Old Boy Goes To Seed

Renee Molina, 4-year-old of Houston, examines a bit of stately that has come to life. Not long ago, this was a coconut, carved to look like a man's head, and used for living room decoration. When the nut sprouted, it was taken outside. It has been growing steadily in the ground for approximately five months.

Washington Begins Streetcar Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Street cars no longer clank past the White House, where they have traveled since the days of Abraham Lincoln. Buses now roll down Pennsylvania Avenue, replacing the trolleys that replaced the horsecars that first started over the route 97 years ago. The switchover on this and two other routes took place Sunday. The last of the capital's street cars is to go out of service in 1963.

Old Washingtonians, who have a deep love for their city's past, viewed the passing of the street cars with regret. It was in 1862 that the first horse-drawn street car trundled along the track from Georgetown to the Capitol. During the intervening years, not only Presidents, but distinguished guests in Blair House across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, could hear the harsh clatter of wheel against rail in the still of the night.

Set Gopher War

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Agriculture Ministry plans to cooperate with farmers in an intensive war against gophers during the first half of this year, ministry officials said.

Light Snow, Sleet Hit Wide Areas Of State; Little Icing

Light snow and sleet hit wide sections of Texas Monday morning and clouds covered the state. The snow and sleet, most of which melted as it struck the ground, began Sunday night in the San Angelo area and spread northeastward to the Dallas-Fort Worth area by around 2 a.m. By 4 a.m., the Weather Bureau said, most of the precipitation had changed to a cold, slow rain. There was some icing on roads but as far as could be determined all thoroughfares remained open to traffic. Police advised caution in all sections because of the danger of icing. Temperatures at 5 a.m. ranged from 20 at Dalhart to 57 at Brownsville, considerably warmer from Sunday's minimums. Rain fell before dawn at Jubert and Abilene. Fort Worth and Mineral Wells reported light snow. All Dallas had sleet. Other temperatures included Beaumont 36, Lufkin 35, Galveston 42, Houston 39, Corpus Christi 47, San Angelo 37, San Antonio 40, Austin 38, Waco 38, Fort Worth 33, Mineral Wells 32, Abilene 35, El Paso 35, Lubbock 31, Amarillo 28, Childress 31, Longview 37, and Texarkana 37. Forecasts called for continued cold temperatures over the state with occasional rain continuing through Tuesday. Heavy snow fell at Paris near the Red River, whitening rooftops and cars. Most of the snow, and sleet that fell before dawn, melted as it hit the ground, however. At mid-morning, the snowfall still was heavy and temperatures were colder.

Daniel To Tell Tonight Whether He'll Seek Governorship Again

AUSTIN (AP) — Price Daniel will say tonight whether he will ask Texas voters to help him complete his program as governor. Daniel's promised answer to the question of a third term bid will be made in a 29-station statewide radio broadcast at 7 p.m. The fact that the governor is making the widest possible public announcement in newspapers and on the air indicated to many that he will run again. For a man getting out of politics, a less-expensive method would seem more reasonable. However, the governor indicated strongly that personal and family considerations as well as public policy motives would have considerable weight in tipping the scales of his decision. These, he said, would be studied as he spent the holidays with his family at their home in Liberty. Daniel, who left the Senate with two years to run on a 6-year term, has said that he had rather be governor of Texas than President of the United States. He will have served the usual two two-year terms as governor a year from now. Also known to his closest associates as a man with a strong stubborn streak in his political makeup, Daniel frankly and repeatedly has said much of his program for Texas is still unfinished business. He blames the Legislature and lobbyists. It is a matter of record that his legal stand on Texas' claim to the tidelands kept him in the attorney general's office longer than he had intended to stay. He was in the Senate until Congress passed the laws which Daniel felt would cure the one vote adverse decision by which he lost the legal plea for Texas in the U.S. Supreme Court. Daniel sharply criticized the Legislature for inaction or adverse answers to many of his proposals. He summed it all up in an attack on what he called an "arrogant" sales tax lobby that opposed his plans for financing the

NEW RECORD Texas Second In Road Deaths

Texas took a major share in a record toll of traffic deaths across the nation for a three-day New Year holiday. The state—with a total of 50 killed in violence—counted 26 traffic deaths. Delayed reports of traffic deaths across the country that occurred before midnight Sunday pushed the toll to 366, exceeding the old record of 364 set during the 1955-56 New Year's weekend.

The Associated Press began the count in Texas on Thursday at 6 p.m. and continued it through midnight Sunday. At the end of the national count (midnight in the Pacific Standard Time zone), 362 persons had died in traffic accidents alone. A total of 496, including 61 deaths by fire, had been counted over-all. Later figures showed 366 dead in traffic, 68 in fires and 74 in miscellaneous accidents for a national total of 503.

Only Michigan with 32 dead in traffic surpassed the highway carnage in Texas. The traffic fatalities, deaths in fires and in miscellaneous accidents also appeared likely to top the over-all record for any three-day New Year holiday. The record of 513 was set in the 1955-1956 holiday period. But the National Safety Council, which had estimated a traffic toll of 320, said it did not believe the final figures would surpass the record traffic toll for the holiday—499 in the four-day period in 1956-1957.

The count started at 6 p.m. local time Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday. Deaths on the highway, many in multi-fatal accidents, were far below the heavy toll of 493 reported in the three-day Christmas weekend. However, more persons lost their lives in fires during the New Year period. The number killed in miscellaneous type accidents was about the same. Traffic generally is lighter and travel distances shorter during the New Year period. Tragic reports of crashes came from across the country. Only a few states reported no deaths. One of the worst accidents killed nine persons in Florida Saturday in a crash of a station wagon and auto. Five women and two men were killed in a skidding auto crash Sunday near Saginaw, Mich. Four members of a family died Saturday when their car and a bus collided in Indiana. A car stalled at a grade crossing near Casey, Ill., Sunday and was hit by a train, killing three persons. Two others escaped.

Topping the traffic fatalities was Michigan, with more than 30. Heavy tolls also were reported in Texas, Florida, New York and California, each reporting more than 20 deaths. The 1959 traffic death toll has been estimated at from 37,500 to 38,000, slightly above 100 a day.

The Associated Press in a survey during a non-holiday period of 28 hours, from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 10 to midnight Sunday, Dec. 13, recorded 324 deaths in traffic accidents. The survey also showed 22 killed in fires and 66 deaths in miscellaneous accidents, for a total of 414.

DALLAS (AP)—The Big Steel settlement probably will smooth the way for a new agreement at Lone Star Steel Co., a company official said today. The 3,150 steelworkers union members have been working without a contract since last Sept. 6 at the Dainierfield plant in East Texas.

L. D. Webster, a Lone Star vice president, asked if the Big Steel settlement will facilitate an agreement, said, "It probably will because it will give us (negotiators on both sides) an idea of the economic package." "That does not necessarily mean we will pay the Big Steel economic package," he added. Webster said another negotiating session is scheduled this week.

Both sides at various times offered to tie their agreement with whatever came out of the Big Steel agreement, with some reservations. One reservation by the company was that the union agree to revise work rules which the company charges causes "featherbedding."

Lone Star's wage rates generally parallel those of Big Steel, where workers average $3.11 under the old contract. The Big Steel settlement today reportedly was for a 39-cent an hour package increase over 30 months. The breakdown into direct pay and fringe benefits was not immediately announced.

The "featherbedding" issue was a major cause of the Big Steel strike. Informed sources said today's agreement provided for a committee to study the issue.

If Daniel decides not to run, it throws the field wide open. One of the first and best-known opposites is Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. If Wilson seeks re-election as attorney general, he already has one widely known opponent: House Speaker Waggoner Carr who toyed for a while with the idea of running for governor. Also considered in the governor's race already are Jack Cox, former legislator with strong conservative leanings, and Marshall Formby, former Highway Commission chairman who has been campaigning quietly for months.

FEMINISTS AT IT AGAIN — NOW IT'S 'MOTHER'S WEEK'

CHICAGO (AP)—A group of women calling themselves SAPS think they've been saps too long—they want to make Mother's Day a full week. SAPS is short for Society for the Appreciation and Preservation of Spouses, a feminist movement which got off Sunday to a determined if unofficial start in Chicago. In this case, "spouse" refers only to wives. The SAPS are foursquare for a National Spouse Week, seven full days in February in which the wives tie the aprons on what they consider the already overappreciated, overpreserved spouses, the husbands. Mother's Day just isn't enough, according to SAPS founder Margaret Jane Fink, 31, of Chicago, a wife five years and a mother three. "Mother's Day is just one day a year while men enjoy Father's Day 52 weeks a year," said Mrs. Fink. "Besides, we have to cook on Mother's Day." Organized a few weeks ago, SAPS already claims some 39 housewives and mothers in the Chicago area and Wisconsin. "Papa should be Mama once in a while," said Mavis Agerhelm, 31, of Racine, Wis., in what easily could be taken as the SAPS motto. The SAPS program: Hubby does all the chores normally done by the underappreciated, underpreserved wife—from diaper changes to breakfast-in-bed for the first seven days in February.

Midland's College Move Turned Down

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Education decided today that Midland should not, at this time, have an election to create a public junior college. The decision by the board, in upholding its study commission, was accepted by both the opponents and the proponents who agreed with the committee "in view of the strong differences of opinion Midland is not at this time ready to proceed with an election." The board recommended that Midland continue to study the matter and when existing differences are resolved that the board be requested to review the application again. Tom Sealy of Midland, who headed the opposition, told the board that the opposition is not

Webb Safety Wins Praise

An outstanding Flying Safety Award was presented to Webb today morning by the commanding general of Air Training Command, the third such honor for the base in recent years. Arriving at Webb in a T-33 jet trainer, Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs was met at the flight line at 10 a.m. by Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, wing commander, and other ranking base officials. AWARD PRESENTED Officers and airmen of the flying and maintenance organizations, and the Wing Staff, were assembled in formation in one of Webb's big hangars for the formal presentation of a large engraved plaque for "achievement of an outstanding safety record in preventing aircraft accidents during the six-month period ending June 30, 1959." To Col. Eisenhart and his audience, the general emphasized that Webb's record is especially noteworthy, inasmuch as the award was won by a training organization — with much flying by unskilled U. S. and foreign students in single-engine aircraft. Also, flying was performed in an area of dust storms and sudden weather changes, during a time when extensive construction was under way on runways and taxiways. The general singled out as "particularly impressive" the "superior work by both instructors and maintenance personnel."

NO FATALITIES During the period of the award, the 356th Pilot Training Wing flew 37,000 hours, involving $2,000 successful landings, with a percentage of 5.3 accidents per 100,000 flying hours — compared with an ATC-wide basic pilot training mission average of 11.6. Webb was the only comparable ATC base to complete this period fatality-free. Along with the plaque and Gen. Briggs' congratulations, the base received a special letter of appreciation from Brig. Gen. Walter E. Arnold, Director of Flight and Missile Safety Research, Headquarters U. S. Air Force. This being the first official visit of the new Training Command head to Webb, Gen. Briggs was given a command briefing in the Wing Conference Room before inspecting all phases of the Webb operation.

A luncheon was held for the distinguished visitor at the Officers' Field Dining Hall, with Col. Eisenhart, Col. James A. Johnson,

Nixon, Mitchell Effort Successful

WASHINGTON (AP)—The eight month steel dispute was settled today. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, looking tired and haggard, announced that the United Steelworkers Union and the industry have "voluntarily" accepted terms recommended by himself and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The secretary made his announcement to newsmen assembled in the banquet room of the Sheraton-Canton Hotel after a 22-hour continuous negotiating session. Mitchell, flanked by President David J. McDonald of the USW and the chief industry negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper said he and Nixon had been mediating for the past several weeks at President Eisenhower's request. As a result, he said, the differences between the parties were narrowed to the point where the government-recommended settlement was accepted voluntarily. McDonald said the union's Wage Policy Committee had been summoned to meet in Washington at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He will present the settlement terms to the committee. Mitchell said that pending ratification by both sides the terms would be withheld. Without going into the terms, McDonald said the settlement means peace and prosperity for the steelworkers. He added that the union is "sound, safe and secure." Cooper said in a statement that "naturally we are relieved that this controversy is over and that the nationwide fear of another steel strike on Jan. 26 has been removed."

Compromise Beyond Companies' Offer

The Jan. 26 date is the time when the Taft-Hartley labor law injunction, under which the men are now at work, would expire. Lacking a settlement, the union would have been free to strike again then. Cooper said the recommended settlement represents a compromise which goes beyond what the companies had previously offered. "But it is clear that in light of all the circumstances at hand, the best course of action was for the companies to accept the recommended settlement," Cooper said. "We hope that the union officers at all levels and the steelworkers they represent will join hands with management in a united effort to improve efficiency and eliminate waste—and in this way increase the rate of economic progress so greatly needed," Cooper said. The degree of such cooperation, Cooper went on, will bear heavily upon the extent to which the settlement may inflate steel production costs. "While we have not obtained our full objectives, progress has been made on many of the issues involved in this dispute," Cooper said. Mitchell said "there is no question in my mind, none whatsoever," that the settlement terms will be accepted by both sides. Asked about Nixon's role in the crucial talks, the secretary said: "Without the vice president we would not have had a settlement." Mitchell said Nixon began intensive efforts to arrange a settlement when President Eisenhower was away on his 11-nation goodwill trip abroad. Mitchell related that one or the other of the parties, or both, met quietly eight or ten times at the home of the vice president. Nixon also met with the heads of the 11 major steel companies, comprising the industry policy team, in New York. Mitchell disclosed, worked out some hours earlier.

Mitchell Lauds Nixon Leadership

The basic recommendation was made by Nixon and Mitchell Thursday morning, the day that the vice president left for California, Mitchell disclosed. "His (Nixon's) influence, his leadership, and his prestige were very significant in this settlement," the labor secretary added. Mitchell said the only reason the terms were withheld was to give the union's 170-member Wage Policy Committee time to consider and ratify the proposal. McDonald said he was wanted to commend Eisenhower, Nixon and Mitchell for their efforts during the long stalemate. Cooper, chief industry negotiator, seconded that commendation, saying, "the same goes for me too."

Cooper, asked whether the steel industry will be required to boost prices because of the steel settlement, said, "I do not care to discuss that subject." All but the final details had been worked out some hours earlier. Just before Mitchell's announcement Mitchell and Cooper had taken the terms to McDonald's hotel room for a final check-over. Before matters reached that stage a government official had reported announcement of an agreement might be made "within an hour or so."

First word that a settlement was imminent had come Sunday from New York. A national metal working weekly, Iron Age, said in New York a 30-month agreement costing the industry about 41 cents an hour was indicated. The publication said this would include a 4-cent-an-hour cost of living increase.

Shaving Women May Spark Trouble SEOU, South Korea (AP)—The U.N. Command admitted today that two American soldiers, acting on the orders of their company commander, shaved the heads of two Korean women found on their military base. The announcement was expected to provoke indignation reaction from South Koreans. An Army press statement said the shaving was done by Sgt. Ora Curritute, 30, of Chillicothe, Ohio, and Sgt. Harry K. Saunders, 37, Kansas City, Mo., on the orders of Capt. James W. McEnery, 34, of Cheyenne, Wyo.

The command said the women—Ae Soon Kim, 30, and Jong Jun Kim, 22, "were apparently not authorized to be within the military reservation at the time of their apprehension." The U.N. provost marshal's office began an investigation.

Campaigners In Early Start On TV Wars

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If the first weekend of the new year is any indication of coming events, there are signs presidential campaigning by TV already has begun in earnest.

Within a few hours Sunday, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler and Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton were on different networks lobbing grenades into each other's forts.

Then presidential aspirant John F. Kennedy took over for an earnest half-hour.

Actually, the Sunday afternoon and early evening interview shows week in and week out, are preoccupied with politics and politicians. From now until next November we can expect even greater concentration.

If you haven't been paying close attention lately, Sunday gradually is losing its high intellectual luster. A couple of seasons back, there even were complaints that most of the so-called good shows were crammed into Sunday afternoon. Some of them are now departed and all sorts of odds and ends are taking their places.

SPORTS SHOW

Most recent entry into the Sunday afternoon sweepstakes is "Sunday Sports Spectacular," a 90-minute divertissement which will devote itself to a different sport each week. The first program consisted of an alleged basketball game played by a troupe called the Harlem Globe Trotters and some well-rehearsed stoggers. The announcers persisted in treating the game as if for real.

CBS turned up with another new show for our Sunday delectation. This one, at 11 a.m. is called for "FYI" and is dedicated to the exploration of social problems. The first show was concerned with the victims of rather routine crimes—holdups, robberies, muggings—and had the victims relating in their own words their reaction to terrifying experiences. It was a most interesting show, with closeups of serious faces.

Sunday Showcase, on NBC, did a moving and gripping account of photographer Margaret Bourke-White's struggle with Parkinson's disease. Teresa Wright was perfect as the central figure. The play was done with great sensitivity, but even so the operating room scenes were a little hard to take.

Dinah Shore was away and in her place NBC tried a musical comedy "Around the World With Nellie Bly." Any resemblance to a movie with a similar title was purely accidental. A shame, too, because Janet Blair is a talented, bright star.

Film Industry Faces A Strike

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Having survived a perilous decade, the movie industry now faces 1960 with the threat of a strike that could shutter the studios.

The issue is coming to a head, with the actors and writers on one side (though not necessarily together) and the major studios on the other. The prize: the money to be earned from release of post-1948 movies to television.

So far the two talent guilds are remaining firm. They feel they deserve a share of the proceeds from the features they helped create.

The studios are equally firm. Spyros Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox, last week predicted "a battle to the death" if the writers and actors continue their demands.

"We need this money," said Skouras of the future funds from TV sales. His contentions: most films nowadays lose money; the studios must get revenue wherever they can; if the Guilds don't back down, the studios would be closed for a reassessment and re-adjustment.

Other movie heads have been making tough talk. There have been rumors that production would be shifted to England if a strike occurred.

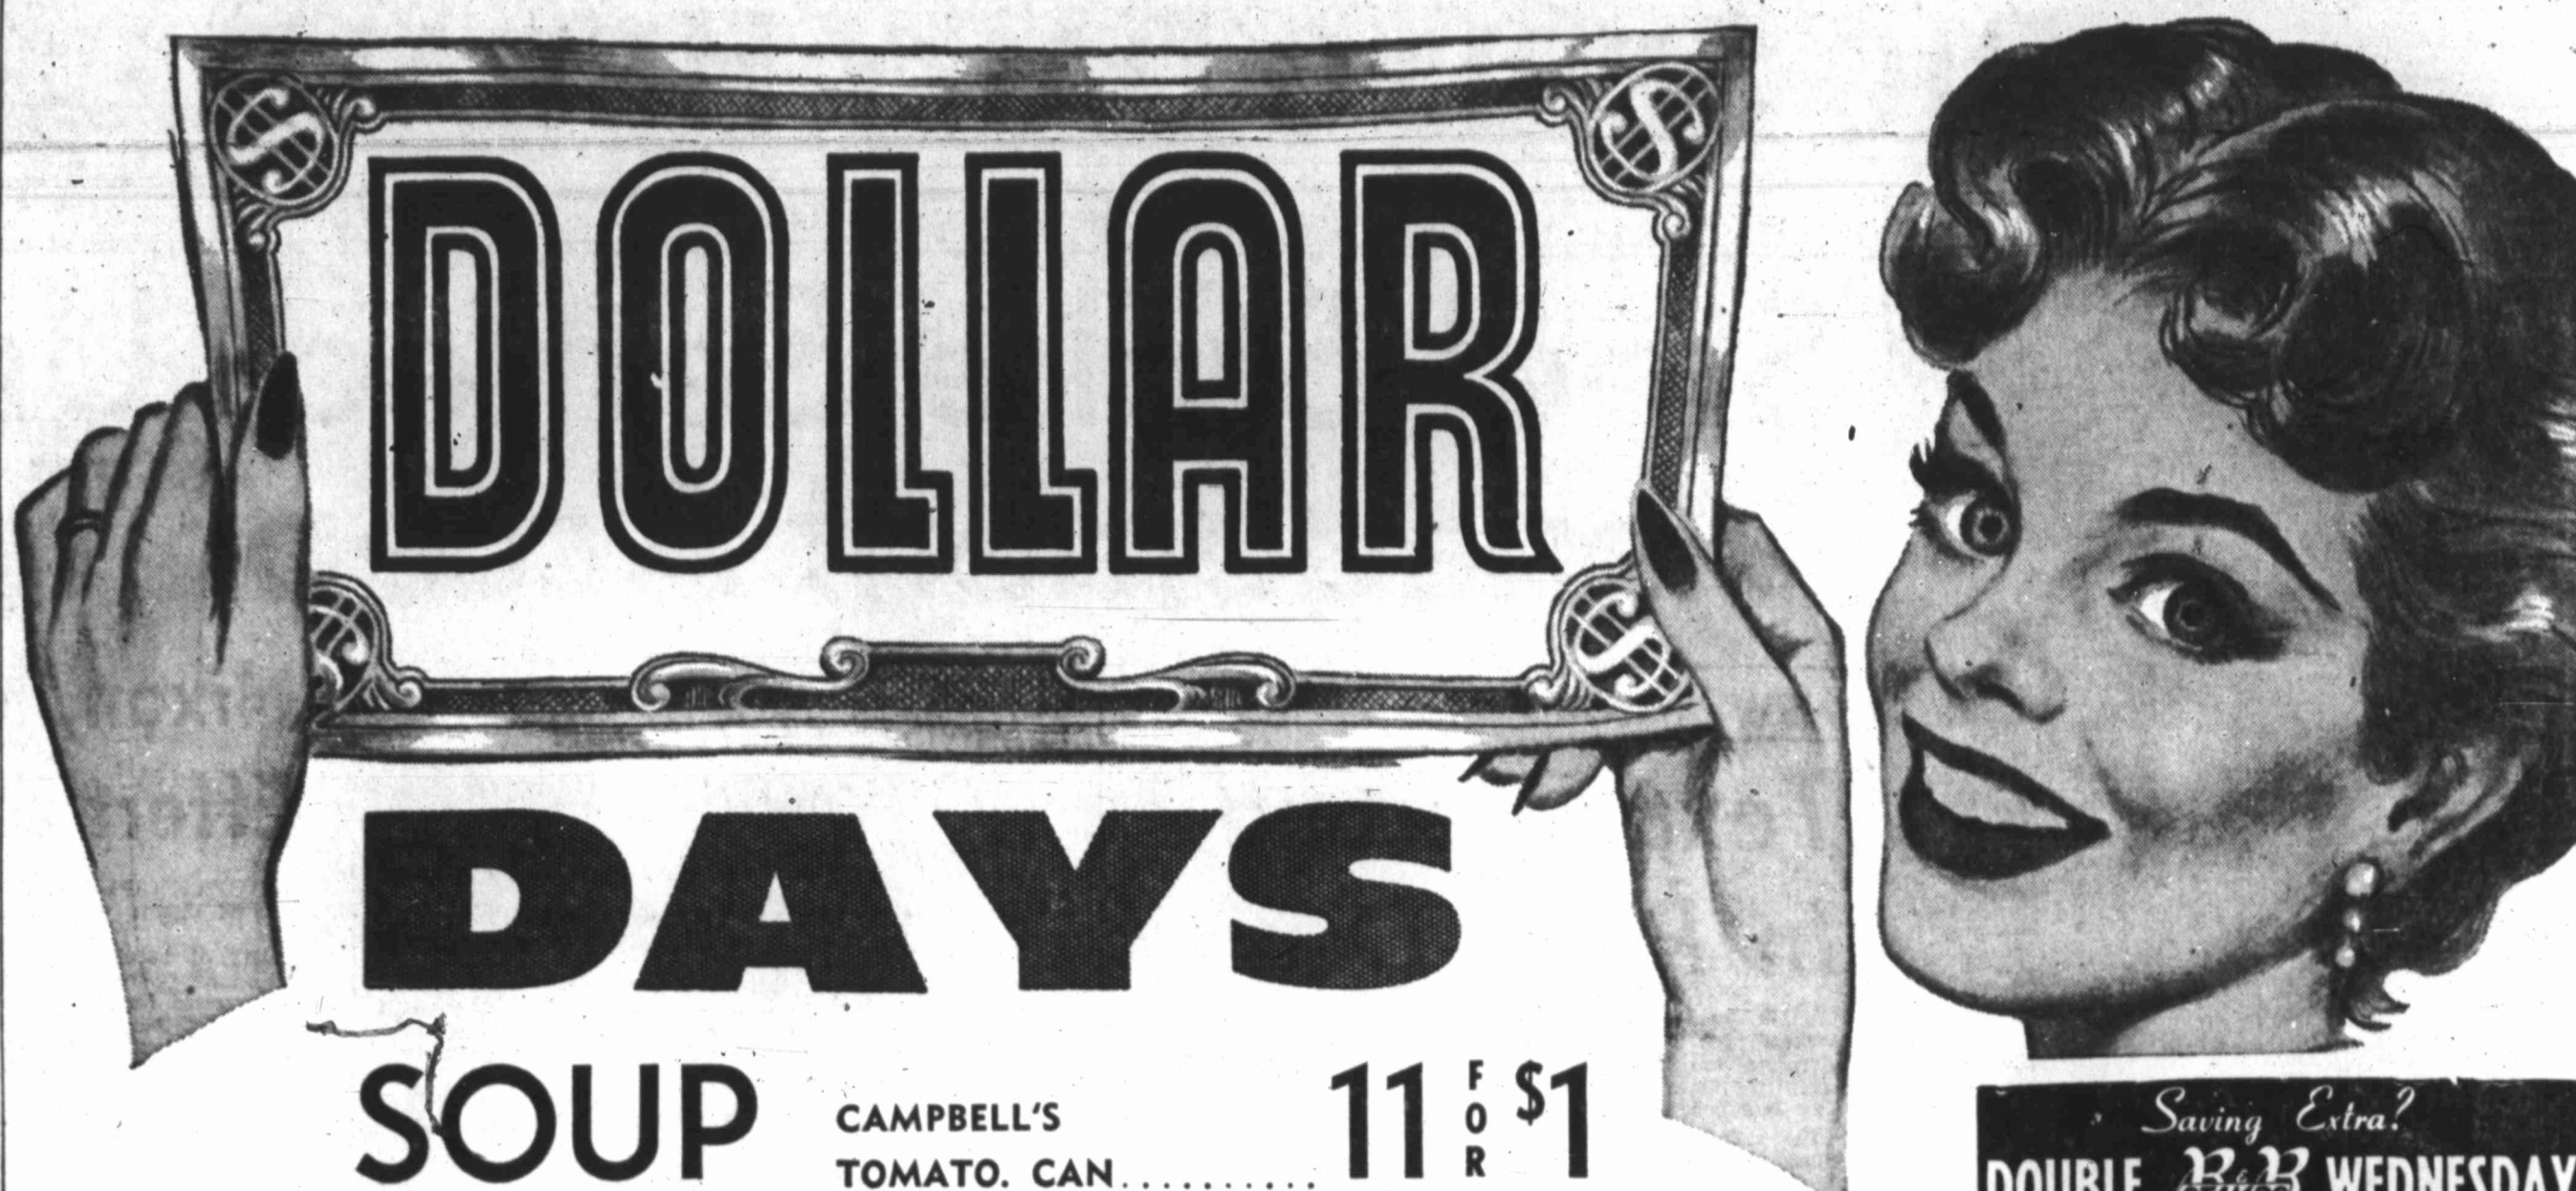

Why is all this happening now? Because the writers and actors have been negotiating for new contracts with the studios. The guilds feel the time is ripe to demand a share of receipts from sales of feature films to TV.

The seeds of the dispute were planted Aug. 1, 1948. That was the date of a Screen Actors Guild contract with the studios. The actors, concerned about the growth of the TV industry, got a clause stating they could strike against any producer selling features made after that date to television without cutting the actors in for a share.

The Writers Guild of America got a similar clause in 1951.

Most of the features you see on TV were made before 1948. But between 300 and 400 newer ones have been sold to TV, and the guilds have profited from them. Writers and actors have received up to 15 per cent of the original salaries. Other deals call for a percentage of the profit from the TV sales.

Actors argue they should continue sharing the TV money because their faces are used on the home screen, with the possible impairment of their careers. Writers reason that they have one stock in trade — stories — and their supply is limited; that they should profit from rights to their stories in any medium.

Nine Killed In Head-On Crash

The tudor sedan in which two couples from Wellsville, Pa., and Geneva, N.Y., were riding south on U.S. Highway 27 about 60 miles north of Miami, Fla., met head-on with a station wagon carrying five persons. All nine persons were killed.

Aged Woman Found Dead In Her Room

Body of Mrs. Maggie S. (Lena) Black, 74, was found in her apartment sitting room at 8 a.m. today by her landlady, Mrs. Claude Eppler.

Mrs. Black had apparently been dead since around 9 p.m. Sunday. She was seated in a chair and had evidently been watching television as the receiver was still on when Mrs. Eppler forced her way into the room.

Mitchell Woman Death Victim

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. W. L. Padgett, 83, Mitchell County resident for three decades, died at her home in the Looney Community south of Colorado City at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Arrangements are pending at the Kiker & Son Funeral Chapel. Mrs. Padgett was born in Saluda County, S. C., on July 2, 1876 and was married there to W. L. Padgett. They came to Mitchell County 31 years ago and had farmed in the Looney community. She was a member of the Looney Baptist Church.

Ex-Con Says 4 In Family Died Over Witness Danger

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A slender ex-convict says four members of a prominent Kansas farm family met death last November because he and a fellow robber "didn't want any witnesses."

Authorities said Richard Eugene Hickock's signed statement Sunday night supplied all the answers to the Clutter family murders, a case that had puzzled Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents for weeks.

Martin County Test Shows Promise Of Potential Oil

Ellenburger and Simpson discovery potential, may be possible at the Great Western No. 1 Allen site in Martin County.

Operator reported slight shows this morning in both formations. In the upper Simpson, a core between 12,000-110 feet recovered shale and sand with oil stains.

In the lower section of the formation, between 12,110-115 feet, slight shows were reported on a core of shaly dolomite.

An Ellenburger core, between 11,155-15 feet recovered fractured dolomite with good shows of oil.

Operator is now attempting to free the stuck drill pipe at 12,000 feet.

Cities Service No. 1-C Lindsey, Dawson County project, recovered only mud on a drillstem test of the lower Sprabery. The test was between 7,665-740 feet.

Forest No. 1 Hamilton is drilling in lime and shale at 7-111 feet. This Romaine field project is 600 from north and east lines of section 46-30-J. H. Gibson survey.

Relations between the United States and Brazil worsened last year when President Juscelino Kubitschek's government refused to put into effect economic reforms advocated by the International Monetary Fund as a condition for the granting of credits and eventual U. S. loans to Brazil.

Chamber of Commerce directors, together with several other members, were meeting at noon Monday to consider proposed changes in the organization's constitution and by-laws.

Should the membership approve changes in the constitution, the board will be reduced from its present 40 to 15. Ballots were ready to go into the mail this afternoon in event of approval.

The nomination committee has returned 30 names for 15 places (all will be elected for the first year) and ballots were ready to go into the mail today in event of membership approval of the changes.

At the session in the Settles ballroom end of the year reports were to be heard from several committees, and plans for the Friday, Feb. 5 banquet, were to be discussed.

Survivors include her parents, five sisters, Yolanda, Mary Ann, Virginia, Rose Marie and Esther; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Galan, Big Spring.

Father Patrick Casey will officiate at the services and burial will be in City Cemetery. Nalley-Pickle Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

He said at the time that he hoped to use the prize of more than $42,000 to retire to a small hotel near Paris and work on a new novel. But he did not remain away from the active literary and theatrical life here in the capital for long. Last year the French government appointed him head of a state-supported theater to present forgotten plays.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

One golf bug there remarked recently he got a pair of links shoes for Christmas but wouldn't wear them when playing the Muni course for fear of ruining them. He added his footgear fared well enough as long as he kept in the fairway but the shoes took an awful beating in the rough — because of the abundance of rocks and a lack of grass. A sprinkling system would do wonders for the course and perhaps bring on a golfing boom, the likes of which have never been seen here before.

Sports writers and college publicity men who were coming back from the Southwest Conference Basketball tournament at Houston were singing the praises of Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk, who has won a starting berth with the SMU Mustangs as a sophomore.

One individual, said, in his opinion, the Ponies certainly wouldn't have made it to the finals against Texas A&M without the help of Big Jan. Loudermilk scored a total of 33 points in the three games and distinguished himself otherwise as a rebounder and on defense.

If the eighth annual Howard College Basketball tournament staged here last week serves no other purpose, it will shift the role of favorite in the West Zone race to Buddy Travis' HCJC boys, who swept to the tournament championship in impressive fashion.

When the season got under way, Clarendon was regarded as the club to beat in the conference race. However, the Bulldogs took a couple of losses in the local meet and yielded more than a little prestige. Granted that the Jayhawks were playing at home, they still looked good when the blue chips were showing.

Amarillo picked up more respect by finishing third and could pose a problem for all those opposition, especially when playing at home. Frank Phillips of Berger, Lubbock Christian College and South Plains JC of Levelland were three zone teams which didn't play in the tournament but none has been overly impressive in starts to date.

It's a lead pipe clinch now that the tall and talented Midland Bulldogs will enter the District 3-AAAA basketball race with an unbeaten record. The 47-50 triumph Robert Todd's team scored at the expense of Big Spring in the finals of the Odessa Tournament last weekend represented the club's 17th straight win.

It's the second year in a row for 3-AAAA teams to fare so well in non-conference play. If memory serves me correctly, Odessa High won 23 straight contests last year before yielding to Pampa in the regional playoffs.

Midland isn't about to lose to Pampa, Berger or any other 3-AAAA outfit this year. Time was when 3-AAAA was recognized as a "football district" and 3-AAAA was regarded as a basketball hornet's nest. District 3-AAAA quintets took their lumps as regularly as they went north to play the 3-AAAA teams. That situation no longer exists. The balance of power seems to have swung south in both sports.

Big Daddy Lipscomb, the Baltimore Colt lineman who is now playing basketball with a barnstorming troupe.

$7,448,237 Is Sunland Handle

ANAPRA, N. M., (SC)—Boosted by a $270,021 which went through the windows on the final day of the meet, Sunland Park's parimutuel handle for the entire meet amounted to $7,448,237. The meet wound up Sunday.

Total attendance amounted to 380,536, with the average daily attendance reported at 6,999. Sunland's second season will open in October. Dates are subject to approval of the New Mexico State Racing Commission.

Vic Mon has been voted, The Horse of the Meet, in a poll of 300 newspaper, radio and TV reporters covering the Sunland Park Inaugural Race Meet. The four-year-old colt was also selected the best Handicap horse.

He is by Easy Mon—Sweet Victory by Cohort and is owned by Mr. W. J. Lewis, Jr., of Clarendon, Texas, trained by E. L. (Ed) Bassford. Vic Mon started thirty-one times in 1959 winning six, was second five times and third on eight occasions. His winnings for '59 total $21,823.

The "bests" in all categories polled are: Best 2 Year Old—Bobbin; Best 2 Year old colt or gelding—El Zag; Best 2 year old filly—Bobbin; Best 3 year old colt or gelding—Theba Kid; Best 3 year old filly—Merry-Mo; Best handicap horse—Vic Mon; Best handicap filly or mare—Spicy; Best sprinter—Theba Kid; Best New Mexico bred—Chat.

Best horse of the meet—Vic Mon; Best jockey—Robert Scharon; Best apprentice—Larry Spraker; Merry Mo is owned by J. T. Dillard of Big Spring.

F. BROYLES EARNS ACCLAIM FOR GATOR BOWL VICTORY

By F. T. MACFEELEY JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Frank Broyles is going to be one of the nation's greatest football coaches, judging by this year's Gator Bowl game.

In his first bowl game as head coach, Broyles brought his Arkansas Razorbacks to a 14-7 victory over Georgia Tech Saturday. No one else has been able to outdo Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech in a bowl game. He won eight previous ones without a loss.

But Broyles, who learned his football as player and assistant coach at Tech under Dodd, not only broke the string but did it against a Tech team that came into the game fired up, as Yellow Jackets usually are for the big ones. Arkansas had the ball for only three plays in the first quarter and went nowhere. Tech scored a touchdown and missed a field goal.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Scout Gets More Pension Than He Offered Stars

By FRANK ECK ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—For three years scout Fred Hofmann of the Baltimore Orioles has been collecting a baseball pension of $490 a month. That's more than the combined total he offered Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra to sign off the sandlots.

Happy Baseball Scout

Former big league catcher Fred Hofmann beams as he looks over the list of young prospects on the Baltimore roster. Hofmann collects a $490 monthly baseball pension.

"When I managed the San Francisco Missions, I offered Joe DiMaggio $125 a month to sign. Joe wanted $140, and signed with the Seattle. They sold him to the Yankees for $25,000 and five players."

"Berra was a kid in St. Louis when I coached the Browns. His buddy, Joe Garagiola, got $500 for signing with the Cardinals; Yogi wanted the same. He had pride. I offered him $300. When he was 18 I saw him hit a ball on the right field roof in Sportsman's Park. So did John Schulte, a Yankee scout. He wrote Joe McCarthy and got permission to sign him."

"But about the pension? 'Well, I had 10 years as a player and 13 years as a coach,' says Hofmann, 'but I paid in only $450 a year for three years.'

"Three years ago when I decided to collect $490 a month, people said I was crazy. If I waited until I was 65 I would have had $550 a month. But I collected $17,640 before I was 65, and to make that up I'd have to live to about 90."

Hofmann, a St. Louis native now living in Dunbar, Fla., scouted the Florida area for the Orioles. One of his prizes is John (Boo) Powell, a 6-foot-4 230-pounder from Key West.

"He had hit a ball as far as Babe Ruth did," says Hofmann. "He was only 18 last August. He was an outfielder but Paul Richards (Oriole manager) suggested we make a first baseman out of him. Twenty-six big league scouts saw him in Florida state school playoffs at Fort Pierce."

"When Bill Veek moved into St. Louis he cleaned house," says Hofmann. "I became a scout and when the Browns became the Baltimore Orioles, Bill DeWitt (now Detroit president), kept me as a scout."

"The game has been good to me. I worked under three owners and five different managers in St. Louis. Scouting keeps me young, especially when I see so many good looking prospects coming out of high school."

"We miss a lot of boys because there are few baseball scholarships in college, and the athletes who want college are getting scholarships for football and basketball."

Possible Court Battle Looms Over Tiger Star

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A possible court fight loomed today between clubs of two rival pro football leagues over the services of All-America halfback Billy Cannon of Louisiana State.

The Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League and the Houston Oilers of the newly formed American Football League announced after the Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1 they had contracts with Cannon, who was the No. 1 choice in the pro draft.

Cannon, who has left to play in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu next Sunday, was unavailable for clarification.

C. S. (Bud) Adams, millionaire owner of the Oilers, said in an interview with the New Orleans Times-Picayune he would welcome a court test by the Rams.

Adams accused the Rams of "unethical practices" in trying to lure Cannon into the fold and charged that some NFL members—he did not identify them—with "wholesale conniving in an attempt to sabotage our league."

Cannon reportedly received $100,000 for a three-year agreement with the Houston club. The Rams did not disclose any details of their pact with Cannon except that it was a "binding contract."

"I can't imagine what type of 'binding contract' the Los Angeles club has with Cannon," Adams said, "but I'd like to see the Rams make good their threat to take us to court."

"Under the constitution and by-laws of the NFL, no contract between a member club and a player is valid until approved by the league. Under these same by-laws no member club can sign a player until he completes his college eligibility."

Adams charged that the Rams had sent Cannon a check which he turned over to his Baton Rouge banker for safe-keeping until reaching a decision on which pro team to select. He said Cannon recently returned the uncashed check to the Rams.

"The Rams knew that Cannon had to play in the Sugar Bowl game and therefore any tampering with him—any attempt to sign him to a 'binding contract'—would be in direct violation of their league's rules," Adams said.

"I sure would like to see them explain that to court."

"Los Angeles and other NFL members apparently have come to the realization that the AFL isn't just a pipe dream and that it will be operating next season."

"Now it appears that they may attempt to embarrass some clean-cut American boys like Billy Cannon when in reality they themselves were guilty of wrongdoing. Cannon has done nothing illegal or dishonest and neither have we. And if this thing gets to court we're going to back him 100 per cent because I know we have right on our side."

Harrington, a 26-year-old puncher, faces rugged, free-swinging Gaspar Ortega, 26, of Mexico, in the radio-television (NBC 10 p.m., EST) feature at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday.

Ortega is the No. 6 contender in the 147-pound division. Hubbard, 23, unbeaten New York-born Philadelphian, takes on classy Rudell Stutch, 26, of Louisville, the fourth-ranked contender, at the Chicago Stadium (ABC TV, 10 p.m., EST) Wednesday.

Harrington comes in fresh from a fourth-round knockout victory over promising Jerry Hunicutt. The Hawaiian's record is 34-5-1, including 21 kayos. Ortega's record is 51-17-2, including 21 knockouts. The unlucky Indian from Mexicali lost two split decisions to Cuban Florentino Fernandez in his last fights and is desperate to get back in the victory column.

Another defeat will drop him from the rankings. Stutch whipped Ralph Dupas and Holly Mims in his last two outings to boost his record to 23-6, including 11 knockouts. Hubbard's record is 19-0-2. The two draws were with Willie Grey in prelims.

Stanton's Donelson Named To Sportswriters' Team

By The Associated Press The Class A all-State football team selected by the Texas Sports Writers Assn. came out a squad of 13 players.

There were ties for two positions and one of them was an illustrious name in football—Baugh.

Todd Baugh, quarterback of Rotan and son of the famed passer, Sam Baugh, who now is coach of the New York team in the American Football League, tied for one of the backfield spots.

There were no unanimous choices but Tommy Stapp of Albany came closest. The big tackle got 61 of a possible 70 points.

Billy Edwards of Ralls was the only repeater from last year. He took a tackle spot on the first team.

Sundown, which played Katy in the finals, had two players on the team. So did Albany, Katy, the champion, came up with one—its mighty fullback, Farriel Culpepper.

The first team: Ends: Norman Donelson, Stanton, and Rocky Hill, Albany, and Jerry Broom, Leverett's Chapel, tied.

Tackles: Tommy Stapp, Albany, and Billy Edwards, Ralls. Guards: Johnny Kolacek, West, and Bill Martin, Mason. Center: Wilfred Rejsek, East Bernard.

Backs: Farriel Culpepper, Katy; David McInturf, Sundown; Rex Turner, El Paso, and Todd Baugh, Rotan, and Haskell Davis, Sundown, tied.

All are seniors except Hill and Davis, who are sophomores. The second team: Ends: George Hale, Mason, and Duane Gibbs, Gaston; tackles: Donald Kaiser, Bishop, and Larry Lehmer, Mason; guards: Larry Seymour, Merkel, and Will J. Hubbard, Kennedy; center: Ronald Powell, Sudan; backs: Jim Henry, Crowell, James Brown, Kennedy; Clayton Downing, Lindale, and Lewis Sessums, Sundown.

Cage Circuit Set For Debut

Play gets under way in the YMCA Industrial Basketball League Monday night and continues through Feb. 8. Play will be confined to the Goliad Junior High gym.

Four teams are contesting for the title. They represent E. C. Smith Construction Company, Cannon Shoe Store, Phillips Tire Co. and a group which calls itself the Outlaws and which has several sponsors.

In opening contests, E. C. Smith's tries the Outlaws at 7:30 p.m. while Cannon Shoe Store takes on Phillips Tire at 8:30 p.m.

Second round of competition is set up beginning on Jan. 18. The team with the best overall record at the end of the third and final round of competition will be declared the champion. A playoff will take place if the two top quintets have identical overall records.

A sportsmanship trophy will be given to some individual at the conclusion of play—Two weeks prior to the end of competition, all managers will vote on an all-star team. The all-star team will be for recognition purposes only. No individual awards will be made.

Managers of the teams are: Outlaws, Gerald Sanderson; Phillips Tire, Joe Cook; E. C. Smith Construction, Ray Crooks; and Cannon Shoe Store, Frank Calcutt.

The playoff, if it is necessary, will take place at 8 p.m. Feb. 11. The schedule:

FIRST ROUND JANUARY 4 7:30 p.m.—E. C. Smith vs. Outlaws 8:30 p.m.—Cannon Shoe vs. Phillips Tire

JANUARY 11 7:30 p.m.—Outlaws vs. Phillips Tire 8:30 p.m.—E. C. Smith vs. Cannon Shoe

JANUARY 18 7:30 p.m.—Cannon Shoe vs. Outlaws 8:30 p.m.—Phillips Tire vs. E. C. Smith

SECOND ROUND JANUARY 25 7:30 p.m.—Phillips Tire vs. E. C. Smith 8:30 p.m.—Cannon Shoe vs. Outlaws

FEBRUARY 1 7:30 p.m.—E. C. Smith vs. Outlaws 8:30 p.m.—Cannon Shoe vs. Phillips Tire

FEBRUARY 8 7:30 p.m.—Outlaws vs. Phillips Tire 8:30 p.m.—Cannon Shoe vs. Outlaws

FEBRUARY 15 8:00 p.m.—Play-off, if necessary.

Cal Gets 2nd Chance At SC

By DON WEISS Associated Press Sports Writer

California's prideful Bears and clutch-shooting Southern California have at it again tonight in a college basketball rematch of Saturday's 65-57 USC victory that snapped Cal's 25-game winning streak.

Meanwhile Cincinnati, the unchallenged national leader now that California has stubbed its toe, makes ready for a two-game road trip signalling its plunge into full-scale Missouri Valley Conference play.

The California-Southern California meeting, on the same Los Angeles court where the Trojans sprang their string-snapper Saturday, actually is a rubber game. Cal, which had won nine straight this season since building up a 16-game streak in its rush to the NCAA championship last March, toppled Southern Cal 65-61 in overtime in the semi-finals of the Los Angeles Classic last Tuesday.

The Trojans, now 8-3 and sure to join the elite in the national rankings this week, got the job done with a smooth-shooting rally after failing to hit from the field in the first 7 minutes.

Cal's loss left Cincinnati, better known as Oscar Robertson & friends, with a solid top-ranking and the longest major streak—a mere 11 games. The Bearcats rolled to their 10th straight this season by shaking away from Dayton's ball control for a 70-63 decision Saturday as Big O scored 32 for a 40.7 season average.

The Bearcats get down to the serious business of attempting defense of their Missouri Valley title this week. They travel to Wichita Thursday and Tulsa on Saturday.

Hardly through the pre-conference period, only four major schools remain unbeaten—one of the few scrapping perfect record lists in recent years. With Cincinnati (10-0), the others are Texas A&M (8-0), Villanova (7-0) and LaSalle (6-0). None of the latter three has been tested by a rated power.

Besides California, DePaul of Chicago slipped from the all-winning class over the weekend—losing 75-74 to Louisville.

In other significant games, ninth-ranked Bradley crushed sixth-ranked St. Louis 86-64 in a showdown meeting of Cincinnati's top rivals in the Missouri Valley; Purdue and Minnesota thoroughly scrambled the Big Ten picture, with the Boilermakers slugging seventh-ranked Indiana 79-76 and the much-whipped Gobbers cuffing Iowa 70-61; and Georgia Tech, tenth-ranked, established itself as top banana in the Southeastern Conference by whipping Kentucky on the Wildcats' home floor, 62-54.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wreckers will move into Ebbs Field next summer to start destroying what once was the home of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The largest single apartment house in the city will go up there.

Hawks To Oppose Cisco Tuesday

By The Associated Press

HCJC's Jayhawks, winners of the HC Basketball tournament here last weekend, won't have much time to rest on their laurels. The Hawks return to court play here tomorrow night, at which time they host Cisco Junior College in an 8 o'clock engagement.

HCJC plays twice this week. The locals visit San Angelo Friday night for a return engagement with Phil George's Rams.

Buddy Travis' team opens conference play Tuesday, Jan. 12, at which time it will be host to Clarendon, the pre-season favorite to win the championship.

The Hawks have now won 12 of 13 starts.

Candidate

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts poses for a closeup portrait in Washington after announcing his formal entry into the Democratic presidential race.

Candidates Sure To Wage Battle In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination appeared certain today to wage a major battle in Wisconsin.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he considers the April 5 Wisconsin primary "the heart and core of my political prospects." Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said he knows of no reason why he would not enter the same contest. Both have campaigned widely in the state.

Kennedy's formal announcement Saturday listed his entry only in the New Hampshire primary, in which he is not likely to have opposition. He said Sunday he will announce within four or five weeks whether he will file in Wisconsin and other states.

Humphrey said in an interview he believes he will win in Wisconsin and added: "The Wisconsin primary is at the very center of my efforts. It is the heart and core of my political prospects."

WOULD RUN
Kennedy said Sunday in a radio-television interview — NBC Meet The Press—that he would run in representative primaries if Humphrey is willing to enter them.

Kennedy said he was confident the two would be running against each other in at least two primaries and that he expects to win. But he declined to issue any challenge to Humphrey, saying he would prefer to let Sen. Humphrey decide where he is going to run.

As for the Wisconsin contest, Kennedy said: "I know of no reason why I might not enter that, or many other primaries."

Humphrey said his next visit to Wisconsin will be Jan. 17 when he will meet boosters at an informal session in Milwaukee. After that, he said, he will make frequent weekend trips to Wisconsin to compete "county by county, city by city and very extensively in the rural areas."

Kennedy said that as a delegate to the Democratic convention, he would not take seriously the candidacy of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) or others who do not enter primary contests. Johnson and Symington, despite extensive speech-making, have not said they are candidates for the nomination.

"If some candidate who will not face us in the primaries and then hopes to be the choice—if he can't beat us, he can't beat Mr. Nixon in November," Kennedy said.

NOT FOR ADLAI
He has accepted Adlai E. Stevenson from this challenge. He indicated he accepted Stevenson's statement that he has no plans to be a candidate and said Stevenson had expounded his views to the country in the 1952 and 1956 presidential campaigns.

Kennedy said again he could not run in all of the major primaries and still hadn't decided whether to enter favorite son states such as California and Ohio. He added: "I have no inhibitions against running against a favorite son."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said on Dec. 22 he would enter his state's presidential primary.

Kennedy emphasized again he would not accept the vice presidential nomination. Humphrey had said his only plans were to seek a third Senate term if he fails to make a good showing in the primaries.

In reply to questions, Kennedy made these other points:
The Democrats do not deserve to be successful if they reject him as a presidential candidate because of his Roman Catholic religion, regardless of any other factors.

He owns no stocks or bonds and has no properties which are involved in any way with the government. He said he "will certainly be glad to take somebody through my books" if it becomes in the public interest.

DEAR ABBY

PROS AND CONS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Re "MOTHER OF THREE" who complained because her children were overloaded with homework: I think she is right and I disagree with your reply. My son is in the seventh grade and here is his typical program: An hour and a half of arithmetic homework every night. On the same night he had to read a chapter of history and answer 20 questions covering the chapter. For English composition he had to write a 300-word essay on WHY I LOVE TO LIVE IN TEXAS. For spelling he had to look up 30 words in the dictionary and use each one in a sentence. For geography he had to turn in a map every week. City maps, river maps, population maps, mineral maps, forest maps, rainfall maps, livestock maps and land form maps. I never saw so many maps in all my life! Each one had to be beautifully colored and printed in ink with a compass rose and a frame around it. If anybody can do this without burning the midnight oil, I'd like to see him. MRS. G. B. H.

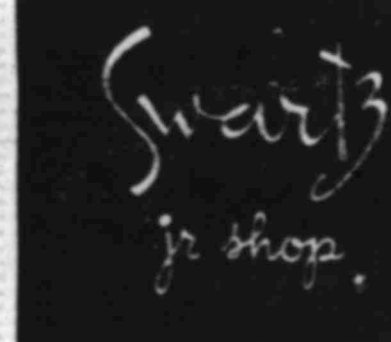

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a high school teacher. A mother once came to him complaining about the amount of homework her daughter had. My husband asked five students who were making straight A's if they had time to do their homework. They all said "yes." Then he asked five students who were making a C average the same question. Three said "yes" and two said "no." Then he asked five who were barely passing. They ALL said "no."

Then my husband suggested that the mother investigate and find out how much actual study time her daughter was putting in at home. The mother reported that she discovered her daughter was sketching, writing personal letters, talking on the phone and snacking about half the time. That is the last time that mother ever complained about homework.

NO NAME PLEASE (We have to eat.)

DEAR ABBY: I am with MOTHER OF THREE.

Mexico Chief Off Next Week On Latin Tour

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's personable President Adolfo Lopez Mateos takes off next week on a South American tour bound to affect relations within the community of American nations. He will visit Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Bolivia. He will go with the prestige of his successful visits last October to the United States and Canada. Lopez Mateos will carry with him also the respect which his country commands in a sometimes turbulent area for its political stability and generally sound economic situation.

The idea of the South American tour blossomed even while he was making his excursion north of the border. He had no sooner left his four days of talks with President Eisenhower than he confided that he had received and accepted in principle an invitation to visit Brazil. Other invitations followed, so many in fact, that the Mexican President was obliged to limit his circuit to the six countries whose bids had been formally accepted. The foreign ministry rejected a suggestion he include Cuba. He has indicated that he might make a separate swing to visit the others.

Subjects he likely will discuss with other presidents include the interAmerican common market, mutual economic assistance among the American states, the continental attitude toward communism, disarmament proposals advanced by Chile and Peru and—above all common relations with the United States.

Students To Get Longer Holiday

KILGORE, Tex. (AP)—Students of the Sabine School, 5 miles west of here in East Texas, will get an extended Christmas vacation. The roof of the school's auditorium caved in with a crash Friday. Supt. J. D. Betts said Saturday that school authorities are still trying to determine the cause, and classes will not be resumed Monday as scheduled. The building was unoccupied at the time. Only a section of roof over the stage failed to collapse. Debris littered the 100-by-40-foot auditorium, which seated 516. It was built in 1952.

MOTHER OF THREE all the way. I have four children in school and their teachers give them homework like there's no tomorrow. Each teacher thinks his (or her) subject is the only one the student is carrying. If a child carries five subjects and spends one hour on each—that's five hours of homework. I have a solution. Why don't the teachers get together and decide which one will give the homework for that night? If they cooperated and gave each student only two subjects every night, the work wouldn't kill the kids and the teachers would be much happier, too. MRS. C.G.F.

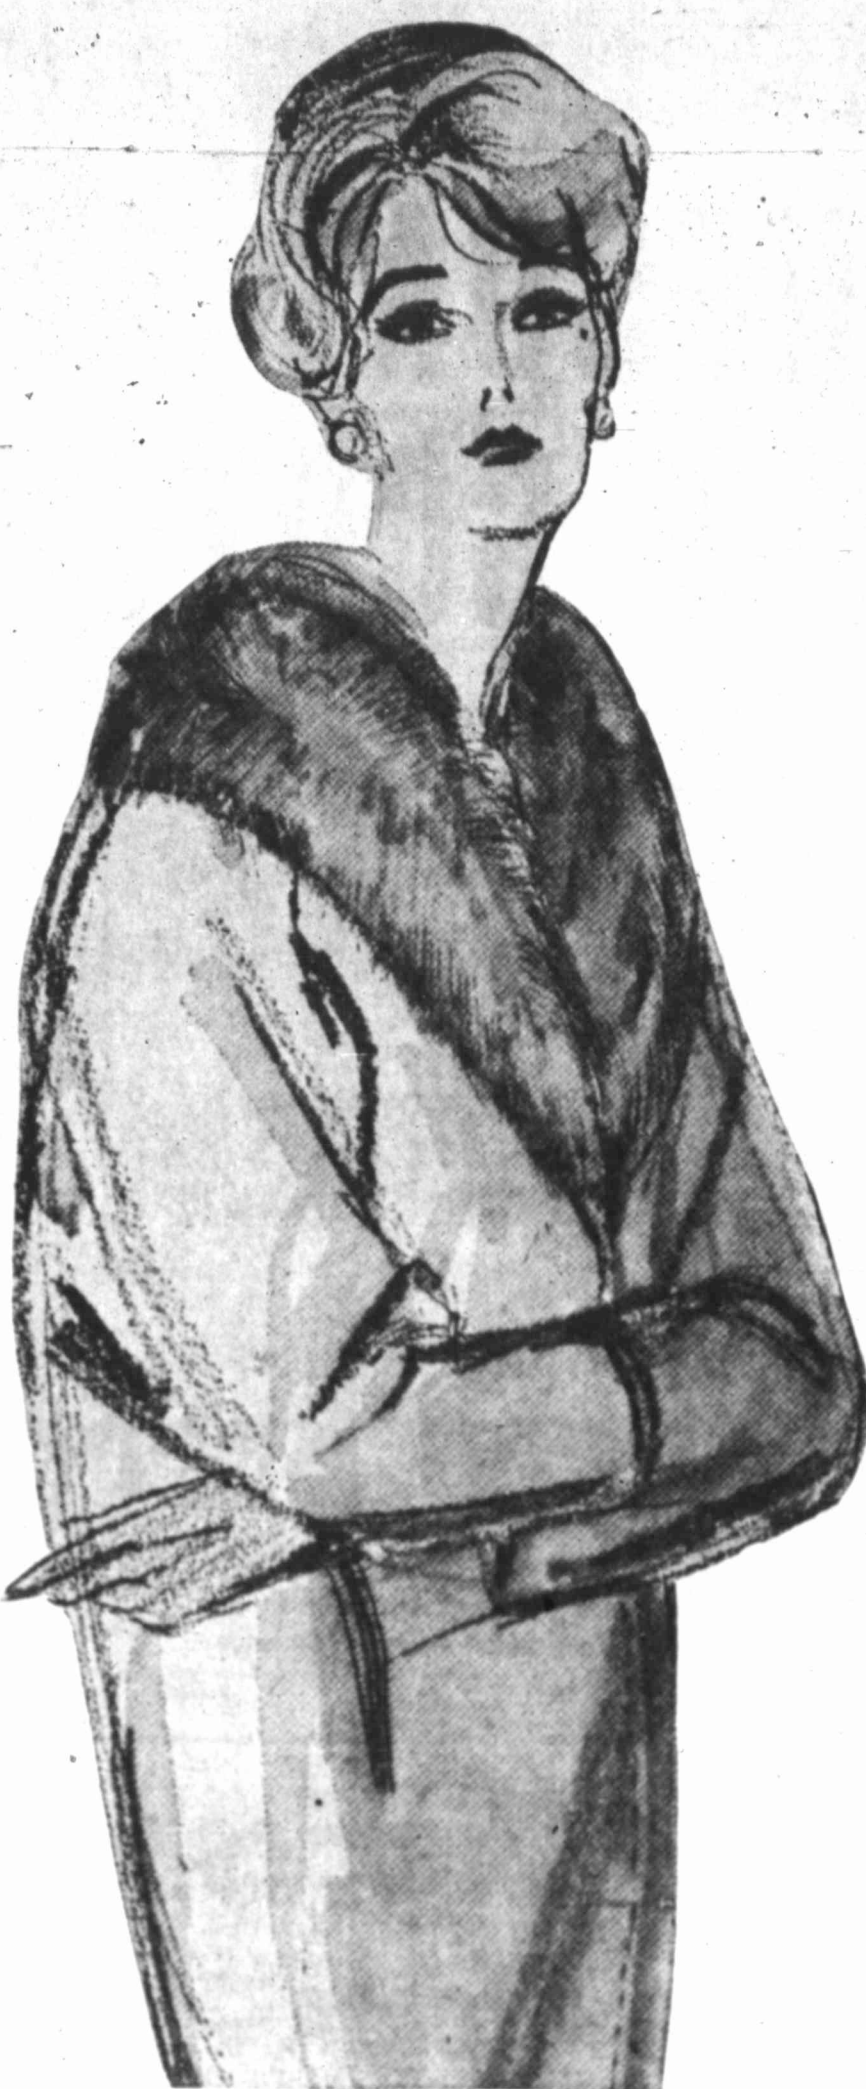

DEAR ABBY: It is obvious from your reply to "MOTHER OF THREE" that you don't have any children in high school. Have you?

DEAR CURIOUS: I have. A freshman son and a senior daughter.

DEAR ABBY: I am an American and have traveled all over the world. When I saw the letter from MOTHER OF THREE, my blood boiled. Our American children do not know what work is. They have been spoiled and pampered until it is disgusting. No wonder some of our high school students can't spell or write. Children in other nations who are fortunate enough to get an education, work in school from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. When they get home they put in at least another three hours. And I never yet heard one of those children (or their parents) complain. "ALL AMERICAN" plain.

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from MOTHER OF THREE, as a FATHER OF SIX, I would like to put in my two cents. Three of my children have finished their education and three are still in school. There is no comparison between the amount of homework the older ones had and what the younger ones are now required to do.

The older ones had plenty of time for play, helping with household chores, music lessons AND homework. The younger ones have so much homework they don't even have time for haircuts, dental appointments or outside play. I suppose it is due to the stepped-up pace of living. What's the hurry? Where are we rushing? To the grave? FATHER OF SIX

Held On Murder Charge

Handcuffed Floyd E. (Gene) Hargrove, 35, enters Lake County Jail in Painesville, Ohio, where he is held on a murder charge in the Christmas Eve sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark at nearby Mentor. Hargrove, a truck driver, was arrested at the home of his mother in Toledo. Behind the prisoner is county coroner Thomas W. McBurney.

Ike To End Work Vacation With State Of Union Talk

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower will end a nine-day working vacation Tuesday with his budget and State of the Union messages in just about the form in which they will go to Congress. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington for whatever final polishing still may be required. Sessions with key advisors over the weekend molded the messages into near-final form. The President personally will deliver the State of the Union message to Congress on Thursday. It sets forth the administration's plans and program for the year ahead. A balanced-budget of around $1 billion dollars, accompanied by an explanatory message, will be sent to Congress Jan. 18.

The chief executive skipped church-Sunday to get in some licks on the State of the Union message with the help of his chief speech writer, Malcolm Moos, and his brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's brother has given a hand on other such messages and he didn't think there would be any mention of a projected presidential goodwill trip to Latin America. Hagerty insists the trip is only in the discussion stage. Dr. Eisenhower has served the President as an expert on Latin-American affairs. Today's schedule called for routine work and more golf.

5 Youths Held For Kidnaping

LAREDO (AP)—Five youths were held in the Webb County Jail today under state charges of kidnaping and armed robbery. Police said the five swooped down on two couples Friday night while they were repairing a flat tire; took the young men's pocket-books at gunpoint and fled with their dates. The five youths exchanged shots with a policeman who arrived on the scene at Lake Casa Blanca but later released the two girls unharmed. Four of the youths were caught by police within an hour. A fifth, Luis Monivals, 19, surrendered yesterday. Charged besides Monivals were Daniel H. Padilla, 23, of Laredo; Andres Garcia, 18, of Corpus Christi; and two teen-aged boys, both from Corpus Christi, whose names were not released by police. Police said the five held a .22 caliber gun on the two youths, they victimized—Reynaldo G. Martinez, 21, and Carlos Benavides, 22, both of Laredo—and then took the two young Laredo women, Misses Juanita Maldonado, 19, and Berta Martinez, 21, with them.

Truck Driver Faces Court In Sniper Slaying

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Floyd E. Hargrove was scheduled for arraignment in municipal court today on a first-degree murder charge in the sniper slaying of the man whose wife he loved. Although Hargrove admitted shooting Charles R. Clark, 35, through a kitchen window of the Clarks' home in nearby Mentor Christmas Eve, no weapon has been recovered and there are conflicting details in his account, authorities said.

Hargrove, 35-year-old delivery truck driver and gospel worker, was arrested three hours after Clark, a Sunday School superintendent and Boy Scout leader, was struck in the right temple by a rifle slug.

Clark's beautiful brunette wife, Lois, 30, and Hargrove, a divorced father of five, admitted an eight-month love affair that broke off a few weeks ago. Sheriff William B. Evans said.

Mrs. Clark, mother of four, was not implicated in the shooting in any way, authorities said. She spent the weekend with her children at the home of Clarks' parents in Rochester, N.Y.

At first Hargrove denied the killing, then a week ago he admitted it. But he was unable to produce the rifle and lie detector tests indicated his confession was false. Released last Tuesday he went to his mother's home in Toledo where he was re-arrested New Year's Day. Saturday he made a second confession.

DATA RELAYED Before he went to Toledo, authorities said, Hargrove told a friend he bought a rifle and had killed Clark because he wanted to marry Mrs. Clark. The friend relayed the information to Mentor's chief of police, Frank D. Bathy.

At a hardware store in nearby Chardon, investigators found a card, filled out for the purchase of a .22 caliber, bolt-action rifle on Dec. 23 in handwriting experts identified as that of Hargrove. A fictitious name was signed.

Hargrove admitted he bought the rifle and showed investigators where he test-fired it into a telephone pole on a lonely country road. Hargrove won an expert marksmanship rating in the Air Corps in World War II.

The slug dug from the pole and the bullet taken from Clark's body were fired from the same gun, experts from the state Bureau of Criminal Investigation reported.

The wife Hargrove divorced Sept. 21, 1958, said he visited her home in Euclid, a Cleveland suburb, after he was released Tuesday.

An attractive blonde of 32, Mrs. Hargrove said "it was a very strained, heart-rending meeting" and that he patted their five children on the head when he left. The Hargroves had been married nine years.

She said that during that time he "became more and more closed in" and went from one religious espousal to another.

Youth Beaten Near Church

DALLAS (AP)—A jealous teenager whipped another youth with a metal cable at Lakeside Baptist Church here Sunday night.

Injured was William Hyman Gatewood, 17, who was treated for multiple cuts on the head, face and neck inflicted by a 15-inch battery cable during the parking lot incident after evening services.

A 19-year-old boy was jailed for aggravated assault with a prohibited weapon. Police said the older boy told officers he was angry because the Gatewood boy phoned a girl choir singer and asked her for a date.

Police said the other boy pulled Gatewood from a car and beat him with a tape-wrapped cable until an older man intervened. The attacker then dropped the weapon and left, police said. The victim was helped to a nearby doctor's office.

Priest Slayer Thought His Victim A Rival

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A man charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Roman Catholic priest, apparently thought a woman was rejecting him in favor of the priest, police say.

Alfonso Catalano, 77, a retired laborer, had received communion from the Rev. Vincent Belle, 38, an assistant pastor at Holy Cross Church, a few hours before the priest was found slain New Year's Day in his automobile in the parish garage.

A middle-aged mother of eight had refused Catalano's attentions, police said, and Catalano had accused the priest of improper conduct with the woman.

Police said they were told by the woman's husband several weeks ago that Catalano had informed the husband his wife had been intimate with Father Belle, another priest and three doctors in a hospital clinic.

Police Commissioner Frank Felicetti called it "a figment of his imagination." "This strengthens positively that matter," he said.

Police said a threatening note, painted on sheet metal, which referred to "the long man," was found two weeks ago on a church vestibule door. It was written in Italian.

The note accused "the long man" of improper conduct, police said. Father Belle was 6 feet, 5 inches.

A strip of the same type metal was found in Catalano's apartment by detectives. Detectives also found a .32 caliber cartridge in the apartment. Father Belle was shot three times with a .32 caliber revolver. The murder weapon has not been found.

Oklahoma Governor Among 10 Young Men Cited By Jaycees

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, who at 33 became the nation's youngest governor, was named today by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of its 10 outstanding young men of 1959.

Others on the list included prominent educators, political figures, space scientists and a magazine editor from seven states and Washington, D.C. They will be honored at an awards congress Jan. 15-16 in Hartford, Conn.

Edmondson was cited by the Jaycees as a reform candidate for governor who "swept by competition from many seasoned politicians... by record margins." The Jaycees named and described the other nine outstanding young men:

Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, 35, Honolulu, who "became the first American of Japanese descent to be a member" of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, 36, Traverse City, Mich., who "boiled to national prominence as co-sponsor of the Landrum-Griffin Act, the first major labor-management relations law enacted by Congress in more than 12 years." Peter A. Castruccio, 33, Glen

Burnie, Md., a World War II agent in Italy for British Intelligence, now an authority on space technology with the Aerospace Division of Aeronca Corp. Dr. S. Fred Singer, 35, Greenbelt, Md., professor of physics at the University of Maryland, "one of the world's foremost astrophysicists" who "made significant contributions, through research and pioneer investigations, to rocketry and space travel."

Dr. Homer D. Babbidge Jr., 34, Washington, assistant U.S. commissioner of education, a "prime mover of what has been called the most significant educational legislation since the Land-Grant Act of 1862."

Lt. Col. Wesley W. Posvar, professor and head of the political science department at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colo., "at 32... the youngest full professor ever assigned to a service academy."

Carlisle Sessions Floyd, 33, Tallahassee, Fla., a composer-teacher who has "already made memorable contributions through one of the most rigorous of all art forms to the future of American music."

Dr. Harry Prystowsky, 34, Gainesville, head professor of obstetrics-gynecology at the University of Florida, whose "pioneer achievements... have stamped him as a leading authority in his field."

Osborn Elliott, 34, New York City, managing editor of Newsweek, "with speed and intensity" his journalistic career "has logged achievements earning him recognition."

The selections mark the 22nd consecutive year they have been made. Awards are made to persons between 21 and 36.

Judges for the 1959 awards included news commentator Chet Huntley, publisher Bennett Cerf, conductor Arthur Fiedler, G. N. Douglas, MacArthur, musician Mitch Miller and Princeton University President Dr. Robert F. Goheen.

Missing Schooner Docks At Newport

ST. MARKS, Fla. (AP)—The 34-foot commercial fishing schooner North Star, object of a search by the Coast Guard, docked at Newport Sunday after a rugged six-day trip across the Gulf of Mexico from Galveston, Tex.

The schooner left Galveston Dec. 23 and was to arrive at Newport Thursday. Capt. W. S. Schey Jr. of the Coast Guard said that the crew was weary but in good physical shape. They were Fred Ladd, 59; his son, Joe, 20; and Hanzel Griffin, all of Newport.

Schey said the schooner encountered storms all the way across the Gulf and its radio was knocked out the first day.

A Devotional For Today

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. (Psalms 121:1, 2.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we ask for a deeper sense of Thine indwelling presence. Thus may our vision be enlarged and our compassion made increasingly far-reaching. In the name of the life-giving Christ. Amen.

New Rate Plan Taking Its Lumps

The line forms to the right for those wanting to throw bricks at the new Texas safe driving insurance plan. Sen. Jared Secrest of Temple, who carried the fight for a flexible insurance rating which would reward careful drivers, has been among the earliest and staunchest critics of the new law. More publicity has gone recently to Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo for his verbal blasts at it, and now our own Sen. David Ratliff has announced his opposition.

So great has been the cry against the plan that a hearing has been set for Jan. 12 in Austin. Meanwhile, the state insurance commission, which concocted the system, has announced the new rate schedule is in effect. That means that if you have had no moving violations or accidents within three years and three months from Jan. 1, you may claim a 20 per cent credit. Each moving violation, accident or felony conviction connected with driving will cost you points, and points can cost you up to as much as 100 per cent more for your insurance. This is, as we have pointed out before, one of those things which sounds good in theory but is woefully wide of the mark when it comes to practice. One of the most grievous errors is in trying to club drivers in one area of activity to obtain results in another. The theory is that if the rates make good little drivers out of Texas motorists, the accident casualty volume will come down. But the thing which directly affects insurance costs is not in running red lights or not even necessarily in speeding, but in having accidents. The accidentless driver is the one in need of rewarding and some sort of equitable system of credits and penalties more equitable than 5-1 against the premium payer needs to be explored.

Pounding And Shivaree

"What on earth is a pounding?" This question came from a member of the younger generation from another part of the country.

What used to be a pretty common practice on the part of parishioners toward their preacher.

A "pounding," says the dictionary way down in the footnotes, is a U. S. expression meaning a donation party, in which one donor brings a pound of sugar, another a pound of dried beans, or a peck of potatoes, or something else for the ministerial larder. It originated in the days when the shepherd of the flock was more apt to be paid in vittles than in cash.

Another custom you hardly hear of anymore was a charivari (pronounced shivaree), in which young people usually serenaded a newly wed couple with pots, kettles, horns, drums, tubs and anything else that would make a lot of noise.

Somewhat similar to this was the custom in the Ohio Valley of "belling." Friends of a bridal pair would gather around the nuptial nest and start ringing bells to beat the band.

Maybe it's just as well they went out. Couldn't hear them over the TV anyway.

Can Be A Year Of Stability

WASHINGTON — This is the season for looking ahead to what a new year may bring. It's a time of prophecy and perhaps wishful thinking.

The biggest single desire of everybody is for a year of peace. The fulfillment of that wish doesn't depend, however, on governments alone but on peoples. Rulers, and especially dictators, can bring on war. Only peoples can stay the hand of a reckless government.

Personal diplomacy at summit conferences, together with visits between heads of state, have given the world some reassurance that war is not likely to come in the immediate future. But simultaneously more money is being spent on armaments than ever before during so-called peacetime. Scientists, moreover, are persistently seeking new means of inflicting destruction on human life. Intergovernmental conferences are continuing their quest for agreements to reduce the extent to which nuclear power may be used for war purposes. But, due to the absence of mutual trust between the negotiating parties and the fear that one side or the other will cheat on inspection methods, no real progress on the so-called disarmament issue is visible.

PERHAPS THE MOST healthy symptom in world affairs is what is being accomplished on the economic side.

Often in world history big wars have been followed by long periods of economic instability. Only when relative stability has been achieved is there any feeling that an era of peace might be maintained for a while.

Today—nearly 15 years after the close of World War II—the economic convulsions brought about by the war in the 1940's have been superseded by a period of energetic collaboration throughout the world resulting in a kind of economic equilibrium. Currencies are more stable than they were five or 10 years ago, and restrictions on the convertibility of money from one country to another have gradually been relaxed.

Export and import markets have been enlarged for many countries, and there is a significant effort, especially in Europe, to break down tariff walls and encourage the interchange of goods. Travel throughout the world has reached record proportions. Europe, thanks to American economic aid, has made a miraculous recovery.

All this tends to increase employment everywhere and improve the standard of living of many peoples.

NEW SOURCES OF CAPITAL have been opened up through the world bank and similar international agencies, so that today it may be said that the flow of capital has been given an unprecedented impetus. Entirely apart from government loans or grants abroad, private companies in the United States have extended

Nixon's Self-Control Due Acid Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1960 Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get the best test in a field in which he prides himself: self-control. It will be more than just the most important year in his life. It will be the toughest.

Ever since getting into politics in 1946 Nixon has been an ambitious young man on the way up. The exact elevation was uncertain until he became vice president in 1953. There never has been much doubt since where he was aiming.

NOW FOR A MAN of 46—he won't be 47 until Jan. 9—he has an incredible future almost certain grip on the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, without an opponent in sight.

Because of it this year he will be subjected to the greatest scrutiny of his existence, not only by Democratic foes and independent voters but by Republicans measuring him for White House size.

But it's the criticism which should test his self-control. He will be getting more of it from the Democrats in 1960 than in any previous year. Their dislike for him goes away back.

They condemned him for his campaign tactics before he became vice president and again for the way he performed in the 1954 congressional elections. Since then he has followed a less irritating line.

He is a good talker and a good showman. He is aggressive and quick on his feet. But above all he is an excellent planner of his own political future. No one in years has been able to tantalize him into impulsive statements which might hurt him.

BUT HE IS FACING something special now. Usually a political party can't concentrate its fire on the presidential candidate of the opposition until he has been chosen at the summer convention.

Since Nixon looks like the sure-shot Republican candidate, the Democrats can start on him right away. They will reach a peak in the campaign, of course.

So Nixon and everyone else ought to be able to learn just how deep his self-control runs. But no one knows better than Nixon, a shrewd politician, that letting himself be pushed off balance into one public display of temper could ruin him.

But even President Eisenhower may have some self-consciousness about Nixon this year. Eisenhower has made more use of his vice president than any president in history. It helped build Nixon's national stature. No question was raised about it so long as Nixon was just the vice president. But now the use Eisenhower makes of him may be labeled politics by the Democrats, an effort to build up Nixon for the 1960 campaign.

Since Eisenhower is in the most active phase of his own presidency, with plans for wide traveling this year and even a summit meeting, Nixon may be left pretty much on the sidelines until convention time.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

Born on this day in 1855, in Colton County, Illinois, was William C. Brann, who was to win a lasting reputation as the "Texas Iconoclast" and to figure in more than one stormy incident as he gained a place as the Lone Star State's most cynical journalist.

In fact, his writings brought the duel which caused his death in 1898.

Brann brought his family to Texas in 1886 and he began his journalistic experience in this state as a reporter for the Galveston "Tribune." Then he became an editorial writer for the Houston Post. He first began the "Iconoclast" in Austin, but abandoned it temporarily, becoming editor of the San Antonio Express in 1892. Two years later he moved to Waco and resumed publication of his magazine.

No other Texas publication has been more successful. The magazine leaped to a circulation of almost 100,000 within three years. But, in his home town, Brann became very unpopular because of his attacks upon Baylor University and the Baptist faith. In April, 1892, one of Brann's enemies, T. E. Davis, met him on a Waco-Street and the gun fight which followed resulted in the deaths of both men.

The magazine did not survive very long. Without Brann's caustic writings it amounted to little. His best-known lectures and essays have since been published in various forms and are still widely quoted.

Rest For The Worried

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Edna Sneed, telephone operator at a hotel, received a call on the house telephone. The caller was a lad from a boy's ranch in Texas.

"Ma'am," the small voice asked, "do we have to make our own beds?"

Mrs. Sneed explained the maids make the beds, providing what may have been the high point of the boy's trip.

His Chance At Last

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Goodspeed, who has been writing a column called "Mr. Peep's Diary" for nine years for the Baltimore Evening Sun, finally got his first chance to use it.

He was peering into a restaurant that was changing management when a woman stopped and asked him:

"Why are you peeping in there?" "Because I'm Mr. Peep," he replied with massive logic. The woman chuckled quite a bit, but not as much as Goodspeed.

Memory Lapse

PAULS VALLEY, Okla. (AP) — When plumbers doing work at her house shut off the water supply, Mrs. L. E. Gandy gugged a pile of dirty dishes to the bath tub to wash them. She found out soon that the water there also was missing.

Around The Rim

The Daughter And The Television

Around our house, we've lost a daughter and found a marshal of Dodge City. A part-time marshal, that is.

On other occasions, she's taking part in a cattle drive to Abilene, setting a trap for the Arapahoes or having a showdown with the crooked gamblers in the saloon.

Matt Dillon, Johnny Ringo, Paladin Sundance, Chester. Those are household words around our spread.

We bristle with hardware and even wear our trusty .45 to the table. And we throw down on the mean guys without so much as a "git out of town" or "hey, there, bub."

Trouble-shooting is our game and the air is charged with electricity until it comes time to don our pajamas.

The daughter, age three, was christened with the name of Carol but, unless you want a fistful of knuckles or run the danger of dying out on the lone prairie from lead poisoning, don't call her that.

The jaw juts out. The eyebrows are arched and she bites off her words: "I'm Johnny Ringo!"

Sometimes, her many aliases confuse her and we have to read off the list of characters until she picks the one she likes.

She doesn't stop there, however. The rest of us have to assume supporting roles in the story about to unfold.

I inherit the role of Chester and am gimpy from trying to walk with a stiff leg. The wife becomes Kitty and Carol's grandmother "Doc." Bab sister's identity hasn't yet crystallized, other than the fact that she is "Kitty's friend."

The other day, we gunned down a varmint squarely in front of the TV set. I suggested that the least we could do was give the unlucky critter a decent burial but I was told to let him be.

"He don't want to be buried," she explained.

She doesn't appreciate my insistence on breaking the continuity of the serial, even when I explain to her that I should be at work. I ease by the dilemma with conversation that goes something like this:

"Where you going?"

"To work."

"What chu going to work for?"

"To make you some money."

Then comes her stock dismissal retort: "To buy me some boots?"

Getting our face washed comes easier at our bunk house if we can convince her that Marshall Dillon puts a lot of faith in the old saying "cleanliness is next to Godliness."

Dolls have a definite place in the front room but they're often lined up against the wall and must serve as targets for pistol practice.

I'm about to embark upon a campaign to sell her upon the idea that taking a cold shot at the doctor's office is a lot like a calf taking the business end of a branding iron.

Any day now, I expect to walk into the living room and see a horse tied to the lamp stand. Some people insist there is one loose there now.

Maybe Free But Not Tax Deductible

What kind of employers maintain yachts, hunting lodges, fishing camps, winter holidays havens both North and South (skiing, anyone? Skin diving, fellas?) and automobiles for their faithful employees? How long has this been going on and where can I apply?

It is obvious that over the years I have maintained a too lenient attitude toward my employer. I have wept with delight when he gave me a smile and trembled with fear at his frown. I have asked only that he be polite and pay promptly.

But I seem to have missed a lot, especially winters in the company wigwam at Palm Springs. According to Dana Latham, commissioner of Internal Revenue, some employees get all the breaks and their employers all the tax breaks.

MR. LATHAM HAS just announced that he is going to put the federal bloodhound to work in that last best refuge of the tax-reluctant: the expense account and allied dodges. He mentions yachts, hunting lodges and other corporation-maintained lagniappe that have never come the way of this loyal, hard-working employee. There are two possible explanations of this, both shattering to a proud working stiff: either my employer is chintzy or else I do not rate the yacht-and-ski-lodge treatment.

So in my present state of humiliation, I am prone to sympathize with Mr. Latham in his efforts to make employers prove that the fishing lodge in Canada or the Atlantic City apartment are genuine business expenses incurred in maintaining happy employer-employee relations.

OTHERWISE, I FEEL that keeping an employee happy is one of the noblest works of man. The maintenance of a yacht and a Florida estate toward this end may confound me, but Mr. Latham's statement that it also includes country club and athletic club initiation fees, dues and charges comes as no surprise.

One of my major pleasures in the New York Sunday newspapers is the special "help wanted" pages in which great corporations pour out their hearts and beg engineers in esthetic fields and scientific geniuses in egghead arenas to work for them.

THERE IS APPARENTLY a great shortage of such transcendental talents. The bait laid out by would-be employers includes everything from guaranteed and paid-up membership in the local country club, to moving expenses from Tierra del Fuego to Outer Space, "equitable year-round climate" in Florida or Southern California, "historic and cultural environment" in New England, "easy living" in the South and free housing with "ready access to schools, markets and movies."

Corporations engaged in missile, radar and space work promise everything except no work and all pay. They keep upping the ante every week. Some Sunday I shall not be surprised if they guarantee to cut up their boy's meat and mash the peas in his potatoes. Why not? Isn't that the next step after free insurance, free medical care and psychiatry on tap?

PROBABLY THE YACHTS and ski lodges are old stuff in this league, and other indication that I was born 30 years too soon.

Well, these fringe benefits trouble Mr. Latham, and so do credit cards. Such cards "have greatly magnified the problem" of making a man and his expense account come clean, the tax chief says. It does not comfort him at all that the Russians, who haven't even invented credit cards yet, are having expense account problems on the tax level, too.

With his new crackdown on expense-account spending, Mr. Latham may still concede that the best things in life are free — but not, while he's in there swinging, tax deductible. (Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Clear Out Underbrush Of Protocol

WASHINGTON — The new year — the new decade — begins with portents of hope almost unique in our time. Even the professional Cassandras are hard pressed to find sufficient reason to cling to their shroud of gloom.

The atmosphere is not unlike that of nearly a century and a half ago when the statesmen of Europe gathered in Vienna to try to find a way to keep the peace after years of war and bloodshed had left the continent on the verge of chaos. The Congress of Vienna, which met in 1814 and for many months in the following year, did not usher in the millennium. But it did create an arrangement of power that insured the peace over a long period.

UNDOUBTEDLY, THE expectations for 1960 and after are too great. The pressures of internal politics both within the Communist bloc and in the Western world tend to attribute to all the summits and goings, the summits and the sub-goings, a capacity for resolving grave and deep-seated problems that simply is not inherent in the mere fact of discussion around a table.

It is all very well to wish for peace and to believe that the profound conflict between two systems can be compromised in co-existence. But, besides wishing, it will take some hard, difficult and perhaps widely unpopular decisions. It cannot happen so long as all sides cling to the illusions of their all-righteousness.

The really important change as we enter a new year is that the barriers to free exchange have, in part at least, been broken down. Over many years discussions, which will in all probability often be broken by the old acrimony, must go on.

ONE OBSTACLE TO serious talk between heads of government or even foreign ministers is the protocol — the ceremonial rules — dictating how these eminent men shall conduct themselves when they meet. This reporter, having observed many of the comings and goings of recent years, is moved to make a New Year's wish far more modest than those concerned with peace and perpetual harmony.

That is that the powers meeting in Paris in the spring may achieve a very small beginning by agreeing to work out new rules of protocol. The ceremonial rules were last codified at the Congress of Vienna for a time when heads of state rarely met and when pomp and circumstance were essential to national pride and a sop to personal jealousy.

CHANGE NO. 1 SHOULD be that no visiting dignitary is ever met at an airport as protocol now requires. Getting off a plane after a long journey no one wants to be met by bemuddled bigwigs, bands and guards of honor. The bemused visitor wants to get his feet on the ground and adjust as quickly as possible to the changes in time and climate.

By rough calculation at least one-third of President Eisenhower's time on his 11-nation tour was taken up with arrival and departure ceremonies. At each stop with monotonous similarity the fuss and feathers of the protocol of the past cut into the hours that might have been used for serious talk. On television and in the newspapers one arrival ceremony is exactly like another and the public must have been fed up with the spectacle long before the 11th country was reached.

Let the visitor, as he steps out of his plane, be met by a minor official whose duty is simply to escort him to the place where he is to stay. Then when he has washed his face and composed himself he can be greeted by his opposite number in the host country in peace and quiet, and they can with little more ado get down to talking about serious problems.

WITH THIS AS A starter some of the reciprocal wining, dining and lurching might be done away with. It is hard on the digestion and like the ceremonies of arrival and departure it consumes the time that might be usefully spent in discussion rather than in empty formalities.

The Britannica traces the word protocol back to a Greek root meaning glue. As first used, protocol meant a document embodying a treaty or other form of agreement. The papyrus leaves on which it was written were bound together with glue to guard against fraud or error on the part of those preparing them.

This is the era net of papyrus leaves but of instantaneous electronic communication. The year 1960 is going to be hard enough on the statesmen of the world in any event. It may seem a modest wish for a year that beckons so large, but surely they could start with eliminating needless non-sense out of ancient history. Then they might have time to do the work that has to be done.

An Entrancing Thought

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nicaragua Fights Band Of Invaders

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Patrols of the Nicaraguan National Guard are reported pursuing a new band of invaders from neighboring Honduras.

The Nicaraguan government indicated the band was small, calling it "a limited number of rogues who will fall into the hands of the National Guard from one minute to the other."

The communists added the invasion, "need not cause unrest or provoke alarm."

Nicaragua protested to Honduras. Recent reports said a number of exiled Nicaraguans opposed to the government of President Luis Somoza were meeting in Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras.

The government said the invaders crossed the frontier Saturday night in the neighborhood of Santa Clara. Unofficial sources reported they killed two civilians.

Congress Facing Explosive Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislators will come to grips with a string of politically explosive issues in a new election-year session of Congress starting Wednesday.

Leaders of both parties have signaled for full speed ahead, in hopes of winding up the session before the opening of the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles on July 11.

Many of the issues have a familiar ring—civil rights, federal aid for education, interest rates, defense spending, budget balancing, minimum wage rates, foreign aid, and farm programs.

HOUSING ISSUE
In another familiar field, housing, Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.) proposed Sunday a billion-dollar government advance for purchase of FHA and GI loans on lower-priced homes. He said he will introduce an emergency home ownership bill to make more mortgage funds available.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 281 to 152 in the House, with four vacancies. In the Senate the lineup is 65 Democrats to 35 Republicans. But in both branches the Democratic margin falls short of the two-thirds majority required to override a presidential veto.

President Eisenhower used his veto power with telling effect last year, forcing the Democrats either to compromise or to give up some of the measures they favored.

Americans for Democratic Action called on congressional leaders Sunday not to let the President's budget "take precedence over genuine solutions of the nation's most important problems."

Samuel H. Beer, national chairman of ADA, which describes itself as an independent liberal political organization, said that "legislative policies of appeasement

Book By Gen. Taylor Gives Ammo To Critics Of Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new book by a former Army chief of staff provides fresh ammunition today for critics of some of the Eisenhower administration's defense policies.

Retired Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor says the theory of massive retaliation has reached a dead end, but reliance on nuclear bombing continues to be the "basic concept which guides our military preparations today."

He contends that budget decisions and the massive retaliation theory dominate defense planning and account for what he calls the relegation of the Army to a minor role with reduced manpower.

Taylor's book, "The Uncertain Trumpet" published today by Harper & Brothers, renews the arguments for a stronger Army and a more flexible fighting force which Taylor voiced as Army chief of staff.

"It should be made clear that the United States will prepare itself to respond anywhere, any time, with weapons and forces appropriate to the situation," he writes.

Among other things, he criticized the Pentagon decision to give the Air Force full control of Ballistic missiles, among them the Army-developed Jupiter. He said the Jupiter should be restored to Army operation, and units sent overseas to areas within range of important targets within the Soviet Union.

Mobile bases should be provided for missiles, he said, contending that the Soviets know the exact locations of the fixed bases from which the Air Force would launch its missiles.

Church Leader Hits Steady Dating

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — David O. McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints says early steady dating is "fraught with handicaps with which hopeful, fiery young men should not be subjected."

McKay said in a talk beamed to the church's young people that the worst thing about such dating is this:

"It gives to the young man a sense of familiarity or ownership, and to the young girl, a feeling of belonging, a rapturous state to be consummated rightly only by marriage vows, but when experienced by unbridled dating youth, becomes like fruit plucked before it is ripe."

His talk opened a campaign to head off problems leading to juvenile delinquency.

Anti-Semitic Swastika Move Sneaks Around World, To U.S.

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer
Anti-Semitic outbursts under the banner of the swastika spread over the weekend from West Germany around the world—including the United States.

Sneak raiders with paint brushes smeared synagogues, public buildings and homes of Jews with the Nazi symbol and slogans denouncing Jews.

Jewish and government leaders showed growing alarm over the flareup — now in its 12th day — but were divided on whether it signified a resurgence of nazism and other forms of fascism or was mainly the work of malcontents, hoodlums and crackpots.

The swastika and anti-Jewish slogans emerged in widely scattered places across eight countries in Western Europe, in New York and in Australia.

The Hitler symbol was painted on three Jewish houses of worship in New York City—including the fashionable Temple Emanuel on Fifth Avenue.

Dr. Julius Mark, chief rabbi of the temple, called the smearing "just individuals with twisted and distorted minds who derive savage delight from participating in a kind of chain reaction of anti-social behavior."

"SOON BLOW OVER"
Dr. Mark and Rabbi Max Mayer, leader of a temple in Long Island that was smeared, said the

Boehm cautioned this could be a dangerous theory. He declared: "These outrages are certainly welcome to the Communists, but they would not act themselves. It would be too great a loss of prestige for Communism if such a plot ever came to light."

Only in West Berlin did the demonstrators come out in the open. Police broke up 25 neo-Nazi students who raised the swastika flag and sang Nazi songs in a torch-lit rally Saturday night.

NATIONALIST LEAGUE
Police said they were members of the League of Nationalist Students which has been under surveillance for some time. Nine students were seized but later released after their identities were checked. The others escaped.

The Jewish community in Berlin is the largest in Germany. But it numbers only about 7,500 compared to 175,000 before Hitler.

"Juden raus" (Jews get out) also was painted in foot-high red letters and a swastika was painted over advertising posters in a square in the city's British sector.

Guards were posted in front of synagogues in West Berlin and at Jewish shrines and temples in sections of West Germany, where anti-Semitic signs have been widespread.

In Austria persons smeared the word "Jew" on a Vienna synagogue and plastered swastikas in several cities and towns in the provinces.

APARTMENT GUARDED
In Britain, police put a guard on the London apartment of Barnett Janner, president of the Jewish Board of Deputies and a member of Parliament, after a telephone caller told Mrs. Janner he represented the "British Nazi party" and "unless the Board of Deputies stops this protesting

Ex-Slave Notes 111th Birthday

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Eliza Miller, born a slave on a plantation in Georgia, celebrated her 111th birthday Sunday with greetings from President Eisenhower and Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

"Sometimes it's awful to be 111 years old," said Mrs. Miller. She takes two daily walks during the summer months and sweeps out her house. Her only ailment is her arthritic legs and joints.

Mrs. Miller was born in 1849 in Griffin, Ga. She says she has vivid memories of Confederate and Union soldiers passing the plantation during the Civil War.

Only one of her 11 children survives. He is the Rev. F.A. Miller of Peoria, Ill.

Sea Survivors Reach Safety

SINGAPORE (AP) — The captain and six survivors of the wrecked American freighter Valley Forge safely reached an island 50 miles south of Singapore, the Indonesian air force announced today.

The 30 other crewmen were picked up earlier by rescue craft which abandoned the 2,200-ton freighter, which foundered on a reef New Year's Eve and broke up in a gale sweeping the South China Sea.

Capt. Peter F. Petrone of Absecon, N.J., and six crewmen with him in a lifeboat had disappeared in the mountainous seas.

With Petrone reportedly were chief mate Carl B. Vineyard Jr., Waveland, Miss.; 3rd mate John M. Frangos, Brooklyn, N.Y.; boatswain James C. Mitchell, Gettysburg, Pa.; deckmaster Paul O. Hansen, San Francisco; steward Kenneth R. Hayes, an Australian; and radio officer Edmund W. Crull, Everett, Wash.

The Valley Forge was carrying a cargo of wheat from Portland, Ore., to India.

Shower Is Honor For New Bride

Miscellaneous gifts were presented to Mrs. Clarence Thompson, a recent bride, at a coffee given Saturday morning in the Clyde Johnston home.

Hostesses were June Ann Johnston, Mrs. Ronald White, Mary Jane Weaver and Kathleen Thomas.

Mrs. Thompson is the former Alice Ann Hale, daughter of Mrs. James Hale and the late Mr. Hale, parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Thompson, Lamesa Highway.

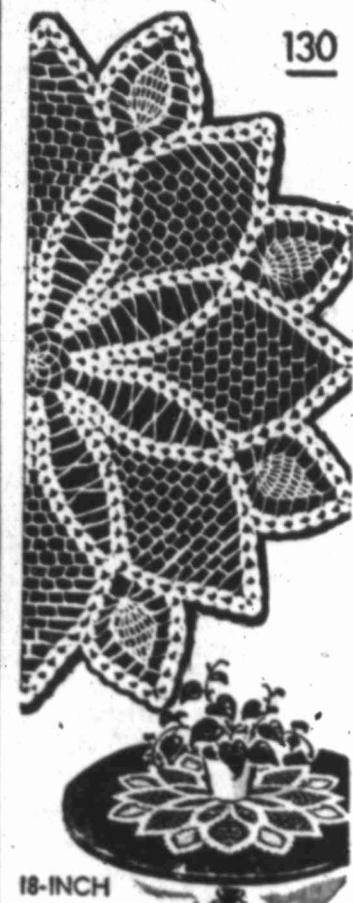

About 45 guests were included in the invitation list and were greeted by Miss Johnston. The bride, her mother and her mother-in-law were presented by the hostess. The three wore corsages which were gifts from the hostess group.

Mrs. White was at the bride's book and serving was done by Miss Weaver and Miss Thomas.

Pink and silver predominated at the refreshment table, which was laid in pink and held pink tapers in silver holders. These flanked a centerpiece made of a doll dressed as a bride in pink and silver.

The Thompsons married in Dec. 22 in the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien.

YOUNG MODERNS

Why Not Resolve To Be Smarter In 1960

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's never too corny to make the same old New Year's resolutions. Even if you feel that you can't keep them, making the rules could help remind you that a few brakes should be put on for the New Year.

This would be a good year to see romance in its true light. Just because all your friends are becoming engaged, don't go orange blossoming around casual dates.

Many girls begin to read permanent meanings into the most insignificant remarks made by a young man, then become crushed when he dates another girl. It's a good idea not to get so involved in romantic allusions that you flunk your exams and lose sleep.

Wait until the boy proposes before you choose the wedding guests.

FOOD FADS

If you're one of those girls who go all out for the food fad of the year, try to decide whether your waistline can take it. There isn't much point in munching those pizza pies if you must work to exhaustion trying to whittle excess pounds off.

The cheese pie is good eating. Ditto the hot fudge sundae, but they're loaded with calories. Count to 10 before you take that first bite. Following the leader can be

Women Campaign In Traffic Sign Safety Program

CHICAGO (AP) — "Women have a knack of getting things done where men sometimes fail."

That's the assertion of Mrs. Lois C. Northcott as she leads 140,000 women in checking on confusing traffic signs.

She is national director of the Business and Professional Women's Foundation that is directing the civic project under a grant from the Automotive Safety Foundation.

The survey—first of its kind—is being conducted to learn whether traffic signs in different cities and states conform to national standards in shape, color and design.

The women, in 3,300 communities, aim to make it easier for motorists to identify traffic signs.

The study is based on the belief that standardized signs can be spotted readily and recognized in an area.

The findings are expected to provide the basis for community action that will bring all traffic signs and signals up to national standards set by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in cooperation with the American Assn. of State Highway Officials.

Mrs. Northcott says the project was undertaken to minimize traffic hazards and save lives.

fun, but costly exercise, especially when the leader is a bit wacky. If you admire a crowd who seems a bit berserk, better make sure they aren't, before you become one of the sheep.

Characters often look glamorous to sane types, who would do well to avoid them if they can. The path they follow isn't always strewn with roses and laughter. Sometimes it's a pebble covered diving board.

BAD COMPANY

If you've been a time waster with the wrong companions, keeping late hours, now is the time to get a grip on yourself. Are the friends worth it? Are the late hours leaving an indelible stamp on your good looks, personality, school work? Many a pretty girl has passed up her big chance with the right boy because she was too sleepy to see him when he passed by.

There comes a time, too, when you may fall for your very own propaganda and try to prove to yourself that you are as sophisticated as you'd like to be. That's when you'll try to sell yourself on the idea of quitting school, running away from home, eloping with your current date to get away from it all, telling your teachers off, or another of the fancies that intrigue young people who are "of the restless age."

Face the facts now—there is no substitute for growing up the normal way—you'll be old sooner than you think. Make the most of your youth, and the opportunities it presents when you can.

NEW GOALS

School can be drudgery if you let it, but so can marriage. You can't run away from obligations. It's a better idea to learn how to face them.

Every day is a day to make the very most of yourself each day in 1960 just what you can do to advance yourself one step further mentally, emotionally, physically. Pick and choose your companions with that in mind. Select your diet wisely. Learn to examine the problem at hand in a rational way.

Fancy Free

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A car here bore a sign which at a distance looked much like the usual "Just Married" type. Closer inspection showed it read: "Just Divorced." The lone occupant was a man.

Jeanne Bal Reveals Wise Way To Diet

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Jeanne Bal, who toured for two years as the lead in "South Pacific," is happy to settle down as part of the "Love and Marriage" TV series on NBC.

"I had never seen myself on the screen before," she confessed. "It was such a shock that I wanted to change everything. But the most important thing was to lose weight. In a photograph you look at yourself from one angle but when you see all around, you have an entirely different impression."

Because Jeanne has such a nice figure now, I asked her how she reduced.

"I put myself in the hands of a doctor because I had to lose weight in a hurry and I didn't want to ruin my health. I also tried massage treatments but I've danced so much that I'm solid and that makes it more difficult to cut down on my measurements.

"My doctor put me on 600 calories a day, and at first it was very difficult," she admitted.

"But after a time my stomach shrank and I was satisfied with eating less. For breakfast I usually had an egg, dry protein-tost, tea and a half-grapefruit.

"A typical lunch consisted of hot or cold consommé and a large scoop of non-fattening cottage cheese.

"For dinner I had fish or meat or chicken without fat, a low-calorie green vegetable, sliced tomatoes or a green salad and a fresh apple."

"I have discovered a wonderful product that is like an oil. I can broil or fry with this without adding any calories."

"With just a little bit of imagination," Jeanne continued, "you can do interesting things with your same old diet. And I find if I eat slowly, I don't eat as much."

"This diet has worked wonders for me," Jeanne said in parting. "But I don't feel others should try such a low-calorie diet unless they do it with a doctor's consent because it may not be right for them."

HIGH PROTEIN DIET

This diet has brought wonderful results to many stars in Hollywood. If you carefully follow the menus in Leaflet M-1, "Two Week High Protein Diet," you will be able to lose an average of a pound a day or more while still maintaining normal energy. If you want to have good results and fast results without "starvation methods" this is the diet for you. Your copy will be on its way when you send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Hamburgers With That Added Touch

Interesting way to treat good old hamburgers.

OLIVE AND CHEESE BURGERS

1 pound ground chuck beef
1 sandwich-size slice cheddar cheese

4 very large or 8 small pimiento-stuffed green olives
Butter or margarine

Make 8 thin patties of the beef. Cut cheese into 4 squares; slice olives. Put a piece of cheese over the center of each of 4 patties; add olive slices. Top with remaining patties and press edges together to make tight seal. Brown both sides of patties rapidly in hot butter in skillet; decrease heat and cook to desired doneness. Makes 4 servings.
