Accident Victim's Condition Grave

Condition of Jessie T. Andrews, 25-year-old Cosden employee, gravely burned in a flash fire accident on Monday, was described Tuesday as extremely critical. Andrews, whose home address is 611 Runnels, was reportedly burned over more than 90 per cent of his body when a butane-propane explosion trapped him and six companions as they worked to replace a valve in a line at the refinery. His six companions were fortunate enough to escape with less serious injuries. Andrews, the Big Spring Hospital reported, had a "very poor night." He had been an employee of Cosden for only six months. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. George T. Andrews, 202 E. Midland, in Odessa. Reports indicated that the other six men hurt in the sudden blast are making satisfactory progress. Five are at the Big Spring Hospital and one at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

YOUR CHANCE TO BE SANTA

In these days of pre-Christmas hustle-bustle, don't overlook the fact that many children never know the happiness of seeing a Santa Claus. The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND affords you the opportunity to help those who need help—with toys and food at Christmas, with medicinal help throughout the year. This is a volunteer undertaking sponsored by The Herald and the city firemen, and you may be assured that every penny goes for real benefit. Don't hold back because your gift isn't big. It can be a dime or a quarter. But help the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

Make your checks to the Herald for acknowledgment. Thanks to an old faithful, Miss Agnes Currie with a gift of $5, the fund today goes up to $155. It needs to be ten times that.

Those at Big Spring Hospital are George Harvell, BTX supervisor, 1514 Kentucky; Jesse Kelley, 33, of 1203 Barnes; James Herrm, Colorado City; A. G. Goodson, 32, electrician, 1304 Eleventh Place, and R. A. Swann, Rt. 1, Big Spring, an employee of a contractor working at the refinery.

AMERICANS INVOLVED

Cuban Tribunal Ends Case; Death Asked

HAVANA (AP)—A military tribunal today ended an 18-hour trial of 2 Americans and 37 Cubans accused of conspiring to overthrow Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime. The court announced it would not reach its verdict before Wednesday.

The prosecution demanded the firing squad for Frank Austin Young, 38, a commercial pilot who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and makes his home in Miami, Fla., and for Fernando Pruno Bertot, 24, Cuban, and former student at Columbia University in New York.

Thirty-year prison sentences were sought against the other defendants, including Peter John Lambton, 24, a British-born naturalized American of Nassau, Bahamas.

The government said it would accept lesser sentences or even acquittal for the other defendants. Under new legal rules recently promulgated by Castro's cabinet, the prosecution as well as the defense can appeal a verdict.

A second tribunal was scheduled to begin hearing testimony in Havana today against Rafael Del Pino, 33, of Miami, a naturalized American who once supported Castro, and five Cubans, all accused of being counter-revolutionaries. The death sentence is sought for all six.

Del Pino was captured last July when he flew a small plane from Florida and tried to pick up Cubans seeking to leave the country.

Young, Lambton and their Cuban codefendants were captured during a clash with Cuban troops during which one soldier was killed.

Both Americans denied in pre-trial statements that they came to Cuba to plot against the government. Lambton said he was on an assignment to take pictures of counter-revolutionaries for an American company he identified as the Independent Press Service.

In Miami, Fla., Carl Stewart, head of the press service, said he had sent Lambton to Cuba to take photos and to collect background information for use in magazines aimed at a male reading audience.

Stewart said he had employed Lambton previously on assignments but had never sent him to Cuba before.

A month ago, Stewart said, he went to Cuba himself with miniature cameras and the same kind of identification papers carried by Lambton.

"I don't think much will come of it," Stewart said of the trial.

Young said he came to Cuba to serve as Lambton's guide. Shown documents with his signature as "commander of group," he testified he had only signed the papers to show the Cubans how to draw up orders. His Cuban attorney said Young knew no Spanish and therefore could not have led the group.

The two cases are the first to be handled by military tribunals since their reinstatement. During the first six months of the Castro regime, they sent about 555 persons before firing squads.

Chants of "to the firing squad" rang out at Santiago Monday night after Castro asked a crowd of 500,000, "What do you want for counter-revolutionaries?"

The bearded leader lashed out at foreign interests and Cuba's wealthy during a three-hour speech marking the third anniversary of his revolution, which began in Santiago.

"The dictatorship (of Fulgencio Batista) kept the army to defend the great interests, to defend foreign companies," he declared. "The army existed in Cuba to abuse unfortunate."

The prime minister promised the cheering crowd that "foreign monopolies shall not return."

Turning to the upper classes from which he himself sprang, Castro repudiated those rich Cubans who supported his revolution. He termed their support a disgrace and said, "it would have been better if they hadn't helped."

Sanchez is accused of the knife death on Nov. 1, 1958 of Larry Viera, 16.

At the time of the slaying, Sanchez was only 16 years old and therefore not eligible for trial before a district court jury for the crime. He was committed to the state reformatory at Gatesville where he remained until reaching his 17th birthday last May. He was returned to jail here June 6. He is now at liberty on $5,000 bond.

The slaying of Viera occurred late on the night of Nov. 1 on the parking lot at the Ritz Theater. The youth was fatally stabbed as he was about to enter the theater. He was later apprehended. He made a statement to the officials, Jones said at the time admitting that he was the wielder of the knife, which he said fell out of his pocket when he fled the scene. The knife has not been found.

Nippy Weather Adds Christmas Season Touch

A light coat of frost on car windows and lawns, and a few sluggish water pipes this morning gave December its traditional nippy Yuletide appearance in Big Spring.

The U. S. Experiment Farm recorded a low of 25 degrees last night and a chilly 27 at 8 this morning.

The 27 was a mile warmer than the low for Dec. 1 set in 1918. It was 17 that year but the day later warmed up for a high of 79.

The predicted high for today is 72 and with only a slight breeze and clear skies it'll be an ideal day to get in some more of that Yuletide shopping.

S. CLAUIS IS EMBARRASSED; PANTS GONE

This is embarrassing. Santa Claus has lost his pants—and his coat, too. In fact, the entire Santa suit of the Chamber of Commerce is missing. And here it is time to take it out of mothballs. The chamber uses the costume for community functions and has made it available to others. Presumably the last person to borrow it last year neglected to return it. So—if you have a strange pair of red pants and coat with white trim, and a set of whiskers around the house, the chamber would love to hear from you.

Only 3 People Survive Tragedy

BULLETIN

MONTOURSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An Allegheny Airlines plane, groping for a landing in a snowstorm, crashed into a 1,400-foot mountain today. A doctor at the scene said there were three survivors among the 25 aboard "but two aren't expected to live."

Others said the plane did not burn. The copter pilot, not identified, said he could see one passenger still strapped to a seat high up in a tree.

In Washington, an airlines spokesman said an Air Force sergeant, whose name was not obtained, was dropped from the helicopter and picked up one survivor who was taken to a Williamsport hospital.

He said the helicopter, from Olmstead Air Force Base at Harrisburg, returned to the crash scene with doctors from Williamsport and later radioed a request for more medical aid. He expressed hope that this indicated additional survivors.

Myron McGrath, manager of the airport, said he understood there was one survivor, but it was not clear immediately whether the pilot and McGrath were talking about the same person.

Allegheny Airlines has carried passengers since 1949, without a fatal accident. In the last two years it has won national awards for safe operations.

Montoursville is about 90 miles north of Harrisburg, the state capital. Eagle Mountain lies between U.S. Highway 15 and the community of Muncy.

State Police described the visibility as "practically zero."

The Air Force helicopter located the plane about 11:25 a.m., some two hours after the plane's Martin executive-type craft was due at the airport. The plane left Philadelphia around 7:18 a.m. There were scheduled stops at Harrisburg, Williamsport - Montoursville, Bradford and Erie, Pa., and Cleveland.

It was Allegheny Flight 371. At Washington, an airlines spokesman said the pilot last was heard from when he was cleared for a landing at 9:41 a.m. Snow was falling at the time. Moments later the plane broke through the storm over the airport. But it turned away, the spokesman said.

David L. Miller, vice president of the line, said 19 persons boarded the craft in Philadelphia. Six got off in Harrisburg and nine passengers boarded there.

29 Ballots In Judge Election

Twenty-nine of a possible total of 30 ballots have been cast by lawyers in the 118th Judicial District voicing their preference for a successor to Judge Charlie Sullivan, who is resigning from the bench Jan. 1.

Under the terms of a motion adopted by the bar association the ballots are to be counted on Wednesday and the numerical results of the voting sent to Gov. Price Daniel to help him decide on whom to appoint to the vacancy.

There are only two names on the ballots—Clyde Thomas Sr. and Ralph W. Caton.

Addison Gets Trial Support

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Hundreds wearing large buttons saying "I am a leader to John Milton Addison" gathered around the courtroom Monday as the trial of the uranium promoter began.

Addison, 31, is trying to save his million dollar uranium upgrade business.

He is on trial on a three-count indictment accusing him of stealing $1,250 from an Austin dentist; selling a security without a license from the State Security Board; and conspiring to sell unregistered securities.

Three jurors were accepted Monday. Addison, dressed in slacks and sports shirt, charged the state with trying to prevent formation of a jury. Over 300 witnesses have been subpoenaed.

E. W. Rensmeyer, management analyst for the government, was first juror to be seated.

An Austin dentist, Dr. Cliff Ochslein, is the complainant in the indictment. Addison told reporters his $1,250 note to Ochslein is due March 21. The dentist won't get his money until then because he threatened Addison, the promoter said.

IKE AWARDS MEDAL

McElroy Quits Post As U. S. Defense Chief; Gates Is In

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neil H. McElroy resigned today as secretary of defense and President Eisenhower chose Thomas S. Gates Jr., now deputy secretary, to succeed him.

The resignation, long expected and effective immediately, was announced by the White House while McElroy was attending a meeting of the National Security Council with Eisenhower presiding.

At that session the President awarded the Medal of Freedom to McElroy for "outstanding service to his country and his dedication to his task."

In a letter to Eisenhower dated Nov. 27 McElroy said he was resigning for personal reasons of an urgent nature.

He plans to return to Procter & Gamble, Cincinnati, Ohio, soap manufacturing firm.

Eisenhower, in a "Dear Neil" letter, accepted McElroy's resignation with regret and expressed "deep appreciation of your distinguished service." McElroy served as defense chief for 26 months, starting in the fall of 1957.

Eisenhower gave Gates a recess appointment. A formal nomination will go to the Senate when Congress reconvenes in January.

Gates, 53, has been deputy secretary of defense since last June. He took that job at Eisenhower's request after having resigned as secretary to the Navy to return to private business. He is a Philadelphia investment banker.

Gates was the Navy's civilian chief from 1957 until earlier this year. Prior to that he served as undersecretary of the Navy.

McElroy, now 55, has presided over the Pentagon longer than any other secretary of defense except Charles E. Wilson who served 4½ years. McElroy took over in the fall of 1957 as Wilson's successor.

McElroy has been intending to step down earlier but his plans were revised because of the death May 8 of Deputy Secretary Donald A. Quarles who had been groomed to take his place.

Gates has been intending to quit as secretary of the Navy last July 1 but was persuaded to stay on in the deputy post.

In connection with that change McElroy said on May 19: "I have suspended my plans for departure. I don't know when I will be leaving if at all."

Later that day he made it slightly more specific by saying he would "certainly be here into December."

Lyndon Wants Zooming Economy

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson advocated today an American economy that does not zig, nor zag, but zooms.

"We need to stimulate our economy, not depress it," he told the American Medical Assn. house of delegates. "We need to invigorate our economy, not repress it. This is what makes America."

"In setting our course, we do not need to zig. We do not need to zag. We need to zoom."

Air Force Slashes Big B70 Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force today all but canceled the B70 heavy bomber program.

It cut the program, on which about half a billion dollars has been spent to date, back to a small-scale development project to produce a "prototype." It was indicated the reduced program would result in a couple of planes, the first to make its test flight in about 1963.

The B70, designed to fly at three times the speed of sound, was originally planned as a replacement for the B52 heavy, intercontinental nuclear bomber.

North American Aviation Co. holds the major contract. General Electric was responsible for the J83 advanced jet engine designed to power the bomber.

Other major aircraft companies and electronic firms were heavily involved in the B70. Lockheed, Boeing and Chance Vought had major subcontracts.

The Air Force said that the work being done by these three companies would be turned over to North American for the greatly-reduced development program.

The Air Force said the decision terminated some contracts connected with the B70. Among the canceled-subcontracts were those with International Business Machines for the bomb-navigation system, with Westinghouse Electric for defensive subsystems, and with Motorola for traffic control.

Officials estimated that reduction of the B70 program to a strictly development project would save the Air Force about 85 million dollars in the fiscal 1961 budget that will be submitted to Congress next month.

The first of the American Credo stamps, featuring George Washington's famous statement in his Farewell Address of 1796 ("Observe good faith and justice toward all nations"), will be placed on sale at Mount Vernon, Va., on Jan. 20, 1960.

The design for this 4-cent stamp has been given in this column previously.

Stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations may send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Mount Vernon, Va. The outer envelope should be endorsed "First Day Covers 4-Cent Washington Credo Stamp."

The dates and places of the other five Credo stamps will be announced soon.

Switzerland's 1959 "Pro Juventute" set will be issued on Dec. 31, containing five values, four of which are flowers. The fifth bears the portrait of a famous Swiss personage.

The flower stamps are: 10-centimes plus 10-centimes surcharge, 20-centimes plus 10-centimes surcharge, 30-centimes plus 10-centimes surcharge, 50-centimes plus 10-centimes surcharge.

A 5-C plus 5 honors Carl Hilty (1833-1909), noted scholar, philosopher and for many years a member of the International Court of Justice at the Hague, reports the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America.

This stamp features a three-quarter portrait of Abraham Lincoln with a quotation from his Gettysburg Address: "Of the People, By the People, For the People," around the sides and top.

Texas Has Only Jail For Candy

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Stripper Candy Barr will be arrested the moment she enters Texas, Dallas Sheriff Bill Decker said Monday. Her attorney, Fred Semaan, said Candy is expected here Wednesday or Thursday. He said he talked to Internal Revenue Service agents and they told him she would arrive here by Thursday.

The agents have been questioning her about financial dealings of her former friend, gambler Mickey Cohen.

Decker said in Dallas that a mandate from the Court of Criminal Appeals had arrived. A warrant has been issued for her arrest in California.

Semaan plans to re-appeal the stripper's 15-year narcotics sentence which was affirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court last week.

Suspect Fights At Arraignment

HARRISONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Betty Lou Moore, 29, who has admitted slaying her husband and two children, screamed, sobbed and fought with officers at her arraignment Monday.

"It isn't true," she screamed as she snatched a murder complaint from the magistrate and tore the paper to pieces. "I want to die," she wept during an earlier interview.

She was ordered held without bond for a preliminary hearing Dec. 2.

Her husband, Charles Moore, 25, and their children, Meety Janelle, 5, and David, 4, were shot while sleeping in their home at Belton, Mo., last Friday night.

The next day Mrs. Moore, fleeing in the family car, surrendered to police at Grand Island, Neb., and said she had shot her family

Lamprey May Be On His Last Fins

By EDWARD KITCH

CHICAGO (AP)—The slippery sea lamprey, the scourge of the once profitable Great Lakes fishing industry, may be on the skids.

For 20 years lakes fishermen have watched their catch drop as the eel parasites preyed on trout. U.S. Fish and Wildlife experts estimate the voracious lampreys destroy about 11 million pounds of fish a year.

Now there are indications the tide is beginning to turn.

Dr. James W. Moffett, laboratory director of the Fish and Wildlife Service at Ann Arbor, Mich., says the lamprey kill at electric barriers on Lake Superior streams is running 22 per cent below last year.

The decrease may be due to natural fluctuations in lamprey reproduction, lower food supply or effectiveness of the dozens of electric wires set up across lake streams to electrocute lamprey before they can spawn.

Whatever the reason for the downward trend, the Fish and Wildlife Service is now bringing to bear what it hopes will be a knockout punch. Years of research has produced a chemical which apparently can kill the lamprey larva in the spawning grounds without damaging other fish.

"It is our goal to treat all streams in the United States and Canadian waters of Lake Superior with larvicides by June 30, 1960," Dr. Moffett says.

It's been a long hard row for the government fish specialists to find a way to rid the lakes of the insidious lamprey, which arrived in Lakes Erie and Huron from the sea little more than 20 years ago.

Diminishing numbers of lake trout were first noticed on Lake Huron, where the annual trout catch of 1,800,000 pounds dropped as low as 5,000 by 1948.

The same story was repeated in Lake Michigan. In 10 years the annual catch of 650 million pounds dropped to a mere 402 pounds in 1953.

Fishermen took their problem to Washington in 1939 and a congressional bill providing $20,000 annually for 10 years enabled the Fish and Wildlife Biological Laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich., to pursue the lamprey problem.

Dr. Moffett and Dr. Vernon C. Applegate have been on the project from the start.

Like detectives seeking clues, they studied the life-span of the lamprey. About 1950 a laboratory was established in an abandoned Coast Guard station at Hammond Bay on Lake Huron near Rogers City, Mich.

At this field station, the fish and wildlife men began trapping the lamprey with mechanical weirs, dams and electrical devices.

The object was to stop the lamprey from spawning and to get specimens as well as statistics.

Like the salmon that ascend streams from the ocean to spawn, the Sea Lamprey moves up 233 known lamprey-spawning streams in the United States and 100 on the Canadian side.

The mature lamprey moves upstream in April and May. About 10 miles from the lake inlet, the lamprey female lays its eggs on sand and gravel in a crude nest. Sixteen days later they begin to hatch. The tiny organisms bury themselves in the mud of the stream bed.

In five years, a metamorphosis takes place. The worm-like five-inch long lampreys swim downstream to enter the lake.

They grow to about 30 inches in length and as round as a garden hose. They live off other fish from 12 to 18 months. Then the lampreys ascend the streams again, spawn and die almost immediately.

Traffic Deaths Outdo Thugs

DALLAS (AP)—Traffic criminals kill more people and cause more damage than outlaws, Inspector C. G. Conner of the Texas Department of Public Safety said Monday.

He spoke at the first annual North Texas Seminar on Religion and Safety.

Sponsored by the Dallas and Fort Worth regions of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the meeting brought together ministers and church members to discuss what part the church can play in helping enforce traffic regulations.

Conner was one of several Department of Safety members who spoke. Brad H. Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, also spoke.

"Traffic criminals killed more than twice as many people in Texas last year than murderers and caused 10 times the property damage as destroyed by burglars and vandals," he added.

"Pennsylvania employs four times as many patrolmen as Texas. And in Texas we have one in three high school people in driver education. Other states have three in three," he said.

Smith said the governor will proclaim Dec. 13 as Safety Sunday and ask each pastor to mention it in his sermon.

Blanks To Real

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Starter pistols, used in athletic events, apparently have also been used to start trouble, the Essex County grand jury says. It urged that the pistols be regulated so that minors can't buy them.

Jurists noted that the pistols, made to shoot blanks, could be converted to shoot real bullets.

Teague Joins Islands Critic

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.), honored three years ago by the Philippine government, sided today with a colleague who charged officials of the islands with corruption and abuse of American military personnel.

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, also said he is suggesting to the State Department that it ask Carlos Romulo, the Philippine ambassador to the U.S., about published remarks attributed to him.

Romulo, in commenting on accusations by Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb.) regarding troubled relations between the United States and the Philippine government, said American prestige abroad was falling because its overseas representatives were men "lacking in background and mentality."

"I am suggesting to the secretary of state," Teague said, "that he ask Ambassador Romulo to name our people whom he considers lacking in background and mentality."

A decorated combat veteran of World War II, Teague visited Philippine President Ramon Mag-saysay shortly before Magsaysay was killed in a plane crash in the Philippines March 17, 1957. Magsaysay presented him with a medal.

Pedestrians Die In Odd Accident

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A woman getting out of a car accidentally bumped the gas pedal, and the car shot onto a sidewalk thronged with Christmas shoppers. Two persons were killed and three injured.

Margaret Powell, 43, and a man tentatively identified as S. C. Reppe, about 65, both pedestrians, died.

Sophia Ortigas, 28, whose husband said she inadvertently started the automatic transmission car into motion, was among the injured. The other two were pedestrians.

David Ortigas, 34, told police the accident occurred when he got out of the car at an intersection to let his wife out of the driver's side.

The car shot through a red light, careened off another automobile and smashed onto the sidewalk at a department store.

Sprucing Up 500-Year-Old Clock

The oldest clock in America, an import from 15th Century France, has been restored to working order for the four-day Clinical Meeting of the American Medical Association in Dallas, which started today. It highlights Wallace Laboratories' exhibit of historical and unusual clocks, emphasizing the 12-hour effectiveness of its tranquilizing drug, Mepronan. Miss Del Boeman had set this ancient timepiece for 8:00 a.m., a half hour before the opening of the meeting. Driven by weights, the clock has no minute hand and will run about two hours off during the course of a day—proof that life was slower and more relaxed in those days.

MAN AND TIME

Ancient Clocks To Star At Dallas Medical Convention

DALLAS — A unique exhibit of historic and modern timepieces, including what is believed to be the oldest clock in America, as well as a clock that runs on solar energy, will be shown to physicians attending the four-day Clinical Meeting of the American Medical Assn. here starting Tuesday, December 1. The exhibit is being presented by Wallace Laboratories, a pharmaceutical manufacturer of New Brunswick, N. J. The clock exhibit is titled "The Span of Time."

ONLY HOUR HAND
The oldest clock in America was actually built in France during the 15th Century. It has only an hour hand, since minute hands did not come into use until a few hundred years later. This old clock, like others built prior to the development of the pendulum, was off as much as two hours a day. Its operating power was—and still is—achieved by falling weights. The solar clock operates on energy from the sun or from any standard household illumination. Photons of light are captured and transformed into electrical energy, which may be used or stored to keep the clock running during the night. "The Span of Time" will also include a rare model of the pendulum clock designed by Galileo. Although Galileo discovered the principle of the pendulum, he first used it not in a clock, but in a device which a physician friend of his used to measure pulse beats. Physicians will also see a "heartbeat watch," a newly-developed device which records beats over a 24-hour period. This unique timepiece, which employs a watch adapted to count heartbeats instead of time, weighs just a few ounces and is worn on the chest.

NOON GUN SHOWN
Also on exhibit will be an early "noon gun," a sundial and burning glass which is designed to fire a cannon when the sun's rays focus on a gunpowder charge. Although most of the clocks in the exhibit will be running, it was decided that perhaps "this one should be for display only."

Get Christmas Mail On Road, Post Office Pleads

Postmaster E. C. Boatler today listed several pointers to help patrons insure that Christmas packages and cards arrive on time. "A great deal depends on cooperation during the next 10 days," the postmaster said. "A little extra care now," he added, "will insure gifts arriving on time."

Labels for mailing either local or out of town bundles of cards are free for the asking. They speed up the sorting and sacking of rush mails. Another point to remember, the postmaster said, was that distant delivery cards should be mailed earlier than local ones. This will allow for time in transit. "The most important point," the postmaster said, "is to make all your mailings early. That means right now."

Point one, the postmaster stressed, is to make sure that addresses (including your own) are plainly written on all Christmas mailings. Zone numbers, when they are known, can often save a day. Point two is to check size and weight limits of your parcels. They vary according to destination. Another important point, he said, is to remember that First Class postage (with a four-cent stamp) will insure prompt delivery of Christmas cards, and their forwarding or return if a return address is given.

Now How's This For Teacher's Pay?

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Court action has been started by Jefferson County School District to recover a $9,999.99 check mistakenly sent to a teacher who quit Oct. 9. Forest Hiller, the teacher, says he wants to hold the check as a souvenir. The check was issued by an inexperienced business machine operator. The board said to clear Hiller's account it was necessary to put through a voucher for zero dollars and zero cents. The machine balked. It isn't set to issue such a check. The result was a check for $9,999.99. The regular operator discovered the mistake after the check had been signed and mailed.

Rambler's Fast Growth Leads To Proposal To Split Stocks

By BEN PHELAGAR
AP Automotive Writer

Detroit (AP) — In the late spring of 1957 the car buying public suddenly discovered the compact Rambler.

It took the stock buying public almost two more years to discover Rambler's parent, American Motors. In each instance, the discovery caused a major explosion. Rambler car sales virtually doubled in 12 months. For 1959 they will almost double again with a total of some 350,000.

American Motors stock two years ago this month was selling for $5.25 a share. It closed Monday at $8.50, an advance of about $40 since early September. After the market closed Monday, company directors declared two 60-cent dividends; one regular and one extra, and recommended splitting the stock three to one. This proposal will be presented to the AMC annual meeting Feb. 3.

The proposal was made as the firm announced record earnings of $60,341,823 after taxes, for the 1959 fiscal year, equal to $10.16 a share. Last year, AMC reported earnings of $28,085,134, or $4.65 a share.

A canny investor who bought 100 shares for a Christmas present two years ago would show a paper profit of more than $8,100 by now.

If you missed the boat, you have plenty of company. Around Detroit there is an "almost society" of those who tell how they almost got rich on American Motors stock.

The most widely known big loser is Louis E. Wolfson, the Florida financier who at one time was AMC's largest single stockholder with a reported 430,000 shares. Wolfson sold out in 1958, taking a profit of about 1 1/2 million dollars. But the Security and Exchange Commission said Wolfson also sold 150,000 shares short. Short selling is the practice of selling borrowed stock in the expectation the price will drop. AMC went up instead, and it was estimated the move cost Wolfson and some associates all of the profit made on the sale.

One stockholder who has not sold is President George Romney, who preaches the merits of his company with an evangelistic fervor. A proxy statement of last December showed Romney owned 22,700 shares with a value now of more than two million dollars. AMC now is the highest priced (per share) auto stock in Wall Street but its ratio between price and earnings, which investment houses use to compare stock merits, compares favorably with other rated stocks.

Romney has cashed in on the decision of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler to market compact cars. He got an unexpected bonus when steel shortages curtailed or halted the Big Three production while he went merrily along building Ramblers.

With smaller total needs for steel, Romney was able to build a longer-lasting stockpile than the others.

Now he has announced plans to increase Rambler capacity beyond 600,000 cars a year. At 350,000 cars—this year's anticipated sales—he already has surpassed the highest sales total amassed by an independent automaker.

Arkansas Hikes Daily Oil Average

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Arkansas contributed the most to a 21,950-barrel increase to 6,979,210 barrels in the nation's daily average oil production during the week ended Nov. 28, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Arkansas rose 13,080 barrels to 70,880 after settlement of a strike at American Oil Co.'s 43,000-barrel refinery at El Dorado.

The Journal estimated 1959 production at 2,334,616,190 barrels compared to 2,213,573,710 a year ago.

Louisiana was up 20 to 1,039,550. Oklahoma was down 2,800 barrels to 547,300 and Colorado was down 1,400 to 126,800.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,523,300 barrels, and New Mexico, 294,150.

DEAR ABBY

KID STUFF, LADY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married a widower and you can imagine my embarrassment when, on the second anniversary of his deceased wife's death, my husband placed a basket of flowers in church in her memory. And me a bride of four months.

In church in memory of my first husband. And guess who received the bill? GOT EVEN

DEAR GOT: It's women like you who make basket cases out of marriages. With your present attitude, you'll be lucky to be a bride of five months.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of four children. Our eldest is retarded. When our suspicions were confirmed, our hearts were broken. But we have accepted the fact and are learning to live with it.

My mother-in-law has never accepted the fact and is constantly trying to talk my husband and me into putting the child in an institution. I'd die first.

My mother-in-law showers our other children with gifts, but she has never given Billy anything. She visits us (which is almost daily) she asks me to send Billy out of the room as she says it makes her sick to look at him. She treats him like an animal.

I can't tell my husband's mother she is not welcome in my home. But I can't stand it much longer. Can you advise me, please?

DEAR NO NAME: Your husband can and should tell his mother that she must treat Billy like the other children or she can stay home. What kind of father is your husband to permit his child to be treated like an animal? If your husband doesn't straighten out his mother — you have every right to put her out.

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain woman who plays bridge with us and she is getting on our nerves. When she is the dummy, she will run around (and while she's at it she takes a good look at everybody else's hand) to stand behind her partner. She will sigh and gasp and groan and make all sorts of telling noises. We have had this standing foursome for over 20 years and it would be very awkward to get rid of her. We all agree that bridge with her isn't fun any more. How can we tell her off without hurting her feelings, or drop her from the foursome? She reads your column.

DEAR ABBY: If she reads this column, it will no longer be necessary for her to read your minds.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LONE-SOME: Go somewhere on your vacation. Nobody needs a LOOKER LICENSE.

'Official' Yule Date Was Set In 4th Century

The history of the Christmas observance is one that has intrigued clerical and lay scholars for countless years.

Researchers have found that as far back as the fourth century, the Christmas festival was already an established custom dating back to earlier eras.

The word Christmas began as "Christ's Mass" or as in old English "Christes Masse" or the Mass of Christ, following the custom of the church in observing the anniversaries of deaths, rather than births.

It was not until St. Cyril, Bishop of Jerusalem, set out to affirm one day for a universal observance that Christ's Mass was changed from its previous celebration in the spring (as we now observe Easter).

The good Bishop was granted permission by Pope Julius I to appoint a group of theologians to determine as accurately as possible, the exact date of Christ's nativity.

Too many years had elapsed for absolute accuracy, and after discovering various contradictions of calendars, astrological and astronomical calculations, the date for the celebration of Christ's Mass was set by the Church for December 25th.

So it is that since the year 354 A.D., this date has been observed as the date of the Saviour's birth.

Members of the Greek, Russian and Ukrainian Orthodox Churches celebrate this on January 6th.

To this day, the festival of Christmas still occurs on many different dates throughout the world.

December 6th is the day when Christmas is observed in most Western European countries and marks the beginning of a long, happy holiday season!

Christmas Is Festival Time — But Also Time For Faith

"Merry Christmas" . . . these words ring out clearly during this season! Smiles are warmer, hand-clashes tighter, laughter — gayer. Christmas is the time for more merriment.

Though everyone knows the religious significance of Christmas, often the deeper meaning is lost in the round of gift buying, gift wrapping and gift exchanging.

Often the holiday is a trial of anticipating gifts for all potential "givers." It becomes a bit of a "swap" time with "I must get something for Mary this year, after all she did give me that embroidered cloth" . . . or other!

But most important of all, more than 600 million people observe the natal day of He who is considered the greatest religious leader in history.

Although in the 1959 years following His birth, the Christmas celebration has come to be a potpourri of ancient pagan ceremonies as oft-told Christmas legends point out, the essence of the day is "it is more blessed to give than receive" . . .

And, this simple statement gives credence to the jolly old Santa who represents the spirit of giving at Christmas.

As the Christmas bells ring out the message of peace and goodwill, brotherhood and tolerance, giving and forgiving come to the fore in His name.

Indulgent adults say "Christmas is for the children" . . . but it is the elders who set moods and patterns of the observance. Make this a real Christmas! Unite the family in tree trimming festivities . . . sing the old carols and listen well to the words . . . and join friends and neighbors at the church of your choice.

Plan to make His day, a family day — the Christmas Story begins with "once upon a time there was a Father, a Mother and a CHILD" . . .

Paris (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to Paris today for another round of talks with President Charles de Gaulle.

Spokesmen emphasized that they agree completely on major issues facing the Western Allies, but some lesser disagreements have cropped up.

The two-day meeting is the fourth between the two leaders since De Gaulle returned to power 18 months ago. In that period Adenauer and the French president have achieved a unity which has become one of the strongest forces in the Western Alliance.

Observers speculated they would review such pressing matters as plans for the Western summit meeting in Paris Dec. 19, the status of West Berlin and German reunification, the disarmament problem and European unity.

Adenauer and De Gaulle also undoubtedly will discuss the chancellor's visit last month to London, in which he and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan patched up some of the differences between them which had caused considerable concern among their other allies.

Leaving Bonn, Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano said he believed "we do not have any bilateral problems which could cause us any worry."

However, the widely circulated "Bild Zeitung" newspaper said editorially Adenauer was taking "some heavy luggage" to Paris and wondered whether he would dare to unpack it.

Items of disagreement, the paper said, include: (1) De Gaulle's repeated statements that France would retain control of her forces in any future war instead of placing control with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, (2) the recent arrest by the French of a German ship with arms for North Africa, (3) activities of anti-Algerian French terrorists in Germany, and (4) statements by De Gaulle and Prime Minister Michel Debre that Polish and Soviet occupation of former German territory beyond the Oder-Neisse River frontier should be considered a closed issue.

Choose Yule Tree With Extra Care

Shop as wisely for your Christmas tree as you do for that very special gift. In order to get a lovely tree that will stay that way there are several considerations.

First, check the shape of the tree, making sure that it is uniform and full-branched.

Most important — check the tree for freshness. Gently shake a few of the branches. If needles fall off, the tree is "too old."

Be sure to measure the height you want for the tree in your home, and then take that yardstick with you when you buy.

A tree in an open-air lot looks smaller than it actually is. It's a waste of money buying a tree that is too tall; it also means it will have to be cut down.

Many people feel that it is worth it to spend a little more and get a fire-proofed tree. Many families are selecting the colored trees in place of the green ones. This is simply a matter of taste.

Wasn't Bonus, Just An Error

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — What looked for a while like a $17,000 Christmas bonus turned out to be a slip of banker's adding machine.

The Montpelier Savings Bank & Trust Co. sent out Christmas Club checks to 171 people who faithfully had banked $2 a week for 50 weeks.

But instead of $101.50, including interest, the checks were written for $201.50. Officials explained the clerk who prepares the checks made a mistake.

The bank expects to get all the money back. "We won't have any loss," said Richard Marshall, assistant treasurer. "Everybody is honest."

Ired Iranian Won't Be Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fahrad Adjooodani won't be prosecuted for slapping his girl friend, but diplomatic immunity didn't free him. He has none.

The father of the girl, the Rev. J. Glenn Boliek, a Lutheran minister, said Monday he did not intend to press charges.

Adjooodani, 17, is the son of an Iranian official here, and police first said he had diplomatic immunity. But the State Department later announced that his father's immunity did not extend to the son.

The father, Mahmoud Adjooodani, is assistant director of the Iranian student exchange.

The Adjooodani youth said he was angered because his girl, Sandra Louise Boliek, 16, had been going out with other boys while he was attending Youngstown (Ohio) University. He slapped her and fired two blank cartridges from a pistol.

The Iranian Embassy said it was considering sending the boy back to Iran, but had come to no decision.

Sumac's Ex Faces Suit By Dancer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maria Rosa Orad Aragon has sued Moises Vivanco for $16,000, contending she gave up a dancing career in Spain for promises of Hollywood fame and romance.

Vivanco, 40, is the divorced husband of Yma Sumac, Peruvian singer.

Under Vivanco's guidance, Miss Aragon, 21, said in her complaint, she posed for "revealing and seductive" pictures in scanty attire only to learn on her arrival here two months ago that his representations were untrue.

She charged that he had led her to believe he was seeking a wife with her beauty and talent but that she found he was still on close terms with Miss Sumac.

Mexican 'Fire Plant' Is Our Own Poinsettia

More than a hundred years ago our Ambassador to Mexico Joel Roberts Poinsett, took a fancy to a brilliant tropical plant, known as the Mexican Fire Plant.

Returning to his home in South Carolina, he started growing the plant from cuttings he brought from Mexico. Soon the scarlet-leaved plant came to the attention of American botanists, and under the name "poinsettia," it was destined to become symbolic of Christmas.

In tropic climates, poinsettia is grown in varieties of white, pink and yellow, but by far the most popular is the bright red that carries out the color scheme of Christmas.

Temperatures Mild In State

Cloudy skies covered South Central and East Texas early Tuesday but temperatures were mild and no precipitation was reported.

Temperatures ranged from 23 at Dalhart to 63 at Brownsville with most readings in the upper 30s to upper 40s.

A mild Pacific front moving in from the west was due to reach Texas Wednesday. The dry front is expected to drop temperatures a little but should not bring any severe weather to the state.

No precipitation fell in Texas Monday.

Lower Rio Grande Valley shippers estimated that the three frosts in November wiped out about 80 per cent of the area's fall pepper crop. They said shipments for the remainder of the season would probably dwindle to about four or five carloads a day from a high of 25 carloads a day a short time ago.

Cabbage and carrots and citrus, the big crops, escaped damage.

Mother-In-Law Of Shivers Dies

AUSTIN (AP)—Mrs. John Shary, whose husband was a pioneer developer of the Texas citrus industry, died Monday after a long illness.

Her son-in-law is former Gov. Allan Shivers.

Mrs. Shary would have been 74 Sunday. She underwent major surgery here Sept. 28 and Nov. 21.

Services will be Thursday or Friday at McAllen.

A Devotional For Today

And I tell you, you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church. (Matthew 16:18, RSV.)

PRAYER: Dear God, help us to turn our lives to Thee, trusting in Thy redeeming grace. Grant us the strength to endure the refining fire of Thy love. Help us to learn the ways of repentance—that pain often comes before peace. Strengthen Thy church, O Lord, even through our loyalties. In Christ's name we ask. Amen. (From The Upper Room)

Nelson Is Getting Serious

We were not quite sure that Nelson Rockefeller was a serious contender for the GOP presidential nomination until Saturday morning. The clincher was an AP Telephoto of the New York governor astride a cowpony riding herd on some of his cows on his ranch in Venezuela.

Whether he had flown to South America just to have this picture struck we don't know, but it was a dead giveaway: the governor's cowboy sombrero is in the ring for sure.

One can imagine he was humming, as he rode alongside his beef critters. "I'm an old cowboy from the Rio Grande"—or, in his case, the Hudson. There was just one false note; the governor rode bare-headed. But he said his saddle with the proper slouch, and he held both reins in his left hand; motion picture and TV "cowboys" often hold one rein in each hand, and mount like a woman climbing a stepladder.

This business of presidential candidates striking unaccustomed poses for photographic purposes is as old as photography. Oldtimers have not forgotten the spectacle of Calvin Coolidge in hair pants and twenty-gallon hat, posing in the Black Hills of South Dakota, or more recently Robert Taft doing likewise in the vicinity of San Antonio. Both looked acutely uncomfortable and self-conscious, but a presidential aspirant ceases to be his own master, and becomes the willing but not overly eager participant in all sorts of publicity gags.

Adlai Stevenson and the hole in his shoe was a case in point, though there is no evidence that Adlai wasn't perfectly willing to pose for that one. If such a gag could elect a man to the presidency, he would have been a shoe-in—and the pun is without malice.

Teddy Roosevelt was a real rancher-cowhand in his youth, and when he "threw his hat in the ring" in 1912 the gesture had some color of validity. When that other Roosevelt posed on the bridge of a destroyer with his cloak flapping in the breeze that, too, was not too far fetched, for he had been assistant secretary of the Navy under Wilson.

And "Rocky's" performance in Venezuela was not too utterly out of consonance with the facts, for he does own cattle and operate a ranch, and he does know how to sit a saddle and hold the old bridle reins. Now if we could just see his technique in mounting and dismounting we'd be in better position to judge his qualifications.

In any case, the Telephoto was the strongest evidence turned up yet that the governor of New York aims to have a try for the nomination.

James Marlow Those Polls Don't Mean Much Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — How much do you know—except for Adlai E. Stevenson and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—about the men now being mentioned as presidential possibilities?

The answer is probably not much.

Right now, in this pre-campaign period, most of the would-be candidates are simply running around, trying to create a favorable impression, hoping they can win enough support to make a real go of it in 1960.

They are not saying anything very profound. They're like men thrusting a thermometer into the political pool here and there to see if the water is warm.

For this reason it's hard to understand what voters base their preferences on at this moment in the race when they choose one candidate above another in public opinion polls.

An exception has to be made for Stevenson and Nixon. Since both men campaigned in the 1952 and 1956 election contests, their views and personalities can be ascertained to be pretty well known.

BUT HOW MANY VOTERS at this stage know anything in detail about some of the other men mentioned as likely prospects for the presidency next year: Senators Kennedy, Humphrey, Symington, Johnson or New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

In the three years since the last campaign these men have taken positions on a lot of bills and issues. Unless you had a voting record in front of you, it would be hard to tell who did which.

Stevenson, a two-time loser, has said several times he will not seek the Democratic nomination again. But saying he won't seek the nomination is a lot different from saying he would not accept it. So far Stevenson has not said he would refuse.

Nixon is the one who has been taking it cool, and can afford to. He has spent the years since the 1952 election lining up the Republican professionals for the try at the presidency next year.

He will probably continue to play it cool unless the only man now in sight who looks like a rival, Rockefeller, begins to look like a real contender.

Without formal announcement of any candidacy, the various aspirants have been trotting around, making speeches, trying to make impressions. But if each gives the appearance of being overly modest because of his hesitancy about acknowledging his candidacy, it is a modesty induced by uncertainty.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Organized on this day in 1860 was Deaf Smith County, created by an act of the Legislature in 1876 and named for the eccentric scout who destroyed Vincent's Bridge before the battle of San Jacinto.

On rather uncertain authority this writer can cite the results of the first presidential election of Deaf Smith County as speaking eloquently of the spirit of this frontier area. The county chairman reported "six Democrats, six Republicans and one sheep man" voting.

Deaf Smith County boasted one of the earliest barbed wire fences in Texas, a drift fence erected in 1881 by the T. Ancher Ranch. The large herds of Hereford already within the county boundaries at the time of its organization gave the county seat, Hereford, its name. Because of the absence of tooth decay in the area Hereford is also known as the "Toothache."

Deaf Smith, one of the first white men in Texas, first came to the Lone Star domain in 1817. His extraordinary skill as a scout served the Texas cause well during the revolution, and afterward he captained a Ranger company until shortly before his death in 1837.

—CURTIS BISHOP

WHAT OTHERS SAY

As a result of the quiz show scandal the Federal Trade Commission has announced an intensified inspection of television commercials to get rid of all those that "exaggerate, irritate and nauseate." We applaud the aim.

The great trouble with this is that it smells of subjective censorship. What irritates one person may entertain another—we have in mind several popular television comedians whose picture we do not tolerate upon our screen, but who nevertheless attract rich sponsors. What nauseates one person may send another scurrying to the drug store for a new roll of deodorant. As for exaggeration, a tone of voice may exaggerate.

What is good taste to one person may be merely taste to another. What is bad taste to one person may be merely folksy to another. It seems to us that the Federal Trade Commission might follow a surer course if it undertook only to screen TV commercials for falsehood, or clearly implied falsehood. In general, the intelligent advertiser should recognize it when his commercials begin to annoy more viewers than they beguile.

Unconcerned Americans.

OKLAHOMA CITY — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States didn't stir up much interest in an adult education course on Russian foreign policy at the Oklahoma City library.

Walter Gray of the library said, "Oklahoma City residents are avoiding it like the plague." He said Russian foreign policy is the least popular of 40 courses offered.

Number 39 in interest, he said, is a course on American foreign policy.

Around The Rim Face It, Men! We're Being Licked!

Fifty years ago, about the only women who held down jobs outside their homes, were "domestics," a few clerks in stores, or now and then a bookkeeper.

Today's statistics make things look a lot different.

Suppose that all of the working women—those who are on some establishment's payroll—were to quit their jobs tomorrow? Can you imagine the impact that such a drastic development would have on the economic structure of this nation?

I ran into some figures relative to working women the other day and I am frank to say they amazed me. Of course, I knew that a tremendous number of women were holding down jobs but the actual figures were so tremendous that I was actually shocked.

How many persons are gainfully employed in these United States? Possibly 65 or 75 million. Well, nearly a third of all of these wage earners are women.

Statistics show that one-third of all of the women in the United States work outside their homes. Half of these are women who are more than 40 years of age. It is estimated there are 22 million women employed in stores, shops, offices and in governmental operations in this country. Three of every five of these working women are married women.

There's a tremendous impact in that statistic. It reflects one of two things: either the cost of living has gone so high that the husband's earnings are not enough to make ends meet or the demand for a higher standard of existence, than the man's income can support, has become nationwide.

At any rate three out of every 10 married women in this country are now holding down outside jobs. And of all the mothers with children of school age, four of each 10 are wage earners.

Furthermore, the percentage of working women increases instead of decreases. Employers have discovered that women workers are often better than men workers for many jobs. The worst injustice of the whole system, probably, is that most women workers are not paid wages equal to those paid men doing work requiring no greater talent or technical training.

It was not very long ago that the impression existed the field of work that a woman could perform was drastically limited. Men, their chests thrust out, believed they were indispensable in certain fields of endeavor. Women, they said, will never do the work we do. Now, chastened and alarmed, they are discovering that women can do nearly any job that modern business or industry requires and sometimes do it better than any man.

There's something else, too. Women are far more durable than men. They live longer.

We fellows might as well face it. We're losing a fight. It never really was a man's world even when our granddads kept saying that it was. And it is getting to be less and less of a man's world every time the clock ticks.

The records indicate we can't win. Therefore the wise thing is to follow the old adage—if we can't lick 'em—join 'em. And make the best of a situation over which mere man has no control.

Blowing Whistle On Men And Malarky

Men and malarky! What a parody! I love it, but occasionally someone has to blow a whistle on this combo when it gets out of hand.

If the boys will just simmer down, one of their own inventions, which they wished on women and now denounce as if it were the work of a female devil, will pass from the fashion scene.

In short, spike heels, wished on by our hapless sex by Italian designers and American manufacturers of the opposite sex, are beginning to fade. The handsome English walking shoe with stacked leather heel, broadly based, firmly planted, is making a notable comeback for day time wear in the fashion world.

THERE IS NOW SCANT point in city councils throughout the nation dreaming up a rash of legislation to outlaw spike heels, the work of other men, at this late date. The lads are about three years late in their selfless attempt to save women from the folly foisted on them by Les Boys.

It has been all but impossible in recent weeks to pick up a paper minus a story of some American community—North, South, East or West—busily preparing or passing legislation to outlaw spike heels. Just the other day, a nice, sensible circuit judge, John Kelly, in Knoxville, Tenn., ruled that "the wearing of high heels is not willful misconduct."

Well, bully for him and his opinion that there's nothing to the American judiciary! His decision was handed down in a case in which an employer claimed the absence of liability under the workmen's compensation law for a fall by a woman wearing high heels.

Or, at least, the employer called the heels high, although in truth they only measured two inches, a height that can be regarded as high only by adolescents, collegians or beatniks who deem the ballet slipper a shoe.

THE SCATTERED AMERICAN communities that have been trying to make the spike heel illegal have simply want of enforcing the law. They simply want a statute on the books that will protect the cowardly municipality from damage suits if any of us chic girls in high heels fall or are injured in pitted, rutted, or unkempt old streets.

So much for chivalry!

I have hated spike heels passionately since some Italian villain invented them and American manufacturers grabbed the pattern and ran with it. But until the walking shoe with stacked leather heel recently began speaking into the fashion picture, a woman shopping for shoes had scant choice between spike heels on the one hand—or foot—and such heelless modes as the ballet slipper, ground-grippers or those space shoes invented for persons with real tootsie troubles.

BUT WHO, UNLESS THE victim of a mean metatarsal, wants to be a flat-foot floogie, even with the floy-floy "Sensible shoes," phooey! But "spikes," phooey, too! By candlelight and eventide, I expect to teeter around on high heels like a Chinese belle with bound foot. But I would love, once more, to teeter around on something more substantial than a shrunken dime.

It is my experience that gentlemen not only prefer blondes but high heels. It does something to and for the female ankle, and most members of the opposite sex are ankle men.

So when the sex that invented, manufactured and Madison-Avenued women into spike heels suddenly turns righteous and tries to legislate against them, I smell hypocrisy in spades. It was Jack Lemon in "Some Like It Hot" who paid high heels the ultimate tribute. Strolling behind Marilyn Monroe swaying on her spikes, he breathed ecstatically, "Jello on springs!"

World Without Words

Two thousand five hundred scientists and scholars from the United States and ten foreign countries attending the University of Chicago's Charles Darwin Centennial heard a British medical expert say the other day that human speech as we know it is on its way out as an instrument of communication.

Dr. MacDonald Critchley declared that the written and spoken word are getting farther apart and the time is coming when a majority of humans will be able "neither to read nor write." He foresees the development of a sort of super-Esperanto as transitional language, and in some hundreds of years perhaps some form of thought-transference will supplant it. Under the ultimate development, he said, ideas will be conveyed through what is called ESP—extrasensory perception.

Fantastic? Well, we hadn't heard that the assembled high-doms threw their speaker out the window, and at last account he was still allowed to run at large.

No more written or spoken words in a few hundreds years from now? What a heavenly relief!

Seriously, though, if you own a cat or a dog or both, you will be perfectly well aware that they can communicate their desires without being able to utter human speech, or to write note setting forth their ideas. There is a noun for it: "empathy," meaning "imaginative projection of one's own consciousness into another being."

People who have lived together for years, especially man and wife, develop the faculty, or whatever it is, of communicating with each other without uttering a syllable—or even being aware of this interchange of ideas.

Marquis Childs Part Of The Over-All Pattern

WASHINGTON — The widely publicized details of President Eisenhower's tour of 11 countries covering more than 22,000 miles has stirred admiration and wonder. Here is a man who, at 69, after seven years in the most demanding and difficult office in the world—a period including three serious illnesses—is off on a journey that would be rugged for an executive half his age.

No President in office has ever undertaken such an adventure in personal diplomacy. Few Americans of whatever rank have visited Afghanistan, the remotest country on the Eisenhower itinerary.

In this light—the sheer physical ordeal of eating so many state dinners in so many different capitals, shaking so many hands, talking through so many different interpreters, hearing about so many different problems—the tour gives the President and his Administration a new look. Here is an example of the vigorous, American way to cope with the troubles of a sadly troubled and confused world.

YET, SEEN IN LONGER perspective, the journey, for all the precedents that it breaks, is of a piece with the whole record of the Administration. The final phase of the Eisenhower era, the beginning of which we are now seeing, is likely to look to the historian of the future very much as did the initial phase. It is, above all, an effort to carry out in the international field what the President, as he entered politics, believed he could do here at home—resolve deep-seated differences by good will and moral earnestness.

At the start of his political career when he had just taken off the general's uniform, Eisenhower visited his home town of Abilene, Kansas. Speaking at the dedication of the modest house in which he and his brothers had grown up with their intensely devout, hardworking parents, he said:

"If each of us in his own mind would dwell more upon these simple virtues—integrity, courage, self-confidence, unshakable beliefs in his Bible—would not some of our problems tend to simplify themselves? Would not we, after having done our best with them, be content to leave the rest to the Almighty and not to charge our fellow men with the fault of bringing us where we were and are?"

IN THE FIRST PART OF 1952 the report was widespread that General Eisenhower believed and perhaps even hoped that he could be the nominee of both parties and thereby bring unity to the nation. Whether or not this was true, he saw himself as a candidate above ordinary partisan politics whose mission was to moderate the conflicts threatening to tear the nation apart.

It would be a gross oversimplification to say that the President believes that by talking with Prime Minister Nehru for two or three days, lunching with the Shah of Iran, sitting down with Franco in Spain for several hours, exchanging pleasantries with the King of Morocco, he can resolve the great differences that threaten war and chaos. But something of the same belief in good will and moral earnestness motivates him today as it did eight years ago.

For this very reason there are those who take a skeptical view of the President's latest exercise in good will. While here at home it may have softened the internal conflicts, the great domestic problems—the lag in education, the failures in the space and missile race, the warfare between labor and management, inflation, rising living costs—have come little nearer to solution in the Eisenhower era. These great problems, it has sometimes appeared, have been deliberately put aside, since to try to resolve them would mean taking a positive policy stand that would be certain to alienate one group of Americans or another.

THE OPINION-POLLS have indicated that, so long as prosperity has been sustained, this is the way the American people wanted it. In that speech in Abilene were all the qualities that won the public in the first instance and have held it in the years that have passed.

"He is so sincere." "He is such a fine man." "He wants to do right and bring peace to the world."

No one would challenge these judgments. The qualities inherent in the President's character and temperament shine out in his public image and they appeal to the peoples and the leaders of other nations as they do to us at home.

The doubt, and it is a grave doubt, is on the score of whether this is sufficient for the times. Certainly, the problems and the conflicts in the foreign field are at least as grave as those which bedevil us at home. But the President by this last venture will for the time being allay suspicions and promote a better atmosphere. His successor in the office is likely to find the same seemingly irreconcilable conflicts confronting him in an even more exaggerated form.

Hal Boyle A Test Of Body And Mind

NEW YORK (AP)— Christmas is more than a test of good will. Every year it is getting to be more of a test of body and mind. You have to be sound in wind and limb—as well as stout of pocket-book—to survive the holiday season.

The guy who gets himself in good shape now is the guy most likely to still be on his feet come Jan. 1.

Here are a few home exercises guaranteed to help you through the annual ordeal of Christmas:

Indian hand wrastle—you and your wife sit down, put your elbows on the table, grip fingers, then see which can force the other's hand backward to the table. This will strengthen you both for all the backslapping, handshaking and greeting card writing you will have to do between now and New Year's Eve.

The face save—from now on you will be smiling, smiling, smiling. Since you have been doing nothing but frowning with worry for the last 11 months, a sudden smile may split your face wide open.

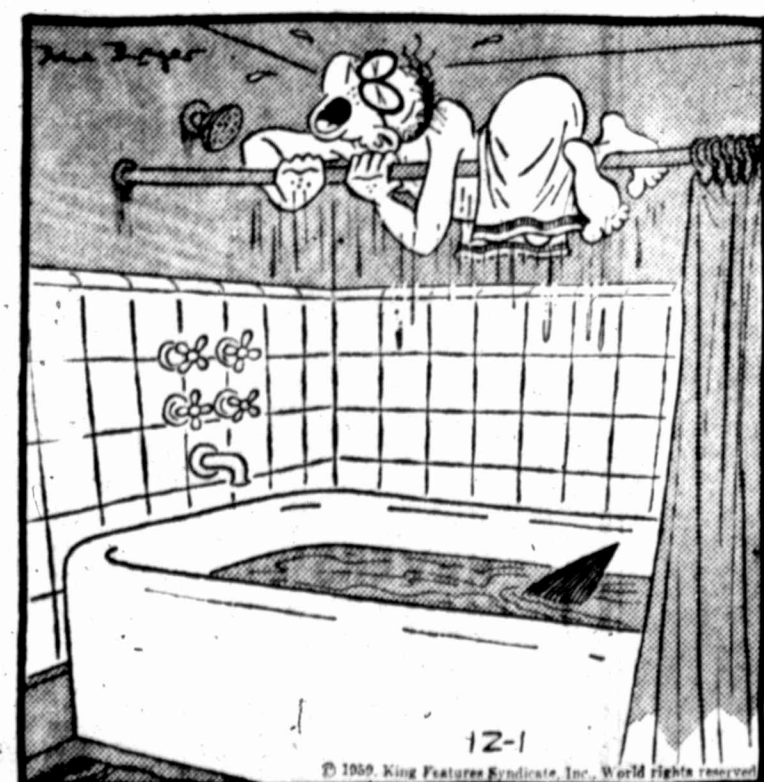

Bankruptcy avoider—plant yourself in front of a mirror and shout "No!" loud and clear 250 times daily. This exercise may make your voice firm enough to keep your wife from spending you insolvent—but don't bet on it.

Leap for life—stand in the middle of the room with your arms full of bundles. Jump as high and as far as you can in all directions—at the same time. Repeat 12 times. As a pedestrian, this maneuver may save you from Christmas motorists. On the other hand, it may not.

Hit-the-line body builder—rent the nearest high school football tackle for a few afternoons. At a given signal you both crouch down, then crash into each other at full speed. After a few days of this, you should be tough enough to go into any department store and compete with the crowds of women shoppers for Christmas bargains.

Smooth conditioner—did you save your home-made Halloween pumpkin goblin? Lift it tenderly, close your eyes, and kiss its rough yellow cheek 100 times a day. Now you are in shape for perhaps the worst ordeal of the holidays—kissing your wife's girl friends. Also, be sure and kiss your own wife.

The Gallup Poll Kennedy Out-Paces Rockefeller

PRINCETON, N. J. — Sen. John Kennedy defeats Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in a test of their political strength with voters across the country at present.

But the New York Governor has again narrowed the gap between himself and Kennedy which existed in a mid-summer "trial heat" race conducted by the Gallup Poll.

This has been the trend as determined by the following question put to a cross-section of voters across the nation:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If John Kennedy were the Democratic candidate and Nelson Rockefeller were the Republican candidate, which would you like to see win?"

ROCKEFELLER VS. KENNEDY
JULY, 1959

Kennedy	Per Cent	63
Rockefeller	Per Cent	37

SEPT., 1959

Kennedy	Per Cent	57
Rockefeller	Per Cent	43

TODAY

Kennedy	Per Cent	55
Rockefeller	Per Cent	45

The shift toward Rockefeller since July is not as marked as is the one to Vice President Nixon during the same period. As measured in Gallup Poll tests, this has been the Nixon-Kennedy trend:

NIXON VS. KENNEDY

Kennedy	Per Cent	50
Nixon	Per Cent	50

Kennedy and Rockefeller divide the support of the independent voters almost evenly. One major factor in Kennedy's lead is the "dent" he makes in the ranks of GOP voters when his opponent is Rockefeller.

The Kennedy-Rockefeller test is the one instance—in matches between the leading choices of each party's rank-and-file—where the Democratic contender holds a lead.

Pitted against former Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Kennedy and Rockefeller divide the support of the independent voters almost evenly. One major factor in Kennedy's lead is the "dent" he makes in the ranks of GOP voters when his opponent is Rockefeller.

Because of the present party line-up in the country—with Democratic voters greatly outnumbering GOP adherents—any Republican candidate must count on an overwhelming degree of support from his own party's voters, plus majority support from Independents.

Actually, this is the way the vote lines up by party affiliation:

ROCKEFELLER VS. KENNEDY

Rep. Dem. Ind.	Per Cent
Rockefeller	Per Cent	71 18 49
Kennedy	Per Cent	29 82 51

WMS Starts Prayer Week

A musical prelude introduced the Week of Prayer sessions of the First Baptist WMS Monday morning at the church.

MUSIC will be used at the beginning of each meeting throughout the week, when the women meet at 9:30 Thursday and Friday for special gatherings for the Lottie Moon Week of Prayer.

Wednesday night the group will present the prayer service at the church, with arrangements in the charge of the Evening Circle.

Monday morning, the study was presented by the Anne Dwyer Circle on the topic, O God, We Pray for Seekers of Knowledge. The program consisted of individual readings and songs. A meditation was brought by Mrs. D. A. Miller and Mrs. Zack Gray.

Testimonies from missionaries were read by Mrs. Welby Jackson and Mrs. Marvin Baker. Mrs. Dave Dorchester recounted the needs, and Mrs. Clyde Angel, stewardship chairman, presented the goals.

Mrs. Bob Bradbury was the leader.

This morning, the society assembled at the church for a program on the subject, O God, We Pray for the Sick and Suffering.

The members of the Lucille Reagan Circle presented the study, with the meditations by Mrs. Ervin Daniel and Mrs. V. H. Cowan. The leader was Mrs. Alton Underwood.

Mrs. H. B. Reagan reviewed testimonies from the missionaries. Others taking part were Mrs. F. W. Bettie, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Mrs. R. D. Ulrey, Mrs. M. F. Ray, Mrs. C. T. Clay and Mrs. Angel.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

There was a big homecoming today at the home of MR. AND MRS. CHARLES CAMPBELL when Mrs. Campbell and RICKY CHARLES came home. It was the child's first visit since his birth at 6:54 p.m. Friday when he checked in at 8 pounds, 12 1/2 ounces. With three sisters before him, the youngster will probably have an unusual amount of attention.

Back from Houston where she has been for treatment for the past two months is MRS. N. B. FURLONG. Mrs. Furlong underwent surgery the first of October, which happened to be her 36th wedding anniversary. Following the surgery, she has been in Houston where she stayed with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Furlong Jr.

Mrs. Furlong expressed thanks to all her Big Spring friends who were so thoughtful in sending cards and personal notes during her absence from the city.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD ANDERSON and JAN returned Sunday from Dallas; they met their son, Don, who flew in from Tuscaloosa, Ala., where he is attending the University of Alabama. He is a mechanical engineering major. The family attended the SMU-TCU game in Fort Worth and also the Shrine Circus.

Another Big Spring couple at the SMU-TCU game was MR. AND MRS. W. O. McLENDON who visited their daughter, Mrs. Jane Miller in Fort Worth, and another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Phillips in Euless. They also got to see their grandson play an elementary school football game in which he scored a touchdown which made up for sitting out in the extreme cold that covered Fort Worth Thursday.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID WILSON

Mrs. Bee Hostess For Family Reunion

Mrs. L. L. Bee, 1403 Settles, was hostess for a reunion at her home during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Here for a visit were her daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Sanders and Billy G., with Mr. and Mrs. Vick Vecchio, all of Muskogee, Okla.; her son, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bee and family of Odessa; another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nazruk, Sandra and Stevie, of Midland, and her brother, Ira Cowan of West Virginia.

Joining the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Taylor of Big Spring, another daughter of Mrs. Bee.

Wayne Parums Are New Residents

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Parum are at home at 408 W. 5th following their marriage Nov. 20.

The bride is the former Yvonne Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Nichols of Tarzan, in whose home the wedding took place. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Parum of Lomax.

The Rev. Al Locke, Baptist minister of Fort Worth, read the ceremony; attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nichols of Seminole.

Critical Condition

Mrs. Thomas Kelley, the former Chequita Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Fowler, remains in a critical condition at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Mrs. Kelley is expected to undergo surgery for a brain tumor this week.

ARTHRTIS?

Miss Pieper Honored At Two Parties

LAMESA — Continuing pre-bride courtesies for Jeannene Pieper, bride-elect of Donnie Bryant of Big Spring, Mrs. W. B. Osborne was hostess for a small coffee Saturday morning.

Silver and crystal appointments were used at the serving table where Beverly Brewer presided. White chrysanthemums in graduated sizes formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Osborne presented the honoree a wedding jar.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Jack Lee Goodloe of Tulsa and Mrs. Carey McAdams of Groom.

On Thanksgiving Day Mrs. Charles Warren and Linda Hamilton complimented Miss Pieper at a lingerie shower in the Warren home. Decorations accented the harvest theme, and guests were served coffee, hot spiced tea and tea cookies.

Guests were 20 former classmates of the bride-elect.

Gift Tea Is Compliment

LAMESA — Guests called Saturday afternoon at the Earl F. Henderson home to attend a gift tea which complimented Geraldine Henderson, bride-elect of Phillip Jones.

Hostesses were Mrs. G. A. Jones, Mrs. Rose McDonald, Mrs. Clyde Pruitt, Mrs. Harley Campbell, Mrs. Cleburn Shofner, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Ira Ashley, Mrs. V. M. Roberts, Mrs. Carl Williams, Mrs. Doyle Wilson, Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Mrs. Alton Addison, Mrs. I. V. Middleton and Mrs. John T. Agee.

Alternating at the guest register and the serving table were Jane Jones, Ruidoso, N.M., and Alma Ann Agee.

Carrying out the holiday wedding colors, red and white, the featured arrangement was a milk glass compote with white tapered glass amid red carnations and red maline poms; the reflector on which the compote was placed was circled with silver leaves and angel hair.

Parents Visit The Kings In Knott

KNOTT — Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burton have returned to their home in Hobbs, N.M., after visiting their daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon King, Ann Rogers, Hardin-Simmons co-ed, is visiting her parents, the Willard Rogers.

Mrs. T. M. Robinson, Joyce, Martha and Terry Roman were guests of Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. M. A. Durdin, in Pecos over the holidays.

Guests of the L. C. Matthies over the holidays were their children, the Truman Dennises, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Matthies and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Matthies.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman visited her mother, Mrs. Jack Curry, in Tahoka Sunday and friends in the Wilson community.

Mrs. Jewell Smith and J. L. Oliver spent Thanksgiving with the C. E. Taylors in Westbrook.

Women Pray For Missionaries

Women of the Baptist Temple formed an interest center for their first meeting during the Week of Prayer Monday with a framed picture of Lottie Moon, an old-fashioned lamp, open Bible and world globe.

At the front of the church stood a pink Christmas tree decorated with pink balls and Christmas offering envelopes for the Lottie Moon offering.

The Evan Holmes Circle, with Mrs. Pete Shepherd in charge, presented the program. The individual reading and scripture meditation was brought by Mrs. Jim Leath and Mrs. A. T. Boren.

Testimonies of missionaries on the foreign field were read to the 20 W.M.U. members present by Mrs. C. G. Lovell, Mrs. Monroe Galford, Mrs. Leath, Mrs. Boren, Tom Buckner, and Mrs. D. D. Johnston.

The statement of missionary needs was given and discussed by Mrs. Chester Boren and Mrs. A. R. Posey.

Sounds Good

DUPLICATE BRIDGE GAMES AT BIG SPRING COUNTRY CLUB

Duplicate bridge games, sponsored each Friday afternoon by the Ladies Golf Association of the Big Spring Country Club, will meet at the Big Spring Country Club Friday.

This is a change in the meeting place.

The luncheon, scheduled for the golf association at Cosden Country Club, will be held there at 12 noon, instead of at the regular time. Members will then go to the other club for bridge games at 1 o'clock.

Spaders Change

The Spaders Garden Club will not meet as scheduled in the yearbook, it has been announced. Mrs. Dave Dorchester, 1740 Purdue, will be hostess for the group Thursday at 2 p.m.

Back From Arizona

Mrs. Dewey Phillips, 310 NW 2nd, has been visiting her brother, Rube Moore, who is a patient in the VA Hospital, Prescott, Ariz. She was accompanied by another brother, Robert Moore of Abilene.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLEY ROBINSON ... married 60 years

Open House Slated For Robinson Anniversary

"Big doings" are planned for Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Robinson, about six miles east of Big Spring, where the family has lived since 1902.

That will be the day the couple celebrates the 60th anniversary of their marriage. The actual date of the wedding is Dec. 3, 1899, but, in order to have their family present, the Sunday date was selected.

An open house will be held from 1 to 5 p.m., and although invitations are not being sent out, the couple expects friends to call.

Mrs. Robinson is the former Dostia Hull, daughter of a Baptist minister who settled in Borden County when his daughter was 12 years old. The Robinsons came to Howard County from Taylor County when Charley and his twin, Walter, were about 11 years old.

The young folks met when the minister took his daughter on his trips which he made to various churches which he served as circuit rider. Friendship and association at play-parties, (neither ever went to dances) ripened into love and they were married in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Robinson remembered that their wedding dinner was cooked by her brother-in-law, the late John Howland, who was at one time a chef in Big Spring's T&P boarding house of long ago.

The two vividly recall the drought of the 1890's, when for 18 months there was no rain, and the bones of cattle covered ranches and farms. Big Spring as a town of wooden sidewalks, pigs and cows in the streets is a memory as is the sale of water at five cents a barrel, according to Mrs. Robinson.

Assisting with the open house will be the couple's children, Albert, Mrs. Lola Fletcher, Walter, J. C. and Mrs. Denia Baker, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Nell Reeves of Fort Worth.

There are 16 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild. A son, William, is not living.

Women Pray For Missionaries

Women of the Baptist Temple formed an interest center for their first meeting during the Week of Prayer Monday with a framed picture of Lottie Moon, an old-fashioned lamp, open Bible and world globe.

At the front of the church stood a pink Christmas tree decorated with pink balls and Christmas offering envelopes for the Lottie Moon offering.

The Evan Holmes Circle, with Mrs. Pete Shepherd in charge, presented the program. The individual reading and scripture meditation was brought by Mrs. Jim Leath and Mrs. A. T. Boren.

Testimonies of missionaries on the foreign field were read to the 20 W.M.U. members present by Mrs. C. G. Lovell, Mrs. Monroe Galford, Mrs. Leath, Mrs. Boren, Tom Buckner, and Mrs. D. D. Johnston.

The statement of missionary needs was given and discussed by Mrs. Chester Boren and Mrs. A. R. Posey.

Investiture Service Conducted For 15 Monday Evening

Fifteen little girls took part in an investiture service Monday evening at the Girl Scout Little House, thereby becoming Brownies.

Pins were presented to the group, made by girls from Airport School, and the number, 436, was assigned to the troop. Meetings will be held each Monday afternoon after school in the Service Club at Webb Air Force Base.

Parents of the girls were present for the ceremony and for the social hour which followed. Leaders are Mrs. T. J. Leslie and Mrs. V. J. Hodges.

Holiday Traffic Toll Held Low

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving holiday weekend claimed 445 lives — a smaller toll than could be expected in a non-holiday period of similar length, according to National Safety Council estimates.

The council made no prediction of the highway death toll for Thanksgiving weekend. It estimated that a 102-hour, non-holiday period from Wednesday evening to Sunday midnight at this time of year would produce 470 traffic deaths.

Fires during the holiday weekend killed 70 persons and 138 died in miscellaneous accidents for an over-all toll of 650.

O'Dell And Loes Are Obtained By SF Giants

By JOE REICHLER ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)

The San Francisco Giants have acquired Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore in an attempt to plug an undermanned pitching staff that cost them the 1959 National League pennant.

In return for the left-handed starter O'Dell and Loes, an erratic reliever, the Giants had to give up Jackie Brandt, one of their most talented young outfielders, Gordon Jonger, a mediocre relief pitcher, and a third player yet to be named. The player, it was learned, is Roger McCardell, a rookie catcher who batted .260 at Phoenix last season.

It was the first major deal in the unprecedented inter-league trading period which began Nov. 21. But it may have paved the way for a major swap between Washington and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, during the minor league convention here.

The Dodgers and Giants had been competing for Pete Ramos, the Senators' star right-hander. San Francisco had offered either Brandt or Felipe Alou, another outfielder, for the 24-year-old Cuban, who had a 13-19 record with the last-place Nats last season.

Los Angeles countered with an offer of four players for Ramos and Roy Sievers, Washington's all-time home run king. The Dodgers are willing to part with left-handed Danny McDevitt, shortstop Don Zimmer, outfielder Sandy Amoros and pitcher John Golden, a farm hand. Washington has agreed to the trade, provided outfielder Don Demeter is substituted for Amoros.

Coahoma Defeats Forsan, 46-34

COAHOOMA, (SC) — Coahoma measured Forsan, 46-34, in a boys' basketball game played here Monday night.

The Bulldogs return to play in Westport tonight. Dwayne Richters and Dock Reeves each scored 12 points for Coahoma.

Coahoma also won the B team, 59-28, after leading at half time, 32-12.

Maurice Cutright accounted for 16 of Coahoma's points while Wayne Smith counted 15. Arnold led Forsan, with 10.

COAHOOMA (46) — Richters 3-6-12; E Smith 3-3-8; Turner 1-2-2; Cutright 1-1-3; Reeves 3-12; Tiner 2-4-4. Totals 46-34.

FORSAN (34) — Bardwell 4-9; Howard 5-10; Barnett 0-1-1; Conner 0-2-2; Hark 1-2-2; Park 2-1-3. Totals 34-46.

Score by quarters: Coahoma 7 22 30 46 Forsan 4 17 29 34

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks delighted a large turnout of fans by racing past the Decatur Baptist College Indians, 85-54, in their 1959-60 basketball debut here Monday night.

The game marked the 15th straight time the Hawks have defeated Decatur. HC has yet to lose to the Indians, who brought a 6-2 record to town.

Decatur seemed to be up to the challenge in the early moments of the game when it led by as much as five points. However, the Hawks began to click after the first 10 minutes of play and by halftime were in command, 42-23.

The difference in the score was about the only thing left undetermined after that. The Indians, who play Odessa College in Odessa tonight, appear badly fagged toward the end.

Coach Buddy Travis, who was making his debut here, gave his substitutes a liberal workout toward the end. The speedy little reserves more than held their own.

Tall Tom Garrison grabbed 17 rebounds for HCJC and wound up as the top scorer of the evening, with 23 points. Robert Shirey, the transfer from Eastern New Mexico University, had 18 for the Hawks while Harold Henson and Jimmy Evans each tossed in 12.

For Decatur, Billy Wilson led with 21 points while Wilson Whitmire followed with 15.

HCJC hit 36 field goals in 92 attempts, missing in 19 of 52 the last half after scoring 17 of 40 tries the first half.

Decatur tried 28 the first half and connected only nine. The Warriors got fewer opportunities after play was resumed, making good on but seven of 21 tries.

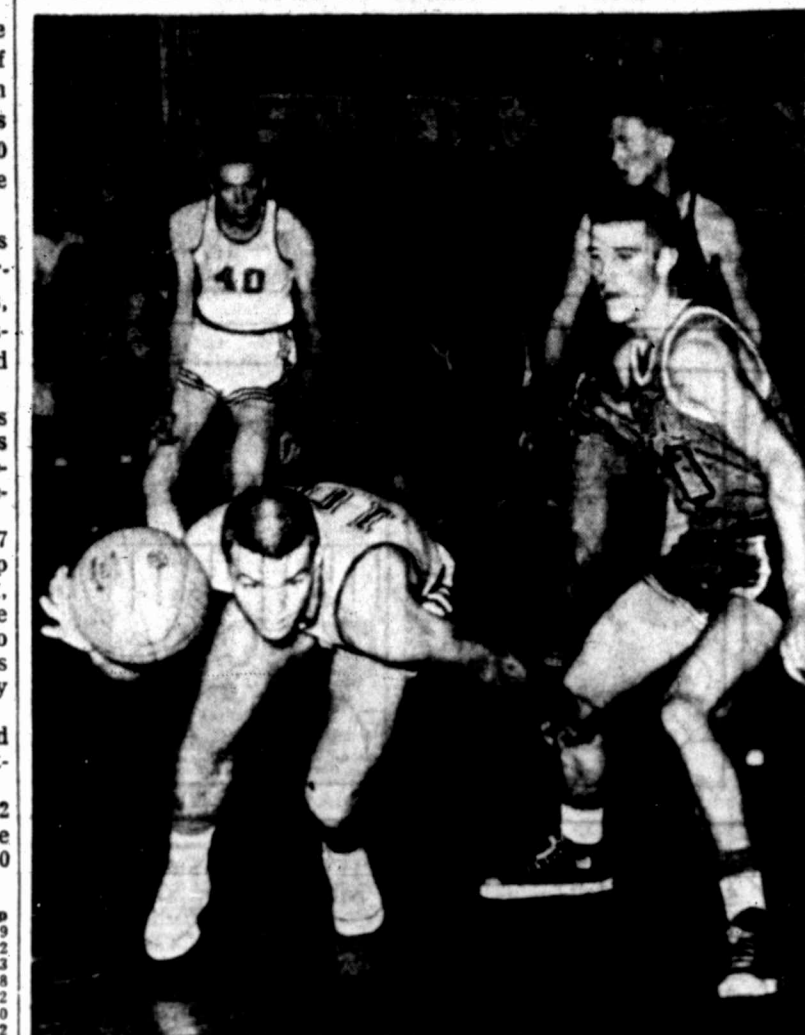

HCJC's reserves looked almost as impressive in blasting Dye's AFB's strong contingent in the opener, 63-53.

The locals outscored the visitors from Abilene only two goals from the field but made good on 23 opportunities at the foul line, compared to only 17 for Dye's.

Terry Myers hit at a fast clip for the Big Springers, tallying 14 points. Guy Davis was close, with 13.

The Hawks visit Temple for the annual tournament next weekend. The locals have won the meet four times in five tries.

Shifting Into Low

Joe Cook (10) of HCJC dribbles close to the floor as he attempts to maneuver away from Billy Plemons of Decatur in the above picture, snapped during the HCJC-Decatur basketball game here Monday night. The home-town Jayhawks won in impressive fashion, 85-54, to open their season.

LONGHORNS OPPOSE WOLVES HERE AT 8

Vernon Harton's Big Spring Steers are favored to win their third straight basketball game tonight, at which time they oppose Colorado City in a game starting at 8 o'clock in the local gym.

Colorado City visited Midland Saturday night and probably wished it had invested its time to better advantage. The Wolves were slaughtered by the tree-top tall Bulldogs, 88-15.

At one stage of the game, Colorado City went 19 minutes without connecting from the field.

The Wolves will probably play the Steers a much closer game but the Steers appear to be too strong for them.

Probable starters for Big Spring are the LeFevre twins, Jay and Zay, Bobby Evans, Arlene Bryant and Homer Mills. Rex Appleton could fit into the starting lineup somewhere.

Thompson, Smith, Haley, Bassinger and Kendrick will probably open the game for the visitors.

There'll be a B contest, starting at 6:15 p.m.

The Longhorns go to Seminole this weekend to compete in a four-team tournament, meeting Hereford in their first game.

Hereford went to the state finals in Class AAA last year.

UCLA Stands In Way Of Orange

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Only UCLA's giant-killers stand between Syracuse's precisionists and the national football championship.

Their clash Saturday in Los Angeles before a national television audience likely will decide whether the unbeaten and untied Orangemen retain their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll.

The top ten with points based on 10 for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Syracuse (95) ..... 1,492
  2. Mississippi (49) ..... 1,350
  3. Louisiana State (6) ..... 1,128

SA Lee, Goliad Split Two Games

San Angelo Lee and Big Spring Goliad split two basketball games here Monday night.

Lee won the ninth grade engagement, 32-22, after the Big Spring eighth graders had prevailed, 39-19.

Jeff Brown tossed in six points for the Goliad ninth graders.

In the eighth grade contest, Tim Smith tossed in 10 for Big Spring.

BS GOLIAD (22) — Coates 6-1-1; Gentry 6-3-3; Brown 2-2-4; Bure 2-0-1; Saunders 1-2-4; Tress 0-0-0; Phillips 1-2-4. Totals 22-32.

SA LEE (32) — Ray 2-4-4; Bosch 2-3-6; Henson 1-0-2; Paschal 2-3-4; Wardle 1-0-1; Williams 1-2-4; Totals 32-22.

OLIVAR

more exciting to live week by week."

BUDDY PARKER, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers:

"Our team is not a good football team. We played over our heads several weeks ago against the New York Giants. We are an ordinary team. Pittsburgh's attendance is not too good. There are quite a few people who like to boo."

WILLIE ZAPALAC, assistant coach at Texas A&M:

"I've been coaching here for seven years, and (tackle) George Hogan is the finest athlete to step on the campus in that time."

LEFTY O'DOUL, former big league batting champion:

"To hit well, you have to stay in balance. You can't reach out for the ball. If you do, your shoulders go out. Then your hips are back and you lose your power. When you see a batter's head bobbing around up there you know he isn't much of a hitter. Like a golfer, a batter needs to keep his head in place. Otherwise, his body goes out of place, too, and the smooth swing and power are lost. Any athlete can be taught to hit except that if he's the least bit afraid, if there's any fear in him, he hasn't got a chance. If he has confidence in himself and is ready to stand up there and battle, he can be taught a lot. You can teach him balance. You can develop a swing that will meet the ball."

BOBBY DODD, Georgia Tech coach:

"Where morale is high, where coaches do not work the life out of their men on the practice field, where the boys want to play, there is no reason why they will not play their best every week. Games are decided by the way the ball bounces, not by whether a team is up or down."

JORDAN OLIVAR, Yale football coach, enraged after his team had been upset by Dartmouth recently:

"The sanctity football officials are housed in is wrong. If I make a mistake, I'm blasted. If the kids make any, they're blasted. But officials apparently mustn't be blasted."

RED HICKEY, San Francisco 49er coach:

"Football is a game of adjustments. If a team concentrates to stop one thing, there's always another way to move."

BUD WILKINSON, discussing the passing ability of Joe Caldwell, Army's great back:

"You can't believe it until you see him throw. Every passer has a hot day now and then. Caldwell is a assistant. Many passers fatten their percentage averages with lot of eight-yard completions out in the flat. This guy throws downfield."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: BLOODY CROSS, San Angelo sports writer:

"Big Spring for a goodly number of years has been weak in football. It doesn't matter who the coach is. Whoever is employed as the next coach won't have a winner, either."

DUFFY DAUGHERTY, Michigan State mentor:

"I think Joe Kuharich (of Notre Dame) is a fine coach . . . but I think this season has proved that Terry Brennan was the maximum out of his talent at Notre Dame . . . It's a great tribute to Forest Evashevski's coaching ability, and his public relations genius to indulge in the luxury of announcing his resignation five years hence at Iowa. I find it more exciting to live week by week."

Says Russ Peaceable but Strong

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that the Soviet Union has a stockpile of rockets with nuclear warheads sufficient "to wipe out the ground all our potential enemies."

But the visiting Premier said the Soviet Union was "ready to destroy all these stockpiles at once if a universal disarmament program is adopted."

The Soviet Union still wants an East-West summit meeting as soon as possible, he told the congress of the Hungarian Communist party, the first since the 1956 Soviet revolt in Hungary.

Blaming the 1956 Hungarian revolt on the "serious mistakes" of the Stalinist leaders of Hungary at that time, Khrushchev declared that nevertheless "imperialist hopes" for the collapse of communism in this country were dead.

"If the counter-revolution did succeed in causing disturbances in the country," Khrushchev said, "this was to a considerable extent due to the fact that the former leadership of the Hungarian Workers' (Communist) party, and especially Rakosi, had committed serious mistakes which undermined the party's directing role and weakened the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Khrushchev's reference was to former Hungarian Communist leader Matyas Rakosi.

The Soviet premier said his proposed East-West summit conference must be approached "in a reasonable way, taking account of the wishes of the other parties."

In this connection, Khrushchev continued, French President Charles de Gaulle's desire to meet with him prior to the summit meeting was not unreasonable and "perhaps this will make for better understanding at the summit."

The Soviet leader denied "foreign press fabrications" that the Soviet Union has abandoned the idea of an early summit meeting.

Khrushchev's visit to De Gaulle is scheduled for the last two weeks in March, which postpones the East-West summit at least until late April.

Khrushchev said the most important and most acute question of the time is that of the relaxation of a stable and durable peace.

A certain relaxation of international tension has been brought about, he continued, by the Soviet proposal for total disarmament, Khrushchev's visit to the United States and his meetings with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev warned that the Soviet desire for peace is not a sign of weakness. He called once more for an end to the Western occupation of West Berlin and a German peace treaty.

Compensation Suit On Trial

Trial of a compensation suit brought by C. E. Isaacs and his wife, Mary, against Travelers Insurance Co., was under way today in 118th District Court. A jury was being selected at 11 a.m.

The suit, one of two which are slated for trial in the court this week, developed out of an accident suffered by Mrs. Isaacs on May 31, 1958. She alleges in her petition that she was an employee of F. W. Woolworth at the time. She claims she was hurt in performance of her work at the store and asks that she be granted $26 a week for 401 weeks under the state compensation laws.

Application Filed For Clyde Bank

AUSTIN (AP) — Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner said today he has received an application for the establishment of the Peoples State Bank at Clyde. The proposed capital is $100,000, surplus $50,000 and reserves $30,000.

L. Loper of Abilene is proposed as president, with Weldon Edwards of Clyde as chairman.

Other proposed directors include John Bailey, J. M. Pycatt, G. M. Smith and H. E. Swafford, all of Clyde, and J. R. Black of Abilene.

No date has been set for a hearing.

IF YOU HAVE WAITED FOR AN EXCEPTIONAL VALUE—THIS IS IT. Two luxury size bedrooms, large expertly planned kitchen for efficiency and easy care, living room with window wall, that brings the beauty of outside to your chairside. Only $900 down plus closing cost.

BUY THIS BARGAIN BEAUTY NOW: Away from traffic but just a hop skip and jump from schools, two large bedrooms, big shaded patio you can enjoy every hour of the day, large workshop or hobby room for dad, small equity, or trade for equity in larger house.

NO STRAIN TO OWN THIS HOME: two bedrooms and large den, close to college and schools. New FHA loan proves the value of this one, only $800 down plus closing cost. Payments $70 per month.

CALL TODAY—YOU CAN ENJOY CHRISTMAS IN IT! Master bedroom with the gracious touch and connecting bath, two more bedrooms, all with double walk-in closets, plus a dining room that puts graciousness into entertaining. Loads of extras throughout, only $1,500 for full equity, assume G.I. Loan.

DO YOU NEED A MONEY TREE? This 100 x 140 foot corner lot on 11th Place has no trees on it, but will make one of the better business locations in Big Spring. You can afford to buy this one as an investment.

DO YOU WANT TO SELL YOUR PROPERTY? CALL US, WE NEED NEW LISTINGS TO REPLACE THE MANY WE HAVE RECENTLY SOLD.

Joan Crawford Takes A Rare Role

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Joan Crawford, a motion picture actress since her teens, was frightened by the first live TV camera she faced years ago. This accounts for her infrequent appearances as a guest on variety shows.

"The show," she recalls with a shudder, "was a complete fiasco—opening night of the old 'Tonight' show which came before Jack Paar. The idea was to have a lot of columnists hosting the show from all over the country, and it got very mixed up very early.

"I was sitting waiting to go on, blinking at the lights and all of a sudden I heard Earl Wilson asking me what I thought of Ingrid Bergman's morals. She was in the news at the time.

"I muttered something to the effect I didn't think anybody had a right to question another person's morals and that you go to see a performer because he is a good actor and not because he has good morals. I'd no sooner gotten over that one than George Gobel asked me whether I slept in the tops or the bottoms of my pajamas. My mouth dropped and I almost answered him—strongly."

With one exception—an appearance as the mystery guest on "What's My Line" on behalf of Wait, the international adoption service—Joan has kept away from the red eye of the live camera. But she is as available for TV dramatic roles on film—as she is for movie roles these days. That isn't often, for her job as a board member and traveling representative of her late husband's soft drink company occupies about three-quarters of her working time.

On Thursday, however, Joan turns up in her first TV Western—she's the widder woman fighting to reclaim her home in "Rebel Range," one of CBS' Zane Grey Theatre episodes. It's a filmed show of course.

Onassis' Friend

Mrs. Jeanne Schley Rhineland, 34-year-old American divorcee, said in Nice, France, she is a "devoted friend" of Greek shipowner Aristotle Onassis but denied any misconduct with him. Onassis is being sued for divorce by his wife who named a "Mrs. J. R."—otherwise unidentified—as co-respondent. This picture was made in 1948.

GOP Leader Sees Little Tax Cut Hope

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana discounted today the chance of tax cuts in the coming session of Congress.

While there may be some tax legislation, Halleck said in an interview, "I don't look for any tax cuts."

The House Ways and Means Committee currently is conducting hearings on general tax law revision. It is expected to recommend legislation to plug loopholes and remove inequities in the present tax structure.

Some Democrats and Republicans are clamoring for tax relief for lower-income taxpayers, either through an increase in personal exemption allowances or a cut in rates.

Halleck said he didn't see how taxes could be cut and the budget kept in balance.

"We must have a balanced budget," he said, and predicted that the 1960 election-year session of Congress would be highlighted by "another battle of the budget."

During this year's session, Democrats boasted of cuts in presidential appropriation requests, and Republicans countered by accusing Democrats of "back-door spending" through programs not requiring direct appropriations but committing future federal income.

Halleck also listed civil rights legislation as a must in 1960 and noted that a civil rights bill is ready for action if the House Rules Committee will clear it.

He also challenged Democrats to "come up with legislation to deal with the farm problem," commenting that Democrats have been in control of Congress for five years and have not relieved farm ills.

He said he doubts the necessity for additional labor legislation unless the steel strike remains unsettled. If legislation is necessary, he said, "I would look with favor" on an amendment to the Taft-Hartley law to curb industry-wide collective bargaining. Such a curb was approved by the House in the original Taft-Hartley Act but was junked by the Senate.

MEN IN SERVICE

Marine Pvt. Jerry G. Hinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hinson of Ellis Homes 15-1, is scheduled to finish four weeks of individual combat training Dec. 9 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The course includes the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Trainees learn that all Marines are basically infantrymen, whether they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers, or with aviation units.

Marion L. Morgan, fireman apprentice, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles L. Morgan of Big Spring, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany operating out of San Diego, Calif.

MIDWAY ISLAND (Delayed)—Unlike many Americans who sat down to the traditional Thanksgiving meal with loved ones this year, Lt. Melvin L. Scott, U.S.N., of Grand Junction, Colo., spent Thanksgiving Day flying the Pacific Barrier.

Son of Mrs. Clarence A. Scott of 107 Dixie Ave., Lt. Scott is married to the former Miss Rose Ann Joyce, daughter of Mrs. James Joyce of 6785 W. Exposition, Denver, Colo.

He is assigned to the Navy's Airborne Early Warning Squadron 12, which flies the WV-2 Lockheed Super Constellation. These planes are often referred to as flying radar platforms and are used by the Navy to maintain a 24-hour vigil over the Pacific as part of this nation's airborne early warning system.

A native of Grand Junction, Lt. Scott attended the University of Colorado. Since reporting to his present assignment, he has logged more than 1,000 hours of Barrier flight time as a pilot.

Lt. Scott was serving as third pilot for this particular flight. His 139,000 pound plane left this tiny Central Pacific atoll at approximately 4:00 a.m. Thanksgiving morning. It was the last land its crew would see until they returned to Midway some 14 hours later.

M. Sgt. Robert L. Martin, local U. S. Army Recruiter, says the U. S. Army has announced its Christmas leave policy for members of the Women's Army Corps.

"Training of WAC personnel will be suspended during the period December 19th through January 2, 1960," he said.

Any young lady enlisting in the WAC during December can be home for Christmas, and then return to Fort McClellan, Ala., to complete basic training following the holiday period.

Trainees normally scheduled to complete basic training during the week of Dec. 26, 1959, will be accelerated to graduate one week early.

Army Pvt. Aubrey M. Keifer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moreno O.

Keifer, Route A, Lamesa, completed the ordnance mechanic course Nov. 20 at the Fort Hood Non-Commissioned Officer Academy.

A 1958 graduate of Klondike High School, Keifer entered the Army last February and completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Insect Award
CHICAGO (AP)—Herky Killingsworth, 17, of Paducah, Tex., won a national award in entomology at the 4-H Club Congress Monday.

Connelly Seeks Tax Case Appeal

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Matthew J. Connelly, one of two Truman administration officials convicted of conspiracy in a tax-fixing case, has petitioned for a rehearing in his battle to escape prison.

The other convicted official, T. Lamar Caudle, made a last-minute bid Monday for an extension of 10 days in which to file a request for rehearing.

Connelly was White House appointments secretary and Caudle was head of the Justice Department's tax division under Truman. Both were fined $2,500 and sentenced to two years in prison for conspiracy in trying to block prosecution of Irvin Sachs, St. Louis shoe wholesaler, in a tax evasion case.

They lost a second bid for a new trial Nov. 9 in U.S. Circuit Court.

Fatally Shot

FORT WORTH (AP)—Mrs. Glenda Miller, 21, and her son, Larry Gene Miller, 16 months, were fatally shot at their home here Monday. Officers said they found a pistol in the woman's hand.

Wound Fatal

BOWIE (AP)—Thomas Evans, about 35, died of a gunshot wound Monday. He was found wounded in his home and died after surgery.

JERRY HINSON

Attend Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Wright, 1417 Eleventh Place, have returned from Dallas where he attended a conference of the Goodyear Stores. The local store was the winner of the largest number of turkeys in the group, because of the gross profits during the month of October.

The Wrights made a visit in Irving before returning to Big Spring.
