Gangland Silence Hides Death Motive

NEW YORK (AP)—Gangland silence Saturday hid the motive for the gunshot slayings of big-time mobster "Little Augie" Pisano and the beautiful blonde wife of nightclub comedian Allan Drake.

Pisano and Mrs. Drake were shot in the head while riding in Pisano's Cadillac near La Guardia Airport in Queens late Friday night.

The shot apparently were fired from the back seat by two gunmen who escaped without leaving any clues.

Detectives sought to question national and local underworld figures.

They faced two handicaps. One was the tight-lipped tradition of the underworld. The other was that the rackets run by Pisano—real name Anthony Carfano—were so varied in number of rivals might have wanted him out of the way.

Pisano, 62, had been an underworld power for more than 30 years. He hobnobbed with racket figures such as Lucky Luciano and Frank Costello and once was a lieutenant to the notorious Al Capone.

Mrs. Drake, 32, the former Janice Hansen, was Miss New Jersey of 1944.

Her husband, who has been entertaining at a club in Washington, D.C., rushed back to New York.

Pisano and the blond were gunned down while he was driving, she at his side.

Detectives surmised that Pisano was shot because of some underworld dispute. Mrs. Drake was killed, they theorized, so she never could appear as a witness against them.

Friends said Pisano had been friendly with Mr. and Mrs. Drake for years and that the dinner date did not indicate any romance.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

By now Art Linkletter, the TV impresario, must have a pretty good idea where Big Spring is. He dealt local pride a body blow last week when he announced his daughter's husband was being assigned to Webb AFB and Big Spring wherever that was. Since KEDY-TV is one of his outlets, Manager Jack Wallace thought he ought to have been better informed than the opposition over this station. He also wired Mr. Linkletter a passel of statistics, an invitation to go quail hunting, Conch Petroleum hustled off a bunch of products to remind the MC that one of the nation's biggest inland refineries is here. Needless to say, Big Spring will be sure that his daughter is given a double welcome when she arrives.

When Federal Judge Jimmy Allred died in Laredo last week, it was almost like one of the native sons had passed away. Long before there was a Big Spring State Hospital, he once spoke of the need of such an institution and pointed on a map and said "this is where it ought to go." And it did come to Big Spring eventually. Years later, the former governor visited here often with his parents-in-law, the late Claude Miller and Mrs. Miller.

Considerable lustre has been added to the Dollars for Democrat dinner set for Oct. 8 at Cosden Country Club. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough will be the speaker for the $5 a plate affair. This will be his first major appearance here since he nailed down a full term as junior U. S. Senator. A big crowd doubtless will be on hand to welcome him.

We're not quite ready to concede that things are too tough. Last week the high school student council decided to come to grips with a pressing problem—the parking problem.

Last week the U. S. Department of Labor announced that the Cost of Living Index had dropped off one per cent from the peak in July. Except that the AP carried the information, we might not

$325,000 Sands School Bond Issue Rejected

ACKERLY — Voters of the Sands Independent School District Saturday turned thumbs down on a $325,000 bond issue to finance a new junior-senior high school plant.

Complete unofficial returns showed 91 votes for and 182 against.

While the district as a whole was rejecting the proposal by a 2-1 ratio, the Knott box favored it by that margin, or 67 to 31.

But at Ackerly a heavy vote and a 6-1 tide against snuffed under the issue. The vote there was 151 against and 31 for.

Proponents of the issue had advanced the bonds as a means of financing construction of a junior and senior high school plant for the recently consolidated district.

The plant was to have included about 10 classrooms, home economics and science laboratories, a cafeteria, gymnasium and offices. Earlier the district had engaged John W. Gary Architects, Big Spring, to do preliminary sketches for a plant which might have been erected between the two communities.

Last year the Knott and Ackerly Independent Districts voted to consolidate. At that time there was talk of maintaining elementary schools in both communities and erecting high school facilities at a central site. Currently high school pupils are attending at Ackerly.

Gracie Moving Out To Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The storm called Gracie—no longer a hurricane—turned eastward in the Atlantic Ocean Saturday and her threat to the U.S. mainland was fading fast.

With top winds of 70 miles an hour in a small area around the center, Gracie now rates only as a tropical storm. A force of 74 miles an hour or greater makes a hurricane.

At 5 p.m. Gracie was centered 485 miles east of Cape Canaveral, Fla. She was moving toward the east-northeast at 6 m.p.h. and appeared destined to blow herself out in the Atlantic.

Winds of 30 to 40 m.p.h. reached about 150 miles in all directions from the center.

The Weather Bureau said it was likely that Gracie would regain hurricane intensity in the next few hours, but it was expected to continue moving away from the mainland.

Typhoon Kills 364 In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Vera, Japan's worst storm of the year, raged north Sunday leaving a trail of death and destruction in its wake.

Official reports said 364 persons were dead, 1,342 injured and 557 missing.

The reports, from 38 of Japan's 47 prefectures, also said 50,000 houses had been destroyed or damaged and another 226,000 flooded.

The storm was screaming up the Sea of Japan toward Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island.

Steel Strike May Bring Cutback In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cutbacks in production and employment are likely to increase sharply by mid-October unless the steel strike is settled, the Labor Department reported Saturday.

In its fourth semi-monthly survey of the impact of the strike, which started July 15, the department said some 660,000 workers now are off their regular jobs and have lost wages totaling 700 million dollars.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said in releasing the report that while the over-all economic situation continues strong, the impact of the shutdown is increasing on factory employment.

The survey, which covers the first half of September, showed that for the first time since the strike began manufacturing cutbacks accounted for more than half of the layoffs in steel-related industries.

The total number of secondary layoffs, estimated at 160,000 nationwide, increased by 9,200 in the first two weeks of September in 31 major steel-producing and steel consuming areas surveyed.

Most of the strike-related layoffs so far have been in nonmanufacturing industries, principally transportation, construction and mining.

The department said employers in most of the 31 areas surveyed reported that steel stocks are adequate to maintain employment near current levels through the end of this month but that "widening difficulties" are anticipated by mid-October.

There has been increasing speculation that the government will seek a Taft-Hartley Act injunction to halt the strike by that time. But Mitchell made no reference to this in releasing the Labor Department's latest survey of the situation.

The labor secretary said he would recommend that President Eisenhower invoke the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day cooling off period provision if the strike continues into October and creates a national emergency.

Mitchell conferred Saturday with Joseph P. Finnegan, chief federal mediator in the union-management talks that were broken off in New York Friday. There was no indication of any decisions reached. Finnegan has indicated that if and when the talks are resumed, they may be shifted to some city other than New York.

Ike, K. Snag On Germany, Talks To End

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev were reported deadlocked Saturday night after spending most of the day concentrating on the Berlin issue and related German problems—the core of their cold war disagreements.

While Eisenhower was understood to have huddled not an inch from the American position, Khrushchev was reported standing firmly on the Soviet side. But they did agree to go into the delicate, dangerous issue of Berlin and Germany at their final working session Sunday before they wind up a weekend on a Maryland mountain top and Khrushchev heads for home.

In spite of the deadlock at this point, there was a possibility that Eisenhower and Khrushchev might come out of the probing of each other's positions with some sort of formula for a new session of the British, French, Soviet and U.S. foreign ministers on the Berlin question.

The essence of Khrushchev's stand is that sooner or later the Western allies must pull their troops from West Berlin and permit the city to operate under some form of international guarantee. The American position is four power occupation of Berlin must continue until there is a peace treaty with a united Germany, and that meanwhile the Soviet Union must respect rights in West Berlin.

Eisenhower and Khrushchev bore down in hours of confidential, intensive conversations on the dangerous cold war issue of Berlin and Germany.

They concentrated on this almost to the exclusion of all other East-West problems.

The talks will continue Sunday on the final day of Khrushchev's stay in the United States.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that other serious matters revolve around Berlin and Germany. He wouldn't say what these were.

He said Khrushchev and his host also touched on disarmament in their conversations, "but the main concentration was on Berlin and Germany."

"I think I can also say," he added, "that these talks will have to continue on these subjects (Berlin and Germany) so that it may be determined if progress has been or can be made on these subjects."

They met at the conference table at Eisenhower's mountain top retreat, Camp David, talked as they strolled the pathways outside and then, more briefly, on the sun porch at Eisenhower's country estate just outside Gettysburg.

Negro Convicted In Ice Box Death, Jury Asks Chair

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury Saturday night found Adrian Johnson, 17-year-old Negro, guilty in the icebox sex slaying of a 12-year-old white boy and recommended the death penalty.

Johnson was accused of the July 20 killing of William Bodenheimer III.

The jury got the case at 4 p.m. and returned its verdict about 8:30 p.m.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Lee Ward Jr. charged defense claims that Johnson was beaten and forced to sign a statement were "a device to get your mind away from the facts in the case." Defense lawyers objected strongly.

"There can be only one penalty in this case, and that is death," Ward declared.

Defense lawyer Bernard Golding closed with: "The state has said the verdict should be death or nothing. I say the penalty should be nothing."

Dist. Judge Ed Duggan, instructing the jury, said members of a group acting together in a crime share joint guilt. Johnson was one of seven Negro youths arrested in the case.

Testimony in the six-day trial showed the victim was subjected to unnatural sex acts before his death.

In a statement admitted as evidence, Johnson confessed such an act against young Bodenheimer. But he said two other Negro youths forced the white boy into an icebox where he was found asphyxiated.

CROP REPORT: County Cotton 11 Per Cent Ginned, According To TEC

Forty-five per cent of the Howard County cotton were ginned this week through Thursday, accounting for seven per cent of the estimated 10,860-bale crop, 40 per cent of which is open.

B. E. Harlow, manager of the Sweetwater TEC office, said cotton in Seury, Fisher, Nolan and Mitchell counties was of excellent quality.

He said over half is of middling quality—or above, with very little 'b's and very little spotted cotton.

Seury has ginned 2,072 bales of

Missile Men Wagging Heads Over K's 'Jinx' During Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Missile men here are shaking their heads over a rash of rocket failures during Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

They can't remember when so many things have gone haywire in a short period. And no one has a ready explanation.

"You'd think that Khrushchev's shadow had fallen across the Cape jinxing the place," an official commented.

There have been some successes, too. But they seem lost among the series of fizzes. Some of the nation's most reliable missiles were among the victims.

The biggest shock came Thursday when an Atlas-Able rocket, being groomed to hurl a satellite around the moon in October, blew up during a ground test of its engines.

The shot has been postponed indefinitely.

State Rests Case; Saunders Defense Will Begin On Monday

AUSTIN (AP)—State testimony offered in proof of accusations that J. Byron Saunders lied six times during a special House investigating committee was completed Saturday.

The state rested at 12:25 p.m. Attorneys for the former State Insurance chairman served notice at once that they will argue Monday morning that the state has failed to prove its six-point indictment against Saunders.

Should the motion for an instructed verdict of not guilty be refused then defense testimony will begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

The trial, which began Monday is expected to last most of next week before it goes to the jury of four women and eight men. Four of the men are Negroes.

Temper was quick this sixth day. It is the first time in Texas a jury has been asked to decide if a person committed perjury before a legislative committee.

John Cofer, chief defense attorney, made his second unsuccessful attempt in as many days to get a mistrial because of ad lib remarks by witnesses.

Cofer protested that Joe Carroll, assistant attorney general who was special investigator for the 1957 House committee, violated the lawyers' code of ethics against a member of the prosecution testifying. Carroll, now engaged in anti-trust investigations, claimed he was not a member of the prosecution.

"I don't appreciate my ethics being brought into this," Carroll said from the witness box. "You were the one who subpoenaed me here."

Cofer denied asking Carroll as a witness and called the remarks prejudicial to the defendant. The motion for a mistrial was overruled.

Cofer complained Friday that a volunteer remark from a witness unnecessarily connected his client with BenJack Cagle. The motion was refused also.

Saunders, 49, of Tyler, is charged with perjuring himself six times March 15, 1957, in telling the 5-man probe about his dealings with Cagle, a convicted embezzler who is now a fugitive in Brazil. He said he received $7,000 from ICT Discount Corp., a Cagle affiliate, in paying for an East Texas oil lease. He claimed a $1,000 "over payment" was returned.

The legislative committee was investigating the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co. of Dallas, and affiliates, of which Cagle was the head. The insurance company was subject to regulation of the state agency of which Saunders was chairman or member.

Mid-October May See Dislocations

Hoover Demands Youth Crime Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Recent teen-age violence in New York and other cities brought a demand from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Saturday for a stern and "all-out counterattack against vicious young thugs."

He called the problem of youthful crime a monster of frightening proportions.

In an editorial in the October issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover advocated the fingerprinting and public naming of youthful "punks" who defy the law. He said parents who inflict vicious acts on their fellow men "deserve to feel the sting of public indignation and to face legal and financial responsibility for the criminal acts of their children."

"A valuable ally in the fight against crime, the news media of the nation can afford further public service in focusing the spotlight of public opinion on those members of the judiciary who, in the face of the present crisis, persist in endangering the public by unleashing young terrorists apprehended at great risk by law enforcement officers," he added.

"In 1958, arrests of juveniles under the age of 18 increased 8 per cent, while arrests of adults rose 1.8 per cent," he said. "Alarming, not only the frequency of youth crimes but the savagery of these offenses is mounting day by day, year by year."

"Action against this youth menace must not be delayed."

"It is my firm conviction that the all-out campaign against these flagrant young criminals who commit serious crimes must include publishing their names and crimes for public information, the ready availability of past records for the information of appropriate law enforcement officers, and fingerprinting of these young lawbreakers for future identification."

"We are dealing with vicious young criminals, and they should be treated as such."

Ike May Move In Steel Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may move next week to stop the steel strike, which is gradually shutting down one factory after another.

Indications that Eisenhower may step into the deadlock grew Saturday as Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell conferred with Federal Mediation Director Joseph P. Finnegan.

Mitchell and Finnegan were reported considering these possible courses:

1. Asking Eisenhower to make another and probably final appeal to both sides for a settlement of differences over wages and working conditions.
2. Moving the stalled union-management negotiations from New York to Washington for a final effort at reaching an agreement.
3. Invoking the Taft-Hartley Act emergency procedures early next week. This would involve obtaining a court order requiring the strikers to return to work for an 80-day period of cooling off and fact-finding. If no agreement was reached, the strike could resume at the end of 80 days.

It has been an open secret that the administration wanted to avoid resorting to the mandatory strike-stopping procedures of the Taft-Hartley Act while Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was in this country. Khrushchev is due to leave for home Sunday night.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of Spanish exiles cabled President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev Saturday asking that they take up the Spanish problem in their talks this weekend.

ICT PROGRAM

Training In Skilled Trades Afforded For 29 HS Students

Twenty-nine Big Spring High School students are getting practical training in 29 separate skilled trades and occupations this fall through the school's industrial cooperative training program.

Twenty-five business and professional establishments are assisting in the program.

L. R. Maneely, coordinator of the training plan, said between 20 and 25 Big Spring citizens now run their own businesses with skills they learned under the training program, which is the best continuous one in the state.

Students get technical instruction in their chosen fields during regular school hours, and at the same time carry a full school load. They get practical on-the-job training from cooperating establishments after school hours.

Students are paid a minimum of 50 cents an hour while on the job, but some are earning as much as $1.47 an hour.

THREE BENEFITS

Maneely sees three major benefits in I. C. T., as it is called. It gives the students an opportunity to learn a trade or occupation while taking regular academic courses; it gives employers a chance to train their own personnel; and it allows Big Spring to keep many useful citizens who otherwise would leave.

Maneely urges other businesses that would like to participate to contact him, at which time he will screen prospective students for qualifications.

Vocations businesses and students in the program now are:

Auto mechanics: Tidwell Chevrolet Co. Dickie Gregory and Neal McCleskey; Atwell's Garage; Billy Sanders; auto body repairman, Tidwell Chevrolet Co., Carroll Cone; auto parts man, Jones Motor Co., Joe Henderson; carpenter, Ray S. Ceylon Mourns Assassination Of Its Leader

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—This island nation Saturday night mourned its assassinated Prime Minister, Solomon Bandaranaike, shot down by a fanatic Buddhist monk.

Ceylon was draped in white, the traditional mourning color in this Buddhist land, as Bandaranaike's close associate, Wijayananda Dahanayake, was sworn in as his successor.

Messages of condolence poured in from all over the world for the 60-year-old, British-educated champion of Asian neutralism who died in a hospital Saturday after he had appeared to be rallying from a five-hour operation. Three bullets had struck him — in the liver, spleen and arm.

Sir Oliver Goonetilleke, who as governor-general is the crown's representative in this Asian island member of the British Commonwealth, proclaimed a state of emergency to head off possible political violence.

Then he summoned Dahanayake to take over as prime minister. Dahanayake, 57 and a former Red revolutionary turned conservative, indicated he would carry on his friend's policies. He was Bandaranaike's education minister.

Police held under heavy guard a monk identified as Talduwa Sovarama, 43, attached to the Ayurvedic (Indigenous) College Hospital. He was wounded by a sentry as he fled from the assassination scene.

Police supported a theory that the suspect was angered because Bandaranaike would not supplant Western medicine with the Ayurvedic practice of medicine—a secret system of treatment by herbs and massages.

While authorities had feared violence as news of the assassination spread, there was only mourning.

As news of his death spread Saturday morning, a mile-long queue of sobbing men and women formed outside Colombo's General Hospital to view the body.

The body will be moved Monday to the House of Representatives and lie in state for three days before cremation at Bandaranaike's country residence, Horagalla, Thursday.

Gard Leaves Post As 8th Army Chief

AUSTIN (AP) — Command of the U. S. 8th Army Corps (Reserve) changes here this week with the departure of Maj. Gen. R. G. Gard for Ft. Sam Houston.

Gard, a veteran of 41 years, will be succeeded as head of the corps soon by Maj. Gen. Stanton Babcock, now stationed with the Military Assistance Group in Paris.

Gard will report to 4th U. S. Army Headquarters for assignment pending his retirement Nov. 30.

Gen. Gard was born at Frankfort, Ind., Nov. 17, 1899, but has called Texas his home since 1901 when his family moved to Houston. He entered West Point in 1918 and was commissioned in the Field Artillery.

Among his decorations are the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with two battle stars.

Gard's long military career included three separate assignments to the military academy, active service in World War II and membership in the United Nations Command component of the military armistice commission in Korea.

After World War II, Gard was named to the military tribunal which conducted the Japanese war criminal trials.

At the U. S. Military Academy he was an instructor in English for four years, as assistant professor of history, and as treasurer of the institution.

Gen. Gard was instructor in the Field Artillery School at Ft. Sill, Okla., from 1939 until 1943. He was a combat observer with the British 8th Army in the Middle East between September and December 1942.

He assumed command of the 96th Division artillery in May 1944 and was with it in the Leyte and Okinawa campaigns.

When he returned to the United States in 1947, Gen. Gard was sta-

Denver Town Gets Snowfall

DENVER (AP) — A five-inch blanket of fresh snow covered the Leadville area, two miles high in the Colorado Rockies, Saturday.

Three inches piled up during a six-hour period early in the morning.

Snow also fell Friday night and early Saturday on Loveland, Kenosha, Red Mountain and Monarch Passes as a flow of moist air from the Pacific spread over the Rocky Mountain area. Traffic was snarled for two hours on Loveland Pass.

The lowest temperature in the nation Saturday was 22 degrees above zero at Alamosa, in Southern Colorado's San Luis Valley.

"Why I'll always depend on TSO for my eye care"

1. "I needed an eye examination and wanted to be absolutely sure of getting the very best professional attention. I was afraid that such service would be expensive."

2. "Then, several friends recommended TSO for dependable eye care, backed by years of experience with thousands of completely satisfied patients. The cost would surprise me, they said."

3. "How right they were! The Doctor of Optometry at TSO was thorough and careful in his examination. There was no doubt about his diagnosis being accurate. I needed glasses, just as I had suspected."

4. "My glasses from TSO were prescribed and fitted to perfection... the quality was excellent. Just as I had been told. I was pleasantly surprised at the reasonable cost. I'LL ALWAYS DEPEND ON TSO FOR MY EYE CARE."

Texas Needs Plan To Solve Water Problems, Expert Avers

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas can never solve its water problems until a statewide plan is completed, state officials and other experts declare.

The State Board of Water Engineers is working on a master plan with a 1963 deadline. It's already behind schedule. The Legislature cuts its budget $800,000 for 1960-61.

The U. S. Study Commission is moving in the same direction at a faster pace hoping for completion in July 1961.

Officials say each agency faces these problems:

1. Public apathy in years of adequate rainfall.
 2. The never ending struggle between cities, and between cities and farmers, and between the state and federal governments.
- "The water problem can never be solved until there is a plan whereby surplus water can be transported to deficient rainfall areas," the board's engineers say.
- Dr. J. G. Davidson, former vice president of Union Carbide Corp., put a question to Texans at a major conservation meeting: "Why not compose your differences, settle upon a master plan and save yourselves and the State of Texas before the next devastating drought comes around?"
- No one has answered.

The state's reservoirs are now at least 90 per cent full—a mark they have held since the worst drought in Texas history started to end three years ago. The drought cost farmers and ranchers three billion dollars.

"No water shortage is expected for most cities and industry in the near future, if the rains continue," says R. M. Dixon, Water Board member.

Texans consumed four million acre feet of water in 1957 (last available figures) from surface reservoirs. That's 1,303,200,000 gallons (325,851 gallons equal an acre foot).

Another 11 million acre feet of water were pumped from the ground.

From the 15 million acre foot total, 12 million went for irrigation and the rest for industrial and city use.

In the year 2000, Texas will use 8,013,879 acre feet a year in homes and industry, says the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. What will be needed for irrigation is unknown.

Engineers disagree on whether the present reservoirs with about seven million acre feet of storage space can meet the demand in 2000.

Rainfall ranges from 40 to 55 inches on the state's eastern edge to 8 to 20 inches in far West Texas and the Transpecos areas. Two-thirds of the state gets 30 inches or less a year.

The Bureau of Business Research predicts more salty water will be used by industry in the future. The bureau estimates 90 per cent of all water consumed in 2000 by basic industry in the Houston area will be salty.

At least 38 reservoirs are under construction or in the talking stage. They would hold 8,697,200 of the 24,568,528 acre feet of water remaining to be developed in Texas. Some engineers say the state should delay any major construction until it is known which proposed projects will be the best for overall development.

Almost all projects are financed partly by the federal government.

The Texas Municipal League's 1958 water cost report shows Dallas paying 18 cents per 1,000 gallons of water. Roby in West Texas 66 cents. Port Aransas on the Gulf 48 cents and Longview a penny.

Here's what the Bureau of Business Research says these Texas cities now use (last available figures generally are for 1957) and the estimated needs in the year 2000:

Abilene 10,950 acre feet in 1957 and 29,022 in 2000 for municipal and industrial uses; Alice 2,249 and 8,163; Amarillo 24,042 and 69,780; Athens 954 and 2,750; Beaumont 102,746 and 532,436; Big Spring 11,312 and 42,725; Borger 27,181 and 71,557;

Brownwood 5,619 and 7,549; Bryan 4,438 and 29,375; Conroe 1,829 and 4,892; Corsicana 2,443 and 9,314; Dallas 109,096 and 498,611; Del Rio 4,069 and 7,734; Denton 3,112 and 16,646;

Edinburg 1,427 and 6,178; Fort Worth 64,210 and 332,753; Gainesville 1,295 and 5,705; Galveston 63,665 and 426,694; Greenville 2,578 and 8,289; Hillsboro 878 and 3,428;

Houston 306,993 and 1,625,100; Jacksonville 1,430 and 4,269; Kerrville 1,700 and 5,524; Lamesa 1,525 and 5,303; Laredo 8,872 and 20,875; Levelland 921 and 4,640; Longview 21,037 and 72,601; Lubbock 17,490 and 76,586;

Crime Inaction Labelled Failure

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel said Saturday the last Legislature's "greatest failure" was inaction on recommended laws to tighten up on narcotics, traffic and other crime law enforcement.

He told a meeting of district and county attorneys.

"While the crime rate was climbing to an all-time high during the first six months of this year, the Texas Legislature fell to an all-time low in attention to the many recommendations for improved law enforcement.

He called it a "major segment of unfinished business" for the lawmakers who likely will be called back into special session again in January.

WTCC Group Meets Set Up

Executive committeemen for the Chamber of Commerce Managers Assn. of West Texas planned Saturday for a series of area meetings during the year.

Under the direction of Bill Thomas, chairman, 10 area chairmen have been named to serve in the 10 districts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They will convene meetings of local managers for strictly informal idea sessions. The performance will be repeated at intervals during the year, said Bill Quimby, Big Spring, CCMAWT president.

Starting Wrong

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A rookie on the Tucson police force went home after his first day on the job and his wife said, "Show me how your handcuffs work."

The officer snapped on the cuffs, then realized he had lost the keys. A frantic search was futile.

Several hours later a fellow policeman arrived with the necessary keys and the wife was released.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Five old curacao homes are pictured on a new series of postage stamps issued by the Netherlands Antilles to commemorate the restoration of these Dutch type homesteads. Each stamp shows a different home.

MONUMENTENZORG CURACAO

A surcharge in behalf of "Monumentenzorg," the foundation that is preserving the historical monuments. The values are 6-c plus 1 1/4-c, 7 1/4-c plus 2 1/4-c, 15-c plus 5-c, 22 1/2-c plus 7 1/2-c, 25-c plus 7 1/2-c.

The new Pony Express stamp will be issued on July 19, 1960, announced Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield. The commemorative stamp honors the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Pony Express. The date of issuance was changed to coincide with the re-enactment of the Pony Express run next year under auspices of the National Pony Express Assn.

Chile will issue two new stamps to commemorate the Juan, La-drillero Expedition of 1537. One stamp will be for regular mail and the other airmail. The design will feature a map of the Strait of Magellan.

From Morocco comes word that three stamps have been issued to celebrate the 50th anniversary of S. M. Mohammed V. The 15-franc red, 25-fr blue and 45-fr green have the same design—S. M. Mohammed V on horseback and a native holding an umbrella over him.

The United Arab Republic will issue to new stamps when the hydroelectric power station is opened in Aswan. The 10-millime stamp will depict the station. The 35-m stamp will show the High Dam whose cornerstone will be laid on the same day.

New designs for the 10-cent and 25-cent international air mail stamps featuring the Liberty Bell and the head of Abraham Lincoln are being prepared by the artists under commission of the U. S. Post Office Department. These stamps and the 15-cent will replace the international airmail series of the same denominations first issued in 1947.

The Yugoslavia Post Office Department reports that a 20-dinar stamp has been issued to honor the 50th anniversary of the International Fair at Zagreb and also for the Union of International Fairs at Zagreb. The design shows the emblem of the fair and of the Union plus two hands representing world commerce.

Preview Of Hollywood's Next Sex Queen—Beauty With Brain

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's a preview of the movie queen for the 1960s:

She is beautiful, but not in a ravishing, unattainable way. She has the brains to discuss world politics or space travel.

Her proportions are not oversized, nor is her allure a blatant one. But she has an inner reserve of passion that is apparent to men of all ages, yet is not so obvious as to offend women.

Briefly, she's a sex kitten with brains.

Each decade of Hollywood history has been marked by types of stars who reflected America's desires in female appeal.

The flapper dominated the roaring 20s, which marked the emancipation of the American woman. Leaders were Clara Bow, the "It Girl," and Joan Crawford of "Our Dancing Daughters."

The sophisticates followed in the 30s, when a disillusioned, depression-ridden nation sought more elegance from its female ideals.

This was the heyday of the woman of the world, as played by Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer, Bette Davis, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunne, Rosalind Russell, Katharine Hepburn and Joan Crawford.

The pin-up girl was the demand of the wartime and postwar 40s, which sought fast entertainment and stars whose sex appeal was obvious.

Betty Grable adorned every barracks wall, and she ruled the decade with Rita Hayworth, Esther Williams, Dorothy Lamour, Lana Turner, Ann Sheridan and other well-equipped beauties.

The ideal girl of the 50s was a reaction to the previous decade. Most notable were Audrey Hepburn, who had the figure of a boy, and the cool Philadelphia heiress, Grace Kelly. They were definitely not sexless, but their appeal was ladylike, as was that of Deborah Kerr, Eva Marie Saint and Joanne Woodward.

Marilyn Monroe was the anachronism of the 50s, a throwback to the wartime pin-up girl. Indeed, she first found fame as the foxhole sweetheart of the Korean War.

How can we tell what the 1960s will bring? We can't, of course. But we can try to foretell the temper of the space-age times.

The coming decade shapes up as the thinking man's era. But all thinking and no play will make life dull for even the thinking man. He'll want a girl who is as appealing outdoors as in.

Hollywood is ready for him. The new movie girl can probably play a smashing set of tennis and swim like an otter. But she also looks cute and cuddly in a sports car parked on a lonely road.

Youth is being served more and more in the space age, and the hot prospects for the 1960s are young. But they have lived; several have been teen-age brides, mothers and divorcees.

Here are some prime candidates for top stardom:

Lee Remick, Boston-born but brimming with appeal, compact, blonde, can act, a graduate of little theaters, TV, Actor's Studio, scored a hit in "Anatomy of a Murder" in role intended for Lana Turner.

Angie Dickinson, long-stemmed North Dakota lovely with throaty voice, legs and voice made good impression in "Rio Bravo," constant companion of intellectual film maker Richard Brooks.

Millie Perkins, Passaic, N.J., beauty chosen from thousands to play Anne Frank, former cover girl with deep, offbeat personality.

Sandra Dee, Bayonne, N.J., youngster who became a famous model at 17, she's the ideal of the teen-age set, honey-haired and cute as a button.

Hope Lange, green-eyed daughter of a musician and actress, debuted on Broadway at 12, discovered in "Bus Stop," scored in "Peyton Place," career has paralleled that of husband Don Murray.

Stella Stevens, platinum blonde from Yazoo City, Miss., aptly cast as Appassionata von Climax in "L'Alphabet." At 20, she's divorced, mother of a 4-year-old boy.

Tuesday Weld, another model and amazingly developed at 15. Age hasn't hindered her career, as she can play much older roles.

New York-born, started working at 2.

Jill St. John, with I.Q. of 162, she graduated from high school at 14, was discovered acting at UCLA. Divorced and 18, she is engaged to her Lance Reventlow.

Carol Lynley, sweet-faced girl of 17, she played pregnant teenager of "Blue Denim" on stage and screen. A successful model at 11, she acted in TV dramas.

Luana Patten starred as youngster in Disney Films with Bobby Driscoll. Now an attractive 20 and scoring as a grown-up actress, MGM grooming her for second stardom.

Jo Morrow, Cuero, Tex., girl chosen to play Alec Guinness' daughter in "Our Man in Havana." An outdoor girl of 19, she won talent contest and contract with Columbia.

Diane Baker, a college girl and model, her quiet beauty brought her role of older sister in "The Diary of Anne Frank." She gets Pat Boone's first love scenes in "Journey to the Center of the Earth."

Andra Martin, a farm girl from Rockford, Ill., but sophisticated in looks. She plays opposite Clint Walker in "Yellowstone Kelly," is married to his TV replacement, Ty Hardin.

Barbara Eden plays loco in TV series "How to Succeed in a Millionaire," but she's no dope. Studied music at San Francisco City College. A direct descendant of Benjamin Franklin, she's wed to Michael Ansara, TV's Cochise.

Evy Norlund, Miss Denmark in the 1958 Miss Universe pageant. Columbia gave her English lessons for a year, now readying her for stardom.

Big City Residents Ignore Screams Of Rape-Death Victim

NEW YORK (AP)—The body of a woman, apparently slain by a sex killer, was found amid trampled weeds in a Queens vacant lot today.

She was identified by her 25-year-old son as Mrs. Paula Michaels, 50, of the Glendale section of Queens.

Police said the son, Arthur, told them early today his mother had failed to come home. The son was notified, and he identified the body after it had been found in a lot by an early morning stroller.

The lot is two miles or more from Mrs. Michaels' home.

The woman's body was found lying face up, her head battered and her clothing torn and disarranged.

Detectives bitterly criticized residents of the area who said they had heard screams but paid no attention.

Civil War Veteran Hears Music Again
HOUSTON (AP)—Walter Williams, 116, last surviving veteran of the Civil War, was listening to hillbilly music again Saturday.

A daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bales, said Williams has recovered fully from an illness that had him on the critical list in July and August.

German Miners Demand Action
BONN, West Germany (AP)—Thousands of miners—silent and waving black flags—marched through Bonn today demanding government action to cope with a mounting coal crisis.

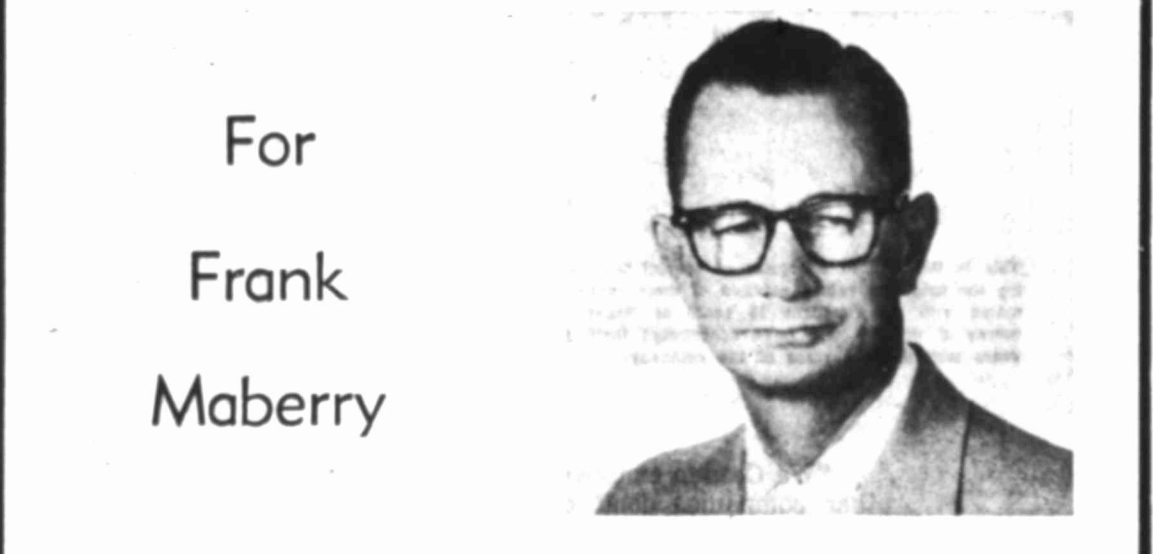

He's eating good and listening to his music," Mrs. Bowles said. Williams will be 117 Nov. 14.

With the rich Ruhr giving up millions of tons of coal more than can be sold, many pits face a shutdown and miners are losing their jobs.

Union leaders said 2,000 miners were taking part in the demonstration, the biggest in the 10-year history of this West Berlin capital.

A Pat on the Back

For Frank Maberry

The professional baseball league presidents think that their job is time consuming, but until they have been president of the Big Spring Pony East League on a volunteer basis they don't know what a time consuming job is, or the real joy of being president of a league.

Frank Maberry, a life insurance underwriter for Great Southern Life Insurance Company by profession, served as president of Big Spring Pony East League this past season.

Frank was responsible for four teams to have 15 ball players with an adult manager and an adult assistant manager for each team.

Working with 80 boys from the ages of 13 thru 15 six nights a week for two and one half months takes a lot of time and work, "but it's worth it when you see those youngsters develop good habits in sportsmanship on and off the playing field," Frank said.

Frank Maberry and his wife Sue reside at 1513 Kentucky with their three children. Their daughter, Dee is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is attending Howard County Junior College. A son David age 15 is a half back for the Big Spring Steers, and the youngest son, Dan age 12 attends Runnels Jr. High.

Frank is also a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Motorists Face Hike In Gas Tax Thursday

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Motorists must begin digging up extra pennies for gasoline next Thursday. A one-cent per gallon increase in the federal tax on retail sales becomes effective. The boost means $1 in added fuel costs to the motorist traveling 1,500 miles while averaging 15 miles per gallon.

The oil industry opposed the increase even though the billion dollars it is to raise is earmarked for the interstate highway program.

When the tax hike was proposed by President Eisenhower, the oil industry objected primarily on grounds the nation's 130,000 service station operators already were collecting too many pennies from motorists.

Two other reasons have drawn emphasis, however, in recent months. Both add up to a trend toward consumer resistance at a time the industry has a surplus of gasoline.

A resistance to prices has been indicated. A recent survey also indicates the average automobile of today is being driven fewer miles than in the past.

Smaller vehicles, with more miles per gallon, are drawing heavier emphasis as the automobile and oil industry continue studies of consumer resistance.

Some of the resistance is attributed to crowded road conditions and traffic hazards but oilmen fear that nearly 60 state and three federal gasoline tax hikes since 1949 are a major factor.

The American Petroleum Institute says the starting next Thursday combined federal-state taxes in 20 states will be 50 per cent or more of the retail price of regular grade gasoline. The average tax will be 10.2 cents a gallon or 47 per cent of the average retail price.

The extra cent boosts the federal tax to four cents a gallon. The state gasoline tax averages six cents and ranges from a low of three cents in Missouri to seven cents in 13 states.

API estimates motorists will pay $4,866,000,000 this year and $5,428,000,000 next year in motor fuel taxes. Of the 1960 total, $2,275,000,000 will go to the federal government, $1,653,000,000 to state and local governments.

Additional state increases are being discussed. Texas motorists, for instance, have heard much talk of late about a new one-cent levy to provide pay increases for school teachers.

Most gasoline revenue goes for improved highway systems but over $305,000,000 in 1957 state collections were diverted to other uses.

Including the four-cent per gallon federal tax, the states rank this way in combined federal-state gasoline taxes:

7 cents—Missouri.
9 cents—Arizona, Delaware, Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wyoming.
9 1/2 cents—Massachusetts.

DESK, DERRICK MEETING

Mrs. Ed Black Is Local Delegate

Mrs. Ed Black, president of the Desk and Derrick Club of Big Spring will represent Big Spring oil women as delegate to the eighth annual convention of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America convening in San Antonio Oct. 2 and 3.

Desk and Derrick is an educational organization for women employed in the petroleum industry. Other Big Spring Desk and Derrick members who will meet with the 1,500 oil women expected to attend from the United States and Canada include Marguerite Cooper, alternate delegate, and Mrs. Leon Kinney, Mrs. Alma Gollnick, Mrs. George Thorburn, Mrs. Chester Matheny, Mrs. S. Gorman, Mrs. Arch Ratliff, Mrs. W. H. Kay, Mrs. Esther Saunders, Mrs. A. G. Etzgen, Mrs. Earl Hughes, Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. Joe F. Neece, Mrs. Herbie Smith, and Mrs. Hal Mabry.

Keynote speaker for the convention is Miss Maxine R. Hacke, immediate past president of the association, whose topic is "The Golden Thread." Miss Hacke is with Warren Petroleum Corp., Tulsa, Okla.

Climax of the two-day meet, according to Mrs. Black, will be an address by Michel T. Halbouty, noted consulting geologist, petroleum engineer, and independent oil operator from Houston. In addition to many scientific articles on geology and petroleum engineering, Halbouty is author of the book entitled "Petroleum Characteristics of Gulf Coast Oil Sands" and co-author of the best-seller "Spindletop." Halbouty's address, entitled "They Said It Couldn't Be Done" will be given at the convention banquet Saturday.

Dr. Frank B. Connelman, consulting geologist from Abilene, will talk on "A Perspective for Petroleum" at the Friday luncheon. Dr. Connelman, who is this year's distinguished lecturer for the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, is also the author of a number of professional papers.

Another highlight of the meeting will be a panel discussion on foreign oil Saturday afternoon, to be presented by D. B. Eicher, staff geologist, Foreign Department, Continental Oil Company, Houston; H. W. Haight, chairman of the board, the Carter Oil Company, Tulsa, Okla.; and William A. Sackmann, attorney, Foreign Production Division, the Ohio Oil Company, Findlay, Ohio. Group discussions on club activities, led by leading club members, will be held on Friday afternoon.

Other highlights of the oil women's meeting, Mrs. Black said, will be the election of officers for the coming year, revision of Association by-laws and the opportunity to meet women in the petroleum industry from all sections of the United States and Canada. On the entertainment side, Mrs. Black added, there will be a fiesta in the Spanish-Texas tradition and a reception honoring candidates for office.

Big Spring Exploration, Inc., Sets Stockholders Meeting

Stockholders of the Big Spring Exploration, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiary, Roden Drilling Company, will have their sixth annual meeting Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Settles Hotel.

A brighter income picture, plus substantially increased assets will be reflected at the session called to receive reports and to elect directors.

Within the past several months activity has reached a peak for the concern which has developments in several states. During the past fiscal year ended March 31, 1959, gross income was $1,556,430 and expenses $1,396,167, leaving a net income before capital extinguishments of $160,263. The depreciation, depletion, etc. reduced the net earnings appreciably, but within the past two months the net income after depreciation, etc. has amounted to $67,919.

Big Spring Exploration, Inc. was chartered under the laws of Texas on May 4, 1953 with 300,000 shares of $1 par value stock. Increased to 1,000,000 shares of which 750,000 have been issued to date. On March 21 of this year the Texas Securities Commission gave the green light for issuance of the final 250,000 shares, but this block has not yet been offered.

Two years ago, Big Spring Exploration acquired the assets of Roden Drilling Company, Wyoming. A year later a loan from the Small Business Administration helped to fund the debt so that the company had more latitude in current operations.

Several discoveries and developments, notably in Hockley County and in Seminole County, Okla., have considerably improved earnings as well as the long term outlook, according to John R. Hatch, president.

Latest figures (on July 31, 1959) showed assets of $1,210,826. Of this Big Spring Exploration accounted for $971,246 and Roden Drilling $239,580.

Directors include Hatch, Dr. P. W. Malone, Neil G. Hilliard, Dr. M. W. Talbot, Dr. Jack Woodall, Dr. G. Frank Dillon, Kent Morgan, Roy Reeder and Marvin Saunders of Big Spring, and John Roden, Casper, Wyo., Gail Stoddard, and Carl Pfluger, Eden.

Are you enjoying life as much as you should?

If you can't stop thinking about your problems... if you're easily upset by little things... if you're often nervous and on-edge... then your tensions may be getting the best of you and it's time to do something about it!

The first thing to do is to realize this: you're not alone! At least one out of ten Americans have emotional problems that are actually so serious they need medical attention. Millions more of us have minor emotional problems which don't need medical treatment, but do make us unhappy.

The second thing to do is to send for the new free booklet, "How To Deal With Your Tensions". In it, you'll find proven suggestions that will help you control your tensions, so you can lead a happier, fuller life.

For your free copy of this booklet, write: Box 2500, New York 1, N.Y.

W. A. WILLIAMS

Williams Joins Odessa Firm

W. A. Williams, formerly of Big Spring, has been appointed store manager for the Western Supply Co. in Odessa, according to Earl Coulter, vice president of supply sales for the Tulsa firm.

Williams was formerly district manager for Murray-Brooks, Inc. in the West Texas area. He is a veteran of over 22 years' experience in the oil field supply industry with that company. Williams, a 32nd degree Shriner, is a member of Big Spring Lodge No. 1340 A.F. & M. He is also a member of the Methodist Church.

Oil Groups Join Fight

AUSTIN (AP)—Five associations of independent oil and gas men asked permission Saturday to join a fight against alleged refusal of several oil companies to purchase production.

They asked to be allowed to intervene in a plea filed earlier by three San Angelo oil producers to the commission. They want the oil and gas regulatory body to look into claimed refusal by purchasers to take oil moved through a pipeline they built at their own expense.

Byron and Henry Hoffman and J. H. Buchanan of San Angelo brought the original petition. Joining Saturday were the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn., North Texas Oil and Gas Assn., East Texas Oil Assn., Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., and the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn.

The associations in their petition to the commission said they represent 9,000 individuals and that the organizations are dedicated to "aid the independent producers and royalty owners in their constant fight for economic survival."

Borden Project Develops Water On Penn Test

Westwater Corp. and others is drilling ahead at No. 1 Emma Hughes after developing water from a drillstem test Saturday morning in the Pennsylvania.

Operator tested the zone 7,927-39 feet with tool open two hours. Recovery was 2,200 feet of salt water. Operator found oil in the upper Pennsylvania Friday from perforations between 9,898-913 feet. With tool open 73 minutes, gas surfaced in six minutes.

Oil surfaced in 63 minutes and operator reversed out a full string of new oil. This Borden County wildcat, scheduled for a try at 8,500 feet for the Ellenberger, is four miles south of Fluvanna and is C SW SW SE of section 408-97 H&C survey.

Another Borden test is swabbing back the load and was 317 barrels from having it all back Saturday morning. It is Texaco No. 1 Johnson, prospector about a mile southwest of Gail and C SW SE of section 38-31-Sn, T&P survey.

In Garza County, Anderson and Penrose No. 1 FF Miller, wildcat, operator reported swabbing 454 barrels of fluid in four hours. Of this, 424 barrels was water and 70 barrels was new oil. A similar report was made Friday with the percentages of water and new oil about the same. It is perforated at 3,214 feet. The location is C SW SW SE of section 306 H&G survey.

In Dawson County, Amerada No. 1 Moore, wildcat about 2 1/2 miles southwest of Lamesa, is making hole in shale at 9,505 feet. It is projected for 10,250 feet. Drill site is 660 from south and 1,080 from west lines of section 14-36-Sn, T&P survey.

Rig Count Climbs In Texas, Nation

Texas followed the trend of the nation during the week with an increased number of rotary rigs making hole. According to the weekly survey by the Hughes Tool Co., Texas had a rig count increase of 32 over the previous tally. The national count was 44 higher than last week's total.

West Central Texas has the most rigs in operation by regions with 247 making hole. The previous week was 237. The total for the state was 754 as compared with the 722 in the earlier count. For the United States, the total was 2,132 against 2,088 last week.

A month ago there were only 748 rigs working in Texas and 2,107 in the United States. The current figures are far above the count a year ago when Texas as had 669 rigs drilling and the national figure was pegged at 1,909.

Five Wells Finaled; New Project Slated

The Basin Oil Company has announced a new project for the Howard-Glasscock pool and new production has been readied in the Howard-Glasscock and Snyder fields. The Garza pool in Garza County also had a new well reported Saturday.

The new location is No. 2 Paul Teas and it will go to 3,300 feet with rotary tools. On 160 acres, it is 990 from south and 330 from west lines of section 65-29-W&NW survey.

Wallen Production Co. No. 2 St. Louis is the new Howard-Glasscock field well with a daily pumping potential of 19.5 barrels of 25-gravity oil per day. There is 60 per cent water and the gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

The ground level elevation is 2,459 feet, the total depth is 2,974 feet, and the top of the pay zone is 2,780 feet. The five-and-a-half inch casing is bottomed at 2,964 feet. Drill site is 660 from north and west lines of section 94-29-W&NW survey.

Fleming Oil Co. has completed three wells in the Snyder pay. No. 29-A TXL has an initial pumping potential of 79 barrels of 29.5 gravity oil per day with three per cent water. The gas oil ratio is 185-1 and operator fraced with 15,000 gallons. The five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 2,650 feet. The ground elevation is 2,258 feet, the total depth is 2,974 feet, and the top of the pay zone is 2,780 feet. The five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 2,964 feet. Drill site is 660 from north and west lines of section 1233, EL&HR survey.

Operator acidized perforations between 3,115-26 feet with 3,000 gallons. The ground level elevation is 2,650 feet, the total depth is 3,875 feet, and the top of the pay zone is 3,115 feet. The five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 3,864 feet. Drill site is 330 from south and west lines of section 1233, EL&HR survey.

Basin Loses 7 Working Rigs During Week

The number of rotary rigs operating in the Permian Basin took a slight loss this week, after showing a steady climb for three weeks.

According to the Reed Roller Bit Co. survey, the total for the Basin slipped from 339 reported last week to 332 Friday. The loss left the total still considerably higher than the low point of the year which was 316 on Sept. 4.

Lea County, N. M., lost ground but still had enough working rigs to lead the other Basin counties in total units in operation with 42, a drop from 45.

The immediate eight county area slid from 34 last week to only 26 this week. All but 3 counties lost working rigs.

The tally for the counties, with the previous count in parentheses, as reported Friday includes:

Andrews 38 (35), Bailey 0 (1), Borden 3 (11), Chaves 4 (5), Cochran 4 (4), Coke 3 (2), Crane 18 (14), Crockett 4 (5), Crosby 1 (1), Culberson 3 (3), DAWSON 3 (4), Dickens 4 (4), Ector 28 (21), Eddy 13 (15), Fisher 3 (2), Gaines 14 (15), GARZA 6 (8), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), Guadalupe 1 (1), Hockley 5 (5), HOWARD 2 (4), Iron 1 (1), Kent 2 (2), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 42 (45), Loving 7 (5), Lynn 2 (2), Lubbock 0 (0), MARTIN 2 (2), Midland 9 (9), MITCHELL 2 (2), Nolan 5 (4), Pecos 14 (15), Reagan 3 (5), Reeves 6 (6), Roosevelt 3 (1), Runnels 0 (5), Schleicher 4 (4), Scurry 4 (6), Sutton 1 (1), HOWARD 2 (4), Iron 1 (1), Kent 2 (2), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 42 (45), Loving 7 (5), Lynn 2 (2), Lubbock 0 (0), MARTIN 2 (2), Midland 9 (9), MITCHELL 2 (2), Nolan 5 (4), Pecos 14 (15), Reagan 3 (5), Reeves 6 (6), Roosevelt 3 (1), Runnels 0 (5), Schleicher 4 (4), Scurry 4 (6), Sutton 1 (1), STERLING 1 (2), Tom Green 2 (1), Terry 1 (1), Terrell 3 (2), Upton 7 (10), Val Verde 1 (1), Ward 16 (12), Winkler 14 (19), Yoakum 12 (12), TOTALS 332 (339).

Completions Lag Behind Year Ago

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday drillers brought in 227 oil and 15 gas wells last week.

Some 8,632 oil wells have been completed this year compared to 9,272 wells a year ago. Drillers have hit 1,412 gas wells but had scored on 1,666 wells to this date in 1958.

Wildcaters drilled 10 oil wells for the week. For the year 6,952 wells have been plugged compared to 7,313 a year ago.

'seniors'
MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...
W. O. WASHINGTON

This is the 15th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of these employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its score of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

"We Cosden employees enjoy a lot of privileges other companies don't offer their employees," reflected W. O. Washington of his past 15 years with the organization.

Mr. Washington was born Sept. 17, 1908, in Leander, Williamson County. He completed his education in the Austin schools and worked in the oil fields until 1931, when he came to Martin County as a farmer.

While working for her father, he met Connie Wright. They were married March 8, 1930. The Washingtons have three daughters, Mrs. Sonya Jean Swindell, Mrs. Carolyn Stanaland and Glenda Washington, all of Big Spring.

The Washingtons also enjoy their two granddaughters.

Mr. Washington is a member of the Staked Plains Masonic Lodge, Local 826 and the First Baptist Church.

Fishing and hunting occupy his time when not working at the refinery as an asphalt pumper and blender.

"When I came to work for Cosden June 12, 1944, I only intended to stay a couple of months and then go back to farming," the Cosden senior laughed, "I did take off long enough to get my crop in but I've never gone back to being a full-time farmer."

The Washingtons own their home at 309 Princeton but are looking forward to the completion of their new home in the Worth Peeler Addition.

Activities Set As College Begins Year

By KAY LOVELAND

Here it is another week gone. Usual gripes of too much study, hard teachers, too little time for socializing have been voiced and the office has been flooded with drops and transfers. (I only changed my schedule five times). Many activities are scheduled for next week and many were held last week.

The Baptist Student Union held its first meeting last Monday in the SUB. An officer nominating committee was set up, composed of Avaneel Greenwood, chairman; Joyce Jackson; Hubert Murphy; Nina West. The BSU State Convention to be held in Fort Worth on October 16 and 17 was discussed. Next meeting will be Wednesday morning in the parlor during activity period.

The College Y had its second meeting Monday night and elected Randy Hensley, president; LaVern Carter, vice president; Judi Shields, secretary; Clarence Percy, treasurer; Camille Hefley, chaplain; and Jackie Thomas, parliamentarian. Forty-four attended the session. Next meeting will be 7:30 p.m. Monday night in the parlor of the SUB. All who would like to join but have not, attend this meeting and sign up.

The geology class and most of the ag class are planning a terrific party—I mean a trip to Big Bend National Park October 16, 17 and 18. Everyone is looking forward to being bitten by snakes, scorpions and mosquitoes and freezing to death. May even have a couple of stowaways named Camille Hefley and Kathy McRae.

An assembly will be held Monday during the activity period for the purpose of nominating Student Government Association officers and representatives and class officers. Be sure to attend the assembly and nominate capable, able leaders.

The Circle K Club for boys sponsored by Dr. Baker will hold its first meeting in the little dining room in the SUB a week from Wednesday. Investigate if you're interested, boys.

The first meeting of the Aggie Club was held last Thursday in the ag lecture room. Next meeting will be held Friday during activity period in PA 111. Officers will be elected. Bruce Frazier is sponsor.

A yearbook clinic was held here Saturday, sponsored by Colopress, Inc. of Austin. One-hundred fifty to 175 people from schools in the area from Fort Worth to El Paso attended. Earl Ezzell, president of Colopress; D' Eon Priest, vice president, and company artist; James Germany, yearbook production supervisor; and Mrs. Theda LaBeff, executive secretary, directed the workshop which had studies in photography, copy layout, finance and copy preparation.

Starting the week of October 5 pictures will be taken for the annual. Boys are asked to wear ties and girls are asked to comb their hair—really now! Please do wear ties, boys, and girls, wear your Sunday best.

The Jayhawker staff met Tuesday night and planned their ad sales campaign. Planning on layout of the book itself will start at their meeting next Tuesday night.

The Lass-O-Club will hold an organizational meeting next Friday morning during activity period in the little auditorium, A-2. The club is strictly a social organization. A Mother and Daughter Tea, Valentine Dance, spring picnic, Christmas Party, and Come-As-You-Are Breakfast are a few of the annual functions sponsored by the club. All girls are eligible to join. Mrs. Angie Vail and Mrs. Dean Box are sponsors.

The first meeting of the College Inter-club Social Council will be held a week from Wednesday in the parlor of the SUB. All clubs be sure to choose your representative to this council before the meeting.

Eighteen are now enrolled in Choir and Mr. Ira Shantz, director, feels it will be the best choir the college has ever had. It seems that some helpful hands came to the aid of the one soprano enrolled last week. There are now four. More sopranos are wanted and the choir could do with some more tenors.

Registration hit 631 this week as last minute enrollees signed up for day or night courses. The men's dorm is static now with 52, but Dr. Hunt expects more next semester.

Two new girls moved into the women's dorm this past week, making 18 the number of girls living in the dorm. Kathy Wood, a music major from Colorado City; and Billie Ewel, also of Colorado City, are the two new arrivals. Like to say welcome to both of them. Kathy's sister, Jeannie, made history. She became the first guest to stay in the dorm.

Cast for the college play, "Manana Is Another Day," has been announced after readings were held Monday and Wednesday nights. The cast includes Chuck Worley, Robert Allen, Shirley Cross, Nancy Branch, Lida Flvash, Kay Loveland, Sherry Coats, Jeanne Cauble, Frankie Bledsoe, Jerry Crumpton, Jan Talley, Jim Williams, Terry Stanley and Jim Hicks. About 40 turned out for the readings.

Organization of the College Players, the drama group, will be held Monday night before the first rehearsal. Chuck Worley is president.

The Women's Recreational Assn. will hold its organizational meeting Wednesday morning during activity period in the gym. All interested try to attend this brief meeting.

Three new members have been added to the El Nido staff: Sherry Coats, Mary Oliphant and Johnny Harrison.

Friday morning the convocation assembly was held. Mr. Kelley gave the invocation; Dean Johnson introduced 30 members of our faculty. Dr. Hunt brought up four points in his speech that will help make college a great beginning for us. To get the most out of college life Dr. Hunt said to: (1) Budget your time. (2) Attend classes regularly. (3) Get plenty of sleep, and (4) Get in a school social organization and attend school affairs. "This is your school. This is your life. This is your opportunity. Do these four things and this will be one of the greatest years in HCJC history," he stated.

Not much else to report except that who missed the Jerry Lewis Show missed a treat. That's the last of the up-to-the-minute news. See you next week.

Goliad Elects Student Chiefs

By JO ANN MOORE

Well, here we are at the end of another busy week, and here I am sitting in for De Mason. Many of officers and representatives were elected this past week.

The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y met Monday in a regular meeting to plan their programs and socials for the year.

Ninth grade Hi-Y had a hayride Saturday, and really enjoyed themselves. Hi-Y officers elected at the close of school last year to serve this year are: Neil Robinson, president; George Rice, vice president; Jerry Bumgarner, secretary; Blake Talbot, treasurer; Peanut Sanders, sergeant at arms.

The FHA officers elected Thursday were Daria Moore, president; Karen Walker, vice president; Kenny Kay Stevens, secretary; Karen McGibbon, parliamentarian; Nancy Moore, song leader; Brenda Cowper, reporter; and Janet Prior, historian.

Thursday the 7th, 8th and 9th grades had assemblies and elected officers for their student council. Elected for the seventh grade were Sue Grant, president; Mike Barrel, vice president; Larry Leonard, secretary. Eighth grade: Rastor Moore, president; Billy Worley, vice president; Robert Compton, secretary. Ninth grade: Bruce Wells, president; Karen McGibbon, vice president; and De Mason, secretary.

A pep rally was held Thursday morning. John Trego, Jack Eisenhart and Tommy Young gave pep talks encouraging everyone to attend the game. Although our boys played a fine game, we were defeated 34-0.

Joe Don Musgrove Heads 9th Grade At Runnels Jr. Hi

By PAT LOUDAMY

This week at Runnels class officers were elected. Voting was held Tuesday during first period and results were announced Wednesday. Joe Don Musgrove was elected president of the ninth grade. Larry Baly is the vice president and Becky Forshee, secretary.

Eighth grade officers are as follows: Terry Isbell, president; Susan Stevens, vice president; and Cheryl Whittington, secretary.

Officers of the seventh grade are Beverly Womack, president; Mike Sanchez, vice president and Sherry Stevens, secretary. A runoff was held between Sally Parra and Evelyn King for treasurer. Evelyn won.

Seventh grade Student Council representatives elected are Howard Bain, Dan Mayberry, Andrea Askins, Ann Coyle and Gus Hernandez. They will serve on the Council with the eighth and ninth grade members and the three class presidents.

Thursday morning during third period a pep rally was held for our ninth grade football squad. They beat Snyder Thursday night on Snyder's own field, 32 to 14. Congratulations, boys!

The Future Farmers of America are working with seven pigs brought from Oklahoma and Texas. These animals are being raised for the annual stock show. Remember the date — September 20, tomorrow — for the Parent-Teacher Social in the gymnasium. It will start at 7:30 p.m. Parents and teachers will have this opportunity to get acquainted. Mr. Ernest will show slides of his tour of nine European countries taken this summer, and refreshments will be served. We urge all parents to come. Better school relations are established when both parents and teachers show interest in the students and the school.

Benny Edwards Chosen Senior Leader As Political Fever Hits

By TERESA SMITH

Political fever hit the campus this week when the election of class officers was held. The mighty senior class chose Benny Edwards for its leader. For vice president the class selected Marilyn Bigham. Janie Phillips was named secretary, and Carolyn Sewell was selected to fill a vacancy on the Student Council.

Filling the shoes of the junior class officers are Ross Reagan, president; Alf Cobb, veep, and Elena Patterson was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The sophomore officers for the year 1959-60 are Skipper Driver, president, Pat Armstrong, vice president, and Rachael Phelan as secretary. Each class boasts top notch officers.

Here's good news for all those who have been asking about the pep squad. It is again being formed, but this year it will be quite different. Not only are girls allowed to join, but boys may join also. There will be no specified uniforms for the group and no set regulations, but one has to come to the practices which will be twice a week after school at the old football stadium. Members may take some bus trips to out of town games for a very small fee.

There is an epidemic on the campus of BSHS! It is one of the most contagious diseases that has ever struck the student body. What is it? Spirit, of course. Herkimer says that the only cure for this fast-spreading disease is to stay at home on the nights that "Spirit Jugg" and he never misses an activity. For such a little man, he has a big job — instilling an intact pride in the student body. Herkimer made his first appearance around the campus this year, and it looks as if it will be a long time before he leaves.

This year the Spanish classes are being conducted under a new foreign language program in BSHS. Miss Colleen Slaughter, Spanish teacher, is conducting the program in her class which was prepared under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. In the first year Spanish classes, stress is placed on dialogue and pronunciation of the language. During this six to eight week period, the students do not even see the language written as everything is oral. This method trains each student to become better acquainted with the fluency of the language and to train the ear to be more alert to each sound.

This year the Spanish classes chose Mike Zubiate as prexy, Larry Moore as vice president, and Johnny Freeman as secretary-treasurer. "Buena Suerte!"

No, the track team wasn't running laps for the track coach. They were running in the baseball marathon for WAFB. These boys began just out of Stanton and each ran ¼ mile apiece. They were carrying the ball that was used in the game Tuesday along with members from Stanton's and Big Spring's Chambers of Commerce. The boys were Ronnie Bingham, Robert Phelan, Gary Walker, Leroy Smith, and Bill Engle.

Thursday afternoon after school the Library Club met for the first time. Elena Patterson was chosen president. One of the activities the club discussed was a district meeting to be held in San Angelo on Oct. 24 by the Teen-Age Library Assistants. People from three different colleges are going to conduct the meetings. Mrs. Miller Harris, high school librarian, is the sponsor of the group.

The home of Janie Phillips was the meeting place for the Bible Club meeting Thursday night. It was the first meeting the club had had this year, and several members took part in the devotional. Slides were shown of the Holy Lands, and watermelons were a treat for the group.

On Saturday Carolyn Sewell, Mary Locke Crossland, Carolyn Thompson, and Buddy Newell spent a busy day at HCJC. Colopress Printing Company was conducting a yearbook workshop for the first time in this area. It is to be an annual thing.

Pep rallies, screams, and the victory sign were a part of the big send-off the boys were given as they left for Snyder to play the Tigers. Following not too far behind was the car caravan made up of students journeying to the game Friday night. The boys played a fine game which merited the intention of drinking moderately. Remember to drive carefully and go to church.

WCTU Speakers Seek Prohibition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A parade of speakers before the 8th annual convention here of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has urged the return of prohibition in one form or another.

An Evanston, Ill., woman, Mrs. H. F. Powell, said in a prepared address today there is increasing need for restrictions on sale of alcoholic beverages. She said about two persons were arrested for drunkenness every minute in the United States.

Mrs. Powell, the WCTU's national treasurer, called for alcohol education, a ban on advertising of alcoholic beverages, and greater restrictions on sales.

Mrs. Fred J. Toome said Friday night schools should teach that alcohol, like opium and morphine, is a narcotic. She added: "Public schools are being pressured increasingly by distillers' organizations to use alcohol education texts promoting moderation drinking but omitting to say that every alcoholic started with the intention of drinking moderately."

Two Airmen Graduated From Lackland AB School

Airmen Jesse M. Bailey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Bailey of 2110 Main St. and Danny R. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Smith, Stanton, have completed Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB. Bailey has been selected to attend the technical training course for radio and radar maintenance at Keesler AFB. Miss Smith will attend the technical school for supply specialists at Amarillo AFB.

Airman Bailey graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and Smith from Stanton High School. Basic airmen at Lackland are selected for specialized training at technical schools on the basis of their interests and aptitudes. They are reassigned to the school after four weeks of basic, and are given additional military basic training along with the technical subjects.

Carole Faces Death Penalty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The prosecution will ask the death penalty for Carole Tregoff because of new evidence in the slaying of her lover's wife.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Wichello said the evidence indicates the 22-year-old divorcee plotted with Dr. Bernard Finch to have his wife killed. Barbara Finch, 33, was shot to death outside her West Covina home July 18. Wichello maintains that Dr. Finch, 41, shot his wife after the attempt to hire a killer failed. The prosecutor told newsmen that a Minneapolis convict, Jack Cody was contacted.

Dr. Finch and Miss Tregoff tried to hire him in Las Vegas, Nev., to kill Mrs. Finch. He told Dr. Finch that he had completed the job, and Miss Tregoff gave him $1,180 with a dinner at 7 p.m.

LSU Tips Frogs By 10 To 0 Tab

By ED TUNSTALL. BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Quarterback Warren Rabb's bulls-eye passing and sophomore Wendell Harris' talented toe took up the slack for Louisiana State's stymied running game and the Tigers whipped Texas Christian 10-0 Saturday night.

drive for the Tiger touchdown. Rabb faked back, almost lost his footing and connected with Robinson on the dead run at the TCU 12. The Horned Frog defenders were no match for the speedy LSU halfback.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

It would appear, judging them off their performance against Big Spring Friday night, that no team is going to beat the Snyder Tigers in the District 3-AAA football race this fall. The Steers, despite that one-sided score, played a terrific game and with a rambling back like Wayne Fields might have won the decision but Snyder's speed simply was too much for the locals.

Some of the Tigers were actually covering two positions on defense against Big Spring and making no mistakes. This could be John Conley's best Snyder team since the Jack Spikes-Joe Baxter era and possibly is on a par with that team.

Roby Lions Down Loraine, 28-12

ROBY (SC) — Roby of District 6-A vaulted past Loraine, 28-12, in a football game here Friday night. Billy Simmons ran for two touchdowns and passed for another for the winning Lions.

Flowers Is Going Good For Arlington

Roger Flowers, a fine defense player for Big Spring last year, impressed the Arlington State College football coaching staff with his desire upon his arrival there and apparently is going to play a lot of football with the Rebels during the next four seasons.

K. Talkington Leads Raiders

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF. LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Tall Ken Talkington provided a Frank Merriwell finish as he passed and kicked Texas Tech to a 15-14 victory over Oregon State Saturday night.

As a crowd of 20,000 screamed like bananas, Talkington rammed across from the Oregon State 1-yard line with only 43 seconds to go, then kicked the extra point that kept Texas Tech unbeaten for the season.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Sophomore Ronnie Bull jarred his way to a 74-yard broken field touchdown run and caught a 10-yard scoring pass to give the speedy Baylor Bears a 15-7 football victory over Colorado Saturday.

The Bishop, Tex., halfback was the Baylor star—running, catching passes and playing great pass defense.

Colorado scored first midway in the first period. The touchdown was set up by a Baylor fumble on the Bears' 3. Two plays later quarterback Gale Weidner sneaked over from the 1. Joe Dowler converted.

Jones No-Hits Cardinals, 4-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Unpredictable Sam Jones of the still-hopful San Francisco Giants pitched the second no-hitter of his major league career Saturday night, throttling the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 for his 21st victory in a game halted in the eighth inning by high winds and heavy rains.

OVER KANSAS U.

Had Scores Pair But Orange Wins

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Syracuse's football team unleashed a mighty ground game and surprising passing Saturday to wear down battling Kansas 35-21 despite two touchdowns by brilliant sophomore Johnny Hadl.

and twice surprised Syracuse with quick kicks of 63 and 59 yards to keep the Jayhawkers in a game where Syracuse commanded virtual control of the ball.

Larry Doyle passed to Carroll Ramsey for 58 yards and the first Gail score, after which Raymond Walton took a handoff from Doyle, good for two points.

Doyle then handed off to Ramsey for the extra point.

Pied Pipers Win Over Rotan Club

ROTAN (SC) — Hamlin bombed Rotan, 34-14, here Friday night. Rotan led for a half, 14-12, but the Pied Pipers surged ahead with a touchdown in the third and added two in the fourth.

Syracuse finally broke loose for four touchdowns in the second half after Kansas capitalized on a fumble and Hadl's run to lead 15-12 midway in the third period.

Doyle then handed off to Ramsey for the extra point.

ABILENE AND BRECKENRIDGE WIE IN HEADLINER

By The Associated Press

Abilene will play Breckenridge this week in a game that might establish the top schoolboy football team of Texas. Breckenridge has been looked upon as such since the Class AAA state champions played Wichita Falls, the Class AAAA kings, to a 14-1 tie and got credit for outplaying the Coyotes. Last week Breckenridge was pressed to beat Levelland 7-6 and now it faces Abilene, the team that has been beating the Buckaroos.

The schedule for the week is bulky and includes a big share of conference games as the Class AAAA and AAA teams start going after championships. However, the Abilene-Breckenridge game, a nonconference affair, still is the big one.

Wichita Falls smashed Fort Worth Poly 67-0 last week to head the parade in Class AAAA. Highland Park showed its mettle in beating Tarkenton 20-14. Corpus Christi Ray stayed up with the top-ranked boys, as it took down Baytown 20-6.

Nederland, ranked just back of Breckenridge in Class AAA, kept on rolling with a 29-21 decision over Waco University.

The week's schedule by districts (Games marked * are conference; All games are on Friday unless otherwise marked):

CLASS AAAA

Jayton Flies By Bearkats

JAYTON (SC) — Big Gary Hicks led Jayton to a 32-0 eighth-man football victory over Garden City here Friday night, scoring 24 points.

Harrel Murrell counted a touchdown and a conversion for the home club.

The Bearkats held the Jayton gang scoreless in the first quarter but the home team counted in each period thereafter and wound up with a 16-point fourth quarter. Garden City made only one penetration. Jayton broke the game wide open by moving into a spread formation.

Hicks' longest touchdown run was for 35 yards.

Linebackers Dennis Calverley and Billy Fisher stood out on defense for Albert Lang's team. The Kats play Snyder in Garden City next Friday night.

Coleman Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gordon Coleman, 25-year-old first baseman for the Mobile, Ala. Bears, today was voted the 1959 Achievement Award by the National Assn. of Baseball Writers.

Steer-Terp Game On Local Video

All the action from the Texas-Maryland game Saturday will be shown on The Humble Company's videotaped Game of the Week today.

Time for the show is 4:30 p.m. (CST) on KEDY-TV Big Spring. Channel 4. Kern Tips will narrate the program.

Coahomans Oppose Stanton Thursday

COAHOMA (SC)—The Coahoma Junior High School football team will seek its third victory of the season in a game here Thursday evening with Stanton.

The Purple have defeated Stanton, 12-6, and Lorraine, 32-6, in that order.

The Coahomans are coached by Bill Easterling and Rob Etheredge.

Familiar Face

When senior Maurice Duke (above) moved from end to left guard in the University of Texas football ranks at Austin his old role was taken over by junior Larry Cooper of Midland, who was a quarterback as a sophomore. (AP Wirephoto.)

Fritz Madel Wins English Marathon

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—German-born South African Fritz Madel, who never did any competitive running until two years ago, triumphed over blistered feet to win the London-to-Brighton Marathon today. Blistered forced Madel, a 25-year-old Durban composer, to stop and change his shoes a little past halfway mark in the 53-mile, 129-yard grind. He went on to win in 5 hours, 43 minutes, 58 seconds.

Cus Will Return

PONCE, Puerto Rico (AP)—Fight Manager Gus D'Amato said Saturday he would be on hand next week to testify at a hearing of the New York State Athletic Commission probing the promotion of the Floyd Patterson-Ingram Johansson title fight last June. D'Amato, who manages Patterson, failed to show up at a recent hearing of the commission and his license was suspended.

Don White Leads The Irish Past North Carolina, 25-8

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Don White, a quarterback who moved up from the reserves, led Notre Dame to a 25-8 victory over North Carolina Saturday.

It was the first game for the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame under their new coach, Joe Kuharich. He squared showed the 6,746 spectators a varied, hard-charging offense. The key man in the attack was White, a 21-year-old senior from Haverhill, Mass., who filled in a quarterback for the injured star George Ise. White performed his stand-in role with skill and poise.

White in the first quarter Notre Dame recovered a fumble on the North Carolina 24 and whizzed to its first touchdown in four plays. The big gainer was a 19-yard pass from White to Bob Scarpitto.

Scarpitto scored on the next play on a 2 yard run.

A short punt gave the Irish the ball on the Tar Heel 29 in the second period. On the fourth play in the series Jim Crotty loped around his left end for 19 yards and a TD.

Another short punt put Notre Dame in gear on the North Carolina 30 later in the same period. Five plays, including a 15-yard pass from White to George Selek, put the ball on the 3 and Crotty took it over on a plunge.

Notre Dame, which used the T formation with variations in its first half offensive touchdown drives, turned the scoring over to an alert defense in the last half. Monty Stickers, a tall end, blocked Henry Clement's punt behind the goal line and the ball bounded out of the end zone for a safety.

DEAR ABBY

TELL THE TRUTH

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last week I wrote a long letter to my girlfriend and asked my mother to mail it for me. I know my mother read it because she's been asking me about a lot of things I mentioned in the letter. The things I wrote in the letter were not true. I know it was wrong to make up things, but my girlfriend writes about the places she goes and the good times she is having and I wanted her to think I was doing those things, too. Now I'm afraid my mother will never believe a word I say. How can I heal my guilty conscience and get my mother to trust me again? I am 15.

DEAR TROUBLED: Everyone makes mistakes. This is a part of learning and growing up. Tell your mother you realize how wrong you were in lying to your girlfriend, and that from now on you will stick to the truth. Your mother will have even greater confidence in you. For it takes a truly good and honest person to confess a wrong and resolve to do better.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is so stubborn he walks away when you try to tell him something for his own good? He had a bad back but he won't go to a doctor. He takes his pillow and sleeps on the floor. He claims he doesn't get a wink of sleep unless he is on the floor. I am through fighting with him. I have even taken my pillow and tried to sleep on the floor with him, but he sends me back to bed. Don't you think he should see a doctor? He is only 31 and our marriage is nothing but a LONESOME WIFE. DEAR LONESOME: Of course he should see a doctor! Possibly all that stands between you and a good marriage is a firmer mattress, a bed board or a few treatments. Don't get off your husband's back until he has tried to find out what's wrong with it!

DEAR ABBY: My sister and I were invited to a dinner party. My sister is one of those people who always has to have a cigarette in her hand, so she burned a hole in the hostess' tablecloth. She apologized all over the place. The hostess took it good-naturedly, saying, "It was a very old cloth."

I took it to mean it was a valuable old cloth, and my sister said the hostess meant it was just a worn-out old cloth. On the way home my sister and I had some words about it. I said she should have offered to replace it. She said it wasn't necessary. Who was right?

DEAR SISTER: You need to replace the cloth. A little note of apology or flowers the following morning would have been a nice gesture, also.

CONFIDENTIAL TO COLEEN: Too much Irish coffee can be grounds for divorce. Try it with sugar and cream.

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

British Bobbies Need No Guns To Enforce Law

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Night and day British bobbies saunter forth armed only with a firm stick, a whistle and the firm conviction that they have the respect and cooperation of the public they police.

Barehanded they tackle burglars, safecrackers, razor-wielding Teddy boys, car thieves and murderers.

Sometimes they lose their lives doing it. Yet they don't carry pistols—and they don't want to. They throw up roadblocks with their uniformed bodies. Instead of shooting at car tires to halt desperate men, they toot their shrill whistles and call out in the name of the law.

Strangely—at least to many foreigners—it generally works. The average Briton is a law-abiding citizen. His temper has a high boiling point and the showing of emotion especially in public, is looked down upon.

His tight little island has tough laws and tough judges and, being an island, it's difficult to get away from.

Criminals are not glamorized. The overwhelming majority of our men," explained the Scotland Yard spokesman, "definitely do not want to be armed."

Why not? A detective has only recently been shot dead by a suspected blackmailer.

True, and while his death was tragic and deplorable there has been no demand by the men for weapons.

Britain's policemen believe that if criminals knew the cops were armed with revolvers, more thugs would carry guns and more shootings and killings would follow.

All Aboard Liner Killed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A ground party which clawed its way up an unnamed peak in the wild Aleutian Islands Friday reported that all 16 persons aboard had been killed when an airliner smashed into the mountain Thursday night.

Only the tail section of the Reeve Aleutian Airways DC 4 remained intact after the four-engine craft exploded into flames on impact at the 2,000-foot level of the mountain, on Great Sitkin Island, a volcanic island 24 miles northeast of Adak.

Eiffel Trifle

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Mayor W. Fred Duckworth says French pickpockets are pretty good at their trade. One removed his wallet containing $1,000 in travelers checks while the mayor was visiting the Eiffel tower in Paris. What's more C. A. Harrell, city manager of Cincinnati and former city manager here, lost a key case to the same set of nimble fingers.

3 Persons Killed In Headon Crash

SEMINOLE (AP)—Three persons died and six were injured Friday night in the headon collision of two autos 15 miles northwest of here.

Killed were Wayne Smith, 24, and his wife, Shirley, 22, of Denver City and Joyce Robinson, 22, of Hobbs, N. M.

Billy Robinson, 28, husband of the dead woman, two Robinson children and three Smith children are in Gaines County Hospital here.

Dennis O'Keefe Is A Man In A Bind

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—He's been in the acting business since his teens, but for the first time in his life Dennis O'Keefe is trying to talk up an audience.

O'Keefe is star and part owner of a pleasant little situation comedy series called, for some reason, "The Dennis O'Keefe Show." The second installment is coming up next Tuesday evening on CBS.

But the movie and TV actor is pretty worried. Not about the show, not the critics. Not even about a sponsor; he's got one.

What O'Keefe's stewing about is getting the great American television audience to watch his program.

The problem is this "The Dennis O'Keefe Show" on the network at 8 p.m. is preceded by shows of local origin on the various CBS stations through the country. But at both rival NBC and ABC, network time starts at 7:30 p.m. and on Tuesday nights each competitor starts with an hour-long Western. NBC has "Laramie" and ABC alternates "Bronco" and "Sugarfoot."

This means that when O'Keefe's show starts, most of the big television audience is halfway through a shoot-'em-up. Presumably anybody even a body bored with the cow-country dramas, would be reluctant to dial out at a point where the villain still has the girl and the hero is lying unconscious on the floor of the shack.

"I know the audience will like our show if they see it a few times and get to know the characters," says the actor worriedly. "That's something you have to remember about shows like this—you don't get the audience instantly as you can with one of the hang-hang action shows. And I know there are an awful lot of people who are sick of their constant diet of private eyes and Westerns."

O'Keefe decided he would try to overcome the problem by hitting the road, visiting major TV cities and talking about his show.

I figure the only way to do it is to get the word-of-mouth started," he says.

But in the process, he did so much talking, took on so many newspaper, radio and television interviews on behalf of the show that his own vocal chords collapsed.

"So—if it works, great," he says with a philosophical shrug. "If it doesn't, fortunately, it's not a matter of life and death. This is just another facet of show business."

Dennis O'Keefe may think his show's poked in television's darkest corner, but some other shows—new ones and old ones—also face some very rugged battles for survival.

CBS, for instance, has a little comedy called "Dennis the Menace"—unhappily competing directly with ABC's Sunday night giant, "Maverick" and the second half of NBC's "Riverboat"—NBC's new "Love and Marriage"—a situation comedy, too—is on Monday nights against the last half of ABC's "Chevyenne" and all of CBS' "The Texan," both successful older shows with big audiences.

Cliff Arquette's new ABC "Charley Weaver's Hobby Lobby" on Wednesday nights had better be funny. Its competition is the last half, respectively, of NBC's "Wagon Train" and CBS' revised, hour-long "Line Up."

Perhaps ABC's "John Gunther's High Road," on Saturday night is in an even worse spot than "The Dennis O'Keefe Show." Poor John comes at the same time as CBS' "Perry Mason" and NBC's "Bonanza."

It's beginning to look as if the roughest fighting in television is not on the screen at all, but in the networks' programming departments.

Shadow Fades From Swim Pools

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—The threat of shadow over swimming pools of Beverly Hills has faded.

A City Council order will keep the sun shining on swimmers.

Backyard pool owners protested that a 22-story apartment building would cut off the source of their sunburns.

They wanted the building set back 300 feet from the property line.

The council, after checking how the shadow would fall Thursday ordered a 122-foot setback and gave the go ahead for a $60-million-dollar development on 100 acres purchased from 20th Century-Fox Studio.

NOT AS EASY AS IT APPEARS says Steve Corcoran, in picture at left, as he places another section of acoustical tile on the ceiling of the living room in their home on Hilltop Road. He and Mrs. Corcoran began about two years ago on the project of house-building, with the work just as the two had time to spare from their regular occupations. Corcoran is a machinist for the Texas and Pacific Railroad, going to work about 2:30 p.m. each day. This leaves the morning hours free for the do-it-yourself activity, which has resulted in a spacious, attractive home, which they hope to finish in about 35 or 40 days.

BETWEEN MEAL-PREPARATION AND ACTING AS ASSISTANT BUILDER, Mrs. Steve Corcoran sands the bar which the couple designed for their home-in-the-making. The pass-through is shown from the kitchen side, where high stools will be placed for use at breakfast. Walls of knotty pine are continued into the living room, where the "master-builder" sits and sips a cup of coffee as he supervises the work. Knotty pine also makes the cabinets in the attractive kitchen.

INTERIOR DÉCORATOR AS WELL AS BUILDER, Mrs. Steve Corcoran plans the draperies for one of the three bedrooms in the home which she is helping her husband build—just in spare time. Walls in the bedrooms are soft shades of aqua or blush pink or royal beige, and Mrs. Corcoran has planned harmonizing accessories and furnishings to complete the color scheme of each of the rooms.

Carpenters At Work

COFFEE BREAK FOR FOUR is enjoyed at the Steve Corcoran home, in picture at left, during the work hours when the two are completing the project started about two years ago. Joining them are two "members of the family"; Duchess, the boxer-bulldog, can open the front door; in fact, she has her own private door-pull, placed low enough and at just the right angle that she can manipulate it with her paw. And then there's Duke, the sleek little dachshund, who gets his way by sitting so straight that he appears swayback. Acting as a strong prop, his tail also wags the entire time he is waiting for his reward—in this case a bite of delicious cake.

EVERYTHING SHOULD FIT JUST SO to make a well-built, attractive home, such as the one being constructed at the Steve Corcoran place on Hilltop Road. All the fitting, cutting, nailing and finishing have been done by Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran for the home, which will be finished with gray asbestos shingles over the building paper. The trim will be a lower border and windows outlined in deep pink. Mrs. Corcoran remarked that her husband had always been interested in carpenter work, although he had never had any training along that line. Result of his interest and effort—a charming three-bedroom home—constructed entirely by the couple.

Fashion has a hard time keeping its pretty head high in the face of our autumn heat but some women are achieving an attractive offering in the pretty dark cottons with the new super sleeve treatment. The dresses couldn't be worn under a coat even if the weather turned cool.

At the fall luncheon meeting of the Hyperion Clubs Friday, petite MRS. JIMMY MOREHEAD whose club, the 1955 Hyperion, won the centerpiece for having the largest number attending, wore a brown cotton with a plaid of green and red. Her bottle green derby made a jaunty topping. MRS. EVERETT WHATLEY'S green and black checked dress was made more attractive by the sleeve treatment as was the black and white frock worn by MRS. DAVE DORCHES-TER. The sleeves were very full from the shoulder and were caught just below the elbow with a buttoned band. MRS. CHARLES FRASER'S dress was a Frenchy combination of turquoise and blue. The low neckline featured a pleated collar.

MRS. KIMBALL GUTHRIE wore a gray derby type hat, that was a nice combination with her blue silk suit, and gray slippers. A pretty, young guest of Mrs. Jack Irons was KAY KELLNER of Crane, who expects to go to school here this year. MRS. ROSCOE COWPER said the family trip to Europe this summer was the most exciting thing that has happened in their family but they didn't get as many pictures as they wanted. None of Rome Seems Sally was the only one that could operate the camera and the girl, the camera and the scenery couldn't all get together at the same time.

MRS. OMAR PITMAN is under treatment at General Hospital, 227 Private Building, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for treatment of a malignancy discovered as a result of surgery. The Pitmans, long time residents of Big Spring and former operators of a jewelry store bearing their name, moved recently to Pennsylvania to be near their son, the Rev. Omar Pitman Jr., rector of St. James Episcopal Church in Pittston, Pa. Omar Sr. has accepted a position of sales representative for a large house in the New England area.

DR. AND MRS. LEE ROGERS have returned from New York where he attended the American Dental Congress as a delegate from Texas. They were in New York the same day that DAN KRAUSSE returned from Europe, but of course neither knew the other was there. Speaking of near misses, KRAUSSE and COL. CHARLES PIERCE, who had gone to England to attend the famous air show there, missed connections by a hair several times in Paris.

MR. AND MRS. DARRELL WEBB, former Big Spring residents, are the parents of another son—their third. The young man has been named Terry Lee Darrell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Webb who moved to Eastland last December, graduated from the University of Texas College of Pharmacy last June and is now associated with the Skillern Drug Stores in Fort Worth. Mrs. Webb is the former Emma Ruth Stripling. The couple's other sons are Darrell David, 7, and Mike who is 2½ years of age.

MRS. PAUL BISHOP spent the weekend in Midland where she visited the Elliott Yell family and attended the Jerry Lewis show, and in Odessa where she was the guest of her brother and his family, the Jim Longs.

MR. AND MRS. JACK F. JOHNSON and Pat are expected to return today from Galveston where they took their other daughter, Mrs. Jackie Davis, and a classmate, Helen Begay. Mrs. Davis and Miss Begay will attend classes in psychiatric nursing at John Sealy Hospital. Miss Begay, who came here from Albuquerque, N. Mex., is a Navajo Indian from Utah. She has been in nurses training with Mrs. Davis at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

MRS. ROSS BOYKIN is in Carrollton to get her mother, Mrs. R. C. Hale, who will return here with her for a visit.

MR. AND MRS. J. C. PICKLE and MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE were in Lubbock Saturday to attend the Oregon State-Tech game. Others there for the fray were BILL BRADFORD, ROSS REAGAN and GARY PICKLE.

MR. AND MRS. J. J. HARTER and baby spent the night with his aunt, MRS. W. H. POWER of 508 Nolan St. Harter has just returned to the States after serving as vice counsel in Santiago, Chile.

Harter and his wife, whom he met while serving with the State Department in the Union of South Africa, are on their way to Washington, D. C. where he will take the position as second Secretary of State.

Old timers might remember Harter's mother, the former GRACE SCHARMAN, now MRS. R. E. HARTER of Alamo, Calif.

Corcoran Home Result Of Work Done In Couple's Spare Time

Bride

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Klaus, 1610 West Second, announce the marriage of their daughter, Peggy Ann, to Wayne Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Harrison, 296 Carey. The couple was married Sept. 19 in Las Vegas, Nev. They will make their home in San Diego, Calif., where he is stationed in the Navy.

Collinses Guests

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins and Mrs. E. L. Haag, all of Abilene, have been guests of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Collins, 906 Scurry.

By ANNE LEFEVER
"Have you ever done any carpenter work with your husband?" countered Mrs. Steve Corcoran, when I asked what her duties were in the project of their house-building.

"Yes, I have — and your work must be bringing the hammer or nails, holding a plank to be sawed, finding any of a myriad of lost tools and otherwise being a flunk-y," came the answer.

That's what is taking place out on Hilltop Road, where Mr. and Mrs. Steve Corcoran are combining their efforts to build a home. The two started with the foundation of the house, which they laid, complete with concrete blocks set in place, and have put up the walls, set in windows and installed plumbing fixtures.

Two other "members of the family" are Duchess, a sturdy mixture of boxer and bulldog, and Duke, a persistent dachshund. The former saves trouble for the couple by opening the front door at her whim; she has a door-pull of her very own, placed so low that she can hook her paw over it with little effort. Duke gets his way — and many bites of delicacies — by sitting up cunningly and looking at his "victim" so straight that he can be refused nothing.

Walk-in closets in each of the three bedrooms will provide space for the couple and their two children, June, who is employed in the office of the county clerk, and James, who works in Fort Worth. Knotty pine paneling makes one attractive wall of the spacious living room, with the opposite wall formed of groups of windows, combined into a picture window effect. Pale mauve is the dominant tone of the painted sections of this room.

Designed by the couple is a pass-through from the living room to the kitchen, where the pine paneling is continued, with cabinetry enough to please almost any homemaker. When the home is completed, the opening will serve as a breakfast bar, with high stools, which have been purchased, and as a convenience when meals are being prepared with guests present.

Floors over the entire house are of hardwood, all of it laid by the two energetic Corcorans. When the construction is completed, the finish will be renewed, with one of Mrs. Corcoran's tasks — sanding — to be redone.

Acoustical tile is being installed for the ceilings, and the builder is quick to admit that the work looks much easier than it is.

Outside, the home will be finished in gray asbestos shingles, with a trim and border of deep pink, over black building paper. The gray concrete blocks were set on one of the coldest days of the year, Mrs. Corcoran remembered, and as the helping hand, she came down with a cold because of the experience.

Most of the hard work is behind them, now, and the two say "Never again" to building a home, but they are quite pleased — as well they should be — over the results.

The work has continued for about two years, just in the spare time that Corcoran can spare from his duties as machinist for the Texas and Pacific Railroad. They hope to have the home finished in about 35 or 40 days from now.

Mrs. Mary Bridges and Mike of Big Spring visited in Stanton in the G. A. Bridges home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hall visited in Lubbock Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reed and daughter of Big Spring recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edwards.

Texana By The Book Load

It can be had in the James Day household. Day, a government and history teacher at HCJC, is shown with a few books from his Texas history collection. Joey, 3½, Mrs. Day, and Jimmy, 5, look on.

Professor's Family Looks For Texas History Books

Big Spring gained a new and charming family when Mr. and Mrs. James Day moved here a few weeks ago with their two sons, Jimmy, 5, and Joey, 3½.

Day, who has accepted a position at Howard County Junior College, has a background that includes BA and MA degrees from the University of Texas. He is now working on his Ph.D. and lacks only 12 hours completing his course of studies in history and government.

At HCJC, Day teaches three classes of American government, one class of Texas government, and one class of American history. This is his first teaching experience, and he says "There's a lot more work to it than I thought there would be." He is the only government teacher at the junior college.

Mrs. Day attended Howard Payne College in Brownwood for two years, then entered Brownwood's Memorial Hospital to become a registered X-Ray technician. She later worked in Austin at Seton Hospital and for Dr. G. G. Zedler, radiologist.

Before the family moved to Big Spring, Day was employed in Austin by the State Library where he was assistant legislative reference director. It was his job to help the legislators find information on the various bills that were then going through the state Legislature. "This experience should be of great value to my teaching of state government," Day says.

One of the most fascinating things about the Day home at 1908 Sycamore are the books that practically fill the dining room. Now they are packed in boxes, for the collection takes about 50 feet of shelf space, and not many homes come equipped for book collectors.

Texas history is the theme for Day's collection, and he has several rare books in this field. "I used to be the auctioneer for the Texas State Historical Association's year-book auction that is held in Austin. I was able to locate the good books before the sale, then I knew which ones to bid on myself," Day said.

The collection was started after Day's graduation from high school. Many of the books have been given to him, while he has gotten others through various historical journals and by searching second-hand stores.

Jacob de Cordova was the subject of Day's master's degree thesis. De Cordova, an early Texas land speculator, who is best known as the founder of Waco, provided Day with an article published in the yearbook of the West Texas Historical Association.

Day assisted Dorman H. Winfrey as he wrote his book "Texas Indian Papers, 1825-1843." Published this year, it will be followed by two others on the same subject. Day also helped Winfrey with the second of the series.

The Day family attends the Baptist Church.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just a few simple facts. 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin — less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied.

These are the reports in simple words: Skin lines (or wrinkles) quickly dimmed or disappeared from slight as creases and hollows filled out. Blisters and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck. Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-climate" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes—their chins raised with proud confidence—the rest for living return—because—I presume—to look younger is to feel younger.

Now, in select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: The strength of the hormone preparations must appear on the label. The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 350 units.

The basis should be as rich as possible in lanolin and vegetable oils to permit fast penetration and deep absorption and, when "rubbed in" your skin should feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 28-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics. HORMONEX is so effective in revitalizing aging skin that over 500 leading department stores and thousands of drug and cosmetic outlets recommend it to their customers.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results in 15 days or your money back. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain at $3.50. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin—with wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get a 100-day supply now. Use HORMONEX Beauty Serum for 5 days—then look for amazing results.

A single drop is so potent

A 100-day supply costs only $3.50 plus tax

Now you can concentrate your hormone treatment on spots that need it most because HORMONEX Beauty Serum is so powerful a drop of it gives skin over three times as many hormone units as a dab of cream. Wonderful about the eyes and mouth, on the throat.

The most potent hormone we know of for beauty culture—31,000 I.U. per ounce—equal to three and one-half ounce jars of standard hormone cream. One bottle lasts about 100 days. Just 7 drops daily gives you the maximum at a price of 3¢.

You may obtain Hormonex Beauty Serum at: Hemphill-Wells

Careful Planning Can Improve Box Lunches

That school lunchbox can hold daily surprises, or it can be a deadly bore. Smart mothers have learned that small fry like variety in the lunchbox menu, and plan daily treats. If the same kind of sandwich and dessert is repeated day after day, any child soon loses interest and the lunch often comes back unopened. The imaginative mother lays in a variety of sandwich fillings in small amounts. She also varies the breads. Sometimes she makes up a supply of sandwiches and freezes them, for future use. She also varies the drink in the vacuum bottle—chocolate milk one day, hot soup another, fruit juice the next day, a milk shake, lemonade or hot chocolate as alternate choices. One week's lunchbox menu could be as follows: Monday: Peanut butter and bacon sandwich on whole wheat bread, carrot sticks, apple, chocolate milk. Tuesday: Egg salad sandwich on soft roll, whole fresh tomato, pickle chips, oatmeal cookies, milk shake. Wednesday: Cream cheese and jelly sandwich on raisin wheat bread. Thursday: Ham and Swiss cheese sandwich on rye bread, dill pickle, tangerine, hot chocolate. Friday: Tuna salad sandwich on white bread, celery stuffed with cream cheese, candied apple, lemonade. For extra surprises, it's fun sometimes to tuck in a few pieces of chocolate, a peppermint stick or a frosted cupcake. A plastic container of applesauce mixed with colored jelly beans can be a dessert treat once in a while. It's wise to package the lunchbox foods attractively, using waxed paper sandwich bags, cellophane or foil wrap, adding gaily decorated paper napkins. It's also important to keep the lunchbox and vacuum bottle clean and fresh. Just rinsing isn't enough.

Hyperion Council Hears Tips For Pleasant Travel

A treasure chest of vacation aids and accessories was displayed for the Hyperion Council Friday at Cosden Country Club, when members and their guests gathered for luncheon. Carol Lane, women's travel director for Shell Oil Company, pulled from a tote bag to be used in car travel such gadgets as a flashlight which can be transformed into a screwdriver with the light directed on the work spot; binoculars, a combination comb and brush in a flat, compact case. She also showed the group a kit for making small repairs; a set of non-spillable containers of suntan lotion, shampoo, detergent and other liquids in sizes sufficient for two weeks. A scale with tape measure attached is for getting the exact size of a fish, Miss Lane told her listeners. Papers treated with face cleansers, insect repellent and deodorant were shown as tote-bag inclusions. Following the theme of keys for family fun in a car, Miss Lane had included games for the children, plus a small book made of felt containing items which were snapped onto the pages and could be removed easily by little fingers. She especially recommended the book for children from two to five years of age. Get the habit of mixing and matching your costume for traveling with a light suitcase, Miss Lane said. She told of touring Europe with one bag, and she demonstrated how articles may be packed to take a minimum of space. Layers for dividing clothing are most convenient, the speaker remarked, as they enable the traveler to lift several articles at once to find what is required at the time. Mrs. Jack Irons introduced Miss Lane. Mrs. G. H. Wood presided for the meeting and presented the presidents of the various units of the council of which she is president. Head of the 1955 Hyperion Club is Mrs. Anthony Hunt; 1956, Mrs. E. V. Spence; 1957, Mrs. Elbert H. Bouillon Jr.; 1958, Mrs. Irons; 1959, Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, and 1955, Mrs. Jimmie Morehead. Clusters of pyracantha formed runners on the tables, with an arrangement of tiny cattails, bronze and yellow mums on the speakers table. The floral centerpiece was presented to Mrs. Morehead as leader of the club with the largest number of members present. During the business meeting, the council voted to dispense with the spring luncheon. Clubs are to vote on the matter of discontinuing the fall affair.

WILD HAIR Square Hairdo Gives Feeling Of Glamour

By VIVIAN BROWN
 AP News Features Beauty Editor

Women want wild hairdos, says hairdresser Nancy Mace of New York, "and that's one reason I had to create the new square-top look."

Wild hairdos obviously make a woman feel more glamorous, in the sexy fashion of Italian girls with whom the hairdo originated, she says. But now they can be wild-coiffed in a ladylike sort of way, says Nancy.

"The idea behind the square look is tame wildness. The hairdo is flat at the ears, combed high in the manner of the old pompadour, but cut on simple lines into a wave pulling down a lock of hair from this controlled hair if a more care-free hairstyle is desired."

One important impression given by the square look is height, Miss Mace explains, and this helps slenderize and ovalize the face. The hair can show a slight indentation of part and fall away high from either side of it. Or the hair can fall over the forehead in bangs that originate well back on the head with a pompadour-type sweep rising behind it. This short hair is blunt-cut and loosely waved without curl.

This fall it's going to be the hair line that counts, says Nancy Mace, whose Les Girls salon caters to the cream of the working girl set. Nancy can tell which way the wind is blowing fashionwise and when the breeze will change its course just by talking to her customers.

"A hairdresser doesn't really set the styles. She gives the customers what they want but she puts their coiffure desires in a hair pattern that flatters their features and is becoming to the current dress modes of the moment."

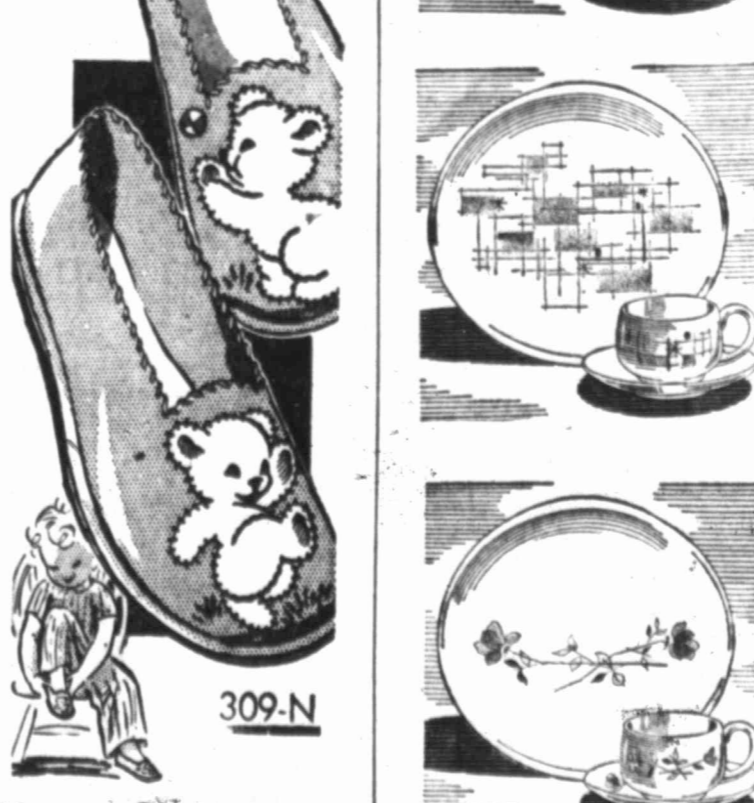

Sew Holiday Gifts

Now's the time to start sewing gifts and clothes for your friends if you want to sit back and enjoy the Christmas holidays. Jackets and capes are wonderful additions for anyone's wardrobe. Make them from cotton tweed, velvet, or corduroy and add a touch of real or fake fur so they'll be pretty enough to wear with party dresses.

Choose a rose-printed quilted cotton for a jumper, or trim a white felt skirt with a cotton satin poinsettia.

Saves Burning

When you are preparing a puffy omelet that is going to have to go into the oven to have its top dried, be sure to use a skillet with a heat-resistant handle.

Poach Eggs To Perfection Easily

Here's how to poach four eggs perfectly!
POACHED EGGS ON TOAST
 4 eggs
 Butter
 4 slices toast

Butter well the bottom of a 10-inch deep skillet that has a dome-type cover. Butter the insides of 4-poached-egg rings. Place the rings in the skillet; pour in boiling water to the heights of the rings. Bring water to a boil rapidly; lower heat so water simmers.

Break an egg into a demi-tasse cup or some other container that is short and narrow; holding cup close to ring, drop egg into it; quickly drop remaining three eggs into the other three rings the same way.

Cover skillet; allow to stand over very low heat (making sure water does not bubble above surface) for 3 to 4 minutes or until whites are set and yolks are as firm as desired.

Remove rings with tongs; re-

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Diana Lynn's Views On Diet, Complexion

Let Body Decide

Diana Lynn feels that in order to keep a good figure she has to listen to her body—eat when she's hungry and not because it's mealtime.

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — I knew Diana Lynn when she was a teen-ager and was under contract at Paramount. She was a gifted pianist and practiced four or five hours a day, but because a musical career was so demanding, she left it for films.

Yesterday I had tea with Diana in her beautiful new home and met her young son, who clearly resembles his father, Mortimer Hall. Diana was a poised hostess, reflecting her exquisite taste in books, paintings and antique furniture. The filmy print she was wearing showed she had regained her figure after the baby was born. I asked her to tell me how she had accomplished this.

"There's no trick to it if you do what the doctor says," Diana explained. "All those exercises are given for a reason. I could wear my old clothes almost immediately, but I worked at getting firm. I went to dancing classes, had massages twice a week and jumped rope every day."

"We have a boost, and that gives me a work-out. But I've discovered that it is dangerous to get too much sun. So when I'm sailing, I try to keep the sun off my face as much as possible. I think stretching out face up to see how much tan you can get only adds years to your skin."

"Your skin is certainly lovely," I remarked.
"I use a moisture cream. It disappears as fast as I put it on, so I never have a feeling of cream being on my face," Diana revealed.

I noticed that Diana wasn't eating any of the tea sandwiches or cookies.
"Are you dieting?" I asked.
"No," she said quickly. "I'm not hungry and have always tried to listen to my body. Some days I seem to want more than I need, and on other times I'm satisfied to nibble on a carrot. I don't feel I'm bound to eat three meals every day whether I want to or not."

Diana discussed an interesting test made with babies just old enough to feed themselves.
Placed before the babies were trays of everything needed for a balanced diet. Dieticians measured what was consumed in each meal. Some of the babies ate nothing but cereal all day while others had only fruit. At the end of the week their diets had perfect balance.

"Someone in physical education told me that what was considered fat was often bloat in the tissues. It's called water retention. If all the coffee, soft drinks, juices and liquor were measured every day, you'd find most people have had too much liquid," Diana continued.
"A doctor told me," I added, "that very often people who seemed fat were really bloated from malnutrition — like the swelled stomachs of prisoners in concentration camps during the war."
"I know," Diana agreed, "and it could all be avoided if one would just try to listen to the body. It's eating with the eyes or from habit that gets us into trouble."

"I want some words of wisdom about beauty," I said in parting.
"I think you should discipline yourself about clothes," Diana observed. "Anticipate what you need. Never wait until you have to have something, because shopping under pressure causes you to compromise on something you really don't want. And I think you need a full-length mirror. Don't look at yourself in spots. Try to see yourself as you appear to others from every angle."

Gift Social Is Honor For Phillippses

KNOTT — The Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Phillipps and Wesley were honored with a gift social in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church Thursday night.

Mrs. Robert Cheatham directed the games, while a sing-song was led by Joyce Robinson. Refreshments of homemade ice cream and cookies were served to approximately 35 guests.

Double Life In Fall Suits

What with world-wide travel, and the limitations of airplane luggage, a new system of dressing is being developed by globe-trotting women. They wear a complete wardrobe and use the luggage for accessories and extras.

A case in point is the double-jacket suit, in leather-weight wool. The extra jacket is completely fur-lined and reversible.
A woman could start on a trip wearing the basic suit and the jacket and be trimly attired in a smart, comfortable and lightweight two-piece suit.
Arrived at her destination, with no time to change for a cocktail date, she could remove the basic jacket to reveal a dressy low-necked silk or jersey blouse in matching color, change jewelry, toss the fur jacket around her shoulders and be correctly attired for after-five festivities.

Eager Beaver Club

Mrs. W. R. Patterson was a guest of the Eager Beaver Club when the group met Friday morning in the home of Mrs. L. D. Patterson. Seven members were present to take part in visiting and sewing. Mrs. A. E. Reynolds, 1812 Owens, will be hostess for the next session, Friday at 9:30 a.m.

Duplicate Bridge Games Well-Attended Friday

Playing in a different location Friday afternoon, duplicate bridge players filled 11 tables at the Officers Club at Webb Air Force Base.

Sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association of Big Spring Country Club, the group has formerly gathered at Cosden Country Club Friday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, they will again be at the Cosden location.

SS Department Has Games, Buffet Meal

Record For Hours In Air Hung Up By Webb Airplane

Another First For Webb Personnel

Webb Air Force Base, Tex. Here are the men who helped the T-33 to establish what Webb maintenance men believe to be a record for hours in the air by this type of craft. They are, sitting, left to right: Col. H. Loy Weber, commander of the 3560th M and S Group; Maj. Asa A. Adair, commander of the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance Squadron; Capt. Gleda W. Vaughn, aircraft engineering officer; 1st Lt. Charles M. Jones, aircraft maintenance officer, and W/O Henry D. Brewer, aircraft maintenance superintendent. Standing, left to right: M-Sgt. William Mills, hangar chief; S-Sgt. Manuel Siqueiros, assistant flight chief; A/C Richard Vance, crew chief; M-Sgt. Charles Utley; Line chief: T-Sgt. A. L. Smith, flight chief; and M-Sgt. Theran Davenport, section chief. (Official Air Force Photo)

What Flight Line Maintenance officers at Webb believe to be an Air Force record for hours in the air by a "T-Bird" was set this week when Col. H. Loy Weber, commander of the 3560th M and S Group, and Maj. Asa A. Adair, commander of the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance Squadron, flew a T-33 (51-4530) past the 5,000 hour mark.

The "530" was accepted by the United States Air Force on May 28, 1952 and is a product of the Lockheed Corporation. It was estimated that the "530" has flown more than 2,000,000 miles during the more than seven years it has been in service.

It could have flown to the moon and back five times.

Other statistics indicate that the aircraft, at top speed, could have circled the earth more than 100 times. The amazing thing about this old T-Bird is that it still has the same airframe and wing assembly that she had when she first came to Webb.

Although the record established by the "530" is one that Lockheed can well be proud of, it is the maintenance men at Webb who kept the lady in the air that deserve the real credit. For it must be remembered that the aircraft at Webb are not always flown by qualified pilots whose years of experience can be counted upon to avoid the stress and strain to which the student unconsciously subjects his craft.

To keep aircraft, flown by student pilots, in the air with that margin of safety demanded, is a round the clock job. The record just established by the "530" is just one more tribute to the efficiency of these men.

Col. Weber, in thanking the men for their splendid job said: "It isn't just the '530', I'm talking about, it's every phase of maintenance. Keep up the good work!"

Although scheduled to be replaced by a new and faster trainer early in 1960, the T-Bird still rates high among students, instructors, and maintenance men, alike.

MEN IN SERVICE

Eliz E. Davis, aerographer's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Davis of Big Spring, returned to Mayport, Fla., Sept. 1 following a six-month tour of duty in the Mediterranean aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During the cruise the carrier operated with units of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, visiting Naples, Italy; Toulon, France; Barcelona, Spain, and Athens, Greece, between exercises.

James R. Scarbro, aviation structural mechanic second class, USN, son of Mrs. J. R. Scarbro of 708 Lancaster St., was released from active duty Sept. 11.

His last duty was with Airborne Early Warning Squadron Four at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, filed charges of writing worthless checks against two defendants Saturday. They were named as being Bill Boyd and Mrs. D. E. Wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Whitehead Sr., Westbrook, recently was promoted to specialist four at Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash.

Specialist Whitehead, a missile launching control panel operator in the artillery's Battery A, entered the Army in April 1958 and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

Whitehead attended Westbrook High School.

Richard N. Reeves, interior communications electrician second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reeves of 1105 E. 19th St., and husband of the former Miss Betty J. Porter of Holden, W. Va., is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Midway operating with the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

She departed Alameda, Calif., Aug. 15, and prior to joining the Seventh, underwent training exercises in Hawaiian waters.

The Midway is scheduled to visit Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines during the seven-month tour of duty.

Judge Sullivan Plans To Attend San Angelo Meet

Judge Charlie Sullivan of 118th District Court and Ed Carpenter, county judge, plan to attend the meeting of trial and appellate judges in San Angelo which opens on Oct. 8. The meeting will last two days. A majority of the state's 250 judges will be on hand. Their purpose is to study topics of common interest ranging from the parole system in Texas to court room decorum.

District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown, chairman of the Texas Bar's Judicial Section, said the group will hold its annual conference at the Cactus Hotel in San Angelo. He named Associate Justice Ruel C. Walker of the Texas Supreme Court chairman of the conference program. Walker is vice chairman of the judges section.

The organization includes members of the Supreme Court, the Court of Criminal Appeals, the 11 courts of civil appeals, and district and county court-at-law judges. Chairman Wood estimates some 200 judges and their wives will attend the San Angelo meeting.

Airport Group Guests Of Webb

Four officials of the new Howard County Airport got a look this week at Air Force air safety and air traffic control measures.

Airport manager, Dick Standifer, and his board of directors—J. B. Carter, Jack Gulley, and Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr.—received a day-long briefing and tour of the base. High point of the day was a jet orientation and indoctrination flight. Officers conducting the flight were as follows: Gully, Major Edward J. Herstock; Carter, Lt. Col. Herman G. Tillman; Standifer, Major Asa A. Adair; and Dr. Talbot, Major Sherrod H. Osborne Jr.

The event was part of a continuing program explaining the Air Force's efforts to promote military and civil flying safety.

Bond Is Fixed In Forgery Complaint

Bond has been set in the sum of $1,500 in the forgery case against Doyle C. Jones, Jones, 40, who says his home is in Waco, was returned to Howard County on Friday by Deputy Sheriff Tommy Cole from Lamesa. He had been unable to post bond Friday afternoon.

45 Days In Jail For Bogus Check

Tommy J. Seals Jr., 37, Lubbock, returned here from Brownfield on Friday, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court on Friday afternoon to writing a worthless check. Judge Ed Carpenter set his punishment at 45 days in the Howard County jail. Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff, returned the prisoner.

Seals admitted writing a worthless check for $40 which he cashed at Furr's Food Store. Officers said that they have hold orders from 6 Texas and one New Mexico. County for Seals—all for writing worthless checks.

$1.55 Rate Slated For Martin County

The wage finding for Martin County first pulling in irrigated cotton is $1.55 per hundred weight, according to an announcement from Ed McDonald, regional director for the Department of Labor. The rate for dryland first pulling is the same. Bracero wage rates are geared to the Department of Labor findings.

It will be possible to enroll in some night course Monday evening provided the sign-up is prior to the time the class meets Monday evening.

The total head count is comparable to last year but the number of semester hours being taken is up substantially, reflecting an increase in the number of full time students.

A Devotional For Today

I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.
(Genesis 32:30)
PRAYER: O Lord, teach us to strive with Thee in faith until we receive Thy blessing. In our deepest loneliness, open our eyes to see Thee face to face, and to find deliverance and help through Thee. In the name of Christ, our Saviour. Amen.
(From The "Upper Room")

Let's Check The Record On This

We note with some interest that two or three delegates to the recent convention of county judges and commissioners, while visiting in Galveston, had occasion to voice their opinions in press interviews about the county "unit" system.

The unit system, you know, is that which consolidates all a county's road building and upkeep activities into a unified program, as against four separate precinct programs.

The delegates in Galveston told newspaper reporters, "It just won't work."

Well, as the lawyers say, we had better check the reliability of the witnesses. They were county commissioners who, under the very nature of the county governmental system, have developed a proprietary interest in their own little precinct kingdoms, who jealously guard all possible political patronage; and who are more interested in self-perpetuation in office than in the public welfare. The only reason a county unit system in the road department "won't work" is because a commissioners court won't let it work.

This is all too apparent in many Texas counties—some of them close by—where the haphazard precinct system of buying and maintaining machinery and employing personnel is creating cost and confusion on every hand.

Which brings us to the real point: This is, that the county unit system will very definitely work, and Howard County is strong proof of it. One of the real areas of achievement in this county is the splendid success made in carrying on a road department in business-like manner. Howard County is getting more and more good county roads to show for it, it is getting more for its money, and in general is creating a fine record. Our own judges and commissioners who have given their support in recent years are to be commended for good business judgment, for putting the interests of the county first, and for seeing that the taxpayer and road user alike are being served.

The record of the road department ought to be a source of pride to our officials, and to all citizens. We would like to be able to "show off" the Howard County program to those who refuse to face the facts and just say that a county unit system "won't work." It will work if officials really want it to work.

Brother, It's Hot Up There

Whatever happened to the plans for some sort of cooling for the municipal auditorium?

We realize that most of the funds were gobbled up in City Hall remodeling and other improvements, including the much needed replacement of drapes. Obviously, the residue of funds is insufficient for refrigerated air.

We do not know if evaporative-cooled air is practical.

We do know that it still gets hot as blazes in the auditorium, and the balcony is like a sweat box.

Perhaps if we can't have some system of forced ventilation, we might have a few windows opened.

Anything, even a few old-fashioned paper fans for the customers, would help.

Principle Of Speech Control Still Holds

WASHINGTON — Congress did something at its last session which should have evoked the sharpest protests from all liberals, but most of them were strangely silent. A law was passed tending the radio and television stations of the country that they need not grant "equal time" to all political candidates when one happened to be mentioned in the normal course of news broadcasts, but Congress reaffirmed its right to dictate how these stations shall handle political speeches.

Whenever a station provides time for a regular speech to one candidate, it still must do the same for all others. The news judgment of the editor of the station's programs may be that the speech by a rival candidate isn't interesting to hear in preference to other news and that the same time could be better used otherwise for the benefit of the audience. But the provisions of the Communications Act which were not repealed by Congress in its last session still say, in effect, that the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing a free press, shall be disregarded.

Unfortunately, the Supreme Court of the United States in a decision in 1943 ruled that Congress can abridge the freedom of the press wherever a radio or television license issued by the government is involved. In other words, the grant of a government privilege takes away the right of the recipient to be on a par with other branches of the press.

Someday the Supreme Court may rule that, because of their acceptance of second-class mail privileges, Congress is given the right to tell newspapers how they shall allocate their news space on speeches in political campaigns. To avoid this, the only safe course is to secure the adoption of a new amendment to the Constitution which shall specifically say that the acceptance of a license or grant of any kind from the federal government shall not require of the recipient the surrender of any rights of the press already guaranteed by the Constitution.

It seems odd that there hasn't been a nationwide movement to protect freedom of the press from such encroachments as radio and television have experienced. It is good, of course, that Congress did take the forward step of saying that radio and television stations need not hereafter give time to every political candidate when one happens to be mentioned in or appears on a news broadcast. This relief will be helpful, but only slightly on its original rules serves to emphasize what a far-reaching power has been exercised by Congress as a result of one decision of the Supreme Court of the United States 16 years ago.

Radio and television are a part of the free press of the nation. They merely present news through a different mechanical medium than through the print.

What we have today really is a form of status wherein the government could, under some unscrupulous officials, insist that political favor be granted to an incumbent administration lest the licenses be revoked.

Nobody has ever objected to the right of the government to award the limited number of licenses for radio and television on the basis of "public interest, convenience and necessity" where the population or other statistical factors or where it is necessary to avoid mechanical collisions of wave lengths. But the theory that any medium of expression has a right to ignore government dictation has gone by the boards. Where radio and television are concerned, the government, including Congress, can and sometimes does exert political influence despite the First Amendment.

Thawing The Trade Freeze Doubtful

Did you ever try to get a woman to switch shopping from one store to another?

It's as easy as converting Premier Nikita Khrushchev from Communism to Capitalism.

Yet, such a cataclysmic change must occur if Khrushchev is to win increased trade with the U. S. Neither he nor President Eisenhower can alter overnight the historical channels of commerce.

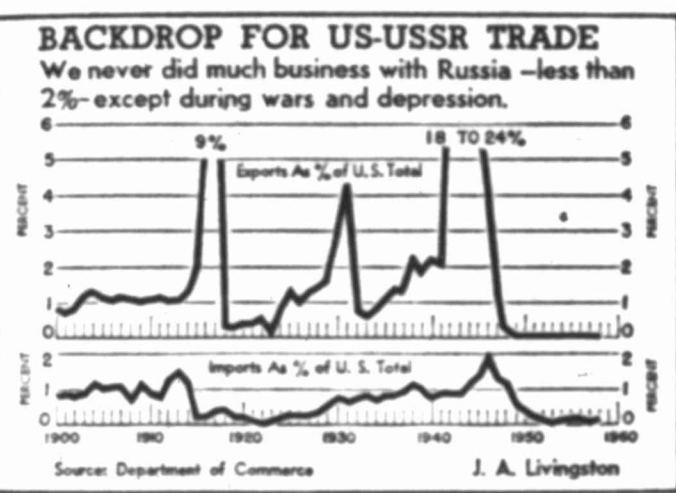

Soviet First Deputy Premier Mikoyan tried to boost U. S.-U. S.S.R. trade in January, and became enraged when he failed. He had asked C. Douglas Dillon, now Under Secretary of State, to eliminate restrictions on shipments to the Soviet Union, grant most-favored-nation treatment on tariff rates, and extend long-term credits. He was told politico-military tensions must be reduced first.

Now, Khrushchev has tried the same — by cultivating business men — we have no conflicts with one another, he declares. "We understand each other. We try to meet on a business-like basis."

FACING THE REALITIES
When Khrushchev at a dinner or during a plant visit says to a business man that increased trade would be good, the business man says yes. But he's making small talk. We're negotiating across the desk as Secretary Dillon, he'd discover there isn't much chance of a great increase in U. S.-U. S.S.R. commerce because:

1. To grant the Soviet Union long-term credits would defy experience. Not only have the Soviets repudiated the debts of the former Czarist regime (which might be rationalized away), but also they have not settled their lend-lease account with the U. S. Any banker or business man would have to conclude that as debtors they're errand.
2. The trade record itself, is encouraging Russia has never been a great trading nation. Under the czars, Russia was fairly self-sufficient; its foreign trade came to only about 4 per cent of total world commerce. Under the Communists in recent years, the percentage has been the same.
3. Soviet trade is political, not economic. It implements foreign policy. In contrast, countries such as the U. S., Great Britain, France, etc., import what they're short of and export their surpluses.
4. U. S.-Russian trade has always been small, frequently negligible. In 44 years out of the last 59 years, Russia has supplied less than 1 per cent of U. S. imports. Recent imports ranged between $10 and $25 million a year, as against our total purchases from all countries of approximately $13,000,000,000.

In 24 out of 59 years, U. S. exports to Russia have been less than 1 per cent of our total. They spurred to 8 per cent during the First World War when we supplied Czarist Russia with military equipment and food. Immediately after the war, they dropped to a three-tenths-of-one-per cent trickle.

The depression gave U. S.-U. S.S.R. trade a statistical lift. First, our exports generally declined. Second, the Soviet Union, embarked on its first five-year plan, became a big purchaser of U. S. machine tools, machinery and equipment. This raised the Soviet proportion of U. S. exports to 4 per cent. But the rise was short-lived. Volume fell to less than 1 per cent.

Even after President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized the U. S.S.R. in November of 1933, and sent William C. Bullitt as ambassador, Soviet purchases here were small, amounting to about 2 per cent of our total exports. World War II brought another spurt — to 24 per cent — as we shipped munitions and foodstuffs to our ally. Then the cold war, and another trickle (see chart).

On this performance, a hard-headed business man could not rate the Soviet Union as a dependable customer. Besides, what's Khrushchev going to use for money?

WHERE MARXISM FALLS DOWN
The type of products we purchase from the Soviet Union are not susceptible of great expansion. Of the $17,600,000 of goods sent here in 1958, the major items were furs $6.3 million, benzene $5.9 million, platinum $2.6 million. At one time, we purchased manganese and chrome, but new sources of supply have been developed; Soviet shipments are subject to higher tariffs than imports from most favored-nation countries. Oh, yes, we also buy caviare!

Khrushchev needs machinery to increase supplies of consumer goods for the Russian people. He would buy U. S. equipment for actual use and for copying. Yet, the amount of products we now buy from the U. S.S.R. wouldn't, in 200 years, pay off the three billion dollars of purchases the Soviet spokesmen talk about.

Soviet leaders, such as Khrushchev and Mikoyan, are puzzled that this proffer of huge trade doesn't make Americans jump. They expect U. S. business men—capitalists—to put pressure on the President, the State Department, and the Congress. In a capitalistic society, according to Marx, the capitalists are king. They tell the government what they want, and they want only profit. Therefore, they should want trade.

Soviet dialectic fails to recognize that capitalists, given a choice between short-run profit and long-run survival, are somehow human enough and smart enough to choose the long run every time.

Lincoln Letters
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Two unpublished letters written by Abraham Lincoln have been willed to the University of Illinois library by the late Miss Sarah Elizabeth Bryan, Los Angeles.

The letters, which Lincoln wrote in Springfield, Ill., were addressed to Miss Bryan's grandfather, D. A. Cheever, in Tremont, Ill.

One dated Aug. 9, 1858, expresses Lincoln's regret that he couldn't accept an invitation to appear in Tremont.

The other letter, dated Aug. 19, 1859, replied to a request that Lincoln suggest a newspaper editor for Tremont.

Hole In One
MILWAUKEE (AP) — A helicopter and an electric golf cart collided on the second fairway of the Tripoli Golf Club.

The whirlybird had landed to pick up two golfers and take them to an exhibition in Illinois. The driver of the cart bearing the golfers forgot to set the handbrake and the little machine surged into the helicopter, tearing a gaping hole in the side.

Clean Thieves
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP) — Dick Minitree reported the theft of two front hubcaps, both dirty, from his car.

The next day, Minitree said, both were back in place, clean and shiny.

Now he's hoping someone will take his rear hubcaps, both dirty.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — County Investigator Sherman Wagoner was inside a garage chatting when a man entered and asked for a fire extinguisher, explaining a car outside was burning.

Wagoner walked out to watch the excitement. His walk increased to a run when he saw that the burning vehicle was his own. Damage was slight.

Good News For Non-Carrot Eaters

In my opinion carrots are very attractive plants. They have bright green leaves which resemble ornamental ferns. They add a touch of summer brightness to gardens and fields.

However, as items of food, I doubt if they are entitled to the widespread use made of their roots.

Rabbits may like carrots. I have never interviewed a rabbit on the subject. Come to think of it, I never saw a rabbit eating a carrot except in movie cartoons. I am not even sure that they like the things.

Cooks do all sorts of things to delude the diner into believing that carrots are good to eat. They pulverize them and add them to salads. The particles are so fine that the poor consumer has to eat them—he can't sort the tiny bits from the rest of the food. They soak them in some sort of sugary syrup and boil them—making certain there is so much sugar on them that their native taste cannot be noted. They deal them out raw in beautifully curled strips.

During World War II, there was a widely circulated report that carrots were possessed of some special vitamin which greatly improved the eater's abilities to see at night. If I could only believe this, I might force myself to eat carrots. It's about all I can do, if you please, to see even in the day time.

The point of all this is that carrots are a very attractive bit of flora but, to my way of thinking, not really intended for human consumption.

A reader of this great family newspaper evidently feels the same as I do about the things.

He anxiously awaited publication of the super-duper cooking section which appeared in last Sunday's Herald. He was deeply alarmed over the probability that there would be a raft of recipes in it involving the use of carrots. Fearful that any such blast of publicity in behalf of the vegetable would result in augmented efforts to force non-carrot eaters to eat the stuff or starve, he was gravely alarmed over what might be in the special recipe section.

When it reached his hands, he painstakingly went through it page by page, column by column, recipe by recipe. The deeper he got into the thing, the more relieved he felt, he informs me.

Carrots were not stressed by the women, who submitted their favorite recipes. According to his count (I have made no personal check of the matter) there are only six recipes out of the 600 in the cooking section which deal with carrots. And, he happily announces, these do not belabor the issue. Carrots are an ingredient but not the main course, you might say.

He informs me that he feels a sense of great relief—that a heavy burden of worry has been lifted from his mind.

He philosophically accepts the prospect of having to face carrots in some form or other from time to time as he sits down at the table. But he is now convinced that there will be no intensified effort, county-wide, state-wide or nationwide, to make people more carrot-conscious. He does not look for a national campaign on the theme of "Eat-More-Carrots."

Of course, we all agree this is a free country. That, at least is the theory on which the republic is established. No one is likely to go around forcing anyone to eat carrots. You may like carrots. If so that is your American privilege. Just don't try to convert me to the idea.

Nevertheless it is rather consoling to feel there is no grand emphasis being made on the merits (if there are any) of carrots as food.

My friend's research has lifted a considerable weight from my own mind, too. —SAM BLACKBURN

'Do My Best . . . And Leave It To God'

I am writing this piece on the wide veranda of the Philadelphia Hotel in Amman, Jordan. Philadelphia is the old biblical name of this place which was the capital of the ancient Ammonites. Directly across the road are well-preserved ruins of a Roman amphitheatre, seating 4,000 persons, which indicates the town's importance from ancient times.

On the heights above the city David placed Uriah, the Hittite, in the forefront of the battle and had him killed, that he might take his wife Bathsheba. Not far away down the road to Jericho are the plains of Jubbah where Jacob wrestled with the angel and where his name was changed from Jacob to Israel. Biblical history encircles you about at Amman. But current history also thrills.

Amman is a rapidly growing city of nearly 300,000 people, swollen in the past ten years by thousands of refugees from Palestine. Built on seven hills, like Rome, the heights are crowned by beautiful homes. The center is an oriental city with all the typical sights and sounds of bustling streets. Bearded bedouins, black-wedged women, sheiks and thousands of Jordanian soldiers mingle in the throngs. Cars weave in and out through a continuous procession of small, pert donkeys and ponderous camels carrying all sorts of produce. Bright-colored merchandise fills the shops and bazaars.

Arabs are a lovely people and in the many days I've spent in the Middle East I have a memory of flashing smiles and much kindness. They like Americans, whom they think of as friends, and they are very appreciative of our Point Four assistance in road building, education and industrial guidance.

UNRWA officials took me to refugee camps, of which there are forty in Jordan, comprising some 60,000 displaced persons. In the whole Middle East the number is approximately one million who have lost homes, property, jobs — everything. It is one of the great sociological problems in the world today.

One wonders if there can ever be true peace or prosperity in the world where any injustice remains uncorrected. The world cannot shut its eyes to any human problem and not suffer for it. Certainly we have not grown so callous that we do not care about human agony any more.

One individual I met, a young man twenty-four years of age, happens to be a king, King of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. He is a great favorite of his people. He flies a military plane; in fact, recently in the United States he flew at a speed of one thousand miles an hour.

My wife, my three children and I visited him in his palace high above the city. There is little formality and absolutely no stiff-shirtism about this young king. He greeted us simply and with a very engaging smile. Dressed in a grey suit and red tie, he sat behind his desk and talked with us for over half an hour.

He has a delightful sense of humor and we had a lot of fun in our visit. A sample of quick wit is the time, while he was touring the United States recently, an American girl tried to take a snapshot of him and in so doing stumbled over a rug and fell at his feet. With a grin, the young king said, "Isn't that a dainty dish to set before a king?"

For a youth of twenty-four, King Hussein is the most mature young man I think I have ever met. Being always interested in what makes people tick, I asked if I might put a personal question to him. "In view of all you have been through (grandfather assassinated before his eyes; cousin, King of Iraq, murdered; an abortive attempt to overthrow his government; as well as difficult problems of state) how did you preserve such balance of mind and spirit?"

His quiet answer was, "I try to do right. I do my best, that is all. Then I leave it to God." And that isn't a bad answer for anyone, king or commoner. King Hussein impresses one as a born leader of men. As one of his prominent subjects said to me, "He is the grandson of a king, son of a king, and himself a king but if he were a plain man he would still be somebody."

He has great plans for his country, chief of which is to help his people to live lives of freedom and peace. He hopes that American citizens will get acquainted with Jordan and asked me to extend, on his behalf, an invitation to Americans to visit his country.

"What shall I say about Jordan to my fellow countrymen?" I asked.

"Just tell them what you see here. Just tell them the truth about us as you see it." Well, I am glad to do just that and to say that I like the young king and his interesting people. I shall always carry pleasant memories of the beautiful land of Jordan set as a gem among the mountains of Moab and Judea.

Khrushchev May Feel More Than He Shows

DES MOINES, Iowa — In all the millions of words written about this man, Khrushchev, the thousands of photographs, the miles of television and newsreel film, one very important question remains unanswered.

What impression have the sights and sounds of America made upon him? Will he go back with a sense of America's strength? Or, will the lavishness of our way of life confirm the belief of Communist orthodoxy that we are a decadent capitalist country?

There is reason as the tour nears its end to be somewhat more optimistic on this score. At the outset it seemed that the barriers were too great; that given his own iron conviction of the inevitability of Communist triumph and the vast publicity apparatus between the visitor and the normal way of life, he would take away nothing.

But he has shown himself to be more of an individualist than had been suspected. The evidence is that he is far less doctrinaire than some of the ambitious members of the party hierarchy who are traveling with him.

He has frequently shown his practical, pragmatic, perceptive side. It is this phase of his character which led him to take the great gamble of coming to the United States. For Khrushchev the trip is at least as big a gamble, in terms of his status in the Communist bloc, as it is for President Eisenhower and the Republican administration.

When he went on his early morning walk in San Francisco, more or less free of the security and publicity machine, he encountered a garbage-collecting truck with a special device that chewed up the garbage so that it could be disposed of with greater facility. He was greatly interested, wanting to know how it worked, how much it cost and the area in which it could operate in a single day.

The Americans at his side during the trip believe that a great deal has got through to him despite the handicaps. He has spoken several times of the way Americans are housed, the number and attractiveness of the one-family dwellings he has seen from the train. The multiplicity of highways had impressed him. He publicly noted America's richness after he had a glimpse of a supermarket and after his wife had spent more time in several stores in San Francisco.

Whatever his ultimate private judgment, and this above all we shall never know, he can at least have some idea of what an utterly different society ours is. Soviet Russia is austere, puritanical, in many aspects a garrison state slowly emerging from the fearful destruction of the war and the trials and terrors of Stalinism.

The contact with our high, wide and handsome individualism is immeasurably great. This cannot have escaped the shrewd visitor who has been in our midst. How he interprets the difference is something else again.

He could well conclude that our lavishness is softness, the plush phase of a society on the decline. Is there strength in our traffic jams—more than 5,000,000 cars in Los Angeles alone—our congested cities where a cloud of half-burned gasoline hangs forever in the atmosphere? Is the glittering opulence that he has seen close up merely the margin for luxury that we can afford above and beyond the basic strength of industrial and military readiness to meet any challenge?

NEW OLDS SERIES TO BE SHOWN ON THURSDAY
Holiday Sport Sedan reflects crisp styling trend

Shroyer Motor Co. Plans To Show 1960 Oldsmobiles

Shroyer Motor Company announced Saturday that the showing of the 1960 Oldsmobiles will begin at the firm's showroom on Thursday.

New crisply-tailored styling and a new balance of design are teamed with further advances in economy of operation in the 17 new Oldsmobile models for 1960. The new Oldsmobile features a redesigned Rocket engine in the Dynamic "88" series for use with lower cost regular grade gasoline.

A 15 per cent increase in fuel efficiency is reported.

In all series there are new rear axle ratios and many other engineering advancements. Two three-wheel Fiestas have been added to Oldsmobile's station wagon line.

Bright chrome plated bars in groups of three give the 1960 Oldsmobile curved grille a wide, stable look even though the car itself is no wider than the 1959 models. Headlights are placed horizontally with the outboard pair set slightly behind the inboard pair. The parking lights are safely recessed in the wrap-around section of the bumper where they can be easily seen from front or side.

The lower and slightly rounded styling of the new front end aids maneuverability, especially in tight parking situations.

Tailights are moulded into the rear fenders in a high, easy-to-see position. Below the attractive angled bumper is ribbed heavy gauge steel that completes the solid, built-to-the-road appearance of the new rear end.

The adaptation of the Rocket engine for use with lower cost regular gasolines was accomplished through design changes in combustion chamber contour, piston and camshaft and the changing of the compression ratio to 8.75:1. The engine has a displacement of 371 cubic inches and develops 240 horsepower. It incorporates a new two-barrel "Econ-O-Way" carburetor recalibrated for maximum economy and power at the new compression ratio.

The Premium Rocket engine is designed to take full advantage of the power potential in today's premium fuels. Displacement is 394 cubic inches. Compression ratio is 9.75:1 and it develops 315 horsepower.

Pope Strikes Ban On Jews, Moslems

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII has ordered specific mention of Moslem and Jew removed from a prayer of consecration of humanity to Christ the King.

The new version, published in the current edition of "Acta Apostolicae Sedis," the Vatican's official publication, offers prayers indiscriminately for all who are not members of the Roman Catholic Church.

Spain Possibly At Doorway To New Era Of Importance

By HOUSTON HARTE
BARCELONA (By Mail)—Spain is described as being in a period of transition. People we talk to seem to feel the nation has the best chance of getting on its feet of any time during the last quarter of a century. But if the present efforts fail, Spain could become a problem nation with the U. S. A. picking up the tab.

On July 18 this year the peseta was devaluated down to the current black market price of 60 to the dollar. This was a reduction in value of its money of about 35 to 40 per cent. It is too early to see the exact effect of this devaluation on the economy, but it naturally has increased the price of imports. If this can be absorbed by the economy the nation will have a chance to get on its feet.

By the same token exports will provide more funds as devaluation has the effect of providing more money by increasing prices in pesetas. Temporarily it has increased the tourist trade.

Spain has been a favorite vacation ground for the last three to five years. If devaluation adds a further attraction for tourists, Spain has a chance to get on its feet. The Spanish Riviera or the Costa Brava, the Mediterranean shore north and east of Barcelona, is on a boom. Many Americans and Europeans are building vacation homes in this area and real estate development is playing an important part in attracting tourists here.

Barcelona is the second city in Spain but by far the richest. Its fine port, its industrial activity plus its tourist attractions, makes it the rival of any city in western Europe under two million persons. Its metropolitan area is said to have a population of 1,600,000.

Most European cities have tree-lined streets, even in the downtown area, but few avenues anywhere can compare with the Ramblas, a main thoroughfare where the main retail and banking facilities of the city are housed. It has four rows of trees, one at each sidewalk curb and one down each side of the center walk about 24 feet wide, which provides outdoor cafes and a flower and bird market. Paseo de Gracia, a parallel avenue, has its four rows of sycamores, but the auto traffic moves down the center instead on divided lanes near the sidewalks.

Barcelona gives you the impression of prosperity until the urchin panhandlers swarm around with palms cupped calling for "money" or "peseta," "peseta."

Another transition Spain must solve soon is how the Franco regime can transfer its power. One of the difficulties of dictatorship or an oligarchy is how to change the top man. Spain faces this problem now. The council of the Captains General, the army leaders who control the 11 districts into which Spain is divided, have ruled under Franco about as they have ruled under Alfonso or for years before.

Americans you talk to believe the people now in control of Spain favor the restoration of the monarchy with limited power. Despite the bitter Spanish revolution which brought Franco to power, Spain is now looked upon as a nation that will stick to the West.

The next year or so appear to be another crisis for Spain. If the transition to a stable peseta and a method of transferring political power can be found, Spain may become an active member of the European economic and military groups. But no one is sure.

Christmas Decorations Drive Drawing Support

With 25 men making contacts, the Christmas decoration project will be pushed to a climax within the next two days.

Initial results have been more than gratifying, according to Adolph Swartz, Christmas activities chairman for the Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

Some 250 mercantile and professional firms are being contacted for support of the committee proposal to raise $7,000 a year for the next three years for a profusion of overhead Christmas street decorations in addition to the customary dress-up for the courthouse square.

The first report session is set for 5 p.m. Tuesday at the chamber office.

49 Accidents, 2 Die In August In Area Mishaps

Sergeant Billy P. Smith of the Midland Sub-Station of the Texas Highway Patrol, released Borden, Dawson, Glascock, Howard, Martin, Midland, and Reagan Counties' Rural Traffic Accident Summary for August, 1959.
