DEAR ABBY

UP TO YOU, SON

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and think I should have something to say about this matter. My parents are forcing me to go to summer camp again this year.

I went last year and hated it. I didn't have one friend.

My parents tell me there are plenty of kids my age who would give anything to go to summer camp. I told them they could go in my place.

They said if I thought I was going to sit around all summer and watch television I was sadly mistaken. What's wrong with staying home and watching television? I think my parents are just trying to get rid of me. What can I do?

CAMP HATER
DEAR HATER: Change your attitude. You are being offered a healthy, constructive summer in wholesome out-of-doors atmosphere. Here is an opportunity to gain valuable experience in learning to get along with others. Determine to make friends and enjoy camp — and you will. Your parents know what they are doing.

DEAR ABBY: If answered in the paper, my problem could help many other married men with the same trouble. My wife is a convention hound. National, State, Regional or District. It doesn't make any difference. She joins organizations for the sole purpose of going out of town to conventions. She spends money on clothes to keep up with the national officers, and I have to stay home and make the money for her to spend. I eat out alone and have to come back to an empty house. How can I put a stop to this?

CONVENTION WIDOWER
DEAR "WIDOWER": Appoint yourself Chairman of the "Committee to Preserve the Home Front." Rule that charity begins at home (yours) and tell her you can't spare her but once a year. Then, revise the "buy-laws."

DEAR ABBY: I have been in love with this guy for six years. He has talked about marriage in a round-about way, but he never comes right out and asks me to marry him. He is no schoolboy, Abby. He is 41 years old. I am 33. He keeps telling me he needs time to think. How much time is enough to "think in"?

THE LONELY ONE
DEAR LONELY: It depends on what he is thinking about. If he has been thinking about marriage, six years is ample time in which to come to a decision. Give him until the Fourth of July. If you have to put a firecracker under him — look elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: Can any of your readers help me? I am in my 20's and my hair is coming out by the handful. I had a baby five months ago and everyone says that's why it is coming out. Everytime I comb my hair so much hair comes out that I get scared to death. If I don't do something about it I won't have any hair left at all. I have had two other children and my hair never came out like this before so I'm afraid that isn't the answer. Please help me.

IN MY 20'S
DEAR IN: Go to your doctor and let him examine your scalp. Don't guess! In all probability something can be done for this condition. I recommend professional medical advice immediately.

Air Training Command Will Get New Chief

Air Training Command, under whose jurisdiction Webb Air Force Base operates, is to have a new commanding officer.

Announcement from Washington Tuesday, listing a general change-up in high commands, said that Lt. Gen. Frederic H. Smith, now ATC chief, will go to the post of commander in chief of U. S. Air Force in Europe, succeeding Gen. Frank F. Everest, who moves to command of TAC.

Smith is being nominated by President Eisenhower for the fourth star of a full general. Gen. Smith is to be succeeded as chief of ATC by Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs, now superintendent of the Air Force Academy. Briggs also has been nominated for advancement to three-star general.

Anti-Peron Hero Growing Restless

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt that toppled Juan Peron, issued a defiant call early today for the resignation of President Arturo Frondizi. The government shot back that Frondizi will not quit.

Rojas sounded a virtual call to arms to the country's increasing rebellious armed forces. Branding the 14-month-old Frondizi administration "larnished and illegitimate," Rojas warned the president he faces a military ouster if he fails to heed the ultimatum to resign.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, the president's staunchest defender in the week-old crisis, retorted that the government would meet the threat of revolt with all its power. The sudden development clearly drew the lines between the government and rebellious factions in the armed forces. Rojas' denunciation was the boldest open defiance to Frondizi's harried regime. Vitolo's sharp answer made it clear that Frondizi is determined to cling to the presidency even if it means a showdown with the armed forces.

It appeared extremely doubtful Frondizi would be able to work out a compromise with the military rebels. The only question seemed to be whether the military leaders have enough strength to force the president out.

Rojas' ultimatum was delivered to a late news conference after a hectic day of conferences between Frondizi and political leaders. The president sought to piece together a new cabinet in hopes of appeasing the military men who have accused him of ineffective economic policies and of coddling the Communists and Peronists who helped elect him.

Frondizi's entire cabinet resigned Monday under pressure from the military, who demanded sweeping changes in the regime. Tuesday night Frondizi offered the key post of economics minister to Alvaro Alsogaray, 46-year-old president of the minor Civic Independent party and leading advocate of a free enterprise system.

Austin Fights For Medical Branch

AUSTIN (AP)—A fight to locate the third medical branch of the University of Texas here will be continued, Sen. Charles Herring of Austin said yesterday. He said San Antonio "lost it once before and there's always a chance to get it for Austin where it belongs."

He said San Antonio residents told legislative committees a site adjoining the county hospital would be furnished. But he said "they have not delivered on their promises."

Constipation eased away

You no longer need to resort to harsh laxative drugs when lack of bulk is causing constipation. Now you can correct the trouble safely and pleasantly the Kellogg's All-Bran way. This is the natural way to get the good food bulk your system needs for consistent regularity. Kellogg's All-Bran is so effective that just a daily half-cup serving provides enough bulk to keep you right on schedule.

Millions of folks stay regular as clockwork all year long with Kellogg's All-Bran. Try it for 10 days—see if it doesn't work for you, too.

Congress Supports Herter Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's stand against yielding the freedom of West Berlin found overwhelming support in Congress today.

U. S. diplomats hoped the evidence of solid congressional backing in both parties would help impress in Communist minds the need for a change in Moscow's policy if there is ever to be a peaceful solution to the German crisis.

Herter spoke grimly Tuesday night in reporting to the American people on the six weeks of deadlock at the Geneva foreign ministers conference on Germany. The negotiations recessed last Saturday until July 13.

In a 15-minute radio-TV speech, the American foreign affairs chief called on the Soviets to abandon their drive "to add more than two million free West Berliners to the captive peoples of Eastern Europe."

"This is the critical question," he said. "If the Soviets do not hold to this annexationist design, we should be able to reach agreements on Berlin consistent with the honor and interest of all our countries."

The Reds touched off the crisis by demanding an end to the post-war Allied occupation of West Berlin. Britain, France and the United States refused to pull out of the Communist-encircled city without an arrangement for its freedom. The Soviets rejected all Western offers.

Herter linked West Berlin's freedom to America's own. "When their freedom is diminished, our freedom is inevitably diminished," he said.

He pictured Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as uttering threats and "Communist upside-down talk," aided by the "baneful influence" of speechmaking by Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow and elsewhere while the foreign ministers sat at Geneva.

He won widespread backing from congressmen.

The assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, Mike Mansfield of Montana, voiced hope that "with the straight-forward, hard hitting speech by Secretary Herter, Khrushchev will take the hint and start working in diplomacy toward some solid proposals to be offered when the foreign ministers talks are resumed at Geneva."

The Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Kirkson of Illinois, said the American people "will applaud the courage, resolution and firmness of Secretary Herter in his determination to stand up for the liberties of the people of West Berlin."

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said Herter in effect told the Soviets to "go ahead and see if you can't come up with something concrete that would justify a summit conference."

Numerous other members of Congress similarly supported Herter's stand, and many praised his performance at Geneva.

Herter said "some degree of progress" must be made at Geneva in order to warrant a meeting of heads of state afterwards. "Regrettably," he said, "no such progress has as yet been registered at Geneva."

On the plus side he reported the negotiations had:

1. Produced worldwide approval of the Western Powers' plan for solving the Berlin problem, and the problem of a divided Germany, through a peaceful reunification of Germany with Berlin to be the capital.

2. Demonstrated a high degree of unity among the Allies.

3. Disclosed possible means of specific agreement with the Communists on Berlin.

"I believe that it may be possible to build on these areas of agreement if the Soviet Union is prepared to accept the continued existence of a free West Berlin under Western protection," he said.

"The path to a just peace will be long and difficult," he added. "We will continue with the patience and understanding and firmness needed to travel that path so long as it remains open."

Marilyn Better After Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Film star Marilyn Monroe was reported in excellent condition today after an operation. She is expected to leave the hospital Friday.

The nature of the operation was not disclosed. The surgeon was a gynecologist, Dr. Mortimer Rodgers.

He said "there was no evidence of pregnancy. She had not been feeling well for a couple of days prior to coming in here."

Her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, said the surgery was of a corrective nature.

Miller and Marilyn both have expressed a desire to have children. She has had two miscarriages since their marriage.

Disabled Get New Chance At Work

ALBERTSON, N.Y. (AP) — Henry Viscardi Jr. is unlike any other boss. He won't hire a healthy worker.

Within the walls of his factory on Long Island the legless, the armless and the blind produce more than two million dollars worth of electronic equipment a year, Viscardi said in an interview.

Now persons who were mentally disturbed are coming to work.

An armless, legless man is a foreman in the packaging department. Another supervisor works flat on his back from a litter. His back and legs are fused as a result of spinal injuries.

Viscardi has known of afflictions since birth. He was born with two short stumps where legs should have been.

In 1947, aged 35, Viscardi quit his job as director of personnel for a large textile firm to devote his time to a new idea in rehabilitation.

brand-new plant, soon to be accompanied by a new gymnasium, swimming pool and facilities for music societies, adult education, a camera club and arts and crafts.

Viscardi is married and has four daughters, the oldest 11 and the youngest 3.

His cheerful outlook becomes even sunnier when he discusses the plant's safety record. There have been two reportable injuries in six years, a far safer situation than the national average, he says.

Recently Abilities, Inc., began hiring persons discharged from mental institutions. Already employed were paraplegics, epileptics, cardiacs, amputees, the blind, deaf mutes and victims of cerebral palsy, rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis, polio and cancer.

Seriously disabled, from floor-sweeper up to the boss, the men and women at Abilities, Inc., work for wages comparable to other firms of its size and get their jobs done on schedule—without rejects, Viscardi says.

Senator Says Demos Need Dixie Support

HOUSTON (AP) — Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who says the Democratic party is irresponsible, said last night that the Democrats cannot win in 1960 "without the South's 100 per cent backing."

No Democratic hopeful, including Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader from Texas, is "catching on," Goldwater told a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner.

The Arizona senator predicted a Republican victory in next year's general election with Vice President Richard Nixon as the GOP presidential candidate.

Of Johnson, regarded by many as the Democrats' top candidate, Goldwater said flatly, "We can beat him."

He told his audience that Johnson runs the Senate with an iron hand and said the Texan played an important role last week in the Senate's rejection of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

"I was surprised by Senator Johnson's using his influence to defeat Strauss," Goldwater said. He called the Strauss rejection deplorable, said it stemmed from "petty jealousy," and said the Democrats in Congress were lacking in courage.

The conservative approach, Goldwater said, is the only salvation for today's problems. "Liberalism" has become a radical movement," he said. "We have a welfare state today that is growing instead of retreating. We have a centralized government. As a Republican, I am proud we have been able to slow it down."

BLAMED ON DEMOS
Goldwater blamed Democrats for inflation, high budgets and deficit spending.

"The party that travels in the empty shell of the Democratic party is one of irresponsibility," he said. "Another field of irresponsibility is reflected in the fact that not one of the possible Democratic nominees for president has said a word about curbing the labor bosses."

Goldwater said the United States faces possible bankruptcy within 15 years if deficit spending is not stopped. He said expenditures for veterans and agriculture should be cut.

Cutting farm aid to "what it should be," he said, would balance the budget at once. He said it should be cut from 11 billion dollars to one billion dollars.

Aid to veterans, he added, should be limited to those wounded or disabled while in military service. He opposed any new federal aid programs, including schools and housing, and said the federal highway program should be dropped.

Two Contracts Are Awarded By Webb
Two contracts were awarded Tuesday by Webb AFB, according to Capt. Walter M. Bullock, procurement staff officer.

Package Machinery Co., East Long Meadow, N. J., submitted the low bid for a meat and produce wrapping machine. It was $10,000.50.

Chester Darnier of San Angelo submitted the low bid for the contract to repair clocks and watches for the current fiscal year. The bid was $1,890.25.

Colleges Blamed For Poor English

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Colleges and universities which complain that their students can't speak or write good English have themselves to blame, a college English professor said today.

"The great majority of our grade school and high school teachers were not properly prepared for their jobs in college," said Eugene E. Slaughter of Southeast Oklahoma State College. "They can't pass on to their students what they don't know themselves."

Slaughter is here to expound his theories at the annual Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. Delegates are trying to work out a practical program of teacher education.

Youth Held In Kidnaping

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A former Chicago youth described by his attorney as a "confused and frightened 17-year-old boy" was held in jail in $20,000 bond today on a charge of kidnaping a 7-year-old girl.

Raymond Alwyn McMahon surrendered to police Tuesday shortly after the Fulton County grand jury indicted him on the kidnaping charge. He had been the object of an extensive four-day police search.

McMahon's attorney, William Schley Howard Jr., said the youth had been hiding at the home of his grandmother in suburban East Point, or in woods nearby. He quoted the grandmother, Minnie Hardy, as saying that the youth was so frightened and excited he was incoherent.

Police said McMahon allegedly enticed Sally Carroll, 7, into his car Friday afternoon and drove off.

Mrs. Robert E. Carroll Jr., rescued her daughter a few minutes later by ramming the abductor's car with her station wagon after a two-mile chase.

'Superman' Actor Leaves Mysteries

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor George Reeves, who solved mysteries as Superman on television with unearthly strength and skill, continues to leave them in death.

Why did he complain to the city attorney's office that the woman to whom he left most of his estate—a movie executive's wife—was harassing him with phone calls?

Was the June 16 gunshot death of Reeves, 45, really a suicide? His mother has hired an attorney to investigate.

Where is the second will that his fiancée, Leona Leamon, 35, says she believes he made, naming her as chief beneficiary?

Miss Leamon, New York cafe socialite, was not mentioned in the will filed for probate in Santa Monica Superior Court. The document named as chief recipient Toni Mannix, wife of Eddie J. Mannix, vice president of Loew's, Inc., and former manager of MGM Studio.

Mrs. Mannix issued a statement Tuesday saying she and her husband had been friends of Reeves for years. It said she supported his work for ill children and: "I intend to continue this work."

A complete autopsy, performed Tuesday was ordered by Coroner Theodore Curphey "to satisfy the mother" of Reeves, Helen Lescher Bessolo said in Galesburg, Ill., she doesn't think the actor killed himself.

After the autopsy Curphey confirmed the police finding that Reeves shot himself to death at his home.

Meanwhile, Deputy City Atty. Noel R. Slipsager said Reeves came to his West Los Angeles office the week of March 27 and complained he had been receiving "round-the-clock telephone calls from someone who hung up when he answered. Reeves said he had reason to believe the calls were coming from Mrs. Mannix.

Because of Reeves' suspicions, Slipsager wrote Mrs. Mannix a letter that said in part: "Kindly be advised that Mr. George Reeves has complained to this office about telephone calls by you to his place of residence.

"In the event you pursue a course of conduct which harasses, annoys and disturbs him, this office must consider a criminal complaint based on such action."

Mrs. Mannix never replied to the letter, Slipsager said. Later investigation, he added, convinced him the calls were not coming from her home.

Miss Leamon, Reeves' fiancée, contended there was a second will and said: "There's something very peculiar about this whole thing." But her attorney, Leon Kaplan, expressed doubt there was a second will.

Arthur Weissman, Reeves' personal manager and executor, said neither he nor Reeves' attorneys knew of a later will.

People Turn Backs On Polio Vaccine, Doses Go To Waste

By BOBBY HORTON
Paralytic polio is on the increase this year.

A tragedy? It's probably yours. For while paralytic cases of poliomyelitis—the dread disease conquered by the Salk vaccine in 1957—are popping up at a rate twice that of last year, vials of the immunizing medicine are going to waste like raindrops.

There's been no paralytic polio case reported in Howard County this year. That, however, is no assurance there won't be. Across the nation there have been 452 cases since January 1 as against 231 in the first 23 weeks of 1958.

The National Health Council has said that only 77 million of 175 million Americans have had one or more of the shots. Moreover, 98 million have had none at all and this includes 41 million in the vulnerable age under 40.

BOUNCES BACK
In 1955 there were 39,000 cases of polio but after the Salk vaccine was developed there were less than 6,000 cases in 1957. But in 1958 polio began increasing rather than declining. Paralytic polio rose that year 44 per cent over 1957.

Meanwhile, vials of the vaccine becoming outdated are being taken from refrigeration and sent back to pharmaceutical houses for refunds.

"I just hope the people can be jarred to their senses," says Wayne Gound, a local pharmacist who sent back 50 vials—900 doses—last year.

The public attitude, he says, is frustrating. Gound has 10 vials on hand now, since the demand is at a low ebb. Usually he would carry 20, and if the public were taking the vaccine as recommended he would keep a normal stock of 300 vials.

Several local pharmacies stock the vaccine for the hospitals; a few act as a middle agent; and some don't bother with keeping it.

'NO USE'
Some, like Willard Sullivan, Settles Drug pharmacist, just shrug: "There's no use." He stocked five vials for 18 months. No calls. His theory is to make the vaccine compulsory, like the small-pox injections. Keep children out of school until they have them.

Bennett, Brooks, Edwards
Heights pharmacist, has five vials now outdated. He figures 10 have gone over the time limit in the past two years.

When the vaccine first became available, Brooks kept 12 to 14 in refrigeration; he'll keep only a couple now.

What to do? Brooks says, "People just need educating."

Another pharmacist, Mort Denton, is cautious about ordering too much vaccine. He, like the others, doesn't want it to go to waste—Denton had paralytic polio as a youth.

Needless to say, his family has had polio shots.

Joe Hedeston, Cunningham-Phillips pharmacist, won't stock more than a half-dozen vials now. He's sent back three since January. Other pharmacists here have had similar experiences.

The vials contain nine cubic centimeters and are kept under refrigeration. A person vaccinated gets one c.c. per injection. After two to five weeks, another dose is given, and the third is administered after seven months. Physicians and pharmacists say that a booster should be given a year after the third injection.

ORAL VACCINE COMING
It is also reported by several pharmacists that an oral dose will be developed soon, eliminating the need for the needle. One said babies would be vaccinated against polio at birth, within a year.

Dr. R. E. Johnson, Midland, director of the Midland-Ector-Howard health unit, says that the amount of outdated polio vaccine returned from Midland, Odessa and Big Spring departments is relatively small.

He attributes this to the fact that the vaccine can be shuffed about the county and used before time limits run out. The local City-County Health Unit, he says, has about 200 doses on hand now.

The unit places an order about once a month, and vaccine can come from the State Department of Health in Austin in a few days.

But even among the indigents, where no cost is involved, the record of polio vaccine inoculations is appallingly light.

Tempting Offer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—O. V. Norris, 55, picked George E. Emerson, 27, from a police line-up as the man who robbed a grocery store where Norris worked.

Over 50 Boys Try For Honors In Soap Box Classic Thursday

The sound of construction activity around town may be work on Soap Box Derby coasters. More than 50 boys are applying last-minute touches to racers which they hope will carry them on to rich rewards, as they compete in the city's sixth annual Soap Box Derby Thursday night.

The race this year again will be run under lights, for comfort of spectators, and starting time is 8 p.m. The track is on Lancaster Street, running northward from 15th, and there is plenty of curbside space for spectators. Refreshments will be available from members of the Downtown Lions Club, who sponsor the event along with The Herald and Tidwell Chevrolet.

A list of top merchandise awards are available to winners in the race, but of course the big payoff is to the champion. He wins a big trophy and also wins an expense-paid trip to Akron, Ohio, where in August he represents Big Spring in the All-American Soap Box Derby. There he has an opportunity to win national fame, plus a share in college scholarships that total $15,000. Boys between ages 11 and 15

DERBY BOYS' SCHEDULE

Note to Soap Box Derby boys: Be at "topside" of the Lancaster Street track — at 15th Street — at 8 a.m. Thursday. Your car will have to stand final inspection, and you will get a trial run. After you are released and your car OK'd, arrange to be back at the track by 5:30 Thursday. All Soap Boxers will be taken to the City Park for free barbecue, courtesy Texas A&M Club. Be back at the track Thursday night well before 8 p.m. You will be given special helmets, assigned heat numbers, and given all last-minute instructions.

will be running on the Lancaster Street course, with a system of heat eliminations being employed. All cars must have been built by the boys, according to strict specifications set up by the All-American organization.

The Derby opens this year with a feature race between two community leaders, Col. Kyle Riddle of Webb Air Force Base, and R. L. Tolett, president of Cosden. Special cars — "Kyle's Kar" and "The Mr. T." have been constructed, and this event bids to be one of the speediest trials of the evening.

Members of the Lions Club will be in charge of the race, in handling starting details, in checking the finish line and in handling public address and safety phases.

Police will assist in handling the crowd. A special appeal is made that all spectators stay off the street and well back on the curb, for safety.

Commission Okays Traffic Division Under Police

City commissioners Tuesday evening approved the establishment of a traffic division within the police department.

They also added a new patrol car to the police fleet. The traffic division has been favorably discussed previously. However, the lack of manpower and absence of budgetary provision for more men has held back action. The commissioners agreed that the division could be set up within the present framework of the department and expanded during the next fiscal year.

This new division will be responsible for all accidents and traffic problems within the city, relieving the patrol cars for patrol duties. The action was taken after a motion by Paul Kasch with George Zachariah making the second.

The commission had received bids on two new cars to replace two now in service. However, the council voted not to trade in their old machines after all and to add a new car. This left Lone Star Motor low with a unit bid of $2,255 for a Plymouth as compared with $2,474 by Jones Motor and $2,253 by Tidwell Chevrolet.

On bids including trade-ins, Lone Star offered $899 each for the two police cars which have 50,000 miles on them. This made a net on the two cars of $1,320 each.

Jones Motor offered $2,305 trade-in for the two cars, leaving an average cost of $1,320 per car.

Tidwell Chevrolet offered $2,100 for the two machines, leaving a net of $1,203 each.

Several Plats And Changes Approved

The Big Spring City Commission considered several new plats, giving approval in most instances, during the regular meeting Tuesday in the Municipal Building.

On a motion by John Taylor, second by Paul Kasch, the council approved the Jimmy Ray Smith amended plat to the Clanton Addn., subject to the engineer's approval. The plat lies near the Kennebeck Heights Subdivision, in Section 12, Block 33, Township 1 South.

A plat change in the Edwards Heights Addn. was approved that will make three lots out of four, in the south half of Block 19. The new lots will be numbered 24, 25, 26. The plat was presented for approval by Clifton Bellamy, former Big Spring city engineer. Taylor made the motion and Kasch, the second.

The third and final reading of a zoning change in Kennebeck Heights was approved. The affected area lies in Block 1 and is changed from a Zone A residential to a Zone E community business district. Tom South made the motion, seconded by Taylor.

A plat of an addition to the College Park Estates subdivision was approved as amended to show dedicated easements. The plat contains the north half of Blocks 28 and 29, the south half of 30 and 31 and Block 19 in the subdivision. Taylor made the motion and Kasch, the second.

The amended Caham Subdivi-vision, an addition to the Edgemere Subdivision was given approval after a motion by South and second by Zachariah.

The second reading of an ordinance changing Block 117 and the north half of Block 116 from a Zone B residential district to a Zone G industrial district was approved. Zachariah made the motion and South made the second.

After some consideration, the commission took no action on the third reading of a proposed zoning change of the Worth Peeler tract of 18 acres. Peeler wants it changed from Zone A residential to Zone F commercial.

This area lies where Birdwell Lane and Farm Road 700 will intersect. Marvin Springer, consulting engineer working for the city on the Master Plan, had written a letter to the commission asking for a 30 day delay in making a definite commitment on the change. He explained that the change may not be in the best interests of the area and city. Springer is to confer with Peeler.

Quebec Welcomes British Monarch

QUEBEC (AP)—It was a big, busy, glittering, heart-warming day in Quebec for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

And Quebec's French-speaking citizens are still thrilled today after the royal couple's visit to the charming old capital of French Canada.

Standing upright in a jeep and holding a guardrail, Elizabeth inspected an infantry regiment of which she is colonel in chief. Aboard the Britannia, the royal couple received over 400 newsmen and photographers who are covering their tour of Canada and then stood chatting easily like a host and hostess at any cocktail party.

The Queen and Philip were guests at a state dinner which will be remembered as one of the most brilliant pageants in the long history of this ancient city.

In a jam-packed program that lasted 13 hours—from morning until nearly midnight—Elizabeth and Philip touched off an explosion of excitement and acclaim that filled the streets with cheering crowds. It was the biggest day so far of their Canadian trip, now nearly one week along.

They sailed along the St. Lawrence today for Trois Rivieres and Montreal. The meeting with President Eisenhower and the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway comes Friday.

Patman Scores Public Money For Dinners, Tournays

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending of public money by Federal Reserve Banks for such things as dinners and golf tournaments is "unbelievably shocking," asserts Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.).

Patman, a foe of Federal Reserve operations, charged the reserve system is spending millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money without restraint and without independent audit.

He said this is like a postmaster giving banquets with his stamp money.

Patman's latest criticism was based on portions of audit reports made available by the system. The Federal Reserve, unlike most federal agencies, conducts its own audits.

A Devotional For Today

Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in your sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer. (Psalm 19:14)

PRAYER: Our Father, deliver us from forgetting persons after we have prayed for them. Help us to bring to others whenever possible the good we pray for them. Help us truly to live our prayers, as Jesus lived His. In His name. Amen.

Desalting Water Offers Promise

Last year Congress authorized the construction of five plants to experiment with desalting water—three to convert sea water to potability, the other two to do the same for brackish water.

The sea water plants will be located on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts, the two brackish-water plants on the Great Plains or the arid area of the Southwest.

Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton has announced the first of the brackish water plants will involve the electrolysis process. Its location has not been determined, but some 70 communities in the Great Plain-Southwest region have asked for it, including Stamford and Balingier in this area.

Each plant will employ a different process, and will be expected to yield about 250,000 gallons of good water per day. Over-all cost of all the experimental plants will be $10 million, but the money has not yet been appropriated.

What a successful purifying process that can be operated economically would mean to the "gyppy" regions of West Texas is simply beyond imagining. Our biggest problem always has been and still is adequate water supplies. If a successful and economic process of desalting our brackish groundwater can be developed, it would be the biggest blessing West Texas ever received.

More Moisture Brightens Outlook

A series of showers has considerably brightened the crop and range outlook for Howard and surrounding counties.

With every rose there is a thorn, and thus while most fields were being benefited, a relatively small number were being washed to the extent that replanting may be necessary for a third time. While this is expensive and frustrating, it is not hopeless because there is still time for a crop. If you take the polyanna viewpoint, replanting at this stage has its compensation in freedom from weeds which make earlier plantings costly to work.

The rains have come at a time to maintain an impetus of growth. By replenishing top moisture and in some cases adding to reserves, cotton roots will be sent deeper into the ground and thus conditioned to withstand summer dry spells.

The greatest beneficiaries of the showers, however, are our new pastures. Absence of winter and early spring moisture hurt ranges badly and set back the promising degree of recovery last season. But within the past two months, most pastures have received from three to six inches of moisture. Coming at a time when most weeds had matured, the recent rains have created reserves for growth of grass. With a start like this, we have a mighty good chance to get a cover on the pastures. Nothing could help our country more.

West Must Show Firmness—Now

WASHINGTON — If there is a war in the not far distant future—and it doesn't have to be a nuclear war either—decisions made in the next three weeks can bring it on.

The coming three weeks before the foreign ministers conference is regarded as crucial. Mistaken attitudes of appeasement could prove more dangerous today than similar policies appeared to be at the time of the 1938 "summit" conference at Munich which preceded by a year the outbreak of World War II.

Few persons, generally speaking, realize the gravity of the situation. They look at the outward signs of peace and view with indifference the negotiations that have been going on for six weeks at Geneva between the East and West. Why should there be war, they ask, when neither side wants it? Then comes the usual argument about how terrible a nuclear war would be and how both sides would be devastated. Most people thereupon dismiss the subject as academic.

What is not generally considered is that a non-nuclear war can come as readily today as it did in Europe in 1939 or in Korea in 1950. It can come again as a result of the same kind of blinding tactics which are being engaged in today. Sooner or later someone takes a chance and assumes the other fellow will not fight. Then war comes. In three major instances in this century it has been based on a miscalculation of the strength and possible reaction of the democracies of the West to an act of aggression.

Why should Moscow miscalculate? For one thing the West gives the appearance of disunity and of military unpreparedness. The West is strong enough to fight a nuclear war but the Soviets may have their doubts whether, when the chips are down, any nuclear weapons would be used by either side. Military men of the West have built their entire defense plan on the theory that atomic bombs would certainly be used. But just as both sides refrained from using poison gas in the last war, so it is possible that because of world opinion nuclear weapons would be abandoned.

The kind of war that could readily happen is called "conventional" because it involves only land armies and the type of bombs that were dropped from military aircraft in the Korean War between 1950 and 1953. While this was a "conventional" war, there were at least 1,000,000 men engaged in it at its peak. The Communists are aware that the West is weak in "conventional" armament.

What would be the main basis, however, for the Soviet miscalculation that could bring on a war? The Geneva conference, for one thing, has not convinced the Soviet government that the Allies are united. There is a strong belief in Moscow that Britain will not stand with America and France on a platform of resoluteness.

The men in the Kremlin could make no greater mistake than to assume that Britain at the showdown stage will fail her allies or will adopt a weaker position toward the Soviet Union than do the other partners in the Western Alliance.

But the big problem of the moment is to make clear to the world that the Western countries are united. It will take more than mere words to do it. For one thing the British Labor party in England and the Democratic party in the United States will each have to make a dramatic demonstration of faith and confidence in its own government's policies. More will be required than just proclamations of high purpose and unity. The West will have to tell the Soviets that, much as war is deplored, there may come a time when resistance will become inevitable and that the Kremlin should not play with fire and take risks.

Accidents can happen in moments of international tension and it is significant that only last week when Communist planes attacked an American plane in the Far East widespread demands arose that the fire should be returned if any such incidents happen again. That's only another way of saying that America has not become pacifist minded and will not accept any encroachment on her rights.

In the next three weeks the Western Allies have an opportunity to issue an unequivocal warning. There may be some merit in wanting to keep on talking to the Soviet Union in more conferences but there is danger in giving the impression that the West is afraid. The battle of the next three weeks is psychological.

If Moscow gets the impression that the West is in an appeasing mood and is timid, then war by accident or design may be the tragic outcome. By firmness in the next three weeks the West may avert a war.

Nothing New In Herter Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter—in his TV-radio report to the nation Tuesday night—added nothing to what was already known about his troubles with the Soviets at Geneva. He reviewed the obvious.

The mild, 64-year-old Herter's talk, while firm, was also mild. He made a big point of emphasizing that the Western Allies would not abandon West Berlin. This may have been reassuring to the West Berliners, but it was hardly news.

Herter and the foreign ministers of Britain and France talked for six weeks—in sessions almost incredibly dull and colorless—at Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

They discussed at great length the Soviet demand that the Westerners get their troops out of West Berlin and the Westerners' refusal to do anything of the kind. They recessed last week until July 13 without reaching any agreement.

On the paramount question facing the ministers—is there any reason to believe they'll do better the next time?—Herter hit a small note of optimism and then became tremendously vague.

Herter said he and the other Western foreign ministers did not go to Geneva with "any high hopes." He regretted "no significant progress was made."

Then at the end of his talk Herter threw in this: "The conference revealed possible areas of agreement concerning specific arrangements for Berlin. I believe that it may be possible to build on these areas of agreement if the Soviet Union is prepared to accept the continued existence of a free West Berlin under Western protection."

If the Geneva talks so far have revealed anything it is that the Soviets are not prepared to do anything of the kind.

It was obvious before Herter and the others met Gromyko in Geneva that they could not abandon West Berlin which—although 110 miles inside Communist East Germany—is linked with the West's big ally, Western Germany.

The Allied troops in the city have no practical meaning in the sense that they could stand off a Communist assault—if that day came. Their presence in the city is important for its symbolic meaning.

They are living evidence of the Western Allies support for the West Berliners, and the Allies' insistence on keeping the supply lines open to West Berlin—through East German territory—means the West provides the city's life blood.

Whereas some people have dinner music with their meals, we have soap opera at our noonday repast.

So far I have managed to maintain a certain detachment from the sadness circuit. I can take it or leave it—and if I leave it for a week or two, I can pick it up with no more than the loss of 10 or 15 minutes in the life of the play. In fact, the erudite dialogue is designed to fill me in, so to speak.

There are such gems as: "Yes, I know," repeated after a recitation of what has gone on the day or week before. Or: "No, I didn't know," or even that sparkling "Oh, I see." How can they withhold the Pulitzer prize from these writers?

But what I started out to say was that I have a certain diabolical and warped sense of humor, and the commercials drive me to it.

Take, for example, the case of a certain aspirin. Not content with extolling the virtues of this particular brand (I am reminded of an expert's testimony that aspirin is aspirin and you needn't be an ass about it), the announcer proudly proclaims that doctors looked inside a living stomach, and—

"Here's what they saw!"

Then flashes a picture of a glass tube with a lot of curlicues leading to a large vial of bottle which is supposed to be the stomach. The product, bumping its way down the crooked tube amid a flow of liquid, flakes and flutters into the old bread basket like a gentle snowstorm.

While this looks like dandruff in the bowels to me, I supposed it is symbolical of something. I cannot help but think how funny it would be if, instead of the placid flakes fluttering into the glass gastronomy, there could be little pieces biting and chewing, or poking pitchforks into the lining of the stomach. Or even to have said stomach convulse and writhing it right back.

Then there are the claims for mildness of certain soaps and detergents. I secretly yearn to see steam and stars boil from the one hand anointed with that special soothing and mild concoction, or to hear mildy scream in anguish once she had dipped her hands into a sink full of the stuff.

What a balm to my being it would be if that magic cleanser would eat a hole through the pair of pants on which the demonstrator is plying his pitch.

Or how bright my day would be if that he-man tattoo washed off when my cigarette smoking individualist reached into the river to lift up his string of fish, or if that super-super filter sucked off right down the announcer's gullet when he took that soul-satisfying puff.

Ah well, maybe someone will do a full-length feature on such nonsense someday and walk off with an Emmy.

Time For Taxpayers To Arise!

A few weeks ago Peter Edson, the Washington columnist, wrote a fine, indignant article asking the American citizen if and when he is finally going to get sufficiently angry about corruption in politics, in public life and in the unions to demand action and real reform.

In the last half dozen years this continuing corruption has been aired daily in the press via the medium of crusading newspapers and legislative committees, on the state level, and Congressional investigative bodies on the national scene.

But very little has been done to correct the flagrant abuses. Certainly, the present Congress shows small intent to clean up its own premises or to risk even one gangster vote by forcing reform on some of the hoodlum-ridden unions.

In the United States, the livin' is easy all year 'round. It could be that we are so sunk in our own fat and good living that our anger or indignation quotient has dribbled away.

Perhaps I ought to do something about my blood pressure, for at the moment I am not only hopping mad about our laissez-faire attitude on corruption, I am boiling over about the wastage of my tax or blood money on the city, state and national level.

In my present charitable mood I would like to give the legislators a wall-to-wall hiding instead of carpeting. The municipality, the state and the nation have the right to level taxes on me to the extent necessary to enable them to function efficiently. But, in return, I have the right to expect and demand that tax money be spent carefully and intelligently and not tossed around like ticker-tape at a Broadway parade.

Everyone has his hands in the till except the taxpayer who doesn't belong to a bloc. In one way or another, millions of citizens are subsidized today. Grow wheat, join the armed forces for 91 days, build warehouses to store wheat, get your name on a union card and you have it made. Otherwise, you're dead at the tax office.

And no one today has the intestinal fortitude to stand up on his hind legs and protest because of the outrageous wastefulness of government expenditures or because half of us are carrying the other half on our backs.

I guess I'm mad because I am a boob taxpayer who doesn't get a subsidy for anything. I don't want to be loved, honey; I just want to be subsidized like the boys in wheat, tobacco, cotton and whatever. I want $50,000 annually for not writing a column on Saturdays and Sundays, just as the big boys get fat checks for not planting more acreage in commodities for which others are getting fabulously rich by providing storage bins.

Or I will write columns on Saturdays and Sundays and let someone else get rich storing them in warehouses if the government will kindly pay me $60,000 annually for keeping my column off the market two days a week.

Why can't we all share in the gravy? Why can't I have a share in that nice 27 per cent oil-depletion tax that makes them nice Texans so hog-rich? I don't mind if they get it; all I want is some, too. What's so different between their product and my banana oil?

The only persons who have had the courage to stand up and fight an outrageous tax recently are the taxi drivers of New York. Their protest against this new nuisance tax of 10 cents per ride got them nowhere. But at least they were men enough to stand up and fight, and that's more than can be said for the rest of us.

The Gallup Poll

Steel Companies' Profits Noted

PRINCETON, N. J. — Forced to buck public opinion as regards a wage increase, the steelworkers' union can count on a fairly receptive climate of opinion for their charge that the steel industry is making "record profits."

With the question of just how much profit the steel industry makes one of the most hotly-debated issues in the current steel wage dispute, Gallup Poll reporters across the country were assigned to ask this question of a cross-section of voters.

"From what you know, do you think profits in the steel industry are higher, lower, or about the same as profits made by other industries in this country?"

STEEL INDUSTRY'S PROFITS ARE . . .

Higher than others are . . . 41
Same as others are . . . 31
Lower than others are . . . 26
No opinion . . . 2

From the point of view of public opinion, whether the steel industry is actually making higher profits is not so important as the fact that a considerable segment of the public thinks their profit level is higher than in other industries.

Since the start of the current bargaining sessions — now in a stalemate with the June 30 contract deadline fast approaching — the union has contended that the industry's profits are at a record level and thus it can well afford to give workers a pay boost.

The industry has argued that their profits could not absorb an increase and steel prices would have to be raised to take care of such a move.

Ironically, the public's opposition to giving steelworkers a raise — a finding reported earlier this week — is often linked with the very fact that the steel industry's profits are high.

Much of the average citizen's judgment on steel's profits level — volunteered comments indicate — is based on his personal experience, as a consumer, with the price of goods made from steel.

From the prices he pays, he feels that steel profits must be as high or higher than in other industries. Because he doesn't want these prices to go any higher, he opposes the idea of a wage boost in the industry.

The question of just what the margin of profits is in the steel industry is open to interpretation. Profits can be calculated either on the investment dollar or on the sales dollar.

— was close to the national average for all manufacturing industries.

As of now, with the contract deadline less than 10 days away, the battle between union and industry for the public's sympathy would have to be termed a "standoff."

For the steelworkers' union — faced with the public's fears about a new wage-price spiral — the job is to sell the argument that the industry can afford a wage boost without increasing the price of steel.

For the steel industry, the task is to convince a public which tends to feel their profits are high that they are not large enough to absorb a wage increase without forcing a new rise in steel prices.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Best and Worstville in Ohio are about evenly divided, records here in the capital indicate.

The community of Best in Mahoning County has a population of 25, as does Worstville in Paulding County.

Watch Those Words

HONOLULU (AP)—Dr. Kenneth Warner advises girls to watch their language in coping with arch swains.

Warner says the warning should not be, "Sir, you have gone too far."

It should be, "Sir, you have come too close."

The University of Maryland semantics expert gave this example to show how people fail to say what they mean.

He Tuned To Trouble

DOEURUN, Ga. (AP)—Police Chief C. L. Hall's ear for music helped catch a bank burglar. Hall heard a radio playing in the coat of a young man and asked him where he got it. The youth said he took the radio as security for a $1.50 loan from a friend. The friend admitted to Hall that he had taken the radio from the bank when he was unable to break into the vault.

MR. BREGER

"Here he comes now—the absent-minded one I was telling you about..."

Cleanliness Counts

Pamela Duncan feels that a clean complexion leads to a beautiful one. She is soon to be seen in "Don't Give Up the Ship" for Paramount.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Try The Glove Test For A Clean Face

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Because I remembered Pamela Duncan as a brunette, I walked by her on the Paramount lot without the slightest recognition. "I didn't know you as a blonde," I explained later.

"I don't like it," Pamela said, "but I would dye my hair purple if I were told I'd photograph better. I must admit that this color is a more flattering frame for my face on the screen. Hal Wallis wanted me to be a blonde in 'Don't Give Up the Ship'."

"But it's expensive and a lot of trouble," she moaned, "especially since the studio doesn't pay for it. So, I've learned to bleach myself. I part my hair in small sections and apply the formula very carefully so that I bleach only the dark roots. It's hard to do and it takes patience but I manage to bleach the back by using a two-way mirror."

"If a person keeps her hair bleached, she should do it as soon as the new growth begins to show. I have to do mine so often that if I went to a beauty salon it would cost a fortune. That's why I became a do-it-myself girl."

"I save a lot of time since I've invested in a hair-dryer. It pulls down over my head and has several speeds just the way they do at the beauty salons. But mine cost very little, because I bought one for one of those department store sales," she explained.

"I spend much time on my complexion. After work I cleanse my face thoroughly to be sure no make-up is left on my skin. I'm careful to remove all of it around my hairline so that I won't get blackheads or pimples.

"After I've oiled and washed my face and think it is clean, I put on a pair of white cotton gloves and rub my face and neck. If the gloves are stained at all, I go through the same cleansing routine again."

"You'd be surprised how many times I think I've done a fine cleansing job until I've taken the glove test. I heard about this method from a character actress who has the most beautiful skin I've ever seen, and she's been in theater work most of her life."

Club Debates Timely Issue

As a table topics feature of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club, Tuesday evening, two teams debated the issue, 'Resolved: Should married teen-agers be allowed to remain in the public schools?'

Mrs. Betty Ray Clifton and Mrs. Harley Snyder, arguing in the affirmative, won the debate from the dissenters, who were Mrs. J. C. McVay and Mrs. Kenneth Tucker. Mrs. Caribel Laughlin, toastmistress of the evening, and Mrs. Donald Barr were the judges.

Leland A. Younklin's presentation. As lexicologist, Mrs. Thomas S. Simpson encouraged 'The Mastery of Words.'

ADVENTURES OF TOM SAWYER

CRITIQUE
By Bob Smith

Quite often, when actors are left alone with their scripts, things will happen that will turn the director's hair a new shade. That's what happened one evening last week when director John Austin was detained from rehearsal for "Night of January 16th."

One actor ad libbed a line, another took it up, and soon the author would have had trouble recognizing his own play.

Directors don't generally like such goings-on for two reasons — they believe in getting down to business, and ad libbing just for the fun of it can be dangerous. A performer might well confuse his proper lines opening night.

For all that, it's fun. Cast parties, after the final curtain closes the show, are filled with contorted lines from the play. They're fun, too.

Jim Tom Baker is what one would call a good actor. Instead of procrastinating, he took along his script for "Night of January 16th" on a geological field trip.

It was a wet night at the Prairie

Playhouse. The roof in the back room still leaks in places and vandals have tossed rocks through most of the windows. The actors' spirits weren't dampened, however.

There was a big debate over whether the defense or prosecution sits on the right or left side of the court. Plenty of expert legal advice was given, but Perry Mason won. When has he ever lost?

The courtroom drama (in three acts) is shaping well, and Civic Theatre members hope to move into the HCJC Auditorium by next Monday.

As of now, there is no set. Only a makeshift courtroom with ersatz furniture. The judge uses a block of wood as a gavel, pounds on a gas heater instead of a desk.

And there won't be a jury until opening night — they'll be taken from the audience. Presently, the opposing lawyers are speaking to a hole in the Playhouse wall.

Gas Overwhelmed Rioting Prisoners

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Sixteen hours of rioting in the federal prison system's big medical center here left a backwash of tin cans marked, "Masks, Gas M-9."

"That gas sure did the trick," said Leonard Appleby, 55.

For 19 years Appleby has been a guard at the big U.S. prison hospital, where 60 per cent of the 1,000 prisoners are insane criminals.

Monday night at 9:55 o'clock, Appleby was sitting in a small office censoring the prisoners' mail.

"Earl Taylor (a prisoner) charged in with a knife in his hand," Appleby said. "Before I could realize what was up he had that knife under my throat."

"You make one move and I'll kill you right here," Taylor said. "Be quiet."

In the next few minutes, Taylor and 105 other prisoners in the "10 North" section of the hospital took Appleby and four other guards as hostages.

"All was pretty quiet," Appleby said. "The inmates tore open offices and medical chests and loaded up on tranquilizers and phenobarbital—that is, about all except the leaders. They did not settle down."

The riot leaders were identified as Taylor, 31, serving 9 years for violating the federal firearms act, assault, escape and theft; Carl Roberts, 19, serving 4½ years for car theft, and Bryan D. Reed, 24, a military prisoner serving life for murder.

"We didn't really get scared until after Warden (Russell O.) Settle came over and talked to the men. He asked them what they wanted and no one knew. Taylor had no plan at all. The whole thing was senseless. He never had any real terms.

"They just set out to stretch out the thing as long as they could. It made no difference to them if anybody survived."

The 106 prisoners in the three buildings of the "10 North" unit include homosexuals and "aggressive personalities."

They tore up furniture, medical cabinets and anything they could put their hands on to form barricades.

Warden Settle, Warden S. Chet Taylor from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Myrl E. Alexander, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons from Washington, and Noah Alldredge, captain of guards at the hospital, worked out a plan of attack.

They decided, in Alldredge's words, that the hostages "were expendable." In addition to Appleby, they were guards Robert Rosen-dahl, 38; William L. Fitch, 45; Charles R. Allen, 48; and Melvin C. Jung, 57.

They borrowed 100 gas masks from the Army at Ft. Leonard Wood.

One hundred picked men from hospital and Leavenworth guards put on the masks and armed themselves with clubs made of baseball bats, hammer handles and two-foot lengths of one-inch pipe.

At 12:55 Tuesday afternoon they moved into "10 North" in five squads, hurling tear gas grenades. A bulldozer ripped bars from a window as a diversionary move.

Appleby and two other hostages crawled under a bed-seeking protection from the gas.

"I thought I would die," said Appleby. "I had to get outside in a hurry. Some old boy grabbed me and helped me out."

"The inmates and the guards were really battling. We waded right into that melee and got through all right."

That was the way federal prison guards broke up 16 hours of rioting by 106 psychopathic prisoners.

Youthful Cancer Victim Facing A New Seige

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mike Sibole, the little boy who lost his eyes in a fight against cancer, faces the possibility of new pain.

Doctors at Miami Cancer Institute say they have found strong evidence cancer cells may have moved into his lungs.

Mike, now 7, is unaware of the new threat. He only knows of periodic brushings of his throat and that he must take shots at the institute.

These, he believes, are to "build him up" for a vacation camping trip with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. James Sibole, and his brother, Jerry, 4.

In 1954, the parents agreed to the first eye removal; in 1956, they agreed to the second. Without the operations, specialists said, the cancer would have moved into the lad's brain and brought death.

"We have done all we can," Sibole said Tuesday. "We can now only hope—and pray. In the meantime, we want to give Mike all of the happiness we can. He's really looking forward to this camping trip."
