New U.S. Aid Chief For India

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States named a new chief Saturday for its foreign aid operations in India amid increasing speculation that this country and its allies may be called upon to increase their help to India in the next decade.

The assignment of coordinator for all U. S. economic activities in the huge South Asian country went to C. Tyler Wood, a senior foreign aid official most recently in the International Cooperation Administration here.

AID DIRECTOR

He will hold the rank of minister of affairs under Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker A. Tamm, India, and will be director of economic aid and technical assistance programs.

State Department officials said President Eisenhower had signed his commission in Augusta, Ga.

Wood faces a tremendous task complicated by increasing concern of the Indian government over Red China's military pressures on the border territories of India. This conflict has dramatized the long-term contest between India and Communist China for leadership in Asia.

Within the past decade the United States has spent, or committed, in all forms of assistance to India approximately two billion dollars. U. S. help to India now comprises this nation's biggest single foreign aid operation.

CHINA CONTEST

Prospective expansion of India's economic development operations is one of the reasons for speculation that the United States and other Western nations will have to make larger contributions to India to forge ahead in its contest with Red China.

Another reason is more direct and immediate. If Chinese Communist military pressures force Prime Minister Nehru to divert resources from economic to military expansion, officials here say, the difference required would have to come from outside India, and particularly from the United States.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

When the weatherman predicted a cooler November, he wasn't whistling Dixie. Just as the area thawed out from that record 19-degree first frost, a norther with sleet stabbed across this sector and whipped temperatures to the very low 20s. Streets and roads were so terribly slick Saturday morning that people had to drive carefully. Result: Few accidents.

The area wasn't without its accidents earlier, for when a grain-truck wandered from U.S. 87 some 16 miles south of Lamesa early Thursday, Tommie Cleo Lewis, 40, of Fort Worth was crushed to death. A week ago last night, little Lewis Esquivel, 7, was nearly killed by his second birthday, died of burns when the family farm tent house was engulfed in flames from an exploding stove.

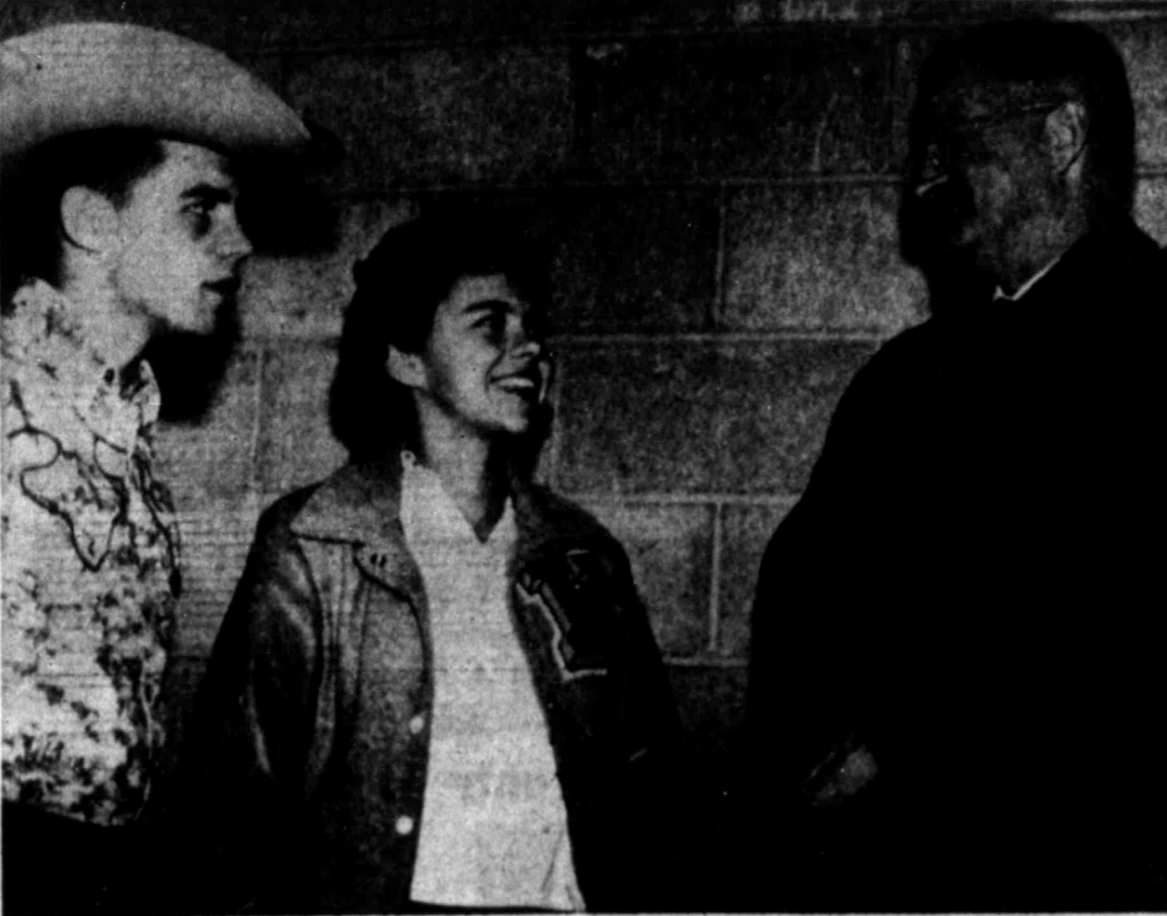

Another casualty—though in a different field—was threatened. It was the United Fund, which suddenly bogged down at 82 per cent of its goal. This is a critical situation which people had to help only if everyone will do his part—either by giving with the heart, or working faithfully with mouth and feet to carry the appeal to everyone with a conscience.

The political hot stove league had a few logs tossed on the fire last week. Howard County backers of Sen. Lyndon Johnson organized a Johnson for President Club with Frank Hardesty, county Demo chairman, as its president. Then a delegation of some 30 people went to Snyder on Thursday to hear the senator speak.

If the success of Air Force-Education Day is to be judged by teachers, it was a tremendous success. One teacher, speaking for a number of others, called Saturday to say that they had never been more courteously received, and that they were amazed at what they saw as well as the precision which personnel explained the Air Force mission to some 300 teachers.

Jeanette Newman, Lomas, and Tommie Newman, Lomas, and Jeanette Ray, Ackerly, were honored Saturday with the highest tribute the 4-H Club can bestow at a county level. They were selected as the Gold Star Clubbers of 1959.

Honors also were announced for Gordon Dickenson and Jerry Hutchens, who last spring took the National Merit Scholarship examinations. Although they didn't gain the semi-finals, they were among (See THIS WEEK, P. 5-A, Col. 7)

Howard County's Gold Star 4-H Club Members

Tommy Newman and Jeanette Ray, long time 4-H Club enthusiasts, were presented with Gold Star Awards Saturday afternoon. County Judge Ed Carpenter, shown congratulating the young leaders, made the presentation. The Gold Star is the highest award a 4-H Club member can achieve in a county organization.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Jeanette Ray and Tommy Newman Given Gold Stars

Gold Star 4-H club members of Howard County for 1959 are Jeanette Ray and Tommy Newman.

The received the coveted awards for their outstanding work in the Howard County 4-H club movement Saturday afternoon as climax to the annual Achievement day activities at the County Fair Grounds Building.

Presentation of the gold stars was made to the two youngsters by Ed Carpenter, county judge.

Mis Ray is a seven-year member of the 4-H clubs. She is a junior in Sands High School and a member of the Knott 4-Club. She has served as president, secretary and recreational leader of her club and has taken part in county dress revues and dairy foods contests. She was selected to represent the county in the district elimination competition for dairy foods.

Students Gassed By Fumes On Bus

TEXARKANA (AP)—Ten Pemberton High School students from Marshall were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes while riding a school bus en route to a football game here.

Eight were treated at Texarkana hospitals and released. The other two remained in a hospital overnight for observation.

The students, members of the high school band, became ill when the bus, carrying 30 passengers, was about 9 miles from Texarkana. Because of the wet and cold weather, all windows on the bus were closed.

The driver, Ray Marshall, said the source of the escaping fumes was not immediately determined but was believed due to a faulty exhaust system.

OTHER AWARDS

Field crop pins went to Lloyd Zant and Larry Adkins. Food preparation recognition was accorded Harvey Adams, Robbie Brown and Margie Newman.

Garden award was presented to Robbie Brown, Joyce Robinson and the home economics pin and Karen Jackson and Martha Jackson the health award.

Tommy Newman and Neva Jackson were presented the leadership awards and Paul Porch, Lawrence Long, Jay Creighton and James Haston received the swine award.

Freddy White, Sharon Harrison and Kay Thornton received beef cattle pins.

for three years and has served as rodeo director for two years. He was delegate to the 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M College and holds awards in achievement, poultry, entomology and leadership.

The presentation of the Gold Stars terminated a day long gathering at the fair grounds. Youngsters in the organization were given an opportunity to participate in fitting and judging competition. A barbecue dinner was served at noon. Despite the ice and biting cold, the event attracted more than 100 club members, leaders and friends.

Two adult awards for service to the 4-H club activity went to Marvin Sewell, and to Dr. H. F. Schwarzenback.

Achievement awards were presented to Harry King, Rodney Brooks, Kay McBride and Sandra Couch. Boy's agricultural pins were given Robert Hamey, Mark Barr, Max Frazier, and Kathy Shaw.

Clothing awards were to Martha Robinson, LaWanda Zant, Penny Frazier and Kathy Shaw. Dress revue awards went to Jeanette Ray.

Medic Sees Mind Drugs

GALVESTON (AP)—A German psychiatrist Saturday predicted that new drugs may unlock the mystery of why schizophrenics get that way.

Schizophrenics are referred to in lay language as split personalities. They often are extremely violent.

The prediction came from Dr. F. G. Stockhausen, staff physician in the State Mental Hospital in Bonn. He spoke to 300 psychiatrists at a symposium at the University of Texas medical branch here.

He reported specifically on a new drug with the test name of tetrabenazine. Stockhausen said tests on 70 patients with schizophrenia showed marked improvement in 12 hours to three days.

Stockhausen said a follow-up through on the drug may permit psychiatrists to understand the ailment and why it affects some persons and not others.

Dr. Norman Lende of Sarabault State School and Hospital in Minnesota said tetrabenazine is the most effective drug yet used on mental patients.

Dr. Arthur Scherbel of the Cleveland, Ohio, clinic called another drug, Marplan, a paradox.

"In one instance it masks the pain but does not heal," he said. "In another it masks the pain as well as heals."

It's Do-Or-Die For United Fund As Total Reaches 82 Per Cent

The United Fund faces a do-or-die situation this week.

A $1,400 report from Webb AFB pushed the total to $79,962, or 82 per cent of the $96,800 goal for 12 welfare, health and youth agencies.

Horace Garrett, campaign chairman, called an emergency meeting of all United Fund workers for 5 p.m. Monday in the Settles ballroom, and Mayor Lee O. Rogers issued a proclamation setting this aside as United Fund Week.

Meanwhile, the YMCA—as one of the participating agencies—bit off the task of contacting more than three score firms and individuals whose cards have not been worked in the Metropolitan division.

"We can't afford to fail on our United Fund assignments and clip the work of these vital institutions so completely dependent upon the United Fund for financial life," said the mayor.

"None of us wants to bear the shame of a failure in any community project, particularly anything so tremendously important as the United Fund. Thus, I earnestly urge everyone to work—to give—to pray for the success of this effort."

In an executive board meeting called Friday by Raymond River, president of the United Fund, Garrett left no doubt that it would be the rank-and-file which would save the campaign if it is snatched from failure and propelled to success.

"The big gifts and special gifts divisions have come through with almost all their quotas and very little more can be expected from these sources."

"We can't go back to those who have given so generously and sometimes sacrificially until we have carried our plea to everyone else in the community," he said.

Somehow there has been a lack of dynamic impact on the people about the seriousness of the situation, River noted, for at a Thursday evening report session only five people showed up.

There are 114 cards on firms with 10 or more employees who have not yet been contacted for employe gifts, and UF officials hoped that some agency would accept this responsibility.

Fathers of young boys in the Y Indian Guides and in the Gra-Y program are being organized to make the remainder of the Metropolitan Division contacts. They will meet at the Y at 5:15 p.m. Monday at the YMCA for card selection, and Bobo Hardy, Y general secretary, said that it was hoped that the number of cards would be limited to two or three each at the most.

Rayburn Claims Johnson Support

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn said Saturday that all Democratic representatives from Texas have assured him of their support of Sen. Lyndon Johnson for president.

Texas has only one Republican, Bruce Alger, among its 22-man delegation in the House.

Rayburn himself officially started the Johnson boom several weeks ago when he urged formation of Johnson-for-President clubs in each of Texas' 254 counties.

We Can't Afford To Fail

The United Fund appeal is 20 per cent short of its goal. Unless there is a definite quickening of support and a rallying of workers and givers, this year's goal will not be met.

Too many people look upon the United Fund as just another agency. They do not seem to realize that it is the source of life-blood to 12 agencies such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Milk & Ice Fund, Air Force Aid, West Side Youth Center, Heart, Texas Rehabilitation, and others. Many of these have no other means of finance except what comes from the United Fund.

Falling short is not just a question of the agencies' tightening their belts. That was done at the outset, for the United Fund cut budget requests by approximately $25,000.

The budgets already have been cut to the bone and agencies can't operate with a big shortage. For example, The Salvation Army already has been going in the hole trying to meet mounting appeals; to take a cut in support now would be disastrous. The same is true in most other agencies.

We simply can't afford to have this happen to the agencies. More than that, we can't afford to have such a blot on our record as a growing community and thus advertise to the world that we can't meet our responsibilities.

Mayor Lee Rogers has proclaimed this as United Fund Week in Big Spring. We plead with you earnestly to respond enthusiastically, generously, tirelessly just this week to get done the job that simply must be done.

2 Rail Crossing Wrecks Kill 12

Crashes Occur At Sudan, Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—A northbound Rock Island passenger train and a pickup truck smashed together at a grade crossing Saturday night. Officers recovered mangled bodies from the wrecked truck and eight were killed.

County medical investigator Frank Murray said, "There were supposed to be eight in the truck."

"But it's impossible to tell how many bodies there are because they're cut up so bad. We have used search lights and done everything we can but I doubt if we have them all."

"We will have to go back in daylight and look some more," Murray added.

Police tentatively identified the truck occupants as Doyle Patton, 31; his wife, Juanita, 29; their four children, Don LaVerne, 10, Janice Diane, 12, Sandra Sue, 6, and Randy Dale, 5; and two of Mrs. Patton's nieces, Rena Bryant, 2, and Lynn Bryant, 18 months.

The latter two were children of James Bryant. All are of Houston.

The accident occurred in the northern part of Harris County. The truck came to rest about one-half mile down the track from the crossing.

Patton was employed here as a maintenance man by a heating and air conditioning firm. The Pattons moved here about three months ago from Ruston, La.

Site of the wreck was a rural area on the Fairbanks-Houston road. Newsmen on the scene said the crossing had no flashing signals.

The train appeared not to be damaged. Parts of the wrecked truck were scattered along the roadbed.

The collision occurred shortly after 6 p.m. A cold rain fell in the Houston area most of the day but had tapered off late in the afternoon.

That Ain't Hay

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An 11-year-old 6th grade 4-H Club member from Pearsall received $2,750 Saturday for nine head of cauliflower at the San Antonio Vegetable Day Show.

The happy youngster is Gus Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Roberts.

The boy's basket of cauliflower won the grand championship at the show and its sale at auction set a show record. Lone Star Brewery was the bidder.

The previous record was $1,500 paid last year for a bushel of squash.

Ice Glazes Highways Across State

Sleet and snow and ice glazed highways in many sections of Texas Saturday as the coldest norther of the season whistled through.

Numerous highway accidents occurred from far West Texas to deep into East and South Texas. Icing conditions were so severe in some areas that the State Highway Department and State Police advised motorists to stay at home except for emergency missions.

The Highway Department said icing conditions prevailed in the Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo, Brownwood, Del Rio, Austin and Waco areas.

Heavily traveled U.S. Highway 285 was closed Saturday morning between Fort Stockton and Sanderson in West Texas.

The Colorado blizzard that swept eastward, dropped temperatures to as low as 6 above zero at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle.

EXTENDS FAR

The freeze extended deep into South Texas, as far as the lush lower Rio Grande Valley Saturday night.

At more than a half dozen points the temperature did not get above freezing Saturday. The maximum reading at Junction, San Angelo and Midland was 29 degrees, at Alpine 30, at Wink 31 and at Van Horn and Big Spring 32. Other marks ranged up to 38 degrees at Brownsville.

With the exception of a few clear patches in North and Northwest Texas, skies were partly cloudy to cloudy Saturday night with light rains reported along the coast. At many points the temperature dipped back below freezing after sundown.

The Weather Bureau reported rain, drizzle or sleet extended from East Texas south of Tyler to Fort Worth, Abilene, Midland and Odessa.

Freezing rain fell at daybreak at Austin where many motorists were headed for the important Southwest Conference football game between the University of Texas and Texas Christian University. Later the drizzle turned into sleet.

Snow And Cold For Big Spring

Snow and continued cold temperatures are forecast for Big Spring today, following on the heels of the biting chill that gripped the city Saturday morning.

The slashing cold that swept into Big Spring was marked by a rapid drop in temperature with freezing drizzle and rain.

It moved in about sunset Friday, coating the area with a slippery layer of ice, making travel in the early hours hazardous.

Heavier overcasts and wraps marked the Saturday shopping crowds.

The U. S. Experiment Station reported a low Saturday morning of 20 degrees with sleet measured at 10 of an inch. The gauge climbed to 32 during the day, which was barely enough to melt ice off the streets.

Predicted low this morning was 24 and the weather forecaster predicted light snow today with a high reading of 38. The cold temperatures are expected to hang on through Monday with 44, the predicted high.

Skeet Foresyth, city street superintendent, had four crews working through the early hours Saturday spreading gravel in the battle against icy streets.

About 20 intersections were made safe by 9 a.m. and crews were prepared to gravel every intersection where there are stop signs. Melting rapidly, most city streets were safe from slippery ice by noon.

Three accidents occurring in the city between midnight Friday and noon Saturday could be attributed to slick streets. Damage was minor, however, and no injuries reported.

Aaron Douglas Wilmon, 1300 E. 18th, and Jimmy Bristow, Ackerly, were in collision in the 800 block of East 18th. Doris Carr, 1305 Tuscon, and Gilberto Garcia, 1110 N. Bell, ran together at 6th and Johnson. A collision at E. 80 and Baylor involved Jackie Darrrell Hopper, Rt. 1, and Jimmy Ray Solomon, 3200 Drexel.

Other accidents earlier Friday were reported on North Benton at Jeanie's Cafe. George Nolan Simpson, 1718 Harvard, and Mack Newton, Knott, were involved in the wreck. Charles Bryan Blanton,

Surgery Patient Is Blast Victim

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—A patient on the operating table at the Mount Pleasant Hospital & Clinic suffered a lung injury Saturday when the anesthetizer exploded.

The patient, Audrey Sue Collins, 17, suffered a lung hemorrhage due to a ruptured blood vessel. She was taken to Baylor Hospital in Dallas, where her condition was reported as satisfactory tonight.

Dr. M. L. Cline of the clinic said the patient, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Collins of Mount Pleasant, was undergoing minor surgery when the explosion occurred.

Hard Way To Make Living

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elaine Edwards, a real beauty, can't figure what movie heroes and villains have against her.

She's sort of an expendable girl on most of her pictures. In "The Purple Gang," "Inside the Mafia" and "Guns, Gals and Gangsters," she has been mauled, slugged and received an authentic black eye.

On one picture, the casting office made a mistake on a stunt girl double.

"When it came time to shoot the scene—where I'm thrown through a plate glass window—the double showed up with Brown hair. There was nothing else to do but for me to go through the window."

Fortunately, plate glass windows for movies are made of a clear candy-like concoction, not real glass.

Hope's Sickness Won't Slow Him

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope's eye illness will cause no slowdown in his show-business career, says the 56-year-old comedian.

New reports that a blood clot in his left eye might force retirement brought scoffs from Rapid Robert.

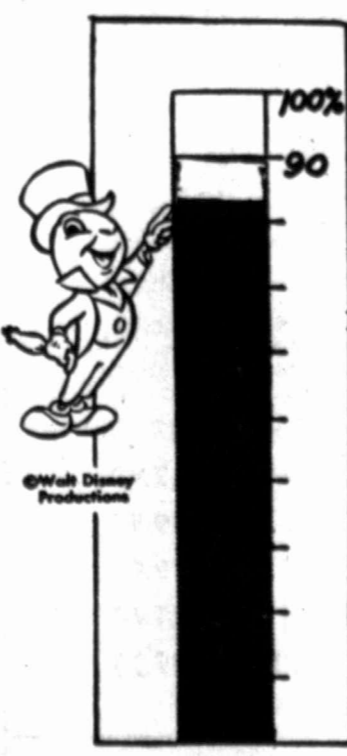

"I'll never retire from show business," Hope said between puts on a golf course. "I love this work too much. The best medicine I have is to hear an audience laugh at my jokes. It exhilarates me. I can't describe how wonderful I feel doing it."

"I'm cutting down on some of my other activities but not movies, TV or personal appearances," he said. Hope is involved in many real estate and sports ventures.

School Chief Dies

WACO (AP)—Dr. L. A. Woods, former state superintendent of schools, died Saturday night at his home.

Woods, the last elected state superintendent of public instruction in Texas, retired in 1949.

C'mon now, it's only 82. Just think what the United Fund can do for you. C'mon now, it's do-or-die. We can push 100 if you'll only try.

Lesson In Ethics

Three of history teacher Melvin C. Willett's students look over his shoulders as he checks a rigged test he gave his classes to provide a lesson in ethics at Freehold, N. J. They are, left to right, Penny Gabrier, 16; Rosanne Weiss, 17; and Kathy Chisholm, 16. Disturbed by the complacent attitude of his students to fixed TV quiz shows, Willett gave a difficult history test. Nine—with access to the answers—passed and all others failed; then complained bitterly that the providing of answers to the nine was unfair. Further discussion of TV quiz shows developed a marked change in attitude.

Aircraft Executive Spurns U.S. Post

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Aircraft executive Dr. Charles L. Critchfield today withdrew acceptance of his appointment as director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency.

"Under present circumstances," he said, "I do not believe I could do justice to this important job."

Critchfield is director of scientific research for Convair, a division of General Dynamics Corp. He said he has informed the Defense Department of his decision. Critchfield said that general misunderstanding and public controversy had impaired his ability to serve.

Baptists Deny Dance Issue Was Cause Of Ouster

DALLAS (AP)—Baptist leaders have denied that trustees of the denominational children's home at Round Rock were ousted because of a dance issue.

Seven trustees of the Texas Baptist Children's Home in Round Rock were not nominated for reelection at the Baptist General Convention in Corpus Christi.

Former board members and other Baptist representatives issued a statement Friday defending the convention's actions.

The statement said "the dance issue never came before the convention. Messengers merely approved a routine report of a committee appointed to nominate trustees for the home. The committee nominated seven new members to replace members whose terms were expiring this year."

Church Features Visiting Pastors

FORSAN — A lectureship was held by the Forsan Church of Christ during the past week. Beginning on last Sunday evening, lectures were given by various preachers from churches throughout the area.

Sunday evening W. T. Hamilton of Lamesa spoke on "God." Don Connell of Mosahans brought the lecture on "Christ" Monday evening. Darrell Flynt, Sterling City, was the speaker Tuesday evening, giving a message on "Holy Spirit." Wednesday evening the subject "Apostle" was discussed by Lewis Garnett of Big Spring. "The Word" was the title of a lecture given by James Eubanks of Big

Eats His 'Hat'

Because of the number of jobs failed to drop below three million last month as he predicted, Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell publicly "ate his hat" on the steps of the Labor Department building in Washington, D. C. The "hat" was a fedora shaped cake. He blamed the steel strike for crossing up his jobless guess made last spring.

Touhy Says He's Not Bitter

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Roger Touhy, soon to be released from Stateville Prison after serving 25 years for a kidnaping he says he did not commit, is not bitter.

"I hold no grudge, and I'm not looking for revenge," the 61-year-old former Chicago gangster said Friday night. "I'm not bitter. I just want to get out of here."

Earlier Friday Touhy, known as "the Terrible" in the prohibition era when he was a gang leader with a working agreement with the old Al Capone gang, was granted a parole. Officials said he will leave Stateville as soon as his prospective home and employment have been checked, probably in a week or 10 days.

Touhy, crippled, slight and graying, smiled as he talked to reporters about his parole.

"All I want is to live in peace for the few years left for me," Touhy said. "I will be thankful for the mercy already shown me by the governor and the (Parole and Pardon) Board."

He was convicted and sentenced to 90 years in 1934 for the kidnaping of John (Jake) Barberis. Factor, a longtime confidence man and now a California real estate dealer. He was given an additional 199-year sentence in 1942 for escaping from Stateville with six other convicts. He was recaptured after 83 days.

Electra To Drain Unneeded Water

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP)—With many cities in the Southwest scrambling to find new sources of water, this community in North Texas is preparing to dispose of its City Lake because of too much water.

Mayor R. C. Holmes and the city commission voted to drain the lake by cutting the dam.

This would release approximately 600 acre feet of water and allow it to flow down China Creek into the Red River.

The city now has another large lake on Waggoner ranch land, and a battery of 17 shallow wells 10 miles north of town.

These newer water sources were provided during droughts when the city lake went dry. The old lake, its pumping system and settling basin were abandoned as a source of city water supply.

Monks Slapped

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—A governor general's commission has recommended that Buddhist monks stick to teaching Buddhism and leave politics and business alone. It also proposes that a judicial council of monks be set up to discipline erring clergy. Two monks have been accused in connection with the assassination of Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike in September.

Veteran A&M Instructor Dies After Knife Accident

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A veteran Texas A&M College instructor died within minutes Saturday when a knife slipped as he trimmed bacon in a laboratory and severed an artery in his groin.

He bled to death before a doctor, summoned by a fellow college employe, could arrive.

He was Roy L. Simms, 49. He was working in the animal husbandry department foods laboratory.

Simms and Zelle Newton, a locker room employe, were alone in the building. Newton stepped outside to hear a weather report on his car radio while Simms trimmed a slab of bacon.

Newton heard Simms cry for help, returned quickly and found Simms bleeding profusely.

Simms was locker room foreman as well as instructor. He had been a college staff member since 1934 except for two years in the Navy.

Austin College Rally At Midland

SHERMAN — Final arrangements have been made for a "Get Acquainted with Austin College" party to be held Tuesday, 8 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church in Midland.

The party, which will feature students and faculty from the Sherman school as speakers, is open to all sophomore, junior, and senior high school students from Midland, Big Spring, Colorado City, Stanton, Sweetwater, Andrews, Kermit, Monahans, Grand, Pecos, Seminole and Barstow.

Cubans Advertise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government is buying advertising in top U.S. magazines to attract tourists to Cuba, but travel agents say people seem uneasy about going there now.

Elephant Loses Battle To Sharks

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Fishermen watched a duel to the death between a thirst-crazed elephant and sharks off the Kenya mainland.

The elephant stampeded into the sea Friday and began to swim toward an island 10 miles offshore. Seven miles from the mainland, sharks—some 14 feet long—swept into the attack.

Time and again, the doomed beast lunged at his tormentors with dripping tusks. Then the sharks attacked from both sides and killed the elephant.

Game wardens today reported finding 80 dead elephants—believed to have died of thirst—on the mainland opposite Lamu Island.

Urges Change

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) told Wisconsin Democrats Friday night that only through a change in the administration could the United States overcome the gains he said had been made by the Soviet Union in the past seven years.

6 Convicted In Gem Plot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Six men have been convicted of a plot to steal the huge Krupp diamond and take it across the state lines. A seventh was acquitted. A jury Friday night freed Joseph Simonetti, 32, of Birmingham, Ala., who had denied any connection with the crime. Three others were found guilty. Earlier in the trial, which lasted two weeks, three other prisoners changed their pleas to guilty. Those convicted Friday night, each on two counts of conspiracy, were John William Hagenson, 31, of Las Vegas and Hot Springs, Ark.; Marion Carter Bowman, 37, of San Antonio, Tex., and Edward Daniel Hay of Texas City, Tex. The convictions climaxed an investigation touched off when armed robbers seized the $250,000 diamond ring from Mrs. Vera Krupp at her ranch near here last April 10. Mrs. Krupp was formerly married to German industrialist Alfred Krupp.

Baby's Cries Save Family From Death By Gas Fumes

FORT WORTH (AP) — Cries of a 7-month-old baby probably saved the lives of a Fort Worth family of five Saturday morning when fumes from a heating unit filled their home. "I'm just very glad to be alive," said Mrs. Eldon Beavers as she and her family recuperated at the home of her mother. The baby, Terry, cried and woke her mother at 3:15 a. m. I picked her up from her crib in our bedroom," said Mrs. Beavers. "Then I just passed out and fell backwards on the bed with her in my arms." Her husband, 35, helped his wife back into bed and changed the baby's diaper. "I was groggy, but just thought I was sleepy," he said. About 20 minutes later, his wife, complaining of a severe headache, asked Beavers to get her an aspirin. "When I got up, my head was hurting," Beavers said. "The house was just going round and round. I couldn't find the light switch. There was no feeling in my fingers. I could barely tell when I was touching the walls. I stumbled out of the bedroom, down the hall, and began to open every window in the house. Then I started awakening our other children." Sherry, 11, lost consciousness after reaching the den.

J. D. Kane, inspector for the city, said a downdraft had been blowing a heavy concentration of fumes back into the house.

Trickster-Treater Faces Trial But Aide Isn't Worried

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Dr. William V. Shyne faces arraignment in Municipal Court next Friday for giving laxatives instead of candy to trick-or-treat youngsters on Halloween, but his attorney declares he isn't worried. The 40-year-old dentist and a nurse accused with him have denied the charges. Some children became briefly but violently ill from pills they collected with their Halloween candy. Attorney Richard M. Kaplan told reporters that Dr. Shyne would establish his innocence and the dentist's disappearance from Fremont immediately after Halloween was just coincidental. Dr. Shyne went on an elk hunting trip, surrendering on his return. Kaplan said the trip had been planned long in advance. Both Dr. Shyne and Hazel Ebelgy, the nurse, are accused of outraging public decency and illegally dispensing drugs.

Marfa Ranchman Shot In Gunfight

MARFA (AP) — A Marfa rancher was shot twice Friday in an exchange of gunfire with border patrolmen that left one horse shot to death. The gunfire took place on the ranch of Moody Bennett, about 50, who the FBI in El Paso said was charged with assaulting a federal officer. FBI Agent-in-Charge Francis Crosby said Bennett was charged Friday before U. S. Commissioner Norman Davis in Marfa. Bennett was shot in the right hand and the left arm. He was treated and returned to his home where he was arrested at 9 p. m. The shooting took place when the border patrolmen entered Bennett's ranch, 85 miles northwest of this Presidio County town, on official business, Crosby said. Bennett said he had asked the border patrol not to ride through his cotton field, but to use the roads running through his field. Marcus Neely, El Paso district director of the immigration service, said the officers "were engaged in the business of apprehending illegal aliens." He said three Mexican aliens were captured. Six officers took part in the alien roundup and about six shots were fired in the gun fight, Neely said. Bennett said that when he saw the patrolmen on horseback in his field he got into his pickup and drove out. Bennett said Border Patrolman Thurston McCutcheon fired a shot at him with his pistol when he drove near the officer. He said the bullet hit the steering wheel and then struck him in the right hand. The rancher said he grabbed his rifle and as he did so the officer fired two more shots, one of them hitting Bennett's left arm. Bennett staggered from the truck and shot the agent's horse as it bore down on him, he said. He said McCutcheon jumped from the dead horse and then pistol whipped him. Bennett said the officer's partner pulled the patrolman off and they left him in the field. Bennett said he then staggered back to his truck and drove back to his ranch house. A doctor treated him there for two bullet wounds and deep lacerations on his face, he said.

Trans-Texas Pact Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The authority of Trans-Texas Airways to serve seven Texas and Arkansas cities was renewed Friday by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The board at the same time declined to renew the airline's authority to serve another seven cities in two states. In Friday's action, the board extended for five years Trans-Texas' certificate to serve Brownwood, Marfa-Alpine, Galveston and Fort Stockton, all in Texas. It said it would allow the airline to continue service to Marshall, Tex., and Camden and Magnolia, Ark., until 60 days after a final order in the pending Southwest area service case. The board did not renew the airline's authority to serve Kerrville, Pecos, Beville, Coleman and Brady, Tex., and Helena-West Helena and Stuttgart, Ark. It said figures showed that fewer than five passengers daily use the service at those points.

School Study Committees To Meet In Joint Session

Five committees, engaged in a close look at as many facets of the community's school problem, will come together for an exchange of ideas Monday evening.

This is the second major stage of the Community Conference on Education and will be followed by more individual meetings prior to a final public report session on Nov. 24.

Monday's session is slated for 7 p.m. in the Goliad Cafeteria under the direction of Floyd Parsons, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce education committee.

Chairmen due to report for their committees are M. M. Miller, finance; Dr. J. E. Hogan, plant; Arnold Marshall, extra-curricular activities; Dr. W. A. Hunt, program; and Cliff Fisher, personnel.

The last of the individual committee sessions following the opening of the project, was held Friday, and some of the groups have met two or three times. In most instances, the committees have assigned members detail project studies, which in turn are being worked into a general committee report.

Each of the five committees has 25 members in addition to the chairmen.

Death Involving Diplomat's Son Recalls Immunity Issue

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—As far back as diplomats can recall—and that's pretty far—they have enjoyed immunity on foreign soil.

The ancient Greeks even had words for it. They declared an attack on the person of an ambassador was an offense of the gravest nature.

Diplomatic immunity was spotlighted this week when it was invoked here by David Patrick Hearne, 21, son of Irish ambassador John J. Hearne. A widow was struck and killed Wednesday night by a car driven by young Hearne.

The law stepped aside, a coroner's inquest was called off, and the ambassador's son, a student at American University, went home to the embassy.

Police say young Hearne has figured in three disorderly incidents in the last 2 1/2 years and was released in each case under immunity.

The State Department said Friday the Dublin government has offered to cooperate in working out some solution of the problems created by the embassy's son.

The object of immunity—from the troubled days of rival and unscrupulous kings—was to protect an ambassador or emissary from arrest or harm as he acted on behalf of his country abroad.

Almost out of mutual fear, the nations of the world have agreed to protect each other's diplomats.

A 1790 act of Congress set down the rules that "under no circumstances" may foreign ministers be prosecuted for offenses against law and order. It includes everything from passing a red light to murder. They even are immune from suits to collect debts.

The immunity extends to members of an ambassador's family, entourage, household, employees and servants. Anyone who arrests them may himself be liable to prosecution, imprisonment and fine.

For the most part, immunity is automatic. And it is considered that a foreign minister cannot waive it, a State Department spokesman said.

In some minor cases diplomatic immunity has been waived, but diplomats consider any breach in the privilege may be a dangerous precedent.

Diplomats are expected voluntarily to obey local laws. Continued violations of the law may be considered good ground for renunciations and even for a demand

Round Table For Gra-Y's Is Formed

The Gra-Y organization has formed a round table and has named John Findlater to be the King Arthur of the inter-club forum.

(Gra-Y is a combination of the Grade School and YMCA for boys.)

The round table will be for exchange of ideas and program suggestions. Only boys attaining the rank of page are eligible to be representatives on it.

One of the first activities sponsored by the new unit will be a tournament for all Gray-Y clubs at 1 p.m. on Dec. 5. Being planned is an all-star rag football game.

Forsan Club Has Meeting

FORSAN — Joe T. Holladay, president at a meeting of the Forsan Service Club on Thursday evening, announced that the forthcoming football game between Forsan and Gail will be played Thursday night in Big Spring. Coach James Beake reported to the group on his football teams following the announcement.

Plans were also discussed to start work again on the inside of the club house.

Next meeting date of the organization will be Dec. 5.

Traffic Tragedy Has Dual Implication For Big Spring

Big Spring was doubly involved in a car accident near Terrell on Friday—the accident which took the life of Mrs. Henrietta Bolt, 61, former resident of this city.

Killed in the same accident was a little 3-year-old girl, Aphenia Elizabeth Acton.

She and her family, highway patrol officers, reported were en route to Big Spring to make their new home when the accident occurred. The Actons are from Epps, Ala.

Jimmy C. Acton, 25, was moving his family to Big Spring, where friends had offered to help him find a job and get a new start in life. Mr. and Mrs. Acton and their son, Jimmy, a year younger than Aphenia, are hospitalized in Dallas.

Mrs. Bolt, who was the wife of the late Tom Bolt, formerly with the U. S. Experiment Station here, was in the second car involved in the collision.

Sex Changed

Mrs. Ralph H. Heidel, formerly known as Charles Ernest McLead before having her sex changed by Danish doctors, is a bride of one month. She posed for her picture in her Miami, Fla. apartment. Prior to having an operation Mrs. Heidel served three months in the U. S. Army as a male soldier and then received a medical discharge.

Market Rally On Heels Of Steel Ruling Short-Lived

By MILO C. WILDRICK, Enquirer, Guerin & Turner, Inc. Member New York Stock Exchange

The market rally in response to the return to work in the steel industry was short-lived and was soon followed by a continuation of the sidewise price trend which has dominated market sessions for some time. Trading volume remained at substantial levels this week and prices changed within narrow ranges generally with break-outs occurring on a highly selective basis.

Steels continued to reflect the unsettling effects of the long strike and pivoted within a short range, but closed slightly softer. American Motors again paced the market in activity and, after posting a new high, backed off a bit at the close. Electronic and space stocks again held the spotlight with price gyrations led by Texas Instruments, Thiokol Chemical, Liltion Industries and Ampex. Several aircrafts reacted favorably to announcement of the award of a space glider contract. Boeing Aircraft led the group, which included Chance Vought, to post a gain. Paper stocks enjoyed a brief flurry early in the week with International Paper, Mead, Champion and St. Regis participating.

generally occurred within narrow ranges and on a very selective basis as investors continued to mull over the ramifications of the steel situation.

Oil issues traded at a fairly brisk pace with prices mixed, but fractionally softer on balance. Republic Natural Gas was active and up 2 points on improved earnings outlook. Delhi-Taylor dropped 1/4. Both Aztec and Western Natural Gas lost 1/4 each. Tekoil was down 1/4 and the balance of the list appeared to be off fractionally.

Transmissions and utilities traded on good volume with prices somewhat mixed, but softening a bit at the close. Texas Eastern Trans backed off 1/4, Pioneer Natural Gas dropped 1/4 and Southern Union Gas eased a minor fraction. Transcon Gas Trans countered the downward trend and added 1.

Banks and insurances were active and stronger generally as institutional buyers moved into the market. In the limelight was Republic National Bank with a gain of 1/4 on the week.

Industrials and specialties generally followed the pattern of the City Board with trading volume up and prices mixed but reflecting an upward trend on balance. As usual, a high degree of selectivity was evident as specialty issues reacted to news and corporate reports.

This week's underwritings provided limited fare for buyers of corporate securities. The investment community appeared to be marking time while awaiting the American Telephone & Telegraph

Co.'s mammoth $250 million debenture offering scheduled for public bidding next Tuesday. Issues of interest to Southwestern investors reaching the market this week were among the following:

On Monday, the Pitney-Bowes Inc., 200,000 share offering of common stock was released at $35 per share. First Boston Corp. headed the underwriters and the issue was well received.

Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.'s offering of 295,178 shares of 5 per cent convertible second preferred stock reached the market on Tuesday at $100 per share. Underwriting group was headed by Stone & Webster and White, Weld & Co.

On Wednesday, $32,549 shares of Baker Oil Tools, Inc. common were offered at $9.00 per share. Underwriters were led by Lehman Brothers and Lester, Ryons & Co. Dallas Power & Light Co. has filed a statement relating to $20 million of 30-year, first mortgage bonds to be offered publicly at competitive bidding.

The Dow-Jones Municipal Bond Index, which moves inversely to prices, climbed only slightly last week from a 3.59 per cent to a 3.58 per cent. The current bidding calendar is quite heavy which should exert pressure on bond prices, notably those with short maturities. The market appears to have reached a price plateau which may extend for the next few weeks, but any movement should be toward the easing of prices. Issues of interest to Southwestern investors reaching the market this week and scheduled for next week are among the following: $500,000 Richardson Independent School District Bonds, $650,000 Denton Independent School District Bonds, and $1,100,000 Texarkana Independent School District Bonds.

On Thursday, Bache & Co. and Eppler, Guerin & Turner bought the following bonds which were re-offered in the market: $250,000 Bishop Independent School District Unlimited Tax Schoolhouse Bonds maturing 1960 to 1969 with coupons of 3 1/2 per cent and 3 1/4 per cent at yields of 2.90 per cent to 3.50 per cent.

Rites Pending For Mrs. Antis

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Flora Jane Antis, 92, died at the home of her son, Chester VanMeter, in Colorado City about 9 a.m. Friday.

She was born in Marshall, Ill. Feb. 19, 1867. She was a member of the Methodist Church and had lived in Colorado City for 15 years. The body was taken to Woodward, Okla. in a Kiker & Son coach. Services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Woodward Methodist Church and burial will be at Woodward.

McComb Rites Are Conducted

Last rites were said at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Weatherbee Funeral Chapel in Rotan for George Granville McComb, 69, brother of Sam McComb of Big Spring.

Mr. George McComb, blind since birth, died in an Abilene Nursing Home which he entered on leaving his home in Kent County in 1951. Services were conducted by the Rev. William Pearce, Methodist minister, and burial was in the Rotan Cemetery.

Mr. McComb succumbed to a heart attack. Besides his brother here, Mr. McComb was survived by a sister, Mrs. G. H. Johnson, Holtsville, Calif., and two other brothers, C. W. McComb, Abilene, and L. S. McComb, Yuma, Ariz.

COTTON NEAR END

Braceros Disappear And Strippers Are Moving In

Braceros are rapidly vanishing from the cotton fields of West Texas counties and more and more mechanical stripping machines are taking their places.

An average of 85 per cent of the 1959 crop has already been ginned in most of the area, according to surveys by the Texas Employment Commission.

Howard County gins have processed 29,923 of an estimated 32,000 bale crop—84 per cent of the total. Glasscock County, where the estimated total crop was cut last week has been raised again to 16,500 bales. A total of 8,797 bales have been ginned. Martin County, with an estimated crop of 65,000 bales, has 81 per cent of its crop in storage. The gins have handled 32,488 bales so far this season.

The next two weeks, according to the TEC, weather permitting, will see the end of the cotton harvest. Strippers are now in many fields and more will be showing in Howard, Glasscock and Martin counties in the next few days. Dawson County has ginned 138,

461 bales of an estimated 145,000 bale crop and is within 5 per cent of having its crop finished. No figures were available from Borden County but it was said the cotton is nearly all ginned in that county. Nolan County is 72 per cent complete with 9,678 bales reported. Forty strippers are now in the county. Mitchell County has ginned 16,140 bales. Forty strippers are operating in that county.

Scurry County has more strippers on hand—50—than any other county in the area. It has ginned 18,796 bales. This is 63 per cent of the crop. Fisher County has ginned 22,084 bales. Five strippers are on the job so far and others are expected.

Judge To Send Eidinoff To Hospital
LUBBOCK (AP)—Dist. Judge Robert H. Bean said Friday he will order Dr. Harold Eidinoff committed to the Rusk State Hospital with a recommendation that the 50-year-old El Paso physician never be released. Eidinoff was adjudged insane here last week. He was also adjudged insane last Jan. 28 when he shot and killed Ted Adress, 50, El Paso attorney.

Judge Bean said he would sign the commitment order within the next few days and that Eidinoff would be transferred soon afterwards to the Rusk hospital which handles the state's criminally insane patients.

A Pat on the Back

MRS. RAYMOND EADS

A broken leg and a doctor's recommendation of ballet to exercise the limb has resulted in the YMCA's gaining a valuable worker. Mrs. Raymond Eads was informed at the time of the accident that exercise would be necessary in regaining full use of her ankle and the doctor suggested ballet lessons. Those lessons, plus Mrs. Eads' natural desire for exercise, all added up to make her a lifelong enthusiast of health exercises.

Mrs. Eads came to Big Spring from Amarillo in 1955 and joined the Y as instructor of health exercise soon after. She is currently teaching a class five days a week plus giving 16-course lessons to the patients of the State Hospital. She also has a charm school for teenage girls during the summer vacation time. In addition to the classes, her "pupils" also join in organized pecan hunts and bowling. Golf may be added later as part of the regular exercises.

Strikingly, youthful appearing, Mrs. Eads has four children and seven grandsons. She and her husband live at 1312 Tucson Rd. They are both avid fishermen and have what Mrs. Eads calls a "place" at Lake J. B. Thomas. They can be found there fishing during almost all their spare time.

Devilish, Nauseating Devices Aid In Selection Of Spacemen

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The Navy has developed two devilish devices—literally nauseating in their effects—to help select and train men for space flight.

One of them looks like a giant concrete mixer. It tumbles you about inside.

The other is a one-room house on a kind of turntable. It looks as innocent as a merry-go-round at the county fair, but it packs a sickening wallop.

After rides on each, I am more content to leave space flight to the Mercury Astronauts and other venturesome souls. I didn't lose my lunch during the experience, but I didn't feel in the mood for a roast beef dinner for quite a while.

The devices are located at the Navy's school of Aviation Medicine here.

UNIQUE TOOL

Project scientists say the concrete mixer, technically called the "human disorientation device," offers a unique tool for simulating some of the stresses that might be encountered in a manned space vehicle even under "normal" operating conditions—no say nothing of gyrations that might occur if the vehicle went haywire on the highways to Venus or Mars.

And they say the rotating house should be nicknamed the "USS Nausea."

It is possibly the best laboratory tool yet devised for developing adequate defenses against motion sickness—the still-elusive malady that bedevils mariners, airmen, and even kids taking a Sunday ride in the family automobile.

The concrete mixer is an aluminum cylinder in which rotation occurs in both horizontal and vertical planes.

You enter by a trap door in the side of the cylinder. Straps bind your legs and your thighs; metal supports are brought against your knees, a helmet-like headpiece is fitted snugly on your head.

You grasp two handles attached to the seat. The scientists pull at your straps to see if they're tight enough, then slam the door shut. You're alone in the darkness with your jitters.

ROLLER COASTER

Now the trap begins to move, first to the right in the quickening circles, then to the left, and then you realize you're being tumbled head over heels, and all you can think of is the roller coaster at the beach when you were a kid.

You try to be scientifically observant of your reactions. But mostly they are in the vein of "I hope that guy can turn the damn thing off."

Well, finally he does. But now, you have another date—with a rotating room in another building. En route, you learn that the room is made to rotate in a way which might be necessary in a satellite or spaceship to offset the phenomenon of zero gravity or weightlessness.

That is, it may be necessary to generate an artificial gravity in a spaceship to keep men, instruments, kitchen utensils and food from floating around. It can be done by spinning the satellite.

You arrive at the rotating room just in time to interview four volunteers who have been traveling in "space" for the past 48 hours.

Their spaceship is an enclosed merry-go-round about 15 feet in diameter and 10 feet high, with padded walls.

NICE SET-UP

Two automobile seats are arranged near one part of the wall, facing various instrument panels.

There's an electric cook stove, shelves well-stocked with canned food and paperback whodunits.

Coming back to a stationary floor after two days of motion, all but one of the men acted as though they had been on a drinking spree. After welcoming them back from space, scientists put them through a series of body-balancing tests, including standing on one foot.

By far the steadiest member of the crew was Robert Greenmun, 45, of St. Augustine, Fla., a civilian, who is deaf.

The reason for his steadiness, scientists explained, is that his particular type of deafness is due to loss of function of the inner ear. That is, his semi-circular canals and also his otolith organs do not function; hence he is comparatively immune to the dizziness and other effects of prolonged rotation.

The other crewmen reported queasiness, stomachs and great difficulty in walking during the only 2.2 revolutions per minute, first day even though rotating at Scientists explained that things are roughest during the first day. Then, the men become more or less adapted, according to the sensitivity of the inner-ear mechanisms which varies with individuals. However, when the machine comes to a stop, many of the reactions set in again. Tummies kick up, the room appears to whirl and rock, and stationary objects seem to move back and forth.

Now you and several scientists go aboard for a half hour workout at 10 revolutions per minute.

In less than a minute as you sit there, you begin to sweat heavily, and you get a nasty feeling in your stomach.

Finally, you try to make like a space-pilot-attempting to adjust dials accurately upon radioed command from the "Earth."

You realize then that if a space crew were depending on you, they'd be heading for a crash landing on the moon.

CAN BE COSTLY

Car Insurance Widely Affected By New Plan

Things are going to be a lot different for Mr. Average Motorist in 1960.

He is going to have to revise his general approach to the way he looks at his car insurance and the way he has handled it in the past.

He is to discover that traffic violations (with a few minor exceptions) in which he has been involved in the past three years will have a lot to do with the bill he has to pay for his insurance.

He can discover, to his dismay, if he has had as many as six moving vehicle traffic convictions in the past 36 months that his policy could cost him just double the standard rate.

By the same token, if he has not been involved in any sort of traffic violation in the period, he will discover that his insurance bill will be a little less than it was in the past.

The number of moving traffic violations in which he has been involved will determine the rate he has to pay for his insurance.

NEW STATE PLAN
It's all a part of the new Texas State Safe Driving Insurance Plan which was brought into existence by the Legislature this year.

Car insurance agents in Big Spring are gravely concerned over the changes imposed by the new plan and are worried that their clients may not comprehend the complications which the plan will impose.

One of the changes, which will have widespread effect, is the end of the good old days when the agent, two months ahead of the expiration date on a client's car insurance, would prepare a new policy and dispatch it to the customer. That's gone.

Mr. Motorist will hereafter have to personally appear before his agent, fill out a lengthy application form—which must be the truth and the whole truth—before the agent can renew the policy.

On this form, the motorist will certify as to the number of moving traffic violations in which he has been involved in the past three years; the nature of the use to which the car is put, and provide a wide assortment of statistical information about himself, his family and his driving habits. This will have to be done each time the insurance policy expires.

And, agents warn, it won't do any good to "forget" some traffic infringement. The motorist's record will be checked out by the state and if he is found to have failed to provide the facts, he can be subjected to the penalties of fraud.

GET ALL THE FACTS
The wise motorist, whose policy is expiring in the near future, will do well, local agents believe, to have a personal chat with his insurance man. Such a talk will clarify a great many features of the new law which are likely to create a sense of confusion.

And by the way—the three-year period concerned with traffic violations expires 90 days before the date of application for the policy. It goes like this—

Suppose that the insurance on your car cost you $100 in 1959. The policy expires, let us say, on Jan. 1.

For a period of three years prior to that date, you have not been involved in a moving vehicle violation. In other words, you have not been picked up for speeding, for running a red light, involved in a fender bumping which cost over $25 to repair. Or, for that matter, almost any sort of accident in which a moving vehicle is concerned.

If this is your case, you're in good shape. Your insurance cost will be only $80 in 1960. However, if you've had just one speeding ticket (or one conviction for any other violation) you pay the full rate of $100.

If there are two tickets against you, on which you have been convicted, you pay $120; three convictions or accidents or violations, $140. When you have six marks against you, your insurance rate doubles and your bill will be $200.

There are certain kinds of traffic violations which do not impair your record. Overparking, for example. There are others. A check with your insurance agency will clarify these.

The moral of the whole story is simply this: Things, car insurance wise, are going to be different from now on. And if you want to be sure just where you stand and what you will have to do, talk it over with your insurance man. And do so before your present policy expires and needs reissuing.

Pentagon Budget Readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon leaders bundled up their military budget proposals Saturday and got ready to try them out at a session with President Eisenhower and his fiscal advisers on Monday.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy and his chief civilian and military assistants met to compress the money claim of the armed forces into the approximately 41-billion-dollar limit which the administration apparently will permit for the next fiscal year starting next July.

Technological advances and changes in the international climate seemed certain to influence the composition of the new budget, while leaving its over-all total at about the same level as this year's.

For one thing, the amount to be spent for manned aircraft was expected to be less than the 6 1/2 billion, which was requested for the current budget. And the item for buying missiles presumably would go above the 3 1/2 billion asked for this year.

In the wake of McElroy's departure for Eisenhower's Augusta, Ga., vacation headquarters there will arise the annual anguish of some individual services over cuts.

The Air Force a few months ago calculated it would need not less than 2 billion dollars. Now it is waiting to see whether the figure will remain there or be further trimmed.

The Navy's prospect was for slightly more than 11 billion dollars—generally about what it received this year.

There was a possibility that the Army might be permitted about 9 1/2 billion dollars, compared with about 9 1/4 billion allowed in the current budget.

Demonstration In Livestock Showmanship

Arctic Cold Snap Grips Vast Section

An arctic cold snap gripped a vast section of the country from the Rockies to the Appalachians Saturday while a new outbreak of snow and subzero temperatures built up in the West.

Cold air which tumbled out of Montana on Friday swept eastward as far as New York and Pennsylvania. Cold wave warnings were in effect from the lower Great Lakes into Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana and east into New York State.

Considerable new snow was forecast by Sunday for the eastern slope of the northern Rockies, a region still wallowing in up to two feet of snow which fell Thursday and Friday, and for the Dakotas. Much colder weather was predicted Sunday.

The unseasonably early spell of severe winter weather created a variety of woes and hazards. Stockmen in Montana struggled to rescue livestock trapped in mountainous snowdrifts. Highways across the Northern Plains and Midwest were slicked with drifting and packed snow. And in Texas, fruit and vegetable growers prepared for freezing temperatures in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As the cold snap rolled out of the West, the snowfall diminished, but temperature records fell on a wide front from the Dakotas into Nebraska and eastward into Iowa. Some morning record lows included: Le Mars, Iowa, -34; Valentine, Neb., -32; Sioux Falls, S.D., -17, and -23 at Mitchell, S.D., an all-time November low.

When the cold front reached western Pennsylvania at midday, the mercury skidded 30 degrees from 61 to 31—in only two hours. Cold drizzle accompanied the front and the Weather Bureau warned of up to 6 inches of snow in western New York counties.

Temperatures in the midcontinent stayed below freezing as far south as Texas, while some communities in the Northern Plains remained locked in below-zero readings.

Light snow continued to fall on the Northern Great Lakes region after piling up to 15 inches in northern Michigan.

Snow and ice-slicked highways in Lake County, north of Chicago, produced so many auto crashes late Friday that some hospitals were filled beyond capacity in treating injured.

Rites Set For Kernodle Child

Last rites for Alana De Kernodle, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Kernodle, will be held Monday at 4 p.m. in the First Christian Church. The minister, the Rev. John C. Black, will officiate.

Surviving her are her parents; a sister, Katie Jo Kernodle, Big Spring, the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. DeBruiler, Burlington, N. C., and paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. G. Kernodle, Burlington, N. C. Other survivors include an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hagood, Big Spring, and a cousin, Mrs. Garrison Walker, Big Spring.

The Garrett and Sabre No. 1 Quim completed as a small wildcat San Andres strike last week, rating 68 barrels of 31 gravity oil. It is half a mile southwest of Moore pool production.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church has a new rector, the Rev. Donald N. Hunderford, who came here from Snyder after serving that parish and the one at Colorado City.

Spurred by the emergency status of rabies among wildlife, the City of Big Spring announced plans last week to begin an all-out campaign against stray dogs. By some estimates there are 6,000 or more dogs in town and less than a third vaccinated against rabies.

One of the pleasant surprises of the past week was the Diversified Education Talent show. Where such amateur events normally struggle to get a turnout, this one jam-packed the H.C.J. auditorium.

Congratulations are in order to Lamesas who pitched in and got their United Fund campaign over with in a hurry. At the end of the week they had about $25,000 and reported the campaign over the top.

23 Gas, 159 Oil Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP) —The Railroad Commission reported Saturday drillers successfully completed 23 gas wells and 159 oil wells during the week.

For the year drillers have brought in 10,046 oil wells and 1,629 gas wells compared to 10,766 oil wells and 1,867 gas wells this date a year ago.

The daily oil allowable increased 9,974 barrels to 2,783,453 barrels a day.

First Aid Classes Begin Monday

Rat-Cancer Chemical Uncovered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Welfare Department said Saturday it is asking the Justice Department to seize in Chicago a shipment of tainted cranberries grown in Wisconsin.

Cranberries previously found to be contaminated with a weed killer had been produced in Oregon and Washington. This is the first suspect batch to have been produced outside the Pacific Northwest states.

The Wisconsin shipment is now in a Chicago warehouse. The Food and Drug Administration said its chemists had tested the berries and found them to contain residues of aminothiazole, a weed killer which the government has said causes cancer in rats.

The cranberries involved in Saturday's action amount to 652 bags of 60 pounds each of whole frozen berries — a total of 39,120 pounds. The Welfare Department said the berries were shipped from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Oct. 8.

BYE-BYE, NIXON? It was in Wisconsin Rapids only Thursday night that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had eaten four helpings of cranberries in disregard of the advice of Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming.

Flemming last Monday had advised people to shun cranberries until the present situation is cleared up.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) also drank a cranberry juice toast in Marshfield, Wis., this week, only 30 miles from where Nixon had his four helpings of cranberries.

Asked what he thought about the announcement that some Wisconsin Rapids berries had been found to be contaminated, Nixon replied: "I am not concerned about the cranberries I ate. I am confident that my hosts would not serve contaminated berries and I see no reason for hysteria over cranberries on any consumer's part. As I said in Wisconsin Rapids I am certain the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is working rapidly to separate those comparatively few contaminated cranberries and I, like other Americans, expect to eat traditional cranberries with my family on Thanksgiving Day."

Flemming said in announcing Saturday's action that the seizure was being initiated on the ground that the berries were shipped illegally in Interstate Commerce since no tolerance standards for aminothiazole in foods has been established.

This was the third seizure action instituted by the government since Flemming announced Monday that residues of the weed killer had been detected in some of the cranberries grown this year in the Pacific Northwest.

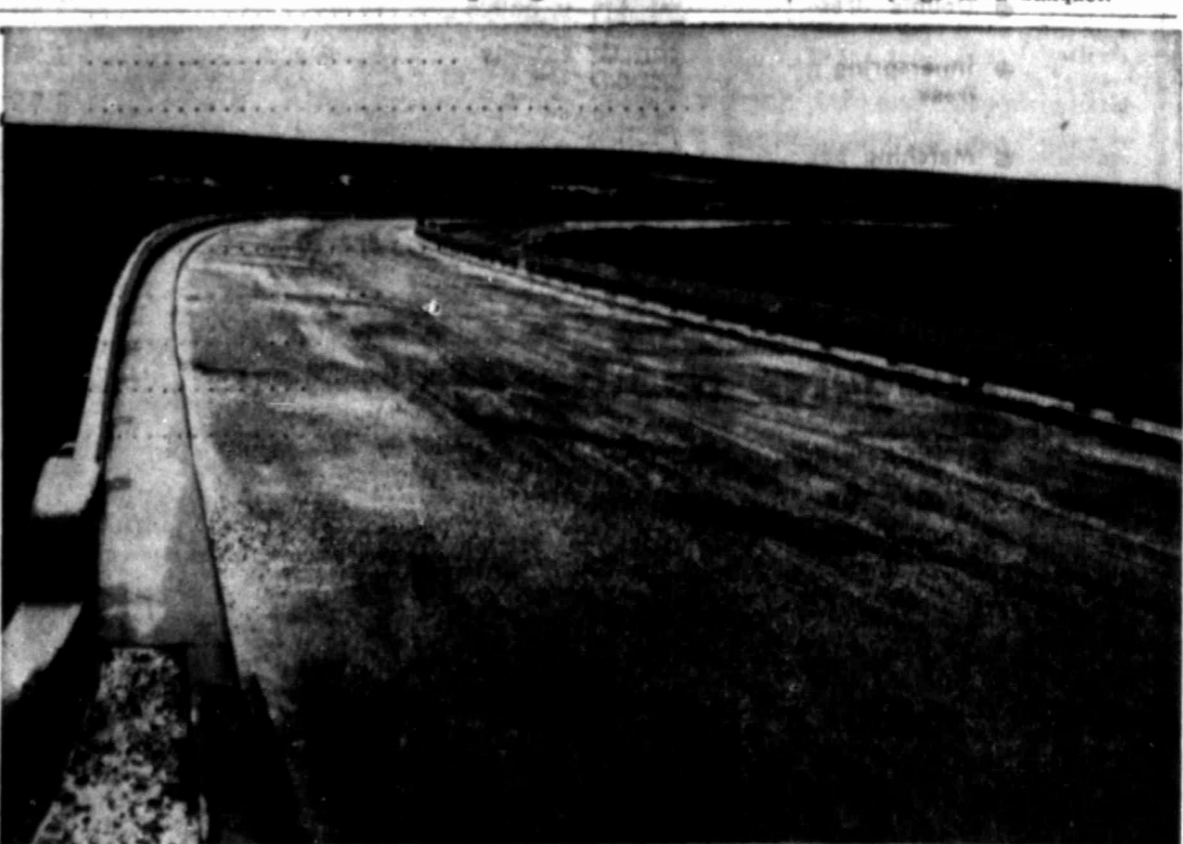

Information on the shipment of Wisconsin-grown berries was received here Saturday as plans were being pushed by Flemming to meet with representatives of the cranberry industry here next week.

OPEN MEETING Flemming said Saturday he has decided to convert the meeting into an open public conference in the auditorium of the Welfare Department Building. The announcement Friday indicated it would be a closed session.

Flemming will preside at the conference to open on Wednesday morning, rather than Tuesday as originally planned.

Nixon was on what he termed a nonpolitical trip — although he saw a lot of politicians—when the cranberry question came up aerially this week.

Wisconsin Rapids is a cranberry center, and the vice president told reporters there that "I certainly expect to have cranberries for both Christmas and Thanksgiving." He said he ate four helpings at a banquet.

Dangerous And Deceitful

Ordinarily this bridge on FM 700 east of town would have been teeming with traffic but it presented an empty look Saturday morning. Although it doesn't show too well, the bridge was a slippery customer at that time—it was coated in a glassy blanket of ice which made driving hazardous. The bridge was typical of roads and streets all over the area Saturday morning—left precarious by the freezing rain and sleet which fell most of Friday night.

1959 Cotton Yield Second Biggest In Area's History

Quality statistics on what will probably be the second largest cotton crop in history as produced on the Texas High Plains—estimated at 1,528,000 bales—have been announced by George W. Pfeifferberger, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. They show data better than the 1957 crop but slightly below that of the 1958 crop.

Average staple length of the 1959 crop thus far—represents 550,000 bales, is 31-32 inch. White cotton accounted for 66 per cent with about 53 per cent Middling White and above. Light spots totaled 30 per cent with some 28 per cent being Middling Light Spot and above. Full spots totaled only about 1 per cent. Some 32 per cent of the crop is measuring one inch and longer and only 11 per cent falls below 15-16 inch.

No Traffic?

OTTAWA (AP)—Mrs. Blanche Touchette lived in the middle of the road for almost two years without knowing it. The land had been set aside years ago for a road that was never built. Mrs. Touchette discovered her predicament when she tried to sell the house. Now she wants the Township Council to sell her the road.

Come Clean, Now

BERLIN (AP)—Private firms are battling the West Berlin government over who should scrub the floors in city buildings. The government's personnel director says Communist spies might infiltrate private staffs of scrub-women. The private firms say their staffs can clean cheaper and better.

Timid Women? Don't You Believe It

AVENCHES, Switzerland (AP)—The County Council has discovered why the women voters of the hamlet of Champartin ignored cantonal elections last month. The mayor distributed voting cards only to the hamlet's 11 male voters and withheld them from the 9 women voters. The women were too timid to protest; they only recently were given voting rights.

Plutonium Pioneer Is Award Winner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, who discovered plutonium, is the winner of the $30,000 Enrico Fermi Award for 1959. The Atomic Energy Commission, which administers the award, said Friday that Seaborg was recommended by the AEC's general advisory committee and the choice was approved by President Eisenhower.

Seaborg, 47, in chancellor of the University of California. The citation said the scientist was honored "for discoveries of plutonium and several additional elements and for leadership in the development of nuclear chemistry and atomic energy."

Plutonium is a radioactive element that undergoes an explosive chain reaction in an atomic bomb.

Power Failure

BRYAN, Tex. (AP)—A severe ice storm caused a power failure and partial loss of telephone service here and at nearby College Station Saturday.

A buildup of ice began about 8 a.m. with a freezing rain. Sleet followed and that turned into soft, wet snow during the afternoon. Power lines broke under the ice weight at many places and tree limbs broke.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

To commemorate the South African National Antarctic Expedition which leaves Cape Town on Nov. 28, the South African Postal Department will issue a specially designed 3-pence stamp on Nov. 16. The main design features a globe tilted at such an angle as to show South Africa in outline and the polar region. A dotted line stretching from Cape Town to the area concerned indicates the approximate route to the base. The letters "SANA" in the lower portion are the initials of South African National Antarctic Expedition. The wording on each stamp is in English and Afrikaans.

The Israel Philatelic Agency in America reports that a new currency ordinance will prove a boon to collectors of Israeli stamps. The Israeli pound will consist of 100 agorots rather than 1,000 prut-

ots. All future values on Israeli stamps will be printed in agorots rather than prutots.

In recent years the value of Israeli stamps has been declining to such an extent that collectors were selling their stamps well below face value.

Now, with the new currency in effect, collectors who have a surplus of Israeli stamps will be able to exchange their excess stock for new issues at face value and not lose any money.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the 4-cent Ephraim McDowell "Famous American" postage stamp will be placed on first day sale at Danville, Ky., on Dec. 3, 1960, to coincide with the McDowell centennial celebration being planned locally. The stamp had originally been announced for issuance on Dec. 30, 1960.

The United Nations Postal Administration announced the procedure for obtaining first day covers for the World Refugee Year stamps scheduled for Dec. 10 of this year. The 4 cent is red and olive gold. The 8 cent is blue and olive gold. The 1959 issue replaces the Human Rights Day stamps which have been issued annually since 1952.

Collectors should send their envelopes to the UN Postal Administration, United Nations, N. Y., together with remittance (money order or certified check) covering the amount of stamps to be affixed. Requests should be sent prior to Dec. 10.

Argentina has issued a 1-peso stamp in honor of their "Mother's Day." The black and red adhesive depicts a child playing with a colored doll and a small cradle.

Tech Fine Arts Festival Slated Throughout Week

Texas Tech's second annual Fine Arts Festival will open at 3 p.m. Monday with a Schubert concert in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

The Tech Symphony Orchestra and the Tech Choir and Tech Singers will present the Schubert Symphony No. 7 in C. Major and the Mass in G.

The festival will be held on the Tech campus today through Saturday. Spanish drama, modern dance and German literature and music—jazz and opera—will be featured at the festival, along with discussions and art exhibits.

"Blood Wedding" by Federico Garcia Lorca, will be presented by the speech department, in the Speech building auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The festival will be the subject of a panel discussion at 10 a.m. Monday and 4 p.m. Wednesday. It will be conducted by members of Sigma Tau Delta, English honorary, in the Tech Union workroom.

There will be an interpretative reading program in the Union ballroom at 4 p.m. Monday.

A lecture on the life and works of Frederico Garcia Lorca will be given by Dr. C. B. Qualla, Tech professor of foreign languages, at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Union ballroom.

Prof. Erich A. Albrecht of Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans, La., will give a lecture at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday commemorating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Johann Friedrich Schiller, German poet. A plaque of Schiller, prepared by the department of architecture and allied arts, will be unveiled.

Y Board To Draft Important Policies

The YMCA directors will meet Tuesday for what promises to be a busy and important session.

A report is due from the long range planning committee on the building fund status, together with a plan of action for seeking to get all pledges current. A color display will be presented by a committee which has been working on color arrangements for the furnishings and interior of the new YMCA building. Also to be received is the nominating committee report. President R. H. Weaver is due to name the committees for the annual dinner.

DEAR ABBY

CHANGE SHOPS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am so fed up with my beauty shop I don't know what to do. I would go to another one but the operator I go to is the only one who knows I dye my hair and I can't afford to get her mad at me.

She told a dirty joke and when I did not laugh she asked, "Didn't you get it?" I told her I didn't care to hear that kind of stuff. Then she poured liquid shampoo down my back and said it was an accident.

Another trick she uses is to tell me every few weeks my hair needs a "trimming on the ends." Then she cuts the curl off and pretty soon she tells me I need another permanent as all the curl is gone. Can you tell me what to do?

DEAR FED: Go to another beauty shop. If your ex-operator tells people that you dye your hair—so what? The price you are paying to have your secret kept is too high. You are already emotionally overdrawn. The trimming you're getting isn't worth the trimming you're getting.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend, poor soul. She is widowed and lives alone. When I invite her for a 12 o'clock lunch, she comes at 11:00 a.m. If I invite her for 6:00 supper, she will come as early as 4:30 p.m. At this early hour I am usually rushing around doing last-minute things and I can't visit with her. Would it be all right to ask her not to come so early? I would not hurt her feelings for the world.

DEAR TIMID: Don't ask her not to come early. But when she does, sit her down with a newspaper, magazine or book and ask her to please entertain herself while you attend to your last-minute chores.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 14 and we have that filthy magazine problem with him. He doesn't buy them himself because we have forbidden it, but he has a boyfriend who comes to visit him and this boy brings a large stack of these nasty magazines. The boys go into my son's room, close the door and read them.

We can't confiscate the magazines because they belong to the other boy. We don't want to impound this trash because it would confer upon it an undesired importance. What would you advise?

DEAR CONCERNED: You have a right to ask your son's friend to leave the magazines outside (like muddy overalls or mangy dogs). If your son has been taught to respect your wishes, he'll not argue. You can prevent your son from reading trash in his own home, but if he is so inclined, he will read it elsewhere. Most healthy-minded young fellows pass through this stage quickly, with a minimum of difficulty. Don't dwell on it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ABE: When you help out a man who is in trouble, you can be sure of one thing. He won't forget you—the next time he's in trouble.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Burns To Death

VERNON, Tex. (AP)—Jack E. White, 41, of Dallas burned to death Friday night in the wreckage of his car at an overpass on U. S. Highway 287 nine miles west of here.

Highway patrolman Duana Capps said it had not been determined how the accident happened, but it was believed White's car went into a broadside skid and plunged off the overpass and caught fire.

TCU WINS SHOWDOWN BATTLE WITH TEXAS

Jan. 1 game in Dallas, by tripping Southern Methodist 17-14 today.

By ED OVERHOLSER. AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Christian whipped previously unbeaten Texas 14-9 Saturday on a 56-yard scoring dash by Harry Moreland, and the loss by the No. 2-ranked Longhorns snarled the host half of the Cotton Bowl picture.

Undefeated Syracuse accepted a Cotton Bowl bid a short time earlier after overwhelming Colgate 71-0.

Arkansas—a 13-12 loser to Texas this season—bounced into the lead in the Southwest Conference, which sends its champion to the score in the third period on a 47-yard drive. Stopping Texas, the rugged Frogs controlled the half and took only two plays to score the winning touchdown from their own 40 a little later. TCU now has a 3-1-0 record in the conference and Texas has a 4-1-0 mark.

Texas parlayed the line punting blasts of rugged Mike Dowdle, 210-pound fullback and the runs of quarterback James Saxton and halfback Rene Ramirez to carve out a 9-0 halftime lead.

Some 43,000 shivering fans huddled in steel-banked Memorial Stadium in 31 degree weather.

Spikes was unstoppable. On 19 carries he riddled 71 yards mostly up the middle in leading the power-packed Frogs to 233 yards on the ground.

Marching from the Texas 47, Dawson fired a pass to Peebles for 12 yards and assailed cracks on the right end for 11 more to the 24. Spikes fumbled on the next play, but Dawson gobbled it up and moved to the 20. Spikes ground out two more before Dawson elected to flip a pass to Harris who was knocked out of bounds on the Texas 5.

Texas gained only two yards in the third period. In the fourth, Dawson brought TCU from midfield to the 24 but Texas tackle Larry Stephens crashed through on fourth down play to knock Dawson for a 12-yard loss. TCU punted then but stopped Texas on the 27. After a punt by halfback Jack Collins, TCU was on the drive again for their 40.

Regardless of whether or not the school board decides to keep him, Al Milch, the head mentor of the Big Spring Steers, says he plans to remain in football.

Some of the slogans used by the Fascists during World War II still adorn the stadiums the Olympic athletes will be using next year and incidents are feared.

The Italian government refuses to remove them. The word "Duce" (leader), title of the late Benito Mussolini, appears 324 times in one stadium alone.

The stadiums and sports parks were built by the Italian dictator as monuments to his own ambition and to the "glory of the state."

San Angelo College has been seeded first in the local meet, by the way.

When John Breen quit a job with the Chicago Cardinals to hire out in the front office of Houston's new entry in the American Football League, he reported his conversation with Card owner Walter Wolfert thusly: "I didn't tell him where I was going but he told me where to go."

Jack Irons, the Big Spring sophomore, was a boy who never made a mistake in workouts when moved from fullback to halfback, his coaches say.

Bill Thompson, the local athlete on basketball scholarship at Rice Institute, is taking six subjects and is having to study hard to keep his head above water.

West Pointers Give OU Scare

By WILBUR JOHNSON. NORMAN, OKLA. (AP)—An alert Oklahoma football team converted three fumbles into touchdowns and survived a devastating passing game for a 28-20 triumph over Army Saturday.

A crowd of 59,000 sat through 23-degree weather and saw Oklahoma's strong running game overcome the pressing magic of Army quarterback Joe Caldwell.

The loose-jointed Cadet completed 21 of 42 passes for 279 yards, but that wasn't enough to offset numerous Army miscues.

Army flashed for a quick opening touchdown on a 37-yard pass play. Caldwell slipped the ball to George Kirichenbauer, and the speedy halfback went about 30 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown.

Oklahoma utilized the power thrust of fullback Prentice Gault in a 70-yard drive to get the tying touchdown late in the first period. Gault made 31 yards in the march and Mike McClellan for the touchdown, scoring on a pitchout from Bobby Boyd from the 1.

Oklahoma, scoring in every period, got a touchdown TD midway in the second period. Ed Paul Benjen recovered a fumble in the end zone after Kirichenbauer was hit hard at the 5.

U. S. Pair Are Links Favorites. MELBOURNE (AP)—Sam Sneed and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, a pair of Yankee golfing capitalists whose combined earnings in the last two years total more than that of a million dollars, have been placed in the unfamiliar role of underdogs in the International Canada Cup matches beginning here Wednesday.

For one thing, the Americans both are suffering minor ills. For another, the U.S. entries have been turned back in the last two of these events.

The team to beat, in the opinion of most observers here, is the crack South African combine of Gary Player, the British Open champion, and his putting whiz of a partner, Harold Henning.

Second in favor in the field of two-man teams from 30 golfing nations is the Australian tandem of Peter Thomson, four times British Open champion, and Kel Nagle the current Australian Open king. This same team won the Canada Cup in 1954.

N. Texas' Running Game Is Blunted By Hurricane. TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Tulsa smashed North Texas State's vaunted running game with a great defensive play Saturday for a rousing 17-6 upset that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks and denied them the Missouri Valley Conference's undisputed championship.

Fullback David White and quarterback Jerry Keeling scored Tulsa touchdowns after long drives, and halfback Jack Kreider kicked a 45-yard field goal, longest ever booted by a Hurricane player.

North Texas, the nation's No. 1 rushing team at game time, counted its only points on one quick 65-yard pass play, quarterback Bob Duty to swift Aber Haynes.

Only 6,872 cold-numbered fans saw Tulsa turn in its sharpest performance of the year to retain a chance for a one-third share in the conference title.

Cotton Bowl Bid Is Taken By Syracuse

By JIM KOCH. SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Undeclared Syracuse smothered Colgate 71-0 Saturday, and celebrated by accepting a bid to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

Syracuse, No. 1 in the nation, will play the Southwest Conference champion in the bowl. Syracuse struck through the air for six of its 10 touchdowns, and got four of its scores in the opening quarter on the way to a 45-0 halftime lead. It was the Orange's eighth victory.

Thirty-one thousand watched the 60th renewal of this traditional game, played in a dreaching rain and under lights for most of the second half.

Syracuse scored every time it got the ball in the 30-point first quarter after Colgate quarterback Bob Paske fumbled on the game's first running play.

Three plays later Syracuse captain and wingback Ger Schwedes took a 30-yard pass from quarterback Dave Sarette and the scoring march was on. Eight Syracuse players shared in the touchdown barrage, Schwedes and Tom Gilburg tallying twice.

To complete the rout, Syracuse scored once in the third quarter and three more times in the final period, including a brilliant 56-yard run by sophomore halfback Ernie Davis.

Colgate, its attack curbed by frequent fumbles, made its deepest penetration to the Syracuse 27 in the final period, against fourth and fifth stringers as Coach Ben Schwartzwalder cleared the bench.

This will be the Orange's second appearance in the Cotton Bowl. They lost 28-27 to Texas Christian on Jan. 1, 1957.

Syracuse players had previously indicated a preference for the Orange Bowl at Miami, which Syracuse has lost twice previously.

Saturday, however, Capt. Schwedes said the team was "100 per cent in favor of playing Texas."

Texas lost to TCU but may get to the bowl anyhow.

Colgate 0 0 0 0-0, Syracuse 30 15 7 13-71.

Unsung Q'back Is Tech Star In Win

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech dug into the reserves Saturday and came up with junior quarterback Glen Amerson, who passed for two touchdowns and ran for two as Tech slammed Houston 27-0 in a homecoming game.

Amerson received terrific help from junior end Don Waygood, who caught one touchdown pass good for 14 yards, recovered a fumbled Houston punt and another fumble that led to touchdowns and generally contributed sterling play.

Amerson got his big chance when the starting quarterback Ken Talkington, injured his knee in the first period and had to be helped from the field. Talkington

Maxwell Is Tied For 2nd Place. LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—National Open champion Billy Casper increased his lead a stroke this cold, windy Saturday as he posted a par 71 in the $15,000 Lafayette Open Golf Tournament's third round.

The Apple Valley, Calif., pro showing a 9-under-par 204, had three birdies.

His score was seven strokes over his record-busting 64 of Friday.

Decloked in second place with 206s were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who also had 71, and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla., who shot 72.

Bates Discharged. BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California halfback Steve Bates was discharged from Cowell Memorial Hospital Saturday, two weeks after being smashed in the face by Southern California guard Mike McKeever's elbow.

Bates had been operated on for a shattered cheekbone. He also has a broken nose.

Sessions mounted a terrific passing attack and was liberally helped by the running of Moon Mullins, but Houston couldn't capitalize on its chances and made too many mistakes for the opportunistic Raiders.

Houston rolled up 18 first downs to 14 for Tech and got 156 yards in the air to 84 for the Red Raiders. But Tech outgained the Cougars on the ground 187-86 and kicked for a 46-yard average compared to 37 for Houston. Tech only lost two fumbles and Houston lost 4 and Tech intercepted three passes and Houston only one.

Houston 0 0 0 0-0, Texas Tech 0 7 14 6-37.

Seven West Texas Counties Gain Nine Explorer Sites

Nine wildcats in seven West Texas counties were reported Saturday morning.

New explorers were spotted in Hockley, Yoakum, Loving, Lynn, Gaines, Runnels, and Irion counties.

Peacock Petroleum Company of Dallas No. 1 Williams is to be drilled as a 5,000-foot project four miles southeast of Plains in central Yoakum County.

Drill site is 1,900 from north and 650 from west lines, section 551, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Highland Oil Company of Houston will drill No. 1 R. M. Pennington as a 4,000-foot wildcat nine miles southeast of Wilson in northeast Lynn County.

Location is 2,225 from north and 467 from west lines, section 1,422, abstract 651, TTRR survey.

J. B. Drilling Company of Abilene No. 1 Eula Mesley White is a 2,550-foot wildcat four miles north of Ballinger in Runnels County.

Location is 660 from north and 830 from east line, section 174, Alexander Lessor survey.

Earl Fain Jr., of Dallas will drill No. 1-B Lyle Currie as a 4,500-foot wildcat eight miles west

Borden Well Finals For 1,188 Barrels

Borden County had two field completions at week's end, one in the Fluvanna (Strawn) pool and the other in the Good, Southeast (Fusselman) field.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. No. 3 (UT) R. H. Jordan "A" is the Fluvanna well. It initiated for a 28 hour potential of 245.35 barrels of oil per day flowing through a 16-64 inch choke. There was no water and gravity of the oil is 37.6 degrees.

The elevation is 2,782 feet, the total depth is 8,390 feet, plugged back to 7,275 feet. Top of the pay zone is 7,821 feet, the seven inch casing goes to 8,350 feet and is perforated between 800-109 feet. The gas oil ratio is 270-1.

Tubing pressure is 200 pounds, the casing pressure is 475 pounds and operator acidized with 1,000 gallons of mud acid. Well site is 2,000 from north and 660 from west lines of section 579-97 H&TC survey.

Cosden Gets 2 Contracts

Cosden Petroleum Corp. was a pace-setter in the third quarter contracts announced by the federal government.

Total of the 201 unclassified contracts was for $62,464,596, said William J. Rogers, Dallas, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's wage and hour and public contracts division.

Cosden had two contracts to furnish Navy jet fuel between Sept. 12, 1959 and March 1, 1960 for a consideration of $7,770,140.

Other West Texas contracts included Texas Calgary Co., Abilene, jet fuel, $107,400; T. S. Langford & Sons, Army women's apparel, $14,321; Shamrock Oil & Gas, Amarillo, Navy 3 contracts, gasoline, $4,198,575; R. E. Dye Mfg. Corp., Breckenridge, bomb shackles, $53,854; Thompson - Hayward Chemical Co., Lubbock, chemicals $10,848.

CONSOLIDATED

Post Field Logs 5 New Wells

Consolidated Oil and Gas Inc. has completed five projects in the Post (Glorieta) field of Garza County.

No. 17-B Connell Estate, 2,065 from south and 330 from east lines of section 2, F. M. & A. J. Long survey, finished for an initial pumping potential of 48 barrels of 38 gravity oil per day with 66 per cent water.

The ground level elevation is 2,321 feet, the total depth is 2,654 feet and the top of the pay is 2,542 feet. The 4 1/2-inch casing goes to 2,653 feet and is perforated between 2,549-604 feet.

The gas oil ratio is 100-1 and operator acidized with 750 gallons. He fraced with 30,000 gallons of water and 80,000 pounds of sand.

No. 18-B Connell Estate, 760 from south and 1,960 from west lines of section 123-5-H&GN survey, is completed for a 24 hour potential of 57 barrels of 38 gravity oil per day with 59 per cent water.

Ground level elevation is 2,318 feet, total depth is 2,530 feet, and top of the pay section is 2,447 feet.

Humble Names Safest Rig

A Humble Oil & Refining Co. drilling rig, now working in Louisiana, is the world's safest.

The men of Humble Rig No. 29, on location in Lake Raccourci, achieved this honor at 11 a.m. on Oct. 28, with the completion of 566,000 manhours of work without a single disabling injury.

It took a little less than 10 years of continuous safety efforts to accomplish this record. Six days later, on Nov. 3, the tenth anniversary of the rig was noted.

Crews who set the record drilled a total of 53 wells. Total footage drilled was 667,385, or a distance of more than 130 miles.

What was the crew members' prescription for safety? R. J. Thames, field superintendent, who has been in charge of the rig for the past five years, said, "We weren't thinking about breaking a record, we just did our best to make every foot and each day a safe one."

Phillips Plans Gasoline Plant

Phillips Petroleum Co. is starting construction of a natural gasoline plant southeast of Artesia, New Mexico, to be known as the Artesia Plant. Completion is scheduled for the fall of 1960.

This plant will process natural gas from the Alosa, Dayton, Abilene, Abilene, East Millman, Artesia, Red Lake and other fields. Initial daily gas processing capacity will be 35 million cubic feet with a compressor capacity of 25 million cubic feet.

Natural gas liquids recovery capacity will be approximately 100,000 gallons per day. The plant will be so designed that capacity can be enlarged to take care of additional gas as further development occurs in the area.

The liquids will be transported by pipeline to Phillips processing centers near Barger and at Sweetwater, south of Houston.

No Boost Seen For Production

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Domestic oil producers have been kept busy opening and closing valves ever since the Suez crisis broke out three years ago this month.

Domestic output skyrocketed after bombs fell on the canal. The bottom dropped out when the end of the emergency was accompanied by a general economic recession.

Since then the domestic operator has been plagued by a zig-zag production pattern. There have been a few bright spots but less oil is being produced today than at the start of the Suez crisis. Prospects for improvement are only so-so.

The industry's top spokesmen this week blamed the situation on high inventories and excessive refinery operations.

Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said these factors have offset the anticipated favorable effect the mandatory import control program adopted March 10 was to have had on domestic production.

Porter said record production inventories built up during the recession of late 1957 and early 1958 probably formed the main reason why domestic crude production did not rise after the March order.

In his annual report to Chicago, Porter said refinery operations quite regularly seem to get out of complete relationship to the demand for products and products inventories.

"And just as persistently does the industry show great reluctance to balance these items," he said. "Current figures and those of the last two months, however, do show that some recognition may have been granted these relationships. I might say, at long last."

Porter estimated 1959 crude production at 7,005,000 barrels a day, compared to last year's 6,710,000 and 1957's record 7,170,000.

During the same period, products jumped from 461 million barrels at the close of the 1956-1957 winter season to 488 million in March, 1958, and to 504 million at the time the mandatory import control plan became effective.

Rotary Count Begins Rally

The working rig total in the Permian Basin climbed to 344 Friday, high mark since the Aug. 7 count when 362 were making hole.

The Reed Roller Bit Co. makes the weekly survey of working rotary units.

The total was 22 rigs more that counted last week. Lea County, N. M. is way out front with 51 working rigs, eight more than last week.

For the immediate eight county area, there were 27 rotary operations, four more than last week's total of 23.

Borden, Dawson, Garza, and Mitchell counties had increases. Sterling County has no working rotary units, Howard and Glasscock counties last units and Martin County remained steady.

The counties included in the survey, with previous count in parentheses, include:

Andrews 39 (40), BORDEN 6 (5), Cochran 2 (3), Coke 2 (1), Chaves 5 (4), Crane 19 (20), Crockett 1 (2), Crosby 2 (1), DAWSON 5 (4), Dickens 1 (2).

Mitchell Has Four New Wells

Mitchell County had four new wells reported Saturday, one in the Turner-Gregory (Clear Fork) field and the others in the Westbrook pool.

Bob Dean No. 1 B. H. Gregory, 990 from north and 2,310 from west lines of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 19-28-1n, T&P survey, had an initial pumping potential of 65.10 barrels of 24.8 gravity oil with 50 per cent water.

The gas oil ratio was too small to measure and operator fraced with 20,000 gallons of water and 50,000 pounds of sand. The total depth is 2,870 feet, the top of the pay zone is 2,847 feet, and the five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 2,870 feet. Perforations are between 2,647-820 feet.

Blue Danube Oil Co. finished the No. 1 O. L. Simpson in the Westbrook (Upper Clear Fork) pool for an initial pumping potential of 22.25 barrels of 23 gravity oil with no water. The gas oil ratio was too small to measure. It is 330 from south and west lines of the west half of section 60-97-H&TC survey.

The ground level elevation is 2,272 feet, the total depth is 3,172 feet, and is plugged back to 2,700 feet. Top of the pay zone is 2,482 feet and the five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 3,052 feet. Perforations are between 2,482-98 feet. Operator fraced with 20,000 gallons of water and 50,000 pounds of sand.

Col-Tex Refining Co. No. 17-41 Abrams had an initial pumping potential of 70.74 barrels of 23 gravity oil with 15 per cent water. The gas oil ratio was nil and operator fraced with 14,280 gallons. Well site is 900 from south and 330 from east lines of section 41-28-1n, T&P survey.

The total depth is 3,153 feet, the top of the pay zone is 3,040 feet, the five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 2,812 feet.

Col-Tex Refining Co. No. 14-41, 2,324 from south and 330 from east lines of section 41-28-1n, T&P survey, had an initial potential of 72.70 barrels of 24 gravity oil per day with 20 per cent water. The gas oil ratio is nil and operator fraced with 14,280 gallons.

The total depth is 3,160 feet, the top of the pay zone is 3,017 feet, the five-and-a-half inch casing goes to 3,017 feet and production is from open hole.

Scurry Test Has Shows

A Fluvanna field project in Scurry County had oil shows on two drillstem tests Saturday morning.

It is Wilson Exploration Co. No. 1 G. H. Marley, three miles north of Fluvanna and 660 from south and east lines of section 60-97-H&TC survey.

Operator reported a test from an unidentified section of the Permian between 5,026-88 feet. Tool was open 90 minutes and recovery was 10 feet of oil, 250 feet of mud-cut-oil and 25 feet of heavily-oil-cut mud.

A second test of perforations between 5,085-125 feet recovered 30 feet of oil-cut mud, 15 feet of mud-cut oil. Operator is drilling ahead.

Great Western No. 1 Allen has had packer failures on two drillstem tests and is attempting a third one. This Martin County project is testing the 8,300-42 zone. It is C SW SE of section 41-37-1n, T&P survey.

Rowan No. 1 Price has moved in the workover rig and is preparing to drill out cement plugs. This Borden County prospector is 660 from south and 760 from east lines survey.

MEN IN SERVICE

MAJ. F. G. MOORE

BROWN SEDDON

Maj. Frank G. Moore has been visiting with his mother, Mrs. Byron Wolf, during the past week while en route from Stead AFB at Reno, Nev., to temporary duty at James Connally AFB in Waco.

Maj. Moore is to be in the instructors' pilot instruction school at Waco for 10 to 11 weeks before returning to Stead.

He is a veteran of 16 years service, having taken his basic in the Army before entering the Air Force. He completed aviation cadet training in April 1945 and flew as a fighter pilot. He has seen duty in Japan, the Caribbean, Korea and for a time flew in the Royal Thailand Air Force in 1950.

He has been stationed at Washington, D. C., and several other bases in the United States. His stint at Waco will be a familiar one, for he had taken the course once before in propeller driven craft, but now he is to complete the course with jets. Moreover, his previous training also was at James Connally AFB. Maj. Moore is rated a senior pilot.

Two Big Spring men have been given promotions recently by the Army ROTC corps at the University of Texas.

Roger D. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Thorp, 539 Hillside, has been appointed as a cadet lieutenant colonel with the position of commander of the 3rd Battalion.

Alfred E. Seddon, son of the Rev. E. A. J. Seddon, 1519 Tucson, has been appointed as cadet sergeant with the rating of platoon sergeant.

Cadet Brown is a fourth year class member and is majoring in law at the University of Texas. He is in the transportation branch of Army ROTC.

Cadet Seddon graduated from Big Spring High School. While in high school, he was active as senior class president, in football and at the H-Y.

At the University of Texas, he is active in law school Honor Council, member of Board of Governors (Law School) and Legal Fraternity Delta Theta Phi.

Upon successful completion of the senior advanced course in the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps at the University of Texas, Brown will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the transportation corps of the U. S. Army Reserve.

Cadet Seddon is a junior class member and is majoring in pre-law at the University of Texas. He is in the military police branch of Army ROTC.

Cadet Seddon graduated from San Saba High School. While in high school, he was active in football, track, basketball and the National Honor Society.

Heart Victim

DALLAS (AP)—Hal Moseley, former city manager of Dallas, died Saturday of a heart attack in Baylor Hospital where he had been a patient for two days awaiting surgery.

Moseley, a native of Dallas, was a graduate of Texas A&M.

Los Alamos Scientists Near Goal Of Direct Atom Power

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—Los Alamos scientists appear to be on the verge of a breakthrough in efforts to produce large amounts of electric power directly from the heat of atomic reactors.

From a piece of metal the size of a .22-caliber rifle cartridge, encased in a teacupful of hot gas, they produced on their first test a few months ago enough current to keep a 30-watt light bulb burning constantly.

Now they are testing an assembly containing three of these little devices, with the expectation that the combined output will at least triple the original production.

If it works as expected, there is no reason why scores of hundreds of these assemblies couldn't be put to work in the core of a single reactor to produce electricity on a power plant scale.

Their real goal is to develop a reactor designed to convert the maximum possible amount of heat directly into electric current.

The system was explained recently to newsmen touring the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, birthplace of the atom bomb. The laboratory was built by the government and is operated by the University of California Radiation Laboratory.

Dr. George M. Grover, scientist in charge of the project, said the reactor being used in the experiment is theoretically capable of producing 2,000 kilowatts in this way. This would be equal to the output of a power plant in a small town.

The little device is called a plasma thermocouple. It is a complicated relative of the thermocouple on your furnace.

Conventional thermocouples consist basically of two strips of dissimilar metals touching each other. When one of them is heated they produce a tiny electric current. They are used mainly as thermometers and other measuring instruments. Their electrical output is very small.

Dr. Grover's thermocouple consists of the little cartridge which acts as one of the metals, and a gas which takes the place of the other metal. The gas is cesium, which at normal temperatures is a light metal. This assembly, which formed a part of one of the fissionable fuel elements, is lowered into the reactor core where it is heated to about 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The heat gasifies the cesium atoms and strips them of their electrons. The result is a mish-mash of atomic cores and electrons called plasma.

Although the gas at 3,000 degrees is hot, it is cold compared with the little cartridge, which is made of uranium, carbon and a metal called zirconium.

In the reactor the uranium undergoes fission, which raises the cartridge temperature to about 4,000 degrees. The fission process produces enormous numbers of electrons from the zirconium. The electrons rush into the relatively cold plasma and come out of the assembly as electric current.

Dr. Grover foresees the use of this process not only for power but also as a propulsion system for interplanetary vehicles. Hot plasma of this kind might constitute jet fuel for a space ship.

Monday's session will get under way at 8 p.m., and at each club caucus an attorney will sit in as

Attorneys To Assist Youths

Five attorneys will assist senior H-Y and Tri-H-Y members in preparation of proposed bills Monday evening.

The bills will be shaped for consideration in a pre-legislative session Dec. 12 at McMurry College in Abilene, and ones chosen there will be pushed in the Youth in Government Legislature in Austin.

Monday's session will get under way at 8 p.m., and at each club caucus an attorney will sit in as an advisor. Assisting will be Wayne Burns, Wayne Basden, John Burgess, R. H. Weaver, Harvey Hooser and Hartman Hooser.

Advice On Hair

Peggy Lee believes that one should consider a hair style as an accessory to a costume. She warns against wearing the same coiffure with different ensembles.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Peggy Lee Discusses Dieting And Hairdos

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD—Peggy Lee lives in a charming Japanese type house with an expansive view from her hilltop. When I arrived the other afternoon I found her curled up in her study, writing the lyrics to a new song.
 "Do you have a really exciting diet to tell me about?" I asked.
 "No, but something much more interesting," she replied. "I had been furiously counting calories thinking I was fat but my doctor discovered I'm a victim of malnutrition and what I thought was 'fat' was water in my tissues."
 "He gave me vitamin shots, a lecture on the necessity of eating balanced meals and the weight just melted away."
 "I eat well—only smaller portions. It's so easy when you are working late to snack instead of eating planned meals. But now I make a point of having my most important meal about two hours before my first show. This is a steak, fish or chicken, a salad, yellow and green vegetables and fresh fruit."
 "I have discovered a satisfying and non-fattening, nutritional salad," Peggy enthused. "It's made of thin slices of cold rare steak over a nest of green romaine."
 "You wouldn't think steak and French dressing go together but it's delicious. I take vitamin shots to correct my malnutrition and I feel wonderful. I simply swear by vitamin C. It's the one vitamin we don't get enough of, and we can't take too much of it because the system can't store it. It's done miracles for me. I want everybody to know about it."
 Peggy has quite a feeling that the way you wear your hair is more a part of your costume than most people realize.
 "In a broad sense," Peggy explained, "your coiffure is an accessory. This was emphasized when I bought a beautiful evening gown of Grecian lines. I had been wearing my hair in a baby page boy and this style was all wrong for that dress. I worked out a style with my hairdresser in which she swept my hair around my head like the Grecian statues. It was most effective and beautiful that dress."

 "Another dress had a bouffant skirt. There was a period feeling to it, so I wore my hair to set off a tiara."
 "Though Peggy lightens her hair, it is in beautiful condition and not in the least dried out."
 "It's better than it has been for a long time. I've found a new conditioner which I spray on my hair while it's still wet from a shampoo. It seems to go right into the hair shaft and gives both body and sheen."
 "It is so easy to put up my hair with these giant rollers that I'm sure any girl could do it with a little practice."
 "You close out a lot of living when you stay in a rut," she went on. "And the best way to get out of a rut is to find different ways of wearing your hair. When you start experimenting, you'll find you want to change styles often."
HAIRSTYLING ADVICE
 If you want to follow Peggy Lee's example and consider your hairstyle as an accessory to your costume, learn how to dress your hair with a professional flair, with a variety of styles. In this brand new Leaflet M-80, "Style Your Own Hair," are many suggestions to get you out of that rut into a completely different you. For your copy of this sensational leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for Leaflet M-80, "Style Your Own Hair."

Baptist Class, GA Report Activities

COAHOMA — Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. Raymond Morrison were cohostesses Monday evening when members of the Reapers Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in fellowship hall for the regular monthly business and social meeting. Mrs. Paul Camp brought the devotion.
 The annual Christmas activities were planned, and a visitation program was scheduled for the month. The teacher of the class, Mrs. Bill Hutchins, talked with the group about class study; the exchange of secret pal gifts, visitation and refreshments, completed the program.
 During the regular worship hour at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening a coronation service for the intermediate girls auxiliary was held, with Mrs. W. B. Younger, president of the WMU Association of Big Spring presiding.
 The nine girls who were recognized for having completed their steps in the GA program were Yvonne Knouse and Kay Porter, who received the awards as queen with a sceptre; Anna Lee Bishop and Jennie Smith received the queen awards; Betty Knouse, princess, and those who were named as ladies-in-waiting were Donna Duke and Ollene Stallard, with Betty Wilson and Peggy Shaffer receiving the maiden awards.
 The adult leaders who work with these girls are Mrs. J. D. Knouse and Mrs. Paul Allen. Mrs. Wayne Perry is to begin this week as the leader of the junior girls group.

New Shop Will Carry Antiques, Gift Lines

May Belle's is the name of the new business opened at 1611 E. 3rd St.—but really the name has been familiar in Big Spring quite a long time.
 It identifies Mrs. Robert P. Kountz, known affectionately by her many friends simply as Mabel.
 In her new business, Mrs. Kountz is specializing in antiques and gifts.
 She has gathered the antiques from a wide area of the country, and naturally is interested in acquiring bona fide items, especially authentic period materials and miscellaneous items.
 The gift items are unique and distinctive. For instance, May Belle's is the exclusive dealer for products of the famous Knott's Berry Farms of the West Coast. There are other distinguished lines, too. Friends are invited to come and browse around in the shop.
 Mrs. Kountz is a member of a well known and long-time Big Spring family, and her mother, Mrs. Carrie Bardwell, still makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Kountz.
Dr. Gomez To Speak
 Speaker at the meeting of the American Association of University Women will be Dr. Fabian Gomez of the Big Spring Clinic. The meeting will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the music building of H.C.J.C.

Frock's Big Sleeves Hark Back To 1940's

Remember the wide shoulders and big sleeves of the '40's? They made waists look smaller, hips slimmer, and now this more feminine version is the height of fashion.
 This Herbert Sondheim design plays it straight to create a background for the sleeve interest. The scoop neck is bordered in contrast which matches the wide belt, or a purchased belt may be used.
 Try plain, print or plaid silk, also glen plaid woolsens, for resort wear—checked cottons oringham. The contrast can be faille, satin, pique or linen.
 From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Neck to neck	Waist

Service Man Is Stanton Visitor, To Leave For England

STANTON — Maurice Petree, who has been stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Denver, Colo., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Petree. He is to leave Dec. 11 for England where he will spend three years.

Linda Saunders was recently selected sweetheart of the Stanton High School Band, Miss Saunders, who is the daughter of Mrs. Orna Clay Saunders of Stanton, is a junior student at Stanton High School. She plays solo clarinet and is a band majorette.

A pep rally was held at the Stanton High School gymnasium Friday.

Dr. Derward H. Reed, vice president of Eastern N. M. College at Portales, was the guest speaker.

The members of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church held a dinner at the church with their wives as guests. The Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of the College Baptist Church, Big Spring, was the speaker.

Lamesa Auxiliary Plans Silver Coffee

LAMESA — The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a silver coffee from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, it is announced.

Final plans for the affair were made at the monthly luncheon of the auxiliary Thursday in the W. V. Spire's home.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

All us red-blooded Americans turned into blue bloods Friday night as we sought to cheer the Steers to football victory. While there were few who braved the cold, cold weather, there were even fewer when the final whistle blew. There was no doubt in the minds of us that stayed that if there was any blood circulating it was as blue as the cold.

People came so wrapped up they couldn't get up for the invocation before it was half over, and without thinking got halfway down again before the anthem and finally gave up and just sat through the school songs. Sleeping bags and bed clothing provided shelter along with grocery bags and boxes to protect the feet. This is the coldest weather Big Spring has endured during its football season in more years than I can remember.

SUSAN LOGAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Logan of Lamesa, former resident of Big Spring, was presented in recital by the Fort Worth Travis Avenue Baptist Church last Sunday.

Miss Logan, who is official music secretary and organist for the church, studied at Wayland Baptist College at Plainview and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and also in Hagerstown, Md. Before going to Fort Worth she was organist at Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock and First Baptist in Odessa.

MR. AND MRS. BILL LANGING are in Houston this week to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Glenn. He is a student in the University of Houston School of Pharmacy.

At the C. T. McLaughlin barbecue honoring Sen. Lyndon Johnson, one of the honor guests was HAL WOODWARD, who is on the State Highway Commission and is an attorney in Coleman. With him was his wife, Dawn. His mother, Mrs. Garland Woodward, is teaching school in Coleman. His sister, Sarah, also lives in Coleman with her husband and two children. Warren Woodward, his brother, is a member of Sen. Johnson's staff. The Woodward children were all reared in Big Spring.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. "HUTCH" HUTCHINSON of Idaho Springs, Colo., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith and friends in Big Spring. Mrs. Hutchinson is the former Gladys Smith. The couple plans to visit in Graham and Snyder before returning to their home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson were employed by Cosden before moving from Big Spring seven years ago.

MR. AND MRS. JAY CUNNINGHAM and their children, Mike, Marilyn and Jane are at her parents' ranch near Austin where they will be until Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hardy are the parents of Mrs. Cunningham. The men plan to hunt during the visit, if the weather is as cold there as it is here, the women will probably be much happier at the ranch.

MR. AND MRS. D. W. DAY are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Woods in Lubbock today. They attended the Tech - University of Houston game Saturday and other homecoming activities.

A group of Big Spring women plans to visit in the home of former resident, Mrs. J. H. Blackburn in Andrews Monday. The party includes Mrs. B. D. Massingill, Mrs. L. A. Webb, Mrs. Raymond Eads, Mrs. B. S. Hubbard and Mrs. James Smith. The Massingills made their home here until he was transferred to Tatum, N. M. They have recently moved to Andrews.

Visitors in the home of MR. AND MRS. Z. M. LONG, 210 Mesquite, are their son, Benny C. Long and his wife of four days. The younger Longs were married in Denver, Colo., on Nov. 11. The couple plans to spend two weeks here before continuing to Nebraska for a stay with her relatives. After two weeks there they will go to New York City where he is employed with International Business Machines.

EVERY FALKNER JR., a second year student in Abilene Christian College, has joined the Knights, a social club at the college. He is also a member of Pi Epsilon Beta, an art society. The eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Falkner, he is an art major.

We are constantly amazed at the many things people raise in Big Spring. In Florida several years ago, MR. AND MRS. L. D. CAROTHERS bought a lime tree. They wanted a lemon tree in order to have yellow fruit, but the nursery man told him he had no lemon trees so they took a lime with the assurance the fruit would be yellow. They brought the tree home "as an infant," planted it in the yard, then potted it for the den; it is bearing the prettiest fruit, green to begin with but a very gay yellow when ripe. They must use lime juice on everything as they have such an abundant crop.

MRS. ZULA REEVES is expected home this evening from Fort Worth where she has spent the weekend with her daughter and her family, MR. AND MRS. CHAD ROCKETT, Ricky and Christi.

TIM WILLIAMSON was in Austin Saturday for the Texas-TCU game.

Miss Butchee, W. L. Grigg Are Wed In Ackerly Church Saturday

A wedding service, read just about dusk in the Ackerly Baptist Church Saturday, united in marriage Penny Beth Butchee and Wilbur Leo Grigg.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Butchee and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Grigg, all of Ackerly.

The Rev. Gary Martin, pastor of the Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church, Lubbock, read the double ring ceremony in front of an arch of greenery, showered with white chrysanthemums. Baskets of white mums flanked the arch, before which was the kneeling bench for the pair. The bridal aisle, carpeted in white, was marked by cathedral tapers in candelabra entwined with white mums and satin bows.

Nuptial music, played by Dorothy Williams, pianist, included The Lord's Prayer, Bells of St. Mary's and the traditional wedding marches. Miss Williams accompanied Bessie Smart and Margaret Seal as they sang Very Special Love and Wonderful One.

BRIDE'S PROMISE
As the bride stood at the head of the aisle, she repeated the 16th and 17th verses from the first chapter of the book of Ruth, as the pianist played the selection, Whither Thou Goest.

White bridal satin made the gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Re-embroidered lace marked the neckline of the dress and extended into a floor-length panel in front. In the back, gathered lace, attached at the shoulders, ended at a bustle of organza puffs, reaching the front panel. From the bustle, pleated satin swept into a chapel train. Seed pearls and silver beads enhanced the lace. Attached to a tiara of seed pearls was a circular veil of illusion, and the bride carried an orchid in a bed of roses and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Following tradition, the bride chose a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Grigg as something old; new was a diamond heart pendant, a gift from the bridegroom; the Bible was borrowed and she wore a blue friendship garter. Birthdate pennies were worn in the bridal slippers.

Ann Rogers of Lamesa was maid of honor, while bridesmaids were Mary Beth Butchee of Fort Worth, a cousin of the bride; Joyce Franks and Gordine Froman, both of Ackerly, and Judy Shoultz of Midland.

Attendants were gowned in velveteen off-shoulder frocks with bell sleeves lined with matching satin. Roses of the satin were repeated at the top of the sleeves. Bow belts and hats with mits of the same material as the dresses completed the ensembles.

Miss Rogers wore cinnamon velveteen and the bridesmaids were in frosted orange. All carried colonial bouquets of single bronze chrysanthemums.

Flower girl, Debbie Grigg of Big Spring, a niece of the bridegroom, was dressed identically to the other attendants in beige velveteen and she carried a basket of satin and illusion holding white rose petals. Reggie Hambrick of Ackerly was a page boy.

Ancel Harry served as best man; groomsmen were the bridegroom's brothers, Bill of Big Spring; Pete of Midland, Dub and Buster, both of Ackerly. Ushers, who also served as can-die lighters, were Don Shortes, of Ackerly; Jerry Kilgore of Lingleville; Larry Taylor of Tarzan.

RECEPTION
During the reception, held at the church, the couple's parents and the attendants assisted in greeting guests. In the house party were Joy Barkowsky, Billie Foster, Sue and Joyce Grigg.

A three-tiered cake was topped with a bridal pair between two wedding bells and was placed on an organdy-covered table. Flowers of the feminine attendants served as a centerpiece.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Rudoso, N. M., the bride was attired in a brown tweed suit with collar of orange velveteen. Her accessories were beige, and she pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet to her jacket.

When the Griggses return from the trip, they will be at home in Ackerly. The bride is a senior in Sands High School; the bridegroom is a graduate of Ackerly High School.

Guests attended the wedding from Fort Worth, Abilene, Midlock and Lovington, N. M.

WEDDING REHEARSAL
Supper was served buffet style in the home of the Butchees following the rehearsal Friday evening. A handmade lace cloth covered the table, where brown and yellow were used in a centerpiece.

Gifts were presented by the couple to their attendants.

Pythian Sisters Of Lamesa Hold Their Annual Roll Call

LAMESA—The Lamesa Pythian Sisters Temple had their annual roll call of members at their meeting Thursday night at KP Hall and made love offerings for the Pythian Home at Weatherford.

Members heard the monthly letter of Grand Chief Theola Oliver of Tahoka and made plans for her official visit to the Lamesa Temple on Dec. 3.

A long time member, Mrs. Sally Turnbow, who is leaving to make her home in Pampa, was presented a farewell gift from the group.

The autumn motif was used in the decorations at the hall, and during a social hour guests were served refreshments from a table which featured a dried arrangement as its centerpiece.

Hosting the meeting were Mrs. Mable Lee Ray, Mrs. E. B. Bratcher, Mrs. Alton Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ashley, Jack Mitchell and John T. Agee.

G-City WSCS Has Program On Africa

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The Garden City WSCS met Wednesday evening at the Methodist Church to hear a program on Africa. Mrs. D. W. Parker was program chairman.

High points of a missionary's journey to the Belgian Congo were given by Mrs. Bryant Harris, and Mrs. B. L. Murphy talked about a visit in Southern Rhodesia. Mrs. Gerald Oskes talked about Home Economics Around the World, and the meeting closed with a group prayer.

The Methodist women have received tins of candy they are going to sell to help support the small Greek child that they have adopted through the Christians Children's Fund. Those wanting to have a part may contact Mrs. Harris. When the group meets next week, Mrs. J. L. Parker will be in charge of a program on the U.N.

Diamonds May Be Her Friends, But Most Girls Like Pearls, Too

By DOROTHY ROE

Any kind of jewelry is all right for Christmas—just so it's pearls. That's the word from the jewelry industry, whose members say they've never seen a season when pearls of all kinds, shapes and sizes, big and little, real and fake, have been in such demand.

season when femininity and elegance have reached an all-time high—pearls always have been favorites with great ladies, starting with Cleopatra, who not only wore them but is said to have swallowed them.

For Christmas giving and wearing, pearls are appearing in new sizes, shapes, finishes and colors, in new combinations and dramatic designs. Colored pearls are important in the holiday picture, ranging from fabulous cultured oriental black pearls to costume pearls in tones of sable, amok, jade, sapphire, burgundy, amber and gold. Often two or more shades of a color are blended for an effect of color gradation that is subtle and effective.

There are new finishes for costume pearls that would astonish an oyster. They range from a simulated cultured pearl finish to a dazzling white. Some pearls have a dull metallic gleam, and others a silky sheen.

As to sizes, you may choose anything from tiny seed pearls in multiple strands to jumbo pearls the size of marbles. There are many shapes, also—round, oval or flat.

Necklaces run the full gamut, from choker collars to long ropes. Sometimes pearls are paired with other gems or with gold or silver for a new look. Sparkling cut crystal combines with pearls with dramatic effect, as to jade, turquoise, emeralds, or rubies, real or simulated.

Baby Shower Given For Forsan Woman

FORSAN — Mrs. Bobby Calley was honored recently with a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Paul Kennedy when members of the Sunshine Sewing Club presented her with gifts.

A corsage, made by Mrs. Jim Craig, was fashioned of a triangular center surrounded by a gathering of lace, with streamers holding tiny safety pins.

Lace covered a table where a stork stood on a reflector with small toys as part of the decoration.

About 30 were present, including Mrs. J. R. Everett, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Billy Calley, both of Ira; Mrs. Muri Jamison of Colorado City, sister of the local Mrs. Calley, was also a guest.

Couples Bridge Club Of Garden City Meets

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The Couples Bridge Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson last week, and decorations carried out the autumn theme with fall flowers.

Joy Wilkerson won the floating prize and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson won high for couples. Second high for couples went to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foster. Next meeting of the club, two weeks hence, will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Terry in Sterling County. Refreshments were served to 13 guests and the hosts.

Kennedy Circle Gives Program For WMS

FORSAN — The program was presented by the Willie Mae Kennedy Circle of the Baptist WMS Tuesday evening, when that group entertained the members of the Belle Overton Circle at the church.

A skit dealing with the refugees, churches and missions in South Korea was presented by Mrs. Bob Cowley, Mrs. Frank Thieme, Mrs. L. L. Garner and Mrs. Roenie Gandy.

Slides of scenes in Korea were shown by Mrs. Thieme; others participating included Mrs. Mac Robinson and Mrs. Jesse L. Overton.

Guests were Mrs. L. B. Garner of Henderson and Mrs. Charles Wash of Big Spring.

Retirement Dinner Attended By Several Forsan Residents

FORSAN—In Colorado City recently were employees of Magnolia Oil Co. and their wives; they attended a banquet for A. G. Bobo, who is retiring from the company.

Also in Colorado City were Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Bassinger, who visited the G. W. Geigers.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patton and their children visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Patton in Sweetwater recently.

Mrs. S. L. Mahan will be in New Braunfels several days this week when she accompanies her mother, Mrs. Virginia Sadler, to her home. Mrs. Sadler has been a guest in the Mahan home for about two months. Mahan has been in Gene Austry for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Overton were in Odessa Sunday. Announcements have been made that about $200 was the amount cleared at the Fall Festival Saturday evening at the school.

Sixteen attended the demonstration party given recently by Mrs. C. V. Wash.

Mrs. Jesse Overton was hostess to the Pioneer Sewing Club. Ten members and four guests, Mrs. S. C. Crumley, Mrs. L. B. McErath, Mrs. J. L. Overton, and Mrs. Mac Robinson, attended. Mrs. C. V. Wash will entertain the group next on Nov. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strom, Glenn and Ann, of Pecos are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Story.

Former Resident To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jewell of Belleville, Kansas, former residents of Big Spring, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Etta Lou, to Don White of Evanston, Ill. The couple plans a wedding during the latter part of December in the First Methodist of Belleville.

Bridal Pair Honored At Forsan Tea

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skeen were honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the music room of the school.

A hostess, Mrs. Sherman Padgett, was at the bride's book, while another hostess, Mrs. J. P. Kubecka, greeted guests. Mrs. W. H. Padgett and Mrs. L. L. Garner, hostesses, served from a table laid in white cutwork and centered with an arch of wedding bells.

The bride was presented with a corsage of lily of the valley in a circle of net with streamers to which were attached tiny rolling pins, a Bible and other items. The corsage had been made by Mrs. L. T. Shoultz, another hostess.

Others who joined in the hospitality were Mrs. Roy Lamb, Mrs. H. H. Story, Mrs. Henry Park, Mrs. Ronnie Gandy and Mrs. W. J. White of Big Spring.

Achievement Tour Is Held Thursday
STANTON — The annual Martin County Home Demonstration achievement tour held Thursday, began at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Max Everetts in the Flower Grove community. Other stops on the tour included the Jim Jones home in Tarzan; the Jimmy Sawyer home; the M. T. Hursh home; the Owen Kelly home; the Joe Stewart home; the Stanley Reid home and the P. M. Bristow home.

Six girls sang songs as Barbara Burklow accompanied them on the piano and accordion.

Vows Taken Saturday In Webb AFB Chapel

Webb AFB Chapel was the wedding scene for Gloria Jane Hanrahan and S.Sgt. R. A. Miller Saturday.

Chaplain Eugene Clemens performed the evening ceremony on an altar decorated with white mums and gladioli.

Miss Hanrahan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hanrahan, 1020 Bluebonnet. The bridegroom's home is Largs, Scotland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white tulle dress with a chiffon overskirt. Seed pearls were scattered over the bodice of the gown, and Miss Hanrahan's tiara, from which a finger-tip veil floated, was of seed pearls.

For the double ring ceremony the bride carried a penny in her shoe. Following wedding traditions her veil was something old; her gown something new; the prayer book she carried was borrowed, and she wore a blue garter.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Sage, who wore a pink lace dress with matching accessories.

T.Sgt. Wallace Baker was best man.

Music was provided by Mrs. J. E. Settles on the organ. She accompanied Airman Donald Carr as he sang Ave Maria.

RECEPTION
One hundred and twenty-five people attended the reception for the couple at the NCO Club.

White linen covered with net was on the table, where white mums and gladioli were in a long bowl on the back edge of the table.

A saber was used to cut the three-tiered wedding cake that was topped with a bride and groom.

Mrs. Harry Marlar presided at the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of St. Agnes School in Houston, is employed in the IAM department at Webb AFB.

Miller who transferred from the Royal Air Force to the United States Air Force, has been in the service 13 years.

For the honeymoon trip to Dallas, the new Mrs. Miller selected a tan two-piece suit with matching accessories.

The couple will make a home in Big Spring after their return Nov. 21.

Bride-Elect

Mr and Mrs. Travis LeCroy, 1112 North Gregg, have received word of the engagement and approaching marriage of her sister, Wanda Weatherford of Roseburg, Ore., to Melvin Everett Colgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin F. Colgrove, Myers Flat, Calif. She is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Weatherford of Brookings, Ore., and G. W. Weatherford of California. The family formerly lived in Big Spring. No definite date has been set for the nuptials.

Grilled Sandwich

Make cheese sandwiches and then grill them in butter in a heavy skillet. Serve for lunch with crisp bacon, currant jelly and a salad.

Workshop Is Planned By HD Council

A workshop of all home demonstration clubs will be held Friday at the First Presbyterian Church. The session will begin at 9:15 a.m. A salad luncheon will be held at noon, and all HD members are asked to bring a salad.

This was the announcement made at the salad luncheon meeting Friday of the City Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Ervin Daniels was hostess.

Pies will be furnished for the Hereford sale to be held Dec. 12, it was announced.

The HD Council will hold the Christmas party Dec. 9 at 2:30 p.m. in the old student union building of HCJC, members were reminded. The City HD Club will hold their party Dec. 11.

The program was presented by the county home demonstration agent, Mrs. Jimmie Dee Jones, who spoke on dieting.

Brownie Troop Goes On Afternoon Hike

Brownie Troop 43 gathered in the home of Mrs. E. L. Jones Friday afternoon with sack lunches. There the girls made newspaper sl-upons to take on a short hike. Fourteen members and two visitors went on the hike, with Mrs. Jones and Mrs. R. L. Gillean, learning to read trail markers.

Mrs. John Ludwig, music therapist at the Big Spring State Hospital, directs patients as they make rhythm with tambourines, clappers and rhythm sticks.

Music Therapy Is New Club Will Work At Cattle Show

By SHERI WEBBER
"Music will mentally awaken people," said Mrs. John Ludwig, a new addition to the staff of the Big Spring State Hospital. She is a music therapist, the first full time therapist in the hospital's history.
Sandra Sloan, a student at Christian College in Columbia, Mo., worked part time in this capacity at the hospital during her summer vacation last year.
Marian Ludwig, a native of Shelburne Falls, Mass., received a B. A. degree in music from Colby College, Waterville, Me. During high school and college summers she worked as a nurses' aid, and later was employed as a child social worker by the State of Maine Department of Health and Welfare. Before her marriage she worked as a music co-ordinator, copy-writer and women's news broadcaster for station WHAI in Greenfield, Mass.
"Music therapy is a relatively new field," says the bright-eyed therapist, "and there are few people trained in this capacity."
Mrs. Ludwig described music as a means of expression that involves melody, rhythm and body motion.
"Dancing is actually a form of music," she relates. By dancing, Mrs. Ludwig encompasses more than organized dances with patterned steps. Dancing in her definition takes in all body motion.

Physical effects upon patients are numerous. Music can either increase or decrease metabolism, blood pressure and pulse, respiration, muscular energy and the adrenal glands' activity.
Fatigue can be reduced as much as 50 per cent by the right stimulating music. Work can be speeded up and quality and quantity increased. It has been proven that symphonic music is better for this purpose than popular.
Tensions are relieved by music, and creative instincts are often aroused. Emotions can be stabilized.
"NO CURE-ALL
"Music is not a cure in itself," the therapist honestly admits, "but it contributes to the over-all rehabilitation of the patient."
Mrs. Ludwig explains that music, if not handled wisely, can have an adverse effect on a patient. She gives the example of a patient whose emotions border on wild hysteria. If he or she listens to fast, peppy music it will often cause this tendency to increase, while a calm, soothing melody will curb the emotion.
"An opportunity for good self-expression is given through music," the young worker declares. Mrs. Ludwig says that the patients are in the hospital because they have not been able to express themselves in socially acceptable ways. Music is a means of expression accepted the world over.
THERAPY AIMS
The aims of music therapy are to help the patient's re-socialization by being part of a group and thus developing accepted responses and eliminating anti-social behavior.

It helps those patients with an over-abundance of energy to release it in a pleasant, accepted way. Patients who are sullen, depressed and withdrawn can many times be awakened and their physical activity stimulated by music.
One of the main aims of music therapy is to increase the patient's self-respect. This comes through the accomplishment and success which can be found in one of the forms of music therapy.
Pride in themselves and in the group they are singing or playing with is cultivated with music.
Among the musical activities led by Marian Ludwig at the hospital are group singing, rhythm bands, record playing, and individual musical work.
Tambourines, triangles, clappers, rhythm sticks and bells contribute to the rhythm band. This activity helps develop the patients' muscular co-ordination.
Individual work began only last week in music therapy. "Most of the nine patients that I am working with individually now," says Mrs. Ludwig, "have a music background or are very interested in music."
When working with individuals, the therapist studies the patient's case history carefully in an effort to detect the phase of music that might be the most helpful in rehabilitation.
For the geriatrics, who cannot participate in those activities that require physical exertion, Mrs. Ludwig plays records.
"It is wonderful to see them tapping their toes and clapping their hands in enjoyment," says the new therapist.

Club Will Work At Cattle Show

FORSAN—Members of the Forsan Home Demonstration Club will furnish four pies and one person to work at the concession stand during the Hereford Show, slated for Big Spring.
This was decided at a meeting of the club held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. B. McElrath. Also reported to the club was the Christmas party, planned by the HD Council for Dec. 9, and scheduled for the old student union building at Howard County Junior College. Gifts priced at not more than a dollar are to be brought for an exchange.
Members were told of the arrival of the fruit cakes which are to be sold as a fund-raising project.
A discussion of dieting was brought by the county agent, Mrs. Jimmie Dee Jones, who showed charts of correct and incorrect food for dieters. Roll call was answered by 14 with a current event.
The next meeting is slated for Nov. 25 with Mrs. D. L. Clark as hostess.

Four K's

Kevin, Kashia, Kimberlye, and Keith watch the birdie as they sit with their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Gary. The Garys are the new pastors of Calvary Baptist Church.

Newcomers To Pastor Local Baptist Church

It looks as if the Raymond Garys have two sets of twins, but don't let your eyes fool you. Keith is 6 and Kevin, 5. Kimberlye is 2 and baby Kashia is 1.

The four blue-eyed, blonde tots have recently moved to Big Spring with their parents, as the Rev. Gary has become the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church.

Both Raymond and Joyce Gary were raised in Tahoka where they attended the New Lynn community Baptist Church.

"Everything important that has happened to me happened in that little church," the young minister relates.

It was in this church that Joyce met Raymond, and later they were married there. The Rev. Gary made his decision to enter the ministry in the small church, and later was the first person to be ordained there.

After Raymond's decision to enter the ministry, the young couple moved to Jacksonville where he attended Jacksonville Bible College for three years.

While in school the Garys took their first pastorate, and drove 130 miles each way to minister in Martins Prairie, a small community outside of Bryan.

Later he was a pastor in Slocum, which meant a one-way drive of only 40 miles.

"I haven't much time for anything other than the children," attractive Mrs. Gary said, "but I enjoy reading."

The Rev. Gary is a football fan and enjoys 42 and chess.

Recently he had an unusual experience with a deer. Coming back from a convention in Fort Worth, his car struck a 10-point buck which attempted a leap across the road near Eastland.

Gary got out of the car, and went on into Eastland with a passing motorist to report the accident. When he and the authorities came to the scene of the accident, someone had taken the deer.

"Not only did I get my car banged up," the young pastor said in disgust, "but I didn't even get to keep that beautiful deer."

COSDEN CHATTER

Electrical Engineers Tour Cosden Refinery

The Abilene Chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers substituted their regular meeting this month with a tour of the refinery here Thursday. Sixteen members from Abilene and San Angelo gathered afterward with Cosden representatives at the Country Club for dinner.

R. L. Tollett, M. M. Miller, Dan Krause, Douglas Orme and V. A. Whittington were among the guests Thursday at a barbecue lunch hosted in Snyder by C. T. McLaughlin. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson was speaker at the affair, which took place in the National Guard Armory in Towle Memorial Park.

Douglas Orme, vice president, traffic, was elected to the board of directors of the Transportation Club of the Petroleum Industry last week. He attended the group's annual meeting in Chicago, where W. D. Ohle, general traffic manager of Sinclair Refining Co., New York, was elected president of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wallace attended the Ice Capades in Odessa this weekend.

Angie Glenn and David Seager called on customers in the East last week. Also out on business was Arch Ratliff.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Judd became parents for the first time Thursday afternoon. A son, Paul E., was born to them at Cowper Hospital.

The Ice Capades in Odessa attracted Jan Weaver, Barbara Porch, Mary Ann Coffey and Sue Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Simpson will be in San Antonio on vacation next week.

Darlene Snodgrass is spending the weekend in Plains with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Snodgrass.

Billie Bauer is in Llano for a weekend visit with her family. A son was born Wednesday to

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Blalack at the Big Spring Hospital. The infant, who weighed 8 pounds, 10 1/2 ounces, has been named Michael Wayne.

Fourth Birthday Marked With Party

Twelve little friends of Mica Marie Robertson gathered in the Robertson home Friday afternoon to celebrate her fourth birthday anniversary. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Robertson, 426 Hillside.

Prizes in games and contests went to Jerry Jenkins and Miller Boyd; whistles and masks were favors for the guests.

From a table covered in a pink cloth, a pink, white and green birthday cake was served. Happy Birthday was inscribed in the frosting.

Music, Missions Theme For GAs

We've A Story to Tell provided the musical theme for the meeting of the Junior GAs of the Baptist Temple at their meeting Friday afternoon.

The mission study was presented by Mrs. James Leath, while the stewardship devotion was given by Joyce Littlejohn.

The girls hummed the song, Take My Life, as Mrs. Reta Boren prayed.

Slides were presented by Mrs. Leath and Mrs. Boren in co-ordination with the book, Ten Bright Eyes, to the 10 members and one guest who met in Mrs. Leath's home.

George C. P. Olsson, president of the National Cranberry Assn., largest cranberry packers in the world, eats a mouthful of raw cranberries in Hanson, Mass., as he protested a "cranberry scare" that originated in Washington. Olsson said there was nothing whatsoever the matter with berries grown in Massachusetts which produces half of the nation's crop. Cranberry ruckus started with announcement from Washington that part of the crop in Washington state and Oregon had been contaminated by a weed-killer. Simulated Hail Used To Ascertain Crop Damages

COLLEGE STATION — Hailstorms do extensive damage in Texas. Crop-hail insurance claims have approached five million dollars in some years, although only about 10 per cent of the state's crops are insured.

Cotton grown on the High Plains and in the Trans-Pecos areas of Texas frequently is damaged by hail. The damage varies from a few punctured or destroyed leaves and fruiting structures to complete destruction of the stem and bark to ground level.

A number of experiments have been conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to simulate hail injuries, according to Harry C. Lane, associate professor, Department of Plant Physiology and Pathology, Texas A&M College System. Spacing, defoliation, various stalk cutoffs, stem bruises and combinations of injuries were inflicted by hand for the experiments. A special machine was made to simulate hail using cracked ice.

It was found that stands could be thinned substantially from the average stand in the areas without reducing yield. An optimum stand was found to be two plants per foot of row.

Total defoliation retarded recovery and delayed maturity. The cotton plant, however, was not affected markedly by removal of one-third or two-thirds of its leaves. Furthermore, notes Lane, the cotton plant regenerated new leaves rapidly.

The terminal bud is not necessary for growth and fruiting of the cotton plant, so topping neither decreased or increased yields significantly. It was also found that early-season stem injuries did not affect growth and fruiting and that treated plants did not lodge after a boll crop was made.

The results of these treatments are explained in a new bulletin (B-994) released by the experiment station, entitled "Simulated Hail Damage Experiments in Cotton."

Virginian Cops Top Prize In Texas Poetry

DALLAS (AP)—Lone Star state poets won two out of three annual poetry Society of Texas contests open to all American writers and two of the three major money prizes offered in 1959 by the society.

But the biggest cash prize, the Dr. A. Joseph Armstrong Memorial award of $125, went to a Virginian, it was announced at the society's annual awards dinner here Saturday night.

She is Ulrich Troubetzkoy of Richmond, a former newspaper-woman who is now managing editor of Virginia Cavalcade, the state magazine of history. Her "Dr. Armstrong walks in the Browning Library," was judged the best poem commemorating the work of the late Dr. A. Joseph Armstrong of Baylor University, Waco.

The two Texas winners of contests open to all American writers were Ruth Averette of Fort Worth, whose "Peace at Zero" won the Aline B. Carter Peace Award, and Claire Medlin Puckett of Rosenberg, whose "Not by Steel Alone" captured the Harry Kovner prize.

Marion J. McDaniel of Pop, Tex., a school superintendent, won the second largest award of the night — the Old South prize of $100 — given by Georgia B. Lucas of Austin. His winning poem was "The Fruitbearers."

The Hilton Ross Greer Memorial Prize of $50 went to Julia Hurd Strong of Houston, one of the night's top winners, for her "Grapevine on a Sagging Fence."

Houston poets won eight first prizes, placed second in seven and third in seven other contests to dominate the honors for the evening. Dallas poets were second with three first prizes, nine second-place, and seven third-place honors.

The $965 in prize money awarded this year in 41 contests was the largest in the history of the society, Dr. Martin Shockley, society president, announced. It drew a record number of entries, 1,442.

2 Convicted Rapists Executed

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP)—Two Negroes were executed at state prison Friday for raping two white women.

One of them admitted five rapes and the other three additional. Prison Supt. DeWitt Sinclair said, but they went to the electric chair for one each.

Both lost last-minute pleas for commutation.

John Edward Paul, 24, made no statement. He had been convicted of raping a 47-year-old grandmother at Clearwater while her 3-year-old grandchild slept in the same bed and her husband slept in an adjoining room.

Willie George City, 22, who Sinclair said admitted five other rapes, had pleaded guilty to raping a white widow at her home on the outskirts of Largo.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1959 SEC. D

Abilene To Celebrate Down-Town Face-Lifting

The downtown problem is understood in Fort Worth, Waco, El Paso, Dallas—in fact in any Texas town which is progressive and growing.

Abilene has done something about it.

Like many Texas towns with attractive modern development, Abilene concluded that its downtown section was a wasteland of old, unattractive buildings and throttled facilities.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday Abilene will celebrate the realization of a bold plan of action to restore and revitalize its downtown area as the heart of its city.

Abilene was growing so fast that the downtown section just didn't fit with the city.

TOWN HAS SPIRIT

With closing of Camp Barkley after World War II, some feared Abilene would become a ghost city. Citizens banded together, chipped in half a million dollars, went to Washington and sold the idea of the Camp Barkley site as an $80,000,000 Strategic Air Command base. Meanwhile water insurance was obtained in the form of lakes, existing and contemplated. Construction spurred, business boomed and traffic became tighter and tighter. When it did rain streets ran deep in water.

Downtown merchants said something should be done for the business district which they said was the key to the Key City.

So Abilene voted street improvement bonds, assessed property owners in the business area, called in the contractor and ordered a new set of streets and storm sewers — and for good measure threw in new sidewalks. The streets are white concrete, the sidewalks gleaming black.

Merchants have decided it is time to celebrate — not for just renovating the downtown section but for Abilene's achievements everywhere including a complex of

3 Pleas Of Guilty Heard

Three more pleas of guilty, bringing the week's total to 18, were heard in 118th District Court on Friday.

Don Wallace, indicted for forgery, was sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary.

Hovey Moore, forgery, was given a 3-year sentence probated.

Ferrel R. Augustine, forgery, was sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary.

new underpasses, new schools and a new library.

So, typical of the Key City, they went out and bought themselves three days of variety shows which will perform four times daily Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

One other difficulty has been encountered. The Key City needs a bigger place to stage such a show. Somebody who has a good auditorium for sale could probably unload quick at Abilene, Key City of West Texas.

Reception Room In New Architect Office

Puckett & French, local architects, are inviting the general public to inspect their new home at 4th and Austin today. The attractive and unusual building features many eye-catching and breathtaking features. Beauty is emphasized in all phases of the unusual building.

PUCKETT & FRENCH

Open House Today For New Architect Office

Open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. today for the new home of Puckett & French, architect-engineer.

This is a building with an unusual story behind it. When the partners in the firm decided to erect their own offices at the site on 4th and Austin Olen Puckett took one look at the tree on the west side and was immediately inspired as to the design. A modern oriental theme to complement the gnarled but lacy tree was indicated.

Thus the lines of the building accentuate this effect, even to the reflecting pool. Painted black, the pool reflects as a mirror and at night as the spotlight plays on the building, a myriad of effects is achieved. Walkways of pebble concrete, some as stepping stones across the reflecting pool, plus rustic gravel plots and banks of what will become perennial greenery, all add to the effect.

UNUSUAL MOTIF

Nor does it end there, for the novel light fixtures in the reception room pick up the thread in a striking manner. Interior walls are of Masonite panel, much like shiplap, and brick—both face and enamel in striking color blends. File cases are recessed and most of the storage throughout is cabinet-made. There are private offices for the two partners, a conference room with louvered doors which open to storage and projection shipment, a coffee bar, and a screen for slides and films. The drafting room has positions for as many as six draftsmen, plus library, materials and research files. At one end is a lavatory for water paints, etc., and beyond this is a combination work and storage room for files and materials. All lighting fixtures are specially designed, and each piece of furniture in the building is custom made. To the west of the conference room, and under the boughs of the thematic tree is a special garden conference room shielded by glass panels.

BEGAN IN 1946

The firm came into being here on Jan. 1, 1946 as Puckett & Cantrell. Warren Cantrell sold his interest to Bill French in March of that year and it has been Puckett & French since that time. Many of the school buildings including the high school plant, all of Howard County Junior College, the Elbow, Gay Hill and other schools in the area, the Howard County Courthouse, the new YMCA, city police building, numerous churches, residences and other units here and in this area were designed and supervised by the firm. In addition, vast amounts of work have been done for the Corps of Engineers in both the Albuquerque and Fort Worth district. For instance, numerous structures at Webb, and as many as 52 buildings at Dyess AFB were handled by the concern.

Olen Puckett was reared in Fort Worth and took his degree in architecture from Texas Tech in 1931. He studied another year in the Chicago Institute of Art, then did detail design for a large sash and door firm for several years. He was associated with Wilson & Patterson and Wyatt C. Hedrick in Fort Worth and with David S. Castle, Abilene, as chief draftsman and designer for several years. During the war he was with the Navy's construction division, the Bureau of Docks and Yards. Mr. and Mrs. Puckett have three children, Phil, a junior at Tech, and Anne and Lynn.

French was reared in Abilene and took his degree in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M in 1938. He went to work with French Engineering Company and did graduate study in structural and mechanical engineering. In 1941 he entered military service and spent most of the war in the European theatre as a captain. Upon separation from service he returned briefly to French Engineering Company until the opportunity of a partnership with Puckett opened. He and Mrs. French have two sons, Bill Jr., who is in A&M, and Randy. Both partners are active in service clubs and other civic activities.

City Water Receipts At Normal Level

Big Springers were billed $71,246.89 during October for water and sewer service.

C. R. McClenny's monthly report showed 160,583,300 gallons of water metered during the month. He is the city secretary.

The water total was a decrease of 81,116,600 gallons less than September and 18,940,900 gallons more than October, 1958.

The billings were $21,530.59 under September totals and $8,035.58 more than October, 1958.

At the end of the month, the bonded indebtedness was $1,061,000 in tax bonds and $1,350,000 in revenue bonds.

Baptist Plan Organization Of New Mission

Organization of the Settles Baptist Mission into a church will be held Nov. 22 at 2:30 p.m.

Mission members, who organized the church Sept. 6, 1958, have voted to call the new church Settles Baptist Church.

The mission's pastor, the Rev. Haskell D. Beck, has announced the business that will take place at the afternoon meeting. A moderator and secretary will be elected, and the entire group will vote to form church organization.

Adoption of the church covenant and articles of faith will be under the direction of the Rev. W. A. James, pastor of Airport Baptist Church, and Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist Church, respectively.

God Bless This Church will be solo before Chaplain C. O. Hitt brings the sermon.

Those desiring to become charter members of the church should be present to state that desire. They will become members of the organization in accordance with the rules of the Southern Baptist churches.

Pastor Beck invites the public to attend the meeting. The mission is located at 19th and Settles streets.

Tech Plans For Nuclear Center

LUBBOCK (AP)—The Texas Tech board of directors Friday approved final plans for a nuclear reactor building. Bids for the new structure probably will be asked in February.

Grant For Heart Study To Former City Resident

Dr. Larry Joe O'Brien, who was reared in Big Spring, will study heart relaxation for the next three years under an $18,000 grant to the Albany Medical College of Union University.

Dr. O'Brien, who is an instructor in physiology at the medical college at Albany, N. Y., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien, Western Hills.

His special study was made possible by the grant to the college from the National Heart Institute. Dean Harold C. Wiggers said Dr.

O'Brien will investigate the physiological mechanisms that cause the heart to fill with blood between contractions.

Recently he served on the faculty of a special clinic on the application of basic science in clinical medicine. The affair was sponsored jointly by the college and St. Luke's Hospital in Pittsfield, Mass.

In one session, Dr. O'Brien lectured on the neural and chemical control of respiration, and in another he discussed the mechanism of excitation and inhibition of nerve cells as part of symposium on nervous system energetics.

Foundation Week Will Be Rotary Event

Big Spring Rotarians will join with nearly half a million Rotarians in 114 countries this week for a special observance of "The Rotary Foundation Week." It was announced Saturday by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, president of the Rotary Club.

The Rotary Foundation seeks to promote understanding and friendly relations between the peoples of different nations. Its major activity is granting Rotary Foundation Fellowships for International Understanding to outstanding graduate students for one year of study abroad as Rotary ambassadors of good will.

Since this program was established in 1947, as a memorial to Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, 1,199 young men and women from 67 countries have received Rotary Foundation Fellowships for study in 44 countries, with grants averaging over $2,500. Total grants by The Rotary Foundation for this activity now exceed $3,000,000.

Wherever a student may go, he is in direct contact with a Rotarian and attends Rotary Club meetings, visits in homes, businesses and travels as much as possible in order to lay the foundation for international understanding.

Dave Duncan is chairman of the Rotary Foundation committee and of the program set for Tuesday noon in the Settles.

Henry Fonda's Daughter Starts Acting Career

By WILLIAM GLOVER Associated Press Drama Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Now there are two members of the Fonda family briskly on the go in show business.

One is Henry the star, busy at the moment on a new Broadway play.

The other is Jane his daughter, just emerging into the theatrical spotlight.

Their careers are separate and distinct. The only overlap is in admiration.

"She's going to be all right, that girl," glows the parent in the midst of interview on his own activities.

"Father has a fantastic instinct as an actor," appraises Jane in a separate chat concerning her work.

Fonda pere is in "Silent Night, Lonely Night," drama by Robert Anderson which opens at the Morosco Theater Dec. 3 with advance boxoffice sale of smash hit caliber.

The project has been on his crowded stage-TV-movie agenda more than a year.

"It's not often that I've had such a long interval between accepting a property and getting into it," Fonda says. "The play is full of beautiful lines — and truths—the sort that smack you right between the eyes."

"I'm sure that like 'Two for the Seesaw,' it will be running with someone else long after I leave," comments Fonda. He is backing his enthusiasm with a sizeable investment in the production.

Peter Glenville, previously responsible this season for the hit musical, "Take Me Along," is staging the Anderson play in which Barbara Bel Geddes is the feminine lead.

City Tax Take Is Ahead Of Year Ago

Tax receipts continued to run ahead of last year's figures during October.

C. E. Johnson, city tax assessor-collector, reports October collections at $361,449.52. This is an increase of $223,071.90 over last year's report of $138,377.72.

For the fiscal year to date, collections have been $396,533.98, which is $237,953.85 more than last year's seven month total of $158,580.13.

Current taxes lead the list of collections with $347,067.20, which is also the total for the year. It is $211,901.32 more than at the same time last year when the total was $135,995.88.

Falkner To Join ACC Social Club

Avery Falkner, Abilene Christian College sophomore, from Big Spring, has accepted an invitation to join the Knights, one of ACC's 12 social clubs.

An art major, Falkner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Falkner, 708 W. 17th, Big Spring. He was a 1958 graduate of Big Spring High School. At ACC, he is a member of the Art Club and the Freshman Dorm, Council.

Film Festival

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Georges Frey, French minister of information, plans to attend the second world review of film festivals starting Nov. 25. The French embassy announced the reviews will be held here and at Acapulco.

Laraine Day Denies Rumors Of Rift

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Laraine Day Friday denied a report that she and Leo Durocher have separated. She was asked by a reporter about a New York Mirror report that they had split up and replied: "That's what the Mirror says. I say differently."

Niven Refuses To Dub A Line

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—David Niven, 1959 Academy Award winner, said Friday he refused to dub one line of dialogue which would give his newest movie a motion picture production code.

To get approval of the film industry's watchdog body, the producers of "Happy Anniversary" have hired New York television actor Allen Swift to imitate Niven and speak the line.

Niven called the suggested substitute "an insipid line that says, in effect, that I have made a dirty picture. Had I thought the picture was dirty, I never would have made it. The picture is in no way imaginable in bad taste or obscene."

Pills Investigated

NEW YORK (AP)—Advertising used to promote sale of the Regimen brand of reducing pills is under investigation by Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan who said his office is seeking to determine whether claims made for the pills constitute false and misleading advertising under the state penal code.

A Devotional For Today

The Lord said unto him (Moses), What is that in thine hand? And he said, A rod. (Exodus 4:2.)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, forgive me for hesitating because of my weakness, my timidity, my fear. Help me to see that with Thee I can do all things Thou wouldst have me to do. Help me to dedicate to Thee my life, my talents, my possessions. Teach me today to trust and obey Thee. In the Saviour's name I pray. Amen.

Problem With Your Car Insurance

Casualty insurance agents are embarking upon a program of trying to acquaint the public with changes in the rating plan under new state law.

There won't be any automatic renewals. Policyholders must fill out a long and involved form in order that the agent may arrive at the proper rate.

For those who have not had any sort of moving violations or tickets or convictions involving vehicles during the past three years, there will be a 20 per cent credit. On the contrary, there will be penalties set up under a system of points for moving violations, mishaps and convictions until it would be possible for the driver's rate to be doubled.

The theory behind this is good, but the ramifications and the administration of it may become fearfully involved.

We have a feeling that after one round of this there will be some changes made. And unless experience shows otherwise, there probably ought to be some divorcement of certain types of traffic infringements from the table of penalties. Insurance companies do not pay off on the basis of who went 25 miles an hour in a 20 mile zone or who ran a red light or made a left turn where none was indicated. While these are potentially unsafe practices, they do not mean collisions per se. The point is that being habitually involved in mishaps ought to be the heaviest factor in higher rates.

With routine moving violations able to inflict substantial penalties on policyholders, we can foresee that pleas of guilty will no longer be routine. It will be worth the individual's time to scrap every charge to the bitter end, appealing from one court to another. The courts could become hopelessly fouled by these appeals.

Be that as it may, the immediate problem is to remind policyholders to not wait until the last minute in expectation of getting the usual renewal and statement from their agent. It would be wise to look into this matter well ahead of

The Great Cranberry Issue

The Federal Food and Drug Administration dispatched 100 inspectors and 40 chemists to various points throughout the country for an emergency check on cranberry bogs and grocery stocks to see how much there was, if anything, to the Welfare Secretary Flemming's warning that cranberries grown in Washington and Oregon might be contaminated by weed-killing chemical that was found to cause cancer in mice.

This task force didn't even take a holiday on Veterans Day. As of the first 24 hours, no evidence of contaminated stocks had turned up.

The principal cranberry-growing states are Massachusetts, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Washington and Oregon, but the Thanksgiving and Christmas specialty circulates in every county and precinct in the country.

Growers, processors and distributors of cranberries and cranberry products were understandably outraged by Flemming's action, and stand to lose tens of millions of dollars if people take it at face value—even if the official researchers show the danger to be insignificant.

But if strong evidence of pollution is found, Flemming's stock will rise. As guardian of the health and welfare of 178,000,000 Americans his responsibility is a grave one and cannot be lightly regarded.

If the findings do not substantiate his warning his will have been one of the monumental blunders of the year, however well intentioned his warning may have been. It not only will have been costly and almost ruinous to growers and distributors, but it will make officials gun shy for years. It would be tragic if he went off half-cocked.

Existing Fraud Laws Are Ample

WASHINGTON — Some of the suggestions for new laws to govern TV shows seem to indicate that many people, including a few members of Congress, are not bothered by what the Constitution of the United States permits or forbids.

It is being proposed, for instance, that governmental commissions shall review program content and that, if a station doesn't meet the wishes of the Federal Communications Commission in this regard, a broadcasting or television license would not be renewed.

Congress really has no power under the Constitution to authorize such action. For this would be censorship, and the First Amendment contains a guarantee against any abridgement of freedom of speech or freedom of the press. If such authority could be exercised by Congress over radio and television, it could be applied also to the press.

It may not be generally realized, but the press, like radio and TV, is subject to a certain form of licensing. Publications cannot, for example, get second-class-mail privileges unless they conform to certain rules prescribed by the Post Office Department.

stocks, bonds and mortgages. This requirement was contested for a while in the courts, but the Supreme Court of the United States finally upheld the right of Congress to force such disclosure.

SAME AS LOBBYING

The same principle applies to lobbying. While lobbying itself comes within the protection of that provision of the Constitution which permits a citizen "to petition the government for a redress of grievances," federal law nevertheless can require registration of lobbyists and even the disclosure of the sums expended by them or in their behalf.

The principle of disclosure can be applied also to radio and television stations as a condition of the renewal of licenses. The extent to which financial payments are made to performers on a television show can be made subject to disclosure under existing law by requiring proper reports to the Federal Communications Commission.

POWERFUL F.T.C.

This power of the Federal Trade Commission extends to all forms of selling, whether by the printed or spoken word. Even when the statements are not in themselves misleading but are designed to injure a competitor, the Federal Trade Commission has the right to determine whether the words or the manner in which they are circulated brings about unfair competition in interstate commerce as defined in existing federal law.

On the whole, there are plenty of laws on the statute books — federal and state — to cover the frauds that were revealed in the TV-quiz scandal. It could be unfortunate, therefore, if, in trying to keep abreast of popular furor, governmental agencies were stampeded into going beyond their constitutional powers and infringing on the rights of the citizens under the Constitution.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Death came on this day in 1836 to Lorenzo de Zavala, fiery champion of freedom who was the first vice president of the Texas Republic. He drowned trying to cross Buffalo Bayou at flood stage.

De Zavala played a leading role in Mexican independence, too. The election of Vicente Guerrero brought appointment as minister of the treasury, but de Zavala resigned to invest in the colonization of Texas. He received an empresario's contract to settle 500 families but transferred his interests to the Galveston Bay and Texas Land Co.

President Santa Anna sent De Zavala to France as a minister, but he soon quit to attack dictatorial policies in his own country. His break with Santa Anna was complete; he bought land on Buffalo Bayou and moved his family to Texas in July, 1825.

Immediately he was a leader of the faction protesting Santa Anna's administration. He had helped one country revolt from tyranny; he was ready to assist in organizing another republic. The independence convention at Washington-on-the-Brazos elected an ad interim government with Burnet as president and De Zavala as vice president.

The battle of San Jacinto was fought near his home, just across the bayou. His residence was used as a hospital to treat wounded survivors.

De Zavala was buried in what is now San Jacinto State Park.

GOP Looks For Prosperity By Election Day

You can see it now: "Peace and Prosperity," or some variation thereof, will be the Republican campaign song next year.

The visit of Premier Khrushchev to the United States and his proposed visit to France in March assure international quiet for the next four or five months.

If President Eisenhower goes to a summit meeting later, overtones of good will are likely to last through the fall. That's the peace melody.

The prosperity theme is written by the steel strike. Here are some typical comments made at the first annual meeting of the newly-formed National Association of Business Economists at the Wharton School in Philadelphia:

Economist for a major steel company: In the first half of 1959 steel consumers will be buying madly to restore inventories to normal levels. This, all by itself, guarantees a big year. As steel goes, so goes the nation. Total output of goods and services—Gross National Product—could average between $10 and $12 billion—as against recent levels of $8 billion.

"GO LIKE SIXTY IN '60"

Analyst of a road-building machinery company: The steel strike had slowed demand, but new orders are coming in again. Since 1950 is an election year, plenty of government money will be available for road-building and other public works. (To this hard-cash, political appraisal, there were knowing nods of assent.)

Economist for a Big-Three automobile company: Autos should go like sixty. The steel strike has pushed some 1959 production into next year. So the production pattern for domestic cars shapes up as follows:

1958	4,300,000
1959	5,400,000-5,500,000
1960	6,500,000-6,600,000

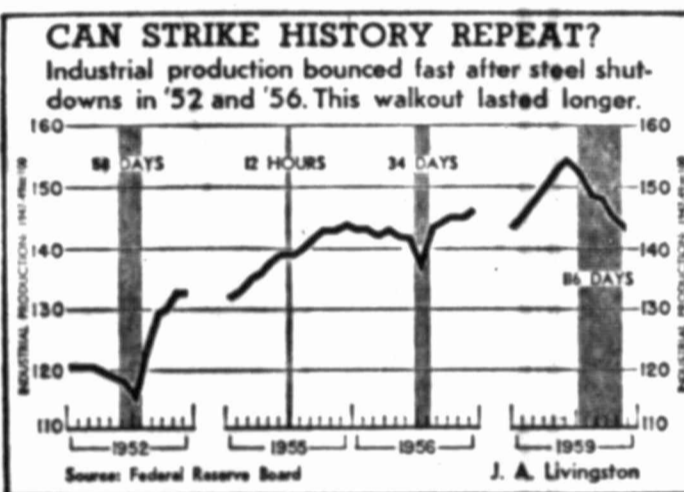

Economist for a company manufacturing a product heavily bought at Christmas time: We have noticed caution on the part of dealers in stocking up for Christmas. This could result in some decline in production early next year. However, the long-run outlook is excellent.

TIGHT MONEY FACTOR

Economist for a rubber company: 1960 will be a record year. Why? Because of greater demand for cars and industrial products. "If I sound like the Chamber of Commerce, that's how I feel."

Construction expert: Tight money may reduce housing starts, but not too much. Other construction—educational buildings, public works, hospitals, highways—would compensate.

The forecasts take for granted that David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, and

Source: Federal Reserve Board. J. A. Livingston

R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the major steel companies, will finally agree that further disagreement is impossible.

This is a logical assumption. The companies can't get along without workers nor the workers without jobs. So, the economists count on a rapid pickup in production and employment. This won't show up in the Federal Reserve Board index of industrial production in November—the shortage of steel for autos will weigh the index down (see chart). But employment and production in December and January will rebound.

IF COMMON SENSE FAILS

Yet, one unknown possibility can't be ruled out: If, toward the end of 80 days, McDonald and Cooper are still at odds, the suspense will haunt business like a falling barometer haunts the captain of a sailboat. Commitments will be reefer.

Undoubtedly, the steelworkers would head another strike call by McDonald. But McDonald would have to gain a whopping big settlement to win cheers from the membership. The settlement he got from Kaiser, the best he can hope for, is not of that magnitude.

The steel companies also face an unpleasant prospect—having Congress deal with a renewed strike. In an election year, senators and representatives would be prone to lean to what's best for the greatest number of votes. Thus, McDonald could get more out of deadlock than wedlock.

Hence, logic suggests that both sides ought to be concessive. The strike has changed the business pattern for the Republicans. It makes unlikely a first-half business peak and promises good volume in the second half. Hence, the prospect of industrial prosperity and high employment when election day rolls around.

Flying Farmer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When he climbs out of a B47 jet bomber at the end of a day's flying, Air Force navigator John P. Wright settles down on the farm.

A lieutenant colonel with 19 years in the service, Wright has taken a long term lease on a 90-acre farm next to Lockbourne Air Force base here. Wright says he and his family are trying out farming on a part-time basis to see if that's what they want to do when he retires.

False Bluff

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Earl Galbraith, 12, got into a squabble with a schoolmate who threatened: "I'll knock your teeth down your throat."

"You'd better not," answered Galbraith. "My daddy won't like that because my teeth cost $600." His adversary walked away.

Have You Really Been Away?

Heh, Heh, Heh! And chuckle and chortle.

It's not often that a fellow can claim a captive audience — paid subscribers, that is—to regale with accounts of his recent illness.

You try to back somebody in a corner to give 'em all the details, and they somehow get away. But here's a ready-made opportunity. Of course, you can quit reading . . .

Sombody has said that the three most boring subjects under the sun are, in this order, (1) your operation, (2) your vacation, (3) your grandchildren. Well, I've struck out on item 3, but in this and future exciting episodes, you are going to get the treatment on Nos. 1 and 2.

Let's talk first about what happened to me. There is one term called a myocardial infarction, but if this sounds as ugly to you as it does to me, let's hasten on to such jargon as thromboses and coronary occlusions. Actually, what they used to call it before everybody had read Readers Digest and tried to get in on the doctors' act was simply a "heart attack." That'll do for the time being.

What causes this? Huh, there are as many opinions as there are descriptions for the illness. The doctor probed about for evidences of stress and tension and never let him in on the secret that I did much exec-ing. The people who have worked with me would say that the thing was brought on by a horrendous disposition and a skyrocketing temper. My little old mother, had she been alive to check up on me, would have issued a warning against burning the candle at both ends. And all three situations may have been contributory. The point is, you should not get yourself in any big emotional push, you should be real sweet to people, and you should go to bed nights. Then, you'll probably poop right over with an infarction one of these days.

The physical illness isn't the only point of issue, either. A fellow who is put out of circulation for a matter of weeks or months gets humbled, if not downright humiliated, to find out how the world and all within it, kept right on turning, even if he wasn't around to give his little push. Take this weekly column, just as a minor example. I had taken a bit of personal pride in a record of not having missed a Sunday of subject matter—for better or worse—since the "Rim" was inaugurated back in February of 1948. This gave me an uninterrupted stretch of about 11 1/2 years. When the break came, nobody but me even knew there had been such a record, nobody could care less, and a great majority of people didn't even know I had ever written one of these columns at any time.

It's a good deal like the first time, in a state of happy recovery, you make your first venture downtown. You see approaching an acquaintance, and you break out in smiles, ready for him to say, "Gee, it's good to see you out and around again, old boy. We sure have missed you, and hope you're able to be one of us again." You know what, instead, the guy actually says? He says, "Where were you the other day? We had a called meeting of the club and needed you for a quorum."

Just goes to show you how really unimportant you are. If it weren't for the countless people who DID say kind words and who DID do thoughtful things and who DID personify friendship above and beyond the call of duty, I would be downright discouraged. As it is, I look forward to many wonderful years of telling about my heart attack.

Be sure and tune in next week for a first-hand, authenticated account on How to Get the Most Out of a Hospital; or, What Makes Nurses Tick?

An Olympic Champion In Life

Way back, when I was in Greenville High School in Ohio, I won the hundred-yard dash. Of course I must state that one reason I won was because my chief competitor was laid up with the flu. I've never been much of an athlete, but I've always been interested in sports and enjoy reading stories about the men and women who have become famous.

I recently read a book by Bob Richards, the great pole-vaulter. In it, he tells of one of the most moving sports stories of them all. It begins with a boy named Charles Paddock, back in 1920, who went to a track coach one day and said: "I want to be an Olympic champion. I want to be the world's fastest sprinter."

Well, Charlie, the coach told him, "you can if you think you can. But more than that you will have to work, discipline yourself, live a clean life and put your faith in God. The secret of becoming a great sprinter is to develop your legs until they are like pistons. To get this kind of strength in your legs, you have to have it in your heart and in your mind. And when you get it, then you can pull up your knees until they hit your chest and drive like a locomotive on a railroad."

Charlie Paddock did go on to become an Olympic champion and the world's fastest sprinter. I once watched him and I never saw legs move faster in my life. It seemed sometimes that he almost flew through the air.

His fame brought him many speaking invitations. Once, before a group of young people he spoke about what you can do with yourself through struggling and hard work. Then he looked about him and said,

"Somewhere in this room maybe there is another Olympic champion, but if not in sports, at least in life. It's more important to be a champ in living."

After the speech, a shy little spindly Negro boy came up and announced: "Mr. Paddock, you've done something to me. I would like to be an Olympic champion." Paddock put his hand on the lad's shoulder and told him: "Son, you can if you think you can. Then to that you must add real hard work. Give it all you've got and discipline yourself. And have a lot of faith in God."

And eventually the time came when that boy, whose name was Jesse Owens, won four Olympic championships. And he was asked to make many speeches. Remembering the inspiration he had received from Charlie Paddock, he told one audience of youngsters: "Somewhere in this room I am sure there is another Olympic champion, if not in sports, at least in life."

And, afterwards, a skinny little Negro boy came up to him, shook hands and told him exactly what he himself had told Charlie Paddock many years before. And Owens said, "You can if you think you can—if you are willing to struggle, work and believe."

Harrison "Bones" Dillard went on to break Jesse Owens' Olympic record. Each of these great athletes struggled to achieve their successes and the happiness that came to them. And, of course, all of us must struggle. If we wish to achieve real happiness, struggle isn't destructive—it's constructive—and it makes success and happiness all the sweeter.

Careful In Preparation And Calculation

Editor's note: This is the last of a three-column profile of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, looking toward the 1960 Presidential election.

NEW YORK—Beneath the surface of this monstrous city, with its fantastic contrasts of wealth and degrading poverty, there is today a yeasty discontent which even the casual passerby can discern. Nothing seems to get done about juvenile crime, the spreading stain of the slums and the streets choked with traffic, and a bitter and cynical conviction of graft permeates the public mind.

One evidence of the discontent was the rejection of a $500,000 bond issue for badly needed schools. Why give 'em more money to get fat on—this was the angry reaction of many citizens. In a huff over the defeat of a project he had supported in his own belated and ineffectual fashion Mayor Robert F. Wagner went off to California on a trip which had been billed as a sortie in the interest of his vice presidential candidacy. That candidacy seems at the moment scarcely visible.

HISTORY RECYCLING?

As the criticism mounts both from the left and the right—"The Shame of New York" is the way the liberal magazine, The Nation, put it in devoting a whole issue to graft, corruption, rackets and misgovernment—the city becomes a political phenomenon for 1960 of the first importance. Once upon a time another governor, named Franklin Roosevelt, sat in the State House in Albany as scandals festered in the city and he began to emerge as the champion of rights and justice.

Those who are beginning to point to an analogy between Roosevelt and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller are not slow to note similarities in the situation today. Rockefeller is more fortunate than Roosevelt was, in that he is a Republican who need feel no qualms about moving against a Democratic mayor bearing the stamp of Tammany Hall and Boss Carmine DeSapio.

With the mixture of shrewd political calculation and sincere desire for good government that is part of his ambition, the governor has a clear, cold view of what this opportunity means. In fact, the shot is already in his locker ready to be fired next February or March.

LITTLE HOOVER COMMISSION

Last May Rockefeller announced the appointments to a seven-member group with the police-sounding name of Temporary State Commission on Governmental Operations of the City of New York. Known as the Little Hoover Commission for the city, it was created by the legislature which empowered the governor to name three of the members of the commission, the other four to be chosen by leaders of the State Senate and Assembly.

The commission will properly go into all the hideous malformation of the structure of government that tries to maintain a semblance of civilized order in this vast human ant heap. But it is almost certain at the same time—and here are the sensational headlines that will resound across the nation—come up with evidence of graft in alliance with crime of a shocking nature.

Chairman of the commission is Otis L. Nelson Jr., selected by Rockefeller. Nelson, vice president in charge of housing of the New York Life Insurance Company, is one of the numerous businessmen with an interest in government whom Rockefeller has enlisted in a variety of commissions assigned to come up with prescriptions for improved government.

Already Nelson's role is being compared to that of Samuel Seabury in 1839. As the head of a similar commission Seabury conducted a courageous investigation into the city's scandals and thereby paved the way for the reform administration of Mayor Fierro LaGuardia. Incidentally, too, he advanced the candidacy of the aristocrat in politics, Roosevelt, who had been elected governor largely through his own popular appeal.

THOROUGH PREPARATION

One does not have to talk with Rockefeller or those in his organization for long before realizing the great amount of thorough preparation that precedes every step he takes. It is characteristic of the man and the background from which he comes; a conditioning in which every move is thought out in advance with extreme care, since so much money and prestige is at stake.

To say that Nelson Rockefeller looks to 1960 with confident assurance would be wrong. He is far too careful and calculating for that. But to say that he is ready to make use of the opportunity that offers itself in a presidential year would be correct.

Last May Rockefeller announced the appointments to a seven-member group

JOE HEDLESTON

HAPPY BIRTHDAY... TO US... AND YOU HAVE MADE IT SO...

Back in November, 1919, this firm was established and we are mighty proud of these 40 years of pleasant relations with the people of Big Spring and the surrounding area. Forty years of tireless efforts, with a good old fashioned policy of honesty and sincerity, and the combination of quality products and fair prices, were all excellent attributes for the creation of the successful business we have today.

We feel this is a wonderful opportunity to extend our warmest thanks to all our friends and customers for their loyalty and patronage.

They say life begins at forty, and with this thought in mind, we have just completed a remodeling project in our store. New fixtures have been added, and we have re-arranged our shopping area so that you can more conveniently shop leisurely by serving yourself. We have more room for more merchandise, so we want you to help us celebrate. Tomorrow, Monday, November 16, we will be giving valuable door prizes throughout the day. You may register all through the week for special grand prizes to be given on Saturday, November 21.

To show our appreciation for your business, we are offering many special bargains through the week. Christmas is close at hand, and you will find many gift items on display. Shop now for Christmas and put your purchases on lay-away.

OUR PRESCRIPTION DEPARTMENT is the most important part of our business, and during the past forty years we have filled over a half million prescriptions (not counting refills). That means we have been trusted by you and your Doctor over 500,000 times. We appreciate this confidence very much, and we will continue to strive to merit your trust in us.

WITH MARY SHERMAN BUBBLING BATH OIL

Today, with the mad pace of modern living, it is more important than ever for women to take a few minutes every day to completely RELAX—and what better way than in a warm, fragrant, feminine Mary Sherman Bubbling Bath. When running your bath, place a tablespoon of this highly concentrated Bubbling Bath Oil under the tap; turn the water on full force and watch the bubbles multiply to fill the tub and air with their delicate but pervading scent! When you step in your beauty bath, you are immediately bathed in fragrance! Tired nerves are relaxed, muscles are soothed, strained facial lines disappear—you emerge from your Bubble Bath refreshed and invigorated! You actually feel younger because the soothing oils tend to rejuvenate your skin, to make you look younger too. You'll delight in using Mary Sherman Bubbling Bath Oil because the bubbles do not disappear before you can enjoy them. They last through your entire bath for that luxurious feeling. There are four "Jewels of Fragrance" from which to choose:

Peridot—the magic allure of dew-drenched gardenias to weave a spell of enchantment around you.
Zircon—the delicate heavenly blend of floral fragrances.
Garnet—this sugar and spice combination is captivating and exhilarating.
Turquoise—a tangy, bracing scent of pine woods to refresh and relax you.

And now the crowning joy of using Mary Sherman Bubbling Bath Oil—it prevents any ring from remaining in the bath tub. A champagne lilt at a budget price: 8 oz. $1.25 16 oz. $2.50 32 oz. $2.75

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Railroad Problems, Courts And Judges, Cats And Drama

To The Editor:

The public is being subjected to an expensive campaign of propaganda designed to prejudice public officials, potential arbitrators and members of emergency boards against any movement for any improved wage and working conditions for railroad train service employees.

Big business interests in railroads have used every means in an effort to belittle and destroy public respect for men and women who have helped build railroads through their labor. Railroad management has poured millions of dollars into Madison Avenue advertising agencies to do an all hatchet job and heap upon faithful workers the epithet of "featherbedding." As a result the Railroad Association has enjoyed a virtual monopoly in the publicity field.

The American people need to know that this figure of $500,000,000 which railroad management claims is paid out for "featherbedding" each year is completely unverified and unsubstantiated by figures of any sort. It is simply a figure picked out of the air. Challenged repeatedly to enumerate the list of "featherbedded" costs, the railroads have persistently refused. And if all this were cut out, you wouldn't get one penny off your freight or passenger rates.

During the last three years railroads have drastically cut the working force—by almost a quarter of a million people. The work force of 800,000 is a million less than 10 years ago. Even so, more freight is being hauled more ton miles today than ever before. It's no wonder that railroad workers have the highest productivity record of any group of industrial workers. But for the first four months of 1958 railroads were earning at the rate of one billion dollars net profits a year. Except for a small 13 cents per hour cost of living index increase, there has been no change in railroad wages in years.

Management propaganda has made much of certain work rules, claiming a man gets 95 cents for coupling two air hoses. That's half the story—the other half is that by so doing he saves the company the cost of a carman; moreover he gets no more if he has to couple 200 hoses in a day's time.

Trainmen are pictured as having soft jobs. Actually, they sometimes work as long as 14 hours without any overtime, for pay is based on per mile travel just as the railroad gets its pay. Besides, trainmen may have to sit around all day awaiting a call (all without pay), then be away from home for a full day (all at their own expense) until a call comes for a return trip. Nor do workers get sick leave.

Not only is the work inconvenient, but it is increasingly hazardous. As the railroad work force has been pulled down, the rate of casualties to train service employees has climbed. While volume of rail traffic has been fairly static, train service casualties have grown 60 per cent in little more than a decade. Since "push button" railroading came in, the rate of casualties has risen 29 per cent alone—and these figures are from the ICC. Who then can say that a fireman—who is the engineer's extra pair of eyes, the man responsible for mechanical efficiency of the units, who keeps a safe watch on the train side other than the engineers—is a "featherbedder"? Engineers cannot live forever—and where but from the ranks of firemen do the replacements come?

All the Brotherhoods ask is that the railroads enter into the November collective bargaining sessions in a spirit of good will with a determination to work out agreements that will best serve working employees and management as well. I hope that the public will not be blinded by a smoke screen of unsubstantiated claims and cheap name calling.

Sincerely,
Walter Schattel

I have been informed through the Herald that Dist. Judge Sullivan has tendered his resignation as district judge effective Jan. 1. Since we all know that Judge Sullivan did go against the will of his people and ushered in social integration, I do not feel that the judge has any praise coming. And in appraising the abominable U. S. Court it is my opinion that this Court had no right or authority to operate our schools federally. In other words, this judge should not have gone against the will of his people in order to do the will of a bunch of screwballs who term themselves the law of the land.

I thank you

Parkers Pay Off Tickets

The police department collected almost as many parking tickets as were issued during October.

There were 1,348 overtime parkers receiving citations and 1,139 paid them. Carolyn Lamb, traffic division secretary, mailed out 822 notices.

The radar unit worked 14 1/2 hours during the month. There were 391 traffic violation tickets issued.

The department checked out 86 accidents during the month, 14 of them resulting in injuries.

tainment critic, Bob Smith, on his splendid article, "Kind words for the Kitties," and his equally true summation of the college players performance of "Manana Is Another Day." Whoever the lady was who attacked the article spoke without complete understanding of the situation.

Sure the kids worked on it but the direction was inadequate. To we, the people, the press owes the truth and not a lot of false build-up for a big letdown. Honesty is still the best policy.

When it comes to an evaluation of a performance however large or small, the public wants to see the truth. Is Big Spring any different from any other city of fair size that just because the cultural development is slow that we must accept anything just because it is an effort? Any person can pick up a newspaper or magazine from another city and see that sometimes the reviews are good and sometimes critical. I have noticed that the Herald is very often used to lure the people to these places of amusement. If the paper must be used as a medium of advertising must we become alarmed when those who feed on their publicity reap their just due?

5-Year Term For Labor Bombing

DALLAS (AP)—James Everett McLane, 24, Friday was assessed a 5-year prison term in a labor bombing here last July 13.

McLane was the fourth defendant to receive a prison term for tossing a homemade gasoline bomb on the driveway of a non-striking employe of Security Engineering Division of Dresser Industries.
