Now Is The Time To Pay Those Poll Taxes!

Deputies in the office of Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax collector, had only routine business in the matter of poll tax payments on Thursday. At times, as the photograph shows, no customers were on hand at all. This situation is expected to change on Friday and Saturday however. Deadline for paying poll tax is Jan. 31. The number of poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued to date is lagging behind the total for 1956. It is anticipated that a crowd will be on hand Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Robinson suggested that Thursday would have been a fine day for citizens who haven't qualified themselves to vote in this year's elections to have paid their poll tax.

Protestant Magazines See Curbs On Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Two major Protestant magazines say they believe Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) if elected president, would be subject to restrictions of the Roman Catholic Church. The magazines, The Christian Century and The Lutheran, said Wednesday they base their view on the fact that Kennedy had withdrawn in 1951 from participation in an interfaith chapel service in Philadelphia. The magazines said the withdrawal was made at the suggestion of the Catholic Archbishop there. The Lutheran said editorially four chaplains who lost their lives in the torpedoing of a troop ship off Greenland during World War II. The Christian Century said Kennedy had declined to attend the service on the ground that he felt he had "no credentials" because the Philadelphia Archdiocese was unable to support the chapel built in the lower floor of a Protestant church. The Christian Century said that "if Mr. Kennedy were president, he would be subject to the same kind of discipline that he acknowledges as senator." The Lutheran said editorially that if Kennedy became the Democratic presidential nominee, the religious debate would "follow him into the White House, if he should be elected." "His attendance at a Protestant service would be cause for confession to his priest and subsequent penance," the paper added. "His church could properly admonish him...because it does not recognize that there is any true religion other than its own." The Lutheran, however, praised Kennedy for his "wisdom in facing the matter" of religious belief openly.

AF To Honor Publisher Of The Herald

It's a busy day at Webb AFB. Highlighting proceedings will be a formal revue at 2 p.m. in which R. W. Whipkey, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, will receive the Air Force Scroll. This special award, given sparingly, is for outstanding service to the Air Force. At 7:30 p.m. today Col. Carl C. Hinkle, deputy chief of personnel services, will address 47 members of the graduating class 60-E in ceremonies set for the base chapel. There will be a traditional reception following in the Officers Club. Col. Hinkle, here for a tight schedule of numerous addresses, was to speak with several school and Air Force groups during the afternoon. Whipkey was to be the honoree at a special luncheon at the Officers Club today with Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, base commander, in charge. Among officials flying here for the occasion was Col. Ernest Wackwitz, who served as the first commander of Webb AFB. Actual presentation of the scroll was to take place at the revue.

State To Observe Navarro Holiday

AUSTIN (AP)—Statewide observance of the birthday of Jose Antonio Navarro, one of the only two Texas-born signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence, is scheduled this year for the first time. Gov. Price Daniel proclaimed Feb. 27 Navarro Day in honor of the 165th anniversary of Navarro's birth. "It is appropriate that Texans be reminded of the contributions of this devoted patriot on the occasion of the 165th anniversary of his birth," Daniel's proclamation said. Navarro was born in 1795 in San Antonio de Bexar (now San Antonio) and served as a representative of the State of Texas and Coahuila in the Mexican Congress prior to the Texas revolution. After signing the Declaration of Independence at Washington-on-the-Brazos in 1836, Navarro served on the special committee which drafted the Constitution for the Republic of Texas and was elected to the Republic's Congress. He was captured by Mexican forces while serving as a commissioner on the Santa Fe expedition with which Texas attempted to lay claim to what is now New Mexico. Mexican dictator Santa Anna sentenced him to death, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and Navarro later escaped Mexico on a British ship and returned to Texas. Navarro was a delegate to the convention of 1845 in which Texas voted for annexation to the United States and served in the Legislature after Texas became a state. Navarro County, which includes the City of Corsicana, was named for him. He died in 1871 and is buried in San Antonio, where his home still stands.

Fog Covers Gulf Coast

Widespread fog covered the Texas coast Thursday morning and the rest of the state was covered with clouds. The only precipitation was a drizzle at Palacios. Temperatures Thursday morning varied from a high of 61 at Palacios to 34 at Dalhart. Most other temperatures were in the 40s and 50s. The high temperature Wednesday was 84 degrees at Cotulla and the low was 50 at Sherman. No rain fell in Texas Wednesday.

Bennett Case At Jury Stage

EL PASO (AP)—The case of cotton farmer Moody Bennett was expected to go to the jury today. Bennett, charged with assault with a deadly weapon on federal officers, said Wednesday he acted in self defense. Last Nov. 13, border patrol inspectors Thurston McCutcheon and Carey Whitman, looking for suspected illegal aliens, went to Bennett's farm below Marfa. McCutcheon and Whitman claimed Bennett drove up in a car and shot McCutcheon's horse from under him. Bennett was wounded in the arm in an exchange of gunfire. Bennett testified he saw two "cowboys" ride through his cotton field and told them to get out. He said one of the pair fired into his automobile and hit him in the arm. Bennett said the horses were frightened by the shots and that he tried to frighten them further so the riders couldn't attack him. He said he waved his rifle at the animals. "Then it looked like the red horse (McCutcheon's) was coming at me, so I stuck my rifle at the horse's head and killed him," Bennett said. "I recognized McCutcheon for the first time and threw my gun in front of me 20 or 25 feet away. McCutcheon then came over, pointed his gun at me and said, 'I'll kill you now' but the gun didn't go off."

Grace Due To Attain Goal

W. R. Grace & Company likely will achieve its goal of purchase of 51 per cent of Cosden Petroleum Corporation common stock today. Tuesday Grace had acquired 1,444,519 shares and there were two sizeable funds (blocks) which were due to be offered to Grace. Together there would be sufficient to attain the 1,500,000-share goal. Grace has indicated that if the effort to secure 51 per cent should fall short before the Feb. 11 deadline it had established, such shares as had been offered would be purchased.

Martin Tags On Sale Feb. 1

Martin County car tags will go on sale Feb. 1, according to Dan Saunders, tax assessor-collector. It will be "first come, first served" for special number this year, Saunders said. In the past the tax office has attempted to reserve numbers, but this has resulted in extra confusion and bookkeeping. He urged Martin County residents to bring their car title or a title application number with them to purchase tags. Sales will be handled in the tax office at Stanton and in the Niblett Grocery at Ackerly. Saunders explained, J. C. Niblett has handled Ackerly sales for the tax office for seven years and has agreed to sell them again this year. "This is a great help to residents in the north part of the county," he added.

Cosden To Expand Market Interest

Cosden Petroleum Corporation, already a leading producer of ortho-xylene, will extend its interest in the petrochemical through new facilities to be completed early in 1961. Dan M. Krausse, senior vice president, disclosed today that production will be in excess of seven million pounds per year. The design will permit capacity to be doubled to meet increasing worldwide demand for this important chemical raw material. Since April of 1958, Cosden has been the world's only supplier of 90 per cent ortho-xylene in commercial quantities. Ortho-xylene is used in the manufacture of synthetic resins, pharmaceuticals, and dye-stuffs. Cosden has been one of the pioneers in the utilization of xylene isomers. It was the first to derive ethylbenzene from this source for styrene manufacture and has been producing para-xylene since 1953. Shrinking supplies of naphthalene, coupled with major expansion of phthalic anhydride capacity all over the world, has focused attention on the need of a dependable source of raw material at stable prices. Advancing technology has made ortho-xylene competitive with naphthalene in phthalic anhydride yields produced. In addition, ortho-xylene is safer and more economical to transport and store. Falick Chemical Corporation of New York will handle all export sales for Cosden.

Not In Primary WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he has decided against entering the Ohio Democratic presidential primary.

You're in DANGER of losing your voice in government if you don't STOP and get your poll tax receipt or exemption certificate. Make a bee line to the tax assessor-collector's office today or Friday. You can't vote in any election — from district boards to President of the United States unless you pay your poll tax or get your exemption certificate. Only two more days! Don't delay!

French Leaders Exit Rebel Area Command Post Near Algiers

Happy Again

William James Stevens and Mrs. Jan Kemper Stevens smile and laugh as they pose for this family picture in Mrs. Stevens' apartment in Kansas City after their reconciliation. Stevens holds their five-month-old daughter, Jan Clair Stevens, who was taken earlier in January by Stevens and was the subject of a custody fight in New Orleans. Stevens flew from the couple's home in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., for the reunion with his wife and child.

Command Post Near Algiers

PARIS (AP)—Paul Delouvrier, French delegate general in Algeria, said tonight he and the military commander-in-chief are leaving Algiers for a command post in the country side. In a brief radio speech from Algiers, Delouvrier said, "It is not to betray you that I am leaving Algiers. I leave here in your care my wife and my children." He said "at the hour that you wish" he and Gen. Maurice Challe, the military commander-in-chief, will return to the city. He said Challe had already left the city, where French insurgents hold barricades in defiance of the government. He did not explain an apparent conflict between Challe's departure and his own earlier statement that the latter would soon give orders to the army. Rebellious Frenchmen eased a general strike which has paralyzed Algeria since their uprising against President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination policy for Algeria. Food supplies began moving in the capital and utilities began functioning in response to sympathetic appeals to the barricaded insurgents by De Gaulle's representatives. The army announced that a state of siege and martial law remains in effect in the tense capital. But authorities lifted censorship without explanation to let correspondents tell the full story of the revolt since it broke five days ago. Armed insurgents still cling to the barricades. They were firmly in control of an area in the heart of the city. Paratroopers ringed the insurgent encampment but made no move to invade. Insurgent leaders called on the population to relax the general strike in answer to appeals from Delouvrier and Gen. Challe, commander in chief of French forces in Algeria. Challe stressed in his appeal that the French army was fighting to keep Algeria French — a declaration that the rebels have been demanding from De Gaulle. The general strike paralyzed most Algerian cities since the uprising. Restlessness of the Moslems created a danger of new violence. Some Moslems showed a back-to-work urge. Street clashes broke out Wednesday in Mostaganem, a Mediterranean port of 50,000 about 200 miles west of Algiers. French soldiers fired shots to disperse a demonstration by a crowd—mostly Moslems—marching on City Hall demanding work and shouting "Long live De Gaulle." There were reports that 20 Moslems were injured, but none by gunfire. Home guards in Algiers, who are siding with the insurgents, intervened at a post bank Wednesday when Moslem employees tried to get it reopened for business. Gen. De Gaulle showed no indication of budging from his determination to let the Algerians eventually decide their own future—integration with France, home-rule under France or independence.

Airman Halfway Thru Capsule Test

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An airman was reported content and in excellent physical condition today after passing the halfway mark in a 72-hour test of an Air Force survival capsule in icy Lake Erie. At 7:30 p.m. today Col. Carl C. Hinkle, deputy chief of personnel services, will address 47 members of the graduating class 60-E in ceremonies set for the base chapel. There will be a traditional reception following in the Officers Club. Col. condition and the capabilities of the survival pod. Barwise, a 34-year-old father of three children, was reported in "fine spirits" and free of the leg cramps that bothered him Wednesday. The Air Force hopes he will remain in the 2 1/2 x 5 1/2-foot capsule until Friday afternoon. The bright yellow aluminum shell has been designed as an ejection package for use in the supersonic B58 Hustler. Barwise's 6-foot-2 frame is strapped in a pilot's ejection seat in a position "about like a man in a barber's chair getting a shave," as one observer said. His diet consists of high-sugar-content candy bars and gelatin. He also has chewing gum and cigarettes. Risks are nothing new for Barwise, an airman first class from Bovey, Minn. He saw duty with the U.S. Navy Seabees in World War II as a demolition man on Okinawa, Saipan, Tinian, Guam and in Japan. After a short hitch in the Air Force, he tried lumberjacking in Idaho. In 1951, he re-enlisted in the Air Force and turned to parachute jumping as a paramech. His family lives in Dayton, Ohio, a short distance from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, where he is stationed.

HCJC Enrolls 525 Students

Howard County Junior College enrollment for the spring semester reached 525 today. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that 425 had paid their fees at the college, and that another 100 would be added when enrollment from Webb AFB was reported. Registration continues to grow daily and is expected to increase substantially before the deadline is reached the evening of Friday (Feb. 5). All the totals included by Dr. Hunt are for college credit courses. They do not include any adult or special educational groups which will be organized later in February.

Midland To Spend Money On Skirts

MIDLAND (AP)—The city council has decided to spend $4,672 for a couple of skirts. The council voted Wednesday to buy the plastic skirts to replace worn-out aluminum ones on the clarifiers at the city's sewage treatment plant.

Aims At Congress

BRYAN (AP)—State Sen. William T. Moore, a local attorney, said Wednesday night he will file officially today for a place on the ballot as a candidate for U.S. representative from Texas' District 6.

Climbing

Workers came through with a big push in the YMCA membership drive Wednesday, regaining ground lost Tuesday and putting the teams within shooting distance of the goal. The Wednesday report was 245 new members for $4,916. K. H. McGibbon, campaign chairman, was enthusiastic with the catch-up report and predicted the goal would be reached today at the final counting, provided workers continued the big push. At the Wednesday report, the total count was 553 members and $10,877. McGibbon said only 197 more members would put the workers over the goal. Workers were to report results all during the day today and the victory dinner will be held at 7 p.m. to announce the final results. SHARING YMCA RED Two division leaders were sharing Yimca Red following Wednesday's accounting. Bob McEwen's Division C and Arnold Marshall's Division E were low with 86 members each. McEwen's division has a total of $1,720 and Marshall's division has brought in $1,745. Still leading the pack is R. H. Weaver's Division B with 145 members for $2,975. Closing the gap is Roy Worley's Division A, which after a late start, has moved

300 In Mothers' March Tonight To Recoup Drive

Upwards of 300 mothers will go on the march this evening in an effort to recoup the lagging March of Dimes campaign. Starting at 6 p.m. representatives from the elementary P-TA units in the city will start a house-to-house canvass to enlist support of the March of Dimes. Residents are urged to have their contributions ready if possible, so as to speed the work of the mothers. Rad Ware, chairman, appealed for as generous help as possible because the effort is lagging badly in terms of returns. At the same time, the Penny Parade will be under way at KEDY-TV, and youngsters are urged to come by an drop in their contributions at the station from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Attention of shoppers was called to the coin collectors on most counters over town. Because there has not been a concerted drive, these collectors become increasingly significant, said Ware. Among the P-TA units as taking part in the drive are Lakeview, Bauer, Boydston, Washington, College Heights, Marcy, Park Hill, Airport and Cedar Crest. The P-TA council, working through the unit leaders, arranged for the Mothers' March.

Fly In The Soup Is Sweat-Shirt Brigade

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The sweat-shirt rebellion against Drury College's dress-for-dinner edict gained momentum Wednesday night. Outside agitators, armed with French bread and soup, joyously joined the revolt. Undergraduates from Southwest Missouri State College, across town from Drury, set up a "come as you are" soup line on the Drury campus. Attracted by signs reading "have soup, will feed Drury in need" and "SMS foreign aid," more than 300 Drury rebels spurned the steak and potatoes served in the college dining hall to partake of the soup line's spare fare. Uniform of the day was sweat shirts, sweaters and bobby socks. The dining hall served only 12 diners and most of them were faculty members of the little privately endowed school. Tuesday night, the dining hall had served 62. Its normal quota is 250. The student strike began Monday. At issue is the refusal of Dr. James Findlay, president of Drury, to relax the requirement that students who eat in the dining hall must dress for dinner. Men must wear coats and ties. Women must wear heels and hose. In past years, the rule has been relaxed during the week of final examinations. This year, Dr. Findlay ordered it enforced. He explained that dressing for dinner is part of Drury's educational plan to teach something about the social amenities. Most of Drury's 700 students live off campus and are not involved in the revolt.

into second place with 125 members for $2,355. Back in third place is Bill Quimby's Division D with 111 members and $2,082. PAST GOAL The sustaining division, under J. R. Hensley, has slipped past their goal with room to spare. On the Wednesday counting, the division had 179 members and $7,020. Five team captain have broken their quotas, headed by L. D. Finch Prosecutor On Stand

Attorneys for Carole Tregoff have opened a fight at Los Angeles, Calif., to prove she was a witness against herself the day she was charged with murder. Here, Donald Bringgold, right, attorney for Carole, questions Dep. Dist. Attorney Fred N. Whichello, who admitted he did not advise Miss Tregoff, after her arrest, of her constitutional rights. She and Dr. R. Bernard Finch are charged with slaying the physician's wife.

Postmaster Asks Extension Of Service In New Areas

Big Spring mail men are making approximately 9,000 "stops" a day on their routes, Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said today.

Now he is busy figuring just how the post office will be able to add between 150 and 200 new stops to the list.

Indians Support Full-Blood Drive

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico Indians have joined those from other parts of the country in an attempt to elect the first full-blooded Indian to the U. S. Senate.

The candidate—Joseph R. Garry—is a Democrat from Idaho, seeking his party's nomination in the June primary there. A goal of $30,000 has been set by a committee of the National Congress of American Indians to help get Garry elected with New Mexico's quota, $1,500. John C. Rainer of Taos Pueblo is treasurer of the committee.

Boatler explained a stop is the delivery of mail to a specified address. Now that the city has annexed additional territory, heretofore outside the city and for the most part on star routes, postal service will have to be provided by the regular carriers of the city. The areas immediately involved include the Lockhart Addition, the Western Hills Addition and one or two other areas which have recently been brought into the city. Boatler said he had made application to the Post Office Department for a truck to serve these new patrons. Plans as of the present time call for curb stops. In other words, residents in the area will have to erect mail boxes at the street curb instead of their front porches and the postman will deliver the mail by motor car.

The system is already employed in Douglas Addition and in Webb Village. Boatler said that one of the problems in some parts of the new area to be served by the local post office is a matter of adequate roads and streets. He indicated the new service will have to be initiated in the near future.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Takes Issue Over Athletic And Academic Viewpoint

To the Editor:

Being a sports enthusiast, I am a regular reader of Mr. Hart's column, "Looking 'Em Over", and I find it interesting and informative. I am convinced, as is Mr. Hart, that there is a definite need for competitive athletics in our schools. I am, however, equally convinced that the anecdote used by him in his column Monday, Jan. 25, to point up this need was idiotic and that his own comment about the implications of the stricter scholastic requirements in the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference was irresponsible.

Surely Mr. Hart does not believe that asking athletes to pass 12 hours work per semester is an effort to "kill off" competitive athletics. On the contrary this can only lead to better competition and, as a result, a growth in competitive athletics. I am afraid the sports writer is misjudging the mental ability of the average athlete and is being taken in by the stereotype of the "brawny but not brainy" athlete.

As to the Marine Corps anecdote, it is ridiculous on the face of it. The Marine Corps is and was made up of men from every walk of life, and I have never noticed any preponderance of coaches or physical training instructors in it. I feel that an anecdote of this type can do nothing but promote misunderstanding between coaches and administrators and is hardly the type of reading the public is entitled to expect from a responsible journalist.

Sincerely,
FRANK JACKSON

DEAR ABBY

DOG-GONE NORMAL

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I am married to a crazy man or not. We are now living in Eugene, Oregon. My husband's Daddy called him from Pine Bluff, Arkansas, last night and told him that Bozo (my husband's dog) died, so my husband drove to Pine Bluff to bury his dog. Do dogs have funerals, Abby? Bozo was an old dog and my husband raised him from a pup. But in the six years we've been married my husband has lost several aunts and uncles and he never bothered to go to any of their funerals. What do you think of a man who will start out in the middle of the night to drive half-way across the country to bury a dog? ONLY A WIFE. DEAR WIFE: A man's devotion for his dog can't be measured in aunts and uncles. Your husband is dog-gone normal.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am being petty but I want to get your point of view. What do you do about a woman who always grasps a man's hand (the one in which the match is held) while he lights her cigarette? Both parties are married, but not to each other. The man is my husband and this woman is a freelance widow. I trust my husband but I don't trust her. I don't want to make a big thing out of this because I don't want to appear jealous. But how should I handle it? DEAR ANNOYED: Simmer down before you get all burned up. The poor soul is probably trying to get a cheap thrill. Ignore the performance. You've got the bonfire and she's getting the sparks. DEAR ABBY: I like a boy and he likes me, but listen to this: When I ask him to walk me home, he says he has to stay after school. But five minutes after I get home, I see him walking right past my house. He says he has to do his homework. Then I see him standing around outside doing nothing. He is 14 and so am I. How can I win his love? DEE DEE DEE DEE: He's shy, immature, bashful, timid, self-conscious and 14. There is only one cure for this. Wait until he's 15.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEING USED": Of course you are. Simply tell your friend that she can no longer "copy" your homework. You have not been "helping" her. . . you have been helping her cheat.

Have you read Abby's new, best-selling book, "DEAR TEEN AGER"?

Sgt. Seals Signs On For Another Four Years In AF

M.Sgt. Gordon A. Seals, NCOIC of the 3560th Field Maintenance

Squadron's electric shop, has re-enlisted for four more years in the U. S. Air Force. The 35-year-old WW II veteran first joined in December of 1941 and went to Europe in July 1942. Assigned to a service unit in Syria, he worked on B-24s for the 98th Bomb Squadron for three months before going on to Libya and to Tunisia in North Africa, and later to Italy. He has two battle stars on his Europe, Africa, Middle East Theater ribbon. Sgt. Seals stayed out of the service from 1945 until 1950 when he re-enlisted for an Air Force career. His father, Zeak Seals, Comanche, served with the Army during World War II as a diesel engine instructor on amphibious boats at stateside bases. Sgt. Seals was stationed at Goose Bay, Labrador, before coming to this base in October of 1958. His wife is the former Frances Kirkland, Comanche. The couple and their children, Judy Annett, 13, and Jimmy Ray, 9, live at Webb Village.

NORMAL PROCEDURE—An Indian porter, almost completely festooned with a burden of containers which hide him, carries his load across a street hazaar in New Delhi. Huge burdens such as he carries are commonplace on the Indian sub-continent.

PAIRED STROKES—Oxford's A and B crews train in a sixteen-oar craft at Berkshire, Eng. The "Leviathan" enables coaches to see both crews work together.

OUT IN THE OPEN—The traffic cop in the Piazza Venezia, Rome's central square, directs traffic while surrounded by holiday gifts presented to him by passing motorists. It is an Italian custom to honor a favorite traffic officer on Epiphany Day.

CANINE CAPER—Tiny, a French poodle, tests its lee "legs" under gaze of its mistress, Kit Klein Ouland, onetime speed skating champ, at Harrisburg, Pa.

STEP PREP—Rosalinda Anido is an exotic figure as she takes part in full costume rehearsal of the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company for its London opening.

HIGH PROWESS—Tokyo firemen, in traditional garb, demonstrate their agility atop bamboo poles in annual ceremonies held in Meiji Shrine outer gardens.

TANDEM TEST—Three Marines hover above ground in YR-9B helicopters at Quantico, Va., during test of craft for tactical evaluation and combat potential.

THE LOFTY LOOK—This Spring sailor, displayed at New York millinery fashion show, goes ultra feminine in a high crowned version in natural ballbanal with a crushed band. The sheer green four-layer brim is interspersed with pink flowers.

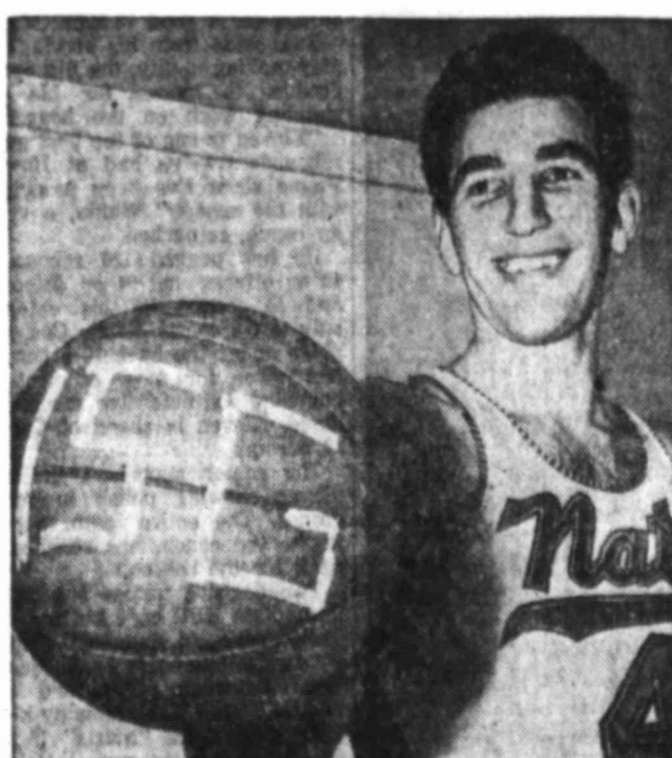

NOMINATED—G. Frederick Reinhardt, 48, a career foreign service officer, has been nominated by the President to be Ambassador to the United Arab Republic.

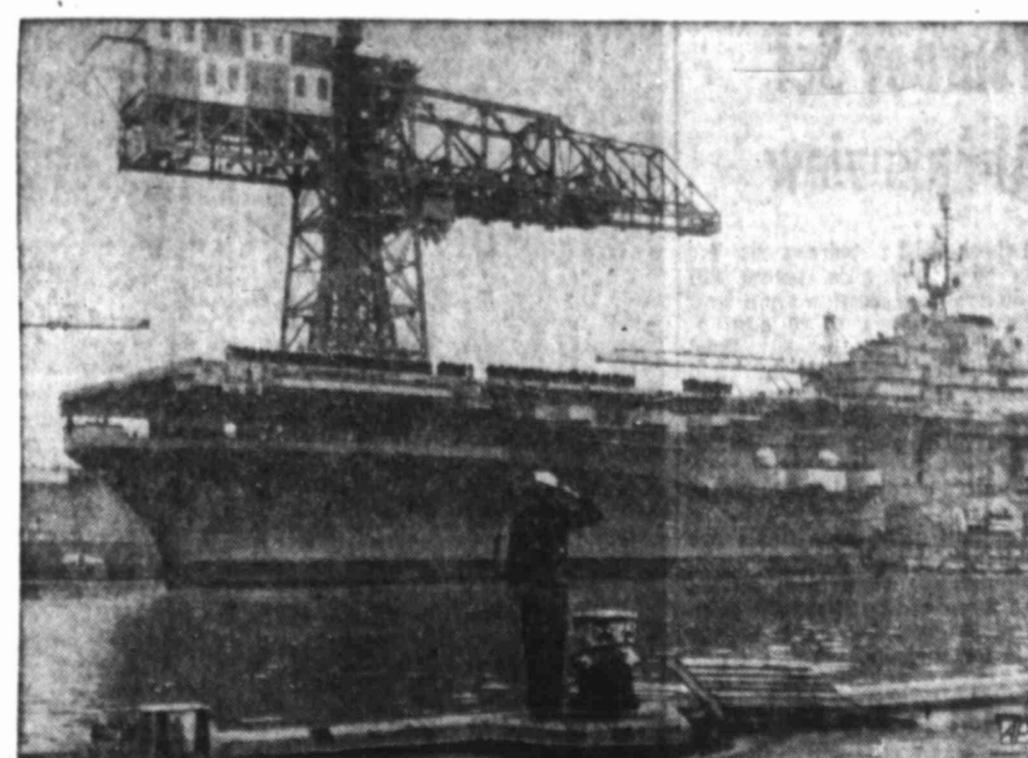

THEN 'N' NOW—Golfing great Gene Sarazen sits in pose similar to the portrait of himself unveiled in New York at Golf House, the sport's Hall of Fame.

REAL SLOW FREIGHT—A 240-ton boiler is transported around bend of street in Nettuno on its way to Italy's new nuclear plant at Laina. The special truck trailer, hauling the boiler, moved at an average speed of less than a mile an hour.

POINT MAKER—Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nats holds ball in Philadelphia dressing room after becoming the first NBA player to pass the 15,000-point mark.

POWER UNDER WRAPS—The aircraft carrier USS Tarawa arrives at Philadelphia Navy Yard to be placed in the mothball fleet for the second time. The craft, launched in 1945 and inactivated in 1949, went back to active duty in the Korean War.

Pupils Get Holiday Friday But It's Work For Teachers

All students of the Big Spring Public Schools will have an unexpected holiday Friday. They are being dismissed for the day in order that all faculty members may convene—first, in general session and later in committee meetings—to consider recommendations of the 17 State Curriculum Commission Reports. They also will evaluate proposed new textbooks in several subjects.

The meetings will be held at the Senior High School beginning at 8:45 a.m. with a general faculty meeting. The Lakeview High School choir, under the direction of Jo Hazel Williams, will open the program. This is the first year for the choir and reports of its performances have been complimentary.

Floyd W. Parsons, superintendent, will speak to the faculty, presenting the research project of the Classroom Teachers Association, "Conditions of Work for Quality Teaching."

Dan Conley, secretary-treasurer of the Big Spring Education Employees Federal Credit Union, will make a brief report, followed by S. M. Anderson, who will speak on the "Problems of the Day."

Guilty Pleas Are Expected

There will probably be a number of pleas of guilty stemming from indictments returned by the Howard County grand jury on Wednesday. None of these pleas, however, will be heard this week. Gil Jones, district attorney, said that if any of the defendants wish to plead guilty, arrangements will be made to take them before the court next week.

He pointed out that most of the city's attorneys, including District Judge Ralph C. Cotton, will be out of the city this weekend, attending a legal institute in El Paso.

A considerable number of the 33 persons indicted by the grand jury are at liberty on bond. Some are in the county jail. Bonds have been set for these but they have not as yet posted bail.

Attorneys To Attend Clinic

There will be a marked scarcity of attorneys in Big Spring on Friday and Saturday of this week. Twelve of the 21 members of the Howard County bar will be in El Paso attending a legal institute for West Texas attorneys.

Attorneys who are to attend the two day meeting are: Dist. Judge Ralph W. Caton, John Burgess, Hartman Hooser, Harvey Hooser, R. H. Weaver, Gil Jones, John R. Coffee, Grover Cunningham Jr., George Thomas, Wayne Burns, Al Turner, and Jack Little. Jerry Spence, district court reporter, also plans to attend.

State Bar President A. J. Foley, Amarillo, and executive director Bill Pool, Austin, will attend.

The institute study is under the joint sponsorship of the El Paso Bar and the State Bar of Texas. Speakers include Associate Justice Jack Pope of the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals; Dean Page Keeton of the University of Texas School of Law, Austin; Mrs. Margaret Amstler, professor at Baylor University School of Law, Waco; and Dallas attorney Clarence A. Guitard, Dallas attorney.

The institute will get under way Friday at 1:30 p.m. and will conclude Saturday at noon. Lecture topics include: "Presenting and Excluding Evidence" by Pope; "Fraud and Mistakes in Real Estate Transactions," Keeton; "The Texas Non-Profit Corporation Act," Mrs. Amstler; and "Preparation and Trial of Condemnation Cases," Guitard.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS SELL APPLIANCES FROM FACTORY TO FAMILY

THE APPLIANCE INDUSTRY, an $8-billion business, turns to the daily newspaper for help in marketing its numerous wares. With over 50 types of products, incorporating thousands of different models, this industry relies on the medium whose proven flexibility insures sales during periods of greatest opportunity. That medium is the daily newspaper.

Appliance manufacturers use daily newspapers regularly to maintain brand recognition. They use them geographically, seasonally, and strategically to meet peak demands, stimulate sales, and meet competition.

All along the sales line the appliance industry depends upon the daily newspaper to move its products to the ultimate consumer. Appliance distributors and retailers, as well as utilities, use the daily newspaper to get immediate sales results on the local scene.

With circulation at an all-time high of 58,605,000 copies, daily newspapers have a greater effect than ever on more people, thus moving more goods along the marketing line. Daily newspapers sell products nationally and locally, insuring brand acceptance and immediate sales.

THE TOTAL SELLING MEDIUM IS THE DAILY NEWSPAPER

Wide Flu Outbreak Hits New Peak In Some Areas

By The Associated Press
The widespread outbreak of flu reached a new peak in some areas of Texas forcing additional schools to close as pupils and teachers stayed home with the illness. An estimated 30,000 students were absent in Houston Wednesday. Included were 17,000 from the 184,200-student Houston School District. The other 19 districts in the county reported over 2,500 absent.

Two parochial schools in Houston closed Wednesday—Our Lady of Mount Carmel elementary and Our Saviour Lutheran elementary. Other schools closed Wednesday were those at Pleasanton in South

Texas and the Boerne High School. Supt. of Schools Joe Mitchell said all schools at Pleasanton would be closed until Feb. 1. He said 349 students, or 23 per cent of the district's enrollment were absent.

Both Sherman hospitals reported Wednesday they were filled to capacity as the result of the flu outbreak. Both hospitals reported about 65 flu patients.

The flu outbreak caused schools at Laneville, southwest of Henderson, to be closed Wednesday. One-sixth of the student body was absent at Laneville and the schools will be closed till Feb. 1.

1,000 Texas GOP Faithfuls Attend Dinners

By The Associated Press
Nearly 1,000 GOP faithfuls poured into fund raising dinners in Texas Wednesday night and heard the Republican party praised and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) derided.

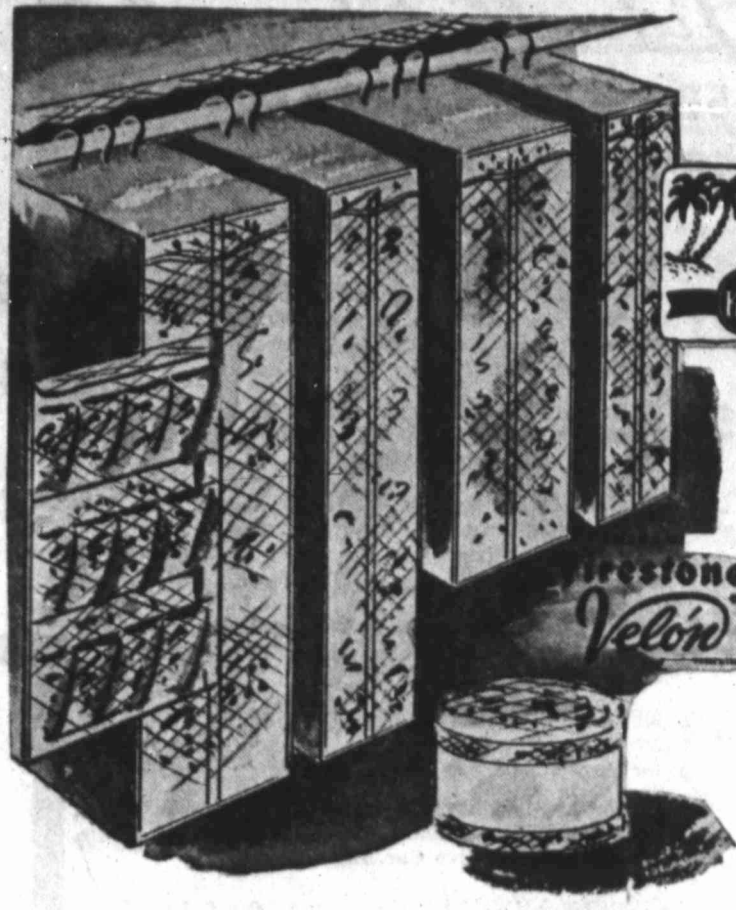

Some 350 South Texas Republicans paid an estimated $40,000 to attend the pheasant and wild rice dinner at San Antonio to hear Dewey Short, assistant secretary of the Army, and nearly 600 persons jammed the Houston dinner where Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) spoke. The Houston Republicans donated an estimated $80,000 for the GOP 1960 campaign kitty.

The Texas events were just two of 80 such dinners held Wednesday night across the country. A dinner planned at Tyler was cancelled after officials were unable to sell enough tickets.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and other Republican dignitaries visited the dinners via a nation-wide closed circuit television hookup.

Lewis Moorman, of San Antonio, co-chairman of the GOP finance committee, sent a telegram to Los Angeles and noted the message was being sent from "the heart of the land of the Lyndon tree." The main GOP dinner, with President Eisenhower attending, was held in Los Angeles.

Moorman got a laugh from the San Antonio crowd when he described a linden tree by saying: "Lindens are trees of fine proportions, with large cordate leaves and cyanoose yellowish flowers, which abound in honey."

Rose The Winner

Ariene Hennessey of Bayonne, N.J., the national rose queen, presided over the contest. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) left, and Rep. Omar Barleson (D-Tex) in Washington, D.C., after Congress was told the rose is this nation's favorite flower. The word came from florists after a nationwide contest.

Take A Deep Breath; It's Time For Smellodramas

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It is time to take a deep breath of fresh air and consider the matters of movies that smell.

Los Angeles is the first city to be exposed to both the new scent-film processes. They are playing a block apart on a section of Wilshire Boulevard that should be called Smellodrama Row.

Here are the two films:

1. "Behind the Great Wall."

The movie. It's a documentary about Red China, filmed by Italians, with a photographic beauty that Hollywood seems to have forgotten about—or is too budget-conscious to attempt. It is both stunning and frightening, especially in the climax scene of a monstrous parade of Chinese might.

The process. It's called Aromarama and the odors are piped through the air conditioning. This gives you the feeling of sitting in a windstorm at times.

The best smell comes in the ponderous prologue when Chet Huntley cuts an orange. You get it right away. Since the smells were added after the film was made, they are limited to rather obvious Oriental ones, mostly musty and indistinguishable.

2. "Scent of Mystery."

The movie. It's a chase along the lines of Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," and done by Junior Todd with the same humor and mobility. The murder mystery is shot through with holes but it's good fun and Spain is gorgeously photographed. Peter Lorre is a gem in the role played in the earlier version by Cantinflas.

The process. Less elegantly titled Smell-o-Vision, it pipes the odors into the theater via valves beneath the seats.

Networks Join To Tell Public What's Shown

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company has now joined its rival Columbia Broadcasting System in a policy of telling the public precisely what it is looking at or listening to.

The new NBC rules seem the more moderate. For one thing, the language to be used is simpler. Under some circumstances, CBS requires such complicated announcements as "certain portions of this recorded program pre-recorded." NBC settles for a simple "this program was pre-recorded."

NBC, unlike CBS, has decided that canned laughter—recorded chuckles deliberately inserted in comedy shows is a showman's device rather than a deceitful practice. The network, therefore, will not tell us when canned laughter is used in a show. But it plans to make sure that when it is needed, it will be used expertly and inoffensively.

Surely this is a sensible decision. Those CBS announcements—"audience reaction technically augmented—at the end of, for instance, a Jack Benny show, do not increase the enjoyment of this viewer.

NBC, too, is putting an end to some minor flummery in its news reporting. Henceforth it will let the folks at home know when a correspondent's report has been pre-recorded, instead of allowing us to think the fellow is calling in on the spot.

Meanwhile, John Daly vice president at the American Broadcasting Company says of his network's news coverage: "We have always observed the best possible journalistic ethics. I have no ukases or thundering pronouncements to make."

Those winter viruses are still upsetting the plans of TV producers. Shelley Winters had to cancel out of "Too Early to Die," the Feb. 7 G.E. Theater show, and Kim Hunter will step into her role. Sam Levenson can't make the NBC debut of "Masquerade Party" Friday night, and his spot on the panel of regulars will be taken by Merv Griffin.

The way the networks have been pegging their specials—musical and otherwise—to time periods, they'll soon be running out of nostalgia. The 1950s are due for exploration Sunday night—CBS' "Fabulous Fifties"—and they were over only three weeks ago. Now instead of picking segments in time, the TV programmers are approaching the same idea from a different tack. "The Swingin' Years," on NBC Feb. 9 will cover the mid-thirties to the early forties.

Recommended tonight: "The Untouchables," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m.—with David "Mr. District Attorney" Brian playing a mail robber; Mickey Rooney Show, CBS, 10-11 p.m.—first of a new hour-long series of musical variety shows.

Midland Shares In Highway Funds

AUSTIN (AP)—Bids on four multi-million-dollar projects and a number of smaller highway construction jobs were tabulated Wednesday by the State Highway Department.

Bids totaled $8,975,272, bringing the two-day total to $15,847,780 for work on about 254 miles of roads. Projects, by counties, included: Midland—State 158, 10.4 miles grading and paving from Alpine Street in Midland to Ector County line; Schweppe Inc., San Antonio, $291,801.

HOUSTON (AP)—Mrs. Irene Smith Cliett, who lost another court round Tuesday in her fight to retain the "country" of Enei (Irene spelled backwards) says, "I am going to keep fighting. I'll never give up."

Enei is the 703-acre Waller County farm which Mrs. Cliett contends is all hers. Courts have ruled that the heirs of George Scott are entitled to half of the property.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Sheehy denied her request Tuesday for a new trial and a relief from a previous adverse judgment.

Mrs. Cliett attracted wide attention several years ago when she set up camp on the property and refused to accept an injunction notice from a deputy U.S. marshal. She said then she had succeeded from the United States and formed the country of Enei.

Shadow Of Unruly Texas Army Penalizes AF Voting

By SAM BLACKBURN

If you are a member of the regular Army or Navy of the United States, you are disqualified from voting in the state of Texas. This law, a part of the Texas Constitution, is interpreted in these modern days to include any member of the regular armed forces of the United States. Hence, airmen and officers at Webb Air Force base, even though they may to all other intents be residents and citizens of the Big Spring and Howard County, cannot obtain poll tax receipts and cannot vote in local elections.

The story of the peculiar feature of the state's constitution goes back to the days of 1836 when Texas was a republic.

In these more modern days, it seems that the well-intentioned effort which originally inspired the law is proving unfair to many members of the armed forces.

HOW COME?

A staff sergeant stationed at Webb, reading the editorial appeal in this newspaper that people support their government by voting in all elections, voiced a protest which is widely heard in Big Spring these days:

"You have been printing a lot about paying your poll tax. You ask if we are running out on our government. Here's what happened to me—I went in to pay my poll tax and they said that Air Force personnel couldn't vote in Howard County.

"Now I have been in Texas for five years and in Howard County for 2½ years. The thing that I would like to know—does Texas want people to vote or does it just want a few to vote? If I was a civilian, it would be all right for me to vote provided I had lived in the county for just six months. Why not a service man?"

It's because of the state constitution, sergeant.

And thereby hangs a tale:

"NOVEL SECTION"

When a constitution was written in that day, the first act contained what Abner V. McCall, former dean of the school of law and now president of Baylor University, terms a "novel section." This section provided "that regular enlisted soldiers and volunteers for during the war, shall not be eligible to vote for civil officers."

Dr. McCall said this action was "no doubt inspired by the mutinous conduct of the non-resident volunteers who had been recruited in the United States after the battle of San Jacinto. They had defied the provisional government and one occasion in July 1836, had sent an officer to arrest President David G. Burnett and his cabinet and bring them to trial before the army."

He goes on to say that the rebellious conduct of these troops continued after Sam Houston became president under the constitution of 1836. It was not until May 1837 that Houston was able to dissolve the army and eliminate this threat to civil authority.

SAFEGUARD

This period so alarmed the framers of the republic's constitution they wrote in the provision disqualifying such regularly enlisted soldiers and sailors from the right to vote. In 1845 when the Republic of Texas became a state the same provision relative to soldiers and sailors was incorporated into the 1845 constitution. And the only modification was in 1932 when members of the National Guard and reserve and retired officers and men were exempted from its provisions.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax collector, said that her deputies have to tell a great many airmen they cannot pay their poll tax because of the state law which specifically disqualifies a member of the regular (active) armed forces from voting.

VOTE IN HOME COUNTY

The only alternative that is held for such persons is that they may cast a vote, by absentee ballot, in their original (Texas) home town or the community from which they enlisted. Provided of course, that they pay poll tax in that community.

Airmen argue that this is not fair.

"I'm a career airman," objects one such airman. "I've been in the Air Force for a long time. I have been stationed here in Big Spring for several years. I own a home here. I have to pay taxes here. I am interested, just as any citizen, in affairs in Howard County and Big Spring. I have no ties any longer in the town where I enlisted. There's no reason why I should want to vote in its elections. My interests are here."

A few irate airmen, who are in this position have asked if denial of a vote locally puts them in the position of being taxed without a voice in their government.

IT'S THE LAW

Most civic leaders agree that the law isn't all that it should be. Nevertheless it is the law and public officials have no alternative than to abide by it.

The disqualification section of the statute does not specify members of the U. S. Air Force for the good reason that no Air Force existed at the time law was written.

The law is officially Article 5.01 of the State Election Code. The subtitle is "Not qualified to vote."

"The following classes of persons shall not be allowed to vote in this state: 1. Persons under 21 years of age; 2. Idiots and lunatics; 3. All paupers supported by the county; 4. All persons convicted of any felony except those restored to full citizenship and rights of suffrage or pardoned."

"All soldiers, marines and seamen employed in the service of the Army or Navy of the United States."

CAPT. GEORGE GRIFFITH

Griffith To Go To Japan

Capt. George L. Griffith, whose extra duty was that of Information Officer for the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, is being assigned to Japan. He came here in March of 1959 after serving almost three years in the Pentagon as a war game analyst.

Japan is not new territory for the captain, who spent a 3-year tour as executive officer on the staff of Rear Admiral Chester C. Smith, logistics division, in Tokyo.

During World War II he served three years with the 322nd Bomb Group in a B-24 Liberator squadron which flew its missions from Norfolk, England. He holds the Bronze Star.

He is married to the former Martha Jane Grove, Chambersburg, Pa., and they have two children, Joan Elizabeth, 9, and Marshall George, 7.

Aliens Apply For Forms

Approximately 600 aliens living in Howard County have made application to the Big Spring post office for the forms on which they report their present addresses to the U. S. Bureau of Immigration.

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, said that he did not know how many aliens there may be in the county, but he warned the law requires that formal notification by each alien of his current address must be filed with the immigration authorities by Jan. 31.

He urged all aliens who have not as yet complied with this requirement to come to the post office and obtain the simple postal card report form which they are required to mail.

Vollrath Will Lead O Flight

Capt. Edward T. Vollrath, assistant commander, "G" Flight in Section II, succeeds Capt. Ernest L. Lahr as commander of "O" Flight in Section IV. Captain Lahr leaves next week for Shaw AFB, S. C.

Capt. Vollrath, who has been here since May 1957, will marry Robbe J. Kemmerling of Big Spring on Saturday.

He was graduated from flying school at Foster AFB, in 1953 and completed advanced flying training at Shaw AFB, S. C. He is checked out in T-33, F-80, RF-80 and C-47 types aircraft.

Capt. Vollrath's overseas experience includes a three-year tour in Germany after leaving Shaw AFB in 1954. He spent the first year in Germany flying RF-80's with a Tactical Reconnaissance unit. The rest of the tour he spent in Berlin as a member of the American Element at the Four-Power Air Safety Center.

His first job at Webb in 1957 was that of assistant commander of Flight "F". He attended the Squadron Officer School at the Air University, Ala., while assigned here.

Capt. Vollrath was a member of Section II's 1959 championship football team.

Flu Holds On At Lamesa

LAMESA — Adults are apparently getting the worst of it in the current flu epidemic here.

All beds in the medical wing of the Medical Arts Hospital are taken by those with flu or respiratory ailments resulting from the flu. There were 18 such cases under treatment Wednesday at the hospital, and some consideration was being given to setting up a flu ward.

On the other hand, the absentee situation in the schools was somewhat improved. Three of the schools had 15 per cent of the enrollment out and two others had 10 per cent not in school. Both these figures are substantially above normal but not as bad as they have been. This led health authorities to speculate that perhaps youngsters have weathered the worst of the epidemic but that adults are still in the middle of it.

Completes Work On BBA Degree

Mrs. Patricia Ann Iden Hall is completing requirements on her BBA degree in secretarial science and business education at Hardin-Simmons University.

Although she qualifies for the degree as of Saturday, she will not actually be awarded it until May 30 at the regular commencement exercise. Mrs. Hall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Iden of Vealmoor.

Mrs. Barbara Joyce Jinkens Seward, wife of John C. Seward, Route 2, Colorado City, is completing her work for a BS in secondary education.

MRS. JAMES O. ALLEN JR.

Beverly Mell Is Bride Of James O. Allen Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Allen Jr. are making a home in Austin following their marriage there Saturday afternoon in the University Christian Church.

The bride is the former Beverly Ann Mell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Mell of Austin. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Allen, 1317 Mulberry, are parents of the bridegroom.

White stock and gladioli were used in single arrangements with palms as the background for the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white Chantilly lace; her headpiece was a small cap of lace covered in pearls and iridescent sequins.

She carried a prayer book topped with camellias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Charles E. Lawrence of Houston was her sister's matron of honor; Jackie Beth Crowe, also of Houston, was a bridesmaid. Both were frocked in peacock blue satin and carried nosegays of white violets.

Eugene M. Allen of El Paso, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man. The groomsmen was

G. Cody Bradshaw of Houston, a cousin of the bridegroom. Another cousin, John Paul Carter of Dallas, and Charles E. Lawrence of Houston were ushers.

White organza over white satin covered the table for the reception held at the church after the ceremony. The three-tiered cake, decorated in orange blossoms and lily of the valley, served as a centerpiece.

For a wedding trip, the bride chose a dress of Dior blue with matching gloves and hat. Her corsage was a camellia.

The new Mrs. Allen is a senior at the University of Texas and is affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is attending the University School of Pharmacy.

New Coahomans

COAHOMA — Mr. and Mrs. Granville Graves are now at home in Coahoma, at 107 Reynolds St. They have two children, Terri, age two, and Craig, four weeks old.

Mrs. Gray Helps With Dime March

The March of Dimes progressed financially and socially as another hostess entertained Wednesday morning with coffee.

Mrs. Hervey Gray opened her home for a party, with Mrs. Ed Cherry, chairman of coffee arrangements, assisting her in receiving guests.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Bill Bonner at the organ as guests gathered and chatted.

Mrs. C. F. Harris was at the refreshment table. This was laid in a cutwork cloth and centered with a monochromatic arrangement of carnations in pink tones.

Slated for Sunday afternoon is a tea at the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington Blvd. Guests are invited to call between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m.

A coffee was scheduled for this morning in the home of Mrs. R. H. Mullins, 5705 Dixon, with members of the Fire Ma'ams as hostesses.

Gressetts Are Given Shower

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gressett, recently married in Big Spring, were given a bridal shower in the music room of The Forsan school.

The bride is the former Mrs. Mary Patrick of Big Spring, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gressett of Forsan.

Green and white was the color scheme of the evening, with a white cloth over a green underlay. Centerpiece for the refreshment table was made with a mirror and sprays of wedding rings and bells. It was topped with two large green and white styrofoam wedding rings tied with ribbons.

Mrs. Jesse L. Overton helped the bride open gifts, while Mrs. Larry Stockton and Mrs. Bill Conger helped with the display. Registering the guests were Mrs. Delmer Klahr and Mrs. L. B. McElrath.

Other hostesses alternated at the refreshment table. They included Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Mrs. O. W. Fletcher, Mrs. Rip Bailey, Mrs. M. M. Hines, Mrs. O. W. Scuddry, Mrs. A. D. Barton, Mrs. W. E. Stockton, and Mrs. Vera Harris.

The hostesses presented Mrs. Gressett with a corsage of white carnations.

Parrishes Have Son Born In El Paso

WESTBROOK — Kenneth Lee Parrish Jr. was added to the family of A.I.C. and Mrs. Kenneth Lee Parrish of Biggs AFB, El Paso. The little boy weighed 9 pounds 3 1/2 ounces when he was born Tuesday.

Parrish is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Parrish of Westbrook. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, Amartillo.

Mrs. Redden Hosts Jr. Woman's Forum

Members of the Junior Woman's Forum met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. R. Redden Jr., where they engaged in a open discussion on teaching infants and pre-schoolers. Mrs. Dean Forrest was moderator.

A change in the meeting hour was announced for the next session, Feb. 9. The group will meet at 1 p.m. at the high school, where they will attend the Bible class, Room V-2.

Following the class, the forum will gather at the home of Mrs. Melvin Witter, 1714 Yale, for a business session.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Easy To Put On, Hard To Take Off, She Says

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Anyone who had to work as hard as I did to lose weight can never have enjoyment of rich and fattening foods again," Myrna Fahey declared. "Overeating isn't worth the annoyance of dieting. I once weighed 130 pounds, and since I'm only five -three - and - a-half, that's a lot of pounds."

"How did you get so heavy?" I asked, for Myrna now has a trim little figure.

"I ate too much of everything," Myrna explained. "I came to the Pasadena Playhouse from a small town in Maine, the first of my family to have theatrical ambitions. I was a little frightened and impatient to show everyone that I hadn't made a mistake. When I was feeling sorry for myself I turned to food as a compensation."

"Then I realized I had become chubby and I didn't know how to diet. Foolishly I didn't consult anyone. I felt if eating too much had made me fat, not eating enough would make me thin, but what I didn't take into consideration was that I was ruining my health."

"That was several years ago and I'm still paying for it. My blood count is not up to normal and I have to go to the doctor every week for liver and iron shots," she revealed.

"We were chatting on the set of 'Story on Page One' in which Myrna plays a girl with high ambitions.

"That should require much acting," I said, for Myrna has remained remarkably natural in the sophisticated Hollywood atmosphere. "You're still the same as when I first met you."

"I haven't changed," she agreed. "I'm not comfortable unless I'm myself. I think we should be grateful for and appreciate the attributes we have. These make us distinct individuals."

As Myrna was talking I noticed her beautiful, long nails. "That's unusual when you are anemic," I mentioned.

"My nails were really a problem," Myrna exclaimed, "until I found a most wonderful plastic coating which I put over my polish. It makes them so strong that no matter what I do I never break them. And the polish never chips. I also give myself a manicure once a week because it's so good for my cuticle."

POPULAR DIET
Readers often write in requesting a short but sure diet. This one is easy, full of variety and guaranteed to help you lose weight. It's a six-day "Body-Balance Reducing Diet," Leaflet M-64, designed to shed a pound a day. Send 10 cents for your copy and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Gives Diet Warning

Myrna Fahey warns against haphazard dieting. "You can lose weight without losing your health," she says. She is soon to be seen in "Story on Page One" for 28th Century-Fox.

Toastmistresses Hold Installation Services

Installation service for the newly elected officers of Tall Talkers Toastmistresses Club was held Tuesday evening at the Officers Club.

Mrs. Hollis Smith, a charter member of the group, installed Mrs. S. Gorman as president; Mrs. Donald Sackchewsky, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Coakley, secretary, and Mrs. Arthur Ross, club representative. The vice president, Mrs. Leina Younkin, had been installed at an earlier meeting.

Chili Supper Set As Does Benefit

A benefit chili supper was planned by members of the Does Wednesday evening when they met in the Elks Hall.

The affair will be given at the hall from 6 to 9 p.m. on Feb. 6, and the public is invited to attend. Tickets are priced at $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Standing committees were appointed by the president, Mr. Glen Gale; Mrs. A. E. Walker was initiated into the group.

Pro tem officers were Mrs. W. R. Rogers, guard, and Mrs. S. V. Jordan, chaplain. The latter was awarded the attendance prize.

the island is now almost extinct. Toastmistress of the evening was Mrs. Joseph Riley. The table topic was given by Mrs. Thomas Simpson who asked members what they would like to find in a Chinese fortune cookie.

Eight visitors were present.

Girl Scouts Play Games, Sing At Meet

Games and songs entertained the girls of Girl Scout Troop 140 when they met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Clayton Bettie, one of their leaders.

Refreshments were served by Sarah Smith. A Come-As-You-Are Breakfast was given for the girls Saturday in the home of Mrs. R. L. Heath, another leader of the group.

Susan Collier will be hostess for the Feb. 3 scout meeting.

Garden Council Sets Date Of Tasting Tea

Plans were made and a tentative date set for the annual tasting tea by members of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. C. J. Horton.

The latter part of February was chosen for giving the benefit affair.

April 22 was selected as the date for the Spring Flower Show, which will be staged in the old

SUB at Howard County Junior College. Responsibility for the show will rest with the Four O'Clock and Rosebud Garden Clubs.

It was decided to sell the remaining flower arrangement calendars for 50 cents, which is a reduction in the price. The calendars may be obtained from any of the club members.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services at the state hospital, has asked that gardeners assist the patients when transplanting or dividing plants. Surplus bulbs, rosebushes, shrubs and plants will be gratefully received, she stated, and will be used in therapy for the patients, who will do the planting under supervision.

New council representatives will become members at the next meeting, Feb. 24, and will serve until May, 1961, it was decided.

Mrs. J. W. Trantham, 1319 Stadium, will entertain the council at 9:30 a.m. on that date.

Mexican Dinner Given Forsan Young People

FORSAN — Sherrie Fletcher and her mother, Mrs. O. W. Fletcher, entertained 20 members of the Young People's Class of the Church of Christ with a Mexican dinner. Frank Philey is the class instructor.

Moving to Odell this week are the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Taylor and their five children. The family moved to Forsan from Sweetwater several months ago. He has been pastoring the Forsan Methodist Church.

Colorado City will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Bassinger and Vicki. The family is moving this weekend.

Visitors from McCamey are Mr. and Mrs. Harley Grant and their children, who are guests of her parents, the A. O. Joneses.

The Delbert Clark family visited relatives in Hobbs, N. M., recently.

Mrs. Don Page of Borger and Mrs. G. F. Duncan of Big Spring have been visiting Forsan friends.

In Colorado City to attend funeral services for a friend were the W. P. Shannons and the Roy Walravens.

Yum... Yum... Good!

Licking the frosting mixers is a trick many of us never out-grow, but 6-year-old Ashley Kay is just getting a good start at cleaning up her mother's chocolate frosting bowls. Mrs. Harold V. Summers watches her daughter in amusement.

Young Mother Student Of Golf, Art, Cooking

Petite Bernice Summers has joined her husband, Harold, as a golf fan. The blonde housewife, who has been taking golf lessons, has been trying to master the leisure-time sport for the past year.

"We have taken up golfing since we left Houston," recalls Mrs. Summers. "There we had done a number of things together that we weren't able to do out here, so we started learning new things."

Harold V. Summers was transferred to Big Spring three years ago by Corden, where he is employed as a petroleum engineer. Both Mr. and Mrs. Summers are originally from the Gulf Coast, natives of Corpus Christi.

Blue-eyed Bernice met her future husband at church in Corpus Christi right after he got out of the service. Later they were married and lived in Bryan where Harold attended Texas A&M.

Mrs. Summers was also a student at Texas A&M. Not in the sense that violates the court's ruling on the school becoming co-educational, however! She took courses in oil painting there, and in Houston, where they lived two and a half years after Harold's graduation.

"Everything I do seems to come out impressionistic," laments the young mother. She is a follower of realism and wants to try her hand at abstracts.

Copper tooling has also interested Mrs. Summers, for in the living room of the home on Sycamore hang two scenes she has toolled and matted with burlap.

Her husband doesn't share Mrs. Summers' art interest too much, but he is interested in other things they do together, such as playing tennis, swimming and bowling.

Another member of the family who is interested in everything everybody does is 6-year-old Ashley Kay. The brunette with a low voice attends the first grade at Washington Place school. Presently her main interest in life is rocks, and her mother classifies her as a "rock hound."

Activities outside her family are limited for the young homemaker, but Bernice manages to find time to do regular volunteer work in the occupational therapy workshop at the State Hospital and teach a class of enthusiastic 6-year-olds at Baptist Temple.

Her main interest, though, is the two-bedroom Summers' home. Here among the modern-trend furniture are several unusual items with a Far-East flavor. Three hand-carved chests that Harold found while stationed on Guam are scattered about the home. The dark-wood containers nestle one within the other.

On the living room wall hangs a very old tapestry. A gift of a Japanese friend Mrs. Summers knew as a child, the tapestry has been framed to preserve it. Tones of gray-green, white, and shades of beige have been used to create a scene of irises on a black satin background.

Cooking is a hobby with Mrs.

Summers, and she collects interesting cookbooks and recipes. "My husband jokes that he never eats the same thing twice because I experiment so much," says the young cook.

Since sea food is a natural love for this former Gulf Coast family, Bernice Summers offers one recipe that she is sure will be a hit with shrimp-lovers.

CREAMY SHRIMP NEWBURG WITH CURRY POPOVERS

1½ cups cooked and cleaned shrimp
3 tbs. butter
¾ tsp. flour
¾ tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. salt
1 cup evaporated milk
¾ cup water
2 tbs. sherry
Cut shrimp in half lengthwise.

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in evaporated milk and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens.

Remove from heat; stir in sherry. Add shrimp to sauce. Serve in curry popovers.

CURRY POPOVERS

2-3 cup milk (evaporated)
2 eggs
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup water
1 tsp. curry powder
1 cup sifted flour

Place all ingredients in a mixing bowl; beat just until smooth. Fill well-buttered custard cups or muffin tins about 2-3 full. Bake in 425 degrees oven 40 minutes or until popovers are browned and firm. Split open while hot and serve filled with shrimp newburg. (Batter is thin and it will need to be cooked a long time.)

BAKED BABY CROOKNECK SQUASH

Select little yellow summer

squashes. Steam until tender. Split lengthwise and brush the cut surface generously with melted butter. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle liberally with chopped pimiento and parsley. (Bread crumbs, also, if desired.) Place squash halves in a shallow pan; heat in moderate oven just until they sizzle.

FROZEN GRAPE SALAD

(This is a luscious treat that can be made the day before. It is especially colorful and festive looking.)

6 ounces (large pkg.) cream cheese
1 to 2 tbs. mayonnaise
2 tbs. pineapple syrup (from can)
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) pineapple bits, drained
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 cups Tokay grapes, halved and seeded

Soften cream cheese, blend with mayonnaise. Beat in the pineapple syrup. Add marshmallows and drained pineapple bits. Fold in whipped cream and halved grapes. Pour into 1-quart refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm. Cut in squares.

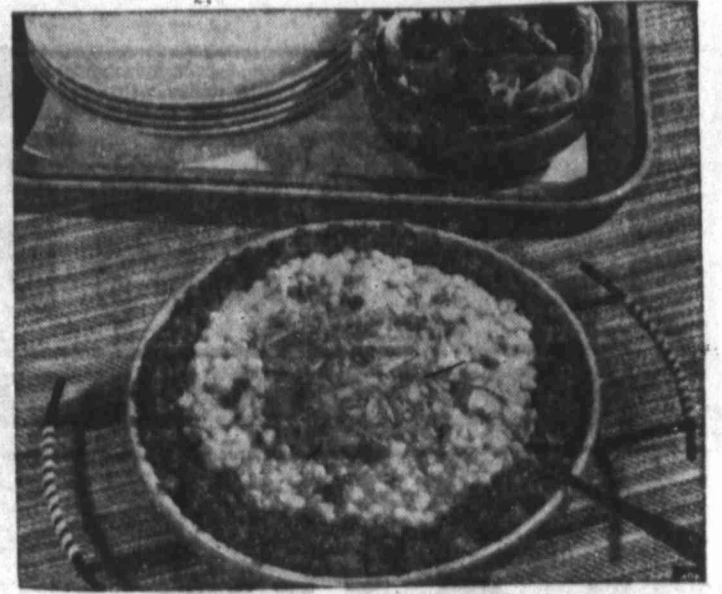

GRAHAM CRACKER CUPCAKES

Cream together:
1 stick margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
In another bowl mix:
32 crushed graham crackers
1 cup nuts, chopped
2 tsp. baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Add second mixture to creamed mixture. Bake 15 minutes at 400 degrees in paper muffin containers. Serve with pineapple topping.

PINEAPPLE TOPPING

Boil until thick 1 cup crushed pineapple, 1 cup sugar. Spread on cupcakes while still warm; 1 to 2 tsp. of brandy may be added if desired.

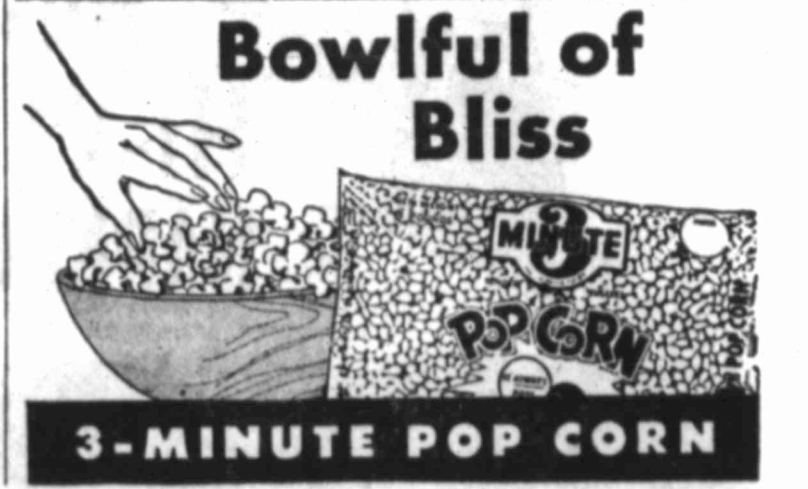

CORN AU GRATIN IN HASH NEST ... tasty meal-in-one-dish

Winter's Casserole Delicious Wonder

Judge it by eating. Corn au Gratin in Hash Nest is a casserole wonder, brimful of goodness with pluses for attractiveness and on-the-shelf handiness. With a nourishing meat-vegetable combination casserole such as this one, add only a crisp tossed salad and buttered rye toast. The dessert choice is compotes of canned purple plums and pineapple chunks sprinkled with toasted coconut served with a generous wedge of pound cake.

Press corned beef hash into a buttered shallow casserole to form a nest. Combine corn, onion, parsley and soup; pour into hash nest. Top with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven, (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. Six servings.

Orchid Beans From Vanilla

MEXICO CITY (U)—Ever eat an orchid? You're wrong. You have. Vanilla comes from orchids. In fact, the "vanilla planifolia" is known as the ice cream orchid for that reason.

It grows in Mexico, particularly in the tropical state of Veracruz, where it has long been a source of revenue for the Totonaque Indians and others. Veracruz is known as the vanilla capital of the world.

The warm and humid state on the Gulf of Mexico has the climate necessary to grow the vanilla planifolia, said to be the only known edible orchid in the Western Hemisphere. The spice actually comes from beans which grow on the orchid plants.

It was first cultivated on a large scale in Mexico by French and Italian colonists invited in the 1800s.

The Indians had used the vanilla beans as amulets, regarding them a medical charm. Pulverized, they were mixed with cinnamon and hot chocolate for a delicious drink.

But the colonists taught them the secrets of artificial pollination, which boosted production. Vanilla, like the date, is pollinated by hand.

As do most orchids, vanilla wraps itself vine-like around tree trunks. The vines are long, have tendril-like roots. In early spring, sprays of white blooms appear. When they open, pollination begins.

The Totonacs go into the jungles before daybreak because pollination can take place only during the hours from dawn to about 11 a.m. Later, the tropical sun withers and kills the blooms.

There are up to 50 blossoms on a spray, and these open during a four to six week period.

In April or May the vanilla beans begin developing long, slender green pods, looking something like a long stringbean or a tiny banana.

They are ripe and ready for harvest in the fall.

Once picking begins, the Totonacs are really busy around the clock. They harvest the beans, bring them to town and sell them to curers.

For the next five to seven months the beans are under a constant process of drying both in the sun and in steam ovens and bins of sweat baths.

During the curing process the beans turn from their original green to a dark chocolate brown. Many Mexican cooks use the bean itself, like coffee beans, making their own special extract.

In recent years the development of synthetic vanilla extracts has hurt the trade of the Totonacs, but it's still important in Veracruz.

Quick, Easy Skillet Supper

Main course from the top of the range — if you don't want to light the oven.

PORK CHOPS WITH TOMATO-OLIVE SAUCE

4 rib pork chops (¾-inch thick)
1 tsp. flour
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbs. butter or margarine
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup water
¼ cup finely diced celery
1-3 cup (24 small) sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Cut excess fat from chops. Mix flour and ¼ teaspoon salt; rub into flat surfaces of chops. Heat butter in 10-inch skillet; add chops and brown lightly on both sides.

Mix tomato sauce, water, celery, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper; add to skillet. Cover and simmer until chops are cooked (white) through — about 1 hour. Skim off fat. Makes 4 servings.

You Can Prepare Muffins Ahead

Get the dry ingredients ready the night before, then mix up these good muffins for morning enjoyment.

BANANA DATE MUFFINS

1 cup sifted flour
2½ tbs. double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup sugar
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 egg (slightly beaten)
¾ tbs. butter or margarine (melted)
¼ cup finely mashed bananas
½ cup silvered pitted fresh dates
½ cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar; stir in rolled oats. Add egg, butter, bananas, dates and milk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill buttered medium-sized muffin-pan wells each two-thirds full. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 20 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve at once. Makes 12.

Torte Makes Good Dessert For Guests

All over the world the torte, pride of the German cuisine, wins friends and influences cooks.

This divine dessert is always light with eggs, often enriched with nuts. It may be cake-like, calling for a small amount of flour or crumbs. On the other hand there's the famous Schaum Torte that is nothing but a puff of meringue. As a rule, torten come in layers—from 2 to 12.

The recipe for this Blitz Torte pops up regularly in regional cook books from Wisconsin, where families of German ancestry introduced it years ago. This particular torte is made in two layers, but each layer has two parts—a light butter-cake division and another of crisp meringue. The layers may be put together with custard or whipped cream.

BLITZ TORTE

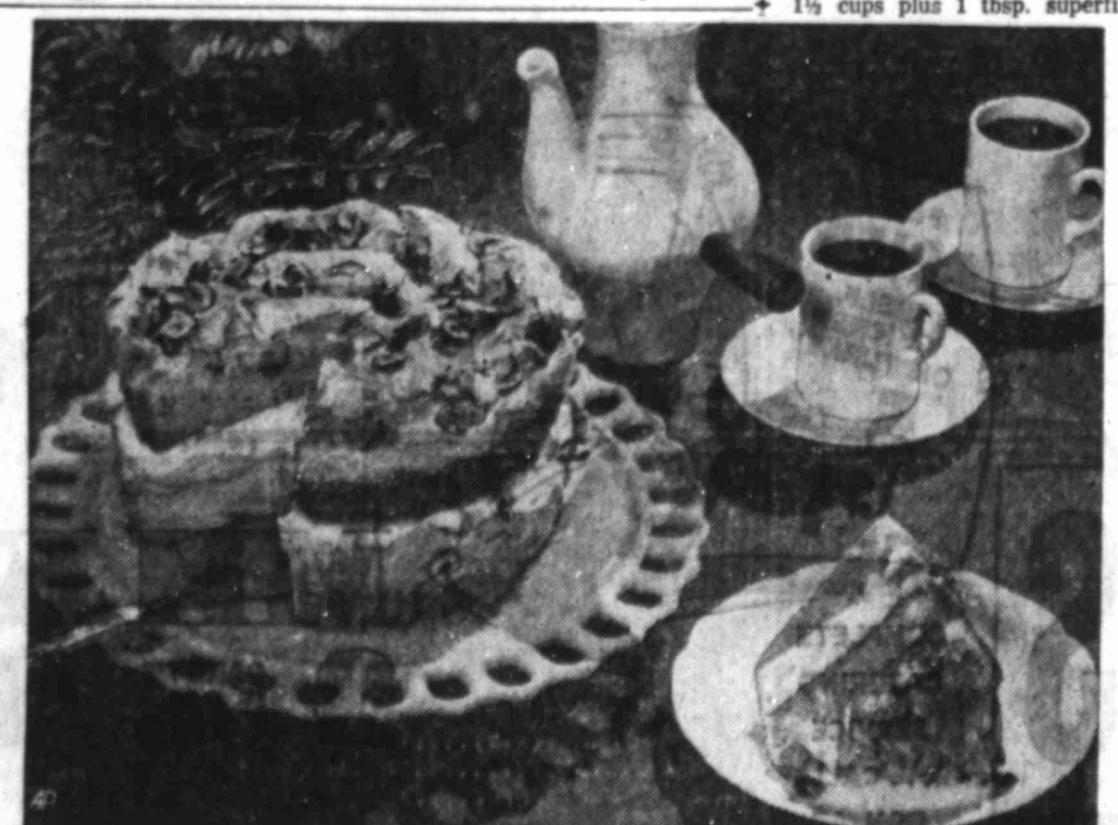

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup butter
¼ cups plus 1 tbs. superfine

sugar
4 eggs (separated)
3 tbs. milk
¼ tsp. cream of tartar
¼ cup thinly sliced prepared filberts
¼ tsp. cinnamon
¾ or 1 cup heavy cream (whipped and sweetened to taste and flavored with vanilla)
¼ cup finely chopped prepared filberts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and ¼ cup sugar. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating for 2 or 4 minutes after each addition. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients, alternately with the milk, until smooth. Turn into prepared pans, spreading slightly high in center. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until they hold a soft peak. Gradually beat in 1 cup sugar until meringue is very glossy and stiff. Spread meringue over batter in both pans. Mix 1 tbs. sugar, sliced filberts and cinnamon; sprinkle over meringue. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven on lowest rack 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans, then remove. Turn one layer onto a cake plate with meringue either at bottom (classic method) or at top. Spread with whipped cream; sprinkle with finely chopped filberts; add remaining layer, meringue side up. Torte may be chilled about 1 hour but not so long as to make nuts soggy. Makes 8 to 12 servings. If meringue is cracked when torte is removed from oven, don't worry; it will sink back into place!

To prepare pans: If they are available, use two loose bottom 8-inch layer-cake pans; butter and dust with flour. Or use two regular 8-inch pans; grease, line bottoms with waxed paper; grease paper.

To prepare filberts: For the meringue tops, place filberts in a shallow pan in a slow (275 degrees) oven for 20 minutes, stirring a few times; rub off as much of the skins as possible (nutmeats will be pale) and slice. For the chopped filberts for the cream filling, place filberts in a shallow pan in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 10 minutes; rub off as much of the skins as possible (nutmeats will be browned) and chop fine.

A Devotional For Today

(We,) speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ. (Ephesians 4:15.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us learn how to walk with Thee. Forgive us when we falter, because of our weakness or careless way of living. Grant that we may not become discouraged by the slowness of our spiritual growth. May we walk more and more as Jesus walked, taking steps of faith with Him. In His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

It Wasn't Even Close

The verdict is in, and the race wasn't even close. The people of the United States favor the rose as the national flower. The rose swept all but two of the 50 states except Colorado and Hawaii, which favored the carnation, in a poll taken by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

Out of 1,055,629 votes cast, the rose received 386,941 to lead the field, with the carnation second (171,000) and the chrysanthemum third (75,000).

Such outlandish nominees as the corn tassel didn't have a chance. It finished 19th, behind another also-ran, Kentucky bluegrass.

Now it will be the chore of Senator Joseph A. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), representing the Senate, and Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex.), from our very own district, to certify these results to whatever bodies of House and Senate might be interested.

Looks Like More Lovely Wetness

The official weather map's long range summation of prospects for what is left of January and up to the middle of February indicates more wet, cold weather for West Texas.

Indeed, for two-thirds of Texas north and west of a line drawn from Del Rio to Texarkana in the matter of temperature. It is scheduled to be normal south and east of that line, and below normal north and west of it.

In the matter of precipitation, the whole of Texas with the exception of a sliver lying along the Mexican border from about Del Rio to the vicinity of El Paso is slated for above-normal rainfall until the middle of February.

The early morning cloud situation this time of year is interesting to most who were born and raised in other areas. The scudding clouds, rolling in from the south, are of a variety known as "Gulf clouds," a common sight in the south central part of the state but something of a rarity this far north and west.

As for weather prospects ahead, the long-range map is probably as right as rain—where "weather" between now and the middle of February.

Demand For More Defense Money

WASHINGTON — What is back of all the fuss and controversy about America's defense program, and what of the outcry that "the Soviets are ahead of us"?

Hints have been coming out lately that not all the pressure for more spending on defense is emanating from objective sources but from some with a definite mercenary interest in contracts or from members of the armed forces who naturally want to see more money spent on their own services. Who feeds out or leaks to the press technical information and appraisals to give the impression that America is falling down on the defense job?

General Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made a significant observation the other day while testifying before the House subcommittee on defense appropriations. He said:

"THE ONLY WAY we can deal with this fellow (the Soviet) is not to tell him how deficient we are today; we are prone to do this at times, because it gets us more money. It is the democratic system and I am not bucking it, but I think it is very dangerous."

In the same hearings, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, Democrat, of Mississippi, addressing Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, said:

"So many vested interests get involved in this situation that it is mighty hard to make military decisions completely objectively. I am sure I do not as a member of this committee get one one-thousandth or one one-thousandth of the pressure you do, but with military spending in every state and in nearly every district, with the immediate economy of that area wrapped around it, a great problem is presented. I do not have any military installations in my district, so I do not have the problem, but if I did have, and if you set out to close such an establishment, I am sure I, too, would have many of the people there wanting to continue it."

"SINCE OVER HALF the national budget is involved and since the Defense Department makes a determination as to what facilities are going to be closed and which major companies are going to get contracts, it becomes highly imperative, if I am right about the inflationary results of defense spending — and particularly that expenditure for which we get no real defense — that these things be looked at completely objectively."

It is curious, but the statements made by our highest military officers are constantly sniped at in the press and by the politicians, and the impression is given that these same officials would weaken America's defenses. Statements, more-er, by our authorized spokesmen do not get the prominence they deserve. Secretary of Defense Gates, for instance, made this statement a few days ago before the House subcommittee:

"There is no question that the Soviet Union is a formidable power. It has made tremendous progress since the end of World War II in developing not only its military but also its economic strength, and will make continued progress in the future. But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts."

"WE MUST BE EVER CAUTIOUS not to underestimate the military strength of possible opponents, but it does not contribute to our national security to overestimate their military strength. It can be dangerous to our national security and our position in the world to allow a false impression to gain ground that the United States is second to the Soviet Union."

"The same holds true with respect to our relative economic strengths. While the Soviet Union since the end of World War II has made great progress in developing its economy, the United States is still far ahead by virtually any measure of economic strength."

How many citizens read the text of that statement by the secretary of defense, released last week? How many persons, on the other hand, read the sniping remarks of the politicians who are quibbling about appraisals based on Soviet "intentions" as contrasted with "capabilities"?

"THE UNITED STATES has the power to deter an enemy. Its own retaliatory power extends to bases overseas as well as to missile-carrying aircraft carriers and submarines that rove the seas. Maybe the Soviets are ahead in certain categories of weapons, but it is over-all power that counts. Russia would be destroyed if she attacked the United States because she cannot at any time possibly have enough missiles to destroy at the same time all bases in this country, all Allied bases overseas and all the mobile bases of our Navy. Fear of retaliation that can be massively destructive is what deters an enemy."

The United States is interested in the sum total of deterrent power, and today has adequate strength to do the job. This assertion is based on the statements of the President of the United States, who is himself a military man, and of the Secretary of Defense and of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Nature First Hand
COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Fifth grade students in the city's public schools are going back to nature. To see first hand what they study in the classroom, three fifth grade classes take an hour-long hike through a park each school day.

George Jenny, an instructor, points out trends and plant life and attempts to explain a little about their functions in terms the youngsters can understand.

Mean Thief
LARAMIE, Wyo. (U)—Folks around Laramie have their own ideas as to who is the world's meanest man.

A 15-year-old boy who had polio when he was 8 and spent much of the last seven years in hospitals for surgery and treatment went on his first outing and hunting trip with his father.

His paralysis allowed him use of only one arm, but he got his limit of three birds and put them in the family car.

Another hunter promptly stole them.

It May Be A Mild Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within the space of a few days Democrats and Republicans have opened their 1960 campaign against each other. It's been an unexciting start. But they've set the stage for all that will follow. The non-inflammatory beginning reflects not so much a lack of energy on the part of the politicians as a lack of burning issues that can excite the voters.

If there's anything unusual about this campaign, as it gets under way, it's the contrast with the beginning of the 1952 campaign when the country was split by McCarthyism and the Korean War.

Why Not Aid To Education?

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments on a pavement Plato: Who should pay for a boy's college education, his parents or Uncle Sam?

At present millions of U.S. parents are impoverishing their old age in order to help their offspring win one of civilization's most prized status symbols, a university degree.

Most students shoulder a share of the burden by working part-time to meet some of their expenses. But the main financial fall falls on their parents—that is, unless their son is one of those rare lads who can hit a bull's-eye with a football at 60 yards.

MANY A FAMILY has to mortgage its homestead in order that its tribal scion can pursue subjects such as "The History of Early Roman Band Instruments" at old Swiss Man's father and mother make do with an old suit or old dress so junior can buy a tux to attend his fraternity dance.

The only help Uncle Sam gives in most cases is to allow the parents a $600 annual deduction from their gross income for each son or daughter still in college after the age of 18. This small deduction, many parents feel, is a downright affront to common sense.

An embittered father I know had something to say on the subject. "When you get right down to it, a good case can be made for the idea that the federal government, not me, ought to pay for sending my boy through college," he declared.

"I'm just a sucker, in a way. I am breaking my back and risking bankruptcy so that my son will get his sheepskin. It is worth while for him, as it will help him get a better job.

"But, looking at it from a pure dollar and cents level, it is a bad investment for me. I will never get back the money I spent for my son's education. After graduating he will probably marry, have his own family, and won't be in a position to return the money I spent to put him through college.

"It is just $10,000 down the drain. Now, on the other hand, Uncle Sam will make a lot of money out of that $10,000 my son's education cost me.

"They tell me that each year a boy spends in college is worth about $25,000 in the earnings in later life. That means my son, in return for his four years at the university, has an added value of income potential of $100,000.

"WHO WILL GET ALL that money? Well, over the years my son will probably get the use of most of it. But the federal government, I figure conservatively, will collect at least $40,000 of it in the form of income taxes, amusement taxes, telephone bill taxes, airplane ticket taxes.

"How do you like that? I fork out $10,000 to educate my son and get nothing. And Uncle Sam, who put out nothing, will get back $40,000.

"Is that fair? Why shouldn't the federal government put up the $10,000 instead of me? It would still make $30,000 in the long run and a 300 per cent profit isn't to be sneezed at in the long run."

"Uncle Sam now pays farmers to keep from growing crops and subsidies in one way or another practically any group that raises a big enough howler.

"Isn't it about time for parents to organize and get a place at the trough, too? Aren't our college kids as much of a natural resource as a soil bank?

"There are some families who, no matter how much they scrimp and save, can't raise the money to send a smart kid to college. So the kid quits after high school, and every time that happens Uncle Sam loses $40,000 in future taxes. Is that good business?"

Well, is it?

THE REASON PROBABLY lies in this: That the American public seems fairly content. Otherwise, there would be tremendous pressures to get more far-reaching things done and there would be a lot of public excitement.

Unless something unforeseen occurs between now and election day the mild tone of the Democratic and Republican campaign openings is likely to continue.

If so, then the voters in November are apt to choose the next president not so much on party or party programs as upon his individual personality.

Last Saturday night at a big dinner here the Democratic presidential hopefuls ganged up to make a punching bag of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT, as a speaker at one of a series of Republican dinners across the country, Nixon had a chance to hit back. But he replied in subdued tones, like a man determined not to let himself get needled into losing his temper.

The big speech of the night came from President Eisenhower in Los Angeles.

He and Nixon teamed up on one point: Both replied to Democratic skepticism about the adequacy of American defenses against a Soviet attack.

Both men said our defenses are sufficient to discourage the Soviets from any military adventure against the United States. The argument on defense will probably continue through the campaign.

All this can do is leave the voters fuzzy-headed since only experts can speak with authority on the question.

But Eisenhower's speech clearly seemed to be stating the theme the Republicans will harp on from now until election day.

This was the theme: Peace and prosperity. Or, to put it another way, the Republicans will be saying: Americans never had it so good, so why change?

Fourth: Hospitalized figs, that generally preparatory exercise is helpful. So I don't want to minimize it.

Fifth: Really wanting natural childbirth is the first, basic requirement, and results will usually be satisfactory unless some abnormal or unusual factor intervenes.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Doctors now claim that milk and egg yolks cause hardening of the arteries and other things. Is this true?—M.M.D."

There have been all sorts of theories suggested, no doubt including the one you mention, but the evidence is not sufficient to lend milk and eggs. Egg yolks? I'd say eat the whole egg, not just part of it. True, yolks contain cholesterol, but more comes from other fats we eat.

Yes Suh, You Better Stood In Bed

I guess everyone has those days "when it would have been better to stog in bed."

After giving it almost five minutes of careful thought, I concocted this list for just such people, like myself, who would prefer to go back to bed, if they knew beforehand that "it's going to one of those days."

Beginning at the first, if your alarm fails to go off and you oversleep, chances are the whole day is going to be off-schedule as you rush through everything trying to catch up. It's better to just stay in bed.

Another thing to watch is your house-slippers. If your foot misses a slipper on the first try and hits the cold floor, an inexorable chain of events has been set in motion against you.

AND HERE ARE A FEW of the other links in that chain:

You knock a glass of stale water off the night table when you reach for the light switch.

The tooth paste tube splits, squirting paste into your hand, instead on the brush. Or, if you use the can type, it sputters paste all over the room instead of on the brush.

Standing under a shower of just the right temperature, someone in another part of the house is sure to turn on the water, either scalding you or freezing you; or what is worse, both alternately.

Coming out of the shower, only to discover that a great blob of soap is still under one arm pit and all the hot water has been used.

FEW THINGS ARE WORSE THAN discovering there is no towel larger than a handkerchief in the bathroom after coming out of the shower.

And what about that feeling at the breakfast table when you discover that your socks don't match or one shoe is black and the other is blue suede?

Or the phone rings and the voice on the other end, like the crack of doom, says "Did you forget our kickoff breakfast this morning at 4:30?"

If these things happen by the time you are ready to bus the wife and head for the car, you can count on several other things before you turn the ignition key.

THERE IS SURE TO BE A FLAT tire on the car. And it will be on the right rear, the one you don't notice until you have driven half-way out of the driveway and ruined a tube and tire.

But before that, the cat or dog will slip through your legs, as you walk out of the house, and cover at least two blocks before you can give chase.

And invariably, on such a day, you will forget to kiss the better half farewell, giving rise to not-so-subtle complaints about the honeymoon being over.

The last straw, of course, is the office wad who slides up to your desk and grinning broadly, announces in a stentorian voice "Glad you can make it down, today."

Truly, some days it just doesn't pay to get out of bed. —V. GLENN COOTES

It Was Just Two Dinner Parties

As a small town girl who came to New York to seek fame and fortune, the one unchanging aspect of this ever-changing metropolis that impresses me most is the constant quantity of corn in its behavior pattern.

In the movies, New Yorkers look frightfully sophisticated. And in the Park Avenue branch of its literature, they sound overwhelmingly reeherche. But New York is composed of persons who hail from Ohio and points West. Galloping sophistication seems to assault very few, no matter what their trade or how long they live here.

THESE LONG THOUGHTS were reinforced a few nights ago when I went to a dinner party on Park Avenue, which at once establishes that it had class. But the hostess was fighting combat fatigue because of the parochial character of her glittering guests, representing finance, politics and the seven lively arts.

A bona fide New Yorker, her mistake was to ignore the fact that in a city of more than 8,000,000 souls, the grapevine is so cozy and efficient that 60 guests in widely divergent fields are as fully aware of what each is doing as if the whole kit and kaboodle lived in Caldwell, Idaho. And you just can't explain it by extrasensory perception.

Her next mistake was to invite 24 persons to dinner and the rest of the 60 to join the first group at 10:30 p.m. for midnight supper. That was the signal for all hell to break loose.

WHEN WORD PERCOLATED on the party line, the guests invited at 7:30 p.m. for dinner assured the guests invited at 10:30 p.m. for supper that they, the 10:30 p.m. contingent, had heard incorrectly. Nonsense! said the 10:30 p.m. mob; it was the 7:30 p.m. guests who needed hearing aids.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT, as a speaker at one of a series of Republican dinners across the country, Nixon had a chance to hit back. But he replied in subdued tones, like a man determined not to let himself get needled into losing his temper.

Both men said our defenses are sufficient to discourage the Soviets from any military adventure against the United States. The argument on defense will probably continue through the campaign.

De Gaulle Must Take Decisive Action

WASHINGTON—Those who have hoped against hope that Gen. Charles de Gaulle would act decisively in Algeria before it was too late must not follow the struggle to maintain law and order in late-torn North Africa with the belief that the army will put down the European extremists.

The mystery is why de Gaulle waited so long for a showdown that was inevitable. He waited until Gen. Jacques Massu, in command in Algiers, had virtually defied his authority in an interview in which he intimated that the army was ready to reject De Gaulle.

Something like the massive riots, precipitated by the dismissal of Massu, were bound to come when De Gaulle, as President of France, finally asserted his authority. The power of the settlers has grown each time they have been appressed by Paris. On May 13, 1958, these violent extremists, supported by the army and generals such as Massu, overthrew the Fourth Republic and brought De Gaulle to power.

IN A SENSE, he has been their prisoner. Or, to put it another way, he gave the appearance of being their prisoner so long as he failed to face up to the veto they constantly threatened to exercise by political extremism and violence. Bravely, last Sept. 16 De Gaulle issued his declaration of the right of self-determination for Algeria, and then as the months passed nothing happened and the tensions increased.

There is a rough analogy between President de Gaulle and Algiers and President Eisenhower and Little Rock. The American President persisted in believing, as the school integration issue boiled up, that it could somehow be compromised without decisive action on his part. When naked violence was close, he had to take the extreme step of calling in federal troops.

IT WAS WITH an enormous sense of relief that most Frenchmen saw De Gaulle come to power under a constitution giving him great authority. He was the hero-leader, the first citizen who had spoken with a clear, courageous voice during France's agony in 1940 and after. De Gaulle would end the fumbling uncertainty of the years since 1945 and restore France to greatness.

But, as he has shown that he knows little about government and less about politics, confidence in him has receded. From his lonely eminence in the Elysee Palace he has often said one thing while his Premier, Michel Debre, has said something quite different.

A troubling uncertainty is De Gaulle's continuing dispute with the United States over major issues in the Western alliance. On many points the United States has yielded with the hope of strengthening De Gaulle. Britain and the United States wanted the summit conference held in December. France was allowed to apply a veto and it has gone over to May.

This has given De Gaulle an opportunity to have his own private inning with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who will go to Paris in March. There are great hazards in that visit, particularly since it is opposed by the extreme right.

IN DEFERENCE TO DE GAULLE, the May summit will be held in Paris rather than in Geneva, where all facilities for such a conference are expertly and compactly assembled. It will be difficult to duplicate these facilities in Paris with an army of reporters from all over the world let loose in the French capital as the tourists begin to pour in.

The French were deeply offended when the United States abstained rather than voted against the Asian-African resolution on Algeria in the United Nations. This resolution had been watered down, in part through American efforts. In retrospect, the abstention seems a little foolish, since it deeply offended the French and probably meant little gain in the Asian-African bloc.

It is up to De Gaulle now to act with decisiveness. He can carry his September 16 declaration one step further and bring representatives of the Moslem rebels, who speak for the National Front of Liberation, to Paris for cease-fire talks. If in this way the long and terrible war in Algeria can be brought to an end, De Gaulle will begin to redeem the promise inherent in his coming to power.

He has everything to gain and little to lose by putting down the extremists. Yet when this is said, the fact remains that French blood has been spilled in Algeria and that will weigh heavily in the emotional scales. (Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Expensive Argument

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U)—Through action in the state legislature, New Haven recently won the right to annex an outlying section called the 32nd Ward.

Even more recently the city was presented a $3,000 bill—legal fees for ward residents' unsuccessful battle against annexation. The city agreed to pay the bill.

AGING is ONE reason there's no place like SAFEWAY for BEEF!

Only PROPER AGING can bring beef to succulent, mouth-watering perfection.

To do this, we have our own climate-controlled meat plant, with huge aging rooms where beef is slow-aged just the right number of days to develop peak goodness.

and look at the TRIM on a Safeway Steak. T-Bone for example. Note that you pay for just the real tender, juicy center portion of the steak. The long "tail" section which is not true Steak meat is cut off before weighing, as is the excess fat and bone.

Only U. S. CHOICE BEEF is fine enough for Safeway Steak. Every beef cut we offer is of this superior quality. To grade U. S. Choice, beef has to have all the good-eating qualities required by federal government standards.

PERFECT EATING GUARANTEE... Take home any cut you choose... cook it your favorite way. Savor its tender, juicy goodness. If you don't agree it's absolutely delicious in every way, just come in and tell us. Your money will be courteously refunded.
