YOU CAN GO TO PRISON FOR BORROWING AN AUTO NOW

Taking someone else's car for a little ride will be more exciting now—you can go to prison for it.

County Attorney Wayne Burns, announced that a new regulation is in effect—beginning today—making "joy-riding" a felony. Joy-riding concerns taking a car without the owner's consent with the intent only to use it for a short time and not for actual theft, Burns said.

Previously, joy-riding has been a misdemeanor, but now the price of car involved may make it a felony (prison) offense. Burns said that if the car is valued at less than $200, the offense will still be handled in county court as a misdemeanor. However, taking a car valued at more than $200 amounts to a felony and will be tried in district court. Conviction of this type of violation can bring a prison sentence of up to three years, Burns added.

Trustees To Study Numerous Proposals

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District face a busy session this evening — and even so there's another round before the week is out.

Principal item of business at the 7:30 p.m. meeting today is a final review of the proposed budget for 1959-60. Some changes may be made, in keeping with suggestions from the board, including a $150 per annum salary increase for teachers and other adjustments for administrative and other personnel. Public hearing on the budget is set for Thursday evening.

In addition to the budget matter, the board is due to name a successor to Omar Jones, who resigned recently on advice from his physician.

Another item of considerable import will be the consideration of executing alternate A under the contract by which J. D. Jones Construction Company was awarded contract for Marcy school. Contacts with Jones have shown the possibility of adding four rooms to the 12-classroom unit for an additional cost of $38,700.

An arrangement whereby Webb AFB would furnish buses and drivers for transporting children in grades one through six from Capehart Addition to various schools will be discussed. The cost would be reimbursable.

Estimates on cost of a site and a feeding barn for FFA (vocational agriculture) students will be presented for study. Recommendations on athletic insurance will be presented. The board also will grant audiences to several architectural firms for contemplated work.

$30,000 A YEAR
New Fireman-Policeman Pay Law To Cost City Tidy Sum

The new firemen's and policemen's bill will cost the taxpayers of Big Spring about $30,000 a year, City Manager A. K. Steinheimer said this morning. This is only an estimate, he explained, but will probably be close to the final figure.

The firemen will not be affected by the legislation this year, the city manager said. As the law affects Big Spring, the policemen probably will be required to work any longer hours than the average city employe.

Steinheimer said he was compiling figures, beginning with last April through January, 1960, and these averages would be used to set the working hours of policemen. The new hours will not be effective until the city's next fiscal year. Big Spring policemen now work 48 hours each week on a six day basis. There are about 40 in the department, working on three eight hour shifts in four different divisions.

U. S. Employment Scores New High

Quarter Million More Jobs Filled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment hit another record high in July. The number of jobs rose about one quarter million while unemployment declined by nearly the same amount.

The Labor Department reported July employment reached a record 67,594,000, up 252,000 from June and an increase of 2,415,000 over July last year.

Unemployment declined by 238,000 to 3,744,000 in July. This was 1,550,000 less than July 1958.

Employment had also reached a record in June. The number of workers with jobs has been steadily increasing all year.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor for manpower, told a news conference that the July figures reflected a continued basic improvement in the over-all employment situation.

The July increases were recorded despite a rather sharp drop in farm employment because of poor weather in many farm areas, particularly in the South.

On the other hand the large numbers of teenagers seeking temporary jobs—which forced up unemployment in June by 600,000—diminished in July. Many of the youngsters found work.

The July survey was taken in mid-month just as the nationwide steel strike began. Little of the steel strike consequences were reflected in the July figures.

However, a special survey of steel strike effects showed that approximately 100,000 workers have been laid off in allied industries such as coal, railroads, oil shipping and some construction work.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes today rejected a demand by Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, that it open to the public its closed-door investigation of the union.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced the decision as the committee recessed for lunch after hearing its first witness.

(Earlier story on Page 5-A) The committee met for nearly two hours before calling the first witness, John D. Dale of Red Bank, N.J., head of the George Elliott Co., Inc., a firm which specializes in efficiency studies for factories.

The committee's Republican members had announced in advance they wanted to question Dale about his firm's associations with Peter Zvara, a former UAW official.

The inquiry has heavy political overtones. The UAW usually supports Democrats. One of the committee's Democratic members is Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a likely contender for his party's presidential nomination next year.

Reuther launched his demands for open sessions of the committee in a telegram to McClellan Monday asserting that Republican members would use the inquiry to smear the UAW.

Reuther Is Denied Open Hearing Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes today rejected a demand by Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, that it open to the public its closed-door investigation of the union.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced the decision as the committee recessed for lunch after hearing its first witness.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruffled negotiators resumed their talks today in the four-week-old steel strike, but the absence of the head of the Steelworkers Union gave the proceedings a sour overtone.

Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, snubbing the parley as pointless, was reported touring picket lines at strikebound plants. The industry rebuffed him for staying away.

The union sent in a "second string" of bargainers for today's session with company representatives, headed by R. Conrad Cooper. They were joined by federal mediator chief Joseph F. Finnegan.

He declined comment on McDonald's blast at the caliber of the industry's negotiating team, or the industry's stiff retort.

McDonald said Monday in Pittsburgh: "I got sick of that show in New York. I will talk to people in authority. I refuse to talk with liasons. I have no immediate plans for returning to New York."

R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp., came back with his reply for the industry:

"Mr. McDonald knows full well that the four-man negotiating team designated by 12 steel companies to handle the negotiations on their behalf has full authority to deal with the United Steelworkers Union.

"Mr. McDonald's efforts to downgrade the companies' negotiating team to the status of messenger boys is unfortunate because sooner or later he must confront his responsibility to bargain with this team."

Despite the bitter new clash between industry and union in the four-week-old strike, federal mediators continued efforts to settle the dispute.

Funds Pledged To Fight Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Legal help was pledged today for white pupils who may be expelled for resisting integration in public high schools.

The Rev. Wesley Pruden, a Baptist minister and outspoken foe of race-mixing, said the segregationist-backed Freedom Fund would supply money for court challenges to expulsions.

Little Rock's four public high schools are scheduled to open Wednesday with token integration at Central and Hall high schools.

The School Board has warned that any student disorders will be dealt with "fairly, firmly and effectively."

A number of white pupils were disciplined at Central during the 1957-58 term for clashing with some of the nine Negroes who integrated the school under federal troop guard.

One Negro girl was expelled over a racial incident. Meanwhile, segregationists planned a rally to ask Gov. Orval E. Faubus to do something about integration.

The Little Rock School Board said it expected peaceful operation of the schools when they open.

Segregationist leaders set the rally for 10 a.m. (CST) Wednesday at the State Capitol.

Margaret Jackson, president of the League of Central High Mothers, said she had had "dozens of calls" from people wanting to know what could be done to stop integration.

"So in response to these," she said, "we are inviting every patriotic citizen to meet us on the state capitol grounds to pay tribute to our great governor and tell him

New Laws Enacted Becoming Operative

AUSTIN (AP) — Many Texas cities apparently will have to have a tax increase to meet terms of a law effective today cutting the work weeks of firemen and police.

"Most of the larger cities will be forced to put on a tax increase of 10 to 12 cents," said Steve Mathews, executive director of the Texas Municipal League.

The shortest work weeks will apply to city budgets which become effective after today. Most cities operate on an October to October fiscal year.

Some 74 other laws became effective today, 90 days after the close of the regular session of the Legislature.

Bills which do not receive a two-thirds vote of both houses or pass on voice vote become law 90 days after the end of the session in which they pass.

New hours for firemen in cities of 10,000-60,000 population are 72 hours; 60,000-125,000 population, 63 hours; and over 125,000 population, 60 hours.

Mathews said only Houston in the top population bracket works firemen 60 hours now. He said 13 cities in the 60,000-125,000 population class will have to lower work weeks.

For the first time the state may use the public's money to advertise Texas attractions in order to lure more tourists and businesses.

In the carpetbagger days after the Civil War, a provision was written into the constitution forbidding the spending of state money for advertisements. Voters changed this last year by abolishing the provision. The appropriations bill carries a $100,000 a year outlay for the program which may also include private donations. The Texas Development Board, composed of the governor and chairmen of the Texas Industrial Commission and State Highway Commission, will administer it.

Negro Refused Look At Report On Segregation

HOUSTON (AP) — A Negro member of the Houston School Board last night in an effort to inspect a desegregation report the board is to make to Federal Judge Ben Connally.

Mrs. Charles White, first Negro ever on the board, sought permission to inspect the report to be made by next Monday by Joe Reynolds, board attorney, and Supt. John McFarland.

Dr. Henry Petersen, board president, told Mrs. White the matter was in the hands of Reynolds and McFarland. Petersen said the board felt the report should not be made public until it is filed with the court.

The board voted July 20, with Mrs. White opposing, to turn the matter over to the two school officials without specific recommendations.

Body Of Little Girl Is Found

HOUSTON (AP)—A body believed to be that of a 3-year-old girl who has been missing since July 26 was found today in Buffalo Bayou near downtown Houston.

Police said they believe the body is that of Linda Kay O'Pry. A boy, 15, is held. He said he strangled the girl July 26 after luring her to the banks of the bayou.

Pipeline To West Coast Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transwestern Pipeline Co. of Houston was authorized by the Federal Power Commission Monday to build a 191 million dollar natural gas pipeline from Texas to California.

Girl Bumps Head, Almost Drowns In Swimming Pool

Carol King, 10-year-old girl from Matador, was in fine spirits this morning after almost drowning Monday in the City Park swimming pool.

The little girl was pulled from about four feet of water by several Boy Scouts who were near the section where she jumped in and swallowed too much water. Gerry Patton and W. E. Morris administered artificial respiration and probably saved her life.

She was taken to Malone and Hogan Hospital in a River ambulance and released after a check-up. She was to return for an appointment today.

She is the daughter of Curtis King, Matador, and the family is visiting here with Mrs. Arvil Henry, 1423 E. 6th.

INVOLVED IN MURDER CASE

Joseph P. Crowley, Famous Football Star, Found Dead

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Seven weeks ago, Joseph P. Crowley, a former football star, was cleared in a sensational Tokyo trial of slaying his brother-in-law.

Today Crowley himself lay dead, felled on his 50th birthday, the cause not precisely determined. Authorities indicate he may have died from barbiturates.

Crowley's body was found by his son Joseph Monday on a bed in his home in Hamden, a New Haven suburb. He wore trousers and a sweater. Authorities said he probably died Sunday night while his family was at its summer home.

Coroner James Corrigan said an autopsy revealed conditions "consistent with barbiturate or barbiturate poisoning."

The prosecutors cited the husky ex-halback's record as an athlete—he starred on Yale football teams of 1930-32. They charged that the defendant quarreled with Jones and used his fists to beat him to death. They asked that he be sentenced to four years at hard labor.

Crowley's lawyers told the court's three judges that Jones probably caused his own death by falling about the room.

On June 23, the judges announced the evidence was not sufficient to convict Crowley of having inflicted the injuries that caused Jones' death.

Crowley and his wife, who had joined him in Tokyo, left by plane days later, despite the objections of the prosecutors. They said he was morally obligated to stay until they could decide if they wanted to appeal the verdict.

Two days after Crowley returned to Hamden, with optimistic comments for newsmen who met him, the prosecutors announced they were dropping the case.

GOP Says Ike's Labor Law Will Get House Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders predicted today that the labor bill backed by the President will pass the House.

House GOP Chief Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said he expects that outcome even though he said, "Mr. Hoffa's people are here with all sorts of threats, trying to get the Hoffa bill through."

Halleck referred to James R. Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union. By the Hoffa bill, he said he meant the one sponsored by Rep. John F. Shelley (D-Calif.).

Shelley's bill is less far-reaching than the Landrum-Griffin measure which Eisenhower has endorsed.

The Republican congressional chiefs made their forecast as the House headed into its most bitter fight in a decade over the shape of management-labor control legislation.

With a week of wide-open floor battling scheduled, the House called up the Shelley and Landrum-Griffin proposals along with a third measure labeled by sponsors as a middle-of-the-road plan.

All three are aimed—with varying degrees of stringency—at curbing racketeering and abuse of power in the labor-management field.

The outcome was rated a toss-up. The first votes may come late Wednesday or Thursday.

Halleck and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, talked with newsmen after their weekly White House session with Eisenhower.

Asked what kind of threats he was talking about, Halleck replied: "Well, political recriminations, defeat at the polls, the things that everybody who has been around here knows about. I don't think anybody has been threatened with any bodily injury and I don't know as it's had any effect."

As for the presidential reaction to the forecast that the Landrum-Griffin bill will win House approval, Halleck replied: "I would say he was quite happy."

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell sat in on the White House conference. Halleck said that in spite of reports to the contrary in some places, Mitchell is for the Landrum-Griffin bill.

Halleck also predicted that the Landrum-Griffin bill wouldn't bog down in a dispute with the Senate, which has passed its own version of a labor measure. He said he thinks differences could be composed, as they were when the Taft-Hartley labor law was enacted.

NEW YORK (AP) — Buyers rushed into the stock market today and pushed prices up. The ticker lagged behind transactions.

Most stock groups participated in the upsurge, which came after the sharpest price break of the year Monday. There were some stocks which failed to join the advance.

An estimated $5,400,000,000 was sliced from the market value of listed stocks in the plunge.

Market experts described the drop as a technical correction, which had been overdue after a sustained rise.

The sell-off was believed to have been prompted by the forthcoming Eisenhower - Khrushchev talks. As one analyst put it, people were looking for an excuse to sell and they found it in the uncertainty of the outcome of the talks.

Youths Win Probation; Hear Stern Admonition

Two boys and two girls were taken before the juvenile court judge this morning, but none was ordered to correctional schools.

The two girls were released with the understanding that their parents were to watch them closely. They told the judge, Ed Carpenter, that they were involved in a disturbance with several other girls last week. Both of them were not directly involved but were just present.

Both of the boys were appearing before the court for theft, and one was probated to his parents. The other was released with a warning to avoid trouble or face the consequences.

Hours For County Library Approved By Commission

An afternoon session of the county commissioners court concerned mineral subordination agreements, library matters, and the hangar at the airport Monday.

The commissioners found that subordination agreements were lacking on several tracts around the airport, and they decided to again contact the property owners in an attempt to get the agreements signed.

In the event the agreements are not returned signed, the commissioners intimated that condemnation proceedings would be filed.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, county librarian, asked the court to approve a 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. schedule for the county library beginning Sept. 1. The library observes a half day on Saturdays.

Commissioners ruled. Mrs. McDaniel said that the schedule can be altered if the public demands it.

Bill French mentioned one minor change in the plans for the airport hangar-terminal building which the court accepted. Bids on construction of the building will be received by the commissioners on Aug. 27 at 2 p.m.

The building will house offices for airlines serving the city as well as the fixed base operator. The hangar will be for general maintenance use.

Dunn has ordered the decals, however they have not been received here. The law is effective today.

County officials said all their cars have always been marked and no new action is necessary to comply with the law.

Herter Plans Level Finger At Dictators

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, flying here today for the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers, was reported considering making a strong declaration of U.S. opposition to dictatorships.

Herter was due late this afternoon in the Chilean capital after a night's stopover in Puerto Rico. Leaving Washington, he said the conference should take a candid look at troubles plaguing the Caribbean area and adopt measures to deal with them.

Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, who talked with Herter in Washington Sunday, said the secretary likely would make clear that the United States does not condone dictators.

Numerous Latin Americans have accused the United States of showing open favoritism to such dictators as former President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, Marcos Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, now an exile in Florida, the Dominican Republic's Rafael Trujillo and Nicaragua's Luis Somoza.

Presumably any U.S. declaration will be worded in general terms with no names called. Both Trujillo and Somoza are still in office, and any direct attack on them would bring accusations of U.S. interference in domestic affairs of other nations, as well as imperil relations between Washington and the Dominican and Nicaraguan governments.

One potential source of fireworks at the conference was removed Monday night. Cuba's ambassador announced that Prime Minister Fidel Castro would not attend. Apparently Castro is too busy at home, where his government claims it has just smashed a major plot by counter-revolutionaries.

The meeting was called after a series of invasions by political exiles trying to overthrow the Trujillo and Somoza regimes and the Panamanian government.

It appeared likely the United States would join Brazil, Uruguay, Chile, Peru and other countries in recommending:

1. A watch dog committee of large and small nations not involved in Caribbean squabbles to keep an eye on potential trouble spots.

Teacher Needed At Garden City

GARDEN CITY — Two more people are needed to round out the school staff for the 1959-60 term, Supt. B. L. Murphy said Tuesday.

To complete the faculty, he needs a history teacher who also can double as girls' high school basketball coach.

Also needed is a maintenance man for the system's seven buses. This individual might also double as a bus driver.

Prospects for an enrollment of about 250 appear good, said Murphy. The faculty will consist of 11 junior and senior high school teachers, seven elementary teachers, S. G. Oakes, who formerly was vocational agriculture teacher, will be high school principal, and Roy Thurston, will be elementary principal.

Curriculum has not been changed, but there will be some alterations in that chemistry will be taught this year in lieu of physics (which is offered on alternate years). Plane geometry will be offered again this year.

The plant has been given considerable maintenance work, particularly in the high school where the interior has been completely repainted. The elementary school has been touched up, too.

Starting date for school is Aug. 31, and school will be out for the observance of Labor Day on Sept. 7.

It appeared likely the United States would join Brazil, Uruguay, Chile, Peru and other countries in recommending:

1. A watch dog committee of large and small nations not involved in Caribbean squabbles to keep an eye on potential trouble spots.

Bright Mood Counts

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keeps A Tiny Waist By Staying Active

By LYDIA LANE VIENNA—Genevieve Page plays the girl who loved and lost Franz Liszt in "A Magic Flame," a film Columbia is shooting here on the story of his life. But the set was closed the day I had arranged to see her because of an Austrian holiday, so we decided to meet in my room at the Imperial Hotel, which is something out of a palace. As soon as Genevieve entered wearing a blouse and skirt, I wanted to know what she did to keep her tiny waist. "I'm doing something all the time," she said in perfect English, which she learned from a Nanny as a child in Paris. "I ride my horse every morning and I like to swim and sail in the summer. But my true love is skiing, though I've broken my leg three times. "But when I'm confined with a play, I get my exercise in a ballet class," Genevieve explained. "I like the feel of a free body. I do not feel well if I don't have some form of exercise. "I also find that when I'm so active, I can eat the way I like without gaining. But each year I discipline myself for three weeks with no bread or butter, which I love more than any other food." Miss Page apologized for her hair, which was pulled back and hanging loose.

A feature of the convention, which was attended by thousands of home ec teachers from all over the country, was a fashion show designed especially for the academic set. Fall clothes most popular with the home ec teachers at the convention: For daytime: heavy tweed skirts with matching or coordinated sweaters; simple wool dresses in vivid colors; Chanel-inspired suits also in bright colors were coordinated blouses. For at-home wear: full-length fireside skirts, sophisticated satin slacks and lace negligees. For evening wear: high-style formal gowns in elegant fabrics, made from couturier-designed patterns, with luxurious decorative touches. For afternoons: dress-and-jacket outfits in silk crepe or silk linen, useful for street wear with the jacket, for dressy occasions without. And of course, home ec teachers sew their own.

Baptist GA In WMS Program

Songs in the Night was the subject of a missionary program given Monday morning for members of the First Baptist WMS at the church. Presented by members of the Janet May GA, the program was given against a background of curios and art objects from Mexico, around which the topics were woven. A poster illustrated the place of Mexico in the production of natural resources. The history, culture and customs of the country were discussed by Larae Biffar and Molly Joe Goodman. Further developing the information, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, in the role of a reporter, held a question and answer period with five GA members representing wives of missionaries. Included were Martha Hardy, Susan Gibbs, Barbara Dallery, Marie Neece and Shirley Watson, all of whom wore native costumes. As the conclusion, the group sang the song, Into My Heart, in Spanish. Mrs. Horace Reagan read the prayer calendar, and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien dismissed the session with a prayer. Thirty-two were present. # AIR FORCE ACTION 100 Million Dollar Fuel Plan Junked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has canceled a 100-million-dollar program for an advanced aircraft engine using high-energy chemical fuel.

It appeared to be another step in the switch from manned aircraft to rocket missiles as the chief instrument of modern warfare.

The Defense Department has been under heavy criticism for continuing development of expensive new manned aircraft programs instead of concentrating on missiles.

The contract canceled Monday was for development of the General Electric Co.'s J93-3 engine. The action also knocks out of operation a new 45-million dollar chemical plant built by the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. near Buffalo, N.Y., which was to produce the fuel.

The J93-3 engine was an improved version of the J93-2. Both engines were slated for the B70 bomber and the F106 Rapier fighter-interceptor. These planes are designed to fly 2,000 miles an hour at altitudes of 70,000 feet.

An Air Force spokesman said the prototypes of these planes will not be affected by the cancellation. They will use the earlier J93-3 engine and still attain the planned speeds, he said.

The advanced turbo-jet engine had an afterburner that would use boron fuel to give additional bursts of speed. Boron is a non-metallic chemical element.

The F106 is to be completed in 1960, with the B70 slated for production 18 months later.

An informed official, who refused to be quoted by name, said he believed the B70 and F106 would never get beyond the prototype stage and would never go into production.

Louisiana Oil Output Surges

TULSA (AP)—Louisiana output jumped to 1,047,100 barrels daily as national production of crude and condensate rose slightly last week to 6,791,945 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Output was 11,635 barrels a day above the previous week.

Total U. S. production for the year came to 1,564,924,815 barrels compared with 1,428,645,010 barrels this time last year.

Louisiana production climbed 65,825 barrels. The Journal said it included 58,000 barrels of late May and early June allowances that operators couldn't produce because of bad weather associated with a tropical storm.

Increases were largely offset by reductions in Texas, down 22,200 barrels daily to an average of 2,456,475 barrels a day; Oklahoma, down 12,850 to 487,300; Arkansas, down 750 to 48,400; and New Mexico, down 6,300 to 285,500.

Sam Rayburn TV Appearance Something New

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sam Rayburn, (D-Tex.) Speaker of the House, is seldom seen on television or heard on radio.

Although Rayburn makes frequent public speeches, he has a personal policy against appearing on any sponsored program.

Monday night's talk on the labor bill was one of the few he has made on the air in recent years.

Father Digs Son Free Of Caved Ditch

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A desperate father dug frantically with his bare hands for almost an hour Monday to free his 4-year-old son, trapped by a ditch cave-in.

"The boy was screaming something awful," the father Ira Curtis said later, when the screams stopped, tension rose.

"He must be gone, he couldn't have lasted that long," a youth said quietly.

But finally Curtis, with the help of other rescuers, got young Billy out—alive. He was taken to a hospital, where an examination showed he had only a few bumps and bruises.

Three boys were playing in a ditch near Billy's home when the walls suddenly caved in. Billy's older brother, Donald, 9, was buried chest deep, and a neighbor boy, Marvin Connert, 8, was buried up to his neck.

Donald managed to free himself and ran for his father.

Police and fire departments were called.

The Connert boy had his head out, but he was moaning "I'm going to die, I'm going to die."

After more than 45 minutes of frantic work, Billy was lifted to safety.

Twirlers Win Nine Trophies

Big Spring baton twirlers Claudean and Simon Ferrel Terrazas came away with nine awards from National Baton Twirlers Assn. contests in New Mexico this weekend.

Claudean won three trophies and two medals during the two-day meet, held at the School of Mines in Socorro. Simon was awarded two trophies and two medals.

The couple won four of the awards as a duet team, in competition with seven other teams. Overall, they were judged third the first day and second in the finals.

Judges comments were encouraging to the local pair.

Claudean and Simon next participate in NETA contests in Anson, Aug. 28, and the Texas State Championship at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Aug. 29.

DEAR ABBY THE TURNING POINT

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter pals around with a girl her age who is from what you might call one of the "best" families.

My daughter never brings the girl here. She always wants to go to HER house.

I have heard that this girl's mother is gone every day and there is always a houseful of young kids running wild over there.

They go down to the basement to watch television. Boys and girls together. Some of the boys are 18 and they drink beer. I trust my daughter but this worries me. Am I old-fashioned or should I let Nature take its course? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The course that "Nature" takes is sometimes pretty rough. Fifteen-year-old girls have no business spending the afternoon unsupervised in a basement with beer-drinking boys of 18. Insist that your daughter entertain her friends in her own home. This is YOUR most important job. Mother. Don't let your daughter down by letting her get mixed up in bad company.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent letter signed "DIGNIFIED," there was a question about whether kissing ceremony is a part of the wedding service. But on several occasions lately I have been shocked and embarrassed to see the bride and groom go into one of those clinches at the altar that would do credit to a Class B movie. After all, the purpose of a church ceremony is to ask God's blessings on the union, not to get a running start on a lifetime of intimate happiness.

OLD GRANDDAD

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon. My parents are divorced. My father married the woman who broke up our home.

I am having a small church wedding. I sent an invitation to my father and his new wife because he is paying for the wedding.

Mother will sit with the family and my father will naturally sit with the family, too. I hope my father's new wife does not come, but if she does, where should she sit?

AUGUST BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: If she's smart — she'll sit at home. But if she comes, she will probably sit with

Legal Liquor Law Bringing Odd Trouble

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Liquor sales won't be legal in Oklahoma for another three weeks, but it has already fueled a marital dispute that involves the State Liquor Board.

Board Director Roy Parham reported this volatile situation Monday.

Seems a Bixby man wants to open a retail liquor store, but his wife says "nix."

Under the state's liquor law, the spouse of a liquor license applicant must file a form with the board and meet the same requirements as her husband.

"The wife told her husband she would not turn a hand to help him get in the liquor business," said Parham.

Parham called the situation a "hardship case" and told his troubled husband he might fill in his wife's affidavit and have it signed by two witnesses.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Once Famous Star Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) — "Apparent suicide, overdose of pills," was the laconic police report.

For the trim figure on the bed, clad in a white negligee, it was the end of a struggle with loneliness and despair, fought in the shadow of advancing age.

More than 30 years ago Muriel Miles was a much-admired Ziegfeld Follies beauty. From the bright lights of Broadway she went to Paris, and was the toast of French gambling casinos.

But the bright lights faded, and she returned to New York.

Years passed. Almost before she knew it, she was 59.

"I am too lonely and insecure to fight on in a losing game," she wrote in her final note. "I can't look forward to dragging myself around as an old, forlorn bat."

Police said she had arranged more than a year ago for a modest funeral. The cost will be met by life insurance.

In her apartment Monday police found clothing, some jewelry and a bankbook.

Her bank balance was $65.

Navy Bomber Lands Safely

HONOLULU (AP) — A Navy Neptune patrol bomber limped 1,100 miles on one engine Monday and landed safely at Hilo, after a seven-hour struggle to stay aloft.

The big two-engine plane, out of Whidby Island, Wash., and on a flight from Alameda, Calif. to Barbers Point Naval Air Station here with 10 men aboard, reported it had lost an engine as it passed the halfway point of no return on the 2,400 miles flight.

The pilot, Lt. (j.g.) Braden R. Briggs, found one engine too weak to keep his craft steady at 1,000 feet, so he used his auxiliary jets to boost himself up. But his plane kept losing altitude and his jet fuel ran out. By the time he was still 400 miles out he was cruising at 250 feet, riding the cushion of air above the water.

A naval spokesman said the last 40 miles was at the 100 foot level. He landed at Hilo on the big island of Hawaii as three rescue planes escorted him in.

Many 'ifs' Cloud Detroit's Future

By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP)—If John Henry Johnson and Tobin Rote can come back and have good years, if the offensive line can provide protection for the passer, if the injury bug keeps its distance, then 1959 might be a pretty good year for the Detroit Lions.

Otherwise, the unpredictable Detroiters may be headed for another second division disaster in the Western Division of the National Football League.

The Lions are an "iffy" club and Coach George Wilson, though a confessed optimist, is the first to admit it.

Wilson is inclined to believe the ifs will be with his club.

Indications are that the Lions, who had a shabby 4-7-1 record last year, are blessed with fine question marks in camp now are the offensive line and the scoring punch, or lack of it.

Rote, 31-year-old veteran of nine NFL campaigns, was off last season after taking over the No. 1 quarterback job by himself when the club dealt off Bobby Layne to Pittsburgh.

son surgery repaired the damage and Rote is confident of a good season. Challenging him for the job are Earl Morrall and Jerry Reichow.

The Lions' ground offense was one of the league's weakest last year. Johnson hobbled around all year with an assortment of injuries and the rest of the runners were so ineffective that Rote himself was the club's leading ground gainer with 351 yards gained.

Pietrosante, a big rookie from Notre Dame, may be the power runner the Lions have been seeking. If he proves he can do the job at fullback, Wilson may move Johnson to halfback. Wilson already announced that Hopalong Cassidy, used mainly as a receiver last season, will be called upon for more running.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas coach:
"We will be a little better, but our conference will be much better than normal. As for our own team, we have picked up more speed in the backfield and will be more experienced than a year ago. But again we will not be strong punting, and we have lost a long kickoff man."

PETE RANNELS

BOB ROSBURG, new PGA champion:
"How do I warm up? I take a couple of practice swings on the first tee. I never practice when it's hot... because I get all sweaty and then don't feel like playing... Maybe only Superman, or even Hogan, can shoot all the shots I can't shoot—I'm a slicer—and I can't hit a lot of other shots. So I just eliminate them from my game... Sam Snead out-thought himself in the final round of the National Open. I saw him try shots he never ordinarily tries... I think I'm a very fine putter, of course. But the part of my game that's improved is my driving."

ARNOLD JOHNSON, Kansas City A's owner:
"I want to see expansion and I want to see major league baseball in every city which can support it. But don't think it's an easy job. I bought a team (the Philadelphia A's) for $2,700,000 and moved it to Kansas City. I'd hate to say how much I've spent on that team since the purchase. And my club has been in last place. You can't buy ball players, and building a farm system is tough and expensive."

PETE RANNELS, Boston Red Sox player:
"There's no miracle about my hitting .300 last year. After all, when a fellow is at his trade long enough, he should know something about it. The only explanation about my hitting spurt is that I'm hitting strikes. Every batter who starts rapping the ball consistently will tell you the same thing—he's hitting strikes. He's not going for bad pitches. It's an old explanation and not original with me, but it's that simple."

JOSIE VON NEUMANN, top woman sports car race driver:
"Women drivers are just not in the same league with men. The best woman driver will never measure up to a good male driver. She doesn't have the right mental attitude. A woman is more flighty than a man. I think women lack a certain amount of concentration and they have a stronger feeling of self-preservation. That pertains to driving in traffic, too."

SMALL BOY in the waiting room of a maternity ward, dressed in a football uniform, when asked by a man if his mother was in the ward:
"Nape. Our coach's wife is... we got a big game on, and he sent me here as his replacement."

RICK HERRSCHER, former SMU athletic great, now with the Austin Senators of the Texas League:
"I'll be able to tell in a couple of years, if I'm going up. I'm just 22. That's my legitimate age, not the baseball age. When I get old enough that I have to lie about my age, I'll either be playing in the majors or I won't be playing."

YVON DURELLE, Archie Moore's next ring foe:
"Why do I refuse to work with a trainer? What's the use? I can't learn anything. I started out to be a brawler and that's how I'll finish."

MORRIS FRANK, well-known toastmaster, discussing Tom Nutt, football mentor at Maryland at a banquet last winter:
"Nutt is the fellow who is going to try to win football games for Maryland with students when Shug Jordan (of Auburn) knows it can't be done."

LLOYD MANGRUM, veteran pro golfer:
"If I wanted to beat my brains out the way I used to I think I could win $20,000 a year on the tour. But it's not worth the effort."

McCovey Causes Talk BUT MAYS GOES SHARE

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pity poor Willie Mays. He's having a bad year. He's hitting under .300. His home run output is way below par. Even his fielding has been somewhat less than spectacular.

San Francisco fans can't understand all those raves that emanated from the East where Willie Mays was the pride of the Polo Grounds. Last year while Mays was struggling to reach 350 and hit 30 home runs he finished with 347 and 29 homers, it was a rookie, Orlando Cepeda, who became the darling of Seals Stadium.

This year Mays continued to be just a mirage, an over-rated player. The real thing, the new darling, has been another Willie—Willie McCovey.

McCovey captured the fancy of the fans by hitting four home runs in his first eight games as a Giant. He won game after game since his elevation from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League late last month.

McCovey gave the Giants a much-needed shot in the arm with his prodigious hitting. But Willie Mays hasn't been exactly loafing either during the past week.

Take last night, for instance. Shut out by Larry Jackson for eight innings, the Giants rallied for three runs in the ninth to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. All Mays did was drive in the first Giants run with a single and score the winning run on a double by still another Willie—Willie Kirkland.

The victory, fifth in the last six games, extended the Giants' first place lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers to two games. Milwaukee, also idle, fell three games back. No other National League team was scheduled.

It was Mays who either scored or drove in the key run in each of the last five Giants victories. In the only game they've lost since Tuesday, Aug. 4, Mays sat on the bench with an injury.

Here's the rundown:
Aug. 5—San Francisco 4, Milwaukee 1. With the score tied at 1-1 in the eighth, Mays doubled home the winning run. McCovey followed with his second homerun.

Aug. 6—San Francisco 7, Milwaukee 1. Mays got three hits including a home run, drove in a run and scored two.

Aug. 7—San Francisco 3, Cincinnati 2. Mays got three hits and singled in the winning run in the ninth after making a spectacular catch of Johnny Temple's bid for a three bagger. Willie was injured crashing into the fence in making the catch.

Aug. 8—Cincinnati 9, San Francisco 6. The injury kept Mays out of the game.

Aug. 9—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 10—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 11—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 12—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 13—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 14—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 15—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

Aug. 16—San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3. Orlando Cepeda's 10th home run won the game.

inning homerun won the game but it was Mays' eighth inning single that made it possible. He scored on an infield out to give the Giants a temporary 3-2 lead.

Aug. 10—Pitcher Leon Wagner opened the winning ninth with a single and Jimmy Davenport followed with another single. Mays' hit drove in pinch runner Jose Pagan to cut the Cards' lead to 2-1. McCovey grounded to second and Davenport scored the tying run, beating Don Blasingame's throw to the plate. After Cepeda went out, Kirkland doubled to score Mays with the winning run. The Cardinals threatened in their half of the ninth. With one out, singles by Gene Oliver and Alex Grammas and a wild pitch by Mike McCormick, third Giant pitcher, put runners on second and third. The young southpaw then landed Dick Gray and got Ray Jablonski to ground out ending the game.

Stu Miller was the winning pitcher in relief of Sam Jones, who gave up two runs and four hits in six innings before bowing out for a pinch hitter. The loss was charged to Jackson, who got ineffectual relief from left-hander Dean Stone and right-hander Ernie Broglio in the ninth.

The rugged Canadian and British Empire 175-pound ruler gets a second crack at Moore's world title at the forum here Wednesday night. He's a 3-1 underdog. In a previous fight he dumped the American four times, three times in the first round, before being knocked out in the 11th round last Dec. 10.

"I got bad advice from my seconds that night," Yvon said bitterly. "After I had Moore down three times in the first round they told me to box in the second round. Me box I don't know how to box. I should have gone right after him. I would have had the championship if I did."

The 29-year-old challenger is grim compared to his happy-go-lucky attitude before the first fight. He said his fishing boats have been losing money lately and he's turning over his $15,000 guarantee for the fight, a puny sum compared to Moore's $175,000 guarantee.

Just talking about the figures got him so upset Monday that he staged short-lived revolt against signing a return bout contract. This pact calls for each fighter to get 30 per cent of the receipts for another fight if Durelle should beat Moore Wednesday.

After telling newsmen that he would toss the return contract out of the window, he changed his attitude following talks with Manager Chris Shaban and Truman Gibson, president of the National Boxing Enterprises of Chicago. The NBC paid $100,000 for the U.S. television rights. The fight will be seen on the ABC network starting at 9 p.m. (EST) but will not be shown in Canada and some U.S. border cities.

Both Durelle and Moore wind up their training today with light limbering exercises.

Locals On Way To Brownwood

The Kiwanis Teen-Age baseball team, winner of the recent District 7 Tournament conducted here, was to leave today for Brownwood, site of the State meet.

The Kiwanians, defeated San Angelo's Hughes Masonry club, 6-3, to earn the trip.

The club is managed by Bill Battle. Huck Doe serves as its assistant. Battle and Doe planned to take 15 players on the trip.

Competition in the tournament opens Thursday and continues through Saturday night.

The local entry plays Brownwood, the District 8 representative, in the first round at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

The Kiwanians were to make the trip by bus.

Lavagetto Offers Lecture To Sens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cookie Lavagetto, a usually mild-mannered manager, has changed his manner in an attempt to take up the listless and losing Washington Senators.

For 30 minutes Monday night, he sternly lectured his players, who have lost 22 of their last 23 games.

Lavagetto will see whether his new approach has worked when the last-place Senators open a two-game series against the Yankees in New York Wednesday night. They have no game today.

Swim Meet To Be Held Saturday

A swimming meet will be held in the Negro swimming pool starting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Directors of the water carnival will be H. T. Baker and B. F. Newton, who serve as lifeguards at the pool.

Entry fee will be 35 cents per person. The best all-around entry in the meet will get a 24-inch medal.

Competition will be held in freestyle, back stroke and under water strokes as well as in several diving events.

Deadline for entry is 3 p.m. Sunday. Entries will be accepted at the pool.

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—The Baltimore Colts aren't standing pat as they set out to defend their first National Football League championship.

Colts Are Not Standing Pat

One of the departments which Coach Weeb Ewbank thinks needs strengthening is offense halfback. He'd like to sign one who packs a little more weight than the average halfback, and who fills the bills in other respects.

So when a prospect comes along who apparently meets the requirements, the Colts don't care if he has been rejected by two other NFL teams.

Curley Johnson, a former University of Houston star, is the halfback making a bold move in the training camp to be among the 35 players on the regular season roster.

Johnson was dropped by the Pittsburgh Steelers just before the last exhibition game in 1957. Last year he was released by the New York Giants.

In the Colts' intrasquad game recently, Johnson was the leading ground gainer.

The 24-year-old halfback will get another chance to impress his bosses Friday night in Chicago when the Colts play the College All-Stars.

Fullmer Tries New Exercise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The oldtime fight manager, walking into Billy Newman's downtown gym, heard a tremendous splat of something hitting a heavy bag.

"Holy cow," the manager cried. "Find me a contract. Any tiger who can hit like that is a cinch to take a title."

Sorry, old timer, that noise you heard was a baseball bat—not a fist—hitting the heavy bag.

Middleweight Gene Fullmer, an ex-champ, was on the swinging end. And he's signed.

Fullmer and Carmen Basilio fight Aug. 28 at the Cow Palace for the National Boxing Assn. middleweight title. The NBA took the crown from Sugar Ray Robinson for lack of activity. Both contenders are former champions who lost to Robinson.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jensen, started the bat routine. He painted a bag with baseballs and told his son Ray, 13, to swing away in their West Jordan, Utah, gym. Marv thought it would help the lad learn to keep his eye on the ball.

Then the manager decided it would be good for his fighter. Jensen claims and Fullmer agree that whapping the bat, into the bag strengthens the shoulder muscles, wrists and hands and improves timing.

Forest Fires Continue In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Smoke hung over Northern California mountains today as firemen fought new flames in forests near Ukiah and Willits, about 100 miles north of San Francisco.

Every able-bodied man in Ukiah turned out Monday to save the city of 15,000. Women and children used garden hoses and buckets to wet roofs as wind-swept embers cascaded down from flaming forests just beyond city limits.

A ranger said fires near Ukiah had been set by children and hunters.

In southern California, 500 men ringed the Decker Canyon blaze near Lake Elsinore after it claimed 2 lives, injured 27 and burned 1,600 acres.

For five weeks blazes in tinder-dry California forests and brushland have kept firemen on the run. The state got less rain and snow than usual last winter and heavy rains are not due for months.

Rangers said two fires on Cow Mountain, east of Ukiah, were set by youngsters and hunters.

Near Yuba City, 100 miles northeast of San Francisco, sheriff's deputies reported 17 fires in an hour within a four-mile radius. All were extinguished quickly.

"They waited until we rolled everything we had on the fire at Spanish Mountain and then they started the other," Ranger Frank Weatherford said.

"They wanted to burn the brush so the animals wouldn't have a place to hide. And they knew there wasn't a damn thing we could do."

UAW Hearings Open Back Of Closed Doors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probers start closed door hearings today on Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers, with Reuther demanding that the public be admitted.

The hearings have heavy political overtones. They were billed as a preliminary inquiry demanded by the Republican members of the committee on their allegations of corrupt or improper practices by some of Reuther's subordinates. The UAW usually supports Democratic candidates.

The committee is composed of four Republicans and four Democrats, including Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a likely contender for his party's presidential nomination next year.

Reuther made public a telegram to the committee chairman, John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), demanding that the doors be opened. He accused his Republican members of scheming to use the inquiry as a device to smear his union.

McClellan told a reporter he personally would be reluctant to make it a public hearing until he knew more about it. He said the Republican members never have told him the full nature and scope of evidence they plan to produce.

The investigation had been announced by the Republicans as designed to explore the affairs of Richard T. Gosser, senior international vice president of the UAW; Peter Zvara, a former international representative; and some other past and present UAW officials.

The Republicans have charged there is evidence of improper handling of flower funds raised by UAW members.

Congregation Will Send Delegation To Corpus Meeting

J. W. O'Shields, presiding minister for Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today that the Big Spring Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will send about 17 persons to attend a four-day convention to be held Aug. 29 to 31 at the Memorial Coliseum and Exposition Hall in Corpus Christi.

The Corpus Christi convention will be the last of a series of 22 conventions held in the United States this summer with over 200,000 attendees. Expected attendance for Corpus Christi is 7,000.

The highlight of the four-day convention will be the public address on Sunday, August 23, on "When God Speaks Peace To All Nations."

Burglars Make Proper Amends

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When burglars carted off three photo duplicating machines from his office three weeks ago, Fred Ernst thought he had the last laugh.

"They can't use those machines because no one else in this area has photo copy paper that fits," Ernst isn't laughing any more.

Burglars broke into his office again Monday night and took $1,000 worth of the photo copy paper.

Permit Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission gave four independent producers permission Monday to sell Louisiana natural gas to four interstate pipeline companies.

Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., and Superior Oil Co. of Houston were authorized to sell to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. of Houston.

IN SEWER PIPE

Woman And Her Pooch Have Glorious Reunion

CHICAGO (AP)—An Alaska woman wriggled inside a muddy sewer pipe for a happy but messy reunion with her lost dog Monday, ending three days of search for the little pooch.

Dorothy Hudson, 35, of Anchorage, interrupted her vacation in Miami, Fla., last Friday and flew to Chicago when she learned her dog, en route to her in another plane, had escaped from a crate at Midway Airport.

She tramped through fields near the airport over the weekend in search of the 11-year-old dog, named Wahine. Newspapers and animal welfare league officials alerted the public to watch for the dog, a part cocker spaniel.

Monday Bruno Stahlbusch, 14, of Elk Mound, Wis., who is vacationing in Chicago, spotted Wahine peeping from a sewer pipe used as a culvert. Mrs. Hudson was notified.

One end of the pipe was blocked off. At the other end, neighborhood children formed a v-shaped cordon and Mrs. Hudson went inside after her pet.

Young Bandit Holds Up Big Frisco Train

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Trainmen told the sheriff's office by telephone Monday that "a young man was holding up" a Frisco freight train.

Hurrying to the train, halted a few miles north of Joplin, officers found the "hold-up" was caused by 6-year-old Mark Fox who lives at Carthage, about eight miles away.

Trainmen said they discovered the youngster aboard and they didn't want him to get hurt.

Turned over to his father, Lawrence Fox, barefoot, shirtless Mark explained:

"I just wanted to take a little ride."

Blind Bike Rider Gets 3-Months In Workhouse

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Desmond Armstrong rode his motorcycle around the busy streets of Scarborough for six months before he hit a tree.

It was only then that police discovered he was registered officially as a blind man.

After the accident, the police as a test asked Armstrong to read an automobile license plate at 25 yards, the standard eyesight test for a driving license.

Armstrong not only could not read the plate. He hardly could see the car.

Armstrong, a 35-year-old laundry worker, got three months in jail.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mary Lieblich, 49, was awarded custody of the family dachshund at a divorce hearing Monday. But her salesman husband, Ernest, 45, was granted visitation rights.

Boys Die In Blazing House

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Two little boys played with matches in a basement room Monday. They burned the house down and died screaming in the flames.

Dead were Robert and Rocky Wilson, aged 3 and 2, youngest of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow H. Wilson.

A playmate, Barbara Stevens, 9, told police the boys were striking matches, then stamping them out.

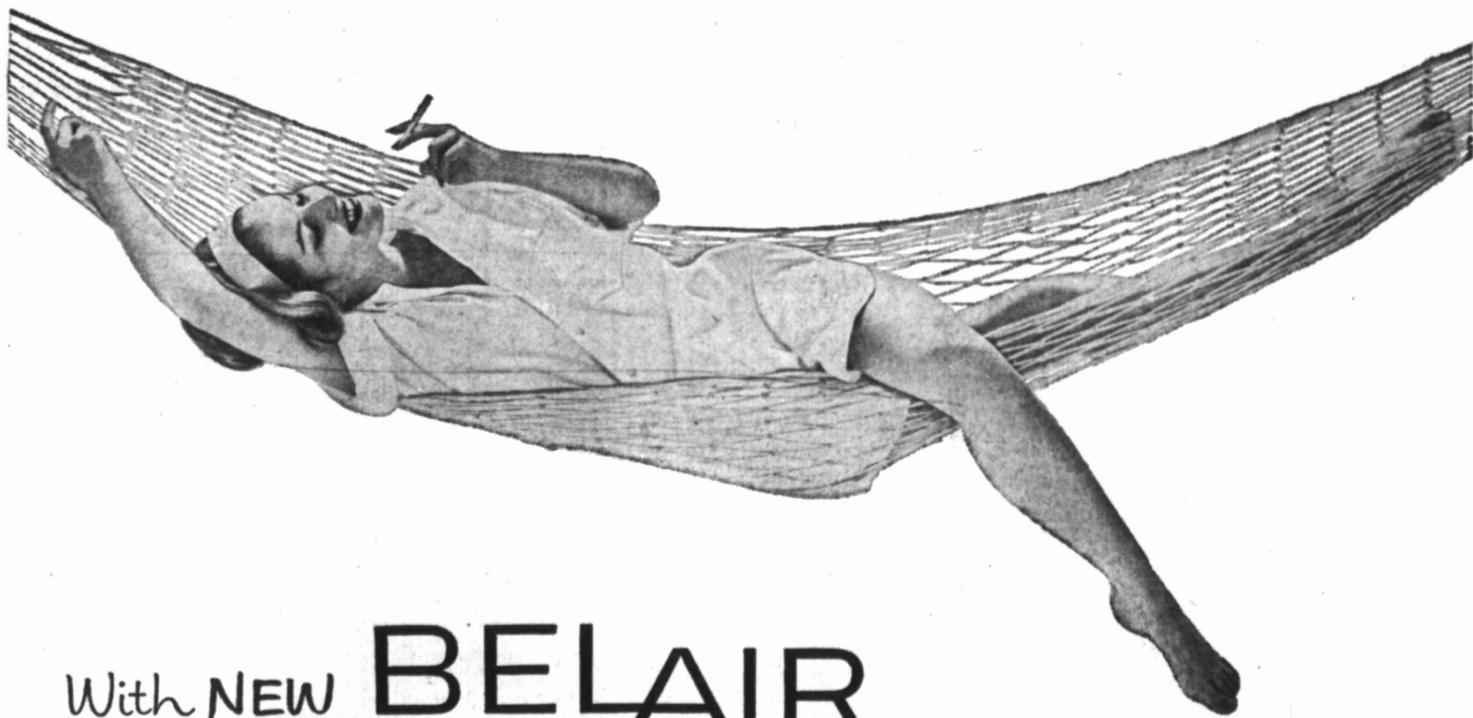

Barbara escaped from the basement, which had only one exit.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1959 SEC. B

After Slack July, Water Use Climbing Rapidly For CRMWD

Water consumption slipped by 28 per cent in July, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported Tuesday. But if the current rate of demand continues throughout August, that loss will be absorbed.

During July the district delivered 877,555,000 gallons of water to its customers, according to O. H. Ivie, production engineer. For July of 1958 the total was 1,122,182,000 gallons.

During the past seven days, however, with hot, dry weather replacing the repeated showers of July, consumption has been at the rate of about 40,000,000 gallons per day.

In July, deliveries of water were as follows: Odessa 416,646,000, Big Spring 203,491,000, Snyder 61,237,000, SACROC 120,875,000, Sharon Ridge 43,313,000, Lion Oil 29,454,000, Texas Gulf Producing 2,900,000.

During the past week Big Spring has upped its average to over 9,000,000 per day and peaked out at 10,188,000 last Friday. Odessa has been averaging 20,500,000 per day, Snyder peaked at 4,200,000 for one day and averaged 3,500,000 per day. SACROC averaged 4,200,000, Sharon Ridge 1,500,000, and Lion Oil 1,000,000. The Big Spring figure does not include 1,200,000 per day for Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

For the past week, pumps at Lake J. B. Thomas and on the pipeline system have been operating 24 hours a day.

Safety Programs Need More Cooperation, Says CTC Head

Problems and aims of the Citizens Traffic Commission were explained to the Evening Lions Club at its meeting Monday.

Speaker for the occasion was James Eubanks, executive secretary of the CTC. One visitor, John C. Lamb, Dallas, was present.

Eubanks said that the main aim of the CTC organization is to reduce accidents, injuries, and fatalities. Part of the projects are experiments; some of them have worked and some have not.

Principally, the CTC work is in education, and "we feel that we are doing some good. We had a better accident record in 1958 than 1957," he said.

Lack of cooperation among citizens, said Eubanks, is one of the reasons why the work has not progressed as it should, not only here but throughout the nation. More cooperation and coordination of groups and citizens would cut the number of fatalities each year. Last year, 38,000 died.

Eubanks mentioned the work of the CTC's engineering committee, which he said spent much time in studying local traffic problems. The CTC secretary also urged the Lions Club to solidly back the police department. All criticism of the police is not necessary, Eubanks said.

He also mentioned the work of the T-Man committee, a reporting agency, and traffic studies made by the organization. These studies have shown an 11 per cent drop in accidents during the first half of 1959 compared with the same time in 1958. During that time, injuries have dropped 25 per cent, but fatalities in the city have jumped 50 per cent.

Driver education is another point of interest for the CTC. Eubanks said it was the group's aim to have the driver education course in every school in the county. He mentioned the driver improvement school for persons fined in corporation court for traffic violations.

About 30 are enrolled in this school now, he said.

During the business session prior to the program, Squeaky Thompson, vice president handling the meeting, announced the club would sponsor a broom sale again this fall. No date was established.

Money from sale of the brooms will go to the club's sight conservation program.

Former Slave Surgery Patient

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—A Negro woman, born into slavery on a South Carolina plantation before the Civil War, had a foot amputated at a hospital here Monday.

She is Maggie Wilson Sams of Hoffman. Her age is guessed at between 115 and 118.

Mrs. Sams doesn't hear well but is still mentally alert, and talked to newsmen before and after the operation. She told of Civil War days, but said she saw no fighting.

She's still active too. She said she hoed cotton shortly before a traffic accident which caused the foot to become infected.

BOB LUMAN
Young singer visits here

Rising Rock 'N Roll Star Wants Chance In Movies

By KAY LOVELAND

Bob Luman is one of a multitude of young rock 'n' roll and country singers who are trying to break into the top ranks of show business along with Elvis, Ricky and others.

He has all the requirements needed: he is young (21) and handsome (tall and dark), he has a natural rhythm, he's talented and he has the sideburns and long hair-cut that Elvis made a major part of rock 'n' roll attire. In addition, he has had the breaks that some young stars may never have.

Bob just terminated a seven-month stint in Las Vegas where he worked at the Show Boat Hotel with Tex Ritter, Merle Travis, Webb Pierce, Johnny Cash and other folksy stars. He visited here on his way to Shreveport, La., from Las Vegas.

After a short stay in Louisiana during which he will appear on the Louisiana Hayride, Bob will leave with his guitarist, Roy Buchanan, for Tokyo, Japan, where he will perform at the Padiadium for three weeks. Then it's on to Australia for a few weeks.

SCREEN TEST
His contract with Warner Bros. Records also included a provision for a screen test—which he passed. He's keeping his fingers crossed that Warner Bros. will be able to use him in a new western television series they are planning to launch in October.

Bob, a native of Kilgore, started recording for Imperial Records in 1957. During the past two years he has appeared on the Louisiana Hayride, Big "D" Jamboree, Cowtown Hoedown and Town Hall Party in Los Angeles. He has also recorded for Capitol.

His biggest hit to date has been "Red Cadillac and the Black Moustache." He just recorded a new one for Warner Bros. which has been out two weeks — "Class of '59." The flip side is titled "My Baby Walks All Over Me."

Bob's major ambition is to eventually make movies and he's well on his way toward that goal. You may well see his name on a television or movie screen someday soon—that is, if the Army doesn't interrupt his plans. But then the Army hasn't hurt Elvis.

Masonic graveside rites are set Wednesday for Roy Irvin Franklin, 62, who died Monday in his home at 1605 Lancaster.

Mr. Franklin had been ill for two and a half years, and had been confined to the hospital during most of 1958. He was a retired carpenter. He passed away while sitting in a living room chair at 5:10 p.m.

He came to Big Spring in 1915 from Abilene, where he was born May 7, 1897. Miss Lucille Byrom became his wife here on Dec. 24, 1919.

A member of the Masonic Blue Lodge 508, Mr. Franklin was a Methodist and a member of the Wesley Memorial Church. He was a veteran of World War I.

Services are to be at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev. Royce Womack officiating. Interment will be in City Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife Lucille, Big Spring; two sons, Fred and George, Big Spring; three grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. G. W. Sweatt, Colorado City. Pallbearers will be Mr. Franklin's nephews, Wendell and Joe Franklin, Jack Warren, Roy, Emory and George Sweatt.

Why Must It Take A Scare?

Our neighbor state to the northeast, Arkansas, last week reported its fifth death from paralytic polio and the disease was declared by medical authorities to have reached epidemic proportions with 88 reported cases.
 Governor Faubus set aside $50,000 in state funds for use in the care of needy victims, to augment aid given by the National Foundation. The foundation flew in more iron lungs to Little Rock from Tulsa, Okla.
 In all, 101 cases have been reported in Arkansas, of which 88 were paralytic—a rather high incidence of the type that cripples and kills.
 Only 24 of the 88 had received the Salk shots. The Salk vaccine, while obviously not infallible, nevertheless demonstrates its reliability as a form of insurance against infection. The percentage of victims who had been "immunized" suggests that the current outbreak, reported in many parts of the nation, must be of a particularly virulent type.

 It is noted that wherever these outbreaks occur, there is an immediate rush to have the vaccine administered. In some spots emergency Salk stations were set up to take care of the applicants.
 It is typical of the American people that they procrastinate. It takes a real good scare to stir them up. What about your personal status with the Salk vaccine?

Nixon's In-But Is He?

President Eisenhower's address to the nation Thursday night calling on Congress to enact strong labor reform laws—specifically, he put his okay on the Landrum-Griffin version—brought from labor leaders and some Democrats in both houses the charge that the President had either misrepresented the facts or did not know what he was talking about.
 One labor leader—the top man in organized labor, in fact—President George Meany of AFL-CIO indicated he felt Mr. Eisenhower had been misled by selfish interests or had been "put up to it."
 Mr. Meany pointed out that his group favors the Shelley bill now before the House.
 In general, two sore thumbs stand out in any labor reform legislation. Any measure that is acceptable to labor leaders is far too weak to satisfy management; any bill strong enough to satisfy management is unacceptable to labor leaders.
 It is the business of Congress to legislate by steering a course between these two rocklike formations, and to pass a law that is effective whether either or both sides like it or not.

For the interests of the people—the whole mass of consumers and entrepreneurs large and small—should predominate in justice and fairness to our notions of workable democracy.
 What Mr. Eisenhower had to say of the crying need to eliminate racketeering and other abuses in the field of labor-management isn't likely, of itself, to bring about a meeting of minds on the subject in Congress.
 Congress, with an election coming up, would much prefer to sit this one out, and to pass the semblance of a reform bill rather than the substance, or no bill at all.
 And that is the real danger, as Mr. Eisenhower well knows.
 What Mr. Eisenhower had to say won't have much direct effect on Congress, but its direct effect should be powerful and decisive.
 Those who believe the situation calls for strong legislation need not waste their time writing or telegraphing Mr. Eisenhower. They should address their demand to the people who hold the decision in their hands: members of House and Senate.

Marquis Childs The Image Of Richard Nixon

WASHINGTON — While politics is a trade beset with more uncertainties than most, it is the considered opinion of politicians of both parties here that Vice President Richard Nixon has the presidential nomination for 1960 all but cinched.
 This conclusion is based not alone on the mission to Moscow, which seemed to open the way to a new era of personal diplomacy. It was, above all, the effect of Moscow on top of the long lead that Nixon already had. And then as a kind of bonus came the emotional triumph of Poland and the rousing welcome back in Washington.
 Political observers, taking it more or less for granted that he has the nomination, will be looking in the weeks ahead to another index. They will want to see how Nixon runs against the leading Democratic candidate in the poll takers' samples. Recently a Stevenson-Kennedy ticket was matched against a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket and the result was 53 per cent for the Democrats and 42 for the Republicans with only 5 per cent undecided.
 This shook many Republicans, including the national chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton. Such a wide margin with so few undecided when the two available candidates were linked together would spell certain defeat unless it could be altered in the coming year. What is more, during the Governors' Conference at Puerto Rico New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller, Nixon's only serious challenger, said that he would not accept second place on a Nixon ticket.
 Unquestionably, a distrust of Nixon has persisted. It has been particularly strong among minority groups. In part the feeling goes back to the tactics he used in his early Congressional races in California and then later as the man wielding the hatchet while President Eisenhower travelled the lofty road of national appeal.
 But more often the distrust has been a kind of wordless uncertainty. "I don't know what it is but there's something about him..." In the past this has been the despair of the Nixon strategists.
 Whether the image—transported from Madison Avenue and used increasingly in a political context—is newly focused in a clear, constructive fashion is the question that may be answered in forthcoming polls. By his conduct on a mission of extraordinary sensitivity the vice president may have broken through the barrier of prejudices and distrust.

 Political expediency to one side, even some of his sternest critics have come forward to recognize the value of what he has done. They have praised him for taking a firm but temperate line; for maintaining his good humor in his talks with Premier Khrushchev but nevertheless giving him unmistakably to know that there would be no yielding on certain basic positions. Without being belligerent or provocative he conveyed the clear purpose of American policy.
 For Nixon there is a further harvest in the Khrushchev-Eisenhower exchange. He will participate in at least some phases of the talks in Washington. And, according to the plan under consideration, he will accompany the Soviet Premier on at least part of his journey around the country. President Eisenhower said at his press conference that he would not go all the way.
 While it looks rosy at the moment, the exchange could turn sour. But Nixon is an adroit performer. If Khrushchev should have illusions about what he can obtain from a personal meeting with Eisenhower and then go home disillusioned in a huff, Nixon could always say that he had forewarned him in Moscow. And anyone who watched the extraordinary debate between them would agree to that.
 Once before Nixon had a triumphal homecoming. That was on his return last year from a South American swing when he had been stoned, spat upon and his life put in danger. After that drama and the hosannas with which he was received in Washington his standing in the polls rose phenomenally.
 As Rockefeller adherents point out, they sank again when public memory of the hero's role faded to indifference. As the emotion subsided people began to ask why he had subjected himself to such hazards. And a few more thoughtful critics wondered what practical gain had come out of all the uproar. The answer appears to be: nothing.
 The nominating convention is a year away and memories are short. That may be why a Nixon mission to Communist China about next February or March cannot be ruled out. Other politicians dream of confronting the Chinese dragon in his lair. But who, the Nixon isolators are asking, is better equipped to do this than our hero?

Company's Coming

James Marlow Ike's New Vigor Stirs Comment

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of 1959's surprises is the way President Eisenhower has asserted himself. He used to press the soft-pedal hard.
 Critics complained — some still do — that he didn't do enough leading. But in 1959 he has become increasingly aggressive, particularly on home problems.
 In foreign affairs he is still pretty defensive. His actions now, as in the past, are mostly reactions to Soviet actions.
 There are several explanations for his 1959 performance:
 1. He has to rely more on himself. Some key men he brought into government with him, and depended on most, are gone. Notably: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who died in May, and Sherman Adams, who quit last September.

 2. It's either lead or be led. The Democrats, in overwhelming control of Congress, would run with the ball if he didn't speak out.
 3. Time is running out for making good on his early promises, such as budget-balancing and less spending. He has just a little over 17 months left in office.
 4. Since the Soviets are pushing, he has to push back. His invitation to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to come here was an effort to avoid or delay a showdown on Berlin.
 Dulles, given free rein by Eisenhower, overshadowed the President in foreign affairs. Yet, by his enormous work, he took a heavy burden of detail off Eisenhower. That's changed now.

 Eisenhower doesn't have the same close relationship with Dulles' successor, Christian A. Herter, who has been out of the country, negotiating on Berlin, most of the time since taking office last spring.
 Which means: Eisenhower in foreign affairs has had to be much more his own front man.
 Adams' title — assistant to the President — was a catch — all. He acted like a combination chief of staff, executive vice president, buffer, filter, firefighter and plantation manager for Eisenhower.
 He saved the President endless time, chores, problems and decisions in running the government. His successor, Wilton B. Parsons, retired major general, seems to have only a shadow of Adams' importance in easing things for Eisenhower.

Hal Boyle Running Saloon This Man's Hobby

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm a lobbyist saloonkeeper, and a reluctant success," according to Burton Browne, who is making a fortune out of male nostalgia.
 "I'm the only saloonkeeper who is listed in Who's Who in America, the Social Register, and Dun & Bradstreet."
 An ex-commercial artist who once felt lucky if he got $18 for a gag cartoon, Browne is now head of a large Chicago advertising firm specializing in electronics.

said Browne, "because that was the last time man was really king and millionaires really lived like millionaires."
 The club was a huge success from the start. So were later clubs he organized in Manhattan and the nation's capital.
 But they are only the beginning in Browne's big nostalgia bonanza. So many members complained of a lack of robust male conviviality in their own hometowns that Browne now is franchising a nationwide chain.
 Twenty clubs are already under way — or being planned — in cities ranging from San Francisco to Atlanta. Browne eventually foresees a network of 200.
 They are ideal for America's booming new expense account aristocracy. A lifetime membership costs $25. Any drink — from ginger ale to 50-year-old brandy — is $1.25. Sandwiches are a nickel.
 "When you walk into one of the clubs," said Browne, "you are automatically a millionaire, 1906 vintage."
 Although they are strictly gentlemen's clubs, members can bring their wives. But wives can't come alone.
 "Surprisingly, we haven't had any objections from the wives," said Browne. "Our waitresses have to be pretty, but after five minutes a wife can see they are no threat."
 "Most of our members have daughters as old as the waitresses. It's all innocent fun. The waitresses — some of them are young actresses — are for looking, not pinching," Browne said.
 "If a member dates a waitress, his key is lifted — and she is fired."
 "We picked a 1906 atmosphere."

Around The Rim They Should Ought To Look The Part

Most successful authors I have met just don't look like authors.
 Fellows who write rip-roaring adventure stories, for example, usually turn out to be ducks resembling Casper Milquetoast in the comic strips.
 Fellows who turn out dissertations that sell by the thousands on interior decoration resemble the fellow I saw driving a truck loaded with tons of scrap.
 It's like in the old radio days. You'd hear some character on the radio and you'd get an impression he looked just so. When you happened to see him — what a difference.
 I remember a famous radio series based on stories of a daring horseman who rode the west bringing all sorts of law and order to the turbulent frontier. He had a deep baritone voice and his listeners visualized him as a powerful man, probably over 6 feet, with sharp-cut features and piercing grey eyes.
 Actually he was a little short fellow, as fat as a butterball with a head as devoid of hair as a billiard ball. His eyes were a faded blue and he wore thick-lensed glasses. If you ever saw him in person, the illusion coming out of your radio was completely destroyed.
 I picked up a book the other night, glanced casually at the author's name and began reading. The name did not register with me one way or another. When I had finished reading the tale — and it was a doggone good story — I found a short biography of the author attached to the rear flyleaf.
 Imagine my surprise.
 He was a fellow I had known for a long time. Not a friend but just one of those guys around town. He was so lacking in color that I have forgotten what he really looks like. He ran a business establishment when I knew him and I have walked past his store a thousand times. If I had been assigned to go out and kill fellows who would be successful authors, I wouldn't have wasted a shot on him.

 Seems that I didn't recognize talent — he has written this book and it has been given exceptional recognition for a first novel. I imagine there'll be a lot of others from his typewriter.
 I have one exception to my generalization that authors don't look like authors.
 I am thinking of this man Lederer who is author of the best-seller of a few weeks ago "The Ugly American." Lederer looks and acts just the way he writes. And all of his books are exactly like he is.
 When I knew him, he was a commander in the U. S. Navy. He was chief public information officer for the entire Pacific theater of Navy operations.
 I understand that he has now left the service and that he has retired as a captain. I can well understand that. If Lederer wanted to be a captain before he quit the Navy — they'd better have made him a captain or they would have had a lot of trouble on their hands.
 He's an exception to my general rule. He looked like a writer and he wrote like he looked.
 But most of the other authors I have met — even the big shots in the business — look more like something else.
 And like in radio, sometimes it is the author personally. Such meetings are often disillusioning. I have found such contacts sometimes tend to rob future books by these writers of some of the zest they formerly held for me.
 This is especially true if the author in question is a fellow who writes exciting adventure fiction and, in person, looks like a retired country school teacher.

Inez Robb Pedestrian Hailed As Hero

All hail to a hero who has just earned an honored niche in the Pantheon of 1959 immortal public servants.
 Kurt Neilson, 36, of Richmond, Va., has had the great courage to do what I and I suspect millions of my fellow pedestrians — have longed to do for years and never quite mustered the firm intrepidity to dare.
 My hero found himself in a familiar dilemma. He optimistically stood at a Richmond crosswalk, waiting for the light to change so that he might have the use thereof. Of the crosswalk, that is. But when the light was with him, what happened?
 Citizens, you know. An automobile squealed to a stop right smack in the crosswalk, effectively blocking it to pedestrian. It happens every time in this fair country.
 So our hero had the choice, even as you and I, of skirting the car and thus endangering life and limb in the main stream of traffic (and I was almost sidestepped in such a contretemps yesterday) or simply waiting for the light once more to change. Always hoping, of course, that THIS time some driver would have the courtesy NOT to hog the crosswalk in clear violation of the law.
 But my hero chose not to temporize. By golly, he had the light and he ought to have had the law with him. He proceeded to do what every Walter Mitty dreams: He walked right over the car, not around it. Let's love a brave man, but he went up one fender, strode across the hood, and trod down the other fender.
 So what happened? My hero was arrested. And by whom? By the driver of the car. And, pray, who was the driver who violated all pedestrian rights and the law?
 Why, the driver was an off-duty policeman! He had just stopped, he said, to chat with a friend! So, obviously, he was entitled to occupy the pedestrian crosswalk! After all, leave us not forget social amenities!

 At all odds, he arrested Neilson for "malicious" damage to his car and, in so doing, Neilson charges, whipped out both his gun and his black book.
 So what happened then? Well, it grieves me to tell you that Neilson was hailed into police court and fined $25. The policeman who violated every law of traffic as well as courtesy? What happened to him? You guess.
 But my hero isn't taking this lying down.
 "I'll appeal," Neilson says. I hope right up to the Supreme Court, if necessary, to determine if pedestrians have any right in the U. S. A. Or, if, like that other vast unorganized majority, the taxpayers, they are just sheep for the shearing.
 If there is one group in this country that has neither rights nor privileges it is the great, unorganized majority of patient citizens who are eternally pushed around by minorities. And no matter how many autos there are in this country, pedestrians still are in the majority.
 I live in a city that has more laws and less enforcement than in any other city in my experience. The crosswalks are always for the motorized small sleek, never for the pedestrians. No policeman ever makes a move to enforce the law in this respect.
 So I am mailing Neilson, at once, a dollar bill for his defense fund. Citizens, arise! You have only your lives to lose! Support Neilson, the public benefactor.
 My only regret is that when Neilson took his historic walk, he wasn't wearing cleats!

The Gallup Poll For The Interests Of The People

PRINCETON, N. J. — In the aftermath of his politically-successful Russian trip, Vice President Nixon is seen by the American public as a youthful, intelligent, aggressive man with the experience to lead — particularly if the world situation should worsen.
 Two out of three voters, in a nationwide Gallup Poll, say they feel Mr. Nixon has the background and experience necessary for the Presidency.
 At the same time, a number of voters — particularly Democrats — feel that Mr. Nixon is perhaps too young for the nation's highest office, tends to be "snooty" or "too quick" and often displays the characteristics of the "shrewd politician."
 Much has been made in Washington circles of the "image" that the vice president has created in the minds of voters.
 To find out just what the "Nixon image" is — as far as the public is concerned — Gallup Poll reporters employed a two-stage approach in a nationwide study conducted since Nixon's debate with Khrushchev at the American exhibit in Moscow.
 Voters were first asked to describe — in their own words — just what kind of a person they thought Nixon was.
 They were next asked a series of questions about certain important qualifications for the Presidency — was Nixon more statesman or politician, did he have the background and experience to be President, and so on.
 From answers on the first count, it is obvious that the Vice President's trip to Moscow and his jousting with Premier Khrushchev had an impact on many voters. Typical was the comment of a beer truck driver from Youngstown, Ohio, himself a Democrat:
 "I liked the way he stood up to Khrushchev. Nixon's a nice guy, as far as I know."
 From comments such as these, a sort of "word-picture" of the vice president emerges.
 Obviously, the favorable aspects of such a "picture" depend to a large degree on a voter's personal politics. Here, for example, is the "word-picture" obtained from typical GOP voters in the survey:

 "Honest... statesman... good-looking... vibrant personality... nice appearance... young man works hard... intelligent... conscientious... fearless... type we need."
 Among many Democrats, interestingly enough, Gallup Poll reporters encountered what might best be described as a "grudging admiration" for what Democrats feel are hard-fighting, even ruthless, political tactics.
 Here are some typical Democratic descriptions of Nixon:
 "Conceited... strong... too young... quick to speak... intelligent... smart politician... quite congenial too forward... shrewd... groomed by the party."
 Perhaps the most important image, in terms of 1960, is the image held by independent voters — a group whose support is crucial for any Republican presidential candidate:
 "Intelligent... young to be where he is... tries hard... has patience... knows the score... too smug... energetic... politician... vigorous... handsaker... good diplomat."
 Against the background of these images, here is how voters across the nation rate Nixon, since his Moscow visit, on certain key presidential qualifications:
 "Do you think Nixon is more of a statesman than a politician, or more of a politician than a statesman?"

Stern New Law To Put End To Lake Wildness

AUSTIN (AP)—Beginning today, water ski cutups and motor boat hot rodders operate at their own risk on Texas lakes and rivers. A water and boat safety act that looks tight and tough on paper went into effect at midnight.

Many sportsmen and outdoors people who generally behave as good citizens should on the water wonder how effective the new regulations will be.

Enforcement is made the general duty of all peace officers—except game wardens who spend a lot of time around the lakes—and the specific duty of none. There also was some doubt expressed during debate in the Legislature about who would decide what constitutes reckless or negligent operation of motor boats and water skis. This section is almost sure to be challenged in court. If it stands up it should help control what one advocate of the bill called "aquatic murder."

The bill was pushed by Gov. Price Daniel and others interested in safety of all kinds for the public. It was approved and goes into effect in a period when a boom in boats and boating and other water sports is crowding the lakes and rivers with all sorts of craft and hosts of inexperienced navigators.

One major section of the bill goes into effect April 1. It provides a $1 registration fee for three years for boats less than 16 feet long and progressively more for larger boats. Some divisions of government which now require boat licenses on lakes they control wonder what they should do about registering craft between now and then.

Another law effective today provides for a 30-day bow and arrow season for big game hunters. Main features of the boat safety law:

Prohibit operation of a motor boat, or use of water skis, while under the influence of liquor. Provide that all boats must carry at least one life preserver per passenger. Require boats operated at night to carry at least one white light. Boats of more than 10 horsepower must have more lights. Boat liveries must keep records of renters and are entitled to a 50 per cent reduction in the registration fee. The law also forbids water skiing at night.

East Texas Is Fog Covered

By The Associated Press
Fog seeped over parts of East Texas Tuesday while clouds promised occasional thundershowers for much of the rest of the state. Amarillo, Palacios, Galveston, Alice, San Antonio and Houston reported partly cloudy to cloudy skies at dawn.

Forecasts called for scattered thundershowers in Northwest and Southwest Texas and thundershowers in East and South Central Texas through Wednesday.

Temperatures began a slow climb upward after Monday's fall-like weather in which most points had maximum readings in the high 80s and low 90s. Exceptions to that rule were Presidio with 105, Cotulla with 101 and Alice and Laredo with 100. Galveston, Sherman and Dalhart were at the other end of the list with maximum temperatures of 88 degrees.

Rainfall reports for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Monday were topped by 1.26 inches at Palacios. Other totals included .33 inch at El Paso, .36 at Rio Grande City, .21 at Kingsville and .07 at Dalhart.

CAP Headquarters Now At Ellington

HOUSTON (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol opened its national headquarters at Ellington AFB here Monday.

The office is being moved here from Bolling AFB in Washington, D.C., where the CAP has maintained headquarters for 13 1/2 of its 18 years.

Suicide Is Ruled

DALLAS (AP)—Milton Roberts, 39, a foreman for Procter and Gamble Manufacturing Co., was found shot to death in his auto Monday night near White Rock Lake here. Justice of Peace W. E. Richburg ruled suicide.

APPEALS TO ALL AGES

Burma Battles To Bring End To Gambling Habits

TAUNGGYL, Burma (AP)—The little boy puffed on a big green cheroot and challenged. "Get your money down, my friends, get your money down."

The villagers, their mouths red with betel juice and faces glistening under the hissing acetylene lantern, clustered around the table.

"One Kyat on the tiger, a deserving wager," said the boy. "What's this—a miserly five pyas for the noble turtle?"

The boy gave the roulette wheel a spin and the gaily-colored animals pictured whirled; a voice demanded, "Come on rabbit." The wheel stopped at a chicken and the boy raked in a pile of kyats.

Charges Filed On 'Platters'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four members of The Platters, a nationally known rock 'n' roll signing group, have been freed on bond under charges of aiding and abetting prostitution.

A professional bandsman put up $1,000 bond each Monday for David Lynch Jr., 30, and Tony Williams, 31, of Hollywood, Calif., Herbert A. Reed, 31, Los Angeles, and Irvin Robi, 26, of El Centro, Calif.

Vice squad detectives arrested the four Negro singers in a raid early Monday at a downtown hotel.

Four 19-year-old girls, three white and one Negro, were also arrested and charged with engaging in prostitution. They were held under $1,000 bond each.

The singers said they had just completed a three-day engagement at the Copa Club in nearby Newport, Ky.

Dime Blocks Boy In Escape Plan

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The lack of a thin dime blocked a State Training School escapee's path to freedom Monday.

Robin Lee Behrens, 18, fled the Gatesville, Tex., school and stole an auto. He drove to the Dallas-Fort Worth area and motored onto the turnpike between the two cities.

When he started to leave it, he didn't have the 10 cents for the toll and attendants called the highway patrol. Behrens was jailed in Fort Worth.

Accepts Film Role

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Wolf Rubinskas has accepted the role in Dolores Del Rio's "Carnino a Roma" which Pedro Armendariz rejected last week.

Two Men Hurt In Uvalde Fire

UVALDE (AP)—Two men were burned when explosions and a raging fire destroyed the Humble Oil Co. distributing station here Monday night.

James D. Billingsley, 39, and Clarence S. Kahutek, 37, San Antonio, were treated at Uvalde Memorial Hospital and moved to Brooke Army Hospital at San Antonio.

Both men were transport drivers for Humble.

The cause of the blast was not determined immediately and no estimate was made of the damage. Two trucks were burned in the fire.

Gas Rate Boost Granted El Paso

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission allowed El Paso Natural Co. of El Paso a natural gas rate increase of about 14 1/2 million dollars a year Monday.

The amount granted is less than the company had sought and which it has been collecting from its customers.

The company was ordered to make refunds of excess amounts it has collected, which are estimated to total more than 15 million dollars. Customers affected are in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Rockefeller And Bride To Visit In West U. S. A.

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP)—Steven Rockefeller and the Norwegian girl he marries Aug. 22 plan an extended honeymoon in the hills of Wyoming, friends here said today.

After their return to New York, Anne Marie Rasmussen Rockefeller will enroll at Columbia University to continue art studies she began at New York's Metropolitan Museum during the months Steven was courting her.

Steven has said he would go into "family business," training to play a role in the administration of one of the greatest fortunes in the world.

Sunday Selling To Draw Finies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence has approved a law calling for fines of $100 for Sunday retail sales of various items effective Sept. 13.

It prohibits the sale of wearing apparel, housewares and office furnishings, hardware and building materials, jewelry, luggage, musical instruments, recordings or toys. Novelties and souvenirs are excepted.

The company was ordered to make refunds of excess amounts it has collected, which are estimated to total more than 15 million dollars. Customers affected are in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Aged Vet Is Losing Battle

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter Williams, last survivor of the Civil War armies, and the nation's oldest veteran, is getting weaker day by day, his doctor says.

Williams, 116, recovered recently from pneumonia, but the illness sapped his strength.

He isn't in extremely critical condition at this time, Dr. Russell Wolfe said, but he is sinking.

The old soldier, who served as a forage master for Hood's Texas Brigade in the Confederate Army has been able to take nourishment only through an eyedropper for several days. He has been fed a mixture of milk, eggs and water. Williams lives here with a daughter.

'CUTE SONGS'

Connie Francis Is Rare Sort Of Modern Female

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A rare female amid leaders of today's record market is Connie Francis, better known to teen-agers as Connie Francis.

The pert, dark-haired 20-year-old from Newark, N.J., is virtually the only female singer who can score with a million-seller these days—her current "You're Gonna Miss Me" appears headed for her fourth gold record.

How does she succeed in this man's—or boy's world?
"Because I sing cute songs," she explained. "Rock 'n' roll is a masculine kind of music."

"The mistake that many girl singers have made is trying to compete with the men. I haven't done that."
"Another reason why the established singers like Patti Page and Teresa Brewer and Joni James haven't been able to hit in the pop field now is teen-age identification. The teen-agers can't identify with some singer in her 30s or even 20s. They want to hear someone their own age."

At 20, Connie realizes that she is in jeopardy. But she is planning for the future.

She said that she isn't touching a cent of her record royalties—seven million discs come to quite a figure. They all go into a trust fund.

Connie was here to tape a TV show with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans which will appear next month. She's a petite girl, but she admitted there was a time when she wasn't so.

"When I was 12, I was 4 feet 11 and weighed 135 pounds," she recalled. "I played the accordion then, and it was good to hide behind."

"I appeared on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts Show one Christmas and decided I might do better if I sang as well as played. I wasn't very good. I got a week's engagement on his morning show, and he suggested I should develop my singing more."

So she shed the accordion and 37 pounds as well, all in two months.

Long Angered By Lawmakers

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Frustrated Gov. Earl K. Long today planned to "carry my fight to the people" after a rebellious Legislature killed his special session before it was an hour old.

Long, trying to rally forces after a stunning and swift defeat, had his sights set on a downtown New Orleans rally tonight — home grounds of his political foe, Mayor Delmas Morrison, one of his opponents in the December Democratic gubernatorial primary.

The governor had little or nothing to say to newsmen after he shuffled from the Legislature ash-en-faced, behind him the echoes of lawmakers applauding their adjournment victory.

But his cronies brushed aside the sudden end as an act of defiance. They contended that Long, now cast in an underdog role, would make political hay out of the incident.

"This will mean 100,000 votes for the governor," said Lt. Gov. Lether Frasier.

Frasier, who presides over the Senate, was unsuccessful in holding back an adjournment stampede, after news got to the Senate of the House's vote to quit.

Rep. Ben Holt of Rapides Parish, a disenchanted Long supporter, led the move to end the 2-day session, which would have cost an estimated $148,000.

Holt said the session "was called for vindictive and personal reasons."
Many members listening were leery of possible new wild outbursts from Long such as those which came at the much-publicized fiscal legislature in May.

Long later collapsed and was spirited by his wife to a Galveston, Tex., mental clinic.

New Sentence For Chessman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caryl Chessman, artful dodger of San Quentin prison's gas chamber, is sentenced to die Oct. 23.

His attorneys plan another appeal because the convict-author wasn't present when Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker set the death date Monday. Chessman had written from San Quentin's death row that he wanted to be present to challenge the court's jurisdiction.

Chessman's legal maneuvering has delayed his execution 11 years. He was convicted in 1948 of a series of robberies, kidnappings and sex crimes.

BACK IN WASHINGTON

Ike Hastens To Clear Way To Start Gettysburg Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower cleans up some long-standing Washington appointments today before hopping back to Gettysburg, Pa., for a vacation.

One is to greet the National Rural Letter Carriers Assn., which opens its convention here today.

The vacation, with golf at the top of the menu, will include considerable work leading up to the President's meetings late this month in Europe with leaders of the Western alliance. He is expected to remain in Gettysburg until near the time of his departure Aug. 26.

Eisenhower Monday set up a Summer White House office in a three-room suite of the Hotel Gettysburg, which overlooks the town's central square. He usually works at his farm outside town when he stays at Gettysburg.

His conferences with European leaders are a prelude to the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that starts Sept. 15.

Although he notified the small hotel in advance, Eisenhower's appearance there Monday to inspect the office space took townspeople by surprise. By the time Eisenhower left the hotel half an hour later a large crowd had collected to cheer him across the sidewalk.

One aspect of the hotel visit took Eisenhower by surprise too. When he reached the hotel lobby he discovered that he was wearing one street shoe and one spiked golf shoe. He had come directly from the golf course and somehow had changed only one shoe on the way. A secret service man made a quick trip back to the car to collect the other shoe for the President.

The President's suite on the third floor of the hotel is right in the middle of the historic Pennsylvania town of 7,000 population. Across the square is a building where Abraham Lincoln paused for a time to polish his Gettysburg address. A drugstore now occupies the street floor.

Down the street to the left of the hotel are a barber shop and a lunch room. Around the corner on the road leading to Harrisburg are a dress shop, a telegraph office, a movie theater and a one-time gymnasium now being used as a press headquarters.

A White House desk, swivel chair, lamp and pen were brought to the hotel office from Washington. The hotel furniture includes three maple chairs, a cane chair and tables with lamps, a small davenport, and a mirror. There also is a 21-inch television set.

PLAN EXPEDITION

Mysteries Of Hole In Ocean Intrigues Japs

TOKYO (AP) — For centuries Japan has been bothered by a hole in the floor of the Pacific Ocean. Now it wants to do something about it.

The Japan Deep, a 1,840-mile-long trench, long has been associated in scientific theory with the earthquakes and tidal waves that have plagued this island nation.

The Japanese government ship Ryofu Maru, manned by scientists, will sail Sept. 5 on a month long mission to unlock some of its mysteries.

The Deep extends, by Japanese reckoning, from a point east of the Southern Kuriles south to the Bonin Islands. At one point near the southern end it is known to reach a depth of 34,038 feet—nearly 6 1/2 miles—one of the deepest places in the Pacific. It is about 60 miles wide.

Hidden in its dark reaches, scientists believe, are undersea volcanoes towering perhaps 10,000 feet from the bottom. Their violent rumblings and stirrings are a possible cause of the earthquakes that keep Japan jiggling and shaking like a bowl of jelly.

The scientists will have aboard the most advanced instruments, purchased with a $130,000 Rockefeller Foundation grant, to take new measurements, soundings and samplings from the deepest areas.

They hope to lift a five meter, (about 16 1/2 feet) long core sample from the bottom of the trench. This would provide a chronological sample, from the top down, of sea life extending a million years into the past—to the period when man first inhabited the Japanese islands.

The scientists also will drop drag nets into the phosphorescent marine life that lives there.

Indictments Are Returned In Bomb Throwing Charge

DALLAS (AP)—The grand jury indicted three men Monday on bomb charges.

James McClane, 21, of Duncanville, Bobby Capers, 21, of Fort Worth and Clyde Binkley, 19, Dallas, are charged with tossing a bomb into the car of G.J. Hill, a non-striking employe of the Securities Engineering Division of Dresser Industries.

Anti-Integration Law Gets Approval

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama has a new law to help ward off court-ordered integration. Gov. John Patterson signed it Thursday. It enabled a school in danger of being desegregated to pull out of city, county and state school systems and form its own independent district.
