

Farewell Message For Ike

A large sign with a farewell message is in the background as President Eisenhower reviews an honor guard at Esenboga Airport in Ankara, Turkey, before taking off for Pakistan.

Ike Calls On World Leaders To Disarm

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—President Eisenhower, speaking to a crowd reflecting this nation's poverty, today called upon all national leaders "worthy of the name" to join in an enforceable system of disarmament. But he made it plain both the United States and Pakistan are determined to be strong so that "we may be in a better position to search out paths to world peace with justice."

Nehru Rattles Sabre At China

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru borrowed a phrase from Winston Churchill today and called on his country to meet the threat from Communist China with "austerity and hardship, blood, sweat and tears for everyone of us."

Backing up this theme, Eisenhower and Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan in a joint declaration urged non-Communist countries to maintain their defense alliances as a bulwark against communism.

He told the upper house of Parliament, "We must mobilize the nation in arms. We must mentally and physically be armed for the fray."

Winding up his second day here, Eisenhower was acclaimed by Pakistanis on all sides, and hailed by the Pakistani President as one of the world's greatest champions of peace.

The Indian leader asked for endorsement of his foreign policies in the border dispute with Communist China. The lower house endorsed them 10 days ago.

Eisenhower started out his event-filled day by appealing to Americans everywhere to wipe out all prejudices as a contribution to peace. He spoke to U. S. Embassy employees.

He witnessed a cricket match and a breathtaking display of spectacular Pakistani horsemanship.

Observing Pakistani tradition he put on covers for his shoes before placing a tily wreath on the tomb of Pakistan's founder, Mohamed Ali Jinnah.

New Cabinet Post Forseen

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsweek Magazine says President Eisenhower intends to establish a new cabinet post—a virtual prime minister—more important than the vice presidency.

He said he would ask the next session of Congress to approve appointment of a "First Secretary of Government."

The secretary would have power to oversee the State Department, the foreign-aid program, and the international operations of a dozen different U.S. agencies and departments.

The magazine said the President wished "to free his successor from some of the ever-increasing details of office."

"The First Secretary would rank with the world's prime ministers; and in actual power he would be above the vice president and all present members of the Cabinet," Newsweek said.

The crop was grown under a somewhat relaxed government production control program which permits a lower price aimed at catching new markets.

Growers will vote Dec. 15 on continuance of this program in 1960.

The department reported that 15,803,000 acres were planted to this year's crop compared with 12,379,000 last year and 22,444,000 for the 10-year average.

The harvest acreage was put at 15,164,000 acres compared with 11,849,000 last year and 21,076,000 for the 10-year average.

The yield per harvested acre was reported at 465 pounds compared with 466 last year and 329 for the 10-year average.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton was put at 72,300 bales compared with 83,600 last year and 49,700 for the 10-year average.

The Census Bureau said 13,402,874 bales from this year's crop had been ginned prior to Dec. 1. This compared with 10,214,959 ginned to the same date last year.

The production of cottonseed was indicated at about 8,100,000 tons compared with 4,798,000 last year.

The assessment paving program will be reviewed and possible plans made for getting the program started.

Europe Storm Continues; Dead Near 60

LONDON (AP)—Hurricane winds howled around the storm-lashed coasts of Europe for the third day today. The great storm brought blizzards, floods and a deep freeze from the northern tip of Scandinavia down through central Europe.

The death toll from the battering by the elements edged toward 60. After nearly 24 hours of heavy rain along the French Riviera, engineers and rescue workers worked to meet a new flood threat in the Reyran River valley, where more than 300 persons died in the break of the Malpas Dam last week.

The Reyran was rising rapidly, and a fleet of buses stood ready to evacuate about 2,500 people from the seaside suburb of Frejus-Plage.

In the Atlantic, mountainous waves up to 90 feet high buffeted great liners, putting them as much as 24 hours behind schedule.

The captain of a French navy weather frigate reported from far out in the Atlantic: "I have just heard from an American ship. Her captain thinks the storm has put 500 ships in difficulties."

LINE ROCKETED
British Coast Guardsmen answered distress signals from the 3,000-ton Swedish freighter Anna, driven ashore on the rocky east coast of Scotland. A line was rocketed to her deck, and rescue teams prepared to hoist the crew to the overhanging cliffs.

Only a few miles away the 217-ton British trawler George Robb had heeled over on the rocks earlier Monday. All her crew of 12 men were lost and a Coast Guard cutter collapsed and died during the search for survivors.

In the English Channel a Dutch tug with two barges in tow found shelter in Torbay after sending out distress signals. Two men were swept overboard from one barge. A lifeboat picked up both, but one was dead.

Off the Portuguese port of Leixoes, the storm smashed a tug towing a 400-ton frigate and a 450-ton barge. All three vessels and 17 crewmen were lost.

Scandinavia caught the full force of the storm. The Baltic was swept almost clean of shipping. On land hundreds of trucks and automobiles were abandoned in snowdrifts. Trains were derailed. Villages were cut off. Snow piles were stranded.

Heavy snowfalls were reported from northern Italy, Austria and Switzerland.

CHEER FUND GETS APPEAL
The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND had a letter today, telling about three fine children whose daddy is in the hospital and whose mother is working as best she can to keep the youngsters fed and clothed.

Here's a family for whom Christmas will be a bleak day—unless big-hearted organizations like the CHEER FUND come to their rescue.

This takes help. Won't you join this program to take toys and food and medicine to those truly in need? The city firemen and the public health nurse see to it that every penny counts the most.

Make a check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and send it to The Herald. Or turn in your gift—no matter how small—and you'll enjoy Christmas a lot more.

The Fund had two anonymous givers today, for $5 each. That $10 brings the total to $314. Much more is needed.

20 Convicts Escape From Carolina Prison

IVY BLUFF, N.C. (AP)—Twenty felons escaped from North Carolina's "Alcatraz," Ivy Bluff Prison, early today with an arsenal of weapons after overpowering guards.

The North Carolina Highway Patrol and other police units in the state and in surrounding states were immediately alerted for the prisoners, all described as extremely dangerous. They were reported armed with a sub-machine gun, rifles and pistols—17 weapons in all.

R. A. Allen, assistant director of prisons, said in Raleigh the break began at 12:40 a.m. It was not discovered until 4:30 a.m. when the overpowered guards were found.

Allen said the break started when a prisoner in the segregation unit got out of his cell, called a guard and threatened him with a bar. He held the guard until the relief guard came, then knocked out the relief and obtained keys.

The prisoner then opened other doors on the second floor of the segregation unit. The released prisoners fled downstairs to a dormitory section and opened doors there, but 15 dormitory prisoners refused to join the escape.

RAIDED GUNS
The 20 felons, then armed with weapons taken from a control room, fled the prison in a truck. Later, cars were reported stolen in nearby Yanceyville as the escapees fanned out.

Ivy Bluff, completed in 1956, is a red brick structure surrounded by a high fence topped with barbed wire. Beneath the fence is 2 1/2 feet of concrete to prevent tunneling.

In an isolated section 65 miles northwest of Raleigh and 20 miles from the Virginia state line, Ivy Bluff is considered the state's toughest prison.

State Prisons Director William F. Bailey has described its inmates as "incorrigible, hardened criminals—the type you find in Alcatraz. Because they are potentially dangerous, we owe it to the public to keep them under strict discipline."

Only last month eight of its inmates were convicted of maiming themselves to escape work. Prisoners work in a huge rock quarry some 300 yards from the prison.

Ivy Bluff has two cellblocks, plus segregation cells for those on punishment. It takes two guards with separate sets of keys to open the way to a segregation unit. Here stubborn prisoners get a monotonous diet and are fed through slots in cell bars.

Finch Murder Trial Opens; Nation Watches
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Finch murder trial, with all the earmarks of a stark and sensational drama, opens today.

Its setting is society's more well-to-do. It is steeped with intrigue, extra-marital romance and violence. It has attracted widespread advance notice.

The case appears due for a long run. The scene is a courtroom on the eighth floor of the Hall of Justice in the Civic Center. Throughout the trial, there will be flashbacks to another scene, the grounds of an estate in suburban West Covina.

There, in the darkness last July 18, a slender brunette socialite—known as Lady Barbara in her fashionable tennis set—topped on the lawn, a bullet in her back.

SURGEON'S WIFE
She was Barbara Finch, 33, wife of a wealthy surgeon, Dr. R. Bernard Finch.

The state charges the doctor is the one who murdered her. It charges he had an accomplice—his red-haired sweetheart, Carole Tregoff, 22. She also is accused of murder.

The owner, Roland Lindemann, fashioned a fibre glass corset in hope it will help Olga regain her shape. Usually when a camel's humps sag they stay sagged, but Lindemann hopes the corset will restore the original shape.

Cuban Military Tribunal Rules Prison For Yanks

PINAR DEL RIO (AP)—A Cuban military tribunal today sentenced two Americans, Frank Austin Young, 38, of Miami, and Peter John Lambton, 24, of Nassau, to long prison terms for conspiring against the regime of Fidel Castro. The prosecution had demanded death for Young.

Young and Cuban Fernando Bertot, 24, a former Columbia University student, were each sentenced to 30 years imprisonment and Lambton to 20 years. The prosecution had asked death for Bertot and a 30-year sentence for Lambton.

Grand Jury Data Introduced At Addison's Trial
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A grand jury report in which John Milton Addison said he had one million dollars in debts and his income was limited to money he could borrow was introduced Monday in the uranium promoter's trial.

The 31-year-old Addison is on trial on charges of theft, conspiracy and violation of the State Securities Act. If convicted on all counts he could be sentenced to 17 years in jail.

Addison's testimony before the Bexar County Grand Jury was given June 25, 1959. Addison also told the grand jury he spent borrowed money for facial rejuvenations for members of his family.

Defense Attorney William Yelderman strongly objected to having portions of the 124-page document entered as evidence but he was overruled.

Confederate Vet Reported Worse
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Confederate veteran Walter Williams fought his fourth bout with pneumonia this year and his doctor said Monday he had taken a turn for the worse.

Williams, 117, last surviving veteran of the Civil War armies, had a 101 degree temperature Monday night.

Williams, who celebrated his 117th birthday Nov. 14, has been bedridden the past two years.

Dr. Russell Wolfe said "The illness is a combination of things, including a new onset of pneumonia."

Williams lives here with his daughter, Willie Mae Bowles.

Gains Most Applause At Eleanor Fete

NEW YORK (AP)—The Democrats held a big, four-hour "beauty contest" of 1960 presidential possibilities Monday night and based on applause, the winner was Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson says he isn't seeking the nomination. Nevertheless, of seven men who were called to the lectern before a glittering, jam-packed crowd of Democrats, the tops for whooping and hollering went to Stevenson.

The occasion was a dinner honoring the 75th birthday of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. It came at the end of weekend meetings in New York of the Democratic Advisory Council. More than 1,000 Democrats paid $100 a plate to attend the event and look over the field.

Former President Harry S. Truman and a major portion of the party big-wigs were present. Truman, bouncy and ebullient as ever, presided over the "beauty contest."

HANDLED WITH TACT
It was handled with the essence of tact and diplomacy—so as to indicate no preference for any of the presidential hopefuls.

There was no head table. Each of the aspirants and potential candidates sat with party leaders at separate tables.

When dinner ended, the curtains parted on a stage. There, seated in a semi-circle with Mrs. Roosevelt and Truman in the middle, were three U.S. senators, three governors—and Stevenson—all of whom have been mentioned for the Democratic nomination.

Truman, obviously relishing the role, called them to speak. He was the soul of finesse.

"I won't use any device that might indicate I favor any one of them," he said. "They're all personal friends of mine."

Carrying caution even further, he said he would proceed geographically, moving from west to east across the continent.

That brought Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, governor of California, up first. "A man to be reckoned with," said Truman.

Then came Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, and Sen. Stuart Symington, of Missouri. Having now reached the Middle West, Truman called on Stevenson.

Stevenson registered well-bred surprise. He had already spoken once, opening the dinner. There had been applause for him the first time.

Now, looking like a schoolboy caught day-dreaming by the teacher, he said: "I wasn't supposed to be included in the company of these handsome, hairy young men—a reference to his own baldness—and I'm a little at a loss what to say in view of your assumption that I'm still alive."

Nevertheless, he rose. So did many people in the audience. Cheers and clapping raked through the ballroom.

HUMPHREY SECOND
Reporters clocked the reception at 29 seconds. Truons up to that point had been the applause for Humphrey, 17 seconds.

Stevenson said he felt a story was appropriate. It was about a drunk, locked all night in a hotel bar. The tagline, which he delivered with an impish twinkle, was: "I don't want to get in. I just want to get out."

Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams, New Jersey's Gov. Robert B. Meyner, and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts followed in order. The applause for Kennedy lasted 10 seconds.

Once or twice, speakers uttered variations on the theme, "the man who will be elected the next president of the United States is right here in this room."

That seemed to omit a name also frequently mentioned—Sen. Lyndon Johnson, of Texas.

Finally, Mrs. Roosevelt spoke in the climax of the event.

"I pray that the next president will be a Democrat," she said, "but Democrat or Republican, I pray he will be someone who understands and can meet the great responsibilities ahead."

'Philadelphia Story' Pleasant On TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the reasons Philip Barry's "The Philadelphia Story" has been popping up repeatedly for 20 years is that it's the kind of a show women really enjoy.

It is a love story, a comedy and it's played in a high society atmosphere — horses, swimming pools, butlers and perfectly beautiful clothes. Monday night's NBC adaptation provided a most pleasant 90 minutes of entertainment.

Cut down to fit the time, Tracy Lord's wealth was almost incidental to the show which emphasized the importance of finding her true love. The cast was most effective. Diana Lynn may not have the authority of Katharine Hepburn, but she did very well. Gig Young was an excellent choice for the divorced husband. Don DeFore played the priggish fiance while Ruth Roman and Christopher Plummer did well as the photographer-writer team from the scandal magazine. The clothes and interiors were great — particularly in color.

Earlier in the evening both NBC and CBS had half-hour interpretive shows on the Eisenhower trip. There were a lot of shots of arrivals at airports, crowds, umbrellas and local color, but the commentators weren't able to do more than guess at what was being said behind the closed doors.

At one point NBC ran some film it obviously had received from Ankara so close to air time that it was relayed without commentary from a New York airport. It just showed crowds cheering the President on his arrival.

The current uproar about broadcasting — its programs, its morals and its taste — already is having results. Listeners to radio disc jockey shows report the quality of records being played has been upgraded.

More important, the TV networks seem extremely interested in those public affairs shows, once the stepchildren of broadcasting. NBC will fill the Saturday night 9:30-10:30 spot, now occupied by "Five Fingers," a spy drama, with a weekly 60-minute show exploring such topics as alcoholism, the missile race, the flight to suburbia, the summit meeting, astronauts, emerging Africa and such. The series, NBC insists, has been on the drawing boards since last summer. Now the network has found "prime time" space for it starting Jan. 23, although it is still looking for sponsors.

ABC, while not quite prepared to relinquish prime time for a think show, has made a deal with Yale University for a series of documentaries called "World of the Mind." These will be on one Saturday a month from 4 to 5 p.m.

Speech Honors Won By HCJC Students

A novelty has occurred in the Howard County Junior College speech department. For the first time in the three year history of the department, beginning speech students placed in contest competition.

A group of five students, all in first-year speech, attended a speech festival at Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos Dec. 4, 5 and 6. Competition in the festival was statewide, and HCJC was the only junior college attending.

The various events in the festival consisted of poetry reading, junior and senior divisions; discussion, junior and senior divisions; persuasive speaking; explanatory speaking; and book review. Students from HCJC competed against students from Texas University and the University of Houston among others in per-sonative speaking, poetry reading and discussion.

At the close of the contest on Saturday, ratings of good and excellent were given. Jerome Crumpton received a certificate rating of excellent in poetry reading, and Reece Bevers scored an overall rating of excellent in three rounds of discussion. Sherry Coats, Jacques Hewlett and Kay Loveland rated excellent in at least one of the rounds in persuasive speaking; Jerome Crumpton received a superior rating in his first round. Jacques Hewlett also received an excellent rating in one round of poetry reading.

'PROS' PASSING TOWN BY

Hot Check Writers May Be Diminishing

The "paper hangers" are late getting started this year in Big Spring. The expression is the underword name for bad check passers.

Consensus of opinion among local merchants is that professional bad check passers may have decided the pickings are too slim here. In fact, J. B. Apple, business manager of the Retail Merchant's Assn. says that bad checks now are running even less than they do at other times of the year.

MORE CAUTIOUS
Apple said that part of the death so far can be directly traced to the attention the subject has received during the past few years.

"Like the old saying about once burned is learned," Apple said, "merchants now are extremely cautious about checks."

Both the Retail Merchant's Assn. and the Chamber of Commerce have regularly plugged away at the bad check problem. It has become such a problem nationally that the Better Business Bureau issues annual suggestions for merchants.

Highlights of these, as passed along by the local organizations,

Lyndon Questions Ability To Find Successor To Ike

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) still vowing he is not a candidate for president, Monday night questioned Republican party ability to find a suitable successor to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Senate majority leader praised Eisenhower and said he "hopes the peoples of the world—we all hope—will understand this warm and friendly man."

"But neither the peoples of the world, nor the people of America, find themselves able to understand the party which drafted him to its service. The President is at the end of his political term. He is not the issue for 1960," Johnson said.

Johnson questioned whether there is another man in the Republican party who can win good will for America abroad.

In an obvious reference to Vice President Richard Nixon's recent trip to Russia in which he discussed world issues with men on the street, Johnson said:

"Is there another in that party who is so understood by other men that he does not have to debate in the streets?"

18 Cars Derail

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — Eighteen cars of a northbound Southern Pacific freight train were derailed today.

The cause was not known. There are no injuries.

Nine cars carrying coal left the track in the heart of Livingston and nine other cars, two carrying molasses, were derailed about 300 yards further down the track.

DEAR ABBY

LET HER DECIDE

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our granddaughter, 21, has made her home with us for years. She is a good, sincere, intelligent girl who has a fine position. She is saving her money. She's deeply in love with a man, 24, who has been home from the Navy for three years. He hasn't worked three months in all that time. We see his mother pulling weeds and mowing the lawn. He sleeps until noon, drives the family car around and doesn't look for a job.

So far, even my granddaughter's best friends have been unable to make her see this man for what he is. I am afraid she will marry him and support him unless we can change her mind. Can't you offer some advice, Abby?

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I could offer much advice, but it wouldn't help a bit. When a girl is in love she isn't thinking—she's feeling. While the opinions of well-meaning friends may reach her ears, they will never penetrate her brains, because her brains are trapped in her heart. Let her alone, Grandmother, and pray she comes to her senses before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the rural mailman who wanted all the mailboxes on his route lowered: Our post office people changed their entire fleet of trucks recently and we ALL had to lower our boxes four inches to accommodate the mailman. ALL SIX THOUSAND OF US!

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. O. W. S.

Bomb Threats Get Blame In Closure Of Negro Paper

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Bomb threats that scared away advertisers forced a weekly Negro newspaper to shut down, Mrs. L. C. Bates, wife of the paper's publisher, says.

Mrs. Bates, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Monday that anonymous telephone callers harassed advertisers in the State Press constantly. She attributed the calls to segregationists.

"They would call up the smaller merchants and threaten to bomb their stores if they ran more ads in the paper," she said.

Bates announced Nov. 8 that the paper had been suspended and at that time planned financial losses and the termination of a building lease.

Dr. Ebbert A. Gross, former chief research engineer for the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp. at Deer Park, N.Y., described the technique before the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He later talked to a reporter.

The method was developed at the University of California, where Dr. Gross is a National Science Foundation research fellow. It was done with the aid of a supersonic wind tunnel in which dangerous gases were made to travel at six times the speed of sound—too fast to be detonated.

Detonation not only is a hazard in industry but also a headache for motorists, in the form of engine knock.

Texas Ranks Low In Jobless Pay

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Texas is one of the four lowest-paid and shortest-duration states in the unemployment insurance system, a member of the Texas Employment Commission said today.

Robert Newman spoke to a meeting of district directors. Newman represents labor on the TEC. He told the TEC directors he is "worried about the security of the personnel in the Texas Employment Commission." Newman said if the jobless pay program is not improved "other programs are going to replace the payment of unemployment insurance."

DEAR ABBY: That rule about rural mailboxes having to be from 42 to 48 inches from the ground was made in the horse and buggy days. Since Detroit started making automobiles to scrape the ground, from 36 to 42 inches high. A rural mail carrier has from 300 to 400 boxes a day to serve, and he breaks his neck to give good service. Do you think people should expect him to also break his arm?

Sonics Used To Control Explosions

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A research engineer came up today with a novel way to control violent explosions.

Basically the technique consists of moving the explosive material at supersonic speed, or at the same velocity as the natural speed of the shock wave which causes its detonation.

When the detonating wave can't overtake and spread through the speeding explosive material there is no reaction, no blast.

This procedure, the researcher said, can be used to mix and make products out of chemicals too dangerous to handle by ordinary manufacturing methods. It could be done by slightly decreasing the speed of the chemicals so the detonating wave could spread slowly through them and produce slow-motion reactions.

The process also should make possible short, lightweight ramjet engines with high fuel economy and with a wide range of speeds at or just above the speed of sound, he added.

Dr. Ebbert A. Gross, former chief research engineer for the Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp. at Deer Park, N.Y., described the technique before the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. He later talked to a reporter.

The method was developed at the University of California, where Dr. Gross is a National Science Foundation research fellow. It was done with the aid of a supersonic wind tunnel in which dangerous gases were made to travel at six times the speed of sound—too fast to be detonated.

Detonation not only is a hazard in industry but also a headache for motorists, in the form of engine knock.

You'll Make A Real Hit With Well-Chosen Records

A gift of records is a gift that promises hours of pleasure for years to come.

Happily, today records are made for every age and every musical taste. There are even records for tots, though not all are musical; some are the telling of stories.

The reading of poetry and many classics in literature now appear on record.

For that matter, it is possible to learn a foreign language, improve your golf game or study other subjects by record.

There have been vast improvements in the quality of recordings within just the past few years... the new stereophonic records are something our parents scarcely hoped to dream about.

Original Broadway shows, the finest operas and orchestras may now resound throughout our own living rooms.

Modern record covers are so attractive that you will find it a pleasure to just browse through a record shop as you might in an art gallery.

Plan for a record Christmas this year. Everyone will love you for it!

Green and red paper cups make perfect Christmas bells. To hang, insert a pipe cleaner through the bottom, twist it for a hook. Let the other end hang down below the mouth of the cup and attach a gum drop for a clapper.

Cups cut in half make good bells to top off a gift package.

And, of course, they are always right for serving punch.

No Santa Clauses Are Being Hired

Nobody's looking for Santa Claus—yet.

Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Big Spring, said his office usually has two or three jobs for Santa Claus by this time each year.

"It's a bit puzzling," he said. "Nobody has asked for him yet."

Kinney said there are very few qualified applicants to be referred to fill such a job. Most of those seeking Santa in the past have been organizations who sponsored his appearance on downtown streets during the holidays.

"They all know just what kind of Santa they want," Kinney added.

He said that a Santa applicant has to be fat, jolly, elderly, gregarious, and love children. He must also be of medium height—and either have a white beard or be able to wear one with dignity.

In addition to all these, Kinney said, the successful applicant would have to be in excellent health. Standing on his feet all day—helping big youngsters—and being able to manage a hearty "ho, ho, ho" after walking around for several hours limits applicants to the rugged.

"We have a few qualified Santas," Kinney said. "But it's a pretty technical job and it's a good thing that not too many employers are looking for one."

Fog Covers Coast Areas

Fog covered the middle and upper portions of the Texas coast early Tuesday but the only city reporting freezing temperatures was Dalhart.

Temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s as mild weather continued to cover the state. No rain was reported in Texas Tuesday and none fell Monday.

A moderate cold front moved across the northern Rocky Mountains toward Texas Tuesday and the Weather Bureau forecast cooler temperatures for most of Texas Tuesday night. Forecasters did not expect the front to bring severe weather to the state.

Maximum readings Monday ranged from 61 at El Paso to 77 at Mineral Wells. Most temperatures were in the 70s.

Farmer Caught In Track Killed

ASHBURN, Ga. (AP)—A farmer, walking along a railroad siding in the dark Monday night, caught his foot in the tracks and was killed by a freight train before he could free himself.

The victim was William H. Goodman, 51.

George Wilson, engineer of the freight, said he saw the man in the beam of the locomotive's headlight and that he was struggling to free himself. Wilson braked the train but was unable to stop in time.

Texas Boost Ups Oil Total

TULSA (AP)—Daily average domestic oil production climbed back over the 7 million barrels during the week ended Dec. 5, mainly due to a Texas boost. The Oil and Gas Journal said today. The increase was 88,200 to 7,067,410 barrels, highest level since May 30 when the average was 7,179,710.

Helped by higher December allowances—it is now on a 10-day producing schedule compared with November's nine days—Texas production gained 71,270 to 2,594,470 barrels.

Arkansas was up 11,890 to 82,770. Louisiana was off 5,930 to 1,633,620.

The Journal estimated 1959 production at 2,384,088,000 barrels compared to 2,263,193,670 a year ago.

Advances were reported also for New Mexico, up 1,530 to 295,680; Oklahoma, 1,300 to 548,600; and Colorado, 1,200 to 128,000.

County Tells City Board Road Job To Be Finished

Big Spring City Commissioners Monday were told the County Commission plans to go ahead with its improvement program on the Old San Angelo road from intersection with FM 700 to Wasson Corners.

The city commission was host to the county commission at a luncheon at Wagon Wheel at noon—prime purpose of which was to find out the plans of the county, relative to that particular road.

The city's interest stems from the plan to annex development areas adjacent to this road Tuesday night. After annexation, the road would become a city responsibility and its future was an issue of considerable importance to the municipal authorities. The road is approximately 1.5 miles long.

The county has already been at work for sometime on the road. It is being widened and resurfaced and shoulders built in accordance with established county road specifications. A considerable amount of work remains to be done.

Hudson Landers, county commissioner, in whose district the road is located, acted as spokesman for the county board. He informed the city officials that the county plans to finish the job as planned and that the work would go ahead even though the annexation project is adopted.

Walter Parks, county engineer, explained in general the steps planned for the road. Other members of the county board—Ed Carpenter, county judge, L. J. Davidson and Ralph White—supported Landers' report.

Dr. Lee Rogers, mayor, expressed the city's appreciation to the county for its decision. Representing the city at the luncheon were George Zachariah, John Taylor and Tom South, city commissioners; City Manager A. K. Steirheimer, and Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

Intimate Apparel

The return of the natural waistline heralds a revival of elegant underpinnings—fine nylon tricot, nylon crepes, silks, etc., are used to underscore elegantly detailed slips and half slips.

Applique trims, fine laces, medallion inserts, the daintiest of pleated detail, trapunto trims and scalloping—are but a few of the many accents that make lingerie so lovely, so much wanted at Christmas time.

Hartwell Road Deal Is Signed By Commission

Howard County Commissioners Court signed an agreement with the State Highway Department Monday which insures the construction of the Hartwell Road—a 4.1 mile strip of farm to market highway extending from the Andrews Highway to U. S. 87 at a point 8 miles west of Big Spring. Announcement was made some days ago that the state would build this important road in 1960 subject to acceptance of the project by the commissioners court.

The county will acquire the right of way—it was said all but a very small portion has already been signed—and that the state would build the road. The highway department has set up $88,000 for the job.

McClellan Says Labor, Bosses Need A Pact

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) told a banquet audience Monday night that United States businessmen had "exported" one million jobs since 1950.

He told the 1,152 persons that in Russia "we have a competitor," and he warned labor and management to either forget their differences or resolve them.

"Labor and management, instead of being at each other's throats over little pay increases, fringe benefits, and so on, had better forget their differences or resolve them without crippling strikes and had better devise ways to compete with a real competitor."

By "exporting jobs," McClellan explained that the 20 billion dollars he said had been added to American-owned capital equipment overseas between 1950 and 1958 would have created that many jobs in this country if it were used here.

But, he said, American capital had to build plants abroad so they could produce cheaply enough to meet world competition. "How many jobs did we export? A million with no exaggerations."

"It's a danger signal that must be heeded," said the Arkansas senator. McClellan speaking before a group that Dallas County Democratic Chairman Ed Drake described as one whose "ultimate fight is the preservation of states' rights and individual liberties," said he was a "conservative, Southern Democrat."

"And if people I tell that to don't get the significance," he added, "I just tell them I'm an Arkansas Democrat."

At every mention of states rights and "traditional principles of the Democratic party," McClellan's audience cheered. They cheered wildly and spontaneously when an organist played "Dixie."

McClellan warmly praised Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) whom he called "my close friend and one of the presidential contenders" who I especially admire."

The Arkansas senator said he had not come to Dallas to make any political nominations but that the Democratic party "could go much farther away and do a whole lot worse than elect Lyndon Johnson president."

Dist. Judge Robert Hall of Dallas, who acted as master of ceremonies, read letters from Johnson and Democratic National Committeeman Byron Skelton of Temple. Both said they regretted not being able to attend.

Hall said he also had a letter from Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) but he did not read it to the audience, many of whom were among the Dixiecrats who supported Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for the presidency in 1948. There were also present many Democrats who supported President Eisenhower in his two campaigns for the presidency.

McClellan said the Democrats had odds of "about two dozen to one" in their favor next year to elect a president.

"We could make some mistakes," he said. "We could blunder into defeat."

Robes Rate With Femmes

There's a lot of fashion news in the robe story for Christmas giving.

From classic wrap-around beauties, to elegant wide-sweep flannels, the robe story is elegant!

Most popular in both casual and more luxurious fabrics is the loose or fitted style in the duster length.

Smartly printed cottons, cotton flannels and cotton quilts make up into neat novelties for about-the-house wear.

Woven nylon quilts, nylon tricot quilts and nylon chiffon quilts shape up into some of the smartest new robes.

The perennially popular quilted rayon, new handlings in chenille and corduroy, soft wools and fleeces, as well as the more traditional silk, lined nylons and satintypes continue to score in robe styles.

Zippered front, smooth fitting brunch coats... patch pocketed, button front dusters... semi-fitted or free 'n' loose peignoir styles lead the array with such details as braid trims, smocking, bows, binding and ric rac trims, laces, lace touches, handsome yoke and sleeve handlings, beautiful prints and—above all—wonderful wearability, soft colors and usually, washability.

This year, say "Merry Christmas" with lingerie for all the gals!

Girls Love Lingerie Lovelies

Mention lovely, lacy lingerie to any girl (no matter what her age) and watch her eyes light up! That's why when it comes to special gift times, lingerie is the perfect gift for her!

Everywhere on the lingerie scene, there's something new, something bright, something lovely!

Just for example—take a long look at the delightful, "long" panties with their tiers of "candy" ruffles at the knee... so delightful in their old-fashioned "pantaloon" inspired charm. For the modern miss, they come in nylon tricot and gay colors; many have camisole tops.

New, too, are jumper topped waltz-length gowns or pedal-pusher length p.j.'s... she'll hop out of bed in the "sleep unit," toss the jumper on, and lo—she's ready for callers! (Best of all, they double for daytime wear with blouse beneath!)

The woman at ease will love the sportswear-inspired lounging pajamas with their midcalf or longer, lean pants and easy tops! Just name the color, fabric and style—there's such a wide, wide variety of these!

For the "snug as a bug in a rug" feeling, easy goin' balbriggan, cuddly challis and gay flannelettes are ideal chill chasers in sleepwear.

There's a glamour note to the Orient-inspired collection of robes, pajamas and ensembles. The elegance of kimono detailing and mandarin coat lines are interpreted smartly in fine nylons, silks and smooth rich cottons. They are often printed in vibrant colors, trimmed with embroidery or braid.

For Christmas gifting, gown selections are most diversified—they range from dainty, baby-doll shorties to more conservative waltz-lengths and to the floor-length styles.

Make your gift more lavish, ensemble the gown with a matching peignoir... cape-like collars, lace by the yard, appliques and embroidery help make the new season's crop of ensembles quite exciting.

No matter what style you favor, there's a riot of color, trim, fine silks and nylons awaiting your final choice.

Closet Accessories

Gay-colored, quilted bows for handkerchiefs, hosiery, gloves and scarves, encourage "ship-shapeliness" of bureau drawers.

Plastic or fabric envelopes for sweaters, men's shorts and lingerie do their part toward neatness, too.

Smart chrome multi-hanger units for blouses, skirts, handbags, belts or ties; shoe racks, too, are practical presents with a handy future.

A convenient, multi-drawered small chest can be used by either man or woman.

Notion departments feature these practical "gifted" items as well as dozens of others!

Garment and blanket bags in all sizes and colors; wardrobe closets that may be easily dismantled for storage all have their own appeal to the good housekeeper.

Movies Down

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican Assn. of Movie Producers said yesterday only 86 new movies will be made in Mexico this year, compared with around 100 some years.

What President Eisenhower can give is just what the uncertain government of Premier Antonio Segni needed. That is a friendly smile, a hearty pat on the back and a warm handshake of assurance.

This is especially true in Rome of the Caesars where the symbols of the old grandeur are everywhere. Overlaying the monuments of the Caesars are the great memorials of the Renaissance when architecture, painting, sculpture reached their zenith and particularly here in Italy.

WHEN DOES RECUPERATION SET IN?

James Marlow Rocket Shot At The Election Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats' manifesto, blasted off at their New York meeting, is like a rocket shot at the election moon of 1960.

It's a 23-point blueprint of programs, put together by the party's bigwig on the Democratic Advisory Council, for their platform in next year's elections.

But what the Democrats can't tell is whether this heavy document will reach its target or burn up or wither in the political atmosphere of 1960. They can't foresee what the public mood will be during next year's campaign.

IF IT'S COMPLACENT and contented, as it seems to be now, the voters may be indifferent to calls for changes or vigorous action and make their decision more on the candidates' personalities than on party programs.

Democrats and Republicans pull apart and are easily identifiable as separate parties during periods of national stress. They tend to coalesce and look like twins in periods of public contentment.

There was a real separation during President Wilson's fight with the Republicans over the League of Nations after World War I. This was a fight between internationalism and isolationism.

Then came the depression and the end of complacency. The public, desperately needing a change and vigorous action, chose Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was a time of intense stress and the question of how to deal with it split the parties.

The Democrats were New Dealers, the Republicans anti-New Dealers. The New Deal, for all practical purposes, ended in 1937.

but the Republicans didn't seem to know it. World War II pulled them together, but after the war they split again in the period of readjustment.

Some of the Republicans were still isolationist and were still fighting the New Deal. But the country moved into the rich 1950s. The public, tired of 20 years of the Democrats and the conflicts of the Truman administration, switched to the Republicans.

By 1953, when President Eisenhower took office, the Republicans were no longer anti-New Dealers or isolationist. The parties began to lose their visible differences.

This blurring of the Democratic and Republican images went hand in hand with the fact that the country, rocking along on prosperity, was pretty complacent again.

Nothing illustrates better the present melting away of differences between the parties than what happened in 1959.

The Democrats had overwhelming majorities in both houses of Congress this year, thanks to the 1958 elections. With their majorities, they might have tried to turn into reality some of the programs the Democratic Advisory Council now includes in its 23-point manifesto.

But they went along like sheep under the guidance of Eisenhower. If this cozy relationship between Democrats and Republicans continues through 1960, the voters will have a hard time trying to see any difference between them as parties when they go to the polls next November.

Hal Boyle Pleasure Or Punishment?

NEW YORK (AP) — Many an elderly grandfather dreams this time of year of the joys of the old-fashioned Christmas.

But when he describes the Yuletide seasons of long ago to his modern city-born grandson, the boy wonders whether they weren't a form of punishment rather than a pleasure.

"We didn't buy our tree at a supermarket," recalls Grandpa. "We went into the woods and found the one we wanted, and chopped it down ourselves, and lugged it all the way home on foot."

"Didn't you get caught?" asks the grandson. "Oh, it wasn't against the law in those days," says Grandpa. "And we didn't buy our ornaments from a store. We decorated the tree ourselves. We'd get needles and thread and make long strings of cranberries and popcorn, and wind them around the tree. And we'd cut out a pasteboard star and cover it with a piece of linoleum and put it at the top of the tree."

"We didn't have electric lights. We lit the tree with candles." "Didn't anybody turn you in to the fire department?" asks the modern lad.

"No, the nearest fire cart was 10 miles away in town," chuckles Grandpa. "We kept a bucket of water handy in case the candles set the tree on fire."

"I can still remember how shivery cold it was on those Christmas mornings," continues Grandpa. "Why didn't you just turn up the thermostat?"

"There wasn't any thermostat in those days because there wasn't any furnace. I had to light the fire in the kitchen and parlor stoves."

"What presents did you get, Grandpa?" "Oh, my sister usually got a doll, and I'd get maybe a sled or a new sweater."

"Is that all?" asks the child. "Yep, that was it." "You didn't even get an electric train and a bicycle and a space helmet and a rocket gun and some games?"

"I bet you went out riding on your new sled right away, Grandpa." "Nope, in those days everyone had his chores to do. I had to go out and slop the pigs, and water the horses and chop firewood for the kitchen stove, and carry out the ashes and—oh, it might be afternoon before I got to try out my sled."

Turning to his grandson he asks: "Well, sonny, how'd you like to have an old-fashioned Christmas like that?" "Grandpa, I'd turn in daddy and mommy to the police—and I'd turn in Santa Claus too. Nobody can treat little kids like that anymore—and get away with it."

Pakistan Wheat

KARACHI, Pakistan — Pakistan's wheat production for a recent 12-month period was 3,863,000 tons, according to official estimates.

This is a 6.8 per cent increase over the previous year from 3,617 per cent greater acreage. Pakistan needs even more wheat. About 582,000 tons were imported last year.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1659 the Mission Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe de El Paso was founded on the present site of Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from where Don Juan Oñate had established a temporary settlement, one of the earliest in Texas, a half-century before.

Oñate's expedition had stopped briefly at the site of El Paso, then moved on into New Mexico. This early Spanish explorer came to Texas fully prepared for a lengthy stay. His personal wardrobe consisted of 11 pairs of satin trousers, 16 pairs of silk stockings, two dozen fine lace handkerchiefs, four purple and three yellow coats, two suits of plate armor, three suits of chain mail, four spare helmets and eight very handsome feathers.

Oñate had come to the New World as a priest, but had abandoned his vows to marry the granddaughter of Hernando Cortes, who financed his expedition.

Today, nearly three centuries after its founding, the mission still served as a place of worship, the addition of pews in the interior being one of the few major changes.

Around The Rim Chronicle Of A Losing Battle

I like a hamburger every now and then but I do not think I will ever order another one.

You see, I happen to like a very simple hamburger—I just want a slab of meat, a bit of mustard, some salt and pepper and three or four thin slices of pickle.

I have tried and tried to buy a hamburger of this simple design. I tell the waitress:

"LOOK—ALL I WANT is a plain hamburger. Please just meat, pickles, bread and mustard. No tomatoes, onions, lettuce, green peppers, cole slaw, ice cream or catsup. Remember—just meat, pickles, mustard and bread. Do you understand?"

She smiles brightly and nods her head. And then she walks off to the kitchen.

Time passes. Finally she comes back. She hands me something that is presumed to be a hamburger. It's about five inches tall. A casual glance discloses the presence of everything I asked to be left off.

There are tomatoes, onions, lettuce, weird ingredients which I do not recognize, a touch of something that seems to have chili sauce as a condiment. If there are any pickles, they are ground into infinite small bits in the stuff that's smeared on the meat. If there's any mustard at all, it's completely obscured by the other unknown chemicals which have been employed.

I used to protest. All it got me was a look on the waitress' face which implied I didn't have all my marbles. If I made a scene and had her take the sandwich back for a remake, it came back just the same with only a few inches of the superfluous extras raked off in the garbage can.

I NO LONGER PROTEST. I just try to dig out the meat from the mess of rubbish and scrape the bread as free of all those other strange things as I can.

Now, I have reached the end of my rope. I will no longer fight this thing. I just won't eat any more hamburgers, except those I personally prepare in my own kitchen.

Perhaps I am an exception. It may be that other people want their hamburgers all stacked up with these extra vegetables. If so, power to them. It is an American privilege to get what you want.

But surely this privilege extends to me, likewise, I, too, am an American citizen. I have my rights just like anybody else. And, by gum, I want those rights!

There's no use telling me that a hamburger cannot be built the way I like them. I served a hitch in my youth as a chef in a hamburger place. I have cooked hundreds and hundreds of hamburgers. In those days they sold for a nickel. If you wanted a sackful you got six for a quarter. We used a lot of meat, a lot of mustard and a lot of pickles. Some folk wanted onions. That's their right and we added a lot of onions when they were ordered.

TODAY, IN THESE MODERNIZED times of automation and intercontinental missiles, it seems that a simple hamburger no longer exists. You have to get the "improved" model.

I don't like the improved model. Since I can't persuade those who dispense this produce to provide me with the kind I do want, I'll just have to abandon hamburgers as an item on my diet.

This is one time I refuse to go along with the old political adage that if you can't lick 'em—join 'em.

-SAM BLACKBURN

Inez Robb A Facts-Of-Life Ticket

For some time now I have been anxiously scanning the political horizon for a presidential possibility with the courage to tell us Americans some hard, unpleasant truths.

Well, sir, I believe I have spotted a dark horse in the person of Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of International Business Machines Corp. The other day Mr. Watson qualified when he had the intestinal fortitude to stand up before the National Association of Manufacturers, meeting in New York, and not only tell its members to stop bellyaching about present taxes but to accept, if necessary, higher taxes to meet the pyramiding Communist challenge.

This was like walking into the lion's den and putting the snatch on Leo's prime ribs au jus.

MR. WATSON HAD THE courage to say that we Americans cannot go on living at the top of the pot, balance the federal budget, buy adequate national defense and match, much less beat, the Russians in the space race on our present or a lower tax base.

The word "sacrifice" in our self-indulgent nation is almost subversive. But Mr. Watson had the iron to say: "One of our first sacrifices must be a willingness to accept higher taxes, if necessary, in order to accomplish our purpose of keeping America ahead of the world by all counts. There are no easy solutions." That's my boy!

And he went on to remind the manufacturers that the United States won't achieve world leadership "with flinching rockets, or lowered taxes, or something for everyone."

WHAT MR. WATSON SAID has been self-evident for the past decade, as our national debt skyrocketed, as wasteful subsidies have proliferated, as the pork barrel has expanded and we have fallen farther and farther behind in the space race.

As a red-blooded, true-blue American, I hate taxes, especially the manner in which they are squandered on all levels of government. But there's something else, as a red-blooded, true-blue American, that I hate a lot worse, and that is being eternally second in the Space Age.

It is inexcusable that the richest nation in the world, the richest in all history, cannot put up the funds, no matter what the sum, to bridge the five-to-ten-year lag in space exploration between us and the U.S.S.R. And I'm incensed by all that soothing syrup out of Washington to the effect that the gap doesn't matter and that, somehow, our dragging space program is on a higher plane than the Russians'.

SO I DON'T LIKE TAXES any more than any other American. But neither do I relish the idea of the young people in my family living under communism. I can think of a great many alternatives that are far, far worse than an increased tax bite.

But in the meantime, as Mr. Watson hinted when he said that the nation can't really afford "something for everyone," increased taxes might not be necessary if the citizens' blood money was spent honestly, economically and without favor by Congress. There is a minimum of 10 billion dollars annually draining out of the federal budget. Experts say that sum could be saved, alone, by true unification of the armed services.

I'm the hard-hearted Hannah who would subsidize everyone.

I even have a running mate for Mr. Watson. He is Maurice H. Stans, director of the U. S. Bureau of the Budget, who recently said, "The government has to stop living on credit cards." AMEN!

The Gallup Poll Public Backs Compulsory Arbitration

PRINCETON, N. J.—With a steel strike settlement still far off, the American public is in a mood to accept some form of compulsory arbitration as a means of settling such strikes in the future.

A substantial majority of Americans questioned by Gallup Poll reporters believe that if unions and companies cannot reach an agreement in a labor dispute, a special court should hand down a decision which both sides would have to accept.

Such a proposal—similar to one advanced by Sen. George Smathers of Florida—also meets with majority approval from the rank-and-file of union labor.

Behind the public's willingness to accept such a curtailment of the collective bargaining process are two facts about Americans' thinking on the current steel dispute:

FIRST, MANY AMERICANS are pessimistic about the steel strike being settled during the 80-day cooling-off period now in effect. Although the weight of sentiment tends to the view that it will, a substantial minority does not believe an agreement will be reached during this period.

SECOND, AS THE STRIKE has gone on with both sides deadlocked, the public has increasingly adopted an attitude of "a plague on both your houses," sympathizing neither with the steel industries nor the steelworkers' union.

With congressional leaders considering which moves may be necessary in the event the steel strike resumes after the end of the injunction period, Gallup Poll reporters sought the public's view on the Smathers' proposal.

"A senator has made this proposal for settling labor disputes before nationwide strikes can start. If the unions and the companies can't reach an agreement, then a special court would hand down a decision which both sides would have to accept. Would you favor or oppose this proposal?"

Here is the vote of all persons questioned in the survey:

COURT TO SETTLE LABOR DISPUTE? Per Cent

Favor 59 Oppose 21 No Opinion 20

Among union members and their families interviewed, this was the vote: UNION MEMBER FAMILIES Per Cent

Favor 54 Oppose 30 No Opinion 16

The public was also asked for their views on the chances of the steel dispute being settled during the present cooling-off period. Union members reached in the survey were about evenly divided on the question. Here are the views of the general public and union member families:

AGREEMENT DURING COOLING OFF PERIOD? Per cent

Yes, will be 44 No, will not 35 Uncertain 21

UNION MEMBER FAMILIES Per cent

Yes, will be 40 No, will not 42 Uncertain 18

The beautiful green grass of the summer past has turned into the biggest straw patch on the hill. Right now I have the silly thought that mud tracked into the house would be preferable to the dry grass our little football players bring in every time they need water and other conveniences.

VERMILLION, S. D. — For the third time in seven years, a Miss Hasse has reigned as "Miss Dakota" for the University of South Dakota homecoming ceremonies. This year it was Miss Ellen Hasse, 21-year-old brunette, who is a radio-TV major, member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and business manager of the Volante, student newspaper. Watch Family's Health Closely In Coming Season

During the busy holiday season ahead, it may be a bit difficult for Mother to shop, entertain, keep house and take good care of her family's health all at the same time — but she has a valuable aid if she counts on her glassware as the most important of her servants! Coughs and colds rage rampant during this hectic time and children are most susceptible to these annoyances. But Mother will feel safe if she stores in glass, cooks and serves in glass. The hard, non-porous surface of glassware is impervious to bacteria. And as an added boon, her house-keeping will be easier, for her glass cooking utensils, water tumblers, goblets and serving dishes are easy to clean! There are tricks in every trade, and a wise mother will use them all. As an example, these simple rules will make dishwashing quicker and easier, at the same time being "health-guards": 1. Wash dishes and pans as soon as possible after use. 2. Wash in soapsuds as hot as the hands can stand, preferably using a dish-mop. 3. Change to clean, lively suds as soon as soiled suds die down. 4. Drain dishes and pans and rinse with hot, hot water; then only glasses and silverware will need to be dried.

Candles Used In Circle Devotion

Mrs. W. B. Younger presented the devotion for the Johnnie O'Brien Circle of the First Baptist Church when it met Monday morning in the home of Mrs. C. O. Hitt. A candle lighting ceremony was used. Four candles were lit. The first represented praise, adoration, and thanks. Symbol of family devotion was the second candle. Intercessory prayer was represented by the third candle used, while the fourth candle was the symbol of the mid-week prayer service.

Mrs. Younger attached small Christmas bells to the name of a missionary from the calendar of prayer. Special prayer was then offered by Mrs. B. H. Tingle, Mrs. C. O. Hitt and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty. Eight members were present.

Open House For Greenes Anniversary

Approximately 400 friends called on Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Green Sunday afternoon as they held open house at the Student Union Building of H.C.J.C. The Greenes celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Three members of the original wedding party were in the house party. Mr. and Mrs. Myrtle Vaughn, Sweetwater, served as a bridesmaid and best man when the wedding ceremony uniting the Greenes was performed 50 years ago. Mrs. J. B. Morgan Jr. of Colorado City was a flower girl.

The bride's book, compiled at her wedding, was on display for the guests. The same tablecloth used at the wedding reception covered the table that was centered with an epergne arrangement of glittered gardenias and carnations. The original punch bowl was used, and much of the wedding china. Hosts for the open house were the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greene of Abilene.

S. ANGELO RAMS VIE WITH JAYHAWKS HERE

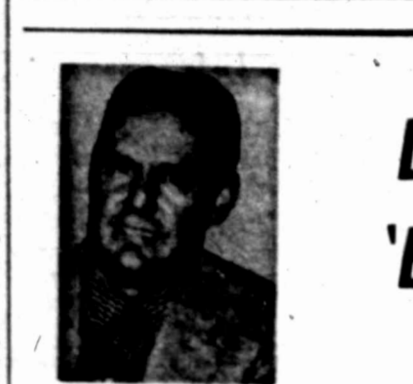

Two ancient basketball foes, who invariably have a dooneybrook when they get together, meet at the HCJC Gym at 8 o'clock this evening.

The resident Jayhawks, back from a trip to Temple where they finished fourth in a tournament, play host to Phil George's San Angelo College Rams.

San Angelo brings a 1-1 record to town. HCJC has won three of its first four starts, having yielded only to Navarro. The local cagers have the scalps of such teams as Decatur, Wharton and Temple hanging from their belts.

McCouskey and Tomlinson in the backcourt.

Down through the years, the two teams have met 30 times and...

PHIL GEORGE

The Rams have emerged victorious in 18 of those games. San Angelo has defeated the Hawks only four times in 14 starts here, however.

The climax of the season came Saturday in Los Angeles, where Syracuse displayed its might by crushing UCLA 36-8.

Perhaps never before have the major bowls snatched up such highly ranked college teams.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: FRANK RYAN, former Rice quarterback, now with the pros: "The quality of play in pro football is unusually high. You have to be more alert than in college. The spirit is almost like in college, except that occasionally I've seen the pros have even more spirit than college boys."

AL KLOVEN

Al Kloven Ailing And HPC Suffers

BROWNWOOD (SC)—Howard Payne College basketball fans learned in a sobering awakening Saturday night what Al Kloven means to their ball club.

It was up to 6-3 sophomore transfer Carlyle Strickland to take on the slack on outside shooting Saturday night. He came through with 22 points to lead both teams in scoring, and helped his HPC mates keep hammering away at Arlington's game-long lead to win in overtime.

The Jackets are now batting 500 for the season after four games. They were upset by Southwestern in Brownwood, 82-78, and lost to Baylor University, 84-53 before toppling Arlington. They face three out-of-town games this week: Hardin-Simmons at Abilene Tuesday night, McMurry at Abilene Thursday night and Trinity University at San Antonio Saturday night.

The Paymen were behind by as much as nine points in the second half against the Rebels, and were never ahead except during the young moments of the game.

Ice-cold free throw accuracy didn't help the Jacket cause a bit, either. HPC, which hit just over 70 per cent of its charity tosses last season, dumped in only 16 of 29 against the Rebs.

Players on both teams found rebounds hard to come by in the heated fray. There was a battle royal for each one.

Edwin Cox dragged down 14 for HPC, and teammates Strickland and Bill Brown garnered 11 each. Robert McMahan netted 10. Six-five Willie Baker led Arlington with 18 grabs. The Rebs led in team rebounding, 64-59.

Through three games this season, Kloven led scoring with 46 points, and pulled down 22 rebounds.

They face three out-of-town games this week: Hardin-Simmons at Abilene Tuesday night, McMurry at Abilene Thursday night and Trinity University at San Antonio Saturday night.

The Paymen were behind by as much as nine points in the second half against the Rebels, and were never ahead except during the young moments of the game.

Ice-cold free throw accuracy didn't help the Jacket cause a bit, either. HPC, which hit just over 70 per cent of its charity tosses last season, dumped in only 16 of 29 against the Rebs.

Players on both teams found rebounds hard to come by in the heated fray. There was a battle royal for each one.

Edwin Cox dragged down 14 for HPC, and teammates Strickland and Bill Brown garnered 11 each. Robert McMahan netted 10. Six-five Willie Baker led Arlington with 18 grabs. The Rebs led in team rebounding, 64-59.

Northwest Classen of Oklahoma City nipped Norman, 16-14, for the (Oklahoma) state championship recently. The Knights were leading, 8-4, midway in the third quarter. Northwest Classen quarterback Mike Miller passed in the flat to Walter Lawson, who was five yards behind Miller. Lawson missed the ball and most of the gridders returned to the line of scrimmage. But since the ball was thrown behind instead of forward, it was a lateral pass and the ball was still in play. Miller yelled to Lawson to pick up the ball. Lawson finally did and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. Miller passed for two points and a 16-4 lead. Norman finally scored again with 1:06 left and ran for the two extra points. The 'sleeper play' turned out to be the difference."

BRANCH McCracken, Indiana University basketball coach: "If you want to reduce the scoring in basketball, reduce the size of the backboards. If you're complaining about the 'big man,' abolish the bonus free throw and let us press all over the floor. You'll get the big man out of there in a hurry."

DAN CURRIE, linebacker for the Green Bay Packers: "Linebacking is an entirely different strategy this year, mainly the 'red dog.' We rush the passer and beat the play before it develops. So far, we've been real successful. Last year, there wasn't the taste and enthusiasm for it. But it's a lot more fun this year."

DAVE CAMPBELL, Waco writer: "Although the SMU Colt team was over-loaded with good looking quarterback prospects this fall, many Mustang insiders expect Frank Jackson to run No. 1 at the position next year, and for SMU to resemble more the infantry-minded teams Bill Meek had at Houston and Kansas State."

JOE BROWN, Lightweight boxing champion, discussing his recent fight with Dave Charney in Houston: "This guy couldn't punch going backwards and as long as I had him going backwards, it was like taking candy from a baby. He could only fight forward. I hit him a right to his face, and a right hand flat in his face. He didn't move his head or try to duck the punches. I never got square shots like that on Kenny Lane. When you get to talking about this fellow and Lane it's like talking about an amateur and a professional. If a guy can't protect himself against a sharpshooter like me, he's in bad shape."

One Opponent Solves Way To Slow Down The Stilt

NEW YORK (AP)—Know how to defend against towering Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain? Step on his tootsies! That's the only way Will—scoring at a record 35.7 points a game—has been stopped since he began tossing them in for the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

League statistics released today show Chamberlain leading the scoring parade with 715 points, one point more than Cincinnati's Jack Twyman. Twyman, however, has played three more games and shows a 31.0 average.

The 7-foot-1 Chamberlain, also the league's top rebounder with a 29.9 average, was stopped cold for the first time in his career over the weekend.

In Saturday's game against St. Louis, someone stomped on his left foot. Chamberlain didn't play Sunday and likely will be out of the lineup Wednesday and Thursday with a badly swollen foot.

It's Syracuse By Landslide In Grid Poll

By JOHN CHANDLER Associated Press Staff Writer

All-conquering Syracuse University wore the national football championship crown today with an overwhelming first place vote in the final Associated Press poll, which also showed the first 12 teams solidly lined up for major bowl engagements.

The Orangemen, winners of 10 straight and the only major unbeaten and untied team in the country, took over the No. 1 spot Nov. 7 and held it the rest of the way.

The climax of the season came Saturday in Los Angeles, where Syracuse displayed its might by crushing UCLA 36-8. It was no surprise when Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's team landed 134 of the 201 first place ballots cast by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Syracuse, in replacing Louisiana as national champion, is the first Eastern team to gain the honor since Army in 1945. Last year Syracuse was ninth in the final balloting with an 8-1 record.

Here are the other major bowl pairings:

- Sugar Bowl—Mississippi (No. 2) vs. Louisiana State (No. 3)
Orange Bowl—Georgia (No. 5) vs. Missouri (No. 18)
Rose Bowl—Wisconsin (No. 6) vs. Washington (No. 8)
Bluebonnet Bowl—Texas Christian (No. 7) vs. Clemson (No. 11)
Gator Bowl—Arkansas (No. 9) vs. Georgia Tech.
Liberty Bowl—Alabama (No. 10) vs. Penn State (No. 12)
The Orangemen, with a second team rated almost as powerful as the first unit, will receive the annual Associated Press trophy emblematic of the national championship.

The Orange led the nation in total offense, rushing offense, total defense, and defense against rushing. They topped the country in scoring with 390 points, giving up only 59. Syracuse averaged better than 450 yards a game in total offense, and held opponents to less than 100 yards.

Table with 2 columns: Team and Points. Syracuse (134) 1788, Mississippi (127) 1444, Louisiana State (6) 1344, Texas (1) 1028, Georgia (3) 878, Wisconsin (5) 724, Texas Christian (2) 580, Arkansas (5) 301, Missouri (18) 237, Second Team: 239, 150, 104, 87, 68, 60, 46, 40, 35, 30.

Longhorns Decision Kermit Cage Quint

KERMIT (SC)—The Big Spring Steers won their fifth basketball game in six starts, defeating Kermit here Monday night, 57-46.

The Longhorns return to action tonight, at which time they visit Colorado City. The Steer reserves set the stage for a Big Spring sweep by winning the preliminary contest, 39-36, after trailing through the first quarter.

Vernon Harton's charges dominated the boards in sweeping past the Yellow Jackets. The Kermit team captured only 22 rebounds during the game. Jay LeFevre proved an outstanding rebounder for Big Spring, capturing nine on offense and 11 on defense. He wound up scoring 13 points.

His twin brother, Zay, emerged as top scorer of the game with 16 points and got a total of nine rebounds. Homer Mills had ten points for the Longhorns while Rex Appleton racked up nine before he fouled out in the fourth period.

NO EXPANSION PLANS Majors Won't Meet With Continental

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Staff Writer MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Branch Rickey was expected today to voice public regret over what he regards as the major league's indecisive stand on expansion.

The venerable president of the embryo Continental League received with mixed feelings Monday night the announcements of the American and National leagues not to consider expansion "at the present time."

We had hoped for a definite stand on the part of the majors. The National made it clear it has no intention of expanding the American is playing the same guessing game. It has played in recent months. While it acknowledges it is not feasible to expand at the present, it hastens to add it has not given up the idea of expanding in the future.

Rickey did not indicate what rebuttal, or action, if any, he would take at today's scheduled press conference following a meeting with William Shea, founder of the new league, and its five founding members.

The National and American leagues decided on a closing joint meeting today, instead of Wednesday as originally planned. There said. Then a friend showed him how to grip the ball with his finger nails. "I tried it and the first ball I threw broke about five feet," Rickey continued. "I was delighted and went up to Newark and caught on with the Bears of the International League."

In 1922, Rommel's 27 victories were best in the American League and he was runner up to George Sisler as most valuable. He had a 21-10 record in 1925. In the 1929 World Series, Rommel pitched one inning of the fourth game and was credited with a victory. The Chicago Cubs had an 8-0 lead when the Athletics scored 10 runs for Rommel's victory.

Not everybody interpreted the major's actions as an obstruction in the path of the Continental League's rocky road to big league recognition. Commissioner Ford Frick hailed the announcements as a green light for the embattled five-team circuit.

"Now that the National and American leagues have re-stated their positions as announced last May," he said, "the Continental League continues to have the opportunity of proceeding with its announced program."

The commissioner looks forward to such positive action as will permit them (the Continental League) to qualify for major league status.

While the two established major leagues took a dim view of immediate expansion, the American made it plain it desired expansion but did not want to try it alone.

"We can't take the position we never are going to expand," said American League President Joe Cronin. "We believe expansion is inevitable. We discussed the possibility of going to nine clubs at this time but that is impossible without the National League. It is possible to go to 10 teams with the National remaining at eight."

Ed Rommel Not Yet Ready To Watch From The Stands

By GEORGE BOWEN Associated Press Staff Writer BALTIMORE (AP)—Eddie Rommel, an American League pitcher for 13 years and an umpire for 22, isn't ready to just sit in the stands yet.

The American League retired him Monday and Rommel, who was 62, Sept. 13, received the news from The Associated Press with mixed reactions.

"I haven't anything in mind," said Rommel, whose active association with major league baseball goes back to 1920. "I'd like to do something to occupy my mind."

He expressed hope he would be "contacted by someone" in baseball.

Besides pitching for the Philadelphia Athletics and umpiring, Rommel's baseball experience includes coaching and managing. He was one of the first pitchers to throw knuckleballs. The pitch kept him in baseball.

After pitching two years at Seaford, Del., Rommel recalls that Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles came to look him over in 1918. Dunn wasn't impressed and "I was pretty discouraged and just about ready to quit," Rommel said.

day and considered the big gun of the Big Ten, never did click against Missouri, despite a 43-38 edge at halftime.

Joe Scott led the scoring with 31 points, his career high, for Missouri and teammate Charlie Henke counted 24. Frank Sado-vich's 22 was high for the Hoosiers.

Ohio State handed Butler its second defeat in four starts by hitting at a steaming 750 clip from the field in the first half. Jerry Lucas, the Buckeyes' 6-8 soph star, was high with 26 points. Lucas grabbed 16 rebounds, only three less than Butler managed as a team.

Wayne Hightower, who stands 6-4, and 6-6 Bill Bridges counted 44 points between them and dominated the boards for Kansas. Hightower was the top scorer with 26 points.

Iowa hit at a near 500 pace from the field and crushed North Dakota in the second half after leading by 10 at the intermission. Soph Don Nelson led the scoring with 17 points.

HARDIN-SIMMONS ART CHIEF GUEST SPEAKER AT DINNER

Dr. J. B. Smith, chairman of the art department of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, will be guest speaker at the annual Las Artistas dinner meeting Tuesday. The meeting of the local art group will be held at 7 p.m. in the Desert Sands Restaurant. Subject of Dr. Smith's talk will be "Art Quest in a Feedback Age," and will be based in part on a Nov. 7 article in the Saturday Evening Post, "Anguish in Modern Art." He asked that members familiarize themselves with the article for the discussion period which will follow the talk.

Navy Pilot Rolls Weightless In Breaking Altitude Record

By RALPH DIGHTON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rolling and weightless in the black void at the edge of space 19 miles above the earth—that's the story brought back by a pilot who made a successful assault on the world plane altitude record. Navy Cmdr. Lawrence E. Flint Jr. told an interviewer his experience after taking off from California's Edwards Air Force Base last Sunday in a McDonnell F4H Phantom II carrier jet. "I levelled off at about 50,000 feet, doing about 1,500 m.p.h. I pulled the stick back into my belly and headed almost straight up. The ship was almost flyless at the top—there wasn't any atmospheric resistance to the control surfaces. "The instruments showed I was flying on my back part of the time but I couldn't tell it because I was weightless and it was dark. It was a slow motion sort of thing. "Way above, or actually below."

Daniel Spikes Theories Of Judge Position

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel says he prefers "to continue an active participation in the fight for progress, good government and fair taxation in this state." In a statement Monday spiking speculation he might run for Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court or accept a federal judgeship, Daniel said it would be a mistake to interpret these words as a re-election statement. He said the statement applies "regardless of whether I hold office or become a private citizen." "No branch of government offers greater honor or more important service than the judiciary but it also removes one from active interest in the executive and legislative battles that are of such vital importance to the people of Texas," he said. Daniel scheduled a press conference for 2 p.m. but did not indicate whether he would make his future plans known then. Some political writers have reported that Daniel considered entering the judicial branch of government. "Either in public office or as a private citizen I would prefer to continue an active participation in the fight for progress, good government and fair taxation in this state. I could not enjoy sitting quietly on a judicial bench while the people of Texas are being sold down the river by the propaganda and pressure of selfish interests which now haunt this capitol," he said. "For these reasons I have replied to all who have been so kind as to suggest my consideration of one of these judicial posts that I could not do so. I make this statement solely for the purpose of answering recent public speculation to the contrary," Daniel said.
