Mail Has Varied Ways Of Delivery

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mail will go through this Christmas as always, but in a few cases it will take horses, boats, toboggans, skis and even a dogsled to do it. That's the way it still has to be done in some of the remote nooks and crannies of the 50 states. The Post Office conceded that today, perhaps a little proudly, after looking over the locomotion methods of some of its 10,000 star route carriers.

The star route carriers transport mail under private contract with the Post Office. Most of them use trucks, but sometimes they have to use ingenuity to get themselves from one place to another. Carrier Eulice H. Thomas has a route between Crisfield, Md. and Tangier Island, Va., in Chesapeake Bay. He uses a small boat. So does George Grosvenor of Leeland, Mich., who delivers to two northern Lake Michigan islands from the mainland.

A horse is still the handiest way to get from Sumner to Sod, W. Va. Daner F. Brogan, as he has for many a year, will employ hay-burn transportation over the rough, roadless route.

But another West Virginia star router, J. B. Vaughan, has given up his horse after 17 years. He now drives a truck between Chilo and Elmira.

The weather plays a vital role in determining the delivery method.

If snows are deep this year between Elko, Nev., and the Bob Prunty ranch, carrier Claude E. Gerber will drop the Christmas mail from a small plane.

Oscar Evans regularly uses a horse-drawn toboggan to speed the mail between Boulder, Wyo., and Midland ranch.

In Alaska Chester Noonwood presides over the last dogsled route in these United States. His 19 huskies carry the mail on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea. In summer months he employs a skin-covered boat known in that region as an umiak.

Walter M. Harbour often uses skis to get over a difficult part of his 28-mile route between Nevada City, Calif., and Graniteville.

The star route carriers have played their vigorous, backwoods role for the Post Office for more than a century. Their names stem from early days when their contracts provided for "celerity, certainty and security" of the mails.

Postal clerks got tired of writing these three words over and over, and took to substituting three asterisks or stars.

It wasn't long before they were called star routes, as they are to this day.

GOP Tries Selling Benson To Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are going to work on the job of selling Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to the farmers, GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton said today. Morton, who has reported some strong pressure within the party to get rid of Benson as a political liability, said he had anticipated the secretary's announcement Monday that he has no intention of resigning.

"I have never thought he would resign, nor have I suggested it," Morton said. "All I have done is to call the secretary's attention to the fact that the Democrats have made him a political whipping boy."

"We Republicans are going to have to offset this. We are going to get to work on the job of selling him to the farmers."

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said in a separate interview he doesn't believe the GOP will succeed in such a selling job.

"Politically it's good news for the Democrats that Benson doesn't intend to quit," Monroney said. "But it is disastrous news for the farmers. It means more and more crop surpluses and lower and lower farm prices."

In announcing that he will continue to fight for a prosperous, expanding and free agriculture, Benson said of the administration's farm program: "The question is not, is it good politics, but is it right?"

"Our program is right," he said. "If anything is right, it ought to be done—and it will prove to be good politics."

Benson said the objective of his program is to "get government off the backs of farmers and eliminate ineffective acreage controls and artificial price-fixing carried over from days of depression and war."

He said "obsolete laws which hostile farmers, destroy markets and pile up wasteful and costly stocks in government warehouses must go." He added that only Congress can change this situation.

In a four-point farm program outlined in Minneapolis Monday night, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seemed to agree generally with Benson. Rockefeller, who appears to be edging toward entering the contest for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, previously had defended Benson as "a dedicated public servant."

The New York governor conceded the Eisenhower administration's program has not solved the farm problem.

"We might as well face the fact that, as a nation, we have not solved the problem from either the human or economic point of view," he said.

He proposed (1) long-term government rental of farms, with farmers remaining on the land, (2) income "stabilization supports for farm families; (3) "energetic market development" for products, and (4) "a vigorous job opportunity program" for farmers who want to leave the land.

Farm experts here reported they found nothing particularly new in the Rockefeller program, said to have been prepared with the assistance of some of Benson's aides.

Rockefeller Urges Cut In Farming Acreage

By RELMAN MORIN

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller headed into Wisconsin today after urging, in a major speech on farm policy, that 60 million acres of land be taken out of agricultural cultivation.

"The chief problem of the low-income farmers," he said, "is poverty."

Rockefeller is making a swing through the Middle West. He says the purpose is to "register impressions" which will help him decide whether to try for the Republican nomination for president in 1960. In the first three days of the trip, he visited Indiana, Missouri, and Minnesota—in all of which Vice President Richard M. Nixon is considered to have the support of most Republican leaders for the nomination.

The governor chose Minneapolis as the spot to deliver his views on the way to solve the farm problem.

"The farmers are dissatisfied," he said. "The taxpayers are up in arms. And we have bigger surpluses hanging over the market than ever before. I think the time has come to take a fresh look."

OUTLINES PROGRAM

He outlined a four-point program:

1. Long-term rental of farms by the federal government.
2. "Stabilization supports based on production costs and net income factors under modern agricultural conditions."
3. "Vigorous" market development for farm products.
4. A job-opportunity program "for farmers who want to shift to other activities."

He divided the farm population into three groups and devoted most of his speech to two, whom he called "commercial farmers," and "low income farmers."

The first group, he said, is composed of 2.1 million families who produce 90 per cent of the marketed crops. The second numbers 1.2 million families who produce less than 10 per cent of the total crops.

"Trying to help both (groups) with a single approach based on price supports has not solved the problem for either group," he said. "The recent compromises between high, fixed supports and more flexible supports has not solved the problem, either."

Rockefeller said another 1.5 million families are rural residents or part-time farmers.

He did not go into detail on what he would consider the proper and most efficient "stabilization supports."

DOUBLE RENTALS

On his major point, federal land rental, he said "I recommend that as a start we double these land rental programs by putting at least 60 million acres of our farm land to such uses as reforestation and conservation."

Rockefeller said there are about 450 million acres now under cultivation.

The rental plan, he said, would be cheaper than federal subsidies. He said it would put the land into reforestation, wildlife and fishery preserves, and make it available for recreation.

Rockefeller made the proposals in a speech before well over 1,000 guests at a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner in Minneapolis. Some called it "definitive" and "something that needed to be discussed openly."

Others, however, said they saw "nothing new" in the proposals. Earlier in the day, Rockefeller again startled Republicans by his crowd appeal and ability to whip up enthusiasm for the party. As in Indiana and Missouri, he drew big audiences, stirred ringing applause, and won friends.

"FANTASTIC!"

In St. Paul, a GOP leader looked at a jammed luncheon crowd, noted standees lining the walls, and the four auxiliary dining rooms opened to handle the overflow and said one word—"fantastic!"

Mrs. Thomas Ludlow, president of the organization sponsoring the luncheon, said she, personally, found the governor so charming "I didn't have time to eat my lunch. I was too busy listening to him."

Rockefeller also received promises of support if he tosses his hat into the presidential ring. A group of Minnesota businessmen told him they have an organization—reminiscent of the Eisenhower-for President clubs of 1952—and "are ready to go" if he says the word.

Another Republican reported that Rockefeller made a "deep impression" on a group of businessmen and party workers who visited him in his hotel.

"Frankly, they came expecting to meet a wild-haired liberal who would give everybody's money away," he said. "But he sold himself completely when they talked with him."

Appearing before the Swedish-American Institute, an organization of Minnesotans of Scandinavian origin, Rockefeller told anecdotes about his son's marriage, last summer, to Anne-Marie Rasmussen, a Norwegian. He had the audience rocking with laughter and a roar of applause rose when he said, "I know I owe the honor of being invited here to Anne-Marie."

He scheduled two full days in Wisconsin, a state so important politically that it is often called "the graveyard of candidates." Like the other states he has visited it is considered a Nixon stronghold.

Rockefeller's strategists have advised him not to enter the crucial Wisconsin primary—if or when he announces for the GOP presidential nomination.

Elks Christmas Party On Sunday

The Big Spring Elks lodge will have its annual Christmas family party for all Elks and their families in the club rooms in the Crawford Hotel this Sunday at 6 p.m.

Included will be a Christmas tree, presided over by Santa Claus, who will have gifts for the children, followed by a delicious dinner for all present.

The committee in charge under supervision of Leland Graves, loyal knight, invites all visiting Elks, as well as local members and their families, to enjoy this festivity.

Bonus Checks

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Seven-thousand railway workers are receiving year-end bonus checks amounting to 10 days pay. The nationalized railways announced the payments were being made throughout the country.

Businessmen Told Competition Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commerce Department letters mailed today to businessmen carry this stamped notation:

"Do you know today's population is 179,133,512? More people—more markets."

The stamp is a reminder to businessmen that they must keep abreast of an increasing market or lose their competitive position.

Every day, the 33 field offices of the Commerce Department change the population figure to reflect the Census Bureau's latest estimate.

Iran Has One Complaint: Eisenhower Left Too Soon

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Iranians had only one complaint today about President Eisenhower's visit — it wasn't long enough. During his six hour stay Monday, the Iranians cheered Eisenhower as they never cheered a visitor before. The impact of the President will not soon be forgotten. An editorial in one of Iran's leading newspapers, "Ela'at," keyed the local feeling: "This unprecedented welcome showed that Iran supports and confirms the peace-loving policy of Eisenhower. Therefore, Iran will always bid him welcome."

An impressive majority of Tehran's two million citizens saw Eisenhower or heard his message of praise for their steadfastness against Communist pressures. Mayor Nasser Zulfaghaeri estimated that 750,000 lined the President's route. Thousands saw him on Tehran's television network. Still more heard him by radio. Veteran Iranian newspapermen pointed out that the turnout was doubly impressive because Monday was not an official holiday. Government workers had the day off, but factory workers, artisans, clerks and businessmen were supposed to stay at their jobs. "I never saw such a reception for anyone in my life," said one

Latin Colonel Has 'Enemies'

NEW YORK (AP) — Why would a Venezuelan colonel, just recently arrived in the city, walk up a subway worker in Manhattan and stick a pistol in his stomach? The only explanation Col. Estaban Rodriguez gave police after his apprehension Monday was: "I have enemies."

The colonel, who had arrived here Sunday was turned over to the Venezuelan consulate to end what police called "a ticklish situation." His pistol remained at police headquarters.

Subway inspector Arthur Dahl said he was walking along Seventh Avenue when a man in civilian clothes approached him. "This guy grabs me," said Dahl, "turns me around and puts a gun in my stomach."

"I couldn't understand what he was saying. It was in Spanish. I kept telling him I work for the subway. All he kept saying was 'immunity, immunity' and he showed me a passport."

Dahl said he finally broke loose and ran for help. Venezuelan diplomats here described the colonel as an outstanding officer. They said he had been involved in a barroom incident earlier in the day and apparently mistook the subway worker for one of the persons involved.

Farmers Stage Quota Ballot

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers in 21 Southern and far Western states vote today on continuing federal marketing quotas on upland cotton, extra long staple cotton, peanuts and rice.

The quotas are set up to curb overproduction. They require the approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting. In the case of both types of cotton and rice, the controls would be extended to the 1960 crop. For peanuts, they would cover the 1960, 1961 and 1962 crops.

Agriculture Department officials expected all four referenda to win top-heavy majorities. Growers long have supported quotas for these crops. Last summer farmers voted to continue quotas on the 1960 wheat crop. Major types of tobacco are covered by them.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has been campaigning for elimination of government farm controls, but he has not asked specifically for repeal of laws affecting cotton, rice and peanuts. He does want wheat controls dropped. Corn has been lifted from controls.

Officials arranged to collect the votes after polls close at customary local times. They expected results to be known later tonight. At stake are the price support rates for the crops. If quotas are approved, supports for upland cotton, rice and peanuts will be not less than 75 per cent of parity. For extra long staple cotton, the rate would be not less than 60 per cent. Should quotas be rejected, supports would drop to 50 per cent of parity with only those growers abiding by government acreage allotments being eligible. The 1960 upland cotton allotment has been set at this year's figure of 16,310,000 acres, the extra long staple allotments at 64,776 acres, compared with 70,822 this year.

DEAR ABBY

SHE'LL LEARN

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a teen-aged daughter whose actions are so rough and careless that I don't know what to do with her. While making a simple gesture, she accidentally hit her father so hard with her elbow that he suffered a black eye.

Last night she shampooed her hair and broke the sink off the wall. She is forever breaking combs and brushes in half. Once she pulled the handle off the refrigerator door. Is there something I can do to teach her to be more gentle and ladylike or is this the way all girls her age act?

ANN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter, like most teen-age girls, is bursting with energy. She doesn't know her own strength and no one can teach her. When she discovers that boys like their girls to be the weaker sex, she won't be able to gather the strength to wind her watch.

DEAR ABBY: For about four weeks I have been bothered by someone calling up my house and hanging up as soon as I say "hello." I have no idea who this could be. Sometimes I just stay on the line and this other party

Father Stubborn On Son's Custody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James E. Card says he'll spend the rest of his life behind bars rather than surrender his young son to his estranged wife.

Card, 27, a truck driver, was held in contempt of court and jailed Monday when he declined to produce the boy, James Sidney Card, 3.

Lenore Card, 23, was awarded custody of the youngster at a divorce hearing. She said Card stopped her on the street Sept. 27, beat her with brass knuckles and took the boy away.

In a cross-complaint for divorce, the husband alleged Mrs. Card was living with a man whom he described as an ex-convict.

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: If you can keep the mysterious caller on the line long enough to have someone get to another telephone and report it to the telephone company, the call can be traced—but not unless, if it continues, ask for a change of telephone numbers.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 26 months. We have two little boys. My wife's girlfriend got married six months ago and is expecting a baby in the near future. She is also in the process of getting a divorce. Her parents won't have anything to do with her. My wife felt sorry for her and told her she could stay with us without asking me. When my wife told me this I said her friend could not stay here as this is no boarding house and we were crowded as it was. I also said if the girlfriend stayed here, my wife would sleep with her and I'd sleep at the office.

Now the wife is mad at me. The girlfriend moved in and I moved out. What do we do now?

DEADLOCKED
DEAR DEADLOCKED: Don't be stubborn. Move back into your house. Buy, borrow or rent a cot for your wife's girlfriend to sleep on. But get back into your own bed where you belong. Then calmly discuss means of getting the girlfriend out of your house and into a place of her own.

Man Invokes Ancient Law To Claim Land

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Any day now a law suit will come to trial. Its outcome could make a junk dealer a millionaire over night.

The plaintiff is Harold Stevenson Sr., 69. He says that for 31 years he squatted on 64 acres of then worthless marshland in the Eastwick section. Because of redevelopment the value of the property now is estimated at about a million dollars.

About a year ago the Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority condemned the 64 acres. Most of the land is part of the huge Eastwick redevelopment project but parts of it are in nearby Delaware County and can be used for private development.

The tract is located about a quarter-mile across the industrial highway from International Airport and is near the new multi-million-dollar plant of the Scott Paper Co.

Stevenson's lawyer, Lawrence J. Richtel, says the going price for the land in the area now is $15,000 to $20,000 an acre.

Stevenson asserted his squatter's rights last June by filing suit in Common Pleas Court to have himself declared legal owner of the marsh.

He is claiming the oldest concept in Anglo-Saxon law—that of adverse possession, which means occupancy without permission of the owner for at least 21 years.

Stevenson asserts he moved on to the property in 1928 and held it in "actual, continuous, exclusive, visible, notorious, distinct and hostile adverse possession as to all the world for a period of 21 years" and it is his. He asks the court to declare him the owner and to void all deeds and mortgages.

Elias H. Stein, the title and deed holder, denies Stevenson occupied the property for 21 years. Stein says Stevenson was a tenant or trespasser and recognized others as having a superior title to the land.

Rival Forces In Packinghouse Dispute Head For New Start

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP)—Rival forces in the volatile Wilson & Co. packinghouse dispute headed today for a fresh start at the conference table and a new collision in court.

The next scheduled encounter comes Wednesday in U. S. District Court in Minneapolis where the State will try to block a company move aimed at reopening Wilson's plant here.

The plant and community have been under martial law since Friday when Gov. Orville Freeman ordered National Guard units on to the scene as a result of two days of picket line violence involving strikers and non-union workers hired to replace them.

Balancing the court clash is Thursday's scheduled resumption of talks between management and union negotiators. The mediation session in Chicago will be their first meeting since negotiations were broken off Oct. 29 in a disagreement over work schedules.

The meeting was scheduled by the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service after the striking United Packinghouse Workers of America agreed to terms demanded by the company.

Union leaders pledged they will not foment any violations of future contracts and specifically will refrain from encouraging slow-downs, work suspensions, quickie strikes and refusal to work scheduled hours.

If a court rules that the union has reneged on these promises, the UPWA said, "an injunction can be issued against its officers, agents or members."

While company, union and state's attorneys wrangle over the next moves, limited production continues at the plant here. Under a company-union agreement, 300 non-union workers are being allowed to handle partly processed meat that otherwise would spoil, with National Guardsmen standing by, all was calm at the plant Monday.

Violence that brought on martial law here spread Monday to the Wilson plant in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where pickets hurled stones and shouted at non-union workers.

A three-member federal court panel will hear arguments in Wednesday's hearing. The state, represented by Gov. Freeman and Atty. Gen. Miles Lord, will answer Judge Edward Devitt's order to show cause why the National Guard should not be barred from halting work at the plant.

The company claims Freeman's use of National Guardsmen to halt full-scale production at the plant amounts to a seizure. Freeman says he acted at the request of local officers to prevent serious injury or death.

Wilson issued a statement Monday night attacking Freeman for allegedly letting "the will of the mob" replace the law of the land. Freeman and the Rev. Lloyd Peterson, an Albert Lea Presbyterian minister, were instrumental in bringing the antagonists back to the bargaining table.

More than 1,000 members of UPWA Local 6 have been on strike since Nov. 3. They refused to work posted overtime hours and were told later by the company they would lose their jobs unless they returned. Wilson has hired some 500 non-union workers since then.

Texas Joins Plans For Civil War Fete

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas joined 40 other states Monday in making plans for national and state commemoration of the Civil War Centennial in 1961-65.

Gov. Price Daniel named Walter Williams, only survivor of the war, as an honorary member of the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission.

Walter Long, Austin, was made state chairman. George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, was named director. All members of the Historical Survey Committee were appointed to the Centennial Commission.

Daniel said the sites of the 58 military events which occurred in Texas during the Civil War will be memorialized, but there will be no reenactment of battles as some other states have planned.

Policeman Dies

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Special policeman Jesus Gonzales, 60, died shortly before last midnight of a bullet wound received Sunday night. Gonzales was on duty at a dance and was shot by one of three young men he had barred from the event. No arrests have been made.

Envoys Promoted

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Greece and Luxemburg have decided to increase their diplomatic representatives in Mexico from ministers to full ambassadors, the Foreign Ministry said today. Mexico in turn will boost her own envoys in those countries to the rank of ambassadors.

Baptists Study Church-State

DALLAS (AP)—A special committee headed by Dr. Harold Basden of Dallas has been named to study the Baptist stand on separation of church and state.

The 9-member committee was appointed Monday by Dr. James Landes, chairman of the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The committee will make a broad study of the denomination's stand on church-state relationships and will investigate any possible infringement of the principles.

It was established on recommendation of the executive board, which several months ago was involved in a controversy over the proposed operation of a Texas hospital built with the aid of federal funds.

Trustees of the hospital later withdrew their offer to lease the institution to Texas Baptists.

Besides Dr. Basden, other members of the study committee are the Rev. Jimmy Allen and Dr. C. E. Colton of Dallas; the Rev. Brooks Wester and Dr. E. H. Westmoreland of Houston; the Rev. Harry Hamblen of Harlingen; Dr. James B. Leavell of San Antonio; Dr. Carl E. Hereford of Corpus Christi; and the Rev. Charles E. Myers of McKinney.

Welcome Mat Always Out At Friendly Bank

If you're the kind of person who'd like to do his banking at home you're a natural customer for Security State Bank of 1411 Gregg St.

Security State planned their facilities for busy patrons. In addition to the customary drive-in windows—the bank has two of these—there is another arrangement which makes banking about as convenient as possible.

This extra convenience is the "bank my mail" plan adopted by the bank. Security State has had envelope-deposit slips printed up and are free to patrons. These folders have an addressed envelope with a deposit slip attached.

The patron who wishes to bank by mail merely fills in the deposit slip, tears it off, and encloses the slip and currency or checks inside the envelope.

The postman picks up your deposit, delivers it to the bank, and brings back your new blank folder mailed by the bank. The mail deposit receipt is initialed by the teller who handles the transaction.

Naturally, Security State offers a complete banking service and bank by mail in any one of these. The bank handles checking and savings accounts, loans, bonds, safety deposit boxes, and all other financial matters.

Transactions are conducted in a new modern building, and plenty of parking space is available.

Security State would like to help you take care of your financial requirements. New accounts receive the same courteous attention as ones of several years standing. Try Security State. You'll be glad you did.

Keep Family Car In Good Condition Drop In At Wagon Wheel For Luncheon

The family jalopy is being called on for a lot of short trips during this Christmas shopping season. In addition to the regular use that Dad makes of the car in going to and from work, there is the thousand and one quick jaunts Mom has to make to town for special presents.

Charlie Minchew of Charlie's Service Station on the corner of Fourth and Scurry says he has a surefire plan to keep the "wheels" in running shape now that they are doing double duty.

Charlie suggests filling up with Humble gas and an oil change with either Humble Uniflo or Esso lubricating oils.

Just to make it easier, Charlie says, he is featuring a "wash and lube while shopping" service during the holiday season. He also mentioned that it's a good way to solve the no parking space problem.

Your car can be left at Charlie's Service Station when you get down town and will be ready for you by the time the shopping is finished. Holiday price for the wash and grease job is $2. If you don't intend to go to town, Charlie will arrange to have the car picked up and delivered to your home at no additional cost.

Charlie is agent for Atlas tires and batteries. Prices of these top-grade tires range from $16.75 through $37.68 and feature Cushionaire, Plycron, and Bucron qualities.

All of these tires, Charlie said, carry an unconditional 18 months road hazard guarantee. They feature a new type of cord in the construction called Tyrex. Tests have proven it to be superior to most cord now used in modern tires.

Soviet Space Men Vanish

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—A German space scientist says he has heard that one Soviet astronaut disappeared when the Soviets tried to put him into space, and believes others have vanished in similar attempts.

Prof. Hermann Oberth was commenting on reports distributed by the Italian news agency Continental that the Soviet Union had made four futile attempts to get a human being into space.

"I know from American intelligence reports that one attempt at the end of 1957 or beginning of 1958 failed," said the 66-year-old former member of the U.S. Army's missile program at Huntsville, Ala. "I believe the Russians have made several other attempts."

The Italian news agency story, published Sunday by British newspapers, said it got its information from "most reliable sources" in Prague. It added, however, that there had been no official confirmation.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman said in Vienna he knew nothing about the reports.

Speaker Desk Has Elevator For Big Ones

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is there a snuff box under the desk used by the speaker of the House of Representatives? No. But the desk houses one of the world's smallest elevators.

And did you know the U.S. Capitol building got its first air conditioning system exactly 100 years ago? It worked, too.

Or that a bakery, equipped to provide bread for up to 3,000 soldiers, once flourished in the maze of tunnels that honeycomb the Capitol basement?

Here's what one Capitol employe had to say about the early air conditioning: "There were some great engineers back in those days. Well, they built some stone stacks. You can still see them on the Capitol grounds. They ran pipes from the stacks down under the building where steam-powered blowers sucked air in from outside and across a chamber filled with ice. From there, another blower forced the cold air into other pipes that led to various rooms in the Capitol and it came out through registers. Some still are in use."

According to this historian, that early-day air conditioning system could keep the Capitol temperature at an even 70 degrees even during the most blistering July day.

Another gave this account of the early bread ovens: "Did you know Union troops were quartered in the Capitol rotunda during the Civil War? At one time as many as 2,500 took their meals there. Sometime during the war, from six to eight bread ovens were built down in the basement."

Records indicate these ovens could turn out bread for 3,000 men a day.

What about that desk elevator? Very simple.

When the House chamber was remodeled in 1950, House officials decided that since speakers often have to read from heavy documents, some provision should be made for both tall and short speakers.

So, a 22 by 36 inch section of the speaker's desk was put on an elevator mechanism. By a touch of a button he can raise that section as high as 18 inches above the rest of the desk. Another flick returns it flush with the desk.

However, since both Democrat Sam Rayburn of Texas and Republican Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts—the only men to serve as speaker since 1950—are both short, as far as is known the elevator has never been used.

Hospital Volunteers Leader Calls It Sharing, Not Charity

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of stories, relating how people with a heart seek to take some of the drabness out of the lives of patients in state hospitals and special schools.)

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—Mrs. Malcolm R. Gregory is the unofficial mother to more than 25,000 state hospital and special school patients in Texas.

She has just returned from a 750-mile pre-Christmas goodwill mission involving many of them. She found from that trip and a mountain of reports at State Hospital Board headquarters here that there won't be one forgotten man, woman or child this Christmas in the huge hospital system.

This trip and the others she makes at regular intervals in the interest of her unpaid, full-time job are at her own expense. She shrugs this off.

"I have yet to return home from one of these trips without thanking the Lord for the devotion of these people," says Mrs. Gregory.

"These people" are the 32,299 volunteers who go into the state mental and tubercular hospitals and the schools for the mentally retarded to enrich the usually drab and always-restricted lives of the patients.

Mrs. Gregory also includes the paid workers in the institutions among those who "give more than they get."

Action On File In Capsizing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Initial court action is on file in the capsizing of the motor vessel National of Pride, which claimed the lives of ten crewmen and an Army inspector.

Sperlo Corp., operators, and the National Boat Corp., owners, Monday filed a petition in U. S. District Court seeking exoneration from or limitation of liability.

The Coast Guard discovered the 196-ton vessel floating upside down in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 27. The bodies of only two crewmen were found when the ship was towed to Galveston and uprighted.

Biggest Vote
DALLAS (AP)—Tax officer Ben Gentile said Monday Dallas County may have its biggest vote potential in history in 1960. Gentile said he believed the total could reach 300,000 for the presidential election year.

Carpet Treatment Astonishes Ike

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—President Eisenhower was astonished to find his limousine rolling over rich Persian rugs in the streets of Tehran Monday.

Beautiful rugs were placed at several points along the four-mile route from the airport to the palace of the Shah. A bit later the Shah gave Eisenhower a large red and blue rug—a new one.

"Obviously, you must know how I love Persian carpets," the President said in accepting the rug. "I was chagrined when I saw how we were driving over them today. That is not the way we treat them in America."

Holiday Traffic Death Toll Should Be Lower

The holiday traffic toll for the nation this year will probably be less than in 1958, said James Eubanks, executive secretary of the Citizens' Traffic Commission.

"But only because the Christmas weekend will be one day shorter," he added.

Eubanks said the National Safety Council is predicting 530 highway deaths and 25,000 disabling injuries during the Christmas weekend from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

For a non-holiday weekend of equal length, Eubanks said the prediction would be about 370 deaths.

Last Christmas, with 68 million cars on the road and a four-day weekend, there were 594 killed in auto mishaps.

"There is a good chance that every motor vehicle in the nation will be on the road at some time during the holiday weekend," Eubanks declared. "With this traffic jam of 71 million cars, extra care is a necessity in holding down the death count."

Holiday accidents don't always happen to "the other guy," the executive secretary said. But they can happen to the careless driver.

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" is a good rule of the road, Eubanks added.

Two other traffic safety guides he pointed out include don't drink and drive and don't let impatience and anger dull your judgment.

Eubanks reminded motorists that the persons who, through disregard for safety, injure or kill another person has violated a commandment.

"Thou shalt not kill" refers just as surely to the motorist on the highway as it does to a man berserk with a shotgun," Eubanks said.

Daily Average Oil Production Climbs

TULSA (AP)—Daily average U.S. oil production climbed during the week ended Dec. 12 with a gain of 76,000 to 7,143,500 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas, on a 10-day producing schedule this month compared to 9 in November, again was a big factor in the increase. The state's output advanced 52,730 barrels to 2,647,200.

Louisiana, also with an increased allowable, was up 13,480 barrels to 1,047,100. Oklahoma gained 11,900 to 560,500.

The Journal estimated 1959 production at 2,434,092,560 barrels compared to 2,313,135,640.

Arkansas was up 1,530 barrels to 84,300; New Mexico up 420 to 296,100; and Colorado was off 1,400 to 126,600.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) says holding back national growth is economic madness, not soundness. The Senate majority leader spoke Monday night at a statewide meeting of the Associated General Contractors. "It is not soundness—it is madness—when we hack away at the pillars of the future in the name of a short-sighted fiscal policy," he said. "Tight money can only mean a tight grip of stagnation about the windpipe of our future."

CITY'S NEWEST SUPER-MARKET TO HAVE OPENING WEDNESDAY Hull & Phillips have special values and activities to match handsome plant

Hull & Phillips To Open Food Store On Wednesday

In attractively designed, bright and completely fire-proof surroundings, shoppers at the new Hull & Phillips Supermarket will discover that service is easy and fast.

The new plant is situated at 9th and Scurry and is of baked brick-tile exterior and haydite block interior. The frame is steel and the roof is concrete poured on metal decking. The ceiling is of acoustical asbestos material suspended on brackets from the roof. Several overhead planters add to the decor of the building.

Illumination is both natural and by fluorescent tubes, and the walls are in pastel shades of blue, green and rose to form pleasant blends and contrasts. Floors are attractively tiled. Central units will alternately furnish heat or refrigerated air, and there are no exposed ducts. Carts are handy at the entrance at the southwest corner of the new building. Shelves with canned goods line the west side of the building, and the first tier of interior display shelves is given over to a complete assortment of preserves and condiments. Three other interior tiers are fully stocked with all types of home-making supplies, food and specialties. For the full length of the east side, the most complete assortment of produce, dairy products and frozen foods imaginable is on display, and over this convenient height refrigerated section are extra items such as chinaware, exotic party delicacies, dietary lines (for instance one assortment for diabetics), etc.

In the center of the north part of the building is the 44-foot meat counter lined with pre-packaged cuts of beef, pork, lamb, poultry, etc. In contrast to so many supermarkets, the preparation and wrapping room opens directly to the low display counters so that customers may see what goes on, may place orders for special cuts or make inquiries. At the south end of the store are five checkout stands, equipped with rapid fire tabulation, weighing and other apparatus. Adjacent is the glassed-in office. At the rear of the building is the storage area for reserve stock. Overhead in one portion are the motors which will cool or heat the building. An isolated compartment keeps the empty boxes and trash. In one part is a preparation area for vegetables and fruits, and across from it is a big walk-in refrigerator vault for produce. Off the meat preparation area is another big walk-in vault for fresh meat storage. There also is a small coffee bar in the rear for employes.

Texas Reservoir Waters Decrease

AUSTIN (AP)—Conservation waters in major Texas reservoirs decreased one per cent in November as releases were made to maintain stream flows, the State Board of Water Engineers reported Monday. No rises of consequence in any area were reported.

The only decline in the water table noted was .8 foot in a well in the Winter Garden area near La Pryor.

Fresh And New Approach

The Hull & Phillips Supermarket being opened Wednesday at 9th and Scurry will have that extra fresh appearance, and with good cause.

Operators have worked to make it a brand new store from the stock to the building and its equipment.

In order to make the new store something special, operators closed down their No. 1 unit at Gregg and 4th nearly two weeks ago to devote full time to the complete stocking and arranging of the new store.

The result has been a most attractive and complete outlay where everything is in full view of and handy to the shopper. The arrangement is such that shoppers will be able quickly to find what they want and to be checked out promptly.

To call attention to the firm's practice of turning merchandise rapidly so that goods are always fresh, special bargains are being offered all over the store during the opening Wednesday and for the remainder of the opening week.

British-Fired Thor Blows Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A Thor intermediate range missile blew up over the Pacific Monday a few minutes after launching by a British crew.

It was the second of 10 Thors fired by a Royal Air Force crew to misfire. The first was destroyed by a safety officer when it went off course.

Leftists Criticize Yule Decorations

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The leftist Popular Party Monday criticized the federal district for spending so much money on Christmas decorations.

Gala Activities Will Mark Opening Of New Super-Market

Gala doings will accentuate the grand opening of Hull & Phillips new super-market here Wednesday. From the time that Clyde McMahon, president of the Chamber of Commerce, snips the ribbon at 8 a.m. to symbolically open the new plant, something special will be going on all day. The famous Light Crust Doughboys will be on hand to liven matters with their zestful music. Ted Hull and Elmo Phillips, owners, will be around to greet their many friends and to supervise the steady stream of awards until closing time at 7 p.m.

Visitors will be asked to register for grand prizes which will be given away at the end of the week, and in this list are some mighty imposing items, ranging up to heavy appliances.

There will be free Cokes all day, and candy and favors for the youngsters.

In addition there will be some unannounced, impromptu prizes which will be given at irregular intervals all day long.

Officials from a number of supplying firms are due to be on hand to join in festivities marking the re-opening of the city's largest independent food firm.

The store formerly was located at 4th and Gregg, but the owners designed and erected an entirely new plant to their liking at a location almost in the dead center of the city at 9th and Scurry Sts.

Everyone is invited to inspect the new store on Wednesday and to note the line of special store-wide bargains underlining the opening.
