Ex-Con Turns Back On Wife Of Missing Cop

BULLETIN
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Ex-convict Alvin Knight, under constant questioning for more than 24 hours in the disappearance of State Trooper Albert Souden, agreed today to accompany state police to "show where the body is."

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Ex-convict Alvin Knight turned his back on the wife of a missing state trooper Sunday night as she pleaded with him to tell her what happened to her husband.

"I'll pray for you and forgive you, but please tell," Clara Souden, 23, mother of a seven-month-old baby, told Knight.

Trooper Albert Souden, 29, disappeared last Thursday after going to question Knight about a $75 burglary at a factory.

Knight, 48, told Mrs. Souden, "I am sorry for you and your baby but I can't do anything for you."

Then he choked back tears. "This isn't any indication I'm weakening," he said. "I'm sorry for you."

But Police Supt. Howard Siler, who listened to the dramatic interview at state police headquarters thought Knight was reaching a breaking point.

Arrested Friday in a northern Michigan cabin, Knight admitted being in the trooper's car Thursday. But he insisted he knew nothing of what happened to the trooper. He had Souden's service revolver. He said he bought it for $10 from a hitchhiker.

The search for Souden has centered in a southeast Michigan area where his patrol car was found.

Knight's prison record dates back to 1930 on Ohio and Michigan burglary convictions.

Labor Day In Big Spring Is Quiet, Orderly And Restful

Big Springers noted Labor Day in a most orderly way, according to the police. Relatively few incidents to break the quiet occurred. There were a few traffic accidents on Saturday night but Sunday and Sunday night passed with even less such reports than usual.

The "lark" at the city jail — where prisoners picked up for being drunk were deposited to sober quiet. The county jail blotter was devoid of entries.

Business district presented a "Sunday" face with nearly every business establishment closed down. Some of the cafes, drug stores and restaurants were open.

Tenantless parking meters, showing red flags, were abundant in every block and only a few scattered vehicles were in sight.

Traffic on W. 3rd and W. 4th, usually teeming, was light.

Ambulance drivers, who had good cause to believe they would be kept busy, found Sunday uneventful. There were no runs to be made.

Highway patrol officers, augmented by other DPS uniformed men, were working around the clock. Sheriff's office reported one traffic arrest over the weekend, however.

Many residents of the city were on weekend trips. Others, freed of their jobs for the day, spent the time resting or in yard work.

Weather was ideal for the fishermen and golfers. Bright blue skies, a hot sun of summer intensity, was the rule.

Boy Corners Mart For Jumping Beans

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Kirby Westheimer's first big business deal was a whopper. He bought one million Mexican jumping beans, cornering half of this year's world market for his father's novelty firm.

Westheimer, 21, a Harvard Business School student, got the jump on the competition on a trip to Mexico's Sierra Madre region.

The beans were shipped to a St. Louis warehouse in hand-made tin containers by mule, bus, car, train and plane.

The beans are grown only in northern Mexico. They jump because they have small moth larvae under their skin.

CRMWD-TESCO Cooperate On Salt Control In Water

Exchange of information on research in control of salinity is in prospect for Texas Electric Service Company and the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

During the weekend E. V. Spence conferred with Howard Drew, senior engineer for TESCO, Don Womack, and other company engineers relative to some of the facets of the search to devise most effective and economical means of controlling salination of water supplies.

TESCO has been active for years in research pertaining to salinity, particularly in the field of de-salination and purification. More recently it has addressed itself to the problem of controlling chloride content in stream flow.

This, of course, is the area in which CRMWD is primarily interested, particularly in view of its application to impound a new lake in southern Mitchell County.

When Lake J. B. Thomas was constructed in 1951-52 by the CRMWD, its location was moved upstream to get above a serious concentration of salinity near the confluence of Bull Creek and the Colorado River. That area would remain as a problem for the new watershed. In addition, there is some serious salination above Big Spring.

Both the CRMWD and TESCO maintain gauging and quality stations in the area. Studies have indicated that some of the salt comes from natural formations. In other instances improperly plugged or cased wells have produced salt intrusions into streams, seeps and springs. Still another instance of salination is from some oil well pits which receive salt water incidental to oil production. The water does not all evaporate and instead migrates underground away from the pit, possibly into adjacent water wells or into tributaries of streams.

Currently two methods have been employed most successfully in overcoming localized salt problems. One is to raise a low water dam to hold the water so that it may be diverted into a nearby catch basin for evaporation. In periods of great runoff, the flood water will be comparatively fresh and free of chlorides and will flow over the low water dam. The other method is to drill a number of shallow wells along side the stream where salination is serious and to pump the salt water out and away from the stream. This keeps the salt content in the stream at the lowest possible level so that when flood waters do course downstream, they pick up very little salt at that point.

Young Rodney Paige, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Don Paige, Knott, had a restful Sunday and was making steady progress toward recovery on Monday. He is at Medical Arts Hospital.

He was painfully burned about the face, back, legs and arms in a fire which destroyed his parents' home near Knott on last Thursday afternoon.

The little boy had an uncomfortable Friday and Saturday but was resting much better on Monday.

In the meantime, neighbors and well-wishers of the young mother and father are busy campaigning to get the Paiges back on their feet.

Everything they owned was destroyed when the fire, originating from a gas explosion in the bathroom, leveled their modest home.

More than $400 has been donated toward the hospital bill and the workers, headed by Mrs. Cecil Allred, Knott, and by a group of business men at Ackerly were still on the job Monday.

"The people have been so nice to us," said Mrs. Paige, 19, as she sat beside the bed of her young son. "Everyone has been so thoughtful and so kind."

Donations to the fund were being received Monday at the Kemp Grocery, the M&G Grocery at Knott, the gins at Ackerly, Knott and Brown, and the grainery at Ackerly. The Big Spring Daily Herald is also receiving any gifts to the family and will relay them to the committee.

Meat Talks To Continue

CHICAGO (AP) — Two major meat packing firms without new labor contracts were to meet Tuesday with federal mediators and union representatives.

Wilson & Co. is operating under a contract extension agreement with the United Packinghouse Workers of America and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen.

Swift & Co., largest of all packers, was struck at 12:01 a.m. Friday by both unions.

The old union contracts expired Aug. 31.

Actually, union members struck Wilson as well as Swift Friday, but the Wilson strike was called off almost immediately when Wilson and the unions agreed to confer. Both sides then agreed to extend the old contract.

The two unions represent 6,500 Wilson workers in seven cities. The strike against Swift idled more than 17,000 workers in 34 cities.

Hospital Video Poll Results Not Like The Usual

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television shows live or die by results of polls and popularity ratings in spite of the controversy over their validity.

Herewith we report the results of a poll recently conducted among the 300 patients at National Jewish Hospital at Denver—a group of men, women and children from all over the country, all walks of life, race, religion and color.

Maverick and Dick Clark's American Bandstand tied for first place. Edd Byrnes, the young man who plays Kookie in 77 Sunset Strip, was close behind.

Next was "As the World Turns," a daytime soap opera. It isn't often a daytime series gets into a top-10 position—and even less often is one placed ahead of such favorites as Lawman and the Ed Sullivan show, which were next in the patients' ratings.

Last year, by the way, the overwhelming favorite of the patients was Lawrence Welk. This year he polled only four votes.

NBC was trying hard, but its special news shows on the Eisenhower European trip were consistently outclassed by CBS. NBC went in strongly for deep thinking and lecturing; CBS emphasized the news aspects and took a brisk, brighter approach to its backgrounding.

There's bound to be a mixup between Mother and Hope Emerson on the nights of Sept. 21 and 22. Last year's Mother in the popular Peter Gunn series on NBC was actress Hope Emerson. When the new series of Gunn shows starts on the 21st, there will be a new Mother—actress Minerva Urecal. The first story will have Mother's joint wrecked so that the new one will have a classier place for Pete to hang out.

The next night on CBS, who will turn up had Hope Emerson, in the new role that made a replacement necessary—"Sarge" in the new Dennis O'Keefe Show. Speaking as one easily confused viewer, I wish the Peter Gunn people had handled the change by simply explaining that Mother had gone on a trip around the world. Then Peter could move into a new hang-out called, let's say, Auntie's.

continued his automotive business. He did come in contact with some adventures which have become milestones in the petroleum business. One was the purchase of the Hog Creek Oil Company in Eastland County by Magnolia, launching the latter company as a petroleum power. The other was the completion of an 18,000 barrel gusher, largest in the field, by T. B. Slick.

He came first to Big Spring in 1937 and began dealing mostly in production. Later, he drilled nearly three score wells in the Sharon Ridge 1,700 area both under his name and that of R. F. Townsend, trustee. He had lease and other oil interests in a dozen West Texas counties over the years.

Mr. Townsend had operated the Ford agencies at Stamford and Seymour, and later moved to Dallas before coming to Big Spring. He was a member of all the Masonic bodies, including the Suez Shrine Temple with membership at San Angelo. Before illness intervened, he had 16 years of perfect attendance at the Big Spring Rotary Club.

In 1947 he suffered a severe heart attack and was months overcoming its effects. Afterwards his physician advised him to quit business, to which he replied: "When I reach that point, I'll really be quit."

Pallbearers will be E. H. Boulton, Lloyd Wasson, Merle Stewart, George Oldham Jr., Keith Henderson, Willard Sullivan, Marvin M. Miller of Big Spring and Lowell Martin, Snyder.

Schools Resume Work Tuesday

All schools in the area will be in operation Tuesday morning.

Big Spring and other Howard County schools have been operative during the past week, but Lamesa — delayed by some construction which was in the final stages — does not start until this week.

Local officials are expecting a substantial increase in enrollment Tuesday as late registrants put in their appearance.

Meanwhile, pre-registration is continuing at a steady pace at Howard County Junior College, where freshman orientation and registration is set for next Monday and Tuesday and regular registration on Sept. 16. Classes begin Sept. 17. Anyone taking college credit courses may pre-register now and avoid the rush at registration time.

On Guard

Typical of the men of the loyal Laos army are these two armored car gunners manning a 30 caliber machinegun and a rifle at a jungle outpost about 16 miles from the city of Vientiane near the Thailand frontier. Jungle warfare and guerrilla fighting were continuing in northern Laos where Communist rebel forces, aided by North Viet Nam Reds, were exerting pressure on loyal strongholds.

For A New Wardrobe

Noted Designer Jean Louis and Kim Novak go over sketches for clothes he is designing for her next Columbia picture. Mr. Louis won an Academy Award nomination for Kim's clothes in "Bell, Book and Candle."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Designer Gives Good Advice On Fashions

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Though Jean Louis had received an Academy Award and had dressed many of the top stars, he was not world famous until he created a show-stopping costume for Marlene Dietrich's Las Vegas debut. This transparent gown with beads sewn in strategic places was publicized everywhere.

"We started fittings with Miss Dietrich months before her debut," Jean said. "She is the perfectionist of all time. She knows herself in the finger tips, and no detail is too minute for her to correct."

"She deserves to be on any best-dressed list, for she has at her command every trick to make a woman attractive. She has learned this since she came to Hollywood. Everyone," Mr. Louis declared, "can acquire taste. It is refined with age. You learn from your mistakes. That is why all the best-dressed women are over 40."

"Miss Dietrich dresses absolutely for men. During the season of the sack, she did not buy her clothes in Paris."

Jean spoke enthusiastically of gowns he designed for Doris Day in "Pillow Talk." He pointed out: "Doris is a complete contrast to Marlene. She was the sweater-and-skirt girl, the all-American coed. But in this picture she plays a sophisticated New York decorator."

"Doris has always shied away from high fashion. But I designed a sophisticated wardrobe for her," Jean smiled, "and she accepted all but one. That was a pair of black velvet lounging pajamas, cut low in back and trimmed with fur. 'I don't feel comfortable in them,' she told me. And," Mr. Louis added, "that is the primary requisite. A costume cannot be acceptable if you are uncomfortable in it. But Doris is happy in a decollete red velvet sheath."

"She has so much to offer, she has never had to compete with the glamour girls. But," he added, "perhaps she has swung too far in the other direction."

Mr. Louis received an Academy nomination for the clothes he designed for Kim Novak in "Bell, Book and Candle."

"Kim is young. It takes time to develop individuality, and it can't be done with gimmicks. It is something much more subtle than clinging to one color. But I think Kim is outgrowing this lavender kick."

"She has definite ideas," Jean explained further. "She doesn't own a pair of dark slippers, because she feels your shoes should match your nose. She wears beige in satin, kid and suede."

We were chatting in Mr. Louis' attractive office at Columbia Pictures when I asked for some words of wisdom for the average woman.

"Know your figure," Mr. Louis advised, "and do as much as you can to perfect it. It is what is in the gown that sells it. You have to be prepared to make mistakes. Learning that is born of experience. But be sure that you don't make the same mistake twice. When you have bought the wrong color or style or are unhappy in a dress, it is better not to wear it. If you feel uncomfortable in it, your whole personality will be affected."

"So many people ruin everything they have by over-accessorizing. Ask yourself what can be eliminated. One of my pet peeves is costume jewelry—all this glitter in the daytime!" he exclaimed.

Mr. Louis emphasized buying good accessories—well-made shoes and bags. "You can take a simple little cotton and make it important with well-chosen accessories. I love hats," he exclaimed. "I hope they will come back, but right now they are competing with the coiffure, and women do not want to ruin their hair-dos."

"I love gloves, too," he continued. "A woman is never well dressed without them, but they must be clean and neat. White gloves should be washed after one wearing." Mr. Louis pointed out Miss Dietrich takes several pairs with her if she is to be gone all day.

"Learn to build a wardrobe around one good suit or dress," he pointed out. "You can fill in with skirts and blouses. A good dress of classic line can be carried over from one season to another, and you can depend on its holding its shape."

"And above all," Mr. Louis concluded, "be feminine. Pants are for men. Trousers were not made for the female figure. I can't stand a woman in slacks."

FASHION HELP
 Not every woman can have a designer pick and choose her wardrobe. But every woman may learn which designs and styles are right for her. It's easy, and Leaflet M-31, "Fashion Do's and Don'ts" will help her learn. For a copy, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Oil Treatment Before Shampoo Does Wonders

By VIVIAN BROWN
 AP News Features Beauty Editor

If there is one beauty angle most young girls are aware of, it is their hair.

The hatless fad is one reason young moderns have become hair conscious, but it is one reason too, why hair needs more attention. Glossy hair may be dulled if over-exposed to wind, sun, salt water.

After all, your topknot gets sun-burned too. You may notice the effects of sun on your skin, but you may not notice the effects of boating, gardening, motoring until your hair becomes dry and parched. And it can't miss if you spend a great deal of time outdoors without a head covering.

Most young girls wash their hair every day as they take a shower after a swim during the summer months. Two home hair treatments a week should keep hair in bounce and lustre during the summer months.

Brush your hair thoroughly and comb it to remove tangles before your treatment. A good brisk brushing will help stir up the scalp's natural supply of oil. Many models prefer to bend down from the waist as they brush their hair, and circulation is pepped up in the region of the scalp by the combination of bending down and brushing.

If hair is real dirty from sun and wind, wrap the hair brush in a length of gauze or a clean nylon stocking before you brush it. This "dust catch" picks up surface grime, preparing the hair for an oiling.

The old-fashioned oil and heat method that mother used on her hair is just as effective today. Use olive oil or liquid lanolin to massage the scalp. Pour it into a pan of hot water. Soak one of the little quilted cotton squares in the warmed oil and apply it to the scalp at inch-intervals all over the head. These little applicators will not fuff up and leave lint in the hair.

After your scalp is covered with oil place cushions of fingers flat against the scalp and massage gently, moving the fingers over the surface of the scalp. Use a circular motion. Wrap a clean towel around your head swami style, and wear it for 15 minutes. This is a good time to give yourself a manicure or pedicure or wash your hair brush and comb.

Shampoo your hair with two soapings, using a mild shampoo followed by a thorough rinsing. Blot your hair dry, and apply hair cream or oil very lightly to scalp only, then brush, comb and set your hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stewart of Crane are the parents of a seven-pound son who was born in the Crane Hospital Friday afternoon. Mrs. Stewart, the former Lovell Fletcher, is the daughter of Mrs. O. W. Fletcher. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Stewart of Roby.

The Forsan HD Club will have its initial meeting of the fall season Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Forsan Club house. Mrs. L. T. Shoults, president, has announced election of officers will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kubecka are grandparents of a new granddaughter who was born Aug. 31 in Los Angeles, Calif., to their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ventre. The child has been named Kerrie Dawn.

"Laxatives didn't help"

If lack of bulk is causing irregularity, read this message from Mrs. Sylvia Roden, Miami, Florida. This is what she writes:

"Laxatives didn't help my constipation. Finally I tried Kellogg's All-Bran. I can't say enough good things about it."

Kellogg's All-Bran brings pleasant relief to millions when laxative drugs fail because it is a bulk-forming cereal food. Just a half-cup serving with milk gives you all the good food bulk you need each day for consistent, natural regularity.

Try Kellogg's All-Bran for 10 days—see if it doesn't work for you, too.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Take it from Curtis Kelley, the local coaching aide, Stanton has come a long way back in football this season and could win the District 6-A championship.

Kelley took a busman's holiday Friday night and watched the Buffs in their great winning effort (30-8) over highly respected Merkel.

Time was when the District 6-A teams conceded the championship to Merkel before a game was played. So consistently did Merkel win that no one shed any tears when the Badgers were transferred to 10-A.

Merkel is down in football this fall but not much. The Badgers gave the Buffs all they could handle for three quarters.

Kelley was impressed with the Buffs' pursuit, their passing combination of Dwayne Thompson and Norman Donelson and, most of all, by their desire.

Harlin Dauphin, the Buffs' head mentor, has done wonders with the boys since he arrived on the scene last fall after serving a tenure as assistant mentor at Hawkins.

Ahlens' Fred Sanner and Spec Gammon of Odessa are fingering Big Spring for a last place finish in District 2-AAA football. Ted Battles of Midland and Bob Milburn of San Angelo bravely pick the Steers to wind up fifth in the standings, relegating Odessa Permian to the cellar.

Only this writer sees Big Spring finishing higher on the ladder. I expect them to trail Ahlens and San Angelo on the ticket but to outdist Midland, Odessa High and Odessa Permian.

Gammon reasons the two Odessa teams in 2-AAA will surprise most everyone in the area. He tabs Odessa High for a second place finish immediately back of Ahlens and battles for Permian to the third spot, with Midland fourth and San Angelo fifth.

The Runnels Junior High (9th Graders) gridder may field the city's best freshman backfield ever, according to Dan Bustamante, who is helping coach the team this year.

Gene Lamb will quarterback the team and many have predicted a great future in the sport for young Lamb. He'll be helped along by such notables as Ricky Weisner, Joe Don Musgrove, Jerry Bethell and others.

The Yearlings could be tough, if the line performs up to expectations. Runnels opens against Midland Austin at 2 p.m. here Thursday.

At this stage of the game, Carey King is the Big Spring Steers' most effective back. You can't go wrong training your field glasses on him Friday night.

Carey is the boy who thought he might have to quit the game last year. He appeared to be brittle, prone to injury. He returned to practice long before he was supposed to, however, and the coaches think highly of his attitude.

Buddy Travis, new basketball mentor at HCJC, received a rather indignant letter from the Dallas Morning News the other day. The writer demanded to know why Buddy hadn't forwarded the school's football schedule.

HCJC has fielded both a football team in history and that was in the '40s. Chop Van Pelt, present Steer coaching aide, by the way, Van Pelt went on to become an all-conference performer for Austin College of Sherman.

Jim Brown Is His Old Self

By MIKE RATHET

Jarrin Jimmy Brown, who spent much of his time last season carving in enemy territory while setting a National Football League record of 1,527 yards gained in one season, is up to his old antics.

Contained while Cleveland dropped three successive exhibitions, Brown found his script Saturday and scored two touchdowns as the Browns won their first pre-season game by edging Los Angeles 27-24.

Pounding up the middle and sweeping the flanks, Brown rolled up 179 of the 284 yards the Browns gained on the ground. The former Syracuse All-America averaged 8.1 yards a carry for 22 tries at the Ram defense.

In other games, the undefeated Chicago Bears rolled to their fourth victory, thumping Washington 52-14; New York's touted defense chalked up its second straight shut out as the Giants defeated Green Bay 14-0, and Chicago Cardinals whipped San Francisco 27-24.

Brown scored on runs of 30 and three yards as Cleveland moved to a 17-7 halftime lead. Despite his efforts, the Browns needed a Lou Groza field goal in the final period to insure the triumph. Quarterback Billy Wade hit Del Shofner on TD passes of 18 and 25 yards and rolled up 400 yards in the air to keep Los Angeles within striking distance. Rick Casares triggered the Bears in their awesome display of offensive power, scoring three times.

Finalists In This Group

THOMPSON AND CRAIG IN TOURNEY FINALS

The championship in the 28th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament goes on the line over 36 holes today, matching two men who have grasped the title trophy before.

They are Big Spring's own Luke Thompson, now a finalist for the fourth consecutive time; and Bill Craig, wily veteran from Colorado City.

Thompson got there by spilling Marvin Wright, fellow hometown hero, 4 and 3, Sunday morning, and Jerry Scott, also of Big Spring, yesterday afternoon, 6 and 5.

Craig survived one crisis after another before getting by Big Spring's Bobby Wright in the morning, 1 up 19 holes. In the afternoon, he sidelined Marcelino Moreno of Midland, 4 and 3.

Thompson won the local tournament in 1956 and again last year. Craig ruled in 1955. This is the only other time he has been a finalist here.

Thompson will be a slight favorite in today's finals but he'll have to be at the top of his game to deck Craig who is tough when the blue chips are showing.

Craig almost was eliminated on the 18th hole in his match with Bobby Wright Sunday morning. His putt that forced the match to extra holes appeared to have died short of the cup but it somehow found extra momentum and fell.

Wright lost his chance when he two-putted the first extra hole. Thompson shook Scott to the boot straps in his semi-final duel when he won the first five holes. He started with an eagle three and birdied two. Boasting a five-hole advantage at the turn, Luke again birdied ten.

Scott, a Lamar Tech college linkster, won two holes against Thompson — No. 8 with a par and the 11th when Thompson's first shot sailed over the fence. Luke pieced together a two-undo par 34 on the first nine against Jerry and was even par on the second nine when the end came.

Moreno had trouble all afternoon against Craig. He was two down at the turn. Bill was never down during the match. The Colorado City veteran won on one and three and halved down to the turn. He then won ten, halved 11, won 12 and lost 13, halved 14 and

TEXAS DERBY SET FOR NOVEMBER 1
EL PASO (SC) — Mark Nov. 1 as something special on your calendar, it's the inaugural running of the Texas Derby at Sunland Park, the new race track opening next month in New Mexico just six miles west of downtown El Paso.

Sunland Park president John C. McCormack said the Texas Derby would be the first of five $10,000 special feature races planned for 1959-60. Wood E. Erwin, director of racing, announced that the Texas Derby would be a one-mile race for three-year-olds.

Dates for the four other $10,000 features have been set on Thanksgiving Day, Dec. 30, Jan. 1 and Jan. 17, closing day of the new track's 45-day fall and winter meeting.

Sunland Park, a $2.9 million racing plant being completed on a 150-acre site near El Paso, will race on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays beginning Oct. 9. Post time has been set at 1 p.m.

the 10th inning of the opener to break up a scoreless duel between the Cubs' Art Ceccarelli and the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax. Walt Morin cracked a homer with two on in the ninth inning of the nightcap to enable the Cubs to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Don Drysdale, who had bailed out starter Larry Sherry in the eighth when Banks socked his 40th homer, was the victim of Morin's blow. It was Don's 12th loss in a row.

Koufax established a major league strikeout record for three consecutive games. He fanned 10 to boost his three-game total to 41, three more than the former record held by Walter Johnson and Bob Feller.

Juan Pizarro hurled a seven-hitter and drove in two Milwaukee runs as the Braves closed to within a half game of the Dodgers. Ray Boone hit his first National League homer for the Braves. Jim O'Toole was the Reds' loser.

Robb Roberts not only out-pitched Vern Law of Pittsburgh but scored the winning run as the Phillies broke through for two tallies in the eighth to overcome a 1-0 Pirates lead. Carl Sawatski started the rally with a single.

behind to certain extinction. Blanked by Dick Donovan through eight innings, Cleveland rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth to snatch the game out of the fire. Power drove in both runs with a two-base hit but it was Francona who ignited the winning thrust with a one-out single, his third of the game. After Rocky Colavito became the second out, Held kept the rally alive with a single, setting up Power's game-winning blow.

Detroit took undisputed possession of third place, nipping Kansas City 7-6. Baltimore dropped New York into fourth place, beating the Yankees 5-4 and Boston edged out Washington 2-1.

The Cleveland victory went to the White Sox. He had lost eight straight to the league leaders. It was the second straight day that Francona had combed White Sox pitching for three hits. He now is hitting exactly .500 (2 for 42) against the Sox. His overall batting mark is .385, thirty points higher than Harvey Kuenn, the nominal league batting leader.

Yet Francona is almost certain not to win the batting title. Under the rules, a man must come to bat a total of 447 times to be eligible. Including 23 walks, one hit batter and nine sacrifices, Tio has batted 368 times. Even if he were to bat five times in each of Cleveland's remaining 20 games—highly unlikely—he'll still be nine appearances shy of the required figure.

Kuenn, who is hitting .355, scored Detroit's winning run in the ninth. He doubled and came home on a single by Charley Maxwell, snapping a 6-6 tie. The Tigers rattled 15 hits off three Kansas City pitchers including a two-run homer by Frank Bolling and a three-run blast by Al Kaline.

Gene Woodling drove in three runs against his former mates with a home run and bases-loaded single as the Orioles moved to within a game and a half of the Yankees and the first division. Tom Brewer hurled a five-hitter and socked a home run to win a pitching duel from Washington's Pete Ramos.

10 Are Food Poison Victims

TERRELL (AP)—Ten persons remained in hospitals here Sunday night after food poisoning at the Terrell Country Club hit between 85 and 90 diners Saturday night.

One of the diners, Bill Doice, 38, of Terrell, died early Sunday, but a private physician said Doice died of a heart attack.

Doice was an employee of the Poultry Grading Branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Marketing Service plant in Corsicana, Tex.

The physician who examined the majority of the cases, said no deaths resulted from the food poisoning attack. He said investigation indicated spoiled chickens caused the poisoning.

The physician said, "The poisoning apparently resulted from a bacteria growth in the chickens. But there is no way of determining where the fault lies—whether in the processing, packaging or transportation."

The physician indicated no further probe would be made. Dr. Ralph Bowman, Terrell city health officer, was not in town Sunday.

About 110 persons attended the dinner which marked the end of the club's summer season. By 11:30 p.m. Saturday, about 10 complained of stomach cramps and left the party. Within the next three hours nearly all were taken home or treated at Terrell's three private hospitals.

The club manager, Jess Rickman, said, "It was nothing severe, just the sort of thing that happens now and then, some got sick and some didn't."

AF Is Testing Prison Capsule

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force has started an experiment to find out how man might react on a two-day journey in a space capsule so small he can barely move.

The experimental capsule is broom closet size—5 feet long, 2 feet high, 2 1/4 feet wide.

Trial confinements started in mid-July. They will continue until 40 men have been tested at the rate of one a week.

Each of 20 volunteers will spend 48 consecutive hours in the capsule throughout a six-month period.

The 20 others will be able to spend a fair amount of free time outside the capsule during the 48-hour period.

Half the members of each group will eat a special space diet of fruit juices, meat cubes, cheese, roast beef and candies. The others will be on a conventional diet.

The experiments at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio, were described in connection with an Air Research and Development Command-aviation exhibit at the Air Force Assn. convention which closed Sunday night.

Lyndon Questions Defense Fund Lid

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson said Sunday that there is a serious question whether a continuous air alert for this country will be approved.

He blamed what he called "the system of freezing the defense budget ceiling against the military security of our country."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic Leader, made his remarks in his weekly talk over Texas radio stations. He explained that continuous air alert meant putting "X" number of B52 bombers in the air and keeping them there.

Iron Quebec Chief Dies

SCHEFFERVILLE, Que. (AP) — Premier Maurice Duplessis, 69, controversial, iron-fisted chief of Quebec province for 20 years, died today.

The bachelor lawyer from Trois-Rivieres succumbed to a series of cerebral hemorrhages that first struck him Thursday while on a tour of the mineral-rich area he helped develop.

Ex-Solon, Figure In Scandal, Dies

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) — Former Rep. Andrew Jackson May, 84, around whose name a sensational wartime scandal swirled, will be buried near his home here Tuesday.

In 1947 he was convicted of accepting $53,000 in bribes from munitions makers Murray and Henry Garson and sentenced to from eight months to two years in prison. President Eisenhower, then a general, was among witnesses who testified May sought favors for the Garssons.

The Texan quoted the Strategic Air Command's commanding general to say that "our national survival may depend on the existence of such an alert."

Johnson said the Air Force said a continuous air alert would cost about $600 million. This, he continued, amounts to about 14 per cent of what President Eisenhower has asked Congress to appropriate for foreign aid this year, or about 1 1/2 per cent of the current defense budget.

Johnson added that a recent visit of his to Offutt Air Force Base in Nebraska, SAC headquarters, left him with the belief that "we can't afford to be complacent because of our military strength."

He said the Soviet military power is growing.

"Unless our military effectiveness continues to grow," he added, "our nation will be in peril."

Benson To Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson announced today that he will leave Sept. 23 on a European trade tour including visits to the Soviet Union and Poland.

Clear Skies And Hot Sun Greet Texans On Labor Day

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and a hot sun greeted Labor Day celebrants Monday. The Weather Bureau said the weather probably would continue in much the same manner for the next five days. Extended forecasts called for temperatures as much as 10 degrees above normal in West Texas and up to 6 degrees above normal in East Texas and Central Texas.

The same forecasts called for light to moderate precipitation in widely scattered thundershowers in East Texas and Central Texas. Light precipitation or none was expected in a few widely scattered thundershowers in West Texas.

A few early morning clouds hung over the Austin-San Antonio area Monday and a few more along the Texas coast. Temperatures shortly before dawn ranged from 79 at Galveston to 67 at Daltart.

U. S. Weather Will Be Fair

By The Associated Press

The weather will be fair over most of the country today.

But later in the afternoon and early evening there will be some widely scattered rain and thundershowers.

Newsmen Win Scholarships

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas School of Journalism awarded two $1,200 fellowships Saturday to Texas newspapermen.

The awards went to Harold E. Whittington, 34, of the Baytown Sun, and Warren Burkett, 30, of the Abilene Reporter-News. The two will study, work on research projects and help give individual criticisms to undergraduate students in the new program in public affairs reporting during 1959-60.

Whittington's fellowship is designed the "E. S. Fentress Fellowship in Public Affairs Reporting," because it was established as part of a $14,000 gift to the school of Journalism in honor of E. S. Fentress, veteran newspaper publisher. Newspapers Inc., of Waco made the commemorative grant. The concern publishes the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald, Austin American-Statesman and Port Arthur News.

Whittington is Baytown Sun City editor and has further duties with the Bay City Tribune, Pasadena Citizen and Brazosport Facts, all published by Southern Newspapers Inc.

Burkett has been on the Abilene Reporter-News staff since 1954 and has held several positions, including military editor, Sunday editor, wire editor, substitute news editor, photographer, courthouse and City Hall reporter. He was managing editor of the Lamesa Reporter, 1953-54, and night editor of the Waco News-Tribune, 1952-53.

DEAR ABBY

HONOR THY FATHER . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Wanting to Live" who complained because she had to stay home and care for her sick and aged mother.

I was born on a small farm. My parents worked from dawn to dark trying to feed and educate their seven children. When I was 15 my father died and my mother had a stroke. Being the oldest, I stayed on while my brothers and sisters left one by one to find work in the city or to get married. My mother became my responsibility.

I have worked hard. But God was good to me and I prospered. I have been able to provide my mother with a modern, comfortable home.

Take care of Mamma. You'll never regret it. You are not "Wanting to live." You are living! "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the earth." Exodus 20:12. "FORTY-ONE, SINGLE AND HAPPY"

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor never misses a single day to come to my house. She stays until just before my husband comes home for supper. If friends or relatives come from out of town, she stays here till they leave. I can't visit with them as she runs her mouth all the time talking about her family or her sickness. I have heard the same stories from her a hundred times.

My husband gets so mad at me for not going ahead with my work. But how can you work with that talking machine going every minute? Is there a way to get rid of her earlier? I don't like to break the friendship completely.

PESTERED: Be friendly but firm when you tell your neighbor that you have only so much time to visit with her. Set your timer (if you don't have one, use an alarm clock) and when IT goes off—lead your neighbor to the door and see to it that SHE goes off. If she hasn't sense enough to leave when you have guests and you haven't the courage to tell her you'd like some privacy, you'll have to put up with her.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am crazy, but I am ALLERGIC to one particular girl. Whenever I come in contact with her, my face and neck break out with little reddish bumps. And these bumps itch. This doesn't happen with any other girl. The bumps quit itching and disappear in about two days, but as soon as I go near her again, they come back. If you have a solution for me I'd be very grateful as this girl is sure worth the bumps.

"BUMPY": Be of good cheer! You are probably ALLERGIC to the cosmetics or perfume the girl is using. See a dermatologist (when you are at your bumpiest and itchiest) and let him take it from there.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GINSEY": Read Kinsey!

To get ABBY's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this paper.

Ike Ends Scottish Vacation, Heads Home For Niki's Visit

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer
President Eisenhower ended his 13-day swing through Europe today and flew back to Washington to prepare for his meeting eight days hence with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Because of bad weather in Iceland, the President canceled his plan to lunch there with Icelandic President Asgeir Asgeirsson.

Instead, the chief executive's yellow-nosed jet airliner sped him to Washington via Gander, Newfoundland.

The President looked relaxed and sun-tanned after his three-day golfing vacation in Scotland.

He took the vacation to rest up after a series of conferences with European leaders—a tour which his doctors called one of the toughest jobs of his presidency.

After long and intimate talks with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, he went to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle.

Then he flew to Scotland to relax at his 16-room apartment in Culzean Castle.

On leaving Culzean, he shook hands with his host and hostess, the Marquis and Marchioness of Ailsa.

His final words to Lord Ailsa, who had lived in a wing of his ancestral home during Eisenhower's visit, were: "It's been just wonderful."

Eisenhower spent his last day in Scotland attending church, receiving a life membership in the Turnberry Golf Club, and rushing to get through one last round of 18 holes under threatening skies.

The President's decision to return to Washington was not motivated, Hagerty said, by any special political development. There had been some thought he might remain in Scotland for another day.

"He just decided he wanted to be home Monday afternoon," Hagerty said.

get in a last round if he waited too long.

Playing with U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney against New York corporation executives William E. Robinson and Alton Jones the President again came in with an 83.

His total, the same as his score Saturday, was 12 above par for the course.

His caddy, Tommy Gunth, said the President was driving well. He had trouble putting, however, and Gunth said he appeared to tire on the last nine holes.

Special Chance For Army Recruits

There are 75 vacancies in the Army Air Defense for young men who are interested in electronics assignment on a local level, the U. S. Army Recruiting service has been informed.

Men who enlist under this option will be stationed in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for their three year Army enlistment. Reception and basic training will be at Ft. Carson, Colo. Applicants for these posts must be enlisted by Sept. 9 to avail themselves of the opportunity. Army recruiting office in Lamesa invites interested persons to contact it collect by phone — Phone 3683, Lamesa.

Saves Sister

Linda Kay Gibson, 10, cuddles her sister Joyce, 2, at their St. Paul, Minn., home, whose life she was credited with saving by mouth-to-mouth respiration she read about in a newspaper. Joyce, ill with high fever, stopped breathing. While the mother phoned for medical help, Linda started the respiration. When a doctor and police arrived, Joyce was breathing normally. "Joyce is the only baby sister I've got. I simply had to do something," said Linda.

Film Process Dreamed Up For Mars Opus

By JAMES BACON
Special Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Marilyn Monroes and Clark Gables may come and go in this business but new film processes will always be with us.

Newest is Cinemagic, a process that optically and chemically changes the photographic image into what appears to be drawings that move. It is not Disney-like animation, neither is it the conventional movies as they have existed since Edison.

The work is the brainchild of producer Norman Maurer. Like most inventions, it came as a result of seeking a way to save money.

Pink is producing a movie called "Invasion of Mars."

"We wanted to make Mars look eerie but not phoney—as so many of these space movies have done. The new process accomplishes our purpose, we think, for peanuts."

The movie, which starts shooting Sept. 10, will be made at half the original cost, Pink estimates, because of the process.

"Our set for the planet Mars cost us a couple hundred dollars instead of the thousands that we had estimated."

The Cinemagic process works only on the negative. Maurer says this is the first time anyone has tampered with the photographic image since the days of Edison.

"The movie is shot as a regular movie and the public will see 60 percent of it that way. Then when the scientists land on Mars, the characters will move smoothly just as they do in conventional movies—only they will look like pen or pencil drawings—which they are not."

A space movie is the perfect showcase for the process as the effect is eerie and since no one has been to Mars, the miracle of imagination gives it a believability—fantastic—quality.

Pink gives a disheartening note about the commercial possibilities of the process.

"There are thousands of television commercial films being used in valets around town, only because they have been used too often. Cinemagic can be applied to the negatives and they can all be used over and over again—and be entirely new."

Man, Woman, Money Are Held

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A man, a woman and a bundle of money are in federal custody in connection with the $27,500 robbery of a Maryland bank.

FBI agents arrested the pair Sunday at a Miami Beach hotel and identified them as Charles Edward Lawrence, 40, and Katherine Freda Merrick, 47, both of Washington, D.C.

The FBI said another man, Robert Lawrence Couch, 22, of Washington, was held at Alexandria, Va., in the holdup Friday of the County Trust Co. at Mechanicsville, Md.

Bond was set at $50,000 for Lawrence and Couch on charges of violating the federal bank robbery law. Miss Merrick was ordered to provide $5,000 bond on an accessory charge.

The FBI said $17,000 and an automatic pistol were found when the husky Lawrence and gray-haired Miss Merrick were arrested after an airplane trip from Washington.

Lawrence, who had served a Maryland forgery sentence, also was sought on a federal warrant that involved checks passed at Lakeland, Fla., the FBI said.

Three women clerks at the County Trust Co. were bound and gagged by two men who wore a railroad engineers overalls, baggy caps, sunglasses and cowboy boots. The bandits fled with $3,000 from the tellers' booths and $24,500 from the vault.

Fabian Wants His Education

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's back to school this week, and one of the most conspicuous pupils will be rock 'n' roll singer Fabian. Fabian will be working for a diploma from South Philadelphia High School. But he'll be doing it in absentia. The 16-year-old singing sensation is unable to attend regular classes because of various personal appearances, recording sessions, and movies which are expected to net him $250,000 this year.

Bikini Ballerina Eyes Hollywood

MALDEN, Mass. (AP)—"Dancing Doty" Ferragamo, 33-year-old mother who started neighbors with backyard bikini ballets, is all set for a stab at Hollywood. She has an agent — and, she says, an offer to meet a representative of Hecht-Lancaster studios in New York.

Two bids for personal appearances have also come in, she says. The Hollywood offer, announced Sunday night by agent Nick Abbruzzese, climaxed a summer of nocturnal backyard dancing in bikini bathing suits. Doty said the dances were to entertain her husband and three children. Some neighbors weren't entertained.

One woman called her "a mental case," she said, and suggested a head examination. Saturday night some 1,200 spectators, mostly male, crowded into the residential section to see Doty dance. An added attraction was a rock 'n' roll number by Doty's mother Mary Demarco, 55, who was decked out in tights and a fishnet swim suit.

Mike Ferragamo, Doty's husband, handled the hi-fi set as the two women cavorted to applause.

Police finally broke it up after traffic became snarled for six blocks.

Death Takes Kay Kendall

LONDON (AP)—Beautiful Kay Kendall, who rose from a chorus line to stardom of film and stage, died Sunday at the age of 32.

The enchanting, sophisticated actress never knew she suffered from leukemia — cancer of the blood — which took her life. But her husband, actor Rex Harrison, knew it when he married her two years ago.

"Darling, I love you very much," Miss Kendall told Harrison before she slipped into unconsciousness at the London Clinic.

The slender English beauty entered the hospital eight days ago. She had been in poor health for 20 months. But Harrison, star of the musical "My Fair Lady," told her up to the last that she would soon be well again.

Dr. Carl Goldman, Miss Kendall's long-time physician, said the star's malady was first diagnosed in New York four years ago.

Doctors, who knew Harrison planned to marry Miss Kendall as soon as he was divorced from his previous wife, told the actor about the illness.

"He showed her great love and affection," said Dr. Goldman. "No one could have been more wonderful than Rex was to Kay."

The doctor said Harrison was completely broken up by his wife's death. "It has been a long and difficult strain for him."
