Teacher Workshop Fires Up At Schools Monday Morning

Teachers beat children to the punch this week—they start back to school Monday, a full week ahead of their pupils.

New teachers get an introduction Monday to the system and to their principals and the plant in which they will serve. Tuesday the entire instructional family comes together and quickly buckles down to business. There will be emphasis upon recognizing emotional conditions which may affect learning; a report on the state studies in curriculum areas; a penetrating look at a reading program; and appraisals from the board and administration.

Then teachers will tackle curriculum studies in sectional meetings for their last workshop assignment prior to registration. That comes all day Thursday for new and beginning pupils and continues to Friday noon.

SCHOOL OPENS AUG. 31

The breather at that point will take them to the morning of Aug. 31 when school will begin.

Chronologically, this is the way the workshop will go:

All teachers new to the system and the administrative staff will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building for orientation. At 1:30 p.m. new teachers, together with returning ones who will be in a different school, will meet with their principals in the various school buildings.

Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the HCJC auditorium with Supt. Floyd Parsons presiding, the first general session begins with the invocation worded by the Rev. Royce Womack, Wesley Methodist pastor. After singing, greeting will come from Dr. Lee Rogers, mayor, Clyde McMahon, Chamber of Commerce president, Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, commanding officer of Webb AFB, John Dibrell, school board president, and Mrs. H. H. Stephens, P-TA council president.

Several platform guests who will represent organizations and institutions will include Mrs. John Coffey, Mrs. Rena Yandell, Mrs. Mary A. Hefley, Joe Pickle, E. D. Murphy, S. M. Anderson, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC; will deliver the keynote talk.

After a coffee pause, the faculty business meeting gets under way at 10:45 a.m., and before adjournment there will be professional appeals from the TSTA by Mrs. Coffey and from the Classroom Teachers by Mrs. Yandell.

Dr. Sylvan J. Kaplan, head of the Texas Tech psychology department, will be the 1:30 p.m. speaker, teaching on emotional symptoms which bear on educational progress. At 3 p.m. Anderson will moderate a panel on the state curriculum studies which will become part of the system's in-service training for the year. Those recently returned from a University of Texas workshop and who will report briefly are: Mrs. Billie Harrel (guidance), Mrs. Ruth Rutherford (language arts), Mrs. Inez Turner (mathematics), Roy Worley (science), Mrs. Onetta Hardy (social studies), Mrs. Eulalia Mitchell (fine arts), John Hardy (health education), M. R. Turner (physical education), S. A. Walker (languages).

'JAKE' BOTTLES

Ancient Trademarks Of Old Boom Town Show Up In Field

WICHITA FALLS, TEX. (AP)—For years farmers along the Red River near Burk Burnett have been plowing up one of the trademarks of a once rip roaring oil town.

The odd little bottles are about five inches tall. They once held 25 cents worth of "jake," a potent alcoholic drink brewed from Jamaica ginger.

The town was Bridgetown, one of the roughest and toughest of the oldtime boom towns that had once thrived on the Red River near Burk Burnett.

Clyde Peed of Burk Burnett is one of the few timers who remembers the story about the little bottles of "jake" and the town where the drink was so freely consumed.

Peed, who came to Texas from Kentucky, lived in Bridgetown 22 years and recalls that during the boom days every man carried a gun or at least a knife, and that robberies occurred almost daily.

Bridgetown was legally dry, but the little bottles of "jake" were sold just about everywhere. Gambling halls dotted the town.

GOT GYPED

One popular Bridgetown story is that about a man who paid $125 for a barrel of whiskey and invited his friends to a big party. The man almost died of apoplexy when he opened the barrel and found it contained only water.

Peed tells the story about a stranger who went to the town and asked a resident where he could get a bottle of whisky. "Any place but there," replied the resident, "that's the post office."

The pride of Bridgetown was a fine bridge over the Red River that connected Oklahoma and Texas. This made Bridgetown a transportation center.

With the bridge and the oil industry, Bridgetown grew almost overnight to a town of 10,000 population.

Many businesses were established and the town continued to prosper until two things happened. First, other and better bridges were built across the Red River.

And, second, the great flow of oil started to diminish.

Finally, on Oct. 31, 1935, the last blow fell on the little Red River Community. The post office was closed. It was the last office in the business district that stretched for almost a mile.

Once on the front porch of the post office a verified deal involving $50,000 cash took place. The money was counted out on the rough boards of the front steps.

Today nothing remains of the business district of Bridgetown. There are still a few buildings just down the hill from the business district that once was a sort of residential section.

One brick building stands in that location near the bank of the Red River, and an old wooden water tower along with many foundations and cellars where homes once stood.

The Red River bridge that the town was once so proud of, has almost completely disappeared. There are still several posts sticking out of the river bed where the bridge once crossed to Grandfield, Okla.

Ike To Visit With De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower's schedule for his two-day visit to Paris allows plenty of time for private talks with President Charles de Gaulle.

There will also be a state dinner, a ceremony at the tomb of France's unknown soldier at the Arch of Triumph — a must for important visitors — and a reception at the Hotel de Ville where Paris city fathers will give him the French equivalent of the keys to the city.

Eisenhower's jet plane is due to land at Le Bourget Airport at 11 a.m. Sept. 2. De Gaulle will be on hand with an honor guard.

According to the official schedule released Friday, De Gaulle and Eisenhower will spend most of the afternoon conferring at the Elysee Palace, De Gaulle's official residence.

On Sept. 3, Eisenhower has only a luncheon on his official schedule before 6 p.m. He is expected to spend the morning and possibly part of the afternoon conferring with Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Eisenhower plans to take off at 9 a.m. Sept. 4.

CLUB HEARS DETAILS

Proposed New Reservoir To Be Twice Size Of J. B. Thomas

E. V. Spence, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water Authority, appeared before members of the American Business Club at their regular luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel to discuss the lake which the CRMWD has proposed to build in Mitchell County.

Spence said the lake, which would hold twice the water that Lake J. B. Thomas is capable of retaining, is needed if the area is to continue to grow.

The new reservoir would be between ten and 12 miles in length, he added, from two to three miles wide in some places, up to 32.4 feet deep in some places and would cover approximately 16,000 acres.

He estimated it would require between $1.25 and $1.5 million to acquire the land needed for such a project and added the water shed for such a body of water would cover an estimated 2,400 miles, whereas the water shed for Lake Thomas encompasses only about 1,000 miles.

He conceded there were many problems still to be met and conquered before the lake would become a reality but added none was too big to be overcome.

Spence also revealed the district had spent an estimated $60,000 the past two years mapping the proposed area.

Teams headed by Bob Hickson, R. W. Weaver and Jim Lewis are engaged in an attendance contest within the club. The contest extends through Sept. 25. Interest in the contest contributed to the largest turnout of members in many weeks.

Haiti President Seeks To End Quarrel With Church

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — President Francois Duvalier has moved to patch up his differences with Roman Catholic Church leaders. The president suspended an order Friday for the arrest of the Catholic archbishop of Port au Prince, Msgr. Francois Poirier, after the Vatican had warned Haitian officials they faced excommunication from the church if the order were carried out. The government ordered the arrest Thursday after the archbishop had criticized the government for expelling two French priests, the Rev. Etienne Grisenberger and the Rev. Joseph Arrec, for "reasons of internal security."

Steel Workers Say Pay Boost Urgent

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald says the new record cost-of-living index shows that the steel industry, by asking workers to freeze wages, was actually asking them to take a pay cut. McDonald made his statement Friday. Despite several rumors of settlement, it appeared both sides weren't much closer together than when the strike began, 39 days ago. McDonald, who has been out of negotiations for two weeks, comes back on Wednesday. The steel industry claims that in refusing to grant wage demands of the union it is holding the line against inflation. The union claims wage increases for steelworkers have traditionally followed inflation—not caused it. McDonald, who has been out of the steel talks because he said he felt they weren't making any progress, cited the announcement of a record cost-of-living index. "It is significant," he said, "that the peak figure made public today has come after a full year period when regular steelworker wage rates have not increased in the slightest. "This is a typical example," he continued, "of the steel industry's complete lack of concern for the welfare of its employees and their families." In Pittsburgh, a union statement said that the cost of living increase in just the past few months would require an increase of two cents an hour just to restore steel wages to last year's levels, in terms of purchasing power. The union seeks a 15-cent hourly package increase for each year of any new contract. Wage rates before the strike average $3.11 an hour. Widespread reports of a settlement in the industry followed gov-

The bus and cafeteria schedules will be operative as usual on Aug. 31 when school begins. During the summer a teacherage has been under construction and is due for completion early in September. ### HUSBAND HELD

Slaying Of Woman Ends Quarrel Over Her Shorts

DALLAS (AP) — An argument over the modesty of women's shorts left a woman dead and her husband in jail Saturday. The body of Mrs. Katherine Faye Wilkerson, 32, was found in her rooming house quarters last night. She had deep wounds on the back of her head. Her husband, Horace Wilkerson, 39, a jobless watch repairman, told officers he clubbed his wife with a wine bottle. Returning home after a 10-day jail sentence in McKinney for disturbing the peace, Wilkerson said he found his wife wearing white shorts. He ordered her to change into a skirt and snipped off the shorts with scissors after they argued about the modesty of women's apparel, he said. Wilkerson hit her with the bottle, he told police, after his wife announced she was leaving. He then went out to play dominoes.

Latest Picture Of Billy Graham Here Wednesday

"The Heart is a Rebel," latest of the Billy Graham motion picture series, will be shown here at the College Baptist Church on Aug. 26 at 7:30 p.m. The story is based on a conflict in the life of a modern young couple when the husband, an advertising executive, can't find a place in his scheme-of-things for the Christian faith. In a completely "down-to-earth setting the situation provides a dimension of reality. Ethel Waters adds a luster to her long career in the role of the practical nurse who exerts a profound influence on the young couple through her day-by-day faith in God. A film highlight is Miss Waters inspiring rendition of "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" and the spiritual "Motherless Child." Georgia Lee and John Milford give striking portrayals as the young married couple. Georgia Lee's previous performances in "Oiltown, U. S. A.," "The Crescent & The Cross," "The Flame" as well as her recent entry into the sacred recording field, have endeared her to audiences around the world. Jane Withers makes a rare guest appearance in the role of a sales girl in a large toy store. One of the foremost child stars of yesterday, Miss Withers has taken time out of both a busy domestic life as well as an active one in her church and with the Hollywood Christian Group, of which she is a director.

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP)—Seven members of Congress flew here today to view the destruction wrought by a series of earthquakes that rocked the northwest last Monday night and Tuesday.

The two-day tour was arranged by Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont) and Gov. J. Hugo Aronson. The governor warned of a potentially serious flood threat from waters building up between a 50-million-ton rockslide and the Heben Dam in southwest Montana, where the quake centered and took nine lives.

While tourists continued to flock into Yellowstone National Park at near the normal rate, officials closed off the area north and west of there to visitors. Unauthorized persons found in the disaster area will be treated as looters, Sheriff Donald J. Skerritt said. This warning was regarded as an effort to reduce the number of interlopers.

The touring congressmen were joined by representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers, National Park Service, Fish and Wildlife Service and other federal agencies.

Sen. Murray's office said lawmakers taking part in the inspection include Sen. Frank Moss (D-Utah), Rep. John Baldwin (R-Calif.), Rep. Harold Johnson (D-Calif.), Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.), Rep. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont), Rep. Leroy Anderson (D-Mont), and Rep. Gracie Pfof (D-Idaho).

A Pat on the Back

For Mrs. H. D. Bruton

Mrs. H. D. Bruton is one of those wonderful people who follow the Scriptural admonition to be not weary in well-doing. In fact, she thrives on it.

At the Veterans Administration hospital, where she has been serving as a volunteer for more than half a dozen years, she has compiled a record of over 1,800 hours. Besides all this, she has been first of all a mother and housewife. During the week she keeps her two grandchildren (children of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bruton of Sand Springs) during the mornings. She finds time for her (West Side Baptist) Church, although not as much as she would like, for on every third Sunday she goes to Roscoe to prepare dinner for her 90-year-old father, C. R. Younse. She also keeps up activity with the Eager Beaver Sewing club.

Mrs. Bruton was born Vera Younse in Collin County. In 1918 the family moved to Hamby near Abilene and she was married to Mr. Bruton, who is employed by Texas Electric Service Co., in 1920 and they lived at Roscoe until 1943 when they came to Big Spring. It was the sewing club which got her interested in VA volunteer service. To this day the club serves in Central Supply and Mrs. Bruton is there every Thursday for her part.

From this she moved to the wards, running movies, circulating the magazine cart, escorting wheel chair patients. Three years ago she took over the American Legion Auxiliary Cheer Cart every Monday. She runs a movie every Tuesday, serves in Central Supply on Thursday. She also fills in with the Legion Auxiliary on bingo parties and other functions and is available for other service as needed. The Legion Auxiliary has recognized her outstanding service by making her chairman of hospital work for the 19th district.

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Best Air 4-Door Sedan with sleek Body by Fisher

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and just recently, Chevrolet received the N.A.S.C.A. Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by N.A.S.C.A., Chevy outstopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newswriter
The platypus and the wattle, no relation to the walrus and the carpenter but nevertheless indigenous to Australia, appear on two new postage stamps issued from "down under." The wattle is the third of a series illustrating Australian flowers. The previous stamps showed the flannel flower and the waratah. The green on maize adhesive has a denomination of 2-shilling, 3-pence which is a new value being introduced to meet the combined postage and airmail rate of an ordinary one-half ounce letter to the United Kingdom, Iceland, Europe and Africa. The swimming platypus appears on the 1-shilling green stamp. It will be the same size and will replace the current lyre-bird stamp which has been in use for 22 years. San Marino has issued five new stamps which pay tribute to Abraham Lincoln. The 5-lire brown shows Lincoln's portrait at the right. At the left, in Italian and English, is a portion of a letter written to San Marino by Lincoln in 1861. The 10-lire shows a map of San Marino and a portrait of Lincoln. The 15-lire depicts Lincoln's portrait in medalion and San Marino's government palace. The 70-lire bears a Lincoln portrait and mountain peaks. The 200-lire differs slightly but shows Lincoln and San Marino mountains. French poet Marceline Desbordes-Valmore (1785-1859) was honored by her native country with a 30-franc stamp issued at Douai, her birthplace. The brown, green and blue stamp shows her portrait in the foreground and house in the background. Togo soon will issue two new stamps honoring the Red Cross and marking the rebirth of Togo's own Red Cross. The stamps will be semi-postals with the additional charge going to the Togo Red Cross. Panama will issue a set of new stamps to honor the 50th anniversary of its National Institute. The 3-cents for ordinary mail will show Eusebio Morales, founder of the Institute. The 5-cents air mail will depict Justo Facio, rector. The 10-cents air mail will bear a likeness of Panama's president, Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. The 13-c ordinary mail will depict one of the leaders of the Institute, Dr. Bravo. The 21-c airmail will illustrate an aerial view of the school.

WATCH LIGHTS

Police Asking Drivers To Keep Close Eye On Signals

An appeal for closer attention to flashing traffic lights was made Friday by Sgt. Stanley Bogard, Big Spring police department traffic division, and James Eubanks, executive secretary, Citizens Traffic Commission.

Both men explained that there has been a considerable number of accidents occurring in the city recently due to failure of motorists to observe these signals. A flashing red signal light means stop, Bogard said. It has the same meaning as a stop sign.

An example of this type of light is located at Main and Tenth streets.

A flashing yellow signal light means slow down and use caution in entering the intersection, he said. The Johnson and Tenth street intersection is an example of this type of signal.

Bogard explained that his division is also being attentive to motorists who fail to slow down or stop when a funeral procession or emergency vehicle is passing.

All cars are to pull to the nearest curb and stop when they meet or are overtaken by a funeral procession, he said. Besides the escort vehicle, we are sending along another car to issue citations to motorists who fail to observe this practice, he said.

It is very important that motorists yield the right of way to emergency vehicles, he added. As with funeral processions, other motorists are required to pull their car over to the nearest curb and stop. The traffic division is issuing citations to motorists who fail to follow this practice.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Navy has called a halt to production of the jet-powered SeaMaster, blaming "unforeseen technical difficulties."

In ordering an end to the 441-million dollar production program, the Navy cut back on five of the seaplanes that were to have been built by the Martin Co. here. Nine months ago it curtailed the project by 10 out of the original 24 ordered.

Now, the Navy is debating what use it will make of the nine already built. It expects to recover some 72 million dollars from the program.

Typhoon Rocks Formosa Cities

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Strong winds and heavy rain lashed southern Formosa today as typhoon Iris passed south of this island and roared toward the Red China mainland.

The tropical storm, with 75-mile-an-hour winds, thundered to the East China Sea and headed for the Communist seaport of Swatow, between Quemoy and Hong Kong.

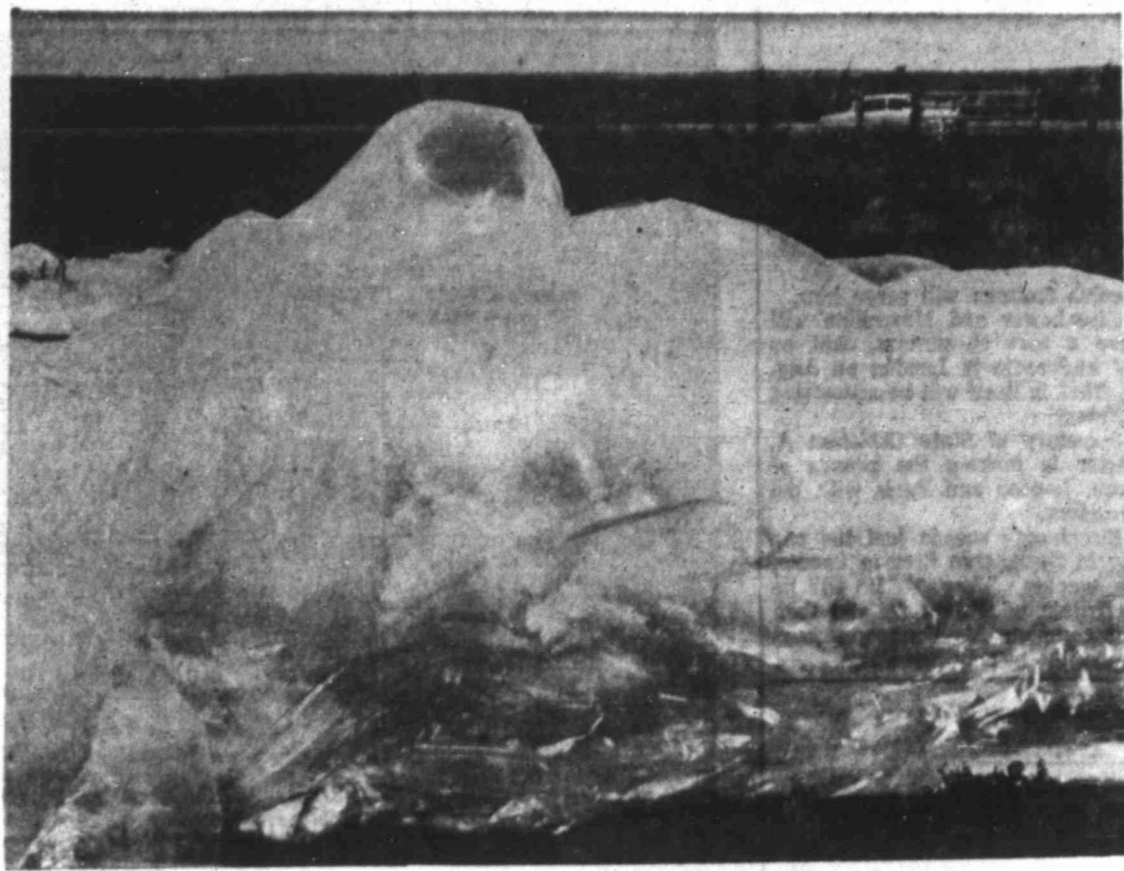

Typhoon Iris plowed into the Balanex Islands off the northern tip of Luzon Friday, churning up rough seas that caused two shipwrecks with heavy loss of lives.

Only 11 survivors have so far been found of the more than 100 persons aboard the Philippine interisland motorship which sank Thursday near Palawan Island in the central west Philippines.

A motorboat capsized off Quezon province in southern Luzon, drowning six other persons.

Sea Of Billowing Plastic

Yards of plastic lay billowing and rolling in a pasture on the western side of Lake Thomas last week near the Colorado River entrance to the reservoir. It probably was a downed weather observation balloon chute, but no identification could be found. The Lake Thomas area seems to create air currents which bring such balloons down, since others have been grounded in that section.

'DRY RUN' FLOPS

Results Of Civil Defense Test Proved Discouraging

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — During last year's "Operation Alert" key federal authorities were evacuated from cities to remote headquarters.

It was a "dry run" to show how efficiently the officials could continue civil affairs in case of an enemy attack.

The results weren't so cheerful. As a direct result, dirt soon will fly at the North Texas city of Denton. To be constructed is an underground bomb shelter which officials say could become the seat of the federal government in an all-out war.

The administration said in a report that it was convinced, after an analysis of "Operation Alert," that the capabilities to operate the government at regional levels must be strengthened.

President Eisenhower early this year asked Congress for $2,700,000 for construction of an underground shelter for the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization (OCDM) Southwest regional headquarters in Denton.

The OCDM noted that this would serve as the center of the government should both Washington and the OCDM's alternate national headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., were knocked out.

Congress this past week passed and sent to the President an appropriation bill with funds for various agencies. It included $2,400,000 for the Denton shelter, which would serve as a vital communications and administration center in times of natural disasters as well as war.

The shelter will be entirely underground except for two small entrance structures. One will be a reception point to check those

Segregationists Draw Applause At Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Little Rock segregationists, stymied in their own hometown, found a receptive audience at a rally protesting integration of the Dollarway school here.

A crowd of about 1,000 cheered and laughed Friday night as Amis Guthridge, attorney for the Capital Citizens Council, lashed and ridiculed persons he accused of promoting integration at Little Rock.

Guthridge assured his listeners that the Little Rock struggle was not over, although four Negroes have attended two once-white schools since Aug. 12 without significant incident.

He urged the crowd to stay united in the struggle to prevent entry of three Negroes to Dollarway when the school opens Sept. 8.

"If Negroes are permitted to attend Dollarway, the bars are down," Guthridge said. "The doors of every school in Arkansas' 400 districts will be open to them."

The Dollarway School Board has appealed a federal court order directing school officials to admit the three Negroes.

The audience began heckling newsmen after Guthridge said "The press is down here as our enemies."

Guthridge singled out Gertrude Samuels, writer for the New York Times Sunday Magazine, and most of the crowd's taunts were directed at her. Miss Samuels photographed persons yelling at her.

Texan Has No Plan To Quit; He's Just 75

DALLAS (AP) — Mention retirement to O.D. Dillingham and you'll get a tolerant smile in reply. The financier, 75, will tell you he's thought about it—and then he'll go right back to work.

The soft-spoken father of five, grandfather of nine and great-grandfather of one makes only one concession to his age: He's not looking for new businesses "except where it might tie in with what I've already got."

He plans instead to concentrate on management of his interests in eight banks, two farms, three radio stations, a lumber company, two gas producing companies, a refrigeration manufacturing firm, a major dairy foods corporation and real estate throughout West Texas.

Those are his major interests. Dillingham also owns stock in a number of corporations "purely for investment purposes."

The weather limits Dillingham's activity more than anything else. When a storm blows up over West Texas, Oklahoma or his home base in Dallas, the slightly-built businessman may have to cancel a plane trip to one of his firms or properties.

Such a delay sends him back to his Exchange Park office to catch up on paper work or to check the progress of one of his newest ventures, the Frigikar Corp.; the firm, in which Dillingham is a director and major stockholder, manufactures air-conditioning equipment, primarily for trucks and autos. A wholly-owned subsidiary in San Antonio, Reliance Engineering and Manufacturing Co., turns out stainless steel equipment for hospitals, schools, chemical and medical laboratories and dairies.

Shorter, non-flying trips take Dillingham to such places as Ranger, where he has been president of the Commercial State Bank since it opened.

Dillingham organized the bank with a group of Ranger citizens to give the oil-booming West Texas city what he considered a solid financial institution.

"I told them if the banks were run by local people with local capital, they'd be solid," Dillingham recalls. "I had to go out of town for a few days, and when I got back, I found out I was president of the bank."

He has acquired stock in seven other Texas banks through the years "because I think it's a good investment."

Dillingham went to Ranger in 1922 after building up a successful coal, ice, automobile and petroleum business in Winters. He operated the Texas company dealership in Winters when "We sold more coal than anything else, and I sold more coal than anybody in West Texas."

He expanded his coal and ice business through purchases of existing plants and construction of new facilities throughout West Texas, adding a dairy products line when he moved to Abilene in 1926.

Dairy products became his principal business as gas and electric refrigerators replaced iceboxes in homes and stores. Dillingham built a chain of dairies throughout West Texas, incorporating them as Banner Dairies in 1936.

The chain stretched from the Brazos River on the east to Pecos on the west and about 150 miles on each side of Highway 80 when Banner Dairies and Foremost Dairies merged in 1953. He retains a major interest in the Foremost firm.

He plans instead to concentrate on management of his interests in eight banks, two farms, three radio stations, a lumber company, two gas producing companies, a refrigeration manufacturing firm, a major dairy foods corporation and real estate throughout West Texas.

TARBOX-GOSSETT MOVING
... Back To Old, Original Location

Tarbox-Gossett Returns To Firm's Original Building

Tarbox-Gossett Motor Co. is returning this weekend to the plant it originally occupied on W. 4th between Bell and Aylford Sts.

The move will vastly increase the Ford dealership's capacity for service both to passenger cars and trucks and will entail a substantial enlargement in the organization.

In preparation for the move, the building which was constructed expressly for Ford sales and services has undergone some remodeling. The chief change is to make the parts department more readily accessible to the service area and the public. Bulk parts will be serviced in the upstairs area.

By this move the parts area will be on the west side of the main building, while the offices formerly there will be located in the center. A new lounge area will be provided there for customers.

Display space will be vastly increased with area to exhibit at least seven cars at once.

Similarly, the shop has far greater space.

In this connection, one of the major changes is to provide easy access and egress for even the largest of trucks. A completely equipped body shop is located on the west end of the block. Between the main building and the body shop will be located the used car department under a pavilion arrangement. The lot across the street, formerly utilized for used cars, will become the site for Bob's Imported Car, Renault dealer.

The mechanics force is being increased from six to 10, and three more salesmen will be added immediately.

President of the corporation is Elmer Tarbox, while Ralph Gossett is the secretary-treasurer and general manager. Tarbox was born in Oklahoma but called Higgins home. Following graduation from Higgins High School, he entered Texas Tech where he became one of the all-time greats on the gridiron for the Red Raiders. He also put in time working for Lubbock Auto prior to graduation in 1939. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps in 1940 and rose to rank of lieutenant colonel in the reserve upon separation from service in 1945.

He returned to Lubbock Auto and became its general manager, in which capacity he served until he came to Big Spring. He was married in 1943 to Maxine Barnett and they have four children, Lois, Max, Lee and Bill. He is a Rotarian and they are members of the First Methodist Church.

Gossett is a native of Post where he was graduated from high school. He also earned his degree from Tech in 1939 and went into the trucking business in Amarillo. In 1941 he entered the Army intelligence, serving until 1945. Back in private life, he operated his trucking business in Denver until 1948 when he moved it to Lubbock, disposing of it to enter the partnership here with Tarbox. He was married in 1942 to Edith Barnett, sister of Mrs. Tarbox, and they have three children, Greg, Robin and Ellen. They are members of the First Methodist Church.

Department heads of the motor company are Bob Brock, general sales manager; Bryan Shafer, parts manager; Fred Kelly, service manager; James Tudor, business manager.

ALBINO SQUIRREL
... Pampered Pet Of Entire Town

Albino Squirrel Pet Of Entire Community

By DAVE BREEDER
OLNEY, Ill. (AP) — A colony of about 700 white squirrels is Olney's proudest boast and the town's trademark.

A more pampered animal would be difficult to find.

A city ordinance passed in 1925 protects the albino colony and a white squirrel has the right-of-way on any street in town.

A motorist unlucky enough to kill one with his car may be assessed a fine of $25. The same fine applies to anyone taking one out of town because Olney residents have found their squirrels do not survive outside the city limits.

"The fact that they don't venture beyond the city limits has never been explained," says Harry Hillis, editor of the Olney Daily Mail. "Science may someday find the answer but hasn't yet."

Olney goes all out to glorify white squirrels. Every policeman and fireman has an outline of the bushy-tailed animal as a shoulder patch on his uniform.

The white squirrels even made the Congressional Record July 14 when Rep. George Shipley (D-Ill.) directed the attention of the House to "the world's only albino squirrel colony."

Tom Tiptip Jr., 72, is credited with giving the colony its start.

According to local legend, the squirrels first made their appearance in 1902. A hunter captured a male and a female albino and put them on display in a cage in a local saloon.

Tiptip's father, Thomas Sr., heard about the squirrels and sent his son to the saloon with orders to return with the animals and release them in woods. The elder Tiptip was mayor at the time.

Weeks later baby white squirrels began to fill Tiptip's Woods and the population has increased since then.

Congress Digs Into Stubborn Labor Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees have moved into the last and most delicate stage of their efforts to reconcile the tough House labor control bill and the middle-of-the-road Senate measure.

Friday, before recessing until Monday, they got to work on the seventh and final section of the two bills, the section containing most of the political dynamite.

They briefly discussed two of the controversial Taft-Hartley law amendments, dealing with no man's land cases and prehire agreements in the construction industry.

No man's land refers to certain labor disputes which the National Labor Relations Board won't handle and courts have ruled state boards don't have jurisdiction over. In prehire agreements construction unions negotiate contracts before men are actually hired to do the job.

Earlier the conferees hammered out just about final agreement on the first six sections of the compromise.

They accepted a scaling down of criminal penalties for union officials who violate members' rights, and they agreed to bring small unions under requirements for public reporting of finances.

In both cases the House Landrum-Griffin bill's provisions were tentatively accepted. In the first instance, the Landrum-Griffin bill penalties were less stringent than the Senate bill's. In the second, the House bill's public reporting provision was stiffer than the Senate's.

The conferees have been working in closed sessions, but word of their progress has seeped out.

Dependents May Be Entitled To Aid

Dependents of disabled workers who are receiving social security disability insurance payments may also be entitled to payments. This is the word from H. P. Thomas, in charge of the Social Security office at Odessa.

If you are getting disability insurance benefits, the following members of your family may be entitled to monthly payments: 1) your children under 18, 2) your disabled child 18 years or over, if he became disabled before 18, 3) your wife aged 62 or older (or your dependent husband age 65 or older), and 4) your wife under age 62 if she has a child in her care who is entitled to benefits.

Applications for these benefits are retroactive to Sept. 1958, provided that they are filed before Oct. 1959. Delay in filing may result in a permanent loss of a number of sorely needed monthly checks.

Reds And Turks Clash On Border

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Soviet border guards machine-gunned a group of Turks near the Soviet frontier Thursday afternoon, killing one and seriously injuring one or two others, Turkish press reports said today. Official Turkish comment was not immediately available.

The Turks, the reports said, were fired on while cutting grass near the border village of Posof, Kars province, in the extreme corner of northeastern Turkey.

Soviet Claims Visit Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, back from Europe, says the pending exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is regarded abroad as a "great achievement" for the Soviet leader.

Stevenson held an hour-long press conference at Idlewild Airport Friday.

He reiterated that he was not a candidate for the presidency in 1960.

On the forthcoming Eisenhower-Khrushchev meetings, he said he detected in Europe "some anxiety about secret diplomacy, but I am sure the President's visit to Europe will relieve that anxiety."

Three Killed As Cars Collide

CLEVELAND, Tex. (AP)—Two cars collided head-on in a grinding crash 10 miles north of this southeast Texas town early Saturday, killing three persons. Three were injured.

Killed in one car was George Brannon, 24, of Live Oak, Fla. The driver of that car, Enoch Carl Knighton, of Houston, was seriously injured.

Killed in the other car were Freddie Paul Johnson, 55, and his son who was driving, Charles Wendell Johnson, 18.

Mrs. Freddie Paul Johnson was injured critically. Another son, Harold Johnson, 16, was injured seriously. The Johnson family were from Barber's Hill about 15 miles north of Baytown.

Teen-agers Escape From Officials

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Two teen-agers, handcuffed together for delivery to the State School for Boys at Gatesville, escaped the Hunt County jail today. They were being taken down an elevator when they broke and ran. The boys, 15 and 16, broke the handcuffs with an iron bar. One was soon recaptured.

Shadow Of Past

NEW YORK (AP)—His former profession keeps pursuing Michael Hordern in his acting career. The British player formerly was a schoolmaster. Since switching activities, he has been called upon to enact a schoolmaster in the film "Tom Brown's School Days," and is now bound for New York for his Broadway stage debut in "Moonbirds."

His role? A headmaster of a fashionable school.

Jerry Lewis Helps Battle Dystrophy

Jerry Lewis, who comes to this area next month, is more than a comedian—he's a humanitarian.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association estimates that during the past 11 years Jerry Lewis has been directly responsible for raising more than $25,000,000. Part of this was earned with his former partner, Dean Martin. Since the team split, Jerry has raised enough money on his own to build the Institute for Muscle Research which was completed recently in New York City. Appropriately it has been nicknamed the "House that Jerry Built," and its cornerstone bears an inscription dedicated to him.

Jerry Lewis is coming to this area with prospects of appearing before some 300,000 people during an 11-day tour of cities served by Furr's Super-Markets Sept. 14-24. He will be seen in 41 performances sponsored by the firm which is giving tickets at its 56 stores in West Texas and New Mexico on the basis of one for each $25 in purchases.

Lewis spends a great amount of time campaigning for muscular dystrophy relief and research. Each year he stages a 19-hour telethon in New York City and raises approximately a million. Once in Los Angeles the Martin-Lewis show raised around four million dollars in contributions in two hours.

Regardless of the back-breaking business schedule that he maintains, Jerry is never too busy to lend a hand to the victims of dystrophy.

Last year he heard of a young boy hospitalized in a state sanitarium in Massachusetts who was celebrating his ninth birthday with no prospects to celebrate his tenth. In addition to this rather grizzly fact, the boy was a ward of the state because he had witnessed his father murder his mother and the father is doing life in the Massachusetts' state penitentiary.

JERRY LEWIS

Within 24 hours Jerry had cleared a closed circuit from Los Angeles to Boston through the offices of General Sarnoff of NBC and gave a one and a half hour show to the single solitary pathetic figure lying alone in a hospital room 3,000 miles away. He enlisted the aid of such stars as Dinah Shore, Hugh "Wyatt Earp" O'Brien, Eddie Cantor, Eddie Fisher, George Gobel, Mouseketeers, and a 23-piece band.

In every town Jerry visits he insists upon spending time with dystrophy patients. Jerry became interested in muscular dystrophy 11 years ago and for a reason that is deeply personal. He doesn't say what it is or was. He just wants to help.

Texas Pastor And Wife Die In Car Wreck

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex. (AP)—The Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Upton died today in a smashup of their car and a truck.

The Rev. Mr. Upton was pastor of a Methodist church in Elkhart in East Texas. He recently was pastor of the Forest Park Methodist Church in Lufkin.

The vehicles' momentum carried them a half block from the impact area. The bodies were badly mangled.

The smashup occurred at the intersection of U.S. 287 and 67.

Israelite Honored By Mexican State

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Israel's first ambassador to Mexico, David Shaltiel, received the award of the Artec Eagle Friday.

Booze Supply For Convicts Is Shut Down

MOONSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Inmates at the state penitentiary here won't be sneaking behind the warden's house any more for their alcoholic snorts.

State police reported Friday they had broken up a whiskey smuggling operation which had been carried on unnoticed for more than three years by a 37-year-old mother of eight.

Officers set a trap for her after finding a bottle of whiskey on a trusty prisoner about a week ago. Sgt. Robert Bonar of the state police said a trooper disguised as a trusty approached Vivian Crow at the prison. The trooper gave her some money, Bonar said, and told her to hide the bottle for him to pick up later.

When the whiskey was brought to the prison and hidden as directed, it was Mrs. Crow's 19-year-old son who made the delivery. When taken into custody, the woman said it was the first time her son had any part in the operations, state police said.

State police said Mrs. Crow, whose husband is serving time in the Marshall County Jail here charged with incest with his 17-year-old daughter, had not been formally charged.

Plane Takes Off; Strike Is Ended

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—A sitdown strike of 50 airplane passengers lifted today, and the Rheinisher Sangerbund finally flew off for New York — after another delay.

All 95 members of the Rheinisher Sangerbund, a German choral society from New York, were aboard at the early morning take-off of the plane that had been dogged by fog, oil leaks and other delays.

All 95 cheered the pilot, Capt. J. J. Christiansen of Overseas National Airline's DC6, when he told them that he wanted to get home today for his son's fifth birthday.

The 50 recalcitrants, who Friday signed a petition demanding another aircraft because they said there was something unusual about the way the DC6 was performing, agreed to lift their sit-down and cheered too. Christiansen explained that he had taken the plane on test flights Friday night and that everything was in good order.

After everyone agreed this morning to take off, there was another delay. Fog again. It finally got off at 6:35 a.m.—1:35 a.m. EST.

Sweltering Heat Holds; Relief May Be On Way

By The Associated Press

Millions of Americans, in a wide area from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast, sweltered in oppressive heat and high humidity again today, but the weathermen said relief for many was on the way.

The forecasters said a cool front was moving slowly across the Great Lakes region toward New England through eastern New York and Connecticut. Baltimore, Washington and New York—broiling in the heat of the last several days—were due to be beneficiaries of the cooling Canadian breezes and thundershowers.

The Weather Bureau said the New York area could look forward to 80-degree temperature readings Sunday and "pleasant temperatures" Monday and Tuesday.

The forecasters said the cooling process would stretch from Chicago and the Great Lakes to the eastern seaboard down through Virginia.

Overnight rains brought some relief today in the Central Plains and the Midwest. Isolated thundershowers stretched from the Northwest down into southern California.

The overnight rains brought some cooling in the Great Lakes and Upper Mississippi Valley. Elsewhere, precipitation was light and spotty with isolated showers in New England through the Gulf region and over mountain areas of the Northwest and Southwest.

Friday's hot spell sent the thermometer over 90 degrees into Nebraska where Lincoln hit 100. Baltimore had a 98 for an all-time record for August. It was the 10th straight day of 90 plus weather for the Maryland City. Nineties prevailed at other points. Chicago labored under a 96.

Oil Industry Now Just Century Old

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Newsfeatures Writer

For its 100th anniversary celebration this week the oil industry is gushing sentimentally over two different but highly typical wells in its Pennsylvania birthplace, the Drake and Grandin wells.

ease his aches in the new job. He drilled himself a place in history by using the same type of wooden derrick and 100-pound bit that well-diggers used to find salt—and usually cursed when they got oil instead.

Two days later the Grandin well was begun at nearby Tidouct. It hit rock at 134 feet that explosives failed to budge and had to be abandoned. Thus the world's second well became its first dry hole.

Refined kerosene, called coal oil, made the wells worth drilling. A certain "coal oil Johnnie" set the pattern for Texas millionaires by going through a million dollars in one year. The more thrifty John D. Rockefeller visited the oil fields but decided the money end of the business was in refining.

Together the Drake and Grandin wells symbolize the romance, the risk, the fantastic zeal that attended the frantic search for oil in the past 100 years and laid the foundation for some of America's biggest corporations and greatest fortunes.

On Jan. 10, 1901, in a hog wallow outside Beaumont, four tons of drilling pipe shot out of the hole and over the derrick, followed by a 175-foot geyser of oil that gushed 100,000 barrels a day for 9 days.

A Pittsburg druggist, Sam Kier, bottled the oil as a liniment and discovered a process to refine it for use in lamps. A group of New Haven, Conn., investors, interested in both applications, formed the Seneca Oil Co. to exploit the smelly scum trickling into Oil Creek.

Oil seepages had been known and used for centuries. The Egyptians used oil to mummify their dead, the Greeks to fuel their Olympic torches, the Chinese to heat their pagodas. The Seneca Indians lit the waters of Oil Creek for ceremonial fire dances.

Stanton Enjoying Excellent Growth

By BOBBY HORTON
STANTON (SC)—A small town is sometimes destined to remain just a small town. Stanton, however, is an exception.

Stanton is past the "small" stage; now it is a young growing city. Indications are that it will continue to expand, although perhaps not at the pace it has set in the last ten years.

The town has almost doubled in size in the decade. The biggest jump in population came in 1952 when the town's figure soared from a bare 2,000 citizens to almost 3,000. Since then the number has stabilized to around 3,000.

The swift climb from 2,337 in 1951 to 2,924 in 1952 was spurred by excitement over the Spraberry oil field, says Cecil Bridges, manager of Texas Electric Service Co. in Stanton.

Humble began and completed a large company camp while Magnolia, Gulf and others transferred personnel to Stanton, bringing in numbers of families.

A steel strike, however, slowed down the boom for about six months and, adding to the negative effect, was the idea which spread about that time that the Spraberry wasn't the find it had been cracked up to be.

The Humble camp folded and many oil workers and families packed and left. Population decreased for the next two years, but by 1955 it had settled to the level of today.

Texas Electric, says Bridges, had 3,053 electric meters in use through July. That is an all-time high.

POPULATION FIGURES
TESCO's number of meters indicates the population of the whole of Stanton (including residences which are outside city limits; hence, indicating a higher population than a census restricted to residents within the city markings):

1946 (1,490), 1947 (1,505), 1948 (1,545), 1949 (1,570), 1950 (1,716), 1951 (2,237), 1952 (2,924), 1953 (2,754), 1954 (2,686), 1955 (2,723), 1956 (2,950), 1957 (3,023), 1958 (2,986), and 1959 (3,053 through July).

Construction has boomed in the past months for a town of Stanton's size. In 1957 there was construction amounting to $54,500 and in 1958 $22,240 for new homes and residential improvements.

Buildings in the last half-year, however, has reached a new high mark.

Since January residential building and repairs have amounted to $107,500. Of that $68,500 is being, or has been spent on new homes, and $3,000 for a private swimming pool.

"We are not expanding in any one area," says Harvey White of City Hall, "but the vacancies are being filled within the city limits. Most building is occurring in the north, west and northwest parts of Stanton."

It all helps give Stanton a new

Burns In House

DONNA, Tex. (AP)—Louis Naranjo, about 70, burned to death late Friday when fire destroyed his small house here.

Unique Business Rents Patrons Anything Needed

Noble Rogers has opened a unique type of business here at 3601 W. Highway 80, two blocks west of the truck stop.

Where conventional businesses frequently boast that if they don't have an item in stock to sell you, they'll make every effort to obtain it for you.

If Rogers doesn't have it to rent to you, he will make an attempt to add it to his stock as soon as possible. Name of his concern is United Rent-Alls and it is designed to serve patrons with the kinds of machines and tools which the average homeowner can't afford or seldom has occasion to use. Small rental charges will enable the homeowner to use these items. The range is from floor sanders to paint sprayers, from house jacks to chain saws.

August Rivals June In Brides

August has rivaled June this year as Cupid's Month in Big Spring. A number of weddings took place this weekend, with several of the newlyweds making their plans to enter college next month.

Mary Ella Bigony and Charles Conrad Cherry of Dallas were married here Saturday evening at First Methodist Church. They will reside in Madison, N.J. while the bridegroom continues his ministerial studies at Drew University School of Theology.

In Wichita Falls, Tom Henry Guin took as his bride Sherry Stewart. Both will attend the University of Texas this fall. Meanwhile, they are on a trip to Colorado Springs, following their pledge of vows Saturday evening.

Mrs. Aaron David Stoker Jr. was Mary Jo Turner prior to their wedding Thursday evening in Coahoma. The couple will make their home in Big Spring, where both are employed.

After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cohorn will be at home in Abilene, and he will be a senior at Hardin-Simmons University. Before their marriage Friday evening in Hereford, the bride was Millie Paul. His home has been Lamesa.

A Sparenberg girl, Sandra Ann Reid, pledged vows with Edwin I. Henson of Welch in a Friday evening ceremony at Klondike Baptist Church. They will settle in Welch, where he is engaged in farming.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Good Adjustment Is Up To You, Says Pier

By LYDIA LANE
LONDON—When I last saw Pier Angel, she had the sad eyes of a girl who feels her marriage is breaking up. It was a happy contrast to a visit with Pier here in a beautiful flat filled with red roses from hubby Vic Damone.

"The separation was painful," Pier said, "but it has done us both a lot of good, and I feel all our troubles are behind us. Sometimes we need obstacles to teach us maturity. The big danger is that can't deal with problems when you are confused. You have to have confidence, and that means work on your character. You have to face yourself. It's wonderful to feel independent and capable."

"Learning to grow up has been my biggest problem. I understand now that I felt cheated of a happy childhood, because I was dodging bombs when I might have been playing with dolls. So instead of accepting womanhood, I tried to escape the responsibility."

"A wise man said to me, 'Some people grow old and never grow up. You don't want that to happen to you.' He told me to think of any problem as a big mountain that had to be climbed. 'You may slip, but keep on working until you reach the top. Then, from the heights, you will see the other side; the freedom you will have there will make every step worth the effort.'" hospital I told the doctor I felt better without a lot of drugs." "Tell me what you eat in a normal day," I asked, returning to the subject of dieting. "It's unusual to find someone without a weight problem."

"I don't like sweets. Fortunately I never have, because desserts can get people into trouble. And I don't eat many starches, because I know they are not good for me, and I would rather have a lot of energy than a lot of spaghetti."

"For breakfast I have coffee and two raw eggs with lemon juice. For lunch I have a steak or cottage cheese salad and fruit, and in the middle of the afternoon I have a glass of milk or fruit juice, and for dinner grilled fish, chicken or meat and lots of vegetables and melon for dessert."

"MINUS DIET" Appetite is a habit. Check the habit with proper foods and you'll find it's easy to lose weight. The once chubby Patti Page dropped to a size 10 with this same diet, now offered to Hollywood Beauty readers. It's all there in Leaflet M-76, "The Minus Diet." Lose a pound a day with the seven days of menus made up of catabolic or "minus" foods. The more you eat of these, the more you lose. For a copy of this sensational diet-leaflet, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Mrs. Lee's Art Pupils Slate Show

Mrs. Myrtle Lee, local artist, will present her spring pupils in their annual art show Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church. The exhibit, which will be the work of 40 pupils, will open at 9 a.m. and continue until 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Both adults and children are included in the class. Watercolors, pastel sketches and oils will be shown. As a novelty, Mrs. Lee will show "Dog's Life of the Old Masters", done in miniature on tile.

Highlight of the show will be a museum piece which Mrs. Lee recently acquired in Pass Christian, Miss. The Dresden porcelain portrait of Angelica Kauffmann, 1741-1807, Swiss born portrait painter and student of Joshua Reynolds, at one time hung in the Dresden Gallery. The artist is Frz. Burgard, Dresden. How the valuable piece made its way to the states is not known since Dresden was heavily bombed during World War II.

Fall classes will begin Sept. 1.

Swim Party Fetes Betrothed Couple

Mrs. K. H. McGibbon entertained Carol Anne Rogers and her fiancé, Robert S. Galbraith Jr., with a swimming party at her home Thursday evening. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Webb of Dallas. Later, the twenty guests found their places at foursome tables lighted with candles.

Grated Carrots Are Unexpected Here

Who would ever think of adding grated carrots to hamburgers? But, it's a splendid idea, vitamin-wise.

Follow these instructions:

CARROT-CHEESE BAR-BURGERS

2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1 1/2 pounds round beef
1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. dry mustard
3/4 cup grated carrot.
6 slices process American cheese
Hamburger buns
Blend evaporated milk, egg, beef, crumbs, salt, pepper, mustard and carrot together until well-mixed. Form into six patties and broil 3-7 minutes on each side (or to your family's taste). Top with cheese slices. Broil two minutes, or until cheese melts. Serve on hamburger buns. Makes six servings.

Flower Arranging Style Varies With The Region

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Flower arranging styles vary greatly around the country, whether you arrange them yourself right out of the garden or wire them to a shut-in a thousand miles away. The style of arrangement is typical of the area.

If the roses are to be sent to a New England bedside, for example, chances are they'll be in a massed arrangement, and that several varieties of flowers will be used. Stock, Fuji mums, daisies, carnations, peonies, garden lilies, delphinium, and ivy are popular in that area.

Big batches of flowers are the rule in the Northeast. The bigger they are the more they appeal to occupants of the old Colonial houses who enjoy placing their long stems in hall vases.

Regional preferences come out of many ancient traditions, some as old as civilization. West Coast styles are rooted in China and Japan, where for thousands of years floral decorations had deep religious significance. Each blossom had a special meaning.

Modern West Coast arrangers, creating in the Oriental tradition, still give prominence to each flower, and many still consider arrangements to be poetic statements in which flowers represent Earth, Heaven, Man as they did hundreds of years ago.

In the South it's the bouquet that matters, and flowers are patterned to tantalize the olfactory senses. Camellias, magnolias and gardenias are big favorites. South of Richmond, arrangements use hanging branches with budding flowers interwoven with roses. Gladioli, hydrangea and iris are popular, too, because they bend freely, even from a good sized centerpiece. Baskets of flowers are popular in the deep South.

Here's The Formula For A Career Girl's Success

A woman doesn't lose her femininity if she chooses a typewriter instead of an apron — that is, if she keeps her perspective.

"Being a woman is a state of mind, with little relation to title or paycheck," says psychologist Peter E. Siegle, who has just completed a study of 250 women in business.

The balance of difference, Siegle says, is how the woman rates her non-office areas of life to her office duties. "Some tend to get their roles mixed up and treat their husbands like the office messenger boy. Naturally this leads to trouble."

His study found that there's no danger of a woman losing her femininity in getting ahead as an executive as long as she works with men, not against them.

"When a career woman is constantly trying to knock her male coworkers down the executive ladder, she's developing traits that are all too likely to damage her emotional relationships with the opposite sex," he says.

Siegle found three categories of job-holding women in his study for American Photocopy Equipment Co.:

First — The working girl or woman who sees her job as a means to an end: money and what it can buy.

Second — The career girl who receives satisfaction from her job, yet doesn't consider it her primary goal in life: she is in a state of becoming, rather than being, Siegle says.

Third — The career woman who will receive a great deal of satisfaction from her job and probably earn enough to be financially independent. She is a woman first and foremost, and a successful businesswoman second, but sees her job as an end in itself and gives it top billing, Siegle concludes.

Avoid Foot Woes With Proper Care

Summer's heat is still upon us, but it's not too soon to give a thought on how to avoid the rash of foot ailments that frequently appear as cooler weather arrives. "Most people generally give their feet a break during the warm weather," says Dr. Maxwell N. Cupshan, executive director of the U. S. Podiatry Foundation. "Lighter and better ventilated shoes are worn, and many of us visit beaches where bare feet are the order of the day. All these things are beneficial. "But with the advent of fall, heavier shoes and hosiery are worn and that's where the trouble begins," he added. In order to beat the plague of foot ailments during the fall and winter months, he lists some timely tips to keep your feet in tip-top shape. Here they are: Bathe feet daily. Dry carefully and keep them dry. Prevent athlete's foot by using a foot powder on feet and in the shoes daily. Cut nails almost straight. Not round and not shorter than the flesh. This helps prevent ingrown nails. Give immediate attention to all wounds, blisters, skin eruptions. Avoid the use of strong medicines or sharp instruments on the feet. This will help prevent serious infections. Exercise the feet. Walking in good shoes, properly fitted, is the best exercise. Avoid run-over heels, wrinkles in hose or shoe linings, and other creases which may cause friction or pressure. Children's feet should be examined regularly by a podiatrist. Have them walk and stand with the toes pointed straight ahead.

Sharon Ann Reid Becomes The Bride Of Edwin I. Henson

LAMESA (Sp.) — Sandra Ann Reid became the bride of Edwin I. Henson in a ceremony read by the Rev. Joe Grizzle in the Klondike Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Reid of Spävenberg are the parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Henson of Welch are the bridegroom's parents.

Baskets of white gladioli and pedestaled candelabra flanked the traditional archway before which the couple pledged their vows. Preceding the nuptials Kathleen Beeman, pianist, presented a medley of wedding selections, and was accompanied by her sister, Olivia Beeman, when she sang the wedding solos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over net and taffeta designed and made by her mother. The dress featured a portrait neckline of hand clipped lace intricately traced with iridescent paillettes and tiny seed pearls, long sleeves which tapered to petal points over the hands, and fitted bodice which terminated in a point at center front. The skirt of tulle over net and taffeta had an apron effect overskirt of hand clipped lace in back.

Her illusion veil was caught to a crown of hand clipped lace re-embroidered in rhinestones and seed pearls. On a white Bible she carried a white orchid in a cascade of stephanotis and satin streamers. The six-pence in her shoe was a gift from her uncle, Bill Lawrence, brought from Australia after World War II.

Norma Reid, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Sharron Henson, sister of the bridegroom, from Welch, and Glenda Sue Airhart of Spävenberg. The three were dressed identically in white cotton satin frocks designed with scoop necklines, cap sleeves, moulded bodices highlighted by flame cummerbunds and bustle bows at center back, and fully shirred street length skirts.

Their headresses were flat bows of white cotton satin featuring nose veils of tulle, and they carried single stems of flame gladioli from which fell white streamers.

The best man was Jim Burkett of Welch, and ushers were Eddie Grissom and B. W. Evans. The candles were lighted by the bride's brother, Richard Reid, and the bridegroom's cousin, Jerry Burkett of Welch.

Assisting in the houseparty at the reception in the church dining hall were Linda Myers, Genevieve Adams, Sandra Applegate, Joan Robison, Sharon Vogler; also Mrs. Lawrence Vogler, Mrs. Dalton Myers, Mrs. Inez Turner, Mrs. Russell Davis, Mrs. J. E. Airhart, Mrs. Mart Stone, and Mrs. Nella Mac Beckmeyer.

The bride's going away costume was a sapphire blue dressmaker suit of sheer wool with white fur hat and black accessories. She attended the Klondike High School, and her husband attended Dawson High School.

Upon their return from a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will reside at Welch where he is engaged in farming.

Laughter Is Really A Cure-All, Contends Author Of Best-Seller

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Laughter is the best medicine for whatever ails you, says Gladys Workman, who has been making jokes out of calamities all her life. A broken back? Merely amusing. Temporary blindness and deafness? Nothing to cry about. A broken leg? Exciting. Cuts, bruises, abrasions and fractured bones? Hilarious. Out in Oregon's Umpqua River Valley Gladys' hearty laughter can be heard all the way up and down the 23-party line, and recently it's been heard by TV network coast to coast, following publication of her best-seller, "Only When I Laugh." Gladys took to the Oregon woods with her husband, "Pappy," when the doctors gave him only a few months to live. If that was the case, said she, he might as well enjoy what life was left, and get in some good fishing and hunting. Now, 12 years later, "Pappy" is hale and hearty, raising daffodils and eating bear steaks, while Gladys has brought fame to the valley. Today, despite all the disasters that have beset her since childhood, Mrs. Workman is the picture of health, tall, vital, white-haired and breezy and having the time of her life.

"I've got to get back to the Umpqua for our annual barbecue," she said, during a hectic book-launching visit to New York. "Just before I left I rounded up the elk, bear, venison and salmon we always serve. The girl at the packing house got on the party line and said, 'Gladys needs bear,' and within an hour I had four bear, a dozen elk and offers of all the venison and salmon we could use. It's a great institution, that party line. The dial phone will never replace it."

When the Workmans first arrived on the Umpqua, they lived in an abandoned cabin without windows, doors or other facilities until they got things organized. But this didn't stop them from entertaining all their city friends from Los Angeles and environs. Now, with a fine new house, complete with a swimming pool and plenty of "facilities," the status is quo. People come thousands of miles, by car, boat, plane, horse or dog sled to visit the jolly Workmans. When the publisher held a book-autographing party recently in Scottsburg, population 50, a crowd of 1,300 showed up in a pouring rain. Says Gladys:

"We never lock the doors at our house. It's headquarters for anyone who comes through the valley, from loggers to sick bears. We keep a supply of baby's nursing bottles on hand to feed the baby fawns the loggers are always bringing in, when they find them lost in the woods. Sometimes the deer make life difficult when they grow up, they get so fond of us—come in the house and walk on the dining room table, and stuff like that."

Guin-Stewart Wedding Read In Wichita Falls

Wedding vows of Sherry Stewart and Tom Henry Guin were solemnized in a formal ceremony Saturday evening at Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church, Wichita Falls, Dr. L. M. Kennedy, pastor, was assisted in the double ring rites by the Rev. Walter Guin, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Del Rio and an uncle of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeWitt Stewart, 3501 Seymour Rd., Wichita Falls. Guin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Guin, 1602 Indian Hills.

Poised high at the back in the sanctuary was a tree candelabra studded with burning white tapers and festooned with white gladioli and majestic daisies. Cascade arrangements of the flowers enhanced the arch, set against a background of woodwardia fern.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Stanley R. Rugeley, organist; Mrs. J. E. Hall, violinist; and Thurman D. Davis, soloist.

Gowned in an original Anne Fogarty costume, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Horizontal rows of imported Chantilly lace almost covered the full-length dress of pure silk organdy. A square neckline and fitted short sleeves were features of the moldy bodice, which joined the bouffant skirt at the natural waistline. Imported silk illusion descended to her fingertips on a bandeau of the Chantilly lace.

On a Bible given her by the bridegroom she held garlands and garlands of English ivy clasped with white satin streamers and tufts of nylon illusion.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Duane D. Malone of Wichita Falls, matron of honor, and Margaret Jane Guin of Big Spring, the bridegroom's sister, maid of honor, both of whom were in mint green. Emerald green was worn by the bridesmaids, who were Mrs. Bill Rogers, Dell Ruggles, Pat Martin, Judy Arrington and Sue Fletcher, Wichita Falls, and Linda Hampton, Fort Worth.

Their ensembles were in identical style. The street-length frocks of pea de sole were fashioned with rounded neckline, fitted basque, and bell-shaped skirt. Face veils of matching net had Dior bows of the pea de sole. In their white-gloved hands they carried a single long-stemmed white rose.

Rodney Sheppard, Big Spring, served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Hazen Woods, Midland; Jeff Kelley, Commerce; Jim Byrd, Lubbock; Stormy Edwards, John Davenport and Gary Tidwell, all of Big Spring; and Bill Rogers, Wichita Falls. Guests were ushered in by Don Lambert and Bernie Delmont of Wichita Falls. Joe Siebold of Sherman, Jim McCarty of Big Spring, and Duane Malone of Wichita Falls, the bride's brother-in-law.

Beverly Hills Country Club was decorated with white gladioli and majestic daisies for the reception. White satin caught at intervals with swags of illusion covered the bride's table, accented with white wedding bells and garlands of smilax. White roses and carnations overflowed the silver and crystal epergne at the center. Lilies of the valley and stephanotis cascaded from a fountain of white plastic atop the bride's cake. Beside the register sat a vase filled with white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Guin were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at the Beverly Hills Country Club. Three massive arrangements of white gladioli and majestic daisies were linked with garlands of huckleberry on the U-shaped table.

Mr. and Mrs. Akin Simpson departed Saturday on an automobile trip to Harrisonville, Mo., where they will attend the annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association and the Women's Association. Pan American Association will also be represented. The Simpsons expect to return home Friday.

WIVES ASK: Should We Continue To Work After Marriage?

By VIVIAN BROWN

One question asked frequently by young moderns is whether a girl should continue to work after marriage. It is a puzzler for many girls who feel that it is one way to help out with family finances until the husband becomes established, but parents of newlyweds often are opposed to the plan though young people see nothing in it.

I asked 10 married working girls how they felt about this question. Nine of these girls between 23 and 27 felt if they had it to do over again they would not work. The 10th girl has worked only two years, and feels that she will give up her job any time now, when her husband gets a promotion. (The nine girls interviewed all said they had the same idea the first five years they worked.)

STILL WORKING

A girl who has been working seven years had this to say: "When my husband and I were wed, he was a law student going to night school and had a good job during the day. We decided that I would continue working until he was graduated so that he could start his practice of law without any fears. He did it. It has been a long climb, but meanwhile we maintained a good standard of living because of my job.

There is no prospect of my quitting right now because we could not maintain our standard of living. I feel we should have starved if necessary, rather than try to have all the right things from the beginning. We cannot turn back the clock and now we are forced to maintain our good position in the community. I am sorry that I did not take my mother's advice."

A woman working 10 years passes on this advice: "I always wanted a large family, but we have been so busy trying to impress my husband's business associates with the right table appointments, we never got around to having children. There has always been something big to work for—a new car, the mortgage on our big house, vacation trips. We have been so busy worrying about money that we didn't have time to stop and think about the important things. Nothing would be more important to me now than having a child in the home and I hope it isn't too late."

MISSED CHILDREN

A woman working 15 years passes on this comment: "I have three children, even though I have worked all these years. I do manage to get home shortly after they get home from school, so they have not been neglected. The wrong thing about my working has been that it kept my husband from advancing until recently.

He was a bank teller and complained because he did not feel the bite of expenses as the years went on with the extra salary in the family. I became restless, however, and began complaining about being away from the children. He became determined to get ahead, and rose to credit manager, and to vice president. I am leaving my job at the start of summer vacation, but I can't help but think how wrong it was to dampen his incentive unwittingly, and to deprive myself of happy times with my children."

There are many women who do not regret having worked through the years probably because they have no alternative. It is the woman who could have changed the course of her life to the happy housewife routine by making a few sacrifices in the beginning, who seems to regret postponing that opportunity.

Jacketed Dress Boasts Fine Details, Contrast

A hit song, a hit dress, TV and recording star Pattie Page always has an eye for a winner. This sheath with jacket was designed especially for her, and a number of fine details make it a special costume. The sleeveless dress is done in two fabrics of the same color but contrasting texture. The material in the skirt matches that of the easy fitting hip length jacket. The sheath top matches the jacket's collar and cuffs. For dressier occasions the dress can be worn alone with any belted overskirt.

Cottons, silk, linen, shantung, faille, and wool crepe are all good fabric choices. With linen faille or satin for the contrast.

Overtons Transferred To New Salvation Army Post

Captains Fred and Iona Overton, in charge of the Salvation Army work here for the past two years, are being transferred to Cumberland, Md.

They will be succeeded here by Lt. James Jay and Mrs. (Lt.) Jay, now stationed at Lutkin, where they have been since 1956.

"We have loved the people here and have enjoyed our work," Capt. and Mrs. Overton said Friday, "and it is with much regret that we will leave this post and our friends."

During their tenure in office here, the Salvation Army load had increased substantially particularly in the welfare (charity) and transient aid departments. The religious phase of the work has been blessed, too, for enrollment is up by about 25 per cent and this week the Vacation Bible School has had an enrollment of 134.

The Overtons have been active in civic work, and he has been in the American Business Club and the Masonic Lodge, while she has served as chaplain of the Cedar Crest P-TA. One of the major accomplishments has been in whitening an operating deficit, owed locally and to headquarters, to approximately $1,300.

Capt. Fred Overton was dedicated for special service at the age of 6 months by his parents, Capt. and Mrs. Tom Overton of Waynesboro, Va., Salvation Army officers. Mrs. Overton, who was Iona Mullins, entered the army in 1948 at Williamsburg, West Va. They entered officer training together and were graduated at Atlanta, Ga. on June 6, 1951. They served in Covington, Va., Birmingham (Ensley), Ala., Columbus (Beallwood) Ga., Florence, Ala., Sherman and Big Spring. They were made captains on Dec. 19, 1953, not long after coming here.

They have three sons, Tommy, 10, Freddy, 7, and Jimmy, 2.

Men Frighten Easily, Smart Girls Discover, So They Hide Their IQ's

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the smartest women don't like to show their brains. They're afraid men won't like them.

If you think that idea has gone out in the past 50 years, you're wrong. That it's still very much alive is being proved in a careful research study now under way in Michigan.

Researcher Elizabeth M. Drews of Michigan State University, who has been talking to some of the most gifted girls in her state, says the reluctance of brilliant women to disclose their intellect to men has "appalled and fascinated" her.

Convinced that it is most important to find a husband, she says, many of these girls of unusual intelligence are ready to scrap it all because that's what they think men want.

Most of the top talent girls she's interviewed—those finishing junior or senior high school and college in the top 5 per cent of their classes—agree they could be doctors, lawyers, scientists. But they don't think society or their future husbands would let them.

"I don't know how they get this feeling so soon, and I don't think they are right," laments Dr. Drews, who has successfully combined career, marriage and motherhood.

With a 16-year-old daughter of her own, she says, "You can see why I'm so interested."

Why these talented girls are worrying so about finding a husband has Dr. Drews stumped, too.

Many of them are the most popular in their classes. Studies have showed that gifted children are also the prettiest, healthiest and most vivacious—probably the most likely to find mates, she says.

Dr. Drews has made a four-year study of gifted adolescents in Lansing, Mich., and has been awarded a $26,000 grant from the U.S. Office of Education to continue her research.

Among the questions she'll be probing is "what appears to be a renouncing of intellectuality by so many able girls."

Her research will check whether today's newspapers, radio, TV and magazines are helping to spread the idea that it doesn't pay off socially for a girl to be "a brain."

Dr. Drews says 9 out of 10 of today's schoolgirls can expect to spend 25 years of their adult life working. And with the trend toward early marriages, by 32 the average woman has had her last child and faces some 40 years of life still ahead.

A recent U.S. Labor Department survey reports three-fourths of the married women graduates in classes of 1957 were working.

Farmers Of Texas Harvest Bumper Crops As Fall Nears

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas farmers and ranchers are gathering their crops at full speed. Prospects are for a bumper year, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Saturday.

"The cotton harvest ranges from peak gathering in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and South Texas to first bales ginned in many counties at the Red River. The bulk of grain sorghum and corn harvest is moving into Central Texas," said Director John Hutchison after receiving his weekly report from district agents.

The hot, open weather has been favorable for harvest but many sections need a general rain for pastures and crops, he added. Showers have helped some areas.

Insects plague cotton fields. Bollworms and boll weevils are heaviest in the Central and North Texas, and fleahoppers damaging to cotton on the South Plains.

Rice combining is increasing on the Gulf coast. About all truck crops in Northeast Texas have been marketed except purple hull peas and watermelons. Peanut and pecan prospects appear good. In East Texas, pine seedlings planted this year are making good growth.

A record crop of hay has been baled in many areas and cattlemen are busy putting up more. Livestock is in generally good shape, but ranges are feeling the pinch of high temperature and dry topsoil.

"We need a good rain in the Edwards Plateau," said Roy Huckabee at San Angelo. "Surface moisture is short. Cotton is loaded with fruit and the bulk of grain sorghum harvest is 10 days to 2 weeks away. Ranges and pastures have held up, so far."

Goat shearing is nearing its peak, some lambs are moving to market and there's some contracting of calves.

At Gonzales Joe Glover said ranges, pastures and livestock are in good shape for this time. At Fort Stockton, Ray Siegmund reported ranges in parts of far West Texas are "burning up." Showers helped in the highlands and other local areas.

South Plains non-irrigated crops are deteriorating severely in some fields due to a lack of moisture, added Welton Jones at Lubbock. Irrigation pumps are kept busy. A few cotton bolls have opened, and some early grain sorghum has been cut. Ranges need rain, but there's a good crop of mature grass.

James Simmons at Vernon said ranges in the Rolling Plains are drying up fast. Sorghum yields range from 2,000 to 5,000 pounds per acre.

Lower Rio Grande Valley and Winter Garden vegetables are being planted. Some are growing well.

The vegetable harvest in the Panhandle is slow due to weak markets.

About 90 per cent of a record hay crop is stored. Pastures are still green, and cattle are in good condition in deep East Texas. The cotton harvest is later than normal. Corn and sorghum yields are good.

Cattle is moving to market, and there's much trading as ranges and pastures stay good and prices continue high, added John Surovik at Mount Pleasant. Sweet potatoes and peanuts are making good growth. The pecan crop shows promise.

At Stephenville, R. G. Burwell said peanuts in the west Cross Timbers are good, but a rain would help. Pastures are turning brown, but there's still plenty of grass and cattle are in good shape.

The Gulf Coast area still has plenty of moisture as rice, cotton and sorghum harvests continue with good yields. Most pastures and livestock are in good shape, and the hay crop is unusually good.

The North Texas cotton harvest is on and farmers are using poisons to control insects. Very good crop prospects are in sight.

Deer and turkey are reported fat and in ample supply in many sections.

Sandwiches Cheap Items On Food List

By The Associated Press
For Texas wives observing August as sandwich month, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports luncheon meats, frankfurters and other sandwich ingredients are in good supply at attractive prices.

Other high protein good buys listed by the federal agency this week are hens, fryers, small turkeys, hams and picnic hams, sausage, bacon, fresh pork roasts and eggs.

Fresh fruits and vegetables in the good buy category are bananas, corn, eggplant, grapes, nectarines, okra, yellow medium onions, California tomatoes and red potatoes from West Texas.

Slightly higher in price this week at most markets are old celery, white onions, peaches and Texas yellow squash.

On the other end of the price picture, gravenstein apples, pole beans, cantaloupes, cauliflower and sweet potatoes are considered slightly cheaper, compared to last week's prices.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

look at the pencil!

It was his first trip to Washington. He was only six. Everything had to be analyzed by the standards of a first-grader!

Tell him it's the Washington Monument . . . he still thinks of it as "The Pencil." Time for his parents to learn a lesson:

Suppose he had never seen a pencil. What would it have meant to him then? Probably nothing!

A child needs standards by which to measure all he encounters. The standards may be simple—but he uses them. With them he associates the things he wants to remember.

The Church provides your child with simple religious standards. He still needs your help to grasp the truth he must master. But the standards you and he learn at Church are the foundation of his character . . . the inspiration of your own. In his terms: the pencil with which tomorrow is written.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Industrial Picture Slows Down; Many Factors Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—Strikes, vacations and auto model changes slowed the nation's industrial picture this week. Most other lines of business activity barreled along at a fast clip. Hopes for a quick settlement of the five-and-a-half-week-old steel walkout blew hot and cold. The White House, through Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, sought to build a fire under the strike negotiators. Mitchell released a 4,000-word report riddled with statistics on wages, prices, profits, productivity and other matters in dispute. These statistics, he said, "may serve to indicate the area which exists for a settlement in which the public's interest is taken fully into account."

And, he said, the steel negotiators could reach an early settlement if they got down to brass tacks at the bargaining table. The stock market seemed to like Mitchell's remarks—the next day the market scored its biggest advance in 21 months, with steel shares leading the way. Stock sales totaled 11,762,210 shares in the latest week, compared with 13,879,815 shares in the previous week and 12,270,245 shares in the same week last year. Bond sales had a par value of $24,811,000 in the latest week against $30,325,200 the week before and $24,130,700 in the same 1958 week. Mitchell's report was followed by a rash of rumors that agreement had been reached to end the strike. And just as promptly came emphatic denials from top industry and union negotiators. But, as the dreary negotiations recessed Friday afternoon, there were signs that the White House warning might have been taken to heart. Both sides promised to work separately over the weekend, seeking out points they might agree on. Monday they'll meet face to face again to hammer out the language of a new wage contract. Effect of the steel shutdown, already apparent in a sharp drop in coal production and rail freight traffic, reached into the giant auto industry this week. James Roche, boss of General Motors' Cadillac Division, said

Cadillac will run into serious production problems if the strike isn't settled soon. The 1960 Cadillacs are scheduled to go on public display Oct. 2. If the manufacturer doesn't get some steel in the next few weeks, Roche said, Cadillac dealers may have nothing to sell but samples. Cadillac, like most other American automakers, has stopped building 1959 cars. Some, notably Chevrolet, are already making 1960 models. For the buyer interested in a 1959 car, dealers this week had a wide assortment. Inventories were around the 900,000 mark. Sales moved forward briskly. New car prices have been going down a bit, as they normally do toward the end of the model year.

Used car prices—and prices of just about everything else you buy—have risen slightly.

The trend is mirrored in the government's latest cost-of-living index, announced Friday. The index—which measures living costs for July—edged up to a new peak: 124.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This means, according to government calculations, that you need $1.25 to buy what $1 would have bought 11 years ago. The index for June was 124.5 per cent. In July last year it was 123.9. About one-fourth of the June-to-July rise was accounted for by state and local taxes—mainly taxes on cigarettes and restaurant meals. Briefly over the business scene: Unperturbed by strikes, Khru-chev or the Wall Street fever chart, American consumers are spending as they never spent before. Department store sales in the nation last week topped 1958 by six per cent . . . Despite a sharp drop in steel industry payrolls, total personal income of Americans in July reached a record annual rate of more than 384 billion dollars . . . Auto dealers in the United States sold more than three million cars in the first six months this year, including 289,000 foreign models . . . Economy note: Oldsmobile's 1960 line will include a car that runs on low-cost "regular" gasoline. The other 1960 Oldsmobiles, as heretofore, will require premium-priced, high-test fuel . . . Brunswick-Balke-Goldender Co., bowling equipment manufacturer, says there are now more women bowlers in the world than men. Not too many years ago, the bowling alley was considered a man's exclusive domain . . . Licensed Beverage Industries Inc., a liquor trade group, reports that beer, wine and liquor taxes enriched federal, state and municipal coffers last year by four million dol-

European Royalty To Visit Ancient Amana Community

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer
German royalty, in the persons of the Prince and Princess of Ysenburg-Ingoldingen, makes an appearance in Iowa next week to join in a salute to some old friends of the family—the Amana Church Society. Amana, which began as a tight little religious commune and survived by separating church from state, observes its 100th anniversary Monday in its seven small villages about 20 miles southwest of Cedar Rapids. The visiting prince is a descendant of an earlier German nobleman, a prince of Hesse, who gave refuge to the ancestors of the Amanists when they were persecuted as enemies of the established church. The Amana Church Society, although it wasn't called that then, actually dates back more than 100 years. It began as a pietistic, separatist movement in Germany in the early 18th century.

Presecutions drove members to the United States where they settled first near Buffalo as the Eben Ezer Society and then in Iowa as Amana, which means "believe faithfully." The 100th anniversary observes the day when the state of Iowa granted a charter to Amanaists who founded the towns of Amana: East, Middle, High, South and West Amana — and purchased the nearby village of Homestead. Early Amana, like many other religious communities that later withered and died, was ruled by a board of elders who were all powerful in both spiritual and temporal affairs. All property was held in common. Clothing worn by men and women was plain and sober in color. The people ate communally in mess hall-style buildings, the food prepared by the women. Religious services, the most important events of the week, were held in meeting houses with white-washed walls, bare floors and un-

Painted benches. Members were required to attend 11 services a week. Gradually, as changes in the outside world made themselves felt on Amana, the sober existence began to pall on its members. The communities began to lose people, particularly young people. Similar religious communities faced with the same problem have either let the young people go and become ghost towns of old men and women or have disbanded completely. Not so Amana.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

ADVISE AND CONSENT by Allen Drury. Published by Doubleday & Co. Allen Drury came to Washington in 1943 as a journalist covering national politics and the Senate for the United Press. Within five or six years there began to stir in his mind the vague outlines of a book in which he would express his philosophy about Congress, about America, and about the American people in relation to their times and to each other. As Drury himself put it in a recent talk before Washington bookers: "I do not contend that this government or this country or this people are perfect; for they are not. They are human institutions and human beings, rather more idealistic and good-hearted and well-meaning than most on this globe, in my estimation, and while they are sometimes venal, sometimes weak, sometimes short-sighted and sometimes corrupt, they also possess a fundamental duality which permits them to be on other occasions, and sometimes at the very same time, noble and generous and forward-looking and kindly and decent and good."

When Drury finally came to write his book the result was a vigorous and dramatic novel, Advise and Consent, in which, though teeming with towering and forceful personalities, the true hero is the U. S. Senate. The action spans slightly more than two weeks, during which the President of the United States nominates for Secretary of State, and the Senate renders judgment on a highly controversial public servant, Robert A. Leffingwell. The ramifications of the Leffingwell nomination become more and more involved, eventually raising questions as to the integrity and motives not only of the President but of the Majority Leader of the Senate, the sorely tried Robert Munson of Michigan; of Seab Cooley, senior Senator from South Carolina ("Leffingwell's—and the administration's most implacable opponent"); of Brigham Anderson, senior Senator from Utah, chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee before whom Leffingwell must testify; and finally of the most powerful member of the Senate, the vigorous and volatile Orrin Knox of Illinois. But it is only the Senate as a group who can finally resolve the dilemma, who can "advise" the President and either "consent" to the nomination of Leffingwell, or decline to do so.

Inevitably readers will seek to identify characters in Drury's novel with politicians who have dominated headlines during the past decade—highly respected figures like Robert A. Taft of Ohio, or others less revered like Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. Similarities can be found, but as the author himself has remarked: "There are people and events in this book, as in any book, which are akin to people and events in reality, but they are not the people and events of reality. The important thing, and the only thing that really matters, is whether they are real for this book and for this story. If they are, then the writer knows he is quite safe, because their reality here has taken them many, many miles away from the reality they may once have had somewhere, sometime in some other existence far from the purview and the purpose of this book." Advise and Consent is the August Selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, whose judges found it "vast in scope, urgent in topicality, courageous in statement." Before the plot for his novel became firm in his mind, Drury lived through a period of frustration, convinced only that he wanted to write a book which would show American citizens as well as the world at large how the American system of government operates. Ours is a difficult age in which to concentrate, however, particularly if one lives and works so near the heart of so many of its crises. But then suddenly in 1950, Drury was able to envision the overall pattern of the book he wanted to write. It was so much more ambitious and wider in scope than his original scheme that there followed a lapse of seven more years, during which, aside from a few casual notes, he allowed his story to develop within himself without pressure. By 1957 he had enough down on paper to interest a publisher. Thereafter, he wrote steadily four and five thousand words a week until November, 1958, when the manuscript was complete. A native of Houston, Texas, Drury grew up in California. He attended Stanford University and worked on the Stanford Daily before assuming his first professional newspaper job as editor of the Tulare (California) Bee. Before coming to Washington, he served in the Army. His reporting career since 1943 has included association with the now-departed Pathfinder and the Washington Star as well as the United Press. For the past five years he has been on the Washington staff of The New York Times.

Television Show Defies Experts

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How long can a TV series keep going?

Warner Anderson of "The Lineup" says the life expectancy of a hit series is four or five years.

"Shows like 'I Love Lucy' and 'My Friend Irma' start to pall after that time," he argues. "The public begins to say, 'I've seen that before.'"

Yet here is "Father Knows Best" defying all the experts by swinging into its sixth year stronger than ever. I dropped by the set to see how Robert Young's TV wife, Jane Wyatt, is bearing up under the grind.

"I can't understand it," she remarked. "At this stage in a series, everything is supposed to start dwindling. But the scripts keep getting better and better. We've had four for the next season that are among the best we've ever had."

There lies one secret of the show's continued favor: Good scripts, plus careful shooting. Many filmed series are ground out in two or three days. "Father Knows Best" has a day of rehearsal and four days of filming.

Friday Late Show

Science Fiction Twin-Bill Set Today At State

Of 25 different films scheduled in Big Spring this week at the four theaters, few can offer more genuine entertainment than the two showing today at the State.

They are far better than the usual fare of science-fiction, both taken from excellent novels by writers of some note. "War of the Worlds" is famous for the fact that Orson Welles put it on radio back in the 1930's so convincingly that Americans thought the Martians had, in fact, landed.

"When Worlds Collide" is another book of better than average caliber written by Philip Wylie. A recent best-seller titled "Worlds in Collision" had much in common with Wylie's story and this movie.

These films are both dated somewhat, but are still interesting for their serious attempt at making science-fiction somewhat realistic, even frightening. And they are head and shoulders above the usual science-fiction flickers.

For that matter, both films wear well with other Hollywood products of whatever nature the subject material.

Monster Stars Twice In State Double Feature

The ever popular Frankenstein still stalks the land, much more so than the author ever presumed he would when created about a century ago. Originally written as a joke, the story of a man-created monster continues to haunt the screen.

This week, Big Springers can see two versions on the same bill of successive stories about Frankenstein. "The Revenge of Frankenstein" is a story which follows the original tale and is a part of the continuing series explaining that he is still alive and haunts the land.

The second feature adds a bit of future science to the Gothic tale and the audience is invited to watch the monster created. An atomic reactor gets into the script, bringing a touch of realism to the multi-told tale of Baron Frankenstein and his creation. This one is called "Frankenstein 1970."

Both films are recommended to those who like their chills vicariously with only a touch of realism. They play at the State Monday and Tuesday.

First Graders Register For School On Thursday

First graders and all children new to the Big Spring school system will register all day Thursday and until noon Friday.

Hours will be 8:30 to noon and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. Thursday and the same morning schedule Friday in the buildings in which the child will go to school. Those not certain about attendance districts may watch Thursday's Herald or call the administrative offices.

This schedule will apply to all schools, including Lakeview.

At Rannels and Goliad Junior High Schools and at Senior High, there will be additional registration sessions for those already enrolled.

Plans call for only high school seniors to report in the high school auditorium at 8:45 a.m. Friday for orientation, issuance of schedule, and class sessions where books will be issued. Juniors and sophomores will report the morning of Aug. 31. It is stressed, however, that all new students in high school should register any day and certainly by Thursday and Friday if at all possible.

At Rannels and Goliad, this is the schedule: Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. NINTH grade students meet in gym for assignments to sections; Thursday 1 p.m., EIGHTH grade meets in gym for assignment to sections; Friday 8:30 a.m. SEVENTH grade meets in gym to receive schedules and room assignments. New students should go to the office and register.

HURRY! HURRY!

Quiet Peaceful Rural Life Changing To City's Tempo

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The safe, deliberate life of rural America is being replaced by the hurry, the urgency and dangers characteristic of city life.

Not only are ways of doing things on the farm changing, but so are family relationships, social patterns and rural institutions such as the school and the church.

No one is more aware of this quickened and — to some — disturbing way of life apparently than rural church leaders.

These leaders, some quite disturbed, have appealed to the Agriculture Department for help in understanding what's going on in farming communities throughout the land.

This appeal has been met with the issuance of a report entitled "Keeping Abreast of Change."

The document is described as an inventory of a rapidly changing rural America. It was prepared by Phillip F. Aylesworth, a career official of the department now serving as an assistant to the administrator of the Federal Extension Service.

"The technological revolution in agriculture," the report says, "is resulting in many changes in the structure of farming. There are fewer farms with larger, more integrated business operations—increased capital requirements — greater dependence on services off the farm—more specialization — increased mechanization — great increases in productivity.

"Changes are also taking place in community institutions and services. There are larger and more complex institutions—greater dependence on services beyond the immediate locality — an increase in the number and kinds of organizations — membership in special interest groups is increasing — consolidation of schools — changes in communication and transportation — maladjustments of community services and local government."

"The pace and tempo of family life has increased tremendously," the report said. "The diversity of family interests pulls the family apart, with the various members pursuing their individual activities. Tensions mount, and family freedom is crowded aside in a seemingly relentless schedule."

"People are turning to new outlets and new forms of recreation and social life, especially young people (away from home and local community.)"

Yet the educational level of rural people was said to be increasing, bringing a deeper interest in public affairs not only of the community, but the nation and the world as well.

The rural family was said to be striving as never before for a higher standard of living.

'SHAKY,' MAN SAYS

How Does It Feel To Live On Crumbling Edge Of Hill?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—How does a man feel living in a house that has just lost more than half its backyard and is now only 20 feet from a 240-foot cliff?

"Shaky as hell," says Milton Pattison.

He's the latest property owner victimized by landslides dating from prehistoric times in one of southern California's most picturesque areas.

The Pacific Palisades are 200-foot-high bluffs overlooking busy Pacific Coast Highway and the ocean between Santa Monica and the fire-scarred Malibu Hills. Slippages there over the years have—Destroyed homes, streets and sewers.

Killed a man.

Repeatedly buried the highway, North-South U.S. 101.

Losses and remedial action have cost well over three million dollars. Proposals to protect the highway—like moving it a quarter to a half mile out to sea on a rock causeway—will cost many millions more.

A city councilman calls parts of the 3½-mile slide area a potential death trap for motorists. Drivers using the highway are playing Russian roulette, he says.

Pattison, 46, a retired house builder, was vacationing last May with his wife and mother at Yose-mite National Park. At breakfast one morning the paper brought startling news:

Six hundred tons of cliff at the rear of their home had crashed down onto the highway 240 feet below.

A red traffic light across the highway intersection had stopped several cars that might otherwise have been covered by the avalanche.

The Pattisons hurried home. Iron-nerved crane operators, venturing near the edge of the precipice, clawed off big hunks of earth still dangling dangerously.

When they finished, the yard that had been 50 feet wide was 20.

Every morning Pattison wets down the edge of his cliff to see whether the earth, when it dries, reveals cracks warning of further slides.

Daily he checks a meandering crack, like a river on a map, in the plaster of his 80-year-old mother's second-floor bedroom to see whether it has widened.

Pattison and his mother have lived in the house ever since his late brother Richard built it 19 years ago.

It's an imposing two-story structure, with a stone front, spacious grounds and a tremendous view of the Pacific. Four years ago an appraiser rated it at $65,000.

"Right now it isn't worth one-tenth of that," Pattison says.

Why don't the Pattisons get out? "We can't afford to move. We'd lose everything we've got. We're taking a calculated risk, as you do when you drive out on the Freeway. You don't expect to be killed. We'll stay until we have to leave."
