Herter Makes Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today gave President Eisenhower an hour-long report on the deadlocked Geneva foreign ministers talks, now recessed until July 13. After the conference, Herter confirmed he will go on nationwide television and radio Tuesday night to tell the American people about the thus far futile efforts to reach agreement with the Soviet Union regarding Berlin and other problems.

Herter said he reported to Eisenhower in general terms and that they discussed "just where we are" in efforts to ease East-West tensions. A reporter asked about prospects for an eventual summit conference of the Western heads of government with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Civil War Vet's Condition Same

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter Williams, last survivor of the Civil War, rested today in an oxygen tent, his condition unchanged in his bout with pneumonia.

There's little or no change. Dr. Russell Wolfe said Sunday night. His temperature has dropped a little bit and his pulse is good, the doctor added. The 116-year-old veteran's temperature had risen to 101 during the day.

Youths Get Life For Rape Of Coed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — All four white youths convicted of raping a Negro coed were handed life prison sentences today by Circuit Judge W. May Walker.

The electric chair would have been automatic if the jury had returned a verdict of guilty without a recommendation of mercy. No white man ever has gone to the chair in Florida or any other state for raping a Negro.

Indian Grief

The widow of one of two fishermen killed when police fired on demonstrators in the coastal village of Pullaval in the Indian state of Kerala kneels in grief at the spot where her husband was killed. Police said they fired on the crowd because they were being stoned, but villagers claimed the shooting was unprovoked. At least 12 persons have been killed in demonstrations against the state's Communist government.

Miamians Wouldn't Mind Less Rain

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The sky could dry up anytime now over this resort-capital of sunny Florida, and rain-soaked Miamians wouldn't mind a bit. Return of normal sunshine would be a novelty after rains which broke the city's 1942 June record Saturday night and mused up streets, lawns and daily activities.

The weather man said today would be showery, followed Tuesday by scattered showers. If his predictions pan out, Miami's current spell of wet weather will be prolonged to eight consecutive days. Miamians would appreciate a generous sunshine-break to mow the jungle-like growth off their lawns, and dry out their puddle-soaked shoes. Street maintenance crews could use a fair-weather chance to repair potholes. Drainage engineers would like to see brimming catch basins subside.

Bureau logged 19.67 inches of June rainfall for Miami, by comparison with 4.6 inches average in a comparable period. The previous record for all of June was 19.54 inches. Eleven inches of this month's downpour came within one 72-hour period ushered in by another local weather freak — a destructive tornado Wednesday night.

The sun has shone in valiant relief roles but hasn't been able to dry up the rain clouds. Forecasters, noting only .43 inches of rain fell Sunday, said a decrease is likely but will be gradual. Miami forecaster Bernie Moore said South Florida's rain stems from low-pressure troughs over the coast. Airlines and hotels said business appeared normal.

Reaction Quick To Resolution By Young GOP

DENVER (AP) — Reaction has been quick to a resolution passed by the Young Republican national convention here censuring two Republican senators. The resolution approved Saturday accused Sens. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) and William Langer (R-N.D.) of "un-Republican and unstatesmanlike conduct" in voting against the confirmation of Lewis Strauss as secretary of commerce. The Senate rejected 49-46 President Eisenhower's appointment of Strauss.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in Washington Sunday night if he had attended the convention here he would have advised against the resolution. Dirksen said the Republican leadership had tried to avoid making the Strauss confirmation fight a party issue.

"We realize that the court is but one of the many subdivisions of our constitutional structure, and that its decisions may legitimately be open to criticism and legislative alteration." Dirksen said.

Stop 'Cop' - Head Fed Seeking Red

NEW YORK (AP) — A policeman's lot is not a happy one and you don't make him any happier by calling him a cop. So says FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, sometimes called the nation's top cop, or if you want to get him really red, the head fed. Hoover says calling a policeman a cop is like calling a doctor a quack or a writer a hack. His written views on the matter came up for debate on a television program Sunday.

4 People Die In Plane Crash

CLOUDCROFT, N.M. (AP) — A light private plane crashed into a pine-covered hillside near a ranger station here early today, killing a pilot from Sunnyvale, Calif., and his family.

The pilot was identified by papers in his wallet as Herman O. Jackson, 41. Killed with him were a woman, a boy and girl. Archie P. Lewis, a Forest Service employee, said he attempted to remove the man but the man was pinned by the wreckage which burst into flames. Lewis was able to get the man's wallet before the flames engulfed the plane. He suffered burns.

L. Z. Brown, a Forest Service employe at the station, said the plane crashed at :10 a.m. He said the small, single-engine craft flew east over the station at a low altitude. "The motor was missing," Brown said, "and all of a sudden it just quit, the plane nosed down and dived into the trees. The gas tanks exploded as soon as it hit. There was no chance to get the bodies out until the fire cooled down and then we had to use hack saws on the twisted metal."

The registration number of the charred craft was given as N-97321.

Storm Leaves 34 Dead Or Missing

ESCUMINAC, N.B. (AP) — At least 34 fishermen were dead or missing today as searching planes scoured the Northumberland Strait for survivors of the week-end storm that battered the Gulf of St. Lawrence fishing fleet. Thirteen men were known dead and 21 were listed as missing.

The Royal Canadian Air Force reported 22 derelict boats were spotted by search planes Sunday along the 30-mile coastline between Point Escuminac and Rich-

Louisiana Faces Momentous Issues

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana, thrown into political turmoil by her ailing governor three weeks ago, faces momentous questions, some of which may be answered this week: 1. Is Gov. Earl K. Long legally insane? 2. If not, can he get out of a state mental hospital? 3. Meanwhile, who is the state's chief executive?

Hundreds Beat Heat In Swimming Pools During The Weekend

There were 429 escaping the 99 degree temperature in Big Spring Sunday at the city's swimming pools. The report shows 209 adults and 160 children visited the city park pool. There were 17 adults and 45 children in the north side pools.

Saturday, there were 231 in the three pools. Only seven adults and 24 children were in the north side pools while 123 adults and 77 children visited the south pool. Friday, the figures were even smaller, with 71 adults and 58 children in the city park pool and 11 adults, 48 children in the north side pools.

Storm Leaves 34 Dead Or Missing

ibuto. There were no signs of life. The storm, described as the worst in 30 years, caught at least 50 salmon boats as it lashed the strait between New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The fleet was in force to meet the heaviest salmon run in 10 years. Two survivors were kept alive by an air bubble in the cabin of their overturned boat. Hilaire Gauvin, 25, and Germain Chaisson, 55, both of Lameque, were trapped in the cabin when their boat capsized. Another wave righted the vessel. Gauvin's uncle, Capt. Charles Gauvin, 53, was washed overboard.

Fishermen accused the weather bureau of failing to warn them of the approaching storm. The Halifax Weather Bureau said gale warnings went out Friday night, but the fleet was out by then. The storm did hundreds of thousands of dollars damage to boats, nets and lobster pots, dealing a heavy blow to the local fishing industry.

AUSTIN (AP) — State Comptroller Robert Calvert submitted to the Legislature today a new deficit about 29 million dollars below the previous estimate. His new deficit figure of $36,789,793 takes into consideration passage of the bookkeeping adjustment bill by the first special session. The measure allows Calvert to count August revenues in this fiscal year.

A total of $143,301,179 will be available for spending in 1960-61 from the general revenue fund. This means the Legislature must raise about 172 million dollars to clear the deficit and pass an appropriation bill of about 315 million dollars. His new revenue estimates also reflect two spending bills passed by the Legislature. One sets up pre-school training in English and hearing to cost about two million dollars for the biennium. The other revises the inheritance tax law to reduce the figure by another one million dollars.

The Senate Finance Committee earlier swapped its money spending program for the House budget for the third time. The committee hurriedly passed out the bill for floor action. Senate passage and automatic House rejection of the Senate bill will create a later showdown in another joint appropriations committee.

The joint spending committee reportedly was about agreed on a budget which would take $15 million dollars from the general revenue fund for 1960-61 near the closing hours of the first special session. Passage of a tax bill will have to determine the exact amount of money available for spending. The $2,400,000 appropriations bill, which pays for all state services beginning Sept. 1, will be ineffective without a new tax bill to cover the rising costs of state government.

In the regular session, no joint conference committee was appointed since a tax bill was not passed in the Senate. The first joint conference committee was appointed in the special session earlier this month. The House Tax Committee will begin again on hearing tax bills in the afternoon. The tax bill it recommends and the date it is presented may well determine the fate of the second special session. While the legislators were talking a long weekend, Gov. Price Daniel strongly urged the lawmakers to act quickly to avoid a third 30-day special session. He said he hoped the House would send a tax bill to the Senate this week. Each day of delay stacks $200.

000 to the eventual tax bill, Daniel said. He urged the people to give their views on taxing and spending to their representatives and senators. Daniel's tax program, introduced again by Rep. George Hinson, will be heard tomorrow by the House tax group. The 183 million dollar bill includes some of the recommendations made by the Senate which were retained in the last-minute joint tax conference report turned down by the House. Rep. Frates Seeligson, member of the interim Tax Study Commission, planned to formally introduce a complete tax recodification and fund-raising bill to total $184,345,000. "Luxury" taxes total about 72 million dollars with another 41 million dollars from cigarette tax hikes. The Senate again has little to do until the House sends over a tax bill. All tax bills must originate in the House. Other items which the governor has agreed to permit consideration of this session include his abandoned property bill and a measure to assure the public of continued free access to Gulf beaches. A hearing is slated in the House later today on Daniel's bill to force holders of long-abandoned property to turn it over to the state.

Family Victims Of Bungalow Fire

MATHEWS, Va. (AP) — A Navy commander, his wife, and two young daughters died today as flames swept their bungalow at Miles, near here in Mathews County. A 14-year-old son of the couple received third-degree burns in the early morning blaze and was taken to the Portsmouth Naval Hospital. The victims were identified as Cmdr. Daniel Grant Bailey, about 39, stationed at New London, Conn.; his wife, Betty Carter Howell Bailey, 36, formerly of Miles, Va.; and their two daughters, Melissa, 8, and Virginia, 3. Taken to the Portsmouth hospital was Daniel Jr., 14. The Bailey's were understood to have been vacationing in the one-story summer home, owned by Mrs. Bailey's family. Firemen said the cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Smoke Stamp Will Disappear

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—You won't be seeing that blue federal tax stamp on cigarette packages any more. The manufacturers have won a battle. No more prepayment of excise taxes. Instead of having to buy the stamps every day they will pay the government only twice a month. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. had to buy more than 2 million dollars worth of stamps every day for its products. But Tuesday will be the last day it will have to send two men to pick up the stamps for cigarettes, smoking tobacco and chewing tobacco. Instead of a closure of the same blue paper which will tell you: "Federal stamps no longer required." But smokes still will cost the same.

Little To Indicate Settlement Before Steel Strike Deadline

By JOHN MOODY
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiators have 10 days left to reach a peaceful settlement on a new labor contract. There is little to spark hope that differences will be settled by the June 30 deadline. Stripped of the fanfare and window dressing the negotiators once more have become a test of economic strength. The steel industry has given many indications it believes it can outlast the United Steelworkers Union in a strike. Executives feel they can avoid some of the pressures that forced them to settle in other years. USW President David J. McDonald shows no sign of relenting in his quest for a substantial wage increase and other economic gains. Workers now earn an average of $3.03 an hour. The steel industry appears adamant in its stand that this is the year to halt a wage-price spiral that began in 1957. Since then steelworkers have received 14 wage increases. Prices have been boosted 12 times. For the first time in the history of the USW-steel industry negotiations, company executives show no reluctance about saying they expect a strike. They have been preparing openly for one for months. Steel officials announced their proposal for a one-year freeze on wages even before negotiations opened in New York last May. Since then they have said repeatedly they will concede nothing that will increase net labor costs. In many ways the industry has taken the offensive in the 1959 contract talks. It has made its position known to the public as quickly as it informed the union. It has openly sought public support. Customers have been alerted to the possibility of a strike and the industry has been operating at near capacity for months trying to build up customer inventories. It's hard to guess how successful this has been, because steel consumption also has been booming. The companies insist any increase in labor costs would have to be met with higher steel prices. Twice since 1956 steel executives have been called to Washington to explain price increases to congressional groups. They don't want to go again. In 1956 when the present contract was signed after a 43-day strike both customer and government pressure weighed heavily on industry officials. Reserve steel stocks should reduce customer pressure—at least for a time. President Eisenhower and other government officials are on record as opposing any settlement that would necessitate a price increase. Steel executives feel this puts the government in their corner. The tough attitude of the steel companies has not caught McDonald by surprise. He told union members at the USW convention last year they faced a knockdown, drag-out fight if they want to improve the contract. McDonald repeatedly has referred to the steel firms' attitude as the opening effort of big industry to weaken the American labor movement. Such talk has aroused more than normal interest among other union leaders, makes them more likely to support Steel Union. Support has been promised the USW by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers and James R. Hoffa's Teamsters. Despite some evidence of fri-

Mom, Daughter Lawyer Team Not Only One

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—When a defendant wants an attorney he often calls for Josephine. Her telephone rings all night long. "The phone's ringing with pretty urgent business," she said. "Our clients want to get out of jail," she said. Josephine is the junior partner in a mother-daughter lawyer team—Hughett and Hughett. Senior partner is a vivacious redhead who admits to "being nearly 71." She is Maude Hughett, an attorney for 50 years. Josephine keeps her age a secret. "It might spoil my chances for romance, not that I've got time for it. I'm too tired when I get home." "I'm a specialist in rape cases," the attractive blonde said. "Most of these people feel a woman can do more for them before a jury." Her mother handles bankruptcies and real estate transactions. The pair share an office strategically located between the jail and the court house. But they never share the same case. "You know how it is when two women get together," Maude said. "They always disagree." She was irritated with a pair of California lady lawyers, Jamie Courtwright and her daughter D. Dian Hixon of Los Angeles, who said in a recent news article they were the only mother-daughter team in the nation. "Those women have a lot of nerve. They're just beginners," Maude said, thinking of her 50 years. "Maybe we ought to sue." There were three Hughetts—father, mother and daughter—in the law firm until he died four years ago. Maude has a sister who is a lawyer in Knoxville. Her father and brother-in-law were lawyers, too. Maude says she was a trailblazer for women in the South. "I was the first to try a case before a federal court, and the first to apply for admission to a law school below the Mason-Dixon line." She enrolled at the University of Tennessee Law School after receiving a special dispensation from the trustees. Maude met her husband in college. "I told him if he wanted to marry me he'd have to be a lawyer. He graduated two years after I did. We went into business together in 1911." She and her mother work a seven-day week and are lucky to get six hours sleep a night. Their office is small, but the location is handy. "It makes it easier on us, since we're always on the run," Maude said. "We never take off our hats when we reach the office."

Congress Entering Fiscal-End Scramble

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress heads into its annual end-of-June scramble this week to pass as many as possible of its big money bills before the new fiscal year begins July 1. The House already has acted on most of the annual appropriations bills, but many still lie ahead for the Senate. Compromises of Senate and House versions also must be worked out. Even after other money matters are straightened out, Congress still faces political battles over such major issues as the foreign aid program, an anti-racketeering labor bill, civil rights legislation and possibly some action on federal aid to education. Threats of presidential vetoes already have forced Democratic whittling of spending programs in such fields as housing and airports—a situation which brought criticism of Democratic leaders Sunday from two liberal groups. But while President Eisenhower has managed to hold down spending in some fields, the decimated Republican ranks in Congress lack the power to force action on some of his requests. Enough conservative Democrats are willing to join the Republicans to make vetoes stick. But not enough of them are available to get the wheels moving on increases in the gasoline tax and postal rates Eisenhower requested. While he seems likely to get an

Water De-Salt Plant Site In Southwest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Use of an electrolysis process in the government's proposed third saline water conversion plant was announced yesterday by the Secretary of the Interior, Fred A. Seaton. He said the plant, designed to convert brackish water to fresh at the rate of at least 250,000 gallons daily, will be located in the northern Great Plains or in arid areas of the Southwest. Construction of five demonstration conversion plants, each to use a different process, was authorized by a 1958 law. Total cost may not exceed 10 million dollars. Congress hasn't yet authorized construction funds. Three plants—one each on the Gulf, West and East coasts—are to convert sea water while two are to convert brackish water. One plant, to use a multiple effect distillation process, will be located on the Gulf Coast. The second, for which Seaton designated a multi-stage flash distillation process, will be on the West Coast. It will use atomic heat. The director of the Office of Saline Water, Dr. A. L. Miller, gave this description of the third process selected: "An electrolysis process uses a combination of electrical current with special types of membranes to remove salts from water. "When salt dissolves in water, it separates into ions. An ionized atom is one which has an electric charge. Since it has a charge it can be made to move by passing an electric current through the solution. The negative ions will move toward the positive pole and positive ions toward the negative pole. "The electric field in the cell removes the salts (ions) from the saline water in alternate compartments between the membranes by transferring them to adjacent compartments where they are trapped because the membrane hails further migration of the ion."

DEAR ABBY

JUST A REMINDER

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to answer that soldier who wanted mail from home: I know one very good reason why some of the boys in the service get no mail. They don't bother to answer the letters they receive. I've known mothers who had to contact the Red Cross to find out if their sons were alive or not because they hadn't heard from them for so long. I am as patriotic as the next one, but it seems to me if a soldier wanted a letter, he could write one. FRANK

DEAR FRANK: I printed the soldier's letter hoping to remind the folks at home to write to their friends, relatives and neighbors in the service. And I think they should. However, a service man who wants to start up a correspondence with anyone of acquaintance can do so by simply writing the following postcard: "I'm homesick as all get out. Won't you write to me?" (Wanna bet?)

DEAR ABBY: We don't know whether he gave my son a gift and we lost the gift or not. We just know there is no gift or card from that person. The gift doesn't matter. Should we ask this person if he sent a gift or not? Or should we send him a thank you note anyway? If he sent no gift it would be very embarrassing. Please tell us what to do. MRS. F.

DEAR MRS. F.: Don't send a "thank you" note for a gift that was never received. And don't ask the gentleman if he sent a gift. If you have a mutual friend who could find out if that person sent a gift, the mystery could be solved. Otherwise, forget it.

"Why don't my parents trust me?" For What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know, send 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for six years and at the time of our marriage my wife wanted a double-ring ceremony, so we had one. I never cared to wear a ring of any kind because it is dangerous in my work. My wife insists, however, that I wear it whenever her mother is around. I wear it but it makes me nervous. Don't you think my wife is a little silly on this point?

HATES RINGS

DEAR HATES: Your wife is more than silly—she's childish. It's far more important for a man to FEEL married than to LOOK it.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, unweaned and have an eight-month-old baby. The baby's father and I are very much in love and are planning to be married as soon as I am 16 in November. He is 17. We would have been married sooner but because of our ages the court wouldn't allow it. He also wasn't working at the time. Abby, would it be too awful if we had a church wedding? I wouldn't wear white because I know I'm not supposed to, but do you think a minister would consider marrying us in a church?

WANTS A CHURCH WEDDING

DEAR WANTS: Talk to your clergyman; if you are sincere in your desire for a church wedding I doubt if he would refuse you.

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago we gave a confirmation party for our son. He received many presents. My son is now writing thank you cards. There is one guest we can't

Red China Refuses Visa To Harriman

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist China has refused to give W. Averell Harriman a visa to visit the country as a journalist. Harriman, former governor of New York, said the Peiping government told him a new application from him would be considered next year. Harriman is now touring the Soviet Union and writing articles for an American syndicate.

Marshall Beautician Tells How She Lost 90 Pounds

Here is a truly amazing story of weight reduction. Mrs. Dorothy Jones, 906 Higgins St., Marshall, Texas, wrote us the following: "I have been a user of Barcenatrate for sometime and I cannot praise it enough. "When I began to take Barcenatrate, I weighed 240 pounds. I now weigh 150. I am grateful that I now hold my weight down with just a little Barcenatrate." Just ask any Texas druggist for Barcenatrate. Mix and take according to directions. No starvation diet or back breaking exercises. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat safely, easily, return the empty bottle for your money back. Barcenatrate is inexpensive too.

MRS. WILLIAM LEE LEMON

Carol Clark, William Lee Lemon Pledge Vows In Plainview Church

A Sunday afternoon marriage ceremony was read in Plainview First Methodist Church for Carol Clark and William Lee Lemon, with the grandfather of the bride hearing the vows.

Dr. O. P. Clark read the double ring rite for his granddaughter, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard E. Clark of Plainview. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Lemon of Ackerly.

Aisles were marked with white satin bows leading to the altar, banked with palms of emerald and jade, interspersed with baskets of white gladioli, mums and yellow roses. These were supplemented with tapers in candelabra.

Don Boyd included selections from Bach and Purcell in the organ prelude and accompanied Mrs. Dick Conniss who sang O. Perfect Love. Departing from the traditional wedding marches, the organist played Trumpet Tune and Air as the processional; recessional was the Postlude on Now Thank We All Our Lord.

The bride's father gave her in marriage.

A skirt of triple layers of tulle extended from a bodice of Chantilly lace fashioned with portrait neckline and brief sleeves traced along the scallops with pearls. Long tapered gauslets were appliqued in lace medallions and pearls, and the lace overlay of the skirt swept over satin into a train.

merbuds marked waistlines, and the girls wore white picture hats.

Don Whisenhunt of Meadow served as best man; guests were seated by Lester Boydston of Tullia; Frank Lane and Richard Cook, both of Abilene; Marvin Crawford of Plainview.

Tapers were lighted by Ann and James Lemon, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding service, guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents to greet the couple; assisting with the receiving line were parents of the new-layers and the bridal attendants.

COLONNADE CAKE
On the cutwork-covered table, a three-tiered cake in colonnade style was frosted in white and enhanced with yellow roses and green leaves of frosting. Yellow roses formed the floral centerpiece.

Mrs. Peterson was at the guest book, while others who assisted in the house party were Mrs. B. D. Perkins, Mrs. B. G. Adkins, Judy Reynolds, Esther Reithmeyer, Glenda Akin, Jonnie Hutchens, Mary Brown and Raymond Gaunter.

Guests came from Amarillo, Fort Worth, Abilene, Big Spring, Ackerly, Lamesa, Brownfield, Lockney, Snyder, Sweetwater, Canyon, Silvertown, Floydada, Baird, Lubbock, Goree, Hereford, Dallas and Littlefield.

For a wedding trip which will take the couple to Carlsbad Cavern and White Sands, N. M., the bride chose a moss green wrap-around frock with matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

The new Mrs. Lemon is a graduate of Plainview High School, and was to be a senior at McMurry College, where she was affiliated with Delta Beta Epsilon Social Club; she will enter the University of Houston in September to complete her studies as an education major.

The bridegroom has graduated from Ackerly High School and McMurry; he was a member of Ko Sar Social Club. A biology major, he will enter the medical branch of the University of Texas in Galveston in September.

The couple will make a home at 2103 Avenue P., Galveston.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Freeman, 2110 Johnson, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Edith, and Carl Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Franklin, Sweetwater. The wedding will take place July 24 in First Methodist Chapel.

Give Flowers Room For Growing

Floriculture specialists say prepare the soil for flower planting at least one foot deep. Soil for perennials should be tilled at least two feet deep.

They say the deeper the soil is prepared, the greater the roots can penetrate. The deeper the penetration, the greater the soil volume from which the plant can draw water and nutrients.

Shallow preparation forces the roots to develop in the surface regions of the soil, where they are more subject to adverse summer weather and to gardener neglect.

The gardener pays for shallow cultivation not only during hot periods of the summer, but also during rainy periods in the late spring.

In wet periods, the water accumulates in the cultivated zone and does not seep through the uncultivated zone. This condition is called waterlogging, and many plants die in waterlogged soil.

Another point the floriculturists make is that it isn't enough to merely dig up the soil when you prepare it for planting. You must also incorporate some organic matter.

Yellow-White Theme Is Followed For Gift Tea

LAMESA — A yellow and white color theme was accentuated at a gift tea staged Friday afternoon at the Grady Acuff home to complement Estelle Prather, bride-elect of Jim Strother of San Angelo and Duncan, Okla.

Guests were received by Mrs. L. T. Prather, mother of the honoree, Miss Prather and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. J. G. Strother of San Angelo.

Members of the houseparty included Lavelle Prather, who was at the register; Mrs. Glen Batsion, Mrs. Don Vanzant and Lois Prather, who alternated at the punch bowl.

Yellow roses decorated the entrance hall and were combined with white daisies to form the featured arrangement in the living room. A yellow linen cloth embroidered in white covered the serving table, which had a centerpiece of large white daisies interspersed with yellow tulle tufts and baby breath.

Hostess duties were shared by Mrs. Acuff, Mrs. W. V. Wade, Mrs. Jack Miles, Mrs. Marvin Gresham, Mrs. W. T. Hamilton, Mrs. Carlos Chiles, Mrs. H. H. Wright, Mrs. W. H. Rowan, Mrs. C. C. Medlock, Mrs. R. C. Hunt and Mrs. W. B. Strother.

Miss Prather and Strother will be married in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents June 29.

Charm Series For Teens

Tuesday will be the first of a four-day series of charm classes designed for teen-age girls and offered at the YMCA. Those who complete the course will be planning for an advanced series July 14-17.

Poise posture, makeup and grooming will be principal elements of the lessons to be conducted by Mrs. Gene Eads. There will be no fee for the classes, slated for Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 11:30 a. m. at the Y Gym.

The charm course is another facet of the city-wide summer recreation program made possible by the sponsorship of the United Fund, the public schools, and the YMCA.

Yours Not The Task Of Cooking; Help Ease Cleaning Job

Women haven't had a chance to grill the hamburgers, say the experts, since men discovered they could achieve the status of "chief cook" by flourishing a long-handled fork and standing proudly over the backyard barbecue. Instead, women have been finding themselves "doing only the cleanup job."

Any woman knows this is all too true. The boom in sales of barbecue equipment only gives her more metal to clean after the master of the house has demonstrated his culinary technique.

The home economists recommend a pail, a sponge, a can of household cleanser and paper towels. Some steel wool also may be needed.

Scrape the grill with the paper towels, using steel wool for any hard crustling caused by the chef's having burned the meat.

Then moisten the sponge, sprinkle it with the cleanser and polish the grill. Since most barbecue metals are weather and rust-resistant, one polishing job should be sufficient.

Spray the grill with water from the garden hose. The cleanser rinses away completely, leaving no gritty film, so that drying is unnecessary.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY TV Starlet Goes For High Energy Foods

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Pat Michon was a blonde when I met her at CBS on the "Bachelor Father" set, but when she appeared for tea at the Beverly Hills Hotel a few days later, she was a brunette.

"It's only a hair spray," Pat quickly explained when I remarked about this. "But it does help a producer decide if you appear for an interview with the shade hair he feels the part calls for. I use it often, and it rinses right out."

Pat ordered tomato juice with an egg beaten into it.

"I've never heard of that," I exclaimed.

"It's a great pick-me-up. I'm on the go so much that I go in for energy foods. One of the greatest combinations is raw peanuts and raw carrots. They are surprisingly satisfying when there's no time for lunch. I buy these at a health-food store. They aren't the same as the salted ones you get at your grocer's."

"I think we all have a higher energy potential than we realize," Pat contended. "I'm only five-two, but I can drive a golf ball 225 yards. Feel how solid I am," she said putting out an arm.

"I have strong hands, too. I developed them when I was a child pianist. I do 25 push-ups every morning and 50 sit-ups. And I use my hula-hoop 500 times. I think this is great for the stomach muscles. I also stand on my head and count to 100. This is wonderful for reserving the pull of gravity and getting circulation up the spine."

"There is nothing like exercise and diet to keep you in the pink of condition," she exclaimed.

"What about rest?" I inquired, for it seemed this young girl was driving herself very hard.

"My mother was a Follies beauty, and she stressed getting eight hours sleep every night. One afternoon a week she set aside for what she called revitalizing. I choose Saturday for my do-nothing day. No matter where I'm invited, I feel it's more important for me to stay at home and relax." Pat concluded.

Swimsuit Styling Is Challenge To Designer

Imagination and creative styling reach new peaks in the new wool-knit swimsuits that will top the waves this summer. And the midriff is out in the sunlight again, as the Bikini makes a return bow.

Designers' originality and skill styles have been created in skin-beige and in a giant tri-tone block motif. Rich-looking dimensional effects appear in textured wool tweed, herringbone, geometric, and stripes; in bubble and pebble knits; and in embossed sculptured motifs.

The brief, two-piece Bikini, introduced in 1942, is making a come-back for summer. Some of the newest versions cover up slightly more than the original, with the pants and top anchored by a tab or a button for a more secure fit.

Deep plunge backs, in V and U shapes, are the favorite swimwear necklines. These are often counterpointed with gently rounded camisole-type fronts. The cover-up look is introduced in a fascinating, black knitted wool sheath that uses flesh-lined fishnet to cover the shoulders in front and fills in the deep V-back. The streamlined maillot is the leading silhouette.

While sophisticated black holds its Number One position, there is plenty of color, in both bright shades and subtle offbeat tones. Pewter, cinnamon, creamy beige and khaki are prominent among the subdued shades; and, on the bright side, color glows in tones of orange, red, turquoise, emerald, French blue, royal and gold.

Queen Talks With People Not On The List

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II is beginning to talk with workmen, housewives and other people not on the official reception lists for her tour of Canada.

She and Prince Philip are moving through the fast-growing industrial region of Saguenay, northwest of Quebec City, heading for a meeting with President Eisenhower and the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway Friday. They are visiting aluminum paper mills and hydroelectric power plants today. They have already taken a close look at other evidences of Canada's rapid industrial development including a spectacular open-cut iron mine on the remote edge of Labrador.

Standing on the floor of that mine amid swirling clouds of red dust and fierce heat, Elizabeth asked to speak with six members of a pit crew. Brawny miners and truck drivers, their faces caked with dust and sweat and holding hard hats under their arms, chatted with her and Philip, answering questions.

Ignoring her time schedule, she remained on the floor of the mine 250 feet below ground level well after the party was due to depart. Dust powdered her chestnut hair where it curled out from under her small hat. Her white cheeks turned the color of television makeup. Finally she held out a white-gloved hand. The miners glanced at each other shyly. They rubbed their hands on their coveralls and shook her hand.

The Queen and Philip have now seen some of the wildest and most beautiful country in the world.

Flying north across Labrador, they passed over terrain that still shows marks of the Ice Age. Flat and forbidding, it looks as though the glaciers departed only last week. Retreating ice gouged out innumerable craters now filled with water. They range from pools to lakes hundreds of feet deep.

The couple met Montagnais and other Indians wearing native costumes blazing with red, blue and green. Some faces were obviously of Eskimo origin. During the weekend the royal party boarded the yacht Britannia and sailed across the mouth of the silvery blue St. Lawrence to Gaspé, famed resort area of Quebec.

Lyndon Hits Spilt In Executive, Legislative Areas

DALLAS (AP)—Keeping the executive and legislative branches of government at loggerheads serves only "the selfish goals of a few selfish people," Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said yesterday. Johnson, in a weekly radio broadcast for Texas stations, said "no efficient government has ever operated where the executive and the legislative have been divided."

The Senator said he was deeply gratified at having received two honorary degrees in recent weeks, and quoted the citation on his degree from Brown University in Rhode Island.

"When the executive and the legislature are divided anything or nothing can happen."

"It's pretty easy in government to create a stalemate—and once you have it, there's no trouble keeping it going," Johnson said.

"The problem is to avoid ever getting a stalemate started. That's what I've tried to do."

"That doesn't mean that either the legislative or the executive branch of our government should be a 'yes-man' to the other. Far from it," Johnson said.

"But it does mean that each needs to respect the judgment of the other, to counsel together and do their dead-level best to agree on a common objective."

The objective, the Senator said, "should be the greatest good for the greatest number."

Show World Pays Homage To Big Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The theatrical world pays final homage today to Ethel Barrymore. Requiem Mass will be recited for the great actress in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Beverley Hills.

Miss Barrymore, 79, died of a heart ailment Thursday. She will be buried in Calvary Cemetery beside her brothers, John and Lionel. Pallbearers will be Joseph Cotten, Orrin Kelly, Neil S. McCarthy, Herbert Bayard Swope Jr., Charles Brackett, Phil Dunne and Dr. Clyde Barton.

About 300 mourners attended recitation of the Rosary for Miss Barrymore Sunday night in the Church of the Good Shepherd. Among representatives of the movie colony were Spencer Tracy, Ina Claire, Blanche Ring, Kelly and Cotten.

Miss Barrymore's three children, Samuel Barrymore Colt, John Drew Colt and Ethel Barrymore Colt Miglietta, and the children of John Barrymore, John Jr. and Dolores Bedell, were present. The other daughter of John Barrymore, actress Diana Barrymore, had planned to fly here for the funeral but could not because of flying fat on her leg while she was cooking in her New York apartment.

Movie fans clustered in knots outside the church as the actress' casket was carried 30 feet past banks of floral wreaths into the sanctuary for the Rosary service.

Youth Outdoes Ancient Druids In Welcoming English Summer

By EDDY GILMORE
AMESBURY, England (AP)—Frollicking teenagers and college students outdid the Ancient Order of Druids today in welcoming summer at Britain's historic Stonehenge.

Some 2,000 boys and girls, fortified by whisky, gin and beer, staged a pagan revel around the great stone slabs in southeast England believed to have been raised by sun worshippers about 1500 B. C.

White-robed, solemn-faced Druids—members of a fraternal order—annually greet the sunrise at Stonehenge on June 22, the start of summer. This year the young folks came hours earlier and got a head start.

A glowing full moon rose over the downs while hot and fast Dixieland music provided an obligato to the dancing, shouting and laughing students.

Silhouetted in the moonlight, a pretty blonde flipped off her blouse and bra. Bare from the waist up, she danced a happy jive amid sprawling young people, many entwined in embraces.

At 4 a.m. 14 Druids arrived in the midst of the revel.

At the head of their column was a tall sheathed man carrying a sword. Behind him a lady Druid held aloft a banner. Bringing up the rear was the chief Druid, holding a shepherd's crooked staff.

Flanked by policemen, they marched around the circle of 16-foot high stones. Hundreds of youths flocked along.

"If you think you are going to see a circus," boomed the chief Druid, "you are wrong."

"This is a serious, solemn ceremony which you would understand if you had the intelligence to understand."

A boy with black hair stood up and flapped his arms, yelling, "Omo washes whiter," the slogan of a well-known British detergent.

"I ask for reverence," yelled the chief Druid, "if you've got any reverence in you."

Empty bottles littered the place. About 25 youths lay motionless on the ground, sound asleep.

By this time, heavy clouds had drifted across the dawn sky and the Druids and everyone else were robbed of the opportunity of seeing the sun rise over Stonehenge's great Heel Stone.

It had been a hectic night, but no arrests were reported. Finally most of the teen-agers and Druids drifted off toward Amesbury, some three miles to the east, for breakfast.

Mexican Police Probe Lynching

JALAPA, Mexico (AP)—State authorities are continuing to investigate the lynching of two men accused of raping and killing a 3-year-old girl, including the possibility one of the men may have been innocent.

The men were beaten, kicked and stored to death on the main plaza at Isla, Veracruz, Saturday by members of a mob which battered down the doors of the jail. Accused of criminally abusing and then killing the child were Julian Benitez, 26, and Francisco Colta, 28.

An attorney in the state attorney general's office disclosed privately that one of the mob victims may have been innocent. No arrests have yet been reported.

Derrick Burns Near Odessa

ODESSA (AP)—Fire destroyed a derrick and more than 100 strands of 2-inch tubing yesterday at an oil well site 30 miles northwest of here.

M. M. Brantly of Midland, owner of the M. M. Brantly Drilling Co., estimated the damage at $250,000 to $300,000, possibly higher.

Cause of the blaze was unknown. More than 50 firemen and company employes fought the fire for more than nine hours after it broke out yesterday afternoon.

You get the BIG comfort dividends in your 59 FORD...

Some cars' door openings aren't shaped to fit people! So you have to squirm and wriggle... make your body conform to the car when getting in and out.

NO SQUIRM

Doors in 59 Fords are wider—up to six inches wider—and door openings are contoured to fit you. You get in and out of a Ford with greater ease and comfort. The girls really like Ford's doors... for more graceful entries and exits.

To gain a low roof line, some cars end up with higher floor "humps" and thinly padded rear seats... a combination that's mighty rough on the middleman.

NO SQUEEZE

Fords have useable seating space for six big people. The driveshaft tunnel is lower and rear seats are deeply cushioned all the way across. This means more comfort for all passengers... especially for the man in the middle.

The squeezed-down, skimpy roofs of some cars aren't comfortable even for bare-headed riders. And they don't keep out excessive sunlight and glare.

NO SQUASH

See how much more head room Ford has. Even big six-footers sit up straight without touching the roof. And Ford's big roof protects all passengers, in both front and rear seats, against the discomforts of excessive glare and heat from the sun.

Greater comfort is only the beginning of the dividends you get in a Ford. You get the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Car. You get a big dividend in Ford prices... the lowest of the best-selling three. And you get saving dividends that cut costs every mile you drive. See and Action Test a new Ford at your Ford Dealer's. See how you can go finer... with more comfort... for less... in a new Ford!

White Youths Held In Negro's Shooting

DALTON, Ga. (AP)—Four white youths were held in jail today in connection with the fatal shooting of an 11-year-old Negro boy. Sheriff Donald McArthur said warrants charging murder would be taken out against Kermit Pritchett Jr., 18; Herschell Elkins, 18; Billy Joe Rolen, 17; and Leroy Gentry, 23, all of Dalton. The Negro, Tommy Dwight, was shot to death June 13 while he was at a fish fry at the home of his uncle, McArthur said. The sheriff said the white youths admitted firing at the Negroes, but they said they were only trying to scare them and did not know anyone had been hit until the next morning. The youths were arrested Sunday.

Expert Advises No Link In Heart Fund With United Drives

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White has advised the American Heart Assn. not to merge its independent fund drive with United Fund or Community Chest drives. White is the Boston heart specialist who attended President Eisenhower when he suffered a heart attack in 1955. He is a founder and past president of the American Heart Assn. Heart disease, he said Sunday in a statement, is "too serious a problem to hide in a segment of a united fund." Submerging the problems of heart disease in local Community Chests or United Funds, he added, "would seriously delay our effective progress in the treatment and control of this dangerous threat to our lives and health." White said that while federated funds serve a useful purpose, they were never intended "to enter the fields of extensive and intensive scientific research or the training of research workers."

Warm Springs Fountain Recalls FDR Former Home

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—Water gurgling through a picturesque fountain near the Little White House today reminded visitors this once was the temporary home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The multi-colored native stone fountain consists of four wells, with water cascading from one to another. The fountain is fed from the springs for which this Central Georgia community is named. Its bronze plaque reads: "Erected to the memory of our great President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wood Robert Jr., 1959." Robert, an Atlanta businessman, spoke briefly at the dedication yesterday, recalling his long personal, official and political association with the late President. Robert was an assistant secretary of the Treasury in 1933-36 and treasurer and secretary of the Democratic National Committee 1936-41.

Thunderstorms Soak Texas

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms soaked the fields and towns of North and Central Texas early Monday, close in the wake of a wind and rainstorm which ripped the town of Seymour Sunday night. Trees and TV antennas were damaged and water ran curb deep through Seymour after winds up to 50 miles per hour and 1 1/2 inches of rain hit the Northwest Texas town. Wichita Falls, 50 miles east of Seymour, caught 2.25 inches of rain before midnight. A Monday morning thunderstorm dished .74 inch of rain on Fort Worth and .65 on Dallas.

GET BACK ON SCHEDULE

Millions of people have found a safe way to correct constipation caused by lack of bulk. It's the Kellogg's All-Bran way—and it works even when harsh laxative drugs have failed. You see, laxative drugs contain no bulk and can do nothing to correct the cause of the trouble. Kellogg's All-Bran, on the other hand, is a whole bran cereal and bran is nature's best bulk-forming food. A half-cup serving of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk gives you all the good food bulk needed for consistent daily regularity. Try eating good-tasting Kellogg's All-Bran for 10 days and see if it doesn't work for you, too.

Solon Seeking To Save Mustang, Symbol Of West

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman wants to save the wild mustang—a symbol of the West—from extinction. About 20,000 of the horses roam the Western states. But their number grows smaller, says Rep. Walter S. Baring (D-NeV.), as modern roundups, using planes and trucks, capture the mustangs for dog food. Baring has introduced a bill aimed at stopping mechanized wild horse roundups. Under his bill, hunters could not use planes or trucks to catch horses or burros on public lands. In addition, they could not pollute watering holes to trap the animals. A House Judiciary subcommittee, besieged with mail on the subject, has scheduled a hearing on the measure July 15. In an interview, Baring gave a vivid description of the mechanized roundup: Low-flying planes herd the horses to flatlands, where other hunters, waiting in trucks, run the animals to exhaustion. The horses then are hoped and hobbled until they can be hauled to slaughter. "By the time they reach the slaughterhouses their hides have been practically torn to pieces and they are more dead than alive from the brutal treatment they have received," Baring said. In Nevada alone, he said, there are but 5,000 mustangs remaining of a herd that at one time numbered 70,000. Baring said his bill was aimed both at securing humane treatment for the animals and saving them from extinction. "Mustangs," he said, "are as traditional to the West as the six gun."

Air Station Closing Scored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Closing the overhaul and repair department at Corpus Christi Air Station was termed yesterday an ill-planned and hasty decision. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), released a report of the Senate Preparedness Investigating Committee on the shut-down set for June 30. The committee asked the Navy to review the case and the adequacy of its overhaul and repair departments. The subcommittee report said, "There was no written justification or staff study in existence prior to the time the Secretary of the Navy announced his decision on Dec. 18, 1958." The report said the Navy admitted it will spend about 12 million dollars to deactivate the department. "This includes shipment of the material awaiting overhaul, new spare parts and mothballing costs. This will outweigh economy as a factor and make the closing wasteful." The report said the additional cost includes hiring about 1,800 persons at the remaining eight installations to perform some of the work stemming from the closing.

Youth Scalds Baby To Death In Tub

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A youth told police Sunday he placed his 18-month-old stepson in a tub of scalding water and calmly washed a sinkful of dishes while listening to the child's screams. Tony Ray East died Saturday of second and third degree burns which covered most of his body. Police charged the stepfather, Leroy Joseph Rideaux, 19, with murder. The Negro youth told Medical Investigator A. A. Martindale the incident occurred last Tuesday when he returned home from work. He became angry, he said, when he tried to feed the child grits and the child spat them out.

A Devotional For Today

Let us . . . come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. (Hebrews 4:16.)

PRAYER: Take command of our lives, O Lord, and so direct them that we shall avoid the pitfalls that daily surround us. Take our wills and make them Thine. Guide us in paths of righteousness, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Troublesome Traffic Spot

One of the most troublesome traffic spots in the city is on Scurry adjacent to the post office.

At this point angle parking provides more space, but it compounds the problem in the traffic lanes. With nothing more than a package to pick up or post or the mail to be taken from a box, the temptation to do a quickie in double parking is great.

Actually, there are rare moments when the most remarkable thing of all comes to pass—triple parking. This, of course, is the great exception and only serves to emphasize the situation that obliges southbound motorists to swing all the way over to the northbound side of the street.

Only the foresight and generosity of the county in providing recessed parking prevents a perpetual snarl of traffic and a wholesale bumping of fenders.

Double parking is against the law (a fact that some unloaders ought to remember) and adjacent to the post office we have reached the point where it is imperative that this rule be observed. Perhaps painting of a center stripe there would be helpful; or perhaps a patrolman at busiest times would stimulate the flow of traffic.

Compromise Rather Than Nothing

Speaker Sam Rayburn told newsmen the other day that the House "must act" this year on the anti-racketeering features of the labor reform bill, on which the House Labor Committee had just completed hearings.

He declared that the House must not be involved in an irrelevant controversy over revision of the Taft-Hartley bill at this time, so he suggested postponement of T-H revision until 1960.

His comment was apropos of a suggestion by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) that action be confined when the House takes up the labor bill next month to its anti-racketeering features and nothing else. From a management standpoint the Roosevelt proposal carries its own handicap, for it is essentially what spokesmen for Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters Union put forward.

It may come down to this: a choice between a bill that would embody at least some of the principles of rank-and-file union members' "bill of rights" against unscrupulous labor bosses, or no bill at all. If the proposed anti-racketeering features were not too watered down, advocates of strong labor reforms might prefer it to no action. Moreover, they might find a year's postponement of Taft-Hartley amendments not too hard to take, for any opening of that broad subject at this time, with the House and Senate heavily weighted with progressives, might result in the evisceration of the T-H law and its relegation to the ash-heap of lost causes.

It seems clear "Mr. Sam" favors compromise to stalemate. In view of the McClellan Committee revelations, it is difficult to see how Congress can fail to take some definitive action this year, and it had better be something more than a milksoop type.

Douglas A Veteran In Money Battle

WASHINGTON — "Present." That's how Sen. Paul H. Douglas (Dem. Ill.) voted in 1951 on the confirmation of William McChesney Martin Jr., as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin had been Under Secretary of the Treasury to John W. Snyder in the Truman administration. Douglas wouldn't okay a man he felt had not discovered the Federal Reserve to become an engine of cheap money.

Yet today, Douglas wants the Federal Reserve to buy long-term government bonds and so reduce their yields. He is opposing President Eisenhower's request to eliminate the 4 1/2-year-old 4 1/2 per cent interest ceiling on such marketable government bonds. Has Douglas turned a politico-economic somersault? No!

His own party that interest rates should be forced down willy-nilly. He doesn't want the Federal Reserve to become an engine of cheap money. Douglas feels the Reserve Board has not fostered economic growth. "The administration has been fighting a monetary inflation which does not exist," he said in the Senate. "While the recovery has made a good beginning, we still have a great deal more unemployment than we should have. We do not now face a situation where there is too much money chasing too few goods."

Sen. Douglas offers four main objections to the President's proposal.

1. No long-term bonds come due until November, 1960.

2. The administration, itself, scares investors away from buying bonds by talking so much about inflation. After all, the cost of living has been stable "for the past year."

3. Federal Reserve-Treasury policy has contributed to the rise in interest rates. If the Reserve would abandon its "bills only" policy and buy bonds, bond prices would rise, and the 4 1/2 per cent ceiling would give Secretary of the Treasury Anderson plenty of standing room. "Douglas isn't asking that the Reserve inflate credit. He'd offset purchases of bonds with sales of short-term securities."

4. By closing "notorious tax loopholes," notably high depletion on oil, the administration would generate a budget surplus and be able to reduce its debt and the interest rate.

Critics of Douglas say he wants the Federal Reserve Board to be free to manage money in the way he, Douglas, thinks it should be managed. They answer:

1. It's irrelevant that no long-term bonds fall due until late next year. The Treasury ought to be free to sell bonds at any time. The 4 1/2 ceiling makes this impossible when Treasury bonds can be bought in Wall Street to return 4.4 per cent.

2. Because prices have not risen for a year is hardly an indication that inflation has ceased. The U. S. has emerged from a recession. The remarkable fact is that during the recession prices did not recede.

3. The purchase of government bonds rather than bills is a detail in money management. Douglas is substituting his judgment for the Reserve Board's. Who knows if long-term interest rates would fall if what he urges were done?

4. Tax loopholes are a matter for Congress, not the administration. Douglas cannot be "kissed off" as a partisan legislator carried away by his own ignorance. He is a distinguished economist, an erudite senator, and a conscientious man dealing with a subject he understands. But I think—and I say this deferentially—that in the 1959 battle of the interest rate he is concentrating on minutiae of money management and an idea fixe.

He complains that recovery has not been fast enough. This is a disputable interpretation. To many economists, the rebound from the recession has been classical in dimensions and satisfactory. Yet Douglas blames the "slow recovery" on the Treasury and the Federal Reserve System.

Therefore, he refuses to grant what has become a fact in Wall Street—the higher interest rate on Treasury bonds.

(This is the second of two articles on Sen. Douglas and the Battle of the Interest Rate.)

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—A gift of $300 from the Waukesha Daily Freeman made possible the purchase of an important Abraham Lincoln manuscript by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. He suggested that the Chickapee munitions works be put in full operation.

James Marlow The Slow Game Of Mumble Mumble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mumble-mumble game is coming to a climax. Since May 5 the nation, which would be heavily affected by a steel strike, has watched the steel union and the steel industry going through the motions of bargaining on a new contract.

All the two sides have really done is mumble about what they want—and don't want—without ever getting very specific.

But the three-year contract between the union and the industry ends June 30. Unless there is agreement on a new contract by that time, the country faces a shutdown in steel production.

In these weeks of talks both sides have pumped out propaganda. What they seem to have been doing is jockeying for a favorable position in public opinion in case a strike and shutdown come. It can hardly be called collective bargaining.

The United Steelworkers Union demanded a substantial wage boost, plus pension improvements, more work opportunities for idle members, and a better unemployment compensation system.

The present average wage of a steelworker is $3.03 an hour. The 12 steel companies with which the union is talking argued that a wage increase is inflationary—that it inevitably would force them to raise steel prices. Therefore the industry proposed a wage-freeze for another year.

A price increase in steel, which is used in so many other fields of American living, traditionally has been regarded as the starting point for price increases in other businesses and industries.

The Steelworkers Union contends company profits are so high a wage increase could be absorbed without passing it on in the form of higher steel prices.

On June 10 the industry proposed dropping its wage-freeze concession on about eight different parts of its contract. Union President David J. McDonald rejected this, calling it "industrial blackmail."

From the very beginning President Eisenhower has urged both sides to use self-discipline because of the effect he thinks their decisions will have on the rest of the economy.

He pleaded against setting off a wage-price spiral that would boost living costs generally. Last Friday the government's figures showed living costs hit a new record high.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers got in on the act by lining up with the steel industry. It urged a wage freeze to prevent inflation.

The AFL-CIO jumped in, too. Its executive council backed up the Steelworkers by arguing a wage freeze in steel and other industries would cause further unemployment and economic recession.

Meanwhile, both sides have tried to prepare the ground for blaming each other if a steel strike comes—the industry putting the responsibility on the union, the union on the industry.

It may seem to the general public that both sides would look a lot more adult if they cut out the mumble-which is really stalling—and got down to cases.

Suppose there is a strike, what could the government do? The President—to prevent a shut down—could invoke the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act through a court-ordered 80-day delay in a strike.

The union might seek to deprive the President of this weapon by striking only one company instead of the whole industry. It could argue that loss of steel from one company was not a national emergency.

In the past it has been union policy to invoke complete industry shutdowns.

Inez Robb Idaho Aunts Doing Fine, Thank You

BOISE, Idaho—Since my Aunt Nell, 86, and Aunt Kit, 85, reared me in a manner so straight-laced it would fracture current teen-agers, their own conduct at the moment amazes me.

I was rigidly commanded to avoid strange gentlemen in person or via the mails. Yet now that I am home, they not only complacently tell me of going out to dine recently with two strange men but blame me for the venture.

"If you didn't write about us all the time, we wouldn't be getting letters from all over asking for genealogical information or wanting our recipe for pumpkin pie or calves' brains with scrambled eggs," Aunt Kit says accusingly.

"And at least at my age," adds Aunt Nell, "I am not apt to be led astray!"

At all odds, two gentlemen, no longer boys by any reckoning, wrote Aunt Kit for any genealogical information she might have on a certain branch of the family. The correspondence went back and forth desultorily until the gentlemen wrote that they were driving through Idaho on such-and-such a day and would be pleased to call and take the aunts to dinner.

"Well, they stopped and they were charming gentlemen," says Aunt Kit. "And we all went out to a very pleasant dinner. I felt I ought to go along to keep an eye on Kittie," says Aunt Nell.

Furthermore, a letter has just arrived from the gentlemen, thanking the aunts for a delightful evening and expressing the hope the two will again go to dinner with them if and when they again cross Idaho.

In one woman's opinion, it is the current craze for genealogy rather than my fault that my aunts are now breaking all the rules they once taught me. In the West into which I was born, it was always regarded as sufficient unto respectability thereof if any family could flourish wedding certificates for two or three generations in arrears. And if they could not, no one asked any nosy questions.

I would doubt that my father ever asked another man a personal question beyond his name. Papa was a true son of the West, which didn't encourage loopy curiosity in his day. And you didn't ask, either, if the man's name really was John Smith. You just let it go at that.

But everyone out here now owns a Geiger counter (who can tell what you may encounter in the mountains on a fishing trip?) and a genealogical tome. (The most memorable family crisis I remember occurred when Aunt Nell was joining the DAR and we couldn't find my great-great-grandfather's second wedding license. Since we were descended from the second wife, it was crucial. It was found in time to make us legal.)

Most of the above should answer the letters, on an average of two per day, asking what has become of my aunts. They are just dandy, thank God. There seems no way to slow up Aunt Kit. She still gardens strenuously at her home in Nampa. While Robert Frost plants a few trees every year, Aunt Kit plants a few more roses.

At the moment, Aunt Nell is whipping a hem with fine, almost invisible stitches, in her daughter-in-law, Louise's, new dress. She and Aunt Kit are already dressed for the cocktail and dinner party at the country club to which we are all going in a few minutes. They will be the life of it, or I miss my guess. ## David Lawrence Tragic Episode In Senate History

WASHINGTON — One of the most tragic episodes in the entire history of the United States Senate is the fight that was waged to defeat the confirmation of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce.

It is tragic because it was based on a personal feud. When hatreds become deep-seated, they sometimes produce far-reaching cleavages, with emotion substituted for reason.

The dispute was the outgrowth of friction between Mr. Strauss and Senator Clinton Anderson, Democrat, of New Mexico. When the former was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, he rubbed Senator Anderson the wrong way.

The New Mexico senator is chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee in Congress. He is influential with his colleagues. Many sided with him — as members of the senatorial club often do — without particular regard to the merits of a question but with greater regard for the wishes of a fellow-senator.

Mr. Anderson's home state — New Mexico — is the seat of the atomic laboratories where many scientists are gathered. Some of them are embittered over what they believe was Mr. Strauss' animosity toward J. Robert Oppenheimer, the scientist whose "clearance" was denied for security reasons by a presidential board. While Mr. Strauss was not a member of this board he did present to the White House the charges that led to the inquiry. It was natural that many of Mr. Anderson's constituents should expect him to do what he could to punish Mr. Strauss.

But this isn't all of the controversy. It couldn't be focused on the Communist issue alone. It so happens that Mr. Strauss fought against governmental operation of power projects and in favor of private power. So this gave an opportunity for some of his foes in that field to be lined up against him.

The tactics have been palpable for months. The hearing held by a Senate committee was more of an inquisition than the normal recording of the views of a prospective cabinet officer. Usually the opposition party doesn't object to the appointment by a President of whomever he wants in a cabinet post. But the recent hearings resulted in a bitter fencing match and naturally the answers provoked were not always as clear cut as they would be if a different atmosphere had prevailed. Mr. Strauss was thereupon attacked as being "deceitful" and as lacking in character.

But not all the Democrats allowed this vendetta to envelop them. Senator Thom-

Nicknames Aid Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — A kid holds up a store. All police know is his nickname: Bugle Head. How do they pick Bugle Head up?

Police in Washington solve the problem with a file of more than 10,000 nicknames.

Expanded every day by arrest and investigation reports, the file matches nicknames with the regular names of many of the city's young troublemakers. A nickname could be the clue that solves a case.

Police said the old standbys were most popular: Sonny, Butch and Buddy. But Baby Brother, Country, Duck, Bubbles and Elue are moving up.

Others on the list include Bubba, Frog, Pat, Daddy, Bird, Brain, Heavy, Dog, Gray Squirrel, Thorn Head, Ape, Big Head, Bean Buck, Carrot Nose and Chow Mein.

One fellow is called Appetite. Police put his name in the files after arresting him for breaking into a restaurant.

Four Are Injured In Crash South Of Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Four persons were injured, none seriously in an accident involving an automobile and pickup Sunday at 7:55 p.m., 11 miles southeast of Colorado City.

Most seriously injured was Charles J. Hilgar, 32, Verdadero, Wash., who received serious facial lacerations and possible eye injuries, and was transferred to Big Spring for further treatment.

Hilgar was a passenger in an automobile owned and driven by Tom Neff, 28, Colorado City. Neff received minor cuts and lacerations and was under treatment at the Root Memorial Hospital. Joe Neff also a passenger, was treated for minor lacerations.

Driver of the other vehicle, a pickup owned by rancher Jim Maddox, Colorado City, was Mrs. Virginia Del Leon De Martinez, 22, who was unhurt. Mrs. Martinez is a resident of Piedras Negras, Mexico and has been in the United States for three months.

According to Highway Patrolman Edward Rogers, who investigated the accident, Mrs. Martinez has only been driving for three months. She was unhurt, and her husband Luis Saucedo Martinez, 26, an employee of Jim Maddox, was treated for lacerations about his right eye.
