Old Vet's Birthday

Walter W. Williams has a smile as he prepares to celebrate his 117th birthday at Houston, where the lone survivor of the Civil War lives with a daughter. The old vet began his day at 5:00 a.m. by breakfasting on coffee and eggs. A birthday cake is beside his bed.

UF Campaign Faces Crisis, Leaders Say

Appeals directed particularly to employe and metropolitan division givers went out from United Fund Headquarters on Monday. With the UF campaign heading down the homestretch and the totals nearly 20 per cent off the pace, these two areas offered the greatest hope of yet meeting the campaign goal, said Horace Garrett, campaign director. Meanwhile, preparations were made for a meeting of division leaderships and workers at 5 p.m. today in the Settles ballroom. United Fund leaders made it plain that much hope of pulling the effort out of the fire would depend upon the response to today's meeting.

2 Children Killed In Seguin Blaze

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP)—Two Seguin children burned to death Sunday when the bottom fell out of a gallon jug of gasoline one of the children had brought into the family residence.

The gasoline spread and was set aflame by two kerosene heaters that were going in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toms.

Toms and five other children barely escaped. The victims were Ronnie Toms, 8, and Staffed Toms, 1.

Fire Marshal R. H. Schulz said Fred Toms Jr., 7, had been sent to a filling station to get a gallon of gas to put in the family car. They brought the glass gallon jug into the house and set it down. Schulz said when the father went to pick up the jug to take it and put the gas in his car, the bottom of the jug fell out and the room burst into flame.

The larger firms and the larger employe groups have responded generously to appeals, said Garrett. However, response among the smaller firms and the smaller employe group divisions has been lagging.

Thus, while the big gifts and special gifts divisions have neared their quota, the employe gifts and the metropolitan (smaller businesses) gifts have not come up anywhere proportionally. Unless they do, the campaign is in a bad way and it looks as if the 12 agencies depending on the United Fund for their support will be in serious financial trouble during 1960.

Efforts will be made to reconstruct the drive this week and enlist the aid of every volunteer in the community to carry the urgent appeal to those yet uncontacted or who may not have given on the initial contact. Agency representatives are making radio appeals for help this week, and Garrett will be on the Bruce Frazier program at 6 p.m. today to make an earnest plea for help.

Airliner Crashes In Gulf; Little Hope For 42 Aboard

TEXAS DUE FREEZE

New Arctic Storm Grips Central U. S.

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A new arctic storm swept out of Canada into Montana Sunday and today had most of the Rocky Mountains and Northern Great Plains in its grip.

Temperatures today dropped as low as 37 degrees below zero. Snow driven by winds up to 60 m.p.h. in parts of Kansas, the Dakotas and Montana Sunday reduced visibility to near zero in some localities.

The Weather Bureau predicted the coldest weather of the season will strike Texas by Tuesday.

The front of the cold wave dropped temperatures spectacularly in the upper Panhandle as it moved through Monday morning.

By Tuesday, the Weather Bureau said, temperatures will drop as low as zero in the upper Panhandle and 10 to 20 degrees elsewhere in North Texas.

Lows of 15 degrees for the northern portion of North Central Texas were predicted, 20 in North-east Texas, 25 in South Central Texas, 15 in the upper Pecos Valley and 20 elsewhere in Southwest Texas.

Only showers forecast were for East Texas.

Winds died down during the night, and limited visibility was reported today at only scattered sections in western Nebraska and northwestern Iowa.

Low temperatures included 37 below zero at Helena and -32 at Butte, both in western Montana. Billings, in the east, had 13 below.

Sheridan and Cody, both in northern Wyoming, had 23 below zero. Akron, Colo., near the Kansas line, had two below.

The snow forecasts were posted for most of the Rockies and the Midwest, with sharp drops in temperature and snow in store for more than dozen states.

The cold weather was expected to invade most areas from eastern Wyoming and Colorado, north-west New Mexico, northwest Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and northwest Illinois.

Below zero readings were predicted for northern states, along with strong northerly winds and snow.

At Scottsbluff, Neb., the temperature dropped from a Sunday afternoon high of 64 to zero by midnight. The temperature in Denver fell 29 degrees in one hour Sunday night.

Helena, Montana capital that took the brunt of a record storm last midweek, reported a 20-inch snow depth with about six inches of new snow.

The new storm dropped two to six inches of new snow over Montana, but all main highways remained open. Air travel was halted, but trains and buses managed to keep near schedule.

In western Montana, authorities were looking for two missing hunters, Fred Miller and Joe Kent of Hamilton, Mont. Officers said they apparently became lost Sunday while hunting with three other men. Snow in the area is 14-16 inches deep.

The snow broke an Idaho Power Co. transmission line between Bannock and Salmon in central Idaho near the Montana-Idaho border. Bannock was without power for more than 10 hours.

No Survivors Seen In Wreck

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A National Airlines search pilot spotted the wreckage of a four-engine passenger plane in the Gulf of Mexico today, leaving little hopes for the 36 passengers and a crew of six.

The Miami-to-New Orleans airliner lost contact with radio points shortly after midnight.

The crash was the second involving a National Airlines plane in six years. Another plane crashed in the Gulf in 1953, taking 48 lives.

Capt. Charles H. Ruby, chief pilot for National, spotted the plane's wreckage about 108 miles east-southeast of New Orleans. His radio report said there was no sign of survivors.

The Coast Guard's earlier report said its planes had spotted an oil slick and life raft, but no survivors.

The plane, National Flight 967, vanished in a fog that enveloped the area so quickly that Moisant International Airport at New Orleans had to amend its midnight forecast. The plane was already overdue at fog-shrouded Moisant when the amended forecast came out.

The plane was about a half-hour out of Moisant when it dropped off the radar screen that had been tracking it. The aircraft was flying at 14,000 feet over the 450-mile overwater route from Miami.

A radar station at Dauphin Island, just south of Mobile, Ala., said it was watching the plane on its screen "when it just dropped off."

The plane carried standard escape equipment for over-water flight, including inflatable life jackets for each crewman and passenger.

The plane stopped at Tampa, Fla., after leaving Miami and picked up 10 more passengers.

The crash today and the one in 1953 had some striking parallels. The planes were on the same run, the weather conditions were about the same and both carried approximately the same passenger load.

The 1953 crash resulted in a rash of law suits, one of which was settled only last week by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court denied a National Airlines petition for a review of an order awarding $250,000 to Mrs. Beryl Whitman Stiles, widow of one of the victims.

The Coast Guard ordered an all-out search, including a specially equipped 95-foot search and rescue vessel. Teams of doctors and full medical equipment were readied and private vessels joined the hunt.

The government charged that about five weeks before the Aug. 1 primary, the committee adopted a resolution excluding Negroes from the primary and on election day placed a notice on each ballot box barring Negroes.

According to the suit, the notice said: "Only White Democrats are authorized to vote in this primary."

"If any Negroes should ask to vote in your district, they are to be informed that this is a white Democratic primary and not a general election."

The complaint said that as a result, several Negroes who tried to vote were turned away by election officials.

U.S. Files Suit To Challenge White Primary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today filed suit at Memphis, Tenn., challenging the validity of a "white primary" conducted last Aug. 1 in Fayette County, Tenn.

The action, brought against the Democratic Executive Committee of Fayette County under the Civil Rights Act of 1957, was the first court action dealing with alleged racial discrimination in an election.

Three previous cases filed to preserve Negro voting rights concerned alleged discrimination in voting registrations.

The Memphis suit asked for an injunction to prohibit the Fayette County Democratic organization from preventing Negro participation in primary elections for local office.

The complaint alleged that Democratic nominations in Fayette County are tantamount to election. No other party has offered a candidate for local office in Fayette County since reconstruction days.

The suit said the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee, composed of representatives of the 15 voting districts in Fayette County, are responsible for calling and conducting local primaries, including designating the election officials.

The government charged that about five weeks before the Aug. 1 primary, the committee adopted a resolution excluding Negroes from the primary and on election day placed a notice on each ballot box barring Negroes.

According to the suit, the notice said: "Only White Democrats are authorized to vote in this primary."

"If any Negroes should ask to vote in your district, they are to be informed that this is a white Democratic primary and not a general election."

The complaint said that as a result, several Negroes who tried to vote were turned away by election officials.

City Policeman Shot In Knee; Assailant Charged

Two Latin Americans faced assault charges this morning, one as the result of a running gun battle in the north side flats early Sunday.

Police Patrolman Jack Hackney was wounded in the leg in a scrape with Jose Mendez. The Latin American was charged with assault with intent to murder in Justice Jess Slaughter's court.

No bond has been set. Hackney's condition was considered good. He was struck by a .22 calibre bullet in the kneecap. He was taken to Malone and Hogan Hospital where X-rays were made this morning.

The incident occurred about 12:30 a.m. Sunday. Hackney and David Mote were investigating an altercation behind the El Rancho Cafe, 309 NW 4th. Hackney said Mendez was attacking Margarita Juarez, a bracer.

Mendez fled when he sighted the officers, firing the pistol, as he ran. One of the shots struck Hackney.

The officers returned the fire, but did not hit the fleeing man. Mote and Hackney gave chase and, with the aid of two cab drivers, captured Mendez behind Alexander's Grocery, about a block away.

Juarez was taken to Cowper Hospital and treated for bruises and scratches.

Slaughter set bond at $500 for Leando Juarez as the result of a north side cutting incident early Sunday. He is charged with aggravated assault.

Ralph Trevino was treated at Cowper Hospital for a stab wound on the hand. His condition is not considered serious.

Juarez was released from county jail after posting bond.

Webb Employe Is Killed In Car-Truck Crash Early Today

Ellis Hollins, 40, Webb employe, was killed instantly at 12:30 a.m. today when his 1959 Pontiac plowed under the rear of an empty cattle truck. The accident occurred on U. S. 80, five miles east of Stanton, according to Bobby Papanas, highway patrolman.

The officer said that Hollins, alone in his vehicle, was traveling east on the highway. Two cattle trucks, also empty, were also moving east.

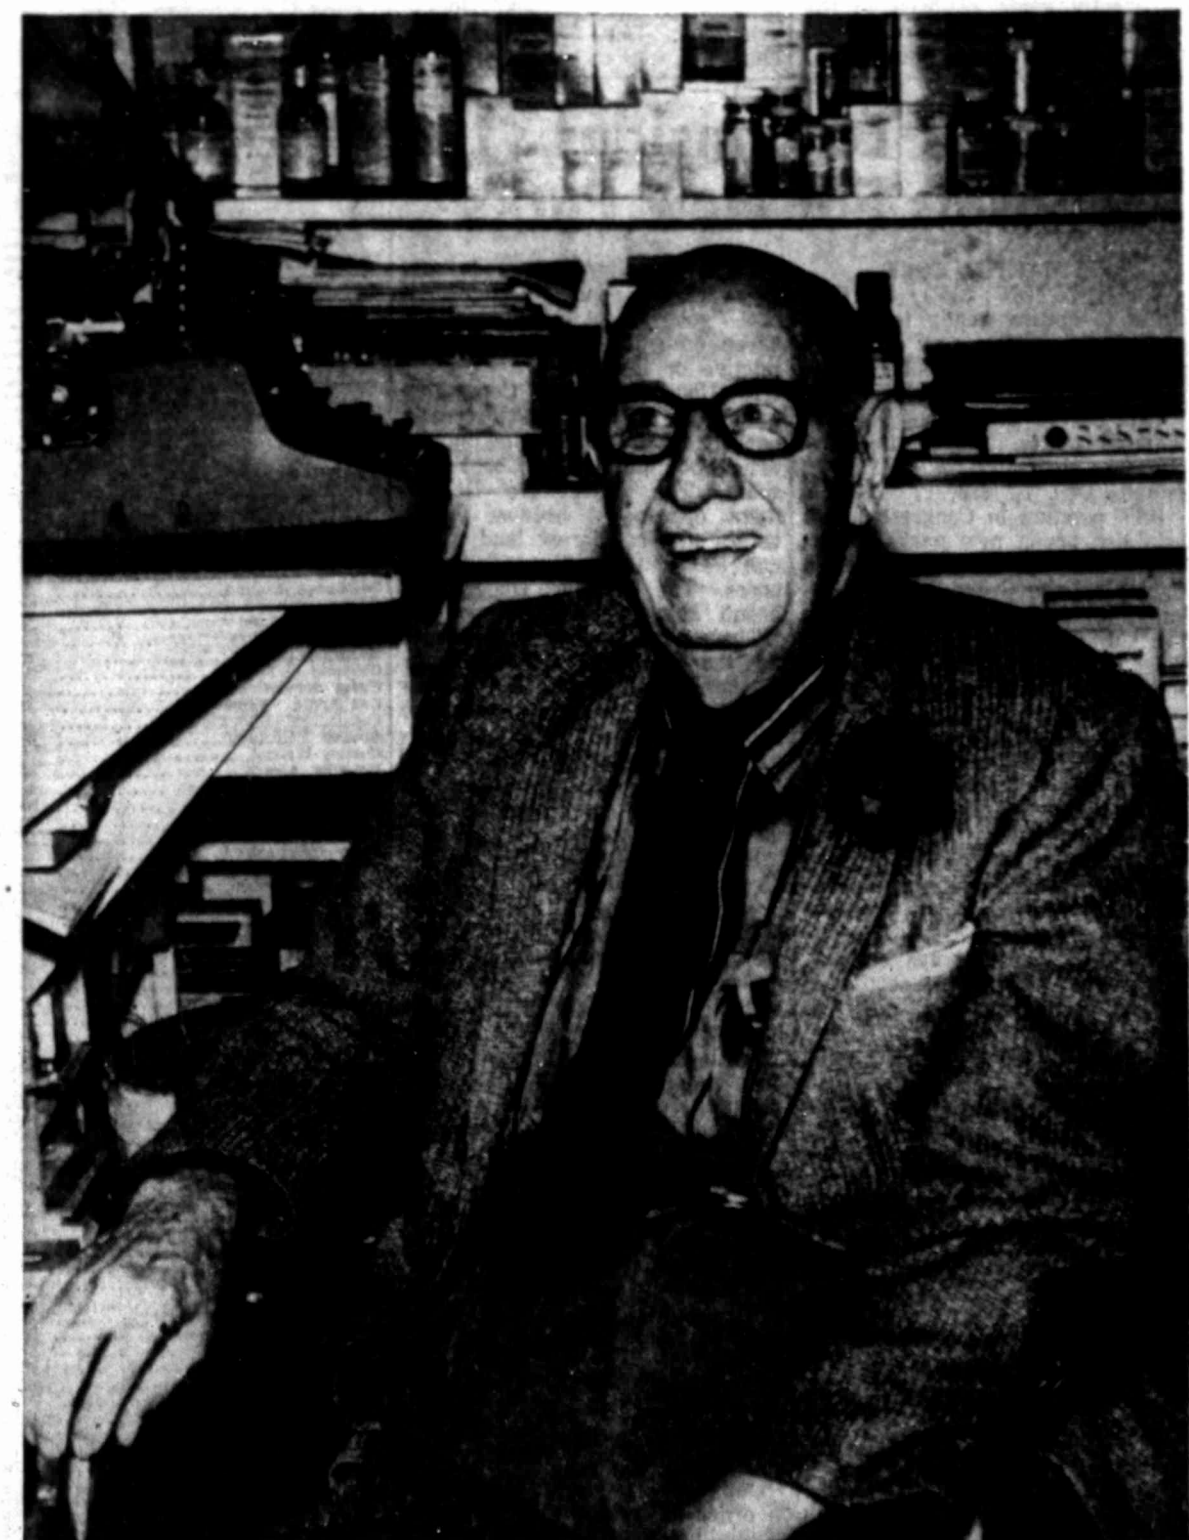

Driver of the front truck, Papanas said, decided to go back to Stanton, and signalled his intention. The car, in which Hollins was riding, was too close to the truck to stop and rammed under the rear of the big trailer.

Papanas said the impact was enough to trip the tractors from the trailer and wreck the truck. The Pontiac was destroyed.

Hollins body was removed from the wreckage and taken to Arrington Funeral Home, Stanton.

Papanas said the drivers of the two cattle trucks were from Fort Worth but their names were not immediately available. The trucker was not injured in the wreck.

Hollins lived at 701 Wyoming. His body was transferred from Arrington Funeral Home to River Funeral Home in Big Spring Monday morning.

Smiling Shine Philips Here For Anniversary

Cunningham & Philips Drug Store, landmark in Big Spring, for many years, is celebrating its 40th anniversary this week. Shine Philips, one of Big Spring's best known and best liked citizens, is on hand for the big occasion. Philips, who has been inactive for some time due to a stroke, came to Big Spring from a hospital in San Angelo where he is now spending his time, for the celebration. He was at the store, greeting old friends and receiving congratulations from admirers. The celebration of the store's 40th anniversary extends through this entire week.

Police Probe Diamond Death

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Police today combed North America's only diamond field for clues in the murder of a mine operator.

Ellis E. Fagan, 58, was found shot once in the head early Sunday, lying on a bed in a shack on the Martin mine, which adjoins the Crater of Diamonds.

The two mines are part of a diamond-producing field that has yielded several valuable stones.

Police could find no motive for the murder. Deputy Sheriff Charles Holder said the killer placed the death weapon, a pistol, in Fagan's left hand after the shooting.

This was determined because Fagan's right hand had been creased by the bullet that killed him. He could not use his left hand because of arthritis. The gun had been fired once.

Holder said Charles G. Bard, 27, of New York, who had been in the area for about 13 days searching for diamonds, was arrested for questioning.

Fagan's job was selling $1.50 shares in the Martin mine to tourists, who then were allowed to search for diamonds on the mine site. The Crater of Diamonds operates in much the same manner. Commercial mining of the area proved unsuccessful.

Preaches Sermon After Wife's Death

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Church of Christ preacher delivered his regular sermon Sunday less than two hours after his wife died.

"There was nothing else I could do for Dottie. It just seemed the best thing to do," he said.

Mack Wayne Craig had been called from Sunday School when Mrs. Craig, 35, took a turn for the worse in her long fight with cancer. When he got home, she was dead.

An elder had been asked to preach in his place, but Craig's two sons, 11 and 7, and daughter, 3, were in the congregation. He returned to the church and asked to preach as usual and that no announcement be made of his wife's death until he had left with the children after the service.

Safe, Now?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Food and Drug Administration said today the testing of cranberries has now reached the point "where it is indicated the incidence of contamination is quite low."

Texans Aboard Lost Airliner

DALLAS (AP)—Several persons from Texas were aboard the National Airlines plane down in the Gulf of Mexico.

One Dallasite is H. W. Bumpas, a partner in a Louisiana boat building concern. His wife, Martha Bumpas, is well known in Dallas as a stage and television personality, particularly with the Margo Jones Theater.

Another is Fred Oberthier, about 32, president of the Bonnie Maid Children's wear of Dallas.

Also aboard was Stanley Mikus, 35, Houston, an employe of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. who was returning from a Jamaica vacation.

The passenger list carried the name of Fred Noel of 2630 34th St., Port Arthur.

4 Members Of Kansas Farm Family Found Tied, Murdered

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP)—In a farm home far off the beaten path of this vast wheat area four members of a respected, well-to-do family were murdered over the weekend.

Herbert Clutter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, their daughter, Nancy Mae, 16, and son Kenyon, 15, were bound hand and foot and gagged. All were shot in the head. Clutter's throat was slashed.

The victims were slain by a shotgun. Neither the gun nor the weapon with which Clutter's throat was cut have been found.

Nothing in the house was in disarray. No valuables appeared to be missing. Money which Nancy had placed in an envelope for church lay on her bedroom dresser beside a diamond ring.

The coroner, Dr. Robert Fenton, said Mrs. Clutter, and Nancy apparently were not molested sexually. He placed the time of death between 11 p. m. Saturday and 2 a. m. Sunday.

The Clutters gave a ride each Sunday to two of Nancy's school mates. The girls, Mary Ewalt and Susan Kidwell, stumbled on the killings when they were driven to the Clutter home.

Clutter was a founder of the Kansas Assn. of Wheat Growers. He was a past president of the National Wheat Growers Assn., president of the Garden City Equity Exchange, a director of the Consumer's Cooperative. President Eisenhower appointed him in 1954 to the Federal Farm Credit Board. Clutter declined reappointment two years later.

Nancy and Kenyon attended high school in Holcomb, a village of 270 population a mile from their home. Both were honor students. Nancy last week won the school's good citizenship award.

The family apparently had been ready to retire when they were attacked. All except Kenyon were in pajamas. The boy wore blue jeans and a white T-shirt.

The bodies of Mrs. Clutter and Nancy were in separate bedrooms. Clutter and Kenyon were found in the basement.

The home, seven miles west of Garden City, is nearly a mile away from any through road. The only persons living close by are the family of Alford Stocklein, who has worked 11 years as a farm hand for the Clutters.

Stocklein said he saw the Clutters early Saturday evening, before he and his wife and three children went out. They returned about 9:30 p. m. They heard no disturbance.

A classmate of Nancy's, Bob Rupp, said he left the Clutter home at 10:30.

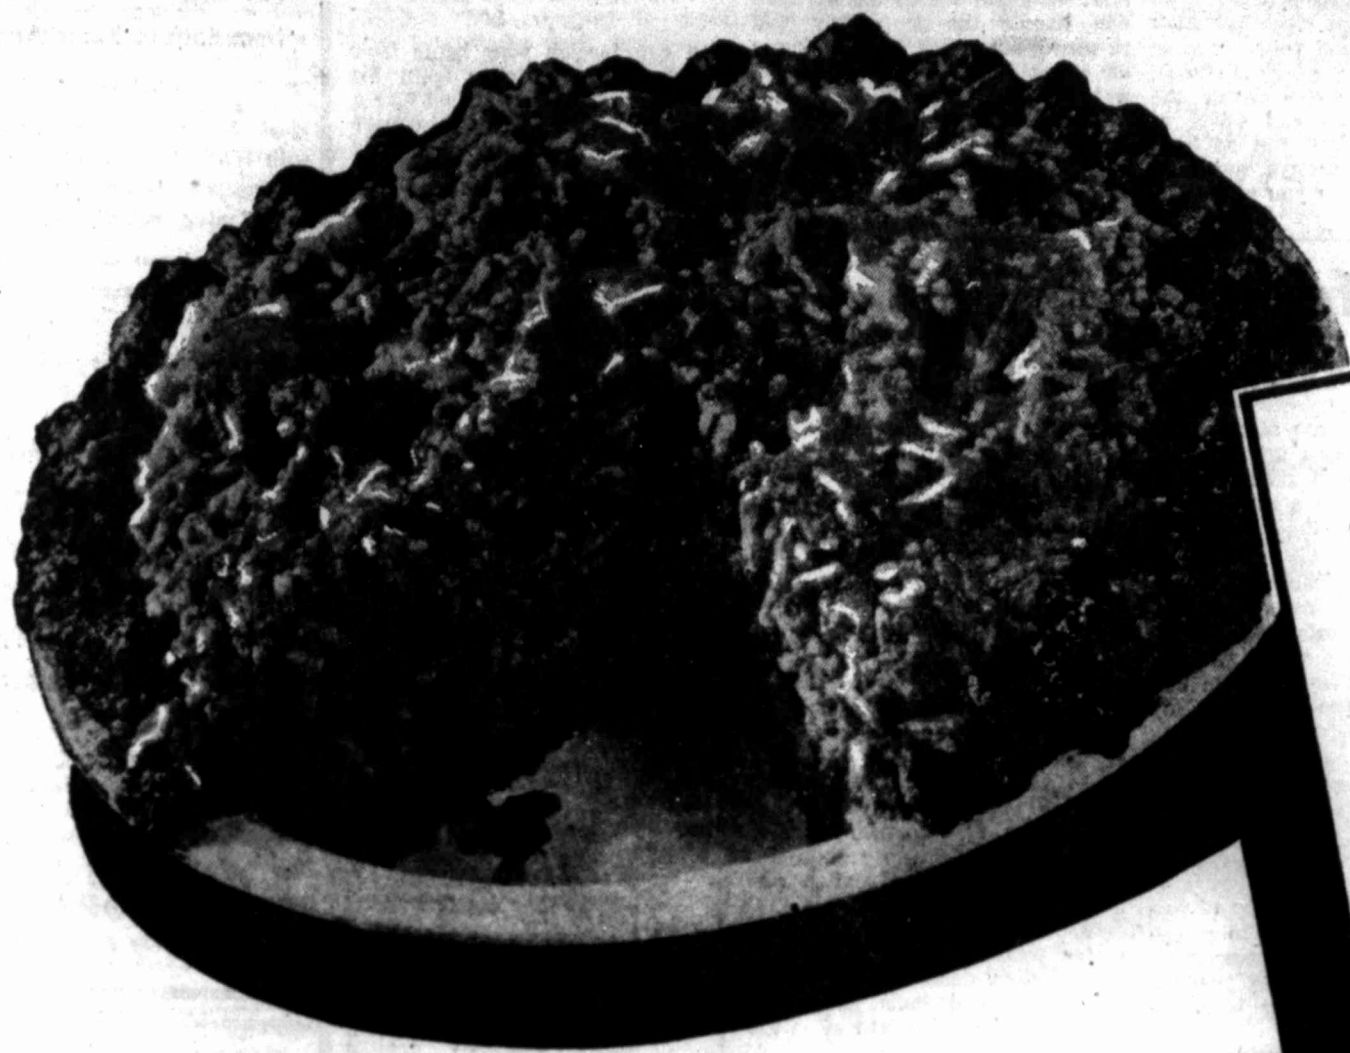

The Clutters had two other daughters—Mrs. Donald Jarchow, 23, of Mount Carroll, Ill., and Beverly Clutter, 20, a student nurse at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, Kan.

New! Country Pie ... beef makes the crust!

Country Pie CRUST

1/2 8-oz. can Hunt's Tomato Sauce
 1/2 c. bread crumbs
 1 lb. ground beef
 1/2 c. chopped onion 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 c. chopped green pepper
 1/2 tsp. pepper
 1/2 tsp. oregano

Combine ingredients and mix well. Put mixture into bottom and pinch 1" flutings around edges of greased 9" pie plate. Set aside.

FILLING

DEAR ABBY

SMOOTH MENU

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That letter from "Honey" sure burned me up. May I answer her?
Dear Honey:
Yes, I am the boss' wife who leaves her husband alone all summer. Our boy has hay fever and asthma so bad I have no choice. If my husband claims he has to scramble an egg for his supper every night, he is looking for sympathy. Before I leave, I fill my freezer with delicious home-cooked meals. And I have to work months in advance to do it.
If you tell hard for my husband that's your tough luck. You say you could steal him if you wanted to? Hah! Over my dead body!
SAUL'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I want to thank "Honey" for writing that letter, and you, Dear Abby, for selecting it to publish.

I am the "boss' wife" who was foolish enough to leave her wonderful husband for two months every summer. Believe me, Abby, I have read that letter from Honey a dozen times, and I have promised myself that I will never leave my husband alone again. Thank you, thank you, thank you!
HARRIET

DEAR ABBY: "Honey" must have wax in her beehive. When a married man asks a single girl to have dinner with him, she should expect the following menu:
Cocktails: a few martinis — just to "relax," us.
Appetizer: "My wife doesn't understand me."
First Course: "I haven't had any REAL affection in years."
Second Course: "If it weren't for the children, I'd have left my wife years ago."
Third Course: "YOU understand me perfectly. If I were a free man, I'd marry you tomorrow."
Dessert: "It's so noisy and smoky in this place. Let's get out of here and go to my place where it's quiet so we can talk."
"BEEN THERE"

DEAR ABBY: Since you saw fit to print "Honey's" letter to me, I hope you will be fair enough to print my letter to "Honey":
Dear Honey:
I'm glad you had brains enough to quit your job before you became seriously involved with my husband. What do you want? A medal? You admitted to saying yes to a dinner date. And you admitted saying yes to a few other suggestions.

An unmarried woman who accepts a date with a married man, and doesn't know what he is after, has no business being out alone after dark. Don't fool yourself that you could have taken my husband away from me. He was just having his fun. I know that he is no angel. But in my book — you're worse.
MARRIED FOR KEEPS

DEAR ABBY: Three unidentified friends clipped that letter signed "CALL ME HONEY" and mailed it to me. If that letter was written by my husband's secretary I would like to say this: My husband starts to beg me in January to take a month's vacation in July. HE is the one who is anxious for me to go. My friends and relatives tell me that he is always busy when they invite him to dinner. Now I know what he was so busy with. Thanks for the tip, Abby. I'd like to thank Honey, too. — STAYING HOME

DEAR ABBY: Please tell HONEY that she is a member of a very large sorority. Every year when I take my children away for the summer, my husband entertains himself with a new employee. He has tom-catted around all summer ever since I married him. (He does the same thing when I'm in town.) Honey was smart to quit her job. My husband gets tired of girls very fast. He would probably have fired her. — INEZ

LENSMEN CLAIM:

Trick Ad Shots Aren't Deceitful

By HAL McCLURE
NEW YORK (AP)—How much film magic goes into pictorial advertising?
Does that frothy stein of beer have real foam? Is the pretty girl actually taking a bubble bath? Are those lip-smacking cakes, juicy roasts and succulent turkeys the real thing?

The answer, say professional photographers, can depend on a lot of things—and for a lot of reasons.

Widespread interest in the topic has been an off-shoot development from the recent probe of TV quiz show methods. There is, of course, nothing unique about commercial photo methods on the airlines. Most of the techniques are as old as advertising in magazines, newspapers and catalogues, where they are standard practice.
Among the follow-up TV investigations is a check by New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan to determine if air ads are fraudulent. Congressional committee members have the subject on their agenda and the Federal Communications Commission includes ad methods on its new study of TV programming.

CURTAIN LIFTED
How do cameramen create their alluring scenes? How do they create the illusions of realism for pictorial displays in publications and television?

A visit with Manhattan photographers, photo schools and studio technicians lifts the curtain on some of the wizardry.
That frothy foam on beer could be whipped egg whites. A longer lasting head is created if warm beer is poured into a glass that has been lined with a thin coat of glycerine, melted butter or soap.
Milady in the bubble bath is wearing a bra and tights beneath the thick suds. Also unseen is the man who makes the bubbles with a hose connected to an air compressor.

Did you ever wonder why those cakes with the thick icing never seem to crumble when cut? The cake has been sliced beforehand, then recast with icing.
Those delicious roasts often have never been inside an oven. Only their ends have been seared over a studio hotplate.

POTATO ICE CREAM
The ice cream in the pretty picture may be mashed potatoes. The caramel candy may be a studio substitute colored with axle grease.

Are these tricks deceitful? No, reply the photographers. Then why use them?

"It's simple," says one producer of TV film commercials. "We only wish to show the TV viewer the sponsor's product in the same light he would see it in his own home."
This is not easy, the photos say. Food products sometimes need extra coloring or other aids under brilliant, hot studio lights. A lot of photo values are also lost in TV transmission.

"TV production is expensive," says another film executive. "We can't wait all day to cook a roast. We want to shoot as fast as possible."
Photographers have borrowed heavily from their Hollywood fellow workers, who pioneered in creating a real life world out of dried and processed photography.

FRESH DYED MEAT
Red dye is often used to make cuts of meat look fresh. One photographer uses silver paint to retouch fish. Shaving cream substitutes for whipped cream. Ice cubes are plastic. Tea substitutes for whiskey and other beverages.
Green peas look anemic when they come out of a can—at least for photographic purposes, and are retouched with glycerine.
Morris Germain, who operates a photographic school here, explains:
"Did you ever see a vegetable soup ad with a tuken chockful of meat and vegetables — sort of floating on top? The photographer has cut a piece of glass to fit the bowl. He strains out the soup broth and dumps the meat and vegetables on top of the glass. They would sink otherwise."
Fashion photography has its trade secrets, too. "If you could see the rear side of some of these girls in the photos," says a well-known lensman. "Clothespins are used to pull the gowns tight. The girls look like pincushions from behind."
"The other day I was making a picture of a girl in a lovely evening gown—at least half a lovely gown. The back half was — er — hmmm—completely missing."

Mort Sahl, 'Sick' Comedian, Diagnoses Hollywoodian Ills

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's a sick business."
This was Mort Sahl biting the hand that is feeding him. Sahl is noted for nibbling at everything in sight, having set the style for the new crop of iconoclastic comedians. Since he was making his second movie, I asked him to analyze the industry's ills.

"Actors can't produce pictures, but they're trying to," he said. "They are buying screen stories — largely Westerns and war pictures — that they would take suspensions for if they were under contract."
"The producers can't get a rage up at anything any more. They came out here 30 years ago and insulated themselves in the San Fernando Valley. Everything they do is on film—little bills and pieces far removed from what life really is. They have no contact with real, live audiences....
"Our government is worried about Fidel Castro's brother. I'm more worried about the relatives in the movie business."

"What would I do if I had two million dollars to make a picture? I'd do a story about today—not in costume and not on the moon but about the problems of America, such as the relationship of men and women and how they are competing for domination. And I would make it with actors who can act, not some tired, old star, a girl one third his age, and a bunch of TV actors in the background."
Angry? Well, I guess. But that's Sahl's stock in trade, and he's making a fine living with it. The latest purchaser of the Sahl talent is producer-director Hall Bartlett, for whom he is making "All the Young Men." True to form, Sahl expressed some dubiety about the project.
"One good thing about the movie business," he cited, "is that producers are willing to bring in personalities who have made names for themselves in other fields. This is true of record stars and night club performers, like myself.

"But when they do bring us in, they make us fit the same old pattern. I'm a comedian, so I can play nothing else but the leading man's best friend. It's true now with me, as it was 20 years ago with Phil Silvers."
As in his first film, "In Love and War," Sahl plays a Marine. Once again he has the privilege of writing his own dialogue. In the early epic he was a communications man who answered the phone with, "World War II."

Mamie Reported Worried On Trip

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Is Mamie Eisenhower somewhat concerned that the President's planned 20,000-mile trip next month may be too strenuous for her 69-year-old husband?

Two department store clerks who waited on her Friday reported that the President's wife said "I think it's too much for him. I don't think he should do it."
Eisenhower is here for some rest and relaxation in preparation for his 19-day trip to 11 nations on three continents. But a White House spokesman says the President's doctor reports Eisenhower has no symptoms of a cold which lingered for weeks after the President's August visit to Western Europe.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Tommy Ford, the fine halfback for the San Angelo Bobcats who counted five touchdowns against Big Spring as a sophomore, never scored another TD against the locals.

The crowd which braved the cold to witness the Big Spring-San Angelo engagement here Friday night was, no doubt, the smallest ever to see a local varsity contingent in Memorial Stadium.

The remarkable thing about the game, considering the weather, is that anyone showed up.

Andy Pilney, the Tulane University coach, and members of his team proclaimed following their game with Texas Tech that the Raiders' E. J. Holub was a better center than Georgia Tech's celebrated Max Baughan.

Baughan is being boosted for All-America honors in Dixie.

Two of the tri-captains on the Baylor University freshman football team are West Texans. They are Ronnie Goodwin, the miffy ball carrier from Odessa High, and Robert Burk of Andrews. The other co-captain is Carl Choate of Pasadena.

That stellar Eighth Grade football team at Runnels Junior High School here, which is going to supply some fine talent for the varsity Steers in two or three years, outscored the opposition the past season, 158-38.

Incidentally, Bobby Zellars, mentor of the Runnels Eighth Graders, coached most of the members of the Cisco team which won its district title, when they were in junior high.

One area college football coach who is in danger of losing his job after this season is a capable football man.

He has the tendencies of a hawkshaw, however, and likes to spy on the misdeeds of his players, with the result that he's never been very popular with any of his players. Most coaches operate under the theory that they catch their charges in enough mischief by chance, without going out of their way to look for it.

Otto Graham, the former pro football great, is experiencing his troubles as coach of the Coast Guard Academy team but there's no pressure on him.

"I want to be here all my life, just with my family," he was quoted as saying recently. The Coast Guard Academy strictly a small-time schedule.

Billie Clyburn, the former coach of the Big Spring High school girls' tennis team is now living in Clyde where she is employed as a classroom teacher. She no longer coaches.

There was a move afoot in the Pacific Coast Conference to end the restrictions exacted by the NCAA against Southern California and make the Trojans eligible for the Rose Bowl.

Only 21 teams are undefeated and untied in the state as the playoffs begin.

Abilene, Corpus Christi Ray, Nederland and San Marcos hold that distinction in the upper classes. Class AA has Floydada, Denver City, Stamford, Cisco, Olney, Azle, Belton, Freer, Palacios and Ed Couch-Elsa. In Class A they black tie, evening gown and dancing under the stars affairs at a motel in Phoenix. Prices for the charity affair are $25 for boxing, dinner, cocktails and dancing.

The nation gets in free on ABC-TV.

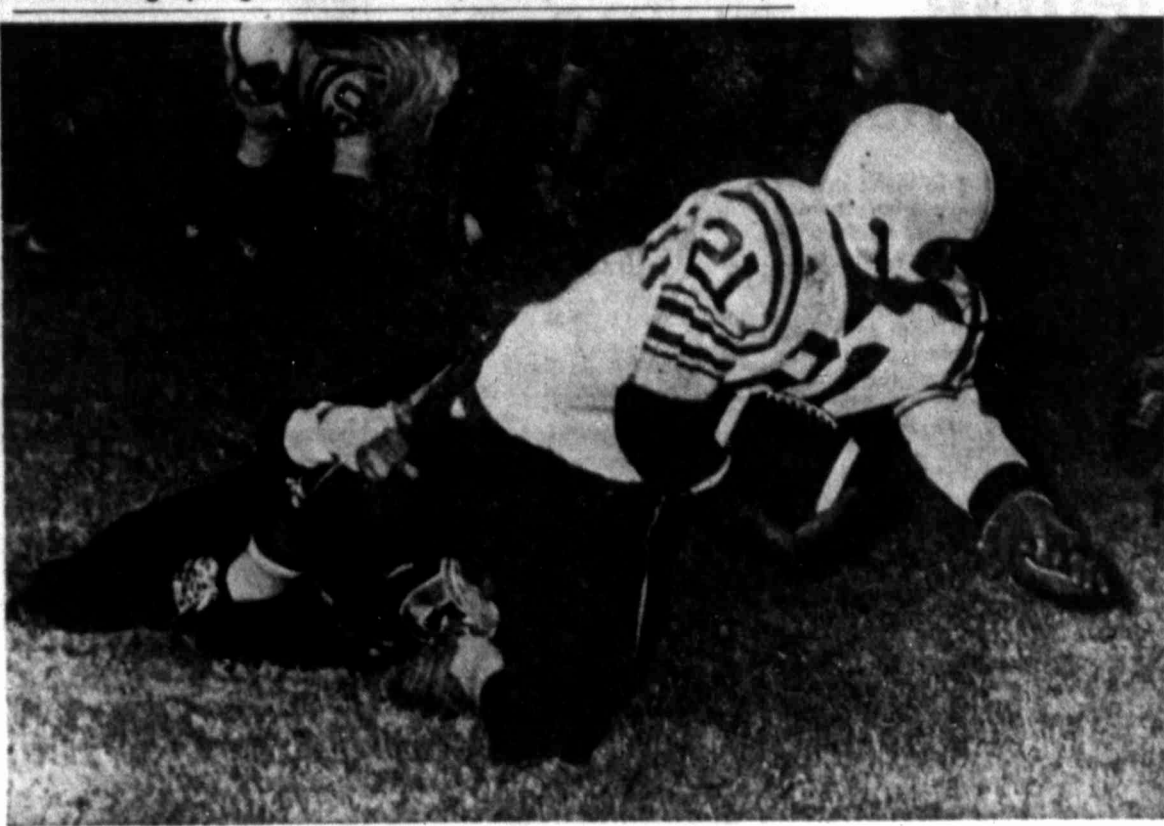

Cooper remained at home with the title he won by outpointing London last Jan. 12. He defended it in August against Gawie Deklerk. Tuesday he will give Erskine another chance. It was Erskine who was beaten by London in 1958 when Brian won the championship. Incidentally, both Cooper (1957) and Erskine (1958) were stopped by Johansson.

Quick now, who is the Canadian heavyweight champion? The name is George Chuvalo, a 22-year-old slugger from Toronto who was beaten by Pat McMurtry in his lone New York showing. Chuvalo won the Canadian crown last year by stopping James J. Parker in one round.

Yvon Durelle, the fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., is going after the title Tuesday night at Toronto.

The match is scheduled for 12 rounds at Maple Leaf Gardens. Says Durelle, "I won't go the limit. One of us will be on the floor and I'm pretty sure it won't be me."

For television viewers, heavyweights also will be the feature dish on the Wednesday series. Zora Folley, the ranking contender from Chandler, Ariz. will box young Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh at Phoenix, Ariz.

End Of The Line

Tommy Ford (21), San Angelo back, is upended after ripping off a short gain in the above picture, snapped during the Big Spring-San Angelo football game played here Friday night. Richard Atkins brought him to earth. San Angelo won the game, 21-0.

MITCHELL IS LEADER IN BROWNS' SURGE

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Fleet Bobby Mitchell, an undersized Jimmy Brown, has emerged from the shadow of his more illustrious Cleveland teammate while pulling the Browns into a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

With the 225-pound Brown stymied, the 180-pound Mitchell took over Sunday and scored three touchdowns as Cleveland overwhelmed the Washington Redskins 31-17 for a 6-2 record.

Mitchell, using rapier-like thrusts to open the defenses where Brown's bulling rushes failed, averaged 16.6 yards a try to come within five yards of Brown's single-game NFL record for total yardage rushing.

Cleveland next meets the Pittsburgh Steelers who dumped New York into a tie for the top spot by beating the Giants 14-9 on Bobby Layne's touchdown pass with 1:29 left to play.

In the Western Division, the San Francisco 49ers had their lead cut to one game when the Chicago Bears threw up a brilliant defense for a 14-3 victory. The second-place Baltimore Colts edged Green Bay 28-24 on Johnny Unitas' three touchdowns.

In other games Philadelphia knocked off the Chicago Cardinals 27-17 and Detroit upended Los Angeles 23-17.

Despite Mitchell's fancy footwork, it took a 35-yard field goal by Lou Groza at the start of the second half to put the Browns in front to stay. Dick James and Johnny Olszewski, who set a club record with 190 yards gained rushing, gave Washington (3-5) a 14-14 halftime deadlock with scoring dashes of 4 and 19 yards, respectively.

Layne's second touchdown throw, 45 yards to Tom Tracy, ended New York's victory string at five games. The Giant offense, led by third-string quarterback Don Heinrich due to injuries to Charlie Conerly and George Shaw, couldn't get going against a tough Steeler (3-1) defense. Pat Summerall accounted for all the Giant scoring with 21, 27 and 29-yard field goals.

Unitas' 24-yard heave to Jim Mitcheller in the final period was the clincher for the Colts, who handed the Packers (3-5) their fifth consecutive defeat.

Bowl Outlook Bright But Lineup Unsure

By ED CORRIGAN Associated Press Sports Writer

The annual guessing game on what teams will wind up in which postseason bowl games got under way today.

This year, though, it is even more complicated because the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia (Dec. 19) and the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston are in the market for top teams.

Add these to the Rose, Orange, Cotton, Sugar and Gator Bowls and you have confusion.

As of now, only Syracuse is down for a bowl game. The Orangemen, No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, will play the winner of the Southwest Conference championship in the Cotton Bowl.

One source told The Associated Press that the Bluebonnet Bowl has the inside track on Mississippi along with the runnerup in the Southwest Conference.

The same source also said that the Orange Bowl would dearly like to have Penn State, but that the Nittany Lions, second only to Syracuse in the East, lean toward the Liberty Bowl because it's a home state proposition.

If Penn State turns down the Orange Bowl, Georgia almost certainly would wind up there.

And what of Louisiana State, last year's national champion and practically forgotten merely because it lost one game by a single point? The word is that the Bengals from the Bayou are interested in any good bowl assignment. Their task is complicated, however, because by state law they are not permitted to play against integrated teams.

Actually, this has turned out to be a banner year for the bowl promoters. They have a whole list of top teams available. Many a year the pickins are so slim they have to go with teams that don't interest even the home folks.

At one rate, here is chapter one in the guessing game: Rose Bowl—This is a definite commitment, Big Ten champion against West Coast champion, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State all are in contention for the Big Ten title. Southern California, best on the coast, is in the NCAA's doghouse and ineligible for bowl games. That leaves Washington (8-1) if it gets by Washington State.

Orange Bowl—Oklahoma, well on its way to another Big Eight championship, can't go two years in a row. That leaves the runner-up to take the assignment. This is one Big reason why Syracuse turned down the Orange Bowl bid, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa State all still could finish second. Georgia, which won the Southeastern Conference crown with a 14-13 victory over Auburn last Saturday, should get the other spot.

Cotton Bowl—This also is easy, a definite commitment, now that Syracuse will be the visiting team. The winner of the Southwest Conference gets the plum. Arkansas has clinched a share of the title, but if Texas gets by weak Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day, the Longhorns will finish in a tie for first and will get the spot because they've been away from the Cotton Bowl longer than Arkansas.

Sugar Bowl—Chances are Louisiana State, just 80 miles away, will wind up there. LSU is a home team to New Orleans and would be a popular choice. The other club could be Alabama, beaten only once although tied twice (Liberty Bowl—Penn State vs. Air Force Academy, a twice-beaten team, but still a big drawing card).

Blue Bonnet Bowl—Mississippi vs. Arkansas. This would be a good one because Arkansas will be co-champion of the Southwest Conference. If Texas goes to the Cotton Bowl, it will be because the Longhorns were last there in 1953. Arkansas was there in 1955.

Gator Bowl—Probably Clemson, which can clinch the Atlantic Coast Conference title next week, vs. Tennessee, conqueror of LSU. Texas was the victim of the biggest upset last Saturday. The Longhorns toppled from the thirteenth ranks of the unbeaten by dropping a 14-9 decision to Texas Christian. That left only Syracuse and Southern Cal among the major teams that have escaped unscathed. Syracuse punted Colgate, 71-0, and the Trojans polished off Baylor, 17-8.

IN SWC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas licks its wounds and wonders why the Southwest Conference, Arkansas seeks its eighth victory and a good bowl-wise record and Texas Christian drives toward a championship tie this week.

This may be confusing but no more than Southwest Conference football that saw Texas knocked from the undefeated, untied ranks Saturday by TCU, 14-9, to throw the race into a jam around the top.

Texas, rated No. 2 in the nation and winner of nine straight, was shocked out of its Cotton Bowl dreams. Now it has to win its final game—against Texas A&M—on Thanksgiving Day to get in the Dallas football classic against Syracuse.

And it can gain no more than a tie for the conference championship. It might even be a 3-way affair because TCU can wind up deadlocked for the lead with Arkansas and Texas if it wins its two remaining games—Rice at Fort Worth Saturday and Southern Methodist at the same place next week.

Arkansas clinched a tie for the championship when it walloped

SMU 17-14 Saturday. Now it wants to close out with a victory against Texas Tech at Little Rock Saturday so it'll have a good record to take into some bowl game.

Arkansas could gain the Cotton Bowl should Texas lose to A&M. TCU can't get into the Cotton Bowl under any circumstances, however, since it lost to Arkansas in regular season play and if there's a 3-way tie for the title the team in the Cotton Bowl the farthest away—which would be Texas—gets the bid.

Arkansas reportedly is being courted in the Sugar Bowl in the event they don't qualify to gather the cash in the Cotton Bowl.

Rice pulled into a tie for fourth place in the conference race with SMU when it won its first game of the season—a 7-2 triumph over Texas A&M. That also may have assured Baylor of not having to finish in the cellar for the third year in a row. The winless Aggies occupy that place and will stay there unless they can rise up to super efforts and beat Texas.

Texas Tech, conference member that isn't competing for the championship, bashed Houston 27-9 to make its season record 4-5. The Red Raiders would dearly love to beat Arkansas in the season finale and wind up splitting even.

SMU and Baylor play at Waco Saturday in a game meaning little except personal pride.

Class A And AA Champions Begin Playoffs This Week

By The Associated Press

Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi Ray, Breckenridge and Nederland are expected to win district titles this week and project themselves in the finals—Wichita Falls vs. Ray in Class AAAA and Breckenridge vs. Nederland in Class AAA—of Texas schoolboy football.

Which is getting far ahead of the field but nothing has happened during the regular season to indicate those four favorites aren't still just that.

Several Buffs III But Are Improved
FORSAN (SC) — Several members of the Forsan football team, which meets Gall in bi-district play in Big Spring Thursday night, have been stricken with intestinal flu but the siege hit at the right time, if it had to hit at all.

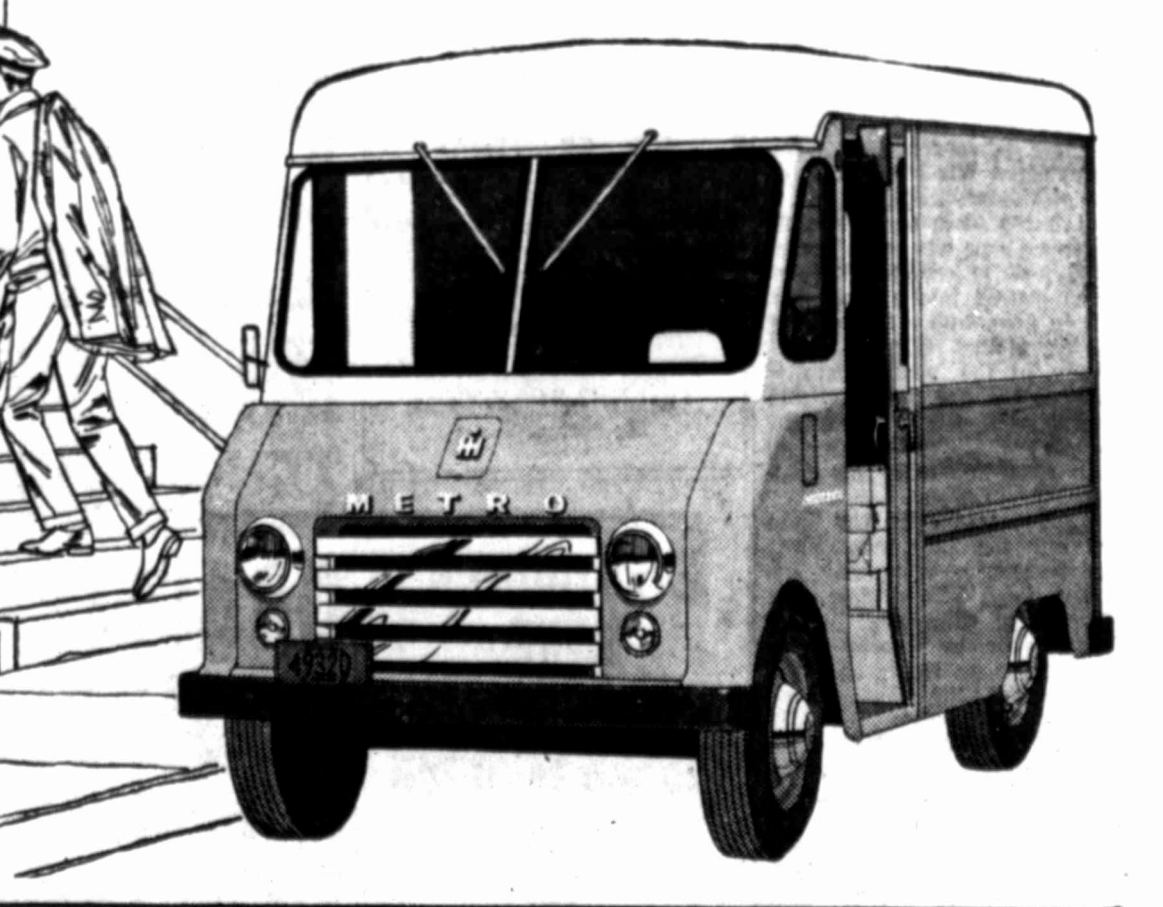

Most of those ill have now recovered and have no resumed workouts.

Two of the boys were hospitalized but are now all but recovered. They are Larry Stroud and Freddie Park.

Couch James Blake stated this morning that it appeared that all of his players would be ready for the game with Gall.

Football Sweetheart

Margaret Jo Cook (above) was recently crowned Football Sweetheart at Garden City High School. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook, Margaret is a freshman. She was given a bouquet of flowers in a formal ceremony held during the final game of the season by two Garden City players, Harold Jones and Eilly Fisher.

Paroled

Roger Touhy, Chicago prohibition era gangster who has been in prison for 25 years, has been granted a parole by the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board. Touhy, 62, will be released from prison as soon as his prospective home and employment have been investigated.

Actor Returns With Kids To Face The Music

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP)—Bronzed Sterling Hayden is back from the South Seas, tired and broke but ready to face a contempt of court action for taking his four children out of the country against the order of a Los Angeles judge.

The Hollywood actor sailed his schooner Wanderer into San Francisco Bay Sunday after 10 months on the high seas and in Tahiti.

He told newsmen he went "in search of truth" and came back to "clear up the legal situation" in Los Angeles.

Hayden won custody of the children in a divorce action but his former wife, Betty Ann de Noon Hayden, was allowed visitation rights. When he sailed from here last January Mrs. Hayden got a court order for his arrest alleging the children were in danger. The contempt action followed. Several additional charges filed in Marin County are in abeyance.

Leaning on the rail of the 66-year-old schooner, the 43-year-old actor told newsmen he had just had "the best year of my life."

But he said he wasn't relaxed. "All the normal hazards worried me because of the trouble about the children."

He started a movie in Tahiti, he said, but the money ran out. "I was to be 'one honest picture,' about sea life. He started a book, too, about 'the whole struggle between the life we're told we want to live and the life I wanted to live but was told was wrong.'"

Will he go back to acting?

"That would be the easy way out, but I don't want to. I want to do things I believe in."

"Live in the bay area. Go about my legal business."

He doesn't want to go back to Los Angeles.

"Los Angeles epitomizes all that's wrong. You sell out there. And it's hard to sell out. I was never really an actor. I was essentially more of a personality."

While he talked, the Hayden children listened with respect. Then they took their turn with the newsmen.

In Tahiti, volunteered Gretchen, 9. "We swam and looked for sea shells."

"We got dozens," boasted Thor, 10. "You should see them."

Matthew, 7, dangled his bare feet over the rail and said shyly, "We had fun."

Christian, 11, grinned and said nothing.

Children Die During Cavein

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP) — Two young playmates perished Sunday when they were accidentally buried in a gravel pit opposite Wellesley College.

The victims were Mark Ketchum, 12, one of three children in his family, and Harold Adams Jr., also 12, an only child.

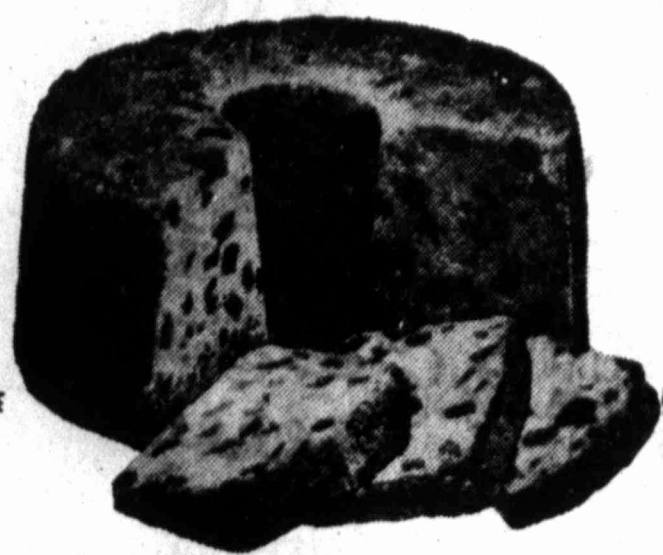

Police Chief Robert P. MacBey, summoned by a playmate of the two victims, said that when he arrived at the scene three weeping boys were trying to reach the pair by digging frantically with their hands.

The bodies of the two boys were found upright side by side under three feet of sand.

A contractor estimated 30 tons of sand had shifted while the boys were digging a tunnel.

Scientist Dies

CARLOPS, Scotland (AP) — Prof. Charles Thomson Rees Wilson, 90, regarded as the man who opened the window on the atomic world, died Sunday. Wilson, who shared the Nobel Prize for physics in 1927 for construction of a cloud-chamber, was the Jacksonian professor of natural philosophy at Cambridge University from 1928 until he retired in 1934.

Wedding Vows Taken By Couple

In a double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base, Mrs. Glenna Harmon Brawley became the bride of Capt. Paul Williams.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harmon, 607 Runnels; the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Irene Williams of Bardsville, Okla.

Chaplain James E. Leath read the vows as the bridal party stood before a background of white gladioli in baskets with a flanking of candelabra.

Mrs. Alfred Short, organist, provided the nuptial music.

For the wedding, the bride was attired in a sheath of satin in gold and bone, using gold accessories. Her flowers were bronze mums.

Attendants were Mrs. LaRue Hickman and Lt. Jerry Hawkins. When the couple returns from a trip to Mexico City, they will be at home in Webb Village.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and Gene's Beauty School in Odessa. She has been employed at the Crawford Beauty Shop.

Guests gathered at the Officers Club for a reception following the exchange of vows.

WSCS Circles To Continue Study Of Africa On Tuesday

All morning circles of the First Methodist WSCS will gather at the church Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. for a program on the general study of Africa.

Theme of Tuesday's lesson will be The Import of Industry and City Life in Africa; one of the features of the morning will be a film strip with a commentary by Mrs. Horace Garrett.

Mrs. Carl Riberd will bring the devotion, and Mrs. J. H. Hensley will sing. Others participating will be Mrs. W. M. Romans, Mrs. E. R. Wood, Mrs. M. A. Cook and Mrs. L. A. Zant.

Anniversary Celebrated

Honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staggs, 107 West 9th, when their children and grandchildren gathered for a family dinner.

The couple, married in Roby on Nov. 14, 1909, has two sons, Martin and Charles, both of Big Spring, six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The elder Mrs. Staggs was, before her marriage, Mary Jane Miniken of Batesville, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staggs, San Angelo Highway, were hosts for the festive gathering, when gifts were presented to the couple, and a cake decorated in the traditional wedding style, was cut by the bride of 50 years ago.

Thirteen were present for the dinner, a grandchild, Rodney Staggs of Fort Worth, was unable to attend.

Miss Butchee Is Shower Honoree

ACKERLY — A miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening in the homemaking department of the school, was a compliment for Penny Butchee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Butchee.

Miss Butchee became the bride of Pat Grigg Saturday evening in the Ackerly Baptist Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Grigg.

About 30 guests attended the affair for which the serving table was covered with a brown cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze mums.

Mrs. Jess Pylant is in Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring, where she underwent surgery Thursday.

Mrs. J. V. Bristow is a patient in Medical Arts Hospital in Big Spring.

In Sterling City Thursday were the Bruce Crains, who attended funeral services for Mrs. Dora Simmons.

Final session of the convention will begin at 8:45 a.m. Friday.

Brand New Salad For A Different Mixture

Ever want a different combination for a salad? Try this sparkling new one:

WINTER SALAD
4 cups bite-size pieces romaine or other salad greens
2 cups thin fan-shaped pieces apple
6 anchovy fillets
Olive or other salad oil
Vinegar
Salt

Turn greens and apple into a small bowl. Cut anchovies in small pieces and add.

Dress with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper, using amounts to suit taste. (About 3 tablespoons of oil to 1 tablespoon of vinegar is classic proportion.)

Toss well; serve at once. Makes 6 servings if greens are packed down.

Note: Yellow delicious apples are excellent in this salad if they are available; do not pare.

Take Your Pick

Almost any fruit-flavored sherbet is a good choice to put into punch with a fruit or tea base.

Give It A Lift

You can give tomato juice a lift by combining it with bottled clam juice.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Bleaching Hair May Cause You Trouble

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When I dropped by "The Rebel" set at ABC-TV, I found Carol Nugent visiting her hubby, Nick Adams. The Adamses are expecting an addition to their family before the year is out and Carol admitted she was making the most of not working.

"It has given me a good chance to let my hair go back to normal. I've been bleaching it for so long I mean having it bleached. But I got a careless beauty operator and she nearly ruined it. One day I found that most of my hair was starting to break off. I had to have it cut so close I looked like a boy. I couldn't work because I looked so terrible. It was very depressing. If I had been doing it myself I would have felt that was just what I deserved for not going to a professional. But I had put myself into a supposedly skilled person's hands," Carol revealed.

"I have a different operator now. I've been having oil treatments before each shampoo. And I have scalp treatments, too. I brush my hair every morning and night. By the time the baby is born, my hair should be in good condition," she said.

Carol remarked that she was also giving her complexion a rest. "It really helps to not wear make-up," she confided. "I have been trying all sorts of skin treatments which I have never had time for before."

"Like what?" I inquired.

"I have a friend whose mother has a beautiful skin. She taught me her formula. The first thing I do is cleanse my face and steam it a little with hot wash clothes to open the pores," she revealed.

"Then I mix two egg whites and two tablespoons of coarse cornmeal into a paste and smooth this over my face, but I'm careful to keep it away from my eyes. It has a drawing effect as it dries and it really clears my skin," Carol declared.

"How long do you keep it on?"

"I usually lie down for about 15 or 20 minutes and then wash it off with lukewarm water. And I like to splash my face with ice water to close the pores," Carol concluded.

LOVELIER COMPLEXION FOR YOU

You, too, can have a lovelier complexion by following the simple routines offered in Leaflet M-55, "Complexion Magic." Your skin must be nourished from inside as well as out. Here in Leaflet M-55, is a five-point program: 1. food 2. rest 3. breathing correctly 4. disposition 5. habits — of which all are important to build and keep a clear, beautiful complexion. For your copy of this vital leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Mother-Daughter Tea Given Sunday By Lass-O Club

The ninth annual mother-daughter tea of the Lass-O Club, was given Sunday afternoon in the Howard County Junior College prior of the student union building.

Music was furnished throughout the afternoon by Joyce Sheen, pianist, and Glenda Mahoney, vocalist.

Mrs. John Coffey, guest speaker discussed the subject, Guarding Your Language; Jo Dell Shelburne introduced the program.

A green cloth covered the tea table, where bronze chrysanthe-mums were used as a centerpiece. They were the gift of Jo Ann Watkins, a former president of the club, whose younger sister, Glenda, is now head of the organization.

Assisting with the festivities were Mrs. Marshall Box and Mrs. Harold Vail, sponsors of the group.

Miscellaneous Gift Tea Compliments Garden City Bride

GARDEN CITY — Mrs. Jack Berry was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the Methodist Church parlor. Mrs. C. J. Cox, a hostess, was at the bride's book. Mrs. Loyd Hardy greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Luke Haygood of Junction. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Clyde Berry, mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Jimmy Cook, grandmother of the bridegroom; Mrs. V. L. McWhirter and Mrs. Sam Cox of Stanton, Texas.

The tea table was covered with ecru linen and followed a fall theme with brown and gold, the bride's chosen colors. A gold cornucopia spilled autumn leaves and gold gapples and crystal candle holders with brown candles and crystal appointments were used. Mrs. Jack Cook and Mrs. Alton Cook presided at the tea table. Hostesses were Mrs. D. W. Parker, Mrs. Cecil Wilkerson, Mrs. Ray Hightower, Mrs. A. J. Cunningham, Mrs. Edward Teale, Mrs. Joy Wilkerson, Mrs. C. J. Cox, Mrs. Buck Harris and Mrs. Jack Cook.

Seventh Birthday Marked With Party

Debra Ann Wash was honored Friday afternoon with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wash, on the occasion of her seventh birthday anniversary.

Favors for the 18 guests were 200 hats and whistles, and Mrs. Joe Pendleton directed games.

The tablecloth, napkins and other appointments followed a happy birthday theme, and a cake frosted in pink and green, was inscribed, Happy Birthday, Debbie.

EAT Club Change

Rocky Turns To Automation

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller turned today to one of organized labor's main concerns — automation — and said the key to solving this problem was to expand the economy.

A healthier economy, Rockefeller said, could provide the jobs for workers displaced by automation.

Automation refers to the technological developments in industry that result in more production from fewer workers. It is at the root of many of today's labor-management disputes.

Rockefeller dealt with the subject in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the New York State AFL-CIO.

Over the weekend, he completed a four-day tour through California, Oregon, and to Seattle and Boise, Idaho, where he was reported to have impressed Republicans with his appeal as a possible Republican nominee for president.

California and Oregon are regarded as strongholds of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Rockefeller's chief rival for the GOP nomination.

UNDERMINING NIXON

Observers felt that, although the New York governor did not create a surge in his banner in these states, he perhaps succeeded in undermining some of Nixon's strength.

"I'm for Nixon, but—" said a Pasadena, Calif., party leader after getting a look at the smiling and bouncy Rockefeller.

During his travels, Rockefeller also narrowed the date when he will announce whether he will run for the nomination.

"I would think there will be an announcement somewhere between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15," he told newsmen.

Previously he had said only it would be after he had presented his program to the 1960 state Legislature, which convenes in January.

To the labor leaders assembled here, Rockefeller said there was no question but that new machines and new methods created more jobs, higher earnings and a better standard of living for all.

"The real problem is one of transition, a transition which seeks to avoid human hardship," he said.

STUDY GROUP

Rockefeller noted that recently he had proposed creation of a national study group—a favorite Rockefeller technique—to study automation and "develop an agreed framework of objectives, and the relationships needed to deal with them."

Rockefeller also told the labor leaders there was real doubt that the country could afford to continue to increase wages and cut working hours at past rates.

He said it was doubtful because of the prospective demands for government spending on such things as military security, education, welfare and public works.

"We may have to make a choice," he said, "as to how our productivity increases should be divided as between increased earnings and increased leisure."

The governor also said labor and management must use more common sense and flexibility to prevent crippling strikes.

He said collective bargaining, to remain free, "must be responsive to the needs of the public."

Government, he said, must provide leadership in the collective bargaining process.

FARM PROBLEM

In Boise, Idaho, Sunday, Rockefeller told newsmen he would make a detailed statement soon on agriculture, another of the nation's problems, when he makes a tour through the Midwest before the end of the year.

As for public versus private power, he said the government should step into the field only if private enterprise could not do the job.

Boise was Rockefeller's last stop before flying to Buffalo. He shook the hands of about 1,000 persons at a hotel reception in Boise and dined with Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Earlier Sunday he visited Seattle. Addressing an enthusiastic, overflow crowd at a breakfast there, Rockefeller said the GOP "has the minds and the brains" to solve grave problems the nation faces.

Rockefeller said he had found people on his Western trip "warm and friendly."

Attlee Claims Misquote On '2nd-Rate' Ike

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee says he was quoted out of context in a report that he called President Eisenhower "somewhat second-rate." But he wouldn't elaborate.

Attlee also made it clear at a news conference Sunday that he wouldn't be drawn into a verbal battle with two Republican congressmen who criticized him.

Attlee had been quoted at Denver as saying Eisenhower was somewhat second-rate as a soldier and no better as a statesman. He told newsmen here he was quoted out of context and this didn't sum up his views on the President.

Asked if he would elaborate and put the comment back in context, Attlee snapped, "Find out what I've written."

The 76-year-old head of Britain's Labor government in 1946-51 parried questions gruffly.

One Republican congressman said that Attlee, himself, was a second-rate figure. Attlee replied "That's all right."

Another termed his comments "sour grapes." Attlee's only reply was, "I see."

Attlee called for recognition of the Chinese Communist government as the only realistic view. Recognition doesn't mean approval, he said.

Ike's Brother Supports Nixon

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Edgar Eisenhower, brother of the President, came out Sunday in support of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I am for Dick Nixon," Eisenhower told a newsman. "He has all the qualifications."

The Tacoma attorney said he was making the choice only between Nixon and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"Nixon has shown the capability of individual ability like that of a butcher skinning a calf," Eisenhower said.

"He is a clean hard-working individual who's worked his way up."

Eisenhower said his statement was only his own opinion and had no connection with sentiment in the White House.

Circus Relics On The Block

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Relics of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus went on the block today.

Fancy circus wagons, railroad cars, tents and other paraphernalia were included in a liquidation sale to clear the former winter quarters of the circus for real estate development.

Some 750 spectators swarmed the sale site Sunday, forcing a closing of the gates. Cars jammed approach roads for half a mile.

William W. Perry, in charge, said he had received 42 offers for a custom-built Rolls Royce automobile built for John Ringling in 1923 for $20,000. It will be sold through sealed bids, Perry said.

NBC Already Begins Political Coverage With 1/2-Hour Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AF Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Political conventions are more than six months away, elections are a year hence, but the National Broadcasting System Sunday night began its presidential campaign coverage.

It was a half-hour film clip-and-commentary show called "Politics 1960" describing briefly the current activities of seven men who are acting like candidates, and discussing their potentials.

The NBC political observers didn't contribute much to the average newspaper reader's information. They decided the top Democratic contenders are John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, Hubert H. Humphrey, Stuart Symington, and that Adlai E. Stevenson shows "enormous strength." Only two Republicans, they said, are in the running: Richard M. Nixon and Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The program was primarily devoted to showing these men—none of whom has announced his intentions—shaking hands, smiling, waving and making speeches. David Brinkley, head man of the program, did mention one new modification of traditional campaigning: dandling.

"They are dandling—not kissing—babies," said Brinkley. "It has been learned that kissing babies upsets mothers who have read Dr. Spock."

Brinkley reported that an NBC poll among 196 political experts in broadcasting found that 40 of them believe Kennedy will be the Democratic candidate; 31 Stevenson; 21 Johnson, and seven each Humphrey and Symington. The vote for the Republican candidate was 93 for Nixon and 10 for Rockefeller.

eller. I'd like to know for whom the missing Republican votes were cast—a really dark horse.

"A Doll's House," Henrik Ibsen's 90-year-old classic, had a first-rate revival Sunday night on NBC's Hall of Fame. It was live, in color and was graced by such skillful performers as Julie Harris, Christopher Plummer, Hume Cronyn, and others.

The play was probably a shocker in 1879 and it was interesting enough as adapted for modern television by James Costigan. Time and the emancipation of women have not helped the drama at all, however. Nora, the child-wife, at first seemed silly and empty-headed and needing parent-like supervision. And Torvald, by turns harsh master and romantic husband, received little sympathy or even understanding when he revealed his clay feet.

When Nora, after Torvald failed her miserably in crisis, suddenly walked out on her marriage—and her three children—one felt it was just more of her doll house playing, not that she was striking a blow for womankind. Perhaps we have been considered to be human beings for a long time now.

The 90-minute play dragged at first. Costigan might have made it more effective by tightening it into 60 minutes. It was, however, a decidedly superior effort, and one gratefully received.

Dag Risks Another Soviet Protest, Leaves Laos Aide

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, risking another Soviet protest, will leave a Finnish U.N. official in rebel-ridden Laos as his personal representative.

Hammarskjold, now visiting the Indochinese kingdom, called ex-Premier Sakari Tuomioja of Finland to join him and to remain up to four weeks in Laos after the secretary-general leaves next weekend to return to U.N. headquarters.

Tuomioja is executive secretary of the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe, in Geneva.

Officially, Tuomioja is to study the economic situation of Laos and the little country's needs in U.N. aid. But the Laotian government hopes his presence will serve as a restraining influence on Communist rebels.

U.N. headquarters said Hammarskjold had sent for Tuomioja "after discussions with representatives of the Laos government, and in the light of previous studies of the problems Laos is facing."

The U.N. Security Council spent almost a month in Laos in September and October. It reported that Communist North Viet Nam had supplied arms to the Laotian rebels but said it found no evidence to back up the Laotian government's charges that North Vietnamese troops had crossed the border to fight with the rebels.

Hammarskjold went to Laos last week for an independent personal investigation at the government's invitation.

Before Hammarskjold left New York, the Soviet delegation wrote him that his visit to Laos and "the proposed stationing of a personal representative" there could only complicate the situation and "entail dangerous consequences for peace."

The U. N. announcement of Tuomioja's mission avoided directly attributing any political character to his trip. It said he was to study particularly "the role of economic and technical assistance rendered by the United Nations for the furtherance of economic growth and stability" in Laos.

It added that he would report his findings to Hammarskjold at U. N. headquarters within four weeks for immediate examination by the U. N. secretary-general in consultation with the specialized agencies.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO PRIVATE CAR OWNERS FROM THE BIG SPRING ASSN. OF INSURANCE AGENTS

Because of public demand, the State Board of Insurance has adopted the TEXAS SAFE DRIVERS INSURANCE PLAN effective January 1, 1960. The Plan provides for reduction in automobile insurance premiums for careful drivers who have had no accidents or moving traffic violations for a period of three years, this period being the three years ending 90 days prior to date of your insurance policy. Drivers with a record of accidents and traffic violations will be penalized by paying higher premiums.

All policies dated after January 1, 1960, will be issued only upon a written application completely filled out and signed by the applicant for insurance. Your INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENTS, listed below, members of the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents, will assist and cooperate with you in the preparation of these applications.

The State Board of Insurance has ruled that any discounts under this plan cannot apply to policies dated prior to January 1, 1960. Because of the complex nature of this new program, the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents are contacting their automobile policyholders with detailed information concerning the new plan approximately two months prior to their renewal date and will be happy to discuss this plan with any other interested party.

This PLAN is mandatory and all Insurance Companies and their Agents doing business in Texas must adhere to the rules and rates as adopted by the State Board of Insurance including the securing of the SIGNED APPLICATION.

A Devotional For Today

Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. (I Corinthians 16:1.)
PRAYER: O Lord, we thank Thee for granting us all that we have. Destroy in us all belief that anything we have is our own. Help us to dedicate to Thee ourselves and all that Thou hast entrusted to us. Use us as Thou wilt for Thy glory; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

(From The "Upper Room")

Exploratory Surgery Coming

Last week the Texas Farm Bureau renewed its opposition to farm subsidies as such.
 Whether this represents the aggregate thinking of Texas farmers is debatable, but the Farm Journal, in a recent poll, says that it represents the majority of farmers nationally.
 Fifty-five per cent of those queried on the poll wanted no support at all; 15 per cent were in favor of emergency supports only to ward off disasters from failures or glut in bumper years; 8 per cent wanted supports to allow a gradual adjustment to normal markets. Only 22 per cent favored additional price supports.
 What these straws in the wind probably reflect is an increasing awareness on the part of farm producers that the national agricultural policy is in need of drastic overhaul.
 Two glaring weaknesses are apparent.

One is the appalling amount of storage paid out annually to hold on to the increasing mountains of surplus. Nearly half a million dollars a year is required just to house the surplus.
 The other major weakness is that a big chunk of the price-support money goes to the big (and bigger) commercial farmers with highly mechanized and efficiently operated farms. The small low-income farmer lacks a lot being the chief beneficiary.
 Of less import but an important factor is the non-competitive level to which supports push U. S. agricultural products in the world market.
 To whack off all price supports summarily would be like amputating slightly below the neck, but you can look for some exploratory surgery at the next session of Congress.

Nelson Assesses The Juggernaut

The question of "is he or is he ain't" as applied to Nelson Rockefeller and the Republican presidential nomination moved a step nearer an answer this week when the governor of New York visited the State of California, which is supposed to be holy ground to supporters of Richard Nixon, about whose candidacy there can be no doubt since it has been "on the line" for most of the last seven years.
 The Rockefeller visit to the Golden State was in keeping with what is considered normal for California by most of the other 49 states—that is, surrounded by oddities, confusion and showy incidents. He couldn't land in Los Angeles, where a brass band and many filmland and political figures awaited his arrival, due to the smog. He landed as close as he could and finished the journey by motor car.
 In the welcoming throng were GOP leaders wearing Nixon buttons, who mixed and mingled with those wearing Rockefeller badges. Their attitude seemed to be: "We'll welcome our distinguished visitor if it kills us."
 Radio-television reporters staged a pre-arranged walkout on the Rockefeller press conference. They were familiar with a practice the New York governor has maintained since he took his first elective office—that, is for reasons of his own, he insists on holding one press conference for radio-TV and another for the press, presumably to avoid the confusion inseparable from a lot of picture-snapping and tape-recording. But gently but firmly the visitor stood pat—no joint conference. Later he accommodated the electronic interviewers.

 If this little flare-up left a sour taste in anybody's mouth it wasn't apparent, though it could have backfired against Rockefeller had his foes been inclined to make an issue of it. At least it demonstrated that Mr. Rockefeller has a mind of his own, and isn't easily influenced by extraneous pressures. It is not impossible that people admire a man who knows his own mind and isn't easily swayed from his course.
 As of the moment Mr. Rockefeller doesn't appear to have a ghost of a chance, but some sort of token resistance to the Nixon juggernaut is clearly indicated for political reasons. A GOP convention with the candidate and the platform both predetermined could have a fatal flaw. A campaign based on a set-up of that kind might never leave the ground. The "front-porch" campaign of the McKinley era would get nowhere today.

David Lawrence Balance Of Propaganda Power

WASHINGTON—This is a strange era in international relations. Time was when balance of power was the phrase most often heard. By this was meant, of course, the balance of military power. Today the phrase that describes the current objectives could better read the balance of propaganda power.
 For the summit meetings and the pre-summit conferences and consultations in the next several months all add up to a belief that war itself is not imminent and that, in the interim, talk is a good substitute.
 Officials here have become convinced that Mr. Khrushchev is trying to buy time and that he really wants to use for domestic purposes some of the money that would otherwise have to be spent for increased armament. This fits in with the American government's desire for a stabilization of the arms race so that budgets will not have to be augmented each year to take care of possible threats of enlarged preparations by the Soviets.
ARMAMENT DILEMMA
 Another factor in the armament dilemma is the rise of missiles, with nuclear power. The assumption is that conventional forces will not have to be as large as heretofore. Many military experts vehemently protest any such reasoning as likely to leave America and her Allies unprepared for limited wars, but the governments of the West evidently are persuaded that threats of the use of nuclear power will be enough to prevent any major war.
 Now President De Gaulle has demanded for France the right to make nuclear weapons, and he offers the curious suggestion that maybe Soviet Russia and the United States might not always be rivals but could be allies and that France must be ready to protect itself. This line of reasoning is fantastic, but it fits in with General De Gaulle's nationalistic strategy in endeavoring to restore the prestige of France as a world power.
 Meanwhile, the summit meeting between the East and West has been postponed till next spring, and between now and then there will be lots of other collateral conferences, all presumably aimed at developing solidarity on the side of the West. Concurrently, there will be some penetrating propaganda operations by Mr.

Khrushchev inside the western countries. The schedule looks like this:
TIME TABLE
 Dec. 3-19: Visit by President Eisenhower to at least eleven countries in Asia, Africa and Europe.
 Dec. 19-21: Meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan, President De Gaulle, and Chancellor Adenauer.
 Dec. 22: Conference of the NATO foreign ministers.
 March 15-30: Visit of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to France.
 April 5-8: Visit of President De Gaulle to Britain.
 Mid-April: Conference of Western leaders before summit meeting.
 May (exact date not fixed): Summit conference of East and West—the first since 1955.
 But these conferences are not expected to be definite. The British concept, as expressed by Prime Minister Macmillan, is that there should be a whole series of summit conferences for the next several years. The idea has found favor with Premier Khrushchev, too. All the governments seem to like the thought of conferences under kleig lights for some time to come.
 Certainly, insofar as the threat of war seems to have receded, there will be relief felt everywhere, at least on the surface. But warnings are being uttered by those who fear the whole talk idea is merely a plot to cause the West to let down its guard.
 There are, of course, many ways to test sincerity, and thus far the Soviet claim that it is reducing tensions is producing more and more skepticism. The only spot where tensions are being eased is in connection with the status of West Berlin. As for the other areas of the cold war, activities by the Communists have been intensified. Even the Red Chinese now are getting into the act and are actually sending agents to Cuba and Latin America.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

A letter penned by Charles Elliott on the day in 1842 expressed considerable dissatisfaction with his assignment to Texas.
 The British charge d'affaires to the Lone Star Republic didn't like the place. He said Houston inns served him "a modification of saw-dust which they call corn-bread." He described life at Washington-on-the-Brazos as "rather raw" and "decried the President Sam Houston" "because he had been accustomed to the comforts of an Indian wigwam."
 Elliott came to Texas from the Opium War in China. His purpose was to weld the Texas Republic closer to England and to arrange an armistice between Texas and Mexico. In a white hat, smoking a curved-stemmed pipe, Elliott figured prominently in the Republic's history. He struggled and schemed to prevent annexation of the Lone Star domain into the Union. Quite possibly some of his intrigues in 1844-45 would make good hair-raising television shows.
 A casual historian wonders if Elliott engineered the influx of German settlers, if he had a hand in checking the Somervell invasion of 1842, and if he was not out-gambled by the man he ridiculed, Sam Houston.
 He left Texas in 1845, a failure in his most important foreign assignment. He was governor of Bermuda for eight years, then resumed his naval career.

LATEST IN MAGIC ROPE TRICKS

James Marlow Yen For Buck In Way Of Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The yen for a buck and some other human considerations stand in the way of success from any labor-management conference.
 President Woodrow Wilson called such a conference in 1919, after World War I. It collapsed. President Harry S. Truman called another in 1945, after World War II. The results were pathetic.
 Now AFL-CIO President George Meany suggests that President Eisenhower call a labor-management meeting. Eisenhower may do so.
 Meany gave these reasons for proposing it: (1) to avoid a recurrence of long, costly strikes, as in steel; (2) to improve labor-management relations, especially to cope with rising Soviet economic power; and (3) to avoid tougher laws by Congress.
 Meany's most compelling reason is probably fear of action by Congress when it returns in January to protect the country from the damage of big strikes.
 That action could range all the way from some harmless ducking-the-issue window-dressing to a ban on big strikes and compulsory arbitration. No matter what, it would mean government interference.
 If Eisenhower calls a labor-management conference any time soon, it will take the edge off demands for congressional action until the results are seen, provided there are no more big strikes in the meantime.
 The alternative to restraints imposed by the government is for labor and management to agree on restraints for themselves for the good of the rest of the country. That's a big gimmick.
 The task of getting two powerful groups to yield any of their freedoms without compulsion is still one of the problems of political philosophy.
 With labor unions free to strike to back up their demands and management free to refuse the demands, a big strike becomes a test of strength at public expense.
 It would be one of the 20th century's miracles if either side now, simply because of meeting in a big room, would yield freedoms voluntarily.

Hal Boyle Sick Of Civilization

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
 It isn't man alone who is heart-sickened by civilization. A study of autopsies at the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens over a 40-year period showed a 20-fold increase in arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, among both birds and mammals.
 Sole support: In the 12th century some Russian tribesmen wore shoes with iron soles. They were so durable they were handed down from generation to generation.
 Odd legislation: In New Hampshire there once was a law compelling every churchgoer to carry a gun.
 The fuzzi is familiar: Emperor Charlemagne ordered his soldiers to wear their beards outside their armor, so friends could better recognize each other from foes.
 The world influenza epidemic of 1918-19 was one of the greatest plagues in history. It took 21 million lives. But in less than half a century after 1333, the black death killed an estimated 75 million persons in Europe and Asia.
 The life expectancy of the average U. S. dollar bill is now about nine months.
 Our quotable notables: "Show me a thoroughly satisfied man," said Thomas A. Edison, "and I will show you a failure."
 The price of nonvegetarianism: Some 130 million food animals are slaughtered annually in the United States, but only 20 per cent are killed by methods approved by the American Humane Association.
 Americans may be deeply disturbed about their own educational institutions, but they are admired by many abroad. This year more than 47,000 foreign students from 131 countries are attending U. S. colleges.
 A California jeweler sends out this diplomatic note with statements on overdue bills: "A man who squeezes a dollar never squeezes his wife. In looking over your account, we get the idea you are not getting the attention she deserves."
 Japan is one place where men still prefer to be followed rather than led by the fair sex. The scenic beauty of golf links in that country is enhanced by more than 37,000 pretty girl caddies.
 This is the time of year when the common cold is really common. From now until next April an average of 30 million Americans every day will suffer from sore throats.

MR. BREGER

"Well, if it isn't good old Sidney! How'd you ever make out with that play you wrote?"

Around The Rim Wonderful World Of A Little Girl

I think I've figured out why Carol (age 3) pays so much attention to the commercials on TV and concentrates on something else when the regular programs are on.
 The actors giving the sales pitches wear such pleased expressions on their faces, as if all their problems are going to be solved through use of the products they're trying to sell.
 On the other hand, the guy with the granite jaw and the kind word for animals who stands in the middle of the street waiting for the cowboy under the dark hat to "draw or git out of town" invariably seems to be knee deep in trouble.
 Little children must look into our faces and say to themselves, "look what worry has done to the adults," and decide to put off fretting about the little things as long as they can.
 They devise schemes to (1) get out of the house, (2) go without their shoes, (3) eat their dessert before the solids at meal time and (4) fight a delaying action to keep from going to bed as long as possible.
 One thing you can be sure of—they're thinking all the time. The other day I came home at an unscheduled hour to get the wife and take her down town. Carol, who can't read a clock (which she calls a ticktock), turned to a playmate suspiciously to say aloud, "Now, why did he come home?"

Carol relishes the thought of a birthday—whether it be hers or any member of the household—not because of the presents that are showered on the honored individual. She looks forward instead to blowing out the candles on the birthday cake and rendering the "happy birthday" song. When things get dull around the household, she likes to practice the ritual with real candles and the song.
 I took her outside one warm night last summer and had her listen for the loud knock in the air conditioning system of one of the neighbor's.
 For numberless nights after that, she petitioned me to go outside with her and tune our ears to the noise in the ailing "air con-shiner."
 If she had her way, she'd probably rewrite the English language so that words pronounced similarly wouldn't mean different things.
 The other day, we were working a puzzle wherein certain things painted on cardboard discs are identified by placing them in appointed slots on a blackboard. One of the items was a fairy, complete with magic wand. I asked her to retrieve it and she did, reluctantly, then explained:
 "It's not really a fairy, is it? It's something else. We rode a ferry on vacation." And so we had, the ferry from New Orleans to Algiers while in Louisiana.

Are There No Dietrich Men In The Lab?

It is no news that in the 20th Century man staggers from crisis to crisis, never quite prepared for any of 'em and improvising as he goes.
 But who among us ever dreamed that 1959 might go down in history as The Year of the Cranberry Crisis? It is possible to shore up Laos, encourage India vis-à-vis China, clean up teenage roll with Castro and outtravel Khrushchev. But faced with Thanksgiving and Christmas and NO cranberries, what do we do? How do we improvise for this one, which chips at the foundations of the nation's two biggest and best holidays?
 How will the Administration deal with this crisis? What solutions will the eager-beaver presidential candidates suggest? Here is a challenging national opportunity for the politicians who are now circling the nomination like so many tomcats on the prowl.
 The cranberry crisis can be a splendid opportunity for the Democratic or Republican capable of coming up with a brilliant solution, and at once it is quite possible that a Rockefeller or a Symington who can improvise on acceptable solution or substitute to this pressing domestic problem can win the nomination by acclamation.
CRANBERRIES A FIXTURE
 Woe to the politician who tries to shrug this off as a minor issue! The cranberry and the turkey wedded by the Pilgrim mothers and a pox on him who tries to put them asunder. Cranberries and turkey, in this housewife's opinion, have a far deeper affinity, and far more indissoluble bond, than ham and eggs, Swiss cheese and rye, ice cream and cake or hamburger and buns.
 The rich, crimson delicacy is the perfect accompaniment for the all-American bird. The proper proportion of cranberry jelly or sauce to turkey is bite for bite. Turkey without cranberries is as salt that has lost its savor.

At this point, I feel like the man who first stumbled over the Koh-i-noor. Initial word of the cranberry crisis sent me scrounging through the Robb pantry. The reward was beyond the dreams of Lucullus. There, on a back shelf, sat three cans of cranberry jelly, circa 1957. Spread thin, these ought to tide us over Thanksgiving and Christmas.
 They are on the shelf because at Chez Robb we prefer cranberry sauce made from scratch. So when the trio of cans arrived in a Christmas gift package in 1957, they were put away for an emergency. And now that the emergency is upon us, Croesus never had it better.
DARK MEAT FAN
 Undoubtedly the nation's food editors will begin flooding newspapers with substitutes for the cranberry, although there isn't any, really. So I might as well toss in my two-bits' worth. One of the finest accompaniments for turkey, hot or cold, is a good Waldorf salad made with tart apples.
 It is interesting to note that modern science, short of spraying the cranberry with poison, has left this berry pretty much to its own splendid devices. The turkey has not been so lucky. Science keeps piling on the white meat in a new model turkey that continues to get broader and broader in the bosom.
 The result is a top-heavy, 40-24-36-type bird that could well answer to the name of Gina or Marilyn. Science continues to ignore those millions of true gourmets who prefer the dark meat, sweet and succulent.
 As a drumstick woman, I am convinced that the boys in the laboratories have not only fouled up the cranberry, but are working on the wrong end of the bird. Aren't there any Dietrich men in the lab?

The Question: To Option Or Not Option

A stockholder of the Duffy-Mott Co. Inc., was so pleased with the company's recent success in squeezing higher earnings out of apples (Mott's), prunes (Sun-sweet), and carrots and spinach for Clapp's baby and junior foods that he congratulated H. E. Meinhold, president. "The annual report confirms my opinion when I purchased 15 shares as custodian for my son," the stockholder wrote.
 But President Meinhold, if he read the letter, must have been taken aback by the next paragraph. This stockholder voted against a proposal in the proxy statement to grant Meinhold an option to purchase 14,000 shares of common stock. The stockholder explained:
 "I am in the management group of a large corporation. I firmly believe in the capitalistic system. I appreciate and am in sympathy with stock-option plans which provide officers an incentive to make their own stock, and mine, of greater value. However, the thought occurs to me that no additional incentive should be necessary to you, with a present ownership of approximately 11 per cent of the total stock of the company and a salary of $70,000 per year."
WHOM DO THEY BENEFIT
 The stockholder's letter reopens the broad question of stock options: Whom do they fundamentally help—the stockholders who will be enriched by the encouragement they afford officers, or officers who will be enriched by the risk-free capital-gain profits that stock options offer?
 A stock option is a preferred type of remuneration, immune against the tax collector. It is reserved to corporation officers and, sometimes, investment bankers. The average worker, school teacher, government official, or college professor doesn't get stock options. He has to pay taxes on his income, according to his bracket of earnings.
 But the high-ups in corporations, who feel that taxes are onerous, can usually persuade members of a board of directors, often themselves, to grant stock options. If the price of the stock rises, they can take up their options at an assured profit. And they only have to pay a 25 per cent tax on their capital gain.
WORKS UP OR DOWN
 The stock option has even been refined to function in a down as well as an up stock market. In early 1958, a special committee of Aluminum Co. of America decided to reduce the price of stock options to themselves and others from $117.50 a share to $68.50 a share. The stock had dropped in price. Since the stock has risen to $99 a share, the options now stand to make a $30 profit. Did this profit come about because of any extra exertion on their part? Or is it derived from the turnaround in the stock market, of which they are the fortuitous beneficiaries?

 The Duffy-Mott stock option plan, on which stockholders vote Tuesday, sets aside 4.2 per cent of the company's 600,000 shares for option to five officers who already have a substantial stake in the company, as you can see:

Officer	Shares Owned	Shares Optioned
H. E. Meinhold, Pres.	66,150	14,000
D. M. Klock,
1st VP & Treas.	17,775	9,000
W. E. Borchamp,
2nd VP	23,700	250
Page McGirt, 3rd VP	2,350	3,000
Miss E. F. Mead, Sec.	5,775	250

SUBSTANTIAL STAKE
 At the recent price of $27 a share in the over-the-counter market, McGirt's financial stake in Duffy-Mott is $63,000. That is not a trifle to be indifferent about, even though qualitatively it's less than Miss Mead's $155,000 incentive, Klock's $480,000, Borchamp's $640,000, or Meinhold's $1,780,000.
 The option price to Meinhold is $29.15 a share, or 110 per cent of the market value at the time the option was granted, whereas the price of stock to the others is $25.18 or 95 per cent of the market price. This is a legal, not a moral differentiation. A holder of more than 10 per cent of the voting power in a corporation must pay 110 per cent of the market price to get the benefit of the 25 per cent capital-gain tax rate.
 Meinhold was among 44 stockholders who sold stock a year ago to provide an adequate floating supply in a public offering. He disposed of 22,650 shares at $20. So stockholders might be inclined to wonder: Is this option of 14,000 shares an incentive for him to work harder, or a means to help him regain a position he formerly held in the stock?
 Or is it—and this is a far larger question for stockholders, taxpayers, and Congressmen—a form of remuneration which enables corporate officials to escape the upper brackets of the graduated income tax?
Unusual Discovery
 BALTIMORE (AP)—Who could match this true fairy story?
 A woman in suburban Ruxton knew for years that one of her direct ancestors was a newspaper editor shot and killed in a duel near Pittsburgh about 1805.
 Her husband knew for years that one of his direct ancestors was another newspaper editor who killed a man in a duel near Pittsburgh about 1805.
 But they were married for 10 years before man and wife learned that their ancestors were in the same duel.

Illinois Fossils

COAL CITY, Ill. (AP)—Some of the world's finest plant fossils are found in the abandoned coal strip mining fields just 55 miles southwest of Chicago's Loop.
 Rock hunters collect potato-shaped rocks from the abandoned spill heaps, then crack them open with a few hammer blows. The concretions which contain fossils split easily, revealing the imprint of plants believed to have lived millions of years ago.

An Eye On Strike

HONOLULU (AP)—Some Hawaiian firms say they will begin using Japanese steel if the United States steel strike continues for several months.
 The strike so far has not caused a great influx of steel from Japan. Most companies say they are short of some steel items, but have big enough overall stockpiles to last through the year.

Cranberry Stew Is Bubbling Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national cranberry stew bubbled again today with a new protest from growers.

Chicago health officials were holding a shipment of Wisconsin cranberries which they said were contaminated with the same kind of weed killer found earlier on some West Coast berries.

C. P. Olsson, president of Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., a national cranberry cooperative, asked President Eisenhower to declare as disaster areas the cranberry-growing states of Washington, Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In a telegram sent from Plymouth, Mass., to the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., Olsson asked Eisenhower to "provide immediate relief to thousands of small farmers for losses caused by the unnecessary, untimely and imprudent action" of Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming.

At a news conference last Monday, Flemming said traces of a weed killer had been found in some of the cranberries grown in the Pacific Northwest. He said the weed killer, Aminotriazole, had caused cancer in rats when it was included in their diet.

The secretary advised against eating the berries until tests could be made to be sure they contained no traces of Aminotriazole.

The cranberry growers immediately protesting that Flemming had pulled the rug from under them just before the holidays.

Two shipments of cranberries grown in Oregon were seized last week by health authorities. On Saturday, the Chicago Board of Health seized 20 tons of cranberries grown in Wisconsin and impounded them. The board said its tests showed four of six samples of the shipment were contaminated with the weed killer.

Sales of all cranberries and cranberry products were barred in Chicago.

Flemming will meet with cranberry growers here Wednesday.

Rites Pending For Oklahoman

COLORADO CITY — Thomas Jefferson Dobbs, 70, rancher from Tishomingo, Okla., died in the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City early Sunday morning after suffering a stroke Saturday night while visiting his son in Lorraine.

Dobbs, who had lived in Oklahoma for 20 years, was a former resident and businessman of Colorado City. He was born June 11, 1889 in Texas. Mrs. Dobbs was killed in a car wreck in March of this year.

Funeral services and burial will be in Tishomingo, according to the Kiker and Son Funeral Home in Colorado City. Time for the service is pending.

He is survived by a son, Martin of Lorraine and a daughter, Mrs. Sybil Eddins of Carlyle, Mont.; a sister, Mrs. Lorraine Sanders of Midland, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Nixon's Campaign Carefully Planned; He Does Homework

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential politics is a chancy business, where many a plan and scheme and covet but only one is chosen.

And nowhere are plans more carefully thought out and drawn than in the young, bustling political camp of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Right now the plans call for Nixon to lie low. He has only one speaking engagement the rest of this year, at a sports award dinner in New York. The big drive comes in January and February.

Ideally, a politician never sees an acquaintance without being able to recall his name immediately, never is asked a question without having a ready answer, complete with statistics, never faces an explosive situation without having previously checked on the location of the fire escapes.

No politician succeeds completely, of course. But Nixon keeps the ideal in mind always. He is a firm believer in political homework.

There is no such thing as a good, off-the-cuff speech," he will tell you.

Coming from him, this seems surprising. Unless it's an official document from which he wants to quote, he never carries so much as a note with him when he's making a speech. Yet Nixon prepares his thoughts, if not his precise words, carefully. A manuscript, he believes, gets between him and the audience.

He is convinced that politicians who use mechanical prompts on television are wrong. "Your eyes get that glassy stare," he says, and adds with a grin: "People tend to think you're cockeyed anyway without your actually looking that way."

This reporter has just returned from three days of campaigning with Nixon through snow in Wisconsin, rain in Indiana, fog in the East.

Technically, this was no campaign at all. Nixon hasn't announced whether he will be a presidential candidate, and some humorist on his staff even called this a nonpolitical tour.

NO LARK

But since he was shaking hands and talking with state politicians constantly—one day lasted a full 21 hours—this scarcely could be looked upon as a lark.

Nixon was preceded by Bob Haldeman, a young New York advertising man who is a volunteer for Nixon.

Haldeman takes a last look at details, and comforts the local arrangements people, who tend to be fidgety.

When Nixon's plane was delayed by weather on a flight into Wisconsin Rapids, Haldeman suggested small hotels and there that would still allow all the main events on the program.

Time was left so that Nixon not only could visit and talk with Wisconsin county Republican chairmen, but also could pose for pictures with each of the 160 persons who were there.

At the unexpected does occur. A surprisingly large crowd was at the Wisconsin Rapids airport. Many of them were school children who had waited for two hours in 20-degree weather.

CAN'T IGNORE THEM
Nixon peered out the plane window. "You just don't walk away from a crowd like this," he said.

As soon as he was on the ground he was boosted to the hood of the car in which he would ride. He made a few remarks, checked up to see how many were 11 and 13-year-olds like his own daughters, and said he wished he could hang around for autographs.

"My own daughters are more interested in the autograph of Frankie Avalon," he said fetching appreciative squeals from the girls.

The only sour note came from the driver who studied the foot-print scratches left on the 1960 car.

Nixon takes along a couple of Secret Service men, plus secretaries who handle his correspondence, his press relations, his appointments and his researching. All are young and possessed of relentless energy.

Nixon is at his best in question-
