TOTS BURNED TO DEATH

Funeral Rites Held For Victims Of Fire

The remains of three tiny children, trapped by flames that destroyed the family hut here Friday afternoon, were laid to final rest Saturday.

Graveside rites were said for Linda Kay McMullen, 11 months old, Betty Sue McMullen, 22 months old, and James Allen McMullen, who was 3 years old a little more than a week ago.

They were all the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Elliott McMullen, who lived in a two-room wooden and tiny shanty at the west edge of the city dumping area.

McMullen, an employe of Ed. Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Violence — tragic, terrible violence — took six lives in less than 24 hours in this vicinity Friday. Earlier in the week only a miraculous recovery thwarted a high-way fatality. And even the weather was in the violent category.

Lives of three youngsters were snuffed out Friday afternoon when fire engulfed their home at the edge of the city's dump grounds. An explosion may have stunned them, but at any rate all three children of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McMullen were trapped by it. It was one of the worst fire disasters on record here.

Up in Borden County the evening before Adam Rios, apparently angered because his wife had left him with their baby, shot and killed two of her half brothers, her mother and gravely wounded her father. Then he took the baby, leaving it with friends at Roscoe, drove south and committed another act of violence before he was finally arrested.

Bobby Asbury was catapulted into the highway when the car in which he was riding collided with the rear of a truck south on U. S. 87. The impact literally turned the sedan into a convertible, and while Asbury was prone in the road, a pickup truck was thought to have run over him. Although critically injured, he has a good chance to recover.

Tuesday started like an ordinary spring day, then those tell-tale breezes began quivering to the west. Shortly before noon the die Paul, who directs operations at the dump, was away at the time Mrs. McMullen was helping Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Malacky, Sand Springs, sort some salvage materials half a block from the house.

They heard what they thought was a blast, saw smoke issuing from the building and sprinted to it only to be driven back by the heat and flames. When firemen arrived and cooled the blaze, bodies of two of the youngsters were huddled in the southwest corner of the north room and that of the third was in the passage-way between the two rooms. They were all badly burned.

"I was working down at the south end of the dump grounds with my wife," said Malacky, who is also an employe of Paul's. "Mrs. McMullen was nearby picking up cans."

"We heard an explosion and looked up to see smoke coming from the house. We ran up there and tried to get in but couldn't. We heard the kids screaming as we ran up."

Mrs. McMullen frantically tried to get to her children, but was restrained by Mrs. Malacky after Malacky had been singed and slightly burned when he tried to get the exterior door open. The heat was so intense they were driven back.

It was hopeless, and Mrs. McMullen was carried to the Howard County Foundation Hospital where she was put under sedation.

"I got in my pickup and drove over to Eddie Paul's and got McMullen," Malacky said. He was covered with grime and soot.

The wooden (south) room of the house was utterly destroyed, but the shell of the galvanized iron (north) room was left standing. In the south room had been the beds and an LPG heater, and the frames stood gauntly out of the smoldering ruins. In the north room was an LPG cooking stove and a wood stove fashioned out of a metal oil barrel.

The wood, which had kept the children warm before something — possibly a gas accumulation — flashed, was still burning.

The bodies of the children were prepared for burial by River Funeral Home and were taken to San Angelo for final rites at the Fairmont Cemetery.

The McMullens came here less than a year ago with their three children. James Allen had been born Feb. 2, 1957; Betty Sue, April 9, 1958; Linda Kay on March 25, 1959.

Besides their father, who is 25, and their mother, who is 21, the children are survived by Mrs. O. D. Feltman, maternal grandmother of San Angelo, and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott McMullen, San Marcos, the paternal grandparents.

10 DEAD IN BLIZZARD Southeastern U.S. Hard Hit By Raging Snowstorm

By The Associated Press A gigantic snowstorm shocked the Southeast Saturday, burying communities in a foot of snow, mauling hundreds of motorists and creating havoc with transportation, sporting events and business.

Charging in from snow-plastered Texas, the storm swamped Virginia with more than 13 inches, Tennessee 11, and the Carolinas 10 as it coursed northeastward.

A fall up to 18 inches was expected in some parts of Virginia before the storm abates. Snows of 2 to 8 inches blanketed numerous areas of Mississippi and Alabama. Southeast Arkansas measured 5.

CREW OF 'LADY BE GOOD'

Desert Sands Give Up Bodies Of Lost Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The desolate sands of a North African desert have yielded up the bodies of five members of the Lady Be Good bomber crew after nearly 17 years.

The Air Force announced Saturday an oil exploration party found the bodies of five members of the crew that failed to return from a World War II bombing mission over Italy on April 4, 1943.

They lay about 85 miles from the spot where the Lady Be Good's almost intact frame was discovered by chance 10 months ago.

For weeks after the finding of the bomber, an intensive air and surface search was conducted for its crew. It was obvious the men either had walked away from the plane after it was forced down or had parachuted from it as it was heading back to its North African base.

Clustered near the bodies of the five were pieces of equipment they had used in their effort to walk out of the desert — canteens, flashlights, pieces of parachute silk and harness, furlined flight jackets.

Individual identification of the bodies was awaiting results of analyses by an Army mortuary team. But one bit of equipment may have given a clue to the identity of one of the five men.

This was a sun glasses case bearing the name of Lt. D. P. Hays. He was the navigator aboard the bomber. His home was Lee's Summit, Mo.

At Independence, Mo., Mrs. George Barrett said the family had received no formal communication about her brother since he was officially reported missing in action and his military insurance was paid to his mother, who died two years ago.

The oil company men apparently in moving about the vast, empty desert in their work came upon the bodies and last encampment of the five on Thursday.

A commercial pilot who operates planes in the desert radioed word of the finding to Wheelus Air Force Base, near Tripoli. A U. S. Air Force party flew to the scene and reported back that these definitely were crew members of the long-missing bomber. The members of the Lady Be Good crew, in addition to Hays, were: 1st Lt. William J. Hatton, White-stone, Queens County, N.Y.; 2nd Lt. Robert F. Toner, North Attleboro, Mass.; 2nd Lt. John S. Woravka, Cleveland, Ohio.

NO CONSPIRACY Major Oil Firms Held Guiltless

TULSA, Okla. (AP) —Twenty-nine big oil companies charged with plotting to fix prices were acquitted Saturday by a federal judge who declared evidence submitted by the government didn't "rise above the level of suspicion."

U. S. Dist. Judge Royce H. Savage, in a decision of far-reaching importance to the petroleum industry's corporate structure, upheld motions by all defendants for judgments of acquittal.

"I think I should say simply that after giving consideration to the evidence I have an absolute conviction, personally, that the defendants are not guilty," Savage declared.

The court's decision came before a packed and tense courtroom at the close of the trial's 10th day, the second devoted wholly to argument on the motions.

The government cannot appeal the judge's ruling on the criminal charges. However, it could appeal a point of law but it was not known immediately if one is planned.

CANAL THEORY The defendant firms were accused of using the 1956 Suez Canal crisis as an excuse to raise the prices they paid for crude oil and ultimately those they received for gasoline.

The government contended there were excessive stocks of crude and motor fuel before the Suez emergency. Savage said closure of the canal presented the firms with a different situation.

He also noted defense claims that rising operating costs since the last prior crude oil increase in 1953 made the price boosts in January 1957 necessary.

Oil Fraud Claim Made In Mexico MEXICO CITY (AP) —Ignacio Garcia Trejo of the attorney general's office said Friday the government oil company, Petroleos Mexicanos, had been defrauded of at least two and a half million pesos ($200,000) in the Poza Rica area.

The amount may increase, he said. Several persons are under arrest and the government is trying to extradite a former high company official at Poza Rica.

The alleged frauds, officials said, involved payment for fake contracts for work never done.

Test Bomb Fired In Sahara Desert

By DAVID MASON PARIS (AP) — France, exultant newcomer to the ranks of the world's atomic powers, declared Saturday night it will build a striking force of nuclear weapons to assure its "national independence."

The announcement came amid widespread criticism in other parts of the world over France's test explosion of an atomic device in the Sahara early Saturday.

There were reports that France plans to follow up with the explosion of an operational A-bomb.

Pierre Messmer, French defense minister, told a news conference: "We took an important step this morning with the explosion of the bomb. But we have not yet reached our goal. We will continue to work to give France a striking force of nuclear warheads and the means to deliver them so that the army can accomplish its mission of assuring national independence."

NO ELABORATION Messmer did not elaborate on his statement but it is believed he meant France intends to make nuclear missiles.

The successful test of a tower device placed France in the ranks of the world's atomic powers along with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The United States and Britain took the news of their ally's accomplishment calmly but the Soviet Union, the only Communist member of the atomic club, "deplored" the French atom test.

A statement from the Tass news agency said: "If nuclear explosions should continue, the Soviet government will, naturally, not be able to overlook it and fail to draw the proper conclusions for its own security."

Hood Drops Out Of Race; Candidate Lists Closed

W. H. (Ant Killer) Hood, who had filed for the office of constable, Precinct 1, Place 1, withdrew his application Saturday night. He said that he had decided not to make the race this year.

His withdrawal left 17 local candidates in the field. Frank Hardesty, county executive committee chairman, said all of the 17 had paid their primary assessments by Saturday night. He said that the fees from local candidates totaled $2,650; legislative candidates $50, and congressional candidate $27.50. This gives the county committee $2,677.50 to finance the two primary elections.

Hardesty said that he felt sure the money would be sufficient to do the job. He pointed out that with the withdrawal from the constable race of Hood, there remains only the possibility of three runoff contests. One of these would be restricted to the constable precinct of Coahoma. The only two contests on a countywide basis would be in the race for sheriff and that for the Legislature.

Therefore, Hardesty pointed out, the runoff primary election will be extremely light and precinct voting boxes can be manned with reduced crews with no difficulty.

He said that the executive committee will meet on March 21 to draw the names of the candidates for position on the ballots. Orders will then be placed for the ballots for the first primary election which is set for May 7.

Test Bomb Fired In Sahara Desert

The Russians have maintained in the past they would continue a ban on nuclear weapons tests so long as the West observed the same ban.

Newsmen asked Pierre Guillaumat, minister in charge of atomic affairs, if another atomic test is planned. He replied that the Sahara test area would continue to exist for some time.

Asked if France is considering making a hydrogen bomb, Guillaumat hesitated, then said: "The problem is being considered."

Immediately after learning of the atomic test President Charles de Gaulle sent this message to Guillaumat, who directed the test: "Hurrah for France! Since this morning she is stronger and prouder. From the bottom of my heart, thanks to you and those who, for France, have achieved this magnificent success."

EARLIER ANNOUNCEMENT Maj. Gen. Charles Ailleret, chief of the French special weapons division, anticipated Messmer's announcement earlier Saturday. He said the test of a plutonium device at Tanzeouf, deep in Algeria near the Reggane oasis, "will permit us to construct swiftly a completely modern nuclear arms supply."

France is known to have enough plutonium, a derivative of Uranium 238, on hand for two atomic blasts and is slowly processing more.

The French blast No. 1 appears to have been about equal to the first atomic bombs produced in 1945 by the United States. Their energy was rated as the equivalent of that packed in 20,000 tons of TNT, or 20 kilotons.

Hydrogen weapons developed since by the United States, Britain the Soviet Union are far more powerful. The United States has tested hydrogen explosives considered equal to 15 to 17 megatons, or 15 to 17 million tons of TNT.

The French blast was the world's first since the Big Three nuclear powers halted proving-ground experiments in the fall of 1958 in preparation for the Geneva talks on banning further tests.

ATOP TALL TOWER Touched off atop a 300-foot steel tower at dawn, the explosion lighted the desert and paled the full moon still visible in the morning sky. A mushroom cloud soared up in a wild mixture of colors—blinding white, violent, and rose.

French officials said first indications were that there was no radioactive fallout in inhabited Sahara regions. They said weather conditions for the test were ideal — almost dead still near the earth's surface, with winds of 96 miles an hour from 10,000 feet upward for quick dispersal of high-altitude radioactivity.

Despite the French assurances, protests exploded quickly around the world. These came chiefly from Communist and neutral countries, but even American officials reacted coolly.

Ready To Follow Brother

First youngster to sign up for the 1960 Soap Box Derby was Michael Spradling (shown left with his father, L. D. Spradling), whose older brother, Larry, was the local champion last year. Larry won a wonderful trip to Akron and had a chance at the All-American crown, and Michael is shooting for the same honor. In center is Jesse Gossett, second to sign for the great racing event, and at right is Chub Jones, executive director of the Derby program. The Soap Box event, rich in prizes and fame, is open to any youngster between ages of 11 and 15, and registration will be held on Fridays and Saturdays for the next three weekends. Boys should go to Tidwell Chevrolet Co. Fridays from 1 to 6 p.m.; Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. A parent or guardian must accompany boys for the sign-up. Sponsors are looking for the biggest Derby ever.

Biggest Blimp Has Gone Flat

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—The world's largest blimp collapsed today at the U. S. Naval Air Station in South Weymouth while being towed into a hangar. The Navy said no one was hurt.

The huge, 400-foot ZPG-3W was masted and moving toward the hangar when a gust of wind caught the tail and tipped the towing tractor, snapping the cable. The big craft then slammed into the hangar door, splitting the envelope and causing the blimp to collapse. There was no fire.

The blimp, whose home port is Lakehurst, N. J., held a 1 1/2 million cubic feet of helium.

Norwegians Plead For Chessman

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Telegrams asking President Eisenhower and the governor of California to use their influence to save Carl Chessman from the gas chamber were sent by the Oslo newspaper Dagbladet today.

In five days more than 35,000 persons supported a petition started by the paper.

McBride Purchases Pontiac Agency From Marvin Wood

Marvin M. Wood swapped his salesman's spool for a fishing reel here last week, when he sold his Pontiac dealership to K. N. McBride.

"I watched Big Spring grow and I grew with it," Wood said as he closed out over 30 years of automobile experience here. K. N. McBride, a long time General Motors Corp. representative and automotive dealer, is selling his agency in Brownfield to move to Big Spring.

"I hope to render the same good service as Mr. Wood," McBride said, "and even improve it if we can." The new dealer has purchased a home at 1723 Yale and his wife and 15-year-old daughter will be joining him here in a few weeks.

He has two other children, a son who is in business in Fredericksburg, and a married daughter, living in Brownfield.

VETERAN DEALER
McBride is a native of Coleman, where his father was a farmer. He began his adult life as a linotype operator in a newspaper office. At 25, he entered the automotive business, a career that he has continued to follow.

His first sales position was with a Chevrolet dealer in Del Rio in 1931. He points out that the fanciest car of that year sold for $860, including a radio and heater. This figure sticks in his mind as he once sold a car for cash and he was paid in one-dollar bills.

A customer wanting a standard model could buy a new car for about $600, McBride said.

DISTRICT MANAGER
After about four years, he bought a dealership of his own at Taylor which he held until 1938. Then he followed an offer to El Paso, where he was made district manager for the factory in the Buick Motor Division. In 1941, he was shifted to Houston as district sales manager for the Chevrolet division, a position he held during the war years.

Following the war, he again entered private dealership and purchased the Pontiac agency at Brownfield about five years ago.

NEW OWNER GETS BEST WISHES FROM DEALER
Marvin Wood, right, wishes best of luck to K. N. McBride

"I invite all of Mr. Wood's customers to continue coming to the showroom," he said. "I am thoroughly sold on the Pontiac and I think it is one of America's finest automobiles."

SLACKENS PACE
Wood is leaving his business at 504 E. 3rd for a slower pace that will probably include many hours in his cabin at Lake J. B. Thomas with fishing pole in hand. A native of Hillsboro, he came to Big Spring in 1928 and was employed as a mechanic for Hendricks and Walters, Dodge dealers.

He later worked for Deats Garage and Storage. Then on Sept. 22, 1932, he opened his own garage and repair shop at 214 W. 3rd. In 1941, he needed larger quarters and built the building at 504 E. 3rd.

During the war, the Pontiac

Cardinal Laid To Rest After Solemn Rites

By BORIS BOSKOVIC
ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac was buried today with impressive rites in Zagreb Cathedral that Yugoslavia's Communist government barred to him as a prince of the church.

More than 3,000 persons crowded into the ancient cathedral to honor the cardinal, who died Wednesday in his native Krasice where the government had confined him.

Fifteen of Yugoslavia's 22 Roman Catholic bishops, more than 500 priests and the Zagreb consular corps were among the mourners. Cardinal Stepinac's body had lain in state since Friday night in the cathedral, seat of his archdiocese.

Missing was the galero — the cardinal's red hat—which traditionally hangs in a prelate's cathedral after death. Cardinal Stepinac did not go to Rome for the insignia of his office when he was elevated in 1953. He feared the Communists would not permit him to return.

The 61-year-old cardinal's funeral took on added sadness when Franz Cardinal Koenig, archbishop of Vienna who was to have conducted the services, was injured seriously and his driver killed in a highway accident en route here.

BIG TOTAL
Since that time, Wood's agency has sold between 1,200 and 1,400 new Pontiacs and between 3,000 and 4,000 used cars. He recalls that a new Pontiac in 1945 sold for $1,422, fully equipped. The same model today sells for about $3,200.

In 1948-49, he was awarded a huge portrait of Chief Pontiac by the factory, symbol of the best equipped shop and best service for a city of this size. In 1957, he received the Knudsen Trophy for the highest sales among cities of Big Spring's size.

He has served as chairman of the Howard and Martin county areas of the Texas Automobile Dealer's Association for five years. He is also a member of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

BROADENS DEALERSHIP
About two years ago, he brought the Vauxhall to his showroom floor, to meet the demand for smaller cars. Made in England, all parts and service are provided here.

Looking back down the years, Wood pointed out many changes in automobile sales and mechanics. "When I first entered the business," he explained, "the average fellow could repair his own car."

"A pair of pliers, a screwdriver and a shade tree were about all the requirements." But automobiles have become more complicated. "Mechanics are specialists now and require expensive training and equipment," he added.

Rosalind Nadell Here On Monday

Miss Rosalind Nadell, a leading mezzo-soprano of American opera, will be the next artist to appear under auspices of the Big Spring Concert Assn.

She will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday in City Auditorium. Miss Nadell is representative of that new generation of American opera stars, in which personality, stage talent and youth are combined with the traditional rich voice, to create a new dimension in opera.

The latest example of this was Theodor Uppman who sang here two years ago. Miss Nadell's musical background has been varied—she has demonstrated her talents in opera, light opera, concert, radio and television.

Added to her laurels are appearances on Broadway and in the light opera field, including the Pittsburgh Light Opera, the Lambertsville Music Circus, the Starlight Theatre in Kansas City, the South Shore Music Circus, the Cape Cod Music Circus, Memphis Open Air Theatre, the Petersburg Opera, the Sacramento Music Circus and the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera.

One of her big moments was a concert tour of the West Coast with Lotte Lehman, in which she sang the role of Octavian in Rosenkavalier.

Some of the critical comments she has earned: "An emotion expressed with fine art... genuine feeling... a voice that was large, tonally pleasing and properly flexible... a warm and sweet voice... characterization was utterly convincing."

HER PROGRAM
Miss Nadell's program for Big Spring will include a proper mixture of classic and semi-classic opera and operetta selections, and individual non-operatic songs by famed composers. The printed program will carry descriptions of the plots of excerpted operas, sufficient for the audience to understand Miss Nadell's characterizations.

ROSALIND NADELL

Accompanist will be Keith Mixon, of the TCU music department. In communications to Dr. Josh Burnett, Concert Assn. official, Miss Nadell indicated that she is a brightly composed woman with a sense of humor. Of her trip here she says:

"I am looking forward to my concert in Big Spring and to making new acquaintances, also to seeing more of Texas."

Lyndon Group Plans To Step Up Activities

DALLAS (AP) — Top state strategists in a drive to put Sen. Lyndon Johnson in the White House promised an expanded campaign outside Texas after a meeting here Friday.

Attending the meeting were Ed Connally of Abilene, state Democratic Executive Committee chairman; Larry Blackmon of Mineral Wells, director of LBJ clubs in Texas; Ben Wooten, Dallas banker; former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Midland; John Connally of Fort Worth; and Mrs. W. A. Griffin of San Angelo, head of a women's drive for Johnson.

"We're getting tremendous response from party members outside Texas," said Connally, spokesman for the group. "We've received encouragement from 35 states and the mail is running better than 100 letters a day." The group agreed that the drive for Johnson "is just beginning." Connally said the campaign will hit a high point just before the Democratic convention at Los Angeles in July.

Fatal Collision

DALLAS (AP)—Margaret Elizabeth Jones, 26, was killed Friday when a car collided with a switch engine.

DeGaulle Cheers At Bomb News

PARIS (AP)—Austere President Charles de Gaulle let go with an enthusiastic "hurrah" at the successful explosion of France's first atomic bomb.

In a message to Pierre Guillaumet, who directed the test in the Sahara, De Gaulle said: "Hurrah for France! Since this morning she is stronger and prouder. From the bottom of my heart, thanks to you and those who, for France, have achieved this magnificent success."

Howard Reports Heaviest Traffic Total In Region

Highway patrol officers investigated 18 traffic accidents in Howard County during January. They said damage to property involved in the 18 accidents totalled $28,000. In eight of the accidents there were personal injuries.

Sgt. Billy Smith, with the Midland substation of the Texas Highway Patrol, said that in Howard, Borden, Glasscock, Dawson, Martin, Midland and Reagan Counties there were 45 accidents investigated. There were 27 of these in which there was property damage and 18 in which individuals were injured. No fatalities occurred in the area during January. In all, property damage in the 45 accidents was $42,915. Twenty-five persons were hurt.

The figures reflected an increase of five accidents and a decrease of two deaths over the statistics for the same area in last January, Howard County, according to

New Officers For Cub Pack No. 48 Are Announced

A McNary, scoutmaster for Pack 48, Cub Scouts, Mrs. McNary and Mrs. M. J. O'Brien, the pack's den mothers, have relinquished their posts. It was announced at the Blue and Gold Banquet of the Pack on Friday night at the First Presbyterian Church.

Jack Gully is to succeed McNary as scoutmaster. Mrs. Ruth McSwain and Mrs. Bobby Rutherford, are to be the new den mothers.

At the banquet, five members of the pack graduated as scouts. They were John Johansen, Bobby Bowers, David McNary, Michael O'Brien and Michael Pederson. Badges and stars were distributed to other members of the pack. Seventy-five were present for the turkey dinner. Dr. Gage Lloyd extended the welcome to the Cubs, their parents and friends.

Raymond L. Tollett spoke on the history of scouting.

Wrong-Way Bird Trapped In Box

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "Honest!" the bus driver said. "There's a little, tiny bird in the fare box." This was a new one on dispatcher Chris Thorsen. He told driver Henry E. Gresham to return to the Seattle Transit System car barn. Gresham did.

Sure enough, there was a bird in there, a sparrow. How it got into the fare box, nobody knew.

A mechanic opened the box, and the feathered freeloader flitted away.

Said Gresham: "It's just as well. He was going south. I was going north."

TRADE WINDS

Winter Slowness
May Melt Soon

Some lines of business are going quite well, while others are in the doldrums. Building has slowed almost to a standstill, with few new buildings being started. Contractors report they are not doing much, but expect things to pick up within the next few weeks. They say January is usually a slow month due to cold weather and other factors. One merchant who is putting in a new store says money is harder to find and interest rates are keeping some businesses from expanding. Unless a man knows he can make good, he hesitates to borrow the money necessary to launch a new enterprise.

Unemployment

The unemployment picture is not bright, but it has been this way before. The Texas Employment Commission took 45 new applications for jobs this week, but it also found jobs for 52 people. These were all in non-agricultural fields, according to Leon Kinney, manager of the local office. "The placements were up a bit," he said, "but we still have that big backlog of applicants, and it has not come down any." Included in this list are many skilled tradesmen, particularly in the building field. Carpenters seem worst hit of all, as 30 of them are seeking work. Also seven skilled painters and several not so skilled are among the unemployed, as are three or four bricklayers. Others needing work are boiler makers, bulldozer operators, and oil field workers. Kinney says the easiest jobs to find are perhaps those requiring first rate secretaries. Some typists are out of work, but a good secretary seldom has trouble finding a job. One barometer of employment is the number of people filing for unemployment insurance. This last week there were 210 continuing claims, or people who have been out of work for some time and must file each week. But in addition to these, there were 45 initial claims, which means people applying for the first time, or at least for the first time in a long while. Kinney says January is usually slow, and that the job placements start rising in the spring. There is

Bit Off Thumb,
Woman Must Pay

TYLER (AP) — Judge Otis Dunagan has ordered Mrs. Lillie Redd, 54, to pay $40 a month damages to a Liquor Control Board agent whose thumb she bit off during a liquor raid on her house a year ago. The victim of her teeth was Ralph Poland of Tyler. The Negro woman was charged with maiming a felony. Dunagan this week sentenced her to three years in prison, but suspended sentence provided she pays Poland $500 damages at the $40 a month rate.

War Criminals
Granted Parole

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Of the 13,500 Danes sentenced for treason and war crimes after the German occupation ended in 1945, only one — "Prisoner X" is still in prison. He may be paroled in a few months after serving since 1953 for a wartime killing. He hid out for eight years.

DEAR ABBY

...ON RIGHT FOOT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a widower and we are planning the wedding. This is my first marriage. My fiancé wants to invite his deceased wife's mother to our wedding. He says she'll feel hurt if she's not invited. Frankly, I don't want her there. I'm afraid she'll start crying and turn a happy occasion into a sad one. Her daughter has been dead over two years and left two little children. If I am wrong, Abby, please tell me. BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR BRIDE-TO-BE: You are wrong. Your fiancé's mother-in-law will always be "Grandma" to his first two children. You can't expect him to shut her out of his life. If you refuse to invite her, you'll be starting down the aisle on the wrong foot.

DEAR ABBY: I am just plain sick of rassing around in a car after a date. I really can't figure out what I do that makes boys think I am that kind of girl. My girl friends say the same thing happens to them. How do girls get boys to respect them?

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Some boys will try to break down the resistance of girls who have the best reputations. (It's some sort of a challenge.) Girls gain the respect of boys by making it plain that they will not be talked into (or out of) anything.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do in my case? I pick up three people on my way to work five days a week, nine and a half months of the year. All I ever get is "Thanks." They would each have to pay a dollar if they took

Stanton Pack
Has Banquet

STANTON (SC)—Pack No. 28, sponsored by Stanton Rotary Club, held its annual Blue and Gold banquet Friday night at the Stanton Elementary School Cafeteria. About 150 attended, including Cubs and their families.

Each den was responsible for the decorations on their table.

Wolf — David Avery, James Doyle, Dannie Murley, Dweight Martin, Gene Hodges, Terry Franklin, Pete Benson, Glenn Evans, Robert Shain, Neil Hull, Wayne Shipp, Tracy Graham.

Jimmy Webb, Ronnie Dauphin, Bear — Johnny McIntyre, Bob Miller, Ronnie Tucker, James Mashburn, James Hill, Melvin White, Ross Cecil Hay, Steve Hall, Glenn Evans, Neil Hull.

Lion—Johnny Wells, David Avery; and numerous gold and silver arrow points were awarded for additional achievement above that required in each rank. The remainder of the evening was spent in conducting the Pine Derby races.

In a Pine Derby, each boy and his dad carved a small racer from a pine board, put wheels on it, painted it and got it ready to race down the 40-foot track.

A-Power Ship

LONDON (AP) — Britain has invited bids for construction of the propulsion unit of the first British atomic-powered ship, a freighter. Transport Minister Ernest Marples said it may be completed by 1964.

GARDEN TALK

Blossom Stage Critical
For Damage Of Fruits

Since last week I have heard a lot of garden questions. Joe Conoly asks if the late freezes will kill peach tree buds before they become blooms. The answer is that usually a tree has to bloom out into flowers before a freeze will kill the fruit. Even though the buds are swelling, they usually can stand rather low temperatures before any damage is done, but after they become flowers, any freeze is likely to ruin the fruit crop.

Allen Blake asked if you can hold rose bushes before planting them by putting the roots in a bucket of water. Of course you can hold most plants by wetting the roots until you are able to plant them, but when they are immersed in water all oxygen is cut off, also the danger of fermentation is a threat to the plants. So, for a short time they can be held in water, but don't let them stay there too long. Try dirt or peat moss.

ting them in water in the case of the oleander, but not many plants will tolerate this treatment. What is going to bloom next? Well, probably it will be flowering quince, fruit trees, hyacinth, tulips, red buds, jonquils, wisteria, and our native buck-eye. This native plant grows along Big Spring Creek, and the tops of Scenic Drive and South Mountain. It blooms a beautiful pink but lasts only a few days. I have two little ones growing in my own yard. It is a possible native ornamental for limestone places in your yard. Bulbs to plant now are onions for the vegetable garden, and gladioli for flowers, although it is still a bit early for gladioli. Still time to plant fruit trees and shrubs, too. Write me your garden questions, in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Cable Takes Lives Of Two Railroad Men

ABERNATHY, Tex. (AP)—One end of a broken cable whipped through the air and killed two railroad officials Saturday as they watched workmen clear wrecked cars of a derailed freight train.

The accident happened nearly 12 hours after 37 cars and a Diesel unit of the Santa Fe train smashed together in a jumbled heap early Saturday morning.

Thomas J. Anderson, 57, assistant general manager for the Santa Fe at Amarillo, died almost instantly. Fred Ernest Andrick, 52, general car foreman for the railroad at Amarillo, died a short time later at a hospital in Lubbock, 18 miles south of here.

Workmen using a truck which was pulling an empty tank car from atop the heap, a railroad spokesman said, when the car toppled and snapped a telephone cable, which lashed out and hit both men some distance from the wreckage.

There were no injuries to workmen at the scene, nor in the early morning train wreck 6 miles north of Amarillo.

Three of the derailed cars were empty butane tanks. Fire breaking out in these cars twice created danger of an explosion. Abernathy firemen put out the flames.

The smashed cars, part of a 97-car train, halted rail traffic between Lubbock and Amarillo. A Santa Fe official said workmen expected to complete a temporary bypass by midnight. There was no estimate of damage.

Telephone lines broke in the second accident, disrupting communications for several hours.

Railroad investigators said they had not determined the cause of the derailment.

"The first thing I knew, cars were bouncing around all over the place," said conductor C. J. Martin of Slaton, Tex.

Other wrecked cars contained trucks, farm implements, food, cotton and cottonseed meal.

Anderson had been stationed in Amarillo as assistant general manager of the Santa Fe since 1956. He started working for the railroad in 1918 as an apprentice telegrapher.

Andrick, a Santa Fe employe since 1928, had been general car foreman in Amarillo since 1954.

NBC 'Sorry It Happened' But Paar Still Holds Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Paar, who quit his television show in a huff, disclosed Saturday night that NBC has written him a letter saying it is sorry it happened.

Paar's agent called it an apology.

"Apology is a strong word," Paar replied.

But the comedian, who walked off his show last Thursday night after the National Broadcasting Co. censored out a five-minute anecdote Wednesday about a water closet, said he does not want to return to "The Jack Paar Show."

MONEY NOT ISSUE

He also denied reports he wanted more money. He did say, however, he would like to work fewer hours.

Paar appeared at a hastily called news conference in a vacant studio in the NBC building. With him was his agent, Mary Kummer.

Paar said that if NBC would offer him his release now he would accept it.

But he said he wanted to continue in television because "there's nothing else I can do."

Summing up at the close of the conference, he said: "Everything is up in the air. There is nothing that I want to do (on television). I have no terms, I don't want to do the 'Tonight Show.'"

Although NBC has called Paar's late-night guest program "The Jack Paar Show," Paar has continued to call it the "Tonight Show," its name when Steve Allen had it several years ago.

Paar kept stressing throughout the interview that money was not an issue. He said he earns between $100,000 and $200,000 a year, and denied with some heat reports that his income ran to half a million.

Paar said NBC President Robert Kintner had offered to visit him Friday, but the comedian turned him down because his rambling home in suburban Bronxville was crowded with reporters and "I don't want to talk to Mr. Kintner in front of everyone else."

Paar said the letter from NBC was delivered to his home Friday night.

Paar did not say who signed it, but he referred frequently to Kintner. He also mentioned NBC Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff, and discussing the letter several times used the word "they."

NBC SILENT

Neither Kintner, Sarnoff nor any other NBC official was available to comment on exactly what the letter contained.

But the man who cut the joke out of the program said Saturday he would do it again. Ernest Lee Shuback Jr., head of the network's newly established Department of Standards and Practices, said his decision was based solely on the question of good taste.

Paar said he and his wife, Miriam, will leave next week on a short vacation. Earlier he said he planned to go to Europe, but found he couldn't get a certificate of passage. There also is the problem of school for his 10-year-old daughter Randy.

Paar said he probably would meet with Kintner and Sarnoff on his return.

NBC already has announced the show will resume Monday, continuing under Paar's name with Hugh Downs, Paar's announcer, as MC. Downs, who has filled in for Paar on vacation occasionally, took over when the star took his walk Thursday night. Friday's show, as usual, was a repeat of an earlier program.

LONG TIME RESIDENT

"I have been a resident of Howard County since 1928 except for two brief periods of less than one year. I attended and was graduated from Big Spring High School. I was married to Richard C. LeFevre, who attended Forsan and Big Spring schools. Since his death in 1945, it has been my responsibility to provide and care for our three sons—Leroy, who is now a senior chemical engineering student at Texas A&M College, and Jay and Zay, who are seniors in the high school here.

"The responsibility of providing for a family has, I feel, further prepared me for the responsible job as tax assessor and collector. For I have learned some lessons about management.

"I hope to get to work with you and for you as your tax assessor and collector. I assure that the office will be operated in a prompt, courteous and efficient manner, and that ways will be provided in peak periods for those who work or otherwise are hindered in reaching the office, to take care of their business.

RESIGNS TO RUN

"It was necessary for me to resign my job prior to placing my name as a candidate because I was federally employed. I could not announce earlier because of the deadline for filing.

"Since I am not employed now, I hope to see each of you, many of you for the first time, prior to the first primary on May 7. I am bound to miss contacting some of you personally, but I will sincerely appreciate your consideration, and your votes—for I must have them to win. I am sincerely grateful to the many, many friends who have already encouraged me in this very important step, and those who will consider my candidacy."

Read To Address Hi-Y Club Monday

David Read, will be speaker for the Monday meeting of the Capri Hi-Y Club in the YMCA building. Read, who once was in the program, now is a candidate for the Legislature.

He is to speak on the Youth in Government program which will be held in Austin Feb. 18-21. Three members of the club will attend this conference. They are Mike Worley, Larry Moore, and Jimmy Rutledge.

George Oldham is sponsor of the club.

Texas Wood Will Warm Anderson

DALLAS (AP)—Secretary of Treasury Robert Anderson is going to get his wish for a smell of some Texas smoke.

R. D. McCain, of Dallas, on a recent visit to Anderson's Washington office, commented on "some pitiful Yankee wood" burning in the fireplace.

Anderson replied that it was all he could get but surely would like some that smelled like Texas.

McCain has arranged an air shipment of Texas-grown hickory logs for Anderson, who hails from Vernon, Tex.

Rites Held For Lubbock Nurse

Last rites were held in San Antonio where the body of Esther Allin Cochran, 64, was taken for cremation at the Mission Burial Park.

Miss Cochran, a registered nurse, died in a hospital here on Monday after a short illness.

She had been making her home at 215 David in Lubbock.

She was born Feb. 14, 1895, in Indiana. Survivors include two brothers, W. Cochran, Rockport, and Paul Cochran, Bedford, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Harold Schryer, Wayne, Mich.

Nine Minor Mishaps Occur In City During Weekend

Nine minor accidents were reported in the city Friday and Saturday, one of them involving a police car.

The traffic division car, driven by Sgt. Stanley Bogard, was involved in a mishap at 11th and Birdwell with a car driven by Jessie Crawford, 905 E. 13th. One door handle was knocked off the patrol car.

Daniel Is Endorsed By AFL-CIO Leaders

MRS. ZIRAH LEFEVRE Mrs. LeFevre Seeks Assessor-Collector Post

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas State AFL-CIO leaders Saturday endorsed Gov. Price Daniel's bid for a third term.

The labor organization's committee on political education also threw its support behind Houston attorney Don Yarbrough in his race to unseat Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in his bid for a third term.

The endorsements were the first since the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations merged in 1957.

In other races, the COPE voted to back State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert in his bid for re-election, Associate Justice Robert W. Calvert in his race for chief justice of the State Supreme Court and Judge Lloyd W. Davison for re-election to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The committee did not make an endorsement in the race between Rep. Jerry Sadler and incumbent Bill Allcorn for land commissioner.

3-DAY MEETING

A statement issued at the end of a three-day meeting of COPE and State Executive Board members said the endorsement went to Daniel because "labor should lend its support to the one who has shown some desire to resist the big-money corporate lobby that has so long dominated our state affairs; in this case the incumbent, Price Daniel."

Daniel faces former Rep. Jack Cox of Breckenridge in the race for the Democratic nomination.

Cox, former executive secretary of the conservative Freedom in Action movement and executive secretary of the Texas Commission on Higher Education, was described in the statement as "a former legislator who had a consistent record of voting against the best interest of the people of Texas."

Since leaving the Legislature, the statement said, Cox has "identified himself as being in the service of the most reactionary and pro sales tax political forces in Texas."

The endorsement of Daniel was a qualified one. The statement said the governor "inactive on many of the problems facing our state." It said he "has gained popularity through his resolute resistance to a general sales tax and his refusal to do all the bidding in the corporate lobby."

YARBROUGH ENDORSED

Yarbrough, 34-year-old corporation lawyer who declines to ally with either liberal or conservative camps, also was endorsed for his opposition to a general sales tax.

"We are pleased that an aggressive candidate has stepped forward to challenge the in-fact control Ben Ramsey has held over the Texas Senate for 10 years," the endorsement said.

It said "the only hope the people have of restoring democratic majority rule of the Senate is by breaking the control corporation lobbyists have over legislation through the incumbent's long tenure."

The endorsement noted that it backed House Speaker Waggoner Carr, Wilson's opponent "with money and resources" when Carr sought re-election as speaker two years ago.

"Nevertheless," it continued, "in the race where legal and law enforcement skills are the prime qualification, we believe that Will Wilson merits the support of all Texans in his bid for re-election as attorney general."

There was no reference to Austin attorney Bob Looney, the third man in the race.

Comptroller Calvert, Justice Calvert and Judge Davison were endorsed without comment.

The comptroller is opposed by Rep. V. L. (Bo) Ramsey of Beckville.

Judge Robert G. Hughes of the Third Court of Civil Appeals here is contesting with Justice Calvert for the top job in the Supreme Court.

The Criminal Appeals race is a three-way affair between Davison, Temple attorney Jim Bowler and Bryan Judge W. T. McDonald.

The name of Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) was not mentioned. Johnson is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the Senate and the COPE report noted national AFL-CIO policy says "organizations within the AFL-CIO should take no position regarding the candidacies for president and vice president."

Johnson is generally regarded as an unannounced candidate for president.

Public relations director John McCully said Yarbrough, all three candidates for attorney general, both candidates for land commissioner, both men in the comptroller's race, both candidates for chief justice and Davison and Bowler in the Criminal Appeals campaign appeared before the committee.

Daniel sent a message and McDonald and Cox accepted, then reported they were forced to cancel plans to appear, McCully said.

The COPE report said its members "insist upon the re-election of Mrs. R. D. Randolph as national Democratic committeewoman because of her devotion to the party and her untiring efforts in its behalf."

5 POINTS STRESSED

The group also called for:

1. A party registration law "limiting primaries to those who declare their party affiliations";
2. That both parties be required to hold primaries "financed by the state, with moderate candidate filing fees";
3. That a pledge of party loyalty be required of all delegates and officials of both parties;
4. That both parties "be kept truly representative by honoring the district caucus selections for committee members and delegates";
5. That conventions "not be controlled and manipulated by unseating duly elected county delegations."

Prefacing the remarks on national policy regarding endorsements of presidential candidates was a paragraph noting:

"The Democratic party is indeed fortunate to have many able, qualified men from whom to choose its nominees. Within the United States Senate alone, there are many great men, all of whom are qualified to hold the nation's highest office. Should the party choose any one of these, all Democrats could well be proud and the nation could be well served."

Grand Jury Pondering Fate Of 7 Dynamiters

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The case of seven persons accused of a part in the bombing of 10 trucks that hauled for Portland's two struck daily newspapers goes before a grand jury today.

There was no advance word on whether any of the accused would be called as witnesses, but several surprise witnesses were expected.

Four men admitted the Jan. 31 bombings that damaged six trucks in nearby Oregon City and four in Portland.

Gerald Couzens, 20, one of the four, said Levi S. McDonald, 52, had paid them off. McDonald, a member of the negotiating committee of the striking Stereotypers Union, insisted he is innocent.

The others arrested Thursday night are three Snyder brothers—Charles and Eddie, both 23, and William, 19—and the wives of Charles and Eddie.

McDonald was charged with damaging property by explosion and held in lieu of $40,000 bail on the Portland charge and an additional $50,000 bail on the Oregon City charge for a total of $90,000.

The three Snyder brothers and Couzens face a similar charge. The bail for each was $10,000 in Portland and $10,000 in Oregon City, total of $20,000.

The wives of the men were not charged but were held as material witnesses.

Dynamite Cache

Charles Snyder, a case of dynamite on his shoulder, shows officers in Portland, Ore., where explosives were hidden which were used in blasting 10 trucks used to haul Portland newspapers. A strike brought about the violence. Snyder's wife, Ruth Alys, looks on as her husband revealed the hiding place for the explosives.

Chessman Loses Appeal Before Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman lost another appeal Saturday but declared he still has legal resources he hopes will save him from execution, scheduled for Friday.

A stay of execution was denied by Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black in Washington. He said he found no substantial federal question raised by the condemned man's attorneys.

Chessman told a news conference at San Quentin Prison that he also expected an adverse decision from a plea before the U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

However, Chief Judge Richard H. Chambers of the appeals court Saturday referred the matter to a three-judge panel of his court.

It was presumed Judges Clifton Mathews, Gilbert H. Jertberg and Charles M. Merrill would study the Chessman appeal Monday.

George T. Davis, Chessman's attorney, told newsmen more direct appeals would be made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Chessman, 38, was convicted in 1948 at Los Angeles of kidnap, attempted rape and sex perversion acts against two women.

Davis told newsmen, "This denial by Justice Black is not the action of the Supreme Court of the United States. But it is the action of a justice of that court acting in his capacity as a circuit judge."

Davis said the action before Judge Chambers challenged a federal rule, on the books for 32 years as unconstitutional.

He said the rule required a person to obtain a certificate of probable cause from some single judge before an appeals court can agree to consider an appeal.

This appeal by Davis is the one referred by Judge Chambers to the three other judges.

Davis said another legal tactic planned was a petition for certiorari and mandamus to the U.S. Supreme Court "requiring the circuit court to grant a hearing and issue a stay of execution."

Snow Closes Out Houston Bridges

HOUSTON (AP)—Freeway overpasses remained closed Saturday as a bright sun began melting the Houston area's heaviest snow in 20 years.

Most traffic clearance was moving smoothly by mid-morning except where thin coats of ice still remained on bridges. Nearly three inches of snow and ice remained on the freeway overpasses.

The temperature dropped to 29 degrees during the night.

HARRY W. CLARK

New Industrial Director For T&P; M-Caul Retiring

DALLAS — Harry W. Clark, widely known Dallas industrial executive, has been appointed director of industrial development of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, effective May 1, succeeding J. A. McCaul, who is retiring after more than 40 years with the T&P, it was announced by president J. T. Suggs. Clark joins the company February 15, and will serve as assistant to McCaul until his retirement May 1.

Clark, a native of Mississippi, is a graduate of Kentucky's Bowling Green College of Commerce and holds a graduate certificate from the National Institute for Commercial and Trade Organization Executives, Northwestern University. From his graduation in 1938, he returned to Mississippi and went directly into chamber of commerce work. He was Chamber of Commerce manager in several Mississippi communities prior to entering the Army in 1941. From 1946 until 1951, Clark was new industries representative of the Mississippi Power Company and was active in Junior Chamber of Commerce work, serving as state president and as national vice president. In 1950, he was honored as "Mississippi's Outstanding Young Man" for his work in industrial development and in civic affairs. The following year, he was named executive director of the North Mississippi Industrial Development Assn., serving a 28-county area. He moved to Texas early in 1958 and in September of that year joined Texas Power & Light Company where he

United Fund Membership Meet Friday

Annual membership meeting of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County will be held Friday evening.

The session will be in the Chamber of Commerce offices, starting at 7:30.

Items before the meeting include election of trustees to serve in 1960, and Raymond River, president, is urging a representative attendance. Any person who is a contributor in the annual United Fund campaign is a member of the organization.

Trustees direct details of the UF, and a third of the membership of this board is elected each year. A nominating committee will be prepared to submit names for election.

The board of trustees, in turn, will elect officers to serve this year. K. D. Hestes has been vice president, and Horace Garrett was the UF's campaign chairman in 1959.

Agri-Business Speakers For Feb. 23 Are Announced

Five speakers will address the annual Agri-Business conference in Big Spring Feb. 23 on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. the program will continue through the afternoon. It is sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the Texas and Pacific Railway Co., the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and State and Federal agricultural agencies. Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech, will preside over the meeting. This year's meeting is titled "Better Agriculture for West Texas Tomorrow," with emphasis on the effect of government programs on Agri-Business.

DR. HENRY LeBLANC

John G. McHaney, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M, will discuss government programs affecting the livestock industry and subsidies.

Earl Sargent, farm director of KWFT in Wichita Falls, will point out the importance of public relations to agriculture. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will provide the luncheon, after which Joe Bell, editor of the Colorado City Record, will talk on the importance of agriculture to the economy of this area.

Henry LeBlanc, chief of the farm placement division of the Texas Employment Commission, will look into the future of farm labor. Next, O. "Dooley" Dawson, vice president of the Bank of the Southwest at Houston, will discuss the future of agri-business in West Texas.

Cliff Fisher, president of the local Chamber, will welcome the assembly to Big Spring, following initial introductions.

The meeting will close following a panel discussion moderated by Dr. Thomas.

REMNANTS OF LAST WEEK'S SNOWFALL? NO, GUESS AGAIN

Cotton burrs spread over field to protect and maintain mulch

Burrs Used As Residue For Organic Matter Restoration

Crop residues are vital to the life of soil, according to the Soil Conservation Service technicians, and residue is one of the best ways to maintain or restore it.

Bigony is spreading five tons of burrs per acre again this year. At the present time the ground is wet at the top under the burrs and will probably remain so until seeding time due to its protective coat of mulch.

Land subjected continuously to cotton or other crops which provide little residue tend to deplete the organic content of the soil. Fertility is reduced and erosion susceptibility is stepped up.

Rotation of crops is one method of returning residue to the soil. Crops which produce large amounts of residue are usually rotated with crops which produce little or no residue in order to sustain and increase the productivity of the soil.

Another method of maintaining high soil production is the spreading of cotton burrs on the land.

On his farm at Fairview, D. F. Bigony did this soil-improving practice in 1959 and found it to be very beneficial in controlling wind erosion.

Checks on use of these burrs by the Spur Experiment Station showed that the average runoff of rainfall in acre inches was 2.66 where no burrs were used. But when two tons of cotton burrs were left on the surface the runoff was cut to .54.

It must be realized however, that building soil fertility is a slow process, but one which will pay great dividends through soil production in future years.

W.R. Grace Officials Here For Look At Cosden Plant

Officials of W. R. Grace & Co. got a good look at Cosden Petroleum Corporation and its properties here last week.

It was their first closeup after Grace had acquired 51 per cent of Cosden's common stock recently, and their report doubtless will figure in the closer affiliation of Cosden with the versatile and expanding Grace organization.

Among those here were Alexander T. Daignault, executive vice president of Grace; W. B. McCluskey, vice president; F. R. Feuss, comptroller; K. A. Lawder, treasurer; and Phillip Walsh, public relations.

The monthly directors meeting for Cosden comes up Wednesday in New York, and indications are that two men, nominated by Grace, will be added to the board.

Most people are familiar with the Grace Steamship Lines, for this association has been stamped in the nation's consciousness for more than 100 years. It was in 1854 in the picturesque Pacific coast port of Callao, Peru, that William R. Grace, a 22-year-old Irish immigrant became a partner in a British ship chandlery provisioning cargo ships loading guano, a natural fertilizer. For a century W. R. Grace & Co. flourished as a shipping link between South America and the United States.

Today, however, the concern operates in 30 countries and has an amazing variety of interests. Much of its growth and versatility has resulted within the past decade when J. Peter Grace, the third generation has altered the course and has sailed right into the middle of chemicals.

Grace still operates its ship-line, which although prosperous enough, now accounts for only 14 per cent of the company's assets. Ten years ago it accounted for 56 per cent.

Grace also has the largest outdoor advertising firm in the West, a concern which is the second largest of its kind in the country.

Starting with purchase of Davison Chemical Company in 1951, Grace has steadily developed a great chemical line-up. The two merged in 1954 but Davison continued as the largest unit in a chemical empire that today includes:

Grace Chemical (ammonia and urea for fertilizer and industrial chemicals); Dewey & Almy Chemical Co. (container sealants, paint pigments, battery separators, paint packaging); Cryovac Co. (flexible transparent film for food packaging); Dewey & Almy Overseas (sealing compounds and Cryovac in Europe and South America); Polymer Chemicals Co. (low-pressure, high-density polyethylene); Grade Chemical Research & Development Co. (independent research branch); and of course Davison (petroleum catalysts, silica gels, superphosphates, mixes, fertilizers and thorium for the AEC).

Grace has been getting even deeper into South America where population is increasing at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent a year as compared with 1 1/2 per cent in the U. S.

At Paramonga, Grace grows cane for sugar and uses the by-products for molasses (and alcohol) and paper pulp for bags and boxes. The concern also makes confections. Its versatility is increasing, including tin mines.

Grace also has extensive holdings in petroleum, including newly discovered reserves in Libya. Grace also is a financial institution of no mean proportions, for Grace National Bank in New York City has deposits of more than $150,000,000. Grace also is a partner in Panagra, an over-seas airline that links the U. S. and South America.

D&D PERSONALITY

Mrs. Smith Is Charter Member

Mrs. Marguerite Smith, a 19 year employe of Cosden Petroleum Corp., is a charter member of the Desk and Derrick Club and the organization's choice as member of the month.

MRS. MARGUERITE SMITH

She attended the first official meeting of the Desk and Derrick club on May 3, 1954. She was first employed at Cosden on Dec. 15, 1941 and has held several positions, beginning in the refinery handling government billing. She moved to the bulk plant in 1944, preparing reports and handling time cards.

In 1948, she was transferred to the sales accounting department and is still in that phase of the operation.

She entered the world of petroleum in Kansas City, Mo., for the Taxman Refining Co. When the firm decided to move to Chicago, she left for Duncan, Okla., and was employed by the Rock Island Refining Co. until 1937.

She has held a large number of positions in the Desk and Derrick Club, presently being chairman of the hostess committee.

On the private side of the ledger, she has a dog, called Little Tib, and 13 or 14 cats. She is also active in the First Presbyterian Church.

Garza County Gains Location, Two New Wells

A new project in the P.H.D. (Glorieta) field and completions in the Justiceburg (Glorieta) and Happy (Ellenberg) pools were on the Garza County log at week's end.

The new project will be dug by the William Ridley Wheeler Estate No. 1 C. E. Spence about five miles southeast of Southland. Slotted for 4,500 feet in the P.H.D. field, the location is 330 from north and 330 from east lines of section 1253 T11R survey.

The Justiceburg well is Smith and Bruger and Joe A. Humphrey No. 2 W. V. Roy, located 330 from south and east lines of section 345-H&GN survey.

Elevation is 2,338 feet, the total depth is 2,620 feet, the top of the pay zone is 2,495 feet and the 4 1/2 inch casing goes to 2,605 feet.

Perforations are between 2,495-556 feet. The initial potential is 79.23 barrels of 40.1 gravity oil and 11 per cent water. The gas oil ratio is 100-1.

In the Happy field, Shell Oil Co. finished the No. 3-CD Slaughter for an initial flowing potential of 353 barrels of 40.2 gravity oil with 30 per cent water. The gas oil ratio is 51-1 and the tubing pressure is 200-380 pounds.

The casing pressure is 200 pounds and operator acidized with 250 gallons. The elevation is 2,432 feet, the total depth is 8,305 feet, the top of the pay zone is 8,301 feet and the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 8,292 feet.

Perforations are between 8,292-305 feet. The flow is through a 12 1/4 inch choke. Wellsite is 1,960 from north and west lines of section 43-2-T&NO survey.

Rig Count Hits Six Week Peak

Employment for rotary drilling rigs took a jump forward last week and found the highest peak since Jan. 2.

The Reed Roller Bit Co. weekly survey listed 292 working operations Friday, just a handful less than the high point this year of 305. Last week, only 253 rigs were in the ground, the low mark of recent years.

The increase in rotary activity was reflected in the immediate eight county area where the total jumped from 22 last week to 25 this week. Garza County had the biggest jump, from five to 10. Sterling is the only county having no rotary operations making hole.

Lea County, N. M., moved back to hold the lead in the Permian Basin with 38 Andrews County, which was on top last week, slipped to 34.

The complete count, with previous totals given in parentheses, includes:

Andrews 34 (38), Bailey 1 (0), BORDEN 5 (5), Cochran 4 (1), Chaves 3 (4), Crane 6 (6), Crockett 3 (3), Crosby 1 (1), DAWSON 3 (2), Dickens 1 (1);

Ector 19 (24), Eddy 10 (13), Fisher 2 (2), Gaines 5 (11), GARZA 10 (5), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), Hockley 4 (3), HOWARD 4 (6), Irian 0 (0), Kent 1 (1), Lamb 1 (1); Lea 38 (36), Lubbock 3 (3), Loving 3 (2), Lynn 3 (2), MARTIN 1 (2), MITCHELL 1 (1), Midland 9 (11), Nolan 2 (2), Pecos 8 (9), Reagan 4 (3), Roosevelt 5 (6); Reeves 0 (1), Runnels 3 (3), Scurry 3 (4), Schleicher 1 (1), Sterling 1 (1), Tom Green 1 (1);

Sinclair Splits Odessa District

MIDLAND—Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. is dividing its Odessa production district into two districts to increase efficiency by locating district offices closer to production operations in West Texas, R. L. Eason, vice president and Midland division manager, has announced.

I. W. (Ike) Vail has been named sales manager of the automation division of Samuel Jackson Manufacturing Corp. in Odessa. He formerly was district sales representative for Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co., also in Odessa.

M. L. Talbert has been promoted to vice president of engineering of the Security engineering division, one of the Dresser industries. He was formerly chief engineer for Security.

E. M. Gorence has been promoted by Phillips Petroleum Co. from the land and geological department to assistant division landman in Midland.

J. P. Jones, division production superintendent for Standard Oil of Texas in Midland, has been named to direct the public information and service program in 19 counties for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn.

Joe Mefford, assistant division production superintendent with the Tulsa division of Sinclair Oil and Gas Co., has been promoted to division production superintendent of the Midland division.

Stekoll Petroleum Corp. staff changes have been announced in Dallas. George A. McCulley, was named secretary, and Ronald M. Hawkins promoted to vice president and treasurer. The new executives are B. Frank Harrison, vice president finance, and Herbert B. Pier, controller.

Area Gains 3 New Sites

New locations were spotted in three area counties Saturday, all in established fields.

Sawnee Robertson No. 1 Cooper is a Howard Glasscock field location about eight miles east of Forsan in Howard County. On 70 acres and slated for 3,300 feet, it is 330 from north and 2,310 from east lines of section 94-29-W&NW survey.

In Sterling County, John J. Eisner No. 2-F H. M. Knight is a Jamesan (Strawn) field location about 13 miles northeast of Sterling City. On 120 acres, it is slated for 7,200 feet. Drillsite will be 1,890 from south and 1,969 from east lines of section 116-2-H&TC survey.

The Blue Danube Oil Co. No. 4-A W. L. Foster is an Iatan East Howard field location in Mitchell County. About seven miles west of Westbrook, it is on 160 acres and slated for 3,200 feet. Drillsite is 1,650 from north and 2,310 from east lines of section 3-29-S, T&P survey.

Natural Gas Tax Faces Court Test

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' new natural gas tax faces its first of a long series of court tests here Monday.

If the tax is declared unconstitutional, the state's financial structure will continue to run a deficit at least until the end of the present biennium, Aug. 31, 1961.

Although the tax will bring in only about 15 million dollars for the current two-year period, Gov. Price Daniel and his supporters in the Legislature hope to increase the tax rate in the future if it is held valid.

Six of the more than 80 court suits challenging the tax will be lumped together for consideration in Judge Jack Roberts' 126th District Court.

The attorney general's office and Dean Moorhead, who represents the six companies, agreed Saturday that oral arguments probably will not begin until about April 1.

The tax, small now in total revenue compared to the new 8-cent cigarette tax, stirred up a greater fight in the Legislature than any other single issue. The Legislature fought over taxes and spending through a regular session and three special sessions before final agreement was reached. The gas tax was probably the key issue.

The tax, called a severance beneficiary tax, is based on a rate of 1 1/2 per cent of market value per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. The tax is collected from the person who uses or benefits from the production of dedicated natural gas.

Borden Project Completes Dually In Fluvanna Pool

A dual completion in Borden County and a Sharon Ridge final in Mitchell County were reported Saturday morning.

Whitehall Oil Co. completed the No. 5-580 C. D. Jones in the Fluvanna field in both pay sections, Ellenburger and Strawn. This project is 660 from south and 1,990 from east lines of section 590-97-H&TC survey.

Operator made an initial pumping potential of 138 barrels of oil with 1 per cent water in the Ellenburger from the open hole section between 8,366-73 feet.

The elevation is 2,738 feet, the total depth is 8,373 feet, the top of the pay zone is 8,366 feet, the top of the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 8,383 feet.

Sinclair Finds Deep Discovery

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. has chalked up a deep discovery and a zone confirmation in the Andrews fields of Andrews County, which produces from shallower Permian and Pennsylvanian zones.

Gravity of the production is 41.4 degrees and operator acidized with 200 gallons.

The Strawn potential was 133.17 barrels of oil with no water. Gravity was 40.7 degrees and the gas oil ratio is 256-1.

The elevation is 2,738 feet, the total depth is 8,373 feet, the top of the pay zone is 8,200 feet and the 5 1/2 inch casing goes to 8,383 feet. Perforations are between 8,200-16 feet. Operator fraced with 20,000 gallons and 5,000 pounds.

Willard Glasdon and Odstrill Brothers No. 2-B Mills-Patton is a Sharon Ridge (San Andrews, 1,700) field completion in Mitchell County. Operator reported an initial pumping potential of 22 barrels of oil with 10 per cent water.

The total depth is 1,657 feet, the top of the pay zone is 1,592 feet, and the 4 1/2 inch casing goes to 1,618 feet. Drillsite is 660 from south and 330 from west lines of section 195-3-H&GN survey.

Wildcatters Off To A Good Start

AUSTIN (AP)—Wildcatters are off to a better start this year than in 1959, the Railroad Commission said Saturday. They brought in seven oil and one gas well in unproven territory this week to bring the year totals to 40 and 14.

A year ago, 38 oil and 8 gas wells had been accounted for by wildcatters.

The 206 oil and 22 gas well completions brought the year total to 1,165 and 188. A year ago drillers had completed 1,343 oil and 222 gas wells.

Some 163 wells were plugged during the week, including 102 dry holes. For the year, 1,152 wells have been plugged, compared to 1,306.

The average daily allowable increased 6,094 barrels to 3,021,066.

Two Explorers Swabbing; Five Others Making Hole

Two area wildcats were swabbing perforations Saturday morning and most other explorers were reported making hole.

Great Western No. 1 Allen, Martin County prospector, is swabbing the lower Spraberry sand. Operator set a plug at 11,550 feet to seal off the water-laden Fusselman and perforated the Spraberry section between 8,260-300 feet.

Operator will dual complete this hole with the Spraberry lime,

National Count Reveals New Drop

The national rig count dipped again during the week, falling to only 1,678. The previous tally had 1,710 rigs making hole.

Texas leads the nation with 597 working rigs, also a drop below the previous survey of 611. West Central Texas, although leading all other sections, was down for the week with 205.

Canadian prospects held steady with 230 working operations. The Hughes Tool Co. makes the weekly count.

Indian Visit By Khrushchev Is Nearing End

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev flies to east central India Sunday at the end of a three-day visit to New Delhi that so far apparently has been unfruitful. Showing a little more bounce than he had in his first two days, the Premier toured a 30,670-acre, Soviet-equipped farm at Suratgarh, 200 miles northwest of New Delhi. He told the farmers they did not know how to harvest mustard.

He spent an hour Saturday visiting an exhibit of mystic impressionistic paintings by Svetoslav Roerich, whose parents fled the Soviet revolution 40 years ago. Khrushchev talked animatedly with Roerich and praised his work although he himself is an advocate of "Socialist realism."

But throughout most of his visit Khrushchev has lacked the sparkle and bounce he often has shown. He has cracked few jokes and refrained from the flamboyant antics that so often mark his tours.

Khrushchev's manner led some observers to speculate that he is disappointed by the turnout of the crowds, which were little more than a fraction of those that applauded President Eisenhower last December.

Others theorized that Khrushchev is depressed by the deadlock between India and Red China over 50,000 disputed square miles on their frontiers. Many Indians have hoped Khrushchev might find a way out of the bitter quarrel.

The Premier never once mentioned Red China publicly, although no one doubts he and Nehru discussed the border issue at length. Some Indians have predicted that Khrushchev at least would persuade Nehru to meet with Premier Chou En-lai of Red China. But there has been nothing to indicate the border issue has been changed in any way.

Even as Khrushchev prepared to leave New Delhi, new reports of a Red Chinese military buildup on the Himalayan frontier arrived from usually reliable sources in the border city of Darjeeling. These sources said large detachments of Communist Chinese troops are stationed only 30 miles north of the border of Bhutan and large supplies of arms and ammunition have reached Red Chinese forces in the passes leading to Sikkim. Both these border states lie under India's protection.

Weatherford Candidate For Constable Job

W. R. (Dub) Weatherford has authorized the Big Spring Daily Herald to announce his candidacy for the post of constable, Precinct No. 1, subject to action of the Democratic Primaries of May 7.

Mr. Weatherford, an experienced peace officer, issued the following statement relative to his candidacy:

"In making my announcement, I wish to state I am 46 years old and have been a resident of Howard County for more than 20 years. I am a native of Dawson County where I grew up on the farm of my father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Weatherford. I attended schools in Dawson County.

"I have reared my family here in Howard County. My two sons, both of whom are in the military service — one with the U. S. Army and the other with the U. S. Navy — and my daughter, now living in Midland, attended grade and high schools here. I am an active member of the Airport Baptist Church and my wife and I live at 107 W. 10th.

"This is my first time to ask for a public office. I feel I am well qualified for the job I seek. I have had long tenure as a deputy sheriff both in this and Dawson County. I was one of two deputies, Jake Bruton assigned to the job of doing something about the dope situation in Howard County in 1952 and our efforts resulted in the biggest single dope cleanup in the history of West Texas. If I am elected I can and will do the same job again, and on an even bigger scale. I also think the constable's office could and should work in full cooperation with the other enforcement agencies. I think it should be an office within itself as originally set out by law, and that it should be maintained apart and separate from the sheriff's department.

"I do not intend to be a deputy sheriff and at the same time serve the people in the office they voted me to fill. In staying apart from the sheriff's office, any action I might take would be no reflection on anyone except myself. I would also want to be free to enforce the law as I deemed best for the community.

"I am now employed by Roy Phillips as a truck driver. I worked for several years for Hull & Phillips grocers. I am a working man and I will not have too much time to see the voters but I am going to do my best to see everyone of you. Should I fail to do so, it certainly will not be intentional, and I humbly solicit your vote and influence. Should you see fit to elect me to the office I promise to make you an official servant that you will never regret having selected."

W. R. (DUB) WEATHERFORD

Cupid Fails To Stir Up Lovers On His Big Day

Valentine Day, traditionally dedicated to love and lovers, failed to stir unusual activity in the marriage license market.

Three couples reported to the office of Howard County clerk on Friday to apply for marriage licenses. February, however, has been a brisk month in the department. Sixteen licenses were issued in the first 12 days of the month. Biggest boom generated the first week in the month. Deputies in the office were kept busy issuing licenses most of the week.

Gunn Moved To San Angelo For Safety

Riley Edward Gunn, husky 33-year-old ex-convict, will get to wait in the San Angelo jail pending efforts to meet $15,000 in bail. This figure was fixed Friday after Gunn had been returned from Sand Springs, Okla., to face a charge of murder in the bludgeoning death of Cecil Edward Grady, 29, on a lateral road in western Sterling County on Jan. 15.

"I just wanted to be sure he will be kept safe," said Sheriff W. O. "Bill" Green of Sterling City after he had removed Gunn to San Angelo. "I have only one deputy in my county and the San Angelo jail is a lot more secure than ours."

Gunn was placed in a line of nine prisoners in the Howard County jail on Friday, and Merle Hodnett, Big Spring, employee of Plymouth Oil Co., told officers he thought Gunn (a large man) was the big fellow he had seen near where the body of Grady was found later that same morning. His identification, however, was not positive. Hodnett told officers he had helped a man, wearing blood-stained clothes, start his stalled car.

Ranger John Wood said that Gunn admits he was in the vicinity of where Grady's body was found but that he denies he killed Grady.

The Ranger said that Gunn's old model car, still bearing bloodstains, was located in a salvage yard at Sand Springs, Okla. Gunn said he had traded the car for another when his 1950 Oldsmobile "busted a block." He had no explanation for the bloodstains. Gunn told officers that he served a prison term on a conviction at Corpus Christi. When picked up at the small community a few miles near Tulsa, he offered no resistance and offered to sign extradition papers.

Grady, who had been released from the Texas prison at Huntsville on Jan. 14, was reported to have had $100 on his person at San Angelo that night. Sometime early next morning he was beaten to death, and he had only $11 on his person.

Dunn, who was sought after the slaying, vanished from his home in Odessa, but Wood and Green tracked him to Sand Springs. Witnesses have placed Gunn and Grady together in several beer taverns the night before the slaying. They also were reported to have been in a poker game.

A Pat on the Back

For MRS. THOMAS
B. CASEY

Being the mother of four active young sons doesn't occupy quite ALL of Mrs. Thomas B. Casey's time. She is a dedicated worker in the American Red Cross Gray Lady Program, and makes it her major expression of public service.

The result is that the Webb AFB Hospital chapter of the Gray Ladies, under her chairmanship, attains one of the best records to be found anywhere. There are 28 women actively engaged in this work — volunteer services of the non-professional type, assisting both hospital staff and performing helpful chores for patients — and they are averaging a total of about 250 hours per month.

Mrs. Casey is the first to disclaim credit for this record, and insists that she is now serving with the "most loyal and steady helpers I ever saw."

The Caseys live at 3311 Cornell, and he is commander of the OSI detachment at Webb. The four sons are Joe, 10½; Tommy, 8; Mike, 5½; and John, 18 months. Joe and Tommy are in Washington Place School.

The Caseys have been here about two and a half years. Formerly they were at Kindley AFB in Bermuda, and Luke AFB, Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Casey, incidentally, is an Arizonian, and attended that state's University at Tucson.

She has been a volunteer in Red Cross work since girlhood, and was in the Junior Red Cross. Later she took up volunteer work sponsored by the ARC, served as a nurse's aide during World War II. When the Gray Lady program was developed, she was one of its prime workers.

Just recently, the local Red Cross chapter presented her with a pin marking five years of Gray Lady work; with its highest commendations for a good job well done.

Mrs. Casey's other devotion is her church. The family belongs to St. Mary's Episcopal, she belongs to the St. Monica's Guild.

Aggies Assume Lead In SWC

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M took over undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race Saturday night with an easy 94-53 victory over the Rice Owls.

The decision, coupled with Texas' victory over Southern Methodist, left A&M alone atop the standings with a 7-1 record and set up an important game Tuesday night at Austin between the Aggies and Texas. Texas and SMU are tied for second with 6-2 records.

Rice led early in the game, 4-2, on David Craig's jump shot—his only two points of the first half—but Carroll Broussard hit a jump from the corner to tie up and seconds later Pat Stanley hit a free throw to give A&M a 5-3 lead which it never lost.

From a 53-15 halftime margin the Aggies rolled up a 48-point edge midway of the second half before the shock troops took over. Broussard's 26 points, high for the game, were made on about 25 minutes of playing time.

Wilmer Cox had his best night for A&M with 20 points and Wayne Lawrence chipped in with 15.

Craig led the Owls with 16 points—14 of them in the second half—with Steve Smith hitting for 13.

The Aggies shot at a 48.6 percent clip from the floor to 38.1

for Rice. A&M enjoyed a 48-31 rebound lead.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Baylor's hot shooting Bears downed Texas Tech's Red Raiders, 87-72, in a Southwest Conference basketball game before 6,100 fans Saturday night.

Guard Bob Turner paced the Bears with 30 points. Baylor hit 59 per cent of its field goal attempts. Sophomore Del Ray Mounts led the Raiders with 22. Baylor, ahead 41-36 at the half, had to come from behind in the second period. Tech opened the second half with a flurry to go ahead 44-43 after three minutes.

Tech increased its lead to 48-45 before Richard Tinsley and Turner each hit a pair of field goals to send the Bears safely out front again, 53-48.

With 10 minutes to play Tech again cut the lead to 3 points, 60-57, but the Bears quickly widened the gap. The winning 15-point margin was reached with a minute left in the game.

DALLAS (AP)—Texas staged off a late Southern Methodist rally to win 69-65 Saturday night and permit Texas A&M to take over undisputed first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Texas moved into a second place tie with Southern Methodist, each with a 6-2 record. Texas A&M is 7-1. It beat Rice 94-53 Saturday night.

The Longhorns jumped off into the lead at the outset and built up a 17-point advantage in both halves.

It was the second victory posted by Texas over SMU. The Longhorns won at Austin, 68-66, on a last-second field goal by ace scorer Jay Arnette.

FORT WORTH (AP)—The University of Arkansas tossed in six free shots in the last 57 seconds of play to pull away from upset-minded TCU and win, 66-61, in a Southwest Conference affair Saturday night.

As late as 16 minutes deep in the final half, TCU forged ahead 55-54 on two free shots by sophomore David Warnell. But moments later, guard Pat Foster pumped in a one-hander to give Arkansas the lead for good.

The victory evened Arkansas' SWC record at 4-1. It was TCU's seventh defeat in eight games.

The contest saw-sawed in both halves, being tied once in the first half and three times in the final 20 minutes. The lead exchanged hands seven times in each half.

TCU's largest lead was nine points early in the game. Arkansas, which led 28-26 at halftime, forged into an eight-point cushion on three straight buckets by Foster at the second half start.

Foster, who had just two points at halftime, shared scoring honors for Arkansas with Clyde Rhoden. Each had 14. David Warnell, sophomore from Galena Park, contributed 19 points to pace TCU.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

More than a few people in Lamesa thought Sundown's Ray Hopkins would get the job, before Bill Davis of Canyon was hired as the head football coach and athletic director at Lamesa High School. However, Hopkins might have withdrawn his name from consideration when he learned he might have to take a financial beating. Two men who were among the last five considered were Glen Lewis and Glen Cleveland, who were aides to O. W. Pollis on the Lamesa staff.

Davis' starting salary as coach will be $6,500. His won-lost-tied records during his three years at Canyon, in the appointed order, were 5-4-1, 6-4 and 7-3.

Dan LaGrasta, who is departing the Breckenridge coaching staff to join his old boss, Emory Bellard, at San Angelo, was an applicant for the local coaching position.

The Odessa JC-Amarillo College West Zone basketball thriller last week, which was won by Odessa, was played in the Odessa High School fieldhouse rather than in the Wrangler Gym.

A power failure stopped the teams from playing at OJC.

Emmett McKenzie, Big Spring's new football mentor, has already rented a house here but plans eventually to buy a home.

He is intent on moving here next weekend.

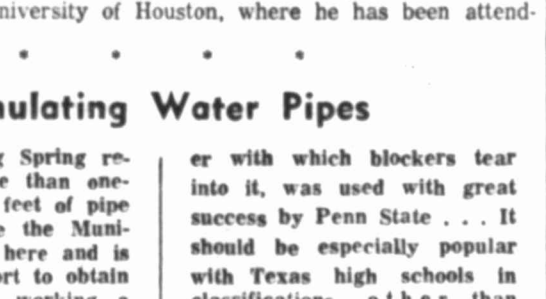

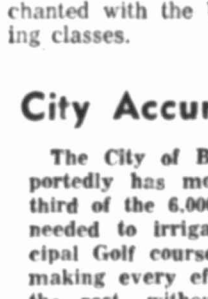

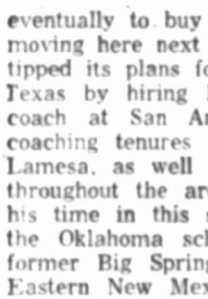

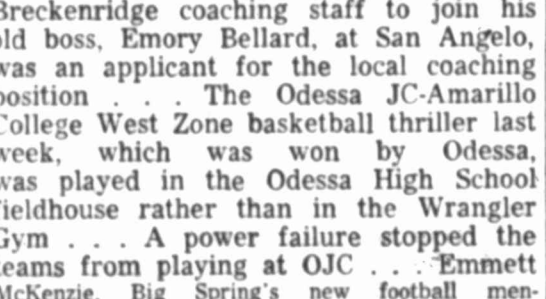

Tulsa University tipped its plans for wholesale recruiting in West Texas by hiring Bob Harrell, dressed as head coach at San Angelo.

Harrell has had coaching tenures in Corpus Christi, Odessa and Lamesa, as well as San Angelo, is well known throughout the area.

He'll spend much of his time in this section, trying to sell boys on the Oklahoma school.

Wayne Fields, the former Big Spring football phenom, visited the Eastern New Mexico University campus recently and talked with football coaches there.

He could be disenchanted with the University of Houston, where he has been attending classes.

City Accumulating Water Pipes

The City of Big Spring reportedly has more than one-third of the 6,000 feet of pipe needed to irrigate the Municipal Golf course here and is making every effort to obtain the rest, without working a strain on the budget.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation donated a large amount of pipe to the city for use on the course.

Duffy Daugherty, the Michigan State coach, says "coaches must like people in order to be a success."

Pug Gabriel, the former Odessa football star who brought the El Paso Austin grid team here a couple of seasons ago to meet the Steers, resigned that job recently to enter the business world.

If Bernie Moore, commissioner of the South-eastern Conference, had been informed that Billy Cannon had signed a pro contract with Los Angeles prior to last Jan. 1, which was the case, he would have ruled the LSU star ineligible for the Sugar Bowl game.

A blocking machine perfected back East may be marketed by Elmer Tarbox's company here.

The machine, which gauges the power with which blockers tear into it, was used with great success by Penn State.

It should be especially popular with Texas high schools in classifications other than AAAA, where spring training is prohibited, because it can be used indoors.

Bullet Bob Turley may have lost the zip on his fast ball, a possibility that has worried the New York Yankees much more than they have let on.

Argentine Rocca, the millionaire wrestler who has a great following in New York City, was brought to this country by Ed McLemore, the Dallas grapple promoter.

Although he missed most of the past pro football season due to an injury, the ex-Baylor star, L. G. Dupre, was voted a full share of the playoff money by his Baltimore Colt teammates.

Vernon Harton, the local high school basketball mentor, was so dissatisfied with his team's performance following its game with Abilene here the other night he worked them out for an hour and a half following the contest.

Amarillo Player Twice A Father

Dick Vandenberg, Amarillo College's best rebounder, hails from Quincy, Ill., and spent four years in the Air Force before starting to college.

He's the father of two children.

That golfing greybeard, Lloyd Mangrum, turned links pro at the age of 15—and he's been at it 31 years.

Big Spring High School's football contract with Pecons will extend for two years.

Max Jones, the former Kermit coach who quit at Conroe recently, is going into business in Oklahoma, rather than Louisiana, as previously mentioned here.

Those who profess to know say both Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford were given bonuses by the New York Yankees at the conclusion of last season for getting passing marks in off-field deportment.

Mantle, they say, gained an additional $10,000 while Ford was paid half that amount.

Bill McGuire, the former Coahoma coaching aide, quit as head mentor at Herculais recently after two years on the job, ex-

Collins, Venturi Share Lead In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Will Collins of Crystal River, Fla., and Ken Venturi of San Francisco shared the third round lead Saturday in the $22,500 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Collins, six strokes off the pace after 36 holes, fired a brilliant seven-under-par 64, just one stroke shy of the tournament record.

Venturi survived his second day of tree trouble on the back nine to bring in a five-under 66.

That gave each a 54-hole total of 204—nine strokes under par.

Doug Ford, Crystal River, Fla., one of the first round co-leaders, tacked on a 69 to previous rounds of 66 and 70 for a 205.

Deadlocked at 206 were Don Whitl, Borrego Springs, Calif., the second round leader, and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah.

Grouped at 207 were Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa.; Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y.; and Howie Johnson, Meadowlark, Calif.

Shoemaker Reins Bagdad To Win

By FRANK FRAWLEY

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Bill Shoemaker gave Howard B. Keck's Bagdad a great ride Saturday in capturing the $57,500 San Antonio Handicap.

Bagdad outraced the favored First Landing in an exciting stretch duel at Santa Anita and Shoemaker had his coil well placed for the drive to the wire.

First Landing had to make up ground on the far turn and was equal to catching the fast-flying Bagdad.

How Now was third in the field of 11 starters.

The net to the winner was $34,000. Bagdad now has won $60,400 this year in three starts.

Bagdad's time for the mile and one-eighth was 1:48.1.

The Fish-bred Promulgation, showing a great burst of speed was the pacemaker all the way to the far turn. But at that point, Shoemaker made his move. Applying the pressure, he shot Bagdad into a quick lead and the 4-year-old son of Double Jay really went to it.

Eddie Arcaro, on First Landing, went to the whip and brought his horse up for the challenge. It was a two-horse sprint to the wire, but there wasn't much doubt of the outcome in the last sixteenth, for First Landing couldn't cut into Bagdad's two and one-quarter margin at the finish.

Bagdad returned $7, $3 and $2.60.

Spring Clinic Starts Feb. 28

CANYON Tex. (AP)—The Texas High School Coaches Assn. Region 1 Spring Clinic will be held Feb. 28, starting at 1 p.m., at the West Texas State Field House.

Gene Mayfield, head football coach at Borger and Region 1 director, announced the date Saturday.

Those on the program will include O. A. (Bum) Phillips, Amarillo high school head coach,

Spiders Beaten By W. Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Fifth-ranked West Virginia streaked to its 20th basketball victory Saturday night with a 103-57 Southern Conference romp past Richmond.

All-America Jerry West contributed 28 points, though he saw only part a time action, as the Mountaineers boosted their conference record to 9-1 and climbed back into a tie with Virginia Tech for the lead.

Engineers Race Past Southern

ATLANTA (AP)—Roger Kaiser, Georgia Tech's jumpshot artist, fired 27 points Saturday night in a brilliant display of basketball shooting accuracy and led sixth-ranked Tech to a 66-53 victory over Georgia Southern.

The non-conference victory gave Tech a 19-3 season record.

Kaiser's deadly aim produce 21 points in the first half—more than the entire Georgia Southern team could achieve. Tech led at intermission 30-19.

Prentice And Crocker Tied For Top Spot

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Jo Ann Prentice and Fay Crocker tied for the lead Saturday as wind and a wet course sent scores soaring in the seventh annual St. Petersburg Women's Open golf championship.

Miss Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., carded a 76 for total 214 in the third round at the Sunset Country Club course.

Miss Crocker, of Montevideo, Uruguay, moving up steadily since the $7,500 tournament got under way Monday, carded a 36-38 Saturday after a first round score of 71 and a second day 69.

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., had the best round of the day with a 71 on the men's par 71 course.

Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., leading money winner of the women's tour last year, tied for third with Louise Suggs of Atlanta and Beverly Hanson of Palm Desert, Calif., at 216.

Grouped at 219 were Mary Lena Faulk, of Sea Island, Ga.; Kathy Cornelius of Lakeland, Fla., and veteran Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Lucas Is Star In Buck Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All-America candidate Jerry Lucas scored 28 points Saturday night to pace Ohio State to its ninth straight Big Ten conference victory, a 75-47 romp over Iowa.

The fourth-ranked Buckeyes, overcoming a sluggish first half, edged closer to their first conference crown since 1950.

Iowa, which suffered its fourth straight setback, now stands 4-5 in the loop and 12-7 overall. The win was Ohio's 10th in a row and boosted the Bucks to a 17-3 season mark.

Lucas netted 18 of his tallies in the slow first half which saw the Buckeyes emerge with a 30-25 halftime advantage.

Iowa stayed within reach until Don Nelson fouled out with a few minutes gone in the second half. The Bucks then turned the game into a rout, jumping from a 45-35 lead to a 58-38 spread in the space of six minutes.

Two SWC Games To Be On TV

DALLAS (AP)—Two Southwest Conference basketball games will be televised next week by the Mobil Oil Co.

The Texas A&M-Texas game at Austin Tuesday night will be aired over KRLL-TV, Channel 4, in Dallas; Station KFDX-TV, Channel 7 in Tyler, and Station KFDX-TV, Channel 3 at Wichita Falls.

The Baylor-Texas Christian game at Fort Worth Wednesday night will be on Station KBTX-TV, Channel 3 in Bryan, and Station KWTX-TV, Channel 10, in Waco.

At Least Two New Titlists Upcoming

AUSTIN (AP)—At least two new champions will be crowned this year in Texas schoolboy basketball, and observers say one of them probably will be Midland.

The unbeaten Bulldogs from West Texas are big, fast and deadly, and it's not far-fetched to picture them as replacements for Pampa as the Class AAAA kingpins.

Champions in all five classes will be determined in the state tournament here March 24-5.

Pampa was eliminated in Dist. 3-AAAA play and Houston Smiley, the 1959 Class AAA titlist, failed to make it past the Dist. 10-AAA campaign.

Class AA champion Buna, Class A champ Huntington and Class B champ Henrietta Midway all are in the running to return and try to repeat as titlists.

Buna is leading Dist. 23-AAA with an 8-0 mark.

Huntington, 21-12 for the year, won the East Zone competition in Dist. 19-A and faces West Zone Madisonville for the title. The teams clash Tuesday and Thursday and will schedule the third game if it becomes necessary.

Henrietta Midway has rolled up a 37-5 season record and is 18-0 in Dist. 34-B competition.

The team faced Forestburg Friday night in the district tournament at Bowie.

Midland became the pre-tournament favorite in the big school division as the Bulldogs breezed through 29 games without a loss—the best record in the history of the school. The team wound up Dist. 2-AAAA play Friday night with a 75-66 triumph over Odessa Permian.

Midland will face the winner of the Dist. 1-AAAA race—a threeway affair between El Paso Austin, El Paso Burges and El Paso Bel Air—in bi-district play.

Borger leads the 3-AAAA race with Plainview still within catch-up distance. The winner plays the titlist of 4-AAAA, where Irving and Birdville remain in the running.

Fort Worth Poly wrapped up the 5-AAAA championship Friday night by edging Fort Worth Paschal, 57-55.

Dallas South Oak Cliff beat Dallas Jefferson, 52-47 Friday night and took a one-game jump in the best of three playoff for the 6-AAAA championship.

Denton, winner of the 7-AAAA crown, meets the winner of the 8-AAA battle currently led by Texarkana and Tyler.

Houston Sam Houston leads in the 9-AAAA race and Houston Jesse Jones is atop the pack in 10-AAAA. Champions of the Houston districts play each other in bi-district.

Beaumont South Park of 11-AAAA and Baytown of 12-AAAA have wrapped up their crowns and will meet in second-round play.

Austin Austin and Bryan deadlocked with 9-1 records in 13-AAAA. They play at Austin Tuesday and Bryan Thursday and will decide on a third game if one is needed.

Winner of the best-of-three battle plays the champion of the 14-AAAA dash currently paced by Corpus Christi Miller.

San Antonio Alamo Heights, assured of the 15-AAAA crown since the mules beat San Antonio Jefferson 63-55 Tuesday night, will face the winner of the 16-AAAA competition Laredo and San Antonio Brackenridge are tied for the lead with San Antonio Burbank a game behind.

Houston Aldine replaced Houston Smiley as champion of Dist. 10-AAA, ending Smiley's hopes of another trip to Austin.

Other teams certified by district committees of the Texas Interscholastic League:

Dist. 8-AAA: Palestine, 9-AAA, Killeen; 11-AAA, Beaumont French; 2-A, Abertathy; 11-AA, Duncannon; 15-AA, New London; 28-AA, San Antonio Northside; 13-A, Cushing; 23-B Santo; 40-B, Godley; 40-B, Waskom.

District winners must be certified by Feb. 20 and regional winners by Feb. 27.

Hundman, Quast Triumph, 4-3

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A foul weather finish brought William G. Hundman 3rd of Philadelphia and Anne Quast of Seattle, Wash., a 4-and-3 victory over Bob Gardner of New York City and Pat Trian of Manhasset, N.Y., in the 25th annual National Amateur Mixed Foursomes Golf Tournament.

The first 27 holes were played in winds of about 35 m.p.h. in gusts. A squall struck at the 27th hole bringing rain that held up play for 15 minutes and continued the rest of the way.

Best Of DeMolays

Haley Haynes (above) of Big Spring, who has been shooting only three years, recently was declared National DeMolay rifle champion by the National Rifle Association. He won the trophy at the right in the above picture. The small trophy is for having been declared the Regional DeMolay titlist last year. Haynes was in competition with 194 others for the National crown. His score: 196 x 200. In achieving his score, he fired from two positions.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."

—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick... This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros..."

—Tom McCall, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside... I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars..."

—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked... it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is to a rear one."

—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."

—Don Steward, Motor Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny."

—John R. Bond, Road & Track

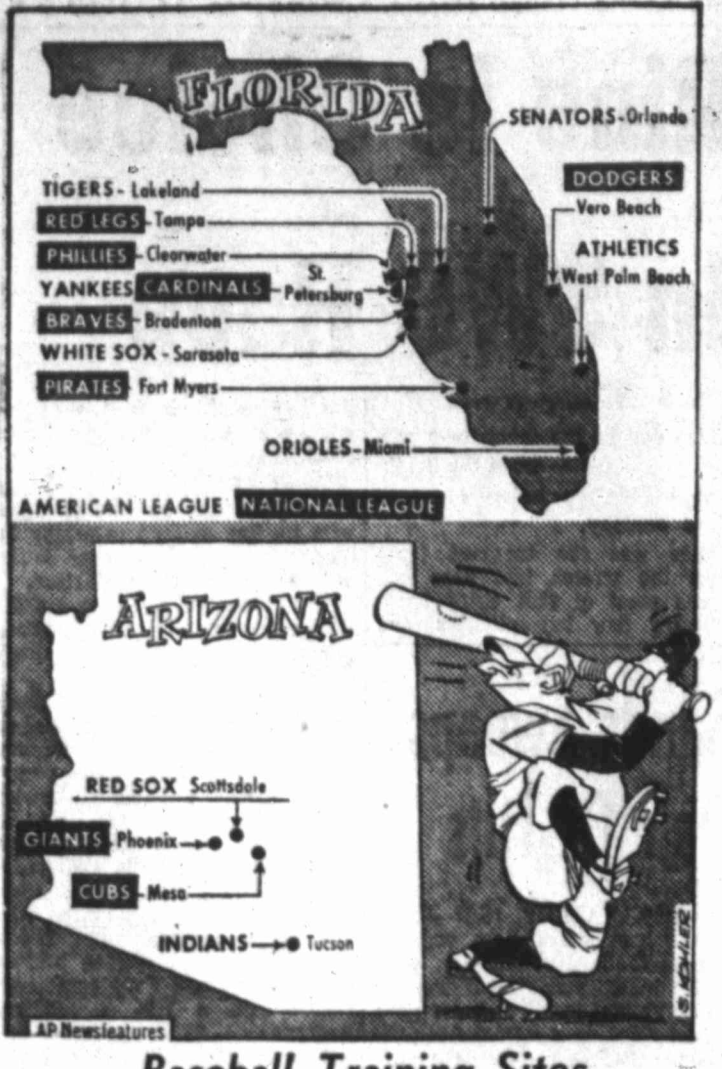

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation... It is a great car."

—Don Steward, Motor Life

MEN IN SERVICE

BOBBY D. NULL

Uncle Sam may figure he can't get along without a member of the Snyder family in the Armed Forces in Germany.

Don Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snyder of 1507 Gregg Street, arrived in Big Spring Thursday night following a tour of duty with a medical unit near Stuttgart, Germany.

His younger brother, Jerry, left Fort Sam Houston, Tex., at 6 p.m. Friday evening, bound for Fort Dix, N. J., and Sandhofer, Germany, where he will be attached to the 8th Army (Infantry).

The two missed seeing each other by less than a day. However, Jerry called home before he left and got to talk to Don on the telephone.

When in Germany, Don was stationed at the 75th Army Hospital at Bad Conasatt. He flew from Chicago to Midland, where his parents, his sister, Mrs. Raymond Moore, and another brother, Dickie, picked him up and brought him to Big Spring.

Don grew so much in size and height while in the Armed Forces he spent part of Friday shopping for new clothes in downtown Big Spring.

Prior to entering the Armed Forces last year, Jerry was employed by Pioneer Natural Gas Company here.

Army Pfc. James C. McKaskle, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezell McKaskle of Stanton, participated with other personnel from the 3rd Armored Division in Exercise Winter Shield at the Grafenwohr-Hohenfels training area in southern Germany Feb. 1-7.

McKaskle, a driver in Battery C of the division's 6th Artillery, entered the Army in February 1959, completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark., and arrived overseas last July. He is a 1955 graduate of Stanton High School.

Bobby D. Null, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Null, Coahoma, is home on his 14-day recruit leave, having completed his Navy Recruit Training. Bobby entered the Navy in November of 1959, under the training program. Seaman Apprentice Null was assigned to the Fleet Sonar School at San Diego, where he will report upon expiration of his leave. In Sonar school, he will be taught the principles of Sonar, which is the equipment used to detect submarines. Bobby is a graduate of Coahoma High School.

C-C Banquet Plans Final

STANTON (SC)—A. C. Akins, prominent business and civic leader in Odessa, will be the main speaker Monday night at the Martin County Chamber of Commerce annual banquet.

Akins is currently a member of the board of directors for the Permian Basin Oil Show; assistant boss of the Odessa Chuck-Wagon Gang and is an active member of the Odessa Lions Club. He has appeared before practically every civic, business and fraternal organization in this area.

Incoming president, C. R. Crim will speak along with the retiring president James Eiland. Connie Mack Hood will serve as master of ceremonies.

Outgoing directors are Connie Mack Hood, Phil Berry and F. O. Rhodes. Incoming directors are C. R. Crim, Jake Hodkes and R. O. Anderson.

The banquet will be in the Stanton High School cafeteria at 7:30 Monday night.

Story Of Success

NEW YORK (AP)—In brevity of words, this is how to get a musical show produced on Broadway. The show is the lyrical "Beg, Borrow or Steal," a new arrival.

Some months ago Betty Garrett sang the 20 songs of "Clara" for a demonstration record which had lyrics by Bud Freeman and music by Leon Pober. The record never got very far, but it gave composer Pober and lyricist Freeman ideas of what to do about their unfinished composition. They did editing and rewriting of songs and story.

So, now it appears as a Broadway musical with Miss Garrett singing the starring role to Larry Parks and Eddie Bracken.

Come Back, Jack

NEW YORK (AP)—Buttons bearing the slogan "Come Back, Jack," went on the market Friday.

Manufacturer Emanuel Reiss said the buttons were turned out for the benefit of Jack Paar fans.

Paar quit his NBC show Thursday night in anger over censorship of his program.

Fishermen Are Taken Off Boat

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Triton Saturday rescued three crewmen from their fishing boat sinking in heavy seas in the Gulf of Mexico.

The cutter reached the 70-foot Gail D as it floundered 200 miles southeast of Port Isabel, Tex.

The Triton reported the tiny craft tried to sail out of the angry seas as the cutter steamed close by.

The weather got too rough, and the Gail D was going down when the men left ship.

In another rescue attempt, the Coast Guard dispatched a helicopter at daybreak to assist the fishing boat Gulf Stream, hard aground near Timballer Island about 100 miles southwest of here.

Another helicopter had flown off its one crewman, John Long,

Friday. The 72-foot boat's skipper, Joe Schuster, was still aboard.

The boat has a Houston registry. Schuster stayed aboard in the hope a nearby tug, the Pattie Amiercanac, could get his boat refloated. High winds and choppy seas buffeted his little craft. The Gulf Stream is owned by B. W. Winkler of Clute, Tex.

LEDER HOSEN, a jaunty hat and the Sunday jacket are the party outfits of Carl, left below, and Eric Preyss, sons of Lt. and Mrs. Albert Preyss. For a Valentine party Friday Carl wore his jacket and the little leather pants. The clothes are from Bavaria in Southern Germany.

WHEN A BOY gives a girl a gift when he's six, it's a point to ponder whether it's going to be well received. Milton Jones, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Jones, studies the reaction of Pamela Marcum, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Marcum, who seems well pleased with the Valentine lamb.

THIS VALENTINE kissing business is a serious thing to Merrily Milch, below, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Milch, who is getting a firm bus on the cheek from her admirer, Dean Witter, who is the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Witter.

MRS. JAMES CLIFTON SIMS (Barr Photo)

June McElrath Is Bride Of James Clifton Sims

June McElrath and James Clifton Sims exchanged double ring vows Friday evening in the Eleventh and Birdwell Church of Christ.

The minister of the church, Lewis Garnett, performed the ceremony before a sunburst of snowmass gladioli. Flanking the sunburst arrangement were seven branch candelabras with fern trees of foliage. Outlining the wedding sanctuary were white taffeta hearts trimmed with white lace. Each heart was accented with a cluster of pink aristocrat roses.

Sims is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sims of Dallas. Miss McElrath is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McElrath, 2404 Robb Dr.

Mr. McElrath gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a floor length gown of silk peau de soie that featured a sweetheart neckline filled with pleated tulle trimmed with seed pearls. The skirt draped softly from a fitted bodice with long sleeves. It had a scalloped tier-effect over a ruffled skirt of tulle and formed a chapel train. A tiara of seed pearls and iridescent tear drops held the waist-length veil of illusion.

For something old the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother. Something new was her wedding attire, while something borrowed was her wedding tiara. She wore a blue garter, and pennies in her shoes bore the birthdates of the bridal couple.

Miss McElrath carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, accented with pink sweetheart roses and fringed white carnations. The bouquet was showered with fantasy, picot satin streamers and seed pearl rings.

The bride's attendants carried white wicker garden baskets of white stock and pink carnations, complemented with pink and white satin bows.

Jane Ann McElrath was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Teresa Smith and Ruane Lester, of Uvalde. The trio was dressed identically in pink pinamist cotton. The dresses were styled with a scoopeck and soft pleats. Each had a cummerbund effect.

The father of the groom, E. L. Sims, served as best man. Groomsmen were Rodney Kirkham, Dallas and George Offut, Mundy.

"Because," the traditional "Wedding March," and "Be With Us Lord" were songs furnished by a male quartet from Abilene Christian College composed of Marty Hooper, Doug Smith, Dan Danner, and Richard Isdermill.

GREETING GUESTS

Receiving guests at the reception along with the bride and bridegroom were the couple's parents and attendants.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth over a pink underlay. Crystal appointments were used in serving the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The garden baskets of white stock and pink carnations carried by the attendants were interlocked to form an arrangement for the bridal table. The basket carried by the maid of honor was used at the registration table.

Guests were registered by Edith Peters of Abilene Christian College.

Members of the houseparty included Lawanna Atkins of ACC; Mrs. Bob Cole, San Antonio; Mrs. B. L. Crowder of Odessa; Mrs. J. M. Griffith, Mrs. J. E. Smith and Teresa, and Melva Burton.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pruitt of Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Norris, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Crowder of Odessa; Mrs. Don Crowder, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Phillips, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cole, San Antonio; and Mrs. Bascom Farrar, Dallas.

FUTURE HOME

The new Mr. and Mrs. Sims will live at 420 Avenue F in Abilene after a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a two-piece pale blue jersey suit. With it she used navy blue accessories and wore a corsage from the bridal bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Sims is a 1959 graduate of Big Spring High School. She attended Abilene Christian College during the 1959 fall semester.

Sims spent two years in the Marine Corps after his 1956 graduation from North Dallas High School. He is now a student at ACC.

Freezer Warning

Freezer experts warn against putting boiled potatoes, either alone or in combination with other foods, into the freezer. The spuds become watery, these testers say.

Activities Of Council Are Told

United Council of Church Women held their meeting at the Wesley Methodist Church Friday morning and heard a devotion on prayer and conducted a business session.

Mrs. J. T. Gilmore brought the devotional thoughts on Universal Prayer. Mrs. G. C. Graves led the opening prayer. Taken from the 18th chapter of Luke, Mrs. Gilmore pointed out the need of prayer in everyday life and listed types of prayers for sinners and Christians.

During the business hour, Mrs. Graves, president, was in charge. Reports were made by the Fire Ma'ams who have served 196 patients at the Big Spring State Hospital and have donated 26 home baked cakes. The Modern Womans Forum entertained at the West Side Recreation Center with 75 children in attendance. Sandwiches, punch and cookies were served. Entertainment was furnished by the children.

Mrs. Knox Chadd announced the date of the World Day of Prayer as March 4. It will be held at 10 a.m. in the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Anne F. Allen of Webb AFB will be in charge of the Children's World Day of Prayer which is scheduled for March 5 at 10 a.m. at the First Christian Church.

The state meeting of the United Council of Church Women will be held on Feb. 28 through Feb. 30 in San Angelo. Registration will begin at 1 p.m. on the 28th. Women who would like to attend the meeting may call Mrs. Graves at AM 4-8043.

The next regular meeting of the council will be held in the First Presbyterian Church at 10 a.m. March 11.

Closing prayer was offered by Mrs. D. T. Evans after which members were served refreshments with a valentine motif.

MOD Coffee Today

Another March of Dimes coffee will be held this morning and hostesses for the affair will be the City Federation of Colored Women. Hours have been set from 7 until 10 a.m. at the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church cafeteria.

Roberts-Merrifield Vows Are Exchanged

In an informal ceremony at the home of her parents Margie Roberts became the bride of J. Douglas Merrifield Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Vance, 1114 Main St. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Graddy of 604 NE 12th St.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, read the double ring ceremony under a wrought iron arch covered with greenery and centered with white bells. White ribbon bows were tied at each side of the arch and on the candelabra which held white tapers.

Mr. Vance gave Miss Roberts in marriage.

The bride was attired in a beige silk shantung sheath dress topped with a short bolero jacket with three-quarter length sleeves and pleated back. Her tiny hat was covered with a veil of beige with small nylon net butterflies in brown and beige. Her accessories were matching.

Following tradition, the bride had pennies in her shoes with the birthdates of the couple; her blue garter was made for her by a friend, Sue Arrick; and her white Bible was topped with an arrangement of orchids in cascade.

Leola Vance was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a dress of pale green shantung with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her half-hat of flowers was in tones of yellow, green and beige.

Dale Ray Merrifield was his brother's best man and Wesley Roberts, the bride's brother, ushered the guests and lighted the altar tapers.

The new Mrs. Merrifield wore her wedding ensemble for a traveling costume on a short wedding trip. When the couple returns here they will make their home at 106 E. 15th St.

The bride will be graduated from Big Spring High School in May. She is a member of the Shorthand Club and was a member of the 1959 Steerette Volley Ball team.

Merrifield is employed by the Texas and Pacific Railroad Co. and attended the Big Spring schools before entering the U.S. Navy. He received his discharge in March 1959.

Following the wedding a reception was held for the guests who included only members of the families and several close friends. The table was laid with a cloth, hand-crocheted by the great-grandmother of the bride. The bridesmaid's bouquet was used as the centerpiece. Punch was served from a crystal bowl with wedding cake.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Oscar Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chambers of Alpine, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts of Marfa.

Varieties Of Peas

Canned peas marked "Early," "June," or "Early June" are of the smooth skin variety; the ones marked "Sweet" or "Sugar" are late maturing and have a natural sweet flavor.

Fish Garnish

Pretty with fish fillets: finely chopped parsley and a teaspoon of lemon juice added to drawn-but-ter sauce.

Interesting Flavor

Add a cup of drained tomato pulp to bread stuffing for interesting flavor with beef.

Our Accord group fills a long felt need for good contemporary design and high quality in the reasonable price bracket. Woods are rich, deep walnut with an oil-like finish. The beautiful grain is contrasted with inlaid banding and cane panels and is enriched with the gleam of four-leaf metal inlays. The pieces are detailed to perfection and beautifully finished . . . doors are fitted with magnetic catches, chinas and buffets have lined silver compartments.

Our Accord group includes designs for your bedroom, dining room, and particularly beautiful occasional tables. We've illustrated but a few of the pieces, but we have the complete selection in open stock. We admit Accord looks expensive, but it truly isn't. Won't you come in soon and see for yourself?

Better Brew For You

Want a better cup of coffee? Here are tips from Brazilian coffee expert M. Azurem Costa: Buy good coffee. The percolator pot is good but the drip type is better. Whichever you prefer, use a glass coffee-maker. Metal distorts the flavor. Always use fresh water. Don't boil it too long before pouring into drip-type pots. Coffee without cream is best. But if you use it, go easy so the flavor of the coffee comes through.

MR. AND MRS. DICK BERGSTROM ... with part of their record collection

Couple Enjoys Mexico, Music

A Mexican bullfight poster has been framed and hangs over the stereo at the Bergstrom home, illustrating two interests of the young couple — Mexico and music. Mexico City was the scene of their honeymoon in July of 1958. Dick and Janet Bergstrom first met while attending junior high school together in Houston. They began dating when in the eleventh grade while attending Lamar High School. After graduation Dick attended Rice for two years on a football scholarship. During his high school he had played on the only Houston high school team, Lamar's, to ever win the state AAAA championship. Janet went to Dallas and attended Southern Methodist University where she busily majored in elementary education and joined the social sorority Zeta Tau Alpha. In his junior year Dick transferred to SMU and graduated there with a major in business management. He was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity.

Before Dick came into the Air Force, Janet taught music and art one year in the Dallas school system.

Music still continues as a major interest in the couple's life, and Dick built a stereo cabinet and two speaker cabinets that stand in their living room. The Kingston Trio, Johnny Mathis and Ella Fitzgerald are favorites of the two Houstonites, but Janet says she is a little partial to the cast albums of famous Broadway musicals.

The Bergstroms enjoy attending the First Methodist Church here in Big Spring.

JUST BEFORE VALENTINE

Happy Spousehood Tests Given For Man Of House

By VIVIAN BROWN

Does that Romeo of yours really love you? Or does he inflate his heart especially for Valentine's Day?

American men rely on all the goodies they can round up in local shops to charm their ladies fair. They buy queen-size boxes of chocolates, the longest-stemmed American beauties, glittering jewels, all for that "Happy Valentine." Easy out for the man of the house. Especially, if you happen to be married to him.

A Valentine husband ought to prove himself all the year, not just on cupid's day. It's the little considerations of the Don Juan that should send the love meter soaring. But can he pass the romance aptitude test?

Give him "E" for effort if he remembered your anniversary without more than two reminders. But how will he come off on the lo-e-e? Try him and see.

"I guess I'm not as young as I used to be" is a time-worn cliché that is likely to catch him off guard. But not if he loves you, truly dear. If he agrees or doesn't answer, he's a pretty bored Valentine.

Test his endurance on the culinary front by whipping up one of those dishes that men decry. A casserole of marshmallow-topped sweet potatoes? Onion dip? A man who eats these without complaining is carving the "v" niche in your heart.

But is he considerate? Test him by changing bed sides one night. If you get there first, we'll bet he shakes you awake for his rightful place. Men being creatures of habit, he'll consider divorce probably, before he'll forfeit the groove he's etched in his side of the mattress. Draping laundry across the shower rod, leaving your baggy girdle over a chair, wearing your bathrobe around the house are other ways to challenge the lover boy's humor.

If he doesn't explode that giant firecracker, give him a real atom smasher to play with: "My mother is coming for a visit!" ought to do it.

Another back wrencher could be the routine "I deserve a night out, too, at least once a week." A perfect time to test the new ear plugs.

The alarm clock can prove to be a perfect love barometer. Nudge that wonder man some morning, and tell him to get up and make the coffee when the clock begins to tinkle. If the walls don't tremble award him his letter "o."

Some tests of happy spousehood include these: Leave his car without gas; forget to take his shirts to the laundry and his suit to be pressed; criticize him when the neighbors are in for a bridge game. If he doesn't blow up award him his letter "L."

You'll be amazed how your generous Lothario flunks the big tests along the romantic obstacle course when he's not bolstered by a giant-size box of candy, your favorite flowers or an irresistible feminine bauble.

If he wants to be the big man in your life, don't call him Valentine until he's earned his letters—L-O-V-E.

Coahomans Take Trips

COAHOMA — Coahoma school superintendent W. A. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson are in Atlanta City this week where he is attending the National Convention for School Administrators.

Several Coahomans were in El Paso this week attending the stock show among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haney, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Barr and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ellis of Andrews have been visiting here this week with their daughter and family, the Vernon Hinsleys.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. DeVaney and Rosalie made a trip to Denton this week and visited the campus at North Texas State Teachers College where Rosalie may register next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riley and daughter of Burk Burnett are spending this weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Meador.

Leslie Copeland of San Antonio is visiting here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loveless.

Visitors in the Aaron Stoker home this week were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smart of Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. Buck Phillips and family spent Friday visiting with her sister and family, the Leslie Bassingers of Andrews.

Everyone Wore Red At Simpson Brunch

A colorful atmosphere prevailed at the Akin Simpson home Saturday morning when Mrs. Simpson entertained with a Valentine brunch at which all members of the houseparty and guests were attired in something red.

Calling hours were set from 10 until 12 noon. Guests were served buffet style from the dining table that was laid with a white felt cloth with a white net undershirt. The centerpiece was fashioned of a thorny silvered tree sprinkled with tiny red foil hearts. Variegated pink and red camellias were placed about the arrangement.

The base was of red net ruffling. Scrambled eggs and deviled ham were served from a silver chafing dish along with French rolls and coffee.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Chris Watson, Mrs. Elbert Bouillon, Mrs. Vincent Friedewald, Mrs. Josh Burnett, Mrs. T. H. McCann, Mrs. Melvin Witter, Mrs. Glen Stell, and Mrs. Jack Goode. Also helping were Melissa Simpson and Gail and Jean Watson.

Mrs. W. E. Aldredge and Mrs. Bill Matthews attended from Sweetwater.

Sweetheart Banquet Is Highlight

Formals, hearts, and elves created the atmosphere for the Sweetheart Banquet of the intermediate department of College Baptist Church.

Table decorations were red and at the speakers table a scene set on a styrofoam base included a miniature mailbox that revealed a valentine, and a tiny boy and girl sitting upon a fence.

Elves Linda Lu Lile, Kay Harp and Linda Steagald seated 40 guests at candlelit tables.

Center point of the room was a giant heart covered with artificial carnations. Through a door in this heart the sweetheart king and queen entered the banquet to be crowned by Mrs. Loyd Lile. Queen of the evening was Yolanda Garrett; king was Billy Steagald.

The superintendent of the intermediate department, Ben Caldwell, was speaker for the affair. A duet composed of Mrs. Paul Vagt and Mrs. Floyd Dixon, accompanied by Jan Vagt, sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Miss Vagt provided piano music throughout the evening.

A reading was given by Yolanda Garrett, while Nileen Smith sang "He"

Pastor of the church, the Rev. H. W. Bartlett, concluded the occasion with prayer. Sponsors of the banquet were the 13-year-old girls' class, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Lile, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Bugg, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harp, Mr. and Mrs. Nolen Garrett.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Harris of Lamesa are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dickey Marie, to James Donovin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Big Spring. Miss Harris is a graduate of O'Donnell High School and is now a junior at Texas Tech, majoring in home economics. Her fiancé, a graduate of the Big Spring schools is a senior electrical engineering major at Tech. The pair will repeat vows April 9 in the First Baptist Church, Lamesa.

GS Troop 34

A valentine party with a wiener and marshmallow roast entertained the Girl Scouts of troop 34 Friday in the home of their leader, Mrs. W. H. Booher. Other leaders are Mrs. V. L. Manstiel and Mrs. B. B. Johnson. Valentines were exchanged by the girls.

Oklahoma Girl Is Eager Beaver

OKLAHOMA CITY — Cecelia Samara is a top notch student in high school, a Sunday school teacher, 17 years old and a real estate saleswoman.

When other students used the Christmas holidays for parties, Cecelia was selling houses and renting homes. She's a licensed real estate operator.

She had been helping her father, a real estate broker, and when he was injured in a car accident she quietly began studying for her own license examination.

The exam scared me at first, she admits, "then I realized I knew most of it." She made a score of 92 out of a possible 100.

Her biggest problem, she says, is balky locks on houses. One time she had to crawl through a window when a key failed her, she said she had to call her dad to explain to skeptical observers that she really was a real estate saleswoman.

Charlene Wasson Is Bride Of Lt. Robert Lee Swaim

An archway of lighted tapers glittered Saturday evening for the marriage of Charlene Wasson and Lt. Robert Lee Swaim.

Miss Wasson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wasson, 1702 Yale, while the bridegroom's parents are Maurice Swaim, Rensselaer, Ind., and Mrs. Viola Swaim, Indianapolis, Ind.

Centering the archway was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli flanked by candelabra and palms.

The bride was escorted by her father down an aisle lighted with cathedral tapers. She wore a gown of nylon tulle, and worn over white silk tulle. The apron effect of the front of the dress tapered into a cathedral length train in back that was edged with wide rows of lace. Alternate rows of scalloped lace and pleated tulle cascaded down the skirt front.

The fitted bodice formed a deep point in front and back. The sari neckline was scalloped, and short sheered sleeves were accented by long lace mitts that extended to points over the bride's hands.

A tiny Juliet cap with lace roses and seed pearls held Miss Wasson's waist-length veil of illusion. She wore a blue garret given her by Mrs. Bill Schlect as something new, and a gold locket worn by her grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Marshall, on her wedding day was pinned to her petticoat as something old. The bride borrowed a string of pearls from her sister, Mrs. Doyle Maynard.

The bridal bouquet was of white Jappette orchids atop a white lace covered Bible. Hand styled satin leaves and satin streamers showered off the arrangement.

Mrs. Doyle Maynard and Jo Beth Wasson were their sister's matron of honor and maid of honor. Both wore gowns of American beauty red satin that featured an off-the-shoulder neckline draped with a swirl of tucks, tightly fitted bodices and full skirts. Half hats, mitts and satin shoes were of the same color. They each carried six long-stemmed pink roses.

Dressed in pink satin dresses of the same style as the attendants of honor, Lavelle Nix and Selma Roberts served as bridesmaids. They carried long-stemmed red roses.

B. L. Marshall, an uncle of the bride from Bovina, served as best man. Ushers were Bobby Connel, Monahan; Dwayne McRorey, Larry Marshall and Billy Lynn Marshall.

TINY ATTENDANTS
Tiny Melonie Kay Marshall carried a basket of flowers and wore a dress of embroidered pink crystalline. Kenneth Lee Cox Jr. was the ring bearer, and he escorted the flower girl down the aisle.

Taper lighters Joyce and Jan Marshall were dressed in red and pink satin frocks identical to the attendants.

Doyle Maynard, minister of the Church of Christ, performed the ceremony in the Main Street Church of Christ.

Soloist Bob Connel sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest" with a choral group background. The group sang the processional, recessional, and "Be With Us Lord" as the couple knelt at the altar.

In the church parlor the bride couple with their attendants, and Mr. and Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. Swaim, greeted guests.

The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with orange blossoms and a wedding veil. It was decorated with small red hearts.

Also on the white organly-covered table was a heart-shaped floral arrangement of pink roses. Milk glass appointments were used.

HOUSEPARTY
Nelda Tarbet, Madge Billings-

ley, Mrs. M. E. Ferguson, Mrs. K. E. Cox Sr., Mrs. B. L. Marshall, Mrs. A. O. Maynard, Mrs. O. W. Fletcher, and Judy Perdue composed the houseparty. Mrs. Silas Flournoy was in charge of the guest register.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Marshall, Lamesa; Mrs. E. R. Marshall, Lamesa; Miss Bobbie Wright, Lt. and Mrs. David L. DeNike of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Flournoy of Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy King, Pampa.

A honeymoon trip will be taken through Indiana and Ohio. The couple will make their home at Wright-Patterson AFB in Dayton, Ohio.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Swaim wore a pink linen sheath with matching jacket. On her head was a small pink hat. Black patent shoes and bag and white kid gloves completed her outfit. She wore an orchid corsage.

A first grade teacher at Airport School for the past two years, Mrs. Swaim is a graduate of Big Spring High School and holds a degree in elementary education from Abilene Christian College where she was a member of the Cadette social club.

Swaim, a graduate of Rensselaer (Ind.) High School, holds BS and MS degrees in aeronautical engineering from Purdue University. He is a member of three honor fraternities, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Gamma Tau, and Phi Eta Sigma, and a social fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Playing the east-west positions, winners were J. D. Cantel and Mrs. Dan Greenwood, first; Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, second; third was Mrs. Charles Pierce and Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr.; and fourth was Mrs. Floyd Mays and Mrs. P. C. Harmonson.

Forth-eight player, with six guests from Lamesa, attended the duplicate bridge games held at the Country Club Friday afternoon. It was the regular monthly master point day.

Winners in North-South position were Mrs. J. Gordon Bruston and Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, first; second were Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Riley Foster. Tying for third and fourth were Mrs. R. E. McKinney and Mrs. Winsont Harper, Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Ayra McGann.

While Mrs. Roen admits "there aren't many good women chefs, she's equally critical of the men. "Not very versatile. Some can't make sauces or bake."

But it's part of a national trend, she adds mournfully. Last year at the municipally supported Oglebay Park at Wheeling, W. Va. she had 43 home economics students for waitresses. Says she: "All they knew was hamburger. None of 'em knew what a lamb chop was."

FIFTH BEST CHEF
The late Duncan Hines called Mrs. Roen the fifth best chef in the United States. He never got around to naming the other four.

For 16 years with a restaurant chain as trouble-shooter and training expert, Mrs. Roen was on the West Coast for a time and catered many Hollywood parties. Some of them — for such celebrities as Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Bennett and the late Errol Flynn — were so big they had to pitch tents outdoors. Flynn?

"He was a doll. I can say he kissed me on the cheek. He was the type you could forgive anything."

Fine For Fish
Add salt and pepper to white or yellow corn meal and dip fish fillets in the mixture before cooking and browning in butter or other hot fat.

Cafeteria Menus Are Reported

Following are the menus of the Big Spring school cafeterias for the coming week:

MONDAY — Enchiladas for high schools, hamburgers for elementary, Spanish rice, cole slaw, cornbread, lemon Jello fluff, milk.

TUESDAY — Chicken and dumplings, buttered green beans, Waldorf salad, cinnamon rolls, milk.

WEDNESDAY — Broiled lunchmeat, fluffy potatoes, English peas, orange Jello with carrot and pineapple, hot rolls, applesauce cookies, milk.

THURSDAY — Roast beef, scalloped corn and tomatoes, Bermuda salad, lemon royal pie, hot rolls, milk.

FRIDAY — Tuna and cheese biscuit roll, pinto beans, mixed greens, crispy cornbread, chocolates, milk.

New Club Plans Are Advancing

Progress is being made toward formation of a local chapter of the American Business Women's Association, it was said Saturday by Mrs. Lucille Stoll of Kansas City, field director for ABWA. She is being assisted in organizational work here by Mrs. Fern Herrington, field staff member.

They are conducting interviews at the Settles Hotel, describing purposes of the organization to selected local business women.

This purpose, said Mrs. Stoll, "is to elevate the social and business standards of women in business by uniting them nationally for training designed to make them more efficient, more considerate and more cooperative toward their work, their employers and their employers' customers, thereby increasing their earning ability, success and happiness."

Mrs. Stoll said there are over 275 chapters in leading cities of the nation. Each October a national convention is held to elect national officers and to select the "American Business Woman of the Year." There will be a Southwestern district convention in Dallas April 23-24, and an attendance of some 500 women from seven states is expected.

Approximately 40 local business women have arranged to select charter members, and Mrs. Stoll is planning on conducting installation services for the new chapter soon. She invites inquiries from business women.

Duplicate Bridge Is Well Attended

Forth-eight player, with six guests from Lamesa, attended the duplicate bridge games held at the Country Club Friday afternoon. It was the regular monthly master point day.

Winners in North-South position were Mrs. J. Gordon Bruston and Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, first; second were Mrs. J. J. Havens and Mrs. Riley Foster. Tying for third and fourth were Mrs. R. E. McKinney and Mrs. Winsont Harper, Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Ayra McGann.

Men Are Better Cooks Says Famous Lady Chef

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — It's true — men are better chefs than women, concedes a Cordon Bleu-trained lady chef.

"That's because women go to pieces under pressure. There's so much tension in the kitchen," points out Helen Marie Roen.

Mrs. Roen, a tall, smiling woman with an unruly curl over her forehead, is the exception to her own rule.

"Mother used to say I had an even disposition — always difficult. So I don't go to pieces," she explains with shrug.

Even if she wanted to act the prima donna, there wouldn't be much room for either histrionics or hysteria in the small kitchen of La Petite Gourmet which Mrs. Roen manages here. The big range and her shelf of spices and herbs are just a step away from a capacious refrigerator.

FIGHTING COOK
Mrs. Roen had to fight her way into a predominately male field. She says: "My father was a fine chef. That's how I acquired a taste for good food."

Young Helen Marie, who frequently went to Belgium and France with her parents, had to do some tall talking to get herself enrolled at the famed Cordon Bleu in Paris.

"I was the only girl in the class. They don't want women," she says with a lift of the eyebrow. "But I wouldn't take no for an answer."

Mrs. Roen is a home economics graduate of Temple University and holds a master's degree from

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Those amateurs that comprise the membership of the Midland Community Theatre have gone and acted un-amateurish again. This time they have outdone themselves with Gays and Dolls according to Mrs. CHARLES WILSON who saw their Friday night show. Actually the show was supposed to have closed on Feb. 6 but it ran over a week.

The Wilsons with their sons, James and Phillip, were guests of her parents, MR. AND MRS. W. O. STOREY who used this method of helping their daughter celebrate her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Wilson was fascinated with the professional way the show progressed with scenes changing without a hitch. The company is now having tryouts for "The Happiest Millionaire."

MR. AND MRS. H. R. PICKLE and TOMMY PICKLE, Tech student, are here for the day from Lubbock to visit relatives.

In the event you are going to be in Houston on March 5 or 6 or later still, March 12-13, The River Oaks Garden Club would be very happy to have you attend their 25th Annual Azalea Trail.

Eight gardens and four houses have been selected with care for varied interest and great beauty and they will be open to the public. These homes are in the River Oaks area making transportation an easy problem. If you are in Houston with no means of transportation just contact the Grey Line Sightseeing Tours.

Tickets for the eight admissions will be $3.50 or if you prefer to see only one the charge is $3.50.

Further information about the showing can be had by contacting Mrs. Cooper K. Ragan, 3708 Inwood Drive, Houston, 19.

RICHARD ENGLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Engle of 428 Ryan, a senior student at Texas Wesleyan College, Fort Worth, has recently been named to the Dean's list of Outstanding Students for the 1959-60 semester.

A 1956 graduate of Big Spring High School, Richard had an overall average of 3.0 for the past semester. He is a member of Sakara Social Club, senior class president and was recently named for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

One of the busiest speakers in the area recently was Mrs. C. C. COFFEE of Lubbock who has returned to her home over the weekend after making numerous

A special meeting of the Gay Hill P-TA will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Chesley McDonald, president of District 16. All parents are urged to attend.

Meat Substitute

A dried bean dish is a good pinch-bitter for meat when served along with milk, eggs or cheese.

Did You Know?

According to a recent study the flavor of ready-to-cook chicken is often better than that of dressed chicken drawn and cut at home or by request at the butcher shop.

MR AND MRS. D. W. RANKIN SR. ... open an anniversary gift.

D.W. Rankins Reach 50 Years Of Married Life

"Mr. Rankin" and Jodie have marked 50 years of marriage today without a cross word. "The secret of a happy marriage," says Mrs. D. W. Rankin Sr., "is to not get mad at the same time your partner does." The couple's five children agree that they have never heard their parents argue with each other. Another unusuality, their children agree, is that they have never heard their mother call their father anything but "Mr. Rankin." When they ordered the napkins to be used at the family reunion Sunday, described upon them was "Mr. Rankin" and Jodie." Martha Josephine Simmons met D. W. Rankin while clerking in a dry goods store in Eastland. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Simmons, were among the first settlers in that area of Texas. The prestige of the Simmons family was great, for they were the first in Eastland to have glass windows in their log cabin. Mr. Rankin comes originally from Jefferson City, Tenn. He was the youngest son of Union Capt. and Mrs. S. E. Rankin, and at one time served as a lieutenant in the navy. The young man was looking for a place to settle down in business when he came to Eastland. He stopped in the town to see a friend who owned a dry goods store. Which attracted him the most, the pretty blue-eyed clerk or the business, Mr. Rankin won't admit, but he became a partner in the organization. Both the Rankins admit it was love at first sight. Mrs. Rankin laughs when she recalls what her husband said to her on their very first date. "I've been across the ocean twice and over most of the United States, but your the first girl I've ever wanted to marry," said the smitten young man.

The couple was married Feb. 16, 1910. It was six years later that they came to Big Spring, a place where Jodie Simmons Rankin's father used to kill buffalo and Indians. Mr. Rankin enter the produce business, and later was the owner of a candy store, a bookkeeper, a farmer for nine years, and, at his retirement, an employe of El Paso Natural Gas Co. for 13 years. The Rankins have five children, W. X. Line of Fort Worth; D. W. Jr. of Big Spring; Mrs. T. J. Tucker and Mrs. W. S. Cooper of Austin, and Mrs. J. B. Canova of Amarillo. There are eight grandchildren and one great grandson.

Jerry Motes Are Married In Home Rite

Elizabeth Edwards became the bride of Jerry Mote Friday evening in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mote. The Rev. Royce Womack, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony in front of a fireplace decorated with azaleas. The bride wore a dress of medium blue. Her accessories were black, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Ray Whitehead of Midland was matron of honor, while Buddy Mote was his brother's best man. Refreshments were served to the bridal party from a table covered with a turquoise cloth and centered with a wedding cake and punch bowl. Mrs. Mote, who is originally from Comanche, is employed by the Book Stall. Mote is a member of the city police department. The couple will make their home here.

Oatmeal Cookies Make Good Snack For Entire Family

For wholesome snacks keep the cookie jar filled with these oatmeal cookie favorites.

CRISP OATMEAL COOKIES
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
3/4 cup melted shortening
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
3/4 tsp. soda
3 cups oatmeal
Raisins or nuts (if desired)
Combine first five ingredients in order given, then add rest. Mix thoroughly.

Shape into small balls about 1 inch in diameter, and place on greased cookie sheets. Flatten each cookie to 1/4 inch by pressing with a wet spatula. Bake in 375-degree moderate oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 40 to 45 dozen.

OATMEAL "ROCKS"

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups oatmeal
1/4 cup sweet milk
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped raisins or dates
1 cup chopped nuts
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Mix dry ingredients, sprinkle over raisins and nuts. Combine mixtures, adding only enough milk to make a stiff dough. Drop on greased tin, 1 inch apart. Bake in moderate 350-degree oven. Makes 4 dozen.

St. Monica's Guild Has Friday Meet

St. Monica's Guild met Friday in the Parish House of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Donald Penn spoke to the group on the United Thank Offering. She told the history of the offering, which is given twice yearly, on Ascension Day and Fall in Gathering Day. The funds of this offering, Mrs. Penn explained, pay the salaries and buys equipment for the women missionaries of the church. The rector, Donald Hungerford, announced that the Couple's Club will hold a covered dish supper Feb. 19. Mrs. Donald Lester brought the devotion.

Dinner, Luncheon Held For Couple

A rehearsal dinner and bridesmaids luncheon were given Friday and Saturday in honor of the marriage of Charlene Wasson and Lt. Robert Lee Swaim. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wasson, 1702 Yale, and Mrs. Viola Swaim, Indianapolis, Ind., and Maurice Swaim of Rensselaer, Ind. At a rehearsal dinner held Friday evening in the home of the bride's parents, 22 were present. Centerpiece for the table was a pink styrofoam base that held a decorator's bird cage. Within the cage were miniature love birds and a fan arrangement of white gladioli. A bridesmaids luncheon was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Doyle Maynard, a sister of the bride. Centering the luncheon table was an open heart of lace and ribbon. Standing inside the heart was a tiny bride and groom.

MRS. PRESTON DANIELS

Miss Murphy Is Wed In Home

Marva Lynn Murphy and Preston Daniels were united in marriage Friday evening in a ceremony read by the Rev. Cecil Rhodes of the West Side Baptist Church. The home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. G. Britton 408 Ayford St., was the scene of the wedding. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Murphy of Andrews, and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Daniels, 1301 College. The bride's dress, made by her mother, was lace over white satin, ballerina length. Tiny lace flowers centered with pearls trimmed the rounded neck. The shoulder length veil was held by a row of little white flowers. Traditionally, the bride's gown was something new; her white Bible was something old; Mrs. K. L. Click, aunt of the bride, loaned her white pearls. In her shoe was a blue ribbon and also pennies which bore the couple's birth dates. The bridal corsage of white carnations was carried atop the Bible. Kay McNew was maid of honor and wore a white sheath with tangerine accents. She had a bronze mum corsage. Calvin Lee Daniels of Austin was his brother's best man. When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a turquoise wool dress with brown accessories. Both Mr. and Mrs. Daniels attended the local schools. He is presently employed at the Bowl-A-Rama. At a reception after the wedding Mrs. J. C. Daniels, a cousin, registered of red roses was used on the table laid with a white cloth. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal pair. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Daniels of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Banks and Mrs. Russellyn Britton of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murphy of Mathis.

MAMIE'S FAVORITE Designer Shows Two Shirtwaist Classics

Here are two great shirtwaist classics by Mollie Parnis, Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite designer. Choose the style most becoming to you. The main difference between the two is in the necklines. One has a stand-up collar close to the neck, the other a wide open neckline. The former has 3/4 length sleeves the latter short sleeves. Both have equally full skirts of soft unpressed pleat. For either, try silk, rayon, shantung, wool, brocade, cotton, gingham or chambray. From this size chart select the one size best for you.

Kenneth Eugene Miers Takes As Bride Miss Esther Riethmayer

LAMESA — The Rev. J. Lloyd Mayhew, pastor of First Methodist Church here officiated for the marriage of Esther Martha Riethmayer and Kenneth Eugene Miers at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Spangenberg Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Riethmayer and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miers. The double ring ceremony was read as the bridal party stood before an archway covered with greenery and white satin ribbons.

Flanked by pedestaled candelabra holding white tapers and baskets of white gladioli and white mums. Nancy Wilmoth was organist and Sherrill Ralls soloist for the program of nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Venetian lace and silk illusion styled with fitted lace bodice and long tapering sleeves. Matching flowers from the lace pattern were applied to a sheer yoke accented with a narrow collar of stiffened lace. An overskirt of lace formed apron panels over the full skirt of illusion. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a headpiece of pearls and lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered carnations and roses, and as she was escorted down the aisle she removed a small rose from the bouquet and gave it to her mother; before leaving the altar, she removed another rose and gave it to the bridegroom's mother.

SISTERS ARE BRIDESMAIDS
Judy Reynolds, Brownfield, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Helen Riethmayer, Mrs. Kendall Bond, El Paso, and Mrs. Stanley White, all sisters of the bride.

The four wore identical red sheath dresses of sheer wool with white fur trim. Their headbands were white fur; they wore short white gloves and carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Billy Miers was his brother's best man. The bride's brother, Walter Riethmayer, Friona, and Kalif Gorman were ushers.

The flower girl was Jill Riethmayer of Friona, niece of the bride, and Mike Miers, the bridegroom's nephew, was ring bearer. Lighting the candles to introduce the ceremony were the bride's niece and nephew, Kay and Mike Riethmayer of Friona.

A red tablecloth with white crocheted overlay covered the serving table at the wedding reception held in the church parlor. White gladioli and mums formed the floral accent.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. W. R. Riethmayer, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Billy Miers, sister-in-law of the bride groom and Marcia B. Rhea of Big Spring.

Upon their return from a week's wedding trip to points in South Texas, the couple will establish a home at Welch. The bride traveled in an aqua tweed suit with black accessories.

Mrs. Miers is a graduate of Ackerly High School and attended McMurry College, Abilene, where she was an officer in Gamma Sigma social club, a member of Wah Wahtaysee and runner-up for sophomore class favorite.

Her husband is a graduate of Lamesa High School and Texas Tech. At Tech he was a member of Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi. He is now farming in the Welch community.

Lamesa Young People Are Given Sweetheart Party

LAMESA — The annual sweetheart banquet of Second Baptist Church held Thursday night in Fellowship Hall of the church had a circus theme "Hearts Fly High." Decorations carried out the big top trend and a red, pink and white color theme.

Highlighting the banquet program was the presentation of the 1960 King and Queen, Sandra Pendley, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Pendley and David Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dean. Princess for the year is Kayron Hogg, and prince is Jimmy Peterson.

Last year's king and queen, Carolyn Taylor and Glenn Filipin, were also presented during the program.

Principal speaker for the banquet was the Rev. Revis McGrew, assistant pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Lubbock, who was also featured in a trombone solo and in vocal selections with his wife.

The Rev. L. R. Pendley introduced the program numbers, acting as ringmaster for the function. A skit, pantomime and comedy act along with musical numbers by local talent rounded out the program.

Deacons of the church, dressed as clowns, were waiters for the banquet.

SANDRA PENDLEY

Lamesa OES Has Star Point Party

LAMESA—Using a valentine theme the Lamesa chapter, No. 323, Order of the Eastern Star held its annual Star Point program Thursday night at Masonic Hall.

Mrs. Justie Wall, star point mother, who was chairman for the program was honored at its conclusion with a tribute given by Mrs. A. V. Stanfield. Serving at the five star point stations this year are Mrs. Sidney Reynolds, Mrs. Horace Duke, Mrs. Lelro Jamison, Mrs. A. K. Bible and Mrs. Beulah Davison.

Each found at her station a valentine doll which concealed a gift. As a surprise, the worthy marton, Mrs. Al Griffin, and the worthy patron, Herman Bartlett, were showered with large valentines which held individual valentine greetings from the various members.

Members of the chapter and a delegation of guests from Tahoka were served hot spice tea and point colors during a social hour. The serving table featured cupid suspended from a large styrofoam circle banked in fresh cut flowers, hearts and glittered marine balls.

Sweetheart Banquet Entertains Baptists

Fifty-five attended the Sweetheart Banquet of the adult third Sunday school and training department of Baptist Temple Thursday evening.

N. W. Derryberry was master of ceremonies for a program that featured group singing, a reading by Mrs. A. W. Page, a men's chorus, and the speaker, the Rev. Horace Whiteside.

Guests included the Derryberrys, Whitesides, the Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Huff, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peay.

Homemaking Girls Model For P-TA

COAHOMA — At the meeting of the Coahoma Parent-Teacher Association Thursday afternoon the girls of the homemaking department were in charge of the program which consisted of a style show of the clothing they had made. The teacher, Mrs. Paul Allen served as the commentator as the girls paraded across the stage wearing formal, suits, party dresses and school skirts and blouses. Piano music for the show was furnished by Paul Camp.

The president Mrs. Aaron Stoker announced that a profit of $160 dollars was made from the Negro Minstrel. The national Founders Day was observed by the reading of a poem and a $2.50 donation. Refreshments were served by the mothers of the third grades.

Stewed Fruits
Don't forget simple stewed fruits for dessert; a crisp cookie served along with them adds pleasing contrast in texture.

Purchasing Practices Told HD Club By Mrs. Jones

"Women often buy food because of contests they can enter with the package," Mrs. Jimmie D. Jones, county home demonstration agent, told members of the City HD Club Friday afternoon.

The speaker pointed out that many times money could be saved as well as nutritional value in careful purchasing. As an example Mrs. Jones explained the greater food value found in brown rice than in the white, and told the women that brown rice is less expensive than the white kind.

N. Norris, San Angelo Hwy. The luncheon will be prepared by Mrs. Laverne Cunningham of Texas Electric Company.

Mrs. Jones spoke to the group on "Planning and Purchasing." She gave tips on planning the family menus, and advised the women to select food for a good basic diet.

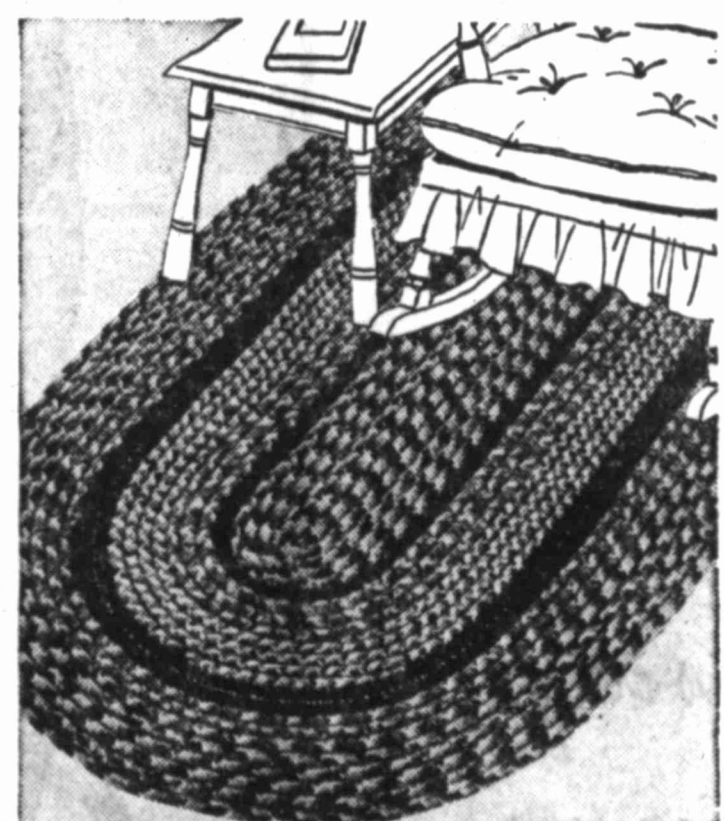

Cookie Interest
To vary and give extra delicious flavor to your soft chocolate drop cookies, press a half pecan in the top before baking.

Mrs. Alton Underwood was the hostess for the meeting. The devotion was given by Mrs. D. B. Johnston, while the council report was brought by Mrs. J. W. Forrester.

Sandwich Spread
Mince green pepper and stir into creamed butter; use for sandwich spread along with cold ham or veal.

NEWEST TEXTBOOK IS FRESH AS TODAY

Newspaper Becomes Textbook For Some Junior Hi Classes

What text book can be more modern and up-to-date on reader information than the daily newspaper? None, according to various school administrators across the nation and officials at Goliad Junior High School seem to agree.

For the past two weeks history teachers at the school have been cooperating in a plan which aims to create more student interest in current events by reading the newspaper once a week in the classroom.

Each day the Big Spring Herald delivers upwards of 100 copies of its latest edition to Goliad and Runnels junior high schools. The Herald contributes this daily "textbook" as a public service.

The move was originated in Milwaukee in 1944 by The Milwaukee Journal. Success in broadening and informing the students through this plan has prompted Goliad's adoption of it.

"Just in the two weeks we've done this," says Oakie Hagood, history teacher at Goliad, "we've noticed a definite need for this sort of thing."

"We found that some of the students seldom follow the newspaper. And those that do tend to favor the comics and possibly the sports. Some of them had the idea that the newspaper is primarily for the adult. In other words, there was no genuine, widespread student interest in what was going on."

"Now through the teacher's interpretation of difficult words and phrases, the students have found real satisfaction in being informed on current events."

At first the newspapers were read and discussed in the class. But as interest grows the students are beginning to read the paper on their own and come to class with better background and information, which makes for a better discussion.

The purpose of the program is to relate what the student is learning in school to what he is talking about at home and in the street. It aims to give vitality to learning and to train the child in habits of newspaper reading and discussion that will be useful long after he has left school.

"We try to arouse the students' interest," comments Jack Adams, teacher of eighth grade history at Goliad, "by telling them that practically all of the things they read in the history books today were first read in the newspaper, and the things they see in the papers today will someday be the subject of historical study."

Experience shows that the "Newspaper in the Classroom" program is a relatively slow process in the beginning, but as interest increases, it becomes a vital part of the every-day life of the previously uninterested youngster.

Things Are Confusing For The Harrises In Lamesa

LAMESA—The J. D. Harrises have problems.

Things would be bad enough if there were simply two men named J. D. Harris in Dawson County, but when their wives and children have similar names, the going gets rougher for all those involved, including the postal department.

When J. D. Harris moved to Lamesa from Midland to assume management of Doty Dan Manufacturing Co., it didn't take long for him to learn that another J. D. Harris was a farmer in the Klondike community.

Farmer Harris' wife was named Doris; businessman Harris' wife's name is Dorothy. Each couple has sons named David and Larry.

Businessman Harris has begun to give his name as Jesse D. Harris in an effort to help clarify the situation, and a closer look at the families reveals other pertinent differences.

Farmer Harris of Route 1, Lamesa, has a married daughter, Mrs. Alvin Tyler of Lamesa, and a third son, Jerry, in addition to his David and Larry. The fact that Jerry's initials happen to be J. D. doesn't help the confusion over names. David, the farmer's son, is a student at Texas Tech; Jerry and Larry are in the Klondike schools.

Jesse D. Harris, 401 N. 15th St., has a daughter, Gayle, recently a Tech student, who is to be married this month. His son David is a student in Lamesa High School; Larry is a student in North Elementary School here.

And in case things aren't mixed up sufficiently, when Mrs. Jesse D. Harris answered her phone recently someone wanted to talk to Gayle. When the call was ended and she had regained her composure, Dorothy told her family she had just learned there is another Gail Harris in Lamesa; a man, this one is the vocational agriculture teacher at Lamesa High School.

New Kaufman Play

NEW YORK — Playwright George S. Kaufman and his actress-wife Leueen MacGrath have written a play together called "I Give It Six Months."

The comedy concerns a New York cab driver and an English poetess. Producer Gilbert Miller will present it as soon as he has found a suitable English actress for the role of the poetess.

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT TO HAVE PRACTICE ALERT SOON

A practice surprise enemy attack will determine the efficiency of the Big Spring National Guard Unit sometime during the next two weeks.

The alert will be sounded from the Distant Early Warning system (DEW) and come through military channels to Elton D. Wallace, commander of the local unit. The unit will be called out to check the city for avenues of escape and other activity designed to protect survivors. It will also test the efficiency of the local unit.

Wallace said the practice would be called between Feb. 14-28, inclusive. It is timed to coincide with the observance of George Washington's birthday.

A Devotional For Today

He stilled the storm to a whisper till the waves were hushed—glad were they (the sailors) for the calm—and then he brought them to their longed-for haven. Psalm 107:29, 30. Moffatt.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to recognize the possibilities in our lives. When we respond to the tug of Thy love, show us how to use the talents and the days Thou hast given us to carry us closer to Thee. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Service With Modesty And Gentleness

It is true that substantial communities come about through the efforts of substantial men.

One of those who did more than his fair share toward Big Spring's betterment, for many, many years, was J. Y. Robb. He came here as a teen-age youngster, grew to manhood, went off to war, returned to direct a big business, and never let his affection for Big Spring grow dim.

He made large investments here, because he had faith in his home town. Even at the time of his final illness, he was dreaming big dreams and executing detailed plans for one of the greatest suburban developments this city has produced to date. He was progressive with his farming interests, lending his facilities for demonstrations that would better the lot of the agricultural man.

He made his contribution in public life, as a school trustee, through dozens of organizations, fraternal and civic, that had for their goal the improvement of Big Spring.

Most important of all, J. Y. Robb was a man of completely unselfish heart. Retiring almost to the point of shyness, he never raised his voice in a crowd, and resisted almost desperately any attempt to get him into public attention. But his personal benefactions and his philanthropies—accomplished mostly in private—were innumerable. It was his special delight to help young people, boys who were athletes, but who wanted to be scholars, too.

And when the chips were down on any civic project—as any volunteer worker in Big Spring can warmly testify—J. Y. Robb was one who came through.

He performed for his community, in a substantial way, and he did it with modesty and gentleness. Big Spring is in the debt of men like J. Y. Robb.

A Completely Generous Thing

What John Balch has done is a completely generous thing.

The Big Spring school board has accepted his offer to give a 12-acre tract as the potential site of a future elementary school. There are no strings attached, unless you could by some stretch figure as such his request to use it until the school is ready to make use of the tract.

Mr. Balch has gone even further, for he told the board that if it did not approve of the particular site he had proposed, the board could select any site that it felt was more to its liking. Moreover, he indicated that he would furnish land to open adequate streets so that traffic could flow easily into and out of the site.

No one knows for sure that a school will be erected in that area or when. But there is considerable thinking that growth in that sector within the next decade will make a school for the northeast edge of town desirable if not imperative. Our master planners have said that one of the best things that could happen to Big Spring is development in that direction to counter-balance the disproportionate extension to the south.

If and when that time comes, the school district will be ready with a site that will not have cost it one cent. On behalf of the entire community—and from the bottom of our hearts—we'd like to say: "Thanks, John Balch."

David Lawrence The President's Position

WASHINGTON — Everything President Eisenhower says at a press conference is usually given out afterwards in verbatim form—including even grammatical errors, such as members of Congress always have a chance to correct for the "Congressional Record" after their own public debates. Yet hasty reading by critics in Congress and elsewhere sometimes leads to erroneous interpretations of what the President really said in his impromptu remarks to the press.

Thus, Mr. Eisenhower in a recent press conference was asked a question about the psychological impression created by the way the Soviets "beat us to the moon" and allegedly got ahead of us in other things. He was asked if this would force America into accepting "a posture of 'second-best' in everything or anything."

MR. EISENHOWER REPLIED that "here and there America might certainly come out second best, and he cited the fact that the United States did not win the Olympic games last time, whereas the Soviets did. The President pointed out that the Soviet government takes a good athlete and makes his training a national responsibility." He then added:

"Now, we have a free enterprise system; we place above all other values our own individual freedoms and rights, and we believe, moreover, that the operation of such a system in the long run produces more, not only more happiness, more satisfaction and pride in our people, but also more goods, more wealth."

"Now, let's remember that dictatorships have been very efficient. . . . If you take our country and make it an armed camp and regiment it, why, for a while you can—you might do it with great morale, too, if you could get people steamed up like you did in wars; you might do this thing most—well, in very greater tempo than we now are doing it."

"BUT WE ARE TALKING of a democracy we hope is an enduring form of government."

"Now, what we should think about and talk more about in the world are the values we set—on which we do treasure. They (the Soviets) don't have them. . . . Now, I think our people ought to have greater faith in their own system."

The President was here answering a broad question about being second-best on trips to the moon, the number of missiles, the training of engineers and economic growth. He couldn't have been conceding an alleged inferiority in military strength, because he has said repeatedly that our over-all deterrent power is sufficient to prevent the Soviets from attacking us. He stakes his military judgment and the judgment of his highest military advisers on this statement. He doesn't think we are second-best in defense, and when asked if he doesn't feel that "there is a basic danger of defeatism under the present circumstances," he said flatly: "None in my soul, I'll tell you that."

IT IS A MISCONCEPTION of the President's position to argue that, because he concedes we may be second-best "here and there," he has lost faith in the American system or that he is convinced the United States must be inferior to Russia in military power.

But it is contended that Mr. Eisenhower is not willing to arouse the nation and make the necessary changes in public expenditure so as to put more money into defense and public-welfare projects, especially of a social nature. He is criticized for urging a balanced budget.

But what is the alternative? To tell the American people that they are in grave danger of attack—which Mr. Eisenhower doesn't believe—and to put into effect stringent controls on wages and prices and over our entire economy, with higher and higher taxes and restrictive measures such as are usually imposed only in wartime?

Anyone who knows American political trends, moreover, can say now that the Democrats would welcome heartily a chance to abandon their current cries about the "missile gap" in order to make political capital out of the argument that the Republicans want to lead us into a war just when Khrushchev, with his summit conference concept, is trying to prevent war.

MR. EISENHOWER CANNOT possibly repeat at each press conference every argument on a particular subject he has made in the past. Take, for instance, his crusade for a nuclear-test ban. He has given plenty of reasons at past press conferences for his continued interest in negotiating an agreement with the Russians. But when he now adds the financial reason—a possible saving on armament expense, which is supposed to be influential in the minds of people not only in this country but abroad—he is promptly accused of thinking only of money savings.

The record of Dwight Eisenhower in working for peace has been replete with so many references to humanitarian reasons for seeking a disarmament agreement that all the President can think about is money savings and a balanced budget. But even such a reason is not so materialistic as it sounds. Anyone who saw the terrible privation of the people of Germany arising out of fiscal mismanagement—which led to the Hitler dictatorship in the 1930's—can hardly say that an effort to avoid national bankruptcy is just an aberration of the materialistic mind.

(Copyright, 1960, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

It is understandable, therefore, that Roy Harrod, one of Great Britain's outstanding economists, should note in his book, "The Dollar," that "in line with the progressiveness of the United States, paper has always played a foremost part in the actual circulation."

Just as early Americans were inventive enough to create money when it was scarce, so modern Americans have developed to a high art installment credit. Through recession and boom, it tends to expand (see chart).

WHAT WOULD BEN SAY? Installment credit enables men and women—householders—to anticipate earnings. The rationale: Is there any essential difference between the householder who pays for an automobile or a washing machine out of income and the railroad that buys its locomotives and freight cars on time?

Consumer debt is still in an expanding trend. More people are earning more money, this justifies a higher level of installment debt. And more persons are becoming acquainted with installment credit. This enlarges the number of debtors. It also enlarges the danger in this debt.

Benjamin Franklin wrote, "If you would know the value of money, go try and borrow some." Franklin should see what goes on today. Banks have made installment credit respectable.

People who once shunned installment purchases as an indication of improvidence now are persuaded by advertising that it's old-fashioned to save before you buy.

SMALL DELINQUENCIES Vendors and lenders have found out that most persons are honest and pay their debts. In the last five years, American Bankers Association data indicate installment loan delinquencies of less than 1.75 per cent. Recently, they climbed to nearly 2 per cent, or about as high as in the recession of 1958. But this recent rise is ascribed to the steel strike.

This low rate of delinquency, however, depends on scrutiny—combating out bad risks. Unhappily, good luck and prosperity generate over-confidence and bad habits.

Sellers, anxious to make a profit on an automobile or a refrigerator, may reason: "Well, the delinquents are only 2 per cent or less. Why should I worry? It's better to make the sale." The lender relies on percentages instead of judgment. Then, you get a case like this, taken from the files of the Philadelphia Credit Bureau:

A man, married, and with five children, earns $109 per week. He owes $4,100, as follows: Four finance companies $1,800; one bank $45; four stores $600; one oil company $225; he still owes $450 on an FHA loan for modernizing his kitchen. He owes a real estate dealer $900, which is covered by a second mortgage, and he's in arrears on water and gas bills. At the bottom of all that is a first mortgage of $5,500.

How did this come about? The family bought a larger home, paying $1,600. Then, debt for improvements. Then, a strike. No work for three months. No income except strike benefits.

NEW DEBT FOR OLD The borrower was not faultless. But, certainly, neither were his creditors. Did four different finance companies, four different stores, including two major department stores, do any checking on his capacity to pay? This man was vulnerable to any ill economic wind.

Or take another case: Man, wife, and a school-age youngster. On earnings of $101 a week, he is in debt $2,400 to two banks, three finance companies, three stores, two oil companies, a lawyer, and

J. A. Livingston Can't Afford Too Many Horrible Examples

Too much, or too little credit? Democrats and Republicans debate that today as violently as the early colonists in America warred with the British Crown over the shortage of specie—hard money.

To meet the exigencies of commerce, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Virginia and other colonies printed their own bills, and British governors objected. This was a right belonging to the King.

It is understandable, therefore, that Roy Harrod, one of Great Britain's outstanding economists, should note in his book, "The Dollar," that "in line with the progressiveness of the United States, paper has always played a foremost part in the actual circulation."

To Your Good Health Several Causes For Most Ailments

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Today's letter is the sort of question that I would have considered unusual, until I began writing this column half a dozen years ago.

Now I know that is the sort of question that bothers a great many people. As such, it decidedly ought to be answered.

Here's the letter. Remember that there are all sorts of variations, and I use this just as a current example:

Dear Dr. Molner: A few years ago my husband was hospitalized with pneumonia and he was given sulfa. It happened that he was allergic to sulfa and went into severe shock.

"He recovered in a few days and left the hospital but found himself chronically tired and a few years later had a heart attack."

"Could his heart injury be attributed to his allergy to the drug?—E.C.M."

So this letter refers to sulfa. Others refer to just about any drug you might name, new ones, old ones, in-between ones.

Sometimes it isn't a drug. Sometimes it is something the patient ate, or something that happened to him or her.

The one thing in common is the question, "Could that have caused the illness five years later?" Or however many years it happens to be.

I suppose it is natural enough for us to want to pick out some single thing and say that it "caused" an illness. However, it doesn't get us anywhere—and we are usually quite wrong anyway.

Except for being shot, or run over by a car, there aren't many ailments which are "caused" by any one thing. Yes, many times a germ is specifically responsible, but even that is not the entire "cause," because it depends on how heavily we are exposed to the germ; how strong our resistance is, whether we were tired out at the moment, and so on.

Let's go back to E.C.M.'s letter. Her husband was "chronically tired" after his illness.

What caused it? Possibly the reaction from the sulfa sensitivity was part of the cause of this tiredness. But so was the pneumonia itself. And so, too, were some of the factors which, before then, had contributed to leave his system in such condition that he fell victim to the pneumonia.

His health, in short, was not at its best. This may, or may not, have contributed to the subsequent heart attack. The heart attack was, of course, the direct result of the closing off of some part of the artery feeding the heart muscle.

This might have been totally unrelated to the pneumonia, or the sulfa shock, or anything else that specifically happened to him.

Rather, we might better say that the heart attack probably was brought on jointly by the sum total of the factors relating to his health.

And that's the point I want to make. Don't look at health and illness as single, isolated things. Look at your health as the total of ALL the things you do to stay healthy: adequate rest, adequate exercise, good diet, moderation in everything, a calm and honest outlook on life, a lot of work, some play, a family and friends to love, and cleanliness.

Around The Rim Valentine's—What A Lovely Day

Not being one of those characters handy with his hands, nearly every time I ever opened a pocket knife I cut myself.

So, you can see that I never did carve a heart on a tree trunk and design therein my initials linked with those of my best girl of the moment. About the time I first discovered that I didn't really hate girls, I painted a heart on my upper arm in red ink, and put in the appropriate initials. This lasted either until some of the gang laughed me into shame, or I had to take a bath.

This heart device was a declaration of going steady, I suppose.

But it also brings up Valentine's Day, which is where we are at right this minute, and we ought to do something about it.

There was a Saint Valentine who became a martyr of his church, having been put to death for his faith during persecutions. This occurred on Feb. 14, year 270. Nobody seems to know how this god man became a sort of patron saint of lovers, but it is this date that has been, since days of antiquity, the day when expressions of affection were made, with the heart the chief symbol.

One source tells of a real old custom: on Valentine's Eve, young people of both sexes would meet, and each of them drew one by lot from a number of names of the opposite sex, which were put into a common receptacle. Each gentleman thus got a lady for his valentine, and became the valentine of a lady.

This day used to be marked pretty well just by sending heart designs of one variety or another. There were those big, lacy things, and I can remember when a shy boy would try to tell his girl how high she stood in his affections by the size of the valentine he could find for her.

When valentines got to be anonymous, the sneaks crept in, and there developed those horrible "comic" things, which sometimes had more sting than good humor. I think I wrote a couple of years ago about how I always seemed to get my share of the insulting valentines, but precious few of the pretty ones.

Like a lot of other things, Valentine Day has been taken up big as a selling event, and some study of retail trade says it now ranks right at the top of the year's sales occasions, after Christmas and Mother's Day.

Not a bad idea. It's one day when everybody can give something to somebody else. Mama can remember Papa, he can remember her. Boys can send a gift to girls, girls can reciprocate.

Back of it all is that message of love. And how are you going to make a preaching against love? Not me, for sure.

There could be a special reason that Valentine Day gets attention and acclamation from me. It happens to be my birthday. I don't want to seem a bit sissy, and I didn't want the information noised about too much. But I later concluded that the choice of a birth date wasn't mine, and besides every time another birthday rolls around, it means I'm still here. And I'm glad.

Norman Vincent Peale Learn To Live By Loving People

I visited Oxford University on a recent trip and saw those famous lines written on a wall long ago by a student about one of his professors.

Do not love thee, Dr. Fell.
The reason why I cannot tell:
But this alone I know for well,
I do not love thee, Dr. Fell.

What could have been wrong with Dr. Fell that despite specific reason he was so disliked? It was probably just that he did not like the boy and the student reacted in exactly the same way. Everybody has in his personality a kind of receiving antenna which senses and picks up others' attitudes. When anyone dislikes us, subconsciously we know it and react in kind. How important it is to learn to love people!

When I was in Jerusalem I visited a children's hospital run by a wonderful, 80-year-old friend of mine, Mrs. Bertha Spafford Vester. Mrs. Vester has more energy than one half her age, and she has the most rippling laugh and sparkling eyes that I have ever seen. She is a very beloved person in the Holy City because she loves everyone, especially the poor, the sick and the helpless. Her baby hospital, which is helping greatly to alleviate the refugee problem, is so crowded that only the most seriously ill children can be accepted.

THE CHIEF, AND INDEED the only physician in this hospital is Dr. Mahmood Dajani. He is an extremely well trained man who, working under handicaps of minimum equipment, inadequate staff and little money, has operated on over 900 patients and lost only a very few.

Mrs. Vester and I were invited to accompany Dr. Dajani on his daily rounds. We saw children with bloated stomachs and undernourished arms and legs, like little spindles—and all sorts of diseases. I saw the look on each child's face when Dr. Dajani came near. He did not need to study each chart. Why? Because he loved every child. And did they love him! He would ruffle up their hair, poke them in their stomachs, and tickle them in their ribs. Then he would tell them, "The Lord and Mrs. Vester and I are going to make you well."

After awhile I couldn't continue on with them. I was too choked up and there were tears in my eyes. I stood by a window and looked out at one of the old streets of Jerusalem, where the Master walked long ago teaching love to little children—love for everyone. And at that very moment I had a strong sense of Jesus' presence. I caught up with Mrs. Vester and Dr. Dajani and said to them, "He is walking with us now through this children's hospital."

I WILL ALWAYS REMEMBER the way Dr. Dajani turned to me and said, "Until we love people we have not learned to live." I felt grateful to have a part in the American Colony Charities Association which is supporting this wonderful work.

The person who does not love people, loves only himself. And when you love only yourself your life is bound to become ingrown and ultimately stale. The zip goes out of it. Moreover, people sense it if you do not love them. You can't really fool anyone about love. Phony love, couched only in words, falls flat. But the real thing communicates itself to the human heart and comes back to you in full measure.

WILL ROGERS ONCE SAID, "I never met a man I didn't like." That is saying a great deal, but Will Rogers actually lived up to his words. And so do many other people. You and I can learn to take this same attitude toward people and be genuine about it. When you do, you will be loved because your personality will then flow out toward people, and not inward away from them. Living on this basis you will learn to live, to really live.

When we are motivated by dislikes and prejudices, our personalities are inhibited and we actually withdraw from life. The way to counteract this deteriorating process is to grow so big in your soul that you really do love everybody. While a byproduct is that in time everybody will love you, the chief result will be that your life will be crammed full of joy. Then you will experience the great fact that you learn to live when you learn to love.

WASHINGTON — An anniversary has just passed that went unsung and unheralded. It was 10 years ago on Feb. 9 that the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin let loose this charge that there were "205 Communists" in the State Department, initiating the thereby brief but tragic era that bears his name.

The 205 dropped to 81, to 57 and finally on the Senate floor to three cases McCarthy said he would prove. But it mattered little, since the senator had the headlines and under the strictures of objective reporting his words traveled far.

THE FEAR THAT McCarthy exploited was not surprising in view of the Hiss case and the fact that Judith Coplon had been found passing out documents from inside the Department of Justice. This was a revelation of something new and profoundly disturbing in an America that never since the Civil War had reason to examine its own allegiances. Here was a foreign conspiracy that had won some Americans to its service.

What was surprising was that McCarthy went to far with so little. President Eisenhower and the members of his administration writhed in anger as they saw the damage he did at home and abroad. But they failed to move against him and the wild spree went on.

A few lonely men in the Senate — William Benton of Connecticut, Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri, Millard Tydings of Maryland, Ralph Flinders of Vermont — challenged McCarthy and the threat he posed to America's position in the world and our liberties at home. It was not, however, until he had exposed himself to the public in the Army-McCarthy hearings that the Senate voted to censure him.

WHILE MOST AMERICANS would probably like to forget the whole grisly mess there are others who fear that the heritage of McCarthyism is still a damper on American freedom, conscience and initiative. This goes to the deep concern that Americans are being prosecuted not for any act but for what they profess to believe.

WASHINGTON — An anniversary has just passed that went unsung and unheralded. It was 10 years ago on Feb. 9 that the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin let loose this charge that there were "205 Communists" in the State Department, initiating the thereby brief but tragic era that bears his name.

The 205 dropped to 81, to 57 and finally on the Senate floor to three cases McCarthy said he would prove. But it mattered little, since the senator had the headlines and under the strictures of objective reporting his words traveled far.

It was not, however, until he had exposed himself to the public in the Army-McCarthy hearings that the Senate voted to censure him.

WHILE MOST AMERICANS would probably like to forget the whole grisly mess there are others who fear that the heritage of McCarthyism is still a damper on American freedom, conscience and initiative. This goes to the deep concern that Americans are being prosecuted not for any act but for what they profess to believe.

Last summer when the Communists staged a youth festival in Vienna most young Americans who went there joined with Western Europeans to show what a phony propaganda operation this was. Yet, the House Un-American Activities Committee subpoenaed the handful of Americans who went to parrot the party line. They gave a few otherwise obscure and fanatical youths a forum to charge freedom of thought.

THE SUPREME COURT struck down security procedures which had proliferated so rapidly in defense industry. This was on the score that the accused was not permitted to confront his accuser and injustices were often done. There is an effort today to reinstitute these procedures in a modified form that may get by the courts. In many fields the security process has been institutionalized.

The ghost of McCarthyism haunts the political campaign. Many Democrats, among them Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, believe that Sen. John F. Kennedy, the front runner for the presidential nomination, failed to face up to the McCarthy issue in the Senate.

In New Hampshire, the field of Sen. Styles Bridges, one of Vice President Nixon's principal backers, a one-man un-American activities crusade by State Attorney General Louis Wyman resulted in jail sentences in two instances in which the American Civil Liberties Union intervened. The ACLU charged that in both cases the charge involved freedom of thought and liberty of conscience rather than any overt act. Through all the McCarthy imbroglio Nixon in public walked a wary line.

UNDOUBTEDLY, THE atmosphere has cleared and one evidence is a reexamination of conscience. Last year the Portland Oregonian suggested in an editorial that someday the public conscience might be sufficiently stirred to determine whether Morton Sobell, now serving a 30-year sentence for conspiracy, was convicted of a crime or whether he was a victim of the emotionalism surrounding the Rosenberg case.

With the clearing atmosphere there is a growing realization that freedom is not something we periodically put ourselves on the back about. It is a creative act to be constantly renewed.

Oxen At Work

WACKON, Ohio (AP)—Ox teams with wooden yokes still work daily in the farming and lumbering operations of Carl Swaney and his father Herman on their farm near here.

The six teams of oxen on the farm haul logs from where they are cut to waiting trucks. The younger Swaney sometimes hitches the wagon for parade appearances, and also makes the yokes for the teams.

'House Of Intrigue' Spy Story Set In World War II

Allied Artists' "The House of Intrigue," with Curt Jurgens, Dawn Addams and Felo Lull, top-lining the cast, comes to the screen of the State Sunday through Wednesday.

This film, in color and CinemaScope, is a story of espionage agents.

As a spy film, its action spreads over that wide area that embraces the British Isles and continental Europe, and the story unfolds a background of international stress and hate.

Its title comes from a great home in the Netherlands, the core of one of the world's greatest espionage organizations.

The film was produced and directed by Duilio Coletti. A writer, he also had a hand in authoring this screenplay.

The screenplay sprang from "London Calling North Pole," a novel written by H. J. Giskes.

"The House of Intrigue" also casts Jurgens and Miss Addams in a love story.

Dawn Has Nasty Job

Dawn Addams experienced the most unpleasant job of her screen career during the filming of "The House of Intrigue."

Portraying an espionage agent, she is smuggled into a foreign country. After paddling a rubber raft to shore from a submarine, she has to cut her way through an expansive maze of barbed wire, crawling a part of the way on her stomach.

"We spent three nights shooting this sequence," she says. "It was the most unpleasant job I've ever had to do in pictures. It was a job paddling the raft in rough water, and then have to cover so much distance by crawling on my stomach wasn't easy. I was glad when the sequence finally was done exactly as the director wanted it."

Singer Wins Pre-Divorce Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A judge awarded singer Helen O'Connell temporary alimony and child support totaling $900 monthly pending trial of her divorce suit against novelist Thomas Chamales.

She told the court she has not seen Chamales since Dec. 31 and has had to pawn jewelry and dismiss the help at their home to meet living expenses.

Miss O'Connell, 38, said Chamales, 45, author of "Never So Few," is on a boat off the Florida coast writing a magazine story. They have a daughter, Helen Maria, 18 months, and Miss O'Connell has three children by a former marriage.

Writers Guild Wins TV Cause

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Writers Guild of America now has reached a settlement with 37 independent film companies in a dispute over revenue from post-1948 films released to television.

The guild reached agreement with three more film companies last week—Gary Cooper's Abaton Productions, Otto Preminger's Baroda and Carlyle Productions and Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions.

The strike against the independents is "virtually won," said Ken Englund, president of the guild's screen branch.

The independents reportedly agreed to pay writers four per cent of the producers' TV profits.

The guild's month-long strike against major film studios is continuing.

Planning Divorce

PARIS (AP)—The newspaper France-Soir reported actor Yul Brynner plans a divorce so that he may marry Doris Kleiner, a Chilean who has lived in Paris for several years.

The newspaper said Brynner left for the United States to talk to his lawyers about a Mexican divorce from Virginia Gilmore.

Sagan Continues Divorce Plans

PARIS (AP)—Novelist Françoise Sagan and her estranged husband today went through the reconciliation hearing required by French divorce law and declined to reconcile. A court announcement said the divorce action would proceed.

Both Miss Sagan and her husband, Guy Schoeller, have filed suit, but in France the grounds on which divorce is sought are not made public.

Cutting Down

NEW YORK (AP)—More and more Broadway playwrights are agreeing with the economic restraints of theatrical producers. In plotting their stage stories they are cutting down on the number of players and the changes of scenery needed.

Newest in this trend is "Under the Yum Yum Tree," a comedy by Lawrence Roman which demands a cast of only four people. It is a love story placed in San Francisco today.

Mercy Killing Is Central Theme Of 'The Bramble Bush'

"The Bramble Bush" is based on the novel by Charles Merzdahl, which aroused some controversy.

The film is a Milton Sperling United States Pictures production for Warner Bros. and shows Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz.

"The Bramble Bush" cast is headlined by Richard Burton, Barbara Rush, Jack Carson, Angie Dickinson, James Dunn, Henry Jones and Tom Drake. It is directed in Technicolor by Daniel Petrie, stage and television director making his film bow.

The picture deals with the scandals of a small Cape Cod town. Richard Burton returns to Hollywood for his first film there in three years. It is also the first time he has portrayed an American on the screen, "and," he says, "practically the first time I have ever been out of a period costume."

In "The Bramble Bush" Burton enacts the New England doctor who returns to his home town to care for his best friend who is dying of an incurable disease, falls in love with his best friend's wife.

The unhappy wife is played by Barbara Rush. Jack Carson returns in a straight dramatic role—the kind, he says, he wanted to do "during all my 11 years as a Warner comedian."

His role in "The Bramble Bush" is that of a brass lawyer who is backing for district attorney and who successfully defends Burton mercy-killing case. One reason he stopped being an every-picture comic, Carson reports, is that his children "didn't like me making faces on the screen."

Angie Dickinson is Fran, the bewitching nurse who has two men—Burton and Carson—in her life. His first film role in 11 years is played by James Dunn, the likeable Irishman, who won an Academy Award for "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," and who was in all those early Shirley Temple pictures. Dunn plays the town drunk in "The Bramble Bush," and more than that, the man who is responsible for much of Burton's emotional distress.

The photographer who has the camera with the evil eye on Angie Dickinson is portrayed by Henry Jones, whose familiarity with stage and screen evil goes back to "The Bad Seed." He was the baleful janitor in that one.

DICKINSON, BURTON & RUSH
Was the killing for love or kindness?

Angie Dickinson Advises Actresses: Don't Worry

In the five years she has been aiming at — and getting closer to — film stardom, Angie Dickinson has learned one important thing: to wit, Don't Worry.

"Any girl who wants to establish herself as an actress has to learn to keep the worry valves turned off," she said. "Otherwise she'll be a wreck in a few months — a worry wreck."

Angie says she spent sleepless nights and nail-gnawing days wondering if she would or wouldn't get a certain role. "Then I'd continue, those sleepless nights and fretful days wondering if the scene I had played was any good."

"I found I wasn't getting anywhere — except thinner and neurotic." So she decided that once she had tried for a role, that was it, and once she had played a scene, that was it. "When I completed my first big role in 'Rio Bravo,'" she declared, "I didn't give it another thought. The whole thing was out of my hands. I did the best I could, and I knew that Warners would do the best they could to see that it was well made and well publicized. So I forgot about it and started looking forward to my next film role."

Her next film role was again at Warner Bros. (where she is now under an exclusive contract) in "The Bramble Bush."

"I'm even a more professional non-worryer now," she says. "I worked hard on my scenes and tried to make each one better than the one before. But I didn't worry about them."

Despite this commendable attitude, Angie isn't necessarily a blithe spirit. She is a thoughtful, lively girl who has directed her beauty, her talent and her energies toward an acting career, and is beginning to see stardom on the horizon.

Besides that, she has the prettiest legs in Hollywood.

Bobby Clark, Comic, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Oldtime comedian Bobby Clark, 71, died Friday at his home here.

His wife said he had been suffering from a virus condition for about three weeks, but that his death resulted from a heart spasm.

Clark, once a member of the famous burlesque comedy team of Clark & McCullough, had been in retirement more than a year. Clark was a member of the governing body of the Lambs, a theatrical club.

The comedian, whose formal name was Robert E. Clark, was 17 when he and Paul McCullough formed their vaudeville team. They appeared together until McCullough's death in 1936.

After the death of W. C. Fields, Clark often was called the last of the old-time funny men. Clark was born in Springfield, Ohio, June 16, 1888. His first stage appearance in his long theatrical career was in Springfield's Grand Opera House in May 1902, in the role of an attendant in "Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks."

He subsequently appeared in minstrel shows, circuses, vaudeville and burlesque. Clark was married in 1923 to Angelle Gaigant, who survives him. They had no children. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Snake Charmers Play For K

NEW DELHI (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev relaxed with the snake charmers Friday. After a morning of discussing international affairs, Khrushchev and Prime Minister Nehru appeared on the lawn of Nehru's residence. Several snake charmers were brought up — apparently at Khrushchev's request — and spent 15 minutes serenading their cobras with weird notes from flutelike horns.

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

There will be a slew of visitors to Big Spring when HCJC sponsors the state one-act play contest.

Fred Short, who's chairman of the contest, is calling on citizens with hospitable hearts and warm hearths to provide housing for the collegians who will be here March 11.

If you have an extra bed, call Short at HCJC.

"We didn't do anything but go to rehearsals and concerts," was the comment of one of five high school band students who took part in the All-State Band fiesta in Austin.

Their schedule was so crowded, in fact, that the only recreation they took part in was a Friday night dance to which they were invited.

"But," said the unhappy student, "we only had 30 minutes, there was spectator capacity, and then they took a 30-minute break just as we got there."

Changes in Fred Short's "The Petrified Forest": Terry Stanley has dropped out of a lead role, at last report not yet replaced. Chuck Worley is assistant director, and dialogue and drama coach.

Short took off Saturday for the Texas Theatre Educators Association meeting at San Angelo College.

The Civic Theatre workshop has had "wonderful response," in the words of Frankie Bledsoe, chairman. He reported at least four new faces at last week's meeting, plus a lot of theatre members who had not previously taken part in workshop activities. In addition, Frankie says she's received quite a few phone calls from prospective members.

Entries may not have won any previous awards. In the song division, the text may be sacred or secular, original or public domain. No pops wanted.

Budding authors and composers may mail their manuscripts to Paul Peck, 406 E. 47th Street, Odessa.

With work progressing both on the Playhouse and in workshop, the Civic Theatre stands a chance of building a permanent, strong organization.

If it doesn't die first of malnutrition, it works both ways. If the public is given something pretty soon in exchange for the public property given the theatre, said public will lose what little interest in attendance it already has developed. And if the Civic Theatre doesn't rise above its interminable warfare, soon there will be no new prospects left to recruit.

It has been the policy of The Herald (not necessarily this writer) not to have any organization's dirty linen up for the public to see. But this rule applies primarily to private organizations and the inevitable politicking that plagues all groups.

A group like the Civic Theatre is borderline—it is private but non-profit and is open to all citizens. And it has benefited greatly from city aid and from public domain of Cosden.

Even so, we are loathe to mention the theatre's troubles in print. It is done only because the theatre group has reached that point at which it must grow and develop, or die.

The theatre has rocked and rolled and bumbled its way through one crisis after another and has always survived by dint of a hard core of loyal members. But each crisis has seen some of the hard core whittled away, and numbers of newer or weaker members giving up.

If the group attempts to continue as it is, without the thorough-going overhaul and re-organization it so sorely needs, there still will be too few members to carry through what certainly will be the theatre's increased role in community affairs.

To fail to meet this new role would mean the certain death of the Civic Theatre.

The situation has not yet reached the stage where it is necessary to name names. The theatre would already be dead before that point were reached. But we can say it is not the entire fault of the one man who usually gets all the blame. The Civic Theatre's troubles mainly lie in its lack of effective organization and leadership.

These latter ailments may be cured by upcoming constitutional revisions and elections.

Sanity Hearing Due Monday For Mrs. Rosa Bustamente

A hearing to determine the sanity of Rosa Bustamente, young Latin American mother accused of murdering her 9-month-old daughter, may be the first matter to be called for disposition when 118th District Court convenes Monday.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that regardless of the outcome of the sanity hearing, no attempt would be made this week to try Mrs. Bustamente. If she is held to be sane her case would be set for trial later. If she is held to be mentally incompetent, trial of the case against her would be indefinitely delayed. The hearing may be brief.

The young woman is alleged to have caused the death of her young daughter on June 29, 1957. The baby, one of twins, died 12 hours after an alleged beating.

IN HOSPITAL
Soon afterwards, Mrs. Busta-mente was committed to the Big Spring State Hospital. She was released from the hospital late in 1959.

The Howard County grand jury which convened on Jan. 25 returned an indictment against her alleging murder with malice.

George Thomas is attorney for Mrs. Bustamente.

Jones was uncertain as to the order in which he would call the cases he has tentatively docketed for disposition this week. Several defendants, represented by Clyde Thomas, veteran attorney, will not go on trial because their lawyer is ill and in the hospital.

OTHER CASES
Jones said that other cases slated for trial will have to be handled as they develop. He will make his choice of matters to be heard when Judge Ralph Caton calls the docket on Monday morning. Several of the defendants slated for trial have indicated they may desire to enter pleas of guilty. Cleveland Jackson, charged with theft by bailee, who backed up when given a chance last week to plead guilty, has reportedly changed his mind again. He now wants to plead to the charge, according to reports. Jones filed the motion asking that the court revoke the probation of a five-year sentence over Jackson, and Judge Caton has set the hearing for Wednesday.

Lay Preachers
EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The Evangelical and Reformed Church is considering commissioning "lay leaders and lay readers" to meet an acute shortage of clergymen, says the Rev. Dr. John R. C. Haas, first vice president of the denomination.

first semester. The students making the roll were freshmen, Kay Bryan, Jeanna Epley, Bud Glaspie, Martha Johnson, Linda Phillips, Nancy Robnett and Ted Stewart. Sophomores, Marsha Bristow, Mona Epley, Frances Graves, Dorothy Lawson, Glenda Payne and Margaret Ragland.

Those in the junior class were Carolyn Manning, Bobby Sale, Lipda Saunders and Weems Williams. Seniors were Joyce Anderson, Joetta Franklin, Kathy Hardison, Linda Hilger, Glen Reid, Sandra Sale, Sharon Sale, Becky Smith, Veronica Sorley and Carl Wright.

The seniors have chosen their play and cast. Directors, Mrs. Corrine Cage and Mr. Jack Scannel chose Glen Reid, Donna Swanson, Joetta Franklin, Sandra Sale, Gracie Welch, Dewayne Thompson, Pocky Britton, Carl Wright, Dorothy Hull, Veronica Sorley, Buzzy Brewer, Norman Donelson, Alton Robertson, Royce Boyce, Don Pollock, Bobby Kelly and Fred Houston to stage the production.

The basketball season is almost over for the Buffs. This season seems to have been one of our best. Our teams played Coahoma Tuesday night. The boys won, but the girls lost. Starting players on the boys' team are Norman Donelson, Alton Robertson, Ronnie Airhart, Don Pollock and Herb Sorley. Starters on the girls' team are Carolyn Kelly, Frances Graves, Elida Reyna, Janice Glaze, Gracie Welch, and La Verne Morris. Thanks to all these starters and the other players who put in long hours of hard work to make this a good season.

The Student Council decided to select the representatives for the state meeting by giving the interested students a test on the workings of the student council. The students having the highest score will then be voted on by the council. The meeting will be held March 31-April 2 in Amarillo.

We are also proud to say that Stanton has been chosen to be host to the district literary events. The date for the event has not been set yet.

Winds Down Lines
CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP) — Electric power lines serving this resort city were ripped down Friday by high winds. Water stopped flowing through most pipes serving the city as electric power to operate the pumps failed.
