To Live In Mexico

Visiting in the W. J. Beckham home at Lamesa prior to moving to Mexico City to make their home are four members of the family of Turner Smith, a member of the U.S. Diplomatic Service for several years. Mrs. Smith, a sister to Mrs. Beckham stands on the stairway, while the three daughters, Jackie, 13; Jody, 11; and Emily, 8, stand before her.

'Immigrants' To Old Mexico Visiting Lamesa Relatives

By VIVIAN LEE
LAMESA—Four members of an American family waiting to enter Mexico as immigrants are visiting in Lamesa. Mrs. Turner Smith, with three of her five children, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Beckham, while Smith takes care of the "red tape" involved in a move to Mexico.

Little difficulty is anticipated since Smith is an attorney, and is to be associated with an established law firm in Mexico City. He has recently terminated a career in the U. S. Diplomatic Service which began following his service with the U. S. Navy in World War II.

During these years, Mrs. Smith has developed an astonishing talent. She has learned to make a home for her husband and their children on her thousands of miles from their Virginia farm. She has faced the challenge of entertaining with an entourage of servants who must be instructed in a foreign tongue and to observe the protocol of the diplomatic service.

Yet when asked what travels she most likes to talk about she quickly replied, "My trips to West Texas to visit sister Jody (Mrs. Beckham) when I was a young girl."

NARROW ESCAPE
One of the most exciting adventures in the lives of the Smith family occurred while they were living in Turkey.

A party of some 12 Americans, including Mr. and Mrs. Smith, their three older children and their guest, the son of the naval attaché to Turkey, left their quarters about 8 a.m. They were only one small party among thousands taking boats into the Marmara Sea to vantage points where they might view the American Naval fleet turning around the Dardanelles before going back into the Mediterranean to continue their cruise.

Little did they realize when the motor "conked out" on their 18-foot boat that they were to be the principal characters in a real-life drama as full of suspense as the most exciting fiction.

It was about 5 p.m. that day when the last ferry at sea had passed them by; they remained undiscovered because of the sun on the water and were still unaware of their plight.

Fishing boats had left the sea when winds came from both directions; Turkish fishermen are superstitious about sailing under such conditions and the Americans found themselves alone, drifting farther and farther from Istanbul.

With Mrs. Smith's dress and the men's shirts for sails, the boat came to shore on the opposite side of the sea near a watch fire on the beach about 3 the following morning.

Then came the hours when the group walked from native village to native village, and it was late afternoon on the following day when the Americans reached a telephone where they could contact Istanbul.

Meanwhile the search had begun for the missing men in the diplomatic service and their party. Mrs. Smith said the calculations of the rescuers were amiss because they did not reckon correctly the speed at which their boat might travel with an improvised sail. Their position and traveling speed were judged by the current in the sea alone. After three or four boats were found capsized during the search, word was dispatched to the United States that the party was missing at sea.

In Lamesa, Mrs. Beckham had anxious hours before she was notified that her sister and her family were safe.

NO LONGER TOURISTS
The Smiths moved to Mexico City in July, entering the country as tourists. This time they will cross the border as immigrants. Their personal papers are in order, Mrs. Smith said, but they are waiting for papers to be cleared so they can take their car into Mexico.

Their furniture is crated and ready to move from Greenwood, their 200-acre farm near Haymarket, Va., and their herd of cattle there is being disposed of.

Mrs. Smith says that Mexico is hardly the place to retire and live like a king on a meager income as it once may have been. She explained that all products manufactured and imported are quite expensive, although it is true that labor in all forms is quite cheap.

The family has found import duty on new household appliances and cars make it almost prohibitive to take them into Mexico. For example, Mrs. Smith had planned to trade her four-year-old washer for a new machine before

Medaris Background Shows Good Reason For Resignation

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Sam Price, AP, speaks in military and space affairs, interviewed Maj. Gen. Medaris in September on the progress of the Saturn program. His story, released in October, had repercussions in high places. Here he analyzes what led up to Medaris' decision to resign.

By BEN PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. John Bruce Medaris, stepping down as Army missile chief after four years of rocket successes and political defeats, says he is not quitting because of dissatisfaction with the U.S. space program.

The announcement that he will retire Jan. 31 came just seven days after the White House reportedly told him to shut up.

Medaris said, however, he had submitted his resignation more than 60 days ago. "That should make it plain to you," he told a New York news conference Tuesday, "that some present-day problems were in no way connected with my decision."

The resignation, he said, was "not a matter of protest or personal dissatisfaction."

Medaris, 58, said he had been under strain for seven years and was very tired. But he conceded there was some inter-service top echelon "dickering, argument and debate" over the nation's space program.

He estimated the Soviet Union is about five years ahead of the United States in space and "we'd better just go like hell" to catch up.

Early in September Medaris received word that his big missile and space team, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, might be transferred to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The two-star general already had received word that his funds for project Saturn, key to the U.S. big leap into space had been cut from 135 million dollars to 70 million.

Saturn is the code name for the effort to develop a 1½ million pound thrust rocket engine.

In an interview at his headquarters in Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 16, Medaris appeared touchy and irritable. He finally admitted he was "mad enough to go through the roof." The interview was to be the basis for a story on Saturn due for October release.

Shortly after this interview the fact that the Nike-Zeus antimissile missile program was undergoing a re-evaluation became public.

On Oct. 12 the Medaris interview of Sept. 16 was published. Medaris was critical of the program being made on the Saturn program and, indeed, the whole U.S. space program.

"The basic problem is simple," he said. "There must be a positive decision. Are we or are we not going to compete with the Russians? If we are there has to be a solid, well-financed program. Right now we are straddling the issue."

On Oct. 13 an Army general, who cannot be identified, reported that "the Medaris story has certainly raised hell. The White House complained to Gates and Gates complained to Lemnitzer and Lemnitzer was told to tell Medaris to shut up."

The general was referring to Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff.

The general would not say who in the White House had made the complaint.

moving, but found it impractical because of the duty involved on new appliances.

She pointed out the price of various food items, shipped from the United States, and compared to average prices here, they are usually doubled south of the border.

On the other hand, everyone has servants. It is quite common for a household to have four or five servants. The furnished house which the Smiths have leased until December is a modern stone residence built on horizontal lines with large plate glass windows. It is staffed with four servants—a cook, maid, gardener, houseboy and chauffeur. The Smiths hope to find a suitable home so that they may move their furniture by December.

The three girls, Jackie, 13, Jody, 11, and Emily, 8, started school almost as soon as they reached Mexico City. School vacations in Mexico are in December, January and May.

The Smiths' oldest child and their only son, Turner T. Smith Jr., is a student at Princeton University, and their oldest daughter, Glendore, is a high school senior at Stuart-Hall School in Staunton, Va.

Since she's pretty certain that Mexico will be home for many years, she's busy translating her favorite recipes into Spanish for the cook.

Parents Shaken At Lanza Rites
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mario Lanza's father cried out over the tenor's body Tuesday night: "Say something to me, Freddy."

Alfredo was the singer's real name.

The father, Antonio Cocozza of Philadelphia, had to be gently assisted away after a final look at Lanza's body Tuesday night after recitation of the Rosary in Blessed Sacrament Church. He screamed hysterically in Italian.

The singer's mother, Maria, bent low over his body and cried over and over: "My baby, my baby."

Lanza died of a heart attack Oct. 7 in Rome, Italy.

More than 1,500 persons attended the Rosary.

Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated today in the same church, entombment following at Calvary Mausoleum in East Los Angeles.

Most Of State Has Clear Skies
By The Associated Press
Clouds hovered over the Gulf Coast of Texas and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Wednesday, but the rest of the state had clear skies.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 70 at Brownsville to a chilly 39 at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Clear to partly cloudy skies, with no rain, was indicated through Thursday by Weather Bureau forecasts.

For the second straight day no rain was reported Tuesday anywhere in the state. Maximum temperatures Tuesday ranged from 75 at Galveston to 91 at Presidio. About the same readings were expected through Thursday.

66 Lonely Years In Mental Hospital

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—In 1893, while Grover Cleveland was president, Miss Emma McDaniel, then 32, was admitted to a mental institution.

Last week she died there after 66 years without receiving a single visitor or letter.

Records show she was committed for "simple melancholia." Staff doctors in 1941 described Miss McDaniel as a "very nice, quiet, agreeable old lady."

There's nothing like a new car and no new car like Chevrolet. This is the exciting Impala Convertible!

SIXTY'S SIZZLER The car with the year's hottest style
Is getting the warmest reception of all!
And it's no wonder... when you look at all the new and different things Chevrolet has for 1960! Come and see it!

THAT'S CHEVY!

You can tell already, by the growing number of new Chevrolets you see on the road, that this one's the sizzler for Sixty! It was bound to happen. When you make an effort to find out all the things most people want in a car, then make sure they're all designed into a car most people can afford, you're almost certain to receive a pretty hot reception.

People look over Chevrolet's 16 freshly styled '60 models. They see a choice of 24 engine-drive combinations, including a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8. They drive a Chevy. They like the way the ride has been polished and perfected with new rubber-cushion body mounts muffling road hum and vibration. They like Chevy's wide seats, its wonderfully easy handling, the whole feeling of cruising along smoothly and comfortably in a car that never tires of travel. They just can't see a good reason for looking any farther.

Matter of fact, it looks like Chevrolet has a corner on quality and fine features in its field. Even costly cars have to look to their laurels—Chevrolet sets a new standard by matching elegance with economy. By offering luxury you've never seen before in Chevrolet's price class. We've got a hunch you'll go for this one. Just try it... and see if we aren't right!

The Superlative '60 Chevrolet... nearest to perfection a low-priced car ever came!

A Devotional For Today

Examine yourselves, to see whether you are holding to your faith. Test yourselves. Do you not realize that Jesus Christ is in you? — unless indeed you fail to meet the test! (II Corinthians 13:5, RSV.)
PRAYER: Father, we are living in a sinful world. Help us as we try today to make ourselves pure and holy. Give us the strength and the will to sustain our faith in Thee. Create in us the love to save souls even in the midst of adversity. This we pray in Jesus' name.
Amen.

Modest And Distinguished Service

While others reaped the golden harvest from their memoirs of the turbulent and historic past two decades, Gen. George Catlett Marshall steadfastly refused to raise his voice or lift his pen in explanation or defense of his role.
Yet few men equalled his contribution to his nation and to the cause of freedom, and no man excelled him in loyalty and devotion to duty and country.
Gen. Marshall was a soldier, but he was first of all a devout believer in the fundamental American institutions. No matter what the exigencies, he would not permit military urgencies to override the due processes of civil law.
He was a brilliant man whose discerning and creative mind was cloaked under a genuine modesty which forbade resort to showmanship and tricks of publicity. He might have emerged as the hero of World War II had he not yielded to the assignment of an almost unsung and unknown job of serving behind the scenes as chief architect of the war effort. While field commanders sometimes dealt shabbily with him in their jockeying for recognition, Gen. Marshall never let any sign of rancor enter upon the performance of his duties. Instead, he gave his commander proper credit.

Gen. Marshall might have retired at the end of the war, when his pleas to hold intact the elements of the world's mightiest fighting force were ignored. Instead, he responded to the call of duty again and again as special envoy to China, Secretary of State and Secretary of Defense. This got him nothing but cruel, unjust and sometime inhumane criticism. He never protested. In all things, George Marshall was a great American.

Extraordinary Gathering

That was an extraordinary gathering on the banks of the Pedernales River near Stonewall, Texas, last Sunday when Lyndon and Lady Bird Johnson threw open the gates of their LBJ Ranch to the President of Mexico and his lady, a former President of the United States, and a collection of high-powered Democratic leaders that included just about every faction that roams the piney woods and plains of the Lone Star State. (The presence of Harry S. Truman could be highly significant.)

Whether this signaled a major development in the 1960 presidential race remains to be seen, but there was no mistaking its import from a purely personal standpoint: Lyndon Baines Johnson, majority leader of the United States Senate, is a man seriously to be reckoned with, and the occasion was a glowing tribute to his widespread popularity and the respect in which he is held at home and abroad.
The surroundings were felicitous. The Johnsons were literally "at home." He was born scarce three miles away, at Stonewall, a compound word that breathes the very spirit of steadfastness and courage. It is in the edge of eastern Gillespie County, just a couple of long bowshots from the border with Blanco County to whose county seat, Johnson City, the senator's grandfather gave his name.

Everything went smoothly, of course. Everything has a habit of going smoothly where Lyndon Johnson has any say-so. Though he may wander here and there throughout the country, though he is the most powerful individual in Washington next to another native Texan, Dwight Eisenhower, the heart of Lyndon Johnson is on the Pedernales and the big two-story white house that graces its sweeping lawns and is, in part, more than a hundred years old.
The presence of Adolfo Lopez Mateos, President of Mexico, was a gesture of friendship, repayment of a visit Senator Johnson had made to him in Mexico earlier. That is one element in the senator's nature his foes should not overlook — his capacity for friendship. He has the gift. He works at it. He delights in it.

We have a notion that Sunday barbecue on the LBJ Ranch will have repercussions far beyond the confines of thinly-settled Blanco County — perhaps from Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine; from Brownsville, Texas, to International Falls, Minnesota.
It was quite a blowout.

A Selfless Patriot

WASHINGTON — It may be that in the long perspective of history General George Catlett Marshall will receive his just due as a selfless patriot to whom this country owes far more than it has ever known.
The treatment accorded him during the latter years of his life illustrated only too well the way in which democracies turn against those who have given them their dedicated devotion. The sole test for Marshall was duty and how best he could serve the nation.

This reporter has many memories of a man who lived by a code that owed nothing to the flamboyant uses of publicity in the age of Madison Avenue. There were those sessions during the war when he met with a small group of us to speak with the frankness and directness that characterized all his actions.

Rarely did he talk about himself and his own role as Chief of Staff of the Army. With crisp incisiveness he delineated the vast movements of a global war, giving the fullest credit to the commanders in the field and reflecting nothing of the rancorous jealousies that had him as the target of their venom.

After the victory in Europe, we gave him a dinner in which he spoke with soldier-like pride of what had been and of the ordeal to come in a massive attack on the Japanese home islands. He had subscribed, as had virtually everyone else, to one of the great errors of the war. This was the faulty intelligence estimate of the capacity of the Japanese to resist after the fall of Germany. At that time Marshall said it was estimated there would be a half million American casualties in the attack on the main island of Honshu being prepared for early 1946. Out of that error came many of the elements making for tragedy in the postwar period.

But in late 1945, while still Chief of Staff, he was faced with another kind of struggle. This reporter recalls his talking with the utmost urgency and solemnity of the need to try to check somehow the pell-mell rush to demobilize at any cost the greatest armed force that any nation had ever put into the field. He saw just what this would mean in destroying America's bargaining position and opening the way to the imperialist designs of Soviet Russia.

How to stop the most wasteful self-destruction that any nation had ever perpetrated on itself, how to make the public understand what it meant. This was his only consideration as he turned from his desk and looked with the remote, seemingly impersonal gaze out through the windows of his Pentagon office at the Potomac and the sweep of the capital across the river.

Probably no one could have stopped that stampede. A peace-loving people was bent on returning to the pursuits of peace no matter what it cost, and Communist fellow-traveling propaganda fed the bring-the-boys home and put-the-brass-in-their-place line. It cost Marshall untold anguish to see America's vast strength thrown away in little more than 12 months.

He had just seen Pearl Harbor gone far down the list to pick an obscure officer named Dwight Eisenhower as Commander of the American Forces in Europe. While President Roosevelt had intended Marshall to be "the Pershing" of World War II, fate and the compelling personality of Eisenhower decided otherwise. Marshall never disclosed the slightest resentment and he gave to the man who was to become the great popular hero of the war unflinching support, defending him against his enemies both from without and within.

Drafted by President Truman, he reluctantly took a hopeless mission to divided China, became Secretary of State and, later in the black depth of the Korean War, Secretary of Defense. He had taken the concept of massive aid to rehabilitate Europe which became the Marshall Plan, and with his prestige helped to gain acceptance for what was a decisive move in America's postwar role.

Shortly afterward there began the vicious attacks aimed at destroying the reputation of Roosevelt and, incidentally, Marshall. The spur was applied by the China Lobby. Senator William Jenner of Indiana and the late Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin called him a traitor, the front man of a Communist conspiracy.

He retired to his home in Leesburg, Virginia, while the calumny went on. He saw his protégé, Gen. Eisenhower, become the Republican candidate for President in 1952. As one close to him put it:

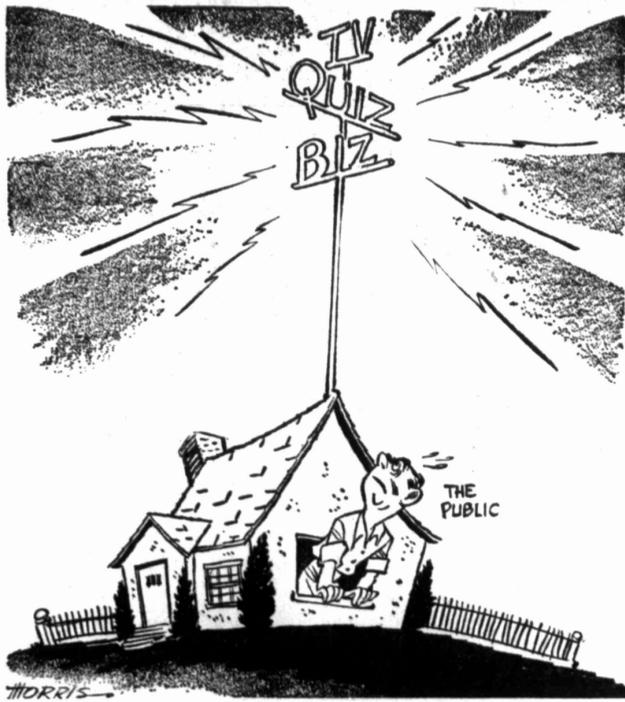

"He will never tell you nor anyone else, but he sat beside that radio night after night waiting to hear some word spoken in defense of his honor."

To many who served with him he seemed cold, self-contained, a stickler for discipline, a martinet even. This was the man's exterior. It concealed the intense devotion to country of one who tried with all his powers to forewarn a blindly peace-loving nation before Pearl Harbor, to win the war that was joined by that calamity and then to hold the nation to a sense of responsibility and duty in the aftermath of victory.

2 Dirty Words: 'Compulsory Arbitration'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two dirtiest words—for big unions and big management—are "compulsory arbitration." But that's what they may be headed for. In time, at least. The steel strike shows why.

Under a compulsory arbitration law the government would step in—when union and management failed to agree on wages and working conditions—and dictate a settlement which both sides would have to accept.

The ideal in labor-management relations in a free society is for both sides to have complete freedom from government interference in settling disputes. Freedom includes freedom to shut down a plant or strike it.

This ideal is shared by the Eisenhower administration and perhaps by most Americans. Nevertheless, it is a limited ideal: It begins to lose its appeal when a labor dispute begins to cause broad damage.

There wasn't much of a national problem when American society was more primitive and injury from a strike or shutdown was pretty much limited to the union or company or companies involved. This is no longer the case. In this present complex society, with its various parts growing more interdependent, a prolonged strike in one vital industry can throw millions out of jobs in other industries and start an economic tailspin.

And this nation's complexities and interdependencies of today are only a shadow of what they will be in the years ahead as the population increases and industries interlock in their needs.

It is possible—and this writer strongly believes it is likely—that the time is coming when the government for the sake of the nation, will not permit strikes in vital industries.

That, of course, raises a nice question: What is a vital industry? At this time and offhand it is easy to think of some which fit that category because a strike in any of them affects the national welfare:

Railroads, Steel, Airlines, Communications. But right there an argument begins. Many industries are engaged in communications in some form, such as telephone, telegraph, newspapers, television, radio.

Would all of them be considered vital? If the time comes when Congress considers a ban on strikes in communications or any other vital industry it will have the fight of its life on its hands, and for this reason:

Each industry, like each individual, and each union would want to retain for itself the maximum amount of freedom.

But if a ban on strikes comes, then the government will have to provide a settlement and that, in the end, could only be done by imposing compulsory arbitration.

The steel strike is now in its 15th week. At the start of it President Eisenhower refused to permit direct government intervention. He wanted the union and the steel industry to have the utmost freedom to reach a settlement of their own through collective bargaining.

The union and management between them made the collective bargaining process a farce. And on Oct. 19, when Eisenhower decided to seek an injunction to stop the strike for 90 days, he said: "In order to protect the interests of all the American people, this leaves me with no alternative. American hopes for a voluntary responsible settlement have not been fulfilled. It is a sad day for the nation."

He acted only when the effect of the strike began to spread into other industries with the danger, unless something was done to stop it, that the country might go tumbling back into recession.

Before Congress ever goes so far as to ban strikes and impose compulsory arbitration, it almost surely will see some drastic measure, but one sterner than any now available.

That may work for a while. But in the end, in the years ahead, this writer believes a strike in an essential industry affecting the national welfare will not be permitted.

NEW DELHI — India will open a national defense college early next year to educate her officers in the broader aspects of war.

The Indian military forces were established by the British in the days before independence. Since 1947 Indian officers have attended Britain's Imperial defense college. Only two or three places were available to them in each class.

The new college will be opened in the former British high commission buildings in New Delhi.

Official figures show 1958 production as 1,721,000 tons.

Blindness In The Fourth Estate

Sometimes I question the judgment if not the sanity of the Fourth Estate.
Just when I feel that we are making progress, along comes a case such as the death of two men last week. One had given a lifetime of distinguished service to his nation; the other had flouted everything decent in the selfish satisfaction of his own vanity and lust.

And who gets the biggest play in the newspapers?
I won't say that Errol Flynn got more prominence or more limelight than Gen. George C. Marshall, but he got as much in some papers and not even his burial could silence those who wrote about him.

LOWER PLANE
For the record, Errol Flynn made lots of money as an actor. He wasn't really a great actor by any stretch of the imagination, but he had a sort of swashbuckling air which made him attractive for casting in adventure roles. Frequently he was a handsome rogue who stole the ladies from under the nose of respectable husbands and loved and then left them. In life he couldn't refrain from trying to operate on an identical plane, although it must be admitted he managed to sink below it in debauchery of teen-age girls. If he contributed anything to the betterment of mankind it has managed to escape attention.

On the other hand, Gen. Marshall achieved an outstanding record as a soldier. He was perhaps without peer—certainly in our own country—as a military planner and administrator.

This great Virginian put personal integrity and duty to country above everything else. He stood aloof even from criticism. When he was weary from World War II duties and desperately wanted to rest, he answered the call for an impossible diplomatic mission from which some were so callous to later hint he was a traitor. He postponed retirement again to serve as Secretary of State, as Secretary of Defense. He created and set into motion the Marshall Plan to help devastated nations get back on their feet.

EPITOME OF NOBILITY
But the thing most important to his life had been his service in the Army, and in this he was so brilliant that his judgments frequently were those which determined the course of our conduct of the war.

The eulogy could go on, but suffice it to say that he was the epitome of nobility and of sacrificial service.
His passing drew a momentary major play in the press, and then aside from a few stories on his career, the reminiscences of a few columnists, and the final simple story of his burial, his name seems to have been laid to rest with his body.

And from Hollywood, the Fourth Estate still licks up some drivel about Errol Flynn.

It's a good thing that there's such a thing as history to bring things into a better balance than we seem to be able to do.

Don't They Ever Sleep Down South?

JACKSON, Tenn. — Every time I come South to visit, I am tempted to return, on a permanent basis, as a carpetbagger in hope that some of the prosperity will rub off on this pore "No'ther. Honey, everyone here lives so high on the hog that, I declare, they're going to have to start building taller hogs!

We may have starved along the road (with the single exception of a superb restaurant in Memphis called "Justine's"), but now we are in the home of friends and the vittles are just purely wonderful. "Would you like a red snapper before 'dinnah?" asked our host, Well, sir, I thought it was rather odd to serve this elegant fruit of the sea before dinner rather than as part of the meal. But I reasoned "different climes, different customs."

So I said, "Yes," since I am always on the still hunt for new and interesting ways to serve food, as is any good housewife. What do you know? When the red snapper came it wasn't a fish at all; it was a Bloody Mary by another name. "Red snapper sounds so much more refined," explained my hostess, and so it does!

COPIOUS CALORIES
There is no more give left in my two-way stretch after a prolonged diet of gravy, spoon bread, buttermilk biscuits, Tennessee ham, chicken in a foiled "handkerchief" of pie crust, buttery shrimp, crab cakes and Black Bottom Pie, with a million calories per square inch.

(Recently a man seated next to me on a plane asked, "Are you Inez Robb?" and then added, "From the way you write about food, I thought you'd be a lot bigger woman." He should see me now!)

In Jackson, I have had my first encounter with a three-crust lemon pie. And to think that I have been living in Ignorance of this marvelous delicacy all my life, convinced that one crust to a lemon pie was the legal limit.

Not down here it isn't! This local lemon pie takes three crusts and the prize. Naturally, the third crust goes in the middle. And is this pie with luncheon or dinner? No, m'am. It is consumed with the mid-morning coffee break. Sort of perks up the appetite — after a breakfast of fruit, grits, gravy, scrambled eggs, country sausage, biscuits and jelly — for luncheon.

And if one feels a little faint in mid-afternoon, after a luncheon of shrimp gumbo, fried chicken, biscuit, molded salad and Justine's Special, a dessert one drinks, he can have a little snack of three-crust lemon pie at the afternoon coffee break. (Justine's Special, stolen from the restaurant, is two scoops of vanilla ice cream and a jigger of brandy, tossed in an electric mixer for a few seconds. Serve in champagne glasses and let yourself go.)

HOSPITALITY
Southern hospitality is just as factual as it is legendary, as the result of which I have been having some long thoughts about one facet of Southern life. Apparently all persons who live in a Southern clime, whether Latins or Americans, don't need sleep.

Obviously, sleep was invented for Northerners who, perforce, must hibernate for long periods of the year, because of climatic conditions. Two or three hours of sleep every 24 hours seems ample for Southerners. When Edison said that only women, children and idiots needed eight hours sleep per 24, he should have added "and Northerners."

Of course, it is possible that Southerners, like New Yorkers, only entertain around the clock when they are visiting firemen.

There Are Enough Laws Already

WASHINGTON — Why all the hullabaloo about new laws and more government regulation just because some misguided persons betrayed the confidence of the public by rigging TV-quiz shows? For there's plenty of law on the statute books and plenty of opportunity for the broadcasting companies to protect themselves and the public interest without intervention by Congress or the Federal Communications Commission.

To understand the subject, it is necessary to realize that the major broadcasting companies are for the most part not producers of shows at all. They are really like landlords of a building. They deal in rentals. They get paid on a time basis by the sponsors of programs who wish to advertise certain products or services. The sponsors buy from the producers a package of shows and, through agents known as advertising agencies, pay rent to the broadcasting companies for the time and facilities used. The sponsors, of course, write their own commercials and are subject to Federal Trade Commission laws if any misrepresentation about a product offered for sale can be proved.

There was, of course, no excuse for the fixing of television shows, but the inference that the TV companies or the advertising agencies or all the producers and contestants participated in the deception is a blanket indictment without proof. Certainly the ages-old rule that a man is to be regarded as innocent until proved guilty is valid today, even though it seems to have been disregarded in the innuendoes issuing from congressional investigating committee circles and other quarters.

There is a simple way to diminish the amount of fraud in any business, and that's to encourage businessmen to insist on their legal rights and to take to court those who violate such rights.

The broadcasting companies have the right when they make contracts with producers or agents of sponsors or anyone else to insist in explicit terms that the time on the air shall not be used for any fraudulent purpose or to mislead listeners or viewers of radio and television programs. The broadcasting companies have the right not only to cancel such contracts but to seek punitive damages and even to call for punishment by federal, state or city authorities if there has been any fraud or other violation of criminal law.

The expose of what has been happening on the quiz shows will serve to define more exactly the responsibilities of the broadcasting companies as well as the producing companies with which they do business. The broadcasting companies may have been hurt in prestige by the recent episodes, and they realize now more than ever that perhaps they have not been as vigilant as they should have been in writing their contracts with sponsors and producers so as to prevent what has happened on "rigged" shows.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

The McCleskey No. 1 Well blew in on this day in 1917 at 3,431 feet, a 1,700-barrel producer which launched the glittering Ranger boom.

In a year's time the population of this West Texas city rose from 1,000 to 30,000. Most were men, including many of the "hard-case" variety. By 1918 eight producing horizons had been opened in the Ranger area and four million barrels of oil produced. Present-day drillers must wince at the average price per barrel—$4.25 — and no proration regulations. The wildcatter who hit once "had it made."

Many are the tales spun about Ranger. Merchants there lost $750,000 in one year because of bad checks. Drought struck, and, without water facilities, automobile owners drained their cars at night, safely locked up the fluid, replacing it the next morning. Thirsty men roaming the town would drink its contents, otherwise.

One overnight millionaire had a horror of being buried alive, brought on by reading an Edgar Allan Poe story. As soon as he had leased his land for $200,000, he built a cemetery vault equipped with a telephone so that, if he regained consciousness after burial, he could call for outside help.

In the following two years almost two hundred million dollars worth of oil was produced within a 40-mile radius.

Bank failures in 1920 and 1921 and a disastrous fire in 1924 ended Ranger as a boom town. Today it is a prosperous West Texas trading center supported by railroads, the oil industry and surrounding cattle ranches.

Hemisphere Idea Program Is Urged

DALLAS (AP)—An intensive information and education program for Western Hemisphere nations to weld solidarity and to combat foreign ideologies was urged here Tuesday.

The proposal was made by Dr. Eduard Zuleta Angel, Colombia statesman and the first president of the United Nations, at Tuesday's session of the South American Forum, attended by top diplomats, educators and journalists from the two continents.

Earlier Gen. Pedro Eugenio Aramburu, former provisional president of Argentina, warned the forum that if the Americas are to prevent foreign ideologies from gaining a foothold in the Western Hemisphere they must have an intensive and permanent program of cooperation embracing many phases—political, economic and technical.

Russian and Chinese Communists are now spending 100 million dollars annually for propaganda in South America, Roy R. Rubottom Jr., assistant U.S. secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said in an interview. He said that the Reds are now waging an intensive propaganda campaign to undermine the approaching Organization of American States meeting in Quito, Ecuador.

The heads of diplomatic missions from nine South American countries are participating in the forum which ends Wednesday. It is being held in connection with the South American Fortnight here.

Ike Impulse Leads Him To Georgia Golf

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yielding to a spur of the moment impulse, President Eisenhower flies today to Augusta, Ga., for five days of golf and sunshine.

The White House said Eisenhower still has lingering traces of the cold he caught early last month. But Press Secretary James C. Hagerty added that the President's general health is excellent and that the cold was not a factor in his sudden decision to go to Georgia.

Eisenhower left by plane at mid-morning. The flight took about two and a quarter hours. The President plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or early Monday morning.

Hagerty announced late Tuesday that in mid-afternoon Eisenhower had made up his mind. "Just like that—and the press secretary snapped his fingers—to pay his 23rd visit to the Augusta National Golf Club since his election in 1952. The famed course—shut down each year from May until mid-November—is being opened about three weeks early to receive the President.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's decision to go was prompted by forecasts the Augusta weather will be warm and sunny the rest of the week.

In order to make the trip the President canceled a news conference he had scheduled for this morning in Washington. He did arrange separate White House meetings, just ahead of departure, with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and leaders of the government's space and missiles programs.

In response to a question, Hagerty said the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, had not urged Eisenhower to go to Augusta.

"There is no serious health reason," Hagerty said in repeating that traces of the President's cold do remain. "He just wants to get some exercise and sun. He is going to try, whenever possible, to get away for a few days to a warmer climate."

On Snyder's recommendation the President spent from Sept. 30 to Oct. 8 in Palm Springs, Calif. The doctor prescribed a warm, dry climate at that time because of the cold Eisenhower caught about Labor Day.

A couple of days before the President went to Southern California he was noticeably hoarse at a Washington news conference. At the end of the Palm Springs visit Snyder reported that Eisenhower's health was greatly improved.

Survivor Of Triple Shooting Identifies Suspect 2nd Time

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP)—The district attorney said Tuesday night the girl survivor of a triple shooting has for the second time identified a Fort Worth man as her assailant.

Salvador Garza Salinas also said Hilda Perez Villagomez, 18, amplified her previous story and said the killer got inside the stalled automobile where the shooting occurred the night of Oct. 12.

A brother and sister of Hilda's were killed. She is in a hospital in serious condition but is improving. The suspect, held on a preliminary charge of homicide, is Dykes Askew Simmons, 31, who entered Mexico the same night as the shooting on the Nuevo Laredo Highway.

Simmons, who has been treated for mental illness and served time in prison, has said that if he did the shooting he does not remember it. He also said he had no gun.

Garza Salinas said Tuesday night he had sufficient proof that the suspect did have a pistol, but did not elaborate.

Simmons was slipped into the hospital early last night wearing a doctor's white gown. Feeling he has been running high about the killing.

When Hilda picked Simmons from a group of men Friday she reportedly pointed to him and said, "That's him, That's him." Garza Salinas said she made the second identification last night while in better physical condition. Hilda had told police that the assailant started shooting after the two girls refused to get out of their car and go with him.

The district attorney said the girl gave further details yesterday, saying she did not know why she hadn't before.

He quoted her as saying in essence: The assailant stopped his car on the roadside and asked what the trouble was. Hilda said they had engine trouble and another brother had gone for a tow truck. The man offered to try to start the car.

Marta and Hilda at first opposed, but after talking a few minutes and with the man insisting, the girls agreed. He was not successful and got out of the car.

At that point of her story, officials said, Hilda hesitated and added: "I know more, but let me get well. I will say more interesting things."

Regarding the killer's attempt to start the car, officials said they are taking note of the fact that Simmons is a mechanic.

Mayor Jorge Sarquiz, chief of state police, said that in his opinion Simmons is the right suspect despite his systematic denials.

Attorney Garza Salinas said he plans to file formal charges with a court today. The court will decide whether to indict and hold a formal trial. The prosecutor said he believes he has sufficient evidence for the court to indict.

Weaver Reward Hearing Is Moved

HOUSTON (AP)—A hearing to determine which of the 25 claimants is entitled to $10,000 reward for solving the bomb slaying of Mrs. Helen Weaver has been transferred from Galveston to Houston.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham will hear the case. The petition for the hearing was filed by Mrs. Weaver's husband, Harry Weaver of San Angelo, and their two daughters, Mrs. Helen H. Wilcockson, San Angelo, and Mrs. Sadie Blackburn. The three posted the $10,000 award.

The San Angelo socialite was killed when a bomb destroyed her automobile. A former son-in-law, Harry L. Washburn, was convicted and is serving a life sentence.

REGULARITY REGAINED

Are you blaming constipation on middle age when the cause is really lack of bulk in the foods you eat? If this is the case, you can correct the trouble the Kellogg's All-Bran way.

Here's why: Kellogg's All-Bran is a whole-bran cereal—nature's best bulk forming food. So just a daily half-cup serving of Kellogg's All-Bran can give you all the good food bulk you need to restore youthful regularity.

Millions stay on schedule this appetizing way. Try Kellogg's All-Bran every day for 10 days—see if it doesn't help you, too.

Bartender In 'Drunkard' Finds Himself Minus Job

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Neely Edwards seems bereft today, there's good reason. He has just finished what must be by far the longest run of any actor in American show business.

"The Drunkard" finished its historic run at the Theater Mart last weekend. The Victorian melodrama, first produced by P. T. Barnum, began its run in 1933, when the nation was engaged in New Deal alphabets.

Through earthquake, flood, recession, war and prosperity, the show continued its light-hearted preaching against demon rum. Rising costs and dwindling business finally caught up with "The Drunkard," putting Neely Edwards out of a job for the first time in 26 years. But he isn't worried.

"I never had to look for a job in my life," said Neely, now a spry 76. "Even when it looked like a catastrophe for me, something always came up. I'll let God take His course."

The entertainer fell into the job by chance. He had started his professional career in New York in 1904, worked his way up through burlesque to bigtime vaudeville as partner with Ed Flanagan, sire of Dennis O'Keefe, and also Bunny Granville, Bonita's father.

"I had made comedies at Universal for six years," Neely recalled. "and then I went East to appear with Ed in the last 10 or 12 weeks of bigtime vaudeville. I came back to free-lance in pictures when they offered me the job in 'The Drunkard.'"

He started on New Year's Eve in 1934, a few months after the show opened. There he remained, playing the comic bartender and singing and hoofing in the after-

Crash Kills 2

HAWKINS, Tex. (AP)—Two women died and six persons suffered injuries when two autos collided head-on near this East Texas town Tuesday night.

Dead are Mrs. Henry Johnson, 60, of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Nora Holmes, 32, of Dallas, the mother of four.

W. H. Holmes, 34, the father, was injured. So were their four children, Joann, 13, Billie Jean, 11, Helen and Butch, twins aged 9.

Robert E. Barker, 60, driver of the car in which Mrs. Johnson was riding, also was injured.

Highway Patrolman Hall Stewart of Mineola said the crash occurred when one of the cars passed a third on a slight incline.

STEERS, FROGS ARE WEEKEND FAVORITES

By HAROLD CLASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Why did they increase the width between the goal posts in college football? Well, the reason is that certain wide-beamed forecasts should be booted out of the end zone because they were unable to predict that Ohio State would handle Purdue and that Pittsburgh would be handled by West Virginia last weekend.

Sailing between the posts with the greatest of ease, here are this week's winners, with the understanding that the forecasts are no better than a weekend ago when the average was .708 on 34 winners in 48 decisions:

Louisiana State over Florida
The Bayou Bengals rarely do more than they have to, but the formula seems to work. So the pick is Billy Cannon & Co. again.

Northwestern over Notre Dame: One of these days this Notre Dame team will jell and make everyone look silly—including the foe on the field. But not this weekend.

Texas over Rice: This is pure suicide. But one must stay with that Texas speed in the line and Rene Ramirez.

Mississippi over Arkansas: Our Memphis operator says these two teams are as good as any in the country, but that Bobby Franklin makes the Rebels the choice.

Southern California over Stanford: The Trojan blockers hit like a wooden horse.

Syracuse over West Virginia: The Mountaineers' season ended with that victory over Pittsburgh.

Auburn over Miami: With relative ease.

Penn State over Illinois: Only because the Big Ten team is concentrating on its conference problems.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: Two surprise teams. Tech surprised by being better than expected, Tulane by being below par.

Oregon over Washington: Because the Webfoots handled the Air Force with such ease.

Wisconsin over Ohio State: Dale Hackbart has the benefit of the home crowd in stopping the Buckeyes.

Purdue over Iowa: But it will be close.

Texas Christian over Pittsburgh: The only explanation seems to be that the steel strike seems to trouble the Panthers.

Clemson over the South Cal.: The last of these Thursday afternoon state fair teasings winds up as a Clemson triumph.

Yale over Colgate: The Bulldogs haven't been scored upon and Colgate hasn't won this season.

Oklahoma over Kansas: Hardly a man is now alive who remembers that famous day and year when Oklahoma lost a Big Eight game.

Skipping over the others:
FRIDAY
Boston University over Connecticut; Air Force over UCLA.

SATURDAY
East: Boston College over Marquette, Army over Colorado State, Brown over Rhode Island, Holy Cross over Columbia, Harvard over Dartmouth, Bucknell over Lafayette, Delaware over Marshall, Navy over Penn, Princeton over Cornell, Rutgers over Lehigh, Virginia Tech over Villanova.

South: The Citadel over Furman, Florida State over Richmond, Georgia over Kentucky, Mississippi State over Memphis State, Duke over North Carolina State, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Virginia Military over Davidson, Vanderbilt over Virginia, North Carolina over Wake Forest, William & Mary over George Washington.

Midwest: Cincinnati over College of Pacific; North Texas State over Houston; Iowa State over Kansas State; Indiana over Michigan State; Minnesota over Wisconsin; Missouri over Nebraska; Wichita over Oklahoma State; Tulsa over Detroit.

Southwest: Southern Methodist over Texas Tech; Texas A & M over Baylor, Hardin - Simmons over West Texas State, New Mexico State over Texas Western.

Far West: Colorado over Arizona; Brigham Young over Denver; Oregon State over California; New Mexico over Montana; Wyoming over Utah; Montana State over Utah State; Washington State over Idaho.

MOORE EASILY BEATS NEILL

LONDON (AP)—World featherweight champion Davey Moore took just 2 minutes, 55 seconds to batter Bobby Neill, British titleholder, to a humiliating defeat Tuesday night.

With barely a bead of sweat on his body after the fight, the 26-year-old champion from Springfield, Ohio, said:

"Boy, I wish they all were like that. I caught him right on the button."

It wasn't Moore's fastest victory though. He beat "Bird" Marino in 2 minutes 28 seconds.

Neill, 26, who made three comebacks after suffering crippling injuries in road accidents and a broken jaw in a fight had no time to show anything but courage.

Four times he smashed to the canvas only to hoist himself painfully back into a battle that was never more than a massacre.

Birdie Is Pleased With Present Job

By DAVE O'HARA
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—

Birdie Tebbetts, a fiery field leader who wanted to move up, said today he likes his job as executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves and his crystal ball doesn't show any return to uniform as a manager.

"I made my decision to get out of managing a year ago," Tebbetts told The Associated Press. "I said at the time I took this job I had no desire to manage and nothing has happened to change my mind."

The former American League catcher and Cincinnati manager added, however, that "something could happen to change my mind because I don't have the power to look into the future."

Tebbetts was reached after an informed source said in New York Tuesday that he is Milwaukee owner Lou Perini's personal choice to succeed Fred Haney and very likely will be drafted to manage the Braves in 1960.

NOTES FROM SUNLAND

Favorites Come Through At Track

SUNLAND PARK, Anapra, N. M. (SC)—Veteran turf observers expressed their amazement at the parade of winning favorites continued into the Sunland Park winner's circle.

At the close of the sixth day of racing on Sunday, an astounding 43 per cent winning favorites had hit the charmed circle.

El Zag, one of the nation's top two-year-olds bedded down at Sunland Park after vamping in from Chicago. Trainer Randy Makin said his colt will begin immediate training for the $10,000 Sun Bowl Futurity on December 30. Son of the world's record holder, El Drag, El Zag accounted for the Silver Stakes at Centennial earlier this year and has bankrolled more than $25,000.

Bert Thompson, National Director of the Jockeys Guild, and Johnny Alessio, executive of Caliente Race Track at Tijuana, Mexico, with several of his aides departed for California after a week-end stay at Sunland Park.

Doug Atkins, publicity director of Sunland Park, has gone on a whirl wind trip through the Southwest contacting news media throughout the area. He returns for racing on Friday.

Sunland Park goes into its third weekend of racing on Friday, featuring the $2,500 Bernalillo Handicap at a flat mile for three-year-olds and older to be run on Sunday October 25.

The Albuquerque Handicap is the main attraction on Saturday slated to bring out hopefuls for the $10,000 Texas Derby to be run November 1. The three-year-old contest will be run at one mile—the same distance as the Derby.

Wood Erwin, Director of Racing, announced a new post time effective Friday, October 23 at 1:30 p.m. Friday will again be ladies day, and general admission will be free to ladies. A fashion show will be presented before the first post. The games open at 11 a.m.

Erwin also stated that Sunland Park will be dark on Christmas Day but that there will be racing on Thanksgiving Day featuring the Thanksgiving Handicap—a $10,000 feature for three-year-olds and older at 6 furlongs. Two additional days of racing will be offered on December 28 and 29, totaling 47 racing days for the inaugural meeting.

David Whited, Jack Brown, and Felix Chavez continue to battle it out for riding honors with 7 wins each. Celestino Dominguez and Larry Spraker are next in line with 4 trips apiece to the charmed circle.

Trainers at Sunland Park are pacing each other for top honors also with Glenn Bamford leading with 5 wins, while Frank Colcord and George Adams are tied for second with 3 wins each.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cluer have won $3,365 to hold top monies won with Harris and Colcord running a close second with $3,130 in purses.

Sands Fems Win By 66-34 Tally

IRA (SC)—The Sands Consolidated School girls' basketball team made an impressive debut here Tuesday evening, defeating Ira by a score of 66-34.

Janice Bearden tossed in 25 points for the Mustangs while Brenda Woods had 22, Jeannette Ray 12 and Judy Roman seven. A. Patterson had 28 for Ira.

Sands led at half time, 36-11. In other games, Sands' second unit outscored the Hobbs regulars, 36-23. Delia Barrata had 13 points for Sands and Groves six for Hobbs.

Ira's B squad turned back Sands Junior High, 28-25, in the first contest of the evening. Martha Murrell had 12 for Sands and Allen 15 for Ira.

The three Sands teams next see action in Ackerly Monday. The freshmen play Ira's B team and the second unit opposes the Ira A squad. Coach Cliff Prather's first team tries Flower Grove at 8 p.m.

Contenders For Title

MOOTY'S TOP BOOSTER IS COACH F. BROYLES

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Speedy halfback Jim Mooty, after twice quitting the Arkansas Razorback football team, has become a candidate for All-American honors. And his loudest booster is his coach, Frank Broyles.

"I don't know what criteria they use for judging All-American football players," Broyles said after his team's tough workout in preparation for the Mississippi game Saturday. "But Jim Mooty has done everything you could ask of any player."

Mooty, a 165-pound scabbard who loses 10 pounds per game but gains it back during the week, was named All-Southwest Conference last year as a junior. That was after leaving the team for two games, then asking to return and being unanimously voted back by his teammates.

Last spring, doctors told him he would have to quit football because of recurring headaches and dizzy spells, but treatment and new examinations this fall cleared him for combat.

Since then he's been the backbone of a Razorback team that has won four games and lost one—to third-ranked Texas.

Mooty ranks second in the Southwest Conference in rushing yardage. He has gained 297 yards in 54 tries, an average of 5.5 yards per carry. He ranks 50 yards behind Texas Christian's great fullback, Jack Spikes.

"But he's been vital to our entire game," Broyles said, "as a tremendous runner, a touch blocker, and a great defender. There has been absolutely nothing lacking."

Mooty averaged 5.5 yards per try last year. Among his credits were a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Hardin-Simmons.

And he wants to play professional football. "I don't think I'm too small," he said. "Maybe I could play defense or kick or something." The Calgary club in the Canadian League already has drafted him.

Folkins was named the Big Five's lineman of the week. He played nearly the whole game against the victorious Trojans. He caught four passes good for 52 yards and was a standout on defense. Vliet made seven tackles, recovered a fumble which led to Southern Cal's first touchdown and caught a pass for a 2-point conversion in a 22-15 triumph.

Ken Rice, Auburn tackle, led the 71-yard drive that led to a 7-0 surprise being knocked Georgia Tech out of the unbeaten ranks. The 250-pounder constantly opened the holes for Auburn.

Illinois Guard Is Named AP Lineman Of The Week

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a rarity when sports writers at a football game peg their stories on a lineman. To achieve such a distinction the usually unsung boy up front has to do something extraordinary.

Bill Burrell, Illinois guard, hit the headlines in spectacular fashion last Saturday against Minnesota. His sterling play against the Gophers brought him added recognition today as lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Burrell made 16 tackles, recovered a fumble and stole a pass in a 14-6 triumph over Minnesota. The 207-pound Negro captain of the Illini from Clifton, Ill., recovered a Minnesota fumble at mid-field in the second quarter to start his team's first scoring drive.

Another guard, Bill Davis of Wichita, gained honor as the Missouri Valley Conference lineman of the week for his play that helped the Shockers gain a 28-28 tie with Cincinnati. Davis made seven unassisted tackles and intercepted a pass.

A couple of ends—Lee Folkins of the University of Washington and George Van Vliet of Southern California—were honored for their play in the same game.

Cowboys Seek First Victory

ABILENE (SC)—A new and dismal chapter in Hardin-Simmons University football history is being written this season, and it could appropriately be titled "Five Games Without Victory, In the MVC and the SEC."

Never in the history of the Abilene school has a Cowboy football team lost five consecutive games until this season when three Missouri Valley Conference schools and a pair from the Southeastern accomplished the feat. Hardin-Simmons' previous losing streak was four straight games beginning late in 1951 and ending early in 1952.

The Cowboys, who have seen defeat at the hands of North Texas State, Wichita, Auburn, Georgia and Tulsa, go into the final half of the 1959 campaign Saturday night facing their first Border Conference opponent of the year. And like Hardin-Simmons, the West Texas State Buffaloes are winless in their first five games.

Between the two long-time rivals, Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State have dropped 10 games without victory this year. But while the Buffs have lost three conference contests, this year the Cowpokes will be facing their first loop action and could salvage part of the season by finishing strong in the title chase.

The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. in West Texas' new Buffalo Stadium in Canyon and the H-SU student body will turn out in full force for the "Dad's Day" trip. It's also Mom and Dad's Day for the West Texans.

Prior to Saturday's 16-8 loss to the University of Tulsa, the Cowboys' only bright spot has been in the statistical department where H-SU has ranked nationally in team passing, individual passing and pass receiving. The Hurricanes took care of that by allowing the Cowboys only 66 yards passing on nine completions of 17 attempts.

Quarterbacks Harold Stephens and Jim Tom Butler ranked high in passing while the Pokes had averaged 164.8 yards per game in the air. End Sammy Oates, who rated fifth nationally in receiving with 14 catches, grabbed only one against Tulsa. Butler, who was out of the Tulsa game with a twisted ankle, is still the team's leading aerialist with 377 yards on 24 completions out of 76 attempts. Stephens has hit on 40 of 83 for 348 yards while Oates has grabbed 15 passes for 141 yards. Halfback Charles Bowers is the team's leading ball carrier with 294 yards on 40 carries.

Indians Below Full Strength

ABILENE (SC)—A couple of Texas independents get together this week down in San Antonio, when McMurry's Indians take on the troublesome Trinity University Tigers.

McMurry will be returning to action following a week's rest, but still may not be at full strength. Tommy Ellis, head coach, said two starting halfbacks, George Bridges and Don Howard, are still hobbled by injuries. Bridges is hampered by a leg muscle strain while Howard is nursing a sprained ankle.

Ellis took advantage of last week's open date, which gave most of his charges time to recover from minor ailments.

The won-lost records of the two opponents will be in sharp contrast since McMurry will enter the Alamo City with a 4-1 mark while Trinity is 1-4.

However, Ellis has seen the Tigers in action and said they play "hard-nosed" football.

"We will have to play our best to win," Ellis added, "and that may not be good enough."

Trinity ground out its first win of the year last week by besting Texas Western, 21-20. The Tigers previously had lost to Texas A&I, 30-12; Mississippi Southern, 29-12; Air Force Academy, 27-6, and New Mexico State, 20-18.

Few, McGuire Thru At A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Defecting halfbacks Jon Few and Jesse McGuire may or may not return to Texas A&M but if they do they won't play football. Few, junior letterman, and McGuire, a sophomore, quit the team Monday and offered no explanation. Few was interviewed at his Midlothian home and gave no reason. He also wouldn't say if there had been any trouble between the coaches and players. McGuire, contacted at Plainview Tuesday night, said he was not returning to A&M now and hadn't decided if he ever would. He did say that he would finish his education somewhere. He also gave no reason for quitting the team. Myers, who said he thought the boys planned to come back today, was asked by writers Tuesday if Few and McGuire planned to stay in school at A&M. Myers replied that "I have a lot of respect for their future and I encouraged Few and McGuire to continue their studies at A&M on their athletic scholarships." Their scholarships will not be taken away although they will play no more football at A&M. Myers shook up his backfield Tuesday as the Aggies opened preparation for the game with Baylor here Saturday. He put Robert Sanders, formerly a right halfback, and Powell Berry, who used to play quarterback, at left half and Randy Sims was shifted from left half to right. Few and McGuire are the fifth and sixth players to quit A&M this year. Previously sophomores Rodgers McFarland, James Street and Walker went to Kansas, Vincent to Lamar Tech.

Robbins Is Man To Beat In Meet

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Long Tom Robbins of Pinehurst loomed as the man to beat in the North and South Seniors Golf Tournament which moved into its second round today.

Wrong Man Call

Referee G. W. (Napper) Davis made the right call, but on the wrong Mustang in the SMU-Rice game at Houston, when he disallowed a touchdown pass by Don Meredith of SMU that would have untied the 13-13 score with 77 seconds to play. It was revealed in Ft. Worth, Tex., by further study of WMAP-TV news films. The play was illegal, as Davis ruled, but for a different reason than ruled. Gary Ferguson, SMU tackle, was across the line of scrimmage when Meredith threw the pass to Glynns Gregory. (AP Wirephoto).

SMC RULES THAT TD PLAY WAS ILLEGAL

DALLAS (AP) — Don Meredith wasn't beyond the line of scrimmage when he threw the pass that would have given Southern Methodist victory over Rice. But an SMU lineman was illegally downfield and the touchdown would have been nullified anyway, the Southwest Conference said today. The conference made this comment in obviously closing the incident of the miscall by referee Napper Davis. Thus the game will remain in the records as a 13-13 tie. The referee admitted that he erred in ruling that Meredith, the SMU quarterback, was past the line of scrimmage. Films of the game showed it. But the pictures also showed the lineman illegally downfield, Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said. "This office has been asked whether or not films of the pass play of the Rice-SMU game reveal an SMU lineman illegally downfield. The answer is yes. We are fortunate to have a fine group of men officiating our football games. They have done and are doing an excellent job for the conference and the conference is proud of them. It is totally unreasonable to expect anyone to be as perfect as a movie camera," Grubbs said. Dr. Henry Hardt of Texas Christian, president of the Southwest Conference, said, when informed that the films showed Meredith was not past the line of scrimmage, that only a voluntary forfeit by Rice could alter the outcome of the game. SMU could not enter a protest of a judgment play, he added.

Longhorns Lose James Gilbert

The Big Spring Steers, in the midst of preparations for their District 2-AAAA opener with Abilene Friday night, suffered a body blow yesterday when it was learned James Gilbert had been lost to the team for the season. Only a sophomore, Gilbert had developed into one of the top defensive halfbacks on the squad. Coach Al Milch said James is one of the finest young athletes he's ever had the privilege of handling and his absence would be sorely felt. Although the Steers have lost five games this season, no touchdown pass has been thrown over Gilbert. Gilbert jammed his finger in batting down a pass in practice Monday and the examining doctor said another similar mishap might cost him the member. He strongly advised Gilbert to quit for the year. The coaches will spend the next two days trying to train someone for the position. The mentors expressed themselves as being very pleased over the club's workouts the past two days. The Steers have shown more hustle and fight than they have at any previous time this fall. In a couple of occasions, the coaches had to stop play in order to let tempers cool — always a good sign that athletes are getting in the proper mood for an upcoming game. In Abilene, the Longhorns will be meeting the team now rated No. 2 in the state by many observers — right back of Corpus Christi Ray. No body gives the Steers a chance to win but Milch said anything is possible, if the Longhorns continue to show the fight they have the first two days of this week. The Steers appear to be better, although Robert Carr's recovery has been slow. Carr, a splendid end who threw a good block, injured an ankle a few weeks ago and it hasn't responded to treatment.

Smith Presses Jimmy Brown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For the second straight week Cleveland's Jimmy Brown leads the National Football League in rushing but J. D. Smith of San Francisco is pressing him for the top spot, statistics released today showed. Brown has picked up 437 yards on 101 carries for a four-game average of 4.3 compared to Smith's 410 yards in 78 tries for a 5.3 average. Ollie Matson of Los Angeles is third with 403 yards on 66 carries good for a 6.1 average. Quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Washington leads the passers for the second week in a row with 21 completions out of 45 attempts for 439 yards and a 9.76 average gain. New York's Chuck Conerly has moved into the No. 2 spot with 636 yards on 47 completions out of 79 tries for a 8.30 average. Standings are based on average gain per pass attempted. Woodley Lewis of the Chicago Cardinals continues to enjoy a big bulge as the best pass receiver. His 21 catches have netted him 397 yards and two touchdowns. Second is Frank Gifford of New York with 20 catches and 301 yards. In the scoring department Tommy McDonald of Philadelphia dropped from first to third, giving way to Tom Davis of San Francisco and Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh. Davis has 34 points, Layne has 31 points and McDonald has 30.

Burdette Yields Most Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves gave up 38 home runs in 1959, the most allowed by any major league pitcher. This was 20 more than he yielded in 1958. Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers paced the American League in gopher balls the past season with 37. Burdette's chief tormentors were the Chicago Cubs, figures released by the Associated Press showed today. The Cubs slammed 11 homers off the right-handed veteran, Ernie Banks of the Cubs and Orlando Cepeda of San Francisco tagged Burdette for four homers each. Burdette worked 290 innings, winning 21 games and losing 15. In 1958, he pitched 275 innings, allowing only 18 homers with a 20-10 record. Bunning, also a right-hander pitched 250 innings the past year and had a 17-13 record. The Cleveland Indians hit him for nine homers and Kansas City for seven. He had the most trouble with Harmon Killebrew of Washington and Minnie Miñoso of Cleveland, giving up three home runs to each. Bunning allowed 28 homers in 1958.

Kilgore Is Rated Atop Nat'l Heap

Kilgore rolls on as the only undefeated, untied team in the Texas Eastern Junior College Conference. It has earned the Rangers the No. 1 rating of the National Junior College Athletic Assn. Kilgore beat Wharton 7-0 last week to keep its rating. Henderson County of the Texas Junior College Conference trimmed Paris 20-0 but Texarkana won an intercollegiate game from Perkins, Miss. 21-6 and Tyler tied Northeastern Oklahoma 6-6 in another. This week Kilgore and Texarkana meet in a conference game while Tyler hosts Ranger and Paris plays Navarro at Paris.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Charles Green, always known for his hustle and his ferocious defensive play in high school ranks here, has earned a basketball scholarship at Howard County Junior College. The six-foot youth is in pre-Dentistry study.

One of the country's biggest football feuds is simmering between New Mexico State University (where two Big Spring youths are members of the team) and Arizona State of Tempe. Warren Woodson, the former Texan now coaching NMSU, has a low boiling point and when Arizona State officials called him not too long ago to say in effect that Tempe was backing off from their agreement to play New Mexico State in the future because "Arizona State people felt that New Mexico State wasn't the kind of school that their school should be playing," Woodson blew sky-high. All he needed to fire up his athletes was to tell them about the telephone conversation.

The two teams play in Tempe on Oct. 31. The Arizona colleges, both the University of Arizona and Arizona State, have experienced growing pains—along with the remainder of the state—in recent years and have noble ideas about building winning traditions in football.

Regrettably, their athletic programs haven't kept pace with their ambitions and neither of the schools has made much of a splash in football circles. Arizona State may carry through its threat to drop NM State from its schedule but it faces the danger of having to book a lesser known opponent to fill the date. The really "big name" schools on the West Coast, in the Southwest, the Midwest and the East refuse to book the Tempe team because of (1) their lack of gate appeal, (2) the distance between their campuses.

Woodson, who was never noted for exercising diplomacy in situations such as the one that now exists, isn't awed by the Arizona schools' avowed intentions to go big league. He coached at the University of Arizona over a period of years and decided the New Mexico State job offered greater opportunity. He proceeded to put the Las Cruces school on the map as no other coach in history was able to do.

Robert E. Lee High School, where the former Big Spring aide, Sam Bell, is head basketball mentor, will be competing against Class AAAA schools starting with the 1960 season. It's been in AAA circles.

Very little was said about it but some of the horsemen are hocked at the Ruidoso Downs people for not cancelling some of their programs last season.

Heavy rains in the Ruidoso area actually washed out part of the Ruidoso track during the summer but the Ruidoso directors refused to cancel any race programs.

Some of the better horses present were run, wound up with broken legs and had to be destroyed.

Southeastern Conference teams can lay claim to the fact that they play the finest collegiate football in the nation and do not have too many challengers.

SEC clubs hold a decided edge over Southwest Conference powers year in and year out and Big Ten Conference contingents refuse to play the Dixie teams as long as the SEC colleges remain segregated.

A TENNESSEAN Half-Pint Back Boosts State

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
One hundred, sixty-five pounds of Nichols has added up to a fortune in football talent for Iowa State and is paying off in the Cyclone's first winning season in a decade.

The investment is Dwight (Moe) Nichols, a 5-foot 10, 165-pound halfback from Knoxville, Iowa who has been one of the nation's offensive standouts the past two seasons, in addition to leading the Big Eight in total offense.

Nichols, who spent 44 months in the Navy before enrolling at Iowa State, plays tailback in Coach Clay Stappeler's single wing offense that has rolled to a 4-1 record.

With help from fullback Tom Watkins, he is rewriting the school's offense records. Nichols is fifth nationally in total offense with 674 yards and 10th in rushing with 347 yards in 100 carries. Watkins, a perfect foil for his running mate's all-around offensive talent, is second in rushing with 457 yards in 80 rushes.

But it is Nichols who is carrying the brunt of the offensive load. He is fourth in passing in the Big Eight with 327 yards, completing 25 of 43 attempts. His chief receiver is Don Webb, who leads the conference in pass completions with 15 and is second in yardage with 177.

Both Nichols and Watkins are

Stanford Back Pass Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Competition for individual offensive honors among the nation's college football players seems to be dwindling to a battle for the runner-up spots. Two players — Dick Norman of Stanford and Pervis Atkins of New Mexico State — took the lead in three offensive departments at the start of the season and show no signs of relinquishing it.

Norman leads in two departments. His 809 yards are tops in total offense by 80 yards, and his 85 pass completions are nine more than his nearest rivals, Joe Caldwell of Army and Pete Hall of Marquette, according to official NCAA statistics released today.

There still is a tight race for punting honors. Joe Zuger of Arizona State took over the top spot last week, with a season's average of 50.3 yards, two yards more than Darrell Harper of Michigan.

The wider goal post cross bars has been a tonic to the field goal kickers. Wake Forest has won three games via that method. The two-point after-touchdown tries are running 19 per cent behind last year. Wendell Harris of LSU tops the field goal booters with four.

Greatest gain of the week in individual offense was made by Iowa's Olen Treadway, who jumped from 42nd to 8th in total offense and from 21st to 4th in passing by completing 26 of 41 passes for 304 yards against Wisconsin.

Trial Date Set On Rape Charge

TROY, Mo. (AP)—A car thief is scheduled to go on trial in Circuit Court Dec. 14 on a charge of raping an 8-year-old girl. He is accused of luring the girl away from a church picnic Sunday with a promise of candy.

Ronald Lee Wolfe of Mobile, Ala., waived preliminary hearing in magistrate's court Monday and was ordered held without bond.

Lincoln County Sheriff Melvin Starkey said Wolfe signed a statement admitting the attack on the girl. Wolfe was released from the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., last Thursday after serving 3½ years for car theft.

DWI Charges Filed

Coleman Pinkerton Jr. was charged Tuesday with driving while intoxicated in charges filed in county court. He was released on $500 bond. Pinkerton was arrested by city police about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday at 3rd and Mesquite streets.

Cotton Clover Will Speak Here Thursday

Cotton Clover, Odessa, governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis International District, is to be guest of honor at a ladies night and interclub dinner on Thursday evening in Big Spring. The dinner is to be in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. It will be served at 7 p.m.

Sherman Smith, president of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, host to the meeting, said that it was not yet certain how many out-of-town Kiwanians will be on hand. Invitations have been sent to each of the clubs in the division.

Floyd Parsons, Big Spring, is lieutenant governor for the division. He is urging all clubs to have delegations in attendance to hear Governor Clover.

All Big Spring Kiwanians and their wives are asked to be present. It has not been definitely decided who will serve as toastmaster but it is probable that Parsons, as lieutenant governor, will introduce Gov. Clover.

Marvin Baker, president-elect of the Big Spring club, will serve as program chairman. He said that the popular HCJC choir, with Ira Schantz directing, will sing several numbers as the musical portion of the evening's entertainment.

Student Feeling Hunger Strike
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A University of California freshman, protesting compulsory ROTC training, is feeling the effects of his hunger strike on this, his third day.

"I feel as if I were seakick or floating," said 18-year-old Frederick L. Moore Jr.

The slender son of an Arlington, Va., Air Force colonel has collected more than 1,000 student signatures on his petition protesting against compulsory military training. University of California regents make it compulsory for freshmen and sophomores, but they can make it optional, but must offer it because California is a federal land grant school.

The regents, according to one of the members, will take up the question of compulsory ROTC training at a meeting in Davis Friday.

Moore said he would end his hunger strike if his father told him the act would hurt his career.

Frosty weather is not far away. In the records kept at Big Spring Experiment Station for 42 years, the first day of frost hits on an average on Nov. 7.

Earliest it ever hit was Oct. 19, 1916, and the latest was Dec. 5, 1933. The average last frost day is March 30.

According to the records, Big Spring averages 222 frost-free days a year.

Legion To Elect District Delegates

Delegates to the American Legion 19th District Convention in Lubbock, beginning Saturday noon, will be elected by the Howard County Post No. 355 at their Thursday night meeting. Heading the delegation will be Foy Dunlap, commander.

The convention will be presided over by Raymond L. Andrews, Big Spring member, first District Commander to ever serve more than two years. By-laws prohibit re-election for the two year terms but the 19th District commander has extended service by refusing to elect a successor.

According to Andrews, emphasis on membership will be stressed in view of allowing a greater scope of civic and community service through each post. With an upward trend in membership nationally posts will be urged to expand civic activities and to enlarge their youth programs.

Big Spring, with 17 voting delegates will have the second largest delegation at the convention and will present several resolutions for floor action. Big Spring resolutions will be prepared by Alfred Goodson, who will also serve as District Resolutions chairman. Goodson is adjutant of the district.

Big Spring membership took an upward turn following a Tuesday evening campaign by the membership committee. Some 50 new members were picked up in the two hour session to bring the local roster to 170. With a quota of 402 members for 1960, Big Spring must recruit a 10 per cent increase over its 365 members of 1959.

Marvin Patterson, chairman is urging prompt renewal of all memberships so the post may attain the quota by the Nov. 11, deadline.

An invitation for all members to attend post meetings on Thursday nights has been issued by Archie Segrest, attendance chairman, as well as the Saturday night socials for members and their guests. The Legion Home is located on the San Angelo highway.

Intentional Damage To Nuclear Sub
PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP)—Damage "apparently intentional" to the nuclear submarine Nautilus is under investigation today at the Portsmouth naval shipyard where the world's first atomic-powered vessel is being overhauled.

Capt. Carl A. Johnson, acting shipyard commandant, who so described the damage, said it appeared limited to electrical cables.

The Navy in Washington said the damage "does not extend to the nuclear reactor plant." The Nautilus came to Portsmouth July 26 for an extensive overhaul. The damage was discovered Oct. 15.

Last year the Nautilus voyaged beneath the North Pole ice cap and also set an Atlantic underwater crossing record of six days, 11 hours and 59 minutes.

UF Drive Passes Quarter-Mark Goal

United Fund campaigners shot past the quarter mark today in their goal to get $96,800 for its 1960 program.

Big Gifts Division under chairman Lewis Price reported $2,645.50 at their first meeting last night, including $2,996 by Section 1 under Tom Guin, and $2,645.50 by Section 2 under Bill Quimby.

The $25,686.50 pledged so far is 26 per cent of the goal. Both Special and Big Gifts Divisions will hold their next meeting Thursday at 5 p.m.

Campaign Director Russell Ireland said the Employees Division will hold a kickoff breakfast at 7 a.m. Friday in Settles Hotel, and the Metropolitan Division will hold its kickoff Thursday, Oct. 29.

Tom McEwen is chairman of the men's section of the Metropolitan, and Mrs. Jack Irons is women's chairman. Both are seeking volunteer workers for their groups.

Kennedy Kin Has Nixon Praise
PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—The brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) says Vice President Richard M. Nixon would give the Democrats a real tussle if the Republicans nominate him for president.

Edward Kennedy, 27, a Boston lawyer, told a "Dollars for Democrats" dinner Tuesday that "Nixon is standing in South America, his quarrel with Khrushchev in Russia, and his trip to Africa have all helped to build up his following."

"Nixon also has a very close relationship with all members of the Republican National Committee. He knows most by their first names. He is formidable opposition," he said.

Kennedy was in Maine to sound out support for his brother, should he announce for the Democratic nomination for president.

C. Of C. Area Meeting Is To Be Held In Andrews

Districts six and seven of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Assn. of West Texas will hold an area meeting Nov. 13 at Andrews County Chamber of Commerce offices.

Bill Quimby, president of the 16-county organization and manager of the Big Spring chamber, said over 25 chamber executives from the area and managers from several towns in south-east New Mexico are expected to attend.

"Taking into consideration the rapid pace that West Texas is growing," said Quimby, "the towns and communities in this area are facing major changes and problems in the transformation from an isolated desert area into modern cities and metropolitan districts with stable economies."

Stressing the need for central planning, Quimby said "the growth we have experienced in the past few years should impress upon us our potential and need for both long and short range planning in order that our communities may be ready for the additional predicted growth in future years."

"This planning is the only way we have of being equipped to meet the problems of tomorrow and the future. With this in mind, there is a greater need now for the services and efforts of the local chamber of commerce than in the past."

Russell A. Langelle, former U.S. security officer at the U.S. embassy in Moscow, tells newsmen in Amsterdam, Holland, that he received "pretty rough treatment" in the incident that led to his expulsion from Russia. Langelle, 37, arrived in Amsterdam from Moscow with his wife and three children. He refused to elaborate on what he meant by "rough treatment." He was expelled for what Soviet newspaper sources said was handing money to a Russian on a bus for secret intelligence data.

By BOB SMITH

Got an interesting reaction from that column last week. Signing in as Madaleen Miller, the writer makes some good points. We reproduce it here with the thought that it may prove of interest to our readers.

Dear Mr. Smith:
"Most newspaper readers don't think much one way or the other about a critic or criticism." See, I read your stuff.

And it so happens, I have had a thought or two about critics and criticism rocking around for a few years. Hangover from Matthew Arnold, I suppose.

In reading your remarks concerning criticism, I mentally compared them with views of my own, noting that some dove-tailed rather nicely and others were in complete variance. I think the very word "criticism" leaves a bad taste these days, probably due a common distortion of its meaning. In everyday parlance, it is not used in its larger meaning as an evaluation or a considered judgment but in a secondary sense, to pass upon unfavorably. Whether this is good or bad is irrelevant. For my purposes I will go along with the masses and assume critics and criticisms are often unpleasant. I might prefer evaluation and you might prefer "opinion," but we're stuck with "criticism."

I wish I could explode the minor American myth which goes by the title "constructive criticism," (translated "helpful fault-finding.") I doubt very much if any criticism in this sense is ever constructive. The sins that have been committed under the heading "constructive criticism" Granted that if we are to make any improvement, in our cultural scene, or in our flower beds, we must be discerning and judicious. We must evaluate what is good and what is not. Faults and weaknesses must be realized and removed, but the only fault-finding which does any good is that which comes from within, not from without. The only criticism which is constructive is criticism by self. And it is one of the paradoxes of human nature that things can often be seen more clearly if they aren't pointed out too studiously by external sources.

So what have we left for the critic to do? Just what he has probably been doing all along, deciding the question "What's good about it?" And if he tries long enough and hard enough, he will surely find something.

In a couple of Eastern colleges a few years back two completely unrelated groups of budding writers organized themselves to further their art. In one group the talented ambitious young people decided that their work was going to be the very best. They met together frequently and examined each others' efforts, finding the flaws, pointing out mistakes, criticizing. They had resolved to be completely honest. And they were. Honest and unmerciful.

The other group met together with quite a different idea. They met together to encourage each other, they were to point out only what was good. In an atmosphere of approval and genuine interest in each other, they continued to write and rewrite, to polish each phrase.

And which group produced the most successful writers? The second, not the first. The ambitious youngsters who sharpened their tongues rather than their pens grew discouraged and none of them was ever heard from again.

I doubt that unfavorable criticism is going to fade into oblivion. I doubt that it will ever disappear from my house. But I will not call it "constructive."

Now I have got it off my chest. Thank you, Madaleen Miller

Strange, isn't it? Errol Flynn was classified in many peoples' minds as a sinful man, although Flynn himself regarded his life as one of fun and frolic. Maybe, maybe not.

He went through his life without much comment from anybody. Now, a lot of people have something to say about him, generally uncomplimentary. Now that he's dead.

Hoyle Nix will play for a dance at the State Hospital Monday night. Musicians who thus help in patient therapy are not paid for their efforts.

Most musical groups in this area have played for these affairs. Perhaps it will be salary enough when an ex-patient remembers.

Ordinarily, we don't throw open this column to private promotions. But this is in a good cause, so—A Halloween dance will be held, beginning at 9 p.m., Oct. 31 in the Settles. It will be a benefit ball for the State Hospital Christmas Fund.

Tickets may be had from members of the sponsoring organization, the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, or from Mrs. Thurman's office at the hospital. Also at the reception desk at the hospital.

Tickets will be delivered anywhere in town Call Mrs. Bob Bright at AM 4-7792, or Mrs. Dorel Highley at AM 4-4634.

Playing for the dance will be the Starlighters.

Wool Pageant Date Is Changed

SAN ANGELO (AP) - The third annual Miss Wool of America pageant will be held in May next year instead of August, committee members directing the pageant have announced.

The date of the pageant and selection of Miss Wool of 1960 is being advanced so that she can make appearances at late spring and early summer events in the nation's fashion centers.

The date of the 1960 show has been set for May 14.

Meeting here Tuesday with the pageant committee was Max Schmitt, president of the Wool Bureau Inc., of New York, N. Y.

Charles R. Meeker Jr., director of the State Fair Musicals, was named to produce the 1960 pageant.

Automatic Window Blamed In Death

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) - Little Susan Kirk, 2½, was playing in the family station wagon, A button which sends a window glass up and down caught her interest. She leaned out the window and pushed the button. The window rose, forced her neck against the top of the door and she strangled.

That is the way police reconstructed her death Tuesday.

Two Boys Scouts found her wedged in the window. Susan was the youngest of the Rev. Jon W. Kirk's five children.

Bomb-Proof City

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) - A Cornell University team is designing a bomb-proof underground city. There are no plans actually to construct such a city, but the design could serve as a model.

Carr Has Plans

EASTLAND (AP) - Waggoner Carr, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, said here Tuesday "in all likelihood I will be in a major race next summer." He made the statement when asked if he plans to run for attorney general next year.

NO SURGERY NEEDED TO HEAL SWOLLEN PILE TISSUES while you shrink them!

To stop nagging discomfort of swollen piles in minutes, thousands use Stainless Pazo. Not only reduces tissue swelling but stops pain at once, promotes healing of inflamed tissues too—all without surgery! Preparations that just set to "shrink" piles can't offer complete symptomatic relief. For real comfort, fast, you need this more complete medication. In doctors' tests, patients had immediate relief. That's because Stainless Pazo combines the most effective ingredients known for piles. Thus works 3 ways at once: (1) stops pain, itching in minutes; (2) shrinks tissue swelling, congestion; (3) promotes healing of raw tissues. You get immediate new comfort while Nature's own healing magic goes to work! Don't suffer needlessly. Get Stainless Pazo Suppositories or Ointment at drugists. Get relief without surgery or money back!
