Steelworkers Chief Back In Strike Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, returned to steel strike negotiations today. He had walked out almost three weeks ago, calling them a sham. The strike of a half-million steelworkers now is in its 43rd day. No sign of settlement was in sight. McDonald declared himself Tuesday as opposed to any use of the Taft-Hartley Act to force the steelworkers back to their jobs. President Eisenhower at his conference Tuesday repeated his contention that both sides must solve the problem by collective bargaining, and R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, has maintained that collective bargaining, not government intervention, is the best way to settle the strike. The Taft-Hartley Act gives the President the power to order strikers back to work for 60 days, while a fact-finding commission investigates the issues. As the strike entered its seventh week, there was no settlement in sight. McDonald walked out of the steel negotiations almost three weeks ago, on the grounds that they were getting nowhere. He said he is returning at the request of the federal government. McDonald would not comment on a report that the union would set a deadline for progress in talks, and that if no progress was made by that time it would break off negotiations altogether. He did say, however, that he expected to find no more basis for settlement now than when he quit Aug. 7. The union reportedly has been seeking a 15-cent hourly package increase for each year of a new contract. McDonald said the 15-cent figure was fairly accurate for the last hours before the strike began, but now is "misleading and erroneous."

Now, he said, the union is "starting all over again." He didn't give any idea what the union demand would be, but he said previous proposals have been taken off the bargaining table and the union will now be guided by the Union Wage Policy Committee's goals formulated last spring. The committee called for "substantial" wage increases. Earnings before the strike averaged $3.11 an hour. The industry's position has been that any increase in labor costs would force a rise in the price of steel, and thus be inflationary. The industry reportedly has offered a two-year contract, with increased benefits the first year, and a "modest" wage increase the second year, provided the union agreed to change some plant working rules to reduce labor costs.

President Eisenhower holds a written statement as he outlines to reporters the purposes of his trip to Europe. The President told his news conference one purpose is "to pledge, once again, in the several capitals I shall visit, America's devotion to peace with honor and justice."

Germans Give Ike A Warm Welcome

AF Sergeant Gets Estate Of Widow Friend

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force sergeant who befriended a crippled widow is heir to an Alaskan mining claim he says may be worth 40 million dollars. T. Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett returned to nearby Castle Air Force Base after resting the cinnabar (mercury) claim and reported Tuesday that geologists estimate its worth that high. He did not identify the geologists.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF VOLUNTEERS

An important meeting of the Big Spring Volunteers Advisory Council has been called for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room in the Permian Building. The Rev. William D. Boyd, president, said that plans for the year's work would be considered and urged that all organizations represented on the council have their delegates and alternates present. Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services for the Big Spring State Hospital, said that participation of delegates in mapping the program of activities was highly desirable.

Conquered Ex-Foe Cheers President

BONN, Germany (AP)—President Eisenhower brought his personal-to-person diplomacy to Germany tonight and received a hero's welcome in this land he helped conquer 14 years ago. The presidential jet plane landed at nearby Wahn Airport at 6:26 p.m. (12:26 p.m. EST) after a flight of 9½ hours from Washington. This elapsed time included an hour spent in a Newfoundland stop for refueling. The plane taxied toward a welcoming party of top German government officials headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. A crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 spectators waited in reserved places and others were scattered around the terraces. Just as the plane halted a 21-gun salute sounded. There was a burst of applause as the President appeared at the door. Adenauer approached, Eisenhower removed his hat as a German band struck up the Star Spangled Banner. Then the German anthem was played. The President and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who flew from Washington with him, exchanged handshakes with Adenauer and the West German foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano. The entire West German Cabinet was at the airport. Handshaking took five minutes and then Eisenhower and Adenauer, both laughing, walked to the microphones. In these trying days, Adenauer said, "all my countrymen regard the United States as the great bastion of liberty." Eisenhower renewed his pledge to stand by West Berlin in preserving its freedom against Communist threats. Ahead of the President at the West German capital of Bonn lay the greatest reception it ever has given a visiting dignitary. The airport, 20 miles from the West German capital of Bonn, was decked with its most festive display. The red, white and blue of the United States fluttered beside the black, red and gold of West Germany. It is the first time an American President ever has visited Bonn. And it marks also the first time an American President has been invited to Germany, a country against which the United States has fought two wars in this century. The President left Washington early in the morning. A white and silver Air Force jet with the President and his party aboard roared away into the pre-dawn darkness from Andrews Air Force Base. The time was 2:57 a.m., the destination, Bonn, Germany, 9½ hours away. In spite of the hour, Mrs. Eisenhower got up and drove to the airport with her husband. Both were bright-eyed and smiling although they had less than six hours sleep. Maj. John Eisenhower, their son, who is assistant White House staff secretary, came along and accompanied his father on the flight. The President, in a gray silk suit, and the First Lady, in a black-and-white checked dress, went up the steps to the plane together and spent a couple of minutes inside. They came outside and Mrs. Eisenhower kissed her husband squarely on the lips. He grinned as if he liked it. Because of the hour, Eisenhower had asked that government officials not show up to see him off and none did. Eisenhower is going to Bonn, Paris and London as a prelude to trading official visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. In lands where he soared to fame as the nemesis of Nazi aggressors, the President is prepared to lay down solemn promises that the United States once again will join in the use of force, if need be, to repel aggression. While sounding this warning to the Soviet Union, he also proposes to say that the United States seeks to be a loyal partner in advancing the cause of "peace with honor and justice." These are two of the paramount purposes of a 10-day venture into personal diplomacy. Eisenhower listed them at a farewell news conference Tuesday.

PUBLIC PROTECTION

Sterner Provisions Of City Electrical Code Marked Out

The Big Spring Electrical Code was amended, primarily to protect the average home-owner according to Commissioners, during the regular meeting of the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday in the City Hall. Mayor Lee Rogers said that the city has received several complaints from residents who have had to re-wire their entire house when all they wanted was a new electrical outlet installed. The Commissioners emphasized they did not want the Code to be this strict. George Zachariah said he felt the Code should be written to protect the average fellow from being forced to install wiring he does not need. From that point, the Commissioners laboriously checked each section of the Big Spring Electrical Code, making numerous changes. Most of these were of a technical nature regarding the size of wiring or other electrical equipment.

PROVISION STRICKEN The section requiring that a house be re-wired any time some electrical work is done in the house, was taken completely out of the ordinance. Another section, which stated the Electrical Inspector should have police power to make arrests, was also taken out. In other action, the Commissioners approved an ordinance amendment regulating paving cuts and another ordinance was amended regulating the construction and alteration of curbs and gutters.

The paving cut ordinance was amended to clarify the liability of the permit holder. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, explained there is no fee for the permit to cut the paving but there is a repair fee. The amendment to the curb and gutter cut ordinance spells out that an invitation might be taken to pay a fee for the permit to cut a curb. But he must have the permit. It also limits the size of a curb cut to 33 feet, the width of a double garage. The Commissioners approved selling 18 pump jacks, all obsolete, for $12 each. These have been stored for several years, Steinheimer said, and the city has no use for them.

Lyndon To Speak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson will speak Thursday at opening ceremonies for a new toll bridge at El Paso.

Laos Threat Grows, No Aid Is Asked

By MAX HARRELSON Associated Press Staff Writer The government of Laos says the threat from Communist rebels is growing steadily more serious, but it has made no move to ask the aid of either the United Nations or the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The SEATO pact was signed in 1954 just six weeks after the Geneva armistice ending the Indo-China War. And the eight SEATO signers included a special protocol bringing Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam under the wing of the anti-Communist alliance. In the event of any armed attack or threat which might endanger peace, the eight SEATO members are obligated to consult immediately on measures to be taken. But they also are bound not to intervene on the territory of the attacked country without an invitation of the government concerned. So far there has been no such invitation from Laos. Nor have any SEATO countries suggested such an invitation might be in order. Members of the alliance are France, the former ruler of Indochina; the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines. The SEATO pact does not offer the rigid guarantees of action provided by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It calls only for consultations on any use of force or threat of force. This, however, would not prevent the alliance from acting if its members agree that intervention is necessary. The United Nations has been mentioned frequently since fighting in Laos resumed. A representative of the Laotian government has consulted with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and with some U.S. delegations on the possibility of having observers sent to Laos. But no request has been made for action by the Security Council or the General Assembly. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is reported to have expressed the belief in private conversations recently that U.N. observers should be sent to Laos as soon as possible. Many diplomats believe this may happen, at least as a first step.

Church Jazz OK By Kids, Not Elders

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Jazz at a prayer service intrigued the young folk among an overflow crowd Tuesday but the older ones weren't so sure they liked it. "It really gets you," said Lynda Humes, a Waterford, Pa., teenager. A thousand persons packed the Loeb Playhouse at Purdue University. Another thousand were turned away. The Rev. Stanley Gangel of Bloomfield, Neb., said the music clashed with the words of John Wesley's Order for Morning Prayer. "Old John Wesley must be whirling in his grave," an older man said. Edgar Summerlin, North Texas State College music teacher, led the nine-piece combo in the premiere of the jazz music he wrote for the morning prayer service arranged by Wesley, founder of Methodism. The service, optional for the 6,000 delegates attending the National Convocation of Methodist Youth, was filmed for television and has been put on commercial records. "God's love is so celebrated in today's sounds," said Dr. Roger Ortmayer, professor of Christianity and the arts at SMU, who gave readings from the Old and New Testaments. Wesley's service also includes the Apostles' Creed.

Crash Victim Is Near Death

LAMESA — Condition of Ivan Lester Dozier, 51, injured in a truck-car mishap at the U. S. 87 and U. S. 180 interchange south of here Monday afternoon, continued critical here this morning. At Medical Arts Hospital it was reported that he had lost ground Tuesday evening but appeared slightly better Wednesday morning. He had head and internal injuries. The body of his wife, Mrs. Ruby A. Dozier, 50, buried for half an hour beneath a load of asphalt dumped from a truck in the collision, was taken to McCormick Funeral Home in Blooming Grove, the Doziers' home. They were returning there from a vacation trip when their car and the truck were in collision. Apparently Mrs. Dozier was killed instantly.

2 P.M. THURSDAY Airport Building Bids To Be Opened

Howard County Commissioners Court will accept bids for the construction of a hangar-administration building for the new County Airport at 2 p.m. Thursday. Ed Carpenter, county judge, said that no bids have been received by him as yet. He anticipated that contractors will be on hand in person to submit their offers. The exact amount which will be spent on the hangar-administration building is uncertain. Carpenter explained that the available money the county will have on hand when all other obligations for the airport construction are paid will be the determining factor. Originally, the commissioners allocated not less than $50,000 for the administration building. It is probable, officers said, that slightly more than this amount will be available for the project. The plans suggested to bidders call for a hangar somewhat similar to the one Cosden Petroleum Corp. has built at the airport with an annex to serve as an administration building. Originally, the administration building was to have been a separate unit. Need for a big hangar for the operation of the airport has arisen, and lacking funds for both hangar and administration building, the proposed combination plan has been adopted.

ELECTION MONDAY

Stanton-Courtney Schools Combined

STANTON — Stanton and Courtney residents went to the polls Monday and voted to consolidate Stanton and Courtney schools. At Courtney 57 persons voted to consolidate and 17 were against consolidation. L. M. Hays, superintendent, said. Sixty-seven persons at Stanton voted for consolidation and three against. With the consolidation of the schools, the Courtney High School students will attend Stanton schools and Courtney elementary students will attend school at Courtney.

CRUSHED BY PIPE

O'Donnell Gin Foreman Is Killed In Odd Accident

LAMESA — A freak accident at a gin in O'Donnell Tuesday took the life of Xerxes Weatherford, 54. Mr. Weatherford, foreman of the O'Donnell Gin and Seed Co., was dead on arrival at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after being transferred from Medical Arts Hospital here. He was struck on the head by a piece of heavy pipe being saved by his son, Charles Weatherford.

When the pipe separated, one end fractured his skull and inflicted brain injury. The accident occurred at 1:30 p.m. Physicians here advised rushing him to a brain specialist. However, he was dead when the ambulance arrived at 3:30 p.m. in Lubbock. Arrangements are pending at Higginbotham Funeral Home. Surviving Mr. Weatherford are his wife; two daughters, Doris June and Martha Lynn Weatherford, both of the home; one son, Charles, O'Donnell; his mother, Mrs. Lessie Weatherford, Mount Vernon; three sisters, Mrs. Raymy Hammonds, Winters, Mrs. Myrta Dutton, Mount Vernon; a brother, Pat Weatherford, who lives in North Dakota. Mr. Weatherford was born in Mount Vernon and moved to O'Donnell 13 years ago.

Plane Wreck Report False

CAMPBELL RIVER, N.C. (AP) — Reports that the wreckage of a U.S. Neptune bomber and 11 skeletons had been found by a search party Monday were incorrect, the Royal Canadian Air Force said today. The misinterpretation of a brief radio message from the searchers was blamed. In fact, the Air Force said, the message was meant to be a request for information on a crash in the area in 1951. The misunderstanding was blamed on poor radio reception. A twin-engined Neptune with 11 aboard crashed high on Mount McCreaight in 1950. It was found a year later and the bodies removed. A search official in Vancouver said it is possible the wreckage is that of the same plane. The search group was sent in after an airman at Comox RCAF base sighted the wreckage at the 4,000 foot level of the Vancouver Island peak. The search party is expected to reach the scene today.

Austin Rips Up Its Needed Taxes

AUSTIN (AP)—In one marathon session Tuesday the City Council rapped taxes, electric rates, hospital charges, recreation fees and water and sewer connection fees. The council wanted $693,000 a year in new money. The council took under advisement proposed increases in cemetery charges and fees for health, building, plumbing and electrical inspections. These, if adopted, would produce another $54,000. City taxes go up 5 per cent to a new rate of $1.15 per $100 property valuation. Electric rates were increased across the board for residential, commercial and industrial users. The increase will add a maximum of 57 cents a month to residential bills. Water and sewer "tap" fees were generally doubled. Room rates in city-operated Brackneridge Hospital were increased by $1 per day. Increases in recreation fees include higher fees for city swimming pools, tennis courts and golf courses. A new 50 cents a car admission fee was set for Lake Austin Metropolitan Park, northwest of the city, for May through September.

China Starts Cold War Against India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A leading Indian newspaper chain said today that Communist China has declared a cold war against India which is forcing this country to forget about nonalignment. The Indian Express, published in New Delhi, Bombay and Madras, said China's policies since the Tibet revolt last March have frightened her neighbors and alienated her friends. The result, the Indian Express said, is an "agonizing reappraisal" which is bringing Indian foreign policy more closely in line with that of the Western nations. The article, signed by the Express Delhi editor, said the Indian-Red Chinese treaty of coexistence of 1954 is "dead — buried five fathoms deep."

Angry Dixie Demos Condemn Butler For Anti-Revolt Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry Southern Democratic leaders have condemned Party Chairman Paul M. Butler and his plan to deal with any Dixie revolt at the party's 1960 national convention. A spokesman for Butler's office said Tuesday the chairman will ask the National Committee to adopt again the rule that state delegations are admitted to the convention with an understanding that their state Democratic organization will support the candidates nominated. Conceivably, it could be used to bar delegations not committed to support the ticket. Some Southern states have taken steps, by legislation or by action of their state Democratic organizations, to omit the Democratic nominees' names from ballots and to choose uncommitted electors to cast the state's electoral college votes.

Thus, if the state's Democratic organization doesn't like the nominees, it can withhold its support for them in the Electoral College. Should this result in no candidate getting the necessary majority vote in the Electoral College, the election would be thrown into the House of Representatives, where each state has one vote. Southern opposition to Butler's plan developed quickly. Senators Strom Thurmond (D-SC) and Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga) called for Butler's resignation or dismissal, and Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) said some of Butler's recent statements have sounded like talk "calculated at pushing the South out of the party." Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Il) spoke out in favor of the proposal. There was no comment from Senatorial front-runners for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Thurmond, who led the 1948 Dixie Democrats' walkout and became the States Rights party's presidential nominee, told a reporter, "The people of South Carolina are going to vote as they please and no one is going to coerce them—and that goes for Mr. Paul Butler too." Sen. Talmadge said he thought the Sept. 16 meeting of the Democratic National Committee would provide a good opportunity for someone to move that Butler be fired, or for Butler to resign "for the good of the party." Douglas was the first of the Northern Democrats to comment. He said he couldn't see why there should be any row about it. He said it seemed to him that if such an issue causes a real split in the party, "it would indicate they wanted to split anyway."

Weather Tries Hard To Make Tropical Gulf Storm, But Fails

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — A weather disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico struggled hard to grow into a storm today but never made it. The Weather Bureau said a few rain bands became evident shortly after daybreak, one indication that a storm center was attempting to form. By 10 a.m., said the agency, the squally area was only a large flat circulation near Corpus Christi. The Weather Bureau said conditions aloft no longer were favorable for a storm. The squally weather, reported the agency, will move northward about 15 m.p.h. and spread locally heavy rains through most of East Texas and extreme West Louisiana today and tonight. Highest winds expected are 35 m.p.h. The disturbance brought high tides and heavy downpours to coastal regions for two days. Galveston residents became sufficiently concerned to alert Civil Defense forces. More than an inch of rain fell at Galveston and more than two inches in surrounding areas. Some streets flooded. Tides were one to two feet above normal, and the Weather Bureau warned vacationers to stay off Mustang and Padre islands, where beaches were awash in some places. The islands are long, narrow strips of sand extending from southwest of Houston to the mouth of the Rio Grande. "Conditions remain favorable for development of a tropical storm and all interests should watch for later advice," the New Orleans Weather Bureau said in a 4 a.m. advisory. Locally heavy rains were forecast for coastal areas. Some rain clouds moved in ahead of the storm and brought good rains to South, South Central and Southeast Texas. The heaviest reported rainfall Tuesday was at Padre Island, where 4.50 inches fell. Other coastal area rainfall totals Tuesday and today included Corpus Christi 2.77, Houston 2.28, Galveston 1.17, Beaumont 1.26, Richmond 1.69, New Caney 2.00, Palacios 1.21, and Kingsville 1.34. Up to an inch of rain fell over wide sections of Texas as far inland as Dallas, Tyler and Longview. The moisture threatened South Texas cotton, and farmers rushed extra help into the fields to bring in the remainder of the crop, valued at 10 million dollars. Rain was reported early today south of a line from Laredo through Waco toward Oklahoma. Scattered showers also fell in the Panhandle, where partly cloudy skies were reported. During the morning, the main shower activity in the Brownsville area was offshore after 60 inches in 24 hours fell at the weather station. Galveston hasn't seen the sun in five days, with overcast skies, drizzle and rain through the period. Since midnight, Galveston recorded 1.87 inches of rain with more locally heavy rain forecast. Some streets in low lying areas of Galveston were flooded by the almost continuous rain. Dickinson, 30 miles north of Galveston, recorded 2.33 inches. Light rains fell intermittently in Corpus Christi today. Locally heavy rain was predicted.

Aerial Target Falls

Sherman Brewe lifts part of an aerial tow target resembling a bomb that fell from a Navy plane and crashed through the roof of a house he owns at Coronado, California. Ensign Robert C. Wheeler, his wife and two young sons, in the house at the time, escaped injury.

Occupants Unhurt, House Damaged As Target Falls

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The four occupants of a house struck by a Navy aerial target which broke loose from a towing plane escaped injury.

However, the landlord, Sherman Brewe, estimated it will take two men three days to repair the damage.

The 37-pound, bomblike target hit the home occupied by Navy Lt. (jg) Robert C. Wheeler, 24, and his wife and two children Monday. The 9-foot-long target went through the roof and stopped on top of the wall between the kitchen and living room.

Stamps Willed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An inventory of the estate of San Francisco contractor August H. Wilhelm disclosed today he left a stamp collection valued at $100,000 to the Smithsonian Institution. He was a past president of the American Philatelic Society. He died Dec. 8 at 84.

Legion Proposal Would Arm American Patrol Craft

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A proposal for arming American aircraft patrolling near Communist territory was before the American Legion's convention today after approval by its National Security Committee.

Highlight of the day's business session was a talk by Gen. I. L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff. An afternoon program was caused when former President Harry S. Truman canceled his appearance being devoted to action on resolutions.

These included one which would ask the Navy to assign additional patrol units to the North Pacific area to "meet the threat of Soviet activity."

Other resolutions coming before delegates would:

- Set minimum strength of the Army at 900,000 the National Guard at 470,000 and Marine corps at 200,000.
- Substitute selective service for present armed forces recruiting methods, which were termed wasteful.

Poetic Justice

QUERETARO, Mex. (AP)—Ignacio Andrade was in jail on a theft charge and didn't have enough money to pay bail to get out.

Aureliano Saldana was a paymaster for highway workers. He got to drinking Saturday instead of paying the men. He was jailed in the same cell with Andrade.

Andrade searched the sleeping paymaster and took 3,000 pesos ($240), paid his bail with half that amount, and left town.

Murder Charge

HOUSTON (AP)—Mrs. Oceana Louise Esses will be charged with murdering her brother-in-law, Curtis Hatchett, 47, according to homicide Lt. B. Porter. Hatchett died Tuesday night from a bullet wound in the neck.

Crash Is Fatal

AUSTIN (AP)—R. A. Buchanan, 15, Uvalde, died Tuesday of injuries suffered when his car crashed into another one on U.S. 190 near Killeen Monday.

Red China Admits Targets Too High

TOKYO (AP) — China's Communist rulers admitted today that their production targets for 1959 are too high and must be reduced.

The Chinese Communist party's Central Committee said the targets for grain and cotton were based on 1958 production figures which were hugely in error.

Peiping also announced abandonment of its much-trumpeted program of steel production in backyard home furnaces. The Reds claimed the do-it-yourselfers produced three million tons, but the output is generally understood to have been of very poor quality.

The committee made its revisions at a secret meeting Aug. 2-16. A communique summing up the session was broadcast today by the New China News Agency.

Used Wrong Name

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jerry Leon Dake knew a big shot when he saw one.

Dake, 27, an unemployed plumber whose wife is expecting their fourth child, was arrested Tuesday for using Gov. Paul Fannin's name to run up a hefty charge account.

Detective Jim Mitchell quoted Dake, "I saw his picture in the paper and that he was in Cuba and figured he was a big shot. 'But, gosh, I didn't know he was governor. Now it's beginning to worry me.'"

It should, Mitchell agreed. The detective said Dake signed the governor's name to a $553 order at a department store.

Lawyer Exchange With Russia Urged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers today proposed an exchange of visits between American and Soviet lawyers.

In a speech to the American Bar Assn., he said that such exchanges would dramatize the contrast between a free system of government and a regimented Communist system.

"It is my opinion," Rogers said, "that the legal profession should give its support to a carefully planned exchange program of lawyers and judges in order that the Soviets may study our constitutional system and the operation of our courts, and that we be given an opportunity to study the system in effect in the Soviet Union."

Tuesday, after hour long debate, the association accepted a report defending the U.S. Supreme Court in an attempt to balance off a report of six months ago criticizing the court.

But its policy-making group, the House of Delegates, emphasized that neither report, made by separate bar committees, represented an official stand by the ABA. They were merely opinions of the committees which drew them up, it said.

When the House of Delegates met last February at Chicago, it adopted resolutions of its Communist Tactics Committee urging Congress to strengthen laws dealing with internal security.

The same committee, in a separate report on which the House took no action, cited 24 Supreme Court decisions which it said illustrated "how our security has been weakened."

Police Tangle With Jazzman

NEW YORK (AP)—Jazz trumpeter Miles Davis was arrested today after he tangled with police outside Birdland — a well-known Broadway jazz spot where he is appearing.

Police said Davis, a 32-year-old Negro, grappled with a policeman and took his nightstick away before he was blackjacked by a detective who was passing and saw the struggle. Davis was charged with felonious assault and disorderly conduct.

Police said the trouble started shortly after midnight when a policeman told a crowd of about 40 persons outside the night club to move back so they wouldn't block the sidewalk.

Davis, according to police, refused to move, saying he worked at Birdland. Then the patrolman said he would have to arrest him if he continued to disobey the order.

When Davis still refused, the patrolman took his arm to take him to the station, and the trouble started.

Man, Not Religion, For Nomination

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown says it will be the man—and not his religious beliefs—that will have his support at the national Democratic convention next year.

At his news conference Tuesday, the governor denied published reports that he opposes Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) for the presidential nomination because he doesn't want the Catholic issue raised. Both Brown and Kennedy are Roman Catholics.

He said he is not opposing Kennedy "in any shape, form or manner," but he said he does want to keep any religious issue out of the campaign.

In Denver, Colorado Gov. Steve McNichols also denied a report he opposes Kennedy for the same reason. McNichols, too, is a Catholic.

4 Cities Approve Water Bond Issue

ABILENE (AP) — Voters of four West Texas cities overwhelmingly approved Tuesday a $15,050,000 bond issue to build a reservoir on Hubbard Creek about six miles northwest of Breckenridge.

The vote by cities: Abilene 3,296 for, 236 against; Albany 310-39; Anson, 360-1; Breckenridge 1,041-31.

Experts say with the present water supplies of the four cities the new reservoir will take care of water needs for the next 65 years.

Secret Soldiers Awards Approved

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today approved awards to 31 British soldiers who fought a secret war in the Arabian desert.

The airborne task force — 175 men of Britain's crack special Air Service Regiment — flew to the British protectorate of Muscat and Oman last January. Rebels there had seized a seemingly impregnable position atop 10,000-foot Mt. Aldar. They repulsed every attempt by soldiers of the ruling sultan to dislodge them.

The British force flew in from Singapore and defeated the rebels after a four-week campaign.

Mexican Horsemen Invade Texas For Big Horse Show

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A big invasion of Texas by Mexican horsemen is being organized for December to compete in the San Antonio International Horse Show.

Eduardo Grenas, member of the organization committee, said today he hopes Mexico will send six teams. That would involve about 60 horses and riders, and probably would be the largest group the country ever sent to a horse show abroad.

Grenas, co-publisher of the newspaper La Prensa at San Antonio, is here working with a special Mexican committee which will handle organization at this end for the event. He said Chile and Brazil also have been invited to send teams.

La Prensa, he said, is sponsoring the organization of the San Antonio International Horse Show Assn. He said it is in the process of being legally registered.

Other members on the association's organization committee, he said, are Gen. John Gromback, who headed the U.S. delegation to several Olympic games; Col. William Greer and Col. John Russell, two top U.S. Army riders, of Ft. Sam Houston; Dudley Dougherty, also co-publisher of La Prensa; Lauro Izaguirre, Mexican consul general in San Antonio; Harold Scheer, a leading Texas horseman; and Henry Guerra of St. Mary's University.

"One of the objectives of La Prensa," said Grenas, "is to bring Mexico and the United States closer together, and one of the best means is through sports."

"We hope to have two teams entered from the Mexican Army, one from the Charros, a women's team, one from the French Equestrian Club, and one from the Mexican Equestrian Club."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A sharp earthquake was recorded in San Diego at 10:33 Tuesday night. No damage was reported.

Sanity Hearing For Fire Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A sanity hearing is expected this week for a youngster who told police he set fire to an oil company because "I didn't like the people. I didn't like their attitudes."

Officers held John Woods, 13, without charge. Detective G. L. Emmett said he admitted setting fire to the Cato Oil and Grease Co. Monday night.

The fire was the worst here in recent years. Damage in lost crude oil storage tanks, warehouses and tank cars was set at over one million dollars.

Emmett said the boy had received mental treatment at hospitals in Muskogee and Galveston, Tex., and was living with his brother here.

White Thinks Benson Plans Suit For Political Reasons

AUSTIN (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner John White, a frequent critic of Secretary of Agriculture Benson's farm program, says Benson is considering suing Texas for $162,670 to embarrass him politically.

Such a suit would involve administration of the 1953 emergency hay program, White said.

Other suits may be filed in Kansas and southern states where agriculture commissioners oppose Benson's administration, said White, a Democrat and one of the few state officers who opposed President Eisenhower in 1952. He also scratched the Republican ticket in 1956.

White said Benson and U. S. Department of Agriculture officials agreed on the federal-state contract, sent out press releases on its administration and "then they changed the rules on me in the middle of the game."

"This is just a move to embarrass me politically. I imagine they'll pop in with a suit before the first primary in May of 1960 even if they intend only to file it," White said Tuesday.

The turmoil involves a program by which hay was made available in drought stricken areas at the same cost as in non-drought areas through reimbursement of transportation costs to ranchers and farmers.

The contract between the federal government and Texas was signed Nov. 6, 1953. The federal government agreed to advance funds "to defray 50 per cent of the actual transportation costs of hay moved under published tariffs."

The state figured the "actual transportation costs" were the normal rates. When the railroads cut rates by 50 per cent to aid in the emergency program, the state calculated this meant the remaining 50 per cent would be picked up by the federal government.

Under the program which helped feed 1,490,312 head of Texas cattle that year, the federal government spent $527,544 and the state government $185,000.

"The attorneys for the federal department of agriculture misinterpreted the contract. Instead of giving the railroad reduction to the farmers they took it for themselves," White said.

"I have refused to acknowledge their claim. I felt like the money was spent for the ranchers in good faith and rightfully so. I still feel that way...it is nothing but an attempt to harrass my administration."

Legislature Fund, Aged Homes Vetoed

AUSTIN (AP)—Construction of new state quarters for old folks and a million dollar expense fund for lawmakers were major appropriation items vetoed Tuesday by Gov. Price Daniel.

He knocked these items out of the $2,418,000,000 appropriation bill.

Daniel signed the measure with no remarks on its contents, except the items he eliminated. Because of the items vetoed, the state's treasury may show a surplus Aug. 31, 1961. It is now $33,948,626 in the red.

Another item vetoed was $200,000 authorized for the highway department to advertise and attract tourists. Daniel said the department now spends $400,000 and his veto will allow the department "to continue and expand the present tourist travel program."

The Legislature approved the bill Aug. 6.

He vetoed the $1,216,000 appropriation for old folks quarters at Vernon, Kerrville, Austin and other cities, Daniel said "because this appropriation was not requested in the budget submitted; the hospital board does not have the responsibility for seniles; and because the state policy should be to get these unfortunate people in private rest homes near their families rather than making them permanent patients of our hospital system."

The hospital board's request included $6,750,000 for new construction. Former board chairman W. W. Heath told House and Senate committees this money would go to replace the present Confederate Home at Austin. Its seniles would be moved elsewhere. He called the building a fire trap. It's more than 50 years old.

"More than 5,000 of the 14,500 patients in state mental hospitals are merely old, and suffer the illnesses common to the aged," the Legislative Budget Board report said.

Daniel said he vetoed the $1,033,000 legislative expense fund because the $333,000 they took from the cigarette tax fund the last day of the third special session was enough.

Embezzlement Brings Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—A father of four who admitted the theft of $366,000 in 13 months from the check cashing firm for which he worked as a $115 weekly supervisor has been sentenced to 5 to 10 years imprisonment.

Martin J. Kucik, 32, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement in Criminal Court Tuesday. Kucik said he lost $200,000 betting on horse races. He bought eight race horses, invested in real estate and bought an expensive automobile.

He lived in a basement apartment with his wife and four children, one three days old, when he confessed last May 12. The thefts were discovered by the company after Kucik had to go to a hospital.

U.S. Would Sell Goods To Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today it is willing to sell the Soviets a vast array of products displayed at the American exhibition in Moscow. The items range from a house to a screwdriver.

Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller described the offer as a good will gesture. Such a sale presumably also would be good business for Uncle Sam. It would save him the cost of shipping the goods back to the United States.

There was no immediate word whether the Soviets were approached in advance about the proposal, or whether they would be interested.

The offer covers about 1,800 American-made items, including the $200,000 closed circuit color TV unit before which Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Premier Nikita Khrushchev last month held their impromptu debate on the cold war. Also on the list is the medium-price prefabricated house which the Soviets have claimed is much better than most Americans can afford.

Mueller announced the proposal in a special statement which said:

"This trade offer is both a sincere gesture of good will to the Soviet people and a definite opportunity for the Soviet Union and the United States to do business."

The phrasing of the announcement indicated that some American products displayed at the fair will not be made available to the Soviets. However, Commerce Department aides declined to clarify this point.

About 1,000 items covered by the offer normally would require U.S. export licenses before they could be sold to the Soviets.

Mueller said these goods, in this case, can be sold without license if American manufacturers and the Soviet government can make the necessary arrangements.

This seemed to indicate the U.S. government would have no direct role in any sales negotiation. Items offered include all equipment in a model kitchen display, home furnishings, hand and portable tools, radios, a complete home workshop, hi fi equipment, pleasure boats, sporting goods, office equipment, farm machinery, automobiles of all kinds, photographic equipment, motion pictures, air conditioners and fashionable American clothing.

WRITES FOR JOY OF IT

Big Spring Housewife Has Gained Fame With Verses She Has Written

Mrs. Ruby Godwin lives quietly with her husband in a modest rear apartment at 908 Johnson. She is an average middle-aged woman with graying hair — if being a housewife can be said to be average.

The woman, however, has the rare quality of seeing and portraying with words the inexpressible beauty of a world around her. She is a poetess.

"I can't remember when I couldn't write poems; there's more than a hundred I've written. Many have been published in books and several have been set to music," explains Mrs. Godwin.

FROM COLORADO CITY

Raised on a farm near Colorado City, Mrs. Godwin writes verses spontaneously, frequently after poring over old snapshots: "Sweet memories and fondest dreams take me back once more; back to the dear old home I love, with vines around the door."

"I recall how mother dear planted them with gentle hands. To me, she planted more than vines. I know she understands."

Many verses were written and published in the 1940's. The war left its memories, and in an Ode to a Soldier, Mrs. Godwin wrote: "Hi-ya, soldier. Chin up now — our cause is just. We'll win somehow."

"But we all cannot be soldiers. You're not in this alone; think of us, the home front, and the courage we have shown."

Although she only had schooling through the eighth grade, Mrs. Godwin never had trouble with English, or other subjects, for that matter. While still a teenager, she passed a state examination and received a teacher's certificate — which she never used.

Twenty-three years of her life she spent around Breckenridge, a favorite place in her mind today.

"Where a starlight sky is the ceiling, where a rainbow is the bridge, where the river Gonzolus is flowing — That is Breckenridge. Where the heartiest welcome is waiting, where the moon shines down on the ledge, where the largest pecan trees growing — That is Breckenridge. Where folks are contented to linger, like the sun on the western ledge."

"Where they say hello with handshakes — That is Breckenridge."

PROUD OF BOOKS

Although Mrs. Godwin cared little about receiving cash through royalties from her verses, she does take pride in the many volumes which have been given to her for the use of the poems. Practically all her poems are copyrighted, including one song.

Her "Golden Showers" was selected as an entry in the national poetry contest in April, 1941.

"The yellow moonlight comes softly down from heaven tonight like a silken gown."

"It showers the earth with its shimmering spray, and from darkest paths chases shadows away. . . . Despite the many offers to buy her written words, Mrs. Godwin had rather her poetry-writing remain just an activity to fill the long hours of each day."

"No one understands each little smile I wear. No one can ever guess how I force them there. . . . Pretentious without mercy, unheeded is my share; My heart is torn asunder and no one seems to care."

Her husband, Mac, is a member of the security guard patrol at the Capehart project. Mrs. Godwin's father, C. H. Garner, who is a first cousin to Cactus Jack Garner and who helped in rescue operations after the Galveston flood in the early 1900's, lives on a Ranch near Vincent.

Peoms of the Big Spring woman can be found in Spirit of America (Haven Co., 1943; American Sonnets and Lyrics (Artcraft, 1941), My Favorite Poems (Exposition, 1944), Who's Who in Poetry (Faber, 1948), Of America We Sing (Exposition, 19), and The Muse of 1948 (Horizon House, 1943).

Time, Demos Work Against Lid Lifting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time and hard-core Democratic opposition worked today against congressional action this session on President Eisenhower's repeated demand for repeal of the interest rate ceiling on government bonds.

House leaders, however, still left the door open to the chance of passage of legislation raising the interest rate on "E" and "H" Savings Bonds from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 per cent. These are the kinds of bonds bought by individuals.

Eisenhower prodded Congress again Tuesday to act before adjournment on raising gasoline taxes to finance the deficit-ridden highway program and to enact minimum essential housing legislation.

But of greatest importance, he told Congress in a pair of special messages, is action on repeal of the interest rate ceiling to permit orderly management of the record 290-billion-dollar public debt.

With adjournment time nearing, the President is likely to get both a housing bill and highway financing legislation—although not likely to be entirely to his taste.

A billion-dollar compromise housing measure, carrying some of the same but watered-down provisions that led to the veto of an earlier bill, is due to be passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the President just before adjournment.

An increase of a cent a gallon in the gasoline tax for the next 22 months, to provide highway building revenues, has been voted and reaffirmed by the House Ways and Means Committee. The group rejected both a one-year, 1-cent tax increase and Eisenhower's proposed 1 1/2-cent hike for five years. The President indicated, however, that a 1-cent increase would be acceptable. The present tax is 3 cents a gallon.

But key House leaders described chances of interest rate legislation as "very, very remote" in the short time remaining before adjournment.

Some Democrats feel the urgency for passage of interest rate legislation has eased because the Treasury has completed most of its major refinancing for this year.

Although the Ways and Means Committee has refused to reconsider interest rate legislation, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark) and a number of key Democrats are known to be sympathetic to raising Savings Bond rates.

Eisenhower, in Tuesday's appeal to Congress described the 4 1/2 per cent interest ceiling as an "artificial limitation" which forces the Treasury to rely on potentially inflationary short-term borrowing.

The interest ceiling applies only when the Treasury borrows money for five years or more. There is no limit for shorter periods.

In the current tight money market, it is impossible for the Treasury to borrow for five years at 4 1/2 per cent or less.

Segregationist Next Governor Of Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Ross Barnett, 61-year-old lawyer and militant segregationist, will become Mississippi's next governor.

Barnett, who publicly approved the tactics of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus in fighting school integration, pulled to a solid victory over Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin in the Democratic runoff Tuesday.

Unofficial returns from 1,777 of the state's 1,828 precincts today gave Barnett 217,842 votes to 184,170 for Gartin.

Barnett, making segregation a major point, gained voter support which exceeded even his own prediction that he would carry 60 of the 82 counties. With only a handful of precincts out, he trailed in only a dozen.

The veteran campaigner, who succeeded in his third effort to become governor, said today he will work until the Jan. 19 inauguration conferring with other governors on segregation and planning his legislative program on racial and other matters.

"I am going to put forth every effort to organize Southern governors," Barnett said, "to create and crystallize public opinion throughout the nation with reference to our traditions and Southern way of life."

He has advocated a solid Southern front on segregation and bitterly opposed all moderates on racial matters.

As Democratic nominee in this Deep South state, Barnett is assured election. Republicans offer no opposition and the general election is a mere formality to taking office for a four-year term.

Barnett will succeed Gov. J. P. Coleman, who backed Gartin and was accused by Barnett of trying to become a dictator. Barnett also criticized Coleman for inviting the FBI into the investigation of the Mack Parker lynching at Poplarville April 25.

Mississippi law prohibits governors from succeeding themselves and Coleman won first primary election to the state House of Representatives from Choctaw County. The governor and Gartin both strongly denied the dictator charges.

Most of the campaigning was based on such personal exchanges rather than issues.

Both candidates claimed to be the staunchest segregationists and most industry-minded. Each sought to link the other with labor leaders in this state where the big nonunion manpower supply is a major inducement to industry.

British View Ike's Europe Trip As Start Of Peace Move

By ARTHUR GAVSHON LONDON (AP)—The British view President Eisenhower's trip to Europe as the start of one of the greatest peace initiatives undertaken by any American president.

Leaders of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government view the President's meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a chance for Eisenhower to lay the basis for a cold war truce, a live and let live arrangement with the Soviet Union in the H-bomb age.

De Gaulle's ambition to make France a powerful nuclear nation will come out in their talk about the state of the North Atlantic Alliance and De Gaulle's demands that the West back France's Algerian campaign.

Both Macmillan and Eisenhower want a strong France. Probably they will agree to meet De Gaulle's demands as far as they can. But they do not want to implicate themselves in Algeria or seem to surrender to the French President's threats.

GERMAN PROBLEM

Relations with Adenauer involve the long-term problem of an overall German settlement.

Eisenhower and Macmillan know relations with the Soviet Union never will be stable until Germany's future as a united or divided country is agreed on. They also know Adenauer will resist such concessions to the Soviet Union as a ban on West Germany's use of American nuclear weapons. And they are determined to preserve Germany's military links with NATO after Adenauer quits public life — without killing all chance of agreement with the Soviet Union.

Here is a run-down on other problems facing Eisenhower and Macmillan.

1. An East-West summit conference. The Prime Minister still considers such a meeting must be held soon on Berlin and the future of Germany. But he does not intend trying to pin the President down to any date, as he tried to do earlier this year.

2. Berlin and German reunification. The two hope to get the Soviet Union to respect existing Allied rights in the city.

3. Red China's role in the Far East. Special attention will be paid to Peiping's relations with Moscow. The dangerous situation in Laos probably will be the starting point for discussion of Peiping's bid for power and influence throughout Asia. Border troubles that seem to be developing between Red China and India and the powderkeg potential of the Quemoy and Matsu islands also are expected to be taken up.

4. Disarmament. With new East-West negotiations in the offing, the President and the Prime Minister will consider a new approach toward getting small pilot schemes started in arms control and inspection on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

5. Nuclear weapon tests. They will consider how best to provide a new impetus for the slow-moving Geneva negotiations on a test ban. Macmillan intends to press

Strikers Curb Reporters' Car In Texas City

TEXAS CITY (AP)—Men who identified themselves as strikers at the American Oil Co. plant here forced two reporters to the curb and questioned them closely Tuesday.
The reporters are Brad Messer and Marcus Dickey, a husband-wife reporting team for the Galveston News and Tribune.
The Messers had just left the office of American Oil plant manager B. P. Babin after interviewing him.
Miss Dickey said three cars curbed their automobile. One blocked it in front, another behind and a third pulled alongside.
"Hey, buddy. Pull over, we'd like to talk to you," Miss Dickey said one of the men told the reporters. She said she and her husband considered their manner intimidating.
Three men approached the reporters' car, and one asked if they were trying to go to work at the struck plant.
Messer told the men that he was a newspaperman and that he merely sought information.
Miss Dickey asked one man, who thrust his head through the car window, "Are you trying to intimidate us?"
"No, lady," he replied. "We ain't trying to intimidate nobody."
One striker said they simply were trying to protect their jobs. The men then pulled away.
Tensions mounted as a back-to-work movement began in this coastal city.
A group of 30 workers was scheduled to meet tonight to make back-to-work plans. But union sources urged that all union members attend in an effort to overwhelm the numbers of those wishing to return to their jobs.
The committee of 30 is headed by W. Moss, a non-union worker who has not returned to his job following the strike, which began July 1 in a dispute over job classification.
About 1,250 are on strike. They are members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.
Plant management started the back-to-work movement Monday with a letter to employees, telling them to return to work or they will be replaced.

Byrnes Rites On Thursday

Funeral rites for Dennis W. Byrnes have been set for 10 a.m. Thursday in the St. Thomas Catholic Church.
Fr. Francis Beazley will officiate, and interment is to be in Coahoma Cemetery under direction of River Funeral Home.
 pallbearers are Bill Tanner, Albert Wirth, Boone Cramer, Leroy Echols, T. A. Bartlett, and W. M. Hunter.
Byrnes, 67, died Tuesday. He had lived in Coahoma since 1942.

Stevenson Is Winning Fight To Aid Seamen

Hospitalization at last may be possible for veterans of the Merchant Marine service during periods of war.
Ernie Stevenson, who has worked for years toward the goal of having these men included in hospitalization benefits along with veterans, said he had been informed that HR 6769, now in conference committee, makes such provision.
He had letters from Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough and from Rep. George Mahon to the effect that the welfare services bill for the labor department now includes this item.

Two Area Sites Producing Oil; New Locations Staked

New oil was reported at two area sites this morning and locations were spotted in the Texas (Ellenburger) field of Garza County, the Post (Glorietta) field, also in Garza County, and the Rafter Cross (strawn) field in Borden County.
Ralph Lowe No. 2 T. P. Ryan was finished in the Fusselman formation of the Luther Southeast (Siluro-Devonian) pay for 237 barrels of 44.8 gravity oil per day. This Howard County project is 14 miles northeast of Big Spring.
Pan American reports the No. 2 Turnbow flowed 477 barrels of oil in 10 1/2 hours and operator is still testing. This Breedeville field project is Devonian production.
Shell Oil Co. has staked the No. 5-C Slaughter Estate in the Texas (Ellenburger) pool on 640 acres. Harper and Huffman will re-enter and plug back for a test of the Strawn in the Rafter Cross field. It is the No. 1 Miller-Stoker and is six miles northeast of Gall.
Weiser-Brown Oil Co. will test the Glorietta in the Post field at the No. 4 J. S. Boren site. This project will be on 160 acres and seven miles northeast of Justiceburg in Garza County.
Barnes No. 1 Robertson is testing at total depth of 3,790 feet. It is 1,980 from north and 1,650 from east lines, section 20-B-9 EL&RR survey. It is 18 miles north of Post.
Anderson No. 1-FF Miller is running the 8 1/2-inch casing to the total depth of 2,175 feet. This wildcat test for the San Andres is 330 from south and 2,310 from east lines, section 306-H&GN survey.
Anderson No. 1-F Connel is making hole below 8,138 feet in lime and shale. This wildcat location is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, section 4-5-GH&H survey. It is 12 1/2 miles southeast of Post.

Glasscock

U. S. Smelting No. 141-TXL is drilling through lime at 10,420 feet. This wildcat is 4 1/2 miles northwest of Garden City and is 660 from south and west lines, section 41-34-3s, T&P survey.
Shell No. 1 Weyman is digging in lime and shale at 9,146 feet. It is 1,980 from south and 660 from west lines, section 14-36-3s, T&P survey. It is 15 miles northwest of Garden City.

Howard

Ralph Lowe No. 2 T. P. Ryan has been completed for an initial flowing potential of 227 barrels of 4.8 gravity oil in 24 hours. Flow is through a 20-64 inch choke and the tubing pressure is 385 pounds. There is a packer on the casing.
The gas-oil ratio is 950-1 and the top of the pay zone is 9,864 feet. Perforations between 9,864-74 feet were washed with 500 gallons of acid. The total depth is 9,860 feet.
This is a Luther Southeast (Fusselman) pay field. It is 660 from north and 1,320 from east lines, section 34-32-2n, T&P survey. It is 14 miles northeast of Big Spring.
Ralph Lowe No. 2 J. B. Ryan is circulating and waiting on cement. Operator set the 8 1/2-inch casing at the total depth of 3,120 feet. This project is 1,980 from south and east lines, section 34-32-2n, T&P survey.

Martin

Pan American No. 2 Turnbow is still testing perforations between 10,108-194 feet. Operator reports the project flowed 477 barrels of oil in 10 1/2 hours. Bottom of the hole is 11,391 feet. Drillite is 950 from north and 1,300 from west.

Garza

Weiser-Brown Oil Co. has spotted the No. 4 J. S. Boren as a Post (Glorietta) project about seven miles northeast of Justiceburg. On 160 acres, it will go to 2,800 feet with rotary tools. The ground level elevation is 2,357 feet. Drillite is 1,650 from north and 990 from west lines, section 132-5-H&GN survey.
Shell Oil Co. has staked the No. 5-C Slaughter Estate as a Texas (Ellenburger) field project about nine miles south of Post. It will go to 8,500 feet with rotary tools. On 640 acres, it is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, section 33-2-T&NO survey.

Dawson

Forest No. 4 Harris is making hole through lime and shale at 10,755 feet. This Patricia (Fusselman) field project is 3,053 from south and 3,300 from east lines, labor 20, league 267, Moore CSL survey.

Borden

Texaco No. 1 Johnson is drilling through cement at 9,123 feet. This wildcat location is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, section 32-31-5n, T&P survey. It is a mile southwest of Gall.
Bakke No. 1 Williams is drilling in dolomite at the 3,667 foot level. This Pennsylvanian test is 660 from north and west lines, section 22-27, H&TC survey. It is nine miles east of Gall.

Damage Suit Being Tried

Testimony was being heard at noon today in the damage action brought by Helen Wood against William V. Rigby in 118th District Court.
The case, which began at 9 a.m. today, is the final matter on the docket for this week in district court. The panel other than the 12 selected for the trial of this case, have been excused from further duty.
The suit on trial stems from a traffic accident of April 11, 1958 at 8th and Gregg. The plaintiff seeks $3,000 damages from Rigby alleging she suffered injuries in the collision.
She claims she was riding in a car owned and driven by L. D. Shortes at the time of the accident.

Search Made Here For Wanted Man

Big Spring police were kept busy Tuesday checking all local motels and hotels for the man who was arrested at Lubbock late last night.
He was Harry Raymond Pope, ex-convict and listed as one of the FBI's ten most wanted men.
Pope made a telephone call to El Paso from Big Spring Monday and local officers were alerted that he could be staying here. Pope was described as a "walking arsenal" because he usually carries four guns about his person. When arrested at Lubbock, he was apparently unarmed.
Two women accompanying him were also arrested. Federal agents are still seeking another woman thought to be in this area. Pope has been implicated in burglaries, strong arm robberies, and several shootings.

Narcotics Charge

LAREDO (AP)—William L. James, 24, and his wife, DeLorese, of Choctaw, Okla., were arrested Tuesday on charges of possessing narcotics, customs agents said.
U.S. Commissioner Frank Y. Hill ordered them held for a federal grand jury after the pair waived a formal hearing.

Optimists Will Elect Directors At Next Meeting

Two new directors for the Optimists Club will be elected at the next meeting of the organization next Tuesday, according to Charles Lusk, president. He made the announcement at the regular meeting Tuesday.
Carroll Smith, Big Spring attorney, was welcomed to the group as a new member and was named to a committee planning club incorporation. Lindsey Marchbanks, publicity director, was asked to investigate the possibility of a late-summer barbecue for members and families.
For the second year, the club is sending free the Guideposts Magazine to all teachers in the Rannels and Goliad junior high schools.

New Ordinance Planned Regulates Subdivisions

A new ordinance regulating subdivisions within the city and covering an area within five miles of the city limits was offered for the consideration of the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday during the regular meeting.
Bruce Dunn, Director of Public Works, and A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, asked the commissioners to take the ordinance under consideration for possible action at the next regular meeting.
The ordinance sets out engineering requirements for new subdivisions as well as the proper procedure for submitting them to city officials for approval. Primarily, it spells out the various rules and regulations that city officials have been applying to new subdivisions.
The most recent subdivision approvals met all the requirements of this ordinance. They were the Coronado Hills subdivision, on the Country Club site, and the Watson Place No. 2 subdivision, south of the city on the Old Angelo highway.

Garden City Schools To Begin Work On Tuesday

Registration will be held Monday morning for Garden City students, and the term's first day of classes take up Tuesday, announced superintendent B. L. Murphy.
There are 50 to 60 high school students, and a total of 260 Garden City pupils.
Buses will make the routes Monday and return students home about 11 a.m. No lunch will be served during the day of registering, however.
A complete faculty, including seven new teachers, is ready for school to begin. A faculty meeting will be held Sept. 11 at 10:30 a.m. in the high school study.
Among new additions are two coaches, boys football and basketball tutor, Albert Lange, and girls basketball mentor, Clarence McDaniel.
Lange recently finished study and received his masters degree from Southwest Texas State, where he coached the San Marcos Academy for three years. McDaniel has been coaching in the Pecos junior high system for the past three years.
Murphy said that Garden City school was also ready to accept bids for metal siding around the old gymnasium. That building is being used for elementary students but there are some repairs which need to be made.
The superintendent may be called at EL 4-2522; however, he suggests that bidders come in person to be shown the type of repairs desired.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS FOR CLUB'S WATER

The Big Spring Country Club was assured Tuesday of getting water at the proposed new site of the golf course on South Mountain. R. H. Weaver and Maurice Koger appeared before the Big Spring City Commission and requested certain water leases and pump purchases that will give the Country Club an adequate water supply.

Weaver explained to the Commissioners that the Club will have 191.09 acres in the southwest corner of Section 16. He had a plat of the proposed golf course. He requested that the city release its perpetual lease on eight wells in this section, three of which are not considered producing wells.

The City has leased these water rights in the past, for $73 per year but they have not been used to supply city waters since Lake J. B. Thomas has been in use.

On a motion by John Taylor, seconded by Tom South, the Commissioners approved giving up this lease, provided the Country Club will refund the pro-rata share of the lease money for the current year.

The rest of Weaver's request involved the lease purchase of obsolete city pumping equipment, tapping onto the city's water line from Section 33, and leasing eight water wells on city property in Section 17 which adjoins the Country Club property.

The water line from Section 33 is a 12 inch line and is used occasionally by the city, however it has not been used recently. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, pointed out that the pumping equipment is surplus and not being used by the city. He said the pumps had been valued at an estimated $400 each. Regarding the eight wells in Section 17, the city manager explained that they are used to water stock in the area.

On a motion by Paul Kasch and second by South, the Commissioners approved a lease on the eight wells of three dollars per well per month for each one of the Club uses, with a minimum charge of $200 per year. This is a 10 year lease with a five year option. The Country Club is to make water available for stock watering purposes.

The same motion included leasing the pumps to the group for $40 per year for each pump and the ownership of the pumps will go to the Country Club in 10 years.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, in behalf of his brother, President Eisenhower, and Mayor Richard J. Daley, will pronounce the official opening of the games as a friendship torch, carried from Mexico City, touches off a huge gas-powered torch atop the Soldier Field scoreboard.

The friendship torch, an electronic device, has been carried 2,400 miles from Mexico City — scene of the last Pan Am Games in 1955 — by a relay of Boy Scouts.

For the 20-sport competition which begins Friday, the host U.S. squad has the biggest entry, 406, and by far its most fearsome in the comparatively brief history of the games.

Other countries entered are Argentina, Bahamas, Bermuda, Brazil, British Guiana, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Dutch Guiana, El Salvador, Ecuador, Guatemala, Mexico, Netherlands, Antilles, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Puerto Rico, Uruguay, Venezuela, and British West Indies.

WEBB, LOCAL TENNIS TEAM ARE ALL EVEN AFTER FOUR MATCHES

A Webb tennis team is all even with a civilian contingent led by Harry Jordan after four singles matches played at the City Park Tuesday afternoon.

Singles play will be completed today while doubles competition is scheduled for Thursday.

In matches yesterday, Capt. James Shattuck defeated Jordan, 6-2, 6-2. Lt. John Greenwalt lost to Jerry Caddell by default; Robert Stripling turned back Capt. Curtis Westphal, 6-3, 6-3; and Capt.

A. G. Boughton decked Vincent Friedewald, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Today at 5:30 p.m., Lt. Don Hardeu opposes J. Glickman and Lt. Dick Finley opposes Barton Grooms while at 6:30 p.m. Lt. John Deig tries Frank Hardesty and A.L.C. Hugh McCauley takes on Jerry Buie.

Thursday's double pairings include:

5:30 p.m. — Shattuck-Greenwalt vs. Caddell-Jordan; Westphal-Boughton vs. Stripling-Glickman

6:30 p.m. — Hardeu-Finley vs. Friedewald-Grooms; Deig McCauley vs. Hardesty-Buie.

Army Of Athletes Poised To Open Chicago Games

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP) — An athletic army of 2,152 from 24 countries in the Western Hemisphere was poised to launch the third Pan American Games after Thursday's dramatic opening ceremonies.

In oppressive heat which wilted even the Latin American athletes, the biggest international sports event ever held in this country awaited traditional opening day festivities in mammoth Soldier Field.

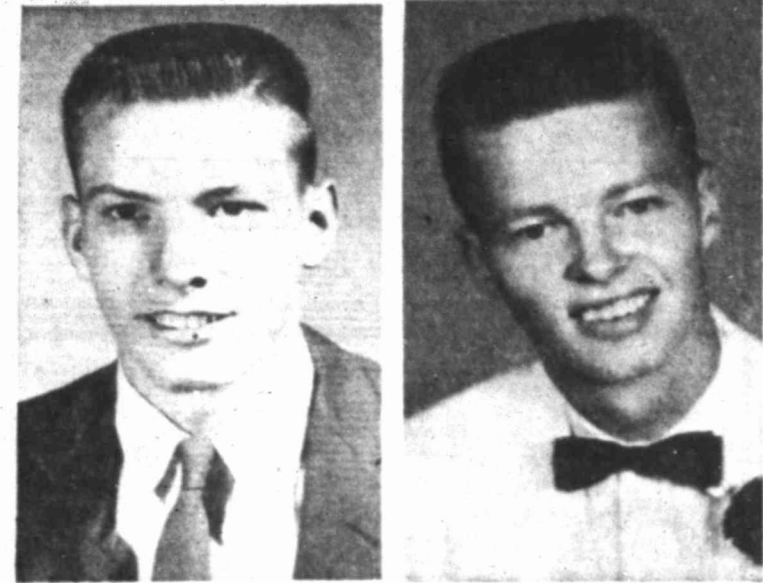

These include a 24-gun salute, one blast for each nation entered; a parade of athletes; and the release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship among nations.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, in behalf of his brother, President Eisenhower, and Mayor Richard J. Daley, will pronounce the official opening of the games as a friendship torch, carried from Mexico City, touches off a huge gas-powered torch atop the Soldier Field scoreboard.

Hunters, Fishermen Must Respect Tougher Statutes

AUSTIN (SC) — A new trespass law will be effective in Texas October 14, it has been announced by the assistant secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The law which is covered in HD 36, will become effective without the signature of the governor.

It provides penalties of up to 30 days in jail and a $50 fine and forfeiture of hunting or fishing licenses for a period of three years, upon conviction.

The law makes it illegal for any person to hunt, fish or camp on the enclosed property of another person without the consent of the owner or other person in authority.

The new law is enforceable by any peace officer and arrests may be made without a warrant.

"The trespass problem is a major one in the protection of wildlife," the secretary said. "Persons who climb fences to illegally hunt on the property of others don't usually regard either the season or the bag limit. As a result, prosecutions have been heavy.

"Under the new law, however, enforcement of the trespass law is the work of peace enforcement officers, which preclude the game warden. Now when the game warden finds a poacher the only thing he can do is to notify the landowner. The landowner then can make a complaint and cause the arrest to be made by a peace officer."

George Creagh is Low in Tourney

George Creagh and James Lee Underwood fired 66's in the weekly putting tournament at the Big Spring Country Club last night, after which Creagh won the play-off.

A four-way deadlock for third place occurred, after which John Pool won the playoff and R. S. (Red) McCullah finished fourth.

Those two shot 67's, along with Daryle Hohertz and Eli McCormb. In women's play, Betty Jones toured the course in 74 to grab off first place while Ann McCormb had a 76, good for second place. Jane Jones and Virginia Pickett had 82's for a third place tie and Mrs. Jones prevailed in the playoff.

In all, 22 players took part in the fun.

Cheek Records 274 In Play

Bill Cheek is the only one of 17 local players bidding for spots on the local Hall and Bennett Trophy team which has finished the required 72 holes of play.

Cheek put together a 274 for his eight rounds and appears a likely starter in the matches.

Bobby Wright, who didn't compete in the matches in 1958, appears a lead pipe cinch to appear in the tests this year. Wright has completed 54 holes of play and has rounds of 70-70-71 to show for his efforts. Par at the Country Club is 72.

R. S. (Red) McCullah is captain of the local team and hopes to be able to name his squad in the next few days.

WHITE SOX MAINTAIN EDGE IN SCRAMBLE

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, fighting frantically to keep the American League lead, did it again Tuesday night.

They were down 4-2 with one out in the ninth and hitless since the fourth inning while second-place Cleveland's seventh straight victory blazed on the scoreboard.

Then whoops!

Four consecutive singles gave 'em two runs and a tie in the ninth, and with two out in the 10th, a walk and Billy Goodman's double beat Boston 5-4, retaining Chicago's two-game edge over the Indians.

It was the White Sox' 30th victory in 38 one-run decisions, their 11th in 13 extra-inning games and the 20th game they've won in the final inning.

The Indians matched their longest winning streak of the season by whipping New York 6-3 as Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with two homers.

Kansas City beat Baltimore 6-5, and Washington defeated Detroit 3-1.

The White Sox, blowing a 2-1 lead when Frank Malzone tagged starter Dick Donovan for a two-run homer in the fourth, had only four hits off Boston's Frank Sullivan until the ninth. They chased the big right-hander when Al Smith got a bad-hop hit and Norm

BILLY GOODMAN

Cash, whose third homer had tied it 1-1 in the second, singled.

Mike Fornieles (3-3) came on for the Red Sox and gave up RBI singles by Jim Rivera and pinch hitter Johnny Romano that tied it.

Turk Lown, following reliever Gerry Staley, collected a 9-2 record for the Sox with a hitless 10th.

The Indians, out-hit 12-6, put it away against Whitey Ford (13-7) with four runs in the first on Vic Power's lead-off 10th homer, two walks and Colavito's tie-breaking three-run shot. Rocky unloADED a solo home run in the fifth—bying Washington's Harman Killebrew and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs for the major league lead with 37. That made it a breeze for Cal McLish (16-6).

Two runs in the seventh, with Dick Williams' single scoring the clincher, brought the A's from behind against the Orioles, who blew a 4-0 lead. Billy Loos (4-5) lost it and John Tostitsos (3-2) was the winner.

Killebrew's double and Ken Aspromonte's single gave the Senators a 2-0 lead in the fourth against Loner Paul Foytack (12-11). Pete Ramos (12-15) won it.

Roy Harris Winner But Crowd Unhappy

HOUSTON (AP)—A crowd of 8,000 was displeased with the manner in which Roy Harris, the No. 6 heavyweight contender, defeated Joe Bygraves, the former British champion, Tuesday night.

The Cut and Shoot school teacher, seeking another chance at the world title, took a close but unanimous 10-round decision over the Britisher who wore a bowler and carried an umbrella cane as he reported to the Sam Houston Coliseum for the fight.

The crowd paid a gate of about $25,000 and saw little more than infighting and counter punches.

Both fighters heard a boos every round and referee Ernie Taylor spent a busy evening breaking clinches.

Both fighters agreed very few solid punches were landed.

Purported to be a good body puncher, Bygraves made few efforts to connect. The usual Harris tactics of lunge, punch and clinch had little success.

Taylor had Harris leading, 97-96. Judges Bill Cornelius and Jimmy Webb had cards of 98-94. The Associated Press scored it 98-96.

Bygraves slipped and his right knee hit the canvas in the sixth round in the nearest thing to a knockdown. He had taken a left to the head but was up quickly.

The big Negro thought Taylor should have started a count, however, and he took another left before the referee motioned him to continue the fight.

A butt from the head of Bygraves cut Harris' chin in the fifth. His seconds, including manager Lou Viscusi, had no trouble stopping the bleeding after the round and the cut caused no apparent trouble.

The victory ran Harris' record to 28-1. The only loss was last year's technical knockout in a title fight with former champion Floyd Patterson.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Of the hundreds of boys who will be playing varsity football in the Southwest Conference this fall, only 17 fall from District 2-AAAA schools.

SMU will make use of the talents of six of the former 2-AAAA regulars, Rice four, Texas three, Baylor three and TCU one only. Texas A&M did not recruit anyone from this district who will be eligible for varsity ball this year.

When the Rice Institute players rib the ex-Big Spring line star, Jerry Graves, they refer to him as "Bird Legs" because of his relatively small underpinings.

Jerry slumped to the No. 4 spot at Rice early last fall but fought his way back to the No. 2 spot late in the campaign and now wants to have a big senior campaign. He is the best of his class competition when Charles Pollard, 293 pounder from Henderson, was moved back to end.

Boyd King of Abilene, the No. 1 pivot man for the Owls last fall, is back. Jim Stroud of Crosbyville and two youngsters from the freshman unit, Larry Anthony of Lamesa (up to 230 pounds now) and the 220-pound John Cornett of Alice are others contending for the job.

The situation is so promising at center for the Owls that Anthony and Cornett could be moved to other positions in the line.

Rice has led the Southwest Conference in home football attendance for each of the past three seasons while Texas proved the No. 1 home attraction for the three years preceding the beginning of the Owls' reign.

DeWitt Weaver's Texas Tech gridders will meet Tulane in Lubbock in 1960 and Boston College there the following year.

Look for Willie Gallimore, the great halfback of the Chicago Bears, to be a pass target, much more this season than last. The Bears have decided to make better use of his quickness and now Gallimore became a favorite with local TV audiences last year and will be seen a number of times this year by area video fans.

The Lackland Field softball team which won the Air Training Command's Southern District championship here last week proceeded to the title of the entire ATC and then wound up fourth in the World Wide Air Force tournament.

Jerry Carter, manager of the San Antonio team, thinks his boys might have won the world title had not one of his ace pitchers been incapacitated shortly before the tourney.

Lackland played 57 games this year before it ever came to the district tournament at Webb.

Buddy Travis, the HCJC cage mentor, has his officials lined up for all the home games of his Hawks plus the Christmas week tournament. Most of the whistle-blowers he'll use have been seen here before.

Here's the way he's assigned them:

Nov. 30—Pete Cressy and Glen Seibo; Dec. 5—Cressy and Pete Cook; Dec. 15—Larry Mildren and Jack Stewart; Dec. 20—Mullins and Sullivan; Jan. 12—Cressy and Roy Peden; Jan. 15—Jim Scott and Lou Turlo; Feb. 5—Cressy and Peden; Feb. 15—Mildren and Stewart; Feb. 25—Scott and Turlo.

He hasn't yet assigned officials for the Texas Junior College Conference state meet to be held here early in March but anticipates no trouble finding a competent team, because most of the clubs will have ended their campaigns by then. He'd like to bring in Steve Gergini, an Amarillo arbiter with a rather flamboyant style, for that meet.

Incidentally, HCJC will probably have another season ticket drive next season, season pastebord to all home games of the Hawks last year, exclusive of the tournament, sold for the ridiculously low price of $2.

Gold Dust Fellows Buoy Hopes Of Los Angeles

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, the gold dust guys of the Dodgers' past pennants, have joined Los Angeles back into consciousness in the National League scramble for the flag.

After dropping three in a row at Pittsburgh and skidding to third, the Dodgers now have taken two in a row at Philadelphia. And of their 13 runs in the two games, Snider and Hodges have driven in nine.

They combined for three runs as each rapped his 21st homer Tuesday night in a 5-2 victory over the last-place Phils.

That left the Dodgers within 3 1/2 games of first-place San Francisco. The Giants walloped fourth-place Pittsburgh 12-5 as southpaw Johnny Antonelli won his 18th—and top total in the majors.

Third place Milwaukee, four games back, went 10 innings before beating St. Louis 3-1. Chicago's Cubs tied Cincinnati for fifth, beating the Reds 8-6.

In the American League, Chicago's first-place White Sox beat Boston 5-4 in 10 innings. The Cleveland Indians defeated New York 6-3. Kansas City beat Baltimore 6-5 and Washington defeated Detroit 3-1.

Wally Moon had three of the Dodgers' nine hits off loser Robin Roberts (11-14), ripping the first of his two doubles ahead of Snider's first-inning homer. It was Duke's 352nd, breaking a tie with Ralph King for third on the all-time NL list behind Mel Ott (511) and Stan Musial (409).

Hodges' homer was a solo shot for a 4-1 lead in the fourth. That made it a breeze for southpaw Johnny Podres (12-7). He gave up only six hits, one Harry Anderson's homer, but needed Larry Sherry's relief in the eighth.

Antonelli drove in three runs, two with his second homer, as the Giants collected 13 hits off loser Ron Kline (8-13) and four relievers. Daryl Spencer had three hits, one a homer, for the Giants, who scored seven runs in the last three innings.

Two American League castoffs saved it for the Braves. Shut out on seven hits by Bob Gibson (1-3), the Braves tied it in the ninth when pinch hitter Mickey Vernon walked and Ray Boone hit a two-out pinch single. A double by Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock's single, the third hit for both, broke the tie in the 10th.

HIS JOB IS OVER

Dempsey Planning To Depart Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—"My task has been fulfilled. I came into the picture for the sake of boxing. Now they can get on with the details."

(This was Jack Dempsey talking. The old Manassa Mauler moved into the feud-ridden Rosensohn Enterprises, flew to Sweden and in just three days had heavy-weight champion Ingemar Johansson's signature on a return-bout contract with Floyd Patterson.

Dempsey and his party were due back here today.

"We're very satisfied, all of us," continued Dempsey. "There was a nice atmosphere in Göteborg (Johansson's home town). Ingemar had made a great contribution to boxing. There was a misunderstanding and it's settled now."

Dempsey, who was named promotional director of Rosensohn Enterprises a week ago, may have a heavy hand in the promotion of the fight.

"We haven't decided on the site or date yet," said Dempsey. "In fact, we haven't ruled out New York. A lot depends on the investigation of the first fight."

The promoter's license of the group has been suspended in New York because of the internal bickering and an article former Presi-

CHARLESTON IS OUT OF TITLE PICTURE

By The Associated Press

A fourth team has dropped out of title contention in the American Association. The Charleston Senators lost their chance by losing 4-2 to Fort Worth Tuesday night.

The Dallas Rangers, Denver Bears and Houston Buffs already were out of the running, mathematically.

Louisville scored a 5-4 decision over Dallas in 13 innings, and Denver went 12 innings to nip Omaha 6-5. Indianapolis stomped Houston 9-0. Minneapolis at St. Paul was rained out.

A scratch hit by Seth Morehead started Fort Worth off in the third inning. Three singles, a walk and another single brought in all four runs.

Casey Wise cracked a single with two men out in the 13th inning at Louisville to score the decisive run. It was Jim Tugerson's first pitch and his 12th loss of the season.

Shutout pitching by Tom Quarters was too much for Houston, although he gave up seven hits. Indianapolis played errorless ball and doubles played cut down three base runners.

Gene Fullmer Bars Gates To Public

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gene Fullmer pulled a big surprise as he went behind locked doors for some secret sparring in his preparations for Friday night's NAA world middleweight title fight against Carmen Basilio.

"We just had a few things we wanted to work on," declared Gene's manager Marv Jensen.

The only report from the drill was the sound of boxing.

Cleveland's Aerial Game Has Coach Brown Worried

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Brown, the perfectionist coach of the Cleveland Browns, has a gnawing problem that's likely to put a row of furrows across his brow even before the National Football League season starts.

After two exhibition losses in which the Browns' aerial attack floundered, the master manipulator stated unequivocally that he did not think either Jim Noinowski or Milt Plum was capable of leading the Browns in championship fashion.

Pessimistic Paul put it this way after the Browns had lost to Detroit 9-3:

"I could always see rays of hope in the past; now I see none."

Brown has been looking for "his type" of quarterback since the great Otto Graham made his second retirement final in 1956. Noinowski, a second-year man who played his college ball at Michigan State, was thought to be the likely successor and had replaced the veteran coach in the club's workouts.

Then came the first two pre-season outings and losses to Pittsburgh, 34-20, and the Lions.

"I thought I had a rebuilding job completed," moaned Paul, "but now I have to begin over again. It is that bad."

The Philadelphia Eagles dipped into the trade mart Tuesday and grabbed defensive halfback Jimmy Carr from the Colts in exchange for a future draft choice.

Goodman Sure He Was Sick

CHICAGO (AP)—Billy Goodman, the latest hero in the Chicago White Sox drive for the American League pennant, nearly called it quits several weeks ago because he feared he was going to have a heart attack.

"I had talked to my wife about it and was ready to give up," said Goodman after he had doubled her in a winning run in Chicago's 5-4 victory over Boston in 10 innings Tuesday.

"I was having pains in my chest and down through my left arm," said Goodman. "I was convinced I was going to have a heart attack. So I thought I would call it quits."

Worst-Kept Secret Will Be Revealed

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the worst-kept secrets in tennis was to be let out of the bag today in the draw for the Davis Cup challenge round.

For weeks, both Perry Jones, the U.S. captain, and Harry Hopman, Australian pilot, have declined to name the makeup of their teams for the event starting Friday at Forest Hills. But if anyone other than Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay is named for the American singles assignments or Neale Fraser and Roy Laver for the Australians, it would come as the shock of the year.

Likewise, Olmedo and Earl Buchholz are regarded as certain favorites to carry the U.S. hopes in doubles while Fraser is expected to team with Roy Emerson for Australia.

The first two singles matches will be played Friday at the West Side Tennis Club. On Saturday, it will be the doubles and on Sunday the final two singles.

Gene Fullmer Bars Gates To Public

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gene Fullmer pulled a big surprise as he went behind locked doors for some secret sparring in his preparations for Friday night's NAA world middleweight title fight against Carmen Basilio.

"We just had a few things we wanted to work on," declared Gene's manager Marv Jensen.

The only report from the drill was the sound of boxing.

Joanne Goodwin Sensation In Women's Amateur Meet

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—When they say "watch out for Joanne" at the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship, they can no longer tell whether they mean the big one with the big "A" or the little one with the little "a."

Earlier in the week it would have been a cinch the golfing clan was referring in awe to JoAnne Gunderson, the husky strawberry blonde from Kirkland, Wash. After all, the 20-year-old Miss Gunderson won the National Women's title in 1947 and she came here from victory in the Western Amateur and a noteworthy tie for second against the pros in the Western Open.

But now Joanne Goodwin is the talk around Congressional Country Club.

This Joanne, a slight 23-year-old from Haverhill, Mass., has turned as much heads at the breeding summer sun on Congressional's 6,457-yard, par 74 tournament for 28 holes in winning her first two matches. Miss Goodwin has burned three strokes

QBC's Membership Drive Going Well, Club Is Told

At Milch, athletic director at the local high school, briefly touched on plans for the 1959 Big Spring football season in a talk made before members of the Quarterback Club in the high school auditorium. An estimated 25 people were present.

Plans for the Sept. 3 barbecue honoring the coaches, players and their dates were discussed. It was decided to wait until next Tuesday night's convalesce before informing the caterers how many to expect at the barbecue.

Sale of both membership and barbecue tickets is proceeding well, QBC co-captain Joe Connally revealed. Cheer leaders will lend their support to the drive by selling tickets downtown Saturday morning.

Milch issued an open invitation to all fans to watch the daily practice of the gridgers.

It was also voted to give the gridgers and their dates a party after every home game this fall.

The first party will take place in Milch's home the night of Sept. 11, following the San Antonio Edison engagement.

Connally stated the club finished with a balance of $409.29 after the last school year. That money, he added, will be used to promote a bigger and better program this year.

Texas Teams Get In Only 1 Game

By The Associated Press

A gathering Gulf storm sent rain to South Texas Tuesday and the Texas League got only one game in the books.

San Antonio, fighting for a playoff spot, defeated Amarillo 8-4 and moved a game and a half ahead of the challenging fifth-place Gold Sox.

Tulsa and Corpus Christi and Austin at Victoria were postponed and both planned a doubleheader Wednesday, weather permitting.

San Antonio sewed up Monday night's game with a five-run fourth inning, which knocked starter Art Quirk off the pitcher's mound and gave him his fourth loss.

Alpine Increases Lead In League

By The Associated Press

It was the same old story in the Sophomore League Tuesday night as Alpine, in front of the South Division, took a doubleheader to stretch its lead to 31 games.

The Cowboys however, shading Midland 10-9 and 3-2.

Plainsville defeated the North Division leader, Carlsbad, 5-4. Artesia slammed Hobbs 5-1 and Odessa slaughtered Roswell 9-1.

The Cowboys came from behind in both games of the double triumph at Alpine. Charles Schilling and Archie Skeen were the hitting standouts for the Cowboys.

Schilling drove home the winning run in the first game and forced in the winning run in the nightcap when Walt Norley hit him with a pitched ball with the bases jammed. Skeen tied the first game with a two-run homer.

Hensley Faith Pays Dividends

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC)—This is the story of how one man, and his dream race have caused a revolution in one phase of racing, the running of Quarter Horses.

The man is Gene Hensley, director of racing at Ruidoso Downs, and his dream race is the first annual running of the All-American Futurity for Quarter Horses to be run on Labor Day with a purse that will now exceed $125,000.

This race was started in the winter of 1957, when the entrants were young foals and has completely changed values in the quarter horse world. Up until then quarter horse racing was on the up grade, but this race with its huge purse has given Western horsemen something to dream about. As a result, the value of good running quarter horse mares and stallions has doubled and tripled.

Carl Mercer, Ada, Okla., is the man who probably helped Hensley more than any other and also was a pioneer in introducing quarter horse racing to California. Mercer, a prominent manufacturer, himself says, "I have never seen anything increase in value like a good quarter horse stable, even in these inflated times."

This opinion was echoed by A. B. Green of Purcell, Okla., who took to racing as a hobby and has seen it develop into a second business. Green probably owns the outstanding stable of the best bred young horses in the county today.

The last two years have seen the expansion of every major quarter horse stable in the Southwest, plus the addition of many new ones.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ken Boyer, an old pro at 28, the St. Louis Cardinals' first team captain since Red Schoendienst and the club's only home run threat—is one man you can't blame for his team's seventh place position.

Ken is one of the top five players in the National League," said Manager Solly Hemus. "He is the quiet type of leader and the other players look to him to take charge."

"That's why I decided to name him captain."

In his last 24 games, Boyer was held hitless in only one game. He batted an even .400 over that stretch and his 38 hits went for 57 bases, giving him a .600 slugging percentage.

Ken's batting average is .318, best of his five seasons in the majors. He leads the Cards with 23 homers and 75 rbi's.

Stitch, a 26-year-old Negro, has won his last seven fights in his home town here. His 21-5 record has earned him the National Boxing Assn. No. 2 spot.

Rodriguez, a 22-year-old Cuban, has won 21 fights with one no-contest. He is ranked seventh.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1959 SEC. B

Mitchell County FM Road Construction Under Way

Work is starting on the construction of 8.3 miles of FM 2183 in southwestern Mitchell County and extending over into southeast Howard.

The road will begin at a point 24 miles southwest of Colorado City and will go westward through the Hyman community and to a juncture with FM 821 (the oilfield road) in Howard County.

Fences are virtually all moved back and the way cleared for grading, structures, base and ultimately surfacing. Completion, except for the final course of asphalt topping, which will be deferred until next spring, is scheduled for Dec. 5, Cage Bros. of San Antonio is the contractor on the job.

Ben Wilkinson, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department at Colorado City, said that traffic would be routed through the job during construction. However, he cautioned motorists to be extremely cautious as the road will be heavily travelled by large highway construction equipment. He urged cooperation in observing all signs and signals in the construction area.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Driving Caution Urged By Police

The re-opening of school calls for renewed caution by Big Spring motorists, Chief of Police C. L. Rogers said this morning.

And students can help the traffic problem by being extra careful on their bicycles and motor scooters, the chief added.

Rogers called on all Big Springers to drive extra careful during school hours and to give school children the right of way. He pointed out that the speed limit near any school is 20 miles per hour. However, the motorist should pace the speed of his car to the traffic conditions.

"If youngsters are crowding into the streets or along the curbing, give them the benefit of the doubt," he said. The police department would like to have an accident free city during the coming school year.

Some of the responsibility belongs to the youngsters too, the chief explained. Bicycle riders must obey all the traffic signals and signal stops and turns. They should ride in single file on the right-hand side of the street at all times, and not against traffic, he warned.

These same rules apply to motor scooter operators, Rogers said. A youngster owning a motor scooter must have a driver's license and obey the same rules as an automobile.

Rogers pointed out that it is illegal to ride double on a motor scooter unless the scooter is equipped to carry two passengers. The traffic division has been checking motor scooters in Big Spring and scooter owners will be fined for riding double when the vehicle is not equipped to carry two persons.

Bicycles and motor scooters should be checked over by a competent mechanic before school starts, Rogers said. This will insure that the brakes, lights and signaling devices are working properly and that the vehicle is safe for school travel.

An accident last week involving a bicycle rider is one example of negligence on the part of the youngster. "Happily, the lad was not harmed," Rogers said. But extra care is necessary by both adult motorists and student bike and scooter riders, if Big Spring is to have an accident-free school year.

Starfighter Ties Traffic

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force's supersonic Starfighter created a traffic jam in its Canadian debut on the ground.

The sleek snub-nosed jet was flown from Dayton, Ohio, for display at the Canadian National Exhibition. Then the trouble began.

To escape traffic, the plane was to be towed long before dawn Tuesday from Malton Airport to the fairgrounds, a 20-mile run.

First the police escort arrived late. Then it was discovered the million-dollar jet was too big to get through the airport gate.

A major ordered the wing tanks removed and sent a sergeant for a tool kit. He returned with a locked kit but without the key. A policeman came to the aid of the military, producing an ax to break open the box.

The delayed start sent the jet into heavy traffic and a real jam developed. Hundreds of motorists tagged behind the supersonic slowpoke. Then an overturned truck blocked the highway, forcing the caravan to detour.

The pride of the Air Force finally made it to the exhibition—late but undamaged.

The Canadian air force also is adopting the Starfighter for use as a swift interceptor of enemy planes and missiles.

Summerfield inspect a tiny portion of the piles of clippings from newspapers publicizing and supporting a move to rid the mails of obscene and pornographic material. Sen. Yarborough has been one of the leaders in the campaign. Summerfield urged the public to inform local postmasters of the receipt of obscene material of any description through the mails.

When Doctors Sing, The Telephone Rings

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The MD Chorus here is always in demand, but not always to sing.

Made up entirely of doctors, it is thought to be the only singing group of its kind in the world.

Professional demands made rehearsals haphazard, says Dr. W. J. Lewis, director. The phone rings constantly and it's rare when all the doctors present for the start of a rehearsal are there at the close.

Babies, they realize, can't wait for the last verse of "Carolina in the Morning."

But so far the singing doctors have been able to finish all their programs. They've given about four a year since early 1958.

"We limit our appearances because we're in this purely for relaxation," says Dr. Lewis.

The idea came from the local medical association's active hobby committee, which also has promoted an art club and a variety of projects from woodworking (110 doctors make furniture) to needlepoint.

The chorus has about 35 members, give or take a few emergency calls, and all songs are memorized. Welsh airs, show tunes, college songs and novelties are the specialties. Dr. Lewis, a pianist, writes many of the arrangements.

Physical Check Is Recommended For Youngsters

If you have a youngster entering school for the first time this year, school officials urge a complete check-up.

The examination is recommended to prepare the child for doing his best work. Any physical deficiency the child may have will thus be discovered before it has a chance to handicap him in his school work.

A smallpox vaccination is required for entrance. Proof of the vaccinations must be presented.

Other vaccinations such as those for whooping cough, diphtheria, typhoid, scarlet fever and polio are also advised as precautionary measures.

A Devotional For Today

Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. (Matthew 5:4.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we come asking that Thou wilt ever be near to comfort our hearts in our sorrow. Grant that strength and grace be given to keep us close to Thee. In the name of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From The 'Upper Room')

The Age Of Electricity

The Atomic Age is only beginning, but the Electric Age is just now reaching full bloom.

New York City late Sunday night had its fourth power failure in seven days, thanks to a combination of circumstances. The first circumstance was a heatwave of almost unprecedented severity. This brought about the use of air conditioning on a scale never seen in the big town before. Result: the overburdened power plants in many parts of town went down.

It takes something like this to remind us how much our modern civilization depends on electricity. The rise of consumption of electric current in the postwar years has been terrific. Air conditioning and industrial uses account for much of this, but the great American household kitchen isn't far behind.

Household gadgets run by electricity have multiplied like rabbits, and something new turns up almost every week. The same is true of industry. We would hesitate to guess how many electric motors we have in this plant, but they have increased tremendously; and the same is true of any manufacturing plant — which is what a printshop is — you could mention.

This expansion of electric power has added immeasurably to the comfort and convenience of the household and to the expansion of industrial activity and production.

Another big factor in the rise of the power load is the spread of electric power to almost every rural area of the United States. Like urban industry, agriculture is rapidly becoming electrified.

Eventually the Atomic Age and the Age of Electricity must merge in the holy bonds of matrimony — inescapably. Nuclear energy is the only source of power that can keep up with the demands of expansion, since plants require much smaller operating space and eventually will become much cheaper than conventional fuels and water power to develop and maintain.

For years and perhaps decades the end product of atomic power will be electric energy flowing from central generating plants in the old familiar way. Shorter cuts may be developed, but for the immediate future the intermediary between the atomic pile and the home or factory electric socket will be James Watt's useful discovery — steam.

Meantime, the growing cities of America may experience occasional or chronic power shortages such as New York City passed through last week.

Calculated Risks Of Politics

Governor Nelson Rockefeller has said, publicly with considerable emphasis, that he has no interest in a possible nomination for vice president on the Republican ticket with Richard Nixon as the principal.

This is more or less standard practice among aspirants. Few men have openly sought the second spot, at least in the early stages before party plans and public interest began to jell. However, the second spot has gone to first-spot aspirants in the final convention showdown.

As of the moment, Nixon and Rockefeller happen to be the most conspicuous mentioned for the GOP nomination. Each has pulled off a spectacular exploit not calculated to hurt his chances — Nixon with the journey to the Soviet Union, and Rockefeller as father of the bridegroom in a romantic international marriage.

As of the moment, the presidential chances of neither was harmed in the least by his exploit — the first in the legitimate furtherance of our foreign policy, and the latter as a sort of cupbearer to Grand.

We would guess Mr. R.'s role as cupbearer to Cupid would be of a more enduring nature than Mr. N.'s role as olive-branch bearer to the Kremlin.

The latter's role is filled with ifs and ands, and lined with pitfalls. If the great peace effort of 1955 bears worthwhile and enduring fruit, Richard Nixon is practically a shoo-in for the GOP presidential nomination. If on the other hand it turns into a dead sea apple, his name will be mud. Hobnobbing with Khrushchev isn't the only calculated risk the administration is taking. For his conspicuous part in it, Dick Nixon is putting his neck in a political noose if the results turn out to be sour.

So, will Nikita Khrushchev indirectly pick the 1960 GOP presidential nominee? He can easily do so by making a shambles of the peace effort or by making the peace effort look good.

The political fortunes of Richard Nixon, or whoever the party may nominate in 1960, may rest on the uncertain temper and iron whisks of N. Khrushchev. Obviously a calculated risk of unpredictable outcome.

David Lawrence For Value Received

WASHINGTON — When the labor union bosses raise money to contribute to the campaigns of members of Congress, do most of those who are elected disregard their personal convictions on the merits of proposed laws and do the bidding of the groups that furnished the funds?

This issue seems to have been projected by James B. Carey, one of the top leaders of the AFL-CIO, whose recent letter to members of Congress has caused a stir. He expresses gratitude to those who voted as labor wanted and wrote in bitter sarcasm to those who, having accepted campaign contributions from labor interests, voted against their wishes on the Landrum-Griffin bill.

Mr. Carey threatens reprisals at the ballot box and apparently the labor unions will withhold contributions next time from those members of Congress who refused to consider a campaign contribution as a bribe.

There is nothing unusual about Mr. Carey's letters to members of Congress. He should not be criticized as being alone in his viewpoint. For what he has written is in line with CIO policy for years. Indeed, John L. Lewis, while active in the CIO, was characteristically frank about the meaning of a contribution from laboring men to the campaigns of candidates for office.

When the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, having accepted big contributions from labor unions for his 1936 campaign, said in the midst of a strike in 1937 something that the labor union leaders didn't like, Mr. Lewis declared publicly:

"It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

In a biography of Mr. Lewis written by Saul D. Alinsky and published in 1949 by G. P. Putnam & Sons, the author tells of an interview with the labor leader during the Roosevelt regime. Mr. Lewis is quoted as having said:

"Everybody says I want my pound of flesh, that I gave Mr. Roosevelt $500,000 for his 1936 campaign, and I want quid pro quo. The United Mine Workers and the CIO have paid cash on the barrel for every piece of legislation that we have gotten."

"We have the Wagner Act. The Wagner Act cost us many dollars in contributions which the United Mine Workers have made to the Roosevelt administration with the explicit understanding of a quid pro quo for labor. These contributions far exceed the notions held by the general public or the press. Is anyone fool enough to believe for one instant that we gave this money to Roosevelt because we were spellbound by his voice? It is common knowledge that we spent approximately three quarters of a million dollars in the 1936 campaign. And you might be interested to know that the $500,000 direct contribution wasn't my price, but was the figure named by the White House, and I was given approximately forty-eight hours to get that money.

"Certainly there was a quid pro quo — the right for labor to organize. But there was more than that. The sums we spent in 1936 were not only cash contributions that were made to the Democratic party but also were money expended in terms of salaries for organizers and other personnel who worked full time organizing and electioneering for Roosevelt. Radio time purchased, billboards, hand bills, literature and all other paraphernalia that are part and parcel of the process of being elected President of the United States didn't cost gratis."

The same interview reveals that in 1938 when the tensions between Mr. Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt had eased off somewhat, the Democratic president was trying in primary contests to "purge" certain Southern Democratic senators who happened also to be anti-labor, the United Mine Workers chief rendered a helping hand. Again Mr. Lewis is quoted in the Saul Alinsky book as follows:

"Where did the money come from that Franklin D. Roosevelt siphoned into these Southern states to try to bolster up the fight against the anti-New Deal senators? Where did the money come from? I'll tell you where it came from. Right here, from the coffers of the United Mine Workers of America. It came by request of the President of the United States through one of his trusted aides. You tell this to the president, and if he questions it, and I'm certain that he will not, you may inform the President that I am perfectly willing to name names and sums, chapter and verse, to satisfy any slight anemia that there might be on this particular issue."

"You ask me for gratitude in terms of an administration that we have literally poured our life's blood into supporting! You wonder that I do not express the feeling that one should have for a great champion of labor. I say that labor's champion has to a large extent been a bought and paid for proposition. There is nothing we should be grateful for when we paid cash on the barrelhead at the price demanded for it."

So the philosophy of the money-raisers in labor's ranks hasn't changed much in the last 20 years since John L. Lewis spoke. In the 1948 congressional campaign when the labor unions boasted that a majority of the House of Representatives was elected through their help, the federal records show a relatively small sum was contributed. Big amounts were, however, donated largely to state organizations which do not come under the federal laws requiring the reporting of contributions. It is estimated that labor raised approximately $10,000,000. Much of it was spent to uphold laws compelling workers to forego their civil rights and join unions. ### Ike Embarks On A Strange Journey

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower embarked upon a strange journey today, one which should seem unnecessary. He is flying to Europe to reassure American Allies he won't be up to any monkey business in dealing with the Soviet Union.

He didn't put it that baldly at his news conference Tuesday. But that is the purpose of his trip. The fact that he feels he has to make it doesn't speak well for the solidarity of the Western alliance.

But Britain, France and West Germany are second-rate powers now. And they know it. And the thought of the Big Two sitting down together — Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev — jiggles their nerves.

The Associated Press reported this week from London that Britain, France and West Germany want a presidential pledge that the United States will not enter an accommodation with the Soviet Union at the expense of their own national interests.

This kind of suspicion or uncertainty explains why the Soviets will try to drive wedges between the Western Powers any time they can.

If it's any comfort to the West, Khrushchev may be having similar problems with the Red Chinese and satellite leaders now. The Premier, according to reports from Berlin, may be meeting with them at his Black Sea vacation place.

This was Eisenhower's way of explaining reasons for his trip: "To reiterate jointly that regardless of pressure or inducement we shall never retreat from our ideals or principles or weaken in our resolution to remain secure as we continue the search for peace."

And he added, as another reason for going: "To discuss with each head of government problems common to that nation and ours."

The Western problems have multiplied since the President and Premier decided to meet. Some of them look like prime donna problems. It would have saved Eisenhower time and trouble on his trip if he could have met with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in one place and at one time, all together.

But those three wouldn't get together. Macmillan wouldn't go from London to Paris; De Gaulle wouldn't go from Paris to London; and neither seemed anxious to have Adenauer around at the same time as Eisenhower.

Their performance raises a chilly temperamental at a time when Eisenhower is meeting Khrushchev — although he had previously assured them there would be no secret deals — what would their reaction be if the President and Premier hit upon some solutions which seemed reasonable to them but which the others didn't like?

Eisenhower, anxious from the beginning to raise no false hopes about his conference with Khrushchev, sought at his news conference to reduce the meeting's importance to something less than hysterical dimensions.

He gave a couple of reasons for asking Khrushchev here but carefully pitched them in a casual, low key.

He wants to find out first-hand, by sitting down with Khrushchev, whether the Russian really wants some peaceful solutions acceptable to both sides; and he wants Khrushchev to get a look at Americans working and living.

Pampered Fish

TORONTO (AP) — Some of the world's most pampered fish live in an aquarium located at a new oil refinery near here. Water in the 4,200-gallon aquarium is purer than in their native habitat.

R. J. Hain, president of Cities Service Oil Co. Ltd., says the aquarium was built to demonstrate the efficiency of what he claims is the world's most advanced water purification system.

The system, Hull says, takes water after it has been used in refining oil and returns it to Lake Ontario in a purer state than when it was removed.

Well Named

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Two persons applying to the state wildlife department for fish to use in stocking ponds were William Fish and Sam Bass.

She Likes Cats

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Miss Mary Carolyn Boudinot, said she preferred her 40 cats to living in Muskogee. A court ruled she must give up all but four of her 40 cats, but she said she would move first.

Around The Rim

The Legion That Few Could Miss

It was fantastic—a thing so nightmarish and so ghoulish that it couldn't happen; a thing so numbing and so terrible that it crept as a cloud of disaster beyond the borders of Howard County.

Here had been a busy West Texas county of some 40,000 souls, most of whom had lived in and immediately around its seat, Big Spring. It was here that the nation's longest transcontinental highways had crossed; it was here that the railroad from the days of life great watering hole had made its division point. This was the city where Couden Petroleum had piled millions upon millions of dollars into a refining and petro-chemical complex, and hard by it the towers of Cabot Carbon had risen.

Across the city the United States Air Force had trained jet pilots and had helped defend the nation with "interceptor planes." To the north lay a state hospital with a thousand people; and there sprawled a battery of warehouses and grain elevators which had received the bounties of the land. And on to the south had been a flowering line of businesses anchored by a stately Veterans Administration Hospital. In between were the shops and the stores, the homes and the stations, the apartments and the hovels. And in the midst of them had been schools and a college, too, and two score churches and hospitals.

They were there this day, all of these things; but the eerie stillness of death was couched around them. There they stood in mute testimony of the countless millions of dollars which had gone into them to make jobs, to heal and to teach, to provide a haven of worship, to serve and to foster commerce. Yet there was nothing but the apocalypse of silence.

Life—all life—had vanished as in the twinkling of an eye. Not a soul remained in the whole of Howard County.

Everywhere there were piles of people like dumb brutes caught in the teeth of a blizzard. Here lay the bodies of a county's entire population — mutilated, battered, torn, smashed, twisted.

On every hand they lay like wheat straws felled by hail.

These were the fruits of fate—the victims of a diabolical decree that not one person would be hurt or die on the highways and the streets of the nation for an entire year.

Except in one place and at one time. And thus it was in this hellish moment that all of the head-on collisions, all of the broken pedestrians, all of the cars overturning on curves and breaking against bridge abutments, or skidding and catapulting off shoulders, or striking parked cars and trucks were killed. Thus it was that those who were thrown from tumbling cars or trapped in burning transports, or those plunged from bridges into streams, and all those who were ground before the wheels of trains at crossings, and all of those insensible because of drink or powerless because of speed had been snuffed into eternity.

And here they were, strewn amidst the gnarled, jagged tatters of steel, and the litter of shattered glass. Here they were, the dead, the needlessly but irrevocably dead, the generation cut down before its time.

Sprawled and heaped and draped, they rose as a stunning, stupefying, God-forsaken monument to a nation's folly for a legion that few could miss until they all died at once.

Carey Puts The Cherry On The Sundae

Whom the gods would destroy in these up-to-date times, they first make too big for the briches.

Of course, James H. Hoffa and James B. Carey aren't destroyed yet. But Mr. Carey went a long way toward destroying his effectiveness to his own union, the International Union of Electrical Workers, and to organized labor when he wrote his stupid letter—and there is no other adjective for it—to all members of the House of Representatives who voted for the Landrum-Griffin labor bill. Mr. Carey informed the congressmen who didn't jump to his bidding that he and organized labor would soon liquidate them at the polls.

Never mind the merits of the Landrum-Griffin bill at the moment. But one thing is as certain as God made green apples: If a "tough" labor bill passes this session of Congress, organized labor itself can crown Mr. Carey as the man who put the cherry on the sundae. And that is probably the exact thing labor longs to do to Mr. Carey without delay.

For the arrogance, the vindictiveness, the assumption of power and the sheer gall of the Carey letter are the very aspects of organized labor, as exemplified in some of its leaders, that have caused the voter back home to demand of his congressman legislation to (1) curb such assumptions and (2) protect the general public from such lordly pretensions.

When he penned his letter, Mr. Carey obviously gave the slip to all his public relations counselors. Anyone with an atom of common sense could have told Mr. Carey, if anyone can tell Mr. Carey anything, that such a blast would be poison to labor's cause.

American don't like to be threatened, and the average voter despises a Congressman who can be intimidated. All Mr. Carey has succeeded in doing is to put more starch in the backbone of both voter and Congress in regard to labor legislation.

By what means other labor leaders measure public opinion, I do not know. But it is obvious that Mr. Carey hasn't been doing any gauging recently. Or, if he has, he is contemptuous of the result. It has been obvious for the past two years, as the tale grew of labor corruption and racketeering, as well as its sheltering of ex-cons, that the public was getting more and more fed up.

Granted that organized labor boasts 18,000,000 members, there are still more than 100,000,000 Americans of voting age. Any group that represents 18,000,000 voters is a powerful minority. It can swing its weight and make it felt.

But occasionally, when the majority gets up on its hind legs, it too—to mix a metaphor—can crack the whip and call the tune. It is this American majority, so often badgered and buffeted by powerful minorities, that is now on the move in the matter of labor legislation. Just as one might point out, it was on the move three decades ago to curb the abuses and excesses of capital.

It is the people who are fed up with the arrogant Hoffas, who, when congressional committee reports on malfeasance in their unions, contemptuously say, "The hell with it!" It is old Vux Pop who is demanding that the Careys pull in their horns and stop acting like two-bit dictators.

Mr. Carey has threatened to liquidate a large segment of Congress. Does he also propose to liquidate the electorate? Or does it ever occur to him and the Hoffas that liquidation is a two-way street?

Hard Bill To Sell

NEW YORK (AP) — You have too much leisure: You don't work hard enough? A presidential fact finding committee says that's why Americans with their eyes on the better life could be in danger of falling behind the Soviets in a race for survival.

More work and less leisure will be hard to sell to most Americans. But the fact is that their leisure time has increased notably in the last generation. And the sums they will spend this year on fun of various kinds will run to 17 or 40 billion dollars, depending on how much you include as recreation and leisure time activities or lack of them. All agree the sum is strikingly above just 10 years ago.

Products tuned to this latter day leisure time add up to a sizable part of manufacturing.

Some of them are just for having fun. Some have taken on the aura of status — the newer cliche replacing the older one about keeping up with the Joneses.

Defenders of leisure time and fun — and that's almost everyone except those who from time to time can't have either — say the practice is healthy, both physically and mentally, and therefore a national asset, not a liability.

Some of the ways Americans spent their money for fun:

Two billion dollars for boating and the same amount on photography. Bell & Howell breaks the latter figure down to $85 million dollars in amateur photographic equipment last year. Film, flash bulbs, chemicals and commercial equipment makes up the rest.

Bowling is said to total one billion dollars a year. Brunswick-Balke-Collender officials say this includes what bowlers spend at the centers and on equipment, and what the proprietors spend each year. Admissions to spectator amusements add up to 1 1/2 billion dollars. A business research firm, Sindlinger & Co., of Ridley Park, Pa., says movie attendance is higher this summer than at any time since 1948 with two-thirds of it at drive-ins.

Spending for radios and TV sets, records, musical instruments, phonographs, tape recorders and repairs are put at five billion dollars.

Americans are putting 600 million dollars into swimming pools this year and 300 million into power lawn mowers. Flower seeds and potted plants take nearly one billion dollars. Bell & Howell figures club and fraternal organizations and parimutuel machines getting about one half billion dollars each.

Add one billion for books and maps and two billion for nondurable toys and sports supplies and you're up to 17 billion.

To reach a higher figure you can add some three billion dollars for domestic travel and about as much for overseas travel. Still more billions go into garden equipment, playing cards, outdoor furniture, magazines, newspapers, sheet music, golf fees and other recreations beyond room to mention — not forgetting the gas it takes to where you think the fun is.

DEAR ABBY

BRUSH UP MORALS

DEAR ABBY: I'd like your help in convincing my husband that we are living in a modern world. We aren't kids. We are in our forties and have been married 18 years. I don't neglect the kids (or him) and see nothing wrong with an "affair" as long as nobody is hurt. I don't want a divorce. I just want to go on as I have been. Being a woman, you should understand. AVERAGE WIFE making it hard on me. Do you think I should break off relations with my sister because of the way my husband feels? Why shouldn't we be friendly with her and her new husband? DEAR ABBY: IF you want to be friendly with your sister and her new husband, you have a right to ignore them. Your sister has broken a sacred vow to "love and cherish in sickness and in health," etc. You might still "love" your sister, but you surely can't respect her.

DEAR ABBY: I love my sister very much. She has been married to a prince of a man for twelve years and they have two children. Her husband was injured on his job and he is in a wheel chair, paralyzed from the waist down. She went to work to help out and met another man (her boss) and fell in love with him. She is presently divorcing her husband to marry to the other man. I do not approve of what she is doing, but she is still my sister. My husband says he will never speak to her again. He refuses to meet her fiancé. This is

DEAR ABBY: Tell that little fussy budget who wants everything he eats served on separate dishes, he will have to wash the dishes himself. I'll bet he starts eating off one plate soon. I once had a small visitor years ago who used to wet her bed the first few nights. After I made her wash her own sheets and hang them out to dry a couple of times, she managed to stay dry. It makes a difference when they have to do the work themselves.

MOTHER OF FOUR DEAR ABBY: Bed-wetters should not be dealt with in the same manner as "fuss-budgets" who want their food served on separate plates. A bed-wetter is usually the innocent victim of an act over which he has no control.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. A.: Your problem is not worth lessing sleep over. Tell your husband you have charged more than you can pay for. He won't be the first husband who has lived through this kind of news.

To get ABBY's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents, and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Big Spring Herald.

8 CASES NOT BILLED

17 Indictments Are Voted By Howard County Grand Jury

Howard County Grand Jury Tuesday afternoon reported 17 indictments to Dist. Judge Charlie Sullivan but there was no indictment returned against Nick Villareal, charged with murder. Villareal was accused in a complaint filed some weeks ago with the gun slaying of Alberto Gomez.

Gomez was shot to death as he stepped to the door of a cafe where he worked as bartender to investigate shots fired outside the door.

Eight cases on the list submitted to the grand jurors for consideration ended in no indictments. An indictment was returned against Elmer Lee Adams, forgery by endorsement. Adams is alleged to have taken a check from the rural mail box of B. R. White, forged White's name to it and cashed it. Adams is now at liberty on bond.

Richard Marquez was indicted for burglary and his bond was fixed at $3,000. He is accused of breaking into the Reece Service Station on the night of Aug. 15. He was apprehended by officers while in the station.

James Taylor was indicted for theft over $50. He is accused of taking two checks from the office of George T. Thomas, Big Spring attorney, and of trying to cash one at the Holman Grocery. Bond in his case was set at $2,500.

Ray D. Redman, Fred McKinley and Ray Calvert were each indicted by the grand jurors on a charge of passing forged instruments. Bonds in each case were fixed at $3,000.

It is alleged that the trio passed two forged checks for the purchase of motorcycles at Charley's Cycle Shop and a third check to Pete Harmonson. The offenses allegedly occurred on Aug. 1. Herman Young was indicted for burglary and his bond was set at $2,500. He is accused of breaking into the Coffee Cup Cafe on West Highway 80 on July 26.

Curtis M. Chaney was indicted for DWI second offense. He was arrested on Aug. 2 and the state alleges he had been previously convicted of DWI in Glasscock County.

Arthur Abel and Merrill D. Heirston were each indicted on a burglary count. It is alleged they broke into the McEwen Motor Co. office on June 6, where they blew open a safe.

Eugene Silas Richman was indicted for burglary in connection with an Aug. 7 raid on Saunders Co. Several items of plumbing equipment were allegedly stolen.

Doyle Denton was indicted for car theft and his bond set at $5,000. He is accused of stealing a car from the Crawford Car Storage on July 31. He was later apprehended in the car at Roby.

Alfred Larez Jr., charged with having shot at Tony Lujan with a pistol on Aug. 16, was indicted for assault with a prohibited weapon.

Maxine Scott was the only woman to be indicted by this grand jury. She was cited for assault with intent to commit murder in the slaying of Leslie Mae Wesley with a pocket knife. The attack occurred on Aug. 17. Bond in her case was set at $2,000.

Cleveland Jackson was indicted for assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of Nick Villareal on June 29. Bond was set at $3,000. Clouss Witt was indicted for DWI second. He was arrested on July 27 and the state says he was previously convicted of driving while under influence of intoxicating liquors in Howard County.

Judge Extends Stock Order

NEW YORK (AP) — A Federal judge Tuesday extended for at least a week a restraining order barring the sale of Belmont Oil Corp. Common stock. A Wichita Falls minister is involved.

U. S. Judge Alexander also continued an order tying up the capital assets of four brokerage houses. The firms are accused of selling more than 600,000 shares of the oil stock between August, 1958, and last May without registering it with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The judge continued the two orders after hearing arguments by Harry Bright of the New York regional SEC office and attorneys for some of the defendants.

The brokerage firms are Carlton Securities, Inc., Jersey City, N. J. and three New York firms, Perless-New York, Inc., H. G. Stolle and Co., and M. J. Reiter Co.

Dr. James B. Boren, a Wichita Falls Congregational minister was named as one of several individual defendants. His attorney, Richard H. Wells, argued that Dr. Boren had sold all his shares on Oct. 15, 1958, to Joseph A. Fox, Los Angeles, from whom he originally purchased the stock.

The SEC contends that when the oil stock was sold for from $1 to $1.25 per share that it was in fact "worthless."

Secret Marriage Of Ruler Revealed

LONDON (AP) — The secret leaked out today of the 1956 marriage of the Maharajah of Cochin Behar, one of India's wealthiest princes, and a shapely London model.

The bride at a civil ceremony was Gina Egan, now 29. The Maharajah is 44.

After the wedding, the maharajah went back to his bachelor apartment. His wife continued to live with her mother, five minutes away. The couple have lived apart ever since.

Gina's mother, Mrs. Arthur Egan finally leaked the secret. Why did her daughter keep it a secret? "I don't want to say anything more about Gina's affairs," Mrs. Egan told newsmen.

One-Eyed Ex-Con Nailed In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—A one-eyed ex-convict who two weeks ago was added to the FBI's 10 Most Wanted list of criminals was arrested at a trailer court Tuesday.

Harry Raymond Pope, 39, was unarmed and surrendered meekly to FBI agents, Texas Rangers and local police.

Pope lost his right eye during a gun battle with police at Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 23, 1958, after he was caught burglarizing a drugstore.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Pope previously was convicted of burglary, attempted burglary and illegal possession of narcotics. He also is under a charge of assault to murder a policeman.

Grooming Is Topic Of Actress's Chat

By LYDIA LANE
LONDON — Yesterday I lunched at the Caprice Restaurant with Hazel Court. Hazel has a big following in the States from her TV series, "Dick and the Duchess," but I first met her at CBS when she was working with Hitchcock in Hollywood.

"Now that we are in my home town," Hazel announced, "we are not going to rush through lunch with a scoop of cottage cheese or a hamburger. The one thing I missed in your country was having leisurely meals."

Hazel ordered cold soup, grilled steak, cucumbers with sour cream and wild strawberries with a liqueur.

"California is fun to live in, but the sun is hard on one's beauty," Hazel said. "I found I really had to work on my skin when I didn't have a fog to keep it moist. The chemicals in your water made my hair several shades darker."

Hazel has rich, natural auburn hair which is soft and shiny.

"I grew up in Kent," Hazel explained, "where my mother had a huge tub in which to catch rain water. She always used this for our shampoos. Rain water is softer and much better for the hair than artificial water softeners."

"Reducing is an obsession in the USA," Hazel said, sipping a glass of red wine. "But I must admit your figures are better than ours, and you are much better groomed. I have always marveled how American girls can look more immaculate than other women. You must emphasize grooming even in the very young."

"It is interesting to me that American men can be as careless about their dress as the women are careful. It is appalling the way the average man's shirt collar rides up. It doesn't seem to fit at all."

Hazel was wearing no make-up, and I asked her if she could give American women a tip for lovely skin.

"I found it very helpful," she said, "when I was in California to put a layer of yogurt on my hands and face. I let it dry and then removed it with warm water. This is a milk product, and as you know, milk has been a famous beautifier since the days of Cleopatra. Sometimes I put strawberry juice in the yogurt if I want to bleach my skin, because a tan when it is fading out can be really unattractive."

If your tan has lost its glow and you want to bleach it out, why not try Hazel's yogurt and strawberry formula.

BEAUTIFY HAIR
It takes more than rain water to make hair beautiful. Soft rain water enhances already lovely locks. To find your "Way to Beautiful Hair" in Leaflet M-2, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Likes Rain Water

Hazel Court, star of the recent "Dick and the Duchess" TV series, chats with Lydia Lane in London. Miss Court tells why she likes washing her naturally auburn hair in rain water. She will be seen in the new fall season of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" on CBS-TV.

Additions Welcomed In HCJC Group

Three new members were welcomed by the Faculty Ma'ams Tuesday afternoon at one of their informal parties in the home of Mrs. Harold Vail.

Joining the group for the first time were Mrs. Buddy Travis, Mrs. Kenneth Seewald and Mrs. Leslie Kelley.

Plans were discussed for the annual affair which the club will give for the faculty and their wives or husbands and the members of the board of trustees and their wives. The party will be a buffet served at 7 p.m. on Sept. 14, in the Student Union Building.

Mrs. W. L. Walker, 1614 East 17th, will entertain the group at the next meeting, slated for Sept. 22. Thirteen were present for the social Tuesday.

Circle Makes Offering For Missionary

At a Tuesday morning session, members of the Evan Holmes Circle completed the love offering for the missionaries for whom the circle was named. The offering is to be presented to Mrs. Holmes when she comes to visit the group in December during the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions.

The circle met in the home of Mrs. D. D. Johnston, who brought a devotion from the book of Romans. Mrs. Jim Leath offered the opening prayer. Mrs. A. R. Posey read the missionary calendar, wording prayers for the persons listed.

Following the community missions project for the month, the women packed a gift box for the French mission in Louisiana. They also reported on visits to the sick and shut-ins when magazines and books were delivered.

Announcement was made of the next scheduled meeting to be made up of Bible study and business at the church on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. D. C. Boren dismissed the seven attending with a prayer.

Stanton Rebekahs In Installation Service

STANTON — Mrs. Clayton Burnham presided as district deputy president at the installation service, Monday night at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Jim McCoy was the deputy marshal.

September Vows

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bowers of Lamesa have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy, to Eddie Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson. The Lamesa High School graduates will be married in a ceremony read by W. T. Hamilton, minister, in the Lamesa Church of Christ on September 4.

Mrs. Gross Elected To Head College Baptist WMS

Mrs. J. C. Gross will head the slate of officers for the College Baptist WMS, after being elected president Tuesday morning at the church. All circles met for a business meeting and Bible study.

To serve with Mrs. Gross will be Mrs. Cliff Balzer, first vice president; Mrs. Bill Draper, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Wash, secretary-treasurer.

Chairmen will include Mrs. Bob Pettit, mission study; Mrs. H. W. Bartlett, prayer; and Mrs. Bill Blalack, community missions. Mrs. Phil Grozier will be stewardship chairman, and Mrs. Bobby Zellars is to be social chairman.

Mrs. L. B. Thomas was named as pianist and Mrs. O. L. Stewart will be song leader; she will also have charge of the Girls Auxiliary, along with Mrs. Garner Thixton. Mrs. Paul Warren will be leader of the Sunbeams.

Three circle leaders were Mrs. Ben Caldwell, Mrs. Horace Rankin and Mrs. R. A. Chambers.

Twelve were present for the session, during which Rev. Bartlett began a series of lessons in soul-winning. He presented various scriptures pertaining to that activity, and left the group with the question, What are the points of difference now that you are a Christian?

It was announced that all circles will meet Tuesday morning at 9:30 in the home of Mrs. Thixton, 1600 E. 15th.

Mrs. Newell To Assist At B&PW Conference

Mrs. Roscoe Newell, president of the local Business and Professional Women, will preside for a workshop at the district conference, slated for Crane and McCamey Sept. 26-27.

This is the announcement made Tuesday evening when the club met for dinner at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Newell's division will be based on the subject of career advancement.

Program for the evening was presented as a group discussion in which Ruth Beasley, Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. R. L. Penney and Mrs. Lina Fiewellen participated. The topic discussed was the objectives of the club and the responsibility of the group to new members. Ways of increasing the roster were also brought into the round table discussion.

Twenty-seven were seated at a table decorated with an arrangement of red carnations; following the gathering, these were taken to Mrs. Zula Reeves, a member who is ill.

Catholic Group Urged To Civic Participation

Catholic women were urged to take part in community, state and national affairs by their district president, Mrs. J. E. Flynn, when the St. Thomas Altar Society met Tuesday.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Paul Meek with Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Herman Bauer and Mrs. Harry Jordan as hostesses.

Mrs. Flynn, in reporting on the session of the National Council of Catholic Women Institute held in New Orleans, told the women they should join in community charitable activities along with other churches and let people know they want to do their share.

The theme of the institute was Catholic Women in the Community and meetings were held at St. Mary's Dominican Church.

Announcement was made of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women convention to be held Sept. 15-16 at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo. Along with Mrs. Flynn, delegates will be Mrs. B. P. Huchton and Mrs. Jack Turner. Mrs. C. W. Deats and Mrs. Charles Renfroe will be alternates.

Mrs. R. C. Frayser, charity chairman, asked for donations of good wearable clothing for the Fashion Shop at the Big Spring State Hospital. Attendance prize was won by Mrs. C. D. Dilmarce.

Mrs. L. D. Jenkins offered the opening prayer and Father Francis Beasley, OMI, worded the closing prayer.

Shower Given For Mrs. Norman Blocker

STANTON — Mrs. Norman Blocker, the former Jere Coon, was honored with a bridal shower Monday at the home of Mrs. B. F. White.

Hostesses were Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, Mrs. S. W. Wheeler, Mrs. Ellmore Johnson, Mrs. Delbert Franklin, Mrs. J. C. Sale, Mrs. B. F. White, Mrs. Guy Elland, Mrs. J. W. Sale, Mrs. M. A. Potree, Mrs. Phillip White, Mrs. Jack Ireton and Mrs. L. C. Hazelwood Sr.

Mrs. Albert Baugh and Patsy of Stamford have been guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bridges.

AT HCJC THURSDAY New Teachers In Schools To Be Kiwanis Club Guests

Following a custom adopted a year ago, the Big Spring Kiwanis Club will be host on Thursday noon to all of the new teachers in the Big Spring schools. Object of the meeting is to welcome the new faculty members to the community and afford them an opportunity to meet as many local citizens as possible. The occasion will be the regular Thursday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. The meeting this time will be at the HSU building at Howard County Junior College at noon. The Kiwanians are also to have their wives as special guests at the luncheon. Dr. Marvin Baker, assistant to the president of the college and program chairman for the Kiwanis club, said that a special program is being arranged for the occasion. Floyd Parsons, superintendent, will introduce the principals of the several schools and the principals, in turn, will present the new teachers on their staff. Doug Wiehe, bandmaster of the high school, will give a demonstration of how the combination of musical instruments goes to the making of a complete band. Baker said that wives of Kiwanians who are in attendance will be introduced by their husbands. The event will be at noon. New teachers in the school system are: Ernest Morgan, William Daves, Harold Bentley, Mrs. Beena Bass, Miss Betty Hilton, I. J. Motil, Leo Forrester, Miss Theora Calverley, Miss Billie Holloway, Ronnie Perryman, Franklin Dunlap, Robert Kelley, Frank Jackson, Arnold Oates, Jerry Kelley, Mrs. Rebecca Cook, Billy Tatum, Mrs. Wilma Dotson, Mrs. Suzanne Batterton, Tommy Henry, Bert Brewer, Dick Rence, Miss Diana Davis, Mrs. Mary Frances Eaton, Miss Ruby Lee Simms, Mrs. Helen Danford, Miss Clara Bolinger, Miss Nancy Smith, Mrs. Ina Jean Echols, Mrs. Benson Averett, Mrs. Phyllis Taylor, Fred Bass, Mrs. Helen Danford, Mrs. Mary Kelley, Miss Annie Ratliff, Mrs. Edna Haynes, Mrs. Dolly Benson, N. D. Greene, L. Porter, Mrs. Carolyn Tatum, Mrs. Jane Pollard, Mr. Self, Mrs. Neil Smith, Mrs. Celeste Hunt, Mrs. Mary Gauthier, Mrs. Doris Brewer, Mrs. Frances Wheeler, Miss Gloria Spell.

Three Guilty Pleas Entered In County Court

Jack A. Kruse, held in the county jail for the past 32 days because he could not post bond in a worthless check charge, elected today to plead guilty to the count. Wayne Burns, county attorney, recommended to County Judge Ed Carpenter that the punishment in the case be fixed at 32 days in jail. Judge Carpenter agreed and as a result Kruse was released from custody immediately after leaving the court. Aubrey P. Lucas, accused of unlawful transportation of liquor, pleaded guilty. His fine was $150 and costs. He paid off and was released. Mike Quinones, charged with DWI, who was one of the defendants slated for jury trial at next week's county criminal session, pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $50 and given three days in jail.

Virginia School Opening Delayed

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — The opening of all Warren County public schools, including integration-troubled Warren County High School here, has been postponed from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8. Action delaying the school openings was taken Tuesday night at a closed, unannounced joint meeting of the school board and the county supervisors. School Supt. Q. D. Gasque said that the extra time was needed to make certain that the county's combined elementary-high school for Negroes is fully equipped. The school is the first county ever has had for Negro high school pupils. Gasque's announcement made no reference to integration problems. A total of 338 white pupils and 13 Negroes thus far have registered to attend the previously all-white high school here in 1959-60.

AF Officer, Wife Killed In Mishap

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force captain and his wife died Tuesday night when their auto and a truck collided five miles north of here on U.S. Highway 181. Capt. John Rutledge, 27, and his wife, Joan, 29, were killed. Rutledge was assigned to the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph AFB in San Antonio. Officers said the truck driver, who escaped injury, was unable to avoid hitting the couple's auto when it ran a stop sign and moved into the path of the truck.

Amazing Realism Keynote As U.S. Spacemen Practice

JOHNSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The seven men who plan to be the first Americans to blast off into space have been practicing that maneuver and the feat of returning safely to earth — with amazing realism in a Navy centrifuge here. The Mercury astronauts say their training here has made them more confident than ever that they will be able to "fly" a satellite three times or more around the earth, at 18,000 miles an hour. They will have to put on brakes — in the form of reverse-firing rockets — firmly enough to ease down to a parachute landing off the Florida coast. Three of the astronauts — Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., 35;

Six Finalists Competing For Farm Bureau's Queen

Six lovely young ladies, finalists in the district (No. 6) Farm Bureau queen contest, will vie for the title here Thursday evening. The winner, chosen from among those who have won their county contests, will be sent to the state convention where someone will be selected to represent Texas at the national meeting of the bureau federation. Beginning time for the finalists, to which the public is invited, is 8 o'clock, and the place is the Howard County Junior College auditorium. Special music will be furnished by the Rhythm Masters, a teen-age rock 'n' roll entourage from Big Lake. The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. LEE PORTER, County Auditor.

Annexation Plans Advanced By City

The Big Spring City Commission gave final readings to two zoning changes and two annexation ordinances during the regular session Tuesday at the City Hall. The annexation readings include the ordinance annexing the area bounded by Fourth Street, Birdwell Lane, the Texas and Pacific Railroad right-of-way, and the old city limit line near Union street. The other annexed area lies along FM 700. The south edge of this area is a line running 200 feet south of the FM 700 right of way, the east boundary is Settles Street and the west boundary is the east side of the Section 5 line. Second reading was given to the ordinance annexing the present Country Club property. This annexation action was requested by the purchasers of the property who will develop the Coronado Hills subdivision. Final reading was given to change the Worth Peeler tract, which lies at the Birdwell Lane and FM 700 intersection, from a Zone A, residential, to a Zone F, business district. Last reading was also given to changing a tract described as the west half of Block 63, 72 and 81 and all of blocks 64 and 71 from Zone B, two family residential, to Zone F, business district.

Forester Dies, Murder Seen

GOODING, Idaho (AP) — A forestry expert en route to become assistant professor at Yale University was found shot to death Tuesday in the southern Idaho sagebrush. Police said today they had few clues but believed 37-year-old John Hunt Jr. was murdered. Hunt, the son of the Rev. John Hunt Sr. of Bellingham, Wash., had been a forestry pathologist at the U.S. Forest Service in Portland, Ore. He left there Monday for New Haven, Conn., and his new teaching post. A young farmer reported finding Hunt's body in a kneeling position on the floorboards of the right front seat of his foreign sports car which was parked on a trail some 23 miles west of Gooding. Deputy Sheriff Guy Coles said no gun was found in or near the car. He said Hunt had been shot once in the head and once in the body with a .44 or .45 caliber gun. Coles said Hunt had taken many of his belongings with him when he left Portland, including several suitcases, suits, jackets and shoes, plus a sleeping bag and a portable radio. None of these were in the car, said the deputy. Hunt's billfold and about $150 in traveler's checks also were missing.

Bloomers Taken, Fraud Charged

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Her bloomers confiscated and her Mediterranean cruise a lost cause, Nicolina Castagna, 89, now faces charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. The charges were brought Tuesday by the Middlesex County Welfare Department after police found the tiny, ragged-looking woman with a cruise ticket and $2,000 sewed in the waistband of her bloomers. She has been on relief since 1944. An additional $1,500 was found in other clothing. Mrs. Castagna — mum on where the money came from — was arraigned at just about the time her ship was scheduled to leave. She was held in $10,000 bail for the grand jury.

Second Grade Teacher Needed For Elbow School

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, said Wednesday one teacher is needed to complete the faculties of the common schools of the county. A resignation at Elbow on Tuesday has left a vacancy in this school for a second grade teacher, he said. He pointed out that it is urgent the vacancy be filled in the next few days and invited any qualified instructor to contact him.

Vet Improves

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Last survivor of the Civil War armies, 114-year-old Walter Williams, is "eating regularly now" and continues to improve, his daughter Willie Mae Bowles said Tuesday. The old soldier, critically ill for two weeks after a bout with pneumonia, began to rally over the weekend.

Legal Notice

The Commissioners' Court of Howard County, Texas, will receive bids on Monday, September 14, 1959, at 11:00 a.m., for paving of four city miles of County Road in Howard County, Texas. Location of roads and specifications are available at the County Engineer's Office, Room 202, Courthouse, Big Spring, Texas. The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. LEE PORTER, County Auditor.

Royal Fun

At the Casino Abidine, located in the former royal palace in Cairo, plain citizens dance to the strains of a rumba. The place formerly was King Farouk's private night club.

Pawn Of Politics

A soldier stands guard over some of the valuable art objects in the former royal palace in Cairo. When King Farouk was removed seven years ago and the monarchy abolished, the palace—and five others he owned—was turned into a museum.

Farouk's Palaces Opened To Public

By DAVID HINNAWL
CAIRO (AP)—In Egypt anyone can be king for a day.

Playboy King Farouk was removed and the monarchy abolished seven years ago, but every day hundreds of Egyptians can still play the role of king and in the original setting, too.

When Farouk was ousted in 1952 he left behind him six huge palaces in Cairo and Alexandria and several "love nests" scattered throughout the country.

Since then the palaces have been converted into museums, restaurants and casinos. Luxurious swimming pools where the former king once bathed with his harem were opened for public use. Farouk's cozy retreats along Egypt's main highways were made into rest houses and cafes.

The king-for-a-day program can begin with a visit to Abdin Palace in the heart of Cairo. This was the official headquarters of the former king and his most permanent residence. The huge palace covering an area of over one square mile is divided into two wings, the harem or haramlek and the reception hall or salamlek.

The palace has been kept in very much the same state since Farouk made his last exit. It is famous for its Byzantine hall and the Suez Canal ballroom, where festivities once hailed the opening of the canal.

For lunch you can stop at the king's former yacht "Kassed Kheir" moored on a bank of the Nile just across Cairo's main hotels. Here you can order from Farouk's favorite menu, use his special table or enjoy kebab on a flaming skewer.

After lunch perhaps a trip to the pyramids and tea at the rest house which Farouk built at the foot of the gigantic structures. This little gem, on a plateau overlooking Cairo, is built in the style of an ancient Egyptian temple.

The furniture is copied from that of Tutankhamon, a famous Egyptian pharaoh, and the walls are decorated with pharaonic paintings depicting hunting and feasting scenes.

The program can be culminated with an evening of dining and dancing at Abdin Casino, once the king's private night club.

14 Die In Skirmish

YAOUNDE, Cameroons (AP)—Fourteen persons were clubbed or cut to death in a battle Sunday night between a terrorist band and the local defense group in the western part of the French Cameroons.

Caesar Show's '2nd Banana' Doing All Right

By HUGH MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—What happens to the "second banana" when they split up the bunch?

Howie Morris, "the little guy" who used to play the mad German scientist, the African explorer, the hapless husband and hundreds of other comedy parts on the old Sid Caesar Show, has been doing all right on his own.

So has Carl Reiner, "the big guy" who used to play the Japanese war lord, the Italian bicycle thief, the opera basso and hundreds of other comic creations on the same show.

The big guy and the little guy, probably the most famous pair of second bananas in the business, will be reunited this fall on NBC's Dinah Shore Chevy Show.

Reiner will write all 12 of the shows and appear in four. Morris, a top banana now who still prefers situation comedy, will appear with him doing a solo and talking part in a variety of zany skits.

"It's not surprising that Carl has turned out to be a top television writer," says the little guy in admiration of his former partner. "The Sid Caesar Show was undoubtedly the most creative comedy program in the history of television."

"We all got together at the script conferences and helped write the material, much of which came from our own experiences. It was a tremendously rewarding show for the actor from almost any viewpoint. So many actors tend to get script-bound and never get the chance to think up original ideas."

Although he has frequently written his own material, Morris has no ambitions to join Reiner in the ranks of TV writers. "I'm an actor, first, last and always," he says. "The best thing that's happened to me since leaving the Caesar show was to become a regular on Pantomime Quiz. People began recognizing me on the street. I was identified as a TV actor outside of the comedy character parts, and that's very important."

As an actor, and a very good one, Morris has appeared with Maurice Evans in "Hamlet" and "Twelfth Night," done straight dramatic parts for the Kraft Theater, Danger and other drama shows, and has had considerable background experience in radio and summer stock.

John Austin Quits Theatre Post, Cites Lack Of Time

John Austin has resigned as president and board member of the Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc. "It has been a killing pace," Austin said of the job to which he was elected last spring. "I enjoyed my work with the theatre group, but I simply haven't had enough time for my family. It had interfered with my work, too."

Austin's resignation was made in a letter to the theatre's board of governors Friday. The fact was not made public until Tuesday afternoon.

The outgoing president made it plain that his resignation did not mean he was quitting the Civic Theatre. He remains as a member and promises to "do all I can to help."

Austin is director of the recent summer season of three 3-act plays, which included "The Seven Year Itch," "Night of January 16th," and "The Four Poster."

"No more directing chores for me," Austin said. "At least not on a season basis. I'll give as much time to theatre work as I possibly can, but my work and my family must come first."

Austin is a floral designer for Estah's Flowers.

'Annie Get Your Gun' Has All Audience Could Want

Ladeez and gentlemen—step right up and see the gen-u-wine article—a real Indian dance performed by full-blooded Indians—so might a circus barker have announced one of the highlights of "Annie Get Your Gun," now playing at Fort Worth's Casa Manana. All are residents of Fort Worth and, according to the program, "meet in the evenings to perpetuate the remarkable folk and war dances of their forefathers."

Cast of the play, headed by Deedy Irwin as Annie and George Wallace as Frank Butler, is happily chosen, with voices well-suited for some of the Irving Berlin favorites, such as "Doin' What Comes Naturally," "The Girl That I Marry," "They Say It's Wonderful," along with that greatest of all for the show world, "Show Business."

Almost as much fun as seeing the play itself is the change of scenes done in the dark by the agile stage crew. As the house lights go down, there's a swoosh through the aisles and shadowy figures move about on the round stage. Suddenly, it's light again, and the scene is set for the front of a resort hotel, a Pullman car, or the fair grounds at Minneapolis. Settings range from a circus tent to a cattle boat (complete with moses and lowings) from a hotel ballroom to an island.

This production, which ends this Sunday, is the final presentation in the second summer season of Casa Manana Musicals, Inc. Planned for Jan. 25-Feb. 6, 1960, is the showing of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," with an enticing line-up of musicals announced for the 1960 summer season. —A.L.

Story Editor Tries Acting Profession

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why would a man of mature years leave an important, high-paying position for the chancy life of an actor?

"Because I feel that a change like this is good for a man," says Kenneth MacKenna. "I have done about all I can with this job. Now it is time for me to meet a new challenge."

This may help to answer Hollywood's puzzlement over MacKenna's resignation as MGM story editor after 22 years. He is going back to Broadway.

In the 20s and 30s, MacKenna was the handsome, romantic leading man of many a hit play. Before he accepted an offer from MGM.

Over the years he has chosen hundreds of story properties to be filmed by MGM. His decisions have meant the investment of millions of dollars. Now 60, he had been assured that he could continue at his job for the rest of his life.

He might have, except for a chance encounter with his old boss, Dore Schary, now a thriving playwright and producer.

Schary sent him the script of his new play, "The Highest Tree," about the trials of an idealistic scientist in the nuclear age. MacKenna read it, liked it. Rehearsals were set for September. MacKenna had a three-month resignation clause in his MGM contract. That meant he had to decide immediately. He did.

"A lot of people at the studio think I'm crazy," he admitted. "They ask me, 'But Ken—supposing the play folds in two weeks?' That's a chance I'll have to take."
