Ben Hall's Not Ben Hall At All; And His Musical Tastes Are From Bach To Boogie

By BOB SMITH
That twanging nasal sound you sometimes hear from your TV set isn't really Ben Hall at all. Or rather, it's just one side of him.

Ben, as a TV personality, is one of the abounding crop of so-called hill billy entertainers, and most of the public sees him in this light.

But to know the real Ben Hall, the one with a deep love of classical, folk and practically all other kinds of music, it is necessary to know something of his background.

Ben, now a young 35, was a native of Wise County. He was reared deep in the countryside among that fast-vanishing species of gentry whose heritage goes back unbroken to this nation's beginnings. A gentry that knew little or nothing of modern styles in country music.

The songs Ben Hall first learned were songs of the earth and of the people. What we now call folk songs. Also a big influence in his younger days were the Negro spirituals, which had not yet gone the way of all good folk music.

This music is an integral part of his life. It is easily understood when Ben tells you his first memory is musical. The earliest day he can recall is when he received a gift of a toy French harp, the old style which was hung around a child's neck.

His youth was filled with music, from the unaccompanied singing of the womenfolk going about their chores and the hands out in the fields, to his first guitar.

Ben went into professional music back in 1948 with a hill billy type band. He did this, not so much because he liked this type of music above all others—he likes all kinds—but because of its earning potential, and because country music was closer to the music and people he knew best.

He still is in the country music field for these same reasons.

But he gave up the concert circuit—he didn't like the pounding of the road, and the steady diet of nothing but hill billy.

Meantime, he had met Dena and he wanted a home. They now have a home, and two children: 7-year-old Monty Ben, and Ophelia Ann, who is 6 months old.

And thereby hangs another reason for Ben's entry into the recording and hi-fi business. He sought the best possible quality in music, technical as well as otherwise, and owning his own shop moved him closer to the music he loves. He now has at hand every kind from Bach to boogie, from Haydn to hill billy.

It was in school that Ben Hall was introduced to other than folk music, and his horizons widened. Meeting the artists was a big help in learning to understand the deeper and more serious music.

Let Ben say it in his own words: "I'm not one-sided when it comes to music. There is some-

Profits Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—El Paso Natural Gas Co. reports its first half profit fell about 10 per cent below last year while its June quarter net was 20 per cent lower.

"NOW THIS NEUMANN MIKE IS THE BEST . . ."
Ben shows off his costly pride-and-joy thing good in all types. And there are too many people with too many prejudices. The person who likes country music and hates classical is just as bad as the person who goes for classical music and looks down on the country styles.

"Music is important in our lives, and I mean in our everyday, workaday lives. Much more than most people realize."

One point Ben likes to make is that there is a difference between hill billy, country and western music. The hill billy band is small, is made up of simple stringed instruments. The country band is larger, and has electronic instruments, such as the steel guitar.

Western music comes in two classes—the "pure" type fostered by Bob Nolan, close to the original folk music but employing more than one instrument, and western swing, employing a larger band and a more formalized technique, such as that created by Hank Thompson.

Folk music uses but one instrument, traditionally a guitar or similar stringed instrument.

Ben Hall has what he wants now, and he's happy. Just recently he opened new quarters for his Hi-Fi House, complete with studio. Besides the shop and his TV group, the Circle 4 Ramblers, Ben owns a music publishing and recording company and has the local franchise for Muzak.

One look at the inside of his shop tells the educated visitor that here is no country bumpkin. Ben designed his own layout, selected his own appointments.

The first paragraph of this article said this isn't really Ben Hall at all, and that statement is literally true.

Back in his Capitol recording days, he was known as Benny Hall, since Capitol officials didn't like the pentameter of a plain and simple Ben.

But that's still not the name he was born with.

It's Edwood Mendenthal. No middle name or initial.

Guadalcanal Is Peaceful Now; No Signs Of War

EDITOR'S NOTE—Seventeen years ago today, U. S. Marines hit the first Pacific beach in the Allied island-hopping offensive against the Japanese in World War II. The place was Guadalcanal, and for six months it was hell on earth. What is it like now?

HONIARA, Guadalcanal (AP)—Along the main road of this capital of the British Solomon Islands Protectorate, a double row of scarlet Poinciana trees gives shade and color to a small-town road full of modern cars, erratic bicycles, and dawdling pedestrians.

Modern public buildings, neat houses with gardens of plumeria, brilliant Bougainvillea and annuals make the township gay.

There is little to remind a visitor that on Aug. 7, 1942, U. S. Marines waded ashore on this island to start the long, costly pruning of the Japanese World War II island empire.

Other Pacific campaigns were bloodier. But Guadalcanal was the first. Here the legend of Japanese invincibility was broken. Here occurred some of the Pacific's most terrifying battles in a disease and vermin-filled jungle so thick an enemy could be a yard away—and unseen.

The Marines landed near Tenaru on the northern coast to capture an airfield which the Japanese had nearly completed. They took it with little difficulty, named it Henderson Field, and had it in service within a few days. But the Japanese came back.

Bitter fighting followed along the coast from Cape Esperance in the west down toward Aola in the east. Gradually it moved inland with bombing, shellfire, exploding mortars, hand-to-hand combat, and the ever-present smell of death.

U. S. transports poured in equipment, more men, machines and supplies. The island was transformed into a tremendous base, which became for a time the nerve center of America's war effort in the South Pacific.

Afterward the rubbish of war told a silent story all down the coast. Wrecked Japanese transports, Japanese guns, broken Japanese equipment.

The heaps of wartime junk now have been cleared away. An Australian bomb disposal unit has removed most of the unexploded ammunition which littered the foothills on the north coast.

A Quantas civilian transport flies into Henderson Field weekly from Australia and New Guinea. Two Australian shipping companies send cargo and passenger vessels to the Solomons about once every six weeks. Some 400 Europeans, 300 Chinese, and 1,800 Solomon Islanders make up the cheerful community of Honiara.

Jungle ridges behind the coastal plains have been cleared for housing sites. Behind the houses, traces of old American roads can still be seen winding into the inland hills. But you must go on foot to explore them because the American bridges have broken down—victims of time and the tropics.

The war is not forgotten. Each year a Remembrance Day service is held at a cenotaph outside government house. Flags of all nations that helped win back the Solomons are flown and prayers are said for those who died.

Last year several hundred American tourists came to see the island. Some of them had lost sons here and were afraid that they would see the grim reminder of war. They went away comforted, after seeing the flowers and color of the little town, the beauty of the islands, and the native children who danced and sang for them.

Botulism Takes Another Life

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Botulism, a rare form of food poisoning, killed another member of a family here Thursday.

Kenneth Nelson, 45, Kansas City, Mo., was the third member of his family to die since they ate from a jar of home-canned beets. His daughter, Wanda, 15, and his stepfather, Aaron Gruwell, 74, died shortly after the family was stricken last week.

Nelson's wife, Naomi, 41, remained in critical condition but hospital authorities said they noted some improvement. She was allowed to leave an iron lung Thursday. In its most severe form, botulism paralyzes the breathing muscles.

Two other members of the family, Lavicia Gruwell and Martha Nelson, 4, were reported improving at a hospital here. All were stricken while the Nelsons were visiting at the Gruwell farm. Mrs. Gruwell is Nelson's mother.

Civic interests here have started a fund-raising drive to aid the surviving members of the family. It includes three Nelson children who didn't eat any of the poisoned beets.

Meany Will Gain First VFW Award

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars will award its first Americanism Gold Medal to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Selection of Meany was announced Thursday by John W. Mahan, VFW president. The medal will be presented at the VFW convention at Los Angeles Aug. 31.

Mahan said the medal will be awarded annually to "an individual who, through his acts during this past year, has distinguished himself in the cause of American ideals."

Meany will be cited for vigorous opposition to communism, Mahan said.

Another amendment adopted would, if approved by voters, drop the 10 per cent legal limit on small loans and allow the Legislature to license and regulate lenders and set interest rates.

CONSTIPATION can be a constant worry

As many people approach middle age the problem of constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet becomes serious. It is often such a worry that folks seek relief with harsh laxative drugs.

What they do not realize is that such treatment cannot correct the cause of the trouble. But there is a simple, pleasant way that works for millions. It's the Kellogg's All-Bran way.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a whole bran cereal—and bran is nature's best bulk-forming food. Just half a cup of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk supplies all the good food bulk your system needs each day for dependable, youthful regularity. Try appetizing Kellogg's All-Bran for just 10 days and see if it doesn't work for you.

Rumors Have It That Daniel Will Call A Fourth Session

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Legislature expired after 201 days of lawmaking Thursday but the hottest rumor swirling through the Capitol today is a fourth special session in October.

This would be to consider the Hale-Aikin school report and teachers' pay raise which virtually went untouched during the regular and three special sessions. Gov. Price Daniel has denied repeatedly he plans to call the lawmakers back in the fall but most apparently will be surprised if he doesn't.

At the beginning of the Legislature Jan. 13 more than 30 per cent of members polled by the Associated Press listed the Hale-Aikin report as one of the top three issues facing them.

Taxing and spending, as expected, hogged the spotlight almost the entire seven months. House action Thursday adopting the joint appropriations committee report was the last vital act in working out a stop-gap spending and taxing program for the next two years.

Senators elected Frank Owen III, El Paso, as president pro tempore until the Legislature next convenes.

The largest tax bill in the state's history goes into effect Sept. 1. Smokers will carry the brunt for about half of the 185 million dollar revenue-raiser.

It took this record size bill to cover the $2,418,537,106 appropriations measure which is fed by a multitude of funds, including federal aid. Spending from the key general revenue fund was increased 41 million dollars to $322,849,000.

One of Daniel's strongest recommendations failed to be enacted. He wanted the state to receive money, property and dividends abandoned in banks and other institutions. The bill was battered down at every important test.

The Legislature also failed to take action on an approved constitutional amendment setting up medical care and hospitalization for those on the dependent and old aged rolls.

Another Daniel platform, a juvenile parole system, died again after a last-minute effort in the House brought it to life temporarily.

Quick Thinking Saves 8 In Burning Autos

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Two cars crashed and burst into flames near here Thursday, trapping four women and four children. But three quick-thinking construction workers using a wedge pulled the cars apart and freed the eight.

One automobile carried the pregnant wife of Col. Francis Gabreski, commander of the Myrtle Beach, S.C., Air Force Base and the top living U.S. air ace.

One person was injured seriously in the accident, which occurred about nine miles south of Wilmington on U.S. 17, just 75 yards from the Lincoln Construction Co. The cars were going in opposite directions.

Shop Foreman R. P. (Runt) Spivy said he and two workers "grabbed our fire extinguishers when we saw the flaming cars."

In one car was Mrs. Gabreski, 34; two of her eight children; Mrs. Gladys Gruenwald, whose husband, Col. Kenneth Gruenwald is commander of Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina; and Mrs. Georgia Orr, whose husband is Lt. Col. Richard Orr, also stationed at Shaw AFB.

In the second car was Mrs. Alice Faye Ellis of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and her daughters, Margaret Dawn, 11, and Holly 4. Mrs. Ellis was reported in serious condition. Mrs. Gabreski was admitted to a Wilmington hospital. Officials said she had suffered only a slight cut on one knee but was held overnight for observation because she is pregnant. All of the others received only slight injuries.

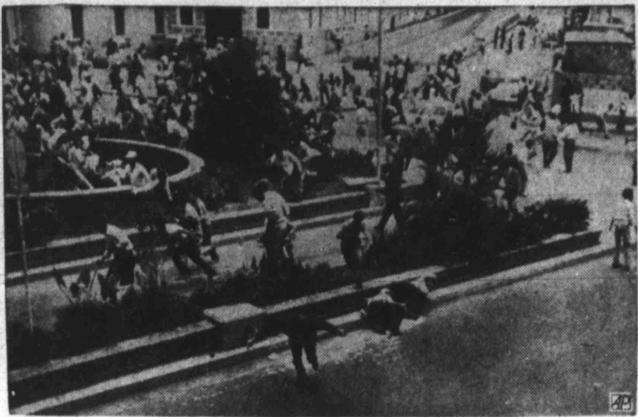

Girl Faces Life In Brutal Killing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Penny-tailed Killer Rosemarie (Penny) Bjorkland faces a life prison sentence today with the same nonchalance she has exhibited since her arrest.

The plump, 18-year-old blonde was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced Thursday by Judge Frank Blum, who tried the case without a jury. He called the killing "wanton, willful."

Penny testified she shot gardener August Norry because she wanted a human for target practice. Blum ordered her to Corona State Prison for Women.

Ike Slaps Congress, Demands Action On Labor Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Criticizing Congress' actions on a labor bill thus far, President Eisenhower called Thursday night for a new law strong enough to end racketeering in labor-management relations.

Speaking out as the House headed toward a bitter battle over the issue next week, Eisenhower addressed a nationwide radio-television.

"I am talking about a reform law—a law to protect the American people from the gangsters, racketeers and other corrupt elements that have invaded the labor-management field," he declared.

A bill the Senate passed last April "is not effective," Eisenhower said, and a revised bill prepared by the House Labor Committee is even less so.

He put his prestige behind a substitute sponsored by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) and said that bill offers "a good start toward a real labor reform law."

A few hours later AFL-CIO President George Meany said in a radio broadcast that the bill Eisenhower backed is a "blunderbuss that would inflict grievous harm on all unions," whether they are corrupt or clean.

Most labor unions are opposing even the bills Eisenhower described as ineffective and are backing still another bill which Meany said is aimed at "getting rid of crooks, instead of getting rid of unions." It is sponsored by Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif.).

Reaction ran the full scale between Eisenhower's and Meany's views. In between were many supporters of the Senate-passed bill who contend that unless the House passes something along that line, a Senate-House disagreement will kill all such legislation. The Senate bill was sponsored by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC).

Labor's spokesmen called the President's stand anti-union. They said he had been taken in by catch phrases. Republicans hailed his demand for "truly effective" legislation as a reflection of public opinion. Democrats demanded equal air time to reply to Eisenhower's arguments.

Eisenhower emphasized the legislation he asks has nothing to do with wages or strikes or a new approach to collective bargaining.

A cleanup of crookedness and corruption "is not a partisan or political issue," Eisenhower said. "It is above any partisan political consideration," he added. "It affects every American, regardless of occupation, regardless of political affiliation."

He described as "a national disgrace" the evidence of wrongdoing disclosed by the Senate Labor-Management Committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.).

In outlining the aims of effective labor legislation, Eisenhower stressed particularly the need for bans on coercive or "blackmail" picketing of employers, and on secondary boycotts involving third parties to a labor dispute; for enforcement of democratic rights of union members; and for giving the states authority to settle labor disputes which now are turned aside by federal agencies.

Of coercive picketing and secondary boycotts, which bring pressure against employers not involved in labor disputes, he asserted: "I want that sort of thing stopped. So does America."

In a bid for public pressure on Congress for legislation meeting his specifications, he said: "It is my earnest hope that Congress will be fully responsive to an overwhelming national demand."

Seldom has Eisenhower resorted to the stark terms which studied his talk to the nation. "Unless the people speak up, 'crooks and racketeers could prevail,'" he said. "Oppressive practices," "blackmail," "abuses of power" and "racketeering" were some of the other terms the President applied to the targets of his criticism.

Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers head and AFL-CIO vice president, said the President had been "taken in" by labor's foes. Reuther asserted Eisenhower had been "given a few catch phrases" to support legislation he does not understand.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers, however, said Eisenhower "has fulfilled an obligation to speak out on the critical need for real labor reform legislation."

And Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), Republican national chairman, praised the President's attack on secondary boycotts and "blackmail" picketing as getting over salient points in terms understandable to the people.

Sen. McClellan also backed Eisenhower, saying: "I hope the Congress heeds his message. I'm confident the great majority of the American people support the views he expressed."

But other Democrats were not so kind. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) accused the President of making a political issue out of labor legislation. Both Mansfield and Rep. Stewart L. Udall (D-Ariz.) demanded equal time for the networks to answer Eisenhower.

Kennedy, whose bill Eisenhower criticized, said the President was "wholly misinformed" in describing his and the House committee bills as ineffective. He said they would eliminate racketeering in trade unions without wrecking the legitimate trade union movement, as he contended the Landrum-Griffin bill would do.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in effect invited Eisenhower to stay out of congressional battles, saying: "It seems to me that our government functions at its best when the various branches do not try to take each other over."

Rep. Griffin said the President's talk could swing what is now a closely divided house to the Landrum-Griffin bill. "As close as things are, it (the President's talk) ought to make the difference," he said. "And I would be very much surprised if we don't have a big public demand for it. Right now, I think we're going to win."

SEEK U.S. CROWN

Tommy Welch To Leave For Akron

Big Spring's hope for the Soap Box Derby title leaves for Akron Saturday.
Thomas A. Welch Jr. will be accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Welch and their other three children. They live at 306 Harding.
Tommy won the local title last June 25 on the Lancaster St. speedway. In Akron, international headquarters of the Soap Box Derby, he will compete against boys from all parts of the nation.
The lad is taking it calmly, although his mother thinks he's just covering up his excitement. The closer he gets to Akron, however, the more his spirit is likely to soar.
The Welches are leaving early so that they can meander on the way and make a real vacation out of it. They plan to make stops along the way wherever they see something of interest.
Mr. Welch plans to once more look over the country in and around Little Rock, Ark., and points in Tennessee. During World War II, he served at Ft. Campbell, Ky. and Camp Robinson, Ark. He wants his children to see where their father was during "the old days."
The family will arrive in Akron, according to present plans, about Aug. 13, in time for official registration. The Derby will be run the following Sunday. The Welches have reservations at the Akron Falls Motel.
Big Spring Soap Box Derby was sponsored here by Tidwell Chevrolet, the Big Spring Daily Herald and the Downtown Lions Club.
Tommy's racing car, the one that carried him to victory in Big Spring and which could make him this city's first national winner, was shipped to Akron some two weeks ago. Tommy won't see it again until necessary red tape is out of the way, and the boys are allowed to make necessary adjustments.
Tommy has been spending his summer visiting relatives in Temple, and in Boy Scout camp. The family plans to make Temple a major stop along the way to Akron.
Tommy hasn't committed himself yet on whether he thinks he'll win the Derby. But, boys being the way they are, one may be sure he has plenty of confidence, and on the big day will give it the old college try.
Mrs. Noble Welch, 700 Ayford, reported the theft of 100 feet of water hose.
A Lt. Weiss, 1503 Tucson, told officers that a camera was taken from his car Wednesday night while the vehicle was parked at the ball game.

Cafe Prowled By Burglars

A burglary and two thefts were reported in the city Thursday.
Clines Cafe, 305 E. 3rd, was entered during the night and officers were making an investigation this morning.
Entry was made by breaking a window in a rear door. Missing was about $80 from a cigar box, some beer, cigarettes, and six cigarette lighters. Officers said the juke box was also broken open but there was no money in it.

Learn Of The Past

HAVANA, Ill. (AP)—Excavation of the Eveland Site near here is expected to give more information about the Middle Mississippian Indians who lived in the area about 900 to 1000 A.D.
Eveland Site, possible location of an Indian village, is near a huge burial hill containing 233 known Indian burials.

God Not Just An M.D.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A New York psychiatrist, who once was a Lutheran pastor, told a meeting here that too many people try to make God a "substitute for a Blue Cross program."
"When you need Him," said Dr. Paul A. Qualben, "you call Him down. Then when you're finished with Him, you send Him back."

CRMWD Files Application To Build Huge Dam On Colorado

Application has been filed with the State Board of Water Engineers for construction of a gigantic dam on the Colorado River in the southern part of Mitchell County.
Making application was Col. E. V. Spence, for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Directors of the district authorized applying for the new facilities at a meeting early in June.
Col. Spence was able to slip his request under the deadline; Saturday is the last day that CRMWD could make the report. It has been working for three years on a site for such a lake.
The large dam will be erected just a few miles north of the Coke County line in Mitchell and will back up the Colorado River about 17 miles.
Addition of the lake to the present Lake J. B. Thomas will give the district adequate water to serve Midland. Col. Spence told Midland officials last week. Its construction will be several years in the future, however, should the state board okay the request.
The dam will be about 100 feet high and will be 6,620 feet across, with a 500-foot concrete center containing a revolving gate for control of water. The dam will be 20 feet wide at the top and 602 feet at the bottom.
The average width of the lake will be 8,225 feet, and when full, it will be 89,500 feet long. Average depth will be 20 feet six inches. Capacity will be 403,700 acre feet of water.

L. B. Smith, chairman of the libel portion of the program, asked for personal experiences regarding libel action during the discussion part of the meeting.
Grindstaff answered a query from Joe Pickle by saying that all petitions filed in county or district court are public records and that a newspaper is safe from libel in publishing any public record.
Bob Woddlie, Menard, asked Grindstaff for his opinion regarding a statement he made in his newspaper regarding the conduct of public officials. He wrote an article questioning the action of the city council for holding a called meeting. After Weddel read the exact wording of the column, the attorney said the paper could be sued, but doubted that there would be recovery.
H. A. Tuck, Hereford, explained that he ran an error in his paper and was asked to print a retraction three times. He said he ran a retraction once and felt that was enough. Grindstaff agreed with him.
Bill Collins, Midland, discussed the importance of opening all meetings of public bodies to the public.
Douglas Meador, Matador, told the group of several embarrassing slips that have been in his newspaper. This opened the door for several other newsmen to recall similar experiences.

Froman Funeral Rites Sunday

James Claud Froman, 63, was dead on arrival at a local hospital Thursday at 2:15 p.m. He had been in failing health since 1950.
Froman was born Sept. 12, 1885, in Tennessee. He moved to Big Spring five years ago from Martin County where he had farmed since 1921.
On Dec. 4, 1927, he married Marie Estep in Martin County. He is survived by his wife; three sons, Sammie Joe, Flossus James and Larry, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Billie Jo Patterson of Modesto, Calif., and Mrs. Ernie Mae Oaks, Midland; three brothers, Joe and Walter of the Brown community in Martin County, and Dee of Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Mae Brumley, Big Spring, Mrs. J. A. Counts, Redwood, Calif., and four grandchildren.
Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the River Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Jack Power officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of River Funeral Home.

New Preacher To Make Debut

The Rev. Al Sedden will preach his first sermon as pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. Sunday, when all members and friends are urged to attend.
In a congregational meeting last Sunday, the minister was called to this pastorate.
Recently returned from missionary work in Mexico, the Rev. Sedden has served churches in Texas, among them a congregation in Austin.

Formal Ceremony Unites Miss Farquhar, D. Gibbs

Double ring vows were exchanged Thursday evening in the First Baptist Church when Nita Beth Farquhar became the bride of Dempsey Guinette Gibbs in a formal ceremony.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church, read the service for the couple, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Farquhar, 903 Scurry, and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gibbs, 1101 Johnson.

White wrought iron aisle markers were tied with satin ribbons to lead the way to a prie dieu, which stood before a white arch. Twined with greenery, the arch was topped with tapers and centered with a sunburst of Killian daisies. Fern trees in varying heights formed the background.

Traditional nuptial selections were included in the prelude of music played by Delores Howard, organist, who accompanied Mrs. Warren Wise as she sang "The Wedding Prayer and Because," and Sandra Sloan, as she read the poem, "Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in dull-finished white satin, fashioned in princess style, with a lace yoke extending into short sleeves which were completed with long lace mitts. Following the scallops of the lace the yoke came to a deep V in the back, and the full skirt swept to a chapel train.

Attached to a cap of lace and seed pearls, the bridal veil of tulle was waist length. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid nestled in carnations and tulle, from which floated ribbons holding Frenched carnations.

In the traditional manner, the bride had borrowed the Bible from Mrs. Paschal Odom, of Kermit, her matron of honor; her wedding attire she named as something new. She wore a blue garter and carried a penny in her shoe for the old time.

ATTENDANTS

Attendants of the bride besides Mrs. Odom were Gay Bownds of Beaumont, maid of honor; Eileen Farquhar and Susan Gibbs, sisters of the couple, who served as bridesmaids.

Identically attired except for colors, the attendants wore frocks of nylon organza over taffeta with fitted bodices and softly pleated skirts. Flowers of organza were placed at the sides of the cumberbunds of self-material. They all carried baskets of gold filled with daisies and tied with ribbons in blend hues.

Honor attendants were in pastel green, while the bridesmaids wore yellow.

Serving as best man was Bob by Ned Lawdermilk; groomsmen were Glenn Whittington of Amarillo, Preston Bridges and Wayne Dittler. Guests were seated by Johnny Farquhar, brother of the bride, Roy Brown, Ken Kisher of Terminal and Jerry McMahan.

Dickie Gibbs, brother of the bridegroom, and Ronnie Clanton were taper lighters, and Elice Gibbs, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was frocked in white organza with embroidery of daisies.

In the parlor of the church, the couple was assisted in receiving guests by their parents and the bride's attendants.

White satin bows and wedding bells caught the white organza cloth at the corners and on the sides, while a silver epergne held daisies, fern and white tapers.

Fresh flowers topped the three-tiered cake which was frosted in white and decorated with confection daisies.

Guests were registered by Mrs.

John P. Yates, while Brenda Gordon, Sammie Sue McCormick, Jean Puqua and Mrs. Whitney Reynolds made up the house party.

PLANE TRIP

For a plane trip to El Paso and Houston, the new Mrs. Gibbs chose a two-piece cotton in brown pima cloth, with which she used coral accessories.

Upon the return from the wedding trip, the couple will live in Midland since the bridegroom, a graduate of the local high school, is employed by Continental Air Lines out of Terminal.

The bride was also graduated from BSHS, where she was vice president of the senior class; she attended Howard County Junior College and has been employed by Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

Mrs. Farquhar chose a princess dress of copper satin with lace yoke, accompanying it with a brown hat and copper accessories. Embossed cotton in pale green was the choice of Mrs. Gibbs, who wore a sheath with brown accessories.

Coming from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McDams, Mr. and Mrs. Don Caldwell, Mrs. Doris Richardson, Mrs. Lee Balfanz and Ellen, all of Abilene; Mrs. C. A. Farquhar of Cisco, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bownds of Beaumont; grandparents of the bridegroom, Dr. and Mrs. D. T. Johnson, and his aunts, Mrs. Francis Anderson, Billy Kenny and Ray of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Taylor of McKinney and Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Ripple of Oklahoma City, Okla.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs were hosts for the rehearsal dinner given Wednesday evening in their home. About 30 were present for the buffet affair, with silver wedding bells marking appointments for serving.

Their Elopement 50 Years Ago Is Recalled By The J. G. Nicholoses

As darkness stole over the house out near the Knott community, Lida Winterbauer crept from her bed, gathered her possessions into a cloth bag, climbed out the window, and ran across the moonlighted grounds to her suitor, James Garland Nichols had been anxiously waiting, holding onto the reins of the horse.

The couple jumped into the buggy and sped into Auto, a no-longer-existent community on the old Lamesa-Big Spring Highway. There they were married by the Church of Christ minister at his home, just before the clock struck midnight.

And that was the beginning of the happy marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nicholoses, who will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary with a family dinner and open house Sunday afternoon at their home, three miles west and a mile south of the Knott post office. It is the same spot that has been home to them since 1920.

Actually, the couple was married August 10, 1909. It was not until sometime after their wedding that Mrs. Nicholoses realized August 10 had been the wedding day of her mother and her maternal grandmother, each exactly 20 years apart.

The frantic elopement had been a desperate measure, they recall, because when the next day dawned, the Winterbauer family was to have boarded the train to move to Limestone County. Lida's mother wanted to keep her daughter, but an aunt, sympathetic to true romance, conspired with Lida and her grandmother to make the elopement possible.

The storybook romance had blossomed from a chance meeting not long after her grandparents had brought her from Hopkins County to the Knott area in the fall of 1907, and his folks had come in December. She was walking the three miles to school and Nichols was hauling water to his farm when their paths first met. For him, it was love at first sight.

Nichols was reared on a farm in Mills County, near Goldthwaite. He is now a retired farmer, leaving it to a son to work the homestead. Mrs. Nicholoses is taking things easier too, after having had a heart illness a year ago. Both are active, however, and members of the Missionary Baptist Church at Knott; he is an Oddfellow.

Expected here for the Golden Anniversary celebration are all of their children, their 27 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. The children are Oliver Nichols of Elbow, Everett Nichols of Bledsoe, Clyde Nichols of Tazman, Fred Nichols of Seminole and Robert Nichols, Knott; Mrs. Stanley (Myrtle Lee) Martin of Waco; Mrs. M. T. (Una) Royalty of Cincinnati Ohio; and Mrs. Robert (Kathleen) Cline, Knott.

Like a son to them is a grandchild, Billy Nichols, who has made his home with them since his mother died in his infancy. Her death has been the only one in this family which now numbers over 50.

It will be a memorable day Sunday, when family and friends get together with sunny-natured Mr. and Mrs. Nichols to reminisce and extend happy anniversary greetings. All friends are invited to call between 2 and 5 p.m.

Fifty Years Together

Mr. and Mrs. James Garland Nichols of Knott will mark their golden wedding anniversary a day early, Sunday, with open house. Their friends are invited to call between 2 and 5 p.m. Expected for the occasion are all their children.

Westbrookite Has Freak Accident

WESTBROOK — Bob Hutchins, science teacher, was hospitalized in Colorado City over the weekend. He was using an electric saw when it rolled across his foot, severing the little toe on his right foot.

Larry and Steve Hutchins visited last week with their grandparents, Mayor and Mrs. Bill Hutchins in Cosham.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geinrich are visiting their daughter in Pecos. Mrs. Leroy Miller, Mrs. Royce Moore, Mrs. Oren Moore, Mrs. Golden and Elaine Moore attended a party at Otis Chalk recently.

Weekend guests of the H. H. Armstrongs were Margaret Swann of Rotan, the Charley Howlers, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Armstrong of Acuff, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Cooper of Dimmitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kingsfield, Rotan.

Judy Raune is spending the weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. Edna Rabb, in Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Eiden of Abilene spent the week with her parents.

Ronald Phillips returned to Big Spring Sunday after having spent the week with his grandparents, the Jim Berrys.

Dorothy Kline of Ira visited with Claudine Rea, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buss Gressett were called to San Antonio Sunday when her nephew was killed in a car wreck.

C. E. Taylor was returned by ambulance to Westbrook Saturday from Ilco, where he sustained a heart attack July 26 and has been hospitalized. Although he has been improving, he is not allowed to have company.

Lionesses Elect

LAMESA — Mrs. Sam Haney was elected president of the Lamesa Evening Lionesses when they met Monday night in the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Charles King. Also elected to office were Mrs. Ace Kincaid, vice president; Mrs. Billy Jack, secretary; Mrs. Elgin Davis, treasurer, and Mrs. L. D. Woodward, nickel snatcher. A picnic will be held by the club Aug. 10 in Forrest Park.

Lutheran Women Select Project For Raising Funds

Members of the Lutheran Women Parish Workers selected a project for raising funds when they met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ray Catlin. Ornamental plates bearing the pictures of the old and the new churches, will be sold with the proceeds to go into the group's treasury.

Mrs. M. W. Rupp brought the devotion, and Mrs. Gilbert Pachall led a discussion on the topic, "Nation and Neighbor."

Appointed as a committee to make a yearbook were Mrs. Pachall, Mrs. Ted Pachall, Mrs. Robert Roeber, Mrs. Lee Axtens, Mrs. James Weber and Mrs. Frank Long.

It was announced that the society will meet the first Thursday in September in the home of Mrs. M. W. Rupp in the Lockhart Addition.

After the dismissal prayer, refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Boyce Hale to 16 members and three guests.

OWC Looks At School Fashions

A back to school atmosphere was achieved for the Officers Wives Club luncheon Thursday at the Webb Club Lounge. Models paraded in the latest school fashions across a stage furnished as a typical classroom.

Mrs. J. C. McVay commented as Kathy Green, Katie Bloodgood, Darla Seebo, Linda Lahr, Davilla Riddle, Nancy Lohringer, Sherry Johnson, Jill Mason, Jayne Kouns and Judi Simpson pivoted in their styles. Among the models, too, were Bob Kouns, Corky Leming, Charles Murphy, Danny Johnson, Steven Brufat, Bobby Baumann, and Bob Pierce. Mrs. Glen Clarke was in charge of the show.

Potted plants outlined the stage; they were provided by Faye's, Hemphill-Wells arranged the fashion parade and decor.

Luncheon guests included Mrs. Milton Knowles, Mrs. James T. Wilkinson, Mrs. Watson Hammond and Judy Carson.

Homemakers Class To Commencement

Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale was hostess for 12 members of the East Fourth Baptist Homemakers Class Thursday evening. The group met for a covered dish supper which was served in the yard of the hostess. Plans for the year's activities were discussed during the business meeting.

At Commencement

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cloud, 1107 E. 14th, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Cloud Jr., Corby Ann and Christi, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cloud in Portales, N. M. They will attend commencement exercises for their host, who will be graduated from Eastern New Mexico University this evening.

Persecution Complex Is Seen As Shooting Cause

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What prompted Kyrlo Czupirczuk to kill two men and wound five others? His words and actions indicate a persecution complex motivated the tragedy.

The 51-year-old displaced Ukrainian and former mental patient went berserk Thursday and fired volley after volley aimlessly from a shotgun and an automatic pistol into a home for the aged. He shouted in his native tongue: "The Communists and Bolsheviks are trying to kill me. I have to defend myself."

His wife was quoted as saying that Kyrlo had told her he had overheard the elderly residents of the uptown home for the aged plotting to raise $1,000 to hire a Chicago killer to get him.

Czupirczuk's second-floor apartment overlooks one side of the uptown home. The buildings are separated by an alley. He sprayed bullets into the home while some 125 of the 180 residents were finishing breakfast.

"Only an act of God prevented this tragedy from being a massacre," said Mrs. Ruth Gerhart, supervisor of nurses at the home. Czupirczuk was wounded by police when he refused to give himself up. He was reported in critical condition today.

During World War II, Czupirczuk joined the Ukrainian Revolutionary Brigade and fought with the Nazis against the Russians in the historic battle of Rostov.

Philadelphia police said that he had complained to them 38 times that the Russians were out to kill him by radiation.

Officials said he had written threatening letters to President Eisenhower and followed this with a visit to Washington last Jan. 21.

Because of these actions, Czupirczuk was given a sanity hearing. He was committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington where he remained 94 days.

On May 6 he was sent to Philadelphia because as a nonresident of the District of Columbia he could not be treated at St. Elizabeth's indefinitely. He was examined here but not committed to a mental institution.

But he continued to barrage congressmen and attorneys with tales of how the Russians were after him and how they were going to "irradiate" him, officials said.

Slaying Scene

An unidentified police official bends over the body of a man slain when a berserk gunman fired shotgun blasts into a dining room of a home for the aged in Philadelphia. The slayer, Kyrlo Czupirczuk, 51, was wounded and captured in a gunfight with police. The shots came from the building visible through doors of the dining room in the background. About 150 residents of the home were gathered for breakfast in the dining room when the firing began.

Anti-Niki Bill Sets Off Fight

AUSTIN (AP) — A resolution asking the Texas House of Representatives to declare Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev unwelcome in Texas touched off a brief fist fight between two representatives Thursday.

Veteran Rep. Jerry Sadler popped youthful Rep. Louis Dugas with a roundhouse right after the resolution was voted down. Less than 15 members of the 150-member House voted for it.

Sadler, who spoke against the resolution, walked to Dugas' desk and hit him after Dugas remarked, "It looks like Khrushchev has won again, and Sadler, his sidekick."

Other House members and employees restrained the two men from striking more blows. They shook hands later.

Blind Children

Monthly meeting of the West Texas Council for Visually Handicapped Children will be held at the Crippled Children's Center in Odessa at 8 p.m. Aug. 11. Any parent with a blind child is invited to attend the meeting. Information can be obtained about the Council and its program by contacting Mrs. Bob Blair, 1710 Park Blvd., Odessa.

Funeral Rites For Sister Of B'Spring Man

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ferguson, Alandale Road, are en route to DeRidder, La. to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Herley Raymer, who died at a DeRidder Hospital early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Raymer was 50 years old. She had been ill for some time. She is well known here, having visited the Fergusons on several occasions.

Funeral services are to be in DeRidder at 3:30 p.m. Saturday with burial in the DeRidder cemetery.

She is survived by her husband and five daughters.

Khrushy Doesn't Include Bases On Itinerary For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet ambassador doesn't include U.S. military bases in the list of "many pleasant and interesting places" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is likely to see in America.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said Thursday at a news conference it would be constructive for Khrushchev to see some of the bases during his tour here next month.

McElroy said he knew the Premier had said he had no wish to see American bases. But McElroy added he thought it was possible that Khrushchev might want to change his mind.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov had a prompt reply. Khrushchev "doesn't usually change his mind," Menshikov said.

McElroy, in response to a newsman's question, said the purpose of having Khrushchev visit bases would be more to inform than to impress. He said some American officials like himself have been concerned that a Soviet miscalculation of U.S. military power might result in Soviet military action.

The defense secretary said he would be willing to show Khrushchev installations such as the Strategic Air Command base at Omaha and the Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile test site.

A short time after the McElroy news conference, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter returned from the Geneva foreign ministers conference. He blamed its failure on what he called the impossible Soviet aim "to ease the Western Powers out of West Berlin as quickly as possible."

Asked if he thought the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks will solve the problems which the diplomats were unable to settle at Geneva, Herter replied: "I hope so. I don't know."

A Sept. 15 starting date for Khrushchev's visit was made definite Thursday.

Menshikov said after a preliminary conference with Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy that arrangements for the visit are in a very preliminary stage.

The ambassador said scheduling of the cross-country tour is difficult because "there are so many pleasant and interesting places" to visit here. Invitations have been stacking up, Menshikov added.

Khrushchev's first stop will be Washington. His three-day official stay in the capital probably will include state dinners at the White House and the Soviet Embassy.

Khrushchev's American tour is expected to last about 10 days. One of the stops to be considered, Menshikov said, is at the Roswell Garst farm at Coon Rapids, Iowa. Khrushchev has expressed a desire to see the Garst place.

Other possible visiting points that have been mentioned include New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Pittsburgh or Detroit, Texas and California.

While Americans were suggesting places for the Soviet leader, the first invitation was extended to Eisenhower for a visit to a Soviet home during his trip to the Soviet Union later in the fall.

The invitation was extended through Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, by J. K. Ainselwood, a retired foundry worker who lives in a two-room Moscow apartment.

No details have been announced for Eisenhower's trip.

None of the judges had less than 10 years experience in the fields they judged.

Bell, 39, is co-publisher and editor of the Colorado City Record with Roy Fox since 1952. He started his own career in 1938 on the sports staff of the Brownwood Bulletin, served as a Marine Corps correspondent, reporter and desk man for the Fort Worth Press and Star Telegram. He and Fox have won numerous awards, including WTPA general excellence, and those from the National Editorial Assn. and West Texas Chamber. On the committee with Bell are

4,000 Have Tax Refunds Not Claimed

Believe it or not, the U. S. Internal Revenue Service is looking for 4,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District with some good news for them.

The Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service has thousands of dollars in the form of refund checks which rightfully belongs to Dallas District taxpayers.

These are checks left over from the recent filing period. The checks, ranging from $1 to $4,000 have been returned in the mail for lack of proper address.

Ellis Campbell Jr., director of the Dallas district, announced the figures in kicking off "Operation Remail."

He said a group of his employees have been searching telephone directories, contacting employers and attempting through other sources to find the correct addresses of the taxpayers to whom the refunds are due.

Campbell is asking taxpayers to do themselves and his office a favor. In an appeal to readers of this newspaper, he said:

"If you are entitled to a refund check on the tax return you filed this year and have not received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service advising you that your return is being examined, then write me at 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas 1, Texas, or call RI 8-5611, Ext. 2572."

"When writing or calling, a taxpayer should state his or her name and address exactly as it appears on his or her return," Mr. Campbell said.

"Your social security number and the amount of the refund also will be helpful," he said. "Of course, don't forget to give us your new address."

Steel Strike At A Glance

By The Associated Press

IDLE — Half a million United Steelworkers who struck the basic steel industry 24 days ago. Also, about 107,000 employes in allied industries.

NEGOTIATIONS — Joint industry-union talks continue under guidance of federal mediators. Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan asks both sides to quit blasting each other in publicity releases.

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy says the strike has had only a minor effect on defense production so far. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) reports 29 Democratic senators have signed his petition urging the President to act to settle the strike.

LOSSES — Industry loses 300 million dollars worth of business each week; strikers lose nearly 70 million a week in wages.

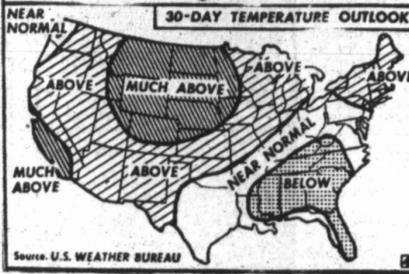

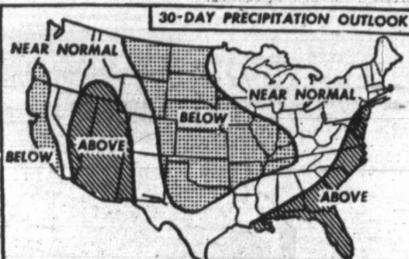

ISSUES — Union wants a 15-cent-an-hour wage hike plus fringe benefits; industry balks, contending higher labor costs will mean higher steel prices and inflation.

Many Careers Are Offered In Navy Program

The Navy has many opportunities available to the High School Graduate. In the high school category, a High School Diploma guarantees a recruit a school if he can qualify on the mental and physical examinations.

There are limited openings in the Nuclear and Electronics Fields, which are the most selective and sought after schools the Navy has. The Nuclear Field gives the student training in theory and operation of the Atomic Power Plants, in addition to specialized training in one of the Navy's Technical Ratings. The Electronics Field gives him training in the maintenance and repair of electronics equipment, such as radar, sonar, radio, television, and many others.

In addition to the above, there are openings in the hospital field, aviation field, and the general high school program. In the general field, a recruit is guaranteed a school, but not any one certain school.

This does not necessarily mean the non-graduate can't get any training. There are many openings in fields not mentioned above. Interested persons should contact Ed Coghlan, signalman first class, U. S. Navy, your local Navy recruiter, in the Post Office Basement.

A Devotional For Today

I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them. (John 17:8.)

PRAYER: Our gracious Father, create in us the desire to read Thy Word every day. Forgive us for neglecting its reading. May we daily dig deep in it to find the riches which are eternal. In the name of Jesus Christ we ask these things. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Welcome To The Fourth Estate

The presence of so many newspaper men and women in Big Spring for the 25th annual meeting of the West Texas Press Association does honor to our community.

Understandably, a newspaper would have an affinity for those in the field, but we have a special feeling of affection for these good folk because of what they represent and what they do.

In their home communities, they regard their newspapers not as private instruments of power or profit, but as institutions responsible to the public. This is not to say that newspapers need not operate profitably, for they are not sacrosanct from the laws of economics. But most newspapermen are firm believers that the way to have success is to earn it — the best way to get support is to produce a product of such quality that it will command the patronage of the public.

Newspapermen also realize that they cannot hope to prosper if their communities or their areas do not progress and prosper. Thus, they are congenial and incorrigible community builders. Newspapermen generally fight for things which will make their towns more liveable, and when they grow to weary to fight, you can put it down that the town is probably too weary to stay in the struggle, too.

Of course there are the larger ideals of truth and freedom, and newspapermen are idealists at heart. Their voices are small sometimes, but in their own precinct their voices are heard, and in the aggregate they constitute a mighty chorus for a people's right to know and direct the people's business.

New Text For The Classroom

A Texas educator addressing the 1959 convention of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association in Fort Worth this week has cited for stimulating interest in history, civics, geography and English. TDNA sponsors a program under which newspapers are provided free to schools in some areas.

The speaker was Dr. Irby B. Carruth, superintendent of the Austin public schools where newspapers are regularly used in class.

Newspapers are delivered at Austin's nine junior highs daily and Dr. Carruth said students read and discuss them between 8 and 9:30 a.m. The program was begun 18 months ago.

"Students are more interested than before in affairs of their city, state and nation and much more interested in international affairs," Dr. Carruth reported. "Our teen-agers are convinced that this program will be instrumental in making Austin children more intelligent citizens and more inclined to accept responsible citizenship."

The teachers are also convinced newspaper reading teaches the children to do more critical thinking, he said. "We find that they have become more interested in the editorial page and many students are writing letters to the editor."

This editor has mentioned it before, but repeats here: The greatest compliment we have ever received was to be told some children read our editorials. The word came from parents and in some instances from the children themselves.

This was both gratifying and humbling, and heightened the sense of responsibility everyone who realizes children are the leaders of tomorrow should have in dealing with them, and in their attitude toward them.

They are the hope and the inspiration of tomorrow. The so-called delinquents and the troublemakers are in a tiny minority; they get the attention and the headlines, but the overwhelming mass of our children and young people can be trusted and depended on.

And they are smart and eager to learn. Those in places of responsibility regarding their upbringing and instruction — parents, teachers, and the various mediums of communication, including newspapers — should be conscious at all times that they are influential in the molding of young minds, and should act accordingly. It is an awesome responsibility, and one that should be discharged in humility and with conscientious care.

The only future this country has is in the hands of the rising generation. It has always been that way and it always will be.

David Lawrence

Who Holds The Winning Hand?

WASHINGTON — A fascinating "poker game" has been going on for several weeks now, and the big question is: Who won—Khrushchev or Eisenhower? The reasons behind the invitation by the President to the Soviet Premier are by no means clear, and it is not yet possible to say which one was outmaneuvered.

But these facts are known—that the Soviet Premier wanted a "summit" conference, and the United States didn't, though Britain was favorable and France was somewhat indifferent. The plan for a foreign ministers conference to be held at Geneva was devised on the theory that, if any substantial progress were made, this would justify a "summit" conference.

But Nikita Khrushchev is a stubborn man. He didn't want a foreign ministers conference. He sent his foreign minister to Geneva, but with instructions to make no agreements there. Gromyko complied 100 per cent. The idea was to force a "summit" meeting on the pretense that only the heads of government could negotiate agreements.

Then the Western allies recessed the foreign ministers conference. President Eisenhower decided on another approach. He thought that maybe an "exploratory" consultation might be held between him and the Soviet premier. If Mr. Khrushchev wanted to come to the United States on a visit—it had been said that this was his real reason for pressing for a "summit" conference—then an invitation to him alone to come to America might serve the broad purpose. At least it would feel out the situation for the United States, and then it could be determined whether any progress sufficient to warrant a "summit" conference had been made.

Corroboration of this analysis is to be derived in part from the President's press conference on Monday of this week, when he was asked:

"The impression has somehow been received, Mr. President, in considering a possible visit by Mr. Khrushchev to the United States, that before you would issue an invitation to him, there would have to be some evidence of 'give,' in the sense of 'give and take' on the part of Mr. Khrushchev, on Western principles. May we take it that there has been some such indication?"

The President replied as follows: "No, I can't—I don't think you can say that, Mr. Belair. This is what I have said—that the holding of a 'summit' meeting and negotiation, that that would be, to my mind, absolutely impractical and, as the State Department says, unproductive unless we could count on some positive results. But I would say these, so far as our discussions of mutual problems, are exploratory rather than any attempt at negotiation."

Mr. Eisenhower revealed that "some time back" he had suggested to the State Department that he believed, "in the effort to meet a little bit of the ice that seems to freeze our relationships with the Soviets, that possibly a visit such as I now have proposed would be useful, and we studied this thing and, in early July, I initiated the correspondence that finally brought about an agreement."

Under the circumstances, it now is apparent just why Foreign Minister Gromyko wouldn't agree to anything at Geneva. As long as a consultation with the President of the United States was being planned, the Soviet government felt that nothing further need be done for the present. Conversely, it is possible that Mr. Eisenhower hoped his gesture might eventually have a beneficial effect. Apparently he still held to that view even in his special conference with the press this week, when he said:

"The visit itself (between Khrushchev and the President) has no direct connection with any possible later 'summit' meeting. I, of course, would hope that the mere announcement would inspire the foreign ministers to greater activity, and probably some greater effort to conciliation, so that there might be results before Wednesday, when they temporarily adjourn—at least that would justify the scheduling of such a later meeting, at what time I don't know. But in any event, even if they have to reassemble, I would hope they could do that, if they found it reasonable and proper."

"Now I merely want to make clear that this is a personal visit for the purposes that I have outlined, and are given in the statement, but with the hope that it will do something to promote understanding and possibly progress toward peace in the world."

The key phrases in that comment are those that say there is "no direct connection" with the later "summit" meeting and that "this is a personal visit." But the impression is inescapable that the President tried hard to assuage the Soviet Premier with a promise of an exchange of personal visits, hoping that something good in return would come out of the foreign ministers conference at Geneva or later in New York anyway. There is some reason to believe that the Soviet Premier accepted the President's invitation rather suddenly, for the United Press International as late as Friday of last week reported as follows:

"The President has told some visitors that an invitation to Khrushchev is like a high card in a poker game, not to be dealt out without something in return. He has referred privately to the foreign ministers meeting as a poker game."

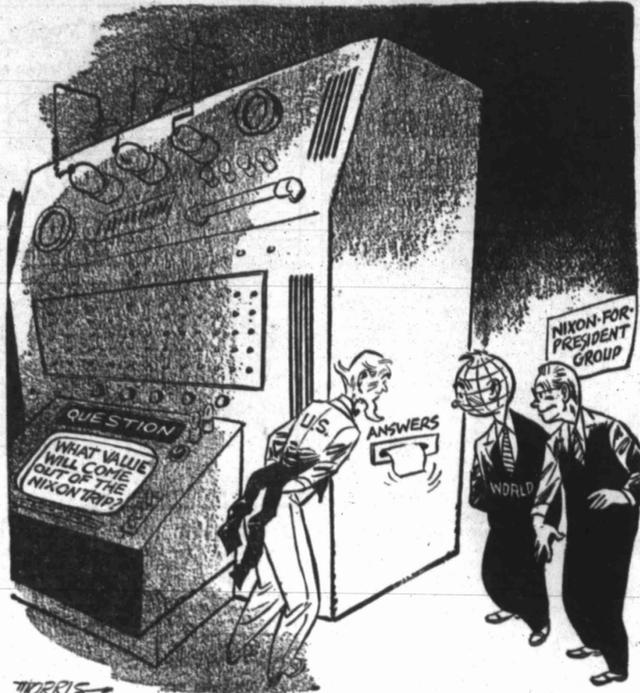

As these lines were written, it was recognized here that some move by Moscow that would seem to be a concession to the President's viewpoint might be in the offing. If it came, the feeling here was that this might have justified the maneuverings on both sides. If it didn't come, Mr. Eisenhower was represented as still hopeful of an eventual change for the better on the issues raised at the Geneva foreign ministers conference. NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Some days it pays to stay in bed. Don C. Welch had a flat on one of his cars and he fixed it. Crossing a railroad track a hole was knocked in the oil pan. The oil drained out and the motor was ruined. While pushing the auto with his second car, the throttle linkage came loose—twice.

From Confident To Cocky

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is there one word which describes the difference between a confident and a cocky? Sure. It's K-h-r-u-s-h-c-h-e-v. But the Soviet Premier still acts like a boy with two heads. He crows out of one, and cries out of the other.

While Premier Nikita Khrushchev feels himself getting more powerful, as he surely is, he also shows startling signs of self-conscious inferiority. An example is what happened to the display of American goods at the fair in Moscow.

It's no discredit to the Soviet Union, which started late, that it is still far behind the United States in industrial production, particularly in consumer goods. But Khrushchev's government—which means the Premier himself—through its controlled press tried to belittle the evidence of American production at the fair and even set up a fair of its own to distract the Russian people.

Nevertheless, here's how Khrushchev grew from confident to cocky:

1955—Just before he went to the Geneva summit meeting, when he was No. 2 man behind Premier Nikolai Bulganin, he said the Soviet Union wasn't going to Geneva out of weakness, it didn't have "broken legs," and "if you don't want to talk seriously, we can wait and hold on."

1956—Just before coming here for his September meeting with President Eisenhower, Khrushchev says he won't be coming with rockets in his pockets.

The 1955 statement was defensive, as if he felt the Allies were looking down their noses. Then the Soviet Union was ringed with American bomber bases—as it still is—but then it had no missiles and was trying to get production up. Now the Soviet economy is working overtime although still behind this country in agriculture and industry. But now the Soviet Union has missiles and has surged ahead in their development.

Khrushchev's present cockiness isn't sudden, it's been growing. A little over two years ago, in a TV interview, he told the people of this country: "Your grandchildren will live under socialism."

Why did he suddenly need a bigger hat?

First, he's Premier now. He won an intraparty fight, ousted Bulganin and took his job, and tossed his rivals into Soviet limbo. He's the undisputed No. 1 man, the boss. More than that happened. Soviet military strength grew meanwhile.

In the fall of 1956 with one statement the Soviet Union proclaimed to the world that only two powers counted, the United States and itself. With one statement it set out to relegate those old empires and world-rulers, Britain and France, to second-rate roles. That was when it threatened to smash them and Israel if they didn't stop their attack on Egypt. Eisenhower saved the day by pressuring all three of them into stopping their war.

And in 1957 the Soviet Union sent up its first satellites, beating the United States into this field of the future. It went on to one achievement after another, including a moon-shot.

So Khrushchev really was rubbing it in when he said he wouldn't come here with rockets in his pockets.

As time moved, Soviet fear of American long-range bombers may not have diminished. But his own confidence—in military strength, at least—bounced ahead with its progress in long-range and intermediate missiles.

Two years after Geneva Khrushchev was feeling so sure of himself that he challenged the United States to a "peaceful rocket" contest. He said a third World War would be the worst and would be fought on American soil.

That was in November, 1957, after the first Soviet satellites had gone up. Just a year later, on Nov. 14, 1958, Khrushchev was challenging the West to an all-out production race.

He predicted the new Soviet production plan would result in the world's highest living standards.

And just a few days after that—Nov. 27, 1958—he really challenged the West to show its strength and determination by threatening to force the Allies to pull their troops out of West Berlin if they didn't go voluntarily.

This put the West in such a box—because it would be so terrifically difficult to avoid being forced out of Berlin without war—that it sought through talks to find a peaceful solution and avoid a showdown. The talks lasted weeks.

They got nowhere. Finally Eisenhower, to avoid a showdown or at least postpone it, invited Khrushchev here for talks. Since this was exactly what the Russian wanted, it's no wonder he can swagger sitting down.

Need For A Clear Conscience

Well, this friend of mine has a problem. And since we have much in common, he comes to me for a solution.

Actually, most people would say he should go to a minister or a marriage counselor, and that's what I told him. But we sat down for a bull session and the result of our figuring was such that I thought to pass it on to whoever might be interested.

My friend has been married once, and has a couple of children. He thinks he's madly in love with a woman who has never been married, and he wants to marry her. But, since both are religious, they have the problem of Biblical prohibitions.

The first thing I warned him against was allowing his own desires to guide him into a decision for himself that he might not have approved in other people. Such a decision would be impossible for those who lean toward literal interpretation of Holy Writ. But my friend is not literal-minded, and is best described as a religious liberal. So is his girlfriend.

The next point that quite naturally came up was that there are an almost unlimited number and variety of interpretations of Scripture possible to those who do not classify as literal-minded.

There are those who do not accept divorce in any form, and certainly not remarriage. Others will accept divorce on grounds of adultery, but not remarriage. Another school of thought among Christians accepts divorce on grounds of adultery, and remarriage of the innocent party.

We discovered there is still another school of thought. These people take cognizance of the fact that the original meaning of the word "adultery" did not necessarily have anything to do with sex. Its original meaning was disloyalty or unfaithfulness in general, and its application was religious, social and political.

Few people actually "approve" divorce, but many regard it as sometimes necessary; few approve the admitted abuses.

There is a growing belief among certain theologians in the "liberal" denominations that a divorce which could not be avoided should not be held against either party; that those who wish to re-marry may re-establish themselves by seeking out their Maker in regard to whatever they may have done to help break up the former marriage.

At the end of our bull session, the only thing I could tell my friend was, "This is a highly personal matter, and you'll have to consult your own conscience. But don't make a decision that goes against what you believe. You might later find yourself with a guilty conscience, and venting your spleen on your wife."

And, this principle might apply to a lot of other things besides the topic of our bull session.

Hide Feelings, Mind Our Manners

Now, if ever, comes the time for the nation to practice counting to a thousand and to polish up its public manners.

It is going to be bitter-hard for many Americans, particularly new-minded ones who are refugees from Communist occupation of their home lands, to swallow the impending visit of Nikita Khrushchev. But in the interest of what the President hopes will be a better, less tense and more peaceful existence for the whole world, Gen. Eisenhower has asked the Russian dictator to come here to see our strength, our unity of purpose and our cohesion as a nation.

Like it or lump it, Khrushchev is going to be our guest. And it behooves everyone now to practice curbing his hurts and hostility and to be the very pinnacle of politeness toward Khrushchev during his September visit to the U. S. A.

No eggs, no rotten vegetables, God forbid! for the Russian Communist czar, as there were earlier this year for his deputy, Anastas I. Mikoyan. In the first place, such actions are inexcusably bad political and personal manners, when a man is a guest in our house, the U. S. A.

And, in the second place, a number of reporters who accompanied Vice President Richard Nixon on his Russian tour, believe that much of the persistent and crude heckling of the vice president stemmed directly from those overripe vegetables lobbed at Mikoyan.

It would outrage the United States if the Russians shied eggs or vegetables at President Eisenhower or subjected him to rude treatment when he goes to the U. S. R. later in the autumn. So it behooves us to mind our manners when Khrushchev is the nation's guest, if only to insure a civil welcome for the American president.

The Russian Premier's visit is no time for jingoism or chauvinism. Or for the public display of righteous indignation on the part of refugee groups, even the Hungarians, for whom the civilized world has the utmost sympathy and respect.

President Eisenhower finally got on the air, during the Mikoyan visit, and asked the nation to mind its manners toward Mikoyan. I am not certain that it wouldn't be a good idea for Mr. Eisenhower, immediately before the Khrushchev visit, to remind us once more that the red dictator will be a guest in our house and to behave accordingly.

No American has to throw flowers in Nikita's path, or stand by and cry "hip-hip-hurray for communism!" when he makes a public appearance. No one, in this free country, has to crowd the sidewalks, to make a Roman holiday.

And no American should be debarred from asking him polite but searching, probing questions about the Communist system, if he stands still in public for cross-examination as Mr. Nixon did. There is every reason in the world to remember our manners — if Khrush should forget his. There is no greater rebuke.

But let us not interdict any baby to whom the Russian premier gives a piece of candy or a head-pat, or censor his innocent mother, as happened during the Mikoyan visit.

In another field, I hope that the European press will not write stupid, hoked-up articles crying that American business men are soft on or have sold out to communism simply because, in any contacts with Khrushchev, they observe the reasonable dictates of good taste. A great many foreign writers did the U. S. A. this disservice when Mikoyan was here.

Since the President for good reasons has invited Khrushchev to visit us, let us be polite to the Communist even if it half-kills us. (Copyright 1959, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

Good Way To Settle Quarrels

NEW YORK (AP)—The McGuire sisters started singing in an Ohio church choir just 25 years ago.

The beapole-slender youngsters of 1934 now are the highest paid girl trio in show business today, and perhaps of all time.

The one thing most people want to know about them—particularly people who come from large families—is how they settle their quarrels.

The answer is simple. They settle their disputes the same way the U. S. Congress does—by majority rule.

"Our policy is that if two agree on anything the other has to give in," said Phyllis, who acts as spokesman for the girls, although she has the least seniority.

"We generally manage to keep out of each other's hair. But occasionally we do have arguments. When we do we speak our piece, take a vote—and forget it."

"But we try to avoid the friction that might come from being together too much. On the road we stay in separate rooms, and meet just before the show."

As in any household, each of the sisters has her own chores. Phyllis, the eldest, picks the wardrobe. Dorothy, whom the others refer to as "the normal one," handles the props. She also acted as family treasurer until the trio hired a business manager.

They have recorded nearly 300 songs. Teen-age polls rate them the top trio. They have sold more than 10 million records.

They started out at $210 a week. This year, one soft drink firm alone is paying them $250,000 — plus all the soda they can swallow — for a year's supply of TV and radio commercials.

They also spend some 20 weeks a year on the supper club circuit.

Their smash success hasn't turned any of the girls' heads. Here is their reaction to it:

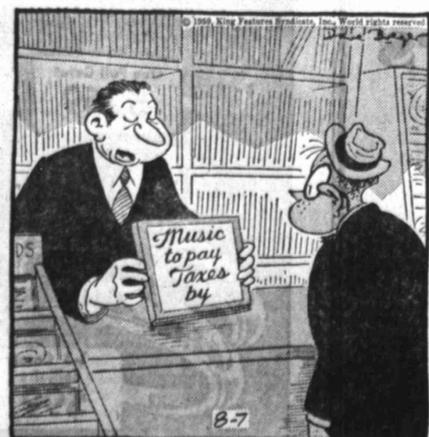

Dorothy—"You're public property. You have no privacy. Your life is not your own."

Phyllis—"You can't take backward steps, but success has proved more than I bargained for. I've learned that success is getting what you want, but happiness is wanting what you get. But right now I'm still riding on cloud No. 9 — and looking for flying saucers."

Chris—"Success is something you strive to get, but when you get it you don't have it. It has you."

The McGuire sisters have one thing that sets them apart from most entertainers. They pay 10 per cent of their income to an agent — but they also just as regularly give another 10 per cent to the church in whose choir they first sang together as children a quarter of a century ago.

After Moscow, Nixon's Stock Up

PRINCETON, N. J. Aug. 4—Vice President Nixon's Russian trip has boosted his political stock with voters across the country.

Before Mr. Nixon left for Russia, the Gallup Poll tested the vice president's chances against Adlai Stevenson in a nationwide survey. The same survey has been repeated since his widely-publicized debate with Premier Khrushchev to measure what effect, if any, the trip would have on his political strength.

In the earlier study, the vice president trailed Stevenson by a considerable margin. Today, Nixon runs about even with Stevenson, showing a net gain of 7 percentage points.

Vanity Or Victory?

A WISE MAN FINDS THAT WISDOM, PLEASURE AND GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS DO NOT SATISFY. ONLY THE RECOGNITION OF GOD MAKES LIFE WORTHWHILE.

Scripture—Ecclesiastes.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE ENTIRE BOOK OF Ecclesiastes is much too long to be covered in one lesson, so I will follow Dr. Wilbur M. Smith's suggestion in his Peloubet's Select Notes, and quote: Ecclesiastes 5:1-2, 4-6, 8-12, 18-19. The teachers, of course, will read the entire book before they decide what is most important to stress to the pupils.

The Bible says that the book was written by "The Preacher, the son of David, king in Jerusalem."—Ecclesiastes 1:1. Dr. Smith writes that "many modern writers deny the author as Solomon, but no one else was ever suggested who satisfactorily meets all the requirements of authorship that this book demands."

"Vanity of vanities . . . all is vanity," are the opening words of Solomon, the wise son of the good King David.—Ecclesiastes 1:1-2. "Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools. . . . Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon earth; therefore let thy words be few."—Ecclesiastes 5:1-2.

Do not most of us talk too much, even when we are in our place of worship? Let us keep quiet and meditate on our behavior during the past week, and if according to our ideals and asking God to forgive us if we have not, and asking Him for strength to do better.

"When thou vowest a vow to God, defer not to pay it; for He hath no pleasure in fools: pay that which thou hast vowed."—Ecclesiastes 5:4.

"Suffer not thy mouth to cause thy flesh to sin; neither say thou before the angel, that it was an error: wherefore should God be angry at thy voice, and destroy the work of thine hands? For in the multitude of dreams and many words there are also vanity."—Ecclesiastes 5:3.

MEMORY VERSE

"Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long."—Proverbs 23:17.

that the children, both young and older, might be introduced to the lesson by a story which he read in which a man, born into a poor family, gained wealth and fame by his industry. When he was old, however, he asked over and over, "Is life worth living? What is it all about?"

Is it vanity if a man works hard, enjoys the fruits thereof, and thanks God for it? I think not, and so did the wise Solomon. "Behold that which I have seen: it is good and comely for one to eat and to drink, and to enjoy the good for all his labour that he taketh under the sun all the days of his life, which God giveth him; for it is his portion."—Ecclesiastes 3:18-19.

We may take honest pride in good work done, but we need not be vain and boastful about our accomplishments as some are. And we will find life is worthwhile if we trust in God, live righteously and remain humble.

Airplanes Utilized By Busy Ministers

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

They used to call the Rev. Gil Dodds the Flying parson because he could run a mile in a track suit faster than most men of his time.

Now, with private air travel a commonplace thing, churches are developing a breed of real flying parsons, clergymen able to serve large, scattered parishes through the use of airplanes.

The United Church of Christ has at least two.

The Rev. John R. Kelly of Broadus, Mont., serves six congregations scattered over an area of 4,000 square miles, flying his own two-seater plane over the longer legs of his parish rounds.

The Rev. Alan O. Inglis of Flasher, N. D., travels about 4,000 miles a month by car and single-engine plane to perform ministerial duties in his sprawling parish.

None of the flying parsons, facilities are primitive.

The Rev. Mr. Kelly has to shoe cows off his landing strip in Broadus before taking off.

"The runway is in the middle of a cow pasture," he says, "and the cows haven't forgotten they were there first."

None of the fields in the Rev. Mr. Kelly's Powder River parish are lighted for night landings, but he has solved the problem in a novel way.

He buzzes the town, and parishioners get out their automobile and hustle to the field to light the landing strip with their headlights.

The Rev. Mr. Inglis recently outlined a typical Sunday of services for his five scattered congregations in Flasher Larger Parish.

He's up before dawn and hurrying to the airport in Flasher with his Bible, church bulletins, a tape recorder and, during the winter, a can of heated oil to get the plane started.

By 7 a.m., he's in Solen, N.D., landing on a little used road. Then worship services for some 40 persons and a church breakfast of coffee and homemade rolls.

Carson, N. D., is the next stop. There, the Rev. Mr. Inglis sets down on the high school football field. Services in Carson start at 9:15 a.m.

He's back in Flasher for 11 a.m. services, occasionally experiencing a delay while automobiles are hauled off the landing field. Hot-rodgers use the strip for drag racing on warm days.

After a quick sandwich at the parsonage, he's off for Selfridge, 30 minutes away across rough terrain on the fringe of the Badland area. Services there are at 2 p.m.

The last service of the Rev. Mr. Inglis' busy Sunday is in Shields, which he refers to as a paradoxical town.

"The town is dying. Only the church and the bar remain open,"

CHURCH BREVITIES

Morals - Movies

CHICAGO (AP)—Catholics should be educated to form their own sound appraisals of the moral content of movies—and not have to rely on Legion of Decency ratings alone, a church educator says.

"The challenge facing us," said Russell Baria, head of Chicago's Catholic-sponsored Adult Education Centers, "is to prepare our people to make their own personal and informed judgments of the movies they see."

Advertising

GENEVA, Switz. (AP)—Lutheran churches in various countries are going in for advertising in a big way.

The Lutheran World Federation reports that the United Lutheran Church in America and the Church of Sweden have both launched newspaper advertising programs, emphasizing church attendance.

The Finnish Lutheran Church is using both newspaper ads and posters.

Opportunities

CHICAGO (AP)—Methodist Bishop Roy H. Short of Nashville writes in the church magazine, Together, that the Cuban revolution has opened up new possibilities for Protestant expansion there.

Back from a Cuban tour, he said "the Protestant church, from the first was favorably inclined toward the revolution, and now that a new era has dawned, the evangelical churches in Cuba have an unequalled opportunity."

Jewish Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—The 565 synagogues and temples of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations will observe April as "Jewish Religious Freedom Month" across the country, emphasizing Reform Judaism's role "in opening new frontiers of faith and spiritual freedom" for American Jews.

Electronic Aid

NASHVILLE (AP)—Southern Baptist executives have authorized public relations representatives of various agencies across the country to set up an inter-church telephone communications system, on a six-month trial basis.

Church Publicity

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference has issued a 42-page booklet describing how American newspapers, magazines and broadcasting networks handled the coverage of the death of Pope Pius XII and election of Pope John XXIII. The study concludes it was a "topflight performance."

Puerto Ricans In New York Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Protestant churches must embrace the thousands of Puerto Ricans now inhabiting New York City, or face the prospect of a declining roll in the city's life, says Dr. David Barry, head of the New York City Mission Society.

On Understanding

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—If people would put themselves in the place of others before judging the actions of others, international understanding would be greatly increased. The Disciples of Christ International monthly, World Call, editorialized this month.

Locals Pummel Floydada, 22-0

Big Spring slaughtered Floydada, 22-0 in Thursday night's District 7 Teen-Age Baseball tournament game here to steam into the finals.

Terrell Given Class AA Nod

FORT WORTH (AP) — Terrell, New London, Jasper, and Edouch-Elsa are getting the most attention in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football.

The teams were picked as the standouts this season by coaches attending the Texas coaching school.

Stamford, the defending champion, wasn't rated very high even though its coach admitted it should be one of the favorites for the district title.

Stamford lost heavily from its championship team and reportedly has little material coming up.

Terrell, bulging with experience as usual, was considered the top team but there came reports of an awesome New London outfit in the making.

Jasper and Edouch-Elsa also have lettermen galore—21 at Jasper, 16 of them seniors, and 17 at Edouch-Elsa, with 10 returning starters.

These were rated district favorites:

- 1—Dimmitt, 2—Muleshoe, 3—Floydada, 4—Denver City, 5—Perryton, 6—Stamford, 7—Cisco, 8—Hamilton, 9—Olney, 10—Azle, 11—Terrell, 12—Richardson, 13—DeKalb, 14—Lindero, 15—New London, 16—Hillsboro, 17—Brady, 18—Belton, 19—Georgetown, 20—Smithville, 21—A&M Consolidated, 22—Liberty, 23—Port Acres, 24—Jasper, 25—Deer Park, 26—Edna, 27—Gonzales, 28—Goliad, 29—Pearsall, 30—Freer, 31—Refugio, 32—Edouch-Elsa.

Benny Paret Gets Chance In Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—A substitute for a substitute gets his big chance in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden tonight, setting the stage for a possible upset.

Benny Paret of Santa Clara, Cuba, was advanced to top billing when two prospective opponents for Gaspar Ortega, fifth-ranked welterweight title challenger were unable to appear.

Ortega, who has won 49 of 66 fights, including 21 by knockouts, kayoed Ray Terrazas in Jurez in his last start.

The main event will be televised over the NBC network at 9 p.m. (EST). Scoring by the referee and two judges will be by rounds.

Sugar Ray Slated To Fight Pender

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson has agreed to defend his title in a Massachusetts version of the world middleweight championship against Paul Pender at Boston.

The scheduled 15-rounder, announced Thursday night by promoter Sam Silverman, has been set for the first week in December but the exact night has not been determined.

Robinson, whose middleweight crown no longer is recognized by the National Boxing Assn., will be defending his title as far as the Massachusetts commission is concerned, according to Silverman.

Pender, the Brooklyn fireman, has won eight straight bouts in a comeback string.

Detroit And Los Angeles Open Grid Play Saturday

By JACK CLARY Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams, two of the big 1959 National Football League disappointments, begin their "wipe the slate clean" campaign Saturday in the first all-NFL exhibition game of the 1959 season.

The Chicago Cards had the first taste of battle on Wednesday when they lambasted Toronto of the Canadian Big Four Football Union 55-26. The Rams-Lions game at Boulder, Colo., is the first of 39 exhibition games before the season gets under way Saturday, Sept. 25.

The Rams carried on one of the most extensive house-cleaning campaigns in pro football history. In one sweep last January, they traded their second, third and fourth draft choices, and four var-pitcher last night, had things going his way from the first inning on. His mates staked him to a three-run edge in the initial inning and that was all he needed.

The Kiwanians, who are managed by Bill Battle, counted in every inning but the second thereafter, however.

Roberts worked five innings on the hill for Big Spring, after which Don Ellis took over and preserved the shutout. Roberts permitted the visitors only three hits while Ellis did not give up a safety.

Jeff Brown had a banner night at bat for Big Spring, blasting out five hits in six trips to the dish. Included were two home runs and a double. In all, he drove in six tallies.

Jack Irons also lashed out a home run for Big Spring, his drive coming in the seventh with a mate up front.

Brown blasted his round trippers in the first with two on and the sixth as the leadoff man.

Jim Davis, 210-pounder from Tyler, Texas, has some big shoes to fill in the Oklahoma University lineup this fall but he's being boomed in some quarters as the next All-American for the Sooners.

He replaces Bob Harrison, another Texas, at the center position for the Sooners. The Sooners open their 1959 season Sept. 26 against Northwestern in Evanston, Ill. Davis' high school coach was J. C. (Beck) Prejano.

FOR 18-INNING GAME

Overtime Pay May Be Due Sox, O's

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles can put in for overtime pay after struggling through 18 innings—the longest game of the season—with nothing to show for their work except a 1-1 tie, stopped by the curfew law.

Baltimore has a special curfew that permits no inning to start after 11:59 Baltimore time. They were just getting into No. 18 at that time.

Hoyt Wilhelm, relieving Billy O'Dell in the ninth, pitched 8 2-3 hitless innings and wound up by allowing only two singles in a 10-inning workout.

Billy Pierce, Chicago's stylish left-hander, had the longest tour of duty of any major league pitcher this season when he worked the first 18 innings. Turk Lown came on to finish it.

Wilhelm was thrown out at the plate in the 15th, when the Orioles had three hits. The pitcher was trying to score from second on Billy Klaus' single to left.

Wilhelm's knuckleball got combination in a jam in the 18th. A combination of a single by Sam Ely, a passed ball, an intentional walk and another passed ball by catcher Joe Ginsberg on Wilhelm's knucklers put men on second and third with two out. He worked his way out when Billy Gardner raked back from second base to take Al Smith's bloop in short right.

In the last of the 18th, Willie Tasby singled with one out. He moved to second on an infield out, but Walt Dropp bounced out to the pitcher, ending the game.

The first hit of Wilhelm was a single by Billy Goodman with two out in the 17th.

The tie game cut Chicago's American League lead to 1 1/2 games because Cleveland beat Washington 5-2 on Rocky Colavito's two-run homer, in the seventh. It was No. 32 for the Rock, breaking a 2-2 tie and assuring Gary Bell of his 12th victory. Bell's double had given the Indians their first two runs off loser Russ Kemmerer.

Paul Foytack pitched his first shutout of the year, a three-hit 4-0 job against New York as Detroit clinched the season series between the two clubs. The Tigers have beaten the Yanks 12 times in 17 games. It was the 11th time the Yanks had been blanked. Art Ditmar gave up both Detroit homers by Red Wilson and Eddie Yost.

Boston had only four hits off Kansas City pitching but made them count for a 4-3 victory. Lee Kieley pitched his way out of a bases loaded jam in the ninth to save Jerry Casale's eighth triumph. Dick Williams and Bill Tuggle of the A's hit home runs.

When Kieley took over there were two on and two out. He walked pinch hitter Hal Smith before he got Wayne Terwilliger to ground into a force out.

Round Table, the millionaire horse, can boost his bankroll close to 1 1/2 million dollars with a victory Saturday. But whether the world's leading money winning thoroughbred avails himself of the opportunity in the $50,000 added Equippo Mile at Arlington Park is problematical.

The presence of Travis Kerr's hard-hitting 5-year-old in this test for speed horses depends on the condition of the track. And the size of the field depends on whether Round Table starts.

If the track is not too muddy, Kerr said Round Table likely will attempt to add to his earnings of $1,452,639 under top weight of 132 pounds. The last time Round Table was scheduled to race he was withdrawn because of an off track, Calumet Farm's Bardson also is on the doubtful list but his speedy staminate, On-and-On, is rated definite.

Other top eligibles include Better Bend and Terra Farms. Richest of Saturday's feature races is the $100,000 Sapling for 2-year-olds wined up the Monmouth Park meeting.

A field of 12 of the top Eastern juveniles is expected in the 6 furlongs of the Sapling. They include Incher Lancer, Vital Force, Bally Ache, and Farm to Market.

Wichita Falls (AP) — The Texas Oil Bowl squad added tackle Emer Martindale of San Angelo and Don Malone of Vernon Thursday. The Texas players meet a team from Oklahoma in the game here Aug. 21.

Louis Maneely, Big Spring, came away from Lake Thomas recently with one of the best hauls of black bass seen this season. The local schoolteacher looked a seven-pounder on a Rex Spoon in the shallows near White Island, and also caught two others which weighed a total of six pounds. He still had his rabbit's foot a day later, and brought in a couple of two and half pounders.

YUELL WINSLOW

Giant Boss Wins Things His Way

By JACK HAND
By The Associated Press
Soon they'll be calling Billy Rigney a push button manager. The fellow who pushed the recall button that brought Willie McCovey back from Phoenix may have won the pennant for the San Francisco Giants.
The Willie firm—McCovey and Mays—did it again Thursday. As a result the Giants are riding high with a full game lead on idle Los Angeles and a two-game edge on Milwaukee after taking two out of three from the Braves.

Just to prove the Giants do have somebody else beside McCovey and Mays in the lineup, Sad Sam Jones went all the way with an eight-hitter for his 18th victory and shortstop Eddie Bressoud weighed in with a three-run homer in a 7-1 romp over the Braves.
But it was McCovey, the long legged rookie, who got the Giants off winging by driving in the first run. McCovey wound up with two of the Giants' 10 hits. After his first eight days in the majors he is hitting .467 with 11 hits in 20 at bats. He has hit safely in all seven straight games since he came up.
Mays smashed his 18th homer in the seventh and also chipped in with two singles and scored twice. Jim Davenport and Mays started it off with singles in the first. McCovey's solo single drove in Davenport and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly scored Mays.
Bressoud's 370-foot blow into the left field pavilion capped a four-run outburst in the fourth that gave the Giants a comfortable lead over 15-game winner Lee Dillenger, who wound up with his 11th defeat.
Jones, acquired from St. Louis during spring training, was nearly knocked out in a collision with Hank Aaron in the fifth. Emergency repairs for a slight cut on the right knee permitted Sam to continue.

Deadline For Entry At Stanton Saturday

STANTON (SC) — Entries in the fifth annual West Texas Sand Greens Championship Golf tournament can qualify tomorrow or they can enter simply by calling Harry Haislip at SKYline 6-2312. Stanton, and giving qualifying scores.
Entry fee is $7.50 and players can pay that stipend when they reach the course for play on Sunday.
The medalist will be determined

OVER SNYDER

Valdes Gets Win As Bengals Win

SNYDER (SC)—The Big Spring Tigers, benefiting from some fine clutch pitching on the part of three hurlers, edged Snyder, 8-7, in a baseball exhibition here Thursday night.
Danny Valdes received credit for the mound win. He pitched six

Moser Is Selected As New Director

FORT WORTH (AP) — The gigantic Texas Coaching School closes today with a new record enrollment and a look toward Dallas for 1960.
A total of 2,956 had registered through Thursday night; 136 over the previous year high set at Houston in 1958, and officials thought the final total might hit the 3,000 mark.
Final events in the big clinic are the annual meeting of the Texas High School Coaches Assn. and the all-star football game tonight.
Darrell Tully of Spring Branch is due to be elected president of the association, succeeding Gordon Wood of Victoria. The 1960 meeting will be in Dallas.
Regional directors elected yesterday are I-Gene Mayfield, Borer; Chuck Moser, Abilene; Wayne Wilson, Dallas; Samuell; Max Goldsmith, Andrews; S-C-E Underwood, Fort Arthur; John Stidger, Tyler; J-Jack McElhanon, Aransas Pass; and Allen Winters, Gonzales.

Renegades Riding High In Circuit

The Avalanches trotted over the Hot Shot Hooties, 3-1, this week in the Under 40 Couples bowling league. In other matches, The Blasters smacked the Renegades, 2-1. Forked Lightnings bumbed the Fodor Almonds, 3-0, and Ray's tipped the Horseshoes, 2-1.
Ladd Smith, Ray's, recorded a 192-548 high game and series. Ward Hall, Hot Shot Hooties, grabbed a 190 game and Ramona Harris, Avalanches and Latelle Thomas, Ray's, tied for the high woman's game, 156. Ramona had 437 high series, 100.
Ray's team compiled high team game and series, 597-1756.
Splits were converted by Sue Guthrie, Horseshoes, 2-7 and 5-7; Ann Chaney, Horseshoes, 5-6; Latelle Thomas, 2-7; and Ladd Smith, Ray's, 3-10.

Leaves Aug. 19

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's 225-member team in the Pan American Games in Chicago will start flying north Aug. 19, officials said Thursday.

Two Teams Added To ASA Softball Tournament Field

BROWNWOOD (SC)—Two teams were added to the field in the ASA State Softball tournament before the deadline Thursday, bringing to 23 the total bidding for the crown.
One of those, Nabers Paint Store of Big Spring, opens play

North's Cagers Continue Domination Over South

FORT WORTH (AP) — The North continued its domination of the all-star basketball game of the Texas Coaching School Thursday night, controlling the ball and giant Lewis Qualls of Smiley to beat the South 87-45.
The heat helped hold down the 7-foot Qualls, who played more than anybody expected—18 out of a possible 40 minutes—but who wasn't very effective at rebounding and scored only seven points.
Brilliant Jim Thompson of Bowie and Don Roelck of Fort Worth Poly led the North in an outburst midway of the third. Amos Turner of Grand Prairie away to stay.
When the North took over the lead for good it ended a thrilling battle. Seven times the score was tied and nine times the lead changed hands.
The South put up a much better game than anticipated. It had been picked to lose by as much as 22 points. But the North never was more than 14 points ahead and that came after the South had umbrellas, valued at $12 each, while consolation runnersup get golf bags.

The Stanton course is in its best shape in history for the tournament, having benefited from heavy rains earlier in the summer.
Here's a list of the past champions:
1935—H. D. Gibson, Goldsmith.
1936—Yuell Winslow, Stanton.
1937—Jack Arrington, Stanton.
1938—Gibson.
Gibson will again be on hand, seeking to defend his laurels. Fact is, he has been practicing on the Stanton course, learning the layout of the course again. Two of the fairways on the course have been lengthened and Gibson wants to know the lay of the land.
Local threats for the title include Winslow, Arrington, J. D. Poe, Eldon Hopkins, Houston Woody and Paul Briggs.
The course is supposed to be tougher than it ever has been before, so no course records are in danger of falling.
A large delegation of linksters is due in from Big Spring. Other players are expected from Midland, Texas, Big Lake, Monahan and Odessa.
When all qualifying scores are submitted, the tournament committee will refer to the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company to arrange the pairings.
There'll be a concessions house open at the course, where players and spectators can buy sandwiches and cold drinks.

Giant Hill Staff Is Helping Cause

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With all the fuss about the betting heroics of young Willie McCovey, you're apt to forget how well the San Francisco Giants pitching staff is baffling the opposition.
Big Sam Jones, for instance, won his 15th victory of the season Thursday by hurling the National League leader to a 7-1 triumph over the defending champion Milwaukee Braves.
Never before in his major league career that goes back to 1951 has the 6-foot-4 right-hander won that many contests in a season.

Remember? She's Getting Married Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Remember that little girl with the freckled face and the braids? Well, she's grown up and getting married Saturday.

Not the little girl who lived next door. But Margaret O'Brien, the child screen star whose wistful charm won millions of fans.

Margaret, now a serene 21-year-old brunette beauty and again a busy actress after an awkward years absence, weds Harold Robert Allen Jr., 24, a commercial art student.

The ceremony will be conducted in St. Martin of Tours Roman Catholic Church. The couple will honeymoon in Hawaii. Upon their return, Margaret plans to continue her career, Harold his studies.

Margaret says they met four years ago on a double date with other partners. They have been going steady a year.

Harold is the son of Harold R. Allen, an aircraft design specialist. Margaret's mother, Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, a former dancer, died a year ago.

Margaret decided she wanted to be a movie actress at the age of three. It was not until she was five that she made it.

A picture of Margaret on a magazine cover resulted in her first picture assignment — a government short film starring James Cagney. Then she appeared with Mickey Rooney in "Babes on Broadway."

Margaret became a star in her next picture, "Journey for Margaret," portraying a British war orphan.

Starring roles followed in "The Lost Angel," "Canterville Ghost," "Meet Me in St. Louis" and many others.

She was earning $2,500 a week when she was nine.

She won an Academy Award in 1944 as the best child actress and was named one of the 10 top box-office stars in 1945 and 1946.

BELL BOOK AND CANDIE

DEAR ABBY PAIN IN THE NECK

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I shouldn't feel this way, but I can't help it. I just celebrated my fifteenth wedding anniversary and my husband didn't even send me a card.

He's perfect in every way. He doesn't drink, curse or chase. He brings home his pay check in one piece and he worships me and the children. But he says that birthdays, anniversaries and even Mother's Day are "just another day."

I know he loves me, but when I get together with my friends and sisters-in-law and they ask me what he gave me for my anniversary, I am speechless. Am I wrong to feel hurt?

"HURT" DEAR HURTY: A woman who is married to a man who "worships" her and the children, doesn't drink, curse or chase and who brings home his pay check in one piece, shouldn't complain when he doesn't make a fuss over her one day a year. Count your blessings. And when anyone asks you what your husband gave you for your anniversary, say, "Fifteen of the happiest years of my life."

DEAR ABBY: My doctor says I should have a husband, but my boyfriend is in no hurry. I am 29 and my boyfriend is 31 and we have been going around together since 1946. He is working steady and so am I. My hope chest is so full I can't close the lid. My doctor says when I settle down with a nice loving man I will get rid of the pains in my neck. How can I get my boyfriend to set a date for the wedding and keep it?

WANTING TO MARRY DEAR WANTING: A boyfriend who balks at the hitching post after a 13-year courtship is enough to give any girl a pain in the neck. Tell him it's "Now or Never!" Stalls are for horses.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is one of those men who never knows anything when I ask him what is new, but when I give him a piece of gossip he says, "I heard that two months ago." I ask him how come he didn't tell me about it and he says, "I didn't think you'd be interested." Now if that isn't grounds for homicide, what is?

READY TO SHOOT DEAR READY: Hold your fire. Your husband is as normal as blueberry pie!

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who borrows my cake pans, pie tins, salad bowls, etc., and never returns them. Right now she has more of my pans and bowls than I have.

We are good friends and trade favors, such as watching each other's kids and marketing for each other. But this doesn't help me get my stuff back.

I am not the nifty type. Can you suggest a way for me to get my property back without offending her?

NO NERVE DEAR NO: If you have one pie tin or cake pan left, bake something you know she likes and take it over to her. Before you leave say, "Would you mind if I removed it from the pan as I have no more at home—which reminds me, while I'm here, Dear, may I please take back those pans and bowls? I could certainly use them." Exit, smiling and triumphant.

To get ABBY's booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Legislators Leave After Job's Done

AUSTIN (AP)—Only the porters worked today in the Texas House and Senate.

The chambers were quiet after the departure of 181 legislators, whose tax and spending arguments echoed for the past 201 days.

Final adjournment came at 3 p.m. Thursday. Many members already were gone. Others were packing or saying farewells.

Tension mounted in the closing days. One scuffle came when Rep. Jack Richardson, Uvalde, threw a desk calendar at Sen. George Parkhouse, Dallas.

In another, Rep. Jerry Sadler, Percilia, popped Rep. Louis Dugas, Orange, with a roundhouse. The action came after the House defeated Dugas' resolution saying Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was not welcome in Texas.

"It looks like Khrushchev has won again and Sadler, his sidekick," Dugas said. Then Sadler hit him. Dugas apologized later and they shook hands.

Rep. Tony Fenoglio, Nocona, entertained the House reading telegrams sent to Richardson. He and Parkhouse tangled over local bills.

"Have signed contract for you to fight Swede Nov. 25," a telegram said "please stay in shape mauling all senators."

"More power to you," another telegram said. "P. S. You know what kind of business we're in if you need us."

"That's from an undertaker," Fenoglio said.

The back rooms in the House and Senate had the most activity with final typing and preparation of approved bills.

A Senate resolution praised Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey for his "courage, impartiality and integrity." The House applauded and approved a resolution honoring its appropriations conferees for "bulldog determination" in not yielding to the Senate. It specifically pointed to the House victory in keeping state insurance board members salaries at a higher level than wanted by the Senate.

A House resolution directed the State Highway Commission to give $100 a year pay raises to its employees.

Another set aside 10 parking places around the Capitol for use by representatives between sessions.

Bracero Rule WESLACO (AP) — The Department of Labor says it has recommended no change from last week in the price to be paid braceros for picking cotton in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Socialite Dies MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Ragnar A. Hummel, 72, Milwaukee and New York socialite and former board chairman of the Lone Star Cement Corp., died Thursday after a short illness. Hummel, who was born in Sweden, retired last year as board chairman of Lone Star, the world's largest cement company.

NAACP Leader's Wife Asks He Be Taken To Asylum DALLAS (AP) — The wife of U. Simpson Tate, regional counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), asked Thursday for an order committing Tate to a mental hospital.

The petition was filed in probate and lunacy court, requesting a 90-day commitment for the Dallas Negro lawyer.

Mrs. Tate told the court her husband is under treatment at a hospital here.

Probate Judge F. W. Bartlett said he will not act on the petition until he receives a complete report from the hospital.
