'Dollar Day' City Traffic

If you tried to park downtown Monday, you probably had plenty of difficulty locating a vacant space. It was "Dollar Day" at Big Spring stores and the buyers apparently were much interested in the event. Streets were thronged with cars from 8 a. m. on. Traffic tie-ups developed on some streets requiring the special services of police officers to untangle the jam. Sidewalks were teeming with bundle-laden pedestrians. The cool weather which prevailed Monday tended to increase the zest for buying. Many business establishments offered special bargains for "Dollar Day" and the traffic reflected the interest buyers found in the offerings.

Texas Leads U. S. In Traffic Deaths

But Toll Is Lower Than The Prediction

By The Associated Press
The tragedy-punctuated list of Texans killed in Fourth of July weekend accidents neared 50 Monday as late reports came in. At least 47 persons died in accidents between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. It was a grim contrast to the neighboring state of New Mexico, where the weekend was free of traffic deaths. Traffic, with 22 deaths and drownings, with 18, claimed the most lives. Shootings, stabbings and miscellaneous mishaps took their toll. Although Texas led the nation in traffic deaths, the victims were fewer than the 26 predicted by Department of Public Safety statisticians. The Highway Patrol tried to stem the traffic toll with helicopters and patrol cars while Gov. Price Daniel and Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, appealed to the public to drive safely. West Texas traffic deaths included: Barbara Helen Jones, 19, Novice, and Ted C. Slayton, 17, Coleman, died when their convertible flipped over near Abilene Saturday. Stephen Bradley Baker, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Baker of Lubbock, died Friday night in a two-car collision near Brownfield. Holiday drownings included: Frank Carrillo Jr., 10, and Manuel Carrillo, 8, San Angelo brothers, drowned while wading in a creek southeast of San Angelo Sunday. Nathaniel Bailey, 2, Midland, wandered away from a family picnic at a park at Lampasas and drowned in Sulphur Creek. They were Frank Carrillo Jr., 10 and Manuel Carrillo, 8, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carrillo, San Angelo. "They were wading in water about like this," said their father, indicating just below his knee. "All of a sudden we could not see them any more." Carrillo and his brother-in-law, Jesse Sanchez, dropped their fishing gear and rushed upstream where they had last seen the boys. Neither of the men could swim, but Sanchez got a long pole and probed in a deeper hole and determined that the boys were in there. Somehow, he managed to get them out of the pool. While Sanchez' children ran to get help from a nearby farm house, the father and uncle attempted artificial respiration. Bunky Girwin, for whom Carrillo and Sanchez had been chopping cotton, telephoned the Colorado City fire department as soon as he learned of the incident, and firemen rushed out to take up efforts to revive the boys, but to no avail. Experts Seek Data For Tax Compromise

AUSTIN (AP)—Experts dug for facts and figures needed today by a joint House-Senate conference committee reportedly near agreement on a revenue measure to pay state expenses in 1960-61. The 10-member group asked the Legislative Budget Board to produce some estimates which Sen. R. A. Weinert, Seguin, chairman of the conferees, said are needed before it can complete its task. Weinert called the conferees to meet again formally at 2 p. m. Informal conferences went on during the morning. The veteran Senate dean seemed more optimistic about the chances of coming up with a tax measure that would be acceptable to both House and Senate than

Webb Planes Join Search; Pilot Is Safe

A single engine jet fighter out of Hamilton AFB Calif., crashed Sunday near Cap Rock, N. M., but the pilot, Capt. Benjamin R. Battles, bailed out and was not injured. The plane crashed on a flight from Louisiana to California. A search for the missing fighter had been launched when it vanished. The search terminated when Capt. Battles was located unharmed. The Zimmerman ranch about 25 miles northwest of Cap Rock, N. M. was demolished. The plane disappeared Sunday after passing over Abilene. The jet was being flown from Alexandria La. to Hamilton AFB Calif. Two planes from Webb AFB participated in the search for the missing fighter plane. Webb is a command post for the 10th Air Rescue Headquarters at Grand Prairie when planes are reported missing in this area. Capt. Perry R. Duncan, Capt. Roy E. Butz with Capt. Lawrence R. Simpson were up in one C-47, and Maj. William E. Boyd, Capt. Maurice J. Plank with Capt. Raymond S. Taverne as navigator were flying the second C-47 looking for signs of the missing craft. They were ordered back to Webb when word was flashed that the pilot had been located safe on the Zimmerman ranch. Maj. Vince Brophy, operations officer, had two H-2 helicopters standing by for dispatch to the scene in event they had been needed.

Marquez On Trial For Robbery Count

Andres Marquez, 17, is on trial in 118th District Court today on a charge of robbery by assault. The state elected to go to trial on the indictment alleging that Marquez was implicated in the Jan. 3 holdup of the Chevron Service Station on East Highway 80. In the robbery, Donald Bippus, young airman, was shot in the chest and leg. The robbery netted the two bandits $200. Prospective jurors were being interrogated at 11 a. m. today. None had been seated in the jury box at that hour. The robbery by assault indictment is one of four against the young defendant. One is for murder, in which he stands accused of shooting Gerald D. Limer, another filling station attendant to death. This occurred four days after the Chevron station holdup. Approximately 30 of the 60 jurors summoned for the trial were in the court when Judge Sullivan opened the session. Prior to the time that the jury panel arrived, District Judge Charlie Sullivan heard a plea of guilty by Oscar M. Neal, Neal was indicted by the grand jury for forgery, and Sullivan gave him a three-year suspended sentence for the crime.

Scientist Begins Trip By Balloon

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP)—Donald Piccard, 33, floated eastward today in a huge helium balloon carrying 250 letters to a mail box. The letters will be mailed by Piccard when he lands — somewhere, he hopes, near the East Coast. A crowd of 6,000 saw the launching Sunday night as the climax to Buffalo's diamond jubilee celebration. Piccard, of Northfield, Minn., is the son of pioneer balloonist Jean Piccard.

No Major Accidents On Holiday

Big Spring observed a relatively mild and accident free July 4th holiday this year. Police Captain Walter Eubanks said his shift made no arrests in the city Saturday night. The late shift works from 10 p. m. until 6 a. m. Accident-wise, the city had only a few minor fender-benders over the holidays. One man was injured in a crash east of the city, however his condition was not considered serious. Fireworks complaints were reported throughout the city Saturday and officers answered several dozen calls. However, no charges were filed in this regard. A crash at Fourth and Benton about 1:30 p. m. Sunday involved Ross Sal Tudor, Stephenville, and the other car left the accident scene before officers arrived. The car was registered to A. C. Rodriguez, Coahoma. About 2:30 p. m., Sam P. Jones, 1206 Sycamore, and Harold K. Simpson, Odessa, were drivers in a wreck at Tucson and Birdwell.

Integration Plans

HOUSTON (AP)—Six weeks from today—barely two weeks before school opening—the Houston School Board will be asked what plans it has for integration of the nation's largest segregated school system.

FM 700 Safety To Be Studied

The Tuesday meeting of the county commissioners court and highway officials will deal with the paving job on FM 700 East, Judge Ed Carpenter said today. The judge said he had been notified that Ben Wilkerson, resident engineer at Colorado City, will be present Tuesday for the meeting. Previously, it had been announced that the district engineer, Jake Roberts, was to be here. Also to be in on the conference are officials from Cage Bros., contractors on the FM 700 paving. Carpenter said he thought the meeting would deal with safety measures while the heavily traveled road is being paved.

Woman Diabetic Who Threw Away Insulin Is Dead

DETROIT (AP)—A woman diabetic, who said she threw away her insulin in the belief she had been cured by faith, died Sunday in a Detroit hospital. The woman, Wanda Beach, 37, of Stanton, Mich., a diabetic since infancy, came here Friday to attend services of evangelist Oral Roberts. She called her parents Friday night and told them she was completely cured. A motel manager, William McKee, said Mrs. Beach attended the evangelist's services Friday and Saturday night. Afterward, she told McKee and other motel residents she felt so good that she threw away her insulin.

RUSS EXHIBIT GUEST BOOK GLEANS VARIED COMMENTS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union has set up a direct pipeline to find out what effect the Soviet Exhibition has upon American viewers. Visitors have been asked to give their impressions in several guest books scattered around the 10-million-dollar, six-acre cultural and scientific exhibit. Perhaps the books will be taken back to Moscow for careful scrutiny by cold war strategists. If so, here's some of what they'll read. "Big brother is watching you." "I saw this on July 4, 1959, a date commemorative of American independence—thank God for it." "Russian music is for the birds—if they'll take it." "Why don't you practice what you preach and the world situation might be a little better?" "It's not the showcase that counts—it's action and good will." "Reading the insults and lack of understanding recorded in this book almost makes me ashamed to admit these are my countrymen." "I'm sorry so many of my countrymen have taken this book as an opportunity to hurl insults and criticism. We are not all so crude and uninformed. Congratulations on your wonderful exhibit and the great progress your country has made." "Twenty years ago we looked down at you. Today we fear and respect you. Good luck. More power to you." "Forward to communism. Bill."

HOLIDAY TRAGEDY

Two Young Boys Drown In Creek

COLORADO CITY — Two boys, wading in the usually shallow south fork of Champion Creek, 10 miles south of here, drowned Sunday. They were Frank Carrillo Jr., 10 and Manuel Carrillo, 8, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carrillo, San Angelo. "They were wading in water about like this," said their father, indicating just below his knee. "All of a sudden we could not see them any more." Rain Falls In W. Texas

Light rain fell and lightning flashed over West Texas Monday, and forecasts called for more of the same through the week. Fog drifted over Northeast Texas and cloudy skies were typical in East and South Central Texas. Childress, Midland and Wink reported thundershowers at dawn Monday. Long-range forecasts from the Weather Bureau said thundershowers will bring light to moderate precipitation to East and Central Texas, while thunderstorms promise locally heavy rain for West Texas through Saturday. Thunderstorms soaked areas in all sections of the state Sunday. A 3.35-inch downpour at Beaumont was the heaviest rain reported.

Highway Crash Kills 5 People

GLOUCESTER, N.J. (AP)—An auto collided with a tractor-trailer, crashed into a telephone pole and overturned early today, killing all five occupants of the car. Patrolman William Barrett of the Gloucester City Police tentatively identified the victims from cards in their possession as: Kenneth S. Evans, 22, Ajo, Ariz.; Hubert Lee Parrish, 25, Augusta, Ga.; Clyde Phillips, 23; Imogene Green, 25, Longview, Tex.; and Patricia Sue Toms, 19, Jenks, Okla. Barrett said all five were Navy enlisted personnel and apparently were returning to the naval base in Philadelphia. The driver of the tractor-trailer was unharmed.

Radioactive Barrel Found

PORT ORFORD, Ore. (AP)—A barrel marked "danger-radioactive waste, AEC," which washed up on the beach here Saturday may be an empty container. That theory was advanced by Rear Adm. Frank T. Watkins, commander of the 13th Naval District in Seattle. Geiger counters showed the barrel to be radioactive but the Navy said the counter action was caused by reflection of sun's rays on the sand. Investigation is continuing, however.

Steel Talks Are On Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Contract negotiations in the basic steel industry resume here today after a weekend recess. Secretary of Labor James M. Mitchell said Sunday he believed there was a "good possibility" of agreement before the extension of the current contract expires July 14. Mitchell, who was interviewed in Washington on a radio program, said he saw a "heart-warming sign" in the quick response of the industry and union to President Eisenhower's plea to keep the negotiations going beyond the original June 30 contract expiration date. The companies and the United Steelworkers of America agreed to extend the contract until July 14. Four-man teams representing the union and the 12 largest steel companies are negotiating a new contract for 500,000 union members employed in plants that produce 90 per cent of the nation's steel. The industry is seeking a one-year freeze on wages. It contends this is needed to help curb inflation and cope with foreign competition. The union seeks a wage increase and other benefits, which are estimated unofficially to total between 15 and 20 cents an hour. Present wages in the industry average $3.10 an hour.

300 TO DINE AFROTC Feed Is Set For Tonight

Preparations were being made to serve a big barbecue dinner with all the traditional trimmings to some 300 guests at Cosden Country Club tonight at 7. The occasion will be in the party, annually sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, honoring the Air Force Reserve cadets here for summer training at Webb. The 185 cadets from schools and universities over the nation will terminate their summer training program on Thursday of this week. The swim party and barbecue feed is a regular graduation week event. The cadets will assemble at the Cosden Club at 5 p. m. for a swim party. At 7 p. m., the dinner will be served. What program will be presented will be largely in the hands of the honorees. In addition to the 185 cadets, the event will be attended by the 24 staff officers in charge of the AFROTC summer training program. Col. Kyle Riddle, commander of Webb, and 12 of his staff officers will be on hand as special guests. Seventy-five merchants and professional men of Big Spring, who are hosts for the celebration, will also be in attendance. Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, said that all arrangements for the preparation and serving of the meal have been completed. Cosden Petroleum Corp. has made the facilities of the club available for the party.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

In 9 Months In 6 Months

Mr. H. Newhouse, Woodale, Illinois—Mrs. H. Haller, Miami, Fla. Noted hair expert warns: "Don't put it off until it's all off."

Hair Specialist Here TUESDAY Will Show How To Save Hair And Prevent Baldness

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Big Spring on July 7, Tuesday, only. Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Tuesday at the Settles Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can Be Helped? For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness," usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring an excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-illness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Harlow method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: "Don't wait until it's too late."

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss" — or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair 'til you're bald... unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition.

Satisfy 95% "Actually, our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for we satisfy at least 95% of our clients which, when you consider almost every person is a 'doubter' or a 'putter-off' where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem."

Examine You Free We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charges or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction The Harlow Hair Experts will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Settles Hotel, Tuesday only, between 1:00 and 3:00 p.m., for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private. Credit reference: The City National Bank of Coral Gables, Florida.

Farm Hands From Mexico

Mexican farm laborers are shown being processed at the labor center at Hidalgo, Tex. The center, one of five in the United States, processed more than 105,000 of these workers last year. The workers, legal substitutes for the vanishing "wetbacks" who entered the country illegally, are protected by minimum wage laws. Most of them remain in Texas, but some go as far north as Michigan to work.

Bracero Doesn't Mind Being Called Slave; He Has It Made

By B. F. KELLUM
EDINBURG, Tex. — People point their finger at Adolfo Duran Gomez and say, "You're a slave."

Others say, "You're poorly housed, underprivileged."

And a third group angrily charges, "You're taking jobs from U. S. workers."

Adolfo Duran Gomez grins a little and shrugs the powerful shoulders under his cotton shirt.

You can't convince him he's a slave, not at 30 U. S. dollars a week.

Privileges? He has discovered indoor plumbing. That to Adolfo is a mark of privilege he never had before.

Taking jobs from U. S. workers? He knows that few citizens north of the border want the jobs he gets.

In the labor camp here, Adolfo tells how it was in his village of Aquitzio, southwest of Mexico City, where he faced the hard facts of survival for his wife, his son and himself.

He worked in the fields when he could find a job. The pay ranged from 45 to 85 cents a day. It was hardly a living.

But back to Aquitzio from the north came other villagers. They told of a country where Gomez could earn as much in an hour as he earned all day in Mexico.

Gomez is an unsophisticated country man. He can't read or write. He believes he's 26 though he isn't certain. But wages like $30 a week he understands.

He and his wife scrimped for a little grubstake. Then he boarded a bus for Mexico City.

In Mexico City he saw that marvelous invention, a railroad train. He also viewed for the first time that accomplishment of science, indoor plumbing. He paid for a train ride to Monterrey, where he received a permit to work and transportation to a labor border.

For months now he has worked in Texas fields and even as far up as Arkansas. In the slack season he makes $30 a week. When he isn't working, he receives a subsistence allowance. In cotton picking time he easily can make $60 a week.

"Someday I will have enough money to buy my own home," he says. "I send all my money home."

Gomez is known throughout the United States as a bracero. And it doesn't worry the country man a bit that he and 400,000 like him are extremely controversial figures. He just likes to work and send money home.

Adolfo is legal. His opposite, the wetback — called that because he sneaked across the Rio Grande to work — is a vanishing breed.

At one time an estimated million wetbacks bid against each other for jobs in the United States.

Adolfo doesn't bid against anyone. He is protected by minimum wages. These range from 50 cents to $1.10 an hour.

Adolfo's employer must provide proper shelter. He has hospital and accident insurance.

Last year, Adolfo and braceros like him sent home 30 million dollars. That gives a big boost to Mexico's economy.

Farmers contract for braceros "through their own labor association. They tell the association how many workers they need, pay a "head fee" of $12 per worker, and the association handles the red tape. If a farmer contracts for workers already within the United States, the fee is only $6.

When Adolfo isn't working, he remains at the labor camp at Hidalgo, Tex., near here. He has a bunk, locker, and cooking facilities. A commissary gives him credit.

Labor organizations and some church groups argue that the bracero is mistreated. He should have more pay and better working conditions, they say. Occasionally labor groups have charged that Adolfo and those like him take jobs away from U. S. citizens. Some protest that the housing offered the bracero is inadequate.

"By what standards?" asks Joe Davis, who farms and operates an Edinburg cotton gin.

"The housing furnished braceros is far better than the housing of workers in several classes of industry, not just the farmer," Davis claims.

The Rev. James L. Vizzard, representing the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, told a congressional committee last year the bracero program is "a none too subtle substitute for slavery."

Braceros interviewed in this area say they are happy with U. S. employers' treatment. But they express a preference for California and Northern states jobs, because wages there are better.

Formosa Air Fight May Mean Trouble

TOKYO (AP) — The battle between Chinese Communist and Nationalist planes that increased tensions in the Formosa Strait this weekend could be the start of a new Far East crisis.

The Nationalists have been predicting such a flareup for months and recently warned that the Chinese Reds had decided at a military conference to stir things up in this critical part of the world.

It is almost a year since Red shelling of the Nationalist-held offshore islands started the Quemoy troubles.

Although this crisis fizzled out late last year, the Peiping regime has been making ominous motions in other Far East areas.

The aerial battle Sunday was the biggest in the Formosa area in nine months.

Air Force headquarters on Formosa gave this account:

Four Nationalist pilots flying U.S.-made Sabre Jets were on a routine patrol south of the Nationalist-held Matsu Islands when they were jumped by 12 Soviet-made MIG fighters. Within 13 minutes four MIGs were shot down.

A fifth MIG was downed by planes and anti-aircraft fire on the Palchuan — White Dog — Islands, 11 miles south of the Matus.

All the Sabre Jets returned safely to their northern Formosa base.

The Nationalists claim the air battle was provoked by the Communists the same way last year's tension in the Formosa Strait began with Red artillery shelling.

If the Nationalist claims are correct, why does the Peiping regime want a crisis?

It could be part of the Reds' continuing campaign to test Western defenses and determination in the Far East.

It could also be their way of reminding the United States, concerned with Europe and Berlin, that Peiping is also to be reckoned with.

The Reds also could use a new crisis for domestic purposes—to take the peoples' minds off current problems at home.

The Reds have admitted food shortages; have acknowledged that the communes aren't living up to advance hopes; that the industrialization campaign has dislocated agriculture.

Drought, locusts and floods have also caused havoc. The crushing of the Tibetan uprising may have stirred discontent.

The Peiping leaders may feel that a war scare could hide these troubles long enough for them to try to straighten things out.

Only last month unidentified Soviet-style MIGs attacked and crippled a U. S. patrol plane with 14 men aboard 45 miles off the North Korean coast in international waters.

Red China has resumed "serious warnings" to the United States for alleged territorial sea and air violations by ships and planes.

REGULARITY WITHOUT MEDICINES

When constipation is caused by lack of bulk in the diet, there's a safe, common-sense way to deal with it. Forget about harsh laxative medicines. And start eating a wholesome cereal food.

That wholesome food is Kellogg's All-Bran. Millions of middle-aged people have regained the regularity of youth by eating a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran once a day. Even a small serving supplies all the good food bulk you need to stay on schedule.

Kellogg's All-Bran is appetizing, too. Try it for 10 days—see if it doesn't restore your regularity.

Delaware Wins Complete Safety During Holiday

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Delaware called out the state police office workers and every other available policeman over the Fourth of July weekend, and the result was safety.

There were no fatalities recorded from traffic accidents, drowning or other causes, as a result of the safety drive. Newspapers the state cooperated by publicizing the penalties for auto violations and urging readers to take special care over the holiday.

It was the second major holiday in succession the state has been free of accidental death, the other being the Memorial Day weekend.

Wyoming Has No Traffic Deaths

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The highways across Wyoming were as safe as homes and picnic areas during the Fourth of July weekend.

Not a single road fatality was reported by midnight Sunday despite higher speed limits this year.

The state's 71 highway patrolmen, including 15 added by the recent state legislature, skipped vacations and leaves for the weekend. They were aided by clear, dry weather.

"We just worked hard, like we should all the time," said Col. William R. Bradley, patrol director.

The state's highway speed limit was raised from 60 m.p.h. this year to 70 m.p.h. on interstate highways and 65 on all others.

GI Forum Lists Favored Bills

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The American GI Forum is on record today favoring a state tax on natural gas, a state minimum wage law, public low rent housing and federal legislation to curb unfair employment practices.

The resolutions were passed at the group's concluding session yesterday.

Other resolutions opposed a state sales tax and business activity on Sunday and favored continued "farm programs and policies to place American family farmers in a fair and just economic position."

A "discrimination incident" in Lubbock where "a business proprietor refused service to two ladies solely because they were Mexican" was condemned.

The minimum wage law favored by the forum included a minimum wage for farm labor.

Gift For Frol

Russ Leader Ends West Coast Visit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Soviet Union's first deputy premier today winds up a stay in California during which he was wined and dined by capitalists and virtually ignored by everybody else. Heading East, he faces in Detroit the first official cold reception of his United States tour. Since Friday, Frol Romanovich Kozlov, Premier Nikita Khrushchev's right hand man in the Soviet government, has been hobnobbing with California business men and social luminaries. Almost nobody showed up to watch at any of his scheduled appearances or for his arrivals or departures from his hotels. As the final event of his tour, arrangements were made for Kozlov and his party to visit the Berkeley campus of the University of California and its Lawrence Radiation Laboratory. The Kozlov party was scheduled to take off from Oakland Airport in a chartered plane and to arrive in Detroit at 1:40 p.m. EST.

Clergymen Meet To Unite Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of two major Protestant denominations met today to translate their vision of a united church into concrete terms. It was a crucial stage in their 17 years of preliminary planning and effort. As delegates of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian churches went into their first joint business session, their big job was to agree on a common constitution. They also are to act on a proposed statement of faith. These will be "momentous steps in formation of the United Church of Christ," said the non-denominational weekly Christian Century. The whole Christian world, it added, is interested in the outcome. Wide attention has focused on the merger because it is the first in this country involving denominations of such differences in organization and background. Congregational Christians, of British origin, are loosely linked with independent boards and autonomous local churches. The Evangelical and Reformed Church, with Swiss-German roots, has a pyramid structure. A proposed constitution would, in general, apply a central governing system to national operations of the church, but leave regional and local units free to rule themselves. Some Congregationalists have opposed the merger, claiming it would rob individual churches of independence. The interdenominational journal Christianity today commented: "We devoutly hope that the great principles which have made Congregationalism a driving force for good in Christendom may not be lost amid its new ecclesiastical patterns." The merger, for which negotiations began in 1942, was formally consummated in 1957 on a tentative basis. The actual meshing of machinery of the two bodies has awaited adoption of a constitution. The long, slow process of forging a working union has been marked by ups and downs, including protracted lawsuits brought by opponents. One is still pending in a New York federal court. There are 2 1/2 million members in the combined denominations. Their five-day general synod, including 700 representatives from both groups, opened Sunday with worship and serving of the Lord's supper. Dr. Gaines M. Cook of Indianapolis, executive secretary of the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), said: "The New Testament with its variety of experience has encouraged you to seek the goal of unity in diversity." His own denomination of more than two million members is considering eventually joining in the merger. This would produce a denomination of close to five million, third largest in U.S. Protestants, next to the Methodists and Southern Baptists. The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, told a meeting that "the churches are coming together, and they intend to stay together."

Private Fred G. Davis, 24-year-old U.S. Marine, was sentenced to death by a Beaufort, S. C., court for the rape of a Negro woman.

Algerian Rebels Abduct 2 Monks

ALGIERS (AP)—The chant of "Salve Regina" echoed through the chapel of the Thibarine Trappist Monastery during evening vespers when a five-man rebel team entered the gate which never closes. The men—wearing French paratrooper uniforms—asked to see the father superior. "We have an unpleasant mission," the leader told Father Jean-Marie. "We have to take you and two other monks with us." "My duty is to guard my spiritual community," replied the superior. "I would rather die than abandon it." The rebels did not insist. But two other monks—Brother Mathieu and Brother Luc — packed their belongings and followed the rebels into the night. "Don't worry," the rebels told the superior. "We will do your monks no harm." Outside the monastery the group was joined by 12 other guerrilla fighters. Together they disappeared into the darkness. The incident occurred last Wednesday night, Thursday morning the father superior notified the French military in nearby Medea, some 60 miles south of Algiers. A pursuit was ordered in the rugged Atlas Mountains, but the French army said it was 12 hours behind the rebels and that chances of finding the group were dim. For more than 20 years, the Thibarine Monastery of Notre Dame de l'Atlas—Our Lady of the Atlas Mountains—has served as a haven for the area's impoverished Moslem population. The monks refused a French army garrison for protection. "We trust in God," they told French officers. Last year, two Moslems fleeing a French pursuit spent a night in the monastery. The monks said they were not aware of their presence. At this stage, it could not be determined why the rebels took the two Trappists.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.* At your druggist. Money back guarantee. *Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

RED McCULLAH WINS CLUB CROWN HERE

R. S. (Red) McCullah, who has been helping survey the proposed golf course of the Big Spring Country Club, showed Sunday he knows the present layout very well when he spilled R. H. Weaver in the finals of the annual Fourth of July tournament, 5 and 4.

Weaver was the defending champion in the meet and has played in the finals for four consecutive years.

McCullah has been a member of the club only about a month. He is the reigning City champion, having defeated John Pipes in the finals of that tournament at the Mundy course, 1 up, a few weeks ago.

McCullah went ahead to stay with a par on the 360-yard fifth hole. He fired a one-over par 37 to Weaver's 39 on the first nine and led, 2 up, at that stage.

On the second nine, R. S. proved he had only warmed to the task. He won ten with a birdie to go 3 up, 11 with a birdie to inflate his lead to 4 up. After they had halved 12 and 13, McCullah closed out the match with a birdie on the 14th hole.

For the entire round, McCullah was 2 under par. If he continues to improve, he'll be a definite threat for championship honors in the annual Big Spring Invitational tournament, which winds up here on Labor Day.

How they played:

Par	543	444	338-36
McCullah out	543	444	338-36
Weaver out	553	254	654-39
McCullah in	433	43
Weaver in	543	44

Complete results:

All-Star Starting Pitchers Named

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox today were named starting pitchers for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Forbes Field.

Dave Grote, National League publicity director, said Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves probably would be the second National League pitcher.

There was no immediate word on the second American League pitcher.

Casey Stengel of New York, the American League manager, said he had planned to start Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore, or a knuckleball pitcher, but switched when Wilhelm worked six innings Sunday.

Betsy Rawls Big Links Favorite

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP)—Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., was a heavy favorite today to win her sixth Ladies Professional Golf Assn. Tournament of the season.

Miss Rawls, the season's leading LPGA money winner, started the final 18 holes with a four-stroke lead over Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee.

INDIANS, GIANTS Set July 4 Pace

Cleveland was the American League leader on July 4 and in case you missed it, San Francisco led the National League pennant race.

Cleveland's still first in the AL, by two games over the Chicago White Sox. But San Francisco's spurt sputtered like a spent skyrocket and the Giants slipped to second Sunday, July 5.

It was the 10th July 4 lead for Cleveland. The Indians also led on July 4, 1954, and in 1948—both pennant years for the Tribe. But they fizzled the other seven times they were on top on Independence Day.

The Giants' brief stay marked the 17th time they've been first on July 4. They went on to win the pennant in 10 seasons. Their most recent July 4-to-pennant success was in 1954—when they swept Cleveland in the World Series.

A capacity crowd of 35,000 was assured for this second mid-summer contest in Pittsburgh since the All-Star event was inaugurated in 1933. The last one played there, on July 11, 1944, was won by the National League, 7-1.

Including Aaron, Mays and Banks, the Nationals boasted 13 players batting better than .300 to only six for the Americans. The senior circuit also had four of its seven pitchers with 10 or more regular season victories while the American had only one, Chicago's Early Wynn. In home runs, the Nationals also led, 207 to 200.

Managers Casey Stengel of the American League and Fred Haney of the National arrived late Sunday night and said they would announce their starting pitchers, as well as the batting orders, early this morning.

Stengel, who earlier has indicated Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore's knuckleball expert, as his opening pitcher, was said to be considering switching to Wynn. Haney, originally believed to be favoring Lew Burdette, his own right-handed ace with Milwaukee, may open with Los Angeles' Don Drysdale.

Dillard's Dixie D Futurity Winner

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—Dixie D, a two-year-old Kentucky bred colt owned by J. T. Dillard of Big Spring, won the annual running of the $30,000 Thoroughbred Futurity before an estimated 8,000 spectators here Sunday afternoon. The race was over six furlongs. Dixie D was lightly regarded at the betting windows. Dillard's pride paid the hefty price of $31.40, $20.20 and $8.50.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Glenn Barnes, who graduated from HCJC and served as an Elementary school coach here while doing it, is looking for employment as a coach in West Texas.

Glenn was at Bell High School, located 12 miles east of Sherman last year, but he prefers this area of the state. Bells is a Class B school which didn't field a football team last fall but will resume that sport this fall. It competes against the likes of Van Alstyne, Royce City and Frisco.

Barnes expects between 30 and 35 boys to check out football gear there this year.

Barnes' boys' basketball team won only two of 28 starts but this girls' team copped the district title, beating Celeste in a seven-game playoff. The final game, a heart thumper, was won, 43-42, by Bells. His team ultimately lost to Gober in bi-district competition.

Celeste was coached by G. W. Tillerson, who many people out this way recall as a one-time coach and school administrator at Sterling City and Christoval. Tillerson doubles as superintendent of schools at Celeste.

Glenn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barnes of Big Spring, is now working on his master's degree.

Texas Roy Harris says there are at least three fighters around who can handle the new Heavyweight champion, Ingemar Johansson. One of these is Harris himself.

The others, according to Roy, are Sonny Liston and Harris' stablemate, Cleveland Williams.

The Big Spring High School footballers will have an open weekend after their first game this season.

It's the first time in several seasons the Longhorn schedule has been interrupted by an off week. Usually, the locals wind up a week in advance of all other teams in District 2-AAAA.

The Andrews Country Club golf course is being increased to 18 holes. The new layout will probably be ready by October.

Texans must really go for the numerous football guidebooks published nationally each year. Invariably, the picture of some player performing for one of the state's schools decorates the covers of the magazines.

This year, Charley Milstead of Texas A & M is the cover boy for the NCAA Football Guide, most informative of the booklets published.

Milstead is described by the magazine as "one of the game's most versatile stars. He runs, passes, punts and kicks extra points; he is on the Dean's list as a B-plus engineering student and a member of the National Honor Society."

Charley hails from Tyler and was the Argies' tailback in Jim Myer's single wing attack last fall. He will spark their multiple offense this season. He ran, passed and kicked the ball more than any other back in 1958.

George Halas, who says the membership of the National Football League will be increased shortly, doesn't say what a new franchise would cost.

He obtained the Chicago Bear rights for $1 nearly 40 years ago.

Charley Fierro and Billy Weatherall each collected two hits for the winners.

N. Rodriguez blasted out a second inning home run with one on for Carlsbad while J. Dobson had a triple and F. Navarrete a double for the home club. All eight of Big Spring's hits were singles.

Cockrell fanned two and walked three in his stint on the mound. Moser struck out one and did not issue a pass. Ronny McDonald, the loser, whiffed two and gave up three bases on balls.

The win was the fifteenth for Big Spring in 19 starts.

right-handers, besides Wilhelm and Wynn, are Jim Bunning of Detroit and the Yankees' Ryne Duren.

Ted Williams, one of the three left-handed hitters on the American League bench, probably will be used in a pinch hitting role. Yogi Berra of New York and Pete Runnels of Boston are the other orthodox swingers. The right-handed bench brigade include Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; Vic Power, Cleveland; Frank Malzone, Boston; Roy Sievers, Washington; Gil McDougald, New York, and Sherm Lollar, Chicago. The Yankees' Mickey Mantle is a switch hitter.

Haney has two southpaws to throw at the Americans—Johnny Antonelli of the Giants and his own Warren Spahn. Gene Conley of Philadelphia, Don Elston of Chicago and Elroy Face of Pittsburgh are the other right-handers.

Two Share Lead In Flint Open

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald and Art Wall Jr., a couple of tournament-tested champions with plenty of playoff know-how, waged a duel today over $9,000 and first place in the Flint Open Golf Championship.

A 18-hole battle was set after they tied at 282 in regulation 72-holes Sunday.

Finsterwald, who will defend his National PGA title later this month, and Wall, the 1959 Masters champion, matched par 72s in the final round.

They edged veterans Jerry Barber and record-busting Cary Middlecoff by a single stroke. The 43-year-old Barber, who plays only a dozen or so major events a year, fired a closing 67 for his best showing in recent years.

Middlecoff set a course record with a 34-31-65, wiping out a mark set earlier in the day when Gene Litter shot a 66.

Barber and Middlecoff each collected $2,800 from the $32,000 jackpot that equals the richest payoff in Michigan golf history.

The 35-year-old Wall rated a slight favorite because of his tremendous showing in 1959.

Not only has the methodical veteran from Pocono Manor, Pa., won the Masters, but he also captured the Pebble Beach and Azalea tournaments. Wall is the game-leading money winner with $45,733 already pocketed.

Bob Blum Third In Andrews Meet

ANDREWS, (SC)—Bob Blum, Big Spring, wound up third in the Andrews Invitational Golf tournament here Sunday, firing a medal score of 70, two under par, on the final 18 holes.

Four finalists were determined by match play, after which the champion was determined in medal play.

Winner of the tournament was Tommy Hale of Midland, former HSU player, who had a 66. Jack Williams of Plainview was second with a 68. Bill Munn of Midland finished back of Blum with a 72.

To get to the finals, Blum defeated Tiny Mason, Andrews, in a nine-hole match, 4-3; Bill St. Clair, Mulhouse, 4-3, over 18 holes and Paul Campbell, Odessa, 3-2, also over 18 holes.

Wise Farmed Out

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Sunday optioned infielder Casey Wise back to their Louisville farm club—less than 24 hours after his weird base running cost the Braves a possible victory at Philadelphia.

Willey's Mound Show Returns Braves To 1st

Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the San Francisco Giants could figure the odds on moving from first place on July 4 to the pennant, they were in second place.

They aren't second by much—0-3—but the Milwaukee Braves definitely are back in the National League lead going into the pause for Tuesday's All-Star game at Pittsburgh. The Braves, dropped to second by Philadelphia Saturday night, regained the lead by beating the Phillies 5-0 behind Carl Willey's four-hitter Sunday.

The Giants slipped by splitting a pair of 4-2 decisions at St. Louis. They lost the opener when ex-mate Bill White hit a grand-slam home run in support of a six-hit pitching job by Ernie Broglio, former San Francisco farm hand. But ex-Card Sam Jones won the second game with relief help from Stu Miller and Johnny Antonelli.

Los Angeles closed within a half-game of first by sweeping the Chicago Cubs 4-3 and 5-3. Pittsburgh took two from Cincinnati, 7-5 and 3-2 in 11 innings.

A two-run first inning single by Joe Adcock and a pair of runs batted in by Ed Matthews got the job done for the Braves. Richie Ashburn had half of the Phillies' hits and doubled for their only extra-base hit off Willey (4-2), who walked three. Gene Conley (6-5), an earlier shutout winner over his former Milwaukee mates, gave up 11 hits for the loss.

A 13-hole battle was set after they tied at 282 in regulation 72-holes Sunday.

Pop Unhappy Over Offers To Buy Kids

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — "Who would think I would ever allow my children to be sold?" Nathan B. Miller, 325-a-week farmhand, shook his head in amazement as he described a reported offer for the newborn triplet girls he may offer for adoption to give them a better chance in life. The 55-year-old father, who has three other children, said an unidentified long distance telephone caller promised him the money. Miller, who is hard of hearing, said: "I believe he said $50,000 each, but it may have been $5,000. I may be poor, but nothing would make me part with any of my family for money. I think the offer was an insult." His 35-year-old wife agreed: "We couldn't possibly consider offers like these. I hope we get no more," she said. The parents plan to decide today whether to offer 10-day-old Glenda, Brenda and Linda for adoption. They also will decide whether to accept any of the scores of offers of financial and job help that have come to the family. Linda weighed 3 pounds at birth, Brenda 4 pounds 11 ounces, and Glenda 5 pounds 14 ounces. Linda was placed in an incubator for a time, but doctors report all the triplets are getting along fine now. Mrs. Miller and the triplets return home from the hospital today to their five-room frame home. The other children, Peggy, 17, Frances, 15, and Jimmy, 12, have asked their parents to keep the family together.

Mansfield Slaps Butler Criticisms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) today accused Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler of helping the Republicans by his criticism of Democratic congressional leaders. Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, said Butler's attacks "will not do us any good, but furnish fodder" for President Eisenhower and the GOP National Committee. Butler said Sunday in a TV interview that more progressive Democratic leadership is needed in Congress to provide a party record for the 1960 election campaigns. "We are going to be in a tough situation in 1960" unless the Democrats in Congress get busy, he said. Mansfield, replying to Butler's criticism that the Democratic leadership in the Senate and

Crew Leaves Ship Off Gulf Coast

CAMERON, La. (AP) — The master and crew abandoned the flaming Belgian motorship Anvers early today moments after the stricken vessel was beached. The Coast Guard said magnesium explosions prevented any attempt to board the ship and fight the fire. Magnesium ingot, the Coast Guard said, was part of the ship's miscellaneous cargo. The ship's agents also said chemical stores of undetermined nature were aboard. The ship was anchored about six miles south of Cameron, when the fire broke out Sunday morning. The 442-foot vessel has a gross tonnage of 5,153. Its cargo con-

Hangar Cost Discussed By Commission

County Commissioners this morning spent most of their time talking with airport officials concerning construction of the large hangar at the County Airport. Dick Standifer, fixed base airport operator, told the commissioners he had talked with Puckett & French, architect-engineering firm, officials about the building, and the costs were more than he had anticipated. The commissioners then called Bill French for a conference. The large hangar, to be erected by the county and Standifer is to pay for it over 15 years. The county has indicated it planned to spend about $40,000 for the hangar. The building is also to house Standifer's office. In other business, the commissioners approved additional electrical work in the county surveyor's office and talked with M. H. Barnes about a plot for property northwest of Big Spring.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful wife and six fine kids but my wife talks on the telephone all day and in the evenings when I come home she starts doing her washing, ironing and housework. She never sits down and watches TV with me because she is so busy doing other things. She even deep freezes it all. At night she falls into bed and is so tired she turns on her side and goes to sleep. I am about to crack up. She went to the doctor and he told her she was good for a hundred years yet. I make good money but I am lonesome.

Worst Circus Disaster Was 15 Years Ago

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The circus ground is still there, but off peaceful Barbour Street. But it is smaller now, hemmed in by big, brick apartment houses.

Fifteen years ago it was the scene of America's worst circus disaster. The tragic toll: 168 killed, more than 500 injured.

It was July 6, 1944, hot and humid. Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus was in town for a one-day stand.

Just before the matinee started, a six-year-old girl with curly brown hair took her seat under the big top, joining some 6,000 men, women and children.

The atmosphere inside the tent was gay, the crowd laughing and excited.

At 2 p.m., Merle Evans, veteran bandmaster for the circus, led his 29-piece band through a snappy opening number. Then came the clowns, acrobats and animals.

Outside, a strong southwest wind had sprung up.

At 2:40, Evans spotted a small, horseshoe shaped flame creeping up the side of the main tent. Suddenly, he switched the band from ballet music—the exit tune for the animal act—to a stirring march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

For the circus-wise, the abrupt change was the dreaded warning that danger lurked in the big top. Later, Evans explained it could have been any other snappy tune, but he picked Sousa's famed march because it was familiar, and might avoid a panic.

LOOKED SMALL
Momentarily, the flame looked small enough to extinguish with a bucket of water.

But within seconds, and sparked by the wind, the flame grew into a roaring, horrifying fire.

By 3 p.m., the flaming envelope which had engulfed 6,000 humans was a smoldering pier. The little girl was among those who perished in the fire and panic.

For days, Hartford was stunned, full of heartache. One sorrow has remained fresh down through the years—the mystery of the little girl.

Though the flames left her pretty face virtually unmarred, she was never identified.

They call her "Little Miss 1945."

The name she has borne in death was taken from a numbered casualty tag placed on her body when it was brought into a temporary morgue following the holocaust.

On the first anniversary of the tragedy, two Hartford policemen who helped in the mammoth task of identifying the dead, placed flowers on her grave in Northwood Cemetery in nearby Windsor.

For years, Lt. Thomas C. Barber and Sgt. Edward T. Lowe repeated the ceremony on the fire anniversary, Memorial Day and Christmas Eve.

With the retirement of Lowe, Barber has been visiting the cemetery by himself. Monday, he will again place a bouquet of crisp, red carnations on the grave of "Little Miss 1945," pause a moment and then walk away.

"It just doesn't seem possible," Barber and Lowe have said, "that a child like that little one could have disappeared from her own small world without somebody noticing that she had gone and never come back."

After 15 years, it remains a mystery.

Group Plans Return Of Diaz' Remains

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Sponsors of a move to bring home the body of former Mexican President Porfirio Diaz from Paris met yesterday at the hospital Juarez to work out plans.

Diaz, who ruled Mexico with an iron hand for decades, fled to Paris in exile during the revolution sparked by Carranza, Pancho Villa and Zapata. He died and was buried in a public cemetery.

Souvenir Of World War II

Capt. B. D. Dace, British army demolition expert, steps gingerly around the dirt-encrusted German booby-trapped bomb found in a 14-foot deep waterlogged crater in suburban Putney, five miles from the center of London. The bomb, resting on a wooden platform for removal, was dropped by the German in World War II and remained hidden until discovered by workmen digging a sewer trench. A team of Army men removed all but three of the 250 pounds of explosive in the bomb, which was then detonated.

Religion A Help To Former Convict

By ROLLO TAYLOR
Spartanburg (S.C.) Journal
Written for The Associated Press
JEFFERSON, Ga. (AP) — A year ago Saturday, James Fulton Foster, 40, sentenced to death a second time for the murder of Charles Drake, calmly strummed his guitar in the Jackson County jail here.

Foster's lawyers had managed to find a gun they claimed was the murder weapon and were moving for a new trial. It was not much to go on, but there was hope.

At the same time, in the South Carolina Penitentiary, another prisoner summoned police officers to his cell.

"I want to talk to everybody connected with that murder over in Jefferson. I'll tell them everything I know," he said.

When police arrived, Charles Paul (Rocky) Rothschild, former Cairo, Ill., policeman and football player from Southern Illinois University, confessed to the Drake murder.

Foster, a house painter, had leaned heavily on religion during the last days of his confinement. Rothschild's confession was strewn with biblical phrases. "I've found my Christ," he said. James Foster was freed. Rothschild, who received a life sentence after pleading guilty to the murder, returned to South Carolina to finish a five-year sentence for conspiracy.

Today, religion still plays a vital part in the lives of both men.

But the faith that Rothschild seeks so earnestly will not crystallize and he admits he is confused and bewildered. "I find myself cursing my friends and hating those who have tried to help me," he said, "and then I pray to God for help. It does not come."

James Foster proudly tells how his oldest son Stanley may get a track scholarship to Furman University. His oldest daughter Elizabeth was married three weeks ago.

Foster now waits for the Georgia Legislature to meet in January to consider compensation for his two years in jail.

Where Foster finds peace in his family and church, Rothschild is easily irritated. He has lost 20 pounds.

He finished two chapters of a well-written fiction story based on his life, and gave it up. He now admits he cannot concentrate on anything.

His other writing efforts were a poem of unusual tenderness about his dead mother and another of unusual bitterness denouncing law officers who spoke against his South Carolina pardon application.

He shows only infrequent signs of remorse for the Drake murder. "I know I did wrong and I know I must pay, but..."

But—he didn't know prison life would be so hard.

3-Year Car Buyers On Long Treadmill

By BEN PHILEGAR
DETROIT (AP) — The average fellow who buys a new car every three years might as well make a spot in his permanent budget for the monthly car payment because he's going to be paying every month.

Alan G. Rude, president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp., largest of the independent auto finance companies, says the current average for a time payment contract is between 29 and 30 months.

This would leave a man six months to accumulate the needed cash to go with his present car for a down payment on a new one. Then the monthly payments begin all over again.

Rude says his company figures about 65 per cent of the new car buyers pay on the installment plan. Their average current monthly payment is $89. The use of credit on used cars is even higher, Rude says, "running about three out of every four deals."

The total amount owed by consumers on their cars adds up to a whopping 16 billion dollars. That is about $235 on every licensed vehicle in the country — cars, trucks and buses.

There are some people that walk into a dealer's show room, find a car they like, write a check for the full amount and take their title free and clear.

A recent report by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan gives some clue about these relatively rare birds.

First of all, they are apt to be older — with children grown and the house paid for.

They are apt to earn more, probably considerably more, than $10,000 a year. They've got money in the bank.

Installment credit generally, the center reports, is a middle income phenomenon. The vast majority of users make from $3,000 to $10,000 a year.

On auto financing in general Rude said he found buyers faithful in making their payments and that the situation is improving rapidly as general business conditions improve. His company's current rate of repossessions is about one-half of 1 per cent.

David Rankin, 14, of Texas City who met Louisiana Gov. Earl Long at a Galveston hospital, has been granted permission by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Rankin, to visit Long. But the parents said they had not agreed to permit Long to adopt their son, as the governor announced.

Bachelor Schoolteacher Hosts Girls On City Visit

CHICAGO (AP)—A small-town bachelor schoolteacher came to the big city and brought along 39 girls as his guests.

But he's not living it up in the playboy's grand style. The girls are high school sophomores—his former pupils—and are his guests on a five-day visit which he estimates will cost him about $2,000.

This trip isn't anything new for Jay Ostrander, 59-year-old junior high school teacher at Goodrich, Mich. This is the 23rd year he has brought a group of students to Chicago at his own expense.

The 39 girls, accompanied by three of their mothers, were brought here on a chartered bus. Ostrander also is paying their hotel and food bills and is providing most of the entertainment expense.

The party, celebrating Patrick's eighth birthday, had been water-skiing. All were wearing bathing suits.

Ostrander was asked by a reporter why he does it.

As he shepherded his flock through the Museum of Science and Industry, Ostrander explained: "I'm a bachelor. I've been making something over $5,000 a year for some time. I have no car. I spend $10 a week on a room. I do my own cooking—what else would I do with my money?"

He said with this group of girls he has brought a total of 1,000 pupils, 600 girls and 400 boys, to Chicago. For most of them it was their first visit to a big city.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

She Lost Weight Fast When It Was Required

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "American men prefer blondes." Actress Diana Darrin declared. "I know, because I've been a redhead, brunette and blonde. The casting men gave me more parts and my career took an upward swing when I bleached my hair.

"When it was brown, which is my natural color, older and more conservative men seemed interested," she revealed.

"What about redheads?" I inquired.

"I think most hair that is dyed red looks artificial, and men who like that type don't appeal to me," she replied.

We were chatting on the "Line-up" set at CBS, and Diana was wearing a very tight sheath.

"Last month I weighed 110," she exclaimed. "That's 10 pounds too much for me. I'm only five-three. I'm never going to gain that much again or lose it so fast.

"I weigh myself on a bathroom scale the first thing every morning. If I see that I'm at 105 for more than two or three days I'm going to take that as a signal to reduce."

"How did you lose your 10 pounds?"

Diana laughed. "You'll get a kick out of this. I wrote for your high-protein diet, and I think it's wonderful. I followed it and lost a pound a day.

"I felt so proud of myself that I celebrated with a dinner date. Before I knew what had happened I gained back five pounds in a week. I hadn't really stayed on it long enough to shrink my stomach. So in order to lose those five pounds I went on a liquid diet for one day. Now my stomach has shrunk, and it's going to stay that way.

"I turn my back when I see barbecued potato chips. I don't allow any snacking when I watch TV, but if I'm terribly hungry I sip a glass of buttermilk or fruit juice.

"It may sound corny," Diana said in parting, "but I'm the original 'where-there's-a-will-there's-a-way' girl."

DIANA RECOMMENDS DIET

Diana Darrin sent for Leaflet M-1, "Two-Week High-Protein Diet," and was so impressed with the results that she recommends it to others who want to lose a pound a day. The menus, for 14 days, consist of catabolic foods, carefully planned in such a way that your body will undergo a chemistry change. Although this diet brings good, fast results it is not a starvation diet. For your copy send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of the Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for Leaflet M-1.

10 Pounds In 10 Days

Diana Darrin lost 10 pounds in 10 days with Lydia Lane's high-protein diet. She warns against delay in taking off those extra pounds. Diana is a popular TV actress.

This House Has Gem Foundation

FRANKLIN, N. C. — A house near here is built on a foundation of rubies and sapphires.

The late Will Holbrook built the house about 45 years ago in the Cowee Valley of western North Carolina's mountains shortly after the American Prospecting and Mining Co. stopped operations in the valley.

For 20 years the company had extracted rubies from the valley's corundum gravel. But labor costs became too high for it to compete with rubies from the Mogok Valley of Burma, the world's prime source.

Holbrook was an employee of the company and became caretaker of the mining property after commercial operations stopped. Large quantities of corundum crystals not of gem grade were stored in 10-gallon buckets in a warehouse on the property. Fire destroyed the warehouse but not the steel buckets and their loads of crystals.

Holbrook acquired title to the warehouse property, and started building a frame house on the site. Times were tough, and Holbrook decided the corundum crystals were an ideal mix for the cement for the foundation. He ended up with a foundation full of rubies, sapphires and other stones.

His daughter, Miss Ruth Holbrook, who now lives in the house, says of the rockhounds who frequent the area: "If I turned my back too long, they'd chip the foundation right out from under the place."

But she's not too angry at the amateur rock collectors and prospectors. She has opened two small digging operations on the property and collects a fee from them.

Omelet Is Enlivened With Cheese

For an impressive egg dish, prepare an omelet, crown it with grated cheese, and serve it to approving family or friends.

Use this recipe:

PUFFY CHEESE OMELET

3 large eggs (separated)

3 tbsps. water

1/4 tsp. salt

1 1/2 tbsps. butter

1 1/2 cup finely-grated cheddar cheese

Beat egg yolks with rotary beater until thick and lemon colored. With clean beater, beat together egg whites, water and salt until when beater is slowly withdrawn peaks that flop over slightly form. Fold yolks into whites so there are no blobs of beaten white left.

Slowly heat butter in a heavy 9-inch skillet; add omelet mixture. Cook slowly until puffed almost to top of skillet and underside is lightly browned. Sprinkle with cheese. Place in slow (300 degrees) oven until a knife inserted in center comes out clean — 10 to 12 minutes.

Loosen edges of omelet; cut in half; remove with spatula; serve at once, cheese side up.

Fight Against Mailed Obscenity Is Growing

"What can we do?" The Post Office Department, in its drive to stamp out the mailing of obscene materials to children, is gratified to be hearing this offer to help from parents and the aroused public more and more frequently.

"Persistent, intensive action on a nation-wide scale will be necessary for a long time to come, to cope with the determined plans of the fifth racketeers to continue expanding their business," said Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield. "We are most gratified by the wholehearted editorial support being accorded by the press."

Summerfield has pointed out that the traffic in obscenity has doubled in just the last five years, and can double again by 1963 if the parents of America do not take a concerted stand within their own communities to wipe out this evil. He warns that 700,000 to a million minor children will be solicited this year through the mails for the sale of obscene materials, and that this highly lucrative racket is now operating at half a billion dollar a year or more level.

In answering the question, "What can we do?" the Postmaster General points to these steps that every community can take:

1. It is the responsibility of alert parents to take action when obscene material, solicited or otherwise, comes into the hands of their children through the mails. The postal service cannot open first-class mail, but can act only if parents supply the evidence after the mail has been delivered. If the contents are obscene, the parents are urged to save all the material, including the covering envelope, and put it promptly in the hands of the local postmaster, either personally or by mail.
2. Parents can join with local law enforcement officers, teachers and civic groups in drawing public attention to this menace and mobilizing support for their representatives in Congress in considering legislation to help stop the racket.
3. Parents can work closely with teachers to detect obscene materials in the possession of children and determine its origin.

4. The community should be impressed with the fact that even children who are never exposed to the obscene material may be victimized by sex criminals whose minds have been debauched by it.

5. Parents can cooperate with schools in taking long range steps to help their children develop wholesome interests in good literature and arts, making it readily available to them at home, through clubs, and in the classroom.

6. Civic groups should have the problem brought to their attention and can contact the local postmaster for his active participation. He can provide them with literature for distribution, background material for discussion meetings, and can inform them of the problem as it exists in his community.

7. Civic groups can bring about the establishment of a decent literature committee which can maintain a survey of the extent of the illegal traffic in obscenity in the community, and can support appropriate action by the Post Office Department and local law enforcement agencies.

A Devotional For Today

I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. (Philippians 4:11.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, may we draw fresh courage from the examples of Paul and the other great souls who endured imprisonment for their faith. May we face our own problems in the spirit in which these great men faced theirs. Thus may we turn defeat into victory. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Hospitality For The AFROTC Students

Business men of Big Spring will do well to turn out in force this evening at the Cosden Country Club, for the barbecue affair honoring AFROTC students currently in active training at Webb Air Force Base.

First of all, they will be showing that Big Spring can be hospitable to young visitors — men who in a few years will probably be in the top ranks of the nation's Air Force and in its business and commercial enterprises.

Secondly, they will be treating themselves to the sight of, and the making acquaintance with, the "cream of the crop" of future U. S. citizenship. The college students — several score of them — come to Webb this summer from far-flung places, representing dozens of the great universities and colleges. Without exception, they are outstanding on their campuses, in scholastic, in extra-curricular activities, and of course in Reserve training. They are not unlike some of Big Spring's own young men who may be away at school or at military stations.

These ROTC boys have worked hard the past few weeks, have had little time to see what Big Spring actually is like as a community, due to rigid training schedules that last from early morn to late at night.

This evening comes their opportunity for a bit of recreation, and the city's opportunity to show them that we are glad they're here.

It ought to be a goodwill occasion, and can be if Big Springers adopt their role of host with enthusiasm.

It Helps To Be Surrounded

A 10-cent cut in the University Park city tax rate may shed some light on why Dallas, which completely surrounds University Park, can't get that municipality to become a corporate part of Big D.

has been able to cut its rate. That's like two-for-a nickel cigars—a memory of yesterday.

Ike's Position On The Next GOP Nominee

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower may want to see Vice President Nixon nominated to succeed him, but he will never say so.

Careful reading of the President's remarks at his last press conference reveals that he did not really take a neutral stand, as has been widely reported. He did refuse to be put in the position of dictating to the Republican National Convention as to the "procedures," but this is in keeping with his concept that presidential elections must not attempt to control a national convention. Mr. Eisenhower's exact words were as follows:

"Well, I think it would be too much to think that a man's sentiments and ideas were completely neutral. I have said time and again that the Republican party, in my opinion, has brought forward a group of able, capable men of vigorous years and that any could be selected with honor to himself and to the party. "But I certainly shall never, so far as I am able, indicate publicly, to anyone, or privately, the details of the procedures, well, that will bring about some nominee, because I don't think it is correct or right."

Mr. Eisenhower is following tradition. No President likes to be accused of dictating the choice of his successor, though President Theodore Roosevelt did it in 1908, and the accusation was widely proclaimed that William Howard Taft was a hand-picked nominee and that the convention itself was a "steamroller" affair. Nowadays, especially since presidential preference primaries have been introduced in several states, each national convention likes to feel that it is free and unbossed. Mr. Eisenhower's remarks will help to give the impression that the 1960 Republican convention is to be of that kind.

But when the President said that "it would be too much to think that a man's sentiments and ideas were completely neutral," he was doubtless thinking in a very natural, human way about the policies of his own administration. Could he favor a candidate who has only a lukewarm feeling about the policies of the Eisenhower regime? Wouldn't he naturally feel closer to the candidate who has been and is willing to go down the line in 100 per cent or almost that high a percentage, approval of what the Republican administration has accomplished in eight years?

In the campaign last year for the governorship of New York state, Nelson Rockefeller was advised by some of his supporters to avoid endorsement of the national administration or any campaigning on its record. At that time such a course was deemed politically wise. Since the 1958 elections, however, there is believed to have been a change in public opinion and the national administration undoubtedly has gained in popularity.

Certainly anybody who expects to get the Republican presidential nomination in 1960 cannot afford to be lukewarm now about the Eisenhower administration's

Visits May Make No Difference

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is international interest in the exchange of visits by American and Soviet bigwigs: Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Rol R. Kozlov come here; Vice President Richard M. Nixon visits Moscow this month.

But do they mean anything? So far as is visible these visits figure to make no change at all in relations between the two countries.

The Gulf between them is so deep any change will come only from what each, after much thought and bargaining, thinks best for itself. Glad-handing won't change anything.

Maybe President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev could work out something at a summit conference. That's questionable. If they do, it won't be out of jolly goodwill.

Nixon, Mikoyan and Kozlov certainly don't have authority to agree on anything. The two Soviets held out some bait. Nobody bit. If Nixon goes fishing in Moscow, he'll probably come up with an empty hook, too.

More than a year ago Khrushchev proposed — in a letter to Eisenhower — more trade between the two countries. It's pitifully low now. Mikoyan came here earlier this year and talked trade. Now Kozlov talks trade.

All three got the cold-shoulder. Over the weekend the State Department in a letter to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, gave the Soviets the full ice-water treatment.

The department repeated what has been American policy all along; it does not see much reason for stepping up American-Soviet trade, plenty of reasons for not.

This country is quite willing and able to sell the Soviet Union large quantities of finished consumer goods, but the U. S. S. R. wants little of these, more of other things.

This is the unchanged policy; no strategic materials for the Soviet Union, since they would help her in her technological advances.

"The U. S. S. R. has reason not to help the U. S. S. R. get any bigger economically since Khrushchev solemnly has promised to bury this country under Soviet prosperity."

And, while Khrushchev, Mikoyan and Kozlov have been talking friendlier relations and better trade, the Soviet Union has been

Deadly Highway Litter

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some traffic experts estimate two out of every 100 highway deaths on holiday weekends are caused by trash or debris tossed from cars. Don't be a litterbug.

How much has your income gone up in the last 18 years? During that time, federal, state and local taxes have risen 655 per cent.

"Science," points out Arthur W. A. Cowen, international attorney, "can now send a rocket on the way to the moon, build intercontinental missiles, produce jet aircraft and hydrogen bombs; but, given all the necessary ingredients on a laboratory bench, a chemist can't make milk or honey."

Boats, Boats, Everybody Has A Boat

Arguments from the rodeo people and the golf enthusiasts to the contrary, the fastest growing sport in this broad land of ours is pleasure boating.

It's getting to the point where you're not hep if you don't have a boat and trailer, sitting in the driveway or parked in your garage.

A survey conducted by an oil company recently showed the number of pleasure craft in the United States and its territories reached a record 7,300,000 by the end of last year, a gain of 259,000 over the previous year.

Of that number, 6,324,000 were power boats, which represented an increase of 393,000, or six per cent, over 1958. More than 5,500,000 of those power boats, or 87.5 per cent, made use of outboard motors.

A national magazine estimated recently that one out of every four persons is active in boating and that more than two billion dollars are spent for boating each year. The publication could have added that the other people would like to own a motor boat, if they thought the old expende account could stand the gaff.

In Texas alone, no fewer than 327,375 small craft were in operation at the end of 1958, an increase of 14,588 over the preceding year.

Only five states—California, Illinois, Michigan, New York and Ohio—have more pleasure boats than does Texas.

New York leads the way, with a total of 604,000 power-driven craft. A distant second is Michigan, with 455,000.

The largest percentage increase in power boats was recorded in Utah, with a 16.9 gain. Only two states—Vermont and Rhode Island—reported decreases in the number of power boats.

Of the 327,000 power-driven boats in Texas, 293,000 are equipped with outboard motors. The others consist of documented and undocumented gasoline and diesel craft.

Texas, no doubt, won't be happy until they can build their backyard swimming pools big enough to accommodate their pleasure craft.

Why Not Try 100 Pct. Free Enterprise?

In my lifetime I have heard so much favorable discussion of free enterprise that I would dearly love to see the United States give it an experimental try.

It is not a return to laissez-faire economics I crave, but a halt to leaping socialism. And just to prove the Fearless Fosdick is a quaking coward compared with me, I would, if I had the power, end any and all government subsidies at once.

That would send the whole nation, both the "haves" and the "have-nots" into a talspin. The "haves," who wouldn't have it (a subsidy) any more, would be screaming like banshees until their voices gave out. And the "have-nots," who have been giving the "haves" a free ride on the farmers' aching backs for years, would be numb with joy.

I would un-subsidize everyone—farmers, oil men and even illegitimate mothers—and give the law of the market place, good, old, supply and demand, a chance to operate. Surely, we couldn't be any worse off under free enterprise than under subsidy socialism, with which the nation ran up a national deficit of thirteen billion dollars ($13,000,000,000) in the fiscal year of 1958-59, just ended.

Under the subsidy system, we are certainly going for broke. Congress, which gives all these lovely, fat subsidies to the powerful minorities of which it lives in terror, has just voted another increase in the national debt ceiling. That ceiling is now so far up above the cloud line that I can't see it with a telescopic lens. But I can't see it, $285,000,000,000. Next year, "East Lyme" and $300,000,000,000. Mark my words.

It'll have to be raised to $300,000,000,000 to enable us to pay interest on the debt. This is known as a vicious circle in cold cash.

Oh, I'm a hard-hearted Hannah, all right. I would cut everyone loose from his subsidy to sink or swim, survive or perish in true Horatio Alger fashion. Maybe that would help dry up the river of surplus wheat and end the racket in storage facilities for the nation's surplus commodities.

(There's even more money to be made now in storage or warehouse facilities than in agricultural surpluses.)

Maybe if subsidies ceased so would the American miracle of constantly decreasing farm population and constantly increasing farm surpluses. And I would chop off airline and shipping subsidies before the railroads cut themselves in on this melon, as they are now threatening. And the oil and mineral depletion tax would be out the window.

Only veterans with service-connected disabilities, plus the widows and orphans of men who have died in the military service of the nation, would be generously cared for by the government. There would be no blanket subsidies in the way of free-for-all hospitalization and pensions.

As for subsidization of illegitimate motherhood, a subsidy of which taxpayers in every section of the country have complained to me, that would be out, too. These mothers-for-profit would go off the relief rolls, pronto, and their helpless children put in good homes to be reared in decency. I am so hard-hearted that I would propose sterilization of such a woman, after two illegitimate children, and also the men responsible.

Unless this country is willing to give free enterprise a chance by abolishing subsidies and making everyone stand on his own two feet, we un-subsidized taxpayers will be supporting politically powerful minorities the rest of our lives. It's obvious that we have no recourse but to lick 'em or join 'em.

The Texas Poll

Johnson Gets Solid Support In Texas

By JOE BELDEN, Director, The Texas Poll

The extent to which U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson can claim to be the "favorite son" candidate of Texas for the Democratic presidential nomination is reflected in the latest state-wide survey by The Texas Poll.

The survey shows:

1. About two of every three rank and file Texas Democrats — 66 per cent — regard Johnson as one of the most qualified men in the party to be President. By comparative measure, less than half as many put Adlai Stevenson and John Kennedy in the same class with Johnson.

2. A majority of Democrats now expressing a first choice for the 1960 presidential nomination prefers Johnson over nine other possible candidates combined. The first-choice division is 47 per cent for Johnson, 38 per cent for all other candidates combined, with 15 per cent currently undecided.

3. Independents are not quite so enthusiastic for Johnson. He leads other major candidates like Stevenson and Kennedy by substantial margins, but he does not command more first-choice votes among independents than do all the other candidates combined. The division among independents — a group comprising about one-third of the adult population — is 29 per cent for Johnson, 34 per cent for nine other candidates combined, with the remaining 27 per cent expressing no current first choice.

These findings are based on personal interviews with 1,000 men and women of all walks of life, a cross section representative of the adult population of Texas. While many of the persons interviewed did not have poll tax receipts to vote in elections this year, all are eligible to

Reconditioning Ships

TEXAS CITY, Tex. — Some Texas fleet tanker operators now cut their ships in half — right across the middle — in a radical new plan they call "jumboizing."

The surgery takes away an old, worn-out midsection. Then a larger midsection is inserted.

Result: A bigger, better oil tanker with the same power and speed at a fraction of the cost of a new vessel, and done in a fraction of the time required to build a new ship.

Susie Sees Susie

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Susie, the San Diego Zoo's trained sea lion, caught sight of herself in a six-sided mirror pillar during a performance at a hotel. That stopped her scheduled act, but Susie had the patrons in the aisles as she flipped her way around the pillar, nuzzling each new Susie.

Her trainer, Benny Kirkbride, got the show going again only by draping a tablecloth around the pillar.

qualify as voters in the 1960 elections. A total of 59 per cent classified themselves as Democrats, 33 per cent as independents, and 8 per cent as Republicans.

All persons in the survey were shown an alphabetical list of ten possible candidates for the Democratic nomination. Each candidate on the list was identified by the office he now holds or used to hold. For example, Johnson was described as U. S. Senator from Texas, Kennedy as U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, Stevenson as former Governor of Illinois, Brown as Governor of California, and so on.

The questions asked and the comparative results among Democrats, independents, and all adults combined are given below.

"The men on this list are possible candidates for President on the Democratic ticket in 1960. Please pick out the names of two or three that you feel are most qualified to be President."

On the basis of first choices, Johnson appears as a better than three-to-one favorite in Texas over Stevenson, runner-up, who lost this state to Eisenhower in the last two presidential elections.

Between Stevenson and Kennedy, the top two runners in the national polls, Stevenson evidently has more staunch supporters left in Texas than Kennedy has been able to develop in the time he has grown to be a leading contender. However, the relative standings of these two in Texas, as well as the others, could change considerably between now and convention time. The position Johnson may take in the future with regard to his own candidacy, and that of others, is likely to be one of the key factors bearing on the trend of Texas opinion.

N. Mexico Survives Holiday With No Traffic Deaths

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) —New Mexico traffic officials, using a concentrated program of enforcement and education, appeared successful in their fight for a safe and sane Fourth of July holiday on the state's highways.

Not one death attributable to traffic accidents had been reported late Sunday night in the holiday period which began at 6 p.m. Friday.

State police, bolstered by volunteers from other state agencies and local law enforcement groups, manned roadblocks and stationed officers at ports of entry on the major transcontinental highways.

Joe Black, assistant state police chief, reported officers had checked 105,917 vehicles at the road blocks. The idea was to caution out-of-state drivers about the state's soaring death rate.

In the three days immediately preceding the holiday period, 18 persons had died in New Mexico accidents.

The state officers issued more than 1,400 tickets for moving violations and arrested 74 motorists for driving while intoxicated.

Goodwill Visit Unhurt By Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A street-fight that marred a Cuban "Operation Friendship" visit failed to make a perceptible dent in civic good will between Miami and Havana.

Expressions of amity came from mayors of both cities as the Havana delegation prepared to go home today.

Cuba's consul at Miami, Alonso Hidalgo, 32, and Cuban tourist commissioner Rafael Valdes, 29, were injured and arrested in a southwest Miami melee between some members of the Operation Friendship entourage and a group they described as a mob of sympathizers of ex-president Fulgencio Batista.

Contestant

Miss Sue Ingersoll, 20-year-old beauty parlor operator and Miss Universe contest entry from New Mexico, says she'll participate in the contest despite a ban from Archbishop of Santa Fe against Catholic girls parading publicly in bathing suits in beauty contests.

Miss Ingersoll, a Catholic, said: "I am going ahead with the contest and I am keeping my religion, too."

Republicans To Keep Heat On To Pass Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are going to keep the heat on in an effort to get civil rights legislation passed in this session of Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said today.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, told an interviewer that a GOP broadside fired at Senate Democrats last week is only the beginning of a campaign to force action. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and others said in Senate speeches that the Democrats are responsible for inaction.

"We're going to keep the heat on until we get something done," Dirksen said.

As a part of this effort, he said Republican members of the Judiciary Committee's Constitutional Rights subcommittee will be on hand or be represented by proxy at any future meetings of the group. Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) has complained that Republicans didn't show up for some meetings.

With Southern Democrats often boycotting or blocking the sessions, the subcommittee had made only one major decision on civil rights measures before it.

This decision was that no bill it clears will carry a provision giving the attorney general authority to seek injunctions in all civil rights cases. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), not a member of the group, said he will appeal this decision to the Senate, if it gets around to considering a measure.

Dirksen said that in order to get action it may be necessary to hold any House-passed civil rights bill on the calendar for direct Senate consideration, as was done with a similar measure in 1957.

However, the word has been passed among Southern senators

Lyndon Urges Medic Research

DALLAS (AP) — An accelerated medical research program was urged yesterday by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) in his weekly broadcast for Texas radio stations.

Declaring that the money spent would be a great investment, Johnson said "our most precious resource is the healthy, the well-educated American."

The Senate majority leader cited arthritis as an example of a disease that costs this nation millions of dollars and widespread misery each year.

"It afflicts 11 million Americans," he said. "It disables one out of every 10 persons over the age of 14. It causes the loss of 80 million work days each year."

Johnson said this loss in manpower "is the same as if 320,000 persons were removed from the work rolls of the nation each year."

"I believe the only way to stem the heavy economic costs of disease, which produces inflation by adding to government expenditures, is through medical research," he said.

Myrtle The Turtle Has No Love For Rock-N-Roll

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Myrtle was just a cute little turtle with a painted shell when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zinn bought her in a Wyoming dime store seven years ago.

She soon became more than a pet for their son Bobby.

Myrtle liked opera. Her head swayed from side to side in perfect time to the soaring arias when the Zinns played records.

When Myrtle showed a preference for Caruso her owners bought several of the great tenor's recordings for Myrtle's enjoyment.

The Zinns decided that Myrtle's music appreciation should be broadened. They offered her popular, Western and even rock 'n' roll recordings.

Myrtle's reaction to all of them was the same . . . She refused to listen and retired as far back into her shell as she could go.

But, a little opera on the hi-fi brought her out again.

Myrtle likes dogs and most people, but a friendly visit by another turtle sends her far into her shell.

She likes to splash around in a bowl of water and enjoys nothing more than a fine fish dinner. She also likes hamburger now and then.

But Myrtle spurns the canned turtle food that pet shops recommend as good for growing turtles.

Mrs. Zinn says this is probably because Myrtle has travelled so extensively and has finer tastes than her fellow turtles. She has toured the Northwest, visited many of the Western ghost towns and tourist attractions, and has travelled the entire width of the United States.

King Absent When Keys Delivered

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The keys to the City of Houston were brought by a Texas educator to the royal palace last weekend, but Emperor Haile Selassie wasn't here to receive them.

The keys were brought by Dr. Carey Cronis, provost of Rice Institute and a goodwill ambassador from Texas.

The emperor is visiting Russia.
