RECORD TURNOUT AT THE POLLS ... Heavy voting on Public Housing issue

Public Housing Issue Rejected In Big Vote

Nearly 2-1 Margin In Record Turnout

Big Spring voters Saturday rejected a proposal for a public housing project in Big Spring by a vote of nearly two to one. A record number of voters turned out to voice their disapproval of the proposal.

Unofficial returns tabulated last night showed: Against the proposition ... 1,011. For the proposition ... 541. Five ballots dropped in the box were blank.

The referendum drew the largest vote to be cast in any city election in the last five years, and very likely was the biggest response ever on a municipal issue. The 1,557 total was greater than the 931 cast for commissioners on April 7. Commission elections in earlier years showed 1,042 votes in 1948; 1,283 in 1957; 1,471 in 1956; and 742 in 1955.

George Melear, election judge, said the polls were opened to a constant stream of voters all through the day. He said about 300 had voted by the time the election was only two hours old.

By 5 p.m., over 1,200 had visited the polls, he said, and the last two hours saw about 300 cast their votes before the polls closed at 7 p.m.

The Big Spring City Commission asked for an expression from the voters before it took steps to establish a Public Housing Authority here. The final tabulation of the election will be considered by the Commission during its regular meeting Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

The issue had brought brisk campaigning this past week, and predictions as to the outcome were few.

One veteran observer of local elections voiced the opinion that a concern over possibility of increased local taxation was a factor in Saturday's voting; and that a turnover in the local rental market (with recent opening of Capehart housing at Webb) could have been an influence.

Several people in opposing camps said it was gratifying to get a representative expression through such a large vote.

Prior to the election, opponents of public housing said that new construction would not necessarily erase slums or blighted areas; that a government subsidy could lead to waste of public money; and that provision of local facilities could create new and burdensome costs to the city and school district.

Proponents claimed that government appropriations were available to help provide decent housing for the underprivileged; that a great stride could be taken in bettering sanitary conditions and a boost given to the improvement of blighted areas; that people now denied decent living conditions could be given a new chance.

Mrs. Maxine Bruce was assistant election judge and clerks included Mrs. Billy Smith, Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. Buel Fox, and Mrs. Dan W. Conley.

New State Tax Effort Slapped Down By House

AUSTIN (AP) — A rebellious House stubbornly opposed to the Senate's sales tax-loaded $182,367,000 revenue bill flatly turned it down by a whopping 81-64 vote Saturday.

A militant coalition of liberals who want more taxes on natural gas and business and anti-sales tax forces combined to reject a conference committee compromise bill approved yesterday by the Senate.

It was a slap at Gov. Price Daniel, who had lukewarmly endorsed the measure yesterday as the best he thought this Legislature could achieve, as well as at the leadership of Speaker Waggoner Carr. As the House went into session Saturday, Carr was confidently predicting that the compromise bill would win easily.

Natural gas lobbyists after a surge of overnight activity lining up the votes also were spreading word that the bill was in the bag. But the House, after hearing the measure assailed as a "sop to both sides" and a "panic button" bill, bowed its neck and plowed under the conference report which in essence was the Senate's idea of where to put the tax burden.

The action probably laid to rest all hopes that the second called session could solve the ever-tightening fiscal crisis by balancing the budget and retiring the deficit.

THIRD SPECIAL SESSION A third special session seems certain. The vote carried with it a demand that Carr name another conference committee, along with the request that the Senate also put the revenue bill back in joint conference. The Senate is in recess and cannot act until Monday.

Carr, obviously nettled, said: "The obstructionists have controlled the vote today. Now they are in control. Let's see what they can do now."

He named Reps. Mauro Rosas, El Paso; Byron Tunnell, Tyler; Jet Chapman, Sulphur Springs; George Hinson, Mineola; Jerry Sadler, Palestine, as the new House conferees. None of the former members was reappointed.

Daniel originally urged a severance beneficiary natural gas tax aimed at tapping revenue from exported gas. After the Senate said no and adopted the conference report yesterday, he "reluctantly" endorsed the bill. This infuriated the liberals, who said he had given them the double cross. They had joined with him in earlier tax skirmishes in support of the natural gas tax.

If a tax bill and an appropriation bill are not passed by Sept. 1, the start of the new fiscal biennium, state services will be seriously crippled, if not completely halted. There will be no money for pay and supplies.

The rejected bill included a one per cent increase in the natural gas production tax, increased or new sales levies on cigarettes and tobacco products, automobiles, radio and television parts, boats and motors, air conditioners, camera and photo equipment, gross receipts on private clubs. It includes also a temporary boost in the corporation franchise tax.

(Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring was one of the House minority voting to accept the Senate tax bill.)

Jet Liner, 112 Aboard, Lands Safely After Four-Hour Drama

NEW YORK (AP) — A huge Trans-Atlantic Pan-American World Airways jet plane, with 112 persons aboard, made a safe emergency landing early Sunday at Idlewild Airport.

Believed crippled in an accident during its takeoff for London, it had circled the field for nearly four hours while ground crews specially prepared a strip of runway.

As the four-engine craft touched down, its fuel supply was nearly exhausted.

After four drama-filled hours aloft over the airport, the big ship made a perfect emergency landing.

As the plane ground to a stop, passengers could be seen leaving by escape slides.

Prepared to make a dangerous belly landing if necessary, the pilot, Capt. Edward Sommers, had asked that a 3,000-foot section of one long runway be covered with a chemical anti-fire foam.

No fire developed, however, as the plane touched the runway at a speed in excess of 130 miles an hour.

About a thousand spectators, attracted by news of the unfolding crisis aloft, jammed Idlewild's observation towers to watch the spectacular landing.

They shouted "here he comes" as the Boeing 707-120 started its hazardous descent toward a two-mile-long runway that paralleled Jamaica Bay on the south shore of Long Island.

When it was obvious the landing was successful, a great cheer went up from the throng.

As the ship hit the 200-foot-wide runway, it kicked up a spray of foam, which was spread an inch thick over the runway to facilitate its landing and to prevent fire.

The plane's running lights gave the cascading foam a reddish hue that made it appear for an instant that the craft had caught fire.

The plane, however, sped steadily down the runway — and it was apparent shortly that the landing was a success.

The apparent accident was discovered by a Port Authority sound truck, stationed at the end of the runway to check the decibel — noise level — count of the jet's takeoff.

Crew members on the truck reported to the control tower that they had seen something fall from the undercarriage of the plane as it zoomed overhead.

An Airline spokesman said later it was believed that two of the craft's landing wheels had fallen off. The pilot was unable to determine what had fallen from the plane.

Crash equipment stood by. The pilot requested that the last 3,000 feet of the 11,500-foot runway 31—which is parallel to Jamaica Bay—be spread with the anti-fire chemical.

The plane took off at 8:37 p.m. from Runway 25 and headed for London, non-stop. The flight was Pan American's Clipper 102.

Other flying operations at Idlewild Airport continued, meanwhile, with only minor delays despite the emergency. Landing and departing aircraft were ordered to use Runway 22.

Steel Strike Seems A Certainty Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Hopes practically vanished Saturday for averting a steel strike next Tuesday night, with both the industry and Steelworkers Union discounting the chances for a peace plan.

The chief industry negotiator said he saw no possibility of agreement, and the union ruled out any extension of the expiring two-week strike truce.

The industry revealed it had proposed yielding some wage and welfare benefits improvements under a proposed new two-year contract provided that the union agrees to compensating cost concessions.

The union, refusing any such trade, said it showed the companies' earlier wage freeze proposal was "a mock crusade against inflation" and reflected unwillingness to negotiate.

The industry said it needed contract changes to give management more leeway in promoting operating efficiency, but the union said steel workers do not steel mills are not a haven for featherbedding." It said industry gains demonstrate this.

Each side blamed the other for bringing the country again to the brink of an economy-crippling steel walkout. The industry made plans to start this weekend tapering off operations.

David J. McDonald, the union's president, complained bitterly that despite "oodles" of profits, the industry has refused to make any offer to increase worker wages and other benefits.

The industry confirmed that it has stood solid in refusing to grant any concessions that would result in wage-price inflation.

But R. Conrad Cooper, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and chief industry negotiator, revealed he had told the union that some wage and other gains were possible if the union gave up some existing practices so that compensating operating savings could be made.

McDonald said Chairman Roger Bough of U.S. Steel has charged that some existing contract provisions promote industry featherbedding, or unnecessary and costly work practices.

The union chief characterized this claim as "pure unadulterated bunk," but the industry reiterated its claim that the expiring contracts require substantial revision to give the industry more managerial prerogatives in cutting cost corners.

ONLY 27 VOTES

J. C. Niblett New Mayor Of Ackerly

ACKERLY — J. C. Niblett, Ackerly grocer, is the new mayor of this recently incorporated town.

He received 12 write-in votes in Saturday's municipal election to win the office in Ackerly's first city election. Only 27 votes were cast.

Other write-in votes for mayor — there were no candidates' names on the official ballot — showed:

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

The whole week wasn't given over to Public Housing talk, although the tumult might have given that impression. The town was full of mosquitoes, too, and some very desperate efforts were made to get rid of these ornery pests, although the spraying machines seemed to be fighting a losing battle. Folks said the skeeters were even worse out in the country.

Spotlight was on youth, and delightfully so. Comely Diana Dawson was reigning as "Miss Big Spring", and will represent the city in the state beauty contest at Corpus Christi. And Judi Simpson gracefully wore the junior queen title.

Big Spring bade a fond adieu to a splendid bunch of young men—the brisk collegians who were at Webb for summer's APTOC training. They had a hard grind, but had some pleasant moments, too, including the barbecue supper in their honor given by Big Spring business people. And the climax of the whole program came Saturday with graduation ceremonies and a military review.

Big Spring is going to get good publicity, thanks to the fine skill and showmanship exhibited by Mike and Patty Bishop. This brother-sister team makes up some of the best baton twirling in the business, and the two are out after new laurels in a special tour (See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 6)

J. V. Bristow, 4; Darrell Smith, 2; Riley Smith, 2; E. E. Criswell, 4; J. I. White and Earl Newcomer, 1 each.

J. C. Moore, Ackerly contractor, polled all but one of the 27 votes in his bid for city marshal. Barney Springfield received one write-in vote.

Five aldermen were elected from a field of nine candidates.

They are D. L. Rasberry, 23 votes; Travis Russell, 22 votes; Lonnie Kemp, 18 votes; J. V. Bristow, 18 votes; and John Beal, 16 votes.

Other Alderman candidates and their votes: Riley Smith, 14; Earl Newcomer, 10; Doyle Fowler and Leon Yings, 7 each.

The new city officials will take office soon after the Dawson County Commissioners Court has canvassed the election and certified the returns.

Ackerly voted to incorporate on last May 16. In that election approximately 60 votes were polled.

First Federal Buys Property On Main Street

Purchase of additional property on Main Street as preliminary to future expansion plans was announced Saturday by the First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

First Federal has concluded a deal for the 100 x 140 foot lot occupied by the Van Gieson home. Purchase was made from the Jessie Van Gieson Estate for $32,000.

This property is adjacent to the site now occupied by the Association, and gives a 200-foot frontage on Main Street, below Fifth.

Robert Stripling, secretary-treasurer of First Federal, said that plans are for the early removal of the house on the newly-acquired property, and that the Association will be starting plans for building new and larger facilities.

Algerian Fighting

ALGIERS (AP) — Fighting between French troops and Algerian nationalist rebels increased sharply throughout Algeria the past two days.

B'Spring Man Slain By Shot

Alberto Gomez, 22, identified as a bartender in Jalisco Cafe, 305 Bell, was shot fatally at 11:45 p.m. Saturday night as he stood in the doorway of the cafe.

Malatin's car came to rest near the railroad tracks on the south side of the highway. Apparently, he lost control of the car as he was proceeding toward Big Spring.

Gomez was pronounced dead at the Big Spring Hospital. Officers said that they had been called to the cafe a short time earlier by reports of a disturbance in which a man was said to be brandishing a gun. When the police reached the scene the man had disappeared and all was reported to be quiet.

A few minutes later, Gomez walked to the front of the cafe when he heard a shot. Another shot was fired from the street, striking the bartender in the heart. He fell to the ground. No one, it was reported, saw his assailant.

Police picked up a number of people in the area for questioning. The body was taken to River Funeral Home.

Cuba Tilts Prices To Pay Station Men

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The government Saturday ordered refineries to cut their price of gasoline a half cent a gallon and raised retail prices a cent a gallon to finance minimum wages of $85 a month for Cuban filling station and garage workers.

They already had $250 in coins taken in the first trip to the bank. In the wild, storybook drama that brought an hour of terror to a bloody climax, Barker, 31, subdued William D. Hayward, 26,

Blakley Reported To Be 'Doing Fine'

DALLAS (AP)—An aide to former U.S. Sen. William A. Blakley quoted doctors Saturday as saying the businessman is "doing fine" following a massive heart attack.

Blakley, 60, was stricken Friday on his condition, soon after he was rushed to Baylor hospital, was described as "pretty critical."

Blakley's personal physician, Dr. R. B. McBride, a heart specialist, said Blakley suffered "a massive coronary occlusion."

Doctors at Baylor said Saturday "he is holding his own quite well. He had a good, restful night and things are status quo."

Highway Mishap Kills Local Man

STANTON (SC) — George A. Malatin, 50, was killed in a one-car accident four miles east of here on U. S. 80 about 8:15 p.m. Saturday.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Arrington Funeral Home here. None of his relatives had been located Saturday night.

Malatin's car came to rest near the railroad tracks on the south side of the highway. Apparently, he lost control of the car as he was proceeding toward Big Spring.

Shreveport Police Lt. M. M. Wallace told the Houston Chronicle Dolz was armed.

"He apparently fired first," said Wallace, "and Easterling returned the fire with a shotgun."

Two loads of shot struck Dolz in the chest. He died almost instantly. His wife was not hurt.

Mrs. Dolz told Shreveport police. Easterling's body was found near a levee about 100 yards from the Dolz home.

Shreveport police said they do not know the identity of Easterling's companion during the gun battle.

Eclectic is a small farming town of 1,000 population 30 miles northeast of Montgomery, home of the two bandits.

Mrs. Barker and her 3-year-old daughter and Police Chief Maxie Taunton escaped injury. The banker, a National Guard captain and a fire arms instructor, was cut on the hand in the struggle with Hayward.

Suspect Slain In Gun Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — Benjamin Franklin Easterling, 41, accused in the $75,000 Rosenstock Motors safe-cracking here, was shot and killed in Shreveport Saturday.

Easterling was wounded fatally during a gun battle with a wealthy Shreveport pizza house operator.

The pizza house operator, Joe Dolz, 45, also was killed.

The gun battle occurred when Dolz and his wife, Josephine, came home about 3:15 a.m. and found two masked men in their $45,000 home.

Shreveport Police Lt. M. M. Wallace told the Houston Chronicle Dolz was armed.

"He apparently fired first," said Wallace, "and Easterling returned the fire with a shotgun."

Two loads of shot struck Dolz in the chest. He died almost instantly. His wife was not hurt.

Banker Turns On His Captors, Killing One, Beating Another

ELECTIC, Ala. (AP) — A fast-thinking banker tricked a holdup man into a coffee break Saturday, then in a savage battle scalded him with hot water, clubbed him into submission, shot him, and killed his companion.

The two bandits had kidnaped Eclectic's police chief and forced Cashier-Manager Carl Ray Barker to open the Bank of Eclectic. Then they held the banker, his pregnant wife and small daughter and the police chief captive in the Barker home about an hour while waiting for a time lock to open the bank vault.

They already had $250 in coins taken in the first trip to the bank. In the wild, storybook drama that brought an hour of terror to a bloody climax, Barker, 31, subdued William D. Hayward, 26, with hot water and the butt of the bandit's own gun, then killed James Franklin Bray, 25, with two blasts from a 16-gauge shotgun.

And when Hayward balked at lying on the floor beside his slain confederate, the angered bank manager prodded him in the back of the leg with the shotgun. It went off and the holdup man fell with part of his leg torn away.

Eclectic is a small farming town of 1,000 population 30 miles northeast of Montgomery, home of the two bandits.

Mrs. Barker and her 3-year-old daughter and Police Chief Maxie Taunton escaped injury. The banker, a National Guard captain and a fire arms instructor, was cut on the hand in the struggle with Hayward.

The wounded bandit was taken to the Kilby Prison hospital at Montgomery in serious condition. Sheriff Lester Holley said he will be charged with robbery which carries a possible death sentence.

Barker's break came when Bray forced the kidnaped police officer to go with him to find adhesive tape to bind the hostages with while waiting for the bank vault to open.

Hayward was left at the house to guard the banker and his family.

"I asked him if he'd like a cup of coffee," Barker related, "and when he said yes, I knew what I was going to do. I boiled a pot of water and brought my wife and the holdup man each a cup.

"When the man held out his cup for me to pour, I threw the whole potful of steaming, scalding water in his face. Then I grabbed his gun and tried to shoot him. But it wouldn't work, so I beat him on the head with it."

Barker loaded the shotgun. When Bray and the police chief returned to the house, the bank manager fired pointblank at the holdup man as he walked through the front door. The first charge struck Bray in the chest and he spun around, Barker shot him again in the back.

Barker explained why he had decided to tackle the pair.

"I was afraid they might kill us anyway. In fact, the big one (Bray) kept clicking the hammer on his gun and threatening to kill us."

Ministers Will Try Again For An Agreement

GENEVA (AP)—Ministers began arriving Saturday for the second round of the Geneva conference with both East and West expressing hope for an agreement.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, the first top official to arrive, talked as though a conference of heads of government already had been agreed upon.

The Geneva conference of foreign ministers, he told an airport audience, should serve to clear the way for "adoption of radical decisions on barring and outstanding international problems at the forthcoming summit meeting."

Soviet proposals on Berlin, he added, were a "good basis for reaching agreement."

The three Western ministers—Christian A. Herter of the United States, Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and Maurice Couve de Murville of France—are due Sunday.

Western informants said Britain, France, and the United States are hopeful of reaching an agreement with the Soviet Union that would provide a freeze on the status quo in Berlin for several years and a summit conference in the fall.

President Eisenhower has insisted all along he would not go to the summit unless there is enough progress at the foreign ministers' talks to make a conference of heads of government useful. A Berlin freeze might be regarded as enough.

Geneva was baking in a heat wave as Gromyko stepped from his plane at Cotrin Airfield. The Soviet minister looked cool even though he was wearing a heavy grey suit and carrying a grey overcoat.

He suggested that the foreign ministers' meeting should serve as a starting point "for really making warmer the international atmosphere, the temperature of which remains still cold."

The formal meetings among Gromyko, Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville begin Monday after 23 days of recess. The conference broke off June 20 after six weeks of fruitless wrangling.

Good, But Still Not The Best

Farmers Dois Ray and Harvey Fryar, and County Agent Jimmy Taylor, left to right, inspect some of Fryar's cotton on a place six miles out on the Snyder highway. Although there are better patches in the county, Taylor said, the Fryar cotton is among the best. The entire county's crop, should be good, he said.

Crop Prospects In County Loom Brightest In Years

By DON HENRY
A very good cotton crop — that is the prospect at this time, according to farmers and agriculture agents in Howard County.
County Agent Jimmy Taylor said that farmers are already talking yields of half a bale to the acre — or better — if they can get a good rain the first part of August.

Soviet Nuclear Ban Gets Rejection From The U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States rejected Saturday a Soviet proposal for banning atomic weapons and rockets in the Balkans.
The State Department denounced the Red plan as aimed at making free countries helpless against any attack.
The U.S. statement was issued in reply to a Soviet declaration handed to the ambassadors of the United States, Italy, Turkey, Greece, France and Britain in Moscow June 25.
Premier Nikita Khrushchev had called for an atom-free zone during his recent trip to the Balkans.
"This proposal is similar to other Soviet proposals to accomplish piecemeal the design of rendering the Western nations incapable of deterring aggression," the U.S. statement said.
"It is obvious that the range of weapons at the disposal of the U.S.S.R. makes the concept of an atom-free Balkan zone meaningless as far as the security of the free nations in that area is concerned."
"It remains the earnest hope of all Western nations that through negotiations progress can and will be made toward general controlled disarmament on a fair and balanced basis that might bring some relief from the pressure and threat of armaments."

20 Texas Cities On Mexico's Blacklist For Discrimination

DALLAS (AP) — The Mexican consulate in Dallas revealed Saturday that 20 Texas cities and towns have been blacklisted by the Mexican Foreign Office for alleged discrimination against persons of Mexican Nationality.
The blacklisting means contracts for Mexican contract laborers cannot be made for those places.
The list includes Lubbock, where the action of the Mexican government was announced earlier.

Conqueror Of Polio Draws Cheers In The Chorus Line

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — She wasn't the star. She wasn't even listed in the supporting cast. But all eyes were on and all hearts silently cheered the blue-eyed, jet-haired divorcee.
As the dance concluded, the applause broke and rose to a crescendo.
The dancing lady in the front line of the chorus was Jeanne Forslund, San Mateo County's polio mother of the year.
Only seven years ago, stricken with polio, Mrs. Forslund's body was almost totally paralyzed. For three months, she lay in a hospital bed, her arms and legs inert; her back bent into a stiff arc.
Slowly, feeling began to return. However, doctors warned that never again could she expect to walk.

"But I have to walk," she said simply. "I have two children to care for."
And walk she did. After eight months in a hospital, she insisted upon going home. She scorned use of a wheel chair. Slowly, painfully, and with never-ending effort, she forced the unwilling muscles back into use. She waged her own slow, determined campaign, largely with massage and water therapy.
Six months ago, when she was named Polio Mother of the Year in tribute to her courage, she said:
"Some day soon, I'm going to try dancing again. I used to love it."
When the Episcopal Church of

At least one area in addition to Lubbock took the blacklist as applying to agricultural areas surrounding its metropolitan area. This was the Haskell area, where farming interests were seeking to get the blacklist lifted.

Ortiz said the ban on bracero contracts was based on Article 8 of the agreement between Mexico and the United States regarding employment of Mexican contract labor.

He said he did not have information on specific incidents resulting in the blacklisting.

Procedure for removal of the blacklist status is for civic leaders to persuade the Mexican government that no further discrimination will take place.

The Lubbock blacklist came after the Lubbock consulate charged that two members of its staff were denied an appointment at a beauty parlor because of their Mexican nationality.

WEEK LONG PARTY

Stanton Celebrates Its Diamond Jubilee

By GLENN COOTES
Stantonites have been working hard planning a mammoth birthday party which starts today and groups of Stanton citizens have taken a keen personal invitation throughout the area to invite everyone to visit the city during the celebration.
The occasion for all the excitement is the 75th anniversary of the Martin County Seat, dubbed the Diamond Jubilee Celebration and featuring a historical spectacle called the "Jubilarama."
A complete seven-day program has been planned, highlighting incidents out of the colorful history of Stanton since its founding in 1884. Tickets for the big show are on sale at Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.
The major feature of the celebration is the Jubilarama which will be produced on a 250-foot stage at the Stanton High School football field. The cast includes 300 Martin County citizens in 16 special scenes. This production has professional direction and will play five nights beginning Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. Bernard Houston, general manager of the celebration, called the production, "a panorama of the past, a vision of the future, and the thrill of a lifetime." And the Jubilarama is only a part of the mammoth plans.

STARTS TODAY

This is the kick-off day and has been set aside as Religious Observance Day. At 8 p.m., a Jubilee Service is planned for the giant pageant stage at the football field. Rev. W. C. Wright is to deliver the keynote sermon and all congregations have been invited to take part. The combined choirs of the Stanton churches will provide the music.
Monday is Old Fashioned Bargain Day and there will be special entertainment in Stanton all day. The program will be capped off with an Old Time Fiddler's Contest at 4 p.m. The merchants will be offering free lemonade all day. A sidewalk bazaar and historical window displays are also planned.
The Fiddler's Contest is closed to all professionals and cash prizes will be awarded to the first and second place winners. Only fiddlers from Martin and adjoining counties may compete.
Each Stanton merchant is planning to offer some article of merchandise at the same price it sold for back in 1884 at sometime during the day. A cafe will sell

POLIO SURVEYS PROVE VALUE OF CHIROPRACTIC

Research surveys prove that Chiropactic is effective against polio.
In a research study of 300 acute poliomyelitis cases under Chiropactic care, 96.7 per cent were well in an average of 46 days, with no residual paralysis.
In addition to 96.7 per cent well, another 11 per cent were much improved, according to results of the study conducted by the Research Department of the International Chiropactors Association.
Only one case showed no improvement, and in only two cases out of 300 studied was Chiropactic unsuccessful in combatting the condition.
The peak incidence of these cases occurred during June, July, August and September. These four months accounted for 71 per cent of the total cases.
The age breakdown showed that one-third of all the cases were five years of age or younger.
Results of another survey also point up the value of Chiropactic.
A study was made of children under 12 years of age who were Chiropactic patients during 1949 to 1953. A total of 31,868 children was reported, and in this group only nine cases of polio occurred, of which none resulted in any paralysis or other disability.
This was an independent four-state survey conducted by a conference committee of the International Chiropactors Association.
These surveys point up the importance of patient cooperation with the Chiropactor. Chiropactic results are found to be in direct ratio to patient cooperation.

It should be emphasized that the earlier a case reports to a Chiropactor, the better is the opportunity for prevention of crippling and disabling effects.
In the early stages of polio a part of the nervous tissue in the spinal cord is severely inflamed. Following this inflammation, there is a hardening of some of the tissues in the cord and a change in its structure. If this condition remains, the carrying ability of the nerves is permanently affected.
The spinal cord becomes inflamed because the nerve fibers which supply it are incapable of carrying the proper quantity and quality of vital force. This occurs because they are being pressed upon by a displaced vertebra of the spine. The tissues which such nerve fibers supply will be abnormal just as long as the impingement remains.
Logically, then, the way to remedy the condition is to adjust the displaced vertebra back to its normal position. By doing this, the spinal cord will again become normal. It will be able to transmit properly its messages, and the muscles will be able to function in a normal manner.
The Chiropactor is especially trained to locate these abnormalities in the spine and to restore them to normal. When this is accomplished, interference to the nerve fibers is corrected, and normal function will result.

Report Elevator In Milo Profit Scheme

FORT WORTH (AP) —Grain circles here Saturday had the report of a large elevator company being involved in a $50,000 illegal profit-taking scheme in milo.
No suit had been filed by the Federal Commodity Stabilization Service, which has 12-state headquarters in Dallas. But a source said, "There is a definitely some conversion connected with the firm."
Conversion means selling government surplus grain when the price is high, and replacing the stock later when the price goes down.
In the present instance, the transaction reportedly involved 300,000 bushels of surplus milo. Late in June or early this month, the market price on the milo was reported as about $2.50 a hundredweight. "Today you can't get $2.18 for it," a source said.

If the grain was sold at the top figure and replaced at the lower one, the profit would be $3,760. A bushel of milo weighs 56 pounds.
The government places surplus milo in elevators for storage. The elevator is supposed to keep the grain intact.
If government investigators find that the surplus grain has been sold, they "suspend your license and don't allow you to store any government grain at all," the source said.
"That's what gets them (grain company officials) in trouble, and sends some of them to the pen," C. H. Moseley of Dallas, head of the Commodity Office of the Stabilization Service, declined to comment on the report of the transaction.
Any suit in such a case would be filed through the office of the United States district attorney. The Dallas stabilization office handles affairs of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Forced Landing Damages T-33

A transient T-33 jet trainer made a forced landing at Webb AFB Friday night and the aircraft was seriously damaged. The pilots walked away from the wreckage unscathed.
Air Force officials said Major S. F. Klingdeil and 1st Lt. B. C. Severson were on a routine training flight from Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma when the plane had a complete electrical failure. This caused the aircraft to flame-out over Webb AFB.
The pilots brought the aircraft in for a crash landing on the Webb field. They were unable to lower the flaps for landing and the aircraft skidded in causing considerable damage to its underside.
The mishap occurred about 7:14 p.m. The pilots were examined at the base hospital by Capt. Hugh M. Shingleton, flight surgeon, and then released.

Up-To-Date Flag

Who said there weren't any 49-star banners flying in Big Spring? Well, Herald reporters did, but they stumbled in their research. Sure enough, all the time one of the new national flags was waving proudly at the entrance to the Cosden refinery. And here's proof that the 49-star flag does, too, wave. Cosden Petroleum Corporation has a second such flag, displayed at appropriate times on its downtown office building.

U.S. Has Problem On Cotton Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is caught between two fires, so to speak, because of a program designed to regain what this country regards as its fair share of the world cotton market.

Producer groups, with strong backing in Congress, have been demanding that the government go out and fight for markets for the fiber crop.

But the domestic textile industry argues that such sales efforts—as now set up—may be well and good for growers, but that they give undue advantage to textile competitors abroad.

Under a revised program going into effect Aug. 1, the Agriculture Department will offer raw cotton to foreign buyers at 8 cents a pound below the domestic price—the price which cotton manufacturers in this country must pay. This compares with a 6½-cent-a-pound advantage being offered foreign buyers now.

This cut-rate export price has been set in an effort to put U.S. raw cotton on a competitive level with cotton produced by other countries. Even with the current 6½-cent reduction, exports of American cotton during the season ending Aug. 1 are expected to total only 2,300,000 bales compared with 5,700,000 the previous season when the U.S. price was not undercut.

Through the National Cotton Council, the textile industry has appealed to the government for restrictions on imports into this country of textile products made abroad. The council is made up of representatives of growers, ginners, merchants, warehousemen, seed crushers and manufacturers of cotton.

It said in a petition that the 8-cent subsidy—which the export price offer actually is—“creates an unfair and impossible situation” for domestic textile makers who, the council said, are already extremely hard-pressed by competition of textiles made by cheap foreign labor.

The council estimated that the equivalent of 286,000 bales of cotton were imported into this country in the form of textiles last year. It says there has been a Aquatic Camp Opening Today At Lake J. B.

Another week of aquatic camp begins today at Camp Ed Murphy on Lake J. B. Thomas with 100 boys registered through this weekend, said William McRee, scout executive.

The aquatic camp is held to give the scouts a better chance to pass lifesaving, boating, canoeing, and swimming merit badges. Three sessions have been held previously this summer, McRee said, and another will be held starting next Sunday.

Scouts pay $15 per week for the session beginning today, and McRee said that a provisional troop is being organized for boys whose troop is not going as a unit. Anyone interested in the camp can contact McRee at his residence or Cliff Epps at J. C. Penney Store.

The camp beginning next Sunday is a pioneer camp where the troops furnish their own food.

Naturally, since they handle their own cooking and furnish the food, the registration fee is reduced almost to nothing. McRee said the charge per Scout during the pioneer camp is $2.

For Mrs. E. P. Driver

Vice President Of The Advisory Council Of The Big Spring State Hospital

Volunteer workers at the Big Spring State Hospital do a valiant job in lending all-important aid to the mentally ill patients in that institution.

Mrs. E. P. (Talley) Driver, with five years of continuous service in this field, is one of the truly outstanding members of the volunteer forces.

Mrs. Driver has been devoting a day a week to work at the hospital since early 1954. She explains her interest thusly: “I enjoy helping the patients and I find that, in their turn, they help me.” She is now vice president of the Volunteer Council.

Mrs. Driver, who trained as registered nurse at the famous John Sealy Medical School, devotes most of her time to the hospital’s “fashion shop.” Here clothing given to the institution is displayed much as in a clothing store. The patients visit the shop and select for themselves the articles they want.

Mrs. Driver does not limit her activities to the hospital. She is a member of First Methodist Church, of the Women’s Forum and is incoming secretary of the Rosebud Garden Club. In addition, she is active in P-TA work.

Her family consists of E. P. Driver, her husband, and Skipper Driver, their son, who enrolls in high school this fall. They live at 1210 Johnson and have been residents of Big Spring since 1941.

Her contribution to the volunteer program at the hospital is widely recognized and praised by all who have any contact with this outstanding example of community effort.

California Canyon Fire Takes Toll

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Firemen stood guard Saturday over the smoldering embers of a brush fire which flashed through Laurel Canyon Friday, destroying 28 homes and threatening hundreds of others. Fifteen homes were damaged.

The fire was set intentionally. The blaze broke out in the picturesque canyon — a favorite residential spot of actors, writers and artists — during 100-degree-plus weather late Friday afternoon. It flared through the canyon and over hillsides with incredible speed.

A force of 450 firemen brought it under control by 10:30 p.m. Three hundred persons fled the flames. Cars packed with men, women, children, dogs, and hastily snatched belongings moved bumper to bumper out of the canyon into Hollywood at one end and into San Fernando Valley at the other.

Some residents refused to leave. They wet down their homes with garden hoses.

Most of the homes in the fire area are in the $30,000 to $40,000 class. Others are bigger and some are rustic cabins.

Homes destroyed included those of actor Charles Wassil, composer Alan Bergman, actor Lester Ferguson, and the old mansion once owned by the magician Houdini.

Johnson Sees Slash In Ike's Fund Requests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic Congress will cut President Eisenhower's money requests by up to a billion dollars, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas predicted Saturday.

The Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said that if Congress does this — and he doesn't concede it will — the reductions are likely to come primarily out of the foreign aid program which seems closest to Eisenhower's heart at the time.

Johnson said on a television program recorded for Florida stations that he is convinced there is "a general partisan political campaign to smear this Congress." He mentioned specifically the spending label some Republicans have hung on Congress.

"In our tripartite system of government," Johnson said, "the executive has at his command the powers of the press, radio and television, and they are constantly harping on the defects of the legislative."

Without reference to the methods used, Sen. Dirksen, chairman of the GOP national committee, said Republicans "are on the offensive more strongly than at any time since 1952." The result, Morton said in a Wichita, Kan., speech, has been to put the Democrats on the defensive.

More Money For Hospital Fund Arrives

The money continues to come in for the air conditioning improvements at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Jimmy Greene, who has been acting as leader in a drive to raise funds to air condition the dayrooms and corridors of the geriatrics wards at the hospital, reported Saturday that $30 more has been donated to the fund.

Earlier in the week, he announced he needed $88 to insure air conditioning in the older patients' buildings, with exception of the dining rooms and kitchen.

The next day, W. L. Wilson Sr., rancher, donated $100. Saturday, Greene said he received a $10 check from Miss Agnes Currie and a $20 check from Mildred True Lusk.

"It's just possible," Greene predicted, "if donations continue, we can do something about the day room in Building No. 9."

Building No. 9 is a ward for male patients and has no air conditioning facilities at all. He said that at least 2,500 cubic foot air conditioners would be needed to take care of the day room in this building and that to do a good job, three such coolers should be installed.

It would take at least $200 to do the job, he said.

SEEKING SECURITY Many Berliners Have Left City

BERLIN (AP) — A superficial look at West Berlin leaves the impression that the city's 2,200,000 residents are not in the least worried about what will happen at the Geneva foreign ministers' conference.

But a responsible city official's calculations show that more than 13,000 West Berliners have abandoned the city since November, when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev launched his drive against this hard nut of democracy deep behind the Iron Curtain. This is one of the facts discovered by a dig beneath the surface.

At first look, downtown West Berlin is bustling and bobbing as never before. Million-dollar office buildings are rising. The streets are torn up by a 47-million-dollar project which will add five miles of tunnels to the subway system.

Unemployment is below 50,000, the lowest figure in West Berlin's record.

Three Labor To Save Lad's Life

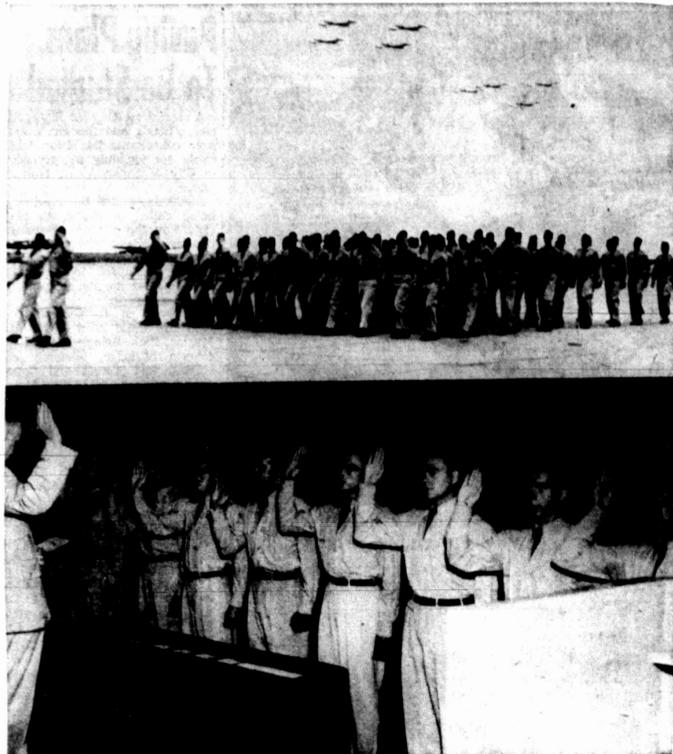

CARTER LAKE, Iowa (AP)—A housewife, postman and construction worker quickly joined forces to save the life of a small boy who was buried alive Saturday.

Jason Emerson, 5, and Gary Roberts, 6, were exploring a house excavation when sandy soil gave way. Jason was buried but Gary struggled free and gave the alarm.

A neighbor, Mrs. Joe Michael, 27, dashed out with a shovel. She hailed postman Howard E. Bird, 42. Together they freed the boy. Construction worker Tommy Stevens, 24, arrived. He pried open Jason's clenched teeth with a ruler, scooped out sand with his finger and applied artificial respiration until a rescuator came.

9 COMMISSIONED

185 AFROTC Cadets Given Webb Training Diplomas

The Air Force ROTC Cadets have completed their summer training at Webb.

The cadets arrived at Webb June 14 and since have undergone strenuous but rewarding training as part of their preparation to become future Air Force officers.

Major General Henry Vaccileo, commander of the 19th Air Force (Tactical Air Command), headquarters at Seymour-Johnson Air Force Base, South Carolina, was the guest speaker at the graduation exercises held in the Base Chapel Saturday morning. In his informative remarks, the General stressed the point that "every man must produce more work now than was required at any other time through military history."

He supported the statement in citing the complexity of the F-105, the newest fighter in the tactical air arm force and which is flown by one man.

The General also emphasized the point that "America's security lies in the man," and that "our future force posture depends on the judgment of those who are in positions of responsibility to regulate the complexity of our forces and manage the available budget."

HONORS PRESENTED

One hundred and eighty-five cadets received diplomas to signify formal completion of the summer training. Of this number, nine also received their commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve.

Several cadets were recognized for outstanding achievement while at Webb.

Cadet William R. Graves of Mississippi State University received the Training Unit Commander's award and the Training Unit Commander's award. These two awards are given to the cadet who has demonstrated exceptional leadership qualities, and displayed outstanding abilities in all aspects while attending the 4-week course.

Final activities took place on the flight line where the cadets joined with the student pilots of the Pilot Training Group, and airmen of several groups on base to stage a Wing Review. Highlights of the review featured the Webb flight demonstration team—commonly referred to as the acro team—and several passes by an eight ship T-33 formation composed of instructor pilots in the Pilot Training Group.

REVIEWING PARTY

The reviewing party included, General Vaccileo, Colonel Cobb — his operations officer. He is the brother of 1st Lt. Francis C. Cobb who was stationed at Webb and left recently. Col. Kyle Riddle, base commander, and Lt. Col. Tillman, the Summer Training Unit commander for the Air Force ROTC. In addition, the nine newly commissioned second lieutenants and student pilots of Class 60-A who will graduate July 22, took the review.

General Vaccileo and party departed Webb immediately upon completion of the ceremonies and the cadets eagerly and impatiently completed their out-processing with most of them heading home shortly after noon on Saturday.

Pledge Of Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department pledged full support and assistance Saturday to the United Steelworkers of America in negotiations with the steel industry.

Stanton Credit Group Has Stockholders Conference

STANTON — Jim Franklin, Stanton, is the new board chairman of the Western Production Credit Assn.

He succeeds A. G. Bohannon, Midland, whose term was expiring and who did not stand for re-election.

David K. Workman, now in his fourth year as manager, was re-named to that position. He has been nine years with the association.

He said that prospects for the association this year "look the brightest they have in several years." He said that no dividends were declared — the drought and other difficulties of the immediate past has precluded dividends. He added that the improved prospects at this time were rated as very encouraging by which was in the American Legion hall Saturday morning. It was the 25th annual meeting of the association which handles short term farm and ranch loans.

Special speaker at the meeting was T. V. Merrill, secretary of the Intermediate City Bank of Houston. He discussed the current financial situation and the prevailing problems of money and interest.

E. G. Branch, Rankin, was named as vice chairman of the board. The other directors are Clark, B. W. Gollaby, Midland; and Walter Poage, Rankin.

Three Minor Fires Reported Saturday

Firemen made three calls Friday and Saturday, however no major property damage was reported.

Identical calls Friday morning were the result of burned out pumps in air conditioners. The first one occurred at 9:45 a.m. at the Douglas Beams residence, 1102 Barnes. The other one was at the E. L. Terry residence, 1713 Yale, an hour later.

Saturday morning, a report at the Clyde R. Thomas residence, 400 Washington Place, was only smoke from grease that was allowed to get too hot on a cook stove.

Governor Long Visits Texas, Head Covered By Pillowcase

FORT WORTH (AP)—Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana, his head covered by a pillowcase, arrived here Saturday night on the first stop of a western vacation trip.

When he boarded a Trans Texas Airlines plane in Shreveport, La., earlier in the evening he told newsmen "I'll be back August 2."

The plane made stops at Longview, Tyler and Dallas enroute to Fort Worth, but Long did not leave the plane.

A corps of reporters and photographers who had been awaiting Long at Dallas, boarded the plane and flew with him to Fort Worth.

Long refused to talk with the newsmen. He pulled a pillowcase over his head, put the pillow on top of his head and his hat on top of the pillow.

Long left the airport for his hotel after an hour's wait. A sheriff's department car escorted his limousine.

Butler Renews Complaint Against Demo Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Chairman Paul Butler said Saturday "we can't win the election of 1960 if we are to ape the Republican party."

Butler held to his contention that the Democratic leadership in Congress is moving too slowly toward enactment of what he called a "positive and aggressive" legislative program.

At his news conference, he hedged his criticism of party leaders in the Senate and House with the prediction that by the time the Democratic-dominated Congress has wound up its work it will have produced a program on which the party can win in 1960.

But the chairman, beleaguered by a barrage of criticism from party members in Congress, stuck to his principal contention that a great many Democrats in the country are unhappy about the progress made thus far in the legislative halls.

Butler said he has relayed to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) the concern he has had noted among party members.

He said this concern is due to what seems to be an adjustment to the policies and attitudes of President Eisenhower rather than efforts to enact legislation called for by the 1956 Democratic platform.

"We can't win the elections of 1960 if we are to ape the Republican party and try to outdo the Republican party in some of the things it stands for," Butler said.

Butler contended he had not criticized the Democratic leaders but had merely communicated to them dissatisfaction he said he had found among party members across the country.

"I feel that without contributing to disunity and weakening the party it is my duty to call attention to provisions in the party platform and to report to the elected officials the views the people are expressing," he said.

Some Democrats in Congress have said Butler ought to resign. The chairman said he has no intention of resigning unless the national committee, at a scheduled mid-December meeting, feel he ought to quit.

AT CITY PARK

Annual Old-Timer Reunion July 31

Old settlers of Howard and Glasscock Counties will get together for their annual reunion and picnic on Friday, July 31.

It will be the 35th year these reunions have been staged and each year sees the attendance and interest grow higher and higher. Last year, 2,000 ate barbecue at the City Park, traditional site of the reunion for many years.

Harold Choate, president of the Howard - Glasscock County Old Settlers Assn., anticipates at least that many and probably more would be on hand this year.

The finest committee, which will solicit contributions to finance the picnic will be headed by Temp Currie Jr. Members of the committee are Joe Hayden and Melvin Choate for Big Spring; Burl Cramer, for Coahoma; Jim Cauble for Garden City. It was pointed out that it cost more than $1,100 to provide the meal last year and generous donations to the fund are urged. More than $85 was raised at the meeting Saturday.

Donations were reported from the following: Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., $25; Harold Choate, Bernice Petty, Brookie Martin, Melvin Choate and Gladys Choate, L. C. Mathis, G. F. Reynolds, R. P. Luce and Sam Fisherman, $5 each; Leroy Eichols, $10 and W. W. Coleman $1.

Harold Choate will see to the purchase and preparation of the food — beef and goat barbecue, beans, pickles, bread, and drinks. Don Bohannon will provide the ice; Lewis Mathis will be chairman of the serving committee; John Mathis will direct the slicing and serving of the meats.

Bill Thompson will handle the old fiddlers contest and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Choate will make arrangements for the dance.

It was explained that to be eligible to participate in the celebration a person must have lived 20 years or more in Howard or Glasscock Counties. It was also explained that all persons past the age of 60 will be served at the dinner; others will have to serve themselves cafeteria style.

Arrangements for prizes for the oldest person present; the oldest resident, the person who came the greatest distance and for other distinctions will be worked out.

Lt. Dale D. Cooter, 1017 Johnson, was treated at the Webb AFB hospital Friday night for an accidental gun shot wound in his left shoulder. Big Spring police officers were notified of the shooting by Webb authorities and made the investigation.

Apparently Cooter was showing his .38 caliber pistol to friends, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stallard, 402 Settles, and a Lt. Puckett, when the pistol discharged, hitting him in the shoulder. Puckett carried the injured man to the base hospital.

Attendees said the wound was not serious.

of the Midwest. We look for them to return with ribbons and medals galore.

The week brought a look-back at first-half business in Big Spring, and the findings were hefty and healthy. Practically every barometer of business was reading higher; and fine crop prospects point to an even better last-half for 1959.

Earlier rains helped out wonderfully up at Lake Thomas, and the reservoir had trapped five and a half billion more gallons. That should carry the CRWMD towns right on through—until it rains again.

A new commander for the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron appeared on the scene during the week. He's Lt. Col. Dick M. Crowell, replacing Lt. Col. Dick Watson. Crowell is a tall guy of quiet demeanor and friendly personality. He's no stranger to this part of the world, having grown up in small towns in the Panhandle, and having once served at Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo.

At long last, as the saying goes, the Howard County Airport was getting nearer to usability. At any rate, Chamber of Commerce people sat down to work out plans for a dedication. This won't be until October 6.

The county sadly had to count its 8th traffic fatality of the year, Willie E. Lawson, having been the victim of a highway collision.

A 99-year-sentence was assessed against Andres Marquez on a slaying conviction, an aftermath of the early-year crime spree which blighted our city. Which prompts a question: Has any public agency done anything about the recommendations for better law enforcement that were submitted some months ago by a special Law Enforcement Commission?

Pat on the back for Jimmy Greene, a stayer-at-it if there ever was one. He almost single-handedly accounted for contributions that will mean air-conditioning in various rooms occupied by the elderly people at the Big Spring State Hospital.

And another for the Civic Theatre group, working devotedly, and gaining laurels for this week's presentation of the drama, "Night of January 16."

And a big salute to Martin County folks, as they go into their Diamond Jubilee. Much celebration this week. Go over and join them and see their "Jubilarama" production. One Stantonite said they needed customers from Big Spring because everybody in Stanton is in the show.

Pardoned From Rape Charge

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A 28-year-old barber college student, who pleaded guilty to rape "because I didn't want to gamble with my life," was free from prison Saturday after an investigation showed he was innocent.

William Lott, 28, received a pardon and restoration of citizenship from Gov. Earl K. Long Friday after spending a year in state prison.

The pardon followed an investigation by Dist. Atty. Richard Dowling. He ordered Lott's case reopened when the girl involved was charged with filing a false report in another alleged rape incident.

Both Lott and the girl are white. Lott maintained his innocence through the court action last July, but said he felt he faced the electric chair if he was found guilty. He pleaded guilty to simple rape and received a five-year prison term July 24, 1958.

Pistol Fires, Wounds Airman

Lt. Dale D. Cooter, 1017 Johnson, was treated at the Webb AFB hospital Friday night for an accidental gun shot wound in his left shoulder. Big Spring police officers were notified of the shooting by Webb authorities and made the investigation.

Filter Plant To Be Inspected

The Big Spring Water filter plant, located at Virginia and 16th streets, has been selected by the American Water Works Association as a place to see in October.

The AWWA is meeting in Texas as this fall and the Big Spring plant is one of 20 throughout the state that was selected as a model plant. All members coming to the meeting from the western part of the nation are expected to inspect the local filter plant.

Roy Hester, a city employe since 1928, is superintendent of the plant.

COAL OIL AN ISSUE

Yellowed Record Tells Story Of City Postal Service In '95

By SAM BLACKBURN

Back in 1895, about the only thing the Big Spring Post Office had a surplus of was copies of the official Postal Laws and Regulations. It seemed to be short on everything else but when Charles W. Willis, Big Spring carpenter and cabinet maker, was appointed postmaster to succeed John Snoddy, that year he meticulously listed in his inventory that he had three copies of invaluable U. S. Postal Laws and Regulations. (A note on the page, discloses that Willis shipped two of his extra copies back to the post department on Sept. 23, 1895.)

Elmer Boatler, postmaster of Big Spring, was rummaging through some dusty old files in the post office and came across the yellowed copy of Mr. Willis' "Record and Account Book" for the period July 31, 1895 through June 30, 1896.

It revealed some interesting information about the postal service in this community when the town was 64 years younger.

GOOD PAYING JOB

Mr. Willis, according to his records, took over his job at the magnificent monthly salary of $83.33 per month. He had a clerk, Ralph Atwood, who was paid $15 per month. The Post Office Department was kind enough to pay rent on the building — $5 per month.

Riley K. Burns, who came here well before the turn of the century, said Saturday that he remembered Willis.

"He was a big man,—sort of walked stooped over," said Burns. "He had been a carpenter and cabinet maker until he was appointed postmaster. He had a little carpenter shop a few doors south of where the First National Bank is now located.

"When he was appointed postmaster, he quit carpentering and moved the post office into what had been his cabinet shop. He was a very polite and obliging old gentleman.

"I suppose that he got the $5 a month rent for the building."

A. C. Hayden, another early day settler, who later on worked in the Big Spring post office, but not for Mr. Willis, pointed out that the postmaster in that day was entitled to augment his salary by buying and installing post office boxes. The first of these were call boxes—just pigeonholes where the patron's collective mail was tossed. When the boxholder wanted his letters, he went to the general delivery window and asked for the mail in whatever box he had. Willis had a few such boxes his records reveal.

"We had one of those," Burns recalled. "Cost us 25 cents a quarter, as I remember."

A little later came the lock boxes the postmaster bought and owned the boxes. He kept the rental fees received for their use.

Business wasn't booming in the early months Mr. Willis was in office. In August, he reported a gross business of $218.97. He took out his $83.33 salary; Atwood's $15 pay, the $5 for rent and a dollar and a half he had to spend for coal oil to light up the premises. That left a balance of $104.83 for Uncle Sam.

Business continued on an even keel through the months. The only difference was when the longer nights and earlier sunsets of the winter months rolled around. Mr. Willis has to spend more for kerosene in those months. In the summer he often got by a month on two gallons; come fall and winter and it took five gallons of the stuff to keep the post office bright and shining.

Worse than that, when he first took office, kerosene was only 25 cents a gallon. A year later the price had jumped to 30 cents—thereby adding materially to the expense of the office operation.

THINGS BRIGHTEN UP
Brighter times were coming for the postmaster, though. In July 1896, his salary was increased to $91.66. Mr. Atwood's paycheck remained the same—$15. Kerosene had dropped back to 25 cents a gallon and only one gallon had to be bought that month. Gross receipts for the month jumped to $218.97.

Our sincere thanks to the kind friends and neighbors for expressions of sympathy, beautiful flowers, and other courtesies extended to us during our recent bereavement.

Less Paper Work Back In '95

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, ponders the problems of one of his predecessors in office. He studies records kept in 1895-1896 by Charles W. Willis, then postmaster. The ancient record was found in the files of the post office by Boatler.

$294.53—and Willis notes he sent thirds of her $15 stipend to make it possible for the postmaster to get his $100 a month? The books are silent on this issue. At any rate she stayed with the job—taking home her $6.66 each month (with no deductions, mind), apparently happy and content.

Boatler pointed to a thick ledger on his desk. "There's the report we have to fill out for a month now," he said. He indicated the thin record left by Mr. Willis. "His record covers three years."

He sighed. "Things must have been a lot simpler then," he remarked. Probably so but not in all likelihood to the viewpoint of Mr. Willis in his own day and time.

Retail Group To Plan Fall Sales Events

Plans for Big Spring's observation of a series of special merchandising events in the months ahead will be drafted by the Retail Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Tuesday at 10:30 a.m.

Randall Polk, chairman of the committee, asked that all members of the committee make a special effort to attend.

The items on the agenda which will be considered by the committee will include future plans for Dollar Days, Back to School Day, Better Buy Days, Felt Hat Day and any other special feature which may be considered advisable for the fall and winter season.

The meeting is to be in the conference room of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Band Signed For Airport Dedication

Amarillo Air Force Base Band, here on Saturday to play for the review on the Air Force Reservists' graduation, will be available on Oct. 6 for the big dedication celebration planned for the new Howard County Airport.

Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, said that the officers in charge of the Amarillo group had insured him they would be happy to play for the airport event.

Letters to special guests and to agencies which are being used to have a part in the celebration have been dispatched, Quimby said.

Burglars Repeat Raid On Laundry

Brookshier's Laundry, 607 E. 2nd, was hit again by candy-hungry burglars Friday night.

Investigating officers said it was the second time the laundry had been entered in two weeks. Entry on both occasions was made through the same west window and both times, the thieves took only candy and some cheese crackers.

The entry was reported Saturday morning.

Men's Wear Of Character

Early-Day House Of Worship

This building is probably the second one built by the First Methodist Church in Big Spring, circa 1884. Long time members agree that it is probably the building that was demolished when the new plant of 1925 was built. Identity of the man on the steps is unknown, but his frock coat is almost a giveaway that he was one of the early ministers of the church. The site of this church is Scurry and Fourth, where the present church stands. The Methodists have had four buildings in their 76 years of worship here. The anniversary celebration is scheduled Wednesday evening.

First Methodist Church To Mark Its 76th Anniversary

Seventy-six years ago, five Big Springers gathered together in the school house on the court house square to found a church. Since that initial gathering, the church has grown to a membership of over 2,000 with a property valuation of $575,000.

The membership of the First Methodist Church will gather together Wednesday to commemorate the church's 76th birthday. It is an annual event for the church members and this year the congregation will be honoring the wives of ministers who have served the church through the years.

The anniversary dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Social Hall of the church. Each family will bring a basket dinner. Mrs. R. D. McMillan will bake the anniversary cake, as she has done for a number of years.

The First Methodist Church was the first religious group to complete formal organization in Big Spring. The date was July 16, 1883. The five charter members of the church were Rev. J. B. H. Thomas, the first pastor and founder; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Peevy, David Black and Dr. D. W. MacIntyre.

From this small group, the church has grown to a 2,008 membership and 1,340 church school members.

The church has had five buildings at its present location. The first building was constructed in 1884. By 1894, the congregation needed a larger building and it was completed that year. In 1907, an educational wing was completed and in 1925, the membership put up a completely new plant.

In 1952, the present plant was completed at Scurry and 4th. Rev. Jordan Grooms has been minister of the local church for eight years, the longest tenure of any minister since the church's founding. He said today's services would be in keeping with the anniversary celebration and would carry the theme.

Long time members of the church are recognized each year. One of these is Mrs. Cliff Talbot who came to Big Spring in 1958. She was one of the first presi-

St. Louis Hit By Whirlwind

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Down-town St. Louis was struck by a dust devil — a localized whirlwind — Friday. Usually dust devils are associated with desert areas.

The whirlwind picked up a 1½-ton truck and moved it several yards. It also sucked up huge amounts of paper and waste. The debris was lifted as high as 200 feet.

There were no injuries from the freak storm, which lasted less than five minutes.

St. Louis weatherman George Brancato said that a dust devil results from intense heating of air near the earth's surface.

Hunger-Striking Convicts Slapped In Isolation Cells

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Hunger striking convicts who disobeyed a direct order to eat breakfast Friday at Georgia State Prison have been placed in isolation cells in a dozen other prisons.

Warden R. P. Balkcom moved the men out—225 strong—under heavy guard soon after his order went unheeded.

The strike began Thursday and at one time or another most of the 1,200 white prisoners were involved. None of the 1,500 Negro prisoners participated. The hunger strikers had sought to force a change in prison regulations. Their demands called for a reduction in isolation time for meals while in isolation and for fried eggs occasionally instead of scrambled.

The men also said they objected to three hot meals a day. They complained that the odor of hot food three times daily in the summer sometimes became nauseating.

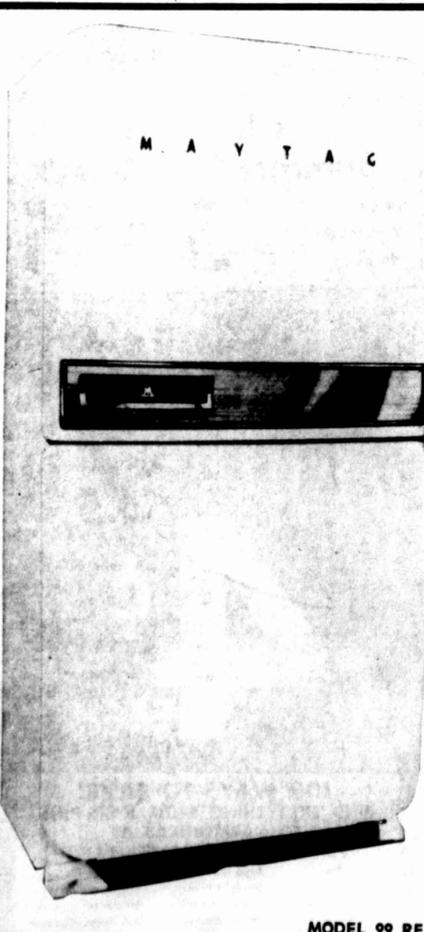

Balkcom said the demands were foolish and that he would not grant any of them. No disturbances were reported during the strike.

Balkcom said the strikers will get 30 days in solitary confinement and will lose all good behavior time which would have been deducted from their sentences.

Farm Subsidy Plan Reviewed For ABC Club

Jimmy Taylor, Howard County agent, discussed phases of the farm subsidy program in a talk made before members of the American Business Club's Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

Without defending or supporting the program, Taylor pointed out that only 75 cents of every $100 spent on subsidies since the program began wound up in the hands of the farmers.

He said other businesses had received far more monetary gain in subsidies than had agriculture but that this phase hadn't been publicized so widely as the farm supports plan.

Taylor said the agricultural income in Howard County runs about 10 million dollars annually and pointed out that every business, whether the business man realizes it or not, benefits in some way from the money spent by the farmer.

The county agent said two of every five Texans make their living either directly or indirectly from agriculture, although only 11 per cent of the state's population resides on farms. The average farmer, he added, is now farming about 500 acres, whereas a few years ago he was cultivating 350 acres.

Don Anderson, retiring president of the club, gave a brief report on the National ABC convention, which he and his family recently attended. He revealed national headquarters of the organization is being transferred to High Point, N. C., and said that Springfield, Ill., would be host to the National convention in 1960 and Dallas in 1961.

YMCA Classes Can Accommodate More Swimmers

There are still plenty of openings in the YMCA third session swimming classes, according to Bobo Hardy, general secretary. Saturday was the first day for registration, which closes July 17. Hardy explained that 100 will be taken in the boys' group, 80 in the girls' classes and 25 in the adult and beginners classes. The charge for children and adult YMCA members is a dollar. Adult non-members will be charged $5, he said.

The classes will begin July 20 and last through July 31 in the City Park pool. Boys swim from 9-10 a.m. Girls and adults will get their lessons from 10-11 a.m. The third session is the final one for advanced, intermediate and beginning swimmers this year, Hardy said. Brick Johnson is Aquatics director for the YMCA.

Missile Launchers Going To Norway

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American freighter is on its way to Norway with equipment to set up that country's first anti-aircraft missile battalion. The 48 Nike-Ajax launchers are due in Oslo about July 20, the Army said Friday. The monocular Ajax is designed for use against enemy manned aircraft.

DON BUDDIN'S GRAND SLAM SINKS YANKS

BOSTON (AP)—Don Buddin's grand slam home run off Bob Turley in the 10th inning of a stormy marathon enabled Boston to pull out an 8-4 victory Saturday over the stumbling New York Yankees.

It was the third straight triumph for rolling Red Sox over the world champions who saw Umpire Bill Summers banish their battery at the start of the odd extra frame.

Buddin's first major league grand slam climaxed the tense 3 hour, 58 minute struggle.

Tony Kubek, whose two-run error in the eighth cost the Yankees the lead, got his team and himself a reprieve by banging a last-ditch homer off winner Murray Wall with one out in the ninth. With Gene Stephens leading off

TOM CONWAY

BS Draws Bye In Tourney

Pairings for the District 7 Teen-Age Baseball tournament, which will be held in the North 12th Street park here, have been announced by Tom Conway, commissioner of the circuit.

Seven cities, including Big Spring, will be represented in the week-long meet. Winner becomes eligible to take part in the State tournament, which will be staged in Brownwood Aug. 13-15.

Starting Monday, Aug. 3, one game will be staged nightly here until the championship is determined. Admission fee has been pegged at 50 cents a person. The money will be used to send the titlist to the state meet.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

There have been reports that Sweetwater's splendid fullback, James Parker, will enroll at Texas Christian University or defect to ACC but Parker told this writer last week he would accept the hospitality of Oklahoma University for four years starting in September. . . . In short, Coach Bud Wilkinson is already counting upon him as a sure thing for his school and is concerning himself with other matters. . . . Parker will be in three all-star games this summer, the Texas Coaches Association's imbroglio at Fort Worth, the Oil Bowl skirmish at Wichita Falls and the Greenbelt Bowl engagement at Childress. . . . At the present time, Parker is playing baseball with Sweetwater's Teen-Age league titlists. . . . The Chicago Bear-Pittsburgh Steeler pro football exhibition, which will put the talents of the Big Spring bowling impressario, Bobby Layne, on display the night of Aug. 29, will be played in the public school stadium in Houston, rather than Rice's huge bowl. . . . The seating capacity of the place is being increased 7,934 to 29,790 for the game. . . . Reserve seats for the contest are selling for $4. . . . Pro golfers will cut up another juicy melon on the series of television shows which are in the process of being filmed. . . . For a 26 weeks' run, it will pay off to the extent of $234,000. . . . About 50 of the top pros, including Billy Maxwell, the ex-Big Springer, will share the loot. . . . Sam Snead's string of 13 victories scored in the video series last year netted him $29,000. . . . It's possible for a few of the top linksters now to make more than $100,000 per annum. . . . A well known coach who prefers to remain anonymous for obvious reasons told this writer recently he didn't think Baylor's Larry Hickman could make it with the pros. . . . Crunching names start with the letter M have won the Big Spring Invitational crown on six occasions and Red McCullah could be the club's best bet in this year's meet. . . . Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the YMCA here, says the organization's new building will eventually be equipped with tennis courts, which will be a blessing. . . . The three football returnees new coach Jim LaRue (formerly of SMU) is counting on at the University of Arizona all hail from outside that state. . . . They are tackle Tony Matz, Chicago; center Ted Urz, a Canadian; and end Larry Williams, a native of Carlsbad, N. M.

Scott Gets Hole-In-One At Andrews

Big Spring's Jerry Scott scored a hole-in-one on the first day of the Andrews Golf tournament last week, aceing the 210-yard par - three eighth hole while using a 2-iron. . . . In the final round of the same meet, Big Spring's Bobby Blum soared to a 37 his first time around the course but tore the course apart with a 33 on the second nine and wound up third back of Tommy Hale and Jack Williams. . . . Blum was very much in contention until he had to take a 2-hole on the 17th. . . . Baylor University's football scheduled for 1959 and '60 are identical as to opponents and the order in which the games are played. . . . Dick Crawford, who won the NCAA singles golf crown for the University of Houston recently, originally went to that school on a part scholarship. . . . The Cougars are the only school ever to produce three straight NCAA individual titlists. . . . Rex Baxter and Phil Rodgers preceded Crawford to the throne room. . . . Before his championship march, Dick was best known around the campus as the boy who once dated the daughter

Law: Negroes Should Fight In Tourneys

Lew Jenkins, the former Lightweight boxing champion who visited here recently, says it's time the Golden Gloves people in Texas overcome their racial bias and let Negroes fight against whites. . . . "The state'll never develop any national champions until they do," Lew stated. . . . Negroes are allowed to play baseball and box professionally in this state but, for some reason not quite clear, are barred from participating in the Golden Gloves ranks. . . . Lou Visusi, manager of Roy Harris, the ranking Heavyweight boxer, conceded recently that Ingo Johanson's recent victory over Floyd Patterson was a definite roadblock to his tiger's plans for another shot at the crown - something most everyone knew all along. . . . Harris had hoped for a second title bout as early as this fall. . . . Chances are good he'll have to meet Eddie Machen before anybody in the Johnson or Patterson camps will take him seriously. . . . J. B. Hollis, the veteran manager of the Dodger National Little League team here, will time a visit east to catch some big league games and the Little League World Series and a quick shower for Bronstad. Turley then got the call from Stengel and Pete Daley popped out.

Sabres Win 1, Then Lose 1

The Sabres thrashed the Rockets, 11-6, and then turned around and lost to the Comets, 13-7, in International Little League play here Friday night.

Robert Enriken lashed out four hits in as many attempts for the Sabres in the opener. One of those was a bases-loaded home run in the fourth. The Sabres proceeded to score ten runs in that inning, coming from behind to sail away the verdict.

Nick Ordon, the winning pitcher, fanned two and walked three. Ronnie Caldwell, the loser, struck out six and passed seven.

Jack Ellis, Bruce Rockey, David Martino and Gary Earhart all had two-base hits in the opener.

In the second go, Rickie Reynolds, the winning pitcher, whiffed a pair and issued for walks.

Jack Ellis, the loser, fanned four but walked 11.

Hank Pope had two doubles for the winners. Gary Gady, Ellis, Enriken and Jay Deason were others in the game who hit for two bases while Lloyd Bingham had a triple for the Sabres.

Stone Free Wins Inaugural Race

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — Stone Free, owned by Jess Wilbanks of Big Spring, Texas, won the inaugural event on Friday's racing card here Friday, a 5 1/2 furlong thoroughbred claiming race.

In streaking home in front, Stone Free paid $4.30, $3.50 and $2.40. Second was Tony's Chat, which paid $4.40 and $2.80 while Two-jax was third. The show horse paid $2.80.

Stone Free was clocked in 1.40 for the distance. E. Minchey, the track's leading jockey, was in the irons.

The daily double price on Stone Free and the winner of the second race, My Bond, was $8.40.

Red Birds Spoil Pennant Hopes Of Devils' Troupe

The Cardinals knocked the Devils out of a chance to finish in a tie for first place in National Little League standings by winning a 6-4 verdict here Saturday night.

The downfall of the Devils enabled the Dodgers to clinch first place in second half standings with a 7-3 record.

A four run outburst in the fifth paved the way for the Red Birds' victory. Two errors opened the door for the Cards in that inning. Big blow of the inning was a home run smash by Kirby Horton.

Jimmy Winn collected a pair of hits for the winners while Ronnie Anderson drove out two of the Devils' four safeties.

Jerome Stafford, who came on in relief of Rickey Earle in the fourth, was the winning pitcher.

The Ramblers wound up first in second half minor league standings, just ahead of the Red Caps. The Cubs were first half titlists, so a playoff will be necessary.

Pigs	3	7	0

The Stars wound up their regular season in American Little League play on a successful note here Saturday night, turning back the Pigs 9-7, on the strength of a five-run outburst in the fourth frame.

Doyle Irwin pitched the win and helped his own cause with two doubles. Dennis Williams and Bobby Thomas each had two singles for the Stars.

Big Spring drew the first round bye and opposes the Floydada-Stamford survivor Thursday, Aug. 6.

On Friday, Aug. 7, the winners in the San Angelo-Cisco and Big Lake - Sweetwater engagements collide for the right to enter the Saturday night finals. All games begin at 8 p.m.

In event of a rain-out, a double header will be played the following evening, with the first game to start at 6 o'clock.

Conway stated umpires have already been assigned for the games. Teen-Age league officials here will spend a week or more brightening up the park before the first meet.

The City champion is due to be determined here later this month, possibly as early as next weekend.

Colts Blow Down Bruin Nine, 8-1

The Colts knocked off the Cubs, 8-1, in an American Little League game played here Friday evening.

Larry Broughton, who worked the first four innings, was the winning pitcher. Tommy Lane accepted the loss. Joe Percy also hurled for the Colts.

Lane did have the satisfaction of getting two hits for the Cubs, the only Cub to get more than one blow.

Campbell, Palmer Are Tied For Top Spot In Western

Palmer stumbled and recovered a dozen times on the 662-yard, par-70 layout, finished on a trap shot and put for par on the 18th and a 69 total, his highest score of the tourney. He had to have the par on the 18th to tie.

The two youngsters had to yield a share of the spotlight to another new course record, a 63 by 49-year-old tournament veteran, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of St. Louis. His great round, which showed an eagle, six birdies and three bogey, put him in third place with a 206 total.

In streaking home in front, Stone Free paid $4.30, $3.50 and $2.40. Second was Tony's Chat, which paid $4.40 and $2.80 while Two-jax was third. The show horse paid $2.80.

Stone Free was clocked in 1.40 for the distance. E. Minchey, the track's leading jockey, was in the irons.

The daily double price on Stone Free and the winner of the second race, My Bond, was $8.40.

Red Birds Spoil Pennant Hopes Of Devils' Troupe

The Cardinals knocked the Devils out of a chance to finish in a tie for first place in National Little League standings by winning a 6-4 verdict here Saturday night.

The downfall of the Devils enabled the Dodgers to clinch first place in second half standings with a 7-3 record.

A four run outburst in the fifth paved the way for the Red Birds' victory. Two errors opened the door for the Cards in that inning. Big blow of the inning was a home run smash by Kirby Horton.

Jimmy Winn collected a pair of hits for the winners while Ronnie Anderson drove out two of the Devils' four safeties.

Another Year, Another Trophy

Poncho Nail (above), who operates a newsstand here, has made it a practice to give the City Little League baseball champion a trophy every year since 1952. Here's the one he'll award to the top team at the conclusion of this year's playoffs.

Cleveland Retains Lead Over Chicago

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians edged Detroit's Tigers 8-7 in a slugfest here Saturday night to hold their American League lead at two games over Chicago.

A single by Vic Power in the eighth inning — the only hit for the Indians in that frame — scored the winning run after an unearned run tied the score for the Indians.

Rocky Colavito hit two home runs and a single, batting in three runs for Cleveland. Al Kaline, Charlie Maxwell and Gus Zernial hit homers for Detroit. Maxwell's scored three runs in the fifth inning.

The victory went to Jim Perry, third of four Cleveland pitchers. Perry now has won three and lost one.

Charged with the defeat was Dave Sisler, who pitched only one inning.

Broncs Surprise Texans, 13 To 9

The Broncos handed the Texans a 13-9 defeat in an American Little League action Saturday night. Gene Morris was the winning pitcher and helped his cause with two hits.

The winners rapped out only eight hits and committed six errors. The Texans got only four hits and erred five times.

In addition to Morris, Lilton Trantham got two hits for the Broncos while Oats hit twice safely for the Texans.

Gunderson Winner

CHICAGO (AP)—In a match of spectacular shots, Jo Anne Gunderson of Seattle defeated Margie Lindsey, Decatur, Ill., 6 and 4 Saturday to win the 59th Women's Western Amateur Golf Championship.

Capping the sensational playing in the match was Miss Gunderson's 60-foot chip shot that plunked into the 32nd hole for birdie 3 ending the contest.

Error Opens Door To Win For Cardinals

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored two sixth-inning runs on an error by Philadelphia pitcher Humberto Robinson Saturday and defeated the Phils 4-3 behind the relief pitching of Sean Stone.

Three Phils pitchers gave up 14 walks, 10 by starter Don Cardwell, and the Cards converted two into runs, both by Don Blasingame.

Stone came on in the sixth after Marshall Bridges had given up a

Three-Man Local Team In National Publinks

Charles Bailey has replaced Ben Mooring Jr., on the three-man team which will represent Big Spring in the 34th Amateur Public Links Championship of the U. S. Golf Association this week in Denver, Colo. Mooring is unable to make the trip.

Bailey left Friday in company with Bernard Rains and Jerry Scott for the tournament site. They expected to arrive in Denver sometime last night and get in a few practice rounds at Wellshire Golf Course, where the Nationals get under way Monday.

Scott won the right to take part in the tournament in the Sectional qualifying round at the Midland Country Club recently when he toured 36 holes in 1,949 strokes, good for a second place tie with Col. Kyle Riddle of Webb AFB.

The two finished five strokes in arrears of Bobby Bluhm of Big Spring.

Neither Bluhm nor Riddle were able to make the trip and Mooring and Rains were selected to play in their places. Rains and Mooring, along with Bailey, all shot 152 at Midland. Bailey was the logical choice for the trip when Mooring had to cancel out.

Last year, Big Spring sent two players, Bluhm and Jack Starnes, to the Nationals, which were held outside Chicago. That number was increased by one this year, a factor which will enable Big Spring to compete for the team championship for the first time.

John Pipes of Big Spring, director of the Sectional meet, raised the money for the expenses of the local trip, accepting donations from friends of golf in this area.

Big Spring will be one of 31 teams competing for the team title. St. Paul, Minn., fielded the winning team last year. At stake will be the Warren G. Harding Trophy, named in honor of the late president.

The field at Denver will consist of 150 players, including Daniel D. Sikes Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., who won the crown in 1958 and who was exempt from qualifying this year. The 1957 titlist was Don Essig III, an LSU player from Indianapolis, Ind., who may be back.

Par for the Wellshire course is 35-36-71. The layout extends 6,617 yards.

Scott will tee off at 10:24 a.m. Monday and again at 1:52 p.m. Tuesday in qualifying rounds with L. L. Berg, Houston, and Leon Holt, Oklahoma City.

Rains will get off at 11:28 a.m. Monday and 8:08 a.m. Tuesday with Hugh E. O'Brien, Charleston, S. C., and T. J. Tanner Jr., Miami Springs, Fla.

Bailey is committed to play with Ray Smith, St. Louis, Mo., and Thomas T. Tanaka, Honolulu, Hawaii, at 12:48 p.m. Monday and 9:28 a.m. Tuesday.

Dallas, Houston and Austin are other Texas cities which will be represented in the tournament.

Entries Being Accepted For Thomas Boat Races

Entries are being accepted for Knights of Columbus boat races, which will be staged at Lake J. B. Thomas, starting at 3 p.m. next Sunday.

No racing rigs will be permitted in the starting field. Only those owning or driving stock boats and motors are eligible to take part.

All entries should be mailed not later than Saturday to Snyder Furniture, 4300 Avenue S, Snyder, Texas.

J. C. Godwin, operator of the Lake J. B. Thomas Lodge, described the races as "strictly for fishing boats." He has a quantity of entry blanks for distribution.

The wet weather of the past ten days has virtually stopped fishing at the big lake. Operators of fishing camps are confidently expecting a big upswing in business, once the elements settle down, however.

Here's a few items gleaned from a flying jaunt around the huge reservoir:

Lake Thomas Haul

traveling in schools near their lines. The Boys, P. T. and O. L., now operate a ten-unit motel, a cafe and one of the biggest boat docks, complete with lift, on the lake. They hope to have their huge, new fishing house in operation by Aug. 1. It'll be 44 x 60 feet and is being assembled on the south side of the lake. It'll be air conditioned for summer and heated for winter.

SHADY GROVE GROCERY — Richard Nix of 808 N. 12th Street, Big Spring, using a rod and reel caught four Channel Cat, the biggest of which tipped the scales at 2 1/2 pounds.

DEWEY McCREATH of Foran, using shrimp at Catfish Charley as bait, took 18 Channel Cats off his trotline.

JINKENS MORELAND GROCERY — Wayland Tolbert of Farmington, N. M., who is helping Jinkens during the summer, caught an abundance of Channel Cat while fishing off a dock. Jinkens and Mrs. Mam-maw Addison also reported good luck in the party.

The carp reportedly are beginning to bite in this area again. Lots of Channel Cat are also being caught.

BROWNE'S GROCERY — Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Perry of Brownfield caught so many crappie and bass last weekend they pulled out early Sunday for home.

Bob Breland of Hobbs, N. M., headed a party that caught lots of Yellow catfish, some of them weighing up to eight pounds. They were fishing in the river leading into Thomas and using shrimp on their trotlines.

CLYDE MONTGOMERY'S LAKEVIEW GROCERY — A Mr. Buckett of O'Donnell reported a 13-pound Yellow Catfish he caught while fishing alone during the week.

The Montgomery's report there has been a shortage of trotline bait and hope the situation improves.

I. E. Carter of Odessa, using small minnows as bait, reeled in a seven-pound Yellow Cat. Another individual who didn't leave his name reported he snagged ten White Bass using a rod and reel.

The Crappie are also biting good here.

SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE — One of the biggest catches of the week was reported to operator Claud Hodnett by Marvin Dupre of Vincent, who used perch as bait to hook a 23-pound Cat while fishing alone. Claud had the huge catch on display at his place for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Whatley and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dorchester, all of Big Spring, caught 80 White Bass off here while fishing at night from boats.

A party which experienced even better luck was headed by Charley Harwell of Big Spring, who reeled in 136 White Bass.

A Mr. and Mrs. Gantt of Andrews, who like to vacation here, caught an abundance of White Bass and Catfish on a trotline near here.

O. B. Warren, who helped Hodnett catch ten beauties, enough for a fish fry at Ralene Jones' home in Big Spring, one evening recently.

The skiers descended upon the lake in droves in all parts of the lake over the holidays and, in some instances, discouraged some fishermen from trying their luck.

The fishermen give the skiers a wide berth when they can.

Dupre's Beauty Marvin Dupre of Vincent caught this 23-pound catfish while fishing off Sportsman's Paradise at Lake J. B. Thomas recently. Eyeing the catch is Terry Hodnett, daughter of Claud Hodnett.

AFTER MOYER WIN

Don Jordan May Seek Fight For Middleweight Crown

By MAIT KRAMER
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Tough Don Jordan of Los Angeles defended his welterweight championship convincingly Friday night. He now looks toward middleweight Ray Robinson for his next bout.

Jordan, a punishing body puncher, rammed solid hooks into the ribs of 19-year-old Denny Moyer, and uppercuts to the face as he scored a unanimous 15-round decision over the young Portlander in a nationally televised bout.

Several times Moyer appeared about to go down, but each time called on some hidden resources to stay upright. He still was dancing gamely about at the end, flicking left jabs at Jordan.

The jab was his main weapon against the aggressive Jordan. It became apparent early that his right caused Jordan no fear. It was like a destroyer against a cruiser. Moyer was willing, but lacked the guns.

For Jordan it was his 11th straight victory, his third since winning the title. It makes his record now 46-11.

Moyer, who had hoped to become the youngest champion on record in the welterweight division, suffered his first loss in 21 bouts.

Of the possible fight with Robinson, Jordan's co-manager, Don Nesselth, said, "We have been offered a lot of money to fight Robinson."

He said the offer came from an Eastern promoter, but disclosed no other details. Robinson recently was stripped of his middleweight title by the National Boxing Assn., but is recognized as champion in New York.

Two pre-fight incidents stirred interest in the bout.

One was Jordan's failure to make the 147-pound weight at his first weigh-in. He was 1 1/2 pounds over the limit, and had to sweat it off by exercising. Ninety minutes later he qualified at an even 147, but there was speculation the process might have weakened him.

If he was weak, Moyer would hate to face him strong.

The other was discovery that Mickey Cohen was in town, and had paid a 1 a.m. visit Friday to Jordan. This brought police in to sudden activity, for earlier Nesselth had said the underworld was trying to get control of Jordan — and the police suspect Cohen of having underworld connections.

Nesselth is scheduled to testify before a federal grand jury in Los Angeles July 14 on the reported attempts to take Jordan away from him and his partner, Jack McCoy.

Nesselth was noncommittal about Cohen's visit, but told police Chief William Hilburner he was satisfied no threats had been made to Jordan.

Ben Harris, Portland Boxing Commission chairman, said he saw nothing wrong with the bout, and said purses would not be held back.

Promoter Tommy Moyer, Denny's uncle, reported the gate was $44,300 and attendance 4,813. Moyer earlier said he had expected a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of $100,000.

This fell short of the $70,000 that Nesselth said has been guaranteed to Jordan, but there still was to come the money from the television.

Dancing Deedie, Jolly Kay In Ruidoso Claiming Races

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — Nine head are entered in the 440-yard "Quarter Horse Championship Handicap" at Ruidoso Downs today.

All are winners at the present meet with the exception of Miss Luton, capable hopeful belonging to Marion Seward of Wray, Colorado. This fleet filly — declared world's champion quarter running two-year-old filly last year — won the championship at Los Alamitos her last out.

Vanetta Dee, was world's champion quarter running mare last year and Vandy's Flash, an own brother to Vanetta Dee representing the Echo Ranch Stable of Ada, Oklahoma, earned world's champion quarter running gelding title last year.

Remaining challengers are Burke's Bars, Doll Up, War Deck, Irish Day, Lena's Bar and War Chic.

Supporting Co-feature is "The Monumental Plaza Purse," a 5 1/2 furlong event named in honor of one of the highest ranking bull fight arenas in the world — located at Juarez, Mexico — fairly close to the "Downs." Maderos Dream, owned by H. G. Wells of Tucson, Arizona, is a winner and the likely choice.

Remaining runners are Storful, Amelo, Dark Talk, Livelpup, Gold Profit, Miss Cathi Sue, Wrakumbak, Gren's Pride and Lets Match.

Dancing Deedie, owned by Jerry Currie of Big Spring, Texas, is entered in the first race of the day, a $250 thoroughbred claiming event down for six furlongs.

Jolly Kay, a mare owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tucker of Big Spring, is entered in the eighth race, another thoroughbred claiming race over 6 1/4 furlongs.

Wells, Production Steady During First Half Of '59

Drilling of new wells in the first half of 1959 is ahead of the same time last year, but the difference is almost too slight to mention. During the first half of the year, in the seven-county area, 228 wells were completed for a total potential of 32,745.12 barrels of oil. Fifty-two wells were abandoned. At the same time last year, 227 wells had been finished for 32,151.25 barrels of oil, and 50 wells had been plugged.

The Big Spring area includes Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Mitchell, and Sterling counties. The Herald has been carrying Garza County totals since early in 1958, but a complete comparison is not available.

This slight increase in potential production and also completions is the result of a spurt in Borden County principally. Five counties, Borden, Dawson, Martin, Mitchell and Sterling, finished more wells than last year, but the Borden tally was the only one of any consequence.

Borden's total jumped 11 over the same time of 1958 to a total of 44. Mitchell climbed from 43 to 52, however.

Potentialwise, Borden went from 7,716.73 in 1958 to 16,952.46, to furnish about half of the area's total barrelage. Dawson was up slightly, as was Mitchell.

Borden also led in abandonments, with 16, but it was only one failure above Howard County. Borden was second in plugged wells. There were 30 wells abandoned in Garza during the half-year.

The completions were evenly split during the six months, 114 being completed each three months. The last quarter furnished the more oil, 17,687.17, and 25 has been the leader this year, completing 36 wells for 2,545.14 barrels of oil. The Howard-Glasscock pool brought in 30 wells for 1,801.18 barrels. Production in the late East Howard field, booming the first of the year, has weakened with only two wells being completed the past three months. Five wells were finished in the Big Spring pool in April, May, June, after only two were made in the first quarter. New wells have been added to the of the failures were reported during April, May, and June. A look at the individual counties during the first half of 1959:

BORDEN — Most of the spurt in the county came in the prolific Good Southeast (Fusselman) field. Eight wells were completed and produced 9,431.51 barrels of oil during the past three months, one wildcat was completed, Trice No. 1 Miller. It made 260 barrels of oil from the Lower Strawn to open that zone in the Rafter Cross pool. During the half-year, wells have been completed in the U Lazy S, Fluvanna, 7-J, Jo-Mill, Arthur, Myrtle West, Dunigan, Reinecke, Lucy, and 30-30 fields.

DAWSON — Ten of the 22 wells finished this year were in the Welch field, but interest lately has centered in the Patricia (Fusselman) field, with the pool being opened March. Since then, one more well has been completed there. During the second quarter, a dual discovery, Texas National No. 1 Woodul, opened the Key field for production in the Pennsylvanian and Spraberry zones.

GARZA — Production over the county has been in over a dozen fields, with the OS Ranch finishing the most wells, 12. Most of the county's producers have been comparatively small, with only eight of the 85 making over 100 barrels on potential. In addition to the OS Ranch, other fields making three or more wells include the Red Loflin, Threeway, Teas, Northwest, Justiceburg, Rucker A, and Justiceburg.

GLASSCOCK — Only one well has been finished during the first six months, the Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark, a re-entry in the Garden City field. Four projects were abandoned.

HOWARD — The Snyder field

Luther Southeast and North Vincent fields, recently, too.

MARTIN — Interest has been varied in the county, with four of the 10 wells completed this quarter being in the Mabree field. However, three wildcats, two from the Wolfcamp and one in the Strawn, have been finished. They made a total of 765.86 barrels of oil.

MITCHELL — Most of the oil came in three fields, the Sharon Ridge, Westbrook, and Iatan East Howard. Sixteen wells came in the Sharon Ridge and 13 each in the other two. The Iatan pool made the most oil, however, 1,304.22 barrels. Other wells were opened in the Howard-Glasscock, Dockery, Turner - Gregory, and Maude fields.

STERLING — Two small discoveries — in the Clear Fork and San Andres zones — were in the nine completions of 1959. Also wells were finished in the Clark, Howard-Glasscock, and East Herrell pools.

Rig Count Falls To 360 In Basin

The drilling count in the Permian Basin of West Texas and eastern New Mexico took another tumble last week, falling to 360.

The survey was made by Reed Roller Bit Co. on Friday, and the total is nine less rigs than reported on July 3.

Andrews County took the basin lead with 48 rigs, while the leader for the past several weeks, Lea County, N. M., fell from 48 on July 3 to 39 Friday. Andrews showed 47 rigs on the Friday count.

Other counties having at least 20 active rigs include Ector with 27 and Winkler with 20. Howard County upped its total to 10, three more than on the previous survey. Borden recorded 12 active units, one less than on July 3.

Totals for all counties in the Basin (with July 3 totals in parentheses) — in the Clear Fork and San Andres zones — were in the nine completions of 1959. Also wells were finished in the Clark, Howard-Glasscock, and East Herrell pools.

Over the nation, drilling has picked up somewhat. The latest survey made for the American Assn. of Oil Well Drilling Contractors showed 2,248 rigs in action, as compared to 2,237 on June 29. The last survey as made by Hughes Tool Co. was on Monday.

The Texas total was 768, four more than on the previous survey. Louisiana had 381 on the Monday count while 243 rigs were active in Oklahoma. New Mexico showed 128, and the California count was 101. The Kansas total was 158, and west lines, Labor 14, League 262, Borden CSL Survey.

In Dawson County, the Rodman & Noel No. 1 Turnbow drilled in lime, shale, and chert at 10,711 feet. It is located 3½ miles southwest of Patricia, 660 from north and west lines, Labor 14, League 262, Borden CSL Survey.

Spraberry on a drillstem test from 6,765-841 feet. Tool was open one hour, and recovery was 30 feet of very slightly oil and gas-cut mud. The wildcat is 1,730 feet from south and 1,990 from east lines, 22-32-in, T&P Survey.

The new project is General American No. 2-3 Koonsman and is located 1,263 feet from north and 330 from east lines, 3-2, T&NO Survey, nine miles southwest of Justiceburg, just inside of Borden County.

Drilling depth is 5,250 feet. It is to test the Spraberry and is a south offset to the discovery well in the field.

The Cheyenne No. 7 Clayton & Johnson flowed through a 10-64-inch choke for 2½ hours and made 294.29 barrels of 43-degree oil without a trace of water. The well is 2,092 feet from south and 2,095 from west lines, 45-32-in, T&P Survey, and about six miles north of Vealmoor.

Total depth is 9,891 feet, and top of the pay zone is 9,777. Perforations extend from 9,779-94 feet.

The new explorer is J. C. Barnes of Midland No. 2 Robertson and is about 18 miles north of Post. Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and 330 from east lines, 20-B-9, EL&RR (Bathwell) Survey, on an 80-acre lease.

Also in Garza, the Southern Minerals No. 1 Slaughter is shut down this weekend while operator waited on orders. The wildcat has been testing the Strawn. The project is 660 feet from south and 550 from east lines, 6-2, T&NO Survey, and eight miles southwest of Justiceburg.

Wildcat Sited In NE Howard

A new wildcat has been sited in the northeast corner of Howard County by Texas American Oil, with work to begin immediately.

The new site is the No. 1 T. L. Griffin Estate and is about 20 miles northeast of Big Spring. It is 330 from south and 660 from east lines, 35-25, H&TC Survey, in an undeveloped area between the East Vealmoor and Hobo fields — the latter being in Borden County.

It is contracted to 7,500 feet to test the Reef.

Also in Howard, the Lowe No. 2 Puckett was laying drill pipe Saturday after coring from 9,840-68 feet. Operator reported finding 12½ feet of pay, probably the Fusselman.

The site is 12 miles northeast of Big Spring, 660 from south and 990 from east lines, 27-32-in, T&P Survey.

Big Spring Exploration staked the No. 1 Mrs. G. P. Howell as a 4,650-foot wildcat about 27 miles south of Muleshoe. The site is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 6, League 74, Childress CSL Survey, and on a 1,772-acre lease.

It is to test through the San Andres.

TIPRO Meeting

AUSTIN (AP)—The executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn. will meet Aug. 7-8 at Fort Clark guest ranch, near Bracketville.

TIPRO President Harry C. Jones, Kilgore, said the agenda includes discussion of oil production allowances, possible federal gas legislation, the proposed ruling by the Federal Power Commission on favored-nation clauses in gas contracts, state taxes, and the mandatory oil imports program.

Conoco Plans Pipe Line, Terminal In El Paso Area

HOUSTON (AP)—Plans for a pipe line and petroleum products terminal construction program in New Mexico and the El Paso, Tex., area, to cost approximately $2,500,000, were announced Saturday by Continental Oil Co. and its subsidiary, Continental Pipe Line Co.

Plans include construction by Continental Pipe Line of a 155-mile products line from Artesia, N. M., to El Paso. Work on the line is expected to start in July, with completion scheduled for late this year.

The line will be operated by Continental Pipe Line and will connect at El Paso with the Southern Pacific products line to Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz., and with the Standard of Texas line to Albuquerque, N. M.

Continental Oil will construct petroleum products terminals at El Paso and Albuquerque, the announcement stated. The El Paso terminal will be built east of the city and will have three storage tanks, with a total capacity of 77,500 barrels, an office building, and tank truck loading facilities.

The Albuquerque terminal will be constructed south of the city and also will have three storage tanks, with a total capacity of 66,000 barrels, an office building, and tank truck loading facilities. Terminal construction work at both locations will start this summer, with completion expected by December, it was said.

Wildcat Strikes Increase In 1959

AUSTIN (AP)—A substantial increase in wildcat oil well completions thus far in 1959 was reflected Saturday in the Railroad Commission's weekly report.

The report shows 236 oil wildcats completed thus far this year compared with 218 last year. Gas wildcats last year totalled 44 compared with 36 so far this year.

Oil well completions for the year so far totalled 6,230 compared with 6,990 last year; gas wells 1,040 this year and 1,272 last year; dry holes 3,250 this year and 3,409 last year.

For the week, there were 163 oil well completions; 24 gas wells; 121 dry holes; 177 wells plugged.

The total average calendar day allowable as of July 11 was 2,700-164 barrels compared with 2,662-370 for the week ended July 4.

Martin Well Drills

In the northwestern part of Martin County, the Pan American No. 2-A Homer Shook drilled at 10,790 feet in lime. The location is in the Breedlove (Devonian) field, 660 from north and west lines, Labor 9, League 259, Borden CSL Survey. Last week operator found shows of oil in the Wolfcamp.

ALL SET FOR TRAVEL is Beverly Alexander, (above) who joined a group Saturday morning on the train bound for Fort Worth. There the Texas delegation combined forces for the journey to Chicago and the national convention of Future Homemakers of America, Monday through Friday. Miss Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alexander, made the seersucker robe which she is packing, as well as several cotton dresses to be taken as part of her wardrobe.

INTERIOR DECORATING is an interest of Edith Gregory, (left) 1017 Stadium, who has worked this summer in the Future Homemaking courses being offered at Senior High School, Goliad and Runnels Junior High Schools. A fragile-appearing blonde, Edith selected a pretty pastel pink for her room. She, assisted by her father, painted the walls of the room, and then she matched a bedspread to that shade. Her draperies are a pale pink and a chair and dressing table bench are upholstered with pink plastic. Miss Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gregory, is a sophomore in high school.

CHILD CARE is a profitable project for Sally Adair, (photo at left) a high school junior, who is completing two years work in Future Homemakers of America classes. Added to her duties in caring for David and Steve Richardson are tasks of household planning and meal preparation for the children and for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Adair, 800 Galveston. Steve, eight years old, is tutored in reading each day by Miss Adair, as his younger brother, David, six, listens. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Richardson, 1702 Laurie.

DOESN'T THIS LOOK DELICIOUS? says Sally Adair (pictured right) of a colored illustration that accompanies a recipe in a food scrapbook, which she has assembled as part of her work in the home-making course she attended this summer. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Wells, 601 West 16th, she is a senior in high school. Miss Adair was photographed in a Chinese jacket of aqua, rose and ivory checks with aqua shorts which she made as part of her project. Other sewing has turned out a semi-formal frock of dotted swiss lined with organdy.

HERALD
Big Spring, Texas
Sunday, July 12, 1959

A COMPLETE SUMMER WARDROBE is the valued possession of Mary McWilliams, daughter of T-Sgt. and Mrs. Morris McWilliams, 237-A Langley, Capehart Addition. Miss McWilliams is shown wearing a frock of slubbed rayon in a palomino shade, as she prepares to hang up a Bermuda short set of denim. The blue and white striped poncho jacket is accompanied by shorts of solid blue. Two other similar sets besides four pairs of shorts, two other dresses, a fluffy net petticoat and a skirt and blouse have been made by this seamstress for her own use. She has also whipped up a skirt and blouse for her sister, Linda Sue, 11 years old. A matching bedspread and draperies, which she has made, decorate her bedroom in the new home. A junior in high school, Miss McWilliams participated this summer in the homemaking courses carried by the school.

FHA Members End Extra Summer Work

Coming to a close around the first of this month were the courses in home-making extended to students wishing to earn extra credit.

Instructors in Senior High, Runnels and Goliad Junior High Schools supervised projects dealing with various phases of clothing construction, meal-planning and preparation and child care. Also included in the work done by the girls was personal improvement, for which charts on weight, personal habits and other activities were kept.

Home decorating came in for its share of attention, with some of the students redecorating their bedrooms; some remodeled wardrobes or fashioned complete outfits of summer clothes. Yard work was the interest of part of the group, some of whom planted and cared for the yard or garden.

For the development of good consumer buying, the girls are given training in wise shopping for food or for home furnishings; they are then given credit hours for such activity when put into practice.

Required for the course are 100 hours, 10 of which must be spent in the class room, with the remainder used for practical application; reports are made regularly to the instructors who check the progress of the projects.

An added feature of the summer work was the adult education angle of the study, which was carried on in June. In the high school, Mrs. W. L. Walker held classes for women who desired help with problems in sewing; Mrs. Florence Lenox in Runnels, taught a method of speed sewing, and Mrs. Jack Alexander, at Goliad, gave assistance to those wishing to design and make draperies.

Saturday, her daughter, Beverly, "finished product" of the FHA courses, joined a group for a trip to the national meeting of the Future Homemakers of America, being held in Chicago Monday through Friday. She is one of the 160 FHA delegates representing Texas at the convention.

The convention theme is Future Homemakers of America—Blueprint for Action. This will be developed through general sessions and group discussions, with added activities to include a tour of Chicago and visits to various attractions.

Newcomer Family

A welcome addition to the community is the Bruce Dunn family, who moved here last month from Austin. That's Garry on the tricycle, and Chris on his mother's lap. Dunn is the city's new Director of Public Works.

The Bruce Dunns, Big Spring Are Getting To Know Each Other

The roster of city employees took on a new name recently and a new job title. Bruce Dunn accepted his master's degree in personnel management from the University of Texas, and arrived June 6 to assume the duties of the town's first Director of Public Works, as such.

He was just in time to hear the phones jangling with complaints about mosquitoes.

Actually, his responsibilities center on engineering in the various departments. It is a job he apparently relishes, and he is not without experience. Before returning to the university for this last degree, he was assistant city engineer for his native El Paso. He had also been in business for himself for five years.

Mrs. Dunn holds the Bachelor of Arts degree in art from Texas Western College, El Paso. She remembers a classmate in life drawing who used to toss and twirl her coat at an imaginary bull, during idle moments; the girl was one Pat McCormick, the Big Spring girl who later chucked college for a career as bullfighter.

Tennis and square dancing have been sparetime pursuits of the Dunns. Now, though, there are Garry, 2½ and 16-month-old Chris, their blond sons.

The newcomers tag themselves as "bridge players of sorts"; Mrs. Dunn likes bowling while her husband prefers golf. They are Methodists.

The climate is not unlike El Paso's, they think. Mrs. Dunn is looking forward to doing a little gardening, and has her sights set on a vegetable patch.

The family is at home at 1317 Sycamore.

Grady Barr Takes Bride In Ceremony At Houston

COAHOMA —Double wedding ring vows, repeated in Houston Saturday evening, united in marriage Letha Fay Brewer and Grady Barr. The couple was married in the Broadway Baptist Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Novak, hearing the ritual.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brewer of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barr of Vincent.

Baskets of flowers combined with tapers in candelabra to form a background for the ceremony which followed a prelude of nuptial music.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. For her wedding, she chose a gown of nylon and lace, trimmed with bridal jewels and featuring short sleeves worn with elbow length gloves. Jewels also encrusted the fingertip veil.

The bride carried a white orchid in a cluster of orange maid of honor; bridesmaids blossoms.

Attendants were attired in blue chiffon and wore matching veils; they carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Carolyn Brewer was her sister's bridesmaid; Gretchen Burner and Diane Kunz, all of Houston.

Short Cuts In Cooking Demonstrated In Course

AUSTIN — Short cuts and time savers in the kitchen are being demonstrated to teachers and home demonstration agents this summer at the University of Texas.

Miss Mary Goldmann, assistant professor of home economics, is conducting the three-week course.

Among short-cut methods she recommends are homemade mixes that can be made up in quantity and stored on the pantry shelf for use as needed.

This is a homemade biscuit mix that can be used for biscuits and variations such as cheese, orange tea or cinnamon biscuits, strawberry short cake, parsley biscuit, parsley curry drop biscuit, and muffin variation (Jelly, cheese, blueberry, pineapple muffins, apricot nut bread, coffee cake, grid-le cakes and waffles).

Here are the proportions:
Flour—8 cups
Baking powder—4 tablespoons
Shortening—1 1/2 cups
Sift the flour and measure and sift with the dry ingredients. Cut the shortening into the dry ingredients until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Store on the pantry shelf and use as needed.

The following homemade pastry mix can be used not only for pastry but for such cookies as easy date-nut bars, fudge drops, spicy fruit dreams, pecan puffs, molasses crisp:

Flour—9 cups
Salt—1/4 teaspoon
Shortening—3 cups
Sift the flour and salt together and cut the shortening into the dry ingredients until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Store in a tightly covered container on pantry shelf.

Miss Goldmann also has devised a cream or white-sauce mix;
here's her recipe:
Flour—1 1/4 cups
Non-fat milk—2 1/2 cups
Salt—1/3 tablespoon
Butter or margarine—1 cup Sift first three ingredients together. Cut butter or margarine into dry ingredients until mixture has texture of coarse cor-meal. Store in covered jar in refrigerator.

The white-sauce mix also may be used in creamed soups, salmon croquettes, chicken croquettes, macaroni and cheese, cooked salad dressing, stuffed eggs, chocolate souffle, chicken souffle, cheese souffle, scalloped potatoes, creamed cabbage, scalloped celery and almonds.

This is a homemade cake mix, which can be used for plain, chocolate, spice, white or yellow cake:

Cake flour—9 cups
Sugar—5 1/2 cups
Salt—1 teaspoon
Baking powder—4 tablespoons
Shortening—2 cups
Sift dry ingredients together 3 times. Cut fat in with pastry blender until a fine, mealy consistency is obtained. Store in a covered container at room temperature.

Mrs. Spell Is Honored

FORSAN — A pink and blue stork centered the serving table in the Forsan school music room recently when Mrs. Tom Spell was complimented with a shower.

Mrs. B. R. Wilson, Mrs. O. W.
Fletcher, Mrs. J. M. Craig, Mrs.
Vera Harris, Mrs. Harry Barnett and Mrs. James Blake joined with
Mrs. John B. Anderson, Mrs. Buri
Griffith and Mrs. C. M. White in extending the courtesy. Mrs. Charlie Wasson of Big Spring was also a hostess.

The centerpiece poised on a reflector dotted with miniature baby toys, Ivy in a ceramic holder backed the stork.

Lace also covered the register
table, where a ceramic basinnet held tiny pastel flowers.

Mrs. Wilson had crocheted a sacque for the baby doll which was used in the corsage presented to Mrs. Spell. It was encircled with pastel baby socks.

one-dish meals can be made up in advance in quantity and placed in the freezer for future cooking. If they are stored in metal containers, they can be placed in the oven without going through a time-consuming thawing stage.

MRS. VAUDRY VERN GRIGG

Nuptial Vows Are Recited By Wanda Coleman And V. V. Grigg

Wedding vows of Wanda Sue Coleman and Vaudry Vern Grigg were solemnized Saturday evening in a double ring service performed in the Methodist Church at Ackerly. The Rev. Cecil Tune of Lamesa officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Grigg, all of Ackerly. Pink tapers in candelabra framed the altar setting. White gladioli and stock radiated in sunburst pattern at the center. Fern bedecked the white arch before which the bridal party stood.

Mrs. Neil Bucklew of Lamesa, pianist, presented the wedding music and played the Lord's Prayer as the bride and bridegroom knelt on a pillow. She accompanied Buster Grigg as he sang "O Promise Me, and Pat Grigg in his selection, "Because." Both soloists are brothers of the bridegroom.

LACE GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a formal model of lace. Taffeta was introduced in a tunic, which was anchored here and there with flat bows. Another bow on the molded bodice suggested the empire influence. Portrait neckline and long fitted sleeves were featured. Her fingertip veil of imported tulle was held in place by a tiara encrusted with pearls and sequins. On a white Bible she carried a white orchid showered with Frenched carnations and pearl leaves, and tied with satin picoté streamers.

Her dress and a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, provided the something new in bridal tradition. On her finger was her grandmother's wedding band; she had borrowed the veil. In her shoes were pennies bearing the couple's birth years, and a garter furnished the blue note.

Dorothy Williams of Ackerly was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Franks, Ackerly, and Bessie Smith, Big Spring. Their identical dresses of orchid cotton satin were styled with full skirts and scoop necklines. Each wore white headpiece and gloves, and carried large pink mums tied with matching satin ribbon.

Debbie Grigg, niece of the bridegroom, was attired in pink. She scattered rose petals from a basket of pink satin and tulle. Tapers were lighted by Shirley Williams and Sandra Adams, their pink dresses complemented with wristlets of pink blossoms.

Dick Belt of Abernathy served as best man. Eugene Coleman, brother of the bride, and Jerry Batson, both of Ackerly, were ushers. Groomsmen were Bill Grigg, Big Spring, and Pete Grigg, Ackerly, the bridegroom's brothers.

Both Mrs. Grigg and Mrs. Coleman chose blue dresses acces-sorized in black and white. Their corsages held pink flowers. The church parlor was the setting for the reception. Guests were received by the newlyweds, their parents and the feminine attendants.

PINK THEME

Bouquets of the maid of honor and bridesmaids clustered amid pink tapers at the center of the refreshment table, where a cut-work linen cloth was spread over pink. Tiny pink rosebuds studded the three-tiered cake. Mrs. Bill Grigg and Mrs. Pete Grigg served in the houseparty. Mrs. Jerry Barron, the bride's cousin, sat at the register.

Coming from out of town for the nuptials were Mrs. M. E. McAnear, Oceanside, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Norman, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cottrell, Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Singleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Singleton, Sundown; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Blair, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mahoney, Big Spring.

For the wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a jacketed sheath of aqua linen, white accessories, and the orchid from her bouquet. The couple will be in Ackerly, where Grigg is employed as bookkeeper of Co-op Gin. Both he and Mrs. Grigg are graduates of Ackerly High School. She is presently employed as secretary at Sands High in Ackerly, and plans to enroll in HCCJ for the fall semester.

Miss Haynes Is Feted At Shower

Pink and white, favored colors of Jeanine Haynes, were used in decorations for a miscellaneous shower in her honor Friday evening at the home of Mrs. James Johnson.

Miss Haynes, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Roy Haynes of Lamesa, is the bride-elect of Ted Porter, also of Lamesa. The wedding is planned for August 8 at West Side Baptist Church of that city. The future bride is a nurse at Malone & Hogan.

Assisting Mrs. Johnson as hostesses were Mrs. Bill Hambrick, Dorothy Nell Gregg and Dorothy Baker. The houseparty included Mrs. Lillian Witt, Mrs. Charles Kee, Mrs. J. Winham, Mrs. Tom Gregg and Rex Browning.

White taffeta overlaid with white net graced the refreshment table, where a crystal and silver epergne held pink asters, white mums and candles. Appointments were of silver.

Karen Kee and Thoebe Rice played piano selections during the hospitality hours.

Among the guests were the engaged couple's mothers; her sister, Mrs. Dean Simpson, and her sister, Mrs. Frances Lauderdale of Lamesa.

pleated skirt. White carnation corsages were presented to her, Mrs. Haynes and Mrs. Porter.

Knott Woman Back From Glen Rose Visit

KNOTT — Mrs. Dan Adams has returned from Glen Rose where she received medical treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ashley and family of Andrews were recent guests of her parents, the Joe Meyerses.

Barbara McGregor has returned from a visit in Brownsville with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Davis.

Mrs. Earl Wilson, district deputy president and member of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284, was here Thursday night with her staff to conduct installation ceremonies for Knott Rebekah Lodge officers.

Taking office were Mrs. P. E. Little, noble grand; Mrs. Jewell Smith, vice grand; Mrs. Joe Myers, chaplain; Mrs. Dick Clay, warden; Mrs. Edgar Airhart, conductor; Mrs. P. P. Coker, musician; and P. P. Coker, inside guardian.

Assisting in the ritual were Mrs. L. A. Griffith, Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. A. F. Gilliland and Mrs. Eugene Thomas. Other guests from Big Spring were Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Tom McAdams, Gilliland and Thomas.

Wedding Date Set

August 28 is the date which has been set for their wedding by Charlene Lansing and Carrel Bryan Glenn, who will be married in the First Christian Church. This is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lansing, 712 Gollad, parents of the bride-elect. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Noble Glenn, 1418 Bryon, Odessa, former residents of Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White, 106 Circle Drive, have announced the date for the wedding of their daughter, Sue, and Lloyd Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson of Knott.

The couple will be married Aug. 1 in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cooper, 1600 Wood.

Hearing the exchange of nuptial vows will be the prospective bridegroom's cousin, the Rev. Darrell Robinson, pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church at Knott.

Accessories Interest City HD Club

"A smartly dressed woman selects accessories scaled to her size."

This was one of the tips given by Mrs. Neil Norred when the City HD Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Louis Helms.

Accessories successfully chosen express the personality and taste of the wearer. Mrs. Norred emphasized. A woman must be careful not to do many with a single costume, however, because it is easy to look overdressed.

Mrs. Johnny Green brought the devotion and reported for the council. The group named Mrs. J. W. Forrester, Mrs. Ervin Daniels and Mrs. Norred as their nominating committee.

Ten members answered roll call with what they like best about the club. They were joined by two guests, Mrs. Joe Elrod and Mrs. Chester Cluck.

Mrs. Armour Long, 606 Scurry, will host a breakfast for the group at 7:30 a.m. July 24.

'Y' Party Monday

The sophomore girls' club will sponsor the semi-monthly party Monday night at the YMCA. All Y club members are invited to attend the social, which will be from 8 to 11 o'clock.

Curious Eavesdropper

Could be that Ransom, two-year-old Siamese pet of Diana Dawson, is an eavesdropper as she discloses her plans for attending the Miss America Beauty Pageant in Beaumont, July 23-25. Miss Dawson was the winner in a local revue staged last weekend. For her informal attire, Miss Dawson has chosen an ensemble of aqua and white torador pants topped by a poncho jacket of turquoise.

Miss Big Spring Is Versatile Young Lady

By KAY LOVELAND
Diana Dawson, a beautiful 19-year-old with long, streaming brown hair highlighted with gold, sweeping eyelashes, a sparkling laugh, and almost perfect measurements, looks like a beauty contest winner.
As a matter of fact, she is. On the Fourth of July she became Miss Big Spring, 1960, repeating her performance of the year before when she was named Miss Big Spring, 1959.
This year, however, something has been added. Diana will be able to compete in the Miss Texas Pageant, and — if she should win, she will have a chance to try for Miss America in Atlantic City, N. J.
On July 22, Diana will leave for Beaumont, where the Miss Texas Pageant is being held July 23-25. Her mother, Mrs. G. W. Dawson, and George Creagh, a member of the Jaycees who sponsored the local contest, will accompany her.
For the past several days, Diana has been scouring the countryside for formal, bathing suits, tap shoes and other regalia needed for the pageant. Both Hemphill-Wells and Zack's have provided her with lovely formal, she is still trying to find a special white bathing suit. Another search is on for high-heeled tap shoes, which she needs for her act in the pageant.
Her dance routine will be similar to the one she did at the local level — a combination ballet — jazz — tap. Mrs. Pat Scoggins, who has had 15 years of dance training is helping Diana with her routine.

Diana returned home June 29 from Louisville, Kentucky, where she has been living with her uncle and aunt for the past nine months, working as a bookkeeper in a bank during the day, and going to business school at night. To a question of how West Texas compared with Kentucky, she replied, "The country in Kentucky is certainly beautiful, but most people think I'm crazy because I like the country and people in West Texas better."
Although her friends and family have been trying to persuade her to attend Texas Tech next year, she intends to return to Kentucky in late August to enroll in the University of Louisville, where she will major in business and minor in dancing. A prime reason for her choice of the university was the fact that it has a noted dance school.
After graduation Diana is planning to go to airline school to become a stewardess. She would also like to teach dancing as a sideline.
Her variety of interests runs the gamut from sewing, cooking ("easy dishes," she says) and collecting silver spoons to painting and refinishing furniture. She is an avid sportswoman — likes to swim, take walks in the country "where I can be close to nature," and ride horses.
"I have been riding ever since Dad brought a horse home one day when I was ten," she says. "But in the last two years I haven't had too much time for it."
Dancing, is her favorite pastime. Her training in tap, ballet, toe and modern dance, which she has taken five years, has given her a lithe grace that was a main factor in her winning the Miss Big Spring title.
Miss Dawson is gifted with enough beauty, charm, and talent to become the first girl from Big Spring to win the Miss Texas crown and go on to higher stakes in the Miss America Pageant later this year. The best of luck to her!

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Other than the thrill of displaying a new baby for the first time, there is no greater one to the neophyte gardener than showing off the harvest of a carefully watched plant, vine, tree or other growing things. In our case it is now the fruit of a carefully tended and much watched seedless type grapevine. I am happy to report we have reaped the first harvest and our vines have tender grapes — but sour they are. Nevertheless they grow in beautiful clusters and are handsome to show off — just don't taste them.

From Germany comes an interesting letter from TOM ERNEST, Runnels Junior High principal, who is touring Europe this summer. He is currently on the first of two planned tours taking him into France then to Belgium, Luxembourg, London and an overnight train trip to Scotland. Cities on the itinerary are Salzburg and Vienna, Austria, Bern, Switzerland, and Rome, Italy. This trip will take 10 days.

His brother's home has been his point of operations and from here he has made numerous visits to surrounding cities. He has been in Wiesbaden, Frankfurt, Mainz, Worms, Mannheim, Ludwigsfru and Heidelberg. In the latter city, he spent some time at ancient Heidelberg castle and also at the famous university.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Suitability-To-Self Hallmark Of Fashion

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When I visited the set at Paramount, I found Dina Merrill wearing a pair of shorts and a shirt. Since Dina was chosen as one of the 10 best-dressed women in the United States, this outfit she was wearing seemed unusual.

"It's part of the plot of 'Don't Give Up The Ship,'" she explained. When we were alone, I mentioned fashion and planning a wardrobe and she was eager to tell me her views.

"One doesn't have to spend a great deal of money to be well dressed," Dina began. "There are such smart-looking off-the-rack clothes. It is more important to have good taste and know what you look best in."

"What do you feel are some of the most glaring fashion errors that most people make?" I asked.

"Slacks, when they are well-fitted can be very smart," she replied, "but they never should be worn with high heels or by anyone with bulging hips. If you love slacks, then you should work to get a figure that can wear them."

"If you have figure faults, you have to dress accordingly and wear things which will hide them. And I feel strongly about the dress wearing the girl. This happens to me every once in a while when I fall in love with a dream creation. Fortunately, my husband is quick to criticize me, and that is the end of the dress."

"I feel you have to learn by your mistakes," Dina explained. "Take a grin-and-bear-it attitude. If you buy something and find you can't wear it, keep wearing your old dresses and try not to let this same type tempt you again. I can't be at my best when I feel I'm wearing something that is unattractive."

"A good way to develop a fashion sense," she continued, "is to analyze those you find attractive. Take Mrs. Gary Cooper for instance. Her clothes are always simply cut. She chooses colors she knows are becoming and which set off her suntan. And she gives a lot of thought to her accessories."

"A common mistake is what I call overaccessorizing," Dina pointed out. "Your shoes, hat, gloves, bag and jewelry can make or break your costume. I don't care for anything fancy, but I do like pumps made of print to match a dress. You can never go wrong by using accessories of the same color. Black, beige, brown and navy blue are safe, because they go with almost everything."

"Clothes have to be suitable for the occasion. You should look ahead and plan what clothes you are going to need. Don't let yourself go astray with haphazard buying. I personally like clothes that are not-seasonal, more and more people are planning their wardrobes around suits which are light-weight enough to be worn throughout the year."

I asked Dina what problem she found hardest to overcome.

"It sounds like a slight problem, I know, but I felt I had a talent and wanted to develop it, but I sometimes ran into the prejudice that confronts those who don't have to work for a living."

Dina was referring to when she came to Hollywood and refused publicity about being Barbara Hutton's cousin and the daughter of wealthy parents. I told her, quoting Gertrude Stein, that the pains of having too much of a good thing are as great as not having enough.

"I like that," Dina said thoughtfully. "To be happy, you have to express yourself. Ever since I was a child I wanted to become an actress. I thought it would be fascinating to become so many people—to get into the roles so deeply I would know just what made them tick."

FASHION AND GROOMING
Every woman can have individuality in clothes when she is well-groomed and has a fashion sense. Dressing for your height, weight and build are important steps to follow. Leaflet M-31, "Fashion Do's and Don'ts and Good Grooming," will help you if your figure is about right, overweight, thin, tall or short. Included are care of clothes, hair, nails and complexion. You will find many important suggestions in this leaflet. For your copy send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

One Of Best-Dressed

Dina Merrill was once voted one of the nation's ten best-dressed women. In today's Hollywood Beauty she gives pointers on fashion and grooming. She is now being seen in Paramount's "Don't Give Up The Ship."

Working Hard For Their Education

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Henderson, shown with their young son Darrell, are excellent examples of what a young couple can do to complete a college education. They work around the clock to make college and family problems resolve themselves.

COLLEGE DEGREE AIM

Hendersons' Teamwork And Grit Helps Attain Purpose

By KAY LOVELAND
 "Busy as beavers" is an appropriate description of Jennie and Boyd Henderson, 1010 Nolan.
 For the past year at least one or the other of them has been going to school night and day, summer and winter at Howard County Junior College. This is quite a feat when one considers that they are married and the parents of a two-month-old boy, Darrell.
 Jennie has been attending HCJC since 1957. During her pregnancy last year she attended night school and managed to miss only one session. Reason: She was in the hospital — Darrell just wouldn't wait until his mother's classes were over.
 Boyd enrolled in HCJC in June, 1958, went to night school last fall, and began attending full days last January. Although he has been taking advantage of his GI Bill, he found it necessary to work during the day while going to night school during the fall term. He was employed at the Big Spring State Hospital as a nurse's assistant.

CHANGED MAJOR
 As a result of that job that he decided to change his major from accounting to physiology. "I was having considerable trouble with my accounting and business math courses, and I became interested in psychology. Psychology, however, is mostly paper work; I'm more interested in personal contacts, so I decided on physiology instead," he explains.

Both Hendersons are attending the two summer sessions this year at the college. Boyd is taking psychology and biology both terms. Jennie is now taking sophomore English and biology. Next term she will study national government and introductory education. As for their future school plans, they intend to continue at HCJC until May, 1960, and then move to San Marcos in time to enroll in the summer session there. Boyd is to continue working on his degree in physiology while Jennie moves toward a degree in education.

MASTER'S DEGREE
 After graduation from San Marcos, Boyd hopes to attend the Texas University School of Physiology and obtain a master's degree. He then wants to go into special work. Jennie is considering social education in order to teach handicapped children.

With a baby and a house to care for in addition to school work, Jennie still manages to find time to study and to make fairly good grades. "Of course," she said, "it's not easy. But I usually read the subject I'm studying over once and then while I'm doing some household chore—such as ironing—I go over it again. It's different with Boyd, though. He can read something once and he knows it."

To which Boyd added, "Finding the time to study is difficult. When I was working 4 hours a week and taking 18 hours of night school, it was largely a matter of snatching 30 or 40 minutes whenever I could."

Those 30 or 40 minutes seem to have paid off. He had three A's and three B's last term and estimates his average to be approximately 2.5. Jennie had A's and B's and likewise a couple of C's.

Finding someone to keep the baby has been a problem which has required some juggling of classes. During the summer months, Jennie's mother has been keeping the baby, but in the long winter session ahead they have arranged their schedule so that one will be able to stay at home while the other has a class.

It has taken determination on their part to continue their schooling in spite of financial difficulties. Even though Boyd does have the benefits of the G. I. Bill, he says that it serves primarily an incentive to effort and does not begin to cover his expenses.

"For fellows who don't have the G. I. Bill," says he, "the going can be really rough. One of the main difficulties in Big Spring is so hard to find parttime jobs. The employment agency has very few parttime listings, Employers who have openings usually fail to call the college and let them know about it. Consequently, it makes it that much harder on a person who just doesn't have the finances."

EARLY MARRIAGES
 "So many early high school marriages are taking place," said Boyd "that by the time they're ready for college, they have a baby and very little money. If they really want a college education, they have to sacrifice less important things."

"Such young marriages aren't good," he went on. "There is a tremendous responsibility to marriage and most of the younger couples just aren't mature enough emotionally. In our case, it was not an especially early marriage. I was 25, Jennie was 19."

The couple was married in August of last year. Boyd and his parents moved to Big Spring three years ago after he was discharged from the Air Force. During his stint, he was stationed at Webb for a year and a half and also in Japan and California. Although Oklahoma-born, he lived in Kermit for so long that he considers himself a Texan.

Jennie and her family moved to Big Spring from Houston, seven years ago.

Civil Docket Opens Monday

Another round of cases begins Monday morning in 118th District Court. This week's session will handle civil trials.

Sixty persons have been contacted for jury duty. First case on the docket is a compensation suit filed by Ed Davis against Texas Employers Insurance Assn. Also on tap for this week, unless settled out of court or passed, are three damage suits and two more for compensation.

Davis, in his suit, claims he was injured on Oct. 7, 1958, while working for Williams & Dunlap Builders Inc. He said he slipped and fell on a pile of lumber and injured his back. He is asking for $35 per week for 401 weeks.

No Celebration Of THIS Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sunday is an anniversary that U.S. taxpayers will not celebrate.

Fifty years ago—on July 12, 1909—Congress passed along to the states a proposed constitutional amendment empowering the federal government to levy income taxes.

The amendment—the 16th—was declared ratified Feb. 25, 1913. It was approved by legislatures of 42 of the 48 states, approval by three-fourths of the states being necessary.

The United States had had an income tax during the Civil War period. It was abandoned in 1872, and a subsequent effort to tax incomes was ruled unconstitutional in 1895.

Polio Incidence Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 175 cases of polio were reported throughout the country for the week ending July 4, the Public Health Service says. This was about three times as many as in the same week last year.

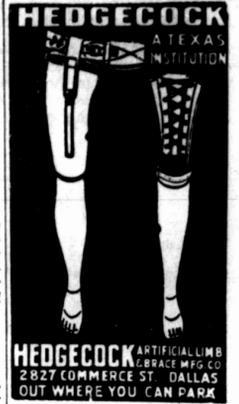

Only New England seems to be maintaining a relative immunity.

Collision Is Fatal

JUNCTION (AP)—A head-on auto collision 19 miles east of here yesterday killed Mrs. Ann Ramsey, 24, of Corpus Christi. Her husband, Richard, and the couple's three children and the driver of the other car, Carol Shubert of Bandera, received injuries.

Lake Skier Drowns

WACO (AP)—James Ridgeway, 30, drowned yesterday while water skiing on Lake Belton. He was a Ft. Hood soldier.

"Why I'll always depend on TSO for my eye care"

1. "I needed an eye examination and wanted to be absolutely sure of getting the very best professional attention. I was afraid that such service would be expensive."

2. "Then, several friends recommended TSO for dependable eye care, backed by years of experience with thousands of completely satisfied patients. The cost would surprise me, they said."

3. "How right they were! The Doctor of Optometry at TSO was thorough and careful in his examination. There was no doubt about his diagnosis being accurate. I needed glasses, just as I had suspected."

4. "My glasses from TSO were prescribed and fitted to perfection . . . the quality was excellent. Just as I had been told, I was pleasantly surprised at the reasonable cost. I'LL ALWAYS DEPEND ON TSO FOR MY EYE CARE."

A Devotional For Today

My God will supply every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 4:19)

PRAYER: Eternal Provider, we thank Thee for all demonstrations of need being met, even in the lives of birds. In the midst of Thy bounty, teach us humility, that we may be worthy of Thy care. In the name of Him who is our Saviour. Amen.

The Right To Social Relationships

Dr. Ralph Bunche, a Negro, is an outstanding credit to his race and to his country, a Nobel prize winner, and prominent figure in United Nations activities. He has earned and deserves every honor that has come his way.

It became known this week that Dr. Bunche and his son had been denied membership in the exclusive West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, N. Y. The club president had informed him the club excludes Negroes and Jews. (The younger Bunche had been taking tennis lessons from the club pro, and the club had invited outstanding Negro players on occasion.)

There will, of course, be a great outcry against this incident. But an essential part of American citizenship is the right to form ourselves into various organizations of a social or cultural nature and to set our own rules regarding membership. This right is enjoyed by all races, and all races practice it, of whatever color or creed. If the time ever comes when Americans of all races and creeds are denied this privilege of voluntary association for mutual pleasure or social enjoyment under prescribed rules, thousands of organizations will cease to exist.

A Protestant would not expect to be welcomed into the Catholic Knights of Columbus. A Christian would not expect membership in the Jewish B'nai B'rith. A relatively poor man would not expect the Bankers' Club to take him in. A white man would feel out of place in the innermost kiva of the Pueblo Indians.

In these times of agitation over civil rights we sometimes lose perspective. Civil rights and social partiality are not the same thing.

Sense Of Trust In Bargaining

With its expiration date approaching, the truce in the steel-wage negotiations apparently has not served any vital purpose. There is still only the slimmest of hope that a strike can be averted.

The two months of talk that went on had as much air of futility about them as any Geneva between the foreign ministers. It is an unhappy commentary on the effectiveness of the bargaining process that this should be so, and that a strike should from the outset be regarded inevitable.

Five times since 1946 the steel industry has been clamped shut by strikes. Another this year would make it six in the last thirteen—nearly one every other year.

Nobody has to be told that steel is a vital underpinning for the whole United States economy, supplying as it does 40 per cent of the raw materials used by other manufacturers, plus products needed by most others. The harm done to the steady flow of economic activity in the nation is obvious. The affected general public may one day lose patience with negotiating which is so barren of promise that nothing but failure can be predicted even before it begins.

The answer can hardly be to have the government intervene to force a solution. President Eisenhower seems on sound ground when he declines to take that step.

If free collective bargaining has the potential for producing reasonable wage and other agreements between management and labor, it must prosper itself. The trouble in the steel industry may be that over the last decade or more both sides have come to take more and more rigid positions.

There is little common basis of mutually agreed facts. Each side stands inflexibly on its own version of the facts, mistrusting the other. Successful bargaining in any field requires a foundation of good faith. It demands a sense of trust. These things seem to be lacking today in these important negotiations.

Unless a way is found to restore them, the nation seems destined to suffer repeated crippling wasteful strikes in this industry.

Where The Party Leadership Really Is

WASHINGTON — There's something more fundamental than a mere difference of opinion on party policies in the controversy that has arisen between Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the two Democratic leaders in Congress — House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas. The real question is: raises is whether anyone ought to hold the post of national chairman who is not a member of the leadership group of the party itself in Congress.

A national chairman nowadays has no responsibility for party policy. He is not a part of the legislative process. Nor is he part of any branch of the government. There was a time when postmaster general did serve as national chairman, and at least he identified them with the President's Cabinet sessions where national policies were discussed. Today, while the Democrats control only Congress, the leaders in the Senate and House do shape party policy nationally.

Plainly it is in Congress where national issues have been origin and where one party or the other must take responsibility for the kind of laws that are passed and for the way the public's money is spent.

A national chairman has no direct connection today with all this and usually uses his time mostly to go around the country working with the party organizations in the various states. But here, too, he is not alone. There are state chairmen who are supposed to build the state organizations.

The national chairman is, of course, a mouthpiece of the party, but should he be its official leader, too, and what should be his relationship to the elected leaders of the party in Congress?

The Republicans have just chosen as their national chairman Senator Thorton Morton of Kentucky. While he isn't the Senate's Republican leader, he is much more identified with Republican policy operations in Congress than his counterpart, Mr. Butler, is with Democratic policy-making in the Senate or the House.

In Britain, the two spokesmen for the major parties are part of the governmental apparatus, one being in the Cabinet and the other the leader of the opposition party in Parliament.

Is Another Inflation Whirl Getting Started?

It's official. Better times are incontestably here. Men and women again have money to buy freedom from one another. Prothonotary D. Barlow Burke, of Philadelphia, has wrapped America's complex economic indicators into a single, rounded statistic: In the first six months of this year, 23 per cent more divorce suits were started in Common Pleas Court than in the corresponding period of 1958.

Divorces are "fairly expensive forms of litigation," says Burke. When times are "bad," as in the first half of 1958, people can't afford them. But when payrolls rise, traffic in the divorce court picks up.

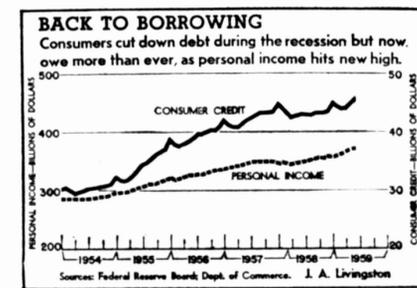

The economic data rolling in from Washington, Detroit, Pittsburgh, and retail stores everywhere support Burke's conclusion. The recovery is "surprisingly robust," says one high Washington official. It could become too robust and boom. His problem: To stretch out prosperity and avoid a peak-a-boo-boo.

The advance has now outstanced the 1954-55 recovery. Yet, a month ago that could not have been said. Moreover, the advance is broadly based, whereas the 1954-55 advance was propelled primarily by automobiles.

To be sure, a 110 per cent jump in steel production gave strong impetus to the current recovery, as users "bought protection" against a strike. This suggests some flattening out in the next few months. But employment, housing, and consumer spending are now strong. Even the auto industry has picked itself up from the 1958 floor. The per cent gain in auto output is actually greater than in 1954-55 but the rise began from a much lower level.

The following table compares the respective gains during the first 13 months of the two recoveries. In nine out of 14 items, the 1958-59 improvement has been greater:

Industrial Output	15	21
Personal Income	9	8
Retail Sales	11	11
Employment	4	5
Unemployment	-34	-33
Housing Starts	5	36
Steel Output	48	110
Auto Output	65	89
Consumer Credit	19	7
Carloadings	22	33
Business Failures	-10	-22
New Incorporations	22	47
Wages	9	12
Stock Prices	56	38

The willingness of consumers to go into debt as well as into the divorce court further attests to the robustness of the recovery. In May, consumer credit amounted to $45,300,000,000, a new top. This reflects the rise in personal income to a new high (see chart).

Installment credit accounts for $35,000,000,000 of this. Automobile instalment debt, though rising, is still $600,000,000 below the September 1957 peak. In the 1955-56-57 auto-sales boom, automobile instalment debt rose 60 per cent.

The recovery is reflected in tendencies of prices to rise in clothing, textiles, and metal markets. Hence, President Eisenhower's assertion that inflation will be the big 1960 campaign issue. Is a new inflation round in the making?

Government bonds imply so. They have fallen to new lows. Yields of 4.5 per cent are now obtainable on some issues. Short-term Treasury securities are creeping up on the long-term rates. Indeed, yields on one-year bills are higher — 4.8 per cent.

Why? The business recovery makes investors more avid for stocks. They want a hedge against inflation. They fear that bonds purchased today will yield decreased buying power tomorrow.

They're re-convinced that higher earnings of corporations will ultimately bring higher dividends, 8 or 9 per cent and the 1.5-point differential between the yield on industrial stocks, now 3 per cent, and high-grade bonds.

Wall Street's optimism is reflected in the undertone in the stock market. Recently, the number of stocks making new highs has far exceeded the number making new lows. Also daily advances have exceeded declines. During 47 most of June, it was the other way around.

Lately had a recent cartoon aplicable to the present mood. The president of the Gimmicks Products Corp. complains to his directors that people are buying the company's stock instead of the company's product. This isn't happening in the United States as a whole, as retail sales indicate up 11 per cent since the recession low. But it is happening in investment markets as money goes into stocks rather than bonds.

Effect: You and I will find it more costly to finance purchases of homes, automobiles, refrigerators, State and local governments, even as the federal government, will have to pay higher rates on their borrowing. So will corporations. This could slow up capital expenditures. But when? Evidence of a slowdown is yet to appear.

Slight Decrease In Acre Yield Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says a less obliging Mother Nature this year may keep crop production from matching last year's record.

Conditions prevailing July 1 indicated, however, that this year's output may be well above the previous record set in 1948 and matched in 1956 and 1957. If current estimates are borne out, the crop volume would be 4 per cent below last year but 6 per cent above the previous record.

In a crop report issued late yesterday, the department said moisture supplies and growing weather have been less favorable as a whole this year than last. As a consequence, acre yields may fall below last year to more than offset a slight increase in the total acreage planted this year.

In any event, it appears that bountiful supplies will be produced and that the corn crop will set a new record. A corn crop of 4,224,000,000 bushels was forecast. This is more than 10 per cent above last year's record of 3,800,000,000. Farmers were encouraged to plant corn by the removal of all government controls.

But this big increase in corn is not expected to add very much to the current sizable surplus of livestock feed grains. Offsetting the big corn crop will be smaller crops of oats, barley and sorghum grains.

The wheat crop declined slightly in June to an estimated 1,155,000,000 bushels. This is a fifth less than last year's record but 7 per cent above average.

The report forecast larger crops than last year for rice, dry peas, sweet potatoes, tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets and hops. Smaller crops were indicated for flaxseed, dry beans and hay. No forecast was given for soybeans and peanuts, but smaller acreages were planted to these crops last year.

Dryness was said to be hampering crops in Middle and Lower Atlantic areas, the Northern Plains and the Southwest.

Around The Rim

Chili Joints With Real Atmosphere

Now this is not about the eating places in Big Spring. They've been reasonably good to me, and I want to say a nice word for them. Matter of fact, I am happy to return home, go into a place to order the special or steak with appropriate trimmings, and just have the food and eat it.

You know what's happening in the cities? They're opening these places of the art of cuisine, with considerably more emphasis on the palace than upon the cuisine.

Fellow (again in the cities) wants to start a restaurant these days, he doesn't worry about serving better brisket than anybody else. What he has to worry about is an architectural motif, the interior decor, the "atmosphere" — and then what manner of raiment to put on his help.

I got into the city and on three successive nights was subjected to three successive "atmosphere" palaces de cuisine. This, boy, is an experience.

One of these noble establishments took on the motif of darkest Africa. I suppose, I won't call it that, but there was everything in that place but roaring lions. The waiters were great black boys attired in something that passed for the mode of the dark continent, with massive turbans on their heads as the center of attraction, as one might say.

All over the place were big copper and brass jugs and trays and coffee containers, and on the walls were rich tapestries. The knife held waiter used wasn't standard American cutlery, but a weapon fit to wear in a Berber's sash.

The menu carried some exotic numbers, all unpronounceable, and of dubious content, as far as I was concerned. You're supposed to try these concoctions when you get into these "atmosphere" places, but the steak turned out all right.

There was another really glamorous place, this one with the Mediterranean motif, north African side, and had everything but desert sand on the floor. I don't know how authentic the proprietor's research is, but here were waitresses wandering around with veils over their faces. Sort of intriguing, except when the poor girls tried to talk to the patrons. The male employees were all fitted out like Mohammedans, too. More Far Eastern furniture and trappings all around the place, and even this emporium had continuous wailing music, like right out of Morocco, and I expected to see snakes climb right out of baskets any time.

They may have had sautéed reptile for all I know — there were some offerings I couldn't read — but the steak turned out all right.

Then there was this western place, and you know what fancies of the imagination. You flow here. The waitresses this time were dazzling in white cowboy regalia, tight pants, fringed shirt, white hats and boots, and all carrying a brace of big six-guns. These girls could talk to the patrons all right — sort of out of the side of their mouths — but had difficulty in carrying the trays, on account of being weighted down with the guns.

The room, as you would know, is all scorched up with brands, and the music this time consisted of some guys with fiddles and guitars.

You're supposed to have anything but steak here, and it turned out all right.

In the one place, I really looked for a giraffe to pop out at the cashier's desk; in the other I felt that momentarily we should have to bow down toward Mecca; in the last, I would not have been surprised if the chef came out for a bulldogging act.

What's going to happen if some smart restaurateur decides to open a "Nudist's Nook," and decorates the place and the help in keeping with the motif? Guess the steak will turn out all right.

Like Your Job And It Likes You

Do you like your job? I've asked many people this and notice a significant fact. Those who give an emphatic and enthusiastic "Yes!" are invariably doing their job well. But those who hesitate, equivocate or come out with a flat "No" seem to range all the way from fair, to so-so, to poor in job performance.

Those who get pleasure from their jobs are doing more than just putting in time. They feel they are doing something important and making a constructive contribution.

Take for example Helen A. Lysaght, an International Representative of Eastern Air Lines. Her job at Idlewild Airport is to do all she can for everybody. Idlewild is a huge place and can be somewhat confusing and bewildering to the ordinary traveler — what with its distances, crowds and bustle. Miss Lysaght enthusiastically told me of the fun she has in helping people, guiding them, and generally making their trips a pleasure.

Sadly enough, many people look upon their jobs as "just a job." They've got to work to buy the groceries and five o'clock hardly comes around before they are on their way like a shot. Of course, that's all the time they were hired for, but it's something to conjure up: They will probably be working with the same minimum interest in their job, nine-to-five and out, twenty years from now.

But is there who set their own working time, who become leaders later on, the presidents and vice presidents. They are the people who give only secondary thought to working time limitations. They like what they are doing so much that they just keep working away at it of their own accord and desire and have a grand time doing so.

Of course, it may be you don't want to become a manager or executive. It means a lot of work and responsibility, and that may not appeal to you. Sure — but if you watch a top man working, more than likely you'll see a fellow who really enjoys meeting and solving problems and who gets a big thrill out of creating something. Actually that is one of the greatest pleasures in life, solving problems and creating something.

But, you may ask, how can you like a job when you're on a routine shift, say, in a big plant? Where you're only a cog and a small one at that. Or what if you are one of the thousands in a huge office building pouring in in the morning and out in the afternoon? Well, the answer is that you have to take the job that you do and relate it to the whole process of which it is a vital part. For example, the man who works on an airplane wing can see that wing strong and sturdy carrying a hundred people safely through a storm. How well he does his seemingly small function may determine safe landings for a big airplane made by him and his fellow workers. His sense of responsibility and importance to the success of the whole operation enhances his part in it.

Our modern complicated economy depends upon the services of vast numbers of people and every process, however humble, must be done capably if the whole thing is to go well. No one person who does his job well is ever unimportant. The more people there are who like their jobs and do them well, the happier everyone is.

So start liking your job and see how much better it likes you.

Speaker Rayburn Knows His Way Around

WASHINGTON — Sam Rayburn is 77 years old. Serving his eighth full term as Speaker of the House, he has begun to hear the thunder of discontent on the left.

It is generated by those who are dissatisfied with the record of the Congress. With Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler they feel that the big majorities of last November should have been translated into progressive legislation.

They see that even when Rayburn and Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson try to cut the cloth to the Eisenhower budget-balancing pattern, as in the housing bill, the President nevertheless uses his veto power. Increasingly embittered, many Democrats believe their leaders have fallen into a trap deliberately set by the Republicans on the spending issue.

But Rayburn's loyal lieutenants, and they include some of the ablest men in the House, insist that the critics are ignoring two major factors. First is the enormous complexity of legislation designed to solve contemporary problems. Second, the more serious, is the political fragmentation within the two parties as they are mirrored in the House.

Shortly the Rayburn leadership will try to pass a labor reform bill. This will be a very tough test indeed of whether the fragments can be put together to get a majority for a measure that goes a reasonable distance toward reform.

It is like trying to pull a single straw out of a tangled heap of jackstraws without bringing the whole structure down in hopeless confusion. The pressure of the Teamsters' Union to block any bill is powerful involving votes and perhaps also contributions in the form of "campaign contributions."

Dating from the simon pure days when supposedly government had no right to interfere with the freedom of the trade unions, John L. Lewis is also opposed to any legislation. Through his complete and unchallenged hold on the United Mine Workers he controls from 12 to 18 votes in the House.

On the other side of the fence, organized industry is demanding a far sterner measure than the Kennedy-Ervin bill passed by the Senate. Republicans would be far from unhappy if the session ends with failure to do anything about the flagrant abuses exposed and exposed again. This would be another shame pinned on the Democratic donkey.

If a measure does come out of the rules committee and if it does pass it will be a compromise, conceding something to the unions on the question of membership and something to management in tighter restraints on the worst racketeers. With his profound knowledge of the makeup of the House, and with the aid of such skilled lieutenants as Representative Richard Bolling of Missouri, Rayburn may pull it off.

What is quite evident is that no one else in his place could come close to it. Having slowed down at 77, he is still in his best hours a master of the game of jackstraws that must be played if any legislation is to come out of the 438 members who make up the conglomerate body over which he has so long presided.

A Southerner, a Texan, he has lived with the reality of a divided party all his life. Only rarely, as in the days of his majority leadership in the New Deal era, has it functioned strongly and effectively as a national party.

More recently Rayburn has lived with the reality of a minority leader — Charles A. Halleck of Indiana — who is ruthless and ambitious. Skillfully Halleck has played up to the Southern Democrats, using them, as in the bill to alter the Supreme Court, for his own ends. Nothing would please him more than to have the two Democratic parties fall out violently over civil rights.

This is the most obvious reason why it has been decided in the Rayburn command that no civil rights bill can clear the House. Another reason, given by the moderates who want to prevent a head-on collision between the two Democratic parties, is that the diehards have had to give way in the South and at least a token acceptance of integration is now occurring. Further legislation at this stage might do more harm than good.

Whether it is because he has ruled so long and with such a stern hand or whether it is a reflection of the troubled times, there is one thing Rayburn's friends and foes tend to agree on: As for the Speaker, he is, in the old tradition, sawing wood and saying little.

Bible Words for Today

I CORINTHIANS 15:10 "By the grace of God I am what I am, and his grace toward me was not in vain". (RSV)

The beginning of wisdom is a recognition that we are not self made men but that it is by the grace of God that we are where we are in life and have what we have. We might as easily have been born in a different country or with a different pigment in our skins but for the grace of God. This recognition will humble us for we will recognize how little we deserve his goodness and how dependent we are upon him for everything.

To the devout man there will be more, for he will want to respond to such love by seeking to measure up to God's confidence in him. Paul certainly was aware of God's conversion of his life and in response gave himself completely to the service of God. We can do no less if we become aware "that we are not our own but that we were brought with a price!"

Teachers Ponder Problems Of Training Handicapped Child

Ways in which community, state and national resources can be mobilized to provide the best possible training for handicapped children were explored by a battery of experts in the field of special education Thursday at Abilene State School.

More than 100 special education teachers were on hand for the symposium on Exceptional Children, sponsored by Hardin-Simmons University and the state school. The program climaxed six weeks of graduate-level courses being taught at H-SU this summer.

Teachers Compare Notes

Special education teachers from a wide area were on hand for a symposium on exceptional children Thursday at Abilene State School. The group heard a battery of experts tell how community, state and national resources can be mobilized to help the handicapped child toward emotional, social and vocational maturity. The symposium was sponsored by the state school and Hardin-Simmons University which are cooperating in providing training leading to certification of special education teachers. Left to right are Gertrude Johnson, Coleman teacher; Wayne Campbell, director of education at the state school; Mrs. Johnnie Smith, Breckenridge teacher; and Mrs. Margaret Coffey, Big Spring teacher. Several other Big Spring teachers attended, including a number now enrolled at H-SU.

"They pick up where the school leaves off," Campbell explained. Earlier in the day, the teachers heard Robert E. Wallace, superintendent of Abilene State School, outline the function of the school in connection with public school special education programs.

Accurate and complete diagnosis, one of the services the state school can provide, is essential if teachers are to be able to meet the needs of the handicapped child, Wallace said. Richard Giesse, chief psychologist at the state school and also a member of the H-SU summer faculty, described some of the emotional problems of exceptional children. Dr. John Munsell, discussed the role of the physician in the education of handicapped children.

The symposium was held at Abilene State School, with luncheon served in the cafeteria. It was followed by tours of the school. Guests were welcomed by George L. Graham, director of summer sessions at H-SU.

In addition to students in the SU classes, which lead to teacher certification in the field of special education, delegations were sent from several West Texas schools, including El Paso, Aragon, Fort Worth, Big Spring, Cleburne, Breckenridge, Brownwood and Paducah.

Shelly Smith, director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, outlined community resources which he said should be tapped by special education departments of public schools. He listed the county, state and federal education, and health agencies, child welfare groups and organizations such as the Red Cross.

The family physician, who can provide guidance as well as expert diagnosis, should be enlisted, along with such developmental agencies as the church, park and recreation departments, and the YMCA and YWCA, Smith said.

Wayne Campbell, director of education at Abilene State School and a member of the summer faculty at H-SU, told how special education programs should be aimed at carrying the handicapped child through the various levels of development toward emotional, social and vocational maturity.

Campbell also described work of the rehabilitation section of the Texas Education Agency which said now conducts a program in which counselors take over training of exceptional children in the upper age brackets, providing vocational training and helping to find employment.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

Remember "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine?" You'll probably date yourself if you admit it, but it was a classic of the screen many years back. Now, it's back again with a new cast and a new title. It's now called "Woman Obsessed." Stars Susan Hayward and Stephen Boyd. The locale is in the rugged backwoods of Canada. Miss Hayward, a widow, hires Boyd to help on the farm, but local gossips force them to marry. Young Dennis Holmes, as the half-orphan, hates his new father. The plot is old, but the actors give it a professional polish, as the little family finds its way to the place where they live happily ever after.

Brown and Tony Curtis in a riotous, sexy farce involving two men who put on wigs and dresses hiding out with an all-girl band to escape assassination by hoods from Chicago. George Raft is the chief crook. It is amazing how much double entendre makers of this movie got away with. Equally amazing is the fact that the censors, who are usually ready with the scissors, let all the dirty jokes get by them. Or maybe it's not so amazing, considering the mental level of most censors. "Around the World in 80 Days." (See last week's column, which highly recommends this one.)

Deborah Kerr Gains Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Deborah Kerr has divorced the British television producer, Tony Bartley, charging that he upbraided her and used unkind language.

"Sometimes he wouldn't speak to me for days at a time," she said.

Miss Kerr, 37, married Bartley, 39, in London Nov. 28, 1945. They separated March 27, 1958. Their two daughters, Melanie, 2, and Francesca, 7, will remain under jurisdiction of the High Chancery Court of London.

Producer's Wife Takes Overdose Of Sleeping Pills

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The wife of film producer Harold Hecht is recovering from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Police said she was a possible suicide attempt. But Hecht said: "I really can't believe my wife really meant to take her own life since she left a note to the children asking them to wake her at 8:30 this morning."

Gloria Hecht, 32, was found unconscious Thursday in the couple's Beverly Hills home. Hecht is Burt Lancaster's partner in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster Productions.

Willson Writes Musical's Score

NEW YORK (AP)—The score for the upcoming Broadway musical, "The Unsinkable Mrs. Brown" is to be done by Meredith Willson.

The assignment is the second Broadway workout for Willson, who last year started a boxoffice rush as author-lyricist-composer of "The Music Man."

The show concerns the career of a woman who rose from chambermaid to wealthy matron and who capped her amazing life by surviving the Titanic sinking in 1912.

Old Friends

Susan Hayward and Kirk Douglas are old friends, but not for long. In "Last Train From Gun Hill," Quinn's son took part in the rape-slaying of Douglas' wife, and the latter rides into town bent on vengeance. The action Western may be seen at the Ritz Wednesday through Saturday.

Obsessed

Susan Hayward stars in "Woman Obsessed," modern version of the old classic, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Stephen Boyd co-stars.

Hot?

Marilyn Monroe likes it hot. At least, some do. That's the title of the movie, "Some Like It Hot," in which Marilyn co-stars with Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis. It's a riotous, sexy farce.

Attact, Producer Settle Differences

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Italian film star Silvana Pampanini and Mexican producer Miguel Contreras Torres settled their differences out of court last week and cancelled pending lawsuits against each other.

Miss Pampanini agreed to appear in a movie to be produced by Contreras Torres next year. The contract also calls for a second optional film at a salary of $50,000 ($12,000).

'Raisin' To London

NEW YORK (AP)—The London production of Lorraine Hansberry's prize play "A Raisin in the Sun" will have five American performers.

The cast is to include Earle Hyman, Juanita Moore, Olga James, Kim Hamilton and Scott Cunningham. British players are to have the six other roles. The London premiere is Aug. 5.

Ready For Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—"Detour After Dark" is heading for Broadway after a five-week tryout in the British provinces and a London visit.

The unusual warmup for the Lucia Victor drama was arranged by Producers George Brandt and Richard Bacharach.

Author's Kin In Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Jenny Hecht, 15-year-old daughter of author Ben Hecht, has been awarded the name role in "Simone," a Broadway-bound adaptation of a Lion Feuchtwanger novel being prepared by her father.

Miss Hecht has one previous Broadway appearance to her credit, six years ago in "Mid-Summer."

Russ Film Buyer Works In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The head of Russia's export-import moving picture department is in Mexico buying Mexican films.

Georgiun Bovrov of Sovexport Films told film circles Mexican movies are popular in the Soviet Union.

Gleason On B'Way

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Gleason, television's rotund comic star, is to have a leading role on Broadway next fall in the musical, "Connecticut Summer."

Video Survey Flood Loosed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—The men who live by television have figured out a way to beat a boring summer schedule: they spend their time reading the results of surveys telling them what you and I are looking at and why.

A new flood of surveys seems to have been unleashed within the industry, and one or two are of more than passing interest to the living room viewer.

For instance, NBC is circulating a survey report which shows that most of us think that our television set is the most important thing in our homes, more important than the refrigerator, the stove, the washer-dryer and much, much more important than the beds.

This same survey disclosed, too, that 55.2 per cent of us viewers are completely or mostly satisfied with television. This compares with 49.9 per cent who are satisfied with 1959 automobiles; 40.6 per cent, with popular music, and 10.3 per cent, with the cost of living.

Presumably the study was made before the onset of TV's hot weather doldrums.

Another survey suggests, that women have the upper hand in turning the channel selector dial. This survey says women take the initiative in choosing half-hour dramas, network specials and their favorite —hour-long dramas. They like adventure, mystery and crime shows almost as much as the man of the family; Westerns, a lot less than the menfolk or the children, and it's only one woman in 20 who insists on dialing in a sports spectacle.

Policeman Scores

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Radano, a New York city policeman, is the author of "The Apple Doesn't Fall," scheduled for Broadway showing.

The drama, which won a $500 prize in a writing competition, concerns an Italian-American mother who learns her son is affiliated with the Mafia, powerful underworld organization.

Yanks To London

NEW YORK (AP)—London is to have an American playwriting invasion next fall.

Producer Gene Paul has lined up an agenda which includes "Horses in Mid-Stream," by Andy Rosenthal; "In This House," by Joel Schenker; "Innocent as Hell," a musical by Rosenthal; and "The Deer Park," adapted by Norman Mailer from his novel.

Change Of Scenery

NEW YORK (AP)—The differing theatrical tastes of audiences on opposite sides of the Atlantic is being demonstrated again by the comedy "Patate."

The play closed here last fall after seven performances, loss of $85,000. But it is rocking along in Paris, a happy hit in its fourth year.

Trio Is Busy

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee Guber, Frank Ford and Shelly Gross are a busy producing trio this summer. They operate three theaters and in addition package all of the productions that play the tour circuit.

ALL IN THE PLAY

An Honest Jury Berated By Judge

It is a puzzlement. Here the jury is empaneled from the audience. They hear the case. They give an honest verdict. And they're chewed out by the judge.

It doesn't matter which verdict they give, they're still thoroughly reamed from the bench.

Well, it so happens that the script of "Night of January 16th" was designed so that every shred of evidence, every facet of character, is exactly balanced by an opposite. And doubt is cast on all evidence and all characters.

If one were to reduce all the factors of the plot to mathematical formulae and feed it to an IBM machine, the poor brain would wear itself out.

So, all the verdict reflects is the thinking of the jury.

The script provides for a guilty verdict, or one for acquittal. And the judge's reaming of the jury is the same in either case.

Don't get shook, ex-jurors. It was just a play.

Our old comrade, Glenn Coates, served on the jury at "Night of January 16th." He was originator of the Critique, and it's the main driving force in establishing the Civic Theatre. He gives an interesting viewpoint of the play below.

Something happened to one of the witnesses at the murder trial play. Similar to what happened a few years back to a famous movie star as she walked along Hollywood and Vines. But we promised we wouldn't tell, so we won't. All that can be said is, the engineers shoulda been hanged.

Correction: Mary Magee had the role of a handwriting expert, not that of a ballistics expert.

It's goodbye to Matt Bertalini. The quiet and friendly former airman has been a boon to the Civic Theatre in backstage work.

He was one of that small, hard core of loyal workers who seemingly never think of taking a role onstage, but break their backs to get a set ready on time.

Matt is planning to combine work in an aircraft plant with a course in aeronautical engineering at the University of Washington. It's a long way to Seattle, but Matt has promised to visit all his old friends in Big Spring "some day."

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates

"Not guilty." The jury Thursday night, which included this writer, voted unanimously to free Lida Fivevash from charges of murder in the production of "The Night of January 16th," by Ayn Rand, produced last week by the Big Spring Civic Theatre.

Probably nothing swayed my own vote more than Miss Fivevash's convincing portrayal of Karen Andre, the defendant. I was particularly impressed with her performance on the witness stand which was the high point of the play for me.

I can think of few settings more difficult than the courtroom. Yet, Director John Austin prepared his charges well for the classic drama. I was there opening night and the inevitable missed lines of a first performance did crop up. At times, the pace slackened, but no damage was done to the performance.

The character witnesses did their job well in providing light moments, breaking up the tension created by the opposing attorneys.

I was particularly impressed by the performance of the distaff side of the Magee family, Mary has given almost all her free time to the theater group since the first night it was organized. She has worked diligently with props, make-up, costumes, prompting and all the other minutiae of getting a play before the audience.

In this production, she had a speaking part as a witness. As I expected, she was perfect.

I hope this is not the last time we see her on stage.

Dalton Conway turned in a fine job as Judge Heith and he conducted his court with the somberness of Judge Charlie Sullivan's District Court. The silent people on stage, did their jobs well in providing the proper atmosphere. The set itself was well done.

We need to see more of Cassie Smith in future productions. Marjorie Havins, John Findlater, Gordon Wheeler, Jack Boyd, Doyle Phillips, Martha Conway, and Fred Short were outstanding in their character parts.

Jim Tom Baker and Mike Maeny as the opposing attorneys were well rehearsed and turned in fine performances.

The entire play was well handled and I will admit that I had the best seat I have ever had at a play anywhere. It is unfortunate that more vehicles do not have seats on stage for the audience.

Actually, I do not like this particular play. It is difficult to perform satisfactorily and demands possibly too much from the actor-attorneys. It is for this reason that I was pleased with the local production. The players made a difficult play look easy as well as enjoyable.

With this calibre of talent available, the future of the BSCT appears as illustrious as its past.

City Commission Agenda Is Crowded With Many Issues

The Big Spring City Commission faces a crowded agenda Tuesday, due to the three week gap between regular meetings. The commissioners will meet at 5:15 p.m. in the commission room of the Municipal Building.

One of the top items on the agenda will be canvassing the results of Saturday's low rent housing election. The commission will consider further action as a result of the final count.

The committee that was appointed to make recommendations regarding the use of Moss Creek Lake has turned in its report. It involves the fishermen-boater controversy and the commission may change the present ordinance.

Water problems again face the council members and they will consider requests from the Big Spring Country Club and the John Cherry Subdivision for water service. Both petitioners are outside the city limits.

Regulation of firms that cut through city streets may be forthcoming. The council members will discuss a possible new ordinance that would require all companies to pay for repair of streets they have damaged in laying various utility lines. At present, the taxpayers pay for this repair.

The annual audit, as prepared by Hilliard-Jones and Company, will be offered for consideration. Other routine matters before the commission includes recommendations from the Citizens Traffic Commission and the Planning and Zoning Commission. The latter meets Monday in the commission room at 5:15 p.m.

The third reading of an ordinance that would change Block 117 and the north half of Block 116, original town, from a Zone B residential, to Zone G, industrial, will be heard.

A sales contract between the city and Cecil Thixton, which gives the commissioners a three year option to purchase the north

Killed In Crash

ROCKPORT (AP) — A head-on auto collision near here last night killed Mrs. D. H. Brannon, about 60, of Aransas Pass, Miss Marcell Jones, 19, a Texas A&I student, driver of Mrs. Brannon's auto, and Erwin Von Cady, 25, of Aransas Pass, driver of the other auto, were injured.

half of Block 1 of the May Thixton Addition for $20,000, will be read and considered.

Other business includes a routine amendment to the traffic ordinance, making various traffic signals and signs an official part of the ordinance.

Highway Patrol Reports 44 June Mishaps In This Area

Traffic accidents in Howard County during June took one life, injured eight persons and caused damage to 16 vehicles, the state highway patrol reported. Dollar damage resulting from these accidents totalled $16,405.

These are classified as "rural" accidents — mishaps which occurred elsewhere than on a city street.

Billy P. Smith, sergeant at the Midland Substation of the Texas Highway patrol, said Saturday that there were 44 accidents in the area encompassing Borden, Dawson, Glasscock, Howard, Martin, Midland and Reagan Counties in June.

Three persons died in these accidents, 17 persons were injured and property damage was caused in 25 of the crashes. The three persons killed were in two accidents. Sgt. Smith said total property damage resulting from these accidents was $44,650. The statistics show an increase of seven accidents and one more death than occurred in the same counties last June.

In the same period this year, the patrol officers made 240 arrests for traffic violations. These included 14 for DWI, 146 for speeding, 8 for improper passing, 9 for driving on the wrong side of the road, 29 for defective equipment and 42 for other types of road law violations.

For the entire area served by the Midland Substation there were 19 fatal accidents in which 15 persons died, 50 in which personal injuries occurred, 83 in which personal damage developed, and 81 were injured. Total number of accidents was 142 and money damage ran $130,380. There are 24 West Texas counties in the district.

Hangar Plans To Be Studied By Commission

Plans for construction of a large hangar at the county airport will be shown to the Commissioners Court when it meets Monday.

County Judge Ed Carpenter said that Bill French, of the Puckett & French architectural firm, was to present the plans to the court. Carpenter said that French and Bill Standifer, fixed base operator of the airport, have been working on the plans in an effort to come up with a design which will match the county's funds.

Standifer will also use the hangar as an office for the present. The county plans to pay for construction of the hangar, but Standifer will pay for it over a 15-year period.

The court will probably talk about aviation easements around the airport, too, Judge Carpenter said. Only four easements remain to be settled, he said. Carpenter has been instructed by the court to file condemnation suits on the persons not settling by July 15, which is next Wednesday.
