The above wreath was sent to Pearl Harbor where it was laid on the bulk of the USS Arizona. The bodies of 82 Texans are among the 1,102 crewmen still entombed there after the sneak attack. They were honored in ceremonies today. The wreath was built of Texas plants by Martin Westbrook, gardener at the governor's mansion. Gov. Price Daniel's secretary, Mrs. Emma Ward, is shown packing the wreath for mailing.

DEAR ABBY

GOING TO DOGS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter from FARMER'S WIFE who had over 300 dogs and cats dropped off on her property in the last 14 years interested me.

Few people realize the seriousness of the abandoned animal problem. It is estimated that over 33 million puppies and kittens are born in this country every year. Of this number, about 20 million are left to die in suffering.

So long as people allow their pets to produce puppies and kittens in greater numbers than they can feed and care for, the problem will persist. The Humane Society is trying to persuade people to have their female dogs spayed and their male cats altered. If they would, it would solve this problem quickly. Can you help to spread the word?

DEAR MONTGOMERY: I can try, but I am not optimistic. In a world where people are producing more people than they can feed and care for, it will be no easy task to undertake a "Planned Parenthood" crusade for animals.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and Dick is 26. We are engaged to be married. Lately Dick has been going out of town every weekend with his bachelor friends. They either take along some girls (not nice ones) or meet them there.

I could forgive him if this happened only once, but it has been happening regularly every weekend. Dick says he wants to live a little before settling down to married life. Do I have a right to complain, or haven't I?

ENGAGED WITH A RING DEAR ABBY: This kind of living has been the death of many engagements. The only woman who is more miserable than the sweetheart of a coveting suitor is the wife of a coveting husband. A word to the wise . . .

DEAR ABBY: I am going to write this fast and mail it before I lose my nerve. I have written to you several times but I always tore up the letters.

I have been married seven years and my problem is my husband. He likes to wear women's clothing. I didn't know this until I found some of my things missing. When I caught him red-handed he admitted that he had taken some of my clothes and had worn them.

Abby, I am almost crazy with worry. I think this is against the law and I'm afraid he will get arrested. If they find out about him at work he will lose his job. The children and I need him. Can you please tell me what to do?

UNDESIGNED DEAR UNDESIGNED: Your husband is sick. It doesn't matter how you do it, but get him to a doctor. He needs professional help.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Demo War Chiefs Launch Big Assault On Fiscal Policies

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic war chiefs, warming up for 1960, have launched a broad attack on the economic and fiscal policies of the Eisenhower administration. The Democratic Advisory Council also fired a salvo Sunday against the Republican record on issues ranging from foreign policy to national defense and the race for outer space.

A 10,000-word blueprint for next year's Democratic platform declared: "The Republicans have done a second-rate, second-best job that could cost us more in freedom and national security than can possibly be measured in money."

Charging that the administration has "failed miserably to keep the government's financial house in order," the statement went on to criticize Republicans for lack of "bold and creative leadership," an affinity for "moneyminded interests," "deep-rooted hostility to new ideas" and "incompetent administration."

The platform outline, hammered out during a three-day political whirl, also called for federal aid to education, a stronger civil rights program, a 30 per cent hike in social security benefits and a 25 cent increase in the $1 minimum wage.

Additionally, the statement urged increased presidential powers to deal with "national-interest" strikes and federal action to push both water conservation and the production of electric power.

Nineteen of the 22 chapters of the blueprint dealt with domestic policy and three with foreign relations. There were signs that producing the document was not accomplished without some internal party rumblings.

The civil rights and aid to education recommendations drew dissents from Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida and a national committeewoman from North Carolina, Mrs. Benjamin Bryan Everett. A number of other Southern members of the council were absent and did not vote.

The final statements on GOP foreign policy, while highly critical, were rewritten to tone down what some members considered too-harsh criticism advocated by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Taking note of the President's current world tour, the statement said that he had the hopes of all Americans for success, but added that such tours were no substitute for solid programs and policies.

The council sought to lift the peace issue from the political arena, stating: "Peace is not a partisan issue. Any attempt by Republican or Democrat to make partisan capital of peace is deceitful, damaging and dangerous."

Hooch, No Pooch Is Drinker's Goal

PALISADES PARK, N.J. (AP)—Hooch with no pooch, that's what James Sherlock is looking for.

Sherlock, 66, was sipping his beer in a local tavern Sunday when a dog walked over to him and bit him on the left hand.

Well, you can drink beer with your right hand just as well, so Sherlock walked down the street to another bar.

No more drinking for Sherlock. He got his hands treated and called it a day.

The dogs were ordered tied up.

Tongue Trouble

LEVITTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Virgilio Mallo, 23, banged away with hammer and chisel Sunday at the vault of the East Gate branch of the Franklin National Bank.

He glanced up and saw the face of a cop in every window of the bank. Also in every window is a sign that warns that the bank's vault is hooked into an electronic alarm.

"I'm only from Italy over about three years," Mallo explained, "and I guess I don't read so good."

He was charged with burglary.

Ike Uses Helicopters To Save The Wear Of Crowds

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—President Eisenhower is using helicopters on some parts of his tour to cut down on the physical strain of waving to crowds.

The President used helicopters to go to the airports when leaving both Rome and Ankara. Aides explained he had already done his quota of waving. By avoiding repeat appearances, he conserves his energy for his arrival at the next stop.

Barbara Eisenhower, mother of four children, visited a children's hospital in Ankara Sunday. The President's daughter-in-law went slowly through the wards, stopping to speak to the young patients, looked through the window at a new baby, and donned a surgical mask and gown to go through the ward for premature infants.

Later the wife of Foreign Minister Fatih Rustu Zorlu gave a tea for Mrs. Eisenhower. During the state dinner for the President—a stag affair—President Celal Bayar's wife entertained Mrs. Eisenhower and several other women at dinner.

Pope John XXIII told about 100 newsmen accompanying President Eisenhower that if St. Paul were alive today, he would be a journalist so as to spread the doctrine of Christ.

The Pope received the newsmen shortly before his meeting with the President. He said since becoming Pope, he had grown to appreciate the importance of journalism more and more. "I wish the peace of Christ in your souls and that your service in your profession may always help to promote peace and brotherhood," the pontiff told the newsmen.

Young New Mexicans Are Shown Webb Base Airport

Visiting Webb Air Force Base Friday and Saturday were 30 Air Force ROTC cadets from the University of New Mexico. Also here were their commander, Lt. Col. H. M. Campbell, and his staff, Dr. M. H. McMichael and Capt. Arnold W. Brown and Charles C. Gilbert. The party landed at Webb AFB in two C-47 aircraft Friday afternoon and were taken to the 3560 Pilot Training Squadron Section III for briefing. Maj. Frank C. Shearin Jr. welcomed the group and had several of the squadron pilots give a first hand account of the operation of a Pilot Training Squadron. The party visited the runway and Mobil Control to watch students shooting landings in the T-33 "T Birds." The cadets were given the opportunity to see combat exercise Saturday by men of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. They also visited the new Air Defense Complex being built on the west side of the base.

An address by Lt. Col. Dick M. Crowell, commander of the fighter squadron, and a complete tour handled by Capt. George L. Griffith was held Saturday morning before the men returned to New Mexico after lunch. According to Lt. Paul E. Halonen the tour was aimed at motivating the cadets toward an Air Force career and it went off without a hitch. The lieutenant, who arranges tours of this type, said, "We always enjoy showing our base to the men who will be officers in the Air Force of the future."

Percentage-wise, the Christmas Home Decoration contest got a terrific boost this morning. It was increased by 400 per cent over yesterday before noon. In actual numbers, however, the increase amounted to three persons. Tally of 1201 Pennsylvania, have all entered their homes in the competition. As of last night, he added, Mrs. Aultman Smith of 3216 Cornell was the only enrollee in this year's contest. LAMESA—Victor Crowley, who is retiring as the State Highway Department's district maintenance foreman in Dawson County after 24 years, was honored by fellow workers at a dinner in the H. B. Dawson County now boasts 250 miles of paved highways. McMullen is to assume the foreman's position with the department, it was announced. Crowley's associates presented him a gift certificate, and after games of "42" coffee and fruit punch were served with assorted holiday cakes, the McMullen home was gay in holiday dress for the party.

Riot Or No Riot, Canal Keeps Busy

PANAMA (AP)—Anti-American riot or no riot, the Panama Canal keeps busy every day. Twenty-seven ships laden with freight and passengers are lifted and lowered 85 feet from one ocean to another on a daily average. Fifty million tons of cargo go through the locks between the Atlantic and the Pacific every year.

In money the U.S.-operated Canal Zone means more than 71 million dollars yearly to the country it divides. This is 12 million dollars more than the national budget. It makes up Panama's own foreign trade deficit, the difference between what it sells and what it buys.

THEY'RE UNHAPPY Yet some of Panama's million poverty stricken inhabitants are unhappy. They want more money from the "Colossus of the North" in return for use of the strip 10 miles wide across their country. Most of all, they say they want their flag to fly over it.

Panamanians feel their sovereign rights were sold out to the United States by the French engineer, Philippe Buneau-Varilla, when the fledgling government of Panama sent him to Washington in 1903 to sign a treaty with Secretary State John Hay.

The United States in its urge to build the canal had encouraged Panama to cut out from Colombia. French private interests having failed at the loss of 22,000 men to dig a big ditch across the isthmus, the United States bought their property and rights for 40 million dollars in 1904. The treaty Buneau-Varilla signed granted the United States the right to govern the zone for all time "as if it were sovereign." Panamanians say Buneau-Varilla did it to get back some of the money the French had sunk in the swampy jungles.

The United States paid the infant republic 10 million dollars outright and began paying a yearly rent of $20,000. It finished the canal in 10 years at a cost of 425 million dollars. It also made tropical Panama a healthy place to live.

Exercising sovereign rights through the Canal Zone government and operating the waterway through the Panama Canal Company, the United States signed further treaties with Panama in 1906 and 1955. These, among other things, granted certain commercial concessions to this rapidly growing country.

Canal Zone authorities say direct benefits to Panama now amount to $24,600,000 a year. This is paid in wages to 16,000 Panamanians who work in the zone, in contracts for construction and services, for food and supplies.

In addition, they estimate that 47 million dollars are pumped into the economy of Panama through the payrolls and purchases of other U.S. agencies, the spending of Canal Zone families and the U.S. armed forces on guard over the canal, disability relief payments to former employees, the spending of U.S. tourists.

COMPARATIVE BUDGET This compares with the Panama government's budget for 1959 of approximately $8 million dollars. The total equals the deficit between Panama's imports of $92,800,000 in 1958 and its exports of about $21,200,000, mainly of bananas, shrimp and cocoa beans.

U.S. authorities say that Panama thus lives largely off the canal. Yet many Panamanians resent the 11,000 Americans who live and work in the zone, look enviously at the way they live.

Some Panamanian politicians are demanding half the gross revenue from the canal tolls, which was $83,100,000 in 1958. The net revenue last year was $2,700,000. Panama has been collecting a rent of $1,900,000 yearly since 1955.

Throughout its 45 years, the canal's tolls have remained the same. Some Panamanians propose an increase to provide more money for Panama. Canal authorities, on the other hand, say their aim is to serve shipping of the world on the most economic basis possible.

Seasonal Rush At Post Office Begins To Show

Postmaster E. C. Boatler said today that it's really beginning to look like Christmas at the Big Spring Post Office.

Boatler said mailings of cards and packages are growing daily and a steady stream of customers are arriving with their presents for other sections of the country and overseas.

Incoming mail has also picked up, he added, and much of this is cards or packages from distant points.

Boatler said the present staff has been able to handle the increase to now and will probably be able to keep up with it for a few more days. He said that extra help will probably have to be added some time next week.

The postmaster again repeated his request that patrons sort their cards into local and out of town bundles and use the free bundle labels where appropriate.

The volume of business of the postal department increases several hundred per cent Boatler said during the holiday season. If everyone cooperates, he noted, everything will be delivered on time.

57 Men May Be Dead As Storms Rip Europe Coast

LONDON (AP) — Blizzards and storms of gale force raging across the Atlantic and half a dozen nations of Europe were believed to have claimed 57 lives today.

The largest toll was in Greece where a ferry boat was upset by squalls on an artificial lake. Twenty men drowned.

Lives of 31 men may have been lost in three ships off the coasts of Britain and Portugal.

Many other vessels were in trouble in the Atlantic and off the British east coast.

An unusual early winter storm tumbled up sea and land traffic in the Scandinavian countries, where six persons died. One of the victims was a motorist who died of a heart attack in Denmark as he fought his way from his stranded car. Up to two feet of snow were reported in the Austrian Alps.

Even the mightiest liners struggled against the fury of the storm that swept far out across the Atlantic.

The Queen Elizabeth radioed after a day and night battering that it would not reach Cherbourg until Tuesday morning, 12 hours late.

Space Scientists Test New Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space scientists have announced a successful test of a new rocket engine and plans to orbit a trio of Echo satellites.

The nation's first rocket engine fueled with liquid hydrogen—the huge XLR15—has been test-fired successfully, the Pentagon disclosed Sunday. The engine produced a kick 30 per cent greater than current kerosene-fueled rocket engines.

Plans for launching of the three Echo satellites—the first of them perhaps next March—were announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The balloon-like spheres will be as tall as 10-story buildings and will be fired into orbit 1,000 miles above the earth.

Scientists around the world have been invited to try to bounce radio signals off the big aluminum-coated spheres.

The three satellites to be used in the global communications experiment will be similar to the one inflated Oct. 28 about 250 miles above Wallops Island, Va. Thousands of residents along 1,000 miles of the Eastern seaboard saw that glistening sphere.

New Filter Cigarette Ratings On File With U.S. Government

Washington, D.C.: The United States Government has just received a special report which shows that a new filter cigarette—today's new Life—has achieved the least tar and nicotine ever attained. This report, filed with the government in the public interest, supersedes all previous ratings.

New Cigarette Found Lowest in Tar, Nicotine

Following accepted research practice, the table shown at left omits all brand names except the one lowest in tar and nicotine—new Life. One of the scientists who developed new Life, Mr. Thomas Wade, said in an interview: "This new advance was largely due to one factor—the super-absorbent Millecel Filter developed for Life Cigarettes. With this new filter, Life has been able to achieve the least tar and nicotine of any cigarette made, as shown by the filter ratings on file with the U.S. Government."

Report to Government Welcomed

Life has set a new standard of tar and nicotine reduction. Life scientists have also developed new taste enrichment which delivers full flavor never before possible in a filter cigarette. Smokers, acting on the new ratings filed with the U.S. Government, are changing to new Life... for the least tar and nicotine in history.

Put Gay, New Boots Into Her Gift Stocking

Perfect answer to both "cold feet" and "hot fashion" is the new leather city boot that takes nasty weather in stride. They're also the perfect answer to what to give your favorite gal for Christmas. Designed in soft, supple leathers in top fashion colors, city boots are a joy to wear, and to behold. Lightweight and water-repellent, they have slim and trim leather soles that completely eliminates the clumsy old over-shoe look.

Featured in all high fashion colors, these are designed to truly complement a woman's smart daytime apparel. The elegant evening boot is seen in ultra-soft white, pastel, gold and silver leathers. These are usually slip-on styles with tops that curve up over the ankle with soft draping — or with higher tops that can be crushed down softly toward the ankle. Heels, high and very thin, frequently are aglitter with studded rhinestones.

Starting at the ankle and "climbing up" as high as the knee — these boots are styled for city or casual wear and evenings on the town. Casual boots are most often made of soft, brushed leather or finely textured grain with comfortable low or mid-heel. Novelty closings such as buckled straps, side zippers, or buttons add interest. Colors are many — the most popular being vivid reds, greens, neutral tans and browns. For afternoon wear, the boot goes dressier with finely tapered toe and slim high heel in soft, smooth leathers.

Amateur Probing Fouls Its Purpose

HOUSTON (AP)—Amateur detective work by Mrs. Dessie Patterson, who believes convicted slayer Howard Stickney is innocent, has tightened the case against him, police say.

Her private investigation led to an admission by insurance man James Vittitoe that he gave Stickney $100 in getaway money after the March 24, 1956, killings of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barnes. "This puts Stickney further into the chair," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Pete Moore. It "merely strengthens the case against Stickney," agreed Police Lt. B. Porter.

The State Highway Department employee, 20, was arrested in Canada a month after the slayings. He signed a statement admitting beating the pair with a wrench during a drinking party on Galveston Beach.

A jury convicted him last fall and he is awaiting electrocution. Police charged Vittitoe as an accessory Saturday.

Vittitoe, 36, said he gave Stickney the money because he had "a positive hatred for capital punishment."

Stickney, he said, came to his home the day after the slayings and related the story.

Stickney said Vittitoe suggested he go to Mexico but that he replied he knew nothing about that country and that "I was broke."

"He said he was going to give me the money to go on and he said he'd cash a check. And he did," Stickney said.

Mrs. Patterson said she sat through the trial "and I didn't believe the boy was convicted of murder. I didn't think he had a fair trial so I started a personal investigation of my own."

She located Vittitoe and arranged a meeting where, she said, he told her of giving Stickney money. About six months ago, she said, she gave the information to Dist. Atty. Dan Walton "but I read in the papers that Walton said no new evidence turned up."

Then she told her story to Peace Justice David Thompson, with whom charges were filed Saturday.

Violence Takes 27 Texas Lives

By The Associated Press

Violence took 27 lives in Texas during the weekend with traffic accounting for 19. Latest deaths included these in West Texas:

A. C. Carven, 29, Monahans city employee, was shot to death in a Monahans cafe. Murder charges were filed against Albert Raider, 30.

William Fidler, 5, died at Amarillo Sunday of what officers said were injuries caused by a beating. The father, Frederick Fidler, 30, was charged with aggravated assault.

Silverio Ramirez, 27, of Rotan died Sunday near Hamlin when an auto crashed at a curve.

John Jenkins, 21, Amarillo College student, was killed early Sunday when an auto overturned east of Amarillo.

Youth Parley Tells Means Of Approach

AUSTIN (AP)—Delegates to a grass-roots conference on youth problems here last weekend suggested dozens of ways to improve the lot of Texas children—but nobody said where the money should come from.

More than 500 persons from 187 counties accepted a report calling for support of the Hale-Aikin proposals for improvement of schools. They ignored a suggestion in the conference program that they say how the multi-million dollar changes should be financed.

Other recommendations, to be taken to the 5-day 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth next spring, call for more and better juvenile officers and courts; public health dentists, doctors and nurses; psychologists; domestic relations courts; libraries; job placement centers and day nurseries.

About the only reference to funds came from Gov. Price Daniel, who told delegates, "Education is a state and local responsibility and we should meet it at home."

"If we do not meet this problem at home with Texas money, we will have only ourselves to blame should federal supervision of education occur," Daniel said.

Daniel said the 100 adults and 16 youths who will make up the Texas delegation to the White House Conference are not going "to go to Washington and ask anyone how to take care of our children."

Daniel plugged for his proposals for higher pay for teachers and a juvenile parole system. The report of the juvenile delinquency committee endorsed the juvenile patrol feature — without saying anything about finances.

Daniel and Dr. Guy Newman of Brownwood, the president of Howard Payne College and chairman of the committee, spoke of the duties of the present generation to instill strong moral and ethical values in youth.

Flying Sam Is Back Home

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Sam, the seven-pound rhesus monkey who travelled 55 miles into space, returned to his home Sunday night for a series of tests. He was born at the School of Aviation Medicine here. Sam was sent aloft Friday by a Little Joe rocket from Wallops Island, Va., in a missile that attained a speed of 3,600 miles an hour.

He was plucked from the Atlantic in his Project Mercury capsule, a chamber designed to carry man in his first orbit around the earth. A Navy destroyer transported Sam to Norfolk, Va., Saturday, and he was flown here in a C-47.

Sam will be under constant observation as doctors attempt to determine the effects of the flight on the monkey. The monkey has been placed off limits to newsmen while he undergoes tests at Randolph Air Force Base.

Religion Might Be Issue In Louisiana

By ERNEST BARTON

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Religion—Protestant versus Catholic—could be a major factor in deciding Louisiana's next governor. Gov. Earl K. Long, shunned by the voters in Saturday's Democratic primary, often has called Louisiana tolerant. The Jan. 9 showdown between New Orleans Mayor deLeesepe Morrison and former Gov. Jimmie Davis may test this view.

Morrison, a Catholic, led the record 11-man field. Davis, a Baptist, was next, trailing by more than 60,000 votes.

Morrison's strength was in South Louisiana, a predominantly Catholic area. More than 25 per cent of his votes came from New Orleans. He wasn't ahead in any parish (county) in North Louisiana, where most of the people go to Protestant churches.

NOT IN CENTURY

Louisiana voters haven't elected a Catholic governor this century. Another important issue is segregation. Davis wasted no time in bolstering his stand on this.

The 53-year-old hillbilly ballad singer and movie actor said he was convinced voters are concerned about their rights to decide their own problems.

He cited the overwhelming victory of Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion in his bid for another term. Gremlion heads the state's legal team in segregation rights.

Neither Davis nor Morrison mentioned segregation much in their campaigning for the first primary, although both said they favored it. Morrison's foes often have accused him of courting the Negro vote.

State Sen. W. M. Rainach, Louisiana's No. 1 segregationist, accused them both of evading the issue.

Rainach, making his first statewide race, was third in the governor's race. He hasn't said whether he will try to line up his backers behind one of the leaders.

The next two men in the race, former Gov. James Noe and State Comptroller William Dodd, haven't picked a favorite either.

Noe, a former associate of the late Huey P. Long and Earl Long's choice as his successor, ran fourth. Dodd, whose career has included a term as lieutenant governor, was fifth.

Complete returns from 2,063 of 2,108 precincts gave Morrison 271,816 votes, Davis 209,765 Rainach 138,111, Noe 95,945 and Dodd 82,593.

A half-dozen other candidates trailed far behind. Complete returns from 2,083 of 2,108 showed Holt Allen 3,894 votes, Gale Berry 1,757, John B. Krey Jr. 2,988; Allen LaCombe 4,806, the Rev. Mack P. Stewart Jr. 6,776 and Roswell Thompson 3,880.

Long, barred by the constitution from succeeding himself as governor, was third in the lieutenant governor's race.

The voters in Long's home parish of Winn even refused to let him serve another term as a member of the Democratic State Central Committee. They replaced him with a newcomer, Sheridan L. Garrett.

WORST BEATING

It was Long's worst beating since he was elected lieutenant governor in 1936. That election later led to him becoming governor the first of three times when Richard Leche resigned from the governor's job during the Louisiana scandals.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO PRIVATE CAR OWNERS FROM THE BIG SPRING ASSN. OF INSURANCE AGENTS

Because of public demand, the State Board of Insurance has adopted the TEXAS SAFE DRIVERS INSURANCE PLAN effective January 1, 1960. The Plan provides for reduction in automobile insurance premiums for careful drivers who have had no accidents or moving traffic violations for a period of three years, this period being the three years ending 90 days prior to date of your insurance policy. Drivers with a record of accidents and traffic violations will be penalized by paying higher premiums.

All policies dated after January 1, 1960, will be issued only upon a written application completely filled out and signed by the applicant for insurance. Your INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENTS, listed below, members of the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents, will assist and cooperate with you in the preparation of these applications.

The State Board of Insurance has ruled that any discounts under this plan cannot apply to policies dated prior to January 1, 1960. Because of the complex nature of this new program, the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents are contacting their automobile policyholders with detailed information concerning the new plan approximately two months prior to their renewal date and will be happy to discuss this plan with any other interested party.

This PLAN is mandatory and all Insurance Companies and their Agents doing business in Texas must adhere to the rules and rates as adopted by the State Board of Insurance including the securing of the SIGNED APPLICATION.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Dan Andregg, the Crane High School football mentor, says his chances to field a winner in the future have been blighted.

Several families in an oil camp located within the Crane school district are moving away and quite a bit of the Crane football talent is going with them.

Too, Dan says, there is a move on the part of some officials there to de-emphasize football. He thinks that could be fatal in a football hotbed like that part of West Texas.

Dan was through here Saturday, en route to Snyder to witness the Stamford - Denver City playoff game.

School officials at Denver City took the trouble to write local Quimby, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, and tell him how they appreciated his presence at a meeting with Stamford officials and the pitch he made for the Stamford-Denver City game.

They mentioned they had heard numerous fine reports on the hospitality extended visiting teams here.

Had Denver City and Brady advanced as far as the finals Quimby would have sought that game for Big Spring - and stood a reasonably good chance of getting it.

Those initials in the name of B. F. Newton, the local athlete who has gone to Denver, Colo., to attend a junior college on a scholarship, stand for Benjamin Franklin.

Doc Hayes, the SMU basketball mentor, has words of praise for Jan Loudermilk, the SMU sophomore from Big Spring, following the Ponies' 73-60 win over Minnesota last week.

Loudermilk scored 12 points for the Texans. He took 13 shots at the basket from the field and made five of them.

Frank Murphy, an all-district basketball player for Garden City High School last season, is playing on the Bearcat B team this year.

Murphy would, no doubt, fit into coach Al Lange's varsity plans but he was one of those boys who accepted an all-district trophy, along with a jacket, at the conclusion of last season's play.

He's an innocent victim of a ruling made some time ago by the Texas Interscholastic League to the effect that such awards showered upon an individual jeopardize his future eligibility.

Coach Lange is taking no chances on playing Murphy, for fear of having to forfeit the team's games. To make certain of Murphy's status, Al conferred with Rhea Williams, the Texas Interscholastic League official. Williams said Murphy and all others who accepted the trophies last year aren't eligible, the way he interprets the ruling.

If other teams in Garden City's conference play boys who received similar awards last year, their games may come up for protest.

Incidentally, Dennis Cypert, who tossed in 19 points for Garden City against Stanton's reserves the other night, is only a freshman.

Albert Oglesby, the Forsan youth who is to North Texas State College and made good in an athletic way, is coaching this year's freshman team at the Denton school.

Oglesby will build his team around two string beans, James Hyden, 6-7½, of Lake Worth; and Zack Hayes, 6-6, from Decatur, Ga.

A 6-3½ sharpshooter named Billy Magers, from Azle, could emerge as Oglesby's top hand, however.

Ernie White Inks Pact With Solons

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League have a new manager, Ernie White, former pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves.

White, 43, was named Sunday to succeed Bob Elliott, who signed recently as manager of the Kansas City Athletics in the American League.

THOMAS WALLS

MINOSO PHILLIPS

11 INVOLVED IN SWAPOUTS

By JOE REICHLER

By The Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Baseball people spoke optimistically of even more trades today following the completion of two major deals Sunday. There was one in each league, involving 11 players with such big names as Minnie Minoso and Frank Thomas.

Minoso was the key figure in a swap between Cleveland and Chicago that sent pitchers Don Ferrarese and catcher Dick Brown, along with the 37-year-old slugging outfielder, to the White Sox in exchange for third baseman John (Bubba) Phillips, catcher John Romano and first baseman Norm Cash.

Thomas, acquired by Cincinnati from Pittsburgh in the biggest trade of 1959, was shipped by the Reds to the Chicago Cubs for three players—pitcher Bill Henry and outfielders Lee Walls and Lou Jackson.

The twin trades, following on the heels of a couple of lesser transactions the day before, was greeted with enthusiasm by officials of other clubs.

"It looks like the log jam has been broken," said General Manager Bing Devine of the St. Louis Cardinals. "Now that certain players have been eliminated in the trade mart, we can concentrate on other players. Too many trade possibilities sometimes can be confusing and as a result you can't make any."

The deal between the White Sox and Indians, who finished one-two in the American League, was expected to spur the New York Yankees into action. The New Yorkers have been trying so far in vain to acquire a left-handed pitcher and a left-handed hitting outfielder, using Gil McDougald as bait.

The Cardinals, also seeking pitching and hitting help, have put their fine second baseman, Don Blasingame, on the trading block.

Milwaukee and San Francisco have shown interest in the fleet-footed Redbird leadoff man.

Cincinnati's decision to trade Thomas followed a dismal 1959 season by the 30-year-old converted infielder after the Reds had given up three key players—Don Hoak, Smokey Burgess and Harvey Haddix—for him last January.

Thomas, a 35-homer-hitter in Pittsburgh in '58, managed only 12 four-baggers and drove in only 47 runs for the Reds on a .225 batting average. His poor season was blamed on a thumb operation which failed to respond. He recently underwent a second surgery on the same hand.

The acquisition of Henry gave the Reds what they needed most—a strong relief pitcher. The 32-year-old southpaw had a 9-8 record but turned in an impressive 2.71 earned run average in 65 games. Walls, a .257 hitter last year, slugged 24 home runs in 1958. Jackson, 24, led the Eastern League with his .338 at Lancaster, Pa.

"We hated to give up Thomas," said Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson, "but we simply had to have a relief pitcher. We lost 27 games last year when we were ahead in the last three innings."

"We're going to return Thomas to the outfield, where he belongs," said Manager Charlie Grimm of the Cubs. "The big guy has proven he can hit. His thumb is all right now. We had him checked by a doctor and we have been assured he is physically okay."

The multiple Cleveland-Chicago deal marks the second time the Indians have traded Minoso to the White Sox. He originally came to Chicago in April 1951 and was returned to Cleveland in December 1957. He has hit over .300 in seven of his nine seasons in the majors and owns a lifetime mark of .307 including 146 home runs. Last year he batted .302 for the Indians with 21 homers and 92 runs batted in.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas returns to the football practice today getting ready for its Gator Bowl date with Georgia Tech.

The four-pronged Texas schoolboy football race pushes into its semifinals this week with three defending state champions still occupying favorite roles.

Wichita Falls of Class AAAA, Breckenridge of Class AAA and Stamford, kingpin of Class AA, lead the way into the penultimate round. Class A still has two undefeated, untied teams among the four seeking to grab a vacated throne.

Wichita Falls topped what figured to be its greatest obstacle in the path to the finals—Abilene—last week. The Coyotes beat the Eagles 26-12 and breathed a sigh of relief.

Corpus Christi Ray, untroubled thus far in its drive to a showdown with mighty Wichita Falls, crushed San Antonio Edison 42-0.

Both Wichita Falls and Ray will be heavy favorites to remove semifinal opponents this week.

Wichita Falls plays Fort Worth Carter-Riverside (11-1) at Wichita Falls, Saturday, 2 p.m.

Corpus Christi Ray (12-0) at Fort Worth, Saturday, 2 p.m.

Stamford (13-0) vs. Olney (13-0) at Wichita Falls, Friday, 8 p.m.

Wichita Falls and Carter-Riverside play at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon. At the same time Ray and Port Arthur will be having a showdown.

Breckenridge sailed into the Class AAA semifinals with a 32-6 victory over Andrews. Facing the Bucaroos at Fort Worth Saturday will be Mt. Pleasant, which dropped Athens 21-7.

The other AAA semi-final sends Cleburne against Falfurrias at Falfurrias Friday night. Cleburne whitewashed LaMarque 28-0 while Falfurrias was easing by San Marcos 8-6.

Wichita Falls, Breckenridge and Cleburne are the only repeaters in the semifinals from last year.

Wichita Falls has gone through 24 games without defeat since losing to Breckenridge by four points early in 1958. The only mar on

Conerly Leads NY's Surge To 48-7 Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

A shrewd Mississippian, his good-looking sidekick and a 230-pound one-man wrecking crew comprise the key trio for the New York Giants, Eastern Conference champions in the National Football League for the second consecutive year.

The clever Mississippian is quarterback Charlie Conerly, who revitalized a non-existent Giants attack with his pin-point passing and first-rate signal calling in the last three games en route to the Eastern crown.

The final measure of Conerly's success—after returning from an ankle injury that sidelined him while the Giants floundered—came Sunday when he passed for three touchdowns and engineered a 48-7 rout of the Cleveland Browns to wrap up the title.

The good-looking is halfback Frank Gifford, Hollywood-bound with a movie contract when he leaves the football. Gifford, the main cog in New York's ground game, poured it on against the Browns. He scored twice and packing away 175 yards running and pass receiving.

The wrecker is middle linebacker Sam Huff. His job was to stop Jimmy Brown. Huff handed Cleveland's league-leading ground gainer so effectively he gained only 50 yards in 15 tries. Brown has been averaging over a 100 a game.

While the Giants won in the East and started looking toward a replay of last year's championship game with Baltimore, the defending champion Colts clinched a tie for the crown in the Western Division.

Led by quarterback Johnny Unitas, who set an NFL record for most TD passes in one season, the Colts won their showdown battle for first place with San Francisco as they defeated the 49ers 34-14 in a Saturday game.

The Colts lead the 49ers and Chicago Bears by one game with one left to play. The Bears moved into a tie for the runner-up spot Sunday by beating Pittsburgh 27-21 for their sixth straight win.

In other games Sunday, Philadelphia took over second place in the East with a 34-14 thumping of Washington. Detroit clobbered Chicago's Cardinals 45-21 and Green Bay defeated Los Angeles 38-20.

The Giants (9-2), administering the second worst beating in Cleveland history, rolled up their biggest point total in five years for their fifth straight decision over the Browns. The defeat dropped the Browns into third place with a 6-5 record.

Conerly, the 36-year-old veteran, pitched TD passes of 32, 19 and 2 yards to Gifford, Kyle Rote and Bob Schneider, respectively. Gifford also scored another on a two-yard smash.

Leading Scorer

Jay LeFevre, who has blown hot and cold on occasions, is the leading scorer for the Big Spring High School Steers, with 84 points. That averages out to 16.3 points a game. The Longhorns seek their fifth win in six starts tonight, at which time they will be in Kermit.

Steers Play Kermit Quint, Bidding For Fifth Victory

Their winning streak stopped at four straight by Seminole in the finals of the Seminole Tournament last weekend, the Big Spring Steers will try to start a new skein in a practice game with Kermit in Kermit tonight. Game time is 8 o'clock.

The Longhorns were drubbed by Seminole, 67-54, after having beaten Hereford in the first round Friday, 61-45. Against Seminole, the roof caved in after they had led by one point at the end of the third period.

Coach Vernon Harton said his team looked better at Seminole than it has all season. The Longhorns visit Colorado City for a return game Tuesday.

Liston Choice Over German

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sonny Liston, who would like a crack at heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and has the credentials to make the challenge, is a 5-1 favorite to score his 15th straight victory Wednesday night.

The third-ranking contender from Philadelphia takes on willing Willi (call me Billy) Besmanoff of Milwaukee in a television (ABC 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time) 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena.

Liston, 27, has a 25-1 record, including 16 knockouts. His winning streak of 18 dates back more than five years when he was outpointed by Marty Marshall in an eight-rounder. Sonny avenged that lone loss by whipping Marshall twice, once on a kayo.

The German-born Besmanoff has a 41-16-7 record, including 15 kayos. He is more of a mauler than a puncher. If Will goes the limit with Liston it will be a big surprise.

Against Sands B, Davis tossed in 23 points, Ritter had six, Bales five and Haney three while Carol Walker scored 18 for Sands.

Defensively, Frances Earnest, Pauline Graves, Margie Logsdon and Nell Mason sparkled for Coahoma while Bristow, Bodine and Jackson all looked good for Sands.

In the final game, Ritter had 19 points, Davis 18, Haney 11 and Nichols two while Farmer had 17, Patterson 16, Ford four and White one for Ira.

First round game: COAHOMA (40) — Reeves 5-2-12; Ellis Smith 2-0-12; Curtright 0-0-0; Richters 2-0-4; Wayne Smith 1-0-3; Ford 0-2. Totals 15-36.

OSCEOLA (36) — Duncan 2-0-4; D. Duncan 1-1-7; J. Richters 5-0-10; Etheredge 4-2-10; Kirby 7-0-20; G. Richters 1-0-3. Totals 22-32-56.

Score by quarters: Coahoma 10-10-10-10. Total 40. Osceola 6-6-6-6. Total 24.

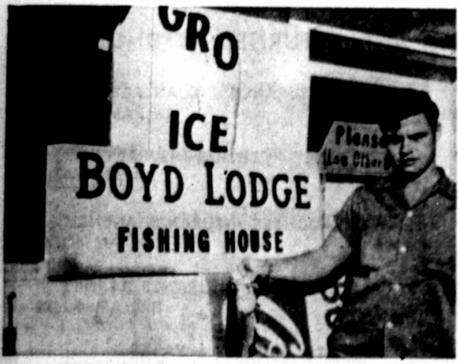

Consolation final: COAHOMA (40) — Richters 5-1-11; E. Smith 2-0-12; Curtright 0-0-0; Reeves 5-2-12; Tyler 1-1-3. Totals 17-1-40.

FORBES (36) — Bardwell 8-1-17; S. Bardwell 1-0-2; B. Bardwell 1-0-2; Conger 2-0-4; Park 1-0-2; Gary 1-1-3. Totals 13-4-34.

Cohan Special Was Mostly Durante Show

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Those who tuned into NBC Sunday night, anticipating an hour of nostalgia and old George M. Cohan songs had a long wait. Although the Jimmy Durante special was called "Give My Regards to Broadway," and was heralded as one of those salute musicals, it was exactly 50 minutes before little Eddie Hodges looked up at Ray Bolger and asked, "Who is George M. Cohan?"

Then, for a few minutes, we had "Harrigan," "Mary" and a couple of other Cohan songs which wound up what was otherwise a typical Jimmy Durante show.

This is just dandy for people who find Durante irresistible. For those who can take Jimmy or leave him, it was just another musical mishmash. Ray Bolger danced one number, Jane Powell and Jimmie Rodgers each sang one song and Eddie Hodges looked around hard to find something to do.

It was Mr. Durante's show all the way, and Jimmy was on, slugging, from start to finish. In spite of it, however, it was a very unspecial special.

Possibly one of the most stimulating shows of the whole season turned up at 11:30 a.m. Sunday on CBS with bits from a dozen Broadway shows presented in "A Salute to the American Theater." This was purposeful salute — by the Anti-Defamation League to call attention to the theater's traditional part in fighting for individual freedom and human rights through the years.

One of the first was a scene from an 1895 drama—"Octoroon." For the next hour, the salute touched here and there pointing up what the theater had been saying about Negroes, anti-Semitism, communism, fascism and all the rest.

There was a moment from "Waiting for Lefty," highlighting the social protest of the theater during the depression days, a scene from Thurber's "The Male Animal," a bit from "Call Me Mister," a song from "South Pacific," and an excerpt from "Raisin in the Sun."

There were many star performers and Franchot Tone provided an informative commentary. It was a fine hour, worthy of prime evening time.

Her 'Nursery' Is Unlicensed, But Legal As Can Be

OMAHA (AP) — A city inspector knocked at the door of Mrs. John Herman. "We have a complaint that you are running an unregistered nursery," he said. Mrs. Herman, slightly miffed, produced birth certificates to prove that the six children, all under 6 years of age, and including 15-month-old twins, were her own. Later she remarked that if the inspector wants to see a really full house, he should come back around Christmas time. "I'm expecting another set of twins then," she said.

Toni Thomas Honoree At Tea In Koger Home

First of the pre-nuptial courtesies for Toni Thomas was the miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. M. R. Koger. Miss Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Cleo Thomas, San Angelo Highway, and George Thomas, is to be married to Lanny Hamby on Dec. 22 in the First Methodist Church. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. W. J. Mullins, 601 Washington Blvd., and Joe Hamby. As guests arrived, they were greeted by Mrs. Koger, who presented the honoree, her mother and Mrs. Mullins. Mrs. Clyde Thomas, grandmother of the bride-elect, was at the register, which was enhanced with a table corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., aunt of the betrothed, presided at the tea table; the circular table was appointed with copper and held an arrangement of red carnations in a milk glass bowl. About 80 were included on the guest list by the hostesses, Mrs. Koger, Mrs. Walter Moore, Mrs. Steve Baker, Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. Gil Jones.

Robinsons Mark 60th Anniversary

Sixty years of marriage was observed Sunday by the Charley Robinsons when an open house was held in their home. Between 1 and 5 p.m. about 125 friends called on the couple. Out of town guests came from Fort Worth, Houston, Midland, Odessa and Colorado City. Granddaughters Sherre and Sandra Baker, Melba Robinson and Cheryl Reeves served at the refreshment table. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of pink and white carnations. A white crocheted cloth over pink linen covered the table. Cut crystal and a silver coffee service were used. Another granddaughter, Susan Baker, presided at the guest register. Hosts for the anniversary celebration were the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Reeves, Mrs. Denia Baker, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Robinson, Mrs. Lola Fletcher, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robinson.

Red and white was the color theme of the Christmas dance held by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority Friday night at the Webb pavilion. Sixty members and guests were present. The refreshment table was covered with a red and white tablecloth, and the centerpiece was formed with poinsettias and red candles. A featured item for the dancers enjoyment was a small revolving Christmas tree made of pale green glass.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Young Actress Gives Advice For Beauty

HOLLYWOOD — Dodi Stevens is considered by many the Cinderella girl of the year. Her first recording, "Pink Shoe Laces," became a gold record when she was only 13. And following closely in her first picture, "Hound Dog Man." When I went to 20th Century-Fox to have lunch with Dodi, her mother, father and older sister, age 15, were there. "Dodi could carry a tune at two years," her mother told me, "and at five, a fine teacher offered to give her lessons." But Mrs. Pasquales admitted she had no idea that her daughter would arrive so quickly. Dodi and I talked about teenagers. "I don't know a teen-ager who is wild," she said. "I feel the bad things about them are exaggerated. My family's Italian and very strict and I'm not allowed to date; my sister is just beginning to. I have put up a fuss but it didn't do any good." I asked Dodi what she considered problems for teen-age beauty. "All the girls at school are doing things to their hair. I bleached a streak in mine, and my sister and her girlfriend used a red rinse," Dodi replied. "It said on the bottle that it would rinse out but it didn't and their hair was such a mess that they had to go to a beauty parlor. "Coloring your hair starts out all right but it's impossible to keep it looking the same shade. The trouble is — what to do about the roots as they grow in. And if you aren't careful you can ruin your hair."

"Another teen-age problem that a lot of girls have," she went on, "is hair on your face. Especially if you're a brunet. "A friend of mine pulled all hers out and they grew back stiff. My mother said the only thing to do with dark fuzz on your upper lip is to bleach it with peroxide, and a few drops of ammonia. It takes just about five minutes." Dodi explained, "and when the hair is light, you don't see it. But be sure to put a little cream on afterwards so that your skin doesn't get chapped."

Open House Held By Lamesans

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. Eldon G. Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Moody of Lubbock entertained with an open house to compliment their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moody from 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday at the honoree's home, 105 Avenue H.

The open house marked the couple's 35th wedding anniversary and extended season's greetings to their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Moody were married in Haskell in 1924, and before moving to Lamesa 13 years ago resided at Ballinger. Mrs. Moody is the former Iris Golden.

Featured in the living room was an anniversary table in gold and white with tapers and the numerals "35" forming its centerpiece. Glistening trees and other symbols of the Yuletide adorned the skirt of the net cloth with gold underlay.

In the den an aluminum foil tree spotlighted in one corner was set in a snow scene of The Nativity. Gaiety prevailed at the Christmas table covered with a red felt cloth and appliqued with Christmas trees and snowmen along the edge. A silver table was laid with pink lace and had a large pink candle banked in silver and pink ornaments as its centerpiece. Here coffee was served from a silver service. Tea was served at the Japanese tea garden arranged in one corner of the den. Japanese lanterns hung from the ceiling, and wrought iron furnishings lent an oriental atmosphere.

Lionesses Install Lamesa President

LAMESA — Mrs. Sam Haney took over the reins of the Lamesa Evening Lionesses' Club in installation ceremonies conducted by the retiring president, Mrs. Jimmy Edwards last weekend. Members of the club entertained their husbands with a Christmas dinner following the installation at Woman's Study Club. Others taking office for the new year are Mrs. Ace Kincaid, vice president; Mrs. Elgin Davis, secretary; Mrs. Billy Jack, treasurer and Mrs. Johnny Jones, purse smacher.

Amateur Radio Club Seeks To Enroll Added Members

Big Spring Amateur Radio Club had a public airing in the downtown section Saturday afternoon. The club tied in with an Air Force-type Civil Defense communications truck at the County Court-house to show communications at work. They will be there on Saturday afternoons until Christmas. In addition to demonstrating the equipment to the public, the club wants to get a lot of people interested in radio. The club wants members and associate members, and they will give one new member an expensive hi-fi set. The present membership just passes the 30 mark, according to Weldon Lowe, president of the club. Secretary Bob Sanderson explained the club's project. The group has leased land from the city and wants to build a club house on it. It will be used as a Civil Defense emergency communications center as well as a classroom for trainees, an amateur radio library, and a storehouse for spare parts for member's use. Most of the fellows in the vicinity of the exhibit are club members. They'd be glad to explain their purpose and objectives, they said. Brodie Cain, co-founder of the organization, is leading the drive for a permanent location.

Homicide Study Shows Value Of Good Behavior

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Who are the killers, and who are the people they kill? Some answers are provided by Dr. Marvin E. Wolfgang, a University of Pennsylvania sociologist who has just completed an exhaustive study of every criminal homicide in Philadelphia from 1948 through 1952-58 in all. Dr. Wolfgang sought to find out when and where the killings took place, the weapons used, the motives involved and the relationship between killer and victim. From his study, he concludes: "Homicide is the apex crime, a crescendo built upon previous assault crimes." The Wolfgang study shows 64 per cent of the killers had previous police records. Of those with police record, 73 per cent had been arrested for aggravated assault and battery. Those killed were not much different than the killers themselves, Wolfgang found. Of the 588 victims, 27, or 57 per cent, also had police records. Of these, Wolfgang asserts, fully 26 per cent brought on their own slayings in some way. Alcohol frequently was a factor. Wolfgang, 35, a native of Millersburg, Pa., began his study with the files of the homicide squad. "The most striking feature in the comparison of race and sex distributions in criminal homicide is the extent to which Negroes exceed whites. Of the 588 victims, 73 per cent are Negro; of the 621 offenders, 75 per cent are Negro," Wolfgang noted. In 1950, the midpoint of the study, 18 per cent of Philadelphia's population was Negro. Men greatly outnumber women as killers and victims, the study showed. Of victims, 73 per cent are males and of the killers, 82 per cent.

Moon Garden Studies Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space scientists are using a "moon garden" in their studies of food problems facing future airmen in orbit. The garden in which ordinary vegetables are grown under reduced air pressure is one of the projects under the direction of Dr. Norman Lee Barr. Barr, former director of aviation and space medicine research for the Navy, is now chief of space environment and life sciences research for Republic Aviation Corp. The moon garden is part of Republic's Farmingdale, N.Y., space environment laboratory. One of the possibilities under study is whether indigestible plant fibers can be turned into meat substitutes by sudden exposure from a warm pressurized space cabin into the cold vacuum of space. Barr explained that if a glass of warm air-filled water is exposed suddenly to vacuum, it explodes into a shower of droplets, mist and steam. Similarly, he said, if a heated weed stem is suddenly exposed to vacuum, tiny explosions in the plant tissue cells rupture the cell walls and liberate the protein so that it may be acted upon by a man's gastric enzymes. The moon garden project at Farmingdale is about six months old. Barr said plants grown in the partial vacuum have less stalk and stem than normal plants, do not grow as large, and apparently mature faster. He added that there was some indication that plants grown in a partial vacuum produce more fruit. The laboratory also is attempting to measure the influence of gravity on plant growth.

Türks Give Ike Their Greatest Welcome For A Foreign Visitor

By WEBB McKINLEY
ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—President Eisenhower took with him from Turkey today memories of the greatest reception ever given a foreign visitor to the Turkish capital. Eisenhower himself termed the welcome he received on his arrival Sunday from Rome "the most stupendous I have ever seen."

Estimates of the crowds that cheered him ranged from a police figure of 400,000 to unofficial tallies of 700,000. Bands played, men danced and people shouted "yasha" (long live) as the President went by, standing bareheaded in an open limousine. His arms were outstretched in greeting. Eisenhower responded enthusiastically to this outpouring of spirit. "I am confident," he told Turkish President Celal Bayar at a state dinner Sunday night, "that the United States, with other friends and allies, will continue to support the economic development and security of Turkey." "I am certain this combined effort will be successful because no power on earth, no evil, no threat can frustrate a people of your spirit."

A Devotional For Today

I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, (Ezekiel 34:23.)
PRAYER: O God, we look to Christ as one who has watched through the dusk of many weary hours. May His radiance come to us, Dispel the shadows of our waywardness and fear. Cast out our sin and give the light which will forever illumine our steps and make our pathway clear. In Christ's name we pray.
Amen.

Hardly Typical Of Our Farms

The Midwest farm belt is likely to be a battleground between the rival political parties in next year's election, and it might just be that small group of states will decide the winner.

It is no secret that the traditionally Republican hog-corn belt is hostile to the ideas and practices of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, and it would be unnatural if the Democrats don't make what they can of the situation. One south-sayer wonders aloud whether the Democrats, when Congress reconvenes in January, will go along with what is expected to be a mild and weak administration bill, or put forward one of their own so favorable to the farmers that it will be forced to veto it, thereby putting the hex on Midwest congressmen to say nothing of the GOP's presidential candidate.

All is fair in love and politics, and the Democrats were not behind the door when the political brains were passed out.

Be that as it may last week's Life Magazine had a spread on one Iowa farmer who is gripped with Mr. Benson and his farm policies. He is William J. Breckenridge, who with the aid of his two sons and a hired hand operates a 715-acre Iowa farm on a corn-hog-cattle economy.

Before corn acreage was delimited Mr. Breckenridge ran only 120 acres to that crop, buying most of his corn to feed his 200 or more pigs and his several hundred head of fattening steers in the open market. He also has on his place several corn storage bins which he rents to the government to hold the corn surplus, and he expects to place half of his 40,000-bushel crop of 1959 with the government at $1.06 a bushel. Also, he will plant 400 acres of corn next year; he says it is the only way he can compete with other corn farmers.

Mr. Breckenridge, a Republican, is sore at the administration's farm policy. He says the total cost of the farm program for the 22 years from 1933 to 1954 was $8 billion, while the cost from 1955 through 1959 will amount of 7.7 billion.

The only drawback to the Life Magazine story of Mr. Breckenridge and his operation is that city bred people may get the wrong impression, and think this story is typical, and start hating the farmers all over again.

Compared with the vast bulk of the farm population the Breckenridge farm is big business. You could hardly call the annual net profit from swine and cattle, $32,000, typical of farming as a whole, or the use of $65,000 worth of machinery, or the income from rental of storage bins to the federal government, or the intensive cultivation of 715 acres of land valued, perhaps, from $600 to $500 an acre.

Our farm program has many flaws in it, but not many farmers operate on a scale as large as this Iowa family; if they did and could, our farm population would be growing by leaps and bounds, instead of shrinking at an alarming rate.

Altogether Remarkable Fellow

Staff members of the Abilene Reporter-News passed on Friday to pay tribute to their beloved editor, Mr. Frank Grimes. It's too bad all newspapermen in West Texas couldn't have been there, for Mr. Grimes has attained that ephemeral distinction of being dean of the area's Fourth Estate.

Largely a self-educated man, he is nevertheless one of the most profoundly educated men in this region. After 45 years of toiling in the vineyard, he still writes with a freshness and sparkle that would do credit to the most inspired youth.

President Sets Standard Of Judgement

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's speech to the nation, delivered over television and radio just before his departure on a 22,000-mile journey in the Eastern Hemisphere, was a unique example of what might be called implicit rather than explicit generalization. It was purposely couched in general phrases. It was pacific in tone but it nevertheless carried words of warning to the Soviet Union. The man to whom the words were directed will not fail to know what is meant.

Thus, for example, the President called for good faith on the part of Nikita Khrushchev, but didn't define it in specific terms. Here is how Mr. Eisenhower put it:

"I shall try to convey to everyone our earnestness in striving to reduce the tensions dividing mankind — an effort first requiring, as indeed Mr. Khrushchev agrees, the beginning of mutual disarmament. Of course, I will stress that the first requirement for mutual disarmament is mutual verification."

THE PHRASE "MUTUAL VERIFICATION" could mean a mutual obligation to tell the truth. It could mean that truth must be clearly established on controversial subjects before there can be mutual agreement. But whatever specific meaning the President had in mind, it will be interpreted widely as a declaration that there can be no progress toward mutual disarmament without mutual trust.

Mr. Eisenhower devoted some of his speech to the task of countering the Soviet propaganda in Asia and Europe which constantly tells the peoples of the world that the United States pursues only materialistic goals and puts war above peace. The mere fact that the President referred to such unjust descriptions of American purposes reveals that he is fully conscious of the very misrepresentations carried on by the Soviets which make mutual distrust difficult of attainment.

The President pointedly emphasized America's fundamental "belief in a Creator who has endowed all men with inalienable rights, including life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." He did so by way of contrast with a system that teaches a disbelief in God. Incidentally, Mr. Eisenhower referred for the first time to "atheistic imperialism." Speaking of the ideals behind America's "mutual security program," the President declared:

"IN A WORLD SORELY troubled by an atheistic imperialism, it (the mutual security program) is a strong instrument of hope and of encouragement to others who are eager, with us, to do their parts in sustaining the human spirit and human progress."

Mr. Eisenhower did not make any direct reference to the Soviet government by name, but everyone who heard him knew what he had in mind. Another implicit comment was contained in the following paragraph later on in the President's address:

"We have heard much of the phrase, 'peace and friendship.' This phrase, in expressing the aspiration of America, is not complete. We should say instead, 'peace and friendship, in freedom.' This, I think, is America's real message to the world."

The point the President was trying to convey is that the Communists praise about peace and friendship and they want Americans to accept "peaceful co-existence" as a sort of validation of the injustices committed behind the Iron Curtain.

Nikita Khrushchev, in a speech in the last few days, insisted that it was necessary in 1956 to murder hundreds of Hungarian patriots and that today it is necessary for Soviet troops to remain in Hungary to squelch the aspirations of the Hungarian people for independence. America cannot accept the phrase peaceful co-existence as meaning that the United States must no longer sympathize with or lend moral support to peoples in Asia and Eastern Europe who are kept in slavery by the Communist regimes in Moscow and Peking.

JUST WHY DID THE President make such a subtle reference to the Communist propaganda that misuses the words "peace and friendship"? Because Mr. Eisenhower, by receiving Mr. Khrushchev in America last September, was believed by many people behind the Iron Curtain to have fraternized with the Communist leader to the point where the basic struggle for freedom was perhaps forgotten. The President's parting speech on Thursday night will be welcomed by freedom-loving people everywhere as moral support for their cause, particularly in so many of the uncommitted countries which have discovered to their sorrow that Soviet professions of peace and friendship are merely a cover for further infiltration and conquest.

Rocky's Waiting For Seed To Sprout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is like a farmer whose planting is finished and who is sitting now on his front porch, keeping cool, saying little, and waiting for the crops to grow.

For an ambitious politician he's in an enviable position. He is front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination and at this moment everything is working for him. His troubles—if they come—won't come until next year. So he doesn't have to do much talking or scampering around.

For instance: his trip to the Soviet Union, his arguments with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, his journey through Sovietland, all simply reported back home by press and television.

Then there was the bitter Latin American trip. The treatment given him—the stones and the spit, not because he was Nixon but because he was an American official and Latin Americans were sore at the United States—got him broad sympathy at home. So far he hasn't even had to be excited about the only rival he has in sight in the Republican party—New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

UP TO THIS POINT Rockefeller has looked like an early bather, going in for his first swim in May, carefully, gingerly, sticking in a toe, pulling it back, testing the water to see if it's warm enough.

All through the vice presidency Nixon has acted like a good housekeeper. He has worked at keeping his political precincts tidy. In his case it has meant lining up Republicans, particularly Republican leaders, on his side.

He seems to have them pretty well lined up, at least the Republican pros. It's a little too soon for him to judge what the rank-and-file Republicans might think if they actually had to choose between him and Rockefeller.

That's a problem Nixon won't have to face at all if Rockefeller backs out before trying for a showdown. The vice president will have to hustle if Rockefeller decides to run against him in presidential primaries.

But that can't happen until 1960. So, since he doesn't have to do any bush-busting right now, Nixon isn't concerned with the estimated number of alcoholics.

One way to look at it: "When I pay taxes," said Oliver Wendell Holmes, "I feel I am buying civilization."

In Iran a man can get a divorce simply by telling his wife three times, "I divorce thee." To find the quickest way to get to Iran, consult your local travel agent.

It beats using worms. Soviet scientists have developed an ultrasonic method of locating schools of fish from a helicopter. The whirlybird hovers 50 feet aloft and lowers a special microphone into the water.

Marital truth: "Isn't it ironic," muses Grace Down, "that in most happy marriages all the big decisions are made by the little woman?"

The foot, as a unit of measurement, once actually was based on the human foot. But before it was finally standardized at 12 inches it ranged all the way from 12 to 24 inches.

Quip-of-the-week: Robert Q. Lewis, after viewing a shrunken head from South America in the Ripley Odditorium said, "Boy, was that Martin dry!"

Can you name two birds that dance for their dinner? They are the kiwi of New Zealand and the American woodcock. Both stomp the ground, and the vibrations bring earthworms to the surface. The dumb worms apparently think this is opportunity knocking!

Bad Example Or Good Advice

Utterable utterances:

CLEVELAND, GA., COURIER:

"When a man gets too old to set a bad example, he starts giving good advice."

SEN. JOHN FULBRIGHT (DARK):

"A frightening historical parallel has occurred to me with increasing frequency in recent weeks. Fifteen or 16 centuries ago, the Roman Empire was all-powerful, rich, successful — also complacent. Neither the Roman emperors nor the Roman senate could bring themselves to be overly concerned with the crude and boorish people of the north. The fall of great civilizations runs a well-defined course. On the outside, the civilization has a hard, shining surface, full of glitter and superficial accomplishment. But inside the outer shell, invisible decay does its work. And the hard shell collapses on the empty center when the civilization collides with a challenge it no longer has the power to meet, because it was indifferent to the challenge too long. When anyone was so inconsiderate as to call attention to the gathering clouds on the horizon, he was denounced as a prophet of gloom and doom and purged for un-Roman activity. In 1959, the critic is charged with 'selling America short.'"

DR. LAURENCE M. GOULD, president of Carleton College:

"I do not believe the greatest threat to our future is from bombs or guided missiles. I don't think our civilization will die that way. I think it will die when we no longer care — when the spiritual forces that make us wish to be right and noble die in the hearts of men. Arnold Toynbee has pointed out that 19 of 21 notable civilizations have died from within and not by conquest from without. There were no bands playing and no flags waving when these civilizations decayed; it happened slowly, in the quiet, and the dark when no one was aware."

EDMUND BURKE, English statesman and orator:

"All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing."

JOSH BILLINGS:

"A congregation who can't afford to pay a clergyman enough need a missionary more than they do a clergyman."

F. WALLACE TABER:

"It is reported that one African chief, hearing about all the killing in World War II, wondered how white men managed to eat so much human flesh. When he was told they did not eat the dead, he asked: 'What sort of barbarians are these who kill without a purpose?'"

SYDNEY J. HARRIS, columnist:

"Until he has suffered, no man can be just; until he has experienced disappointment, no man can be kind—which explains why children are so often cruel and unfair to their weaker playmates."

LORD CHESTERFIELD:

"When you have found out the prevailing passion of any man, remember never to trust him where that passion is concerned."

Ah, But They Love To Talk About It

At the moment the television industry reminds me of nothing so much as the famous old Joe Miller about the maiden lady far beyond the years of indiscretion who kept endlessly consulting her pastor about a transgression in the dim recesses of her youth.

Finally the pastor, exasperated after 30 years of such self-accusations, said: "Now, Lizzie, God and the church have long since forgiven you for this unfortunate error in your youth. Let's have no more mention of it at all."

"Ah, Reverend," said Lizzie listlessly. "But I love to talk about it!"

MAYBE ONLY A curmudgeon would deprive the teetotalers of the pleasure of continuous public confession of the error of their ways. However, the sight of so much sackcloth and the smell of so many ashes is not only embarrassing but tiresome.

The latest public breast-beating, a few-words admission that some of the crowd noises heard in television coverage of President Eisenhower's European tour last August were dubbed in, is surely only a venial sin and not worthy of so much self-abasement.

In its present mood of total recall and confession, teetotalism is reminiscent of reform American Communists who have seen the light and hit the sawdust trail back to democracy and Americanism. Like so many of the ex-Communists, teetotalers keep confessing and confessing, ad nauseam, until finally the public begins to suspect that some of the admissions at least border on the realm of fiction. A fellow begins to feel that NO one could have had a finger in quite so many pies.

INDEED, MINDS AS contrary as mine begin to wonder if teetotalism isn't groveling over rigging and payola to distract the public's attention from a matter that is, in one woman's opinion, far more harmful to the public in the long run.

That is the continuing preoccupation of the teetotaler screen with hour after hour of violence in so-called Westerns and in police detective and private-eye melodramas. Teetotalism and payola. So I wish the investigations under way in the Federal Communications Commission would stress the content of present programming rather than the quiz programs that are as dead and gone as the dodo.

It is impossible year after year and day after day to feed young children and adolescents a diet of mayhem, murder, torture and sadism without affecting them mentally and emotionally. The motion picture industry shares this blood-lust and guilt, too.

ALL THIS HAS BEEN said before and it will probably be said again unless something drastic is done about the situation. Life is not full of sweetness, light and fudge sundae. But neither is it filled with wanion violence, although this is the conclusion any student of teetotalism would draw.

If the FCC is really intent on improving the caliber of teetotalism, let it demand less senseless violence.

Now, to say a good word for teetotalism: The other day I noticed a big newspaper ad for a teetotaler rerun of an old Gary Cooper picture. "Only Four Commercially Distributed Shows," it boasted. Well, that's a step in the right direction. Four is better than the usual 20 or 30.

But in the interim, for heaven's sake, let teetotalism stop its public self-immolation. It has succeeded in the impossible: it has made sin dull.

Commonsense Or Common Madness?

Ever since the steel dispute started, people, from President Eisenhower down, have assumed that the heads of the steel companies and the leaders of the United Steelworkers were sensible, rational, flexible human beings.

Knowing that steel can't be made without workers and that workers can't earn their living while on strike, people have taken for granted that David J. McDonald, president of the union, and R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for the steel companies, wanted to reach an agreement. Repeatedly, McDonald and Cooper Blough, chairman of the board of United States Steel, and Cooper have insisted: "We have to get together. We can't make steel without a contract."

YET, SOMEHOW, THE ALCHEMY of conflict hardened into a 116-day strike. The higher the steel industry raised its wage offer and watered down its phraseology of the work-rule clause, the more decisive became the separation.

On work rules, McDonald is as flexible as a salt pillar. He won't change a comma in Section 2-B. He'd go through Taft-Hartley first. As for the steel companies, they now are set to ride out the injunction and put their recent offer to a vote.

Each side is entrenched in self-righteousness. The steel companies are going to show the union; the union is going to show the steel companies. And so, it's possible that on January 26, when the injunction expires, each side will go back to its battlements.

The time table is as follows: Before then, the President Board of Inquiry, headed by Prof. George W. Taylor, of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, will reconvene and talk to McDonald and Cooper.

The Board will also hold a public hearing prior to making a report to the President by Jan. 6.

AT THAT POINT, if the union and the companies are still making faces at each other, the President, under Taft-Hartley, will order an election: Will the workers accept the last offer made by the companies?

In preparation for this, the companies are sending to their supervisors and foremen leaflets spelling out in 1, 2, 3-simplicity the details of the last proposal to McDonald.

Company executives want the workers to know the full extent of the improvement in the proffered contract—wage increases in 1960 and 1961, cost-of-living protection, higher insurance coverage, better pensions, and so on.

SUPERVISORS AND FOREMEN are urged to discuss the proposals with workers. The literature is being mailed to workers' homes—so that the wives will know what's going on. The companies hope that workers, having had their fill of tavern and TV, will vote to take the last offer.

"Maybe," say the high-ups in several companies, "we won't win, but we'll make a good showing. McDonald, then, won't dare to call the men out again."

They reason that many workers didn't want to go out in the first place. If a third to a half vote to take the offer, discontent of the Steelworkers will be exposed.

McDonald won't be idling, either. Local leaders will talk to members, hammer on the work-rule issue ("the companies want to be able to fire you at will.") They'll argue the wage offer is puny compared to that made by Kaiser Steel. The union is preparing a counter-brochure.

Thus, the last-offer vote has now become part of the bargaining process. The companies figure if McDonald gets little support, he'll want to settle.

McDONALD FIGURES THAT when he gets overwhelming support, he'll have proved to Blough, Cooper and the other steel barons that the workers are 99 per cent plus behind him. The companies will then want to settle.

And so we go down the "I'll-show-you" road toward Jan. 26.

Is this commonsense or common madness?

If the two sides can't agree on a settlement, at least they ought to be able to agree on a procedure to settle. The issues are arbitrable—the modified work-rule proposal of the companies and the wage proposal already on the table.

Since the differences are narrow, neither side can lose much by arbitration. And, instead of uncertainty as Christmas and the New Year approach, the nation would have assurance of next year's steel supply, the workers of wages, and the companies of profits.

The alternative is to let Congress do it—which means plant seizure, pending a final settlement.

Search For Missing Jet Is Called Off

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — A search for a missing Air Force T33 jet trainer believed downed in Lake Michigan 11 days ago was abandoned Sunday.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Cecil C. Crockett Jr. of Fort Worth and carried A.I.C. Donald L. McDermott of Berkeley, Ill., as a passenger. It took off from Glenview on Thanksgiving Day bound for Waco, Tex.

A spokesman at Glenview Naval Air Station said it was presumed the plane sank in the lake.

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear and temperatures mild over Texas Monday morning and no precipitation was reported in the state.

The Weather Bureau forecast slightly warmer weather for east and South Central Texas and mild weather in North Central Texas.

Temperatures Monday morning were mostly in the 30s and 40s with the low 26 degrees at Junction and the high 49 at San Antonio and Austin.

A light shower at Beaumont was the only moisture that fell in Texas Sunday.

Temperatures Sunday afternoon ranged from 55 degrees at Van Horn and El Paso to 68 at Del Rio.

Capture Holiday Fun In Well-Planned Movies

Santas with shifting stomachs, saucer-eyed cherubs, carrot-nosed snowmen and the pyramids of packages that all punctuate Christmas — make it a shutterbug's paradise.

To help you capture the small fry and Santa in action on movie film, Bell & Howell passes along a few movie-making tips.

First, allot no less than 1 1/2 feet of 8mm film or 3 feet of 16mm film for any single scene. That's approximately five seconds' shooting time. Anything shorter whips across the screen too quickly to identify and may add a comic note you didn't plan or want.

You can always edit an over-long scene, but one that's too short is lost.

your introduction. For a sample, try photographing an ornamented branch and gradually drawing it aside, revealing the title card.

You might make this year's Yuletide film next year's Christmas gift, too, by having duplicates made for friends and relatives.

It's such fun to remember Christmas morning on film . . . but be sure you are not disappointed. Take care that you have enough light for clear indoor shots, that your film is not expired, and that your shutter is opened properly for the shots.

Costello's Widow Dies; Rites Set

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A funeral Mass will be celebrated Wednesday for Anne Costello, 47, widow of comedian Lou Costello.

She died in her Sherman Oaks home Saturday of a heart attack.

Entombment at Calvary Cemetery will follow the Mass at St. Francis de Sales church in Studio City.

Mrs. Costello had been under a doctor's care since her husband died last March 3. She leaves three daughters, Christy, 12; Carole, 20; and Patricia Mobley, 23; and three grandsons.

The Costellos' only son, Lou Jr., drowned in the family swimming pool Nov. 4, 1943, when he was a year old.

Newsman Dies

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Fred S. Ferguson, 72, president of NEA, a news agency, from 1926 until his retirement last April, died Sunday after a year's illness.

Ferguson, a United Press correspondent in World War I, and one-time vice president and general manager of UP, had completed 50 years of service in the Scripps-Howard organization. He was born on a farm at Bargererville, Ind.
