U. N. Probe Group Due In Laos Soon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N.'s new four-nation fact-finding group may get a team off to Laos by week's end to investigate reported invasions from neighboring Red North Viet Nam.

The subcommittee, set up by the Security Council over bitter Soviet protests, met Tuesday with Council President Egidio Ortona of Italy, to make plans for the mission.

Ortona said the four members—Italy, Argentina, Japan and Tunisia—agreed it was vital to carry out its task as quickly as possible.

The West proposed the inquiry group as a compromise the Soviets might not oppose too strongly. Laos had called for U. N. troops to meet the alleged Red aggression in the same way that the Western Powers rallied to the defense of South Korea against Communist North Korea in 1950.

The Western plan ran into immediate opposition from North Viet Nam which declared the setting up of the fact finding group was illegal.

RED CHARGES

The Hanoi government also charged that the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) headed by the United States, plans direct intervention in Laos.

The Red regime said the only way to ease tension in the Southeast Asia kingdom was to enforce the Geneva agreement of 1954 that ended the Indochinese war and to restore the international control commission it provided.

A spokesman in Hanoi denied again that North Vietnamese troops are fighting in Laos.

Ortona and representatives of the other member nations of the subcommittee—Koto Matsudaira of Japan, Mario Amadeo of Argentina and Monghi Slim of Tunisia—set up this timetable:

Asked their home governments to name within 24 hours personnel to make the first-hand inquiry.

Suggested that men be picked

News of the fact-finding mission was hailed in the Laotian capital of Vientiane, but officials there were disappointed there was no provision for an international military force.

The Laotian delegate here, Thephathay Vilaihongs, said the presence of the fact-finding group in Laos would give the government moral support and predicted there would be no further aggravation of the situation while the mission is there.

Vilaihongs said he had word from his government denying that all North Viet Nam troops had been pulled back. He said fighting was still going on in many places and that some North Viet Nam forces are still in Laos.

Ike Appeal Nets Only Accusations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's appeal for a big push to end the steel strike has netted only a new round of accusations between steel management and labor.

Neither side reacted with a new approach to breaking the 57-day stalemate—now the longest steel strike in the nation's history.

"Half-hearted bargaining is not enough," Eisenhower said Tuesday in letters to David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, and the presidents of the 12 firms involved.

"Intensive, uninterrupted good faith bargaining, with a will to make a responsible settlement, is required," Eisenhower said.

His letters went out a few hours after negotiators met for 45 minutes in New York, then recessed until Thursday to prepare for expanded subcommittee negotiations.

McDonald promptly told the President that the steelworkers have been seeking and will continue to seek "good faith, uninterrupted, wholehearted bargaining with the objective of achieving a reasonable settlement."

McDonald said "representatives of the steel companies with whom we have been meeting have either refused or lacked the authority to negotiate, except on the basis of complete denial of any justice to the steelworkers."

R. Conrad Cooper, the industry's chief negotiator, said the steel companies are "seeking with diligence, patience, persistence and determination a noninflationary settlement."

He added: "We do not believe that surrender to the pressures for an inflationary agreement are desired by the President, by the American people or by the steelworkers themselves."

"We have been trying for weeks and will try again with continued determination to achieve a settlement which is in the best interest of all concerned."

Eisenhower said that where there is a will to agree on both sides, there is a way to agree. "I have seen far more difficult problems than the steel dispute

Metal Worker Changes Mind About Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—A New York metal worker who applied for Soviet citizenship 10 days ago says he already is homesick for the United States and wants to go home.

Nicholas Petrucci, 38, of Valley Stream, N.Y., appealed to the U.S. Embassy Tuesday night to give him back the American citizenship he renounced.

"I don't have any family here. I haven't made any new friends, I don't have a job or money and would have to learn a new language," he told newsmen.

Petrucci said he has cabled his brother in Valley Stream for money to pay his Moscow hotel bills.

He already has his plane ticket home. He held on to the round-trip ticket he had on his 1965 tour that brought him to Moscow Aug. 11.

Petrucci handed his passport to the U.S. Embassy last Thursday with a signed statement renouncing his American citizenship.

He had already written the Soviet Parliament asking for Soviet citizenship but got no reply. He said then he felt "economically and morally at home in the Soviet Union."

In Los Angeles, Petrucci's divorced wife, Helen, said she "glad he changed his mind." She offered to take him back. They have a 4-year-old daughter.

Laotian Foreign Minister Khamphan Panya en route to the General Assembly, told newsmen in New Delhi that if the U.N. fails to stop troops from entering his country from North Viet Nam, Laos may turn to SEATO or some other regional organization for help.

Asked what he thought of the U.N. inquiry group, he said anything to stop the fighting would suit Laos.

"We hope that when the U.N. is convinced there is aggression from abroad, it may send forces," he added.

China 'Pledges' India Integrity

TOKYO (AP)—Red China pledged today she will respect the territories of Bhutan and Sikkim as Indian protectorates and offered to settle her border disputes with India through friendly negotiations.

The conciliatory move came six days before the opening in New York of a U.N. General Assembly at which India has proposed seating of Red China. Similar bids by Communist friends of Red China and neutrals for replacement of Nationalist China have failed year by year.

At the same time the Peiping regime declared all the border trouble was "caused by trespassing and provocations by Indian troops."

The pledge and the offer were made by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai to Indian Prime Minister Nehru in a letter dated Sept. 8. It was broadcast by the New China News Agency, which said the letter was in reply to a letter from Nehru of March 22.

Chou offered to settle all China's border disputes with India "through friendly negotiations conducted in a well-prepared way, step by step."

Nehru's letter was written before the recent tension caused by Red Chinese crossings of what India has long considered her frontier.

438 Final Tally Of Holiday Traffic

By The Associated Press

A final tally shows 438 persons died in traffic accidents during the 78 hours of the Labor Day holiday weekend.

The record of 461 was set in 1951.

The National Safety Council had estimated 450 lives would be lost in traffic during the weekend extending from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, local time.

In addition to deaths from traffic accidents this year, there were 29 drownings resulting from boating accidents, 62 non-boating drownings and 84 deaths from miscellaneous accidents. The overall total for the holiday was 613.

Husband Catches Wife, Both Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—A despondent wife plunged from the roof of a five-story apartment building today into the arms of her husband, trying to save her life. Both suffered critical injuries.

Alicia Martinez, 30, who had been ill recently, walked out of their Bronx apartment shortly before 7 a. m. Her husband, Felix, 29, searched the neighborhood for her unsuccessfully. Then, returning, he saw her standing on the edge of the roof.

"Don't jump!" he shouted. But she plummeted toward the sidewalk.

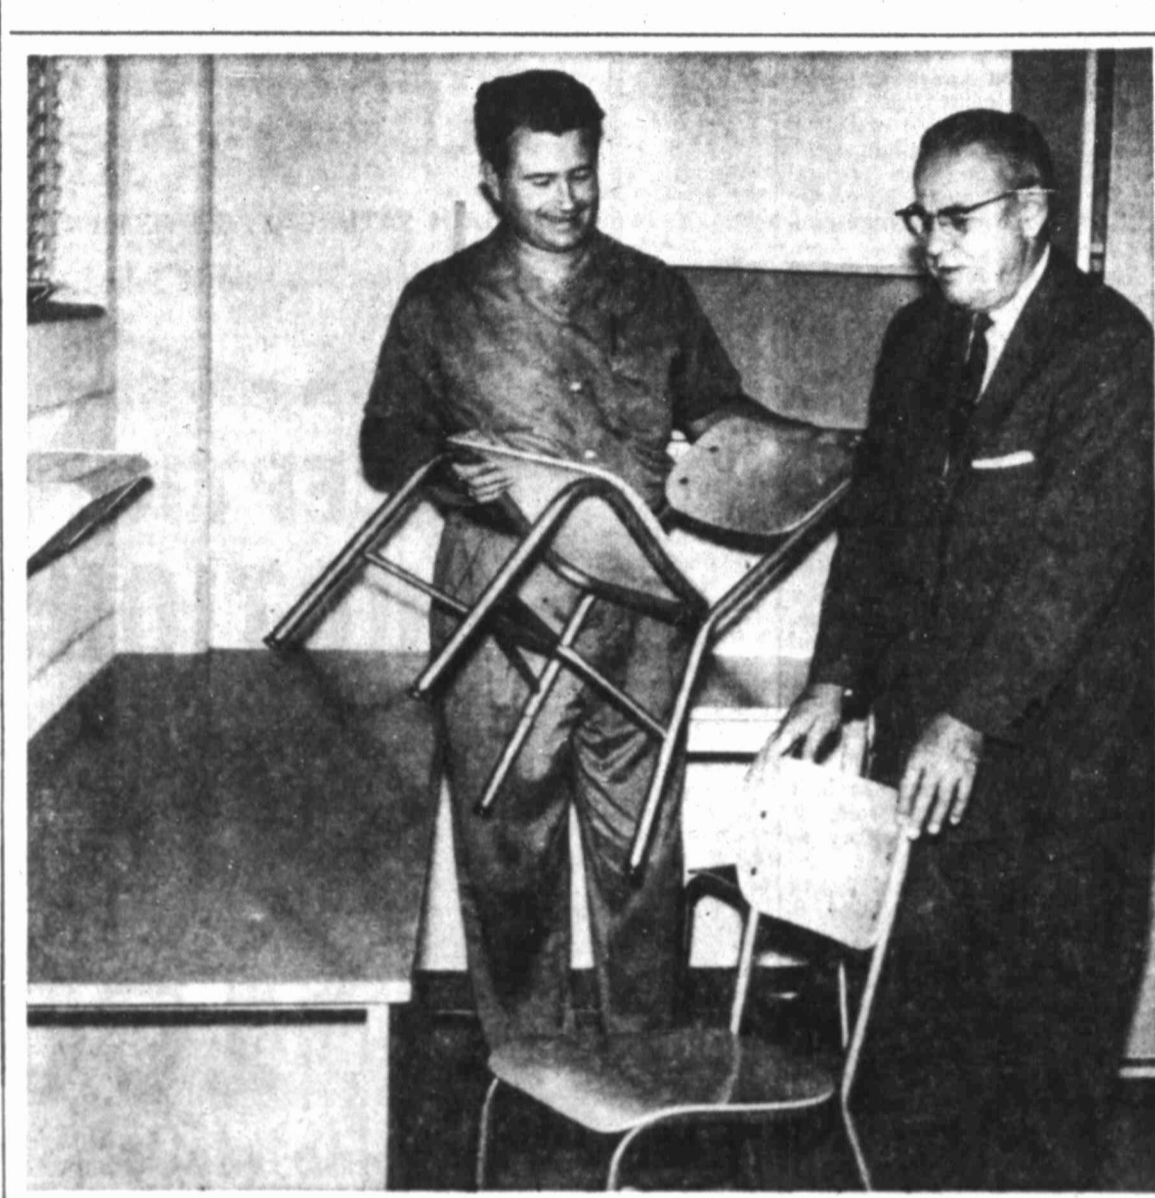

He braced himself and tried to catch her. He broke her fall but was knocked to the walk.

The wife suffered several fractures and internal injuries; the husband suffered internal injuries and fractures of both legs.

Compromise, Bitterness Mark Slow Highway To Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Compromise and controversy prevailed today as a harassed and bickering Congress snailed its way toward a seemingly ever-retreating adjournment date.

Inter-party compromises promising progress on such issues as housing were countered by controversy threatening delays on such matters as civil rights and enforcement of the Senate's rules.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who has been consistently bearish on plans of other leaders to quit Saturday, fixed the early part of next week as a more likely date.

He said that, if Congress still is in session, it will be up to the State Department to decide whether Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who arrives Tuesday, should be asked to address it.

"We always invite anybody they ask us to," he said. Previously Eisenhower is keeping hands off this touchy situation.

Proceeding cautiously around a series of route roadblocks set up by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), the Senate moved toward action today on a compromise housing bill. Democrats were assured President Eisenhower would sign it despite vetoes of two previous measures in this field.

Congress Tuesday whipped through a $1,185,309,000 public works appropriation bill in a form the President still doesn't like. Re-

Senate Confirms Federal Judgeship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate unanimously confirmed today President Eisenhower's nomination of Joe J. Fisher to be federal judge for the eastern district of Texas.

He succeeds the late Judge Lamar Cecil.

Fisher is a native of San Augustine and has lived in Jasper for many years. He practiced law in Jasper from 1946 to 1957 before becoming state judge of the First District Court.

From 1939 to 1946 he was district attorney at San Augustine.

Robot In Debut, Would Take Over 'Hot' Areas

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mobot Mark I, a mechanical and electronic marvel designed to take man's place in dangerous areas, made its debut today.

Scientists took the wraps off Mobot at the Hughes Aircraft Co. nuclear electronics laboratories, where it was developed for the Atomic Energy Commission's Sandia Laboratories at Albuquerque, N.M.

Looking somewhat like a small tractor, Mobot can maneuver handily, perform intricate tasks with its metal fingers and see through television-camera eyes.

The fantastic machine will do its work in "hot" areas of the atomic laboratories where man-made radiation is too intense for humans.

Mobot was described as the first operable machine to be both completely mobile and remote-controlled.

Dr. Allen E. Puckett, vice president of Hughes, said Mobot Mark I will be used by Sandia to test effects of radiation on materials. "But future versions may someday scoop up a bucketful of moon dust for return to earth labs, farm the ocean bottom, fight fires and rescue men from disaster areas such as those containing poisonous gases," he added.

John L. Colp, head of Sandia's radiation effects section, said Mobot, with its TV-camera eyes, will find an item to be tested and carry it into a radiation cell, then return to its "hot" lab.

Test items can be removed by reversing this procedure. Mobot, which can use electric screwdrivers or nut runners, can disassemble the irradiated items for testing.

Mobot's pilot sits safely in another area behind thick concrete and directs the robot's movements with pistol-like grip controls which form electronic reins. He views the "hot" room through Mobot's TV eyes.

Accident Fails To Mar Experiment

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A space capsule like the one a Mercury astronaut will ride in orbit was blasted hundreds of miles out across the Atlantic today and quickly recovered intact.

Space experts said main research objectives were met despite a mechanical mishap that shortened the flight.

The bottle-shaped steel chamber was hoisted aloft from this missile test center at 2:19 a. m. by a huge Atlas rocket, the vehicle chosen for the first manned flights. Instead of a man, however, it carried only instruments.

All went well on the launching itself but when the powerful first stage burned out after 2 minutes and 40 seconds it failed to disengage and fall away as planned.

The resulting drag cut the flight short of the 100-mile altitude and 2,000-mile distance planned, but telemetry signals came back for 12 of the expected 20 minutes, indicating that much of the planned range had been achieved.

Then signals were heard from the chamber itself, aloft on the water several hundred miles north of Barbados, and the chamber was quickly located by plane.

The USS Strong of the Navy flotilla patrolling the route sped to the scene and in Washington the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the capsule had been retrieved at 10:38 a. m. It had been sighted first at 5:30.

The NASA announcement said a "quick look at data indicate that all of the system within the capsule performed as planned for this test."

"The fact that the capsule survived the severe re-entry heating conditions is considered a major step forward in determining the adequacy of the Mercury heat protection."

The director of Project Mercury, which is aimed at putting a man into orbit in 1961, rated the re-entry survival as probably a major step forward.

He said the primary objective of the trial was to see how the capsule stood up under the heat and shock of coming back from a simulated orbital path.

The blast-off came at 2:19 a. m. Less than four hours later a search plane reported it had sighted the floating capsule, several hundred miles short of its goal.

Rear Adm. Harry Smith, commander of the recovery operation, did not pinpoint the location. He told a news conference that two destroyers were rushing to the spot. They were expected to arrive about 9:30 a. m. (EST).

At first it was believed that the test of the capsule designed to carry the Mercury astronaut into space had been a complete failure.

The booster stage of the powerful Atlas rocket failed to drop off

Giant Hawaiian Junket Talked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A junket to surpass all junkets—a free trip to Hawaii for the whole Senate—is getting enthusiastic consideration from some senators.

The taxpayers would foot the bill under terms of a resolution drafted by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. It calls for an outlay of $200,000 to cover members' expenses on the trip.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii cabled the invitation for all the senators to take part in a thanksgiving celebration for the 50th state. The Senate Republican Policy Committee received it Tuesday with "hilarity and exuberance of spirit," Dirksen reported.

If he doesn't expect senators would be required to bother turning in expense accounts.

The GOP leader added that from Hawaii "it isn't very far around to Alaska" and some senators might want to go there too.

Little Rock Tempers Flare Over Bombs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Tempers simmered in Little Rock today as indignation rose over the Labor Day dynamiting of public officials' property.

The Chamber of Commerce offered a $25,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the bombers who hit the mayor's business office, the school board headquarters, and the fire chief's automobile.

The City Manager Board Tuesday night adopted a resolution backing up the chamber and the police department in an all-out investigation.

The Arkansas Gazette, winner of two Pulitzer prizes for its coverage of the integration troubles in 1957, published a strongly worded editorial demanding the arrest of the bombers.

Civic leaders reacted angrily, labeling the bombings as cowardly and "tactics of terror and anarchy."

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett of Arkansas laid blame on the Communist party.

Mayor Werner C. Knopp said damage to the building which houses his office would be about $20,000. It is a construction company of which he is vice president.

The school board, forced out of its headquarters by a blast that wrecked two rooms, met at a vocational school to hear appeals of seven Negroes and two white students who asked to be transferred from schools to which they were assigned.

Little Rock police said they picked up several persons for questioning. Two FBI laboratory experts combed the wreckage of the bombed buildings and the car of Fire Chief Gann L. Nalley.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus deplored the bombings.

"Everybody is assuming the segregationists did it," he said. "But until something more definite is learned and a trend is established, I see no reason for that assumption."

CAT'S COURAGE REVEALS VISIT OF BIG SNAKE

A cat's mother instinct alerted Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murdock to a surly intruder early today.

When they awoke around 6 a. m. at their home at 2406 Robb in Cedar Ridge Addition, they heard a strange noise. Then Murdock recognized it for what it was, the steady agitated buzz of a rattlesnake.

The rattler had crawled into the carport of the house but had been kept annoyed and coiled by the cat who was protecting her litter born the day before.

Murdock shot the rattler which measured about three feet or longer and had eight rattlers.

Official Insignia

This new insignia for all vehicles operated by the city, with the exception of fire and police cars, was shown to City Commissioners Tuesday at the regular meeting. Bruce Dunn, Director of Public Works, said the insignia is required by law and each vehicle must be marked according to department in letters two inches high. The words in this insignia are black on a yellow field. The star is silver on a red field.

Padre Island Hearing Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee will hold hearings in Texas later this year on a bill to establish a national seashore area on Padre Island. Sen. James Murray (D-Mont), committee chairman, said this in answering a joint letter from Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough and Reps. John Young and Joe Kilgore. "The matter of setting a definite hearing schedule, will, of course, depend upon the commitments of our committee members and the members of the Texas congressional delegation who are most interested on this legislation," Murray said. "I hope we can work that out in the near future."

Daily Average Oil Production Rises

TULSA (AP)—An increase in oil production in Texas last week helped boost the nation's daily average to 6,907,120 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The total is 34,730 barrels per day more than during the previous week when production averaged 6,772,390 barrels daily. For the week ended Sept. 5, Texas production was 2,461,170 barrels per day, 24,690 barrels more than during the previous week. Louisiana increased 5,700 barrels a day, to 998,000. New Mexico made 228,550 barrels, up 3,050. Arkansas at 47,900 was up 1,400. Colorado at 126,400 was up 300. Oklahoma averaged 503,700 barrels, a drop of 5,300.

Old Battle Cry Set Off Over Amarillo Taxes

By JOE BENHAM
AMARILLO (AP)—The old "taxation without representation" cry has been raised in this oil and cattle center.

The tax that touched off the fuss is on property—the homes and businesses in the part of Amarillo which extends south of the Potter-Randall County line.

Some people who live in the Randall County part of Amarillo say their taxes are higher than those on comparable property in the Potter County part of town. Others assert that Amarillo property is taxed more heavily than the same type of property in the rural parts of Randall County.

The "taxation without representation" claim came from people who feel that failure to re-district Randall County has left south Amarillo at the mercy of the rural precincts and Canyon, the county seat, in the County Commissioners Court.

The Amarillo Junior Chamber of Commerce says the problem can be solved by moving the county line 7.4 miles south.

Such a move, under the Texas Constitution, would require an affirmative vote by residents of both counties, says Walter Wolfgram, Jaycee leader and former city attorney. Wolfgram said movement of the county line would—in addition to equalizing the tax situation—solve complex legal problems growing out of the city's southward bulge. Having one juvenile court instead of two would make for less confusion, he said. A Jaycee resolution said south Amarillo residents find it inconvenient to have to go to Canyon for jury duty.

If moving the county line isn't accomplished, Wolfgram said, it eventually may be necessary to merge the counties.

Randall County commissioners apparently feel the solution is county redistricting.

"If Randall County were redistricted so that the population in south Amarillo were adequately represented in county government, any idea of annexing part of the county to Potter County would die a-borning," C. Y. Johnson told his fellow Randall County commissioners.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce has endorsed a redistricting move, but commissioners have yet to act.

Ike Returns Home

President Eisenhower receives a kiss from Mrs. Eisenhower at Washington's National Airport as he returns from his historic trip to allied countries of Europe.

What Niki Will See Still Big Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just what Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will see on his visit to the United States is still an official mystery, even though his arrival is only six days away.

So far only a bare-bones outline of the Soviet premier's itinerary has been issued here, although the announcement of his coming was made by President Eisenhower more than five weeks ago.

An apparent reason for the delay lies in red tape in Moscow, thicker than the Washington variety, which makes still more difficult the arduous task of preparing for an historic visit of top importance.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerly has named the half-dozen U. S. cities Khrushchev will visit and the dates.

The White House also has announced the detailed schedule for the first two days of the Sept. 15-27 visit. These are Khrushchev's initial days in Washington, marked by ceremonial functions.

But as for specific questions on what the Soviet leader will do on his cross-country travels from New York to Los Angeles—and the questions pour in by the hundreds—the official reply here is that it is still uncertain when an announcement can be made.

That is the stock answer given even after persons and organizations along the Khrushchev route have passed out word locally of arrangements for the visitor.

For instance, a tentative schedule of Khrushchev's two-day visit to Iowa was announced in Des Moines Tuesday night. It includes a tour of Des Moines and visits to the Iowa State College at Ames and the Garst farm near Coon Rapids.

U. S. Soviet negotiations over what farm and factory to see, what transportation to use, and other nuts-and-bolts details of the visit have been conducted here through Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

The catch is that what the two diplomats agree on in Murphy's office is not necessarily final.

Menshikov isn't taking chances on okaying something Khrushchev might not like. He messaged back to Moscow and may wait days for a reply. Then he sees Murphy

Farm Bureaus In Battle Royal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major farm organizations have worked themselves into a battle royal over a national referendum on a checkoff program to promote wool and lamb sales.

Against the proposal is the American Farm Bureau Federation. Favoring it are a number of sheep grower organizations, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union.

Sheep growers are voting by mail this month on the question of continuing a program under which the Agriculture Department deducts small amounts from government payments to them under a wool incentive program designed to encourage expansion in wool production.

Funds collected under the check-off program are used to finance a promotion program for wool, lamb and mutton.

Approval by two-thirds of those voting is required. The National Grange says the Farm Bureau opposition is an attack on what it calls the "self-help" approach to farm programs advocated by it and some other farm organizations.

The Farm Bureau says it does not like the idea of compulsory programs. It says they should be on a voluntary basis.

Niki Looks For Friends Here —And He Has None At Home

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
"If you live among dogs," says Nikita Sergeevich Khrushchev, who is fond of proverbs, "Keep a stick with you."

For him, the cautious philosophy paid off. The 220-pound bundle of energy who heads for the United States next week for the announced purpose of making friends never has had many of them at home. A Communist politician on the way up couldn't afford friends. And when he reached the pinnacle he found yes-men, imitators and envious rivals.

It was a close call for Khrushchev and other members of Stalin's inner circle early in 1953. In the words of an American diplomat, old Stalin had "reached for the bottle again." A new blood purge seemed inevitable. Nobody was safe.

Stalin, suspecting somebody planned to rub him out in his declining years, cooked up a fantastic tale of a plot by doctors, most of them Jewish, to poison leading Soviet figures, including himself. Moscow had an ugly sense of foreboding.

Luckily for most concerned — possibly it was more than coincidence—Stalin died in March. George M. Malenkov became premier and party leader, the new boss. But he was not strong enough to rule. Within a few weeks the irrepresible Khrushchev nudged Malenkov out of the party leadership. The doctor's plot was denounced as a grim hoax.

Nikita Khrushchev at last was on his way to the top. Once secret police chief Lavrenty Beria was safely lodged in a Lubyanka prison cell, awaiting the final bullet, and the police organization was purged of tens of thousands of its more dangerous members, Khrushchev was free to throw his considerable weight around. He did.

With his new post as first party secretary formally approved, he promptly denounced the directors of Soviet agriculture for the sorry mess presented by that phase of the economy. He promised to remedy that, to turn a greater share of attention to producing food and consumer goods for a long patient population, to relaxing the more awesome terrors of the Stalin era.

Beria was shot and then given a trial as an American spy. The Russian in the street grinned broadly. Things would be better. And Khrushchev climbed higher. By 1955 he was able to blame Malenkov for Soviet farming woes and forced him to quit as premier with an abject confession of failure. Nikolai Bulganin, goateed and courtly political-military figure, became premier.

When Stalin's body had been safely encased in a gaudy Red Square tomb for three years, Khrushchev finally was strong enough to denounce him to other Communists as a barbarian torturer and murderer, a military imbecile who nearly brought the nation to disaster.

And Khrushchev's other allies? In 1954 when he was climbing toward the top of the heap under the sponsorship of powerful Lazar Kaganovich, Khrushchev noted: "The ideological principled unity of the Moscow (party) organization was achieved thanks to the skilled daily leadership it had in the person of Lazar Moisevich Kaganovich."

In 1957, after maneuvering Kaganovich out of the hierarchy, Khrushchev called him a man "ho-fawnd and did everything to inflate the cult of the personality of Stalin." So had Khrushchev. But Khrushchev had won.

His former ally, Malenkov, became, in Khrushchev's words, a henchman and shadow in the hands of the dead Beria. Khrushchev and the other top leaders may have owed their lives to an alliance with the military and the war hero, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov. In 1956 Khrushchev hailed Zhukov as a superb general who had been maligned and exiled by Stalin.

In 1957 the marshal was exiled by Khrushchev, who said he had "violated Leninist principles." Then the time finally came when Bulganin was to be disgraced. He was forced to confess he had engaged in criminal activity with the antiparty group of Malenkov, Kaganovich and V. M. Molotov, Stalin's right hand in foreign affairs. Bulganin felt obliged to characterize Malenkov as a plotter, Molotov as an ignoramus and Kaganovich as an old wind-bag.

But Stalin himself was not entirely dead. Some aspects of Stalinism still were necessary, particularly in the world movement. It is called the inevitable victory of Communism. When it came to questions of what world communism, announced Khrushchev, he and all Communists were still "good Stalinists."

Free at last of his main opposition, Khrushchev stood almost alone in the leadership of the party as its first secretary and in the leadership of the government as its premier.

But he still ruled cautiously. He still had enemies. And at the lonely pinnacle, he probably could rely on nobody as a real friend. Tomorrow: The Traveling Salesman.

Baylor To Receive Fund From Will

AUSTIN (AP)—Baylor University will receive about a million dollars from judgment approved Tuesday on a contested will.

The compromise ended a court fight over the estate of Mrs. Nella Turner Evans of Austin, who died early last year.

Austin attorney William Miller said the settlement grants 23½ per cent of the estate or more than $250,000 to heirs who contested the will.

Two wills were involved. The first, executed in 1951, left all but $21,000 of the estate to Baylor for a teachers' salary endowment fund. A second will, of June 1953, left virtually all the estate to the foundation for Baylor.

When a telephone man drives, safety comes first!

Telephone drivers help reflect company's Spirit of Service

In telephone business, safety, efficiency go hand in hand

by Don Davis Telephone News Reporter

It's too bad that safety records are often thought of as dull and not newsworthy while a major accident makes front-page headlines. The greatest human drama is in the accidents that don't happen—the accidents that good safety habits prevent from happening!

Not long ago, a newspaper editor wrote, "We salute the drivers of telephone company trucks. They never drive fast or recklessly; time and again we've seen them yield the right-of-way. They seem to apply the rule that the other driver is always right."

"We don't know the safety record of the telephone company's truck fleet, but it must be excellent. It is nothing short of inspiring to see an entire corps of drivers display the courtesy and friendliness that are habitual with telephone company drivers."

HOW PUBLIC BENEFITS With thanks for such praise, we'd like to confirm the editor's feeling that the safety record in the telephone business must be excellent. It's among the best in the country. The National Safety Council's annual award of honor—its highest award—has been presented to Southwestern Bell five times since 1951 for its safety performances. Scores of state and local safety awards also have been earned, including many presented to telephone company people as individuals.

But more important than the awards for safety are the results. When you consider that Southwestern Bell vehicles logged some 70 million miles last year, it's easy to see how the public benefits. Telephone company safe driving practices are a major protection of life and property—a way of working that's summed up in the slogan: "No job is so urgent it can't be done safely."

ADD EXTRA VALUE Truly, there's a special sense of responsibility that goes with telephone work: A Spirit of Service. It shows up in the way telephone people do things, both on the job and off. Safe driving is only one example. There are many others.

Next time you see an installer or repairman, watch how he works. Carefully, diligently, safely, with an honest desire to do his job well.

Often, it seems you can almost "hear" the Spirit of Service when you talk to an operator or a telephone service representative. Her tone of voice, her interested and helpful manner tell you she'll make sure you get the very best telephone service Southwestern Bell can deliver.

Telephone service shows its value in many ways. Not the least of this value is in the attitude of the telephone people who furnish it.

SAFETY-RATER DEVICE provides checks and tests of company's drivers. Device rates reflexes and vision, points out weaknesses that practice and extra caution can overcome.

How many people could enjoy the pleasure and convenience of an automobile, piano or refrigerator if they had to pay cash?

Fortunately for most of us, we don't have to pay cash for everything we buy. We can take advantage of the liberal, flexible system of personal credit which enables us to buy and enjoy the things we want, when we want them, and to pay for them later.

And the only way to maintain a good credit record is to buy only what you know you can pay for—and pay for it on the date it is due.

Steer Football Captains

STEERS' FIRST FOE LOW RATED IN AREA

SAN ANTONIO (SC)—The San Antonio Edison crew which for the second straight year goes to Big Spring to open its football season has 17 letter winners back from last season but is poorly regarded in its own district, 15-AAAA.

Only San Antonio Highlands is rated lower in the conference than Coach George (Red) Forehand's club, not long out of the AAA ranks.

Of the 11 boys who started on offense against Big Spring last September, only five return this year. One of those, however, is the 165-pound Doc Keller, a speed merchant who can throw the ball with authority. Keller plays quarterback.

Gone are the other three backs who started against the Longhorns. They are Curt Smith, far and away the finest Edison back last year; Dennis Smith and Ralph Bushell, a good blocker and fair ball carrier.

Up front, the Bears are having to get along without end David Avery, tackle Bill Smith and center Alex Cortese, who sparked on defense for Edison against Big Spring in 1958.

Tommy Lankford, 158-pound left halfback; Edgar Russell, a fullback who weighs 180 pounds; and Earl Eason, 163-pound right half, will start with Keller in the Edison backfield. Only Lankford of that three is a letterman. Russell is up from the B team while Eason has no varsity experience.

Coach Forehand plans to take a group of 39 boys to Big Spring. The head mentor, incidentally, has as an assistant Marvin (Bob) Greer.

The Bruins, undoubtedly, will be double tough on defense and may try to riddle the Big Spring defenses with its passing game.

Best newcomer to the San Antonio squad appears to be Douglas Richardson, 182-pound right tackle, who may beat out Cornett for the job.

Marcelino Moreno, the diminutive Midland golfer who lost to Bill Craig in the semi-finals of the 28th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament here last weekend, says he couldn't get his swing down right.

Moreno recently underwent minor surgery on one eye for the third time and says his eyes felt better than at any time in recent months. But in golf, he added, the swing's the thing.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hert

Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians may be playing in the National League next year, as may Roy Sievers of the Washington Senators.

Marcelino Moreno, the diminutive Midland golfer who lost to Bill Craig in the semi-finals of the 28th annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament here last weekend, says he couldn't get his swing down right.

Moreno recently underwent minor surgery on one eye for the third time and says his eyes felt better than at any time in recent months. But in golf, he added, the swing's the thing.

His conquerer, Craig, has been coming to the Big Spring tournament for over 15 years now. He's 35 years of age.

James Lee Underwood of Big Spring, who won the Levelland tournament this year, passed up the local meet because, in his own words, he hadn't been playing well and one wrist had been bothering him.

Underwood was content to be part of the gallery. He did compete in the Hall and Bennett Trophy matches, however.

Hal Battle, the former mentor (at Snyder) who now calls Midland home, says it's still too early to say whether he'll miss coaching.

Hal is making more money than he ever did in football. He may not miss coaching but football is certainly going to miss him. He deserves much of the credit for the success of the Snyder teams in recent years.

As of now, the defensive halfback problem is the biggest problem the Big Spring coaches have. The boys the mentors have assigned there are eager to make their mark but, for the most part, are without varsity experience.

Tommy Rutledge, a big, rough junior, appears to have one end job nailed down.

Most followers of HCJC basketball fortunes will recall Jim Knotts, a star of the Jayhawks a few years ago who went on to become a regular for Louisiana Tech at Ruston.

Only Two Clubs Are Left In AL Scrap

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's White Sox set off on their last long road trip today, packing a five-game lead with 16 games to go in the American League.

Now it's September and Wynn, at 39 years, eight months and three days, has won 19, tops in the league for the first time since 1956.

He did it Tuesday night, winning his third in a row with a 3-2, 10-inning decision over Kansas City. It was the only game scheduled in the majors.

It was spring when most of the guys who pick the pennant winners made that mistake. Casey Stengel and his New York Yankees were going to win again in the AL. The White Sox, with Wynn drawing spot assignments at most, might finish second, but more likely would come in third, behind Detroit or Cleveland.

It also was the White Sox' 86th victory—eliminating all the other clubs except second-place Cleveland and officially ending the Yankees' run as champions.

The seventh-place A's, who have lost 11 in a row, were the only club Wynn hadn't beaten this season. Fact is, they had whipped him three times this year.

SOFTBALL TWIN BILL AT WEBB TO HELP OLYMPIC FUND DRIVE

Civilians and military personnel alike will be invited to attend a softball doubleheader at Webb Air Force starting at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 22.

Webb is cooperating with other military installations around the world in raising funds to finance the entry of the American team in the 1960 Olympic Games.

No admission will be charged at the gate but a collection will be taken. The scene of action, of course, will be Webb's splendid softball diamond, scene of the recent ATC Southern District tournament.

The opening game, on which a time limit will be set, will pit a club composed of Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber directors against a picked squad of Webb officers, most of them from Wing Headquarters.

The feature attraction, down for seven innings, will send a crack Big Spring civilian team headed by Pete Cook against Webb's Dusters, runnerup in the recent ATC Southern District tournament.

Cook indicated Tuesday that he would be able to use most of the men who performed for the great Cosden team of 1958, one of the state's most successful softball teams.

The money Ewbank here will be sent directly to R. Max Ritter, Treasurer, U.S. Olympics Committee, New York.

Steel Strike Fact Sheet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The steel strike starts its ninth week today. The strike has settled down to a quiet, though intensely grim test of economic strength between the industry and the striking United Steelworkers Union.

The only evidences of any trouble are the darkened, sleeping steel mills and an occasional propaganda blast from the union or industry.

A handful of desultory pickets keeps each mill closed. The industry makes no effort to reopen its shut plants. It's all peaceful—but no steel.

What brought it about, and what is the situation after eight weeks? Here are some questions and answers:

Q. How many steelworkers are striking and how many still working?

A. About 500,000 strikers. About 50,000 to 60,000 still working in plants with still unexpired contracts, plants organized by other unions, or non-union plants.

Q. What has happened to production?

A. It has dwindled from about 2½ million tons per week just before the strike to a trickle of about 230,000 tons per week now. The strike started July 15.

IDLE WORKERS
Q. How many other workers have been idled as a result of the strike?

A. About 150,000, mainly in allied industries such as railroads, coal mines, etc. Related unemployment is rapidly growing.

Q. How much did strikers make before they went out?

A. Average hourly earnings about $3.11. Their base rate is about $2.50 per hour, but they make the rest through overtime, incentives for good production records, and various premiums for shift, Sunday and holiday work.

Q. What is the normal work week?

A. Near 40 hours. The average in June, at peak production before the strike started, was 41.6 hours. Out of a total of 91 million hours worked in June, about 5,700,000 hours represented overtime.

Q. What is a steelworker's average annual wage?

A. Varies considerably. It was $3,330 in 1957, a good steel year, and $4,040 in 1958, a poor year. In 1958 over 22 per cent of the steelworkers earned less than $3,600, eight per cent $7,200 or more.

PAID VACATION
Q. How much paid vacation does a steelworker get? How many paid holidays?

A. Vacations vary from 1 to 3½ weeks, depending on length of service. There are 7 paid holidays.

Q. Do steelworkers have hospital, medical and major medical insurance and who pays the premiums? Life insurance?

A. Yes, workers and employer pay half cost in each case. Life coverage varies from $3,500 to $6,000.

Q. Do workers have retirement plan and who pays for it?

A. Yes, management pays entire cost. Minimum monthly payment, $72 at age 65 after 30 years service, plus social security.

Q. Do workers have other fringe benefits?

A. Yes, supplemental unemployment benefits (augmenting state payments to provide 65 per cent of normal take-home pay); Sunday work premium; shift differential, part-time pay when sick or injured; incentives.

Q. Do workers' contracts vary between plants?

A. Relatively little, except as to seniority provisions and local practices.

DUES PAYMENTS
Q. What do workers pay in dues? What do they get in strike benefits?

A. Union dues $5 monthly for all members. Union pays no strike benefits. Union locals, which retain half the monthly dues, do most striker emergency needs such as urgent mortgage payments, utility bills, etc. Two local unions at Baltimore, Md., currently paying out $150,000 weekly.

Q. Could lack of funds force the union to capitulate?

A. No, but workers lacking ordinary living resources for a long period might force the union to do so. The union has a $3-million-dollar treasury. Some 600,000 members in steel fabricating and other lines are still working and paying dues. Staff members are off the union payroll for the strike duration, saving $700,000 a month.

Q. What factors could end the strike?

A. Workers may tire of going payless. As supplies run out, steel customers could pressure for a settlement. Also with ore workers also idled the industry is in a pinch to lay in enough ore supply before water delivery routes freeze over, if mills are to operate next winter.

OVERTIME PLAN
Q. Why hasn't the two-month stoppage hurt the nation more?

A. Because the industry produced 9 months supply of steel in the first 6 months of the year, anticipating the strike. Workers, though technically losing about 70 million dollars a week in wages, will about break even through pre-strike and post-strike overtime pay.

Generally speaking, the nation will produce and consume only a given amount of steel every year, anyway. It takes a given amount of work to produce it. This can be accomplished steadily or in strike-induced spurts. The result is about the same except for economic disruption to local communities accompanying the latter method).

Q. Has either side suggested arbitration?

A. Not exactly. The union wants President Eisenhower to name a public board to sift the dispute issues and recommend a solution. This is usually called advisory arbitration. Neither side is bound to accept. The industry has resisted the idea, as has Eisenhower.

Q. What are the positions of both sides?

A. Union: seeks contract gains equaling those won in 1956 contract—or about 15 cents an hour per year increase in wages and benefits. Says steel firms' profits sufficient to afford it, and not raise prices.

Management: Says any steel labor cost increase would be inflationary. Says any concessions made to union this time must be paid for out of other labor cost economies.

Q. What's this talk about featherbedding?

A. Industry maintains unions resist change from wasteful work practices. Union denies there is such waste. Companies want free hand to make manpower changes. Unions insist on continuing right to carry such disputes to arbitration.

Mansfield Officials Share Lash With Ex-Gov. Shivers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials of the Mansfield, Tex., schools and former Gov. Allan Shivers were criticized by the Commission of Civil Rights Tuesday for their handling of the Mansfield school disorder in 1956.

The Mansfield schools were under federal court order to integrate but a large crowd of pro-segregationists prevented Negro students from enrolling.

In its first report to President Eisenhower, the commission said Shivers ordered Texas Rangers to help keep the peace and urged local school authorities to transfer any pupils "whose attendance or attempts to attend Mansfield High School would reasonably be calculated to incite violence."

The report said that this statement "implied criticism of the U.S. Supreme Court and of the port said.

"Tracing Texas school desegregation, the report noted that in September 1955 a total of 65 districts voluntarily ended segregation although none of them was in deep East Texas, where most of the state's Negro population lives.

The following year another 49 districts were desegregated, but the same year the legislative forces began to move.

"Prospects for further instances of school desegregation were virtually foreclosed in Texas when the governor on May 23, 1957, signed a bill providing that any future desegregation could occur only after approval by the qualified electors of the district in a special referendum," the report said.

Legal Battle Over Capehart Before Court

Williams and Dunlap, prime contractors on the Capehart Housing Project, have filed seven law suits in 118th District Court stemming out of disputes over the payment for materials used on the project.

Six of the lawsuits essentially seek to set aside materialmen's liens placed on the project by firms and individuals who are named in the Williams & Dunlap action as defendants. The stated purpose of the suits, therefore, is to clear title to the land.

The other is a plea for "bill of discovery," in which the plaintiffs seek to have the court order American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp., to bring records and books into the court where Williams & Dunlap can have opportunity to ascertain their true position in future litigation.

It was explained by an attorney that under the law a materialman's lien cannot be placed on government owned property but a complicated twist in the method under which Capehart Project was created and built leaves the way open for such suits.

The suits brought by Williams & Dunlap name Bowles & Elden Supply Co., C. W. Curtis and others (two petitions) Julian A. Warren, Lennox Industries Inc., and T. M. Singleton et al as defendants in the suits to strike aside materialmen's liens.

It was explained that Capehart Housing Project, although a government housing project under the sponsorship of the Air Force, is from a purely legal standpoint, the property of two Maryland corporations, Capehart Housing Project and Capehart Housing Project No. 2. This situation enabled the seven "defendants" to obtain liens against the property as security for accounts which they contend Williams and Dunlap have not settled with them.

Outcome of the litigation and of any subsequent court action which may ensue has no bearing on the occupancy of the project by the Air Force personnel nor in its operation.

Mississippi's Governor Hits Race Moderates

Racial moderates were blasted by Gov.-elect Ross Barnett of Mississippi as token integration continued to spread quietly and peacefully into additional Southern communities.

Barnett charged moderates planned to move into his state in the next four years as part of a campaign to pick off Southern states one by one. The South should unite with pro-segregation Citizens Councils to fight attempts at integration, he said.

Barnett told a Citizens Council meeting at Jackson, Miss., Tuesday night that moderates "are nothing more than Southern burglars. They want to rob us of our priceless heritage, and they tell us that we shouldn't complain as long as they steal it a little bit at a time."

About the time he was speaking, two FBI laboratory experts moved into Little Rock, Ark., to assist in the probe of three bombings linked to token integration at the schools there.

A $25,000 reward was posted for solution of the dynamitings Monday night of the school board building, the mayor's office and the fire chief's official car. Police armed with riot guns patrolled the city streets and guarded the schools.

State police were alerted in southern Delaware for the start of grade-a-year integration in largely rural Kent and Sussex counties. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, a Republican, said his people were law-abiding and would honor the federal court order. Many schools in the northern area around Wilmington were integrated without incident five years ago.

OFFICIALS REPROACHED

At Nashville, U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller reproached public school officials in Tennessee for not complying voluntarily with the U. S. Supreme Court segregation ruling.

"Why don't they act instead of having to be forced?" he asked during a hearing on a suit to admit 16 children of Negro origin at Seawart Air Force Base to an all-white county school at Smyrna. Miller gave the school commission a week to submit an integration plan. Only three Tennessee public school systems have started integration. They are at Oak Ridge, Clinton and Nashville.

The first integrated public school classes began without disorder in Florida. Four Negroes entered Miami's Orchard Villa Elementary School with eight white pupils.

Two more Virginia communities admitted Negroes to previously white schools, bringing to 80 the number of Negroes in integrated class rooms. The state's public school system has 800,000 pupils. Twenty-one Negroes joined more than 300 white youngsters at Warren County High in Front Royal. There was no violence.

At Charlottesville, nine Negroes attended formerly all-white Venable Elementary and three registered with more than 700 white pupils at Lane High.

City parks remained closed at Montgomery, Ala., after a federal judge ruled unconstitutional a city ordinance forbidding integration in public recreation facilities. Municipal officials vowed not to reopen the parks while an integration threat lingers.

8 Howard County Hunters Cited For Game Violations

Monday was a costly day for one Howard County hunter and he paid $25 plus for each of four quail he shot and killed out of season.

If it is any consolation to him, however, he can remind himself that those same four illegally slaughtered quail could have cost him $800 plus $15.50 court costs for each bird, had the court so ruled.

He was one of eight nimrod hunters arrested on Monday by a small army of state game wardens who were riding herd on the holiday shooters in this county.

Five of these have appeared before Walter Grice, justice of the peace, and paid for their offenses. Three others are to report to Grice and settle up.

Only two of the eight was picked up for unlawful shooting of quail out of season—an offense which makes it within the discretion of the court to assess a fine of $200 for each bird found in the hunter's possession. One man, according to William H. Pratt, game warden, had four such illegal birds in his gamebag; the other had one.

The cases filed in Judge Grice's court here are a part of nearly 100 game violation charges which have been filed in the area from Howard County westward to Pecos County.

Pratt said that 12 to 14 game wardens, under the generalship of Capt. Henry Burkett, San Angelo area chief, converged on Howard County Monday.

The wardens used the same technique that had been employed in the Midland-Odessa area on Aug. 31 through Sept. 2. In that district 40 cases were filed. Two Midland hunters drew fines of $200 each for killing quail. These men had killed 20 quail.

The wardens moved westward and 40 more cases were filed in the area extending to Pecos. The enforcers then returned eastward to Howard County where they worked Labor Day.

Abilene Youngster Reported Okay Following Surgery

DALLAS (AP)—An Abilene boy was reported "doing well, considering the magnitude of the surgery" after a major heart operation Tuesday.

Larry Wayne Runnels, 7, underwent the four-hour operation to correct what a doctor described as "a very complicated defect" in his heart. Doctors closed a hole in the child's heart and enlarged a heart valve.

Sixteen Abilene residents—14 of whom flew to Dallas—served as blood donors during the hour and 10 minutes that surgeons stopped the boy's heart and a heart-lung machine substituted to pump fresh blood through his body.

"It will be several days before we know how well the operation succeeded," a surgeon said.

At Children's Medical Center, a spokesman said a severe heart disease (tetralogy of fallot) necessitated the surgery. He said Larry's heart was stopped by "cooling it."

A surgeon gave this further explanation:

The disease caused a hole between the pumping chambers of the heart (ventricles) and a block between the heart and lungs. The aorta straddled the ventricles instead of coming from the left pumping chamber and caused enlargement of the right ventricle.

7 Indictments In Glasscock County

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County Grand Jury empaneled in 118th District Court on Tuesday morning by Judge Charlie Sullivan, said it was charged with killing a quail in the possession of the defendant. It was sent to its quarters at 9 a.m. At noon, it was back before Judge Sullivan with its work done and seven indictments voted.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that speedy handling of the cases was because of the relatively few witnesses who had to appear before the grand jury.

Indictments were returned against Rodolfo Rios, accused of possession of marijuana; Nathan Cawley and Terry Gilliland, burglary; and Bruce Taylor, DWI second offense.

Two other indictments, one for theft over $50 and another for felony worthless check, were also returned but the defendants in these cases have not been apprehended.

Passenger Said Responsible For Airliner Bomb

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Crew members expressed belief today a passenger who plunged to his death from an explosion-riddled Mexican airliner carried aboard a bomb that caused the blast.

The explosion blew out a door of the DC3 Tuesday while it was en route from Mexico City to Merida.

The passenger, identified as Eugenio Polovsky of Mexico City, apparently jumped through the opening as the plane was flying at an altitude of 14,000 feet near Nautla on the Gulf coast en route to Veracruz.

Six of the 13 passengers and 2 crew members were slightly burned. The plane made an emergency landing at Poza Rica where a fire aboard was put out. The plane was not greatly damaged.

Officials of Compania Mexicana de Aviacion said crew members believed Polovsky had brought aboard a bomb. They stressed, however, that only an official investigation could determine that it was a bomb that caused the mystery blast.

The Mexican Communications Ministry said that the blast occurred in the rear baggage compartment and "according to first versions was caused by a bomb hidden in a handbag by criminal hands."

Mrs. Polovsky said her husband had appeared nervous when he left for the airport.

She said Polovsky, of Russian descent, was making a business trip to Villahermosa, State of Tabasco. He sold ranching interests near there two years ago and they came to Mexico City to live.

Pedro Perez Gurra, one of the passengers who suffered burns, said Polovsky jumped when he saw flames flicking in the rear of the passenger cabin. He described Polovsky as a small, elderly man who appeared frightened.

Two of the passengers aboard the plane had American addresses. They were identified as Daile Wiley and S. W. Ryniker who arrived Monday from Houston, Tex. They were not injured.

Housewife Hit By Part Of Jet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A housewife was hit on the head and knocked unconscious Monday night by a metal wing section from a jet airliner.

Gilbert Gessler told sheriff's deputies he discovered his wife, Evelyn, 28, unconscious in the yard of their home in suburban Lennox. She was taken to a hospital where her condition was described as satisfactory.

Civil Aeronautics Board officials identified the section as coming from an American Airlines Boeing 707 jet. The jet, carrying 87 passengers, landed safely. Officials said an eight-foot section of the flap is still missing.

A Devotional For Today

Jesus answered them, "My Father is working still, and I am working." (John 5:17.RSV.)
PRAYER: Our Father, who art ever working for the salvation of all Thy children everywhere, we thank Thee for the call to service in fellowship with Thee. Grant that we may labor not alone for the bread that perishes, but for that which endures unto everlasting life. Help us to share our Christian faith with those around us and thus work for the coming of Thy kingdom; through Christ our Lord. Amen.
 (From The Upper Room)

Moot If Not A Foolish Point

You hear an increasing amount of comment these days that we cannot afford peace; that if the $40,000,000,000 (billion) dollar expenditure for military operations, maintenance and construction were dried up, the nation would be thrown into sudden economic chaos. Just why this line of argument would be brought up at this time is somewhat curious, especially since it really has no basis of logic or fact.

In the first place, there is no conceivable safe prospect (would to God there were) that the national defense budget would be instantly wiped out. On the contrary, there is every prospect that it is going to continue to be at an extremely high level. When progress is made toward the diversion of the economy away from such astronomical defense costs, that progress will be slow and by degrees. All of us remember the consequence of the sudden vacuum that we created by the almost instant liquidation of our defense establishment at the moment we wearily and happily put World War II behind us—or so we thought.

Most all of us would rather be in a position of spending that 40 billion dollars a year on things we want personally rather than in federal taxes, but the facts of life being what they are, there is little prospect of this. Few people have any real fears about what peace would do to the nation's economy. Unless and until international tensions ease considerably, it's a moot if not a foolish point.

Some Beneficial Effect

The National Rifle Assn. of America has rallied sufficiently from the impact of a recent Gallup Poll report to renew its cry against an arms registration act.

The burden of a series of reports by Dr. George Gallup, based on a nationwide survey, is that most people favor an arms registration act.

"The results of such a survey, conducted among people generally uninformed on the subject, are obvious. The articles along with the statistical results are strictly one-sided."

If the articles were strictly one-sided, it may have been barely possible that the results of the survey were even more one-sided. As we recall, there has seldom been such a top-sided majority in favor of an issue as appeared in favor of some system which would enable authorities to determine the ownership of firearms.

The association took the position that such a proposal was crucifying sportsmen and argued that "sportsmen are against crime, too." It went on to contend that the FBI had never listed possession of firearms as a factor which affects the crime rate.

Well, it would be silly to argue that they are not a factor in armed robberies, murder by shooting, etc. But even so, the registration act would not bar people from acquiring arms. As we understand it, such an act would make it easier to trace ownership of firearms to make possession without registration a case of illegal possession. Hardened criminals would not be entitled to registration, hence the possession of a firearm by those with records would constitute a sound case against them. That ought to have some beneficial effect.

David Lawrence Resoluteness May Prevent Big War

WASHINGTON—On the eve of Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States, he brazenly gives support to a war designed to conquer the remainder of Asian territory not yet controlled by Communists.

Along a front of approximately 3,000 miles, communist armies and munitions now have been mobilized and small bands of troops have already crossed over to invade various free countries, including Laos, Burma and India.

Americans are unfamiliar with the names of the places where the war is taking place or with the geography of the area. But what has just happened is about the same thing as if the Communists held all of Canada and sent troops across into Idaho, Minnesota, Michigan and New York. Since the military operations are widely separated, the plot is not so readily apparent. But the whole movement is a concerted one and it is aimed at conquering all of the continent of Asia. Presumably as soon as the conquest of the mainland is completed, the way will be open for the invasion of the Philippines, Japan and Formosa.

Ho Chi-Minh and Soviet and Chinese communist leaders and also conferences in Moscow between two members of the North Vietnam politburo and Deputy Prime Minister Anastas Mikoyan . . . It is appropriate that this matter be thus brought to the world's attention."

The United States is joining with other nations to bring the situation before the United Nations Security Council. A Soviet veto was interposed there but a request for a United Nations General Assembly meeting was honored and the survey ordered.

The Communist bloc already has infiltrated sufficiently into Afghanistan to set up a communist-supported regime there, and efforts are also being made to overthrow the existing government in Iran which is next door to Afghanistan on the west.

The Soviet strategy seems to be to move southward from the Asian territory already held by the Communists, including the mainland of China and Tibet as well as Northern Vietnam. It will be recalled that at the Geneva conference of 1954, which was supposed to end the Indo-China war, the Communists agreed to withdraw to North Vietnam and to respect the sovereignty of Laos, Cambodia, Thailand and South Vietnam. But in recent months the Communists not only have invaded most of those same areas with marauding bands but also have sent troops into the provinces bordering on Pakistan and into certain states within India's jurisdiction. Also Burma is being stirred up by the Communists, and there are communist-inspired riots in Calcutta and other parts of India. The pattern is the same as has been witnessed heretofore prior to an actual invasion by communist troops.

Will the members of the free world stand up in the United Nations and take steps to repel aggression just as they did in Korea in 1950? Should President Eisenhower politely advise Khrushchev that, in view of the changed conditions in Southern Asia, perhaps it would be better for the Soviet premier to postpone his visit to the United States? These are the questions arising out of the new crisis that the Communists have fomented. It is not a time for cringing but for resoluteness—otherwise, a greater danger could come from the big war that usually ensues when dictators are appeased. RANKLING OVERTURE

James Marlow Civil Rights And Asylum Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major civil rights legislation this year is as unlikely as the idea that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will ask for political asylum when he lands here next week.

Congress, rushing to get away before Khrushchev arrives, may renew the life of the President's six-man Civil Rights Commission which otherwise dies Nov. 9. That's the most in view.

Civil rights advocates might like to think that if not this year then next year Congress will ram through a strong civil rights bill. Don't bet on it, even though 1960 could be noisy.

Next year is the big election year—for the presidency and Congress—and Southern Democrats, no matter what the year, can be relied on to fight any civil rights bill with real teeth in it.

Such a fight, if it got nasty enough, could split the Democratic party wide open at a time when it wanted unity at the polls.

The Democratic leaders in Congress—Sen. Lyndon Johnson and neither Johnson nor Rayburn sought to make civil rights a major issue this year.

Varying civil rights proposals were put forth by Johnson, by President Eisenhower, and by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), who was joined by 14 other Democratic and Republican senators.

All of the proposals landed in an icebox because of Southern Democrats' tactics in locking them up in committee and thus keeping them from getting out on the floor of the House or Senate for a vote.

The committees which did the locking up are headed by Southern Democrats.

Earlier this year the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights—made up of 53 organizations—threw its weight behind the bill sponsored by Douglas and thus keeping it from getting out on the floor of the House or Senate for a vote.

Justice, through the courts of New Brunswick, N. J., has given the $3,500 to the Middlesex County Welfare Department. For the past 15 years, Mrs. Castagna has received an average of $66 per month from the department on which to live—or exist.

Justice and the welfare department could not believe that an old lady, determined to die in her homeland, could live on bread and onions, as she testified, and save, penny by penny, the sum to take her back to Sicily. Or that the neighbors, in the squalid neighborhood in which she lived in one room, would help her realize her ambition or, in turn, trust her with little sums of money to take home to their own relatives.

The court did not believe Mrs. Castagna although, as she sat in the witness chair, she looked so ancient, and her garments so wretched, as poverty itself.

Only her young lawyer, Anthony Arico, appointed by the court to defend the old lady, believed her. He had seen the apartment in which she lived, so squalidly shabby that recently she had been ordered to find another and move.

Around The Rim Be Grateful For Good Roads

It's like arguing, which was first, the chicken or the egg; but would you say that modern cars have made highways possible, or that modern highways have made today's cars possible?

Of course, the answer is on both sides. Without the well-engineered, well-constructed highways of today, the low-slung, high-powered car of today would be like a beached whale. Conversely, without modern automobiles, there would be no need for sweeping expressways and divided highways.

So much splendid advertisement has been produced to extol the virtues of today's cars and trucks that the average citizen is well aware that we make the most potent and generally the most beautiful automobiles in the world. Whether they are a little gaudy and possess hundreds of dollars and hundreds of pounds of frills that add little utility is beside the point, we still are without a peer in the area of mass mechanical production.

But it seems to me that the other member of the team has been somewhat unsung. We tend to take our roads for granted until we encounter a bad one. We are more apt to be stirred to profanity over the bad rather than praise for the good.

Did you ever stop to consider that it has been only about 35 years since the first foot of surfacing went down on a highway in Howard County? Or that it has been less than 40 years since we put down our first gravel on the main east-west and north-south highways to give them some semblance of all-weather utility? If my memory serves me right, it was about 1921 when we got around to laying down that narrow strip of gravel across the county east and west on what soon was to become known as the Bankhead highway—the Broadway of America. When that job was completed, the Glacier to Gulf highway (since State No. 9 and later U.S. 87) was given the gravel treatment for a few miles north and south.

A few years later, the "Ma Ferguson" highway was installed when a course of hot asphalt was laid down over the gravel base and covered erratically with more gravel. Part of that hog-back road is still in use as South Scurry Street. At that time model T-Fords, Overlands, Maxwells, the early Chevrolets didn't need much wider or flatter streets. They didn't need wide curves that ignored section lines, or wide shoulders that made fast driving safer.

But as cars gained more power and more speed, and manufacturers began to lower the center of gravity to where cowbills were hazardous, road builders rallied. Steady grades were maintained to sturdy concrete bridges, curves were widened and banked, the hog-back crown gave way to a much milder one.

Ultimately these roads were replaced with still wider ones with greater thicknesses of compacted base so that heavier traffic could roll over without creating cracks and chug holes. Even the rural roads began to get base and hot top paving. Main arteries were widened to three lanes and more recently were divided into separate double lanes to remove direct traffic friction. Overpasses and underpasses, along with interchanges and ramps and clover-leaves, were installed. Asphaltic concrete and new grades of regular concrete installed by new methods provided smoother and safer surfaces. All of this was to permit you to zoom along at 60 miles an hour, even through heavily populated areas, without a bump or anything to tax your tires, brakes or nerves. Be grateful for those good roads; your car might still be a model T if it weren't for them.

—JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb Justice Is Blind—And Heartless

Unless a miracle happens, Mrs. Nicolina Castagna, 89, will not go home to Sicily to die. It is achingly important to her that she be allowed to die in Sicily, her native land, among the few relatives still alive.

But justice, blind and impartial, has caught up with Mrs. Castagna, a tiny shriveled creature who stands less than five feet tall and weighs scarcely 80 pounds. It has taken away from her the $3,500 she had squirreled away or received from friends who understood her longing to go home to die. Or so she told the court through an interpreter.

Justice, through the courts of New Brunswick, N. J., has given the $3,500 to the Middlesex County Welfare Department. For the past 15 years, Mrs. Castagna has received an average of $66 per month from the department on which to live—or exist.

Justice and the welfare department could not believe that an old lady, determined to die in her homeland, could live on bread and onions, as she testified, and save, penny by penny, the sum to take her back to Sicily. Or that the neighbors, in the squalid neighborhood in which she lived in one room, would help her realize her ambition or, in turn, trust her with little sums of money to take home to their own relatives.

The court did not believe Mrs. Castagna although, as she sat in the witness chair, she looked so ancient, and her garments so wretched, as poverty itself.

Only her young lawyer, Anthony Arico, appointed by the court to defend the old lady, believed her. He had seen the apartment in which she lived, so squalidly shabby that recently she had been ordered to find another and move.

Shocked by the pinch-penny, penurious way in which Mrs. Castagna lived, Arico could envision the long years in which she had denied herself every comfort, every pleasure, and dieted on bread and onions to buy the ticket home and save the money that would prevent her from being a burden to her relatives in Sicily.

Except for the insistence of an anonymous informer, Mrs. Castagna and her small board would now be hearing Sicily. She was to have sailed on the S. S. Olympia on the very day she was arraigned in court. Police, searching the dreadful little apartment, found the money.

So the wheels of Justice began to grind. There was no relative on this side of the Atlantic to help her; she has been alone since her blind husband died in 1948.

The welfare department was properly indignant. But for the life of me I cannot understand, if the department was doing its job, why it was unaware of the wretched regime, the semi-starvation diet Mrs. Castagna imposed upon herself.

At the trial, it did no good for her lawyer to point out that according to mortality tables, a woman of 89 can expect three years, seven months more of life. And that it would cost the welfare department, at its current payment of $65 a month to the old lady, more than the disputed $3,500 to maintain her in wretchedness in New Brunswick in that period.

In the end, Mrs. Castagna was found guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses. Probably because of her age, she escaped a jail sentence. The $3,500 was confiscated and turned over to the welfare department. Mrs. Castagna left court with $7 and anxious questions as to how she could explain the disappearance of the fund to friends who had entrusted her with money for relatives.

Justice may have been served in this case. But was Charity, the greatest of these? (Copyright 1959, United Features Syndicate Inc.)

Hal Boyle The Job Just Gets Harder

NEW YORK (AP)—Some jobs get harder the longer you work at them, no matter how skilled you become.

It is that way with Oscar Hammerstein II, playwright, producer and lyricist.

After 50 musical plays and a thousand songs in 40 years, he finds that song No. 1,001 as elusive to pin down as when he began back in 1919.

He can be seen striding back and forth on the second-floor porch of his 200-year-old Bucks County, Pa., farmhouse.

"I'm a pacer when I work," said Hammerstein, who is writing the last of 14 lyrics for his latest opus with composer Richard Rodgers, the life story of Maria von Trapp of the famous Austrian singing family.

"It's hard work. I walk miles and miles sometimes before I get a phrase.

"I don't know of any art form that requires simplicity more than a song does. But you have to wade through a lot of nonessential detours to get on the right road."

Hammerstein, who started out as a lawyer, jots down words and ideas on a pad of long, lined yellow paper at an antique stand-up desk.

To turn out a single song recently he used up 100 sheets of paper while working every day for more than two weeks.

At 64—he looks a rugged, well-preserved 50—he has turned out enough hits to win immortality. But he says he wants to go on writing as long as he can find new themes.

Damaging Flies

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Flies are drinking up $750,000 a year in profits that would otherwise be realized by Vermont dairymen.

Dr. George MacCollom of the Vermont Extension Service says the loss comes in wasted feed, lowered production and damaged hides.

"It has been estimated that the draining of blood by large numbers of horse and stable flies can result in a loss of more than a third of a cup of milk a day," he says.

"Most important of all, however, is that flies cause cattle to lose much valuable grazing time, resulting in less food intake."

Giraffe Piano

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—An unusual musical instrument is on display at the Kentucky Historical Society Museum—a giraffe piano.

It belonged to the family of Confederate Gen. John Hunt Morgan and for many years was thought to be a harpsichord, a popular instrument of the 18th Century and a forerunner of the piano.

The giraffe piano was so named because the long-curved post of the harp resembled the neck of a giraffe.

The Gallup Poll Grass Roots Opinion Favors Visit

PRINCETON, N. J.—If the man-in-the-street in Moscow could talk with his counterpart in New York, Los Angeles, Des Moines and other U. S. cities, he would find they were in basic agreement about certain aspects of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev visits.

Each feels that the exchange of visits by the two leaders may help bring greater understanding between the two nations, reduce "cold-war" tensions, and ultimately bring a greater exchange in other areas between the U. S. and Russia.

Such an exchange of East-West "grass roots" views was, in effect, made possible by interviews in the Soviet capital conducted by Radio Moscow.

Although not following established scientific survey procedures, Radio Moscow reported to the Gallup Poll that it had interviewed 93 persons representative of many segments of the Russian capital's population. This is the first time that the Soviet Union has ever gone this far in making known the views of typical citizens or cooperating on an international sampling of public opinion.

Coincidentally with the Moscow interviews, the Gallup Poll had its reporters ask a representative sample of voters in major cities of this country how they felt about the forthcoming exchange of visits by the two leaders.

In both nations, the theme of understanding between the two countries was emphasized time and time again.

Vadim Khvatov, a Moscow taxi driver, commented to a Radio Moscow representative:

"The big thing the American and Soviet people need now is more of the kind of understanding that will enable them not only to know each other better, but to feel what lies in each other's hearts."

In New York City, Michael Erico, a music store clerk, echoed some of the same sentiment to a Gallup Poll reporter:

"Maybe when Khrushchev sees what we have here, we may get closer to peace. These visits are the way for better understanding for both countries."

In another aspect, citizens of the two leading opponents in the cold war would find agreement—the hope that the Eisenhower-Khrushchev visits will ease tensions that have existed over the last decade.

Nikolai Kuznetsov, a chef in the Russian capital, said:

"I hope that Khrushchev's trip to the United States and Eisenhower's trip to our country will bring about the normal friendly relations that we Russians, and undoubtedly, the American people too, are dreaming about."

Mrs. Lupe Hernandez, a Los Angeles housewife and mother of three children, commented to the Gallup Poll:

"I think it's good Khrushchev is coming—it's better than fighting. We have to do something to keep from having a war."

People in both countries feel that the visits may help both Khrushchev and Eisenhower to learn more about their respective countries.

Victory Bogoslovsky, a Moscow mechanic, said:

"The President, I'm sure, will be able to see for himself that all the Soviet people are busy with their peaceful work and want Soviet-American relations to be normal."

In Des Moines, Iowa—one of the cities on Khrushchev's U. S. itinerary—Benjamin Sideman, a furniture store owner, saw it this way:

"We have nothing to hide and we might be able to show Khrushchev a few things. I think he is crafty and clever, but I don't think he knows the U. S. as well as he thinks he does. He'll be surprised at the productive capacity of this country."

A sizeable minority of Americans interviewed reserved their inalienable right to criticize—both the visit and Mr. Khrushchev personally. This contrasts with the Moscow interviews where criticism of either the exchange or President Eisenhower was negligible.

Joseph Henrick, a Los Angeles heavy equipment operator, had these sentiments:

"It's OK for him to come, but I figure it's a waste of time. Nothing has been accomplished before with the Russians. Khrushchev is just an agitator. But I think people would be polite to him—they should be cool, though, and not bother to greet him."

Bergman Wins Custody Round

ROME (AP)—A fearful Ingrid Bergman today won another round in her court battle with Roberto Rossellini for custody of the three children born of their now broken union.

Rome's Civil Court, in a stormy session behind closed doors, turned down an appeal by the Italian film director to set aside a temporary court ruling that gives the Swedish film star custody of the children.

The temporary ruling gives Rossellini the right to have the children for two months during their school vacation period.

Rossellini sought permanent custody of the children. They are now at his summer home at Santa Marinella, about 20 miles north of Rome.

The court granted him the right to have the children for another month—until Oct. 7. Then he is to return them to their mother in Paris.

Miss Bergman arrived from Paris Tuesday night for today's hearing.

She shook hands with Rossellini when they met in court today.

It was the Swedish film star's first meeting with the Italian director since her marriage last year with Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt.

Miss Bergman turned her shoulders when Rossellini started to greet her.

"Why can we not be friends, as we separated," said Rossellini. Ingrid then smiled and extended her hand.

Cool Air Blowing In

By The Associated Press

Cool air held in check several days by a high pressure area will push through today, bringing relief from hot, muggy weather to some sections of the country.

Cooling breezes will blow eastward and southward from the northern and central Rockies to the northern and central Plains states and upper Mississippi Valley.

East of this section, the hot, muggy weather will continue, the Weather Bureau said.

Scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers are expected from Texas eastward across the Gulf states to the south Atlantic coastal area.

Once-Famous Film Names, Pungent Quotes

By JAMES BACON
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two once-famous movie names, familiar only to viewers of the late, late show on TV, returned to work before the cameras this week—and with some pungent remarks.

Onetime child star Roddy McDowall is making "The Subterraneans" at MGM; his first movie in eight years. Robert Hutton, now a mature 39, is playing Jerry Lewis' mean stepbrother in "Cinder Fella" in his first Hollywood role, except for bits, since the days when he was a reigning bobby-sox idol at Warners during the Forties.

Roddy spent his eight years profitably on Broadway and television, starting in such stage hits as "No Time For Sergeants" and "Compulsion." His roles ran from farce to Shakespeare. He even played a Mexican in one play.

"I don't think that I could have had that diversification if I had stayed in Hollywood," says Roddy. "I could see that producers identified me too much with 'Lassie' and 'My Friend, Flicka.'"

Hutton, who made pictures mostly abroad, lays his Hollywood hiatus to agents. "Agents have more ego than actors," says Hutton. "Everything here is based on pride and precedent. When I left my Warner contract, my agent arbitrarily set too high a price on me."

"All of a sudden, I wasn't working. Finally, I told him I'd work for nothing to get a good role. He bawled me out, said he and I both would lose status if I did such a thing. Then I said: 'How come you can't get me a job in all these television Westerns? I can ride as well as any cowboy in town and I can grow a beard.' His answer: 'You're too high priced for the budget of a TV show.'"

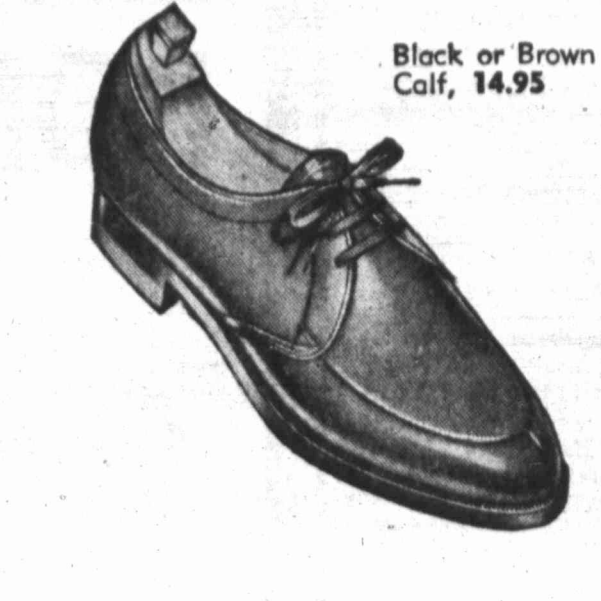

LEAN TIMES
Hutton admits some lean times and seriously considered going into real estate or some other field. Recently, Bob did a one day bit in "It Started With a Kiss," with Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds. He took it over his agent's strong protests. Jerry Lewis saw the hit and asked Bob to see him about a part in the comic's version of Cinderella. "I went without my agent and talked with Jerry who gave me the best deal I have had in a dozen years."

Callas Calls Quits To Her Marriage

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Fiery soprano Maria Callas has called quits to her 10-year marriage to the elderly Italian industrialist who guided her rise to the top in opera.

But the 35-year-old soprano said Aristotle Onassis had nothing to do with the bustup though the Greek shipping tycoon has been her recent date.

Onassis said the same thing, but added he would be "flattered if a woman with the class of Maria Callas fell in love with someone like me."

"Now I am my own manager," Miss Callas told newsmen in announcing the breakup of her marriage to 62-year-old Giovan Battista Meneghini. "It has been coming for a long time."

Attorneys for Miss Callas and Meneghini are working out details of their marital split. Onassis flew in his private plane Tuesday to Venice where his wife was waiting for him aboard their yacht. He said reports of a romance between him and the temperamental soprano were "fairly tales—silly inventions."

Both Miss Callas and Meneghini were in Milan Tuesday but they did not meet. She is here to complete a recording. He came from their summer home near Verona for a meeting of his attorneys with his wife's lawyer. Newsmen said they heard loud agitated voices coming from the locked room in a fashionable hotel where the four-hour conference was held.

"Go away," Meneghini shouted to newsmen. "I do not want to talk."

Meneghini has been his wife's staunchest supporter in her battles with opera managements in Europe and the United States. When they married she weighed 215 pounds. Under his direction she slimmed down to one of the most attractive stars of the opera stage.

Miss Callas showed none of her famous temper in discussing the marital breakup with newsmen in a bar near the La Scala Opera.

"The breaking is definite — it has been coming for a long time," she said, even before she and her husband were guests on Onassis' yacht last month for a Mediterranean cruise.

Onassis' pretty 29-year-old wife was on the cruise and a special guest was Sir Winston Churchill, Britain's former prime minister. Mrs. Onassis has said nothing about the affair.

Miss Callas said the timing of the cruise and her public breakup with Meneghini were "pure coincidence."

She insisted there was "no sentimental link" between her and the 55-year-old Onassis. "He is only a good friend of mine assisting me in a difficult moment," she said.

'Miss America' Pageant Launched

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A beauty-laden motorcade along this resort's famed boardwalk officially launched the 1960 Miss America pageant Tuesday night.

Perched on the backs of convertibles and atop floats were 54 young women, eyed appreciatively by a crowd of 150,000 and a nationwide television audience.

The contestants represent every state in the Union, Canada, and the cities of New York, Chicago and Washington. They were accompanied by the present Miss America, Mary Ann Mobley of Brandon, Miss.

Marines with walkie-talkies kept the parade lined up in order. It started with a motorcycle escort. Then came the Marines, then parade grand marshal Chief Arquette, known to television viewers as Charlie Weaver, then the girls.

With one exception, things went smoothly. The convertible carrying Miss Hawaii, Gordan Leliana Lee of Honolulu, broke down. Miss Hawaii took it in stride. So did a group of state police. They volunteered to push the stalled auto for the last mile and a half. The crowd responded with applause. Earlier in the day, the girls posed in swim suits near a pool. Picture-takers, professional and otherwise, had a field day. But the people who run the pageant made it clear they didn't want the event to be considered a bathing beauty contest. "We are not running a bathing suit competition here but a contest based on poise, charm, intellect and talent to select an ideal American girl—not necessarily a raving beauty," said Lenora A. Slaughter, executive director of the contest.

Miss Slaughter issued the statement after being told of a story in Monday's L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, which criticized bathing beauty contests, calling them "zoological market exhibits."

Cops-Robbers Show Indebted To Pioneers

NEW YORK (AP)—A cops and robbers series climbed into television's fall bandwagon Tuesday night, the first new CBS entry of the season. This one is called "Tightrope" and while the first show was well produced and expertly filmed it was heavily indebted to other shows of other seasons built along the same general lines.

"Tightrope" stars an attractive newcomer—at least he is new to this reviewer — named Michael Connors who is never given a name, just identified as a police undercover man. This, and the fact that he wears his artillery in a special holster in the snarl of his back, are the novel features of the show.

There is the usual incidental music, the gun play, the fistfights, the bad guys, the good police and the assurance that undercover man Connors will live through a plot to rob the race track so that he may star in subsequent weeks.

ABC's "John Gunther's High Road" officially kicked off the new show season Labor Day. The first of this series was a half-hour film account showing how native Congo dancers were picked for the successful African Ballet which toured the United States last year.

Although the first show had an interesting story line, time was too short to permit its development. More of the program was devoted to tribal dancing than to the search.

Author John Gunther—shown, of course, in a book-lined study—seemed ill at ease in his narrator's role.

3 REPEATS
Playhouse 90 is winding up its season of repeats with three of its best shows: William Faulkner's "Old Man," J. P. Miller's "The Days of Wine and Roses" and Michel del Castillo's "Child of Our Time." Its new season starts Oct. 1.

Watching the Dick Clark show is, for this viewer, like peeking in on a meeting of a secret society. The kids seem to have a set of mysterious cues on which they squeal approval of singers or musicians, and there must be a leader who conducts the teen-age audience in precision clapping. The audience would be more attractive if so many in it were not chomping on chewing gum, even if it is the sponsor's product.

Mistress Ruling

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A mistress has no legal claim on properties of her deceased lover unless they have lived under the same roof for five years, the Supreme Court said Tuesday.
