Likes Yogurt

Peggy Taylor, who has spent the last three years singing in Europe, tells of the healthy benefits of yogurt. She is soon to be seen in the "Red Rowe Show" on CBS-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Singer Recommends Yogurt As Cleanser

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — While wandering around CBS, I visited the "Red Rowe Show" set and met Peggy Taylor for the first time. I learned that she had just returned from a three-year singing tour of Europe.

"It has been said by thousands of others," Peggy observed, "but there is nothing like living in foreign countries to broaden your horizons. When you are a tourist, you are not able to get the feel of a country; it isn't the same as when you work in it."

"I learned a lot about myself and other Americans. Europeans say we are materialistic; they like what money can buy, too, but the difference between them and us is that they never lose sight of why they want to be rich."

We talked about clothes and Peggy confessed that she preferred the Italian couturiers to the French.

"Their workmanship is the best in the world. A suit or a dress will hold its shape indefinitely because of the way it's made. Of course you can't afford to have as many of their clothes, but what you do have makes you feel well dressed."

"What about European beauty secrets?" I asked.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "I learned to use yogurt on my skin. You know it's a form of milk, and washing your complexion in milk has been a beauty secret for years."

"First you clean your face with your own special cleansing cream. Then you smooth on the yogurt with your fingertips; let it dry and then wipe it off with cotton soaked in lukewarm water. I like to use it on my hands, too. It

M. Luther Film Seen By Hyperions

Developing the general theme of the 1959 Hyperion Club course of study, Evolution Of Man's Thinking, a film was screened Saturday afternoon for the members. Specific topic for the day was Martin Luther, Herald of Protestantism and Revolution.

Members gathered at the First Presbyterian Church, where the pastor, Dr. Gage Lloyd, showed the story of the work of Martin Luther. Mrs. Roscoe Cowper presented an introduction for the film. Arrangements for the program were made by Mrs. Bob Middleton, Mrs. Marie Carter and Mrs. Leroy Tidwell.

Following the show, the club assembled in the home of Mrs. Maurice Koger, where she was joined by Mrs. Hubert Stipp as hostess. Mrs. E. V. Spence presided for a brief business meeting, during which reports were heard from various committee heads and from the federation of city clubs.

Announcement was made of the convention of District Eight, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, slated for Odessa on March 24-25. Sixteen were present for the session.

Next meeting of the club is scheduled for April 2, which is a change from the date listed in the yearbook. Hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Weeg and Mrs. Malcolm Patterson.

has a mild bleaching effect so that my skin looks softer and clearer. "I met a wonderful Russian woman who looks years younger than she is," Peggy went on. "She believes in inner lubrication. She feels that fat-free diets have an aging effect on the skin and she uses plenty of butter on everything. She drinks wine and stays away from hard liquor and carbonated soft drinks which she feels are unhealthful."

Party Given Larry Sloan

A happy little boy on Sunday afternoon was Larry Sloan, when he received a bright shiny bicycle for his ninth birthday anniversary.

Besides that, he was the honoree at a party given by Mrs. Ace Vaughan, his aunt, with whom Larry makes his home while he attends school. The bicycle was a gift from the Vaughans.

Larry is the son of S-Sgt and Mrs. Samuel T. Sloan Jr., of Lincoln, Neb.

Thirteen little guests attended the party and were served cake which had been made in the shape of a red and blue boat, complete with ocean waves fashioned of frosting.

Favors for the children were bubble gum, balloons, paper dolls for the girls and airplane models for the boys.

Smart Teens Make Sweaters With Needles Or Hooks

AP Newsfeatures
 Smart girls are getting out their knitting needles and crochet hooks these days, to whip up all kinds of gay and imaginative tops for skirts, shorts or slacks.

Brief jackets, bulky cardigans, wide turtle-neck pullovers and sweater vests are worn with slacks or shorts for sports or after-school jamborees.

Done in the new bulky yarns, they are easy and quick to make, provide endless wardrobe variations.

Mrs. Stoffer Feted At Birthday Coffee

A coffee Sunday afternoon was a courtesy for Mrs. H. C. Stoffer at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Parmenter.

The occasion was the 85th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stoffer, and gifts were presented to the honoree by the 25 guests who called during the afternoon.

A cake, frosted in pink and white and bearing the inscription, 85th Birthday, was served from a table laid in lace and appointed in silver.

Mrs. Stoffer, who was born in Cleburne, March 6, 1875, lived in Graham for a time. For 34 years, she was a resident of Abilene, where she and her late husband ran a store across the street from Alta Vista School.

Besides her daughter here, there are two other children, Chris of Graham and Mrs. D. E. Hockaday of Mineral Wells.

Clean Woolens First

In storing winter clothing for the summer, the first step is to clean all woolen clothing and blankets.

If woolens are washed be sure to use a moth-repellent product in the rinse.

Clean the closet thoroughly and mop the floor with turpentine, then spray the entire area with a moth repellent product.

Try to place all woolen things in a closet that will not be used at all during the summer. Then seal off the closet with cellophane tape being sure not to forget the keyhole.

Guild Meet Postponed

Because of the Civic Concert program of Jose Greco and his Dancers slated for this evening at the city auditorium, the First Methodist Martha Wesleyan Service Guild will not meet as slated.

The group will gather at the church on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock for a covered dish supper. Following the meal, a new study will be started.

Mrs. Bert Affleck will teach the lesson on the subject, "Luke's Portrait of Christ; she will be assisted by Mrs. M. H. Rowe and Twila Lomax.

Shrimp And Eggs Make Excellent Lenten Dish

Shrimp in all forms — fresh, frozen, or canned, will be in abundant supply during March, everywhere in the country, so take your choice of the various market forms available and treat your family to a shrimp feast.

Versatile shrimp can be used in a variety of dishes — an especially welcome thought during this Lenten season.

When you're thinking of a menu for a late breakfast, brunch, or midnight supper, eggs are often the first thing to come to mind. Since March is National Egg Month and shrimp is in good supply, what more logical and happy combination than shrimp and eggs.

An ideal treat for brunch is peppered Shrimp and Eggs, a creamy shrimp and egg mixture with just the right seasonings; or serve it as an equally enticing dish for an after-the-theater party or mid-night supper.

Picture your family or guests enjoying this easy-to-prepare nutritious, delicious dish along with fresh hot breads or crisp buttered toast. Top it off with your favorite beverage.

Elbow P-TA Meet Changed To Mar. 14

The Elbow P-TA, originally scheduled for Tuesday evening at the school, has been postponed to March 14, it was announced this morning.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City will be the speaker for the session, set for 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Rave notices on this meal if you follow this recipe:

PEPPERED SHRIMP AND EGGS

- 1/2 pound cooked, peeled, deveined shrimp, fresh or frozen
- 3 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup coffee cream
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Thaw shrimp. Fry bacon until crisp; drain on absorbent paper. Crumble bacon. Cook onion and green pepper in bacon fat until tender. Add seasonings and shrimp; heat. Combine eggs, cream, Worcestershire sauce, and bacon. Add to shrimp mixture and cook until eggs are firm, stirring occasionally. Serves 6.

Killer Admits Long Spree Of Murders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A coast-to-coast series of holdup-murders was admitted by a 17-year-old Californian who said "I guess I'll get the chair or life imprisonment. I suppose I'll go to hell."
"I did one, and I thought I might just as well go on," red-haired Dennis Whitney told newsmen. "I planned to kill maybe a dozen or so."

Whitney, of North Hollywood, Calif., clenched his manacled hands and bowed his head after he signed a statement Sunday that he shot five men and a woman since Feb. 20.

His hands hid two gashes he said he got from his last victim—Virginia Selby, 62, of Hialeah—who hit him with a hammer after she was kidnapped in her own automobile.

Whitney dropped his .22 caliber revolver when a deputy sheriff fired a warning shot near the scene of Mrs. Selby's slaying at Jupiter.

Most of the men shot were service station attendants. The last (Jack Beecher, who survived four wounds) Whitney described as "a nice guy."

This is the chronology Whitney gave, with details of his bloody transcontinental hitchhiking trip:
Feb. 12—Killed service station attendant Jim Ryan in a $30 Victorville, Calif., holdup.

Feb. 20—Killed Spencer Frazier, 36, unemployed Negro truck driver, at Frazier's Phoenix, Ariz., home.

Feb. 21—Killed Glen B. Smith, 27, Tucson, Ariz., service station attendant, in a holdup that netted $104.

Feb. 28—Fatally wounded Ken Mezzarano, 21, Miami filling station operator.

Feb. 29—Killed Arthur L. Keeler, 33, attendant at another Miami gas station.

March 2—Wounded Miami filling station attendant Jack L. Beecher, 28, who gave police their first clue: the robber's red hair.

March 5—Beat and shot Mrs. Selby to death at Jupiter after kidnapping the woman at a Miami parking lot.

Detective Warren Holmes quoted Whitney as saying "I just didn't give a damn. I was just gonna keep on doing the holdups till somebody caught me."

He was charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Selby.

Rodeo Closes Stock Show

HOUSTON (AP)—The 28th Houston Fat Stock Show closed Sunday night with a rodeo performance at which Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, roped a calf in 11.5 seconds to win first place.

Oliver's time was the best of the entire show.

Officials estimated attendance at the show at 250,000 this year, down slightly from last year's total 270,000. They said attendance rose steadily during the second week after freezing, wet weather the first week.

Bill Linderman of Gooding, Idaho, won the championship in steer wrestling with a time of 5.6 in the rodeo finals.

Other winners were: Harry Tompkins of Dublin, Tex., bareback bronc riding; Marty Wood, Bonness, Alberta, Canada, saddle bronc riding, and Duane Howard of Minnewauken, N.D., wild Brahman bull riding.

Ruins Of Roman Building Sought

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Road workers of Madaba, 25 miles south of here, discovered two ancient pieces of mosaic, one measuring about 42 and the other about 25 square yards. The government antiquities department said they are believed to have come from a Roman building of 2,000 years ago. Organized search has begun for other parts of the building.

Public May Never Learn What Broke Up Lucy, Desi

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lucy: "Honest, honey, I just wanted to help."
Desi: "From now on, you can help me by not trying to help me. But—thanks, anyway."
They start to embrace, then she remembers to remove the fake mustache she is wearing. They kiss warmly.
Fade out.
It was the final scene of "The Redhead Meets the Mustache," filmed last month for release on TV April 1. The studio audience laughed heartily at another hilarious adventure of Lucy and Ricky Ricardo. This time the wacky wife had masqueraded as a chauffeur as she tried to get her husband a TV job with Ernie Kovacs.

There were no smiles from Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz, Vivian Vance, William Frawley and others who had been making the comedies for nine years. Many were misty-eyed as they realized the 29th of the "I Love Lucy" shows would be the last.
The public didn't know that until last week, when Lucille filed for a divorce in Superior Court in Santa Monica.
Even Hollywood got a jolt from the news. The word had been circulating that the Arnazes were having problems. Big problems. But insiders believed—and hoped—the pair would stay together.

They had so many reasons to preserve their marriage. They had been married (nine years after a civil ceremony) in the Catholic Church. They had their two children, Lucie and young Desi. They had their acting careers, closely intertwined. And they shared a vast financial empire.
But the break came.
The reasons for it may never be made public. California law requires only a general statement about the grievances that constitute action for divorce. Both Lucille and Desi issued only general quotes about their split.
Neither would add anything to the growing rumors that preceded the divorce news. Last fall, Desi spent a lot of time abroad while Lucille busied herself with the Desilu Workshop, a training group for young performers.
Inquiries about such things brought only vague replies.
It was a wonderful relationship while it lasted. They worked hard, enjoyed their success, played hard and had fun with the millions they earned. But there were reports that Desi was playing too hard—enjoying too much of the night life he liked so well.
What went on between Lucille and Desi they aren't saying. But one fact is apparent: after 29 years of marriage, they fell out of love.
Next: A marriage built on failure, destroyed by success.

Site Of Death Is Razed By Fire

FORT WORTH (AP)—Fire Sunday night destroyed the Morrison Pharmacy where Druggist Homer Morrison was killed in November.
The loss was estimated at more than $60,000.
Morrison, a druggist here for more than 30 years, was slain during a robbery Nov. 17. Mrs. Morrison was pistol whipped.
The slaying never has been solved.

Ice Cream Bell May Be Silenced

Now Science Stops Useless Coughing with a Tiny Tablet and a sip of water!

Controls nerves that control coughing due to colds and excessive smoking. Helps break up bronchial congestion—raises phlegm.
NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special A) major breakthrough in cough control is now announced with the introduction to the public of a new anti-cough tablet. It's a tiny tablet...to be taken with a sip of water. Working through the bloodstream, this remarkable tablet stops useless coughing up to 6 full hours. Called DONDRIIL Anti-Cough Tablets, this entirely new concept in cough control is now available without prescription.
The astonishing relief offered by DONDRIIL is made possible by a combination of three great medicines...a unique antitussive, a medically-proven decongestant and an exclusive antihistamine. DONDRIIL has twice the effectiveness of codeine, yet is non-narcotic. Get DONDRIIL Anti-Cough Tablets. Money back if not satisfied. DONDRIIL is a trademark.

* What is useless coughing?
There are two kinds of coughs:
1. Productive—the occasional useful cough that clears the throat and bronchial tubes. DONDRIIL does not interfere with the useful cough.
2. Non-productive—the nagging cough that racks the body, chokes, and serves no purpose. DONDRIIL stops useless coughing.

'Treasure Island' Was Bloody, And What Will Critics Say?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Treasure Island," CBS' Show of the Month, thoughtfully was broadcast early Saturday night. This permitted the nation's small fry to see the Robert Louis Stevenson children's classic before being tucked in.
What they saw was enough for nightmares, including more violence and brutality than you'd find in a month of Westerns and private eye episodes.
There were fights and bloody corpses galore. There was swearing. The teen-age hero, Jim Hawkins, was chased up into the treasure ship's rigging by a blood-thirsty pirate. The boy shot him down and the last we saw of the body it was hanging head down from a rope ladder.

Jim also was given a swig of rum. For no particular reason one pirate screamed his way to death in quicksand and skeletons festooned the landscape like lanterns at a garden party. For the adults in the audience, however, "Treasure Island" was a sort of nostalgic burlesque with jolly pirates yo-ho-ing over a dead

Screen Actors Guild Calls First Anti-Film Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Screen Actors Guild today called the first strike in its history against producers of theater motion pictures, forcing seven major film studios to shut down part of their operations.
No picket lines were expected, but the 1,000 members of the SAG were preparing for a strike at least six weeks long.
The guild rejected a request by the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers that films now being shot be completed before the actors walk out.
The SAG board of directors also voted to ask the Federal Mediation Service to help settle the dispute, a guild spokesman said.
Main issue is the guild demand that actors be paid part of the earnings of pictures made since 1948 and sold to television. Producers claim this would be paying twice for the same job.
Not affected by the strike will be independent producers, studios filming television shows and Universal-International. The independents and U-I have signed new contracts with the SAG.

An industry spokesman said about 3,000 persons will be idled at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Columbia, Allied Artists, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Brothers and Walt Disney.
Hardest hit will be 20th where four pictures are in the works. MGM will have to shut down a pair and Paramount and Columbia one each.
The walkout went into effect at one minute after midnight and actors thus joined the Writers Guild of America which has been on strike on a similar issue since Jan. 16.
The SAG has never struck the motion picture producers, but it has walked out twice in disputes with television.

NAACP Meeting Set For N. Orleans

DALLAS (AP)—Next year's regional meeting of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will be held in New Orleans in a move "to carry the fight where it is needed."
Louisiana delegates urged the 1960 conference which ended here this weekend to hold the next meeting in the Louisiana city.
The delegates said that by staging the meeting in New Orleans the NAACP could increase its strength in Louisiana.
The New Mexico delegation promised Negro delegates from Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma "a breath of freedom" with accommodations at the best hotels and restaurants.

AF Thinks Babies Are Big Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force considers the baby business as big business. It has asked Congress for $140,000 to pay the bill for diaper service during the fiscal year starting next July 1. This service is for airmen's infants born or treated in government hospitals.

Brig. Gen. John K. Cullen, director of plans and hospitalization, based his estimate of money needs on an average service cost of one cent per diaper. That would provide for an estimated 14 million diaper changes annually.

"The diaper service is a big business with us because the baby business is a big business," the general told the House Appropriations Committee.

It's cheaper, the general said, to contract for diaper service than for the Air Force to buy its own diapers, "have them rinsed and cared for by our attendants and sent to the commercial laundries."

Cullen explained the Air Force diaper policy is response to questioning by Rep. Harry R. Sheppard (D-Calif.), who commented, "It seems to me that if you can issue manuals on the care and feeding of dogs, you could arrange to instruct medical attendants in the diaper routine."

"If we are going into the diaper service, why not bibs?" asked Sheppard. "There was a factor in the early stages of our matrimonial concept where good wives and assistants, members of the family, took care of the little idiosyncrasies of the child."

"They still do," the general replied, "but in the hospital the babies are kept in the nursery and attended by our trained attendants."

Once the baby leaves the hospital, the free diaper service ends, but committee members said they got the impression a free diaper goes with each departure—commitments of the Air Force.

Baby's Too Smart, May Be Taken From Guardians

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP) — A brilliant 4-year-old girl today faced the possible loss of the only home she has ever known because the state says she is too intelligent for her foster parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs said they'll go to court Tuesday in a fight to keep Alice Marie, who has been called a near-genius.

The state says the couple is more interested in watching television than in reading books. Combs denied the state's contention that he and his wife can't give Alice the "opportunities for intellectual and cultural development" she deserves.

The State Board of Child Welfare placed the girl with Combs when she was an infant. Then it became aware of her precocious development. She was reciting nursery rhymes and carrying on adult conversations when she was 2.

The board said Alice had an I.Q. of 138, which is 12 points below genius rating. The board also said she had "a capacity of potential far greater than her present performances."

The board filed custody papers to take the child from the Combs and find other foster parents who, the board says, should be financially and intellectually better prepared to aid her.

Combs, a sheet metal worker, wants to adopt Alice, but was turned down by the board. He and his wife are appealing the case in Superior Court in Trenton. They have two daughters.

Combs, 25, said he is "confident I'll be able to send my girls to college." He said he is making $120 a week.

The board conceded that Alice appeared happy and well adjusted. She does not know the Combs are not her real parents.

Combs agreed that he is not an avid reader, but said that he and his wife are reading more because of their smart daughter.

"There's no question that she's very bright, but she's emotional as well as intelligent," Combs said. "Taking her away from us would hurt her deeply."

Combs added, "We'll appeal to the governor if necessary. A thing like this can't happen."

Educator Slaps Spending Sprees In College Life

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The money that many a college student spends to live it up in Joe College style ought to be used instead for increased tuition, a college president said today.

Howard R. Bowen of Grinnell (Iowa) College said "the educational and financial stakes are too high to condone the frittering away on luxurious living the funds that should go to education."

"In many institutions," he said, "the accepted style of life includes automobiles, liquor, fraternities or luxurious dormitories, expensive wardrobes, night clubs, extended ski trips, etc. At no institution does this pattern extend to all students, but in many it is the standard which sets the tone and to which most students aspire."

Bowen, in an address prepared for the 15th National Conference on Higher Education, sounded an optimistic note about the financial bind in which many colleges are finding themselves.

"The American people are increasingly aware of the financial needs of higher education, he said, and "whatever money is needed will eventually be forthcoming, and the only real question is to guess from which source it will be obtained."

Bowen said tuition charges should be increased, and will be.

Y Indian Guides Ride The Iron Horse To Abilene

More than 150 Y Indian Guides rode the iron horse trail to Abilene Sunday. Of the number 108 were Indian Guides and their Dads from Big Spring, and about 50 were from Midland.

The group went to the YMCA at Abilene on arrival there and had worship services and lunch. During the afternoon they had singing, a film, and an Indian dance by Wiley Woodard of Big Spring before boarding train for home.

The Texas & Pacific Railway Company provided three special cars for the event. Ralph McLaughlin was chairman of the planning committee and presided at the program events in Abilene.

Tempest Does Sound An Alert

The Air Force is revising a controversial manual containing charges of Communist infiltration of churches.

Air Force Secretary Dudley C. Sharp explained his position before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Chairman Francis E. Walter of that committee was quoted as saying: "The secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue." That drew a statement from Sharp that the manual had been withdrawn "without any determination as to whether the charges were true or false." At this point the U.S. News & World Report says a transcript of Sharp's testimony showed he was asked if he was "in accord" with the charges made in the manual and he said, "I am, yes."

Chairman Walter said the charges of Communist infiltration were true, but officials of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, made up of some thirty denominations, ridiculed the charges and said Mr. Sharp's statements were "contradictory and confusing."

It would be surprising if the Communists had not made strenuous efforts to infiltrate the churches, for surely a foothold in organized religion, however tenuous and fleeting, would be a big feather in the cap of the Goddess and Christian-hating Communist world conspiracy.

However, if it does no more the controversial Air Force manual should alert responsible churchmen to the danger inherent in the Communist conspiracy. One or two rotten apples can endanger the whole barrel.

Connally Reservation Seems Safe

Washington sources say the movement to destroy the Connally Reservation to the World Court treaty has produced such a flood of senatorial mail as has not been seen since the Bricker amendment to limit the treaty-making powers of the President.

We gather that this outpouring of popular resentment has made passage of the regular pretty dim. The same goes for HB558.

It was introduced by two liberal senators, Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Javits (R-NY) and has the blessing of the President, presumably the vice president, the State Department and, as we recall, the American Bar Association.

The Connally Reservation is one of the great bulwarks to American sovereignty, more than ever vital in this restless and troubled age. It was put in the resolution ratifying the World Court treaty in 1946 by the then chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Tom Connally of Texas. The way the original resolution of ratification was worded it was not clear what kind of issue could be submitted to the World Court's jurisdiction, hence the Connally Reservation made it crystal-clear in six words presnant with meaning—"as determined by the United States."

That meant simply the U.S. reserved jurisdiction in matters of a domestic nature. That was in effect a restatement of an established principle—no one can sue the United States in a federal court without its consent.

More than 20 other nations have their own reservations as to authority of the World Court, so there is ample precedent for the Connally Reservation.

World Court judges are chosen from the nations adhering to it, including the Soviet Union and some others actively or passively hostile to the U.S. If the Connally Reservation were removed or weakened in any way, our enemies might have a field day lodging charges against the U.S. in the Court covering almost every conceivable type of complaint, from tariff or immigration matters to our "presence" in the Panama Canal. A few passes like that and it would mean the end of the World Court, for we are a powerful and influential member and since we would not consent to having our sovereignty kicked around any more than it has been already, we would have no choice but to pull out.

'Liberal' View On Radio-TV Control

WASHINGTON—There are two schools of thought nowadays in public affairs—those who want the government to take charge of everything, and those who want to see the individual freed from unnecessary restraints and restrictions so he can develop his ideas and his enterprises.

The subject is pertinent today because one group advocates that the government shall take complete charge of radio and television, and the other argues that this would be the worst thing that could happen to freedom of communication.

WHICH ONE OF THE TWO groups might be called as "liberal" and which one could be described as "authoritarian"?

To get an answer, the writer consulted "Webster's New World Dictionary" and found this:

1. An "authoritarian" is one who believes in or advocates "unquestioning obedience to authority rather than individual freedom of judgment and action."
2. A "liberal" favors "political reforms tending toward democracy and personal freedom for the individual."

Just who, therefore, are the true "liberals" in the controversy going on these days over what should be done about regulating television and radio? Even such an organization as one which calls itself "The American Civil Liberties Union" seems to have deviated from the "liberal" faith as it declares that the Federal Communications Commission "should energetically exercise its power to require the radio-television industry to provide the maximum possible range and balance in subject matter and treatment in its overall programming."

IN A SPEECH the other day, Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, called for a "freely competing, unrestricted television medium." He has been criticized for this statement on the ground that, since television channels are few in number and are allocated by the government, this is a monopoly. Dr. Stanton answers that there is no more reason why television should be regulated as to its content than newspapers should be. The argument is made in reply that anybody can buy a printing press and start a newspaper but nobody can get a television channel unless it is given up by a company already holding one.

But is this an accurate analogy? Must the government undertake to "balance" the disparities in business or the professions? It so happens that in about 95 per cent of the cities of the United States there is only one newspaper ownership. Is it the duty of the government to provide competitors to "balance" in each community the viewpoint of the existing publication? Certainly with the rising costs of newsprint and labor and the limited advertising market available in a given community, it wouldn't be possible as a rule to start a competing paper unless the government were to put up the funds.

WHEN THE GOVERNMENT tells the broadcasting stations what programs they must put on their channels to justify retention of their licenses, the end result is bound to be "authoritarianism." It certainly can't be called "liberalism."

The viewpoint which holds that, because the government allocates radio or television channels, it has the right to say what shall be done over the air waves by each licensee is not of recent origin. Unfortunately, it was expressed as far back as the Hoover administration by the legalists who felt that the granting of a government facility gives to the government the right to determine the use of that facility.

The writer all through the 1920's argued against the doctrine that the allocation of a radio license gave a governmental commission the right to tell a station what programs it should or should not broadcast. There is, of course, every reason why the government should deny a license to any station that refuses to abandon misleading advertising or which engages in obscene shows, but these are the same restraints which the Federal Trade Commission or the postal authorities may impose on the press.

TO SAY THAT the government should pass judgment on the "quality" of radio or television programs is to say that the government should issue postal privileges only to the newspapers whose editorials measure up to a "standard" set by a governmental agency. This is the road to "authoritarianism."

It is fundamentally wrong, moreover, for Congress to insist on "equal time" for political candidates. The public alone should be the judge of whether the television or radio stations or the press are presenting "balanced" programs or news reports. And it is the public, not the government, which in the final analysis should decide whether it likes what it hears or what it sees or what it reads. That's true liberalism.

Heated Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Assistant Fire Chief Jim Fairbanks of Lockbourne Air Force Base says a man sauntered into one of the base fire stations and asked: "Say, do you guys know where I can get a fire extinguisher?"

Thinking he wanted one for home use, the fireman on duty answered: "We have some here, but we can't loan them out. Maybe you could get one from base supply tomorrow on a hand receipt."

"Well, I really wanted one before that," was the reply. "I'm in kind of a hurry. My car is on fire."

Test Driver While He's Driving

Are automobile driver license examiners more inclined to hand out failing grades to applicants who don't know how to park than to those who fail to meet minimum specifications as drivers?

Reiz White of Spartanburg, N. C., one of the nation's top racing drivers, thinks they are.

"In all the states in which I hold a license—and that's nine—more emphasis is placed on parking in the test than on anything else," White stated recently.

In the test for licenses, not when backing or easing into a parking place."

Most race drivers won't go as fast when out on our highways as the average motorist. White is no exception. He fears the unskilled or reckless driver perhaps a little more than the next man. He has been racing for half a dozen years, on all sorts of tracks and under all kinds of conditions but has escaped a serious injury. He was hospitalized for the first and only time on a highway between Baltimore and Washington.

"I HAVE NOTHING against everybody knowing how to park pretty," he went on to say, "but how many people get hurt or killed by bad parking. Not many, if any. Yet as soon as you get in your car to take a test for a license the man wants to see how you parallel park, and how you cut your wheels against the curb, and all that stuff. And if you don't ease in you're liable not to pass."

HE EXPLAINS THAT particular mis-hap thusly: "Some fellow who didn't know how to drive, or didn't care how he did, came across the dividing line of the four-lane highway and hit me. Probably a lovely parker, but a heck of a driver. I spent ten weeks in a hospital."

White says he feels much safer on the track than when in the midst of highway traffic.

"When I'm racing, I know that the man alongside me, or just ahead of me, knows what he is doing, and what his car is doing, and the limits of the car and himself."

White was asked what changes he would make in the tests.

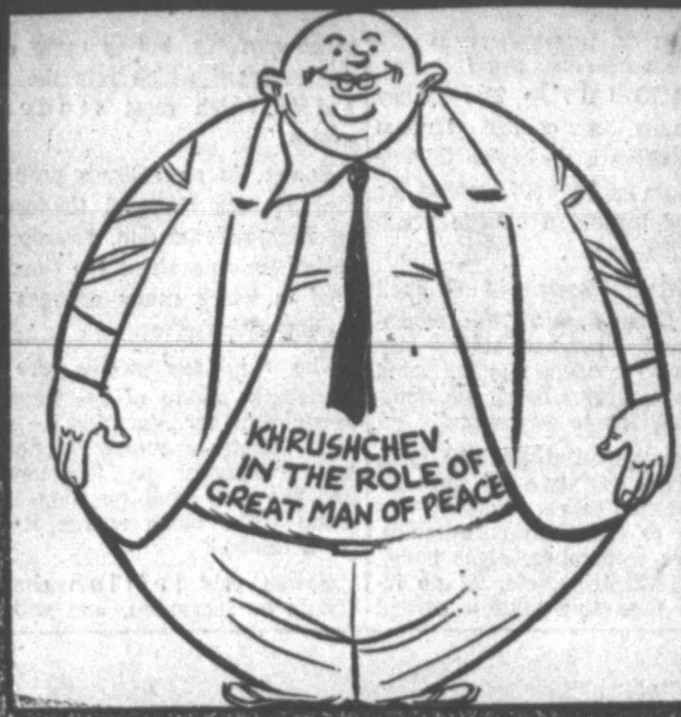

"Put the emphasis on how a man handles a car at 50 or 60 miles an hour. That's the speed most people travel, and I'm willing to bet you not too many are skilful then."

"YOU KNOW, TOO many people seem to think cars have brains, and will take care of them. That's not true. A car will hit anything and not care. It'll laugh at poles, walls, fences, and other cars."

"It's the driver's job to get the car to a destination, not the other way around. Too many people, it seems, don't know this."

"HOW MANY, FOR example, could tell you how far they are behind the car in front of them, what the braking potentiality of their car is, what they'd do in case of an emergency, how they'd handle a skid, or a blowout, or how they'd react if a nut started right at them. Being a fancy parker won't be much help then. Stress safe handling of a car on the road

The Power Of The Negro Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—What happens to the white Southern politicians—now fighting civil rights legislation—when Negroes in the South finally are able to vote in large numbers?

There is only one realistic answer. They will do exactly what their opposite numbers now do. Like the politicians from Northern areas with big Negro voting populations, the Southerners will scramble for the Negro vote.

It is no accident that in Congress many of the most active advocates of civil rights legislation come from Northern centers where there are heavy concentrations of Negro voters.

The old order of racial discrimination in the South will have to melt under pressure from both the rest of the nation and the rest of the world.

AS TIME PASSES the Negro will hold the balance of political power in many areas of the South. No politician can ignore it or fight it.

The present Southern filibuster against civil rights, if it is not the last of its kind, may be close to the last, since more protection for Negroes and their rights is inevitable.

Pills For Trees?

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Tree doctors haven't gotten around yet to prescribing aspirin for an arthritic elm in your backyard, but don't bet that they won't. In the Pacific Northwest they are now successfully using antibiotic drugs to treat ailing pine forests.

Women probably are more wide awake than men. Most men blink once every three seconds, most women only once every four seconds.

The long and short of it: Abe Lincoln, at 6-foot-4, was the tallest U.S. President. James Madison, exactly a foot shorter, was the smallest.

Who was the first President to live in the White House? It was John Adams, who moved into the still unfinished structure in 1800. His wife strung up the family laundry in what is now known as the East Room.

The only tattooed lady we ever remember seeing was in a circus. But is it estimated that 3 million American women, as well as 17 million men, are tattooed. Wonder what they pick as their favorite design?

Definition: "celebrity," notes the Catholic Digest, "is a person who works hard for years to become well known—and then wears dark glasses to avoid being recognized."

Executive signs: On the desk of Irving J. Botner, president of Esquire Shoe Polish: "When you throw mud at somebody, you're the one who's losing ground."

How to calm a child: An Australian physician says crying babies can be soothed more quickly by an up-and-down motion than by either rocking or swinging them. (Just tie a rope under a baby's arms, mother, and run her up and down like a yo-yo!)

Don't blame your head for your headaches. About 95 per cent of headaches are caused by something wrong elsewhere in the body. (A fellow we know claims 98 per cent of his headaches stem from his wife's jawbone.)

It was Socrates who declared, "No evil can happen to a good man, either in life or after death."

What's-in-a-name dept.: Mrs. Henry Eggy owns a poultry farm at Kimberly, British Columbia.

Our quibble notables: Says Somerset Maugham, "In France, a man who has ruined himself for a woman is generally regarded with sympathy and admiration; there is a feeling that it was worthwhile, and the man who has done it feels even a certain pride in the fact. In England he will be thought, and think himself, a damned fool."

It is wise to be wary of snap judgments. But, according to a study made by a team of psychologists, the longer it takes you to make a decision, the greater the chance you'll make a mistake.

Watching A Full-Fledged Filibuster

WASHINGTON—The greatest tourist attraction in the nation's capital today is not the White House, or the Lincoln Memorial, or even the Washington Monument.

The biggest show in Washington at this writing is in the United States Senate where Southern irrecconcilables are staging yet another filibuster against civil rights legislation. Even during the worst weather of the season, visitors are beating their way to the Senate to view this holy show, a peculiarly American political phenomenon.

At any moment, day or night, when a Southern senator feels his audience has been rendered to only one or two glass-eyed members of the opposition, he can move "the absence of a quorum."

It is at this crucial point that the harassed opposition must immediately drag from the arms of Morpheus its members snoozing in the old Supreme Court Chamber, or trying to catch 40 winks on the couches in their respective offices, or even trying to grab a little shut-eye at home.

VISITORS CANNOT only rock around the clock with the Senate if they—the visitors—have the stamina, but in the daytime a lucky few can even get a glimpse of the once staid, semi-circular room in which the United States Supreme Court met until it attained the dignity of its own marble building.

The old Supreme Court Chamber has been turned into a dormitory, equipped with a dozen Army cots—complete with khaki blankets—where senators can bed down for a restless night during the filibuster. No room, no matter how splendid its architectural proportions or swagged with history, can maintain its dignity while entertaining 12 unmade beds.

FIFTY-ONE OPPOSITION senators must answer the call for a quorum. Runners and beaters are sent out to rouse up that number. Telephones begin to ring in senatorial homes all over Washington. Senators grab their clothes with fireman feverishness.

Once the 51 have answered the quorum call, they are entitled to stagger back to their in-and-out beds, to catch what shut-eye they can. But sleep seldom gets to knit up even a fraction of the raveled sleeve of care before another insidious quorum call rouses them out once more. They know not the sandman.

IF THE LITTLE handful of willful senators seems woefully out-numbered by the opposition and certain of defeat in the long run, it nonetheless has at its command a parliamentary instrument of torture with which to madden the opposition in the interim.

It only takes one Southern senator, spelling the other 17, to hold the Senate floor with a lackluster reading of the telephone book or the statistics of the great Pyramid of Cheops.

IN THE MEANTIME, whatever Southern spokesman is on duty at the moment carries the oratorical ball. His conferees are released for peaceful slumber and are free to rebuild their physical reserves without fear of disturbance.

To one who has read of filibusters all her life but has never seen one, this experience is educational. But the longer I am here and the more I watch this paralysis of orderly government, the more I am convinced that this is a helluva way to run a railroad.

About George Romney: 'He Thinks He Can'

In "The Story of George Romney" (Harper, 275 pages, $4), Tom Mahoney suggests why Romney told the parable of the Banker and the Fly in a talk at the Detroit Economic Club.

That was late in 1958. By then, American Motors Corp. was in the black. The compact Rambler was giving General Motors, Ford and Chrysler spasms at the drawing board, and Romney was on his way to being called "St. George, the giant killer."

In addition to lifting American Motors to a status which today brings bankers to its door, Romney took on the chairmanship of the Citizens Advisory Committee on School Needs which persuaded Detroiters to vote higher taxes for schools, and he organized the non-partisan Citizens for Michigan Committee to save the state from a financial impasse—a deadlock over taxes between the Republican-controlled legislature and the Democratic Governor, G. Mennen Williams. These non-business adventures, which Mahoney relates in fast-moving prose, are evidence of Romney's vigorous, crusading character.

Only two years before he had to plead with representative of 27 banks to renew a revolving credit. The bankers expressed confidence in Kelvinator, "but had their doubts about the automobile business."

They formed a seven-man steering committee to watch over their $45,000,000 credit (reduced from $73,000,000), and stipulated that the company pay no dividends and keep a minimum of $42,000,000 liquid capital on hand at all times, a requirement which embarrassed Romney and gave Louis E. Wolfson leverage in his invaluable effort to merge American Motors' $33,000,000 tax-loss-carry-forward into one of his own operations.

But Mahoney "knights" a man in mid-career. Romney's comparatively young—he'll be 53 on July 8. He has put over—sold—George Mason's innovation, the small car. Now Romney must prove himself as an administrator for the long pull—be a president who can keep pace with GM, Ford, and Chrysler in engineering and merchandising and costs in the 'sixties.

Romney told how a minister, a lawyer, and a banker at lunch each found a fly in his soup. The minister ate the soup, fly and all, with no comment. The lawyer spooned out the fly. "But," said Romney, "the banker picked up the fly, squeezed it over the soup, and said: 'Come on, spit it out, you little rascal, spit it out. Let's get back every drop of it.'" The banker got his soup back with interest.

Mahoney's book was hardly off the press before Romney sulked his shining armor in Wall Street. In February 16, Romney summoned in haste a press conference. SEC insider trading reports divulged he had sold 10,000 shares of his American Motors stock. It was true, Romney told reporters, at around 90.

He had borrowed $200,000 to take up stock options. This was his only way of getting out of debt. He asserted unadorned faith in American Motors. He hoped soon to buy more stock—at option prices, below the market. All this was—and is—in conformity with modern ways of finance.

Still, when St. George sells stock of his own company, regardless of how compelling or practical the reason, the materials-lait of the market leaves a stain.

"How can he do that?" asked the cousin.

"Because he thinks he can," Romney answered.

"That's the parable of the man. He thinks he can do anything, says Mahoney. He sold hesitant bankers on the Rambler. He refused to kowtow to Wolfson when Wolfson waved 400,000 American Motors shares, threatened to buy more, and spread one-sided information through a well-known columnist to bring pressure on Romney to yield. Finally, he overcame the inertial disposition of Americans to think that a non-Big-Three automobile wasn't any good.

Heart Not 'Normal' After An Attack

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When one recovers from a minor heart attack, does the injured muscle return to normal? Does the branch of the artery return to normal? I understand that Nature has tremendous power to heal and the only thing that remains on the heart muscle is a scar—N. G."

Before we go any farther, let me say that there isn't any way of predicting absolutely what will happen in any given case of anything. Even measles, mumps or a bad cold.

There can be major—or comparatively minor—cases of almost everything. So now let's get on to the heart.

First of all, I think it's wise for us to agree that there is no such thing as a "minor" heart attack. I happily grant that there are many heart attacks from which the patient recovers and lives for many, many years in active comfort.

There are, indeed, many heart attacks which the patient never recognizes as such. He has some pains and probably some other symptoms which pass off, and he blames the whole business on "cramps" or "indigestion" or "scraps."

The heart does not "return to normal" after this, although it is entirely possible that the person may not be able to detect any subsequent consequences. We all grow older every time the clock ticks, and we may well pass off the moderate consequences as just a sign of the passing years.

Now what is a heart attack? Our arteries, growing gradually older, become less flexible and stretchy, and we acquire a certain amount of fatty coating in or on the walls of the arteries making them gradually smaller. This apparently can take place in spots—just as a water pipe in the house may become rusty or clogged with slowly accumulating deposits. The whole pipe doesn't fill up at once. One spot is worse than another.

So with the arteries. A clot or embolism, which in our youth slides past easily, finally catches at some narrowed place. If it happens in the coronary artery or one of its many branches, we shut off the circulation to some portion of the heart muscle. That's a "heart attack."

Now the heart muscle is a powerful one, having some 30 times the strength it needs to keep us alive. When the blood is shut off from some position of the muscle, this is called an "infarct" or "infarction," and that portion of the muscle is permanently hurt, and a "scar" forms, like the scar from a cut finger. The scar remains. That particular portion of the muscle does not "return to normal."

Thus we have a very great reserve heart power. Yet with a "heart attack" we lose some of it. The shock of the attack itself, even if not massive, may for the moment disrupt things to a fatal extent. The first hours, or first days, are critical.

Once past the critical period, most patients recover.

But some damage has occurred. It is not what you want to think otherwise. But I also want you to know that there is a great reserve of strength in the heart. The scar on the muscle does not go away. And the artery does not return to normal, although tiny branches of the artery expand and gradually form a useful by-pass around the place where the clogging occurred.

A repaired car, or a darned sock, can be dependably useful, and so with a heart, but it isn't like new. Treat the car, the sock, or the heart carefully afterward and there can remain gratifying amount of vigorous use.

Why suffer from sinus trouble? Much can be done to help you, and it is explained in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." To receive your copy, write to me in care of Big Spring Herald, enclosed a "large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling."

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.
