Dark Moon In Polar Orbit Is A Mystery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dark satellite that the Pentagon said may be of Soviet origin tumbled through space today in an orbit of mystery.

Its path over the poles was one that would be desirable for any type of "seeing eye" space spy.

Moscow was saying nothing about it. Here's all that's known about the mystery object, according to the Defense Department.

It appears to be in a near polar orbit. It is dark and is probably less than 19 feet long. It is silent, as far as U. S. monitors are concerned.

But American space scientists have not ruled out the possibility that the satellite could be sending messages if triggered by a remote receiving station in the Soviet Union.

However, these scientists have learned from experience that it is difficult to receive signals from a space vehicle tumbling in orbit, as this one appears to be doing.

At Jodrell Bank in England, scientists at the British radio telescope said they knew of no satellite sent aloft by the Soviets recently and that they have no information on any new satellite around the poles.

Navy tracking stations first spotted the object about three weeks ago, but the Defense Department said nothing about it.

There was no official comment until after word was publicized Wednesday that the Pentagon was buzzing with "what is it?" speculation.

American scientists quickly eliminated the possibility that the space traveler was one of the known American or Soviet satellites which have been launched in a generally east-west orbit.

They also tended to rule out the possibility that it could be a part of Soviet's Lunik III that took a picture of the far side of the moon last October.

Six U. S. Discoverer satellites have been fired into polar orbits. The only one of them still circling is Discoverer VIII, launched last Nov. 20 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Navy trackers who keep a continuous watch on all space objects said they knew the whereabouts of the Discoverer rocket casings—and that this object was not one of them.

The only indication of the mystery satellite's size came in the Pentagon's comment that the object is slightly smaller than the Discoverer carrier rockets. These carrier rockets are 19.2 feet long and 5 feet in diameter, weighing 1,400 pounds at burn-out. Their ejectable capsules weigh 300 pounds.

The Navy's "Spasur" (Space Surveillance) fence which first picked up the mystery satellite extends across the southern part of the United States. Ships in the Atlantic and Pacific also carry on tracking operations. The Pentagon says this assures "that passive or silent satellites will not be able to orbit unnoticed above the United States."

The "Spasur" setup includes stations at Jordan Lake, Ala.; Ft. Stewart, Ga.; Silver Lake, Miss.; Gila River, Ariz.; Elephant Butte, N.M.; and Brown Seals, Calif.

Their transmitters send a continuous fan-shaped spray of radio frequency energy into the sky. A satellite passing through the "fence" is detected by the energy it reflects to the sensitive receiving antennas.

Such information is relayed to Dahlgren, Va., where it is analyzed.

Ike Proposes Test Plan To Break Draw

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today a new four-point U. S. plan for international restrictions on nuclear tests. Aimed to break the deadlock with Russia, it would exempt low power underground test explosions from the proposed ban.

Eisenhower told a news conference the plan was being introduced immediately at Geneva where the United States, Russia and Britain have been negotiating a test prohibition for more than 15 months.

In a statement, Eisenhower said the new proposal "would end forthwith, under assured controls" the following types of explosion:

- 1. All nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere.
2. All nuclear weapons tests in the ocean.
3. All such tests "in those regions in space where effective controls can now be agreed to."
4. All tests "beneath the surface of the earth which can be monitored."

Low-powered underground tests would thus be exempted as not subject to effective monitoring.

HOPE FOR PACT

"These are steps which offer an opportunity to consolidate the important progress made in the negotiations thus far," the President said. "It is our hope that the Soviet Union will join with us in this constructive beginning."

In effect this means that the United States is abandoning at least temporarily the quest for a total ban on all nuclear weapons tests because government officials believe there is no way to police the smaller underground explosions—reported to be those below 20 kilotons (the size of the Hiroshima bomb).

Eisenhower said the United States has sought throughout the Geneva negotiations for complete abolition of weapons testing subject only to agreement on "adequate methods of inspection and control."

The essence of the underground control problem is that U. S. scientists have advised the President and have informed the British and Russians at Geneva that relatively low yield explosions are difficult to distinguish from earthquakes and their shock waves may be deliberately damped by firing the shot in a large hole.

READY STEPS

Eisenhower said his four areas of the proposed limited ban constitute "readily attainable steps toward a complete ban on nuclear weapons tests."

He contended: "The plan would 'prevent increases in the level of radioactivity in the atmosphere and so allay worldwide concern.'"

It would permit "through a co-ordinate program of research and development" an extension of the prohibition to areas not initially covered as adequate control measures are devised.

A parallel White House statement said that the U. S. proposal "would ban those tests which cause seismic magnitude readings at 4.75 or more" because that is the level which "can now be adequately monitored."

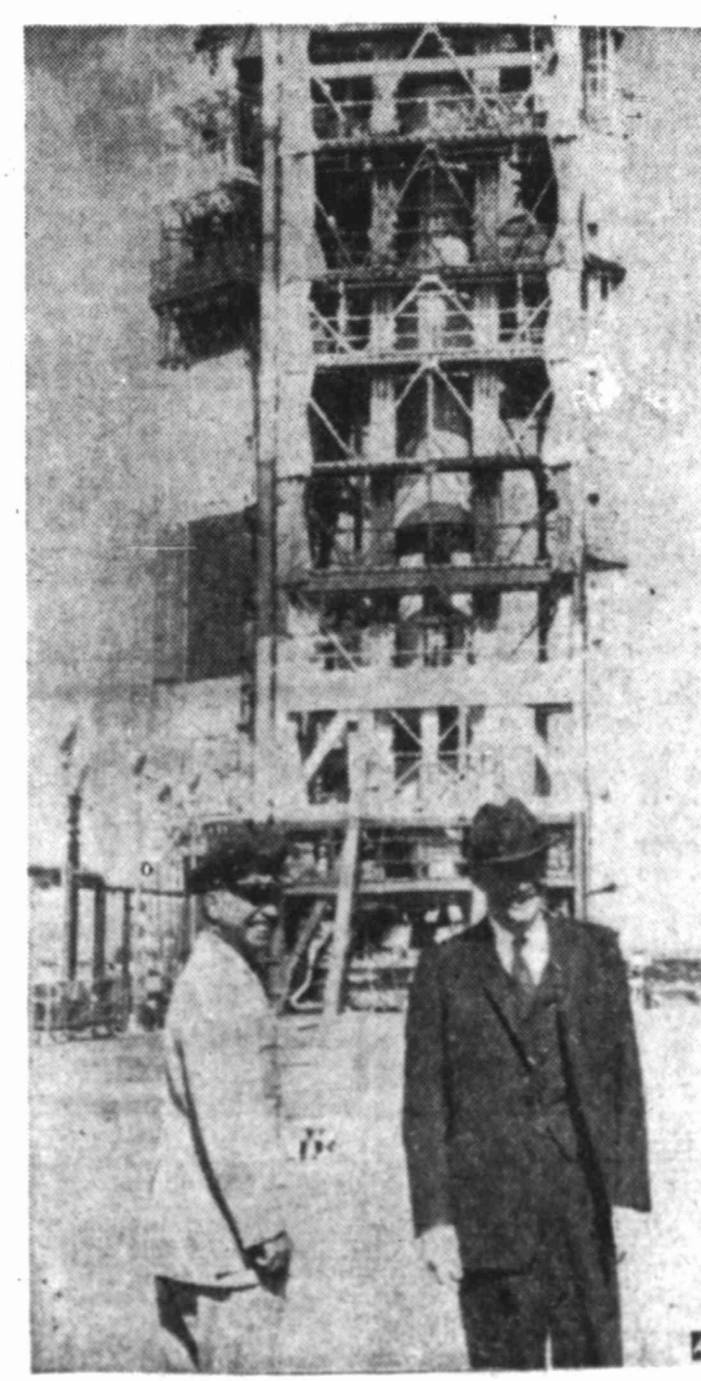

It was understood that this is the earth shock magnitude equivalent to the explosion underground of a weapon of 20 kilotons. A kiloton is equivalent to 1,000 tons of TNT.

Eisenhower was asked whether the United States under the new proposal would resume underground testing. All tests in the United States, Britain and Russia, were suspended on a voluntary basis in the fall of 1958.

He replied that the issue of resumption of tests is something this government would have to decide with its Allies.

Eisenhower was also asked whether a failure to reach agreement on a test ban in the current Geneva talks would darken the prospects for 10-power East-West disarmament negotiations due to start March 15.

President Calls Niki Brag Crazy

President Eisenhower stands with Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center, as he tours the missile pads on a personal inspection. In the background is a big Titan missile in a gantry.

Moon Shots No Criterion Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today labeled as crazy a specific contention by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that communism is superior to free world capitalism.

At a news conference, Eisenhower was asked for comment on a statement, attributed to Khrushchev, that Russia's flag is flying on the moon and this proves that communism is better than capitalism.

Eisenhower replied he thinks it's a crazy statement. The President said he concedes that Russia has to its credit some spectacular achievements in space exploration. But the American people, Eisenhower went on, should not get hysterical about such achievements.

The President added that he should not let this sort of accomplishment by Russia dismay us. Eisenhower dealt with these other topics:

DEFENSE — Eisenhower said he deplores public argument among military experts regarding the adequacy and specific requirements of the nation's defense.

MISSILE FUSS

He made that statement when told that experts in the Defense Department and members of Congress have been in intense controversy regarding the relative missile strength of the United States and Russia.

Eisenhower touched off a laugh by remarking it would be fair to classify Defense Department officials as experts. The implication was that he does not regard all Congress members as experts.

As for those at the Pentagon, Eisenhower said, obviously the men there come up with different ideas and exploit them.

The President then went on to say that he deplores arguments among these experts on the methods involving U. S. security, and the publicizing of such differences.

At another point Eisenhower was asked how he feels about disclosure of specific figures regarding defense weapons.

Eisenhower replied he believes such figures do not mean a lot.

There have been contentions by some Republicans in Congress that data regarding the U. S. missile program, for example, could be helpful to a potential enemy.

HE'S IMPRESSED

MISSILE — Eisenhower said he returned from an inspection tour of the Missile Test Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Wednesday feeling much better about this country's missile program than when he left Washington. He said he was impressed by what he saw and heard at Canaveral.

FARM — Eisenhower expressed surprise at a reporter's suggestion that Vice President Nixon had a hand in reshaping the farm message which Eisenhower sent to Congress. The President said it was the first time he had encountered that suggestion. He added that he had required Nixon to read the message because, as Eisenhower put it, Nixon in the next few months will be defending the best way to approach the farm problem.

The vice president is regarded now as a sure bet to win the Republican nomination. Eisenhower obviously was referring to Nixon's role in the campaign.

PAYOLA — Eisenhower was told that a disc jockey, being questioned in the payola scandal situation, had testified he had a wonderful way of life — saying that, "I'll do for you. What will you do for me?"

PERSONAL GAIN

When we get to the point where people use the airways under government license for personal gain, then public morality is involved, Eisenhower said.

HONORARY SENATOR — Eisenhower's attention was called to a proposal that former presidents be made honorary members of the U. S. Senate.

Asked how he feels about that, the President smiled and replied that the answer would have to await the offer.

NEXT PRESIDENT — In response to a request for a prediction regarding the problems the next president will face, Eisenhower replied that no one can forecast the future. But he said America has become a world leader and the next president will have to deal with things in that context—whether they are problems concerning a Kansas farm, or troubles in the Middle East or with the Soviet Union.

The biggest problem, Eisenhower said, is getting the American people to understand the basic issues. He said that will lead to the solutions.

Lamesans Held In Car Theft

LAMESA — Two Lamesa men were released under bond today on felony theft charges arising out of a missing car.

As E. X. Hill, 47, Lamesa used car dealer, and Charles A. White, 25, laborer, each posted $1,500 bond and were released from the Lynn County jail, investigations continued.

Norwell (Booger) Redwine, Lynn County sheriff, said that the charges were filed with the justice of peace at Tahoka Wednesday afternoon. Working with Redwine and Dawson County authorities on the case was Martin Koonsman, Abilene, agent for the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

The complaint grew out of the theft of a 1959 Ford four-door sedan belonging to B. J. Barnes, minister of the Tahoka Church of Christ. The car was taken from its place in front of the parsonage, and Barnes he said he was still in possession of the keys.

Robert Lock, who had rented a garage to Hill on his farm three miles north of Lamesa, noticed a strange, new car in it Monday morning and advised Dawson County officers. The car had no license plate and the serial number from the door post had been removed. About the same time the report came regarding loss of the Barnes car.

White was picked up by officers and was jailed at Tahoka. Wednesday Hill went to see White at the same time officers came here looking for him. Officers raided to Tahoka and Hill, who had gone to visit, was detained in the Lynn County jail.

Redwine said he had taken statements from both Hill and White but declined to comment on their contents.

Thursday morning Dawson authorities said they had discovered a doorpost serial number in a trash can at the Hill used car lot, and that this corresponded with the number on a car reported missing from Snyder on Nov. 27, 1959. Koonsman was running a check on all cars on the lot and was perusing other records.

TEC Officials To Meet Here

Texas Employment Commission officials from a score of West Texas towns will be in Big Spring on Feb. 24 and 25 to attend a two-day briefing session on new procedures in handling agricultural workers.

Henry LeBlanc, Austin, chief of the farm placement department for Texas, will be in attendance and will outline changes which are being made in procuring and handling Mexican nationals.

Leon Kinney, local TEC manager, said that he anticipated TEC men from El Paso, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Lamesa, Amarillo and many other West Texas towns.

Death Claims J. Y. Robb, Veteran Theatre Owner

Death came today to one of Big Spring's leading business figures, J. Y. Robb.

The veteran theatre owner succumbed at 5:25 a. m. in the Methodist Arts Hospital, Dallas, following several months illness. He was 65.

Resident of Big Spring for a half-century, Mr. Robb had been identified with motion picture houses ever since Big Spring had such attractions.

Mr. Robb underwent major surgery last August. He came home for several months, but never regained full strength and was returned to Dallas for special treatment the first part of January. Members of his family had been in constant vigil at the bedside for the past four days.

The body was being returned here this evening by Nalley-Pickel coach, and that funeral home will be in charge of local arrangements. Members of the family were expected home tonight.

No details for services had been arranged, but rites probably will be held Saturday. Burial will be in the old City Cemetery beside the graves of his parents and brother.

Survivors are Mrs. Robb, the former Isabel Harris, to whom he was married June 14, 1921; a son, James Yuill (Ike) Robb, Jr., of Big Spring; a daughter, Mrs. George H. (Janet) O'Brien Jr., of Midland; and six grandchildren.

James Yuill Robb's residence in Big Spring dates back to 1909, when he came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Robb and his older brother, Harold, from Carlsbad, N. M.

He was born March 9, 1894 in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but his family moved while he was a youngster to Geary, Okla., where his late father opened his first motion picture house. The family went from Geary to Carlsbad, and then came to Big Spring.

This city's first theatre was opened by the Robbs in October, 1909, in the location now known as the Elmo Wasson building at 3rd and Main. It was the Lyric, and it was there that young J. Y. first was steeped in the traditions and duties of show business, a business he followed for the remainder of his life.

THEATRE HAND

In those early days of the "flickers," he had assignments of cleaners, of the theatre, then pumping the automatic piano and organ that accompanied the silent movies. Later he was a projectionist, and spent a full apprenticeship in learning the movie business from the booth.

After a few years of theatre operation here, the Robbs opened a show house in San Angelo, and joined a partner, Ed Rowley, in this enterprise. There was started the R&R Theatre chain which later was to become one of the largest in the Southwest, with houses in scores of towns in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

J. Y. Robb was in San Angelo briefly during the start of this enterprise, but returned to Big Spring to remain with the operation of the theatres here. Although, as the circuit grew, occasions came when it seemed that J. Y. should be in the firm's Dallas headquarters where his brother and Rowley were, he always resisted any such move, preferring to stay in his beloved Big Spring.

For he was regarded as one of the town's biggest boosters, and was counted as being "in" on practically every civic development that occurred. Retiring by nature, and unostentatious in his deeds, he nevertheless was a generous contributor to every worthwhile cause.

CIVIC WORK

He had been a director of the Chamber of Commerce on several occasions, and before that had served on many of its important committees. On any industrial development or civic project that came up requiring finance, Mr. Robb's name stood high on the list. He helped form the original Fair Association here, and joined in the organization of the Rodeo Association. He was one of the original group starting the Country Club, and was a liberal supporter to it. He also joined in the organization of the original Sheriff's posse.

He had a prominent role in the activities of the old Elks Club in Big Spring, and was active in its projects for children. From the Elks' Christmas parties evolved the custom of the Robb theatres holding annual free matinees for children at Christmas time. The theatres' facilities also were given generously by Mr. Robb for toy and clothing matinees for the underprivileged. And the same gesture was tendered many times for such activities as the Red Cross, March of Dimes, Crippled Children's campaigns, United Fund, Christmas Seals, and War Bond campaigns.

Mr. Robb was an active Mason, was also a Shriner holding membership in the Hella Temple at Dallas. He was on the executive committee of the local Masonic Temple Association.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE

He served for a number of years as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, and kept up an active interest in the schools' development.

A great devotee of all kinds of sports, Mr. Robb had made numerous contributions — many of them anonymously — for the benefit of local athletic teams. He took a private delight in assisting the high school squads, making trips possible for the boys, helping them with equipment and any facilities which he or his theatres could offer.

spiritual leader of Yugoslavia's seven million Roman Catholics, died Wednesday after five years of Communist imprisonment on charges of wartime collaboration with the Nazis and nearly nine years of confinement to the limits of Krasic.

After his release from prison, the Communists refused to allow him to resume his duties as archbishop of Zagreb. But to the Vatican he remained Yugoslavia's primate.

He had suffered for years from a blood disease which resulted in an excess of red corpuscles. First reports said he died of pneumonia and a heart condition.

The leadership of Yugoslavia's Roman Catholics today settled on Msgr. Franjo Šeper, named by the Vatican to be apostolic administrator of Zagreb until Pope John XXIII names a new archbishop.

Yugoslav Regime Denies Zagreb Burial To Cardinal

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The body of Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac lay in state today in the little parish church of Krasic, denied burial in his cathedral at Zagreb.

Yugoslavia's Communist government refused permission for the cardinal's body to be moved to Zagreb, seat of his archdiocese, where he normally would have been buried. The authorities said he would have to be buried at the church in Krasic, his native village, where the Communists kept him confined as a paroled prisoner.

The funeral will be Saturday. The Red authorities said all 22 Roman Catholic bishops of Yugoslavia members of the Zagreb Cathedral chapter, all members of the cardinal's family and all persons of Krasic parish could attend the requiem and burial service. Cardinal Stepinac, 61-year-old

Hawaii-Based Nuclear Sub Smashes Through Polar Ice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. atomic submarine Sargo has smashed through the ice at the North Pole and planted the flag of Hawaii—her home state—at the top of the world.

The Navy said late Thursday the sub broke through the North Pole ice Tuesday afternoon and then resumed her cruise of exploration in the Arctic Ocean's great basin.

The Sargo has been preceded to the pole by two sister nuclear subs, the Nautilus and the Skate. The Nautilus reached the pole on Aug. 3, 1958. The Skate made its first trip on Aug. 11, 1958, then repeated her cruise last March. The Sargo's journey during the Arctic winter again emphasized the power of American nuclear submarines to prow the international waters above the Soviet Union in any season.

The Navy said the Sargo is collecting oceanographic data, including data on the ocean bottom and the Arctic ice.

The Sargo slipped out of Pearl Harbor, her home port, on Jan. 18, in her explorations she traveled a longer course than the direct 4,200 nautical miles from her base to the pole.

After submerging at the edge of the Arctic ice pack in the Bering Sea southwest of Alaska, she was under the ice for 2,744 miles before reaching the pole 14 days and 21 hours later.

She pushed through the ice seven times during the two weeks. The last two times she penetrated ice about three feet thick, which was the minimum thickness she found. Only the high coming tower of the submarine was shoved up through the ice on the last two breakthroughs.

Good Samaritan Story Key To Immigrant's Jail Term

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — The length of a jail term for a Polish immigrant will depend on the meaning two teen-agers find in the story of the Good Samaritan.

Dzonizy Kazmierczak was sentenced to a year in the county jail for peppering the teen-agers — a boy and a girl — with shotgun pellets on Halloween.

The teen-agers must go to the jail daily and read Kazmierczak the Biblical story. They also must recite with him, on their knees, the Lord's Prayer.

The day they do not show up is the day Kazmierczak may apply for parole.

Judge Carleton T. Woodring of Northampton County Court did not explain his unusual sentence. But perhaps the key is in the prefatory passage to the story of the Good Samaritan. In Biblical times, a Samaritan found a man robbed and beaten nearly to death; and he aided the man, although two others had not.

The prefatory passage in the revised standard version of the Bible says: "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your mind; and your neighbor as yourself."

Kazmierczak, 57, of nearby Stockertown, was a neighbor of the teen-agers: Robert Thompson, 19, and Karen Monrope, 17.

His trial lasted two days. The teen-agers said they were throwing corn husks on his porch last Halloween when suddenly they heard a yell and were shot. Their injuries were not serious.

Judge Woodring said Kazmierczak had been bothered before by people in the community.

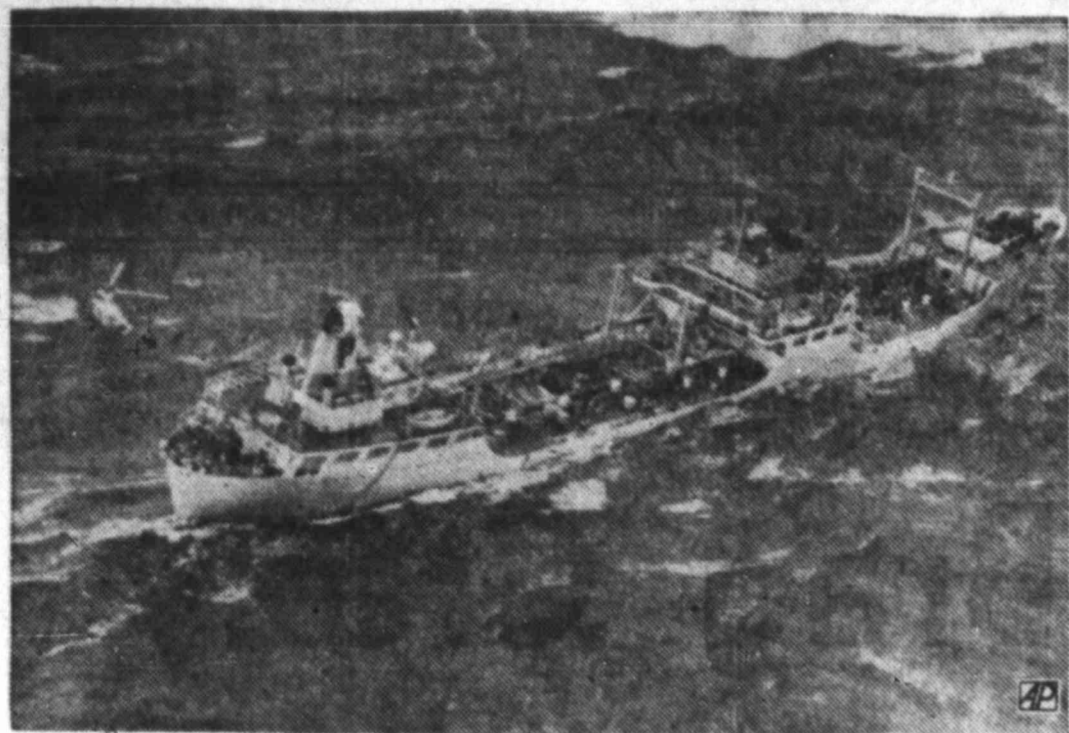

"He came here for relief and peace," the judge told the teen-agers, "and you people plagued him. In Poland he was in terror for his life from both the Germans and Russians. You should not devil a poor man who has been deviled by real devils."

The teen-agers said they would visit their neighbor in jail today. Beyond that? They didn't know.

A U. S. Coast Guard helicopter, left, hovers over the stern of the 21,800-ton wine tanker Angulo Petri as she drifted helplessly off the coast of San Francisco. The tanker, largest of her type, had started her regular run out to sea when a huge wave washed down the funnel, cutting off all her power. Coast Guard helicopters brought 14 of her 49 crewmen to shore. The others, including the captain, stayed aboard to work with commercial tugs to try to save the 7 million dollar ship and her cargo of 2½ million gallons of bulk wine.

Cuban Military Court Hands Down Conspiracy Convictions

HAVANA (AP) — A Cuban military court Wednesday night convicted 104 persons of conspiring to overthrow Fidel Castro in a plot the government charged was backed by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Sentences ranging from 3 to 30 years were handed down by a five-man military tribunal in the biggest conspiracy trial since Castro seized power more than a year ago. Thirty-six defendants were acquitted.

The 104 convicted were stripped of their property and money, which will be seized by the government.

Mail Revenge Scheme Foiled

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Postal inspectors have charged a 32-year-old Chattanooga with a revengeful mail order scheme in which such things as 1,500 pounds of cheese and a reducing machine were ordered in the names of other people.

Erol A. Curteger was arraigned Tuesday on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

A U.S. attorney said the harassment campaign of more than a year centered on officials of an insurance agency which had refused Curteger a job.

Jack D. Hixson Jr., an agent for the insurance firm, said his name was used in the order for fancy cheese. But what really shook his household was his unthought enrollment in a rock 'n' roll record club.

Marj, William Morgan of Toledo, Ohio, an officer in the Cuban revolutionary army, was credited with uncovering the plot in the role of a double agent.

Morgan claimed that Trujillo was the mastermind and big financial backer—charges Trujillo denied.

The 30-year sentences were given to nine defendants captured in a gun battle at Trinidad, in central Cuba, last August after they landed in a plane the government said came from the Dominican Republic. Two of Castro's soldiers were killed in the gun battle.

Castro himself watched the trap sprung after the arms-landed plane was lured by planted reports that a full-fledged revolt was under way. Among the nine was Luis Pozo, son of a former mayor of Havana.

The nine men offered no defense during the trial. All the other defendants denied the charges against them.

Nineteen were given 20-year terms; 37 got 9 years; 21 got 6 and 18 got 3-year terms. None of the defendants was in the courtroom when navy Capt. Armando Pardillo, president of the court, announced the sentences.

The prosecution charged that the plotters had already chosen leaders of the new government which was to take over had they succeeded.

Ramon Mestre, wealthy builder who allegedly was to become prime minister, was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor.

Arturo Hernandez Tellacheche, an opposition senator during the regime of Fulgencio Batista, was allegedly the choice for president. He got 9 years.

Sen. Morse Is Considering Primary Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said today he is seriously considering entering the April 5 Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary.

Morse, who already is competing in the Oregon and District of Columbia primaries, said he will have an announcement on his intentions later in the week.

It was indicated this would cover also his possible entry into Maryland's May 17 primary, where Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) thus far is the only candidate filed.

Kennedy meanwhile wound up a two-day swing through Morse's home state of Oregon and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), also campaigning for the nomination, is touring California.

If Morse should go into the Wisconsin battle, most politicians here think one of his objectives would be to try to spoil Kennedy's chance of winning any clear-cut victory there.

Kennedy has said that to get the nomination he feels he will have to get sufficient support in the primaries to have the prize in sight by the time the July 11 national convention opens in Los Angeles.

Kennedy has made a victory over Humphrey in Wisconsin one of the key efforts in putting together of delegate backing he says he will need.

Morse's entry into his home primary in Oregon May 20 has tended to cloud the results there and to leave Kennedy with only Wisconsin and the May 19 West Virginia vote in which to demonstrate strength at the polls. And in West Virginia, where he meets Humphrey, the results are not binding on the state's delegates.

Humphrey has not yet entered the Nebraska and Indiana primaries where Kennedy also has challenged him. Several other possible candidates are thus far steering clear of all primary tests.

Morse, who has declared himself a serious candidate for the presidential nomination, has criticized Kennedy for his role in the passage by Congress last year of a labor control bill.

Morse has been only a little less caustic about Humphrey's vote for that measure but in any Wisconsin campaign he could be expected to bear down on Kennedy.

Any inroads made by Morse into the Wisconsin vote presumably would come in the populous industrial districts where Kennedy counts on showing his greatest strength.

Khrushchev Draws Fewer Fans Than Ike In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev today began a four-nation "peace and friendship" tour of Asia before Indian crowds small by comparison with the tumultuous throngs who greeted President Eisenhower two months ago.

Beaming and waving his white Panama hat to thin lines of flag-waving Indians, the Soviet Premier seemed either unaware or undaunted by the comparison of the welcomes.

More than a million Indians had turned out to welcome the U.S. President. The crowd today was in the neighborhood of 250,000.

The turnout for Khrushchev was friendly but showed none of the wild enthusiasm shown for Eisenhower. Many clapped, only a few cheered, and some watched silently as Khrushchev drove by to the presidential palace with Prime Minister Nehru and President Rajendra Prasad.

The Eisenhower motorcade took 2½ hours to travel the 11-mile route because of the crowds; Khrushchev did it in about an hour.

A major reason for the smaller crowds today may have been tighter security controls, ordered to prevent the motorcade from being blocked even once. And Khrushchev is paying a return visit to India, having been here four years ago.

Khrushchev and his large party of relatives and Soviet officials arrived after an overnight flight from Moscow in a big Ilyushin turboprop airliner. The plane made one refueling stop, at Tashkent.

In a brief prepared speech at Palam Airport, Khrushchev praised Nehru as one who "realizes full well the significance of friendship between our countries and our common struggle for consolidation of peace and friendship among all nations."

The Soviet leader made no reference to India's bitter border dispute with Red China, a topic certain to loom large in his talks with Nehru.

He called personal visits between government leaders "one of the effective means of invigorating international atmosphere and promoting mutual understanding between states."

"Soviet-Indian cooperation in the international arena is of importance to securing a durable peace," he said.

The state replied: "The Commonwealth is unable to specify at this time whether any weapon or other instrument was used in the commission of the crime."

The state contends Van Rie beat pretty Lynn Kauffman, 23, and dumped her body overboard to climax a shipboard romance during a slow boat trip from the Orient.

Miss Kauffman's body was found on the rocky shore of a drab Boston harbor island in mid-September, the day after the SS Utrecht sailed from Boston to New York on its 44-day voyage to Singapore.

In another specification, the state said Miss Kauffman's body was seen floating in the water before it was recovered from the island's shore.

The state did not disclose who saw the body afloat or whether that person would be called as a witness.

The state chartered a private boat today to take the 12-man jury and its two alternates on a tour of Boston harbor to point out the path of the Utrecht and the spot where the divorcee's body was found.

Van Rie shows no outward signs of nervousness as he sits in the prisoner's dock. Once Wednesday he turned to his wife of two years and winked confidently. She came here from their home in Utrecht, Holland, to stand by him. She occupies a spectator's seat 15 feet from him.

Miss Kauffman was aboard the SS Utrecht with Mrs. Stanley Spector and the three Spector children. She was employed as a research aide to Dr. Spector, professor of oriental studies at Washington University, St. Louis. He had flown home ahead of his family and Miss Kauffman.

Ready

William Van Rie, 31, of Utrecht, The Netherlands, relaxes with a cigarette, as he posed for photographers in a room outside the courtroom at Suffolk County Court House in Boston before the opening of his trial for murder. Van Rie is charged with the shipboard slaying of Lynn Kauffman, 23, a pretty divorcee from Chicago.

DEAR ABBY

SUBLIME - RIDICULOUS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about the terrible unsanitary practice of letting children blow out the candles on a birthday cake? One can plainly see the child blows and spits all over the cake. Then it is cut up and served to all the other children. No wonder our young people are sick in bed half the time.

MRS. L.: If the entire human population hasn't already committed suicide with the mass exchange of germs that must take place while kissing — let's not worry about the few stray ones on a birthday cake.

DEAR ABBY: I recently got very mad at my girl friend and I called her up and yelled at her. I used a bit of language I should not have used only to learn that it was her mother I was yelling at. The next day I was told by this girl that her mother never wanted to see my face at her house again.

Abby, I know I was wrong. But I would like to know if I should call her mother and try to explain. I like this girl very much and know she likes me, too.

DEAR FOUL-MOUTH: You've already done enough talking. Forget the ugly incident and maybe the girl's mother will, too. In the meantime, stay away from her house and pray for an "all clear" signal. But don't be surprised if it never comes. Most mothers are allergic to foul-mouthed boys.

DEAR ABBY: I hope this helps "MA AND PA" who wanted to know how much a young working man who lives at home should give his parents.

I am 21. I work in a bank and clear $228 every month. I give my parents $80, which leaves me $148. I do not own a car. I drive my father's. But for the privilege of driving it, I pay for all the gas, oil, insurance and license. I buy all my own clothes and pay my dry cleaning bill. I buy lunch every day and date on weekends. And I still have a little to put in the bank. What does a son owe his parents? That's simple. All he can give.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOLOR-ES: We both know that he is OLD enough to KNOW better. But the question is: "Is he STRONG enough to DO better?"

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

County Teachers Convene Today

The Howard County Teachers Association is meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at Howard County Junior College.

George Archer, president said that four delegates to the TSTS district No. 4 meeting in Big Spring on March 4 would be selected. He also will appoint a nominating committee during the business session.

Solon Protests Usage Pay Of Border Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Joe Kilgore of Texas yesterday raised objections to the administration's recommendations that water users pay for the 12 million dollar water storage feature of the proposed Amistad (Diablo) Dam.

Kilgore raised the objection to a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee which is considering a bill that would authorize construction of the 80 million dollar international dam near Del Rio, Tex.

The dam would be built primarily for flood control with the United States and Mexico sharing the expense. Major share of the cost of the dam would be borne by the United States.

The Budget Bureau agreed to reconsider whether and to what extent irrigation farmers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas should help pay for the dam.

Phillip Hughes, a budget expert, agreed to a suggestion by Rep. Dante Fascell (D-Fla) that the bureau reconsider the matter.

Hughes urged approval of the bill authorizing construction of the dam. He said President Eisenhower had called on Congress to promptly enact such a measure.

Kilgore told the subcommittee that under old Spanish laws, upheld by the Supreme Court, farmers along the Lower Rio Grande have riparian rights to the water.

He said the government could not legally impound and withhold the water from them.

Frank Weaver of the Federal Power Commission told the subcommittee that water at the site was not dependable enough to justify a government-owned power plant there.

Weaver said there was ample power potential to make it worth while for a private company to harness the energy.

He explained that a concern such as Central Power & Light Co., Corpus Christi, has a vast network over South Texas and a reserve of standby power from steam plants if and when the water is low.

The Corpus Christi firm has offered to pay $37,000 a year for use of the "falling water" at the dam.

The hearing was recessed until some time after Feb. 29.

Prosecutor Helps Dr. Finch Illustrate His Death Story

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A pistol in his hand, Dr. R. Bernard Finch stood over the man who is prosecuting him on a murder charge.

"I won't hit you," Dr. Finch told Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whichello. "I promise."

Whichello sat on the floor before the jury box, demonstrating the position the doctor said his wife was in when he hit her with a gun butt, fracturing her skull.

This blow, he said, was struck shortly before Barbara Jean Finch died—shot through the back.

The doctor maintains she was shot accidentally.

"I wasn't mad at Barbara," Finch testified Wednesday. "I was scared to death. I wasn't mad at her."

The doctor said his wife drew a gun from her car after he and Carole Tregoff confronted her in the garage of the Finch home late last July 18 to discuss a divorce.

Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, his 23-year-old mistress, are charged with murder.

Whichello sat on the courtroom floor to help the doctor illustrate his version of the incident in the Finch garage.

The doctor said: "When I jerked it (the gun) away from her, Mr. Whichello, I grabbed her head—and jerked it forward—and went bang."

Here Finch swung the pistol butt close to the prosecutor's temple. Whichello rose and resumed his cross-examination:

"You knocked Barbara down and out with the butt of the gun, and then turned your attention to whoever was arriving—is that right?"

"That's right," said Finch.

The doctor said he had taught Marie Anne Lidholm, the Finches' 19-year-old maid, to fire a rifle in case of prowlers.

"If Marie Anne came into the door with the rifle, she'd see me standing there with the gun.

"Marie Anne would probably shoot me under those circumstances—so I would have to either take a shot at Marie Anne, or she is going to shoot me. I didn't want any gunplay. I dropped it (the gun) so I could disarm her."

Earlier Wednesday five police officers from Minneapolis, Minn., testified, out of order, for the defense.

Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper quizzed all five about the reputation of Jack P. Cody, a Minneapolis convict who testified that Dr. Finch and Miss Tregoff hired him to kill Barbara Jean Finch. (The doctor said that he hired Cody to follow his wife—and possibly try to date her—to get information to use against her in a divorce fight.)

Cooper asked each of the officers if they would believe Cody under oath. All answered negatively.

Insurance Expert Sees Little Aid In Texas Car Law

AUSTIN (AP)—An insurance industry leader said today the so-called safe drivers insurance plan revision "won't give the public as much relief as a small dose of sassafras tea."

Vestal Lemmon, general manager of the National Assn. of Independent Insurers, said the five changes made last week by the board of insurance have no real significance.

Catholic Medics Told Some Annulments Okay

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The American Guild of Catholic Psychiatrists was told today a marriage annulment might be proper in the view of the Roman Catholic Church in some cases where one of the parties is mentally disturbed.

Msgr. John J. Hayes of Bridgeport, Conn., made the statement at a seminar on "Psychiatric Aspects of Annulments" at a meeting of the guild.

Msgr. Hayes, discussing the position of the Roman Rota, the Supreme Court of the Catholic Church, said the church's general law is that "marriage consists of the consent of both parties to the marriage contract."

"If it can be proved that one of the parties is incapable of giving his consent," he said, "then there is no contract and annulment is in order."

Dr. John R. Cavanaugh, a practicing psychiatrist of Washington, D. C., said the church might be able to offer annulment in good conscience in cases where one of the partners is a complete homosexual.

Court Powers Run Into Big Trouble

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe those teams which jumped at the chance to get into the National Invitation Basketball tournament would have been better off waiting until their regular season schedules were further along.

In the past week five teams, Detroit, Providence, Dayton, Memphis State and Villanova, accepted bids to play in next month's NIT in New York.

Then the trouble started. Detroit lost to Toledo 69-61 Saturday. Providence was beaten by St. Bonaventure 90-89 in triple overtime Tuesday. And Wednesday night, Dayton was upset by Duquesne 79-66. Only Villanova and Memphis State have emerged unscathed since saying "okay" to the NIT.

On paper Dayton figured to have an easy time against Duquesne. The Flyers had a 16-3 record. Duquesne had lost seven in a row for a 4-11 mark. However, the Flyers raced to a 40-26 lead at halftime and had no trouble the rest of the way. George Brown paced Duquesne's attack with 22 points.

In other major games, 11th ranked Toledo beat Bowling Green 76-56; Kansas edged Kansas State 64-62 and knocked the Wildcats out of the Big Eight Conference lead; Marquette downed Louisville 74-70 and Maryland nipped Virginia 42-43.

Toledo moved into a tie with Ohio University for the Mid-American Conference lead. The Rockets took the lead for keeps early in the first half and led 35-27 at the intermission. Toledo has a 16-2 record.

Kansas swept to a 20-point first half advantage, but had to beat off a Kansas State rally for its fourth victory in seven conference starts. The setback dropped Kansas State a half game behind Colorado, the big eight leader. Mike Wroblewski of the losers was the game's high scorer with 22 points. Bill Bridges led Kansas with 16.

Maryland beat Virginia Tech at its own slowdown tactics in the first half. However, the Cavaliers moved to within 42-41 in the closing seconds. Then Paul Jelus, Maryland's top scorer, scored on a layup for the clincher. It was Maryland's fifth triumph in eight Atlantic Coast Conference tilts. Virginia is 1-3 in the ACC.

Marquette trailed Louisville by eight points in the second half and then scored 12 straight points to take a 65-55 lead. Don Kojis had 21 points and Walt Mangham 20 for the winners who broke a five-game losing streak and put their season mark at 10-3. Fred Sawyer was Louisville's ace with 29 points.

In a Philadelphia doubleheader, Jack Egan scored 29 points in leading St. Joseph's to a 78-73 victory over St. Peter's of Jersey City, N.J. and Bill Kennedy scored six points in the final two minutes to lead Temple to a 68-60 triumph over Muhlenberg.

Elsewhere, the Feldman twins, Jon and Jeff, scored six of eight overtime points for George Washington to spark a 78-67 victory over Georgetown. Al Butler connected for 38 points as his Niagara team walloped Syracuse 83-64; Washington State beat Montana 74-70 and Arizona defeated New Mexico 64-62.

In other news, New York University accepted an invitation to play in the NCAA tournament. The Violets, 11-3, will play as an at-large representative in a triple header at Madison Square Garden March 8. They will face the Atlantic Coast Conference champion for the right to advance to the next round at Charlotte, N.C. March 11-12 against the Mid-American Conference winner.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Dallas sports writers point with pride and more than a little consternation to the fact that the city will host at least 21 games on a college and professional level next season, including the annual Oklahoma-Texas game and the Cotton Bowl classic.

The unvarnished fact is that, if football pays its way at SMU and on the professional plateau, however, the promoters are going to have to carry their messages to the hinterlands.

West Texans are being counted on to purchase bundles of tickets to the pro games, just as they have anted up for football classics in the Cotton Bowl.

Thus far, the promoters of the pro clubs have concentrated almost exclusively on selling their products to the Dallas residents. As far as I am concerned, for enthusiasm, the Dallas fans can't hold a candle to those found in Breckenridge, Abilene, Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder.

Whereas the football zealots in the smaller places are apt to be dubious to the big games because they feel like they're "going somewhere" when they go to Dallas, the fans in Dallas are inclined to seek excuses for staying out of the traffic jams that invariably develop when game time nears.

If the pro football promoters need proof of such statements, they need only to consult the mail the Cotton Bowl people get from subscribers to their annual New Year's Day classic. Much of it is post-marked from places other than Dallas.

In 1956, a fellow named Thern Gibson—then of Grand Rapids, Mich., and now of Detroit—rolled three 288's in a Grand Rapids bowling center, the highest triplicate on record.

The country of Argentina has only 17 golf courses. There are but 60 in all of South America. Europe has 2,069 courses and 86 per cent (1,780) of those are located in Great Britain.

There are over twice as many courses in South Africa as in France and more in the three-county area of Howard, Midland and Ector counties than in Yugoslavia, Russia, Luxembourg, Malta and Czechoslovakia combined.

It's estimated there will be over 8,000 golf courses in this nation alone within ten years. The number is due to pass the 6,000 mark this year.

Midland may follow its basketball championship by winning the 2-AAAA track and field crown this year.

Abilene invariably wears the 2-AAAA crown but the coaching of Edwin Dixon at Midland is beginning to pay huge dividends and the Bulldogs could come up with one of their finest all-around teams.

Big Spring is much stronger than usual this year and the events the Steers excel in may hurt Abilene more than they will Midland.

The Steers could score as many as 30 points in this year's conference meet, barring injuries, and not surprise their coaches too much.

There doesn't appear to be anyone around who can push R. L. Lasater in the 100 and 220, outside of another Big Spring boy, Freddie Brown. Two other Steers, Gary Walker and Robert Phelan, will be double tough in the discus throw.

Sam Baugh, coach of the New York Titans, says the hardest he has ever hit in football happened while he was still in high school at Sweetwater.

he set an NBA one-season scoring mark while the Warriors were dropping another.

Wednesday night, with a chance at the league's rebound and free throw marks, the circuit's No. 1 scorer was forced out of action with three minutes to play in the first quarter. He was hit in the mouth in a scramble for a rebound.

The New York Knicks lost no time taking advantage of the situation and pinned a 125-117 defeat on the Warriors. Will scored five points and grabbed two rebounds before leaving.

In the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader, Larry Costello's jump shot at the buzzer gave the Syracuse Nats a 110-109 come-from-behind triumph over the Minneapolis Lakers.

The two division leaders strengthened their positions. The Boston Celtics, pacing the Warriors by 6 1/2 games, rolled up their highest score of the year in downing the Detroit Pistons 153-121.

The St. Louis Hawks, with an 11 1/2-game margin over the Pistons in the Western Division, handed the Cincinnati Royals their 14th straight setback. The score was 120-110.

G. Littler Counting On Another Payday

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gene Littler, who generally makes a payday on his visits to Arizona, and Arnold Palmer, the year's top money winner, were the favorites today as the touring professionals teed off in the $22,500 Phoenix open tournament.

Littler, of Singing Hills, Calif., has won this tournament twice—in 1955 and 1959—and has finished in the money four of the past five years.

Palmer, the 30-year-old stylist from Latonia, Pa., has pocketed $15,300 in prize money so far, with $12,000 coming for last week's victory in the rich Palm Springs desert classic.

Getting a big share of attention were Jerry Barber of Los Angeles who fired a 65 Wednesday to win the pro-am prelude and Bill Collins of Baltimore who was low pro with a 64. Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., and Bob Goalby, Crystal River, Fla., also had 65s.

Another gallery favorite is Joe Campbell, the former Purdue basketball player, who fired the shot heard round the golf world last week when he sank a $50,000 hole-in-one at Palm Springs.

And there's Doug Ford, the 1955 PGA champion, who is returning after a year's absence; Tommy Bolt, former U.S. Open champion who recently set a course record of 63 at the Palm Springs Indian Wells layout; Mike Souchak, Ken Venturi, the 1958 Phoenix open champ; and Bill Casper, the 1957 winner.

Missing from the lineup, however, will be Art Wall Jr., the leading money winner in 1959, and Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., one of the top moneymakers in 1960. Both are heading for the Caribbean tour.

The 72-hole tournament will be played over the tricky and troublesome 6,620-yard par 71 Phoenix Country Club course.

Moyer Enhances Record With Second Round TKO

BOSTON (AP) — In a bloody span of four minutes, Denny Moyer enhanced his impressive record while leaving lonely ex-champion Tony DeMarco with six stitches and a handful of fistic memories.

Moyer, 20-year-old Portland, Ore., boxer ranked sixth among welterweight challengers, gained a technical knockout over DeMarco at 1:10 of the second round Wednesday night.

Ten seconds after the bout began, the contestants accidentally butted heads. The collision opened a deep gash at the hairline on DeMarco's forehead and a small cut at the corner of Moyer's left eye.

When Referee Eddie Curley stopped the action, pouring blood had blinded DeMarco.

Moyer, 149, who won his 23rd in 24 pro starts, explained: "It's a funny thing, you go in nice and relaxed, not nervous at all. But you bump heads and you don't feel a thing."

"I wasn't hurt," said the discouraged, 29-year-old DeMarco, who weighed 148 1/2. "I just couldn't see. By the time he stopped it I couldn't see out of either eye."

The site was the Boston Garden where DeMarco had capped a climb as an exciting slugger by whipping Johnny Saxton for the welter crown. He quit the game once after his second successive TKO battering by Virgil Akins.

Mounts Ties Gene's Mark

LUBBOCK (SC) — With half the conference schedule still to go, Texas Tech's Red Raiders have already shattered or tied six school scoring records.

All the marks fell in the past two home games.

Del Ray Mounts' performance in the 82-79 win over University of Arkansas broke one all-time school mark tied another. His 17 free throws tied the mark set by Big Spring's Eugene Carpenter against Hardin-Simmons in 1956.

By missing only two of his 19 tries that night Mounts hit 89.5 per cent to break the mark of 88.2 set by Ned Underwood (15 of 17) against Hardin-Simmons in 1957.

School records in Southwest Conference play broken were:

Points, one game — 35 Mounts against Arkansas, Old mark, 29 by Gerald Myers.

Field goals, one game — 12 Gene Arrington against Texas Christian, Old mark 11 by Leon Hill.

Free throws scored, one game — 17, Mounts against Arkansas Old mark 12 by Charlie Lynch and Hill.

Zay Has Counted 466 Points Over Season

With one more game to play, Zay LeFevre leads the Big Spring Steers in scoring with a total of 466 points.

He's averaged 16.6 points a game. In District 2-AAAA competition, he's fared much better, having scored at a 22-points-a-game clip.

A distant second in the scoring derby is Zay's twin brother, Jay, who has 383 points. A third member of the local team, Homer Mills, has counted more than 300 points despite the fact that he missed two games. Homer has 310 to his credit.

The Steers wind up play against Odessa in Odessa Friday night.

Defending champion of the meet will be Roland Adams of Lubbock, who won another golf tournament than any other player in West Texas last year.

Wildkittens Win Over S. Plains

LEVELLAND (SC) — ACC's Freshmen defeated South Plains Junior College, 62-61, in a basketball exhibition here Wednesday night.

Dave Kent scored 21 points for ACC while James Lemons had 18 for South Plains.

Rodriguez Seeks Jordan Match

By GENE PLOWDEN
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Luis Manuel Rodriguez, the best welterweight to come out of Cuba since Kid Gavilan, wants to fight Don Jordan for the title in his next ring appearance.

Rodriguez proved he is ready to the satisfaction of 3,105 ring-side spectators and a nationwide television audience. Wednesday night when he knocked out previously unbeaten Carl Hubbard of Philadelphia.

Angelo Dundee, Rodriguez' American manager. "But he was insulted by so many people saying he was a fancy Dan and could not punch, and he was determined to knock Hubbard out."

It was Rodriguez' 27th victory without a defeat. He had won 19 fights by decisions and only seven by knockouts before he faced the 148-pound Hubbard.

The Philadelphia had gone through 21 fights without a loss and scored 15 knockouts prior to his engagement with Rodriguez. Rodriguez floored Hubbard for the mandatory eight count in the third. Quick left hooks rocked Hubbard in the fourth round and a sharp left to the jaw put him down for the count to finish a roaring battle.

"He could handle the other guys by just snapping them around and boxing them," said

ACC To Play On The Coast

ABILENE (SC) — Abilene Christian College will make its first gridiron invasion of the West Coast this fall against Fresno State at Fresno, Calif., on Oct. 8.

Fresno and Arlington State are two new opponents on the 1960-1961 football slate announced Thursday by ACC Athletic Director A. B. Morris. These two schools replace Texas Western and Southwest Louisiana on the Wildcat schedule.

The Wildcats have never played either Fresno State or Arlington State, former junior college which is now a four-year institution. They will meet Arlington on the road, Oct. 22.

Four Abilene games are planned all in the Public Schools Stadium — East Texas State on Sept. 17, Howard Payne on Oct. 15, Mississippi Southern on Oct. 29 and McMurry on Nov. 24. The Wildcats will be the visiting team for the McMurry tilt.

Special events are planned in connection with two of these Abilene games. The opener against East Texas State will be played during the West Texas Fair and has been designated as High School and Band Day. Homecoming has been set for the Mississippi Southern game, Oct. 29.

The Wildcats will travel for games against Chattanooga, Lamar Tech, Memphis State and Trinity.

One other change has been instituted by the Wildcats in their 1960 schedule. Kickoff for their two home night games has been set for 7:30 p.m. to give newspaper writers more time to file their accounts of the game.

The schedule:
Sept. 17, East Texas at Abilene, 7:30 p.m.
Sept. 23, Chattanooga at Chattanooga, Tenn., 8 p.m.
Oct. 1, Lamar at Beaumont, 8 p.m.
Oct. 8, Fresno at Fresno, Calif., 8 p.m.
Oct. 15, Howard Payne at Abilene, 7:30 p.m.
Oct. 22, Arlington at Arlington, 8 p.m.
Oct. 29, Miss. Southern at Abilene (homecoming), 7:30 p.m.

Early Harvest Of Tumbleweeds

Winds roaring across the Texas Panhandle harvested a big crop of prairie tumbleweeds and seemingly moved the whole crop against these houses in Amarillo. Great clouds of dust accompanied the winds and the barometer fell to an all-time low reading.

Party For DJs Issue Hangs As Probers Take A Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Why did record companies pick up a $117,664 tab at a disc jockey convention in Miami Beach last summer? That question remained largely unanswered—officially at least—as House investigators began a long Lincoln Day recess today so some Republican members could fill speaking engagements.

However, Chairman Owen Harris (D-Ark) indicated that the convention will be explored in detail sometime after his House Legislative Oversight subcommittee resumes hearings next Monday on under-the-table payments to disc jockeys.

Part of the story of what happened at the big disc jockey convention last May 29-31 came Wednesday from Edward E. Eicher, special service director for the Americana Hotel where it was held.

There have been reports, not yet brought into the testimony, that many of the 2,000 disc jockeys attending were entertained with girls and lavish parties at the convention.

There was no mention of girls in Wednesday's testimony. However, Eicher made clear that liquor flowed freely—at the expense of the phonograph record people.

Eicher, reading from hotel records subpoenaed by the subcommittee, noted for example that

Chinese Woo Overseas Kin

By ROY ESSOYAN
HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China is telling the overseas Chinese in Indonesia that a new life—much better than that of the average Chinese on the Communist mainland—awaits them if they return to the motherland.

The promise is part of a stepped-up propaganda campaign to lure overseas Chinese home following the Indonesian government's ban Jan. 1 on alien Chinese traders in rural areas. At least two ships are en route to Jakarta to repatriate Chinese wishing to leave Indonesia.

A Communist China news agency report from Canton said work has started in South China's Kwangtung Province on dormitories, apartments and homes to house the repatriates, schools to educate their young and clinics and hospitals to treat their sick.

Other reports have said returnees will receive special dispensation for rations and the "luxury goods" to which they are accustomed.

Special "overseas Chinese villages" with modern buildings and other amenities unavailable to local residents are being expanded. These special villages were built some time ago for the steady trickle of overseas Chinese who chose to return home in years past. People who visited them from here reported seeing refrigerators, cars and even washing machines in some of these special communities.

But many reports indicate that these special amenities for overseas Chinese are strictly temporary.

Southern Baptist Leader Lashes Catholic Policy

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, has attacked Catholic church policies in dominant Catholic countries.

Pollard, speaking Tuesday before the Mississippi Baptist Evangelistic Conference, said he has seen Protestant and Baptist churches closed in countries where Catholicism is dominant. Pollard recently visited Spain.

"I will never believe what the Pope of Rome says about good will and brotherhood until I see some evidence of it in countries where the Roman Catholic Church is dominant," he said.

Pollard, a Knoxville, Tenn., pastor, added:

"I am not going to stand by and keep my mouth shut when a man under control of the Roman Catholic Church runs for presidency of the United States."

De Gaulle Reins Army, Puts Power Back In Civilian Hands

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle has cracked down on his political-minded army in Algeria and ordered much power returned to civil authorities.

The French leader and his cabinet Wednesday night approved sweeping reforms aimed at confining the military to its primary task in the big North African territory—suppression of the five-year-old nationalist rebellion.

The cabinet also took away from the French settlers in Algeria their own military arm. It had been one of the chief props of the abortive French uprising in Algiers last month.

In a series of decrees approved during a 2½-hour session, the cabinet:

Abolished the army's psychological warfare branch, some of whose officers were sympathetic to the rebellious French settlers.

Dissolved Algeria's territorial home guard units.

Relieved three top generals of their Algerian posts and ordered sanctions against an undisclosed number of other army officers.

Reorganized the Algerian police and transferred control of police services from military to civilian authorities.

Took steps to restore to regional civilian governors (prefects) much of the political power taken over by the army during the Algerian settlers' uprising in 1958 which brought De Gaulle back to office.

The decrees were a major step in De Gaulle's determined campaign to prevent further uprisings and to push ahead with his policy of letting Algeria decide its political future in a free, countrywide vote.

and sent in replacements from other sectors.

The government also announced plans to streamline military courts to speed up trials of nationalist terrorists and said it would conduct new local elections throughout Algeria before summer.

Although the guard units are to be broken up, individual members will be called up as needed for brief periods of service in the army or with the police. The territorial units were organized as a sort of army auxiliary for the fight against the rebels.

In the reorganization of police services, Algerian police now will serve directly under the top government official in the territory—De Gaulle's delegate—general—and not under a military chief.

The cabinet also launched a purge of police sympathizers with the colonial-French. Information Minister Louis Terrenoire announced chiefs of police departments in Algeria are being replaced by men from Paris.

The three generals removed from their posts are Jacques Faure, commander of the Grand Kabylie region east of Algiers; Henry Mirambeau, who headed the Southern Oran Department, and Andre Gribuis, commander in the Western Sahara.

CRMWD Spots Worst Sector Of Salinity In Upper River

Officials of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are taking quality of water in the upper Colorado with more than a grain of salt.

In fact, as E. V. Spence, general manager, has pointed out, the feasibility of a second and larger lake downstream from Lake J. B. Thomas may be questionable. He is, however, optimistic that studies will lead to a solution of the problem.

Water samples taken from various gauging and quality analysis stations already have pinpointed a critical area, according to O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager-production, to whom Spence has assigned some of the detailed work.

Much of the salinity, which reaches a peak of over 16,000 parts per million, originates on a short stretch of Bull Creek just before it empties into the Colorado River. Between there and the Colorado bridge on the Big Spring-

Snyder Highway, it is diluted and then intensified again.

As fresh water streams empty into the Colorado downstream, the density of salt diminishes, but not to the point that it doesn't present a formidable problem.

At point A on the map, Bull Creek shows only 45 parts per million chlorides, as good water as you could want. But within a two mile stretch to point B (which is near where the old Lake Thomas-Ira road crosses Bull Creek), salinity increases to 2,100.

Within 1 1/2 miles to point C, the salt content is up to 10,000 parts to million, and then a mile south below the confluence of Bull with the Colorado it peaks at 16,300 p.p.m.

Bluff Creek, (point D) further downstream, has a serious salination problem itself with its 8,400 p.p.m., but as bad as this is it dilutes the Colorado content to 10,600 p.p.m. (point E). At the highway bridge indicated by arrow at (F), the salinity is up to 15,440. A little further on when Canyon Creek empties in this is diluted to 7,800 p.p.m. and when Deep Creek joins the Colorado, the figure comes down sharply.

Ivie and Spence agreed that this eight mile strip pretty well tells the worst of the story upstream. The first step is to try to ascertain the source. This will then be followed by steps to intercept and dispose of the saline water either by side storage or re-injection. It has to be done, for at 16,000 p.p.m., each million gallons flow down the river could account for a car load and a half of salt per day.

Fatal Shoe Polish

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Rebecca Velez Porras, 2, drank some liquid shoe polish left under a bed by an older sister. She died in a hospital shortly afterward.

Peke Flattens Tough Rivals As Top Dog

NEW YORK (AP)—Ch. Chik (Sun of Caversham), a pee wee who has flattened more tough hounds than any dog in history, headed home today for a life of ease.

Chik has earned it. He is a Pekinese, who weighs in at just 9 1/2 pounds. He culminated three years' of traveling from one end of the country to the other Tuesday night when he won the Westminster Kennel Club dog show in Madison Square Garden.

This was Chik's fourth try at the Westminster, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Venable of Atlanta, Ga., wanted to win it badly. It was easier than they thought. Judge George H. Hartman deliberated about a half hour—a ridiculously short time—before sending Chik to the top.

He now has 127 best in shows. The former mark of 121 was set by the great Boxer, Ch. Bang Away of Sirrah Crest. The Venables decided to let him go for 125. When he reached that figure, Westminster was so close, they decided to let him try for Westminster.

"And are we glad," said Mrs. Venable. "We thought this would be a fine farewell for him. Now he is going home to be a house pet."

"We have had him for three years, and he has traveled 75,000 miles a year, if not more.

"I'll admit he got tired once in a while, especially when he was moving around a lot. But he was always willing to show."

He is the first Pekinese ever to win Westminster. For Clara Alford, his handler, the victory represented something she has been seeking for a long time.

"He'll be a wonderful pet," said Mrs. Alford, a half-Cherokee from Oklahoma. "He has been my life for three years and I think he'll adjust to his new life faster than I."

Chik, of course, got in the final by winning the toy group.

The other finalists included: Ch. Vardon's Frosty Snowman, a bulldog, owned by Dr. Edward Vardon of Detroit, the non-sporting victor; Ch. The Ring's Banquet, a basset hound, entered by Chris G. Teeter of Birmingham, Mich., the hound winner; Ch. Pinetop's Fancy Parade, an Ascob cocker spaniel, sent in by William J. Lafoon Jr. and Mrs. Rose Robbins of Petersburg, Va.; the sporting champ; Ch. Cole de Neige Sundew, a Pembroke Welsh corgi, entered by Mrs. William B. Long of Concord, Mass., who won the working group, and Ch. Balnart Bewitching, a Scottish terrier, belonging to Mrs. Blanche Reeg of Wantagh, N.Y., the terrier victor.

A Devotional For Today

Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain. (Psalm 127:1.)
PRAYER: Our Father, redeem us from destruction that follows in the wake of purposeless living. Forgive us for trying to build by ourselves. Teach us to build to Thy honor, Help us to face the problems of life in the spirit of Christ. In His name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

So Mote It Be

Any American citizen, by going through certain legal formalities — may change his surname to anything his fancy dictates. Not many of them ever do, but if they take the notion the way to a change is wide open.

It's different with royalty. Emergencies and contingencies, convenience if not necessity, often dictate alterations or whole new monickers.

This week Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, born a Windsor, decreed that the family name hereafter be styled Mountbatten-Windsor, thus bringing the prince consort into the picture.

But not immediately. She will continue to be a Windsor, as it takes about 40 years for the arrangement to take effect. The first to use Mountbatten-Windsor in full will be her great-grandchildren, and then only those out of the direct line. Prince and princess of the line never use a surname.

If we recall correctly, the family name of the ruling family of England was Wettin until about the time of World War I, when it was changed to Windsor to get away from the German Wettin.

At that time the head of the British

Navy was Lord Battenberg, and there were ugly, utterly false rumors that his heart belonged to Germany. That was when the name was changed from Battenberg, but it was no use — he finally had to retire.

The present Lord Mountbatten, uncle of Prince Phillip, is commander-in-chief of all Britain's military forces, with a brilliant career as soldier and statesman behind him.

Queen Elizabeth's action in attaching the name of her consort to the family designation, and giving it precedence over Windsor at that, amounts to hardly more than a gracious gesture in matter of fact.

But Prince Phillip is popular with the British people, and having "a man in the house" means a lot — a lot more than the Queen's brilliant namesake could ever lay claim to.

At that, there was some press rumblings in Britain over the gesture, but there will be no parliamentary repercussions. The action was within the prerogatives of the Queen, and there is nothing Parliament and the press can do about it but grumble.

Twenty Per Cent For Handling Your Money

In a speech written for delivery in the Senate with reference to the "aid to education" bill subsequently approved by that body, Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said that under that bill "the federal government in two years would take another $1 billion from the pockets of taxpayers in every state, clip up to 20 per cent out of it for federal administration, and return what is left as so-called federal grants to states and localities with Washington strings attached."

The capital letters in "federal" are Sen. Byrd's own, to lay sarcastic emphasis we suppose on any notion that what the federal government proposes to "give" to the states in this matter could possibly come from any other place than the people of the several states. In short, the people's own tax money, from which generous Uncle Sam would extract 20 per cent for the trouble of keeping a lot of bureau personnel employed.

The fingers of the Teachers of the National Educational Association have been itching for years to get federal control of education in all its aspects, from grade school right up. They may have over-looked — or be well aware — that it is easier to influence and control one legislative body than 50, and through Washington to control education in all the states.

The pending bill goes further than any similar bill has gone before. In addition to allocating funds for construction to the various states (strictly according to federal notions) a large part of it would go to help pay teachers' salaries.

Now teachers' salaries are miserable in many states and no one can blame them for grasping at almost anything to better their economic lot. So this bill has the additional lure of lining up teacher-support. But federal controls follow federal money as day follows night, and properly so; and to argue that this does not represent a long step forward in federal control of education is to ignore the obvious.

We quote Sen. Byrd: "Surely, pious words in the first two paragraphs of the pending bill say the money is for only construction and no federal control will be exercised. But 20 lines further down there begins a 4-page formula to be met by states and localities when they come begging for federal handouts."

And speaking of handouts, Sen. Byrd notes the slow and insidious encroachment of federal grants-in-aid-to-states-and-local-units. When he went to Congress in 1933, he said, you could count such programs on the fingers of one hand, all totaling about $100 million. By 1936 there were 17 such programs, 10 years later there were 30, with expenditures totaling $845 million, by 1956 there were 54 programs totaling $3.5 billion, and in 1959 the total was 60, costing $6.4 billion.

Who furnished the money? Why, in the case of state and federal funds both, the taxpayers and you happen to be one.

Marquis Childs It's What People Want To Hear

WASHINGTON — For all the thousands of words spoken before Congressional committees and the hot debate in print, the cool judgment of those who will direct the Republican campaign in the fall is that defense and national security will not be a significant issue.

The reason is not hard to find. In the White House is a military man with a towering reputation who led the Allied forces to victory in World War II. The words of his critics, even when they are documented by top men out of his own Administration, do not get through this barrier.

Among both the President's critics and his hero-worshippers there is profound puzzlement over why his popularity should be so high in the polls. Isn't it extraordinary, incredible, they say, that his rating should be 72 per cent, at least 12 to 15 points above his low of the 1957-58 recession.

THERE IS NOTHING in the least mysterious about it. The President is saying just what most of his fellow-citizens want to hear. This is that we are spending enough to give the nation security in all the areas that really matter; that our freedoms and our spiritual values give us an edge that is bound to keep us ahead of atheistic, materialistic communism. We are prosperous and if only the Congress follows the Eisenhower budgetary formula we should have a surplus this year with a possible tax cut next year.

From the sounding board of the White House, far and away the most powerful

THEY SEEM TO COME IN BUNCHES

James Marlow 'Spirit Of Camp David' Sounds Like Echo

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's the "Spirit of Camp David"?

It's a pretty phrase. Been floating around ever since last fall when President Eisenhower had Premier Nikita Khrushchev up to his Maryland camp and they seemed to get along all right.

Sounds like an echo, too. Back in 1955, in the summer, Eisenhower met with Khrushchev and other Soviets at a summit conference in Geneva. Pretty soon the "Spirit of Geneva" was floating around, at least in this country.

IF IT MEANT ANYTHING, it seemed to mean some kind of international quietude. The then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said after the meeting a "new spirit does, indeed, prevail."

He even expressed the belief the situation was ripe for solution of the problem of uniting Communist East Germany and West Germany, which was in the Western camp.

Dulles was so carried away by what could not have been—judging from what followed—any more than Soviet cordiality and even jollity at Geneva.

Whatever the new spirit was, it didn't last long. Dulles went back to Geneva for a foreign ministers meeting with the Soviets in October. They got nowhere. And Dulles came away disillusioned. Pretty soon he was saying the cold war was on again.

Fifteen months ago Khrushchev began a campaign to force the West to get its troops out of West Berlin. It was really in an effort to get some understanding with him that Eisenhower invited him over here.

KHRUSHCHEV DIDN'T back down on wanting the troops out. But he didn't, when he talked to Eisenhower, set a deadline. Since then some people, forgetting the Geneva summit, have been talking about the "Spirit of Camp David."

Since then the Soviets have been a little tough in different directions and suddenly we began to hear the "Spirit of Camp David" was dead. Eisenhower at his Feb. 3 new conference tried to bring this spirit back to earth.

He deprecated the phrase: Spirit of Camp David. He said his talks with Khrushchev there were held in a friendly atmosphere. That, he said, is all the Spirit of Camp David amounted to.

Last Monday Secretary of State Christian A. Herter wouldn't go any further than saying he thought the Soviet attitude was tougher since the Camp David meeting.

This kind of business—the Soviets getting tougher? — will probably go on from now until Eisenhower meets with Khrushchev at the next summit meeting in May.

The one reality which seemed most clearly to underlie the Soviet performance at Geneva and Camp David actually seemed to be this: They haven't given anything away and they're not likely to.

They don't seem anxious for war since it could ruin them, no matter what they're also ruined.

They're determined communism will take over the world. They'll push here and push there, gently or hard, depending on how much they think they can get away with.

At Paris they may make some concessions but if they do it will be because for the time being, at least, they see some particular advantage to the Soviet Union in doing so.

If they don't eventually go to war to take over the world, they'll try to take it by propaganda, foreign aid and any peaceful device they can think of.

This contest with communism isn't likely to stop. It will probably get more intense, even without shooting, as the Soviets develop even more military power and start catching up with us economically.

ST. LOUIS — The suburban village of Mackenzie, 20 miles from the nearest streetcar line, is revising its ordinances to eliminate one regulating streetcars.

How did the ordinance happen to get on the books? "Most of the ordinances were copied from other cities, and they contain a certain amount of extraneous matter," explains William Mattingly, the village clerk.

To Your Good Health Most Heart Cases Can Be Helped

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When you discussed heart murmurs, you dwelt on the less serious or slight ones. I have been told mine is bad and I have closed my ears, pretending that all is well. Now I want to know more about it—R.C."

Keep in mind the nature of a murmur. The heart is a pump with several chambers, the blood moving through the valves from one chamber to another, to the lungs, back to the heart, and then out through the arteries to all parts of the body.

"Murmurs" are sounds from the "pump." You know how a faucet, at times, when it doesn't shut off, will make a sound.

The same thing can, and does, happen in the heart. Let's say that a valve does not close quite tight. The pressure in the next chamber can force a little of the blood to eddy back into the chamber which it has just left.

Or there may be a leak in the "wall" between two chambers. The same thing results. Blood eddies back and forth, instead of traveling only in the proper sequence of chambers.

The results of these eddies are the sounds we call "murmurs." Technically, there can be others but they all come down to the same thing: Eddies, gurgles or the like as the blood flows along through the heart.

I think I am warranted in saying that something can be done in most cases—and for that reason I'm very glad that you have decided to stop "pretending that all is well."

When I say that something can be done in most cases I don't mean that you can always stop the murmur—but it isn't the murmur that you worry about; it is what the murmur MEANS.

The most spectacular corrective measure is, of course, heart surgery. Thousands of these operations are being done every year now, although a decade ago they were very rare.

But for every case of heart surgery, there are hundreds of patients who benefit by other treatment. Low salt diets are one of the simpler, but very effective, methods. If the murmur (or the condition which caused the murmur) reduces circulation, and fluid begins to accumulate in the body, causing swelling of legs, ankles, or other members, the low salt diet helps reduce the fluid, and in turn takes that much strain off the heart. Various heart drugs are very useful. And (this is more important than many people realize) you can reduce strain on the heart by treating and alleviating many types of chronic diseases which have no direct connection with the heart. Putting an end, for example, to a focal infection in the teeth, tonsils or other area will reduce the amount of work the heart has to do. Stimulants taken when needed can help one over the periods of pain if it is sometimes the case) the particular form of heart trouble results in it. (Many times, of course, there is no pain.)

You'll probably say that these remarks are rather sketchy. That is true. But a "heart murmur" implies so many different types of problems that it is entirely fruitless to try to discuss them all. What I do say is that there are precious few cases of heart disease which can't be helped one way or another.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting my pamphlet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Around The Rim City Employees Need Better Pay

THERE IS LESS than a month left before the Big Spring City Commission will get its first look at the preliminary budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year.

City department heads are turning in their departmental budgets this week and City Manager A. K. Steinheimer will prepare the first draft toward the end of the month for initial consideration by the commission. The budget becomes effective April 1.

Having taken to the soapbox many times in defense of pay raises for city employees, I would not like to feel the bite of a tax increase. According to grapevine reports, there will be no rate increase requested in the new budget.

At the same time, the urgency of more pay for city employees deserves considerable attention. Long time employees find themselves earning less money after 30 years service than they could make starting anew in a fresh field.

Some employees are working seven days a week, 50 weeks a year at a sub-normal wage. Others are on call 24 hours every day, seven days a week, and they are not paid extra for it.

SOME EMPLOYEES receive paid holidays and other do not. Many departments are seriously short-handed and others apparently have sufficient manpower.

It would appear that a personnel policy that would fit all departments is due and necessary.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers has one of the most pressing problems. A total of 40 fill the police ranks. The department was this size last year. But since that time, the size of the city has grown by almost three square miles. Only one car has been added to the department, for a present total of six.

For patrol duty, the department has about four men available on each shift. Fourteen of the force are regularly assigned to non-patrol activities. Another five are in the traffic division, and though they work patrol on occasion, the division limits most of its activity to traffic escorts, accident investigation, etc.

OF THE REMAINING 7 on each shift, the captain handles administrative matters, plus periodic patrol, plus filling in on day's off, plus investigative problems. Another man acts as jailer, leaving only five men to patrol. This number is reduced to four, when day-offs are considered.

Similar examples could probably be drawn in other city departments. In many instances, city employees are under-paid, or departments are under-staffed, or working hours are too long. I believe this statement would hold true when compared with private industry in Big Spring.

The best time to correct these things is in the budget. And that time is now.

It's The Law

Confidential Communications Privileged

Under the law what you as a client tell your lawyer in confidence he may tell no one else without your consent.

Nor can a judge order him or his professional employees (like secretaries) to reveal such communications in court.

Why have such a privilege? Chiefly, to do justice; it encourages clients to tell their lawyers what they have to know to help and to advise them fully: things about their family, business, and private affairs, their hopes, fears, and ambitions.

NO LAWYER MAY SPEAK of certain things, even after a client dies. For a client may well have to give his lawyer details which, if revealed, might harm those he most wanted to protect.

Yet, in some very rare cases, to help carry out the client's desires after death, a lawyer may have to reveal a confidence, under certain safeguards, to uphold his client's purposes.

What are confidential communications? Anything a client tells his lawyer when he seeks advice about his personal, business, or legal affairs — talks and letters, photographs, charts, and other documents and records.

CONFIDENTIAL communications protect you as the client, not your lawyer. If you break the confidence, a lawyer may also have to talk, for the communication is no longer confidential. You may break a confidence by testifying about it, or by having unauthorized persons hear or see what was communicated.

No lawyer may keep quiet about a crime or fraud a client has told him he plans to commit. But afterwards, an accused person may talk freely to his lawyer. Even if guilty, he has a right to have his side of the story presented to the court as it may affect his punishment. A person in trouble needs to talk to someone without fear that what he says will become public.

IN SOME STATES CERTAIN other professional people, such as physicians and clergymen, may receive privileged communications. However, Texas law makes no provision for privileged communications with physicians and clergymen.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise, and laymen are advised again that a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

David Lawrence

What About These Civil Rights?

WASHINGTON — It happened in Sen. Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts, but it's an issue that neither he nor any other aspirant for the presidency apparently will care to touch.

It has to do with something just as important as the civil rights question in the South, about which so much righteous indignation is being expressed by the various seekers after the presidential nomination. Indeed, not a word has come from any of the so-called liberals in protest against what the Boston (Mass.) Herald described in two editorials last week—the unlawful use of physical force by labor unions on the picket line.

We said last Friday that brute force picketing was going on in the For River Shipyard strike, and that this was one field of human conflict in which civilized society still sanctions physical violence.

THE EDITORIAL THEN went on to quote the police chief of Quincy as follows:

"The Quincy police tried on five occasions to break through the picket line. We were successful in breaking the picket line on our first attempt. From there on the union managed to keep a sufficient number of pickets in line so that the police were unsuccessful in the four succeeding attempts."

The Herald asked why the police chief didn't enforce the law and quotes his reply:

"Because there wouldn't be sufficient numbers of Quincy police and state police to maintain law and order and the streets of Quincy needlessly would be drenched with blood which would cause us to hang our heads in shame for the rest of our lives."

Then the Herald makes this comment:

"THIS IS SAYING EXACTLY what we were trying to say. Society has so generally conditioned the use of force by pickets that the police often find it impracticable to apply the law as they would apply it against any other riotous assembly. Political sympathy and often popular sympathy are instinctively with the strikers, so by general consent the civil law is not enforced. A sort of strikers' law prevails."

With just a few slight changes in location and in the circumstances of the controversy, the above could have been said about the case of Mack Charles Parker in Mississippi, who wasn't disturbed for several weeks while held in jail for grand-jury action and trial on the charge of raping a white woman. Then came the announcement of his attorneys that they would seek the same relief as the Supreme Court had afforded in a similar case, in which, because no Negro was on the jury panel, a convicted rapist had been given stays of execution and new trials over a period of years. Popular indignation resulted in the lynchings, and the local authorities stood by without punishing the guilty.

"Popular feeling" is no justification for any lynching or any breaking down of the laws on picketing, but it would advance the cause of law enforcement everywhere if the local police in certain cities in the North were also universally condemned for their laxity in enforcing the law. The Boston Herald states the issue clearly as follows:

"WHY CAN'T 250 SUPERVISORY personnel get into the plant to maintain costly machinery?"

"Why can't estimators needed to prepare bids for shipbuilding contracts have access to essential files?"

"Why can't 600 naval architects, technicians and engineers working on research, development, design and testing for all Bethlehem yards get to the central technical department?"

"Why, in short, can't management have the services of all employees willing to cross any picket line they can cross without meeting physical resistance?"

"Is it not because, in this domain, society has come to approve of the use of physical force?"

There were several instances recently in the nationwide steel strike when supervisory and maintenance employees either were kept out of various plants or were allowed access only by special permission of the union even though these employees were not members of the union.

IT WILL BE ARGUED that all this is a matter for the states. So are lynchings, and so is the right to fix the qualifications of voters. But unless the champions of the current civil rights crusade are willing to find a remedy also for the violation of civil rights by union picket lines, it will appear to the public as a whole that the civil rights issue is nothing more than a vote-getting device for politicians. If there were real sincerity behind it, the pending legislation would deal comprehensively, too, with the loss of civil rights due to labor-union behavior on the picket line.

Ride And Read

TRENTON, N. J. — Five mornings a week a Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train en route to New York stops here and picks up two young women who have an unusual pastime — they publish the train's own newspaper.

The two—Cathy Woolston, 23, and Susan Wilson, 24—publish the "Seacucus Stopover," which is read by several hundred commuters.

The 2-year-old paper started as an April fool's joke and has been going regularly since.

Susan says they keep the paper just "for the fun of it" while Cathy feels the paper helps commuters get acquainted.

Fog Bogs Ceremony

FAIRMONT, Minn. — Everyone cooperated except the weather for the inauguration of airline service to Fairmont.

The mayor, a band and a good turnout of townspeople were on hand for the inaugural landing by North Central Airlines. The band played and the mayor cut a ceremonial ribbon as an unseen plane descended past overhead.

The airport was covered with a soupy fog and the airliner had to pass it by,

Planting Techniques Studied By Gardeners

Instructions were given to members of the Planters and Oasis Garden clubs on planting techniques for dahlias and trees.

PLANTERS

Meeting in the home of Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, 10 members of the Planters Garden Club studied the planting of dahlias.

Mrs. R. L. Collins told the group to use a sandy loam to start the plants in. She instructed the gardeners to slant the bulbs when planting.

The speaker stressed that there must be a piece of the stalk in order to give eyes on the bulb. Plant the dahlias, Mrs. Collins said, 6 to 8 inches deep. When they grow 3 to 4 inches high, pinch the top out. Start dusting them then with dusting sulphur to keep down disease and insects.

OASIS

Two trees will be donated by the Oasis Garden Club according to plans made at the meeting Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. M. C. Stulling. Mrs. C. O. Hitt was cohostess.

One tree will be given to the Howard County Junior College and the other will go to one of the local schools.

Mrs. V. L. Green was welcomed into the club as a new member. Landscaping was the program theme. Mrs. A. B. Muneke was the speaker on foundation planting in the public area; Mrs. Roy Phillips made suggestions for garden planting and Mrs. J. D. Leonard spoke on planting the service area.

Members were reminded by Mrs. H. T. Bratcher to attend the Spring Flower Show scheduled for April 22 at the old HCJC student union building.

Mrs. J. L. Milner will be hostess for the March 9 meeting which is a change from the yearbook schedule.

SHOWER IS COMPLIMENT TO BRIDE

School friends of Mrs. Williams Floyd Cluck, the former Mary Ella Bain, honored her with a miscellaneous shower at the Jack Johnson home Tuesday evening.

Guests were greeted by Pat Johnson, Mrs. Cluck, and Mrs. Johnson.

Hostesses used a valentine theme for their decor and centered the table with a large red heart edged with white net ruffling. The base of the arrangement was red carnations.

Lans Wren and Linda Green served the refreshments and Gloria Coker registered the guests.

Other hostesses were Pat Arnold, Sue Brown, Judi Simpson, Malinda Crocker, Luan Touchstone and Sharon Stephens.

W. H. CARDWELL

He's 95 And Still Giving The Orders

W. H. Cardwell is 95 years old today and he's still giving orders at his home which is at 1506 Scurry.

Four of his daughters and possibly one son will be here today to have birthday cake and coffee which they expect to share with friends who will call during the day.

From Abilene is Mrs. Henry (Fannie) Meriworth, and Mrs. Carl Black is here from Cleburne. Mrs. Ollie Anglin makes her home with her father and Mrs. T. J. Hogue lives in Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Cardwell may not get here until Sunday as Mrs. Cardwell teaches in the Odessa schools.

Mr. Cardwell has been a resident of Howard County since 1908 when he came here from Llano and did stock ranching in northeast Howard County.

He and his late wife had the same birthday, Feb. 11, 1865 and were 18 years of age when they married on July 19, 1882 in Lamar County. He was born in Campbellville, near Nashville, Tenn. His wife was a native Texan.

Other children who will not be able to be here but who have sent messages are Mrs. T. Henderson, Llano; Mrs. B. L. Curtis, Tacoma, Wash.; and W. H. Cardwell Jr. of Fredericksburg.

One daughter, Mrs. Nan Beard, passed away just two weeks before her mother's death on Dec. 31, 1943.

Study Group Hears VA Social Worker

Telford Durham, chief social worker at the VA Hospital, spoke to members of the Child Study Club when they met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. David Elrod. Cohostess was Mrs. O. H. Ivie.

"The Child and Culture" was Durham's topic, and he gave as a definition of culture "everything that we come in contact with; things that aren't inherited."

"Culture doesn't always mean the arts," the social worker told the 22 people present. "It is the child plus culture."

The speaker also expressed the need for love among children, and told the mothers to make their children feel loved during feeding time.

Frustration for both children and parents, Durham explained, comes when trying to train a child before he is physically and mentally ready.

The talk was closed by a reading of "Ten Ways to Raise a Juvenile Delinquent," taken from The Herald.

It was reported by the project committee that the club has completed one layette for the Big Spring Health Clinic.

Mrs. Ivie was appointed city federation club representative.

One new member, Mrs. Billy Watson, joined the group. Four visitors were present, Mrs. Wayne Truxel, Mrs. Lilly Graham, Mrs. Landon Burchell, and Mrs. Durham.

The next meeting of the group, March 9, will be held in the home of Mrs. Dave Dorchester, 1740 Purdue. Mrs. Tommy Hubbard will be cohostess.

Good Soup

Leftover roast pork in the refrigerator? Cut it into matchstick size pieces and add it to consomme with a halved peeled garlic clove. Heat. Throw in some sprigs of watercress and continue just long enough to wilt the greens. Remove the garlic and serve this good soup as the first course for a Chinese supper menu.

Use Apple Cider

You can substitute apple cider for half the water called for when making up a package of lemon gelatin. Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water, then stir in the cider.

GARDEN TALK

Start Now For Those Lovely Flowers Later

Nature has a constant parade. This week the flowering quince is taking the show, and last week it was the jasmine nudiflorum.

One of the best displays of flowering quince is on the south side of the Veterans Administration Hospital, also on the south-west lawn of Dr. G. T. Hall home, 704 Texas. The plant has a pretty red blossom, not unlike the peach bloom, but more vividly colored.

The jasmine gets its nudiflorum title because it blooms without any clothing of leaves. As a matter of fact, it almost never has any leaves but its gay yellow flowers so early in the spring make it worthwhile to plant almost anywhere.

Most of us want what ever flower is blooming today, but usually the time to plant is a long time before the plant blooms. So if you want blossoms in the summer, it is time to plant your roses now. You can also set out pansies, stock, and petunias now. It is not too late for fruit trees or any sort of shrub that comes in a ball or can.

You can get some bargains in bulbs that should have been set out last month, too. There are large stocks of them left over in several garden stores, and they usually mark them way down by this time. The bulbs may not bloom until next year, but often they come on even this late and give us good color.

Usually they bloom on short stems when planted this late, but then if you can keep them in the ground until next spring they will likely be robust, beautiful plants.

If you have any garden or outdoor questions, write to me in care of this paper. I'll be glad to answer your questions if I can.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Coming from the Water Wonderland state of Michigan into one of Texas' best sandstorms was quite a jolt for MR. AND MRS. HERMAN PICKLE who live in Detroit, Michigan. They arrived here Tuesday afternoon along with J. B. Pickle just about the time the upper layer of Howard County water is in a turmoil. If anyone had been curious enough he could have probably detected parts of Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and who knows, maybe even Michigan in the earth that passed over here. There was enough wind to move mountains.

the home of MRS. AKIN SIMPSON Saturday morning. She is entertaining with a brunch and has asked all her guests to wear something red. My dress won't be new but it will certainly be red.

Young people at the First Baptist Church are working on their annual Sweetheart banquet. Some years turn out better than others with the plans. This one sounds like fun for Saturday night. Assembly of God young people will be holding their banquet the same evening at Coker's.

MRS. MAYME REED has been in Austin for two weeks and believe it or not, she was glad to be back here where the sand was. The chief reason for this is the fact that the last three days she spent in Austin visiting her son, CECIL REED, and his family, there was a solid downpour of rain.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. ELLIOTT left Midland by plane today for Los Angeles, Calif. They will visit her brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hardesty, whose home is in N. Hollywood for a week.

There will be a lot of birthday anniversaries to fall on Valentine Day. Most that I now have stopped putting candles on the cake but they still enjoy being the Valentine in their family. Among them are MRS. NINA CARVER, MRS. CARL MARZETT, MISS FERN WELLS, CHARLES WEBB and MR. R. W. Webb of The Herald.

Settles WMS Has 1st Meet

The first meeting of the Settles Baptist WMS was held Tuesday evening. Until this time the women had been associated in circles, not in a society.

The group, that met in the home of Mrs. Haskell Beck, was led in devotion by Mrs. R. L. Hughey. She spoke on 2 Cor. 2.

New officers were approved and they are: Mrs. Hughey, who will serve as president, and Mrs. Beck, vice president. Secretary will be Mrs. J. R. Gould, who will be assisted by the reporter, Mrs. Charles Morgan. Mrs. R. D. Burchill is treasurer.

Mrs. F. W. Bettle, of the First Baptist Church, brought the study "Consider Thy Stewardship."

Mrs. W. J. Coats was a guest.

Coahoma WSCS Begins New Project

A fund-raising project was started by members of the Coahoma Methodist WSCS Monday at their meeting in the church.

Pillow slips are to be made and embroidered and sold by the group for $1.50 per pair. A committee was appointed to arrange a menu for a dinner to be served on the second Tuesday in March.

Study of the book, "Lule's Portrait of Christ," was continued with the presentation of the lesson by Mrs. Ed Carpenter. Mrs. J. W. Wood dismissed the session with a prayer.

Superintendent Attends Meet

Floyd Parsons, superintendent of schools, is off on a triple mission to New York and Atlantic City, N. J.
He is to attend the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators next week, but in the meantime he will voice appeals for a better rating on local school bonds.
Big Spring Independent School District bonds have an AAB rating, which is one notch under what local officials feel that it should be. Background material and supporting economic data have been sent to Standard and Poore and to Moody Investors Service, bond rating houses. Parsons is to talk with both firms today in New York. A favorable change in the rating would reflect itself in lower interest charge on the district's bonds.
Friday and Saturday Parsons will take part in a meeting of the board of directors of the National Educational Association.

Russians Aghast At Religious Hoax

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst
Communist leaders in Kuybyshev province are aghast. Huge crowds of villagers have been jamming the meeting of a man who calls himself the preacher of "a new holy teaching of communism." Free love is a cardinal tenet of his "religion."
The culprit — a regional Soviet broadcaster called him a "charlatan" — is one Alexander Mikhailovich Strelnikov.
Strelnikov reportedly said: "I am in God's business. I am God's spirit incarnate. God's spirit assisted me in creating a new holy teaching of communism. It is the true popular teaching, leading mankind toward a virtuous and blessed life."
This is all the more shocking to the Communist leaders because the preacher has been flourishing in the villages at the height of a concentrated campaign among young people of the Soviet Union to stamp out vestiges of the past. The Young Communist League (Komsomol) is being exhorted against "pernicious traditions of the old mode of life, which at times masquerade under the guise of national custom." Communists are being urged to step up the teaching of atheism.
The Kuybyshev broadcast admitted, however, that Strelnikov's new wrinkle, combining communism and religion, drew "huge crowds," including many young people.
Strelnikov has been exhorting his "spiritual brothers and sisters" to join his new religion to achieve "the sacred freedom of love."
"Strelnikov," said the broadcast "is a dangerous man. He not only spiritually corrupted his followers, but seduced them physically. He persuaded a number of so-called 'spiritual sisters' to live with him, after explaining that such conduct was not sinful."
The broadcaster produced what he described as a letter from Strelnikov's former wife, who called him a "parasite who lived from illegal preaching of hate against the Soviet regime."
The broadcast concluded: "Comrades who live in Kryazh, Novo-Sergeevsk and other places in our oblast (province) visited by the charlatan Strelnikov: Do not listen to his sermons. Do not trust him and his followers. Do not waste your time in prayer houses. Direct your abilities and energies toward useful work. Personal happiness and joy of life can be attained only by honest work for the benefit of our people and our motherland, but not by prayers."

Credit Unions Have Big Year For 3,946 Members

Employ credit unions (seven federal and one state) operating in Big Spring last year reported substantial and occasionally astounding gains.
Together they handled 6,903 loans for $4,303,332.50. The year before there had been 5,976 loans for $3,232,028.96.
At the end of the year there were 3,946 accounts outstanding in the amount of $2,442,919.39. At the end of 1958 there were 3,253 loans outstanding for $1,894,396.73.
Since organization, the credit unions have made 41,548 loans for an aggregate of $18,403,511.42, and this compares with 34,175 and $14,908,750.55 the year before.
At the end of the past year they had 6,340 members who held shares of $2,547,873.76. The 1958 total showed only 5,342 shareholders with $2,053,774.88 in shares.
Twenty-eight credit unions cut melons in the form of dividends (mostly 6 per cent) in the aggregate of $107,990, plus $4,143.57 in interest refunds, and aggregate return of $112,134.26. The year before dividends had been $79,259.56 plus $4,194.82.

All Presidents Aid Scouting

One of the causes contributing to the success of the Boy Scouts of America has been the thoughtful, wholehearted way in which each President of the United States since Taft, in 1910, has taken an active part in the work of the movement.
Two Presidents — Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower — were both active in Scouting before they entered the White House.
Mr. Roosevelt was a founder and president of the Boy Scout Foundation of Greater New York and led a campaign to raise funds for its famous Ten Mile River camps in Sullivan County, New York.
President Eisenhower has been a member of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America since 1948.

Three Men Have Served As Chief Boy Scout Executive

Three men have occupied the position of chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America during its 50 years of existence.
First to hold this highest administrative post was Dr. James E. West. At the age of 34 this Washington, D. C., attorney accepted the task of putting the organization on a sound basis within a six-month period. The six-month period turned out to be a career lasting from Jan. 2, 1911, when he opened the first national office at 290 Fifth Avenue, New York City, with seven employees, until Feb. 1, 1943, when he became the chief scout.
DR. FRETWELL
He was succeeded by Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell of Teachers College, Columbia University, who had been identified with the organization since its earliest days. Dr. Fretwell served on the National Executive Board from 1933 to Feb. 1, 1943. He was chief scout executive until Sept. 1, 1948, when he was succeeded by the present chief scout executive, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck. Dr. Fretwell is the chief scout, succeeding Dr. West who died in May 1948.
PRESENT HEAD
Dr. Schuck entered Scouting in 1913 as a volunteer leader at Newark, N. J. In 1917 he entered Scouting professionally. He served as a Scout executive at Lancaster, Reading, and Chester County, all in Pennsylvania, and Los Angeles, Calif. From 1919 to 1922 he was regional Scout executive of Region III, serving Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, and the District of Columbia.
In 1922 he became a member of the field department of the national office as a specialist in finance and organization.
During his administration three national Boy Scout jamborees have been held. The fourth under his leadership takes place this July 22-28 at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he will be the camp chief.

Husband, Wife Team Cook Meals Together

By SHERI WEBBER
The Polish ancestry of Capt. Nicholas Ordon shows up in his cooking.
Capt. Ordon, a big blue-eyed man, especially enjoys cooking meat dishes and meal-in-one dishes. He has one secret salad dressing that even his wife, petite Beverly, doesn't know how to make.
The Ordons are a scattered-out family when it comes to home states. Nicholas is originally from upper New York state, while Mrs. Ordon comes from Ogden, Iowa. Their son, Nickie, was born in Virginia, while 5-year-old Kim arrived in Kansas.
Beverly and Nick met while he was stationed in Virginia with the Navy. She was working for civil service at his base.
After six years with the Navy, during which time he was in both the Atlantic and the Pacific during World War II, he attended State University of Iowa. There he was in the Air Force ROTC program, and entered that branch of service after his graduation.
The captain has been with the 31st Fighter Interceptor Squadron longer than any other officer, having joined it in 1954. He is an armament system officer, and will be leaving here in March to attend an 18-week armament staff officer course in Denver. This is a field grade officers course, and usually captains are not admitted, but Ordon was well qualified.

Mrs. Ordon is an excellent seamstress, and blonde-haired Kim has never had a ready-to-wear dress. Brunette Beverly also knits and embroiders, and she has made her cooking husband an apron embroidered with comical little mustachioed cooks.
The Ordons' son, Nickie, is a 12-year-old who is in the seventh grade at Goliad Jr. Hi. He plays a cornet in the school band, collects stamps, rocks, runs an art farm, and builds model planes.
Kim is her mother's helper. Her chief playmate is the family dog, a "black and white and brown" pooch named Sheba.
Several of the recipes offered by the Ordons have been handed down for generations. Ordon, who classifies himself as a weekend cook, fixes the beef stroganoff. This is an indoor dish, and while he enjoys fixing it, his real love is outdoor cooking.
The recipe for macaroni and cheese is unusual in that it calls for round steak and tomatoes. This was the only dish Beverly Ordon could fix when she was first married, she admits, and it remains a family favorite.
Placek is a Polish holiday bread. It takes a little while to make, but is well worth the effort. Beverly Ordon reports, Galumpki is a cabbage roll that is delicious.

gree oven until top is browned lightly.
GALUMPKI
1 large head cabbage
1 lb. ground beef
1 small onion
1 cup cooked rice
2 tps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 can tomatoes
1/2 cup water
2 bay leaves.
Steam cabbage so outer leaves can be peeled without tearing. (This can be done by cutting the core from the cabbage and putting the cabbage on a rack in a large pan containing a small amount of water). Slice onion and saute until soft.
Mix onion, ground beef, rice, salt and pepper. Place about 2 tablespoons of meat mixture into each cabbage leaf. Wrap leaf around meat mixture.
Heat tomatoes, water and bay leaves in a heavy kettle. Place cabbage rolls into tomatoes and simmer for about 1 1/2 hours.
BEEF STROGANOFF
2 lbs. sirloin
3 tps. finely chopped onions
4 cloves garlic, halved
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced thin
1 tps. flour
3 cups heavy cream (soured with 1 tps. lemon juice for each cup)
4 tps. tomato paste or a whole tomato sauted until tender (remove peel)
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Cut meat into 1x1/2x1/2 inch cubes. Heat some butter in a large, heavy frying pan. Season meat with pepper, salt, paprika and grated nutmeg, then saute on a high flame for a few minutes. Do not over cook meat, but have it rare.
Take meat out of pan and keep it hot. In juice in pan saute finely chopped onion and then add garlic. Add sliced mushrooms, which must be stirred often until they cook down. Blend in the flour, cook 2-4 minutes and then remove garlic.
Slowly add sour cream, stirring constantly. (Use heavy cream and sour it as above. Commercial sour cream will curdle.)
When sauce begins to bubble add tomato and mix until sauce turns rosy colored. Add Worcestershire sauce and meat and stir thoroughly.
Can be served by spooning

Mother's Helper

Helping the mother of the Ordon family is her husband, Capt. Nicholas Ordon. Nick enjoys chopping things, and is now in the category of an "expert chopper." He is a weekend cook who enjoys outdoor cooking whenever the weather permits.

Mrs. Ordon is a good cook in her own right, and some of the family recipes passed on in the story are hers. Others have come down in Nick's family.

Dessert Says 'Be Mine'

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor
Any loving mother can put some special Valentines on the family table on Feb. 14. What is such a sweet offering made of? Cherries tart and a chocolate heart—plus a layer of vanilla pudding!
The fun part of this delicious dessert is the topping. Semi-sweet chocolate is melted and spread over a rectangle of waxed paper. (We suggest waxed paper rather than foil so the surface will be sure to be smooth.) After chilling the melted chocolate, hearts may be cut out of it easily with a cookie cutter. If the kitchen is quite warm, the cutting should be done speedily because the chocolate has a tendency to become soft. After shaping the hearts, they're placed on the prepared tart red cherry and vanilla pudding deserts.
When we did this in our own kitchen we returned the layer of chocolate left, after the hearts were cut out, to the refrigerator to re-harden. Then we used tiny cookie cutters—1 inch leaf heart—to cut out intriguing small shapes from the remaining chocolate. After these were chilled they were offered to small fry as extras.
You can make these desserts in the morning or afternoon on Valentine's Day and serve them for supper. Just cover each with transparent plastic wrapping or foil and refrigerate. If the chocolate is rather hard at serving time, eaters can tap the hearts with their spoons as is done with the burnt sugar topping on Creme Brulee!

CHOCOLATE CHERRY VALENTINES
1/2 cup sugar
2 tps. cornstarch
1 tsp. salt
1 can (1 lb.) tart red pitted cherries, water packed
1 1/2 tps. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. red food coloring
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
1/4 tsp. red food coloring
1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
1/2 cup 1/2 of a 6-oz. package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 1/2 tps. shortening
Mix together thoroughly in a 1-quart saucepan the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Drain cherries; stir cherry liquid into dry ingredients. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until boiling; boil 30 seconds. Remove from heat; stir in drained cherries, lemon juice and red food coloring; cool. Prepare vanilla pudding mix according to package directions; cool. Melt chocolate and shortening stirring occasionally, in top of double boiler over very hot (but not boiling) water. Spread melted chocolate evenly with back of spoon into a 6 by 9-inch rectangle on waxed paper-lined pan. Chill until firm—20 minutes or longer. Invert carefully on waxed paper-lined cookie sheet; gently peel off paper. Using heart-shaped cookie cutter, 2 1/4 inches across at widest point, cut 6 hearts. Rechill hearts until firm enough to handle—5 minutes or longer. For each serving, put 1-3 cup cherry mixture into dessert dish. Cover to edges with 1-3 cup vanilla pudding. Top with chocolate heart. May be covered and chilled 3 to 6 hours before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Sandwiches Provide An Usual Treat
Delicious and easy to prepare for four of your pals.
DOUBLE PLEASURE SANDWICHES
8 slices bread
Sweet brown mustard
8 thin slices baked ham (size of bread slices)
2 or 3 medium-size tomatoes (thinly sliced)
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup (or more) loosely-packed medium-grated cheddar cheese
4 tps. mayonnaise
Sweet gherkins
Toast bread lightly; spread with butter and mustard. Place ham on bread, making sure edges are covered. Arrange sliced tomato over ham; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper.
Sprinkle cheese over 4 of the built-up bread slices; spread 1 tablespoon of mayonnaise over tomato on remaining 4 bread slices. Broil slowly so toppings are slightly brown and tomatoes and ham hot. Serve at once—1 cheese-topped and 1 mayonnaise-topped sandwich for each serving. Makes 4 servings.

Pretty Ice Cream Heart Is Ideal For Valentine Party

A heart-shaped ice cream sandwich cake will make your family and friends glad that Valentine's Day comes 'round each February. A single layer cake baked in a heart-shaped pan is split, filled with a layer of strawberry ice cream, and topped with whipped cream. Frozen sliced or whole strawberries may be served with the cake.

1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 egg
1 qt. strawberry ice cream
1 cup whipping cream
1 pint whole strawberries, optional
10 ounce pkg. frozen strawberries
Place shortening in a mixing bowl. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt, and add. Pour in milk and vanilla. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer. Keep batter scraped from sides and bottom of bowl with rubber scraper. Add egg and beat 2 minutes more.
Pour into a heart-shaped pan, lined with 2 layers of waxed paper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cool cake in pan 10 minutes and remove. When cake is completely cool, split it in half horizontally. Line the heart-shaped pan with transparent film. Pack the ice cream into it and place it in the freezer.

To serve, place the "heart" of ice cream between the layers of cake. Whip the cream. Add vanilla and sugar to taste. Spoon the cream, in a heart pattern, on top of the cake. Garnish with whole strawberries. Spoon sweetened, sliced strawberries over each serving.
Note: The ice cream filled cake may be frozen ahead of time. At serving time add whipped cream and fruit. Yield: 1 Heart Ice Cream Cake.

Hidden Treat

Between two layers of cake is a layer of bright pink strawberry ice cream, a festive favorite. Topped with whipped cream and highlighted with whole frozen strawberries, it is a decorative sight for any table.

Extra-Fancy Topping Can Be Used Here

Take your choice of toppings for this apple pie—vanilla ice cream, whipped cream or cheese.
GOOD APPLE PIE
Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pie plate
6 medium-sized tart apples
1 cup sugar
1 tps. flour
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
2 tps. butter
Line pie plate with pastry leaving an overlapping edge. Pare and core apples; slice thin.
Mix sugar, flour, nutmeg and cinnamon; rub a little of this mixture into pastry in pie plate. Add apples; sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Dot with butter.
Place top crust over pie plate, sealing and fluting edges. Make slits in top pastry; brush with milk. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender. If pie must stand before serving, reheat.

Fabulous Dessert To Store In Freezer

A fabulous dessert to make ahead, store in your freezer and serve to lots of applause.
STRIPED BAKED ALASKA
1 oblong cake layer (10 by 6 by 1 inch)
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 pint strawberry ice cream
1 pint mint ice cream
6 egg whites
3/4 cup sugar
Line a 1 1/2-quart loaf pan (8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches) with waxed paper or transparent plastic wrapping. Pack with layers of ice cream. Set in freezer to harden. Turn out onto cake layer; peel off paper.
Beat egg whites until stiff; add sugar slowly and continue beating until stiff and glossy. Completely cover cake and ice cream with meringue—it should be about 1-inch thick.
Freeze until meringue is firm; package in freezer wrapping; seal. Store up to 1 week.
To serve, preheat oven to 500 degrees. Unwrap Alaska, place on a board or a baking sheet lined with several thicknesses brown paper. Bake 4 to 5 minutes or until delicately browned. Transfer to chilled serving plate and serve

Fix A Sweet Pastry For Your Valentine

Such a time to win favor, St. Valentine's Day! Go into the kitchen, cook, and bake this fanciful heart-shaped dessert for your wooing.
This heart has to be fussed over because it's the puff pastry-type and is made in three layers. It has a sweet filling reminiscent of Armenian and Syrian pastries.
PASTRY SWEET HEART
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 cup cold hard margarine
6 tps. ice water
Cherry Walnut Filling and Frosting
Sift together the flour and salt; cut in 2 tablespoons of the margarine until it is in fine particles. Gradually mix in water thoroughly. Roll out on lightly floured surface or pastry cloth with stockinet-covered rolling pin into an 8-inch square about 1/4-inch thick. Dot with remaining margarine cut crosswise into thin slices. Fold in thirds; chill 20 minutes. Roll out to first size and again fold in thirds; chill 20 minutes. Repeat rolling, folding and chilling 3 more times. Roll out into a 24 by 10-inch rectangle. Cut into three 10 by 8-inch heart shapes. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 18 to 20 minutes or until a light golden brown. Add Cherry Walnut Filling and Frosting.

NOTE: Instead of rolling out pastry and cutting out 3 hearts at one time, roll out 1/2 of pastry at a time and cut out a heart each time. Make paper heart pattern to use as a guide.
CHERRY WALNUT FILLING AND FROSTING
Mix 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with 2 tablespoons honey, 2 1/2 teaspoons orange juice, 1 cup finely chopped walnuts and 1/2 cup (about 20) drained chopped maraschino cherries. Spoon over two of the pastry hearts and stack. Mix 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with enough orange juice (1 to 1 1/2 tablespoons) to make a thin spread; smooth over top of remaining heart; outline edge with halved cherries (dried on paper toweling); place on top of other hearts.

1/2 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. chili powder
3/4 cup catsup
3/4 cup water
Cut ribs into serving pieces; brown and place into roaster. Slice onions over ribs. Mix other ingredients and pour over ribs.
Bake, covered, for 1 1/2 hours. Remove cover and continue baking for 1/2 hour. Baste frequently, especially during last half hour. Use 350 degree oven.
