Castro Slapped By U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In blunt language rarely heard in the polite world of diplomacy, the United States has accused Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro of "extremely provocative" and "irresponsible" charges against this country.

'Inspector'

Richard Juergens, 11-year-old son of Col. E. E. Juergens, wears a U. S. Army lieutenant's uniform, holds an Army raincoat, swagger stick and hat used during a recent "inspection" in Munich, West Germany.

Herter delivered the dressing down personally to the Cuban charge d'affaires, Enrique Patterson, and immediately made the text of his remarks available to newsmen.

The Cuban, clearly upset by the 20-minute session in Herter's office, left the State Department hurriedly.

Herter wound up his statement by saying "This government finds itself increasingly obliged to question the good faith of your excellency's government with respect to a desire for improved relations between our governments."

In Havana, Cuban TV commentators read Herter's remarks on the air in mocking tones, sniggering at certain passages and then adding the editorial comment that the United States is an aggressor.

One source of friction was removed when Cuban police released Donald Chapman, 36, an American photographer who had taken passage on the French freighter that blew up.

But he was removed from a Miami-bound plane and taken into custody a second time before being permitted to fly to Miami.

A State Department official said Chapman's release probably eliminated the need for discussing his case in a formal protest.

NEW LOW — Castro's charges concerning the munitions ship have brought American-Cuban relations to a new low.

One official said "We have tried to show patience in our relationships with Cuba, despite a series of great provocations, but we are not going to sit back and take things like this."

Castro, delivering a funeral oration for the victims of the explosion Saturday, said the blast was caused deliberately by parties interested in keeping arms out of Cuba.

In his remarks in the Cuban diplomat, Herter noted that the State Department on Saturday had conveyed its shock and sympathy over the explosion and offered assistance in treating survivors or in any way it could help.

"In view of our genuine sympathy and sorrow," Herter continued, "the government and the people of the United States were profoundly shocked when Prime Minister Castro indicated his belief that the United States government was responsible for the explosion."

Cubans Boil With Anger

HAVANA (AP) — Anti-American feeling boiled to a new high in Cuba today. It was expected to get even worse in the wake of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's denunciation of Fidel Castro.

There was no immediate official reaction to Herter's censure, but officials privately predicted U. S. Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock might be summoned before Foreign Minister Raul Rao for a similar tongue lashing.

Herter Monday termed as "baseless, erroneous and misleading" Castro's implication that the U. S. government was responsible for the series of explosions that ripped the French munitions ship La Coubre in Havana harbor Friday.

Commentators on the government television station reported the U. S. secretary's remarks mockingly.

Lyndon Offers Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas offered today to cease round-the-clock sessions of the Senate if Southerners would agree to a series of votes on civil rights legislation.

Johnson, in a briefing exchange with Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.), denied he was trying to wear down Dixie senators or was risking their health and lives by the continuous sessions.

He predicted that eventually he would not guess when a majority of the Senate will force a vote on the controversial issue.

At 3 o'clock this morning Johnson had put over on a 53-4 roll call, a seven-minute adjournment of the Senate which had been in practically continuous session, except for Sunday, since the previous Monday.

Johnson said at the time he was serving notice on absentee senators that business issues might come up at any time.

But Holland interpreted the action as amounting to throwing in the sponge by Johnson and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"We are getting nowhere," Holland taunted Johnson, adding that supporters of civil rights legislation could not even agree upon what bill they wanted.

If they could, they would vote to limit debate by cloture, a move requiring 67 senators' approval if all 100 voted.

The senator from Texas (Johnson) does not throw in the sponge," Johnson said grimly to Holland, adding that eventually the country will understand that a "few senators" are blocking a vote and a majority of the Senate will act.

Holland, white-haired former Florida judge, had begun a speech at 9:46 a. m. with a reminder that he had warned leaders that round-the-clock sessions were dangerous to the health and lives of senators, many of them past 60.

Johnson said supporters of the civil rights bill are not responsible for the quorum calls at odd times during the night and early morning.

READY FOR VOTE — He said he was ready for a vote on the pending amendment and would ask one if Holland would quit talking.

Holland rejected Johnson's invitation, saying he planned to speak several hours.

The parliamentary situation would make the amendment officially under consideration the easiest issue to bring to a quick trial.

Negro Hanged By Heels, KKK Is Carved On Chest

Negroes Claim Sit-In Victory

By The Associated Press — Negro demonstrators claimed a victory in North Carolina today as the growing anti-segregation campaign entered its sixth week and spread into the eight Southern states.

Students seeking equal eating facilities at traditionally segregated lunch counters were served while seated in two North Carolina cities Monday. Apparently it was the first time this had happened in the state where the current wave of sitdowns started.

The first demonstration in West Virginia took a new form. Students paraded at a motion picture theater protesting segregated seating arrangements.

In Houston, Tex., the sitdowns spread from drug stores to a supermarket lunch counter. Service was refused and the counter area roped off.

Eleven Negroes were arrested for trespassing in Petersburg, Va., after they occupied a section reserved for white persons in the city library and refused to leave.

Some 700 students at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., planned a one-day boycott of classes today as an expression of sympathy for nine Negro students expelled from Alabama State College at Montgomery for taking part in demonstrations.

At Winston-Salem, N.C., 75 placard-carrying students staged a two-hour demonstration climaxed by signing and a brief prayer service in front of City Hall. Police warned a repetition would result in arrests on charges of staging a parade without a permit.

After the demonstration some of the participants were served hot dogs and soft drinks while sitting in a combination hardware and variety store.

Later, however, a store spokesman announced plans to remove the soda fountain stools. He said in the future white persons and Negroes would be served only while standing.

At Salisbury, N.C., six Negro students from Livingstone College were served in pairs at three downtown drug store lunch counters. There were no incidents.

Four other students were refused service in two other drug stores, scene of two orderly protest demonstrations at the front and rear entrances of the Colonial Theater.

About 45 students from Bluefield State College took part in the night picketing after a similar demonstration by 22 Negroes in the afternoon.

Rodney Keesling, co-owner of the Colonial, said 90 per cent of the theater's business comes from white persons.

"We don't dictate the policy of our theater," he said, "our customers do. As long as they prefer segregated seating, that's the way it will be."

The anti-segregation demonstrations began at Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 1. Since then they have spread to South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

Strangled — MADRID (AP)—Antonio Abad Donoso was executed by garrote in Carabanchel Prison today for two terror bombings in Madrid Feb. 18. A Cuban and two other Spaniards also were accused of setting off the bombs in Toledo Street and Madrid's City Hall.

47 Cars Derail — HERKIMER, N. Y. (AP)—Forty-seven cars of a New York-bound freight train and a mail train were derailed here today, and a signal bridge was knocked down.

No one was reported injured. New York Central Railroad officials said.

A company spokesman said 32 of the freight train's 82 cars had left the tracks first. The overturning cars hit the signal bridge. The oncoming westbound mail train struck the bridge. Fifteen of the mail train's 17 cars were then derailed.

Touring Killer

Dennis Whitney, 17-year-old red-haired lad from North Hollywood, Calif., is shown in jail at Miami, Fla., after being arrested in connection with the kidnap-slaying of a Miami woman. Police said Whitney confessed to killing seven persons in a series of holdup-murders in California, Arizona and Florida.

Youth Admits 7th Victim, Arizona Skid Row Man

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Dennis Whitney has admitted his seventh slaying in his coast-to-coast murder spree.

The red-haired boy said Monday he killed two men in Phoenix, Ariz. Previously he had confessed to one.

Detective Warren D. Holmes, a lie detector expert, said "there may be more killings. This boy won't admit anything until confronted with the evidence."

Sheriff John Kirk said Whitney told him he fired a .22 slug into the brain of a "Phoenix bum" in an abandoned bus in a parking lot. Phoenix police said the victim was Ira Lee Hardison, 55, a skid row character.

Apparently he was killed Feb. 21, the same day Whitney killed another Phoenix man, Spencer Frazier, 40, Negro, and stole his car.

Whitney, who shot a Hialeah housewife to death last Friday, earlier had killed two Dade (Miami) County gas station attendants and wounded a third in holdups, police said.

The day after his capture he admitted a slaying in Victorville, Calif., the killing of Frazier, and a slaying in Tucson, Ariz. The string of murders started Feb. 12.

In Los Angeles, the boy's father, Ralph Whitney, described Dennis as a quiet boy whose main interest was art.

"I don't know what to think. I have no idea why he would do it," said Whitney, an inspector in the Curtis-Wright engine overhaul plant at North Hollywood.

Arguments prepared for the Appellate Division of Superior Court—New Jersey's second highest court—Deputy Atty. Gen. Eugene Urbanik said the foster parents have shown callous indifference to Child Welfare Board rules.

Samuel Epstein, lawyer for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Combs of Old Bridge, said changing the child's home after four years with the Combs would "make an orphan out of the child."

Urbanik said he finds it difficult to see how the Combs couple "could permit themselves to become so involved emotionally" with the child, Alice Marie, when they agreed in writing they could not adopt her.

Assault Count Lodged After Cutting Scrape

ASSAULT WITH intent to murder charges were filed against Louis Gilbert Sanchez, 23, this morning as the aftermath of an altercation Monday evening in Sam's Lounge, North Side cafe.

Sanchez was arrested and was to be transferred to county authorities this morning. Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, had not set bond this morning. Statements were taken from three men involved in the fight.

A Webb airman was hospitalized at the base hospital late Monday, following a fight at Donald's Drive-In, South Gregg. He is Clifford E. Dean. Hospital attendants said he was badly beaten and was still under observation this morning.

His condition is not considered serious, however. Police were looking for the other man involved in the altercation.

Census Exams Set Thursday

Examinations for census enumerators will be administered here on Thursday, it was announced today.

Persons interested in serving as enumerators for the decennial census are asked to file their applications immediately with the Texas Employment Commission, Matt Harrington and Lewis Stallings, who are census crew leaders for Howard and Borden Counties, returned Monday from a conference with other census supervisors at Lubbock.

The census tests will be given in Room 5-8 of Howard County Junior College starting at 1 p. m. Harrington said that applicants were especially needed in the Fagan, Lomax, Knott, and Coahoma areas and from Borden County.

In all, there will be 33 enumerators named, two of them from Borden County. Two assistant supervisors will be named also.

Enumerators will be paid on an hourly basis and in some instances they will receive car mileage.

As a prelude to the actual enumeration which starts on April 1, Harrington and Stallings are seeking to count all the dwellings in Howard and Borden Counties.

Jury Plans Gaming Probe

FORT WORTH (AP)—City Manager L. P. Cookingham promised today immediate action "if there is anything wrong" in Fort Worth's police department as Tarrant County's grand jury scheduled at least a partial probe of gambling.

Two intelligence agents of the State Department of Public Safety were questioned about the Feb. 28 raid in which they broke up a floating crap game on the Benbrook highway without notifying either city police or the sheriff's office.

C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder oilman and chairman of the State Public Safety Commission, said here that he ordered undercover men into Tarrant County because "the city wasn't getting the job done and the sheriff didn't seem interested."

He held a closed door conference with Dist. Atty. Doug Crough and Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Houston Victim Beaten With Chain

HOUSTON (AP) — Four masked white youths hung a Negro man from a tree by his heels Monday night and scratched two series of KKKs into his chest and stomach after beating him with chains.

Felton Turner, 27, said he freed himself from ropes around his ankles and wrists, staggered to a night-watchman's shack and telephoned police. A doctor at Jefferson Davis Hospital said Turner was treated and released this morning.

The six Ks ranged from 1 1/2 inches to 3 inches in length and went from Turner's chest to his stomach, the doctor said. Rope marks were on the Negro's wrists and ankles.

Police said Turner told them he was walking near his home in a Negro residential area at 10:15 p. m. when two masked white youths leaped from a car and grabbed him. They carried guns and forced him into the back seat of a sedan.

Two other masked white youths were in the front seat, Turner told officers.

Turner said he struggled to free himself but the youths gagged him and beat him to the floor with chains.

They took him to a wooded area where he was tied and hung from the tree by his heels, he said. There they beat him with chains and rope, cut off his jacket and shirt and scratched the Ks on his stomach and chest with a knife.

As the white youths were leaving one of them told Turner that if he tried to escape one of them would kill him, the Negro said.

Turner worked the ropes off his feet and hands and made his way to a nearby nightwatchman's shack.

THEY'RE REAL — Police Lt. Breckenridge Porter said Turner's wounds could not have been self-inflicted.

Turner, who is unemployed, told police that a red-haired youth in the front of the car told him they were hired to do a job because of publicity Texas Southern University Negro students received over sit-ins at a lunch counter at Houston in the past few days.

A group of students from the all-Negro university staged their first sit-in Friday at a lunch counter in a supermarket. The sit-ins spread to a drug store Saturday and a third store Monday. All were peaceful.

Houston schools have 170,000 students. About 50,000 are Negroes.

An integration suit is pending before U. S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally but he has given no indication when he would hand down a decision.

The sit-ins were in stores near the university on the opposite side of town from where Turner was beaten.

Turner, who has a 3-month-old son, is not a student at the university.

OTHER WOUNDS — A doctor at the hospital said Turner suffered one bad cut on his head, and bruises and minor cuts on the lips, right shoulder and across the chest. These were in addition to the Ks on his chest and stomach.

Turner told police he thought the youths were 18 or 19 years old. One of them told him, Turner said, that they would call the newspapers so pictures could be taken.

First Stages In Presidential Race Begin In N. H. Voting

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — New Hampshire voters lined up in unexpectedly large numbers in several cities today as the nation's first presidential primary election of 1960 got under way.

A surprise snowfall that started shortly before dawn apparently was having no effect on the balloting.

Reports from the cities of Nashua, Claremont and Berlin all described heavier than usual voting. Cities and towns open the polls at different hours, ranging from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Two tiny communities—with a total of 19 voters—have already cast and counted their ballots.

In Millsfield, the four voters, all Republicans, gave their votes to Vice President Richard M. Nixon. They wrote in the name of New Hampshire Gov. Wesley Powell as their choice for vice president.

of Massachusetts, Democratic principal in the election, four votes. The other two went to Nixon. There were no winners.

Nashua, the state's second largest city, saw almost 1,000 votes cast in the first three hours after the polls opened at 6 a. m. In the 1956 primary, the city's total ballot was 2,518. Nashua usually votes Democratic and the heaviest voting today appeared to be in the Democratic wards.

In Claremont, however, the longest lines of voters were in two traditionally Republican wards.

Observers in Berlin said the vote there was heavy as the polls opened but there was no indication as to party preference. The sneak storm dumped five inches of snow in the area.

Portsmouth, Lebanon and Bedford reported moderate-sized balloting in the first hours.

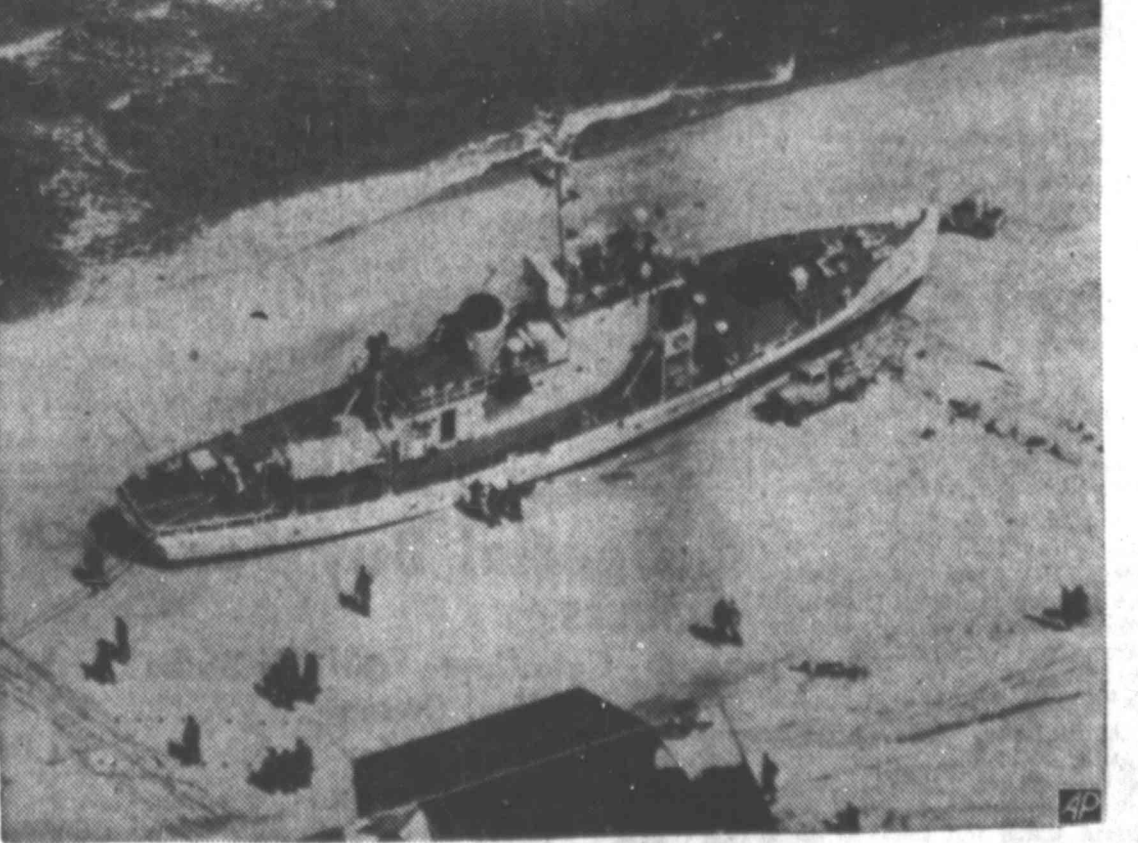

Skies were clearing over most of the state by mid-morning.

If the apparently big vote continued, the state's total today may exceed earlier estimates of 100,000 or more.

That is only a handful by comparison with the millions of ballots still to be cast in forthcoming primaries. But politically, New Hampshire is a midweight with a heavyweight's punch.

Today's election brings the first actual indication of voter sentiment into the presidential outlook, as distinct from polls, straw votes, and the calculated optimism of politicians.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

I never have seen so many parts of the body moving at once as were moving on the Jose Greco dancers during their performance here Monday evening. If it's talking they do with the castanets and heel action they never use anything but exclamation marks for punctuation. Such an outstanding program shouldn't have been missed by anyone. But if very many more had come there would have been a seating problem. The costumes were beautiful and the dances were delightful.

MRS. PETE KLING and her two children of Roswell, N. M., spent the weekend here with her aunt, MRS. BUCK RICHARDSON.

MARY WHALEY LITTELL, who at one time edited the woman's page for The Herald, is a busy Bronx, N. Y., mother but she still finds time to keep up her writing. She has had several magazine articles published and most recently another has appeared in Woman's Day. It concerns the telephone habits of children, young and older. Mary has two boys, 11 and 9 years of age, and a three-year-old daughter that probably gave her the inspiration for the article. Her husband, Frank, teaches French in one of the high schools.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsmaster

A new series of stamps with a religious theme has been issued by Malta to commemorate the 1900th anniversary of the "Shipwreck of St. Paul."

The 15-cent depicts the shipwreck as adapted from a painting in St. Paul's Church in Valletta. The 3-cent shows the consecration of St. Paulus. The 6-cent illustrates St. Paul leaving Malta. The 8-cent pictures the statue of St. Paul. The 1-shilling shows an allegorical subject with quotations from the Acts of the Apostles. The 2-shilling 6 pence has the figure of St. Paul with the St. Paul's Bay Islets in the background.

Still in a religious vein, the three new airmails just issued by Israel are unique in that they depict a trio of ancient towns steeped in history not generally known to many stamp collectors.

The 15- agorot honors Zefat where many Hebrew sages lived. Even today it is still a town of religious scholars. But, oddly enough, it is now the home of many artists and today it is considered a town of mysticism and romanticism.

The 20-agorot pays tribute to Ashkelon. Its name was mentioned as long as 2700 years ago and also appears frequently in the Bible. History records that many ancient nations fought for control of the town until it was destroyed in the 13th Century. Today, however, a thriving modern city exists on a slope overlooking the beautiful Mediterranean.

The 65-agorot is for Tiberias founded in 19 A. D. by Herod Antipas and named in honor of the Roman Emperor Tiberius. After the destruction of the Hebrew Temple in Jerusalem, the spiritual center of the Jews became located in Tiberias. Tombs of the ancient sages are found there today although a completely new civilization has emerged amid the ruins of the old as shown on the stamp.

Cyprus has overprinted 15 of its existing pictorials to honor the Constitution of Cyprus as an independent republic. The overprint is "Cyprus Republic" in Greek and Turkish. The overprints will remain on sale until a new issue of stamps can be produced.

Ike Working On Latin Tour Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back at the White House from an exhausting tour of South America, President Eisenhower tolled today over a report to the people on what he saw and learned.

All major radio and television networks arranged to broadcast the 15-minute report tonight at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Eisenhower gave quick attention, too, to a prime problem here at home—the Senate filibuster over civil rights and the legislative logjam piling up. Republican congressional leaders were called to the White House to talk over maneuvers and prospects.

Because of his speech tonight and other matters, Eisenhower is not planning to hold a news conference this week.

Eisenhower's 15,500-mile swing around Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay ended Monday with his mid-afternoon arrival at Andrews Air Force Base. There were stops going and coming in Puerto Rico.

By all odds, it was the most arduous, punishing trip taken by Eisenhower in his seven years in the presidency. But officials around him figure it was worth the effort in so far as he will be able to tell his fellow Americans that it generated a better understanding and relationship with Latin America at a time when these were needed urgently.

The heat of a South American summer, along with high humidity, took its toll of Eisenhower's strength. Unlike his December visit to 11 nations in Asia, Europe, and North Africa, there were few opportunities for the President to let up.

But for a man of 69, Eisenhower has amazing resilience. He soon bounced back after arriving exhausted in Puerto Rico last Friday.

Burnished by three days of sun and ocean breezes, the chief executive looked fit and jolly when he stepped from his jet airliner. The temperature was a frosty 27 degrees and an icy wind swept across huge patches of snow on the airfield.

But Eisenhower pulled off his hat and went grinning and bareheaded down an informal reception line.

Nixon Making All-Out Effort To Crash Dixie In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is making an all-out effort to crash into the South in the November election.

DANNY FIVEASH

MEN IN SERVICE

Danny Fiveash, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fiveash, is home for a 15-day leave from the U. S. Navy. He has been stationed as an electronics technician aboard the USS Caranada, an IFSI slated for decommissioning. When he returns to San Diego, he will be assigned to the research electronics center. Danny attended Big Spring High School before enlisting in the Navy in June of 1958.

Army Pvt. Jerry R. Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman, Star Route 1, Lamesa, completed eight weeks of advanced individual heavy weapons training recently at Fort Ord, Calif. Chapman entered the Army last July and completed basic combat training at Fort Ord. The 17-year-old soldier attended Lamesa High School.

With the Republican presidential nomination all but wrapped up, Nixon already has under way a campaign pointed at Texas, Florida and Virginia as key states.

The 46 electoral votes represented in those three states could be decisive if New York's 45 votes go to the Democrats.

Nixon hopes that differences with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller have been patched up. But he isn't sure.

Rockefeller has warned somewhat, but not enough to be entirely reassuring, since the New York governor withdrew as a potential rival for the presidential nomination with a blast at the GOP Old Guard.

As a precautionary measure, Nixon has taken steps to cash in on the South's dissatisfaction with most of the aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination. These have grown out of the current controversy in Congress over civil rights legislation.

The theory in the Nixon camp is that Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), Stuart Symington (D-Mo) and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate majority leader, will have been forced to vote for civil rights amendments and motions that will make them anathema to the average Dixie voter.

Nixon's backers are trading on the psychological gambit that Southerners would rather vote for an all-out Republican advocate of civil rights than for a Democrat they may regard as a renegade to their cause.

The Nixon men do not discount the fact that Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party nominee, will not have been embroiled in this controversy. Merely because of this, so far as the South is concerned, they fear Stevenson more than any other Democrat.

But the Nixon camp's view is that Stevenson is fading. They agree with many other professional politicians that the Democratic race now is between Kennedy and Johnson.

For this reason they are happy to report the results of polls that they say indicate only Johnson could beat Nixon in Texas and Virginia. In the same breath they express the opinion that Johnson won't be the opposing nominee.

Nixon's supporters hired professional pollsters to operate in Virginia. They came up with the forecast that Nixon would beat Kennedy 52-48. Take Stevenson 54-46, dispose of Symington 53-47 but lose to Johnson, 54-46.

In Texas the Nixon supporters depend on Johnson's own poll. It shows that of all the Democratic hopefuls, the Senate majority leader alone can defeat Nixon in the Lone Star voting.

Since this poll cost Johnson's friends $22,000 to assemble it is widely accepted as being accurate as it is possible to get in such ventures.

Paar Again Snags Censor Trouble

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Paar, after a three-week vacation, returned to his NBC evening show Monday night—and promptly got himself censored again.

This time, however, two vice presidents reached the fiery comedian a few minutes after he had finished taping his show. Almost an hour later the network announced that "Jack Paar has agreed to the omission of a brief personal reference."

The first hour of the show was devoted by Paar to explaining what he called his "childish action," and "tantrum." He picked up his running battles with some members of the press, and the censored line—10 words—came in a bitter attack on columnist Walter Winchell.

Once the fireworks were over—shortly after midnight—things more or less settled down to routine Paar. But it looks as if we're in for more sleepless nights.

Keeffe Brasselle, the versatile actor-singer-dancer recently put under CBS contract, has inherited George de Witt's spot on Wednesday night's musical variety show, "Be Our Guest." He starts March 16—with Mary Ann Mobley, the 1959 Miss America, back in the show's second spot.

Bennett Cerf stands guilty of perpetrating perhaps the worst pun in the history of TV. As a Mr. Lines, baby carriage manufacturer, departed "What's My Line?" Sunday night, Cerf was moved to remark that the visitor "came in like a line but went out like a punam." On CBS, too, which has such rigid rules and standards.

Nazarenes Grow

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Church of the Nazarene is looking back over the 1950s as a period of "a great leap forward."

Summing up the decade recently, the church said:

Total membership of the denomination in the United States increased 39 per cent, from 224,467 in 1950 to 311,299 in 1959. The number of churches went up 34 per cent, from 3,496 to 4,696.

DEAR ABBY

QUIT—NOW

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If a 15-year-old girl baby-sits for a lady and has to put up a fight with the lady's husband to keep him from kissing her every time he drives her home, should the girl tell the lady? Or should she just quit sitting for those people? The money this girl gets from the job comes in very handy and she hates to quit. (Please tell me what to do. If I quit sitting for them, what excuse shall I give the lady? And what should I tell my mother?)
ME

DEAR ME: Quit—and tell your mother the reason. Then tell the lady that your mother won't let you sit for her any more. If the lady insists on knowing the details, let your mother tell her.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because I am exasperated with my husband. He refuses to shave every day. He thinks every third or fourth day is plenty. He looks like a bum most of the time. He is only 23. I would like to know if other wives have the same trouble and what do they do about it.

MIKE'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: If it gives you any comfort, you are not alone in your battle of the beard. Either your husband is just plain lazy or he has an extremely sensitive face. Encourage him to try a different brand of shaving cream. And how is he fixed for blades?

DEAR ABBY: I am not a kid. I am 32 and am very much in love with a woman who is 29. We have gone together for a year. I'll tell you the truth. I met her in a bar. She admitted she has sinned (with men) but, Abby, she has repented and is living a clean life now.

This woman has changed my life. I used to be a heavy drinker, but she made me quit. She makes me save my money, too. My own parents say I am a new person. She has never married. We love each other and want to marry. I'm afraid if I introduce her to my parents they will ask her about her past and she will tell them the truth. They'd never accept her. I owe my parents a lot, but I love this woman. What should I do?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: Introduce her to your parents. Don't be so sure they won't accept her. You are old enough to make your own decisions and she sounds as though she would make a good wife.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DUSTY": Cassence gets a lot of credit that belongs to cold feet. Don't line up for any medals.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the Big Spring Herald, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Send for Abby's pamphlet, WHAT EVERY TEEN-AGER WANTS TO KNOW, in care of this paper. Enclose a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.

A Devotional For Today

Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith I thirst. (John 19:28.)
PRAYER: O God, I thank Thee for saving me, that I am Thine. May I remember that my body is the temple of the Holy Spirit. When the hour of my departure out of this world comes, let me with joy be clothed with a spiritual body, without spot or wrinkle. In the blessed Saviour's name. Amen.

Gratifying Response

Initial response to appeals for local residents to list rental properties with the Chamber of Commerce has been more than gratifying.

Through Monday afternoon the chamber office force was all but overwhelmed by the volume of calls, particularly during the morning hours.

This means that a fair backlog of prospects is being accumulated for the new families being sent here in late March and early April to augment the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

We hope that others who have rental property available will let the chamber know about it, for the greater the listings, the more apt the new families are to find something that will match their space demands and their pay range.

There is no way of telling from a listing what the quality of the various units may be. This will have to be settled as prospects make contacts.

It is only natural that those who have kept their property in good condition or who have renovated it during a period of vacancy will be the ones who will rent their property most readily. Good maintenance and good housekeeping have always paid dividends, and they will continue to do so.

Nothing To Be Taken Lightly

On March 1 J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, directed a memorandum to "all law enforcement officials" in which he says flatly:

"It is an incontestable fact that our country, the symbol of the free world, is the ultimate, priceless goal of international communism. The leaders of international communism have vowed to achieve world domination. This cannot be until the Red Flag is flown over the United States."

If he goes on, anyone feels inclined to scoff at that dream as fantastic, let him consider that "one-fourth of the land surface of the world and one-third of the peoples of the earth are now controlled by the world-wide Communist bloc."

He finds it "appalling" that some members of our society "continue to deplore and criticize those who stress the Communist danger." What these misguided people fail to realize is that the Communist Party, U.S.A., is an integral part of international communism. As the world menace becomes graver, the various Communist Parties "assume a more dangerous and sinister role in the countries in which they are entrenched."

Public indifference to this threat, Mr. Hoover adds, is tantamount to national suicide. "Lethargy leads only to disaster. The Communists have a savage plan of liquidation for a vanquished America."

And so they have. Why should a political "philosophy" which didn't hesitate to liquidate millions of Russians to establish its sway have the slightest compunction in liquidating millions of Americans if they ever get the chance? Mao Tse-tung is quoted as saying it was necessary to liquidate 800,000 "enemies" to solidify communism in China. There is nothing such as conscience or religion to restrain them when the time is ripe.

The Reds yearn would much rather conquer by lulling and bamboozing the intended victim than having to take a country by storm.

They aim to conquer the U.S., one way or another. They will still be aiming to do just that 10 or 20 or 30 years from now unless they can bring it about sooner.

Marquis Childs A Blow To American Democracy

WASHINGTON. —You can take the filibuster, as certain cynical Senators do, as a kind of cozy, interior joke. Some of the boys in the "club" are cutting up a bit, doing it right smartly too, but it will all come out okay in the end.

After all, there have been other filibusters and the nation has survived them. In this cozy atmosphere it might be 1890 or 1927 or even the era of the roaring, leather-junged Huey Long in the early 'thirties when the United States was still alone and what the Senate did mattered little except to us here on this continent.

THIS FILIBUSTER is unique in its setting in the nation and the world. It comes as a revolution is reaching its crest—the revolution of color in every corner of the earth, from Alabama to Afghanistan.

Because there is no stopping this long pent-up tide, even if it were desirable to stop or check it, the sit-down strike of the Southern Senators has the look of a weird anachronism. The greatest deliberative body in the world, so-called, has tied its feet up for days and over what? Over the right of a citizen to vote as was guaranteed in the Constitution nearly 200 years ago.

That is the damage this filibuster has done. It is an advertisement that American democracy is restricted and that at times it breaks down altogether.

THE SOUTHERNERS have shrewdly organized their filibuster so that the strain falls on the Northerners. What they say as they drone an hour after hour matters very little, although there is a kind of sardonic humor in the repeated invocation of "the Southern way of life."

The nostalgic oratory rings all the changes as though the romantic south of moonlight and magnolia, the darkies strumming their guitars, had not been blown sky high long since. A generation of Southern writers, among them America's most distinguished novelist, the Mississippi, William Faulkner, have stripped away the last shreds of that tired illusion. While they have erred on the other extreme, tending to populate the region with hardly recognizable sub-human types, the moonlight and the magnolia will not revive.

NOR DOES IT MUCH matter in the context of the world picture what the political consequences of this spectacle here at home may be. It is damaging to the Presidential ambition of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson. For all his astuteness and his knowledge of the Senate, Johnson seems to have underestimated the bitterness of the Southerners and their determination to have it out. Coming at this moment in the setting of the revolution of color, the consequences are almost as damaging for the Democratic party and for whomever the party may ultimately choose as its Presidential nominee. There are times when it begins to look as though this were one of those years when the Democratic party decides to commit suicide. The Southerners can take this with equanimity, since they will continue to keep their rank in the powerful committees.

ALMOST THE ONLY beneficiary is Richard Nixon. Without saying anything or doing anything, simply maneuvering quietly in the background, he turns this to his advantage.

The real sufferers in all this are the moderates in the South who are in a sense victims ground between the upper and the nether millstone. As in the instance of Brooks Hays of Arkansas, who tried so hard to avert the tragedy of Little Rock, they are either driven out or reduced to silence and seclusion.

Men of good will in the Senate comfort themselves with the conviction that it is just another filibuster, that it will end and that when it ends the Senate will do its very best to insure additional safeguards to help insure the right of the Negro vote in the Deep South. They say that, all changes cannot come overnight. Those answers may have been valid for the past. For today they simply will not do.

Oops, Wrong Wedding

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP)—An out-of-town couple drove here for the wedding of a relative. Cars were parked around the First Christian Church. The couple went inside, deposited their gift in the reception room.

The bride walked down the aisle. "That's not her," the wife exclaimed. The couple departed hurriedly, finally found the wedding they planned to attend in progress at the First Methodist Church.

Up In The Air

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Alvin A. Aronovsky, an electronic warfare officer at Lockbourne Air Force Base here, has spent the equivalent of almost 44 full days in an airborne capsule.

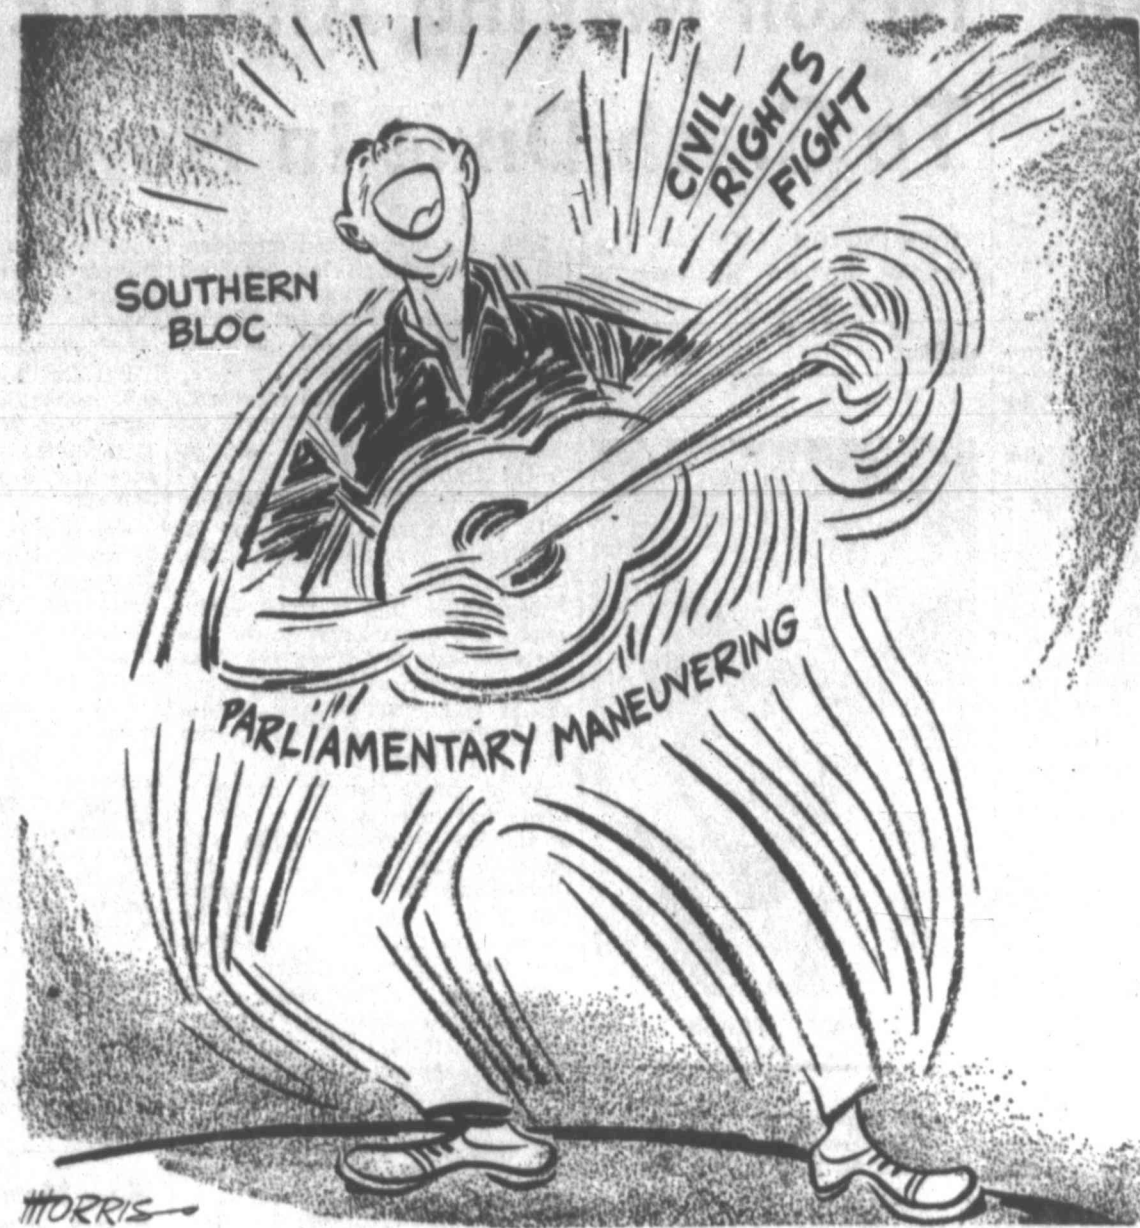

Aronovsky has logged 1,050 hours in the capsule of a six-jet B-47 bomber, and is the first electronic warfare officer to record more than 1,000 hours. The countermeasures are intended to foil the enemy's electronic weapons.

Small World

DES MOINES (AP)—There are ex-lawns almost everywhere, it seems to the home folks.

Recently a Des Moines paint company released some balloons. One found its way to the yard of Mrs. Edythe N. Welch at North Chatham, N. Y., about 17 miles from Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Welch wrote to the Des Moines firm. Her husband was born in Dubuque, Iowa, had lived in Des Moines, and his father once was a business executive here.

Ike Health Problem Looms Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower took a physical beating on his South American trip, and showed it at times. He is 69. Is he going to put himself through the wringer again this year with a trip to the Soviet Union perhaps in June?

It's a question which no doubt will get plenty of consideration by his doctors and advisers.

Somebody goofed on this trip. An exploratory party, which preceded Eisenhower to South America to make arrangements, decided it was too hot and strenuous for Mrs. Eisenhower to undertake. So she stayed home.

But the schedule worked out for the President was so terribly fast, and in such overpowering heat, that even the reporters and aides who accompanied him felt the fatigue, too.

In December Eisenhower visited Asia, Europe and North Africa. The pace was slower, the heat less intense. He stood up well.

IN MID-MAY HE has to go to Geneva for a summit meeting. Any trip to the Soviet Union would have to follow that.

Four such trips in seven months time would be tough on anyone, but particularly on a man of Eisenhower's age who in five years has had a heart attack, an intestinal operation and a slight stroke.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, always anxious to put the best possible light on Eisenhower's activities, insisted Eisenhower was feeling fine throughout his South American journey.

But there were times when the President looked worn out to reporters with him.

After Eisenhower's return here Monday Marvin Arrowsmith, Associated Press White House reporter who has covered Eisenhower since 1953, reported that some of those who accompanied Eisenhower knew for a fact that his doctors were deeply concerned at several points on the tour.

Arrowsmith said it is doubtful the President's doctors would have given a go-ahead for his South American journey if they could have foreseen how it exhausted him at times. A slower pace with more rest would have been recommended, he said.

Used To Confusion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—By coincidence, the families of Jack K. Smith and Jack P. Smith located in apartments at the same address here. There followed the inevitable mixups in mail and telephone calls.

Then each family had a daughter. Good friends now and needing more space with the newest arrivals, the families moved. They are again living in the same apartment building—but this time by plan.

And No Free Cigar

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bogus check artist has been capitalizing on a "new father" routine, the Ohio Bankers Assn. warns. The association said a number of eastern Ohio banks were defrauded by a man who offered two checks, one for deposit and one for cashing. Victims were disarmed by his bragging about his new fatherhood status, the warning said.

Public Servant

WANAQUE, N. Y. (AP)—This community has a do-it-yourself-mayor. He's Ernest E. Wuester, who earns his living by maintaining a machine shop. Recently he was called out of bed at 2 a.m. by a frantic citizen to fix a broken water main.

To Your Good Health

Be Completely Frank With Your Doctor

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Today's remarks were inspired by a letter from a woman, but might just as well apply to a man, or to teen-agers or even (occasionally) to children who go to the doctor.

The letter itself may not have been very important except to the one who wrote it and hence to me, and I may have misinterpreted what the letter said. All the same, here's the thought that it stirred up in my mind and I give it to you with the hope that it will be more useful than you may imagine.

The letter itself had to do with a vaginal discharge, a moderately common matter but not a normal one. As I read between the lines of the letter, I have a suspicion that, unwittingly, she told me more than she told the two or three doctors she had consulted.

A patient should be completely frank with the doctor. In this particular instance I have a sort of a hunch that she, despite this discharge (or because of it, for all I know) may have used a douche before going to the doctor. This is a frequent practice, but it doesn't make much sense, to be frank. If there is a discharge, the doctor should know it. The vagina is an organ common to slightly more than half the world's population, and if there is anything wrong with it, whatever is wrong should be observed without tampering. For example, one wouldn't drench an infected finger with antiseptic before going to the doctor.

The business man may withhold—or minimize—the business anxieties or financial worries that he is trying to contend with. This is right enough, when he is talking to most people. It does NOT make much sense when he is talking to his doctor, because his doctor wants to know what emotional difficulties he may be laboring under.

To take a couple of other instances. The alcoholic, when he goes to the doctor, rarely divulges the amount of liquor that he is consuming, and the obese person never admits eating as much as you know he does.

The patient, in other words, yields to the natural tendency to make himself look as good as possible, yet expects the doctor to prescribe a remedy that will solve the problem, as severe as it is! Doctors and lawyers are alike in one supremely important thing. They must, all their lives, keep secret the information which is given to them in confidence.

The man who goes to his lawyer with his troubles, and then conceals half the troubles from his attorney, is an idiot. How can the lawyer deal with things he doesn't know?

And how can the doctor?

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have always had very heavy loss at my menstrual time, and over a period of 20 years have had to take iron and liver pills and shots periodically. The last doctor suggested an operation, but I hesitate because of things I have heard. I am 44—Mrs. J. E."

It is occasionally necessary to remove the entire uterus because of heavy bleeding such as you describe. Obviously this is not done without proper consideration by your doctor first. I don't know what you have "heard" about this procedure, but it is a not-unusual operation and most women are benefited greatly after years of trouble.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Hacks Improve On A Genius

I will never quite understand the thought processes of film makers and television script writers.

They are given a book which has been read by millions of readers and which has achieved high regard and esteem. It is proposed to make a moving picture or do a television show of this book. Naturally you do not take a book and use it as script to produce a film. You have to change it into scenes and sequences.

That should not be too difficult, and it would be fine if that was all the experts did with it. Unfortunately it is not enough. They decide in their gifted wisdom they know better how to tell the story than did the author. So they rewrite it. They introduce new characters or they reshape the original characters as to completely change them. They do not like the dialogue the author gave the characters; they revise. The upshot is something that is not like the original and in 999 cases out of 1,000 not nearly so effective nor good as the book.

I TRIED TO WATCH WHAT television did to Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island." I had seen it butchered once before in a movie but I did not know that it could be so mangled as it was at the hands of the television producers. Other than for the title, any resemblance between what the television offered and the book was not only accidental—it was non-existent.

In my opinion, there are few English writers so gifted and so able as Stevenson. I do not believe there are any hacks in Hollywood who are good enough to "improve" his stories.

FOR 75 YEARS, people have been reading "Treasure Island" as Stevenson wrote it. His characters have become living persons to most of us. John Silver, Jim Hawkins, Squire Trelawney, Ben Gunn and all the rest are as firmly painted in our minds as though we actually knew them.

The John Silver, the Ben Gunn, the Jim Hawkins and the other assorted individuals who were paraded on the television screen in the television version of "Treasure Island" were not the genuine articles. They were crude puppets who in no way resembled the colorful people that Stevenson created in his masterpiece.

Stevenson, unfortunately, is long since dead. I assume whoever owns the copyright to his works sold the right to the television people to do this version of "Treasure Island." I don't suppose there is any way that the damage can be undone.

UNFORTUNATELY WHAT happened to this classic is not uncommon. I can think of only two or three examples of film adaptations of books which followed the story honestly and fairly. (It is of passing interest that all of these have been tremendous hits at the box office.) I have seen scores of movies and television shows based on books which were about as much like the original as though they had no connection whatever.

Stevenson happens to be one of my favorite authors. If I could have a wish granted, it would be to be able to write with the marvelous clarity, simplicity and effect of this great genius.

And when I see one of his books so mutilated and butchered as was "Treasure Island" and realize that to a great many who may never have read the original this sorry thing may be accepted as the real Stevenson, I become very indignant indeed.

Some of these viewers may get the impression that what they are seeing is the way that Stevenson wrote the story. And that's too dreadful to contemplate.

That Filibuster Needs Some Drama

WASHINGTON — Even a grunted taxpayer, viewing a Senate filibuster, must surely feel that there are better ways of conducting the legislative branch of government than by endurance contest.

The equivalent Washington question of "How old is Anne?" is "How long do you think a filibuster can last?" People thus addressed reach into their respective hats and come up with a wide variety of answers, including:

(1) WHEN THE PUBLIC lets Congress know it's fed up with the shenanigans.

(2) When some member has a bad heart attack.

(3) When Lyndon Johnson finally works out a compromise.

(4) When the anti-civil rights boys have talked themselves out and made a record for the home paper.

(5) When the opposition decides that fair is fair, and the anti-civil rights boys have had enough time and rope.

(6) When Perle Mesta gives a party for the Senate and invites everybody.

(7) When some Senate wife calls up another and says, "Don't you think it's time Buster came home?"

AS A CRITIC OF THE performance in the Senate, I am obliged to say that a filibuster is much better done on stage, screen and television. In actuality it is a mauling, snail-paced affair, lacking the excitement and oomph of the stage filibuster.

Even quorum calls, when the pro-civil rights brigade must be routed out of bed and report 51 strong, to the Senate, are sluggish affairs. Senators arrive, sleepy and fuzzy around the edges, to answer "here" to roll call, and then feel their way out of the chamber and back to bed or office cot.

I have yet to hear of one who perked up the script by arriving in his pajamas.

None, in his haste, as far as I now, has ever forgotten any essential item of apparel. All arrive adequately togged, no matter what the hour, although a few may still be knotting their ties. The sly hope that a few of the older solons might arrive in old-fashioned nightshirts has never materialized.

THE OTHER DAY I CROSSED paths in a Senate corridor with Mrs. Lyndon (Lady Bird) Johnson, wife of the Senate majority leader and Democratic Presidential candidate. I asked this very pretty woman in bright canary yellow if she were on hand to look after her busy husband.

"No," she said softly. "The Lord is doing that."

Apparently other Senate wives have left that task to Him, too, for I have encountered no Senate wives bearing vitamins and chicken soup to the Hill. That good bean soup in the Senate restaurant is famous for its flavor and restorative powers, and gallons of it is consumed daily.

MY RECORD OF MISSING all great public spectacles is still intact. I was asleep at the switch the other night when Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) added the only theatre to the droning anti-civil rights argument by the use of language so vulgar it was finally cleaned up before printing in the Congressional Record. (I also missed Arthur Godfrey firing some unfortunate for lack of humility and Jack Paar's damp departure from teevee.)

The opponents in this latest filibuster remain the pineapple of politeness with each other. It makes for a dull show. But, what is much worse, in the light of responsible government, it is a sad and silly performance.

Worker Spending Power At Peak

The most important fact of economic life at the moment is two facts: For the first time in four years, the cost of living has edged downward in two successive months. At the same time, wages have pushed upward to an all-time high. Result: Never in all history have American workers had so much spendable incomes.

The take-home pay of a wage earner with a wife and two children (after deducting for taxes and cost-of-living changes) is 3 per cent above January a year ago and 10 per cent above the recession low in 1958.

THE 1.3 RISE in living costs since January, 1959, has been counteracted by the 5.9 per cent rise in weekly wages. Yet, consumer eudemonia—the high capacity for well-being—has been overshadowed by a run of disappointing industrial news: A rapid rise of manufacturers' inventories in December and January. Does this foreshadow production retreat later this year?

Slippage in housing starts. This had been predicted. Yet, the actuality came as a shock.

The slowdown in machine-tool orders and shipments. Will business spending on plant and equipment fall short of SEC-Department of Commerce estimates?

All automobile companies have cut back production schedules except American Motors.

ON TOP OF ALL THIS (and partly because of it), the stock market has been weak. Is Wall Street forecasting the end of the boom? Or, readjusting to reality? I think the latter.

The stock market is as simple as Simon. High-grade bonds have returned better than 5 per cent. Blue chip industrial stocks have returned 3 per cent and less. Conclusion: Stocks have been vulnerable. Such a discrepancy between stock and bond yields can persist only if people are convinced that inflation has become the American way of life. Then, bonds would go down in price and up in yield and common stocks would be purchased as a hedge against rising living costs.

YET, WHY, if a spendable income of wage earners is at a record level, should Wall Street bulls become mice? Why are economists reevaluating their first-of-the-year predictions?

Answer: High spendable income doesn't mean that income will be spent—immediately. People have waves of caution and contraction. That explains business cycles. It explains ups and downs in Wall Street. As has been noted here several times, installment debt is at a peak. Nearly $13 out of every $100 of consumer income goes to the installment collector. New debtors must constantly be found, if the economy is to expand. This high level of installment repayment could be a deterrent to automobile sales in the spring.

RECENT CUTBACKS in auto production can be misleading. Sales have not been bad. They're well ahead of last year. But production was pushed way up after the steel strike.

It seems to me—and I can't show it statistically—that February and March tend to be "slow months" psychologically. Winter hangs on and spring doesn't come.

This year the weather has been bleaker than average, and the New Year optimism was well above average. So, the letdown was compounded.

Writers Keep Eye On Censorship

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Institute of Letters has set up a committee to keep a watchful eye on efforts to abridge "the right of people to write as they think and to read what they choose."

A resolution adopted at the annual convention in Houston last week said the institute of writers agrees with Stephen F. Austin who said:

"All restrictions or prohibitions of the introduction, sale or reading of books are calculated to prevent the diffusion of intellectual light and knowledge, to retard the improvement of the nation by perpetuating ignorance, superstition and servile principles, and are at variance with the genius of free institutions, and shall never be imposed under any pretext."

Association To Expand Junior College Survey

Curriculum studies are being expanded by the American Association of Junior Colleges, Dr. W. A. Hunt, HJC president, reports.

Dr. Hunt returned Sunday from the annual meeting of the association in Louisville. He is a member of the curriculum committee and his plans for a survey of teaching equipment was expanded. Instead of spot checking, all 693 junior colleges in the country will be polled for what they regard as basic and as desired equipment for teaching business subjects, biology, chemistry, physics and geology. The survey form prepared by Dr. Hunt included some 398 items.

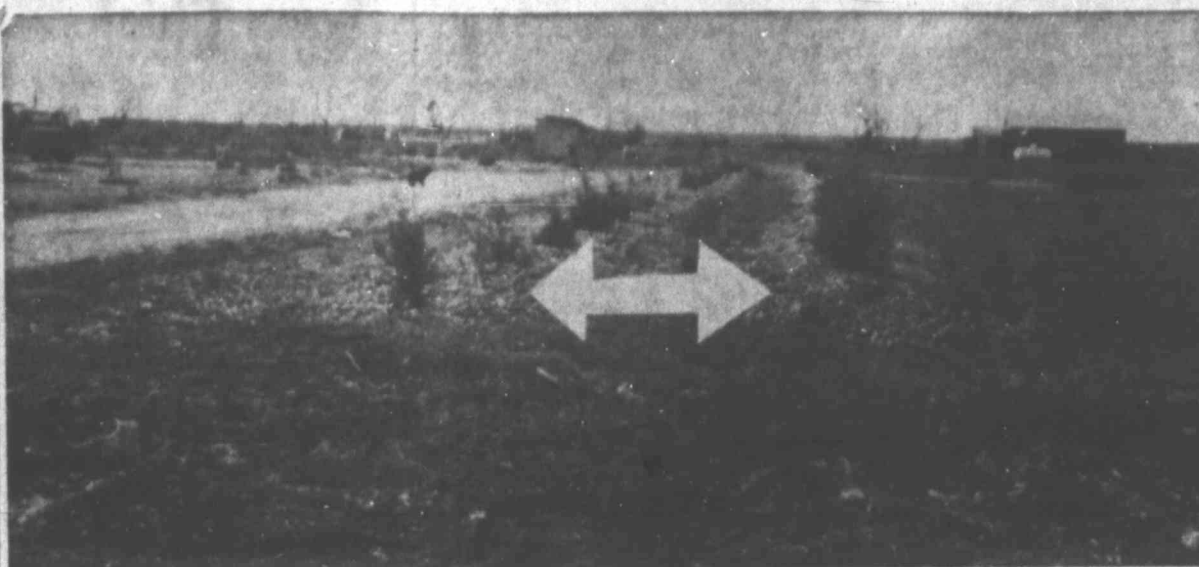

One of the highlights of the Louisville meeting, he said, was a report on what various colleges are doing to challenge the superior students as well as those of average and perhaps lower than average ability.

Farmstead Windbreak Of Arizona Cypress

Frank Whitaker, 3 miles west of Vincent, has made use of two row Arizona cypress planting to begin a windbreak. The trees shown in this photograph have a coat of cotton burrs around them to hold moisture and keep down growth of weeds.

Plant Windbreaks Should Be Planned A Year Ahead

Tree windbreaks are of great importance in controlling erosion but in areas where the annual rainfall average is 24 inches or less, there are sharp limitations in effect.

To be effective in Martin-Howard County, farmers who plant tree windbreaks must pay special attention to soils, treatment, care and management of the trees, according to the Martin-Howard County Soil Conservation District officials.

The prime purpose of a tree windbreak is to form a protective barrier against high wind and drifting sand. Besides protecting farmstead buildings and livestock, they also add to the landscape beauty of the farm.

The Soil Conservation office warns that sites should be selected the growing season prior to the desired planting date. The site should have room for the establishment of a buffer vegetative strip to protect the trees from wind erosion in the first year. Otherwise burrap bags, tin cans or other means will be needed to protect the small tree. A cover of sorghum, small grains or grasses should be established the season prior to planting the windbreak.

The best time to plant bare rooted stock is in January or February. Potted stock should be planted in late April or May after the spring winds have diminished.

A four foot strip should be plowed prior to the planting to permit maximum intake of water. All stock should be protected when out of the ground. One minute of exposure of conifer roots to warm dry wind will kill the trees. Conifer roots exposed to temperatures below 25 degrees F. as little as 10 minutes usually cause death of the tree.

Trees should be watered at planting time and as needed during the first year. The SCS advises planting potted trees, those in cans or balled. All open nursery stock should be kept packaged in wet moss, rags or paper.

The direction of the prevailing wind is a major factor in locating a windbreak planting. This means the wind at season of greatest wind-damage. Trees may be planted in a straight line if slope of the land is not over 4 per cent. Usually a combination of east-west and north-south belts prove most effective.

If a single row planting is made, only coniferous trees with heavy foliage and low branching should be used. Such trees include Arizona cypress and Eastern red cedar. Trees should be spaced eight feet apart. On suitable sites, a three row planting is very practical and affords good protection. A dense growing shrub should be

Powell Tax Trial Begins

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.), controversial Negro congressman from Harlem, goes on trial today in federal court on an income tax evasion charge.

Powell is charged with preparing a false 1951 tax return for his wife, pianist Hazel Scott, also Negro, and of evading $3,000 in a joint return in 1952.

Miss Scott, who has been living in Paris during recent years, is not a defendant in the case.

If convicted, Powell could get up to 15 years in prison.

The trial has been postponed on numerous occasions because of Powell's health.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury May 8, 1958. A few months later Powell easily won re-election to his congressional post, which he has held since 1945.

FIGURING YOUR INCOME TAX—2

Which Form? The Wrong One Can Make A Difference

EDITOR'S NOTE: A new federal income tax form—1040W—takes its place alongside the 1040A and 1040 forms this year. The new form offers advantages to about one in four taxpayers. This article is the second in a series on "Figuring Your Income Tax," explains which form is best for you.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

Choosing the right form for your 1959 income tax return is not hard. Here are some answers on who can use what and how.

This year there are three forms: 1040; 1040A; 1040W. As in the past, most people will use 1040A because they fit the requirements and it's easiest.

New form 1040W is a little rompler than 1040A. But both are for those whose income was from wages, plus not more than $200 in dividends and interest. Form 1040 is for all kinds of income.

You must figure your own tax if you itemize your deductions or had income of $800 or more.

FORM 1040A EXPLAINED

Form 1040A, a tabulating punch-card:

You can use it for your total 1959 income was below $10,000 and was from wages or salary, from which tax was withheld, plus no more than $200 in interest or dividends or wages from which tax was not withheld.

People using this cannot itemize deductions. Nevertheless, they wind up with a deduction of 10 per cent.

If your income was under $5,000 you can fill in the card and send it to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) which will figure your tax and send you a bill. Or you can figure the tax yourself by consulting the table on the back of the instruction sheet which IRS provides for every taxpayer. A deduction of around 10 per cent has already been allowed for in the tax.

If your income was under $5,000 you can find it yourself in the taxable. Or if your income was $5,000 or more but less than $10,000, you figure your tax from the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheet.

In this case, you take a so-called standard deduction of 10 per cent by deducting that much from your income up to a limit of $1,000 if you're single, or a married couple filing jointly. If you're married, but file a separate return, the limit is $500.

Note: If a husband and wife want to file separate returns, but one wants to itemize deductions, neither can use form 1040A. Both must use 1040 or 1040W and both must itemize.

SOME RESTRICTIONS

On 1040A you can claim each $600 exemption — for yourself and each dependent — you're entitled to. And you can deduct from your income the first $50 of dividend from any stock you own or $100 if your wife owns the stock jointly with you and you are filing a joint return.

You can't use 1040A if your income was other than the kind described above, such as rent. Nor can you use it if:

You want to claim status as head of household or surviving spouse, which carries a lower tax than is allowed single persons; you want to claim credit for retirement income; you want to deduct sick pay; or you paid an estimated tax during 1959.

The new form 1040W: Millions will use this because, if they fit the requirements, it's brief. You can use it, no matter how high your income and even though no tax was withheld from it, provided it was this kind of income.

Wages, salaries, bonuses, tips, and more expense money from the boss than you actually spent, plus not more than $200 in dividends and interest. If your income doesn't fit this picture, and you can't use 1040W, you must use 1040.

On 1040W you can itemize deductions or take the standard 10 per cent deduction. If your income was less than $5,000 and you don't want to itemize deductions, you can find your tax in the taxable.

On 1040W you can also claim status as head of household or surviving spouse, exclude sick pay and dividends from your income, and claim credit for dividends or estimated tax payments on your 1959 tax.

Remember: If you use 1040W the district director of Internal Revenue will not figure your tax for you, as he will for some people using 1040A.

FORM 1040 INFORMATION

Form 1040:

Anyone can use this one. It's the wide-open tax form. You can itemize deductions or take the standard 10 per cent deduction. For a person using this one, there is no limit on the size or kind of income. For example:

You can report income from farms, businesses, estates, trusts, partnerships, rents, royalties and so on. You can report gains or losses from the sale or exchange of property and claim credit for retirement income.

If you had any of that income, form 1040 is the only one you can use.

Woodliest Heps Nothin Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — With soft Southern accents filling the Senate chamber these days, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) today put into the Congressional Record what he called a word list to help other senators understand what the Southerners are saying. - BRAID—What you make to eat from, to go along with beckon and aigs for brake-fuss.
- CALLER—Part of a shirt that goes around the neck.
- COARSE—Certainly.
- HARMONY—Cooked grits.

- LUCID—Leggo it.

Graham Flies To Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Billy Graham, warmly welcomed to this storied land, today meets the Lion of Judah, Emperor Haile Selassie, and holds the first of two evangelistic meetings in Ethiopia.

Graham arrived by plane Monday from Nairobi, Kenya, to find Addis Ababa's 8,200-foot altitude unsettling but its reception for him gratifying.

Earlier, in Nairobi, Kenya, Graham turned down a Moslem religious leader's challenge for a faith healing contest to test the powers of the Christian and Islamic beliefs.

"Christ was once challenged by Satan to perform a spectacular feat in order to prove his deity," Graham told an interviewer. "He answered by saying 'Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.'"

Sheik Mudarak Ahmad, chief of the East African Moslem mission of Ahmadiyya, proposed Friday that 30 incurables be selected, that Graham and six of his followers pray over 15 and the sheik and six of his followers would pray over the rest.

The result, the sheik asserted, would show "who is blessed with the Lord's grace and mercy and upon whom His door remains closed."

Demo Chief Apologizes For Ike Crack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has apologized for saying President Eisenhower has "something to answer for" to the wives and children of Navy bandmen killed in a plane crash at Rio de Janeiro.

Butler told a news conference Monday he had not meant to imply that the President was "in any way responsible for the tragic deaths of the Americans."

The subject came up in a debate Butler had with Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) Sunday night at Worcester, Mass. Butler questioned the use of part of the Navy Band during Eisenhower's tour of South America. The 19 bandmen killed were en route to Rio to play for the President and Brazilian officials.

Scott jumped up and told Butler "this attempt to put blood on the hands of the President is not very creditable."

Butler retorted: "I don't put blood on the hands of the President. We Democrats never attacked Eisenhower with such cruelty as the Republicans attacked Franklin D. Roosevelt. We never questioned Eisenhower's loyalty."

Apparently thinking better of it the next day, Butler again raised the subject at a news conference called to announce plans for some Democratic party public hearings.

"For any such inference that may have been drawn," he said, "I want to apologize to the President and to the American people."

Navy Rescues Russians Asea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Russian soldiers adrift for 49 days in a small landing craft have been rescued in mid-Pacific by a U. S. Navy carrier.

The Defense Department announced today the carrier Kearsarge picked the men up about 11 p.m. EST, Sunday about 1,000 miles west-northwest of Midway Island.

Weak and emaciated, the Russians were in a 50-foot landing craft, similar to the U. S. Navy's LCM.

The soldiers reported their craft had been crippled and swept southward by a severe storm the night of Jan. 17 off Etorofu Island in the Kuriles, just north of the Japanese island of Hokkaido.

The Navy estimated the men had drifted about 1,020 miles. The Kearsarge put the men under medical care.

The carrier is en route from Japan to San Francisco, where it is due about March 15.

The four soldiers gave their names as M. Sgt. Victor Zygonoski, 22; Pvt. Anthony Kruchow, 22; Pvt. Philip Poplavski, 20; and Pvt. Fredor Ivan, 20.

Capt. Robert L. Townsend, the carrier's commanding officer reported the rescue by message to Pacific Fleet headquarters at Pearl Harbor.

Bank Bandit Takes $17,000

VALLIANT, Okla. (AP) — A young bandit waving a tommygun methodically robbed the Farmers State and Guaranty Bank of about $17,000 today.

Two men were sought in the bold holdup which occurred at 9:30 a.m. Valliant is in southeastern Oklahoma.

Bank Vice President J. W. Teeters made the estimate of the loss but said it wouldn't be known exactly until an audit was completed.

The sheriff's office described the masked man, the only one who entered the bank in this McCurtain County town, as in his middle 20s, short and wearing a grey hat with a gay feather stuck in the band.

Teeters said the man, after sacking the money, forced the employees and three or four customers into a vault.

"He made us all lie down on the floor of the vault," Teeters said. "Just as he left, another customer walked in and he was forced into a back room."

"None of us was hurt. There was a second man in a car outside, but we couldn't see him very well."

Teeters, who also is cashier of the bank, said the thug took $450 in halves, $400 in quarters, 10 $100 bills and the rest in 20s, 10s, 5s and 1s.

"This is a stickup and I mean business," Teeters quoted the thug as saying.

The man was in the bank 5 to 10 minutes before fleeing to the north or west.

Bank employees said the gunman was about 25 to 27 years old and wore a handkerchief over his face. No one was injured and no shot was fired. Road blocks were thrown up in the southeast Oklahoma area.

Lensman Seeks Peace & Quiet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A freelance photographer who said he was heckled and relieved of his cameras and films by Cuban authorities hoped today to enjoy once more the tranquility of his Nebraska home.

"They"—including Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro—"didn't accuse me of anything," Donald Chapman said on his return to U.S. soil. "There was no physical cruelty. You might call it mental anguish. That police-state operation has you on edge."

Chapman, 26, said he stopped at Havana only because that was a port of call on the itinerary of the French freighter La Courbe, the ship, bringing munitions to Cuba, blew up Friday at a Havana dock with loss of more than 70 lives.

Chapman was the only U.S. citizen aboard. He said a piece of shrapnel nicked his neck as he stood on the ship's bridge.

"I don't know why the Cubans arrested me," he said Monday night. "I guess it was because they were picking everyone up."

Chapman said Castro himself was one of his interrogators during an overnight quiet session.

Chapman, whose mother, Elsie Chapman lives at North Bend, N.B., said the Cubans kept his baggage, passport, cameras and film.

Chapman said he was not a Communist, but he had been active in the National Student Reliance League, a peace and brotherhood to South America, which is all well and good.

"However, I hope that he can find the time and the heart to bring some of this democracy, peace and brotherhood to South America where these have been in critical supply for too long now."

In a statement to reporters after he left the hospital Turner said each of the men in the back of the car "had a gun at the side of my head."

"DON'T YELL," Turner said. "They told me they were going to take me out but not kill me unless I hollered or yelled," Turner said.

"They just said they were getting paid to do a job and they were doing it," he added.

Turner told newsmen he acted as if he had passed out when they scratched the K's on his body.

"I wasn't knocked out but I wanted them to think I was," he said.

Police said they found two pieces of rope in the wooded area in which Turner said he was beaten. His hat, with blood on it, was also found in the area.

Homicide Capt. Weldon Waycott said the FBI had been advised of the incident but he did not know if they would enter the case.

Turner told newsmen: "They hung me up by my feet with my head and shoulders on the ground."

"They started mentioning something about APC and something about a sit-down strike the last couple of days. I think when they said APC it might have been NAACP instead."

BIG MISTAKE
"One of them asked me what I was. I told him I was a Negro and he told me, no, I wasn't, that I was a nigger. Then he said I had made one mistake and he said my mistake was my being a Negro, only he used the word nigger."

Capt. Waycott said Turner "tells a very consistent story," and said it appeared the Negro was beaten by what the officer called "punks." Waycott said there was no indication of any tie with any organized action against Negroes.

Turner's statement to police said:

"The short one asked the tall one if he were ready for him to work me over. 'Yeah, go ahead,' the tall one replied. So the short one started beating me up with that chain and something else I couldn't see. The tall one ripped my shirt off and took out his pen knife and began cutting on me. I pretended I was out just to keep them from beating on me some more. I could feel them cutting on my chest and they just kept on cutting and I could tell they were making some kind of a design."

He said after the youths left "I was able to free my feet by kicking my shoes off and slipping my feet out of the noise in the rope."

Turner said when he was first stopped, four men were in the car but only two men got out.

"Both had pistols. I think they were revolvers but I'm not sure. I don't know what caliber they were. As they put me into the car they hit me behind the head with both guns."

"From the way they talked and acted I think they had been drinking but I wouldn't say they were drunk."

County Officials Study State Laws

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Officials of the West Texas Judges and Commissioners Assn. favor a long-range study of state laws that regulate and sometimes hamper county government operations.

The president of the association, Randall County Commissioner C. Y. Johnson, at the opening session of the association's convention Monday labeled unequal representation in county government as "undemocratic."

Johnson said restricting of the state is necessary, but it will be better if it is worked out within the county rather than have the Legislature force it.

Diana Ball Places Second In District Oratorical Event

Diana Ball, Big Spring High School's representative in the oratorical contest, placed second in the regional meet in Lubbock last weekend.

John King, who was in charge of the local contest along with Joe Pendleton, said that the judging was extremely close and that Diana's subject matter was considered to be the best at the meet.

"She made a real fine showing and she's only a junior at the school, so she'll have a good chance to win the contest next year and get a shot at the national contest," said King.

The district oratorical contest, sponsored by the American Legion, was held in Big Spring on Feb. 26. Diana was second in that contest by one vote to Mary Jane Engstrom. She drew the chance to compete in the regional however, when Mary Jane was unable to do due to a band recital commitment.

Rail Crossing Crash Kills 8

BERLIN, Conn. (AP)—A passenger train collided with a station wagon today, killing seven school children and an adult. The automobile, carrying the children and a woman driver, was hurled into Silver Lake, an ice-crusted five-foot-deep pond beside Norton Lane.

Police tentatively identified the dead as Mrs. Emily Whitaker of Berlin and seven state wards, all Negroes. At least three of the bodies were held by the submerged wreckage in the pond. Skin divers were called.

None of the passengers aboard the train—the New Haven Railroad's No. 97 bound from Springfield, Mass., to New York—was injured.

The accident occurred at an unprotected grade crossing on Norton Lane, just off the Wilbur Cross Parkway, on a roadway covered with half an inch of snow. It was near the home of Mrs. Whitaker and her husband, John, who were cited by the Catholic Transcript in 1957 for their care of foster school children.

In 14 years they had cared for 16 foster children.

The crash killed some of the car's occupants. Police reports indicated the others may have died. Whitaker was watching from a window of his home 100 yards away when he saw the diesel engine and the 1955 station wagon pile together.

He ran to the scene but was helpless.

The vehicle was thrown over a

10-foot embankment into the pond. Three of the children were hurled from the car, one landing on the embankment and two skidding across the ice on the pond.

The five other occupants were trapped in the car.

Across the embankment and on the ice there was mute evidence of tragedy—scattered school books and brief cases.

Parts of the station wagon were strewn for a fifth of a mile along the railroad tracks. The vehicle had been hit broadside by the train.

Besides Mrs. Whitaker, the dead were: Joseph Cormier, 14; Patricia Heanure, 14; Mary Ann DeCruze, 12; Byron Battle, 6; Doris Gomez, 6; and a 7-year-old child whose first name was Shelley.

Mrs. Whitaker had waited for a freight train to pass. When it went by, she started, and the station wagon crept into the path of the passenger train.

A flat tire contributed to the accident.

Finch Jury Hears Tape

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Finch trial jury has spent almost as much time listening as deliberating since it got the murder case last Friday, and prospects of a verdict this week are growing slimmer.

The jury was to listen today to another reading of the secretly recorded statement Dr. R. Bernard Finch gave police after his wife was shot to death.

The statement was sprung on the doctor as the state closed its cross-examination of him more than a month ago. He said he hadn't realized it was being recorded. The state said it indicated he changed history at least twice.

After brief deliberations, the jury decided Saturday it wanted to hear the text of the doctor's testimony, plus the text of the statement to police.

Dr. Finch, 42, and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, are accused of murdering the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean, 36, last July 18. Each is charged with murder and conspiracy.

It's D-Day For Simulated Defense Of Canal Zone

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is D-Day in Panama for the first simulated defense of the Canal Zone by six American nations.

The "aggressors" are to be dislodged from their beachhead in Panama by combined military forces of the United States, Brazil, Colombia, Chile, Peru and the republic of Panama.

Before this "Exercise Banyan Tree" is over, about 22,000 U.S. troops using 440 aircraft will start the largest scale test of a strategic airlift ever attempted in peacetime. This "Operation Big Slam-Puerto Pine" will be held in Puerto Rico.

"Exercise Banyan Tree" got under way last week with the movement to the Canal Zone of advanced forces from North and South America. Units of the U. S. Caribbean Army Force, acting as aggressors, have landed at the edge of the zone. A reinforced battle group of the 82nd Airborne Division from Ft. Bragg, N. C., is now preparing for the southward flight in planes of the Tactical Air Command.

Coming up from the South and staging at Kingston, Jamaica, are the forces from South America, with a paratrooper company from Brazil in the lead. The Brazilian troops will make the first jump of the U. S. Air Force, followed after a composite striking force by jet fighter bombers from Chile and Peru, stages a simulated blasting of the aggressors.

About 1,600 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division will follow the Brazilians in the big jump.

After the paratroopers have landed, a company of the Panamanian National Guard will be placed ashore by units of the U. S. Navy to stage a flanking attack on the aggressors.

Spanking Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill that would permit teachers to spank unruly pupils was before the State Senate again today. The measure, which differs from the 1929 version vetoed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, won Assembly approval Monday night by a 104-41 vote. The measure specifies that teachers would not be allowed to use force to control a pupil unless previous unruly acts by the pupil had been reported to school authorities.

Former Resident Dies In Calif.

Mrs. Goldie Patterson, long-time resident of Big Spring who moved to California about 12 years ago, died at her home at 721 Lincoln Ave. in Oildale, Calif., about 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Patterson suffered a heart attack. She was the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Patterson, Big Spring.

Mrs. Patterson had three brothers-in-law in this area; J. E. Patterson and O. W. Patterson of Big Spring and Thurman Patterson, Stanton.

Throws Away Life Savings

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP)—A 47-year-old factory worker left a trail of $100 bills—most of his life savings—on a ten-block stroll through this Detroit suburb Monday.

Stephen Krysiak calmly tossed $100 bills to everyone he passed. He tore others into confetti and threw away the scraps. By the time police stopped him Krysiak had distributed or destroyed $13,000.

Krysiak, a Chrysler worker, said he had $20,000 when he started.

When police halted his stroll he was clutching about $5,700 in one hand. In the other—torn to shreds—was another $500 or $600.

Krysiak told police he withdrew the money from his safe deposit box because he was worried about it.

His mother, Sophie Krysiak, said her son has been under treatment for a nervous disorder.

Trinity Hearing Nearing An End

AUSTIN (AP)—State Board of Water Engineers hearing on plans for two dams on the lower Trinity River moves today into what board members hope will be its 31st and last day.

O. F. Dent, one of three members of the board, said Monday he is hopeful today's business will wind up the hearings which began Nov. 1.

Dent based his hopes on a compromise reached last weekend by the San Jacinto River Authority, major opponent of the plans, and the City of Houston, which wants to join the Trinity River Authority in building the reservoirs.

Cloture, Closure—Means The Same

WASHINGTON (AP)—Why does the U.S. Senate use the word cloture instead of closure, which means the same thing?

Senate parliamentary experts say they don't know.

Cloture was originally a French word. In parliamentary usage, it means a method of closing out debate and getting a vote on an issue. Under present Senate rules, cloture can be put into effect by a vote of two-thirds of those present and voting.

The British call it closure. It was introduced in 1882 into the House of Commons where it is done by a motion that "the question be now put."

Zalesky estimated 100 boys had been involved.

Multiple Ailments Are Repairable

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
Quite often patients who come to chiropractors for one major ailment usually receive many side corrections in relief of various minor ailments.

Generally these grateful patients are amazed and invariably ask how it is that they come in with a kidney problem, for instance, and wind up free of minor digestive disturbances, or perhaps, headaches, sinusitis, muscular aches and pains, dizziness, etc. Actually, this is simple to explain from the chiropractic point of view.

Injuries to the spine usually involve several different nerve groups. A pelvic distortion, for example, could cause an adaptive spinal curvature affecting many nerve trunks. In our daily routine, minor nerve disturbances often pile up and accumulate—and each adds to the previous nerve pressures until a person might suffer from a dozen ailments at the same time. This explains how all of a patient's pains could have similar or related causes, though each could be releasing from a different nerve branch.

Proper realignment of the spinal column, correcting the causes of the injured or disturbed nerves, would naturally benefit all the complaints, though each ailment may have been previously "diagnosed" under a different name.

Take this case from our files as an example:

This mother of two teenagers had a serious chest condition that has resisted all efforts of "specialists" for several years. Discouraged, she related her sad, fruitless experiences. Her condition had been "diagnosed" as "chronic bronchitis." We found she was suffering from a long string of secondary ailments such as hot and cold flashes with profuse sweating, especially at night, interfering with her sleep. She got up tired and difficult breathing kept her physically exhausted. "Every little effort just wears me out—sometimes I'm just too tired to eat." Constant deep coughing didn't help matters and sometimes caused heart palpitations along with dizziness and fainting spells. Indigestion related with gas, bloating, constipation and hemorrhoids was enough to make anyone nervous, unhappy and bring on depressed crying spells. "I can live with everything else, Dr. Hansen, but please do what you can for my chest."

Our spinal examination located defective energization throughout her spine and X-rays showed us points of nerve interference.

Corrective adjustments removed the interference and this case like most all cases we accept was discharged with spine corrected. Our last checkup showed all her miserable symptoms had disappeared, including her chest syndrome, No. 2732.

Mrs. Bynum will be flying a 250 Comanche under the sponsorship of Big Spring Aircraft Company. This craft has a rated air speed of 163 m.p.h. and a 12-gallon per hour fuel consumption. DE Club Will Repeat Show

The DE Club is going to repeat its talent show on April 5.

Last autumn when the club staged such an event in the HCJC auditorium, the place was jam-packed and numerous people had to be turned away.

"We've had so many requests for another talent show," said Frank Dunlap, coordinator, "that we're going to book this one for the City Auditorium."

He invited individuals and groups with any sort of act to enter the show. Dunlap asked that they call him (or leave word for him) at the high school.

Several other schools have been invited to submit acts. Dunlap said that it was possible that auditions might have to be held to bring the number of acts within a manageable number for the show.

Prizes of $25 (saving bond), $15, $10 and $5 cash will be awarded to the top four winners.

Proceeds from the show will go into the Distributive Education Club fund. One of the activities will be the spring banquet.

If you're going to buy a low price car...be sure you get the better one!

Many people figure that since the car they are considering has historically had a "low-price" name it must be, in fact, a low-price car.

This, at one time, was true. But today the names of cars, as you may know, have very little to do with their prices. Many cars with traditional low-price names cost more than Mercury—a name you have always associated with higher price cars. Our point is this:

A Mercury Monterey, with deluxe appointments, is now priced $31 to $66 less* than any of the best selling Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths (the V-8 powered Galaxies, Impalas, and Furs). Yet Mercury offers you far more of everything you want in a car.

Some new-car buyers are skeptical when we tell them this price story. Here are some of the questions they ask—and our answers:

Q. "Do you mean Mercury is now a low-price car? Did you reduce prices?"

A. "Yes. Monterey prices are now $174 lower, and include many extras that are now standard equipment."

Q. "But in your price comparison, aren't you talking about a 'striped' Mercury—with rubber mats, plain interiors, no equipment, no glamour?"

A. "No, we're talking about a de-luxe-appointed Monterey with beautiful nylon interior and deep, thick carpeting. The comparison is fair."

Q. "Do all Monterey models have as good a price story?"

A. "Yes, within a few dollars. It's the most amazing value story ever offered. Just read below."

MERCURY ADDS UP TO A BETTER LOW-PRICE CAR—Mercury has a 7 to 8 inch longer wheelbase than Galaxy, Impala, and Fury + 289 to 494 pounds more weight + up to 28% more insulation + more spacious passenger compartment + self-adjusting brakes + up to 28% more visibility + more luxurious interior + finer quality (every Mercury is road-tested before it is shipped, not just spot-checked as all other low-price cars) = Smoother ride, extra satisfaction.

MORALS CHARGES

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Detective A. M. Zalesky said today sodomy charges had been filed against Charles Carter, 44, a gardener and caterer. Complaints were signed by two 16-year-old boys.

Zalesky estimated 100 boys had been involved.

Multiple Ailments Are Repairable

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Quite often patients who come to chiropractors for one major ailment usually receive many side corrections in relief of various minor ailments.

Generally these grateful patients are amazed and invariably ask how it is that they come in with a kidney problem, for instance, and wind up free of minor digestive disturbances, or perhaps, headaches, sinusitis, muscular aches and pains, dizziness, etc. Actually, this is simple to explain from the chiropractic point of view.

Injuries to the spine usually involve several different nerve groups. A pelvic distortion, for example, could cause an adaptive spinal curvature affecting many nerve trunks. In our daily routine, minor nerve disturbances often pile up and accumulate—and each adds to the previous nerve pressures until a person might suffer from a dozen ailments at the same time. This explains how all of a patient's pains could have similar or related causes, though each could be releasing from a different nerve branch.

Proper realignment of the spinal column, correcting the causes of the injured or disturbed nerves, would naturally benefit all the complaints, though each ailment may have been previously "diagnosed" under a different name.

Take this case from our files as an example:

This mother of two teenagers had a serious chest condition that has resisted all efforts of "specialists" for several years. Discouraged, she related her sad, fruitless experiences. Her condition had been "diagnosed" as "chronic bronchitis." We found she was suffering from a long string of secondary ailments such as hot and cold flashes with profuse sweating, especially at night, interfering with her sleep. She got up tired and difficult breathing kept her physically exhausted. "Every little effort just wears me out—sometimes I'm just too tired to eat." Constant deep coughing didn't help matters and sometimes caused heart palpitations along with dizziness and fainting spells. Indigestion related with gas, bloating, constipation and hemorrhoids was enough to make anyone nervous, unhappy and bring on depressed crying spells. "I can live with everything else, Dr. Hansen, but please do what you can for my chest."

Our spinal examination located defective energization throughout her spine and X-rays showed us points of nerve interference.

Corrective adjustments removed the interference and this case like most all cases we accept was discharged with spine corrected. Our last checkup showed all her miserable symptoms had disappeared, including her chest syndrome, No. 2732.

You've been reading these articles for some weeks now. Investigate the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic for yourself! You have nothing to lose except your ill health.

Cold Weather Persists In East

By The Associated Press
Cold weather persisted across wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today but some warmer air appeared on the way. Temperatures moderated in some areas east of the Rockies but generally unseasonable cold was the rule in most areas into the Southeast. Slowly rising temperatures were indicated for most of the central part of the country from the Gulf northward to the border.

A Big Ole! For Greco

For once, your critic is almost at a loss for words. The occasion for this phenomenon was the appearance in City Auditorium Monday evening of the Jose Greco Ballet.

It was an evening of song, dance and color that could be equalled only by an extended and intimate visit to Spain. Greco, the dancer-impresario, and his company of 18 drew round after round of applause, most of it spontaneous, and before the individual numbers were over.

Indeed, there was but one thing lacking in audience response, and that was probably due to the fact that Big Springs are not well versed in the customs of Spain—there was not one single "Ole!" from the audience all evening.

As one would expect of the versatile Greco, his program was wide-ranging and truly representative of Spanish culture. The dancers covered everything from ballet to flamenco.

The numbers ran the gamut from comedy to serious, stately to wild; there were many dances of beauty; some obviously staged with a touch of Broadway influence, others apparently as spontaneous as the cave-dwelling Gypsies who gave Spain a large dose of her culture.

The theme of love ran throughout, as one would expect of Gypsies, or of Spaniards, according to traditions. The dances portrayed all phases of love from light flirtation to ultimate conquest. The Spanish dance, if one is to believe one's eyes, is more expressive of the emotions even than the Hawaiian.

The foot-stomping actually is one of the least important parts of the dance, as to meaning. The stomping is a part of the rhythm, but the motion of the body as a whole conveys the interpretation.

There are traces of flamenco in all Spanish dances, a dance type that came from the Gypsies by way of India, ancient Greece, Araby, all the Near and Ancient East. The rhythm is made by the guitars, the clapping of the hands, the stomping of the feet; the music by guitars and by songs which recall the muzzins who cry from mosques.

Aside from the great Greco himself, there are two of his proteges who should be mentioned. Jose Molina, of the graceful ballet, and Gitanillo Heredia, the Gypsy boy whose art was learned at home.

All members of the troupe are expert, and all are Spanish except dancer Lupe Del Rio, who is American of Spanish descent. The Greco company plays in Dallas tonight; they had to leave immediately after the performance, therefore the customary reception and party was not held.

It was the last attraction of the season for the Concert Association, but Greco promised to return someday, if we want him. And judging from the audience's reaction, we want him.

It would do no good to try to describe the technicalities of the program, since one has to be familiar with flamenco to understand its description. There's nothing like seeing it. Thus, let me sum up this critic's reaction in one word:

OLE!!

—BOB SMITH

Desi-Lucy Marriage Stood Failure, Ruined By Success

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Few marriages were more famous. No Hollywood union seemed so perfect.

Millions laughed every Monday night at the exploits of the Ricardos, who seemed in every way like Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz. Didn't Desi play a Cuban band leader, which he was? Didn't Lucille seem utterly convincing as a kind-hearted but conniving wife?

As if the parallel weren't close enough, the climax of their double lives came on Dec. 8, 1952. A son was born to the Arnazes on the same day that the Ricardos welcomed a son on the "I Love Lucy" show across the nation.

Lucille and Desi seemed secure in their own Hollywood lives. Though she had the greatest success as a star, he earned his own name as head of a TV film empire. They seemed perfectly matched.

But nothing is perfect, especially marriage in Hollywood. It is ironic that the Ball-Arnaz marriage managed to survive all kinds of failures but couldn't stand success.

When they married in 1940, his prospects were not bright. He was a bongo beater who drew minor notice in a Broadway musical, "Too Many Girls." They met while making the film version, in which she starred. When she went on an all-star train tour to promote war bonds, he wasn't even invited to go along.

She divorced him in 1944, testifying their arguments made her "a nervous wreck." After a few months, they made up. She never collected the final papers.

But their arguments continued after he got out of the Army. Her film career prospered while his was nil. He organized a band to keep busy, and she objected to his constant absences.

Lucille's own career in films began to decline, but in 1951, their luck changed. The child they had long wanted was born to them—little Lucie. And the pair embarked on the "I Love Lucy" series against the doubts of TV big-wigs.

The smashing success of the show seemed to bring a serenity to their marriage. For seven years they acted out the weekly charade of the Ricardos. The public's identification of them in the TV roles clouded their real natures.

Lucy Ricardo is erratic, extravagant, always cooking up wild schemes. Lucille Ball is steady, conservative, slow to accept change.

Ricky Ricardo is level-headed, a steady force on his hare-brained wife. Desi Arnaz has shown a talent for business, but can be impulsive and pleasure-loving.

"I Love Lucy" will continue to be played and replayed on the nation's TV screens. But it won't seem the same.
