East Is Blasted By Snow

A staggering onslaught of snow-reinforced by bone-chilling winds - kept portions of the East paralyzed Saturday while a new storm pelted the Central Plains and rolled northeastward.

Hundreds of motorists remained stranded on the New York State Thruway from Syracuse to Buffalo. Gale-force winds scooped more than two feet of snow into 15-foot drifts.

The storm which rolled across the South at midweek and then punched northward along the Atlantic seaboard buried vast sections of Upstate New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

At least 18 deaths as a result of the storm were reported in five states.

TRAFFIC STALLED Traffic over the normally busy Pennsylvania Turnpike was tied up nearly 36 hours before men and machines won a battle against snow and wind.

Parts of the big superhighway were closed for 185 miles until traffic began moving had been closed since Thursday night.

Show up to three feet swamped the western slopes of the Allegheny Mountains, and drifts topped 10 feet in many places. Motels, restaurants and churches were places of refuge for thousands of motorists.

More than 300 persons crammed into a small restaurant at Somerset, Pa., along the turnpike. They played cards, slept, read magazines, drank coffee - and even offered to help wash the dishes.

Aside from the thruway, other main roads in storm-raked areas of New York State were either closed or open only to one-way traffic. All forms of public transportation were snarled.

Tow-trucks struggled to move abandoned vehicles to clear the way for plows along the snow-clogged thruway. State troopers counted 90 tractor-trailers, 300 passenger cars and 6 buses abandoned on a one-mile stretch south of Rochester.

WORST POUNDING To the south, Maryland was given its worst wintry pounding in two dozen years as up to 31 inches of snow covered mountains in western counties of the state.

Relief was seen Saturday afternoon when the winds which had hit 50 to 60 miles an hour over sections of New York and Pennsylvania began tapering off. Temperatures in the storm area were generally below freezing.

The Western storm hurled a 6-inch snow blanket across portions of Kansas and menaced traffic with slicked highways. Hazardous driving conditions were predicted for eastern Colorado, the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles and south-central Nebraska.

Heavy snow was expected to extend northeastward across the Middle Mississippi Valley and into the Great Lakes region by Sunday. The Weather Bureau said it would miss the South, which was swept by two severe winter storms in a week.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

We'll be getting ready for the big count around here before long. Last week Louis Stallings and Matt Harrington were announced as crew leaders for the Howard County population census.

Perhaps a favorable sign was in the school enrollment figures of 6,633 as of Feb. 12, a gain of 18 over the previous week. Since the first of the year, enrollment had dropped by 100 before starting back up.

Indications now are that the State Board of Water Engineers will set a hearing date in April on the CRMWD application for a permit to impound a new lake in southern Mitchell County. Engineers and attorneys have completed the preliminary work and board members hinted a hearing time will be fixed soon.

David Leach, 34-year-old escape artist, walked away from the courtroom in Colorado City last week 15 minutes before a jury returned with a guilty verdict for him. He was captured two and a half days later at Pecos. He had been serving a misdemeanor term in the Mitchell jail before trial for tearing up his jail cell. He was using the same technique which helped him get out of the new Howard County jail a few years back.

Tragedy visited the city at the first of the week when Leland David Savell, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Savell, got hold of some insecticide and ap-

Castro Offers Proof

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro tells a nationwide television audience in Havana that he holds the shattered fuselage parts of a light plane which he said was based in the U.S. and which planned to bomb Cuban sugar mills. He said the plane exploded over Matanzas province, killing its two occupants. The U.S. later admitted they were Americans and apologized.

Castro Unsatisfied With U. S. Apology For Cuban Plane Raid

HAVANA (AP)—The newspaper of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary movement Saturday called Washington's apology for its private plane raid "a moral victory." But it said apology was not enough and demanded sweeping action against anti-Castro activities in the United States.

T&P Man Is New Head County United Fund

K. D. Hestes, superintendent of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company's Western Division, has been elected president of the Howard County United Fund.

Hestes, who has been serving as vice president, was elevated Friday evening to this post, succeeding Raymond River. Other officers named at the annual meeting of the trustees were Randall Polk, vice president; John Currie, treasurer; W. H. Wharton, secretary.

The new president warmly praised River for an outstanding job as president and noted that River was largely responsible for holding shrinkage to 2.8 per cent of the total pledged.

The financial statement for the year ended Dec. 31, 1959 showed receipts of $87,442 (this was on the campaign in the autumn of 1958); payments of $78,159 to agencies; $11,618 annual operation and campaign expenses. The fund had to dip $1,426 into its reserves.

River, recalling that the budget last year approached $97,000, said there was need to strengthen the payroll deduction plan, starting Friday. He also suggested that out-of-town collections be started in June.

Headed by Horace Garrett, last year's campaign chairman, several received certificates of appreciation. River lauded Garrett and other leaders who served under him.

The annual contract with the Air Force Aid Society was approved. One additional request for participation by the Little League was referred to committee.

Diary Tells Tragic Story Of Airmen Lost In Desert

By HANNS NEUERBOURG WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—"No hope yet, very cold nite." That's the despairing final notation in a diary covering the Libyan Desert trek of the crew of the U.S. B24 bomber "Lady Be Good."

2nd Lt. Robert F. Toner of North Attleboro, Mass., one of nine men who perished in what the U.S. Air Force describes as "one of the greatest mysteries in aviation history," pencilled the words into a small notebook in the desert April 12, 1943.

That was eight days after they ran out of gas and took to their parachutes. They were returning to North Africa from an attack on Naples, Italy, their first combat mission of World War II.

The bombardier, 2nd Lt. John S. Woravka of Cleveland, apparently was lost during the jump. The others reassembled and hiked north toward the Mediterranean, nearly 800 miles away, in hopes of reaching their base at Solukh Field, Libya.

Toner, a blond, 26-year-old former garageman and car salesman, told of prayer and courage in a battle against the elements - thirst they could quench with only about a thimbleful of water a day, desert glare and blistering heat by day, near-freezing cold by night.

The Air Force released the diary Saturday: "Sunday, Apr. 4, Naples - 28 planes - things well mixed up - got lost returning, out of gas, jumped, landed in desert at 2 a.m. morning, no one badly hurt, can't find John, all others reset. (Meaning they reassembled.)

Ike Gets Set For His Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sets out next week on a personal mission aimed at demonstrating that the United States wants to be a good partner and a good neighbor to Latin America.

Sunday night, on the eve of his departure, Eisenhower will discuss his plans for the trip in a 15-minute speech to be carried nationally on radio and television.

The President worked Saturday on the speech, which White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said will also contain some references to the nation's defenses.

The speech, starting at 6:15 p.m., will be carried live by the ABC and CBS television networks and by ABC and Mutual Radio. There will be a film showing on NBC-TV at 6:30 p.m. and delayed radio broadcasts on CBS at 8:15 p.m. and on NBC at 8:35 p.m.

Monday morning the President will set out on a 15,500-mile tour that will take him to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay, the four southernmost nations of the hemisphere. His return to Washington is scheduled for March 6, following a rest in Puerto Rico.

SECOND OF THREE The tour is the second of three he has planned in an effort to improve world understanding. In December, he visited 11 nations of Europe, the Middle East and Africa. A June tour of the Soviet Union and the Far East is in the works.

A generally warm reception seems assured for the President in Latin America. But officials here are not overlooking the possibility of isolated demonstrations by Yankee-haters.

Some demonstrations reportedly had been planned in protest of the scheduled execution of convicted kidnaper Caryl Chessman. A Friday reprieve for Chessman may have taken the steam from such plans.

There has been some criticism from U.S. and Latin American sources that Eisenhower has neglected the lands to the South. The President himself has said he feels his administration has made great efforts to develop better inter-American understanding.

He apparently is seeking new ways to improve such understanding, and is taking with him on his tour the eight members of his National Advisory Committee on Inter-American Relations.

The committee, headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and including the President's brother, Milton S. Eisenhower, is charged with bringing forth creative new ideas for improving U.S.-Latin American relations.

Manual's Author Defends Charges

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Homer H. Hyde, author of a repudiated Air Force manual that said Communists have infiltrated churches, said Saturday he would welcome an investigation of his charges.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. has ordered a sweeping review of all service publications.

Hyde, 54, for 18 years a civilian education specialist at Lackland Air Force Base, said he has received telegrams of support from Reps. Will Smith (R-Kans.) and Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) and offers from numerous persons in all parts of the country offering him their personal files concerning Communist infiltration of churches.

Hyde defended his manual, written for noncommissioned officers, at a news conference yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, commander of the base training center, insisted however that Hyde confine his remarks at the conference to the manual and its background but said Hyde could express his personal views while off duty.

At a press conference today Hyde said: "Concerning Communist infiltration into religions in the United States, I would welcome a complete and full scale investigation into all aspects of Communist activities in the United States, especially the infiltration into our churches and religious activities.

"From the records I have examined, I'm fully convinced the greatest danger to our way of life is the insidious infiltration of Communists into various phases of American life and particularly in the churches.

"The Communists are using our churches because people tend to believe what they hear from the pulpit as gospel truth."

He said he received the following telegram from Rep. Smith: "You have rendered a patriotic service. Men before you have been demoted and fired for daring to write and tell the truth. Anyone with an eighth grade education knows there are many so-called ministers peddling Communist propaganda."

He said Rep. Jackson sent this telegram: "My congratulations to you on your forthright statement respecting the manual and its background but said Hyde could express his personal views while off duty.

DOT Ignores Campaign For Lyndon

HOUSTON (AP)—Liberal Democrats of Texas ignored the presidential nomination boom for Sen. Lyndon Johnson Saturday and pledged support to national party candidates "whoever they may be."

A resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the Democrats of Texas Club (DOT) did not mention Johnson by name but warned that the party must not be diverted by "mere intra-party contention for the presidential nomination."

The 300 DOT members also endorsed Mrs. R. D. Randolph, their state chairman, for renomination as national committee woman from Texas.

Mrs. Randolph and Johnson long have been known to be at odds on party policy and the liberals applauded vigorously when she said: "The purpose of our meeting is to bring issues of this election year into sharp focus, holding our stand on principals instead of personalities," issues rather than individuals.

RUMOR DENIED She later asserted there is no truth to reports she and Johnson had reached an agreement not to oppose each other openly during the 1960 campaign.

"I have not seen her talked with the senator," she said. "The group said it would appeal to the national party if they are made victims of what they called trickery in the selection of Texas delegates to the national convention."

While demanding what they called their "share of the delegates," the DOT took slaps at Johnson and also at Speaker Sam Rayburn and Gov. Price Daniel.

The DOT said they would support the party nominees "whoever they may be." They praised Sen. Ralph Yarborough for voting to limit Johnson's authority as Senate majority leader.

The Yarborough resolution took in both Johnson and Rayburn when it said: "There seems to be an uncommon tendency on the part of the Texas delegation in Washington to conform and to join into the category of 'me too-ism.'"

REQUIRES COURAGE "These same pseudo Democrats, particularly the leadership, tend to criticize and castigate any and everyone who opposes them. To oppose the leadership of the Texas delegation requires courage, fortitude, integrity, and a true sense of democracy."

Albert Prew, issues committee chairman drew applause when he said: "We hear too much about favorite sons and not enough about principles."

While the resolutions and other speakers failed to mention Johnson, Rayburn and Daniel by name, Creekmore Fath, DOT secretary-treasurer from Austin, devoted a major portion of his annual report to Johnson.

Fath charged that delegates being groomed for the May state convention "are being indoctrinated for a Johnson push only."

KEEP SCORE He suggested the liberals help him keep score to see which Texas newspapers are for Johnson in July but for vice president Richard Nixon in November.

"We have a job to perform for the Democratic party in Texas in 1960," he said. "We have to tend the garden when the Johnson grass is dead and the Johnson grass farmers are cultivating Nixon weed."

"This is a tough year for Democrats, but there is hope in the air. Nixon cannot be our future. And I do not believe that Johnson is our destiny. We must have faith in the Lord, but we must keep our powder dry. We must not let the least-loved and most-feared man Texas politics has ever seen intimidate the party faithful."

Fath charged that Texans have been subjected "to a masterful brain washing job by the Texas press to the effect Sen. Johnson's course of accommodation with the Republicans in the Senate has been good for the Democratic party."

MODERATION MESS "To the contrary," he said, "what is good for Sen. Johnson is not good for the Democratic party—and I don't think it is good for the country — and the morass of moderation in which we are mired as a nation is as much a tribute to Sen. Johnson as it is to Eisenhower."

Even Manuals Telling How To Write Manuals

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the military's mighty mass of manuals there are even manuals that tell how to write manuals.

Each of the services has its own set of manuals — training, technical instructions, advice on many things.

No one at the Pentagon seems quite sure of the number, but it apparently runs to about 2,000. The Air Force says about 600 of its training manuals are in print, the Navy estimates it has 300, and an index of Army publications indicates that perhaps as many as 1,000 of these are current.

The pamphlets include not only guidance subjects like the controversial Air Force discussion of communism in churches, but how-to-do-it instructions on firing a rifle or maintaining a truck.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. has ordered a sweeping review of all of them in the wake of a series of public outcries.

Gates told the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force that they will be held accountable for any more "glaring inaccuracies" or lack of common sense and good taste in their training manuals.

He asked them to recommend any needed changes in the methods of preparing the booklets.

Most of the technical manuals are written by specialists, military or civilian, in individual branches of the services. However, each of the services also has its staff of professional writers to whom manual subjects are assigned.

The Air Force says it has such writers at the Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. Training Command Headquarters. Six are noncommissioned officers and 19 are civilians. Among the latter is Homer H. Hyde, who prepared the reserve training manual that contains the disputed reference to Communist infiltration of religion.

The Navy currently has 208 persons assigned to writing manuals and similar publications. Of these, 163 are in Washington, 45 in Memphis, Tenn.

The Army, with a bigger system in which personnel often have duties other than manual writing, was unable to give an exact total.

Symington's Hope Rises Over Spat

WASHINGTON (AP) — People who would like to see Sen. Stuart Symington nominated for president said Saturday the Missouri Democrat has hit political pay dirt in attacking administration defense policies.

They cited what they called a tenfold increase in favorable mail received by Symington as reaffirming their belief.

Some Democrats have despaired of the idea that any of their number can tilt with President Eisenhower in military matters and not come off second best in public opinion. But Symington's mail was regarded by his aides as indicating that his attack on what the Democrats call "missile gap" complacency is making headway.

Cold Front Veers Away From State

By The Associated Press A cold front that threatened to bring snow to the Texas Panhandle veered north into Oklahoma Saturday. Much of Central, East and South Texas received light rains during the day.

The weather was fair and cold in the Texas Panhandle Saturday night. Daltart had 23 degrees and Amarillo 25. A low of 10 degrees was forecast for Sunday morning.

Temperatures Saturday varied from 37 at Amarillo to 73 at Kingsville. Most readings were in the 50s and low 60s.

Austin had 40 of an inch of rain, San Antonio .16, Waco .25, Beville .10, Tyler .38, Longview .43, Harlingen .21, Sherman .27, Fort Worth .26 and Dallas .28.

Draft Dodger, But 200 Battles

TAIPEI (AP) — Top generals of Nationalist China turned out last weekend for the 90th birthday of Shen Chi-ping, retired army sergeant credited with fighting in 200 battles. Born in Manchuria's Wanhua (Thousand-Flower) village, he avoided military service until he was 54 and then served 28 years.

DIDN'T BARTER FOR WATER, ONLY A HOLE FOR A POLE

A worker drilling postholes got water instead Friday afternoon. A Texas Electric Service crew had been battling rock all day with a posthole digging machine. West of the Cedar Road and Marcy Drive intersection, the drill bored into something that wasn't rock, however. Water seeped 30 to 40 feet into the air.

The drill had ruptured the 20-inch main serving Webb AFB. Some four hours later at 8:30 p.m. the pipe had been welded and pressure was restored in the area.

An Interest In Hearts

Interest in hearts is more than academic for these three, who are looking over plans for a regional heart seminar here April 2. At left is Mrs. Peggy Tabbs, who is one of few to overcome bacteriocarditis, an infection of the valve. She also was the first on record to survive fungus type infection on a heart valve. In the center is Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Howard County Heart chapter chairman, and at right is Dr. John Burnett, president of the Permian Basin Heart chapter.

Big Spring To Be Host For Heart Seminar In April

While Heart Month is being observed in February and Heart Sunday today, preparations are going forward for an important regional heart seminar here in April. Under the sponsorship of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Heart Association, two outstanding specialists will come here for a series of professional lectures on April 2. They are Dr. J. Willis Hurst, chairman of the department of medicine at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Hugh Wilson III, chairman of the department of cardiac surgery at Southwestern Medical College in Dallas.

Dr. Hurst will speak on arteriosclerotic diseases (heart attack) and Dr. Wilson will project a film of actual heart surgery and will speak on congenital (from birth) heart defects. Afternoon sessions will be held at Webb AFB academic building, and in the evening the doctors and their wives will join with lay delegates for a dinner meeting. Dr. Hurst and Dr. Wilson will speak on subjects of lay interest.

Approximately 200 invitations have gone out to physicians from Abilene to San Angelo to Pecos to Lubbock, urging them to take part in this one-day seminar. Some of the top officials in the Texas Heart Association will be here for the affair.

Dr. Josh Burnett is president of the Permian Basin Association and is in charge of arrangements. Working with him closely in planning for the event is Mrs. Larson Lloyd, chairman of the Howard County division, one of the financial supporters of the event. During this month several programs have been presented locally to focus attention upon the strides being made in combating or mitigating the effects of heart diseases, and in educating the public in importance of periodic medical checks as they may relate to the heart. Several service clubs have had talks about the heart by physicians.

Mrs. Lloyd pointed out that although no formal drive is being made for funds (because the local chapter is in the United Fund), the vital role of the heart association in this all-out campaign to control this No. 1 cause of death is being stressed this month.

Bad Adding, Incomplete Facts Are Commonest Tax Failings

It doesn't matter how much you had to pay for cigarette taxes in 1959—you can't claim the expense as an income tax deduction in Texas. Ben Hawkins, administrative officer, Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service, says that a lot of taxpayers with the old smoking habit want to know if the tax they pay per pack can be listed in their legal income tax deductions. And he says the answer is just plain "No."

GEORGE ARCHER

Contract Is Extended

The Gay Hill school board Friday night voted to extend the contract of George Archer, principal, for an additional two years. Archer is serving the closing months of the first of a two-year contract. The extension will continue him in the post for three years.

Archer has been a member of the Gay Hill school faculty for five years and principal for one year. Gay Hill school has an enrollment of 95. It employs nine teachers, including Archer. Archer is also president of the Howard County Teachers Assn. Members of the Gay Hill school board are Neil Spencer, president; Virgil Little, secretary; T. A. Norman, Jeff Painter, Henry Moates, L. T. Underwood and Ulysses Hall.

Political Rally

Seventh and eighth grade students at Gay Hill School are sponsoring a pie supper and political rally at the school on next Friday night. All candidates have been advised of the rally and assured that opportunity will be found for them to speak in behalf of their candidacies. The general public is also invited.

Now that hundreds of taxpayers are working on their returns the Internal Revenue Service discovers that John Q. Citizen is making about the same common errors he has always made at this season of the year. Hawkins says that 25 per cent of the telephone inquiries in his office deal with two problems.

EXEMPTIONS
One of the most common is the question of the taxpayer claiming an exemption for himself.

"The taxpayer is entitled to at least one exemption," Hawkins explains. "A wife cannot file a separate return and fail to claim an exemption for herself in Texas since she must split the total family income with the husband under the community property law. A school child is entitled to his or her exemption in addition to the father claiming the exemption under a special provision of the law."

Another common error of local taxpayers involves this same community property law. Many taxpayers fail to observe these laws. Husband and wife must file a joint return or split the income under the community property law of Texas. Taxpayers who move to Texas from other states sometimes find this provision of the law difficult to understand.

COMMON ERRORS
Other commoner errors which make this season difficult for the IRS workers:
Many taxpayers file separate Form 1040-A for each W-2 they re-

This Kills Hopes For Trade Treaty

VIENNA (AP) — Bulgarians were told this week they should give up their open admiration of Western products, especially automobiles. The Sofia Communist newspaper Narodna Mladost declared many such objects result from colonial exploitation.

ceived during the year. Such taxpayers worked for several employers and do not realize they should total their income and the tax withheld on one Form 1040-A. Many returns received by the IRS come in without signatures. Some of these are joint returns and must be signed by both husband and wife.

Taxpayers continue to make arithmetical errors. The IRS urges that taxpayers check their figures carefully before sending in their reports.

WRONG FORMS
Use of the wrong forms is also a rather frequent development. Taxpayers file 1040-A and 1040-W forms when interest income of more than $200 requires they file a form 1040.

Some taxpayers fail to list dependents. It is imperative that the names of all dependents be set down on the form. Failure to do so may result in further delay in refunds.

If you are using the 1040W form note that it is printed backward from Form 1040. This results in a lot of taxpayers reversing the entries on wages and taxes withheld.

A considerable number of 1040-A forms are being received on which the taxpayers name, his employing company or companies and the amount of taxes withheld are all of the information provided. However the wages received must be included.

NO TOTALS
Other 1040A forms are being received where taxpayers who worked for more than one employer during the year fail to total their wages and the amounts of tax withheld. Such incorrectly submitted reports have to be sent back by the IRS for correction.

Hawkins stresses several matters which he says are important to the taxpayer making out his income tax report:

Read the instructions carefully. Check the arithmetic. Be certain the report is signed. Make certain the W-2 forms are attached. And he adds one more suggestion—File early!

Panel To Study Cities' Growth

AUSTIN — The University of Texas School of Journalism will conduct a public affairs reporting conference on "Texas Cities and the Population Explosion" and the leadership role of Texas newspapers in facing those problems March 28-29.

Two authorities on municipal expansion and city development will deliver the principal addresses: Charles Luckman, Los Angeles architect and former president of Lever Brothers, and Douglas Haskell of New York City, Architectural Forum magazine editor.

The conference also will feature discussions led by panels drawn from journalism, government, economics and architecture. Topics due for consideration include:

- Have Texas cities wisely used zoning authority to avoid inner decay?
- How can cities find new sources of revenue to finance bold planning for tomorrow?
- Already 13 Texas cities have voted down urban renewal, and 23 have approved; what factors should govern such a decision?
- Can smaller cities avoid the mistakes metropolitan ones have made?
- Can a city maintain a flourishing downtown business and at the same time develop suburban shopping centers?
- What kind of city planning procedures seem most effective?
- How can a newspaper help to focus intelligent public attention on the basic issues?

Cooperating in conference plans were the Texas Municipal League, Texas Research League, Texas Legislative Council, newspaper people and the University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs and School of Architecture.

Labor Unit Posts $2,500 In Essay Contest Awards

AUSTIN — More than $2,500 in cash scholarship awards is being offered to graduating seniors of Texas high schools in the Texas State AFL-CIO's annual essay contest, the state labor organization announced this week.

Writers of the best essays on either of two subjects will receive awards of from $50 to $500. Jerry Holleman, the organization's president said.

Entrants in the essay contest may write on either of two subjects: "Labor's Role in our Society" or "Do We Need Unions?" Deadline for submission of essays is April 15 and winners will be announced around May 15, Texas State AFL-CIO president Jerry Holleman announced.

The contest is open to graduating seniors of any public, private or parochial high school in Texas. Participating students do not have to come from union families or have any connection with organized labor, Holleman pointed out. Information may be had from the state headquarters, 402 W. 13th, Austin.

Mayor, Zachariah Issue Statements Of Candidacy

"The present members of the city commission are familiar with the plans and designs of the master plan and I would like to see them return to office for the benefit of Big Spring."

With this statement, Mayor Lee O. Rogers made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Big Spring City Commission. The election is scheduled for April 5.

Mayor Rogers has served two terms on the city commission and held office nine years on the Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission. He also served a two-year term on the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

He has participated in the Master Plan program from its early beginnings to the present time and he has urged fellow Big Springers to participate in city development.

"We must look ahead and plan for future generations so they can carry on an orderly development of Big Spring. This can be done by following the procedures this commission has established by citizen participation in the Master Plan Committee and the planning and zoning board."

"I would like to see the master plan carried on to full development," he said "and I offer my services to this end."

Strike Ends

CHICAGO (AP) — Ratification of a two-year contract has ended the violence-marred 109-day strike by the United Packinghouse Workers of America Union at seven Wilson & Co. plants.

George Zachariah, one term member of the Big Spring City Commission, filed for re-election last week with the statement, "I offer my services in the hope it will be for the good of the public."

A well-known Cosden Petroleum Corp. employee, Zachariah has repeatedly voiced confidence in the will of the people.

"I suppose few groups are infallible," he said, "but the present commission has tried to act in the best interests of Big Spring."

Zachariah has served on numerous commission committees and has stood with the rest of the commission in strong support of the master plan. This planning has meant many extra meetings, sometimes every night of the week.

"If I am returned to office, I will continue to serve and vote in the best interests of the people," he said.

Big Spring voters will elect three members to the commission April 5. Terms of Zachariah, John Taylor and Mayor Lee O. Rogers expire and all three have filed for re-election. Deadline for filing is March 5.

It's Better Than Subway Packing

ROME (AP) — Rome has decided to try double-decker buses like those of London and the ones that use to roll on New York's Fifth Avenue. Rome streets have about all the buses they can take and the present buses can't handle all the passengers.

Consolidation Vote Slated On Saturday

School patrons of the Elbow and Forsan school districts vote next Saturday on a proposal to consolidate the two districts.

County Judge Ed Carpenter's office said that 400 ballots have been printed and all election supplies assembled for the election. Ballot boxes will be set up in each school.

The county commissioners court will probably canvass the election returns on Feb. 29.

Elbow is an elementary school—one of the four common schools remaining in the county. Forsan is an independent school district with elementary and high school grades.

The two districts touch each other geographically. It has been the custom for many of the Elbow pupils on completing grade school, to go to Forsan high school.

Petitions asking for the consolidation election were filed in January with Judge Carpenter.

Death Site Arson Probe

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—An arson investigator Monday will start poking through the charred ruins of The Cottage, plantation house near where Dr. Margaret McMillan was killed.

Joseph Norwood of the state fire marshal's office here said today there still is a possibility of arson.

Norwood said a preliminary report on the fire states that lightning may have been the cause of the blaze.

But he said the investigation is not complete. Owners of the beautiful old home asked an investigation.

Both the district attorney and the sheriff's officers still have the fire under investigation, although both have discounted the possibility of any connection with the McMillan probe.

The 24-room manor, built in 1924, was within one half mile of where Dr. McMillan, 38, unmarried woman biologist, was clubbed to death.

Dr. George H. Mickey, 50, dean of the Louisiana State University graduate school, is held in jail in Baton Rouge while the grand jury investigates. He is charged with murder.

R. V. Jones Finally Catches Engine For Retirement Shot

When R. V. Jones climbed down from engine No. 2004 last Aug. 14, he laid off—and he never did go back.

His retirement as a Texas and Pacific locomotive engineer took effect Oct. 1, and almost ever since Mr. Jones has been trying to catch that engine back in town to have his picture taken with it. Last week he succeeded.

He climbed back in the engine, got his hands on the controls and almost had a touch of homesickness.

That was understandable, for he had put in 39 years as an engineer. Actually he had been running intermittently as an engineer for some four years prior to that.

His T&P association dates back to June 10, 1905 when as a rawboned youth he began shoveling coal in the chutes at Baird. In January 1907 he checked out as a fireman—still shoveling coal. On one trip he was up nearly 72 hours (firemen couldn't take off because they had to maintain the pressure) on a leisurely run from Abilene to Big Spring.

When he finally got his first run as an engineer in D-10 (old No. 367) which was a fugitive from the scrap heap, he made it as far as Clyde. The boiler, re-filled at Abilene, had leaked dry in that short interval.

Later the F-1 (400 class) came on, followed by the 800's and then the "bull-o-the-woods" 600's, and their counterparts for passenger service, the 900s. He was one of the first to take out the diesel locomotives when they went into service in 1948.

Mr. Jones had but one wreck in his long career, and no one knows what caused it. On Nov. 6, 1940 near Dalby switch, he glanced back in time to see a boxcar a dozen cars back leap into the air.

"They're heading for the tall weeds," he yelled at his fireman, and at the same time kicked his power on and his engine brakes off. He pulled 12 cars out behind him, and no one was hurt.

He had several close squeaks at grade crossings. Once in Midland he hit an oilfield truck and trailer broadside, and miraculously the driver escaped. Another time near Odessa his engine smashed into a big trailer truck loaded with crushed rock. Rock shot through the cab as though fired from a giant shotgun.

"It was several inches deep and if either my fireman or I had moved from our seat blocks, we'd been beat to death," he recalled.

Mr. Jones for eight years served on the city commission, beginning while the city auditorium was under construction. He served as mayor during his last two years, and all of his tenure was with E. V. Spence as city manager. During that time a considerable volume of paving and public works was effected and the two small city lakes in southeast Howard were erected.

"They blocked us on the idea of damming the Concho and going to it," he said, "and called the other two lakes frog ponds. But we lived to see the day when those 'frog ponds' saved our lives."

Mr. Jones joined the firemen's brotherhood in 1908 and the engineers some 20 years later, serving as its secretary-treasurer for several years and for six years as insurance secretary.

During his tenure as an engineer, he piloted engines—by conservative estimate — 1,750,000 miles.

He was born in Comanche in Feb. 16, 1887 and moved to a farm in Callahan County when he was three. He survived the runaway of a team down Baird hill in which his father, C. C. Jones, was killed. Not long after his mother moved to town and he went to work for the T&P.

On April 24, 1913, he was married to Flora Hatchett, who then lived in Gaines County. They planned to come back here to get married but the car could make it only to Lamesa, so they were married there. Both are members of the First Baptist Church. They have three sons, Carol Jones, Tulsa, Okla.; Henry Jones, Lubbock; and Dr. R. V. Jones Jr., Houston.

One son, Frank, died in 1928.

Former Mayor Of Mexia Dies

MEXIA (AP)—Former Mayor S. N. Forrest, 81, died Saturday in a Waco hospital. The retired druggist served on the city commission for 20 years and was mayor in 1948 and 1949.

Forrest lived in this Central Texas oil center 60 years. He was a native of Cherokee County. Services will be held here tomorrow at 3 p.m. A son, J. M. Forrest of Mexia, survives.

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—Veda Fowler, 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Fowler of Grand Prairie, died Saturday when a car driven by a teen-ager hit a tree. Miss Leslie Cowser, 15, of Irving and Mrs. Fowler and her baby were thrown from the car near the east limits of this Dallas suburb. The child's father is a sailor aboard the aircraft carrier Essex.

Completion Nearing For Big Project For 331st Squadron

More than a million dollars worth of new Webb construction has taken shape and will be completed in the near future.

Most impressive of several projects is the group of buildings on U. S. 80 West, along the west side of the Webb runways, which will soon be the new home of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. Some of the facilities of this complex will be in use within weeks, others considerably later; "beneficial occupancy" of the area is expected in the late spring or early summer.

Largest group of component projects is being handled by Peter Kiewit Sons' Oklahoma office, which firm is preparing the ADC operational apron, alert taxiways, runway overrun extension, and revised lighting facilities. This group has already completed runway work on Webb's Colorado City Auxiliary Field and concrete aprons along Webb's flight line.

Suggs Construction Co., a local firm, is constructing another group of projects, as with the above list, some for 331st use, others for the use of all base personnel. These include: Alert hangar, rocket storage assembly building, communications receiver and UHF directional finding facility, and an extension of Webb's Airmen's Service Club. The last-named building is in the center of the base barack area, and the electronic installations are sited in several places, north and south, in relation to the runways.

Another local business firm, Pioneer Builders, is producing two major units, strictly for the 331st. A flight simulator building and readiness crew building.

Warner Construction Co. of San Angelo is likewise building 331st facilities: Ammunition storage magazines, an assembly and check-out building, and guard house and security fencing for the area in which the air defenders of the Southwest will stand 24-hour alert.

Gillis Construction Co. of Abilene is installing aircraft electrical receptacles on the 331st's new apron, as well as underground utility systems and electrical service in that area.

Frank W. Miller Construction Co. of Fort Worth is building an engine build-up and inspection shop north of the 331st's present, temporary site on the east side of the runways. This will be primarily for the Air Defense Command unit's use.

Elements In A Big Project

Here are some of the elements in a big project now near completion at Webb AFB. At top are the two alert hangars, where the F102 interceptors will be kept in readiness for instant take-offs. Big doors will raise in a matter of seconds. Some idea of the size may be had from the men at the bottom of the hangar at the left. Below is a view of one of the main hangars, together with some of the ready buildings where crews will standby for "scramble" orders round the clock.

Engineer Award To Climax Special Week Observance

Today begins the 10th annual observance of National Engineers Week, an affair that will be climaxed here Saturday by the "Engineer of the Year" award by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

"Professional engineers have made a substantial contribution to the development and orderly growth of the City of Big Spring," said Mayor Lee Rogers in proclaiming the week. "The continued planning and growth of all cities as well as our state and nation is based upon sound engineering principles."

Speaker for the dinner affair of the Permian Basin chapter meeting at Cosden Country Club on Saturday will be J. E. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Service Company.

Mr. Thomas is a graduate of Texas A&M College with a degree in mechanical engineering. In 1912 he went to work for Texas Power & Light, took time out for military service in World War I, and was vice president in charge of operations for Texas Electric Service Company when it was set up in the late 1920's. Subsequently he became a director, vice president-general manager. Since 1941 he has been president of the company which has experienced one of the fastest growths in America.

He also served as chairman of the governor's water resources committee and his foresight resulted in the multi-city water project which became the Colorado River Municipal Water District, serving Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder Lake. J. E. Thomas, the CRMWD reservoir, is named for him.

Tickets for the banquet may be had from Carol Belton (AM 4-4661 or AM 4-5584), president of the Texas Trail Ride Begins

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 1,850 persons begin an annual 70-mile ride by horseback and wagon Sunday along the old salt grass cow trail.

The annual junket began eight years ago as a prelude to the Houston Fat Stock Show. The riders, aged 6 to 80, will participate in a Houston parade opening the exposition.

The trail riders are to ride 30 miles Sunday and spend the night near Waller. The Monday night camp will be at Satsuma, 15 miles northwest of Houston.

Judging of $4,756,500 in livestock entered in the 12-day Houston show will begin several hours before the start of the mid-morning parade Wednesday.

The judging of the 11,929 entries will continue until the night of March 3 when eight fat steers will wobble into the Sam Houston coliseum arena for the selection of the 1960 show's grand champion.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The grand champion barrow and lamb of San Antonio Livestock Exhibition brought record prices Friday.

Pearl Brewing Co. paid $3,600 for the 96-pound fine wool lamb exhibited by Davis Fisher of Crane.

Three other champion lambs of the 1960 show brought $1,000 each. These were the fine wool crossbred lamb, fed by Rickie Erwin of Paint Rock; the champion medium woolled lamb exhibited by Sammy Chaney of Garden City; and the champion Southdown entered by Roy Gregg of Plainview.

Alleged Forger Delivered To Authorities At Odessa

Sheriff Miller Harris said Saturday that Homer Lloyd Dagg, arrested here on Friday when he allegedly attempted to pass a forged check to a boot shop, has been turned over to Odessa officers.

Harris was told that a five-year probation sentence already hanging over Dagg's head in Odessa was to be revoked. Harris said he had placed a hold order on Dagg and that he would be returned here to face the grand jury later.

O. D. Fretwell, wanted in Louisiana for parole violation, was being held in the county jail on Saturday. He was picked up on request of Baton Rouge officials. It was understood that he would be returned to Louisiana early this week.

Meantime, Harris said he had received no word from Montana relative to Ira Ray Barnes, 32,

Barnes, who told local officers he was a parole violator from Montana, surrendered himself to county officers on Thursday. Harris said that he understood the bank in Great Falls which held a mortgage on the car Barnes was driving will send to Texas soon to take possession of the vehicle.

A Pat on the Back

For

HARVEY C.

HOOVER JR.

Harvey Hoover organized Troop 136 as a result of his own Scouting experiences and then became an Eagle because the Scoutmaster should be the first Eagle Scout, he says. Harvey was a member of old troop 2, joining shortly after his 12th birthday. His natural desire to help youth organizations prompted him to organize Troop 136 and he has been the only Scoutmaster it has had in its five years existence. Mr. Hoover will attend Scouting's Golden Jubilee celebration in Colorado Springs this summer as one of two representatives of the Lone Star District. The jamboree is scheduled for July. Actually, this marks the second time Harvey has gained this honor. The first time was in 1957 when he was named a delegate to Valley Forge but press of business prevented him from attending. He has an active troop, seeing to it the boys have several field trips, camping forays and fishing excursions every summer. In fact, Harvey laughingly says his wife is almost a Scouting widow. However, Mrs. Hoover, affectionally known to the 20 or so boys of the troop as Butch, lends her support to Harvey's love of Scouting in many ways.

Harvey is first and foremost a Scouter but does help in any worthwhile youth organization work. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have three children, two girls and one son who is now a Cub Scout. He lists his hobbies as bowling, fishing and flying. They are members of the First Christian church. He is an attorney who served two elective terms and one appointive term as Howard County Attorney.

Mrs. Thurman At Institute

Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services at the Big Spring State Hospital, has returned from a two weeks nation-wide institute for mental hospital directors of volunteers.

The institute was sponsored by the National Association for Mental Health in cooperation with the Menninger Foundation, Kansas State Hospital and Nathan Heller Foundation.

Mrs. Thurman was the only director in a state hospital in Texas to attend, although Mrs. Helen Colburn, Austin, state director, participated. The local volunteers advisory council financed her travel to the institute.

More than 50 directors of volunteer services from 37 states and Canada attended the two-week course at Topeka, Kans. Lectures, demonstrations, and discussion groups were utilized to survey the principles and techniques of initiating and administering hospital volunteer programs. Faculty included psychiatrists from Topeka and elsewhere who have had experience with volunteer and community groups, directors of volunteers with state-wide responsibilities, and others.

Industrial Foundation Meet Set

Annual membership meeting of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation has been called for February 29. The session will be at 5 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Officers and directors will be named, and all members are urged to participate in the election, said Larson Lloyd, president.

The Foundation, organized several years ago, purchased land through public subscription, to have available as future industrial sites. It also works in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce in seeking to interest location of new businesses and industries in the city.

It Took Confederate Money To Halt Texas Pony Express

By LARRY J. GAGE
Brownwood Bulletin Area Editor
Written for The Associated Press
Rain and cold couldn't stop Texas' own pony express during the Civil War but Confederate money did.

A pony express was started in 1832 between Brenham and Austin, about 100 miles, to provide Austin's tri-weekly newspaper, the Texas Almanac Extra, with latest information available from the battlefields.

Service continued until late 1863, when persons along the route refused to accept Confederate money to keep and feed horses the express riders used.

David Richardson, an old-school newspaper editor and native of the Isle of Man, went to Austin in July 1862 from Galveston, where he was associated with the Galveston News and Texas Almanac since 1852.

Richardson chose Austin when war forced evacuation of Galveston; He started his pony express service within three months after arriving in Austin.

He began publishing a one-page bulletin in August 1862 in Austin. He called his paper the Texas Almanac Extra, since he planned to issue a regular Texas Almanac later from his Austin office. The tiny newspaper, printed on thin paper, about a foot square, was set in painfully small type. It had only one page.

At first Richardson took his news from Houston and Galveston newspapers as they arrived in Austin on the La Grange stage. The papers were sent by railroad from Houston to Brenham, end of the Washington County Railroad and nearest railhead to Austin.

The trip to Austin from Brenham was slow and tedious because of rough roads.

Richardson, bent on improving Austin's only news medium, bought a number of horses, hired several boys who were too young to serve in the Confederate Army and started his pony express service in October 1862 from Brenham to Austin.

The relay express riders usually made the trip more than twice as fast as the stage.

An express rider at Brenham would wait at the train station until the Hempstead and Houston train pulled in. He would collect Richardson's papers and letters, mount and start the relay to Austin. Richardson's small staff would wait in the candle-lighted Almanac office for the final relay. E. H. Cushing, editor of the Houston Telegraph, cooperated closely with Richardson. He would forward copies of the Telegraph by train on publication day.

The Telegraph and Galveston News, then being published in Houston, had reasonably good communication lines with the rest of the Confederacy, particularly through Orange, Shreveport and Alexandria, La.

In the fall and winter of 1862, Richardson's express rider usually arrived in Austin between 6 and 9:30 a.m., depending on the weather and arrival of the Brenham train.

As soon as the rider arrived, the News was hand set.

One of the better examples of war reporting in the Almanac was early in 1863. Galveston was retaken by Texans Jan. 1. The Jan. 1 issue hinted troops were about to take the port city. The Jan. 6 issue carried a full report of the Confederate victory under "Glorious News! Galveston Retaken!" Facts were quoted from Houston papers of Jan. 5.

Inflation, Confederate style, began to hit the South hard in 1863, and the Almanac was forced to charge 25 cents per line for advertisements and require advanced payment.

Discouraging news and news coverage in 1863, coupled with increasing suspicion of Confederate currency, caused Richardson to announce Aug. 27 that his pony express service would be discontinued in September.

Persons on the Washington County end of the pony express route had refused to keep horses or sell corn for Confederate notes, Richardson said.

Legion Women To Study At Hospital Here

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary from a wide West Texas area will gather in Big Spring on next Friday for a school of instruction in rehabilitation work at the Veterans Administration hospital.

Conducting the instruction will be Mrs. Jack Hale, Houston, state hospital director of the American Legion Auxiliary and Carleton Carr, special services officer at the VA Hospital.

Auxiliary members from the Legion's 16th, 17th and 19th districts will be on hand for the instruction. The area covers Lubbock to Del Rio and west to the state line.

Host for the meeting will be Mrs. Lois Hill, Big Spring Unit president and members of the local auxiliary. Assisting in the program will be Mrs. H. D. Bruton, area auxiliary hospital representative and Mrs. J. T. Grantham, Big Spring Unit representative.

Auxiliary members as well as other organizations play an important part in the rehabilitation program at the Veterans Administration Hospital, according to Carr. This service includes ward work, such as letter writing, distributing comfort items, conducting bingo and movies and other recreation as well as visitation.

The school of instruction is necessary before the volunteer work can be properly done. After 50 hours of duty the volunteers earn the VA Hospital Workers pin.

Mrs. Hale will conduct the school at the VA Hospital at 7 p.m. on Feb. 26. She is to arrive in Big Spring on Feb. 25, and will be the guest at a dinner to be held at the Oosten Country Club.

Big Spring Auxiliary members are urged to attend the school so that more may be qualified for the increasing need for volunteer workers in the local hospital rehabilitation program.

Historian Speaker At McMurry Event

ABILENE — A well-known historian and author, who now is the president of the University of Houston, will be the main speaker during the spring session of the Wilson Lectures at McMurry College.

The Houston University executive, Dr. Clanton W. Williams, will speak in all four lectures — they will be held on the McMurry campus, March 15-17 — Tuesday through Thursday.

The theme of Dr. Williams' addresses will be "Survival of the Fittest." Members of the McMurry Band and the Chanters will provide special music at each of the lectures.

U. S. Legal Aide Halted Death Over Riot Danger

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard R. Rogan said Saturday he stepped into the Caryl Chessman case because he was warned of possible Latin-American reaction if Chessman was executed.

A telephone call from an ex-federal official Rogan said prompted him into actions which played a part in the 11th-hour reprieve of the convict-actor Thursday night.

Rogan would not name the man he said called him from Washington. He called him a former high-ranking State Department employe and a long-time personal friend now in private business there.

"He explained the possibilities of incidents during President Eisenhower's trip," Rogan said, "and went over the troubles during Vice President Richard M. Nixon's visit."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's 60-day stay of execution for the convicted rapist-killner has kicked up a furor in this and many other countries. The California Legislature will be asked, Brown said, to consider abolishing the death penalty.

Rogan was assistant to Nelson A. Rockefeller when the New York governor was coordinator of Inter-American affairs in the early 1940s.

Rogan said he personally opposes the death penalty but his actions in the Chessman case were not influenced by that or by any political factors.

Elated

George T. Davis, long-time attorney for convict-actor Caryl Chessman, displayed his elation as he posed at his San Francisco home after California Governor Edmund G. Brown ordered a 60-day stay of execution for Chessman less than 10 hours before the celebrated criminal was scheduled to die. It was Chessman's eighth reprieve from the San Quentin gas chamber. Early San Francisco newspaper editions are propped up on table.

Posting Royal Birth Announcement

People watch as the announcement of the birth of the third child, a boy, to Queen Elizabeth II is posted on fence outside London's Buckingham Palace.

Palace Returning To Normal After Turmoil Of Royal Birth

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and her crinkly, blue-eyed baby prince—weighed in at 7 pounds, 3 ounces — received a stream of callers Saturday. Prince Philip took off to watch a football game. Buckingham Palace was getting back toward normal.

Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princes Margaret turned up for a half hour visit. They drove away looking delighted.

The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, clerical head of the Church of England, was among dignitaries paying homage to the Queen and her second son.

"It's a lovely baby," said gynecologist John H. Peel, who presided at the delivery Friday of the first child born to a reigning British monarch in 103 years. "The baby is doing fine and so is the Queen."

Roaring on was the official celebration. A formation of 36 Hunter fighters, flying through a drizzling rain, dipped over the palace roof in salute. Gun batteries boomed at Hyde Park, the Tower of London, Edinburgh Castle.

A crowd of 800 at the palace gates looked up through the rain and waved as the fighters flew past.

They cheered when a royal aide posted a medical bulletin saying the Queen and her child had slept a restful night and both "are doing very well."

The little prince, whose name is not expected to be disclosed until his christening next month, is ensconced in a room adjoining the Queen's.

Wayne Justice, Athens attorney and longtime Yarborough supporter, said the liberals will be alert to such treatment at the 1960 state convention.

CONVENTION BARS In his keynote speech, Justice said: "It is possible discriminatory methods may be used at the forthcoming convention to purge members of the DOT who have been duly and legally selected as delegates to the national convention."

"In this event the general public, particularly the delegates to the national convention should be fully apprised—by any means available—of the aims and history of this club and of the means used to discriminate against its members."

"When this information has been imparted to the interested persons I feel that extremely adverse conclusions will be drawn as to the character and political complexion of the delegates sent to the Democratic national convention."

He said backers of Republican President Dwight Eisenhower in Texas received rough treatment at the 1952 state Republican convention but won a great victory when they appealed to the national convention.

PLATFORM REPORT Penna's issues report in effect formed the DOT's platform for 1960. The program was adopted without change. Only the section on taxation failed to draw unanimous support.

The taxation section called for the elimination of the oil depletion tax allowance on foreign oil production, financing of state operations by non-sales tax revenue, reversion to the state treasury of all abandoned bank accounts and unclaimed dividends, and a corporate net profits tax starting with profits in excess of $25,000 a year.

The report also called for repeal of the poll tax, for state finance party primaries, a teacher tenure law to prevent discharges without proven cause, establishment of Padre Island as a national park, medical and hospitalization care for persons retired under social security, a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, and enactment of a state minimum wage law.

CIVIL RIGHTS A civil rights section on public education said: "The law of the land must be adhered to and we believe it to be the duty and responsibility of every state and local government to reject the use of stratagems to evade compliance with the decision of the Supreme Court."

One of two resolutions adopted at the closing session called on the Legislature to establish presidential preferential primaries to be held in conjunction with the primary elections.

resolutions committee was delayed over an hour as members discussed a resolution that would have commended Johnson on his recent Senate parliamentary maneuvers on civil rights. Committee members said they were pledged to secrecy but two did say the proposals was rejected by votes of 15-1 and 15-2.

The Daniel criticism came in a resolution asserting the liberals received "ruthless" and "callous" treatment at 1956 and 1958 state conventions in the seating of delegates and the election of the state executive committee members.

Both conventions were controlled by Daniel's conservative forces.

THERORETICALLY, THAT IS

Pilot Of Month Shot Down The Most Planes

Capt. Donald R. (Beaver) Thiel of Webb AFB shot down more theoretical enemy planes in January than any other pilot in the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. In other words, this means that Beaver would have had more kills to his credit than any of his fellow fliers, if, instead of harmless T-33's, enemy bombers had penetrated the skies over West Texas.

Therefore, he rated as Pilot of the Month for the squadron. His record for planes shot down was also weighed against his outstanding achievements on the ground in the academic aspects of flying.

Capt. Thiel, assistant B Flight Commander, had an exceptional year in 1959. From April through July he completed studies at the highly rated squadron officers school at Maxwell AFB, Ala. In September he was admitted to the select group of expert ADC pilots which includes only the top 20 per cent of the Air Defense Command.

Capt. Thiel won his commission and pilot wings in June 1953. He served in Korea from September 1953 through September 1954. He came to Big Spring in the summer of 1958. He is the son of

Services, Meeting To Mark Child Evangelism Week

Special services and a fellowship meeting will highlight the observance of Child Evangelism Week here this week.

Gov. Price Daniel has set the week apart in recognition of the work and objectives of a church-related organization designed to reach children with the Gospel message.

The First Church of God is having a special program today and others will during the week. The Child Evangelism Fellowship here will have a meeting Friday evening at the headquarters at 709 Johnson.

Miss Leona Hooper is the West Texas director for the fellowship which now has organized local chapters in every state and in more than 60 foreign countries. Its more than 35,000 volunteer workers reach over one million children a year in Good News Clubs. These are conducted in homes, for neighborhood groups, and are taught by teachers who attend a weekly teacher training class. Three such classes are being conducted in Big Spring currently.

In proclaiming the week, Gov. Daniel said it was essential that children understand the need for the inspiration, comfort and help of Almighty God if succeeding generations have peace among men.

"Lack of spiritual roots has long been known as one of the main causes of juvenile crime and delinquency in our state and nation," he said. "Child Evangelism Fellowship, an inter-denominational, non-sectarian organization, is seeking to reach the unchurched children of our nation. This program deserves the support of Texas citizens who recognize its great value."

THE WEEK

parently drank it. He died a day later in a hospital here.

We had more mixed up weather last week—blustery days with dust above the Cap Rock, and then heavy snow Wednesday that melted about as fast as it fell. However, spring isn't far away. For the trees are beginning to swell and soon early bulbs will be putting up spikes.

Our city entertained a couple of mighty prominent sports personalities here Saturday in the person of Bobby Layne and Mickey Mantle. They were here to visit Bobby's bowling emporium east of town.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation took on two additional directors at the regular monthly meeting Wednesday at New York. They were Dr. Robert P. Russell and James J. Minot, nominees of W. R. Grace & Company, which recently acquired 51 per cent of Cosden's stock.

We took a five per cent cut in our fire insurance credit last week, having it whittled from the maximum allowed to a present 20 per cent. Last year insured fire losses were $48,896, and they have been running less than that. Premiums are more than twice that figure. Looks like we made a start toward another cut by sustaining $4,441 in losses during January.

Maj. Vincent Brophy was re-elected president of the Big Spring Concert Association at the board meeting Thursday evening. The association has had a rather remarkable year under his leadership—and one good term deserved another.

Our new football coach and athletic director, Emmett McKenzie, is due to settle down here this week. Things may begin to pick up for the squad within a few days, and probably McKenzie will be busy speaking to clubs and getting acquainted with fans.

We will be host to a couple of area meetings at the weekend. The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas will be here Saturday as will the Permian Basin chapter for the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. On Wednesday, four score representatives from Texas Employment Commission offices in West Texas will come here for a two-day farm labor parley.

Profit Motive?

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's Communist government has come up with a way to reward outstanding musicians. The Culture Ministry presented Denes Kovacs a talented young violinist, a rare Guarneri violin made in Italy in 1732. Kovacs said it's worth about $35,000.

Poll Tax Only Weapon In Both States

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas and Arkansas, although requiring no registration of voters, are expected to be affected nonetheless by pending civil rights legislation.

This was the view of legislators and Justice Department officials questioned about the situation for these two states—those only ones depending on poll tax receipts alone to keep a rein on voting.

Civil rights legislation cleared by the House Rules Committee Thursday for later action on the House floor calls for court-appointed voting referees. Provisions refer to the right of persons "to register or otherwise to qualify to vote."

Similar legislation is being debated in the Senate.

Atty. Gen. William Rogers proposed the voting referees instead of appointment of voting registrars recommended by the President's Civil Rights Commission.

What would be the function of a registrar in a state which requires no registration?

"That's a good question," replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph Rayn, chief of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division. "That is one of the arguments raised against the proposal," he said. "The attorney general himself raised the question of the constitutionality of a federal official asserting authority over a state official in this field."

He said the referees would be appointed by a federal judge only after a suit had been filed in the court, and would have the same powers as masters in civil suits.

A civil rights commission official said that apparently the proposed registrars could do little in either Texas or Arkansas other than check on whether persons were being deprived of their right to vote.

In these two states display of a poll tax receipt qualifies a citizen to vote. The poll tax receipt list itself thus may serve as a registration list.

Three other states require payment of a poll tax before voting but they also require registration. They are Alabama, Mississippi and Virginia.

While the registrar proposal has been discarded by the administration, undoubtedly some members in both the House and Senate will try to get it written into the pending proposals.

Senate To Take Time For Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders indicated Saturday the Senate will be asked to break off its civil rights battle from time to time to pass appropriation bills and possibly other measures.

Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said in a separate interview he favors this course to prevent a logjam on money bills from developing.

H-SU Singers To Appear Here Week From Today

Hardin-Simmons University's 40-member A Cappella Choir will present 17 concerts in 13 communities during its annual spring tour Feb. 28-March 4. A week from this evening it will be in the First Baptist Church.

The choir will sing also in Colorado City, San Angelo, Junction, Kerrville, San Antonio, Uvalde, Crystal City, Eagle Pass, Del Rio, Sooner, Eldorado and Winters, in that order.

Concerts will be given before high school, church, college and civic groups, according to Edward H. Hamilton, director.

Two types of programs are planned. A complete service of sacred music is scheduled for the church appearances. At the other gatherings, a mixture of sacred and secular music will be sung, Hamilton said.

The sacred music program will consist of anthems, unusual Christmas compositions, including the first American carol, Negro spirituals, and devotional responses. The feature will be the Magnificat, by Charles Pachelbel, one of America's earliest prominent composers. The work was composed for two choirs and was inspired by the portion of the first chapter of Luke. "My soul doth magnify the Lord."

Soloists will include Nancy Hearn of Nashville, Tenn.; Carolyn West of Dallas, Mary Truly of Wichita Falls, Sammy Scifres of Ruie, Audrey Rasco of Odessa, Tom Mosley and Lloyd Priddy of Fort Worth, Jim Pfafflin of La-Crosse, Wis., Thurman Plyant of San Angelo, and Charles Pierson, San Antonio. Instrumentalists who will accompany the choir are B. F. Risinger of Shamrock, flutist; Dale Bench of Amberst, organist; Lynda Kenner of San Angelo, Lynda Lynch of McAllen, and Karen Swartz of Heber Springs, Ark., pianists. Also on the program will be the H-SU Men's Quartet, made up of Sam Beam of Abilene, Bob Gilbreath of Frederick, Okla., Scifres and Pfafflin.

Train Now Well Stoked

NEW YORK (AP)—The Long Island Rail Road, once a target of abuse, now is the toast of its commuter customers — or at least as many as can crowd into its new bar car.

Spirits ran higher and higher as the 5:03 highballed it from New York to Port Jefferson late Saturday.

Passengers ordinarily risk life and limb just to get seats on the 5:03. This time they forgot the seats. The bone crushing occurred in jammed aisles as hundreds inched backward through the train.

A pin-sized portable dispensary had been established in Car 4 of the 14 coaches. It proved a staggering success.

The tiny bar was set up for what the railroad called "a noble experiment," in response to popular demand. Heretofore, the railroad had been bone dry. Thirsting riders were forced to grab a quickie at the handiest tavern before hitting the rail trail home.

Long ago they began to develop an alcoholic inferiority complex. That was because another commuter railroad, the New Haven, ministered properly to its guzzling patrons from suburban Westchester County and Connecticut.

The Long Island's 260,000 daily riders, who make it the world's busiest passenger railroad, have gotten pretty much what they want since it was reorganized a few years ago to curb snaggled timetables, bypassed stations and trains taking off on the wrong tracks.

Friday Night Crash Hurts 2

A collision was reported Friday night on South Gregg, which involved William Boyd Hughes, 1103 E. 19th street and Charles D. Vieredge, Box 51, Big Spring. Both were driving 1959 model Chevrolets.

Passengers in the cars, Barbara Nell Bronaugh 1506 E. 5th Street and Carolyn Buchanan, 1103 W. 3d Street, were injured. The two were taken to Cosper Hospital where they were treated and released.

Blast Hurts 11

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — An explosion in a chemical plant at lunch hour Saturday injured 11 persons, twisted steel girders like pretzels and blew out brick walls. One of the injured later died.

Passengers in the cars, Barbara Nell Bronaugh 1506 E. 5th Street and Carolyn Buchanan, 1103 W. 3d Street, were injured. The two were taken to Cosper Hospital where they were treated and released.

Roaming Negro Students Hold Lunch Bar Protests

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Roaming bands of Negro students, protesting segregated food service, staged sit-down demonstrations throughout the downtown Richmond area Saturday.

Three stores suspended operations, eating facilities were closed in at least four others and two white boys were taken home by police after firing paper clips into crowds.

No violence occurred although bands of white youths—some carrying Confederate flags and wearing Confederate hats—followed the Negroes. Several of the whites, accused of making remarks, were asked to leave some of the stores.

Oilmen Cheered By Anti-Trust Victory

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Oil executives believe their anti-trust suit victory at Tulsa was a victory for business in general. They believe even professional men such as doctors may benefit from the board ruling which Federal Judge Royce Savage acquitted 29 oil companies of price fixing conspiracy charges. They say the ruling possibly will prompt the Justice Department to proceed more cautiously before filing similar actions in the future. Oilmen say a number of actions against oil and other industries have been filed hastily and without adequate study of all factors involved. One executive surveyed possible effects of the Tulsa ruling and said: "Protection is one thing but harassment is quite another." He said the circumstances of the Tulsa case should prompt officials of all industries to take a more active interest in governmental affairs—and politics. An official of one company said: "This may retard efforts to put undue restrictions, regulations, and controls on business, actions that are costly and injurious to the whole economy." Augustus Long, chairman of Texaco, expressed hope the Tulsa decision of Feb. 13 will cause the government to "proceed in a more responsible manner before placing such unwarranted criminal charges in the future." Oilmen look upon Savage's ruling as complete vindication of the industry's competitive marketing practices. They say the victory was very costly. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent while preparing a defense that was not needed in court.

Three Granted Permit To Sell One Zone Gas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three producers have been authorized to sell natural gas to El Paso Natural Gas Co. from one formation in a Texas field. The Power Commission denied the producers authority Monday to make other sales from another formation in the same field. Authorized were sales from the Ellenberger formation of the Brown-Basset field in Terrell County. The commission said the wellhead price will be less than 8 cents per thousand cubic feet. It denied proposed sales from the Fusselman formation at a proposed wellhead price of 16 cents on grounds this might trigger favored-nation clauses in some of El Paso's contracts. The producers are Western Natural Gas Co. and Continental Oil Co., both of Houston, and Magnolia Petroleum Co., Dallas. Testimony introduced to support the proposed 16-cent Fusselman price did not include any to the effect that El Paso was buying at that level, though it buys gas from hundreds of producers in the West Texas-Permian Basin area, the commission said. The order adopted and modified in part and reversed in part a decision filed Oct. 15 by examiner Richard N. Ivins which would have authorized all the sales at the proposed initial prices.

Rotary Operations Decline Again In Permian Basin

Rotary drilling continued slipping during the past week and touched a new low for this year on Feb. 19. There were 235 rigs turning in the Permian Basin on that date, seven less than for the previous week. A month ago there were 263 rigs going and at the first of the year the total was 305, according to the Reed Roller Bit Company. Phillips Purchases Tunstill Gas Unit

Phillips Petroleum Co. has purchased and assumed operation of Tunstill Gasoline Plant, located near Orla, which is approximately 40 miles northwest of Pecos. The Tunstill plant processes natural gas from the Tunstill, Mason and North Mason fields, and new gas gathering lines have been laid to the Grice, Ford, Geraldine and ElMar fields.

Management Gets Blame For Low Prices And Profits

NEW YORK — Oil company managements have no one but themselves to blame for sagging oil prices and low profits, Petroleum Week, McGraw-Hill publication, declared Saturday. Last summer, oil company managements announced cuts in their refinery crude runs in the name of "industry statesmanship" to prevent excessive oversupplies.

It is the year-end reports of the companies, these same managements, when addressing stockholders, are pointing with pride to their own companies' record of high refinery runs in 1959. And, in the next breath, they complain of sagging prices, the magazine says. What happened? Oil company managements just do not seem able to resist the lure of the "incremental barrel," according to Petroleum Week. They cannot resist the temptation of running just a little extra volume. Their sharp pencils show that the extra barrels will reduce unit costs, and thereby increase refinery profits — if prices remain stable. But prices don't remain stable, the magazine points out. Under the pressure of the extra production, prices are bound to fall.

As a result, the economist for a major oil company points out, total distillate demand last year was 3.2 per cent greater than in 1957 — the last pre-recession year. Yet the return — demand times price — was 5.5 per cent less than in 1957. Further, total gasoline demand last year was 4.7 per cent greater than in 1957. The return, however, was 1.3 per cent less. Thus, the incremental barrels resulted in reduced revenues, despite higher volumes. The situation has now got so bad that, according to industry reports, there is virtually no profit left in the refining or marketing phases of the industry, the magazine says. The few companies that have been showing stepped-up profits on their higher crude runs have done so mostly on the profit from their extra crude production. The only other sharp spurts in profits have been by inland refiners as a result of the extra "windfall" realized last year from import quotas. Therefore, it is no surprise, the magazine says, that the stock market has been reflecting for some time its disillusionment with the oil industry profit outlook. One large brokerage house recently sent this comment to customers: "There is still no reason to feel oil securities have reached bottom marketwise. The industry con-

Tom Morton gets new slant for research

Halliburton Methods Find Use In Other Industries

No use to confine your ideas to your industry, one specialized service company has discovered. Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. long has specialized in providing technical service for oil and gas wells. Now under Tom E. Morton, head of its new research center, it is coming up with developments which may be applicable to several other industries. For Halliburton started out by asking for suggestions, and right off officials learned two things—don't downgrade ideas just because they originate among non-technical personnel, and investigate everything with an open mind. One of the first results was a new type of density meter that automatically weighs cement slurry while the mixture is pumped down a well during the oilwell cementing process. Previously, materials had to be weighed manually, a slow and relatively costly process. Not only is this instrument being used by Halliburton all over the world, but other industries such as chemical plants, refineries, missile developments and large processors of foodstuffs are experimenting with the density meter to measure large quantities of liquids. Originally cement sacks had to be cut open and the contents dumped by hand into a mixer before being pumped into a well. Then Halliburton developed a pneumatic system for handling materials in the bulk. Other businesses have followed by handling ore concentrate, sand, barites, foodstuffs, pellets, etc. Santa Fe Railway Company is experimenting with a self-contained bulk plant capable of handling any finely grained dry material on a flatbed railroad car. Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 3-5-5 W. L. Foster has completed for 29.95 barrels of 30.2 gravity oil per day and 69 per cent water. The gas-oil ratio was 2.370. The well bottomed at 2,007 and topped pay at 1,828 at an elevation of 2,350. The 5½-in. casing set at 2,007 was perforated at 1,828-1,934.

Gen. America Plant Planned

HOUSTON (AP)—Plans for building the first oil refinery in Central America were published Saturday.

The 30 million dollar plant will be built near Colon, Panama, by Refineria Panama, a Panamanian corporation to be owned jointly by Continental Oil Co. of Houston and National Bulk Carriers Inc. of New York. The companies said the Panama government has granted permission to build the refinery on Payard Island near Colon at the East entrance to the Panama Canal. Construction is scheduled for completion in early 1962. The plant will have about 200 employees.

Menard Wildcat Is Announced

A rank wildcat for Menard County was announced Saturday. It will be F. E. Shaheen Jr. of Abilene No. 1 Henrietta Harrison, and the location will be 660 from the north and east lines of section 2-B GH&A survey. The prospector is 12 miles northwest of Menard and will drill to 4,500 feet.

Completions Are Lagging

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday drillers brought in 169 oil and 18 gas wells during the week. Drillers ran into 79 dry holes and wound up plugging 142 wells during the week.

For the year, 1,334 oil and 206 gas wells have been completed while a year ago 1,362 oil and 265 gas wells were drilled.

Wildcaters struck oil in six wells and hit a gas well. The daily average allowable increased 7,049 barrels during the period. The new allowable is 3,028,115 barrels daily.

Howard Re-Entry Due To Abandon

TXL No. 1 McDowell, southwest Howard re-entry, was preparing to plug and abandon Saturday after an unsuccessful attempt to produce from the Wolfcamp.

The test, located 1,980 from the north and 690 from the east lines of section 3-24-2s, T&P had been drilled originally to 8,790 by Cosden and abandoned. TXL re-entered and perforated to test the Wolfcamp zone but reported no results.

Five miles northwest of Garden City, the Glasscock County outpost, U. S. Smelting No. 1 Calverley, drilled at 5,906 in shale. This is a ½-mile southeast stepout from a Spraberry discovery. It is 1,980 from the south and east lines of section 44-34-3s, T&P.

Hammond and Pan-AM No. 1 Scott, a Breedlove prospector in northern Martin County, drilled to 1,555 in redbeds and anhydrite. The test is half a mile north of production and is six-miles south-west of the Patricia community.

In Dawson County, Tennessee No. 1-A Dupree, 660 from the north and 1,980 from the west lines of section 41-M, ELARR, penetrated to 11,300 in Mississippi lime. It is about nine miles northwest of Lamesa.

Motel Business Is Relatively Steady

The Methodist Wesley Memorial Church at 1206 Owens is building a new sanctuary or auditorium. The building being constructed on the same lot as the old one will have brick siding and be large enough to hold 450 people.

The present church will be converted to classrooms, according to Mrs. Ruby Gilmore, church secretary. She said plans were to make eight classrooms, with the entire job to be completed between May 15 and June 1.

Contractor for the new building is James Little, John W. Gary is the architect.

Compact Cars

The compact cars are still coming. Next one to make an appearance in Big Spring will be unveiled at the Truman Jones Motor Company about March 17. This is the Comet. It is being built by the Lincoln-Mercury division of the Ford Motor Company and will be handled by Lincoln-Mercury dealers exclusively.

Advance information reveals that the Comet is within $10.00 to $15.00 of the Falcon, which will make it among the lowest-priced compacts on the market. One of its big advantages, according to Jones, is the fuel economy.

The Comet has a 96-horse power engine, dual-headlights, arm rests in front and back, and standard automatic transmission. It will come in four body styles—a two-door and four-door car and also a two-door and four-door station wagon.

Customers will have their choice of 15 colors, including six two-tone combinations, with eight different interiors.

K. N. McBride who recently purchased Marvin Woods' Pontiac agency has brought two of his former employees with him from Brownfield. They are T. A. DuBose, salesman, and Mrs. DuBose, who will be office manager.

The DuBoses have moved to 3225 Drexel.

Texas Retail Sales Decline

AUSTIN (AP)—Sharply lower sales of nondurable goods in January were largely responsible for an over-all 24 per cent decline from December in Texas' total retail sales, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Total retail sales in Texas were estimated at $1,041,700,000 for January, a decline of 6 per cent compared with January 1959. Nondurables were down 29 per cent for the month while durables dropped only 7 per cent.

"On the whole, lower January sales of the various major categories of nondurable goods paralleled the expected seasonal declines," the University of Texas agency said.

"Volume of apparel stores, which usually falls about 45 per cent from December to January dropped 48 per cent. Drug store sales, down 23 per cent compared with a normal seasonal 26 per cent decline, was one of two classifications in nondurables to show a sales gain because of the prevalence of flu over the state and higher purchases of medicines."

Gasoline and service station sales were up 7 per cent.

The report said general merchandise store sales showed the greatest variation from customary seasonal trend—"expected to decline about 49 per cent they actually dropped 57 per cent from December and were 3 per cent below January a year ago."

Of 28 Texas cities reporting January retail sales only three showed gains over January 1959—Beaumont up 3, Sherman up 2 and Wichita Falls up 1.

Retail sales declines in the other cities ranged from 1 per cent in Greenville and Fort Arthur to 23 per cent in Paris and Plainview.

New Operators

Two of the more recent Big Spring business people are Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Tilley who bought the Western Ho Motel in January. The Tilleys, from Bloomington, Ill., brought another native of Illinois with them. She is Miss Jessie Dahm, who now operates the switchboard.

The new owners bought the property from J. Roy Henry. There has been no change in operations, except that they are now remodeling part of the motel.

Perhaps the motel business is one of the steadiest in all Big

International Charro Days To Be Held In Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—International Charro Days, one of South Texas' biggest celebrations, opens here and at Matamoros Thursday and runs through next Sunday.

The four-day annual pre-Lenten fiesta will include several giant parades, street dances, carnivals and grand balls which will attract audiences from all over South Texas and northern Mexico.

A group of Lower Rio Grande Valley college and high school athletes will kick off the celebration Thursday with a 103-mile marathon race from Rio Grande City to Brownsville.

Customs officials were to relax border crossing regulations for the celebration.

Twenty-two floats with the theme "Pan American Countries" will be featured in four parades. Shep Fields and his orchestra will play for the teen-age and grand balls.

Costuming will be the keynote with the smallest toddler to the oldest pioneer dressed in gay Latin American garb.

Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed the fiesta as a "classic example of the mixture of two cultures, Anglo and Latin American, and as a working example of international friendship and goodwill."

The governor complimented the fiesta for "contributing greatly to the good neighbor policy and to inter-American unity and solidarity, thus benefiting all people in the Western Hemisphere."

Carr Will Open Campaign Center

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker Waggoner Carr running for attorney general, said Saturday he would open state campaign headquarters here Monday.

The Lubbock attorney said he will conduct an intensive statewide campaign and hopes to visit most of Texas' 254 counties.

He said that while he was forced to cancel several engagements this week because of the illness of his wife, medical tests have shown that her condition is satisfactory and he will be able to continue his campaign without interruption.

Carr said Blair Cherry, former football coach at the University of Texas and now a Lubbock resident, has been named honorary state campaign manager.

Glasscock School District To Name Four Trustees

GARDEN CITY — Four members of the Glasscock County School Board will be elected on April 2. B. L. Murphy, district county school superintendent, said that anyone seeking to be a candidate should file his application for a place on the ballot with him not later than March 3.

Two of the incumbent members whose terms expire this year have already filed for re-election. They are David Grant and W. W. Schraeder. The other two members whose terms are ending are Joe Carter and A. J. Overton. These men have not as yet indicated if they intend to seek re-election.

There are three holdover members on the board—N. L. Childress, R. D. Dobby and Sidney Hirt.

The four to be elected are to serve two year terms.

The Glasscock County board is a combination school district and county organization.

Farm Labor Parley Is Set

Henry LeBlanc, chief of farm placement, Texas Employment Commission, will preside at a two-day conference on farm labor placements.

The meeting opens here Wednesday in the Settles at 8:30 a.m. Representatives from the TEC organizations in numerous West Texas communities will attend. Amarillo, Waco, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Wichita Falls, El Paso and all other offices in towns between the points will have delegates in attendance.

Leon M. Kinney, office manager of the Big Spring TEC office, said that R. L. Coffman, acting administrator and George T. Spears, assistant administrator for the TEC, will be featured speakers. These men, like LeBlanc, are from the Austin office.

Kinney said the two day meeting will be in Room No. 1 at the Settles. It is intended to evaluate possible farm labor requirements for the area this coming year. Changes in procedure in the matter of Mexican Nationals will be discussed and clarified.

Pre-Season Exercise

Mickey Mantle (center), star center fielder of the New York Yankees, was in a mood to sign anything but a blank check and a baseball contract with the New York Yankees on a trip here Saturday. He returned a proffered pact to his employers recently, saying it called for too big a salary

Hundreds Of Kids See Mick, Layne

By TOMMY HART
For more than two hours Saturday, Bobby Layne's Bowl-A-Rama here served as a headquarters for "Kids, Incorporated." Youngsters, together with a healthy sprinkling of adults, turned out by the hundreds to meet, chat with and get the autographs of two of the best known personalities in professional sports—Mickey Mantle and Bobby Layne.

Mantle, of course, is the star outfielder of the New York Yankees. Layne is one of the all-time greats of the National Football League, currently employed by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Mickey was flown to Midland Friday night by Jerry Mann, who manages Mantle's Bowling Lanes in Dallas and who is a licensed pilot. The two were picked up in Midland by Layne, who brought them here and returned them to Midland around 2 p.m.

The two sports greats climaxed their visits here by bowling three lines for the benefit of a large and appreciative audience.

Layne won the first two lines of the series but Mantle rallied to win the third game and finished ahead in total pins.

Here's the way the scoring went: Layne—183-174-128—485; Mantle—161-167-173—501; Mantle, who hit 285 and drove out 32 home runs for New York last season, said he had not heard from the Yankees since he returned his last contract to them.

His employers asked him to take a sizeable cut from last year, at which time he was making in the neighborhood of $75,000. He stated he reasoned the slice was too much and fired his unsigned pact back to George Weiss, general manager of the club.

The star center fielder, along with other members of the team, are committed to report for spring workouts at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1.

The kids swarmed around the two athletic stars throughout their stay here, firing questions at them, some of which brought pishy smiles to their faces.

One boy asked Mickey how much he batted last year. Mantle tallied off to 285 in 1959, the first time he had been below 300 in several years.

Mickey turned to grin at Layne, then countered with a question: "Do you mean in 1956?"

That season, Mickey experienced his greatest season in baseball, winning the triple crown (leading in batting, runs batted in and home runs).

Mantle was asked to show his batting grip several times, and he graciously obliged.

This question was put to him:

Three World Records Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Lawrence, Bo Roberson and Hal Connolly led an assault on world indoor records at the National AAU Track and Field Championships Saturday night.

Lawrence chopped the three-mile record down to 13:26.4. Roberson erased the oldest mark in the books with a 25-9½ broad jump and Connolly, the Santa Monica, Calif., school teacher, shattered the standard for the 35-pound weight throw with a mighty heave of 71 feet, 2½ inches.

Lawrence, who attends the University of Houston, but is an Australian and will run for the Aussies in the Olympics, cut a fantastic 10.6 seconds off the world record of 13:37 set by Bill Dellinger in this same meet last year.

Lawrence is 27 years old and stands 5-foot-7. He weighs only 128 pounds.

Roberson smashed Jesse Owens' quarter-century-old world indoor broad jump record of 25-9. It was set in this same meet on Feb. 23, 1935.

Raiders Fall To Longhorn Five, 74-61

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Albert Almanza paced the Texas Longhorns to a 74-61 victory over Texas Tech Saturday night before 7,100 fans.

Almanza enjoyed his best night of the season, scoring 22 points, most of them from the outside.

Texas sputtered early but caught fire to lead 30-20 at the half. The Longhorns stayed well ahead the rest of the way.

The nation's third most accurate field goal shooting team, Texas hit an even 50 per cent of its 66 tries. Tech was hot, too, from the floor, connecting on 47 per cent.

After a see-saw opening 10 minutes the Longhorns' Brenton Hughes broke an 11-11 tie with a tip.

WACO (AP)—The Baylor Bears took an early lead and held it all the way to beat the Rice Owls, 79-51, Saturday night in a South-west Conference game.

The victory gave the Bears a 5-5 record in conference play to move them into a fourth place tie with Arkansas.

About 3,500 persons saw the game.

The Bears pulled away steadily after taking the lead, 6-4, three minutes into the first half. They were 13 points ahead, 36-23, at the half and built up leads as late as 10 minutes.

The Bears held a 30-point lead several times during the final 10 minutes. They had a 79-49 lead with less than a minute to play.

Baylor subs played the last seven minutes.

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist romped to its fourth highest score in basketball history Saturday night, embarrassing Texas Christian, 96-67, in the Southwest Conference race.

Southern Methodist stayed in a tie for first place with Texas A&M and Texas. The Aggies beat Arkansas 82-61 and Texas Southern Tech 74-61. Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and Texas each has an 8-2 record.

Southern Methodist used sophomores liberally in the last half, and urged on by 6,400 fans the rookies tried valiantly for the 100 mark but three shots in the last 25 seconds all failed to find their mark.

Texas Christian went eight minutes in the first half without a field goal although getting some reasonably good opportunities.

Steve Strange led Southern Methodist scoring with 23 points and Jan Loudermilk had 19.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M held onto a share of the Southwest Conference lead Saturday night with an 82-61 victory over Arkansas.

In the process of A&M's seventeenth victory in 20 starts, sophomore Carroll Broussard posted a new season scoring record for the college. He scored 14 points tonight to make his total 265. The old record of 263 was set eight seasons ago by Walt Davis.

The Aggie total of 82 points also was a new series high against Arkansas, breaking the old record set a week and a half ago at Fayetteville when A&M won 77-58.

The Aggies never were threatened. Pat Foster gave the Razorbacks a 2-0 lead but Wayne Lawrenc, with a jump shot, and Wilmer Cox, with a set, put the Aggies out front to stay. A&M led at the half 37-29.

Germans Hurt U. S. Hopes In Olympics

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Staff Writer
SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—
The combined German team wrecked U.S. hopes in the women's downhill ski race Saturday and captured two gold medals in a surprise show of strength in the Eighth Winter Olympic Games. Heidi Bebi, an 18-year-old fraulein from West Germany, sped down the mile and one-eighth course in 1 minute, 37.6 seconds to nose out the No. 1 American hope, Penny Pitou of Gilford, N.H., who clocked 1:38.6.

To add to the American disappointment, Betsy Snite of Norwich, Vt., Panny's roommate and ranked with her as one of the world's best took a bad spill and had to be helped from the course. The United States collected an unexpected bronze medal in the 500-meter speed skating, won by Mrs. Helga Haase, a 25-year-old housewife from Communist East Germany. Mrs. Haase won in 45.9 seconds, shading Natalia Dhenchenko of Russia, 46 flat, and Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, Mass., a 21-year-old Tufts College student who was third in 46.1.

The Soviet Union scored a 1-2-3 sweep in the ladies 10-kilometer (6.15 miles) ski race and jumped into a commanding lead in the battle for unofficial team honors. The Russians, with five events complete, have a total of 38 1/2 points compared with 28 for second place Germany, 19 for Sweden and 13 each for the United States and Canada. Points are based on 10 for first, 5 for second, 4 for third, 3 for fourth, 2 for fifth and 1 for sixth.

Marija Guskova, a 29-year-old Leningrad dressmaker, led the strong Russian delegation in the cross-country, winning in 39 minutes, 49 seconds. At the Blyth Arena, Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., the world's figure skating queen, took the first steps toward her conceded Olympic title. She went through the first two of her six compulsory figures almost flawlessly. She skated for the championship next Tuesday.

Miss Heiss took a commanding lead with an aggregate of 262.8 points. Teammate Barbara Roles of Temple City, Calif., was second with 246.9.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Johnny Swaim, the coaching aide at Texas Christian University, visited Big Spring last week to watch the HCJC Jayhawks perform against Frank Phillips College.

The junior college cagers are attracting interest among senior college mentors as they never have before. Jarrell Edwards, the ACC half-miler who is a cousin to the local footballer, Benny Edwards, is majoring in Bible at school and plans to do missionary work in Brazil after he graduates. Before he ran history's first four-minute mile, England's Dr. Roger Bannister announced that the first human to break the barrier might someday turn the trick by carrying a lightweight oxygen supply. He didn't know whether the user could justify it in the eyes of the track purist, however. The local TB Association had hopes of getting Milwaukee's Red Schoendienst down here for a speaking appearance next month, on behalf of the local drive for funds, but Red will be in spring training with the Braves at Bradenton, Fla., at the time. Red, of course, was stricken with tuberculosis a couple of years ago. Ole Miss is again being accused of padding out its 1960 football schedule with several softies. The Rebels open with Houston and then face Kentucky but slack off with Memphis State before tackling Vanderbilt. They proceed to games with Tulane, Arkansas and LSU, then meet little Chattanooga before winding up against Tennessee and Mississippi State. Miles High School, where the former Coahoma coach, Fred Salling, is superintendent, is seeking a six-man football game either at home or away, for next Sept. 9. There's a trend away from eight-man ball in Texas, for some reason. Some eight-man schools are finding it exceedingly hard to book practice games. John M. Anderson, Emmett McKenry's choice to serve as first assistant football coach here, was once head baseball coach at DeFuniak Springs, High School, Fla.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., the defending champion, shot a one-over-par 72 for 215 and second place.

Ready For Plains Game

Buffaloes Get A Brief Respite Before Battle

By DON RIDDLE Stanton High School Buffaloes tapered off Friday after their practice game with Highland in preparation for their bi-district rendezvous with Plains Cowboys.

"I just wanted the boys to forget about basketball for a day or two," comments Coach Harlin Dauphin, in response to the layoff. "We've been drilling basketball into them pretty hard recently and now what they need most is to just relax."

The Buffs pounced Highland Thursday night, 63-47 after finishing undefeated in league play against Rotan earlier in the week. Alton Robertson, one of the mainstays in the Stanton scoring column, missed the last two outings due to an appendectomy, but was aptly replaced by Buzzy Brewer. Robertson will be ready for action Tuesday however. Brewer hit for 17 points in the district finale against Rotan, and then came back with 20 more Thursday.

Norman Donelson, the District 6-A scoring champ, now has racked up an even half-grand in the scoring parade. Donelson's 500 points give him an average of 19.2 per game through the season. Robertson has averaged 11.2 through the season, including the games he didn't even play. The big forward has meshed the nets for 265 points this year.

Stanton's do-or-die battle with Plains will come off at 8 o'clock in the Tahoka High School gym. Should the Buffs bring home the bacon in that one, they will meet the winner of the district 3-4A playoffs for a berth in the State meet next May.

SANDS (SC) — Sands' girl basketballers suffered two setbacks here Friday night. The B team fell to Robert Lee, 33-31. And the varsity dropped a decision to Bula, 47-44.

In the B game, Martha Burrow threw in 19 points for Sands and Cowley tallied 13 for the victors. Sands' A team tasted loss for only the fourth time this season.

Janice Bearden took scoring honors as she chalked-up 20 points. Jeannette Ray added 12 for Sands. Lynda Holt tallied 21 and Carol Cooke scored 19 for Bula. SANDS (44) — Bearden 2-10-20. Woods 1-7. Guerin Expected To Break Record

By FRANK ECK AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor Until this season Richie Guerin was one of the most underrated players in the National Basketball Assn. If a player isn't in the 20-point-a-game class fans take him for granted.

But this season Guerin, 27-year-old backcourt star of the New York Knickerbockers, is one of the shining lights of the NBA. He not only leads the Knicks in scoring but at the rate he's going Guerin could break the Knicks season scoring record of 1,488 points set last March by Kenny Sears.

What makes Guerin's scoring feats remarkable is that Sears is 6-foot-9 and Richie is five inches shorter. Guerin had his best night last December when he set a Garden record by scoring 57 points against Syracuse. He made 18 field goals in 31 shots and sank 21 free throws in 26 attempts to break the Garden mark of 56 points set by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

In 14 of the Knicks first 39 games this season, Guerin was the team's high scorer. In three other games he tied for high. Last season he paced team scoring only six times.

"I never think about how many points I score," says Guerin. "Even after a good game I couldn't even tell if I led the team in scoring. I just don't think about those things."

"I'm not doing anything different than in the past. I may be shooting a bit more but I can't notice it. I know that after three full seasons in the pro ranks I've gained in experience."

Guerin, the father of two daughters, has averaged 21.3 points a game for 39 games and enjoys his best nights against the stronger teams from Boston, Philadelphia and Syracuse. Richie paces the team in assists and is second in rebounding.

A member of the last three All-Star teams, Guerin learned his early basketball at Iona College, New Rochelle, N. Y., and later starred for the Quantico Marines for two years.

Ingo, Patterson Bout Discussed

NEW YORK (AP)—A June 22 rematch at New York's Polo Grounds between world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and ex-champ Floyd Patterson is a bit closer today, now that Roy Cohn's new boxing group finally has a New York license.

Shortly after the New York State Athletic Commission voted unanimously Friday to license Cohn's group, Feature Sports, Inc., the new promoters began to talk of a 1 1/2-million-dollar gate with a $100 price for the best tickets.

Feature Sports is an eight-man group that bought the stock of Bill Rosenzohn Enterprises, Inc. for $250,000 to get the rematch contract.

The fight is not definitely set for New York although the stockholders all are New York businessmen and prefer to operate in their hometown.

Roger, Kinman Are Co-Leaders

Jimmy Roger and James Kinman have been named co-captains of the 1960 Big Spring High School baseball team, which opens its season March 4 in Plainview.

Roger is a catcher while Kinman is due to play second base this season.

Coach Roy Baird, wanting to take advantage of all the favorable weather he can, ordered a short workout for Saturday.

Raford Harrison, a letterman outfielder, and infielder Jimmy Graham, who won a reserve letter last year, have quit the squad. Each boy indicated to Baird he was planning to seek part-time employment.

Including the basketball players who reported last Monday, an estimated 35 boys are still going through regular workouts.

Grand Prix Race Set For Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Jack Brabham, Australia's world champion and Stirling Moss of England head a strong field that will bring grand prix auto racing to Havana Feb. 21.

Racing officials have announced Brabham will drive a Cooper Monaco and Moss an experimental Maserati 2.8 in the 200-mile Gran Premio de Libertad over a new course at the Camp Liberty airfield.

It will be Cuba's first grand prix race since the 1958 event came to a sudden, tragic end. That race was halted after a car driven by Garcia Cifuentes skidded on an oil slick curve on the course laid out on the Malecon Boulevard in the heart of Havana. It plunged into the crowd, killing six and injuring 32.

Elliott Timed In 4 Minutes

MELBOURNE (AP)—Herb Elliott, perhaps the only miler in the world who can take it easy and do 4 minutes flat, did just that Saturday under a blazing sun for the Victorian Championship.

The lean, superbly conditioned Aussie didn't take the lead until the front stretch of the third lap, then finished with a 55-second fourth quarter that put him 30 yards ahead of the field at the time.

Merv Lincoln, an old rival who has been lying lately, finished even farther back. John Murray was second in 4:07.2. Elliott, the world record holder at 3:54.5, was hardly puffing afterward.

Cagers who reported include the LeFevre twins, Jay and Jay, both of whom are pitchers; Rex Appleton, infielder; James Farris, outfielder; Homer Mills, pitcher; and Chap Smith, outfielder.

The LeFevres are letterman while Appleton and Farris won reserve monograms in 1959.

The Steers will be seeking to improve upon a 14-11 won-lost record.

Right now, it appears Donnie Everett will start at first base, Appleton or Coy Mitchell at second, Kinman at shortstop, Jerry Dunlap at third, Roger behind the plate and Bob Andrews, Irons and either Alf Cobb or Gene Rzaia in the outfield.

The Steers play their first home game a week from next Saturday, at which time they oppose Leveland.

Bald Eagle Breezes In

By GENE PLOWDEN MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle came flying into the stretch, overtook the leaders, and went on to win the $126,000 Widener Handicap Saturday and set a new track record.

A Hialeah crowd of 35,014 made Bald Eagle the 6-5 favorite over Sword Dancer. The five-year-old son of Nasrullah ran the mile and a quarter in 1:59.3-5 to shatter the old mark of 2:01 set by El Mono in 1948.

Calumet Farm's On-And-On finished second, three quarters of a length back. Ada L. Rice's Talent Show was third.

Bald Eagle, second to On-And-On in the recent McLennan, was back in the pack early in the running of this 23rd Widener but moved to third as they turned for home and had plenty left to overtake On-And-On and Day Court in the stretch.

Bald Eagle, carrying 123 pounds with Manuel Ycaza, paid $4.70, $2.60 and $2.40. Betting on the nationally televised (NBC) race was a thumping $445,920, far above the old high-water record set on Widener Day in 1956 at $332,660.

Former President Harry S. Truman appeared briefly in the winner's circle while the trophy was being presented to Harry Guggenheim of New York, owner of Cain Hoy Stable, by George D. Widener, nephew of the late Joseph E. Widener for whom the race was named.

LOCKE ESCAPES Death In Mishap CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) —Golfier Bobby Locke was reported in fair condition Saturday after an amazing escape from death when a train struck his car near here.

Hospital officials said the four-time British Open champion had regained consciousness and was not in serious condition. Locke was reported to have suffered cuts on the head and face in the accident Friday.

Police said the train smashed into the car near the rear, spun it around and carried it about 35 yards. Locke is believed to have been in the back seat of the car. A companion escaped serious injuries.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Top passing honors in the 1959 National Football League season, were divided among the New York Giants, their quarterback, Charley Conerly, and quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Champion Baltimore Colts.

Conerly had the highest average gain per passing attempt, 8.79 yards. The Giants led as a team with 8.37. Unitas had the most yards gained, 2,899, the most touchdown passes, 32, and the greatest number of completions, 193.

Norm Van Brocklin of Philadelphia and Billy Wade of Los Angeles compiled the highest completion average, 58.6.

Howard County Junior College girls took both ends of a volleyball doubleheader from McMurtry in Abilene Friday.

The Jayhawks copped the B series, 15-1 and 15-11. Dorothy Williams was the high point server with 12 followed by Glenda Williams with nine.

Pat Hudgins led the Jayhawks in the A game with eight points as HCJC romped to wins of 15-0 and 15-4.

Wanda Armstrong and Joan Woodbury did some stout spike work for the Hawks.

HCJC's first home game will be March 11 against South Plains.

It Seems To Me

By DON RIDDLE

One of the big reasons for the Texas Longhorns being tied for the Southwest Conference basketball lead, is Jimmy Brown. The big Austin sophomore played his high school ball for the McCallum Knights.

In the '57-'58 season, Brown's senior year, he played center and averaged 60 per cent from the field. And brother, that's throwing 'em through there.

Did you know that the famed Four Horsemen of Notre Dame (1922-1924) averaged only 157 pounds. At such a weight today, HARRY CROWLEY, MIKE LAYDEN, DON MILLER and HARRY STULDEHEIMER would probably have trouble making cheerleaders.

You may talk about quick-thinking on the gridiron; but see if you can top this one. Detroit guard BOB GROTTKAU was in his first pro game for the Lions, and serving as messenger boy on alternate plays. At a tense point in the game, Grottkau raced into the huddle with the play from the bench. But in his anxiety, Big Bob forgot his orders. Unflustered he announced to quarterback TOBIN ROTE, "they are all mixed up on the bench. Call your own play."

Look for ex-Baylor star, JERRY MALLET, to be roaming the outer gardens for the Red Sox this spring. The tall Beaumont lad sprang one of the most impressive scouting reports of any rookie ever. One scout notes about Mallet, "has as good an arm as any in history — better than most."

JESSE OWENS, the '36 Olympic champion who won no less than three gold medals was never even recognized by Hitler and other German dignitaries in the games at Berlin. After winning and setting a new world record in the 100-meter dash, Owens turned just in time to see Hitler rise and leave the coliseum. Hitler was to announce the winner of the race but his pride wouldn't allow him to honor the American due to the fact that he was a Negro.

Owens, incidentally, after abandoning his amateur standing, used to run against thoroughbreds for money. The race was always 100 yards and the race-horses never once beat the ex-Ohio State speedster. Five yards past the finish line however, Owens usually had to eat a little heel-dust. There's an actor in Hollywood now who won most of his fame on the diamond. He recently played a minor role in a major production which stars ROBERT MITCHUM and JULIE LONDON. His name is LEROY PAIGE but most people call him SATCHEL.

Pro Golfers Move To San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Golf's surprise package, the $20,000 Texas Open, all decked out with new wrappings, will be opened Thursday when the linksters of the professional golf assn. make their annual stop on the winter tour.

For the second time in the 33 year history of the Texas Open, the event will be played at Fort Sam Houston's 6,729 yard layout that carries a par of 36-36-72. The Texas Open started in 1922 at Brackenridge Park, a compact course that brought forth most of the scoring records in the PGA book before longer tees were installed in 1957.

Included in Texas Open history are three of the rounds of 60 shot in PGA co-sponsored tournaments; the record 72-hole total of 257 by Mike Souchak; the 189 for 54 holes by Chandler Harper as he finished with three straight 63's to win the 1954 event; and the 27 for nine holes by Souchak.

San Antonio products have led the pack twice, Tony Holguin capturing the 1953 championship and Wesley Ellis Jr. taking the top cash last year.

Between protests that Brackenridge Park was a "pitch and putt" course, and that the park's rubber mat tees caused too many wrist injuries, the touring pros showed their dislike for local conditions by skipping San Antonio on their annual trip from California to Florida. The San Antonio Golf Assn. changed the locale to Fort Sam Houston, a man-size course with grass tees and an exposure to wind that demands well hit shots if players are to score well.

Seven of the nine most recent winners are going to try their hand again, including Ellis and Bill Johnston, the Provo, Utah, shotmaker. Johnston won the 1953 tournament, Jay Hebert won the 1957 session, Chandler Harper the 1954 meet, Holguin in 1953, Jackie Burke Jr. in 1952, and E.J. (Dutch) Harrison in 1951.

The absentees include Souchak, who is on a month's vacation from the tour, and Gene Littler, who captured the 1956 event with a 276 when it was held at Fort Sam Houston previously. Eleven of the top 20 money winners last year, including Souchak and Littler, are skipping the San Antonio tourney.

Arnold Palmer, the Palm Springs winner, and Jack Fleck, who won the Phoenix open, are the only winners of early events on the winter circuit expected to play here. They move into a favorite's position along with the former champion and two well known runners-up, Doug Ford and Jimmy Demaret, both of whom have finished second in three Texas opens.

Star Sprinter

R. L. Lasater (above) is being heavily counted upon to score points for the Big Spring High School track and field team in the sprints this season. McKinley Lauded As Best Doubles Player In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—"That kid," said ex-Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert today, "is not only the best doubles player in the United States, but the hungriest player as well."

Talbert was referring to 19-year-old Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., a freshman at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex., a top basketball player and mathematical whiz.

Right now, though, Chuck is concentrating most of his talents on tennis. He sprang the shocker of the National Indoor Championships last night when he downed Ulf Schmidt of Sweden, the second-seeded foreigner and 1956 winner, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

Matthews Edges Lahouari Godih

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Leg Matthews made youth, punching power and one knockdown pay off for a split decision over Lahouari Godih, a game, experienced Algerian.

That was the story of Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight. The two lightweights Matthews 135 1/2, Godih 136 1/2 drew it so close that the officials had to go to the party system to get a verdict. Referee Harry Kessler voted for Matthews, 20, a Philadelphia slugger. Judge Tony Castellano scored it 5-4-1 for the 30-year-old Godih. Judge Leo Birnbaum had it 5-5 in rounds but gave three points to Matthews for a seventh round knockdown and thus scored it in Len's favor 7-5 in points. The AP also was 5-5 but 6-5 for Matthews on points. Ten of 12 writers thought Matthews won.

New York officials score by rounds. However, when the rounds come out even as they did on Birnbaum's card they fall back on a point system in which the winner of a round gets from one to four points and the loser none. Birnbaum gave Matthews three points for the knockdown round and the other officials gave him two.

Promoter Herman Taylor of Philadelphia immediately rematched the two men for a March 14 date off TV in Philadelphia, moving back a scheduled Gaspar Ortega - Charlie Scott match to April 4.

Godih, busy all the way, piled up an early lead and closed with a rush to grab the 10th round after taking a battering in the seventh, eighth and ninth. His finish won the cheers of the small crowd which booed the decision against the Algerian-born Parisian, a 2-1 underdog.

Eight Varsity Letters Given At Garden City

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Eight varsity basketball letters have been awarded to members of the 1959-60 Garden City High School basketball team which wound up its season last week. The Bearcats won 18 games in 25 starts overall and finished in second place in District 19-B.

with a 10-2 record, having lost to Bronte and Forsan. Denis Calverley and Harold Jones won their fourth numerals. Each is a senior. Three-year lettermen are Joe Carter, junior; Jimmy Childress, senior; Doug Parker, junior; and Ralph Shafer, senior.

No sophomores lettered but Denise Cypert, a freshman, earned a monogram. Managers who earned awards were Jamie Pagan and Bernard Seidenberger.

The Cats scored a total of 1,274 points for an average of 51 per game. The opposition counted 1,060, for an average of 42.

Garden City tallied 498 field goals in 1,228 tries for 41 per cent and hit on 263 of 526 free shot offerings for 50 per cent.

The Tabbies ran up their high-grade game score against Water Valley, at which time they registered 73 points. Stanton and Wall shared the honor of counting the most against them — each with 59.

Calverley was the leading scorer with 302 points for a 12.5 game average. Jones had 249 for 10.0, Childress 219 for 8.8, Parker 164 for 6.6, Cypert 162 for 7.4 and Shafer 133 for 6.0.

Childress was the leading rebounder over the season. In home action alone, the Bearcats won ten of 11 assignments. Shafer had the distinction of scoring the biggest number of points in any one game when he punished the nets for 33 against Sterling City.

The Garden City girls' team won only one of 11 district starts but was 7-18 overall. The lasses won consolation laurels in tournaments at Garden City and Grandfalls.

Senior Wanda Williams was the only four-year letter winner. Three-year lettermen include Joe Mehanie Calverley, junior; Caroline Stone, junior; and Diane Childress junior.

Second varsity letters went to Beth Jackson, senior; Betty Jean Hoelscher, senior; Deanna Overton, sophomore; and Sue Parker, sophomore. Betty Jo Schraeder, Glenda Wagner, Margaret Jo Cook and Rita Hardy, all freshmen, won their first numerals. A managerial award went to Helene Henrichs.

Calverley and Childress served as co-captains of the boys' team while Calverley and Overton functioned in that capacity for the girls.

Al Lange coached the boys' team while Clarence McDaniel tutored the girls' contingent.

LAKE THOMAS BRIEFS

Fishing Spots Perking Up As Warm Weather Nears

This may be the tail-end of the slack season around Lake J. B. Thomas, but you've never seen a busier place.

Almost everywhere things are humming as operators hasten to get in improvements in time for the spring tide trade. Based on the heavy runs during the week-ends that have been fair and warm, that time isn't far off. Mrs. Halley Browne said that records at Browne's Grocery showed that last year the heavy volume began around March 1 and built up to a peak in June, held steady until school started.

Major improvements are under way at Sportsmans Paradise, Lakeview Grocery, Boyd's Lodge and Lake Thomas Lodge. At Jinken's Grocery and Bait Store, finishing touches are being put on a beauty shop to be operated by Mrs. Dolly Tolbert, sister of Jinken's Moreland. It will be known as Kountry Kurl and will cater to the regular weekend residents in the Lake Thomas Community. Jinkens, Mrs. Tolbert and other members of the family have constructed the building for the shop, which was to have its opening this weekend.

Here are some of the highlights around the lake: LAKEVIEW GROCERY — Clyde Montgomery is getting pretty far along on a string of boat houses near the cafe and store. Meanwhile, there have been some good catches of crappie reported there, and the bass are beginning to bite.

Preston Stokes, O'Donnell, reported a catch of 16 crappie, R. C. Young, Snyder, came in with a mighty good looking 4 1/2-pound bass. Most catches were with minnows. Weather has been a factor, but considering everything, traffic has been good.

SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE — Claude Hodnett is concentrating now on the construction of a new all-weather boathouse which will be anchored north of the boat basin. The main anchor posts (steel tripods) and the sub posts are being driven, and materials for the house are on the ground. One unique feature of this 36-43-foot structure will be its floats — they will be 7 in. x 20 in. x 10 foot slabs of styrofoam. These look like great panels of stone but are so light they could be held by one finger. They will fit into a framework and will support the weight of the boat house. The house will have a center well of 14 x 28 feet for fishing, and this will be surrounded by and enclosed by five-foot walkway with chairs. The exterior of the building will have another five-foot walkway for outside fishing. Around the boathouse, the bodies of old cars, crammed with hay and other fish food, are being sunk to furnish a feeding place and refuge for fish. Completion is due within a month.

Jack Graham reported catching a 5-pound bass. B. J. Littlejohn, Curtis Wimberley, Howard Shelton of Odessa, came in with 84 crappie in two days of fishing. They baited with minnows.

SHADY GROVE — Buckshot White and family of Farmington, N. M., came in about a week ago and started fishing shortly before midnight. By 10 a.m. the next morning they had 16 fine crappie and two good bass.

Jack Anthony and son of Lamesa had good luck with crappie, and R. D. McMillen, Big Spring, hooked 16 crappie.

Homer Smith has been putting out 36 elm trees to increase the shade around this spot on the upper channel. The one-room efficiency apartment recently completed was rented overnight for the first time last week. Soon Mr. and Mrs. Smith will have another room ready for rent.

Water is getting a little low in the channel, but by paddling in a couple of places, boats can still get down to the river. JINKEN'S GROCERY AND BAIT STORE — Fishing has been erratic, but two weeks ago when there were several balmy days in a row, the weekend crowd was like summertime. BROWNE'S GROCERY — Traffic is beginning to pick up, and every sign of spring brings out more fishermen. Best luck is with the crappie, although the trotline fishermen (who are tough enough to brave the cold) are catching

3,000 Teachers Due For District Meet

If the weather is good, officials of the West Texas Teachers Assn. believe that more than 3,000 teachers from District IV of the Texas State Teachers Association will be in Big Spring on March 3 and 4. They will be here to attend the 25th annual convention of the organization.

John Thompson, treasurer for the TSTA, Seminole, has informed S. M. Anderson, vice president of the district and chairman of the arrangements for the convention, that 3,100 paid registrations have been filed in this office. There are some 4,000 teachers in the district. While not all of the 3,100 who have now paid their registration fee may attend, the officials of the organization believe the bulk of them will be on hand.

THOUSAND FROM ODESSA

There is a report 1,000 teachers from the Odessa schools plan to be on hand. The Odessa school faculty comprises more than 1,100.

Housing this army of teachers is not expected to be a major problem, Anderson said. He pointed out that on March 3, the only major event is a House of Delegates banquet in the Hotel Settles dining room. Only 200 are eligible to attend this banquet. Therefore, the bulk of the teachers who will come to the big meeting will drive into Big Spring on March 4, attend the sessions in which they are interested, and return to their homes that same day.

BIG PROBLEM

Anderson is worried about one phase of the big convention. The general sessions of the convention — there will be two on March 4 — are slated for the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium.

"By cramming in every possible extra chair the fire marshal will allow," Anderson said, "we believe we can accommodate around 1,700. It seems highly probable that every delegate to the convention will want to be at these meetings. We are not sure yet just how we will deal with this problem."

It is at the general sessions the guest speakers of the convention will be presented. These include the dynamic Frank G. Clement, former governor of Tennessee, and Dr. James H. Jaucy, El Paso, clergyman of many talents. He is the holder of 10 academic degrees and has had over 20 years of experience in science, engineering, psychology, education, religion and journalism.

SECTIONAL MEETINGS

Anderson anticipates no difficulty in the matter of the eight departmental luncheon meetings at noon on March 4. Nor does he think the 41 sectional meetings on the same date will pose any problem. School room facilities all over town are being drafted to serve these meetings.

District IV of the TSTA includes Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scary, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Winkler, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Crane and Upton Counties.

Election Suit Set In Austin

AUSTIN (AP)—An election contest suit growing out of a bitter election on urban renewal here is scheduled for trial Feb. 29 before Dist. Judge Jack Roberts.

The suit filed by Harry Whittington claims unqualified persons took part in the Dec. 5 election in which urban renewal was approved by 52 votes.

The suit alleges illegal voting by persons without property on the city tax rolls and by others without poll tax receipts or exemptions.

It asks Roberts to void the election or conduct a recount after throwing out what it terms illegal ballots.

A supplemental petition filed Wednesday added the names of 15 persons alleged to have voted without meeting property qualifications. It said they either did not own property here at the time or had failed to render it for city taxation.

The election was restricted to taxing property owners.

The city said it will show that only qualified voters took part. It said the outcome would be unchanged, regardless.

The city's approach to urban renewal, incorporating federal aid, was adopted 3,421-3,269.

Die-Of-Laughing Insurance Costly

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Backers of a charity comedy revue gave up on the idea of buying a million dollar insurance policy to cover anyone in the audience who dies laughing.

Turned out it's not so simple. And it would cost $5,000 for two hours, under terms set forth by Lloyd's of London, a famed firm which specializes in off-beat insurance policies.

"They'll just have to laugh at their own risk," William Loeb, chairman of the show sponsoring the Easter Seal campaign, said.

Tips On Telephone Manners Are Given

A film, "Manner of Speaking," was presented before members of the American Business Club at their regular luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

The film was presented by the Bell Telephone Company to depict the proper and improper ways of talking over the telephone.

Chiff Fisher, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone office here, gave a short talk immediately prior to the movie.

Guests included, in addition to Fisher, James Day, Charles Hamilton, John Johnson, Marvin King, Hugh Welch and Jim Scott.

Per Patient Cost Reduced At State Hospital In 1959

It cost approximately $2 less per month to maintain a patient in Big Spring State Hospital in 1959 than it cost to keep the same patient in 1958.

Figures released in Austin in a report to be submitted to Gov. Daniel by State Auditor C. H. Cavness indicated the Big Spring institution was able to reduce its per patient operating costs from $89.61 in 1958 to $87.13 in 1959. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that total enrollment in the state hospital climbed from 1,280 at the end of the 1958 fiscal year to 1,363 on Aug. 31, 1959. The 1956 cost per patient was $81.72.

In August 1958, the auditor's report shows there were 358 patients of the hospital on furlough and 16 gone without leave. On the same date in 1959 the furloughed patients were 442 and escapes 21. The number of patients in residence dropped six during the year from 906 to 900.

Total revenues of the hospital in the fiscal year were $1,204,725 as compared with $1,052,213 in 1956. Of last year's revenue, the balance came from cash from the local funds.

Biggest item of operational costs was salaries for the 252 employees. They received $746,769 of the total expenditure of $1,183,015. The hospital spent $179,109 for food; $47,914 for drugs. The hospital began the fiscal year with a balance of $105,598 and wound up with $44,914. Average number of patients in residence was 893. This gave a ratio of one employee for each 2.54 patients. In 1957 the ratio was 3.26.

During the year 669 first admission patients were listed. There were 532 readmissions and 18 "in" transfers. Nine transfers out were listed. One hundred and 56 patients died and 971 were discharged.

In 1957, the ratio of employees per patient was 3.26. There were 736 patients in the hospital at that time.

Top Toastmasters

Bill Schlecht, left, and Glenn Hancock have been selected as the two top speakers in the Toastmasters Club eliminations. Schlecht will represent the club in the West Texas (District No. 44) contest at San Angelo on March 12. His winning speech was on "What a Good Salesman Possesses." Glenn Hancock, runner-up, will serve as alternate. His topic is "This I Believe." The district embraces territory from San Angelo to Abilene to Lubbock to Midland.

Kiwanis Pancake Supper Thursday

More than 1,000 tickets have been sold for the Kiwanis Club's Annual Pancake Supper to be served on next Thursday evening. This year's supper will be served for the first time in the Howard County Junior College Student Union Building and a record crowd is indicated. Heretofore the suppers have been in the high school cafeteria. Not only does the HCJC location offer more room; it also is arranged better to handle the hundreds of diners who will be trekking in and out from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. There will be more available parking space, too, at the HCJC. This year, as in the past, the rule of "all you can eat for the price of the ticket" will prevail. The committee responsible for collecting the necessary supplies for this big project is busy buying the flour, eggs, shortening, bacon, butter, sirup, coffee and other ingredients, which will go into the preparation of the several thousand meals to be served. Kiwanians are selling tickets (75 cents for adults, 50 for children). However, tickets can also be bought at the HCJC on the night of the supper. Funds derived from the supper go into the Kiwanis Club fund for the aid of underprivileged children. The pancake suppers have had a remarkable career in Big Spring. They have been so uniformly successful from year to year that the club devotes a large share of its annual effort to maintaining the reputation established for the project.

Rabies Cases Hit Winter's Lull

Confirmed rabies cases across Texas in January is above the usual incidence, but Howard County has shown a decrease in the last three months. Lige Fox, city-county sanitarian, said only two cases have been confirmed in Howard County since October. "We have a fairly safe situation now," he added. Dr. A. B. Rich, State Health Department rabies control specialist, warned that some sections of the state "can expect an increased rabies count unless preventative measures are used."

Natural Gas Connections Are Required

Newly annexed residents using butane or other LPG as a heating and cooking gas, were put on notice last week that its use is illegal inside the city limits of Big Spring.

A city ordinance provides that annexed residents have 120 days following annexation action to switch from butane gas to natural gas, where it is available. A. D. Meador, fire marshal, said natural gas is available in most annexed areas.

The ordinance states, in part, that "no person shall keep, store, retain, handle, haul, transport, dispense, distribute, use or consume . . . liquified petroleum gas." This includes propane, propylene, butane, iso-butane and butylene.

No new bulk storage plants may be installed within the city limits and in the case of annexed plants, they may not be rebuilt, repaired or remodeled. The ordinance specifically prohibits storage within the city fire limits.

Meador said most annexed residents have until May 1 to comply with the ordinance.

Rich pointed to Central Texas and, in particular, the Brazos River area as the most seriously affected. A total of 66 rabies cases were reported in 36 counties during January, Rich explained. The usual incidence is 50.

Only 13 of the 66 diagnosed cases were dogs, he added, and he tabbed abundant wildlife as the chief cause of epidemics. Howard and Mitchell counties were the only counties in this immediate area with reported rabies outbreaks. Last year cases were numerous and widespread.

Fox explained that the number of rabies cases normally decreases in winter months, because most West Texas wildlife is semi-hibernating. Since the epidemics reported last autumn, the number of reported cases is considerably down, only two in three months.

"But we should not be complacent," Fox warned. "There is sure to be an upswing in April and a program to combat increased incidence is a valuable protection."

Tough Guy

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A bus and a car both hit 65-year-old Jose Encarnacion Contreras Roman Thursday night. He's still alive. Contreras Roman stepped from a sidewalk, and was hit by a bus. He staggered away, and was hit by a car which was trying to pass the bus. He was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Strike Looms

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican musicians are threatening to strike unless a new contract gives them the same pay and privileges granted foreign musicians appearing here. Terms of a new contract also call for higher salaries, better pensions, improved insurance, longer vacations and other benefits.

Week Just Past Was A Busy Time For Cupid

Mrs. Gorum

The chapel of the First Methodist Church was the scene of the candlelight wedding of Nancy Lee Woods and Larry Wayne Gorum Saturday evening. Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the church, read the double ring vows.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woods, 2211 Main; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Gorum of Glenora, La.

A grouping of candles outlined the rail of the chancel, which was banked with fern and other greenery. Center of interest in the background was a large sunburst of white stock.

Musical selections included "I Love Thee" and "Because," sung by Ira Schantz, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, organist, who played the traditional nuptial marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father; she had chosen a gown of white lace over white satin, ballerina length. Scallops of the V-neckline were embroidered with seed pearls, and she wore earrings of tiny pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points fastened with self-covered buttons.

Pearls made the coronet which held in place the veil of illusion, and the bride carried gardenias in feathered mums on a white Bible.

TRADITION

The Bible, which she named as her something old, was one which was presented to her mother at the end of a nursing course; the bridal attire was new; a blue garter was included in the ensemble and the veil had been borrowed from Mrs. Robert Thornton.

Greta Woods attended as her sister's maid of honor; she wore a frock of embroidered satin in shell pink with pink accessories;

(See MRS. GORUM, Page 2-C)

Mrs. Draper

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Charles Draper are on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination following their marriage Friday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Byerley Jr., 1807 Morrison Drive.

Mrs. Draper is the former Barbara Ann Byerley; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Draper of Forsan.

The bride's uncle, the Rev. James P. Boswell of Planview read the single ring ceremony; he is pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of that city.

A wrought iron arch, which formed the background for the wedding party, was entwined with greenery and centered with white bells; white satin bows were tied to sides of the arch and decorated the tapers held in floor candelabra.

NUPTIAL MUSIC

For the ceremony, Gene Boswell, a cousin of the bride, played and recorded organ selections of nuptial music and these were presented as part of the ritual.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white nylon tulle and Venetian lace. Lines of the Sabrina neckline followed the scallops of lace as did the top of the full skirt where it joined bands of tulle alternating with lace.

Points marked the waistline, front and back, as well as the long tapering sleeves. A waist length veil of illusion floated from a tiny half-hat of seed pearls and lace, and the bride carried a white Bible on which were sweetheart roses with an orchid.

In the manner of tradition, she chose a birthstone ring which had belonged to her grandmother and which was a gift for her wedding; that was the something old. Her wedding gown was new, and the white Bible had been borrowed

Mrs. Clements

STANTON — Double ring rites were read for Sherley Gene Nowlin and Courtney Clements Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor of the church, hearing the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nowlin; parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Jack Jagers and the late H. L. Clements.

An arch of greenery was enhanced with a scattering of white gladioli and was flanked with tapers. Baskets of white glads decorated the altar.

Music was provided by Mrs. Earnest Hook, organist, and Sherry Baker, pianist, who accompanied the soloists. These included Jonni Hill, who sang "Because of You," and Mrs. Jan Smith, who sang "Always" and, as the climax to the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

FLOWERS TO MOTHERS

As the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage, she paused to give a flower from her bouquet to her mother. Following the ritual, she presented a flower to the mother of the bridegroom as she was led by him from the altar.

The bridal gown, fashioned of white satin and Chantilly lace held a back interest of rows of lace in bustle effect; the front of the full skirt was a lace panel. Long sleeves tapered to points. Seed pearls crusted the bandeau which held in place the fingertip bridal veil; the bride carried a white Bible with a white glabella tied in a cascade of ribbons and tiny buds.

For tradition, she named her wedding dress as the something new; her headdress had been borrowed; a blue garter was presented to her by Miss Hill, and the something old was a single

Linda Jeter, Burel Wolf Exchange Wedding Vows

LAMESA — Wedding vows were solemnized at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Key Baptist Church by Linda Jeter and Burel Wolf.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jeter of Motor Route 6, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wolf of Star Route 1.

The Rev. Raymond Smith officiated for the double ring ceremony as the bridal party stood before an archway entwined with greenery and yellow carnations flanked by branched candelabra.

Marilyn Cox was pianist, and Johnny Montgomery presented the poem, "How Do I Love Thee," as a musical reading.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of Chantilly lace combined with satin, which featured a molded lace bodice with a matching headpiece, and carried a single long-stemmed carnation.

The bridesmaid was Annette Gibson. Her dress of autumn gold velvet was styled identically to the honor attendant's, and she too carried a single long-stemmed carnation.

Bill Baty was best man, and Jerry Boyer, groomsmen.

Other members of the wedding party included the bride's brother, Richard Jeter and her cousin, Delbert Jeter, who served as ushers, and the bridesroom's niece, Rhonda Wilson of Seagraves, who was flower girl. Allan Smith was ring bearer; the candlelighters were Barbara Ball and Kay Cooper.

sin, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Sue Shipp and Beth McClure. For traveling, the bride selected a beige cupliose sheath with matching jacket, embroidered in brown, and brown accessories.

Mrs. Wolf is a graduate of Lamesa High School and Rutherford Metropolitan School of Business, Midland. Her husband is a graduate of Dawson High School; he is presently engaged in farming in the Punkin Center community.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to South Texas, the couple will reside at 807 1/2 N. 13th St., Lamesa.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The assortment of boards, boxes, rags, ribbons and dirt that was sent from the north part of the county into our yard last week has now gone back along with a large helping of tumbleweeds. The wind from the south Friday lifted lids from trash containers and sometimes took the trash along. If we keep having the daily shifts in wind our trees are going to stand straight instead of listing to the north.

MRS. ALTON UNDERWOOD and MRS. W. N. NORRED returned from Abilene Friday where they visited Mrs. Underwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. McDaniel. The McDaniels accompanied the Big Spring women to Cross Plains where they were guests of Mrs. Norred's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brandon.

CPL. WILBERT MOODY left Saturday morning for a new assignment in Freeberg, Germany, after spending his leave with his parents, MR. AND MRS. H. L. MOODY in Sand Springs, and in McCamey with other relatives. Cpl. Moody spent a year on Eniwetok before being assigned to Ft. George Meade, Md.

His sister and her husband, MR. AND MRS. CHARLES PFEIFFER JR., were hosts Friday evening for a farewell party at their home for members of the family and friends.

LT. AND MRS. ROBERT HUTFLIERS and their sons, Mark and Robert, are to spend this week on Padre Island. They were to join Mrs. Hutfliers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Olson, whose home is in Minneapolis, Minn.

MRS. G. W. MASTERS of Comanche is here for an extended visit with her daughter and son-in-law, MR. AND MRS. J. A. RICE.

M SGT. AND MRS. DONALD WOOD and their children, Pudney, Donnie, Earl and Michael are in Enid, Okla., visiting friends.

MRS. IDA C. KELLEY is in Pampa where she is the guest of her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley. She plans to return here Tuesday.

After having been stationed at Webb AFB for five years, LT. AND MRS. JOHN R. THUEMMELE and their three children, Steve, Lou Ann and Mary, are getting set to leave. They will depart Big Spring about March 1 for their home state and city, Tacoma, Wash., where they will visit until they report at McGuire AFB in New Jersey. From here they will go to Phalbourg, France, reporting there on April 1. This is Mrs. Thuemmel's first overseas trip and she is looking forward to the assignment.

Mothers of both MR. AND MRS. FRANK C. PERRY have returned to their homes after a weekend visit with them. They are MRS. FRANK PERRY SR. AND MRS. H. W. JACKSON both of Levelland.

MRS. W. M. JACKSON and her son, William S. Jackson, are in Lubbock where Mr. Jackson is having a checkup following surgery. It's a family reunion for the Jacksons when they visit the Hub City. Four of Mrs. Jackson's daughters live there. They are Mrs. R. V. Baxter, Mrs. O. R. Dyess, Mrs. Earnest Skinner and Mrs. John Criswell.

A highlight of the visit will be the christening of Mrs. Jackson's great-grandson, MARK JATSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Watson, who was named for his late great-grandfather. The christening will take place at the First Methodist Church.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD PARSONS are expected to return today from Austin where they spent the weekend.

MR. AND MRS. A. B. PYLES have his brother and his family as their guests. They are MR. AND MRS. D. L. PYLES and their children, Nida and Martin, whose home is in Dallas. The Pylases are planning to move to this area.

THE REV. AND MRS. J. L. MAYHEW of Lamesa were guests during the week of MR. AND MRS. IRA RALEY, Mrs. Raley and Mrs. Mayhew are sisters.

MRS. I. H. MOODY of Abilene is to return to her work at Hardin Simmons University today after spending the weekend with her sister, MRS. THEO ANDREWS.

White Bible Is YWA Gift To Miss Lankford

A white Bible was presented to Joyce Lankford Friday evening at a banquet given for members of the Baptist Temple YWA at the church.

The gift, presented by the pastor, the Rev. A. R. Posey, is the traditional honor for girls who are to be married.

Miss Lankford, who will become the bride of James Robert Merrick of Ackerly some time in April, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lankford, 1402 Stadium.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Sam Bennett, Mrs. H. I. Cox and Mrs. Rex Edwards, who represented the Horace Buddin Circle. Featuring the colors of the YWA, green and white, they wove the decorations about a St. Patrick theme.

A base of shamrocks held a horseshoe of white styrofoam in the center of the table. Across the centerpiece were the letters, YWA, and green tapers were in holders decorated with net.

Preceding the presentation of the Bible, Jeanette Wyatt paid a tribute to the bride-elect. Mrs. Benj. Porter sang Bless This House, accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Jarrett at the piano.

Mrs. Lankford was present as a guest.

1960 Rose Guide Lists All-American Choices

A guide for buying roses has been offered free of charge by the American Rose Society, 4048 Roselea Place, Columbus, Ohio. It may be had on request.

The guide is valuable to the new gardener who is starting the purchase of roses, since it gives the society's selections of roses along with a description and the characteristics of the plants and blooms.

The organization has announced the choice of 1960 rose selections as Fire King, Garden Party and Sarabande.

A brilliant vermilion Floribunda rose is Fire King, which is recommended for use in landscaping.

It grows well, with blossoms two to three inches across borne in heavy clusters. The rose is well adapted for accents in the garden, according to the guide.

Garden Party is a Hybrid Tea with from 24 to 30 petals making up the bloom. Flowers are a cream and ivory, delicately tinted with soft pink, and carried on single long stems. They are ideal for cut flowers and for use in arrangements.

The third winner for 1960 is Sarabande, a Floribunda with large blossoms of from 12 to 15 petals. Flowers of scarlet orange grow on low compact bushes, making it a favorite for hedges and border edgings.

The society's selections in the free guide are listed according to national ratings and as to whether they are in the Floribunda, grandiflora, hybrid tea, miniature or climber variety. Color, height and fragrance of the flowers are all described in the small folder.

Use A Mirror For Bedroom Beauty

A mirror on the wall can do wonders for the looks of a bedroom as well as serving the usual purpose.

Your favorite furniture or department store carries mirrors that lend a dramatic flare, such as the large picture frame variety; mirrors that are paneled in foot square blocks and give a tasteful look about the room; narrow mirrors that could be placed behind each bedstead, creating a neat, balanced feeling to the room.

Convenient Cake Roll

Convenient pre-packaged foods combine to make this attractive, luscious-tasting cake roll. George Washington never tasted anything as good as this! Try your hand at making the tasty goodie.

Handy Foods Combine Making This Cake Roll

An ideal dessert for George Washington's birthday this Tuesday is a mince meat cake roll. This spicy, gooey dessert will make a hit with your bridge club or with your family if you aren't planning to entertain.

Depending upon the thickness of the slices, the roll will serve from eight to ten diners.

Preparation time has been reduced to a minimum because the food processors have helped with the cooking. Mince meat in condensed form is used; the cream cheese adds a fine flavor complement.

MINCE MEAT CAKE ROLL

(Serves 8 to 10)

Cake:
Use packaged prepared cake mix. Prepare 1/2 package yellow cake mix according to package directions. Bake in (15 1/4 x 10 1/4 x 1 inch) greased pan.

Filling:
1 (9 oz.) pkg. mince meat
3/4 cup water
1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
1/2 cup chopped walnut meats
Confectioners' sugar
2 tbsps. milk
Walnuts
Maraschino cherries
While cake is baking, prepare the filling. Break mince meat into small pieces in a sauce pan; add water and boil 1 minute. Cool slightly. Cream one-half package (4 ounces) cream cheese. Add walnuts and mince meat and mix thoroughly.
Bake cake just until tests done.

Remove from oven. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula.

Lightly sprinkle clean towel with confectioners' sugar. Turn cake onto towel. Gently roll towel and cake together lengthwise. Cool about 10 minutes. Gently unroll. Spread cake at once with mince meat-cream cheese filling to 1/2 inch from edges. Roll jelly-roll fashion.

Cream remaining cheese with milk; spread over cake roll. Garnish with walnuts and cherries. Serve immediately or place in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Note: Use only one half package cake mix for this size pan. If desired, prepare batter from entire package and make cupcakes from remaining 1/2 batter.

Good With Lamb

Wonderful accompaniment for lamb: sliced cucumbers dressed with white wine vinegar diluted with water, sugar, salt and fresh minced dill.

Use Plastic Bags

The plastic bags in which carrots come are fine to use for covering grapefruit halves that are being refrigerated.

Ideas On Relaxing, Diets And Bathing

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Come to tea. I want you to see my new home! It's the first house I've ever owned." Janis Paige enthused. "I've traveled so much that I've never had an opportunity to settle down, but now I'm making pictures in Hollywood and I hope to be here a long time."

lyng 20 minutes in water that is not too hot, I am no longer taut and all keyed-up.
"Some people don't make the most of their bath. It can be a retreat from the telephone and household noises — a wonderful half-hour that will bring beauty to your body and face and peace to your soul. Or it can be a stolen few minutes where you rush until you come out perspiring and feeling worse than when you began."

Yoke, Gathers Make Graceful Bodice

Katherine Hepburn wears it in a film, but it has a place in anyone's everyday life.

Designed by Charles LecMaire, winner of three Academy Awards, it is an easy dress to wear and requires very little fitting.

A high stand-up collar and raglan sleeves make for simple sewing. The bodice is gathered on a shoulder yoke and falls gracefully into a wide skirt.

The waist is nipped in by a tapered cummerbund, crosses in back and ties in front.

Try crepe, silk jersey, triple shoes, or soft cotton. From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Renoir Makes Mark On Hairdos For Spring

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
You should look pretty as a picture this spring.

Things are rosier in the world of beauty. We see signs that fashionable ladies will be plumed gaily as birds in the feeder, perhaps garbed in lovely pastels that look as if they'd dripped from the palettes of magical painters.

Coiffures for spring are in the spirit of the French impressionist, says one hairdresser, Nancy Mace of New York.

"My clients are always looking for something new, something different," she explains, so this year she offers them a brush with Renoir.

Her new hairdos are varied to suit ladies of all ages. For the youthful look, the hair is kept straight, but satin smooth, kept in place and given body by a foundation permanent wave.

She favors one hairdo that is demure in its appeal. The hair is brought straight down from the center part, drawn back in a gentle sweep across the ears. It is high at the crown puffed up like a cocoon.

The final flourish is a small nose-gay. Let it be French roses or forget-me-nots suggests Nancy, whose salon Les Girls maintains a gallic flair.

Older women who prefer more hair styling than their younger counterparts have their Renoir with waves and short bangs. Hair at the back of the head is brushed up completely from the crown, finished with the softening effect of curls across the crown of the head.

Either of these two schools of styling will be popular this spring, says Nancy. Women who have scooped their hair up to hide it within the folds of their hats all winter, unmindful of hair style, will be ready for all the gaiety that spring offers in the world of beauty.

Swedish Influence Seen In Fashions Of Cotton Decor

Swedish influence on modern American design has become increasingly important in recent years, both in architectural construction and interior design. Swedish art form, with great attention to line is finding widely enthusiastic acceptance.

This year, Astrid Sampe, one of Sweden's leading textile designers has coordinated a group of fabric styles of her own and of some of her associates, under the heading of Sverige (Sweden) for Imperial Fabrics.

For the first time, these highly styled and distinctive patterns are available to the budget home-maker, hand printed in America on heavy cotton sailcloth.

Each creation has been named and bears a definite stamp of its creator's personality and signature. Any modern room might easily be designed around these collector's items.

Junior Tri-Hi-Y Sets Style Show

Fashions for various occasions will be shown on Feb. 28 at the high school cafeteria when the girls of the junior class Tri-Hi-Y sponsor a style show.

Planned as a benefit, the parade of fashions will be staged by Margie's Dress Shop, with Mrs. Steve Baker as commentator.

Tickets are priced at 50 cents per person, and proceeds will go into the group's fund for assistance to World Service, to the national organization and for other projects.

American men soon will be wearing shades ranging from deep purple to mauve, Gaetano Savinioni of Rome said Thursday. He is in Los Angeles for the National Assn. of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers convention beginning Sunday.

HOWARD COUNTY'S HIGHEST PIECE OF LAND

... Engineer Louis Jean Thompson at Triangulation Marker Williams

'Williams' Marker Highest Elevation In Howard County

By SAM BLACKBURN
There is one place in Howard County where an observer can stand and see Stanton, Garden City, Big Spring, Forsan and almost to Lamesa. It is the highest point in all Howard County. It has a greater elevation than Scenic Mountain. It is nearly 100 feet higher than the top of Signal Mountain. It has an even greater altitude than the high plains corner of Howard County south of Ackerly.

Few people, in recent years, have been to this highest spot in Howard County. It is not likely that many will visit it in the future. Oldtimers in general do not know where it is located and if asked where the highest place in the county is located will argue for many others than the true location.

NEAR TOWN

It is to be found five miles south and just a little east—airline—from the Howard County Court House. It is a high point of the Edwards Plateau which begins with South Mountain and extends southward and eastward to San Antonio.

Its official altitude, as carefully established by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, is 2,834 feet. The site is marked by a round brass plate imbedded in a base of concrete. The first marker on the spot was placed there in 1909. It was remarked in a more permanent fashion in 1932. The location is on a tract of land now owned by John Ratliff, who makes his home in Dallas. Officially it is in the southwest corner of Section 20, Block 33, township 1 north.

SWEEPING VIEW

Stanton's skyline shows clearly to the west. Garden City can be sighted to the southwest. Forsan is quite visible. Big Spring's higher points are in sight and, looking north and northwest, the observer can see almost to the city limits of Lamesa. Toward Gail, the rugged butte just this side of the Borden County seat looms clearly.

Strange to relate, the marker which indicates Howard County's most elevated piece of ground is within 50 feet of the ruins of an old cattleguard which, prior to 1909, served travellers from Big Spring en route to San Angelo.

EARLY ROAD

The old, old San Angelo Road, (to identify it from the more commonly designated "old San Angelo Highway") followed the top of the Edwards Plateau southward toward what later became Forsan.

Even now, although the road has not been travelled for half a century, its faint outline can still be traced across the rocky tableland. It followed no set course, meandering in and out around boulders and cedar clumps. The road was never given much attention, apparently, and the solid rock base over which it passed seems to have been the only paving the early day citizens felt was needed.

The marker which identifies the county's highest spot is called "Williams." It owes its name to the fact that a Jim Williams was owner of the land in 1909 when the Geodetic Survey located the place and declared it as a "triangulation" point. There were five such "triangulation" points established in Howard County then. However, Williams is the only one of the original five where the marker still remains.

KEY SPOT

Engineers, working from Williams, can locate the other sites but in the passage of time, the original markers on the other four have long since been destroyed. More recently a new triangulation marker has been established in the county. It is on Scenic Mountain and is called "Park." The markers are of tremendous importance in locating section lines and establishing boundaries to property.

Louis Jean Thompson, civil engineer, and his crew men have erected a temporary mast atop Williams as an aid to work they are doing in the area in locating section line corners. Originally, Thompson said, there were several check markers placed in the area by the Geodetic Survey. Of these only one remains in the vicinity of Williams.

Thompson points out that the high plains begin in the north edge of Big Spring. These slant sharply upward to the north and west. At Lamesa, for example, the elevation is 3,000 feet. South of Big Spring, what high land there exists is found on the top of the rocky Edwards Plateau.

OTHER ELEVATIONS
From Williams, the observer looks down on the rugged top of Signal Mountain. This famous landmark is officially 2,735 feet high. South Mountain is 2,781 feet. Scenic Mountain, visited by thousands annually, has a top altitude of 2,812 feet. In the vicinity of Ackerly, the elevation is 2,795 feet.

On the east steps of the Howard County courthouse, walked over daily by hundreds of Big Spring citizens, is another marker installed by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. This brass plate says that the elevation at that point is 2,432.489 feet.

The lowest spot in the county, according to the Geodetic Survey, will be found at the point where Beal's Creek leaves Howard County and crosses over into Mitchell County, south and east of Big Spring. The elevation at this point is 2,100 feet.

Rodeo Given RCA Sanction

The Rodeo Cowboys Association has given official sanction to the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo on June 9-10-11, it was announced Saturday.

This means that the Big Spring show, one of the oldest in West Texas will be included in the list of world's champion cowboy rodeos. Points earned here will count toward the various championships, hence some of the top ropers, riders and bulldoggers will be here.

The approved events are calf roping, saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding and bulldogging (steer wrestling). Each of these carry $450 from the association in addition to all the entry fees in these events.

The girls barrel race will be a separate event and will be sanctioned later by the girls' barrel racing association. The rodeo adds $225 to the girls' entry fees.

Besides these events, there will be several specialty acts to round out the show which had its first performance back in 1932.

County Court Is Ready For Week's Trials

Twenty-three cases, some of which have been on the docket for sometime will be called up for trial Monday afternoon in Howard County court.

Judge Ed Carpenter will sound the docket at 1:30 p.m. Cases which are announced ready will be set down for trial. Some may be dismissed, and others may be disposed of by pleas of guilty.

On Tuesday morning, a jury panel is to report to the County Court and first of four days of jury trials of misdemeanor cases will get under way.

It was announced that four cases on the original list slated for the week have been continued due to the illness of Clyde Thomas Sr., attorney. He represents the four defendants and will not be able, according to his physician, to appear in court.

The other cases docketed for the week include:

DWI — Melicio G. Sarmiento; Conroe H. Upton; Timothy D. Stafford; Charles J. Baker; Robert Lewis Myers; D. D. Blewitt; Timothy D. Stafford; Murphy L. Daniels; Johnny H. Williams; Woodrow W. Nichols; Ivory Harper; Horace L. Hatler; George Penn; George Ross; Edward Fox and Vicin Bledsoe.

Malicious destruction — Margarito Ortega.

Transporting liquor — Henry M. Wilson; James Taylor Jr., U. V. Bolton.

Unauthorized beverage possession on licensed premises — Louisiana Scott and Dillard White.

Unlawful possession of illegal weapons — Alexander H. Cavallos.

Recognized

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP) — The 1,300-member Evangelical Lutheran Church in Jordan has been granted state recognition as one of the "non-Mohammedan religious communities."

Others so recognized by the government of Moslem Jordan are the Anglican, Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches. About 12 per cent of Jordan's population is Christian.

A Devotional For Today

As soon as this son was come, . . . thou hast killed for him the fatted calf. And he (the father) said unto him, Son, . . . it was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found. (Luke 15:30-32)

PRAYER: Father of all mankind, we thank Thee for Thy love which embraces all mankind. Grant, we pray, that the ties that bind us all to Thee may bind us to one another in Thy family. In Jesus' name. Amen.

A Felon Is Puffed Into A Martyr

The Chessman case in California seems to have gotten clear out of hand. After 13½ years of cheating the gas chamber by a hair, Caryl Chessman apparently has done it again by means of a 60-day stay of execution. It is highly doubtful that he will be executed, for the California legislature has been asked to outlaw the death penalty.

Certainly this is within the province of the California legislature, and that state would be only following the pattern of a number of others if it elects to take this step. Many people are convinced that capital punishment really accomplishes nothing on the grounds that it is but a social extension of the doctrine of an eye for an eye.

But whether it is justifiable or not is no longer an issue on the Chessman case. It has been blown clear out of the proportions of an international incident, so much so that the State department, other extraneous and religio-political forces have been brought to bear.

Last somewhere in the shuffle is the fact that the defendant had been found guilty of inhumane and sickening crimes against two women, and that court after court had found his trial to have been properly and fairly conducted. No one seems to hold a brief for the two victims of those atrocities; quite the contrary, a convicted rapist has become a martyr.

Perhaps it is just as well to commute Chessman's sentence, get him off the front pages and get back to a sense of perspective.

Important For Farmers And Businessmen

The annual Agri-Business Day program will be observed Tuesday on the Howard County Junior College campus.

Under the joint sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, several outstanding speakers are being brought here to discuss topics of vital interest to the business of agriculture.

A successful business operation demands. Agriculture is so enmeshed with business, and vice versa, that it is almost impossible to separate the one from the other, and the trend is toward a greater interdependence upon each other. More and more we will hear of integrated functions from production to marketing, and the successful agricultural business will be the one with enlightened management.

Businessmen and farmers alike fit into this picture, hence the Tuesday conference here will be of more than passing interest to both. We hope that there will be more than a mere token attendance. There is not a businessman or farmer but would benefit by taking time to take part.

Red Can't Afford Their 'Foreign Aid'

WASHINGTON — While Soviet Premier Khrushchev tours Asia and boasts about how many billions of dollars of "aid" the Soviet Union is giving "underdeveloped" nations, he never lets his own people know what he is spending abroad.

For the Soviet Union itself is in many respects one of the most underdeveloped countries in the world. If the censorship within Russia didn't prevent the people there from knowing how the product of their labor is being wasted abroad, they would surely revolt.

The greater part of the Soviet Union, for instance, is a country of darkness. It does not have electric lights in most of its territory. The total generating capacity of the Soviet Union — both electric light and power — at present is about equal to the normal increase the United States will have made from 1958 to 1961.

In other words, it is estimated that the Russians by 1965 will have less than half of the electric light and power of the United States.

AS FOR COAL, CRUDE petroleum, natural gas, canned foods, cotton fabrics, railroad mileage, freight cars, and many other articles, the Soviet Union is anywhere from 30 to 50 years behind the United States.

Wages are much lower in the Soviet Union. The approximate buying power of the worker there is about $1,000 a year, as compared with $4,700 for the average worker in the United States. The farm situation is even worse on the Soviet side. In the United States the average farmer produces enough for himself and 20 other persons, plus more to spare, whereas in the Soviet Union the average farmer produces enough for himself and four other persons — with nothing left to spare.

The latest figures, however, show that the Soviet Union is throwing more than $2.6 billion around the world in aid "underdeveloped" countries, which sums could be much better spent on the Soviet people directly.

THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT grants credits, of course, to "satellite" countries inside the Soviet bloc, and these advances now amount to about $7.5 billion according to Moscow's own claims. Western experts, however, say this is an exaggeration and that the total runs to around $2.25 billion since 1955.

All this money could do much today for the Soviet people if used directly to improve their standard of living. Premier Khrushchev boasts of his program in speeches outside the Soviet Union. He

We Still Have To Work For Prosperity

"Wall Street's shakes and tremors came in time. The 8 per cent drop in stock prices since the end of 1959 won't ruin any one who isn't overextended. Yet, it's a necessary reminder that chocolate soufflé followed by crepes Suzette isn't everyday diet.

The nation was becoming awestruck by its own monopolism — seeing prosperity with one eye only. It was as if business men, economists, and government officials had cocooned themselves in their own superlatives — the soaring, sizzling, satisfying 'sixties.

And then, as soon as the stock market spazzed, speculation and conjecture ran amok. People asked: Is Wall Street forecasting a business turnaround? Has some thing gone basically wrong in the economy? Or, is this merely a reminder of over-exuberance? I think it's both.

The end-of-1959 glow was generated, in part, by the steel strike. Business analysts foresaw an inventory boom in the first half of 1960. Steel had been "eaten up" during the strike. Companies had to curtail for lack of inventories. Others had to buy steel in the gray market. Surely six months of record-breaking demand lay ahead.

INVENTORY BOOM

Then, the statistics rolled in. During December, manufacturers' inventories rose $700,000,000. Where was the decumulation, where was the inability to purchase?

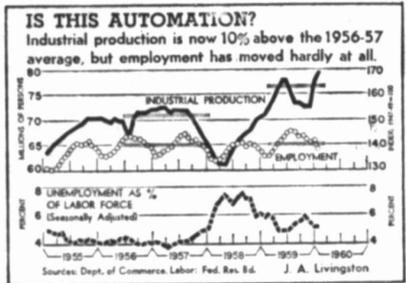

Total manufacturers' inventories on December 31 were $52.3 billion, higher than in any month in 1959, and only two billion dollars less than at the 1957 peak.

Swish: Out the window goes the sure-fire inventory pickup. Iron Age reports soberly that most steel users are not rushing to buy to beat a price rise. It might not come. As for automobile dealers, ditto. Mumbo-jumbo, presto-quick — an inventory of 775,000 cars on Feb. 1 is almost double that of Dec. 1.

Automobile manufacturers are now gaiting output to sales, although assemblies of compacts are still being pushed. They account for a quarter of domestic production.

PESSIMISTIC EMPHASIS

The market drop sobered even the expected. Housing starts dropped from a 1,300,000 annual rate in December to 1,200,000, which had been predicted. And the 600,000 seasonal increase in unemployment in January was discounted thus: Industrial production now is some 10 per cent above the 1956-57 level, while total employment is about the same, around 64,000,000 (see chart). Does this imply that '60 will be dogged by a high per cent of joblessness? Will this be a drag on business? Yet, the fundamental is that stocks were vulnerable. Government securities have been selling to return 4½ to 5 per cent as against a return of a little better than 3 per cent on industrial stocks. Such a wide disparity invites switching out of stocks into bonds.

Further, the market has been conditioned to a rapid expansion in corporate earnings. The steel settlement induced second thoughts on this. Wage costs were boosted more than 3 per cent. Prices have not gone up. This will squeeze profits. And the competition in automobiles and appliances — the need to sell — suggests that it might not be easy for steel companies to raise prices later on.

To Your Good Health

Youngsters Frequently Develop Odd Habits

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a granddaughter, aged 12, who has been a diabetic for four months. We find that her disposition has changed entirely. Could you tell me more about sugar diabetes?— E. M. J."

The disease itself doesn't change the disposition. But the problems and responsibilities are understandable enough.

Let me start this way. At my age, half a century plus a bit, I still remember a feeling that I had when I was about eight years old. I cannot now remember what happened, and I have long since forgotten whatever disciplining I received for the offense, but I still remember how I felt at the time. I told myself, in my moment of aggravation, "When I'm grown up, I'm going to remember how children feel—and I'll be different."

As I said, now that I've grown up, I just can't remember exactly what it was that I determined to remember. That's life for you! So instead of talking about what I can't remember, I'll tell you what I still DO know.

A young diabetic has a double problem. She (or he) has the usual problems of adolescence, PLUS the problems of diabetes.

These youngsters know they must take care of themselves or pay a heavy penalty—even life itself. Yet, like others their age, they want to have "a coke with the crowd," grab a snack in the afternoon, eat a candy bar, some potato chips, or peanuts, or a bottle of pop. But they can't. Extra calories are perilous.

A girl of 12 is betwixt and between. No longer a child, not yet a woman—too young to have dates, but old enough to want to have them. She likes to run with the rest of the kids, and to conform with them. And she CAN do it all—except eat. Yet at 12, what do they all want to do? Eat!

This girl of 12 can't say to a friend, "Let's go down to the drug store and get a sundae." She can't raid the ice box. She can't sneak a nickel's worth of candy into her pocket to nibble when she has a chance. She can't board the penies and spend them for ice cream. She can't do the things her friends all do!

No, she has to stick to a diet, and she has to have her insulin injections. She has to worry about what is happening to her.

If she follows the rules, she'll get along very well. But who, at 12, wants to follow a lot of old rules? She wants to branch out, grow up, try new things. And she mustn't.

No wonder she's crochety. No wonder her disposition has changed. Try to understand what she's up against, and only then can you help her.

E. B. F.: I agree. There is ordinarily no urgency about removing a benign tumor unless size, or pressure against some other organ, causes distress.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how write to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Don't Scold The Kid On His Birthday

TIME: Late evening, mid-winter, around 1740.

PLACE: Living room of the Augustine Washington home.

CHARACTERS: Augustine Washington, a prosperous planter, and his wife Mary. She is at the spinning wheel; he is in his big chair in front of the fire place, reading the evening paper.

He puts down the paper. "Well, I see Jack Paar has decided to go back on television."

Mary: That's nice. I'm sure his nice little wife helped settle all that argument. I do wish he would come on a little earlier. I think his program is interesting, don't you?

August: OK, I guess. I'd rather see Matt Dillon. But at least we can quit worrying about Paar and get back to cussing the King.

Mary: "August! Don't say that out loud. You know you could get into trouble. Incidentally, I just don't know what to do about our tea. It keeps getting higher all the time, what with taxes and all."

August: Somebody will put a stop to that some of these days. . . . Say, where's George? That boy is always out playing Indian, or something, when he should be doing his chores.

Mary: I'm sure he'll be in any minute. August, I just wish you hadn't let that boy have the hatchet. I'm afraid he'll hurt himself, or he could destroy something with it.

August: I know just about what the youngun will do. He'll play around out there and chop down one of my best peach trees, then come in here and try to say that little John Adams or Tom Jefferson did it. Sure as he does, I'm going to whale the tar out of him.

Mary: Why, how do you know it might not be one of the other boys?

August: Now, Mary, George is a pretty good kid, but you know how he has a tendency to tell tall stories.

Mary: Ah, yes, just like he comes in some days and tells me he has thrown a dollar clear across the river. Why do you give him money just to throw away, August?

August: Oh, you never know. Could be some day he'll get his picture on some of our money.

Mary: Now, isn't that just like the proud father! Do you really think he could amount to something?

August: Why not? He is making a pretty good Indian scalper, and maybe some day could lick the British. I wouldn't be surprised if the people set up another kind of rule here and made him the head man—the top banana.

Mary: Oh, August, you surely are seeing too much television. But speaking seriously of George, I'm worried about that boy's teeth.

August: Yeh, they're terrible. I wish the dentist would show up around here again. You know, I'm afraid that boy may have to get along with false teeth long before his time. I just hope the guy who makes them gives him a good fit. Nothing hurts like poor-fitting teeth, and this can affect a man's whole life.

Mary: You're so right, August, and I just hope things turn out all right for him. Of course you remembered he had a birthday coming up?

August: Oh, Ma, I had nearly forgotten. Well, maybe we can go ahead and give him a tract of our best tobacco land out there. Don't know if it's going to be worth much, what with smokers using more filters than they do tobacco. Maybe he can grow the stuff that goes into filters.

Mary: Oh, August, you're such a joker. Oh, I believe I hear George coming. Now remember, you're not to scold him too much, and don't forget to wish him happy birthday.

Don't Be An Injustice Collector

Not very long ago a very mad young man came to see me. He was a bright and attractive personality, but filled with anger, hate and resentment because of a "tough" experience he'd had in his work.

He told me that he had been with a certain company for several years, working toward an important position. Then, when it fell open, it was given to someone else. As he put it, he was "maliciously double-crossed."

He told me of great length and with considerable venom about the man who had "double-crossed" him. "This has made me lose faith in business leadership," he said. "It's too bad when you can't count on the honesty of your associates. They're all a bunch of phonies in that outfit."

"WHAT KIND OF A JOB do you have now?" I asked.

"Oh," he answered, "I have a real good job with another company. As a matter of fact, it's a better job than the one I had before. You see, that promotion I wanted was the last one I could have gotten in that organization. It was a fine spot, but actually a dead end as far as further advancement is concerned. Now, while I'm not making as much money and my job isn't quite as important, there are many more opportunities for me. I have a great future in my new company. I'm sure of that."

"Well, then," I wanted to know, "why are you still agitating your mind about your old company?"

"BUT I WAS double-crossed. I didn't deserve that kind of treatment. I don't understand why they did that to me. I can't forget it and I keep thinking about how badly I was treated all the time. It burns me up."

If any of us were to write our autobiographies, we could fill them with instances where we thought we had been treated unjustly. But harping on it gets you nowhere—nowhere, that is, except into misery. Why keep reburrowing yourself with old injuries? A novelist has coined a phrase for people who keep talking about and thinking about past mistreatments. He calls them "injustice collectors."

Don't be an "injustice collector" if you want to be a happy person.

I GAVE MY VISITOR a prescription which I thought would prevent him from becoming one of those "injustice collectors." It is a quotation which has done me a lot of good over the years. "Never chew your pills; swallow them, because when you chew them it makes them more bitter still."

That quotation is real wisdom. If you have been hurt or disappointed, forget it and go on to the new opportunities before you. Put the past behind you. Try to get some benefit from the things that have happened to you—your difficulties have made you stronger and wiser and perhaps have diverted the pathway of your life for the better. But having extracted know-how from them, stop dwelling on them. Make whatever use you can of them and then forget about them!

One thing is sure. When we have God's spirit in our hearts and sense of His guidance when we are troubled, we can believe that everything that befalls us has some good in it. So, if there are troubles in your past, extract from them all the valuable lessons they contain and put them behind you.

Russia Makes Deal For Steel Pipe

WASHINGTON—As Lewis Strauss began his fierce and futile struggle a year ago to be confirmed as Secretary of Commerce he pointed with pride to his action in turning down a Soviet Russian request to buy steel pipe for an oil pipeline. Strauss had won out in a dispute with Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon over U. S. trade policy with the Soviets and he counted his triumph a high mark in his favor.

The action Strauss took then is pointed up by reports of a deal just concluded between powerful Italian interests and the Soviets. While it is difficult to get official confirmation anywhere, that deal is reported to call for furnishing Russia with $11,000,000 worth of steel pipe and equipment to be paid for with crude oil from the Soviet Union.

IT WAS NEGOTIATED in Moscow late last year by Enrico Mattei, the hard-driving business genius who since the end of the war has built up a vast industrial empire. With government backing of many billions of lira he directs enterprises that extend not only throughout Italy but in recent years into the Middle East and in most countries of Western Europe. Where public control and ownership in this great conglomerate almost no one can say.

Without defining the provisions of the deal the Italian Minister for Foreign Trade, Dino Delbo, has defended it. He said in a statement replying to critics that if Italy had not entered into the agreement, which he said was for $100,000,000 for "equipment," other countries would have done so.

DELBO MAY WELL have been referring to the fact that more than a year ago three West German industrialists entered into a contract with Moscow for $18,000,000 for steel pipe. This was known at the time that the Department of Commerce refused an American exporter a license to sell $2,500,000 of similar pipe to Russia. The issue was hot when Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan came here in January, 1959, to propagandize for expanded trade with the Soviet Union.

The Mattei deal is said to provide the Russians with a considerable share of the steel pipe for a projected 12,000-mile pipeline. The line would run from oil centers in both Poland and Czechoslovakia. By taking payment in crude oil which presumably he will refine and sell in Italian and other European markets, Mattei threatens to disrupt the carefully disciplined pattern of the big companies with their control over markets and resources.

Mattei plays an important part in the politics of the Christian Democratic party. He is the party's chief angel with yearly contributions reported up to a billion lire or over $1,650,000.

THE MATTEI enterprises acquired the Pignone steel fabricating plant in Florence with a peak payroll of 8,000 workers. It is important to prevent unemployment in this plant in connection with the fate of certain left-of-center Christian Democratic leaders. Italy is governed today by a coalition of the Christian Democratic right in combination with extreme rightist and neo-Fascist splinter parties. The deal with Russia should keep not only the Pignone plant but other fabricators going for an indefinite time.

When Strauss denied American businessmen the right to export pipe to the Soviet Union there were some protests from businessmen. Steel pipe is not on the embargo list. The gripes came particularly from those aware of the big deal that Krupp and other Ruhr industrialists had negotiated in Moscow in the summer of 1955. But Strauss took a dignified line in his formal statement to the Senate Commerce Committee.

"I believe that the economic warfare which the Soviet government has declared upon the United States can be most effectively countered in the work and decisions of the Department of Commerce."

Pizza Pies, Yet

COLUMBUS, Ohio — When a television station failed to find some program film left on its back porch by a deliveryman, an investigation was started.

It was found that some youngsters had taken the film, which was found in fields, garbage cans and in one youngster's home. To top it off, a station official said, "The boy's mother was using the containers to bake pizza pies."

Due Warning

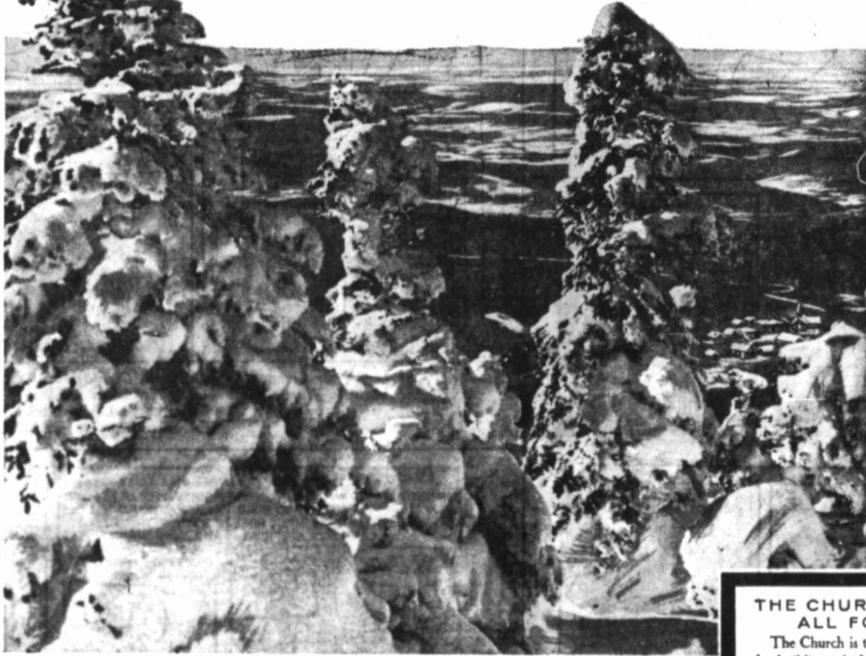

LOCKPORT, N. Y. — When the city's parks department discovered someone had been shooting out the lights around ice skating rinks, Forester Nelson C. Goehle turned to television for a nickname for the culprit—"Restless Gun."

"If we get our hands on him," Goehle promised grimly, "the Restless Gun will rest in peace."

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

The High Places

Does the goal you're seeking seem as remote—as unattainable—as this snow-frosted mountain top? Does it seem, sometimes, as if you'll never get there? Are you on the verge of giving up?

Don't! Though your objective may seem light-years beyond your reach, if it's the right thing for you, God will help you to attain it, if you'll let Him. The teachings of His Church will help you find the patience and endurance you need to accept setbacks . . . and still keep trying.

Don't try to climb to the top all by yourself. It's a lonely ascent. Let the Church help you, as it helped those who were here before you . . . and as it will help those who come after you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The next regional exhibition of the Texas Fine Arts Association will be April 22-24. These dates were set last week at a meeting of Las Artistas, local TFAA chapter.

Board members will meet with the show chairman and committee members March 1 to discuss plans, and make preparations.

At last week's meeting, Glenn Leavitt, professional painter from Arizona, gave a demonstration of speedy art work, and lectured on artistic selling points. He has been confined in the VA Hospital here for the last couple of months.

The notable Amy Freeman Lee will have an exhibition at HCJC March 4-25. The paintings will hang in the library and hallway in the main building.

April 1, an exhibit will arrive on loan from the Dallas Museum collection, and a Texas Fine Arts exhibit is due May 1.

Mrs. Lee is finishing a San Angelo show, and her paintings were seen in Ft. Worth previously.

Local and area artists are invited to enter the San Angelo College exhibition March 13-April 2. Deadline for entries is March 1.

Artists are classified as amateurs, student and professional. Media will include oil, watercolor, paste, prints, drawings, sculpture or mixed.

Miss Coreen Spellman, TWU instructor, will judge. Details may be had from the art department of San Angelo College.

'Suddenly' Film Of Dramatic Power

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

A cast topped by Elizabeth Taylor, Katharine Hepburn and Montgomery Clift has been assembled by Sam Spiegel for his motion picture version of Tennessee Williams' play, "Suddenly, Last Summer."

At the Ritz Sunday through Wednesday, the new drama is a Columbia Pictures release, one of the year's 10 best according to the National Board of Review.

Miss Taylor has twice been nominated for Academy laurels, for her work in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "Raintree County."

Spiegel himself is a painstaking producer who strives for the highest quality; he made "The African Queen" and won Academy Awards for both "On the Waterfront" and "Bridge on the River Kwai." Joseph L. Mankiewicz, winner of "Oscars" for writing and directing "A Letter to Three Wives" and "All About Eve," directed "Suddenly, Last Summer." Gore Vidal, top-flight novelist and playwright, collaborated with Tennessee Williams on the screenplay of "Suddenly, Last Summer."

Oliver Messel was production designer for "Suddenly, Last Summer."

Miss Taylor, who emerges more and more as a dramatic talent; the sensitive Montgomery Clift, and the magnificent Katharine Hepburn, give sterling performances.

Miss Taylor plays a young woman confined to an institution for the mentally ill as the result of a traumatic experience, the violent death of her young cousin. Miss Hepburn, as the girl's rich and socially important aunt, pressures Clift, a brilliant young neurosurgeon, to perform a delicate brain operation that will bring the harassed girl peace, but a transformed and docile personality. Clift hesitates, uncertain that Miss Taylor's "ravings" are truly those of an insane person and also because of a mounting romantic interest in his beautiful patient.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR A traumatic experience

Odds On?

Robert Ryan and Shelley Winters provide romantic interest in "Odds Against Tomorrow," showing Sunday through Wednesday at the State. The film co-stars famed folk singer Harry Belafonte.

'5 Bold Women' Movie Made In Texas By Texans

Trust a Texan to be true to his home state.

When a bunch of real, ardent Texans recently decided to make "Five Bold Women," a routine, slam-bang Western movie in color which shows Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz, did they choose Arizona or New Mexico or Colorado or Wyoming for their location sites, the way most producers do? Not on the Alamo! Every foot of film was shot right down on the Texas plains and ranges, just exactly where the action is supposed to take place.

"Five Bold Women," a Glenn H. McCarthy presentation, is a rip-roaring adventure of five beautiful women, each a convicted killer, who have to be taken across Texas to a new jailhouse. The marshal eventually gets them to their destination through an ambush by a gun-crazed outlaw and the attacks of kill-maddened Comanche braves.

The picture, a Jim Ross production in color, stars Jeff Morrow, Merry Anders and Jim Ross, with Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Irish McCalla, Kathy Marlowe, Bee Carroll and Laci Blau. It is a Citation Films release.

Life In Puerto Rican Slums Limned In Film

The violence, love and drama of life in New York's Latin Harlem serves as the setting for "Cry Tough," a United Artists release, at the State Thursday through Saturday. The picture co-stars John Saxon and Linda Cristal plus Joseph Calleja heading a cast which includes Barbara Luna, Don Gordon, Perry Lopez and Harry Townes.

The screenplay, authored by producer Harry Kleiser, deals with the characters inhabiting the jam-packed and sweltering tenements, the littered alleyways, the cha-cha rhythmic dives.

John Saxon plays the role of a young Puerto Rican who tries to climb out of the depressing atmosphere of the "Barrio," but the odds are against him and circumstances, especially his love for an amoral vixen (Linda Cristal's role) force him into a life of crime.

Morning Shows

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Television stations in the capital are studying plans to expand their programs to include morning shows. At present, most Mexican stations televise from afternoon to midnight.

Guild Okays Film Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The directors of the Screen Actors Guild have approved of the Guild membership for a strike against the movie industry.

More than 83 per cent of 7,245 votes were for strike authorization, the Guild announced.

But the Guild says the strike vote does not necessarily mean a strike. The Guild is seeking payment for actors if post-1948 major studio movies are sold to television.

The big studios claim the actors were paid once for their work, and that's enough. The Guild notes that independent producers have agreed to pay actors residual fees on post-1948 films.

Stormproof Cotton Ranks First In Growing Tests

Western Stormproof, a popular variety of cotton long planted on Howard County farms, demonstrated its superiority in test plantings on five tracts of land in 1959, according to a report released by Jimmy Taylor, county agent.

Western Stormproof produced an average lint yield of 622 pounds per acre on the five demonstration tracts. Lint made up 27.5 per cent of the crop, with staple length of 29-32 inch.

It was tested in plots with Native Mebane, Lockett 88, Dunn 24 and Northern Star 4-11.

In all of the test plots but one, Taylor reported, Stormproof was top in lint production. In percentage of lint it led in all tests.

The test plots were located on the J. H. Fryar farm, five miles northwest of Big Spring; the Edgar Phillips farm, a half mile east of Knott; Bill Winter's farm, Vincent; Harvey Fryar farm, six miles northeast of Big Spring; Cecil Long farm, one half mile north of Lemax.

The five varieties included in the demonstrations were selected by a cotton committee and were chosen because of their favorable performance during the past 10 years at the Big Spring Field Station and Lubbock Experiment Station.

Each demonstration contained from one to five acres. Four rows of each variety were planted. Planting rates, row spacing, cultural practices were identical in each plot for all of the varieties.

Measured areas were harvested from each variety in each demonstration and the samples were ginned by the Lubbock Experiment Station. Grading was by the Cotton Classing Office at Lubbock.

The combined results of the demonstrations as to pounds of lint per acre, percentage of lint, staple length, grade, and micronaire shows the following:

Western Stormproof: 622 pounds; 27.6 per cent; 29-32 inch; 3.9 micronaire.

Native Mebane: 539 pounds; 25 per cent; 15-16 inch and 4.1 micronaire.

Lockett 88: 577 pounds; 26.2 per cent; 29-32 inch; 4.3 micronaire.

Dunn 24: 537 pounds; 25.2 per cent; 29-32 inch; 3.6 micronaire.

Northern Star 4-11: 615 pounds; 25.2 per cent; 31-32 inch; 4.3 micronaire.

Agri-Business Conference Due To Draw Large Crowd Tuesday

Three outstanding experts in the field of agriculture and business will be featured speakers at the third annual Big Spring Agri-Business conference here on Tuesday. They are O. (Dooley) Dawson, vice president, Bank of the Southwest, Houston; Henry LeBlanc, chief, Farm Placement Division, Texas Employment Commission, Austin; and John G. McHaney, extension economist, Texas A&M College.

These three speakers will appear on the all-day program sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, the T&P Railway Company, West Texas Chamber of Commerce and state and federal agencies.

FIRST OF TWO
The Big Spring conference is initial of two such events in this area. The second will be in Colorado City on Wednesday. The same program will be presented at both meetings. Sponsorship is also the same in each city.

In its first year, according to Bill Quimby, Chamber of Commerce manager, the Agri-Business project drew approximately 200 persons. Last year, 225 were on hand. Preparations are being made this year for 250 to 300.

The entire program will be on the campus of the Howard County Junior College. Dr. Gerald Thomas, dean of the school of agriculture at Texas Tech, Lubbock, is to preside at the meetings.

The conference opens at 9:30 a.m. Theme of the day's program is "Better Agriculture For West Texas Tomorrow." It will deal primarily with the impact of government programs on agriculture and business.

Addresses listed for presentation will be tuned to this theme.

WHOSE SUBSIDIES?
McHaney will discuss the subject "Subsidies — Whose Subsidies?" at 10 a.m. His speech will be on the general topic of government programs and the livestock industry.

"A Look at the Future For Farm Labor" is to be the topic slated for LeBlanc. He speaks at the afternoon session.

Dawson will report on "The Future of Agri-Business in West Texas."

Other features on the program will be an address by Earl Sargent, farm director, KWFT, Wichita Falls, who will discuss the importance of public relations and communication in agriculture; and a talk by Joe Bell, editor of the Colorado City Record, on the importance of agriculture to this area. In Colorado City on Wednesday, J. B. Frazier of Howard County Junior College will speak on this same subject at the second section of the conference.

BARBECUE
Cliff Fisher, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will welcome the delegates and visitors at the opening session. He will speak immediately after Dr. Thomas has completed introductions starting at 9:30 a.m. At 11:45 a.m. the meeting will recess for a barbecue lunch to be served in the HCJC gym. This is provided by the sponsoring agencies.

Closing feature of the afternoon program will be a panel discussion of the matters presented. Dr. Thomas will serve as moderator.

Quimby, in company with spokesmen for the other sponsors, pointed out the close relationship that exists between agriculture and business and urged that all business men and all farmers in the area make special efforts to attend the meeting.

IRS Agents To Be Honored

The revenue agents of the Permian Basin area will be guests of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants at a dinner at the Scharbauer Hotel on Tuesday beginning at 6 p.m.

B. Frank White, Regional Commissioner of Internal Revenue from Dallas will deliver the address. His subject will be "Humanized Management."

Also in attendance at this annual dinner meeting will be Ellis Campbell, the Dallas district director, and E. J. "Bert" Haling, special assistant to White.

White will be introduced by M. A. Murphree of Midland, chairman of the Permian Basin Chapter's committee on taxation.
