Employment Figures Take Seasonal Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — National employment fell off seasonally by 849,000 to 66,374,000 in September. This drop was expected because of the return of temporarily employed students to school. Unemployment fell by 196,000 to 3,230,000—also primarily due to the job seeking youngsters leaving the labor market to resume classes. The idle figure—being still over three million—raised the prospect that Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell may have to eat his hat on the Labor Department building steps. Mitchell has pledged to do just that if the October idle figure was above three million. Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor said that with the steel strike still continuing the unemployment total for October probably will exceed three million. Wolfbein said that layoffs due to the steel strike had topped 225,000 in early October, in addition to the 500,000 striking steel workers. He said that the rate of layoffs due to the steel strike, formerly 10,000 a week, now has stepped up to 25,000 a week and may jump to 50,000 soon. Wolfbein told a news conference that the wage loss to steel strikers and others laid off because of the steel strike has mounted to 863 million dollars through the first week of October. He said the hardest hit states in order, are Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The decline in both employment and unemployment in September although seasonally expected because of the return of students to school from the labor market, was accentuated by the steel strike effects. September employment, at 66,347,000 was 1,718,000 higher than a year ago. Unemployment at 3,230,000 was 881,000 less than a year ago.

City To Double Population In Two Decades, Planner Says

Big Spring will double in population in two decades, extending primarily to the southwest and southeast. These were the key elements of the forecasts made by City Planner Marvin Springer during a breakfast meeting today with the City Commission and other interested citizens. Members of the Planning and Zoning Commission and a delegation representing the Chamber of Commerce were also on hand. 62,000 IN 1980 Springer estimated there would be about 62,000 Big Springers here in 20 years, representing an average growth factor of 1,500 increase per year. He turned to Dr. John Stockton's present and future economic study of the city for his statistical estimates. Stockton heads the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Springer's visit here today concerned primarily recommendations evolving future annexations. In this regard he pointed out South Mountain as a valuable asset to the city for residential growth. He indicated the mountain and the area along the Old San Angelo highway as the direction the city appears to be growing. With these areas in mind, he suggested possible annexation of the Western Hills and Clanton Additions, the Lockhart Addition area, a part of College Park Estates and some area along the south side of FM 700. Ultimately, he suggested the city limits should extend about a mile north of the NW 12th St., along the south side of section 11 to the south, Webb AFB on the west and the Cosden refinery on the east. Regarding growth around the Webb installation, he warned against doing anything that would adversely affect it. This included allowing residential growth in the immediate area. He said Webb AFB, the Cosden refinery, and Howard County Junior College were among the most important growth factors in the city. PLANNED ACTION The city planner did not recommend a wholesale annexation program. He said the city should take in additional areas as utility services can be extended. He warned against scattering the utility system too far. A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, asked for an opinion regarding annexation where development appears imminent. Springer said annexing an area after it has been developed usually borrows trouble. The city will inherit many problems, he added. "If an area is preparing to develop, annex it," Springer advised. He said areas that develop outside the city usually grow into semi-rural slums. He was emphatic regarding development where there are no paved streets, water lines or sewer lines. Eventually the city will have to foot the bill on these areas, he said. It is best to bring them into the city fully developed. He was also opposed to rural subdivisions that depend on raw water. Another question was raised regarding subdivisions that have water and sewer lines, but not paved streets. The question regarded the inability of some low income fam-

Milk And Ice Fund Is A Help To The Helpless

Listen to these cases where your United Fund dollars help through the Milk and Ice Fund. A mother with six school children and a husband in the state hospital. A widow trying to sustain seven children with a job as a laundress. A woman trying to keep eight children in school, work and maintain her crippled husband. A senile little lady (77 years old) lives alone and has an inadequate diet and needs ice for her refrigerator. The father and five of eight children have tuberculosis, and he is unable to work and needs milk and medication. After a father deserted them, a 27-year-old mother was left with eight children (the oldest 10 years) to support, and she has no way to earn them a living. A mother is trying to keep three children going and one of them has had numerous surgeries for a cleft lip and palate and for a defective leg. A father is totally incapacitated with an enlarged heart, and the mother is unable to earn enough to support them and their six children. A family has an aged and bedfast grandmother to support; the husband is disabled by a heart attack; one child is mentally retarded. A widow with four children to support cannot work due to a bad heart. Another woman, 88, clings to life although almost consumed by cancer; she must have ice and medicines. An aged man lives alone on a shabby place but has no milk and ice to supplement his meager diet. These are but a few of the many case histories in which the Milk and Ice Fund steps in to help where others can't or to supplement other agencies. Around $300 is spent monthly for milk.

Slain

Actress L'Anse Ethridge, 26, was stabbed to death with a hunting knife near Brackettville, where she had a part in the movie "The Alamo." A 32-year-old actor was charged with murder in her death.

Body Of Slain Actress Due In Hollywood

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Arrangements have been made to fly the body of slain actress L'Anse Ethridge, 26, back to Hollywood today. Sue Stevens, 25, of Las Vegas, Nev., a sister of the actress, made public a letter in which County Atty. John J. Tobin told her his probe of slaying revealed nothing improper in the slain's personal conduct. The actress died when a hunting knife was plunged into her chest early Sunday at the house where she stayed while working in a movie, "The Alamo," being filmed nearby. Chester M. Smith, 32, one of four male members of the troupe living in the same house with the actress, was charged with murder. Other members of the troupe blamed the slaying on professional jealousy.

Father Stunned By Death Rampage

L'ANSE, Mich. (AP) — "I just can't believe it," murmured Ferdinand Paquet. "We gave him all kinds of love and tenderness. He never did a wrong thing." Paquet spoke sorrowfully of his son Eugene B. held in the slaying of his girl friend's father and 10-year-old sister. Prosecutor William G. Konstenius said the boy orally admitted the slaying of Edward Froslund, 44, a L'Anse laborer, and his daughter Lila Lynn, Sunday night.

School Board To Interview Fiscal Agents

Trustees of Big Spring Independent School District tonight will interview four firms seeking to serve as fiscal agent for the district. A fiscal agent is needed to meet legal requirements necessary to carry out long-range planning of the board. An architectural firm previously was appointed. The firms to appear and their representatives are Columbian Securities Corp., San Angelo, Gordon T. Charlton; First Southwest Securities Co., Dallas, Joe W. Smith; Rauscher, Pierce and Co., San Antonio, Carter Johnson; and Municipal Securities Corp., Lubbock, Ransom Galloway. The board, which meets at 7:30 p.m. in the district's office, 100 E. 10th, also will hear reports of the community study groups, discuss street improvements around schools.

Parsons Due Home From NEA Meeting

Floyd Parsons, superintendent of Big Spring Independent School District, was to return to the city today after attending a meeting of National Education Assn. directors in Washington over the weekend. Parsons is a state director of the organization.

Road Conditions

AUSTIN (AP) — High water closed State Highway 277 today near Del Rio, the Highway Department reported. Heavy rains were reported throughout the area. U.S. 277 is closed at Buffalo Draw in Valverde County. U.S. 377 may close later today between Rocksprings and U.S. 377's intersection with U.S. 277.

McDonald Calls On Steel Chiefs For Strike Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald today invited heads of the four biggest steel companies to meet with him immediately to hammer out a settlement of the 91-day strike. The invitation—McDonald called it a "challenge"—was issued during his testimony to President Eisenhower's fact-finding board which will advise the President on Friday whether the strike is a national emergency justifying a Taft-Hartley injunction to open the mills for an 80-day cooling off period. McDonald told the board the union has been trying since April to get direct negotiations with chief executive officers of the major steel companies. He said those officers always participated in bargaining in past disputes. "I personally would like to sit down with these men of responsibility—primarily Roger Blough,

President Back In Abilene For Library Rites

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — President Eisenhower returned to his old home town today with a nostalgic look at the past and a warning for the potentially explosive world of the future. "The world must learn to work together," Eisenhower said, "or finally it will not work at all." This was a sort of pre-birthday party for the President. He will be 69 Wednesday. And today he came back to Abilene, the town in which he grew up, to take part in ground breaking ceremonies for the Eisenhower Presidential Library. This will be the final resting place for Eisenhower's military and presidential papers. In his prepared remarks, the President began with a look at the early life and times of Dwight D. Eisenhower. "We did not then know the term 'world tensions,'" he said. "Life was peaceful, serene, happy!" Today, the President said, the entire world is showing tremendous growth.

Injured Men Showing Gain

Condition of Billy Ray Ward, 30, and James R. (Pete) Shannon, 27, Cosden refinery employees, was reported as somewhat improved at the Big Spring Hospital on Tuesday morning. The two men were painfully burned about the head, upper body and legs, early Monday when sprayed with hot oil from a ruptured casing. The hospital said both men are making satisfactory progress toward recovery. Whether either will suffer impairment of sight from their injuries will have to be determined later. The two men were working to repair a leak in a line carrying slurry oil stop a cracking plant tower. The line yielded and the oil, intensely hot and under heavy pressure, sprayed the two men.

Big Gifts Pledges Hit $8,700 Mark

Campaigners in the big gifts division of United Fund this morning turned in pledges of $8,700 at their first report meeting. The group is headed by Douglas Orme, and has a goal of $25,000. The employees division under Chairman K. H. McGibbon is planning its kickoff October 21, although no goal has been set. Last year the employees group brought in $36,057 of the total raised, which was 40 per cent. If they maintained that pace this year, the division would get $37,781. Sub-chairmen under McGibbon are A. J. Prager, Tom Conway, Charles Dammann and Oliver Cofer.

Probation Is Granted Medic

STANTON — Dr. Francis E. Seals, Lamesa physician, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Monday to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, second offense. He had been indicted by the grand jury 10 days ago. Dr. Seals was granted a two-year probation sentence on recommendation of Gil Jones, district attorney. His was the only plea heard in the court on Monday. Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, is engaged in the trial of a civil case in the court here.

Father Of Local Woman Is Killed

The father of Mrs. David Hinkle of Big Spring was one of two people killed when his car overturned early today east of Gail. He was Clarence G. Raley, 54, operator of the Mesa Motel in Lamesa. Also killed was Francis A. Nott, 86, of 3343 Ninth Street in Fort Arthur. In critical condition at the Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder was Mrs. Clarence G. Raley, 53. She was in surgery shortly before noon. It was thought that Mr. Nott was the uncle of Mrs. Raley, and that the Mr. and Mrs. Raley had gone to Snyder to meet the train which brought him from Fort Arthur. Highway patrolmen said that the car left the left side of US 190 some 15 miles east of Gail and rolled down a 15-foot embankment, coming to a stop some 250 to 300 feet away. The bodies were taken to Bell Funeral Home in Snyder. Mrs. Hinkle was notified through the police radio facilities here, and she and her husband left for Snyder.

Twirlers Add To Medal List

Four young baton twirlers from Big Spring gathered in a dozen medals over the weekend in competition at Burkburnett. Patty Bislop placed first for twirling in the 14-year-old advanced division; Dean Terrazas, first in the 13-year-old advanced division; and Simon Terrazas, first in the junior boy category. Mike Bishop ranked second in the senior boy class and he and Patty placed second in the senior duet and Simon and Dan got third in the junior duet division. In all, the group took three firsts, eight second places and one third. Twirlers from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas participated. Mike has received a gold medal from the National Baton Twirling Assn. for outstanding participation in NBT events during the past year. Mike and Patty are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Bishop, and Dean and Simon the children of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terrazas.

Roundabout Way To Shoot Oneself

RED BLUFF, Calif. (AP) — Janet Thomas, 16, has been hospitalized for good reason. A porcupine fell out of a tree, scaring her horse, the horse reared, throwing her, she dropped her rifle, the horse stepped on it, and the rifle shot her in the leg.

Truman Heads Into Big Texas Brawl At Democratic Rally

for political mayhem began in the State Democratic Convention in Dallas in 1956 when labor leaders across the party, miffed at Senator Johnson, refused to go along with his candidate for national committeewoman, Mrs. Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen. The labor men, with considerable liberal backing, threatened to turn the Dallas convention into chaos. It was either Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph of Houston or chaos. Johnson was forced to yield. And gravel-voiced, tart-tongued Mrs. Randolph has been a thorn in his side ever since. First thing out of the box, Mrs. Randolph, no political novice, formed the Democrats of Texas (DPT) organization when she disagreed with the make-up of the State Democratic Executive Committee, which she said contained too many old backers of former Gov. Allan Shivers "and his ilk." The DOT was replete with such liberal Democrats as Dist. Judge Jim Sewell of Corsicana and Creekmore Fath of Austin, a national committee employe during the Truman administrations. Senator Johnson and his "moderates" stayed away from the DOT meetings in big numbers. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.), insisting that he was no prefix Democrat, attended the meetings. When Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler saw fit to criticize the "congressional leadership of the party," meaning Johnson and Rayburn, Mrs. Randolph refused comment. National Committeeman Byron Skelton of Temple named the chairman over the coals. There has been considerable talk that Mrs. Randolph must be removed before Senator Johnson can go to the national convention with solid Texas backing. Recently the talk has been that Johnson again has agreed to let Mrs. Randolph stay in her seat as a sop to Texas labor, not too happy over the recently passed national labor legislation. And more recently—since the last meeting of the National Democratic Committee—Mrs. Randolph has been strangely quiet. (See TRUMAN, Pg. 4A, Col. 5)

U.S. Throws 'Gyroscope' Satellite Up

ORBITS, DESCENT TO BRING CAPSULE NEAR BIG SPRING

The orbits of the first manned Mercury satellite will take America's astronaut three times within possible view of Big Spring. There is a possibility the space capsule may be spotted during these transits either by telescope or with the naked eye if local citizens know where to look. The end of the first orbit will bring the capsule across the southeastern horizon as the object passes over the area south of Austin and north of Houston. The second pass will be across the northern horizon, and will be over the Lubbock area. The end of the third and final orbit will see the astronaut making his descent, which will bring the capsule within closer range of eyes and telescopes. This orbit will be across Big Spring's south-southwestern horizon, following over the Midland-Odessa area and over San Angelo.

Manned Satellite Flight Plan Bared

LANGLEY, Va. (AP) — The flight plan for the first Mercury manned satellite was made public at this space capital today. It calls for the Mercury capsule to zoom three times around the earth at an altitude of 100 miles and land in the Atlantic off the Bahama Islands not far from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site. The whole trip would take 4 1/2 hours. Hurting along at 18,000 miles an hour most of the way, the satellite would cross South Africa, Australia and a narrow southern strip of the United States. As outlined here at the research center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and confirmed by one of the seven Mercury astronauts, the detailed flight plan is this: 1. A launching slightly north of east from Cape Canaveral. 2. An initial orbit — First encirclement of the earth — that would cross the North Atlantic, the Canary Islands, Spanish West Africa and Algeria, the main part of Africa just north of Lake Chad and Lake Victoria, Kenya, Australia south of Perth in the west and south of Brisbane in the east, Fiji Islands, Samoa, southern tip of Baja California, Northern Mexico, Texas south of Austin and north of Houston, north of New Orleans and leaving the U.S. East Coast south of Charleston, S.C. 3. Second orbit—crossing Bermuda and swinging southward across Nigeria, Mozambique and Madagascar, over Perth across Mackay on the Australian east coast, south of the Solomon Islands in the central Pacific, over the northern end of Baja California, just south of Tucson, Ariz., north of Carlsbad, N.M., north of Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., and leaving the U.S. East Coast at Savannah, Ga. 4. Final orbit—crossing the South Atlantic south of Cape Verde Islands, over Angola, crossing just north of Johannesburg, just north of Geraldton on the Australian west coast, across the Gulf of Carpentaria and Cape York, across eastern New Guinea and the Marshall Islands, and north of Honolulu. The descent will begin over the Pacific, and will take the space capsule across San Diego, San Angelo, Tex., New Orleans, and down to a landing in the Bahamas.

Radiation Is Subject Of New Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States put into orbit today a new "gyroscope" satellite expected to answer many questions about space and weather. The satellite, named Explorer VII, was put aloft with a powerful Juno II rocket fired here at 11:31 a.m. EDT. In Washington, the National Space Agency announced at 1:22 p.m. that "Explorer VII is in orbit." The satellite had completed one complete orbit around the earth shortly before the announcement, an agency spokesman said. Weighing 91 1/2 pounds, the satellite's main goal is to study cosmic radiation, knowledge of which is a key to space travel by man. The 76-foot rocket rose ponderously from its launching pad. It accelerated rapidly and, after about 40 seconds, arched high in the sky and headed toward the northeast, spurring a brilliant tail of fire. A minute later it vanished in a cloud bank. It was the second space shot of the day from the cape. Earlier, a B47 bomber launched a 37-foot bolt Orion missile, aiming it at a point 10 miles in front of the Explorer VI "paddle wheel" satellite. At the time the satellite was at 180 miles altitude in the low point of its orbit and traveling a 26,000 miles an hour.

Another Victim

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) —Friday's bus-truck collision in North Brunswick claimed its 11th victim today. Linda Molloy, 17, of West Orange died in Middlesex General Hospital of injuries suffered in the crash. Nine other Trenton State College coeds and professor Ernest Sixa burned to death when an empty tank truck rammed their bus. The group was returning to Trenton after a theater party in New York.

Lunacy Hearing At State Hospital Tuesday Morning

Regular monthly session of the lunacy court at Big Spring State Hospital was conducted on Tuesday morning. Fifteen cases were before the court. Three of the principals asked for jury hearings—which, it was said, is a little unusual since enactment of the new law covering enactment of mentally ill persons. Ed Carpenter, county judge, presided. The state was represented by Wayne Burns, county attorney. Attorneys ad litem were named to appear for the persons named in the committal proceedings. Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, also attended the sessions in her capacity and clerk of the court.

MERCURY'S MONTECLAIR FOR 1960
New car gives exceptionally smooth ride

Mercury Offers 13 Models, Called Completely Road-Tuned

A completely road-tuned car, distinctively styled and functionally clean in design is offered by Mercury in its 13 new models for 1960. Body, frame, suspension, engine and transmission are precisely blended to provide a new standard in riding comfort.

Many important design changes were made in Mercury's three V-8 engines to improve both economy and performance and give greater reliability and smoother, quieter operation. All engines have two barrel carburetors which save fuel, and two of the engines are designed for maximum performance with regular gasoline.

All models of the 1960 Mercury have a wheelbase of 126 inches, permitting a greater length between wheels, with a resultant improvement in occupant comfort. Continuing a feature introduced to the industry by Mercury last year, the 1960 models have a low transmission and driveshaft tunnel.

"Mercury engineers have succeeded in completely insulating the body of the car from the running gear, resulting in an exceptionally smooth ride," said Ben D. Mills, vice president of Ford Motor Company and general manager of the M-E-L Division. "Driver and passenger are protected from noise, vibration and harshness by rubber, butyl and other effective insulating materials at every point where the body is attached to the frame or to other chassis components."

Mercury's exterior styling is completely new and is characterized by softer lines in its new hood, fenders, quarter panels, rear deck and doors.

The broad front bumper serves as a foundation for the air-gathering grille with bright concave vertical bars. The body side moulding includes the door handle as a contained part.

The upper body features a big, full-vision windshield. Hardtop cruiser models have a sloping roof, and sedan models have a flat, crisp roof with rear overhang.

Interior trim schemes are all new. New fabrics—all with 100 per cent nylon face—are offered. Metallic vinyls complement the body cloth.

In Mercury's 312 cubic inch engine, a re-shaped combustion chamber was engineered to improve efficiency. This engine has a compression ratio of 8.9 to 1, a rated horsepower of 205 at 4000 r.p.m. and torque of 328 at 2100 r.p.m. The Mercury Marauder 353 cubic inch engine has a 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, 290 horsepower at 4200 and torque of 405 at 2200 r.p.m. These two engines give additional economy by operating on regular grade gasoline.

The Mercury Marauder 430 cubic inch 310-460 h.p. engine has a unique new thermostatically controlled air compensator valve which smooths engine idle, avoids stalling and reduces the possibility of vapor lock.

The transmission is smoother, quieter and more durable. Integral underbody cross members and ribbed floor reinforcements make the 1960 Mercury body stronger and more rigid.

To increase passenger compartment quietness, the electric motor for the windshield wiper and the larger Mercury heater blower motor are located outside the dashboard in the engine compartment.

The basic design of the Mercury frame eliminates all possible body squeaks and rattles. The electrical system for 1960 includes printed electrical circuits for the instrument panel lights and gauges which eliminate many wires and simplify servicing operations.

Nylon snap-on straps replace steel clips holding the electrical wire harness in the engine compartment, thus preventing short circuits. As an added protection against abrasion, nylon sheathing formed by extrusion is added to the vinyl covering for electrical circuits not protected by fuses or circuit breakers.

Mercury's unique tandem-action windshield wipers are improved and include a three-speed electrical wiper control.

The new heater has 14 per cent greater capacity. Defrosting efficiency is improved 40 per cent through a combination of the greater capacity of the heater and the new spot-defrosting outlets on the instrument panel which direct air to the upper area of the windshield.

Mercury's 13 models for 1960 are topped by the Park Lane series in a two-door cruiser (hardtop), a four-door cruiser (hardtop) and a two-door cruiser and a four-door cruiser. The five Monterey models are a two-door and a four-door sedan, a two-door and a four-door cruiser and a convertible.

Two Country Cruiser four-door station wagons with hardtop styling are offered, both six-passenger models with optional self-storing third seat, and a rear window which slides into the tailgate. They are the Colony Park, with simulated wood paneling and the Commuter.

Van Doren Sought, But Can't Be Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big money winner Charles Van Doren is billed for a command appearance when the congressional probe of television quiz shows resumes Nov. 2.

House investigators issued a subpoena last Friday for the youthful Columbia University English instructor. But Van Doren can't be found.

Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, on Monday accused Van Doren of deliberately evading service of the subpoena.

Harris said Van Doren "seems to have challenged the committee and the facts which have been developed."

The investigation recessed Monday after six days of testimony about rigging of big-name television quiz contests by providing advance questions and answers to contestants.

Harris said a diligent search had been made by committee staff members and others for Van Doren, who won fame and $129,000 by knowing the right answers at the right time on the now defunct "Twenty-One" quiz show.

Van Doren became a $50,000-a-year National Broadcasting Co. employee after his fabulous winnings on the NBC program in 1956 and 1957.

The subcommittee previously had "invited" Van Doren to testify. But it received no reply to the invitation extended after he had volunteered to make himself available.

Between the time of the invitation and the subpoena, NBC suspending Van Doren from his job—including appearances on the "Today" show—pending determination of the House inquiry. Columbia University has given him a week's leave from his teaching duties.

Harris referred to what he called Van Doren's "challenging" offer of last Wednesday to testify voluntarily and of the committee's invitation to Van Doren to appear Thursday or Friday at his own convenience.

In his offer to testify, Harris said, Van Doren stated he had received no advance assistance in any form on "Twenty-One."

The developed facts, Harris said, are "that more than 50 per cent of the 'Twenty-One' shows were rigged or fixed," and for that reason the testimony of one of the biggest money winners of them all was vital.

Van Doren's name was not officially linked to scandals in public testimony, although committee members said his name cropped up frequently in closed-door testimony by producers and others connected with the "Twenty-One" show. The nature of the closed-door testimony has not been revealed.

First public mention of Van Doren's name during the hearing was made by Herbert Stempel of New York, who lost to Van Doren in December 1956, after having won $49,500 on the show.

Stempel told the committee he was instructed by the show's producers to lose to Van Doren.

"Twenty-One" wasn't the only quiz show about which the committee heard testimony of improper procedures. Other witnesses told of "taking a dive" on "Dotto" and "Tic Tac Dough."

What the committee plans to do about preventing the public from being duped in the future is uncertain. Current indications are it will recommend stiff changes in communications and fair trade practice laws.

Officials of the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Trade Commission testified there was serious doubt that they had authority to take action under existing law. There is the matter of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech, they said, and of whether deceptive entertainment constitutes deceptive advertisement of the sponsoring product.

A law making it a criminal offense to rig a television show might have a salutary effect, said Earl W. Kinter, FTC chairman.

John C. Doerfer, chairman of the FCC, said he could not pinpoint any law violations directly connected to the rigging.

Hagler On Trial In Swindling Case

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—David Fred Hagler of Fort Worth went on trial Monday on charges of swindling an Oklahoma City couple in a food club operation.

Hagler, acquitted of a torch slaying near Sulphur, Okla., in 1956, is charged with fraud in obtaining $201 from E. L. and Dorothy Drane who obtained goods from his Oklahoma Wholesale Food Distributing Co.

Drane said he was assured that by paying $78 membership fee he would be able to secure meats at wholesale prices from Hagler's firm.

An assistant city attorney said that instead, Hagler provided meats through another Oklahoma City firm and not at wholesale price.

Also charged is Hagler's employee, John Griffith, Griffith was granted a separate trial.

Candy Barr Loses Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strip tease Candy Barr lost her last chance Monday to escape a 15-year Texas prison term for narcotics possession. The Supreme Court refused to hear her appeal.

The actress was convicted in Dallas in February of 1957 under her real name, Juanita Dale Phillips.

There is no further appeal. Candy must now go to Texas' Goree Prison Farm for women near Huntsville.

Candy for years has claimed she is 23 years old and she doesn't look any older. She is one of the highest paid in her profession, something like $2,000 per week in New Orleans, Las Vegas, and Hollywood.

With good behavior and luck, the baby-faced blonde can get out of Goree in six years or so.

EDSEL RANGER HAS A NEW BODY Styling changes more than skin deep

1960 Edsel Features New Styling, Competitive Price

The 1960 Edsel features completely new styling, a new wide-tread, long-spring ride, and a price that is competitive with top models of the "popular three."

Edsel's third year on the market represents its third year of distinct appearance changes. It also marks the lowest, widest, most spacious Edsel in the car's history, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln division, said.

"We believe the 1960 Edsel will appeal to those who want a distinctive car at a reasonable price," Mills said.

The Edsel has been completely redesigned for 1960, and is one inch lower, almost three inches wider and 3/4 inches longer than the 1959 model. The tread has been widened by more than two inches at the front wheels and 3.6 inches at the rear to 61 and 60 inches respectively.

Most interior dimensions have been increased for greater passenger comfort. For example, shoulder room has been increased 2.8 inches and 4 inches, front and rear. Hip room is up 1.8 inches in front and 2.4 inches in the rear seat. And rear seat legroom is 1.2 inches longer.

The increased tread, together with a lower center of gravity, make the Edsel one of the most rugged cars in the industry. Because of this stability, an Edsel would have to be tilted at an angle of 62 degrees or have its outside wheels lifted more than four feet off the pavement for the car to tip over.

Edsels are offered in two series for 1960—the Ranger and Villager.

Edsel has a new body for 1960 and the styling changes are more than skin deep. For example, the "dogleg" has been eliminated by moving the windshield post forward 10 inches to allow the driver or front seat passenger to enter and leave the car without hazarding a bumped knee. Visibility has been increased 17 per cent in the front windshield and 63 per cent in the back window.

Wheelbase of the station wagon has been increased two inches to equal the passenger car 120 inch wheelbase. As a result, Edsel wagons are much more spacious.

The Edsel buyer has a choice of three engines and three transmissions, all improved over their 1959 counterparts.

Basic engine for all Edsels is the 292 cubic inch 185 h.p. Ranger V-8. This engine operates on standard gasoline and incorporates

Russians Turning Over A New Leaf?

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP)—A noted biographer of Christopher Columbus says every Columbus Day some joker comes up with a claim someone else discovered America.

Rear Adm. Samuel Eliot Morison commented Sunday night on the claim by a Soviet scholar, identified in London only as Tsypernik, that Columbus did not discover America.

Morison won a Pulitzer Prize with his account of Columbus' voyage.

a number of improvements for greater economy.

High performance engine for the Edsel line is the 300 h.p., 352 cubic inch Super Express V-8, which operates best on premium fuel. This extra cost option can be ordered in any Edsel.

For the buyer who wants maximum economy, Edsel offers its 223 cubic inch 145 h.p. six cylinder engine.

The new Edsel styling is characterized by simplicity and good taste in ornamentation, and eager curves to the body lines, giving the car a feeling of motion and alertness. A stainless steel strip outlines the leading edge of the fenders and flows back to the outboard finial. Outboard of the grille and recessed in these strips are the parking lights. The center of the die-cast honeycomb grille modifies past vertical treatments into a modernistic hourglass shape which is embellished by the Edsel emblem.

Brake lining areas have been increased more than 17 per cent on passenger cars and 28 per cent on station wagons. The self-adjusting brakes, standard on all models, have unique custom tailored linings.

GOP Panel Offers Big Economic Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican study committee today presented a sweeping plan envisioning a gross national product of 900 billion dollars a year by 1967.

It recommended a manufacturer's sales tax and reduction of individual and corporate income taxes.

The tax cuts would come only after a start is made toward reducing the huge federal debt, and would be modest at first. They would be applied "as rapidly over the next few years as the prospective surplus will permit."

For the long run, the committee proposed substantially reduced taxes and more equitable distribution of the tax burden.

The 10,000-word report on "Economic Opportunity and Progress" was the fifth and final document approved by a 40-member committee headed by Charles H. Percy, Chicago businessman. The group was named to outline long-range GOP goals.

The final report was drawn up by a 14-member group headed by Gabriel Hauge, former economic assistant to President Eisenhower and now a New York financier.

Other reports dealt with science, national security and peace, and human rights and needs. The economic report said sensible management of the public debt, combined with tax reform, an effective monetary policy and strict control over federal expenditures "will do much to help maintain a dependable currency

New Delay In Trial Former Crosby Sheriff

LAMESA — Trial of ex-Crosby County sheriff J. T. Herrington, charged with application and theft of public funds, has been postponed until Nov. 9.

District Judge Truett Smith granted the second postponement in the case after attorneys for both the prosecution and the defense took the stand in a hearing yesterday afternoon.

Judge Smith also ordered District Attorney George Gilkerson of Lubbock 72nd District court to turn over numerous volumes of public records concerning the case to defense attorney Carroll Cobb, also of Lubbock.

In an earlier session yesterday, Judge Smith had continued the case until Wednesday, but had refused Cobb's request for a postponement on grounds that basic records concerning Herrington's indictment had been refused the defense. Judge Smith said Cobb had shown a lack of diligence in the matter.

The case, originally scheduled in September here, was transferred from Crosby County on a change of venue.

DEAR ABBY

HAVE CONFIDENCE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy of 16 who is going with a real cool girl who is 15. But I am afraid to kiss her. The reason I'm afraid to kiss her is because I kissed her once and she told me I should take kissing lessons. I don't know if she was serious or not because I have kissed a few other girls and none of them ever complained. Do boys ever need kissing lessons or is this girl expecting too much? NEEDING LESSONS

DEAR NEEDING: Goes a duck need swimming lessons? There is usually more honest affection in an amateurist misfit kiss on the nose than in the cultivated technique of the experienced lover.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please reprint a letter signed TOO LATE that you had in your column last winter? It changed my way of living. Abby, and I bless you for it. Perhaps it will do for someone else what it has done for me.

DEAR ABBY: How do I introduce my mother-in-law to friends and neighbors? Do I say, "This is Jane Smith," or "Joe's mother," or "This is my mother-in-law." STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: You should say, "I'd like you to know my mother-in-law, (or Joe's mother), Mrs. J. Smith."

DEAR ABBY: I am the most broken-hearted person on earth. I always found time to go every where else but to see my dear old gray-haired parents. They sat home alone, loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give. And now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have parents to visit them and show their love and respect

Battle Of U.N. Council Seat Is Postponed After Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Efforts to fill a vacant seat in the U. N. Security Council were suspended today until next Monday after 25 ballots failed to break a stubborn East-West deadlock.

Communist Poland continued to lead Western-supported Turkey throughout the two days of secret voting in the 49-nation General Assembly. It was not able, however, to muster the required two-thirds majority.

A few delegates tried to start a compromise switch to Yugoslavia, but this failed to gain momentum. It was then agreed to drop the balloting to permit consultation among U. N. diplomats.

The vote on the 25th and final ballot was 43 for Poland and 38 for Turkey. This represented only a slight shift from Monday and was exactly the same as the 14th ballot, which opened this morning's session.

The election of Poland to the economic and social council Monday failed to produce the major switch which some Western diplomats expected. These delegates had believed that many countries would not feel like supporting Poland for seats in two major U. N. councils.

In an attempt to head off any such switch, the Soviet Union issued a statement urging Poland's supporters to stand firm.

"The election of Poland to the economic and social council by no means can or must mean that Poland cannot be simultaneously admitted to the Security Council," the Soviet delegation said.

On the 15th ballot Poland received 44 and Turkey 34.

In the voting for the Security Council seat that Japan gives to the economic and social council by no means can or must mean that Poland cannot be simultaneously admitted to the Security Council," the Soviet delegation said.

On the 15th ballot Poland received 44 and Turkey 34.

Daniel Tells Court Congress Admitted Texas' Tides Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel of Texas argued before the Supreme Court today that a close study of congressional reports would remove any doubt of the validity of his state's claim to submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

He declared the 1953 Submerged Lands Act was intended by Congress as recognition of Texas' position.

Replying to arguments made before the court Monday by Solicitor General Lee Rankin, Daniel said:

"Regardless of what may be said as to other states, it is quite certain that with respect to Texas Congress intended the measure of the grant to extend to the historic three-league boundary which Texas had as an independent nation."

He said the same three-league (10 2/3 miles) boundary existed in the laws of Texas at the time it became a member of the union and that Senate and House committee reports approving the 1953 legislation acknowledged Texas' three-league claim.

He said the act, while not mentioning Texas' specific boundary, did stipulate that a state's boundary should be recognized as "that which existed at the time such state became a member of the union."

"Here, in the words of the act itself, is the complete answer to the solicitor general's contention that Congress intended to limit all states to their present boundaries, or to his concept of a national three-mile water boundary which he would apply the moment after their admission to the Union."

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of Texas submitted detailed boundary data in support of Texas' position.

Daniel recalled that Douglas McKay, when he was secretary of interior, and then Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell testified before congressional committees that in their opinion the 1953 legislation recognized Texas' claim to three leagues.

The government wants the high court to rule that it—and not the states—is entitled to vast mineral resources that lie beneath the coastal waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Many millions in mineral bonuses, rental and royalties from the disputed area between three miles and three leagues (10 2/3 miles) are held in escrow pending a decision in the case.

The revenues came from the area off the coasts of Louisiana and Texas.

Government attorneys contend that for 150 years the United States has claimed only three miles to the seaward. Thus, since states cannot have boundaries extending beyond the national boundary, then their outer limits must also be three miles.

The states dispute the contention. In the first place, attorneys for the states say the Gulf is a special case and constitutes an exception to the three-mile limit. In the past, the government, in times past, has supported a three league line.

They also cite that Congress in the 1953 Submerged Lands Act, recognized claims of the Gulf Coast states to submerged lands beyond three miles.

In arguments Monday, U. S. Solicitor General Lee Rankin spelled out several times the government position that the U. S. line is three miles seaward and "no state boundary can extend one foot or even one inch beyond the national boundary."

To this Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion replied:

"If no state territorial boundary may exist outside a national boundary and if the Congress has approved state boundaries existing beyond three miles, it necessarily follows that Congress approved a national boundary for the purposes of the Submerged Lands Act in fixing historic state boundaries as the measure of the grant (to states)."

What Congress meant in the act is at issue in the case. The two sides disagree on that as they disagree on virtually all other of the many knotty legal points involved.

Rankin is carrying the government's argument in the 13 hours of presentation being allowed by the court.

Although Texas and Louisiana have the most at stake in the case, the position they take is supported by Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

Chief Justice Warren (Calif.) and Justice Clark (Tex.) have disqualified themselves because of prior interest in the case.

State spokesmen possibly through Thursday will present questions of pertinence to their respective states. In each case, Rankin will be given time to answer.

Deputy Resigns To Take Police Job With City

Jack Hackney, 48, went to work on the police force Monday night, working the third shift, from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. Hackney replaces Wayne Tolett, outstanding young police officer who is taking a six months tour of duty with the National Guard.

Hackney is a former policeman, having worked in the department for a year in 1957-58. He has since been in the Howard County Sheriff's department. Originally from Hillsboro, his police experience includes several FBI and other police training programs.

Hackney is being replaced on the sheriff's force by D. R. Busby, 206 Mesquite.

Miller Harris, sheriff, said that Busby began his new duties on Monday night. He is serving as night patrol deputy with A. G. Mitchell.

Busby, a long time resident of the community, formerly served as deputy sheriff and also has worked with the police city. He was more recently employed as a truck driver.

Harris said that he regretted Hackney's decision but that he understood the reason which impelled it.

"The pay scale we have for deputy sheriffs," he said, "is not attractive enough to match the pay offered by the city. In addition to the salaries, allowances made by the police for uniforms and other fringe benefits make it difficult for my department to compete."

TRUMAN

She scheduled, the newspapers say, to sit on the speaker's platform Saturday with Rayburn, Johnson, Yarborough, Skelton, and State Chairman Ed Connally of Abilene.

The line-up there looks like real party unity.

But what happens?

The Dallas conservative element of the party is all torn up about the whole thing. An outspoken conservative member of the county committee quit Monday in what he called "a declaration of independence from the lustful leadership of both major parties."

He was Ed C. Schville whom liberals dislike because he openly supported Republican Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas for election over Democratic candidates.

Democratic chairman Ed Drake of Dallas called Saturday's Truman rally "a day-long DOT convention."

He wrote Connally that the rally is sponsored "by the ultra-liberal, ADA-CIO fringe" of the party. He charges sponsors of being guilty of distortion in claiming to be a unity meeting sponsored by the official party.

Drake also charged that money raised at the rally would go "to defeat Democratic officials in this area who will not follow the liberals' orders."

Like Paul Butler, Drake told Connally, "They expect us to knuckle under or get out of the party."

And Dan Patton Jr., Dallas man heading the rally, countered with: "Only in Dallas could one find the incredible situation wherein the county chairman of a political party would attack the top state leaders of his party for attending a rally honoring a former President of the United States."

Hit-And-Run Mishap Listed

Another hit-and-run accident was included among three mishaps in the city Monday.

Producer's Wife Asking Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Movie producer Howard W. Hawks' wife is suing for divorce and asking that he be restrained from spending community assets on his racing stable.

The complaint, charging physical and mental cruelty, was filed Thursday.

Mrs. Hawks, 31, a former model, asked $4,500 monthly temporary alimony and custody of their son, Gregg, 4.

The couple married in 1953. Hawks is 63.

Mrs. Graf Is Seriously Ill

Mrs. Otis Graf Sr., 204 Washington Blvd., is in Providence Memorial Hospital in critical condition following a stroke Sunday at 6 a. m.

Graf told the Herald Tuesday that Mrs. Graf was resting as well as could be expected. Her difficulty has been diagnosed as a brain tumor and it is possible that brain surgery may be attempted Thursday.

Mrs. Graf had been in El Paso for extended examination by a neurosurgeon and was preparing to return home Saturday. She did not feel well, however, and decided to stay over Sunday. Graf was preparing to go to El Paso to rejoin her for the trip home when he received word of the stroke.

She had been at St. Joseph's but had been moved to room 463 in Providence Memorial.

Rossellini Seeks Delay

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini is seeking to delay the return to Ingrid Bergman of the three children born of their now broken union.

An attorney for the Italian film director asked Rome's Civil Court to set aside a court order that the children be returned to the Swedish film star this month.

The court had ruled Sept. 9 that the children could remain in Italy with their father until Oct. 7.

There he was to return the children to her in Paris.

Mrs. Bergman now is the wife of Swedish industrialist Lars Schmidt. Her courtroom meeting with Rossellini last month was their first since Nov. 2, 1957, when a legal separation ended their once romantic union.

The children are Renato, usually called Roberto, now 9 years old; and the 6-year-old twins, Isotta and Ingrid Isabella.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: TED DAWSON, Odessa Permian football coach, after his team had been waxed by Corpus Christi Ray:

"A good club like Ray, and they can be great, can make you look so bad that you can't determine just how your own team did play. It does prove that a city with a multiple-school system can field a great football team."

Manager BILLY JURGES of the Boston Red Sox, after watching the former Baylor athlete, Jerry Mallett, play the outfield for him the past few games of last season:

"I like the way Mallett swings a bat. He's a right-handed long-ball hitter who might be just the man we need to play center field in Fenway Park."

AN EASTERN SPORTS WRITER, returning to his hotel in Chicago after the White Sox had been routed in the World Series: "Chicago looked better throwing it (in the Black Sox era of 1919)."

GIG ROONEY, manager of Curley Lee, the Negro boy who fights Cleveland Williams in Houston tomorrow night: "My boy is well schooled, so don't let the fact that he has had only 15 fights fool you. He's got as much savvy as Williams and is a lot better fighter. We know we're taking a chance fighting Williams; but we're tired of waiting. We have a chance to meet the Zora Foley-Eddie Mitchen winner on the Coast. They're supposed to fight in November. If we lose this one that chance is out, but we don't expect to lose."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS: "If the Milwaukee Braves move their spring training headquarters away from Bradenton, Fla.—and there are reports that they will—watch them consider Chandler, Arizona, as an alternative. They've had men checking the weather in Chandler for the past two springs—and the citizens are building a ball park in an effort to lure the Braves away from Florida."

ARCHIE MOORE, lightweight boxing champion, discussing Ingo Johanson, the Heavyweight king: "I don't think he could hurt me. I don't think he could even hit me."

AL WATROUS, the golf pro: "Sam Snead will be 50 when the 1961 U. S. Open is played. If he wins it then, he'll be the first senior to do so, and I think he would come back and do it again."

THE HOUSTON POST: "An announcement from Las Vegas says the 1960 Tournament of Champions, scheduled for May 5-8, is dropping its Calcutta auction, which reached a staggering total of $380,000 this year. The Calcutta has been absorbing growing criticism in recent years."

ROBIN ROBERTS, Philadelphia pitcher: "I worked out with the Phils in Chicago in 1948, coming down from Michigan State, and also had arrangements to work out with other big league teams. I would have signed for anything; I just wanted to play ball. I warmed up and threw a few balls to Cy Perkins and I can still hear Cy saying to Bob Alexander, then the traveling secretary of the Phils, 'Don't let this boy get out of the ball park.' The Phils offered me $5,000 and I told them I had a date to work out with other teams. Then they went to $10,000 and to $15,000 and finally, at Perkins' urging, they offered me $25,000. When I was a youngster, I always promised my mother someday I'd build her a home. So I asked if $25,000 would be enough to build a home and Alexander said it would. So I signed with the Phils."

EVEN A COACH IS AILING

Football Casualty Report Reads Like Bull Run Tiff

The Big Spring Steers, reeling from the effects of four successive defeats, are in bad shape physically—perhaps the worst in the history of the school.

Coach Al Milch was wondering Monday if he would be able to put 11 able bodied boys on the field here Friday night against El Paso Austin.

Of the Steer backs, only Jerry Tucker, James Gilbert and David Maberry—all sophomores—are "whole."

Among the youngsters ailing are Tommy Whalley, Jimmy Madry, Benny Edwards, Jerry Dunlap, Jack Irons and Ronnie Clanton. Most have miseries in their legs.

In the line, among those favoring injuries are Gary Pickle (pinched nerve in his shoulder), Robert Carr (bad ankle), Bud Bridges (bad ankle), Tommy Rutledge (bad ankle) and Air Cobb (bad leg).

In addition, center Mackie Alexander missed practice Monday due to a siege of the flu. Alexander became ill Saturday and has been in bed most of the time since then. Richard Atkins was running in Alexander's place in practice Monday and Milch has moved several boys up from the B team to fill voids in other spots, among them Johnny Cone.

Milch was moaning low, he stated.

Milwaukee Pulls Out Of Midland

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are pulling out of the Sophomore League.

The National League club announced Monday that it was discontinuing its working agreement with Midland, Tex., and shifting it to Davenport, Iowa, of the Midwest League.

Farm director John Mullen said Jack Quinn, who served as business manager at Midland the past two seasons, would move to Davenport.

ed, because he reasoned the Steers had their best chance to win a game Friday. Austin is down, too, although it has shown flashes of brilliance.

As if the situation were critical enough for manpower, assistant coach Curtis Kelley had to pass up Monday's workout. Kelley is having tooth trouble and had to call a dentist Sunday night to have one pulled.

Jerry Hutchens, who had won a regular spot in the line, decided to call it quits. Hutchens told Milch he was buying a car and had decided to go to work.

Another grizzer who checked in his equipment was R. L. Lasater, fleet back, who said he wanted to concentrate on track.

Milch didn't want to risk any additional injury Monday and told the boys to go in early. In the main, Al and his aides experimented with boys who can fill in the regular spots, in event they have to be used.

STEERS, HOGS BOTH HAVE GREAT SPEED

By The Associated Press

The main reason for Texas' fine football team is speed. They're saying the same about Arkansas. So when these two teams meet Saturday night at Little Rock in the battle of the Southwest Conference's unbeaten it might resemble a track meet.

The Texas (Arkansas) struggle was the major topic Monday as the conference teams opened training for the games that are coming up—Texas A&M vs. Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Southern Methodist vs. Rice at Houston, Baylor vs. Texas Tech at Waco and that melee that's scheduled in the Ozarks.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was trying to get his boys down out of the clouds over their 19-12 triumph over bitter foe Oklahoma. He said he was uneasy about the Arkansas game and put emphasis on defense against the Razorback speed and heads-up play demonstrated in the 23-7 victory over Baylor last week.

Texas isn't expected to have any injuries and Arkansas thought it also would be at full strength. Quarterback Jim Monroe is due to be fully recovered from shoulder and hip bruises and linebacker Barry Switzer is expected to return to full duty.

Rice was rounding into its best physical condition of the season as the winless Owls looked toward their first conference game. Only guard Gerald Gussler, who may be through for the season because of a knee injury, will be missing. A crowd of better than 50,000 is anticipated.

Southern Methodist may have to meet Rice without its dependable No. 2 quarterback and defensive star, Ken Lowe. Lowe had strained ligaments in his knee and was wearing a cast Monday.

Otherwise SMU should be in top condition.

Texas Christian and Texas A&M had players on the ailing list but all are expected to be ready by Saturday when the Frogs and Cadets clash in the only day game on the schedule. Charley Miltstead, the great Aggie quarterback, had a knee hurt but the only A&M player on the doubtful list was end Ralph Smith, who had an injured shoulder.

Texas Christian was glad to learn that guard Roy Lee Rambo, who at first was thought to have an incapacitating shoulder injury, would be all right. End Bubba Mayer, who suffered an ankle sprain against Texas Tech, was the most doubtful.

Coach John Bridgers was making some changes at Baylor. The most prominent was sending sophomore Bobby Ply to first team quarterback back replacing Ronnie Stanley, who had started all three of the Bears' games to date. Halfbacks Ronnie Bull and Bill Pretridge had injuries but were ex-

Abilene, Breck, Stamford Rated Tops In Grid Poll

DALLAS (AP)—Abilene, Breckenridge, Stamford and Stinnett top the four divisions of Texas schoolboy football in the Dallas News' weekly poll.

Abilene took over the Class AAAA No. 1 spot last week when it beat San Antonio Alamo Heights 42-0. Wichita Falls, which had been tied with Abilene for the top, fell to second place.

Breckenridge was holding its lead in Class AAA, Stamford in Class AA and Stinnett in Class A. The top ten by classes:

AAAA: Abilene, Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi R. Y., Highland Park, Amarillo Tascosa, Galena Park, Arlington, Longview, Amarillo, San Angelo.

AAA: Breckenridge, Nederland, Levelland, Bay City, Cleburne, Brenham, San Marcos, Brownwood, Phillips, Snyder.

AA: Stamford, Bowie, Belton, Dimmitt, Floydada, Liberty, Brady, Denver City, New London, Freer.

A: Stinnett, Plains, White Deer, George West, Burnet, Crowell, Bishop, Mason, Liberty-Eylau, Anahuac, Gruver and Sundown tied for tenth.

Truman Is Guest On Benny's Show

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ex-President Harry S. Truman turns up in an unlikely place next Sunday: guest star on a comedy show.

Jack Benny, his host, says he has a demand for equal time from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"I wrote him back that he's not eligible for my show until he makes president," Benny quipped.

Benny and Nixon have been friends for years.

"I'm neither a Republican nor a Democrat," said Jack in explaining why he is so friendly with leaders of both parties. He said Nixon had written him congratulating him on the show business coup of snagging the former President of the United States as a guest star.

"Some of my friends have advised me that I should demand equal time," Nixon wrote Benny. "I think he was kidding," said Jack.

A reporter asked Benny how he managed to get Truman to appear with him.

"Actually," replied Benny, "I didn't ask him. He asked me."

Some months ago a columnist asked Benny if he intended to use

Oklahoma Helps Oil Average Jump

TULSA (AP)—Oklahoma was mainly responsible for an 11.140-barrel increase in daily average production of crude oil to 6,843,500 barrels during the week ended Oct. 10, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The state gained 10,750 to 495,850 barrels.

The journal estimated 1959 production at 1,996,668,000 barrels compared to 1,871,801,640 a year ago. Increases were reported for Arkansas, up 4,800 barrels to 32,500; and Louisiana, 50 to 1,019,500. Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,485,600 barrels; and New Mexico, 292,400.

Tax Institute At Tech Open To Business Men

Businessmen of the Big Spring area are among some 2,000 accountants, attorneys and tax people throughout West Texas and New Mexico who are being invited to attend the Texas Tech Tax Institute, Oct. 19-20-21 in Lubbock.

The Tax Institute, an annual event, is designed to develop the most up to date information on tax regulations as they affect the various fields of business in this area. Widely-known tax experts will be featured on the program.

Opening ceremonies will be at 10 a.m. on Oct. 19.

Among the speakers to appear during the three-day institute will be Godfrey W. Welsh, Dallas, on "Sub Chapter S"; Frank Appelman, Fort Worth, on "Oil and Gas Tax Problems"; Clark Breeding, Dallas, on "Partnership Tax Problems"; Willard G. Bowen, Denver, on "Farm and Ranch Tax Problems"; William P. Fonville, Dallas, on "Thin Incorporations"; and Peter B. Wells, Beaumont, on "Estate Valuation."

Tuesday afternoon will feature a panel discussion on "Sale and Purchase of Business." On the panel will be attorneys Carroll Cobb, Warlick Carr and Bill Parsley, with CPA's Claude White, Ray Lawrence and A. B. Segars, all of Lubbock.

Separated Twins A Bit Better

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Both the separated Stubblefield Siamese twins were a bit better today, but their conditions still are critical.

"I'd like to be able to say they've got it made, but I can't," said a University of Oregon Medical School Hospital spokesman.

"Jeanett's quiet today, and she's breathing a little bit better all the time," he said.

"They (the doctors) are finding it easier to keep secretions and mucus from clogging her bronchial tubes."

Saturday Jeanett dipped to the lowest ebb since surgeon separated the 34-month-old babies last Tuesday.

Denett continued to progress slowly. She takes about four ounces of formula every three hours.

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Stubblefield, who live on a Parma, Idaho, sugar beet farm. They were born June 29.

John Brown's Death Did More For Abolition Cause Than Life

By JOHN LUNDQUIST
HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—The bizarre Harpers Ferry raid was nearly 34 years old. John Brown and his exhausted band awaited fate inside their fort.

Of the 19 men who had marched on the federal arsenal in Harpers Ferry the night of Sunday, Oct. 16, 1859, only Brown and four others remained unscathed at dawn Tuesday. The dramatic blow against slavery had brought no slave insurrection, no support — only entrapment or death for Brown and his men.

At the first light, Col. Robert E. Lee, commanding the forces out to capture the raiders, sent Lt. J.E.B. Stuart to the heavy wooden doors of the besieged fire engine house to demand surrender.

Brown declined, unless he and his band were permitted to retreat with their hostages.

Stuart, who remembered the bearded, fierce-eyed Brown as the man "who had given us so much trouble" in the antislavery fights in Kansas, wouldn't hear of it. A dozen Marines using sledge hammers and a heavy ladder as a battering ram stormed the stronghold. Two Marines were wounded, one fatally. Their comrades bayoneted two of Brown's men to death.

THRUST PARRIED
 The storming party's leader, Lt. Israel Green, aimed a sword thrust at Brown, but the weapon bent on Brown's belt buckle. Green then beat him to the ground with the sword hilt.

The raid was over. Of Brown's 22 followers, 10 were killed, 7 escaped, and 5 were taken prisoner.

Two fugitives, captured in southern Pennsylvania within a week, were returned, tried and hanged like the other prisoners.

Now, in defeat, Brown began to fashion another type of attack—something which some contemporary Southerners had foreseen when they warned against making a martyr of the old abolitionist.

In the crowded courtroom at Charles Town, Brown bore himself with dignity and skill as the state's prosecutors presented a case of murder and treason against Virginia. Was Brown deranged, as many claimed? He rebuffed efforts to enter a plea of insanity. Through much of the trial he lay, grim and silent, on his stretcher, for his wounds still bothered him. Sometimes he protested a point.

On Nov. 2 Judge Richard Parker sentenced him to be hanged one month later. By this death, Brown himself said, he could be of greater service to the antislavery cause than by his life.

SYMPATHY SWELLED
 Fed by Brown's heroic and touching letters of peaceful resignation and unshaken conviction, sympathy in the North swelled. Proportionately, the South's disgust intensified.

The last days passed quickly for the condemned man. He was ready, he declared. His life had been varied, full and frequently violent. He had uprooted his family time and again as he went from trade to trade, place to place—tanner, shepherd, farmer, surveyor, cattle dealer, real estate speculator and wool merchant.

His hatred of slavery, grown to consuming passion, dated from early youth. But not until 1856 had he actively fought against the institution. A Bible-reading, Bible-quoting patriarch, Brown took up what he considered the sword of righteousness after following his sons to Kansas. There he led a company of raiders in wild skirmishing against proslavery forces moving in from Missouri.

BLACKEST MARK
 There, too, he acquired the blackest mark against his name in the killing of five innocent men at Osawatimie in May 1856 during one of his forays. Their chief offense was living in proslavery territory. Brown denied killing any of the victims, but as leader of the party, which included four of his sons, he certainly shared the guilt.

All this was far behind him on Dec. 2 when "they drove old John Brown to his execution, seated on his coffin in a horse-drawn cart. Thousands of troops were deployed around Harpers Ferry to prevent any last-minute attempt to free him. At an open field near Charles Town Brown mounted the scaffold.

He shook the hands of authorities near him, said a calm goodbye, and after a white hood was slipped over his head, stepped onto the trapdoor.

The sheriff asked Brown if he wanted to give a signal with a dropped handkerchief. "No," said

Harpers Ferry banners, little cannot made in Japan and flimsy swords for junior, Confederate flags, Confederate caps and pictures of Gen. Robert E. Lee. But no memorials to the famed abolitionist. Brown is buried at North Elba, N.Y.

Girl Credited Heroism To Fire Training

AP Newsfeature
 While her parents did some last-minute Christmas shopping last Dec. 22, Kathy Mueller of Billings, Mont., minded her three younger brothers.

Suddenly, she smelled smoke. She ran to the basement and found a fire in the furnace room.

Pounding on the door of the basement apartment to alert a couple living there, Kathy ran back upstairs, picked up her baby brother from his crib and with the other two youngsters holding onto her skirt, led them to safety.

Asked by fire authorities why she kept such a cool head during the excitement, Kathy replied: "I remembered my Junior Fire Marshal training."

Kathy, like four million other school children throughout the nation, each year take part in the Junior Fire Marshal program—probably the biggest single educational effort on fire prevention.

The program, sponsored nationally by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company Group, is conducted through the schools with the aid of local fire departments and businesses.

The fire departments instruct the children in how to recognize dangers, inspect their homes, correct hazards and what to do in case of fire. About 10,000 elementary schools cooperate in the program.

When the children have turned in a completed home inspection report they receive badges, signet rings and red plastic fire helmets denoting their "Junior Fire Marshal" status.

At Christmas time Junior Fire Marshals tag Christmas trees with suggestions for safe decorations and precautions in tree placement. And in the spring, the youngsters tie tags to doors urging persons to "Clean up for fire safety."

Appetite No Help To Mario Lanza

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "That damned screen — it tells such lies."
 This was Mario Lanza's peevish comment on one of the rare occasions he talked about his life-long battle with weight. He was complaining of the movie screen's tendency to make actors look heavier than they are. At the time he was a trim 183 pounds, but he soon started eating again.

Mario's main trouble was not with the lying screen but with himself. No one knew why he ate too much. Whatever the psychological quirk, it played havoc with his career and may have hastened his death at 36.

His gargantuan appetite first made its appearance in the Army. Coddled as a youngster in an Italian family, he didn't take to the military life. He found his solace in eating. He claimed that his peak weight was 241, but his

Rainshowers Sprinkle State

By The Associated Press
 Rainshowers sprinkled Texas Tuesday after a cold front moved into the Panhandle Monday night.

The pre-dawn rains fell from 20 miles south of Paris in northeast Texas to Fort Worth and on 20 miles east of Comanche. Another shower fell five miles west of Possum Kingdom Lake in the Mineral Wells vicinity.

The cold front, a mild one, at daybreak stretched along a line running from Childress to Lubbock to Hobbs, N.M.

Back of the front, in the Panhandle, temperatures dropped to the 50s, ranged in the 60s along the front's edge, and elsewhere over the state were in the upper 60s and lower 70s.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the state except along the shower line extending from Cooper to Mineral Wells to San Angelo.

Forecasts indicated much the same kind of weather for the state through Wednesday with the front dropping temperatures about 10 degrees from Monday and Tuesday's maximums.

Down temperatures ranged from 32 at Dalhart to 78 at Pampa and Galveston after maximums Monday ranging from 79 at Lubbock to 95 at Alice.

Thunderstorms and showers fell along the Texas coast Monday and inland to Laredo on the Mexico-Texas border. A tornado touched down briefly in Corpus Christi and caused an estimated $5,000 damage. Blinding rain fell with the twister.

Other tornadoes danced in a thunderstorm that struck Texas City but the vicious winds never dropped to the ground.

Rare Birds

BAYFIELD, Wis. (AP) — The bald eagle, symbol of America's fighting spirit, is becoming a rare bird throughout the continent, but can still be seen among the Apostle Islands of Lake Superior.

Several of the islands have eagle nests, always located in the tops of high trees. The eagles are seen frequently by commercial fishermen, trollers and excursionists but it is difficult to get close enough to them to get a picture.

Telltale Clues

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — It was a sticky investigation, reported detective W. J. Cotton. His written report noted balls of gum on the floor of the burglarized service station, along with some chewed gum strung around the room.

The Happiest Years...

... are often the years of maturity — those quiet peaceful years after the children are grown. But few realize that during those years they are living in a BLACKOUT.

Social Security — and most personal insurance plans provide the vital protection needed for the family if the breadwinner should die during those critical years while the children are growing up.

Social Security Old Age Benefits, company pension plans and personal insurance programs will provide an income when retirement time rolls around.

But between these two common areas of protection is the "blackout" period. If you should die during this period, your family may be a decade year without an income.

A Prudential "INCOME TO AGE 65" plan will help (1) erase the blackout period, (2) provide a cash fund to help make retirement days even more financially carefree and pleasant.

A Devotional For Today

Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. (Luke 12: 27.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, Thou who hast made all things good and hast provided for every need of soul and body, forgive us for our neglect. We thank Thee that when Thy dear Son returned to heaven, Thou didst send us the Holy Spirit, our Comforter. Keep us close to Thee. May we be witnesses this day of the living Christ. In His name we ask these mercies. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

More Spared, But To What?

The October number of Parents' Magazine is devoted entirely to a sort of journalistic materia medica of family health, except that it goes beyond the mere ingredients of remedies and explores the field of cause, effect and general application.

The Associated Press' science editor, Alton L. Blakeslee, contributed "Medical Milestones," which summarizes the great strides doctors and drugs have made against disease in the last twenty years and outlines the prospects ahead as science enters a "golden age." To quote Blakeslee: "Coming is the knowledge that could prevent premature heart attacks... drugs to control or cure leukemia and other cancers... a new chemistry of brain banishing many mental sicknesses... the ability to transplant living spare parts to replace our own sick or missing kidneys, hearts, glands and skin."

Dr. Leroy M. Burney, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, stresses "public health is community health, and community health is family health." Parents, he said, are in the front lines of defense against disease and through their cooperation share credit for "the most significant statistic of the Twentieth Century—the adding of nearly 25 years to the life expectancy of a child at birth, which has taken place within a fifty-year span."

pass as unimpaired blessings. They create other problems that must be faced with equal courage and ingenuity.

A lengthening life-span, the snatching of human bodies from the clutches of disease, more and better food and clothing, more comfortable living conditions and the spread of knowledge, are all among the marvels of the age of science.

But there are parallel and accompanying problems directly or indirectly produced by these great human accomplishments.

Overpopulation due to a soaring birth-rate and a lengthening of the lifespan produces a whole chain of potential disasters.

A church group representing scores of Protestant bodies only the other day endorsed the use of any of three methods of birth control.

A rising crime rate, especially among juveniles; corruption in all walks of life—politics, finance, commerce and, aye, even in the courts and some supposedly benevolent organizations.

The decline of morals and manners, of parental responsibility and filial respect. The degeneration of art into unimaginable, formless forms. The prostitution of music. The corruption of public taste in literature and the drama.

You name it and take it. What have we gained if we perfect our bodies to the ruin of our souls?

Bread And Beef Decision

Our own body politic resembles that of Great Britain to a remarkable degree, which isn't surprising since we are heirs of English common law, social customs and culture, and largely of blood.

So the Conservatives were swept back to power in the Parliamentary elections by a majority that surprised all hands.

Why? Hugh Gaitskill, the Labor leader, is a highly intelligent man and as highly respected.

But Labor's appeal fell on deaf ears, because like us our British cousins are meat-and-bread voters, and the Conservative government had brought the one-shake economy of Britain to an even keel, with full employment, widespread prosperity, a sound pound sterling and a burgeoning home building program that was taking more and more people out of the slums.

The people of Britain, like Americans, are basically conservative. Socialistic experiments under the Laborites had reached ridiculous lengths, just as some phases of the New Deal-Fair Deal did in this country.

Under the Socialists the British people had got their fingers burnt, and the blemishings of Labor orators fell on deaf ears.

So, they went for Harold rather than Hugh. They went for the full dinner pail. It is possible President Eisenhower's decision to go along with Macmillan in a softer attitude toward Russia might have influenced some voters under the spell of the "peace" appeal, but essentially it was the meat-and-bread, the full dinner pail magnet that pulled the Tories through.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Texas and Tennessee joined on this day in 1950 to honor the magic memory of a mutual hero, Davey Crockett.

The occasion was the unveiling of a monument to Crockett, famed first as a bear-hunting Tennessee congressman, then martyr of the Alamo.

Ashley Crockett, a grandson of the hero, and Temple Houston Morrow, grandson of Sam Houston, attended the ceremonies. Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee placed a wreath shaped like the Alamo at the foot of the monument while Texas' Governor Allan Shivers tendered a floral tribute from the Lone Star State.

Crockett's prowess has overshadowed all other adventures of the hero of the Texas revolution. He was the type of hero to inspire anecdotes and tall tales. The yarns about him since his death were no more exaggerated than those repeated during his lifetime. An unabashed personality, he presented himself to Congress as "being able to whip a wildcat with his bare hands and having the prettiest sister in the South." His terse withdrawal from Tennessee politics is worth repetition. He informed his constituents that they could go to hell and he was going to Texas.

He was addressed as "Colonel" Crockett by his fellow defenders of the Alamo. If most accounts of the battle are true, he commanded the garrison after the death of William Barrett Travis, and was among the last slain.

Marxists In Danger Of Becoming Tories

The Soviet Union's Communists will make conservative capitalists of themselves yet if they don't watch out.

And if the Soviet Marxists turn into old-fashioned Tories, Nikita Khrushchev's gambling will have played a large part in the transformation.

From reading the Soviet press lately, one gets the idea Khrushchev learned something from his tour of the United States. Indications are that he didn't like what he learned.

Since his return to his own stamping ground, the No. 1 Soviet Communist has been nagging, badgering, prodding and cajoling his Communists to get on with the job of accomplishing the impossible. Catching up with the over-all U. S. economy.

Strange items appear in the Soviet newspapers, where nothing is printed by accident. A likely conclusion is that the items are part of a deliberate drive to put pressure on the Soviet bureaucracy—to build a fire under it.

Moscow dispatches tell of a letter to a Communist newspaper from a worker, who said he was fed up with Sputniks and air-liners and anxious for the regime to come down to earth and produce shoes.

The newspaper professed to be peeved by the outburst. It said the letter writer's fellow workers were angry with him for it. But then it went on to quote some of them as saying they also wanted better clothing, furniture, shoes and television sets.

This example is one of many such popping up since Khrushchev returned from America. He, himself, added steam to the campaign. In Vladivostok, he cheerfully chided the bureaucrats for rushing goods to the stores in time for his visit. He demanded a more sensible approach to problems of supplying the consumer public.

Bobbie Has No Use For Gun

NEW YORK (AP)—"I think I speak for all my colleagues when I say we don't want to be armed," said Constable Norman Niblo of the City of London.

Constable Niblo also feels, despite a postwar growth of violence, the British public doesn't want its police to carry guns as a daily duty.

"If we do, every petty little crook will start carrying a gun. People will be hurt," he said.

Constable Niblo, a 6-foot-2, heavy-bodied man — weight 18 stone or 252 pounds — has never used a gun in nearly a quarter century as a British policeman.

The big, good-natured, 46-year-old officer is here on a good will visit to the United States. His face and form are familiar to thousands of tourists who have visited his beat, the ancient, mile-square financial heart of the British Commonwealth.

"The traffic here is fantastic," said Niblo, after a sight of Times Square. The mid-London area he and some 700 other fellow officers patrol has fantastic traffic problems of its own. Its residential population at night is about 8,000 — its workday population rises to 750,000.

A student of the historical lore of his city and his craft, Niblo brought with him a number of souvenirs of police work in London a century ago. It was in this period that the police, nicknamed "Charlies" during the reign of Charles II, came to be known as "Peelers" or "Bobbies," after Sir Robert Peel, pioneer of modern police systems.

The policeman of that time wore a high top hat and looked more like a society figure. He had no whistle. He carried a large wooden ratchet, which he whirred to summon aid. It made an infernal din. He also carried his own gas light, anchored to his belt.

Oddly, the truncheon of that day is longer and more slender, but less formidable, than the compact club Niblo carries in his daily duty, but he says he has never had to use it on a man in 24 years.

A mid-speaking man, he has a quiet pride in his ability to handle ordinary police problems with the authority of his voice and hands. By this he means the usual thing — trouble at a bar, a minor disturbance of the peace.

Among the constable's rewards for keeping the peace is a boot allowance of three or four shillings —42 to 56 cents—a week. He also has available without cost to him the services of a chiropodist, although he has never had any major foot trouble himself.

"Violence is growing a bit in the metropolitan area, including attacks on police," he said regretfully when questioned. "Most of the increase is among young people."

MR. BREGER

For some time, a key phrase in Khrushchev's program has been "material self-interest." Its obvious appeal to the acquisitive spirit sounds odd for a regime professing to be "building communism."

Last week Soviets for the first time began buying consumer goods on the installment plan, something they learned from Americans. Now the papers tell them to learn more from Americans—how to produce more goods per man, how to raise food output.

Possibly such things as material self-interest and installment buying are intended to be temporary, as stimulants to labor productivity. But in the background is an unmistakable note of impatience.

Khrushchev has seen a number of non-Communist countries, and he has just seen the United States. He would be unlikely to confess it publicly, but there is a good chance he was annoyed by the obvious superiority of the American consumer economy.

The Soviet Premier seems willing to take on added risks in an attempt to get his own consumer economy show on the road. Behind his activity is a persistent public pressure for more consumer goods by now fairly obvious to outside observers.

In spreading a doctrine of material self-interest, Khrushchev takes a chance of making the Soviet consumer more and more property-conscious. For the sake of world peace, this should be all to the good.

The better off the Soviet public is, the less it will be inclined to risk its gains for the glory of a misty doctrine. Historically it well demonstrated that well-fed, well-clothed, property-owning people tend to be conservative, from a desire to keep what they have acquired.

All In Line Of Duty

SHEFFIELD LAKE, Ohio (AP)— Volunteer fireman Charles Miller, en route to a fire, was involved in a crash with another car, crossed a ditch on the opposite side of the road, and hit a tree.

Miller got out, hailed a passing milk truck and proceeded to the fire.

They Stretch And Stretch

AKRON, Ohio (AP)— How far will a rubber band stretch? Giant versions, which look like the ordinary office rubber band, but are six feet long, are now being used in industry warehouses and shipping rooms, reports President Clyde O. DeLong of B. F. Goodrich Industrial Products Co. They will stretch 18 feet.

The king-size bands were developed to hold cartons together in stacks so they won't slip or tumble when being loaded, DeLong says.

Unlucky Samaritan

TELL CITY, Ind. (AP)— Bob Tunnell rushed through a field to warn some Boy Scouts that the area was heavily infested with poisonous copperhead snakes.

One of the snakes bit Newton. The Boy Scouts hurried him to a hospital for treatment.

Around The Rim

It's All A Matter Of Who's Boss

The way I see it, words are just tools — devices we utilize to make our views, wishes and demands known to our fellows.

And like tools, when they are in clumsy hands, the result is the same as it would be if you handed me a saw, chisel, hammer, plane, square and some nails and told me to build a piece of furniture.

The finished product in both cases would probably be pretty sloppy.

I have always adhered pretty closely to the philosophy of Humpty Dumpty as he outlined it to Alice in Mr. Carroll's well known book.

Mr. Dumpty asserted that it was a question of whether the words were to work for us or if we were to work for the words. He insisted he had solved the problem and that he had the words working for him around the clock. He added it was well worth watching to see them line up on payday to get their wages.

He went a little further than even I would choose to go. He used any word he saw fit and warped the meaning to suit whatever it was he wanted to say.

He might bluntly assert, for example, "Now that's a paradox for you." Like Alice, you might be a little puzzled since "paradox" would not seem to fit. In Mr. Dumpty's way of looking at things, "paradox" meant he had submitted a logical and indisputable conclusion to what ever subject happened to be under discussion.

Actually, we have a lot too many words. We still refer to it as Webster's Dictionary but I imagine old Noah would stand open mouthed if he could be brought back and handed a copy of the most recent unabridged edition of the book which bears his name. Back when he compiled the first dictionary, the thing was very complete for that day and still was encompassed in a relatively small book.

Today's dictionary is a huge volume and the next one will be even bigger. We are adding words to the list by the hundred; now that space age is with us, we are amplifying our vocabulary with thousands of words and terms which 15 years ago would have been gibberish.

A slang phrase of today is an accepted word tomorrow.

A word which was perfectly acceptable in granddad's day is no longer useable. Hundreds of good words which the original Mr. Webster put in his book are now identified in the current edition as archaic or obsolete.

All of which leads me to the point of this entire dissertation. Words and the way they are employed change, become obsolete and in some cases vulgar as time passes. A word which two hundred years ago was used by all walks of society and no one ever so much as thought it off-color cannot be even whispered today.

Therefore, when some purist pops up and insists some writer or speaker has mispronounced a word or misused it in a sentence, on what basis does he make his protest?

When I was a kid the word "sword" was pronounced "sord" and "wound" was "woond." Then came a period when you sounded the "sw" and referred to an injury exactly as you referred to rolling up a ball of string.

Now (I think) we have gone back to the old pronunciation.

So Mr. Dumpty was right. If the word fits your particular need, even though some precisionist shakes his head in horror — use it. Who's the boss? — you, or the dadblamed words?

Beauty And The Bicarbonate

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — No matter how much the auto makers and big steel flex their statistical muscles, I am convinced that the biggest industry in the United States is the care and feeding of home-grown tourists.

In this vast and beautiful country, the American tourist is king Europe may reel under his impact in summer, but his own country takes the tourist in his vast stride, in his motorized seven-league boots.

The highways and byways are organized for his pleasure and his comfort. There is such an infinity of motor courts and motels lining the highways that they seem one continuous structure, all boasting far more than the comforts of home, including wall-to-wall carpeting, free teevee and air-conditioning.

Dear one, I can remember when the motel business was just getting under way and its innocent boast was "beauty, rest mattresses and flush toilets." Today, such primitive refinements are SOP and not worth mentioning.

Now, as Indian summer dances across the land in a last breathtaking fling before the advance of winter, the highways are almost as filled with tourists as in midsummer. There are hordes of us on the road, drinking in the incredible autumnal beauty and bounty of our own, prodigal native land.

The sky above us is a bright blue canopy piled with enormous, whipped-cream clouds. The sun is warm and brilliant, and for hundreds of miles the land has rolled away in rich and varied beauty. The fields are still green, except for the corn in beige-gold shocks. The wooded hills are only touched with the autumn fire that will consume them in another 10 to 14 days.

The dogwoods are already a deep red and an occasional maple limb is a gaudy scarlet torch ready to ignite the rest of the forest.

Rubicon For Atomic Testing

WASHINGTON — The date of Oct. 27 is ringed on quite a few official calendars as the beginning of the first trial of the new atmosphere. It is a trial that may well determine whether the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks marked the start of a long period of hopeful negotiation or were merely a brief exercise in goodwill.

On that date the three nuclear powers — Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States — will resume in Geneva the attempt to agree on a permanent suspension of nuclear tests under a thorough system of inspection and control. During the year the talks have gone on all three have voluntarily suspended their tests and the United States announced that this voluntary ban would continue until the end of the year.

But if the three do not agree then the prospect for the future is ominous, to say the least. It is not merely that this will seem to signal the futility of all disarmament negotiation, based on control and inspection. The likelihood is that the nuclear club will be enlarged until atomic weapons are so widely dispersed that a nuclear war, whether by accident or design, becomes inevitable.

Sober, serious men who have devoted many months to the negotiation of this thorny, incredibly difficult issue see it as a kind of now-or-never choice. They may be pardoned if at times they hear the ticking of a bomb that they feel must somehow be de-fused.

The French are readying their first test of an atomic device at their proving grounds in the Sahara. This will probably not come before the United Nations General Assembly adjourns late in December. To set off the device now, despite the running fire of criticism from the African nations, delivered in Assembly speeches, would be to aggravate the question of Algerian independence.

But if the French device (it is said to be so primitive and so large that no airplane can carry it) is set off before an agreement is reached, then the fat will be in the fire. That would mean an almost irresistible pressure on Moscow to give

The bounteous harvest, pressed down and running over, is glimpsed in every field and barn. It spills over into the roadside stands crammed with golden pumpkins, apples, the last ruby tomatoes and other garden truck. Fresh-pressed cider, local syrups, honey and homemade jelly are available every hundred feet.

The last roses of summer are in bloom everywhere. Gardens are gay with the final, autumnal bursts of salvia, zinnias, coxcomb, morning glories, asters, petunias, marigolds, cannas, geraniums, honey suckle and dahlias.

It has been a singularly moving experience to roll through most of Pennsylvania and Virginia, two of the nation's most beautiful states, in a single day and to note suddenly that the brave soldier at the old-fashioned monument who guards the old town square has changed, at some invisible point, from the Man in Blue to the Man in Gray.

At this same invisible point, the awful rock 'n' roll din of the radio up North is replaced by the whining din of the endless hillbilly guff down South. The hillbilly music alternates with "Gospel Songs" that vary from intolerable to excellent. Only yesterday I was entranced to hear a fine gospel quartet sing "He Is the Lily of the Valley," an old-fashioned hymn one seldom hears any more and that was my father's favorite.

If, over the past 20 years, the bedding down of the motorized tourist has improved immensely, the board has, if possible, degenerated. I hesitate to suggest that the tourist include among his equipment a stomach pump, but he may eventually thank me for this advice.

While the teevees in the motor courts get bigger and bigger and the carpets thicker and thicker, the roadside food grows more indigestible. Pass me the bicarb, boys, and hope for the best.

C-City Plans Build Municipal Airstrip

COLORADO CITY—The Colorado City Council approved a resolution Monday night to call a bond election for funds to match federal aid in building an airstrip. The election will be called provided a suitable petition is filed by Colorado City voters. The bond election would ask for $75,000 to add to funds on hand for a total of $94,550, which would be matched by funds from the federal government.

City Manager R. K. Sneath said that the petition was needed to "satisfy the federal government that we are in earnest in wanting them to allocate funds for this project."

The resolution also gave the city permission to work with the county in providing a county fair grounds on part of the property the city proposes to acquire for the airport. The council also discussed the sale of a portion of city property near the Latin American district of La Union with Leonard Henderson, public housing director. It agreed to accept $4,893 for the property—$500 less than the appraised price. Henderson told the council that the low rent housing committee was attempting to acquire two pieces of property—that owned by the city and a strip on College Ave. on the east edge of town owned by the Jordan Estate. Henderson told the council that the Housing Administration would spend only a set amount in buying the two pieces of property and that the Jordan estate property would cost $500 more than the appraised value.

The council also accepted a petition from Austin McCloud and others requesting a public hearing on a change in minimum water rates passed at the council meeting last month. The new rate system requires a higher minimum for water users who have a larger water tap than the basic four-fourths inch tap, and affects—according to Sneath—less than 5 per cent of water users. The public hearing was set for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 26.

The council also: (1) Voted to request bids on the laying of 2,400 feet of six and eight inch pipe.

(2) Agreed to hold a public hearing on the recommended zoning of the large area annexed to Colorado City earlier in the year.

(3) Voted to bring city employees under additional retirement protection following a plan offered by the Texas Municipal System, set up by the last Legislature. The plan would mean an estimated extra expense of about $20 a month.

(4) Closed the old bridge over Lone Wolf Creek on the Old Snyder Road, effective Nov. 1, to vehicles weighing over 4,000 pounds. The bridge built in 1935 is heavily traveled and is both a rural route and school bus route. Sneath said the road would be closed beginning Tuesday for repairs.

(5) Requested the Highway Department to make a traffic count at 6th and Hickory with the possibility of installing a traffic light.

Unitarian Fellowship Is Organized In City

A Unitarian Fellowship was formed last night following a meeting in Settles Hotel of those interested in the liberal religious movement.

John Findlater was named temporary chairman; Bob Dyer, vice chairman; and Mrs. Homer Phillips, secretary.

The group will meet again at 8 p.m. Sunday at Findlater's home, 1202 Douglas St., and he invited anyone interested in Unitarianism to attend.

Monroe Husbands, of Boston, national director of fellowship for the American Unitarian Assn., traced the liberal religious movement in America, and pointed out there are no creedal tests for membership in Unitarian churches or fellowships.

He said the movement is more concerned with making the community a better place in which to live than with creeds and philosophies.

Lack of a formal creed or theology, Husbands pointed out, does not mean that Unitarians believe nothing. Rather, each individual is encouraged to develop his own beliefs, based on his own feelings, experience and powers of reason.

The only requirement, he said, is that the Unitarian come by his beliefs honestly and sincerely.

Husbands defined "liberal" in religion as supporting absolute freedom of conscience. He said the Unitarian movement closes its doors to no one, not even unbelievers.

"We have nothing to fear from agnosticism or atheism," he added. "Truth will always win in the open market place of ideas. We believe every man has the right to be heard."

Unitarian fellowships were organized in 1948, and consist of 10 or more adults united into a lay group, where there are not 55 or more families, as required, to form a church.

Assault Case Disposition Is Still Pending

Cleveland Jackson, 17, 509 NW 5th, is in jail tentatively charged with assault with intent to commit murder. However, what disposition will be made of the matter was not definitely settled on Tuesday morning.

Jackson, who recently was placed under a five-year probation sentence for assault with intent to kill, is accused in this new charge with firing a pistol at Leslie Mae Wesley.

The altercation seems to have developed in Jalisco Cafe around 9 p.m. Monday.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said he was considering what to do with the case.

Both the woman and Jackson made statements to officers and in each it was indicated the shot fired was outside the cafe and that the complaining witness was inside at the time. There is confusion, it was said, whether the shot was actually fired at the woman.

Jackson left the scene of the quarrel but telephoned Fern Cox, deputy, a short time later and asked that the officer take him to jail until the dispute could be settled.

Homecoming For Coahoma

COAHOMA — A group of Coahoma High School ex-students met recently in the high school library to make plans with the student council for the homecoming football game activities on Nov. 6 when the Coahoma Bulldogs will play Roby.

It was decided that only non-residents will be mailed written invitations and it is hoped by the committee that all ex-students will know of the time and place of the activities.

Name cards, with the place for the name and year in which each last attended school here, are being mailed for everyone.

Immediately following the game a reception, with refreshments will be held in the high school gymnasium. Six refreshment tables will be set up and there will be room for everyone. A history of Coahoma school is being prepared by Mrs. Clovis Phinney and will be ready by her son, Ricky Phinney.

Any one who has pictures, news clippings or school souvenirs he would like to have on display is asked to take them to the high school office. Mrs. Phillip Winn will be in charge of arranging the display.

The student council and a committee from the ex-students will be working together on the arrangements for the annual homecoming dance which will be held after the reception in the school cafeteria.

Chicago Fire Gave Birth To Fire Prevention Week

AP Newsfeatures
On the night of Oct. 8, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lighted lamp in a pile of hay. A gusty wind spread the flames to surrounding buildings and by the next night, 250 persons were dead and 17,000 buildings destroyed.

This was the great Chicago fire out of which came Fire Prevention Week. In 1911, the 40th anniversary of the Chicago fire, the Fire Marshals Assn. of North America set aside the week of Oct. 8 as Fire Prevention Week and it was officially proclaimed by President Harding in 1922.

The Chicago fire, while perhaps the most famous in American history, was not the most disastrous. In terms of lives lost, the most tragic was that at Peshtigo, Wis., also on Oct. 8, 1871, when fire swept across countryside and engulfed the town and environs, killing 1,152.

The burning of the excursion boat Gen. Slocum off New York in 1904 killed 1,030.

The greatest property damage was in the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 which leveled 28,000 buildings worth 350 million dollars. Damage in the Chicago fire was 175 million dollars. The Boston fire of 1872 caused 75 million dollars property damage.

The highest property damage of any recent fire was 50 million dollars when an auto transmission plant at Livonia, Mich., burned in 1953.

Wet Discovery

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — Christopher Columbus learned in 1492 that discovering America can be a very tiring thing. Carl Pisanò learned it Sunday.

Pisanò, a make-believe Columbus attired in appropriate costume, fell into the Atlantic during a pageant commemorating the discovery of America.

A Red Cross official fished the 1959 Columbus out of the water and he proceeded to shore where he was greeted by "Indians."

Sweetheart

Rose Ann Anarotone, a Texas Woman's University junior from Memphis, Tenn., was named Aggie Sweetheart by Texas A&M judges. She will reign for a year.

Ike Seeks First Place As Elder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower this week enters the last lap of a timely race to determine the oldest President we've ever had.

On Wednesday — appropriately while he's in his old home town, Abilene, Kan. — Eisenhower will become 69. Only two other presidents, Andrew Jackson and James Buchanan, reached that age while in the White House.

Then if all goes well—and his physicians give him an excellent report card for a man who has had his serious ailments—a year from now he will be the oldest President of all. Not one has been 70.

Andy Jackson came close. He was 11 days shy of his 70th birthday when he finished his second term. Buchanan lacked 50 days of being 70 when he stepped aside for Abraham Lincoln.

Eisenhower will be 70 years and three months old at the completion of his two terms on Jan. 20, 1961.

Soviet Space Training Told

MOSCOW (AP) — Training of Soviet spacemen has been described for the first time in some detail by the magazine Ogonok. The training appears designed primarily to simulate conditions of rocket flights up to 300 miles.

The Russians say some of their experimental dogs have returned safely to earth as many as four times from such high altitude flights.

It has been expected here for some time that the next step in Soviet space exploration will be to send a man into the outer reaches of the earth's atmosphere with the hope of bringing him back alive.

Ogonok's article on this weekend as Lunik III, a 614-pound Soviet flying laboratory, was reported to have headed back toward earth from a week's flight 291,650 miles out in space, designed to send it around the hidden side of the moon.

The space trainees program appears to resemble that undertaken in the United States by seven officers of the U.S. armed forces.

Eleanor Would As Soon Forget 75th

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says she would have been just as happy if nobody had noticed her 75th birthday Sunday.

The phone rang so much with congratulatory telegrams and cablegrams that her secretary finally asked that they be sent by mail.

He Found It Hard To Bear

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — A railway machinist and part-time hunting guide is recovering from a mauling by a grizzly bear.

Bob Wilkinson, 41, of Great Falls suffered a lacerated heel and wrenched knee last Thursday in a tree-top struggle with the bear in a wilderness area of northwestern Montana.

Wilkinson was tracking elk when he encountered three grizzlies. Two of the animals moved away when they saw Wilkinson, but the other — estimated to weigh 450 pounds — turned.

Wilkinson turned too — for the nearest tree.

The bear first started to leave the scene, but returned before Wilkinson was more than five feet off the ground. The bear gained rapidly on Wilkinson and clawed off his boots.

"With boots gone," said Wilkinson, "I could get a good hold and kept climbing until I ran out of tree." The tree was 15 feet tall.

"I sat there in the tree top and looked down at the grizzly," Wilkinson said Sunday night from a hospital bed, "thinking I had him licked. Then he started up the trunk after me."

The grizzly grabbed one of Wilkinson's ankles in his mouth. When they both fell—the bear all the way to the ground and Wilkinson to branches a short distance off the ground.

"I thought I was dead. I waited for him to come back and finish me," said Wilkinson.

But the grizzly was through. He lumbered away.

K's Crimes Published

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony of nine witnesses on purges, terrorism and man-made famine in the Ukraine during the 1930s and 1940s has been released in a new congressional report titled "The Crimes of Khrushchev."

The report, second of a series being released by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, contains testimony taken Sept. 9, 10 and 11 prior to the arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on Sept. 15 for his U. S. tour.

Nicholas Prychodko, an engineer from Toronto, Canada, testified he lived in the Ukraine during the 1930-33 famine.

Prychodko said most of the Ukrainian food crop was exported on orders from Moscow because of resistance in the Ukraine to the Communists. He said that at that time Khrushchev was in the Ukraine as "one of the esteemed executors of Stalin's genocide of the Ukrainian population."

Petro Pavlovych, former editor of a newspaper in the Ukrainian community of Vinnitsa, told of the 1943 discovery there of 95 mass graves of 9,429 bodies—victims of a 1937-38 purge when Khrushchev was first secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist party in the Ukraine.

The former editor said his real name is Apollon Trembow and that he now lives at Orranna, Pa.

Straight, Narrow
WOODGLEN, N. J. — Restaurant owner Karla Triska Pikna, 38, is a woman who can say she got to where she is by walking the straight and narrow.

NEW BATTER WHIPPED BALDRIDGE'S
... SO MUCH BETTER YOU SEE THE DIFFERENCE

COMPARE! CONVINCING YOURSELF!

One look... and you'll see the heavenly smoothness that makes Baldrige Bread look better, toast better, stay fresher longer than ever. One bite... and you will discover Baldrige's own special heavenly flavor. Baldrige's high-speed miracle mixer whips a batter-like mixture in small batches. That's why regular bread — slowly beaten a ton at a time — can't compare for texture, flavor, or lasting freshness. Compare Baldrige's — the only bread that's Batter Whipped. See and taste how good bread can be!

WE TOOK THE SECRET FROM YOUR OWN KITCHEN!

Baldrige's is whipped at high speed—the way you whip cream — to make truly better bread!
