Getting Acquainted

Teachers new to the Big Spring system—more than two score of them—got to know each other better, and the system policies, too, at an orientation session Monday at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the HCJC campus. Typical of those making new friendships were Gloria Spell, whose home has been in Stephenville, who will be second grade teacher at Washington Place; Mrs. Carolyn Tatum, Kate Morrison third grade teacher, and her husband Marvin Tatum, of Fort Worth and who will be science teacher in the seventh grade at Goliad; and Diana Davies, Dallas, librarian at Runnels Junior High.

SCHOOL TERM OPENING

New Teachers Welcomed; Faculty Workshop Starts

Teachers, new to the Big Spring system, were introduced to each other, to the community and to administration policies Monday morning. There were approximately 45 of them—including several who were returning here after having been away in other systems—on hand for a brief orientation session at the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building.

During the afternoon they will meet—as will teachers who taught here last year but who are changing school assignments—with principals in the buildings where they will serve this year. This will be an extension of the working period in an effort to acquaint them with their working surroundings and specific school operational policies.

At the opening session, which followed a coffee period, Supt. Floyd Parsons welcomed the new teachers to the system and introduced administrative and supervisory personnel including: S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent; Roy Worley, senior high principal;

Harold Bentley, assistant principal, senior high; Tom Ernest, Runnels Junior High; S. A. Walker, Goliad Junior High; W. C. Blankenship, College Heights; Lev Spradling, Airport; M. R. Turner, Boydston; W. R. Dawes, Marcy; Ruth Rutherford, Cedar Crest and Park Hill; John Hardy, Washington Place; Roscoe Newell, Kate Morrison and Bauer; Ernest Morgan, Lakeview.

Authorities Seek Last Escaped Con

PORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—Authorities on both sides of the Mississippi River sought today the last of six Iowa convicts who sawed their way out of the state penitentiary Sunday.

It was the second such escape from the century-old gray walled institution in three months. Four long-term prisoners sawed through outside window bars after overpowering guards last June. They were recaptured next day.

One of Sunday's escapees, Charles Robert Wallerick, 25, was captured today by Illinois State Police in Dallas City, Ill., across the river from Iowa.

Still at large was Arlie Harrison Elliott, 25, who drove a stolen car through a police roadblock north of Fort Madison, crashed the bullet punctured auto in a ditch and fled on foot.

Three of the convicts held a minister's wife and her three children hostage more than 2 1/2 hours before they gave up Sunday. Although threatened, the family was not hurt.

The other prisoner was captured in the woods near the prison shortly after the 9 a.m. break Sunday.

The six men, armed with homemade knives, broke out during prison church services.

"This is damned embarrassing," said Warden John Bennett. "These guys knew they could cut through the bars, after those four convicts did it last June."

Three of Sunday's escapees surrendered without a struggle after holding a Fort Madison minister's wife, her two children and a neighbor boy at knife point for 2 1/2 hours. The fourth was captured in the woods near the prison shortly after the 9 a.m. break.

A house-by-house search was launched for the two at large.

The Rev. William W. Swift was away conducting services at St. Luke's Episcopal Church here and in a mission at Montrose when three of the escapees, Charles Carlyle, 30, Ronald Bessler, 22, and Samuel Parras, 40, broke into his house less than a mile from the prison.

Mrs. Swift and her children Olivia, 5, Bill, 3, and Charles, 10 weeks, were home.

ONE MURDER CASE

Howard County Grand Jury Convened To Check 25 Cases

Howard County grand jury, convened today for the October term of court were investigating what was termed a "special" matter at 11 a.m.

The nature of this particular case was not disclosed but it was said that the jurors would move into consideration of the 25 criminal cases scheduled for investigation as quickly as this special matter can be disposed of.

The grand jurors, contrary to usual custom reported at 10 a.m. An error in the notices sent out was responsible—normally grand jury panels report at 9 a.m. on the day the jurors are organized.

Sixteen members of the panel were on hand.

The grand jury selected comprises E. L. Powell, foreman, Lewis Price, J. H. Gross, Johnnie Johansen, Cliff Proffitt, Cliff M. Epps, R. L. Heith, Mrs. A. A. Porter, Clyde Walls Jr., Charles A. Jones and James Cauble Jr.

Eight of the grand jurors are "freshmen" members—never having served on such a body before.

Judge Charlie Sullivan, informed the members there are 25 cases on the docket they are to handle. He estimated the work would require today and Tuesday.

Air Force Continues Progress On Missile

Wage Issues Laid Aside At Steel Parleys

NEW YORK (AP)—Wage issues were laid aside again for today's negotiations in the 41-day-old steel strike.

Other phases of a new contract were before second-string teams representing the striking United Steelworkers Union of America and the industry.

Wage talks are scheduled to start again Wednesday when the union president, David J. McDonald, and Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel, rejoin the negotiations after a two-week absence.

There was no indication of progress toward settlement in the near future.

Asked Sunday when he thought the strike would be settled, R. Conrad Cooper, the industry's chief negotiator, said "I wish I knew."

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell indicated Saturday that he did not anticipate any immediate settlement.

"While general economic activity continues at a high level, the impact upon the steel industry and closely allied activities, and upon their employees, has been severe and is expected to be felt increasingly in the weeks to come," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said Saturday that a special survey would begin this week on the strike's effects on employment in construction, mining, and the metal-working phase in manufacturing.

The secretary made the announcement in releasing additional facts, as he found them, on the impact of the shutdown. He had released voluminous statistics bearing on the strike situation last Wednesday night.

About 85 per cent of the nation's steel capacity is shut down by the strike of 500,000 steelworkers, Mitchell said.

"Production for defense and atomic energy programs is not yet affected," the report said, "although some requests for help in getting supplies have been received and met by the Commerce Department."

"So far, supplies of steel have been sufficient for current operations. Inventories, however, continue to be used up at a fairly high rate."

Texas Girl Dies Of Fall Injuries

SPRINGER, N.M. (AP)—A Texas girl died Sunday night of injuries received when she fell 150 feet down a cliff.

Sally Miller, 14, of Dalhart, died several hours after the fall in Cimarron Canyon northwest of Springer.

The girl and a companion were hiking along a trail at the top of the cliff. She lost her footing and fell.

State, Church At Odds In Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Catholics worshipped without police interference in Haiti's Notre Dame Cathedral Sunday, but the dispute between state and church remained as bitter as ever.

Church officials still awaited a reply to their protest against last Tuesday's invasion of the cathedral by police who arrested 40 members of a lay organization praying in protest against the expulsion of two priests from Haiti.

DATE IS UNCERTAIN

Suzie Will Get Her Trip, Thanks To Growing Fund

Four-year-old Suzie Crossland is almost certain of getting her trip to Disneyland, but the date for her departure from John Sealy Hospital in Galveston to the resort has not been set.

Through broadcasting of Radio Station KBYG, $1,567.13 has been raised in the fund to send the ill-fated child on what may be her final big time. She has leukemia, for which there is no known cure.

Jack Davis, First National Bank cashier in charge of the Crossland fund, said there was $1,557.58, excluding donations KBYG had on hand Monday.

JUDGE LOWERS BOOM ON TWO JURORS WHO FAIL TO REPORT

Two members of the petit jury panel called to report in 118th District Court on Monday morning face fines of $25 each for not heeding their summons.

Judge Charlie Sullivan, usually a very patient man in matters of this kind, summarily assessed $25 fines against the two missing veniremen and instructed Sheriff Miller Harris to bring them into court.

There were six on the original list of belated veniremen and all were lumped in the $25 fine bracket in the court's original ruling. However, two of the tardy jurors came scurrying into the court room just in time to avoid having to pay for their procrastination. Another was found to have moved to Midland. The fourth, the court was told, had not been notified.

Thirty-four of the 60 persons summoned reported for duty when the court was opened. The machinery of the court can hardly function on less than 32 veniremen.

The two jurors who are facing the fines are F. C. Appleton and S. T. Bogan Jr.

RURAL AREAS OVERLOOKED

City Gets Soaking From Sunday Rains

Sunday rain fell spotty over the area with readings as high as 2.5 inches in the city and dropping to a trace west and north of town. The official reading at the U. S. Experiment Station was 1.58 inches. At the Big Spring plant of Texas Electric Service Co., the highest reading was recorded with 2.60 inches.

At the Wilkerson ranch, west of the city, a very light fall was recorded. At Webb AFB, the gauge showed .21, however more than 1.5 inches was reported near the Veterans Administration Hospital. In the Lomax area, 2 of an inch was read and 1.1 inches the report from Garden City. To the south of Garden City, 2 of an inch was recorded and 7 of an inch was reported from north of town. A bigger reading of 1.8 inches was made from the west.

At the El Paso Natural Gas Co. plant near Veshnoor, 3 of an inch fell. TESCO's Big Spring Switching plant reported .94 and .05 of an inch fell at the Chalk substation.

Crazy, Mixed-Up Geysers After Montana Earthquake

Editor's Note: What did the Montana earthquake do to the famed geysers in Yellowstone National Park? Dean Stone, managing editor of the Marysville-Albion, Tenn., Times, who was vacationing here at the time of the quake, reports that it changed the pace of many geysers.

By DEAN STONE
YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., (AP)—Old Faithful is still on schedule, but last week's earthquake has apparently stepped up the pace of many geysers in Yellowstone National Park.

Economic Geysers, dormant for nearly half a century, was triggered into action.

Morning, Fountain and Clepsydra geysers are among those which have increased their tempo since the quake last Monday night.

Morning Glory Pool and other hot springs turned murky after the quake, but now appear to be returning to normal. Giantess Geysers, which usually plays two or three times per season for 12 to 36 hours, began erupting constantly following the quake.

Some of the park's thermal features have become less active. Grand Geysers, which is larger than Old Faithful, has not been in action for several days. It normally erupts every nine hours.

Merrill D. Beal, park naturalist, said there is no change in Old Faithful's performance. He said the Fountain Paint Pot in the lower geyser basin "has definitely increased" in activity. It appears to be working its way into a parking lot area, Beal said.

Steady Geysers, which got its name for regularly gushing a stream 15 feet high, has diminished. It now bubbles just four to five feet.

More Tremors At Yellowstone

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP)—More earth tremors were felt Sunday night and today in West Yellowstone, but none as sharp as one Saturday night which touched off a rock slide.

Police said there were four or five new tremors but none apparently caused any damage.

The Saturday night jolt brought rangers and tourists from their beds in the Old Faithful area of Yellowstone National Park.

It was here that the devastating quakes of last Monday night and Tuesday were centered. Tremors have been felt each day since then.

Sunday's early morning shock caused a big rock slide which blocked a forest road in the Heppen Dam area. About 20 summer homes are in the new slide vicinity, but police here said it was believed all the cabins were unoccupied.

Mr. Crossland had first wanted to drive from the coast to Big Spring and then fly to California, in order to save money. Friends and donors, however, have persuaded him to fly directly from Galveston, saving two days of the child's meager time-off and possibly sparing them both worry and fatigue.

The three other Crossland children returned with Crossland to the coast Saturday.

Of the donated funds, about $117 has been paid for expenses up to date in the Galveston hospital. Half that amount has been paid a local hospital, where the girl was first treated for her incurable disease. Crossland keeps a receipt-by-receipt account of expenses which are taken from the fund.

Atlas May Be Ready For Use By Sept. 1

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force fired its fourth and moved the giant war rocket a notch closer to operational status.

The Air Force announced shortly after today's launching that preliminary instrumentation indicated the huge missile "appeared to achieve its test objectives."

The launching appeared smooth as the 85-foot missile lifted off on the start of a 5,500-mile test flight down the Atlantic missile range.

If all went right, recovery ships would try to retrieve a data capsule set to pop out of the missile's nose cone near Ascension Island.

A good shot today, followed by one or two more, probably would open the way for the Air Force to declare the weapon operational by the target date of Sept. 1.

'Extermination' Seen For Tibet

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Tibet's struggle for freedom from Red China has cost 80,000 lives and the Himalayan kingdom is heading toward extermination, the Dalai Lama claims.

"With more Chinese than Tibetans now in my country, the complete extermination of the Tibetan race in its own motherland is now in progress," the god-king told newsmen Sunday at his exile home in Mussoorie.

Tibet's youthful ruler said he had every reason to believe the Chinese Reds had arrested the Panchen Lama, Buddhist leader the Communists installed as a puppet in his place.

"After all the Panchen Lama is a man with feeling for his country, people and religion," the Dalai Lama said. "His father is a man of strong will and has been loyal to the people and the religion of Tibet, and the Chinese must have tortured him, and this would have affected the Panchen Lama's feelings."

Reports from the Indian border town of Kalimpong said the Chinese have advised Indians not to visit Tibet either for a pilgrimage or trade purposes.

Hawaii Solons Take Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hawaii's two senators and one representative took office today.

And Republican Sen. Hiram L. Fong twice outpaced Democratic Sen. Oren E. Long and won both the title of senior senator from the 50th state and a six-year term.

Long drew a four-year term. Vice President Richard M. Nixon administered the oath of office to the two new senators as crowded galleries looked on.

In the House, Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, 84-year-old World War II hero who lost his right arm fighting in Italy, raised his left hand and took the oath as it was administered by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

With Hawaii's senators and representative seated, the Senate now has 100 members. The number of House seats was raised to 437.

Fong won the title of senior senator in a dollar-tossing ceremony in the office of Felton M. Johnston, secretary of the Senate, which preceded the opening of the Senate.

Long, on another flip of the dollar, won the right to make first draw for the longer term—one expiring in January 1965.

Panel Approves School Grants

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Education subcommittee today approved a compromise bill proposing a billion-dollar, two-year program of federal grants to the states for school construction.

The measure would put up the money at a rate of 500 million dollars a year starting in the current fiscal year, on a matched-fund basis.

The bill calls for a formula considering the wealth and population of each state.

Committee aides said the formula would seek out to cover a range of two federal dollars for each state-local dollar in the poorer states, up to two state-local dollars for each federal dollar in the richer ones.

Another Day Of Sweltering

Heat-weary millions across the nation awoke today to another day of sweltering, sticky weather.

Cool air from Canada brought some relief Sunday to the Northeast and northern Plains, but elsewhere sizzling temperatures continued to plague the population.

Weather forecasters said little or no relief was in sight for the Southeast, the south central portion of the country and the Midwest. A high pressure area over the Southeast was blamed for blocking cooler air from penetrating the central and southern plains eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

Widely scattered showers and thundershowers fell from the Pacific Coast eastward to Michigan but failed to bring relief. Scattered showers and thundershowers were reported along the Texas coast, eastward into Alabama, Virginia and North Carolina.

A torrential rain turned Detroit's Edsel Ford and John C. Lodge expressways into rivers, temporarily stranding thousands of motorists in water up to four feet in depth.

A-Subs Won't Replace Carrier

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The Navy plans a fleet of about 40 ballistic missile submarines, but the aircraft carrier will remain the backbone of U.S. sea power.

Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, deputy chief of naval operations for fleet operations and readiness, said Sunday that the Navy will resist any efforts to increase the missile sub fleet beyond the size planned.

He addressed the National Security Commission of the American Legion here, as part of the legion's annual convention.

Beakley did not elaborate on his comment about keeping the sub fleet down, but he appeared to be referring to the opinion in some congressional quarters favoring a larger force of the missile subs. About nine of them are now on order.

Beakley gave three reasons for keeping the fleet down to about 40: "First, because the deterrent-reliability strength of the United States must be a diversified mix of systems; second, your forces do not need to be enormous when they are relatively secure of attrition; and third, the Navy's requirements to meet limited aggressions will be exceedingly heavy."

Legion committees spent the weekend hearing speeches and preparing resolutions for the convention. Three days of business sessions start Tuesday.

Cotton Ginnings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau said today 472,200 bales of cotton were ginned prior to Aug. 16.

This compared with 589,748 a year ago.

Texas ginned 436,303 compared to 564,814 last year.

Japan Asks Aid

TOKYO (AP)—Japan plans to ask the United States to train about 125 officers and men in handling the Nike-Ajax ground-to-air missiles next year, the newspaper Asahi reported today. After two years of training, the Japanese will return to Japan with the missiles to form one missile battalion.

where he works to investigate shots heard fired outside the building.

The other cases on the list run the gamut of offenses. There are three charges of assault with intent to commit murder. They involve Maxine Scott, accused of slashing Leslie Mae Wesley with a knife on Aug. 17; and Cleveland Jackson accused of shooting Nick Villareal—defendant in the one murder case—on June 29.

Idella Johnson is charged with assault with intent to kill in connection with an ice pick attack on Bennie Alton Sowell. This allegedly occurred on Aug. 9.

Burglaries, worthless check cases, DWI second offense and theft made up the bulk of the other matters docketed for grand jury action.

Big Spring Man Hurt By Blunt Divers Spear Gun

A spear gun discharged a blunted shaft into the chest of Robert Chambers, a Coden employe, at Port Aransas Sunday but the local man was not critically injured.

The spear, its prongs broken off earlier when Chambers had scored a hit during a skin-diving tournament, punctured a lung. He was placed in a Corpus Christi hospital.

The accident occurred when Chambers, 25, placed his gun in a boat. The weapon discharged as he climbed into the craft.

It is reported that Chambers himself called Coden officials to notify them of his accident. There was no indication as to how long he would be hospitalized.

Chambers probably averted death when the prongs of the shaft were broken, said bystanders.

DEAR ABBY
FACE OF TEMPTATION

DEAR ABBY: My 19-year-old son has been dating a beautiful 17-year-old girl. Yesterday he brought her over here and she was wearing the briefest of shorts with only one of those old-time red kerchiefs tied around her top. I was shocked to think a mother would let her daughter go out looking like that.

DEAR ABBY: I know this gag is older than the hills but some of the boys I know are still using it. They will take you out for a ride in the country and then the car "stalls" — do likewise.

DEAR ABBY: My wife claims that because she has three children to take care of she hasn't time to do the washing, ironing and cleaning. When I want a clean shirt I have to go out and buy one. I have an automatic washer.

Old San Angelo Road Job To Be Next Project Pushed

A section of the Old San Angelo highway shapes up as one of the next major road projects for Howard County.

$2 Million Library For Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Directors of Texas Tech Saturday gave approval to preliminary sketches for a five-story $2,000,000 library building. The proposed library would be a marked departure from the conventional architecture on the campus. The low wings of the center tower of the building would blend into the present architecture and masonry, but the multi-story center would rise from columns maintained in the roof line. A skylight in the center would open onto a pool area in the center of the library lobby area. Plans call for facilities to house 600,000 books and 1,800 readers, and with a potential of a million books and 4,000 readers.

Helen Hoffman, Tommy Priddy Are Wed Sunday In O'Donnell

O'DONNELL (Sp.)—In a double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Sunday Helen Jean Hoffman became the bride of Tommy Glynn Priddy. The bridegroom's brother, the Rev. Raymond Priddy of Ferris, officiated in the First Baptist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norman Hoffman, attended Texas Western College and is a senior merchandising student at Texas Tech. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Priddy, son of Mrs. Thomas W. Priddy and the late Mr. Priddy of Ferris, is a mechanical engineering instructor at Tech. He holds a degree from Tech and was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta, social fraternity; Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity; and Phi Eta Sigma, honor fraternity. Magnolia blossoms decorated the reserve pews and at the altar the white prie dieu stood before a background of white gladioli and magnolia leaves.

Traditional wedding music was by Mrs. C. A. Doss of Denver City, organist, and Jean Stone of Lamesa, soloist.

FORMAL GOWN

Hoffman gave his daughter in marriage. Her wedding gown of imported silk and alencon lace was fashioned with an elongated fitted bodice terminating at point in center front, accented with appliqued motifs of lace, and long tapering sleeves. Extending from the bodice was a full skirt, caught at the sides with draped puffs with appliqued motifs embroidered with seed pearls falling gracefully into panel effect held by a bustle bow and sweeping into a chapel train. Her illusion veil fell in misty tiers from a crown of pearls. She carried gazanias.

A cousin of the bride, Mrs. James Lewis Roberts of Marlow, Okla., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Johnson, Dumas; Nancy Ruth Hooser, Fort Worth; Carolyn Jo Young, Bula and Mrs. Kenneth Bick Rasmussen of Lubbock.

They wore identical dresses of champagne chiffon over taffeta, with scoop necklines outlined by two folds of self-fabric accented by small bows in center front. Their bouquets were fashioned of one large gold mum surrounded by small pom mums.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Oney Bruce Priddy of Wilmer. Ushers were Hamilton Wallace Jenkins Jr., Gladewater; Kenneth Bick Bass, Lubbock; Louis Jerald Woods, Pecos, and Larry Taylor Larsen of Pampa.

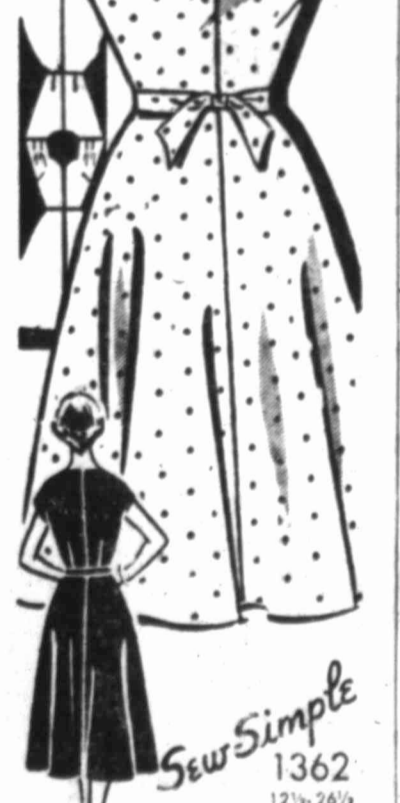

Cousins of the bride, Lester Terrence Stretch of Tahoka and William Edward Singleton III, were junior ushers. Betty Priddy of Jacksonville, niece of the bridegroom was flower girl; candle lighters were Charles Wayne Burleson and Charla Priddy of Jacksonville, niece of the bridegroom.

INSIDE STORY

Underpinnings For Fall Fashions Are Important

By DOROTHY ROE, AP Women's Editor

Waistlines are back in style for fall, and new underpinnings are important.

In order for new fall clothes to look their best, they should be worn with foundation garments designed to give a smooth, taut line through the midriff, with no bulges to mar the dress silhouette.

Sometimes the waist control is built into a high girdle sometimes a long bra. The new styles do not require a tightly cinched waistline, but rather a slender, natural line, emphasizing but not strangling the waist. The over-all look has a high, rounded bustline, flat midriff and gently curved hips and thighs.

Foundations to do the required shaping are lightweight but firm, with beige the most popular basic color, and with new feminine touches such as lace, embroidery and applique trimmings. White and black are still in great demand, and the pastel tones are brighter.

Necklines come in for a great deal of attention by bra designers, who achieve adjustable features through convertible straps and tabs that increase or decrease the cup separation. Other new bra features are fabric zipper closures, cups contoured with polyurethane foam and cups encircled by mesh elastic for more precise fit.

For midriff control, bras extend to different lengths—three-quarter for the short-waisted woman, or to wear with a high-rising girdle; waist-length to meet a shorter girdle; bra-lette versions to taper the waist as well as flatten the diaphragm.

Girdles offer many new waistline stylings such as elastic inserts, front or side dips, boned top sections above the waist or a waistline cinch only partially attached to the girdle.

Pantie girdles are most popular in long-legged versions, to smooth and slim the thighs, for wear with sheath dresses and skinnypants.

New corsets, including strapless styles cut low in back, stress improved fit in the bra section, built-in waist control and elastic strips or panels to smooth hips and thighs.

Ex-Residents Here

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Shropshire, Shelley and Bill Jr., former residents who now live in Houston, visited here during the weekend.

Due Home Tuesday

Mrs. Jessie G. Thomas is expected home Tuesday from Mineral Wells, where she has spent the past week.

REHEARSAL

The traditional rehearsal dinner was replaced with an old-fashioned western barbecue at the W. E. Cushing Ranch, between Silverton and Clarendon. The meal was served to the wedding party from an old chuck box with which the bride's grandfather, the late W. F. (Capt.) Cushing started his career in this area in 1884.

A Devotional For Today

My foot stands on level ground; in the great congregation I will bless the Lord. (Psalms 26:12. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the hillside places of rest as we journey upward in Thy kingdom. Grant us a deeper realization of Thy sustaining and renewing presence. This day make the rough places plain. In the Master's name. Amen.

Ill-Conceived, Ill-Timed Blast

One would think a labor leader as smooth and normally as intelligent as James B. Carey, vice president of the AFL-CIO, would have had too much judgment to threaten members of Congress directly with political reprisal for not agreeing with him.

But his blast at members of the House who voted for the stronger Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill looks like one of the worst blunders a labor leader ever made, at a time when the boner would do the most damage to the labor chiefs. However, Jim Carey was not alone in his folly. Reports say other high-up AFL-CIO leaders approved the blast before Carey mailed it out to the offending congressmen. All that is, except President George Meany; a Carey aide said the action had "no connection with Meany."

Letters of praise went to the 201 Democrats and Republicans who voted against Landrum-Griffin. Those addressed to the 222 members who supported that measure were warned that union people in each offending member's district would be told to "take appropriate action" against them at the next election.

He could not have thought of a better way to put the offender on the spot—but not in the way intended.

For if such a member knuckles under and openly promises to be good in future, he will stand convicted of political cowardice, of taking orders direct from the labor bosses, of being too weak-kneed to stand up to such as Jim Carey, Walter Reuther and other nabobs.

A congressman who allows himself to be brow-beaten by the Carey blast will have a hard time making his constituents believe his change of heart was anything but a political ploy. This time Carey, whether under higher-up orders or not, has burned his bridges behind him. He has fixed it so congressmen can't very well change their positions.

And Why Should We Be Amazed?

What to the Victorians was reticence became stuffiness to a later generation and still later plain prudery. In its original French form prudery meant modesty but in Freudian times it has come to mean being loose in the upper story, or degenerate.

Or so it seems. In Indianapolis awhile back the police seized 1,500 copies of magazines deemed to be indecent with displays of the female form divine, not to mention terms equally racy. The dealers were fined, we gather, one hundred bucks apiece—and ceased to deal in the complained-of examples of modern magazine art.

Then the dealers decided to look a little more closely at some of their other magazine wares, those of the highest quality and good standing, including several Grade A women's publications, the supposed last citadels of morality and respectability.

The dealers promptly did a double-take—and as promptly stopped selling these super-respectable magazines. They found them reeking with sex, sex treated with a frankness that would have blanched the cheeks of that famous old rake, King Edward VII—Victoria's son. The magazine handlers affected to be afraid they'd be arrested all over again if the cops took the trouble to look a little further into the magazine literature field.

The story came out in last week's issue of Newsweek Magazine, which quoted a magazine publisher as saying sex was played up for a pretty good reason: it sells magazines.

We gather Newsweek was not being self-righteous for in the book review section touting Robert Penn Warren's newest, "The Cave," it quotes one of the author's outburst expressions that no American newspaper we know of would dare to print.

Reticence has fled. The old restraints are gone. The walls come tumbling down. Anything goes. The oldtime Pullman smokingroom English has come into the parlor. Jokes not meant for ladies' ears are told in mixed company, quite often by women.

The mystery and, yea, the majesty of sex is openly paraded in books and magazines under the guise of scientific research, in the name of something called "adjustment" or "understanding" or even "happiness."

And people are amazed at the number of broken homes in the land, the lack of respect on the part of young people for older people, and something called "juvenile delinquency."

Domestic And International Politics

WASHINGTON — Domestic politics within every one of the major countries is today playing a significant part in world affairs.

Thus, it is of tremendous help, politically speaking, to Prime Minister Macmillan for President Eisenhower to be visiting Great Britain at this time—just a few weeks before the British elections. It has been announced, for instance, that Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Macmillan will appear together and chat informally over a television network covering the British Isles. This will tend to reinforce the belief that the heads of the two governments are close and friendly and that it would be a mistake to disturb the relationship by a change in government at London.

None of this, of course, deliberate. It's quite coincidental. But it is interesting to note how enthusiastic some of the British papers are about the "new Ike." For months they have been giving the impression that he is a "sick man" and a "puppet." Suddenly they find him a new personality—healthy, vigorous and imbued with new qualities of leadership. What's happened is that Ike hasn't really changed at all but he is now doing some of the things the British press have long been advocating—moving a bit closer to Khrushchev and engaging in more and more "conciliatory" gestures in relation to the Soviet Union.

Actually, when the chips are down, the British people as a whole don't feel a bit different than do Americans about appeasement policies, though some of the leaders on both sides of the Atlantic think there is a virtue in continuous talk. The reason the Conservatives in England persistently advocate it is that they know the Socialist Labor opposition would get considerable political mileage out of the issue if they didn't.

In France domestic politics influences Gen. De Gaulle toward more and more nationalism. One tactic is his adoption of a cavalier attitude toward the United States. It's important somehow to him to create an image of a strong and militant France. The general, though somewhat clumsy, is building up a public opinion for his nationalistic philosophy. President Eisenhower is well aware of the nuances of the problem, and his trip to Paris is designed to show that the United States isn't adverse to sending her president all the way to Paris just to chat with the French president. The visit is bound to assist De Gaulle with his own public opinion.

Also, President Eisenhower's meetings with the German chancellor and the Italian premier will unquestionably help each of them in their internal politics.

As for the United States, the implications of the Eisenhower-Nixon trips to the Soviet Union and the Khrushchev tour of America are by no means clear, but it is interesting to note the comments privately being made by some of the Democratic politicians. While they hesitate to predict whether the episode will turn out to be an asset or a liability politically, they point to the anticlimax that came after the "summit" conference at Geneva in 1955. The pictures of Ike and the Soviet leaders fraternizing didn't sit well with the American public when it was discovered afterwards that the Moscow government meanwhile had been supplying arms to Nasser and stirring up trouble in the Middle East. Some such move by the Communists might again destroy the supposedly good effects of an Eisenhower visit to the Soviet Union and tend to obscure the benefits now being obtained in public opinion polls by Vice President Nixon as a result of his tour of Russia.

Broadly speaking, the peace issue is important to all political parties in this country as well as in Britain. The people as a whole crave peace, and hence they look with favor on anyone who apparently is trying hard to maintain it. If a politician is too rigid about it, he finds himself attacked by his opponents. Doubtless the Soviets have strategists who advise them about such matters, and that is why they are constantly expecting the democracies, especially the United States, to make concessions. It is true that many editorialists in the American press have stressed the "talk" idea as harmless, but the Communists are themselves endless talkers and believe they can wear out the American and British diplomatists and eventually bring about changes in favor of the Communist policies.

Last but not least is the politics behind Khrushchev's own antics. He has wanted a "summit" conference to enhance his own standing inside the Soviet Union. Fraternizing with President Eisenhower in Washington means an opportunity for big publicity inside the Soviet Union portraying Khrushchev as a world leader. The Soviet people, too, want peace, and the premier is bound to get a further lease on governmental power and stave off revolution if he can reduce the cost of armament and improve the standard of living inside the Soviet Union.

So the political goals, while on their face the product of selfish ambition, do happen by coincidence to postpone big crises at least temporarily. But in the long run appeasement leads to war, and that's the real danger in political motivations and compromises on basic principle.

Jets Dislodge Summit Excuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jet in which President Eisenhower flies to Europe Wednesday — because it melts time and space—makes it tougher for all future presidents to avoid summit conferences.

Through most of history government heads, including American presidents, had a good argument against summit meetings: the long distances and slow travel kept them away too long from their own countries.

They also had another traditional excuse, and it is one Eisenhower used: international problems are so complex only foreign ministers, being specialists in the tails, should try to work them out.

This system, of course, had a special virtue for government heads: they could always repudiate what their ministers did if the public reaction at home was bad. But Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, impatient and self-confident, said "letting foreign ministers meet first was a waste of time since they were only mouthpieces for the top men anyway."

He argued top men should meet first and then, if they reached agreement, the foreign ministers could worry about details. In the 19th century, when American isolation meant staying out of Europe's affairs, presidents had no reason for summit meetings. President Theodore Roosevelt, who went to Panama in 1906, was the first president to leave home.

But gradually over the years—in a slow, bit-by-bit process—time, events and faster travel eliminated the traditional avoidance of summit meetings. President Wilson was the first to break through. But it was a disaster.

He went to Europe for the peace settlement after World War I—a period in which America temporarily lost its isolation—but his misfortunes there and at home were a shuddering reminder to his successors to watch out.

Nevertheless, he wasn't away too long, thanks to trains and ocean liners, which now look like ox carts compared with jet planes. But even the trains and liners were a lot faster than travel in the old days by sailboat, horse, and carriage.

America wrapped itself in isolation again, for almost two decades. In that time the most memorable summit meeting was a vast discouragement to more of the same. That was British Minister Neville Chamberlain's abject surrender to Hitler at Munich.

But American isolation was swept away by World War II when fast decisions at the highest levels were needed in a hurry. The old pattern of resistance to summit meetings then was broken forever, although it may not have seemed so then.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt met with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill here and abroad, and later with him and Stalin at Yalta and Teheran. In 1945 President Truman met with Churchill and Stalin in Potsdam.

No matter how diplomats may try to differentiate between them, summit meetings are conferences between government heads, whether or not those governments are friends, allies, or enemies.

Since Potsdam there have been a number of meetings between the heads of the Allied governments on the other, and between some on both sides.

The sour results of the Geneva summit meeting which Eisenhower attended in 1955—with the Allies and the Soviet Union—only strengthened his belief that negotiation was a job for specialists, and not heads of government.

But now circumstances have pushed him into meeting Khrushchev again, this time in Washington Sept. 15. But if it were not for the airplane, Eisenhower's trip Wednesday would have been unthinkable, because of the time involved.

He is going to visit the heads of the Allied governments—Britain, France, West Germany—and be back in time to meet Khrushchev. Then he flies to Moscow to repay the visit.

Both here and in Moscow Eisenhower and Khrushchev will have days for talks and time to look around each other's country, and both men will be able to complete their missions in less than two weeks.

Lucky At Last

BALTIMORE — Capt. and Mrs. Reese Layton scoured the city and its environs for canned turnip greens because the fresh variety was out of season.

None could be found. Then, on a trip through the South, they found a case of turnip greens in a South Carolina country store and snapped up the whole case. They were canned, of course, in Baltimore.

Indian Relics

WESTFIELD, N. J. — Dr. Charles A. Philhower has spent much of his 81 years digging up Indian relics and studying Indian history.

Now, he is giving his collections—some 40,000 items—to Rutgers University. "They belong in a university where they would be available for study," Philhower says.

Around The Rim

Trees Look Different To Parents

Why don't the homesteaders grow trees tall and majestic anymore? With limbs strong enough to hold the kids who probably have never been taught how to "skin the cat"?

Seems to me, when I was a stripling, a tree was about the best friend a kid could have. He could take a few pickets which had fallen off the fence and nail them up the side of the trunk for steps, then build himself a tree house.

He could saw off one of the smaller limbs (preferably from the mesquite) and make himself a slingshot. He could laze under an apple tree and wait for the fruit to fall, or grab a choice specimen and run for dear life if it happened to be on the neighbor's estate. Or he could use it as a shield in a green walled fight and hope it served its purpose in protecting both fro and aft.

It's leaves provided dulcet music on summer nights when a boy stretched out on the sweet, green lawn on summer nights and looked at the stars.

If friend tree were located anywhere near a pond, so much the better. How better a way to get into the water for the first time in a swim than leaping from an overhanging branch, the way Tom Mix did it when he was escaping from the rustlers?

The tree proved to be a favorite hunting preserve, too, for things like ante-pillars, locusts and June bugs, which yielded to the impulses of resting in the cradle of its arms.

The impartial tree could provide the means for punishment, too, if a maternal parent elected to strip it of a branch and administer stern justice for a misdeed.

But, even then, it also offered a refuge for escape. For if you could scurry up its trunk and onto a distant branch far beyond the outstretched hand of a mother who felt it offered too great a risk to get both feet off the ground, you were safe for a little while, during which time you hoped that somehow reflection on the seriousness of the prank would neutralize the degree of punishment. If you remained with friend tree long enough, perhaps you would get no more with a scolding and an admonition that it would be wise not to try the same thing again.

Come to think of it, though, there is now something sinister about tall trees with firm limbs. They don't look as capable of holding the small fry, of insuring him against injury, as they did in my day.

It's just as well, I guess, that the trend in trees is toward fragility and beauty. They look much better than would a tree full of kids, especially if they're my own.

The Alligators Must Go

Probably more than most city dwellers, New Yorkers have to stifle their pack-rat instincts. (The Collyer brothers and their psychopathic ilk are a flourishing exception to this rule. But their number is negligible.)

Only a handful of city slickers who still own town houses, with the luxury of attic and basement, can indulge the ancient human instinct to squirrel away stuff that "is simply too good to throw away" or "may come in handy someday." And that really isn't and never does.

What the human pack-rat lacks is the strength of character to part with possessions he no longer needs or uses. It is easier to tuck it away than to chuck it out.

True to a solemn vow we made last spring, the Head of Clan Robb and I have been engaged this summer in Operation Ruthless. This consists of tackling, one by one, four Fibber McGee closets and ruthlessly discarding such treasures as an old No. 2 iron, a lamp base made of a coconut sent us from Florida by a misguided friend 25 years ago, and one too many receptacles in which food is supposedly kept warm by candle power.

Under this program, there left Chez Robb forever only last week, in the custody of the Salvation Army, one of my few Walter Mitty dreams of grandeur that materialized in the too, too solid flesh. Or, rather, in the too, too solid leather, for what marched out of the apartment to begin life anew in a Salvation Army shop was a resplendent set of matched alligator luggage.

Although I had owned the four glittering pieces for 22 years, the sheen of newness was still in the rich, dark leather, and the pale, silvery gray silk linings were pristine. The set ranged from the cosmetic to a Pullman case built on the general dimensions of a steamer trunk. En masse, they would have done credit to a Vanderbilt, a Rockefeller, a Morgan, and that, as I soon discovered, was their fatal drawback. Only a Vanderbilt, a Rockefeller, a Morgan could afford the upkeep on so much magnificence.

In the days before World War II, when a 25-cent tip per bag would send a red-cap hysterical with joy, I soon discovered that anything less than a dollar tip per alligator bag sent the fraternity hysterical with rage.

Indeed, I got the feeling that anything less than a dollar-per-bag was selling capitalism short. And even when I traveled on a swindle sheet with my alligators, the sight of so much money going down the drain used to goad me into ordering the small rather than the large siron as an economy measure, to redress the balance.

Nor was this the only expense. The alligators were not only magnificent but as heavy as lead. Sandow could have trained on them. (And I began to get weary of redcaps who snatched at the Pullman case and then asked me accusingly, "Lady, you got bricks in this here?")

The real expense was in excess baggage on the airlines, even in a day when the weight limits were more generous than at present. The four pieces weighed 66 pounds with nothing but air in 'em. When packed, the excess-baggage charge resembled the original cost of the plane, and was so maddening to the office auditor that he finally said the alligators must go—but not by plane.

So for 20 years, the alligators have blushed unseen on the top shelf of a closet. Some years ago I saw a movie in which a second-hand dress suit transformed the lives of several persons, including Edward G. Robinson. I cannot help but wonder what impact my lovely alligators will have on their new owner, short of breaking his back and bending his back book.

Labor Bill Opens Political Wounds

WASHINGTON — No matter what the final outcome in the dispute between House and Senate over labor reform legislation the political wounds opened in the Democratic party will be long in healing. The result, it is generally agreed, has been to widen the split between the liberal-labor wing and the conservative Southern wing of the party.

A smoldering resentment remains, with the unhappy conviction that Presidential ambitions took precedence over the welfare of the party. As to the welfare of the nation, it was obscured by the fierce, knife-throwing factionalism that tore the House apart as the "tough" Landrum-Griffin bill was passed.

Politically speaking, it now appears that if a labor bill is finally adopted at this session—coming out of the Senate House conference—the credit will go largely to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the majority leader. To put it another way, the leading Democratic Presidential aspirant in the Senate, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, will get at best a mark of passing on labor legislation.

The suspicion is strong in the House that Johnson planned it that way. If the Kennedy-Ervin bill as approved by the Senate had been matched by a moderate bill in the House, then Jack Kennedy would properly have been identified as the father of labor reform.

The suspicion of Lyndon Johnson goes to the fact that 17 of the 21 Democrats from Texas in the House voted for Landrum-Griffin. At the same time they were, in effect, voting against their leader, Speaker Sam Rayburn, who had staked his reputation and prestige on stopping the so-called tough bill, and putting over the moderate Elliott bill. A switch of 15 votes would have killed Landrum-Griffin.

Why, House members who got badly battered in the fight are asking, could not the great and powerful Lyndon Johnson have exercised some authority with the delegation from his own state?

It must be said, however, that opinion in Texas tends to be strongly anti-labor, and the volume of mail pouring in on Texas Congressmen was overwhelmingly for a "strong" bill. While Johnson may in the end appear as a hero to the conservative right, he has not advanced his chances for the Presidential nomination.

If organized labor made just about every mistake that could be made, overplaying the hand in an outrageous way, the Northern wing of the party with its strong labor element will nevertheless have at least a veto at next year's Democratic convention. The Republican-Southern Democratic coalition with Texas in the vanguard, so ably led by Republican leader Charles Halleck, has left an indelible mark.

When the shouting of the victors has died down, the effect of this coalition on political fortunes next year may be more significant than anything else to come out of the controversy. By their victory the Republicans blunted an issue which in the past they have exploited to the hilt—the charge that organized labor runs Congress and dictates the kind of legislation that is to be passed.

Not only President Eisenhower, who will not be running for office next year, but Vice President Richard Nixon, campaigning for the Presidency, and his closest allies in the government, did yeoman work for a victory that the National Association of Manufacturers claims as its own. Nixon met wavering Republican congressmen at breakfast on the morning of the test. His able and loyal lieutenant, Attorney General William Rogers, provided help in the big administration push.

It may be, of course, that the crime and corruption exposed by the McClellan committee had conditioned the public, including many trade union members, to accept what has been widely propagated as a strong bill. But, quite possibly, there may be some early disillusion over just what has been achieved.

The comment of James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union, target of the most violent feeling, should not be overlooked. Hoffa said that with only minor changes his union could live with the bill passed by the House.

This bears out what Sen. Kennedy has been saying about the "tough" Landrum-Griffin bill. That is, it will not substantially affect the big, powerful labor unions such as the Auto Workers and the Teamsters. But it penalizes smaller unions and the task of organizing, particularly in the South, will be all but impossible.

Perhaps, in view of this, the laurels of victory now being distributed will fade rather rapidly. By 1960 they may be as dust and ashes.

Watch The Puffs

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council suggests that, when passing, watch the exhaust pipe of the car ahead for smoke puffs.

A lazy puff means the driver has taken his foot from the accelerator. Perhaps he's slowing for a turn.

A sharp puff of smoke may mean the motorist ahead is speeding up so that you will be unable to pass.

Many Bumps Await Ike On His Grand Tour

LONDON (AP) — All sorts of bumps await President Eisenhower on his tour beginning Wednesday of the countries where he scored his greatest World War II triumphs. The President's main task will be to get America's allies used to the idea of the dawning era of "Big Two" diplomacy. A secondary chore will be to try to dispel some of the rancor between the British government on the one hand and the French and West Germans on the other. If Eisenhower can improve relations between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he can approach his meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev with the added authority of the leader of a united West. Each of the three major West European government chiefs justified and showed the others behind the scenes when arrangements were being made for the President's nine-day tour of West Europe.

ALL PARTNERS

Eisenhower, for example, had hoped to meet all his partners together in one place to chart strategy for his meeting with Khrushchev. Macmillan wouldn't go to Paris. De Gaulle wouldn't go to London. Neither was terribly keen to receive Adenauer at the same time as the President. So Eisenhower will go to all three. West Germany, France and Britain—as well as some of the smaller countries of the Atlantic Alliance—want first to be assured that a cold war truce with the Soviet Union will not spell the end of their defensive partnership with the United States.

They want a presidential pledge that America will not enter an accommodation with the U.S.S.R. at the expense of their own national interests.

Eisenhower probably will have his roughest time in France. De Gaulle wants to restore his country to her old glory. He is demanding active allied support for his aim of ending the Algerian war on terms favorable to France. He is pressing for American help to turn France into a nuclear power. He is demanding a voice in the North Atlantic Alliance equal to that of the United States and Britain.

PRIVATE TALKS

Eisenhower has arranged to spend more time in private talks with De Gaulle than with Macmillan or Adenauer.

Adenauer, meanwhile, has let it be known that he will go all out to quiet any fears the President may have over De Gaulle's policy. London's Sunday Times and the Sunday Observer reported from Bonn that the West Germans believe only a strong, happy and nuclear-armed France can make that country safe for the Atlantic Alliance.

The aged chancellor is expected also to warn the President against appeasing the Soviets and against any softening of Allied policy toward Soviet communism. Macmillan intends to press his view that any first step toward an accommodation with the Soviet Union must be in the field of disarmament. With a general election looming in Britain, Macmillan's chances would be helped greatly if the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks boosted the lagging East-West negotiations for a pact to suspend nuclear weapon tests. By all accounts Macmillan also will keep arguing his case for an early East-West summit conference to take up again such questions as the Berlin crisis and the reduction of tension in Central Europe.

Ike Kin Leaves On Goodwill Tour

MAZATLAN, Mex. (AP) — A plane carries Dr. Milton Eisenhower to Mexico City today on his goodwill tour.

He will spend two days in the capital before flying to Torreon for the last stop on a trip which has taken him from coast to coast and to the Yucatan Peninsula.

The U.S. President's brother tried his luck at fishing at this resort city on the west coast Sunday and caught nothing. State Gov. Gabriel Leyva Velazquez and Mayor Hector Gonzalez Guevara gave an informal luncheon for Dr. Eisenhower and his party.

Lyndon Lauds Money Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Works appropriations bill which includes 32 separate Texas projects is highly important to the development of the state, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Sunday.

Johnson, in his weekly broadcast over Texas radio stations, said that in addition to 32 Texas projects in the construction and planning provisions, the bill included a score or more of Texas survey or reclamation projects.

"These projects are not only important now. They are important to the future of Texas and to the future of our nation," he said. The bill was approved by the Senate and sent to the White House last week.

Johnson said the present Congress has compiled a fine record of accomplishments and he was confident more will be added before the session ends.

5 Members Of Family Die As Fire Hits Pampa Apartment

PAMPA (AP)—Flames sweeping through an old, three-story apartment building killed five members of one family and routed 16 other persons before dawn Sunday.

Several escaped the intense smoke and heat by leaping from the third floor of the brick structure. A rescuer saved two by tossing them out a window.

Asst. Fire Chief Vernon Pirkle said the fire apparently started in the basement, shot up a chimney — like elevator shaft and spread lightning fast as frightened tenants popped out the doors along a narrow corridor on the top story.

Lewis Stone, 42, an electric company employe, perished in the blaze along with his wife Christine, 41; daughter Betty Jean, 20, and two of the couple's four sons — Gary, 15, and Kenneth, 8.

Three other boys in the family jumped from the top story, where firemen later found the five bodies. They are Russell, 17, who suffered from inhaled smoke and had an arm cut, and Norman, 12, with a foot injury, both hospitalized; and Leslie, 14, who was unharmed.

Firemen credited Thomas Lewis, 32, in a hospital after being overcome by smoke, with saving two unidentified occupants of the building by tossing them from a window. Attendants said his condition was serious.

Lewis reentered the blazing structure several times to rouse fellow tenants, rescuing the pair as they wandered confusedly amid the smoke and flames.

City policemen R. K. Almqvist and Dave Cathey, on a special burglary detail, spotted smoke and a red glow behind a basement window shortly after 2 a. m. Almqvist dashed inside to sound an alarm while Cathey raced three blocks to telephone the fire department.

"Smoke was so thick I couldn't see two inches in front of me," Almqvist related, "but I managed to get to the middle and upper floors. The occupants panicked and scattered over the building."

In addition to the Stone family, nine other persons lived in the place, known as the Giking Apartment House. It housed the Pampa hospital until a new hospital was built, stood empty for a time and was partitioned into apartments. There was a single fire escape.

Roused by Almqvist, Mrs. Sarah Hatfield — the apartment house manager — joined him in waking other occupants. She said the Stones were among those she alerted and one of the boys followed her outside. Mrs. Hatfield suffered burns on her hands and arms.

Firemen were unable to enter the burned out building until they controlled the blaze about 6 a. m.

Pirkle, the assistant fire chief, pointed down an elevator shaft from the third floor and said: "That shaft runs right through the middle of the building. When that fire got going, it (the shaft) acted as a natural draft. Flames moved up it just like a chimney."

Pirkle said the blaze probably started in the basement. Firemen pumped out gallons of water seeking to determine the cause.

Padre Island Hearing Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A public hearing may be held in Texas this fall by the Senate Interior Affairs Committee on a bill to make Padre Island a national seashore area, Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore) said Sunday.

Neuberger, a member of the committee, appeared on the weekly program of Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.), carried by Texas radio and TV stations.

The committee plans to hold hearings in local areas so that residents in the affected regions can voice their opinions, Neuberger said. He added that he hoped one of the committee hearings would be in Texas on the Padre Island project.

Earlier in the current session of Congress, Yarborough offered a bill to designate the 118-mile-long Padre Island as a national seashore resort.

Neuberger said that while many national parks had been established inland, the federal government had neglected its coastline.

Underground Center

Leo Hoegh, left, director of Civil Defense; Sen. Lyndon Johnson, (D-Tex.) center and Rep. Frank Icard (D-Tex.) pose with a drawing of an underground regional control center, the Office of Civil Defense plans to build in Denton. The two-story underground structure would replace existing above-ground facilities. Legislation providing funds for construction await President Eisenhower's signature.

ROY FACE WINS 16TH IN ROW FOR PIRATES

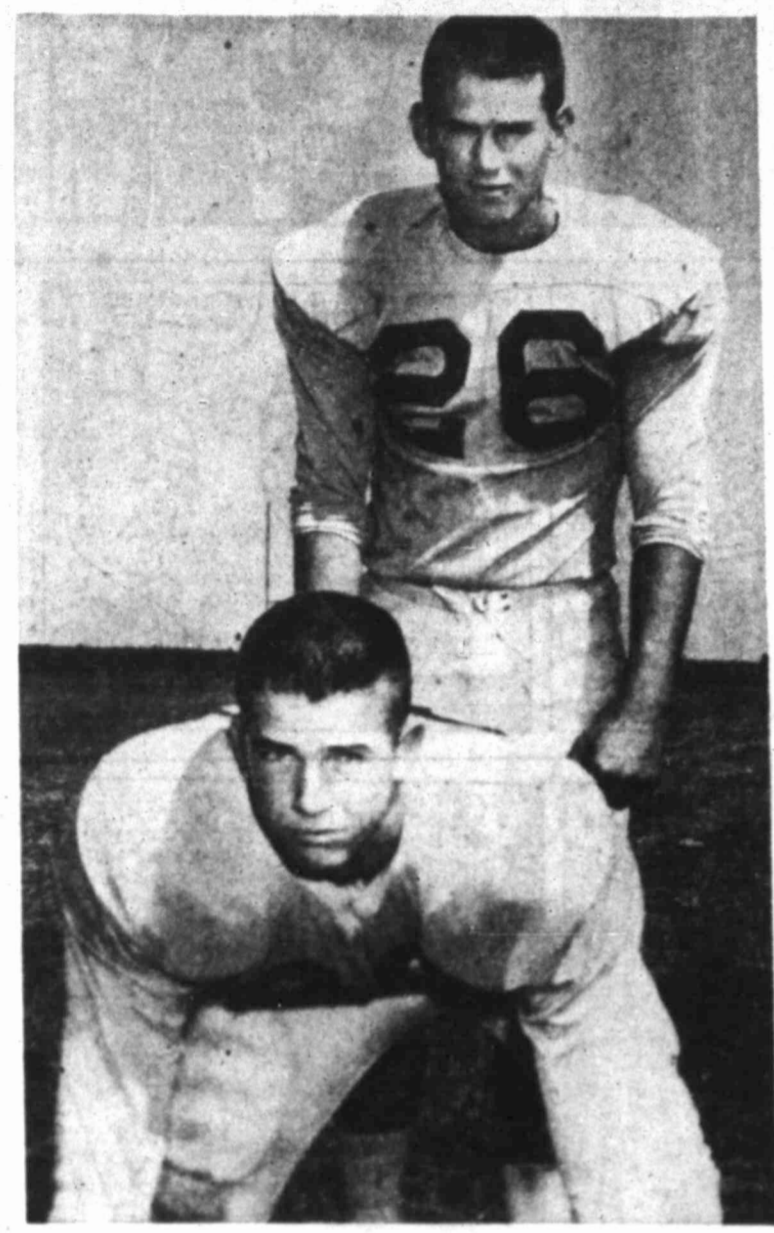

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Elroy Face may do it yet. The little Pittsburgh relief ace needs only three more victories to equal Rube Marquard's record of 19 consecutive triumphs in one season and Carl Hubbell's two-season streak of 24.

Face made it 16 in a row for 1959 and 21 since May 30, 1958, Sunday as the Pirates stunned Los Angeles with a sweep of a doubleheader 9-2 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The 5-8 inch right-hander took over in the ninth after Pittsburgh had come from behind to tie the second game score 3-3. He hurled scoreless ball over two innings and copped the decision when Dick Groat singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 10th.

The Dodgers' double defeat dropped them into third place, a half game behind the Milwaukee Braves who defeated the Chicago Cubs 2-0. Los Angeles is now 4 1/2 lengths behind the first place San Francisco Giants, whose scheduled doubleheader in Philadelphia was rained out. Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 5-3 for a sweep of the three-game series.

Pace Stanton Offensive

Norman Donelson, crouched, and Buzzy Brewer, both seniors, will spearhead Stanton's offense this fall under Coach Harlin Dauphin. Donelson, 6-3, will be one of the most capable ends in the district and Brewer should reveal his talents in the halfback slot after being held out of several games last year because of injuries. Both are stellar trackmen. Donelson set a 220-yard record and Brewer ran on the district-winning sprint relay team in 1958. The Buffs open play at home against Merkel the night of Sept. 4.

LEADING LEAGUE Francona Proves Lane's Acumen

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Until this year trader Francona has been the Indians' Jim Perry deal maker. He has bought pitcher Billy Pierce and second baseman Nellie Fox to the Chicago White Sox. The voluble Cleveland general manager is now ready to add a third.

On March 21 of this year, Lane traded veteran Larry Doby to Detroit for a utility outfielder who batted only .254 last year. His name? Tito Francona. It has turned out to be Lane's best trade as an Indian's chief.

The 25-year-old Francona has been the Indians' best hitter ever since he was placed in the regular lineup. He is the league's No. 1 hitter with a .379 batting average, 17 home runs and 64 runs batted in, but has not been at bat enough times to qualify for the top spot officially. Doby, incidentally, is in the minor leagues.

Francona hit two home runs Sunday. His first came in the ninth inning of the opener, snapped a scoreless pitching duel between Cleveland's Jim Perry and Boston's Tom Brewer, and gave the Indians a 1-0 victory.

It was the third time this season Tito has hit a game-winning homer in the final inning. His second homer came in the first inning of the nightcap, also, won by the Indians 6-2. The sweep advanced the Indians to within a game and a half of league-leading Chicago.

The White Sox lost a full game to Cleveland when they were held to a split in their twin bill with New York. The Yankees won the first game 7-1 but the Sox came back to take the nightcap 5-0.

Detroit trounced Baltimore 9-5 before rain washed out the second game of their scheduled twin bill. It was scheduled to be played today. Washington split with Kansas City, winning the first game 7-3 and losing the second 5-2.

A three-run homer by Minnie Miñoso featured Cleveland's five-run blast in the fourth inning, snapping a 1-1 second-game tie. Jack Harshman, doling out only four hits in five relief innings, was credited with his second victory in a week. Young Perry allowed only three hits in posting his ninth victory in the opener.

The seventh was the vital inning in each game of the Wally Sox-Yankee doubleheader. In the first game, pinch-hitter Enos Slaughter singled in two runs with the bases full to snap a 1-1 tie and give Art Dillmar his ninth triumph and Early Wynn his eighth defeat.

In the second game, Sherman Lollar cleared his 19th home run in the seventh to ignite a five-run rally against Ralph Terry. A crowd of 44,230, largest of the year at Comiskey Park, saw Don Drysdale, Dodger ace, was charged with both Los Angeles defeats. As a starter in the opener, he was routed in the third inning when the Pirates broke loose for four runs to overcome a 1-0 deficit. As a reliever in the second, he yielded the tying run in the eighth and the winning run in the 10th.

Bill Virdon, Pittsburgh centerfielder, blasted seven hits. He had a double, two singles and a walk in the opener, and two singles, a double and a home run in the nightcap. He ignited the winning rally with two out in the 10th with a single. Smoky Burgess followed with a single and Bob Skinner walked. Then Groat came through with his game-winning single.

Milwaukee made only two hits but converted both into runs in sweeping the three-game series from the Cubs. Left-hander Art Ceccarelli gave up just one hit in six innings, a blop single by Andy Pafo in the fifth. But a throwing error by third baseman Earl Averill on Ray Bone's single preceded the hit and Johnny Louden followed with a sacrifice fly to score Boone.

Don Elston, who hurled the last two innings for the Cubs, gave up the other hit and run in the eighth when Logan doubled, went to third on a fly and scored on pitcher Bob Buhl's squeeze bunt. Buhl allowed six hits for his 11th victory and fourth shutout.

Jerry Lynch hit a two-run homer in the eighth to snap a 3-3 tie and give Cincinnati's Don Newcombe his 12th victory. Newcombe also hit a home run as the Reds gained their third straight over the Cards.

The Giants led 2-1 after 3 1/2 innings of the first game when rain called a halt. Since the Giants are no longer scheduled in Philadelphia, the games may be moved to San Francisco when the Phils visit there Sept. 11-13.

Currie Horse Wins Event At Ruidoso

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carmen Basilio steps into the San Francisco Cow Palace ring against Gene Fullmer Friday night.

If you live in the 48 states governed by the National Boxing Assn., the 15-round bout will be for the world middleweight championship.

But you live in New York or Massachusetts — or your name happens to be Sugar Ray Robinson — it's just another Friday television offering.

The NBC has shorn Robinson of his middleweight title because of inactivity and blessed the Basilio-Fullmer argument as a title brawl. New York and Massachusetts decided to let Sugar Ray keep his title. Neither is a member of the NBA.

So no matter how it comes out, one result will be confusion because there will be two world champions.

As for the fight, Basilio is rated an 8-5 favorite in the early call-over. Each has won the crown before. Basilio lost it back. In fact, the last time Robinson fought for the title he regained it from Basilio. That marked the fifth time Sugar Ray won it back after losing it.

Both Basilio, an onion farmer from Chittenango, N.Y., and Fullmer, who comes from West Jordan, Utah, are hard hitters and don't worry much about finesse. A week of about 18,000 is expected. The house is called for $305,000 with another $175,000 being tossed into the pot by television. Basilio gets 35 per cent of the swag and Fullmer 25 per cent. The bout will be telecast by NBC starting at 9 p.m. EST with the San Francisco area blacked out.

Two other world champions will be in action during the week, both in non-title bouts. Don Jordan, who holds the welterweight title, meets his Los Angeles neighbor, Art Aragon, in a 10 Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Lightweight champion Joe Brown meets Santiago Ramirez of Cuba in a benefit 10 in New Orleans Wednesday.

Rudell Stitich, the No. 2 ranking welterweight, shows his stuff for the home folks in Louisville Friday night against Luis Rodriguez, undefeated Cuban regular champion. This is the regular ABC TV offering. Time is 9 p.m. EST.

Monterrey Left

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Undeclared Long Beach, Calif., and once beaten Monterrey, Mexico, Greene County, Pa., and Camden, S.C., are the only teams left in the Pony League Baseball World Series which resumes here tonight.

The method and date of the league's first draft also will be set in Los Angeles. The draft is to be in December.

Layne Is Charged, Jailed In Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Pro football veteran Bobby Layne, star quarterback of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was charged with drunk-driving Sunday.

Police said Layne drove a car that struck a parked auto, then left the scene with three companions, and transferred to a taxi cab in downtown Austin.

After three hours in jail, Layne was released on $300 bail.

A few hours before the incident, Layne had played a first half of a football game in which the Chicago Cardinals defeated his Steelers 21-10.

Layne was arrested in Detroit, Sept. 17, 1957, on a similar charge and acquitted the following Dec. 8. The Detroit Lions traded him to Pittsburgh last October.

Chicago Cards Bear Watching This Year

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

With King Hill quarterbacking and jack-of-all-trades John David Crow doing the leg work, the Chicago Cardinals figure to bear watching during the National Football League campaign.

Hill and Crow have had parallel careers. Hill, who did his college pitching for Rice, and Crow, who was Texas A&M's battering ram, both made the All-America team in 1957.

Both were top choices for the Cardinal rebuilding program. Both spent a good portion of their rookie season on the bench with injuries as the Cardinals tied for last place in the Eastern Division with a 2-9-1 record.

Now the Texas tandem is leading the rejuvenated Cardinals, who have won all three of their exhibition games. Their latest triumph was a 21-10 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday in a nationally televised game.

Hill pitched touchdown passes of 60 and 30 yards to Crow against the Steelers and scored once himself on a 14-yard dash to account for all the Cardinal TDs.

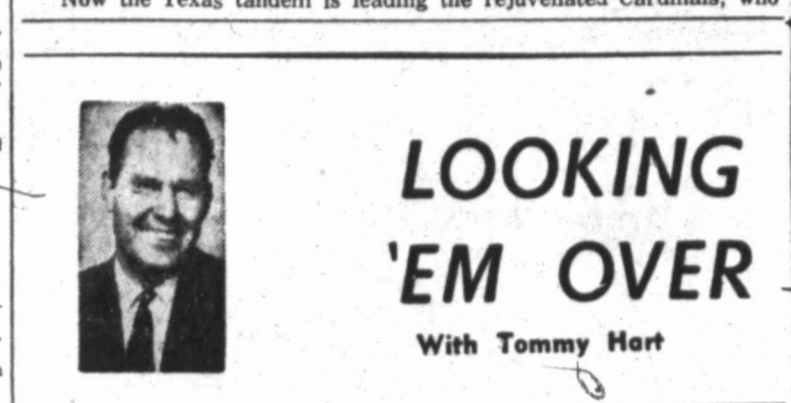

In other games over the weekend, the Green Bay Packers defeated San Francisco 24-17; Chicago's Bears nipped Philadelphia 24-21; and the New York Giants and Detroit edged Cleveland 9-3.

Crow, who has turned into the workhorse of the Card backfield since the departure of Ollie Matson in a trade, now has scored four touchdowns in pre-season contest.

The Steelers — expected to be title contenders in the Eastern Conference — were unable to contend with the faking and signaling of Hill and had no one who could maneuver with Crow in the secondary. Pittsburgh scored its only touchdown in the third quarter, Tom Tracy going over from the 2 after a 70-yard aerial from Len Dawson to Jim Orr.

The Packers won their first game under new Coach Vince Lombardi with a 96-yard kickoff return by rookie George Dixon setting up the winning touchdown. Don McHenry banged over from the 2 for the cincher. The veteran Y.A. Tittle almost tied it for the 49ers, hitting R.C. Owens for a 40-yard pass as time ran out. Owens was downed within six inches of the goal line.

The bears took their second in a row by the faking as Willie Gallimore supplied the explosives with two touchdowns. Gallimore sped through the Eagle defense on an 85-yard kickoff return for one score and took a 34-yard kickoff return for one score and took a 34-yard pass from Zeke Bratkowski for the other. Norm Van Brocklin kept the Eagles close over the Browns — they've won 16 in 21 meetings — as John Henry Johnson bulled nine yards in the first period for the game's only touchdown. Rookie fullback Nick Pietrosante from Notre Dame was impressive for the Lions, gaining 57 yards in seven tries.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Garland Bishop, the Boston Red Sox sub-scout, was general manager of the San Angelo Longhorn League entry in 1951, the year that team attracted an amazing 115,818 paying customers.

San Angelo led all Class C teams in gate appeal that year and Garland, on a visit here last week, says the Colts could have drawn another 10,000 to 20,000 at home that year had the chief stock holders in the club followed his advice and agreed to play Kyle Rote of SMU football fame.

As it was, a club officer, who was an alumnus of another Southwest Conference school, was antagonistic to Ward Bishop's suggestion that Rote be employed because the San Angelo athlete had once led the SMU football team to a victory over his alma mater.

Bishop already had Rote signed to a contract to play two months with the San Angelo team, or up until the New York Giants, his employers in pro football, started training in July. Kyle, incidentally, had been a bonus draft pick of the Giants.

His pay for that period was to be $700, or a modest $350 a month. Bishop had worked out an arrangement with the league's other clubs, including Big Spring, whereby each would have paid the Colts $100 to have Rote — so the arrangement, in reality, would have cost the San Angelo club nothing. The other teams were eager to bill Rote in their own parks, since it would have added hundreds and perhaps thousands of dollars to their "take."

The San Angelo official wouldn't alter his stand, however, so Bishop offered Rote's services to the Corpus Christi team of the Gulf Coast League and Corpus, then masterminded by George Schepps, jumped at the offer. Kyle got in only 22 games with Corpus that season but wound up hitting .348. Seven of his 23 hits were ridden out of the park. He also hit a triple and a double and drove in 13 runs, all without the benefit of spring training.

Rote started playing for Corpus on April 24. Two nights later, he pounded out three home runs against Galveston — two over the left field wall and the other over the right field fence.

He checked in his equipment May 23, to rest up before reporting to the Giants, with whom he is a star this day. No doubt, he would have played longer with San Angelo.

KYLE ROTE

Was Rote a baseball prospect or just an athlete who was living off his football reputation?

Bishop reasons Kyle would have made it to the big leagues in baseball had he not decided to go the football route.

Fact is, there was a time in his junior high days when Rote didn't care for football. He lived three houses down from Garland when both resided in San Antonio and Bishop is the one who interested him in baseball. He played it on through college.

Bishop says the San Angelo club of 1951 wound up with a bank balance of $8,000.

Although the Colts finished out in front of the race (beating second place Big Spring by 10 1/2 games), Bishop and the directors couldn't get together on plans for the following campaign and Garland left the employment of the club.

A couple of seasons later, the club's total draw was down to 68,146 and the Colts finished deep in the red. They were to go downhill steadily after that.

McMurry Indians Are Well Fixed For Grid Veterans

ABILENE (SC) — What more could a football coach ask for than to have lettermen available for starting assignments at every position?

A key spot that lacks depth in the Tribe attack is quarterback. Terry O'Brien, 6-4, 193, and a two-year letterman, may have to become a 60-minute man. Once past the tall, blonde terror, there's nobody available. O'Brien, who hit 20 of 58 for 478 yards and two TD's in 1958, shared the chores with departed Tommy McAdams.

Bridges, two-year numeral winner at halfback, was shifted to fullback in the spring in a vain attempt to plug some of the gap left by the graduated Ernie Davis. Davis tallied 104 points last season, to rank fifth in the nation.

Tackles appear the strongest, with four lettermen returning. In addition to Gorman and Baldwin, Robert James, 210, and Doyle Melver, 225, will be back.

And the number two and number three pass receivers from 1958, Hicks and Jackson, will return for their final year. Hicks snared 13 for 317 yards and one tally, while Jackson caught nine for 142 and one TD.

Fishermen Admit Mexican Poaching

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP)—The skipper and crew of the fishing boat "Gail D." out of Brownsville, Tex., have admitted operating illegally in Mexican waters, officials here said Sunday.

The ship's fishing gear and about 700 pounds of shrimp were confiscated Friday when it was captured by the gunboat Durango.

The captain of the port said Sunday as soon as a fine of $1,300 was paid the boat and crew will be free to return home.

Julius Deas, captain of the Gail D. and his crew appeared in court yesterday.

Capt. Jose Rojas Pacheco said the Gail D was fishing about 100 miles north of Tampico about six miles offshore. Mexico claims jurisdiction nine miles from shore.

House Runs Out Of Delegates; No More U.S. Territories

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time since 1900, the House of Representatives today found itself without a delegate.

The nation has run out of territories from which delegates may be elected.

The last of a long line of delegates dating back to pioneer days lost his seat in the House last Friday when President Eisenhower proclaimed Hawaii the 50th state. He is John A. Burns. Today he yielded his seat to Dan Inouye, Hawaii's first elected representative to Congress.

But the House still has a commissioner, A. Fernos-Isern, who represents Puerto Rico, a commonwealth, as distinguished from a territory. A commissioner represents an area not intended to become a state.

Delegates and commissioners have no voting rights in the House, although they can debate with other members and serve on committees. Their pay has been the same as a voting member.

Congress started the practice of allowing territories to send delegates to the House in 1794, when James White took his seat as a delegate from "the territory south of the Ohio River." In 1796, the territory became the state of Tennessee and Andrew Jackson became its first representative in Congress.

In 1900, the House received another delegate, from the "territory northwest of the Ohio River." Two years later the territory was admitted to the union as the state of Ohio.

Miller received his accounting and law degrees from the University of Texas, and was admitted to the State Bar in March, 1955. His next two years were spent in a U. S. Navy legal office, and upon his return to Lamesa in 1957, he joined Clement.

Attacker Stabs Screaming L.A. Coed To Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An unidentified attacker stabbed a screaming coed to death Sunday night in an apartment a few blocks from the University of Southern California.

Linda Edna Martin, 21, a music major, lost a frantic attempt to flee from her assailant. She collapsed at a door she couldn't open in her fright.

The girl bled to death from a stab wound in the chest, soon after two policemen arrived. They were called by a neighbor who heard her screams.

She was nude, lying at the foot of 13 steps leading to an apartment occupied by G. Robert Kinzie, 27, a graduate art student. Kinzie told Police Inspector Tom Reddin he and Miss Martin had planned to marry this year. She had a key to his apartment.

The coed apparently was attacked in the apartment, where she had been alone, police said. Splashes of blood on the wall and stairway marked her flight to the outside door where she pounded in vain on the window in what Police Sgt. William Tomanovich said was a panic-stricken attempt to get out. He said a key was not needed, however, to open the locked door from the inside.

Kinzie, arriving at the scene with three fellow students, said they had been to an automatic laundry and had stopped in Hollywood for coffee. Kinzie was questioned and released. Tomanovich said his statements appeared to have been verified.

The girl's father is Louis Martin, North Hollywood.

Kinzie said she breakfasted with him in his apartment Sunday morning.

Officials said it had not been determined whether the girl was raped. They leaned to the theory that her screams drove the attacker away.

Miss Martin was conscious but unable to speak when police officers discovered her just inside a door at the bottom of the stairs. She had roomed with three other coeds in the vicinity of the university.

Niki's Itinerary Official, Sets Like Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's American itinerary now is official and it apparently sets the pattern for President Eisenhower's later visit to the Soviet Union.

The recent exchanges of Soviet-American visits—such as those of Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—have been on a strictly tit-for-tat basis.

It is generally understood in diplomatic circles that the Khrushchev-Eisenhower exchange will be in the same vein.

Official relations between the Soviet Union and the United States have for years been set in this mold—you let our man do this, and we'll let your man do that.

When the Soviet Union restricts travel for Americans in parts of the U.S.R., the U.S. State Department follows with an exactly comparable restriction for Soviet citizens traveling here.

Khrushchev's U.S. itinerary, which has been pretty well forecast in advance, ends with a second stop in Washington.

There had been some earlier speculation that Khrushchev might visit Alaska and go back by way of Communist China but he is scheduled to fly directly home.

That would seem to cancel any plan Eisenhower might have had for traveling across the U.S.S.R. and returning by way of the Pacific.

It is not at all certain this ever was contemplated for the President, but Nixon had requested such a route on his recent visit. He was turned down.

Khrushchev will come to Washington first on Sept. 15 for two days of official visiting at the White House. He will address the National Press Club and answer newsmen's questions in a nationally televised program on the 16th.

He will go to New York Sept. 17-18, where he will address the United Nations General Assembly. Los Angeles is next, Sept. 19, and San Francisco Sept. 20-21.

Exhausted Laotian pilots were somewhat relieved when the U.S. government chartered two twin-engine transports under its aid program to fly supplies to Sam Neua. Rented from the Nationalist Chinese commercial airline, the planes are piloted by Americans and Chinese.

Hundreds of paratroops also have been flown to the Sam Neua province jungle stronghold of Muong Phou.

About 20 per cent of Sam Neua reportedly is under Communist control. Defense Secretary Col. Phoumi Nosavan has said the city of Sam Neua can be held against rebel attacks but indicated there is little hope of holding much else in the province.

About 48,000 Vietnamese refugees who had been living in Thailand were reported crossing into Laos, some apparently heading toward Sam Neua. Many pro-Communist Laotians fled to Thailand during the Indochinese war. Laos refused to take them back after the 1954 armistice.

Space Chief Says Probes Due First

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. T. Keith Glennan, civilian space chief, said today the United States will concentrate on launching moon probes before getting involved in research for sending rockets deeper into space.

Glennan, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said that in his successes and failures during the first year of NASA's existence "we have learned that we are not nearly as far advanced as we had thought or hoped."

Comparative Comfort

18-month-old Robert Grubbe of Omaha, Neb., hitches up a rocking chair just the right size for him without a glance at what its owners describe as the world's largest chair at the Midwest Furniture Market show in Omaha. The $4,000 chair, which took 440 man hours to build, is 14 feet long, 11 1/2 feet wide and stands on legs 6 1/2 feet high. It took 89 yards of cloth to upholster it. The chair will seat 40 persons—but they have to use a ladder to get into it. Young Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Grubbe of Omaha.

Scrap Looms Over Battleship

SEATTLE (AP)—Is the battleship West Virginia worth her weight in scrap iron? A Seattle auto wrecker says she is. He says he and 104 other guys are willing to put up the scrap to save her from the scrapheap. The West Virginia, smashed in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor but later rebuilt, is now at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard in Bremerton. Last week, the Navy sold her to a New York metal company for $781,289.89. The company said it would scrap the battleship on the West Coast because she's too big to go through the Panama Canal.

"It's a crime," said Trudeau. "She's a beautiful vessel. They just don't make them like that any more." So Trudeau, who has long cherished the dream of a floating museum, got busy on the telephone. By Sunday, he said, he had put together a group of 105 men — junk merchants, farmers, automobile dealers who had pledged a thousand tons of scrap. He fired off a letter to the Union Metals and Alloys Co., of New York offering equal tonnage of scrap for the big battleship. Where is the scrap coming from? Well, said Trudeau, an automobile dealer promised 25 old cars.

Farmers pledged their rusty old ploughs. Carnivals and lumber mills chipped in with obsolete equipment, and so on.

How much will it take to ransom the West Virginia? "I don't know," said Trudeau. "I never weighed a battleship."

Oil Birthplace Holds Celebration

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—This Pennsylvania city of 9,000—cradle of the wealthy oil industry—had thousands of visitors today to celebrate oil's 100th birthday. Just one century ago next Thursday, Col. Edwin Drake, after weeks of heckling by onlookers, completed drilling a 69-foot well and struck oil. It was the nation's first commercial drilling. Oil Centennial Week opened Sunday.

A record throng visited Col. Drake Memorial Park, where the first well is marked and many historic tools of the first drilling are preserved.

On Thursday, hard by the century-old Drake well, a new hole will be drilled for the benefit of a nationwide television program.

5 Arrested In Odessa After Officer Slugged, Aide Shot

ODESSA (AP) — A brawl in which three men disarmed and slugged a peace officer left a chance bystander in a hospital minus one leg today and five persons jailed in lieu of $33,906 in bonds and fines. State Highway Patrolman Jimmy Nail said the battle started early Sunday when he stopped three men outside a beer tavern. It ended 12 miles north of this West Texas oil town, where the trio and their women companions wrecked a car.

In between, a rifle's accidental discharge shattered the left leg of Billy Joe Barker, 28, who answered Nail's call for assistance. Doctors later amputated his leg below the knee.

Barker recently moved here from Frederick, Okla.

Nail said he halted the three men near the tavern on the north edge of Odessa, where a bartender refused to serve them because they were drunk.

Thereafter, the patrolman said, this is what happened: One of the trio snatched Nail's pistol from a holster, fired one shot and held the officer at gunpoint while the other two men struck Nail.

Jumping into a car with the two women, the three men fled north on U.S. 385 toward Andrews.

Nail grabbed a 30-30 rifle from his patrol car but couldn't shoot because another auto moved into the line of fire. He called on Barker to help him give chase. As they leaped into the officer's car the rifle went off and the bullet hit Barker's leg.

Almost before others could start to a hospital with Barker, the fleeing car upset 12 miles outside Odessa. Sheriff's deputies nabbed two men beside the smashed auto. They found the third man and two women hiding in the brush about 50 yards distant.

The prisoners, all from Andrews, later identified themselves to Justice of the Peace E. E. Noble as:

Tronley Victor Ford, 46, held in lieu of bonds totaling $13,200 on charges of assault with intent to murder, robbery by assault, resisting arrest, drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Ford's wife Euland, 35, fined $208.50 for resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and drunkenness.

Billy James Seals, 27, $12,000 in bonds on charges of assault to murder and robbery by assault plus $239 in fines for interfering with an officer and resisting arrest.

William Robert Rich, 29, $7,900 in bonds on charges of being an accessory to murder and resisting arrest plus $219.50 fine for driving on the wrong side of a divided highway.

Rich's wife, Mildred Louise, 28, fined $139 for resisting arrest and drunkenness.

Wide Speech

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' first report to the nation Sept. 1 will be one of the most widely broadcast speeches ever made in Mexico. Every radio station in Mexico—about 391 in all—and 18 television stations will carry the report.
