Haiti Claims Cuban Rebels Have Landed On Its Coast

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Haiti protested to the Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference today against the invasion of that Negro republic by a small band of revolutionaries.

The Haitian delegation said the invaders, who terrorized a village after landing Thursday, are believed to have come from Cuba. Haitian troops are hunting them.

This was the first case of violence formally brought to the attention of the conference, called to discuss Caribbean tension.

Haiti's foreign minister, Louis Mars, delivered the protest to Foreign Minister German Vergara Donoso of Chile, chairman of the conference.

The Haitian note, however, may be referred to the Organization of American States instead of being taken up formally by the ministers. Their meeting is scheduled to wind up Tuesday.

Mars declared Haiti is "the victim of aggression whose manifest objective is to alter public order and menace the stability of a constitutional government."

His complaint noted that about 30 men with long beards and green uniforms, who were possibly Cuban revolutionaries, had landed on Haiti's south coast.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's brother Raul was due in Santiago as the foreign ministers of Latin America and the United States argued final details of a compromise plan to calm the Caribbean.

The younger Castro's impact on in their sixth day—was likely to be light. It was not even certain he would appear before the conference. However, it was understood in Havana that he was bringing documents purporting to link the Dominican Republic's dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, with the anti-Castro conspiracy the Cuban regime says it uncovered last week.

The foreign ministers meanwhile hammered out agreement on a set of resolutions being presented to the conference's general committee. It was expected they would be signed at a final conference session Tuesday.

The key resolution would give the already existing Inter-American Peace Committee of the Organization of American States temporary powers to study "methods and procedures to prevent activities originating abroad designed to overthrow constituted governments."

The aim is to prevent such things as the invasion of Panama last April by about 100 men, mostly Cubans, recent invasions of Nicaragua from Costa Rica and Honduras, the Dominican campaign against Castro and Castro's against Trujillo.

The resolution balances this fire prevention agency urged by the United States with provisions to meet demands by Cuba and Venezuela for emphasis on strict observance of human rights and representative democracy and economic help for underdeveloped nations.

The United States is chairman of the peace committee. Other members are Venezuela, Uruguay, El Salvador and Mexico. The committee's findings will be reported to the regular Inter-American foreign ministers' conference scheduled to be held in Quito, Ecuador, next year.

Raul Castro said he was going to Santiago to convey the good will of the Cuban people. But during a stopover in Caracas Sunday night he described the conference as farcical and said his brother is not interested in it. He also described the OAS as "useless."

"Nobody in it realizes or will deal with the real problem in the Caribbean and in all Latin America, which is the economic problem," he declared.

NATION MOURNS

Bill Halsey, Hero Of WW II, Is Dead

FISHERS ISLAND, N.Y. (AP)—President Eisenhower led the nation today in mourning the death of Fleet Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey.

Halsey, 76, died here Sunday of a heart attack while vacationing. He gained fame as the admiral who chased the Japanese fleet to its death in the Pacific in World War II.

Eisenhower, who heard the news of Halsey's death at Gettysburg, Pa., said he had lost a warm personal friend, and the nation one of its "great natural leaders."

"His great personal contribution to the successful campaigns in the Pacific and the exploits of the years under his command are a brilliant part of American military history," said Eisenhower.

Only four men have held the title of fleet admiral—a life rank Halsey's death leaves Chester W. Nimitz as the only one surviving. At Berkeley, Calif., Nimitz said that Halsey "has left for all of us a shining example of courage and service."

Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke said in Washington that Halsey "leaves a heritage of inspiration to those now in the Navy."

Another great military figure of the Pacific war, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said, "He was one of our greatest admirals, and his name will always be associated with our great victory over Japan."

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said, "His passing is a profound loss to the U.S. Navy, our country, and to the free world."

Halsey was born in Elizabeth, N.J., the son of a ship captain. He was never an outstanding scholar, but managed to enter Annapolis, and played fullback on the football team. On graduation in 1904, the yearbook called him "a real old salt."

When Halsey took command of Navy forces in the South Pacific in 1942, the tide of war was running heavily in favor of Japan.

ADM. WILLIAM HALSEY

"We had nothing but a shoestring. We were told to hold on, and we held on—from Guadalcanal to Tokyo," he said later.

"When I had the 3rd Fleet, I had a tremendous steamroller," Halsey said. "I could do anything I damned pleased. But in those early days, I was scared to death all the time. The Japs had everything. They could have wiped us out."

His daring made the shoestring fleet a telling weapon. His motto was simple—"Hit hard, hit fast and hit often."

Only a few months after taking command, he led his forces deep into the Pacific for a strike at the Marshall and Gilbert islands, the first big naval offensive of the war.

Repeatedly he scored against superior enemy forces. "We get away with it," he once explained, "because we violate all traditional rules of naval warfare. We do the exact opposite of what they expect us to do. Most important, whatever we do, we do fast."

Finally his forces gained control of the Pacific and in 1945, during a 35-day period, his command destroyed or damaged 2,804 enemy planes, sank or damaged 148 Japanese combat ships and sank or damaged 1,596 merchant ships.

Historians expressed mixed views of his role in the battle of Leyte Gulf, in 1944. Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill said Halsey was decoyed into a trap. But Halsey maintained he was right. He said he would do exactly the same again, adding, "Hell, all's well that ends well."

As the war ended, Halsey's 3rd fleet was shelling Japanese coastal cities, and finally led the way into Tokyo Bay for the surrender. The surrender was signed on his flagship, the battleship Missouri. He went on inactive status in 1947.

Later he served as a director and officer of several corporations.

He leaves his widow, a son, William F. Halsey III, and a daughter, Mrs. Preston L. Spruance.

Woman Says She Was Held By Kidnapers

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The wife of an American businessman was back at her Mexico City home today and saying she had been held by kidnapers for 86 hours.

Otelia Perez Sheperd, mother of two children, disappeared last Tuesday afternoon, police said. Her husband, William Sheperd, is collection manager for Sears Roebuck of Mexico.

Police have not been able to question Mrs. Sheperd in detail because her doctor has her under sedation.

The police said Mrs. Sheperd told them she was kidnaped at gunpoint near a downtown bank, put in a car, blindfolded and taken to a bare, second-story room in a district she could not identify.

The woman said she was held captive by two youths and a girl and was not allowed to sleep.

The police reported a letter was found Friday on the grounds of the local Sears store demanding 30,000 pesos—$2,400—ransom. The letter told Sheperd to place an advertisement saying, "Jesus, everything ready, advise me."

Mrs. Sheperd said that meanwhile, on Friday night, her captors blindfolded her again, drove her to a strange neighborhood and released her. She said she borrowed bus fare and took a taxi home after getting off the bus.

After Sheperd's ad appeared in Saturday morning's papers, police said, he got a telephone call asking only 10 per cent of the original ransom money.

Officers told him to do nothing. Mrs. Sheperd meanwhile returned home.

Expert Says Red Missile Sub Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said today the Soviet Union probably has submarines able to launch ballistic missiles. The United States still is only building the test of its submarines which will be able to launch Polaris missiles.

At a news conference, Burke was asked if Soviet submarines now are able to fire only the slow air-breathing missiles or the swift, high-projectile ballistic missiles.

"I think they probably have both," he replied.

He added that the Soviets have been doing a great deal of work in the submarine and missile field. Burke did not say how many ballistic missile launching submarines he thought the Soviet Union might have.

Until now, Navy officials had suggested that Soviet submarines probably were capable of handling only the air-breathing missiles.

There is no known counterweapon capable of intercepting ballistic missiles, though the United States is working on the problem.

Air-breathing missiles can be fired only from the surface, Burke said in answer to a question. Ballistic missiles can be launched from submarines hiding well below.

Burke said he thought it possible that a Russian submarine sighted and photographed last May near Iceland had missile launching capability. He said it seemed to be a "fairly new" type.

Miss Baker, Space Flier, Not To Wed

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Miss Baker, the space monkey, is still too young to marry, says a Navy physiologist.

The only reason a male monkey shared her cage for a couple of weeks was to alleviate a "monkey housing problem" at Pensacola Naval Air Station, said Dr. Donald Stulken.

The housing shortage has been solved and Miss Baker's platonic friend has moved out. But the scientists are hunting a bridegroom in anticipation of the day she reaches maturity.

Miss Baker, a young squirrel monkey, survived a 1,700-mile ride in the "monkey" of a ballistic missile May 28. She was accompanied by Able, a Rhesus monkey, on the 10-mile an hour trip. Able later died on the operating table.

The Navy scientists are preparing a "honeymoon cage" for Miss Baker. They want to find out whether Miss Baker's history-making ride in a rocket will have any effect on her offspring.

Former Webb Flier Killed When Parachute Fails Open

The body of Capt. Russell Nelson, 27, formerly stationed at Webb AFB, was being returned here Monday for final rites.

Capt. Nelson, husband of the former Diana Farquhar, was killed Saturday when he parachuted from his fuelless jet fighter near New Boston, N. H. Associated Press dispatches Monday said that his parachute failed to open.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Farquhar left Sunday for California to accompany their daughter back here. The remains will be shipped to the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

More than 100 Air Force men, police and volunteers conducted a 12-hour air and land search for Capt. Nelson before an air rescue team from Otis AFB found his body in a wooded area.

Capt. Nelson, who was stationed at George AFB, Calif., was on a flight from Elgin AFB, Fla. to Westover AFB, Chicopee, Mass. when his fighter plane ran out of fuel.

Earlier another pilot on the same flight route had to ditch his plane when it ran out of fuel six miles from where the dead pilot was found. Capt. James Harwood, also of George AFB, parachuted to safety and was picked up by state police as he emerged from woods. He was uninjured.

Capt. and Mrs. Nelson met here when he was stationed at Webb AFB. He was active in the First Baptist Church, where he frequently played the organ. Soon after their marriage on Aug. 2, 1954, they were transferred to Portland, Ore., and later to the California base.

Besides his wife, Capt. Nelson leaves three children, Barry Douglas, 5, Debra, 3, and Russell, 2. Capt. Nelson was a native of Boston, Mass.

Crossland has been out of work most of this year, at first due to an ankle injury and then by the current steel strike. He is a pipe fitter.

"It all depends on what her doctors advise," Mrs. J. L. Crossland said this morning.

The money problem has been solved, Mrs. Crossland said. Radio station KBYG reported about $1,200 had been raised through broadcasts Sunday and Mrs. Crossland reported she had received about $38 in the mail this morning. She also said they had about $52 that had been brought to the residence at 205 Nolan.

Jack Davis, cashier at the First National Bank, said this morning that one check had been sent in blank to be filled in for the amount of the hospital bills at Galveston.

The parents report Suzie has been bleeding considerably during the night and they were preparing to take her back to Galveston this morning. If the doctors at John Sealey hospital give their approval, Mrs. Crossland said the trip to Disneyland would probably start Wednesday or Thursday.

Suzie has leukemia, a dreaded blood disease with no known cure. Doctors have given her only six months to live. The fund raising appeal was started after a Herald story pointed out the plight of the family.

Tommy Loses Derby Chance But Says He Is Not Unhappy

By BOB SMITH AKRON, Ohio (SC)—Barney Townsend of Anderson, Indiana, won the 1959 All-American Soap Box Derby before an estimated 75,000 people including Vice-President Richard E. Nixon here Sunday afternoon.

The win was the second for a Townsend in three years. His brother, Terry, copped the Derby prize in 1957.

Tommy Welch didn't win any prizes but it's been a week he'll never forget it.

Tommy, Big Spring's entry in the 22nd annual Derby, came in third in the second heat Sunday in an afternoon marked by spills, chills and thrills. It was also an afternoon marked by fanfare, tension and excitement.

Lightning knocked out a generator at TESCO's Morgan Creek plant and disrupted service briefly in several area cities.

Among rain reports were .5 on the W. L. McKinney farm at Center Point where there also was high wind. Ed Carpenter reported .7 of an inch at Vincent. L. J. Davidson, in the Center Point area, had .60.

TESCO reported .19 at its switching station east of town, and .30 at the plant on the north side of town. It also had 1.50 at Lamesa, .20 at Otischalk, and .37 at Snyder.

Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, said the NAACP would go to court to fight any attempt to segregate Negro students in class. He said the U.S. Supreme Court had ruled in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Area now have exceeded the total for this time last year.

School officials re-scheduled classes for Ann McLeod, one of 700 white students at Hall High, so she won't have to sit with any of the three Negro girls who integrated Hall last week.

Ann's father, attorney John A. McLeod Jr., invoked a little-noted state law to get segregated classes for his daughter. School officials agreed the law, passed with a batch of other segregation measures in the 1958 special legislative session, was valid. The law says no student can be forced to sit in the same classroom with a person of another race.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Al Milch, the athletic director of the local high school, is dickering with Corpus Christi officials for a two-game series starting in 1960 with one of the football powers of that city.

If it does jell, the first game would be played here. Milch reasons the biggest crowd in local history would pay to see such a contest.

Don Newbury, the Brownwood writer, says it appears the high school there will field the best football team since the Ray Masters' era. Masters was a senior there in 1953-54 and was on the team which lost two games to Big Spring in one season, one of them in the playoffs.

Newbury says the Lions will be able to field a defensive line weighing 205 pounds. On offense, the Brownwood primary will go 190 pounds to the man.

The Lions are mentioned here because they open 1959 play against a District 2-AAAA team, San Angelo.

Last year's Brownwood club finished a 6-4 won-loss record and wound up second to Breckenridge within its own conference. The Lions have 14 lettermen back from that team, which means Coach Roland Warren can install a veteran at every position, if he so dictates.

Even though the Lions will be loaded, Newbury doesn't see much hope for them in conference play, not as long as Breckenridge is doing business there.

Brownwood and other 4-AAAA teams have a complex about Breckenridge, similar to the one all 2-AAAA elevens have about Abilene.

San Angelo can't afford to take Brownwood lightly. At the same time, it must point for a Sept. 18 outing against that perennial Corpus Christi toughie, Ray.

Bob Harrell, the San Angelo mentor, has booked some rugged opposition to prepare his Bobcats for the 2-AAAA wars.

In addition to Brownwood and CC Ray, the Tabbies play Dallas Samuels (Sept. 25), San Antonio Jefferson (Oct. 2) and El Paso Austin (Oct. 9) before plunging into conference play against Odessa High in Odessa Oct. 16.

The Cats should have trouble with all of them but El Paso Austin, which they manhandled last year, 33-0.

Larry Hickman, the Baylor football great who played in last week's College All-Star-Baltimore Colt game at Chicago, says no one ever hit him harder than Dave Baker of Oklahoma did in a pre-game practice session.

"When he hit me," Hickman recalled, "I felt that pain from my ear down through my neck to the tip of my shoulder. It was the worst shock I ever got in football."

Rut Walter, the Northwestern University track coach, said of the collision:

"I've been watching them for 30 years in the Big Ten and I haven't seen anything worse than that."

Baker played quarterback on last year's OU team and hails from Bartlesville, Okla. His playing weight in college was 190 but he's up to 200 now. Hickman tips the scales at 227 and is apparently going to make the ripple with the pros.

Tom Conway and his co-workers deserve plenty of applause for the fine job they did with the Teen-Age Baseball program here.

When Tom took office as Teen-Age Baseball commissioner, the organization was $700 in debt. Conway and his cohorts not only erased the debt but the circuit finished in the black.

Danny Valdes absorbed the mound loss in the opener. He divided time on the mound with Ronnie (Chubby) Moser. Dionisio Garza was the winner.

Garza walked six and walked one. Valdes fanned two and issued no free passes while Moser struck out three and issued only one Annie Oakley.

Billy Paul Thomas clubbed a home run with none on in the fifth of Big Spring. Nick Paredez and Andy Gamboa had doubles for the locals.

Billy Weatherall led the Tigers to victory in the afterpiece, driving out a sixth inning home run with no one on — his seventh of the year. Billy also collected a double and a single in four official trips to the plate.

In all, the Tigers banged out ten hits to make it easy for pitcher Joe Cadabread, who fanned ten and walked four while giving up only four hits. The loser was Jesse Lunsford. He didn't fan a batter and gave up four free passes.

Sal Sarmiento had a triple for Big Spring while Charley Piarro and N. Rodriguez collected doubles.

The Tigers have now won 22 games while losing only eight.

Runnersup In Playoffs

SOUCHAK WILL TAKE AN EXTENDED REST

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP) — Now that Mike Souchak has decided to become one of the idle rich for a few months, perhaps other golfers will be able to register a little profit here and there.

Big Mike won the $25,000 Motor City Open Golf Tournament Sunday without a struggle. He went into the final round protecting a seven stroke lead, shot a 69 and won by nine.

Mike's second round 63 tied the course record for 18 holes and his winning total of 268 was five better than Meadowbrook's previous 72-hole total.

Doug Ford finished strong with rounds of 67 and 70 to open a second place tie with U.S. Open titlist Bill Casper Jr., who had a final day 69. Each won $2,050.

Souchak, 32, set one record and tied another as he mastered Meadowbrook's 6,616-yard layout, which has a par of 35-36-71.

Mike's second round 63 tied the course record for 18 holes and his winning total of 268 was five better than Meadowbrook's previous 72-hole total.

Doug Ford finished strong with rounds of 67 and 70 to open a second place tie with U.S. Open titlist Bill Casper Jr., who had a final day 69. Each won $2,050.

Art Wall Jr., the Masters Champion and winner of three other events, increased his winnings to $48,499, best on the circuit, fashioning a 72 for a three-way deadlock for fourth place with Arnold Palmer and Dutch Harrison.

Leading scores and money winners: Mike Souchak, $3,000; Doug Ford, $2,050; Bill Casper Jr., $2,050; Arnold Palmer, $1,333.33; Ligonier, Pa., $1,333.33; Peconic Manor, Pa., $1,333.33; Dutch Harrison, $1,333.33; Paul Harvey, $1,100; Worcester, Mass., $1,100; Palo Alto, Calif., $1,100; Mason Rudolph, $900; Bob Bradley, $800; Doug Finsterling, $900; Tequesta, Fla., $800; Brantley, N. The Red Sox scored all their first game runs and made all their hits — six — in the second inning, inflicting the seventh loss upon Duke Maas. Wertz ignited the six-run rally with a single. Geiger drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single.

The pair, whose homers had highlighted Boston's winning nine-run rally against the Yankees Friday night, acquitted themselves nobly in Sunday's second game. Trailing 3-1 in the sixth, the Red Sox came within an eyelash of tying the score. Geiger opened with a single, his third hit. After Pete Runnels singled, Wertz drove Geiger home with a long single, sending Runnels to third. Jackie Jensen smashed a ground-er toward left field but shortstop Cletis Boyer converted it into an inning-ending double play with a fine stop.

Mickey Mantle provided the dusty hitting for New York. He drove in two runs with a home run, his 24th of the season, in the first inning and scored in the eighth after walloping a double off the bleacher wall, 461 feet away.

Home runs by Bob Cerv, Preston Ward and Russ Snyder helped veteran Ned Garver gain his ninth victory as Kansas City made it two in a row over the White Sox. Dick Donovan, making his first start for Chicago since he suffered a shoulder injury July 21, was the loser.

Three Baltimore errors prevented Washington with all but one of its six runs. Loner Jerry Walker gave up nine hits including a triple and single by catcher Clint Courtney, who drove in two runs. Pete Ramos allowed nine hits for his 11th victory. The Senators played without home run leader Harmon Killebrew who hurt his right wrist crashing into a wall Saturday night.

Y. A. Little, San Francisco's balding quarterback with a penchant for last-second heroics, is a leading exponent of the blitzkrieg attack in the National Football League.

Four exhibition games were played during the weekend. Each was a heart-palpitator. Each was a toss-up. Each was won in the last minute with electrifying plays.

Little's was the most prominent example of the blitzkrieg and the most dramatic.

The 49ers trailed Washington 24-20 Sunday. The stadium clock showed 59 seconds remaining. Little began to formulate moves. The 15-year pro veteran picked quarterback Paul Lowe of Oregon State for the yeoman's share of the running duties. The 178-pounder responded with a key 40-yard scamper.

Nine seconds remained four plays later. Little had his forces massed on the Redskins 16. He faded back, picked out end Clyde Corner and fired a pass for the touchdown that gave the 49ers a 27-24 victory in their debut under new Coach Red Hickey.

It was the same story Saturday. Zeke Bratkowski's toss to Rick Casares with 41 seconds remaining gave the Chicago Bears a 19-16 victory over Green Bay. John

Cards Could Field League's Sleeper

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals will field a vigorous, young team this season that could be the sleeper of the National Football League.

Coach Frank Ivy's tentative three-deep roster includes 17 rookies and 14 second year men.

The list does not include six standout holdovers who were with the All Star squad—end Maurice Schlicher, Penn State; tackles Ken Beck, Texas A&M, and Mac Lewis, Iowa; quarterback Bill Stacey, Mississippi State; halfback Don Brown, Houston, and fullback Larry Hickman, Baylor.

By weaving veterans among the younger players, and making offensive and defensive shifts to best suit the material, Ivy has the makings of a possible contender after a 1958 last-place tie in the Eastern Conference.

Although the Cards had a 2-9 record last season, they scored 261 points—outscored only by Cleveland's 302 in their division.

Ivy is especially high on 6-6, 275-pound Ken Panfil, an offensive tackle and excellent blocker. He was in the player package the Los Angeles Rams gave to the Cards in exchange for halfback Ollie Matson.

Hub of the Cards' backfield is John David Crow at left half. The Texas A&M star played in only six games in his 1958 freshman year because of a knee injury. Now he is recovered and Ivy says:

"Crow is the kind of guy who has everything and can be one of the greatest in the league. We put him in a class with Jim Brown of Cleveland, Frank Gifford of the Giants and Jon Arnett of the Rams."

Ivy lists the quarterback spot as his biggest problem.

"We have four quarterbacks with good potential but one will have to come through and do an outstanding job," Ivy says.

The four are M. C. Reynolds, who in his first season last year helped produce new Cardinal records for pass completions, yards gained and touchdown passes; King Hill, bonus choice last year but sidelined most of the season with a groin injury; and rookies Huston Patton of Mississippi and Hunter Enis of Texas Christian.

Ivy said one of the main requisites for his players is a desire to play and that this squad has it. Also the club will make a fresh start in a new home — Soldier Field — after years in Comiskey Park.

Ernie Banks May Win MVP Award 2nd Straight Year

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Ernie Banks, Chicago's slugging player in National League history to be voted the circuit's most valuable player in two years in succession.

Two National Leaguers — Stan Musial and Roy Campanella — won the coveted honor three times and two others—Rogers Hornsby and Carl Hubbell—won it twice but nobody has done it twice in succession.

Banks strengthened his claim Sunday, banging a two-run homer — his 36th of the season — as the Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-4 for their third victory in the four-game series. Ernie also was on base when Lee Walls smashed a three-run homer off loser Johnny Antonelli to break a 2-2 tie.

Ernie, batting .312, leads both leagues with 117 runs batted in and is tied for the lead with Washington's Harmon Killebrew in home runs. Last year he led both leagues with 47 home runs and 129 runs batted in.

Despite the defeat, the Giants retained their 2½ game lead over Los Angeles when St. Louis defeated the Dodgers 5-3. Milwaukee's third place Braves split with Pittsburgh, winning the second game of a doubleheader 5-2 after the Pirates had won the opener 2-1. Philadelphia swept a twin bill from Cincinnati 8-5 and 6-0.

Banks was an unexpected starter. He had been hit on the back by a pitch Saturday and doctors said it would be several days before Ernie would be able to play.

Bob Anderson was the winner but he needed help in the eighth inning from Don Elston, who struck out pinch hitter Felipe Alou with two runners on base. Willie Mays drove in two Giant runs with his 21st homer.

Larry Jackson pitched a 10-hit game as the Cards evaded the four-game series with Los Angeles. Bill White and rookie Gene Oliver drove in all St. Louis' runs. White knocked in two with a single and his 11th homer. Oliver had a two-run single and a sacrifice fly. Roger Craig was the loser. Four were ejected in the argument-filled game, manager Solly Hemus, Don Blasingame and Ken Boyer of the Cards and Duke Snider of the Dodgers.

Bob Friend, after seven failures, finally won his 100th game, fifth of the season. The Pirates' 22-game winner of 1958 was tagged for 11 hits in the opener but his mates helped him with three double plays and relief pitcher Bob Porterfield came to his rescue in

YAWKEY INSISTED Geiger Pays Off For Boston Sox

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

They laughed last winter when Boston owner Tom Yawkey traded Jimmy Piersall, his flashy center fielder, to Cleveland for Gary Geiger, a nondescript flycatcher and Vic Wertz, a fading first baseman.

Joe Cronin, then the Red Sox general manager, and Mike Higgins, then the field manager, were in no mood for laughter. They were quite upset when Yawkey informed them of the deal—the first and only one he ever made.

"It's your club," was the substance of the boss' trade.

"I'll take the responsibility," said Yawkey.

The Red Sox owner can take the bows today for one of the best player transactions ever made by the club.

Geiger, only 22, has easily been the happiest developing player in the Red Sox rebuilding program. The fast-developing youngster is hitting .279 with 10 home runs and 38 runs batted in. Wertz, though hampered by injuries, is hitting .280 with seven homers and 45 runs batted in. Piersall, who lost the regular center field job in Cleveland to Tito Francona, is hitting .280 and 21 runs batted in.

Geiger and Wertz played key roles in the Red Sox near-sweep of a four-game series with the New York Yankees. It wasn't their fault that the Yankees won the second game Sunday, 4-2, after the Red Sox had won the opener, 6-5.

Kansas City defeated Chicago 7-2 and narrowed the White Sox' first place lead over Cleveland to three games. The Indians lost an opportunity to pick up more ground when a violent rainstorm in Detroit postponed their game in the second inning after they had scored five runs in the first. Washington whipped Baltimore 6-1.

The Red Sox scored all their first game runs and made all their hits — six — in the second inning, inflicting the seventh loss upon Duke Maas. Wertz ignited the six-run rally with a single. Geiger drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single.

The pair, whose homers had highlighted Boston's winning nine-run rally against the Yankees Friday night, acquitted themselves nobly in Sunday's second game. Trailing 3-1 in the sixth, the Red Sox came within an eyelash of tying the score. Geiger opened with a single, his third hit. After Pete Runnels singled, Wertz drove Geiger home with a long single, sending Runnels to third. Jackie Jensen smashed a ground-er toward left field but shortstop Cletis Boyer converted it into an inning-ending double play with a fine stop.

Mickey Mantle provided the dusty hitting for New York. He drove in two runs with a home run, his 24th of the season, in the first inning and scored in the eighth after walloping a double off the bleacher wall, 461 feet away.

Home runs by Bob Cerv, Preston Ward and Russ Snyder helped veteran Ned Garver gain his ninth victory as Kansas City made it two in a row over the White Sox. Dick Donovan, making his first start for Chicago since he suffered a shoulder injury July 21, was the loser.

Three Baltimore errors prevented Washington with all but one of its six runs. Loner Jerry Walker gave up nine hits including a triple and single by catcher Clint Courtney, who drove in two runs. Pete Ramos allowed nine hits for his 11th victory. The Senators played without home run leader Harmon Killebrew who hurt his right wrist crashing into a wall Saturday night.

Y. A. Little, San Francisco's balding quarterback with a penchant for last-second heroics, is a leading exponent of the blitzkrieg attack in the National Football League.

Four exhibition games were played during the weekend. Each was a heart-palpitator. Each was a toss-up. Each was won in the last minute with electrifying plays.

Little's was the most prominent example of the blitzkrieg and the most dramatic.

The 49ers trailed Washington 24-20 Sunday. The stadium clock showed 59 seconds remaining. Little began to formulate moves. The 15-year pro veteran picked quarterback Paul Lowe of Oregon State for the yeoman's share of the running duties. The 178-pounder responded with a key 40-yard scamper.

Nine seconds remained four plays later. Little had his forces massed on the Redskins 16. He faded back, picked out end Clyde Corner and fired a pass for the touchdown that gave the 49ers a 27-24 victory in their debut under new Coach Red Hickey.

It was the same story Saturday. Zeke Bratkowski's toss to Rick Casares with 41 seconds remaining gave the Chicago Bears a 19-16 victory over Green Bay. John round meeting between Australia and the United States at Forest Hills Aug. 28-30.

The Aussies, who have won the cup eight times to America's seven since the two-nation monopoly took hold in 1938, ended the long, hard climb to the challenge round Sunday by routing India 4-1.

Neale Fraser, playing at his peak, shattered India's dreams of an upset by outclassing the sensational Ramanathan Krishnan.

Tigers Break Even In Two Contests Here On Sunday

The best Big Spring Tigers could do in a baseball double header here Sunday afternoon was break even.

The Bengals got off to a wobbly start, losing to the Lamesa White Sox, 4-2. They came back to plaster a 7-1 defeat upon Odessa, however.

Danny Valdes absorbed the mound loss in the opener. He divided time on the mound with Ronnie (Chubby) Moser. Dionisio Garza was the winner.

Garza walked six and walked one. Valdes fanned two and issued no free passes while Moser struck out three and issued only one Annie Oakley.

Billy Paul Thomas clubbed a home run with none on in the fifth of Big Spring. Nick Paredez and Andy Gamboa had doubles for the locals.

Billy Weatherall led the Tigers to victory in the afterpiece, driving out a sixth inning home run with no one on — his seventh of the year. Billy also collected a double and a single in four official trips to the plate.

In all, the Tigers banged out ten hits to make it easy for pitcher Joe Cadabread, who fanned ten and walked four while giving up only four hits. The loser was Jesse Lunsford. He didn't fan a batter and gave up four free passes.

Sal Sarmiento had a triple for Big Spring while Charley Piarro and N. Rodriguez collected doubles.

The Tigers have now won 22 games while losing only eight.

Although the weather keeps acting like summer, what with lightning storms and the lights going off and on like crazy, there is getting to be a feeling of fall in the air... early in the morning and late in the evening. During the day it's hardly noticeable with the thermometer hovering in the 90's.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Tips On Diet, Work Discussed By Gina

ROME — Gina Lollobrigida invited me to tea on my arrival here, and when she gave me the address, I realized that she was still living in the same beautiful apartment where I first met her five years ago.

I thought of that summer of 1954 when the late Humphrey Bogart, her co-star in "Beat the Devil," exclaimed, "What a doll! They call her Italy's answer to Marilyn Monroe, but she'll be the biggest star in Europe one day." And his remark was prophetic.

As I got out of the car in front of her apartment, I wondered how she was wearing her success, but after a firm handshake and a radiant smile she introduced me to her young son, Milko Jr., I had my answer.

Gina was wearing a simple blouse and skirt which revealed her tiny waistline. Motherhood had not ruined her beautiful figure. "I had to be very careful during those nine months," Gina said in English with an ease that was lacking the last time I talked to her. "And one week after Milko was born I was wearing my own clothes again."

"Tell me what you ate in a typical day."

"I had coffee and milk, bread and marmalade for breakfast," she replied. "For lunch I had green salad, vegetables, cheese and fruit. I used very little salt and drank no wine. For supper there were eggs or cold chicken, fruit and a salad." The Italians usually eat their most important meal in the middle of the day.

"No pasta?" I asked. Gina shook her pretty head and confessed that starches were no part of her diet even now.

"And did you do gymnastics?" I asked.

"Yes, at home," Gina said. "I did the exercises my body needed."

"How did you like Hollywood?" I asked, knowing she had recently returned from making "Never So Few" with Frank Sinatra.

Gina was enthusiastic about her treatment at MGM.

"Everyone was so friendly, and everything was so well organized. It is good to work without waste."

I remembered Gina had told me of a clause in every contract permitting her to apply her own make-up. There was clear sunlight in the room and although she was wearing makeup, it was so delicately applied I was not aware of it.

"You are more beautiful now than you've ever been. How do you stay so unspotted?" I asked.

"You have to work harder to prove you can act," Gina replied. She feels that beauty has its disadvantages, too.

"You have done a good job of combining your marriage and career," I remarked in parting.

"It is possible because there are no conflicts of interest. You have to be together in marriage to make it last," she concluded.

MAKE-UP AND ILLUSION OF BEAUTY
You can change the whole appearance of your face with skillful use of makeup. Leaflet M-16, "Make-Up and the Illusion of Beauty," will tell you how. Included are pointers on how to enhance the beauty of your eyes; how to use white lipstick to create plains where hollows used to be; how to change the shape of your nose; how to blend colors into your skin; how to highlight shadows; how to accent features or play them down. For your copy of this important leaflet send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Shoes For Men Show More Variety For Fall

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

There's a new look in men's shoes for fall. Even dyed-in-the-wool conservatives, who have worn the same shoe styles for the last 20 years, are being tempted by the new lightweight, streamlined styles.

Big thing for fall is the importance of brown shoes for town wear. Men who previously wouldn't be caught dead in anything but black plain-toed oxfords in the city now are being won over by some of the new and handsome dark brown shoes, either ties or step-ins, often with black touches.

Some of the new brown shoes have black laces, sole and welt-ing, for a new effect. Others combine smooth and grain leathers.

Men's shoes also offer a variety of styles this year, specifically designed for special occasions. There's the continental high-tie oxford for evening, cut from a single piece of black patent leather. There are many new versions of the ankle-boot, some fleece lined, for sports and country wear.

The slip-on shoe with moccasin toe has taken on city ways also, and is seen in either deep brown or black, in fine, highly polished leathers, with slim, elongated lines.

With the new increase in leisure time, men are finding that they need shoe wardrobes, with special footwear for everything from golf to hunting, from tennis to skiing.

New attention to footwear in general also has brought a new consciousness of shoe styling, with the result that even town shoes now have more variety than ever before in history.

Bride Should Choose Stemware Carefully

One of the bride's most exciting, but sometimes perplexing, adventures is the selection of her table appointments. Even though her plan of living may lean toward the casual manner, it does not mean careless living at all. Today, glass, china and silver are as varied as any other element in the home and it is not necessary to be bound by a set of rules.

New brides, or even seasoned homemakers, will find that the predominant factors to consider before purchasing table accessories are shape, design and color.

It is not necessary to match the three elements in total. However, care should be taken to select patterns that blend well with other furnishings in the room. This does not mean that periods cannot be mixed. It merely means that there should be harmony among all three.

American handcrafted glass stemware can be catalogued into the following: plain, which means completely undecorated, or just a touch of decoration in the stem of the goblet; decorated, which would cover those pieces with a rim of gold or platinum; wreath-like bandings; thumbprint designs, or a single motif such as a rose cluster; and elaborate, which would cover glassware pieces which have ornate or over all cuttings or very intricately etched designs.

Which pieces of crystal are the most useful and important to the homemaker? This basically will depend on the individual and her way of life.

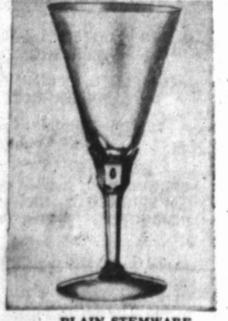

The goblet is considered the basic item and is usually the starting point, as it may be used for either water or milk.

Next, the sherbet is perhaps one of the most versatile pieces. It can be used for dessert, wine or cocktail, or for fruit cup. The salad plate can also serve as a bottom plate and will enhance a fruit cup or sherbet, or it may be used to serve dessert.

The juice serves fruit juice, wine, seafood, fruit cocktail or parfait. The ice tea serves iced beverages of all kinds, milk, and doubles as an informal luncheon goblet.

Buying your pieces by the place setting (goblet, sherbet, salad plate, juice, and ice tea) assures you of a complete setting, and will enable you to meet the demands of any occasion, be it formal or informal.

PRaises SENATOR

Senate Chaplain Admires Johnson

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was praised by the U.S. Senate chaplain Sunday as a man "whom I very greatly admire."

Dr. Frederick Brown Harris said of the Senate Majority Leader: "He is, indeed, an able leader."

Dr. Harris was a guest on the Senator's weekly broadcast transcribed for Texas radio stations.

Johnson told Dr. Harris: "There's nothing as important to me as your daily prayer or as the variety of prayers that are given in the Senate by visiting ministers that come from time to time."

"I know it's that important to me and how important it is to other members of the Senate," Johnson said.

Dr. Harris traced the history of the Senate chaplaincy to the period when the Senate met in Carpenter's Hall in Philadelphia.

"Benjamin Franklin arose one morning and called attention to the fact that they had gone on with all their perplexing problems without any recognition of The Almighty," Dr. Harris said.

"He suggested that they call a minister from some distance in for the next day. They did, and continued to do that every day during their discussions following."

"It was not a recognition, of course, of church, but of religion—which is a very different thing," Dr. Harris said.

Johnson asked Harris about the effect of the prayers which open each day's session of the Senate.

"It's a deep satisfaction to know that it isn't just a pious gesture," the chaplain replied. "For instance, as far as the Senators are concerned—if, because of committee meetings or other pressures, they cannot be there at the opening of the Senate—they tell me again and again that the prayer means a great deal in their lives, that they always read it whether they happen to be there when it's offered or not. A number of them have lately said to me that they read it aloud to their families."

Johnson reviewed Dr. Harris' career as Senate chaplain from 1942 through 1946 and again since 1949 and as author of five books and a daily newspaper column.

Dog Double Crosses His Two Owners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two men and their not-so-faithful dog are in the lockup today, charged with robbing telephone coin boxes.

But the dog didn't let out a woof when a deputy crept up and caught the men rifling a phone booth, O'Brien said.

Brother Of City Resident Dies

Funeral services for Sam W. McAllister, 34, brother of George McAllister of Big Spring, were to be held today at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Archer City.

Tra Plan Mailed

DALLAS (AP) — The Trinity River Authority today mailed outlines of its river master plan to business and civic leaders throughout the basin.

The TRA says in the brochure the master plan "is essential to a fair distribution of the water and other benefits that will come from maximum use of the river."

The TRA is priming for next month's showdown fight with Houston over water.

New Tax Ruling Benefit To Many Texas Mothers

A Federal tax ruling of probable benefit to many mothers of Texas was explained today by Ben M. Hawkins, administrative officer of the Big Spring office, in amplifying Revenue Ruling 55-263, C. B. 1955-1, 16.

He explained: "The ruling holds that sickness for the purpose of the $100 per week 'sick pay' exclusion exists from the commencement of labor to termination of the period during which a woman is physically incapacitated as a result of childbirth or miscarriage."

"This means that wages or payments in lieu of wages, up to a maximum of $100 per week, received for such period of incapacity can be excluded from income on the Federal income tax return."

Hawkins said the ruling also provides that a written statement by a physician that the taxpayer was advised to remain at home for a specified time or times because of a substantial danger of miscarriage, will also generally be considered sufficient to establish "sickness" for purposes of the sick-pay exclusion.

Under these rulings, he said, wages or payments in lieu of wages for periods of absence due to other actual sickness occurring during a period of pregnancy may qualify for the exclusion, but no exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first week of absence from work in any case unless the taxpayer is hospitalized at least one day during the absence, he added.

In general, claims for refund of tax may be filed for 1956, 1957 or 1958. Claims should be filed on Form 843 by those who can qualify for the exclusion Mr. Hawkins said.

Blank Forms 843 and assistance may be obtained at the IRS office at Room 306, Permian Bldg., 113 E. 2nd Street.

Blames Texans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican congressman from New York Sunday blamed Texas politics for what he called an intolerable delay in Senate confirmation of appointments for New York judgeships. Rep. Kenneth B. Keating said Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) calls the shots on confirmations and "when he says a nomination is to come out of committee for action by the Senate, it comes out."

A Devotional For Today

Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord. (Psalms 31:24.)
PRAYER: O Lord, "how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee." Help me this day to hope in Thee and be of good courage that I may lay hold of Thy promise that Thou wilt strengthen my heart. In the blessed Redeemer's name. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

The People Take A Hand

The surprising strength mustered in shunting aside a mild labor reform bill and in gaining passage of a stronger administration-backed bill reflects the temper of the country at large.

The bill which came out from the House Labor Committee was signed by only five of its 30 members and was disavowed by its chairman. Nonetheless, Speaker Rayburn gave it his blessing, arguing that it would correct abuses without being unduly restrictive. The Senate had sent over a somewhat similar measure.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower came out in a direct appeal to the people. Really, young Bob Kennedy, chief counsel for the Labor Investigating Committee headed by Sen. McClellan, had started the ball rolling with a dramatic appeal for people to write their congressmen and senators and urge strong reforms. Others joined and a flood of mail began to pour in. When the President threw in his weight, the effect was one of snowballing.

Where experts had predicted there was no chance for a strong labor reform bill, there suddenly was hope—and then dramatic certainty. Now the bill will go to joint conference and the House will be strengthened by reason of its surprising majority.

All of which demonstrates that the people have been impressed by the disclosures of Sen. McClellan's committee. They don't want to shackle or abuse labor, but they demand that forceful restraints be provided as a shield against unsavory and undemocratic elements who have been preying on honorable labor.

Energy That Gets Misplaced

Jim Cortese is Sunday editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, with enough excess energy to burn off that he's skating across Texas at the rate of 30 miles a day.

He was complaining of feeling a bit tired and of a few blisters on his feet. If he doesn't change his mind he will keep on going to Hobbs, N. Mex., along U. S. No. 180, which would carry him through Breckenridge, Albany, Anson, Roby and Snyder. However, it now appears he may come down U. S. 80—which could bring him by our city.

We wish our fellow-newspaperman good skating and complete relief from the monotony of life he's trying to get away from.

But we cannot imagine anything under heaven being more monotonous than pushing a pair of roller skates all the way across the nation's second-sized state.

The very thought of the energy involved appalls us, whose office desk has been needing attention for upwards of thirty-five years.

We don't know if Brother Cortese enjoys that state known as wedded bliss, but if he is a family man we wonder how many times his wife has to get after him to get the garbage toted out and emptied, or repair the latch on the front door screen, or take out the ashes if they have a fireplace, or fix a leaky faucet, or mow the lawn—or for that matter replace the worn-out ribbon on his office typewriter which the composing room has been kicking about for months.

A surprising amount of human energy manages to get misplaced.

Policy Of A Privileged Society

WASHINGTON — What Nikita Khrushchev sees and learns on his forthcoming visit to the United States could have dangerous consequences. It could conceivably be the forerunner of war, just as the "summit" meeting between Chamberlain and Hitler at Munich in September 1938 was followed a year later by the outbreak of World War II.

Everything depends now, as it did then, on the reaction of the peoples of the democracies. The question really has passed, for the moment, out of the hands of the government at Washington.

If Khrushchev comes to the conclusion after his visit that the American people are so steeped in luxuries and comforts and so engrossed in material pursuits that they will be ready to make peace at any price, the temptation for the Moscow dictator will be to take chances just as Hitler did, and war—at first "limited" and then general—becomes a serious possibility.

Conversely, if the American people show that they have courage and are willing to make sacrifices for ideals, even to the point of losing some day many of their comforts and their luxuries—as they have done three times in the wars of the last half-century—then may be the Moscow dictator will not miscalculate or take chances, and a world war will be avoided.

Unfortunately, the emphasis, since the trip was first announced, has been on the supposed importance of showing Khrushchev the many fine homes of our workers, or the number of automobiles in the factory parking lots, or the other material things that a rich country can boast. Little has been said about how the American people should express their idealism or their sense of horror over the murders and tragedies for which the tyrannical government of the Soviet Union has been responsible in its iron-handed rule over hundreds of millions of people.

Should the American people remain silent, or should they become articulate? The question is being debated quietly in the corridors of Congress. This is a nation where free speech is enjoyed on an international as well as national questions. Members of Congress are asking each other frankly what ought to be done by the national legislature itself. Some have thought it would be best to adjourn, so as to avoid the necessity of welcoming Khrushchev at any session of Congress. But, upon reflection, others think this would be failing to take advantage of a big opportunity to debate before the world the very issues that Khrushchev himself has again and again discussed in public.

If a Khrushchev speech to a joint session of both houses of Congress were arranged for, it could mean that President Eisenhower would be given an opportunity to address the Soviet parliament when he goes to Moscow later this autumn. This would help to get the American point of view across to the Soviets as never before.

If the Soviet premier is invited to make an address to Congress, time, of course, should be set aside also for those senators and representatives who wish to make clear to the American people and to the peoples of all the world that there has been no backing away by the United States from the positions taken on the issues raised in recent years by communist imperialism.

The whole story of what the Soviet Union has done to upset world peace since 1945 is well documented, but it is not well enough known. At least two days immediately following Khrushchev's visit to Congress might well be given over entirely to each house to speeches publicizing the American point of view toward the "cold war" which was started by the Moscow government.

Many members of Congress would like the opportunity to tell what has happened to the "captive nations" and also to describe the many instances of subversion and infiltration which have been financed by the Moscow regime, not only inside Europe, Africa and Asia, but also in the many countries of North and South America. Countering this form of aggression has cost the free world billions of dollars, apart from defense expenses. In deed, no democracy in the world will be safe as long as the autocratic government in Moscow continues its worldwide tactics of attempted conquest.

If the reception accorded the Soviet premier by the American people—granted that it must be courteous and polite—is construed as a seeming acceptance of the Moscow dictator himself in disregard of his crimes and the wrongs inflicted by his government, then it may be that Khrushchev on his return to Moscow will say to his colleagues in the Kremlin something like this:

"Those Americans won't fight—they don't want to lose their comforts. I can force them to give concessions after concessions. Since they are already frightened of our missiles and nuclear bombs, I can threaten them some more and still get my way without a war. That's how communism can win its biggest victories in the world."

But if the Kremlin leader learns, on the other hand, that the rights and liberties of human beings mean more to the American people than their own material possessions, he will begin to understand what the all-inclusive words of the Declaration of Independence have meant to the cause of freedom. For to support that cause our forefathers said: "We mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

However the 1957-58 figure did not include production of concentrated pineapple juice.

Ike Says U. S. Needs Driving Urge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, watching the Soviet rush to come abreast of the United States, feels this country needs some driving urge to think less of leisure and money and more of work and achievement.

So, before setting out for Moscow later this year to return Premier Nikita Khrushchev's mid-September visit here, Eisenhower's thinking is being influenced by the Soviet's efforts.

He is very conscious of those efforts. This may be why earlier this year, in his State of the Union message, he proposed creating a committee to suggest goals for America. The President is now ready—though he hasn't said so publicly—to name this committee as soon as he can get private organizations to pay for its work. He doesn't want the government to foot the bill.

Eisenhower is known to think that national goals might give us an incentive toward which to work, just as the Soviet Union has had its five and seven-year plans. He looks upon those Soviet plans, which keep the people hard at work, as the moral equivalent of war.

He thinks we need something in this country as an incentive to get our minds on accomplishment and not on a shorter work week and more leisure.

We must attach more importance, he thinks, to good, hard work and less to progress by demagoguery or trying to make a million.

On the short-work week, he recalls wartime talks with a French professor who said the cause of France's defeat in 1940 came from trying to match a French four-day week against Hitler's seven-day week.

The President, remembering Edward Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," thinks that is what is happening to us now, that we are too interested in leisure and pleasure.

That's a gloomy view for a president. It seems to be overlooking one thing: that Gibbon's criterion for judging civilization and progress was the measure in which men's happiness is secured, and that of happiness he considered political freedom an essential condition.

So, while the Soviets have made material strides, their lack of freedom is the opposite of Gibbon's conception of happiness, while to Gibbon the freedom enjoyed by Americans would be a mark of progress, civilization, and happiness.

But Eisenhower seems to have varying views on the Soviet Union at various times.

While at one time he considers the seven-year plan as the moral equivalent of war and is impressed by the work it gets done, and another time he notes that to increase production, the Communists must offer incentives, like extra pay.

There is, of course, an essential difference between Khrushchev's seven-year plan and any American goal thought up by a study committee.

One is mandatory in a soviet where the state has absolute control over the people and the means of production; the other would have to be voluntary in a free enterprise system.

Khrushchev, for instance, can order Soviet steel production capacity doubled and at the same time not only can find a ready market for every ounce of steel produced but decide where and for what it shall be used.

No matter what goal a president's committee proposes, the steel industry is free to increase its capacity only as there is a free and competitive market for its product.

Eisenhower never precisely explained in his State of the Union message just what goals he had in mind. Presumably, he would let his committee figure this out. He said the committee would be concerned with living standards, health, education, greater assurance of life, liberty and opportunities, and methods to meet such goals, and what state, federal and local governments should be concerned with.

Speedy Congressman

WAGONER, Okla. — U. S. Rep. Ed Edmondson borrowed the car of his brother, newly-elected Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, and was arrested for speeding.

The congressman commended the flustered highway patrolman who stopped him, discovered his identity and still gave him a citation. Rep. Edmondson paid a $21 fine.

Break For The Birds

GREEN BAY, Wis. — A package about the size of a shoe box and addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. Hungry Bird, Green Bay, Wis." arrived at the post office from Atlanta, Ga.

As the directory listed no Hungry Birds, the postmaster peeked inside and, sure enough, the box was filled with bird seed. He turned it over to a bird club.

Around The Rim

Personal Peculiarities

We are attracted to and recall famous sites by their landmarks. Paris has its Eiffel Tower, New York its Statue of Liberty and Empire State Building and London its Big Ben and Parliament Buildings.

By the same token, we recognize famous people by their trademarks.

We may rarely be privileged to view such personalities at first hand but in pictures and more especially in the caricatures drawn by the gifted cartoonists we come to know them by their props.

Leopold Stokowski, the well known conductor of symphony orchestras, is easily identifiable from his back side rather than full face view, because of his renown shock of white hair.

A caricaturist has only to draw a reasonable facsimile of a hawk-like face, then stick a corncob pipe in its mouth to have it pointed out as a likeness of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, although the general has long since departed the military for a job in the business world.

Winston Churchill was known by not one but several props. He was never, in his heyday, seen without his big, black cigar. It was said he was about to leave the House of Commons once when he discovered he was out of the stogies and had an aide fetch him one "because they expect it."

I remember Churchill more for the V (for Victory) sign he used to give with his first two fingers of his right hand, projecting it well above his head.

Al Smith's derby that became a symbol during his unsuccessful try for the presidency a quarter of a century ago. A political cartoonist would not have thought of drawing him without the familiar trademark.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's jauntily tilted cigarette holder became famous the world over, as did the high collars worn by Herbert Hoover.

Field Marshall Montgomery, the man who delights in stepping on American corns on occasions, deliberately identified himself with a beret because he wanted to be identified as a person and not just another general.

I don't think I could recognize Sewell Avery were he not being carried out of his Montgomery Ward headquarters, arms folded and a set look upon his face, between two servicemen.

Maurice Chevalier's lower lip, protruding as it does when he sings or jests, is easily identifiable as are Groucho Marx's mustache and the battered, ancient hat worn by band leader Ted Lewis.

In more recent times, beards have been identified with Fidel Castro's revolutionary movement in Cuba.

They're still trying to figure out why Napoleon Bonaparte plunged his hand into his vest before having his portrait painted. What ever the reason, school children learn to recognize him in that pose and remember him for ever after.

A Fig Leaf For Adam, Please

Gentlemen, keep your shirts on. The ladies don't think you look pretty on the half shell, either. They have been saying so with considerable force and clarity ever since I wrote a column a fortnight ago in which I nominated as Man of the Year Col. Charles Johnstone, commanding officer of the U. S. 6000th Operation Squadron, based in Tokyo.

My hero, Col. Johnstone, has ordered all female dependents of this Air Force group to appear fully clothed in public, or else. The colonel believes that brief bathing suits, skimpy halters and skimpier shorts are not proper attire for shopping, sightseeing or movie-going.

Everyone who wrote me following that column agreed with the colonel in principle except "Anonymous" who said, "You must be a fat, sloppy, frustrated old hag who wouldn't look good in anything, especially shorts." (Honey, how did you guess?)

But, although the ladies backed the colonel in the belief that ladies ought to look like ladies, a good 75 per cent of them felt that it was unfair not to make the men keep their shirts on in the general interest of esthetics, too.

"I think I am a fair-minded person, and I dislike dishabille as much as Col. Johnstone," writes a Chicago lady whose letter is typical of many I received.

"BUT," she continues and the capitals are hers, "if I have to look at another fat, blubbery, hairy man protruding above shorts, I think I shall commit assault and battery."

"I live in a part of Chicago where many of the apartments have small terraces, and not far from the lake front, either. You go out on your terrace for a breath of air or along the beach, and all you see are hairy apes."

"On their shirts and full-length pants would look good! But what do they wear? A breechcloth! To call such a garment 'shorts' is base flattery. A woman in the briefest bikini looks fully clothed compared to the sterner sex in its favorite rompers."

"Let's have a column on the fact that men, too, should observe the proprieties of life as well as women. Please, do not use my name," the lady adds, "as my husband is a peeler and he is the first fat, blubbery, hairy man I may batter. And I want to surprise him."

A Los Angeles woman, who supports Col. Johnstone, says there ought to be a law banning shorts and nothing else on middle-aged men who have begun to spread fore and aft.

"I never saw a bay window that didn't look better for a curtain," she concludes.

"Let the colonel come to Florida and police his own sex," writes a woman from Miami. "Don't men ever look at themselves in a full-length mirror after age 30? What's pretty about a male torso that looks like a fur coat worked over by moth's? Down here, in mid-season, you can't tell the beach from the zoo."

The ladies, I hasten to say, are not against lighter and more comfortable dress for men in summertime. Many of them commend Bermuda shorts, worn with knee-length hose and a proper sports shirt.

Their general complaint is that the vast majority of men cannot be confused with Apollo any more than, alas, the overwhelming majority of my sex can be mistaken for Marilyn Monroe, on or off a calendar.

"Remember," writes a tart-tongued lady from Memphis, "God gave Adam a fig leaf, too."

When Will Strike Become Emergency?

What has the steel strike done so far to the economy and when will it really hurt? This is the first of a series of three articles.

NEW YORK — The government will step into the steel strike when it's a national emergency and not before. So says President Eisenhower. How long before the strike becomes a threat to the over-all economy?

A nation-wide survey by Associated Press reporters shows that—with few exceptions—users of steel are well stocked. Unemployment has hit transportation and mining industries closely tied to steel production.

But most steel users were able to lay in supplies from domestic or foreign mills. A few have been paying higher prices. A. O. Smith says it must close its pipe mill in Milwaukee now. Some other firms say they will run out of steel after Labor Day. More say they can hold out till October or later.

At Groton, Conn., the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics says it ordered steel so far in advance it can continue work on seven A-subcs for at least a year. In New York, General Dynamics says its other divisions have enough steel for at least another 60 days.

"The steel situation is going to get critical—like a tornado," says Marlow C. Hodge, owner of Steel Metal Products Inc. of Los Angeles, and vice president of the Sheet Metal Contractors Assn. of Southern California. "We know the danger is there because we can see it, but when?"

The auto industry, which uses about a fifth of all steel output, reports large stocks on hand because the strike seemed so sure for so long. It has an upcoming breather while no steel is being used during the model changeovers. Also the Detroit Steel Corp. isn't struck. And Ford's own steel plant isn't affected.

Appliance makers say the pinch may come in another month—although some can go still longer. A few put Labor Day as the trouble date.

In Pittsburgh, Westinghouse says its supplies of various steel products will last from 60 to 90 days. In New York, General Electric says various divisions have varying amounts and there may be some trading between plants.

ABLE to hold out for two months or more are: Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator, Whiproll in St. Paul, Paper Calmen & Co. in Minneapolis, Western Air and Refrigeration in Los Angeles.

Helped by a two-weeks' vacation just ended, International Harvester of Chicago says it expects to run at least till the end of September. Hotpoint in the same city has a six to eight week supply. Fairbanks Morse may have trouble after August.

The International Business Machine plant in Lexington, Ky., has a four-month supply. The American Can plant in Arlington, Tex., sees little trouble for several weeks. But in Kansas City, Butler Manufacturing, which makes tanks and farm equipment, says some plants may close early in September, and Black, Sivals and Bryson, which makes oil field equipment, says it can run through Labor Day.

In New York, Continental Can says its over-all steel tonnage is high, but demand for various kinds of cans varies widely, and its Chicago plant expects to feel the effect in October.

Supplies for another month or more are reported in New York by Esso Standard Oil and Fairbanks-Whitney, in Philadelphia by Budd Co., in Beverly, Mass., by United Shoe Machinery, in New Haven, Conn., by Sargent & Co., makers of hardware and tools. Des Moines reports most Iowa steel users have 30 to 60 days stocks.

TUESDAY: How much longer can the building boom go on with present steel supplies?

Squeeze Play

MILWAUKEE — For Miss Kathleen Krast, 20, an attractive coed, 13 is an unlucky number.

She was accused of carrying 13 passengers in her car—all little boys.

Miss Krast explained to the judge that the youngsters are members of a school playground baseball team and she's their coach.

The judge made her promise she would not do it again and suspended sentence.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The Army's "Soldier of Tomorrow" costume, displayed this week, could scarcely have been assembled with an eye for its recruiting appeal. Tomorrow's foot soldier apparently will be loaded down with radios, jumping belts, radiation masks and infrared gadgets.

All that's lacking is a record that plays, "Take me to your leader."

It isn't clear how a soldier so equipped could even move, much less fight, but perhaps he'll never have to. One look at the masked, bearded figure and any enemy in his right mind would run screaming for the hills.

"Hello, doctor? My mother-in-law lost her voice — can you rush right over?"

Cause Food Poisoning Is Being Sought

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP)—The State Health Board and Miles Laboratories of Elkhart ran tests today to determine what caused the food poisoning of 750 adults and children at a Miles outing.

None of the victims was in serious condition and all but a handful were out of hospitals, but they were violently ill Saturday at a company picnic near here.

Dr. Andrew C. Offutt, state health commissioner, said the poisoning could have been a result of the picnic lunch remaining a few hours in an unrefrigerated truck.

Doctors described the poisoning as a mild form, but it left its victims in misery.

"People were dropping all around me like flies," said Earl Buckmaster, 56, Elkhart, a Miles employee.

About 3,000 persons attended the picnic.

Passerby Is Hero At Fire In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — James Pfaff didn't know there was a 3-year-old boy in the bedroom the first time he went into the burning house.

All he knew was that a frantic couple—both deaf-mutes—needed help. They had led him to the bedroom window and pointed.

Pfaff, 31, and his wife, Susan, were driving past when they saw John Biven and his wife gesticulating outside the house in suburban Olmsted Falls Sunday.

Pfaff went in through the window but was driven back by smoke.

By then his wife had gotten one word from Mrs. Biven. The deaf-mute, who had learned to produce sounds approximating words, was near hysteria, but Mrs. Pfaff understood one word, "crib."

"There must be a baby in a crib," she told her husband.

Pfaff went back in. Finally he found Scott Biven huddled unconscious in a corner of the crib, found the window again and, half falling, half leaping, brought the boy out.

The father, who was badly burned getting out of the house, explained by sign language he had thought his wife was bringing Scott out. His wife had thought he was bringing the child.

Scott and his father were admitted at Southwest Community Hospital. The boy, who can see and hear, was treated for smoke inhalation.

Pfaff, of Chicago, was treated for cuts and burns on the hands.

Trouble In U. Of Mexico Over Faculty

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of students is threatening to call a strike at the University of Mexico unless Dr. Nabor Carrillo Flores resigns as rector.

The group, organized as the "Youth Ideological Council," also called for the expulsion of Jose F. Rivas Guzman, head of the Federation of University Students, in a statement issued this weekend.

The council claimed the rector of the university, which has over 40,000 students, is supporting Rivas Guzman as student leader and is blocking reform of the law regulating university affairs.

The council called the present law fascist. Some students want more voice in school affairs.

8 Children Given Away By Their Mom

ATLANTA (AP) — The future of eight children, given away by their mother after their father abandoned them, apparently will be decided in the courts.

Mrs. Carl Daniel Quisenberry, 28, faces a charge of neglect. Her 32-year-old husband is scheduled to get a hearing in city court on a charge of suspicion of abandonment.

Mrs. Quisenberry admitted giving her children to friends and relatives. She said she tried to run away from her troubles after her husband left and both money and food were exhausted.

Trigger Trouble

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two brothers-in-law were wounded in the same hand, by the same gun, on the same day.

Dale Shipman suffered a bullet wound in his left hand while cleaning a .25 caliber automatic pistol.

Six hours later, George Heuthington decided he would finish cleaning the gun. Another cartridge exploded, wounding Heuthington's left hand.

Man To Recover From Cobra Bite

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A 4-foot-long Indian cobra bit an employe of a reptile garden near here Sunday. He may live because of a dramatic 1,300-mile flight from Miami, Fla.

The Coast Guard and the Air Force flew anti-cobra serum from Miami to St. Joseph after William White, 32, was bitten. The serum was administered six hours later.

A single drop of cobra venom can be fatal. Usually it takes only four hours to kill, said William H. Haast, operator of the Miami serpentarium.

But the cobra's fangs pierced a sack of heavy material before they hit White on a thumb. The bag apparently absorbed some of the venom.

A hospital attendant said White, who has been bitten about 100 times by non-poisonous snakes during his four years at the reptile garden, remarked as the serum was injected "I knew all the time I'd be okay."

A few minutes after midnight, Dr. C. C. DuMont said White's condition was satisfactory.

"He has a chance to recover," said Dr. DuMont. "I think he'll be okay."

After White was bitten, a telephone call was made to the Miami serpentarium. Flinchbaugh said it was the only source of anti-cobra serum in the United States. The serum is made in Bombay, India.

While Air Force Lieutenants James H. Ahmann of Louisville, Ky., and Larry Marks of Miami stood by a T33 jet trainer, a Coast Guard helicopter picked up the vial of serum at the serpentarium.

The jet covered the 1,300 miles from Miami to this city in northwest Missouri in 3 hours, 48 minutes.

Two Features Are Demanded By Film Fans

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene: A rebuttal to our suggestion that the double feature is outdated comes from Frank Boyle, theater manager of Fitchburg, Mass.

"Does the public still want it (twin bills)? Yes. The theater-going public—the ticket buyers. This is an intentional distinction between the public that is literate and vocal about the movies but seldom sees one and the public that attends regularly and speaks only at the box office.

"The film business cannot afford to be without it. Certainly 'Anatomy of a Murder,' 'A Nun's Story,' 'Sleeping Beauty,' etc., need no second feature and should be played without one. But what about the numberless other ones that are quality pictures but just don't have it? Should these be burned in the studio incinerator?"

"Teamed with another good picture, they make a good show and sometimes the combination strikes off the box office spark that either picture lacks singly. Double features give pictures a play-off they could never make on their own.

"The twin bill was with us long before depression times. Here in New England, silent pictures were double-billed for years. Then the tremendous popularity of sound made twin-billing unnecessary.

"When the novelty of sound wore off, twin-billing came back. The first Cinemascope pictures were single-featured. But when the stage-wide screen became commonplace, back came companion features. You will note the industry's tendency to throw off double features when it has the upper hand and the return of the double feature when it becomes a buyer's market.

"Sure, Samuel Goldwyn attacks double features, because he's a very single-feature producer. About one single feature every five years.

"Movies are longer than ever, and so are shows. But if you try to book a single feature—outside of the real blockbusters—your most frequent comment is: 'What—only one pitcher?'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Of the more than 100 known posed photographs of Abraham Lincoln, only one shows him wearing spectacles.

Lincoln wore eye glasses Feb. 9, 1864, when he and his son Tad posed looking at a book in the White House. The photo was taken by Matthew Brady, famed Civil War photographer.

Just A Cynic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The burglar who broke into a lumber yard office here was not only distrustful but bitter as well.

Disregarding a helpful sign which said the company safe was unlocked and empty, the burglar cracked it anyway and left a note saying, "Thanks for nothing."

Effective But Bit Hard On Kids' Heads

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex. (AP)—Newspaper publishers in this Mexican border city complained that their newspapers were being swatted across the head with key-chains.

Customs Collector Emilio Caranza investigated. He said officers at the port of entry told him this was the best method of keeping the newspapers from running in front of autos crossing the border.

New Money

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Bank of Mexico said Saturday it will start redeeming old and mutilated paper money Monday. Partial bills will be paid for on the basis of what is left, except that any part less than a fourth will have no value.

Police Campaign

CIUDAD VICTORIA, Mex. (AP)—Police of this capital have started a campaign against illegal carrying of firearms and clandestine liquor sales. The police chief has asked all other officials of Tamaulipas state to join in the drive, including those at Nuevo Laredo.

Powwow At Tama

Ted Crawford, 7, of Des Moines and Gordon Lasley, 6, of Tama, Iowa, thoughtfully conduct their own powwow at the annual Indian Powwow at Tama. The event, which includes tribal dances in full regalia and exhibits showing how Indians lived a century ago, continues with afternoon and evening performances (AP Wire-photo)

London Police Seeking To Straighten Out City Vice

LONDON (AP)—London's 7,500 or so streetwalkers were driven indoors over the weekend by a tough new law designed to redeem the British capital from a reputation as "the shocking city."

The prostitutes no longer parade around Piccadilly Circus, Shepherd Market and other fertile fields whispering endearments to prospective customers.

But they are not idle. Police say the vice girls are workout out new working methods.

They plan (1) to solicit from cars, to make fast getaways if spotted by the law, (2) to increase advertising through "business cards" displayed in store windows, describing themselves as models or escorts, and (3) to emulate New York's call girls operating from night clubs and hotels.

Some may take their wares to the provinces or the suburbs, where they are strangers to the police.

The new law, which went into effect at midnight sets these penalties for soliciting: first offense, 10 pounds—$28; second offense, 25 pounds—$70; third offense, 25 pounds plus a possible jail sentence of three months. Heretofore the fine was 2 pounds—$5.00.

Police reported the new law seemed to have rid the city's streets of the public parade of prostitutes.

"All over London, there have been far fewer arrests for soliciting than usual," said a Scotland Yard inspector.

The girls, naturally, are up in arms.

"We do a lot of good. There will be more sex crimes under this new law," said Yvonne, a Frenchwoman. But she said she's over 40 and can afford to retire.

But not Maureen, an angel-faced 19-year-old from Ireland. She said she's once been in jail and she wasn't going back. "But I'm not giving up the — game either."

"We shall work something out—don't you worry."

Floods Menace Mexican State

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A dispatch from Irapuato Sunday said there is alarm in the State of Guanajuato over possible disastrous floods.

Large areas of Guanajuato and other central and western states suffered considerable flood damage a year ago.

The dispatch said a section of Guanajuato bordering the Brazo de Silao River was flooded and that the large Lerma River, cause of most of last year's damage, is rising.

Scientists Peering At Penguin And His Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists are doing their best to defrost the wall of secrecy that has surrounded the private life of the penguin. Especially the Adelle penguin.

For years, the short-legged aquatic birds with flipperlike wings have waddled around in the cool antarctic pretty much undisturbed. Now they are the object of penetrating studies.

The Adelle is the main target. It's the smallest of the species, not to be confused with the medium-sized jackass penguin or the king or emperor penguin.

The sexual behavior of the Adelle is being studied at Wilkes Station in the south polar area by Richard L. Penney of the University of Wisconsin. He also is looking into the Adelle's parental behavior and its orientation.

The salt and water metabolism of the penguin will be studied in the extensive penguin colony on Cape Hallett.

Donald S. Douglas, researcher for a Duke University project, will gather the metabolism information.

The penguin studies were included in Antarctica scientific research projects announced Sunday by the National Science Foundation. The foundation's grants for 29 projects total $3,170,069.

Colleges, universities and other agencies will conduct the various studies starting in October. Other grants will be made soon, the foundation said.

Scientists from some other nations will join America in studies which will include extensive mapping and geological undertakings.

Dr. Alan T. Waterman, foundation director, said many basic questions about antarctica remain unanswered after the International Geophysical Year which ended last December.

"Work during the forthcoming year will attempt to fill in many of these gaps in our knowledge," Waterman said.

Higher Water Prices Slated For Dallasites

DALLAS (AP)—The new 70-million-dollar Dallas budget, which goes to the city council today, shows residents will pay higher water prices and higher taxes.
