Texas Air Tourists To Be Here On Oct. 6

This group worked out plans for the Texas Air Tour to come to Big Spring on Oct. 6 to take part in dedicating the new Howard County Airport. They met Tuesday morning at Settles Hotel. Left to right, standing, Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, Cecil Hamilton, airport operator, Clyde McMahon, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce; seated, Clyde Thomas Sr., attorney and amateur pilot, Jack Cook, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee; Cliff Green, Austin, director of Texas Aeronautics Commission, Asa Burroughs, director of the 1959 Texas Air Tour and Lieut. Col. D. W. Pendergrass, Webb Air Force Base.

Merchants Fix Special Sales Observances

A series of special sales promotion dates and season activities was approved by the Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in a meeting Tuesday morning.

One calendar change sets September Dollar Day on Monday, Aug. 31. This event is being changed because the first Monday—customary Dollar Day observance—will be the Labor Day holiday.

The group also voted to fix dates of Sept. 17-18-19 as city wide "Better Buy Days," a cooperative program in which all establishments will offer special values.

A kick-off program for Back-to-School merchandising was placed on the calendar for Aug. 9.

The seasonal "Felt Hat Day" observance will be on Friday, Sept. 11.

And the official opening of the Christmas shopping season—with parade, Santa's visit and general festivities of the holiday season—will be on Monday, Nov. 30.

Another special occasion noted by the C-C group is Oil Progress Week, which opens Oct. 11. This year's observance marks the 50th anniversary of the nation's oil industry.

Principals Hired For C-City Schools

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City School Board hired two new principals Monday night to fill vacancies in the high school and junior high school.

A. T. Barrett 34, now a principal at Sonora, will replace Charles Graham as principal of high school. Barrett will receive $7,000 annually. He will assume his new duties Aug. 1, according to Frank Wilson, superintendent of schools.

Eugene M. Finley 41, was hired as principal of the junior high school and will replace Curtis Latimer, whose resignation was accepted Monday night. Finley's salary will be $6,000 a year and he has been a principal at Las Fresno, near Brownsville.

Miss Wool Weds, Disturbs Officials

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Miss Wool isn't a miss any more, and officials of the National Wool Pageant here are wondering what to do next.

Miss Beverly Bentley of Albuquerque, N.M., the current Miss Wool, disclosed Monday she is now Mrs. Kenneth McCormick of El Paso, Tex.

Pageant rules call for Miss Wool to reign over the August pageant until a new Miss Wool is chosen from candidates entered by more than a dozen wool producing states.

Blackley Resting

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas businessman William A. Blackley spent another restless night and was reported comfortable at Baylor Hospital today. Blackley, one-time U.S. Senator, was stricken with a heart attack last Friday.

50 PLANES—125 PEOPLE Texas Air Tour To Be Here For Oct. 6 Port Dedication

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce was assured today that the Texas Air Tour will route its October travels to bring the flying Texans here on Oct. 6.

They will join with Howard County in celebrating dedication of the new county airport on that date.

Cliff Green, director of Texas Aeronautics Commission, and Asa Burroughs, managing director of the 1959 Texas Air Tour, both of Austin, were here today to confer with officials on the part the tour can have in the dedication.

They met with the aviation committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at breakfast in Settles Hotel.

An agreement was made with the two Austin men that the tour would schedule its itinerary to bring the 50 or 60 privately operated airplanes and their 125 passengers to Big Spring at 3 p.m. on Oct. 6.

Their schedule calls for the tour to open on Oct. 3 starting from Temple. It ends in Galveston on Oct. 10. On Oct. 6, the tourists are to eat a barbecue luncheon in Brownfield. They will take off for

Big Spring immediately afterward and will land at the new airport from 3 to 3:30 p.m. that afternoon. They will participate in the dedication and later will be entertained with some sort of social function. After spending the night in Big Spring, they will take off Oct. 7 at 8:30 a.m. for Marfa.

At the conference this morning were Jack Cook, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, Clyde Thomas Sr., Clyde McMahon, Lieut. Col. D. W. Pendergrass, Cecil Hamilton and Bill Quimby.

Prison Rebels, Holed Up In Mine, Release One Hostage

PETROS, Tenn. (AP)—Rebellious prisoners at Brushy Mountain State Prison today released one of the three hostages they held about a mile underground in a coal mine.

Warden Frank Llewellyn said Shirley Bunch, 63, was turned loose because he was ill. Bunch, one of the three foremen taken Monday as hostage, walked into the prison administration building shortly before mid-morning.

He appeared to be all right. He was taken immediately into an area where newsmen were excluded.

The warden said Pat Patterson, assistant corrections commissioner, was talking to 8 or 10 spokesmen for the 95 rebellious convicts still underground, 26 hours after they first seized the hostages.

Gov. Buford Ellington, meantime, ordered Patterson to make no further concessions to the convicts.

"There'll be no more food, no more water and no more bargaining," the governor ordered in a telephone call from Nashville.

Patterson appeared optimistic about the chances of ending the rebellion.

"They may decide to come down at any time," Patterson said.

Pageant, Barbecue High Points In Stanton Jubilee

The opening night of the Jubilarama, the Old Settlers Barbecue, and a giant parade head today's activities of the Diamond Jubilee Celebration of the founding of Stanton.

Large crowds thronged the city streets Monday as Stanton merchants gave away lemonade and handed out merchandise at prices prevalent in 1884. Merchants said they had an excellent business during the day.

Tom Castle, Knott, won the Old Fiddlers Contest and was awarded the first prize money of $15. Johnny Tunnell, Midland, took second place money of $10. There was a field of seven competing in the contest. Several other fiddlers, who did not enter the contest, were on hand to play for the crowd.

The Jubilee Queen, Gracie Welch of Tarzan, and the Princess, Sandra Kelley of Stanton, are to be introduced in ceremonies today at 3 p.m. This event is followed by a huge parade at 4 p.m. of floats, bands, horse riders, old cars, buggies and wagons.

The Old Settlers barbecue is scheduled for the park at 6 p.m. and memorial services will be held for those who have died during the year. A picnic on the court house lawn is set for all participants other than the Old Settlers.

At 8:30 p.m. the premiere performance of the Jubilarama will be held on the giant stage at the football field. The stage is 250 feet across and 300 Martin County residents will take part in the pageant. The spectacle includes special costumes, lighting and scenes. It will portray a history of the city and area, the producers report, from Indian arrows to rockets.

PLAN FRIDAY EVE MOTORCADE TO STANTON'S 'JUBILARAMA'

Organization of a special Big Spring motorcade to attend Stanton's historical pageant on Friday night was being undertaken today.

Members of the Retail Committee of the Chamber of Commerce voted to help work up a large delegation. All Big Springers who will go Friday night are asked to meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at 7 p.m. Special identification badges will be provided.

Stanton tonight starts a week-long observance of its 75th Jubilee, and a special attraction is the historical spectacle, "Jubilarama." This will be nightly, at the football field, beginning at 8:30.

Although several local people may be attending on other nights, C-C committee leaders hoped that a special Big Spring crowd can be made up for Friday evening, as an outstanding good-neighbor gesture to the Stanton celebration.

U. S. Employment Hits A New High

HOUSE MEMBERS ANGRY Speaker Carr Pledges Try At Breaking Taxes Deadlock

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Waggoner Carr today promised angry, frustrated House members he would try again to break the tax deadlock with the Senate.

Rep. Mauro Rosas, El Paso, chairman of the House conferees, said the five-member group had asked Carr "to get in touch with Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and see if he wouldn't appoint a conference committee."

Carr told the group that he had made that request Saturday "and would do it again," Rosas said.

Meanwhile, there were widespread reports of growing resentment against the Speaker by members who have blamed him for at least part of the Legislature's stalemate on taxation. Several members who would not be quoted by name said they had attended or heard of a meeting at which Carr's ouster was discussed.

On the Senate side of the Capitol, all the speculation was on when the third special session would be called. There was no talk of "if" one would be called.

Rosas quoted Carr as saying that he had been informed "that the Senate doesn't want to meet" with the House conference group named Saturday by Carr.

The Senate put the House squarely on the spot after the House refused to accept the 182-million-dollar conference committee version of the tax bill. The House conferees were named last week.

The disdainful Senate then showed its power. It ignored the House request that it authorize a new conference committee to try to smash the tax paralysis.

Sensors said today they had heard of no new effort to grant the request which the House made by an 81-64 vote.

The consensus in the upper house was that it is too late now to finish the taxing and spending job.

Many senators said they thought the third special session would not be called until after Aug. 1. The current session ends at midnight Thursday.

Reps. Jerry Sadler, Palestine, and George Hinson, Mineola, said they would demand that Carr "undo what he has done in getting the Senate to refuse the appointment of a new conference committee."

Carr yesterday denied the charge that he had used any influence in bringing the Senate blockade. Hinson said today, "We know it is a fact that he did."

The basic dispute between the House and Senate is over the natural gas levy. The Senate flatly refuses to consider a severance beneficiary tax on gas intended for export, but it did put on a one per cent production tax increase.

Members of the new House conference committee are advocates of the severance tax plan.

Deep silence greeted a message from the House carrying the news that the House overwhelmingly turned down the conference tax

West Accuses Red Minister Of Obstruction

GENEVA (AP) — The Western ministers accused Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today of obstructionist tactics with his demand that German representatives be included in secret Big Four talks. They said he was slowing down negotiations for a Berlin agreement.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany this morning at Herter's headquarters on the "tactics for the remainder of the conference," a U.S. spokesman announced.

Their chief immediate problem is what to do about Gromyko's unexpected bid to win Western recognition for Communist East Germany.

Asst. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding said "no initiative has yet been taken" by the West on that subject—that none of the Western ministers has made an effort to get Gromyko to drop his requirement.

"The Gromyko move," said Berding, "is regarded by the Western ministers as being obstructionist and having the effect of slowing down the conference."

Asked what he meant by a slowdown, he said: "It simply means that we had hoped that right today we would be in a private session with Gromyko at Secretary Herter's villa, it being his turn to act as host. We should be right in the midst of serious work here. The only way you can get serious negotiations is in private sessions and Gromyko has put the kibosh on private sessions, at least for the time being."

German representatives did not take part in any of the informal, secret sessions in the first six weeks of the conference. They sat in the formal meetings as advisers.

Gromyko declared it was unjust to exclude the Germans.

Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville instantly rejected this.

As a result of the procedural dispute, a secret session Herter proposed for today was not scheduled. There is no indication when the ministers will get down to bargaining in private. Another plenary session was called for Wednesday.

report, a sales tax-weighted 182 million dollar measure. The report was largely a Senate product.

Pressure was put on the House yesterday to backtrack its rejection. All efforts failed. New trials were scheduled today after another night of frantic vote-switching efforts.

The bill was approved 24-7 by the Senate last week.

It was highly favored by the natural gas lobby and lawmakers opposed to Gov. Price Daniel's pipeline tax plan. Speaker Waggoner Carr worked for it.

Daniel then joined the opposition, saying he was "reluctantly" endorsing the measure as the only plan he thought the Legislature would take to balance the budget for the two fiscal years starting Sept. 1, and retire the current general fund deficit.

Tension and hard-fighting developed in the House yesterday over reconsideration of the vote by which the revenue measure was rejected.

Carr charged Saturday the tax bill was defeated by "obstructionists."

Rep. Jerry Sadler, Palestine, said "apparently you are an obstructionist if you don't see eye-to-eye with the minority."

Rep. Charles Hughes, Sherman, said "from fairly reliable sources it is fairly common knowledge that the Senate did not appoint a conference committee at the request of Carr."

"That is not true," Carr told the House.

Sen. Wardlaw Lane, Center, said he had no plans to try for another compromise effort. "It would be a physical impossibility to work out another tax bill before the session ends," he said.

Lane was sponsor of the Senate bill and a member of the conference committee whose report was rejected.

Steel Walkout Seems Inevitable

NEW YORK (AP) — A steel strike at midnight loomed inevitably today with union and industry negotiators going through the motions of fruitless last minute bargaining sessions.

The chief industry negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, said there was no change in the bargaining stalemate.

However Cooper and Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald kept talking with fellow negotiators about a possible new contract.

Cooper said the process of closing down the industry in advance of the expected midnight walkout was already well along.

McDonald and Cooper shook hands and willingly posed for a news photographer before starting their final round of sessions. They engaged in their usual banter with newsmen but conceded that neither had any real hope for averting the walkout.

The industry pictured itself as putting a finger in the dike against inflation.

The steel industry stuck firmly to its position that any extra wage and other concessions would be inflationary and contrary to the nation's interest.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, said pyramiding industry profits could pay for substantial pay and other contract increases without accompanying price booms.

In a last-ditch proposal Monday night, McDonald said the union was willing to settle for a package increase in pay and benefits worth 15 cents per hour in each year of a three-year contract.

Steelworkers' now average $3.10 per hour earnings, well ahead of most manufacturing workers. But McDonald maintained that his members are entitled to further substantial increases.

President Eisenhower for many months has been urging steel negotiators to be moderate. The steel industry said its position was grounded on the President's position.

C-City Board Okehs Audit

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Council accepted the annual audit of the city's books as prepared by the firm of Knight and Hart of Abilene at Monday night's regular meeting, and required the firm for three years at an annual salary of $675.

The council also heard Gus D. Chesney, vice president of the City National Bank in a report on the proposed new bank to be erected at Third and Elm Streets in downtown Colorado City. Chesney asked for a traffic study to be made to determine the need for new traffic signals at the site.

The council also:

- Passed a resolution asking the Planning and Zoning Board to recommend zoning of the new area taken into the city limits in a recent annexation.
- Voted to take out parking meters in front of the Post Office on a trial basis and substitute 12 minute parking.
- Voted to buy more parking meters at the rate of 10 a month.
- Asked for bids on a new police car and a new maintainer both bids to be opened at the next council meeting.
- Declared Colorado City a bird sanctuary on the petition of Mrs. G. D. Foster, Mrs. S. A. Palmer, Mrs. R. B. Baker and Mrs. Ruth Airhart, representing the Garden Club.
- Turned down a request by Mrs. Wilda Fuller to allow her to move a house into the 300 block of W. 3rd St. Mrs. Fuller's request had been turned down by the City Inspector.

School Board Will Go Over Budget Report

Big Spring Independent School District board will meet tonight to review the preliminary budget for the 1959-60 school year, Floyd Parsons, city school superintendent, said today.

The board, he explained, will meet at 6 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant for dinner. Immediately afterward, it will adjourn to its room in the city superintendent's office and open its meeting.

This will be the initial opportunity of the board to consider the 1959-1960 budget. It is urgent, Parsons explained, that the budget be cleared away and approved as soon as possible.

Parsons said there are some additional school faculty resignations to be considered by the board and possibly other routine matters.

He explained that bulk of the time would be devoted to the survey of the budget.

He emphasized that the meeting is to be at the regular place, despite the preliminary time at dinner, and that the public is invited to be present at the business sessions of the board.

Asian Caravan Routes Eyed As Highway Sites

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Asian nations are working on a dream highway project that will enable modern motorists to retrace the caravan routes Marco Polo once traveled.

The goal is a 7,000-mile Pan-Asian highway that will take a motorist from Turkey to India or Malaya.

A network of old caravan routes, some dating to 1,000 B. C. will serve as the backbone of the new highway.

Marco Polo used the routes to explore the East. The armies of Genghis Khan, Alexander the Great and Tamerlane trod them on the road to conquest.

Traders used the routes to bring to Europe their precious loads of silk, jade and spices from the Orient.

The project was conceived by the highway subcommittee of the U.N. Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East—ECAFE.

ECAFE experts recognized that international civil aviation had played a major role in the last decade in bringing together the countries of Asia. But this mode of travel remained beyond the majority of Asian people.

Railway links were described as serving an important purpose but generally inadequate for the entire area. The experts said such projects as the Pan-American Highway and road improvements in Europe underscored lack of progress in Asia.

The first task is to build highway links to connect existing roads systems. Some countries

Jelke Sued For Divorce

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mino (Mickey) Jelke, oilman, is accused in a divorce petition of cruelty by staying out at night.

Sylvia Eder Jelke filed the action Monday in Circuit Court. She asked custody of her son, John, another child expected to be born in six weeks, and support for herself and children.

The Jelkes were married in 1954, after Jelke had been on trial in a sensational New York vice case. He was sentenced in 1955 to two to three years imprisonment on a charge of inducing Pat Ward into a life of prostitution, and served 21 months.

have already started this preliminary work.

The next task will be to improve existing roads until they can handle modern traffic.

Agreements will have to be worked out for simplifying border procedures and relaxing customs formalities.

The region has been divided into three zones for planning purposes. The first takes in Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Malaya and Burma. The second covers Burma's western connections, East Pakistan, India, Ceylon, Nepal and motor roads to West Pakistan. The third embraces West Pakistan, Afghanistan and Iran.

Soviets Show Originality In Gotham Technology Exhibit

By JOHN BARBOUR Associated Press Science Writer NEW YORK (AP)—This device is Soviet in idea and manufacture. You probably can't buy one anywhere else in the world.

Unless you're a scientist, you may not care.

But this ultra-sensitive sort of a king-sized Geiger counter is one of the hidden surprises of the Soviet exhibition at the New York Coliseum.

Many of the visitors to the Soviet science display look at it in puzzlement, concluding that it is either a small rocket, an atom bomb or a hot water heater.

It is labeled mysteriously a "spontaneous fission counter."

Dr. Lyle Borst, New York University nuclear physicist, was asked by The Associated Press for an evaluation of the Soviet Scientific and Technological Exhibit.

He singled out the strange-looking invention. It is, he said, one of the few original pieces of Soviet research at the science exhibition.

The Soviet exhibitor, a scientist, explained that the device measured the rate in which atoms of uranium split all by themselves.

The figures he quoted raised Borst's eyebrows.

On one of the elements, Thorium, U.S. measurements were more than a thousand times of the Soviet measurements. If the figures are correct, U.S. scientists could be relying on information badly in error.

Soviets showed off a difficult to design but highly efficient telescope and a compact device that can prepare ultra-thin slivings for microscopic slides.

These were the most original of the Soviet exhibits, Borst said.

The Soviets also showed in a quiet way a device that converts the hot flame of a kerosene stove into enough electricity to operate a radio.

The small device is especially useful in remote areas where no other power source is available. It uses about a cupful of kerosene an hour, Borst said that about seven per cent of the kerosene's energy is converted into electricity by the device.

Using sunlight and atomic sources of heat, the United States also has devices that generate electricity.

They are based, as the Soviet devices are, on two metal plates. One metal plate collects electrons, and one metal plate spits them out. When the two plates, joined together, are heated, they change.

The one that liked electrons, and collected them, suddenly begins to expel them. The other metal plate begins to collect them. The movement of the electrons generates electricity.

For the new visitor, the most impressive sight must be the gigantic final stage rocket that propelled Mecha into orbit around the sun. It's about as big as a small car, and is of course only a small part of the total rocket.

You get the idea that the Soviets are saying: "This is only the tail. You should see the size of the dog."

Most of the exhibits Borst had seen at the Brussels World Fair.

The Soviet nuclear energy exhibit was the hardest to evaluate. The Soviets showed models of almost every conceivable type of nuclear power reactor—material that could have been gleaned largely from scientific publications.

Yet only in a few instances did the Soviets specify whether such reactors actually existed and were operating.

The exhibits seemed to show that the best Soviet scientific work is as good as any in the world, he added. But the United States has more money and more industry and can attack many more projects than the Soviets can at present. The United States has more scientific irons in the fire.

Steel Stepping Up Operations For Shutdown

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Faced with a strike deadline at midnight tonight, basic steel companies today stepped up shutdown operations at mills throughout the nation. If negotiators in New York don't reach agreement on a new contract or don't approve another extension of the old pact, the mills will be virtually at a standstill by nightfall. The slow, systematic shutdown began in many mills during the weekend. A number of blast furnaces and open hearth furnaces were completely shut down Monday with only a little heat being fed into them to prevent sensitive refractory linings from cracking. Companies transported food, cots and bed clothing into mills during the weekend. Senator Predicts A Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will come up with a balanced budget for his final year in office, Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky) predicted today.

Morton, the Republican national chairman, joins GOP legislative leaders today for a weekly White House conference with President Eisenhower at which current fiscal matters were to provide one subject for discussion.

Morton expressed concern also about next year's outlook, and said the President himself has been startled by the size of next year's tentative spending programs now beginning to be reviewed by the White House.

This is the first stage of a series of reviews and probable cuts before Eisenhower sends to Congress next January his budget proposals for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1960.

"The original look that we have had at the preliminary figures for the 1961 (fiscal year) budget have startled everybody, including the President," Morton said in an interview.

The national chairman said that if all of the programs authorized by Congress are carried out in full and there is an expected rise in defense costs, the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1960 might run as high as $2 billion dollars.

Eisenhower has been campaigning this year to balance a $7-billion-dollar budget that Democrats originally called "phony" but subsequently have set out to keep in balance.

Morton said it was "highly speculative" whether Eisenhower can trim next year's money requests to the point where income not only would match spending but where some surplus would be left to pay on the huge national debt.

"But I know the President is going to submit a balanced budget," he said. "It will be a tough job to trim these requests down, but I am confident he will succeed in doing it."

Morton said the chief stumbling block in the effort to achieve economy lies in what he called "built-in" increases in spending. These result from programs Congress has authorized which begin with small amounts but call for substantial increases in subsequent years.

"It is difficult to pare these obligations down," Morton said.

Houston Is Hit By Strike Trouble

HOUSTON (AP)—More than 800 workers stayed off their jobs as three separate strikes moved into another day of stalemate here today. Some 3,000 others prepared to walk out at midnight if steel talks in New York fail to bring a new contract.

Employees at seven bread bakeries and at Gulf Brewing Co. struck several weeks ago. About 250 members of the International Assn. of Machinists went out at Mission Manufacturing Co. yesterday as their contract expired.

The last pig iron was tapped from Houston's only blast furnace at Sheffield Steel Corp. yesterday as the steel industry strike deadline neared.

Outfielders Added To Satellite Team

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — Two more "outfielders" have been added to a satellite team that will attempt to recover an instrumented capsule from Discoverer V.

The ships Dalton Victory and Haiti Victory, now outfitting in Hawaiian waters, will be part of the group of planes and ships waiting to snag the capsule from Discoverer V, expected to be launched soon from Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force planes will attempt to catch the capsule as it descends by parachute. If they fail, the Victory ships will attempt to fish the capsule from the ocean.

HOUSTON (AP)—A local union leader testified yesterday plans for a district boilermakers organization to coordinate the union's South Texas activities were kept from him.

They claim the district has usurped their rights and depleted the local's treasury.

Thunderstorms On Forecasts

Thunderstorms which have plagued first one section of Texas, then another, for most of the month of July appeared on forecasts again Tuesday as Lake Texoma totaled damage from the latest onslaught.

The Weather Bureau said North Central, Northwest and Southwest Texas can expect scattered thunderstorm activity through Wednesday.

Forecasters called for thunderstorm activity and partly cloudy skies for East and South Central Texas during the same period.

The thunderstorm which hit the Texoma area confined its major damage to Lowe's Highport resort.

A description of the storm given by Malcom Cave, McKinney, who was fishing in the area, said damage was caused when a freak wind struck out of the northwest.

A boat house was demolished and two others were damaged, and about 20 boats were sunk by the blow across the big lake on the Red River.

The storm ripped out of a line of storms which stretched along a jagged line from Cooke and Grayson Counties in East Texas.

Another thunderstorm tumbled temperatures from 88 to 76 degrees and poured .42 inch of rain on Houston in a 42-minute sweep through the Gulf Coast city.

Galveston and Beaumont also reported thunderstorms booming in their locales.

A Devotional For Today

Abraham went with them (the three men) to bring them on the way. (Genesis 18:16.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us who are pilgrims and strangers on this earth to show kindness, love, and hospitality to strangers. May our spirit toward them be like unto that Thou hast shown to us through Christ. In His name. Amen.

Foreign Aid A Bi-Partisan Issue

It would be easy to say that the Senate action in lopping $383.5 million dollars off President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill was the result of Democratic spite-work in retaliation for the President's veto of the housing bill which he called extravagant and infelicitous.

But the slash in foreign aid, as the figures show, was largely bipartisan. The first action involved $300 million for foreign military aid, and some dozen Republicans joined 40 Democrats in the majority, while 19 Democrats joined 22 Republicans in support of the administration figures.

A second move to cut out an item of $83 million to help our allies maintain their military posture through economic means carried by a vote of 49 to 42. On this 8 Republicans joined 41 Democrats in favor of the amendment, and 19 Democrats joined 25 Republicans in supporting the President.

Mr. Eisenhower had asked for almost $4 billion over-all foreign aid. When the Democrats, plus some help from the opposite party, got through with the figures stood at $3.5 billion — still, in all conscience, a sizeable sum.

For months some Democratic spokesmen, not to mention a few Republicans, had been saying the President had his sights too high, and some reductions would be made. Now that action has been taken, and to call it an act of retaliation for the presidential veto of the housing bill would hardly stand up under studious appraisal.

If that was political what about the housing veto? The Democrats, particularly those representing large cities and industrial areas, were counting heavily on the housing bill to make votes for them — certainly an out-and-out political gesture.

But granting that it was, can the presidential veto be entirely free from a similar charge — in reverse, so to speak? Although Senator John Sparkman (D-Ala.) announced he would submit a proposal to override the veto, hardly anybody on either side of the aisle believes it can be overridden by the necessary two-thirds majority.

The Problems Children Face

The greatest problem of children is lack of parental care, guidance and discipline. That was the opinion of the first 1,000 Texas Newspaper readers who replied to a newspaper opinion poll by Governor Daniel's Committee for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth. We like the import of that phrase "problems of children." When parents neglect their children it confronts the children with problems they might well have been spared. Every child is entitled to the watchful loving care of those most responsible for his welfare, the parents. If they are neglected, if they don't have the lasting benefit of loving care, they have been deprived of their birthright.

Care does not mean indulgence; far from it. Care means the imposition of disciplinary training from earliest infancy through adolescence. Discipline need not be harsh and unreasonable, that is one way to alienate a child from his normal love and respect for his parents. But it must be firm, constant and purposeful. A child should not be dinged with the admonition that discipline is "for his own good," but that it is right. The first principle of success in life is self-control and self-control is not innate in most human beings, but must be acquired. One must learn obedience before one knows how to command.

Admittedly the task of looking after children and keeping them out of mischief is greater today than in past generations; there are so many distractions, temptations and opportunities to defect from the straight and narrow. Being a good parent is more of a challenge than ever before. In an older and gentler culture you could relax your vigilance with children occasionally without harm to parent and child, but not any more. It is a fulltime job now, and parents who shirk it are piling up grief for themselves and depriving their children of their birthright.

Marquis Childs Berlin Issue: As Far As We Can Go

WASHINGTON — The refrain in the song about city folks in the musical, "Oklahoma" — "They've gone about as far as they can go" — is an accurate summary of the position of the Western Powers as the conference of foreign ministers resumes at Geneva.

The new proposal to put the Berlin dispute in indefinite suspension and give East and West Germany equal representation on a commission to study ways to bring the two Germanys together is close to a final position. To go further would not only threaten the Western Stand in Germany but it would jeopardize the unity of the Western Allies.

At his press conference Secretary of State Christian Herter declined to give any betting odds on whether an agreement leading to a summit meeting will come out of this new round. The odds are probably no better than 50-50 that the bare minimum will result from what has a last-chance look.

Herter's position as the spokesman of the principal power in the West must be appraised against the background of what the Eisenhower administration has done — and not done — in defense in recent months. Not only has there been no evidence of special preparation to meet a Berlin crisis but the reduction in America's ground troops went through regardless of protests. Anyone in search of original sin can go back to the $7 billion tax cut by the Republican Congress in 1954 and calculate in that light today's $13 billion deficit.

Recovering from the recession the nation is moving into all-out boom-time prosperity. The latest Gallup poll shows that 66 per cent of the sample asked think we are likely to get into another World War in the next five years. This compares with 58 per cent in 1958 and 48 per cent in '55.

Western Europe, too, is in the midst of flourishing prosperity. Tourists are everywhere. Except for France, still trapped in Algeria military commitments have been cut back in one country after another.

How much all this has contributed to Premier Khrushchev's threats of force it is impossible to say. Certainly, he can't help but know that the choice for the West is to have peace or to have a hot war.

The plain, hard truth is that there is a small loophole through which it may be possible to reach agreement on a standstill in Berlin. This is Foreign Minister Andre Gromyko's statement that it was wrong to interpret the Russian 18-month proposal — for a German solution — as meaning that all Western rights in Berlin would expire then. It should be possible to explore that small opening quickly.

If it proves illusory, then Khrushchev may try his own brand of brinkmanship by giving the East Germans authority over military traffic on the access routes to Berlin. The Kremlin puppets may not be in the first instance challenge the right of military convoys to move from West Germany to West Berlin.

The 2,000,000 West Berliners will scarcely take their sanction as an assurance of security. This is the slippery slope on which Herter and his Western colleagues must try to keep a foothold.

Occupational Hazard
NORFOLK, Va. — An automobile salesman was dismayed when a purchaser listed his profession as "killer." It turned out he was just that at a nearby pork packing plant.

BALTIMORE — The penniless young woman had fled her husband down South and stopped at the Traveler's Aid Society on her way to New York to live with relatives.
In Mrs. Elizabeth Kraiwec's office, she saw a painting of New York on the wall. As she stared at the icy blue pigment, the lonely looking bridge and skyscrapers, tears formed in her eyes.
"I can handle my husband but not that big, cold city," she said and headed back home.

James Marlow Like Seeing Same Movie Over Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here we go again: same place, people, tone and tune. The place: Geneva. The people: the Big Four foreign ministers. The tone: not much optimism. The tune: disagreement. May—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said he wasn't optimistic just before going to Geneva for the May 11 opening of the ministers' meeting on Berlin.

After six weeks of getting nowhere in 31 meetings, the ministers agreed to recess and resume July 13. July — Last week Herter, just before starting out for the second Geneva go-round, said he wasn't optimistic.

May — At the opening of the May 11 session The Associated Press reported: Herter looked tired, the French foreign minister was serious, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was his usual deadpan self. Only the British foreign minister looked cheerful.

July — At Monday's start of the second session The Associated Press reported: Herter passed photographers with his head down, the French foreign minister had a thin smile, Gromyko gave two stiff waxes, and only the British foreign minister looked cheerful.

May — At the start of the first session Gromyko threw the conference off the rails by demanding that Communist East Germany be allowed to sit in as a full participant. The West refused.

July — At the start of the second session Monday Gromyko threw the conference off the rails by demanding that, if there are secret meetings, Communist East Germany sit in as a participant. The West refused.

'They're My People'

Hal Boyle Kids Have More Fun Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Do the kids of today have more fun than those of yesterday? At the risk of giving indignation cramps to a lot of nostalgic old grumps, we vote "Yes!" Modern children who it comes to fun, get more out of it living for a very simple reason: They have more things to enjoy. A fellow crowding 65-likes to brag about how much tougher life was when he was a boy. To hear him tell it, he got up at 4 a.m. every morning and milked a dozen cows before breakfast.

In winter he slogged his way to school through waist-high snowdrifts, carrying his lunch basket in his chattering teeth. He did endless chores around the house. He helped churn the butter. He started the furnace before dawn and banked it at night, chopped and brought in firewood for the kitchen stove. He cleaned the stable. He worked from morning until long after dusk.

But if you suggest that he didn't have much fun as a kid, his eyes bug out in quick anger. "What do you mean I didn't have any fun?" he asks. "Why, we had twice as much fun as these sissy youngsters they're spawning nowadays."

But grandpa's list of home-made joys, when he enumerates them, sounds a little dated now. Going barefoot, riding the mare colic back in from the fields, collecting loads, making kitchen fudge, dunking himself in the old swimming hole, which contained more mud than water.

Come, grandpa, you didn't learn to drive an automobile until you were 30. Today's youngster is in his own jalopy at 17, and his dad doesn't dare object if the boy wants to take a cross-country tour with his pals during summer vacation.

You didn't gose-grease your hair and go out on a date until you were 18. Girls were a complete and awesome mystery to you. But now the lads are giving friendship rings to girls at 10, and dating steady at 13.

You were 25 before you could eat your soup in public without feeling self-conscious. But today's kids are social veterans at 15, and by 20 they're regular young Lord Chesterfields, at ease in any company.

The only toy you can remember getting as a boy was a sled. Kids today are surrounded with toys from birth, everything from a dime balloon to a $150 chemistry set.

Nobody made a business out of entertaining you. But trying to keep today's kids entertained is now a major industry in America.

What do you mean you had more fun, grandpa? Maybe you didn't know it, but fun hadn't even been invented when you were a lad. It came along later.

many sit in as a participant. The West refused. Gromyko had a reason for his demands about Communist East Germany last May. Since the Western Big Three regard the East German Communists as Soviet satellites and refuse to recognize them as legitimate rulers of East Germany, letting them sit in as participants would be a form of recognition.

Although the West refused to go all the way with Gromyko, a compromise was worked out. The East and West Germans—the latter allied with the West—could sit in the conference room as advisers—participants in a kind of way, but not full participants. They could take part in the discussions only if none of the Big Four objected.

Nevertheless, this was a mild Soviet victory and a mild Western concession since the Big Three from the West hadn't wanted to let the East Germans open their mouths at all.

Gromyko also had a reason for his demand Monday that the East Germans participate in secret meetings. In the first Geneva session, from May 11 until June 20, the foreign ministers held both full meetings and secret meetings. The Germans were allowed to sit in on the full ones but not on the secret ones.

So now, if the West allowed them to be participants in secret meetings, it could be recognizing a further step toward recognizing the legitimacy of the East German Communist regime.

All this—which may seem like looking for a hair on an egg and splitting it — obscured something much more important—the possibility of some kind of agreement on Berlin.

At the May-June session the West started out with proposals for settling all kinds of German problems, including the Soviet demand that the West get its troops out of Berlin.

At this session the West seems content to seek a much more modest goal. The Western ministers reportedly are only hoping to avoid an immediate showdown on Berlin by getting the Soviets to agree there won't be a showdown for at least 30 months.

Just Routine
ST. LOUIS — Mrs. Gerald E. Hendrickson didn't have time to read a news story about a woman who had given birth to four consecutive sets of twins. She was too busy caring for her own four consecutive sets.

Mrs. Hendrickson was unimpressed when told that the odds of such a thing happening were about 10,000,000 to one. "I thought it was routine," she said.

The Hendricksons have 12 children. He is a chief petty officer in the Navy.

Good Reason
PHOENIX, Ariz. — The defendant in a small theft case asked that his bond be reduced from $2,000 to $500. He couldn't raise the larger amount because he owed his bondsman $400 on some bad checks.

U. S. District Judge Dave W. Ling took the request under advisement.

Return To Canada
MONTREAL — Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Lewis and their son Roger came to Canada from England 10 years ago and last year decided to return to England. Now they're back here again, saying: "Old friends in England had dispersed, taxes were high and wages low."

Around The Rim Flying Saucers Just Around The Corner

When everyone was seeing flying saucers a few years back, I never so much as got a glimpse of one. It was almost embarrassing at times. I'd go to a party, for instance, and everyone there, it seemed, has spotted from one to a score of these mysterious celestial objects. I hadn't, so I couldn't join in the table-talk. It got so folk called me "Silent Sam."

Now, from what I read in the papers, I may get to see one. The government has cautiously admitted that it is experimenting with a device which fits the general idea of the flying saucer. Only difference seems to be that the flying saucers being developed are not adapted to high flying. Instead of soaring thousands of feet in the air, they will skim along the earth. Their best work, as I understand it would be from a few feet to as much as fifty feet of terra firma.

I do not understand just how they work but, from what I read, it seems they shoot jets of air downward and then ride on a sort of air cushion that is built up. They can spin along at 300 or more miles per hour and go over water as well as land.

Highways would no longer be a big problem, apparently, if this system of locomotion can be successfully found for saucers, if that's what they're to be, of automobile size. You'd just climb aboard, turn on the jets and off you'd go. The article didn't explain whether the surface below the saucer came in for any rough treatment or not. So I am assuming that the passage of one of these gadgets would do no damage to the property over which it passed. If this is not the case, then the usability of the devices would be restricted to thinly settled areas or the expanses of oceans.

The article indicated there seems to be no limit on the size such machines could attain. There was a hint of future models big enough to handle 300 or 400 passengers. The freight that such giants could move would be spectacular.

I am sure these saucers will attract a lot of attention but I doubt if they will ever stir the imagination as did those reported so widely a few years ago. I have talked with dozens of saucer-seeing folks of that period. The things they said they saw must have really been something. They seemed to take all shapes but in general preferred the "saucer" or the cigar contour. They traveled at tremendous speeds; they could stand motionless in the air or they could (and did) disappear from sight in the twinkling of an eye.

Some had portholes through which glowed ghostly lights. They didn't seem to want to land — all any witnesses I questioned could say was that there they were and in a few seconds, they weren't there any more.

I got a crick in my neck which threatened for a time to become a permanent fixture, staring at the skies in that saucer-infested era. I saw shooting stars, reflections on telephone lines in the moonlight, fantastic aerial flares as stray moon beams struck swaying television antennas but as for the saucers everyone else was seeing — nary a glimpse did I get.

I am waiting now for the new saucers the scientists are designing. Maybe I'll see one of them.

By ED KOTERBA

WASHINGTON — For awhile, it looked like the Congressmen were going to jump down the throat of the fraill-looking little man. They had called him up to check on influence peddling by retired Pentagon brass.

Now they were pressing him hard, and you could barely see his pink neck and that of grey straw poking over the talk-back leather chair.

But, then, Vice Admiral Hyman G. Rickover spoke up in his typical style: "No retired officer... no military officer... no member of Congress has ever had any impact on me..."

The standing-room crowd cracked into applause. The lawmakers of the House armed services investigations subcommittee flushed a little. From then on, they prodded the admiral but softly, like urging a tense cougar with a ten-foot pole.

At first, it appeared, the lawmakers were out to embarrass this anti-social, anti-red tape, anti-brass father of the atomic submarine.

Specifically they wanted to know more about a statement he made four months ago when asked whether he had visits from former military associates, now with defense industries, who may have been trying to pressure him into going along with their ideas.

At that time, Rickover style, he let the words fall where they would. And they did. "I used to," he replied, "but the word got around that I am obtuse in this regard."

Rep. Edward Hebert (D., La.) and his committee had the scrappy admiral under oath. Okay, they said, just who were these former associates?

That put the admiral in a hole, if he's ever been in one. He said that if he disclosed the names, it would wreck the usefulness of his job. Furthermore, some of the weapons salesmen may have had honest convictions about their visit, and to emblazon the names of the innocent in newspapers across the country, he said, would be a great injustice to them.

Finally, Mr. Hebert asked that the information be given the committee in private. Replied the admiral: "If you order me to do so, I will have to obey you implicitly."

Those names, when properly screened and made public, together with their method of operation, should make enlightening copy.

Oddly enough, just as the admiral was testifying, someone brought into the hearing room a copy of the day's newspaper carrying a story about how three industry men — including two former top Pentagon secretaries — had suddenly called off a super-duper "off-the-record" cocktail-supper party for the No. 1 missiles general.

Admiral Rickover laid several suggestions before the lawmakers on how to discourage influence peddling. One was to have all Pentagon officers report any pressures brought on them by manufacturers, whether it be at cocktail parties, on the beach or on the golf courses.

In many cases, he said, there's nothing wrong with outsiders trying to sell their products to the military. But, he said, a lot of generals and admirals who have lived sheltered existences are naive enough — and technologically uninformed enough — to fall for the panaceas offered by the outsiders.

Mr. Rickover appeared before the lawmakers in a rumpled grey suit. He didn't look like an admiral. Come to think of it, he didn't sound like one, either.

What I mean is there was a delightful and significant absence of double-talk. (Copyright 1959, United Feature Syndicate 1959)

The Gallup Poll U. S. Tour By Khrushchev Favored

PRINCETON, N. J. — A U. S. tour for Nikita Khrushchev, in the opinion of many Americans, might do both the Soviet No. 1 man, and the world, a whole lot of good.

A trip along the lines of those taken by the lieutenants, Mikoyan and Kozlov, as the U. S. public sees it might serve to "educate" Prime Minister Khrushchev on some of the facts about the American way of life.

A barber from Hanover, Pa. put it this way: "It would let him see how people live here and what freedom is really like."

At the same time, many Americans interviewed by the Gallup Poll feel that a Khrushchev visit could help to promote better understanding generally between the East and the West.

On the other hand, a significant minority holds that a Khrushchev visit would be undesirable. A number of voters believe that such a move would only be catering to the Russian leader's wishes and that Khrushchev just can't be trusted, so why bother.

Others expressed misgivings over the amount of security measures that would be necessary to protect the Russian Prime Minister — as one voter put it, "I'd be afraid some one would kill him and start another war."

With Deputy Prime Minister Frol Kozlov currently touring the U. S. and Vice President Richard Nixon preparing to go to Moscow later this month, Gallup Poll reporters across the country sought the public's view on a visit by the Soviet "big boss" to this country: "Do you think Nikita Khrushchev, Russia's Prime Minister, should or should not be invited to visit the United States?" Here is the vote: KHRUSHCHEV TO U. S. ?

Should be invited 50
Should not be 36
No opinion 14
Actually, the U. S. public has "had the welcome mat out" for the widely-traveled Khrushchev for over three years now.

In the summer of 1956, for example, following Khrushchev's visit to Great Britain along with former Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, a majority of the U. S.

public supported the idea of a "B&K" visit to this country.

Again last summer, when the Lebanese crisis caused speculation that Khrushchev might put in an appearance at the U. N. in New York, the public — by a two-thirds vote — approved an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting at the headquarters of the world government organization.

By a slightly smaller vote at the time, sentiment was on the side of President Eisenhower asking Khrushchev to the White House in the event the Russian Prime Minister came to U. N. headquarters in New York.

When asked then what they thought would impress Khrushchev most if he were to tour the U. S., Americans cited two major areas: (1) Our high standard of living, particularly for the workingman and (2) Our freedom — particularly, the average citizen's freedom to criticize the government and his freedom to move about wherever he wished in the country.

Vice President Nixon goes to Moscow this month with considerable public support for the trip.

When asked earlier this year — at the time when Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan was touring the U. S. — if Nixon should visit Moscow, public sentiment favored such a trip.

WHAT ABOUT THEM?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Everyone is so sympathetic to innocent girls whose lives have been ruined by selfish no-good boys. What about innocent boys whose lives have been ruined by tramps, scheming girls?

Our son was an 18-year-old honor student who went to college on a scholarship. He was devoted in his religion and admired by all who knew him.

He had only one date (and he does not lie) with a girl of loose morals. She tricked him into marrying her by saying she was pregnant. Being an honorable boy, he married her. Our religion does not permit divorce. Is there any hope for him, or must he pay all his life for one foolish mistake?

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your son paid dearly for one (if he does not lie) "foolish mistake." It is unfortunate that most modern parents impress on their daughters but not their sons the high price of low morals. If your son feels that he was "tricked" into marriage, he should not hesitate to take the matter to his clergyman.

DEAR ABBY: I was the hostess at a luncheon recently. One of my guests spoke out very strongly against our former president, Franklin Roosevelt.

I loved and respected this man. Should I have come and defended him? I felt that since I was the hostess I should not have involved myself in an argument with one of my guests. But I felt like a hypocrite keeping quiet. I'd like your opinion.

ADMIRER OF F. D. R.

DEAR ADMIRER: You used excellent judgment (and remarkable restraint) when the occasion demanded it. You undoubtedly will have another opportunity to speak your piece under more appropriate circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I recently suggested to my husband that for some future anniversary gift I would like a larger diamond for my engagement ring and he hit the roof! He has a fit if I remove my rings for ten minutes to clean them. He figures once an engagement ring is put on a finger it should stay there forever. And the same goes for the wedding ring. Don't some people get bigger diamonds for their engagement rings later on? Or are they supposed to wear the ones their struggling husbands paid twenty dollars down and a dollar a week for until they die?

LIKES DIAMONDS

DEAR LIKES: Many husbands replace their wives' engagement diamond with a larger one, but if your husband figures like I figure he figures, this won't cut any ice with him.

DEAR ABBY: When I was first married six years ago I used to come home at night and my little dog would bark at me and my wife would bring me my slippers. Now, just six years later, when I come home at night, my dog brings me my slippers and my wife barks at me.

FRANK

DEAR FRANK: What are you complaining about? You're still getting the same service.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELSIE: A little "horse sense" can prevent a little divorce; also some marriages. What's your hurry?

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

WARNING SOUNDED

Emergency Vehicle Accidents Increase

Severe consequences are in store for Big Spring motorists who fail to yield the right of way for emergency vehicles.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said Monday that emergency vehicles with sirens and flashing warning lights have the right of way at all times. He pointed out that four times in the last few days, emergency vehicles have been involved in accidents.

In two instances, the ambulances were making emergency runs to local hospitals with injured victims of previous mishaps. The ambulances were damaged and the drivers were hospitalized in each case.

Rogers said any motorists who have a collision with an emergency vehicle will be dealt with severely. All police cars, ambulances and fire trucks are considered emergency vehicles.

Twice in the last two weeks, police cars have been hit by motorists, Rogers said.

A fine up to $200 can be levied for failing to yield to an emergency vehicle, Rogers said.

He pointed out that the traffic signals all turn red for passage of fire trucks. Motorists should not cross an intersection until the signals have resumed normal operation.

9-Day Oil Plea Expected

AUSTIN (AP)—Most major oil companies and independent producers are expected to ask the Railroad Commission tomorrow to retain the current 9-day production schedule.

This will keep the oil allowable at the same level as in July. Both nominations and the forecast of demand for Texas crude by the U.S. Bureau of Mines were below July. But a drop to eight days production probably would bring too large a cut, most oil sources believe.

Major buyers' nominations show decreases from 51,884 barrels to 84,266 barrels. Their written nominations total 2,571,016 barrels compared to last month's 2,655,282 barrels.

The average daily allowable now is 2,700,164 barrels. Most witnesses tomorrow likely will report that stocks have not improved enough in July to warrant any increase.

A 10-day schedule will boost the allowable by about 170,000 barrels a day.

The commission reported these nominations for August as compared with July by districts:

- 1. Southwest Texas 49,882 barrels daily, up 643;
- 2. Southwest Texas 106,374, down 8,134;
- 3. Gulf Coast, 333,409, down 16,645;
- 4. Southwest Texas 187,853, down 8,134;
- 5. East Central Texas 30,315, down 2,929;
- 6. East Texas (outside), 101,592, down 4,724;
- 7. East Texas Field 159,860, down 8,474;
- 7-B. West Central Texas 135,843, down 4,570;
- 7-C. West Central Texas 139,848, down 7,298;
- 8. West Texas 1,017,719, down 41,038;
- 9. North Texas 198,278, up 11,400;
- 10. Panhandle 110,143, up 5,637.

Fliers Escape

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Two men parachuted safely from a Navy jet trainer that crashed and burned in a deserted area of an inactivated air station yesterday.

Virginia Mental Patients Stage Riot

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Twenty-five screaming mental patients broke up furniture, smashed windows and surged into the yard at Central State Hospital Monday night, but the disturbance was quickly ended.

Supt. J. K. Ogden said he believed the patients staged the 45-minute riot to draw attention to grievances rather than to escape.

It began when three patients from Ward No. 4 overpowered two attendants and took their keys. The patients unlocked Ward No. 2. The patients rushed through the corridors and into a yard surrounded by a 16-foot wall.

Dr. Wilbur Hammon, in charge of the maximum security building, persuaded them to return after assuring them they would not be punished and that they would get a hearing.

Aviation Agency To Probe Confusion In Airline Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has announced it will investigate reports of widespread confusion on the ground during preparations for landing a crippled jet airliner.

At the same time the Port of New York Authority, which runs Idlewild Airport, said the same thing is bound to happen again.

The Port Authority reported that 50,000 thrill-seekers headed for the airport when news bulletins on television and radio disclosed that the airliner, with 113 persons aboard, was circling the field and would make an emergency landing with damaged landing gear.

After four hours the big Pan

American World Airways plane came down safely early Sunday. The pilot said later that the 4,000 people near the runway were the biggest menace he had to face. He said hundreds could have been killed if the airliner had overrun the crowd.

The federal investigation was announced by James T. Pyle, deputy FFA administrator, in Washington Monday. "I was disturbed to hear that so many people were allowed on the runway. It sounds like bad management and we will look into it," he said.

Joseph D. Blatt, FAA regional administrator, demanded a guarantee against any recurrence. But Executive Director Austin J. Tobin of the Port authority had said: "No one could keep the 50,000 people off the field. No police force in the world could have kept them back."

"The exact type of emergency can happen again and will happen again."

Meanwhile officials were still trying to determine what caused the landing gear damage to the big Boeing 707 during takeoff.

Fathers Of 13 Children Drown

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The fathers of 13 children drowned in the Mississippi River yesterday when their 14-foot skiff swamped. One was a Texan, Delore Guidry, 35, of Bridge City, Tex. The other was his brother-in-law Dewey Benoit, 36, of Chalmette, La. The Texan was the father of eight. Benoit had five children.

Pacifists Draw Jail Sentences

OMAHA (AP)—Don Fortenberry of Adrian, Tex., and Bradford Lyttle of Chicago faced six-month prison terms and $500 fines today for their part in demonstrations against missile base construction.

Federal Dist. Judge Richard E. Robinson sentenced the two pacifists yesterday after they admitted returning to the Atlas missile base site near Mead, Neb., in spite of orders from Robinson not to do so. Another pacifist, Karl H. Meyer, drew the same sentence last week.

One Hundred Years Ago . . .

This Was NEWS

That Shaped Today's World

One hundred years ago (August 27, 1859) Edwin L. Drake completed the drilling of the first commercial oil well near Titusville, Pa. Thus was born an industry without which the way of living that we enjoy today could hardly have been possible. Today nothing moves on land or in the air, on or under the sea, or into outer space but that oil helps to move it. Nothing is made but that oil helps to make it or improve it. Drake's well was "just a news item" in the paper a century ago. Today it is history of world-shaping importance . . . history that is still being made as the oil industry continues to move forward to new achievements.

All of which simply serves to dramatize the importance of reading your newspaper regularly and thoroughly . . . ever alert to the kind of news that can reshape . . . even completely change . . . the world you will live in tomorrow. Only by so doing can you properly evaluate the future and purposefully plan to take your own place in it.

Your Herald dedicates itself to fast, clear, accurate reporting in all the areas of interest and importance that can affect you and your family . . . today, tomorrow, next year, and as far into the future as you can project your imagination!

USAF Couple's Home Reflects Their Impression Of Japan

By HELEN HURT
Remove your shoes and cross the threshold with me into an oriental room that promises serenity and contemplative quiet. Our hosts are Capt. and Mrs. L. R. Georgen, 803 West 14th, who returned in May of last year from an assignment in Japan.

Their year and a half in the Far East left a lasting impression on the couple. Nostalgically, they have decorated one room of their home with the accoutrements of a Japanese dwelling, making the setting as authentic as practicable. Materials were imported. Shoes are taboo on the tatami, 2" thick straw matting which is laid in sections of 2 tatso. The tatso, representing one square yard, is their term of measurement for house and land.

EXOTIC DECOR
The east wall is solid with sliding doors, or shoji. Rice paper is glued on the back of the doors, whose pattern of openwork squares is fitted together without nails or screws. Low cupboards in a Japanese home store bedding, to provide the spacious uncluttered appearance admired by the natives.

Focal point in the Georgens' retreat is the handpainted screen, its gold background brush-stroked with pine boughs; the pine is a symbol of long life and health. Over it are four plaques of metal flowers—the cherry blossom for spring, the aster for summer, chrysanthemum for fall, and lotus blossom for winter. These pieces in black and gold enhance the walls, which are done in a citrus yellow.

As in all homes, no matter how humble, the ichibana is noted. It is a graceful flower arrangement, held by a usabata, which in this instance is a bronze piece estimated to be at least 150 years old.

Another wall decoration is the scroll of brocade, sent the Georgens last Christmas by their Japanese maid. It was she, too, who had given them the colorful paper lantern which shields the sole light in the room; she provided it at festival time when every family hangs a lantern on the house gate. This one bears a giant "G".

Let your eyes roam to the glass-encased doll, garbed as the emperor's daughter. Her handsome attire was made by Mrs. Georgen's Japanese dressmaker who used hair from her own head to fashion the elaborate coiffure. By tradition, such a doll is an emblem of friendship or appreciation, and in this spirit Mrs. Georgen accepted it from her dressmaker.

gen's Japanese dressmaker who used hair from her own head to fashion the elaborate coiffure. By tradition, such a doll is an emblem of friendship or appreciation, and in this spirit Mrs. Georgen accepted it from her dressmaker.

ENTERTAIN JAPANESE
Settle yourself on a zabuton, or floor cushion, beside the foot-high red-lacquered table where food is cooked and served. When the meal is finished, the table is folded up and set aside. On it Mrs. Georgen has served the authentic dishes, which she learned to cook, to the nine Japanese Air Force officers who will soon complete their studies at Webb AFB and move on to another U. S. base. As they enter, they take appreciative note of the cloth banner over the door; its design indicates that here is place for refreshment, just as do the signs of the restaurants and saki-houses in their homeland.

Capt. Georgen was assigned by the USAF as an instructor to the Japanese Air Force. He taught at one of their own bases in Hamamatsu, while Mrs. Georgen lived in a suburban village outside Tokyo. On a visit to Yokohama, they commissioned an artisan to make a storage chest. The handsome black lacquer piece, ornamented with brass, makes its mark with every guest in their home.

From Japan they also brought cloisonne, pottery, and a magnificent Kutani plate. Kutani is reputedly one of the finest chinaware made and dates back centuries. On this plate is emblazoned a portrait of the royal family. Also of Kutani are the papa-san and mama-san cups. These pieces, which have china lids, are unique in that inside them are supposedly printed a thousand poems.

Exotic prints and colorful objects throughout the home tend to transport one figuratively across the seas.

Open House Set At St. Thomas Church

Open house will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday for parents and children of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes in summer school at St. Thomas Church Hall.

All crafts will be shown and prizes awarded. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Writers Meet

Mrs. Caribel Laughlin was hostess Sunday to the writers club at a backyard dinner.

Doyle Phillips, an actor who is trying his hand at writing, read the manuscript to a short story, and a critique followed.

Luncheon Cancelled

The Berta Class of First Baptist Church will not have its monthly luncheon session Thursday, as originally scheduled.

Coke Party Given For Bride-Elect

Mrs. Floyd Parsons and Mrs. Joe Pickle entertained informally in the former's home this morning honoring Charlene Campbell.

Miss Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Western Hills, will become the bride of Donnie Smith on Aug. 14 at the Campbell home. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith, Kennebec Heights.

Cold drinks and dips were served from a table done in pink linen and featuring zinnias in pastel hues.

About 24 attended.

The hostesses presented a gift to Miss Campbell. She was attired in a plaid sun frock of cotton, accessorized in white.

Service Guild Has Panel Discussion
A panel brought the program for First Methodist Martha Wesleyan Service Guild, Monday evening at the church, when the study was based on the topic, Building Christian Character—Youth.

Mrs. Lina Flewelen presented the meditation; a report was given by Mrs. W. E. Moren on the activities of the executive officers.

The panel discussion was introduced by Mrs. Cass Hill, who was joined by Mrs. W. R. Yates, Mrs. B. M. Keese, Mrs. H. M. Rowe, Mrs. E. J. Cass, Mrs. Morris Gay and Mrs. Irene Dempsey.

It was announced that Twila Lomax and Mrs. Moren will represent the guild at the School of Missions to be held in Lubbock on July 27-31.

Hostesses for the social hour which followed were Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Maurine Terrell and Mrs. Dempsey.

N. Carolinians Visit
Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rogers, 810 Dallas, have been Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hobbs, Sharon and Sabra Ruth of Whiteville, N. C. Mrs. Hobbs is a niece of the hosts. The visitors left Monday to continue their trip with a tour of Carlsbad Cavern and a journey through the Rocky Mountains before returning home.

Evening Snack
A delightful idea for a light dessert or a late evening snack is to fill a small cordial or liqueur glass with raisins, then cover the raisins with an oloroso (cream) type Spanish sherry. Let the raisins soak in the sherry an hour or longer. The raisins are to be sipped out with cocktail picks and when all are gone, drink the oloroso sherry left in the liqueur glass.

For The Girls
The paint brush has been changed to appeal to women. Pink, blue and yellow nylon filaments are being used with color-coordinated handles.

Far Eastern Influence

This might be a scene in Japan, but it isn't. Capt. and Mrs. L. R. Georgen are entertaining three Japanese Air Force officers at the couple's residence; they obviously feel at home in the room which the Georgens have made as nearly like a Japanese counterpart as possible. Lt. Ryunosuke Shimada pours his host a drink from the sake jug as Lt. Mitsunhiro Masuyama smiles approvingly. At left is Lt. Yukitaka Muramoto, who preferred Western dress to the yukata, or kimono, worn by his countrymen. The kimono, which are tied with the obi, are summer-weight lounge garments.

Long Holds Court With His Officials

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Louisiana's Gov. Earl Long, holding court in his hotel suite, today began conferences with Louisiana officials he called to Texas with an imperial summons.

Long wore undershorts and a dress shirt when he greeted his first conferee, Lt. Gov. Luther Frazer, Frazer was in dressing gown. The lieutenant governor arrived last night.

Others summoned to Fort Worth by telephone were state financial experts and several top Long advisors.

They included Dupre Litton, the governor's legal aide; J. M. (Pete) Menece, a close personal friend of the governor's and former chairman of the Louisiana Racing Commission; Rep. Spencer Myrick, West Carroll Parish; and Long's cousin, Dave Bell of Baton Rouge, often Long's driver and personal aide.

The ailing Long, 63, yesterday spent several hours with Gen. Raymond Hufft, Louisiana adjutant general.

Despite Long's creation of a capital-away-from-home, he found plenty of time for recreation—the avowed purpose of his trip to Texas. The governor was up late last night and got little sleep before the conferences began today.

At least one Texas newspaper said the governor is unwelcomed in Texas.

The Tyler Courier-Times headed a page-one editorial: "Gov. Long — Go Home."

The editorial said, "Texans can have no control over who wishes to vacation within the borders of this state. But there certainly is control over who speaks to our Legislature, and that control should be exercised firmly at this juncture."

"Legally sane or not, his disgraceful actions are destructive of the citizens' faith in representative government. They reflect most unfavorably not only on his own state but on the whole South and Southwest."

There was no immediate indication of the reason for today's conference. It was suggested that the Louisiana kingpin simply has to be surrounded by political cronies just

Boys Have Ball At FHA Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — The teenage Ingraham twin boys from Oklahoma are having a ball at the national convention of Future Homemakers of America. They are the only boys among some 2,000 girl delegates.

"It's an experience that I like," said Kenneth, one of the 17-year-old twins, after he returned to his hotel room after a date with one of the future homemakers.

His twin brother, Keith, walked into their fifth floor room at the Conrad Hilton Hotel a few minutes later after a date with one of the girls.

"And I've got a date with her every night of the convention," he told Kenneth.

The twins said their appearance at the convention caused some eyebrow lifting among the girl delegates.

"Most of them don't have any boys in their classes back home, and they can hardly believe we're interested in home economics," Keith said.

The boys, sons of the Charles Ingrahams of Mooreland, Okla., said they are serious students of home economics. Both said they could cook "almost anything."

"I'll be a better husband for it," said Kenneth.

Keith admitted he enrolled in the course at Mooreland High School "because I thought it would be easy." He added it turned out to be tougher than he thought. Both boys are seniors.

Stripper Sticks By Boyfriend

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Strip-teaser Barbara Bennett, who says she knows figures and is looking for a bookkeeping job, intends to stick by her accused boyfriend "come hell or high water."

Barbara, 19, buzzed up to the Houston police station Monday after a motorcycle trip from Danville, Ill., to boost the sagging spirits of Grover Lee Baker, also 19.

Baker, a former auto firm clerk who disappeared last April 22 on a bank deposit errand, awaits trial on charges of taking $3,020 in cash and $23,741 in checks from the motor company. Police recovered the checks and said he told them he spent the cash. He was arrested last week.

Miss Bennett, who says she has performed under the stage names of Pammy and St. Louis Pat, said her stripping days are over if Baker goes to prison. "There are plenty of waitress jobs and I'm a good bookkeeper. I know figures," she said.

FULL HOUSEPOWER

The hotter the weather, the longer and harder Reddy works for you, operating your air conditioning equipment, furnishing extra refrigeration and ice cubes, and washing and ironing the additional clothes needed in hot weather.

Because of these extra summertime chores, your home wiring may not be adequate to let Reddy do his best work. If your lights dim when your refrigerator comes on, if your electric iron heats up slowly, if fuses blow frequently due to overloads, it's a sign of low HOUSEPOWER. You may need larger wire, an additional circuit or more outlets to get the most efficient and convenient service from your electric appliances.

Your electrical contractor will gladly make a check of your home wiring and suggest the additional wiring you may need for full HOUSEPOWER. See him about it soon.

TULSA (AP)—Daily production of crude and condensate fell 105,010 barrels to 6,802,325 barrels last week under the impact of lower Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas allowances, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas accounted for almost the entire net loss, falling 101,000 barrels to 2,478,673 barrels. Oklahoma was down 12,200 barrels to 907,300 and Kansas was off 9,885 to 296,290.

Louisiana had the week's top increase, 8,725 barrels to 961,550 barrels.

The Journal estimated 1959 production at 1,574,511,290 barrels compared to 1,241,578,900 a year ago.

New Mexico declined 425 to 291,800.

Arkansas gained 50 to 81,350.

Bright Spots On A Rainy Day

The rain drops just couldn't stay away from this trio of foreign beauties when they appeared on a New York hotel rooftop. Heading for California and this month's Miss Universe contest at Long Beach are, from left: Maria Grazia Buccella, 18; Carmela Kunzel, 19; and 20-year-old Maria Ekstrom.

Humphrey Jumps Into President Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—His likely competitors waved Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) on today toward a six-months' head start in the official scramble for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Humphrey's scheduled formal entry into the race a year before the party's nominating convention found none of his potential rivals edging toward the official starting post.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) expressed surprise at Humphrey's early public unveiling of his ambitions. But the Massachusetts senator said this will make no change in his own plans.

Kennedy, who has been unofficially beating the bushes for convention delegates for months, said he will decide at the end of this year or early in 1960 whether he will become an active candidate. Few doubt that he will.

Instead of bolting for the starting gate, Kennedy intends to stop even his indirect campaigning for the summer. With the exception of an Aug. 1 appearance at the AFL-CIO, he said he will fill no more speaking dates until fall.

Friends said neither Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) nor Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas can be expected to announce officially as candidates until their states give their favorite son labels next spring.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party presidential nominee, intends to say and do next to nothing about the nomination until convention time. Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan seem likely to remain content with favorite son designations.

Neither Symington nor Johnson is expected to enter any primaries. Kennedy will get into as many of these contests as he can, beginning with New Hampshire's first. If he finds it necessary in order to demonstrate widespread support, Kennedy is likely even to challenge some favorite sons.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.), who joined with Minnesota's Gov. Orville L. Freeman in announcing Humphrey's availability, said he has no doubt Humphrey will enter some of the primaries.

If he and Kennedy do not meet in Wisconsin's balloting because of a favorite son situation there, they may collide in Nebraska and South Dakota. Both are likely to be entered in Oregon's free-for-all.

Humphrey is expected to campaign for the nomination as an all-out liberal. Resentment among Southern Democrats against his strong stand on civil rights is likely to be increased by a major speech he has scheduled on the issue before the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in New York Wednesday.

Humphrey needs to know as early as possible whether he has any real chance to get the nomination. If he finds he can't make it, he intends to get busy immediately on a campaign for re-election to the Senate in 1960.

In their formal launching of Humphrey's candidacy, McCarthy and Freeman said the Minnesota aspirant "is the Democratic party's best qualified candidate for the presidency."

In a separate statement, McCarthy said Humphrey deserves the nomination because he has "championed great causes, both national and international, with the voice of authority based on detailed knowledge, intelligence and integrity."

"His record on civil rights, agriculture, labor, small business, immigration and foreign affairs is clear and candid," he said.

Summer Concerts In The Backyard

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Concerts under the stars have become in recent years a leading item on the American vacation agenda. The music of straw hat circuit, a refinement of the old time hand concert in the park, now attracts top orchestras and soloists of the musical world and fully has gone out of date and all of them lovely to hear. The mood may be Viennese in origin, but the excellence of the material is a reminder that America led the field in Broadway-type musicals long before the advent of "Oklahoma!" and "My Fair Lady."

In fact, the liner notes provide the interesting information that "Desert Song" once had another and now famous title. Its working title in rehearsals and out-of-town tryouts was "My Fair Lady."

The Roger Shaw Chorale sings a sweet summer serenade in RCA Victor's "Stephen Foster Songbook," which features an excellent cross section of the immortal composer's creative output. All the old favorites like "Old Black Joe," "Beautiful Dreamer" and "My Old Kentucky Home" are here, along with some of his lesser known works, such as "Way Down in Ca-i-ro" and "Dolcy Jones."

Included in a delightfully illustrated song book, with words and music arranged for voice and piano by Skitch Henderson.

Summer concerts have always provided a much needed outlet for new or relatively unknown works, a chance for innovation and experimentation. Do-it-yourself vacationists who want to follow the trend will enjoy discovering "Zarzuela," a type of Spanish music that is best described as a combination of light opera and folk music. The Madrid Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Spanish composer F. Moreno Torroba, explores the form in "Zarzuela," an ABC-Paramount album.

The themes of Spanish folk opera are zestfully melodic—and the titles intriguing: "Water, Candy and Brandy"; "Giants and Big Shots"; "The Fiesta of the Dove."

At last the theatrical straw hat circuit has come up with an original cast album of its own. Guy Lombardo's production of "Song of Norway," now in its second year at the Jones Beach Marine Theater on Long Island, has been superbly recorded by Columbia with original stars Brenda Lewis and John Rierdon.

U.S., Russ Workers Labor Mightily To Finish Exhibit

MOSCOW (AP)—With the opening of the U.S. Exhibition in Moscow by Vice President Richard M. Nixon only 10 days away, the fair grounds still look more like a bomb site than a shiny advertisement of the American way of life.

The staging in Gorki Park is so far from completion it looks as if only a miracle could finish it on time—but Soviet workmen are promising to work the miracle.

Seventy-five young Russian-speaking Americans, brought over to act as guides at the exhibit, were handed brooms, paint brushes and frying pans immediately on arrival.

Two of the girls were led to hot plates to fix snacks for superintendents and foremen too busy to leave the grounds to eat.

There is plenty of enthusiasm—and optimism—about the outcome.

John C. Folger, U.S. ambassador to Belgium, visited the fair site and predicted the American exhibition here would surpass that at the Brussels World Fair in 1958.

The exhibit is to show off "American life, industry and culture" to the Soviet people as a companion piece to the Soviet exhibition being held in New York.

The framework of the main exhibition hall is still being bolted together but the structure is essentially complete. Some individual exhibits are already in place.

Bulldozers are still tearing up and replacing earth for the landscaping; drain pipes are still being laid. The grounds are a mud patch with no grass.

The Americans are particularly annoyed at Soviet insistence that a network of steel braces be built around the outside of the vast aluminum dome of the main exhibit hall.

The mass of ugly steel bracing takes away much of the airy lightness of the gold-tinted aluminum dome—the architectural centerpiece of the exhibition.

There have been all sorts of aggravating little hitches but the workers generally have shown genuine enthusiasm.

The Soviets refused to allow skilled Finnish carpenters to assemble a prefabricated building made in Finland and insisted on doing the work themselves. The Finns patiently taught the Soviets how to do the job.

Bridges Commended
AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Senate agrees with U.S. Sen. Bridges (R-NH) on touring Russian officials. Senators offered Bridges their collective congratulations yesterday for blocking a proposed invitation to F. R. Kozlov to speak to the U.S. Senate. Kozlov, a Soviet vice premier, is on a U.S. tour.
