Small Group Cuban Rebels Holding Out

of anti - Castro conspirators was reported still holding out in central Cuba today as government raiders continued their roundup over the country of persons suspected of plotting against Fidel

Maj. Raul Castro, brother of the prime minister and commander-in-chief of the armed forces, told an American Marine who had been accidentally caught in the dragnet that 3,000 suspects had been seized.

Unofficial sources said most probably would be released after police sort them out in a hunt for

The report of the holdout conspirators came from Mario Kuchilan, a Cuban journalist and radio commentator close to Prime Minister Castro. Kuchilan said a small group were at large in Las Villas province in central Cuba. He gave no details.

Earlier there had been unconfirmed reports of government troops skirmishing with anti-Castro forces in this agricultural region, which is deeply concerned with the revolutionary regime's land reform program.

Knchilan also charged that the Dominican Republic's dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, had contributed $52,000 and a ton of arms toward the conspiracy. Kuchilan urged students and other Cubans to cable the Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference in Santiago, Chile, demanding the expulsion of the Dominican Republic from the Organization of American States.

No date yet was set for Castro's television and radio report to the nation on the alleged conspiracy. This led to speculation that there were still some remnants to be cleaned up. But a government spokesman said Castro is about ready to take to the air

Presidential Minister Luis Buch lenied Washington columnist Drew Pearson's report that Castro had been wounded last week-

"Prime Minister Castro is alive and in good health," Buch told newsmen Tuesday night, "He has not suffered any accidents nor has he been wounded.

Two more Americans-a woman journalist and a photographerwere picked up by police Tuesday night.

Jean Secon, a part-time employe of United Press International, and Alexander Rorke, a free lance photographer from New York, were taken into custody after they went to the home of Maj. William N. Morgan, an American serving in Castro's forces, to seek interviews.

Morgan was credited in some reports with helping to uncover the anti-Castro plot by posing as a conspirator. A conflicting report said he really was a conspirator and was being held.

Miss Secon told a reporter who reached her by telephone at Morgan's home that she was "okay and expected to be released mo-

She said she did not know Morgan's whereabouts. Rorke also was held at Morgan's home.

Khrushchev told a Moscow news conference last Wednesday that if go." He added he would go to America as a peaceful man and would not have any rocket stick-

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the President told a news conference. If he does not want to see any establishments, that's okay

Discussing the Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

He also plans, Eisenhower said, to ask why Khrushchev does not permit progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

Eisenhower said he is most anxious for Khrushchev to see the fine, small, modest homes in The tax rate for 1959 was boosted Steinheimer to work out an which Americans live, including ed from $1.20 to $1.50 per $100 amendment to the curb and guithose in such specific places as valuation at the regular meeting of the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday.

He added that he would like the Soviet Premier also to go into the little town where he was born-Denison, Tex.-and hear from the people there how Eisenhower worked in the early years of his life. OTHER PLANS

In response to a series of questions about the Khrushchev visit here next month and his visit to the U.S.S.R. later, Eisenhower also said: 1. He hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to engage in negotiation or act as a spokes man for the West. He also hopes that Khrushchev will get better information about the United States and that he will get better information about the Soviet Union on his trip there. 2. Eisenhower does not plan to accompany Khrushchev tour around the United States. They may visit Gettysburg or nearby Camp David, Md., together but so far that is only a possi bility:

3. His decision to invite Khrushchev to the United States and to national schedule this fall and go to the Soviet Union is not by any means a reversal of the policies of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, He often talked with Dulles about such visits, and as long ago as the last month of 1958 they began to feel that their diplomacy should be reinforced by something new in this respect. 4. On his trip to the U.S.S.R. Eisenhower would like to see people and find out what they are like. He said that as a state visitor he will be surrounded by great crowds all the time and will not

He would wait until his parents retired, then sneak out of doors and into the night to visit the unguarded houses in the neighbor-

He took small items, and smalk amounts of money, police said. He used just about all of the money to buy candy and toys.

Colorado City Whopper

Earnest Parish of 305 E. 5th Street, Big Spring, proudly displays a 40-pound yellow catfish he caught on a trotline off Cherry Creek in Lake Colorado City earlier this week, using perch as bait. Earnest says he's caught 15 catfish there the past two months. Mrs. Parish didn't make the trip with her husband—she says he never catches anything when she goes along.

championship by eight games. Last year, Milwaukee took 17 out of 22 from the Reds and again won by eight games. It's a little different this year.

Including last night's split of a doubleheader, the Braves have been able to win only six of the 14 games played with the Reds. Hence they're in third place today, 31/2 games behind the league leading San Francisco Giants. The Braves had to come from behind to win the second game

LOOKING

With Tommy Hart

When the idea for a youths' organized baseball program was originally conceived, the noble souls doing the thinking foresaw a generation of young men learning the values of sportsmanship, pulling together and abiding defeat when it does come.

Victory itself was supposed to be of secondary value—some everyone sought by instinct but not at the expense of damaging one's

The modern concept behind Little League and Teen-Age baseball has degenerated into something else, regrettably, and certainly not to the credit of some of the people running such programs or to those parents who think their young heroes have been permanently and hopelessly disgraced when they expose themselves to defeat.

In the Teen-Age Tournament conducted here last week, there were certain adults who dedicated themselves to the task of harrassing the work of both game and tournament individuals. They were being closely observed by young athletes who must number of points have long since concluded that honor and dignity were ingredients one through four.

that might have been fashionable in King Arthur's time but were strictly 'old hat' in the present day and age, where the idea is to succeed-no matter what the cost. Regrettably, few of us can see ourselves as we really are. We can quickly analyze an acquaintance's shortcomings but tend to be $2 and half that for juniors.

It is suggested that all arches pride ourselves on are often the most damaging to us.

It's bad enough for the so-called mature people to conduct themselves in such ways in their own circles. When they set themselves up as patterns for the youth of the land to follow, however, that's something else again.

If adults can't conduct themselves with any more poise and grace than some of those who watched the local tournament and made known their displeasure at the manner in which things were going through the most debasing kind of conduct, then perhaps it is time to abandon the youths' program entirely.

The boys themselves are not wholly without blame. They've come to expect something for nothing, of getting material rewards from victory rather than being satisfied with success itself. They're making unreasonable demands on those persons who are in the programs solely because they want to help.

What has happened to the American sense of fair play? It seems to be as extinct as the dodo bird. In its wake, its assassins have left plenty of fingerprints.

Johnny Goodman, the Nebraskan who was the last amateur win the United States Open Golf tournament (in 1933) has recovered from a serious illness and is golfing again. The 49-year-old Goodman is now a resident of Los Angeles.

The jury did not recommend mercy and Superior Court Judge Samuel J. Boykin sentenced the three to be electrocuted at Reidsville State Prison Oct. 2.

The verdict was read in a tense courtroom closely guarded by State Patrolmen and Georgia ment that he and the older woman Bureau of Investigation agents. The first three rows were cleared had gone together previously was and spectators warned against a "damnable lie." He added that George Alford Jr., 18, of Dayton, Ohio; Clifford Johnson, 22, and Brannon Epps, 24, both of La Grange, accepted the sentence with the same stoical expressions they had maintained throughout the two-day trial.

They had nothing to say when then judge offered them an opportunity to speak before passing sentence. He ordered them held in a safe place until they were taken to the state prison.

The younger girl, a cousin from West Hollywood, Fla., testified she was thrown down in the back of a pickup truck after her clothing had been taken from her. Ripped undergarments were introduced as evidence. The three Negroes in the pickup

You can correct this kind of irregularity by eating a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk each day. Bran, you know, is nature's best bulk-forming food and Kellogg's All-Bran is whole bran. Even a small amount gives you all the bulk needed for youthful, natural regularity.

Millions stay on schedule this appetizing good-food way. Try Kellogg's All-Bran for 10 days and see if it doesn't work for you, too.

A Devotional For Today

Then Samuel answered, Speak; for thy servant heareth. (1 Samuel 3:10.)

PRAYER: O loving Lord, help us not to fill our prayer time with continual talking. Teach us to wait upon Thee and patiently listen to Thy word of encouragement, correction, or hope. This is not easy to do, but we ask Thee to show us the way. In Jesus' name. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

Hands Off Red Chief!

First offering of the new TV season, following a summer of the usual dreary reruns of old stuff and the customary splate of new "falent," comes on (NBC) Aug. 16, Sunday.

The vehicle chosen is O. Henry's "The Ransom of Red Chief," a short story which one re-reads always with delight; but what survives of it to reach the screen remains to be seen. What an industry that can take notorious outlaws of frontier days and make modern-day heroes out of them, by converting bandits into "lawmen," can do to a work of literary art is simply unimaginable. The story of Red Chief is that of a rambunctious boy who is carried off by kidnapers and held for ransom. He makes life so miserable for his captors that they wind up by offering his family a handsome bonus to take him off their hands.

O. Henry wrote very few kid stories — in fact, offhand, we can recall only The Ransom of Red Chief — and that's a pity; for no other short story writer of our acquaintance ever wrote a wittier or more delightful one.

It is admittedly not easy to convert literature to play-acting with fidelity to the original, but Hollywood is notorious for borrowing a name and a title and going ahead with what it conceives as its bounden duty to produce something not even resembling the original author's product. But fidelity can be achieved, and we hope they don't lay profane hands on Red Chief, the All-American boy.

Pre-Visit Preparations Broaden

President Eisenhower's activities in Western Europe as a prelude to his confabulations with Khrushchev later broadened over the weekend to include a chat with Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany in Bonn on August 27.

Indeed, he is starting his schedule a day earlier than originally planned in order to meet with Adenauer and smooth that old gentleman's ruffled feathers. He will spend five days in Britain - August 28-Sept. 1 — conferring with Prime Minister Macmillan, with a possible side trip to Scotland to pay his respects to Queen Elizabeth II, now with child. He will go to Paris Sept. 2 for a stay for several days with President De Gaulle, where the Italian premier also will talk

Khrushchev is coming to the U.S. September 15, a visit that will be returned in Moscow by the President later in the

The necessity of visiting with his Western European colleagues before the Khrushchev visit and his own trip to Moscow was obvious, and failure to include Adenauer from the start was a curious oversight. Adenauer began to grutnble his fear that the Western allies might make concessions to the Russians regarding Berlin, and Mr. Eisenhower evidently decided the old man needed reassur-

For that matter, the parley with his colleagues in Britain and France as a prelude to meeting Khrushchev was clearly a must. One of Khrushchev's main objectives for years has been to split the U.S. and its Allies, and an Eisenhower-Khrushchev get-together over the heads of our Allies could only arouse fears among them. It still remains to be seen whether the preliminary London-Paris-Bonn meetings will be sufficient to still these natural misgivings among our Allies, and it is certain Khrushchev will leave no stone unturned to give the impression that he and Ike are planning to run things to suit themselves.

This is just one of the many grave risks involved in the exchange of visits between Washington and Moscow, and it can be hoped that Washington is fully aware of this and other "calculated risks."

Not the least of them is that the American people, anxious for peace as they always are, will build high hopes on the set-up, and start building air castles in Spain only to have their hopes blasted later on. In the excitement they might forget that Khrushchev's word is exactly what is delivered - and not what is

Where Is 'Hate Money' Coming From?

WASHINGTON - To what extent is communist money back of the racist and "hate" literature being so widely spread throughout the world? Are the bombings of synagogues in the southern part of this country in some way related to an international conspiracy? If so, have not the people of the South been unjustly stigmatized and blamed for something with which they have had nothing to do? It is a communist objective, of course, to foment discord and internal friction within all free countries.

The latest and most significant piece of information on the subject of "hate" literature has just come out in a formal report filed at the plenary assembly of the World Jewish Congress held in Stockholm. Sweden, only a week ago, It says in part:

"There is evidence that anti-Semitic organizations, institutions or individual adventurers in this field have established interlocking international relationships in order to facilitate the dissemination of racist material on an international scale.

'Thus Australia has been regularly supplied with material of the vilest kind exported from the United States and the United Kingdom, while, from Australia itself, anti-Semitic literature has turned up in Turkey in quantities sufficiently significant to alarm the Jewish community, "From Sweden there has come a ceaseless stream of anti-Semitic material ostensibly produced and distributed by a single individual, which has turned up in Germany, South Africa and various Latin American states, all areas carefully chosen because, for historical reasons, this material might make an impact. This by no means exhausts the story of the international effort to revive anti-Semitism; we have cited only a number of conspicuous examples which we have brought to the notice of the governments concerned and to the United Nations. "These governments have invariably received our representatives with the utmost sympathy but, with rare exceptions, have equally invariably expressed their legal inability to deal with a phenomenon which we do not doubt they find deeply

In another statement placed before the Stockholm meeting by its director of in-ternational affairs, Dr. M. L. Perlzweig of New York City, reference is made to the attitude of the Soviet Union towards Jews from that country who were invited to attend the World Jewish Conference. The Moscow government claimed that the acceptance of the invitations was entirely up to Soviet Jews, but, although the invitations were sent to Jewish religious communities, their reply was that, since the assembly would be dealing with "political matters," it would not be prop-er for them to attend. The Stockholm

"Disquieting reports are reaching us regarding the position of Jewish religious life in the Soviet Union. We hear that synagogues are being closed, particularly the synagogue in Czernovitz. Many Jewish tourists are welcomed to the Soviet Union, but among those who were refused visas, were a number of rabbis. All this is relevant to the answer we received from the Soviet Union." On April 30, 1958, this correspondent wrote a dispatch calling attention to the bombing of a Negro school and Jewish synagogue in Jacksonville, Fla., and pointed out that the anonymous telephone warnings used phrases about "undergrounds" and other words from the vocabulary of communist agents. On Oct. 14, 1958, this writer noted that the bombing of a Jewish temple in Atlanta followed the pattern of similar incidents in Miami, Jacksonville and other parts of the South. Yet, as pointed out then, it is conceded widely that there is less anti-Semitism in the South than in any other part of the United States.

On Dec. 15, 1958, reference was made in these dispatches to a statement made by then Senator-elect Kenneth B. Keating New York after a tour of the South. He said there was a "strong suspicion" that the bombing of schools, homes and places of worship in the South may have been fomented by Communists.
Then on Jan. 26, 1959, this correspondent called attention to a series of five articles published by the New York Daily News. They were written by one of its staff reporters, David Burk, and in them he told the results of several months of investigation into "the men and the groups tailored into the network of hate and violence" in this country. He said there was "a mass of evidence of direct liaison be-tween agents of the United Arab Republic and leaders of the American race groups held responsible by United States authorities for the Atlanta bombing."

It seems strange, also, that there is a big organization of Negroes in the United States, claiming to be "Moslems," which is fighting the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and is preaching anti-Semitism and anti-Ameri-canism as its creed, "Time" magazine in its Aug. 10 issue says: "The Moslems' are of rising concern to respectable Negro civic leaders, to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the police de-partments in half a dozen cities, and to ## all, early settlers put out cottonwoods. Long before the turn of the century there were giant cottonwoods around the T&P depot and John Birdwell's railroad hotel Later, when these structures were replaced, the railroad YMCA was sheltered by these stately giants, and indeed most of the courtyard was bathed in shade. The old switch shanty had its cottonwood, and down below the old depot these sentinels provided shade for the waiting crowds.

At least two places in Texas are named Cottonwood after copious groves of these trees. One was in Callahan County, which once was a thriving community with a cannery, and another is in Madison County where it is just a crossroads. No less than 39 Texas streams are known as Gottonwood creek, and understandably, a majority of them are in the western part of Texas. Two other streams are known as Cottonwood Draw.

Half a century ago, the most popular place for picnics was Roper's Grove, east of town between what is now Second and Thirds streets. Later it was known as Parrish Park and was the place of community gatherings, including the Old Settlers Reunion. Remnants of a few of the old cottonwoods may be seen there today.

Some said that the cottonwood wasn't long lived plant, but it lived long enough to be a huge tree for this country. It certainly lived a lot logger than some errant brethren who appropriated someone else's horse and found themselves hanging from a cottonwood bough.

Rightly, these Americans are fed to the teeth with abuse of the power to tax, that is, with wholesale waste of their blood money by reckless Congressional action and careless government spending. My countrymen are equally fed up with all subsidies, with labor unions as a haven for racketeering and ex-cons, and with over-all Congressional cowardice in the face of pressure groups and blocs.

"But what can we do about it?" ask these correspondents whose red blood is at the boiling point. And at this point my blood begins to boil, too.

The question itself is a cowardly evasion of personal responsibility. Since when have Americans had to sit down, wring their ballpoint pens and write columnists for advice on how to fight public inertia, waste, incompetence and poltroonery in government? Or how to wrestle with theft, mismanagement, goons, ex-convicts and theft in public areas that clearly fall within the purview of Congressional regula-

What Americans can do in such situations is quite simple and quite sublime. I am ashamed that any would ask, if they have had even a grade-school education in which the fundamentals of government were properly taught. To redress their just grievances, we Americans have only to exercise the privilege for which our ancestors fought; the secret ballot. The voting booth is the most powerful reform element and the greatest deterrent to public malfeasance in this nation. The ultimate veto and blue pencil remain in the hands of the conscientious voter." How many of us, once we cast our ballot for a member of the House or Senate, ever bother to check to inform ourselves on how Representative Jones voted on the pork barrel and Senator Smith on highways?

Before I am deluged with inquiries by helpless citizens who never do anything themselves if they can con someone else into doing it for them, I can make at least one concrete suggestion on the means of checking the voting records of our Congressmen.

In my home town, which happens to be in New York, the newspapers publish each week the voting record of every New York Congressman on all major legislation. Any number of newspapers throughout the nation print this record for their districts. Maybe, indignant chums, it is in your paper and you have

But if the home-town paper doesn't publish these vital statistics, visit the editor and keep annoying him until he does, The record doesn't take up much space, and is an invaluable guide to the voter. That is, if he studies it,

Once every two years, the informed voter has a chance to go to the polls and register either his approbation or his rejection of his Congressman. But if he doesn't keep himself informed as to his representatives' voting record, then his balloting is no more than a gesture and he has no kick coming if he continues to keep a misfit in Congress.

And, please, spare me any missives insisting that "one vote doesn't count." It's one vote, added to all the other one votes, that give this country either good or bad government, Every election I go to the polls as if my very life depended on it. And, brother, it does!

It's just recognition that consumer credit plays a major role today in American life. The total is now around 46 billion dollars. Of that 35 billion dollars are of the instalment payment type. Of the rest some four billion dollars are carried as charge accounts.

This old faithful of family life is gathering new recruits and new variations. Among the latest is Macy's, the giant New York department store which boasted for 100 years it could sell for 6 per cent less than its competitors because of its all-cash policy. It has just come out with a charge account variation which lets it balance its books each night on a cash basis, but lets its customers pay later-sometimes quite a bit later by paying more. Macy's officials say initial response was far beyond expectations.

Other stores some of them of the more recent low-price variety-have met onthe-cuff buying competition of late by sending customers to the banks for instalment loans. Thus the stores get the cash and let the banks do the collecting-for a price.

Other variations on the old-fashioned charge account are the budget plan, which calls for a monthly payment based on the amount owed, and the open-end accountwhich is a fixed payment each month despite what the month's new charges lars-against which the customer can charge. If his deposit stays in long enough he gets 11/2 per cent interest at an annual rate.

The store's new plan lets customers set up a credit rating and then charge purchases. The bank pays Macy's the total of such chargings each night. But the customer has the choice of paying without cost within 10 days of billing, or paying at least one fifth in cash and being charged by Macy's Bank 11/2 per cent a month service charge on the un-Commercial banks are out for this retail credit business. More than 200 have gone in for charge account banking this year. At least as many have gone in for revolving credit plans. The profits are reported to be handsome. A typical charge account system is that of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York. In eight months it has listed 5,000 participating merchants and 320,000 individual credit cardholders. Merchants pay a $25 entrance fee and a service charge that varies between 6 per cent and 3 per cent a month depend-ing on size of credit sales. The consumer can buy at any or all of the member stores but gets just one monthly bill. There's no charge if the bill is paid within 10 days. If not, he must pay at least one fifth in cash and is charged 1 per cent a month on the re-mainder. Typical of the revolving credit planmething like England's long-time overdraft banking-is the one used by another

Low Grade Tomatoes Menace U.S. Market

His opposite number, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, had a different idea. He said he hopes that "late on Saturday, Sept. 5, the members of Congress will decide they have been in Washington long enough and they will go home." Only three days ago Johnson's right hand man, Assistant Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, had still another guess

In recent peacetime years Con-gress never has stayed in session into September.

But it is important to Johnson, who has presidential aspirations for next year, for this Demo-cratic-controlled Congress to prether man in the two Congress, Johnson has the power and backing of his majority to "you have done enough; now we can adjourn."

House and Senate must agree jointly on adjournment. Another consideration is the Sept. 15 visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to this coun-ry.

If Congress were still in session, it would be expected to invite the Soviet premier to address it. For obvious political reasons, this prospect is not very palatable to congressmen of either party. So they want to get out of town before Khrushchev arrives and avoid embarrassment.

Johnson denied that Khrush-chev's visit was a factor in his hinking about adjournment. But he had a lot to say about what Congress still has to produce.
"We are going to have an effective anti-labor racketering bill passed and we are going to stay here until we pass one," he said. Johnson added: "We are also going to pass effective housing, pollution measures. I don't think know enough about how much time this will take to set any target date for adjournment.

DeMille Has Fixed Rule For His Film Writers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Hit sex Nothing else on earth matters."

These were Cecil B. De Mille's instructions to his crews of writers. They may help to explain De Mille to a Hollywood that is beast past Mature's dressing still puzzling over his strange room. The actor's only comment: genius six months after his death. The words are contained in a fascinating new biography, "Yes, and fought a stuffed animal. Mr. De Mille," by Phil Koury, for seven years the great man's publicity chief and now a Kansas City attorney. It will probably remain the most honest and the most interesting of the books to be written about the showman. Here are some things you can learn: De Mille strove mightly to get Vic Mature to fight a real lion in hard! Keep the stuff down to a cub and was fed on milk, Mature earth. Your job is to please me. commented: "I was raised on milk, too, but I eat meat now." The director even got co-star Hedy Lamarr to parade the aging "You're so beautiful, Hedy, I can see how any lion would follow you around." But he held his ground

"Samson and Delilah." He argued

The director's outbursts on the set were legendary. Seeing two assistant directors chatting idly one day, he intoned into the microphone before the huge cast and crew: "I'm running a set costing $50,000 a day, and you gentlemen seem to have found time to play at marbles. If you are not quite up to this whole thing, may I suggest that you find yourself another picture, perhaps one with a kindergarten hour."

Searfaring Water Boy

Ben Larsen, who supplies drinking water to ships, tanks up the

FRESH WATER MAN

Taking Water To Ships Is This Man's Business

er - drinking water. He's one of the few men anywhere engaged in this type of bus-Larsen owns a squat, 42-foot wa- Javelin Throw terboat, the Priscilla. Sometimes the vessel is busy on the Delaware River for 36 hours contin-for two or three weeks. Larsen's service supplements regular Philadelphia port facilities for supplying drinking water to bounced off a tree limb and killed uously. Sometimes it may lie idle

When a ship docks at a pier where there are no such facilities or where the water pressure is beside her collarbone with such too low to do the job, Larsen gets a call. Moments later he heads the Priscilla across river to a pier at Camden, N. J., where it takes on a capacity 40-ton water load from an artesian well line.
