Col. Riddle To Take New Post In France

Col. Kyle L. Riddle today received orders transferring him from the command of Webb Air Force Base to a tactical command in Europe.

He is to become commander of the 66th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, based at Laon, France. This wing is composed of four squadrons, flying F-101's, two based at Laon and two at Phalsbourg, France. The 66th is a unit under United States Air Forces Europe.

Colonel Riddle expects to depart Webb by mid-August. His successor here has not yet been announced.

Colonel Riddle was announced as Webb's wing commander just two years ago today. He had been at the base since the preceding April, serving as wing executive officer.

He came here from Sandia Base (Albuquerque) New Mexico, where he had been with the field command of the Armed Forces Special Weapons project.

Colonel Riddle's Air Force career dates back to 1938, and he has been in a command capacity since 1940. His service record includes three years in Panama with the 37th Fighter Group, Commander of the 329th Ftr. Group, at Muroc, Calif., and deputy commander of the 364th Ftr. Grp. there.

In December of 1943, he took command of the 479th Ftr. Gp. at Wattisham, England, and during the ensuing months logged 353 combat hours in the World War II fighting over Europe. He was decorated many times during the period, and a number of numerous awards he holds the Silver Star, DFC, Air Medal with eight clusters, and the French Croix de Guerre with palm. He is a veteran of 78 combat missions, flying P-38's and P-51's.

After VE Day, he was with the Occupation Forces at Bad Kissingen, Germany, as chief of staff of the 65th Fighter Wing.

Later assignments were as commandant Hq., TAC; chief of training division, Continental Air Command; and as assistant deputy chief, USAF section, with the Joint U. S. Military Aid Group in Greece.

He has attended the Armed

COLONEL KYLE RIDDLE

Forces Staff College and the Air War College.

Colonel Riddle is a native Texan, born at Decatur, and a 1937 graduate of Texas A&M College.

He is married to the former Davilla St. Clair, whose home was in Dallas, and they have four children: Christie, 15; Dinah, 13; Davilla, 9; and Kyle Jr., 3. The family will accompany Colonel Riddle to the new post in France.

Colonel Riddle has maintained a close and cordial relationship between Webb and the community, and is recognized by the people of Big Spring as being a staunch supporter of every activity in which his aid and counsel have been sought.

While his memberships nominally were "honorary", he has taken an active role with the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce and in the Rotary Club. An ardent sportsman, he has gained many friends in golfing and hunting circles.

Mrs. Riddle also has been active in club, civic and social affairs, currently is president of the Gold and Junior High Parent-Teacher Association, and a leader in the Webb Grey Ladies' program.

While most Big Springers have known Colonel Riddle principally for his friendly personality and his whole-hearted cooperation in civilian affairs, he also has made an outstanding record as commander at Webb, winning for the Base high marks in safety, training and operational efficiency to make it one of the top-rated installations in the Air Training Command.

American Jet Airliner Beats Russian Record

MOSCOW (AP)—A huge American white and blue jet blazed a nonstop aerial trail from New York to Moscow today.

It spanned the 4,800 miles in 8 hours 53 minutes, smashing the record set by a Soviet TU114 turbo jet 10 days ago with Frol R. Kuzlov aboard. The Soviet plane took 9 hours 48 minutes.

Occasionally flying 610 m.p.h., the Boeing 707-321 carried 73 newsmen and government aides who are accompanying Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The pilot was ready to land at 8 hours 45 minutes but the air tower delayed his landing.

While soft music was piped through the plane's intercom, the brand new airliner flew most of the way across the Atlantic at a minimum cruising speed of 575 m.p.h.

It flew between 31,000 and 40,000 feet without a bump during the flight.

Three English-speaking Soviet fliers who boarded the ship at New York took over technical control as the plane approached the Latvian coast.

"We now are passing behind the Iron Curtain," said the Pan American Airways pilot, 43-year-old Clarence N. Warren of Ridgefield, Conn.

It was the first flight to Moscow by a commercial American plane.

Weather Slows YMCA Building

A look at construction progress and financing outlook on the new YMCA home was taken by the Y's long-range planning committee Wednesday afternoon.

Committee members heard from Bill French of the architect-engineer firm of Puckett & French. He pointed out that rains had been a handicap in foundation and basement work, but that the contractor, J. D. Jones, is now getting in position to carry on work on schedule. A labor shortage in some categories also has delayed progress.

A sub committee composed of Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. Bill Neal and Bobo Hardy will arrange for the color scheme in the building, including tile, draperies, furnishings, etc.

While payments on pledges to the Y building fund have been coming in at a satisfactory rate, the committee reported, the organization is having to keep a sharp watch on balances to delay long-range borrowing as long as possible. Most of the building fund's resources are in savings accounts, and a schedule is being followed to accumulate as much interest earnings as possible.

Nasser, Iraq May Be Burying Axe

CAIRO (AP)—President Nasser blamed the rift between Iraq and the United Arab Republic on communist intrigues Wednesday night and called for close friendship with a unified, independent Baghdad regime.

Nasser's remarks appeared to be a response to Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's olive branch a few days ago, when Kassem said the Arabs should close their ranks and let bygones be bygones.

House Clears Way For Tax Bill Action

Panel Urges Aid Continue In Red Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential study committee said today many forms of U.S. economic aid abroad must continue as long as the Communist threat exists.

The group recommended more selective choosing of recipient nations, however.

The committee also called for creation of a new government agency—to be set up outside the State Department—for administration of the major economic assistance programs. It said the "central weakness" at present is that these activities now are scattered among a number of federal agencies.

President Eisenhower sent the report to Congress as a House Appropriations subcommittee made public charges of waste and mismanagement in the multibillion dollar foreign aid program.

(Related story on page 8-A).

That report came out on the heels of final congressional action on a bill authorizing $3,556,200,000 in foreign aid for the coming year. The amount, covering military as well as economic assistance, was only $353,200,000 below Eisenhower's recommendations. The new criticism, however, was a definite indicator of further cutting efforts when the actual money question comes up in an appropriation bill.

The Eisenhower study committee, headed by William H. Draper, former ambassador to NATO and former assistant secretary of the Army, said it is aware of such charges in connection with the economic aid aspects of the program. The committee said further:

"While we believe that the administration and coordination of these programs has improved in recent years, there is no question but that some of these criticisms are justified. However, the conclusion we reach is that the programs must be continued and better administered, not emasculated or abandoned."

The group said the choice of countries and projects must be on the basis of "which will yield the greatest in increasing free world strength."

It called the Communist threat an "individual military-economic political menace" and said the U.S. aid efforts must go on "for as long as the Communist threat exists, and certainly until greater economic progress has been made in underdeveloped nations."

In that connection the group said: "China and Russia are pursuing a totalitarian and brutal method of achieving rapid economic growth at a tragically high cost in human life and in loss of freedom."

In calling for creation of a new agency, the committee recommended appointment of an outstanding individual, acceptable to the secretary of state, to head it.

Controversy

A Church of England official ruled that this statue of Christ isn't welcome — even as a gift. The 11-foot six-ton statue, by sculptor Sir Jacob Epstein, 79, is titled "Ecce Homo," Latin for "Behold the Man." The vicar of Britain's Selby Abbey asked the New York-born Epstein to leave his statue to the abbey in his will and the sculptor offered it as a gift. A storm of criticism followed and it now appears that the statue, homeless for 25 years, is still without a home.

Rules Suspended By Legislators

AUSTIN (AP)—House members jumped into the tax bill fight again this morning and immediately cleared the way for final action today.

A few minutes after Speaker Waggoner Carr laid out a proposed package tax measure, the House voted 121-245 to suspend rules requiring bills to be considered on three different legislative days.

"Let's get her out of here today," said Rep. J. C. Zbronek of Liberty.

The vote result has the effect of requiring only majority decisions on the numerous pending amendments and substitute bills offered.

The package tax bill laid out was one of two bills, totaling $193,489,000, recommended by the House Tax Committee yesterday.

The Senate met briefly this morning then adjourned until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow. Most of the senators moved into the House to listen to the tax bill debate.

Three previous skirmishes ended with no taxes to knock out the 37 million dollar deficit and balance a budget for 1960-61.

Senators and Representatives were unable to reach agreement on either taxing or spending in the regular session and two special sessions of the Legislature.

Representatives get the first whack and what they decide will do the job goes to the Senate. Its answer will mean another compromise committee will try to resolve the differences.

The Senate will sit and watch the House Thursday.

Natural gas and general sales tax proposals remain the major conflict areas.

The House Tax Committee recommended the two most controversial items but in different packages.

The big $177,289,000 bill includes the 2 per cent general sales tax on items costing more than $100. This will bring in 50 million dollars.

The other includes only a fraction of Gov. Price Daniel's recommended tax on natural gas pipelines. The 1.2 mills per 1,000 cubic feet tax on the severance beneficiary will bring in $16,200,000 compared to the 40 million Daniel wants from the pipeline companies.

Other taxes recommended by committee include 7 cents a pack on cigarettes instead of the present 5 cents, about 25 per cent of value tax on other tobacco products except snuff, 1.5 per cent on motor vehicles instead of 1.1, liquor increased from $1,408 a gallon to $1,600 and wine up 20 per cent, utilities gross receipts boosted 20 per cent over present levies, corporation franchise tax increased 75 cents for one year with a 50-cent permanent increase.

Herter Tells Gromyko There's Little Hope For Berlin Pact

GENEVA (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today there is no little hope for success of the Big Four conference unless Gromyko abandons key Soviet demands for a stopgap agreement on Berlin.

Herter made a new attack on Soviet proposals which he said would reserve the Soviet threat against West Berlin as a weapon against the West and would also turn over negotiations on German unification to an East-West German committee.

He branded these Soviet proposals obstacles to an accord and said that unless they are overcome there is clearly little hope for the success of the Geneva conference.

Meanwhile, a new threat from Nikita Khrushchev of Communist action against West Berlin put pressure on the conference. The Soviet Premier said in a joint Soviet-Polish communique at Warsaw that the Western stand at Geneva may lead to aggravation of a situation "pregnant with danger to the cause of peace in Europe."

The communique warned that if what it called the "abnormal situation" in Berlin—the Western occupation—is not liquidated, the Soviet Union and Poland "will support East Germany in measures which she may recognize as appropriate."

Khrushchev and the Poles repeated the original Soviet demands for peace treaties with the two Germans and the transformation of West Berlin into a demilitarized zone.

Both sides declared they had no intention of backing down on key issues involving their basic and completely contradictory aims in Geneva negotiations.

The Western foreign ministers and Gromyko meanwhile were deadlocked in negotiations to find a way out of the Berlin crisis.

zed "free city." And they repeated Khrushchev's threat to sign a peace treaty with East Germany if the Allies do not meet the Communist demands. This would give the East Germans control of supplies to the Allied garrisons in West Berlin raising the threat of a new Berlin blockade.

The new threat to use Soviet power against Berlin brought some renewal of the tension which had subsided somewhat as the Geneva negotiations dragged on.

But Khrushchev and the Poles perhaps significantly set no time limit for achievement of their demands. And the communique indicated an agreement could wait for a summit conference.

Nixon Flies Into Moscow, Finds Cold Shoulder, Khrushy Blast

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (WAP)—U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew into Moscow today with a plea for friendship. He found the atmosphere frigid — with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev again blasting the United States for its attitude toward the Soviet Union.

The two leaders did not meet face to face; that was to come later. But while Nixon was getting an official welcome at the airport, Khrushchev was talking to a Sports Palace crowd welcoming him home from a 9-day trip to Poland. He again took the United States to task for proclaiming this week as "Captive Nations Week," and said: "They send their governors here (referring to the recent visit of nine U.S. state governors). They send their vice president here. They are opening an exhibit here — and then they do a thing like this."

Nixon's jet plane brought him to Moscow in 10 hours 54 minutes. He was met by Frol R. Kozlov, first deputy premier, who recently toured the United States. The Nixon trip is in effect an exchange visit. The vice president's official purpose is to open the U.S. exhibit Friday.

In his brief airport remarks

Nixon warned that in another war "there will be no victors, only losers."

"There are grave and serious problems which divide us — differences which if not resolved could endanger the peace to which we are all dedicated," he said.

Nixon spoke for about 12 minutes. About 100 diplomats were grouped around him. A few American and Soviet flags fluttered in the background. There were no signs or slogans displayed as is customary when visitors from the Soviet bloc come in.

Kozlov responded briefly and the interpretation was even more brief. The interpreter said merely: "The message is peace."

Nixon entered a Soviet limousine flying the U.S. flag and headed out the airport gates to the city and Spaso House, the residence of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson. That will be his home in Moscow.

There were about 200 Soviet and foreign newsmen present but only a small crowd of Russians at the airport itself.

As Nixon's car headed toward the airport building he spotted a large group of travelers, mostly Russians, on the plaza of the administration building. He ordered the car stopped, jumped out and began shaking hands.

A small crowd then collected around the car and Nixon, beaming, shook hands with everyone. Then he got in his car and resumed the trip to the city.

It was anticipated he and President Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, and other members of his party, would meet Khrushchev and his principal aides for a final briefing on Soviet affairs.

Nixon's arrival was not announced immediately either by Moscow Radio or the TV network. Both were using their facilities to cover a friendship rally for Poland then being addressed by Khrushchev in the Sports Palace.

The proclamation of this week as "Captive Nations Week" in the United States had hit a raw nerve here, Khrushchev first spoke of it at Warsaw Tuesday. Wednesday Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, issued a half-page blast against the United States.

Today the Soviet premier spoke of the "capitalist tyranny" that he contends is really the thing that holds some nations captive.

It was strictly protocol for Kozlov, rather than Khrushchev, to meet Nixon at the airport. Nixon met Kozlov at the current Soviet exhibit in New York, which President Eisenhower also saw.

The vice president's jet plane arrived at 3 p.m., Moscow time, after a non-stop flight from the United States.

Accompanying Nixon and his wife, Pat, on the 4,800-mile flight from Washington was an official party of 35. Preceding them was a plane carrying about 70 U.S. newspaper, radio and television representatives assigned to cover the vice president's tour of the Soviet Union.

This plane, a Boeing 707-321 jet, landed about 30 minutes before the Nixon ship and it was claimed that the arrival time indicated a dash in the record of 9 hours 48 minutes set 10 days ago by the Soviet TU-114 that brought back Kozlov from New York. Unofficially, the American plane was clocked in at 8 hours 45 minutes over the airport and 8 hours 53 minutes in putting down.

Khrushchev had flown into the same airport only an hour and 40 minutes before, after a nine-day visit in Poland.

Nixon opened his 11-day tour with a plea for friendship.

"For the first time since the dawn of civilization, we have reached the point where we must learn to live together or we will die together," he said in a prepared airport speech made available shortly after he took off from Washington Wednesday night.

He held out an open invitation to all Russians to "speak freely to me and x x x ask me any question you want."

"Frank and honest discussion on all levels," he said, "x x x will help us both to know and understand one another better."

He continued: "We would not be honest if we did not recognize that while only 40 miles of ocean separates our new state of Alaska from the territory of the Soviet Union, and while the travel time between Moscow and New York is less than 10 hours, there are grave and serious problems which divide us—differences which, if not resolved, could endanger the peace to which we all are dedicated."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Labor Committee, by a narrow 16-14 vote, today formally approved a compromise labor control bill. (Earlier story on Page 5-A.)

Flighty Performance

Ida Pereira, 25, trips the light fantastic on a stairway in a New York police station after she was arrested with Esther Huerta, 21, right, and ex-convict James Meschel, 31, who hides his face in the background. The trio was booked for staging an indecent performance after police investigated a party in a luxurious basement apartment. Police said some 30 men and women were present and that a nude couple cavorted in a swimming pool sunken in the living room. All but the trio fled. They also were charged with possession of marijuana.

Woman Found Dead Under Dallas Porch

DALLAS (AP)—The nude body of a young white woman was found stuffed today under the porch of a frame house in southwest Dallas.

Police called to the scene shortly before noon said she appeared to have been about 19 years old.

Residents of the house returned last night from vacation.

This morning an 11-year-old neighbor boy, Willie Richardson, told them "there's something under your porch."

Police said the body apparently had been there two days.

Police said the state of the body made it impossible to tell immediately how the woman met death.

Investigators said the body might be that of Mary Simmons, 19, who was reported missing yesterday by her landlady, Mrs. Jean Oats.

The landlady told police the last time she saw the girl was 6 p.m. Tuesday.

The Simmons girl's purse was found today in some bushes.

Police said the Simmons girl's mother was Mrs. Elsie Lovett of Midland, Tex.

Tragedy Hits Family Again

For the second time within the week, death has claimed a nephew of Boone Horne.

On Monday Bill Horne, a resident of Big Spring since 1941 died following a long illness. Then Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horne learned that 1st Lt. John J. Hannah III had been killed in a helicopter crash on Okinawa.

Lt. Hannah had visited in the Horne home here frequently. He was to have been married in August and was planning on returning home around Aug. 1. The body will be returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hannah in Quanah but other arrangements have not been completed.

Wheat Quota Voting Opens

The polls close at 6 p.m. today for balloting in the wheat quota referendum. Farmers with an interest in 15 acres or more wheat allotment are eligible to vote.

The only voting station will be in the ASC office, 403 Lancaster. The polls were opened at 8 a.m. If a vote of "yes" is cast, it is for price supports to be at the full level (probably 75 per cent for 1960) as established by the secretary of agriculture. Also, it will be for penalties for exceeding allotments.

A vote of "no" will be against marketing quotas; no penalties will be made for harvesting over allotments. However, acreage allotments previously announced would hold good for 1960.

Body Of Woman Found Hanging

The body of Pauline Ortega, 24, was found in the bathroom of an apartment at Elm Courts about noon today. The remains are at Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home, but no arrangements have been set.

Police said that the woman's body was found hanging in a shower stall. Miss Ortega had been charged here Tuesday with assault with intent to murder in connection with an altercation in which Romona Polanco was knifed Monday night.

DEAR ABBY

NO SMOKING

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a minister. Together we seek to maintain a home that will be a blessing to our children and an example of upright living for our neighbors and parishioners. We are faced with a problem that may seem small to some people but is big to us. We have no ashtrays because we do not enjoy smoke in our home or lungs. We have certain friends who refuse to visit us because they know how we feel about smoking in our home. Are we being unfair to make this simple request or not?

DEAR ABBY: My child is 13 years old. He is rather nervous and high strung, and we were advised not to upset him. Lately I have been finding things that I know do not belong to him. He has confiscated other children's property in the past, and we have quietly returned it without making a fuss. We are worried because he has more money lately than he can save from his allowance. There has never been anything like this in our family before, and we want to know how to handle it. Thank you for a printed reply. No names please, as we are well known in this town.

PASTOR'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is not a "simple request" to a habitual smoker. Your lack of tolerance may occasion criticism from some of your smoking friends. I doubt if any of your really worthwhile friendships will go up in smoke.

MRS. NO NAME
DEAR MRS. N. N.: You do your son no favor by quietly returning objects "confiscated" by him without making a fuss. Stealing is a symptom of something which can be cured only with professional help. Get it at once.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who sits herself in the front seat of the car next to her son and makes her daughter-in-law sit in the back by herself?

DEAR ABBY: My sister has three children, ages 5, 9 and 12. I hate to go to her house because she is constantly hitting them. If one of the kids "looks guilty" she hauls off and hits them. When I ask her what he did, she says, "He LOOKED guilty." She doesn't even give the child a chance to explain or anything. These poor kids are in tears most of the time. I believe in punishing kids when they have it coming, but do you think a mother should hit a child because he "LOOKS GUILTY"? P.S. My sister claims she is being a good mother. DENA

DEAR DENA: A "good mother" punishes a child only for a very good reason. It is not unusual for children to harbor the bitter resentment of undeserved punishments long after they have reached maturity. (P.S. As a "mother" your sister would have made a fine geologist. She has rocks in her head.)

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rains To Continue In All Parts Of State

By The Associated Press
Forecasts called for occasional rain in all parts of Texas Thursday as the West Texas communities of Canyon and Anton surveyed damage from violent weather which struck Wednesday.

Thunderstorms were reported at dawn along the Gulf Coast and through North and Northwest Texas in the Childress and Wichita Falls areas.

The third hailstorm in the past two weeks struck Canyon Thursday. It piled hail as much as six inches deep in parts of the Panhandle city, newsmen said.

Some of the stones were said to be the size of 25 cent pieces. High wind and a 3.10-inch rain accompanied the hail. At least one business was flooded, U.S. Highway 27 was covered with water in two places and State Highway 217 was closed briefly.

Heavy roof damage from the hail brought the damage estimate for the three storms to $500,000. A small twister was blamed for ripping the roof off the farm home of the Thomas James family, three miles northwest of Anton on the South Plains.

Another storm dumped two inches of rain and some hail around Littlefield, 30 miles northwest of Lubbock. There were no reports of damage.

Funnel reports came from the Beaumont-Port Arthur area for second day in a row.

Two of the ominous clouds were spotted seven miles southwest of Beaumont and a Beaumont resident said he saw a third funnel. All three disappeared without touching the ground or causing any damage.

Thunderstorms and thunder showers were reported in other parts of the Panhandle, along the middle and lower Texas Coast and east and southeast of San Antonio during the afternoon.

Official rainfall measurements for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Wednesday included .10 inch at Galveston, .05 at Victoria and .01 at Beaumont.

Temperatures ranged from 103 at Presidio to 86 at Victoria. Most readings were in the 90s.

DALLAS (AP)—Funeral services are scheduled here Friday for Charles Elmer Doolin, 56, founder of the Frito Co., who died Wednesday after suffering at Saturday heart attack.

Gains Forgiveness After Murder Try

WEST LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm sorry," Robert Briggs told his wife in the courthouse corridor.

His wife rushed to him, threw her arms about him and kissed him on the lips Wednesday.

Briggs was in handcuffs. His wife Norma, 34, had blackened eyes and her head was bandaged.

Briggs, 39, a building contractor, is accused of attempted murder. The state says he pushed his wife and her mother, Mrs. Mary D. Nilson, 65, over a 450-foot cliff in a car. Then he is accused of beating them with a pick ax and a tire iron.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana was in fine spirits Wednesday.

The governor? Why, he just grinned broadly, didn't say a word.

Visitors To Moscow Fair Will Find A Texas Touch

EL CAMPO (AP) — Visitors to the American exhibition at Moscow's Sokolniki Park will find a touch of Texas.

Ivan will view copies of the El Campo Leader-News, selected by the State Department for display because it regularly carried language lessons in English, Czech and Russian.

The lesson appears in an eight-page tabloid section of the weekly newspaper. The section actually is a continuation of the newspaper "Svoboda," which means "liberty."

Svoboda claims to be the oldest Czech newspaper in the South. It was established in 1885.

Except for the back page, it is printed in the Czech language — even the advertisements.

The Leader-News launched the series last April under the direction of Dr. Joe Malik, executive secretary of the department of Slavonic language of the University of Texas. It says response has been phenomenal.

El Campo's radio station KULP augments the newspaper language sessions with weekly 30-minute radio talks by Dr. Malik.

About 30 per cent of the residents are Czech descendants, 15 per cent German, 10 per cent Latin American and 5 to 10 per cent Danish and Swedish.

School Supt. George Thigpen said he plans to utilize the newspaper and radio tapes as regular projects in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in El Campo schools.

8 Texans Attend Strategy Seminar

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Texans are among 200 reserve officers attending a two-week national strategy seminar at the Army War College on the grounds of Ft. McNair not far from the Capitol.

While the Defense Department is cooperating and crediting the men with active duty time, the seminar is sponsored by the Institute for American Strategy and the Reserve Officers Assn.

The purpose: to provide them with a better understanding of the global conflict between the free world and Communists and to aid them in formulating plans to enhance free world security. Seminar director is Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupe of the University of Pennsylvania Foreign Policy Research Institute.

The Texans, some of whom were "billeted" at the Sheraton Park Hotel along Rock Creek Park included:

Maj. Gen. James Earl Rudder, Army Reserve, president of Texas A&M College; Capt. Thurman M.

Gupton, Naval Reserve, Angleton judge; Cmdr. William L. Story, Naval Reserve, Dallas attorney; Maj. Frank Norton, Air Force Reserve, Dallas lawyer; Capt. Robert J. Robinson, Air Force Reserve, Dallas school teacher (Boude Storey Junior High); Col. James D. Scott, chief of staff, National Guard, Dallas; Capt. Billie Gene Hollowell, Air National Guard, Grand Saline attorney, Col. Brudge E. Kyle, Air Force Reserve, Beaumont investment broker.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

A pretty brown-eyed Texas school marm, Byrda Lynn Bracewell, 24, is spending the summer working in the office of Rep. John Dowdy of Athens.

She'll return in September to her speech classes at Houston's Landrum Junior High, ready to dispense pointers on Congressional oratory as observed by her during lunch hour visits to the House and Senate.

A 1955 University of Texas graduate, Miss Bracewell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bracewell of Huntsville. Her father is an East Texas lawyer and former district attorney. She worked at Houston radio and television stations and spent a summer with a stock theater in New York before starting to teach in the fall of 1957.

Capitol Hill friends and associates of Lacey Sharp of Waco find he wants to monopolize conversation these days when the talk is about baseball. Sharp, top aide to Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex), makes sure you've heard of his 16-year-old son, Rusty Sharp, who pitched a NO HIT-NO run game at the North Carolina boys summer camp he is attending. Rusty was credited with 14 strikeouts.

Rep. Walker Rogers of Pampa got a real surprise birthday party staged by Texas colleagues and secretarial staffers. They saluted him at a gathering in the old George Washington Inn, across the street from the House Office buildings. As a hotel, many members of Congress resided there, but the building is now occupied by the staffs of House subcommittees. Rogers was 51 on July 19.

When Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio and Mrs. Kilday recently entertained Texas friends at their home in northwest Washington, the Mexican food served in the basement recreation room outdoor turkey and ham served upstairs.

Julian Langston of Abilene, aide to the House Administration Committee which Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex) heads, commutes during the summer between Washington and a cottage on Cobb Island, 40 miles away, down the Potomac River. Langston, who sports a 30-foot cruiser, is winning local fame as a fisherman and boatman.

Steel Strike At A Glance

IDLE — Half a million United Steelworkers who struck the basic steel industry nine days ago; also approximately 45,500 workers in allied industries.

NEGOTIATIONS — Joint industry-union talks scheduled to resume in New York Monday under the guidance of federal mediators. Federal mediation chief Joseph F. Finnegan met twice Wednesday with industry representatives and once with union representatives. Finnegan said again that he sees no early or easy settlement of the strike.

IN WASHINGTON — Finnegan planned a conference today with Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell. President Eisenhower told a news conference that when Mitchell digs into the facts of the strike he will go beyond mere profit and labor costs.

PRODUCTION AND WAGE LOSSES — As each day of the strike passes, the steel industry loses 300,000 tons of ingot steel production. This amounts to 300 million dollars worth of business in a week. Striking steelworkers are losing nearly 70 million dollars a week in wages.

ISSUES — The union wants a 15-cent-an-hour annual wage hike plus fringe benefits. The industry has rejected these demands and claims rising labor costs would force steel prices upward, inflating the nation's economy. The union argues that steel firms can grant wage hikes without jacking up steel prices.

Primaries Set For 1960 Vote In 16 States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential primaries will be held in 16 states and the District of Columbia in 1960. Since 1956 two states—Minnesota and Montana—have repealed their presidential primary laws.

Voters in most of the primary states will have a chance to express a preference among potential presidential candidates, either directly or indirectly through election of convention delegates. Exceptions are New York's delegates and delegates at large from Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Without going into details on each state primary law as to whether the voting is binding or not on convention delegates, the research division of the Republican National Committee has compiled the following primary information.

States having a direct preference vote for presidential nominees, and the dates of the primaries, are: New Hampshire, March 8; Illinois, April 12; New Jersey, April 19; Pennsylvania, April 26; Indiana, May 3; West Virginia and Nebraska, May 10; Maryland, May 17; and Oregon, May 20.

States not having a direct preference vote for presidential nominees, and the dates of the primaries, are: Wisconsin, April 5; Massachusetts, except by write-in, April 26; Ohio, May 3; Florida, May 24; and California, New York and South Dakota, June 7.

In the District of Columbia voting on convention delegates may be the question of direct preference will be up to the election board.

In the following states, the name of the preferred presidential candidate may appear on the ballot along with delegate candidates supporting him: New Hampshire, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Oregon, Florida, California and South Dakota.

States having no indication on the ballot of presidential preference of candidates for delegate are Illinois, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Nebraska and New York.

LONDON (AP) — A former Washington hostess who sued her British ex-lover for $372,400 lost her case in the High Court today. The plaintiff was a 50-year-old Belgian divorcee, Martha Maria Brusset. She said she was recognized as one of the U.S. capital's top three party-throwers when acting as a "business contact woman" for two U.S. corporations from 1947 to 1951. But Washington society reporters said she wasn't quite that high up on the scale.

Alert Porter Foils Young Imposter At 3 Hospitals

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A nervous young man who masqueraded as a physician and had his run of three Memphis hospitals for five months was foiled Wednesday by an alert Negro porter.

When police arrested Aldridge at the trailer where he lived with his mother and young bride, they found thousands of dollars worth of medical supplies which Aldridge is charged with stealing from the hospitals.

Webb Pilots Urged Renew Faith In American Freedoms

"Our wonderful American way of life—how casually we regard it, how easily we may lose it, and how poorly some of us treat it."

This was the topic discussed Wednesday night by Maj. Gen. Harry Crutcher Jr., Chief of Staff for Air for the State of Texas, at graduation exercises for Class 60-A. Speaking to the 60 graduates and a full chapel of friends, relatives and Webb officials, the general explored the background of our national heritage.

For the 150 years before the '30s, he said, much American blood, sweat and tears were shed to uphold the dignity of man and secure our priceless freedom. Even after the '30s, he continued, despite economic difficulties America was still sound, vigorous and proudly protective of its heritage.

UNDER DANGEROUS PRESSURE. Since World War II, however, the American way of life has been threatened in new and dangerous ways, he said. In many instances family life has all but been destroyed and business, personal and social morals all sorely tested.

While diplomats talked, we naively hoped, and entered an environment for which past experience had ill prepared us, he said. He expressed thanks that our way of life, though characterized by an increase of governmental power at the expense of the individual, is still what it is. "We wouldn't exchange it, but what will we do for it?" he asked.

"Is our America still a shining lantern to hold up to the world? Have we strengthened ourselves to the maximum?" Posing these questions, he reiterated that America came into existence through sweat, pain and hard work and can only be maintained that way. "Examine your conscience," he admonished, pointing out that the job ahead will take courage.

Especially in flying, he said, men know that courage is not to be confused with recklessness and foolhardiness, but involves conquering fear, respecting hardships and dangers, and being willing to endure them for a good cause.

Prominent in his resume of services for him but failed to pay off.

Lumley said their arrangement was sexual, not business. He described Mme. Brusset as a disgraced mistress on whom he had spent vast sums.

Lumley's lawyer denounced her suit as a blackmailing attempt to shake his client down for still more money.

Justice Sir Donald Finimore ruled in favor of Lumley and ordered Mme. Brusset to pay the costs of the case.

The judge noted she failed to provide any documentary proof of a business contract with Lumley, who is 67.

"I always wanted to be a doctor," Aldridge said, "but I had asthma and had to quit school. I don't know why I did it. I never used any of the stuff. Sometimes I got it out to look at it. It impressed my wife."

Aldridge said he often chatted with patients about their ailments, but he denies ever attempting to treat anyone.

Aldridge was charged with 13 counts of grand larceny.

Long Stands Up Noted Strip Dancer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana gave strip-teaser Tempest Storm the cold shoulder Wednesday night.

Long had a date with Miss Storm at 11 p.m.—as a night club patron, that is.

Miss Storm put on her show but Long, 63, stayed in his hotel suite, dozing.

The governor watched four horse races at a race track in the afternoon, and said he won $100.

While sitting at the paddock club, he ordered an ounce of whisky with an ounce of mixer. But the governor told the waitress, "don't mix 'em, I don't trust people."

After gulping the whisky and mixer, Long ordered a glass of buttermilk and a slice of bread and chuckled: "Old Earl's a simple man."

During a press conference, he said he's "foolish enough to think I'll be re-elected governor of Louisiana, and I'll have something to do with the Louisiana delegation to the 1960 Democratic national convention."

Padilla Kidnap Theory Probed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Did gangsters kidnap the young daughter of Mexico's wetterweight champion in order to throw him off form for his important fight with an Argentine last Saturday?

Officials investigated this theory today as the two-and-a-half year old child reappeared as mysteriously as she disappeared last Thursday.

The champion, Juan "Bombin" Padilla, was obviously off his form for the fight, which he lost by a knockout to Argentine Adalberto Ochoa.

Padilla said before the fight his daughter, Maria Guadalupe Padilla Badillo, disappeared from a downtown street.

Today the child was brought to a radio studio by a nine-year-old boy who said a "dark, tall and very beautiful" woman had given him 50 centavos to take the girl to the studio.

Steel Industry Leader Wants To See Inflation Spiral Stop

By NORMAN WALKER
NEW YORK (AP) — Can the steel industry stop wage-price inflation in America?
Roger Blough, the industry's top leader as board chairman of United States Steel Corp., is dubious. But he says it's sure worth a real attempt.
"You never know until you try," Blough said in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press. "We think some good will come of it."
Blough relaxed easily as he discussed issues in the nine-day steel strike with a reporter at his corporation's plush skyscraper offices in New York's financial district.
He wore conservative blue and spoke softly with sureness and with feeling.
"I don't think any one company or industry can do this job of stemming inflation," he said.
He noted that other industries have been granting hefty wage boosts this year.
But he voiced a hope that "depending upon the outcome of our stand" in steel, other employers will lend a hand in resisting inflation.
The bargaining stalemate that led to the steel strike is rooted in the industry's position that it won't give up any new wage and benefit increases to members of the United Steelworkers unless there are offsetting labor cost savings.
Asked if the steel industry in- tends to maintain that stand,

Blough said, "That certainly is our purpose."
"I believe the country understands the problem of inflation better than it did 10 years ago, or even two or three years ago," he said. "More people are interested in doing something about it."
Blough said it wasn't a matter of freezing wages throughout the nation. What steel wants stopped, he said, is the constant increase in employment costs—the industry's total labor bill.
There's a difference, he said. At U.S. Steel, for example, individual employees have a chance to increase their earnings through incentive payments and promotions to better jobs.
Have President Eisenhower's re- peated entreaties against inflation to the nation generally and to the steel industry in particular had a part in the present steel industry stand?
"I believe our position is in reasonable conformity with the President's views—and those of millions of citizens," he replied.
How about a steel price cut if steel labor costs are stabilized?
"We're not considering any at the moment," Blough said. "We're concentrating now on achieving a reasonable negotiations result that won't result in employment cost increases."
The interviewer was curious how Blough could go along with a fat steel labor settlement in 1956—the last negotiations—yet is balking at anything like that now.
"I think the steel industry feels it was a very expensive contract," he said.
Blough figures the 1956 contract meant an ultimate 81-cent-per-hour labor cost increase, or a raise of about $1,600 per steelworker over a three-year period. The union figures the cost at much less and has offered in vain to settle again on the 1956 increase basis.
The U.S. Steel chief said his industry also needs more leeway to cut costs to end what he described as wasteful manpower and production practices. The striking union has resisted this on the ground it will mean hardships for individual workers.

Hamer Oil Co. Buys Coronet Shares

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—The Hamer Corp., of Midland, Tex., has purchased all shares of Coronet Oil Co., from Placer Development Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C., Hamer president R. L. Aycock said Wednesday.
Aycock, an El Dorado financier, said the purchase price was $12,190,436. It includes 40 per cent overriding royalty previously held by Placer in Coronet's production from its Andocor field leases in West Texas.
Hamer has reported the dissolution of Coronet and sale of the firm's 49 producing oil wells to Hall Bros. Inc., of Abilene, Tex.

Hawaii Ready To Elect First Asian Solon

HONOLULU (AP) — The fledgling state of Hawaii is getting ready to elect the first Oriental to Congress in U.S. history.
The mid-Pacific island chain will hold its first state election July 28.
And, reflecting the multiracial population, three of the six candidates for Congress are of Japanese or Chinese descent.
There's a possibility too of a split ticket that could send two Asian-Americans to Washington.
The islands, on July 28, will elect two U.S. senators and one representative in addition to a governor and State Legislature.
Hawaii's Democrats, favored to win on the strength of a heavy primary showing last month, believe they have a winner in youthful, Japanese-American Daniel Inouye, 34, a territorial senator, lawyer and decorated war hero, is fast rising in island politics. He lost his right arm in World War II combat while serving in Europe with Hawaii's "Go for Broke" 442nd Regimental Combat Team. The outfit was made up entirely of Japanese-Americans.
Inouye is opposed by Hawaiian-born Republican Charles H. Silva, 55, a dentist who served in the Territorial Legislature and who is trying for elective office again after an absence of seven years. He is at present Hawaii director of public institutions.
Republicans are looking to Chinese-American Hiram L. Fong as the brightest hope for a winner. Fong, 52, a millionaire businessman, is running for the Senate. He is opposed by Connecticut-born Frank F. Fasi, 38, a territorial senator who scored the major upset of the Hawaii primary June 27 by winning the Democratic nomination.
Two old-timers in island politics are contesting the other Senate seat. They are 70-year-old Democrat Oren E. Long, former governor of Hawaii and long-time territorial legislator, and 62-year-old Wilfred C. Tsukiyama, a lawyer, territorial senator and dean of island legislators of Japanese ancestry.
No person of Japanese or Chinese origin has ever been elected to Congress. And only one Asian has been named, Rep. D. S. Saund (D-Calif.), a native of India.

House Labor Panel Readies New Acid Session On Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warring members of the House Labor Committee meet today in a confused, many-sided effort to agree on an anti-racketeering labor bill.
Before the committee was its own product of five weeks of acrimonious bill-drafting sessions. But it was a bill that seemed to please no one.
Lined up with substitute proposals were both Republican and Democratic members.
Within the faction-ridden 30-member group were members who wanted no bill at all, those who felt the committee bill was too tough on labor, and others who felt it was not tough enough.
Committee Republicans derisively called the bill a victory for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa when it was completed last Friday.
After a secret strategy session Wednesday, the Republicans reported they were prepared to make a fight for a bill with stronger enforcement provisions in the committee "bill of rights" for union members.
The committee version was a rewritten draft — containing over 100 amendments — of the bill passed earlier this session by the Senate.
But the House bill struck out the Senate's criminal penalties for violation of union rights and substituted civil court injunctions against union leaders who denied members the exercise of their privileges.
It also cut down the authority of the secretary of labor to act in union election and rights cases, and relaxed Senate-passed restrictions against secondary boycotts, "hot cargo" contracts in interstate transportation, and organizational or "blackmail" picketing.

YANKS RALLY TO TIP INDIANS IN BIG ONE

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can say what you want about that American League pennant race, but as far as the Cleveland Indians are concerned, the New York Yankees still are the team to beat.

The still struggling champs, down 4-0 after five innings, knocked the Indians out of first place for the third time this season and the second time in a week with an 8-5 victory at Cleveland Wednesday night.

That plunked the Indians a full game behind the Chicago White Sox, who climbed back on top with a 5-4 decision over Boston.

Detroit regained fifth place from Washington by beating the Senators 6-2. Kansas City edged within half a game of the sixth-place Nats with a 6-3 victory over Baltimore's third-place Orioles.

The Yankees have won 9 of 16 games with the Indians this season and four of the last five.

They're now within a game of third place.

Herb Score had the champs shut out on three hits until the sixth, when Hector Lopez hit a two-run, two-out homer. They chased the young lefty while taking a 5-4 lead in the seventh on Bobby Richardson's two-run double and a two-out single by Elston Howard. A walk and two-out singles by Richardson and Norm Siebern put it away in the eighth. Ryne Duren bagged his 12th Wednesday night.

FOX WYNN

save for the Yankees, giving up a run on two hits, but striking out four in three innings of relief that nailed it for Duke Maas (8-5).

Sherm Lollar and Nellie Fox each had three of the White Sox's 13 hits, with Fox scoring three runs and Lollar driving in two. It was Lollar's single that brought Fox home with the winner in the ninth to beat the Red Sox and reliever Leo Kieley (3-3). Turk Lown (6-2) won it in relief of Early Wynn.

Ted Williams hit his seventh home run of the year.

Right-hander Ray Herbert won his fifth in a row for the A's, beating the Orioles with a six-hitter for a 9-7 record. The A's clinched it on Wayne Terwilliger's squeeze bunt in the seventh.

Frank Lary (11-7), whose first homer triggered a winning, three-run seventh inning for Detroit, allowed only three hits, but needed Roy Narjeski's hitless relief after Roy Sievers' 14th home run broke up his one-hit shutout in the eighth. Pete Ramos (10-11) lost it.

Nabors Paint Store of Big Spring sees action for the first time tonight in the District 6 ASA Softball tournament in Sterling City, at which time it opposes the San Angelo All-Stars. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The Painters rule as one of the favorites in the five team meet, which extends through Saturday night.

Nabors' management can call upon either Spec Franklin, Troy Wetsel or Cotton Mize for mound duty.

The tournament officially gets under way at 7 p.m., at which time the Texas National Guard of San Angelo opposes First Christian of San Angelo.

The winner of that engagement takes on Sterling City in second round play at 10 p.m. Friday night. The loser challenges the winner in the Nabors-San Angelo All-Star bout at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The survivor in the Nabors-San Angelo All-Star engagement automatically sails into the semi-finals of the double elimination tournament. The tournament finals are down for 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Italy, Aussies Are Tennis Favorites

By The Associated Press

Italy and Australia are favored in two important Davis Cup matches this weekend to be played at Milan and Montreal.

Spain's hopes of upsetting Italy, the 1958 European zone champions, faded when Manuel Santana, one of the two 21-year-old players who beat Britain, suffered a sunstroke Wednesday. Although Santana is recovering satisfactorily he will not be able to play against Italy.

Italy counts on a pair of veterans, Nicola Pietrangeli, 26, and Orlando Sirola, 31, who carried the team to the finals. They will be opposed by Andres Gimeno, 21, and Juan Manuel Couder, 24, Santana's replacement.

Harry Hopman, Australian captain, has refused to name his team for the match with Canada at Montreal. But he is expected to send Neale Fraser, 25, and Rod Laver, 20, against Canada's veteran team.

Both matches run from Friday through Sunday with two singles on the first day, the doubles on Saturday and the final singles on Sunday.

The winner of the Australia-Canada match will play Cuba a week later for the American zone championship. The survivor of that competition will meet the winner of the Italy-Span match on Aug. 7-9 at Germantown, Pa. After this series is finished, the winner will meet India, the eastern zone winner, for the right to challenge the United States.

Fraser, considered Australia's No. 1 player, has been suffering recently from mid attacks of appendicitis. He was rested after playing one singles match in a 4-1 victory over Mexico. Roy Emerson, 22, may take his place. Laver, a left-hander, lost one of his two singles matches in Mexico but won the vital third singles that clinched Australia's victory. The other team member is Bob Mark, 21, with Ken Fletcher, 19, and Marty Mulligan, 18, in reserve.

Canada's four-man team includes Bob Bedard, 27, Sherbrooke, Que.; Don Fontana, 28, Toronto; Frances Godbout, 21, Waterloo, Que. and John Bassett Jr., 20, Toronto.

Smith, Shattuck Win Net Crown

Donald Smith combined with James W. Shattuck to defeat H. E. Baughton and Curtis Westphall, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3, in the finals of the men's doubles in the YMCA Tennis tournament at the City Park Wednesday.

Smith had previously felled Shattuck in the singles finals.

The Webb AFB pair received trophies for their court victory while Baughton and Westphall were rewarded with medals.

Play is scheduled to get under way at 5:30 p.m. Monday in the women's division of the tournament.

Deadline for entry is noon Saturday. Those planning to enter should contact the Y before that time.

Cost of entries will be a new can of tennis balls. The winner of each match takes the unused can of balls.

Casey Planning More Changes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Casey Stengel, the New York Yankees' master juggler, is considering some more moves. If he makes them, they are sure to raise eyebrows.

Several key players are crippled by injuries and the Yankees still are in fourth place, 6½ games behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox. Before Wednesday night's 8-5 victory that toppled the Cleveland Indians from first place, Stengel called a clubhouse meeting.

He told newsmen not to be surprised if center fielder Mickey Mantle shows up at shortstop and catcher Yogi Berra at second base.

"Might have to use 'em there," Stengel said. "Way things have been going, I might have to use anybody any place."

"Mantle played shortstop his first two years in pro ball and Berra played about 20 games at second base his first year," Stengel continued. "It's not in the records, but I know he did."

"You saw that (pitcher Don) Larsen hit. I've been thinking about him in the outfield. And that fella (John) Blanchard says he'd rather play first base than catch."

Shantz in the infield. He's like a cat and he can probably play the infield better left-handed than some of them right-handers do."

What did Stengel tell the players in the pregame meeting?

"I told them to be ready to play any place. I said to them they're all big leaguers. So they should be able to play any place while we're crippled up."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Roy Baird and Harold Bentley, two local coaches, have finished work on their Master's Degrees at Sul Rose College in Alpine.

Baird, who coaches the baseball team here, will spend part of the remainder of the summer painting his mother's house in Loraine. Another West Texas athletic figure who was in college at Alpine was Audrey Gill, the athletic director at Midland.

They faded to a 77 the second day but Big Spring's Bobby Wright and Chris Brashear led the scotch foursome in the Odessa Pro-Am after the first 18 holes of play last week with a 33-34-67.

Brashear is a 23-year-old newly-turned pro who became associated with the Fort Stockton Country Club last Monday. He's been serving as a pro-club manager at a course in Colby, Kansas.

One of the pros in the Odessa meet was Lou Kretlow, who used to pitch for the old St. Louis Browns in the American League.

Gorgeous George, the Orchid Man of the wrestling game who is fulfilling dates in this area, now has a shaved head. Time was when he let his hair grow long and patronized a beauty shop regularly to have it dyed a platinum color and set.

George wrestled here long years ago under his real name, George Wagner, at which time he called Houston home.

Carmen Salvino, 25-year-old bowling pro, has bowled thirty 300 games in his eight-year career.

He's now on a tour sponsored by the American Machine Foundry, makers of bowling equipment.

Iowa University, which won the Rose Bowl game last Jan. 1, will have to do without two of its best backs, Mitch Oglego and Willie Fleming, and may have get along without three other regulars.

All were scholastic casualties but fullback Don Horn, end Don Norton and halfback Bob Jeter are now in summer school trying to make up their grades.

Both Tampa and St. Petersburg, which are next door neighbors, expect to top 100,000 paid attendance in the Class D Florida State league this season.

Ex-Big Springer Witty Quintana paraded to bat twice for the Mexican team in that Pan-American Association All-Star game against the Texans in Mexico City recently but failed to connect safely.

Another one-time Big Spring mound ace, Freddie Rodriguez, has appeared in numerous games since he joined Montreal of the International league but he didn't ring up his first victory until July 10, at which time he beat his former teammates, Buffalo's Bisons, in a relief role, 3-2.

To turn the trick, Rodriguez stopped the Bisons with the bases loaded in the ninth inning. He walked one and fanned two in his one inning stint on the hill.

When Oklahoma sends its football team against Northwestern Sept. 26, it will mark the first time a Bud Wilkinson club has ever opposed a Big Ten contingent. Bud himself is a product of the Big Ten. OU hasn't met a Big Ten team since 1939—when the Sooners beat Northwestern, 23-0.

AREA PLAYOFFS OPEN IN I'NATIONAL PARK

The International Little League at Webb AFB plays hosts to the Area tournament starting tonight, which involves all-star teams of each of the four circuits within the city. The champion of the single-elimination meet becomes eligible to take part in the District tournament at Andrews next week.

One game will be played nightly in the Area meet until a champion has been determined. That means, barring rain or unpleasant weather, the tournament will be concluded Saturday evening.

The first game will send the Internationals against the National leaguers at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The Texas leaguers have at it with the American leaguers at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

M. Sgt. H. E. Butler of Webb is serving as tournament director. Umpires for the tournament will be Sgt. McGowan and Capt. Riley plus two yet to be named.

The public is invited to witness all the games and have only to ask admission at the gate. There will be no charge.

The American Leaguers, with a team built around the city champions, the Jets, will be slightly favored to cop the crown and earn the trip to Andrews.

However, any one of the teams could sweep to the championship without much of a surprise. Anything can happen in a short series where one mistake can oust a club.

The National Leaguers will be tough for the International Leaguers to handle tonight, having piled up more tournament experience than the International League teams. The International League was formed only this season and had only four clubs, compared to six for the other contingents.

The fight here Wednesday night was the second meeting between Machen, who now makes his home in Portland, and Vargas, who fights out of the San Francisco area.

Last May 20 at San Francisco, Machen won a unanimous decision.

Vargas had no defense for Machen's jolting left jab and powerful rights Wednesday night and he seemed ready to go down in the third round.

But it wasn't until the sixth, that Machen moved into finish Vargas. Less than a minute had elapsed in that round when Machen threw a left that sent Vargas into the ropes and then dropped Vargas with a right.

Vargas lurched to his feet at the count of nine, blood running from his mouth. Vargas tried to clinch, but Machen knocked him into the ropes and belted him repeatedly until Referee Ralph Grunen stopped the bout.

Machen now has a 28-1-1 record. Vargas is 18-8.

The bout, televised nationally (ABC) drew a slim crowd of 1,418.

Bob Avila Wins His Spurs With Braves

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Avila, the American League transient, has found a home with the Milwaukee Braves. At 33, the little infielder found himself shuffled off to Baltimore by Cleveland last winter. The Orioles used him here and there, even in the outfield, then packed him off to Boston. Then, after the better part of 11 seasons in the AL, he was peddled to the Braves Tuesday.

At the moment, the only question about that deal in Milwaukee minds is why they didn't make it sooner. It was Avila who finally put an end to the Braves' losing string at seven Wednesday night with his first National League hit—a two-run homer in the ninth that beat Cincinnati 5-4.

The home run hoisted the Braves back into third place, 3 1/2 games behind the San Francisco Giants, who beat St. Louis 6-1. Second-place Los Angeles slipped 1 1/2 games back in a 7-2 pasting by the Chicago Cubs.

Graves Resigns As Lobo Coach

TEMPLE (AP)—B. C. Graves said Wednesday he is unhappy with conditions at Sul Ross State College at Alpine and has resigned as head football coach.

Graves told John Funk, sports editor of the Temple Telegram, he submitted his resignation in a letter to Sul Ross President Bryan Widenhal.

The coach, who led Sul Ross to its first Lone Star Conference football victory in four seasons, finished with a 3-7 record last year for his only year as head mentor.

Graves said he quit because Widenhal did not carry to his request for a fulltime assistant football coach, and he felt conditions at Sul Ross were not conducive to producing good football teams.

Last-place Philadelphia skidded Pittsburgh to fourth 11-4.

Avila's home run, after a walk, ruined rookie Jim O'Toole's first complete game and gave south-paw Warren Spahn (12-10) his 258th major league victory. Spahn hit a home run for the Braves' first run and scored their second after singling, but was tagged for a pair of two-run homers by Willie Jones and Frank Thomas.

The Braves may have lost third baseman Eddie Mathews, the NL home run leader with 29, however, while finding that long-sought second baseman in Avila. Mathews drove in a run with a single, but had to leave the game because of a bruised hip after crashing the fence in pursuit of a foul pop.

Young Mike McCormick (9-7) won his fifth in a row and ended the Giants' slump at three with a six-hitter against St. Louis. He had the cards blanked on four hits until the ninth, when Alex Grammas singled and Hal Smith tripled.

Earl Averill's second grand-slam homer of the season took off a seven-run second inning for the Cubs, making it a breeze for rookie Bob Anderson (6-7). The young right-hander had a five-hitter.

The Phillies smacked 19 hits and had a 7-2 lead within four innings at Pittsburgh, scoring two on Ed Bouchee's homer off reliever Benjie Daniels after starter Ron Kline (7-9) failed to survive the second inning.

Rocket City Allowance Is Set At Ruidoso Tomorrow

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—Ruidoso Downs is now entering the half-way mark of its '59 meet with all records soaring. Competition is keen as they swing into their ninth weekend.

Holding featured eleventh place on their well-balanced card is "The Rocket City Allowance," honoring the town of Alamogordo, a 5 1/2 furlong event that attracted a goodly field of Thoroughbreds possessed of early lick.

Mott, carrying the silks of F. B. Cox of Chandler, Ariz., appears the probable favorite—is a winner at the meet and seems in a fair spot to annex another.

No Gal, belonging to W. L. McDonald of Artesia, N. M., is going good right now while Hickory Red, owned by Walter Merrick of Crawford, Okla., is also a winner—may prefer a fast track for his best effort. Hana Chief, owned by Roy Gaines of Sinton, Tex., is a recent arrival from Ohio—will be making her first start here—was last year's derby winner.

Remaining sprinters: Grey Reading, Jane Pere, Dream Mint, Ameio, and Carnarista. Co-featured as tenth event is "The White Sands Allowance"—a 350-yard allowance for the speedster Quarter Horses.

Carrying the probable favorite's role on his capable shoulders is Do It For Me, owned by Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bethune of Phoenix, Ariz.—is running well and won the Quarter Horse Championship at Phoenix.

Sure Now, representing Ricardo Loustanaun of Hermosillo, Sonora, Mex., is in an easier spot than before while Li Chilla, belonging to W. L. McDonald is making her first start of the meet—was last year's victor in the "Winner Take All" at Albuquerque, N. M.

Remaining contestants: Bull Eagle, Fillee Feline, Miss Ringo, Saily K. K. and Flight Deck.

Don Sol, owned by Doyle Vaughn of Big Spring, Tex., is a consensus pick in the eighth event of the day, a claiming race down for six furlongs.

Youngsters Help Leaders In Nat'l League Scrap

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Giants today maintained their game and one-half hold on the top rung in the National League thanks to a trio of youngsters who broke them out of a slump.

Left-hander Mike McCormick, just 20 although in his fourth major league campaign, put the St. Louis Cardinals down with six hits Wednesday night for a 6-1 victory.

Third baseman Jimmy Davenport, in his second season with the Giants, knocked in two of the runs and scored two.

Left fielder Jackie Brandt, in his first full season since returning from military service, collected two hits and scored two runs.

Both Davenport and Brandt had taken extra batting practice in the afternoon as Manager Bill Rigney's Giants battled successfully to break a three-game losing streak. There was one block spot—center fielder Willie Mays, hitless in three trips, dropped below a 300 average for the first time since the Giants moved west.

If one hero had to be singled out, it would be McCormick, the young southpaw who now has won his last five games and boosted his won-lost record to 9-7 in what should be his best season in the majors. Last year he was 11-8.

Both Davenport and Brandt had taken extra batting practice in the afternoon as Manager Bill Rigney's Giants battled successfully to break a three-game losing streak. There was one block spot—center fielder Willie Mays, hitless in

Found In Icebox

Amulance attendants remove the body of 12-year-old George Bodenheimer III from a shack in Houston, where it was found nude and stuffed into an icebox. Police are holding five Negro teen-age boys for questioning. Police said all the youths maintained their innocence but named each other in the attack on Bodenheimer, a white boy. Two other boys were since involved.

Brunette Coed Gets Nod As 'Miss U.S.A.'

By PATRICK McNULTY
LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but the judges' pick as Miss U.S.A. in the Miss Universe pageant is a statuesque brunette coed from California.

Terry Huntington, 19, mixes to-night with 33 foreign lovelies in the ninth annual international beauty contest. Miss Universe will be selected Friday.

The UCLA dance major has blue-green eyes, stands 5 feet 6 1/2 and measures 36-23-36. She was selected Wednesday night before 4,000 spectators.

Runners-up in order were Miss Texas, Carelean Douglas; Miss Florida, Nanita Greene; Miss Georgia, Dorothy Taylor; and Miss New York, Arlene Nesbitt.

"Baste Flicks" shouted Miss Sweden above the applause in Memorial Auditorium, when her roommate's victory was announced. This roughly translates to: "She's a beauty," explained Miss Sweden. She was so happy over Terry's victory she cried.

Miss U.S.A. remained composed as she sat on the queen's dais and received the pearl-studded crown, while reporters shouted and cameramen popped pictures. But she began to cry beautifully when her brother Phil, 22, resident in his Army uniform, stepped up and embraced her.

"I knew you could do it, Sis," said her crewcut brother, a June graduate of the U.S. Military Academy.

Then her mother, Mrs. Iola Huntington of Mount Shasta, in northern California, elbowed through newsmen, photographers and hangers-on and took her daughter in her arms.

Miss U.S.A. was to become a dance instructor for a few years, and then settle down and raise a family.

But first, she'd probably like to be Miss Universe.

7 Negro Youths Held In Slaying

HOUSTON (AP)— Police said today seven Negro boys have admitted taking part in the sex slaying of a 12-year-old white boy.

Five teen-age Negroes were arrested Wednesday. Two brothers were arrested earlier today.

The nude body of William Bodenheimer III was found Tuesday in an icebox in an abandoned shack near his home.

Police said statements taken from the seven boys indicated young Bodenheimer was attacked sexually 23 times.

Charges of being juvenile delinquents have been filed against five of the boys. No charges have been filed as yet against the other two, Adrian Johnson, 17, and Joe Edward Smith, 17.

The brothers arrested today were Roy Eugene Miller, 16, and Robert Miller, 13. Also charged as delinquents were Ira Lee Sadler, 13, a half brother of Smith, Charles Archer, 15, and Arthur Clemons, 15.

Each of the five arrested yesterday laid the blame on one or more of his companions.

The boys said in written statements Bodenheimer was alive and screaming when he was locked in the icebox.

But Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, Harris County pathologist, said he believes the boy was dead when he was placed in the icebox. The doctor's autopsy report said the boy was attacked sexually and suffocated by unknown means.

Birthday Party Ends In Slayings

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A family birthday celebration ended tragically Wednesday when a father shot two of his children to death, then killed himself.

Police said Pedro Acosta, 39, fatally shot his daughter Patricia and his son Alejandro. The girl was celebrating her eighth birthday and her brother his sixth.

Acosta also critically wounded another daughter, Celia, 10.

Charges Of Waste Mark Aid Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)— Charges of waste and mismanagement in the multibillion-dollar foreign aid program marked House subcommittee hearings made public today.

In one unnamed country investigators found a 20-year supply of WAC clothing, a 45-year supply of 30-caliber carbine ammunition, 70,000 sets of new tire chains left outside without storage and more than a million new carbine and submachinegun clips wasting away.

In Pakistan, U.S. aid officials reportedly had a fleet of 229 passenger cars, 529 refrigerators and 1,027 native helpers for a staff of 271 Americans.

In Peru, a former aid official testified the U.S. aid chief used American and Peruvian technicians to improve a livestock operation in which he was a partner. The chief later lost his job.

The testimony was taken in closed sessions during May and June by the Appropriations subcommittee headed by Rep. Otto Passman (D-La.) in its yearly review of the aid program.

Administration officials denied some of the allegations and said corrective steps have been taken on others. In general, they pictured the continued large-scale aid sought by President Eisenhower for friendly nations as needed for American's survival in the cold war.

The hearings foreshadowed another round of congressional cutting of the aid program.

Congress Wednesday passed a compromise bill authorizing $3,556,200,000 in aid for the coming year, $353,200,000 below Eisenhower's recommendation. The measure only sets ceilings. The actual cash must be voted in an appropriation bill which starts its legislative journey in Passman's committee.

Passman, a long-time foe of the overseas assistance program, has spoken of slashing the money bill another half billion dollars below the authorized figure.

Passman read into the hearings a report identified as findings from a team of U.S. and foreign military officers. While the country was not named, other testimony indicated it was Korea.

"Well over a million new carbine and submachinegun clips were found in open storage," the report said. "They had deteriorated to a point where the major portion was no longer repairable."

"In the same command area there was a mountain of new tire chains estimated at 70,000 sets left outside without maintenance and storage."

"A conservative estimate of the loss due to neglect would run into the millions of dollars and excesses ranged from insignificant in the forward areas to 20 years' supply of WAC clothing in one depot and a 45-year supply of 30-caliber carbine ammunition in one school."

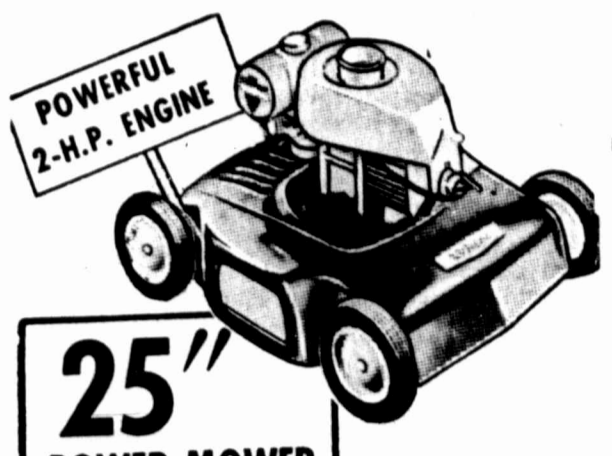

Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich) observed that there's a lot of surplus WAC clothing in America too. "We have much more WAC clothing than we can use in the United States for U.S. Army forces, than all the attractive WACs in the country can use for a good many years."

Charles H. Shuff, acting assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, said the tire chains were among the vast supplies left after the Korean War.

The allegation of overindulgence in Pakistan was made by the General Accounting Office, congressional watchdog agency. U.S. officials said they have cut way down on their auto fleet there and trimmed by 300 their staff of clerks, guards, gardeners, drivers and similar help.

Police Admit Search For Girl Is Futile

SHORT HILLS, N.J. (AP) — Baffled police admitted today that their search for missing socialite Jacqueline Hart, 21 has been futile.

She disappeared Wednesday after seeing her fiancé off at Newark Airport.

Her father Ralph Hart, executive vice president of Colgate Palmolive, pleaded with telephone callers to "keep the line open." He also ordered a second telephone installed in his home, where he and his wife waited "hoping to hear something any minute."

No one could give a logical explanation of why Jacqueline disappeared or where she might have gone—and those close to her declined to speculate.

"I'm scared...I'm just plain scared," said her fiancé Stanley Gaines, 25 Fayetteville, W.Va.

Gaines had flown to Pittsburgh but returned here immediately after learning she was missing. Airport personnel told police they recalled seeing the striking blonde kiss Gaines goodby, then wave to him as he climbed aboard the plane.

Jacqueline's car was found locked, parked in the airport parking lot. Police conducted an exhaustive search of airport grounds, and the marshes surrounding the field. They were joined by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Police said they were looking for some youths with ducktailed haircuts Gaines said he saw loitering near the airport.

Police did not say they thought Jacqueline had been kidnaped.

An FBI spokesman in Newark said today that his office was "maintaining liaison with police" in the event it appears there has been a federal offense.

Meanwhile, the Harts and Gaines were joined by Gaines' brother George, a Cincinnati lawyer. He called Jacqueline "the most stable girl in the world."

Asked if he thought she was the victim of foul play, he snapped: "There was no reason to suspect it."

Mrs. Rose Back From Divorce Trip

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Joyce Mathews was back in New York today after a rapid trip to Juarez for a Mexican divorce from her Broadway producer husband Billy Rose.

Judge Ignacio Martinez Aguayo of the 1st Civil Court here indicated the final decree would be granted sometime today.

Miss Mathews, former New York showgirl, wore low black shoes, a checkered dress and silk gloves for her appearance before the judge.

Flanked by attorneys' she presented her petition charging incompatibility of character as a grounds for divorce.

Her petition said she and Rose were married in New York June 2, 1956, and separated early this year. She told the court a private property settlement had been reached July 15. Details were not disclosed.

Rose was represented at the 40-minute proceeding by attorney Jasso Linares, who informed Judge Aguayo his client was not contesting the action.

Sgt. Bill Handrahan fingerprints Dr. Bernard Raymond Finch, left, 43, at West Covina, Calif., as the wealthy surgeon is booked in the slaying of his estranged wife, Barbara. # Mediators Arrange Steel Strike Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators have arranged the first joint peace talks in the nine-day-old steel strike for next Monday.

But Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation Service, repeated that he sees no early solution to the strike which has idled more than half a million steelworkers.

Meanwhile, the three top aluminum companies — Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser — rejected the United Steelworkers wage demands and lined up with the steel industry stand. The Steelworkers' contract with the aluminum companies expires July 31.

The aluminum companies followed the pattern of the original proposal by the steel producers to the union by urging the union to accept a one-year wage freeze and give up the cost-of-living escalator provision in the old agreements.

A total of 30,500 aluminum workers are represented by the union. About 28,000 other aluminum workers are covered by other unions.

After meeting Wednesday with union representatives and twice with steel industry negotiators, Finnegan said: "We feel we now have a better orientation on the differences" between the two sides.

He plans to meet today with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in Washington.

Mitchell is acting as a fact-finder for President Eisenhower, who could halt the strike—at least temporarily—at any time through emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Union negotiators had hoped that making some gains with the aluminum companies might set a wage pattern for steel. The union had asked a 15-cents-an-hour package in each year of the new contract. Aluminum wages now average $2.91 an hour.

The steel strike started July 14 after weeks of unsuccessful negotiations during which the industry turned down demands for a 15-cents-an-hour annual package. Pre-strike wages averaged $3.10 an hour. The companies said increases would force a rise in steel prices and spur inflation. The union said steel profits are big enough to cover a wage increase.

The strike has idled about 45,500 workers in related fields such as coal, railroads, trucking, shipping and construction. The strike has cost an estimated 400 million dollars to the industry in business and to strikers in wages.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sometime today or Friday a truck will leave here for New York carrying a coffin.

For Joseph Casagrande and his two children, Peter and Clara, and funeral director Vincent Gangemi it will mean the start of fulfilling a special wish.

That wish was made by Casagrande's wife Maria before she died June 16 at the age of 53. She wanted to be buried in her native Italy.

Casagrande had arranged through Gangemi and the Italian consulate here for his wife's body to be sealed in a special coffin and shipped to Italy.

The coffin was delivered to an American Export Lines pier July 2. The next day this city's port was shut down by a labor dispute.

Casagrande felt that the tieup would be short, so he and Peter flew to Venice on July 7 to await the arrival of the coffin. They would then make it to Mrs. Casagrande's family home in Ogliano-Conegliano, 30 miles away. Clara remained in Philadelphia.

But the tieup dragged on. "I tried to have the casket removed to another port two weeks ago, but I received no cooperation," Gangemi explained.

Then Wednesday a settlement was reached, ending the 19-day tieup.

Ironically, only a few hours before the settlement, the funeral director received permission to remove the coffin from the pier, which was being picketed, and take it to New York.

The woman's body will be shipped to Italy on the SS Exbrook, leaving New York Saturday. The ship arrives in Venice Aug. 20.

Youth Charged In Museum Raid

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—A teenager is in jail charged with destroying one of the things his mother says he loves — art.

Eighteen-year-old Richard V. Smith Jr., until recently a resident of Atlanta, is charged with arson and is being held for the grand jury in lieu of $25,000 bond. He was arrested Wednesday.

Police Chief E. S. Moncrieff said the youth confessed he burned three art collections valued at $15,000 at the Columbus Museum of Arts and Crafts and painted swastikas on museum walls and on two Jewish synagogues here. Damage to the museum building itself was placed at another $5,000.

The youth's mother said at Atlanta that Richard "couldn't have done a thing like that. He loves art and hates violence." Police said the youth "is a known hater of the Jewish faith and is an avid follower of the principles of the Nazi doctrines of Adolf Hitler." The art collections were burned Saturday night.

Castro To Decide Sunday Whether To Resume Post

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro today said he will decide Sunday whether he will become premier of Cuba again. He gave every indication that he will resume the office.

"When I resigned, I resigned truly," he said. "This is not a sentimental question for me, but rather a question of analyzing which is better—to help the revolution from many angles or to let the enemies of the revolution present me as a tyrant."

But toward the end of one of his shortest speeches—just under two hours — Castro suddenly switched to the theme of "let the people decide."

Castro attacked the U.S. news agency United Press International for the statement by its president Frank Bartholomew that the Cuban press is no longer free. He accused UPI of "torpid, stupid machinations" against the revolution.

UPI's New York office had no immediate comment.

Castro also blasted the local papers, accusing them of "throwing in the towel" because some of them had suggestion mercy in dealing with the revolution's enemies.

School Board Cancels Meet For July 30

A meeting of the Board of Education of the Big Spring City Schools, tentatively set for July 30 will probably not be held on that date, Floyd Parsons, superintendent said.

He has been informed by one member of the board that the member will have to be out of town on that date.

Omar Jones, another member, resigned from the board at the last regular meeting and no successor has been named to fill his place.

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, still another member, is now in Europe and will not be present.

The purpose of the meeting for July 30 was to approve the 1959-60 budget. An appointment of a new member to replace Jones was also expected to be made.

In view of the important business to be handled, the plan to meet that night with only a portion of the regular board members in attendance is not believed advisable.

Parsons said that no date for the meeting has been selected but it will be in the relatively near future. Announcement of the date will be made as soon as an agreement is reached on the matter.

The statistics published deal with bank deposits, postal receipts, building permits, utility connections and similar factors for the month of June as compared with the same month one year ago.

First Federal Building & Loan Assn. deposits climbed from $5,284,649 to $6,408,854.

Postal receipts were $132,307 a year ago; June of this current year they stood at $174,248.

Building permits in June 1958 totalled $1,564,505 as compared to $2,420,458 for last month.

Boy Fires Shotgun Into Crowd, Is Slain By Officer

NEW YORK (AP) — A teenage boy fired a shotgun into a Bronx crowd Wednesday night, wounding five children and a man. He was shot to death minutes later by an off-duty policeman.

Police said the boy, Carlos Rosario, 16, had fought the night before in Crotona Park with Tommy Lee Allen, 23, a Negro. The pair met again Wednesday night, Rosario produced a shotgun, and Allen ran.

Rosario chased Allen and fired at him in a crowd. The pellets struck Allen in the left leg and sprayed five boys whose ages range from 7 to 11.

In his apartment nearby, Patrolman Walter W. Downs, 38, a Negro, heard the blast. He jumped up from the dinner table and rushed to the street.

Downs told authorities he ordered Rosario to halt and drop the shotgun. He said the boy lifted the gun and aimed, and Downs shot him down before he could fire.

Lions Hear Story Of Water Problem

The Texas water problem has more facets than a super-cut diamond, the Downtown Lions learned Wednesday.

They watched a series of slides and listened to accompanying narrative detail the woes of a state so big that the extreme east side gets five to six times more than the extreme west.

Moreover, three-fourths of the state's rain falls on one-fourth of the area. The rivers have scant rainfall in the upland regions and only flow at appreciable volumes toward the coast where the water is not so urgently needed.

To top this, most of the rain left for crop and pasture growth is lost through transpiration of unwanted and useless brush and other plants.

The underground picture is not unlike the surface picture, although the high plains constitute one of the most developed irrigation areas in the state. Actually, the rate of withdrawal there far exceeds that of recharge. Elsewhere, the aquifers (underground reservoirs) appear most plentiful in areas where the water demand is not so crucial.

The material was supplied by the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, and the program was in charge of Elbert Boullion.

Pete Cook, new president, was at his post for the first time in a month. He has been off on an extended vacation and attended the Lions International convention in New York in early July.

WWI Meeting Place Changed

The meeting place of Veterans of World War I has been changed, and Saturday evening the local barracks will be meeting at 8 p.m. in the Settles Hotel.

One of the prime objectives of the organization at this time, said Jess Slaughter, commander of the barracks, is a $100 per month pension for WWI veterans, widows and orphans.

All veterans of the war are invited to attend the meeting.

R. R. McKinney, one of the organizers of the local post and a past district commander, has received notice of his appointment as a national deputy chief of staff. In this position he will be active in organization work with no limitation on jurisdiction.

Hearing Opens On Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hearings opening today on the vetoed housing bill may determine whether Congress will attempt to override the veto or try to pass another housing measure before adjournment.

The two possible outcomes were listed for reporters by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.). He is chief sponsor of the vetoed bill and chairman of the Senate Housing subcommittee that has scheduled seven days of public sessions.

The bill's sponsors hope to counter the President's attack on the vetoed measure and build up pressures for broad housing legislation.

The President vetoed the original bill July 7. He denounced it as extravagant and inflationary and called on Congress to send him a six-point substitute embodying his own housing recommendations.

Something Good Is Brewing

Connecting some delicious specialty in this German chafing dish is a frequent activity for Mrs. R. W. Mulledy. In the accompanying story she divulges a few of her choice recipes, some of them acquired during the family's three years in Germany. The native Tennessean's own favorite food, however, is cooked Southern style.

Captain's Wife Draws Guests' Plaudits With German Recipes

When Capt. and Mrs. R. W. Mulledy moved into their new home at 1905 Alabama in May, with them went the many lovely items they had accumulated during three years in Germany, at Fuerstentfeldbruck. Among the memorabilia were some authentic German dishes which their maid taught Mrs. Mulledy to make. They have been enjoyed by the family's guests in these 2 1/2 years in Big Spring.

On the whole, German cuisine is greasier, richer and less attractive than American food, says Mrs. Mulledy. However, the natives do have a way with herbs and spices, and such dishes as Schweitzer Schnitzel, German potato salad, and Saurbraten have great appeal. The Schnitzel and potato salad, with green bean salad, make a superb menu for dinner guests, and recipes for all three are included here.

When entertaining, Mrs. Mulledy goes along with the theory that the party should be as much fun for the hostesses as for any of the guests. That means planning refreshments in advance, with no last minute rush. Guests love her Yellow Cheese Clam Dip, which she keeps bubbly hot in a chafing dish. This utensil also comes in handy for making Russian Beef a la Stroganoff.

The Mulledy children have learned to like different types of cuisine. Their mother, a native of Tennessee, learned via the Southern cooking route at the age of 12. After marriage, she converted somewhat into the Yankee culinary methods. She has taught her daughters, Arra, 12, and Susan, 10, how to prepare simple dishes in their Girl Scout work, and enlists their aid in replenishing the dessert stock for the deep freeze. Desserts are an everyday thing in the Mulledy household, but they are served an hour or so after dinner.

In addition to working with Girl Scouts, she takes an interest in the "critter-collecting" done by their sons, Bruce, 9, and Scott, 6. Their father helps the youngsters bring in such creatures as the tarantula and lizards. Mrs. Mulledy also finds time to belong to the Officers Wives Club and to help in Sunday School at Webb base chapel.

Try these palatable recipes of hers:

COCONUT PIE Is Grand
Golden brown, creamy smooth, flavorful, crisp-crust, a coconut custard pie is a real ornament to the dinner menu.

There are several ways of assuring a crisp under-crust. Some cooks coat the crust, after it is in the pie pan, with egg white before pouring in the custard.

But a good way is described in this recipe, baking the pie for the first 10 minutes in a hot oven, then reducing the heat for the rest of the cooking.

COCONUT CUSTARD PIE
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
2/3 cup (1/2 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk

Yellow Rice Offers Unique Taste Treat

Gaining in popularity across this nation is a delightfully unique and colorful taste treat called Yellow Rice. It was originally a Spanish delicacy, served traditionally with chicken on special occasions.

Yellow Rice is no longer limited to chicken dishes. The American housewife has found it enhances the flavor of other meats, and makes exotic party dishes as well as everyday fare. It can provide an occasional change from potatoes or macaroni.

The important ingredient for making Yellow Rice is saffron, the stigma of the purple crocus. It takes 5,000 of the stigmas to make one ounce of saffron. Deep red in color, the saffron makes the rice yellow.

From Spanish restaurants in Cuba and in Florida at Tampa and Miami, the delicacy is gaining followers all over the country. Now available more widely, Yellow Rice is the basis for such tantalizing dishes as these recipes:

CHICKEN ALMOND CASSEROLE
1 5 oz. pkg. Yellow Rice
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onions
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 tpsps. water
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1/2 cup gravy or stock
1/4 cup sliced almonds
Simmer onions and celery in water for 10 minutes or until barely cooked. Combine with diced chicken, cooked rice, and gravy or stock. Turn into shallow buttered baking dish and sprinkle with 1/4 cup sliced almonds. Bake in moderate oven 15 minutes until almonds are toasted.

CHICKEN SALAD
1 5 oz. pkg. Yellow Rice, cooked according to directions; cool to room temperature and mix with:
1 cup cold diced chicken, or 1 small can boned chicken
1 cup canned peas
1 3 cup diced celery
2 tpsps. sliced onions
2 tpsps. diced pimiento
2 cups diced sweet pickles
Mix well with 1/4 cup mayonnaise and chill well before serving. Makes six to eight servings.

SPANISH RICE
2 tsp. butter
1 large can tomatoes
1 lb. ground beef
1 1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 cup diced onion
1 5 oz. pkg. Yellow Rice
1 tsp. sugar
Melt butter in large frying pan and add onions and ground beef. Cook until beef is done and slightly browned. Add all the other ingredients except rice. Simmer about 15 minutes. Mix with the cooked rice and serve hot.

YELLOW RICE CASSEROLE
1 flat can tuna
1 5 oz. pkg. Yellow Rice
1/2 cup grated cheese
1/2 tsp. pimiento
3 tpsps. chopped onion
Buttered bread crumbs
Break the tuna into small pieces and mix with cooked rice. Add pimiento and onions. Place in greased casserole and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and grated cheese. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in 350 degrees oven.

LOUISIANA RED BEANS, RICE
1/4 lb. bacon
1 cup minced onion
1 can red beans
1 small bay leaf
1 5 oz. pkg. Yellow Rice
Cut bacon into half inch pieces. Cook in sauce pan until partially browned. Pour off fat. Add onions and stir until browned. Pour off excess fat. Add beans and bay leaf, cover and simmer 30 minutes. Stir occasionally and add water only to keep from sticking. Add cooked rice and serve hot.

NEW ORLEANS CREOLE SHRIMP
2 tpsps. cooking fat
1 med. onion, sliced
1 green pepper, chopped
coarsely
1 can tomato sauce

Broil It Lightly
Broiling flank steak? Remember that it needs the shortest time—four to five minutes on each side—under the heat. If there is membrane on the steak, pull it off before cooking.

Serve at once, garnished with thin slices of green pepper.

RICE STUFFING FOR POULTRY
1 tpsps. butter
2/3 cup finely chopped onion

SODAS, HOMEMADE VARIETY

Jerk Sodas With The Know-How Of A 'Pro'

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Ice cream soda-making is such a great American sport that even the United States government has issued directives on the subject.

"An authentic home-style soda," food specialists in our Agricultural Marketing Service say, "combines one-third cup of crushed sweetened fruit (or the desired amount of sweet flavored syrup) with one-fourth cup chilled milk and in a tall glass." The next step is to "fill with chilled carbonated water and stir."

One point the experts take for granted, but we'll mention it. Make sure you have straws in the house. Ever try drinking a soda without these gadgets? It's no go. Last Christmas members of our family were surprised to see "silver sipper-spoons" on our list of GIFTS THAT WOULD BE APPRECIATED. This summer when they visit us and enjoy using them to sip their sodas and other cool drinks, they're glad they paid heed.

To make one of the top favorites, an All-Black Ice Cream Soda, most fountain experts agree that you need three tablespoons of chocolate syrup (bought or homemade) for a tall glass. They also agree that the order in which you add the remaining ingredients is important.

So next pour in the milk — we like at least one-third cup per glass — and then fill two-thirds to three-quarters full with soda water. Now add a big scoop of chocolate ice cream. If sweet stuff runs over, that's de rigueur. If the glass isn't brimful, add more carbonated water.

To make a Black and White or Broadway Soda, use the formula for the All-Black with vanilla ice cream. Our own favorite version of the Black and White is with a little peppermint added.

Some fountain pros stir after the fruit (or syrup) and milk go in; others scoff at the idea. We think it's fun for soda-imbibers to do their own stirring because it gives them time to contemplate the pleasure ahead.

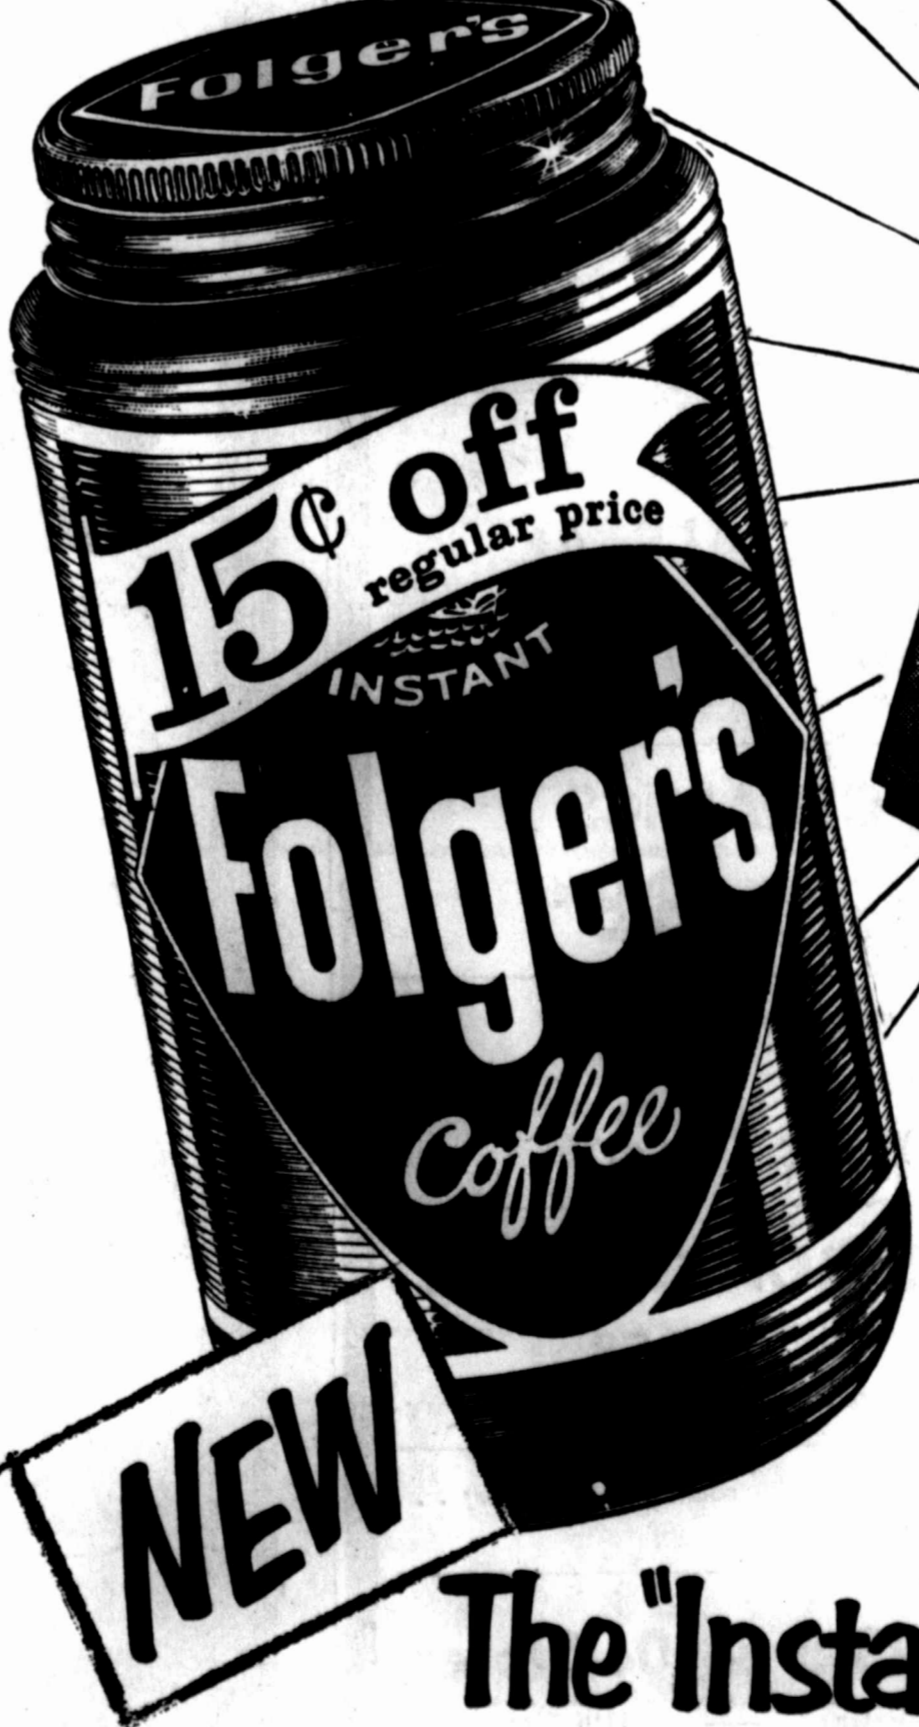

Teen-agers probably originated the Black Cow. It's just root beer with vanilla ice cream.

Some years ago a New York City ice cream parlor dreamed up a glorious fruit affair. It seems to have faded out of the picture but it is worth reviving. The original drink was served in a mile-high glass and started with about one-quarter cup of chopped fresh fruit — oranges, grapefruit, grapes and even apple. Then a tablespoon of diced strawberries, one of pineapple, and one of halved raspberries (all slightly sweetened) were added. On top of that went a scoop of vanilla ice cream or fruit sherbet. Fresh orange juice filled the glass. We strongly recommend it!

Teenager Adds New Prize To Student Homemaking Laurels

BY HELEN HURT

Bobbie Bennett, a 16-year-old lass whose interests are those of any normal teen-ager, has just won a prize for using her imagination. Her homemaking teacher, Sally Sandlin, will be elated. For the fifth annual Creative Table Setting Contest sponsored by Lenox, Inc., of Trenton, N. J., producers of fine china, is a nationwide affair open to high school and college girls registered in home economics courses.

Following the theme Breakfast on the Patio, Bobbie's winning entry featured the Crestan pattern, in china, crystal and silver. She envisioned a round glass-topped table with gilt legs. On it she spread a cloth of yellow organdy embroidered with daisies, and arranged a centerpiece of the white and yellow flowers. Her award was a cup and saucer in the chosen pattern.

Bobbie and her sophomore classmates in sixth period homemaking entered the competition individually during the spring term. The contest was under the direction of Mrs. Helen Sprackling, prominent authority on table settings and author of the book "Setting Your Table." Judges included such well known personalities as Vivian Brown, home furnishings editor for the Associated Press, and Jon Whitcomb, magazine illustrator.

The comely young blonde will take her third and final year of homemaking as a junior. She has a talent for both cooking and sewing, but much prefers the former. Possibly her sewing skill was inherited from her mother, Mrs. R. C. Bennett, who works part-time doing alterations for a dry-cleaning establishment and makes some of Bobbie's frocks.

In high school, Bobbie's activities center on the Future Homemakers of America, in which she has garnered honors. During her freshman year she was secretary of the local executive council; last year she was parliamentarian of her class and, with an impressive stack of credits on her record, went to Dallas as a voting delegate at the state meeting. Tri-Hi-Y, the Rainbow Girls, Pep Squad and the Bible Club also claim her attention.

In addition to cooking, she en-

Hemlines Hold Interest In Italian Showings

By SUE CARDOZO

FLORENCE (AP) — Capucci dropped double hems Wednesday night and all but ran away with the Florence showing of fall and winter fashions.

The young couturier's collection had a big impact on the buyers and fashions writers who have spent the past three days watching the newest Italian fashions in the historic Pitti Palace. The showings end today with a late afternoon program. His styles had an over-all look which seemed to hit closest to what Italian designers have been trying to achieve.

Capucci's collection is a pageant of hemlines, consistently low. Nearly every costume has two: one on the skirt, another on a jacket or a nine-tenths length coat.

The distance between the hems is either several inches, or from the top of the thigh to below the knee. Floor-length gowns are worn with knee-length satin sheaths. The Capucci line is straight — strictly vertical — with elongated tunics or stretched-out middies spanning the torso. Sometimes the tunics or tubed skirts are threaded with six-inch belts, but most of the time the waist is a wasteland and tunics a waistless sheath. Some jackets have giant collars and lapels left ajar. But most necklines are cropped and adorned with chokers or chunky jeweled bubbles.

Sleeves end below the elbow, accompanied by long matching gloves, even by day. The main motif is dramatically interpreted for evening in three white satin nine-tenths length coats worn over black velvet sheaths.

The latest wigs by Filippo of Rome were shown with the Capucci collection. The flattened out form indicated Italian hair stylists will probably deflate the current-

A Devotional For Today

"Truly, I say to you, unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 18:3, RSV.)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to live each day as children of Thine. May our daily attitudes, words, and deeds say to the world with childlike simplicity, "I am a Christian." In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Nothing To Cheer About

This week the United States Treasury Department announced that the deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, would be only about 12 and a half billion dollars. Whereupon, everyone chortled with glee — it had been expected to run on the order of 13 billion or more.

Frankly, we can't find anything so exhilarating about having spent even 12 and a half billion dollars — let alone 13 — less than we took in. And when you shake it all out, that's what it amounts to — spending more than you take in.

In times of peril and great emergency, considerations of balance and solvency become secondary. Survival is something upon which you cannot place a price tag. We can shove back normal budgetary rules until less pressing times. During worldwide or localized wars, we could plan on catching up when the threat of destruction was less imminent. Instead, we have gone further into the hole during a time when we should have been whittling previous deficits or at least holding our own even with our intake.

To be sure adverse economic conditions may have contributed to the size of the deficit, but it was mainly on the income that we stubbed our toes.

We hope that Congress will somehow take this into consideration in its spending bills this year, recognizing that resoundingly answer to shrinking income. If it will, a major blow against inflationary pressures will have been struck.

Preparing For A Not So Rainy Year

According to all indications — barring pestilence or weather damage — our area should be in for its biggest feed crop in years, or even perhaps in its history. Acreage to feed seems to be at a peak and conditions are prime.

The same favorable weather that has made the crop outlook so rosy has also provided range forage in the greatest abundance in many seasons. Because most pastures are still understocked, pastures are making great recovery and in a majority of instances will go into the winter with a surplus of forage. Thus, the demand for feed stuff may be down at a time the supply is at its greatest. If regular economic laws are in force, a depressing effect will be felt on the market.

If the price level drops to an unprofitable level or to that of almost giving away feed and grain, we hope that hundreds of producers will give consideration to putting up as much inlay as possible. During the late and unlamented drought, feed prices soared when pastures were barren. Farmers and ranchers who were not obligated to sell live-stock on a distress market had to carry them at such tremendous feed expense that in the end they lost more money than if they had sold at a sacrifice.

But here and there were a few cases of operators who knocked the top of trench silos which had been filled years before. They made out the year on the roughage-grain mixture, and even when they could not find a better market condition, they at least did not have a costly feed bill. It seems to us that every ton of this bumper feed crop we can put into the ground will be one of the best things we could do this year.

Scandinavia Stands Up To Khrushchev

WASHINGTON—Nikita Khrushchev has failed in his attempt to secure control of the Scandinavian countries for Communist imperialism. He cancelled his carefully planned visit there when he learned that his threats were not succeeding and that he couldn't intimidate Norway, Sweden or Denmark. He tried to get them to agree to close the Baltic Sea to warships of the West and to bar all atomic weapons and missiles. He demanded that Norway and Denmark get out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

A letter to this correspondent a few days ago from a well-informed Swedish writer in Stockholm says:

"Khrushchev's invitation to come here after a hint about it a year ago has split the politicians into two groups in the three countries. As the Social-Democrats, with the help of the Communists, have a one-vote majority in the Swedish Parliament, the invitation was approved. The leader of the people's party and the 'rightists' have declined the invitation to attend the banquet for the Russian visitors. Protest meetings have been held already and many more groups will be heard from. Dr. Bela Fabian (of Hungary) is here to let the Russians know that 1956 isn't forgotten.

"The pressure has been on to make the Baltic a rocket and nuclear-free zone. The East Germans have their propaganda in full swing with the object of having all nations facing the Baltic make it a 'free sea of peace.' Of course, the only nation which is in possession of nuclear weapons around the Baltic is Russia, and it is not likely that the Soviet Union intends to discard their installations around the Baltic, or anywhere else for that matter. In the meantime, they don't want anyone else to have any.

"What they want is to close the Baltic to every nation except those with a shore line. The result of such a move would be to make the Baltic Sea under the sole control of Russia.

The Moscow government's note 'postponing' the Khrushchev visit to some time later, 'perhaps in a year,' confirms the Swedish press, that there have been preparations for 'anti-Soviet demonstrations and meetings.' The note points to 'the unfriendly attitude taken by the Scandinavian leaders toward the proposed Khrushchev tour, and charges that large-circulation newspapers had been 'permitted' to make insulting attacks on the Soviet Union and the Soviet premier personally."

To all this, the premiers of Sweden and

Denmark now have replied by reminding the Soviet leader that the press is free in their countries to criticize him or anyone else. The Swedish premier said the Swedish people regard freedom of press and opinion as "unforfeitable."

An editorial recently in "Dagens Nyheter," one of the leading newspapers in Stockholm, pointed specifically to Khrushchev's speech in Riga, Latvia, last month, in which he demanded that the Baltic be closed to Western war vessels, that atomic weapons be barred from Scandinavian countries and that Norway and Denmark get out of NATO. The editorial said:

"We hope that the Scandinavian governments' duty as hosts will not prevent them from making it clear to Khrushchev that any interference in Scandinavian politics is unacceptable, and that they are unconcerned about any camouflage threats.

"Khrushchev's speech was delivered in Latvia, one of the Baltic states which Russia put under its rule during World War II. It brings to mind that the Russian leaders, before both wars, time after time turned to the Baltic countries with precisely the same reasoning that now is being brought to bear against Scandinavia. Russia demanded involuntary neutrality, interpreted as re-armament as a threat of aggression, and explained, exactly as Khrushchev is doing now, that 'it is an absurdity to believe that the Soviet Union has any aggressive plans against these lands.' These were the very methods used in preparation for occupations and suppressions...

"So far as Sweden is concerned, Khrushchev's speech should be a new reminder of our need for tactical atomic weapons. True, there are groups in our land who believe the opposite, who even believe that a defenseless Sweden would be a security against Russian aggression. If these beliefs become dominant, the risk will become increasingly greater that one day we will meet the same fate as the oppressed and downtrodden Baltic peoples."

The conquest of Scandinavia is a military objective of Nikita Khrushchev and, as usual, he hopes to accomplish his purpose by 'peaceful infiltration.' But he has struck a snag in the freedom-loving people of Norway, Sweden and Denmark who have become so aroused that the Soviet premier thought it best to call off his trip. This is a victory for the free world.

Draws With Needle

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—Miss Ellen Duffy draws pictures of famous personalities. She doesn't use pencil, pen or charcoal, though.

Her portraits—which include Mrs. Eisenhower, Will Rogers and Princess Margaret—are done with a needle, thread and "just ordinary white Swiss goods."

She says she copies pictures of the personalities from newspapers and magazines, traces them on the cloth, then stitches the portraits.

Ike Paints Gruesome Berlin Picture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is in a terribly bad spot on Berlin. That is the essence of a gruesome picture painted this week by President Eisenhower.

At a dinner with White House correspondents he frankly talked of this country's huge difficulties in trying to help the 2 1/2 million West Berliners if the Communists decide to try to shut them off from the West.

He didn't say anything the Russians don't know already. Yet, to understand what he said is to understand the American dilemma in dealing with the Russians at Geneva. The foreign ministers' meeting there began May 11.

The solemn Eisenhower statements on Berlin — and their implications — explain why the Russians started this trouble in the first place and why they are being so tough about it.

That trouble can be stated simply: West Berlin, whose allegiance is to West Germany, is 100 miles inside Communist East Germany. This Western outpost, deep in Red territory, has been a pain to the Soviet Union since World War II.

Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin tried to grab the city in 1948 by blockading all Western supplies that moved to Berlin by train or truck. This was easy, since they had to move through Communist-run country.

President Truman could have tried a shoot-through. It might have meant war. Instead, he smashed the blockade by supplying Berlin through a giant airlift. The Russians refrained from shooting down American planes. That would have been war.

Stalin dropped the land blockade. It apparently had been a testing maneuver to see if the West would give up the city without a struggle. He himself then was in a poor position to go all the way—including war.

The United States then had an atomic-bomb monopoly. For 10 years the Russians dropped their attempt—but not their desire—to gobble the city. They used that time to build up strength: atomic and hydrogen bombs and missiles.

Now they're probably equal in atomic strength, apparently ahead in missiles, and far ahead in ground-force strength. So Stalin's successor, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, picked up where the old man left off.

Last Nov. 27 Khrushchev ordered the Western Allies to get their troops out of Berlin, and implied the city might be cut off from access to the West if they remained.

But the presence of the troops is important as visible evidence to the West Berliners that they have Allied protection and support. The West refused to remove the troops.

Why is the West so concerned about anything Khrushchev says? Can't a new airlift smash a new blockade, just as in Truman's time?

The answer lies in Eisenhower's statements this week, since the Soviet Union today is in far better position to risk a showdown with the West than in Stalin's time just 11 years ago. This is the picture as Eisenhower painted it:

He said—if there is a new Berlin blockade — he believes the tactical military position of the Western Allies would be just about as poor as possible.

He feels that even passive resistance on the part of the Communists would jeopardize the Allies' land routes into Berlin and that Red jamming of Western radar would make a mass airlift very difficult.

The President said a new blockade would be much tougher to crack than the one 11 years ago. He feels, he said, the Allies could then supply West Berlin with enough of the raw materials its economy needs.

Yet what he didn't say — although it is clear enough—is this: The United States can't stand idly by and see Berlin lost without jeopardizing the entire Western alliance whose members' confidence in their combined will to resist the Soviet Union would be badly damaged if not destroyed.

A Way To Get Rid Of Those Mosquitoes

The State Legislature, despite its inability to solve the financial problems of the state, approved a bill during the regular session that may be a partial answer to Big Spring's mosquito problem.

Immediately tabbed as the "weed bill," the legislature gave the cities authority to initiate ordinances giving them the power to control vacant lots within the corporate limits.

The exact wording of the bill says the city may "require the owners of any lot or lots within such city or town to keep the same free from weeds, rubbish, brush and any and all other objects objectionable, unsightly or unsanitary matter of whatever nature."

This has been a state law for a number of years but only applied to cities of 35,000 population or over. The present law, (House Bill 819) includes all cities of 5,000 population or over, which includes Big Spring.

The remainder of the legislation states that the city may enforce the law in one of two ways. Ten days after the lot owner has been notified in writing, he can be fined for refusal or failure to clear his lot or lots. If the owner is unknown, a notice published twice in 10 days is considered adequate advance notice.

Instead of a fine, the city can take an alternate method of enforcement. City officials can have the lot cleared and charge the cost plus 25 per cent, to the lot owner as a lien against the property. This assessment would be second only to a tax lien and would have to be paid before all other liens.

The law is not aimed solely at weeds, but stagnant ponds, sink-holes, privies, houses, buildings, and almost anything that endangers the health of the city.

The effective date of the bill is Aug. 12. Recently, city residents were asked to clear weeds from vacant lots in an effort to curb harboring mosquitoes. The city's fogging machine has been ineffective in penetrating densely covered lots. Big Springers have been urged to spray ponds and other mosquito breeding places.

Other than being hazardous on health grounds, many of these lots are dangerous for traffic and fire reasons. A vacant lot or ramshackle building is an ideal place for fire to get a foothold. When located on a corner, such places are a menace by blocking the view at intersections.

The legislature has handed to the Big Spring City Commission the power to rid the city of these health dangers, fire and traffic hazards. The city commissioners can adopt the provisions of the state legislature or dismiss it entirely. But if these hazardous lots are to be eliminated as such, it will be up to the commissioners to consider the legislature's bill and approve appropriate ordinances.

An appeal for volunteer clearance of vacant lots a few weeks ago apparently went unheeded. More definite action is called for.

Refugees Pour Out Of East Germany

WEST BERLIN — The Communists are great on larding out criticism of any thing that meets their displeasure, an emotion that includes the entire Western World. But they can't take it.

One of the cruces of the present Berlin crisis is a continuous and devastating form of criticism that is bitterest worm-wood in the Communist cup. The ceaseless flow of East German refugees from their alleged Communist paradise into West Germany is all but unbearable.

The gateway is through West Berlin. An average of 400 men and women and children, fleeing Communism, arrive in West Berlin daily. In the past decade, three million East Germans have fled to the West, ultimately to be absorbed into West German life and economy.

It is not too difficult to walk from one sector of the divided city into another, or to board the surface train, that connects all sectors of the metropolis, in East Berlin and exit to freedom in West Berlin. That is, it is not too difficult if one leaves all his possessions behind, carries no tell-tale parcels or luggage and manages to look like any ordinary East Berliner going about his normal business.

In previous years, when the refugee influx amounted to as many as 1,000 a day, authorities in West Berlin were hard put to find shelter for so many in a shattered city that had difficulty in housing its own.

Only five years ago, I remember visiting a make-shift shelter in a big warehouse. It was gray, crowded and forlorn. The best that could be said for it was that it was clean, offered shelter and beds and three nourishing meals a day.

So one of the highlights of my present trip has been a visit to Marienfelde Camp for refugees, in the American sector of West Berlin. At Marienfelde, 2,000 refugees at a time are housed in a series of attractive new three-story garden apartment houses, in a setting of wide lawns, trees, shrubs and flowers.

It is a veritable paradise compared with the old, hastily devised shelters. It not only houses families in apartments of their own, but affords them decent privacy while they are processed and before they are flown to new homes in West Germany. There is even a kindergarten for children.

For, contrary to Communist propaganda, it is not old persons, who cannot learn new ways, who are fleeing East Germany. There is, of course, a scattering of old persons among the refugees. But the majority are young men of 18 and 19, who cannot bring themselves to swear allegiance to East Germany and do compulsory service in the East German Police Force; young families fed up with Communist poverty; and middle-aged men and women who want a better life for themselves and their half-grown families.

A tired-looking man, a factory worker in East Germany, said that he and his wife, also drafted into a factory, had been able to stand up to the work "but not to the Communist education of our children."

The final straw, as far as he was concerned, for his three children, 10, 12 and 15, was the day the youngest came home from school singing a song about "hate your enemy, the West."

"I fought on the Eastern Front," he said grimly, "I know the futility of hate."

All East German refugees are flown out of West Berlin to West German communities. This man did not yet know to what community he would be sent, or just how he would earn a living. "But we cannot possibly be worse off than we have been," he said, "and the kids will have a chance."

The Meaning Of 'Official' Visits

WASHINGTON — The difficulty in trying to have any kind of meaningful dialogue with Nikita Khrushchev has just been illustrated anew by the cancellation of his Scandinavian tour, which had been planned in elaborate detail for next month.

What it shows once again is that the Soviet Premier has little or no understanding of the currents of opinion in the West. It seems to have burst on him with a shock of surprise that there were elements in Scandinavia opposed to his visit. He thus reveals himself either as the prisoner of his own propaganda or as isolated from realistic reporting of what the world outside the borders of the Soviet bloc is like.

There were two choices before Khrushchev in his tour of Scandinavia. One was to have gone there frankly as the propagandist, sounding the note of warning he struck on his Polish visit about the peril to the Scandinavians in allowing missile bases to be established on their soil.

The deep concern among officials in all the capitals was that he would go there on just that sort of mission — brandishing threats at each press conference while drinking toasts of goodwill at the banquets. This would certainly have stirred indignation in the press and perhaps also in the public reception to the sensitive Mr. K. It was the latter, and Khrushchev's reaction to the boos and demonstrations, that the Scandinavians feared.

His second choice was to play the peace-loving good neighbor. If he had played that role to the hilt, he might have exercised some influence in Scandinavia with its long tradition of neutrality and peace coupled with the recent memory of German occupation. But Mr. K. is an impulsive man, little given to cloaking his feelings even when it might be expedient to do so.

The difficulties — and the dangers — inherent in these public encounters point up the contrast to the kind of quiet, careful, unostentatious diplomatic negotiation of which the ablest professionals are capable. It is the contrast, to bring it home, between a Charles Bohlen and the ambitious politician running for President or Secretary of State who rushes off to Moscow, gets an interview with Khrushchev and promptly publicizes it a dozen different ways, including a profitable sale to a national magazine.

Bohlen understands out of his long experiences with the Russians that if any meaningful negotiation is to take place, a relationship of confidence must be built up. The Russians must know that what they say in private discussions about their position will remain private. Otherwise they will make a propaganda pitch, using a convenient American mouthpiece to broadcast to the world whatever they want to say.

At least two political ambassadors to Moscow have violated what Bohlen believes to be the fundamental rule of confidence. As adviser and interpreter at all the wartime summit meetings, including Yalta, Bohlen knows more than any other person living of what went on in those crucial meetings. Yet despite at least one very large offer to tell all, he has kept public silence and is likely to continue to do so, even though in retirement he would be free to write his personal account.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, in his mission to Moscow, will be under great temptation. The trip has the look of the first stage of a Presidential campaign foray, with 85 reporters trailing the candidate and reporting his every reaction. What an opportunity to show that he cannot be taken in by the wily Russians!

But despite all the disclaimers that the Nixon visit has no relation to negotiation on the vital East-West issues, it might also be an opportunity to find out what really is in Khrushchev's mind and whether there is any chance of a compromise on Berlin. Admittedly, the chances are slim in view of the great white light of publicity which will beat down on the Vice President's slightest gesture. Nevertheless, Nixon will be the highest American official to talk with the Soviet Premier since the summit meeting of 1955.

Incidentally, he might give Khrushchev some pointers on travel in hostile territory. In Venezuela and elsewhere in Latin America last year, Nixon was greeted not merely with boos but with sticks, stones and savage violence. He had defied the urgent warnings of American diplomats in a tour that seems to have accomplished little unless it was to enlarge the Nixon image. With respect to Scandinavia, Khrushchev seems to have decided that discretion is the better part of valor.

Soviets Brag On Their Cows

MOSCOW (AP) — Kazakhstan Pravda, a Communist newspaper in the Central Asian territory of the U. S. S. R., has served notice it feels native cattle are just as good as those produced on Texas' famed King Ranch.

The newspaper's farm expert made the comment while discussing an experiment in which 14 bulls and 36 heifers were purchased after a Soviet delegation, visiting the South Texas ranch four years ago, was impressed with the way Santa Gertrudis cattle prospered in hot weather.

According to the newspaper account, the cattle were placed on experimental farms to be crossed with local cattle. The offspring, it was hoped, would be fast-growing and highly resistant to disease.

But Pravda admits it didn't work out that way. The first mistake, the paper said, came when the bulls were turned out to pasture for natural breeding rather than fast, selective breeding through use of artificial insemination.

The 14 bulls produced only 89 head, compared with 40,000 head which the paper said could have been turned out through artificial insemination.

What the workers on the state and experimental farms failed to realize, the reporter said, was that the local cattle were of high quality in the first place.

"These cattle born and raised in Kazakhstan can compete with those born in Texas," he wrote. "Let's work with this new type in such a way as to fulfill this wish."

TV Beauties Tire Of Cute Comments

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — "What a soft job. All they have to do is stand on camera, look cute and be admired."

This is a comment that's beginning to bore four pretty girls at NBC-TV who are "show-offs" on the network. Sandra Wirth, Marian Stafford, June Ferguson and Toni Wallace have 14 major beauty titles among them.

The girls, who show products and prizes while helping contestants and answer on NBC-TV quiz and audience participation programs, issue this general warning to this year's crop of beauty contest winners:

"Beauty is fine. But a girl must have talent too—and work at it."

Besides "standing around" each Monday through Friday for the visual enjoyment of millions, the four spend about 50 hours a week in rehearsals, sponsor meetings, demonstrations of products and long sessions with makeup and wardrobe men and beauticians. Each, by the way, is a southern belle.

Miss Wirth, who hails from Florida, is the tall, tanned blonde who reigns as "Miss County Fair" on the show of that name.

Miss Stafford, from Texas, is the blonde "Pirate Girl" on Jan Murray's "Treasure Hunt."

Miss Ferguson, from West Virginia, and Miss Wallace, from Florida, are models and prize exhibitors on the daytime and nighttime versions of "The Price Is Right."

Summarizing their careers, Miss Wirth says:

"The world is full of beautiful girls. But in show business there's no such thing as a beautiful, lazy girl."

Seven of the nation's top male singing stars — including Elvis Presley — will telephone Dick Clark on his "American Bandstand" show over ABC-TV Aug. 5.

The occasion is the second birthday party of the program which now has the largest daytime audience of any network TV show. "Du Pont Show of the Month" has scheduled its first four dramas of the new season: "Body and Soul," Graham Greene's "The Fallen Idol," Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith," and Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." All will be produced by David Susskind for Talent Associates.

James R. Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, will be the guest on "Face the Nation" Sunday over CBS-TV.

Copter Crash Kills 3 Men

MOUNT MORRIS, N.Y. (AP) — A helicopter crash killed three men Wednesday a few hours before the elderly professor they were searching for was found alive and well.

The copter, from the Niagara Falls Air Force Base, struck high-tension power lines spanning the Genesee River gorge in Letchworth State Park, plunged into the gorge and burst into flame.

Searchers later found Dr. Walter R. Bloor, 83-year-old professor emeritus of bio-chemistry from the University of Rochester. Barefoot and wearing only underwear and a shirt, he told how he had tried to swim the river after he became lost Tuesday while on a picnic and how he spent the night under a fallen tree. Killed were Maj. Leo J. Carbonneau, 37, Arlington, Mass.; Capt. Victor A. Hanf, 35, Baltimore, Md.; and S. Sgt. John E. Tinsman, 28, Croyden, Pa.
