"Examined and passed by the Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare." Cranberries from lots totaling more than four million pounds already have been tested and found to be free of contamination from the weed killer aminotriazole. Flemming said the plan, worked out with representatives of the cranberry industry would: 1. Assure proper testing of fresh cranberries and processed cranberry products in all stages of marketing-wholesale and retailbefore they are offered to the consuming pub

2. Provide for approved labels which the housewife can look for to be sure the package, can or bottle she buys is from tested The plan was developed at a series of private conferences after industry leaders had put forth their own suggestions at a public hearing Wednesday. Government officials are understood to have countered with some suggestions of their own as both sides sought to agree on a course of action.

A cloud of suspicion has hung over cranberry products since Flemming told a news conference 10 days ago that traces of a weed killer had been found on some of the berries grown in the Pacific Northwest. He said the weed kill-er, aminotriazole, had produced cancer when fed to rats.

British Visit

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP)-West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today wound up a visit to Britain which has cleared away some of the suspicions between the two countries and strengthened the Western alliance for summit talks with the Soviet Union.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan dropped his pet plan for an experimental disarmament zone in Central Europe, which the West Germans feared would leave them defenseless against Soviet pressure.

Adenauer gave assurances that West Germany would cooperate in averting a trade war between the six - nation European Common Market and the rival "Outer Sey-" economic blox led by Britain. Both leaders agreed on the general topics that should be dis-cussed at an East-West summit meeting: (a) Disarmament; (2)

It knew the excitement and strife of the Cart War, when non-Latin teamsters sought to drive the Mexicans and their oxcarts from the highway, and it was the only stop on the stage coach line that ran from San Antonio to Go-

For 30 years Helena prospered although during part of that time the local outlaws prospered with the city, preying on freighters, stage coaches and long travelers. These "gentry of the brush" came frequently to Helena until the Karnes County Vigilante Committee and the Texas Rangers hanged enough of them. And it was in this vicinity that John Wesley Hardin began the reputation that later earned him national notice as a gunman.

But Helena's toughness finally led to her downfall in the 90's, when B. F. Yoakum, pioneer railroad man, promoted the new San Antonio and Aransas Pass Railroad across South Texas. Knowing the county's reputation, Yoa-kum said: "If the new line could be run around Karnes County it

It was during these days, according to old-time Helena residents, that the son of a wealthy rancher from across the county was shot from his horse and killed in the streets.

The next day the boy's father showed up with his ranch hands to claim the body. He dismounted, drew a line in the dirt of the street with his quirt handle, and offered to shoot it out with any man who dared cross. He also threatened "to kill the town that colorado city—Good neigh-bor words were exchanged by Col-orado City folk and one of their major industries—Texas Electric Service Co.—at a TESCO "appre-ciation dinner" staged at Civic House here Wednesday night. Nearly 300 Mitchell County folk, with a sprinkling of visitors, made a gesture of goodwill toward the power company that has poured heavy capital expenditures into the county.

On hand to receive the compli-ments were J. B. Thomas, TESCO president; several of his top executives, and the entire board of directors of the company.

The board held a business meeting at the Baker Hotel here Thursday morning, for the first time ever convening outside of Fort Worth. This was partly at the instigation of C. C. Thompson, prominent Mitchell Countian who is on the board, and who worked with other Colorado Citians in planning the Wednesday night dinner. GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Principal speaker was Joe Bell, editor of the C-City Record and leading civic worker, who drove home the theme of TESCO's evidences of good citizenship.

It is in the field of water development for which Coloradoans recognized the utility people. Program Awaits Wildlife Crew

Representatives from the State Fish and Wildlife Service will be in Howard County sometime in the next few days to discuss methods of coping with the threat of-fered by rabid animals, Lige Fox, city sanitarian, has been advised. He said he talked with W. G. Pope, district director for the service in Lubbock, and was told that men from the department will be dispatched to Big Spring just as quickly as they are available. Pope said a number of West Texas counties have rabies control programs such as has been adopted in this county and that the expanded effort is taxing his supply of men. Meantime, Dr. Akin Simpson said that two more skunk analyzed by the state laboratory have been reported to have been rabies infected. This brings to 17 the number of animals which have been shown to be rabid this fall. Felony theft charges were filed Fifteen of these have been skunks. One cat and one fox have also proved infected

Fox said he is sending the head of a dog killed Tuesday night to the laboratory for a test. The county commissioners recently declared the rabies infestation in the county to have reached the empidemic point. This opens the way for the wild life

The Big Spring Civic Theatre Inc., will meet tonight in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Permian Building. Meeting time is 8 p.m.

In October the system bought

2,342,910 KWH and sold 2,027,265. A year ago during the same month 1,664,440 were bought and 1,395,-388 sold. Through 10 months of last year the KWH purchases stood at 37,751,660 and sales at 31,213, 678. Thus, sales for this period in 1959 are up five and a half KWH. At the end of October the Cap Rock system had 2,088 miles of energized lines, a gain of three for the month. There were 4,368 members connected, an increase of 48 during October. This raised the density of members per mile by two points, making it 2.09, which is probably a new record.

Folley Is Winner But He's Unhappy

By BOB WOOD
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Zora Folley's punches. Folley, stretched out on a bright red sofa, shook his head in digust and said, "I should have put him away twice."

Folley, 197½, the No. 2 heavyweight contender, was rehashing his unanimous decision over young son, 189½, of Pittsburgh in their nationally televised 10 - rounder Wednesday night.

The Arizonan, who used a punishing left hand and an occasional booming right, added, "I wasn't at my best. I saw the openings but just couldn't take advantage of them. This Johnson is a smart

Johnson went to the canvas three times but Referee Max Baer ruled each a slip.

Folley rested in one of the plush ground floor suites of the swank motel where the fight was staged for TV cameras and only 600 ring-siders, and griped, "Johnson might have slipped the first time, but I put him down once."

It wasn't until the late rounds that Folley, who has lost only one of his 28 bouts, was able to get stiff rights across. Johnson him into action with a good took to the face in the fifth.

in order to avoid television conflicts, promoter Sam Silverman said Wednesday.

Silverman said he has secured a national television contract for $100,000 for the January date. Of that, Silverman said, Robinson will get $75,000 while he and Pender will split the rest.

NEW YORK (AP)—Those who should know best—the club owners and general managers—expect a lot of swapping during the unprecedented three-week period of inter-league trades starting Saturday. But they don't think many "name" players will be involved.

Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, probably will be the busiest trader of them all. He's already agreed to swap Gene Green to Baltimore for Bob Nieman and is considering a Chicago White Sox offer of Billy Pierce, Billy Goodman and Jim Rivera for Joe Cunningham. He also has a bid in for Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees.

"We've talked with practically every club in both leagues," said Devine. "Most of our conversation that the White Sox Times."

Ticket Push Stepped Up

The sale of season tickets to HCJC basketball games has been intensified.

The ducats retail for $2.50 each and are good for 11 home games. That figures out to less than 25 cents a game.

Junior and senior high school students get an even better break, if they are in the market for a season pass, They can obtain them for $1 each, which figures out to about nine Members of the American Business Club are selling the tickets, as a favor to the local school. In addition, the ducats are available at Sam's Slacks

Are Profesting Loyalty Oath

Many colleges are protesting a oyalty oath required of needy college students seeking federal loyalty college loans to help pay for their educa-

Some other colleges are sup-porting the loyalty oath. Some are participating only because they feel their withdrawal from the Yale President A. Whitney Griswold termed the affidavit "contrary to the classic principles of our colleges and universities." Harvard President Nathan M.

Pusey called it an "affidavit of misbelief." Both Yale and Harvard are among those schools dropping out of the program in protest against the affidavit.

Princeton University refused to participate at the outset of the program because, said President Robert F. Goheen, the loyalty oath provision "offers no protection whatever against those who would abuse our heritage of freedom and

Columbia University has formally expressed opposition to the affidavit but participates in the program because "many Colum-bia students need the help that this act may bring to them."

Other schools are opposed to the program for different reasons. The loyalty oath is required by the National Defense Act of 1958, which put the student loan fund into operation. Required is an affidavit stating the student does not belong to, believe in or support any organization that believes or teaches the overthrow of the U.S. government by force or violence-or by any illegal or unconstitutional means. The student borrower also must swear an oath to uphold the U.S.

An effort to knock out the af-fidavit was made last summer in the U.S. Senate, but it failed, Last week, the 93-member As-sociation of Land Grant Colleges and State Institutions told Congress in a resolution that opposition to the affidavit was growing throughout the nation, Brigham Young University, al-though not opposed to the oath, returned its federal funds because it was opposed to government aid to education.

All offices in the Howard County Court House will be closed from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 24.

The closing is to afford court house officials and employes opportunity to attend a luncheon honoring Judge Charlie Sullivan of the 118th District Court.

Judge Sullivan has announced his plans to retire from the bench on Jan. 1. His associates plan a dinner in the court house in his honor. Gil Jones, district attorney, will be master of ceremonies. A committee of county officials has been named to work out details and plan the program to be

EXTRA GOOD PUMPKIN PIE FEATURES EGG NOG BASE

It's pumpkin pie time again! Of the myriad versions most cooks have tried, few are as fluffy and rich as the ones that use dairy eggnog in the filling. Dairy eggnog replaces the milk at the same time it increases the usual amount of eggs, point out home economists. Their version of this popular dessert includes cottage cheese, too, creating a doubly nourishing pumpkin pie.

Combine cottage cheese, pumpkin, egg yolks, sugar, nutmeg, lemon rind and juice; mix well. Make a paste of cornstarch and a little eggnog. Add to pumpkin mixture. Stir in rest of eggnog. Fold in egg whites. Fill crumb crust. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes, or until silver

Stuffing For Your Thanksgiving Poultry

Turkey without stuffing is un-imaginable! But often the cook is either in a hurry or else bored with the same old stuffing she has used year after year.

Let us present solutions to both of these problems through the herb-seasoned stuffing that you can find in any grocery store and sausage stuffings.

In the packaged stuffings sage and onion predominate. By following the directions on the pack-age you can have a simple-tomake stuffing for your turkey or

TURKEY STUFFING . . .

Oysters Are An Old American Tradition

The all-American bird-the turkey-is synonymous with home parties whenever menus are planned for the holiday season. And when the man of the house starts carving, the stuffing always shares the honors with the festive fowl.

There is nothing as delicious as an oyster stuffing, nor anything which reflects so much of early Americana. Our ancestors truly appreciated the oyster for its deectable flavor and enjoyed them in great quantities not only on the half shell, but in turkey stuffing and in soups and chowders. Unfortunately, for our ancestors, only to the crumbs. Add seasonings those living near our American and parsley and moisten with the shores could include oysters in oyster stew. Gets Back To The $64 Question

To no one's surprise, most of the recommendations from the Community Confer-ence on Education are leading to the straight and narrow gate of financing. As they say in geometry: Quod erat

While part of the purpose of the conference is to acquaint citizens with the strengths and weaknesses of the system, and to enlist group thinking toward a solution of a vexatious problem, it is no secret that administrators and policy-makers were certain that these same citizens would acquaint themselves with another fact of life - namely that it takes mon-

Thus, most recommendations of the plant, program, extra-curricula and personnel committees will feed back to the finance committee for a source of revenue for implementing suggestions. The committee faces a big responsibility in pulling rabbits out of the fiscal hat. There are only about three ways to get new revenue - one is to raise the rates (either by rate or valuation increases), to broaden the base with new taxable valuations, or to come up with new sources (which may be pre-empted to other agencies or legally removed from schools). The problem is compounded by the fact that other agencies suckle at the same breast.

Another proposal mentioned as a possiblity is increasing the length of school to provide year-around use of the plant. The idea is that we're paying 100 per cent (200 by the time interest charges are added in) for 75 per cent use. This is an intriguing suggestion but one so fraught with obstacles that a carload Solomons may be needed to figure all the angles. But these and others do indicate some bold thinking.

Watch It Around Those Schools

Run any stop signs lately?

Well, you'd best not in the next few days, particularly near the new Marcy School, on the Old San Angelo Highway. The police are trying to enforce safety around the school until drivers become accustomed to the new traffic hazards.

And it's a good thing, too. Policemen are only human. Many drivers they just warn, politely pointing out that the sign says "stop," not "yield right of way" or "slow down." It means you come to a complete stop, not just slow your car, throw it into second gear, look quickly at the traffic, and dash onto the highway.

But tickets are being given. Some people blithely ignore the 15-m.p.h. signs near the school and dash right through, other drivers pull equally senseless stunts, and they usually get tickets. Those who were driving safely enough but not technically within the letter of the law don't generally get anything but a warning. Unless they sass the officer, of course. Keep up the good work, officers. We don't want a dead child to start out with the new school.

Round About Reasoning

WASHINGTON - Lawyers in many parts of the country are expressing surprise at the reasoning used by Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court of the United States in his dissenting opinion in the steel case. They point to it as another example of the tendency of present-day justices to consider themselves as writers of legislation rather than of judicial rulings and as exponents of what the "law of the land" ought to be rather than what it is in the light of edents and previous decisions.

For Justice Douglas, in his recent opinfon, contradicted the reasoning he himused when he spoke, not in dissent, but for the majority of the court in a case decided 15 years ago.

The other day Justice Douglas didn't agree with the eight justices that an 80day court injunction was necessary, ordering all strikers in the entire steel indusback to work. The dissenting justice said, "there is nothing in this record to sustain the conclusion that it is necessary to send 500,000 men back to work to give the Defense Department all it needs for the nation's 'safety.'"

DIFFERENT VIEW

Justice Douglas seemed to think that a blanket injunction might be proved unnecessary and only a portion of the strikers need return to work. But in the 1944 case, known as Bowles V. Willingham, Justice Douglas, writing in behalf of a majority of the Supreme Court, took a different view of blanket injunctions or court orders. The case involved the rentcontrol provisions of the emergency price control act. This law was not unconstitutional, said the Douglas opinion, just be-cause it required the administrator to fix maximum rents which were generally fair and equitable instead of applying the fair and equitable test to each individual landlord. Incidentally, the landlord got no hearing before the administrator issued his rent-control order, and he was limited solely to judicial review after the order fixing his rent became effective. Justice Douglas called this due process, and he wrote:

"A member of the class which is regulated may suffer economic losses not shared by others. His property may lose utility and depreciate in value as a consequence of regulation. But that has never been a barrier to the exercise of police power. . .

CAN'T GUARANTEE RETURNS "A nation which can demand the lives of its men and women in the waging of that war is under no consitutional necessity of providing a system of price con-trol on the domestic front which will assume each landlord a fair return on his

There are certain traditional objections that are always voiced with women comes up.

They can be summarized: When you first marry a woman she glows like the morning sun, but in time she kind of gets to look like a rain-stained old copper

A woman talks endlessly but rarely says what she really knows -or really knows what she says, so how can a man ever understand her? A man can understand only things that make sense. In keeping appointments, woman always arrives by the calendar instead of the clock.

A woman is supposed to have the right to change her mind, but an's mind also never lets go the sounder footing for all.

Those Masculine Women

A woman never knows the value of a sound dollar or a good man until both are gone from her. Well, there is no doubt that most of these moss-grown objections to women are still fairly valid, and probably always will be. But if you polled most American men I doubt these reasons would explain the fact there is a age the idea they should try vast and growing grudge among many males against U. THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Some sources trace the beginning of the Texas oil inlustry back to this day in 1866, when Lynis T. Barrett showed samples of the oil he had found to Pennsylvania producers. John F. Carll, Pennsylvania pioneer, examined the samples presented by Barrett and pronounced the oil worth further drilling. However, the Pennsylvanians would not invest in further explorations and Barrett was left to raise funds for the Melrose Petroleum Company on his own, He was never able to promote the necessary capital, and commercial production of oil in Texas was delayed another generation. Barrett had drilled his well near Melrose in Nacogdoches in the autumn of 1866 and found his oil traces at a depth of 100 feet. His rig was described as an auger eight feet long and eight inches in diameter fastened by clamps to a pipe. The drill stem was mounted under a pole

Texans had exploited oil before Barrett's drilling, by digging out pits into which the oil was permitted to seep. Jack Graham is supposed to have dug a well in Angeline County in 1859, using a spring pole rig, but without finding oil.

Early Texas Indians used oil from springs around the Nacogdoches area. Spanish explorers found oil scum on the surface of Sabine Pass and used it to refinish their boats.

'Big Spring' Location Needs Advertising

Surprisingly, there are many Big Springers who have little or no idea where the original "big spring" is located.

When visitors come to town, it is natural to take them up on Scenic Mountain and point out Webb AFB, Cosden's refinery and the Settles Hotel. These are familiar landmarks and striking when seen from the scenic drive.

Except for some badly deteriorated wooden signs, the original spring is not marked. It takes a pretty good map to even find it.

When Indians chased buffalo over the present sites of many West Texas cities, the "big spring" was a well known camp-ing place. Animals, Indians, and early traders depended on the spring for water. Yet today, we have no signs on our highways pointing out this important site of an earlier era. There is not a permanent sign at the site of the spring to indicate its location.

But this spring is the reason for Big Spring being where it is today. Had there been no water supply such as this, the city would have been located in any of several more easily developed areas. The present location is hampered by drainage problems and poor building sites. Yet, we are here, building a city of some importance in West Texas. And all because water was available to early pio-

And further, we are fortunate in being located at the crossroads of two major highways. Signs pointing out the location of the spring could be established on these. Many cities, starting with much less, have made much more of their communities merely by pointing out their histori-

The Ultimate In Brass

How many Americans, I wonder, realized until recently that diplomatic immunity extended to murder? That it literally permitted diplomats, their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, to get away with murder? We ordinary squares who live in New York are well aware that diplomatic immunity allows anyone with a diplomatic license tag to triple park, part in front of a fire plug, park in "No Parking" areas, speed and, in general, ignore all the rules and courtesies of the road. (These are facts of which the ordinary citizens of Washington, D. C., have been aware for decades.)

But it must have come as a shock to millions, as it did to me, that the grown son of an ambassador - a man with a police record for brawling and disorderly conduct - can kill a woman in the streets Washington and walk away.

GOD HELP UNCLE SAM If the comparable son of an American ambassador drove an automobile in such a manner that it killed a middle-aged woman in the streets of Paris, Rome, Cairo, New Delhi, Tokyo or Manila, God help Uncle Sam! It doesn't require much imagination to picture what would happen. If the killer took refuge in diplomatic immunity, there would be anti-American riots in the streets and, in all probability, mobs stoning the American Embassy.

Communist propagandists would make a Roman holiday of such imperialist behavior on the part of the flower of capitalist society.

News media around the world would scream the house down with denunciations of the American way and our undisciplined behavior. Our careless disregard of the lives of "native" people would make stirring editorial fodder.

There would be loud and persistent demands that the American ambassador be declared persona non grata. PERSONA NON GRATA did not recall the ambassador before the host government made such a request, it seems incredible that the ambassador himself would not be sufficiently sensitive to resign. Or, lacking that grace, would not feel impelled at the very least to send his son packing back to his homeland. By the time this sees print, I would hope that the United States Government and the State Department have discovered their respective backbones and hinted to Ireland, if that country has failed to act, that the Irish Ambassador, John J. Hearne, and his delinquent son, David, 21, are no longer welcome in the United States. (Young Hearne has returned to Ireland-Ed.)

If the sins of the father are visited upon his children even until the third and fourth generation, the rule works in reverse, too. Ambassador Hearne may be the finest diplomat in the nation's

HE IS RESPONSIBLE

But he, as both ambassador and father, is responsible for his son's behavior. And that behavior, for the past 30 months, is a matter of police record. Only 48 hours before the son's car struck and killed Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 54, the State Department sent to the ambassador a lengthy police report on his son's brawl-

I have waited in vain to hear the killer express so much as one word of regret over the death of his victim. Well, He Wasn't Wrong

George Romney gets my nomination as the Award Man of 1959. He has received medals, plaques, citations, honorary doctorates, etc., at the rate of 11/2 per month for lifting American Motors from a "nonprofit" corporation to a Wall Street success dream. He has been forced - a man can't be in two places at once and run a $900,000,000-a-year business at the same time - to turn down another dozen

Wednesday, to celebrate its 135th anniversary, the historic Franklin Institute of Philadelphia presented Romney with the Vermilye medal "in recognition of outstanding contribution to the field of industrial management."

ELITE CIRCLE

Conclusion: The president of American. Motors Corp., along with the Rambler car and American Motors stock, has achieved an indelible stamp of arrival. Old-line Philadelphians don't bestow awards loosely. All seven previous recipients of the Vermilye medal and their companies had achieved distinction when honored. They were:

Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville Corp.; William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors and first war production chief in World War II; Walter Gifford, president of American Telephone & Telegraph; Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Howard Pew, a former president of Sun Oil; Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of United States Steel, and Frederick C. Crawford, chairman of Thompson Products, Inc.

"Defeatism has no place in America." said Gifford, in his Vermilye acceptance speech, as if to foreshadow Romney, "I know many men who are responsible for management of large and small business enterprises. I know of none who is not confident of the postwar future."

Romney had faith in himself and an idea when his company ran huge deficits, his bankers weren't happy over his loans, and Americans, generally, were fixed in the notion that an auto without a Big-Three nameplate was pinchbeck. CONDESCENDING

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler executives smiled benignantly while Romney denounced their gas-guzzling dinosaurs. They wished him well. Now, they're earnestly trying to take away his market. no greater compliment can Detroit pay any man or company. The American Society of Association Executives this week awarded Romney its first "key" because he "shook up America's smug auto magnates with the country's first small-budget car.

Wall Street, too, has stamped "arrival" on Romney, American Motors is the highest-priced automobile stock on the New York Stock Exchange. Five investment trusts reported holdings of 49,500 shares as of Sept. 30. Arthur Wiesenberger & Co., New York Stock Exchange house and leading authority on investment trusts, is Motors if the company earns $13 in 1960. Around 90, the stock sells at 8 times estimated 1959 earnings of about $11 a share. Wiesenberger thinks this could be upgraded to 10 times, in which case the stock might reach $130. And "if one applies an average earnings multiple of the Big Three, it could in time trade at

A BIG FOUR

To Wiesenberger, American Motors no longer is an auto company apart. It's on its way to making a Big Four. It has achieved status in Wall Street and in the general marketplace.

Three and four years ago, Romney made speeches at meetings of security analysts societies with leather-lunged enthusiasm, trying to convince investment specialists that the company's stock at $6, $7, and $8 a share was worth thinking about. I wrote at the time:

"If Romney's correct in his appraisal, if the trend's toward the more economical car, if the Rambler's accepted, he has a gold mine. If he's wrong. . .

Most persons then thought he was wrong. Now, they're beating a path to his door with medals, plaques, and diplomas, and Frederic Donner, at General Motors, Henry Ford II, at Ford, L. L. Colbert, at Chrysler, and Harold Churchill. at Studebaker-Packard, are producing compact cars.

"I actually think I am 57 years old," he said. "The self-hypnosis has worked. Of course, I'm not going to do anything foolish. I wouldn't go out with 18-year-old girls, as I might have when I was

"I know I'm not 57 in my body, but I think I am 57 up here (tap-ping his head). How else would I be able to do calisthenics like this every morning? (he touched his fingers to the floor.) How else could I be reading three scripts at one time? How else could I pursue my ambition to be really good dramatic actor? wouldn't have the nerve if thought I was 73."

Recently Ed took a physical exam required for films to get cast insurance. When asked his age, he explained his theory. Later, the doctor said he passed the test with flying colors and added, "You're in fine shape for a man of 57."

U.S. Income Index Is Up

come of all Americans rose in October for the second straight month despite the steel strike, the Commerce Department said to-

Personal income, a broad measure of purchasing power, in-creased by one billion dollars to an annual rate of $381,900,000,000. A 200-million-dollar drop in rate of wage and salary payments was more than offset by increases in some other types of income. Farm income, for example, was up 500 million dollars to an annual rate of $13,900,000,000 Government benefit payments rose by 300 million dollars, largely because of unemployment bene-fits paid workers laid off by side effects of the steel strike. With interest rates rising, interest income also increased by 300 million dollars.

Personal income hit a record rate of $383,800,000,000 in June, before the steel walkout. It fell to a low point of 380 billion dollars in August and has been climbing since then.

The drop in wages and salaries centered in industries making durable goods, partly because of steel shortages. Wage and salary payments in nondurable goods industries were little changed from

Central Lyndon Offices Set Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Central offices for state and national cam-paigns to back Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) for the Demo-cratic presidential nomination were set up here Wednesday.

A full-time staff will man the headquarters and coordinate efforts in Johnson's behalf. Honorary chairmen of an executive committee to spearhead the drive will be Gov. Price Daniel and Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), speaker of the House.
