Two City Men Chosen For Top Executive Training

Two Big Spring—one civilian, one military—have been chosen to attend the 1960 Advanced Management Program, offered by the School of Business Administration.

Dan M. Krausse

Dan Krausse is a native of Houston and had his schooling there, at Schreiner, and later at the University of Texas where he was an honor graduate in 1947 with a B.S. degree in chemical engineering.

DAN M. KRAUSSE

COL. H. LOY WEBER

Training as a cadet engineer for Sinclair's research and development department after graduation, he visited numerous refineries and finally was assigned as administrative assistant to the manager of research and development for Sinclair at Harvey, Ill.

Krausse has played a key role in Cosden's expansion into the petrochemical field. He convinced management of the practicability of a new process for fractionating ethylbenzene (the basic stock for styrene), and Cosden became the first in the world to develop this unique process which is attracting interest from major producers.

Col. H. Loy Weber has been at Webb since July, 1958 and, as commander of the 3560th Maintenance & Supply Group, is responsible for aircraft support in Webb's training mission. His group looks after some 130 T-33s which log something like 80,000 flying hours per year.

But his Cosden position, Krausse is vice president of Col-Text and is a Col-Text and River Pipelines director. He has been extremely active in (See KRAUSSE, Pg. 6-A, Col. 2)

Col. H. Loy Weber has been at Webb since July, 1958 and, as commander of the 3560th Maintenance & Supply Group, is responsible for aircraft support in Webb's training mission.

Rated a Command Pilot, Col. Weber has attended the Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Ala., and the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He was retained at the latter school for a role as an instructor.

Nikita Asks New Date For Summit Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER, WASHINGTON (AP)—Further delay in opening a springtime summit conference was foreseen Saturday by U. S. officials seeking a new date acceptable to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The summit timing problem is one of two urgent issues President Eisenhower is expected to discuss Monday with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. If decisions cannot be reached by telephone consultation, Herter may make a flying visit to Augusta, Ga., Tuesday or Wednesday.

High administration officials said Saturday they are certain Eisenhower will order an extension into 1960 but that a final decision has not been made. In particular, the form of any announcement and the duration of the extension are considered important.

Put the Soviet Union on notice that in negotiations at Geneva steady progress toward an international inspection system will be required to keep the ban in effect.

The effect of these steps would be to continue the moratorium from week to week, with the Geneva negotiations under constant review. The big issue among the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union at Geneva, ever since the negotiations started 14 months ago has been to get agreement on an inspection system that would discourage cheating on a test ban treaty.

It—as now seems certain—is the projected summit conference is suddenly delayed, the test ban issue may come to a climax coincident with the meeting of Eisenhower, Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain.

Khrushchev accepted everything but the date. He objected that it would keep him away from Moscow's huge May Day celebration.

Khrushchev conferred with either April 21 or May 4 as opening date. But Western diplomats here and in Europe said those would conflict with Allied commitments.

As for May 4, Macmillan will be tied up then in a British Commonwealth meeting that may last including a Khrushchev visit to Paris and a De Gaulle trip to England now make any summit timing prior to late April virtually impossible, so that a meeting at Paris in mid-May now seems most likely.

Rockefeller Pulls Out Of GOP Lists

Politicians Are Shaken By Sudden Action

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE, WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's announcement that he will not be a presidential candidate hit politically deserted Washington like a bombshell Saturday.

Across the country politicians reacted with dismay, delight, or were just plain stunned.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who now appears to have the field wide open for next year's Republican nomination, played it coyly. The vice president issued this brief statement through his office:

"Gov. Rockefeller has made an excellent impression in the states he has visited in the past few months.

"People throughout the nation have recognized him as a leader of national and international stature.

"Regardless of the decision he has announced today, he is a man destined for continuing leadership in the Republican party and the nation in the years ahead."

This was a statement obviously calculated to soothe the feelings of ruffled Rockefeller fans and to win over their support as far as possible in the months between now and the July 25 nominating convention in Chicago.

It also could be construed as an implied invitation to Rockefeller to reconsider his stand against accepting a possible offer of second place on the ticket.

A number of Republican leaders expressed hope that Rockefeller would do just that.

President Eisenhower, who is barred by law from seeking a third term, kept his own counsel.

The President was informed of Rockefeller's announcement immediately on his return from a brief month trip to visit his four grandchildren in Gettysburg, Pa. Anne Wheaton, the associate White House press secretary, told newsmen Eisenhower had no comment.

Nixon himself was not directly available. His press secretary, Herb Klein, told reporters that at the time the Rockefeller announcement was released, Nixon himself was out sightseeing with his two daughters and a nephew from California who has been visiting here over Christmas.

Later, however, another Nixon aide, Don Hughes, told newsmen waiting at the vice president's home that Nixon had been home all afternoon and did not plan to go out before Sunday.

Democrats set out to make as much political capital as possible out of the development.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, one of the possible contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the Republican party has "turned deaf ears to a newer and more liberal voice than that of Vice President Nixon."

New Yorker Quits Presidential Race

By MICHAEL KEATING, Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller, millionaire governor of New York, withdrew Saturday from his race with Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the republican presidential nomination.

But he avoided a clear endorsement of Nixon who, barring unexpected developments, is expected to carry the GOP colors in the presidential election next November.

"I am not, and shall not be, a candidate for the nomination for presidency," Rockefeller said in a statement distributed to newsmen at the State Capitol.

Referring to the vice presidency he again said flatly he would not accept that nomination.

In Washington, President Eisenhower declined comment.

Nixon remarked that Rockefeller still would play a key role in the Republican party.

Rockefeller said he withdrew because he had found Republican leaders around the country opposed a contest for the nomination.

Rockefeller said he expected to support the Republican nominee and the Republican program in 1960. But observers saw qualifications in his statement.

In the face of this, he said, he would have had to wage a "massive struggle" in primary elections and that would make it impossible for him to be an effective governor.

Road Deaths Continue To Soar Higher

DEATH TOLL Traffic 313
Fires 30
Miscellaneous 40
Total 383

By The Associated Press Christmas holiday traffic fatalities maintained a deadly pace of six deaths an hour Saturday night, but the National Safety Council expressed hope that the final toll would fall short of its estimate of 530 deaths for the 78-hour period.

At the 50-hour mark, 313 traffic deaths were counted. The danger hours are still ahead when motorists begin their homeward journeys Sunday.

The council pleaded for "everyone to plan ahead and allow extra time" before starting home on the nation's traffic-clogged highways.

For the first time this weekend, the traffic fatality rate appeared to lag behind last year's pace. At the 50-hour mark, 312 traffic fatalities were counted. Last year 314 traffic deaths were recorded over a similar period. The council called the trend "encouraging."

The final count of the traffic deaths for the 1958 holiday—a four-day weekend—was 530. During the most recent comparable three-day Christmas period—in 1955—a total of 609 persons lost their lives in traffic mishaps.

The record traffic toll for any holiday period was set during the four-day Christmas observance of 1956. That year 706 lives were lost in accidents involving motor vehicles.

A number of multiple deaths contributed to this year's traffic toll. Eight persons, including three children, died when their automobile slammed at high speed into a steel and concrete blockhouse near Haverstraw, N.Y.

Six persons died in a two-car collision near Tchula, Miss. Five others died in another two-car collision near De Quincey, La.

The count of dead from traffic accidents, fires and miscellaneous violence began at 6 p.m. Thursday. It will continue to midnight Sunday.

For comparative purposes The Associated Press conducted during a recent 78 hour nonholiday period a count of those killed in traffic, fires and miscellaneous accidents. Traffic deaths during the period totaled 324. There were 32 deaths from fires and 68 in other types of accidents.

29 Killed In Texas Over Yule Holiday

By The Associated Press A rash of one-car accidents pushed the Texas Christmas holiday traffic death toll to 17 Saturday. A total of 29 persons died from all types of violence.

Since the holiday death count began at 6 p.m. Thursday, one-car accidents have accounted for 15 of the 17 traffic deaths. The count will end at midnight Sunday.

The worst holiday accident killed four teenagers near San Antonio Saturday morning. Their car crashed into a concrete abutment on U.S. Highway 81 and the Pan American Expressway 4 miles south of the city. The car burst into flames and the four victims were burned beyond recognition. A fifth occupant of the car was critically injured.

Killed in the accident were two brothers, George, 17, and Floyd Valdez, 18; Jerry Johnson, 16; and Denny Comite, 16.

Mrs. Mattie Arnold, 34, and the mother of 10, was shot to death Christmas night when she and her husband, Jesse, 36, checked a noise at their own house in Houston. Arnold told police he and his wife bumped into each other and his shotgun discharged accidentally. The children are aged from less than one year to 15.

Iran Soldiers Are Marching To Border

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran moved up new troops Saturday in its border dispute with Iraq.

the frontier villages of Fakkeh, Susangerd, and Mousavian just north of Abadan, site of the world's largest oil refinery, reports reaching the capital said.

Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem in public speeches has laid claim to the whole breadth of the Shatt al Arab, a river linking Abadan with the Persian Gulf.

The dispute caused the Shah to hold up his Caspian Sea honeymoon. He had planned to leave Wednesday or Thursday with Queen Farah, whom he married Monday.

Foreign Minister Abbas Aram was reported to have told the Senate in private session that the government believes Kassem's claim was mostly for home consumption.

A serious foreign issue could be used to shore up Iraq's home front, split between leftists and Arab nationalists.

The Iraqi news agency Thursday night denied Iranian army reports that Iraq had moved five armored brigades up to the border. A statement broadcast by Baghdad Radio said the Iraq government wants peace but is "unable of suppressing aggression from whatever source it comes."

To Saturday evening our immediate vicinity had managed to escape traffic fatalities. But Snyder staggered under a record of seven highway deaths, six of them in one accident. Speaking of traffic, our own city police did a great job in keeping the flow moving downtown during the peak of the Christmas rush season.

Contracts totaling $172,000 were awarded last week by the Big Spring Country Club to get moving toward its relocation in the hill country southeast of Big Spring. These were for the clubhouse and kitchen equipment. Work on the course itself will get going probably this week.

Colorado City suffered a disastrous fire with severe damage to the Earnest building and to the contents of three stores in it. Losses have been estimated unofficially by a source to run as high as $200,000. A fire of that scope will undoubtedly affect insurance premiums adversely.

All we lacked having a white Christmas was freezing weather. There was mist in the air on Christmas, and on the day before and the day after, but temperatures were more like spring than winter.

The city commission authorized formal offer of the airport lands (See THE WEEK, Pg. 6-A, Col. 2)

YEGGS WITH ODD GENIUS ARE SOUGHT

BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—Burglars stole a safe containing an estimated $10,000 from a supermarket and left in its place a mock-up safe, police reported Saturday.

Butcher George Daniel discovered the loss when he reported for work. The store had been closed since Thursday night.

Deputy Sheriff M. M. Brown described the false safe as a good replica of the one stolen, complete to a dial on its door.

He said passers by looking in the store probably would not have noticed the real one was missing.

Brown said the burglars pried open a rear door of the store and rolled the genuine safe out on broom and mop sticks. Store owner Billy Knox, who estimated the loss, said the firm had a large amount of cash on hand for the holidays.

Holiday Deaths In Mexico At 40

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An unofficial check of Red and Green Cross and other sources indicates the Christmas holiday toll in Mexico City was 40 deaths and around 700 injured.

PROCESS REPEATING SELF Spontaneous Formation Of New Life May Be Under Way

By ALTON BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter CHICAGO (AP)—Entirely new life is perhaps being created spontaneously somewhere on earth right now.

The cradle for life to start from basic chemicals could be in hot springs, or near volcanic areas under the seas, suggests Dr. Sidney W. Fox, Florida State University chemist.

Dr. Fox is one of the researchers trying through laboratory experiments to determine how life on earth might have begun originally.

TRAFFIC VIOLATION Wanted Man Jailed By City Officials

Police patrolmen arrested a man here Christmas Eve with 106 worthless payroll checks in his possession. He is wanted by authorities in Coffeyville, Kan., and Ft. Smith, Ark.

James Baker arrested the man on a traffic violation charge. Detectives Leo Hull and Jack Jones obtained statements from him regarding the checks.

Apparently the man passed eight of the checks in Kansas and eight more in Arkansas. Each of them are made out for about $100 and are drawn against a non-existent Midland firm on a Midland bank.

Detective Hull pointed out that the checks are authentic in appearance and would probably be accepted in most any large store. Each of them has withholding tabs listing various tax deductions, as is customary on payroll checks.

The Fort Smith, Ark., sheriff immediately wired a warrant for the man when he was notified.

Hull said the man admitted buying the checks from a printer in Kansas.

Fortunately, we have had the help of good men who served on the staff, and it is our intention to continue trying to give the public the best possible service as well as diligent countywide law enforcement.

No Double For Gloria

All for the sake of realism, actress Gloria Vandenberg gets a good soaking while portraying the neglected wife of a weather station operator on a remote Pacific island for the filmed television show "Adventures in Paradise." She's being rescued by Gardner McKay, the star of the show, during a hurricane and tidal wave. Gloria insisted on playing the scene herself rather than have a double do it for her. The show will be aired in February. (AP Wirephoto)

'CRIME' UNCERTAIN

Cuban Terror Reported By Newsmen Who Experienced It

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Miami Herald Staff-Writer
Copyright 1959, Miami Herald Publishing Co.
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—If you're uncertain but concerned about the road the new Cuba is taking, come with me inside one of Fidel Castro's secret police jails.
Let me introduce you to some of the Cuban citizens who have lost their liberty, their property, and may lose their lives—because of a "crime" we in the United States wouldn't recognize.
Their crime?
Nothing more than being accused of anti-Castro activity or displaying anti-Castro sympathies.
Not all the stories I heard night

I saw long lines of informers patiently waiting as they did night after night, to tell stories about their neighbors to Castro agents.
I saw a 14-year-old boy thrown into my cell and confined for four days because a woman had accused someone with a similar name of being a member of the hated "Tiger" army, the private strong arm of ex-dictator Batista.
I watched tears come to the eyes of once respected businessmen-prisoners, as they saw their property confiscated by the government because they had spoken out of turn about the Castro regime.
Let's look first at the case of 14-year-old Armando Cruz Gonzalez. His name was supplied by a woman informer and his address given as a certain block in downtown Havana.
Armando was picked up at home, and tossed in our cell. His protesting parents simply were told Armando had been a longtime member of Batista's Tigers.
I look at our cellmate Armando and wondered. He was a scared, fuzzy-cheeked 14-year-old.

Texas Population Is Now 9,513,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau said Saturday that Texas population has increased by July 1 23.4 per cent to 9,513,000 since 1950. The national population increased 17 per cent.
The bureau estimated that the total population was 176,365,000 July 1. This compared with 150,697,361 at the time of the last big census April 1, 1950.
Another census will be taken next April 1 and that will show a population of about 180 million.
Nevada showed the greatest population growth between the 1950 census and mid-1959. Its population expanded by 74.9 per cent. Florida was second with a 71.8 per cent gain.
The West once again showed the greatest rate of population gain among the four major regions. Its population increased by 32.3 per cent, or nearly double the national average. For other regions, the gains were: north central states, 18.7 per cent; the South, 18.3 per cent; and the Northeast, 11.2 per cent.
State population leaders are New York 16,495,000; California 14,639,000; Pennsylvania 11,323,000; Illinois 10,205,000; Ohio 9,700,000; and Texas 9,513,000.
Other population increases showed Oklahoma with 2,276,000, up 1.9 per cent from the 2,233,315 of 1950; New Mexico, 879,000, up 29 per cent from 681,187 in 1950; Louisiana 3,116,000, up 18 per cent from 2,683,516 and Colorado 1,682,000, up 28.9 per cent from 1,325,089 in 1950.
Arkansas at 1,744,000 was down 8.7 per cent from 1,909,511 in 1950.

Agreement Signed And Strike Threat Is Ended

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Representatives of the International Longshoremen's Assn. Saturday agreed to terms of a new three-year contract with the West Gulf Shippers Assn., thus forestalling a strike threatened Sunday at midnight.
Ralph Massey, president of the district I.L.A. staff members of the locals from Lake Charles, La., Brownsville, Tex., would vote on the agreement Sunday. He said they were expected to ratify the agreement overwhelmingly.
Stevedores in the district have been working under a Taft-Hartley law injunction for the past 79 days. They would have gone out on strike again Sunday night had not an agreement been reached.
The agreement calls for an increase of 11 cents per hour over the $2.74 hourly wage longshoremen have been working for and an additional 5 cents per hour the second year, and still another 5-cent boost the third year. The 11-cent boost for the first year is retroactive to Oct. 1, 1959, when the longshoremen first walked off their jobs.
Massey said the contract also called for a 19-cent boost in welfare, vacation and pension funds.
Local observers estimated that the retroactive portion of the contract would be worth from $100,000 to $300,000 to Galveston longshoremen alone. Eight ports, including Galveston, Lake Charles and Brownsville, are included in the West Gulf district affected.

leaders. The nature of their conversation was not disclosed.
Other Democratic presidential possibilities generally reserved comment for the time being. These included Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota who told newsmen he had nothing to say about Republican party affairs at this time.
Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was not available.
The Republican national chairman, Sen. Thomas E. Morton of Kentucky, commended Rockefeller for "so clearly stating his position." Morton has expressed belief that Nixon was well in the forefront in the GOP presidential nomination picture.
He said the party could concentrate now on organizing for the 1960 congressional and presidential campaigns.
In New Jersey, GOP State Chairman Carl Erdman said he was "very upset that (Rockefeller) won't entertain the vice presidency."
"Our opinion polls have shown Nixon is preferred by New Jersey Republicans over Rockefeller 76 per cent to 20 per cent," Erdman said, adding "Nixon for president and Rockefeller for vice president would be an absolutely unbeatable team."
In Michigan, Republican State Chairman Lawrence Lindemann said "it looks like Nixon is a shoe-in, probably with only token opposition."
William G. Saltonstall, chairman of the "Draft Rockefeller" headquarters in New Hampshire, was silent. New Hampshire holds the first presidential preference primary, in March.
In the Republican Gov. Harold W. Handley and former Gov. Ralph F. Gates, a national committeeman, began a boomlet to give the vice presidential nomination to Rep. Charles W. Halleck, the GOP House leader.
Sen. Homer Capehart, Indiana's leading Rockefeller backer, said he had no plan to seek another candidate and "will support the GOP ticket 100 per cent."
Democratic Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado professed to see good news for his party in the governor's announcement.
"I think everyone concedes we've got a better chance to beat Nixon than Rockefeller," he said.

Unusual Gift
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Christmas gift from his Cabinet was a crystal map of his December trip to Europe, Asia and Africa.

RODEO CHAMPIONSHIP Shoulders Grabs Top Spot In Bull-Riding Competition

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jim Shoulders five-time world champion cowboy from Henryetta, Okla., took over the lead in bull-riding Saturday the feature of the first performance of the National Finals Rodeo.
Shoulders entered the event with the all-around cowboy honors already in the bag for the year but trailing by $42 in bull riding, one of two events in which he was qualified for the finals.
He scored 182 points for a second-place tie and won $130 day money. Meanwhile, erstwhile leader Bob Wagner of Ponca City, Okla., failed to place. So, after the first go-round Shoulders was leading $14,716 to $14,628 for Wagner.
The 15 top winners in each of the five standard events are competing in the national finals which run here for five days and nights.
Two champions—Harry Chart of Melba, Idaho, in steer wrestling and Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio, Tex., in calf roping—already have been determined.
The other feature of the opening performance was the riding of Singshot, toughest brahma bull of the year. Singshot had gone through 37 rides without being subdued, but Wayne Lewis of Dell City, Tex., made it today and it

Operating Realistic Model Train Is Airman's Hobby

A Christmas display started eight years ago is about to go back into mothballs.
But right now the entire end of one room of the home of T. Sgt. A. A. Cline is devoted to his layout for trains and their built-in landscape.
Sgt. Cline makes no bones about it, he is just fond of playing with trains. He and Mrs. Cline have no children, so making the track layout, the terminal, telegraph poles, mountains and clouds is a pure hobby for him.
STARTED EIGHT YEARS AGO
He got his first inspiration when he was stationed in England, where he developed a hobby for himself. In England there are two principal lines, according to Sgt. Cline, and he almost precipitated a crisis when he announced that he wanted to buy a model locomotive from the northern lines, and the cars from the southern lines. The clerk was agast—this simply wasn't done, sir!
His locomotive model is steam powered, operating on alcohol fuel. It requires from 10 to 15 minutes for the engine to get up a head of steam, but when it does, it takes off like nobody's business.
To add realism to the display, he has constructed a terminal building and has rigged mountains, a waterfall, some buildings and a few clouds thrown in for good measure. He makes his mountains by crumpling a quantity of brown wrapping paper and then painting them. Clouds lying along the mountains are made of cotton. A church is perched on one of the mountain slopes.
In all he has some 200 pieces in his layout, and Sgt. Cline is adding to the display all the time. Parts

Rockefeller's Action No Surprise To Lyndon

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Saturday he was not surprised by the decision of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York not to seek the Republican presidential nomination.
Johnson, a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, predicted the Democrats will elect a President next November and "should give serious consideration to asking Gov. Rockefeller to serve the Democratic administration in some high official position."
Johnson's statement: "I am not surprised at Gov. Rockefeller's findings as stated today."
It has been obvious for some time that there is no place in the national Republican Party for the able and progressive governor.
"I think Vice President Nixon has earned the Republican nomination and will be the Republican nominee."
"I think the Democratic President to be elected next November should give serious consideration to asking Gov. Rockefeller to serve in the Democratic administration in some high official position."
"Since he has stated no doubt that he will entertain no thought of the vice presidency, I think the Democratic party will ask him to serve his country by serving the next Democratic administration."
"Gov. Rockefeller, it seems to me, has always put his country first."

Woman Hurt In Accident

Mrs. Ernest A. Samples, 1602 S. Settles, was taken to Big Spring hospital Saturday afternoon following an automobile crash at 5th and San Jacinto.
Attendants report her condition as good and she was treated for minor bruises. A Nalley Pickle ambulance carried her to the hospital.
Driving the car was her husband. The other vehicle involved was driven by William Clay Garner, 104 Walnut.
Another mishap Saturday involved Theresa Lynn Harris, Midland, and Henry Oscar Harwell, Irving. They were in collision at Goliad and Marcy Dr.

Lumber Yard To Close For Rites

Due to the death of Christmas day of F. D. Weddington, president of the William Cameron & Co., the Big Spring William Cameron Lumber Yard will be closed from 10 to 1 p.m. Monday. Funeral services for Mr. Weddington will be in progress at Waco during these hours.
The crowd of 4,500 showed up for the first of ten performances that will be run off at the big rodeo show which continues through Wednesday.
There was one substitution in calf roping when Don McLaughlin Calleyville, Tex., defaulted because of an injury in an auto accident. He was replaced by Herschel Romine of Big Spring, Tex., who ranks 16th among the money winners. Romine failed to place in the first go-round.
Casey Tibbs of Ft. Pierce, S.D., leads the saddle bronc riders with $17,050. That is $3,278 ahead of Winston Bruce of Calgary, Alta., Canada.
Tibbs didn't place and Bruce was disqualified so the leader lost no ground.

42-Inch Snow In Colorado Mountains

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—A storm which dumped 42 inches of snow on Wolf Creek pass in southwest Colorado spread across the state Saturday.
As the storm spread across the mountains, the sun broke through the clouds at Durango, where about a foot of snow fell since Thursday night.
The Highway Patrol reported snow in west central and north-west Colorado and in northeast and east central Colorado. Snow also fell in the San Luis Valley area of southern Colorado. Southeast Colorado skies were overcast.
The snow was so heavy on Wolf Creek pass, 90 miles east of Durango, that the Highway Department reported its snowplows were unable to keep up with the fall during the night and the pass was closed. Light snow was still falling before noon. Other parts of U.S. Highway 160, which crosses the pass, were open, but in the southwest part of the state the snow was snowpacked, and it was icy on Hesperus Hill between Durango and Mancos.
The storm left 22 to 24 inches of new snow on Red Mountain, north of Durango on U.S. Highway 550. The marker on the mountain, showing the season's snow pack to the Air Force for a nominal $1, which is the same price as the current lease. This is part of an effort to remove any impediments to development of the base.

The city grew by 50 acres during the week with annexation of Suburban Heights, Cedar Ridge and Airport-Settles areas west through fourth readings and Webb Village and the Robb additions passed the third readings and are due to be in after a Tuesday meeting of the City Commission.
Bob Dean, Big Spring, and Sie Hamm, Colorado City, received certificates for five years of service as members of the draft board. That's a long time for this sometimes thankless chore. Members are due the thanks of the area as well as those of the nation.
Two Big Spring men—Col. Loy Webber and Dan M. Krausse—have been chosen for the advance management training session at Harvard University. This is really unusual since only a handful of men are accepted from all over the nation for this intensive three-month program.
In central Martin County the Great Western No. 1 Allen looked as if it might have shows in the Montoyah, which would make six zones with promises of oil. In southern Howard County TXL Oil announced it would take over the Cosden No. 1 McDowell, drilled in 1959 to 8,790, and re-test it for Wolfcamp production.
Allotments of $305,000 for highway maintenance work in this area were announced last week. Of this amount $265,000 was set aside for complete re-working of the Stanton Lamesa highway from the intersection with the Big Spring-Andrews road.
Look for the political pot to start boiling in earnest this week and next week. Two candidates have announced for commission posts and two for sheriff. By next Sunday the bars will be down, especially since the first Democratic primary has been advanced to May 7.

City Musicians In San Angelo Music Contest

Two Big Spring artists are among the 26 entrants in the San Angelo Symphony Orchestra's first annual Eric Sorantin Award competition.
The first prize will pay $250. In addition to winning, the first place artist will appear as soloist with the symphony on March 21. The auditions are open to the public and will be held in the Municipal Auditorium. Entrants will draw for appearance position Tuesday morning and by Wednesday afternoon the way will be cleared for the finalists to perform for the four judges.
Both Big Spring entries are pianists, which incidentally comprises the largest field with 17 entrants. They are Bill Evans and Mrs. Glendene Phillely Brooks.

One theft was reported in the city late Saturday. Lennie Clanton, 407 E. 11th, told police his bicycle was stolen while parked at the Ritz Theatre.

Upswing Brightens Outlook For Crude Production In '60

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — A year-end upswing brightened 1959 for domestic oil operators.
 Crude production was 354,000 barrels a day above the year's low point.
 Refinery operations were over 500,000 barrels daily higher.
 Crude and products being held in storage at the end of November were 12 million barrels below year earlier levels. Just a month earlier they had been 18 million above the comparable 1958 period.
 Producers approached the final week of the year amid predictions 1960 crude output would be the highest in history.
 The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) estimated crude production the first six months of the new year will average 7,400,000 barrels daily. This would be 500,000 barrels above the first half of 1959.
 Domestic crude production last week averaged 7,138,775 barrels a day, compared to a year earlier 7,097,335. Output for 1959 had dropped to a low of 6,784,000 barrels daily the first week in September.
 The final daily average for 1959 was expected to be the third highest in the industry's history. The record 7,170,000 barrels a day was set in 1957 when output reached an all-time high of 7,818,400 at the peak of the Suez crisis during which domestic supplies were being rushed to the oil-short areas of Western Europe.
 Domestic operators broke the seven million barrel mark the first time in history in 1956 with a daily average of 7,151,000.

 The two largest oil producing states—Texas and Louisiana—prepared to enter 1960 with optimism.
 Texas retained its 10-day production allowance for January. A similar December pattern represented the state's first increase

Martin Wildcat Holds Promise

Great Western No. 1 Allen, Martin County wildcat project, was trying to loosen a stuck drill pipe Saturday. This project is bottomed at 11,957 feet in the Ordovician section.
 This project is one of the most promising holes sunk in Martin County since the establishment of the Breedlove field in the northwestern part of the county. Operators have reported shows of oil or gas in six sections while making the hole.
 The first show was in the Grayburg, between 4,230-320 feet. A drillstem test recovered five feet of oil and 30 feet of oil-cut drilling fluid in 30 minutes.
 The next show was in the Devonian, where operator cored a section between 11,361-408 feet. Recovery was 45 1/2 feet of fractured dolomite with shows on the fractures.
 The Fusselman had the best shows when a drillstem test had tool open three hours. Recovery was 8,373 feet of gas in the pipe, 1,960 feet of 41.4 gravity oil and 465 feet of gas, oil, mud and emulsion, mostly oil. This section is between 11,743-85 feet.
 Operator cored the Montoya between 11,937-57 feet last week and recovered 19 feet of fractured dolomite with blue fluorescence. A drillstem test of this section was a failure when operator lost circulation.
 This project is nine miles north-east of Midland and eight miles northwest of Stanton. It is a quarter mile northwest of an Ellenburger discovery at 12,090 feet. The site is C SW SE of section 41-37-1N, T&P survey.

in permissible flow since May 1. Louisiana boosted its January and February production to 967,306 barrels a day. The 30,731-barrel a day hike was the first in over a year. It placed the state's authorized output just below the 990,642 barrels a day high set in 1957 during the Middle East emergency.

 Refinery runs last week averaged 8,071,000 barrels of crude daily. A year earlier the average was 7,822,000.
 Because of excessive inventories, however, refiners had a busy year adjusting operations.
 Crude runs reached an all-time record average of 8,362,000 barrels a day the last week in August. The year's low of 7,491,000 barrels daily came the final week of October.
 The August record found the nation's refineries operating at 85 per cent of capacity. Last week's output required 82 per cent of the nation's refining capacity.
 Despite the nationwide upswing, Texas continued to lag in crude output. Actual production in Texas last week averaged only 2,647,000 barrels a day, compared to 2,717,000 a year earlier.
 Texas had a 12-day proration formula in May. After a 10-day June pattern, the formula remained at nine from July through November.
 Louisiana's crude and lease condensate output recorded a healthy gain in 1959. Last week's output was 1,047,000 barrels a day. The year earlier average was 929,000.

Promotion Goes To O. G. Simpson

TULSA — O. G. Simpson, division production superintendent for Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. at Midland, has been appointed assistant division manager at Midland, President William H. Morris has announced. The promotion is effective Jan. 1.
 Simpson succeeds R. L. Elston, who was elected a vice president and appointed Midland division manager Nov. 1 when G. D. Almen Jr. was promoted and transferred to offices of Sinclair Oil Corp. in New York City.
 Simpson began his Sinclair career in 1949 as a petroleum engineer at Marysville, Okla., following graduation from the University of Oklahoma with a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering. He worked at Lindsay, Nowata, and Oklahoma City before being named executive assistant in the general office production department in Tulsa in 1957. He was transferred to Midland Oct. 1.
 A member of the American Petroleum Institute and the AIME, Simpson also belongs to the Methodist church and Masonic lodge.

Fluvanna Field Gains New Site

The Superior Oil Co. and Intex Oil Co. No. 9-500 C. D. Jones is a Fluvanna field project to be worked over and plugged back.
 It is 3 1/2 miles northwest of Fluvanna in Borden County on 640 acres and plugged back to 8,395 feet. Drillsite is 1,900 from south and 660 from east lines of section 580-97-H&C survey.

Wildcat Ready To Complete In Spraberry

G. M. McGarr and G. T. Trusler No. 1 Harry Billington, Martin County wildcat, has drilled to 8,100 feet in the lower Spraberry and cemented the 5 1/2 inch casing at that level.
 Operator perforated the casing through 7,974-996 feet and was to fracture the perforations Saturday afternoon with 20,000 gallons of oil and 20,000 pounds of sand. He was going to shut in after treatment until the middle of next week.
 Tests are scheduled after tanks have been erected. This project was originally scheduled for 8,400 feet for a look at the Spraberry. It is two miles west of a small Spraberry producer that has depleted.
 Location is 1,320 from north and east lines of section 10-36-1S, T&P survey. It is two miles northwest of Stanton.
 Pan American No. 2 Offutt, Breedlove field project in Martin County, is drilling at 9,811 feet. This project is 660 from north and 767 from east lines of section 3-359-Borden CSL survey.
 In Dawson County, Cities Service No. 1-C Lindsey is making hole in lime and shale at 7,061 feet. This wildcat is 660 from north and 1,320 from east lines of section 79-M-EL&RR survey.
 Texas American No. 1 Hogg, also in Dawson County, is digging at 1,740 feet. Drillsite is 660 from north and 1,960 from east lines of section 2-30-34-5N, T&P survey.
 Bayview No. 1 Buchanan, Howard County project in the Sand Springs field, is drilling in lime at 6,095 feet. This project is 660 from south and west lines of section 29-31-in, T&P survey.

Rotary Count Dips To Seven Week Low

The Christmas lull dumped the weekly rotary rig count to a low point for seven weeks.
 The tally on Dec. 25 was 338 rigs making hole in the Permian Basin, a slide from the 372 reported last week. The survey is made weekly by the Reed Roller Bit Co.
 Veteran oilmen said many rigs were shut down throughout the area on Christmas Day, thus reducing the number of working operations.
 For the immediate eight county area, there was a net loss of five rigs for Christmas week. There were 37 turning last week, and only 32 this week.
 Borden County had the biggest loss, falling from 12 to seven. Howard County fell from seven to five. Increases were reported in Dawson and Martin Counties. Each of them went up to five from four.
 The other counties held steady with the previous count remaining the same. They are Garza with five, Glasscock with one, Mitchell with three and Sterling with one.
 Andrews leads the Basin with a high figure of 32, the same as last week. Lea County, N. M., perennial leader in the Basin, slipped from 64 counted last week to only 30 this week.
 The complete report, with previous figures given in parentheses, includes:
 Andrews 32 (32) BORDEN 7 (12), Cochran 2 (2), Coke 3 (2), Chaves 6 (5), Crane 9 (11), Crockett 1 (3), Crosby 1 (2), DAWSON 5 (4), Dickens 1 (1), Ector 2 (25), Eddy 15 (15), Fisher 2 (3), Gaines 17 (19), GARZA 5 (5), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), Hale 1 (1), Hockley 1 (5), HOWARD 5 (7), Irion 1 (1), Kent 1 (0), Lea 30 (64), Loving 6 (5), Lubbock 2 (2), Lynn 2 (2), MARTIN 5 (4), Midland 10 (12), MITCHELL 3 (3), Nolan 3 (3), Otero 1 (1), Pecos

 In Dawson County, the completion is Davison and Pembroke No. 3 Brownfield in the Welch field. The total depth is 4,965 feet, the top of the pay zone is 4,869 feet, the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 4,964 feet and perforations are between 4,869-902 feet in two intervals. The initial pumping potential is 77.22 barrels of 34 gravity oil. The gas oil ratio is 100-1 and operator acidized with 3,500 gallons and fractured with 10,000 gallons. Well-site is 1,787 from south and 660 from east lines of section 10, block C-38, PSL survey.

 Gulf No. 11 H. R. Clay is a Howard-Glasscock field well in Glasscock County. It has an initial pumping potential of 55 barrels of 28.5 gravity oil per day.
 The elevation is 2,726 feet, the total depth is 3,100 feet and plugged back to 1,950 feet. The top of the pay zone is 1,836 feet and the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 3,099 feet, perforated between 1,836-74 feet.
 The gas oil ratio is 218-1 and acidized with 3,000 gallons. Well-site is 1,650 from north and west lines of section 155-29-W&NW survey.

BY 16.5 PER CENT LPG Sales Jump Above '58 Total

Sales of liquefied petroleum gas (butane and propane) in 1959 increased 16.5 per cent over 1958 to 8,693,000,000 gallons, according to estimates by George R. Benz, W. F. DeVoe, and Paul W. Tucker of Phillips Petroleum Co.
 Reflecting increased markets for petrochemicals, sales of LP-Gas as a raw material for manufacture of chemicals were 28.2 per cent over 1958. They continued to take a larger share of the market.

totaling an estimated 2,396,000,000 gallons.
 This does not include LP-Gas consumed in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, which increased 32 per cent over 1958 to 491,000,000 gallons. The volumes used for synthetic rubber components and for manufacture of other chemicals accounted for more than one-third of the total LP-Gas market.
 LP-Gas sales for domestic and commercial uses are estimated at 3,604,000,000 gallons, a 9.4 per cent increase over 1958. This continues to be the largest market, although the percentage has dropped from 51.2 per cent of total sales in 1954 to 41.5 per cent in 1959. The most important factor in domestic growth continues to be house heating, as home owners continue to convert from other fuels to LP-Gas.
 Sales of LP-Gas for motor fuel uses increased 10 per cent to a total of 937,000,000 gallons, with the largest volume again for use in farm tractors. The use of LP-Gas in industrial lift and tow trucks, however, continues to increase at a faster rate than any of the other LP-Gas motor fuel uses. Cargo truck refrigeration and heating, ready-mix concrete trucks, trucks, electric generator sets and local delivery truck fleets continue to show substantial gains.
 Sales of LP-Gas for industrial and miscellaneous uses increased 26.5 per cent to a total of 1,020,000,000 gallons, a large factor being greater refinery fuel use. Sales to gas utilities rose 2.6 per cent to 245,000,000 gallons. Although the extension of natural gas pipelines has caused displacement of LP-Gas in some areas, the over-all effect has been to stimulate interest in LP-Gas as well as natural gas and create the need for additional standby plants.
 Production of LP-Gas, including the mixed streams going to petrochemical use and refinery fuel, was nearly 18 per cent over 1958. This increase was partly due to more complete coverage of many mixed streams. Eleven new plants came on stream and several others were expanded during the year. An estimated 16 new plants are scheduled for 1960.
 Expansion of transportation facilities continued at a more moderate pace than in recent years. Continued emphasis was placed on larger capacity highway transport units, and interest in larger capacity railroad tank cars was evidenced.

Tax Diversion Costs Motorists

A $308 million-plus in state taxes that should have been used for roads went to other purposes last year, a petroleum industry publication states.
 "Oil Facts," published by the American Petroleum Institute, said the diversion came out of state highway use taxes that were designed to be spent exclusively on highways.
 During 1958 this principle was violated to the tune of $303,326,000 by diversion of motorists' taxes to non-highway purposes. Diverted taxes represented 6.5 per cent of the $4.7 billion collected in highway user taxes by the states in 1958.
 The pattern of diversion showed that California, Florida, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas, Washington and the District of Columbia accounted for 86 per cent of the total diverted. On the other hand, 20 states did not divert a single penny of highway use taxes to non-road purposes.
 The magazine pointed out that the diverted money would have built over 1,000 miles of improved highway, enough to span the distance between Milwaukee and Boston.

Mother Of 10 Shot To Death By Her Husband

HOUSTON (AP)—A mother of 10 children was shot to death Friday night because, her husband said, of a noise in their henhouse.

Jesse Arnold, 36, told detectives that the death of his wife, Mattie, 34, was an accident.

The husband told detectives that he and his wife heard a noise in their henhouse.

After loading his shotgun, Arnold said, he and his wife began creeping from their bedroom into the living room.

But they bumped together, he told detectives, and the gun went off.

The children range in age from less than a year to 15 years.

Liberace Has Settled Suit Attorney Says

LONDON (AP) — Liberace's British attorney has announced settlement of a legal action brought by the American TV entertainer against a London revue.

Liberace claimed he was libeled and slandered in the Apollo Theater show "For Amusement Only" which closed last fall. Writs were issued against comedian Jimmy Thompson, who appeared in a Liberace skit, scriptwriter Peter Myers and the theatrical production firm of Limit and Dunfee.

In a Christmas holiday statement, attorney David Jacobs said the British defendants have apologized to Liberace, paid his costs "and at his request made a donation to the Actors' Benevolent Fund."

Pope John Begins Year-end Audiences

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today began traditional year end audiences to receive the greetings of diplomats accredited to the Vatican.

Nearly 50 ambassadors and ministers are to call on the Pope. Those received today were the ambassadors of Austria, Lebanon, Panama, the Dominican Republic and Paraguay.

Vatican sources said the 78-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff celebrated a brief service in his private chapel Christmas night and later listened to Christmas phonograph records.

A decorated Christmas tree and the nativity scene were erected in his apartment for the festive season.

ADMITS MURDER

Girl Meant What She Told Friend

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Thomas Dunn heard the woman say over the telephone: "Do you know about a taxicab driver being killed on Lincoln Place? Well, that driver who was killed, I did it."

Replied Dunn: "Look, lady, this is Christmas. Stop fooling."

But Kathleen Perry, 19, wasn't fooling. She designated a street corner in Brooklyn where she could be picked up. She was there when a police car arrived, and she told how she shot cabbie

Nathan Hyman, 56, in the head during a $13 holdup. She surrendered a .22-caliber revolver from which one shot had been fired.

Hyman, driving on Christmas morning for the first time in his 36 years of hacking, picked up Mrs. Perry and a woman known only as Jerry.

Mrs. Perry said she shot Hyman as he sat at the wheel of his cab because he made a motion as if he were about to turn around. "I was nervous and the gun went off," she told police.

Date With Red Telephone

The Christmas holiday brought a duty tour for Senior M-Sgt. Wilson F. Dolde, left, of Kansas City and Maj. Daniel S. Henshaw, of Long Beach, Calif. Dolde was on duty as airman controller and Henshaw as SAC controller beside the red telephone in the Strategic Air Command's underground command post near Omaha. The red phone is used to alert SAC's global bomber and missile force. (AP Wirephoto)

Texas Stores Enjoy Record 1959 Business

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said Saturday that 1959 likely will establish another record for Texas business.

The bureau said despite unfavorable results recently from the steel strike the expansion phase of the business cycle will continue at least during the first half of 1960.

For the first 11 months, business soared 12 per cent higher than for the same period of 1958. For the United States, primary metals, mining and transportation showed substantial increases in November reflecting the resumption of steel production. But transportation equipment, including automobiles, fabricated metals and machinery industries declined sharply as shortages of metals forced cutbacks in production. Personal income hit an all-time high in November.

Agriculture continues to be one of the weakest spots in the Texas economy, reported the bureau.

Total crop production will be slightly below 1958 but will still add to the bulging surpluses. Prices received by Texas farmers in November declined 2 per cent from October and were 8 per cent below November 1958.

The report said there is no immediate prospect for an improvement in agriculture with estimates nationally that farm income for the year will be 15 per cent lower than a year ago.

Retail sales totaled 7 per cent more for the first 11 months. In November, nondurable goods sales dropped 6 per cent and durable goods stores dropped 19 per cent. In spite of the irregular movement of Texas retail sales, it seems likely that 1959 will set a new record for spending by consumers.

The estimated value of building authorized in Texas declined 29 per cent in November, leaving the gain for the year at 5 per cent. Both residential and nonresidential building permits exceeded last year.

Industrial electric power consumption rose two per cent from October.

"It is rather unanimously agreed that if the steel strike is not resumed the level of industrial production can be expected to reach rather promptly the high levels prevailing before the strike," the report said.

DISCORDANT NOTES

Christmas Buying Hits New High Peak, Surveys Indicate

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Cash registers jangled a happy climax to a sensational Christmas buying season this week but there were two discordant notes on the business scene.

Merchants have been too busy to tote up the exact total of yule sales but all indications are the record 1958 buying spree was exceeded.

On the darker side, consumers took another kick in the pocketbook from the cost of living, and hopes for a voluntary settlement of the steel dispute grew dimmer.

The Department of Commerce said the strong Christmas buying and a flow of new orders at the manufacturing level point to economic strength in the months ahead.

The extent of holiday shopping was indicated by two surveys. Dun & Bradstreet reported dollar volume of overall retail trade this week was up 1 to 5 per cent over a year ago. The trade newspaper Women's Wear said department and specialty stores boosted their sales for the season by 3 per cent.

The Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. said their sales will top 1958 by 15 to 20 per cent and exceed the record set in 1957.

Living costs, the Department of Labor reported, climbed to a new high in November. This was the sixth new record in seven months.

The gain of one-tenth of one per cent—a slower pace than in previous months—put the cost level at 125.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average as measured by the department's consumer price index.

The November rise was checked by a continued downtrend in food prices. The principal gain was in charges for services and for durable goods, including new cars.

general use. A week ago it stood at $5.79 and a year ago at $6.38.

On the steel front, the National Labor Relations Board started making arrangements for a secret ballot in January by the 500,000 union members on industry's "last offer." Union President David J. McDonald said a postcard poll of members shows sentiment running overwhelmingly against acceptance.

Girl Held In Gang Death Of Nevada Casino Owner

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Police held a former gambling house girl as a material witness today but reported they had no definite lead on who shot and killed Bill Duffin, a casino owner.

Six slugs were fired into Duffin's back Christmas Day as he climbed into his car on the main street here, just two blocks from the state Capitol.

The burst of gunfire came during a light snowfall just outside the Silver Spur Casino. Duffin, co-owner of the Senator Club, was killed almost instantly.

Police Chief Bob Humphreys said Ruby Barker, 34, was with Duffin. After questioning, the former Senator Club employe was held as a material witness "for her own safety." She formerly had made change for customers at the casino.

"She says she heard the shots and heard Bill moan," Humphreys said. "But she claims she saw nothing."

The chief said Mrs. Barker's

Road Fatality

HARLINGEN (AP)—Ascension Ramirez, 27, of Harlingen, was killed late Friday night when his car struck a palm tree about a mile west of here.

Steel production continued at a terrific clip with estimated output of 2,636,000 tons this week, compared with 2,726,000 last week.

Stock sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 11,447,114 shares as compared with 16,093,000 last week. Bond sales were $25,845,000 par value as compared with $33,410,000 last week.

James Saxton Suffers Mishap

AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas, resuming workouts for what Coach Darrell Royal hopes will be a "fantastic" effort against Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl, saw one of their best hopes dimmed Saturday.

Saxton limped from the field with a knee injury of undetermined severity near the end of the 1 1/2-hour workout.

Royal said it may be Monday before the extent of Saxton's injury is known.

Another quarterback, junior
Tommy Newman, failed to report for the practice. He was reported hospitalized in Borger, Tex., with a high temperature.

Royal, who says the team must rise to a "fantastic" pitch to defeat Syracuse Friday in Dallas, called the Longhorns "no better than average" after Saturday's 1 1/2-hour drill.

The Southwestern AAU has been going on for nine years. Bula is the defending titlist and would probably have won the state crown had not it been ruled ineligible on a technicality.

Sands will carry a 14-2 won-lost record to Duncanville, having lost only to Coahoma and Hawley this season.

LONGHORNS TO VISIT SNYDER ON TUESDAY

The Big Spring Steers return to the practice court Monday to hone their game for Tuesday night's contest with Snyder in Snyder. The Longhorns posted a 10-4 won-lost record prior to Christmas and will be favored to topple the Tigers. Big Spring already owns a 68-36 victory over the Tigers. It was the most one-sided victory the locals have posted this season. The game will serve as a final warmup for the Longhorns before the Odessa Tournament, which takes place Friday and Saturday. Vernon Horton's team have drawn Odessa Ector as a first round opponent in the tournament. The two teams clash at 5 p.m. Friday. In other first round games, Midland opposes Monahans at 3:30 p.m., Odessa Permian tries Lamesa at 6:30 p.m. and Odessa High tangles with Kermit at 8 p.m. Should the Steers defeat Ector, as they are favored to do, they play the survivor in the Permian-Lamesa game at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Should they lose, they are booked for 9 a.m. action Saturday against the loser of that game.

AT SUNLAND PARK

11 Big Names Are Entered In 'Cap'

ANAPRA, N. M. (SC) — Eleven big names of the racing world passed the entry box assuring a top field for the first running of the $50,000 Sunland Park Handicap at one mile, scheduled here today. Barnford and Bowe's amazing Spicy, has accepted highweight of 123 pounds for the event. Trainer Glenn Barnford's luck still held as he drew the number two post position. At a flat mile, an inside post has the advantage as there is only a short run to reach the first turn and often horses on the outside are carried wide. The four-year-old "darling" of Sunland Park holds the mile and one sixteenth track record and will be ridden by Wendell Leeling, who guided her to victory in the recent $15,000 Thanksgiving Day Handicap at Bay Meadows.

She has surpassed her 1958 earnings of $24,527 having won a total of five races, totaling $27,368 this season.

Trainer Barnford holds a powerful hand in the race as he has named Creole, recent winner of the Texas Derby to start as an entry with Spicy.

The California invader, Oscar-em, drew post position number one. The well bred son of Mr. Busher will be ridden by Roy Yaka, one of California's most capable riders. Yaka was the apprentice riding sensation on the West Coast and has ridden against the country leading jockeys. Owned by K. D. McMillan and trainer Tom Dante, Oscar-em won the Governors Handicap at Sacramento in September and has been campaigning against leading handicap horses on the California circuit, bankrolling a total of $22,200 this year.

Another California import coming to challenge the best in the Southwest, Sam's Shipahoy drew post position number three and will have Jackie Brown as his pilot. Brown is only one victory away from being top rider at Sunland. Owned by Mr. E. B. Johnston, one of the nation's outstanding stables, the four-year-old colt has raced against many of the top horses in the land and finished fourth behind Hillsdale at Santa Anita earlier this year. Assigned 111 pounds, he is a son of Provocative, who is the sire of Spicy.

Creole, stable mate of Spicy will break from the number four hole and off her smashing win in the Heart Fund Handicap Sunday will be highly respected in the yearling Jerry Casey who made her successfully Sunday will again be up and is expected to attempt another wire to wire victory. She has been asked to carry 117 pounds. She easily won the Texas Derby by 2 1/2 lengths, leading all the way proving her staying ability. The Derby distance was also at one mile. She has won six races this year and has earned more than $12,000.

Harris & Colcord's consistent three-year-old, Theba Kid, will attempt to carry his second six furlongs for the first time this season. He was out of the money for the first time in seven starts Sunday but encountered trouble when a traffic jam developed on the turn for home. He will have the services of the track's leading rider, Bobby Scharnow, and carries 111 pounds. He has won a total of six races, and placed in 10 others out of a total of 23 races. He was claimed for $5,500 earlier in the season, largest claiming price in New Mexico racing history.

Chatterly ran his best race of the season finishing second behind Sonic Blast. Bobby Yeager will again ride E. T. Springer's five-year-old hopeful who is in the Big Cap with 111 pounds. The fine son of Grandpere has been in the money in 12 of his 22 starts this year. He can be rated or run on the pace and it will be interesting to see the strategy trainer Jack Phillips and Yeager come up with Sunday.

M. R. Lalimer's Biplane drew post position seven and is the light weight of the field at 104 pounds. Not known for his consistency, the four-year-old son of Double Jay is best over a distance of ground and would distinguish himself with a top effort in the Cap. Trainer Frank Colcord has named jockey Frank Costa on both of his starters. Biplane and Sonic Blast. Biplane has had a victory over the track, winning his first start here Nov. 21. He has won $9,975 in 22 trips to the post this year.

Nenechu 2nd is lightly rigged at 107 pounds and will have the services of the leading apprentice rider Larry Spraker. The imported Argentine has been a winner twice at the meeting but appears to be showing at the moon against the rugged competitors in the Big Cap.

Arracado, weighted at 117 pounds, will break from the number nine position. His race in the Heart Fund Handicap can be disregarded as he encountered trouble and lost all chance on the turn for home. He has raced extremely well this year and won two straight races at Sunland prior to the Heart Fund, both at six furlongs. Owned and trained by the father-son combination of F. W. and Frank Haynes, the veteran eight-year-old has placed 11 times in 21 starts this year, all against good company. Dave Whited will be in the irons.

Pro Title Goes On Line Today

By GEORGE BOWEN Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and New York Giants come together Sunday with the force of two express trains on the same track.

Rarely has a championship sports event matched such explosive ingredients as their return go for the kingdom of the National Football League.

As teams, the Colts stalk on stage as the most irresistible goaline crosser of the 12-team league this season. The Giants shape up opposite them as the most immovable on defense.

Out of the abundance of individual stars in the spotlight are quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Colts, elected the outstanding player of all during the last campaign, and linebacker Sam Huff of the Giants, voted the best lineman.

Eight teams are entered in each division and consolation winners as well as champions will be determined in each class. First round pairings: Boys division—Stanton vs. Forsan, 2 p.m.; Grandfalls vs. Garden City B, 5 p.m.; Coahoma vs. Sterling B, 8:15 p.m., all games on Thursday. Sterling City vs. Garden City, 9 p.m., Friday. Girls division—Sterling City vs. Rankin, 12:45 p.m.; Stanton vs. Grandfalls, 3:45 p.m.; Coahoma vs. Bronte, 6:45 p.m.; Garden City vs. Forsan, 9:45 p.m., all games on Thursday. Coahoma is an early favorite to win the girls' title but the scrap for the championship in the boys' division appears to be wide open.

Garden City may have the slight edge in the boys' bracket, since the Bearcats will be playing at home. The Cats have an impressive record this season.

Stanton, however, poses a big threat, as does Forsan. Grandfalls is a darkhorse entry. The championship game in the girls' division starts at 8:30 p.m. Saturday while the boys will wait until 10 p.m. before beginning their title game.

Table with 10 columns: Player, G, F, P, M, P, T, A, V, S, R. Lists statistics for various players including J. LeFevre, Miller, Kivana, Johnson, Bryan, Rayson, Kibling, Frye, and Tucker.

Welch To Replace Smith On Squad SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fullback Ray Smith of UCLA has been lost to the West squad for the Shrine game Jan. 2 because of a pulled leg muscle. Jim Welch of Southern Methodist will replace him. Smith injured his right leg in morning practice at Sanford Friday. He may make a token appearance in the charity game.

Such prospective fireworks has sold out Baltimore Memorial Stadium's 87,507 seats, and will keep millions more with their eyes glued to television sets on NBC stations in 44 states. The TV warm-up starts at 1:45 p.m. (EST) and the playing at 2:05. If the length of the show has to go beyond the regular 45-minute quarters because of a tie, the same sudden-death rules as last year's historic event will apply.

After a three-minute rest, they'll toss a coin for kicking off and start playing 15-minute quarters again. The first team to score will win.

Goals will be changed after each 15 minutes if there is no score, but there will be no kick-off in a necessary third quarter—such as the second half of the normal game.

The Colts, winner in the West with a 9-3 record, are 3 1/2-point favorites over the Giants, conquerors of the East with a 10-2 performance.

Cage Tourney Opens Thurs.

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The stage is set for the annual Garden City Invitational Basketball tournament, which starts Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Eight teams are entered in each division and consolation winners as well as champions will be determined in each class.

First round pairings: Boys division—Stanton vs. Forsan, 2 p.m.; Grandfalls vs. Garden City B, 5 p.m.; Coahoma vs. Sterling B, 8:15 p.m., all games on Thursday. Girls division—Sterling City vs. Rankin, 12:45 p.m.; Stanton vs. Grandfalls, 3:45 p.m.; Coahoma vs. Bronte, 6:45 p.m.; Garden City vs. Forsan, 9:45 p.m., all games on Thursday.

Coahoma is an early favorite to win the girls' title but the scrap for the championship in the boys' division appears to be wide open. Garden City may have the slight edge in the boys' bracket, since the Bearcats will be playing at home. The Cats have an impressive record this season.

Texas Trained Like Ingo Did For Patterson Fight

DALLAS (AP)—Texas has trained for the Cotton Bowl about like Ingemar Johansson did for the Floyd Patterson fight. The Longhorns hope they come out as well. Johansson, it is to be recalled, knocked out Patterson for the world's heavyweight championship. He did it by uncovering a right hand nobody thought he had. And he was in top condition although being quite unorthodox in his training.

Texas has been quite leisurely about its training while Syracuse on the other hand, has gotten in every day possible. The Orange-men grudgingly took Christmas Day off for a little party. Texas, on the other hand, has had only seven days of intensive training and has four more to go. The Longhorns may be hiding a secret weapon much as Johansson did.

Coach Darrell Royal said he gave his team an 8-day break in workouts to take off some of the pressure of the past season. But the coaching staff has been quite busy all the time, studying films and worrying about the nation's college champion, Syracuse, which is undefeated, untied and not too worried.

Texas returned to practice at Austin Saturday and started checking up on what manpower will be available next Friday when the Longhorns meet the Orange-men in the Jan. 1 gridiron classic before 75,504 fans in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns have had a rash of minor injuries. Don Allen, senior fullback who underwent a knee operation near the end of the regular season, is back working out and may get to see some service in the Cotton Bowl game.

Syracuse also hit the practice field on a dead run Saturday at Houston and Coach Ben Schwartz-walder said, "We're ready." But he still was concerned with some minor ailments that have slowed four key runners.

This situation brightened greatly Saturday, however. Star sophomore Bill Lillard, who has been recovering from a knee operation, was able to run some and two others appeared rounding into shape.

A swollen big toe on soph fullback Johnny Nichols' right foot was giving Schwartzwalder some worry because doctors aren't quite sure what is wrong. Nichols was the only one of the ailing to miss Saturday's double drill. Both Texas and Syracuse will fly to Dallas Wednesday and hold their final workouts here.

Super Effort Needed By Steers On Friday

By JOE BENHAM AUSTIN (AP)—The University of Texas resumed Saturday the workouts in which Coach Darrell Royal hopes to inspire the Longhorns for a "fanatical" effort against Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl.

Royal admits it will take such an effort for Texas—a two touch-down underdog to the Eastern champions—to win Friday's clash before 75,000 in Dallas. The Longhorns got a break from the weather as they checked in for their first workout in eight days.

The temperature climbed into the high 60s and clouds thinned after three days of damp, cold weather. Royal planned loosening-up and timing drills and a "little" contact work in the afternoon session. More contact work will come in the two-a-day practice periods Monday and Tuesday, and at least one more workout will be held before the team leaves for Dallas Wednesday afternoon.

Drills Saturday were aimed primarily at determining how well a half dozen Longhorns have recovered from a rash of minor late-season injuries. Also present for the workout was Don Allen, hard-hitting senior fullback and defensive specialist who underwent a knee operation near the end of the regular season.

Allen is a doubtful starter, depending on his performance in pre-game drills. Royal said he gave the team an eight-day break in workouts to take off some pressure from the past season.

"Every team was up for us Saturday after Saturday," Royal said. "Six coaches said their teams played their best games against Texas."

"I was getting tired by the end of the season and I think it was beginning to show on the staff and players," he said. Royal and his staff spent much of the holiday week looking over films of 6 of the 10 victories this year which propelled Syracuse to top national ranking.

The size of the New York team impressed him more than anything else, although Royal said Syracuse "does everything well." He described the Orangemen as "huge."

Texas, outweighed three pounds per man, will count primarily on its speed and spirit in the team's ninth bowl outing. Texas has a 5-2-1 in earlier post-season play. The last venture ended in a 39-7 loss to Mississippi in the 1958 Sugar Bowl.

AGGIES FAVORED

SWC Cage Meet Opens Monday

HOUSTON (AP)—The sky-scrappers in short pants flock into Houston Sunday for the ninth Southwest Conference pre-season basketball tournament with the spotlight on Texas A&M and Southern Methodist.

There will be workouts on a quiet Sunday afternoon but all will be turmoil Monday when Arkansas and Baylor open the tournament at 2 p.m. SMU and Texas Tech clash two hours later. Texas A&M makes its move at 7:30 p.m. against defending conference champion TCU, which hasn't been able to do much defending this season. Rice and Texas wind up the day's work at 9 p.m.

The Aggies, who won the tournament last year by swamping TCU in the finals only to lose out in the championship race because of late season injuries, will be the top choice mainly because of an unbeaten record in five games. A&M, however, has not been really tested, playing teams in this area only.

SMU, with a 5-2 record, on the other hand has played some of the top teams of the country. The Methodists beat Georgia Tech, raised eighth in the nation, their last time out.

Texas, with a 5-1 record and the leading scoring team in the league with 86 points per game, is considered the dark horse of the tournament. Texas has two men among the top six scorers, Jay Arnette leading the conference with 155 points in 6 games. Brenton Hughes has 90 points.

The Rice-Texas clash will match the No. 1 and No. 2 scorers—Arnette vs. David Craig, the Rice flash who has piled up 139 points. A&M is the second scoring team with a 76.4 points average but the long suit of the Aggies is defense. They have given the opposition only 47.8 points per game. This is far and away the best defensive mark in the league.

The team that gets the ball the most, however, is Southern Methodist. The Methodists have grabbed 363 rebounds. The Aggies have managed only 280, which ranks sixth in the conference. Top man on the rebounds for SMU has been giant Steve Strange, who has averaged 10.6 per game.

The hottest shooting team from the floor is Texas, which has cashed in on 346 per cent. Rice, a hot-and-cold outfit, has been the most deadly along the free throw lane. The Owls have done 733.

The draw has made it possible for Texas A&M and Southern Methodist to meet in the finals. Tuesday night the Arkansas-Baylor winner meets the Southern Methodist-Texas Tech victor while the A&M-TCU winner clashes with the Rice-Texas winner.

The finals are Wednesday night. This might be the last tournament, pointing out that it brings too much competition inside the conference. It means each team will meet the other three times, since they play each other twice in the championship race.

However, a decision on whether the tournament is to go on will be made at a meeting of conference officials at the NCAA convention in New York next month.

Pro Game Will Be On Area Airlines

Today's National Football League professional championship battle between the Baltimore Colts and the New York Giants will be televised nationally on MID-TV Channel 2.

It's a repeat performance—only the playing field will be different—of last December's historic come-from-behind overtime triumph for Baltimore over the Giants at Yankee Stadium in New York Memorial Stadium in Baltimore will be the scene of the 1959 blue ribbon clash.

Chris Schenkel and Chuck Thompson will handle the announcing chores for the 1:00 p.m. (Big Spring time) contest.

Royal admits it will take such an effort for Texas—a two touch-down underdog to the Eastern champions—to win Friday's clash before 75,000 in Dallas. The Longhorns got a break from the weather as they checked in for their first workout in eight days.

The temperature climbed into the high 60s and clouds thinned after three days of damp, cold weather. Royal planned loosening-up and timing drills and a "little" contact work in the afternoon session. More contact work will come in the two-a-day practice periods Monday and Tuesday, and at least one more workout will be held before the team leaves for Dallas Wednesday afternoon.

Drills Saturday were aimed primarily at determining how well a half dozen Longhorns have recovered from a rash of minor late-season injuries. Also present for the workout was Don Allen, hard-hitting senior fullback and defensive specialist who underwent a knee operation near the end of the regular season.

Allen is a doubtful starter, depending on his performance in pre-game drills. Royal said he gave the team an eight-day break in workouts to take off some pressure from the past season.

"Every team was up for us Saturday after Saturday," Royal said. "Six coaches said their teams played their best games against Texas."

"I was getting tired by the end of the season and I think it was beginning to show on the staff and players," he said. Royal and his staff spent much of the holiday week looking over films of 6 of the 10 victories this year which propelled Syracuse to top national ranking.

The size of the New York team impressed him more than anything else, although Royal said Syracuse "does everything well." He described the Orangemen as "huge."

Texas, outweighed three pounds per man, will count primarily on its speed and spirit in the team's ninth bowl outing. Texas has a 5-2-1 in earlier post-season play. The last venture ended in a 39-7 loss to Mississippi in the 1958 Sugar Bowl.

The hottest shooting team from the floor is Texas, which has cashed in on 346 per cent. Rice, a hot-and-cold outfit, has been the most deadly along the free throw lane. The Owls have done 733.

The draw has made it possible for Texas A&M and Southern Methodist to meet in the finals. Tuesday night the Arkansas-Baylor winner meets the Southern Methodist-Texas Tech victor while the A&M-TCU winner clashes with the Rice-Texas winner.

The finals are Wednesday night. This might be the last tournament, pointing out that it brings too much competition inside the conference. It means each team will meet the other three times, since they play each other twice in the championship race.

However, a decision on whether the tournament is to go on will be made at a meeting of conference officials at the NCAA convention in New York next month.

Chris Schenkel and Chuck Thompson will handle the announcing chores for the 1:00 p.m. (Big Spring time) contest.

WIDE-OPEN TOURNEY FIGHT IS LOOMING

The fight for the championship in the eighth annual Howard College Basketball Tournament here Dec. 31-Jan. 1 may be the most wide open in the history of the casaba carnival. Eight of the ten teams entered are given good chances to win it all. HCJC and San Angelo College have been seeded one-two in the title scramble. Both have drawn first round byes but neither team may be able to make it beyond the second round. All ten teams in the tournament see action the first day of the meet—Thursday. Here's the first day's schedule: Decatur Baptist College vs Schreiner, 11 a. m.; Panola vs Sayre, Okla., 1 p. m.; Wharton vs Clarendon, 3 p. m.; Amarillo vs Odessa, 5:30 p. m.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Jack Holley, who brought the Ringgold, La., basketball team here the other night, wants to end his seven-year coaching tenure in the Pelican State and move into West Texas or New Mexico. He was the first coach asked to lecture at the Louisiana coaches clinic. In a game against Hobbs, N.M., prior to coming here, Holley's team had 52 opportunities at the free throw line and made only 27 of them. Ringgold finally lost that one by ten points. Roosevelt Brown, one of the mainstays in the New York Giant line, was pick No. 27 in the 1953 NFL draft by the Giants. Dick Hayes, Snyder's fine running football back last season, wants to study veterinary medicine in college, which means he may wind up at Texas A&M. Officials in the Montreal-Toronto National Hockey League game banished so many players to the penalty box in a recent game they couldn't continue play. When Wisconsin was tapped for the Rose Bowl, coach Milt Bruhn was $1,500 the poorer. That would have been his fee to help coach the East in San Francisco's annual Shrine game. Wisconsin alumni may make up the money when Hugh Hutson, the local junior high school coach here, visited in Denton recently. Abner Haynes, the North Texas grid whiz, told him he dearly wanted to play with the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL. However, Haynes is destined to perform with the Dallas entry in the new pro circuit. Billy Cannon, LSU's great back, may yet defect to the new league. It's reported he's been offered $10,000 as a Christmas bonus and has a pledge from Houston's Bud Adams that Bud will help set up a $250,000 Health Club business in Cannon's name, if only he'll play for Houston. Some observers see the battle between the rival leagues lasting for two or three years, after which a merger will take place and membership in the one circuit expand to 16 teams.

Mangrum Back On Winning Trail

Bill Lillard, the champion bowler who gives an exhibition and offers instructions at Bobby Layne's Bowl-A-Rama here today, once had a 782 series and has four perfect (300) games to his credit. Incidentally, the Bowl-A-Rama is now the exclusive property of Layne and his brother-in-law, Dr. Tom Krueger. It formerly was a partnership deal, wherein four persons were involved. Layne also has interests in bowling centers at Midland, Laredo, Midland and Austin. Layne, who visited here the past week, had a great season with Pittsburgh, highlighted by successive wins he engineered over the New York Giants and Cleveland. Texan Lloyd Mangrum, the well-known pro golfer who isn't loved by some amateur masochists because he blasted the simon-pure for cluttering up the pro tournaments, finally won himself another tournament. He won a sudden death playoff from Jim Ferrier and John McMullin to finish first in the Southern California Open last week. David Boies, a well-known amateur at Brownwood a couple of years ago and now assistant pro at Rockaway Hunting Club in Long Island, was a leader in the early rounds of the California meet. Vernon Harton, the local high school basketball coach, spent Christmas Day with his family at his former home, Malakoff, while the HCJC mentor, Buddy Travis and family were in Amarillo. Ted Husing, the one-time sports announcer, resides in California but expresses only contempt for his present home. He's physically handicapped. He years to return to New York City. Husing says his greatest bowl thrill was the 1934 Columbia-Stanford Rose Bowl game while Joe DiMaggio was the greatest baseball player he ever saw. His nomination for the finest collegiate grinder of them all was Marchmont Schwartz, who performed for Notre Dame.

Brandt Acquired Sight Unseen

Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk scored eight points for SMU against Tulane and six against Georgia Tech in recent basketball games, both of which the Ponies won. It happened on a golf course in Scarborough, England, last year. A friend ruled that a golf ball which landed in the pants cuff of Peter Wilding must be played from there. Wilding took a mighty swing and carved a divot from his leg. Houston's Sam Houston won the Nacogdoches Basketball tournament in which Big Spring competed last week, beating Houston Milby in the finals, 50-46. Milby was the team which felled Big Spring in the first round. Paul Richards, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, took Jackie Brandt in a trade from the San Francisco Giants even though he'd never seen him play. He took the word of Baltimore scouts after "we found out Willie Tasby couldn't do the job in center field." Tasby will go to right while Gene Woodling will play alongside Brandt in left. C. R. Roberts, who accompanied the University of Southern California track and field team to the ABC Relays here several years ago, is due to contest Joe Perry for a job in the San Francisco 49er backfield next fall. B. S. (Junior) Hubbard, a meat packer and weight-lifting enthusiast here, has been asked to set up a weight-lifting program for Andrews High School athletes by Glenn Frazier, the coach there. Don Hutson, who scored 825 points in his 11-year NFL playing career for Green Bay, is now in the automobile business in Racine, Wisconsin, and doubles as president of the Northern Discount Company there. The performance chart of Bob Schloredt of the University of Washington, the AP's choice for first team All-America quarterback, was impressive but SMU's Don Meredith's was better. Meredith led the SWC in total offense, with net gains of 1,291 yards, in passing with 105 completions in 181 tries for 1,266 yards, had 11 aerials caught for touchdowns and led in kickoff returns with 119 yards gained in five tries. Schloredt netted 255 yards in 116 carries, completed 39 of 75 passes for 733 yards and five touchdowns, made 54 punts and punted 32 times for a 40 yard average. It's generally agreed Meredith was called upon to face the tougher opposition.

San Angelo meets the survivor in the Decatur-Schreiner game at 7:30 p. m. while HCJC takes on the winner of the Panola-Sayre contest at 9:30 p. m.

Behind HCJC and San Angelo, the teams were picked to finish in this order: 3. Wharton, 4. Amarillo, 5. Clarendon, 6. Odessa, 7. Panola, 8. Decatur, 9. Schreiner and 10. Sayre.

Clarendon has performed amazingly well since the season began, however, and actually could enter the meet as the choice to cop the crown.

The Bulldogs bowled over Hutchinson, Kansas, earlier this week, 91-95, and now have a 7-2 won-lost record.

Wharton is the defending champion, having shaded Amarillo in last year's finals, 74-55. The Pioneers have a new coach and a practically new team this year, however. Johnnie Frankie, who did coach the Pioneers, is now the varsity mentor at Rice Institute. He has been succeeded by Gene Bahnsen.

Amarillo, coached by Bob Carter, now boasts a 3-2 record. The Badgers knocked off Hutchinson, Kansas, earlier this week, 81-57. Panola and Schreiner are sure to field rugged quintets. Panola is coached by Arthur Johnson. The Mustangs recently beat Odessa College by one point in the recent Temple Tournament.

Schreiner, with a team built around Joe Durban, is rough on the boards and will field one of the tougher teams in the tournament. The Mountaineers recently lost by three points to HCJC in the finals of the San Antonio tournament.

Decatur and Sayre aren't given much chance in the tournament. However, Decatur has been very busy this season and does hold a couple of victories over Lon Morris, a perennial powerhouse in Texas junior college circles.

Sayre is of unknown strength but lost by 23 points recently to Clarendon. Odessa brings a 6-2 won-lost record here and one of those reversals was the one-pointer to Panola.

San Angelo, coached by Phil George, is rebuilding this year but is the same type team George has always fielded—a fast, rugged club.

HCJC has been defeated only once this year. That was a one-pointer at the hands of Navarro in the Temple Tournament.

The Hawks own victories over tournament entries Decatur, Schreiner, Wharton and San Angelo but most of the wins came in the local gym.

Here are past champions of the meet: 1952-53—HCJC; 1953-54—Lon Morris; 1954-55—HCJC; 1955-56—Odessa; 1956-57—San Angelo; 1957-58—Ark City, Kansas; 1958-59—Wharton.

Syracuse Team Ready: Coach

HOUSTON (AP)—"We're ready to play the game," Syracuse Football Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said Saturday. As Syracuse marked time for the Cotton Bowl battle against Texas at Dallas next Friday, Schwartzwalder still was concerned at minor but nagging ailments that slowed four key runners.

But the situation had brightened considerably with the sunshine that sent the mercury soaring into the 70s at the University of Houston training camp.

Sophomore Halfback Ernie Davis had some pain from muscle soreness in his upper left thigh, but he was able to run lightly in the morning and afternoon drills.

Swelling in Wingback Mark Weber's twisted right knee has lessened. Pete Brokaw, the second unit tailback, is expected to play against Texas despite a still-unhealed chipped bone in his right forearm.

A swollen big toe on Sophomore Fullback Johnny Nichol's right foot was giving Schwartzwalder the most worry.

Doctors aren't quite sure what is wrong. Nichol, from Cortland, N. Y., soaked the foot today, as he did last night. He was the only one of the four who missed the double drill.

Quarterbacks Dave Sarette and Dick Easterly whipped the squad through passing formations in the morning session. Schwartzwalder concentrated on running plays in the afternoon.

Gaines Davis Today

In a job he has learned to love, Gaines Davis is shown as he gives a permanent wave to a customer and talks with his wife, Edith, also a beautician, at their shop in Lamesa. The couple have fashioned many prize-winning hair styles for competition in recent years.

In The Early Days

Shown above is Gaines Davis as he looked when outfitted in the grid uniform of the Texas Tech Red Raiders of the 1930s. He was graduated from Tech in 1935 and went from there to pro football and the New York Giants.

Son Is Artistic

Rodney Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Davis, at the age of 13 shows outstanding artistic talent with his free-hand drawings. He is shown with Dawson County Sheriff Henry Mayfield and the painting of an early day sheriff which he presented Mayfield. The painting hangs in the sheriff's office, and has drawn favorable comment from peace officers over the state as well as from others who have seen it.

Walker To Enter The Hall O' Fame

DALLAS (AP)—Doak Walker, the little man who brought SMU football its greatest glory, will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame Thursday.

Walker, three times All-America member of two SMU Southwest Conference championship teams, later was a star in pro football.

John Kimbrough, twice All-America at Texas A&M will do the honors Kimbrough already is in the Texas Hall of Fame.

Two others will be enshrined in the Hall at the luncheon, D. X. Bible, former Texas A&M Nebraska and Texas football coach who won many championships, and Paul Richards, Baltimore baseball manager, the other two.

Bible will receive his award from Joel Hunt, a star under Bible at A&M. Richards will receive his plaque from Fred Wolcott, former Rice track star, who was inducted into the Hall last year.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—British Open Champion Gary Player of South Africa finally won a match from former U.S. Open king Tommy Bolt in their pro golf challenge series Saturday.

Player, who lost the first three of the five-match series, scored a 7 and 6 victory at the Bernoni Country Club. Player was nine under par for the 30 holes played.

Rugged Gridder Is Now An Expert Hair Dresser

By VIVIAN LEE
LAMESA — From a "burns" job to an unprecedented enrollment in a hairdressing school is quite a career summary — especially if you're a bruising 246-pounder who earned a "dirty player" reputation on the gridiron.

But the gridiron to curling iron transition brought satisfaction to Gaines Davis and his family, and that's a paramount factor in any endeavor. In fact, a road to choose any career he wishes is open for Davis' son, Rodney, now a student in Lamesa Junior High School. This father believes his son should do "just what he wants to do" because of the enjoyment he has received through that medium.

Gaines and his wife, Edith, operate a beauty salon in Lamesa now — but it wasn't too many years ago that the burly gridder started on a brief but illustrious career in football and wound up as an expert ladies' hairdresser.

Born in Abilene on March 18, 1914, Gaines began his football career with the perennially powerful Abilene Eagles; went to Texas Tech and played 450 minutes of football while a sophomore but feared he wouldn't get a letter; then went on to the New York Giants where he was a stalwart in the line as a bludge.

It was at Abilene that Davis kicked what is probably the longest high school field goal recorded. It happened while the Eagles were racing to a state championship.

Sweetwater, one of the top clubs in the state, was the foe when Davis was called from the field to go down and kick a field goal fourth down and the game decided 7-7. He had practiced kicking, but had never attempted a shot in a game. The ball was on the goal line. By making that field goal he earned the right to do all the kicking for the Abileneans that year. Booting the pigskin through the uprights stopped the Sweetwater Mustangs, who were spearheaded by the fabulous Sling-in' Sammy Baugh.

Davis was graduated from Tech in 1935, but not before he met and married Edith. The pair have two children, Rodney, 13, and Dell, 20, who is married and lives in Lamesa.

Going to the New York Giants in 1936 when jobs were scarce, Davis recalls that folks considered the pros a "bunch of bums" in those days. His pro career was short by choice. After two years with New York, he left the team when he was making $250 a week because he "didn't like to live in a hotel and wanted to settle down."

NM Aggies Return To Drills Monday

UNIVERSITY PARK, N. M. (SC)—Warren B. Woodson, when asked how his Aggie football players looked on their final day of practice before the Christmas holidays, stated merely, "All right."

The 37-man unit disbanded Tuesday and will return to the practice field Monday, Dec. 28. New Mexico State meets North Texas State in the Sun-Bowl at El Paso, Dec. 31.

Tuesday saw a spirited workout by the Aggie gridder. Once again a scrimmage session was held with the first unit butting heads with the second team.

"Most of the boys took their shoes with them when they left," Woodson said, and plan to do some running between now and Monday. If we don't become stale due to the Christmas lay-off we should be all right."

The Aggie head coach said the Sun Bowl tilt has afforded the Aggie coaching staff a chance to work with many of the players individually.

"These practice sessions not only help us get ready for the Sun Bowl, but they will help us next fall. We've put in a lot of good work."

Most of the athletes left late Tuesday afternoon for their homes.

However, the players from Pennsylvania and three from California are staying on campus.

Woodson will have but three short practices between Monday and the bowl tilt Thursday. However, the Aggies opponent, North Texas State, is faced with the same problem.

Practices this week featured the running of Pervis Atkins and Bob Galters and the passing of Charley Johnson, Billy Ray Locklin, J. W. Witt, E. A. Sims, Lou Jankovich, Jim Campbell and Bob Langford were standouts in the line.

Taylor Postpones Fight To Feb. 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Promoter Herman Taylor announced Saturday the Jan. 25 fight between Philadelphia's Len Matthews and Johnny Busso of New York has been postponed until Feb. 1. The promoter said the non-television bout would not conflict with the annual Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn. dinner scheduled Jan. 25.

Arnette Notes His Birthday With 21 Pts.

AUSTIN (SC)—It probably has occurred to a lot of youngsters that it would be a thrill to stand off and snuff out each of his birthday candles with a newly-acquired gun.

Jay Arnette, the sharpshooting University of Texas basketball senior, has enjoyed that thrill figuratively on each of his last two birthdays. He celebrated number 21 less than a week ago by firing one shot for each of his years.

As the Longhorns trimmed Tulsa, 67-57, with a fantastic shooting percentage of 69.4, Arnette was the foremost marksman with his 21 shots. He sank 9 of 10 field goals and 10 of 11 free throws for a point total of 28. His percentage for the 21 shots was an incredible 90.5.

Observing birthday anniversaries in a deplorable manner is old hat to a comparable Jay. A year ago he counted 29 points as he led the Longhorns to a 76-54 conquest of North Texas State, but he was only a minor threat and needed 28 shots to get his 29 points. Of course, even that shooting percentage would be the envy of most collegiate basketballers.

But even Arnette's remarkable sniping isn't tops among the Longhorns. A collection of marksmen who are leading the nation in accuracy. In posting five victories in six starts, Coach Harold Bradley's talented troupe has sunk 185 of 339 shots from the field for a 54.6 percentage.

The master shooter at this stage is Brenton Hughes, the only other senior on the squad. He has made 29 of 42 attempts from the field for a 69.0 percentage. That makes him No. 1 in the nation.

Arnette, who shoots twice as often, has 64 (62.8) and 47 (58 free throws .810). This gives him a full-season aggregate of 155 and a game average of 25.8, the best owned by any Texas player since Raymond Downes rewrote the record book four seasons ago. Arnette ranks fourth in the nation in field goal percentage and eighth in scoring.

With all of his sparkling credentials, Arnette is a bit concerned that he might be tabbed a "gunner." Right now he insists he is far more interested in team success than he is individual accomplishments.

"We've got speed and we've got shooting, but the greatest asset this ball club has right now is its attitude," Arnette said when he learned about the high rankings nationally. "Everybody wants to win and is prepared to make sacrifices to do so."

For a team that won only four of 24 starts last season, the Longhorns were a bit short on confidence. Coach Bradley knew he had a task of stimulating a winning philosophy and that had to come from restoring their confidence.

The new mentor, who became one of the nation's most successful coaches in his nine-season tenure at Duke, knew also that vast improvement was needed on defense. He saw enough in opening practices to know that his players could shoot and that they could run.

"We're more defensively minded than we've ever been," said Arnette. "Coach Bradley has made all of us aware of how important defense is to winning. You know, we scored 90 points and hit 61 per cent of our shots against OCU and still got beat. Things like that strengthen your appreciation for defense."

And when that defense is strengthened a lot of rivals may find it difficult to beat the sharpshooting Longhorns to the draw.

Housh Is Speaker At Sports Seminar

AUSTIN (AP)—Leighton Housh, Des Moines Register and Tribune executive sports editor, will be the keynote speaker here Jan. 10-13 for the Texas Daily Newspaper Assn. seminar.

Walter Humphrey, Fort Worth Press editor and TDNA seminar committee chairman, said several college sports writers will be invited to join representatives of about 20 Texas dailies in the discussions.

From Petrolia also leads in free throw accuracy hitting 32 of 36 attempts for a sizzling .889 figure.

The only senior on the squad, forward Gene (Scamp) Denman, has bucketed 44 of 96 attempts from the field for the best field percentage of .458.

Last year's leading scorer, 6-5 forward Robert McLeod of Merkel, ranks second in scoring with 135 points and a 15.0 average but is the top rebounder with 102 for an 11.3 mark. He has opened every game though he only finished football with ACC four days before the court season opened.

The Wildcats have fallen below their field last year as they have hit only .388 per cent of their shots. However, from the free throw line they have a fine accuracy percentage of .743.

Kaline Judged No. 1 Slugger

BOSTON (AP)—Al Kaline of Detroit, runner-up in the batting race, beat out home run hitters Mickey Mantle, Harmon Killebrew and Rocky Colavito to win the American League slugging championship, the official 1959 statistics revealed today.

Kaline had 271 total bases in 511 times at bat for a slugging mark of .530. Washington's Killebrew was next with .516 followed by the Yanks' Mantle, .514, and Cleveland's Colavito, .512. Killebrew and Colavito shared the home run crown with 42, Mantle hit 31 and Kaline 27.

Kaline, who batted .327 to finish only behind champion Harvey Kuenen of the Tigers, had 167 hits which also included 19 doubles and 2 triples. Slugging averages are computed by dividing the number of total bases by the total official at bats.

Kaline also drew the most intentional walks, 12. However, teammate Eddie Yost led in total bases on balls with 135. Only one of Yost's passes was intentional. Mantle struck out 126 times to lead in that department.

Minnie Minoso of Cleveland was hit by pitched balls 17 times and was the top target for the eighth time.

The Indians had the highest club slugging percentage, .408 and left the least number of men on base, 95. Detroit led the most on the sacks, 1,161.

Blue Gridders Decision Gray

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A hard-hitting squad of Northern all-stars that performed equally well on the ground and in the air hammered their way to a 20-8 victory over their Dixie rivals in the Blue-Gray football game Saturday.

It gave the Yankees their second triumph in a row, an achievement never before accomplished by the Northerners in the 21-game inter-sectional series. A crowd of 20,000 sat through the game in 60-degree weather under cloudy skies.

The Blue attack was engineered chiefly by quarterback Ross Fichtner of Purdue and Jack Lee of Cincinnati, who handled the passing chores, and Jim Joyce of Maryland, a pile-driving workhorse who ripped through the Gray line time and again.

The Northerners scored twice on short line plunges from the 3 and once on a pass. The Rebels' touchdown came, too, on a pass. Iowa State quarterback Dwight Nichols put the Blues out in front early in the second period with a 21-yard scoring pass to Doug Asad of Northwestern in the end zone. Lee kicked the first of two extra points.

Joyce made it a two-touchdown lead later in the period by driving over from the 3 to climax a 77-yard drive.

Leonard Wilson, Purdue half-back, scored a 21-yard Yankee touchdown as he dashed across from the 3 in the third quarter.

Vanderbilt's Tom Moore grabbed a 23-yard touchdown pass from Harvey White of Clemson later in the third quarter for the Rebels' only score, then took a pass from quarterback Charlie Miltstead of Texas A & M for a two-point conversion.

Sugar Bowl Carnival Set To Get Under Way Today

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl sports carnival—one of the graybeards among holiday extravaganzas gets off to a rousing start on the tennis courts Sunday, but everything points to the New Year's Day football showdown between Louisiana State and Mississippi.

The tennis racket dies Tuesday. The four-team basketball tournament then takes over with track Wednesday the final offering before the New Year's day treat.

But the real offering is Friday's battle between LSU and Ole Miss. For the first time in its 26-year history, the Sugar Bowl scheduled a rematch, and if this game is anything like the first, it figures to be a dandy.

LSU brushed past the Rebels 7-3 last October on Billy Cannon's 89-yard touchdown run that was voted college football's most spectacular play of the 1959 season.

But despite the October triumph, oddsmakers have installed the Mississippians a touchdown favorite, chiefly because they finished the season strong. Mississippi ended up as the nation's No. 2 club with only one loss.

The game will be broadcast and televised nationally by NBC at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The LSU loss to blot an otherwise perfect 10-game record. LSU lost only to Tennessee in its 10 outings and was the No. 3 team in the final Associated Press rankings.

In basketball, defending champion Mississippi State goes against Western Kentucky, Virginia Tech and Tulane.

Tom Brown Jr. of San Francisco will be after his fourth Sugar Bowl tennis title in the singles while Gardner Mulloy of Denver, Colo., will try for his seventh doubles crown.

The high spot of the track meet will be the 100-meter dash, pitting Dave Sime of Duke against Eddie Southern of Texas, Dave Woodhouse of Abilene, Christian and Dave Styron of Northeast Louisiana State. All have been clocked in 9.5 or better for the 100-yard dash.

Wildcats Seek 2nd Victory Against Taylor On Tuesday

ABILENE (SC)—Abilene Christian College will hold the basketball until Dec. 29 when the Wildcats face Taylor University of Upland, Ind. in Abilene.

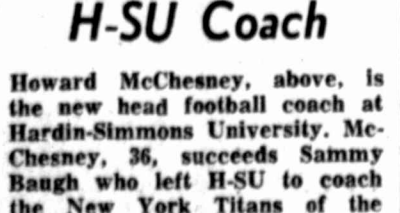

After dropping five of their first six games, Coach Dee Nutt's cagers bounced back to end pre-holiday action with a 4-5 mark and the championship of their own ACC Invitational Tournament.

They returned to Abilene for drills Saturday.

ACC fell before the accurate firing squads of St. Louis, Bradley, Marquette and Wichita in their first four games before belting West Texas State for a win on their opening road trip.

Likewise, at home the Wildcats dropped their initial game to East Texas State, 54-49, but came back to defeat David Lipscomb, 84-74; Wayland, 72-63; and McMurry, 76-64. The latter two games were in the 1st ACC Invitation tourney which pitted the Wildcats against cross-town rival McMurry in the finals.

After nine games, 6-4 guard Mike Allen paced the Wildcat scoring attack with 146 points and a 16.2 game average. The junior ace

H-SU Coach

Howard McChesney, above, is the new head football coach at Hardin-Simmons University. McChesney, 36, succeeds Sammy Baugh who left H-SU to coach the New York Titans of the American Football League. The new Cowboy mentor graduated from Hardin-Simmons in 1959 after lettering four years each in football and baseball. He served as an assistant coach at Winters High School four years, was an aide at Sul Ross one year, and has been on the H-SU coaching staff for four years.

December Bridal Couples Of Yesteryear

I WORE THIS WATCH AT MY WEDDING says Mrs. S. D. Vinson as she holds the 52-year-old instrument up to show her husband. Addie Bozeman and Sam Vinson were childhood friends. After going through a period of childish dislike, the couple discovered each other "right in their own backyards." They were married 51 years ago on Dec. 6, 1908 in the Bozeman home in Travis, a community in Falls County. To this union five sons were born, and now the couple have five granddaughters.

PINTO AND CHINO, left and right, respectively, in picture above, keep a weather eye on the photographer as he snaps a picture of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Walker, 1607 East 17th. The couple will celebrate their 56th anniversary on Monday. Mrs. Walker is the former Georgie May Patton. Walker, who arrived in Big Spring in 1897, went to a location close to San Angelo, where the Pattons had gone pecan-hunting, to bring his sweetheart back to town. On the journey home, they stopped in Sterling City and were married. The couple has three daughters and seven sons. Since his retirement 10 years ago, the Walkers have lived in Big Spring.

CHRISTMAS DAY marked the 64th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Thomas, 508 NW 10th, at left. They lived in Tennessee at the time, and she is the former Ella Bryan. An elopement began the long married life together. Moving to Texas in 1905, the Thomases settled south of Baird. In 1913, they moved to Big Spring. There are eight children in the family, with 21 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

CHILDHOOD SWEET-HEARTS might well be the title of the John Hodges' romance. John Hodges and Tella Huckabee, at left, first met when they were 12 years old. They were married in the Huckabee home at Caradan Dec. 22, 1907. Here they hold a picture taken in 1957 on their fiftieth wedding anniversary; included in it are their three children and their wives and husband. Descendants of the Hodges include eight grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

THE STORY OF THEIR 50TH ANNIVERSARY, as told in The Herald in 1952, is reviewed by Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tubbs at their home, 405 Donley. The couple was married in Arkansas on Dec. 10, 1902 and have lived in Big Spring for 33 years. Tubbs chuckled as he recalled the move "out West". All the children — there are 10 of them now — were anxiously awaiting their first sight of a cowboy. Mrs. Tubbs is the former Linnie Grifford. Tubbs retired five years ago.

MRS. CARIKER ROY WRIGHT

Glenda Denton Is Bride Of Cariker Roy Wright

Christmas Day was chosen for the marriage of Glenda Lee Denton and Cariker Roy Wright. The couple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Denton, Route 1, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Wright, Route 1, were united in marriage at 5 p.m. in the Coahoma Church of Christ. Minister W. O. Batten performed the double ring rite.

Baskets of white gladioli and candelabras stood at the sides of a green fern-covered archway. An emerald green fern stood beneath. The church chorus sang "O Promise Me and I Love You Truly for the bride, who was given in marriage by her father.

The floor-length princess-styled white satin dress worn by Mrs. Wright had a V-neckline in front and back. Appliques of Venice lace and seed pearls enhanced the front panel of the dress and the neckline. The long fitted sleeves came to a point over the bride's hands.

Mrs. Wright's bridal veil, something borrowed from Mrs. Weldon Rainey, consisted of a scalloped tiara covered with seed pearls and a veil of illusion bordered with lace.

For something blue the bride wore two garters. One had been worn by a group of school friends in their weddings, and the other was a gift of Mrs. T. E. Stringfellow.

A pair of gold earrings that belonged to the bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. W. S. Miller, were something borrowed. They are 68 years old.

In her shoes Mrs. Wright carried two pennies bearing the year of the couple's birthdates.

A purple orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley and satin streamers carried atop a white Bible formed the bridal bouquet.

Red velvet pencil-slim dresses were worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Johnson B. Hall, and bridesmaid, Mrs. Wayne Wallace. The dresses had high round necklines and bracelet-length sleeves. The attendants wore red velvet.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Bluford Turner, 621 Caylor Dr. are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Joyce Turner, to William Kent Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady C. Beck, 408 Austin. The wedding is to take place on January 1 at 6 p. m. at the Turner home. Bro. Jack Powers is to officiate.

bandeaus with tulle face veils. Red poinsettias were carried in a cascade arrangement. Serving as best man was Lonnie Anderson of Coahoma. Elwood Bennett, uncle of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. Ushers were Larry Turner, cousin of the bride from Odessa, and Monty Davis.

Brothers of the bride and bridegroom, Terry Denton and Wesley Wright, were candle lighters.

RECEPTION
In the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, their parents and the attendants formed a receiving line to greet guests.

The attendants' bouquets formed the centerpiece of a table that held a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Annette Porter of San Angelo was in charge of the guest register.

Making Marmalade?

Use the jelly test when you are making orange marmalade: Dip a metal spoon into the mixture, then hold it sideways and see if two drops form on its edge and drop off at the same time. For very thick or stiff marmalade, cook until the drops run together as they fall off.

Newcomers Nice To Have Around

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor Dozens of new products were in the 1959 food parade. Of those we tested, here are the ones we hope will march on. 1. Peeled and sliced potatoes come in an 8-ounce package. We found them convenient and deli- cious when prepared "scaloped" fashion. 2. Why didn't someone think of this before? Dates now come chopped in a 7 1/2-ounce package yield- ing 1 1/3 cups. They saves us time in fruitcake - making and should be convenient to use in recipes for other cakes, cookies, quick breads and puddings calling for chopped dates. 3. It's now possible to buy a ready-to-serve all-butter cake fla- vored with fresh orange as well as one flavored with banana. Both come frosted in aluminum foil pans and are superior eating. 4. New and welcome for snack- ing are narrow roly-poly crackers with tapered ends, each only a cou- ple of inches long. Snacking of caraway seeds and the tang of salt, they make a pleasant change from the usual assortment of munches at nibble-time. HOT KETCHUP 5. Tomato ketchup comes in a "hot" variety—perfect to add to a seafood cocktail sauce or mayon- naise but not too hot to savor "as is." 6. A new canned soup, tomato- onion, is a good base to which to add family-kitchen innovations. 7. Corn-oil margarine, packaged in the same way as regular mar- garine, may be used as a table fat as well as in baking and cook- ing. 8. Convenient and excellent in- stant onion was introduced some years ago. Now a company has had the wit to offer instant toast- ed onion: it comes in small glass jars and is capable of adding sau- tered onion flavor to innumerable dishes. 9. Like real Italian food? A superb white clam sauce comes in a 10 1/4-ounce can ready to heat and serve with pasta. 10. Spaghetti twists, in a 15 1/2-ounce can, are more on the agree- able al dente side than such prod- ucts have been up to now. The twists are ready to heat and eat in a splendid meatless marinara sauce made chiefly of tomatoes, tomato paste, olive oil and sea- sonings. KITCHEN AIDS 11. Converts to electric can open- ers get a bonus in one compact portable model that boasts a clock and timer. Numerals on the clock are bold and the timer helps to cook food with precision. Retrac- table legs, concealed under the opener's base, can be used to open extra tall cans of food. 12. Handy freezer tape now comes packaged with a cutting edge. When used on glass refriger- ator jars we found pencil labeling could be erased so the tape could be re-used, and that it stands up under washing. Plan Shish Kebab? Planning to serve your family shish kebab? Usually onion and green pepper wedges are inserted on skewers along with the mari- nated lamb. Try adding cubes of eggplant, too. Brush all vegetables with oil before broiling.

Father Is Up In Air When Girl Is Born

You often hear stories telling of fathers-to-be that are "up in the air" when their wife is about to have a baby, but John Kubin was really up in the air when his daughter, Tammy Felice, arrived.

"I was flying over the hospital about the time Tammy was born," says the young second lieutenant. At that time John and Faye were stationed in Malden, Mo.

Stanley, a 15-month-old all-boy, was born while John was a student at Texas A&M. Both Faye and John are native Texans, coming from Bayton and Crosby respectively. Stan was born in Faye's hometown of Baytown.

The Kubins first met while in grade school. They started going together while in high school. After graduation Faye began working for the Citizens National Bank in her home town, and he went to Texas A&M.

In college John majored in mechanical drawing. After his graduation in 1958 he was employed by a Bryan contractor until he entered the Air Force.

Flying is Kubin's first enthusiasm, with all kinds of sports running a close second. Mrs. Kubin enjoys sewing, and the clever seamstress makes most of her own clothing. She sees great prospects in this line in the future for fast-growing Tammy.

In Making Crumbs

To make fine bread crumbs in the electric blender, crumb just one slice of bread at a time; blend on high until finely crumbled and then, empty the glass container into a measuring cup; continue the process until you have the needed amount of crumbs.

Better Fruit Cakes

You have probably discovered that storing fruit cakes definitely improves their flavor; refrigerate them and they will slice without crumbling if they are cut when they are cold.

MRS. ORDIS PHILLIP JONES

Miss Henderson Weds Ordis Jones At Lamesa

LAMESA — In a twilight ceremony at six o'clock Saturday evening in the chapel of First Baptist Church, Geraldine (Geri) Henderson became the bride of Ordis Phillip Jones. The Rev. Milo B. Arbuttle, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman for the double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Earl F. Henderson who gave her in marriage, and the late Mr. Henderson. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jones of Star Route 2. Both are graduates of Lamesa High School, and the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls.

The prie dieu at the altar of the chapel was flanked by wedding tapers in pedestaled candle-labra and baskets of white carnations and red poinsettias.

The wedding music was presented by Mrs. W. J. Beckham, organist, and Sue Vaughn, soloist. Mrs. Jones' gown was fashioned of white Chantilly lace and taffeta with portrait neckline and long tapering sleeves. From the Empire waistline stemmed the princess line skirt with front panels of lace applique and the wide panel of lace in back was pleated from the hipline to form a chapel sweep. A crown headpiece held her shoulder length veil and she carried a cascade of carnations with showers of feathered carnations caught in satin streamers.

The bride's attendants were Alma Ann Agee, maid of honor, and Jane Jones, of Ruidoso, N. M., bridesmaid. They wore nylon organdy dresses over taffeta in shirtwaist lines, and carried white fur muffis with a red poinsettia attached.

Best man was Jimmy Sol Cleveland. The usher was Connie Martin of Austin and Donna Henderson of Post, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Assisting at the reception in the church parlor were Karen Campbell, Laura Payton, Sunny Palmer, Charlotte Hilley and Mrs. Billy Addison of Mountainair, N. M.

When the newlyweds left for their wedding trip the bride was wearing a tailored dress and matching jacket of russet wool flannel with winter white accessories.

The couple plans to establish residence in Salina, Kans. about Jan. 10.

Wedding guests were registered from Midland, Corpus Christi, Big Spring and Dallas, and Ruidoso and Mountainair, N. M.

Cooking Bacon?

Frying bacon? Place the strips as they come from the package (and the refrigerator) in a cold pan; do not try to separate. As bacon warms over moderately low heat, it will be easy to place strips apart. Turn the bacon several times, so it will cook evenly; it will be crisp in six to eight minutes.

It's The Speed Age

His father might be a pilot, but you can't kid 15-month-old Stanley Kubin—an automobile is still the best transportation in this modern time. His legs are a little too short to reach the "gas" pedals, but his father, John Kubin, has a lot of pushing energy. Sister Tammy Felice doesn't seem to be very interested in this mechanical marvel as she sits on her mother's lap. Mrs. John Kubin holds the three-month-old baby.

Griddle Cakes Are For Today's Table

Old-fashioned griddle cakes are just as popular with the taste buds today as they were in grandmothers' day, but many homemakers don't know how to make them. Here is a recipe for the delicious breakfast main-stay that your family will enjoy.

GRIDDLE PUFF CAKES
 1 1/2 cups flour (sift before measuring)
 1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
 1 tsp. baking soda
 1/4 tsp. salt

2 tbsps. sugar
 3 eggs (separated)
 1 2/3 cups buttermilk
 3 tbsps. butter or margarine (melted)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until stiff. Without washing beater, beat egg yolks until thick and pale yellow; beat in buttermilk, then melted butter. Beat in sifted dry ingredients just until moistened; don't worry if there are a few lumps. Fold in beaten egg whites. Use about 1/4 cup batter for each griddle cake. Bake on heavy griddle (prepared according to manufacturer's directions) until well browned and partly dry on top; turn and brown other side of pancake. Adjust heat to make sure pancakes are cooked through. Serve at once. Makes about 16 large griddle cakes.

These griddle cakes may be cooked at the table in an ungreased electric skillet.

Kitchen Reminder
 When you are preparing garlic bread, you'll find that one or two cloves of garlic (crushed) will be plenty to add to a quarter pound (one-half cup) of butter or margarine.

Coffee Cakes Can Add To Holiday Goodness

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Coffee cakes, made with yeast and butter, were once the pride of American cooks. Once again they've been finding their way to our tables because in the last few years they've been widely available from bakers. This holiday season why not bake two all-butter coffee cakes (from a basic sweet dough) in your own kitchen?

BASIC SWEET DOUGH
1 pkg. active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup scalded milk (cooled to warm)
2 eggs (slightly beaten)
4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup (1/4 pound) butter (melted)

In a large bowl, sprinkle yeast over water, stir to dissolve. Add sugar, salt, milk and eggs; mix well. Add 2 1/2 cups flour and beat until bubbles form on surface about 2 minutes. Add butter and enough remaining flour to form dough into a ball. Drop on lightly-floured board an knead 10 to 15 times or until smooth. Place in lightly buttered bowl (about 4 quarts); brush top of dough with melted butter; cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk (about 2 hours). Punch dough down; divide in half; use half for Almond Orange Rolls and half for Stollen Ring.

Almond Orange Rolls: On a lightly-floured board roll out 1/2 recipe for Basic Sweet Dough into a 10 by 14-inch rectangle; spread with 1/2 tablespoon soft butter. Mix together 3/4 cup each white sugar and light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, and 1 tablespoon grated orange rind; sprinkle over dough. Roll dough up lengthwise like a jelly roll; cut quickly into 8 rolls; set aside. Sauté 1-3 cup sliced blanched almonds and 1/2 teaspoon salt in 2 tablespoons butter until lightly brown. Add 1/2 cup each white sugar and light brown sugar and 1/2 cup corn syrup; bring to a boil; pour into a 5/8-cup ring mold. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon grated orange rind over syrup; place rolls in pan, cut side facing out.

Let rise until double in size. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 22 to 25 minutes. Turn out of pan while still warm onto serving plate.

Stollen Ring: On a lightly floured board, roll 1/2 recipe of Basic Sweet Dough into a 7 by 11-inch rectangle; spread with 1/2 tablespoon soft butter. Mix 3 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and a generous 1/4 teaspoon cardamom; sprinkle over dough along with 3 tablespoons chopped blanched almonds, 2 tablespoons golden raisins, 3 tablespoons currants, 3 tablespoons diced citron and 2 tablespoons candied cherries. Cut a 2-inch strip from the shorter side of the rectangle; roll up like a jelly roll into a thin strip. Roll the large rectangle like a jelly roll into a long strip. Place the large roll around the tube of a 9-inch angelfood pan, sealing ends well. On top of it, place small roll in a spiral fashion, sealing ends well. Let rise until double in bulk. Brush with a little beaten egg. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes. While still warm, frost with 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar moistened with a little milk and flavored with vanilla.

Mix Blends With Berries

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We have just tried a new way of using a cake mix, with good results. Less liquid than is regularly called for was added to the mix, then the batter was stewed with canned drained blueberries and a crumb topping (streusel) before being baked. The blueberry kuchen that resulted was served warm, with butter passed for those who are not weight-watching.

The cake mix we used is a spanking new one designed to fit one 8- or 9-inch square or round cake pan, one 6 by 10 or 7 by 11 inch pan, as well as a number of other baking pans and dishes. The mix comes in four flavors — white, chocolate, yellow and marble. The white and yellow varieties are particularly good for upsidedown cakes — not only because of their texture but because the amount of cake they yield balances the amount of fruit usually used.

We used the white cake mix for our blueberry kuchen in the recipe is the sort often found on bakery products. We note this because several readers have asked us for this particular streusel.

QUICK BLUEBERRY KUCHEN
2 tbsps. sugar
1/4 cup flour
2 tbsps. cold hard butter or margarine
1 egg
Water
1 loaf-size pkg. (10 ounces) white cake mix
2-3 cup well-drained canned blueberries

Butter the bottom of a square cake pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches); lightly flour the bottom. Stir sugar and flour together in a small bowl; add the hard butter and cut in with a pastry blender just until fine crumbs are formed; reserve. Break egg into a glass measuring cup; add enough water to come up to the 1/2 cup mark. Add egg-water to cake mix; stir until blended. Beat with medium speed of electric mixer for 4 minutes; or beat with spoon for 4 minutes — 150 vigorous strokes equals 1 minute. Turn into prepared baking pan. Sprinkle blueberries over batter; then sprinkle over reserved crumb mixture.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once, cutting squares in pan and lifting out with a spatula. Or reheat in a hot oven at serving time.

Note: The berries drained from an 8 1/2-ounce can will yield the amount needed for this recipe; or use 2-3 cup of the well-drained berries from a larger can.

Leftover Turkey? Make It Into Delectable Loaf

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Any moment now you'll be wondering in what shape and form to offer your family the leftover holiday bird.

Does that church-supper favorite, Turkey Loaf, appeal to you? If so, you might like to consider this recipe for such a loaf, calling for two cups of cooked turkey meat; creamed frozen fresh peas are teamed with it as a vegetable sauce. Put the loaf into the oven three-quarters of an hour before you want to serve it, get the peas ready to reheat, then sit down and enjoy a relaxed before-dinner time with your family or guests.

Because this loaf is on the soft fluffy side, a crisp green salad is a perfect accompaniment. For a bread, choose a French or Italian loaf that is hard and crusty rather than soft rolls or biscuit. If your family likes turkey, crusty loaves made into garlic bread, you'll find this flavor will go well with the turkey loaf and green peas.

TURKEY LOAF
2 cups finely diced cooked turkey meat
1 1/2 cups crumbled crackers (unsalted tops)
2 tbsps. minced onion
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. celery salt
3 tbsps. diced pimiento
3 tbsps. butter or margarine (melted)
2 eggs
1/2 cup turkey broth or milk
Creamed Green Peas.

Mix the turkey, cracker crumbs, onion, salt, pepper, celery salt, pimiento and melted butter. Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add broth. Stir lightly into turkey mixture until crumbs are absorbed. Spoon into greased loaf pan (about 4 by 4 by 3 inches) or a greased 5-cup shallow casserole. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees)

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Potpourri Of Advice From Entertainers

HOLLYWOOD — As this year ends and we ring in a new decade, we look back on 1959 and all the famous people we have met and the interesting and informative things they have told us. Dipping into our well of memory we recall:

One of Hollywood's most relaxed actors, Gary Cooper, who said "I learned the hard way. I started pictures in the silent days and I took every job that came my way. Often I worked 18 hours steady. I got myself into such a run-down condition that I weighed only 148 pounds. And I'm six-foot-two! It was then I got the reputation of being so relaxed; actually I was tired.

So I went to a doctor. He scared me so badly that I took time off and went to South Africa for six months and sat around on the farm of a friend of mine. I did a lot of resting, eating, sleeping and thinking. When I got back, I told my agent that I would do only two pictures a year. Now, I really am relaxed and I don't have a battle with everyday tensions.

"If I do come home bound in knots, which can happen once in a while, I resort to a yoga exercise. I lie on a hard surface and stretch my arms above my head and my legs back over my head and close my eyes. I make my body as stiff as I can, hold this position and my breath as long as I can. I relax suddenly and breathe deeply and repeat this a few times."

Madame Glamour herself, Marlene Dietrich commented on how to attract the opposite sex. "A girl should never try too hard," she said in her wonderfully deep voice. "If the boys at school don't like her, she shouldn't place too much importance on this, because often young boys have very bad taste. Men don't like affectation, artificiality or an overtalkative woman. If you don't enjoy listening to him, he isn't the right man."

Natalie Wood discussed this same subject. "Not talking enough is better than chattering about yourself or nothing in particular. Boys don't like exaggeration in make-up or manners. Phoniness is sudden death; so is challenging a boy. If you can do something better than he can, don't let him know it."

Before Lauren Bacall left Hollywood, she reminisced about herself. "I used to have a kind of competitive thing with men, but I can assure you it's a quality they don't appreciate. A man forgives a woman almost anything but trying to outdo him. I used to feel that women should run the world, but I've changed. I feel any woman who is too sure of herself is a bore."

Cecil Beaton, who has been the friend and photographer of some of the world's most celebrated and beautiful women, expresses a man's point of view.

"Charm is inconceivable with affectation or artificiality. Efficiency in a woman gets in the way of her popularity with men. The American girl is intelligent and does many things well, but she should remember to reserve this intelligence for certain occasions or she will become unfeminine."

Rosalind Russell is a girl with a mind of her own and she learned through experience the dangers of being too outspoken.

"I once had an argument with a director and when he left the producer told me, 'Your point was well made and you were right but the director didn't want to hear it. And your argument cost you the role.' If you want to work on femininity cultivate the art of listening. When you give a man your undivided attention, he is sure to find you charming and want to see you more often."

Margaret Leighton, that wonderful English actress, feels that American women would not be accused of being too aggressive if the American man would be more dominant. "I feel that a woman secretly likes the man to have the authority and looks up to him for asserting it."

Claire Bloom feels her career was influenced enormously by the advice: "Never be satisfied with anything second-rate." This made her turn down a lead in a cheap play for a walk-on with a fine company. "I was criticized for this," said Claire, "but it turned out to be a wise decision. Never pay too much attention to what people say about you because their opinions may influence you the wrong way."

Knows A Secret

Gary Cooper has learned the secret of relaxation and the importance of caring for his health. Here he is shown with Hollywood Beauty columnist Lydia Lane in an exclusive interview.

Academy Award winner Joanne

Woodward had some lean years before she came to Hollywood. She feels one of the most dangerous pitfalls to failure is allowing yourself to become discouraged. Joanne said: "I have been helped over many a rough spot by reminding myself — this too shall pass."

College Youth Night At Lamesa Baptist

LAMESA — College youth of the First Baptist Church home for the Christmas holidays will present the Sunday evening service of worship at the church, it is announced.

The various students who will speak will present the spiritual aspects of their campus life, tell of the work of the home church, the college church and the influence of the Baptist Student Union on the campus.

The program will be under the guidance of the youth committee of the church headed by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cleveland, co-chairmen.

Versatile Parsley

When you buy a bunch of parsley there are lots of ways to use it. Add it, minced to egg-salad or tuna sandwiches that are to go into the lunch box; to potato or chicken salad; to cottage cheese to be served with a fruit salad; to a cream-cheese and clam mixture that is to be used as a spread for crackers.

Dried Lima Beans

Cooked dried lima beans, seasoned with onion and brown sugar, are delicious served with pork.

Glamorous Garnish

Vanilla pudding looks glamorous when it is topped with meringues garnished with blobs of red jelly and grated coconut.

Improves Flavor

When Grass Gets All The Moisture

This picture shows how grass will grow and become re-established when it gets all the moisture which formerly had to be shared with brush. Mesquites here on the John C. Smith ranch northwest of Luther were killed with a chemical spray.

GET FEDERAL AID

Brush Control Important In Restoration Of Pastureland

Brush control and range deferment are proving two of the most effective weapons in restoring pastures to high productivity, local Soil Conservation Service technicians report.

Many farmers and ranchers are controlling brush and shrubs under the Great Plains Conservation Program. In so doing they are carrying out a conservation plan which entitles them to receive federal cost-sharing funds.

Much of the pasture land in this and other areas has become so badly infested with brush that grass growing has been suppressed. In addition, livestock find it difficult if not impossible to graze effectively. The competitive brush and shrubs have so reduced coverer, the SCS technicians pointed out, that erosion has been induced in number of instances.

In such cases, range reseeding may be necessary after the brush has been eradicated. However, much of the rangeland shows a remarkable recuperative power from deferment alone once the brush has been killed and no longer competes for the available moisture.

The method of control used on brush infested land depends upon several factors. Varying kinds of brush and shrubs require various treatments for a high percentage of kill. The size of mesquite, for example, may determine the control method, or the moisture condition of the soil may be a deciding factor as to whether mechanical or chemical methods should be employed. Density is still another consideration.

Effecting brush control does not complete the job. If reseeding is not needed, the grass still needs to be rested from grazing to regain its vigor and to become well established. In the long run, however, this pays dividends in the ultimate production of a greater amount of quality forage. Good management will be needed to defer grazing subsequently as it is needed.

Where root plowing is done, reseeding becomes a must, followed by deferment. But once a pasture is restored to good grass cover, its ability to carry cattle is enhanced particularly if all the moisture and soil fertility is going to grass and not to brush, cactus, etc.

Hereford Sale At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO (SC) — The Concho Hereford Association will hold its 23rd annual auction sale of registered bulls in San Angelo Thursday, Jan. 7, according to Gene Wallace, association president.

There will be 83 bulls offered in the sale. They are all of good ages and in good breeding condition, said Wallace. Consigned by leading breeders of West Texas, they are of high quality and popular bloodlines. The bulls will be tested for fertility a few days before the sale.

Bill Reed, Sterling County rancher, will judge the bulls at 9 a.m. and Walter Britten, auctioneer, will start the sale at 1 p.m.

Interested persons may write Ed Hyman, secretary, for a sale catalog.

Gra-Y Schedule For Holidays

Everett Taylor, YMCA program director, Saturday reminded Gra-Y (elementary school age boys) members of the holiday schedule.

Monday at 1 p.m. they will play tag football at the old stadium; Tuesday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. there will be a single elimination basketball tournament at the Y. Wednesday the group will inspect the city jail at 1 p.m. and then there will be games for an hour at the Y.

There Really Is Such A Place

Is there really a Timbuktu? Is there really an Ogallal? A Samarkand? An Ultima Thule? These are geographic names classically suggesting "nowhere" or "the ends of the earth."

Well, there is really a "Timbuktu," and it is a thriving community of French Equatorial Africa. "Timbuktu" is also the title, and the setting of the new Edward Small production, starring Victor Mature and Yvonne de Carlo. Wednesday and Thursday at the State. It was directed by Jacques Tourneur and is released by United Artists.

In antiquity, the name Timbuktu was given to the African town, as meaning the southern-most end of the earth. Today we know it's in the very heart of the Dark Continent.

Mature's Jinx Is Still Around

On the first take of "Timbuktu," Wednesday and Thursday at the State, Victor Mature's horse reared, and his hind-quarters caught the star as it fell.

Fortunately, he came out of it unscathed. And, at the same time, feeling everything was as it should be.

For, in every picture he has ever made, there has been a first-day mishap. And Hollywood is superstitious about breaking traditions like that.

Odessa Motorcade To Be Here Tuesday

A motorcade from Odessa will arrive in Big Spring, Tuesday at 10 a.m., on a booster trip to publicize the coming Sandhills Hereford and Quarterhorse Show Rodeo, Jan. 4-9, in the Ector County Coliseum.

This booster group will stop on the east side of the Howard County Courthouse, at the corner of Main and Third Streets, where they will give a short program and pass out information concerning the rodeo. They are due here between 10 and 10:30 a.m.

They will present an official proclamation to Miss Wanda Boatler, declaring her the Big Spring Rodeo Sweetheart in the queen contest. She is being sponsored by the Big Spring Mounted Patrol.

RE-ENLISTS

Webb Sergeant Moving Toward 20-Year Mark

One more four-year tour with the U. S. Air Force will put M. Sgt. Edwin R. Deitrick of the 3561st Flight Line Maintenance Squadron well past the "20-year mark."

The sergeant, who re-enlisted recently at Webb, has been on continuous duty since April of '41.

Over the years Deitrick has been an aircraft mechanic, a flying sergeant, a flight engineer, and now he is a flight chief in the 3561st.

The sergeant took basic at New Cumberland, Pa., and was working on L-4s and L-5s at Hattiesburg, Miss., at the time of Pearl Harbor. He joined the 200th Field Artillery at Londonderry, Ireland, in 1942 and remained with the unit all through the war.

In Ireland, Deitrick serviced P-38 Lightnings, installing carburetor screens and equipping them for desert warfare in the North African campaign.

In 1943 he went to England where he flew Artillery spotting missions during training exercises. His career covered eight months of flying liaison planes, after which the Air Corps Staff Sergeant was taken off flying status.

Sergeant Deitrick landed at Normandy with the 200th Field Artillery on D-Day plus 1, and was "in most of the fight'n," he said. VE Day found him in Czechoslovakia.

On his return to the States Sergeant Deitrick left the Air Corps and joined the Army for an 18-month spell. He reupped in the Air Force "for good" in 1948.

Sergeant Deitrick served as a flight engineer with the U. S. Forces in Korea, 1951 to 1954. In all, he chalked up 1,000 flying hours in C-64s and C-54s with the 19th Troop Carrier Squadron which operated out of Camp Brady, Japan, and Seoul City, Korea.

"We carried men and supplies," he said. "Sometimes we parachuted stuff to troops that were cut off from their main elements. In addition to 'cloak-and-dagger' flights, we also dropped flares in support of B-26 bombing missions," he added.

Sergeant Deitrick came to Webb in July, 1958. He and his wife, Willie Mae, live at 703 Goliad, Big Spring.

A Devotional For Today

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way. (Isaiah 53:6.)
PRAYER: We praise Thee for Thy wonderful love, O God. Help us to look up to Christ, the great Shepherd, and hear His voice that we may not stray from the way of righteousness in Him. In His name we pray.
Amen.

Wonderful People Make A Community

"I wish that people of Big Spring could realize fully what they mean to the patients of the hospital," said Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, after the traditional Christmas party last Tuesday. There are just not enough words to express adequately how he feels about the interest and the participation of individuals, he said. In the space of a few years a group of aloof, and almost frightened patients have become relaxed and at ease because they have come to feel that people here and in this area do care—care enough to personally administer to their comfort and peace.

It is a wonderful feeling to know that we are abundant in people like this, for as great and as wonderful as the efforts of our folks have been to restore the people at the State Hospital to a world of reality and happiness, this is not the end.

Witness on the same night more than 100 other volunteers at the Veterans Hospital putting on a program and passing out stores of presents to more than 200 patients away from home for Christmas.

Or look at the city firemen who each year repair hundreds upon hundreds of toys so that they look like new and so that they can be given to poor children on Christmas Day.

Or consider the Salvation Army working night and day to collect and apply funds so that every needy family could have a basket on Christmas Day. Or the church groups, classes and other organizations who did likewise. Or the school children who brought several thousand cans of food.

These are deeds which make you realize anew that the most important thing about any community is its wonderful people.

Remember—It Can Happen To You

Newspapers do not make the news; they merely report it.

All too often it is said beyond description, as when six persons, including an infant, died in a two-car, head-on collision at the brow of a hill near Snyder Tuesday night. "The weather was clear and the pavement dry," read the report. All were dead when the ambulances delivered them to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder, three miles away.

One minute they were well, quite possibly filled with thoughts of Christmas, family and friends. The next minute they had become statistical data in a traffic report. But the grief and the agony of relatives and friends will linger on and on.

Near Olney, four counties away, there was another head-on, two-car crash that claimed five lives and seriously injured three others the same night. All were residents of Newcastle. More homes darkened by tragedy, more living persons to share the burden of grief.

The economic loss involved in such frequent and repetitious tragedies is enormous, but as nothing compared to the mental, spiritual and physical suffering involved.

We pay a fearful price in terms of human misery for the privilege of owning and operating a motor vehicle, of going whithersoever the spirit moves us to go at any time we choose, at our convenience, most of the time with pleasure and enjoyment.

Some of the injured will spend the rest of their lives, long or short, in suffering of varying degrees.

We know that Christmas is behind us, and part of the dangerous holiday season is past—but not all of it. Some will be hurrying home today in order to be at their jobs on Monday, and others will be rushing to and fro around New Year's.

Our prayer is that everyone will remember that it can happen to anyone on the highway—just like it did southwest of Snyder, and that remembering this everyone will be just a little more careful to see that tragedy doesn't touch them. Just go a little slower, be a little more alert and for Heaven's sake don't try to drive when you are exhausted and above all when you just have to drink.

American's Intangible Asset Tapped

WASHINGTON—Despite the platitudes in the official communiques, something dramatic and of far-reaching significance that couldn't be put into words was accomplished by President Eisenhower's 22,000-mile tour of 11 nations in Asia, Europe and Africa.

Good will toward America was manifested on every side. The usefulness purposes of the United States were recognized. No longer can it be said by wishful partisans in American politics that America is "hated" everywhere abroad.

Millions of people in all the countries visited had an opportunity to show their friendship for the American people. Mr. Eisenhower was the symbolic recipient of bouquets of appreciation for the interest the United States has taken in countries, large and small, many of which have received economic aid from this country in the struggling years of their existence.

AMERICANS LIKE to think back to what Lafayette symbolized when he came to the aid of the infant republic on this continent in its aspiration for independence. So, too, will the acts of the now powerful United States everlastingly mean much to the underdeveloped nations, beginning with India in far-off Asia and reaching to Morocco on the eastern shore of the Atlantic.

Critics of course, have not been silent. The Lapidon "Daily Herald," organ of the socialist labor party, for instance, called Mr. Eisenhower's visit to Spain a "blunder." It declared that "those who believe in freedom feel betrayed," and didn't want to see Mr. Eisenhower "hobnobbing" with General Franco. But this same "left-wing" newspaper cheered Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to dictator Khrushchev, ignoring the protests at the time of many exiles from the communist-dominated countries.

MR. EISENHOWER didn't make his trip to give sanction to this or that form of government in any country. His cordial reception of Nikita Khrushchev here last September and the forthcoming visit which Mr. Eisenhower will pay to the Soviet Union next spring are intended to emphasize a people-to-people relationship. Everywhere on his trip just completed the President referred to this theme because he knows that authoritarian forms of government are temporary and that eventually the nations of the world must inevitably find their salvation in free governments.

President Eisenhower proved an extraordinary ambassador of good will. His personality is just the kind that exudes friendliness and geniality. His record as the supreme commander of the Allied forces in Europe in World War II gave him a prestige broader than any other visiting dignitary could enjoy today in those same countries.

WHEN ALL IS SAID and done, the value of the trip comes in its aftereffects. Militarily it is important for the United States to maintain air bases in Morocco and Spain. It is important to have allies in countries like Pakistan, Iran and Turkey, and it is vital to the future of Southeast Asia for the United States and India to be getting closer together in an economic as well as a political sense.

Much has been said, incidentally, about the so-called change in American policy toward India. Nehru for the last few years has been pursuing a "neutralist" course. It has been argued that America finally decided in recent months not to be hostile to neutralism. Quite the opposite has happened. It is India herself which has awakened to the dangers of neutralism. While public expressions are restrained, few people in the free governments generally feel today that India has any illusions about the aggressive policies of the communist bloc, particularly Red China. The Peiping regime brought about the change in U.S. policy. America has merely taken advantage of the changed atmosphere to come closer to Nehru and the people of India.

IN A BROAD SENSE, American diplomacy has been alert and flexible and those who say that all this couldn't have happened if John Foster Dulles were still secretary of state will not find any agreement on that point from President Eisenhower himself. For he knows from intimate conversations he had with Mr. Dulles that the latter favored flexible policies but felt the occasions must be timely and carefully selected. Mr. Dulles was dedicated to the people-to-people approach which now has been developed so effectively by the President's memorable tour.

World events, reported day by day, do not open up the long-range possibilities nor can the President's trip be appraised in terms of immediate results. But in the perspective of history the tour of Dwight Eisenhower will long be remembered as a great triumph of American idealism as symbolized by a great American.

Wood Hoe

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Jim Cook, high school mechanical training teacher, is being ribbed for an incident that took place in one of his classes recently. A student made a mistake and ruined a piece of wood.

"What's the matter with you," said Cook, "do you think that wood grows on trees?"

Pick Any Superlative For The Shimmering 60's

Pick a superlative for the 'sixties—soaring, wondrous, golden, or splendidous. Whichever you choose, it's likely to be good for the coming year. It's going to be prosperous.

That's how 58 of America's influential economists, who replied to my end-of-the-year confidential questionnaire, feel. A half-trillion-dollar economy is "in the making."

The steel dispute is a hindrance. But the economists assume—and what other assumption is possible?—that the companies and the union will reach an agreement, either voluntarily or under compulsion.

IF A STRIKE breaks out anew, it will be short. It won't do too much damage to society—no to you and me, to employment, wages, and payrolls.

The respondents, who occupy strategic posts in labor unions, banks, industrial corporations, investment firms, government, or teach at universities, or do research, assume we're in the up-phase of the business cycle.

ANOTHER ECONOMIST fears a "burst of activity in the first half, induced by inventory-building and high auto output." This may force up prices, especially if the wage agreement in steel is inflationary. "I hope," he writes, that "a situation similar to that touched off in mid-1955 will be avoided."

The group as a whole expects the total output of goods and services, now estimated at $479,000,000, to hit $505,000,000, by mid-60, and $512,000,000,000 by December.

Part of this rise is inflation. Wholesale prices are expected to advance slowly about 2 per cent and the cost of living a little less than that. Wages will rise 4 per cent—from $89 per week in manufacturing to $93 (see table).

SOME OF THE ECONOMISTS expect a slow-down in the second half of 1956 recession. Thus, a 7 per cent rise in industrial production is projected from now till June. The Federal Reserve Board index will advance from 148 to 159. Then, a flattening out—a plateau. The year-end consensus for the index is 160. This contour allows for a letdown after a first-half burst of activity brought on by rapid replacement of steel and automobile inventories.

Around The Rim

From The Sidelines, Let's Say 'Thanks'

Here we are, about to balance accounts on the year, and most of us frail folk will be hard pressed to scratch up enough credits to go with the debits.

Most of us have been guilty of what you might call community selfishness, which is one way of saying that we have too frequently let the other fellow carry the load.

On this last Sunday of a fading year, as has been a custom for several years, I feel like dropping the nonsense and letting what voice this corner has been used to say thanks to those who have performed beyond the minimum requirements; those who have made substantial contributions in making our little city a better place to live.

It's difficult not to deal in clichés here, but the fact is evident that a community gathers some personality, some dignity, some soul, if you please, only in proportion to the amount of unselfish work done in programs of civic and cultural betterment.

There are a few people who give so generously of themselves that they are largely responsible for the successes of the last year. They ought to have an expression of gratitude from the rest of us who sat, most of the time, on the sidelines.

People like those on the City Commission and the School Board, who have given untold hours and much worry over responsibilities thrust upon them. And who are repaid, too much, in criticism and even abuse.

People like those who pulled the United Fund out of a critical year to another success. Here again were leading business men who made tremendous sacrifice of time and effort with no reward except the inner satisfaction of knowing the community has been lifted a little higher.

The people who sit, month in and month out, on boards that direct such welfare and cultural programs as Red Cross and Salvation Army, YMCA and Concert Association. These assignments are time consuming, pay no salaries. How about those earnest volunteers who have led your children in Boy Scout and Girl Scout work? Would you devote the same amount of time and effort?

The wonderfully generous people who have worked so faithfully with the mentally ill people at the State Hospital—those who have brought cheer to patients at the VA and other hospitals. Ah, that work is always in conflict with something personally desirable. Which comes first?

The many, many people who wear the uniform of our country and who are stationed at Webb. Their participation and help in community affairs is phenomenal, and I personally feel that there is a rewarding relationship between military and civilian community here that is matched in few other places in this country. This is because of community contribution.

The faithful and consecrated Sunday school teachers who have helped shape your children's future. Those who have worked to improve the lot of poverty-stricken families, who have wanted to bring uplift to the blighted areas of our community.

There is no way of naming these people, and actually I cannot even enumerate all the activities that are covered in the name of building a better city. But the individuals to whom I refer are those who do more than go to work each day, and then go home each evening. Too many of us do just that. The least we could do, as an old year fades away and a new one appears on the horizon, is to seek out persons who have performed so unselfishly and give them a good hearty thanks, along with a Happy New Year.

Norman Vincent Peale

Every Day A Good Day In 1960

I was talking one time with a woman—a lady, I must say, of considerable forcefulness—who told me, "Well, at last I have made my husband over!"

This struck me negatively at first, but when I heard the whole story I thought it was quite an achievement and said so. "He was the most negative, the gloomiest man you ever saw," she explained. "If he wanted something to happen, he thought the way to make it happen was to say it wouldn't happen. Then he would be surprised and pleased if it did happen."

"Every day," the woman continued, "when my husband came down to breakfast, his first words would be gloomy and always he would growl. 'This is going to be another tough day.'"

One morning, as this man was going through this usual daily routine, his wife turned on the radio, not to any program in particular, but just to drown him out, and a speaker's voice came on that was filled with vim, vigor and vivacity. "Good morning, folks," he said happily, "good morning. I hope you're all feeling bright and happy today."

The husband growled, "Turn that fool off. He annoys me."

"But maybe you need to listen to someone like him," his wife answered firmly, leaving the radio on.

I don't know what program this was but it was definitely religious in content. And eventually the speaker began to bear down with irresistible logic on the point that if a person would start the day with God, he could fill it full of meaning, vigor, faith and victory.

The speaker concluded by saying, "I wish you folks would repeat after me a great dynamic text from God's Book:

"This is the day which the Lord hath made, we will rejoice and be glad in it." Do this and it will make this day a great experience."

The woman turned to her husband and said firmly, "You and I are going to do that." He showed considerable reluctance but nevertheless to her surprise he heartily agreed to do it. And she made him agree that they would have that day upon the passage of Scripture they had just heard and repeated together. Strangely enough he agreed to it. And when that day was over, even this negatively-conditioned man had to admit that it had been a good one. He had repeated the text several times during the day. "It's funny," he said, "but it made me feel better to do that."

"Now," she told me, "we begin every day by repeating the same passage and my husband is a very different man. He's really made over."

I have gone up and down this country telling people that if they will start their day with vim, vigor and vivacity, it can change their lives. Literally scores of people have written to me that they have done it and achieved the results I promised them.

Why not try this day-beginning technique for yourself. Say this passage the first thing every morning: "This is the day which the Lord hath made; I will rejoice and be glad in it." For if you start your day believing in the best, being thankful for the work you have to do, being glad you are alive, I can guarantee that you will find goodness and happiness in that day.

Do this regularly—and you will make every day of 1960 a good day.

Everyone Got A Prize

MADRID—It appears that at the Western heads-of-government meeting in Paris everyone won a prize, whether large or small. Everyone that is to say, except States.

The Germans claim the biggest prize of all. Wreathed in smiles of triumph they insisted they had got the approval of the other three to push back the Western position on Berlin to the point of hardest resistance, which was shortly after Premier Khrushchev precipitated the Berlin crisis in November of 1958 by declaring that Russia would take unilateral action if the Allies failed to agree in six months to end the "occupation status" of West Berlin.

THIS WOULD WIPE OUT all the bargaining that went on during the two months of the Geneva foreign ministers' conference last summer. The full consequences, if this is in fact to be the final Western position at the time of the confrontation of Khrushchev on April 27, can be seen only when negotiations at the summit from such a position are imagined.

In theory, or so the Germans envisage it, the argument would follow the same tortuous course inch by inch as was followed at Geneva. But obviously none of the heads of government, and particularly President Eisenhower, could stay that course. So in the German view of the end of a week, facing the blank wall of a deadlock, the summit conference would adjourn to the next in the series a few months later.

IT IS EXTREMELY NAIVE to think that Khrushchev would play the summit game under those rules. Since the Germans are far too shrewd to believe it, their motive is plainly to frustrate any negotiation on Germany and Berlin. If they could do this by giving disarmament and a discussion drawn out over months and years on how to control and inspect a disarmament system the first priority in any summit meeting, they would perhaps prefer that kind of frustration.

On the fringes of the German delegation at Paris it was said that in his triumph Chancellor Adenauer believes it will be possible to get through next year, an American Presidential year, without an alteration in the present German structure. He is confident, in other words, of the success of a summit filibuster.

THEN WITH THE CURRENT "soft" President out of the White House there is the prospect that he will be replaced by a President willing to go back to the "hard" line of the cold war. Why, he is reported to have said we might even get Nelson Rockefeller.

This in all probability reflects the enthusiasm of some of the more ardent disciples of the Adenauer line. The old gentleman is too cautious to disclose such hopes to even his closest associates.

But it is true that he has increasingly shut himself away from any counsel of caution, not only from those around him but from public opinion either in his own country or anywhere else. His confidence in his own powers is absolute and unshakable. When in London in early December Prime Minister Macmillan on one or two occasions spoke up with a sharp "nonsense" in comment on some of Adenauer's more extreme views, the effect on the other Germans present was as though they had received a violent electric shock.

WHEN IT COMES TO PRIZES Macmillan can truthfully say that he came out with a big one. He initiated the first break with Khrushchev when he went to Moscow last February, thereby annoying his Western partners. It was his concept to have a series of summits so that if the first one or even a later one failed the shock would be slight since it would be only a matter of hope deferred. The summit series idea is embodied in the invitation to Khrushchev.

As for the French, President De Gaulle got a new promise of consultation on all questions of policy and strategy, with a brief trial run of how this will operate. While nothing was decided on "integration" of French forces in NATO, it appears likely that a face-saving compromise will be engineered by the Germans who are grateful for De Gaulle's support of Berlin.

Southwest To Have A Lake Boom

DALLAS (AP)—An Army Engineer said Saturday that "The greatest water resources program the Southwest has ever known began to take shape in 1959 and the dirt will fly in 1960."

The statement was made by Brig. Gen. William Whipple, Southwest Division engineer. He said the $95,500,000 in work placed in 1959 was about 50 per cent above 1958. Because most projects are in early construction stages, the rate of contract awards greatly exceeds the rate of work placement.

He said about 100 million in contract awards are scheduled for the first six months of 1960. With 65 million let in the last half of this year, the total for the fiscal year will be 165 million.

Whipple said military construction will taper off next year unless new construction for the intercontinental ballistic missile program begins to take shape.

Water resources construction in the Southwest was only 30 million for fiscal 1958 and 70 million for the fiscal year ending last summer.

Units of the program already under construction will cost a billion dollars eventually. These units include 15 major reservoir projects in the Arkansas, White, Red, Rio Grande and Texas Gulf river basins.

Planning and advance engineering have been started on another group of projects estimated to cost about a billion dollars. These have been authorized by Congress but the money has not been appropriated.

Whipple said Southwest progress "is without parallel on constructed projects and projects authorized for future construction."

Since 1954 there has been firming up in Corps projects in the Arkansas, White and Red basins about 900,000 acre feet of water supply storage which will yield about a billion gallons per day.

"This is about twice as much water as was being used in 1954 by all of the municipal systems within those three basins, which comprise one-eleventh of the United States."

The engineer said many Corps reservoirs built and authorized in Texas incorporate storage for water supply and conservation and when they are completed will provide about four million acre feet of water with a yield of roughly two billion gallons of water per day. More than two dozen Texas cities are being supplied with water from these reservoirs.

Cities Show Rapid Growth

AUSTIN (AP)—Construction in Texas cities reached record levels in 1959 in spite of a sharp drop in November, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

"Despite the disappointing November showing, building authorized in Texas in 1959, even assuming a poor permit month in December, will be at a record high," the agency said.

The November decline, described as mostly seasonal, sent the building permit total down 32 per cent from October and 16 per cent from the November 1958 level to the lowest point in two years.

Building permits for 11 months of 1959 were 5 per cent ahead of last year. November permits called for 73 million dollars worth of construction, 39 million in residential fields.

Ike To Farm For Short Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower drove to Gettysburg today for a short Christmas visit with his grandchildren.

He left by automobile about 8:15 a. m. and was expected to return to the White House within a few hours.

White House sources said the President had hoped to make his Christmas visit to the children Friday but was unable to do so because of ice-coated highways.

Anne Wheaton, associate press secretary, said that in view of Eisenhower's plan to leave Sunday for a vacation in Augusta, Ga., "it seemed the logical thing to do."

She said the President planned to spend only about an hour with his grandchildren—whom he has not seen since he left Dec. 3 on his long goodwill tour. He probably will be back at the White House for lunch, she added.

The four grandchildren—David, 10; Barbara Anne, 9; Susan, 8; and Mary Jean, 4—are with their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower at the younger Eisenhower's Gettysburg home near the President's farm.

Wrong Man

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Two men picked the wrong customer when they tried to sell fake lapel pins bearing the stamp, "Sold by a disabled veteran."

The intended customer was John J. Johnson Jr., commander of the Phoenix Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

Meet At Last

MILLIGAN COLLEGE, Tenn. (AP)—Janet Knowles and Judy Knaggs live near each other in the Summit County, Ohio, communities of Northfield and Coventry.

When they finally met this year, it was 500 miles away at Milligan College where both are enrolled as first year students.

PRAYER POWER

Before They Ask, The Answer May Be Provided

By HELEN REAGAN SMITH

In 1958, Catherine Marshall, author of A Man Called Peter, was lecturing in Fort Worth. She spoke of God's eagerness to have His people prove His promises.

"Try Him for yourself," she encouraged. "Perhaps you have a special desire, a secret yearning of service if you have, take it down off the shelf of your memories and dust it off and give it to God."

In the audience sat Thelma Lee, a mature woman who had developed spiritually by learning to live in God's peace. Her achievement had come after long years of fears, and searching the Christian mastery of them. As she learned to know this peace for herself, she discovered that she could also bring others to a touch of it by helping them to completely relax. The demands for her aid became greater than her ability to fill them, so she dreamed of a phonograph record which could carry her voice wherever and whenever needed. Upon this she would multiply her aid of relaxation and it could also be given with background organ music, her friend, Marion McElroy, could provide. With such a record, she need never refuse to help any who called. But it was only a dream because it would take money, more than she had, and it was impossible.

Later, nevertheless, she knelt in the quiet of her own room. "Oh, God," she whispered, "if my dream would serve you, I do want it, but you'd have to send the money."

The jingling of the telephone interrupted; she rose to answer it. "Thelma," a friend's voice bubbled with excitement, "do you still want to do that record? I have the money!"

So today as the record works to help others, Thelma says: "It's another example of 'Before they call I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear.'" (Isa. 65:24)

God Our Help

HOW GOD MAY EXERCISE HIS POWER TO DELIVER HIS SERVANTS FROM THEIR PERSECUTORS

Scripture—Acts 12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"NOW about that time Herod the king stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the church. And he killed James the brother of John with the sword." Seeing that this pleased certain of the Jews (the bigoted Pharisees), he proceeded to take Peter also. "And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to quarters of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people."—Acts 12:1-4.

Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.—Acts 12:5.

Strictly guarded by soldiers as he was, Peter did escape from his prison. This is how it happened: "And when Herod would have brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains; and the keepers before the door kept the prison. And, behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light shined in the prison; and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands. And the angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And so he did. And he said unto him, Cast thy garments about thee, and follow me.

"And he went out, and followed him; and wist not that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he saw a vision.

"When they were past the first and the second ward, they came unto the iron gate which ledeth unto the city; which opened to them of his own accord; and they went out, and passed on through one street; and forthwith the angel departed from him."—Acts 12:6-10.

"And when Peter was come to himself, and he said, Now I know of a surety, that the Lord hath sent His angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews."—Acts 12:24-25.

"And when he had considered the thing, he came to house of Mary the mother of John, whose surname was Mark; where many were gathered together praying."—Acts 12:11-12.

As Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a damsel named Rhoda came. "And when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the gate for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the gate."—Acts 12:13-14.

When Rhoda told them that Peter stood without, they thought she was mad, and when she insisted that it was the truth, they said, "It is his angel."

Peter continued to knock and when the disciples opened the door and saw him they were astonished. "But he, beckoning unto them with the hand to hold their peace, declared unto them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go shew these things unto James, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place."—Acts 12:17.

The soldiers who had been guarding Peter wondered what had become of him. "And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded that they should be put to death. And he went down from Judaea to Caesarea, and there abode."—Acts 12:18-19.

Herod was highly displeased with the cities of Tyre and Sidon, but the people desired peace, because their country depended on his country for food.—Acts 12:20.

And now we come to the death of Herod. "Upon a set day Herod, arrayed in royal apparel, sat upon his throne, and made an oration unto them." The people shouted that his voice was that of a god, but an "angel of the Lord smote him because he gave not God the glory," and he died.—Acts 12:21-23.

So ended the life of this wicked man. "But the word of God grew and multiplied. And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their ministry, and took with them John, whose surname was Mark."—Acts 12:24-25.

Let us all pray to God and Jesus Christ for help and guidance when we are in trouble or danger, remembering the words of our Golden Text.

175TH ANNIVERSARY Methodism Began In U.S. In 1784

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Religion Writer

It was the Christmas season, 1784.

A youthful United States was taking its first uncertain steps as an independent nation.

The man of the hour was young, too — the Marquis de Lafayette, at 27 just completing a triumphal tour of the land he had helped to free.

And so were the 60-odd ministers who gathered in conference at the Lovely Lane Church in Baltimore.

Their average age was only 35, but their mission was one that went beyond their years.

They were to organize the Methodist Church in America.

Beginning Sunday and for the next week, American Methodists will observe the 175th anniversary of that organization meeting.

The center of the celebration is the Lovely Lane Church where about 3,000 young Methodist ministers, all under 35, will take part in the observance.

The selection of the church and the youthful clergymen is significant.

The Lovely Lane Church has changed — it's a mile and a half from its original site now — but Methodism has never quite lost its youthful vigor.

Since 1784, its membership has increased from 15,000 to nearly 10 million, making it the largest Protestant denomination in the country.

The startling growth was due, particularly in the early days, to the "circuit rider," an institution which Methodism did not invent but brought to its fullest flower.

The rider was an itinerant minister, his saddle bags stuffed with scriptures and tracts who served a circuit of some 20 or 30 points of ministry.

Francis Asbury, the first bishop ordained on American soil, was a circuit rider who estimated that he covered about 6,000 miles a year on horseback, preaching and exhorting.

So many of the early Methodist ministers were circuit riders that the denomination's clergymen seldom lived to a ripe old age, for the circuit was a grueling experience.

The success of Methodism, especially in the early West, also has been attributed to its ability to match the pioneer spirit of the times. The circuit riders can take a good deal of credit for this, too.

They tell a story of Jesse Walker, one of the early riders of note, who was working inside an enclosure one day when a local tough rode up.

"Parson," snarled the man, "you gotta lick me or git!"

The burly Walker picked up the man by the scruff of his neck and the seat of his pants and heaved him over the fence.

"Now, parson," said the man meekly through a crack in the fence, "if you'll lose my mare over, too, I'll be going."

The young ministers who gather Sunday at the Lovely Lane Church have a lot of hardy tradition to live up to.

"In Glasgow," he added, "you meet so many people who have absolutely no faith."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	90	1-2
Monday	Psalms	77	13-14
Tuesday	Philippians	2	12-13
Wednesday	John	15	10-12
Thursday	Psalms	1	1-3
Friday	Ephesians	5	1-2
Saturday	Romans	9	35-39

Come January first, you're going to get a present . . . a glorious present of 365 bright, uncluttered days.

What you do with them is largely up to you. Each day of the year is now a blank page in the notebook of your life — and only you can fill it.

Don't clutter up the first page by making a lot of useless resolutions. Instead — spend that time by going to church.

Turn to God the first day of the year, and stay with Him. Put your faith in Him, and in His church. With His help, you can make this year the finest one you've ever lived.

College Kids Get-Together Slated Monday

College students back home for the holidays will have a get-together Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA.

Julius Glickman is serving as master of ceremonies and as chairman of the committee on arrangements for the chili and pie supper.

Students in each school have been asked to bring a brief sketch or skit depicting a characteristic of their school.

Efforts have been made to invite all colleagues, but Y officials urged any who might have been unintentionally overlooked to come and join in the fun.

Bobo Hardy, executive secretary, emphasized that HCJC students are especially urged to be on hand for the affair.

Mechanical Ills

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bank clerks take heart — even those mechanical brains err sometimes. An electronic monster in the Metropolitan Budget Director's department dropped the last digit in 80,000 personal property tax bills, dropping everybody's taxes by 90 per cent. But the error was discovered before the tax bills were mailed out and now the taxpayer will not only have to pay the full tax — he'll also have to pay for all the wasted paper.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police said Ed King apparently escaped with only minor injuries when struck by a car while riding his bicycle. King is 88.

at 5:15 p.m. that day as well as on Jan. 26 and 27, and the victory dinner is scheduled for the evening of Jan. 28. Mrs. Lee Rogers will serve as chairman of the arrangements committee.

DEAR ABBY

JUST TAKE OFF

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have four children and two of them are still in diapers. The oldest has just turned five. My husband works a split shift and sleeps most of the time when he's at home.

I am with the children 24 hours a day. I would like to know if I am the only mother who is just about out of her head. The children drive me wild at times. I would like a few hours one day a week to be by myself. To see a movie or just get away from the house.

How do you make a husband understand that you love your children, but you need a little break once in a while? Or am I wrong?

BROWN EYES IN TEARS
DEAR BROWN EYES: You are NOT wrong, so don't compound your problems by feeling guilty. EVERY mother needs a break away from her children occasionally. (It's good for the children, too.) If your husband can't take over to give you this necessity, (not a luxury—necessity) swap an afternoon with a friend, relative or neighbor, and arrange it yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is 74 years old, and believe it or not he still thinks the "grass is greener on the other side of the fence." I am 69. What do you do in a case like this? SONIA

DEAR SONIA: Don't worry. A man his age could never jump the fence.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument once and for all? Is it considered okay for a girl to put her make-up on and comb her hair at the table? There are four of us who want to know. DAPHNE, MARGE, NELL AND KATIE

DEAR GIRLS: It is okay to apply a little lipstick (quickly) while sitting at the table. But powdering the face and combing the hair—never!

DEAR ABBY: I'm 43, but look much younger. I've had two unsuccessful marriages (no children) and am very much interested in a man who has everything, and I DO mean everything. Money, position, appearance—and a wife and four children. He and his wife haven't gotten along for years. I know he means it when he says he'll divorce her and marry me when the children no longer need him. We're never seen in public because he has a reputation to protect and so have I. (I have a good position and am well known here.) I wonder if I am making a mistake in waiting for this man? Has a married man ever divorced his wife and married "the other woman"? Maybe you know because you must hear from others who have had this problem. I'm willing to listen.

DEAR OTHER: I can recall only one letter from the other woman who finally caught the gold ring after a very long ride on the merry-go-round. She wrote, "I'll never be able to trust my husband because I know how expert he is in cheating." All the rest of the other women are probably still waiting for the divorce that will never take place because their Romeos don't really want them. Wise up!

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to ABBY, Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Farmers Need Keep Posted On Security Laws

Farmers know there is a time to plant, to cultivate, and a time to take in the crops. But, asks H. P. Thomas, District Manager of the Odessa office, how many know there is a time to look at their social security protection? Finding out about social security too late could be worse than planting a crop too late.

Thomas explained by pointing out that many farmers have not reported their farm earnings and that it will soon be too late for many, especially in the older age group, to gain the social security credits that may mean the difference between protection and no benefits at all.

If a farm operator has net earnings of $400 or more in a year, he must report those earnings for social security. This will give him credits for the year. But even though he does not clear $400 in the year, he has an option to report from $400 to $1,200 for that year depending upon his gross farm income. This option is given only to farmers. But many farmers who had poor years have not taken advantage of the option and are losing credits for critical years. It is still not too late for a farmer to correct his social security tax returns back to 1956.

Thomas went on to explain that the farmer, like anyone else, needs a certain number of social security credits before benefits can be paid. Failure to file returns for a year such as 1956 could mean, in many cases, a loss of protection or a substantial decrease in the benefit rate. Tax returns can be amended back to 1956 if the corrected return is filed this year. It is now too late to file an amended return for the year 1955.

Farmers, especially those approaching retirement age, should look into their social security for their own protection and that of their families. Contact the Odessa office at 1428 E. 8th St., or telephone FEDERAL 2-9423.
