements) are supposed to be obtained."
But then he parted company with Khrushchev, if he ever was in his company, by refusing to agree to any assumption the ministers' meetings are useless. He implied that unless they prepared the ground for a summit meeting, there was no sense in holding one.
— Berlin itself—that Eisenhower may have left Khrushchev scratching his head.
At his June 3 news conference Eisenhower emphasized that the Russians had created the Berlin crisis and then called for a summit meeting to settle it.
Before there is a summit meeting, Eisenhower continued, the Russians should agree the Allies can stay in Berlin until the whole problem of German unification is settled. In effect, since it won't be settled for a long time, this meant indefinitely.
He didn't flatly say this had to be done before he'd go to a summit meeting.
Asked if this is what he meant, he said: "I don't see how the head of any self-respecting government can go to an international conference in response to any kind of thing that can be called a threat."
He meant the Soviet threat to the West: Get out of Berlin, or we'll let the East Germans take over.
At his news conference Eisenhower was reminded of that June 3 statement. He was asked if Soviet failure to withdraw its threat about Berlin meant he could not go to a summit meeting on other things.
Eisenhower's reply seemed to imply he was softening his position about agreement on Berlin being a precondition to a summit meeting. He said he had just tied in his June 3 statement about Berlin as an example of progress.
He added: "If there is any kind of reasonable progress that justifies a summit meeting, why of course I would never decline the opportunity to go."
But after the news conference Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, talked with reporters.
"Even though the President didn't specifically repeat that (June 3) statement, that is still just where he stands," Hagerty said. "He won't go to any summit conference under any threat regarding Berlin."

Broke At Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Help! Get me out of here or, better, lend me more francs. With a few hundred more francs I am sure I can whip the wheel—the roulette wheel—that is.
From the time of my birth in Kansas City, Mo., I knew I was born to break the bank at Monte Carlo—or at least make the try.
Well, nobody can say I didn't make my play.
First I went to the dice table, and tried to throw the dice that are hereditary in my family and once won one of my ancestors in Missouri the right to build a canal between Sedalia and London—God speed being granted beyond state lines.
They wouldn't take my dice, and I got riled up and refused to use their dice.
By then my wife had got control of the family exchequer.
I explained I would break the bank at Monte Carlo at roulette. She said I was welcome to do so and God speed, but all she could lend me was 1,000 francs.
For a moment I thought she was bleeding generously until I found out that 485 francs equals a dollar and 1,000 francs is only the sunny side of two bucks.

I found a roulette table where the going bet was 200 francs. Came to about 40 cents.
The table was surrounded by people who looked like they were either family advisers to the last Czar of Russia, or at least displaced cousins of Tovarich Trotsky. Each had a system.
They noted down the results of every turn of the wheel. They bet only about once out of every 30 times.
I passed up the 200,000-franc-limit table myself and sportingly put down 200 francs on No. 29, a lucky number in my vocabulary because it has always seemed to me the last number before 30. Exit. So long.
I played it five straight times. It never came up.
Yet when I walked away from the table you could almost feel the respect of those sick foreign aristocrats. They had seen the last of the world spend his entire wad—about $2.10—and strolling away tight-faced but smiling, bowing to a duke here, a duchess there.

The Job Will Always Be There

I cut across one corner of the park to save time, but missed the bus anyway. For two years I caught the bus on the west side of the park and had never really paid much attention to the flower beds, tall trees or benches.
There was a bench at the bus stop but I usually paced up and down when I had to wait very long for a bus. I began my pacing this time, hardly noticing the little man sitting on the bench. I looked up when I heard him chuckle. He smiled benignly and asked, "In a hurry?"
"Yes," I said, and explained that I had just missed the bus.
He assured me that he missed the bus also. He was about 50 or 60 years old, but perhaps more wizened. And he appeared quite likable.
"I miss the bus quite often myself," he was sympathetic.
I explained that I had a meeting to attend and then work and another meeting later in the evening. For some reason I added that these meetings were quite important and would not wait.
He chuckled again and glanced off toward the center of the park. "The white roses are blooming over near General Smith's statue. Did you notice?"
I glanced in the direction of the central sculpture of the park and admitted I hadn't noticed. "In fact," I said, "I didn't even know there were white roses in the park."
He laughed this time. "I figured you were in too much of a hurry."
"I am," I replied. "Aren't you?"
He disregarded the question. "Down near the playground, there is a beautiful patch of yellow flowers. I don't know what kind they are, but they bloom about this time every year. The youngsters have trampled some of them."
"There's water in that lagoon now," he continued informatively. "The frogs had almost all died out in recent months."

Maybe they'll be back. Before you got here, I heard them croaking down there."
"Do you work somewhere?" I interrupted.
"Yes, but I don't hold a job very long. I usually get fired for being late too often."
"Do you miss the bus every day?"
"Almost," he grinned. "I feel like the job will always be there, but it isn't often I get to see a frog family move to a new home, or see roses blooming the very first day."
"Sometimes I spend the whole day in the park. See that third tree beyond the pond?" I nodded. "Some birds began building a nest there yesterday. You'd be surprised how many trips they have to make to get enough stuff to build a nest."
"Are you an ornithologist or naturalist?" I asked.
"No," he replied, "but I think the trees, flowers and birds are interesting. I don't like to be in so much of a hurry that I can't stop and notice them."
I looked back into the park and it was beautiful. There were various shades of all the colors sprinkled through the foliage and sounds I had not noticed before, suddenly were audible.
"The city just spent thousands of dollars trying to make Main Street beautiful," he explained, "and all they had to work with was steel, glass and concrete. Nature did a far better job in this park and it didn't cost the city anything."
The bus screeched up to the stop and the doors swung open. I stepped in, calling back "Are you coming?"
Glancing back I saw him grin after me, with a touch of pity on his face. "Don't be late," he said.
But I didn't make it. I was five minutes late.

All Was Lovely In College Days

MOSCOW, Idaho—College days are obviously akin to childbirth in one facet: One forgets the pain the moment he leaves the halls of ivy. In retrospect, the old grad remembers only the high, good fun and the innocent mischief, not the merl and terl that were his daily lot.
A rosy haze envelops the days when he burned the midnight oil, struggled with Euclid and Kant, and faced, lessons unprepared, with trepidation professors who seem quite human and jovial, after all!
I spent two years here at the University of Idaho, in its superb mountain setting, trying to stretch a little money a long way, agonizing over exams, teaching psychology lab in my sophomore year and futilely braiding my curly hair every night, trying to make it nice and smooth and straight like the other girls!
But, bless me, all I can remember now is the fun I had: the time I went into town to an Elks' dance, strictly forbidden to coeds, and found in the receiving line the august dean of women, the late Miss Permeal French. (What did I do? Stayed and danced the night away on the theory that I might as well hang for a sheep as a lamb.)
What did I want to see first on the campus, which I left so long ago? The beautiful new library? Of course not!! I wanted to drive to the top of University Street from the pinnacle of which a bean, one snowy night, induced me to take a toboggan into town.
At least, that was his theory. By turning a corner at the bottom of the hill, the velocity we gained on it would carry us right downtown in front of the movie to which we were bound. Well, it was a wonderful idea, except that my swain was no Olympic star. He failed to negotiate the first turn at the bottom of the hill and I landed head-first in the biggest snowdrift in Moscow.
Only my feet stuck out of the snow. Tugging on them did nothing to rescue me, because, silly as it sounds, I was wearing a big, flat sailor hat of black velvet (oh, I was chic, all right!). The snow pressed down on the sailor, and I couldn't get my hands free to unpin the darned thing.

Anyway, I was dug out of the drift just short of suffocation. But such is the stamina of youth that I shook myself off and went on to the show with my suitor, although that experience forever finished winter sports for me.
My contemporaries and I have been sitting around, yakking about our college days, and all we remember is the gaiety. We recall with great affection two brilliant girls, and one is back for the reunion, who took a course in mineralogy to which they paid no particular attention.
When it came time for final exams, their lab exam in mineralogy conflicted with one in history. So the professor gave them the lab exam in private, so to speak. Knowing them to be honorable young ladies, he left them alone with a large tray of rocks to identify. They solved their problem magnificently by throwing out of the window all the rocks they failed to recognize. And, may I add, they passed with "A's."
We remember that in our day, although we were post-world war I and supposedly members of the lost generation, when girls dressed for dances we always stood in front of a light to see if we had on enough petticoats. Any shadow, indicating that we had legs, meant a return to our rooms to don additional petticoats.
In New York, girls of the lost generation may have checked their girldness at dances, but there was no such nonsense at the University of Idaho! Underwear was underworn in those days, and we HAD it. What's more, we wore it.
In addition, we coeds wore skirts! Shorts? Slacks? Shades of Miss French! She would have arranged our passage home.

Ike Proves He's No Militarist

WASHINGTON — When General Eisenhower first came under wide discussion as a Presidential candidate there were prophets of gloom who said that a military man in the White House would militarize the government and regiment the nation.
But the general himself was concerned, lest as a military man he bend over backward to prove that he was not unduly influenced by his past and by his old friendships. He was fearful that in bending over backward he would fall to do what was essential for America's military security in a time of great peril.
There are critics today observing the trials and tribulations of a military man in the White House prepared to say that both prophecies have come true. Given "E" for effort in trying to strike a difficult balance between civilian authority and military necessity the general-President has found himself in increasing difficulty.
Traceable more or less directly to the White House is the line fed out to sympathetic carriers that the Joint Chiefs of Staff is falling in its duty. As the principal agent of America's strategy, the JCS is continually dividing along the lines of service rivalry and presenting split decisions to the Secretary of Defense and the commander-in-chief. This has accentuated the inter-service fight over missiles and missions.
But from the military point of view it has another look. A deficiency in civilian authority has widened the service split. First is the fact that the Bureau of the Budget has been permitted to set spending ceilings, and the economy five years ago began to dictate the cutback of conventional forces. In the second place, civilian authority in the Pentagon has too often been vacillating and feeble.
According to some of his associates, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy is currently in the process of re-examining the whole unhappy business of the civilian-military relationship with its overtones in the politics of 1960. The drama of McElroy's near withdrawal and return encompasses much of the recent struggle.

At the worst possible moment the news of McElroy's return to the soap business in the fall was leaked out. Then came the death of Deputy Secretary Donald Quarles, who had been carrying most of the load. This included the fight to defend the incredibly costly—perhaps as high as $3.5 billion to date—experimental development of the Bomarc Air Force missile.
Quarles' death left McElroy in something like a state of shock. It seemed to rule out his plan to return to his business in October. This in-and-out pattern of business executives has, incidentally, been one of the major problems of the Eisenhower Administration, not only in Defense but everywhere in government.
Certainly, the course is a rough one. Senators fight like tigers to keep defense contracts going where those contracts mean jobs, even though in military terms the product is demonstrably superfluous or even useless. When a Senate subcommittee whacked off the Army's air defense missile program the governor of a Southern state got the Senator from that state who had voted for the cut on the phone and scorched him for knocking out 7,000 jobs and putting his own future in jeopardy.
Without firm civilian authority over the military establishment sprawled so far across the landscape in the cold war the services and their spokesmen are bound to get out of hand. The late John Foster Dulles spent a great deal of time and energy trying to persuade the military to agree on terms for ending nuclear tests with control and inspection.

Nobody Knows Navajo

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—The Flagstaff Daily Sun wanted translation for one sentence written in the native Navajo language.
The newspaper sent the sentence to its Washington reporter. He took the sentence to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. There were no Navajos employed there.
Nor were there any Navajos working in any of the eight offices of the New Mexico and Arizona Congressional delegations. Finally, the reporter found a Navajo in the U. S. Health Service. He couldn't speak Navajo.

Spade Thieves

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Richmond police are looking for space thieves.
They move motor scooters in parking meter zones, then park their cars with the scooters jammed between the cars. The scooter owners, who had paid their nickels, began raising a ruckus after getting parking tickets.

Girls Know Signals

CENTER CROSS, Va. (AP)—Lights blinked on the Rappahannock River. They were seen by girls of Troop 71 of the Girl Scouts, who had been studying signals at their Camp Shangri-La. They recognized the distress signal and guided two lost men ashore with flashlights.

Jury Rules Girl Was Insane At Time She Killed Parents

MAUSTON, Wis. (AP)—A jury decided Wednesday night that attractive Jane Dakin, 17, who likes to read Shakespeare and play the piano, was insane at the time she killed her wealthy parents.

The Circuit Court jury of 11 men and one woman, after deliberating three hours, found that Miss Dakin was innocent on two counts of first degree murder because she was insane at the time of the act. This was the plea she had entered for her trial.

The girl admitted shooting her mother, Elizabeth, 43, and then her father, Thomas, 48, with an automatic .22-caliber rifle the night of Dec. 1. Seventeen shots were fired from the gun, most of them striking the parents. Afterward she went to a friend's home and told of the double slaying.

She testified at her trial that she had discussed "Hamlet" and other works of Shakespeare with her mother shortly before she shot the mother to death in their home here. She killed her father when he entered the home a short time later, she said.

Miss Dakin, who maintained remarkable composure during her 15-day trial, wept on the shoulder of her uncle, Phillip Dakin of Milwaukee, when the verdict was read to Judge Bruce Beilfuss.

Judge Beilfuss remanded the girl to the custody of the Juneau County sheriff and said he would confer with public welfare officials before deciding whether the girl should be sent to an institution for a determination of her sanity now and whether she should have psychiatric treatment.

The statute under which the girl was found innocent empowers the judge to have her committed for further treatment until she is cured to the point where there is reasonable certainty she would not again commit such an act.

The Wisconsin Diagnostic Center at Madison, which examined Miss Dakin for 60 days after the shooting, said the girl was mentally ill. It indicated that she could eventually be restored. If that happens she would be free, under Wisconsin law.

Testimony at the trial, and from a tape recorded interview with the girl admitted as evidence, disclosed she had planned to kill herself but instead shot her mother.
