IKE OPENS OFFICE

Gettysburg Hotel Now U. S. Capitol

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower set up business headquarters in the Hotel Gettysburg today for his vacation stay out of Washington. The move took Gettysburg by surprise. With one exception—the five weeks he spent at his farm home recuperating from his heart attack in 1955—the President has operated at the farm whenever he was here. In 1955 Eisenhower used an office in the post office building.

This was the second unexpected move of the current Eisenhower visit. Sunday it was announced that he will move up his departure for Europe by one day to visit Bonn for a conference with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before going on to London and Paris for talks with other Western leaders.

An apparent purpose of that change is to reassure Adenauer that West Germany will not be left in the lurch by Eisenhower's forthcoming talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Eisenhower will see Adenauer Aug. 27.

While it has been stated all along that Eisenhower would see Adenauer while abroad, observers had been under the impression the chancellor would go to London or Paris rather than having Eisenhower go to Bonn.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty came here to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters to tell reporters Eisenhower had accepted Adenauer's invitation.

The President is looking forward to the opportunity to meet the chancellor and discuss with him "current problems of interest to the United States and the Federal Republic," Hagerty said.

Traveling by jet plane — the first time a U.S. President has done so — Eisenhower will arrive in Bonn Aug. 27 for the talks with Adenauer, and travel to London that evening for a five-day stay.

SHUT DOWN CONTRACTS

Crisis In Federal Highway Construction Looming Near

AUSTIN (AP)—A crisis in financing federal aid highway projects in Texas could develop and shut down future contract letting in September, state highway engineer D. C. Greer said today. But the Texas Highway Commission, Greer said, is "proceeding on confidence that something will be done by Congress to avert such an economic blow."

COLLECTORS QUIZZED

Toll Bridge Fees Are Short $750,000

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Operators of the Centennial Bridge over the Mississippi River between Rock Island and Davenport, Iowa, have suspended all 13 toll collectors, after disclosing a shortage in toll funds up to $750,000.

Acting on information supplied by state authorities and the FBI, the bridge commission Sunday suspended the collectors. City policemen took over their jobs in the emergency.

Bernard J. Moran, Rock Island County state's attorney, said a wholesale looting of tolls probably started soon after the bridge, owned by the city, was opened in 1940. The bridge is used by an average of 10,000 autos and 2,000 trucks daily. Davenport's population is 81,000; Rock Island's about 50,000 and nearby Moline, Ill., 41,000.

The commission decided Sunday, at a hastily called meeting, to install automatic toll-collecting equipment on the bridge immediately.

Franklin Wingard of Rock Island, chairman of the commission, said thefts were made possible by defective design of a treadle system which automatically counted vehicles passing over the bridge and helped compute what each owed.

Moran said the treadle would be turned off at certain periods, and collectors would pocket the coins taken in during those times.

Two other methods of theft were used, he said. Many bridge crossings for which auto tolls were collected were entered as free passages by police and other public officials for which 60 passes were outstanding.

The third gimmick was recording a passenger car-and-trailer toll after collecting the higher three-axle rate fixed for commercial truck-trailer rigs.

Last April 29, a toll collector refused to participate in the scheme and told Moran about it. The informer said the daily loot ran from $7.50 to $40 a day.

Moran said the toll collector then pretended to engage in the looting and turned over his daily take to Moran.

Fifteen FBI agents moved in on May 25. They set up headquarters in a hotel at the foot of the bridge on the Iowa side and used electric equipment to count the vehicles crossing the bridge.

'EXTREMELY CRITICAL'

Lone Surviving Vet Of Civil War Near Death

HOUSTON (AP)—Gen. Walter Williams, 116, America's lone surviving veteran of the Civil War, was reported "sinking" today by his personal physician, Dr. Russell Wolfe.

"He isn't in extremely critical condition at this time, but he is sinking," the doctor said.

The aged veteran has had no nourishment for several days other than a mixture of milk, egg and water.

This has been fed to him with an eyedropper, the general's daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowen, reported.

"The general," Dr. Wolfe, "is getting weaker day by day. There's nothing much we can do about it."

The doctor said Williams had won his recent bout with pneumonia.

"The battle sapped his strength, however," he said.

Williams was a forger with Hood's Texas Brigade in the Confederate forces.

4.75 Million Bale Cotton Crop In Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's first forecast of the year put the cotton crop today at 14,815,000 bales.

The Texas crop was estimated at 4,750,000 bales, an average of 362 pounds to the acre on acreage planted to cotton.

This is 3,303,000 bales more than last year's crop of 11,512,000 bales. It compares also with the ten-year (1948-57) average of 14,046,000 bales.

Cotton is being grown under a new federal program designed to open up broader markets by lowering price supports — and hence market prices — to growers. It permitted growers to overplant acreage allotments if they were willing to accept lower price guarantees.

This year's crop will be supplemented by a reserve and carry-over of about 8,800,000 bales from past crops. Most of this is held by the department under price support operations.

Today's report estimated the acreage to be harvested this year at 14,991,000 acres compared with 11,849,000 last year and 21,076,000 for the ten-year average.

The yield of cotton per harvested acre was forecast at 474 pounds compared with 466 pounds last year and 329 for the ten-year average.

The production of American-Egyptian type — long staple — cotton was forecast at 71,800 bales compared with 83,600 last year and 49,700 for the ten-year average.

The production estimate for states included: Oklahoma 395,000 bales, New Mexico 330,000 and California 1,890,000.

The Texas production estimate of 4,750,000 bales would be an increase of 400,000 bales from last season's harvest.

The prediction compares with the 10-year average of 3,937,000 bales.

The Census Bureau said 141,444 bales from this year's crop were ginned prior to Aug. 1. This compared with 212,569 ginned last year.

The department said preliminary reports on acreage measurements in some states indicate that underplanting of cotton allotments this year was larger than estimated a month ago.

The department said the crop is generally early in California, Mississippi and Arkansas.

In South Texas, the crop is well advanced, the report said, and a good crop is in prospect. Elsewhere in the state, rainy, cloudy weather from late June through the first three weeks of July resulted in excellent growth. Prospects continued to improve in late July with hot clear weather and generally adequate soil moisture conditions prevailing.

Prospects, in New Mexico were reported generally good to excellent.

The department said that if the ratio of lint production to cottonseed production is the same as the average for the past five years, production of cottonseed this year would be 6,149,000 tons compared with 4,798,000 last year.

Violence In State Takes Lives Of 21

Shootings and traffic mishaps vied for the lead in the list of Texas killers last weekend. At least 21 persons died violently.

Reports for the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday listed 10 persons shot to death and eight killed in traffic.

Deaths included: William R. Burkart, 34-year-old Sheppard AFB staff sergeant, died when riddled with 12 bullets in what police called "a thunderstorm of bullets" Sunday night in Irving. A 29-year-old Dallas man was jailed.

Floyd Cannon, 21, of Sulphur Springs was killed Saturday when hit in the chest by part of a cream separator at the North Texas Producers plant there.

Beverly Medlock, 18 months, was killed by a delivery truck at Odessa Saturday.

Robert Earl Hawkins, 5, a Negro boy, was shot to death accidentally Saturday by a 12-gauge shotgun held by a 7-year-old brother.

A hunting accident killed 14-year-old James Marvin Stewart of Dallas Saturday near Temple. The youth was shot with a .22 caliber pistol while hunting rabbits with a friend.

An auto flipped over into a ditch near Dallas Saturday night, killing 24-year-old Norman O. Brigman of Greenville.

A Houston tavern keeper, Robert Collier, 21, was shot to death Saturday. His 16-year-old wife of two months told police she shot him "because he was going to leave me."

Benjamin Porter of Dallas was stabbed during a cafe brawl early Sunday in Dallas.

A souped-up car flipped over twice in Houston Saturday, killing Wilson Kelsie, 16, Houston.

Kingsley Oliveras Cavazos, 36, was found strangled to death in her home in Raymondville Saturday.

A Negro was shot to death and another wounded in a gun duel in front of a North Dallas drive-in Sunday. Killed was Bennie McBride, 27.

Joe Villareal, 32, San Antonio, died Sunday in a three-vehicle accident 12 miles south of San Antonio.

Robert Price, 32, Odessa, a drilling company employe, was found shot to death at his home Sunday.

Carroll Hill, 20, of Texarkana, died Sunday when his car and a truck collided east of Maud.

Brush Fire Takes Lives Of Two Men

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Two firemen died today of burns suffered when they and 26 others tried to make a stand against a rushing wall of flames near Lake Elsinore.

Two were burned critically and the other 24 less seriously. The 28 were trapped Saturday as flames raged through tall, thick brush on the slopes above the Elsinore resort area.

Rusty Brooks, 24, U. S. Forest Service foreman, and Ben Slatler, 31, a district manager from the Cleveland National Forest, died in a hospital.

Small Band Armed Invaders Repelled

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government intensified a news blackout today in the face of unconfirmed reports that a large number of civilians and regular army men had been arrested to smash a military conspiracy against the revolutionary regime.

Official silence also greeted queries about reports of abortive sea and air strikes at the small Isle of Pines, off Cuba's southwest coast.

Camp Libertad just outside Havana, where a number of those arrested were reported being questioned was closed off to civilians. By midnight even telephone calls went unanswered.

One official source reported earlier that 200 or more men were arrested on suspicion of plotting against Castro's eight-month-old regime. Officials at the presidential palace had denied, however, that the number detained had reached 1,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter today called on the foreign ministers of the American republics to examine candidly the Caribbean tensions and to adopt steps that will ease them.

Herter's plea was made in a statement prepared for his departure from National Airport for a conference of the ministers in Santiago, Chile, which opens Wednesday. The session is aimed at calming unrest in the Caribbean.

It is the first such conference called by the Organization of American States to deal with affairs within the hemisphere.

Dominican Republic landed by sea and transport plane late Friday and early Saturday in a futile effort to free prisoners on the Isle of Pines. Castro forces broke up both attempts and captured a number of the raiders.

Twenty-eight mechanics of the rebel air force are being held at Carnagey after the crash of a bomber that killed the pilot and injured two others. Rebel troops there have been restricted to quarters.

Two conspirators were killed and 15 others captured in a battle with rebel troops at Cienfuegos, about 130 miles east of Cuba.

INVASION TRIES

Although Raul Castro, Fidel's brother and commander in chief of the armed forces, denied invasion attempts had been made, reliable sources insisted that counterrevolutionaries made the attempts on the Isle of Pines. Radio-telephone communications with the island were out, but commercial air connections were normal.

Several shots were fired from a speeding auto Saturday night at Castro's villa in a Havana suburb. The gunmen escaped despite police roadblocks Castro reportedly was away at the time.

After weeks of indecision, the cabinet finally decided Sunday to send a delegation to the meeting this week in Santiago, Chile, of the Organization of American States (OAS). An announcement said Foreign Minister Raul Roa would head a seven-man delegation.

On Vacation

NEW YORK (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren will spend several days in Russia to get a glimpse of how the Russians live. He and his wife left Sunday by plane for Moscow. The trip is part of a month-long European vacation.

Farmer Charged In Murder Of His Wife

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Charges of murder were filed Sunday against Ralph Cavazos, Wilacy County farmer, in the slaying of his wife.

Mrs. Cavazos, 36-year-old nurse, was found strangled in her home Saturday.

Commission Sets Tax Rates For Common School Districts

County commissioners set the rates for four common school districts this morning and considered their own tax levy but postponed making a decision.

County Supt. Walker Bailey presented a list of rates for the four common school districts, and the commissioners okayed them. The rates: Gay Hill $1.50, Vealmoor $1, Elbow $1.75, and Center Point $2.20.

Hudson Landers brought up the matter of lowering the county tax rate, but the group decided to wait until the budget hearing before setting the rate. The budget meeting will probably be held the middle of September, possibly Sept. 14.

Ellis Iden came before the court and asked that the voting box at Soash be restored. The Soash box in the northwestern part of the county was removed about two years ago. The commissioners, after considerable discussion, asked him to return with a petition bearing the names of persons involved in the area before it officially made the change.

P. O. Hughes moved to allow the new box with voting to be done at the old Baptist church at Vealmoor but a possible change involving the precinct boundary was brought up. Thus the commissioners asked for the petition. Under consideration was a change in the Vealmoor area which would take parts of four sections out of L. J. Davidson's precinct and place them in Hughes' precinct. Davidson said he had no objections if the voters were favorable.

This led to the proposal that Iden return with a petition bearing the names of the citizens. The change would bring Vealmoor into the Soash box, but the voting place would be called Vealmoor. The change in precincts would involve citizens living in the Howard County parts of Sections 27, 28, 29 and 30, Block 32, Township 3-North, T&P Survey, east of Vealmoor.

Cotton Coats Take Many Finishes

As breezes stiffen and storm clouds gather, cotton rainwear for fall is more than ready to meet the challenge—any time and any place.

Exciting new silhouettes are appearing on the horizon. Rainshirts, like a Granny's nightgown, and two-piece suits, hacking coats and copies of Parisian gendarmes' capes all make a debut.

Modified trenchcoats in velveteen, cotton twill, iridescent poplin, cotton satin and corduroy have remobilized in wonderful new editions.

Fur collars, hoods and linings are lavished on corduroys, velveteens and poplins—adding luxurious beauty to comfort. Fur collared jackets and car coats are everywhere.

Heavy cotton knits accent deep collars, sleeves and pockets; and add warmth as linings.

The coat with two lives, the reversible, is found in every element of rainwear. Highly styled theatre coats and capes reverse from solid velveteen to printed velveteen. These are usually fur collared and hooded.

"Now I'm regular every morning!"

Luther Howes, Springfield, Mo., has found the common-sense way to correct constipation caused by lack of bulk. He writes: "Five or six months ago I was taking laxatives. Now I don't need anything but Kellogg's All-Bran to keep me regular every morning."

Millions of others are making the same discovery. Kellogg's All-Bran is effective because it is a natural, bulk-forming cereal food. Just a half-cup serving with milk each day gives you all the good food bulk required for youthful regularity.

Try Kellogg's All-Bran for 10 days—let it work for you, too.

AWARD AWAITS HIM

Evil Spirit Fails Deter Postmaster

INDIAN WELLS, Ariz. (AP)—The postmaster of this tiny Navajo reservation community will be honored Friday by the Post Office Department for defying a superstition as old as man himself.

The postmaster is Herbert S. Hukriede, 50, and behind the award he is to receive is a story of death, fear and friendship that goes back to the hot afternoon of July 15.

That day, Harry Joe, a 17-year-old Navajo, was struck and killed by lightning while tending a flock of sheep near his family's Hogan.

His elderly parents found his body lying under an abandoned wagon. Joe had been struck dead by the evil spirit of lightning, they believed, and an ancient Navajo superstition came back to haunt them. They refused to go near their son's body.

Indian police also refused to touch the corpse.

"They built a fire about 50 yards from the body that night," Hukriede recalled Sunday, "but they wouldn't go near it. Next day they asked me to help."

Hukriede transported the body to the mission.

"They wanted a Christian burial for the boy," he replied, "but the missionary, Glen Davis, wasn't due back until the next day. It was pretty hot, so I sent a couple of the boy's relatives over to Holbrook to get some block ice so I could cool the body."

On July 17, Davis conducted the services at an Indian burial ground beside the mission. Hukriede dropped young Joe's saddle, his lariat, a few pieces of cheap jewelry and an empty suitcase into the grave.

From a hillside a quarter mile away the dead boy's family watched the ceremony. Superstition prevented them from going any closer.

"They think they'll go blind or something if they touch anything that has been hit by lightning," Hukriede explained. "They won't even touch a stone or stick that's been struck."

Hukriede's award — for public service above and beyond the call of duty — will be presented by Asst. Postmaster General Eugene Lyons in a ceremony at Indian Wells.

Angry Bull Gores Promoter To Death

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—A bull-fight promoter was killed and two companions were gored Sunday when they leaped into the ring to escape a rampaging bull and encountered three other beasts just let loose. The promoter was talking with the other men when a bull escaped from his pen into the corridor adjacent to the ring. The trio jumped the fence into the ring and encountered the other bulls.

Opera Star Wins Spaghetti Lawsuit

ROME (AP) — The Rome Appeals Court has confirmed that the slim figure of soprano Maria Meneghini Callas doesn't owe anything to Prince Marcantonio Pacelli's nonfattening spaghetti.

A court ruling was made public today affirming that Pacelli's pasta company damaged Miss Callas' "decorum" by advertising that its "physiological pasta" had taken 44 pounds off the once-bulky opera star. The court ordered the two sides to negotiate the amount of damages.

Relief Agencies Move Into Stricken Oregon Community

Digging For Diamonds

Jack West, Roseburg, Ore., jeweler probes shattered glass from his store windows for diamonds blown out of the shop after an explosion of a truck loaded with dynamite and chemicals. At least 11 persons were killed in the blast and damage was extensive. (AP Wirephoto)

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP)—Relief agencies sped aid to this stricken southern Oregon city today as construction workers battered down the charred remnants of blasted buildings.

Eight blocks of the business district were reduced to rubble early Friday when a parked truck, loaded with 6 1/2 tons of explosives, blew up. The blast was touched off by a fire in a nearby building.

At least 13 persons were killed. More than 100 were injured. Property damage in a 23-block area around the blast scene totals more than 10 million dollars.

Financial relief began pouring in shortly after Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield established a Roseburg Relief Fund. The little western Oregon town of Drain, with a population of 1,200, contributed $1,000.

The Red Cross set up an office to take care of emergency medical expenses and housing. The Small Business Administration is taking applications for loans from homeowners and businessmen who can't get money from other sources.

City and state agencies set up meetings to help get the city back on its feet. Mayor Arlo Jacklin travels to Salem today for a conference with Hatfield and Red Cross disaster Director Richard Gordon.

Talk To Reds Or Fight 'Em --- Nixon Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — You either talk to the Russians or eventually you are going to fight them, Vice President Richard M. Nixon has told American television audiences.

"The alternative, to me, is unacceptable, not only for us, but to them, and for the world generally," Nixon said.

Nixon expressed his views Sunday on the exchange of visits by top U.S. and Soviet officials while narrating CBS and NBC telecasts of films made during his recent visit to the Soviet Union.

His opinions were in reply to the criticism that his trip and the scheduled exchange of visits by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower are hypocritical and immoral.

Nixon said he considered it essential, in recognizing the differences between the United States and the U.S.S.R. that they not be discussed by trading insults 5,000 miles apart.

"What we should do," Nixon said, "is to sit down around the conference table, where we can, so that there will be no miscalculation on the part of either side as to the strength of the will that either side possesses."

Nixon gave these impressions of Khrushchev: He can do pretty much as he wants; he is sensitive about public opinion outside the Soviet Union; he is an articulate defender of his point of view; he knows how to grab the headlines, and he doesn't like to concede anything.

Texan Jailed In Gun Death

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Lloyd Burton Walker, 25, of Granville, Tex., was charged with reckless driving, speeding and failing to heed a siren in a chase here Sunday that led to the discovery of the death of a wealthy Raleigh merchant.

Officers traced the ownership of the Cadillac Walker was driving to William Trent Ragland, Sr., 64. They later found Ragland's body in a cabin. He had been shot through the neck with a .22 rifle.

A few hours before his arrest, Walker was released from a prison camp near Ragland's summer camp after serving a 60-day sentence for vagrancy.

The investigation was to be continued today.

Sport Frenzy Via Hypnotism Planned

TORQUAY, England (AP) — A 65-year-old hypnotist says he has been retained by two British soccer teams to try and charm them into a goal-scoring frenzy.

Henry Blythe said today he will go to work on the lowly Gloucester City Club and a "famous Scottish first division team" which he declined to name.

"My task will be to try and restore confidence to the players," Blythe said. "I shall give them hypnotic help."

Fear Grips City; Mad Killer Sought

WESTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Uneasiness spread over Long Island today as police stepped up the search for a killer they say has struck three times—and may strike again.

Three people have been shot to death during holdups around midnight, all within a week. In each case the victim was working alone, in a diner or delicatessen. Macy businesses are closing earlier since the third shooting last Friday night. A 50-year-old woman, bound and gagged, was found shot to death in the diner she owned. The cash register was empty.

All three victims were shot with a .32-caliber pistol. But police say ballistics tests show that several guns were used. Despite this, they believe the killings were the work of the same man.

The latest victim, Irene Currier, had just purchased the diner with her husband. They had saved the money working as a bartender and waitress in Manhattan.

The other two victims were Hans Hachmann, 54, who ran a delicatessen at Islip, N.Y., and Lawrence Kirchner, 33, a counterman in an all night diner near Smithtown, N.Y. All three killings took place in a 30-mile-wide area.

Three Youths Killed; Texas Autoist Held

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A Texan faced an investigation of manslaughter today after his car struck and killed three teen-age boys at Stead AFB Saturday.

T. Sgt. Alvaro R. Hernon, 36, San Antonio, was released under bond to air police at Stead.

The victims—Lee Orr, 14, son of civilian parents in Reno; and Walters, 14, sons of military personnel on the base—were walking home from a party.

Free Ride For Stubborn Hen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ruffles didn't take kindly to having her nest moved, so she and her five eggs got a free trip to Oklahoma and back.

L. H. McDonald, Dallas truck driver, discovered the setting hen in her nest atop the gas tank of his truck.

When McDonald tried to move the nest, Ruffles pecked his hand, so he left her, nest and eggs where he found them and headed for Oklahoma.

Back in Dallas, McDonald looked at the gas tank. Ruffles and the eggs survived the trip.

Shark-Free Pool In Bay Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—State Senator J. Eugene McAteer Sunday proposed a tropical lagoon in chilly San Francisco Bay shielded from sharks.

He asked the state park commission to wall in aquatic park, with a sliding panel allowing small boats in and out. He said large steam boilers could raise the temperature five degrees for swimming comfort.

Chairman Joseph E. Knowland said the commission is glad to consider the proposal... but financing is doubtful.

Frank Parker Wins Citation

Frank Parker, business agent of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 826 of Big Spring, was awarded a certificate for completing the courses at the Texas State AFL-CIO's annual summer institute last Friday.

The Big Spring labor official was one of 50 students attending the Austin school sponsored by the state labor organization in cooperation with the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest. Students were housed and classes were held in the seminary's facilities.

Bartending Job Falls To Raider

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Ivan Smith, state liquor enforcement chief, got mistaken for a bartender when he and nine of his agents staged a 3 a.m. raid on a secluded bootleg den Sunday.

So rapidly did Smith slip into the rustic-type building, well-hidden on a thickly wooded farm just southwest of here, that when he got behind the bar to grab the bartender, several customers ordered drinks from him, he said.

The liquor agents arrested three persons and seized two cases of whiskey and 30 cases of beer.

Costly Plan Devised Put Out Old Fire

CARBODALE, Pa. (AP) — A three-million dollar three-year project will start here soon to eliminate an underground mine fire that threatens to spread under the city's business district.

The underground fire broke out in 1946 on the west side of this northeastern Pennsylvania community. Since then, in addition to proving fatal in 1952 to an elderly couple who died of carbon monoxide poisoning, the fire's noxious fumes have made hundreds of others ill.

Officials over the years have tried to kill the fire by drilling holes into the earth and pumping silt-bearing water into them. This has proved unsuccessful.

Engineers feel that the earth must be ripped apart to get at the mine fire and put it out once and for all. Steam shovels will dig out huge trenches in a carefully planned pattern to surround and seal off the fire. Then the burning coal will be taken out, dumped on high ground and sprayed with water.

The fire broke out when rubbish dumped by the city into abandoned coal stripping craters in the 130-acre area started burning. Before the fire could be put out, exposed coal deposits were ignited. The flames raced underground through a network of abandoned mine tunnels.

As a precaution against the fumes, many families keep fans running in cellars and sleep with windows partly open. Inspectors check gas concentrations in homes on a 24-hour schedule to alert families of possible danger.

The federal government plans to spend two million dollars and the state another million to dig out the fire. But first families must be moved from the 130-acre area threatened by the fire. Their homes are being purchased so that the first phase of excavation can get under way.

The mine fire has been an additional burden to the community which is trying to rebuild its economy dealt a severe blow by the decline of anthracite mining.

Cafe Refuses To Serve Negroes; Official Jailed

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Negro alderman and two companions were arrested Sunday night in a north St. Louis restaurant which refused to serve them.

When Alderman William L. Clay and his friends refused to leave, the hostess at the Howard Johnson restaurant, Miss Dorothy Congleton, 32, called police.

Booked with Clay on charges of disturbing the peace were Ray Howard of St. Louis and Robert L. Schwerdtmann of suburban Richmond Heights. Schwerdtmann is white.

The three men filed a peace disturbance charge against Miss Congleton and she also was booked. The four were released on bonds of $500 each and are scheduled to appear today in city court.

Clay, a Democrat, is chairman of an aldermanic committee which has scheduled hearings next month on charges of racial discrimination in city construction projects.

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II disappointed a huge crowd of her subjects who descended on Balmoral Sunday to see their sovereign on the first Sunday since announcement that she is expecting her third child. Elizabeth did not come to Craigmiles Church, less than half a mile from the castle. Instead she asked the Church of Scotland — Presbyterian — pastor to hold services inside the well-guarded castle.

Nikita Could Bring Gift Of Value — Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, 85 today, says Nikita Khrushchev could bring with him to the United States the greatest gift mankind has received in 1,000 years — peace. "But this is unlikely to be the result of the visit," the former President added. "He could interpret his oft-repeated statement as to peaceful coexistence," Hoover said Sunday, "as eliminating all international demands, all warnings, all threats, and all conspiracies against free people."

Such a move, said Hoover, could win the Soviet premier "immortality among the leaders of all men." But, he added, the possibility that Khrushchev would make such a move is remote because "the tactics of the Communists may change, but their determination to dominate the world continues." Hoover appeared on "Meet the Press" over NBC-TV. The forthcoming visit of the Soviet leader has hopeful possibilities, said Hoover. It could lead to a decrease in tension that might tide us over for a period in which there may be hopes of greater steps in peace," he said. Meanwhile, he said, "We must not be lulled into any complacency. We must be alert and armed to the teeth."

Only one other former president, John Adams, celebrated more birthdays than Hoover. Adams died when he was 90. The ruddy-faced, white-haired Hoover has a simple formula for longevity — work. He illustrates it today by spending his birthday at his desk. He keeps six secretaries busy with his massive correspondence and activities in various organizations. He indicated in the interview that he was confident of America's ability to meet any crisis that might occur, and to defend herself successfully if necessary. But he also saw room for improvement.

He saw need to curb "inflation, unbalanced budgets, overspending by Congress, and the growth of crime." He was outspoken on the need for improving the American educational system.

"We have one great difficulty in our competition with Russia," he said, "and I think it is greater than all others, and that is the lag in our training of the best brains we have in the United States, the creation of enough scientists and engineers to carry our productive system forward. The Russians are outnumbering us about five to one in these professions which we are solely dependent upon for our defense and for our progress and well-being. I think we ought to reorganize the high schools of the United States where we have a system which lacks entirely in discipline and in effective training."

Favorite Son Candidates On Their Way Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The contest for the Democratic presidential nomination appears to be tightening, with indications that top contenders may be able to push some favorite sons out of the running early in 1960.

The 51st Annual Governors' Conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico, last week gave little apparent support to the aspirations of Democratic Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

Meyner and Williams were unusually vocal in conference sessions but it was not noticeable that they made any political headway. Neither was there any outward surge of support for any of the other potential candidates.

Among the Democratic governors there was a recognition that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) has at least secondary support in all the favorite son states. There was also an awareness of a continuing strong sentiment for Adlai E. Stevenson, who says he isn't making a third try for the party's nomination.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota got a polite reception—but no public recruits—when he sang the praises of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn). Humphrey is billing himself these days as a sort of favorite son of the Middle West.

There was discussion, but again no burst of support, for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Humphrey is pitching his entire campaign on the assumption he can beat Kennedy in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. If he should lose there, he probably would be out of the race quickly.

Kennedy is almost certain to challenge Gov. Michael V. DeSalle in Ohio's May 3 primary if the latter assays a favorite son role. The Massachusetts senator is determined also that Gov. J. Millard Tawes shall not block Maryland off from him with an unstruck delegate state.

There have even been hints that Kennedy might take on Meyner in New Jersey's April 19 primary, although the result of the vote would not be binding on the delegates. Pennsylvania, where Gov. David L. Lawrence remains publicly undecided, also may offer Kennedy a target in its April 26 non-binding primary.

The one state that seems to be Kennedy-proof, so to speak, is California. There Gov. Edmund G. Brown has erected a fence against candidates in the primary that neither Kennedy nor Humphrey seems ready at this point to attempt to leap.

In a reversal of what appears to be the static fortunes of other favorite sons, Brown now gives the appearance of a man who has thought the matter over and has come to the conclusion he is about as well qualified for first place on the ticket as any of the others.

American Student Held For Larceny

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Dutch police today arrested an American classical student accused of stealing $19,000 from a state liquor store his father manages in Seabrook, N.H.

Emory N. Eaton Jr., 26, was arrested in an Amsterdam hotel as an undesirable alien after police were informed of press reports on the alleged theft.

In Concord, N.H., Deputy Atty. Gen. Warren Waters said his government would seek Eaton's extradition. Eaton arrived in Amsterdam Wednesday by plane from the United States.

Posse Hunts Missing Man

CANYON (AP) — Randall County Sheriff L. S. (Slim) Johnston organized a mounted posse Sunday to search for Douglas B. Peterson, 27, Abilene, who had been reported drowned Saturday.

Volunteers and lawmen searched around Buffalo Lake after they were unable to locate Peterson's body in the water.

Norbert Peterson of Amarillo, brother of the Abilene man, said he towed the missing man to shallow water near shore after Douglas Peterson fell out of a boat as they checked trout lines. The Amarillo man said he swam back to get the boat and returned to find his brother gone.

Slayer Riddles Rival With Barrage Of Shots

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—A Dallas man, 29, pulled a pistol from a hollowed-out book and riddled Air Force Sgt. William Burkart with 12 bullets last night, police said. Police termed the shooting "a thunderstorm of bullets."

Burkart, 34, stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, died at the home of a woman reportedly "informally engaged" to the man who did the shooting. The book was used to conceal the weapon, according to a statement witnessed by newsmen. The man said he emptied the pistol at Burkart, reloaded and fired six more times. Then he calmly waited for police to arrive.

A Devotional For Today

Ye shall be witnesses unto me. (Acts 1:8)

He Sparked The Warm Glow

In the opinion of the highbrow set, Edgar A. Guest was not a poet but a writer of jingles and such. But in reporting his death in Detroit last week just short of his 78th birthday, the AP said Mr. Guest was "a newspaper poet who wrote verses that plain people liked."

He did that—at least one a day for most of his adult life, verses that later appeared in 17 different books with his name on the title page.

For many years Mr. Guest's daily jingle appeared in many papers. When most of them were discontinued for some reason or other there usually no more than two or three reprints.

But his readers were like Mr. Guest and his verses—quiet, unassuming and unpretentious—nothing spectacular, just something to read and smile at, or feel a momentary warm glow over, to understand and appreciate, then put aside. That's a lot more than you can say of about 90 per cent of the scribblers, some of whom won fame and fortune, writing today, including many who looked down their long noses at the mention of Edgar Guest's name.

At least his verses made sense, and hit a spot, or got themselves read by millions of people. That's something else you can't say of his severest critics.

And what would a generation of eulogists have done without Eddie Guest's "It takes a heap o' living to make a house home?"

An Ugly Attitude

On July 24 President Eisenhower signed the new foreign aid bill into law. Congress had inserted provisions intended to force the administration to comply with congressional requests for information.

On the same day a House Government Operations subcommittee asked the administration for information on the Viet Nam and Laos foreign aid program. (A best-selling book, "The Ugly American," had spotlighted that phase of foreign aid, and defenders of the program had denounced the book's criticism as exaggerated or misrepresentative.)

Well, the director of the International Cooperation Administration which bosses foreign aid refused the subcommittee's request last Thursday, the second such request that had been ignored, under the doctrine of "executive privilege."

That bull-necked attitude is the best way we can think of to have the public accept "The Ugly American" and charges of waste and inefficiency in administering foreign aid in general as gospel.

If ICA has nothing to hide, why be finicky about letting Congress have a look at the books?

And if Congress, from whom all monies flow, can't find out what's going on or what has gone on, who's going to believe that "The Ugly American" was exaggerated and misrepresentative?

Any attempt to keep the people ignorant of what's done with their money is just automatically going to be regarded as a cover-up for skulduggery, true or not. How about a no-information, no-money doctrine?

Marquis Childs Thorny Question Of Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON—With virtually no debate in Congress and little discussion in the country, far-reaching agreements providing America's NATO allies with nuclear weapons know-how and equipment have been approved.

It would have taken a resolution by both houses of Congress to reject the agreements submitted by the President. Among a minority there was a deep-seated fear that the agreements would freeze a pattern of nuclear armament throughout the NATO alliance. This would make it impossible in the event of a serious new effort at disarmament to try to work out a nuclear free zone in Central Europe.

Only a few members in the House expressed their doubts. The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy held secret hearings and approved the agreements. At the request of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota the Senate Foreign Relations Committee also held a hearing behind closed doors. Despite Humphrey's urging, the testimony was not released even in censored form. And when he ventured to speak about the agreements, Humphrey's approach was a cautious one.

To observers who have watched the constricting coils of secrecy close around areas of great public concern this seemed another sign that fear and distrust had prevailed over frank discussion of the consequences of providing European allies with know-how and equipment for using nuclear weapons. The next step, it was feared, would be to amend the basic Atomic Energy Act to give them the actual weapons. This cannot be done under present law.

With new members of the nuclear club—whether their card of admission was a gift from the United States or by forging their own initial weapon as France is doing—the problem of control of testing becomes much greater, if not impossible. The nine months of effort to come to an agreement with the Russians at Geneva on the control of nuclear tests has also been shrouded in a secrecy blanket.

Powerful forces principally within the Atomic Energy Commission have sought to frustrate any agreement. The AEC is conducting a costly experiment in a Louisiana salt mine to prove that it will be possible to cheat on any agreement that covers underground as well as atmospheric testing. Eventually this experiment may provide for the moving of a volume of earth equivalent to five to seven football fields—a vast undertaking—to show that a 90-kiloton explosion could be smothered by a process known as de-coupling.

A kind of underground debate has gone on within the government itself over the merits and demerits of a comprehensive agreement as compared to one which would ban only atmospheric tests. Because it has far greater resources of money and influence, the AEC has tended to dominate this subterranean debate. Recently Chairman John McCone flew several senators to Geneva to impress them and the public with the AEC viewpoint. The move came as a surprise to the State Department, which is responsible for the position of the American delegation.

While the public is unaware of it, those in government favoring an over-all agreement on testing have been arguing their case, too. This reporter has seen a confidential memorandum which states that the Soviets at Geneva have been forced to make "the vast majority of concessions both of minor and significant consequence in the efforts of both sides to reach common ground."

The memorandum points out that this was in part at least because the initial stand of the Soviet Union was "basically unrealistic and unreasonable." Yet it adds that the Soviet move "could properly be viewed as an indication of their willingness to reach a reasonable accord on the matter of halting tests."

The memorandum, based on the most thorough official knowledge of the talks at Geneva, also points out that "actually within the current negotiations (the Soviets) have to date accepted every U. S. requirement concerning control with the single exception of considering new data on underground detection."

With the impending visit of Premier Khrushchev this analysis—the other and largely submerged side of the debate on testing—takes on special importance. When he sits down with President Eisenhower, Khrushchev will not be content to talk friendly generalities. He will want to bring up details of the Geneva discussions and it will be well for the President to be forewarned with not merely one but both sides of the argument. NEW YORK (AP)—The need for more compact and rugged electronic equipment has produced tiny electron tubes that can operate in a furnace at 660 degrees Fahrenheit as well as in liquid nitrogen at 320 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

The thimble-size tubes called "Nuvistors" were developed by RCA to withstand shock and heat changes in space flight. They are expected to have extensive use in missiles, jets and military communications equipment.

Labor Bills Puzzle Even The Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you look blank—thinking of the various labor control bills now kicking around in Congress—don't worry. Only experts could understand them thoroughly. And they disagree.

This is one of the greatest mish-mashes in years. So most members of the House—which Tuesday begins debate on passing some kind of bill—will probably have only a vague idea of what they're doing.

None of them, unless he was a specialist in labor problems, could possibly know or guess all the implications in all the details and differences, major and minor, between the bills. For example:

A bill passed by the Senate months ago has 51 sections, scores of sub-sections and subdivisions. A bill approved by the House Labor Committee is similar to it but has at least 100 differences.

A third bill, similar to both of them, has some more differences of its own, and is much tougher on labor unions than either. Still a fourth bill, mildest of all but in many ways similar to the others, is not quite the same as any of them.

All four bills, because of a general feeling in Congress that some labor controls are needed, propose doing something to the extent of setting up rules and penalties against despotic, unfair and corrupt labor practices.

And all contain a "bill of rights," or protections for individual union members in voting and saying what they think. But, starting there, the bills go in opposite directions. They differ on penalties and protections.

And they differ on what questionable union practices should be banned.

House members will not be acting in a pure and pious vacuum. They'll have different motives for the way they vote, for what they put in a bill or take out.

Some, particularly Democrats, are under obligation to organized labor for helping them get elected in 1958. They know they may lose their seats in the 1960 election if labor turns against them for what they do now.

Some House members, in sympathy with labor, want a mild bill. Some others will honestly want a tough one. Still others will want a tough one because they seem to have an ingrained antagonism to organized labor.

And some Republicans, being politicians, may be thinking how best they can create a profitable issue for themselves and against the Democrats in 1960 on the subject of labor control.

That's not all. Most members of the House by now have probably been put under the great pressure by organized labor and big business, on opposite sides—of course, to vote tough or mild. The lobbying on a labor bill has been terrific.

Here's an example of the mish-mash:

First, there is the Kennedy bill, passed by the Senate 90-1 last April 25. It is named after its principal sponsor, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). But most organized labor, particularly the AFL-CIO, doesn't like it.

But President Eisenhower, as he revealed in his TV broadcast last week, doesn't like it, either. "Ineffective," he called it.

Then there's the Elliott bill—named after its chief sponsor, Rep. Carl Elliott (D-Ind.)—which was approved July 15 by the House Labor Committee although only five of the 30 committee members had a kind word for it.

The rest either denounced it or looked down their noses at it. The only reason they let it get out of their committee was to get it up to the House floor for debate, changes, and a vote. It will certainly be changed on the floor.

Although the Elliott bill has been called a middle-of-the-road attempt to control bad labor practices, Eisenhower considers it inadequate to do the job he says needs doing.

And AFL-CIO President George Meany, who doesn't like the Kennedy bill, doesn't like the Elliott bill, either. He said it would make it "extremely difficult" for an average union to do its normal business.

The bill Meany likes—sponsored by Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif.) and the mildest of all—seems to be the one with the least chance of it.

What Eisenhower—and a bunch of Republicans and Southern Democrats—wants to see passed is the Landrum-Griffin bill. This was offered by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.).

This bill, toughest of all, is the one Meany likes least.

Until Eisenhower pitched for the Landrum-Griffin bill it seemed likely a middle-of-the-road bill had the best chance of passage. Now the whole thing seems up for grabs.

SAC'S Job

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Delmar Wilson, commander of the 26th Air Division at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base near Tucson, describes the job of the Strategic Air Command this way:

"Our goal is to have the Soviet war planner turn to Mr. Khrushchev morning after morning and say, 'Comrade, today is not the day.'"

Around The Rim

The Turtle Gets Short-Changed

Carol (almost three) has reached the age where she gets blamed for everything around the household. Like the missing turtle.

A pet turtle, which you could hide in the palm of your hand, just doesn't hoist a leg over the side of a water basin and disappear. Someone must have decided the young fellow was going to drive himself daft chasing his tail around the circular bowl and needed to stretch his legs on the rug.

At any rate, the turtle upped and applied himself with vanishing cream and Carol got the blame.

Of course, the number one daughter doesn't get offended at such charges. Aim an accusation in her direction and she sheds it. Like water off a duck's back. She's a happy child and nothing fazes her. Around the Hart household, everyone is her patsy.

For a long time, we thought she wouldn't learn to ride the tricycle her grandmother bought her. Now, you take your life in your hands when you walk through the house. I'm afraid she could never pass a license bureau's driver's test, the way she put-putts about from room to room, looking for toes to mangle and unbreakable furniture to splinter. No challenge is too great.

Her favorite sport is running through the spray in the front yard. Back in her mind is transfixed the idea that she shouldn't get her dress or shoes wet, so she can think of more excuses for (1) getting out the front door, (2) turning on the water and (3) taking off her dress and shoes.

Her nimble mind keeps us all on the defensive.

The other day, she was home alone with her mother and baby sister. Evidently she grew bored because she approached her mother and started a conversation that went something like this:

"Let's go to town and buy a toy."

"We can't go, dear, Daddy has the car."

"Let's go to the variety store and buy a car."

"You don't buy cars at variety stores."

"We can go on my tricycle."

The turtle was probably glad to hit the grit, incidentally. Shortly before he disappeared, Carol had snatched him up and put him in her toy cash register. Where the dimes are supposed to go. He must have figured it was a long time between making change. The wife had to dismantle the cash register to rescue him. He seemed all too pleased to get back to his water basin.

Oh, yes, he turned up after he was missed the last time. Under the magazine rack in a distant room. I suspect he had fled there for reasons other than to catch up on his reading.

Omnia Vincit Amor

The "Cinderella" romance of Anne-Marie Rasmussen of Soegne, Norway, and Steven Rockefeller proves a good bit more than omnia vincit amor (or, you can't best Cupid).

It offers resounding proof that an American accent is now regarded in continental circles as on a par with the Oxford variety. For when Anne-Marie went to work as a kitchen maid in the home of her future parents-in-law, Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, she was following an established pattern by which the well-bred daughters of middle- and upper middle-class Norwegian and Swedish families perfect their English.

For decades such young ladies have gone into domestic service in upper-class British households, since continentalers have long cherished an Oxford accent. Only since World War II have more and more of these young girls elected to come to the United States to polish off their English with an American patina. As all Scandinavian girls, rich or poor, are taught to be excellent housewives, they have no difficulty in getting jobs.

The Head of Clan Robb and I can testify to the system, since we entertained a Norwegian Cinderella unawares. We only knew that we were blessed with a girl of very superior education and intelligence in our kitchen. We might never have known the real identity of Lenya Johannessen, which was not her name, if the postman had not left a letter at the apartment addressed to a "Col. M. S. Johannessen."

Lenya blushing explained that the colonel was her brother. He had just completed (under a NATO arrangement) a year of advance training at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Since the colonel, with his wife, was on the way to New York en route to Norway, his mail had been forwarded to Lenya.

As Add and I believe in people-to-people as well as government-to-government ties, we asked the colonel and his lady to stay with us while in New York. They turned out to be as intelligent, good-looking and delightful as Lenya.

The long and short of it is that this was the beginning of a Robb-Johannessen friendship that continues warm and hearty to this day. Eventually Lenya went home to be married to an Englishman she had met while working in London. (To our joy, they have since moved to New York.)

When Add and I visited Norway, Lenya's family invited us to visit them at their country house about 100 miles from Oslo. (And since then, Lenya's parents have visited her in New York and the Robbs, too.)

Only then did we learn that the colonel had escaped from Norway to England at the time of the Nazi occupation, and that three times he had parachuted back on Allied missions. Young as she was, Lenya had been a messenger in the underground. Her two young brothers had been seized and shipped off to Germany. One survived Belsen. The other contracted tuberculosis but eventually recovered.

Her father, prominent in the political life of Norway, was arrested and sentenced to hard labor because the Nazis suspected he was the center of the resistance movement in his district.

Now, just one other "Cinderella" story. Before Count Douglas, First Secretary of the Swedish Embassy, recently completed his tour duty in Washington, he and his countess gave a dinner party attended by one of my friends, who was stunned by the dazzling prettiness of the two young waitresses.

She warned Countess Douglas to keep the pair under wraps, or Hollywood could be expected to snatch them.

The hostess laughed and said she wasn't alarmed, since one waitress was her daughter and the other her niece! (Copyright 1955, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

Consumer Credit Still Key Factor

NEW YORK (AP)—The rush is on to garner on-the-cuff dollars. And some of the competitors for consumer credit are causing head wagging today among the old timers.

Take the banks. On the one hand they urge you to save money and deposit it with them. On the other hand, many of them are making it easier for your wife to run up charge accounts at the stores—a lot of stores.

Take the stores. They're thinking up new switches on the old charge account. And some of the long-time all-cash hold-outs are coming out with new gimmicks that let you take it home now and pay later.

It's just recognition that consumer credit plays a major role today in American life. The total is now around 46 billion dollars. Of that, 35 billion dollars are of the installment payment type. Of the rest some four billion dollars are carried as charge accounts.

This old fashion of family life is gathering new recruits and new variations. Among the latest is Macy's, the giant New York department store which boasted for 100 years it could sell for a net cent less than its competitors because of its all-cash policy.

It has just come out with a charge account variation which lets it balance its books each night on a cash basis, but lets its customers pay later—sometimes quite a bit later by paying more.

Macy's officials say initial response was way beyond expectations.

Other variations on the old-fashioned charge account are the budget plan, which calls for a monthly payment based on the amount owed, and the open-end account, which is a fixed payment each month despite what the month's new charges may have been.

Macy's, as far back as 1914, yielded to its customer's desire to order without cash in pocket by setting up Macy's Bank. It takes customer's deposits—the total of late running as high as five million dollars—against which the customer can charge. If his deposits stays in long enough he gets 1½ per cent interest at an annual rate.

The store's new plan lets customers set up a credit rating and then charge purchases. The bank pays Macy's the total of such chargings each night. But the customer has the choice of paying without cost within 10 days of billing, or paying at least one-fifth in cash and being charged by Macy's Bank 1½ per cent a month service charge on the unpaid balance.

Commercial banks are out for this retail credit business. More than 200 have gone in for charge account banking this year.

A typical charge account system is that of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York.

Merchants pay a $25 entrance fee and a service charge that varies between 6 per cent and 8 per cent a month depending on size of credit sales.

The consumer can buy at any or all of the member stores, but gets just one monthly bill. There's no charge if the bill is paid within 10 days. If not, he must pay at least one-fifth in cash and is charged 1 per cent a month on the remainder.

Typical of the revolving credit plan is the one used by another New York giant, the First National City Bank.

You set up a credit rating at the bank with a fixed limit. The bank issues you specially numbered checks with which you can purchase goods from member merchants up to your total credit limit. You repay the bank along lines set up in the original contract.

Banking By Boat

FREMONT, Wis. (AP)—Folks who live along the Wolf River soon won't have to leave their boats to do their banking.

The Fremont branch of the Appleton State Bank is building a "bank by boat" facility on the site of an old cheese factory. The new quarters are expected to be completed by next year.

Ingenious Burglars

OMAHA (AP)—Thieves who took a two-ton safe from an Omaha supermarket brought along a winch truck.

They broke a small hole in the store wall, hooked a cable from the winch to the safe and then yanked the safe through the wall and lifted it aboard the truck.

Twin Trouble

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bernard Brown, 5, tried to cross Gibbard Ave., at Clair Ave. He was hit by a car and treated for minor cuts at Children's Hospital. Three weeks in the day later — and ditto. Same boy. Same intersection. Same injury. Same hospital.

Different driver, though.

Red Deserters?

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian Parliament today that 40 persons of "non-Tibetan origin" are among the thousands who have fled into India from Tibet. He did not confirm reports that the 40 are deserters from the Communist Chinese army. He said they are being investigated.

TV Proposes To Better Its Public Relations

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Many people are fond of saying what's wrong with television. Few bother to say what's right with it — often because they don't know the facts about it.

Now there is being formed the Television Information Office, supported by the industry, which will collect coordinate and disseminate facts and trends in American TV. The idea was endorsed at the annual convention of the National Assn. of Broadcasters last spring. Subcommittees explored the various problems connected with it. As soon as a director has been appointed, the TIO will begin its work in New York with an annual budget of between $600,000 and $700,000.

A pivotal person in the organization of the TIO is C. Wrede Petersmeyer, president of the Corinthian Broadcasting Corp. and head of the committee appointed to study means of improving the industry's relations with the public.

Petersmeyer emphasized in a conversation the other day that the TIO is not designed to whitewash the industry against the attacks of any and every critic. Rather, it seeks to keep the public informed about the facts of television by means of studies, surveys and coordinating existing information.

How does this affect you, as an individual viewer? Let Petersmeyer explain it:

As a parent, you probably often wonder about the effects of TV viewing on your children. The TIO might encourage an objective, thorough study of the subject.

As a taxpayer in an age of skyrocketing public school costs, you may have pondered the usefulness of local educational TV. But you and fellow citizens know nothing about it — not even where to obtain information about it.

Bonus March Recalled By Death Of Vet

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The man who commanded Washington, D.C., police during the veterans bonus march of the early 1930s is dead.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford (ret.), 76, died Sunday in a hospital at this seaside resort and art center. He had been ill several weeks.

Glassford became chief of police in the capital after his retirement from the Army in 1931. He served in the Philippines and World War I. He also was police chief in Phoenix, Ariz. He moved to Laguna Beach after World War II.

Youth Refuses Discuss Death Of His Mother

DENTON (AP) — Sheriff Wiley Barnes said Sunday 18-year-old Freddie McCain continued to refuse to discuss the death of his mother.

McCain is charged with murder. The body of his mother, Mrs. Nadene Hutson, was found near the Garza-Little Elm spillway. She had apparently been strangled and thrown in the water.

McCain promised to take a lie detector test but failed to keep the appointment. He was arrested Friday driving a stolen car. Car theft charges have also been filed against him.

Crafty Cop Pulls Fastie And Traffic Case Solved

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — The speeder was crafty, but the policeman was craftier.

Patrolman Robert Quinn cited William J. McDonald, 20, for driving 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. McDonald went speeding off.

Quinn, annoyed at the fast departure, pursued. McDonald pulled into a quiet residential area, parked and turned off his lights.

The officer located the car, found McDonald gone, and removed the cap from the distributor. The driver reappeared and was trying vainly to start his car.

when the officer showed himself, ticket book in hand. Policeman Quinn said motorist McDonald reacted violently.

In addition to the speeding citation, McDonald was charged with reckless driving, running a stop sign, ignoring a police siren and red light, evading and resisting arrest and assault and battery.

Julie Andrews Now Housewife

LONDON (AP) — Julie Andrews took up the role of housewife full time today after shedding the rags of Eliza Doolittle, the role in "My Fair Lady" that rocketed her to international stage fame.

The 24-year-old singing actress said she plans to take a long rest, spending "just a quiet and ordinary time with my husband," stage designer Tony Walton, whom she married last May. She apparently has no immediate plans for a new part.

Tears streaming down her face, Julie took her final curtain call in "Fair Lady" Saturday night after 3½ years before New York and London audiences.

Anne Rogers, another British girl who has played "My Fair Lady" in the United States, takes over as Eliza tonight.

Producer Defies Bigamy Prospects

ROME (AP) — Film producer Carlo Ponti has joined his actress wife, Sofia Loren, in Rome despite the possibility of a bigamy charge against him. The Italian producer and the film star were married in Mexico by proxy in 1957, a month after Ponti obtained a Mexican divorce from Giuliana Fiastri. The divorce is not recognized under Italian law.
