Moon Bounce Receiver

This is the 25-foot parabolic receiving antenna at the University of Texas, in Austin, which received signals sent from Malvern, England, and bounced off the moon. C. W. Tolbert, systems development specialist at the university, is seated at the controls atop the truck. British and American scientists are taking part in the experiments which resulted in the first successful bounce.

CRMWD To Press For Action On New Lake Application

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District reviewed progress reports here Wednesday and took steps toward pressing the CRMWD application for a water permit for another lake on the upper Colorado River.

E. V. Spence, general manager, told directors that the 33-inch pipeline from Odessa to the Martin County pump station was about 40 per cent complete. Agreement has been reached on all but one tract for pipeline right-of-way, he said.

Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound Fatal To City Man

Death from a self-inflicted gunshot wound was ruled at noon today in the death of Nelson A. Johnson, an oil field driller. Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter ruled suicide after a note, written by Johnson and addressed to his wife, had been found on the kitchen table in their home at 102 Dixie.

Mrs. Johnson found her husband's body when she returned to the house after a brief absence. There was a 22 calibre rifle lying near the body. Police said that Johnson had been shot one time in the chest.

Bar To Consider Courtroom Photos

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The American Bar Assn.'s stand against photography in the courtroom comes up for consideration today at the legal group's 82nd annual convention. A special committee was to report on its first year of work aimed at a possible modification of the stand. The ABA, in Canon 35 of its code of ethics, advises judges not to permit picture-making in the courtroom on grounds it would detract from the dignity of the proceedings. Television newsmen and press photographers have tried repeatedly to persuade the lawyers to modify the canon. The cameramen contend that modern photography techniques would in no way harm the dignity of the court.

3 Persons Hurt At Fatality Site

MINERAL WELLS, Tex. (AP)—Three persons were injured, one critically, today in a traffic mishap at almost the exact spot where a fatal accident occurred yesterday. The injured are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown of Fort Worth and O. L. Marler of Atlas, Okla. Brown suffered broken legs and chest and head injuries. Officers said Brown's car and a pickup truck driven by Marler collided 8 miles north of Mineral Wells near the spot where Carbet Lytle, 65, of Haskell died in a two-car crash yesterday.

House GOP Mulls Special Session If Housing Is Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans speculated today about a special session of Congress if President Eisenhower vetoes the compromise housing bill coming up for debate in the House. The President has dropped a few hints along these lines, but said nothing definite before he left for Europe Wednesday. Eisenhower vetoed a much larger $1,375,000,000 housing bill passed by Congress last month. An attempt to override the veto failed. Then the Senate passed a pared-down $1,050,000,000 compromise and sent it to the House. In his special message to Congress two days ago, the President pleaded for an increase in the Federal Housing Administration's loan insurance authority. He said it should be "contingent upon the possibility of approval by the President, after the Congress has adjourned, of legislation which contains features that the administration finds seriously objectionable." The FHA loan authority the President wants is included in the housing bill, Eisenhower was saying pretty plainly that he doesn't like some features of the compromise housing bill and doesn't want the FHA matter tied to it in case he vetoes the housing bill. But as the new compromise bill came to the floor, Democratic leaders were warning it was this or nothing. Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the Housing subcommittee, declared "If we don't pass this bill, there won't be any—inspite of what the President says." Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said Eisenhower's special message to Congress was "a clear warning the Democrats may be inviting trouble." Rep. Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.), ranking Republican member of the House Rules Committee, said a veto "would be important enough to recall Congress in special session." "And I personally don't see how the President can sign this bill," Allen added. "It's just as expensive as the one he vetoed." Another matter in the President's request for repeal of the 4 1/2 per cent interest rate ceiling on government bonds maturing in five years or longer. Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) pronounced this proposal dead for this session. Rep. Gordon L. McDonough (R-Calif.), GOP housing leader, said he considered "housing and interest rates good reasons for a special session."

SUCCESSFUL TEST Navy Fires First Polaris At Sea

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy for the first time fired a test version of a Polaris submarine missile from a ship at sea today.

An informed source reported shortly after the launching that the shot was highly successful. The spectacular launching appeared perfect as compressed air shot the Polaris from a tube in the deck of the USS Observation Island. The first stage ignited some 70 feet above the deck. A 28-foot missile arched high in the sky and headed down the Atlantic missile range, spurring a long tail of white smoke. A break in the smoke trail and a puff of fire 60 seconds later indicated burnout of the first stage and ignition of the second. The Observation Island was cruising slowly in calm waters about seven miles offshore at the time.

Last week Ad. Arleigh Burke, U.S. chief of naval operations, announced that Russia probably has submarines capable of firing ballistic missiles.

The Soviet missiles, launched from conventional submarines, probably have ranges of less than 200 miles.

When operational, the Polaris will have an initial capacity of 1,200 miles. But it will be at least a year before it is ready for combat use. It currently is being tested over 600-700 mile ranges.

Earlier this week, a Polaris was launched from a land pad at the cape cut failed to achieve all its test objectives because of a malfunction in the second stage.

China Publicly Admits Having Economic Ills

By JOHN RODERICK TOKYO (AP)—Communist China has publicly admitted she is in deep economic trouble at home. Does this mean war or peace for Asia?

After a secret meeting of the Communist Central Committee earlier this month, Peiping announced Wednesday that production last year was far less than previously announced. As a result, earlier production goals set for this year were cut drastically.

With his agricultural and industrial program for 1959 in admitted jeopardy, logic would seem to indicate that Mao Tse-tung will avoid an expensive shooting war in Asia.

This could mean a period of calm in the Formosa Strait. For 10 days Communist guns, which for a year have bombarded the Nationalist offshore Quemoy Islands, have been silent.

But Mao also believes fear and hatred supply more adrenalin to overworked peasants and laborers than do peace and good will.

While seeking to avoid a hot war on his coast, the Chinese leader might try to instill a sense of urgency in this hard-pressed people by continuing to wave the danger flag over little Laos.

He might even encourage some limited shooting. Using his Communist Vietnamese allies, this would cost him little in men or money. And he could continue his propaganda picture of the United States as an imperialist enemy, threatening Chinese security with machinations in Laos.

Girl Tearfully Leaves Father

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 9-year-old girl from a broken home threw a courtroom into confusion Wednesday when she screamed defiance at a judge's order she must return to her mother's custody.

"No, no, no," she shouted. "I won't go. I want my daddy. I want my daddy."

Little Karen Roath nevertheless was taken from her father, George C. H. Roath, because the court order accompanying a divorce decree gave him custody for only 45 days during the summer. The time expired Aug. 1.

Karen's mother, Mrs. Vera Jo Tatum, had asked for the child's return.

The father told the court his daughter was terribly upset at having to leave him.

"When you people get a divorce like this," the judge reminded him, "that's a cross you have to bear."

Karen had to be dragged, screaming from the court, by a deputy and Mrs. Tatum, but later quieted when she was assured that she would get to see her father at intervals.

Tearfully, she kissed him goodbye.

Faubus Won't Shirk Duty

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Although admittedly weary of school desegregation difficulties, Gov. Orval E. Faubus says he will not shirk from his responsibilities in any new school crisis.

Faubus said Wednesday he did not want to use his police powers again in dealing with integration strife.

"I have no desire to test my powers," he said. "But don't misunderstand me, I won't shirk responsibility that is mine to put down any disturbance."

Tension has risen over impending integration at the Dollarway School District, 42 miles southeast of here near Pine Bluff. Residents there have asked the governor to use all his powers to keep three Negroes from entering the 1,150-pupil all-white Dollarway School.

Old-Time Atom Victim Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Another member of the so-called "Society of the Living Dead"—that doomed group of women who in the 1920s painted radium on watch dials—died.

Beatrice Workman, 54, of suburban Park Ridge died Tuesday. An autopsy Wednesday showed death was from radium poisoning.

Her husband, Thomas, 57, told newsmen his wife had suffered from effects of the radium poisoning for 30 years.

Before her marriage in 1923, Mrs. Workman was one of a group of girls working at the Radium Dial Co. in Ottawa, Ill. It was their job to paint the numbers on watch faces with radium, so the dial would glow in the dark.

To keep the brushes pointed, the girls often licked the brush with their tongues before dipping it in a radium salt solution.

The Ottawa group totaled about 25 girls. How many still survive is not known. Hundreds of other women in similar jobs throughout the country also fell victim to the poisoning.

More than a dozen of the Ottawa group later sued for damages. The only one to win—Catherine Donohue—was dead before she could collect the $7,500 awarded her.

A year and a half ago, Workman said, his wife entered a hospital where a bone marrow sample indicated the presence of radium salts. She remained in the hospital until her death.

School Streets To Be Surfaced

An asphalt coating is planned for Sixth Street, in front of the Boydston School, and on Gollad, near the Junior high school.

Bruce Dunn, Director of Public Works, said the coating is a street maintenance measure to hold down dust in the school area. He added that it may be the first step toward a city-wide street stabilization program for many dirt streets.

Oil Runs Low, Sentiment High At Titusville

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The second great oil rush was on today in Titusville—only this time the oil ran low and the sentiment high.

This was the 100th birthday of the age of oil. A week-long centennial celebration had swelled this northwestern Pennsylvania city's normal population of 9,000 to nearly 35,000.

A century ago a youngster reportedly ran from a 60-foot deep hole in the ground to Edsin L. Drake, shouting "oil, oil, oil." In the accent and vernacular of the day, this meant "oil, oil, oil."

Drake was the bearded man sent by Connecticut speculators to try for oil near Titusville. He drilled the historic hole that became the world's first commercial oil well and brought on the first great oil rush in Titusville.

The well gave birth to the age of oil which ranks with the age of the wheel, the age of fire, steam, sail and bronze.

It someday may be supplanted by the atomic age, but you never would have suspected that here today.

The flow of oil in this old field is down to a trickle, but Titusville residents know that the place of their city in the history of oil will always be secure.

The birthday party carries on through Saturday, but this was the big day of speech-making and ceremony.

President Ends Adenauer Parley

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower reached London tonight to continue his talks with leaders of the Western Alliance. He flew in from Bonn, where he met 3 1/2 hours with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

BONN, Germany (AP)—President Eisenhower wound up his talks in Germany today with a pledge to protect the people of West Berlin and to stand fast against America's Western Allies against the menace of Soviet Communism.

Eisenhower conferred for 5 1/2 hours with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the two issued a communique pronouncing the Western alliance "of utmost importance to world peace."

The two governments, the communique said, hold mutual cooperation "one of the pillars of the foreign policies of the two countries."

Eisenhower told a news conference he saw no evidence here of disunity among the Western Allies.

At the same time the President said he believes closer unity of the nations of Western Europe "is really the hope for salvation of the world."

FIRM ASSURANCE The statements added up to a firm assurance by the President that in his forthcoming talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev he will do nothing to undercut the NATO alliance.

Eisenhower emphasized he will hold "conversations and not negotiations" with Khrushchev. The communique said Eisenhower "referred once again to the pledge given by the United States and its allies to protect the freedom and welfare of the people of Berlin."

Eisenhower and Adenauer, the communique said, engaged in "a private detailed discussion on worldwide political questions."

It listed some of them: Disarmament, Berlin and German reunification, European integration and Allied unity.

Eisenhower left Bonn with the ringing cheers of the West German public. When he walked from Adenauer's Palais Schaumburg, thousands were lined up to say goodby.

Cries of "I like Ike" were heard. Some spectators threw bouquets of flowers.

Eisenhower waved back, beaming with delight.

He then took off in a helicopter for Wahn Airport en route to London and talks with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Adenauer accompanied him in the helicopter. Crowds broke through the police lines a mile to pat him on the back.

At the airport, Adenauer went inside the waiting presidential Boeing 707 jet with Eisenhower for a few moments, then the two emerged.

In farewell, Eisenhower said to the interpreter: "Tell him, too, to use those choppers (helicopters) rather than automobiles. They are much less wearing on the nerves."

Eisenhower's plane then took off for London, about 23 hours after it had arrived here.

Before returning to the United States Sept. 4, he will visit Paris for discussions with President Charles de Gaulle.

Eisenhower told his news conference he believes Adenauer shares his view that the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks may "melt a little of the ice" in the cold war.

"I think so," the President said in response to a reporter's question. "At least that was the impression I got."

NO INDICATION As to whether the 83-year-old German leader indicated any misgivings about the Soviet-American talks, Eisenhower replied: "I will certainly say I saw no indication of that."

Eisenhower talked with Adenauer 2 1/2 hours. Only an interpreter was present during more than half the meeting.

The President leaves for London late today for five days of talks with British leaders. He will wind up with two days in Paris.

In response to a question, Eisenhower said he and Adenauer discussed no new proposal for settling the dispute over Berlin.

He was asked whether he and Adenauer discussed problems dealing with France.

"We have to talk about France because we are talking about NATO. And France is a very important part of NATO. So I can assure you that we talked about France very considerably," he replied.

U. S. Increases Aid To Laos To Stem Communist Tide

WASHINGTON (AP)—American aid in increased amount was earmarked for Laos today amid hopes that the tiny Kingdom's own troops can cope with Communist attacks.

The State Department announced Wednesday the U.S. step up in aid—following an urgent appeal from the Laotian capital of Vientiane—in order to boost the size of Laos' 25,000-man army and supply it with light equipment ranging from small arms to tents.

The United States already has been pouring in aid at the rate of about 30 million dollars this year, two-thirds of it to take care of the Laotian army payroll.

How much more money will be added, and how big a Laotian army and local police force will be subsidized, was not disclosed.

The Southeast Asian county had about 30,000 men in its army when the 1954 Geneva armistice ended the Indochina war. Its local village militia total 16,000.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-N.Y.), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, urged that America send Marines to Laos and station an aircraft carrier in the area.

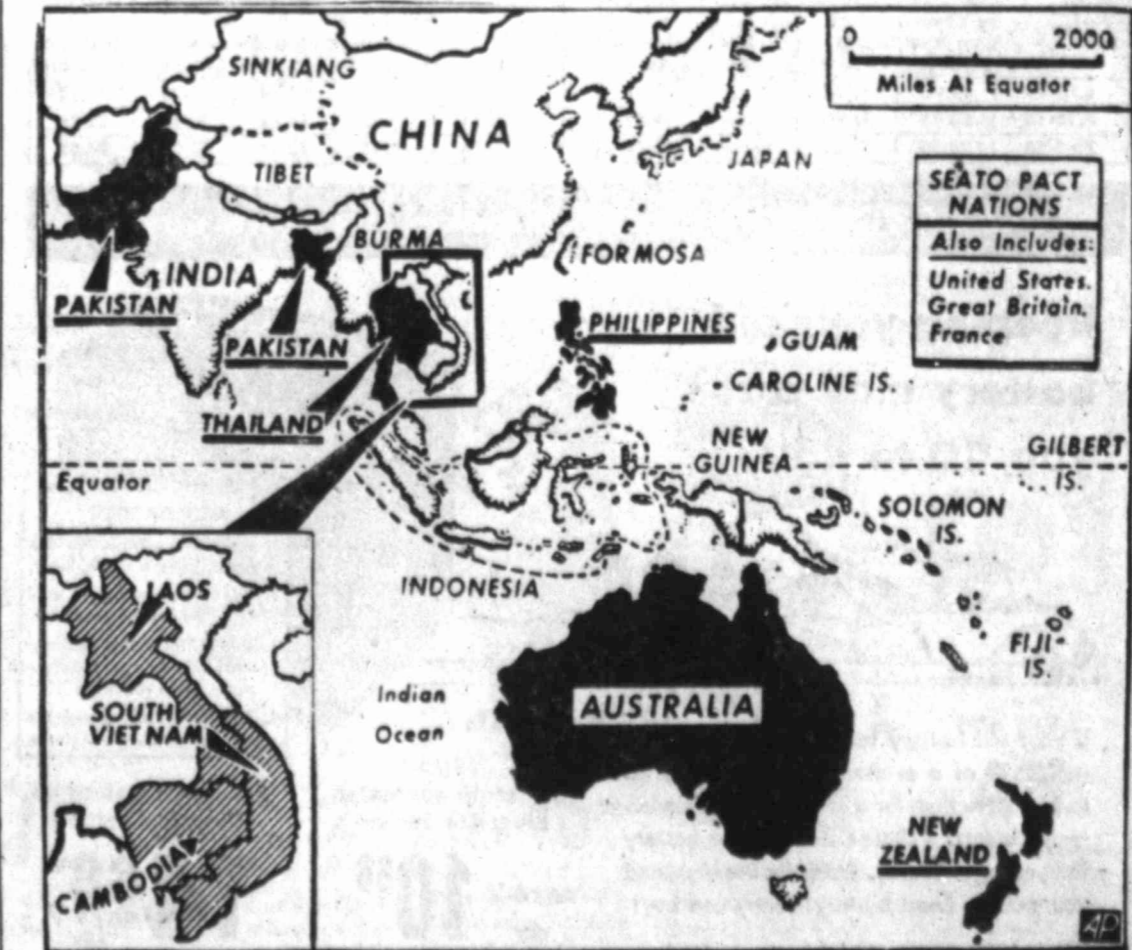

State Department press officer Lincoln White, however, said he knows of no plan for intervention by American troops or by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The SEATO defense organization which includes the United States and seven other nations with Southeast Asia interests was scheduled to meet here in unusual session late in September. But officials hoped the heavier U.S. aid, plus some U.N. support sought by Laos, would take care of the Red menace.

White pointed an accusing finger at neighboring North Viet Nam, Communist China and Moscow in denouncing the attacks by Communist rebels which have centered on northern provinces along the border between Laos and North Viet Nam.

Reports on just what is happening in Laos' mountains and jungles are still sketchy here. Estimates on the number of Reds who are inside the kingdom's borders now range from 800 to 3,000. Communist infiltrators are said to have spread widely in the past few days, but only minor skirmishes have been reported.

Washington has no official word of Red Chinese troops entering the fray. The Vientiane government says the rebel bands are being trained and supplied by North Viet Nam, and in some cases led by North Vietnamese officers.

Where Trouble Brews This map locates Southeast Asia Treaty Organization nations in Asia and the South Pacific. The government of Laos claims armed threats by Communist rebels is growing steadily more serious. However, Laos has not asked aid from the United Nations or from SEATO.

Webb Flier Awarded His Wings As Senior Pilot

Capt. Keith W. Matson whose home is in Burke, S. D., and who is now on duty at Webb Air Force Base, has been awarded the "Senior Pilot" wings. This rating is automatic upon completion of 2,000 hours of flying time and 7 years as a rated pilot. In recognition of the attainment he was presented with the wings of the senior pilot — the pilot's wings with the star — at a ceremony at base headquarters recently.

The captain is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and entered the flying training program at Columbus, Miss., following his graduation from the Academy. He took his advanced flight training at Reese AFB, Lubbock, Texas.

His first assignment as a pilot was with the 109th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at Minneapolis. He served two years with the 109th, leaving there for Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1954; at Fairbanks he joined the 18th, F-1 Squadron. In 1956 he came to Webb as base communication officer.

Recently he was reassigned to Installations Group as Executive Officer.

Capt. Matson is an electronics major and teaches a class in this subject two nights each week at the Howard County Junior College. His chief interest away from his desk and outside the classroom is golf; although he never aspired to anything higher than a low ninety, he seldom achieves even this modest passion.

He is married to the former

Flaming Object Not Nose Cone

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force says a flaming object reported crashed to earth in northern California a week ago couldn't have been the missing nose cone of Discoverer VI.

The Air Force sent out search parties Wednesday while it checked with ballistic missile experts at Stanford. Then it called off its search, explaining: Wendell Norby and Ronald Fiori said they saw and heard the object at 1 p.m. last Thursday. Missiles experts said the space satellite didn't release its cone until 2 p.m.

The object may have been a meteorite. It fell about 13 miles west of Santa Rosa.

Sar Angelo Flier Jumps From Plane

NEWTON, N.C. (AP) — Two of three crewmen of a twin-jet Navy bomber parachuted to safety before the plane crashed near here last night. The fate of the pilot was not known.

Electrician J.C. William Mitchell and Belton E. R. Wilson, the bombardier, received minor cuts and bruises.

Neither of the men could say whether the pilot parachuted.

The men, based at Sanford, Fla., were on a training mission. Mitchell said both engines of the Sky Warrior failed at 44,000 feet. Mitchell, 22, lives in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Wilson, 30, is a native of San Angelo, Tex.

About 43 per cent of the cars inspected last year needed repairs. Average cost was $1.02 per car. The inspection costs one dollar.

Alaskan Officials Doubt Sergeant's Story Of Vein

COLD BAY, Alaska, (AP) — Is there a fabulously rich vein of mercury in southwestern Alaska as a Norfolk, Va., Air Force enlisted man contends?

Alaska officials said Wednesday they didn't think so and cast doubt on reports by Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett that he has inherited claims to a cinnabar lode worth 40 million dollars and perhaps more.

Wallace G. MacNice, deputy U.S. commissioner, said Howlett, now stationed at Castle Air Force Base near Merced, Calif., had filed six claims in the Chignik area, 200 miles northeast of here.

But, said MacNice, Howlett filled them out incorrectly and the claims were returned with instructions to refile them. They have not yet been received here, he said.

Howlett said he inherited the claim from the late Cora Dinmore, a crippled widow he had befriended. However, MacNice said records here, which go back to 1869, fail to mention any persons named Dinmore.

Howlett claims he found 12 to 18 miles of solid, thick cinnabar veins when he went to the Cold Bay area to check out the claims.

"There may be mercury in that area," one Alaska official stated, "but anything that size would be fantastic."

MacNice also expressed doubts of the size of the lode. The six claims "couldn't be that big under current laws," he said.

Howlett isn't worried. "I've seen it and know it's there," he said. "I'm going back."

2 Men 'Wed' In Proxy Rites
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two local men stood in front of Justice of the Peace Albert Trevino Wednesday and heard him say "I now pronounce you man and wife."

A woman had been scheduled to stand in for the bride, but when she failed to show up her place was taken by the court's civil clerk, Herman Lin.

Former Clerk Gets False Entry Term
HOUSTON (AP) — Arthur Sims, a former deputy Harris County Clerk, was sentenced to two years in prison Wednesday for making a false entry in county records.

Sims was free on $5,000 bond pending an appeal. Six other indictments for false entry are pending against him.

He was indicted after an investigation showed a shortage of nearly $90,000 in fees in the clerk's office over a nine-year period.

Lyndon Urges Nation Back Ike During Khrushchev Visit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Americans must—and will—stand behind President Eisenhower in making the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev serve the nation's best interest, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) told the American Legion National convention today.

"I have no fears that Mr. Khrushchev can contaminate the American people," the Senate majority leader said. "We can take in stride the best brainwashing he can offer. Our problem is to see to it that Khrushchev will have a true picture of our country, a true picture of our people and our purpose."

Johnson spoke as Legion delegates prepared to vote on foreign relations resolutions, some reportedly aimed at condemning the Khrushchev visit and calling for a tougher stand against the Soviets in the cold war.

Legionnaires have remained critical of the Khrushchev tour even after a talk in support of it before the convention Tuesday by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In his prepared text, Johnson said this country could gain by opening Khrushchev's eyes to its progress because "we have no fear of the truth."

But he warned that the Soviet leader might "like to make a deal with a marked deck."

"He probably would like to influence with a nice, big slice marked out for the Soviet Union," Johnson said. "But the American people are not going to make such a deal. We do not believe in a world divided into spheres. We believe in a world where people have a freedom of choice."

"And so long as there is a Soviet sphere of influence which includes Hungary, Poland, East Germany and other satellites no one can say that this is a world of free choice."

AFL-CIO President George Meany, another speaker, echoed Johnson's that Soviet-American problems cannot be dissolved with Khrushchev's visit.

El Paso Bridge Opening Planned
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican and United States ambassadors are expected today for the opening of a third international bridge across the Rio Grande at El Paso.

The bridge, built on Mexican territory in 1949, is being opened to international traffic for the first time.

"Americans must judge the Soviet leaders by their policies, their objectives and deeds and not by the sweet words and jovial manners which have been especially planned, I am sure, for Khrushchev's visit," Meany declared in his prepared speech.

Citing the Soviet premier's often-voiced determination to defeat the United States in peaceful competition, the AFL-CIO leader asked:

"Why then is the Soviet Union so feverishly at work building a colossal military machine and why is Khrushchev in adamant opposition to world disarmament through effective international inspection?"

Meany said that only the military strength of the Western free nations had deterred the Kremlin thus far from war aimed at a "made in Moscow" peace.

"We must never allow the Soviets to talk us into surrendering any position vital to the security of our nation and the free world," Meany said.

Temper of the 41st national convention was foreshadowed Wednesday when approval was given a resolution opposing any cultural exchanges between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Methodists See Dance Program

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Man's social condition, especially the problem of race relations, was presented through interpretive dancing and music Wednesday night at the National Convocation of Methodist Youth.

The program, entitled "The Dialogue," featured the Dave Brubeck jazz quartet; Odetta, a Negro folk singer; the Mary Anthony dancers and the Southern Methodist University Choir.

Some 6,000 youngsters saw two young males, one white and one Negro, dance cautiously toward each other with hands outstretched. But before contact they pivoted away as if to symbolize the conflict and tensions between the races.

The meeting at Purdue University also has featured a jazz accompaniment for prayer services, led by Edgar Summerlin, North Texas music teacher. He wrote the jazz music for the prayer service.

Badman's Girl Caught In Lubbock

LUBBOCK (AP) — Federal agents Wednesday night arrested Peggy Ann Frye, girl friend of a badman listed among the nation's 10 most wanted criminals.

She was arrested in a Midland motel on a warrant charging her with harboring Harry Raymond Pope, 39. She was to be transferred to Pecos today for arraignment before a federal commissioner.

Another of Pope's girl friends, Rita Louise Norris, 36, surrendered to Lubbock officials Wednesday.

Mrs. Norris, the widow of a notorious southwest gunman, also faces arraignment on a charge of harboring Pope, who stayed at large two weeks after having achieved a spot on the FBI's most-wanted list.

Pope was sought for a drug store holdup last November in Phoenix, Ariz., where he escaped in a flurry of gunfire.

FBI agents said Pope was in a trailer registered in the name of Mrs. Norris. Her husband was Gene Paul Norris, killed near Fort Worth in 1957 when officers foiled a bank robbery plot.

Woman's Odd Highway Death Puzzles California Police

COACHELLA, Calif. (AP) — "Right now," said the highway patrolman, "we're just listing it as a traffic fatality."

But there was more than that to the strange death of Jean Elizabeth Wood.

She stood on Highway 99 Wednesday miles from civilization, and stared death in the eyes. The eyes were the headlights of a huge truck bearing down on her. She didn't budge. The truck driver didn't see her. He just felt a thud.

Her body landed 110 feet from the point of impact.

Authorities today were still trying to figure it out. The 26-year-old woman was wearing a black party dress, in the middle of nowhere. She had no car nearby.

The nearest house was miles away. Coachella, the closest town, was 20 miles north.

James Frye, 25, of South Tortorance, Calif., saw her killed. He had driven by, ahead of the truck, and almost hit her himself.

"Suddenly there she was in front of me," he said. "I slid off a girl there in the desert."

"What are you doing?" I shouted.

"She just stood there, and sorta looked over at me. I started to get out and grab her, because I saw this truck coming. But there wasn't time. She was looking at the truck when it hit her. It was terrible."

The truck driver, Fredrick Widemann of Artesia, Calif., found her body. Frye didn't want to look.

Rain Covers Much Of State

By The Associated Press

Cloudy skies dumped rain over much of Texas Thursday, even as some areas mopped up from flash flooding caused by downpours Wednesday.

Wichita Falls and College Station reported rain at dawn and thundershower activity was noted in the area bounded by Houston, Texarkana, Waco, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Scattered cloudiness in the Rio Grande Valley and the El Paso area hinted at possible moisture for those areas.

The rains came as residents along the Gulf Coast relaxed at the end of the threat of a tropical storm. The disturbance, eyed warily after it appeared Tuesday in the Gulf of Mexico, lashed the coast with a tornado, strong wind and high tides even though it never reached tropical storm proportions.

The tornado damaged an apartment house roof and lifted the metal roof from an auto repair shop when it dipped down near Pasadena Wednesday.

Traffic was snarled in Galveston, Houston and San Antonio when heavy rains filled underpasses and intersections.

A downpour of 2.07 inches in Houston halted cargo operations and resulted in a traffic jam of sorts in the Houston ship channel. At least nine freighters waited in Galveston Bay to enter the channel while 16 vessels stood by in the port.

The rain also posed the threat of flooding along the bayous.

Total Houston rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Wednesday was 3.59 inches. Palacios had 2.94 inches, Beaumont 1.43, Kingsville 1.11, Galveston an inch, Austin .46, Killeen .36, Longview .33, San Antonio .18, Harlingen .16, Laredo .15, Tyler .11 and Beeville .10.

Wednesday's maximum temperatures ranged from 77 at College Station and Lufkin to 96 at Presidio. Most readings were in the 80s.

State's Vets Land Program Snagged

AUSTIN (AP) — A shortage of money and a high bond market have all but halted Texas' Veterans Land Program.

Only 3½ million dollars of 137½ million dollars sold in bonds remains for ex-GIs eligible to purchase ranches and farms on long term, low-interest rates from the state.

To keep the program breathing, land office officials said Wednesday, the number of applications sent out each week to veterans has been reduced from 275 to 50.

A. T. (Moon) Mullins, chief clerk, said this probably will keep the state's only bonus program for veterans in operation until October, 1960. The following month voters will have an opportunity to raise the limit on interest rates the state may pay to make more money available.

A total of 63½ million dollars in bonds may be issued when the market either drops below the 3 per cent constitutional limitation or the ceiling is raised to 3½ per cent on the amendment. Latest bond market figures put the going rate at 3.59 per cent.

Land commissioner William Allcorn, a former Brownwood district attorney, said when the remaining bonds are sold enough money will be in hand to keep the program going another 2½ to 3 years.

The state supreme court held in May, 1958, that a veteran buying forfeited property must pay all delinquent taxes. When money is short, forfeited property becomes the best way for veterans to get land in a hurry.

"We now advise veterans to check with the local tax agencies to see how much back taxes are due on the property. The veteran has to pay these taxes and it cannot be covered in the loan," Mullins said.

Some 854 tracts have been forfeited because of non-payment but most have been either reinstated or resold. Only 211 tracts now are listed as forfeited.

Some 59,312 veterans have filed for applications under the program. The board has mailed 31,550 applications and officials said about 29 per cent are consummated in contracts.

Mullins said 1,997,404 acres have been bought by the state at an average price of $69.39.

Veterans will have to pay higher interest rates if the constitutional amendment is approved—probably about one-half of one per cent above the interest rate the board must agree to in order to sell its bonds.

The maximum state outlay is $7,125 per veteran. The GI pays a $375 down payment and can pay back the remainder in 2½ per cent interest up to 40 years. The state will sign a contract for any eligible property up to $15,000 with the veteran paying the difference above $7,125.

Old Folks Homes Veto Spells Battle

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel's veto of plans for new homes for old folks promised disagreement among House and Senate appropriations leaders.

"It's the prerogative of the governor to make any vetoes he wants," Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria told the Associated Press.

"The veto surprised me," said Rep. Williams S. Heatly, Paducah.

Daniel knocked out the $1,216,000 appropriation aimed at constructing old folks' quarters in Vernon, Austin, Kerrville, and other cities. At the same time, the more than 50-year-old Confederate home at Austin would be emptied. It now holds 800 aged Texans.

The governor took the action Tuesday when he signed the $2,418,000,000 general spending bill to pay for the state's operations the two years beginning Sept. 1.

Fly and Heatly headed the joint conference committee which worked out the spending bill. Daniel said he eliminated the quarters for seniles because the state doesn't have the responsibility, the money wasn't requested in the budget he received and "the state policy should be to get these unfortunate people in private rest homes near their families rather than making them permanent patients of our hospital system."

Raymond Vowell, executive director of the hospital board, said a supplemental request for the quarters was made. He said about 5,000 seniles are now under the board's care.

"We are not supposed to hold any except those that are insane," Fly said. "As a practical matter we know we hold some that are not insane and that's an unfortunate situation. That comes out through the situation that too many young people don't want them around."

Heatly said the state has taken care of seniles for numerous years, adding: "They have always been considered a responsibility of the state government. I don't know of any legislative act that has relieved us of that responsibility."

Heatly said the Confederate home is a "fire trap." Vowell agreed, but Fly said "I've seen a fire report on the Confederate Home and it's in pretty good shape."

Heatly also disagreed with the governor knocking out a $1,033,000 appropriation for the Legislature's between-session expenditures. Daniel said $333,000 appropriated earlier was enough.

Heatly said the money is needed to put a new carpet in the House chamber and refinish desks. Some money also would go to fix individual offices for representatives and operate between-session committees. The Senate got a new carpet last year. Senators have separate offices.

Khrushy Says Talks May Aid In 'Adjustment'

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says his talks with President Eisenhower may mean the start of gradual adjustment of outstanding differences between the Communists and the West. But he says Soviet opposition to Western ideas on German reunification haven't relaxed a bit.

The Soviet Premier in a new note to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said once more that the great powers should leave the reunification of Germany to negotiations between the East and West German governments.

Khrushchev sent his letter to Adenauer nine days ago but it was published only Wednesday night—apparently timed with Eisenhower's arrival in Bonn for talks with the West German chancellor.

The West contends that reunification must be worked out by the Big Four who led the fight against Hitler Germany after the war. The Western Allies also refused to recognize the East German regime on an equal basis with the West German government.

Khrushchev wrote the West German chancellor that his own talks with Eisenhower could result in "mutually acceptable decisions."

But the Soviet Premier warned Adenauer against using West Germany's growing economic strength toward the building of military strength.

"If the Western Germans use all the economic potential and manpower resources of their country for creating the most powerful army in Western Europe," he wrote, "even then the strength of that army would not be equal to the power of our army and that of the armies of our allies."

"Even together with its allies the Federal Republic of Germany would not be able to equal our strength."

Avant Funeral Rites Pending

Funeral services for Mrs. Nora C. Avant, 74, are pending at River Funeral Home, Mrs. Avant, who suffered a heart attack two years ago, died suddenly at her home 406 San Jacinto, at 1 a. m. today.

She had lived in Big Spring since 1940.

Mrs. Avant was born May 26, 1885 in Henderson County. She was a charter member of the Park Methodist Church here.

She married A. W. Avant, who survives her, on Aug. 4, 1907 in Maybank.

Survivors, in addition to the husband, include four daughters, Mrs. Frances Everhart, San Lorenzo, Calif.; Mrs. Charles Downing, Big Spring; Mrs. Nora Ragsdale, Texas City and Mrs. Mattie Fribelle, Knickerbocker. There are two children who predeceased their mother. She has 19 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Avant's grandfather, the late Rev. T. Sharp, was the first ordained Presbyterian minister in the state of Texas.

Habit Saves Boy's Life

BOSTON (AP)—Bobby Eaton is alive today because Helen Staton has a habit of looking out the kitchen window to see how the kids in the back yard are getting along.

When Mrs. Staton looked out the window Wednesday she let out a frightening scream. She saw Bobby hanging by his neck from a clothesline.

Bobby, who is 5, had climbed on a shed, peered over the edge and toppled onto the clothesline. Two lines noosed his neck and his flailing arms and legs only increased the pressure on his throat.

George Slattery heard his wife scream, picked up a knife, ran into the yard and cut the clothesline. Other neighbors applied artificial respiration and Bobby was rushed to a hospital.

Doctors said he was rescued before serious damage was done.

Hereford Tour Is Slated Saturday

Ten herds will be inspected Saturday on the autumn tour of the Howard-South Plains Hereford Assn.

Officers of the association have issued an invitation to cattlemen, businessmen and all others interested in good cattle to join the one-day tour starting at 7:15 a. m. The itinerary calls for starting at 7:15 a. m. at the Creighton Hereford Ranch two miles west of Big Spring on U. S. 80. At 8:15 a. m. the group is to be at Caudle Hereford Farm, eight miles southwest of Big Spring.

From this point the tour will swing back northeast to the Buchanan Hereford farm 10 miles northeast of Big Spring at 9:10 a. m. At 9:50 a. m. the party will be at the Leland Wallace Hereford Farm, nine miles northeast of town. The C. A. Walker Hereford Farm, 13 miles northeast, will be visited at 10:30 a. m.; the Jack Buchanan Hereford Farm, 13 miles north of Big Spring at 11:15 p. m.

Lunch, a free barbecue, is set for 12:45 p. m. in Snyder at Towle Park. The tour will be resumed at 2 p. m. with a visit to the Winston Brothers Ranch two miles south of Snyder, followed by a trip to the Odem Hereford Ranch 12 miles northeast of Snyder at 2:30 p. m.

Heading back, those on the tour will stop at the Thompson Hereford Ranch at 3:50 p. m. and finally at the F. A. Youngblood & Son ranch 14 miles east of Lamar.

No Guilty Pleas Are Yet In Sight

How many of the 17 persons indicted by the grand jury earlier this week will plead guilty remained uncertain Thursday.

"We only have seven of the defendants in jail," Gil Jones, district attorney, pointed out. "The others are out on bond. We have made no effort as yet to sound out the seven or their intentions."

The grand jury returned 17 indictments out of 25 cases submitted for its consideration. This is the lightest grand jury docket in many months, Jones said, and the smallest number of indictments to be returned.

"I don't know what happened," he said. "For months on end we have been rushed by a mass of criminal cases and then all of a sudden it drops off to almost nothing."

He said that the next criminal jury docket in the 118th District Court will be on Sept. 21. Some of the cases billed by the recent grand jury will probably be called for trial at that time.

GRAND RUSH First Graders Are Being Registered

First graders were enrolling for their initial school year at all of the city's elementary schools today.

The school superintendent's office said that no indication of the number of youngsters who are registering was available. It will probably be Monday, the superintendent estimated, before any accurate figure on the number of new pupils in the school system will be available.

Meantime, Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, and her deputies voiced the belief that the number of new pupils this year will shatter all previous records.

They are basing their prophecy on the applications which have been received at that office for birth certificates — an essential document for the youngster just starting on his school career.

Babies born 1952 and 1953 comprise this year's crop of first year pupils.

Mrs. Petty estimated that not less than 60 applicants for certificates had been in her office this morning and the tempo has been the same throughout this week.

A citywide showing of the latest Billy Graham film, "The Heart Is a Rebel," is set for 7:30 p. m. today at the First Baptist Church.

As in the case of all such films, there is no admission although a free will offering will be received.

Georgia Lee and John Milford have the lead roles of the contemporary couple who find themselves divided on a fundamental issue. The husband, an advertising executive, cannot rationalize his wife's sudden acceptance of the Christian faith.

Others in the film include Ethel Waters, whose day-to-day Christian spirit becomes a living sermon and who sings "His Eye Is on the Sparrow"; and Jane Withers, former child star who is now a housewife in Hollywood.

Everyone is invited to witness the sound film, said Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the host church. The picture is a full length feature.

LeTourneau Puts Steel On Market

LONGVIEW (AP)—R. G. LeTourneau Inc., announced today it is placing products of its steel division on the open market.

The announcement came as steel supplies dwindled as the strike in the big steel mills continue.

LeTourneau said the move is to further diversify an extensive product line.

The announcement said the company will make available to southern industry an additional supply of high quality steel plate which frequently is in short supply due to peak demands in other geographic areas.

Vice President R. L. LeTourneau said his firm has employed James R. Anderson of Dallas to assist in handling the needs of steel customers.

Previously the output of the steel plant here has gone to supply the LeTourneau manufacturing facilities in Longview and Vicksburg, Miss.

Production has been stepped up at the 300-ton-per-day mill.

Mexican Earthquake Toll May Reach 40

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Southern Mexico today counted at least 10 dead following the nation's worst earthquake of the year. Communications were still out to many points, and some estimates of the toll went as high as 40 dead.

The quake hit about 2:20 a. m. Wednesday, spreading destruction and panic across the six tropical states of Veracruz, Oaxaca, Campeche, Yucatan, Puebla and Tabasco. The heaviest shocks apparently were felt on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, narrowest Mexican point between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific.

Subterranean rumblings accompanying the earth shocks added to the panic.

Officials said the number of injured may reach 130, or more. Jalitpan, a small town 25 miles from the Gulf Coast in southern Veracruz state, apparently was hardest hit. An official report said seven were killed there, but Pemex, the government oil monopoly said its Jalitpan office reported 20 dead, 130 injured and between 60 and 80 per cent of the town's buildings damaged.

Acayucan reported two deaths and 40 injuries. An official report said there was another death at Chinameca and an undetermined number of Saylor.

Ike Rates Top Type In German Papers

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West German newspapers used their biggest type in approving headlines today on President Eisenhower's visit to Bonn.

"America Side by Side With Germany," said an eight-column banner in the mass circulation Bild Zeitung.

"We Stand Side by Side," echoed Bonn's General Anzeiger. The Ruhr Nachrichten proclaimed "Triumphal Visit of Eisenhower" while the Frankfurter Neue Presse bannered "Hundreds of Thousands Cheer Eisenhower."

Many papers used half of their front pages for pictures showing Eisenhower and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer inspecting the Guard of Honor at Wahn Airfield.

The welcome was "the most pompous since the Federal (West German) Republic was founded," the widely read Frankfurter Rundschau said editorially.

Rejecting Christianity, Yank Found Shangri-La In Buddhism

By JOHN RODERIC
 KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Japanese who know him are reminded physically of Yui Brynner, but 35-year-old Robert Carl Wheeler is about as far as you can get from Hollywood glamor.

This bald-pated young Missourian is a Buddhist monk who has tramped barefooted, begging bowls in hand, through the storied mountains around Kyoto.

He is one of three Americans who have, in recent years, crossed the Pacific to find a personal Shangri La in this capital of old Japan.

The other two are William Fygaro, of Boston, who began life as a professional musician and actor, and Philip Karl Edmann, of Minnesota. Both have been here nine years.

The three represent a growing and serious interest in the United States and in Europe of the philosophy, art, literature and the religions of the East.

Though Wheeler's Buddhist name is "Shuzen," or "Perfect Completion," and he wears the ceremonial stole of Buddhist monks while chanting the sutras — Buddhist scriptures — he is, in every day life, a monk on a motorcycle.

Dressed in tweed jacket and turtle-neck sweater, a chain-smoker of Japanese cigarettes, he puts on every day to the Kyoto Women's University, a Buddhist school for 9,000 students of all denominations, to teach English.

For Wheeler, of St. Joseph, Mo., Buddhism is the end of a long road in search of a religious philosophy he felt he could live by. He prepared for it by majoring in psychology and sociology at the University of Nebraska.

Son of a devout Congregationalist mother, he rejected Christianity because he says he found in it an oppressive sense of guilt and sin.

"Buddhism is said to be negative. It is in its answers, but in its results, it is positive," he adds. "And, in Buddhism, one can find morality untainted by the guilt motif."

He tried Hinduism, but, "I found it atheistic and devoid of compassion at its core."

"At this stage, one of my close friends at the University of Nebraska, a Japanese-American, encouraged me to go to Hawaii where, he assured me, I could be the guest of his father," Wheeler says. "I went and found the father was a Buddhist priest. My three-month visit turned into a two-year stay, during which I lived at the temple, soaked up Buddhist philosophy, and taught high school on the side.

"I still had not become a Buddhist, but now was determined to live in Japan to get closer to Buddhism.

"But before I could get there I had an interlude of two years, studying psychology at the University of Mexico.

"And, on the way to Japan, I stopped again in Hawaii where I waited another three years, earning $1,000 a month as a representative of a steel company.

"When I finally arrived in Tokyo in 1953 it was as an insurance salesman."

It took him another year to open the way to Kyoto where he met Edmann, gave up his job, and prepared for the Buddhist priesthood. He joined the noble, old Tendai sect.

Wheeler studied a year and a half, mastering both Buddhism and Japanese, before entering the priesthood.

After his ordination, he spent a year reading the sutras, studying and following a mendicant's life.

1,000 Strikers Heckle Meet, Then Walk Out

TEXAS CITY (AP)—An estimated 1,000 striking union employees of the American Oil Co. refinery here heckled speakers at a back-to-work meeting Wednesday night, then walked out at the call of one of their leaders.

The walkout apparently stymied efforts to launch a back-to-work movement at the refinery where some 1,200 employees have been on strike for eight weeks in a dispute over job classifications.

Jim Brigrance, a member of the back-to-work committee, told newsmen, "There are a lot of men who want to go back to work but apparently they are afraid to do so."

There was no immediate action from plant manager B. F. Babin. The company sent letters to all striking employees offering them a choice of returning to work by Wednesday or being replaced.

Babin said the deadline is being extended until Saturday to determine what workers will be replaced. He said more than 100 men have written letters saying they want to return to work and a greater number had telephoned to say they would like to return but dare not for fear of retaliation. He did not say whom they feared.

Brigrance called the back-to-work meeting to order last night in the municipal recreation center and immediately the hall was filled with yells of "Let's go home," whistling and catcalls.

Shouting and whistling continued until Al Grosipron, secretary-treasurer of Local 4-449 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, told the crowd under the rules of the local and international union, business could only be discussed at a meeting called by union officers in the local's hall or at the plant.

"As an official of the local I can not in conscience remain here," he said. "I am leaving."

As Grosipron left the hall the crowd, except for a handful, cleared the auditorium.

Long CAB Hearing Indicates Texas' Large Role In Aviation

By TEX EASLEY
 AP Special Service
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas' stake in commercial aviation has been demonstrated by the role of Texas in the long hearing over transcontinental service across the South—the largest case ever to come before the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Nine trunk lines are competing for the right to fly all or part of the route. They're spending millions to push their applications.

The winner will have a multi-million dollar business handed to it on a platter. Two carriers may get certificates—one probably flying via New Orleans, Houston-San Antonio and El Paso; the other via Atlanta-Birmingham and Dallas-Fort Worth.

The hearing now is in recess until Sept. 21.

At present there are no non-stop commercial plane flights coast-to-coast across the southern tier of states, and the trip from South-eastern states to the West Coast can be made in one plane only through an interchange of equipment between connecting airlines.

The case grew out of a request by the city of Houston for an examination of its air service needs, especially to the West Coast.

Houston earlier had sought without success to intervene in the Dallas-to-the West case.

Hearings at which local civic and business leaders were given an opportunity to present their views were held in Houston and Los Angeles in May and in Miami in June.

The case then was transferred here for a hearing for the airline applicants. American, Braniff, Capital, Continental and Delta have offered their arguments. Eastern was about through when the hearing was recessed Aug. 21 for a month. Still to be heard are National, TWA and Western.

When the hearing is concluded CAB Examiner Edward T. Stodola will review the voluminous records and documents, then write an "initial decision" which in effect will be a recommendation to the five-man board.

Stodola's report is unlikely until early next year. Unquestionably his findings will be objected to by some of the applicants. The final decision by the board, which normally grants a session for oral arguments by attorneys for the applicants, is unlikely before late 1960.

Some 75 cities have been requested in the hearings.

Dallas has had two men present nearly every minute, and sometimes three. Representing Dallas have been George Terry, special attorney for the city, and Andrew DeShong, Chamber of Commerce official. Dale Miller, Washington representative for the city, has been present much of the time.

Fort Worth has been represented by Jim Bunnell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee.

The old Dallas-Fort Worth airport feud, not directly involved in the proceedings, nevertheless has bobbed up occasionally.

For example, Capt. Eddie Rick-enbacher, the World War I ace who heads Eastern Air Lines, was asked by reporters about the noise factor of jet planes landing at Dallas' Love Field.

"I told those fellows over in Dallas," chuckled the 69-year-old hero of two World Wars, "that if I were them I'd try to get over there and buy Amon Carter Field."

In a more serious vein he said steady progress is being made in suppression of noise from jets. He predicted that in 10 years commercial planes would be going 2,000 miles per hour.

Lubbock has had Ed Colby, who handles Lubbock Municipal Airport matters, here for the proceedings.

"I'm happy to see this recess so I can get back to Lubbock for a while," Colby said before leaving for home. "If we stay around here much longer they'll be counting us in the Washington census."

Houston has been represented by Morris Brownlee, aide to the city's mayor, and by Joe Foster, head of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee.

Sergeant Blames Marital Troubles For Robberies

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Thomas S. Thomas, 22, a former Army sergeant, blamed marital troubles today for a crime spree in which he says he committed robberies in Killen and Los Angeles.

Thomas said he also passed worthless checks in Denver and planned to hold up a bank here.

He surrendered Tuesday, telling police he decided to surrender when he considered the consequences of being caught robbing the bank.

Thomas was jailed for unlawful possession of a pistol and investigation of the robberies he says he committed.

Twins Born In Airliner

NEW YORK (AP)—Twin girls were born aboard an airliner over the Atlantic today.

The mother, Mrs. William B. Stivers, was flying to Bethlehem, Ky., to give birth at the home of her husband's parents. He is a U.S. airman stationed in England.

The Pan American World Airways plane was heading from London to Gander, Nfld., en route to New York.

Capt. Roland A. Bell, Massapequa, N.Y., radioed this message: "Passenger aboard plane in Labrador. Plane has No. 1 priority to land at Gander."

Then another message crackled: "Just been advised by stewardess that twins have been born. Will keep you advised."

After a stop at Gander came a third message: "Twins are girls. Mother and twins doing well at Banting Hospital, Gander."

Pan American said this was the first time twins had been born on one of its planes.

A doctor among the passengers and two stewardesses assisted in the birth. They are Dr. Clarence Ing, described as a missionary of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church; and Ellen Mandzik and Yolanda Sisto, both of Manhattan.

Railroad Collects From Mine Strike

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville & Nashville Railroad says it has received more than $100,000 from the United Mine Workers for losses during the lengthy eastern Kentucky coal strike.

The railroad's suit against the UMW was settled out of court. A federal judge's order prohibits further L&N damage suits against the union.

Ten days after the original suit the railroad obtained a restraining order banning UMW pickets from interfering with its operations.

The railroad's suit asked $450,000 damages plus $75,000 each day its operations in the coal fields were hampered.

Resolution Seeks Fair For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution aimed at determining which American city — if any — has a world fair in 1964 has been approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

New York, Washington and Los Angeles are dickering for a fair.

The resolution, approved Tuesday, suggests that the administration decide soon whether to ask the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris for permission to hold a fair.

If permission is sought and granted, the President should appoint a committee to recommend a city.

A Devotional For Today

Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. (Matthew 5:5.) PRAYER: Dear Lord and Father of mankind, forgive our feverish ways. Clothe us in humility because of our sins. We thank Thee for Thy grace. Lead us to accept redemption through Christ and dedicate ourselves in His service. In His name. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

An Eloquent Way To Give Support

Two events concerning our athletic program are under way this week. One is the membership campaign of the Quarterback Club; the other the season ticket sale for football games. Only next week the Quarterback Club will be staging its annual barbecue honoring members of the football squad. Your $3 membership fee includes a ticket to the barbecue. If you need other tickets, they are available at a very, very reasonable fee of $1.50, which leaves some for the club and its program. While the name would imply that the Quarterback Club is solely a football organization, this is not the case. This is the organization which backs all of our athletic program. In the past, it has even dipped down to lend a helping hand to the pep squad in its efforts to support the teams. Basketball, volleyball, etc. have been encouraged in various ways. As for the sale of season tickets, this is one of the most eloquent ways in which you can say you believe in the home town team, win, lose or draw. This is a way of saying that you won't just wait until you think a certain ball game is coming up and it looks like our chances are right, but that rather you'll be in the stands all season long. One of the complaints voiced locally — and sometimes from the students — is that adults are long on criticism and short on attendance. Well, it remains to be seen within about the next week how valid the youngsters' complaint may be. How about you?

Best Answer To The Problem

Perhaps we have become most aware of it through the medium of automobiles, but imports are cropping up in an increasing abundance in almost every realm of our marketing. The presence of imports is not undesirable, for we must trade in order to enjoy the fullest prosperity. Frequently, trade is the alternative to aid or subsidy. But when consistently the imports undersell our comparable products, then it is time to consider what is happening. There may be several answers to this. One is to suggest higher pay to everyone in order that they may be able to afford our production in preference to imports. Another would be to raise higher and higher tariffs to raise the costs of the imports to equal that of competitive domestic products.

In effect the first route is to boost compensation without commensurate increase in productivity, at best a fictitious raise. The alternate is to subsidize domestic industry, and to discourage or choke off foreign trade. Neither is a wholesome approach. The better course, especially at this precarious economic point, is to increase in compensation to increased productivity. Gains on both sides of the ledger then will be real and our goods will be more competitive. Then we can follow the next logical step, namely, the reduction of taxes. This will leave the individual citizen to spend a larger share of his earnings for his own needs and less in support of the government.

Inflationary Fear Of Inflation

WASHINGTON—Smoldering fires often do not attract attention whether in government or anything else. Then when a conflagration comes those who are responsible for the neglect run to cover. The Democratic party today controls both houses of Congress and is, therefore, responsible for the smoldering fires on the subject of interest rates. Despite urgent appeals from the executive branch of the government heretofore, nothing has been done by the lawmakers to remove the ceiling that keeps the interest rates on government bonds frozen. This means that nobody really knows what the real rate for government borrowing is and the consequence is a worldwide apprehension that the dollar is deteriorating. The answer that some Democrats make is that there has been "too much talk" about inflation and that the less said about it the better. Actually the lenders of money in the markets don't do much talking—they simply refuse to lend their money to the government at existing rates. They know money should bring higher rates and they are under no compulsion to lend when they can get better rates from private borrowers. Politically it is supposed to be had to allow interest rates to rise. But the fact is the politicians are driving the interest rates up artificially by refusing to let the market for government securities find its natural level. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, in a copyrighted interview this week in "U. S. News & World Report," said flatly that the fear of inflation has made the price of money go up. He declared: "If people who have money to lend begin to worry that the dollars they are loaning out now won't be worth as much when they get them back, then they are going to ask for a higher price. They'd like a little insurance against the likelihood of an inflationary price rise, and the only way they can get it is to charge more interest. Part of the additional interest is really an insurance premium. . . . When asked if the removal of the ceiling as now fixed by law would cause interest rates to rise, Secretary Anderson replied: "I do not believe that they would rise because of this recommended change in law. In the first place, while interest rates are influenced by government borrowing, interest rates in free credit markets are by no means determined by the rates we put on our new issues of securities. It's the other way around: The rates we select are determined, after considerable study and consultation, on the basis of what's been going on in the market, the rates on existing government securities, on corporate bonds and the like. So, removing the ceiling would simply permit us to meet the market. "Secondly, since ability to do some long-term borrowing would help hold back inflation, removal of the 4% per cent ceiling would tend to promote lower—not higher—rates of interest. Nothing shoots up interest rates as fast as fear of inflation. That's one reason rates rose so fast in the summer of 1953. Investors are understandably reluctant to tie up their funds in long-term bonds if they believe the value of the dollar will go down. If they become convinced that we'll protect the value of the dollar, partly through sound debt management, they will be more likely to buy long-term bonds at lower interest rates. . . . The secretary thinks that continuation of the ceiling on interest rates must inevitably force the United States more and more into a "controlled economy." It's the same old struggle between the believers in the law of supply and demand and those who think the government should manipulate money even if it has to resort to the "printing press." It is the possibility that this latter kind of situation may arise which is causing widespread fears of a run on American gold by Europeans who hold vast sums of dollars on deposit in this country. The problem has been before Congress for many months without any action. The results of the tragic failure to act are already emerging. Thus this week the Department of Commerce revealed that, although personal income rose in 1953, price increases wiped out the gains in purchasing power. This means further weakness in the dollar. Many of the Democrats in Congress are actually urging that the government "peg" bond prices. This has been done before and it has led to serious consequences. Marriner Eccles, who was once chairman of the Federal Reserve Board during a Democratic administration, recently said: "A large part of the postwar price inflation was a result of the Federal Reserve's purchasing billions of dollars of government securities at fixed prices in order to prevent an increase in interest rates. . . . The whole situation is smoldering now and Democratic leaders in Congress are apparently drifting along on the mistaken theory that the interest problem can be further neglected. They never made a bigger mistake." (Copyright 1955, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Curious. Our Own Theory On Hurricane Origin

James Marlow World Follows Ike's Footsteps

WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Eisenhower began slogging through the dismal swamp of international relations today, mankind followed in his steps, hoping that somehow he could lead the way to a sunlit beach. No one knows better than he the task before him: somehow working out with West Europe's leaders and later with Premier Nikita Khrushchev some solution to what has divided the world into two armed camps, hissing at each other. It may be an impossible task for him—or anyone else—at this moment in history. No wonder he has tried hard not to raise false hopes about his efforts. His reception Wednesday in Germany, where once he entered as a conqueror but now as an ally, was perhaps the greatest in his career. It was testimony to the high and warm regard in which Europe and perhaps even the Soviet Union still holds him. But there was more than regard in the cheers which Eisenhower himself called "overwhelming and magnificent." There was hope that he might produce the key to the icebox in which the cold war has kept the world for 14 years. To himself Eisenhower was probably saying: "I hope they are right." He can remember another journey made by another president, Woodrow Wilson, years ago, and the thunderous, almost frenzied, greeting given him when he landed in Europe after World War I. The Europeans looked to Wilson as the man of good will who would fashion a peace which would let all other men sleep quietly at night for generations. But it became a dismal peace, hardly more than a breathing spell for regrouping before the next war. He lived long enough to see the disillusioned, but the Europeans were disillusioned, too. The forces Wilson had to contend with—at home and abroad—were too much for him. He was idealistic. They weren't. If today Europe looks more idealistic, it may be an optical illusion. The same force at work there today — nationalism — frustrated Wilson. If Europe sounds more willing for peace it is because of the realism forced upon it by the new weapons might mean annihilation in a third war. The United States is nationalistic, too. So is the Soviet Union. So is Red China. So are the satellites. The world hasn't passed out of its era of nationalism—yet. Eisenhower knows that, too. So in talking with West Europe's leaders, America's allies, Eisenhower is talking with men who may have a sincere dedication to peace but each of whom is thinking in terms of his own country first. Eisenhower has to think that way, too. So does Khrushchev. Europe, and maybe even the U.S.S.R., looks upon Eisenhower as a man of good will. But there are differences among the Allies, which he will try to bridge over. He must pledge them he will make no secret deals with Khrushchev. If he and Khrushchev ever do agree on answers that might melt the cold war, they won't have much meaning unless the allies with whom Eisenhower is talking now can submerge their own nationalism long enough to approve, too.

Hal Boyle The Fine Way Of Thinking

NEW YORK (AP)—"Everybody has a desire to know the future," said Sylvia Fine. "Most people read their astrological charts in the morning, I wait and read mine in the evening—to find out what kind of day I had." Sylvia, wife of Danny Kaye, is a woman of brilliant wit and talent and unconventional ways. She is a gifted composer who has written a hundred songs, and the music for eleven films. She isn't the kind of artist who finds her inspiration in an atmosphere of moonlight and roses. "I write to order mostly," she said. "And I can write anywhere, anytime." Sylvia, daughter of a dentist, and Danny, son of an immigrant tailor, were both born in Brooklyn and grew up there only a few blocks apart. But they never met until 1939. They were married the next year, and climbed the heights of show business together. "A lot of people are under the impression that I handle the business, and do most of Danny's thinking for him," she says.

"That's not true. He has one of the quickest, brightest, most instinctively intelligent minds I've ever met." "I believe in inspiration, of course," she said. "But inspiration is merely the difference between a creative and a noncreative mind." One thing Sylvia doesn't share with her husband's hobby. "Danny has many doctor friends and on his days off likes to watch them perform operations." "I'm interested in medicine—there were five doctors in our family—but I'm not an operation-watcher." "It is enormously important to do everything the best you can," she says. "Never consciously to give less than your best in anything, in human relations as well as your work." "It is important, too, to remember that every day is a new day, and to make the best of it and enjoy it. The happiest people I know do that." "I can't always do it. I worry too much."

MR. BREGER Sign Is Prepared. SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A signboard showing three small girls, each holding her nose with a tissue, was put up on Harbor Drive. Just across the highway is a sewage disposal plant. Embarrassing Switch. HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Miss Corinne Geetersloh, Gov. Abraham Ribicoff's receptionist, was attracting special smiles and chuckles one morning recently, when a little chink disclosed the reason — her desk nameplate had been reversed. The back of it carried the phrase: "Give them what they want." He Slides To Safety. TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Seeing an automobile skidding toward him on icy pavement, 9-year-old Robert Butler flung himself down, grabbed the front bumper and slid along 100 feet beneath the car until it stopped in a shallow ditch. He suffered only bruises. "No, it's not you they're waiting to see—it's ME...!"

Around The Rim

The Beatnik Clan Beats Him

Like most folks, I ignored the current talk about "beatniks" when they first began to hit the headlines. Unfortunately, I finally decided to read some of their so-called writings, after they came out in paper backs. After reading some of the fiction and a few of the poems, I still can't figure out what all the racket is about. I think it is significant that most of this stuff is not handled by the better publishers. Instead, it comes bound by a publisher who probably is trying to ride the wave of success miraculously being enjoyed by the bearded set. Perhaps there is something to their writing, but it is a bit too obscure for me. Most of it appears about as ridiculous as modern art and certainly the latter is one of the biggest frauds of recent times. The most amusing things to me about the beat set is their complaint of conformity. This, if you please, is one excuse why they write and paint as they do. Yet, the beatniks have established a conformity all their own. And they rigidly adhere to it. For instance, a beatnik must wear sloppy clothes, wear dark glasses, have a pad, smoke marijuana, drink coffee at all hours, listen to jazz music, own a hi-fi set, and desist from working at regular employment. This is the criteria of a successful beatnik. And to be considered really in orbit, a criminal record is desirable and it is best not to marry the woman currently sharing the pad.

To break away from the American conformity, held to be so distasteful to the beatnik crowd, it would appear that the beatniks have merely exchanged one kind of conformity for another. They have exchanged the steady job for a relief check, the mortgage home for a dirty hovel, and the sense of responsibility for a drug addiction. The arguments they put forth are amusing, if not pathetic. The conformity they have asked for, and adopted, is as old as mankind. There has always been someone or some crowd who preferred to laze about the countryside rather than work. It is easy for them to sit back and think of excuses why they should do the ridiculous things they feel necessary to beg off their rightful share of the responsibility for the order of things. We have called them criminals, hobos, philistines and what have you. But the pattern is the same. Only now we call them beatniks and laugh at their antics while we dip into our pockets to pay for the relief funds that keep many of them alive. Some of us have even gone so far as to suggest these people are individualists, with a certain amount of success. But the individualists were the men who founded this country by wresting a livelihood from the wilderness with his bare hands. They did not sit back and wait for the state that they could idle away the evening puffing an illegal drug. In short, a sense of humor is still a valuable asset in this country of ours. —V. Inez Robb Inez The Milk Maid

In a recent edition of a formidable financial journal, there appeared one of the biggest, longest, most-complicated and wholly puzzling equations it has been my misfortune to encounter since they burned the school down to get me out of trigonometry. It made Einstein's final equations look, on the whole, simple. And even if you could solve the thing, which seems extremely doubtful, you didn't have the full answer. Next, you had to multiply by 5.92 nor did that achieve the ultimate answer. After all the above agony, it was necessary to add 0.54 to get the final result. And what was or is the result of all this mathematical merit and ter? Why, it is Uncle Sam's, or the Federal government's, formula for fixing the price of milk in Boston during August, 1959. Would it be simpler just to call up the nearest food chain and ask? When I was a child in Caldwell, Idaho, one called up Uncle Sam for any algebraic formula, a mile long, to determine the price of a quart of milk. Dear me, any fool knew that a quart of milk cost five cents, delivered, and no nonsense. And many a quart I delivered at that price. We always kept one or two Jersey cows in the back pasture, and when a good Jersey is in full production a small family is hard put to keep even with the output. When Jersey production got ahead of family consumption, there was no problem of distribution. Even in hot weather, when we cranked up the old ice cream freezer twice a day (the two-quarter freezer for family use, the six-quart for company), we still had more Jersey milk than we could handle. But to get back to the problem of distribution: Mama always had friends who were eager to buy some of that Jersey nectar. She also had a handy distributor named Inez. For this milk, a third of which was thick, golden cream, the price, delivered at the door, was five cents a quart. My share of the swag was 10 cents per week, half of which went in the collection plate every Sunday and the other half of which I could spend in riotous living. At the Lincoln School, I was pretty much envied as a kid with a regular source of income. From time to time, and especially in the spring, when the Plymouth Rocks (does any one raise that kind of old-fashioned chicken any more?) were over-producing, eggs were added to the run, and my earnings shot up by 50 per cent and a crazy 15 cents per week. Then the piggery bank made its appearance, since a child of eight or nine could not be expected to keep a level head and handle such large sums of money sensibly. It didn't take any Federal equations to determine the price of eggs, either. Mama just called up the grocery store, asked, and the manager told her. No, no, I am not signing for the good, old days. It is simply that the Feds and their milk equation set me to thinking how much less complicated it used to be to get cream in the coffee and an egg in the beer. Emotional Children

CHICAGO (AP) — Psychiatry is shedding new light on the emotional difficulties of children. Dr. Victor Balaban of the National Assn. for Mental Health says parent's care is essential to a growing child, but if overdone it could strangle its security. How can a parent tell when a child needs help with an emotional problem? Prolonged unhappiness, frequent crying over trifles, signs of withdrawal, unreasonable fears, more-than-normal aggressiveness, severe anxiety, and signs of tension are some of the most common symptoms. Dr. Balaban suggests if you don't know anyone to consult if there's something about your child that worries you, ask your local medical society or mental health group.

It'll Cost

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A long, sickly banister at the Paramount Theater was too much for Dan Grukemeyer to resist. Part way down, the 6-year-old got his leg caught. City firemen used two chisels, an ax, a saw, a hammer and an hour of labor to dislodge young Dan. The youth, although not injured, was a bit worried. "It'll be this really going to cost me," he said. Fire Chief Jack Powers said the taxpayers would foot the rescue bill but Dan would have to pay the cost handed out by his parents.

Marquis Childs The Stickiest And Thorniest

WASHINGTON — The venture in personal diplomacy on which President Eisenhower embarked Wednesday has the look at first glance of a pleasant goodwill junket. With an attendant train of reporters it has some resemblance to a campaign tour to the outlying provinces of the President's constituency. But it must in hard fact be much more than that if it is not to provide merely a surface gloss concealing fairly deep-seated trouble. Both in Germany, which is the President's first stop, and in France, which is last on the schedule, the need is not for pleasant generalities but for plain speaking. The President had not intended in the beginning to go to Bonn at all. He said privately that he thought it would be a mistake to visit there in view of the imminent visit of Premier Khrushchev to this country. A needless irritant to the Russians was the way he put it. He had thought that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer would come either to Paris or London and meet him there. But Adenauer was not playing it that way. He wanted the President to come to his capital and in the end he had his way, as he has the habit of doing. The President, however, is also a stubborn man. Those close to the exchange between Bonn and Washington say that at first he flatly refused to alter his plans to make it possible to spend a day in the West German capital. Finally, a close associate of the late John Foster Dulles used his influence to persuade the President that it would be taken as a slight by the Germans themselves if he did not go to Bonn. He will have with him Secretary of State Christian Herter, who had his own experience with the Chancellor in the course of a one-day call just before the first round of the Geneva talks. Herter had a luncheon meeting with the 63-year-old Adenauer that lasted for two hours. The Chancellor talked almost without interruption for an hour and 45 minutes, on Germany, Russia and Premier Khrushchev, with emphasis on Khrushchev's imperative need to hold a summit conference and the price the West should extract for such a meeting. The President will speak with more authority and he should, therefore, have a better opportunity to present the American viewpoint. If there seems any likelihood that Khrushchev in the course of his American visit will raise the idea of a guaranteed corridor of access between West Germany and West Berlin, in return for ending the military occupation of that city, it would be well to canvass this possibility with Adenauer. The corridor concept has been the sub-

Texas Hermit Says Money Unnecessary

ORANGE (AP) — Justin Baker, the hermit of Cow Boyou, hates money. He says it all should be burned and the world would be a better place in which to live.

Baker wouldn't trade his heavily wooded kingdom for all the greenbacks that could be piled in his matted thatched lean-to.

Men, he says, are slaves to customs and gadgets and worry themselves into early graves. Baker refers the banks of Cow Boyou to miles south of transcontinental S. Highway 90.

"Most of them die with debts bigger than their assets," he said. "But not me. I don't owe a crying dime. My only expense is a dime a month for fuel for my lantern."

"Most men spend more in a month than I spend in 10 years," he said, "maybe even for the rest of my life."

Baker who will be 57 this summer, told Joe Parsley of the Orange Leader, that Lansing, Mich., was his home originally. He worked as a house and sign painter and for the railroad before he started "following the roads."

He's now occupying his second shelter in 11 years of life on the bayou. Flood waters drove him out of his first in 1935 and 1938.

His simple way of life is "Far better than most people could ever dream. My needs are few, and I don't complicate life by creating false needs."

Cloth sacks on the dirt floor serve as his bed. A fire in the open end of the lean-to serves for both warmth and cooking. He has a skillet and one pan, a few spoons, a can to brew coffee (a rare luxury), a jar of sugar, a can of baking powder.

Baker rolls his own cigarettes when he smokes. He carries his drinking water from the closest neighbor's well a quarter of a mile away.

The hermit maintains a barter system with settlers. When he catches too many catfish, he gives them a few and they share their surplus with him. Sweet and Irish potatoes come from his small garden.

He doesn't hunt the game with which he shares his bayou. "They're like neighbors," he said. "I get a kick out of them." But on rare occasions he accepts a neighbor's invitation to share a meal of coon—"the best wild meat there is."

Baker, a short, wiry bearded man, appears in good health. Mosquitoes, he says, give him fits at times.

He prefers his life as it is and would not even accept the company of a dog.

"I would rather have a panther around than a dog," he says. "I ain't got no earthly use for a dog — they're a nasty nuisance."

Capital Violence Worries Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of both houses of Congress are concerned about violence on Washington streets in recent weeks and they want strong measures taken to crack down.

"Washington has been struck by an outbreak of hoodlumism," Sen. Alan Bible (D-Nev.), chairman of the Senate District Committee, said as he noted a 10 to 18 per cent increase of serious crimes here this year.

Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex) suggested calling on the Marines to help out. He introduced a resolution to authorize use of two Marine companies to patrol streets here.

San Angelo Dam Stirs Controversy

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Water Engineers is quietly fighting with itself and its staff over a water permit for the proposed Twiss Buttes Reservoir at San Angelo.

"I'm optimistic the board will approve the water permit," said a member, who asked he not be named.

"It probably will be approved, even though our staff has said along the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation's figures do not jibe with ours," another member said.

"The bureau wasn't even at the hearing."

The $22,400,000 project involves directly or indirectly the bureau, the City of San Angelo, the San Angelo Water Supply Corp., the Tom Green County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, the Lower Colorado River Authority and numerous protestants who appeared at a recent hearing.

The Water Supply Corp. is asking for the 61,500 acre foot water permit. It would use 29,000 acre feet a year through the city for municipal purposes and 32,500 through the district to irrigate 10,000 acres of land in Lipan Plains near Veribest, Tex.

Congress has appropriated four million dollars to start construction of the 170,000 acre foot reservoir. No work can begin until the water permit is granted by the state.

The board's staff says present contract agreements between the city, corporation, government and others leave no legal remedy for persons whose existing water rights may be damaged.

Legal examiner F. R. Booth in an interoffice memorandum May 6, 1959, recommended "The Upper Colorado River Authority, created by the Legislature in 1935, to accomplish the purposes for which the corporation exists. Perhaps the wisdom of the Legislature dictates that development of the nature proposed by the applicant (the corporation) be relegated to a political subdivision subject to further regulation and control of the Legislature."

The engineer's memo, signed by chief engineer M. D. Weiner, said: "Municipal demands can be met but the supply for irrigation will be deficient in an extended drought."

Over a 21-year period, the board's engineers calculated irrigation water supply would be short 104,700 acre feet. The bureau said 68,200.

On losses by evaporation, the board estimated 146,200 acre feet more than the bureau or a total of 983,100 acre feet for 21 years. That's nine times the amount of usable water now held by San Angelo's present reservoirs, lakes Nasworthy and Concho.

"The main point is that the reservoir system will not furnish nearly enough irrigation water to supply the demand for 10,000 acres by either (the board's or bureau's) method," the engineer's report said.

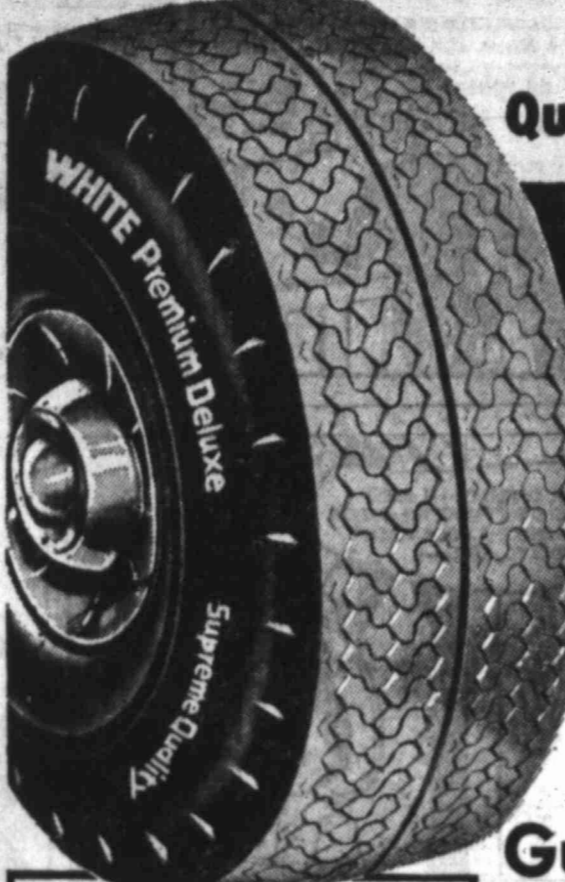

Irrigation water must be cut to meet municipal demands. And no irrigation can be done unless the reservoir holds 50,000 acre feet, the memo adds.

"There's a question as to whether the full request of 61,500 acre feet will be granted," another board member said.

Chairman D. W. Wood Manford said no action will be taken on the permit by the corporation until after Sept. 15. That's the deadline set for additional information and briefs to be filed with the board by the corporation and numerous protestants.

Thompson Predicts A Bright Oil Future

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Texas' top oil conservation expert said today "I see nothing but a bright future for oil."

Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest Thompson also told those attending the Oil Centennial Celebration here:

"Our present oversupply, world wide, will in time be worked off by the increasing use of petroleum fuels all over the world."

Thompson's speech was part of the program commemorating the discovery of oil here by Col. Edwin Drake 100 years ago.

"Oil will continue to furnish over 60 per cent of our energy and will be ample for the foreseeable future—certainly through 1980 when it is predicted that atomic energy will come into competition for large units of energy," Thompson said.

"With the driving force of the oil industry, its aggressive research program, the constant increase in percentage of recovery per reservoir and even more efficient use of its products, I see nothing but a bright future for oil."

Thompson said Drake's determination will always be an inspiration to oil men.

"While we celebrate the discovery of oil, from the first well drilled for oil, we can very well take note of the first dry hole started just four days after Drake's discovery," he said.

The dry hole was drilled on the J. L. Grandin farm.

"It is to the courage of thousands of dry hole drillers that we pay respect along with Colonel Drake for his successful effort."

Thompson said oil operators face constant hazards in their search for the precious fuel: One in nine drilling attempts in un-proven territory become oil producers.

He said the United States has plenty of oil, no fear of running out and can produce three million barrels more daily than it is now bringing up from the ground.

"It is a remarkable achievement that in this 100th year of oil, and after full production of 62 billion barrels of oil, we find ourselves with a reserve of 37 billion barrels of oil and a gas reserve of 260 trillion cubic feet; both the largest in the history of a hundred years of oil," Thompson said.

COFFEE TIME BUT NO BREAKFASTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Beginning next Monday, there'll be no bacon and eggs, no fruit juices, cereals or toast on the menu in the state house cafeteria. Just Danish pastry, English muffins, doughnuts and coffee.

Harry C. Myrick, assistant to the state director of administration, said he's not opposed to the coffee break. He simply wants to get employees out of the habit of coming to work, then going into the cafeteria for a leisurely breakfast on state time.

JUDGE DIES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Judge Maxwell Welch, 44, of Boston, Tex., died Wednesday night in a Little Rock hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile crash Aug. 20. Welch had served on Texas' Fifth District bench since 1952.

Actor's Unwinding Method Unsettling

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—For those unacquainted with the method players employ to unwind after a rehearsal, an interview with Jason Robards Jr. can be an unsettling experience.

The interview was held — or almost held — at a period-piece tavern just off the Bowery where the floor is covered with sawdust and the corned beef chef greets favorite guests with a triumphant flourish on a battered cavalry bugle.

In plaid shirt, dungarees and long flowing beard left over from his Boston triumph in "Macbeth," Robards seemed as much a part of the neighborhood as any of the grizzled natives. Actually he had just left a rehearsal of "People Kill People Sometimes," the first in a series of Sunday Showcase dramas that constitute NBC's newest weapon in the ratings wars with Ed Sullivan and Maverick.

An easy-going type who would sooner converse with cab drivers than critics, Robards has the innate humanitarianism of a guy who has been broke in the past, expects to be broke again and doesn't let it worry him.

As a very favorite guest at the tavern, he not only got the bugle welcome but also was permitted to hear all the chef's latest jokes as fast as memory supplied them, which was roughly every three minutes.

"This is one place where I can really relax," Robards confided at top volume.

Despite the inner serenity he achieves in the midst of noisiness, Robards likes to have the audience quiet as a classroom at exam time when he is acting. During the successful run of "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and last season's "The Disenchanted," he frequently sent an usher into the house to silence whisperers and sometimes went so far as to refund their money out of his own pocket.

"One night it cost me $13.00 to get rid of a pair who kept talking all through the first act. Maybe that's being temperamental but I don't think the offenders are being fair to either the actors or the audience."

"They say Maria Schell and director John Frankenheimer are supposed to be temperamental. I worked with them in the TV version of 'For Whom the Bell Tolls' and found them very easy to get along with. They're not temperamental. They just want to do the best possible job and won't put up with any nonsense."

Frankenheimer, by the way, is directing "People Kill People Sometimes," which concerns a wife's reaction to her husband's announcement that their marriage is washed up. Geraldine Page, like Robards one of the finest young stars in the country, plays the wife.

American P.E.N.'ers
Novelist Ralph Ellison, left, who was a delegate to the P.E.N. Congress and abstained on a motion to reinstate the Hungarian chapter, talks with Miss Joy Chute, president of the American section of P.E.N., an organization of more than 500 American writers.

Not Even Writers Can Avoid Politics

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Staff Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—The 30th International Congress of PEN, the writers' association, took as its theme the place of "Imaginative Literature in the Age of Science."

But it quickly moved from this abstract plane to a hotter, practical topic: The place of the Hungarian chapter in PEN.

Two years ago at the Tokyo congress, the Hungarians were suspended. This time they were reinstated by a sizable majority vote. The United States delegation abstained.

The incident, reported here by the American delegate Ralph Ellison, whose novel "Invisible Man" was National Book Award winner 10 years ago, took place at Frankfurt, West Germany, last month. This country was represented by Denver Lindley as associate delegate, Leon Edel and Elmer Rice as guests of honor, and John Cheever and Charles Bracefield Flood as other attendant authors.

The debate reflects within PEN the political conflicts among peoples, and it is in effect an old story: PEN has always wanted to keep out of politics, but politics hasn't always been content to let PEN alone with its books and plays. The writers find, in effect, that there is no ivory tower.

With Joy Chute, novelist president of the American chapter of the organization, filling in the background, Ellison said:

"The Hungarian situation was the most heatedly debated topic of the business meeting. There were five scheduled topics; three concerned the position of writers and writing with relation to government. Two of the three were formal resolutions, in favor of readmitting the Hungarians, and in opposition to the severe ban placed by Franco Spain on the Catalan language. The third was a Bulgarian statement, which we thought pretty meaningless, in favor of peace."

"At the time of World War II, some Iron Curtain country writers finding themselves unbearably restricted at home settled in London and formed a Writers in Exile chapter of PEN. In Tokyo this group asked for the suspension of the Hungarians who, after the aborted Budapest revolution, seemed to act only under the control of the government, or refrained from acting at all. The charge was a technical violation of the charter."

'Bells Are Ringing' Fine Entertainment

A couple who can break through the reserve of a subway crowd and have them singing "Hello, Hello There" is to be found in the hilarious comedy, "Bells Are Ringing," final presentation of State Fair Musicals in Dallas this week.

Coming to a close on Sunday, the production appears to be as much fun for the participants as it is for the audience.

Peggy Cass, as an employee of a telephone answering service, romps through adventures of trying to assist a writer, Jeff Moss, played by Danny Costello, as well as several others who are trying to win fame and fortune. They are the couple who win the hearts of the subway travelers.

One of the fortune-seekers is a bookie, whose "simple little system" based on classical music, might have been successful, had Beethoven composed 10 symphonies instead of only nine.

Dances are eye-catching and the songs are hummable—some of them being selections you've heard time and time again, such as "The Party's Over," "Long Before I Knew You" and "Just in Time."

One of the highlights of the musical phase is the briefing given by the bookie, Sandor, to his helpers with "It's A Simple Little System."

More laugh-producers: Miss Cass's mugging and her carefree crawling, kneeling and running; the subway rush; the name-dropping scene and the cha-cha lesson administered to the comedienne.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1959 SEC. B

OFFICIAL BOUNDARIES

Geography Designates Where Child Enrolls For School

Gone are the days when one could be sure that by moving into a certain neighborhood his child would go to the nearest school.

Because of Big Spring's expansion and the heavy concentration of school-age children in certain areas, zoning laws have come into effect to equalize the load between schools.

The Big Spring School administration has prepared the following official "boundary" descriptions to guide parents in ascertaining exactly where their child is to enroll.

The boundaries are as follows:

Airport Elementary School:

North boundary beginning at T&P Railroad and Mesquite St., then southwest to Hillcrest and Lakeview Sts., south on Hillcrest to W. 3rd, then east on 3rd to Mesquite, thence south to 4th on a line with Mesquite, then southeast to corner of city limits on line with 11th Place, thence south to Farm Road 700. Pupils from this line west will attend Airport School.

Bauer Elementary School:

West boundary line is Highway 87 and the south boundary is the T&P Railroad.

Boydston Elementary School:

Bordered on the west by Gregg St., beginning at 11th St., going north to the T&P Railroad, then the T&P Railroad being the boundary from Gregg St. east to Birdwell Lane, then south on Birdwell Lane to the alley north of Sunset St., thence west on said alley to Circle Dr., then south on Circle Dr. to Tucson, west on Tucson to Victory St., south on Victory to Sycamore St., west on Sycamore to Settles St., then south on Settles to Eleventh Place, then west on Eleventh Place to Runnels, north on Runnels to 11th St., then west on 11th St. to Gregg St.

Cedar Crest Elementary School:

East boundary beginning at

Eleventh Place and Gregg, going north on Gregg to T&P Railroad, then the T&P Railroad being the north boundary line west to the north end of Mesquite St., then southwest to the corner of Hillcrest and Lakeview Sts., then south on Hillcrest to West 3rd St., east on 3rd to Mesquite, south on Mesquite to 4th St., then southeast to corner of city limits on line with Eleventh Place, then back east on this line to Gregg St. at Eleventh Place.

College Heights Elementary

West boundary beginning with the San Angelo Hwy. and Gregg St. at south city limits, going north on Gregg St. to 11th St., then east on 11th St. to Runnels, south on Runnels to Eleventh Place, then east on Eleventh Place to Settles St., south on Settles to 14th St., east on 14th to Lexington, south on Lexington to 15th St., then south on a line with Lexington St. to south school district line.

Kate Morrison Elementary:

The east boundary line for Kate Morrison is Highway 87 and the south line is the T&P Railroad. All 5th and 6th graders from this area attend Bauer or Lakeview.

Lakeview Elementary School:

For colored students grades 1-6, the west boundary line being Highway 87, and the south boundary line being the T&P Railroad.

Marcy Elementary School:

Enrollment from Marcy Elementary School will come exclusively from the Capehart Housing Addition. Children in other additions near the school will attend either Parkhill or College Heights.

Parkhill Elementary School:

Bounded on the east by Gregg St. and San Angelo Hwy., going north on Gregg to Eleventh Place, west on Eleventh Place to the corner of city limits, south to Farm Road 700. Pupils living in Kennebee Heights and Douglas Additions and adjacent areas will attend Parkhill School.

Washington Elementary School:

West boundary beginning at the south school district line on a line with Lexington St., going north to 15th St., then west on 14th to Settles St., north on Settles to Sycamore, east on Sycamore to Victory St., north on Victory to Tucson, east on Tucson to Circle Dr., going north on Circle Dr. to the alley north of Sunset St., then east along this alley to Birdwell Lane; north on Birdwell Lane to the T&P Railroad. All pupils living on Circle Dr. between Tucson and the alley north of Sunset St., will attend Washington School.

Bus Transportation

Bus transportation will be furnished to pupils eligible for such transportation to Goliad Junior High School, Senior High School and Airport Elementary School. All elementary pupils transported by bus will attend Airport Elementary School. To be eligible for bus transportation, the pupil must live two miles or more from the nearest school, and live outside the city limits. This does not apply to elementary students in Capehart Addition. Special transportation facilities will be provided for these pupils until such time as Marcy is completed.

Senior High Schools

Senior High Schools: Eleventh Place; 16th, 11th, and 12th grade students.

Lakeview High School, 1101 NW 8th; Grades 7-12 inclusive (colored).

Rubber Union To Begin Talks

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Wage negotiations with General Tire & Rubber Co. will begin Tuesday in Cleveland, the United Rubber Workers Union said today.

The company employs 3,000 production workers in Akron and Waco, Tex.

Wage talks began Aug. 18 in Cleveland with Goodyear, the only member of the industry's "Big Four" to negotiate a new contract without a strike this spring.

Present talks are based on reopening clauses for wage rates. The union will be in a position to call a strike at Goodyear any time after Monday, but has given no indication of setting a date.

The three other major producers, U.S. Rubber, Goodrich and Firestone, were closed from three to eight weeks last spring in strikes involving new master contracts.

Beauties Rehearse For 'Miss Wool'

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Some 20 beauties began rehearsals today for the pageant at which one of them will be named Miss Wool of America of 1960 Friday night.

A second major honor will go to the runner-up, who will be named Miss Wool for the balance of 1959, replacing the winner of last year's contest, Miriam La-Ash, who resigned to get married.

The pageant and ball will follow a parade led by Miss Lacour.

Off To Chicago

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dr. Milton Eisenhower and his daughter, Ruth, leave today for Chicago. They arrived Wednesday night from Mexico after a 12-day visit.

The President's brother declined to talk to newsmen, explaining that he had "nothing to say." He will open the Pan American Games in Chicago.

to Goliad St. the line shall be 14th St.

Runnels Junior High

All students in grades 7-8-9 north of Eleventh Place and the line designated for the north line for Goliad Junior High School.

DEADLINE SEPT. 10

1960 Reserve Soil Bank Is In Process Of Being Set Up

Monday the ASC office began accepting requests from farmers to establish payment rates per acre for land to be placed in the 1960 Conservation Reserve Soil Bank. The period for taking such requests ends after Sept. 10.

Gabe Hammack, manager, said the average rate for Howard County is $12 per acre, but a rate higher or lower than that figure—depending on quality of the land—may be set.

When the entire farm is offered for a reserve contract the rate per acre will be increased 10 per cent. The limit, regardless of acreage submitted, is $5,000 annually.

The County Committee inspects the land and sets the rate. Reserve contracts are awarded not on a first-come basis but on a farm priority rating. The lower rate a farmer offers his land, the better chance he has for a contract.

Land must be offered at least 10 cents per acre lower than the rate established. If the payment rating is $11.90, the land offered must be $11.80, although that does not mean a farmer's payment per acre will be that low.

European Tourist Business Booming

NEW YORK (AP)—The European tourist business is booming, as a glance at the luxury liners along the Hudson River will show. Tuesday four big liners unloaded more than 6,000 passengers in a five-hour period, while another 2,500 were boarding other ships bound for Europe.

Land which is ineligible under this program includes land bought since December, 1956; land put into cultivation since that date; land rented out in either 1958 or 1959 unless a renter is shown on the contract as receiving part of the payment (if tenant leaves, no payment is given for his portion); or land owned by clubs, cemetery associations, state, county, town, local government or subdivision thereof.

Cover must be maintained on the land until the end of the contract, but contracts previously have allowed the farmer to plow that land during the last six months of the contract period to prepare land for the succeeding crop.

Since 1956 the local ASC office has gained an accumulative of 19,000 acres of Howard County land into the conservation reserve.

Game, No Atoms For Khrushchy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Perhaps a football or a baseball game but no atomic energy installations will be on the itinerary of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchyev in his visit to the United States next month.

And, it is still uncertain whether Mrs. Khrushchyev will come along.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, after conferring with Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, told newsmen that Khrushchyev would not visit the atomic electricity generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., or any other atomic facility.

The ambassador and Murphy have been meeting periodically to iron out details of the visit which begins Sept. 15. Menshikov said he expected that firm details would be arranged soon.

'In Pickles' Is The Way Mrs. Roberts Has Friends

Twenty-four gallons in one year is the amazing total Mrs. Joe Roberts, 1604 Johnson, has amassed since she decided to turn her husband's home-grown cucumbers into pickles. During that time, Mrs. Roberts pickles have become a favorite party snack for members of the Peak N. Derrick Club, the BPAW Club and various other organizations; Mrs. Roberts now has to mimeograph her pickle recipe by the dozens.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are both employees of Cosden, where he is a tool room operator. She moved to Big Spring in 1916 and has one married son, Dan Padgett, who lives right down the street from her.

Aside from pickles, Mrs. Roberts also makes fudge for Christmas and to take to friends in the hospital. Both her fudge recipe and her popular pickle recipe are included here:

CRISP PICKLE SLICES
2 cups lime
2 gals. water
Enough cucumbers that this amount of liquid will cover
Soak cucumbers in lime solution 24 hours. Rinse thoroughly and cover with fresh water and soak three hours or longer.
Drain well and cover with the following mixture:
2 qts. pure cider vinegar (8 cups)
4½ lbs. white sugar (9 cups)
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. celery seed
1 tsp. pickling spices
Soak cucumbers in vinegar solution overnight. Be sure they are covered. Then place container on heat and boil gently 40 minutes. Place in sterile jars and seal.

GOLDEN CREAM CHOCOLATE CAKE
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or shortening
¼ tsp. soda
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten

3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt. Sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition.
Then add chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla.
Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Spread Golden Cream Filling between layers and Chocolate Fluff Frosting on top and sides of cake.

GOLDEN CREAM FILLING
Combine ½ cup sugar, three tablespoons cake flour and ¼ teaspoon salt in top of double boiler. Add 1½ cups milk gradually, mixing thoroughly. Place over boiling water and cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour small amount of mixture over two slightly beaten egg yolks, stirring vigorously.
Return to double boiler and cook two minutes longer, stirring constantly. Add one teaspoon vanilla and cool. If deeper yellow tint is desired, add few drops of yellow coloring. Makes enough filling to spread between two 9-inch layers.

CHOCOLATE FLUFF FROSTING
Cream four tablespoons butter, add ¼ cup sifted confectioner's sugar and blend. Add one teaspoon vanilla, three squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, and ¼ teaspoon salt.
Beat two egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Add ¼ cup sifted confectioner's sugar, two tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until blended. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add to chocolate mixture, folding gently but thoroughly only enough to blend.

Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of Golden Cream Chocolate Cake.

MAGIC FRENCH FUDGE
2 pkgs. (6-oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 can sweetened condensed milk
Pinch of salt
½ tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup nuts (or more)
Heat chocolate in top of double boiler over rapidly boiling water, stirring until just melted. Add milk and salt. Cook about two minutes and stir constantly. Take from heat. Add chopped nuts, stir until smooth.
Turn into 9-inch square tin, lined with waxed paper and press into block one inch high. Chill in refrigerator until firm, about two hours.
Turn out of container, remove waxed paper and cut into serving pieces. Store in airtight container. (Makes about one pound delicious chocolate candy.)

FRIED ASPARAGUS OR ONION RINGS
Batter:
1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 tsp. shortening
½ cup milk
Blend all ingredients thoroughly. Dip asparagus or onion rings in batter and fry in deep fat until golden brown—2 or 3 minutes.
Use about ½ of recipe for 40 asparagus spears. The batter may be stored in refrigerator.

BLACK BING CHERRY SALAD
1 No. 2 can black bing cherries
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 bottles Coca-Cola
1 cup chopped nuts
2 cups liquid (juice from cherries and pineapple plus water)
Bring juice to boiling point. Add two packages of cherry-flavored gelatin. Stir until well dissolved.
When cool add two bottles Coca-Cola. Stir and chill. Add drained cherries, pineapple and nuts. Put in refrigerator until congealed.

SPICE VOCABULARY
POPPY SEED, available whole, are predominantly blue-gray in color and lend a crunchy texture, nut-like flavor.
POPPY SEED are compatible with breads, rolls, cookies, coffee cake, pie crusts; noodles; green peas, white potatoes, rutabagas; cottage cheese, salad dressing.

Stir Up A Loaf The Quick Way

If your meals have had that tired feeling lately they may lack imagination in seasoning. The use of packaged prepared herb-seasoned stuffing can add a tang to many a hot-weather dish and buoy up those jaded summer appetites.
This salmon loaf made with prepared stuffing is a well-balanced and appealing dish for the "dog days" ahead. It can be made ahead of time and served either hot or cold.

SALMON LOAF
1 1-lb. can salmon
1 pkg. prepared herb-seasoned stuffing
1 cup milk
½ cup salmon liquor
4 tpsps. butter, melted
2 eggs, well beaten
2 tpsps. minced parsley
1 tsp. minced onion
1 tsp. minced green pepper
Drain salmon, saving liquor. Flake the fish, discarding bones and skin. In large bowl, combine fish and all other ingredients. If you haven't ½ cup fish liquor, add milk to make up ½ cup. Blend mixture; pack onto greased loaf pan.
Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) 30-40 minutes, or until firm in center. Serve with white sauce, to which you have added two or three sliced, hard-cooked eggs.

Party Cup Cakes
Make pretty butterfly cup cakes quickly with plain bakery cakes and sherbet. Just slice the tops off the cup cakes and cut the tops in half. Remove a portion from the center of the cakes and fill with a luscious layered sherbet. Perch the halves of the cup cakes tops on the gala sherbet.

To Sterilize
Sterilize to destroy micro organisms in cooking. This is most often done at a high temperature with steam, dry heat, or by boiling in a liquid.
Marinades Defined
Most marinades are made with oil and vinegar plus seasonings; they're often used for cooked seafood, meat and chicken that is to be broiled and cooked vegetables.

Good Company Idea
Heat slices of cooked turkey or chicken white meat in a double-boiler. Arrange over crisp buttered toast and add a topping of Welsh rabbit. Garnish with gherkins cut into fan shapes. For company!

Tasty Sauce
A summer platter of cold smoked meats takes to a horseradish sauce. One way to make the sauce is to fold drained bottled horseradish and finely grated apple into whipped cream, adding sugar and salt to taste.

Enhances Cottage Cheese
Having a cottage cheese salad for lunch? Add lots of minced parsley and finely diced cucumber to it, first seedling the cucumber. Serve with water dress, or other crisp greens, and sliced tomatoes.

Marinate Flank Steak
You can marinate flank steak, just as you would lamb or beef for shish kebab, before broiling. Cook the steak in one piece close to high heat so it will be ready in six to 10 minutes. This dish must be served rare!

Calorie Count
Breakfast count: There are about 100 calories in each of these—a large orange, a cup of orange juice, half of a large grapefruit, two cups of tomato juice, four large prunes, two slices of cooked bacon, one and one-half slices of bread (plain or toasted) a tablespoon of butter or margarine and two-thirds cup of milk.

Follow These Tips For Silver Care

Your silver will look more beautiful, and you'll have greater enjoyment from it, if you use it every day. Daily washing and polishing adds to the luster as light tarnish is removed.
Seldom-used pieces should be wrapped in sulphur-free silver cloth and stored in the linen closet, right next to table linens.
Here are some other do's and don'ts to help you keep your Heirloom sterling looking its best: Do wash silver in hot, sudsy water immediately after use, rinse in hot water, and dry while hot—heat evaporates excess moisture. Use a soft brush for hard-to-reach places when cleaning silver. Store silver flatware in a tarnish-proof chest if possible.
Don't allow silver to stand after use, particularly after use for foods containing sulphur (egg and egg products), salt and acid. Don't use rubber sink mats when washing, since rubber contains tarnish-producing sulphur. Don't air-dry silver—tarnish-forming elements are present in the air, and also spotting and streaking result. Don't use table silver for cooking purposes. This causes tarnish, deep scratches and increases tarnish potential. When polishing silver, don't remove areas of dark oxidation that were purposely placed in the design for contrast.

Olives Impart Zest To Pedestrian Dishes

Try a bit of experimental cooking with olives if you are a lover of this distinctive fruit. Certain olives enhance the flavor of the simplest main dishes, just as they perk up a relish tray.
Mild ripe olives are excellent in highly seasoned dishes. They add elusive flavor as well as texture to many food combinations. The zestier Spanish green olives are excellent for bringing out taste in blander foods.
Luckily, you needn't limit yourself to merely two or three types of olives in cooking. One well known distributor of imported Spanish olives offers a wonderful assortment. They now have the intriguing anchovy stuffed, onion stuffed, Kasher dill, and even salty black Greek olives, with which you can glamorize everyday dishes.

For example, here is a recipe for Mexican Beef and Noodles in which the new Kasher dill olives add piquancy.

MEXICAN BEEF AND NOODLES
1 lb. round steak, ground
¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup
1 cup milk
2 cups medium noodles, cooked and drained
1 No. 303 can whole kernel corn, drained
1 cup chopped Kasher dill olives
1½ cups drained processed American cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Brown meat in butter; add green pepper and cook until tender. Add soup, milk, noodles, corn, olives and one cup cheese. Mix well. Season to taste.
Pour mixture into a buttered two quart casserole. Top with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes.
Garnish with parsley and slices of dill olives. Serves eight.

Cheese Pie Bows To Pineapple Flavor

When pineapple and cheese get together, the result is usually a salad or a pie. Here it's a pie, the ever-favorite cheese pie with a pineapple glaze. But this glaze is different: it's a luscious shimmering mixture of juicy canned pineapple and pineapple-flavor gelatin. There's extra vitamin C hidden in every delicious serving, too, because this pineapple-flavor gelatin has this important nutrient added. Pineapple - Glazed Cheese Pie is the perfect topper for light summer meals, and will bring heartier winter meals to a satisfying conclusion.

PINEAPPLE-GLAZED CHEESE PIE
9-inch unbaked crumb crust
4 3-oz. pkgs. soft cream cheese
3 eggs
2-3 cup sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
Drained canned crushed pineapple
1 pkg. pineapple-flavor gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
Sour cream
Beat softened cream cheese with eggs, sugar, and lemon juice until smooth and well blended; stir in rind. Turn into crumb crust and bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) 45 minutes, or until set. Remove from oven and cool thoroughly.
Meanwhile dissolve gelatin in hot water; add cold water and chill until slightly thickened (consistency of unbeaten egg white). Combine half of gelatin with drained pineapple; spoon on top of pie. Chill until glaze is set. Chill remaining gelatin and save for another day's dessert.
Serve pie topped with sour cream. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Pickle Garnish
Like to have foods look attractive as well as taste good when brought to the table? Next time you bake a simple casserole that seems a little pallid and uninteresting, arrange a garnish of pickle slices on top. Either slim sticks of dill or crisp bread and butter rounds may be used, depending on the flavor you like.

Unique Topping
Stir two or three tablespoons of preserves or jam into tangy sour cream and splash a spoonful atop any of your fresh fruit desserts. The preserves sweeten and tint the sour cream just enough.

Prepare That Fruit Mold In Advance

Here's a tip for barbecuers. Half the battle of supplying a well-rounded meal in the yard or patio on warm evenings is avoided if one or two dishes are prepared ahead of time.
It might be dessert, or salad, or both—but if you have them ready to serve, cooking your entire on the grill will be the only task. And you can be more certain of providing a well-balanced meal.
This fresh raspberry ring centered with a cottage cheese pineapple filling is a refreshingly hearty mold which you can get ready early in the day and keep in the refrigerator until dinnertime. Add the filling to the mold just before serving so that the cottage cheese will not seep into the gelatin.

CHEESE FILLED RASPBERRY RING
2 pkgs. strawberry flavored gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1½ cups cold water
2 cups raspberries, washed and drained
2 12-ounce cartons cottage cheese
1 cup pineapple cubes
Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add cold water and chill until partially thickened. Fold in raspberries and pour into an oiled 1½ quart ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Fill center with cottage cheese and pineapple mixture. Garnish with red raspberries, if desired. Serves ten.

To Cut Olives
It is less wasteful to cut the fruit from pits of large imported Spanish green olives by cutting the fruit into quarters. Use a sharp paring knife and ease the wedges from the pit.

This Marinade Does Wonders To Beets

Looking for just the right sweet-sour marinade for a can of beets? Stop searching; this is it:
PICKLED BEETS
1 can (1 lb.) small whole beets
¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup cider vinegar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. whole cloves
¼ tsp. whole allspice
1 stick cinnamon
1-18 tsp. garlic salt
Drain beets and cut into quarters; reserve beet juice.
Into a 1-quart saucepan put the sugar, ¼ cup reserved beet juice, vinegar, salt, cloves, allspice, cinnamon and garlic salt. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Bring to a boil; place quartered beets in a 1-pint jar; pour the hot liquid over them.
Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Party Treat

Make up small batches of frosting and divide in half; color each half differently and put in two wells of a muffin pan. Put nuts, chocolate sprinkles, tiny marshmallows and gumdrops in the other wells. Let your small fry have a party with some cupcakes and the frosting and decoration makings. Provide each youngster with a small spatula for spreading the icing.

Cucumbers Best Eaten As The Fruit They Are

Cucumbers, one of the reigning princesses of the summer salad—are best eaten out of hand, according to a vegetable expert. Next-best, he says, is to eat them sliced or diced. But they also are good when baked, stewed or pickled.
The expert is of the school that considers cucumbers a fruit—one of the melon family. Botanically, he's right. And as a fruit, it should be treated as such to savor truly its crisp, cool texture.
Right now, cucumbers are sufficiently plentiful so you can have one a day—as Emperor Tiberius of Rome demanded. Final estimates of this year's early-summer crop puts the harvest at 4 per cent more than average.
Eating cucumbers out of hand, maybe with a dash of salt, provides a tasty treat. But if you wish to be more conventional, thin, delicate cucumber slices or thick, crunchy chunks are delicious in a wide variety of summer salads.

Casserole Makes Use Of Convenience Foods

The modern homemaker finds cookery an easy and pleasant task, where not so long ago it meant nothing but kitchen drudgery. The reason is that today's food technologists take much of the hard work out of cooking long before the popular convenience foods reach your kitchen. There remains only the ingenuity of the present-day homemaker to utilize them.

Two of our most popular modern foods are processed cheese food and instant whipped potatoes. These foods have been brought together by home economists in a main dish recipe which has much hearty appeal. The entire dish takes less time to make than was required in grandmother's day just to peel and cook the potatoes.

To top this casserole, use thick slices of fresh tomatoes. Their fine flavor blends well with the cheese and potatoes, and adds fine nutrition, too.

 1 pkg. (2 envelopes) Instant Whipped Potatoes
 1 egg, well beaten
 1/4 tsp. salt
 Dash dehydrated onion
 1/2 lb. Chateau cheese, shredded
 2 tbsp. butter, melted
 1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
 Grated Parmesan and Romano cheese
 Prepare whipped potatoes according to package directions; cool slightly. Combine potatoes, egg, salt and minced onion. Spoon into buttered 9x12-inch rectangular baking dish.
 Make six to eight depressions in potato mixture; fill each with shredded cheese; top each with tomato slice. Mix together butter and bread crumbs. Sprinkle buttered crumbs and grated cheese over mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MODERN DAY CASSEROLE

Follow Rules In Making Meringues For Party

How lucky you are today to have electric mixers, rotary beaters, wire whips and a plentiful supply of eggs! Imagine living in the Middle Ages when egg beaters were unknown and "frothed" eggs required setting up an elaborate device.

First, a large bowl with holes in the bottom (actually a crude forerunner of our present day colander) was set high above another bowl. Eggs broken into the upper bowl were well mixed with air as they "dripped" through into the lower one, thus becoming "frothed."

Even though we have advanced considerably since the middle Ages, there are still certain rules which must be followed when beating eggs.

1. Separate egg whites and yolks carefully. Even a speck of yolk in the white will prevent it from beating up to full volume. Traces of yolk may be removed with a paper towel or piece of egg shell.
2. Avoid any fat on the beater or bowl. A trace of fat or oil will limit the loftiness to which the whites can be beaten.
3. Egg whites beat to their greatest volume at room temperature.
4. Beat the whites "still" as possible, or until firm peaks are formed when beaters are removed. Even though stiffly beaten, the egg whites should have a shiny, moist appearance.

5. When adding sugar to beaten egg whites, do it gently. Sprinkle about one tablespoon sugar at a time over the whites and beat only until it dissolves. Repeat until all sugar required is used. If too much sugar is added at any one time, the egg whites will have a "marshmallow" quality and will lose their "lofty" peaks.

A whole galaxy of delicious meringue creations can be easily prepared. Here are a few of the most popular:

SCHAUM TORTE OF VIENNA

This is actually a combination of several different shaped meringues. Two medium-sized circles are mounted on a large meringue ring and then surrounded by a series of smaller meringue kisses. In the center is a heavenly blend of whipped cream and fruit such as pineapple tidbits, sliced peaches, strawberries, blueberries, raspberries.

BAKED ALASKA

The glamour girl of ice cream desserts, it is a white glacier of meringue with its browned peaks that intriguingly hide a cool "heart" of ice cream and a sponge cake base.

PEACH STUFREME

This is a really special summer dessert. Swirl a whipped meringue mixture into a pie plate and bake slowly until firm. When cooked, cool the shell and fill with scoops of peach or vanilla ice cream. Decorate the edges of the shell and the top of the ice cream with fresh peach slices.

ITALIAN MERINGUE

Begin by pouring hot sugar syrup over well-beaten egg whites, continue beating until syrup is "combined" and mixture is cool. Add softened sherbet (the flavor used will determine the color). Freeze. Check frequently during freezing to make sure "liquid" do not settle out. If this happens, rebeat and return to freezer.

Beef Patties Like This Cucumber Dish

Next time you grill hamburgers, don't forget this splendid accompaniment:

CUCUMBER GO-ALONG

1 1/2 cups finely-diced pared cucumbers
 1 1/2 tps. sugar
 1 tsp. salt
 White pepper (to taste)
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 2-3 cup commercially-prepared sour cream or homemade sour cream substitute
 Minced dill to taste
 Mix together all the ingredients; chill to blend flavors. Makes six servings.

Croquettes Blend Rice, Vegetables

A menu of cold fried chicken, Vegetable Rice Croquettes, whole ripe tomatoes, bread sticks, watermelon, cookies and lemonade need leave only a minimum of preparation for mealtime. The melon and tomatoes need only to be refrigerated until serving time. Frozen lemonade can be reconstituted in a matter of seconds and chilled for use. The chicken can be fried according to any favorite recipe either the night before or the morning it is to be used.

While it is browning, the ingredients for the Vegetable Rice Croquettes can be combined. Since cooked rice is used in the recipe, extra rice left over from a previous meal may be used. It is often a time saver to cook more rice than you will need for one meal for it keeps for days in the refrigerator and can be quickly heated with a little water to its original texture and flavor for another day.

When mealtime arrives, this menu leaves little to do but shape and crumb the croquettes and quickly fry them to a golden brown.

VEGETABLE RICE CROQUETTES

- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 1/2 medium onion, minced
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. celery salt
- 2 tps. prepared mustard
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup mixed cooked vegetables
- 1 tsp. minced parsley
- 1 egg
- 2 tbsps. water

Fat for frying
 Melt butter in a 1-quart saucepan. Add onions and saute until transparent. Remove onions from pan. Add flour and mix until smooth. Add milk and cook stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Add salt, celery salt, mustard, pepper and lemon juice. Combine sauce with onions, cooked rice, vegetables and parsley. Mix well. Chill at least two hours. Shape into balls or cones.

Beat egg slightly and add water. Place crumbs on waxed paper. Roll croquettes in bread crumbs then in egg mixture then again in bread crumbs. Let stand while heating fat. Heat enough fat to reach a depth of about 2 1/2 inches at 350 degrees F. Fry croquettes for about 3 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on paper toweling. This makes six 2 1/2 inch croquettes.

Vegetables, Fowls Are Assists To Food Budget

By The Associated Press
 Texans can fill their market baskets with a variety of fresh vegetables and fruits, small turkeys and fryers—all plentiful at economical prices this week. In the fresh produce department are pole beans, cabbage, sweet corn, small lemons, large limes, Thompson seedless grapes, okra, medium yellow onions, bell peppers, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and West Texas round red potatoes. Small turkeys, fryers, eggs, sandwich meats, frankfurters and most cuts of pork, also are in good supply in most markets and at economical prices the Agricultural Marketing Service reports. Browsing through the fresh produce this week may disclose slightly higher prices on winesap apples from Washington, avocados, bulk carrots, cauliflower, celery, nectarines and peaches. Also noticeable are slightly lower prices on cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, yellow squash, rutabagas and plums. Indicative of the season is the first arrival of red delicious and Jonathan apples. Also new in many markets are Colorado peaches, Tokay grapes, Wisconsin cucumbers and celery, Michigan cauliflower and onions from Colorado. Most other items at Texas markets are unchanged in supply and price since last week. Foods in this category include bananas, grapefruit, oranges, turnips and pears.

Primary Rule In Pork Cookery Is Well Done

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 AP News Service Food Editor
 News that pork is plentiful reminds us that many cooks are either conservatives or rebels when it comes to cooking pork chops. The conservatives believe in braising or baking the chops or, on occasion, pan-fry them. They say these methods keep the meat tender and juicy. The rebels like, on occasion, to grill or broil them, believing that other ways do not always keep the chops from being dry. Nowadays charcoal is used indoors as well as outdoors, so rebels can use their grilling method all year. If there is no charcoal grill indoors, they're likely to broil the chops in the kitchen range. Outdoor cookery experts, Helen Evans Brown and Jim Beard—authors of "The Complete Book of Outdoor Cookery"—say that loin pork chops are the best to cook over charcoal, but that rib chops from heavy pork may also be used. They emphasize that pork chops should always be cooked until "well done but not dry" and caution against fast cooking. They like to put chops at least 1-inch thick on the grill and recommend 25 to 35 minutes cooking time. Rules for broiling pork chops aren't around much, but if this method interests you, go ahead and try it. Just have faith in yourself and remember that the chops must be well done. That means the meat should be white through—no trace of pink allowed. Ever talk about cooking pork chops when you're exchanging recipes with friends? You'll find two favorite methods of preparation. Some cooks are addicts of the soak-in-milk-before-cooking school. Other schools of thought believe in soaking in a sauce with a tomato base. This recipe features the latter, and adds basil, the tomato's true seasoning mate.

BROILED PORK CHOPS
 6 loin pork chops (3/4-inch thick)
 1/2 cup tomato juice
 4 tbsps. olive oil
 2 tbsps. cider vinegar
 1/2 tsp. sugar
 1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 6 fresh basil leaves (chopped) or several pinches dried basil
 1 tsp. vegetable bouquet sauce
 Trim fat from around chops so there is no more than a 1/4-inch layer. Mix the tomato juice, oil, vinegar, sugar, Worcestershire and basil in a baking dish (12 by 8 by 2 inches). Arrange chops in one layer in marinade; refrigerate, covered, for 4 to 8 hours, turning chops several times. Remove chops from marinade. Heat the marinade; stir well and mix 2 tablespoons of it with the vegetable bouquet sauce; brush mixture over chops, including fat. (Use the remaining marinade for a sauce, adding lots of onion and green pepper. Broil chops slowly in kitchen range or roisserie until brown on one side; turn to brown other side (it will take about 25 minutes); cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through. Makes six servings.

MOLDED POTATO SALAD
 4 cups cubed or sliced cooked potatoes (about 6 potatoes)
 1 onion, chopped
 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
 1 cup chopped celery
 1 cucumber, diced
 1 1/2 tps. salt
 1/4 tsp. paprika
 1/4 cup French dressing
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 12 slices cooked tongue, ham or other cold cuts
 Combine all ingredients except mayonnaise and meat. Mix lightly. Chill several hours. Add mayonnaise. Mix carefully. Arrange meat slices around inner edge of a 1-quart mixing bowl, overlapping them slightly. Fill the bowl with salad mixture. Chill until ready to serve or serve immediately by inverting on a platter. Garnish with chopped parsley and lettuce, if desired. Accompany with scallions, radishes, tomato wedges and bread slices. Makes eight to ten servings.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

If ever a woman, young, old, middle-aged, fat, lean or pleasantly padded had cause to feel self-conscious in tight fitting pants, it should be after viewing Anatomy of a Murder. There's a good lesson there if the right ones see and heed it.

When MRS. J. E. FLYNN was in New Orleans recently, she had the occasion to visit her former pastor, Father George Julian OMI, and Father Ward OMI, both of whom have served the local parish. They are at St. Louis Cathedral.

Another former pastor of the local St. Thomas Catholic Church visiting here this week was REV. STEVEN KISTNER, OMI, who is now living in Laredo. He came to Big Spring to visit an ailing former parishioner, MRS. J. M. MORGAN. He came to Big Spring in 1920 when this church was first in the parish. He had been in Stanton, and Big Spring and Midland were included in his services. While he didn't have a lengthy stay, he managed to see a few old friends including members of the T. E. JORDAN family. He recalled a number of old timers, many of whom have passed away, but he still remembered them and was interested in learning of happenings here during the years he has been away.

MRS. JOHN ADDISON and her children, Bobby and Susan, are here from Wayne, Neb., for their annual visit with her mother, Mrs. Anna Mae Berry.

JOHN LEWIS, son of Mrs. Inez Lewis, has completed a six weeks course in higher mathematics at the University of California at Berkeley which he attended on a scholarship. John received his BA at Texas University and his MA at NTSC. He will teach advanced mathematics in Berkeley High School this year.

MR. AND MRS. NATHAN ALLEN JR. and their son, Jeff, have returned to their ranch home north of Clayton, N. M., after spending several days here with his parents. The younger Allen is director of the Tri-State Hereford Association of New Mexico. During their visit the Allen family had a big fish fry at Moss Creek Lake with J. B. Thomas Lake fish. They (the fish) had been caught by a son-in-law of the Allens, Elwood Carlile.

Back from a combined business and pleasure trip to California are MR. AND MRS. ED FISHER. They were in Los Angeles several days on business and then went to Sacramento where they visited his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher. Incidentally, Albert is getting out of the olive business, but he was still interested in knowing how our olive trees were progressing in Texas soil. They are progressing, slowly, it's true, but they have green leaves on them and in our soil that's progress.

Houseguest of the K. H. MCGIBBON family is Terry Shirk of Kentland, Ind., a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb. Mr. Shirk is in the graduate school at the University of Indiana and has been in the Fred Waring Workshop along with Mr. Webb. Mrs. Webb, her sister, Kay McGibbon, and Mr. Shirk will go to Dallas Friday to meet Mr. Webb who has been in Chicago.

Local members of federated clubs will be interested to know that MRS. B. F. SEAY, president of the eighth district of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, is recuperating in an Andrews hospital. Mrs. Seay underwent minor surgery recently and suffered complications which have necessitated longer hospitalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Yardley of Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clinton of DeLeon, were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Armstrong. The Yardeleys and the Clintons are former Coahoma residents.

Bids were up 10 to 20 per cent from the prices when last season's markets closed at the end of June. Australia is the world price-setter for wool.

Diet Tips

English actress Diana Wynyard discusses dieting with Lydia Lane in London. England. Miss Wynyard recent came to the United States for a Playhouse 90 production.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Sweets, Starches Avoided By Actress

By LYDIA LANE
LONDON — "You can always count on Diana Wynyard to give a fine performance," a top producer has said. So it was not surprising when CBS flew her from England recently for a Playhouse 90 production. But at that time, when she was in Hollywood, our lunch-date was cancelled and Miss Wynyard promised to see me in London. "I have to watch my weight," she said when we met for lunch. Then much to my surprise, she ordered cold salmon and cucumbers with sour cream. When I murmured something about calories, she laughed.

"One doesn't worry about that with this diet. I can eat all the fat I want and still lose, provided I stay completely away from all sweets and starches. According to authorities, and this isn't one of those fad diets like milk and bananas, your system reacts differently to fats when they aren't accompanied by starch concentrates. After all," she observed, "sugar is converted to starch by the body."

"Do you find the English are becoming more conscious of dieting to keep slender?" I asked. "Rather," Miss Wynyard replied. "But I can't say you see these wonderfully slim waists here that you see on American women of all ages."

The talk turned to how nicely dressed and well-groomed many English men are. "For the most part," I remarked, "the women seem quite dowdy by comparison. What do you feel about the importance of your appearance?"

"My grandmother was meticulously neat, and I remember so well her telling me, 'It's a woman's duty to look as good as she can.' I like taking the emphasis away from vanity and making being attractive a moral obligation," she smiled.

"My friends have often admired a gay flowered hat of mine and express a wish to wear a similar one, but they say their husbands like them to dress conservatively. I think that's the answer. The Englishman may admire glitter on another woman, but he rather prefers his wife to be very conservative. And a wise woman dresses to please her husband."

"Men in England are much more dominating than they are in the United States," I observed. "Yes," Miss Wynyard agreed, "and the women much less so."

Sewing With Wool Contest Is Open To Texas Girls, 14-22

The young women of Texas, already among the country's best home sewers, were urged by Governor Price Daniel today to apply their dressmaking talents to wool and win for this state the top honors in the national "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest.

The largest educational home sewing event of its type in the country, the contest received the governor's endorsement in a proclamation setting aside Monday to Saturday next week as "Make It Yourself With Wool Week." He called upon educators and merchants to take part in the week's observance and encourage girls to enter the contest.

Purpose of the contest, which is endorsed by the National Education Association, is to give incentive to girls to sew with wool so that they may become experienced with the fabric—with its varieties, its characteristics, and with the easiest and best techniques for cutting, sewing, shaping and pressing wool garments. All entrants receive free booklets on how to sew with wool.

The contest is open to girls between the ages of 14 and 22 who may enter either a wool dress, suit, coat or ensemble which they make themselves. Awards include scholarships, sewing machines; for two grand prize winners, there will be a trip to the fashion capitals of Europe.

The Texas "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, which is sponsored by the state's wool producers, is under the direction of Mrs. S. M. Harvick, Box 247, Odessa. Girls may obtain contest information and entry blanks from her, from their home economics instructors, or from their local fabric retailers.

The state finals will be held in San Antonio on Jan. 16. National finals will take place in January in San Antonio.

Longhorns Are Poised To Launch Workouts

Bright and early tomorrow morning, the Big Spring Steers hit the practice field—facing a mountain of work before their opening game of the 1959 campaign against San Antonio Edison here the night of Sept. 11...

The Longhorns have only 14 practice sessions between Friday and the Edison game. They'll work twice daily tomorrow and Saturday the tail off with afternoon drills once school starts Monday...

On Saturday, Sept. 5, the Longhorns visit Levelland for scrimmages against that city's schoolboy team and Amarillo High. Originally, the Steers were to have gone to Monahans for a scrimmage but the Monahans coach decided against it...

The scrimmages will start about 4 p.m. and continue until about 7:30 p.m., according to present plans. Each of the teams will be pitted against the other two at some time during the afternoon...

Bum Phillips, former head coach at Jacksonville, now coaches the Amarillo team while Johnny Hickman is still the Levelland mentor...

Other lettermen are Robert Carr, end; Alf Cobb, guard; Jerry Dunlap, back; Don Everett, back; Carley King, back; and Tommy Whately, back...

Some of the veterans face competition for their jobs. The entire team is going to be young and, for that reason, prone to make mistakes. The entire crew, however, has a great appetite for football and should play some interesting ball this fall...

Coach Al Milch has again booked one of the more rugged schedules for the contingent, working on the theory that the boys can learn much more working against strong opposition, even if they lose, than by whacking a weak team...

San Antonio Edison, the Steers' opening foe, isn't favored in its own district but it's due to be much improved over last year, when it lost to the locals, 26-0...

three top teams in District 3-AAA, including last year's champion, Sweetwater, and this year's favorite, Lamesa. That perennial toughie, Snyder, also decorates the Big Spring schedule, as does El Paso Austin and five 2-AAA opponents...

In R. L. Lasater and Carey King, the Longhorns have two of the speediest backs in the state...

Tommy Whately and Don Everett will vie for the quarterback's job. Pine-knot tough Whately appears to have the inside track for the position at this time...

Neither of the two top tackles, Gary Pickle nor Gene Salazar, won varsity letters last season but coaches have few fears there. Pickle and Salazar, both juniors, piled up plenty of playing time last fall, both the varsity and B team outfits...

They'll be contested by such boys as Ronald (Skillet) Parrish, Tom Hayes, Richard Atkins, and Bill Gillespie, among others...

Robert Carr is the only hold-over end but Wayne Vaughan came along well in spring training and is due to win a regular berth. John (Red) Schwarzenbach, Tommy Rutledge, Mike Hughes, Ronnie Cox and Victor Cooks are other contenders for the two positions...

The team appears well fixed for guards, with Bridges, Deel and Cobb all back and Guy Dobbs, Johnny Case and Jerry Hutchens in contention...

Mack Alexander, 240-pound senior, is available for center duties and the coaches think they have an all-state candidate in the strapping youngster. He'll go both ways...

Young sophomores like Jack Irons, Dexter Pate, Don Ellis, Schwarzenbach, James Gilbert, Gillespie, David Maberry and Jimmy Madry will make the regulars hustle to hold their jobs...

Ahlie is again the favorite to win the District 3-AAAA crown and Big Spring is again relegated by most observers to occupy the cellar position, although Odessa High has been forced to split its talent with the new high school there, Permian, and has a new coach in Lacy Turner...

Big Spring has never won a 2-AAAA game since stepping up from Class AAA but the boys insist that situation will be corrected long before this year is out...

GOT IT RIGHT LAST YEAR

Strutting Scribes Seeking To Pick 2nd SWC Champion

FORT WORTH (SC)—It's less than a week before the seven Southwest Conference football teams plunge into fall practice Sept. 1. And with the season almost here, it's time for the grid "experts"—the sports writers, radio-TV personnel—to again select the probable 1959 champion...

The 26th annual TCU sports poll has arrived. And these same men, who have walked around with heads high and chest out since being correct with their guess of Texas Christian last August, have been busy at work. They've spent hours and hours with pencil, pen, tons of paper, and even reviewed the early dopebooks and old record files hundreds of times...

The 1958 pre-season pick of TCU as the SWC champion was only the fifth correct in the 25 years of the poll. Only five times have the "experts" called their shot—1936, Texas Christian; and the University of Texas in 1942, 1943 and 1950. In only two other polls, the team slated to take the prize tied for the title in 1940 and 1953...

Thirty-two of the 96 participants in the 1958 poll had TCU on top. It was the most correct picks since 1950 when 45 of 65 had the Longhorns right. Just for the record, 59 of 74 again had Texas winning in 1945; and an overwhelming 61 of 69 cast their ballots for the Orange in 1943. The number was not revealed in 1958 when TCU walked to the National championship...

It was surprising to see that the 96 ballots came close to naming the exact finish in 1958. Usually, the summer choices are far beyond the final December standings. Ties for second and fifth places upset a near-perfect card in 1958...

It had been just the opposite in 1957 when the champion choice finished last and not one of the seven spots was selected correctly...

Let's take a look at the 32 who took the Frogs in the 1958 race. They were: Bill Van Fleet, Dick Moore, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Gary Cartwright, Louis Cox, Bud Shrake, Dallas-Times Herald; Bob Rule, Houston Press; Frank Fallon, KWTX, Waco; Jerry Ribnick, Houston Chronicle; Ford Robertson, KFDA, Amarillo; Spec Gannon, Odessa-American; Tommy Hart, Big Spring Herald; Fred Sanner, Abilene Reporter-News; Lee Grimsey, Fort Worth Press; Speedy Nieman, Lamesa Daily Reporter...

Sox's Lead Shrinks As Tribe Rallies To Defeat Yankees

By ED WILKS AP News Service Sports Editor Cleveland's big guy is up. Chicago's big guys are down—and the Indians have trimmed the White Sox' American league lead to one game...

With Rocky Colavito back to blasting home runs, the Indians have chopped 3 1/2 games off Chicago's lead by winning eight in a row, their longest streak since 1956...

The White Sox have barely played 500 ball, hurting from the loss of injured Billy Pierce and the ineffective work of ailing Dick Donovan. That has piled too big a pitching load on Early Wynn, their right-handed ace at 39...

Colavito edged the Indians closer to the lead by socking a tie-breaking homer in the eighth inning Wednesday night for a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees. It was Rocky's third in two games and his 38th of the year—tops in the majors...

The White Sox were beaten 7-5 by Boston as Wynn, starting with only two days' rest, lost his second in a row...

Baltimore jumped into third place—14 games behind with a 6-3 victory at Kansas City. Detroit tied New York for fourth by beating Washington 3-2...

Cleveland, making up four games on Chicago in the loss column with the streak, twice battled back for ties in the first two innings after solo homers by Yankees Mickey Mantle (25) and Elston Howard (17), blew a 4-2 lead...

double in the eighth. Colavito, who has homered for his only three hits in his last 17 at bats, then clobbered Ryne Duran (2-4) for the clincher. Duran has been tagged for five home runs in his last seven innings...

Jim Perry (10-5), a top prospect for AL rookie honors, wrapped it up for the Indians after relieving starter Gary Bell in the eighth...

Wynn (16-9) had allowed only two hits and led 2-1 until the Red Sox put across four runs, two unearned, in the seventh. A pinch double by Gene Stephens started it. An error and walk chased Wynn and reliever Gerry Staley then gave up a two-run single by Pete Runnels and a sacrifice fly by Frank Malzone...

Two runs in the eighth, both unearned on an error and squeeze bunt by relief pitcher Neke Chittum, put it away against Turk Lowm, giving the Red Sox just enough cushion to beat off Chicago's final bid on Jim Rivera's three-run double in the eighth. Bill Monbouquette (5-5) won it...

The Orioles beat lefty Bud Daley (15-9) for the first time in six decisions behind homers by Bob Nieman (15), Brooks Robinson (2) and...

DAN LEWIS

Lewis Becomes B Team Coach

Dan Lewis, one of the Gollad Ninth Grade coaches here last year, has been elevated to the job of high school B team mentor, Athletic Director Al Milch has announced.

Lewis will help Roy Baird, who has had the job the last couple of years.

In other changes, Hugh Hamm will move from Rannels Junior High to Gollad Junior High where he will help John Perry Yates with coaching duties.

Oaklie Hagood, last year the Park Hill elementary school mentor, becomes the Gollad Seventh Grade mentor while Don Stevens, who held that position last year, has stepped up to the Eighth Grade, where he and Jimmy Marcus will combine talents as coaches.

Kenneth (Red) Scott, a native of Anson, has been added to the Rannels staff. Ted Kirby, Bobby Zellars and Dan Bustamente are others who will serve as coaches in the Rannels school.

Indications are Zellars will handle the Rannels Eighth Graders exclusively again, although the school has been authorized another coach. Milch said he was finding it increasingly difficult to find competent coaches.

Harold Bentley is quitting coaching to become the assistant principal at the high school, succeeding Benny Pierson. Present plans call for Curtis Kelley and Bill (Chop) Van Felt to handle the varsity track and field team. Kelley will handle the track phase of the program and Van Felt the weight men.

Bentley formerly served as head track coach and was co-ordinator of junior high and elementary school athletics.

Lewis, in addition to his other duties, will serve as B team basketball coach.

Sunland To Start Program At 1:00

EL PASO (SC) — Post time for Sunland Park's 10-race cards will be 1 p.m., according to Wood Erwin, director of racing at the Anapra, N. M., track. Eight of the Friday, Saturday and Sunday races will be thoroughbred, the other two quarter horses.

Erwin, who previously had announced Sunland Park, would have $1,200 minimum purses on every race, with much larger amounts on feature races, said that the opening day inaugural Handicap would offer a $3,000 purse, $2,000 thereafter. Saturday's feature will be $2,500, Sunday, a $3,500 minimum.

Another policy designed to insure top horses for all races is barring of all maiden three-year-olds — they will have to be winners as two-year-olds to compete at Sunland Park.

The $2.8 million track opening Oct. 9 just six miles from downtown El Paso will race 45 days in its first season. That will mean racing every weekend through Jan. 17, 1960.

Take It From The Lady; Casey Will Be Back In 1960

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Want to know who is going to manage the New York Yankees next year? Mrs. Edna Stengel can tell you — Casey Stengel's name. He's her husband.

"I don't want him to quit," Mrs. Stengel told an interviewer Wednesday as she came home for a quick visit while the Yankees are on the road.

"He'll be around baseball as long as he has the health to walk out there on the diamond."

PAN-AM GAMES OPEN IN CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO (AP)—The largest international spectacle in United States' history starts today as the third Pan-American Games are touched off with breath-taking pageantry in mammoth Soldier Field.

The opening day ceremonies, beginning at 1:30 p.m. EST, officially start the games, which as a sort of junior Olympic Games, follow up similar shows at Buenos Aires in 1951 and at Mexico City in 1955.

This is a widespread athletic carnival in which the United States is expected to make a runaway of most major events in the 20-sport competition.

A continuing heat wave with 90 degree temperatures, was predicted for the opening ceremonies in which 2,152 athletes from 24 nations will parade before 70,000 in Soldier Field on Chicago's Lake Michigan front.

The actual competition begins Friday in track and field, baseball, basketball, fencing, soccer, football, tennis, volleyball, weightlifting, and yachting.

The opening highlights include a 24-gun salute to the visiting athletes; a welcoming speech by Dr. Milton Eisenhower; Mayor Daley's proclamation opening the games; and the arrival of the Pan-American torch and release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship among Pan-American nations.

Mexico, the 1955 host, was to lead the parade of athletes with 19 men and 24 women.

Following in alphabetical order were to be: Argentina (111-3); Bahamas (9); Bermuda (10); Brazil (184-40); British Guiana (19); Canada (135-40); Chile (79-16); Costa Rica (43); Cuba (125-15); Dominican Republic Ecuador (28-1); El Salvador (25-5); Guatemala (29); Haiti (37); Mexico (191-34); Netherlands Antilles (14-2); Nicaragua (21); Panama (17-4); Peru (51-25); Puerto Rico (128-16); Uruguay (67-2); Venezuela (47-1); and U.S. (223-83).

Following Mayor Daley's speech proclaiming the games officially open, Ronald Rodriguez, 16-year-old Explorer Scout from Chicago was to trot onto the Soldier Field track, bearing the Pan-Am torch.

On this, the final lap of the Scout's carried light from Mexico City, an electronic impulse will ignite a huge torch above the scoreboard.

The 5,000 doves then will be released and huge Pan-American and Olympic banners will be strung up.

George Worth of New York City, a championship fencer, will step from the ranks and take the Pan-American oath. He replaces Jack Kelly, the sculling champion brother of Princess Grace of Monaco, unable to make the opening day in time.

The United States colors, during this ceremony, will be carried by Ray Norton, sprint star from San Jose State College.

The 2 1/2 hour program will end with a mammoth fireworks demonstration during which flags of the 24 competing countries will be parachuted onto the field.

Local Team Wins Tourney Laurels

A Big Spring contingent won the top prize in the Lubbock Invitational Junior Bowling tournament held in the North College Lanes there last weekend.

The team, led by Elton Kelley, wound up with a 2645 score, including a scratch tally of 2533.

Kelley had the high game of 247, including a 234 scratch score; and the top series, 615.

Jackie Piper of Big Spring was close with a 241-02. His scratch score in the high game was 209.

Others who made the trip were James Puj, Jake Glickman and Donnie Everett.

Youngberg Leads

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Dick Youngberg of Northbrook, Ill., led a field of 32 qualifiers into today's opening round of match play in the Western Junior Golf Tournament.

Bucs got their tie on a sacrifice fly by Smoky Burgess, a single by Don Hoak and Dick Stuart's double.

Ron Kline (9-13), put it away with a one-hit, shutout relief job in the 10th.

The Pirates, winning 17 of their 19 extra-inning games, also have taken three of four games from both Los Angeles and Milwaukee in the spurt. The Giants (7-7) and Dodgers (8-6) have played 500 ball during the Buc's 15-3 span. Milwaukee is 8-9.

St. Louis junked its loss string at seven while barring the Braves from second place. Larry Jackson (11-12) did it, winning his third in a row from Milwaukee with a seven-hitter and seven strikeouts.

The Cardinals scored twice in the first against Carl Willey (5-7) on Stan Musial's two-out single and an error. Curt Flood hit his fourth homer for the Cards.

With Dave Hillman (6-9) shutting out the Reds on two hits in a six-inning relief job, the Cubs overhauled a 5-2 Cincinnati lead with three runs in the fifth, two on Iv Noren's double. They beat reliever Brooks Lawrence (7-11) with three in the seventh on doubles by Ernie Banks and Noren and a single by Al Dark. Frank Robinson hit his 32nd homer for the Reds.

TV Comic Will Be Honored At Ruidoso Downs Friday

RUIDOSO, N. M. (SC) — It will be "Uncle Charlie Weaver Day" at Ruidoso Downs Friday, honoring Cliff Arquette, the grand old comedian of the Jack Paar show, who will make a personal appearance at Ruidoso, Uncle Charlie, rated as one of the top attractions in night time TV, has also consented to wear his costume and sign autographs.

Favored to receive the cooler in the "Uncle Charlie Weaver Allowance" is the California Comet, Tidy Too, capably carrying the rippling green and gold colors of Ray Seeley. This fleet filly has apparently found a soft spot — has been running with the best on the grounds — is in an easier field and should have no trouble.

Lesler Goodson's Eagle Top seems the most serious contention — was a four-time winner last year while G. H. Smith's War Deck is a hard-running winner who favors a muddy track.

Remaining hopefuls: Irish Day, Flying Belle, Surelike Ma, Chicaro Dandy — all winners — and Rival, Bank Night and Lan Lay.

Co-highlighted is the "Hereford Allowance" — a 5 1/2 furlong feature honoring the New Mexico Hereford Ranch Tour. Many tour participants are expected to attend the races.

It looks as if Fleet Pere, the four-time winner from the Circle K Remuda, might be able to get up in time for this one. Hot Number, Little Timid and Frijole Route all have blazing speed and it would be no surprise should any of them be able to hold on to win.

Vole, Tet's Flyer and Fran's Trip are the remaining contestants and all are winners at the meet.
