Her Majesty Queen Penny, And Her Court

Penny Butcher, a Flower Grove High School senior, gives her loving kiss after the 17-year-old blonde was named queen of the Howard County Farm Bureau last night. Runner-up is Nancy Hodnett of Coahoma, left, and several of the 12 contestants display smiles of congratulation. Penny, who will compete in the district contest to be held in the city later, was selected by three out-of-town judges.

FARM BUREAU QUEEN

Penny Butcher Wins Crown In Spite Of Her Fear Of A Jinx

By BOBBY HORTON Penny Butcher, a 17-year-old blonde with blue eyes and an infectious smile, was named Miss Howard County Farm Bureau in spite of her superstitions before the contest — last night in Howard County Junior College auditorium. Miss Butcher, who will be a senior at Flower Grove High School in September, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Butcher, Ackerly. The runner-up was Nancy Hodnett, a 16-year-old Coahoma High School junior who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hodnett, Vincent.

scampered across Penny's path and she later broke a mirror. "I'd better try on the crown now," said a flustered Penny before the contestants walked on the stage. "I know I won't be the one to wear it, after all this." The new queen, who replaces Fan Barber of Big Spring, received among other things a $20 check from the Farm Bureau, two $5 gift certificates, sweetheart bracelet, silver loving cup and a bouquet of yellow carnations. She also won the right to compete in the district contest here later. Nancy received gift certificates a $10 check from the Farm Bureau and a bouquet, also. Each of the 12 contestants received a billfold. The Flower Grove High School senior, dressed in a blue formal, was a majorette, class president and 4-H vice president last year. She plans to attend Howard County Junior College and a local beauty school after her graduation. She is presently engaged to be married. Dressed in a pink formal, Nancy who placed second was a finalist in the Miss Coahoma High School contest last term, a cheerleader and active in Future Homemakers of America work. 200 WATCH CEREMONY President of the Farm Bureau, Ellis Iden, welcomed the crowd of 200 which sat enthusiastically — and mosquito-bitten — during the decision. Jo Ann Forrest was emcee and interviewed each contestant individually before the three judges — Charley Craven, Lubbock, Oliver West, Garden City and Ed Cumble, Bronte — made their decision. Horace "Mr. Sunshine" Creb interviewed a number of junior contestants aged 3 to 15 while the judges debated. Merchants contributing gifts to the contestants and program assistants were Hemphill-Wells, Alexander's Jewelry, Pelletier's, Zale's Jewelry, Zack's, Margie's Dress Shop, Lynn's Jewelry and Gilbert's Shoes.

Youth Admits Killing Former Midland Girl

DALLAS (AP)—A slender, married teen-ager admitted Thursday he killed a pretty 19-year-old girl whose nude body was found behind a house here. Orvell Durwood McCollum, 19, signed a statement in the presence of newsmen saying he killed Mary Ella Simmons, 19, who moved here three months ago from Midland. Her body was found Thursday morning crumpled between the back steps and a fence behind the home of McCollum's sister. McCollum's 5-year-old nephew, Grady Allen Owen Jr., found the body. He told an uncle, Willie Richardson, 18, and Richardson called police. McCollum said he took the girl, an insurance company typist, to his sister's house Tuesday night. He said they argued and he hit her. McCollum said the girl failed to regain consciousness and he dragged the body to the back steps and tossed her off. An autopsy was ordered to determine whether the girl had been sexually molested. Police said the body apparently had been at the rear of the home two or three days and they were unable to determine immediately the cause of death. Richardson told police he and the Owens family returned late Wednesday from a week's vacation in Austin.

AND DIVORCE DECREE IS PAWN TICKET?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A man and woman entered Irwin Garber's pawn shop, purchased a wedding ring for $1, then told Garber: "Stand between us." Garber obeyed. The man put the ring on the woman's finger and proclaimed: "Now we're married." Then the happy couple departed.

Sixth Death In Sterling City Accident

Death of Lupe Baca, 17, Amarillo, brought to six the number of fatalities in a two car collision last Monday near Sterling City. Baca died Thursday in a San Angelo hospital. He was one of 10 persons, who were injured in the collision. Charges of negligent homicide have been filed against Rosendo Joseph Hernandez, 17, who was driver of one of the cars. The charges against the Amarillo man were filed on Thursday in Sterling City.

Defendant Asks Year In Jail, Gets Only 15 Days

The defendant pleaded for a year in jail; the judge didn't comply. He only gave him 15 days. Elmo E. Dorris, 56, of Odessa, was carried before County Judge Ed Carpenter Thursday on a misdemeanor charge of shoplifting and pleaded guilty. The county attorney, Wayne Burns, recommended 15 days in jail and the judge went along with that sentence. However, Dorris asked the judge to sentence him to a year in jail. He told the court he had no money, no clothes, and would like to stay in jail a year. The judge stuck with his original sentence, however.

Martin County Strip Hard Hit By Heavy Hail

George Glenn, ASC office manager in Stanton, inspected fields south of Stanton this morning. Hail damage was centered there, he said, but it appeared that only a narrow strip was hit. The strip was about one-half mile wide and was severely damaged. None of the crops appeared to be completely destroyed, added Glenn, but generally there was from 50 to 75 per cent damage.

Boadle Elected Engineer Group

Robert Boadle, Big Spring, was recently elected a member of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers and of its Permian Basin Chapter, according to chapter secretary, Oscar Hallmark of Odessa. Boadle was educated at the University of Texas where he received the Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering in 1959. He is employed by the Cosden Petroleum Corporation as a junior chemical engineer. Mr. Boadle is also a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Trade Barbed Comments At Fair

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev face to face today, in a rough and tumble public debate, it would "be a great blow to peace" if the Geneva conference were allowed to fail. Nixon traded barbed comments with the Soviet leader while escorting him through the American exhibition in Moscow's Sokolniki Park. At one point, Khrushchev accused Nixon indignantly of threatening him. Nixon denied this, but said: "I don't believe the cause of peace is helped by your reiterating the point you just made — that you have more strength than we have, because that is a threat, too." While 200 newsmen, photographers and cameramen eavesdropped the two men engaged in a running foreign policy debate while they looked over the exhibits of dolls, swimsuits and automobiles. Part of the unscheduled fireworks was recorded while they toured a color television studio. Cameras ground away as they argued.

advantage in the next war is illusory." Khrushchev apologized for speaking so frankly to Nixon. But Nixon, recalling some of his political campaigns, told their interpreter: "Tell him I have been insulted by experts." Photographers and reporters were allowed in for the first part of the morning meeting between Nixon and Khrushchev in the Kremlin. Nixon handed the Soviet premier a letter of greeting from President Eisenhower. "TO EXHIBITION After the visit the two left at once for a joint inspection of the U.S. exhibition. Nixon opened later in the day. There they got into an amiable but firm argument on press freedom. Shortly before their arrival, Soviet officials arrived at the exhibition and threw out books they considered objectionable in the American library. It was not known whether Khrushchev brought up with Nixon the question of U.S. observance of "Captives Nations Week." This had brought an angry outburst from the Soviet premier at a public Polish friendship meeting Thursday as Nixon was arriving. After being informed of Nixon's arrival, Khrushchev got up from his chair at the Polish rally and invited Nixon to come see a group of "enslaved people," the subject of "Captives Nations Week." But the weather was warm today and evidently the meeting in the Kremlin was warm. It is expected there will be a prolonged session between the two men Saturday. Nixon apparently is prepared to give the whole day to talks with Khrushchev in the latter's dacha on the outskirts of Moscow. SEES PRESIDENT Before meeting with Khrushchev, Nixon called on President Klementi Voroshilov. Normally talks with Voroshilov are largely protocol since he has almost nothing to do with the administration of the country. As photographers and newsmen were ushered in ahead of Nixon for his meeting with Khrushchev, they found the premier back of his desk wearing a light grey summer suit. He was pacing up and down with his hands clasped behind him. Their talks before about 30 reporters and cameramen in the Kremlin were quite friendly. As long as the reporters were there they consisted largely of light exchanges. When Nixon entered the big wood-paneled room, Khrushchev came forward and extended his hand. Nixon repeated a couple of words of Russian as a greeting and Khrushchev replied: "You have learned much Russian." "Just this much," said Nixon indicating a small amount with two slightly separated fingers. Khrushchev: "This is our first meeting. I welcome you. I hear you have been to the market place."

House Panel Cuts Ike Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today cut an additional $390,195,000 from President Eisenhower's pet project, the foreign aid program. It was a final bid for a deep slash in 1960 government spending. The committee recommended $3,186,500,000 in new foreign aid money, adding its own cut to that already voted by Congress in the authorization bill which sets ceilings on the program. The combination cut more than 740 million dollars from Eisenhower's original $3,930,000,000 request. The authorization bill had put a limit of $3,576,695,000 on the year's program to help friendly nations. The foreign aid program is handled in two separate bills. One fixes the over-all scope of the program. The other determines how much money shall be provided to pay the bill. The committee's recommendations are subject to House approval — which appeared likely — next week. Should the committee's action be sustained, the net cut in all appropriation bills passed this year by Congress for all agencies of the government will be in the neighborhood of 500 million dollars — the minimum target of Democratic leaders striving to squelch Republican charges that Democrats are "big spenders." The committee cut 100 million from military assistance programs for which the President originally requested $1,600,000,000 and for which the separate authorization bill approved only $1,400,000,000. This would leave the direct military aid program with $1,300,000,000 in new money. Other cuts included: Defense support, $1 million from the 751 million authorized and the $35 million requested. Special assistance, 47 1/2 million from the 247 1/2 million authorized and the 272 million requested. Technical cooperation, 29 1/2 million from the 179 1/2 million authorized and requested. Atoms for peace, a program to help friendly nations set up peaceful-use nuclear projects, 5 million from the 6 1/2 million authorized and requested.

Cool Nights Continue To Set Records

Big Spring had a new low temperature record set Thursday for the second day in a row and the fifth time this month. The low reading at the U. S. Experiment Station was 55, considerably less than the 63 mark established in 1915.

No Progress

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet and Western foreign ministers began discussing the terms of a possible Berlin truce agreement in a secret session of the Big Four conference today, but Western informants said they made no progress.

Suggs Low Bidder On Webb Building

Suggs Construction Co. of Big Spring was the apparent low bidder Thursday on construction of communications receiving building at Webb AFB. Suggs submitted a proposal of $30,404 for the lowest of seven bids opened by the U. S. Engineers at the Fort Worth district office. Farnsworth & Chambers, Inc. of Houston submitted a proposal of $33,436. The government estimate on the job was for $36,348 and a contract is expected to be awarded within a few days to Suggs. The contractor has two jobs going at Webb now. The building, with direction finding facilities, will be of masonry construction and will contain 1,000 square feet of floor space with 1,000 gallon underground water storage, transformers, utilities, etc. The job will require 120 days to complete. Procter Engineering Co. of Tulsa, Okla., was the apparent low bidder on radar approach control facilities at Dyess AFB. The proposal, lowest of eight, was for $347,215 against a government estimate of $353,133. The 6,000 square-foot masonry building will contain electrical distribution system, radar equipment, etc. The building will be completed in 120 days and the entire project in 300 days.

Children, Mom Perish In Fire

MACEDON CENTER, N. Y. (AP)—Three children and their mother died in a fire Thursday night, the same day they arrived to start a vacation here. The father was critically burned saving one of his daughters as flames engulfed a two-story frame house at which they were visiting. Three other persons fled to safety. The dead were Mrs. Gladys Phillips, 32; and her children, David Lee, 7, Reed Matthews, 3, and Helen, 22 months. Her husband David, 35, an oil geologist of Oklahoma City, Okla., was in critical condition. Mary Ann, Helen's twin, was in fair condition. Firemen said Mrs. Phillips was found dead in the bathroom on the second floor. She and her husband had run upstairs to try to save the children. Phillips got out with Mary Ann and had to be restrained from going back into the house. The three children were found dead in their bedrooms on the second floor. The three who escaped injury were John MacGuidwin, 36, a landscape gardener; his daughter Lindsay Mae, 10; and MacGuidwin's mother Mrs. Helen MacGuidwin, 64, a schoolteacher from Chicago. MacGuidwin, who lived here the year round with his family, and Phillips are brothers-in-law. Firemen said the cause of the fire could not be determined immediately. They said 200-pound propane gas tanks at the rear of the house exploded and added to the fury of the flames.

Ike Signs Foreign Aid Bill, 10 Per Cent Short Of Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed today a $3,556,200,000 foreign aid authorization bill. The total is $353,200,000 short, or within 10 per cent, of the amount Eisenhower recommended. But there is every indication that Congress will cut deeper in the forthcoming foreign aid appropriations bill to provide the actual funds for the program through June 30, 1960. The bill signed today sets maximums and defines policies. The biggest cut was in authorization for military arms to allies. Congress set the limit at $1,400,000,000 instead of the $1,600,000,000 Eisenhower recommended. Moreover, it directed that for a two-year trial period military foreign aid be treated as part of the U.S. defense budget rather than a separate item. Congress also authorized only 155 million dollars, instead of the recommended 200 million dollars, in the fund for the President to spend in unforeseen contingencies. Other categories also were reduced, but Congress not only approved the entire 700-million-dollar authorization requested for economic development loans this year in countries with lagging economies, but provided a stepped-up $1,100,000,000 authorization for next year — which had not been requested. Other congressional contributions written into the bill were a mandate for plans to taper off outright grants to foreign countries, provisions for tightened State Department supervision and control of foreign aid, including establishment of a new post of inspector general, and requirements for more precise information from the International Cooperation Administration on its plans and operations.

Nixon, Khrushchev In Rough Debate

Trade Barbed Comments At Fair

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev face to face today, in a rough and tumble public debate, it would "be a great blow to peace" if the Geneva conference were allowed to fail. Part of the unscheduled fireworks was recorded while they toured a color television studio. Cameras ground away as they argued. Tourists, workmen and exhibition officials looked on in amazement. Nixon promised Khrushchev this portion of the debate would be shown on an American television network uncensored, with simultaneous English translation of the Soviet leader's remarks. Khrushchev, in answer to a request by Nixon, agreed to allow video tape to be shown on Soviet television. The two men shook hands on the deal. As they stood on the threshold of a model kitchen in an American home, Nixon and Khrushchev started talking about the relative merits of washing machines and wound up in a sometimes bitter exchange. "Let us not beat around the bush," Khrushchev said. "The main thing is that we want to put an end to bases on foreign lands. This is the main thing. "I repeat until that happens we will speak different political languages. The one that is for putting an end to bases on foreign lands is for peace. The one who is against this is for war." After the spirited exchange at the exhibition grounds, Nixon was Khrushchev's guest at a luncheon in the Kremlin. MET EARLIER Nixon and Khrushchev had met in the Kremlin earlier this morning for the first time since Nixon's arrival Thursday. The atmosphere was warm in contrast to the chilly reception on Nixon's arrival. Nixon stood toe-to-toe with Khrushchev batting back his arguments one by one. At the end Nixon apologized for being "a poor host at the exposition and allowing a ceremonial visit to turn into hot foreign policy discussions. "My main point is that in today's world," Nixon said, "it is immaterial which of these two great countries at a particular moment has an advantage. Any

DEAR ABBY

TELL THE FACTS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of ours is caring for a sweet little old lady who is a semi-invalid. This old lady is a close relative (and I'm not saying how close because I don't want anyone to recognize the case) to a person who is high up in show business. This famous person in show business sends $3000 every month for the care of this old lady. She is not getting that care. I've gone over there at night and found her all alone in the house, sleeping in a chair. If a fire broke out she wouldn't have a chance. I've walked in and seen her eating cold cream of wheat for her supper. My husband says I should mind my own business. What would you do?

ashamed when somebody sees them. He is 55. We have a married daughter and son who is still home. Now our son does the same thing. Tell me, is my husband sick or something? MRS. E. DEAR MRS. E.: If your husband suddenly started this childish business, perhaps he is sick and ought to see a doctor. If he has always been this way, he is simply immature.

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I would send a registered letter marked "URGENT AND CONFIDENTIAL" to the person paying for her care. I'd state the facts and sign my name.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with children. I have so much consolation in going to church, but now I find myself in love with my pastor. I enjoy every minute I am near him. Neither the pastor nor his wife (she is a lovely person) knows how I feel and I would never let on. I'm afraid I can't hide my feelings much longer. I don't want to give up going to his church. Please tell me what to do. A READER

DEAR READER: (You are one reader I am not going to send to your clergyman.) What you feel is not "Love." It is a composite of respect, admiration, devotion and gratitude. Try to find a worthwhile single man in whom you can become interested, and regard your pastor as a spiritual leader and a good friend.

DEAR ABBY: When a man marries a girl who is fresh out of college, he doesn't expect her to be the world's greatest cook and housekeeper. But how much brains does a woman need to know that she shouldn't starch her husband's underwear? JUST MARRIED

DEAR JUST: That's a pretty stiff question. Give her time.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me why my husband has to have pictures of naked girls hanging all over the place? He's got naked girls on the walls of our bedroom, hallways and on all the closet doors. The garage looks like the outside of a girls' show. I am

Man Sought In Stock Case Found In Rio

NEW YORK (AP)—Lowell M. Birrell, a lawyer and financier wanted here in connection with a multimillion-dollar stock fraud, has been located in Rio de Janeiro.

Birrell, 52, missing since 1957 when a warrant was issued for his arrest, was charged two weeks ago in a 69-count indictment with engineering a $4-million-dollar fraud on stockholders in two companies.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Thursday that Birrell, who has been reported seen in various cities around the globe, arrived in Rio this week probably from Paris. Hogan said Birrell is using the name Lowell McAfee. His middle name is McAfee.

Brazil has no extradition treaty with the United States, so Birrell's deportation is being sought through the State Department. Hogan said he may have a fraudulent passport. Birrell disappeared in November 1957 after he failed to appear in federal court in an injunction proceeding on a charge of violation of the Securities and Exchange Commission rules.

Steel Union Chief Says Strike Aimed At Fair Share Of Profits

By NORMAN WALKER NEW YORK (AP)—The steel strike, says the man directing the walkout, won't end until companies agree to a fair split of increased profits with their half-million workers.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, thumbed pages of a newspaper to a short inside article saying a small steel firm had netted almost as much profit in six months this year as the company's highest full-year earnings record.

"It's fantastic," said McDonald. "Wait until the big steel companies file their profits reports next week. You'll see. They're going to have to share that money with us."

"It has always happened that way. And we intend to see it continues." McDonald's views were as fixed and unyielding on the union side as were those expressed for the industry earlier to the same interviewer by Chairman Roger Bloor of the United States Steel Corp.

industry as opposing progress and efficiency," McDonald said. "I repeat what I've said: the claim is as phony as a seven-dollar bill. The industry's whole position is based on misrepresentation and distortion of the facts."

The union, said this dapper, well-tailored, prematurely gray union boss, looking for all the world like a top industry executive, has never opposed automation or technical progress.

"As further evidence of the phonyness of industry's arguments, thousands of adjustments in working conditions are made each year by joint agreement in local collective bargaining," McDonald said.

"What the industry desires, however, is to eliminate free collective bargaining in making these adjustments and to substitute unilateral management imposition of its will."

concession and a contribution to curbing economic inflation. We have not tried to hamstring the industry in any fashion."

The living cost escalator feature of the expired steel contracts—something the industry wants eliminated—must be continued in any new agreements, he said.

"The cost-of-living factor has become part of the mores of American labor that the steelworkers union does not intend to drop," McDonald said.

How long will the steel strike last? McDonald, who has had to cancel plans to accompany Richard M. Nixon on the vice president's current tour of the Soviet Union, said the answer is up to the industry.

"We want our people off the bricks and back at their jobs as soon as possible," he said.

"As physical effort decreases, mental effort increases. This is not to say there doesn't still exist a great deal of physical effort—sweat and hard work. Innumerable improvements have been initiated by the workers," he said. "We are not loafers. We work hard. As partners in the enterprise we have something coming. We intend to get it."

What would be a "fair share?" McDonald said that is a matter for bargaining. But he noted the union has offered to settle on the same annual increase terms that were the basis for the 1956 three-year agreement with steel firms.

"In not seeking more than that," McDonald said, "we have made a

Young Socialite Turns Up Bruised, Tells Of Abduction

CHICAGO (AP)—A young New Jersey socialite, missing since Wednesday, turned up in a Chicago-lake front park today and told police she had been kidnaped in Newark, terrorized for two days and then dumped by two toughs.

Miss Jacqueline Gay Hart, 21-year-old daughter of an executive vice president of Cognate-Palms olive Co., ran sobbing to a parked police car and cried: "Where am I, where am I?"

Policeman Jack Blakeslee told her where she was and Miss Hart sobbed. "My name is Gay Hart; I want to call my dad in New Jersey." Another officer, James Meskell, joined Blakeslee.

Taken to the detective bureau, the distraught young woman—her arms bruised—gave a rambling, sometimes incoherent account of the two days since she bade farewell to her fiancé, 25-year-old Stanley Gaines, at the airport in Newark and vanished.

The attractive Miss Hart, her blonde hair disheveled, told police a man shoved her into a car at the airport just as she was about to enter her own auto after leaving Gaines.

Miss Hart, who planned to marry Gaines Aug. 29, said she had been fed only candy bars during the two days of travel and terror. A second young man was in the car where she was thrown, gagged, bound, blindfolded and covered with a blanket.

Whenever she moved, Miss Hart said, one of the men kicked her in the side. She estimated they drove most of the time since Wednesday. At times she heard what sounded like coins dropping into automatic toll road gates, she said.

Miss Hart said the men drove almost continuously until some time Thursday when the car pulled into a driveway. She was shoved up several steps into what she found to be a bathroom, the young woman said.

About two hours later, Miss Hart said, she heard the men conversing. "Ed we're going to get a lot of money out of this," she quoted one.

"We gotta get rid of her, Ed, she's too hot," one was quoted as saying a few minutes later. She reported one of the men then entered her bathroom prison, and said: "My friend is chicken. We gotta get rid of you."

ing abducted from the airport in Newark. But as she regained her composure, she related a more coherent account. She refused medical attention and declined to be examined, pending arrival of her father, Ralph, from the family's Short Hills, N.J., home. She told officers and a police matron she had not been molested sexually. Her grey sheath dress was not torn or disarranged.

A diamond brooch, her engagement ring from Gaines and all identification had been taken by the time she wandered into the police car.

Police gave her a cup of coffee and two aspirin tablets, and she slept briefly. Police said bruises across her upper arms could have been caused by her manhandling captors or by the rags which were used to bind her for the two-day period.

Miss Hart spoke briefly and glibly by telephone with her father, who told Lt. Pierson emphatically, "That's my daughter."

Miss Hart, who carried only $5 in her purse when she was found, told Pierson she remembered the two men talking about a lot of stops because of tollways.

But she gave neither police nor an FBI investigator, who was immediately called in, any description of either man. Jacqueline is a June graduate of Sweet Briar College in Virginia, where she was an honor student.

Popular in her home town of Short Hills, N.J., she was also crowned a campus queen at Sweet Briar.

Before her disappearance, she was a girl looking forward to her marriage to Gaines and her friends said she was in high spirits.

There is no immediate information as to whether the wedding date will remain the same, in view of the ordeal she has gone through.

Her fiancé is from a well-to-do coal mining family in Fayetteville, W.Va. He graduated this year from Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W.Va.

A Devotional For Today

A certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he (the man who had fallen among thieves) was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him. (Luke 10:33.)

PRAYER: O God, we pray that the spirit of Christ may be reflected in our dealing with others. Help us to come to a deeper sense of our need of Thee. May we find that inner peace which only Thou canst give. Help us as we try to make it our purpose in life to seek Thy kingdom first. Through Christ, our Redeemer, we pray. Amen.

The Market For Filth

A federal judge on Tuesday ruled that a new unexpurgated version of D. H. Lawrence's book, "Lady Chatterley's Lover," was fit for the U. S. mails, thus slapping down a Postoffice Department ban. Earlier New York State had banned a motion picture based on the book, and the U. S. Supreme Court had slapped that down. These proceedings were good publicity for the book and the motion picture—publicity that no amount of advertising could have duplicated, so it is probable that heirs and assigns of this English author, who died of tuberculosis in 1930 at the age of 45, were not displeased. Lawrence was in trouble with the London police as early as 1915 with his third book, "Rainbow." His specialty was sex, and he may be said to have been the spiritual godfather of sexy fiction, modern version.

Why strain at the gnat of Lady Chatterley's Lover and swallow the camel of Peyton Place and scores of other books based on raw sex and homosexuality and other outdoor themes? Once all moral bans are off the sky's the limit—or, rather, the depths of hell.

Now they're after the children with below-the-counter filth that would make D.H. Lawrence seem like John Bunyan. There are fortunes to be made in catering to the itching human ear.

Why Any Limit At All?

Last autumn we saw the effort to induce the Texas Legislature to grant authority to the Texas Department of Public Safety, or the appropriate division thereof, to raise the legal speed limit from the present 60 m.p.h. maximum to 70 m.p.h. on stretches of highway deemed by the proper agency to be suitable for higher speed travel, had failed.

Now comes an article titled "Speed and Accidents" by Frederick T. McGuire Jr., president of the American Automobile Association. Since the envelope reads "Texas Division" and the address is Austin, we assume AAA was among the outfits advocating a lifting of the speed rate in Texas to 70 m.p.h. Indeed, Mr. McGuire undertakes to prove, with appropriate text and statistics, that the higher the speed the fewer the accidents, winding up with the claim that the most accidents occur at the speed of 35 m.p.h.—just half the proposed new 70-mile limit.

The claim is attributed to a study by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads into accident factors, and Mr. McGuire observes that "the most amazing finding from this study was that, mile for mile, people driving at relatively high speeds—in the range from 45 to 70 m.p.h.—actually have fewer accidents than people driving at lower speeds, that is, between 35 and 45 m.p.h."

Mr. McGuire continues: "Such a statement will be quickly challenged by zealots and holders of the 'speed kills' philosophy." Of course he overlooks the relatively minor fact that the vast bulk of driving is inside cities where 35 m.p.h. may be too fast.

What is excessive speed? Any rate of speed, in our book, too great under conditions existing at the point of impact, whether it's 35 m.p.h. or 80 m.p.h. We should have to know the average rate of speed of all motor vehicles in the country to be able to draw a cross on a chart and say, with certainty, "at this speed the most fatalities occurred, or the fewest."

Speed itself may not be inherently dangerous, but human reaction and human judgment are inherently faulty; and to exercise any control at all over drivers of motor vehicles it is necessary to set—now the counter-filth that would make D.H. Lawrence seem like John Bunyan. There are fortunes to be made in catering to the itching human ear.

lenged the fact that Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution leaves to the states exclusive jurisdiction over the qualifications of voters. But Section 4 of the same article authorizes Congress to legislate concerning the time, place and manner of holding elections, and all three of the pending bills express the pious fraud that they are dealing with the "manner of holding elections."

"Of course, if the Senate passes any of these bills, it means that the states hereafter—barring relief from the federal courts, which is not too likely—would be subject to the temporary whim of a labor-dominated Congress on what restrictions, if any, a state could put on the election of state and local officials as well as federal officials, because it is impractical to have two sets of qualifications. In other words, we are confronted with a very serious threat to constitutional government, as well as to the future opportunity of any state to be represented in the Senate by those who are unwilling to wear the yoke of organized labor."

The key to the problem is the qualification of voters. Some states have a "poll tax" which means that every voter must pay a small registration fee to help defray the expenses of government. Some states, moreover, require literacy or intelligence tests. One state permits 18-year-olds to vote. The Constitution says in Article I:

"The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature."

Another section of the same article of the Constitution says:

"The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators."

Clearly the phrase "manner of holding elections" has to do with the arrangements for the elections themselves and not with the qualification of voters. Otherwise, the writers of the Constitution would not have found it necessary to specify at all that the qualifications of the "electors"—the persons who do the voting—should be prescribed by the state legislatures.

In support of this point, the Seventeenth Amendment, proclaimed in May 1913, specifically says with respect to the election of United States senators by popular vote:

"The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures."

Was Timing Bad In Nixon Visit?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's good will Soviet visit has started off sticky and can get worse. If it does, President Eisenhower and the Senate will have to ask themselves if their timing was bad. Nixon, whose gladhanding Latin-American tour a year ago was met with spit and stones, got a shocking reception Thursday just about the time he landed in Moscow and started shaking hands with all in sight. Twenty miles away Premier Nikita Khrushchev, angered by a recent anti-Communist gesture of Eisenhower and the Senate, was deriding the United States and calling Nixon's visit part of a plan to embarrass the Soviet Union.

On July 6 the Senate, by voice vote and with little debate, passed a resolution calling on Eisenhower to proclaim the third week in every July as Captive Nations Week. Eisenhower issued the proclamation July 17.

This was the latest of many similar American reminders that the Soviet Union was holding the satellites in thrall. It was supposed to serve several purposes: To remind the satellite people the United States hasn't forgotten them; and to strengthen Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's hand in dealing with the Russians at Geneva on the Berlin problem.

How this could strengthen Herter's hand is hard to see. A Senate resolution on an old theme wasn't going to make the Russians weak-kneed. It was nothing more than a gesture.

And, since this country isn't going to war to free the satellites and there is no visible likelihood of their getting freedom otherwise, the only immediate result could have been expected: it irritated the Russians.

So, since Nixon's Soviet visit is billed as a good will tour whose climax is interviews with Khrushchev, the judgment behind the timing of this resolution and proclamation is open to question.

For this reason: When Nixon landed in Moscow it was in the middle of the Captive Nations Week as proclaimed by Eisenhower.

Khrushchev, who had just returned to Moscow himself from a trip to Poland about an hour before Nixon's plane touched down, hastened to address a Polish friendship meeting 20 miles from the Moscow airport.

He was in a savage mood. Whether this was due only to the proclamation or to a deliberately get-tough-with-America campaign he seems to be building up is not clear. But the proclamation gave him a good excuse to strike at the United States just as Nixon arrived in the Soviet Union.

He told the crowd Nixon was a representative of the "panic-stricken American imperialists" and said Nixon's trip was deliberately timed to coincide with a campaign against the Soviet Union.

The Senate and the Eisenhower administration both might have anticipated that—by letting Captive Nations Week coincide with the week of Nixon's arrival in Moscow—they might be giving the Russians a chance to embarrass him. And the Russians chose to react just that way.

Any of the year's 52 weeks could just as easily have been designated Captive Nations Week. Why, then, was the choice made of the very week that Nixon went to Russia? The answer seems to be: thoughtlessness all around and not deliberate timing.

The resolution was offered by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), with Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) joining in.

Become A Career Passenger

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are looking for a new and inexpensive hobby, why not become a career passenger?

A career passenger is a person who enjoys motoring but doesn't know how to drive a motor car—and doesn't intend to learn. He just goes along for the ride.

America has been a nation on wheels for so long now that any able-bodied person who admits he can't drive an auto is looked upon with pity, as if he suffered an affliction of some kind.

Years ago, when I first confessed in print my inability to steer a four-wheeled vehicle, I received a postcard from a reader saying:

"You abuse the right of a college graduate to be ignorant. God must have been asleep when you were born."

Actually, however, there are still millions of us career passengers, and both pity and contempt are wasted on us. We don't intend to learn to drive, because we are happy in our ignorance. We feel we get more sheer pleasure out of motoring than anyone.

The driver is tense and anxious. He sees only highway markers and the white winding line on the road. But the career passenger is free to enjoy the beautiful scenery—and to tell the driver all the wonderful sights he is missing.

Traffic jams don't disturb the career passenger. He merely pulls out a newspaper or a copy of Tolstoy's "War and Peace," and reads serenely until the jam is broken.

Motoring gives him no ulcers. He never worries about the crazy drivers in other cars. Not being a driver himself, he is unaware of the peril they put him in.

To be a career passenger sounds easy. But there is an art to it—as there is to any profession or hobby. Here are a few general rules to follow if you expect to become a real pro:

1. Never sit in the back seat. If you get the reputation of being a back seat driver, your career will be ruined.
2. Fight down any temptation to be helpful. If the driver hands you a road map, hold it upside down and ask cheerfully, "where to?" The driver will shake his head, take back the map and find his own way. Then if he takes the wrong road it is his responsibility.
3. Give praise, but give it judiciously—the praise a driver hungers for from his wife but rarely gets. Every half hour compliment him on how he made a curve. If you can't honestly praise his driving, praise the performance of the car.
4. Motoring has the same effect on a driver that a psychiatrist's couch has on a hypochondriac. He will want to tell you his life story. You don't have to listen to him, but you should pretend to. Just say "m-m-mmm" now and then, and he'll never know the difference.
5. Don't offer to pay part of the gas or oil costs. You have done enough for the driver by listening to him and praising him. Having served as a medicine to his ego, why should you offer him money?
6. If his car breaks down, don't offer to help. Get out and hitch-hike another ride. Your professional standing as a career passenger will be impaired if word gets around that you're helpful in an emergency. Avoid any feeling of gratitude. Remember, you are neither a parasite or a sponge. Your role is creative.
7. It is the driver who should be grateful. You are perhaps the one person in the world he can feel superior to—at least while he is behind the wheel—and therefore you are filling a vital need in his life.
8. He's lucky you don't charge him for the ride.

Around The Rim

Stage Fright Can Be Handy

The brave soldiers (our side) moved forward. There were grim grins spread across their faces, shouts of joy as the glory of battle engulfed them.

The other soldiers (the other side) fired a few random shots, succeeded in killing off the handful that you knew all along had to get killed, and then panicked. It was more a slaughter than a battle. They were cowards.

This sort of plot line, found abundantly in movies and dime novels in the days preceding World War II, was so common it had become a part of America's way of thinking.

An entire generation had been raised to the idea that a brave soldier never feared, that only the coward felt so much as a tingle in face of danger.

Then came the war.

Many a fuzzy-cheeked young man found himself quivering and quaking and, more often than not, ruining himself, when the shooting started.

It wasn't supposed to be that way. GIs soon admitted that having the splat of a bullet within two feet sent a shock through one's guts. And the enemy, to our dismay, did not break and run the moment they saw Old Glory waved in their faces.

Then came a column by Ernie Pyle which demolished the infantile conception of fear and courage held by a generation of Americans who had never known war.

Ernie, bless his soul, was the first to point out that only an abysmally stupid person never feels any fear at all; that the truly brave man is the one who feels the fear that comes with danger, but goes ahead and does what has to be done.

Afterwards, the medical and psychological experts got into the act. They pointed out that fear is a basic and natural instinct that serves for survival of the race. It keeps one from suicidal blunders, and feeds adrenalin into the bloodstream for energy to fight or run. Courage, they added, is learned, usually by a slow and painful process. And usually the learning is in earliest childhood.

A baby will cry from fear if it is suddenly dropped, with no exceptions. We are all born cowards, but must learn to be brave.

Some people must learn in later years. In most cases, those who come to understand what life's all about stop being timid. They retain a bit of stage fright, maybe, but any actor will tell you stage fright's handy to have around.

Using war as an example was perhaps stretching the point, but the same principles apply to, for example, a young person who carries over some of childhood's timidity into professional life. This timidity might be in associating with one's former elders on a now-equal basis of equality, or in getting started on a job one is uncertain of being able to do, or being panicked at the thought of saying something to someone which ought to be said, something which might be embarrassing.

Learning to move when one should move, learning to overcome that uncertain feeling, is difficult and takes time and effort. The only sure way, actually is to move ahead and, if one gets his fingers burned, chalk it up to experience.

They can't put you in jail for trying. —BOB SMITH

East Berlin Exodus Annoys Reds

WEST BERLIN — Communism's itch to get its hands permanently on West Berlin goes beyond the fact that it is Germany's largest industrial city, that it is a major producer of electrical products, machines and machine tools, optical goods, precision instruments, iron and aluminum hardware and that its garment industry produces 40 per cent of the ready-made clothing worn by West German women.

It is a continuous source of irritation that the major portion of the constant flow of East Germans to the West comes through West Berlin, the easiest escape route from East to West. This continuing rejection of communism, for all the world to see, is bad enough. But it is a grave matter, indeed, that the population of East Germany is shrinking because of the flight to the West.

In the past decade, three times as many persons have fled East Germany as have been born in that Communist-dominated state. Such a population drain cannot be shrugged off, nor can West Berlin's part in it. The chief escape hatch is through this gay, brightly and prosperous city of 2,250,000 (just twice the population of East Berlin).

The above, in part at least, explains the East-West impasse in Geneva, as the Big Four foreign ministers strive for a modus vivendi (a $5 diplomatic term for learning to grin and bear it short of war while neither the non-Communist nor Communist worlds give an inch).

An increase in the East German refugee traffic is always expected at this time of year. Parents are parents the world around, and East German parents planning to flee to the West with their children are prone to wait until the school year ends.

It is obvious the Marienfelde camp, the series of garden apartments housing 2,000 refugees, cannot care for all the refugees that flow through West Berlin's open gate. The processing of refugees is all done there, but there are a number of other camps in West Berlin, too.

The German Red Cross maintains a large refugee center that takes care of families fleeing communism. There are Protestant and Catholic churches. There is also a large temporary transit camp — as if to refute the Communist charge that only maladjusted oldsters flee the Communist wonderland — for boys between the ages of 15 and 22. This camp is maintained for "unaccompanied youth" — in other words, for boys who get fed up and flee on their own.

The West Berlin and West German regimes try to process all refugees within 10 days to two weeks. Once the processing is completed, the refugee is flown to some community in West Germany, where it is felt his skills can best be put to use and he can make a new life. All West German communities, great and small, are pledged to take their fair share of refugees and help them rebuild a useful and happy existence.

Very few refugees remain in West Berlin, which always has an unemployment problem, despite its prosperity. Refugees must be sent out by air, because West Berlin is an island in a Communist sea. Their safety would be jeopardized on west-bound highways and railroads under the eternal aegis of Communists.

The East-to-West German refugee pattern, thanks to the verities of human nature, remain much the same today as they were four and a half years ago when I was here.

Twenty-five per cent still flee because they cannot stand one more day of communism; 50 per cent lam for personal reasons, including the fact they no longer feel safe in Communist territory, and 25 per cent still take a run-out powder because they have domestic troubles and are fed up with a husband or wife. #### Dollar Value At Stake In Steel Strike

A lot of high-minded words have been and will be unleashed by the steel strike. Politicians, Congressmen, editorial writers, clergymen, and columnists will deplore the shutdown: Can't human beings find a better way to settle differences than to bring the nation's basic industry to a halt?

It has already been called "the strike nobody wants." And as it shuts down factories, cuts down sales of merchants, costs jobs, and forces strikers and others to dip into savings, that will be said again: The strike nobody wanted.

This is the strike everybody has wanted. This is the strike the country couldn't avoid. It brings before us the one inescapable economic problem of our time: The value of the dollar and what we want to do about it.

We're all parties to this strike, not impersonal bystanders. We all goaded the participants into it—David J. McDonald and his steelworkers and the various executives of the steel companies.

The outcome will affect us, our children and, perhaps, their children. That's why we had to have the strike.

Diverse rights are at stake: The right of a worker to aspire to an ever-rising standard of living; the right of users of steel products to quality at a reasonable price; the right of suppliers of steel companies to a fair price for their products; the right of stockholders to a reasonable return on their investments.

There is another right, which embraces all those rights: The right of everybody—workers, stockholders, suppliers, and customers—to share in the progress of the steel industry and every other industry.

It is this right that the fighting's all about. Who is to get the benefits of advancing technology?

wages is only justified if there's a decrease in costs. Let the steel worker get some part of gains in productivity, but you and I, as consumers, should get some of the benefits, too. This group feels that steel wage boosts inevitably followed by price boosts affront economic decency.

Some people, and this goes for the executives of steel and other companies, believe that it's high time the company's stockholders get a better break. Too large a share of the increase in postwar business has gone to labor and not enough to capital. At the end of the war, compensation of employees amounted to 65 per cent of the national income. In 1958, it was 70 per cent. Corporate net profits, in contrast, rose from 7 per cent in 1946 to 9 per cent in 1950 and then dropped back to 6 per cent in 1957 and 5 per cent in 1958, the recession year.

Throughout the postwar period, most Americans have relished improvement in living standards. We've liked the pay increases, higher dividends, rise in stock prices, and the sale of homes at higher prices. "Tres gal!" But many of us have had misgivings: Can inflation go on and on without a bust?

President Eisenhower has voiced those misgivings positively. He has told steel workers and steel executives that the new contract should not entail a price increase. He placed the pointer where it belongs, on inflation.

Too, many of us are tired of the ever-upward spiral which continuously depreciates the dollar's purchasing power.

And that is what this strike is all about. That is why this strike had to come. Steel, which has so often set the pattern for wages, will set the pattern again. What happens to prices afterwards will determine what's ahead for the dollar.

This isn't just a steel showdown. It's a money showdown, an inflation showdown. It's what everybody wanted and, at last, is getting.

MATHEWS AND HODGES JOIN INJURY LIST

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If there's to be a turning point in the tight fight for the National League pennant, it may be at hand—not in the won-lost records or batting averages, but in the injury lists.

For while right-hander Jack Sanford proved himself sound again by pitching first-place San Francisco to a 5-1 victory over St. Louis Thursday, Milwaukee's third place Braves found they'll have to do without slugger Ed Mathews indefinitely. And second-place Los Angeles lost Gil Hodges for at least a week.

Hodges, the man with the big bat in the Dodgers' comeback, pulled a leg muscle after his 19th home run had touched off a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Mathews, the NL home run leader with 29, was kept out of the lineup because of a bruised hip, suffered Wednesday, as the Braves slipped 4½ games behind with a 6-2 defeat by Cincinnati. It was the only other game scheduled in the NL.

Hodges broke up a scoreless tie with a two-run homer in the fourth, then was injured sliding in the sixth. The big first baseman is battling .293.

Wally Moon also homered for the Dodgers, his seventh, and forced in another run with a bases loaded walk in a two-run seventh that nailed it for Larry Sherry (1-2). The young right-hander singled home the clincher in the seventh for his first major league victory, but needed Don Drysdale's saving relief job after Ernie Banks singled home two runs in the eighth. Moe Drabowsky (4-8) was the loser.

Sanford had the Cardinals blanked until the ninth, walking one, striking out five and allowing nine hits. Wally Shannon's two-out single broke up the shutout.

Willie Patrano Needs Win Over A. Johnson Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Willie Patrano, who never has been knocked off his feet, takes on Alonzo Johnson tonight in a heavy-weight 10-rounder which is a must for both fighters.

The National Boxing Assn. ranks Johnson seventh. The NBA has Patrano unranked but Ring magazine rates him eighth.

The nimble Patrano needs to win to remain a contender. Johnson has won 12 in a row and needs the fight to continue his fistic rise.

Patrano originally was scheduled to meet Alex Miteff, but Miteff was ailing.

Johnson, whose home is in Bradock, Pa., has won 17 of 18 fights. Patrano, of Miami, has a 49-7-5 record.

The fight will be scored on the 5-point per round system, and will be televised nationally (NBC).

Rain Gives Wright A New Opportunity

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
MOUNT PROSPECT, Ill. (AP)—A rain-outed first round in the $20,000 Mount Prospect Women's Open, richest golf tournament on the Ladies PGA circuit, did wonders for Mickey Wright.

The 72-hole competition on the snug 6,421-yard par 37-37-74

Mount Prospect Country Club course is to start belatedly today with a field of 35 feminine pros drawing a bead on the $6,500 first prize.

The biggest jackpot in women's golf will be awarded Sunday after rain Thursday forced a double round on the final day.

The only other major women's tournament with a 36-hole finale is the National Open which Mickey has unprecedentedly won the last two years. Mickey, fresh from taking the Alliance Open in Ohio and the $2,200 winning check, has been bothered with a sore shoulder.

It forced her to withdraw from the Mount Prospect pro-amateur event Wednesday after nine holes.

"The rainout gave me a chance to visit Stan Kertes (well known pro at Chicago's Bryn Mawr Country Club) to take a look at my swing," said Mickey whose earnings of $12,432 leave her second to Betsy Rawls ($13,194) on the LPGA winning list. "Kertes caught my trouble right away."

Misses Wright, Rawls, Louise Suggs, Marlene Hagge, Beverly Hanson, Patty Berg—just about the whole gang of top pro swingers—are on hand for the inaugural Mount Prospect tourney.

VIRUS KILLS TATUM, TARHEEL GRID COACH

By NOEL YANCEY
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Jim Tatum, 46, University of North Carolina football coach, died Thursday night of a virus infection.

Only his doctors were permitted at his bedside in the isolation ward of the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

His wife Edna lay ill at home suffering from the same highly contagious virus. She is expected to recover.

In the hospital halls stood relatives, friends and players praying that the big, moon-faced man would win this lonely fight.

Tatum was hospitalized with the virus last Saturday. Since then, his condition worsened rapidly.

Always the center of controversy, Tatum returned to his alma mater here just four years ago. He wanted to rebuild the school into a national football power.

He came from the University of Maryland, where he had built a football dynasty in nine years. His teams there played in three bowl games. In 1953 his team was named national champion and Tatum was voted Coach of the Year.

"Organization," was Tatum's reply to those who asked him his secret of success. He shone as a recruiter and he was known as a tough taskmaster on the practice field. But above all, he was a top-flight administrator and organizer.

A strong family man, Tatum built a fine home in this college village he loved and embarked on a program of rebuilding North Carolina football. Ironically, he figured this year's team would fulfill his dream.

Tatum first came to the University of North Carolina in 1931 from his home in McColl, S.C. Playing under Carl Snavely, Tatum was an all-Southern Conference player. He was graduated in 1935, followed Snavely to Cornell, but later returned to North Carolina as director of freshmen athletics, becoming head football coach in 1942.

He entered the Navy, served as an assistant to Don Faurot at the Iowa preflight school, and then became coach of the Jacksonville (Fla.) Naval Air Station.

He went to Oklahoma in 1946, guiding his team into the Gator Bowl. Then he moved to Maryland. At Maryland, his teams won 73 games, lost only 15, and played 5 ties. His teams played in the Orange, Sugar and Gator bowls.

He was graduated in 1935, followed Snavely to Cornell, but later returned to North Carolina as director of freshmen athletics, becoming head football coach in 1942.

Nat'l League Winner, 8-3

A more experienced National League all-star team broke for five runs in an extra inning to defeat the Internationals, 8-3, in the International park last night where the area playoff is being conducted.

The Nationals meet the Texas-American winner of tonight's 7:30 p.m. game Saturday night. Victor gets a trip to Andrews for the district playoffs.

The International team tied the game 3-3 in the bottom of the sixth when Dub McMeans clubbed a home run that scored Jay Deason, who had singled.

But in the top of the extra inning the Nationals' Ricky McGarson singled to run across Ricky Earle who had doubled. Later, Allen Clanton and McCarrison scored on an error that put Gary Anderson on base. Bennie Kirkland homered to bring in Anderson. Woody Fletcher had a solo home run in the third inning for the winners.

Winning pitcher, Ricky McGarson, fanned eight and gave up five singles. Loser Jay Deason fanned one before he was relieved by Dub McMeans in the fourth. McMeans whiffed five.

Indians Batter New York Yankees Again, 8 To 5

Associated Press Sports Writer
Somebody says the New York Yankees still were the team Cleveland had to beat? Great guy for jokes, that fellow. The Indians left them battered.

It was the Yankees who tumbled the Indians out of first place a week ago, then dumped them to second again Wednesday night when Cleveland blew a 4-0 lead.

But Thursday night the Indians played like contenders again, edging within a half a game of the rain-soaked first place Chicago White Sox as Minnie Mino's grand slam homer triggered a seven-run sixth inning that over-

Wish U Well Runs Saturday

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — "The Schlitz Allowance" is highlighted at up and coming Ruidoso Downs Saturday.

This 6 1/2 furlong sprint is sponsored by the Pecos Sales Co. of Roswell, N. M. Turkson, recently acquired by H. G. Wells of Tucson, Ariz., got in a likely shot to make amends for his original defeat. He was a good runner at Hollywood Park and his best ought to handle this field.

Quick Thrust, carrying the hopes of the Circle K Stable of Albuquerque, N. M., will be the probable co-favorite. Hunker, representing the Burguete Ranch of Vaughn, N. M., is a three-time winner—vastly improved—meeting sterner competition here.

Remaining challengers: Wish U Well, Make Up Clouds, Jimo, Mesa H and Damask Cloth. Wish U Well is owned by Jess Wilbanks of Big Spring.

Co-featured is a 350-yard Quarter Horse Allowance holding third spot on the racing card.

First Call, owned by Hoss Imman of Lamar, Colo., should be the likely favorite, came here a stake winner at Los Alamitos and has had an out.

Redway Nip, leased by B. E. Meadows of Baytown, Tex., is a six time winner this year. El Daballo, belonging to Eddie Garcia of La Puente, Calif., has had one disappointing out and can do better. Lassie's Pride, owned by Lester Goodson of Houston, Tex., is a recent Bay Meadows winner and can improve.

Remaining sprinters: Clovis Doll, Be Glad, Antlers Trade, Nellie's Sugar and Game Gold Dust.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's golfing school teacher, Bernard Rains, came closest to qualifying for match play in the National Public Links tournament at Denver last week among the three local players who made the trip.

Rains was in at 152 strokes for 36 holes. The cutoff came at 150. Rains probably would have made it but for a double bogie he experienced on one hole.

Jerry Scott and Charles Bailey made the trip with him. Scott had one fairly good round. Bailey didn't play his usual game.

All three exulted in the experience of competing in the national meet and would like to play in the 1960 Publix, even though it will be held in Honolulu. A rumor was circulating in Denver to the effect that a prominent Hawaii business man would furnish transportation for all American entries to and from California, if the players would arrange to get to and from that point.

Rains had his picture in the Denver Post but was identified in the cutlines as Bailey, for some reason.

James Lee Underwood, the Big Spring youngster who went out and won himself a golf tournament at Levelland last weekend, was probably the most pronounced underdog ever to compete in the meet.

No one gave James Lee a chance to win his first match, let alone get by Ross Mitchell in the finals.

Up until the Levelland meet, James Lee's chief claim to links notoriety was the fact that he had twice won the club championship at the Big Spring Country Club.

At Levelland, he applied the pressure early in the match to Mitchell and never eased up. Mitchell is still wondering what hit him.

Ray (Shorty) Snyder, the retired merchant here who has probably been playing golf longer than any other Big Spring resident, recalls that the veteran Dick Martin of Dallas won the Ranger Invitational tournament back in 1941 by beating Tommy Bolt in the finals, 1 up.

Bolt, of course, was destined to become one of the nation's best known professionals and last year won the National Open. At that time, Snyder was writing a golf column called "Puttering Around The Country Club" for the Ranger Times.

Martin is still playing fine golf. He teamed with Ed Carpenter to tie for second place in the Odessa Pro-Am tournament only last week.

Those who followed the ex-Big Spring, Billy Maxwell, at Odessa say they don't see how Maxwell ever loses. He has every shot in the book, from tee to green. His weakness, of course, is lack of a real putting touch. Of course, he's not alone there. Outside of Billy Casper, there are very few really good putters in the pro ranks. If the putts ever start dropping for Maxwell, he's apt to dominate the pro game as no one has since Byron Nelson was in his heyday.

Maxwell hasn't entered the winner's circle for some time now and needs a victory to qualify for the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas again. Still, he's among the nation's ten top money earners and likely will remain there.

It is also told that young Knoxville links pro, J. C. Goswie, could be as good as the best if he'd show a little more respect for his training regimen.

Goswie, too, has all the shots needed to be a great player.

Morris Anovich, the one-time big league baseball player who passed on to his reward recently, was a cousin to Lloyd Anovich of 809 1/2 Rannels Street, Big Spring.

Morris played nine years in the National League, during which time he was with Philadelphia, Cincinnati and New York. Usually, he played left field. He participated in three all-star games.

In 1929, while with the Redlegs, he led the league in hitting until the final month of the campaign. John Mize came on strong at the end and beat him out by 20 points. Morris also got in two World Series with Cincy.

Wright, Newby Are Second In Partnership Tourney

AMARILLO (SC) — The tandem of Bobby Wright, Big Spring, and Amarillo's Jack Newby stood one stroke back of the leaders, John Farquhar, Amarillo, and Chris Blocker, Jal, N. M., in the qualifying round of the annual Amarillo Partnership Golf tournament here Thursday.

Farquhar and Blocker pieced together a 135, Farquhar posting a 67.

Wright and Newby qualified for last year's tournament here with a 139, then lost to the eventual champions, John Paul Cain of Sweetwater and Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, by a score of 7 and 6.

Third were Charles Coady, Stamford, and Don Messingale, Jacksboro, who came in with a 137.

In all, 320 players tried for places in the tournament.

Wright teamed with Bobby Maxwell, also of Big Spring, to defeat Rex Baxter Jr., and Farquhar in the finals of the 1955 tournament here, 3 and 2.

Wright and Newby qualified for last year's tournament here with a 139, then lost to the eventual champions, John Paul Cain of Sweetwater and Jerry Pittman, Tulsa, by a score of 7 and 6.

Painters Grab Win In Debut

Troy Wetsel, pitching only his fourth softball game of the season, choked only San Angelo's All Stars with only two singles as Nabors' Paint Store advanced in the ASA playoffs, 5-0, in Sterling City Thursday night.

The local team made it past the first hurdle with ease. Tonight it faces Sterling City at 7 p.m. That team dropped First Christian in the third game of the night, after First Christian had tipped Texas National Guard of San Angelo, 3-0, in the opening match.

Sterling City, it is said, will import N. E. Stephens—who has led Manuel's Tacos of Midland to state softball finals the past two years—to take the mound against Nabors'.

Wetsel fanned eight men, and his team tagged loser Jim Clatterback for four hits. Ralph Murphy, Nabors' right fielder, thumped a solo home run in the second inning.

Should Nabors' overcome Sterling City, it will be in Saturday night's finals. Winner of the tournament goes to Brownwood Aug. 5-10 for the state ASA tourney.

Pitcher tonight will be Speed Franklin; Cotton Mize hurls the third game.

Miss U.S.A. And Runners-Up

'Universe' Finals Scheduled Tonight

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Each of the 15 finalists in the Miss Universe beauty pageant is going to be divided — like ancient Gaul — into three parts tonight.

At least that's the way she'll be studied by contest judges, who cut the field of 34 lovelies to a select 15 Thursday night. The judges look for three things as the girls parade in evening dresses and then bathing suits: charm, body, face.

And when the judges put the parts together tonight, presto — Miss Universe.

Finalists are: Miss Belgium, Helene Savigny, 24, an aspiring actress; Miss Brazil, Vera Ribeiro, 19, who also wants to be an actress; Miss Colombia, France-educated Olga Pumarero, 20; Miss England, drama student Pamela Anne Searle, 21; Miss France, Francoise Saint Laurent, 18.

Miss Germany, Carmela Kunzel, 19, an aspiring teacher; Miss Greece, would-be film star Zoe Koyrokyk; Iceland's 18-year-old Sigridur Thorvaldsdottir; Miss Israel, Rina Issacov, 19, a university student from Tel Aviv.

Miss Japan, Akiki Kojima, 22, a leggy fashion model from Tokyo; Miss Korea, Hyun Choo Oh, 19, an aspiring ballerina; Miss Norway, Jorunn Kristiansen, 18, who wants to be a gym teacher; Miss Poland, ballet dancer Zuzanna Cembrowska, 19; Miss Sweden, Marie-Louise Ekstrom, 20, who wants to raise a family; and Miss U.S.A., Terry Lynn Huntingdon, 19, a UCLA coed.

Retail Sales In West Texas Hit High Peak

ABILENE — Retail sales in West Texas last year increased over 1957 at a rate of 19.7 per cent greater than the rest of the state, according to a story in the July issue of West Texas Today, official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Based on copyrighted figures reported by Sales Management, Inc., the article also reveals that the 132-county region of the WTCC recorded an increase for the year of $245,616,000 in effective buying income.

The county-by-county listing of retail sales for 1958, 1957 and 1956 in the magazine article indicates that increases in 1958 over 1957 were realized by all eight of the eight counties in the over $100 million category, in three of four of the $50 million to $100 million group, in seven of nine in the $25 million to $50 million group, in 25 of 42 in the $10 million to $25 million category, in 11 of 33 in the $5 million to $10 million group, in nine of 29 in the $2.5 million to $5 million group, and in two of seven in the less than $1 million category.

Racist In Prison For Second Term

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Segregationist John Kasper is back in federal prison here to serve his second sentence growing out of the 1956 racial violence at Clinton (Tenn.) High School.

He arrived Thursday to begin a six-month sentence imposed for his interference with integration at the school. He completed an eight-month sentence last August for a contempt of court conviction in the same case.

Warden Eugene R. Goodwyn said Kasper will be given the same orientation program given other new prisoners. He worked in the prison laundry before.

Blue Law Confuses St. Joseph Picture

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — If you're in St. Joseph Sunday and would like a beer, you'll have no trouble buying it. But just try to buy a sack of peanuts to nibble on. Or a package of cigarettes.

A new city ordinance governing business on Sunday was adopted recently by the City Council of St. Joseph, a city of 78,588 in northwest Missouri.

It was drafted by City Atty. Fred E. Schoenlaub and his staff of five to liberalize an old blue law which said, in effect, don't buy, don't sell and don't play on Sunday.

The new version exempts businesses which provide emergency, necessary or recreational services. Hospitals, hotels, service stations, drug stores, theaters and restaurants are among those businesses allowed to open on Sunday.

But drug stores can sell only medicines. Groceries can sell fresh produce, dairy products and soft drinks but not packaged foods such as peanuts. And service stations can sell only gasoline and oil.

Legally, you can't buy tobacco in any form — or matches for that matter. You can buy oil for your car, but not an oil filter. You can buy a soft drink or an ice cream bar at the movies—but no popcorn.

And, you can buy 3.2 per cent beer. Restaurants are exempt. Missouri law requires all taverns to serve food.

Castro Will Pitch Benefit Ball Game

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro goes out to play baseball tonight in support of his agrarian reform program.

Beard, olive drab uniform, military boots and all, Castro is scheduled to pitch at least part of a five-inning contest between his soldiers and his police. Proceeds from the game go to the agrarian fund, which is to help peasants get started on the lands Castro seizes from big owners and gives to the landless.

Lone Star Hearing Witness Returns

AUSTIN (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. attorneys sought today to get out of conflicting statements from a witness who said the company's rate increase application "might have validity if it were in serious financial straits."

Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas economics professor, returned to the stand for a morning session which will extend until Tuesday the hearing on the company's application for a 10 cent rate boost.

One clever restaurant owner got around the tobacco ban. He simply boosted the price of a glass of milk from 10 to 35 cents and threw in a package of cigarettes as a premium.

The new law caused no public concern until last Sunday. That was after Schoenlaub, acting on orders of Council President Garth Landis, ordered police to enforce the ordinance.

And enforce it they did. Five persons were arrested for selling various items—such as a bottle of ketchup. All were released on bond, and their cases have been continued.

The citizenry was outraged. Hastily, the Council began looking for a way to modify the new ordinance.

City Police Are Praised

Two Big Spring police officers have been commended by an Oklahoma tourist who was involved in a minor accident here last week. J. H. Pangborn, Inland Machine Co. of Oklahoma City, said in a letter to Chief C. L. Rogers, in part:

"I wish to commend you on having two fine gentlemen for officers. Mr. Jim Wade and Mr. Aubrey Standard. They handled this investigation in a very courteous and business like manner.

"Thank you and your officers for your courtesies." Capt. Standard is in charge of the first shift, 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Wade is a patrolman in the traffic division.

Cadillac

Hoped for the Best... and Got It!

Just a short time ago, he walked into his dealer's showroom—with his heart and his hopes high—to see if the time had come for his first Cadillac.

Well—his fondest hopes were realized—and here he is today with the car of his dreams.

What were the facts about Cadillac that made this happy and memorable moment possible?

First of all, the cost of a new Cadillac is remarkably modest—so much so, in fact, that many models are priced competitively with other cars of American manufacture.

And because Cadillac's initial price includes so many basic features that cost extra with other makes—Cadillac is actually the price rival of cars of far less stature.

There is also Cadillac's extraordinary economy of ownership. The car is amazingly frugal with gasoline and truly marvelous in its dependability.

And then there is the way a Cadillac protects its owner's investment. For such is the demand for Cadillac that the car returns an exceptionally high percentage of its original cost at the time of resale.

Those are the facts—and the conclusion, we feel, is obvious: if you are considering any motor car—even in the medium price field—you owe yourself a visit to your Cadillac dealer's showroom before you make your decision.

He'll be waiting for you—with the most surprising economy story of the year!

Humble Spud Gains Renown In West Texas

SEMINOLE — The humble spud is making a successful stand in this part of West Texas.

After six years of quiet experimentation, Fred S. Barrett Jr. is going to market this year with nearly a million pounds of potatoes.

Barrett, who comes from an Idaho family devoted to the potato business, thinks that good quality can be produced in the Gaines County soil and that "the whites are as good as anything ever to come out of West Texas."

He estimates that he will harvest 110 to 115 carloads of potatoes from the early crop this year and later in the year move another shipment of similar quantity.

He operates on his farm 15 miles west of Seminole where he has developed a 70,000 processing outlay to process and sack the potatoes of a 250-acre field. In peak season, he has as many as 100 persons working. Barrett is marketing the spuds under the brand name of Seminole Potatoes.

Barrett, with his father and brothers, was among those who brought the potato industry from Idaho to the area around Hereford in the early 1940's. He came to Gaines County half a dozen years ago. This year he has interested a neighboring farmer, Harvey Gatewood, in the business, and Gatewood has 40 acres of potatoes.

The first crop is planted as early as March 1 for a late June and July harvest. Currently, a second crop of russets is being planted for Nov. 1 harvest. At planting time he has crews cutting eyes out of seed potatoes for planting, and at harvest he uses a mechanical picker which prizes the tubers out of the earth, separates them from the foliage and dumps them into a trailer running along side.

In turn the trailer dumps them into a flume through which flows a sizeable volume of water (which is captured in a pond and is re-used for irrigation). Thoroughly cleaned, the potatoes are picked up by a conveyor and taken through a sorter which diverts them to different sacking outlets according to grade. The sacks are sewed quickly and loaded for shipment. Radio communication with similar operations at Muleshoe and Hereford expedite movement of the potatoes.

Barrett says it is a fast-paced business with much depending upon how the market breaks around harvest time. One thing he admires about the Gaines County operation is that there is little weather interference. Recently, the next day after a 2-inch rain he was able to send his machine into the field for digging.

Witness Disclaims Bribe Inference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bartley C. Crum says he did not mean to imply in sworn testimony that Edward Bennett Williams, a Teamsters Union attorney, had offered him a bribe.

Crum, a New York lawyer, filed a statement Thursday with the Senate Labor-Management Committee saying his relations with Williams had been on the highest professional level.

In testimony to the committee July 13, Crum said Williams told him the Teamsters would pay the fees of Godfrey P. Schmidt as a court-appointed monitor for the union if Crum did not testify to the committee.

Theft Charge Is Filed By Sheriff

Felony theft charges have been filed against Eugene D. Stephan, Rt. 1, and he has been released on $1,000 bond.

Sheriff's deputies filed the charges in Justice Walker Grice's court, charging that he took four 800x15 tires from Ted Phillips. The theft is supposed to have occurred on May 20, the complaint stated.

Peacetime GI Bill Dead For Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The GI Bill for peacetime veterans, passed Tuesday by the Senate, may have to wait until next year for House consideration.

The chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.), said in an interview today that he opposes its passage now.

To get House approval, Teague said his committee would have to hold hearings on the legislation. He added: "I don't propose to hold hearings this year. I don't want to be a party to sending the GI Bill to the White House which is almost certain to be vetoed by the President."

MOHOLE III

'Hero Board' Has Important Role Aboard Research Ship

By LEONARD ENGL
Copyright, 1959
By The Associated Press

Third in series
ABOARD RESEARCH VESSEL VEMA (AP)—The men call it the hero board, because "you feel like a bloody hero after you've been out on it in bad weather."

It's a swaying, slender pivoted board that projects out over the side of the far-ranging Columbia University research ship Vema—two-thirds of the way aft along the starboard side, and seven feet above the deck.

The swaying plank's proper name is the hydro board. It's used for attaching record thermometers and water sample bottles to a wire cable that carries them down to the bowels of the ocean, miles below.

In the weeks I was on Vema, someone was out on the hero board almost every day, sending down and retrieving thermometers and bottles. Vema and three other research ships were cruising the Atlantic north of Puerto Rico, looking for a site for the Mohole, the miles-deep hole that is to be drilled through the earth's crust beneath the sea. Knowledge of water conditions is indispensable to the Mohole project.

Moreover, ocean research ships send down thermometers and bottles wherever they go. For water samples and temperature measurements provide clues to one of the most important and most mysterious regions on earth—the region below the surface of the sea.

Oceans cover more than 70 per cent of the earth's surface and contain an almost inconceivably vast mass of water—over 320 million cubic miles of it. Hidden within this huge "inner space" is more life than exists on land—much of it still unknown.

Hidden in the "inner space," too, are currents mightier than hundreds of Mississippi, transporting tropical warmth to one shore and chilling cold to another. Recent studies have even connected the oceans with the Ice Ages. Warm Atlantic currents helped bring the glaciers that buried the continents by melting the Arctic ice and converting dry Arctic winds to wet, snow-bearing ones.

Oceanographers probe many aspects of the sea simultaneously. Almost all research ships, for example, are constantly on the lookout for new species of marine life.

Early on its present voyage, Vema went fishing for a "sea monster"—the adult form of a recently discovered outside eel larva, whose adult form could easily be of sea monster size. No monster was caught, though something of great size and strength struck and straightened out the heavy six-inch iron hook Vema had put down.

And Vema's biology trawl did bring back, off Central America, five specimens of a marine worm belonging to a family thought extinct for 300 million years.

Oceanographic ships have long charted currents. At first, the purpose was to aid navigation. Now, they are studied for clues to the migration of fish and the role of the oceans as weather and climate maker.

Meandering ocean waters can be tracked in several ways. One is to look for telltale markers that tag particular masses of ocean water. That's one of the missions of the man on the hero board. The temperature records and water samples he obtains identify water masses deep in the ocean that have been able to work out the main patterns of ocean water flow.

Warm water flows along the surface of the ocean from the equator to the poles. Cold water flows back again down below, near the bottom.

When these studies are finished, man will have answers to many puzzling questions not only about the oceans, but about the earth which the oceans dominate.

Many Residents Taking Salk Shots This Season

Contrary to the upsurge of paralytic polio in other sections of the state and nation, Big Spring and Howard County have reported no cases of the disease as yet. This is in comparison with four such cases last year at this time.

Interest in the Salk vaccine program has picked up in the last two months. Approximately 150 to 200 people receive free shots of the vaccine weekly at the County Health Unit. At several of the hospitals 25 to 30 new shots are given every week in addition to second, third and booster shots.

An important fact is that not only children but whole families are coming in for the vaccine.

Although these are encouraging signs that people are awakening to the importance of the shots, both the hospitals and the health unit want to stress the fact that everyone should obtain vaccinations as soon as possible to guard against the disease.

According to the Health Unit, however, the tax war being waged in the Texas Legislature may prevent a new shipment of the vaccine for the month of August from being sent.

Kiwanis To Join Rotary At Luncheon

Big Spring Kiwanians will meet with the Big Spring Rotary Club on Tuesday noon to hear an address by Louie E. Throgmorton, vice president and director of public relations for the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

The club voted not to meet on next Thursday but to join with the Rotarians at their meeting on Tuesday. Throgmorton is a well known and much admired public speaker.

The club Thursday heard a discussion on Texas Water Problems prepared and presented by the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. On hand to introduce the program at the Kiwanis Club was Wayne Vaughn, member of the local engineering organization.

A series of slides, accompanied by a recorded discussion, were watched with deep interest by the club members. Water, the Kiwanians learned, poses one of the biggest problems that the Southwest, and Texas in particular, has to solve if its future is to be prosperous.

The tremendous population growth anticipated for the state with the ever increasing demand for more and more water, plus the steadily diminishing reserve of this liquid, offers one of the major challenges that the state must face.

The lecture emphasized in particular the heavy loss of precious rain through evaporation and transpiration.

Sherman Smith, president of the club, presented Vaughn.

The local society of engineers has been carrying the water program to the several civic clubs of the city.

Robb Reported Much Improved

Encouraging report was given today on the condition of J. Y. Robb, who has been under treatment in a Dallas hospital for the past two weeks.

His son, Ike Robb, returned from a visit with his father, and said that physicians had corrected a blood imbalance and that as a result Mr. Robb is taking nourishment well and is able to be up for some period of time.

He is to remain in Dallas for further tests, however, to determine extent of abdominal trouble. Robb is in the Gaston Hospital, Room 248.

James Stewart Wins Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Movie Star James Stewart at long last won promotion today to brigadier general in the Air Force reserves.

By voice vote and without a word of debate, the Senate finally approved the promotion which has been bogged in controversy since 1957.

The long delay was due chiefly to opposition from Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) who questioned that Stewart, a World War II combat pilot, had put in as much time as he should have at reserve duties.

Presbyterian

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian minister, will deliver a morning sermon on "When Springs Run Dry." Special music will be done to honor this fine man. Nothing, he was told.

When Haman came to speak to the king, the king asked him what should be done to a man the king wanted to honor. Haman, thinking he was the man, answered that he should wear the king's crown, ride the king's horse and receive all honors.

Then the king said: "Do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sits before the king's gate." So it was done to Mordecai as the king said, and Haman went home mourning.—Ester 6:10-12.

When the king and Haman came to the banquet Ester had prepared, the king asked Ester again, "What is thy petition, Queen Ester?" She answered that if she had found favor in his sight "let my life be given me at my petition, and my people at my request. For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed."—Ester 7:2-4.

The king asked: "Who is he, and where is he, that durst presume in his heart to do so?" She told him it was Haman, who was now afraid—and with good cause, for "they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai."—Ester 7:5-10.

Let us all pray to God to keep us from doing evil or having evil thoughts, and let us resolve that, like Ester, we will have the courage to stand for the right always and practice it.

Courage in Crisis (Ester)

HOW A QUEEN SAVED HER PEOPLE FROM DESTRUCTION

Scripture—Ester

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON tells us the dramatic story of a beautiful, courageous woman who saved her people from being massacred by the plot of a wicked man who hated them.

Ahasuerus was a rich and powerful king who reigned over a very large section of the old world.—Ester 1:1.

In the third year of his reign he gave a great feast in his palace to his servants and princes, boasting of his riches and his rule.—Ester 1:2-4.

Drinks in abundance were served in golden goblets and we may infer that all present became intoxicated. Now Vashti, the queen, was a very beautiful woman, and the king commanded that she come before his guests to be admired.

However, Vashti refused to come. The king was very angry and his advisers said that he should divorce her, as she was not had example for other wives who might disobey their husbands. This he did.—Ester 1:8-22.

Then to choose a new wife for the king, his advisers told him to "appoint officers in all the provinces that they may gather together all the fair young virgins unto the palace . . . and let the maiden which pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti. And he did so."—Ester 2:2-4.

In the palace was a Jew named Mordecai, who had been carried into captivity by Nebuchadnezzar.

Archbishop Flubs Line At Wedding

LONDON (AP)—Of all people, the Archbishop of Canterbury fluffed a line of the Church of England marriage ceremony.

It happened Wednesday at Lambeth Palace, his official residence. Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher was marrying his son Humphrey to Diana Davis, an airline stewardess.

Dr. Fisher reached the line: "A woman should be loving." The Archbishop said: "A woman should be lovely." Hurriedly, he corrected himself. The congregation smiled.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A University of Notre Dame research team, after an intensive study of a midwestern Roman Catholic parochial school and a nearby public school, said the parochial children were more God-conscious.

"Supernatural motivation," the report in the Catholic Digest said, "was clearly evident in the thinking and behavior of the parochial school children."

PROFESSIONAL RATING Legal Rights For Pastors Pressed

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

There is a growing pressure on state and federal lawmakers to lift clergymen onto the same legal plane as lawyers and doctors.

The campaign slipped into high gear last year after a Baptist minister in Tennessee was fined $50 and given a 10-day suspended sentence. He had refused, during a divorce trial, to reveal information he had received in confidence. The minister, the Rev. James Glisson, later was pardoned, but Tennessee churchmen were agast to find that existing state law extended privileged communication only to lawyers and their clients.

And there was further stir in church circles when Washington lawyer A. Robert Theibault submitted a report on the national situation to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs.

Theibault's finding: Sixteen states and the District of Columbia have no laws protecting communication between clergymen and their parishioners.

(Since the report, two states, Tennessee and South Carolina, have passed such legislation.)

The unprotected 14 remaining are Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas and Virginia.

Furthermore, Theibault reported, at least half the existing laws are inadequate and their wording leaves them open to almost any interpretation an individual court cares to give.

Efforts are being made to bring into camp those states which have no laws and also to strengthen the inadequate statutes.

The June convention of the 1½-million-member American Baptist Church passed a resolution urging its members to work for state and federal statutes guaranteeing ministerial immunity.

The Conference of Synodical Presidents of the United Lutheran ball rolling toward getting approval of a similar declaration at the ULCA's 1960 convention.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Our children love Sundays. First, of course, there is church. Afterwards, in good weather, we often have a "backyard picnic."

For me, this outing comes after a morning when I have completed one of the most important tasks of my week — preaching a sermon to my congregation. Yes, I'm a minister. If that surprises you, it shouldn't.

We ministers are people too — just as close as anyone else to pleasure, temptation, anxiety, and all the other things that go to make up life. But God has entrusted us with the task of conveying His message to you. It is a tremendous task. Yet always I feel blessed that it is mine.

When you see me standing alone in my pulpit on Sundays, do not feel that I am a figure apart from you. Rather, I want to share not only your hours of church attendance but also your moments both of triumph and of trial. I stand ever ready to serve you, to lend you my assistance, my understanding and, should you seek it, my counsel. It is in this way that I can hope to be worthy of my vocation. Remember, won't you — and call upon me?

Record High

This chart illustrates the trend in rise of cost of living since 1955 until June of this year when it reached a record high of 124.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average. As of June the consumer price index stood six-tenths of 1 per cent above a year ago.

Tropical Storm Heading For Texas

Tropical storm Debra, packing winds up to 65 miles per hour, headed toward Texas Friday. The U.S. Weather Bureau said it would strike the coast during the afternoon, bringing heavy rains and 2 to 5 foot tides. Full gale warnings were hoisted from Port O'Connor to Matagorda and gale warnings north to Freeport. All small craft along the middle and upper Texas coast were warned to stay in port. Reported earlier in the day as a tropical depression or low pressure area, Debra developed in a well fledged storm in a few short hours. The center of the storm was located by coastal radar and aircraft at 45 miles southeast of Matagorda at 9 a.m. (CST). Winds of 65 miles an hour were reported in the center with gales extending outward 40 miles to the west and 120 miles to the east. The storm, moving west to northwest, was expected to reach the Texas coast by mid-afternoon. Heavy rains were expected to accompany the storm, how far inland they would reach depends on how fast Debra lost its punch after hitting the mainland, the Weather Bureau said. Tides 2 to 5 feet high were expected from Port O'Connor to High Island with beaches awash Friday and Saturday. Meanwhile thunderheads moved across most of Texas again Friday, bringing showers to the Abilene area and the Upper Gulf coast. More scattered rains were forecast for the state Friday in the wake of Thursday night's rash of violent thunderstorms. Long-range forecasts call for East and Central Texas to get moderate to heavy rain through the middle of next week. Thunder showers are on tap for the same period in West Texas, according to the Weather Bureau. Crops, boats, trees and television antennas took a beating from the series of storms that whipped across the state Thursday night. Electric power was disrupted in sections of Dallas and Fort Worth. High winds and rains of up to three inches in the Garza-Little Elm Reservoir area sent one cabin cruiser onto the rocks and forced owners of other craft to take them to shelter. A rash of auto accidents snarled traffic as a 1.70-inch rain hit Dallas and made streets slick. The Fort Worth suburbs of Dido and Azle had a bad time of it from hail, wind and blowing rain. Dido lost its power supply for a time when winds estimated at 60 miles an hour hit the area north of Fort Worth. Heavy hail and 2.25 inches of rain also were reported at Dido. Northwest of Fort Worth, the Azle community reported television antennas and tree limbs smashed and the wall of a garage damaged as wind, hail and more than a half inch of rain whipped through the area. Damage to cotton crops was reported in the Longworth area northwest of Abilene from heavy hail that fell along with an estimated 2.50 inches of rain. A 45-minute storm knocked out telephones and dropped temperatures 20 degrees at LaGrange, in Central Texas. The wet weather extended into Mexico, and farmers along the watershed of the Rio Grande were warned that the international stream might rise as much as 15 feet from rains in its watershed.

Wheat Quotas Win Approval

Howard County farmers desiring wheat marketing quotas turned out in a light vote yesterday at the ASC office, but encountered no opposition. Of 21 eligible voters—those having 15 acres or more wheat allotment—five cast "yes" ballots. The referendum met Howard County was for wheat marketing quotas and penalties for exceeding wheat allotments. Howard County has 2,435 allotted acres. Tom Greene County voted for the quotas, 32, from 80 eligible voters. Martin, according to ASC manager George Glenn, had two for and none against. There are 25 eligible voters in Martin County. A two-thirds vote is needed nationwide to maintain price supports and marketing quotas.

Unionists Sentenced For Dynamite Plot

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Eight members of the Textile Workers Union drew long prison sentences Thursday after their conviction for conspiring to dynamite a struck cotton mill. The eight included Boyd Payton 51, Carolinas director of the union who led the long and often violent strike at the Harriet-Henderson cotton mill here. Superior Court Judge Raymond Mallard sentenced Payton to 10 to 15 years at hard labor. Judge Miller said: "I hope all of you gentlemen will some day come to understand that the law is bigger than you, bigger than the union, bigger than any organization. The good people of North Carolina will not tolerate anyone holding themselves above the law."

Look, Ma, No Cars!

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Howard Godfrey of the City Planning and Zoning Department nearly broke up a meeting of the Mayor's Traffic Safety Committee with this crack: "I have the answer to the traffic problem. Let's allow on the streets only cars which are paid for."

Ham Radio Club Schedules Important Meeting Tonight

Big Spring Amateur Radio Club, after a period of little activity, goes back into action tonight. The club will meet at the City Police Station classroom at 7:30 p.m. to elect officers. All members of the club and all persons interested in ham radio are cordially invited to be present. Announcement was made that the club will soon start a code and theory course which is open to all persons interested in qualifying themselves for an amateur radio operator's license. The date these classes will start and the hours will be set shortly. It is anticipated the class will be organized in about two weeks. Big Spring Amateur Radio Club has 30 members. There are 20 amateur transmitters in Big Spring of which 12 to 15 are classified as active. Leonard Ware is the president; Weldon Low, vice president and Loraine Sims, secretary.

Fact-Finders Seeking Strike Data For Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Squads of government fact-finders concentrated today on steel strike data to provide President Eisenhower with the most exhaustive survey of its kind ever made. As the strike moved into its 10th day, periodic reports were being sent to the White House by federal experts as soon as they were completed. The half million striking steelworkers already have lost nearly 100 million dollars in pay. About 10 million will be added to the wage loss each day the strike continues. With about 90 per cent of the nation's steelmaking at a standstill, daily production losses were estimated at nearly 43 million dollars. Losses also were mounting in allied fields where an estimated 45,500 workers have been furloughed. Federal mediators have scheduled a meeting Monday in New York, the first joint session since the strike began. What are the prospects for settlement? Not very bright, according to Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. "I still see no early or easy settlement," Finnegan said. "The fact that both sides will again sit down together does not imply any change in the position of either, he said. But he added: "We feel we now have a better orientation on the differences between the two sides."

The mediation chief has been meeting separately in New York with union and industry representatives. Thursday he conferred for two hours here with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. Mitchell said after the conference that the fact-finding project under his supervision will be broad and complete and will enable the President to have all the facts. "Never before has such an exhaustive study been made," Mitchell reported. The Labor Department has released units of experts from regular duties and assigned them to full-time work on the survey. Additional checking is being done by the Department of Commerce, the Council of Economic Advisers, the Cabinet Committee on Price Stability for Economic Growth and other government agencies. The study is focused on wages, prices, productivity, unemployment, industrial relations practices, inventories, imports and related economic data. A claim that the industry can pay higher wages without raising prices was renewed Thursday night in New York by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers. McDonald said, "Indications are that the profit returns for the industry this year may double the best previous year in history."

Commenting on earnings listed Thursday by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., one of the 12 struck companies, McDonald said the firm "reports earnings for the first six months of this year seven times higher than the return of a year ago. This is only the beginning."

Losers In Pageant Sometimes Win

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A new Miss Universe will be crowned late tonight, and everyone will be asking her how it feels to win.

But what about the losers? For an inside view on how it feels to miss out on the big prize, I talked with Evy Norlund, Miss Denmark in last year's pageant. She lost, but she won. Her appearance at the fete drew attention from Columbia Pictures. She won a contract and now has a good chance to upset the jinx against film fame for beauty contest winners.

The future for Evy looks rosy now, but she admitted that the outlook was bleak just a year ago. "I was chosen as one of the 15 semifinalists," she recalled, "and then I was eliminated. I had exactly $1 left of my expense money. Yes, I had a plane ticket home, but I wanted to stay in America. Did she come here with hopes of winning?"

"Yes I felt I had a faint chance," she said. "I think every girl comes here with that idea. But after a while, you realize you are not going to win, and you become resigned to it."

"I knew that Miss Colombia was going to win last year. You can see the politics going on behind the scenes. She is a nice girl, Miss Colombia, but I don't think she should have been the winner. Everyone agreed that Miss Holland was the most outstanding girl."

Asked for comment on Miss Norlund's remarks, Chief Judge Vincent Trotta replied: "I am positive there is no favoritism in the Miss Universe contest. We have set up a sensible honest judging system and we don't care where a girl comes from or what influence she has. The judges are watched carefully and they all work from a code of ethics which I have set down."

Win or lose, all the girls feel little but tiredness at the end of the pageant, Evy said.

"Rehearse, rehearse, rehearse," she said wearily. "That is all you do all week long. You are on your feet all the time until you can hardly stand up."

But though she expressed some bitterness over the judging, she declared she was grateful for her experience in the Miss Universe contest.

"They treat you wonderfully," she said in opposition to the complaints of this year's first Miss New Mexico. "Everyone is so nice to you, and it is enough of an experience just to be able to come to America. All of us are grateful for that."

Secretary Of Year 'Didn't Have Chance'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The nation's newly selected Secretary of the Year came here with the conviction she didn't have a chance to win that honor.

"I was told I had two strikes against me because I came from New York," said blonde 49-year-old Alicia Cogan.

The widowed mother of three grown children was crowned as the country's top secretary Thursday over five other finalists at the 14th annual convention of the National Secretaries Assn.

Mrs. Cogan, who says loyalty and thorough knowledge of typing, shorthand and filing are the prime requirements for a good office aide, is secretary to Edger J. Bittenheim, chairman of the board of the Bittenheim Publishing Corp., New York. She has held the post for 17 years.

Julie Lawler, personal secretary to Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, was runner-up. Third place went to Agnes Brown of Indianapolis, secretary to the president of the American States Insurance Co.

Other finalists were Barbara Brett, Riverton, N.J.; Louise Dahms, Kankakee, Ill.; and Edna Davis, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The six were selected on the basis of education, experience, appearance and poise.

Their final hurdle came when they appeared one by one before three judges and over 1,000 association members to tell how they would solve certain office problems.

Each was asked what qualities she would look for in an assistant, how she would deal with an important member of her firm who kept barging uninvited into the president's office, and what advice she would give a young employee offered a better job with another firm headed by a man of questionable reputation.

Mrs. Cogan said she would seek loyalty and versatility in choosing an assistant and would "play up my femininity" in gently persuading the intruder to make an appointment before seeing her boss. She said she would tell a young associate not to consider accepting a job which might be morally corrupting.

Live TV Programs Offer Good Viewing

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — At times in summer it seems as if the home screen carries nothing but repeats. In the next seven days, though, quite a handful of live programs are coming up on the three networks.

The Pirates play the Milwaukee Braves on NBC Saturday. CBS cameras focus on the Dwyer Handicap at Jamaica for "The Thoroughbred Race of the Week." And later, NBC goes to Monmouth racetrack for the $100,000 Monmouth Handicap.

Headliners of the Dick Clark Show on ABC Saturday evening are Will Jordan, Annette Funicello and Stonewall Jackson. Peggy King is the guest of Tony Bennett and the Four Lads on Perry Presents over NBC.

Sunday, The Last Word on CBS has novelist Evan Hunter and reporter Marguerite Higgins as its guests.

For two sides of a question you can tune to two networks in adjoining half-hours. Face the Nation on CBS questions James Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. Meet the Press questions Robert Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate committee which has been investigating Hoffa's activities.

Ed Sullivan's guests on CBS are Eartha Kitt, Roger Williams, the Happy Jesters, Phil Foster and Pat Henning. Guests of the Chevy Chase Show, starring Janet Blair and John Raitt, on NBC include Wally Cox and Joyce Jameson.

Monday on ABC the guests of Mike Stokey's Pantomime Quiz will be Phyllis Kirk and Corinne Calvet. Guests of the Andy Williams show on CBS Tuesday are
